Nicaraguan Troops Take Matagalpa From Rebels

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — National guard troops stormed into the barricaded city of Matagalpa during the night and overwhelmed rebels who had held it for five days. Red Cross officials said today.

The city of 40,000 people 100 miles north of Managua had become the center of a popular uprising against President Anastasio Somoza's military government.

Guillermo Balmaceda of the Red Cross office in Managua said Red Cross workers in Matagalpa reported some deaths and many injured in the attack, but no exact numbers were available.

Balmaceda said the guard was now in total control of Matagalpa, Nicaragua's third largest city.

Young rebels trying to topple Somoza's government had pinned down a national guard garrison in the city and poured heavy fire from behind their sandbag barricades to slow the assault by guard reinforcements, which began Thursday.

Details of today's final attack were not immediately available. Government spokesmen said they had received no word from Matagalpa and telephone operators said lines to the city had been cut.

The Red Cross sent five ambulances to Matagalpa this morning to bring back the wounded, along with seven larger vehicles to transport evacuees, Balmaceda said.

Fighting or bombing also was reported in Esteli, Jinotepe, Diriamba and Leon as the new drive to bring down the 41-year-old Somoza dictatorship went into its 11th day today.

More businesses joined a growing strike in Managua and elsewhere aimed at forcing the resignation of President Anastasio Somoza, whose family has ruled Nicaragua since the U.S. Marines put his father in power in 1937.

The national guard, Somoza's 7,500-man army, began its drive into Matagalpa, 100 miles north of Managua, before noon Thursday, but by early evening had advanced only a few hundred yards into the city of 40,000 people, witnesses said.

They said an armored car in the street a few hundred yards from the Red Cross headquarters was firing a cannon at the rebels in an attempt to dislodge them from behind barricades. The youths appeared to be holding their positions, the sources said.

Two platoons of national guardsmen made the initial advance, flanking a front-end loader and a road grader a block apart.

"The guy on the road grader was shot in the shoulder. The guy on the loader took off running and I saw a bullet hole in his hat," said one witness.

Somoza sent 300 troops and eight armored cars to relieve the local garrison, which had been under siege since Saturday. Intense firing was reported most of the afternoon Thursday, and the Red Cross said 28 dead had been confirmed from Wednesday evening to Thursday evening.

Hurricane Watch For Outer Banks

MIAMI (AP) — Forecasters today ordered a hurricane watch for the outer banks of North Carolina, as Hurricane Ella churned landward 350 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras.

A hurricane watch means Ella is a threat to the Outer Banks, said forecasters at the National Hurricane Center here. They advised residents of the coast to go about their normal business but to consider the hurricane as they plan for the weekend.

At noon EDT, Ella was centered near latitude 31.2 north, longitude 72.4 west, and was moving northwest at 10 miles per hour. Its highest sustained winds had reached 100 miles per hour.

"Ella is forecast to recurve towards the north today, providing a near miss to the Outer Banks," said Dr. Neil Frank, director of the Hurricane Center. "However, until this trend becomes established all coastal interests should be prepared to take quick action if hurricane warnings are required."

Frank said there wasn't any immediate threat to the Virginia coast.

The Coast Guard said personnel were evacuated from its Cape Fear lighthouse near Wilmington, N.C., and that painters at the Diamond Shoals light at Cape Hatteras, N.C., also were evacuated.

Four men aboard the Chesapeake Light tower, located about 10 miles east of the Virginia capes, also were to be evacuated, said spokesman Fred Maldonado.

All vessels in the Portsmouth, Va., Coast Guard district were on alert to be ready for action immediately — a Bravo-Zero alert, he said.

On the Outer Banks, officials said residents appeared calm.

"Right now the weather's pretty, the sun is shining and people are on the beach," said Annie Allen, a dispatcher for the Dare County Sheriff's Department.

Cite Drop In Jobless

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment declined to 5.9 percent in August, the second time it has dipped below 6 percent this year, as more women and teen-agers found jobs, the Labor Department reported today.

The drop from the July unemployment level of 6.2 percent gave the Carter administration and the public their first favorable economic news of the week following several days of generally dismal developments. These included a report pointing to a possible slowdown in economic growth.

The Labor Department said total employment increased in August by 160,000 jobs to a total of 94.6 million, while unemployment dropped by 225,000 to just under 6 million.

The August unemployment rate was the second lowest of the year, bettered only by June's 5.7 percent, a figure that was said to be artificially low because of statistical problems.

Except for the two drops below 6 percent, the unemployment rate has fluctuated between 6 percent and 6.2 percent this year.

The August report was sure to cheer administration economists, who have been trying to slow the economy to dampen inflation, but without significantly increasing unemployment.

The Labor Department said most of the employment gains in August occurred among adult women and teen-agers, with some gains for black workers as well.

It gave the following breakdown on unemployment in August for various population groups, compared with the July level:

- Adult men 4.1 percent, unchanged.
- Adult women 6.1 percent, down from 6.5 percent.
- Teen-agers 15.6 percent, down from 16.3.
- Whites 5.2 percent, down from 5.3.
- Blacks and other minorities 11.7 percent, down from 12.5.

- Full-time workers 5.5 percent, down from 5.7.
- White-collar workers 3.5 percent, down from 3.8.
- Blue-collar workers 7 percent, up from 6.9.

Most of the new jobs were in service industries, especially wholesale and retail trade, where employment increased by 80,000.

The department said employment in manufacturing declined by 50,000, with job losses in the food processing, paper products and rubber and plastics industries.

"Following relatively large gains in the first three months of the year, overall employment growth in manufacturing has been rather sluggish," it said.

The industrial employment report is tabulated from different statistics than the survey on overall employment in the economy.

The Labor Department said the nation's labor force totaled 100.5 million in August, virtually unchanged from the levels of the previous two months but up 2.7 million from August 1977.

Trial In Moscow Tuesday

MOSCOW (AP) — American businessman Francis J. Crawford, who contends he is "a pawn in a political chess game," said today he will be going on trial next Tuesday for alleged currency-law violations.

Crawford, 38, a Moscow representative of the International Harvester Co. of Chicago, was arrested on a Moscow street in June and held for two weeks in Lefortovo Prison here. After being conditionally released, he was summoned back to the prison repeatedly for interrogation.

Speaking to reporters at International Harvester's office here today, Crawford again insisted he is completely innocent of the allegations that he engaged in illegal currency speculation.

"The charges against me are false," he said. "I have broken no law in the Soviet Union."

Many Westerners here view Crawford's arrest as Kremlin retaliation for the arrest of two alleged Soviet spies in the United States.

The two, Valdik Enger, 39, and Rudolf Chernyayev, 43, both employees of the Soviet U.N. mission in New York, are to go on trial Sept. 12 in Newark, N.J., on charges of attempting to buy U.S. anti-submarine warfare secrets.

If convicted on the charge of currency manipulation, Crawford, a native of Mobile, Ala., could be sentenced to a maximum of eight years in prison, plus five years of exile within the Soviet Union.

FISH GLAZE

A recipe for a protective glaze to dip fish in to protect them from drying and getting freezer burn was given on Kay Currie's "Hospitality House," Channel 7, recently. I didn't get down all the amounts, but would love to know it as the fall fishing season's coming on. H. T.

Addie Gore of the Pitt County Extension Service provided the recipe, which she says she highly recommends to keep frozen fish tasting every bit as good as fresh:

Measure two fluid ounces (one-fourth cup) lemon juice into a pint container and fill the remainder of the container with cool or room temperature water. Remove four ounces (one-half cup) of the lemon-water mixture into a separate container and dissolve in it one package of unflavored gelatin. Heat the remaining liquid to a boil. Stir the dissolved gelatin mixture into the boiling liquid. Cool to room temperature. Dip fish into this lemon glaze, drain a few seconds. Wrap in plastic film and label and date and store in the coldest part of the freezer.

Ms. Gore said she recommends, for maximum flavor retention, keeping lean fish like flounder no more than six months; fatty fish like blues no more than three months.

Police Arrest Trio In N.Y. For PCB-Dumping

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The president of the Transformer Sales Co. of Allegany, N.Y., and his two sons were to appear in Chautauque County Court in Jamestown, N.Y., today for a preliminary hearing in connection with their arrests on charges related to chemical dumping here.

The three were arrested Thursday in New York and held for North Carolina authorities on charges of dumping 31,000 gallons of PCB-laced oil along 270 miles of North Carolina's roads.

State Attorney General Rufus Edmisten said Transformer Sales owner and president Robert J. Burns, 49, and his sons, Randall J. Burns, 20, and Timothy P. Burns, 23, were arrested by New York State Police following an investigation by the State Bureau of Investigation.

The men, who are residents of Jamestown, N.Y., were arraigned Thursday night before Town of Busti Justice Ernest Levine and ordered held in Chautauque County Jail Thursday night.

The men were arrested on warrants drawn from three indictments returned Wednesday by the Halifax County grand jury. Each is charged in a separate seven-count indictment alleging that on or about July 28 they feloniously damaged public property, conspired to damage public property and created a public nuisance.

The indictments also charged the three with two counts of misdemeanor injury to growing plants and the misdemeanor operation of a disposal system without a permit.

Edmisten said the indictments were handed down Wednesday, but were sealed until the arrests were made in New York Thursday. He said his office would be assisting in the prosecution of the three men at the request of W.H.S. Burgwyn Jr., district attorney with the 6th Judicial District.

Gov. Jim Hunt issued a statement "calling on the appropriate authorities to prosecute this case to the fullest possible extent under both federal and state laws. If convicted, those responsible should serve the maximum sentence possible."

"Further, every effort should be made to recover the full costs of cleaning up and disposing of these chemicals, costs which otherwise will be borne by the taxpayers."

Burns has denied he was involved in the dumping and says he can account for all the PCBs he contracted to remove from the facilities of the Ward Transformer Co. of Raleigh.

PCBs — polychlorinated biphenyls — are a white crystalline chemical used as a heat retardant in the manufacture of electrical components.

