

Calif. Brushfires Taking Heavy Toll

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Brushfires raged near Los Angeles today after destroying at least 100 expensive homes, scorching some 33,000 acres and turning thousands of wealthy canyon and beachfront residents into refugees. Firefighters struggled in vain against walls of flame driven by gale force desert winds, as columns of flame roared 100 feet into the air. Officials said there was no hope the fires would be brought under control quickly.

The twisting canyon and coast roads came alive with animals — horses and goats led by soot-blackened owners, and snakes, rats and other small animals of the brush fleeing the flames toward the sea. Officials said some firefighting efforts were hampered by hundreds of cars jammed with panicky residents trying to leave the fire area.

A dozen persons, both firefighters and civilians, were hospitalized for injuries ranging from smoke inhalation to burns and broken ribs. One helicopter dropping fire retardants crashed and another made a forced landing, but only minor injuries were reported.

The hot Santa Ana desert winds, nicknamed "Devil Winds" because of their history of destruction, were expected to subside today.

One Angoura homeowner was critically burned while trying to save his home from the flames. "He stayed with the home instead of getting out," said Irene Cook, the nurse in charge of Sherman Oaks Community Hospital's burn unit. The man's identity was being withheld.

And Los Angeles County Fire Capt. Elwood Reed was hospitalized in guarded condition with neck injuries and broken ribs. He was injured while battling a 20-acre blaze in San Dimas, fire officials said.

'Frank' Talk On Weapons

LONDON (AP) — American and Soviet arms negotiators had a "frank exchange" on President Carter's decision to go ahead with production of a nuclear artillery shell and missile warhead that can be converted to a neutron weapon, a senior U.S. official said today.

The official made the comment during Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance's refueling stop here after two days of inconclusive arms talks at the Kremlin. Vance also met with British Foreign Secretary David Owen during the one-hour stopover.

The official, who declined to be identified, would not divulge the details of the discussion of the neutron weapon issue, which he described as brief. He said the negotiators also talked about the deadlock in Vienna, where the Americans and Soviets are trying to work out a mutual cutback of U.S. and Soviet forces in central Europe, and the Geneva talks on banning underground nuclear tests.

The Soviets have been critical of Carter's decision to keep open the option of full production of neutron weapons. Some American analysts believe Carter made the decision to reassure West Europeans, while still working toward a SALT agreement with the Soviet Union.

The neutron weapon is a small warhead that produces twice the deadly radiation of a conventional nuclear bomb but less than a tenth as much explosive power, heat and fallout. This means the warhead can kill people while causing little damage to buildings.

Five Die In Gas Pipeline Blast

BROOKSIDE VILLAGE, Texas (AP) — A natural gas pipeline exploded early today near a mobile home park in this Houston suburb, setting off a spectacular fire visible for 30 miles. Authorities said at least five persons were killed and 40 injured.

The fire burned itself out three hours after the explosion. Officials feared the death toll might rise when the wreckage of several of the trailer homes could be inspected.

Lt. Tom Thacker of the Brazoria County Sheriff's Department, who was on the scene, said five bodies were found in a nearby field.

He said it appeared the victims had been trying to flee the scene when they died. Cause of death was not immediately known.

Witnesses described the explosion as "something like an atomic bomb" and "a loud, rattling train."

Firemen said there was another pipeline in the immediate area, but the gas supply that fed the fire had been cut off.

Brookside Village is in Brazoria County on the southeastern edge of Houston in an area that is a patchwork of oil, chemical, and natural gas pipelines that supply residences and oil and chemical plants over a 200-mile area.

Carter To Air Battle Plans For Inflation

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter will explain to the American people tonight his newest battle plan for fighting inflation through wage and price guidelines and additional restraints on government spending. Some of it may sound like warmed-over portions of past programs.

Carter is scheduled to outline the program in a nationwide television address from the White House at 10 p.m., EDT.

The guidelines will be aimed at limiting wage increases to 7 percent next year and price increases to about 5.75 percent. If successful, the program would reduce inflation to between 6 percent and 6.5 percent by the end of next year, compared with a rate of about 8 percent this year.

Major corporations will be asked to keep price rises at least one-half of one percent below their average increases for the last two years. That is virtually the same request that was put to big business in Carter's last inflation program, which hasn't worked.

The president also may announce he is naming Alfred E. Kahn, the chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, to head the new program. Kahn, 61, has presided over the partial deregulation of the airline industry that has resulted in sharply lower air fares.

As of late Monday, however, it was known that Kahn had not said he would accept the job and succeed Robert S. Strauss as the president's top inflation adviser.

Wage and price behavior by big business and unions will be monitored by the Council on Wage and Price Stability, whose staff will be increased from about 40 to 100 for the program. Carter also may announce a partial freeze on federal hiring next year as one new restraint on government spending.

Some of Carter's advisers were urging him to commit his administration to a fiscal 1980 budget deficit below $30 billion, down from the $38 billion projected for fiscal 1979. Budget deficits are blamed by many people as one cause of inflation, although the administration has not agreed with that theory.

Jody Powell, Carter's press spokesman, said Carter was working alone Monday on a final draft of his speech at Camp David and would stay there overnight. Last-minute changes weren't being ruled out because the outlook for inflation apparently has worsened since the plans were first drawn up six weeks ago.

Another indication of the nation's economic health came Monday when Chemical Bank of New York City raised its prime lending rate from 10 percent to 10 1/4 percent. The move is expected to signal another round of increases in the interest rates banks charge their best corporate customers.

The prime rate is now at its highest point since late 1974. And although the rate has no direct effect on consumer interest rates, it can point to future trends in mortgage and other consumer loan rates.

Treaty Weighed By Begin Cabinet

By ARTHUR MAX
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli Cabinet convened for the second day today to pore over a draft peace treaty with Egypt amid reports that Prime Minister Menachem Begin had reservations on several points in the 10-page text.

Sources close to Begin said it would be "logical" to assume that the meeting would end in instructions to the Israeli negotiating team to seek revisions in the draft when the Washington peace conference resumes, probably late this week.

The sources declined to relate to specific issues in the draft.

But the newspaper Haaretz said Begin was unhappy with a substantial number of items in the text regarding military arrangements in the Sinai Peninsula, from which Israel has pledged to withdraw within three years, and over political plans for normalizing relations.

Another report, in the Jerusalem Post, said Begin's reservations did not include the issue of linking the bilateral treaty with the more complex Palestinian question.

"HURTING AMERICANS"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y., says strict U.S. compliance with NATO restrictions on technological exports to the Soviet bloc is hurting American producers but hardly stopping such exports from other NATO countries.

Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and Defense Minister Ezer Weizman were expected to face tough questioning from more conservative members of the 16-member Cabinet who feel Israel is being pressured into making further concessions beyond the Camp David accord.

The two Israeli negotiators had resisted wording in the draft linking the peace to progress on settling the issues of the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and Gaza Strip and the political future of their Palestinian inhabitants.

U.S. sources said in Washington over the weekend that Egypt and Israel had reached a compromise on putting such a clause in the treaty to appease Egypt. But Egyptian Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil said in Cairo Monday that Egypt had "asked for modifications."

The Egyptian-Israeli treaty is to deal primarily with Israeli withdrawal from conquered areas of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula and the establishment of normal relations between the two neighbors after 30 years of hostility.

On Monday night, the U.N. Security Council extended the term of U.N. peacekeeping forces in Sinai for nine months after the Russians refused to agree to a one-year extension recommended by Secretary General Kurt Waldheim.

AIR TRAVEL GROWS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Travel on U.S. airlines, up nearly 20 percent this year, won't hold that pace but should grow steadily at a rate of 6 to 7 percent in the next few years, says Transportation Secretary Brock Adams.

Boardwalk Fire

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A fire that roared through 10 stores and caused about $2.5 million in damage along Atlantic City's famous boardwalk was contained early today, fire officials said.

The smoky blaze, fanned by 25 mph winds, defied the efforts of some 120 firefighters for seven hours before being brought under control at 4:20 a.m.

Fire officials said 10 stores in a honky tonk row of souvenir stands and snack shops were wrecked in the fire. An apartment above one of the shops was also damaged.

The cause of the fire was not known.

Fire Chief Lawrence Skey said he estimated damage at $2.5 million, based on rising property values along the boardwalk. Three firefighters were reported in good condition after being hospitalized for smoke inhalation. Eight other firefighters were treated for smoke inhalation and released, as was a police officer who suffered a broken toe.

JAMBOREE?

I'd like to know more, and probably some of your other readers would, too, about a gathering of musicians every Sunday in Pinetown. I understand it's free to performers and audience alike. B. C.

Hotline contacted Edgar Waters, whose "Edgar Waters Jamboree," is held each Sunday at 2 p.m. During the summer months the gathering was held in the shade of some oak trees on Waters' property four miles north of Pinetown, but cooler weather is sending the gathering inside the Pinetown School Auditorium for the winter months.

Admission is free, Waters said. There's no performance fee and no pre-auditions. Anyone who would like to take part as performer or spectator is welcome, he said. Waters said the Jamboree is a long-held dream of his that's come true. "It's something I've always thought a community needs," he said, "a time to get together on a regular basis for some good, clean fun."

Gospel, country, rock and roll groups and individual performers are invited, he said.

Pinetown is located about 18 miles northeast of Washington, N.C. off Highway 32.

No Signs Soviet

Easing Buildup

CLEVELAND (AP) — There are no signs that the Soviet Union will slow its military buildup in Europe in the near future, says NATO Commander Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr.

In Cleveland to speak to the Cleveland World Affairs Council, Haig said Monday that he is cautiously optimistic the NATO alliance is meeting that Soviet buildup in Europe.

Planning Commissions Have 13-Item Agenda

The Joint City-County and Greenville Planning and Zoning Commissions will consider a total of 13 items, including ten rezoning requests, at Wednesday's 8 p.m. meeting at city hall.

Items on the joint board's agenda include: request of J. H. Blount for rezoning 50.6 acres located between the West Haven and Club Pines areas and Seaboard Coast Line Railroad from RA-20 to R-6, R-9, Highway Commercial, and Unoffensive Industry; request of Cherry Oaks Inc. for rezoning 17 acres on the east side of 14th Street Extension across from Windy Ridge from RA-20 to R-6;

Request of Wilcar Enterprises for rezoning 2.6 acres located 400 feet west of NC 11-US 13 south of Greenfield Terrace from R-6 to Highway Commercial; request of Leroy Cherry & Associates for rezoning 21.6 acres on the east side of 14th Street Extension south of the Southern Railroad from RA-20 to R-6 and R-9;

Request of Sunnyside Eggs Inc. for rezoning 6.52 acres at the intersection of State Road 1708 and Seaboard Coast Line Railroad from RA-20 to Unoffensive Industry; request of Coastal Chemical Co. for rezoning 4.43 acres on the west side of the Tar Road from RA-20 to Industrial District;

Request of Ed and Rosemond Tipton for rezoning 7.38 acres located between Elizabeth Heights subdivision and Seaboard Coast Line Railroad from RA-20 to R-6; request of J. T. Manning Jr. for rezoning nine acres on the north side of the 264 Bypass, west of Laughinghouse Drive, from RA-20 to Highway Commercial, Office and Institutional and R-6;

Final plat of Section I of Louis W. Evans Subdivision, located in the southwest quadrant of the intersection of N.C. 43 and Red Banks Road; and preliminary plat of Section III of the Professional Center, located west of the hospital property, north of Beasley Drive, and Section I of the Professional Center.

