To Choose New Pope

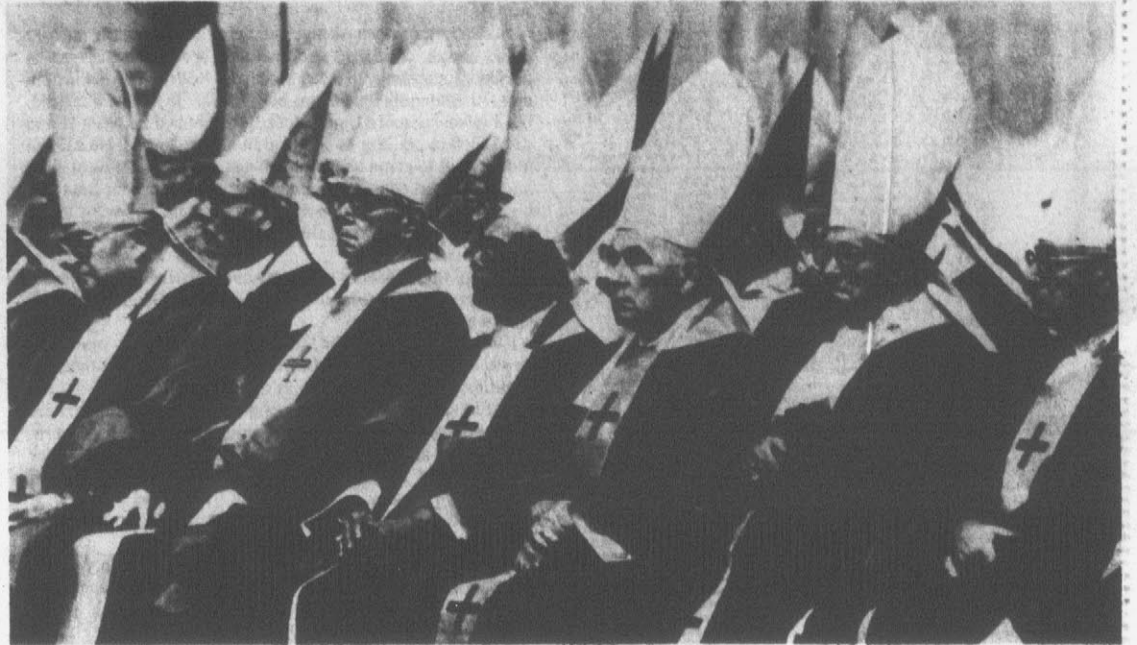

Conclave Begins

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer
VATICAN CITY (AP) — More than 100 red-robed cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church, after praying for "divine inspiration," were sealed inside the Sistine Chapel today to choose a new spiritual leader for their church in the largest papal election conclave in modern history.

Palace in midafternoon to remain there until they elect a pontiff. The procession into the Sistine Chapel was televised in color on a worldwide hookup. Voting begins Saturday in the Sistine Chapel, and there will be four ballots a day, two in the morning and two in the afternoon.

Outside the palace, all eyes will be on the smokestack from the stove in which the ballots are burned. The smoke will be black until there is a winner, then chemicals will make it white. The cardinals celebrated Mass together at St. Peter's Basilica in preparation for the opening of their conclave.

Speaking in Latin, the papal chamberlain, French Cardinal Jean Villot, told the other 110 princes of the church they were meeting "in this serious and delicate moment" to pray for divine inspiration in their task, then offered a special prayer: (Continued on Page 8)

Bizarre Demands By Band Of Hijackers

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The passengers and crew of a mysteriously commandeered TWA jetliner safely left the plane today, an airport spokesman said. They walked off the Boeing 707 less than an hour before a deadline set by a person or persons calling themselves a "task force of revolutionary soldiers" demanding freedom for former Nazi deputy Fuehrer Rudolf Hess, for Robert F. Kennedy's assassin Sirhan Sirhan and for five jailed Croatian hijackers.

The plane had departed New York Thursday night on a flight to Geneva. "All 79 passengers and nine crew members are free," said airport spokesman Daniel Tesseyre. There was no word on whether the "invisible" hijackers of the jet had been apprehended. TWA officials in New York said there were 10 crew members. Geneva Police Chief Guy Fontanet first said there were "several" hijackers, but later said no one had seen a hijacker since the 19-page list of bizarre demands was dumped in the lap of a sleeping flight attendant. The airport spokesman had said, however, that negotiations were under way.

The "task force" had threatened in a written message they would blow up the plane by 5:30 p.m. (12:30 p.m. EDT) by remote control if the demands were not met. Among the passengers was Katarina vanden Heuvel, 18-year-old daughter of William vanden Heuvel, U.S. ambassador to United Nations offices here. The red-and-white plane landed at Cointrin Airport at 8:20 a.m. and parked about 300 yards from the terminal building. It was surrounded by a loose cordon of police apparently armed only with handguns.

Geneva Police Chief Guy Fontanet said there were "several" hijackers, but he wasn't sure how many. "We are still not sure they are armed, and if they are armed what weapons they carry," he added. "This is certainly not the usual type of political hijacking. There is utter confusion." Among other things, the hijackers were demanding that President Carter publicly declare that Hess, imprisoned in Berlin, has been freed. The demands were spelled out in 19 pages of puzzling messages dumped in the lap of a sleeping stewardess when the jet crossed the Irish coast, and (Continued on page 8)

The City Council last night introduced the bond order authorizing the $1.9 million Public Works facility bond program and set a public hearing on the order for Sept. 7 at 8 p.m. The Council action, which amounted to a formality, took place during a reconvened session of the recessed Aug. 10 meeting. The bond program will be used to pay for a new facility for the Public Works Department. A notice of intent to conduct a bond referendum on Nov. 7 for the new facility was adopted by the Council on Aug. 10. In other business last night, an amendment to the bond resolution adopted by the Council at the Aug. 10 session was authorized, providing for the payment of the debt service on the bonds. Council members adopted the revised West Greenville Thoroughfare Improvements map which indicates proposed improvements to 14th Street from Dickinson Avenue Northwest to a point approximately 200 feet northwest of the proposed Farmville Boulevard, and including the proposed Farmville Boulevard as shown on the map. Director of Engineering Charlie Holliday explained that the basic concept of the improvement plan is to obtain an equal amount of right-of-way on both sides of 14th Street. He explained that the new alignment of 14th will cross the vacant lot in the block across from the A. B. Whitley property. According to Holliday, plans call for the widening of the corridor to provide a 50-foot section with back-to-back curb and gutter and a five-foot sidewalk on each side. Tom Chapin, who said that he owns property next to A. B. Whitley on 14th Street, asked if there would be sufficient room for parking at the front of his building following the widening of 14th. Holliday indicated that he doubted if there would be enough room for parking. According to Chapin, if five feet of right-of-way is taken on his side of the street, he will lose five parking spaces at his business and Whitley will lose ten. Long standing requests by West Greenville citizens to have a signal light placed at the intersection of Third and Tyson Streets finally brought results last night as the council gave its approval to a fully activated traffic signal for the intersection. The signal, costing some $10,863 with funds available from the Community Development General Neighborhood Improvements Account, will provide a green light for Third Street traffic until a vehicle approaching the intersection on Tyson activates a signal. After the vehicle passes through the intersection, the light will return to green for Third Street.

Council members discussed the possibility of putting in a flasher type signal at the intersection at a cost of some $7,481 but it was agreed that for the difference in costs, the fully activated signal light would be more appropriate. Budget amendments were approved by the Council to provide funds for minor remodeling to the first floor of city hall, construction of a handicapped ramp at city hall, and for remodeling the Moyewood Family and Child Development Center. City Manager Ed Wyatt, noting that $4,200 was needed for the remodeling work and $1,300 for the ramp, explained that remodeling has been underway at city hall and the work has "run into a little more than we anticipated." As part of the county's assumption of the Moyewood Center's operation, he added, the city agreed to do certain remodeling functions. He recommended that the $5,500 needed for the work be transferred from the general fund contingency account. Funds for the city hall and ramp installation would also come from the general fund contingency account, it was noted. The Council also voted to remove parking from the west side of Student Street between Fourth and Fifth Streets to the east side of the street.

Leftists Cheered As They Leave Managua; General Strike Called

By TOM FENTON
Associated Press Writer
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Anastasio Somoza's political opponents called for a nationwide strike today after leftist guerrillas who seized the National Palace forced him to meet their demands and the public cheered them as heroes. A coalition of anti-Somoza politicians called on the Chambers of Commerce and Industry and small businesses to join the strike as "a gigantic step in the campaign to overthrow" the dictatorial Nicaraguan leader. Somoza, whose family has controlled Nicaragua for more than 40 years, said the strike was "a plot" by the Sandinista guerrillas and the opposition, "but in any case I wish the businessmen and the opposition lots of luck."

Panamanian planes flew them to Panama City with the freed prisoners, $500,000 ransom money they got from the government and the five intermediaries in the negotiations with the government, Nicaragua's Roman Catholic archbishop and two bishops and the Panamanian and Costa Rican ambassadors. Somoza told a news conference he agreed to the guerrillas' demands "to save human lives. I considered a rescue operation, but decided not to go ahead with it because I determined that hundreds of innocent lives would be lost before victory was achieved." Somoza said there were more than 1,500 persons in the National Palace when the Sandinistas, disguised as national guard troops, shot their way into the white-columned, four-story building Tuesday during a session of the lower house of Congress. It was not clear when and how many of them got out. About 300 were seen to leave at various times Wednesday, and about 200 more came out after the guerrillas left for the airport. It was possible they out during the nights. Those held hostage included about 70 members of Congress, among them a cousin of Somoza. The guerrillas took him and two other legislators with them to the airport and freed them there.

The last anti-Somoza general strike, after the assassination of opposition publisher Pedro Joaquin Chamorro on Jan. 10, paralyzed commerce for two weeks but finally petered out. Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez, who heads one of the few democratic governments in Latin America, called on the Organization of American States for a "cordial intervention" in Nicaragua "to seek a process of democratization and avert further useless bloodshed." "No one has the right, no matter how powerful he is or how many weapons he has, to sacrifice the life of his nation," said Perez. The 25 guerrillas of the Sandinista National Liberation Front who held hundreds of hostages in the National Palace for two days and the 59 political prisoners whose freedom they won arrived in Panama and asked for asylum. Diplomats said they were certain to get it. Thousands cheered the guerrillas and chanted "Down With Somoza," "Somoza To The Gallows" and "Viva Sandinistas" as a school bus took them to the Managua airport Thursday. Venezuelan and

GREENVILLE DISPENSARY?

I found a bottle recently clearly marked "Greenville Dispensary, Greenville, N. C." I can't find anyone who knows anything about this source of medicine. C. M.

The medicine in your bottle was liquor, Daily Reflector Chairman of the Board D. J. Whichard Jr. says.

He says the Greenville Dispensary was the local legal source of alcoholic beverages from 1904 to the end of 1908 and was located on Evans Street where First Federal Savings and Loan is. It was run by W. S. Atkins and came into being following a vote of the people in 1943 to close the 14-15 bars located on Evans Street, E. Fifth Street and Dickinson Avenue and regulate the sale of liquor. The dispensary was closed as of Jan. 1, 1909, Whichard said, when statewide prohibition became law, having been voted in during the fall of 1908.

Missile Leak Kills Airman

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — "A great big thunderhead" of orange vapor that spewed from an underground missile silo, killing an airman and forcing some 200 rural residents to evacuate, apparently formed when a pipeline valve failed and allowed volatile fuel to leak. Air Force officials said. Air Force personnel in protective gear who entered the unarmed Titan II missile complex late Thursday said the situation had stabilized. The cloud that had drifted about 200 feet above the missile site moved northward in a 10 mph wind and disappeared some eight hours after the leak occurred about noon. A steady breeze during the day prevented a "major disaster," said Capt. Karen Meier, an environmental specialist with the Air Force. Although the lethal cloud was no longer visible today, an Air Force spokesman said precautionary measures would remain in effect. Evacuated residents of the farming area 30 miles southeast of Wichita were told they could not yet return to their homes. A special team from Little Rock Air Force Base in Arkansas, where a similar incident occurred Jan. 27, was dispatched to assist airmen from McConnell Air Force Base.

