INSTALLATION SATURDAY — Dr. Thomas Bowman Brewer will be formally installed as the seventh chief administrative officer of East Carolina University in the school's 71 year history Saturday. Brewer took over the chancellor's post in July after serving six years at Texas Christian University as vice-chancellor and dean of the university. The 10:30 a.m. installation ceremony, on the North Lawn just off Fifth Street, will include a procession of more than 600 dignitaries in academic regalia. University of North Carolina President William Friday will preside, and the oath of office will be administered by N.C. Supreme Court Chief Justice Susie Sharp. Dr. Jack W. Peitason, president of the American Council on Education will be the principal speaker at the installation. Governor Jim Hunt and Brewer will also speak during the ceremony. # Consumers Suffer Loss In September

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers lost more ground to inflation in September as prices increased 0.8 percent, the Labor Department said today.

Prices of gasoline, housing and school tuition costs all climbed markedly. Food prices rose 0.5 percent after two months of stability, the department said.

The average worker's purchasing power dropped 0.3 percent during September, the fifth decline this year, the report said. That meant most workers' wage increases had been eaten up by inflation.

The September price increase would average out to about 10 percent a year if it continued for 12 months. The inflation rate for the first nine months of the year was 9.6 percent, the department said.

President Carter announced a new anti-inflation program Tuesday night, but administration officials said it may take at least six months before it shows any results.

Officials say inflation should be somewhat more than 8 percent for the year, but they are hoping the new program will get it down eventually to no more than 6 to 6.5 percent.

In contrast to the price report, the Labor Department provided some encouragement with a report today that the nation's businesses increased their productivity at an annual rate of 4.5 percent in the July-September quarter.

Economists say it is difficult to bring inflation under control unless businesses produce more with the same number of employees.

The increase followed a 1.2 percent gain in the second quarter of the year and a 4.5 percent decline in the first three months.

The department also said that first-year pay increases in major collective bargaining agreements in the first nine months of the year were about the same as the increases as in 1977. Second- and third-year increases, however, were larger.

Although food prices rose in September, the monthly report indicated that inflation is distributed over the entire economy.

The cost of owning a home jumped 1.3 percent and the price of rent went up 0.8 percent, both the biggest increases of the year.

Home purchase prices rose 1.6 percent and home mortgage costs rose rapidly. The cost of fuel oil and furniture went up, but the cost of home appliances and electricity declined.

Gasoline prices rose 1.4 percent, while the cost of car repairs went up 0.9 percent and auto insurance climbed 0.8 percent. Prices of new cars went up 0.6 percent, but used-car prices were unchanged.

A Reminder

IT'S THAT TIME — "To me," Walt Whitman said, "every hour of the light and dark is a miracle."

On Sunday there will be one extra hour of miracle.

Shakespeare said, "From hour to hour we ripe and ripe; and then from hour to hour we rot and rot; and thereby hangs a tale."

A tale, yes. But this Sunday we ripe and rot for an extra sixty minutes. Shakespeare would say "bid time return." The law says go back to Standard time. (AP Laserphoto)

BULLETIN

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The 1978 Nobel Peace Prize was awarded jointly today to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

Reprimand Israeli Settlements Push

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Anwar Sadat of Egypt has the next move in the suddenly troubled Mideast peace talks, rocked by a controversy which Israel and the United States are blaming on each other.

Sadat was supposed to decide today whether to order the Egyptian delegation home for consultation after Israel's decision to expand its existing settlements in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip areas.

The Israeli decision brought a quick, sharp reprimand by the administration Thursday in the form of a written statement by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, who called it "very serious and deeply disturbing."

The administration's protest was conveyed to Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin in a personal cable from President Carter.

In London, Foreign Minister David Owen expressed Britain's "deep anxiety" over the settlements decision and urged Israel to cancel its plans. "We deeply regret any action at this crucial stage which would jeopardize the peace negotiations now under way," Owen said.

Informed sources said the administration was considering possible further responses including postponement of a scheduled Pentagon mission to Israel to survey sites for new air bases the United States has agreed to help build in the Negev region.

The sources, who asked not to be named, said the eventual American reaction would depend on whether the Israeli decision proved to be more than "a bargaining ploy" and in fact led to a major expansion of the settlements.

Thieves Robbed Safe In Church

Thieves last night entered the Memorial Baptist Church, peeled open the safe, and took about $100 in cash and $100 in checks, Greenville Police Chief Glenn Cannon said.

The break-in and safe robbery was reported at 8:21 a.m.

The chief, who said investigation of the case is being conducted with the cooperation of the State Bureau of Investigation, noted that thieves left a $54,000 certificate of deposit at the scene. Cannon pointed out, however, that the certificate of deposit was non-negotiable.

CHILDREN'S WIRELESS MICROPHONES

I am interested in finding out about these wireless microphones that are supposed to work through any AM radio. They are advertised in the various merchandise catalogs and are marketed for children. I would like to know if this is a practical toy or will it prove to be a toy that a child won't be able to use? R. C.

Hotline talked to Carl Lineberger, maintenance technician with WNCT-TV. He told us that this product will work within a short-range distance, and if tuned to a place on the AM dial where there is no interference.

"Usually these products will come with a mechanism that will allow an individual to make some adjustment in finding a place on the AM dial," said Lineberger. "There are also some of these microphones that work in the FM dial.

'El Capitan' Conquered By Solo Woman Climber

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP)—Bruised but triumphant, the first woman to climb alone to the top of 3,600-foot-high El Capitan—the gigantic granite mass that rises unbroken from Yosemite Valley—says, "it just seemed like a different thing to try."

Beverly Johnson, 31, a wide grin creasing her dirt-streaked face, said after the 10-day struggle ended Thursday that she had "bad days and good days."

But this was one of the best of days

"Lots of times I thought I would give up," said the slender, muscular woman who plans next to parachute into the jungles of New Guinea.

She often thought, she said, "If I could magically leave the climb I would have....But you can't leave."

Day after day, she rose higher and higher, clutching rocks and ropes belayed on assorted hardware which she hammered into the rock. At night, she often slept in slings on the sheer granite wall. She carried about 100 pounds of gear—including a tent, sleeping sling, ropes, food, water, and pitons to hammer into the sheer rock. The weather was generally on her side during the 10-day assault, with fair skies and temperatures in the 70s.

Ms. Johnson said that while she was on El Capitan, there were "not any choices. You can kind of go down, but if you stood on one of those ledges and looked down... you just go up."

She kept climbing, she said, by not thinking about how tough it actually was.

"You can't think that there's eight more days of this. If you say, 'I'll climb to here today,' you can do it."

After reaching the summit about 3 p.m., the Maryland native was escorted by two park rangers and a handful of reporters down the twisting trail into the valley. She wore shorts, a light nylon shell, a blue polka-dotted scarf, knee socks and hiking boots that showed their hard use. Bruises showed on her sunburned limbs.

She was delighted by the group that greeted her at the summit, because it included several pack horses to carry her gear down to the valley. She said she was eager for a bath and her first good meal in more than a week.

Seek Money For Women Candidates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "I'm not interested in women's plumbing," says Carol Randles, inelegantly.

Miss Randles is the woman behind the Women's Campaign Fund, a tiny (as those things go here) organization which is trying to work a revolution in American politics by the simple device of getting women in charge — or at least in office.

But being female — equipped with "women's plumbing" — isn't enough to warrant WCF's interest.

The women it backs have "to be willing to stick their necks out and show some leadership" on women's issues, Miss Randles says. Dilletantes need not apply.

"Men run America," WCF complains in its solicitations for funds and cites these figures from 200 years of U.S. history:

- Senate: 1,715 men; 11 women.
- House: 9,591 men; 87 women.
- Supreme Court: 101 men; 0 women.
- Cabinet: 507 men; 5 women.

Today, Miss Randles says, with 51 percent of the population, women hold 8 percent of public offices.

Women in politics carry the burden of a loser's image, which makes it hard for them to raise money, making it easy for them to lose elections, reinforcing their image as losers.

The remarkable thing WCF has learned, according to Miss Randles, the organization's executive director, is that when a woman and her opponent spend about the same amount, the woman generally wins about half the time.

This year WCF intends to give away about $100,000 to women in a dozen congressional races, 10 statewide races and some campaigns for legislative seats where the incumbent has opposed the equal rights amendment.

That's petty change — Rep. Yvonne Burke, D-Calif., is budgeting $800,000 in her campaign for California attorney general — but the WCF thinks its money is making a difference. It says it has helped elect 46 women since its founding four years ago.

It tries to get its money out early, when a woman is trying to prove her credibility as a candidate. The chief problem of women candidates is they have trouble being taken seriously.

Rep. Barbara Mikulski, D-Md., who represents some of Baltimore's toughest wards in Congress, got only $2,000 from WCF in 1976, but it came early enough to buy radio time, line up volunteers and persuade the party pros that she couldn't be sloughed off.

To get WCF money, Miss Randles says, a woman candidate must be running "a professional, vigorous campaign with a chance of winning," must "really need the money" and must be "progressive" on women's issues and quality of life issues.

Incumbents are rarely helped and those who are shoo-ins or in hopeless races never are.

Once a month, the 17-woman board of directors decides who gets WCF money.

The board tries to be bipartisan; among its members are Teresa Heinz, wife of the Republican senator from Pennsylvania, and Sheila Whitefield, formerly White House press secretary to Betty Ford.

Some WCF money goes into primaries. WCF tends to support mostly Democrats, who tend to be on the "progressive" side of women's issues.