The three items on the city board's agenda include: request of the Louis Clark Agency Inc. for rezoning 21.8 acres at the southwest corner of the intersection of Red Banks Road and 14th Street Extension from R-20 and RA-20 to R-9;

Request of the city Inspections Department for rezoning 5.75 acres on W. Gum Road to R-6 as alternative zoning to the existing Unoffensive Industry; and consideration of a revised final plat of Bryton Hill Subdivision, located west of River Bluff Road.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is not the day to strut or attempt to impress others with big ideas but rather to think about ways to operate on a down-to-earth manner. Maintain a cheerful manner.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Bring your finest talents to the attention of prominent persons so that they can help you to commercialize on them.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Listening to ideas of close ties can bring more harmony in the home now. Make the evening a happy one with congenials.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Not a good day for signing agreements of committing yourself to any future projects. Clear up whatever is in error.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have to economize more at this time and build a reserve so that you need not worry about money in the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study family conditions and make plans for improvement. Make plans to have greater prosperity in the days ahead.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Give more attention to any limitations you may have and eliminate them intelligently. Take no risks in money matters.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Separate financial affairs and dealings with friends for best results. Sidestep one who has an eye on your assets.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't do anything that could jeopardize your reputation in any way. Make sure your activities are well-organized.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can study new projects but don't neglect current ones. Your hunches are especially good at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Ceasing routine duties to pursue some new ideas is not advisable now. Study money matters and cut unnecessary expenses.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't try to force allies to go along with your ideas exclusively or you could end up in a heap of trouble. Be logical.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Cooperate more with co-workers and gain their respect. Make the evening a happy one from a social standpoint.

Participation Is High At Mill

Fieldcrest Mills employees here have completed their 1978-79 United Way campaign with a participation rate of over 93 percent.

J. Melvin Moore, division vice president for Fieldcrest, said that 93.88 percent of the company's 343 Greenville employees contributed to this year fund drive.

Fieldcrest Mills Inc., he reported, added $1,000 to the total employee gifts to raise the overall United Way total to $13,380.78.

Moore said that of the employees participating this year, 88.34 percent pledged a day's pay or more to the annual solicitation effort.

According to the local Fieldcrest official, the company was the first unit in Greenville to initiate the payroll deduction plan for its employees, introducing the new plan in 1961. He attributed the continued success of the fund drive to the payroll deduction method of participation.

Moore cited L. M. Skinner, manager of the company's Woolen Plant on Dickinson Avenue, and J. M. Strother, manager of the Worsted Plant located in the Industrial Park, for their work in this year's campaign, "as well as all the faithful annual Fieldcrest contributing employees."

Fieldcrest is a member of the Pitt United Way's Industrial Division, headed this year by G. Henry Leslie, manager of Burroughs Wellcome here.

Derailment In Center Of Dunn

DUNN, N.C. (AP) — About 30 cars of a Seaboard Coast Line train carrying new automobiles derailed over a four-block area in the center of Dunn Monday.

Dunn police said no one was hurt.

About four or five carloads of new automobiles were thrown into the Strickland Motor Co. lot, and a train car crashed through the back wall of the dealership's building, according to owner Paul L. Strickland.

Strickland said he was afraid the roof of his 80-by-180 foot service building may cave in as a result of the crash through the wall.

Police at the scene said some power and telephone poles were down. It was unclear if utility service was disrupted.

Strickland said firefighters were alerted since gasoline from overturned automobiles from the derailment posed a hazard.

How's The Weather?

FORECAST Until Wednesday

Figures show low temperatures for area.

Data from NATIONAL WEATHER SERVICE, NOAA, U.S. Dept. of Commerce

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are expected in the period from Tuesday until Wednesday morning for the Southwest and from Texas to the upper Great Lakes. The East will be sunny and mild, but central areas are expected to be cooler. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press
 A cold front, accompanied by some scattered light showers, moved through North Carolina today, and it will leave behind it cooler temperatures for the next couple of days. Then it will begin to warm again.

High temperatures for today probably were reached at midnight when readings still were in the 60s and 70s. By daybreak temperatures were down to the upper 50s and lower 60s.

Another warm day Monday preceded the latest front. High temperatures during the day reached the 80s over a wide area. Hickory was one of the warmest spots with an 85 and Raleigh and New Bern followed with 84.

Today, in addition to being cooler, was expected to be mostly cloudy and windy, with clearing from the west expected late in the day. Small craft advisories were in effect for the sounds and coastal waters where winds up to 25 knots, and higher in gusts, were forecast.

Another front is expected about Friday and this could bring some more showers.

Fellowship Winner N.C. Awards Is Former Resident November 9

DURHAM — Mrs. Bernadette Gregory Watts, a former Greenville resident and associate home economics agent for Durham County, is one of three winners for the $2,000 Thomas E. Wilson Foods Fellowship.

Mrs. Watts received the award at the recognition dinner of the National Extension Home Economists Annual Meeting in Omaha, Neb., Thursday. The theme of 44th annual meeting was "Avenues of Awareness."

Mrs. Watts, a program participant in a workshop, "How to Apply for a Scholarship and Write a Resume," has served as a home economist in Durham for seven years.

Mrs. Watts received her undergraduate degree from Bennett College, Greensboro, and is presently working toward a master's degree in home economics with emphasis on foods and nutrition from East Carolina University. She has also recently been selected to be in the 1978 edition of "Outstanding Young Women of America."

 Mrs. Watts is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth H. Gregory of Greenville.

RALEIGH — The 15th annual N. C. Awards presentations and dinner honoring the recipients of the state's highest award will be held at 7 p.m. on Thursday, November 9. The event is open to the public.

Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. will present the awards which were established by the 1963 General Assembly. Gov. and Mrs. Hunt will host a reception at the Executive Mansion following the awards.

Awards are presented in the fields of fine arts, literature, public service, science — and on occasion, an award is made to a North Carolinian living out-of-state whose achievements fit into any of the four areas.

Tickets to the awards dinner are priced at $12.50 each and can be purchased by contacting the Office of the Secretary, Dept. of Cultural Resources, 109 E. Jones St., Raleigh, 27611, or by phone, 733-4867.

Award Of $6.8 Million Is Confirmed By Court

By LEE JONES
 Associated Press Writer
 AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Will Coates wheeled his paralyzed father into court, and a judge made it official — John Coates was entitled to $6.8 million.

Ten months ago, Will's rifle went off when he released the safety catch, sending a .243-caliber bullet ripping through his father's spine and leaving him paralyzed from the waist down.

"Nothing can compensate me for what I've lost," said the elder Coates Monday shortly before a judge formalized his $6.8 million damage settlement with Remington Arms Co.

It was one of the largest lump-sum personal injury awards in history. Last week, a teen-ager who was paralyzed after a dose of cancer-fighting radiation destroyed her spinal cord was awarded $7.6 million in malpractice damages.

State District Judge Tom Blackwell entered judgment in a closed-door session requested by Remington's lawyer, Robert McKissack.

Coates, a 42-year-old Austin attorney, was paralyzed when a Mohawk 600 rifle held by his son discharged during a deer hunting trip Dec. 11.

Coates' lawyer, Joe Jamail, said the high-powered rifle fired when Will pushed the safety to the "off" position, although the teen-ager had not pulled the trigger. The bullet went into his father's back, tearing through his spine, kidneys and other organs, Jamail said. The elder Coates was sitting in the front seat of a car when the rifle went off.

Coates' original petition said Remington "knew the rifle was equipped with a safety so defective in its design, construction and fabrication" that it would permit discharge when released.

McKissack refused to talk with reporters.

Jamail said Coates had spent eight of the past 10 months in hospitals or the Texas Institute for Rehabilitation and Research in Houston and still spends little time at his law office.

Under the terms of the judgment, Remington, a Bridgeport, Conn.-based subsidiary of E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., must pay the $6.8 million by Nov. 8 or be obligated to pay 9 percent annual interest.

Highest Degree To Winterville Mason

WINTERVILLE — Annias C. Smith of Winterville was among some 163 candidates who received the 33rd degree of Masonry at the 92nd annual session of the United Supreme Council, 33rd Degree, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rites, Southern Jurisdiction, Prince Hall Affiliation.

The session convened recently in Los Angeles, with Dr. John G. Lewis, Sovereign Grand Commander, in charge of conference.

Smith and four candidates from North Carolina received the 33rd degree, which is the last and highest degree obtainable in free and accepted Prince Hall Masonry. Black and gold banded crowns and gold finger rings were presented to the conferees.

Given the title, "Grand Inspector General, Commander of the Rites and Peer," Smith was the youngest of the conferees this year.

Smith, secretary of Winterville Masonic Lodge, No. 232, also serves as commander-in-chief of the Roanoke Consistory, No. 248, and captain of Rofelt Pasha Shrine Temple No. 175. He is also the Grand Secretary for the state of North Carolina, Grand United Order of Odd Fellow.

Smith has served as past commander and adjutant for American Legion Post No. 372, Farmville and is presently secretary of Little Creek Free Will Baptist Church. Smith works with handicapped children for Pitt County Schools.

Camps Use Extra TLC Measure

By PAMELA J. HUEY
 PARIS, Ill. (UPI) — Faye Camp likes to think of the 160 Holstein calves she is raising for kosher veal on the Circle C farm as her own kids.

Mrs. Camp and her husband, Don, rise every day before 6 a.m. to feed the calves their milk-only diet and — at the same time — shower them with all sorts of love and affection.

The confinement operation is one of possibly three or four of its type in Illinois and provides the Camps not only with a profitable way of life, but also, they say, a rewarding experience.

"I love 'em all," said Mrs. Camp as she went from stall to stall placing buckets of milk before the black and white calves. "It's like having 160 kids."

The animals are bought by the Camps when they are between three days and two weeks old and then are fattened until they are sold for slaughter about 15 weeks later. They are raised, fed and slaughtered according to Jewish tradition, the Camps said.

In compliance with kosher requirements, the calves never leave the confinement area, never receive iron in their diet and consume only milk made from a powdered mix. The final step in the kosher tradition is provided by a rabbi, who blesses the animals before slaughter.

The Camps said the extra measure of tender loving care makes for higher quality pinkish-white meat demanded for kosher veal. It also builds a bond between them and the calves.

One time, Camp said, he handled feeding chores for three days while his wife was away. The calves became listless and some refused to eat.

When Mrs. Camp returned, she stuck her head inside the door and yelled, "Hi there kids. Did you miss me?"

Camp said the calves stood up, started bawling and soon returned to their normal habits.

The couple is careful not to disturb the animals at other times of the day, hoping to keep their weight-gain even. Other tips for their care include maintaining a steady stream of conversation at consistent voice levels and watching that the animals don't get tangled in chain ropes around their necks.

Any change in daily procedure such as a strange person in the barn is quickly noticed by the young animals, said Camp, adding that 27 tons of powdered milk mix are needed to feed 160 calves until they are shipped off to slaughter.

It's a seven-day-a-week operation and that doesn't leave much time for rest or recreation, the couple said. Sometimes, however, a neighboring farmer takes over to give the Camps time off.

Two years ago, the Camps raised beef cattle and hogs, and farmed 200 acres of row crops and 300 acres of pasture and hay. In January, 1977, they moved their first batch of calves into the newly constructed confinement building.

They got the idea for the farming change while visiting their son in Indianapolis. Camp said he saw an ad for kosher calves in the classified section of the Sunday newspaper.

After investigating the possibility and receiving financial help from an area bank, the Camps decided to make the investment. Mrs. Camp said she was a key element in receiving the bank loan.

"They (bank loan officers) wanted to make sure I was a full partner," she said. "I think it's because this kind of operation needs the mothering instinct. I can tell when they're sick."

Camp said certain neighbors thought they were crazy to enter the new business, but there have been no regrets — at least on his part.

"There are some days I wish I was still pounding a typewriter," laughed Mrs. Camp, a native of Danville who calls herself a city girl.

The confinement building housing the calves was built by the Camps and some neighbors especially for the animals. It has two roofs — the outside one made of greenhouse plastic and the other from black insulant board.

Outside air is pulled through a three-inch space between the two roofs and is heated by solar energy, minimizing winter heating costs. A 20,000-gallon underground fertilizer tank stores animal waste products which later are injected into the fields as fertilizer.

The day the calves are shipped to slaughter is the most difficult time for Mrs. Camp. She said she has developed a fondness for the calves and it's hard to see them leave.

"But I look at it a certain way," she said. "There is a time when we all must die. I'm also glad to do something for the Jewish people. They have suffered so much."

