Plan Attack Stronghold

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Anastasio Somoza's troops are massing for an assault on the last major rebel stronghold, the northwest town of Esteli.

Observers said the national guard, Somoza's army, flew combat-toughened troops to Somoto, 40 miles north of Esteli, in a flanking movement Monday.

Informed sources said the guard probably would push into Esteli from the south and north while bottling the city up with ambushes on three rural roads that wind up into the surrounding hills.

This could prevent the rebels escaping as they did when the guard recaptured Masaya in the south and Leon and Chinandega in the northwest.

than those in any of the other cities, however, and observers believe the battle could be far bloodier than the previous assaults.

Barricades of paving stones and sandbags chest high and four feet thick stretch across many streets. One major road into the city is blocked by no fewer than 10 massive barricades, one after the other.

In addition, the rebels have cut trenches across some streets and set up sandbagged sniper posts on rooftops.

Their weapons are mostly pistols, shotguns and hunting rifles, but they also include a few automatic weapons. Guard helicopters and airplanes have been strafing Esteli, a city of 30,000 on the PanAmerican Highway, since late last week.

Reporters who tried to enter the city were stopped at least three times by guardsmen firing automatic weapons.

Pres. Sadat And Begin Meet With Members Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leaders of Egypt and Israel met today with members of Congress to answer whatever questions have emerged after the initial euphoria generated by the agreements reached at the Camp David summit.

Uppermost in the minds of members of Congress as they met separately with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin was whether the agreements reached by the two longtime adversaries can survive the crucial days ahead.

While Sadat met with members of the Senate, Begin conferred with House members. Then their schedules called for Sadat to go to the House and Begin to the Senate.

Meanwhile today, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance added a visit with Syrian President Hafez Assad to a trip he begins tonight in an effort to sell the Camp David accords to key Middle Eastern leaders.

The State Department said Vance will spend two nights in Amman, Jordan to confer with King Hussein, then fly to Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, to see King Khaled. After an overnight stop, he will spend five hours in Damascus with Assad, returning to Washington early Sunday.

In talking with Assad, Vance will try to draw the Syrian leader away from the "rejectionists" — the Arab countries opposing any reconciliation with Israel — and bring him into the Middle East negotiating process.

Assad has been sharply critical of Sadat's approach to Israel and had broken his alliance with Sadat after the Egyptian leader's trip to Jerusalem in November. Syria reached an interim agreement with Israel recovering some territory on the Golan Heights in 1975.

President Carter announced the Vance mission during a nationally broadcast speech to a joint session of Congress Monday night. He said Hussein and Khaled had agreed to receive Vance.

The support of both nations is considered vital to the outcome of the "framework for peace" that Sadat, Begin and Carter signed at the end of their 13-day summit.

The other immediate concern was the status of Israeli settlements in occupied Egyptian territory. The issue was unresolved at Camp David with Sadat insisting that the settlements be removed as a condition to any Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty. Begin refused to agree to such a step but finally said he would let the Israeli parliament decide.

Carter, in an extraordinary appeal to the Israeli parliament, said in his speech "it is my strong hope that the question of Israeli settlements on Egyptian territory will not be the final obstacle to peace." The Knesset is scheduled to vote within two weeks.

Carter said Vance's goal on his trip is "to secure their support for the realization of the new hopes and dreams of the people of the Middle East."

Although heated debate is expected, most Israeli leaders' initial reaction showed support for withdrawal of the Sinai settlements.

Begin appears to have an easier domestic task ahead of him than Sadat, who faces trouble selling the agreements to his own government. Indeed, Sadat's foreign minister and close friend, Ibrahim Kamel, resigned, reportedly because of a difference with Sadat over the accords.

Few observers of Congress could remember a joint session comparable to this one.

Members stood, applauded, whistled and shouted, "Bravo!" as Sadat and Begin entered the VIP gallery with first lady Rosalynn Carter.

One of the loudest bursts came when Begin and Sadat linked arms as they turned to leave after Carter's speech.

Greenville School Board Plans Workshop Series

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Workshops will be the order of the day for members of the Greenville Board of Education for the next several weeks. At the regular September meeting of the board on Monday night, a schedule of workshops was formed up to provide board members an opportunity to delve in-depth into a number of priority issues.

The workshops will involve, in most instances, school administrative department heads, counselors, principals, teachers and specialists in various fields of education. Each workshop will be held at the board room of the Central Office on West Fifth Street and will begin at 7:30 on the designated date.

Dates of workshops and subjects to be reviewed are:

— September 26 — Recruitment of personnel and application forms for employment.

— October 4 — Competency testing for 11th grade students and testing procedures for other grades.

— October 10 — Promotion, retention, and graduating documents applicable to students.

— October 24 — Other subjects not covered in the first three workshops scheduled.

Board members concurred it will take at least this number of workshops to adequately examine these subjects and to formulate directives, policies or procedures applicable to each subject.

Following protracted discussion on the question of adopting a list of substitute teachers, board members approved a motion that will authorize applicants for substitute teaching to be included on the list after an applicant has submitted an application and has had an interview, some form of contact or other means of verification to assure the validity of credentials to teach.

This action, it was pointed out, will not create a serious problem at this time in having sufficient substitute teachers to fill in for regular teachers, as a number of persons, many of them whose qualifications are already verified, are on the previously approved list of substitute teachers.

The discussion focused primarily on new applicants.

Maybe Only A Beginning

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Services Administrator Jay Solomon said today that scandals so far exposed in his agency "may represent only the tip of a gigantic iceberg," but he outlined 19 administrative changes he has made to clean it up.

"The fraud, the corruption, the thievery, the mismanagement and downright abuse of the public trust that have been exposed to this date are only the beginning," Solomon told a hearing of the Senate subcommittee on federal spending practices and open government.

"GSA is today sitting in exile like a wounded animal," he said. "It is surrounded by the vigilant media, the disgruntled, the corrupters and by turf-conscious bureaucrats from other agencies... (who) would like to put an end to the cost-effective concept of centralized administrative services envisioned by the Hoover Commission in creating GSA."

Solomon said he might be criticized for "being too tolerant during my early days," but that during the past 88 days he had implemented 19 major changes intended to correct the agency's problems.

Among these were establishment of a central procurement office for GSA, reinstatement of so-called whistleblowers who had been penalized for criticizing GSA, establishment of a central budget office, a central office to dispose of surplus stockpile property, a limitation on spending authority of low-level officials, and a series of changes designed to ensure sharper policing of work done for the government under contract.

A new "office of acquisition policy" to be operating by Oct. 1 and reporting directly to him will standardize and police the billion dollar-a-year purchases of the GSA, which Solomon said now "are decentralized among the services in the central office in Washington and in the 10 regions."

Vincent Alto, the special counsel hired by Solomon to head the internal investigation of the federal government's landlord and storekeeper agency, said Monday that no GSA administrator since the first one.

The motion, in effect a tightening up on approving applicants for substitute teaching, came about as the result of concern expressed by board member Miles Frost. "If this list (the inclusive list) is approved as submitted," Frost commented, "it continues a dangerous procedure. If the substitute positions are significant enough to get board approval, they certainly deserve evidence that the credentials presented are correct."

When another board member remarked that a verification procedure might be too copious and create undue administrative problems, Frost said "I'm asking for a minimum, an interview or check of credentials which we don't have at this time."

Another substitute list, that of students teachers from East Carolina University who will be working in the city schools within a few weeks, was approved. Previously, the board approved a policy which limits the use of student teachers to no more than three consecutive days of teaching, a total of ten days during their student teaching period, and in each instance be subject to the approval of the teacher for whom they work, and the student's ECU supervisor.

The STAR reading skills and assessment program, a comprehensive program in two parts — one covering the pre-school age through grade three; the other grades four through seven, was detailed to the board by Charles Ross, Director of Instruction and Director of Elementary Education for the city school system.

Ross outlined the composition of the program which includes work skills, phonics, alphabet, structure, context

Gov. Hunt To Attend Demo Rally Oct. 10

Pitt County Democrats will host Gov. Jim Hunt, Congressman Walter B. Jones and Insurance Commissioner John Ingram and other area Democrats at a rally in Greenville Oct. 10, according to Betty Speir, chairperson of the Democratic Executive Committee.

Approximately 50 members of the committee met last night to plan the rally and other fall campaign events. Campaign literature and tickets to the rally were distributed to precinct chairpersons at a dinner meeting held at Parkers Barbeque on Memorial Drive.