The attorney general's office said the investigation into the chemical dumping would not end with the three arrests.

Carter Lobbies For Natural Gas Legislation

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter continued his role as lobbyist today, imploring 13 representatives of farm and food processing groups to support a compromise natural gas bill.

Carter told his audience that defeat of the gas bill "will have a very damaging effect on our nation," and he asked them to tell members of Congress they support the measure.

It was essentially the same message that Carter and his aides have been conveying to similar White House gatherings this week.

Carter said he knows of no industry more dependent on stable supplies of natural gas than the farm and food industries. He recalled that peanut farmers and cotton ginners in his native southwest Georgia use the fuel extensively.

The president said failure to pass the bill, which would phase out federal price controls on newly discovered natural gas by 1985, would mean that Congress would pass no substantive energy legislation for several years. He said this would lead to uncertain supplies and prices.

Today's meeting included representatives of the dairy industry, wheat growers, bakers, farmer cooperative executives, poultry producers, food processors and related groups.

Carter linked the legislation with the fate of the dollar and America's world prestige, a pitch similar to the one he made to 11 governors and about 100 businessmen in separate meetings Thursday. The day before, his aides made similar appeals to about 25 Wall Street executives and 30 representatives of paper, glass and textile firms.

He said Thursday that failure to enact the bill would weaken the dollar, increase oil imports, worsen inflation and make America look weak-willed in the eyes of its allies.

"Put the interest of your country first," Carter told the businessmen, mostly representatives of small- and medium-sized utilities, retailers, manufacturers and others invited from lists supplied by senators.

Earlier Thursday, the president told the governors that "the entire world is looking to see if we have the national will" to adopt an energy program.

"I ask you today as president, and you as American citizens and leaders, to put aside any reservations you might have about the specific details of this legislation," Carter told the businessmen.

"Do not count upon preferable legislation to be passed in the future. It's highly unlikely that Congress will go through a 16-month or 20-month ordeal any time in the near future to pass new legislation," he said.

Carter predicted to the corporate executives that "your own personal career" and "the prosperity of your own business" will be enhanced in the long run by passage of the gas price bill.

He said lifting price controls on natural gas would increase the fuel's domestic supply, thereby reducing the nation's need for imported oil and thus easing the balance of payments deficit which is putting downward pressure on the value of the dollar.

"I'm concerned about inflation. I'm concerned about our nation's influence and esteem around the world. I'm concerned about the value of the dollar. I'm concerned about the balance of trade. I'm concerned about the image of effectiveness of the federal government, including of course my own office."

"There is no way that I can deal, even with the power and the prestige of the presidency, with an issue so sharply divided and so controversial politically without the help of responsible American leaders like yourselves," Carter told the businessmen.

Meany Avers Big Business Is Resurrecting Old Propaganda

By OWEN ULLMANN
AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — AFLCIO President George Meany, in a stinging Labor Day assault on big business, charged today that greedy employers are resurrecting their "propaganda" campaign of the early 1900s to destroy unions because workers stand in the way of unlimited profits.

But in a contrasting Labor Day statement of conciliation, the head of the National Association of Manufacturers saluted the American workingman as "an indispensable partner and ally" in a private enterprise economy.

Meany, in his annual Labor Day message, declared: "Then, as now, unions of workers were viewed by many employers as 'evil,' because they consider anything which reduces maximum profits to be 'evil.'"

"The lies told at the beginning of this century are still being repeated today. The propaganda is slicker but it is just as false." The 84-year-old U.S. labor patriarch charged that the reason for industry's anti-union revival is the same as during the turbulent labor conflicts of earlier decades: "greed to make the last dollar of profit."

"Unions, those employers decided, constituted a direct threat to their power to make unlimited profit through miserable wages, unsafe working conditions and the use of child labor in sweatshops," he said.

Meany's harsh attack on big business is the result of organized labor's outrage over its failure to gain Senate passage this year of a bill to revise the nation's labor laws. A filibuster led by opponents of the measure all but killed the bill for this session of Congress.

Labor had lobbied heavily for the bill, which supporters said would better protect the rights and job security of workers active in union organizing.

But big business, arguing that the bill would lead to "push-button" unionism, countered with an equally ambitious lobbying campaign.

Meany charged that the business lobbying effort was spearheaded by a small band of extreme right-wing senators whose ultimate goal, Meany said, is to destroy the American union movement.

In a separate Labor Day message, Heath Larry, president of the NAM, a key industry organization which was active in the fight to defeat the labor law revision bill, played down the significance or permanence of labor's feud with big business.

Larceny Facing Pair

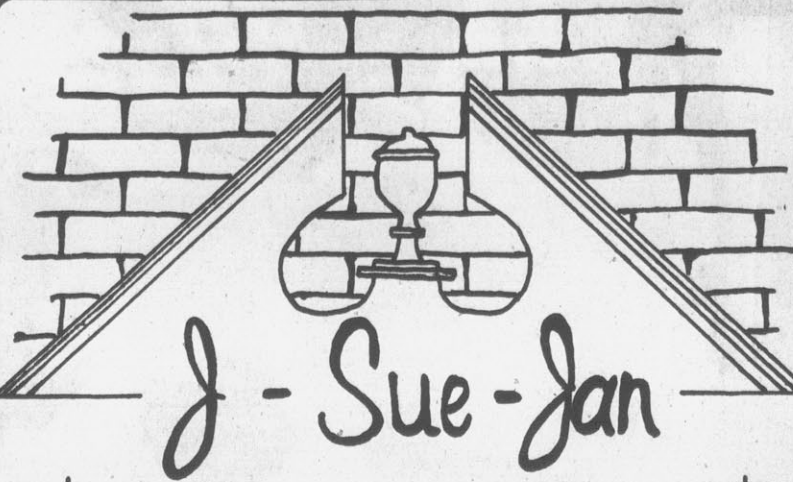

Greenville Police arrested two women late Thursday night and charged them in connection with the larceny of soft drinks from a machine at a Dickinson Avenue business and damage to the machine.

Police Chief Glenn Cannon said that officers charged Lynn Webber Mathis, 20 of Apartment 57, River Bluff, with damage to personal property following an incident at College View Laundry at 11:55 p.m.

Cannon reported that Carolyn Anne Smith, 24, of 1903 Brook Road, Greenville, was charged in the same incident with larceny of drinks from the vending machine at College View Laundry.

According to the chief, the women are charged on separate warrants with holding the dispensing buttons down on the drink machine and kicking the machine to cause it to dispense soft drinks.

Bond was set at $100 for each person and a trial date scheduled for Sept. 27 in District Court here.

Greenville Not Selected For Site Of Project

A proposal and application for Greenville to become the site of a Young Adult Conservation Corps Resident Project has lost out to a state park.

In a letter of August 29 from J. Harold Moses, Chief, Park/Recreation Consulting Services Section of the N. C. Dept. of Natural Resources and Community Development, Moses informed Greenville Recreation and Parks Dept. Executive Director Boyd Lee that the project "has been designated to be administered by the Division of North Carolina State Parks at Singletary Lake State Park."

"Naturally, we are quite disappointed," Lee commented after being informed of the decision. "But we understand that competition to get the project was very keen, and it is also understandable that in this case a state park would be expected to get priority."

Singletary Lake State Park is located near White Lake, and is under development.

The proposal and application submitted by Lee in late July sought to have Greenville designated as recipient of the development grant which provides for the operation of a 44-member resident work camp.

"We would have used these people to further work on and develop the park land north of the river," Lee said.

Moses also informed Lee that "We feel that your project is a great project and has merit as a future project when funds become available."

Greenville Mart Prices Steady

Prices remained steady on the Greenville Tobacco Market Thursday as local warehouses sold 1,073,621 pounds for $1,463,458, an average of $136.31 per hundred pounds.

J. N. Bryan, sales supervisor of the Tobacco Board of Trade here, said that Stabilization receipts were 4.33 percent of total sales.

Top practical prices paid by the buying companies was $1.55 per pound, he said, and offerings consisted of leaf, cutters, lugs, primings and non-descript tobacco.

Season totals for the market are 19,491,022 pounds for $24,872,906, an average of $127.61 per 100 pounds.

Couple Weds Thursday Evening In Grimesland

GRIMESLAND — Miss Kathi Lorraine Williams of Greenville and Raleigh Thomas Vaughan Jr. of Fayetteville were united in marriage Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Grimesland Pentecostal Holiness Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ormond E. Williams of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh T. Vaughan Sr. of Conway.

The Rev. Bobby Williams of New Bern, uncle of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony, which included the lighting of the unity candle.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Nancy Lancaster, organist. Mrs. Jeanette Williams, aunt of the bride, sang "More." "Pledging My Love" was sung by the aunt and uncle of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. James Williams.

The church altar was centered with a 15 branch brass candelabra holding an arrangement of yellow gladioli and carnations, green pom poms and white chrysanthemums. Two 15 branch brass spiral candelabra flanked the arrangement, forming a lighted circle. Palms were used for decoration. A three branch candelabra was used for the unity candle ceremony. The couple knelt on a brass profile prie-dieu, flanked by two single candelabra with matching floral arrangements. Family pews were marked with yellow and green satin ribbons.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a luster crepe gown with an empire bodice, long tapered sleeves and a long full skirt flowing into a chapel length train. The bodice, high neckline and sleeves were trimmed in Venise lace and pearls. She chose a short mantilla attached to the shoulders of the gown, edged with matching lace. The bride carried a colonial nosegay of yellow silk roses, white silk daisies and baby's breath with touches of green. The bouquet was tied with yellow and green lace ribbon.

Mrs. Sharon Craft, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She selected a maize polyester organza gown, fashioned with a halter neckline, empire waist and double ruffle cape. An inset cummerbund encircled the waist, with the skirt ending in a wide flounce. The gown featured a bustle attached to the waist with a self-fabric rosebud. Miss Cara Williams, sister of the bride served as bridesmaid. She wore a gown styled similar to the honor attendant's dress. Each carried a silk nosegay of yellow and green daisies with baby's breath, tied with yellow and green ribbons.

