

Vance Departs For Talks With Four Arab Leaders

By ROBERT CULLEN
Associated Press Writer

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance flew to the Middle East today to try to keep Jordan and Saudi Arabia out of an Arab front bent on derailing the Camp David accords. He also hoped to ease Syria's opposition to the agreements.

Vance was scheduled to meet with four Arab leaders — King Hussein of Jordan in Amman today, King Khaled and Crown Prince Fahd of Saudi Arabia in Riyadh on Thursday and Friday, and President Hafez Assad of Syria in Damascus on Saturday.

Vance said he would explain to the "key Arab governments not represented at Camp David...the contents, purpose and philosophy of the understandings reached...so they can make their own decisions on how to respond to the invitations to them contained in the basic documents."

But the secretary's mission was set back at the start by statements from Jordan saying it would not be bound by the agreements and from Saudi Arabia saying they "could not be considered as an acceptable final formula for peace."

Both Jordan and Saudi Arabia reiterated the primary Arab demand for Israeli withdrawal from all territory occupied in the 1967 war, including East Jerusalem, which the Camp David accords do not guarantee.

Both called for Palestinian self-determination, and the Saudis also demanded a Palestinian state and recognition of the Palestine Liberation Organization as the "sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people."

Both also called for unification of Arab policy. But while Jordan was critical of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's dealings with Israel without calling him by name, the Saudi government said it did not challenge the right of any Arab country to restore its occupied lands "so long as it does not run contrary to higher Arab interests."

Vance as he left Washington repeated President Carter's request that the moderate Arabs give the agreements "careful and thoughtful study," making clear that he did not expect the Jordanian and Saudi leaders to change their positions immediately. And the Jordanian statement promised "extensive contacts on Arab and international levels in order to evaluate the situation."

The Carter administration is counting on two factors to persuade the Saudis to acquiesce privately to further negotiations on the basis of Camp David and Jordanian participation if Hussein can be brought around.

One is the administration's cultivation of the Saudis as exemplified by the sale to it of F15 fighter jets. Another is the conservatism of the oil-rich Saudi monarchy, which has no sympathy for the socialist views of the radical Arabs.

As far as Syria is concerned, the administration will be satisfied if Assad allows the process started at Camp David to continue without actively opposing it.

After 51 Years, Dr. Hatem 'Home'

AFTER 51 YEARS... Dr. George Shafick Hatem, center, returned Tuesday to be with classmates of his 1927 graduating class. With him are his wife, Chou Su Fei, and Sam Underwood, Jr., host for the reunion. A noted figure in medical circles in China, Dr. Hatem will soon be returning to Peking.

After an absence of more than half a century, Dr. George Shafick Hatem came back home to Greenville. It was a brief visit, a warm one of renewing old affections with classmates gathered at the Rotary Club to honor their friend Shafick and his wife, Chou Su Fei.

"When I left, it was on the around the world tour that was a tradition for young doctors, a trip supposed to give them wisdom," Dr. Hatem said. "I'm back now. It took me 51 years, and I hope I have returned a little wiser."

It was in 1927 that Shafick Hatem graduated from the Greenville High School. He left Greenville to attend the Medical School at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, then a two-year school. From there it was to the American University in Beirut, Lebanon for two years, then another two years at the Medical University in Geneva, Switzerland.

His medical training completed, Hatem headed east to complete the world tour — to visit the Far East and then cross the Pacific back home. That was in 1933. His visit to China enroute home changed the course of his life.

Dr. Hatem made a decision to remain in China, and his achievements there in the past four turbulent decades of that embattled country are well known — his dramatic role in the research of skin and venereal diseases, and the subsequent success in controlling, and in some instances eliminating these once rampant causes of early death in China.

"When I first went to Peking," Dr. Hatem related, "diseases related to opium and various infectious diseases were the leading causes of death. At that time cancer was 11th in the list as a cause of death."

"Medical work over the years has eliminated many

'Deficiencies' In County Buildings

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt and the Administrative Office of the Courts today released a two-volume report saying more than 10 percent of the courthouses and other county buildings surveyed during a three-year period have serious deficiencies.

The lengthy report, illustrated by scores of pictures of courthouses around the state, evaluates the facilities of each county and its physical needs for proper operation of the courts.

"I have said before that what happens in the courtroom is one of the most important parts of our fight against crime," Hunt said in releasing the report. "And, if our courts are going to work efficiently and effectively for the taxpayers, adequate facilities are absolutely essential."

The report, prepared at a cost of $193,800 by the Administrative Office of the Courts and the North Carolina State University Design School, will be distributed to county commissioners in each county. Hunt said he is optimistic that each of the 100 counties will make the recommended improvements.

The report said the most widespread physical deficiency is in safety equipment such as fire detection and alarm systems, exits, fire stairs and emergency lighting. It said more than 50 percent of the buildings surveyed are "grossly deficient" and another 25 percent need improvement.

The judicial system is the "victim of a major space shortage," it said. "Current space allocations fall almost three-quarters of a million square feet short of recommended standards set forth in the design guidelines."

It also suggested that serious consideration be given to the possibility of the state providing funds for construction and maintenance of court facilities at the county level.

Steps Down

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister John Vorster, at the helm in South Africa during 12 years of growing racial unrest, announced his resignation today.

In one of his last official acts he said independence elections will be held in South-West Africa, also known as Namibia.

He did not give a date for the elections. Vorster, 63, is reportedly ailing.

The stocky, pugnacious Vorster told a news conference he would be available for the largely ceremonial post of president that has been vacant since the death last month of Nico Diederichs.

The South African government has said it wants the Namibia election by Dec. 31. It does not believe the South-West Africa People's Organization, the region's black nationalist guerrilla movement, is strong enough among Namibia's 900,000 people to win.

But the government is believed to fear that if SWAPO has much longer to campaign, it will get much of Namibia's black majority behind it.

South Africa backs the moderate Democratic Turnhalle Alliance, made up of 11 major tribal and ethnic groups and supported by Namibia's whites.

SWAPO claims the DTA is a South African puppet.

The United Nations, which has been negotiating with South Africa over the date and arrangements for Namibian elections, recognizes SWAPO as the representative of the people of Namibia.

Vorster said the decision to go ahead with the election of an assembly that would draw up a constitution for a free Namibia is a means of ending what he called "an impasse" with the United Nations.

He strongly opposes the U.N. proposal to station 7,500 U.N. troops in Namibia during the transition to independence.

Hospital Board OKs Contract With Public Relations Firm

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Memorial Hospital's Trustee Board last night approved an $8,750 contract with Productive Communication public relations firm to publish "The Torch," an in-house newspaper, and an annual report, and produce several features and television appearances a year.

Use of an outside firm eliminates the need for a staff member, it was pointed out. Traditionally the in-house newspaper has been done by an ECU journalism student working part-time.

The Board accepted the resignation of William K. Neal, who has been a UNC representative for the past two and a half years. The transfer of $200,000 to a funded depreciation reserve account was approved.

Hospital Finance Officer Warren McRoy said outside auditors are working now. To date, with 11 months of this fiscal year over, the hospital population has run within five patients per day of what was projected at the beginning of the budgeting year. Total patient revenues, figured at $18,400,524, are within one half of one percent of the budgeted amount, he said. Net income, $1,035,590 is within two percent of the expected. Of this net, $441,010 has been spent on purchase of capital equipment and $477,000, approximately, is in accounts receivable. $200,000 was put in the depreciation reserve account previously mentioned, as has been recommended by both the N. C. Hospital Association and the Duke Endowment.

Reporting for the Insurance Committee, James Cheatham said estimated premiums to be paid this year amount to about $89,000. He said the committee is continuing to study some self-insurance programs. Basic recommendations made by the committee included renaming that committee the Insurance and Risk Management Committee with the administrator for fiscal affairs reporting on instances of risk and the committee becoming a permanent rather than an ad hoc one. It also recommended that a $1 million umbrella excess liability policy be added and that the directors' and officers' liability policy be put on a yearly premium rather than a three-year one to improve cash flow. Coordination of insurance committee activities should be done with the safety committee, the report said.

County Commissioner Charles Gaskins reported that the building committee has recently seen for the first time drawings of the bed tower and its relationship to the existing building. It would be located on the Stantonsburg Road side, he said.

Rehabilitation Committee Chairman Glenn Strickland reported that Dr. Donald Weir, medical director of the Rehab Center, has said there is a need for another doctor

Mrs. Easterling Takes UF Role

Jerry Fulford, chairman of the Pitt United Way campaign for 1978-79, announced that Mrs. Virgie Easterling will chair the Retired Citizens Division in the upcoming fund drive.

Mrs. Easterling is the new executive director of the Mental Health Association in Pitt County, having assumed her duties on Aug. 1.

Fulford said that, "We are glad to have Mrs. Easterling on our campaign team as a division chairman. I'm sure she will add a great deal of enthusiasm to our program and help us meet our fund goal."

Life Is Just A Piece Of Cheese

By GREGORY JENSEN
HASTINGS, England (UPI)

—Joan Ledger lives in a Piece of Cheese. It's the smallest, and most peculiar, stately home in England.

"Some people who come in here just can't believe it," Miss Ledger said on a recent two customers tour.

In her house, two guests is a crowd. Her midget cottage, competing for visitors with the greatest abbeys and mansions in the land, looks exactly like its name — The Piece of Cheese.

It's a tiny triangle, painted rich yellow outside, whose walls come together at angles sharper than the letter V. Both the upstairs and the downstairs room — there are only two — are lopsidedly triangular.

The Piece of Cheese points the knife edge of its wedge toward All Sannit's Street, not far from the sea in this south coast town. A narrow sidewalk and flight of steps separate it from the garden of the nextdoor restaurant. Since it entered the stately homes business in 1963, some 31,000 people have tiptoed through it trying not to knock things over with their elbows.

So far this year more than 1,800 have paid 20 cents for Miss Ledger's personally guided tours.

She tells them that her odd little home resulted from a bet — a probably drunken wager — more than 100 years ago.

"There were two brothers named Starr who built the row of workmen's cottages you see running up the hill," said Miss Ledger, a bubbling retired civil servant who looks much younger than her 60 years.

"When they finished they had this awkward triangle of land left over. Someone bet them — you can just imagine the scene in a pub, can't you? — that they couldn't build a house on that triangle. That was in 1871, and the bet was 5 pounds (now about $10)."

The brothers won the bet. But the building they put up was so peculiar no one would live in it. Instead a coffin maker worked upstairs — "this is the door he used to swing the coffins out," Miss Ledger said, leaning over her bed — and the downstairs room was just big enough for a watch repairer.

"Various other people owned it," Miss Ledger said. "There was a cobbler here once. Then 25 years ago an artist bought it and put in a kitchen and bathroom. As you can see, they're both in The Point."

She swept her arm — almost a wall-to-wall gesture — toward the sharp end of the triangle, where she is currently remodeling her kitchen.

The Piece of Cheese measures 32 by 16 by 24 feet. Assemble those lengths and you'll see the angles are so acute that there isn't a square corner in the place.

"It makes fitting in the furniture a bit of a problem," Miss Ledger said.

"Moving in was horrible. Nothing fit, so we just dumped it all in the middle. I woke up that first night thinking the place was overrun with rats. Actually it was just seagulls dropping clamshells on the roof."

"Come into my garden," she said suddenly, though a garden was hard to imagine.

She opened a corner door and stepped onto a balcony, also triangular, with barely room to turn around. It was bright with hanging honeysuckle and climbing flowers.

"I have great plans for my garden," Miss Ledger said.

Gladys Tillet Tribute To Be Held Today

CHARLOTTE — The North Carolina Women's Political Caucus and the Political Action Committee is sponsoring a tribute this evening for Mrs. Gladys Tillet, former director of the North Carolina Equal Rights Amendment.

A reception will be held from 5-7 p.m. on the lawn of Queens College. At 8 p.m., a dinner for patrons and sponsors will be held at Myers Park Country Club.

Jean Stapleton, television star of the CBS series, "All in the Family" and Liz Carpenter, former press secretary to Lady Bird Johnson, will be on hand to honor Mrs. Tillet. Both women have toured the nation in their support of the ERA.

D. D. (Jack) and Tennala Gross of Greenville are patrons.

"It's a real sun trap here. Come and see my view of the sea." Upstairs a window 18 inches square tucked into an angle looked over Hastings' 15th century roofs to a minute patch of the gray English channel.

Miss Ledger bought the Piece of Cheese from author Dianne Stoddart, though not without trepidation.

"I had this big house full of things," she said. "The out-buildings alone were far bigger than this place." When a friend told her it was for sale — and told her the dimensions — "I just laughed. I said there was no way I could squeeze myself in."

But curiosity brought her to Hastings for a look, "and moments after I walked in the door I found myself putting down a deposit."

Miss Ledger is a sculptor and potter, and somehow has squeezed an electric kiln against her kitchen counter. "In the winter it heats the whole place," she said.