Pitt Countians Marvin Speight, chairman of the State ABC Board, and Charles McLawhorn, ASC Board member, both Hunt appointees, addressed the group briefly.

The area rally will be held at the Greenville Moose Lodge. Democrats from the counties of Beaufort, Hyde, Carteret, Lenoir, Craven, Martin and Greene are expected to attend.

In other business, the committee adopted resolutions honoring the late John Clark and the late Henry Harrell both former Pitt County Democratic chairmen.

Kathryn Lewis read a telegram sent on behalf of the committee to Pres. Carter commending his leadership at the Begin-Sadat Summit at Camp David.

Tickets for the October rally are available from Mrs. Speir or from any of the Pitt County precinct chairpersons.

Breitman Takes Pitt UF Role

Paul Breitman, who chaired the East Carolina University Division of last year's United Way campaign, has agreed to serve in the same capacity for the upcoming drive, according to overall campaign chairman Jerry Fulford.

"Paul had a very successful campaign last year at East Carolina," Fulford pointed out, "and we are certainly fortunate to have him as chairman of the campus division again this year."

Breitman, who has been employed at East Carolina University for eight years, is currently associate director/business manager of Mendenhall Student Center.

A 1966 graduate of East Mecklenburg High School in Charlotte, he received his B.S. degree in business administration from ECU in 1970 and earned his Master of Arts degree in education here in 1974.

While at ECU, he served as vice president of his junior and senior classes and was on the Men's Honor Council and Judicial Review Board.

Breitman is a member of the Greenville Jaycees and vice president of the Cherry Oaks Civic Association. He was nominated in 1972 and 1975 for the "Outstanding Young Men of America Award."

He is serving on the budget screening sub-committee of the United Way this year.

Earthquake Casualty Toll Still Rising

EARTHQUAKE AFTERMATH—The body of one of an estimated 15,000 dead and injured lies in the rubble of Tabas Iran, Monday as survivors attempt to salvage what they can from villages in northeastern Iran. (AP Laserphoto)

By RICHARD TOMKINS
Associated Press Writer
TABAS, Iran (AP) — The casualty toll from the giant earthquake that hit Iran three nights ago is expected to reach 16,000 dead and injured, the Red Cross said today.

Officials put the quake's epicenter at the village of Korit, 15 miles from Tabas, and said 3,500 of its 4,000 inhabitants were either dead or injured.

In Tehran, a C-130 transport landing to pick up earthquake relief supplies crashed, killing four of its occupants and seriously injuring four others, authorities said.

Water tank trucks moved through the hardest hit villages near Tabas to alleviate an acute water shortage. The main water lines in the area were either completely demolished or badly damaged.

About 5,000 earthquake dead in Tabas have been buried, some in mass graves, and a relief official said, "We've stopped counting the dead. We find it easier to count the living."

The cloth-wrapped bodies stretched out in rows amid the ruins of ancient Tabas, where two-thirds of its 13,000 residents were killed or injured.

The bodies, some frozen in grotesque postures of sudden death, were lined up under palm trees, wrapped in white sheets or colorful handwoven cloth, while the gravediggers worked, unable to keep ahead of the steady stream of dead.

A Moslem clergyman prayed over the wrapped corpses.

Friends and relatives identified the dead as workers pulled the bodies from the rubble. The living slapped and struck themselves in the ritual of grief.

"Where is the army? Why doesn't someone help me?" an old man said as he wandered through the ruins in the city square searching for bodies of his family. Only one of the 10 had been found, he said.

Some 10,000 of Tabas' 13,000 population were estimated killed by the quake. Thousands more were believed buried in surrounding villages, and rescue workers feared the toll would pass 1,000.

The quake, the world's strongest so far this year, hit

Saturday evening, crumbling minarets, mosques and mud-brick houses in this oasis city 400 miles southeast of Tehran. Tabas looked like a flattened sand castle.

It demolished 40 villages in northeast Iran, badly damaged 60 others and shook two-thirds of the rest of the country as well, including the capital. Aftershocks continue, fueling the fears of the survivors.

"I was sitting in front of my house by the pond," said a man named Hassan. "It was dark. Then all of a sudden I felt the ground and there was a great roar and screams."

Hassan's family escaped injury, too, and they sat on the sidewalk, eating watermelon and waiting for the army to help them recover their valuables from the pile of mud and brick they once called home.

The Iranian army sent 700 soldiers, four medical teams and numerous rescue workers to help in relief operations. They set up tents for about 1,000 survivors along Tabas' dirt airstrip.

Air force C-130 Hercules transports were bringing in blankets, food, water and medical supplies.

Empress Farah, wife of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, toured the Tabas area for two hours in an army jeep, stopping occasionally to console survivors, then flew back to Tehran.

The quake Saturday registered 7.7 on the Richter scale. A 6.5 quake hit the same area 10 years ago, killing 12,000 persons. The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs, and a quake with a reading of 7 is classed as a "major" earthquake while a reading of 8 means a "great" quake.

Seepage Up To Beaufort

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — An official of the state Division of Environmental Management said Monday that Beaufort County will be required to control seepage from an abandoned landfill that is polluting Tranters Creek.

A.C. Turnage Jr., the division's regional supervisor, said county officials have been notified that the seepage is a violation of water-quality standards.

Turnage said the pollutant is an organic material that takes oxygen from the creek but apparently does not contain toxic matter that could be dangerous to humans.

The county will be required to obtain a state permit outlining conditions for cleaning up the pollution, Turnage said. He said the state could fine the county if steps are not taken to stop the seepage.

The maximum penalty for a violation is $5,000 a day.

State officials began a probe in the Whartons Station area west of Washington Aug. 15 after a reddish-brown sludge was reported in Tranters Creek.

The City of Washington stopped getting water from one intake facility on the creek and dumped 300,000 gallons of stored water. City officials said they have used wells and alternated pumping above and below the pollutant.

Area residents have attributed fish kills in the creek, pollution in area ponds and dying trees to the sludge.

Peanut Growers Facing Loss Due Lack Of Rain

AHOSKIE, N.C. (AP) — Some northeastern North Carolina peanut farmers will have to start digging next week if they don't get rain.

The growers face the prospect of a significant loss in yield, quality and profit due to the lack of a general rainfall in recent weeks.

Without rain, some growers expect to begin salvage digging operations next week even though they still hope they can put off the harvest until October.

The early harvest could mean the loss of yields of 100 to 300 pounds an acre, a reduction in quality which would further reduce profits.

During an ordinary growing season, farmers could expect to begin the harvest next week without much loss. But this year's peanut planting was delayed several weeks because of an extended cold, wet spell last spring.

"I expect we will dig a lot of premature peanuts," said Zackie Harrell, Gates County agriculture extension agent.

"That's going to hurt us on quality, yield and in the pocketbook," said Harrell. "We're not expecting a normal crop."

He said that it probably will be the middle of October before most of the peanuts mature, but that period is also running into the time of the first frost, which could bring freeze damage.

There is no prospect for rain over the northeastern coastal area through the weekend, with the possible exception of scattered thundershowers.

What the area needs, according to Bill Rogister, Hertford County extension agent, is a slow, ground-soaking rain of about 1½ inches for the extra growing days the crop needs to mature.

Without the rain, the peanut vine will dry up and its leaves will fall off while the underground parts shrivel.

After the late spring planting, peanuts benefited from the same nearly ideal growing conditions as tobacco. But the fluecured crop matured before the dry spell set in and is bringing record prices in warehouse auctions.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service was forecasting a peanut crop of 465 million pounds for North Carolina as of Sept. 1.

But a week later, at the annual Peanut Field Day in Bertie County, growers were already complaining of the lack of rain and the prospects of crop damage if the dry spell continued much longer.

Take No Chances With Reputation

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl, 16, and I am dating boys who have cars. Sometimes we'll come home from a movie or somewhere and we'll sit in his car for a while. We sit right in front of my house, Abby. If we wanted to make out, we could easily go park on a lonely road.

I'm not saying I've never exchanged a kiss or two with a guy in his car, but it's never a big make-out session. We talk mostly.

I don't do anything in the car I wouldn't do in the house, but my mother says she doesn't want me sitting out there—even talking. She says the neighbors are getting their eyes full, and I'm ruining my reputation. I couldn't care less what the neighbors say, as my conscience is clear. I would like your opinion.

NOTHING TO HIDE

DEAR NOTHING: As long as you don't do anything in the car that you wouldn't do in the house, do it in the house. A girl has only one reputation, so take care that yours is as clear as your conscience.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young widow. (Under 30.) My husband died less than a year ago in a tragic accident, and I'm still not over it.