The father of the bridegroom served as best man. Ushers were Jimmy Craft of Greenville, brother-in-law of the bride, and James Williams of Greenville, uncle of the bride.

The bridal couple presented the mothers with long-stemmed roses at the end of the ceremony. The mothers and grandmothers were remembered with carnation corsages.

Mrs. Ann Williams of New Bern, aunt of the bride, directed the wedding. Donna Hudson of Greenville presided at the guest register.

The bride is a graduate of D. H. Conley High School and was an employee of Wachovia Bank Data Processing Center. The bridegroom is a graduate of South Hampton County High School and is now serving in the U. S. Army and is stationed at Fort Bragg.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Fayetteville.

Jealousy Curber Is Hard To Find

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 28 and my husband is 33. We've been married for six years, and our life would be beautiful if it weren't for his jealousy, which is so intense it borders on insanity!

He has tried everything from psychiatry to prayer meetings, but nothing has helped.

I have never given him any cause to doubt me, but for some reason he doesn't trust me out of his sight. The only thing I can think of that would give him complete peace of mind is a chastity belt!

Will you please tell me where I can get one? I know they haven't been used since the Middle Ages, but there must be one around somewhere. Or perhaps someone who works in metals could make one for me. Whatever the price, it will be worth it.

Please rush your answer to me. This is no joke.

SYLVIA IN GREENWICH

DEAR SYLVIA: The only chastity belts I have ever seen are in museums. But if there are any around for sale, or if I hear of a metalsmith who is willing to fashion one for you, I'll let you know.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and overweight, but everyone tells me I have a pretty face. I've had only two dates in my life, and you just can't imagine how much I'd like to have a boyfriend.

One night at a school hop one of the most popular boys in school took an interest in me. I was in heaven. He offered to take me home and we parked on the way and he kissed me. It was wonderful. We kissed a lot, and finally I got scared and made him stop.

He said he wanted to see me again, but next time he didn't intend to stop at a kiss. He told me to get wise, that any fat girl can be popular if she will go all the way. I was shocked and asked him to take me right home.

He told me to think it over and call him when I changed my mind. That was two months ago, and I have been thinking it over. I don't want to be a bad girl, but I want a boyfriend. Should I pay the price?

FAT AND LONELY

DEAR FAT: The price might be more than you're prepared to pay. That boy wants to use you. "Fat girls can be popular," he says, "if they will go all the way."

Brilliant! So can THIN girls, with the kind of boys who use girls, and then go on to fresher game.

He is not for you. And neither is any boy who feeds you that kind of line.

(P.S. Please look into Overeaters Anonymous. They're terrific for girls with your problem.)

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend went to a bridal shower that was held in the home of another girl she barely knew.

While she was there, someone stole $50 from her coat pocket. That was all the money she had. (I've lent her some money so she can buy groceries this week.)

When my friend told her hostess that she had been ripped off, all the hostess did was say she was very sorry.

Don't you think the hostess should have offered to replace the money?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: The hostess, in giving a shower for a friend, may not have known all the girls her friend invited. Therefore, the hostess could hardly be held liable for the loss. The moral: Take no chances; always keep your cash with you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ON THE WAGON IN HARRISBURG": No one need be conspicuous by his abstinence. Toss an olive, a cherry or a wedge of lemon into a glass of water, and no one will be any the wiser.

Pilot Club Has Official Visitor Monday Night

Miss Billie Bolinger, second lieutenant governor of North Carolina District VI, Pilot International, of Morganton was the official visitor Monday night at the meeting of the Pilot Club of Greenville.

She elaborated on the Pilot theme "Commitment to Pilot Excellence" in that commitment is "not what you think, but what you do." "This next year should be a year of opportunity," she said. She reviewed the projects and activities planned.

President Mrs. Irene Pruitt called for reports from the division coordinators. Mrs. Elizabeth LeConte said money was given for a child to participate in the tutorial program at the Developmental Evaluation Clinic.

Mrs. Trudy Blessing, coordinator for the Outreach Division, gave preliminary plans for a trip to Chapel Hill Dec. 2 to see "Star of Bethlehem."

Members were told of the fall meeting in Wilmington Oct. 14-15.

After the meeting, members of the Anchor Club joined Pilots for a reception honoring Miss Bolinger.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 25 at the Ramada Inn.

Cooking Is Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

For her husband and two teen-agers, my friend Rose makes a round, rangetop meat loaf that has the flavor of pizza. She calls it Meatzza. That may strike you as too cute for words — or appropriate.

Her recipe works well in a frypan with a premium non-stick surface that has good resistance to scratching, chipping and peeling. These new frypans come from 6 to 14 inches wide.

MEATZZA 1 1/2 pounds ground beef

1 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper

1 teaspoon oregano 1/2 teaspoons dry mustard

2 teaspoons minced instant onion 1/2 teaspoon minced instant garlic

1 egg 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs

1 scant cup pizza sauce, one-half of a 15 1/2-ounce jar

4 ounces mozzarella, thinly sliced or coarsely grated

Sliced cooked mushrooms, if desired

Mix together the beef, salt, pepper, oregano, mustard, onion, garlic, egg, bread crumbs and 1/2 scant cup pizza sauce. Pat mixture evenly over the entire bottom of a 10-inch premium non-stick skillet. Pour the remaining 1/2 scant cup pizza sauce over the center of the meat and spread to 1 inch from the edge. Cook, covered, over low heat for 20 minutes — meat will shrink and juices will replace it. Continue cooking, uncovered, over moderate heat until juices evaporate and only fat and drippings are around meat and the bottom of the loaf is browned — 20 minutes. Off heat, tilt pan and siphon off fat. Quickly arrange mozzarella and, if used, the mushrooms, over the meat; cover tightly and let stand off heat until the cheese barely melts — 3 to 5 minutes. With a plastic spatula, cut in wedges and serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Japanese Religious Leader Still 'Runs'

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Daisaku Ikeda, one time wonder boy of the new Japanese religions, at 50, still is going at breakneck speed but is more moderate in his intellectual, philosophical and political outlook.

The Soka Gakkai, which he heads, was one of the new religions that came to the forefront after the disillusion of Japan's defeat in World War Two.

With temple architecture of the Disneyland type, the new religions offered the faithful succor from care through a variety of appeals, from dancing and singing to universal culture and "perfect liberty."

Soka Gakkai, more accurately described as the lay organization of an old religion — the 800-year-old Nichiren Shoshu — exerted a powerful appeal to the rootless millions who had moved from the rural areas to Tokyo, Osaka and the other big cities. It promised them happiness now rather than pie in the sky.

Established in 1930 as the "value creating society," it was banned during the war and was down to a few thousand members when Ikeda, then 32, took over as president in 1960.

The Komei (clean government) party, which it organized and supports alienated others by taking a position closer to the socialists than to the middle.

Ikeda built up Soka Gakkai's fortunes through a combination of muscular, Billy Graham style revival meetings and intensive proselytizing work at the street and neighborhood level. His appeal was greatest among clerks, salaried employees, and domestic servants — the lonely crowd of the faceless metropolis.

Their financial contributions were modest compared to the millions of dollars which poured in from a vast publishing empire Ikeda founded. Led by the

Insist On Licenses For Church Centers

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The state Office of Child Day Care Licensing said it will take 10 church-operated day care centers to court unless they agree to renew their operating licenses.

John Lail, assistant director of the Child Day Care Center office, said 10 of about 300 church-operated day care centers in North Carolina have written the commission saying they will not seek license renewals. He said the letters state the centers are part of the church ministry and are not subject to state regulation.

"We're going to call the church-operated centers and give them a last offer," Lail said. "If they want to make reapplication, we'll let them make reapplication. If they do not make reapplication, we plan to take them to court."

He said licenses of several of the 10 centers that have not applied for renewal expire today.

The Day Care Licensing Commission discussed the refusal of the facilities to submit license renewal applications during a day-long meeting Thursday.

A Wake County Superior Court judge is expected to rule next week on a suit by the state Department of Public Instruction against several church-operated schools that refused to submit required paperwork, saying they are not subject to state regulation.

However, Lail said the state day care officials do not feel the

Work Force

You can make good money at things like riveting or welding, but it isn't always a fun job. There's a tension to it that takes its toll of nerves and muscles.

Lots of jobs aren't fun, aren't even fulfilling. They're just necessary, both for the doers and for the rest of us, who profit by their services.

So what comes after work? Staying home and watching TV, or perhaps a little bit of nothing. It shouldn't be that way; not all that way, certainly.

People do have three facets—mental, physical and spiritual. It's the spiritual part that is the most apt to get shortchanged today, more's the pity. Because that's where the miracles begin.

Start finding that out by going to the church of your choice.

box, how many soap flakes there are in it."

"That's a lot of air to put in a box."

"We don't use the air for only soap flakes. We also use it for cereals, baking products and anything that comes in a box."

"Let me show you this invention which we have a patent on. This is a see-through wax paper window for noodles. Well, when you look at it, you think you're getting a full box of noodles. Right?"

"Of course."

"Now, look at the inside of the box."

"Why, the only noodles in it are stuck to the window," I said in amazement.

"Yep. The windows and the noodles are magnetized. When the window fills up with noodles, the box moves on."

"Are those frozen TV dinners over there..."

"They certainly are. They look like complete dinners, don't they?"

"You bet."

"Now, look under the tray. You see how it's indented. There's nothing in the tray but what you see on the top."

"Fantastic," I said.

He took me into another building which had a large sign, PHARMACEUTICALS, on the outside. "This is where we work on new packaging for medicines," he opened a door, and everywhere I looked were large mounds of white cotton.

"What do you do with that stuff?" I asked.

"We put two pills in each bottle and stuff the rest of it with white cotton. If it weren't for cotton, I don't think the drug industry would survive."

"You people think of everything."

"Not everything. Our dream is to devise a package filled with nothing but air, cotton and aluminum foil. If you bought one, you'd get a second package free."