The missile, a replacement for one removed for routine testing, was not armed with a nuclear warhead, said Capt. Alan Defend, information officer at McConnell. There was no danger of explosion because a liquid fuel that powers the missile when mixed with the propellant was not present.

Four Are Returned

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Calling it a "giant step forward," the head of the U.S. congressional delegation visiting Laos said today the Laotian government will hand over the remains of four American fliers killed in Laos during the Indochina War. These will be the first remains of American airmen killed during the U.S. involvement in the Laotian war to be returned to the United States. G.V. Montgomery, D-Miss., who heads the group of eight congressmen visiting Vietnam and Laos, told reporters, "It's a giant step forward in trying to find out about Americans missing here. We never had any encouragement or information in the past."

'Anything Better Than Not Knowing'

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

CONETOE — "Anything will be better than not knowing," Mrs. Elnora Heath said of her family's appeal for information about her husband, Charlie, 82, who has been missing since Aug. 10.

"Charlie had been sitting out here," Mrs. Heath, also 82 years of age, related as she motioned across the screened-in porch of their home up a dirt lane from Railroad Street in Conetoe. "I'd been shelling beans and peas all day and I was tired, but I tried one more time before I went to bed between 11 and 12 o'clock to get him to come on in and go to bed. He said he didn't want to come back in the house, though, so I went on in and fell asleep. The next thing I knew it was morning and I saw he hadn't been in the bed all night. I got up and went to the porch and saw he wasn't there either. 'Lord, take care of us,' was all I could say."

A preliminary search by friends and relatives did not locate Heath and the Edgecombe County Sheriff Department was summoned.

It was learned later in the day that a neighbor who knew Heath well, Mae Frances Barnes, had seen him that morning standing by the phone booth in the "downtown" area of Conetoe. She said she knew he was long way from home to be so old and feeble, but that she had seen him there a couple of mornings before, also, and thought little about it. She was late for work, she said, and did not stop or speak to him. She estimated the time at 6:50 a. m.

No one else who would recognize him has seen him since, apparently.

Ernest Heath of Norfolk, Va., the Heaths' "only child, though not the only one they raised," was called home and was there two hours after he was called.

The next several days were spent searching.

Edgecombe County Sheriff Phil Ellis said a thorough search was made of the area by law enforcement officers and volunteers. Bloodhounds seemed to track him to the area of the phone booth where Ms. Barnes had seen him, but no further. Contacts were made with truckers who travel the main highway through Conetoe early in the morning, but none remembered seeing him. Appeals have run on television, radio and in newspapers throughout the area. Someone has even dragged the canal that runs a mile or so from the Heaths' home.

"People have been so nice," Mrs. Heath said. "I've never seen so many sheriffs in my life and all of them have been kind. I just don't know what anyone else could do."

Mrs. Louise Sharp, Heath's niece, provided a description: "Uncle Charlie's about six feet tall, a big man, a little stooped over. He's getting bald on top. The night he left he was wearing a brown patterned (sort of a checkedy) shirt and khaki workpants, a straw hat and hushpuppy shoes without strings. He's nearly blind and he's mixed up in his mind at times, so, if he is alive, it could be he doesn't know where he is or how to get back home.

"We'll follow any leads that seem even a little legitimate. Last week my husband, William, and I drove all the way to Wilson because someone told us there was a man sleeping in a laundromat restroom up there at nights. We talked to the manager, though, and found out the man was too young to be Uncle Charlie.

"We really need some news, even if it's bad. Aunt Elnora can't go on and on like this not knowing whether Uncle Charlie out there sick somewhere needing help."

Ernest Heath has posted a $500 reward for information about his father. Anyone having information may call the Edgecombe County Sheriff Department, 823-5757; the Heath home, 823-0973; or the Sharp home, 752-5310.

Sickle Cell Aid Is Nearer

SEATTLE (AP) — Persons with sickle cell anemia — the blood disease which afflicts as many as 50 million people, most of them black, and kills half its victims before they reach age 20 — may live longer with the help of a new machine that treats their blood with a poisonous chemical.

Human testing will begin next year, says a University of Washington researcher who helped build and test one of the devices.

"We're closer now than we've been for years" to a treatment for the disease, said Albert Babb, chairman of nuclear engineering at UW and a biochemical engineer. "There hasn't really been any effective treatment that's been known to be practical."

The federal government is buying three of the experimental machines, which will be allocated to UW, Ohio

State University and the University of Kansas, Babb said. Fourteen to 16 patients will be tested during the next two years.

Those afflicted have red blood cells which form a crescent or sickle shape, lose their ability to move through body capillaries and thus cut off oxygen supplies.

The new machine functions like a kidney dialysis device, which was also developed at the University of Washington. Patients' blood would be pumped through the machine and dosed with the chemical sodium cyanate before being returned to the body.

Researchers hope the chemical will prevent the cells from "sickling." Because the chemical is toxic, almost all of it must be removed before the blood is returned to the body, Babb said.

Union Rejects Latest Offer

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The largest postal union today rejected a tentative labor agreement, and a spokesman said the Postal Service "has to reopen negotiations within five days or we go on strike."

Postmaster General William F. Bolger has consistently refused to renegotiate the tentative agreement reached July 21, making an impasse leading to a strike a likely result of today's vote. The Postal Service declined immediate comment on today's vote.

The American Postal Workers Union rejected the pact 94,000 to 78,000, spokesman Stan Allen said. The second largest postal union, the National Association of Letter Carriers, had rejected it Wednesday.

Under a resolution passed at the recent convention of the 299,000-member APWU in Denver, union President Emmet Andrews must ask the Postal Service to reopen talks and call a national strike within five days if the agency refuses. The APWU represents more than half of the nation's 554,000 unionized postal employees.

Andrews once before has asked Bolger for new talks, but was refused. That was after major opposition developed within his union to the tentative pact but before it was officially rejected.

On Wednesday, the 181,000 member National Association of Letter Carriers said "no" — by a 4-3 margin — to a contract worked out over three months and tentatively agreed to July 21. That union wants to reopen the negotiations, but its constitution mandates a walkout by Monday if the U.S. Postal Service refuses to start renegotiating.

Perhaps awaiting the APWU vote, NALC President J. Joseph Vacca is refusing to talk about the possibility of a strike.

Both Emmet Andrews, APWU president, and Vacca were booed at national conventions earlier this summer as the officials tried to sell the contract they had negotiated. The agreement would give postal workers considerably smaller pay raises than coal miners and railroad workers won this year. The union presidents argued that they had fought off postal management's effort to win authority to lay off employees. Both sides described that as the major issue during the talks.

The tentative agreement would give postal workers a 19.5 percent increase in pay and cost-of-living benefits over three years.

APWU delegates voted to reject the pact at their recent Denver convention by a 8,507,639 margin. That vote was not binding but was seen as an indication of what the full membership might be thinking.

The delegates directed Andrews to seek new negotiations if the membership rejected the settlement. If the postal service refuses or if negotiators fail to agree on another settlement "substantially" improving the earlier agreement, Andrews was told to call a national strike.

Postmaster General William F. Bolger has consistently refused to reopen talks. After resistance to the tentative pact developed earlier, Andrews asked Bolger to return to the bargaining table.

"We have completed our negotiations," Bolger replied. The postmaster general has not changed his stance.

Jenkins Speaks

Dr. Leo Jenkins was the guest speaker at a faculty dinner held during a Campbell College faculty orientation period August 17-18.

Jenkins talked on problems of human relations met by college staff members. He stressed the continuing importance of higher education in providing the educated citizens necessary to the American system of government. "Our work in education is also reflected," Jenkins said, "in the main stream of American business. I don't think there'd be a business community if it were not for education."

Jenkins addressed some 132 faculty members and guests following an introduction by Dr. Norman A. Wiggins, president of the college. Jenkins received a standing ovation from the audience. At the conclusion of Jenkins' speech, Wiggins represented the college in reading and presenting to Jenkins a formal appreciation for his 31 years of service to East Carolina University.

Leash Law Reminder

Alton E. Warren, chief inspector of Greenville, reminded residents of the city of the 24-hour leash law in the city limits.

Every dog that is kept in the city must at all times have a current rabies tag on a collar around the neck, he said.

Any dog kept in the city for more than 30 days must have a current city tag attached to the collar. City tags may be obtained at the Tax Collector's Office in the Municipal Building at the corner of Fifth and Washington Streets.

Any dog found running at large or in violation of the ordinance will result in the owner being issued a citation for the violation.

PCB Burial May Be In Pasture

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — State officials say a pasture belonging to North Carolina State University near the State Fairgrounds in Raleigh is the most likely burial site for tons of soil contaminated with toxic polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB).

State and federal technicians studied the five-acre site Thursday as a possible place to dump about 40,000 cubic yards of PCB-contaminated soil from the shoulders of about 270 miles of North Carolina highways.

"Right now it's the leading contender," said James F. Stamey, assistant chief of the state sanitary engineering section. "Of course, we're looking at other sites in case this one doesn't pan out."

Stamey said the site does not meet federal requirements for PCB burial because it would have to be excavated to within less than 50 feet of the underground water table.

However, he said the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will be asked to approve it if it meets most other geological specifications for an approved toxic waste burial ground.

Sanitary engineers are trying to determine whether a heavy plastic liner or a layer of dense Bentonite clay hauled in from the western United States would compensate for the proximity to the water table. Ground water is more than 30 feet below the surface at one end of the site and closer than 17 feet beneath the surface at the other end.

The nearest federally approved disposal site for PCBs is at Livingston, Ala. Meanwhile, the consideration of the pasture site drew criticism from some at North Carolina State.

"We're not too pleased about it," said E.R. Barrick, a professor of animal husbandry. "Our people are upset."

Mrs. Basnight Is New District Junior Director

WINTERVILLE — Miss Madge Gay Dews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth K. Dews Sr. of Winterville, and Stevan Hayden Thompson of Decatur, Ga., son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett H. Thompson of Charlotte, were united in marriage Saturday at 3:30 p.m. at the Winterville Missionary Baptist Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony were the Rev. Wayne Adkisson of Winterville, the Rev. Richard T. Davis of Durham and Father Edward Sheridan of Winston-Salem.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Paul Braxton, church organist, and Miss DeeAnna Braxton, violinist. Jeffrey Krantz of Greenville sang "A Wedding Benediction" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white wedding gown of organza trimmed at the slit neckline with cluny lace. The bishop sleeves of organza were adorned with two bands of cluny lace. Cluny lace edged the hemline and chapel length train. She wore her sister's white illusion mantilla edged in raschel lace.

She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and white roses trimmed with natural greenery and centered with a white orchid. She wore a diamond and sapphire bar pin belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Dennis T. McLawhorn.

The honor attendants were Mrs. Patrick J. DeCuzzi Jr. and Miss Catherine C. Dews of Winterville, sisters of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kenneth K. Dews Jr. of Winterville, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Carol Anne Love of Atlanta, Ga., cousin of the bride, Mrs. Randall Warren of Greenville and Mrs. J. Michael Brady of Asheville. Miss Elizabeth Denyse Padgett, cousin of the bride of Atlanta, was flower girl.

The honor attendants wore formal length gowns of maize organza over maize taffeta designed with an open V-neckline and fitted empire bodice. The waistline featured an inset band from which fell the full circular skirt enhanced by a ruffled flounce at the hemline that extended up the back of the gown to a self-fabric silk rose to create a bustle effect. The sleeveless gowns were complemented by sheer double tiered capellets.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of blue organza over taffeta designed identically to the honor attendants. They wore a cluster of blue silk flowers trimmed with gypsophelia in their hair and carried a natural clustered bouquet of pink, yellow and blue summer flowers trimmed with matching ribbon. The flower girl was dressed in a gown of white lace over yellow taffeta and carried a white basket filled with pastel summer flowers.

Eugene N. Witkin of Miami Beach, Fla., was best man. Groomsmen were David B. Wells of Atlanta, Joseph P. Thornton of Decatur, Ga., Michael R. Murden of Charleston, S. C., Kenneth K. Dews Jr. of Winterville, brother of the bride, Patrick J. DeCuzzi Jr. of Winterville, brother-in-law of the bride, Dennis McLawhorn Love of Atlanta, cousin of the bride, Irvin Lee Smith Jr. and Charles G. Smith, cousins of the bride of Robersonville, also lighted candles. David M. Love of Atlanta, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mrs. B. Vernon Cox directed the wedding. The mother of the bride wore a formal gown of blue chiffonette accented with blue floral Venise lace motifs. The mother of the bridegroom selected a floor length gown of champagne beige peau de soie with a jeweled bodice. Both carried white orchids pinned to their handbags. The bride's grandmother wore a floor length pink chiffon dress with a white angel orchid.