I've always been very close to my in-laws, and since my husband's death I have had dinner at their place once a week.

Now my problem: Three weeks ago, when I went to my in-law's home for dinner, my mother-in-law wasn't home yet, but my father-in-law was. Well, he made improper advances toward me. At first I thought he was just being affectionate in a fatherly way, but he started holding me tight and kissing me. I realized that he had something else in mind. I was totally stunned when he started to unbutton my blouse! I freed myself, ran to my car and drove home.

Since that night I haven't been back there. My mother-in-law keeps asking me when I'm coming, but I don't want to face my father-in-law again. What do I tell my mother-in-law? Just thinking about that incident turns my stomach. Help me, please.

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: Go back to your in-laws and try to resume your former good relationship. At the very first opportunity tell your father-in-law privately that if he ever makes another pass at you, you will tell his wife. I doubt if you'll have any trouble with him after that.

Grandma Shares Love Of Nature

By H. THOMAS KAIB
Cleveland
Plain Dealer

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Grandma Tellmie won her grandma merit badge when she told 28 fourth graders:

"Be careful when you pass these around, but remember that all these eggs and nests are replaceable, so if you break anything, don't go into a tizzy."

Grandma Tellmie is Evelyn Long, 58, a five-time true-life grandmother who lives on 10 acres she has turned into a wildlife preserve and to which she invites any and all children.

And when they get to what she calls "Thicket Acres," she teaches them about nature, tells them not to worry about breaking things, serves them orange juice and homemade cookies and tells them about the ginger root they're eating in the cookies.

"It started about five years ago," Mrs. Long said of opening her acres and home to children. Her own three children were grown and gone and, "well, there was a vacant place" in her heart.

"I believe that any child taught to understand and appreciate nature could not possibly be an atheist," she said. "They know there has to be a higher power."

"And if they understand nature, you won't have any trouble getting them to accept the concept of conservation."

She has no special training in nature studies. Her father managed a store in Marion. She and her husband, Eugene, ran one here until they sold it a few years ago. Her husband is now a dry-cleaning route salesman and she spends her spare time as chairman of the Wyandot County Cancer Society.

She also writes a column three times a week called "Grandma Tellmie" and it runs in six area newspapers. In it she answers questions about nature that are asked by children.

She said she chose the "Grandma Tellmie" name because that's how her grandchildren used to start every sentence they said to her.

Her love of nature developed as a child, when she lived in Marion and "I couldn't wait to get out in the country and spend the summers with my grandmother."

"She taught me about nature and every time I asked where something was, she said 'we'd find it out in the thicket.'"

"That's why I named our place Thicket Acres."

TEACHING TIME—Evelyn Long, 58, a real grandmother, plays Grandma Tellmie to children in Upper Sandusky, Ohio, inviting them to the area she has turned into a wildlife preserve and teaching them about nature.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

It's probably a trade secret, but I am intrigued by waiters and waitresses who instinctively know to whom to give the check.

A friend of mine who waited tables this summer said he's no expert, but he followed certain guidelines.

The man who summons the wine list is fingered as the man in charge and gets the check.

The man who says in a loud voice, "I think you'll like this place. I'd personally recommend the barbecued ribs," sets himself up as an authority check-figure.

The man who sees the check coming and still doesn't bolt to go to the restroom or to make a phone call gets the bad news.

The man—even if he just stopped by a table full of women to say hello—gets the check.

This last bit of information fascinated me. With all the freedom that has been accorded women they still feel more comfortable with "separate checks."

Every woman at one time or another has been to one of those famous luncheons where the waiters, ignoring pleas to bill individually, puts it all on one check. He places it in the middle of the table like a hand grenade, then stands back so that each may quickly toss it back and forth from one another with cries of, "I had the iced tea and the apple brown betty. Do they still charge for extra whipped cream?"

"How much is the pot of tea and the meringue sandwich?"

"I'll get the parking if someone gets the tip."

"I only have a ten. You owe me $3.26."

"I'm paying for Ruth's lunch. She drove. Take back Ruth's money."

"I'm not leaving a big tip. When I asked where the women's room was, he just grunted."

Men generally regard all this as tacky. My husband took me to lunch the other day and when the check came, I instinctively reached for it—an impulse from raising three teenagers. "What do you think you're doing?" he shouted. "As long as you are eating with me, I assume the responsibility for the check. Frankly, I still find it a blow to my ego when a woman picks up the tab. Just sit there and be feminine and thank me for being so generous and accommodating. By the way, you got two bucks for the tip?"

Now, that's tacky.

Slide Presentation Given At Club Meet

The Greenville Garden Club held its fall luncheon Friday at the First Christian Church.

"Native Plants Suitable for Home Plantings" was the topic of a slide presentation presented by Mrs. Marshall Helms. Bayberry, mountain laurel, Carolina jasmine, dogwood, wild azalea, columbine, mulberry, lady slipper, wild ginger and dwarf iris were a few of the recommended plants.

She reminded members a flower doesn't have to be pretty because its real function is to produce seeds.

Mrs. J. R. Carrington displayed wild flower plants supplied by club members for the exhibit.

Mrs. J. C. Galloway, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. H. C. Klingenschnitt announced the garden therapy program would again assist the classes of Mrs. Nancy Walters at Aycock Junior High School. The club will give a bird bath to the school to be placed in a court area.

Mrs. Helms announced plans for a club sponsored booth at the Pitt County Fair. It will be a display of wild flowers.

Mrs. Thelma Paramore and Dr. Helms were guests and Mrs. Phoebe Owens were welcomed as a new member.

Backing Up Tobacco Growers

A tobacco information committee, recently formed in Congress, will go to bat for the tobacco farmers of the nation.

N. C. Rep. Walter B. Jones said the committee will lobby other members of Congress in support of government tobacco farm programs.

On the committee are representatives from districts that grow tobacco. The group's main interest will be the farm program rather than the health issue involving tobacco.

"We've found that many congressmen can be persuaded to vote for the tobacco farm program, once we've explained the facts to them," the first district congressman said. "So preserving the existing system is our prime contingent."

The committee will be able to present the tobacco case more effectively in Congress, Jones indicated. Similar committees have been formed for textiles, ports, blue collar workers and women, he said.

There is an obvious failure to understand the plight of the tobacco farmer, and this is particularly a problem true among congressmen from non-tobacco producing areas.

They need to understand that how they feel about cigarette smoking, and the problems of the tobacco grower are entirely two different things. This tobacco program information committee can be a great help in Congress.

ECU Growth Still Linked To Housing

ECU Chancellor Thomas Brewer has cited the shortage of housing for students as a factor in curtailing growth at the institution.

Even though the days of large enrollment growth are over for all universities, East Carolina's growth still depends on housing being available for prospective students to come here.

It is possible that another dormitory might be requested, something almost unheard of in higher education today.

It is an interesting situation at a time when enrollment at many higher education institutions' enrollments are declining.

Seeking Better Teachers

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Full scale reform of how teachers are trained, certified, and retained in their jobs is the ultimate goal of a program now being considered by state officials in both the university system and the Department of Public Instruction.

Candidly confessing past failures and without excuse-making, a sparsely-worded joint resolution on "Quality Assurance for Professional Personnel" currently under study is aimed at a new approach.

In the past it has been popular among educators to shroud failures in educational jargon, and particularly to blame changed social conditions — among teachers and among pupils — for much of the current dilemma in the schools.

The joint resolution now before the State Board of Education and the Board of Governors of the University System makes no such pretenses:

Cornerstone
"The cornerstone of the instructional program delivery system is the competence of the professional personnel charged with the responsibility of operating our schools," the resolution reads.

Further, "the present procedures of evaluation of institutional programs (teacher training) and the product (teachers) of approved programs are inadequate," that statement concludes bluntly.

The factors which lie behind this effort at reform are numerous and complex, among them rejection and challenges to the National Teachers' Exam, findings that show graduates from predominantly black teacher-training schools performing far below norms, teacher tenure and other bids for professional status, public alarm over declining student performance, teacher oversupply, and last fall's study by the University of North Carolina which pointed up quality gaps in teacher preparation, lack of coordination between colleges and the public schools, and loss of public confidence in the schools.

That review, among other suggestions, called for ending 46 teacher-training programs and further review of 109 others.

So complex and volatile are the issues that at least three different study commissions have been probing various parts of the puzzle.