Hodges Rejects Federal Offer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Luther Hodges Jr. has turned down a White House offer to head a government corporation, saying the timing of the offer "was an embarrassment to me."

Hodges, former chairman of the board of North Carolina National Bank and unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination this year, declined an offer to become director of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which insures bank deposits.

Hodges said Thursday he notified the White House on Wednesday that he would honor a commitment to teach this fall at the graduate school of business administration at Duke University this fall.

Hodges said the FDIC offer came last week, two days after Duke announced his appointment to the business faculty.

"I told the White House that I thought the timing was an embarrassment to me, that I had an obligation to Duke, that it was not forever but I wasn't going to announce one week that I was going to Duke and the next week I wasn't," Hodges said.

He said local bankers urged him to take the FDIC position, which they saw as a potential "feather in the cap" for the Charlotte banking industry.

"I heard a lot more about this job than about being U.S. Senator," Hodges said.

"I'm flattered (by the offer) because it's a very attractive job," Hodges said. "My decision has been that I made a commitment to go to Duke and vice president, Ed Fochman Jr., are entering a new field of promotion — college and professional athletics.

"For this, the company is producing its first two-passenger vehicle, the Hawkeye, a hybrid not patterned after any manufactured car."

Wagenhals already has approached Arizona State University and worked out a plan to promote the mini-cars, featuring an ASU motif, in the Sun Devil football programs and through mailings to the university's alumni.

In return, the firm will give $100 for each car sold to the Sun Angel Foundation, an athletic booster group that is helping ASU pay off $4 million in stadium expansion costs.

"If it works at ASU," Wagenhals said, "then we go to Notre Dame, Southern Cal, Ohio State and so on."

support the idea that California was only the beginning of a nationwide reaction against high taxes.

Field suggests that this could have an impact "on all of the liberal social programs inaugurated under FDR in the 1930s and continuing through LBJ's Great Society era of the 1960s."

He describes it as a supply and demand situation.

"During the past decades, politicians have tended to respond mostly to the demand side of the government services market equation," he says.

"On the other side of the equation, the supply side, taxpayers have until now had a much harder time making a concerted stand against increasing tax burdens."

"Proposition 13 has shown the power of aroused taxpayers, and there could very well be a fundamental shift," Field says, in which politicians will cater to the people who supply the taxes.

Dr. Nonno At World Congress

Dr. Robert P. Nonno, Medical Director of the Pitt County Mental Health Center, is attending II World Congress of Biological Psychiatry in Barcelona, Spain today through Saturday.

Dr. Nonno is also clinical professor in the East Carolina University School of Medicine.

The meetings are being held at the Palace of Congresses. The main goal of the event is to present recent research and exchange information on a worldwide level.

Pharmacists Will Be Hosted

The Pitt County Mental Health Center will be host Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to local pharmacists.

A drug distribution program now being implemented by the mental health center is designed to benefit patients with more efficient service, Area Director Dr. Stephen Creech said. Local pharmacists are invited to hear the program explained and meet other participants. Any pharmacist unable to attend is invited to send a representative.

Sharon Tabb, consulting pharmacist for the Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center, will conduct the meeting.

Old Sparkle Missing In The New Maverick

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was good news when they said a new "Maverick" western was afoot and that a young Maverick would continue the fine work-fearing, gambling, skit-chasing ways of the originals.

On Sunday, ABC airs "The New Maverick," he being Ben Maverick (Charles Frank), son of Bret and Bart's cousin Beau. Roger Moore played Beau way back when, but he's not in Sunday's saga.

However, James Garner is back as Bret. And Jack Kelly returns as brother Bart, though he doesn't appear until the finale.

The sad news: This reprise of the series ABC ran from 1957 to 1962 just doesn't have the highly literate sparkle of the first TV western to poke fun at TV westerns. It just pokes along.

It starts promisingly as Bret pulls into East Las Vegas, N.M., to collect $1,000 from Bart, only to learn Bart has been shot dead.

He goes and asks the mortician burying the departed if at least he can't get the name on the tombstone right. It identifies the departed as "Maverick." Up ride three mean-looking gunsels.

They're led by a chap named Vinnie (George Loros), a New Yorker with a ripe Bronx accent. Seems he's been flim-flammed by Bart and wants the casket opened to be sure Bart is dead. Bret objects.

Up rides young Ben, who draws his artillery and prevents the baddies from hosing Bret. The no-goods exit, whereupon Ben reveals he is cousin Beau's son from Philadelphia.

Bret tells him Bart isn't dead. He notes the casket is but five feet long, and "if he was in there, he'd have to be folded." Then, amid examples that Ben is just as much a rascal as the original Mavericks, the show sags into a generally labored assortment of chicanery and awkwardly-constructed plot twists. Such as:

—Ben's theft of $1,000 in "getaway money" Bart always totes. —A small-town Texas judge who arranges the theft of rapidfire Gatling guns, then posts a $25,000 reward for their return as part of his scheme to get elected to the U.S. Senate. —A double-cross by the wicked Vinnie, leader of the gunthieves. —Ben's wooing of the judge's servant girl, who also is Vinnie's sort-of-sweetie (Susan Blanchard, a fine actress, plays her).

—Bret's wagering with one Poker Alice (Susan Sullivan).

It all leads to all three Mavericks chasing the $25,000 reward. Alas, the chase is clumsy, even boring. And the two-hour film generally lacks the jaunty wit of the old Maverick series.

Frank, the new Maverick, is toothily tolerable. But he lacks the force of personality, the way with a line, of Garner, one of the best light comedy actors in TV today.

As a "Maverick" freak, I'd hoped this show would revive the glory of old. But after seeing it, I felt like the guy who bought a pumpkin farm, then learned Halloween was canceled.

All is not lost, though. ABC says six more scripts are on hand. Hope they keep at "The New Maverick" until they get it right.

ELLEN CORBY, WHO PLAYS Grandma Walton in the television series, was hospitalized in Racine, Wis. Thursday. The hospital described her as in fair condition, but refused to disclose the reason for her hospitalization. Miss Corby, 66, suffered a stroke two years ago. (AP Laserphoto)

The importance of over-tricks is one of the key differences between rubber bridge and matchpoint pairs. At matchpoints, if you only make your contract while the rest of the field is collecting an overtrick, you receive as bad a score as if you went down. That aspect led to an unlucky result on this hand from the recent World Pair Olympiad held in New Orleans.

Three no trump was a popular contract. The auction shown above occurred at many tables, and requires no explanation.

West led his fourth-best heart, and declarer won in dummy with the king. Nine tricks were there for the taking, but some declarers felt that might not be enough. If the defenders did not cash their spade tricks, declarer would be positioned to steal an overtrick. That ran a slight risk that the defenders could take the ace of diamonds and four spade tricks. However, for that to happen, East would have to hold four spades including a high honor and the nine, and the defense would have to be letter perfect.

The risk seemed worth while, so at trick two these declarers led a diamond to the king. That gave two Brazilians, world team champion Sergio Barbosa and his partner, Roberto Taunay, the chance to cause declarer to rue his decision.

Taunay captured the diamond king with the ace. From the play at trick one, it was obvious that declarer held the ace of hearts. Since the club suit was surely running (only an insane declarer would win the king of hearts in dummy if the club suit wasn't solid), the defenders needed tricks urgently, and spades offered the only chance.

So West shifted to a low spade at trick three. Barbosa won the king and returned a spade to his partner's queen. A low spade through dummy's ten enabled the defenders to cash the A-9 for a one-trick set.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal bridge format. Do they know something you don't? Charles Goren's "Four-Deal Bridge" will teach you the strategies and tactics of this fast-paced action game that provides the cure for unending rubbers. NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rose today as traders evaluated a good-and-bad mixture of economic news.

Gambling industry issues gained in active trading. At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .95 at 877.77. Advancers led decliners 6-5 among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues, and Big Board volume rose to 14.05 million shares in the first two hours of trading from 13.76 million at noon Thursday.

The Labor Department said unemployment dipped to 5.9 percent in August from 6.2 percent in July. Citibank ended its two-day silence and joined other banks in boosting the prime lending rate 1/4-point to 9 1/4 percent. Asurvey of purchasing executives indicated raw materials prices continued to rise in August; the report followed the announcement that the index of leading economic indicators fell 7 percent in July.

Gambling stocks recouped some of Thursday's losses. Ramada Inns was up 1/4 at 11 1/4 while Bally jumped 3/4 to 63. Del E. Webb, which tentatively agreed to buy an Atlantic City, N.J., hotel, was up 1 1/4 to 36 1/4. Pan American World Airways, which is vying with Texas International Airlines for control of National Airlines, was up 1/4 at 8 1/4. Boeing was up 2 1/4 at 72 1/4.

The NYSE composite index was up .06 at 58.41 while the American Stock Exchange market value index gained .57 to 168.99.

Negligence Not Found

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Although the investigation is not complete, a state environmental engineer says there is no indication that negligence was the cause of a gasoline spill Tuesday in the Trailwood subdivision here which is still being cleaned up.

Art Hagstrom, one of two state Water Quality Division officials to investigate the leakage of up to 4,000 gallons of gasoline from a Colonial Pipeline Co. pipe, said, however, the company could be fined if it is found that negligence caused the leakage.

The rupture occurred shortly after 5 a.m. Tuesday, but it took hours for Colonia crews to find the leak. It turned out to be at Reddick's Creek, a tributary of Deep River. The spill was contained in the creek.

A Colonial official in Atlanta, said the company will pay for damages incurred and for the cleanup that will be going on for several days. Will Nicoll, Colonial's manager for employee and community relations, said the firm will pay "whatever it costs to restore the area to normal."

Two ducks and a dog died soon after contact with the polluted water. Fish and other wildlife and foliage along the creek were killed, and officials said it will be quite a while before life returns to normal in the creek.

Nicoll said his company has sent claims agents to the area to meet residents who say they have been damaged by the gasoline leak.

Nominated For Nat'l Register
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Washington, N.C., has been nominated for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places.