The bride is a graduate of D. H. Conley High School and ECU with a B.S. in nursing. She is now a nurse at the Rehabilitation Center, Emory University Hospital. The bridegroom is a graduate of N. C. State University and is a rising senior at the Emory University School of Dentistry.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the country home of the bride's parents. Charles V. Wilkerson Sr. and Mrs. Charles V. Wilkerson Jr. entertained at a wedding breakfast for the wedding party and families.

On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. Erskine Love, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas M. Padgett, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Smith Jr. and Mrs. Dennis T. McLawhorn entertained the wedding party and their families at a rehearsal dinner at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

President Carol Hardee announced Tuesday that the state picnic and planning meeting for Credit Women-International will be held Sunday at Park Road Park, Charlotte.

The annual fall board meeting will take place Nov. 11-12 at the Hilton Inn, Greensboro, according to Hardee.

Mary Roberson, chairman of the annual Bosses' Night, spoke to the Greenville chapter concerning the event. The members voted to hold Bosses' Night Oct. 10, 7 p.m., at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. President Hardee announced the deadline date of Sept. 26 for submitted letters for Credit Woman of the Year and Boss of Year, with awards to be presented Oct. 10.

Mrs. Angelene Venters, nominating committee chairman, stated that a slate of officers had been prepared for a September vote.

Mrs. Roberson reported on changes of the by-laws and standing rules to be voted on in September.

Mrs. Pam Kachmer, assistant vice president with First State Bank, presented the manual program on "Analyzing Your Financial Statement."

Inda Wingate served a chicken dinner at the Tuesday meeting.

Mrs. Shelley Basnight, active member of the Greenville Junior Womens Club, has been elected the new District 15 junior director for 1978-1980. Her new duties will consist of promoting work along the junior clubs in cooperation with other clubs; being a member of NCFW board and will attend all state meetings; correspond with the junior clubs in the district area and pass along all state and district information; plan with the president all district meetings and budgets.

Mrs. Basnight joined the local club in 1973 and has many past accomplishments, including Outstanding New Member in 1974 and Outstanding Junior Club Woman in 1976.

Reduce Summer Heat Gain

On hot summer days, windows can be a major source of heat. But there are things one might do to keep the heat gain to a minimum according to Mrs. Sue B. May, home economics extension agent.

"Simply closing the shades and draperies when the sun is shining on windows can reduce heat gain considerably. Leaving your storm windows on any windows that are rarely or never opened will help also. The dead air space between the two glass window coverings keeps the hot air out, cool air in and the two from coming into direct contact.

"You'll find storm windows particularly helpful on areas that the sun strikes directly. In summer this would include windows on the east and west side of your home — and on the south side, especially if your home has little roof overhang," said Mrs. May.

"Old-fashioned window shades can really cut heat gain. There are special sun control shades that cut the sun's heat greatly, but they cost more than regular shades. The use of venetian blinds and window shutters may also be worth investigating.

"Draperies do their part in helping take a load off your air conditioner. Light colored fabrics do the best job of reflecting heat. In fact, a light-colored drapery with a light-colored lining not only reflects heat, but creates a dead air space barrier," she stated.

Dear Abby

Kids Needn't Know Of Dad's Lifestyle

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been divorced for three years. We have two very mature and sophisticated children, a boy, 9, and a girl, 11, who live in Chicago with their mother.

I have a very lovely beach home in California, and I have a ladyfriend living with me. My ex-wife is aware of this, but my children are not.

In our settlement, my wife agreed to let me have the children for two weeks in the summer. Now she refuses to send them to me because she doesn't want them to visit a father who is living "in sin" with another woman.

I say that children should be taught the realities of life, and I don't intend to put up a phony puritanical front. My ladyfriend is not a cheap floozie. She's a fine European woman with sufficient charm and intelligence to hold a man without insisting on marriage, which is more than can be said of most American women.

How can I make my ex-wife see it my way? I miss my children.

ME IN MALIBU

DEAR ME: You probably can't, which is just as well. I agree with your ex-wife. Your "mature and sophisticated" children will learn the realities of life soon enough, so allow them their illusions awhile longer. And if you really "miss" your children, tell your "fine European ladyfriend" to get lost for a couple of weeks.

DEAR ABBY: Whoever said that boys like good girls is crazy.

I went out with a boy one night and he made advances. I told him where to get off. He didn't get mad, but he never asked me out again, and he was the one boy I really wanted to date.

Please don't say that a boy who would pull something like that isn't "nice." I haven't met a boy yet who doesn't take a girl out for what he can get. Because of this, a boy hardly ever asks me out twice. I am beginning to wonder about this good girl stuff. What does it prove?

UNDER AGE AND OVER DEVELOPED

DEAR UNDER: Most "nice" boys still want "good" girls. The boys who drop you because you're "good" are only boys. Stay good, and one day a MAN will come along and make the waiting worthwhile.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine let me know that she got out of a sickbed to attend my daughter's wedding. She coughed and sneezed and blew her nose during the whole time, and she looked very feverish and weak. She thought she was doing us all a big favor by coming, but I wish she had stayed home. She hugged and kissed me (and several others), and the following day I came down with the same symptoms she had at the wedding. I'm not saying she actually gave me something, but it was a strange coincidence. Abby, you would be doing a tremendous public service to remind your readers that sick people belong at home! I can't sign this for obvious reasons.

"HILLSBOROUGH"

DEAR "HILLSBOROUGH": And to your letter, I say "Amen."

DEAR ABBY: My problem is me. I never know what to say when someone asks me a question that I prefer not to answer. For example, questions of a private family nature, such as, "What happened between your sister and her husband?" Or, "Why doesn't your son marry that girl he's been living with for so long?"

Other questions that aren't all that personal also irritate me, such as, "How much did you pay for those shoes?" I suppose I could say, "It's none of your business," but I don't have the nerve, so I find myself answering a lot of questions I don't really want to answer.

If you have a solution for my problem, please put it in your column because I'm sure I'm not the only one who would like to know.

TONGUE-TIED TERRE HAUTE

DEAR T.T.: When you're asked a question you don't want to answer, don't be defensive or apologetic. Say, "I'd prefer not to answer that." Try it. You'll be amazed at how effective it is.

Mixed Drink Voting Imminent

Very soon votes will be held in various North Carolina areas on liquor-by-the-drink. Mecklenburg County (Charlotte) will be the first to vote on the issue under the law which was passed by the State Legislature in session in June. Mecklenburg's vote is scheduled for Sept. 8. On Sept. 12 Southern Pines, Black Mountain and Orange County (Chapel Hill) will hold referendums on liquor-by-the-drink. Sanford and Louisburg vote on Sept. 20 and Dare County on Sept. 22.

Even though the rules for serving of mixed drinks are still being formulated by the state Alcoholic Board of Control, the early votes will give a good idea of how the public feels about mixed drinks. Under a previous law, later declared unconstitutional by the N. C. Supreme Court, Mecklenburg voted in favor of mixed drinks, while Moore County voted against it. A state vote in 1973 saw the issue defeated.

Times change, though, and the probability is that some — perhaps most — of the early referendums will see approval of mixed drinks.

Then, if we can judge by other states, the populous counties and those who depend on tourist traffic to boost the economy, can be expected to gradually turn to the mixed drink concept because visitors from other areas demand it.

THIS AFTERNOON Halt Urban End Run

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH—High-crime areas seeking federal funds on their own without coordination with statewide planning programs ought to be discouraged, Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. has told a study committee of the U.S. Senate.

"I recognize there is a desire by some high crime area cities and counties to want direct funding without state coordination of planning," the governor told the committee at a recent Washington session.

That group is currently mulling changes and continuation of the federal law Enforcement Assistance Administration program which pumps federal funds into local criminal justice projects.

Gov. Hunt is chairman of a committee of the National Governor's Association concerned with that area.

State Control
He favors continuing a system of state planning bodies to coordinate and supervise local projects. "The high crime areas include precisely the cities and counties with which the state needs most to have coordinated planning.

"Furthermore, these cities and counties usually have a mix of local and state criminal justice services" such as city police, county jails, state courts, he observed.

"To have some components of a high crime area criminal justice system coordinating with the state, and other components not, can only lead to confusion and frustration," he said. In his remarks, the governor pointed out that we are still slow in recognizing and building toward a genuine criminal justice system embracing law enforcement, courts, and corrections anyway. And, he urged continuation of federal funding through the statewide planning system despite past criticism that the money has gone for unneeded equipment or wasteful bureaucratic programs with no real impact on crime rates.

"I am pleased to say that, increasingly, many of those still complaining about LEAA spending too much on hardware and the like are citing examples of LEAA investments of the past," he said.

BILL NOBLITT

Furthermore, it is not realistic to blame only the criminal justice system for failure to combat crime. "...too often problems of crime are simplistically blamed almost solely on criminal justice systems.

"I suggest to you that our serious crime problems are the result of a host of problems in our society, and that we must be careful in not simply saying that crime is increasing, therefore, LEAA or criminal justice systems are a failure." Many parts of society are responsible for crime prevention, he said.

Over-Planning
As for critics who say too much is being spent on planning and not enough on crime fighting, Hunt said only three-tenths of one percent of the annual cost of the state's criminal justice system is spent on planning.

He told senators that the North Carolina system costs about $400 million annually to employ some 20,000 people in various agencies. There are some 350,000 major arrests; over a million criminal and traffic cases in the cases; 35,000 people on probation, 14,000 in prison, and 7,000 on parole in North Carolina.

"Coordination of the law enforcement, court and correctional components of criminal justice systems becomes increasingly important as crime has increased at such astronomical rates in the past 10 years, and juvenile delinquents and career criminals have learned to manipulate the inability of the criminal justice system to function well as a planned and coordinated system," Hunt said.

Long To The Rescue

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Chatting on Constitution Avenue outside the Russell Senate Office Building with the Treasury's top tax expert, Sen. Russell B. Long set forth a homely analogy to save President Carter and his policy advisers from themselves.

The topic of conversation between Long and Donald Lubick, assistant secretary for tax policy, was capital gains. But here of all things was the senator talking about duck hunting. Aim directly at the duck flying by, and you're sure to miss him, said Long; aim a little ahead of the duck, and you have a chance to hit him.

The meaning of Long's analogy: if you measure the tax yield of a reduced capital gains tax rate by simply applying the lower rate to existing gains, you are sure to miss the mark; but if you estimate the larger yield that would result from many more transactions under a lower rate, you have a chance of hitting.

Whether the administration takes that advice has far-reaching political and economic consequences. As chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Long is offering the president a way out of the tax corner he has painted for himself. Oddly, the key to that escape is accepting Long's conviction that reduction of capital gains rates could increase, not decrease, total revenue.

The reason: Long approaches Mr. Carter's complaints that the House-passed tax bill provides excessive tax relief to upper brackets by proposing more to the poor, not less to the rich. But to keep this largesse within budgetary strictures, Long must persuade the administration that the bill's capital gains section will not lose revenue.

Nothing so illuminates the disparate political styles of these two sons of the Deep South. The president has grudgingly but steadily given ground for 18 months on his rigid insistence that tax changes must soak the rich. Having lost control over the House version of the bill, he now faces a choice between a politically disastrous veto or a new set of principles.

The president's would-be rescuer is not bound by doctrinaire adherence to income redistribution. Long likes tax cuts for everybody, from millionaires on down. Whereas the president has crumpled knowledge of the internal revenue code gained since January 1977, the senator has spent 25 years exploring its infinite varieties. "He is a genius at innovation," says one administration official.

Genius begins this time by giving the House bill a less plutocratic, more populist look, not by taking from the rich but by giving to the poor. Long wants to compensate taxpayers in all brackets for new Social Security tax increases, and then give enough help for taxpayers making less than $25,000 to compensate for inflation.

But the Senate budget resolution limits total tax reductions to $19.4 billion. How can Long cut individual taxes so generously, and still have money left over for the deep capital gains reductions that he wants... Whereas the Treasury estimates a $1.9 billion revenue loss from capital gains taxes alone in the $16.3 billion House bill, Long wants much more radical cuts. He would, in effect, put the top capital gains rate at 19.5 percent, compared to the present 49 percent.