Slowly, between guiding tours through both her rooms and making ceramic pieces of cheese and tiny mice for her customers, Miss Ledger is redoing the cottage with the kind of space-saving ingenuity associated with campers.

That's a necessity in a stately home where there isn't room to swing a cat — she has two, Jim and Grundy. "This place is perfect for me," she said. "It's an ideal space for one person. I just love it."

Reports Given At Arts Dept. Meeting Friday

The Arts Department of the Woman's Club of Greenville held its meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Roseveare.

Mrs. Roseveare read Emma Bombeck's "So Long Volunteers."

Reports were made on the Author's Luncheon held in May and the summer workshop held in Farmville in August. New crafts have been added to the Arts Festival for club women and an increase in student awards.

The department members will pay for a family membership in the Greenville Art Society. The Arts Festival chairmen were named and Mrs. Roseveare asked that each have an assistant. Reservations were made for the fall District

Dirty Words Roll From Child's Mouth

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Jody, our 4-year-old son, shocked us recently by using some filthy words he picked up from some older boys in the neighborhood. (Nouns and verbs having to do with sex. I'm sure you know which ones I mean.)

Naturally, we were appalled, and told him we never wanted to hear those words again. However, when Jody gets angry, or wants to get back at us for having punished him, he lets loose with a string of those filthy words!

My husband says we should do to Jody what HIS parents did to him when he used dirty language — wash his mouth out with soap!

I say we should simply ignore the boy. Which method would you recommend?

APPALLED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Neither. Most youngsters pick up dirty words sooner or later, and when they realize that most adults are upset by such language, they use it as a weapon.

Explain calmly that there are better words to say the same thing, and tell him what they are. (This is an ideal way to teach your child healthy attitudes about sex.)

And if Jody continues to use "filthy" language, don't react. When he finds that his little game is not working, he'll cut it out.

DEAR ABBY: My 43-year-old maiden aunt recently broke off her engagement to a fine, 66-year-old widower after he told her that he had been impotent for 12 years and the doctors agreed that there was little or no chance of a recovery after that long a period.

Would sex be that important to a woman that old?

NO NAME: SMALL TOWN

DEAR NO NAME: It apparently is to your aunt. (P.S. At 43, a woman is hardly ready for the glue factory.)

DEAR ABBY: Last winter my aunt, who has always called me her "favorite niece," gave me her old Persian lamb coat, saying, "It's been hanging in my closet for 20 years and I never wear it, so you may as well take it."

It was in pretty good condition, but the style was really old-fashioned, so I took it to a furrier, who made a nice-looking jacket out of it. (There was enough fur left over to make a hat and muff.)

The whole thing cost me $300 but I thought it was worth it. Well, I stopped at my aunt's to show her what I'd done with her old fur coat, thinking she'd be pleased, and she started yelling at me, saying I had no right to cut up her coat — that she had only let me wear it for a while and never GAVE it to me!

Now she wants the jacket back. Is that fair? How about the $300 I spent on it?

My mother says I should give her the jacket if she gives me $300. My father says I should keep it and give her nothing.

What do you say?

FORMER FAVORITE NIECE

DEAR NIECE: If you are absolutely certain that she GAVE you the coat, you are not obligated either to give her the jacket or sell it to her. Keep the coat, and let Auntie yell.

ask the tough ones. It so happens I am for a strong America. This country cannot afford to be second best when the fate of the Free World is at stake. If the people elect me, they will be sending a message to Washington and to Moscow that the United States no longer intends to be pushed around."

"How do you feel about the American dollar?"

"I want a strong American dollar. The prestige of this country depends on a dollar that can be defended against any currency in the world. I'll go even further. This country must get its house in order when it comes to our balance of payments. The way to do this is export more than we import."

"I'll say one thing, sir. You certainly are outspoken. It will be like a breath of fresh air if the voters send you to Washington."

"I'm not one of those peoof Derian's office, for the $270 million sale of turbines produced by AllisChalmers

ple who just jumps on the bandwagon," he said. "Americans are tired of hearing the same old promises from their politicians. If I win this election it's because I'm going to tell it like it is."

for the new hydroelectric dam on the Parana River between Argentina and Paraguay. The two countries have just given an additional 30-day grace period to Allis-Chalmers, rather than order turbines elsewhere, in hopes that the Ex-Im Bank decision will be reversed.

A less publicized case involved a hydroelectric project called the Itaipu Dam between Brazil and Paraguay. With both Westinghouse and subsidiaries of General Electric as principal bidders for 18 large turbine generators valued at $700 million, the contract went to foreign producers, including Switzerland's Brown-Boveri. Administration officials told us several factors were involved in losing that award, including Brazilian anger at President Carter's campaign against a nuclear reprocessing plant. But they also said human rights was a factor.

That was made clear in a brief aside to a U.S. diplomat by President Alfredo Stroessner of Paraguay shortly after the award was made. Gen. Stroessner commented icily that Ms. Derian ought to be informed that the contract had not gone to a U.S. source. The State Department was promptly informed.

One problem has been Derian's passionate conviction that the U.S. must use its economic power as a lever to pry concessions out of states guilty of human rights violations — many of which are right-wing dictatorships in Latin America. Until now, her zeal has carried the day within the bureaucracy. She has unquestionably caused some improvements, but at heavy cost. Now the tide is turning. Economic officials at State and Commerce are joining forces in the campaign to dull her human rights sword without impairing its ideological sheen. One high State Department official told us privately that Ms. Derian "is now acknowledging that on occasion she herself may have overstated the human rights case."

The result of excess zeal: over-stress on human rights at the cost of U.S. jobs during high unemployment and record trade deficits.

Warns Bad Year On Farm Can Spur Inflation Rate

By CLIFF HAAS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—A bad year for America's farm crops could nearly double the expected $3.40 weekly hike in a four-person family's grocery bill in 1979, says the Agriculture Department's top economist. Inflation's inevitable effects will increase prices that much, says Howard W. Hjort, but reduced meat and dairy supplies could raise the mythical family's average grocery bill another $2.75. That projected increase, totaling $6.15, would be on top of the $6.21 weekly hike predicted for such a family this year. In 1977, it cost $62.10 a week to feed such a hypothetical family. Hjort, testifying Tuesday before a House banking subcommittee, said food prices this year are expected to be 10 percent above 1977 averages, with most of 1978's increase having come in the first five months of the year.

One year ago, Hjort came before the same committee and predicted food prices would be up from 3 percent to 6 percent this year. "You can see that we didn't take into account the effects of farm policies and programs," he said in an interview.

The impact of congressional and administrative decisions which affect the price of food can easily be seen.

For example, the House Agriculture and Ways and Means committees are considering legislation to hike federal sugar supports by up to 16 cents a pound although the administration has set a target of 14.5 cents for the hike.

But the effects of weather and low production are more difficult to predict. Hjort said last year's predictions on farm prices were off because an expected "significant expansion" of 10 percent to 11 percent in the hog market, which would have led to lower pork prices, did not occur.

Bad weather and disease which killed animals combined with uncertainty among producers following claims that chemicals used to cure bacon may cause cancer to keep expansion of the hog market to about 2 percent.

Economists had hoped increased pork and poultry production would offset decreased beef supplies caused by ranchers attempting to compensate for four years of losses by trimming their herds.

"That didn't happen," Hjort said.

He said another factor in higher-than-predicted prices this year was bad spring weather in California that damaged lettuce crops and pushed up the price of fresh vegetables.

Meanwhile, Hjort said halting the annual rise in retail food prices would require either an end to inflation or a willingness by farmers to accept a price cut of about 14 percent for their crops.

He said retail food prices during the last 12 years have gone up about 6.6 percent annually and that it was unlikely the pattern would change. General inflation, he said, "tends to be the dominant factor" in the rise of food prices, with two-thirds of each dollar spent at the supermarket going for services and not the food purchased.

Weir Named Balloonists Plan Ahead

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Larry Newman, one of three Americans who last month became the first balloonists to cross the Atlantic, said here Tuesday that the three men are planning to fly a balloon around the world.

Newman, 31, of Albuquerque, N.M., arrived in Western North Carolina Tuesday to compete this weekend in the Master of Hang Gliding Championships at Grandfather Mountain.

Newman said no definite date has been set for the round-the-world flight, "but it is now in the planning stage and it will be anywhere from a year to three years before we actually take off."

Newman said the planning for the global trip will be complicated. While the three men financed the Atlantic crossing out of their own pockets, the worldwide jaunt "will cost upwards of a million dollars."

"There are balloons going around the world right now," said Newman in explaining his desire to make the trip. "Unmanned balloons. So, yes, it is feasible. We would be above the jet stream in the stratosphere. We would have to have a pressurized cabin, however, because we will be seeking altitudes in excess of 60,000 feet."

Newman, who said he owns the world's largest hang gliding manufacturing plant, said that meanwhile, he and his partners are in the process of writing a book about their trans-Atlantic flight.

Newman said a movie is also being planned about their flight.

Weir Named Dept. Head

ECU News Bureau
Dr. Donald D. Weir has been named chairman of the newly established Department of Rehabilitation Medicine at the East Carolina University School of Medicine, according to Dr. William E. Laupus, Dean.

DR. D.D. WEIR

Weir, who serves as medical director of the Regional Rehabilitation Center in Greenville, will coordinate undergraduate training programs for medical students at the center.

He received his undergraduate degree from Duke University and his MD from the State University of Iowa. After completing postgraduate training at Johns Hopkins and Baltimore City Hospitals, he taught at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine and later served as director of the Division of Rehabilitation Medicine.

Prior to joining the Regional Rehabilitation Center in July, Weir was director of rehabilitation for St. Luke's Hospital, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

the world of journalism. Up that fashionable boulevard roared a minimotorbike. The easy rider in the saddle, known in Italy as a "scippatore" (literally a strap grabber, one who snatches at handbags) reached out to nimbly pluck the treasured garment from the correspondent's back and disappeared in a cloud of exhaust fumes in the direction of the Borghese Gardens. The vanished jacket contained Cioffi's airline ticket, which could be replaced, and an irreplaceable "hero-gram" from management telling how magnificent was his coverage of Vatican crowd scenes.

Then there was the taking of New York Post columnist Murray Kempton. Fingers relieved him of wallet, passport, traveler's checks and Vatican press credentials one morning in the Basilica of St. Mary of the Angeles.

The last sad tale of pilfering in papal surroundings is autobiographical. Your humble reporter boarded a bus one day. When it reached the end of its run on a side street behind St. Peter's Basilica, four nuns attempted to go out the "in" door, upstream against a tide of pilgrims. Your correspondent was spun about.

The bus ride to the Vatican normally costs 100 lire: 10 cents. This day it cost $40 as the teller of the tale was separated from his favorite money clip and 40,000 lire by expert, silent fingers.

Statistically, Teacher Union Not The Answer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Looking at the statistics, it would appear that public school teachers in North Carolina are better off without unions.

North Carolina public school teachers are prohibited by law from signing union contracts with school boards. But they have received larger pay raises than unionized teachers in some other states, according to a recent report.

In a report released last week, the Virginia-based Public Service Research Council said that teachers in states without compulsory collective bargaining have fared better than those where union membership may be a requirement.

Teachers in North Carolina received pay raises amounting to 44 percent between the 1969-70 and 1975-76 school years, according to the report, while those in Pennsylvania, where there is compulsory bargaining for teachers, got salary increases of 37 percent.

There were three strikes by teachers in North Carolina and 335 strikes by those in Pennsylvania during the period.

The study "indicates that collective bargaining is useless insofar as the teacher is benefited, yet it entails an enormous cost in funds, social unrest and disruption of our educational system," said David Denholm, president of PSRC. The report said teachers in states without compulsory bargaining laws received raises of 40.5 percent during the period covered by the study, while those in states with compulsory bargaining legislation had increases of 36.6 percent.

The North Carolina Association of Educators, with a membership of 50,000 teachers, principals and other professionals, has backed collective bargaining legislation during recent sessions of the General Assembly. The proposals have never made it out of committee.

The average salary for teachers in North Carolina was $12,943 — ranking 28th among the states — during the 1977-78 school year. The national average was $14,244.

Dean Of Law School Resigns

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The dean of North Carolina Central University Law School said Tuesday he is resigning.

Dr. Harry E. Groves announced in a letter to the faculty that he will leave the law school when his contract expires at the end of the academic year.

Groves was out of town when the announcement was made and his wife declined to comment on his reasons for leaving. Dorothy Groves said her husband had no immediate plans after he leaves NCCU.

William C. Friday, president of the University of North Carolina system, said Tuesday he had been notified of Groves' decision by NCCU Chancellor Dr. Albert Whiting.

Leaf Prices Are Steady

FARMVILLE — Grades and prices remained steady on the Farmville Tobacco Market Tuesday, according to Louis N. Williams, sales supervisor, Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade.

Top prices of $1.70 were paid by companies for quality grades of tobacco, with a top practical price of $1.60. Leaf grades accounted for 80 percent of sales Tuesday, with the volume of primings and non-descript grades declining.