A state archives expert said that although the town had suffered several fires, it still retains some historic buildings, including a courthouse built in 1786, one of two 18th century courthouses in the state. The town also has some early 19th century brick warehouses on its waterfront.

The Beaufort County town is said to be the first town to bear the name of the nation's first president.

Abstract Eagle Needs A Nest
ARLINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Arlington has an eagle, but it can't find the right nest.

The city bought the bird — a contemporary sculpture with a nine-foot wing span — from local artist Eugene Freiley last spring. But city officials can't decide where to put the $450 creation.

These days it's dismantled, packed in a storage area. The eagle's fate hasn't surprised Freiley. "This is an abstract form of an eagle," he said. "I suspect some individuals are a little bit leery."

Ten-Cent Check Not Covered
ATLANTA (AP) — Southern Bell Telephone Co. isn't broke. But Arthur Usherson and a bank apparently thought so.

Usherson says a bank refused to cash a Southern Bell check for 10 cents because the account wouldn't cover it.

Southern Bell spokesman Dick Miles says the bank's failure to cash the check — issued because Usherson lost a dime in a pay telephone — was all a mistake.

"We've got problems, but it's not that bad," he quipped.

MOTHERS' ANNIVERSARY
The mothers of Arthur Chapel Free Will Baptist Church will celebrate their sixth anniversary Sunday, 2 p.m. The Rev. Atkins of Reid's Chapel, Fountain, will render services. The public is invited to attend.

Pirates Open Year Against Western

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina University's Pirates open the 1978 football season Saturday at 7 p.m. in the newly expanded Ficklen Stadium.

Western Carolina, a long-time foe of the Pirates, will provide the opposition, opposition that is expected to be tough.

The Catamounts bring in one of the nation's top passers in Mike Pusey, the All-Southern Conference quarterback from last season. Western is rated as one of the co-favorites in the Southern Conference this season.

The newly expanded Ficklen, which now seats 35,000 fans, is expected to draw at least 30,000 to the opener, and that will be a new record, naturally.

The Pirates, who have won the last three games in the 26-game series with Western, have pulled into a 13-13 tie in the overall standings with that school, and will be shooting to move into the lead. It has been 16 years since Western last beat East Carolina, last winning, 20-6, in 1962. The Pirates won in 1963, and the series lapsed until 1975 and 1976, when it was renewed.

Dye will field a veteran team, which will find ten seniors, 11 juniors and just one sophomore in the starting lineup. "This is an advantage to us," the coach said, "as long as we don't have a case of senioritis, and I really don't think we will."

A number of vets return on the offensive unit, including Terry Gallaher at split end. Gallaher has been awarded an extra year of eligibility under a new rule passed last January by the NCAA.

"We know that Terry is a winner," Dye said. "But we've got a winner with him in Billy Ray Washington. Either of them can win for us at the split end position." Behind them comes Vern Davenport, listed by Dye as not as skilled, but making up for it with determination.

Nelson Smith, described by Dye as a solid player, will be occupying the left guard position for the third year.

Jeff Hagans, at 235, will be the largest center ever at East Carolina. "He has more ability than any center we've had too," Dye said. "We expect him to be the best center, also."

Wayne Inman will be at right guard. Dye says he is solid, and while not as good as the man he replaced, Wayne Bolt, he can be a winner.

Matt Mulholland takes over the right tackle spot. "He's better than he's ever been," Dye said. "He's the strongest man on the team, and he's worked a lot on flexibility and agility, and he's moving better than ever."

Joe Godette, who played tackle last year, has been moved to tight end. "He was the second most consistent lineman on the team last year," Dye pointed out.

Others who are expected to see action in the line include John Maness at both center and guard; Mike Heywood at tackle; Mitchell Johnson at guard, and possibly Perry Allred at tight end.

Leander Green returns at quarterback. "He's running the offense and throwing better all the time," Dye said. "And Steve Greer has stepped forward to take over as the backup. He's come a long way in throwing the ball and running the offense, and has a lot more confidence in himself."

"We expect to play Steve in the first half against Western Carolina," Dye added.

Anthony Collins, who saw a lot of play last year, will be at one halfback spot, with veteran Eddie Hicks at the other. Theodore Sutton returns at fullback.

In some situations, Sam Harrell will move into the halfback slots, with Collins moving to fullback.

Defensively, Dye feels he has three proven ends in John Morris, Zack Valentine and Fred Chavis. "Valentine is a great player, and Chavis has been exceptional this fall. Rocky Butler and Clifford Williams have also come along well here."

Dye said that the play of D.T. Joyner has been one of the real surprises this fall. Joyner originally was not expected to play this year, but to concentrate on wrestling, but agreed to come back after Wayne Poole was sidelined with an injury.

"D.T. will probably start at one tackle with Vance Tingle at the other. You might wonder about Noah Clark. Well, he just hasn't come along as well as we think he should, and we're going to have to see how bad he wants it. I do expect him to play. Nate Wigfall has also come along good and will play a lot."

Oliver Felton returns to the nose guard position and is "better than ever, because he's in the best condition ever." A freshman, John Hallow, is listed as his backup. "He's a very mature player for a freshman," Dye said.

Tommy Summer and Mike Brewington, both of whom played a lot last year, return at linebacker, and Dye said he expects both to be winners. "Jeffrey Warren will make them better players, because if they don't get better, they'll be watching Jeffrey play."

Charlie Carter and Willie Holley return to the corners, while Ruffin McNeill will move into the strong safety spot, while Gerald Hall shifts to free safety. "Wayne Perry will play some at free safety, too, and James Freer will play at the corners."

Dye feels he has a good kick snapper in Gene Winters, who returns, while Rodney Allen is back as punter, but is being pressed by freshman Ricky Bentley. Bill Lamm will handle field goals and placements, with Vern Davenport handling kickoffs and long field goals.

The action gets underway Saturday at 7 p.m. in Ficklen.

Defensive Tackle D.T. Joyner

Greer Anxious To Play Ball

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Coach Pat Dye said Wednesday at his weekly press conference that he expected to play second-unit quarterback Steve Greer in the first half of the game Saturday night against Western Carolina.

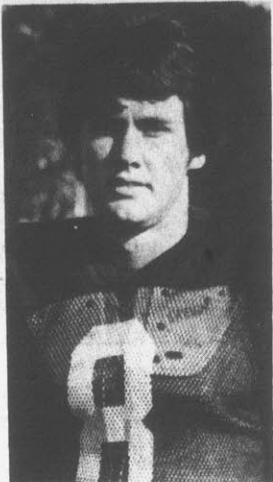

"I want him to get in fairly early and get the edge off him. I just don't want to have to look up and see Leander (Green) squirming around on the ground and have to put him in there all of a sudden," Dye told the press.

"He told me the same thing earlier this week," Greer said. "I'm looking forward to playing. I haven't had that much playing time, and I want to get that first game experience."

Greer will be playing at quarterback for the first time since his freshman year. That year, particularly against the University of Virginia, Greer looked good, and some people thought that the freshman might be a product for the future.

But he was switched to running back as a sophomore, and then sat out last year with an injury. Now a junior in eligibility he looks forward to signaling again.

"It seems like a long time since I've taken a snap in a game," he said. "But being away so long shouldn't have any adverse affect on me. I've got ten in a lot of work and practice during the past few years. And we've had some intense practices in the last few weeks, and that'll help too."

The coaching staff was worried in the spring that neither Greer nor any of the other quarterback candidates seemed to be willing to step forward and assume the understudy role to Green. "I'll be the first to admit that I didn't step forward," Greer said. "But now I want to help the team. I guess I'm just concentrating now that the season is almost here. I'm realizing the job I have to do."

Greer isn't unhappy being second string, but admits that he hopes to eventually push Green for the job. "If there is a rivalry between us, it is friendly; there's no animosity."

During the summer, especially in the final weeks prior to the start of practice, Greer worked on his passing. "I threw a lot, trying to develop a better delivery. I think I've made a lot of improvement both in my passing and in the mental part of the game, in concentration and the willingness to work."

"I want to be consistent in my play this fall," he added. "I don't want to have a good play here and there, and a bad one here and there. I want to do the best I can all the time I'm out there to help the team as much as I can."

Greer looks forward to the opening, and notes that Western Carolina will be a tough foe. "We're not taking them lightly," he said. "We're not looking ahead."

Only Yankees Gain On Resting Red Sox

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

While the Red Sox relaxed on an off-day and enjoyed their standing atop the American League East, their four pursuers worked at cutting into Boston's lead.

Three of the chasers would have been better off resting Thursday. Only the New York Yankees were able to gain any ground, shaving Boston's margin to 6½ games with a 6-2 verdict over Baltimore. The Orioles fell 12 games off the pace while thirdplace Milwaukee split a pair with Cleveland, winning 1-0 then losing 12-6, and dropped 8½ games out. Detroit lost to Minnesota 4-1 and is fourth, 11 back.

"There's going to be a pennant race," said Yankees outfielder Lou Piniella, who homered and singled in New York's seventh consecutive victory and 12th in the last 15 games. "It's going to be tough, no question. But if we play well, we've got plenty of time."

The Yankees have 31 games left — seven against Boston — while the Red Sox have 30 to play.

The 6½-game deficit is the closest New York has come since Aug. 11.

Brewers 1-6, Indians 0-12 Milwaukee's Mike Caldwell, 17-8, threw a six-hitter to out-duel Mike Paxton, who had a three-hitter as the Brewers won the opener. Ben Oglivie's second-inning home run provided the scoring.

"I've been consistent with my pitches," said Caldwell. "I haven't thrown a lot of hanging breaking balls. I've got 17 victories with a month to go. If my arm stays healthy, there's no reason I won't win 20."

"The guy pitched well," said Paxton, 9-8, of Caldwell. "That's life. It was a good effort but if you don't win it doesn't mean anything, at least to me it doesn't."

Cleveland belted out 17 hits to snap a 27-inning scoreless string in the nightcap. Andre Thornton had a three-run homer, his 27th, and Ron Pruitt also homered.