He would soften this with populist flourishes. He would crack down on the two (repeat two) remaining millionaires who escape all tax liability through

Strength For Today

INNOCENCE AND EXPERIENCE
At a time when most British writers ignored or ridiculed Americans, the great English novelist, William Thackeray, made two young Americans the heroes of his novel, the Virginians.

The action takes place in England during the early nineteenth century, and consequently the reader sees the effect of the older European civilization upon two fresh, idealistic young men from a less sophisticated culture. Initially they reject the shams, hypocrisy, and falseness they encounter in English society. But one of the young men, despite his early idealism is somewhat immature. Within a short time he falls into debt, vice, and is finally imprisoned.

The lesson Thackeray taught is still valid. The uncompromising idealism with which we begin new phases of life is very valuable, but with it must come wisdom, insight, maturity. The man who can retain his idealism as he gains his wisdom is on his way to real strength.

By ART BUCHWALD Jackie Is Coming!

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass. — Ever since the rumor was announced that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis had purchased 375 acres of one of the most important tracts of land on this island, no one has talked about anything else. Reactions have ranged from fear and apprehension to excitement and envy that one of the world's most famous women had decided to make the Vineyard her summer retreat.

My phone hasn't stopped ringing since the story was published.

One lady who knows everything called and said, "Did you hear that Bergdorf Goodman is breaking ground for a new store next to Jackie's land?"

"I hadn't heard that," I said.

"Yes; it will be in the same complex with Gucci, Van Cleef and Arpels and Halston's, who have all decided to build next to her."

"That's fantastic. What about Yves St. Laurent?"

"He's building in Apeller down the road with Saks Fifth Avenue in the same mall. It will be just behind the New York Museum of Modern Art annex."

"The Museum of Modern Art is going to have an annex on the Vineyard?"

"Of course. Jackie loves art."

"Gosh," I said, "this is exciting. Keep me posted in case you hear any more."

The next morning my informant was on the phone again.

"The National Enquirer has decided to set up a five-man Martha's Vineyard bureau. People magazine is thinking of moving its entire staff up here. Three hundred free-lance writers from movie magazines have already applied for press credentials. And Eastman Kodak is going to construct a photo lab on the beach to develop all the paparazzi films, so the photographers won't have to send their stuff to Rochester."

Future For Walter

WASHINGTON (AP) — It seems that Walter F. Mondale is being asked the same question over and over these days. In fact, it is a question he has been asked since he took office:

Are you planning to run for president in 1980?

He has an answer for journalists who insist on repeating the question.

"Some reporter every day wonders if I am dumb enough to answer that. That is a basic I.Q. question," he told one person unfortunate enough to fall into the trap.

It is just another example of the wit and wisdom of the

40 Years Ago Today

August 25, 1938
Unofficial estimates indicated farmers selling their tobacco on the Greenville market today were paid an average of a approximately 25 cents a pound.

A majority of the leaf sold this morning brought between 18 and 29 cents and most of it was of medium quality. As sales started in the 1938 auction season, lugs and common tobacco sold somewhat higher than on opening day last year.

It was estimated that approximately 2,500,000 pounds of the tobacco would be sold at the local warehouses.

Henry L. Rivers, civil engineer, said today erection of the grandstand for Greenville's municipal stadium will begin as soon as the steel arrives.

About 70 workmen are busy doing necessary ground work, which includes laying underground pipe, tile and other drainage facilities.

The stadium, when completed, will seat about 1,500 persons. It is being erected with local and federal appropriations.

Other Editors Say Week Of The Hotpot

The Raleigh Times
There's a run on hotpots. Popcorn poppers are in such demand you'd think the world was going to the movies all at once. Red and blue bedspreads and blankets are about sold out. It's moving-in week at Triangle campuses again.

Roommates who last week had never seen each other are still sizing each other up warily. One thinks "What'll I do if he plays his stereo late?" While the other thinks "he seems OK, but you never know who'll turn out to like his music loud and long." But neither is sure enough yet to say it.

Meanwhile, roommates of choice, separated all summer, are past the first glad reunion hugs and shouts. Now, at Peace and St. Mary's, Shaw and St. Aug's, Meredith and State and Carolina and Duke, they're comparing notes about summer jobs and summer romances.

At State which presumably is typical, those popcorn poppers and hotpots, along with toaster ovens (and window fans against September's heat) are the favored appliances simply because they're the only ones dorm rules permit. With no dorm food service except cuisine a la vending machine, you can be sure student use of these little gadgets gets wildly imaginative. It's said, in fact, that there are recipes for popcorn popper beef stew.

Freshmen don't know all these niceties yet. They simply wonder where if anywhere, when they don't eat in, they can eat cheaply but well—and how they'll get around the sprawl of Raleigh without a car.

But juniors and seniors, facing another semester of rules and sometimes of overcrowding in the dorm beehives, yearn for the day when their parents will consent to "my own apartment."

With apartments in Raleigh 98 percent, occupied and rents going skyhigh, they might as well resign themselves and settle in at the dorm.

Market Not As Bullish As Seems

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — An onlooker who relied on nothing but the stock-price indicators might conclude that Wall Street is in the midst of a solid bull market.

But if that's what it is, hardly anybody seems to be enjoying it.

The Value Line composite index, made up of some 1,700 stocks, has doubled since the end of 1974.

Indicators for the American Stock Exchange and in the over-the-counter market are at or near all-time highs.

Trading volume records were set in April and again early this month at the New York Stock Exchange.

And even the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which has consistently been lagging behind most other market measures, recently touched its highest level in more than a year after climbing 150 points from the end of February to mid-August.

Yet most market commentators being issued by brokers these days read like anything but invitations to a party.

The voices of Wall Street are virtually unanimous in their criticism of the Carter administration and its handling of the economy.

By all indications, pension fund managers, the giants of the marketplace, are more bearish than ever. New data show that they sold more stock than they bought in the first quarter of this year — the first time that has happened since the government began keeping track of their activities.

Mutual funds, for their part, have a near-record 12 percent of their assets out of the market.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the nation's largest brokerage firm, says its cash accounts — a means of measuring patterns among individual investors — have shown stepped-up selling lately after a period of buying, on balance, earlier in the year.

International Moneyline of New York points out that if the Dow Jones industrial average is adjusted for inflation back to 1967 dollars, it stands at about 450, even after its sharp rise this summer.

"This is strictly a selective market," observed Eugene Peroni, an analyst at Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis Inc.

Internal market factors have exerted a favorable influence this summer, he said, but the fundamental news is no better than it was. "There is no check on inflation whatsoever, and the dollar is still in trouble."

Normally, a rising market is taken as a signal of better things to come in the economy, even if it is hard to see any signs of improvement in the current news.

But this time, some brokers maintain that investors are buying out of fear rather than hope: Fear that inflation and the dollar's decline against other currencies will continue. Under their reasoning, people looking for a financial haven are turning to stocks as — in the phrase coined by Salomon Brothers — "the only bargain left."

Spanish Oracle's Order Flourishing

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
SEVILLE, Spain (AP)—Few people believe Clemente Dominguez Gomez, 32, a Spanish insurance clerk until two years ago, will be the next pope of the Roman Catholic Church.

Spanish Catholic Church, the self-proclaimed oracle has made such a success of marketing his visions that his religious order is prospering while most of Spain scrambles to pay its bills.

Neither the Vatican nor the Spanish Catholic Church seem disposed to intervene in what has become a growing embarrassment to both.

Only the local priests and laymen on the hot plains of Andalusia complain. But they, too, seem overwhelmed at times by Dominguez' success and the 600-yard-long building that looks more like a garage than a cathedral, rising up over the wheat fields and olive trees where four little girls claim they saw a vision of the Virgin Mary 10 years ago.

shelters. He would increase the capital gains rate to 30 percent for millionaires escaping other taxation. He might even seek part of that old standard of tax reformers: taxing capital gains at death.

But mostly, Long would use a sharp pencil to correct the Treasury's horrendous but artificial revenue loss. The chairman cogently argues that locked-up capital assets — securities or real estate — would be unlocked by his proposed low tax rate. The present 49 percent of nothing equals nothing; his proposed 19.5 percent of something equals a hefty revenue gain, not a loss. In other words, aim ahead of the flying ducks.

The Treasury insists it cannot do that for fear of impeaching its credibility. But Treasury officials admit this: if Long actually got through the perils of the Senate the bill he is mentally concocting, it would be glorious for investors and populist enough for Jimmy Carter to sign.

The notion of Long rescuing the president is not so bizarre. After he and his wife dined at the White House last month, the senator rose at dawn the next morning and rewrote his speech to the National Press Club, deleting any anti-Carter taint. Nor has he joined House members, either privately or publicly, in attacking the president's stiff-backed attitude. Instead, Russell Long is trying to spring Mr. Carter from his homemade tax trap by making plutocrats and paupers both happy — if only the president's tax estimators will let him do it.

vice president that spices almost any public address he makes.

In a recent 30-minute interview by editors and news directors from outside the Washington area, Mondale managed half a dozen jokes. More often than not, he and his colleagues in the administration were the butts. A standup comedian he isn't, but try this: "We have an open administration. As a matter of fact, it is a sieve." "It is almost inhuman what a president goes through. No issue hits his desk that doesn't have a knife in it, or a bomb in it. If it were good news, it would have been announced by someone else."

"I am reminded of Bismarck's gag that, 'he who likes sausages and laws should never watch either being made.' I didn't say that when I was in the Senate. I do now."

One of the more pressing questions around the White House these days is what, exactly, has Gerald Rafshoon been doing? Rafshoon is the Atlanta advertising executive brought into the White House to help patch up Carter's image around the nation.

White House wags have taken to suggesting that the curlyhaired would-be media-master has had a hand in all sorts of things presidential, at least those seen as creating a "presidential image."

When Carter flew to Columbia, Mo., last week to address a farm group, an armor-plated limousine, as usual, arrived there ahead of him. However, it was missing the U.S. and presidential flags that fly from the front fenders. They were carried out to Missouri from Washington by a Secret Service agent.

"Jimmy wouldn't miss them," said a television cameraman, kidding the

"But Rafshoon would," said one reporter. It has also been suggested that after a presidential speech or "media event" that has been engineered by Rafshoon, those in attendance be given a special notice, much like the logo at the end of a television show or movie, that would read: "This has been a Gerald Rafshoon production."

What does FAMILY mean? It means the together trail!

It means a father and mother sharing the beauty and excitement of God's world with their children.

The hike together. The picnic together. The working together and playing together that Home inspires. Just ask the psychologists — and sociologists — and criminologists — what values are found along "the together trail," or lost when family living misses its mark.

Worship and religious training belong, too, on the together trail. Faith grows best in an atmosphere of sharing. Character thrives in the sunlight of Christian example.

In the church of your choice there's precious opportunity for you — and yours. The Church is the together trail of God's Family!

Walker Gets Award From State Group

Edward M. Walker, executive vice president of the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce, received the Annual Achievement Award from the North Carolina Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives yesterday.

Ed Garland, executive vice president of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and past president of NCAACE, presented the award at the GACOC Board of Directors meeting.

The award is presented to a chamber executive who has demonstrated excellent achievement in his area during the year. The award was announced at the NCAACE Spring Conference in Charlotte Aug.

10. Walker also received the achievement award in 1971 while he served as the executive vice president of the Dunn Chamber of Commerce.

A native of Rose Hill, Walker received his elementary and high school education in Wilmington. He furthered his education at Holmes Bible College and Theological Seminary, Greenville, S.C.

Walker was ordained as a Baptist minister in 1955 and has served at churches in Holden's Beach, Goldsboro and Dunn.

When entering the Chamber of Commerce profession, Walker studied at the University of Georgia in the Institute of Organizational Management for five summers, completing his sixth year in June.

Walker is a former member of the Goldsboro Optimist Club and the Dunn Rotary Club. He is presently a member of the Greenville Rotary Club. Other activities included: Chairman of the Manpower Development Training Act Advisory Committee for Harnett County, member of the Board of Directors for the Capital Area Development Association, member of the Harnett County Airport Commission and member of the Board of Directors of the NCAACE. He was also Activities Chairman of the Cape Fear District for Boy Scouts.

Walker is married to the former Jane Brown of Wilmington. They have three children, Pamela, Eddie and Gordie.