According to Williams, practically all grades are in demand, with bids stronger than the past several years for quality grades. Stabilization receipts totalled .04 percent.

The Farmville Tobacco Market sold 623,074 pounds Tuesday for $935,359, an average of $150.12 per hundred pounds, compared with an average of $131.07 a year ago. To date, the Farmville market has sold 17,718,686 pounds for $24,140,650, an average of $136.24 per hundredweight, compared with an average of $116.51 last year.

More Time For Workfare Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department would gain 18 months for its experimental program requiring some food-stamp recipients to work for the stamps under a bill passed by the House.

The "workfare" project was to be finished by next March but it hasn't gotten under way yet. So the House voted Tuesday to give the Department until October 1980 to report to Congress on how it goes.

Ex-Footballer Deposes Massachusetts Governor

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — A former pro football player who had never run for public office championed the anti-tax movement into a stunning primary upset over liberal Gov. Michael S. Dukakis, while Republican Sen. Edward W. Brooke narrowly defeated another political novice.

Edward J. King, a brawny, tough-talking one-time head of the Massachusetts Port Authority was the winner over the one-term Dukakis in Tuesday's primary.

With 74 percent of the state's precincts reporting, King led Dukakis 307,497 to 255,697, or 51 percent to 42 percent.

Brooke, the nation's only black senator for the past 12 years, edged conservative television talk-show host Avi

Nelson.

Though Nelson never made an issue of it, Brooke's campaign was rocked by his admission of making a false financial statement in his divorce.

With about three-fourths of the vote counted, Brooke, who asked liberal Democrats to cross party lines to vote for him, received about 54 percent of the vote — 106,219 — to Nelson's 92,190 or 46 percent.

In other primaries held Tuesday:

—Oklahoma Gov. David Boren overwhelmed former U.S. Rep. Ed Edmondson in the Democratic Senate contest and will face Republican nominee Bob Kamm and four independents in November. Lt. Gov. George Nigh had no trouble defeating Attorney General Larry Derryberry for the Democratic nomination for governor and a chance against Republican Ron Shotts.

—Six members of the Washington state congressional delegation easily won renomination.

—A majority of the voters in this Democratic primary wanted something else," a grimaced Dukakis said as he conceded defeat.

In the November election for governor, the conservative King will face a liberal Republican — state House Minority Leader Francis W. Hatch Jr.

Hatch defeated Edward F. King — no relation to the Democratic candidate — by a margin of 99,279 to 79,349 with more than 70 percent of the vote counted.

With three-quarters of the votes tabulated, Brooke's

Democratic opponent appeared to be U.S. Rep. Paul Tsongas who led state Secretary Paul Guzzi 203,344 to 182,371.

Kathleen Sullivan Alioto, a member of the Boston School Committee and recent bride of former San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, trailed with 20 percent of the vote, while Howard Phillips, founder and director of the Washington-based Conservative Caucus, and state Rep. Elaine Noble, an avowed lesbian, each received 7 percent.

King, who played guard for three years with the Buffalo Bills and Baltimore Colts after starring at Boston College, had urged Massachusetts to adopt its own version of Proposition 13, the California law that forced a 57 percent cut in property taxes and put a limit on future property tax increases.

He also favored adoption of the death penalty, mandatory sentences for drug pushers and raising the drinking age to 21. All were positions strongly opposed by Dukakis.

Standing before a jubilant throng of supporters, King said, "When you made that choice, you sent a message loud and clear for all to hear. Massachusetts needs a Proposition 13 now."

During the campaign, Dukakis appeared assured and headed for victory against his novice opponent. In a poll taken last May, the governor was viewed favorably by 67 percent of the voters, while King received a 24 percent favorable rating. At that time, 44 percent of the people said they had never heard of King.

Nelson's campaign was the first serious challenge to Brooke in his two terms as senator. Nelson, 36, had the backing of several national conservative organizations, and he focused his attack on Brooke's support for busing, federal financing of abortions and the Panama Canal treaties.

Another factor in the campaign was Brooke's divorce that ended his 31-year marriage. In divorce papers filed in 1976, Brooke claimed that he owed a Boston liquor dealer $49,000. But he later acknowledged that the correct amount was $2,000 and the rest was owed to his mother-in-law's estate.

Brooke was not prosecuted for the misstatement, but an investigation is still under way by the Senate ethics committee.

Mum On Buying New Houseboat

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Jim Bakker, president of the PTL evangelical ministry, recently bought a $24,000 houseboat, just a few days after he pleaded with PTL supporters for money for the financially troubled ministry.

The boat is docked at a $500 a year slip on Lake Wylie, Bakker is on a round-the-world trip, for PTL, and neither his wife nor PTL officials will talk about the boat.

A secretary for Bakker's wife, Tammy, said Mrs. Bakker would not return calls concerning the purchase of the boat. On a PTL Club show last week, Mrs. Bakker reportedly said she and her husband had bought a boat so they could get some peace and quiet.

Harry Burnett, PTL public relations director, said the Bakkers considered their recreational expenditures a "private matter."

According to state boat registration records and the dealer who make the sale, Bakker bought a 43-foot houseboat in late July or early August. Terry James, owner of the marina where Bakker bought the craft, wouldn't comment on the specific price of Bakker's boat but he estimated such a boat would sell for about $24,000.

In July, Bakker wrote 700,000 supporters of Charlotte-based PTL and urgently asked for money to pay PTL's $2.5 million construction bills on its educational and recreational complex in York, S.C.

Bakker said then that he and his wife were giving their money to the ministry.

"Tammy and I are giving every penny of our life's savings to PTL," Bakker said.

"I have no one to turn to but God and our faithful partners...Time is running out," Bakker wrote.

Bakker, who owns a $79,000 house near Lake Wylie, is currently on a trip for PTL, visiting the ministry's foreign missions and shooting film for a fund-raising telethon.

A reporter who visited Bakker's unoccupied houseboat said the craft has green shag carpet inside, two wood-paneled bedrooms, a bath, a living room kitchen and a top deck. It is equipped with a gas barbecue grill, a small built-in television, gas range, refrigerator, white wicker furniture and yellow director's chairs.

Betty Ford Feeling Fine

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Former first lady Betty Ford has been discharged from the Eisenhower Medical Center after undergoing facelift surgery, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Mrs. Ford, who left the hospital Tuesday, was characteristically candid about her latest hospital stay when she entered the Palm Desert facility last week for the cosmetic surgery. She said doctors would remove puffiness around her eyes and tighten the skin on her neck.

Following the surgery, Ford family spokesman Bob Barrett said, "Everything went real well. She's feeling great."

Last April, Mrs. Ford underwent treatment at the Long Beach Naval Hospital for drug and alcohol dependence. Although doctors said she was having a "problem with medication" prescribed to dull the pain from arthritis and a pinched nerve in her neck, Mrs. Ford said later she was "not only addicted to the medication... but also to alcohol."

During her husband's presidency, Mrs. Ford had a cancerous breast removed. She won praise from the medical profession for her openness about the problem.

How They Voted In Congress

By Roll Call Report
WASHINGTON—Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Sept. 7 through Sept. 13.

HOUSE
OIL POLICY—Rejected, 194 for and 201 against, a motion to prohibit President Carter from imposing fees or quotas on imported oil. The vote was a victory for Carter's energy policy. He says the higher prices resulting from fees and quotas would discourage consumption of foreign oil. Spokesmen on the other side of the issue say such measures have the negative effect of holding back the price of domestic oil.

The motion would have forced House conferees on the Treasury appropriations bill (HR 12930) to agree to a Senate provision restricting the President's authority to regulate the price and availability of foreign oil.

Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, sponsor of the motion, said: "The imposition of a $5 import fee on crude oil would be nothing short of disastrous and it would have almost no effect on decreasing our import levels."

Scientist Finds A Clean Cotton

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Dr. H. Muramoto, a University of Arizona plant scientist, may well be able to bring respiratory relief to the world's more than two million textile mill workers. After eight years of research, he feels he's on the brink of presenting a cotton variety that drops its "bracts" early. Bract dust is a prime suspect as the cause of byssinosis, or brown lung disease. Bracts are those small leaves which grow beneath the flower. On current commercial cotton, they begin to dry, yet cling to the floral axis, after the plant has bloomed.

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., an opponent, said that by passing the motion the House "shall be saying to the world that we simply do not care, that we are content to keep coasting along fat, dumb, and happy, until we spend ourselves poor on foreign oil and waste it and run out of it."

Fortune In Comic Books

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Captain Fantasy doesn't want his real-life name used. He's afraid the Enemies of Justice or some other comic book villain gang might sneak in and swipe his collection of comics—110,000 strong.

By day, the captain is a mildmannered, $25,000-a-year corporate executive. By night, he's the comic book king of Tallahassee.

He started gathering comic books at age six and says his collection now is worth $350,000. It's insured through Lloyd's of London for $600,000. Another 13,500 hard-cover and soft-cover fantasy books are worth about $250,000, he said.

The Tallahassee Democrat said it checked with dealers around the country and found Captain Fantasy's estimates to be no fantasy at all. In fact, said the newspaper, the estimate may be low.

His single most valuable comic is "Marvel Mystery No. 1," a 1939 book containing the origins of Submariner and the Human Torch. It sold for a dime 40 years ago. Now, it's worth about $5,000.

Why not sell the books and quit working?

"It's my hobby," he said, insisting he will never sell the collection. "What would I do in my spare time if I sold my books? I'd have nothing to live for. I'd just spend the next 10 years trying to rebuild my collection."

and then we shall just depend on Divine Providence to protect us."

Most members voting "yea" were opposed to Presidentially-imposed fees and quotas on foreign oil imports.

Reps. Stephen Neal, D-5, Charles Rose, D-7, James Martin, R-9, and James Broyhill, R-10, voted "yea."

Reps. Walter Jones, D-1, L. H. Fountain, D-2, Charles Whitley, D-3, Ike Andrews, D-4, Richardson Preyer, D-6, W. C. Hefner, D-8, and Lamar Gudger, D-11, voted "nay."

AIRPORT AID—Adopted, 213 for and 147 against, an amendment authorizing an additional $25 million in each of fiscal 1979 and 1980 for federal grants to general aviation airports such as those that serve many smaller cities. The money is in addition to at least $30 million annually already included in HR 8729 for such airports. The bill, the Airport and Aircraft Noise Reduction Act of 1978, was headed for final passage and debate in the Senate.

The amendment also sets a new distribution formula that pleased smaller-state senators. The 425 million will be divided evenly among the 50 states, rather than disbursed on the existing formula that favors states with large populations and geographical size.

Rep. Joe Skubitz, R-Kan., the sponsor, said: "The general aviation industry will never reach its peak unless we provide an adequate airport system. Industry in small cities not served by air will always be handicapped, unless business managers can travel fast and expeditiously."

Rep. Dale Milford, D-Tex., an opponent, said: "To divide it equally between the 50 states in a stated amount totally disregards the distances involved, and the airplane attracts itself to those states where we have vast distances. For instance, California has the highest numbers of airplanes."

Members voting "yea" favored the increased aid and formula change.

Jones, Fountain, Whitley, Andrews, Rose, Martin, Broyhill and Duger voted "yea."

Neal, Preyer and Hefner did not vote.

VETERANS—Rejected, 149 for and 222 against, an amendment making it easier for veterans of the Vietnam theater to land Civil Service jobs. The amendment was unpopular because it also denied pre-Vietnam veterans the preference that now gives them an edge over non-veterans in competing for federal jobs. The amendment was proposed to HR 11280, the Civil Service reform bill later passed and sent to conference with the Senate.

The existing veterans' preference gives all veterans a five-point bonus on the Civil Service exam; disabled veterans get a ten-point bonus. The effect of this amendment, in part, was to deny the bonus points to individuals who entered the military before adoption of the Aug. 7, 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution. It also sought to limit the use of the veteran's preference to one time per veteran.

After this vote, the House voted to keep the preference in its present form—which means a veteran of any era can continue to use it an unlimited number of times in seeking a U.S. Civil Service job.

Rep. Don Bonior, D-Wash., the sponsor, said the preference "was meant as a readjustment tool" but that even with it Vietnam veterans "cannot compete with the more experienced older veteran who enjoys lifetime preference."

Rep. Richard White, D-Tex., said he opposed any tinkering with the existing preference because that would break "a promise made to those who entered the armed services."

Members voting "yea" favored sweetening the veterans' preference for many Vietnam-era vets to the detriment of pre-Vietnam vets.

Jones, Fountain, Whitley, Andrews, Neal, Preyer, Rose, Hefner, Martin, Broyhill and Gudger voted "nay."

CARTER VETO—Failed, 191 for and 206 against, to achieve the two-thirds majority necessary to overturn President Carter's veto of the $37 billion defense procurement bill for fiscal 1979. Since it takes only one house of Congress to sustain a veto, there will be no Senate vote on the issue. Carter based his veto on the bill's inclusion of $2 billion for construction of a nuclear aircraft carrier which he said the nation does not need.