The Indians sent 11 men to the plate in the fourth, when they scored five runs.

Twins 4, Tigers 1

Home runs by Rich Chiles and Glenn Adams and solid relief pitching by Mike Marshall, who picked up his 17th save, led the Twins to victory.

Chiles' blast, a solo shot in the fifth, bounced off the upperdeck facing in right-center field at Tiger Stadium. Adams followed Roy Smalley's double in the seventh with a shot into the upper deck in right.

Geoff Zahn, 10-13, carried a three-hitter into the seventh when the Tigers put together three hits for their run. Marshall came on with men on second and third and two out and snuffed the rally, then easily retired the Tigers the rest of the way.

Waller Is New Vike Mat Coach

HOLLYWOOD — Mike Waller has been named as the new wrestling coach at D.H. Conley High School.

Waller replaces Milt Sherman in the position.

A native of Annadale, Va., Waller was a wrestler in high school, gaining district and regional championships and was the runner-up in his weight class in the Virginia State Tournament.

He attended Delhi Junior College for two years, where he wrestled both years. Then, he transferred to Slippery Rock State College in Pennsylvania, wrestling for two more years. At Slippery Rock, he achieved All-America status in wrestling, finishing fifth in the Division I NCAA Tournament in 1974.

For the past two years, he has served as an assistant in the East Carolina University wrestling program. Conley will be his first high school coaching job. In addition to coaching wrestling, Waller will teach driver education.

Ed Nelson and Les Strayhorn, former East Carolina football players, will serve as assistant football coaches at Conley, although neither will hold teaching staff positions.

Cubs Roll In Opener

Rose High School's junior varsity football team opened its schedule for the 1978 season yesterday with a 21-6 romp over Goldsboro.

Both teams scored in the first period of the game, with Greenville taking the lead then and never relinquishing it.

Kenny Wilson scored twice, getting the first Rampant Cub score on a ten yard run. His second score came in the third period on a five-yard run.

Mike Thurber accounted for the remaining nine points. He scored on a six-yard run in the final quarter of the game, and kicked all three extra points.

Rose travels to New Bern next Thursday for its second game.

Foster Hopes Reds Ready To Move

By PAUL LeBAR
AP Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Slugger George Foster, one of the few Cincinnati Reds not affected by a season-long power drought, hopes the Big Red Machine is ready to shift out of its doldrums and into high gear.

"Nobody was hitting until tonight, and then everybody hit," said Foster after contributing a solo home run and an RBI single to an 11-6 Reds triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday night.

"I hope it continues this way the rest of the season," he continued. "We know we can score runs, but the thing is we have to keep doing it. We could get on a hot streak. When we're swinging the bats well, nobody can beat us."

The slump-ridden Reds, who started the night 7½ games behind the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League West, moved a halfgame closer on a 14-hit attack.

Foster clubbed his homer, his 31st of the campaign, to trigger a seven-run avalanche in the second inning. He later added a single for his 98th RBI as the Reds sent 11 batters to the plate.

Ray Knight and Dave Concepcion chipped in run-producing singles in an inning which included Joe Morgan's three-run homer.

"I asked (third base coach Alex) Grammas if he was a little nervous, there were so many guys going past him," Cincinnati Manager Sparky

Anderson said of the Reds' biggest inning this year.

The San Diego Padres defeated the Montreal Expos 6-1 in the other National League game Thursday.

"I like for us to hit the ball and score some runs for a change," said Anderson after watching his club snap a sixgame losing streak. "You wonder how you can go that long, but everybody goes through it. You wonder how you can play that crazy, but it happens."

Reds right-hander Tom Seaver, 12-13, coasted to his first victory since August 2, thanks to an offense which also featured Johnny Bench's 19th home run and three RBI by Ken Griffey.

Anderson removed Seaver after seven innings with Cincinnati ahead 11-1. Tom Hume was nipped for an unearned run in the St. Louis eighth, then Wayne Garrett belted a pinch grand slam homer off reliever Doug Bair in the ninth.

Splinters from a bat which shattered in the hands of the Cards' Lou Brock in the eighth struck plate umpire Satch Davidson in the right eye. The arbiter was hospitalized overnight for observation.

Padres 6, Expos 1

Jerry Turner's two RBI — on a first-inning single and a third inning double — helped San Diego snap a three-game losing streak and extend Montreal's losing string to five games.

Right-hander Eric Rasmussen, 14-10, shut out the Expos for five innings before needing relief help with two out in the sixth from Mark Lee. The victory was Rasmussen's third this year over Montreal. Expos starter Woody Fryman, 7-9, took the loss.

Rain Delays B.C. Opening

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Lee Trevino and 149 other professional golfers tried again today to start the $225,000 BC Open Golf Tournament.

Constant rains drenched the Em Joie Golf Club course Thursday and postponed the opening round. Tournament officials decided to run the event today through Labor Day on the 6,903-yard, par-71 course.

Last year's runner-up, Lee Elder, withdrew from the tournament because of the death of a close friend.

Other pretournament favorites include U.S. Open champion Andy North, PGA champion John Mahaffey and the last year's BC Open winner, Gil Morgan.

The delay could boost attendance for the four-day tournament, which will now end on a holiday, officials said.

"We are used to any disaster," said Alex Alexander, the tournament director. "We're not concerned at all. We can't play Gold. We'll handle any situation and we'll handle this."

The weather was expected to clear over the area by this morning. The winner of this tournament, named after a cartoon strip, will take home $45,000.

Football season is here! And with its return, your panel of experts returns with it to bring you its predictions for the coming weeks.

Things are really sort of slow for this week, with only a handful of collegiate games for us to pick. So for the opening week, we have added the area high school games to the slate, along with one professional game.

Normally, we will pick 12 games a week, although this first week will see only ten on the list. Next week, however, there is a full slate of games for us to choose from, so we'll take it from there.

The panel returns intact from last year, with this writer along with Jim Kyle representing the sports department. Tom Baines returns to represent the newsroom, with Joe Jenkins representing the advertising department. Vickie Spivey adds a bit of beauty to the panel as our lone distaff member, and also represents the composing room.

As we did last year, we will continue to have a guest picker each week. This week's guest, since we are picking a number of high school games, will be Pitt County Superintendent of Schools Ott Alford. Alford is also a member of the North Carolina High School Athletic Association's board, which he serves as vice-president.

"None of the county teams are playing each other," he asked us when we approached him. "There's no way I'll pick when they are playing each other," he said.

After we assured him that there were no cross-county games, he agreed.

First and foremost on the picks for this week is the opening game for East Carolina University, as the Pirates open newly-expanded Ficklen Stadium with Western Carolina as its guest.

The Pirates will get a stiff test from the Catamounts, who have one of the nation's top passers in quarterback Mike Pusey.

Our panel, as is usual, has faith in the Pirates, with a solid 6-0 East Carolina choice right down the line.

Rose High School also opens its schedule, but travels to Goldsboro tonight to do it. Both teams suffered heavy losses through graduation, and will be young and somewhat inexperienced. Goldsboro has won five of the last seven games between the two schools, and all of them played in Goldsboro. In addition, a Gerald Wisenhunt team has never lost an opening game.

Is this the year? The panel is divided on this one, awarding Goldsboro a 4-2 edge.

Our other consensus picks see Southern Mississippi over Richmond; Alabama over Nebraska; Mississippi State over West Texas State; Farmville Central over Williamston; Ayden-Grifton over Roanoke; Enfield over North Pitt; West Carteret over Conley; and Oakland over Denver in the NFL.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for today until early Saturday calls for showers for parts of the

Carolinians and Virginia. Rain is predicted for the Oregon coast. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press

A hurricane watch was posted this morning for the North Carolina coast from Cape Lookout, near Morehead City, northward to the Virginia border.

Hurricane Ella was on a northwesterward track about 400 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras. The future track of the hurricane was uncertain but coastal residents and anyone planning a trip to the coast for the Labor Day weekend were cautioned to keep in touch with the latest weather advisories.

The hurricane packed 90-mile winds with gales extending out for 100 miles. It was chugging along at about 15 miles per hour.

Meanwhile, the remnants of tropical storm Debra moved slowly eastward across the southern portion of Virginia today. Early morning thunderstorms covered most of North Carolina's northeast Piedmont and northern Coastal Plain.

Heavy storms were reported over Wilson County and in the Williamston area.

The outlook for weekend weather in North Carolina depends largely on the course hurricane Ella takes. However, skies will be partly cloudy through the holiday weekend with scattered showers and possible thunderstorms over eastern sections into Saturday. On Sunday and Labor Day there will be a chance of showers and possible thunderstorms across the entire state. High temperatures will be generally in the 80s.

Three Traffic Mishaps Investigated By Police

Heavy damages and one injury resulted from three traffic accidents investigated here by Greenville Police.

Police reported that vehicles driven by John Paul Clay of 923 S.W. Hawthorne Circle, Sebastian, Fla., and Stephen Craig Jones of 333 Slay Dorm, East Carolina University, sustained damages of $2,000 each in a 4 p.m. wreck.

Officers, who charged Clay with a safe movement violation, said that the accident took place on Greenville Boulevard at Brimley Drive. No injuries were reported.

Gregory Thomas Hargett of 110 Avon Lane, Greenville, was charged with driving under the influence and operating a vehicle left of the center lane following investigation of a wreck early today involving the Hargett vehicle and two parked vehicles.

According to investigating officers, the Hargett car struck vehicles parked in the 2400 block of E. Fourth Street owned by William Beaulieu of 2404 E. Fourth Street and Richard Beaulieu of 302 Washington Street, Tauton, Mass.

Damage to the Hargett vehicle was estimated at $500 while damage to William Beaulieu's car was set at $600, and $250 to the third vehicle involved.

The accident took place at 2:45 a.m., it was reported.

A three-vehicle accident Wednesday at 11:35 p.m. involved vehicles driven by Mark Anthony Suggs of Rt. 2, Walstonburg, Thomas Hollis Gunn of 104 Lee Street, Cherry Oaks, and William David Lurvey Jr., of 217 Simmons Street, Washington.