The joint resolution now under study, however, cuts through much of that proliferating study and crossed lines of communication to state that, if adopted, the two chief educational policy boards in the state support "a systematic, continuous and extended approach to quality assurance in the initial programs of preparation and continuing conditions of service for professional personnel."

Tests
The outline of a program is contained in the resolution, and it is pointed out that adoption by both boards would establish the framework.

"The primary focus would be better professional personnel in all of our schools," says J. Arthur Taylor, director of the division of teacher education standards and certification, who produced the resolution along with Donald Steadman of the university system.

The objective, Taylor explained, is to weed out earlier those not suited to teaching, to better train candidates, to devise tests as part of the certification procedure, and to put into practice continuing evaluation and assessment of performance by educators.

Pre-teacher screening would examine basic skills which teachers ought to have, including English, literature, fine arts, social studies, math and science. This procedure would be a prerequisite for admission to teacher training.

Public Service Strikes

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

SEATTLE, WASH.—The papers out here last week were filled with news of teacher strikes. Teachers were picketing in Seattle, Everett and Tacoma. Half a dozen other school districts were threatened with walkouts. Tempers seemed to be rising everywhere, and no solutions were in sight.

No solutions to the problems of public employee unionism are in sight anywhere else. By one count a few days ago, teacher strikes have occurred this month in 15 states, affecting a million pupils. These walkouts come on the heels of the much publicized strike of police and firemen in Memphis. Philadelphia went through its own agony in July.

Here and there the details differ. Cleveland's police hit the bricks over work rules laid down by the mayor. In a few of the teachers strikes—very few—walkouts have been triggered by genuine disputes over academic issues. For the most part, the gut question is money. Public employees want it; school boards and councils refuse to dish it out.

The conflict will not diminish. It can only get worse. Of the nearly 10 million public employees, half already are unionized. The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees has become the largest union in the AFL-CIO. Half the states permit collective bargaining between local governments and public employee unions. The civil service reform bill now headed toward the White House significantly broadens the rights and privileges of union workers in the federal service.

Almost without knowing it, we have crept up on the situation that prevails so widely in Europe, by which public servants become public masters. In virtually every law that has been passed in this field, the state and localities have forbidden strikes. The pending federal bill contains the same portentous provision. But these anti-strike clauses are stage weapons, fashioned of papier-mache, and the unions know it. The injunctions of judges are as impotent as the statutes.

The melancholy truth is that no jurisdiction yet has found an answer to the problem. This is probably because we persist in seeking an answer to strikes in the public sector as if we were seeking an answer to strikes in the private sector, and we will never find it this way. Public employment and private employment are fundamentally different. They have only the most superficial similarities. Until that distinction is fully grasped, no answer will ever be found.

Last winter's strike in the coal mines points up the night-and-day difference. Coal consumers were able to build up stockpiles in advance of the walkout. In many cases, consumers could seek alternate fuels. The mind owners could make their own final decisions on a wage increase and test their judgment against the market. The public interest was affected, of course, by the prolonged strike, but the public health, safety and welfare were never put in jeopardy.

None of these factors exists in public unionism. The

Other Editors Say A New Gimmick
(The Henderson Dispatch)

Preliminary information on the Postal Service's proposal to add four digits to the Zip Code looks like a new gimmick patrons will be expected to master. It is claimed the change will reduce costs, but with the meagre knowledge available it appears to be quite complex.

It is not a simple matter to keep track of the Zip numbers which apply to destination offices, and four more numbers will be something else to be wrestled with. It is also stated that the new venture will speed the mails, and if it does, that will be worth the extra trouble.

But how can mailers memorize the additions? Unless there are records to refer to, it is impossible to fish out existing Zip codes. Give management credit, however, for trying to simplify the handling of the mails.

There is also the problem of reconciling the postal unions to reducing the number of workers which it is said will be possible under the new system. It might not be featherbedding, according to the term, but what will become of workers who will not be needed after the new digits are added? If they are only transferred to other duties, there will not be much reduction in personnel.

First information is that two to three years will be required to implement the new plan entirely. If it is to be imposed, however, where the beginning will be made, and just when, is not indicated.

On its face, the proposed new gimmick has the appearance of being a further complex process for users of the mails to learn. Whether it will be the near miracle promised must await its total application. The Service grabs at many straws in moving the mails and few of them were ever necessary with the old system under complete government operation.

Slippery Role In Politics

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — The slippery path into national politics for Hollywood glamor boys was embarrassingly revealed when Robert Redford stumbled trying to help Maine's Democratic Sen. William Hathaway, but the last act has just come to light: a personal rebuke of Redford by the party chairman.

Author of a scathing letter to Redford was Harold Pachios, former White House aide to Lyndon Johnson and now Maine's Democratic state chairman. Calling Redford a "peripatetic talk show performer," Pachios accused him of making "superficial, patronizing statements" after he suddenly cancelled a fundraising speech for Hathaway early this year.

Redford cancelled his appearance in Portland, arranged by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, when he learned that Hathaway favored a power-dam project in Maine opposed by environmentalists. Redford is a most vocal environmentalist.

Redford's last-minute cancellation of his fundraising mission cost Hathaway a probable $20,000 to $25,000 and set off a storm of charges and countercharges against Redford for not having checked out Hathaway's environmentalist views before offering to come to Maine. That charge-and-countercharge included a letter Redford wrote to Pachios — copies to major Maine newspapers — accusing him of "irresponsible" conduct that "I thought went out with the last administration."

Pachios' reply was private and confidential: "The dramatic last-minute cancellation of your appearance in behalf of Sen. Hathaway may have been motivated by a desire to undermine his campaign or it may be that you simply caved in under a little pressure... You may be reasonably certain that your recent 'bush' performance is not likely to diminish the box office of your future (film) performances. We enjoy your films. A knowledgeable lecturer you are not."

In other words, to Pachios and the Democrats of Maine, Hollywood stars should stay in Hollywood and stop playing big shots in big-time politics.

Rep. Philip Crane of Ill.

inois, the first announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, has been shaken up on his own political base: the American Conservative Union (ACU).

At a secret meeting of the ACU board in the Rayburn House Office Building which continued into early morning hours, there was a strong consensus for Crane to resign as ACU chairman because of his presidential candidacy. Board members grumbled that ACU staffers have been drawn into the Crane campaign. Only Rep. Steve Symms of Idaho strongly supported Crane continuing as ACU head.

Crane backers complain that the trouble was stirred by crafty campaign operative David Keene, a key aide of Ronald Reagan and ACU board member. But Rep. Bob Bauman of Maryland, neutral in the Reagan-Crane contest for the nomination, insisted that the ACU be in for deep trouble with the Federal Election Commission (FEC) if Crane remains in charge.

40 Years Ago Today

September 19, 1938
Chief of Police George Clark and officer L. D. Page today were investigating a series of thefts at the Ormond Wholesale Company, three of which have occurred on three past consecutive Saturday nights.

There are six suspects at present, according to Page, being held for investigation of the robberies. The suspects are being questioned and other arrests may be made.

Officers declined to estimate the value of the stolen merchandise because the value has not yet been determined by police nor by proprietors of the firm. Part of the loot, which included tobacco goods, candies, chewing gum and other merchandise, has been recovered.

Buying Insulation Can Be Tricky

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The start of winter is still several months away, but it's none too soon to start thinking about insulating your home against the cold.

High fuel bills and bitter temperatures prompted an estimated six million Americans to add insulation to their homes in 1977 alone.

A new government standard is designed to make at least one type of insulation safer, but buying still can be tricky. Government officials at an energy conservation conference held in Washington, D.C., earlier this year warned that consumers can easily be confused by conflicting claims of potentially large savings.

Consumers "have to be very concerned and take precautions to avoid fraud," said Samuel A. Simon of the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Consumer Protection.

Simon offered five guidelines for shoppers. They are:

- Don't buy from door-to-door salesmen.
- Get at least three estimates of how much the job will cost.
- Check prior customers to see if they are satisfied.
- Find out if the contractor is bonded or licensed.
- Ask the Better Business Bureau about the firm's complaint record.

Fiberglass is the most common insulation used. It is a mineral fiber, made from silica and spun like cotton candy. It is sold loose, in bags, in batts or blankets. Fiberglass itself is naturally fire resistant, but paper vapor barriers attached to batts may be flammable. Read labels carefully.