Sheriff's Dept. Receives Grant

The Pitt County Sheriff's Department has been awarded second year funding, totalling $17,685, for operational expenses of an Evidence Technician Unit. A local match, provided by the county, of $884 is included in the total project cost.

An Evidence Technician Unit includes trained personnel, sophisticated equipment, and a vehicle enabling law enforcement personnel to collect evidence at the scene of the crime.

Under a previous grant, a year ago, the Evidence Technician Unit vehicle was purchased by the department. The present grant project will fund salaries, training for officers, uniforms and vehicle operation expenses and supplies for one year.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson stated that at the present time two officers are working 40 to 60 hours a week around the clock in providing services through the use of the Evidence Technician Unit. "We are delighted to have received federal assistance enabling the department to train more officers for the Evidence Technician Unit and in turn decrease the work load now faced by our present staff," Tyson said.

Two Wrecks In City

An estimated $1,400 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Heaviest damage, according to officers, resulted from a 12:35 p.m. collision at the intersection of Reade and Evans Streets, involving cars driven by Nikita Webb Williams of 806 East Third St. and Sue Ellen Dietz of 10 Scott St.

Damage to each of the two vehicles was set at $500.

Hans Gregory Scheller of Route 2, Greenville, was charged with driving under the influence following investigation of a 10 p.m. collision at the intersection of Cotanche and Fifth Streets.

Police reported the Scheller car collided with a fire hydrant at the intersection resulting in an estimated $400 damage to the Scheller car.

Prima, After Three Years In Coma, Dies

By DAVID N. ROSENTHAL, Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louis Prima, the roughneck son of a truckdriver who rose from the saloons of New Orleans to top billing in Las Vegas with his searing trumpet and gravelled voice, is dead after nearly three years in a coma.

Prima died Thursday of pneumonia at a New Orleans hospital with his fourth wife, Gia Maione, at his side. Doctors at Touro Infirmary said the 65-year-old entertainer had been in a coma brought on by a brain tumor since 1975.

Prima never fully regained consciousness after brain surgery three years ago in Los Angeles. He was returned to his native city in February 1976.

"I think Louis taught a lot of people showmanship," said clarinetist Pete Fountain after learning of Prima's death. "I think he was one of the best entertainers who ever came out of New Orleans."

"A lot of people are still following in his footsteps, singing like he did."

It was his singing voice, a cross between Louis Armstrong and Popeye, that made Prima distinctive.

The slick-haired entertainer clowning with his voice, singing his own compositions like "Angelina" and "Robin Hood" between blasts from his hot jazz horn.

But he was perhaps most famous for teaming in the 1950s with Keely Smith, who provided a deadpan contrast to Prima's boundless exuberance.

Their recording of "Old Black Magic" hit the top of the charts in 1961, about the time their eight-year marriage ended in divorce.

Charged In Incident

William James Daniels, 23 of 430 West Third St. was arrested by Greenville police last night on charges of taking indecent liberties with a child, Chief Glenn Cannon reported this morning.

Cannon said the charges stemmed from an incident that occurred about 7:30 p.m. at a West Third Street residence involving a six-year-old boy.

Daniels was taken into custody about 10:30 p.m.

French astronomer Nostradamus died in 1566.

Group Says Ads Up Cost

RICHMOND (AP) — A consumer group is accusing Virginia Electric & Power Co. of having its customers pay for a $140,000 advertising campaign to convince them their electric bills should climb.

"It is an overt attempt by Veeco to influence public opinion just before a major rate hearing," Taylor Cousins of Richmond said Thursday. He is a member of the board of Virginia Consumer Congress.

Attorney General Marshall Coleman indicated his concern Thursday, saying, "Veeco seems intent on trying its case in the newspapers."

Veeco defended the ads, calling them informational and a public service.

"Surveys show the question the ratepayers ask most frequently is 'Why must rates go up?' We feel we have an obligation to provide the answers," said Henry Holloway, Veeco advertising manager.

Nurses Graduate

At a graduation ceremony held Thursday night, 35 practical nurses and 26 associate nurses of the Pitt Technical Institute received pins.

The ceremony was held at St. James Methodist Church, with about 250 parents and friends witnessing the eighth annual pinning ceremony.

The keynote address was given by Lou Everett, R.N., who challenged the nurses to "set objectives for yourself. Include realistic and creative goals, then be the best at whatever you are."

They made their appearance around the Aug. 1 and, according to Holloway, will continue until mid-September.

The State Corporation Commission begins hearings Sept. 5 on Veeco's $246 million rate increase request, the largest in its history.

The ads feature a freckled-faced boy at a sidewalk lemonade stand trying to explain to his young customers he had to raise the price of lemonade because the price of lemons went up.

"It's that way with electricity," the ads say.

Harry Reasoner, Back At CBS, Takes Thoughtful Look At 1968

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — 1968 was the year of the riots, massive anti-war rallies, black power, no second term for Lyndon B. Johnson, the killings of Martin Luther King Jr. and Robert F. Kennedy.

Tonight, CBS News gives that turbulent year a thoughtful second look in "1968" a two-hour special and the first show Harry Reasoner has narrated for CBS since his return from ABC anchorman.

Written by Perry Wolff, "1968" is a well-edited memory trip, most of the memories bad, with light relief from a few old clips such as one showing Jerry Rubin, retired radical, in full beard and saying:

"...I think that a generation of kids which says we don't care about your concepts of cleanliness is a revolutionary generation."

The look back is augmented by recently published news — made possible by the Freedom of Information Act — about government spying and the FBI's bid, in an era of black radicals, to discredit Dr. King.

While little of this is new, the weaving of it into the program makes the show far more than a simple retrospective. However, one segment seems an unfortunate attempt at dramabrightening.

It shows Coretta King at funeral services for her husband. At the same time, we're told the FBI was bothered by the civil rights leader's reputation even after his death, and that a top agent suggested:

"...in the event the Bureau is inclined to entertain counterintelligence action against" Mrs. King or her husband's image "we propose the following..." (No proposals are revealed.)

Then, as we still see her in church, we're told the late FBI chief, J. Edgar Hoover, mixed the suggestions, whatever they were.

The juxtaposition of the funeral and the FBI obviously tries to underscore a point, but obviously there are better ways to do it.

Fortunately, such lapses are rare in this show, which covers Vietnam, black power, the riots after King's death, LBJ's decision not to seek re-election and the youth culture with comprehensive commentary and well-chosen clips from the past.

And, recounting Robert Kennedy's 1968 bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, it pulls no punches in saying he "had always been an opportunist. He had moved from left to right politically. "...he had authorized illegal wiretaps. He had sent a secret CIA army to Cuba. He lived wealthy, but walked the ghettos for votes. In the irrational year of 1968, none of it mattered."

Then, his assassination, and we get deeply moving glimpses of Eugene McCarthy's young California primary campaigners, in shock and weeping as they learn RFK has been shot.

Then, yet another look at the violence-wracked Democratic convention in Chicago, the baton-flailing cops, the screaming kids, the whole nightmare all over again.

I wish "1968" included where-are-they-now reports on the year's major figures, had them talk about those times. But it's a good effort and let us hope it prompts another like it next year.

The bidding:
North East South West

3 NT Pass 4 ♦ Pass
6 ♦ Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Queen of ♠.

South let the possibility of an overtrick blind him to the danger inherent in the hand, and went down in a slam that should have been made.

The bidding is interesting. Although he held a six-card suit, South decided to respond negatively to his partner's forcing two-bid because he did not possess an ace or a king. Despite the mountainous hand, North contented himself with a raise to three no trump — for his partner might have held an absolute bust. When South showed a long spade suit, however, North could contain himself no longer and made a well-reasoned jump to slam. West led the queen of diamonds, won by the king. Declarer came to hand with the queen of clubs and led the queen of spades. Unfortunately, West discarded on this trick, and declarer found that there was no way he could avoid losing two trump tricks.

South should have realized that a 4-0 trump break was the only thing that could endanger his contract. He could have taken steps to guard against that.

As the cards lie, declarer could have made the slam by leading the ace of trumps at trick two. However, that would lose the contract if West, not East, held all four missing trumps.

There is a safety play that virtually guarantees the contract no matter who holds the trumps. At trick two declarer should lead a low trump toward his queen. When West shows out, declarer can now lead to the ace of trumps and return a trump toward his jack, and he loses only one trump trick.

If East shows out on the first trump lead and West takes the king, declarer is still safe unless there is a bad break in hearts. He comes to hand with the queen of clubs and takes the marked finesse of the nine of trumps. After cashing the ace of trumps and ace-king of hearts, declarer returns to his hand with a heart ruff to draw the last trump and dummy is then high.

Anka Show To Monte Carlo

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It may soon become a thing of the past for a group of singers, dancers and comedians to assemble on a soundstage to make a variety special for television.

The public has been saturated by variety shows and the networks are looking for new ways to preserve the venerable form, which launched TV in the 1940s.

Many specials have taken to the road and exotic locales, where new advances in video tape technology permit the same freedom as film.

"Paul Anka in Monte Carlo," which airs Sunday on CBS, is presented as a musical tour of the postage-stamp European principality of Monaco.

"The setting is breathtaking and we take full advantage of it, with a lot of music," said Buzz Kohan, who wrote the script.

"But it's not a travelogue. The thread is two people — Paul Anka and Suzanne Somers — driving around on mopeds. It supposedly takes place in one day and at the end they're to have an intimate dinner. But Suzanne keeps inviting everyone to join them. When they end up at the Sporting Club there are 200 people."

The special also stars Donna Summer.

Kohan, who won Emmys for "The Carol Burnett Show" and "America Salutes Richard Rodgers," said he was unable to get to Monaco to scout the locations. But Marty Pasetta, the producer-director, went.

Kohan said they were in Monte Carlo at the time of the wedding of Princess Caroline, which presented some problems.

"We were going to shoot at the palace, but that was the day of the reception," he said. "Oddly enough, despite the great play in the press, we never got an idea that much was going on. I think the reporters outnumbered everyone else."

Kohan described singer-composer Anka as "a multi-talented man," but added, "His greatest talent is promoting Paul Anka."

Anka, born 37 years ago in Ottawa, was a star when he was 16. By the time he was 19 he was a millionaire. One of his earliest songs, "Diana," sold nearly 20 million copies. In all, he wrote more than 400 songs.

Anka's first special was last year. It was done in a studio.

An Eye On The Lead

Jerry Pate watches his tee shot on the ninth hole during Thursday's first round of the Colgate-Hall of Fame

Golf Classic being played at the Pinehurst Country Club. Pate finished the day tied with Gibby Gilbert for the first-round lead with a four-under-par 67. (AP Laserphoto)

Cavs' Punter Hoping For Less Work Load

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Virginia senior Russ Henderson, the leading punter in the Atlantic Coast Conference last year and one of the few bright spots in Cavalier football, is hoping he will not have to work as much this season.

Henderson, who also kicks field goals and got the Cavs' only victory last year over Wake Forest with four of them, boomed an average 42.5 yards per punt last season, 13th best in the country.

But he was called on to do it an incredible 85 times last season as Virginia's sputtering offense needed him about every fourth snap.

"It's kind of a funny feeling being the punter and really being the team's main offensive punch," Henderson conceded during a visit here by ACC Operation Football, a writers' tour of preseason camps.

"I just hope I don't get called on to punt as much this year, because that will mean the offense is not moving the ball," he added.

Henderson's average, and a consistent hang time of 4.5

seconds or better, is attracting the eyes of the pros. And he thinks he will make it in there after his final year at Virginia.

But Henderson also thinks an improved Cavalier offense will help his distance average, too. He was called on to punt deep in opposition territory a number of times last year in an effort to put the other team in a hole — one time he even punted from 29 yards out — and that, he said, reduced his average.

Henderson, with long, curly, dark hair and a droopy mustache, says he is proof that kickers in football are just a little different. "Coach (Dick) Bestwick is right when he calls me flaky, or spaceman."

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Jerry Pate and Gibby Gilbert, each an unsuccessful challenger a week ago and each bubbling with confidence, are looking to salvage winless seasons this week in the $250,000 Hall of Fame Golf Classic.

"Look out for this week," said Gilbert after firing a solid, four-under-par 67 and tying Pate for the first-round lead Thursday.

"I've only told you that once before," Gilbert said. "And that was at Memphis (Tenn.). Just remember what I'm telling you."