Officers, who reported that Gunn was taken to Pitt

Memorial Hospital following the accident on Fifth Street near Maple, said that Suggs was operating a truck owned by Greenville Utilities while Gunn was driving a vehicle owned by Ivey Coward Inc.

Damage to the Utilities vehicle was set at $800 while the Gunn car sustained damages estimated at $300. No damage was reported for the Lurvey vehicle.

No charges were preferred.

Pilot Ejected

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — An F-15 fighter from Langley Air Force Base here crashed in the Atlantic Ocean about 120 miles off the Virginia coast today on a local training flight, but the pilot safely ejected from the craft.

A Coast Guard helicopter was en route to the scene of the 8 a.m. crash due east of Cape Charles to pick up the pilot, said Maj. R. W. Nicholson at the air base.

Nicholson said the pilot's name wouldn't be released immediately and that the cause of the accident wasn't immediately known.

Other F-15s in the area made radio contact with the pilot and were to stay in the area until the helicopter arrived, Nicholson said.

Public School Rating Falls Off

By CHRIS CONNELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The public's rating of American public schools dropped again this year, but most parents whose children actually attend these schools give them good grades, a new education survey discloses.

The annual Gallup Poll on education found that 36 percent of those surveyed gave public schools an A or B rating, while 19 percent gave D or F (for failing) grades.

In last year's poll, 37 percent gave the schools top marks and 16 percent awarded the lowest rating. In 1974, 48 percent gave

A or B grades and only 11 percent rated them D or F.

The poll, financed by the Charles F. Kettering Foundation and published in Phi Delta Kappa magazine as the school year opened, followed a government forecast that America's colleges and public schools will cost an additional $11 billion to operate this year, despite a 1 percent drop in enrollment.

The National Center for Education Statistics said on Thursday that 59.8 million students, down from 60.2 million, will attend classes from kindergarten to graduate school at a cost of $155 billion, up 7.6 percent over last year.

Counting 3.3 million teachers and 300,000 administrators and staff, the center said 63.4 million Americans will be involved directly in education this fall, or three out of every ten.

In the Gallup survey, 51 percent of public school parents gave A or B ratings and only 15 percent gave D's or F's.

The parents of children in parochial and private schools took a more critical view of public schools. Only 23 percent gave them A's or B's and 32 percent gave D's or F's.

The harshest critics of public schools were blacks living in the North. Of these, 43 percent rated the schools D or F and only 27 percent gave an A or B. By contrast, 35 percent of Southern blacks gave top ratings and only 14 percent gave the worst.

In a similar vein, two-thirds of Northern blacks indicated they believe that minority children do not have the same educational opportunities as white children. Only 21 percent believed they did. About 85 percent of all whites and 54 percent of Southern blacks said the opportunities were equal.

People in the West were least satisfied with public schools, as 22 percent gave A's and B's and 27 percent D's or F's. Elsewhere, 40 percent gave top grades while 16 percent in the Middle West and South and 21 percent in the East gave D or F.

Lack of discipline continued to top the public's list of concerns about public schools in the 10-year-old Gallup survey.

Discipline was cited by one in every four of the more than 1,500 adults polled in late April. Next on the problem list were use of drugs, lack of financial support, desegregation and busing, poor curriculum and standards, and the difficulty of getting good teachers.

Prehistoric Habitation Sites Found On Route

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — State archeologists have discovered the remains of prehistoric man along the proposed route of the Interstate 40 extension in Orange and Durham counties, a state archeologist said Thursday.

But that discovery isn't likely to stop the proposed 20.4-mile extension, according to Mark Mathis.

"The shovel tests revealed several prehistoric sites used for temporary habitation and specialized activities," said Mathis, who is supervisor of the archeological team conducting the routine tests.

"We found some tools such as knives or scrapers and a few pieces of ceramics," he said.

Ruins of buildings erected in the 18th and 19th centuries also were unearthed, including a house from around 1776 and a farm structure from the 1880s.

A lawsuit has been filed in Wake County Superior Court challenging procedures used by the North Carolina Board of Transportation in approving the extension. Attorneys for the towns of Chapel Hill and Carrboro, Orange County, an environmental group and 10 landowners have asked the court to prevent further work on the proposed extension which would run from I-85 near Hillsborough to the Research Triangle Park.

Mathis said the discovery of historical sites and artifacts won't change the plans for the extension since most of the archeological sites are not situated in the direct path of the road. All of the findings are near the proposed highway, however.

"We have recommended to the board of transportation that several of the sites undergo subsurface testing," he said. "There may be some good deposits and if the highway construction will affect them, they need to be looked at more closely."

The board is currently reviewing the findings and recommendations.

N.C. Expert To New Post

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Chris Gentile, North Carolina's assistant chief of emergency medical services, Thursday was appointed director of Connecticut's troubled Office of Emergency Medical Services.

On Oct. 1 he will become the agency's fifth director in five years. Gentile, 34, will be paid $31,500 a year.

Gentile, who was a physical education instructor at Bates College in Maine, said he left a career in education seven years ago to work with emergency medical services. He has worked with a volunteer ambulance company and for a commercial ambulance company.

The Connecticut agency's first director was Thomas Brask, who cited frustration when he resigned after eight months. Martin Stillman was director for less than two years, resigning amid allegations of conflict of interest and second-degree larceny.

Dr. Leslie Fodeman then took over the post for eight months before resigning under pressure after complaints about the way he handled problems of ambulance companies. Deputy Health Commissioner Dennis Kerrigan has been acting director of the agency since Fodeman resigned.

Gentile said state Health Commissioner Douglas Lloyd promised him as much budgetary support as possible to fill out the decreasing staff at the agency.

Britt Sworn As N.C. Justice

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Appeals Court Judge David M. Britt was sworn in Thursday as a member of the North Carolina Supreme Court.

Britt was appointed by Gov. Jim Hunt to fill out the unexpired term of Justice I. Beverly Lake, who was barred from seeking re-election because of the state's mandatory retirement age for judges.

Britt was administered the oath of office by Chief Justice Susie Sharp in a ceremony in Raleigh attended by Hunt and other state officials.

Arrest Man For Embezzlement

The manager of the Kayo Oil Co. at 500 N. Green Street has been arrested by Greenville Police and charged with embezzlement of funds from the company.

Calvin Douglas Teel of Rt. 8, Box 55, Greenville, was arrested Thursday, according to Police Chief Glenn Cannon, on the embezzlement charge.

Cannon, who said that the exact amount of funds involved is not available, reported that bond for Teel was set at $10,000. A hearing will be scheduled in District Court here.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

Scattered showers and possible thunderstorms, mainly in the eastern sections, Sunday through Tuesday. Highs in the 80s and overnight lows in mid-70s, except 60s in the mountains.

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

CRYPTOQUIP 9-1

AB BMJ AULDUJNQ DUBDP
ULDBMLU ASLDNJNQ SAUNPL?

Yesterday's Cryptoquip — STICKY WICKET WILL WORRY SORRY CRICKETER.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: M equals U

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, SEPT. 2, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are able to organize your activities so they are more up-to-date and by so doing you have a greater amount of efficiency. Be careful not to become involved in confusing conditions.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Do something of a constructive nature to show appreciation to those who have done you favors in the past. Be clever.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take steps to improve your appearance and then make a fine impression on those you are attracted to. Show more devotion to mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Good day to make your home more functional, which can save energy and money in the future. Avoid a troublemaker.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A fine day to complete a project you started long ago. Be alert for unexpected opportunities coming your way.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find some way to improve any property you have and add to its value. Take no chances with your money at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Relieve yourself of a tension of long standing. Sidestep an opponent who could stand in your way of progress.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Attend to those tasks you have been leaving undone for a long time and gain the right benefits from them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get together with modern thinking individual and engage in recreations you mutually enjoy. Strive for increased happiness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Taking part in a civic affair today can add to your prestige. Come to the aid of a friend who needs your help.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study a new project that is appealing after completing an old one. Do something thoughtful for the one you love.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Check your surroundings and make plans for improvement. Make sure your activities are well organized.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study your relationships with associates and make any improvements where necessary. Take no risks with your health.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will do well in the engineering field, so be sure to direct the education along such lines. Teach your progeny to understand the true motives behind any undertaking.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Patty Hearst Not 'Brainwashed' Say The Harrises

SURPRISE PLEA BARGAIN MOVE — Courtroom artist Don Juhlin depicts Emily and Bill Harris, left, with defense attorney Leonard Weinglass, second

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) —

William and Emily Harris pleaded guilty to kidnapping Patricia Hearst, then made it clear they did it to insure their release from prison by 1983 and a "return to the streets."

"Within four and a half years, Bill and I will be back on the streets," Mrs. Harris said in an emotional statement to the court and spectators Thursday. "We will return to the streets as people committed to change. They cannot destroy us."

Holding hands, the Harrises entered surprise guilty pleas on four charges in return for dismissal on nine other counts.

If convicted by a jury, they faced the possibility of life in prison with no chance of parole. Harris said the aim of the prosecution had been "to bury us alive."

Mrs. Harris, 31, her face pale and puffy from three years behind bars, fought back tears as she spoke in the Alameda County Courthouse, not far from the federal correctional institution at Pleasanton where Miss Hearst is serving time for armed robbery.

Miss Hearst was unavailable for comment, but one of her attorneys, George Martinez, said she expressed "relief that the events finally have been resolved."

The Harrises had kept secret the surprise they planned for Thursday's court hearing — their admission for the first time they were among the Symbionese Liberation Army "soldiers" who burst into Miss Hearst's Berkeley apartment

Feb. 4, 1974, and dragged her screaming into the night.

"Today we take full responsibility for our participation in the first political kidnapping in this country — the kidnapping of Patricia Hearst," Harris said as he faced spectators in the hushed courtroom.