Rep. Robert Sikes, D-Fla., a supporter of overriding, said the veto "may be the final action in the gradual surrender of America's leadership of the free world...Killing the carrier may help to kill America's hope for a non-communist world in the future."

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., an opponent of overriding, said: "This is a day we should support the President, not take away the influence he should wield as President of the U.S. If war comes with the Soviet Union, the difference between 12 and 13 carriers won't matter."

Jones, Fountain, Whitley, Martin, Broyhill and Gudger voted "yea."

Andrews, Neal, Preyer, Rose and Hefner voted "nay."

SENATE

FEDERAL JUDGES—Passed, 43 for and 31 against, a bill (S 1423) establishing a procedure for examining charges that a federal judge is incompetent or guilty of gross misconduct. Federal judges have lifetime appointments and, since they can be un-benched only by impeachment, there is virtually no watchdog over their performance.

The bill, which was sent to the House, would create a many-layered mechanism for screening and processing citizen complaints against federal judges. Judges so scrutinized would be federal district court judges, circuit judges, Supreme Court Justices, and court of claims, customs and patent judges. If an allegation made it to the end of the complaint process, a Court on Judicial Conduct and Disability could dismiss it or recommend to the House of Representatives that the jurist be impeached or censured.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., a supporter, said: "As a result of its cumbersome nature, impeachment does not act as a real deterrent to misconduct on the bench."

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., an opponent, questioned the constitutionality of the bill: "I do not think that the Founding Father's concept of an independent federal judiciary serving on good behavior included a review of every complaint about some unpopular federal judge."

Senators voting "yea" favored the review procedure for federal judges.

Sen. Robert Morgan, D, voted "yea."

Sen. Jesse Helms, R, did not vote.

Dr. Hatem...

of the former most prevalent diseases," he added, "and now heart diseases are the leading cause of death, with cancer in second place."

Dr. Hatem noted "In those years, the average life age was about 40. Now it is much older, and people live long enough to earn the blessings of the diseases of old age."

Although Dr. Hatem tactfully evaded questions from old acquaintances about his own state of health, he praised the skill and knowledge of specialists at Duke University who have been treating him for cancer during his visit to the U.S. "Let's just say I stopped at Duke on my way to visit Chapel Hill," he answered one direct question. He did add he would have a final check-up before leaving to return to China.

Dr. Hatem said when he returns to China, "I will still be active, working as an adviser to the Ministry of Health."

Among changes that have taken place in his long absence, Dr. Hatem remarked "one of the things that pleases me so much is the fine state of education in North Carolina. I have heard good things about the new ECU Medical School. It is my hope that in future years Chinese medical students will be coming to study in North Carolina, at Duke and at your new school here."

In a brief speech and in individual conversations with his Greenville friends, Dr. Hatem emphasized his concern for friendship and understanding between the peoples of China and the United States.

"I hope that I, and each of you, my old friends," he remarked, "will try to establish a deep understanding between over one billion people who live in China and America. I hope we will do our part to make this a safe, happy, at ease world for our future generations."

"It has been said that one of every four persons on the earth speak Chinese. And I suppose," he added with a smile, "the rest speak English." "When I first went to China, it was as a single individual. Now I have a family of ten. That," he commented, "is my contribution to China's almost 900 million."

Mrs. Hatem — Chou Su Fei — is a lovely woman whose hair still remains untouched by gray. Formerly an actress in film and stage, she is now a director of feature films at the Peking Film Studio.

"My son, Yu Ma," Dr. Hatem said, "is a photojournalist, and my daughter, Liang Bi is a school teacher. There's four lovely grandchildren, three grandsons and a granddaughter. Each of my children has two children."

Sam Underwood, Jr. hosted the class reunion, a follow-up to the 50th class reunion held last year when Greenville classmates talked by phone to Dr. Hatem in Peking.

"Shafick promised us then he'd pay us a visit, and we knew he would keep his promise," Underwood said.

In addition to Hatem and Underwood, ten other members of the 1927 class were on hand for the reunion — Louise Jones Lee, Eleanor Barr Coleman, Hubert C. Simmons, Jake M. Hadley, Elizabeth Page James, Florence Taft Blount, Lou Ray Roberson, Annie Turner, Lamisa Baker, and Edna Smith Forbes.

Several 1927 alumni who could not attend for various reasons sent letters and notes.

Dr. Hatem's brother, Joe Hatem of Roanoke Rapids, his wife, the former Marie Cannon of Farmville, and one of their sons, Greg, were also at the reunion.

In a sing-along following the dinner, they all joined in singing old favorites like "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow," and "Goodnight Sweetheart."

Just before leaving, Dr. Hatem told his friends, "On behalf of myself, my wife, my family and some 800 or 900 million others, I extend to you a warm welcome to come to visit us in China."

Demo Ticket Sales Boom

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Democratic Party officials say sales of tickets to a $500-a-couple fund-raiser that will feature an appearance by President Carter are exceeding expectations.

Charles H. Smith, co-chairman of the event scheduled for Friday night at Asheville, said officials had hoped to sell 100 tickets.

"But after checking Sunday with each of our 11 congressional district coordinators, we find we've moved 131 and expect to sell another 20," Smith said Tuesday. "We'd been pretty down-in-the-mouth until then because of slow sales."

Smith said the guest list for the fund-raiser, which had to be postponed from last Friday because of the peace talks at Camp David, looks like "a who's who in the North Carolina Democratic Party."

Carter is scheduled to arrive at the Asheville-Hendersonville

Airport shortly after 4 p.m. and attend a rally for Rep. Lamar Gudger, D-N.C. He is scheduled to attend the outdoor reception on behalf of Democratic U.S. Senate candidate John Ingram at the Biltmore Estate from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m.

debts and continue operating. The plan that was turned down Tuesday called for the church to pay creditors their principal investment without interest by 1996.

Richard F. Cook of Atlanta, the attorney representing the church, later said the church will try to refinance the building in 1985, after the first mortgage to Clyde Savings and Loan is paid off. Another attorney said approval of a new loan would permit full reimbursement of creditors.

Creditors Rebuff Plan

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A second plan for Emanuel Baptist Church of Dunn to repay debts of about $500,000 was rejected Tuesday by creditors of the church.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Thomas M. Moore postponed issuing an order for sale of the church's assets and scheduled another hearing for Oct. 12 after an attorney for the church made a third offer to creditors.

The church and 151 unsecured bond holders have been trying since last September to reach an agreement under which the church could avoid bankruptcy by paying off its construction

State Department Aware Of Alcoholism Problem

By BARTON REPPERT
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Hal Marley positioned his tall frame in the center of the darkening room as late afternoon edged toward cocktail time and another evening of well-oiled diplomatic receptions.

Marley was here to talk about a problem that is not much discussed — alcoholism among State Department employees, men and women whose job representing America abroad often calls for them to attend parties and receptions at which booze is almost pressed upon them.

Scanning the audience of U.S. Embassy officers gathered around him, Marley recounted how his own alcoholism — resulting in his ouster from the Air Force more than a decade ago — put him and his family through "a living hell."

But, he declared firmly: "There's no reason for anyone in this room to become an alcoholic."

Marley, 63, is head of the State Department's Alcohol Awareness Program, designed to provide treatment for incipient alcoholics before their condition has progressed to an acute stage.

"If you're a potential alcoholic and you don't nip it in the bud, your career is going to be ruined because this is a progressive disease — it never gets better by itself, it only gets worse," he told one Embassy group during a Moscow visit this week.

Referring to acute alcohol addiction, Marley added: "I've seen basket cases from all over the world."

Marley said in an interview that so far, the alcohol program — begun in the early 1970s — has treated only a fraction of the overall number of State Department employees, both in Washington and abroad, who are believed to suffer from alcohol-related problems.

He noted that according to U.S. Civil Service guidelines,

"roughly 6 percent of the adult working population who use alcohol develop problems."

"On the basis of that, we say there are roughly 1,500 alcoholics — these are all just guesstimates — in the State Department," Marley said. "Last year we treated a little over 150. So it's just the tip of the iceberg."

The State Department program was set up under federal legislation defining alcoholism as a disease and mandating that all federal departments and agencies set up medical programs for treating it.

The program involves a 28-day basic treatment period — for alcohol detoxification in a hospital, plus psychotherapy and family counseling — followed by additional counseling as needed.

Marley said a statistical evaluation had shown that about 90 percent of employees who go through the program remain free of alcohol problems for at least one year afterward.

"We don't say you graduate from it, or finish it," he said. "Our program is a way of life." Employees who take part in the program, Marley said, "find that they can do everything they ever did in their life better without booze than with it — and continue that way. They don't ever have to drink again."

He stressed that the program is run on a "medical confidential basis." One of his biggest tasks, Marley said, is to assure employees that coming into the program for treatment will not jeopardize their job security or promotion opportunities.

Illustrating the degree to which alcoholism has lost its official stigma, Marley said three foreign service officers in the program had later been promoted to the senior rank of deputy chief of mission — No. 2 official — at diplomatic posts abroad.

He noted that serving overseas may tend to accelerate the onset of serious drinking problems as parties and receptions are part of one's duties.

"If you're a potential alcoholic in Washington and you continue to drink, the normal progression is that it takes 10 to 12 years to become an alcoholic."

"If that same individual went overseas, due to the availability of liquor — more parties, representational duties — that 12-year period might be condensed down to two years," Marley said.

In this Soviet capital, as an example, liquor is not in short supply at social gatherings. At Soviet-sponsored functions, a guest trying to retain a modicum of sobriety finds himself fending off his hosts as they pour ever more straight vodka for ever more toasts.

And during cocktail parties given by foreigners, it's not unusual for white-aproned Russian maids to circulate continually, beckoning with large trays of drinks.

Compounding the situation is the very low cost of liquor for foreigners. At a special hard-currency store for diplomats and other resident foreigners, a fifth of superior scotch sells for only 2 rubles — $2.98 — less than half its cost in the United States.

Republicans Plug Automatic Tax Cuts

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans on the Senate Finance Committee are plugging for a system of automatic tax cuts to keep inflation from pushing wage earners into ever-higher income tax brackets.

Sponsored chiefly by Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kansas, the "tax-indexing" plan would require yearly increases in personal exemption and standard deduction as well as cuts in individual tax rates pegged to the rate of inflation.

The indexing measure, scheduled for a committee vote today, represents an attempt by the Republicans to bounce back after failing three times Tuesday to pass the Roth-Kemp proposal to cut individual income taxes by an average of 33 percent over the next three years.

Meanwhile, the Republicans began a coast-to-coast flying caravan today with party leaders such as former President Gerald Ford and former California Gov. Ronald Reagan talking tax reform and boosting GOP candidates.

They are carrying the message that a big change in taxes will require a big change in the composition of Congress.

Back in the Senate committee, Dole argued his case this way Tuesday in a statement:

"The average family of four earned $15,000 last year. The effective tax rate on that income is about 9 percent, or $1,400. Assuming the inflation rate is at 7 percent and the family keeps up by a cost-of-living increase, the family next year will earn $16,050.

"The family, of course, has not increased its spending power of the previous year. However, the family is now confronted with an 11-percent effective tax rate and a new tax bill that is nearly $1,600."

Dole calls that $200 difference to his hypothetical family "an unlegislated tax hike that cheats the American worker." Under his proposal, it would be offset by a 7 percent increase in deductions allowed the family and by expanding the tax rate tables to allow a 7 percent increase in wages without going into a higher tax bracket.

Opponents say the Dole amendment, which would be for a two-year trial period beginning in 1980, would worsen inflation by raising the federal deficit, forcing the government to borrow more money and giving taxpayers little incentive for their own inflation fight.

The committee, writing its own version of a $16.3 billion tax cut approved by the House, also is nearing a final decision on how the House bill should be changed to direct more of the tax cuts to low- and middle-income taxpayers.

In a major decision Tuesday, the panel voted new tax relief for business by increasing from 20 percent to 30 percent the asset-depreciation range.

The sponsor, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said this would stimulate plant modernization and increase productivity, resulting in more output per dollar spent and, thus, less inflation. It would cost $513 million next year.

New President Of Association

Bob Wicks of Greenville was elected president of the Pitt County Foster Parents Association during the organization's recent meeting at the Moyewood Center.

The election took place during the association's regular quarterly session. Wicks, a life underwriter with Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co. here, has been with the company since January of 1977. Prior to joining Jefferson Standard, he served as sports information director at Campbell College and sports editor of the "Washington Daily News."

The new president is married to the former Betty Bowen of Whiteville.