Cellulose insulation, with the second biggest share of the market, is usually made of ground or shredded paper, treated with chemicals to make it resistant to fire and vermin. If not treated properly, cellulose burns readily. All such insulation manufactured after Sept. 7 must meet federal standards. Look for a label reading: "Attention: This material meets the applicable minimum federal flammability standard. This standard is based upon laboratory tests only which do not represent actual conditions which may occur in the home."

Plastic insulation includes should be installed only

KEEP ON THE TRELLIS
Vines planted at the foot of a trellis in the early spring and then left to themselves will climb in all directions. They fasten themselves to the corners of houses, to rain pipes, to windowsills. To keep the vines from wandering they must be continually trimmed and attached to the trellis.

A disposition of human life is to wander like the vine and seek adventure in new and sometimes forbidden areas. There is a fascination about new things and things denied.

A businessman may wander from the course of strict honesty; a husband or wife may wander in search of a new partner. Many more examples might be cited.

But there is a moral trellis running through the universe, and it is very definite in its limitations. Those who wander from it will find themselves clipped and pruned, and in a very painful manner.

form), polyurethane (used in board form or "foamed" in place between studs in the walls) and urea formaldehyde (also "foamed" in place). These materials should be installed only under the guidance of an experienced contractor since there can be problems with odor, shrinkage and flammability. Check local building codes before you buy to make sure plastic insulation is allowed.

The most important thing to consider when selecting insulation is the "R" value which provides a guide to the material's ability to reduce the flow of heat from one area to another. Do NOT compare thickness alone. Two kinds of insulation may have the same thickness, but the one with the higher "R" value will perform better.

Rig's Accident Electrocutes 2

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Despite the efforts of friends to save them, two Cumberland County men were electrocuted Monday when a well-digging rig they were operating broke and fell across a power line.

A third man, Milton Simmons, 20, was working on the well near U.S. 301 south of here, but escaped injury. Milton Simmons identified the victims as Robert Simmons, his cousin, and Wilbert Smith, both men in their 50s.

Dwayne McKoy, resident of the trailer where the well was being dug, said he was watching the well-diggers at work and saw the accident happen.

"They were taking the pipe up," he said, "but it got hung up in the tree above them and broke. The broken section fell across the wires near the road."

McKoy said that when the older Simmons screamed, McKoy's mother, Marie Brinson, who lives with him, rushed over and knocked a metal measuring tape from the fallen man's hands. But it was too late.

There was no way they could get to Smith, who was still in contact with the pipe in the hole, McKoy said.

Milton Simmons was confused about the details.

"We were pulling the pipe up when it happened," he said. "I must've just been letting go, or something, cause I felt it shake me hard. I can't remember. I just got away from it, that's all I know."

He said he and the other two were "part-time" well diggers. Smith, who worked as a cook at Fort Bragg, usually arranged the jobs and the others helped out, Simmons said. They had been working on the well where the accident occurred, "off and on since Labor Day," he said.

Although the accident occurred shortly before 7 p.m., rescuers were unable to touch the bodies until power surging through the lines was cut off about 8 p.m. by Carolina Power and Light Co.

services of police and firemen can't be stockpiled. The people have no alternatives available to them. School boards and city councils in no sense owners or proprietors or investors. Here in the state of Washington, their bargaining room is limited by a state law restricting voter-approved levies. There is no way a school board can raise the price of the product it sells, in order to meet the cost of an increase in wages.

And one of the troublesome problems is that in these inflationary times, wage increases often are justified. Yes, many public employees are overpaid; inexperienced postal worker, beginning teachers, union garbage collectors—their salaries and benefits frequently are far out of line. But what of the Tacoma school teacher with 15 or 20 years' experience who is offered a pay increase of 2.57 percent? The Tacoma teachers have been without a contract since June. They have equity on their side.

But as a general proposition, the taxpayers, have a sound case also. They have witnessed a growth in state and local employment outstripping the expansion in federal agencies. They look at their public schools and find them wanting. Eleven states will vote in November on tax limitation proposals. The people have had it. The impasse cries out for cool, imaginative thinking on both sides, but we have seen little of this so far.

White House aides believe President Carter's political rehabilitation will not really be complete until he regains full physical stature in newspaper cartoons.

Carter aides have noted with dismay the shrinking of the president in the cartoons as charges of incompetency mounted—just as in the 1950s the cartoon-Richard Nixon's beard grew heavier and darker as controversy enveloped him. Syndicated cartoonist Pat Oliphant has been the pacesetter in depicting a dwarfish Carter.

Despite what they perceive as progress toward a less errorprone presidency, the president's men so far have looked in vain for growth in Oliphant's Carter.

openly supported Sadat's direct dealings with Israel. But neither have they opposed him, and in the context of Arab politics that means they have given him a free hand so far.

Saudi Arabia has given Egypt billions of dollars since the 1973 October war. Since it also bankrolls Syria heavily, it often plays the role of arbiter in inter-

Arab disputes.

Its particular concern is East Jerusalem, site of the third holiest shrine in Islam after Mecca and Medina. Jordan captured it in the 1948 war and Israel annexed it after the 1967 war.

Sadat said he and President Carter were in full agreement on the status of the holy city, and the Egyptian media has given the impression that Carter will be personally involved in the final disposal of the Arab part of the city. However, Israelis of all political parties are agreed they will never relinquish it.

WASHINGTON (AP) — California and Nevada officials have tentatively agreed to construction of gambling casinos along Lake Tahoe, the largest high-mountain lake in North America.

Charles Warren, chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, said Monday the construction ban is designed to "assure the preservation and enhancement of Lake Tahoe as one of the world's great natural assets."

Located on the California-Nevada border, Lake Tahoe is nestled in the Sierra Nevada mountains.

4 ♥ Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Ten of ♠.

Don't waste cards unnecessarily. Even seemingly useless high cards can serve an important function.

North-South used a modern weapon to reach their best spot. South's first-round double was "negative," i.e., for takeout, not for penalties. After North showed his power by jumping to two no trump, South finally had the opportunity to introduce his five-card suit—he was not strong enough to bid that suit freely at the two level. North raised to game.

West led the ten of spades, covered by dummy's king and won by the ace. East found the killing defense—at trick two he shifted to the queen of clubs. Declarer won in dummy and played ace of hearts and another, fetching the jack, queen and king.

East underled his spades, and West won the nine. He was quick to realize what his partner wanted, so he returned a club and East ruffed for down one.

Declarer was unfortunate to run up against a combination of a singleton club and deadly defense. Nevertheless, he had no one but himself to blame for going down in his contract.

As happens so often, declarer's error occurred at trick one. Considering the auction and the lead, there was no way that the king of spades could win the trick. Therefore, there was no reason to squander that card.

Observe the difference if declarer simply plays low from dummy at the first trick. The defense is helpless. Even if West is brilliant enough to shift to a club at trick two, East will be unable to get his partner back on lead after winning the king of hearts to obtain his club ruff. Declarer will lose only two spade tricks and the king of hearts.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal bridge format. Do they know something you don't? Charles Goren's "Four-Deal Bridge" will teach you the strategies and tactics of this fast-paced action game that provides the cure for unending rubbers. ## Coming Retirement Is Discussed By Board

The Pitt County Board of Education met in special session Thursday to discuss the retirement of Assistant Superintendent Jack Edwards, effective Sept. 30. The board approved the recommendation of Superintendent Ott Alford that Mrs. Kathryn Lewis, Director of Pupil Personnel, be named Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum and Pupil Personnel Services.

The board also discussed the role of supervisors in the evaluation of teachers, as well as the possibility of an additional supervisory position to aid the present three supervisors.

Although no vote was taken, the board felt that supervisors should continue in their evaluation of personnel. Also, another supervisor would have to be employed if each supervisor were to visit four elementary schools and one high school.

Funds for hiring an additional supervisor would come from county money, with possible cost for 1979-80 to be assumed by the State Department.

The board adjourned to meet in regular session Oct. 3, 2 p.m.

City Counts 3 Accidents

No charges were reported by police who set damage to the truck operated by Ball at $1,000 and estimated damage to the Langley car at $1,800.

Cars driven by Melinda Hague Behr of 951 Shady Lane and David Paul Snell of Pfafftown, collided about 8:55 a.m. according to investigators, causing an estimated $10 damage to the Behr car and $350 damage to the Snell vehicle.

A 12:15 p.m. collision at the intersection of Fifth and Jarvis Streets involved cars operated by Eugene Nathaniel Malone of Ayden and Virginia Lynn Miller of New Bern.

Damage from the mishap was estimated at $250 to the Malone car and $15 to the Miller vehicle, police reported.