"But (Reps.) Millicent Fenwick (R-N.J.) and Yvonne Burke are very different women. We're proud we helped them both," Miss Randles says.

A candidate seeking help must fill out a questionnaire ("Why do you think you can win? What are your major campaign weaknesses?"). The WCF staff polls politicians, labor and community leaders and reporters about the prospects.

Those it helps get the aid of professional political consultants and the services of pollsters as well as funds.

Miss Randles, 33, grew up in Ames, Iowa, daughter of a university agronomist. She came to Washington, worked for the Urban League and for an Iowa congressman, and took a job with the McGovern Commission for Democratic party reform.

"I got a feel for what a raw deal women were getting in politics and for how much interest there is out there by women — and how much unused talent."

What raw deal? "Clearly women have

Oatmeal Drop Cookies Make Great Snacks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

When I sent a sample of some new oatmeal cookies to my Kentucky neighbor, one of my most discriminating tasters, she called right back: "Those are the best plain oatmeal cookies I've tasted. What did you put in them?"

"We used an old-fashioned recipe with twice as much oatmeal as flour," I told her, "but we updated it by substituting corn oil for the shortening. That, along with the fact that only one egg is called for, keeps the saturated fat low and should make cholesterol-watchers happy."

Another plus. Some recipes for oatmeal cookies call for too much baking soda, resulting in undesirable flavor. This one uses only a minimum of baking powder.

These cookies are fine to pack into lunchboxes. Delicious, too, for snacks at home.

NEW OATMEAL DROP COOKIES

- 3/4 cup fork-stirred all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1 1/2 cups quick-cooking oats
- 1-3rd cup corn oil

been the glue that hold campaigns together. I can't think of a male politician who could say his organization would survive without women's labor. But when it came to making the decisions or for becoming candidates, women are left out. They're allowed to go on kamikaze missions, to run only when their party's chance of winning is hopeless."

If a woman has no discernible chance of winning, Miss Randles says, "we urge her to take a very cold view of what's in it for her. We don't want to perpetuate the notion that women are losers."

Don't Begrudge A Grandmother

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: All through school I went with Steve (fake name), although my mother hated him. He was a really nice kid, but he was poor, and my mom kept telling me that I could do better. She even told him to his face that she would rather see her daughter dead than married to him!

Well, we loved each other, and got married against my mother's wishes. Naturally, Steve and my mom don't speak to each other.

I recently had a baby (mom's first grandchild) and now she's trying to make up with Steve, but he's still hurt about the way she treated him all those years.

Mom invited us to her house, and Steve says I can go if I want to but he'll never set foot in her house. He says if she wants to see the baby she'll have to come here while he's at work.

What can I do? I can't blame Steve for feeling the way he does, but she's still my mother and this terrible feud between them makes it awfully hard on me.

DOWN IN THE DUMPS

DEAR DOWN: I hope you can persuade Steve that forgiveness is a mark of maturity. Life is too short to hold a grudge.

Harry E. Feedick said, "Hating people is like burning down your house to get rid of a rat." Wise man, Harry.

DEAR ABBY: This is the second marriage for both of us, and it would be perfect except for one thing.

My husband is a very successful small-town merchant who is well-known and admired in this community.

Every day he pockets part of the cash he takes in so he won't have to pay so much income tax.

Is this considered a serious offense? What can happen to him if he is caught?

I don't dare ask anyone but you. Please print your reply but don't mention my name or town. Hurry your answer. I love this man and I am worried.

NAME WITHHELD

DEAR NAME: Avoiding income tax is a very serious offense and if caught and found guilty your husband could be fined, jailed or both. So if you love him, persuade him to play it straight. He may not eat as well, but he'll sleep better.

DEAR ABBY: We work in a store, and our hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. We are usually here at 8:30 a.m. preparing for the day's business, which requires getting the money and merchandise out.

Our problem concerns impatient customers who stand outside between 8:30 and 9 a.m. banging on the door and rattling the knob until it sounds like the building is coming down. Some of them even yell and gesture demanding that we open the door!

We have a sign on the door plainly stating that we open at 9 a.m. Sometimes we open a few minutes early because we'd rather let them stand inside than put up with their infernal racket.

Is there a solution to this problem?
COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA

DEAR C.B.: Put a shade on your door and curtains on your windows so you'll not be in evidence. (If they can't see you, they won't hassle you.) If that's not practical, just play deaf.

DEAR ABBY: A man signed "Me Mamabu" wrote that he was divorced and had two children, 9 and 11. He said his ex-wife refused to let their children visit him for two weeks in the summer because he had a live-in lady friend. You told him to tell his lady friend to get lost for two weeks so the kids wouldn't see how he was living.

I highly disagree with your advice, Abby. I am 12 and my brother is 9. Our parents are divorced, and we visit my father every summer for a month. The fact that he lives with a lady has not corrupted us. She happens to be a very nice woman. We would feel much worse if we weren't able to visit our father at all. It is better having a woman around the house than to have a different one come in every two days.

Ervin Sees Violation Of Constitution

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — The recent Congressional extension of the deadline for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment was "clearly unconstitutional," former Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., said Thursday.

"It is about the most unconstitutional thing Congress ever did," he told a West Virginia University audience. "It's a violation of the Constitution to extend the deadline for ratification of the ERA by less than two-thirds of Congress, which was required to approve the amendment in the first place."

Ervin, 82, was considered an authority on the Constitution during his 20 years in the Senate. He retired in 1975.

He also said it was unconstitutional for Congress to prevent states which have ratified the ERA from rescinding the action.

"It is a fundamental part of the law that one legislature can't bind the hands of another legislature," he said.

Ervin also discussed the Watergate years, in which he played a prominent role as chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee.

"The press told us the truth and the president didn't tell us anything," Ervin said.

He had harsh words for former presidential aide John Ehrlichman and former Attorney General John Mitchell, both convicted of Watergate-related crimes.

"I don't think either ever read the Bill of Rights, and if they did, they didn't understand it."

Nearing Agreement On Additional Natural Gas

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — An attorney for the state said Thursday that North Carolina and other states served by Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. are nearing an agreement to bring about a 13 percent increase in gas supplies for the state during the coming year.

Attorney Morton L. Simon said in a telephone interview from Washington that a tentative agreement had been reached to set for a separate hearing before the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission a claim by North Carolina for more than $90 million in compensation for gas it has lost under the federal allocation system during the past two years.

The amount sought by the state is about half the total that distributing firms in the state would pay Transco for gas during the next year for the amount of gas they would receive under the tentative agreement.

Although Simon said he does not expect the state to win the full amount it is seeking, he said any compensation received will be passed along to natural gas customers in North Carolina.

Transco officials and representatives of the distributing companies it serves met in private to discuss a proposed revision of the federal allocation system. The U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington ruled last month that the present allocation system is unfair to North Carolina.

Simon said most of the Transco customers in the state support the proposed revisions discussed this week but there are still some dissenters. He said Transco is likely to submit a proposed order to FERC. The revision in the allocation plan, coupled with an increase in Transco's overall supply, would give North Carolina almost 25 percent more gas next year than it has received in the past 12 months.

Brewer Accepting A Challenge

Tomorrow East Carolina University's new chancellor Thomas B. Brewer will be formally installed.

Solemn academic ceremonies will mark the installation of the chancellor on the north lawn of the university campus.

The Brewer era, of course, has already begun here in North Carolina. He took office during the summer and was on hand to get the 1978-79 academic year underway.

Changes are currently evident on campus as this new period of service to our state and region takes shape.

It has become obvious that Dr. Brewer is fiercely devoted to academic excellence and intends to take the practical steps toward building that excellence at ECU.

He has noted that increasing endowments will be essential if ECU is to continue improving its academic standards. He has indicated that a considerable part of his time will be devoted to this area.

Building a great university is a labor that is never completed, rather the work is passed on from generation-to-generation.

Dr. Brewer will formally accept the challenge of carrying East Carolina University to new heights at tomorrow's inaugural. We think the job is in good hands.

World Dollar Markets Not Impressed

President Carter has presented his anti-inflation plan and obviously it hasn't impressed the world dollar markets where values continue to plunge.

The real key to the success of the plan will come following the fight for it which the president is certain to wage.

Carter has shown a determination to see his plans through, as evidenced by the Mid-East peace talks and partial salvaging of his energy program. We wouldn't bet against his making the anti-inflation program work.

THIS AFTERNOON

Hunt Leads Spending War

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Not content to continually turn the screws on wasteful spending in North Carolina, Gov. Jim Hunt is now carrying that battle to the national level.

At the summer meeting of the National Governors' Ass'n in Boston, Hunt was instrumental in pushing through to adoption a resolution calling for a balanced federal budget by end of the fiscal year at September 30, 1981.

That was no easy task. Consideration of a non-agenda item at the governor's conference required a three-fourths majority vote. Some of the governors present protested strongly such a move.

Hunt was subsequently elected chairman of the Democratic Governors' caucus which opens up a national platform for him to push proposals from, and all signs point toward a continuation of his fiscal responsibility theme.

Easy Job
Will the governors' resolution on federal spending accomplish the job of bringing free-spending Congressmen to heel?

Not very likely Hunt admits, and in an interview published in this month's issue of "North Carolina", a publication of the statewide Citizens' Association, the governor suggests that even more forceful measures will be required to get federal attention.

"I don't believe Congress will ever approve such a measure of its own volition. It will have to be forced to do so by the people", Hunt said.