FORECAST FOR THURS., SEPT. 21, 1978:

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Some new ideas can be helpful to you so be openminded to them. However, avoid conditions, personalities and situations from the past since they can limit you in making progress that is important to your advancement. Think situations out logically.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Concentrate on those creative ideas you have and make headway, avoiding less important work. A loved one is helpful in gaining a cherished desire.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Forget time-wasting recreation and concentrate on how to expand at this time and be more successful. New projects are fine but old ones are not good to pursue right now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A letter you receive is an opportunity to advance in your career. Kin may not understand and could buck you, but ignore it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get into the financial side of dealings with adviser and come to a good understanding. Be willing to work and gain personal goals more readily.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Talk matters over with a progressive friend and plan the future more wisely, but keep quiet about money matters. Get into amusements you like at the end of the day.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Follow through on a new interest that could bring you more acclaim with the public in general. Handling a credit affair wisely is important.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get busy with a good friend and study into a new project that can be mutually helpful. Stop worrying about something you can do nothing about.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Avoid a friend who wants to waste your time. Be with loved ones more. A good day to handle a responsibility that has been difficult to do before this.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Change your attitude toward an associate and your affairs together work out better. Steer clear of an irate higher-up. Focus your attention on business affairs and you accomplish much.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find a better way to do your work so that you become more efficient and enjoy more profits. Avoid anything of a bizarre nature.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take time to be with a clever individual at recreational pursuits and learn about modern system of doing things. Be more careful about payments and collections.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Steer clear of an irate partner and busy yourself making needed home improvements. Do some entertaining at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be a New Era product and will care very little for old-fashioned ideas and systems, but will do well where the modern is concerned. Teach early to be kind to others and to recognize their best qualities. Give praise where due.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Nuke Town Residents Weigh Jobs And The Risks

By JOAN MOWER
BARNWELL, S.C. (UPI) — While the debate over nuclear dumping roars around them, most residents of the tiny town of Barnwell, a center for nuclear activity in the country, are unconcerned.

"People around here think this whole ruckus is a joke," said Rodman Lemon, Barnwell's congenial 62-year-old mayor who would rather talk about Clemson University football than nuclear dumping.

"I've told people over and over that I think it's more dangerous to work on my farm than to work at one of these facilities," said Lemon.

For Lemon and scores of other residents of rural Barnwell County, everything about the nuclear industry has been positive: more jobs, more money and more growth.

But there is a small, vocal band of critics who disagree.

"I'm so concerned about the concentration of waste and nuclear activity that I participated in an act of civil disobedience last spring," said Robert Warren, an attorney who works in Allendale County, 17 miles from Barnwell.

On the outside, Barnwell is a typical small, languorous Southern town with a tree-shaded square and a imposing white-columned courthouse.

It is the nearby nuclear facilities which make it unique. Three miles from the center of town sits a gate leading to the massive Savannah River Plant, a federal facility under contract to Dupont de Nemours and Co.

SRP, a 300-square mile facility employing 8,000 people, makes more nuclear materials for the Defense Department than any other plant in the country, spokesman David Peek said.

The Allied-General Nuclear Services plant, an inoperative commercial nuclear reprocessing plant, is located four miles from Barnwell. President Carter's decision to defer commercial reprocessing indefinitely has stalled plans to open the facility, the largest commercial plant in the world.

"The only thing I ever hear is 'is the government going to give AGNS enough money to operate?'" said Barnwell Sheriff George Hogg. The facility is currently under contract to the federal government to do research and development.

Nearby is Chem-Nuclear Services Inc., the country's largest low-level nuclear waste burial ground, according to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Chem-Nuclear, described by Mayor Lemon as "nicer than a golf course," is one of three similar facilities remaining in the country.

A decision by officials in Illinois to close a site there resulted in an influx of lowlevel waste into South Carolina, prompting nuclear opponents to label the state the country's "the nuclear dumping ground."

Residents of the area and officials for the facilities say there have never been any nuclear accidents at the plants.

"My husband works at Savannah River and he wears a little badge to detect radioactivity," said a waitress at Pete's Restaurant. "Whenever it gets too high, they put him on another job," she said. "He's never been sick."

But even Republican Gov. James B. Edwards, a strong advocate of nuclear energy, has called for stricter safeguards in the transportation of nuclear materials into South Carolina. At least one mishap has occurred in the shipping of radioactive goods.

Mary B. Crum, who lives in nearby Denmark, on a highway leading to Barnwell, said she has seen unprotected flat-bed trucks hauling radioactive waste by her house.

"I'm not against nuclear energy, but I think something should be done about these flagrant violations in shipments," Mrs. Crum said.

Warren said he is pushing for new studies into the cancer rate of the area. An outside study showed South Carolina had one of the fastest growing cancer rates in the country, he said.

"No one has ever studied exactly what the effects of this pollution are on the environment or on the health of the people," he said.

But Mayor Lemon isn't worried about the long-range effects of radioactivity because, "you could get killed just crossing the street."

All he sees are the positive things the nuclear industry has done.

"Before Savannah River came in here, this was just a little farming community and now we've got a strong economy and we've got some industry."

Vexed by Varicose Veins

I have large varicose veins. They came on suddenly after I gave birth to my third child. I'm 43 years old and would like to do something about them, preferably without surgery. Are there any new methods to do this? — Mrs. S.S., Ind.

Dear Mrs. S.:
Your varicose veins did not come on suddenly. They probably were present, but became worse after the birth of your third child. This is not uncommon. True, they can be unsightly, but more important they can be responsible for chronic fatigue and a general lack of energy.

Techniques known as "ligation" and "stripping" are hospital procedures done under local or general anesthesia. The results are very gratifying in most instances.

Unfortunately, many people, in an effort to avoid an operation, will be tempted to do almost anything. The result is that valuable time is wasted, and simple varicose veins are converted into complex problems because of the delay.

I recently learned that children can be heroin addicts when they're born. Does this mean that drug addiction is hereditary? I'm petrified because my husband was an addict when he was 20 years old; he has been clean since then. He is now 44. I am 32. We were recently married. — Mrs. C.B.B., Ill.

Dear Mrs. B.:
Addiction to heroin is not hereditary. It is in no way related to the genes or the chromosomes of the mother or father. This misconception arises because of the report that some children, shortly after birth, were found dead in their cribs without any logical explanation for this calamity.

It was learned that these children were born heroin addicts because the mothers had been taking heroin during pregnancy. The heroin intoxication was passed on to the unborn children. Some women who are taking heroin are afraid to reveal this to their doctors for fear of legal prosecution. When pregnant women who are addicted tell this to their doctors, it is now possible to withdraw the newborn baby from heroin and save its life.

Since you are not involved with heroin and your husband is now free of this terrible addiction, there should be no concern that any possible pregnancy will be affected.

Chemist Speaks At Nat'l Event

ECU News Bureau
Dr. Angelo Volpe, chairman of the East Carolina University Department of Chemistry, reported on his research and directed a session at the recent convention of the American Chemical Society in Miami Beach.

His report, "Synthesis of Diels-Alder Polymers via Benzene Intermediates," was delivered at a once convention session, and he presided at another session, "Advances in Condensation Polymerization."

Dr. Volpe, an active researcher in the structure and processes of monomers and polymers, has published results of these studies in several scientific journals.

He joined the ECU faculty last year.

seven years. She participated in volunteer work here and taught in the city schools' Gifted and Talented Program before returning to East Carolina University to work on her master's degree in rehabilitation. Mrs. Easterling, who earlier received a B.A. degree from Columbia College and a M.Ed. degree from the University of South Carolina, completed work this past year on her master's degree at ECU.

She is a member of Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church, the Montage Book Club, and Welcome Wagon Club.

Mrs. Easterling and her husband, Gene, an employee of the Du Pont Co., have two daughters.

Commenting on her role in the campaign, she noted, "I am happy to work with the retired citizens in this United Fund effort. Those of us who are lucky will someday join them."

Mrs. Easterling added, "Prime time is life time" and retired citizens have so much to offer as models for a good philosophy of life. To work with them, to know them, to be able to use them as a resource, is an opportunity to grow."

Idaho Is Suing A Motorcycle

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — The state couldn't convict the rider, so it filed suit against his motorcycle.

Kelly Pearce, director of the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement, filed suit Tuesday in 7th District Court against a 1970 Honda 750.

The suit alleges the motorcycle was used to transport marijuana and should be awarded to the state.

The case against the motorcycle's rider, Allen Ireland of Idaho Falls, was dismissed Aug. 29. But the case against his bike lingers.

and for 10 or 11 additional nurses if services of the center are to be increased. The number of clients as of last night was 37, it was pointed out.

Ambulance Committee Chairman Eldon Coltraine reported that it is being looked into as to whether the hospital and eliminate the need to pick up checks. Some like the idea; some don't, he indicated.

Hospital representatives will attend a meeting to be held Friday at the Willis Building here to better understand the ramifications of House Bill 802 concerning the repeal of public drunkenness offense statutes, Richardson said.

Chief of the Medical Staff Dr. Jack Welch reported on two medical audits recently completed, one on diagnosis of fever of undetermined etiology and another on atopic pregnancies.

Dr. William Laupus, ECU Medical School Dean, said he enjoyed a meeting held in Boston for medical school deans. He also reported on a visit of representatives of the Society for Health and Human Values.

He said a hearing concerning phone rates for Pitt and several other hospitals is set for Oct. 25. In the meantime rates have not been increased, he said.

Study is being made of how the hospital can better use the county computer, which will be moved to the old hospital building when it is fully renovated, probably about a year from now.

Pediatrics evening clinics at the hospital are being considered, he said, and a meeting to discuss this possibility is set for Oct. 6.

An affiliation agreement between the hospital and the ECU School of Nursing has been entered into. A careful look at workmen's compensation benefits for students and whether these are warranted is being made, he said.

Assistant Administrator Rick Gilstrap and Director of Nursing Jean Owens reported on a meeting attended that day concerning mandatory continuing education for registered nurses and licensed practical nurses. It is their feeling, both indicated, that while continuing education is good and necessary it should be the responsibility of the individual nurse, not of the employing agency. The cost in tuition and in working hours lost should not be passed on to the patient. Hospital Board members voiced their agreement. Two who are teachers, Eugene James and Mildred Indorf, said teachers must take responsibility for keeping up their certificates and nurses should, also.

Richardson said hospital employees are being questioned as to whether they prefer a checkless payroll system, in which pay would be deposited directly in their bank accounts by the hospital and eliminate the need to pick up checks. Some like the idea; some don't, he indicated.

Navy Has Bought His Silver Sausage

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Saul Slater has built a hovering blimp, and the Navy thinks the design is just dandy for a vehicle to use for coastal patrol and ocean surveillance.

The Navy bought the 73-year-old Slater's first blimp—a 19-footer. He now plans to build a new silver sausage—this one 110-foot-long.

"I thought it would be nice to have something to float around in," Slater said. "I can make it go sideways. Up. Down. It hovers."

"A number of companies have come up with designs for a blimp that can hover," says John Eney of the Navy's Lighter Than Air Project. "But Slater went ahead and built one."

Eney says Slater's blimp has the smooth ride, endurance and energy savings the Navy was looking for.

"If a cheap blimp could be built—one that sold for $150,000—it could compete with yachts," Slater says. "I don't say it would replace the boat. But there are lots of people who'd like to sail around in the air."

Police List 2 Accidents

An estimated $4,000 property damage resulted from two traffic collisions investigated yesterday by Greenville Police.

Investigators said heaviest damage resulted from a 9:30 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Bancroft Avenue and Farmville Boulevard involving cars driven by Josie Belle Belcher of Bridgeport, Conn., and Brenda Joyce Maye of Route 2, Farmville.

Miss Belcher was charged with failing to stop for a stop light by officers who estimated damage at $1,000 to the Belcher car and $1,500 to the Maye vehicle.

Elizabeth Louise Ward of 1106 Ragsdale Rd. was charged with failing to reduce her speed enough to avoid an accident following investigation of a 9 a.m. collision on Elm Street, 50 feet North of the Brookgreen Avenue intersection.

Police reported the Ward car collided with a vehicle driven by Samuel Newell Pearce Jr. of 129 North Library St., causing an estimated $1,000 damage to the Ward car and $500 damage to the Pearce auto.

A 26-hour fire in 1784 destroyed 10,000 buildings in Constantinople.

ECC Teams Enter League Competition

NP's Tim Corey

Corey Finds He Likes Trench

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer
Life in the trenches is not all that bad, North Pitt's Tim Corey has found out...

Corey made the transition from tight end and defensive end to down lineman last year, and although he was at first reluctant, once he made the adjustment he found out he likes the action up front.

The change was Panther head coach Pat Smith's idea. "He said the team was small and he could use me better at offensive guard and defensive tackle..."

The team's passing game wasn't all that great when Corey was playing tight end, so that aspect of the game really wasn't too enjoyable, anyway, he said.

North Pitt has gotten off to a blazing start this season, winning its first three ballgames and giving up only one touchdown in the process. The team begins Eastern Carolina Conference play Friday night against C. B. Aycock Friday night.

The Panthers had never won an opening game before this year and had never taken three in one season. The success of the first few weeks of the season has had a great effect on team morale, Corey said.

"This year is a whole new aspect of football. The team has got more spirit, and I think they enjoy practice. I don't mind practicing and I get more psyched up for games. We used to drag through practice."