 DEAR CECILY: My husband loved the spice cake he remembers his grandmother baking when he was a small boy. I've tried some old-fashioned recipes for it, but none of them suits him. Can you help out? —

QUANDARY.
 DEAR QUANDARY: It's hard to duplicate an old-fashioned dish and have it come up to someone's fond memories of it unless you have been taught exactly how to make it, and even then nostalgia is a chancy thing to compete with. So surprise your husband with a spice cake his grandmother never baked. She couldn't have used this recipe because one of its ingredients, liquid brown sugar, wasn't around until recently. — C. B.

- SPICE CAKE
- 2½ cups sifted cake flour
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - ¼ teaspoon baking soda
 - ¼ teaspoon salt
 - ¼ teaspoon each cloves, ginger and nutmeg
 - 1½ teaspoons cinnamon
 - 1 cup liquid brown sugar, from a 16-ounce bottle
 - ½ cup commercial sour cream
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 3 large eggs
 - ¾ cup (1½ sticks) butter, at room temperature or cut in pats

Grease and flour two round cake pans (each 8 by 1½ inches). On wax paper sift together the dry ingredients. In a medium mixing bowl, beat together until blended the remaining ingredients except the butter. In a large bowl, cream the butter; gently beat in the dry ingredients in 4 additions, alternately with the sugar mixture, until smooth each time. Pour into the prepared pans. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean — about 30 minutes. Cool in pans on wire racks for about 15 minutes; loosen edges and turn out on the racks; cool completely. Fill and frost as desired. (The cake will be a beige color inside.)

Note: I cut each cake layer in half crosswise and sandwiched them together with ¼ cup homemade peach butter mixed with 3 tablespoons dark (Jamaica) 80-proof rum. (This makes a 4-layer cake.) Then I covered the top and sides with a fluffy white frosting. — C. B.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

I subscribe to a lot of fiction, but none that I enjoy more than a publication called "W."

"W" chronicles the beautiful people who eat food I can't pronounce, have houses in places I can't find on the map, and who are so rich they were born tan.

Once a year they devote an issue to what is "in" and what is "out." This is just gonna make your day.

"Out" this year are jogging and rafting. "In" are helicopter skiing in the Bugaboos, sculling, and riding to the hounds.

Private planes and corporate jets are "out" and the Concorde and balloons are definitely "in."

Washington is "out" and so are the Carters. But then so are beef, dinners for more than 10, Sandy (the dog in the Broadway musical "Annie"), ultra-suede and Princess Grace. (Lord, a week without news of Princess Grace could throw me into withdrawal.)

Robert Redford is "in" and so are the First National Bank of Boston, homemade soups, Walter Cronkite, cowboy belts, Bora Bora and tap dancing for exercise.

My husband was reading over the lists when he said, "Listen to this. Guess what's 'in' for men? Skinny neckties, white shirts, trouser cuffs, white boxer shorts and black cotton socks."

"Make your point."

"The point is they're putting a stamp of approval on my entire closet."

"That's tricky when you consider nothing new has been added or subtracted from your closet for the last 20 years. Do they say anything about white dusters and goggles to drive your car in?"

"Don't be testy. If your wardrobe is an 'outie,' I'll have to carry you through the season on my impeccable taste. Besides, if I've told you once, I've told you a dozen times, hang onto your clothes long enough and they come back into style. Listen to this, you know that macho at the school who turns up his jacket collars and pushes up his sleeves? Well, he's OUT! And so is the weirdo with epaulettes on all his tight shirts! By the way, you don't suppose all this is a put-on, do you?"

I grabbed the paper out of his hands. "Bite your tongue! I mean when a publication prints that raw fish is 'out' and pasta is 'in,' you wanta argue with them?"

NOW Chapter Meeting Set For Thursday

The Eastern Carolina Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. at First Federal.

Chapter members who attended the National NOW Conference, Washington, D. C., earlier this month will review the issues and workshops featured at the convention.

Audio tapes of the opening plenary session will be played. Speakers included Sen. Edward Kennedy, Eleanor Smeal, national NOW president, Elizabeth Koontz, head of the Commission on Working Women, Betty Friedan, NOW founder, and Joan Mondale, wife of Vice President Walter Mondale.

According to chapter president Georgette Hedrick, the speeches review the important issues in the women's movement today and "offer an update of the progress being made."

All interested persons are invited to attend.

There's a special measuring cup for liquids that is handy to have in the kitchen. It has a space above the 1-cup line to prevent spills and a lip for pouring.

Expensive Cockatoo Causes Problems

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband recently bought a very expensive cockatoo. He has a cage for it, but it's hardly ever in the cage because my husband thinks it should have the freedom to fly around the house.

Needless to say, there are bird droppings everywhere! My husband refuses to clean up after the bird, so I have to, and I am tired of the mess. We fight about this constantly. Otherwise, we have a good marriage, but this really keeps me in a bad mood. What can I do?

LYNN IN GLENDALE

DEAR LYNN: Give your husband an ultimatum. Either the bird stays IN the cage, or HE cleans up after it. If that doesn't work, keep your windows open a lot, buy a cat, or send me your address and I'll send you a wonderful recipe for stewed cockatoo on toast.

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years, but this is my first time to write. When I read your advice to kids to stay in school, I had to write because I am living proof that kids start on a life of crime when they begin skipping school. That's what happened to me. I am an 18-year-old boy who has been in trouble since I was 12, and it all started when I began skipping school.

I have been in more institutions and group homes than I can count, and right now I'm in jail waiting for my court date. (Armed robbery.)

I wish I could tell every kid on the other side of these jailhouse bars, "STAY IN SCHOOL, AND DON'T QUIT NO MATTER WHAT!" Please don't be a high school dropout like me!

You can't get a decent job without a high school diploma. And without a job, all that's left is running the streets and stealing.

I'd also like to tell young kids, "Remember, you have only one mother and father, so mind them! If they punish you for doing wrong it's only because they love you, and want what's best for you."

Please correct my spelling, Miss Abby, and print this. Maybe someone will listen to you.

JESSE

DEAR JESSE: I'll print your letter in hope that some kids out there will listen to you. Thanks for writing. (P.S. I didn't have to correct one word. Your spelling was perfect. God bless you, son.)

DEAR ABBY: We are two secretaries who have a peculiar problem. We have been instructed to answer the telephone in the following manner: "Good morning. This is Mr. Johnson's office."

Occasionally we get some smart aleck on the other end who says, "Well, what do you know—a talking office!"

Do you have a snappy retort for those people who get smart with us? Thank you.

THE GIRLS IN THE OFFICE

DEAR GIRLS: Don't feel that you have to come up with a "snappy retort" to every smart aleck that throws you a jab. Ignore it.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

District Officer Visits Local Garden Club

The Greenville Garden Club held its October meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. R. E. Laughter. Mrs. Woodrow W. Ham of Rocky Mount was a special guest.

Mrs. Ham is director of District 12 of the Garden Club of North Carolina, Inc., which encompasses 20 northeastern counties. She discussed the district project of erecting a Blue Star Memorial marker on I-95 at the Welcome Center near the North Carolina-Virginia state line. She also reminded members that the calendar sales support the Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. R. V. Keel displayed two fall arrangements and described them. President Mrs. J. C. Galloway announced the club yearbook had been entered in the district contest. Mrs. H. C. Klingenschmitt reported the garden therapy committee would be assisting Mrs. Walter's classes at Aycock Junior High School this week.

Mrs. Marshall Helms reported on the club exhibit at the Pitt County Fair. The club will contribute to the Department of Social Service Christmas Project for Foster Children.

Mrs. F. A. Jordan was a guest for the meeting.

Mrs. M. G. Martin, Mrs. K. R. Rowe and Mrs. Marie Clark assisted Mrs. Laughter as hostesses.

Marriage Announced

Dr. and Mrs. Loftus Hengeveld Jr. of Greenville announce the marriage of their daughter, Cheryl, to Daniel S. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Reed of Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., on Sunday, Oct. 8, in the Fourth Lutheran Church, Springfield, Ohio. The couple are living in Springfield, Ohio.

Wilmington Freeway Remains

It appears Congressional action has assured that a freeway will be built from I-95 to Wilmington.

A House-Senate conference committee left $125 million in a highway bill recently. It was stipulated that the funds would go for projects like the Wilmington freeway.

It is anticipated that the interstate type highway will tie in to an extension of I-40 from the Raleigh Beltline.

Nothing could be better for the economy of our state than the potential federal funding of this highway link.

Further development of the Wilmington port is very much tied to the development of better highways to the Wilmington area.

Development of the link shouldn't work to the disadvantage of the Morehead port since U. S. 70 is currently being developed dual laned from Raleigh, with a tie-in at I-95.

And, if anything, the action should mean a speed-up of developing fully controlled access U. S. 64 and U. S. 264 in our area, since less state funds will be needed to develop the Wilmington freeway.

Eastern North Carolina suffered miserably from lack of development of east-west highways for several decades.

In recent years, we have seen efforts to compensate for this oversight. The Raleigh to Wilmington freeway is an important part of this eastern highway development, and it will be welcomed.

Metric Booze Costly

By EDMOND Le BRETON Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — If you think you're paying more by the drink for liquor bought in those new metric containers, you're probably right.

Reporting to Congress on the implications of conversion to the decimal measures, the General Accounting Office said the alcoholic beverage industry has gone farther toward conversion than any other.

And the congressional watchdog agency added: "Most wines and distilled spirits that were converted to metric sizes experienced unit price increases greater than those that did not convert."

It cited distilled liquor price increases ranging from 0.7 percent for those changing from the familiar fifth to 750 milliliters, through 6.1 percent for the half-gallon to 1.75 liter shift, to 11.4 percent for the half-pint to 200 milliliter change.

The GAO also noted increases in wine unit prices, except for a 0.4 percent decrease where the wine container was changed from four-fifths pint to 375 milliliters.

It all means that the consumer is paying more for less.

For example, the fifth contains 25.6 fluid ounces while the 750 milliliter container holds slightly less beverage — 25.4 fluid ounces. The half-gallon is equal to 64 fluid ounces, but the replacement 1.75 liter container is only 59.2 fluid ounces. A half-pint is 8 fluid ounces and 200 milliliters equal 6.8 fluid ounces.

The report said the Treasury's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, which approved the beverage industry's request for the new container sizes, "should have insured that its actions protected the public interest."

Simple Rule Of Thumb Is Applicable

The Greenville Board of Education last week discussed the conditions of school activity buses after questions were raised in a Letter to the Editor appearing in this newspaper.

Supt. Glenn Cox acknowledged there were problems with the buses which might not be solved short of purchasing new buses.

There ought to be a simple rule in this situation, however: if the activity buses aren't mechanically safe, don't use them. No trip is worth undue risks to the students.

A Landmark In Futility

WASHINGTON — For a splendid case history of what ails us, legislatively speaking, consider the Humphrey-Hawkins bill. In the name of the best intentions, it offers the worst aspects of our political process. When it finally passed, in the closing hours of the 95th Congress, the bill emerged as a kind of popover bill—crispy and crunchy on the outside, but nothing but hot air within.

Hawkins, he said "is either fraudulent or it is inflationary." Senator John Tower of Texas was even more critical. In his view the bill reflects the same "ill-conceived, outdated, worn-out, tired, and stale thinking that has brought us to our present economic malaise."

The general idea behind the Humphrey-Hawkins bill, when it first was introduced in January of 1975, was to involve the Federal government deeply and pervasively not merely in economic planning, but in economic execution also. The sponsors, Senator Hubert Humphrey and Representative Augustus Hawkins — were big thinkers.

Virginia's Senator Harry F. Byrd summed up this unfortunate enactment in a single sentence. Humphrey-

The Minnesota's original concern was with jobs. He felt the unemployment of the poor as a wound. At the time, unemployment was up around 8 or 9 percent, and Humphrey was certain the rate could be brought to 4 percent if only the right authority were exerted by Federal power.

He dreamed of planning that would extend to the uses of energy, the location of plants and factories, the relocation of workers, and the allocation of mineral resources and raw materials. He could not see that his thinking, translated into mandated action, would have led ultimately to totalitarian controls over design, production, marketing, sales and all the rest. All he could see was a job for every person who wanted one.