What kind of force? Political pressure, for one. Another being banded about is a national constitutional convention to take up the matter of an amendment requiring a balanced budget. The procedure would require action by two-thirds of the state legislatures.

Gov. Hunt agrees that such a firm step may be the only way the people can get a balanced-budget amendment into the Constitution.

"I doubt that you'll ever get a two-thirds majority of Congress itself to approve such an amendment and submit it to the state legislatures," he explained. That is the other route to amending the U.S. Constitution short of a national convention.

BILL NOBLITT

"But all of the members know that if there could be a nationwide vote on such an amendment it would be overwhelmingly approved."

"So sooner or later, I think the people are going to compel Congress to mend its fiscal ways," Hunt commented.

In North Carolina, Hunt is now pushing for tax relief using surplus revenues going into the 1979 General Assembly budget approval activities.

A Surplus
North Carolina traditionally accumulates a surplus, largely because the State Constitution and other laws demand a balanced budget with spending based upon approved income figures, and spending to stop if revenues fall behind outlay. As the economy grows, state income almost always (the 1974 Recession to the contrary) grows more rapidly than the projections upon which the budget is based.

Critics have denounced the tax cut as a political gimmick and attempted to demonstrate that more money for education is a more desirable course than a tax cut. Hunt, however, is standing firm.

His firmness probably derives to some extent from his leadership role in the governors' conference. He plans to carry the battle to force a balanced federal budget to Congressional committee hearings and to future gatherings of governors.

What better demonstration of what a balanced budget requirement can mean in governmental spending than to show his own state cutting taxes or providing rebates?

A Neutron Discussion

WASHINGTON — My wife and I were watching the Evening News when

Walter announced that President Carter had given the go-ahead to the Defense Department to start making the components for a neutron bomb. Walter said that while the components would be manufactured, they would not be assembled at the present time.

My wife, whose only weakness is she doesn't keep up on sophisticated nuclear weaponry, turned to me and said:

Carter Fits A Mood

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — For the Republicans, there's good news and bad news.

They're getting network time for a rebuttal to President Carter's nationally televised inflation program.

But Carter already has a plan that seems to fit the mood of the voters. And his government austerity vows could have come out of a Republican platform.

According to the pollsters, most Americans favor voluntary wage and price guidelines. An AP-NBC News survey showed 54 percent support that approach to inflation control.

Public Forum

Letters submitted for Public Forum must be limited to 300 words.

To the editor:

Three weeks ago a letter to the editor called attention to the biased and inaccurate reporting of the "Popular-Market" uprising in Nicaragua. The Marxist line was the point of view of all reporting which reached the writer. Later research revealed that the Government (anti-Marxist) has no bombers, as news reports claimed and did not cause destruction as reported. The military consists of a little over 7,000 men, plus 4,000 state police and reserves. This hardly supports massive suppression. Research shows that Somoza was elected President in 1967, replaced in 1972, and elected again in 1974. This is hardly a dictatorship, as compared to that of our "friend," Torrijos of Panama. Obviously, the news reporting has been biased. The report of a U. N. committee on Human Rights in Nicaragua will also be biased since the U. S. member is Tom Farer. He has been outspoken against Somoza for over a year.

On Oct. 21, the morning CBS radio news reported incursions by Rhodesia into Zambia and Mozambique in which considerable damage was done to guerrilla forces. The news report ended with the remark that the attacks have prolonged the bloodshed in Rhodesia many months, because of the guerrilla losses. These terrorists are led by Nkomo in Zambia and Mugabe in Mozambique. These are called "Patriot Front" and are avowed Marxist Communists. They assert that they will exterminate the most populous Black tribe of Rhodesia, which participates in the new Black and White government. No idle threat: it has happened in Nigeria, Burundi and Uganda.

When will our American people be provided unbiased reporting?

Marshall Helms

To the editor:

I went to the daytime matinee of "Pippin" today and was utterly appalled! How can even college students put on such a vulgar and obscene performance?

I went with a class from E. B. Aycock Junior High School and I just wonder what kind of example are you "adults" setting for us "kids"? Why can't you do something like "Carousel," "Oklahoma," "My Fair Lady," that will not offend the audience? To state my honest opinion, I say that it was just about the most sickening thing I have ever seen. How can someone write such a distasteful musical? What's happening to the world?!

To sum up, I think that my afternoon was a complete waste of time. If this is printed, I thank you and hope you will give it some thought.

"What's a neutron weapon?"

"It is designed to kill people without destroying property. We call it an enhanced radiation weapon," I told her.

"Who's we?"

"Those of us in the military-industrial colex."

"Are you in the military-industrial complex?" she wanted to know.

"No" but some of my best friends are. It's one helluva piece of hardware. With the right warhead you can zap a battalion of Soviet tanks 80 miles away," I said.

"Why do we need it?" she wanted to know.

"That's the most stupid question I ever heard. We need every type of nuclear weapon we can get. We've got hydrogen bombs and atomic warheads, and Nike and Polaris missiles. But they're too powerful to use in the field. The neutron weapon fills the gap and lowers the kill threshold to just the right level to fight a civilized war."

"Do the Russians have it?" she asked.

"They certainly do not. All they have is monster weapons that can destroy entire cities. They're in a

40 Years Ago Today

October 27, 1938
Plans were taking shape today for a gala Halloween carnival here on Monday night, to be started with a parade led by the high school band.

Evans Street will be cleared and blocked off from Third Street to Five Points to provide plenty of room for the kids, and the old folks, to make merry.

A similar affair was held last year and met with great success.

Hundreds of children will be dressed in Halloween costume for the occasion. The young folks will join in the parade.

Streets and street lights will be decorated with the Greenville Water and Light Commission co-operating. Boy Scouts will be on hand to help handle the crowds and look after the children.

THE GALLUP POLL

A Light Voter Turnout?

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J. — Present indications are that voter turnout in the national election on Nov. 7 will be the lowest in 36 years.

Based on early October interviewing, it is estimated that the percentage of voters who make it to the polls two weeks from now will fall short of the figure recorded in 1974, the last off year election, when 53 million or 36.6 percent voted for candidates for the House of Representatives.

Thirty-six years ago, in 1942, only 33 percent voted. The low turnout that year was due to the fact that many people had changed their place of residence because they joined the armed services or had moved to work in war plants.

One key indication of likely lower voter turnout this fall is seen in the proportion of Americans saying they have "a lot" or "some" interest in the coming elections compared to earlier congressional election years. In late September 1970, 49 percent expressed a lot or some interest in the coming elections. At the same time in 1974 the figure was 42 percent while the current figure is 39 percent.

Here is the question asked:

"How much thought have you given to the coming November elections — quite a lot or only a little?"

Interest in Coming Election

	A lot/Some interest
Sept. 27-28, '70	49%
Sept. 27-30, '74	42
Sept. 22-25, '78	39

Registration is Also Low

Another indication of likely lower voter turnout is seen in current figures on voter registration. There will be 155,492,000 people of voting age as of November and current Gallup Poll data shows that only 70 percent of those of voting age were registered to vote as of early October.

This figure also falls below the percentage (72 percent registered) recorded at this time in 1974, the last congressional election year.

Important Political Implications

The level of voter turnout has important political implications, since those least likely to vote are downscale groups (lower income, education levels) who tend to be more likely to vote Democratic.

For example, if all persons voted, the nationwide vote for Congress would be about 62 percent for the Democrats and 38 percent for the Republicans.

However, when the race is based on those who are most likely to vote, the race is considerably closer. The latest Gallup Poll congressional figures show the Democrats leading, nationwide, 56 to 44 percent.

It is important to bear in mind in assessing the results on voter interest and registration that these refer to proportions of the voting population and not to actual number of voters.

Strength For Today

THAT ONE STAR
The captain of a sailing vessel has left an account of a voyage he took through storm and darkness toward the treacherous straits of Magellan. One night when he was on the bridge, the clouds suddenly parted and he saw a single star which he recognized. He seized the sextant and frantically computed his position. To his consternation he saw that the vessel was headed toward dangerous reefs. By desperate efforts the crew changed course and avoided catastrophe.

periods of darkness in the lives of most of us. We lose all sense of where we are. Then suddenly one star appears, and we can change course in time to avoid destruction.
Very often this star is the prompting of our conscience. One shaft of light from the very center of our being, sends a vision of what lies in store for us. Suddenly we can see how far we have departed from our original goals, and thankfully we can begin to pursue them again.

How Best Help Neighborhoods

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The task of the National Commission on Neighborhoods, which submits an almost certain to be controversial report to President Carter in January, is necessary perhaps but certainly not enviable.

It must determine how the nation's largest political unit, the federal government, can deal directly with the smallest, a neighborhood, without in the process damaging relations with mayors and others.

It must seek ways in which a cumbersome federal bureaucracy can help inspire development of a neighborhood's resources, skills, vision and creativity, without intruding upon and destroying its spontaneity.

Inner city residents, for example, complained that federal funds went for downtown business development instead of community projects, and that other money, such as for roads, speeded the exodus to suburbs.
Timilty, an attorney, university instructor and Massachusetts state senator, believes that "government is more help when it supports what the neighborhood wants to do rather than imposes programs on it."
And what the neighborhoods seem to want includes locally owned businesses, home ownership, strong local institutions and, as the commission has stated, "a place where the scale is human."
On inspection trips throughout the country, the committee — which includes community activists, mortgage lenders and four members of Congress — has task has been compared to pushing a tricycle with a bulldozer, and the former with stepping on the paw of a lion and then patting the enraged beast in an effort to make it smile.