Corey said the team "never knew what it was like to win. But, we won our first game and built from there. We have something to work for this year."

This year's team is not the biggest North Pitt has ever had, but the players have a lot of spirit and don't mind hitting, according to Corey.

The Panthers are ready for a taste of conference play. "A whole lot of people have said the teams we beat we should have beaten. We've got to prove ourselves. I think the team is looking forward to the conference games."

Corey plays baseball at North Pitt, and has played basketball in the past, although he is not sure if he will try out for the team this year. He said he doesn't have any particular hobbies besides "playing ball," but he likes to read if the book is good.

Corey has plans to attend college after this year, his senior year. He would like to go to North Carolina or East Carolina.

Right now, he's concentrating on life in the trenches, opening holes on offense and closing them on defense for the Panthers.

LUCK OF THE IRISH SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame became the first college football team to receive more than $1 million for a bowl game when the check arrived for last January's Cotton Bowl game in Dallas.

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer
Now the real fun begins. For the past three weeks, the Eastern Carolina Conference football teams have been butting heads with outside competition. They have each had three games to try some new things and work out some kinks. Starting this week, the games count.

For the most part, the non-conference portion of the season has been an inauspicious one for the four Pitt County schools in the ECC. Ayden-Grifton, D. H. Conley, Farmville Central and North Pitt. Only the Panthers of North Pitt have survived the first three games unscathed. The Panthers' latest victory was a 24-6 win over Zebulon Friday night.

Farmville Central got back on the winning track Friday night with a surprisingly easy 45-12 shellacking of Havelock. The Jaguars are now 2-1. D. H. Conley, which started the season a week early, didn't have a game this past week. The Vikings remain 1-2. And Ayden-Grifton, which had high hopes before the season began, is still struggling. The Chargers dropped their third game Friday night, a 14-0 decision to Washington.

In this week's action, North Pitt is at C. B. Aycock. Farmville Central travels to Greene Central. D. H. Conley hosts North Lenoir and Ayden-Grifton is at Southern Nash.

North Pitt
The Panther defense gave up its first points of the season to Zebulon, but not until North Pitt had built up a 24-point lead and had the game well in hand Friday night.

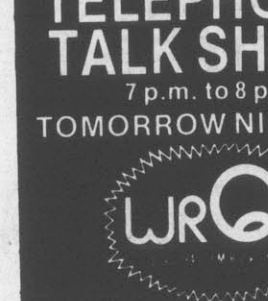

"I was pleased with our overall defense, but watching the films, I saw we made a few more mistakes than I thought," North Pitt coach Pat Smith said. "The Panther defense provided most of the fireworks in the team's win, scoring three of the four touchdowns. Two came on long returns by William Knight, cond by a 15-5 score. Despite having only four leta punt return of 76 yards and an interception return of 62 yards. The other came when Mickey Hines recovered a blocked punt in the end zone.

The North Pitt specialty teams drew praise from Smith for the blocked punt and long punt return. In addition, the coach said the team covered kicks well. Knight and guard Eddie Cox received individual accolades.

The Panthers are not without problems, however. "We've got to work on our passing game. We are going to have to throw the ball some," Smith said.

The C. B. Aycock game will match teams which run similar offenses and defenses, Smith said. "They know what to expect and we know what to expect."

The Falcons are a more physical ballclub than any the Panthers have faced this year and Smith feels they will be the best team North Pitt has played. "They're 1-2, but they have played some good football teams. It's going to be a tough game."

Farmville Central
The Jaguars rolled over Havelock Friday night in a game that was surprisingly one-sided. "I was expecting a little bit closer ballgame than that," Jaguar coach Gene Brewer said. "I think we caught Havelock down or something. I think they've got a better ballclub than we saw Friday night."

DHC's Shawn Carson

Brewer said his club had an above average effort in the ballgame and there were some who played real well. Still, there were some mistakes, he said, especially two defensive breakdowns that led to the two Havelock touchdowns.

"(Donald) Freeman and Donald Reid both did exceptional jobs offensively," Brewer said. "The offensive line blocking was good with Ronald Reid, Phillip Gordon, Rodney Faulkner and Allen Moore. And our receivers caught the ball well."

On the defensive side, Brewer said the whole front did well, especially Donald Reid, who "had a real good night."

The Jaguars face Greene Central this week. "It's our first conference game, probably our biggest rivalry and we've got to go down there," Brewer commented. "There's not much else you can say about it: it's going to be tough."

Despite another loss, Charger coach Dixon Sauls insisted his team continued to show improvement. "We threatened four times, and should have scored with better execution," Sauls said. "We had a breakdown in blocking schemes and defensive assignments." Other than two defensive breakdowns, the Chargers held the Pam-Pack pretty well, Sauls said.

The coach was happy with the fact that his team's offense opened up a bit and got 17 first downs. He said center Corky Teachey, guard Ron Cox and fullback Billy Holland all had a good game.

This week's opponent, Southern Nash, is an improved football team, Sauls said. "They defeated 4-A Northern Nash and lost to a strong Hunt team. They've got outstanding running backs and good athletes on defense."

To have a shot, the Chargers must continue to work on developing a passing attack. Sauls said the team is having trouble catching the football, protecting the quarterback and reading pass defenses.

In addition, the team will have to play solid defense and prevent the big play which has been so costly in the past three ballgames.

D. H. Conley
The Vikings were idle last week, but coach Chuck Dunn isn't sure whether the layoff will help or hurt his team. Conley won its first ballgame, but dropped the last two.

In practice last week, Dunn said the Vikes made some personnel changes on defense in an effort to strengthen the unit's weak points. The team is also working hard on fundamentals.

Conley should be strong health-wise when it takes the field against North Lenoir Friday night with only one questionable player, but Dunn is unsure how the week off will affect his team.

"Sometimes you just get stale," the coach said. "Hopefully, it has helped us, but it's hard to tell."

The Hawks are undefeated, according to Dunn, and the team's defense has yet to give up a point. "They always have a good football team and have always had a good game against us. I expect it to be a good football game."

People gave up on Mike Caldwell three years ago. People gave up on the Boston Red Sox three days ago.

Both are alive and well, however, and they've revived the pennant race in the American League East.

Caldwell completed a four-year comeback from elbow surgery when he won his 20th game of the season Tuesday night, pitching a four-hit, 10-strikeout masterpiece as the Milwaukee Brewers stopped the

New York Yankees 2-0.
Brewers 2, Yankees 0

"It was just another typical ballgame against the Yankees this year," said Caldwell, a 29-year-old left-hander who pitched his third shutout of the season against the Yankees and sixth overall, a team record. His 20 wins and 22 complete games tied club records.

"I never gave up on myself," said Caldwell, 20-9, who joined New York's Ron Guidry as the major leagues' only 20-game winners. Milwaukee nicked Dick Tidrow for a run in the third inning on Robin Yount's double and Don Money's single. Yount hit his ninth homer in the fifth.

Red Sox 3, Tigers 6

Yastrzemski, who has been hampered by a sore hand, belted a three-run homer in the first inning for the Red Sox. Detroit bounced right back at Jason Thompson's grand slam homer in the bottom of the first, but Yastrzemski's two-run double highlighted a four-run uprising in the fourth inning that put Boston back on top.

Phils' Lead Down To 1

By The Associated Press

The National League season is dwindling down to its last precious few days — and the Philadelphia Phillies' lead in the NL East Division has dwindled down to one precious — and precarious — game over the onrushing Pittsburgh Pirates.

The stumbling Phillies suffered their fifth setback in nine games Tuesday night, bowing to the Montreal Expos 5-2, while the Pirates outslugged the Chicago Cubs 12-11 in 11 innings for their seventh straight victory and 30th in 38 games.

With 12 games remaining, including four against each other at Pittsburgh in the final three days of the season, the Phillies have an 82-69 record and the Pirates are 81-69.

Pittsburgh's Dave Parker slugged his second homer of the game and 29th of the season in the 11th inning off Chicago's ace reliever, Bruce Sutter. Parker, the National League's leading batter with a .327 average, also had two singles and drove in four runs, boosting his league leading total to 111 RBI.

Bill Robinson also smacked two homers for the Pirates and Phil Garner hit a two-run homer. Bill Buckner and Dave Kingman homered for the Cubs in Chicago's friendly Wrigley Field.

The Atlanta Braves edged Houston 3-2, although the Astros' J.R. Richard set a National League strikeout record for right-handers. The San Diego Padres downed the San Francisco Giants 4-1 and the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Mets 5-3.

Expos 5, Phillies 2

Montreal, playing the role of spoiler, beat Philadelphia for the eighth time in 13 meetings this year. The Expos overcame a 2-1 deficit with three runs in the seventh inning

Braves 3, Astros 2

Richard, Houston's towering fireballer, broke Tom Seaver's National League single-season record of 289 strikeouts for a right-hander by fanning Bob Horner in the seventh inning for his 11th strikeout of the game.

Ironically, Horner later got the winning hit — a run-producing double off Joaquin Andujar in the ninth.

Dodgers 8, Reds 0

Rhoden, 10-7, retired the last 17 batters, struck out two and didn't walk anyone in shackling the power-hitting Reds and giving the Dodgers an 8½-game lead over Cincinnati.

Steve Garvey, playing in his 500th straight game, doubled home the Dodgers' first run, while Lee Lacy had two doubles, a single and drove in three runs.

Padres 4, Giants 1

Jerry Turner's three-run homer backed the eight-hit pitching of Bob Ovwchinko and Rollie Fingers as San Diego handed the Giants their 12th loss in 14 games

Cardinals 5, Mets 3

Ken Reitz's two-out, two-run double in the eighth inning broke a 3-3 tie and lifted St. Louis past New York.

Lady Bucs Start

With one of the toughest schedules in the history of the East Carolina field hockey team facing her team, coach Laurie Arrants hopes for the speedy development of a young squad.

Eight lettermen return from last year's team which saw the Pirates go 4-6 while being outscored by only five goals

At the left wing halfback, outstanding freshman Carol Beicher will get the starting nod. She has good speed, attacks the cage well and is expected to develop into one of the top field hockey players at East Carolina. At the wing halfback will be co-captain Sally Birch, a senior with three letters.

At left attack will be last year's leading scorer, Suzanne Jones. Donna Nicholson will be switching from inner attack to wing. She has been noted for her excellent stickwork even though she is only a sophomore.

At the important goalie position Leigh Summer returns for her sophomore year. Considered to be outstanding by her coach, she is only in her second year of organized field hockey.

The center position will be held down by the leading defensive player on last year's team, Montine Swain. She is also a co-captain.

At right attack junior letterman Katherine Zwigard returns. She topped the team in scoring and assists her freshman year.

Depth will be a problem this year and with such a rigorous schedule, conditioning will be a factor as well.

The Pirates host Old Dominion Thursday at 3:30 p.m.

Sherrill Is Thankful For A Chance To Kick

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Perhaps to Lou Holtz, anyone can kick a football, but to the man who used to kick for him, it was a chance of a lifetime.

Jay Sherrill, who booted them through the uprights with great regularity for the N.C. State Wolfpack for several years, was the featured speaker at the Greenville Sports Club yesterday.

He told the club about working under "three fine gentlemen" who coached him, Holtz, Bo Rein and Tom Landry. Holtz, now the head coach at Arkansas, was coach for two years while Sherrill was at State, with Rein taking over for the final two years. Landry, coach of the Dallas Cowboys, worked with Sherrill until he was a late cut by the NFL team. "The first time I saw Holtz, I looked at him and wondered who he was," Sherrill recalled, saying the coach's youthful looks made him a non-prototype of a football coach. Holtz worked with Sherrill's kicking motion to that of a golf swing.

"Rein just left me alone and let me do my own thing," Sherrill said. "Landry also compared the kicking motion to a golf swing."

Sherrill said he learned that mental toughness helps in the NFL.

"The Good Lord gave me the ability to be a good kicker," he said. "Football is an opportunity. Dallas was an opportunity. Getting cut was not a traumatic experience for me. I just figured that the Lord would provide a better opportunity for me. I think he has."

Sherrill is now working with the State football program, working with the ROTC program to get in some of his reserve duty, continuing his education, and working with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Sherrill was asked how a kicker could miss an easy, short field goal. "It's easy if you lose your concentration," he said. "It requires total concentration to get the job done. And you can let the pressure get to you, too. I just can't ever think that if I miss we'll lose the game."

He was also asked what happened to Dallas Sunday in its loss to Los Angeles. "Well," Sherrill joked, "I heard Jimmy the Greek say that Dallas would lose because of its kicking game. Maybe they need me after all." (Sherrill later said he did not expect to be recalled by Dallas under any circumstances.)

"I guess they just didn't want it that much," he added.

He was also asked how he felt about playing East Carolina, and whether any of the State players resented having to play the Pirates. "I hated 'em," he said. "No, I really liked playing East Carolina. We're got a good rivalry there. East Carolina has a building program that hasn't reached its peak yet."