There were so many bills passed in such a short period of time that it will take the average person several weeks to really find out what happened in Washington. Most of the press reports were devoted to the tax and energy bills, but the action went a little deeper than that.

For example, the Senate passed and sent to the White House legislation that will provide maximum penalties of up to $5,000 and five years in prison for anyone caught transporting and selling contraband cigarettes. For some unknown reason Sen. Robert Morgan (D-N.C.) fought the bill till the bitter end, and at one time wanted to filibuster against it. He must have discovered that the odds were against him, for, near the close of the session, the bill passed without a ripple of protest.

The legislation was passed to combat cigarette bootlegging which, in recent years, has become a major source of income for organized crime. Most of that bootlegging takes place between North Carolina, which has a two-cent tax on a pack of cigarettes, and states like Pennsylvania and New York where the taxes are 10 times as high. Even a person who can't pass a competency test can figure out the large amount of profit involved in such a transaction.

The new law may slow down the bootlegging a little, but it will take more than a new law to stop it. The North Carolina legislature could cause more damage to those same bootleggers if it saw fit to raise that two-cent tax on a pack of cigarettes to at least a dime. It wouldn't cut down on the sale to legitimate buyers, but it would eliminate some of the Mafia infiltration in North Carolina. Besides that benefit just think of what we could do with the income.

If the North Carolina legislature does not admit to the problem, one of these days the federal government will end up collecting all the taxes on cigarettes. That shouldn't happen. Neither should a complete indifference on the part of a legislature that should know better.

Well, the original bill never embodied quite the sweeping powers that Humphrey used to discuss with Capitol Hill reporters, but it was a jaw-dropper nonetheless. And somehow it became a symbol. The Black Caucus seized upon the idea. Labor unions rushed to its support. Everybody climbed aboard — the Sierra Club, the League of Women's Voters, the American Jewish

40 Years Ago Today

October 24, 1938 Sealed bids will be received at the offices of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce until 10 a.m. November 2, for construction of a building to house the full fashion hosiery mills to be located in Greenville.

The building will be erected by the Greenville Industries, Inc., a recently created organization for lease to the new manufacturing concern.

On of the chief aims of the Greenville Symphonic Chorus, it was explained today, is to train persons who desire to learn to sing.

The chorus is not just for those who already can sing well, but for those who wish to learn. As a result, Greenville will not only develop a chorus of fine quality, but at the same time will be developing its local talent.

It is hoped many persons in Greenville will take advantage of this opportunity. Lewis J. Bullock, conductor of the chorus, is a graduate of the Westminster Choir School, and was a member of the famous European Choir of 1934.

Know The 'Right' Health Ins.

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer While politicians argue about national health insurance, consumers are left to seek their own protection and individuals can find that thousands of dollars depend on their making the right decision.

A report issued last week by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said 57 percent of all medical bills were paid by third parties, including government and private insurers, in 1975. By the year 2000, third parties are expected to pay 75 percent of the bills.

An estimated 80 percent of the population is covered by some type of health insurance; Americans pay over $20 billion a year in premiums.

A new government publication, "How to Shop for Health Insurance," issued by HEW's Public Health Service, offers some help for consumers. It is available, at no charge, from Consumer Information Center, Dept. 582G, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

Most health insurance is sold to groups — of employees, association members, etc. Group coverage is usually cheaper than individual protection and is often more comprehensive. The disadvantage of group insurance is that when you leave the group, you lose the coverage. You probably can convert your policy to an individual one, but you are likely to pay more for less protection.

There are two basic types of coverage: hospital and medical-surgical. Basic hospital coverage provides protection against hospital bills for such items as room, food, x-rays, laboratory tests, drugs and use of operating room facilities. Some plans provide what are called service benefits. These plans cover the full cost of hospital expenses for a specified number of days. Other plans offer indemnity benefits; they pay a stated amount or percentage of the costs.

Basic medical-surgical coverage is designed to pay doctors' bills you incur while hospitalized. You will get a list of the amounts allowed for different types of operations $150 for an appendectomy, for example. The allowance may or may not cover the surgeon's actual bill; it depends on your policy and your doctor. Some medical-surgical policies — the more expensive ones — cover the costs of a doctor's services in your home or at his or her office, as well as in the hospital.

These basic policies are not intended to insure you against the cost of a major illness. For this type of protection, you'll need a major medical policy which takes over where basic coverage stops and provides benefits of $25,000 to $50,000 or more for expenses both in and out of the hospital.

Major medical policies do not necessarily cover the full cost of injury or illness; they usually pay only 75 to 80 percent of the bills. Major medical policies — like automobile policies — also have deductibles, making you responsible for the first several hundred dollars; your basic policy probably will cover the deductible.

Garnishment Considered

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — Tar Heels from Colonial days have displayed a venomous dislike for garnishment — the power of government to take your salary or money in the bank to pay a bill.

But state-owned hospitals and other institutions are being beat out of so much money that a legislative study commission is exploring garnishment as a last resort.

There is no way to tell how much is owed by citizens to the various specialty hospitals, mental institutions and other facilities.

At just one hospital — North Carolina Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill, affiliated with the University of North Carolina — the loss is currently running between $6 million and $8 million per year.

Improved Instead, prodded by the Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations, Memorial has boosted collections to 87 cents on the dollar.

That amount, says State Representative Liston B. Ramsey, D-Madison, represents an improvement of $5.7 million in the annual collection rate. And that amount, he adds, would completely finance the operations of the Governmental Operations Commission and the legislative fiscal research division for more than 12 years.

Ramsey, then is obviously pleased that legislative urging has resulted in savings at the one institution, but more than a little upset that the practice continues statewide.

"How much if you consider all the institutions? There's no way to tell," says Ramsey who has personally ramrodded the unpaid bills effort.

amount at Memorial Hospital alone," he added. If so, the amount would stand between $24 million and $32 million each year.

Add on the public hospitals in cities and counties, backed by the taxpayers, and the figures reach staggering proportions.

What to do about all of this? Obviously a considerable portion of the sum represents bonafide charity. "I don't want to see taxpaying citizens picking up the tab for others who are quite able to pay the bills themselves."

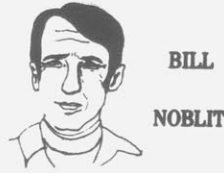

Turning again to Memorial Hospital, the director attempted to recover some of the loss by collecting for indigent patients from the county welfare offices where the people live. Dennis R. Barry, hospital director, said a letter suggesting that the counties assume their part of the obligation "received some interesting but not very productive replies."

Ramsey is suggesting that a state law on garnishment of wages might be the only recourse. The General Assembly has traditionally stood against garnishment, never allowing such a procedure for private collection of debts as many states do, but permitting state and local governments to use the procedure in collecting unpaid tax debts.

The hospital debts, Ramsey feels, are parallel to taxes due since failure to pay by one individual puts a burden on all citizens. Some local public hospitals already have special legislation permitting attachment of wages not to exceed 10 percent monthly, and a legislative study group is considering expanding this to all state or local public institutions.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Target For Vilification

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A vicious, unprecedented Soviet propaganda campaign against Zbigniew Brzezinski, President Carter's national security adviser, has been launched on orders from Moscow by the U.S. Communist Party (CPUSA).

Evidence linking the Soviet Union to the campaign being run out of Communist party headquarters in New York City has been turned over to the White House by Justice Department investigators. Although its only possible political effect on President Carter would be to make Brzezinski impregnable, the direct linkage between Moscow and the U.S. party's attacks marks a precedence for vilification of any senior presidential aide in modern U.S.-Soviet relations.

Orders to the CPUSA are to castigate Brzezinski by pamphlets, stories in the Daily Worker and all other available means with this object: depict him as a warmonger, a zealot and a "mad dog," in the words of one official privy to the campaign.

Brzezinski, Polish by birth and the son of a pre-World War II Polish diplomat, has long been targeted by the Kremlin as Soviet enemy No. 1 within the Carter administration. His relatively hard line on Soviet adventures in Africa, together with his personal initiatives in strengthening Washington-Peking ties, are seen here as the reason for using the CPUSA as the Kremlin's instrument for undermining him.

The campaign will get nowhere. But evidence that the CPUSA will lend itself so directly to the diktat of Moscow has deeply disturbed the White House.

Exit Joe And Pat?

Two of the biggest spending cabinet members — Secretary Joseph Califano of Health, Education and Welfare and Mrs. Patricia Harris of Housing and Urban Development — will not surprise the White House if they quit early next year after their budgets are drastically cut back for fiscal year 1980.

Califano and Harris, heading the two biggest social welfare departments, are already battling budget guidelines for the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) which sharply reduce future spending in line with President Carter's drive toward a balanced budget. "They are still living in the mood of the Great Society," one administration official told us.

The showdown is expected early next year when Mr. Carter's stripped-down budget becomes a reality. Califano and Mrs. Harris will have only three choices: surrender, change the president's mind or resign. Neither is expected to surrender, nor is Mr. Carter in any mood to change his mind.

Strength For Today

GENIUS AND FREE WILL

Yesterday's article described the grossly immoral private life of the great composer, Richard Wagner. One modern music critic called him "Wagner the Monster". Today's article will attempt to explain the paradox of the man and his music.

Wagner's music was the genius which which God had endowed him; Wagner's personal life was what a selfish, unscrupulous man made out of his personal career. Every genius has a two-compartmented life. He has the great endowments given him by God and feels compelled to utilize them. But his personal life can be quite detached from the compulsions of genius. Here he has the free will to pursue good or evil which all of us have.

As a musical genius, Wagner will always be remembered as one of the few men who have opened the gates of heaven and brought divine music to earth. He will also be remembered as an unmitigated cad. Why the paradox? God gave Wagner his genius; Wagner created the life he lived.

Congress, Americans for Democratic Action, and so on.

The original bill of January 1975 was scrapped in March of 1976. It was born again in January of 1977, rewritten and watered down in February of 1978, further diluted and revised by the Banking Committee in June, finally reported in August. With every variation, the hot air expanded and the substantive provisions collapsed.

On the Friday morning before Congress adjourned on Sunday night, yet one more version of Humphrey-Hawkins appeared on the Senate floor. This was known as the "leadership substitute". It was a "vastly different bill". Majority Leader Robert Byrd advised his colleagues. Whatever they were, the vastly different amendments had never even been printed. They had been agreed upon only an hour earlier. A worse way to legislate could not be imagined, but that is how the Senate passed a Humphrey-Hawkins bill.

The bill should have been titled, "A Bill to raise false expectations", for that is what the sponsors surely have accomplished. The bill fixes conflicting numerical goals of 4 percent for unemployment and 3 percent for an annual inflation rate, these goals to be reached by 1983 or whenever a President feels so inclined to declare them, but the bill provides no means whatever for reaching these goals.

What Humphrey-Hawkins provides, in the language of the Senate report, is "a mechanism for discussing on an annual basis economic policies and programs." This is what all the uproar is about. This is what Mr. Carter proclaims as "one of the highest legislative priorities of my administration, a landmark full employment bill." As passed, Humphrey-Hawkins has all the force of a resolution asserting that rolling stones gather no moss. In the end it turned into a political game, and it wasn't worth the candle.

Le Breton Col. ...

"Because it did not do this properly, consumers were not adequately served," the report said. "The Bureau should expand its public awareness program to better inform consumers about the size changes being made."

The GAO said the 200 milliliter and 1.75 liter sizes are the most difficult to make price comparisons with and are "the sizes in which the industry made the highest price increases when metrification took place."

Contrary to widely held opinions, the report said, the 1975 Metric Conversion Act does not make conversion mandatory nor does it even establish a national commitment to it. "The national policy is not to prefer one system over the other but to provide for either to be predominant on the basis of the voluntary actions of those affected."

It added, however, that a widespread feeling that metrification is inevitable has been "a principal impetus for conversion activity."

mund G. Brown Jr. was on view when he publicly called on President Carter to come west to campaign for two struggling Democratic candidates in California.