Joseph Timilty, chairman, knew from the beginning that he faced a challenge, including molding a report from the views of 20 ethnically, racially, geographically and politically diverse members.
But the White House wanted action because of the suspicion that federal urban programs might be helping to build impressive municipal skylines and beautiful suburbs that merely hid the scars.

found pockets of energy, imagination and vitality alive.
But members wrote in their interim report that "people in every city told us they are sick of centralized, alienating institutions that respond to human needs in remote, bureaucratic fashion."
They saw "neighborhoods turned over wholesale to a developer, with needless displacement of hundreds of families," and "miles of public housing where the design obliterates the possibility of community."
They frequently found individual initiative buried by red tape and by difficulties in obtaining insurance or home mortgages, and simply dying or lying unattended because of the neglect and ignorance of officials.

down federal spending, erase needless regulations and foster competitive free enterprise sound a little like Republican orthodoxy.

The Republican reply to Carter will lean heavily on a call for sharp cuts in federal income taxes over the next three years, their chosen issue in the congressional election campaign. They've refined it now to include a curb on federal spending.

There's no indication that the Republican tax cut has swayed many voters, although when people are asked whether they would like a one-third cut in their income taxes, 55 percent say yes.

Among the same people, 1,600 adults interviewed in mid-October, 33 percent said the Democrats can do a better job of keeping taxes down, while 31 percent chose the Republicans for that task.

"Tax reduction has never been more politically popular than it is today," Carter said in announcing his new inflation control plan — the fourth, and most stringent, he has adopted. "But if future tax cuts are made rashly, with no eye on the budget deficits, they will hurt us all by causing more inflation."

So Carter said he will oppose any further income tax cuts "until we have a convincing prospect of controlling inflation."

The Republicans counter that the absence of tax cuts means tax increases because inflation will keep pushing people into higher brackets.

In the AP-NBC News poll, 31 percent of those interviewed said cuts in federal spending are the best way to fight inflation, and 25 percent said controls on wages and prices would be best.

The Carter plan touches both bases, although it stops short of outright controls, which the president called simplistic and extreme, and which he couldn't invoke without congressional action anyhow.

Gerald R. Ford used to talk the same way, but the Republicans argue that he meant it and Carter doesn't. "The American people have a right to know why he has consistently proposed increases over the budgets and projections submitted by President Ford just before he left office," said Bill Brock, the GOP chairman.

As for Ford, he said voluntary controls don't work. "Once you start down that road, you wind up with government wage and price controls," Ford said of the Carter plan. "It may be good politics temporarily, but it's bad economics."

Airmen 'Ditch'; Long Wait For Rescue

ADAK, Alaska (AP) — Three planes reported sighting survivors from a Navy P-3 Orion aircraft that ditched into the frigid North Pacific with 15 men aboard, but a Coast Guard cutter sent to rescue the crew could not reach the site until late today.

It appeared the crewmen who went down late Thursday would have to survive at least 24 hours in 10-foot seas before rescue helicopters from the cutter Jarvis would come into range. The survivors were in liferafts, but there was no word on how many men were sighted.

The propeller-driven submarine-hunter "made a controlled ditch" 690 miles west-southwest of Adak, a community in the remote Aleutian Island chain, about 3:30 p.m. ADT (8:30 p.m. EDT) Thursday, said a Navy spokesman in Honolulu.

The airplane reported engine problems before going down, said the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center at Elmendorf Air Force Base at Anchorage.

The downed plane, specifically a P-3-C, is almost identical to three other Orions, designated as P-3-B's, which have crashed since last December, killing 28 crewmen. Those three planes all were based at Brunswick Naval Air Station in Brunswick, Maine. The Navy says it has not determined the cause of those crashes.

Circling the downed plane today were a second Navy P-3 Orion from Adak, a Coast Guard HC-130 from Kodiak and an Air Force C135 from Shemya Air Force Base.

The names of the crewmen were not released. A National Weather Service spokesman at Anchorage said the air temperature in the ditch area was about 50 degrees, the water temperature about 45 degrees.

The flight originated at Adak, which is about 1,300 miles southwest of Anchorage. The Navy spokesman said the plane was on a "routine patrol. It's an anti-submarine plane and you can draw your own conclusions on what it was doing."

The ditched plane can carry 23 persons. The three Brunswick-based planes could carry 20.

The previous crashes were: —Dec. 11, 1977, a P-3 slammed into a fog-shrouded mountain in the Canary Islands, killing 13;

—April 26, 1978, a P-3 went down off the Azores, killing seven;

—Sept. 22, 1978, a P-3 exploded over southern Maine, killing eight.

Rear Adm. Ralph Hedges, commander of all P-3 aircraft on the Atlantic coast, told The Associated Press in an interview last month that morale was low at Brunswick because of the unexplained crashes.

"There's a feeling that the wing has been hexed, jinxed or is under some supernatural spell, and it's almost impossible to fight because we don't know why our planes have crashed," Hedges said.

Prudhoe Bay Study Told

ECU News Bureau
The development and operation of the Prudhoe Bay Oilfield in northern Alaska was the topic of an address by East Carolina University faculty economist Oscar Moore at a recent conference in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Moore spoke at an energy session at the Atlantic Economic Conference. His presentation was based on on-site research he undertook during a visit to Alaska this past summer.

The Prudhoe Bay Oilfield is developed and operated as two units, under the sponsorship of 16 oil or gas leaseholding companies. The major contractors are Sohio-British Petroleum, Atlantic Richfield and Exxon Corp.

Also during his Alaska visit, Dr. Moore spoke at the University of the Arctic and did research on gold in the Yukon Territory, the results of which he will report next spring at the Universities of Linz and Vienna in Austria.

A professor in the ECU School of Business, Dr. Moore joined the faculty in 1963. He holds degrees from the Universities of Maryland and Florida.

lot of trouble." "I guess I should know this," she said, "but if the Soviets don't have a neutron weapon and we do, how do we prevent them from using their monster weapons after we use our small ones on them?"

"Because if they use their monster ones they know we'll use ours, and then we'll destroy each other," I said patiently.

"But if we use the neutron weapon against their armies in the field, won't we be destroying them? They're certainly not going to stand by and see all their men and tanks destroyed without retaliating with everything they've got."

"I'm sorry but I'm not at liberty to answer that at this time," I replied.

"Can I ask you another question? If we have developed a smaller weapon that just kills people and doesn't destroy property, what is to prevent the Soviets from doing the same thing?"

"They don't have the know-how to make a neutron bomb or they would have before now."

"That's what you said about the atomic bomb after World War II."

"Can you keep a secret?" I asked her.

"You know I can." "Carter really doesn't care if we have a neutron bomb or not. But he wants a SALT treaty very badly. Even if the Soviets agree to one, he'll have a hard time getting the Senate to approve it. So by announcing he was going ahead with the neutron bomb, he'll win over the senators who are against SALT."

"Then," she said, "Carter's not going ahead with the neutron weapon to impress the Soviets, but to placate the U.S. Senate?"

"Now you're catching on," I said.

"I think I'll watch The Gong Show."

"How can you watch The Gong Show at a time like this?" I asked.

"Because it makes a lot more sense than building a neutron bomb."

Mrs. Kuykendall On Nursing Committee

Mrs. Judith Kuykendall, chairperson of the Nursing Education Program at Pitt Technical Institute, has been appointed to the Ad Hoc Committee on "Entry Level Into Nursing Practice."

The committee is appointed by the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Nurses Association.

The Committee has been appointed to study entry level issues into nursing. This year, the Committee is developing a study guide to be used by Nursing Association groups.

Next year's activities will include evaluating the usefulness of the study guide and making recommendations concerning the entry level issues to the Association's Board of Directors. Mrs. Kuykendall has been with the Pitt Tech Nursing Education Department for eight years, serving as chairperson for the past six years.

She received her bachelor's and master's degrees from East Carolina University. She and her family reside in Greenville.

Gallup Poll. . . .

The number of those of voting age has increased, but the rate of voter participation will be down, at least on the basis of present indications. Therefore, even if there were a small decline in the percentage voting, the number of voters would probably increase. For example, if the same percentage of those of voting age voted this year as voted in 1974, the vote for congressmen would total about 57 million, an increase of 4 million votes. This would not represent any increase in the rate of voting for Congress, however.

The results are based on two consecutive surveys in September in which more than 3,000 adults, 18 and older, were interviewed in more than 300 scientifically selected localities across the nation.

When you graduated from high school, did you know what your career would be?

Vote for Pitt Community College and increase the opportunities for our citizens.

Most students graduating from high school are faced with a big choice. Four years at a university. Or, two years learning a trade. That's why we need to add college parallel courses to Pitt Tech's technical and vocational offerings. To fill the educational gaps in Pitt County. And, to give our young people an opportunity to look at vocational, technical and general college while making a choice.

College parallel courses can strengthen our technical and vocational programs. Over half the students who enter college parallel programs end up graduating from vocational and technical programs. So, adding a college parallel program can attract students that need additional time and training before making a choice. When you're young, it's hard to decide what you want to do for the rest of your life. We want to offer the opportunity for learning a trade or continuing on to college.

Give Pitt County students the opportunity for a choice.

Support Pitt Community College. The college option can attract students to make our technical and vocational training even stronger. Existing classrooms can be used more fully. And the revenue from the state will more than offset the cost to Pitt County. So, give Pitt County students a choice for the future. Add a great new program to our Technical Institute.

The Earth Stove
Check these facts before you buy any other stove!