WPTF radio personality Wally Ausley, the voice of the Wolfpack, will be the guest speaker for October 3, it was announced. Woody Durham of WPTF-TV, and the Tar Heel sports network announcer, will be the speaker on October 17. Tom Butters, Duke University athletic director, will be here on November 7. Dave Rowe, former member of the Oakland Raiders, is to be a later speaker.

Champ Promotes Product

World Heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali spoons through a dish of health food which he was promoting for Dick Gregory, right, at a Chicago press conference Tuesday. Calling Gregory his nutrition specialist, Ali said he attributed his victory over Leon Spinks in New Orleans last week "to God, Allah, and the formula." (AP Laserphoto)

Defense Is Strength Of Cajuns

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Last year when East Carolina's Pirates met Southwestern Louisiana, the Bucs were warned of the offensive attack of Roy Henry, "Mr. Magic."

But it wasn't Henry's magic that did the Bucs in in a 9-7 defeat. It was the toe of John Reveto, who kicked three field goals.

ter winners returning, the Pirates will have a mature, experienced squad with the addition of three junior college transfers.

Rosie Thompson tops the list of monogram winners from last year's 19-13 squad which includes Linda McClellan, Joy Forbes and Sandy Sampson.

Bicky Beauchamp and Ginny Rodgers from Anne Arundel (Md.) Community College along with LaVonda Duncan and Phyllis Burrell from Louisiana State head the list of newcomers.

A standout setter, Duncan is expected to offer immediate assistance with her talents, while a taller Pirate team in 1978 is expected to demonstrate improved play on the back line as well as better blocking at the net.

"We have more depth and experience this fall," said coach Alita Dillon. "The junior college transfers are talented players and will help us to have improved skills. I'm counting on improving our record from last year, too."

Thursday, the Pirates travel to Duke to meet the Blue Devils and Wake Forest before hosting UNC-Greensboro Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in Minges Coliseum.

on the Ragin' Cajun team, is gone now, and the quarterback situation is still unsettled after two games. But Reveto is back, and in those two games has provided the Cajuns with their only points of the year.

In the two thus far, Southwestern lost to Long Beach State, 10-0, and to Tulsa, 10-3.

"They are still playing two quarterbacks," ECU assistant Bobby Wallace said. The two are senior Ken Mathews and sophomore David Guidry.

"They'll throw the ball," Wallace said. "They tried to pass 38 times against Tulsa. Both of the quarterbacks are good throwers, but Guidry is more likely to run with it." The Cajuns run from the 1 and the split back sets.

Wallace rates fullback Allen Strambler as the "toughest" man on the Southeastern squad. "They also have real good wide receivers in David Gray and Nat Durant. Durant is quick and is a game breaker. Their tight end from last year transferred out, but Mark Vaughn, whom they moved in from quarterback, is a fine athlete and also has good

SON OF BOOM-BOOM
QUEBEC (AP) — The Quebec Nordiques of the World Hockey Association were hoping they were getting a chip off the old block of ice when they signed Dan Geoffron, a fast right-winger who stands 5-11 and weighs 185 pounds.

Dan is the son of the redoubtable Bernie "Boom-Boom" Geoffron, a long-time star for the Montreal Canadiens and possessor of one of the hardest shots in hockey in his day.

Wallace said the Cajun line is inexperienced, but has good quickness. "They are not real big, and are a lot like Western Carolina. They're scrappy and stay after you."

In the tailback position, Wallace said two players had been used almost equally, Booker Price and Barry Herbert, both juniors.

Defensively, Wallace feels the Pirates have seen. "They are very quick, and they do a good job in pursuit, getting around the ball and gang-tackling. I'd say defense is their real plus."

The coach added that the Southwestern secondary had already produced one surprise. "Ron Irving, their right cornerback was a pre-season prospect for All-America, but the left cornerback, Willie Allen, intercepted three passes against Tulsa."

Wallace said the Cajun linebackers were fast and mobile. "They play a 50 defense, and their front line is big and strong and fast. They could easily be the best defensive team we've played."

The Pirates and Cajuns meet Saturday night at 8 p.m. (EDT) in Lafayette, La.

Bucs Tie Elon, 2-2

ELON COLLEGE — East Carolina University and Elon College battled to a 2-2 tie in a soccer match yesterday. The Pirates got both goals off kicks by Phil Martin. The tie left East Carolina with a 1-2-1 record for the fall. They return to action on Sunday traveling to meet UNC-Charlotte.

Pet Cemetery Kept In Style

By MARY VANDEMARK
Associated Press Writer
ROSEVILLE, Minn. (AP) — The stately granite monuments, surrounded by flowers in the well-kept cemetery, are etched with the names of loved ones:

Buster, Queenie, Fluffy, Yo-Yo, Cuddles.
At Feist's Pet Cemetery, visitors come year-round to pay their respects to deceased dogs, cats, birds, hamsters, rabbits, skunks, monkeys and even a donkey.

"We serve all different kinds of people, young and old, well-to-do and very poor," said Ken Fabyanske, 67, the cemetery caretaker. "We had one case where an entire family, 16 people, attended a service for a miniature collie."
Fabyanske, whose duties include selling plots, digging graves and maintaining the grounds, says business has picked up in recent years. Plots start at $60 each, depending on the size of the pet.

Plain wood boxes are provided for burial, but some pet owners spend up to $1,000 for small coffins and expensive monuments.
"People feel that after all the happiness their pet has brought them, burying it here is one last thing they can do for their pet," Fabyanske said.
Ray Schoenrock, secretary of Schoenrock Monuments in St. Paul, said some pet owners come in with sketches of their animals to carve on markers. Other markers are inset with color photos of the deceased animal, under plexiglass.

"The emotion is there — particularly with dogs," he said. "We had one lady come in with a drawing of a purring cat to put on a $600 monument. She paid more for that than for her husband's marker."
There are now 560 pet cemeteries in the United States and the number is growing, says Pat Blosser, executive director of the National Association of Pet Cemeteries in Chicago.

"When I was a child we always buried pets in the back yard, but now society is so transient that people don't feel as secure doing that any more," she said. "The old family homestead no longer exists."
"And if they just call someone to take their pet away, they are never sure just what happened to it — if it ended up in the city dump or the rendering plant or what."

Another factor, Mrs. Blosser feels, is today's smaller families. "Children don't come as fast as they used to so there is just more love available to be showered on a pet," she said.
The tombstones express the deep feelings of pet owners: "The Pomeroy's Precious Guinea Pigs, Cotton and Krinken. You taught us so much about love," or "Josie, 1962 to 1977. The sunshine of our lives."

Satisfaction In Her Life As Priest

By LOTTIE SEIDLER

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — It took Jeanette Piccard nearly 70 years to become what she wanted to be—a priest.

As an unpaid assistant at St. Philip's parish in St. Paul, she helps with the eucharist, visits parish members and gives a lot of speeches.

Being a priest, Mrs. Piccard says, "Is very much the way I expected it to be. It is the greatest satisfaction of my life."

Along the way to the priesthood in the Episcopal Church, she became one of the first women graduates of Bryn Mawr, a devoted wife and mother and a pilot who set an altitude record in a balloon flight in 1934.

"I don't really know where the idea came from," said Mrs. Piccard, tall, silver haired and a bit fragile at 83, "but I was 11 when I first told my mother I wanted to be a priest."

"She had come in to say good night and tell me about the birds and the bees, of course, but I didn't know that. I said I wanted to be a priest and she burst into tears and ran out of the room."

"My father wanted me to study, but my mother wanted me to take the traditional grand tour of Europe and marry a Rockefeller or somebody just as rich."

World War I started, preventing the grand tour. After college graduation, her chances of becoming a priest appeared almost nil. It was clear she could not be accepted at a seminary so she went to the University of Chicago for advanced work in chemistry.

There she met and married Jean Piccard, a young Swiss interested in the stratosphere. The Piccards spent seven years in Lausanne, Switzerland, where their three sons were born and Jean Piccard's twin, Auguste, explored the skies in high-altitude balloons.

Jean and Jeanette Piccard returned to the United States. In 1934, after six balloon flights, Jeanette Piccard got a pilot's license.

As one of the first women to explore space, she guided a pressurized gondola to 57,559 feet while her husband studied cosmic rays.

"I was the pilot, he was the engineer and the inventor," she said.

The Piccards set a variety of altitude records. Mrs. Piccard held the woman's record until Soviet cosmonaut Valentina Tereskova broke it in 1963.

Jean Piccard died the same year, at age 79.

Mrs. Piccard was ordained a church deacon in the Episcopal church in 1971, attended General Theological Seminary in New York in 1972-73 and passed an ordination examination. In 1974 she was among 11 women ordained Episcopal priests.

But that year, although the Episcopal House of Bishops reaffirmed the principle of ordaining women, it found the ordinations violated church canon and ruled the 11 were not valid ministers.

Mrs. Piccard carried the fight to the general convention of the church in 1976 and won. The Minneapolis meeting reversed the church's stand and gave its blessing to female priests.

Island's Horses Inspired A Law

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — Cap pistols, firecrackers, Frisbees, skateboards and toy bullwhips are now banned on much of this island retreat in the Straights of Mackinac because they distract the front end of the horse-and-buggy population.

Mackinac Island has 500 horses.

"There have been some close calls," says Mayor Margaret Doud.

Bill Chambers, a veterinarian, said, "Kids tossing Frisbees or cracking a bullwhip have no idea they cause a driver of a horse rig to sweat bullets. They don't realize how easy it is to spook an animal."

"Some kids might be making some beautiful maneuvers on a skateboard, but those things can get away and either slide under a horse or hit them."

The ordinance banning these toys carries $100 fines.

Actor Gave Up Security Dream

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor McLean Stevenson says he gave up thoughts of security when he went into show business, but indicates he's not unhappy he picked the career.

"I once worked for an insurance company," says the long, lean actor who played the commanding officer of a frontline hospital of medical misfits on the TV show M-A-S-H. "They didn't pay you much money but you knew where you'd be at 65."

"In 1961 when I got into show business, I gave up any idea of security and thought of opportunity. I haven't had a year yet when I haven't made more money than the year before. If I'd stayed with 'M-A-S-H,' I wouldn't be making a third of what I'm making here."

Stevenson left M-A-S-H three years ago. This season, he stars as a conservative Catholic priest in the new CBS comedy "In the Beginning," which premieres tonight.

LONG DRY SPELL

TOKYO (AP) — Peking's Hsinhua news agency reports there has been a long dry spell in some areas along the Yangtze River. It said rainfall in some areas was 50 to 90 percent less than normal.

Series Aimed At Older Viewers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "Over Easy," the series for older Americans produced by information on services and programs available to elderly Americans.

public television station KQED here for the Public Broadcasting Service, has received a $700,000 underwriting grant from Sun Company, Inc.

Airing on 254 PBS stations across the country (more stations, commercial or non-commercial, than any other TV show), "Over Easy" is directed at the "prime generation," the 42 million Americans over 55.

The series, which begins its second season of daily half-hour shows Nov. 13, will continue the magazine format which features host Hugh Downs interviewing celebrities on their experiences on growing older.

"Lifestyle," the on-location documentary segment, will be developed to include a variety of people who have found interesting ways of coping with the needs and problems of later years.

The "Keeping Posted" portion will present up-to-date

The expert bridge player is not necessarily the one who produces the sensational play. For our money, we'll choose as a partner the player who makes the contracts that can be made, even though his technique may oftentimes pass unnoticed. Today, you can learn from a master. Study the form of Pietro Forquet, in his heyday regarded as the world's best, as he plays five diamonds.

Note the bidding. North's four club bid had to be a cue-bid agreeing diamonds—with a genuine club suit he would have bid three no trump rather than risk bypassing what could be his side's only makable game contract.

West led his singleton spade, East won the ace and returned the suit. Forquet ruffed with the ten and West stuffed a club. A careless declarer would now have led a trump to the queen. East would win and play another spade, forcing declarer to ruff high, and now declarer would have to guess the trump situation to make his contract.

Forquet did not allow himself to get into that predicament. After ruffing the spade high, he led the king of clubs and overtook with dummy's ace. Now he played a low trump from dummy and, when East produced the ace, declarer could virtually claim. Even if East continued a third spade, declarer could afford to ruff with the king, for the Q-J of trumps were still in dummy to draw the two outstanding trumps.

Nothing flashy, it's true—just a contract bid and made. But we'll take the technique of Forquet on hands such as these over the masters of abstruse squeezes that crop up once in a generation.

Your play to the first trick could decide the fate of the contract! A writer once remarked: "There's no such thing as a blind opening lead, only deaf opening leaders!" ### Belli Declares Cigarette 'War'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Attorney Melvin Belli, a former smoker, says he'll either force the development of a safe cigarette or kill off the tobacco industry.

The nationally known lawyer filed suit Monday against three tobacco companies on behalf of the survivors of a suburban San Francisco woman who died of lung cancer.