Arrest For Pot Possession

Greenville Police last night arrested Edwards Dorah Brawley, 18 of 385 Jones Dorm on charges of felony possession of marijuana after a search of his room and car yielded six ounces of marijuana and $530 in cash.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Brawley's car was confiscated and Brawley placed under a $750 bond pending hearing of the case in court.

The marijuana, the chief noted, was valued at $160.

40 Units Of Blood Given

BETHEL — The Bloodmobile conducted a four-hour mini visit here Monday and collected 40 units of blood, according to Mrs. Ruth Taylor of the Pitt Red Cross.

Mrs. Taylor said that officials were pleased with the results of the mini drive, which marked the first Bloodmobile visit to Bethel in five years.

She said that in addition to the blood collected, two persons were deferred for health reasons. Mrs. Taylor offered her thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hemingway of Bethel who coordinated the blood drive and also to the volunteers who assisted and local residents who donated blood. ## VEPCO Arguing Virginia Hike

RICHLAND, Va. (AP) — Virginia Electric & Power Co., seeking a $246 million rate hike from the State Corporation Commission, was scheduled today to testify on the cost of capital to the company.

The testimony of Arvi Benderly, a vice president of National Economic Research Associates Inc., came in the wake of a discussion Monday by two members of the SCC staff on the question of how to measure efficiency.

The three members of the SCC were urged to compare Veeco's record with the operating results of other companies in the industry in testimony by Mrs. Christine G. Crafton and James R. Wittine.

Results of a study of Veeco's projected expenses were presented by Mrs. Crafton, an economist who joined the staff a year ago. She recommended rejection of Veeco's request for the use of a forward-looking 1978 test year in setting the rate of return.

"In summary, the results of my study indicate that after fuel prices, consumer mix, total capacity, general inflation and several other factors are adjusted for, the costs incurred by the Virginia Electric & Power Co. are too high relative to more efficient firms in the industry," said Mrs. Crafton.

The results of an analysis of Veeco's generating units leading up to a recommendation the company hire a consultant to help in achieving improved performance were reviewed by Wittine, director of the SCC's division of energy regulation.

Improving the performance of existing units is the company's primary weapon to use in combating a reserve margin that is projected to be less than 12 percent in 1981, Wittine said.

He said the reason performance must be improved is that the company does not have enough time to install any new generating capacity beyond what already is on the drawing board for that year.

"What does give me concern is that if the past forced outage rate and miscellaneous curtailments of the company's generating facilities is any indication of future performances, the 11.8 percent reserve margin projected by 1981 may very well be inadequate," said Wittine.

After criticizing the company's operations and contending Veeco's expenses do not represent minimum cost production, Mrs. Crafton declined several times during cross examination to make any concessions that might help Veeco.

Noting his objections to some of the companies she included in a sample group, Veeco attorney Evans B. Brasfield said the company was being compared with utilities that do not have generating facilities.

Mrs. Crafton said whether Veeco was growing slowly or rapidly would not make any difference in the results of her study.

Commissioner Junie L. Bradshaw asked whether the study offered an insight into how much rate relief might be justified.

"No, it doesn't make any suggestions in terms of dollars and cents," Mrs. Crafton said. She said the analysis simply raised a number of questions which would have to be answered later.

Stabilization receipts dropped to only .14 percent of total sales, the official reported.

For the season, the market has sold 27,744,055 pounds for $36,534,843, an average of $131.69 per hundred pounds.

AT NCNB, WE'RE OFFERING A YIELD OF 8.17%* ON 7<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>%, 8-YEAR CERTIFICATES. MOST BANKS AREN'T.

In June, the Federal Government allowed banks to pay a new higher annual rate of interest (7<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>%) on Savings Certificates. The Government said a bank could. They didn't say a bank had to. So, many banks in North Carolina aren't offering the new rate. Which makes an interesting point: While every bank talks about wanting your business, all of them aren't acting like it. The banks here and there that offer the rate still have an option: The way they compound the interest. Depending on how they do it, your money will earn as little as 7<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>% a year, or as much as 8.17% a year. One other thing: A bank can set any minimum amount from $1000 up on these Certificates. At NCNB, our policy is simple. For the lowest possible minimum ($1000), we compound interest daily for the highest possible yield: 8.17% a year.* If you can't get that from your bank's savings certificates, you should find out about ours. So come see us. Soon. We'll be happy to show you how a bank operates when it really wants your business.

Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the Regular Savings rate.

Funds for the program, now in its second year, come from ESEA Title IV monies, Ross explained. These funds have provided for research, workshops, publication and for other material used in conjunction with the reading plan. One couple present at the meeting Monday night, Dr. and Mrs. Charles O'Rear, voiced concern about the result on the program in its application to their child. Dr. O'Rear stated that it was only on Monday that his child brought home for the first time a reading book. Noting that he is a teacher himself, O'Rear said "I am afraid this is an instance of a teacher being so tied up with mechanics of the theory of teaching that there's no time for teaching the children. I know that if you don't watch yourself it is easy to get tied up with the mechanics of teaching." Dr. and Mrs. O'Rear added they had come to the school board because their effort to get an understanding from the teacher concerned and the principal had failed to give them concrete information. r Another of their concerns was the value given to the evaluation of a student's progress at the end of the previous school year in determining the placement of that student in an achievement level for the new school year. Ross remarked that the student profiles from STAR carries "some influence in placement, but that the teacher's individual evaluation, that of the counselor and other factors also play a part in placement." The board took action to authorize Superintendent Glenn Cox to advertise for sale houses located on two sites recently acquired for Sadie Sauter School. They are to be advertised as surplus property for sale subject to an agreement to remove the structures from the sites. In another property matter, one considered in an executive session, the board decided not to accept an offer for the purchase of a 52 by 114 foot property at the corner of 14th and Berkley Streets owned by the school system. A budget amendment of $650 representing a transfer of funds from vocational instruction funds to vocational instructional supplies was accepted; and a resolution asked for by City Clerk Lois Worthington establishing a regular monthly meeting date was approved. The date established is the third Monday of each month. Board chairperson Ms. Terry Shank and member Donovan Phillips will be official voting delegates to the State Convention of School Boards to be held in Winston-Salem in early November, and Miles Frost will be first alternate delegate. In other actions, Cox informed board members that the city manager had approved the solicitation of magazine subscriptions by students of Aycock Junior High; and the board agreed to begin a series of studies at an early date on long-range plans, mostly for facilities, but also for possible new programs.

Baltimore Explodes For 27 In Fourth Quarter For 34-27 Win

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The National Football League has a new triple threat in Joe Washington, and the injury-riddled Baltimore Colts have a new life.

"It's one of the greatest upsets in pro football history," said Baltimore Coach Ted Marchibroda after the Colts exploded for 27 fourth-quarter points Monday night and shocked the New England Patriots 34-27.

Washington, obtained in a trade with San Diego for recalcitrant running back Lydell Mitchell, accounted for three of the touchdowns — on a halfback pass, a 23-yard reception, and a 90-yard gallop with a kickoff return.

The touchdown run broke a 27-27 tie with 1:18 left in the nationally televised game, as Baltimore won its first NFL contest of the season and dropped the heavily favored Patriots 1-2.

"It reminds me of my days in college at Oklahoma when things looked really bleak, but we always came back and won," said Washington. "I took the kickoff on a good bounce; the wedge was right there. I could see a crease. When I ran outside I knew it was a touchdown."

Earlier in the quarter Washington had given Baltimore a 14-13 lead on his 54-yard pass to wide receiver Roger Carr. He then caught a touchdown pass from quarterback Bill Troup.

New England led 13-7 at halftime and took that margin into the fourth quarter before the fireworks started.

After Washington's touchdown pass and reception, Carr caught a 67-yard strike from Troup and the Colts hung on.

New England stormed back with 14 points on a 4-yard touchdown run by quarterback Steve Grogan and Sam Cunningham's 1-yard plunge.

Washington's stunning dash up the right sideline with the kickoff return provided the final Baltimore margin as a lastditch New England drive ended with safety Lyle Blackwood's interception in the end zone with 23 seconds left.

"I've always had a good arm," Washington said of his touchdown pass. "I threw a touchdown for Oklahoma against Texas and in the NFL for San Diego against Denver."

"But it's the first kickoff I've ever run back for a touchdown and now I think our team is like a boat crossing the Atlantic. It hit some bad storms but now we have clear sailing."