- The Earth Stove burns 1/3 the fuel of many stoves because pre-heating draft manifold promotes efficient and complete combustion like solid fuel power plants. Super-heated air prevents "cooling" of fire unlike manual "hole" drafts do. Even large chunks burn slowly and completely—eliminates frequent ash removal.
- Even temperatures thermostat draft automatically maintains temperature you select. Levels out uneven cycle of wood combustion (Manual drafts cannot do this). Home temperatures more even than furnace heat.
- Burns 14 hours on one wood load
- Converts to open fire instantly
- Cook top just set thermostat to cooking heat desired — ideal for "Crock-Pot" style cookery
- Wood gases not wasted Secondary drafts introduce oxygen above primary fire zone to burn volatile gases such as methanol, pyrolytic gases, etc.
- Air tight Prevents heat loss up chimney. The Earth Stove makes use of modern technology to improve the great invention of Wood Heat.

Another Translation Of Bible In Vivid Language

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Another fresh translation of the Bible, the "New International Version," comes out this month after 10 years work on it, seeking to put the great, old book in clearer, more vivid language for people today.

It was produced by more than 100 conservative scholars with a high view of Scriptural authority, and in many ways is one of the freshest, most direct renderings yet.

Dropping the common "thee," and "thy" usages in reference to God, it simply uses "you" and "your." Its language is frank and plain as in accounts of the first human beings.

"Adam lay with his wife Eve, and she conceived and gave birth to Cain," says Genesis 4:1, substituting the clearer "lay with" for the ordinarily ambiguous "knew."

An episode about a child's affliction in Luke 9:30 says it "throws him into convulsions so that he foams at the mouth. It scarcely ever leaves him and is destroying him."

This compares with the murky description of the 18th century King James version, and with the somewhat obscure phrasing in the now widely used interdenominational produced Revised Standard Version of 1952, saying the child's ailment "convulses him till he foams, and shatters him and will hardly leave him."

Planning for the new Bible was started in 1956 by U.S. evangelicals who recognized that the King James Bible "no longer speaks clearly to the modern reader" but who wanted a revision by scholars committed to the infallibility of Scripture as God's inspired word.

The actual work, involving scholars of 30 mostly evangelical denominations in five English-speaking countries, took under way in 1968. While it was not done officially by denominations, the work was transdenominational.

Assigned teams did the translating, subject to a long process of reviews, revisions and refinements by an overseeing Committee on Bible Translation.

It says the objective was a translation "through which the Bible itself will speak as it wants to speak," while remaining "as free as possible from denominational bias."

The stated guiding concern was "faithfulness to the original texts and the quality of English style." Literary stylists took part throughout to make the

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Just for a moment, close your eyes and picture the scene in your childhood home that you liked best. Was it the music box in the front room, the grandfather clock, the large, fragrant kitchen? Whatever you are thinking of, your memory is a treasure chest of things you hold dear.

Sunday is a special day, and all activities were centered around the church and the home.

Come back to the present a moment. The Church was home to you then! It can be your home now; a place of worship where the heart remembers and rejoices.

Let your mind wander further. You will remember not only loving scenes and favorite objects, but family and friends, their ways, their thoughts, their talk. God and His goodness were mentioned often. Prayer was a common practice. There was faith and trust and a feeling of security.

Local Transit Tops In Growth

The Greenville Area Transit (GREAT) system topped six other publicly-owned systems in North Carolina during fiscal year 1978 in ridership increase over last year.

N.C. Secretary of Transportation Tom Bradshaw, noting that statewide ridership was up nearly three percent to 24.5 million riders this year, reported that the Greenville system recorded an increase of 60.3 percent.

He said that "For the first time in ten years, North Carolina public transportation systems carried more passengers this year than last."

Publicly-owned systems performed better than the state as a whole, he added, increasing by seven percent or 1.2 million riders. Private systems continued to decline, reflecting a loss of almost ten percent in ridership.

Following Greenville in increase percentage were the publicly-owned systems of: Capital Area Transit (Raleigh), 20.3 percent; Charlotte Transit System, 11.2 percent; Chapel Hill Transit, 3.7 percent; Fayetteville Area

System of Transit, 2.9 percent; Winston-Salem Transit Authority, 2.4 percent; and Asheville Transit Authority, 1.1 percent.

Declines in ridership were recorded by several privately-owned systems, including: Safety Transit Co. of Rocky Mount, 2.5 percent; Duke Power Co. of Durham, 6.8 percent; Duke Power Co. in Greensboro, 15.2; and Gastonia Transit Co., 17.9 percent.

Two Collisions In Greenville

An estimated $1,400 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated yesterday by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 4:51 p.m. mishap on Farmville Boulevard 125 feet East of the Memorial Drive intersection, involving a truck driven by Willie Lee Stocks of Route 8, Greenville, and a car operated by William Loyd Rogers of Route 1, Greenville.

Police, who charged Rogers with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident, set damage at $300 to the truck and $700 to the car.

A car driven by Violet Denise Hardison of Jamesville, collided with a parked auto owned by Alfred Lawrence Rodgers of Williamston, about 5 p.m. on Charles Street, 50 feet South of the 14th Street intersection.

Damage was estimated at $300 to the Hardison car and $100 to the Rodgers auto.

Petitions....

delivered to Gov. Jim Hunt, who will be asked to intervene with the North Carolina Utilities Commission and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission for a roll-back in the latest VEPCO wholesale and retail rate increases.

The petitions, according to Burnette, asks officials, "to take such steps as are necessary to effect, for the consuming public in Northeastern North Carolina, electric rates compatible with those paid by consumers in other sections of the state..."

The petitions will be located in local area banks, grocery stores and other businesses, as well as at offices of the Greenville Utilities Commission.

According to Burnette, VEPCO rates are, "unfair, in comparison with," rates charged by Carolina Power and Light Company and Duke Power Company, the two other major suppliers of electricity in the state.

Winterville Mayor Walter Dail was on hand this morning when Burnette announced the kickoff of "Operation Overcharge" and was the first person to sign a petition.

Burnette, who said the petitions must be signed by November 10 in order for them to be delivered to the Governor, urged local area residents to "sign this petition to help protest," the increasing cost of electric power.

Hogs.
RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — The overall trend on the North Carolina hog market today was mostly 50 lower lower. Wilson, 51.75; Rocky Mount, 51.00; Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Pink Hill, Chadbourne, Ayden, Pine Level, Laurinburg and Benson, 51.50; Tarboro and Bethel, unreported; Salisbury, 50.00; and Spivey's Corner, 48.50-49.50.

Hens.
 The North Carolina hen market was steady with firm undertone, supplies short, demand good. Prices paid per pounds for hens over seven pounds at farm for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday slaughter 24 to mostly 25 cents.

Poultry.
RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — The North Carolina f.o.b. dock broiler market was higher, supplies moderate, demand good, weights desirable to heavy. The dock weighted average price for next week is 40.23 for small purchases of plant grade broilers picked up at processing plants. Estimated slaughter today, 1,392,000.

RALEIGH (AP) (NCDA) — N. C. eggs: market steady. Supplies adequate. N. C. weighted average price for small sales of consumer grade A eggs in cartons delivered to retail stores: 67.76 cents per dozen for large white; medium 65.32; small 47.14.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices headed lower again today after another unsuccessful bid to rally from the slide of the past 11 days.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about a point in early trading, was down 4.33 at 816.79 by noon.

Losers outpaced gainers by more than a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said some internal factors were working in the market's favor, since a sharp slide in prices like the one since mid-October normally attracts "bargain hunters" at some point.

But adverse inflation and interest-rate news kept the market from making much headway, and sellers took over again by midday.

The government reported that the consumer price index rose at a 9.6 percent annual rate last month.

And several major banks joined in an increase in the prime lending rate from 10 to 10 1/4 percent, while analysts were already talking of a possible further move soon to 10 1/2.

Goodyear led the active list, off 3/4 at 16 1/4. A 219,000-share block traded at 16 1/4.

The NYSE's composite index fell 24 to 53.24. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .78 at 145.60.

Volume on the Big Board reached 13.61 million shares by noon, up from 11.48 million at the same point Thursday.

Pirates Enjoy Tough Schedule For Pirate Women

Their Week Off

By WOODY PEELE

With an open date this Saturday, the players and staff of the East Carolina University football team took some days off at the first of the week before beginning their preparations for meeting Appalachian State University next weekend.

completions per game. Receiver Rick Beasley is fourth in receiving with 6.1 catches a game. And back Scott McConnell is 22nd in scoring with 7.4 points a game. As a team, ASU is seventh in the nation in total offense, rolling up 438.9 yards a game, and fourth in scoring with 32.3 points per outing. Oddyly enough, ECU is ranked seventh in total defense, allowing 228.4 yards a game, and 12th in pass defense, allowing 92.0.

New East Carolina University women's basketball coach Cathy Andruzzi goes about the job of preparing for the 1978-79 season with quiet optimism, tempered by the fact that her team must play the most demanding schedule in the school's history.

our record with last year's at all," she said. "This is an entirely new program and that's the way we want it to be seen. Last year's team went 20-11, and maybe we could too, but I'm not going to worry about that. We have a much tougher schedule that includes a number of nationally prominent teams, so it will be much harder to attain such a record.

"But getting that type record against the good teams will mean more for our program," she added. Andruzzi said that she and the team are enthusiastic about the coming year. "After being with the girls for a little over a month, I'm impressed with their attitude and their willingness to learn and with what they've done to get into condition." Since September, the team has been working on a weight program at Nautilus, and Andruzzi says that it has meant a lot to the team's condition. "Height is one of the weaknesses of the team, and we're going to have to combat this with strength and quickness. The weight training is helping us in this."