Brown seems well ahead in his own race for a second term. But Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally faces an uphill fight for reelection and Rep. Yvonne Braithwaite Burke is in a tough contest for state attorney general.

Actually, negotiations had been underway for some time between California Democratic leaders and the White House for a Carter visit just before the election. But by personally asking the president and then quietly publicizing it, the governor has forced Mr. Carter's hand. The president can scarcely decline to campaign for Dymally and Mrs. Burke, the two blacks on the state Democratic ticket. Even if Mr. Carter does come to California, Brown has it both ways. Should Dymally and Burke lose, the president will be shown to lack coattails. Should they win, Brown could take credit for having talked the president into making the trip.

Brown's ploy is all the more clever in shifting the responsibility for saving Dymally from himself to the president. The governor has been criticized for doing little or nothing to help his hard-pressed running-mates.

GOP Grumbles

Grumbles among rank-and-file Republicans on Capitol Hill are increasing over the failure of Sen. Howard Baker and Rep. John Rhodes, the Senate and House minority leaders, to extract concessions from President Carter for Republican rescue missions of embattled Carter bills in the just-ended Congress. Republican votes saved Mr. Carter time and again: aircraft sales to Saudi Arabia, Panama Canal treaties, sustaining his veto of the public works bill and others.

One senior Republican strategist told us: "If the late Sen. Everett Dirksen (former Senate Republican leader) had been running the party, this would not have happened."

In the future, Republican operatives will make a much greater effort to obtain far more concessions from Mr. Carter for supporting his legislation than they got in the past two years.

Hit Recruiting Poster Almost By Accident

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — What started out as an attempt to boost morale at the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg has turned into a hit recruiting poster almost by accident.

Sgt. Mike Mangiameli, a 37-year-old Texan who works in the public affairs office of the 82nd's headquarters, designed and printed a recruiting poster he said was more in tune with what the 82nd is all about. And it has become so popular that Mangiameli has been unable to keep up with the demand from around the world.

According to the sergeant, the rough-and-ready message of the poster appeals a lot more to the enlisted man than some of the softer messages in the posters the Army's advertising agencies are using.

Last summer, Mangiameli persuaded a captain to pose for a picture of a soldier outfitted in combat gear — the whites of his eyes contrasting with a dirt-smudged face — crouching with his automatic weapon rammed into the face of the viewer.

And printed beneath is the slogan, picked up from a sign over the door of a barracks where Mangiameli lived in Germany in 1963. "U.S. Paratroopers provide the enemy with the maximum opportunity to give his life for his country."

A couple of hundred posters for use on bulletin boards at Fort Bragg and to accompany literature about the division were printed first.

Now, however, 2,000 posters have been sent out and a thousand more are being printed to keep up with requests. The poster's popularity was fueled by a picture that ran in the Oct. 9 edition of the weekly newspaper "Army Times."

"We are getting requests from all over the world," he said. "So far, we've sent posters to England, Germany, Africa, Australia. You name it. And just about every state in the union. I even got a letter the other day from Malaysia."

Foster Parents Set Yard Sale

The Pitt County Foster Parent Association is planning a yard sale Saturday in the parking lot of the Pitt County Department of Social Service.

The sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and will feature baked goods. Proceeds will go to the association for scholarships and help with foster parent education.

Singspiration Slated Sunday

FARMVILLE — The Farmville Pentecostal Holiness Church will hold a singspiration Sunday afternoon, Oct. 29.

The program will feature Heaven Bound and will start at 2:30.

The Rev. Jimmy C. Williams is pastor of the church.

A savings account should give you more than just interest. It should give you hope.

"SOMEDAY, I'M GOING TO HAVE A BIG, BEAUTIFUL 20-FOOT BOAT."

"ONE OF THESE DAYS, I'M GOING TO GET A REAL SPORTS CAR."

"IF I HAD A BETTER TRACTOR, I COULD DO A BETTER JOB OF FARMING."

Usually, when you're hoping for something, you think about borrowing. But maybe you should consider saving.

Because, somehow, saving money is easier when you have a definite goal. At NCNB, we have all kinds of savings plans. From automatic savings to Individual Retirement Accounts, we work with you to find one that'll get you what you hope for.

Which, after all, is what you would expect from the bank that wants to be the best in the neighborhood.

Buried Alive, He Survives

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Buried beneath wet clay, a suffocating co-worker's hand on his leg, Gary Troncin thought, "This is it. I'm ready to say my prayers." His prayers were answered five minutes later when police and other city workers, digging with "shovels, our hands anything we could get hold of," spotted Troncin's hand and grabbed it. Troncin returned the handclasp and they worked to free him. Vera Combs, 25, who had been working with Troncin on a sewer line 10 feet below ground level Monday, suffocated when the sides of the ditch fell on her. A third worker, Paul Mitchell, 53, was buried to his waist and later hospitalized with a fractured jaw.

Sgt. Gary McMahon, acting public safety director, said the workers had been reading the 5-foot-wide ditch for a sewer line when the accident occurred. He said Troncin's hand was uncovered about a foot below the ground; Miss Combs was found a few feet lower.

Once he was saved, Troncin said, his concern was about Miss Combs. He said she was "within a hand's touching distance. Actually, her hand was touching my leg." A few minutes later, workers uncovered her body.

"You get scared stiff," said Troncin, 26, in an interview several hours later. "You don't know what's happening. The only thing there is, is to keep hoping."

He said he and Miss Combs were working near each other at the time of the cave-in.

"One moment I was looking at my boss. The next moment it was caved in. We started running, but it was too late."

Authorities speculated that Troncin was able to get some air in the loosely packed dirt.

"It seemed like forever till they got me dug out," he said, adding that the dirt was so heavy he couldn't move. When he felt a worker grab his hand, he said, "my hope really started going."

Troncin was married a month ago Monday. His wife's uncle suffocated in a farm accident in nearby Fairfax two weeks ago.

Burning Permit Is Available In County

According to Pitt County Ranger Mark Webb, any burning done within 500 feet of woodland requires a burning permit.

It is unlawful for fires to be started between the hours of midnight and 4 p.m. the next day without first obtaining a permit, according to Webb.

Permits are available at no charge from the following authorized agents: Sam Alexander, Rt. 2, Bethel; H. P. Norman, Building Inspector, Farmville; Harold Dail, Dails Grocery, Bells Fork; Burt Tripp, Tripp's Tire Service, Ayden; J. P. Davenport, Pactolus; James R. Norville, Norville Grocery, Falkland; Billy Elks, Billy's Country Store/Chicod. Also: Harold Haddock, Haddock's Grill, Clay Root; James Whitaker, Shell Service Center, Bethel; Bobby Joyner, Pitt County Fire Marshal's Office; E. B. Parker, Roebuck and Parker, Stokes; Scott Peele, Peele's Grocery, Fountain; Gentry Porter, Porter Supply, Simpson; Roland Stocks, Stocks Store, Hams Crossroad; Raymond Webb, Post Office, Bell Arthur; John O'Quinn, O'Quinn's Grocery, St. Johns.

Leaf Quality Up Monday

FARMVILLE — According to Louis N. Williams, sales supervisor, Farmville Tobacco Board of Trade, prices and quality of tobacco improved Monday over last Thursday's offering.

More quality and fewer less desirable grades were evident yesterday, Williams noted, causing a sharp increase in averages.

Leaf and cutter grades accounted for most of Monday's volume, with volume of lugs continuing to increase late in the season. Stabilization receipts accounted for 2.44 percent of gross sales, compared with 33.42 a year ago.

The Farmville market sold 742,096 pounds Monday for $1,030,651, an average of $138.88 per hundredweight. To date, the Farmville market has sold 29,437,241 pounds for $40,981,395, an average of $139.22, compared with $116.98 a year ago.

Pitt Sales Tax Take: $231,897

Net sales and use tax collections in Pitt County during September amounted to $231,897, according to a report issued by Mark Lynch, Secretary of the N.C. Department of Revenue.

Pitt was one of 21 counties out of 97 participating with net collections of $200,000 or more. Other neighboring county totals included: Beaufort, $111,264; Edgecombe, $126,729; Greene, $9,105; Lenoir, $163,003; Martin, $57,056; and Wilson, $181,533.

Total collections for the 97 counties, Lynch said, amounted to $14,675,781.

Scouts Dig Up Gems At Mine

Members of Boy Scout Troop 769 of Greenville dug emeralds and other minerals at the Little Switzerland Emerald Mine this past weekend. Gem Clusters and single stones of emeralds, beryl, tourmaline and garnets were found by the Scouts. The Scouts also had the opportunity to tour the North Carolina Mineral Museum and visit Linville Falls.

Making the trip from Greenville were Scoutmaster Fred McLean, assistant Scoutmaster Ted McEnally and Scouts Tim Shank, Eric Garis, Allen Hudson, Terence McEnally, Tommy Whitehead, Bobby Wheeler and Mickey Wynne.

Home improvements that can pay for themselves.

When you sink money into your home, you can be sure it won't go down the drain.

Because many improvements increase the value of your home by the amount of their cost. And in some cases, by substantially more than that.

For example, insulation, storm windows and a central heating/cooling unit increase property values and, at the same time, save you money on operating costs by making your home more energy efficient.

Making a new addition to your home, modernizing a kitchen and adding a bathroom can be sound investments, too.

You'll find many other home improvements that can substantially increase the value of your home in Branch Banking and Trust Company's booklet "Home improvements that can pay for themselves."

Our booklet also includes a number of helpful energy saving tips. Pick up a complimentary copy at any BB&T office.

And to keep the cost of home improvements to a minimum, ask about a money-saving BB&T Simple Interest Loan. (We also make Simple Interest loans for new cars.)

We'll explain all the ways it pays to borrow from BB&T.

Decision On Refinery Is Promised

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers has promised a decision in three weeks on whether it will approve construction of a controversial oil refinery here at a cost estimated between $550 million and $650 million.

The last public comment on the Hampton Roads Energy Co.'s plan to build the refinery complex on the Elizabeth River was heard Monday, and the decision was left in the hands of Lt. Gen. John W. Morris, chief of the Corps of Engineers.

The project will be dead if Morris denies a permit, as the corps is the last government agency to review it. Should he approve it, he must try to resolve objections raised by the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Army Secretary Clifford Alexander may take over responsibility for approving or denying the permit if Morris is unable to resolve the differences.

A final report for Morris will be prepared in two weeks, said Sam Collinson, a spokesman for the Corps of Engineers' Washington headquarters. He said Morris expects to make his decision a week after he gets the report.

Monday was the final day set by the corps for public comments on the refinery proposal. Among those received:

—Support from the Virginia Council on the Environment, which said the refinery will mean substantial economic benefits for the state.

—Opposition from Citizens Against the Refinery's Effects (CARE), a Norfolk-based environmental lobby which said research had shown Portsmouth to be "absolutely the worst site on the East Coast" for a refinery.

—An argument by the Hampton Roads Energy Co., which said much of that research was biased against the project and should be ignored.

—A recommendation for approval of the refinery permit from the Council on the Environment, representing the views of 18 state agencies and Gov. John Dalton.

The overriding basis for its recommendation is the state's finding that the refinery will result in "economic benefits of substantial magnitude," said council administrator J. B. Jackson Jr.

But he said the endorsement "does not indicate (the state) is not concerned about the environmental impact" of the refinery.

The council statement called for "stringent and meticulous safeguards for protection of the environment" if the refinery is built here and added that "the state's support is given under this condition."

The Council on the Environment's position indicates the state "cannot or will not be responsible for the environmental quality," said CARE Chairman Parker Cross, who wrote Morris:

"It is up to the the Corps of Engineers to assume this burden."

"The Corps of Engineers has proved that this project is not in the public interest. Therefore, there is no alternative the permit should be denied."

The proposed refinery would refine Middle East crude oil into 7 million gallons of gasoline daily, jet fuel, butane and propane.