Alabama, Arkansas Still Lead; Penn State Ties Sooners For 3rd

HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer

Penn State has moved into a third-place tie with Oklahoma in The Associated Press college football poll, thanks to a 19-0 triumph over Ohio State that dropped the losers from sixth place to 16th.

Meanwhile, Alabama and Arkansas remained in the 1-2 spots where they have been since the preseason poll.

Alabama, a 38-20 winner over Missouri, received 50 first-place votes and 1,207 of a possible 1,220 points from a nationwide panel of 61 sports writers and broadcasters.

Arkansas, which trounced Vanderbilt 48-17, received six first-place votes and 1,124 points. Last week's margin, with 63 voters sending in their ballots, was 1,247-1,128.

Both Oklahoma, which walloped West Virginia 52-10, and Penn State received 1,053 points. Four panelists voted Penn State No. 1, while the other first-place ballot went to Oklahoma.

Penn State's climb from fifth place a week ago dropped Michigan from fourth to fifth with 969 points even though the Wolverines blanked Illinois 31-0.

Texas, Southern California, UCLA and Texas A&M each moved up one position to the 67-89 spots. Texas hammered Rice 34-0. Southern Cal whipped Oregon 37-10. UCLA downed Tennessee 13-0 and Texas A&M was idle. Louisiana State, 13th a week ago, cracked the Top Ten with a 24-17 victory over Indiana.

The Second Ten consists of Pitt, Nebraska, Florida State, Notre Dame, Washington, Ohio State, Missouri, Maryland, Colorado and Iowa State.

Last week, it was Missouri, Nebraska, LSU, Pitt, Notre Dame, Florida State, Kentucky, Washington, Iowa State and Maryland.

Colorado, which defeated Miami, Fla., 17-7, replaced Kentucky in the Top Twenty. The Wildcats were held to a 14-14 tie by South Carolina.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 20-19-18-17-16-15-14-13-12-11-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Contest Winners

Tom Marsh of 102 N. Warren Street is the winner of this week's Daily Reflector Football Contest.

Marsh missed only four of the 32 football games played last weekend and listed in the contest entry pages. One of those was the 14-14 tie played by Kentucky and South Carolina, missed by everyone.

Second place went to Tom Daub of Apartment Six, Langston Park, Greenville, who correctly picked 27 games. Daub took second place on the basis of his point total guess. He had a guess of 72, and the actual number scored was 77. That came in Auburn's 45-32 win over Kansas State.

Five other people also picked 27 games correctly, but were further off the point total in their guess.

The third of the weekly contests appears in today's paper.

DUNKEL INDEX

GAMES OF

WEEK ENDING

SEPT. 24, 1978

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Yankees Rip Brewers; Hold The Lead

BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

The New York Yankees, and pitcher Ed Figueroa in particular, are playing winning baseball. The Boston Red Sox, meanwhile, are playing scoreboard baseball — and hoping...hoping that the Yankees lose.

Figueroa, pitching brilliantly and regularly since Bob Lemon replaced Billy Martin as New York's manager, scattered seven hits as the streaking Yankees defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3 Monday night and retained their 2½-game lead over Boston in the American League East. The struggling Red Sox had to go 11 innings before subduing the Detroit Tigers 5-4, the winning run scoring on Jerry Remy's single.

The Yankees, seeking their third straight division championship, have 13 games remaining — one against Milwaukee and six each against Toronto and Cleveland. Boston has 12 games left — six against Detroit and six against Toronto.

In other AL games Monday night, the Baltimore Orioles clubbed the Cleveland Indians 10-3, the Kansas City Royals beat the Seattle Mariners 7-6 in 11 innings, the Minnesota Twins trounced the California Angels 10-4 and the Oakland A's downed the Chicago White Sox 6-3.

"I'm not a .500 pitcher and I haven't been for four or five years," said Figueroa, who at one point was 7-7 this year, but has now won 11 of his last 13 decisions to raise his record to 18-9.

"I started pitching better when Lemon got here," added the Yankees' right-hander. "Billy said he'd use me every fourth day, but he never did. When he was here, I was going sometimes five, six, seven days between pitching."

The Yanks got only five hits off loser Bill Travers, 10-11, and Bill Castro, but two of them were successive homers by Reggie Jackson and Lou Piniella in the second inning. Jackson's homer was his 24th of the season and the 337th of his career, moving him into 32nd place on the all-time list, ahead of Joe Adcock.

All of Milwaukee's runs came on homers — two by Cecil Cooper and one by Sixto Lezcano.

The final New York-Milwaukee score was posted on the Tiger Stadium scoreboard while Boston and Detroit were in the 10th inning.

"We knew the Yankees had won and it took a little out of us," said Remy, "but we weren't losing, we were tied. So at least we knew we had a chance to win."

THE Red Sox wasted little time in winning. In the 11th, Butch Hobson walked, Jack Brohamer delivered a pinch single, Dwight Evans grounded out, Rick Burleson hit into a fielder's choice with pinch runner Frank Duffy being thrown out at home and Remy hit a line single to center.

Orioles 10, Indians 3
Gary Roenicke rapped the first grand slam homer of his major league career, Billy Smith smacked a three-run triple and Eddie Murray scored four times, leading Baltimore's romp over Cleveland.

Baltimore's Scott McGregor allowed only five hits in eight innings in gaining his 15th victory.

Royals 7, Mariners 6
Kansas City extended its AL West lead over California to 5½ games by outlasting Seattle. The winning run scored when John Wathan was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded in the 11th.

Twins 10, Angels 4
A seven-run fourth inning, highlighted by Hosken Powell's two run-scoring singles and Jose Morales' two-run triple, helped Minnesota beat California, dealing the Angels' pennant chances another severe jolt.

A's 6, White Sox 3

Rookie John Johnson hurled a nine-hitter for his 11th victory and Dave Revering, also a rookie, smashed his 15th homer, helping Oakland beat Chicago. Miguel Dilone also keyed the Oakland victory. He singled, walked, stole two bases, scored once and drove in two runs.

Reds Stop Dodgers; Say Still Chance In Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cincinnati's Johnny Bench analyzed the National League West race, borrowing from one of America's great orators, Yogi Berra — or maybe it was Casey Stengel.

"It ain't over with until it's over with."

Mike LaCoss, the Reds' rookie right-hander, handcuffed Los Angeles on seven hits Monday night, pitching Cincinnati to a 4-0 victory that prevented the Dodgers from reducing their magic number for clinching a second consecutive division title.

The number remains at five, as the Reds closed to within 7½ games.

"Tonight we played like world champions," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, refusing to concede the championship to Los Angeles. "The trouble is, we haven't played that way enough times this season."

Asked flatly if the Reds can catch the Dodgers, Anderson said: "I don't know. I'll let you know Oct. 1. I don't think it will take a miracle, but we're going to have to win every one of our (12) remaining games."

Bench and Ken Griffey had three singles each to account for six of the Reds' nine hits in handing Bob Welsh his fourth loss against seven victories.

Dave Concepcion's sacrifice fly gave Cincinnati a 1-0 lead in the second and the Reds put it away with a three-run seventh. Griffey singled home one run and Bench singled home the other two.

LaCoss, 4-7, snapped a personal six-game losing streak as he hurled his first major league shutout.

But he had to pitch out of a bases-loaded jam in the fourth inning after the Dodgers collected successive one-out singles by Steve Garvey, Ron Cey and Dusty Baker. He got out of it when Lee Lacy and Steve Yeager popped out.

"I jammed Lacy and Yeager after getting my pitches up when they got the hits," said LaCoss, a native of Glendale, Calif.

LaCoss permitted only three hits the final five innings in handing the Dodgers their second consecutive defeat.

Hooten Is Dodgers' Best Chance For Cy Young Winner Since '74

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Spend a few minutes with Dodger right-hander Burt Hooten, and you know why he's called Happy. A mortician's more likely to make you laugh. He is a master of the art of glum.

The Dodgers nicknamed him Happy in the same spirit that kids name the schoolyard blimp Skinny or the way a bowling team names its bald-pated captain Curly.

A case in point. A reporter mentions to Hooten that he carries the Dodgers' best chance of winning a Cy Young Award since Mike Marshall copped it in 1974. Hooten has, after all, as good a chance as anybody in the league at 20 wins; his seven-straight victories in the crucial weeks of August and early September lit a fire under the defending NL champs, and his ERA (2.65) is among the best in the league.

What do you think, Burt? Happy Hooten seizes the opportunity and turns it into a campaign speech — for one of his Cy Young competitors, Atlanta's Phil Niekro.