It was at Memphis that Gilbert scored his second career victory.

"I've had scores low enough to win several titles this year, but every time I get there, somebody shoots the lights out," he said. "But this is the week."

Like Pate, Gilbert had a chance to win last week's Westchester Classic until playing poorly in the last round.

"I've been playing well for quite a while now," said Pate, a former U.S. Open titleholder and a playoff loser in the recent PGA National Championship. "My game has been pretty consistent."

Over his last seven holes, it was spectacular. He played those holes six-under-par with birdie, eagle, birdie, par, par, birdie, birdie.

"I don't know what it was," mused Pate. "Maybe it was just everybody saying how tough the golf course was. I kept telling myself, 'It can't be THAT tough.'"

The old No.2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club, one of America's finest, was punished by Hale Irwin's 20-under-par winning total a year ago and this time the sponsors decided to "restore" it.

Some tees were lengthened. The fairways are narrower. The rough is up. "The rough," said Howard Twitty, "is consistent. Consistently bad."

"I've probably played No.2 as much as anybody in the tournament," said Leonard Th'Ve done to it is brutal. For 50 years it stood on its on. If you play well, you'll shoot a good score. Now you can play well and shoot a bad score. What they've done to

No.2, it makes you want to cry."

Twitty and Thompson, along with Tom Kite and Greg Powers, were tied for third at 69. Cesar Sanudo had an ace with a two-iron shot on the sixth hole and headed a group of eight at 70, the only others to break par.

Arnold Palmer matched par 71. Tom Watson shot 72. Irwin fought his way to a 73. Leading money winner Andy Bean carded a 74.

Pate's spectacular finish was helped by a couple of iron shots that stopped less than a foot from the cup. He made two birdies with 10-foot putts and got the eagle off a three-wood second shot that stopped 15 feet from the cup.

Gilbert, playing in the afternoon when the greens were bumpy and more difficult, holed three critical, par-saving putts of 8, 6 and 5 feet and had the lead alone until bogeying his 15th hole.

"I got a little greedy there," he said. "Instead of going for the middle of the green I tried to get it in close and got it in a bunker instead."

Dye Pleased With Offense

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer

The work of the East Carolina first offensive unit brought a smile to head coach Pat Dye's face last night as he watched it roll over the second defense and put 57 points on the scoreboard.

What especially pleased Dye was the Pirate passing game, a phase which has been somewhat lacking in his previous four years at ECU.

"The passing game had to be impressive," Dye commented to reporters after a team scrimmage which was the culmination of the two-day practice period for the Pirates.

"We put the very second best defense on the field to start the ballgame—I thought they were about as good as the first team—and they (the first team offense) moved the ball on them."

The team's top two quarterbacks, Leander Green and Steve Greer, drew praise from their coach, especially Greer. "I've been real pleased with Steve's progress — he's been super."

Dye also had accolades for the offensive backfield and line. "The back's looked good running, but you don't see the offensive line knocking those big holes up in there." "I'm pleased with the offensive line, backs and receivers — mainly the whole offensive team."

The defense, Dye said, is harder to evaluate. "I couldn't tell about the defensive team. They just kind of manhandled the scout team."

Dye said there were at least two defensive areas which need improvement, however, the pass rush and pass coverage.

"Western Carolina is a throwing team, so we've just got to get better. Their quarterback (Mike Pusey) is the best throwing quarterback we've faced in the four years I've been here." The Pirates open the season at home against the Catamounts on Sept. 2.

The coach also seemed pleased with the kicking game, singling out punter Mickey Bentley.

Dye said the team has made good use of its practice time in the past two weeks. "After we look at the films, we can tell who we're going to go with early in the year. We've been very fortunate with injuries, and our conditioning has come along."

The team will now go with one practice session per day in preparation for next week's game.

Bumgarner Has Nice Problem— An Abundance Of Good Runners

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

WILLIAMSTON — Rose High School took its scrimmage show on the road for a scrimmage game against Williamston High last night, and Coach Dave Bumgarner admitted afterwards that he feels he has a problem.

Hopefully, the problem is one that a lot of coaches would like to have.

"We've got two lines that I wouldn't be afraid to put out there either on offense or defense," Bumgarner said.

"And we've got 12 backs who can play for us, too."

"This may sound silly, but I just hope that we can keep everyone happy. Naturally, everyone wants to start, but there is just no way everyone can. We're going to try and play a lot of people, but I just hope that everyone will understand and be happy."

It's a problem Bumgarner sort of relishes, having the ability to send in a fresh unit anytime he wants without losing any ground.

"We moved the ball well," he said of the scrimmage. "I thought we played some pretty good defense. They (Williamston) beat us a couple of times, but most of the time we contained them well. We got no body hurt, and we executed on the field goals and extra points pretty good."

The coach added that he feels he has a good stable of quarterbacks and running backs. "We have more depth than ever, if we can just hold things together."

The coach was even pleased with the play of the sophomore unit.

"We didn't fumble the ball much, and that pleases me. Last year, we had a lot of fumbles in the scrimmage, but we've worked on ball-handling to avoid this. In our first game (next Friday at Goldsboro), we'll probably run a lot of low-fumble-risk plays."

"I think we passed the ball well, too," he added.

If there were any question marks, it was in the punting game, a phase not worked in the controlled scrimmage. "I think (Ted) King can do a good job with this, but we just haven't had a real chance to test it yet."

Bumgarner also felt that the quarterbacks didn't really get a fair shake in seeing what their teammates can do. "That was because we used so many people in the backfields," he said.

In the first half of the scrimmage, the two teams ran under very controlled situations, running ten plays, then turning the ball over, regardless of downs.

Rose's opening drive, from its own 20, went to the Williamston 18 before "time" ran out. Williamston, from its own 20, got out to only the 31. Rose then gave up the ball after its next ten with a two-yard net loss, after suffering two major penalties.

Williamston, after moving to

Northeastern, R.M. Are Favored

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Northeastern of Elizabeth City and Rocky Mount seem to be the heavy favorites to grab off the laurels in the Division I Conference football race this fall.

Coaches attending a meeting of the conference recently tabbed those two as the ones most likely to take the league's two post-season berths.

The conference, which has six teams this year, expands to eight next year, but that expansion will have a lot to do with the outcome of this year's race, oddly enough.

Wilson Fike High School lost a majority of its first-line players who were scheduled to return to the other two schools. Hunt and Beddingfield, and for that reason, new coach Maxie Williams finds this season practically a rebuilding one.

While there are some players with experience available, most of them were experienced on 1-A and 2-A schools and didn't play together. Having to overcome all that is going to be Williams' most difficult job.

Rocky Mount, meanwhile, lost its whole front line, and coach Walt Williams says he'll have to rely on inexperienced players there. "Otherwise, we should be respectable," he said.

Northeastern, however, finds coach Jerry McGee looking at and good running backs coming back this year.

Defensively, Rocky Mount lost six starters, but the biggest loss was Dennis Battle, the nose guard.

Top returning players include wide receiver and safety Mike Lewis and flanker Dee Whitley, both of whom will be playing for the third year. Rodney Burke at tailback and Sylvester Williams at fullback are also players to watch.

Williams feels that Northeastern is the team to be but notes that Northern Nash has experience and could surprise.

Our linebackers are our biggest question mark on defense," McGee said. "But our front line is real big." They range from 210 to 259. Three of the four defensive backs return. "I don't think we can be called the favorites," McGee said.

"It's whoever gets the breaks and stays healthy. In this conference, anyone can win." Another factor that will help the Eagles, however, is the return of kicker Bion Jolly, who kicked five field goals, 21 PATs and punted for —a 36.2 average last season.

Bertie coach Bing Mitchell, in his first season, has switched from the wishbone to the veer offense. "It's taking some time to adjust to, and both of our quarterbacks are juniors. Opening early (Friday, August 25) is another big burden on us."

Top man in the backfield is halfback William Hoggard while Ricky Burke anchors the line.

"We have eight starters back on defense, and we should be strong here," Mitchell said. Calvin Ballance, a three-year starter at linebacker, Anthony Rollins and Ronnie Hoggard, both defensive tackles and linebacker Frankie Bazemore have all looked good in pre-season.

Northern Nash also has a new coach in Walter Barnhill, who was an assistant coach for the Knights last season.

"We have six starters back from the offense," he said. Martin Haymen and Robert Williams anchor the line, with Kelvin Sessmons and Davis Wells in the backfield.

Defensively, there are seven starters back, and Barnhill feels this could be the strong point of the team. "All three of our starters in the backfield, Rossie Arrington, Calvin Hargrove and Ernie Coleman, return." Back also is Kenneth Harper at tackle, James Jones at linebacker, David Cooper at end and Rayford Harrison at nose guard.

Both of the coaches look to Rocky Mount and Northeastern to pace the way, but note Rose could be the dark horse.

Royals Are Hitless Wonders

By HERSCHEL NISSONSON
AP Sports Writer

The Kansas City Royals are baseball's new hitless wonders.

But the real wonder of it all is that it wasn't until Thursday night that they dropped into second place in the American League West, one-half game behind the idle California Angels, by losing to the Chicago White Sox 4-1.

It marks the first time since July 16 that the Royals have been out of first place. On July 28 they led by five games but have since dropped 15 of 26.

"We're just not playing well and not hitting," said Manager Whitey Herzog. "We're one of the weakest hitting clubs in the league. We only have 70 home runs as a team and our leading RBI man has only 62."

In the only other AL games, the Texas Rangers downed the Minnesota Twins 4-1 on Jim Sundberg's three-run homer in the 10th inning, the Cleveland Indians edged the Milwaukee Brewers 9-8 on Andre Thornton's 10th-inning homer and the Detroit Tigers ended Toronto's club record five-game winning streak by defeating the Blue Jays 5-2.

Eric Soderholm doubled twice and drove in three runs to lead Chicago — the 1906 White Sox were the original hitless wonders — over Kansas City. Meanwhile, rookie Mike Proly, with last-out help from Lerrin LaGrow, outpitched 15-game winner Paul Splittorff.

Don't despair, Whitey. Your Royals are hitting a decent .269 while those '06 White Sox won the pennant with a .230 batting average, lowest in the league. And their top hitter was one William Frank "Bald Eagle" Isbell at .279.

Rangers 4, Twins 1

Sundberg drilled his game-winning three-run homer off Dave Goltz after Al Oliver opened the 10th with a single — Holtz had retired 16 batters in a row at that point — and Bobby Bonds' attempted sacrifice became a hit when first baseman Rod Carew missed the tag. "It was a hanging slider," said Goltz of Sundberg's homer. "I didn't do it on

Indians 9, Brewers 6

Thornton led off the 11th inning with his 26th homer of the season on a 3-1 pitch from Bob McClure. The Indians had rallied from an 8-3 deficit after four innings to tie the score on Duane Kuiper's RBI grounder in the ninth. Sixto Lezcano's grand slam homer helped Milwaukee to its big lead, but the Indians pulled within 8-7 with four runs in the seventh on singles by Buddy Bell and Thornton, Gary Alexander's 23rd homer, a double by Ron Pruitt and an error by second baseman Paul Molitor.

Tigers 5, Blue Jays 2

Rookie Lou Whitaker tripled home two runs and scored on an error as Detroit broke open a 1-1 game with three runs in the third inning. Alan Trammell and Ron LeFlore singled before Whitaker's tie-breaking triple. Meanwhile, Milt Wilcox scattered 11 hits and hurled his 14th complete game. Jason Thompson hit his 23rd homer in the sixth for Detroit's final run.

Pirates Have Won Last 10

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Maybe with a team like the Pirates, it's more apropos. In any case, Manager Chuck Tanner is ready to assume Sparky Anderson's old role.

"Just call me Admiral Hook," says the Pittsburgh skipper. "Sparky Anderson is known as Captain Hook, but I've taken the title from him."

Tanner's rise to the admiralty came after Thursday night's 4-1 victory over Atlanta in which four Pittsburgh pitchers held the Braves to one run on seven hits and extended the Pirates' winning streak to 10 games.

The streak matches the National League's longest this year, by San Diego from July 25-Aug. 4, and moved Pittsburgh into a tie with Chicago for second place in the NL East, 3½ games behind the Philadelphia Phillies, who lost to Los Angeles 5-4.

Anderson, the Cincinnati Reds manager, earned the nickname Captain Hook for his reliance on the bullpen.