Attempting End Dollar War

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The annual meeting of the North Carolina League of Municipalities continues here today. Monday the 1,500 city and town officials heard Sen. Willis P. Whichard of Durham declare that a war of dollars is being waged between the North and South in their competition for federal aid and programs. Whichard said meetings to ease the competition are already being held between the Southern Growth Policies Board, of which he is vice chairman, and the Northeast-Midwest Economic Advancement Coalition.

Whichard said the meetings are "an initial step away from the kind of destructive regionalism that fails to view the nation's economy as an integrated, interdependent whole and that leads to straight sectional lobbying and voting which admit to no other region's real needs and problems."

LOOK WHO SAYS QUALITY TELEVISION ISN'T DEAD:

Chicago Sun-Times

"Paper Chase is the best show on the air...declines to pander to the latest rage of base and sexually titillating programs. The acting by John Houseman and James Stephens is superb...should be a hit of the new season...a terrific show."

Baltimore Sun

"...an extremely impressive drama."

Philadelphia News

"...classy, adult drama."

Denver Post

"...don't fail to tune to Paper Chase... Houseman turns out a first-rate performance."

Los Angeles Times

"...articulate, intelligent, witty, beautifully conceived and written, admirably performed...towering performance of John Houseman... Stephens brings a proper youthful fervor to the part."

Louisville Times

"Extraordinary drama... Houseman is superior...should draw every adult in America."

San Francisco Chronicle

"It is the best of the new shows."

Dallas News

"...a quality show. James Stephens is ingratiating and charming."

Dayton Journal Herald

"...really worth a look... Houseman is excellent."

Newsday (Long Island)

"The best of the new dramas... a quality show... Houseman is fantastic. There was dramatic excitement in the first episode... Paper Chase is wonderful for television because it is on a slightly different intellectual level."

New Orleans States-Item

"Wonderfully literate."

THE NATION'S CRITICS SALUTE "THE BEST SHOW ON THE AIR"

Washington Post

"...handsomely produced and well written."

Detroit News

"John Houseman is a presence, a heavyweight."

Cincinnati Post

"...has class and is extremely well done."

Boston Globe

"...it acknowledges both the pain and the merit of developing a superior mind."

The Oregonian (Portland)

"...as the intimidating professor, Charles W. Kingsfield, Jr., Houseman is a delight to watch."

Deseret News (Salt Lake City)

"Paper Chase is a drama of class and sophistication."

Buffalo News

"Paper Chase looks likely to be one of the greater TV pleasures of the season... superb TV drama."

Pittsburgh Press

"(CBS) obviously cares about this project, and it shows. Houseman is a delight."

Philadelphia Inquirer

"Houseman... probably the best actor who will appear anywhere on the 21 new series premiering."

The Independent and Gazette (Richmond, Cal.)

"The term 'living legend' is usually overdone... but if ever it could be applied to an individual that person would be John Houseman."

San Francisco Examiner

"...so well written and acted that I was sad to see it end... the most thickly textured series to come along in years."

Washington Star

"Houseman is terrific... something thrilling."

Cleveland Press

"...an extraordinary TV show—with class and attention to detail and careful development of characters."

St. Louis Globe-Democrat

"Literate... top quality production in every department—particularly the writing and acting."

Seattle Post-Intelligencer

"...a show with much class, subtlety and character."

Boston Herald American

"...easily the finest and most intelligent... the best among all new shows for this season—literate and stimulating and different. Stephens... turns it into his own refreshing triumph."

Bergen Record

"It is the kind of series that you want to see succeed."

Rarely in broadcasting history have the critics been as unanimous in their praise of a new series.

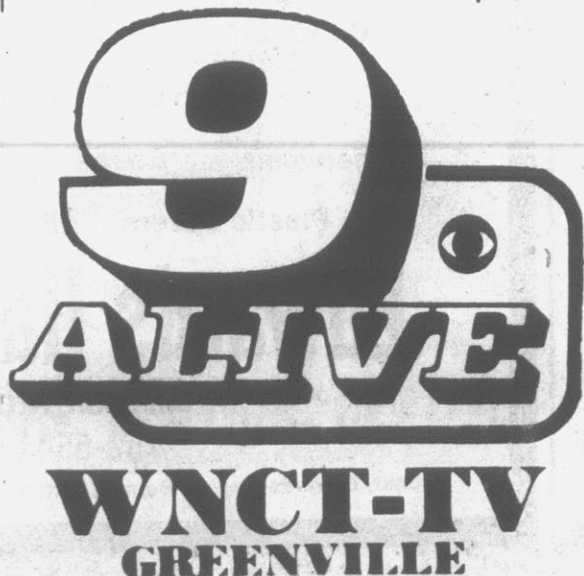

"The Paper Chase" is a sensitive look at the lives of a group of first-year law students—their dreams, triumphs and disappointments. And one particular student, James Hart, whose unsophisticated zeal places him in conflict with a brilliant, but tyrannical professor with the power to make him or break him.

The distinguished actor John Houseman plays Professor Charles Kingsfield, re-creating the role which won him an Academy Award. James Stephens co-stars as young James Hart.

The reviewers, who see all the new shows, have singled out "The Paper Chase" as the season's finest. See for yourself right here tonight.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market turned down at midday after posting gains in early trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, which had been up by nearly four points in the first hour, was down 2 2/8 at 837.40.

Gainers still outnumbered losers by a margin of about 2-1 among issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow had fallen a record 59.08 points last week, and recovered 1.65 in Monday's mixed session.

Analysts said the market got a lift early today from the dollar, which turned upward in foreign exchange trading after hitting new lows Monday against such leading currencies as the Japanese yen and the West German mark. But in hectic late trading in Frankfurt, the dollar fell against the mark to close slightly below its early quote. Gold prices rose in London and Zurich at the end of trading.

Investors also were confronted with Chemical Bank's announcement late Monday that it had raised its prime lending rate from 10 to 10 1/4 percent.

But analysts noted that the move had been expected, and said stock prices apparently had taken the news into account in advance with their steep decline last week.

Pan American World Airways led the most active list, up 1 1/2 to 7 1/2, reported record third quarter earnings Monday.

The NYSE composite index of more than 1,900 stocks was unchanged at 54.79. On the American exchange, the market-value index was up .68 to 151.10.

Volume on the Big Board was 12.96 million shares, down from 14.95 million shares by noon Monday.

Poultry

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) - The North Carolina f.o.b. dock broiler market was steady, supplies moderate, demand good, weights desirable to heavy. The dock weighted average price for this week is 39.16 for small purchases of plant grade broilers picked up at processing plants. Estimated slaughter today, 1,379,000.

Hens

The North Carolina hen market was steady to unsettled, supplies short to moderate, demand light to moderate. Prices paid per pounds for hens over seven pounds at farm for Monday and Tuesday slaughter, to few to report.

'Soldier Of The Year'

Sgt. David D. Moore of Greenville was honored recently as "Soldier of the Year" at the 24th annual meeting of the Association of the United States Army, held in Washington, D.C.

Moore, a member of the 18th Airborne Corps at Ft. Bragg, received congratulations from Army Chief of Staff Bernard W. Rogers during the annual session.

More than 6,000 delegates attended the conference of the Army's professional organization.

Rogers and Secretary of the Army Clifford L. Alexander Jr. were among the speakers.

Concluding Program In Horsemanship

Thursday, Oct. 26 is the last day of a six-week program in horsemanship for seven Greenville children from special education classes at Wahl-Coates and Elmhurst Elementary Schools. The students are: Reggie Keyes, Jeffrey Harris, Ruby Roberson, Michael Adams, Willie Edwards, Willie Dudley, and Christ Close.

The program is a combined effort of the Greenville Recreation and Parks Dept. and Mrs. Hugh Stox of Glenhaven Stables.

Program leaders were drawn from physical education, special education, and recreation course students at East Carolina University.

From 3 to 4 p.m. Thursday, the seven students will demonstrate their skills and take part in a closing ceremony to be held at Glenhaven Stables.

Parents, relatives, friends and other interested persons are invited to attend.

Local Recruiter Among Nominees

Greenville Air Force recruiter, Sgt. Wallace "Rusty" Gee, has been nominated with five other recruiters covering North Carolina, South Carolina and part of Georgia for the annual "Rookie Recruiter of the Year" award.

Recruiters are nominated for the award on the basis of their performance throughout their first year of recruiting activity, involving selecting, screening and processing qualified young men and women for the Air Force.

Gee has recruited for the past year in the counties of Pitt, Beaufort, Martin, Washington, Hyde, Tyrrell and Dare.

A Shelby native, he resides in Greenville with his wife, Jeanie, and their two sons.

Music World Changed By 'Mother Maybelle'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Mother Maybelle Carter, one of country music's pioneers and mother-in-law of entertainer Johnny Cash, died Monday. She was 69.

A member of the Carter Family, she made some of the first recordings in the history of country music. Her guitar and autoharp stylings set examples still copied worldwide.

With her "Carter lick" - playing melody with the thumb while brushing the treble strings in rhythm - she changed the role of the guitar in country music from accompaniment to a lead instrument.

Mrs. Carter was sped to Nashville Memorial Hospital Monday morning from her suburban Madison, Tenn., home by Cash's sister, Reba Hancock.

"I was summoned to Mother Maybelle's home by the lady who lives with her," Mrs. Hancock said. "When I arrived, she appeared to be breathing faintly and I rushed her to the hospital."

A hospital spokeswoman said Mrs. Carter suffered from respiratory arrest and did not respond to treatment.

Mrs. Carter's three daughters - Helen, Anita, and June

Carter Cash were with Cash in California taping a television Christmas special when they were told about Mrs. Carter's death. They returned to Nashville.

"The Carter Family and Jimmie Rodgers started country music as we know it today," country music entertainer Chet Atkins said.

Roy Acuff, the King of Country Music, commented, "I am sure she is taking with her a lot of good country songs a lot of us never had the opportunity of learning - ballads like they sang back in the old days."

Born Maybelle Addington in Nickelsville, Va., in 1909, she played autoharp and guitar at an early age in the Appalachian area of Poor Valley and had developed her unique instrumental style when she married E.J. Carter at age 17.

A family band was formed, consisting of Maybelle, E.J. Carter's brother, A.P. Carter, and his wife, Sara Carter.

The group first recorded for Victor Records in Bristol, Tenn., in 1927. The family cut six songs and on the session two other songs were cut by Jimmie Rodgers, who later became country music's famous "Singing Brakeman."

The group recorded more than 250 songs, most of them written by A.P. Carter and many still performed by country singers, including Cash and Acuff.

Among the better known songs are "Will the Circle Be Unbroken," "Keep on the Sunny Side," "Amazing Grace," "Lonesome Valley," and "Walbash Cannonball."

In 1941, A.P. and Sara Carter left the group and Maybelle carried on with her daughters. The Original Carter Family in 1970 became the first group named to the Country Music Hall of Fame.

Performing under the name of Mother Maybelle and the Carter Sisters, they reached the Grand Ole Opry with Atkins in 1949 after a succession of radio shows in Texas, North Carolina and Virginia.

A widow for the past three years, Mrs. Carter had not recently appeared in public. Family members said she had been despondent since her husband's death.

"Funeral arrangements were incomplete Monday night.

Campbell Soups Up Oilers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, who looked on the bright side after their first loss this season, were also on the bruised side after their first run-in with Earl Campbell.

"I hate to lose, but something good may come out of this," linebacker Jack Lambert said Monday night after Campbell smashed for three touchdowns to lead the Houston Oilers to a 24-17 victory over Pittsburgh.

"There's some possibility that maybe we thought we couldn't be beat. Now we know we can," Lambert added. "That undefeated stuff is over with."

The game capped a weekend of upsets around the National Football League, and the Steelers lost the distinction of being the last NFL team with a perfect record. Now they're 7-1 with the tougher half of their schedule ahead.

The Oilers, who withstood two deep Steeler thrusts in the frantic final four minutes, climbed to 5-3 and now trail Pittsburgh by two games in the American Conference Central Division.

"We'll work hard and hope for the best," said Campbell, who carried 21 times for 89 yards.