The slender, mustachioed Harris, 33, appeared to be fit. His voice was firm and controlled in contrast to his volatile courtroom outbursts earlier in the case.

He sat on the edge of a counsel table to face supporters whose applause exploded in the packed courtroom. Those who entered the courtroom were subjected to an intensive search.

"The plea does not mean we have feelings of remorse," Harris explained. "Instead, we feel pride in what these actions were able to accomplish."

He spoke just short of three years to the day that he and his wife were arrested jogging on a San Francisco street. Miss Hearst was captured the same day, Sept. 10, 1975.

At their plea hearing, the Harrises stuck to their contention that Miss Hearst, now 24, willingly converted to the ranks of her terrorist captors as "Tania" the urban guerrilla. "Patricia Hearst was kidnapped," Harris said. "She was not brainwashed, beaten, tortured or raped. She was not locked alone in a closet for days and weeks on end. She was not coerced into rejecting her family and remaining with the people who made up the SLA."

Harris added, "One of the most serious mistakes of the SLA was to let Patricia Hearst stay with us as an armed combatant."

Outside court, Harris' attorney Leonard Weinglass revealed further details of Miss Hearst's activities, according to the Harrises.

"Patricia Hearst was contained in a small area that functioned as a closet," the attorney said. "She ate with the group, she took a shower a couple of days a week. The door to the closet was kept open most of the time... She was not raped, she was not injured."

Weinglass stressed that the Harrises do not contend it was pleasant to be kidnapped, but they feel the facts have been distorted by Miss Hearst.

Mrs. Harris' attorney, Susan Jordan, said the Harrises' pleas would benefit Miss Hearst in her campaign to win early release from prison.

In San Francisco, Miss Hearst's father, San Francisco Examiner president Randolph Hearst, said he believed that had the Harrises confessed earlier, Miss Hearst would not have been convicted of bank robbery.

"Perhaps now that the Harrises have confessed to being part of the political terrorist group that kidnapped Patty, her long ordeal will finally end," Hearst said.

Catherine Hearst said she "hoped and prayed" the court would show "clemency and return her (Patricia) to us."

Attend Nat'l Convention

ECU
News Bureau

Three members of the East Carolina University chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon honor society in mathematics attended the organization's national convention this month at Brown University in Providence, R.I.

Representing ECU, were Prof. Robert Woodside, Susan McClintock Benton, and Marcia James, all of the Department of Mathematics.

Prof. Woodside, advisor for the ECU Pi Mu Epsilon chapter, has been serving as a national counselor for the fraternity and was instrumental in starting ECU's chapter in 1968.

Ms. Benton and Ms. James presented their respective research papers on "A Method of Finding the Complement of a Sequence," and "The Converse of Lagrange's Theorem and Finite Nilpotent Groups." They were guided respectively in their research by Dr. William Spickerman and Dr. Robert Hursey, faculty members of ECU mathematics department.

Both Ms. Benton and Ms. James are recent graduates of ECU's master's program in mathematics and now serve as lecturers in ECU's mathematics department.

These papers marked the 10th consecutive year that ECU students have presented papers at the national meeting of Pi Mu Epsilon.

Holiday Effect

The Sanitation Division of the Public Works Department will observe Monday, September 4, as a holiday. All trash and garbage pickup service will run one day late through Wednesday and will resume regular service on Thursday. Bulky trash will run one day late for the remainder of the week with all service returning to normal on the following Monday.

Citizens are also reminded the GREAT Greenville Area Transit System will observe Labor Day as a holiday also. There will be no bus service on Monday, but will resume regular service on Tuesday.

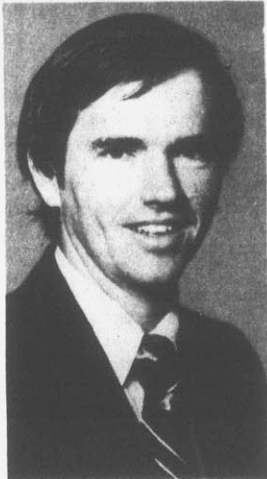

For any emergency street or storm sewer damage, contact the Police Department. They will in turn notify the Public Works official to make the necessary corrections for the safety of the public.

The Cemetery Division will also be closed for the holiday. However, the gates will be opened early morning and locked at sundown. Anyone needing information or having any questions concerning the cemeteries, should call their morticians who will in turn contact the proper Public Works official.

Instructor Appointed

ECU News Bureau

Dr. Lane E. Jennings has been appointed instructor in the Department of Family Practice at the East Carolina University School of Medicine.

Dr. LANE JENNINGS

He will be director of the department's undergraduate medical education program and serve as a faculty physician at the Eastern Carolina Family Practice Center, the primary care facility operated by the School of Medicine.

A native of Florida, Jennings received his undergraduate degree from Florida Atlantic University and his MD from the Univ. of Miami School of Medicine. He recently completed his residency training at the Duke-Watts Family Medicine Program in Durham.

No Official Visit, But Nixon To Visit Aussies

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard Nixon is making one thing perfectly clear to Australian officials: he's not going to let their rebuff of his request for an official visit stop him from going Down Under.

A Nixon spokesman said an Australian stop was planned on Nixon's forthcoming round-the-world trip because "scores of Australian citizens" have asked him to come.

But in Canberra, the Australian capital, senior government sources said today they hoped Nixon will reconsider.

The sources, who asked not to be identified, said Australia doesn't want to be placed in the position of possibly denying a tourist visa to the former leader of a close ally.

The sources said federal police have told the foreign affairs department there would be a real problem with security for Nixon even on a private visit.

Australian opposition leader

William Hayden, head of the Labor Party, said he would be "critical" of any Nixon visit.

Nixon's San Clemente office was told Wednesday by the Australian embassy in Washington that an official visit would be "inopportune" because of other official visits during September and October, although the only other visit mentioned is that of a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, Princess Alexandra.

An aide at the Nixon compound here, Col. Jack Brennan, said Thursday the former president "fully understands he will not be able to see Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser. President Nixon has had great respect for the Australian people since World War II when he served with Australian military units."

Brennan said Nixon has heard from Australian citizens in recent years asking him to visit, thus he will make the trip, which will begin in late September. The length has yet to be determined.

Nixon did not make an Australian visit during his 5½ years in the White House. He last visited there in 1965 as a private citizen. That stopover also came during a trip around the world.

Nixon's exact itinerary has not been announced, but the San Diego Union reported in today's editions that the trip will involve at least one stop in Southeast Asia before Australia.

The former president has told associates he would not visit countries where the United States is involved in delicate foreign policy negotiations.

Pat Nixon will not accompany her husband on the trip, Brennan said.

One reaction to a Nixon visit to appeared as a cartoon in the Melbourne Age newspaper, which showed the prime minister's secretary rejecting a gift of a tape recorder from Nixon. The barb was aimed at the White House recording system which produced the incriminating Watergate tapes, which led to Nixon's resignation on August 9, 1974.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Fraser's busy at the moment," says the secretary in the caption. "I don't think he wants it. He prefers to rely on his memory."

Senator Helms Faces Surgery

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., was admitted to Rex Hospital here with a back ailment Thursday and was to undergo surgery today.

Hospital spokesman Nancy Miller said today Helms was listed in satisfactory condition prior to undergoing surgery and spent a comfortable night.

Helms, a first-term Republican seeking re-election, canceled a day of campaigning Thursday in Cary and Mitchell and Yadkin counties after suffering back pains. A spokesman said Helms was suffering from a pinched nerve in his back.

Helms has been campaigning in North Carolina while the Senate is on its Labor Day recess. Helms campaign adviser Tom Ellis said Helms has suffered from the ailment for years, and it was aggravated by repeatedly getting in and out of cars and airplanes recently.

"He's down in the back like an old horse," said Ellis. Helms first suffered the pains Wednesday while attending a dinner in High Point. He saw a High Point physician, who advised Helms to take it easy.

Ellis said the pinched nerve bothered Helms in his 1972 campaign when Helms "would have to get out of the car and stretch on some of those long drives from Asheville to Raleigh."

"We've been campaigning for two years and this is the first time we've missed. We sure have been lucky," Ellis said.

Ellis said he did not know how long Helms would be unable to campaign, but added that no more campaign stops were scheduled until Sept. 8 at Morehead City.

"After today," Ellis said Thursday, "we were going to give him a little rest, and I guess he's going to have to take some now for sure."

Says Raleigh Police Used Wiretapping

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The FBI investigated allegations in late 1973 or early 1974 that the Raleigh Police Department had conducted illegal wiretap surveillance of suspected criminals and prominent citizens, the News and Observer of Raleigh reported Thursday.

The U.S. attorney decided there was insufficient evidence to seek indictments.

The newspaper quoted unidentified sources as saying the police used wiretapping as a routine investigative tool for two decades, until the early 1970s.

"I know it was illegal," said a veteran officer. "I did participate in it. But you do anything to catch a damn crook, as long as it's honest and fair, even if it's not legal."

"There were never any warrants," he said. "As far as I know, you wouldn't be able to get a court order to tell you to do it."

"I do know as a fact that, for 20-some years, the Raleigh Police Department used that method for investigations," said another veteran officer.

Police Chief Robert E. Goodwin said Thursday that he had no knowledge of wiretapping by the Raleigh police.

"I don't know anything about that," said Goodwin, who has been with the department since 1938 and chief since 1971.

When asked about the FBI probe, Goodwin said, "I suggest you ask the Justice Department

Hospitalized In Plane Crash

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — One man was hospitalized in fair condition and another in satisfactory condition at Charlotte Memorial Hospital after they were injured Thursday in the crash of their twin-engine plane.

The plane, which crashed on takeoff at Douglas Municipal Airport here, was destroyed. A hospital spokesman said Kenneth R. Potts, 19, of Advance is under observation and listed in satisfactory condition while Gary W. Barrier, 31, of Stanfield is listed in fair condition.

The plane, owned by Southeast Airmotive Corp. of Charlotte, apparently lost power in one engine when it attempted takeoff. A company spokesman said both men are experienced pilots.