"We were unable to have a real good recruiting year because of the late start," Andruzzi added. Freshmen include Laury Young, Lillian Barnes and Robin Insley, while Sherry Sealey is a transfer. Sophomore non-letterwoman Kim Versprille rounds out the team.

The guards find both Kerbaugh and Rountree returning, giving this position great strength. "They compliment each other quite well," Andruzzi said. "Gale is more refined while Lydia is very quick. Both of them can be long range shooters and can get the ball up court for us. Sealey is very, very quick and will see some action, too. Barnes, who is really a sophomore academically, came out for the first time this year."

James Hits ACC Coverage

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner Bob James thinks the league's lack of television exposure is hampering efforts to upgrade the ACC's football image. James says only a small number of conference games are televised over ABC-TV each year. He's been in a continuing struggle with the network.

Four Are Booted

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. AP — Four key Marshall University senior football players suspended last week for missing practices were kicked off the team today by head coach Frank Ellwood. The four all seniors, had asked Tuesday night that they be reinstated to the Marshall squad, which has won but one of seven games. They are running backs Claude Geiger of Charleston and Mike Bailey of Coalwood; wide receiver Ray Crisp of Lima, Ohio; and quarterback Bud Nelson of Mobile Ala. "The four suspended players will not be rejoining the football team," Ellwood announced. "In making a very difficult decision, I tried to weigh all the factors and accept as much input as possible. In the end, the key factor in my decision had to be the present Marshall football team and our remaining games." Ellwood suspended the four last week after they failed to report to practice either Monday or Tuesday before the Herd's Saturday game with Kent State.

Griffin Sparks Jazz Past New York Five

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Normally just a bit player in the National Basketball Association drama, Paul Griffin came close to stealing the scene from the high-scoring stars of the New Orleans Jazz. Griffin's tough defense, rebounding and passing helped ignite a third-quarter rally that erased a 13-point halftime deficit and led the New Orleans Jazz to a 123-111 victory over the New York Knicks in the only NBA game played Thursday night.

Spencer Haywood led the Knicks with 46 points, hitting 714 of his shots, 20 of 28, from the field — his best field goal percentage ever as a Knicker. Although forward Leonard Robinson had 32 points and 24 rebounds to lead the Jazz in both departments, and although guard Pete Maravich had 29 points, both acknowledged Griffin's contribution. The crowd of 33,192 gave Griffin a long, loud ovation when he left the game for a breather early in the fourth quarter.

off and leaving me the jumper." But even his announced intention to shoot more is made with an unselfish motive. "I don't get tired of it. I know there are shooters in the game, and there are guys like me. Every team has guys like me," he said. "Sure, every guy in the league wishes he was like Pete Maravich or some other talented shooter. But I'm happy to be where I am, doing what I'm doing." He finished the night with 10 points, 14 rebounds and three assists, most of them coming in key situations as the Jazz went from a 64-51 halftime deficit to an 86-82 third quarter lead. When he shoots, it's because he's wide open and there's nobody closer to the basket in the clear. But he said he's not passing up any open shots, as he did during his first two years in the league. "The past couple of years, I passed by some 15-foot jumpers when I was open," he said. "But I hit pretty good during the preseason, so I'm shooting more now. "Even if I miss, my man has to play me, at least. I'm a good enough shooter that they can't leave me wide open. "And I have noticed that people are pushing up on me more. They're not just dropping

Rose Fourth In Conference

WILSON — Northern Nash High School won the Division I cross-country championship for the third straight year yesterday, easily defending the title. The Knights finished the meet with the low score of 34, while Wilson Hunt was second with 60 points, and hosting Wilson Beddingfield was third with 75. Rose High School finished fourth with 89, followed by Wilson Fike with 112, Rocky Mount with 151 and Northeastern with 182. Bertie does not field a cross-country team. Wilson Fike's Tony Batts took individual honors, finishing the three-mile course in a time of 16:22. He was followed by Steve Dew of Hunt, and three Northern runners, Willie Alston, Frank Brown and Sam Poulsen, rounding out the top five. The second five included Reggie Hall of Beddingfield, Tim Avent of Northern Nash, Greg Pittman of Hunt, Til Jolly of Rose, and Greg Jackson of Beddingfield. Other Rose finishers included Steve Blackwell, 12th; Dan Mayo 16th; Bill DeVanzo, 25th; Ted Gartman, 27th; Blair Smith, 32nd; and Mike Davis, 42nd. The Rampants return to action in the Sectionals, set next Friday at Smithfield-Selma High School.

As predicted, last week's results shook up the standings in our panel of experts, who proved not to be so expert.

Despite his prediction of a perfect slate, guest picker Larry Gillman managed only an 8-4 week, but then so did everyone else with the exception of leader Tom Baines and Joe Jenkins.

The results left Baines and this writer tied for the lead with 64-29-1 records, while our guests are in third place with a 63-30-1 mark. Jim Kyle moved past Jenkins into fourth with a 62-31-1 mark, with Jenkins next at 61-32-1. Vickie Spivey made up a little ground and is 57-36-1.

The week could see the tie at the top break, as Baines and I have only one difference in our cards, the State-Clemson game. He's picking State, calling it his upset special.

In our high school games last week, we had a couple of upsets to spoil our record, as we ended up only 3-2. That brought us to 35-9 on the year.

We have six games to look at this week. Williamston travels to Plymouth, Roanoke is at Southwest Edgecombe and Jamesville is at Creswell in games outside the ECC. The Tigers won their second game last week, and should be ready for arch-rival Plymouth, which hasn't won this year. We pick Williamston. Roanoke will continue to vent its frustrations of being out of the playoff picture over one-time winner Southwest. Jamesville, after winning only its second game, closes out the year at Creswell, a team it tied in its first game. The Bullets will lose this time out.

In the Eastern Carolina Conference, we have three games to look at, including two cross-county contests, where Farmville Central plays North Pitt and Ayden-Grifton is at Conley.

First off, Greene Central visits North Lenoir. Neither team is having a great year, and a lot in this one will depend on the close rivalry between the two schools. We'll go with Greene Central again to win this one.

Farmville Central visits North Pitt, seeking to wrap up another playoff berth in the 3-A ranks. A win will ice at least a tie for the title, and we are certain that the Jaguars will not take the upstart Panthers lightly. North Pitt has played too well this year for that. But the pick is Farmville Central again.

Ayden-Grifton visits Conley in the other ECC game. The Chargers are coming off a tough loss at the hands of the Jaguars, while Conley is coming in following a victory over C.B. Aycock. Morale could be important here, but Ayden-Grifton still has a mathematical chance at the title and should win because of that.

Turning to our panel, we find on the Rose-Wilson Fike game of local interest since the Pirates of East Carolina are playing open date this weekend.

The Rampants won big last week, and still have a shot at a playoff berth. Fike, meanwhile, won its first game of the year last time out against the team that was the pre-season pick to win the league title.

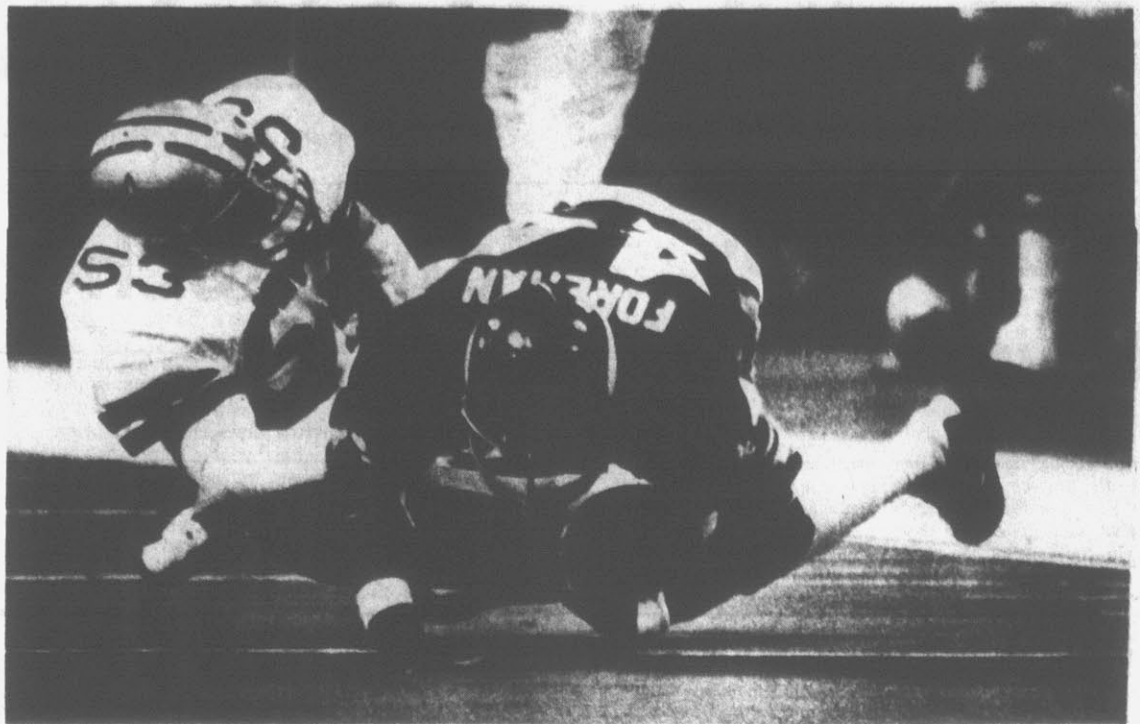

Our panel likes the fact that it's Homecoming and goes with the Rampants by a 5-1 majority (Jenkins, naturally, going with Fike).