His three touchdowns came on short bursts against a Pittsburgh defense that had allowed a total of three rushing touchdowns in seven prior games. Houston also benefited from the third-down passing of Dan Pastorini, who hit 13 of 19 tries and wasn't sacked.

Pastorini and running back Ron Coleman set the tone early on a 23-yard third-down pass that kept alive an 80-yard drive for a touchdown. It came on Campbell's 1-yard run early in the second quarter.

A series later, Terry Bradshaw and Lynn Swann connected on the first of two Steeler TD passes, a 25-yarder.

After a fumble recovery, Roy Gerela kicked a 30-yard field goal to give the Steelers the lead. Toni Fritsch countered with a 39-yard Houston field goal six seconds before halftime to make it 10-10.

In the third period, Pastorini hit a pair of third-down passes on a 70-yard drive that ended when Campbell powered 3 yards.

Early in the last quarter, Pastorini found tight end Mike Barber for 26 yards on third down. Campbell ended the 80-yard march with an 1-yard ram and the Oilers led 24-10.

Then Bradshaw went to work. After having a 23-yard touchdown pass to Swann nullified by holding, he hit Swann with a 6-yard scoring toss with 5:20 left.

After a successful onside kick, Pittsburgh drove to the Houston 15-yard line before a Bradshaw pass was intercepted by safety Kurt Knoff.

After an Oiler punt, Bradshaw led a march to the Oilers' 14-yard line, but it ended when he threw a fourth-down incompletion with 10 seconds left.

"Games like this make you old in a hurry," said Oiler Coach Bum Phillips.

burgh. Three other times, the Steelers were not as lucky, as Campbell scored three touchdowns to lead the Oilers to a 24-17 victory. The loss was the first of the season for the Steelers. (AP Laserphoto)

Upset Razorbacks Drop From 3rd To 9th

By The Associated Press
In the space of 60 minutes, a college football team can see an unbeaten season come to a crashing halt and find itself hurtling down the rankings of pigskin powers.

That fate befell the Arkansas Razorbacks after their 28-21 loss Saturday to the Texas Longhorns, as a nationwide panel of 64 sports writers and broadcasters dropped Arkansas from third to ninth in The Associated Press poll.

The victory gained little ground for the Longhorns, however, as they improved only one notch to seventh.

There was no change in the top spot, however, as the Oklahoma Sooners garnered 54 first-place votes and 1,270 points — 63 more than second-ranked Penn State, which was listed first on the other 10 ballots.

Both are 7-0 after victories Saturday. The Sooners, first for a fifth consecutive week, swamped Iowa State 34-6 and the Nittany Lions thrashed Syracuse 45-15.

Alabama, which gained a step to third, clouted Tennessee 30-17 and earned 1,073 points from the voters. Nebraska, which also advanced one notch, was eight points behind the Crimson Tide after its 52-14 rout of Colorado.

Maryland blanked Wake Forest 39-0 to collect 938 points and earn the fifth spot. Southern Cal, which knocked Alabama out of the top spot earlier this season, hammered Oregon State 38-7 and got 926 points, while Texas totaled 893 and Michigan, which walloped Wisconsin 42-0, got 767 points and was eighth — in front of

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — John Creager, a senior from Augusta, Ga., has been named defensive player of the week in the Southern Conference.

He led a nationally-ranked University of Tennessee at Chattanooga defense that halted a high-powered Furman University offense for a crucial 139 Moccasin win Saturday.

Creager, the 5-11, 240-pound middle guard, was in on 10 tackles, caused a Furman fumble and chalked up a quarterback sack as the Moccasins held Furman to 234 total offense yards, 187 below the Paladins' game average.

Creager was selected as defensive player of the game by ABC, in the regionally-televised contest.

UT-Chattanooga's victory extended the team's unbeaten string to 15 games.

Creager was picked by a panel of Southern Conference Sports Media Association members.

Earlier, the members picked Appalachian State fullback Eddie Estes as Southern Conference offensive player of the week.

Texas A&M, 12th last week, suffered its second straight setback with a 24-6 loss to Baylor and dropped out of the rankings, while Clemson — ranked 18th in the preseason poll — made its first appearance in the regular season scramble.

Kickers Defeated

RALEIGH — N.C. State raced past East Carolina in soccer Tuesday, 4-2, with an intense offensive effort. The Wolfpack, now 9-3-1, took 40 shots and limited the visiting Pirates, now 3-8-1, to just five for the game.

State held a 2-0 halftime lead and increased the margin to 3-0 before Jeff Karpovich scored, assisted by Brad Winchell, 17 minutes into the second half. Winchell posted the final score of the game 31 minutes into the second half with an assist from Duane Baily. Pirate goalie Kevin Tyus recorded 11 saves.

The Pirates play their final day game of the season Thursday at UNC-Greensboro at 4 p.m.

Rampettes In Loss

ELIZABETH CITY — Elizabeth City's Northeastern High School gained a 5-4 victory over the Rose High School girls' tennis team yesterday.

Rose took four of the six singles matches, but the Eagles came back to take all three of the doubles to pull out the victory.

The loss dropped the Rampette conference record to 5-5 and their overall to 5-6. They play host to Roanoke Rapids on Wednesday.

A FILM FIGHT
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Here's Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw on his brief movie career, a picture called "Hooper" which starred Burt Reynolds:

"I have only one scene where I talk," Bradshaw reported. "A gang of buddies and I go to a country-western night club. The first thing I know, Burt and I have this whole big fight going. I wind up losing a tooth and getting thrown out the window."

Akers: Southwestern Conference The Best

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Coach Fred Akers, with a container of coffee in one hand and a cigarette in the other, was conducting his weekly post-game meeting with the media following the Longhorns' 28-21 victory over Arkansas Saturday when the subject of the Southwest Conference race came up.

"This conference right now is really a strong, strong conference," Akers said. "There's a bunch of teams that can put knots all over your head. I've said many times I think the Southwest Conference is the toughest conference in the country and has been for the last three years."

Asked if by "toughest" Akers meant it was the best-balanced conference... or just the best. He thought for a moment and decided to take the plunge.

"Okay," he said, "it's the best. There are more teams in this conference that can compete on a national level than in any conference in the country right now. The Big Eight was like that until the last three years."

For those angry fans in other parts of the country reaching for pencil and paper, Austin's zip code is 78712.

It was an emotional weekend for Akers, a 40-year-old native of Blytheville, Ark., and a graduate of the University of Arkansas, where he was a placekicker and defensive back from 1957-59.

"I think you should go to your state university," Akers said. "You should have pride in your state university. For that reason, I'm proud of Arkansas and I have a lot of feeling for Arkansas. It's my state — I was born and raised there — and my state university. But now I'm here at Texas and my only concern is to beat them."

"When the ball is kicked off, I put out of my mind that I ever went there. They become just an opponent then."

As a high school senior, Akers visited Louisiana State — "It was the first time I'd ever been on a plane and I wasn't sure I'd ever get on another" — Tennessee, Auburn and Mississippi and almost became a member of the first class at the Air Force Academy.

"I guess I would have gone there except for Jack Mitchell," he said, alluding to Arkansas' coach from 1955-57. "He came down and reminded me about Arkansas. Most of my contact had been with Bowden Wyatt (Arkansas' coach from 1953-54), but he went to Tennessee."

Akers said he hears from "quite a few people" back home the week of the Texas-Arkansas game. "Some want tickets, some just want to call you a traitor again and some want to say they're proud of you — an Arkansas boy doing what you're doing."

"I tell 'em all, 'Thank you, I appreciate your support.' Most of the letters and phone calls from Arkansas are very complimentary."

Facing Arkansas, Akers said, was "a special thing" the first time as an assistant coach and the first time as a head coach. "After that, they're just a quality opponent," he said.

Contest Winners

Claude Kennedy of Box 818, Grifton, is the winner of this week's "Daily Reflector" Football Contest.

Kennedy correctly picked the winners in all but two of the 32 games listed in last week's paper. He missed only the Virginia upset of Virginia Tech, and the tie between Yale and Columbia in recording one of the top marks in the history of the contest.

Second place went to Ben Wooten of 111 Holiday Street, Greenville, who picked 29 correct wins.

The next of the weekly contests appears on the following pages.

WEEKLY PRIZES

1st PRIZE

$15.00

2nd PRIZE

$10.00

CONTEST RULES

- Thirty-two football games are placed on these pages. Pick the winner of each game (not the score) and write the team name opposite the advertiser's name on the entry blank. The entrant picking the most correct winners each week will be awarded $15.00. Second place $10.00.
- Pick a number which you think will be the most number of points scored by both teams in any one of the week's games listed and write your answer in the space provided on the entry blank. This will be used to break ties. In the event of a further tie the money will be equally divided between the winning entrants.
- Only one entry per person per week. The contest is open to all except employees of The Daily Reflector and their immediate families.
- Entries must be in The Daily Reflector office not later than 5:00 p.m. Friday or post marked not later than Friday p.m. Address entries to: FOOTBALL CONTEST, P.O. Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. (Reasonable Facsimiles also accepted.)

Three Yankees Named To AL All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Guidry, the good left arm of the New York Yankees, is among three players from the world champions selected to The Associated Press 1978

American League All-Star team. Second baseman Willie

Randolph and third baseman Graig Nettles were the other Yankees chosen for this year's team in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

The National League All-Stars, announced Monday, included first baseman Steve Randolph, a .279 hitter with 36 stolen bases and one of the slickest gloves in baseball, won easily over Kansas City's Frank

White, 143-57. Nettles, who hit 27 homers and drove in 93 runs, was a closer winner over

Dent Has Identity Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — Bucky Dent may be the only member of the world champion New York Yankees with an identity crisis.

"I try to keep my mouth shut and go out and play the game of baseball," explained the veteran shortstop, named the most valuable player in the 1978 World Series.

In the soap opera atmosphere of the Yankees, where controversy is king, that approach is extremely unusual. And even Dent admits that the policy is sometimes difficult to follow.

"Sometimes, when that other stuff is going on, you think to yourself, 'When is this gonna stop?' But I've learned it's better to keep my mouth shut."

At the same time, Dent keeps his glove open. Considered one of the American League's top defensive shortstops, Bucky lives at the bottom of the Yankees' batting order, carrying a bat only because baseball requires it. He is the No. 9 hitter in a nine-man lineup, a suitable spot for a career .255 hitter. "That's where I belong," he said.

But Dent turned tiger at the plate during the Series against Los Angeles, drilling 10 hits in 24 at-bats for a .417 average and driving in seven runs. Those fancy numbers earned him the car awarded to the MVP by Sport Magazine as well as a trophy presented by baseball

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The MVP award capped a dramatic month for Dent. He started it by clubbing a three-run homer that lifted the Yankees over Boston in the ongame playoff for the American League East title. Then he contributed three hits that drove in four runs in the Championship Series against Kansas City and followed with his hefty World Series production against Los Angeles.

Bear Bryant Says He's Not Keeping Track Of His Record

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Ask Bear Bryant anything, but don't bring up the subject of his bid to overtake Amos Alonzo Stagg's staggering record of 314 football victories as a college coach.

"Honestly, and I'll drop dead if it's not the truth, I don't even know how many games Stagg won," drawled the legendary taskmaster of Alabama's Crimson Tide. "I'll drop dead, too, if I know how many I have won."

The gangling, 65-year-old gridiron genius moved a step closer to Stagg's unbelievable plateau last Saturday when Alabama beat long-time rival Tennessee 30-17 at Knoxville, Tenn., pushing the Tide's season record to 6-1.

Only 35 more to go, and that's not an unrealistic goal under Bryant's announced intention to stay on the job at least four more years, counting this season.

"It would be pretty presumptuous of me to talk about how many games I've won," insists the genuinely modest native of Fordyce, Ark. "They're not my games. A jillion people have had a part in whatever record I have achieved — players, assistant coaches and the administrations. "I know a lot of people wonder why I hang on. I assure you it has nothing to do with Stagg or any other personal goals. It's just that football has been my life. You can't break away easily from something that gives you such pleasure and you think may help someone else."