But this year, it has been Tanner's reserves who have worn a path between the bullpen and mound. Reliever Kent Tekulve, who got his 25th save Thursday night, now has appeared in 72 of Pittsburgh's 125 games this season, tops in the majors.

"We have one thing you have to have down the stretch," said

Tanner. "That's pitching. If you have pitching, you can win."

Dodgers 5, Phils 4

Bill Russell singled in two runs and pinch-hitter Manny Mota delivered the winning score with a single as Los Angeles rallied for three runs in the eighth to beat Philadelphia.

Cards 4, Reds 3

Mike Phillips drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single in the third inning, and Pete Vuckovich, 12-9, scattered seven hits to pace the Cards past Cincinnati. Phillips' RBI fueled a three-run rally by St. Louis in the inning.

Mets 6, Padres 3

John Stearns and Joel Youngblood had two RBI each, and rookie right-hander Mike Bruhert, 3-6, picked up the victory in his first start ever against San Diego. The victory ended a four-game New York losing streak.

30 Per Cent Chance For Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Engel, president of the Major League Baseball Umpires Association, said today there was a "90 percent" chance that the umpires would go on strike prior to tonight's games.

Engel appeared on NBC's Today show along with Richie Phillips, the attorney for the umpires' union.

"There will be a work stoppage, probably tonight," said Phillips. "We are polling our membership and will make a decision later today."

Phillips, head of the National Basketball Association's referees' union when that group went on strike a year ago, met with American League President Lee MacPhail and National League Chub Feeney on Thursday to discuss the umpires' complaints, but said no progress had been made.

Another meeting was scheduled for today.

The umpires have a contract that runs through the 1981 season but Phillips said the umpires' demands were in relation to areas not covered by the contract. Because of that pact, the major leagues have refused to discuss renegotiation.

The Thursday meeting convened after Phillips was contacted by the league presidents.

Top Grid Coaches Change Their Tunes

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

When the 1977 season ended, Coaches Bear Bryant of Alabama, Lou Holtz of Arkansas and Fred Akers of Texas all were actively campaigning for college football's national championship.

But now that the 1978 season is about to open, they're talking differently.

Despite a 35-6 walloping of Ohio State in the Sugar Bowl, Alabama had to settle for the runner-up spot behind Notre Dame's 1977 national champs. "I don't know of anyone that saw us practice in the spring that's picked us No.1," said Bryant. "But I sure saw us, and I didn't pick us No.1."

Arkansas finished No.3 after trampling Oklahoma 31-6 in the Orange Bowl. The Razorbacks are favored to be high in the rankings again, but Coach Holtz is moaning that "we've got more question marks than any team with a chance to be nationally ranked."

Texas, the only team to go through the 1977 regular season with a perfect record, blew its chance to be No.1 by losing to Notre Dame 38-10 in the Cotton Bowl and slipped from the top to No.4.

The Longhorns not only lost Earl "Heisman Trophy" Campbell and Brad "Outland Trophy" Shearer but, said Akers, "We failed to solve two of our biggest problems in the spring — replacing our offensive line and having a quarterback come to the front."

Notre Dame, Alabama, Arkansas, Texas and No.5 Penn State all finished with 11-1 marks last year, and the 1978 race also could be a five-way struggle. Notre Dame's Dan Devine and Penn State's Joe Paterno are not complaining. "Somewhere during the course of the season... someone is going to have to take that title away from us on the field," said Devine. "It's not impossible, but it's going to be very hard to do. We're quietly confident and, although we may not be preseason favorites to repeat as national champions, I can assure you that we won't give up the title easily."

Paterno usually speaks his mind, so it should serve as something of a warning when he says, "We should be better than we were last year. We should have an explosive team — an exciting team to watch. We have the kind of schedule to show how good we are."

Other teams with a shot at the No.1 ranking include Pitt in the East; Louisiana State and Kentucky in the South; Michigan and Ohio State in the Midwest; Oklahoma, Nebraska, Iowa State and Colorado in the Midlands; Texas A&M in the Southwest, and Washington, UCLA and Southern California in the Far West.

Kentucky, Oklahoma, Pitt, Michigan and Washington rounded out the 1977 Top Ten. LSU's chances of unseating Alabama depend largely on Charles Alexander, the nation's second-leading rusher a year ago with an SEC record 1,686 yards. Kentucky has plenty of talent despite the loss of quarterback Derrick Ramsey and All-American defensive end Art Still.

Most of Arkansas' problems are on the offensive line. The skill positions feature talented players like quarterback Ron Calcagni, running backs Ben Cowins and Roland Sales, and several nifty receivers.

Texas may have lost Campbell and Shearer, but the Longhorns return nine regulars from a stingy defensive unit, plus standout placekicker-punter Russell Erxleben. Most of last year's quarterbacks went down by injuries, but someone else always stepped in and did the job.

Texas A&M, Houston and Baylor also are given a shot at Southwest Conference honors.

Notre Dame lost such standouts as Ken MacAfee, Ross Browner and Willie Fry and the Irish are counting heavily on quarterback Joe Montana, running backs Vagas Ferguson and Jerome Heavens and linebacker Bob Golic to help defend their national championship.

Oklahoma is heavily favored to win their seventh consecutive Big Eight crown. "If you didn't make Oklahoma the favorite, everybody would collapse," said Iowa State's Earle Bruce.

Pitt has two of the nation's top performers in split end Gordon Jones and defensive end Hugh Green, and Coach Jackie Sherrill predicts "another outstanding football team" for the Panthers. Michigan and Notre Dame haven't met in 35 years, but the winner of their Sept. 23 clash will be a top prospect for national honors.

As usual, it figures to come down to the Michigan-Ohio State windup before anything is settled in the Big Ten. "We can be as good as last year," said Ohio State's Woody Hayes, relishing the return of quarterback Rod Gerald and All-American linebacker Tom Cousineau.

Michigan State and Purdue are given the best chances of making the Big Ten something other than the annual Big Two.

Washington was a surprise winner in the Pacific-8 Conference and the Rose Bowl last year and, although 18 starters are back, Coach Don James must find a replacement for underrated quarterback Warren Moon.

Southern Cal and UCLA should provide strong challenge in what is now the Pacific-10 Conference, with Arizona and Arizona State having moved over from the Western Athletic Conference.

Elsewhere, it looks like North Carolina, Clemson and Maryland in the Atlantic Coast Conference; Brigham Young and newcomer San Diego State in the revamped WAC; Brown and Yale in the Ivy League; Tennessee-Chattanooga and VMI in the Southern Conference; Miami of Ohio, Ball State and Western Michigan in the Mid-American Conference; West Texas State in the Missouri Valley; Louisiana Tech in the Southland, and Fresno State, Long Beach State and San Jose State in the Pacific Coast A.A.

Florida State is the best of the remaining independents.

Exhibition Season Ends

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

The abbreviated National Football League exhibition season ends this weekend with two teams looking to extend unbeaten streaks and four others hoping their preseason showings aren't harbingers of things to come.

The battle for the Florida state championship takes place tonight with undefeated Tampa Bay, the team that lost all of its games in 1976 and then all but the last two in 1977, against the rebuilt Miami Dolphins.

"Winning any game is important to this team," said Bucs Coach John McKay. "Winning begets winning. The more you win, the more you win. "The more you lose — and I've had that experience — the more you lose. We'd like to go into the season on a winning note."

So would the Dolphins, who are considered the favorites along with New England, also unbeaten in preseason play, in the American Conference East.

Miami Coach Don Shula said, "We anticipate a good game. I think people realized last year that Tampa did have an excellent defensive team. And now they seem to be getting their offense shaped up."

In other NFL action tonight, Atlanta is at Washington, the New York Jets take on Philadelphia and San Francisco visits Denver in a nationally televised contest (ABC).

On Saturday, San Diego is at the New York Giants, Detroit entertains Baltimore, Cincinnati plays Green Bay, St. Louis travels to Kansas City for the Battle of Missouri.

Jamesville Get Coaches

Jamesville High School has two new coaches on the football staff for the coming season.

The new head coach is Jerry Godley, who spent four years at Peblebrook High School in Marbleton, Ga. Godley is originally from Jamesville and played his high school football at Williamston High School. He went to Western Carolina University and got a B.S. in education.

Matt Wilson from Roberstonville will serve as an assistant to Godley this year. Wilson is a UNC-Chapel Hill grad.

Rex Whitehurst will be attempting to jump 26 cars on a motorcycle Sunday afternoon at the Kinston Drag Strip.

The event will be staged in conjunction with some regular auto races at the the 45, gave up the ball when Charles Daise intercepted and returned the ball 46 yards for a touchdown.

Rose moved from its own 30 to the 44 on the next series, with sophomores running the club. Then, Williamston got its only score of the evening as Keith Clark hit a 50-yard pass to Vincent Peele and Victor Thomas kicked the PAT. That came after a long touchdown run had been nullified by a clip.

In the second half, the two teams operated under full game conditions, except for kickoffs and punts.

Williamston moved the ball 25 yards on its first series, and Rose, starting from its own 25 after a "punt" took it to a first down at the Tiger seven before a 23-yard field goal attempt by King was wide of the mark after a bad hold.

But Williamston fumbled the ball away several plays into the next series, and Doug Selby returned it down to the four. Rose was again held by the Williamston defense, and King kicked a 28-yard field goal.

Williamston fumbled on its own 19 on the next series.

Angeles hooks up with Oakland in another nationally televised game (NBC).

Williamston lost eight yards on its next series, but Rose fumbled on its next possession. Williamston lost 25 yards on its next series, and Rose turned to its junior varsity players for the remainder of the time.

Rose will open the season Friday, traveling to Goldsboro.

Hunt Urges Counties To Hold Line On Taxes

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt told county commissioners from across the state Thursday he will oppose any proposed tax increases next year and urged county governments to work with the state in holding down operating expenses.

Addressing the 71st annual conference of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners, Hunt said he will work for tax relief when the General Assembly meets next year if the revenue picture warrants such action.

He said many actions of the General Assembly and state agencies have a direct effect on the way county governments operate.

"We have established as our principle in state government that never again will we mandate programs for local government without providing the money you need to pay for them," the governor said.

He asked the commissioners to work with the state in setting up involvement councils "that will enable every county to take advantage of the free time and work that our citizens can give instead of paying for these services with tax dollars."

Hunt was the kickoff speaker for the conference, which runs through Sunday. It will feature a number of workshops, including one on California's Proposition 13, a state amendment cutting back on property taxes.

During a stop at High Point, the governor announced that a Belgian smelting and refining company will build its first American plant in Scotland

County near Laurinburg. He said the Metallurgie Hoboken Overpeit firm of Hoboken, Belgium, will invest $20 million in the plant.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Warm, sunny weather is expected over most of the country in the forecast period Friday until Saturday morning. Cool weather is forecast from the Pacific Northwest to the Great Lakes. Rain is forecast for western Washington and Oregon and for most of the Northeast. (AP Laserphoto)

By The Associated Press
Cool Canadian air, pushing into the northeastern edge of the country, chilled Maine, northern New York and the upper Great Lakes. Temperatures today were mostly in the 40s in northern Maine, and by dawn patches of frost were expected to greet northern New Englanders. Houlton, Maine registered 32 degrees at 2 a.m. EDT.

Light rain fell along the New England coast, while cloudy skies prevailed from Pennsylvania through the lower Great Lakes to Maine.

A large area of cloudy skies extended from New Mexico, through Colorado and Nebraska into Iowa.

Rain spread from Washington and Oregon into northern California.

The plains cooled off under clear skies today, some areas which reached the 100-degree mark Thursday afternoon dropped to the 70s overnight.

The south has generally clear skies and only a few showers linger in Florida. The southwest has mostly clear skies and mild temperatures.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 a.m. EDT ranged from 32 in Houlton, Maine to 88 in Phoenix, Ariz.

The national forecast for today predicts cool and showery weather across most of New England, New York state, and the Pacific Northwest.

Thundershowers will be scattered over Florida and the Gulf Coast region, as well as over the southern Rockies, the north central Plains and the Ohio Valley. Sunny skies will prevail over other sections of the country.

Hot temperatures are again in store over a large area extending from the central and southern Plains to the southern half of the Atlantic Coast. The southwest and the Rocky Mountain states will be seasonably warm.