Other consensus picks find: Maryland over Duke; Auburn over Wake Forest; Houston over Arkansas; Southern Mississippi over Florida State; Texas over Southern Methodist; South Carolina over North Carolina; Georgia Tech over Florida; Pittsburgh over Navy; Georgia over Kentucky; Louisville over William & Mary; and Clemson and N.C. State, a toss-up.

Our guest this week is "Daily Reflector" co-publisher Dave Whichard, who gets his first crack at trying to pick the winners.

Pulling Forward For A First

Dallas Cowboys' linebacker Bob Breunig (53) wrestles Minnesota running back Chuck Foreman (44) to the turf but fails to stop him short of a Viking first down Thursday night at Texas Stadium.

Vikings Turn Tables On Dallas, Roll Over Cowboys In 21-10 Win

DALLAS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings looked like the Dallas Cowboys Thursday night, from their multiple shifting offense to the final result on the scoreboard.

The Vikings, who somehow installed a tricky shift into their split formation despite a short work week, ripped the defending world champions 21-10 to stay alive in the National Conference Central Division with a 5-4 record.

For the miscue-prone Cowboys, now with a 6-3 ledger, it knocked them out of a first-place tie with Washington in the NFC East.

Fran Tarkenton, booed at home and respected on the road, plucked the Cowboys clean with two touchdown passes over the surprised

Dallas secondary. "I like multiple play formations," said Tarkenton. "We had used it against Tampa Bay, but we didn't use the shift. I like to have something different every week."

"(Dallas Coach) Tom Landry is a genius. Why do you think he has a shifting offense? Well, it's to confuse the defense. But we didn't beat them on a new formation. We beat them by playing well."

Landry admitted the Cowboys were surprised.

"They came out in a spread formation that we had not seen. Tarkenton is a master at that kind of an offense," said Landry.

Viking Coach Bud Grant was all smiles, saying, "This was the first time we used this offense. Our offensive coaches deserve a lot of credit. We only had two days to work out, and the guys worked hard. It's basically the same plays we use except we just spread out more."

Foreman gained more yards (101 on 22 carries) on the ground than the entire Cowboy offense (92).

Tony Dorsett, who regained his starting halfback job at midweek by apologizing for missing a team practice, was booed heavily by the 61,848 fans in Texas Stadium and watched closely by the Vikings, who permitted the breakaway threat just 38 yards on 11 carries.

Ayden Takes 8-0 Victory

AYDEN — Ayden Middle School gained an 8-0 football victory over Farmville Middle School yesterday.

Jarvis Koonce scored the game's lone touchdown, with Jeff Walston adding the two-point conversion.

Kenny Randolph and Lee Avery paced the Ayden offense, while Walston and Chuck Smithwick led the defense.

Ayden is now 3-0.

Unbeaten Midshipmen Get Test As They Go Against Panthers

By The Associated Press

Is Navy for real? The unbeaten Midshipmen will face their biggest — some would say their first — test of the college football season Saturday when they entertain 15th-ranked Pitt.

"One of the reasons we're 6-0 is the schedule," concedes George Welch, coach of 18th-ranked Navy, which is off to its best start since 1960. "We haven't had to play Penn State and Michigan back-to-back like we did my first two years here. Our schedule has good balance right now. It gives us a chance to get started, to get some momentum."

What Welch is saying is that the Midshipmen had a chance to fatten up on some easy opponents during the first half of the season. They have won their six games by a combined score of 158-24, beating Virginia, Connecticut, Boston College, Air Force, Duke and William & Mary.

None of those opponents is nearly as good as Pitt, and Welch knows it.

"In Pittsburgh we face one of the big-league teams in the country," he said. "They have a strong defense led by Hugh Green. Their running backs are quick, and quarterback Rick Trocano does a fine job running the option. And there aren't many better receivers in the country than Gordon Jones."

Jackie Sherrill, coach of 5-1 Pitt, said, "Navy's defensive scheme is really devised for an option team. They play the option very well, so we'll look for some other things from our offense."

"The winner of this game will have something to look forward to down the road," Sherrill added. Meanwhile, unbeaten and top-ranked Oklahoma is a heavy favorite to post its eighth victory of the season against Big Eight Conference rival Kansas State, 2-5.

"We have played against a lot of teams with a lot of tough backs," says Kansas State defensive coach Bobby Thompson, "but we haven't played against anyone that has four backs like these."

He was referring to Oklahoma's starting backfield of quarterback Thomas Lott, halfbacks Billy Sims and David Overstreet, and fullback Kenny King. Sims rolled up 231 yards against Iowa State last week, and the Sooners are the top rushing team in the nation with 413 yards per game and 6.3 yards per carry.

Arizona plays at No. 10 UCLA tonight.

Other games involving ranked teams Saturday are No. 2 Penn State at West Virginia, Virginia Tech at No. 3 Alabama, Oklahoma State at No. 4 Nebraska, No. 5 Maryland at Duke, California at No. 6

Southern California, SMU at No. 7 Texas, Minnesota at No. 8 Michigan, No. 9 Arkansas at No. 11 Houston in a night game, No. 12 Arizona State at Washington, Colorado at No. 13 Missouri, No. 16 Georgia at Kentucky in a night game, No. 17 Purdue at Iowa, Miami, Fla. at No. 19 Notre Dame and No. 20 Clemson at North Carolina State.

No. 14 Louisiana State has the weekend off.

McLendon Grabs Lead

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — "I'd like to know this golf course better," said Mac McLendon after shooting a 7-under-par 65 for the first-round lead in the Pensacola Open, the final event on the 1978 PGA tour.

He was serious since his first tour of the 7,133-yard Perdido Bay Country Club course was Wednesday, when he played in a pro-am preceding the 72-hole event.

"I rushed here Tuesday night after helping my son Lance celebrate his seventh birthday," McLendon said, "and I wasn't really sure where some of the bunkers were when I started the tournament."

"I was playing probably the best golf I can remember for the first 15 holes. I hit the ball well until the last three holes, when I struggled and still made only one bogey."

He put together nines of 31-34 for a 1-stroke lead going into today's second round.

Rookie pro Lon Nielsen of Belle Plaine, Iowa, shot a 66 for second place. "I didn't know I'd be in the tournament after shooting a 73 in the qualifying round Monday and ended as an alternate," Nielsen said. "I'm just coming back after pulling a back muscle when I hit out of the rough in the B.C. Open last month. It's healed now and I hit more good shots than in a long time."

Randy Erskine, 30, on the verge of giving up the tour for the insurance business in Battle Creek, Mich., shot a first-round 67, along with Alan Tapie of Irvine, Calif.

Kickers In Tie

GREENSBORO — East Carolina and UNC-Greensboro tied, 2-2, in soccer Thursday afternoon in the Pirates' final road game of the season.

East Carolina took a 1-0 lead on a goal by Brad Winchell with an assist from Jeff Karpovich, then regained the lead, 2-1, later in the first half with a goal by Greensboro native Phil Martin on a pass from Shawn Berry.

The two teams fought through two scoreless overtime periods after the Spartans knotted the fray with ten minutes to play.

The Pirates, now 3-8-2, meet William & Mary here Sunday at 1 p.m.

Clemson, State In Key ACC Clash

Patriots Wary Of The Jets

By The Associated Press
The Atlantic Coast Conference football race could be reduced to a two-team fight for the season championship this week as the four teams with the best shot at the crown play in two league games.

The key game will be Clemson and North Carolina State. Clemson is 2-0 in league play and State is 2-1.

The second game pits Maryland against Duke. Maryland is 3-0 in the league and Duke is 1-1.

Wins by Clemson and Maryland would probably shut the door on other teams hoping to gain the season crown. And it would set the stage for quite a battle Nov. 18, when the teams meet on Maryland's home turf.

North Carolina will be on the road against South Carolina, and Wake Forest travels to Auburn. Both outside teams are considered formidable foes.

Virginia gets a break this week after capturing its second victory of the season last week when it knocked off Virginia Tech.

CLEMSON AT STATE
If you look at the statistics, there's not a good deal of difference between these two teams. Both teams are 5-1 overall, but Clemson is ahead in league standings with a 2-0 record, compared to State's 2-1. Clemson has a slight edge in both total offense and total defense.

The individual battle pits two super players, running back Ted Brown of State and quarterback Steve Fuller of Clemson. Brown is the ACC's leading rusher with a 147.2 yards per game average, while Fuller leads the league in total offense with 183.2 yards per game.

Both teams are coming off good wins last week. Clemson whopped Duke 28-8, and State embarrassed Carolina 34-7.

The series between the two teams goes back to 1899, and Clemson leads 29-16-1. But the Tigers, who won last year 7-3, haven't been able to put together back-to-back wins since 1967/1968.

MARYLAND AT DUKE
Maryland moved up another notch in the polls this week and is now ranked fifth. And the Terps are coming off a 39-0 trouncing of Wake Forest last week to maintain their unbeaten record. Duke started off strong this year but now is 3-3 overall and 1-1 in the league. Highly praised quarterback Mike Dunn reinjured his thumb against Clemson last week.

But Terp coach Jerry Claiborne is a bit worried about injuries on his side, especially at the fullback position. However, quarterback Tim O'Hare is the conference's leading passer, hitting 58 percent for 886 yards. And Steve Atkins is the nation's ninth leading rusher and second in the ACC.