"Now to do what he's done, with the ballclub he's on, that's phenomenal," Hooten says. "Three hundred innings pitched, striking out more than 200 ... Phil Niekro, man, I've watched him pitch. He goes out there like, every four days, and he's pitching all these complete games, striking people out ... never gets really rocked around. He's amazing."

"Er, good, Burt. Now what about Hooten?" "Well, I've thought about it," he admits, a major confession. "I've thought that sometime in my career I'd like to have won it at least once."

"A lot of pitchers go through baseball and never even get mentioned for it, much less win it. I think this year might be my best chance. No one in the National League has had an outstanding year the way (the Yankees' Ron) Guidry has had in the American League."

"I think if you look at my record (18-9), I guess it's one of the best in the league. I mean, if you go by records."

You get the feeling that if Hooten does win the Cy Young, he'll send it back stamped "Does Not Deserve."

The Dodgers are all but assured of a playoff spot, and it seems likely Hooten will get the nod for the important opening game. A pat on the back for a season well pitched?

"It don't make any difference who gets the first start, or who gets the second start," Hooten fairly scowls. "I've got to pitch against the Phils anyway."

Yesterday's Cryptoquip — HUGE HURDY-GURDY BEGUILLED BIG LUG.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: G equals C

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good time to get a better perspective on just where you are headed in the financial and practical departments of your life. You are able to analyze and come to better conclusions on just how to operate so you have a greater abundance for your needs.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make those changes in business procedure that can result in more efficiency and greater benefits. Talk financial affairs over with an expert you trust.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you go after personal aims from a different angle, you gain them more easily. Taking proper treatment can do wonders for your health and good looks.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be more serious about the plans you make for the future. Keep out of the twilight as much as possible today.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get in touch with friends you have not seen in a long time. Use a new play to gain your goals and get good results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) An outside affair that does not please you can turn out to be advantageous to you from a vocational standpoint. Handle a community affair that can add to prestige.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You will have to change your attitude if you want to expand at this time. Make new contacts who can be most helpful to you. Put aside more money for a rainy day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you use a more updated system, you can keep promises more quickly and efficiently. Use a different kind of psychology with loved ones and get better results. Keep an eye on your pocketbook.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try to please associates more and cement better relations. Be more willing to reconcile with one who opposes you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find more modern ways of handling obligations and get good results. Try to come to a better understanding with co-workers, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try to please those you love and forget own pleasures for the time being. Brings your talents to the attention of a bigwig.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan time for improving conditions at home. Be loyal to good family ties. Study every factor of any new venture before you commit yourself to it. Be wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Being with good friends as much as you can is wise since they can help you to gain cherished aims. Accept any social invitation offered you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those delightful persons who will be most practical but will have difficulty trying to find the right vocation in life. But upon reaching maturity, this child will latch on to the best vocation for him and will become a solid citizen and will be very successful.

Tax Break Proposal Weighed

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee is weighing a proposal that would give middle-income families a greater income-tax break than the one already approved by the House.

It could mean an extra $211 a year to a couple with two children and an income of $10,000 a year. The same couple with a $25,000 income would get $53 more than in the House version.

Generally, the measure under consideration on the Senate side would offset for one-earner families making $20,000 or less the Social Security tax increase that goes into effect next Jan. 1. That increase will cost a $10,000 earner $8, a $20,000 worker $155 and those earning $23,000 or more $333.

In most cases in which family income is under $20,000, there also would be enough relief in the Senate package to offset the tax effects of inflation, which pushes workers into higher brackets even though their real buying power has not risen.

But it would do little to help neutralize inflation for those earning more than $20,000 a year.

The committee may vote today on the proposal, which was drafted by staff aides after Sen. Russell Long, who chairs the panel, asked for options on giving more tax relief than the House had voted for couples and individuals earning less than $50,000 a year.

The Carter administration has criticized the $16.3-billion House-passed bill on grounds that too big a share of the benefits would go to those above the $50,000 income level. More than 59 percent of the $3.7-billion addition being considered for individuals by the Finance Committee would go to those with incomes of $15,000 or less.

Neither the House bill nor the Senate proposal would cut taxes as deeply as the Republican-backed Roth-Kemp plan for a reduction reaching 33 percent over three years. But the Finance Committee decided by a 10-8 vote Monday that the Republican proposal carries too great a risk for the economy.

Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., who helped write the GOP proposal, hailed it as long-overdue tax relief for the middle classes.

Opponents said the cost of the tax cut would be paid by all Americans through another round of inflation. They said it would be unwise now to commit the government to new tax cuts two and three years in advance, although it is generally agreed Congress is likely to vote new reductions in 1979 and 1980.

Here is how the proposal before the Finance Committee would affect typical taxpayers at various income levels, assuming deductions totaling 23 percent of income:

A single person earning $10,000 a year would get a cut of $22 next year under the committee option, compared to $15 under the House bill. The Roth-Kemp bill would cut that person's taxes by about $167 the first year if phased in equally over three years.

At the $20,000 level, a single person would get a $152 cut under the committee proposal, $105 under the House bill and $390 for one year of Roth-Kemp.

A married couple with no dependents and $10,000 income would get $50 under the committee plan, $47 under the House bill and $106 under Roth-Kemp. At $25,000 the cuts would be $215, $160 and $413.

A couple with two children and an income of $10,000 would realize a tax cut of $273 under the committee proposal, $62 under the House bill and $76 under Roth-Kemp. At $25,000 the cuts would be $285, $232 and $368.

Diners Confused Over Triplets

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — James, Joe and Jeff Teague didn't mean to cause triple confusion when all three began waiting tables at Giovanni's Forum in Greensboro.

But an evening does not go by that someone does not mistakenly ask the wrong Teague for additional service — never imagining that his thin, mustachioed waiter is one of a set of three.

Occasionally, when they are extremely busy, the triplets help each other out, with Jeff perhaps carrying the main course to one of Joe's customers. James may later bring the dessert.

The Teagues claim few customers ever know they have been triple-teamed until the trio presents itself as the end of the meal. The 19-year-old Teague triplets have been astonishing diners at the Forum for several months. Joe and Jeff started work there almost a year ago, causing enough confusion. James came this February, making it what the brothers call "a three-ring circus."

Even if they were not in the dim light of the restaurant, customers would have trouble telling the Teagues apart. All are 5-foot-11, weigh between 130 and 140 pounds, and have prominent cheekbones due to their mother's Cherokee ancestry.

The only slight giveaway is James, who has a fuller head of hair than his brothers. But customers have as much trouble identifying him as they do Joe and Jeff.

The trio, however, was never hired as a matched set. Each was hired on a different day, with the Forum never intending to have a threesome as a curiosity.

The triplets were born and reared in Winston-Salem but they moved to Greensboro more than a year ago to get out on their own. They were hired at the Flamenco Restaurant there on three consecutive days, but soon split up and went in different directions before reuniting at the Forum.

Though the triplets claim they "don't want to freak anybody out" with their identical looks at the restaurant, they greatly enjoy some of the confusion.

"We really have a good time at that restaurant," Jeff said.

May 'Exclude' Prior Conduct

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Evidence of a woman's prior sexual conduct may be excluded in a rape trial, the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled in affirming the rape conviction of a South Dakota man.

The court Monday overturned an earlier 8th Circuit opinion, handed down in 1953, which held such evidence was necessary to reasonably test the credibility of a woman testifying she had been raped. Abraham Kasto, an Indian who received a life sentence for the rape of a university student living on the Cheyenne River Indian Reservation as part of a cultural exchange program, had relied on the 1953 decision in his appeal.

INTRODUCING ALL-AMERICAN SAVINGS. FINALLY, HIGH INTEREST FOR EVEN ONE DOLLAR.

Having to save up $500 or $1000 just to open a savings account is crazy. It's unfair. It's practically un-American.

So at Planters we're introducing a concept that could revolutionize American savings.

All-American Savings.

With the minimum deposit at a real, honest-to-goodness minimum $1, it makes high interest truly affordable to all Americans. What's more, it lets you add any amount. Anytime.

It's what you'd expect from Planters. After all, we're the bank that still knows the value of a dollar.

| Annual Interest Rate | Maturity  | Minimum Deposit | Additional Deposit |
|----------------------|-----------|-----------------|--------------------|
| 5 1/2%               | 3 months  | $1             | Anytime            |
| 6%                   | 12 months | $1             | Anytime            |
| 6 1/2%               | 30 months | $1             | Anytime            |

WE STILL KNOW THE VALUE OF YOUR DOLLAR.