"The cigarette companies are going to have to do a lot of research to come up with a noncarcinogenic cigarette," Belli said. "This is going to put them out of business because I doubt if they can do that."

"If we win this one, we'll open the door (to similar suits) and a lot of attorneys will jump in."

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Through TV's modern-day magic, CBS tonight will offer a new comedy series about a priest and a nun, while ABC has a new gumshoe show involving nude photos and a blackmail plot.

CBS' effort, "In the Beginning," co-stars McLean Stevenson and Priscilla Lopez. He plays Rev. Daniel Cleary, she essays hip young Sister Aggie and they open a storefront mission in the ghetto.

ABC's epic is "Vegas" (the dollar sign indicates this may be a worldly series). Set in Las Vegas, it stars Robert Ulrich as Dan Tanna, "a dynamic, witty young private investigator."

It isn't quite as uplifting as CBS' "Beginning," a gently humorous distant relative of "Going My Way" that seeks laughs in the conflict of its old-school padre and mod-squad nun.

Father Cleary has toiled the past 15 years in a wealthy suburb. He's aghast at being reassigned to work the slums with Sister Aggie, who is wont to wear a sweat shirt, jeans and sneakers on the job.

He is wont to call her "Sister Mary Jackass" and says: "She stands for everything I'm against: Catholics marrying non-Catholics, women priests... If she had her way, the Ten Commandments would be called the Ten Suggestions."

Not only that, she reveals to him in the course of the show she once was a lapsed Catholic, did time in jail and even lived with a guy before returning to the church and then becoming a nun.

Outrageous it sounds, but see the show. You'll find all this done in good taste, with respect for religion and I doubt any Catholic — or those of other faiths — will find it offensive.

The only problem is that the plot is so thin it'd be marked AWOL if turned sideways. After the clash of generations is established, ditto the storefront mission, it gets mighty predictable.

You suspect padre and nun will have a falling-out, then a reconciliation. Which happens, amid the arrival of two young ghetto patrons, a knife-wielding girl (Olivia Barash) and a bopping-along black teenager played by Bobby Ellerbee.

The only real twist is that Ellerbee's character is deaf but reads lips, deftly noted in exchanges between him and Stevenson.

Summation: It's a nice, warm show. The cast is fine, particularly Ms. Lopez, an appealing lady. Alas, while the show's spirit is willing, the script is weak. They'd best pray for better material.

About "Vegas," made by Aaron "Charlie's Angels" Spelling: It is a stone turkey, the first dud in ABC's new-show lineup. A semi-jiggle show, it displays bikinis, childlike plotting and awful dialogue.

Tonight, detective Tanna pursues a lion missing from the hotel of his pal (Tony Curtis) while also handling the main event, two baddies blackmailing a $1 million model (Christina Ferrare).

Seems the bad guys, posing as cosmetics moguls, drugged her drink and then took photos of as she lay nude and unconscious. At one point in the drugging, a villain says: "Uh hhm, she's out."

So was I, from the screening room.

Burt Reynolds A Lecturer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Film star Burt Reynolds, who played football at Florida State University in the 1950s, is returning to campus, but he will not be tossing a pigskin this time.

Reynolds is going to be a special guest lecturer next month at a private seminar on acting and directing.

Richard Fallong, dean of the school of theater, said the actor will be on campus Oct. 13 to hold the seminar during the afternoon and a special program for FSU theater patrons that evening.

Reynolds had said earlier he planned to pursue a bachelor's degree from the university using a variety of study options during the next two to three years.

'He Is A Nut' Says Lillian

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — California Gov. Jerry Brown and rock singer Linda Ronstadt should get married, says Lillian Carter, the president's mother.

Mrs. Carter, stumping here for a congressional candidate, made the comment when asked what she thought about Brown.

"Oh, he's a nut," she said. "He ought to marry that Linda Ronstadt and he might settle down. When he came to Plains after the 1976 election, I asked him if he slept on the floor when he goes to a hotel. He said he didn't."

Miss Ronstadt often accompanies Brown to social events.

Medieval-Renaissance Curriculum Is Readied

ECU News Bureau
A recently-developed curriculum in Medieval and Renaissance Studies is now available to East Carolina University undergraduate students for the first time. The curriculum is designed as a minor program concentration, of special interest to students majoring in art history, literature, history, philosophy, foreign languages or drama. "We believe that any student enrolled in the social or physical sciences or the professional programs would profit from this curriculum," said Thomas Herndon of the ECU history faculty, who is coordinator of the program. "An interest in the early culture of our western civilization is really the chief qualification for a student who wishes to enroll in Medieval and Renaissance Studies." Specific courses are offered through the ECU School of Art and the Departments of English, History, Foreign Languages and Literatures, and Philosophy. Details about them are available from Herndon at the ECU Department of History in Brewster Building, A-323, telephone 757-6787. How does the program benefit the student? "In a basic way, students will derive great profit from the program," said Prof. Herndon. "If we as educated people are to know who we are and what we can become, it is essential that we have a good knowledge of where we have been." He pointed out that the governments, religious systems and languages of our times derive from the Middle Ages and the Renaissance period, and that even the size, location and boundaries of modern nations are the result of a chain of events which began during these crucial centuries. "Modern education has tended toward specialization graduates with a rather narrow vision of the world," he noted. "An interdisciplinary program such as this will involve the student in a learning process which sheds light on the overlapping influences people and events have had upon what is now contemporary western culture." In this program, a student encounters such institutions and processes as knighthood in full flower, the Crusades, upheavals in religious beliefs, the great New World explorations, "golden age" art and architecture and the formation of modern European languages. Modern finance can be seen to originate in medieval trade practices and early capitalism, and today's democratic systems are traceable to such medieval occurrences as the Peasants' Revolt and to the Renaissance ideal of the worth of the individual. People who shaped history—Charlemagne, Joan of Arc, Michelangelo, Elizabeth I, Copernicus, Martin Luther—figure largely in the course offerings specified in the program's curriculum, which range over a variety of special fields in the arts and humanities. A special seminar course at the end of the program enables the student to draw together what he or she has learned and to pursue subjects of particular interest. "In addition to course work and independent studies, we plan to schedule regular symposia, featuring distinguished experts on selected topics," said Herndon. "Right now, we are tentatively planning such an event on aspects of early science or medicine. "And we also intend to sponsor re-enactments of medieval fairs and festivals here on campus, complete with the costumes, music, games, ceremonies and entertainments typical of the times," he said.

Yesterday's Cryptogram — RESTRAINED CHEMIST DISCUSSED ALL HIS RESULTS IN CAMERA.
Today's Cryptogram clue: J equals R
The Cryptogram is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

New Camel Lights.

Introducing the solution.

Until now, low tar cigarettes just couldn't deliver that full measure of taste and satisfaction you want. But this low tar filter cigarette, at 9 mg. tar, is different. It's a Camel. With a richer-tasting Camel blend that means satisfaction. The solution is at hand. At last.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

9 mg. "tar", 0.8 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC method.

Lung Group Calls Child Safety Alert

NEW YORK (AP) — The most common cause of accidental death in the home for children under 6 is inhaling of foreign objects, according to the American Lung Association, which is spearheading a campaign against such accidents that kill about 2,000 children a year in the United States.

"A foreign object can be food such as crisp bacon, bits of carrot, raisins or apple peels," says Dr. Lewis Clayton, medical affairs director of the association. "Or it can be small household objects — safety pins, coins, beads, buttons — that should be kept out of reach of young children, who have a natural inclination to put things in their mouths."

When something goes down "the wrong way," often the victim coughs and spits out the object, Dr. Clayton explains. But sometimes the result is choking, loss of breath, even death.

Even if the danger to life is not immediate, he adds, a foreign object can be inhaled and lodge in the lung. There it can cause long-term damage including infection or a disease called bronchiectasis, which results in a bulge or pocket in the bronchial tube and which sometimes requires surgery.

"The important fact is, most such inhaling of foreign objects can be prevented. Simple precautions — prevention — can usually avoid treatment, which can be complicated," says Dr. Clayton, who offers these suggestions:

—Wait for a doctor's go-ahead before starting solid foods for a child.

—Mind your table manners! It is more than a nicety of etiquette. Children should be taught to eat slowly, chew thoroughly, swallow carefully, not talk with their mouths full of food, and not to eat while running, playing or lying down.

—Put purses and sewing kits out of the way. Keep small objects off low surfaces, out of reach of small, grasping hands.

—Examine toys. Look out for small parts that might break, knobs that could fall off, eyes of stuffed animals, the wheels of a toy car.

—Set a good example. Don't place pins or other objects between your lips.

The American Lung Association is gearing its "aspiration of foreign objects" alert for the holiday season — Halloween and its "trick or treat" temptations, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, party times with many guests and loaded coffee tables.

"Keep toddlers away from the coffee table," Dr. Clayton cautions. "Peanuts are a particular hazard. If chewed carefully and swallowed correctly, they are healthy and nutritious, but a child can choke on a peanut. If a peanut lodges in the lung, the vegetable oil it contains can cause infection."

"Potato chips, bits of cookies, all pose a threat," he adds. "Children can be fun at parties, but be careful. Why not hire a babysitter just to follow the toddlers around and keep them out of trouble?"

In connection with the campaign, local lung associations will have available a pamphlet, "Keep Your Child From Choking." Pediatricians across the country will also be alerted. A guide has been prepared to help day-care and nursery school teachers teach very young children how to breathe, what to put in their mouths, how and what to chew and how to swallow carefully.

Specialist Is At Workshop

Debbie Conklin, Pitt County Mental Health Center mental retardation specialist, is attending a workshop at Emerald Isle.

"Working with the Mentally Retarded Resident in the Rest Home" is a model for providing training ideas for staffs of rest homes. Ms. Conklin will serve as a panel member discussing "The Interagency Coordinating Mechanisms." Other topics to be discussed at the workshop include socially integrated activities, legal rights of the retarded, sexuality and the retarded and teaching techniques for the retarded.

Crises See Parents Aid One Another

By MELANIE DEEDS
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Mary Lou Dillon vividly remembers the hospital visits when her newborn son — two months premature with underdeveloped lungs — was on the critical list.

That was two years ago. Her child now has strong, healthy lungs with no need for medical treatment. But the 33-year-old mother still regularly makes the 45-mile trip from her Jackson home to the Holden Perinatal Intensive Care Nursery in Ann Arbor to help other parents whose infants are critically ill.

"You have a lot of feelings of anger and frustration, seeing your child so helpless and knowing there's nothing you can do," Mrs. Dillon said. "You don't know who to talk to and you feel very isolated."

"I still remember how I felt and know what others in similar situations are going through. Perhaps I can help."

Mrs. Dillon and her husband, Kenneth, are members of a volunteer group formed to help other parents deal with the trauma of having an infant who is ill or not expected to live. All 11 couples in the group have undergone similar experiences.

The "graduate" parents live in communities throughout southern Michigan. They contact parents from or near their own cities. They also travel to hospitals to help them.

Visiting parents share the frustrations, anxieties and grief they themselves experienced. They share methods of coping they found useful.

"We do whatever will somehow make the new parents feel that there is someone out there who cares enough to help them through a most trying period," Mrs. Dillon said.

Officials at Jackson-area hospitals call Mrs. Dillon whenever a newborn infant must be transferred to the Ann Arbor nursery, a unit at the University of Michigan medical complex.

"I contact the parents and let them know what I went through and that I will be available to help," Mrs. Dillon said. "Often, the parents want to handle the situation themselves, but they should know someone is there who understands."

"When I was going through such difficult times, I would have loved to have talked with someone who had a similar experience."

Once a month, the visiting parents group meets at the hospital to discuss contacts with new parents in hopes the exchange of information will help expand each member's contact skill.

"The sessions are not structured, nor do we want them to be," said Dr. Dietrich Roloff, the nursery's co-director. "There is a sincerity in their spontaneous approach, a quality we would not want to alter with programmed instruction."

"The common denominator here is that these parents care, and they have found ways to deal with a crisis which they are eager to pass on to others."

Holden is one of 17 centers in Michigan for premature and sick babies. Advanced equipment for treating children is on hand as well as specialists in such areas as infant heart surgery, pulmonary ailments and blood diseases.

"The circle of care is complete with the support system our visiting parents offer Holden parents," Roloff said. "You cannot buy or train for the kind of need this dedicated group fulfills."

Four Soliciting Permits Okayed

City Manager Ed Wyatt announced the approval of four requests for solicitation permits. Wyatt said the requests were submitted by: the Greenville Martinborough Lions Club to sell tickets to a drawing from Sept. 29 through Nov. 30 to raise funds for blind activities;

Phi Eta Sigma of East Carolina University for permission to sell doughnuts door-to-door from Oct. 24 to raise funds for a scholarship; by Woodrow Boyd to conduct a sidewalk and merchant solicitation on Sept. 22 and 23 to raise funds for the Disabled American Veterans Chapter No. 37; and by

The Pitt County Young Republican Club for permission to conduct a yard sale on Saturday, Sept. 23 to raise funds for the organization.