The Blue Devils are unbeaten in three games at home this year, but Maryland has won the last four games against Duke, including a 31-7 win in 1977.

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
The way Steve Grogan sees it, the New York Jets are a team of the not-too-distant future — and he and the rest of the New England Patriots are hoping the future isn't now.

"I picked them as the dark horse even before season started," the Patriots' quarterback said. "They remind me of the way our team was a few years ago. They're a young team and they make up for their mistakes by being aggressive. The Jets have a young defense but they don't play like they're young. They have a great future."

That future has arrived a lot quicker than some people expected. A year ago at this time the Jets were 2-6 and headed for their third straight 3-11 finish in the American Conference East. And when quarterback Richard Todd was injured four games into this season and New York slipped to 2-3 (after winning its first two games), it looked like another bleak season.

But Matt Robinson, the Jets' second-year quarterback out of Georgia who completed just 37 percent of his passes for two touchdowns and eight interceptions a year ago, has guided the team to three straight triumphs for a 5-3 record, good enough for a second-place tie with Miami, one game back of the Patriots heading into Sunday's National Football League game at New England.

Sunday's other games are Baltimore at Miami, Denver at Seattle, San Diego at Oakland, San Francisco at Washington, Buffalo at Cleveland, Houston at Cincinnati, Kansas City at Pittsburgh, St. Louis at Philadelphia, Detroit at Chicago, the New York Giants at New Orleans and Tampa Bay at Green Bay. Los Angeles visits Atlanta on Monday night.

In the last three games (45-14 over Buffalo, 33-10 over Baltimore and 23-10 over St. Louis), the Jets have covered the ball up just once but have snatched it away from the opposition 12 times. "You can't make mistakes against this team," Patriots Coach Chuck Fairbanks observed.

Flag Football
The Jets rolled to a 20-0 victory over the Redskins in the Greenville Parks and Recreation Department's Flag Football League yesterday.

Anthony Cobb scored the first Jet touchdown in the first period on a 35-yard run. Dwight Smith hit Tyrone Smith for a seven-yard pass in the second period, and Dwight Smith ran over the PAT for a 13-0 lead.

The other touchdown came in the final period, when Smith again passed to Tyrone Smith, this time for 36 yards. Smith again ran over the PAT.

Jesse Patterson had an interception for the Jets, while Steve Childers was cited for his defensive play for the Redskins.

Soccer
The Diplomats and Tornados captured Soccer League victories yesterday.

The Diplomats downed the Stars, 1-0. The lone score came in the final period, when Scott Davis scored off a throw-in from George Jaboni.

The Tornados also gained a 1-0 win, beating the Cosmos.

David Lee scored on a penalty kick in the final period to get the win, allowing the Tornados to remain unbeaten.

Eddie White, Neal Bullock and Chip Henssenlow led the Cosmos defense.

Fun Run Scheduled
The Coastal Carolina Track Club will hold its weekly "Fun Run" Saturday at 7:30 a.m.

The event will get underway at the North Pitt High School parking lot.

Sunday, the regular "Joggers' Special" will be held at 8:30 a.m. at the E.B. Aycock Junior High School track.

Anyone interested in running is invited to take part in either event.

George Dickel Tennessee sippin' whisky. Smooth as moon beams.

From George Dickel folks

"Tastin' is believin'."
—Merle Beatty, Store Owner, 1871

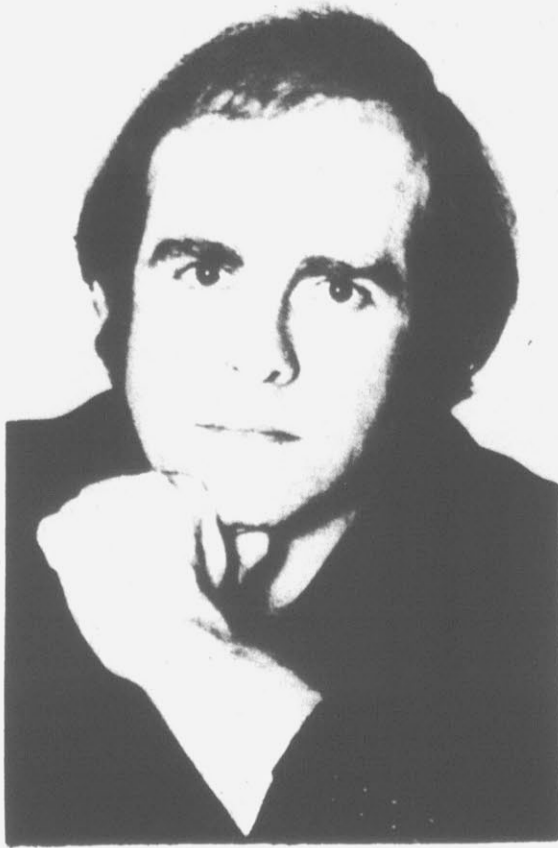

"I remember we were tryin' to tell this city feller that George Dickel's whisky tastes smooth 'cause it's made with clear, sweet springwater.

"And it's mellowed good and proper 'cause Ol' George gives his sour mash extra time to get into the flavor.

"Well, I could see this city feller wasn't much impressed with our jawin', so I stopped talkin' and started pourin'.

"One sip was all it took. Said he'd never tasted a finer Tennessee Sour Mash. Didn't surprise us none. 'Cause when it comes to George Dickel's whisky, tastin' is believin'."

Uses Magic To Tell Story For Effect

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Okay, so the magician will saw himself in half. But this one does it the hard way. Lengthwise. Or so it will seem on a CBS special tonight called "The Magic of David Copperfield."

The star billed himself as Davino the Magician when he took up magic at age 10 back home in Metuchen, N.J. Now 22, he did his first network special last year on ABC.

A tall, articulate, dark-haired gent whose real last name is Kotkin, David doesn't go about his trade of levitations, vanishings and body-sawings as do those possessed of ordinary occult hands.

Were he to make, say, the Empire State vanish, he wouldn't just have it go away. He says he'd do it as a big production number, complete with singing, dancing and acting.

"With all my routines, each and every one is a vignette," he says. "I try to tell a story that incorporates my acting, singing and dancing into the magic."

Helping him do this tonight are the thespians Valerie Bertinelli, Sherman Hemsley, Bernadette Peters, Orson Welles (a good sleight-of-hand man) and Cindy Williams. She gets sawed in three, folks.

The only professional prestidigitator sharing the bill is the noted Carl Ballentine, for whom things go awry at times. All times. But that — magic foupous for comic effect — is all part of his act.

For Copperfield, making magic tell a story for effect became part of his act because he got weary of just kidding around with magic as a kid. Even though $5 for a quick neighborhood show was rewarding.

"But I got tired of just doing magic alone," he says. "So I started sneaking off to New York to see Broadway shows and old movie musicals. It influenced me to incorporate what I saw with my magic."

To aid the incorporation, he says, he studied singing, dancing and acting with professionals while still in high school. He later put an ad in "Variety," the show-biz bible, touting his four talents.

And, he says, he found himself hired — and leaving Fordham University after only three weeks — to use all four talents at age 18, appearing in a new opus, "The Magic Show," that played a year in Chicago.

Then, he says, he returned to New York, pounded on doors, made ends meet doing industrial shows and met veteran TV producer Joe Cates, who later called him for what became Copperfield's debut on ABC.

Cates, a specialist in specials, is doing the honors again tonight for the young magician's debut on CBS.

That established, Copperfield was asked to get down to brass tacks and say what he really wants to do — sing, dance, act or be a full-time magician. He promptly cast his ballot for all four.

"I'd like to do with magic what Gene Kelly did with dancing," he explained. "Sure, he was a dancer. But through movies, he got a chance to sing and act, to grow and be accepted in other fields."

Well, if you only hit it acting, he was told, at least your magic abilities may help you make a grouchy director disappear, no?

"Oh, I wish it did," David Copperfield laughed. "Of course, I haven't met any yet."

Opening lead: Jack of ♣.

East missed a chance during the auction to direct the defense. Thereafter, the defenders had to watch helplessly as declarer produced a virtuoso performance to bring home his slam.

After North jump raised spades, South's hand revalued to 18 points. That brought the hand into the slam zone. Since he had no control of diamonds, South announced his ambitions with a club cue-bid, then showed the ace of hearts over his partner's cue-bid of the diamond ace. North was looking at second-round control in both suits cue-bid by his partner and a fifth trump, so he decided to take a stab at slam without further ado.

With nothing to guide him, West made his natural lead of the jack of clubs. East had missed his opportunity. It was obvious that his opponents were going to play in spades, so East could have doubled North's four diamond cue-bid for a lead. Because of the mirror distribution, that would have left declarer with two diamond losers.

The club lead gave declarer a reprieve, and he was quick to take advantage. He won the club in dummy and made the technically correct play of the jack of spades. East covered and declarer captured the king with the ace. When West showed out, declarer's care was rewarded. He crossed back to dummy with the king of hearts, led a spade and took the marked finesse of the eight when East followed low.

The rest of the hand was routine. Declarer drew the last trump, cashed the ace of clubs and ace-queen of hearts, then led a diamond toward dummy. When West followed with a low diamond, declarer inserted the ten. East won the queen but he was end played. A diamond would be into dummy's ace-jack. Any other suit would allow declarer to ruff in one hand while discarding the diamond loser from the other.

All declarer lost was one diamond trick.