Bus Route Corrections

A transposition error in the Wednesday listing of bus routes for Greenville City Schools has been discovered.

Interested readers are asked to note the following discrepancies:

— On page 29, under the bus route listings for Aycock Junior High, four stops are listed for bus number 171. There should have been a total of 17 listings for this bus. The 13 omitted listings following "Fairlane at St. Andrews" are:

- Memorial at Country Club Road
- Country Club Road
- Westhaven Road at Briarwood Drive
- 264 By-pass at Hooker Road
- Lindell at Poplar Drive
- Dogwood at Lakewood
- Kirkland at Vernon
- Kirkland at Brinkley Road
- Kirkland at Kimberley Drive
- Sulgrave at Avon Lane
- Sulgrave at Berkshire Road
- Sulgrave at Stratford Road
- Stratford Arms Apartments

8:25.

— The 13 listings enumerated above appeared on page 29 under the stops listed for Rose High for bus number 181 are not applicable. The only stops applying to bus number 181 for Rose are the first three listed — Ward at Cadillac Street; Fleming at Contentnea Street; and Bonner's Lane at Clark Street.

Hears Street Reports

City Manager Ed Wyatt and Director of Engineering C. A. Holliday met with members of the Parking-Traffic Committee of the Downtown Greenville Association recently.

During the meeting, committee members inquired about the status of several projects which are of interest to the membership of the association.

Holliday reported that the widening of Evans Street is scheduled to begin the latter part of September, with curb, gutter, and sidewalk installation on the west side of Evans, from Reade Circle to Tenth Street, beginning first. According to Holliday, work will then begin on the east side from Tenth back to Reade Circle and after curb, gutter and sidewalk are installed, the paving operation will begin.

Reporting on the widening of Dickinson Avenue from Eighth Street westerly to the railroad, the city officials pointed out that this portion of Dickinson Avenue is on the state highway street system and at the present time, no funds are available for this project.

They told the committee members that the Pitt-Green Connector will be paved and opened for traffic as soon as suitable arrangements can be made with the Department of Transportation for proper signalization of the intersection at Green Street and Dickinson Avenue.

Answering inquiries regarding a thoroughfare from the downtown section to Stantonsburg Road, Holliday indicated that the city plans to connect the downtown area to Stantonsburg by following Dickinson Avenue to 14th Street, then 14th to Farmville Boulevard, and then to Stantonsburg Road.

The city officials told the committee members that plans call for the construction of the parking lot at E. Fourth and Reade Streets to begin when suitable lease agreements have been executed.

Discussing the parking lot at the corner of Fifth and Evans Streets, it was pointed out that the Downtown Greenville Association has requested that if the parking lot can not be paved prior to Oct. 1, that it be deferred until after Christmas.

Before work can begin on the parking lot, according to Wyatt, it will be necessary that the city acquire title to the property and advertise for bids. He said that this could not be accomplished prior to Oct. 1.

Wyatt recapped the situation regarding funds allocated initially for the downtown parking deck. The 1978-79 Community Development budget, he said, allocates $165,000 for parking lot purchases which was transferred from the Central Business District parking deck account in the CD budget.

In an amendment to the Community Development budget, the city had proposed an additional $100,000 to the parking deck project. However, the bids on the deck exceeded the budget and the project was abandoned.

According to the city manager, the $100,000 was reprogrammed in the CD budget for CBD street improvements which will primarily be used for Evans Street and Eighth Street improvements.

The $165,000 designated for parking lot purchases will be used to purchase three lots. They are located opposite the courthouse, at the corner of Fourth and Washington Streets, and at Sixth and Evans Streets. The balance of the funds will be devoted to completing the parking lot at Fifth and Evans with appropriate paving and landscaping, it was reported.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Poor Circulation Hinders Healing

I have had an ulcer of the ankle for eight months. It refuses to heal ever though I have been doctoring it all along. Now the doctor wants to remove varicose veins, thinking this will help. Do you recommend such an operation? — Mrs. M.V.B., Va.

Dear Mrs. B.:

Any sore, or ulcer, of the leg or foot that refuses to heal must be due to some kind of circulatory problem. Varicose veins are only one of the reasons for the failure to heal. Marked obesity, tobacco, arteriosclerosis, and injuries can be responsible for the beginning of the ulcer.

When the blood supply to that area is insufficient and when there is an inadequate supply of oxygen the persistent ulcer may become infected. This is probably the major reason for inability to heal.

There are also some general medical problems such as diabetes which predispose one to unhealed ulcers.

There are many exact methods by which the blood circulation can be measured. In this way the underlying cause for your ulcer can be determined. If infection is present, antibiotics are used to control it. Bed rest, elevation of the legs, and elastic supports are beneficial.

If, after all these efforts have been made, the doctor then decides that the varicose ulcer can be treated only by surgery, it should not be delayed. When ulcers are treated promptly, they heal more rapidly.

One of my neighbors beats his children mercilessly. Yet no one seems to interfere because they are afraid of his temper. What would you do about it? — Mrs. C.Y., N.C.

Dear Mrs. Y.:

The heartbreaking statistics of child abuse are terrifying. Doctors familiar with the unhappy picture of the battered child are working hard with legislative agencies to combat the increasing evidence of amoral violence.

All of us have the responsibility to report to police and health agencies the maltreatment of children. Child abuse committees and educators are now an active force, trying to establish laws to punish abusing parents. With such legislation, children can be removed from life-threatening situations.

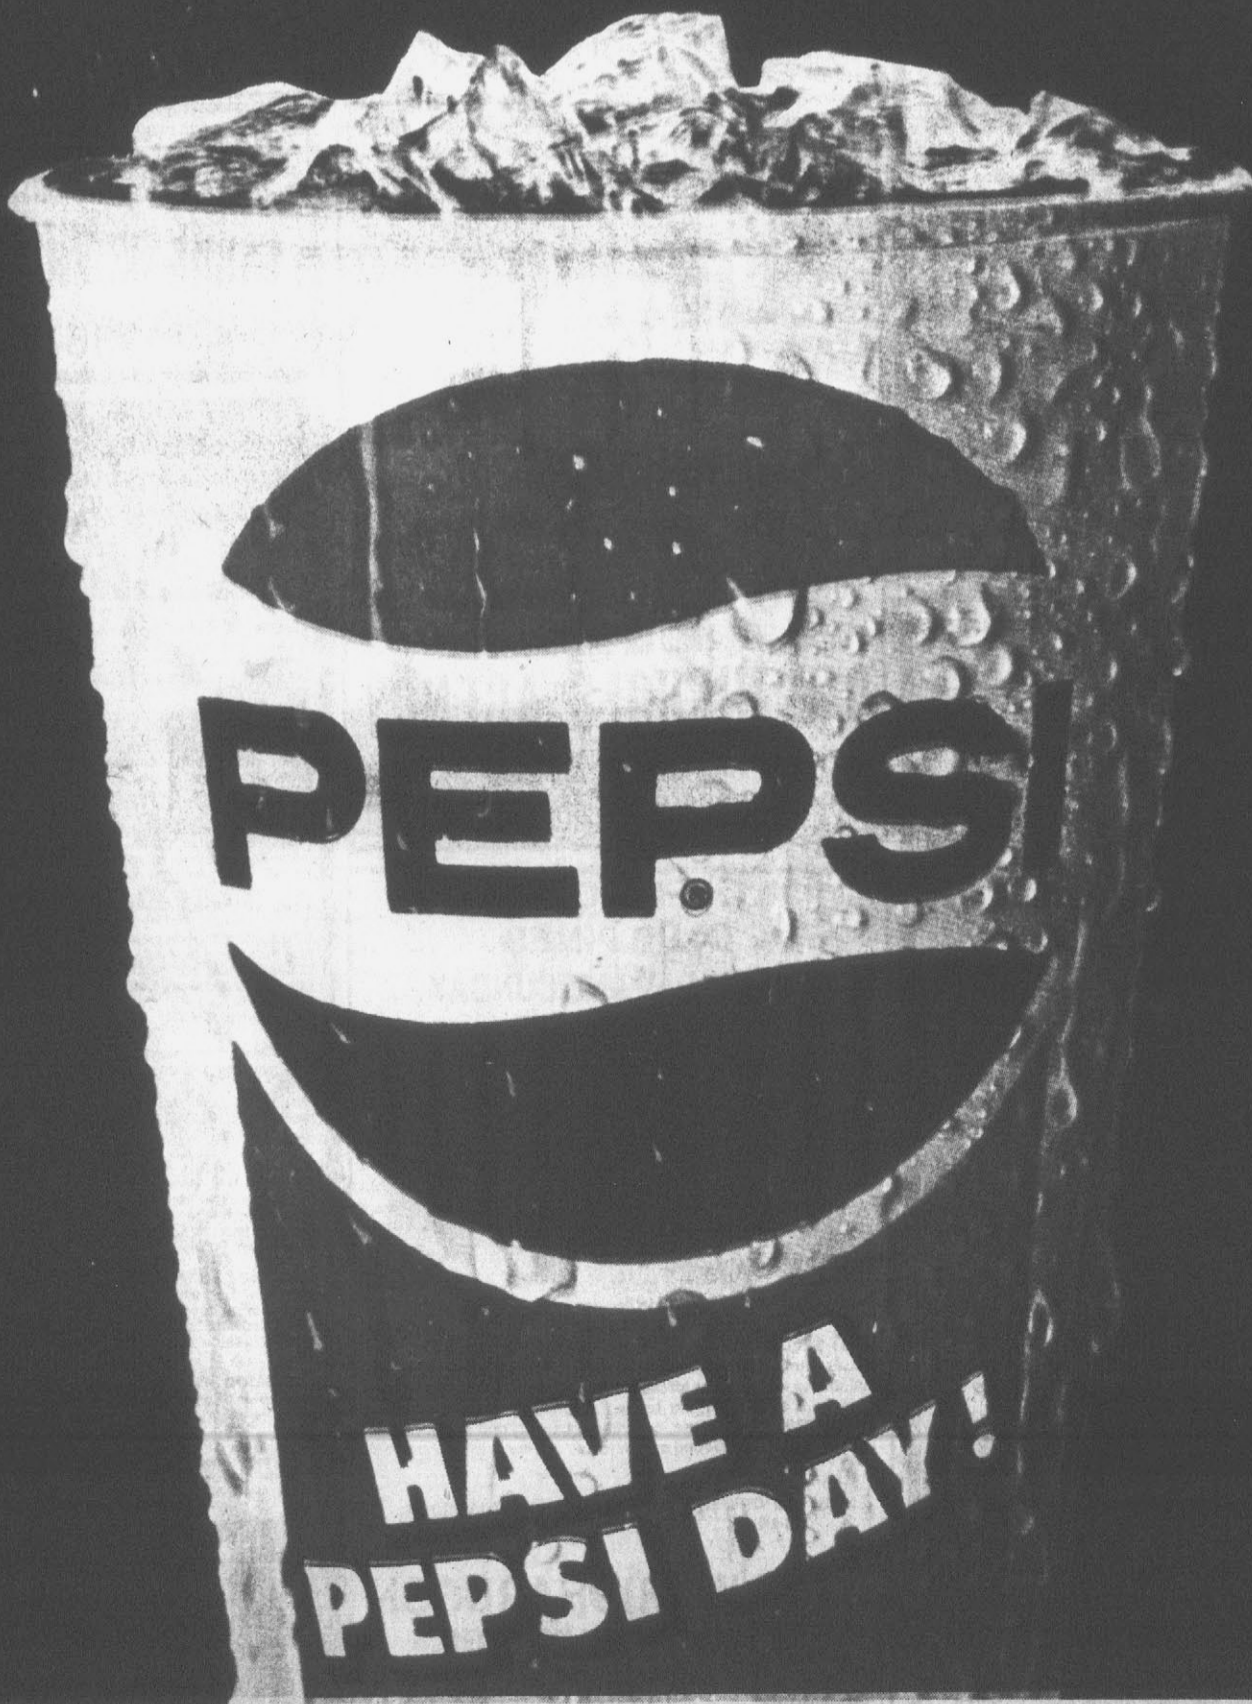

None of us with any morality would hesitate to report a hit-and-run driver who injures or kills a child. We owe ourselves and society that same moral obligation to interfere actively in the growing epidemic of child abuse.

All of us in the practice of medicine have treated a young and helpless child who had been subjected to the brutality of an infantile adult.