Stagg's record of 314 victories was forged over 57 seasons. Glenn "Pop" Warner won 313 over 44 years. Bryant has amassed his total of 279 over a 33-year span, 20½ of them at his alma mater.

Bryant's average of 8.3 victories per season through 1977 is the best ever, exceeding that of Stagg, 5.5, and Warner, 7.1. Ohio State's Woody Hayes is fourth in the college coaching sweepstakes with 231 victories in 32 years, an average of 7.2.

Bryant rolls on like ol' man river, provoking yearly speculation about when he might turn over the job to a younger man.

Names such as Steve Sloan, now at Mississippi, East Carolina's Pat Dye and Memphis State's Richard Williamson keep cropping up as possible heirs, but the Bear temporarily cooled such speculation prior to this season while on a recruiting trip in South Florida.

"This prospect asked me if I was going to be around in four years," Bryant said. "I told him I would be. Some schools have been using that against us in our recruiting, so I decided to clear the atmosphere. I am healthy. I feel fine."

As for the prospect? "I didn't land him," Bryant said.

Tackle Football
The Jets rolled to a 22-14 victory over the Bills yesterday in the Greenville Parks and Recreation Department's Tackle Football League.

The Jets scored twice in the first period, with Kenneth King scoring first on a 65 yard run. Randy Moore later scored on a three-yard run, with King adding the PAT for a 14-0 lead.

The Jets added another score in the second quarter and Moore scored on a three-yard run, and also got the PAT. The Bills came back with Chip Little scoring on an eight-yard run to cut the lead to 22-6.

The other Bill score came in the third period. Little scored on a 28-yard run. David Jester added the PAT.

Kelvin Williams led the Bill defense, while Kenneth Best paced the Jets.

Flag Football
The Cowboys romped to a 20-6 victory over the Redskins yesterday in the Flag Football League.

The "Skins scored in the first period on a 31-yard run by Anthony Grice to make it 6-0.

The Cowboys tied it up in the third period as Jordy Smith went 70 yards.

Then, the Cowboys came back in the final quarter with two more scores. Thomas Moore returned a pass interception 26 yards for the first score and Michael Duncan added the PAT. Scott Berry then scored on a seven-yard pass from Todd Jordan for the other, with Evan Haus adding the PAT.

Grice intercepted a pass for the Redskins.

Did Nuggets Get Best Deal?

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

George McGinnis for Bobby Jones — it was the big trade of the summer, two division champions exchanging perennial All-Stars in a move that significantly altered the basic character of both teams.

Who got the better of the deal — Philadelphia or Denver? Early returns give a slight edge to Denver, which won its first four games before losing 130-125 at Atlanta Saturday night. Whether that edge will hold up over the National Basketball Association's 82-game schedule, plus two months of playoffs, remains to be seen.

Offensively, the Nuggets at times have been awesome, the presence of McGinnis adding an inside dimension to their game and taking some of the scoring pressure off David Thompson. And until Atlanta, the Nuggets had not been hurt defensively by the absence of Jones.

Philadelphia, meanwhile, has won three of its first four games, certainly not a bad start. But the 76ers were soundly beaten 121-111 by the Washington Bullets, the team that beat them in the playoffs last season, and that was seen as a worrisome sign in Philadelphia, by those who are counting on nothing less than a NBA championship.

"I don't think it's time to bury the Sixers," said Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham after last week's loss to Washington. "When we begin doing things instinctively, then we'll begin to jell."

Bullets forward Bobby Dandridge said, "Philadelphia is a different team. They were awesome when they had McGinnis."

The bidding:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♦ Pass
 4 ♦ Pass Pass Pass
 Opening lead: Queen of ♠.

A play that has everything to gain and nothing to lose should appeal to every bridge player. Nevertheless, such a play can often be overlooked, as South demonstrated, to his cost, on this hand.

Despite the fact that he was perfectly balanced, North's raise to two spades has our endorsement. With three good trumps and a maximum, the more encouraging raise should be preferred over one no trump. Once spades were supported, South's hand revalued to 19 points, so his leap to game was a reasonable shot.

West led the queen of clubs. Since that marked East with the ace, there was no point in covering with the king, and the queen won. Declarer ruffed the club continuation, cashed the ace of spades and entered dummy with the queen. A diamond to the jack won, and dummy was re-entered with the king of trumps to repeat the diamond finesse. Unfortunately, when declarer cashed the ace of diamonds, West showed out, so declarer could not avoid losing a diamond and two hearts for down one.

Declarer mistimed the hand. Since he had to lose a club and two hearts, he had to avoid losing a diamond trick to make his contract. He could manage that if diamonds were 3-3, but there was an additional chance. If diamonds were 4-2, declarer could still make his contract if the hand with the long diamonds also held the third trump.

After ruffing the second club, declarer should immediately cross to the queen of trumps and take the diamond finesse. When this wins, declarer gets back to dummy with the king of trumps and repeats the diamond finesse.

Now, leaving one trump outstanding, declarer should attempt to cash the ace of diamonds. Should both defenders follow to this trick, declarer draws the last trump and concedes only two heart tricks. As the cards lie, West will show out on the last diamond, but he cannot ruff for he has no more trumps. Declarer can now ruff his last diamond in dummy, thus avoiding a diamond loser. If, perchance, the ace of diamonds is ruffed, the contract was doomed in any case.

30 Years Of Douglas Edwards News

By TOM JORY
Associated Press Wire
 NEW YORK (AP) — "Television news, to me, is just sort of staking out its future," says Douglas Edwards, a man who ought to know. He's been there, broadcasting the news for CBS, nearly every day for more than 30 years.

"Television news is at a point today," he says, "where radio was when I came back just after the war — morning, noon, evening, 10 or 11 at night, just the basics."
 Bill Leonard, CBS News' executive vice president, "has forecast that the news division is going to be called on to furnish more and more time to the television network, and I believe that's a good sign of the future," Edwards says.

"The big thrust is to get the evening news to an hour. That may be some time off, but I would like to see that, and also a supplemental feed late at night, say 11:30 to midnight."

Perspective: Douglas Edwards' TV career began in 1946 with the "CBS Television News" Saturday nights, at the time the medium's only network news program. He became TV's first evening news anchorman two years later with "Douglas Edwards with the News."

Edwards handled the nightly, 15-minute newscast for 14 years, until the show gave way in 1962 to the "CBS Evening News with Walter Cronkite." The newscast was expanded to its present half-hour format the next year.

In April of 1962, Edwards anchored the "CBS Afternoon News with Douglas Edwards," and assumed his present position, anchoring the "CBS Mid-Day News with Douglas Edwards," in February 1968.

Reflection: "I don't recall the contents of that first program," Edwards says of the premiere CBS evening newscast Aug. 15, 1948, "but I do remember worrying whether we would have enough manpower and material to do it every night."

The program was broadcast from an old studio at Grand Central Station, and the network was not extensive — essentially, stations in New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington and Boston.

"We continued what we had been doing on Saturday nights, news and as much film as possible, and almost every night, we had an interview in the studio," Edwards remembers. "We would do some interviews on location. I recall doing Florence Chadwick, the Channel swimmer, from poolside. It seemed pretty important at the time."

"We also had what we called the 'Well, Doug,' system. We would make up a list of five or six questions, and then, on the newscast, I would ask the questions live and the subject, on film, would answer, 'Well, Doug,' and so on."

"We wouldn't do that today, it was cheating a bit. But we experimented a lot," he says. "Everything was experimental then."

The program won a George Foster Peabody Award in 1956. Edwards' radio credits over the years include stints with "Wendy Warren and the News," "CBS World News

Roundup," "The World Today," "Newsmaker" and "CBS Views the Press."

A native of Ada, Okla., Edwards grew up in Troy, Ala., and began his career in radio at 15 as a reporter for a local station.

Administrative Costs Add Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administrative costs eat up about 25 percent of the dollars collected annually for road work, according to The Road Information Program.

TRIP, a Washington research and information agency, estimated that license fees, fuel taxes, tolls and other assessments raised $32 billion last year, but $7.6 billion was diverted to pay for administration, highway police, debt retirement and interest charges.

Proposes New Public TV Role

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A proposal now under consideration by the Advisory Budget Commission would enable North Carolina's public television network to produce major programs for regional or national distribution.

The proposal comes from William C. Friday, president of the University of North Carolina, which runs the network.

Friday has proposed the creation of a Center for Public Television to run the network with its own board of directors, named by the UNC Board of Regents and the governor. He has also asked for $1.5 million to hire a programming staff and buy equipment and an additional $200,000 for a new building.

FOR THIRTY YEARS — CBS newscaster Douglas Edwards goes over the wire with then news director Paul White in this circa 1948 photo. Coming from an early career in radio, Douglas in 1946 began his television career on "The CBS Television News," then the only television news program, and in 1948 he became the first TC news anchorman. Yesterday's Cryptogram—GRAY GLOBE-TROTTER ABLY BY-PASSED STUPID TOURISTS.

Today's Cryptogram clue: I equals D

The Cryptogram is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Pope Hopes To Visit Poland Next Year

By EDWARD MAGRI
 Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II says he hopes he can travel to his native Poland next year — a desire bound to gauge relations between the Communist government and the Catholic Church which commands the loyalty of the vast majority of the Polish people.

John Paul II voiced his hope Monday afternoon in an audience with 1,000 countrymen and another 3,000 visitors of Polish descent who came here to see the first Polish pontiff in history.

About three hours earlier he had conferred with Henryk Jablonski, the Polish president who came to Rome at the head of Warsaw's official delegation for the pope's installation Sunday.

There was no official word on what the pope and Jablonski discussed. But Vatican observers took the pope's address to the large Polish audience as an indication that they talked about the possibility of the first papal visit ever to a communist country.

he longs to make a trip back home.

"It is not easy to leave behind one's own mountains so much beloved, and Krakow, but this is the will of God and I accept it," John Paul said. He referred to southern Poland where he was born and grew up, and to the city where he was archbishop and cardinal for 14 years.

Then he added: "I will quote the words of St. Paul: 'When I will come to you, I will visit you.' I want very much to go to Poland next year for the 900th anniversary of the death of St. Stanislaw, because St.

Stanislaw is the architect of moral order in Poland... There is hope that I will be able to go."

The Polish Roman Catholic Church plans massive celebrations for the anniversary next May of the slaying of its patron saint by 11th-century King Boleslaus.

Polish authorities barred Pope Paul VI, who died in August, from visiting Poland in 1966 and 1970. But state-church relations have improved since, and Polish Communist Party leader Edward Gierek met Paul VI at the Vatican last year.

Before the afternoon audience, John Paul had lunch with Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński, the Polish primate, and some 50 Polish churchmen and laymen. The lunch took place in a Vatican hotel run by nuns near St. Peter's Basilica.

Traffic Jams By Sightseers

BOONE, N.C. (AP) — Tourists who went to the North Carolina mountains to see the fall colors made sure they got their money's worth this weekend. Many of the record number of visitors were stopping dead in their tracks for the view, causing some of the worst traffic clogs and bottlenecks in years.

"People just stopped their cars and wouldn't move," said the Rev. David T. Herbertson of Lincolnton. "They came to see the colorful leaves, and nothing was going to move them until they got their fill of viewing."

On the Blue Ridge Parkway where Herbertson was this past weekend, traffic was often at a standstill. Traffic clogs were so bad that state highway patrolmen were stopping motorists from leaving the parkway and returning south for another look.

But some managed to do it anyway, driving all the way to Roanoke, Va., before they could turn around and come back.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Sgt. R.L. Beane of Boone, who was among the officers trying to handle the traffic.

Beane said he spent hours getting through traffic backed up two miles at Lenoir and found some traffic in even worse shape as he tried to return to headquarters in Boone. Hugh Morton, owner of Grandfather Mountain, said the tourist attraction broke an attendance record Saturday and predicted a weekend record when Sunday attendance was counted.

Tourists were expected to be out en masse until the very end. Fall colors were at their peak over the weekend, but were expected to linger for another week or 10 days.
