An Outpouring Of Grief

OUTPOURING OF GRIEF — More than 25,000 persons jammed the park and streets around San Francisco's City Hall Monday in a spontaneous demonstration of grief for slain Mayor George Moscone and Supervisor Harvey Milk. The two city officials were gunned down in their offices at city hall Monday morning. The candle carrying crowd listened to talks by acting Mayor Diane Feinstein and Police Chief Charles Gain. San Francisco Shaken By Slaying Of Two Officials

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor George Moscone, who grew up and grew powerful here, and supervisor Harvey Milk, a New Yorker, who built a political base among his fellow homosexuals, lie in state together today beneath the dome of City Hall, where both were assassinated.

A political foe of both men, former supervisor Dan White, 32, is in jail, booked for investigation of the slayings — which took place moments before Moscone was to announce White's successor at an 11:30 a.m. news conference Monday.

White, who resigned early this month then decided he wanted his job back, walked into a police station 45 minutes afer the shootings and eight blocks from the scene and surrendered, police said. Psychiatric tests were scheduled.

Moscone, mayor since 1975, liked to say of his birthplace, "There's no place like it in the world." Milk said it was where he "finally found true happiness."

The city they loved — still reeling from news of the murder-suicide of more than 900 members of the San Franciscobased Peoples Temple in Guyana — reacted with a spontaneous outpouring of grief. A crowd estimated by police at up to 40,000 strong marched to City Hall Monday night, their tear-streaked faces lit by candles.

Folksinger Joan Baez sang to the mourners and Dianne Feinstein, president of the Board of Supervisors and now acting mayor, addressed them.

Moscone's last public appearance was Sunday night, when he wept at a memorial service for the dead church members, including leader Jim Jones whom the mayor had once named housing director in the city.

President Carter expressed "outrage and sadness at the senseless killings." At the National League of Cities meeting in St. Louis, Ken Erickson, mayor of Cheyenne, Wyo., said: "The faces of the mayors around me grew pale when the announcement was made."

White, a former police officer and fireman and the youngest person ever to serve as a supervisor, could be sentenced to death if convicted of the slayings.

Moscone, who turned 49 Friday, and Milk, 48, were each shot three times, the mayor twice in the head. Moscone will be buried Wednesday. Milk will be cremated Friday night, aides said.

Police said the men were shot with a .38-caliber Smith & Wesson handgun, standard for police officers, which they theorized White had carried into City Hall.

In a preliminary autopsy report released Monday night, San Francisco Coroner Boyd Stephens said Moscone was shot four times — twice in the right side of the head and twice in the chest-abdomen area.

The coroner said Milk had been shot five times — two bullet wounds to the back of the head and three in the cheststomach area. Milk also was wounded in the right wrist and left arm by bullets that passed through his body.

Officials said White probably had entered City Hall through an unguarded side door used by officials, or even strolled past police guards at the main door without passing through the metal detector there.

"This is an unparalleled time in San Francisco," a red-eyed Ms. Feinstein said in a special meeting of the board after the slayings.

"If there was ever a time for this city to pull itself together...this is that time....We need to be together and bring out what is good in each of our hearts."

Dollar Buys Half 1967 Level

Consumer Prices Up Sharply In October

By MICHAEL DOAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose sharply again in October, and for the first time the American dollar could buy only half as much as it did in 1967, the Labor Department said today.

Rising beef, poultry and pork prices led to the 0.8 percent increase in consumer prices last month, the same increase as in September and about average for 1978.

For the first time, the Consumer Price Index passed the 200 mark, rising to 200.9. That meant the average product that cost $100 in the 1967 base period now costs $200.90, the department said.

Food is 116 percent more expensive than in 1967, housing 109 percent, fuel 120 percent, clothing 63 percent and medical care 89 percent.

Since October 1977, prices have risen 8.9 percent, the department said. The average worker's purchasing power dropped 3.6 percent in the same period.

In October, the average worker's real spendable earnings declined 0.1 percent, the third decline in a row.

President Carter announced an anti-inflation program in October to halt rising prices, but officials expect it will take until mid-1979 before its effects can be seen.

Economists expect little headway against inflation the rest of this year because wholesale prices are continuing to go up.

The October wholesale price report, released Nov. 2, showed that the prices retailers paid for their products jumped 0.9 percent in October. These costs are usually passed on to consumers.

The Carter administration, which had predicted a 5.9 percent yearly inflation rate at the start of 1978, now expects prices to rise at least 8 percent for the year and probably more.

Testifying on Capitol Hill last week, President Carter's inflation fighter, Alfred Kahn, said, "If I don't have things to show you by February, I'll be more than disappointed."

And it may be next August before the program has "an observable" impact on prices, he said.

Kahn, chairman of Carter's council on wage and price stability, said it would be a "small victory" if oil-producing countries held down or eliminated any 1979 increases.

Assistant Treasury Secretary C. Fred Bergsten, just returned from the Middle East, said Monday a U.S. delegation had "good success" in persuading oil exporters to moderate price hikes.

On Oct. 24, Carter announced an anti-inflation program intended to hold wage increases to 7 percent and price increases throughout the economy to 5½ percent.

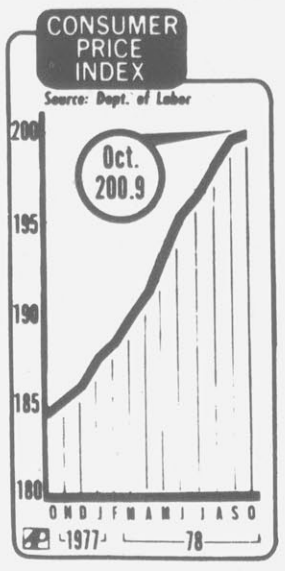

On Monday, the Interstate Commerce Commission rejected a 6.2 percent truck freight rate increase requested by the Southern Motor Carriers Rate Conference Inc.

Commissioners said their action also is intended to set guidelines for the entire trucking industry. Last week the administration persuaded railroads to reduce their requested freight rate increases from 8.1 to 7 percent.

Carter, who is trying to convince labor unions they will not lose out under his program, warned urban leaders Monday they too will have to make sacrifices.

At the National League of Cities convention in St. Louis, Carter said the next federal budget will be "very, very tight" and that city officials will have to exercise restraint to help fight inflation.

Carter is committed to cutting his 1980 federal budget by between $15 billion and $20 billion to achieve a federal deficit of no more than $30 billion.

Hearings Set At Called Meeting

By TOM BAINES

A public hearing was scheduled last night by the City Council on a request sponsored by the city for rezoning a segment of the proposed Public Works facility property.

The Council, meeting in a special call session, voted to set the public hearing for Dec. 14 at 8 p.m. on the recommendation to rezone 6.4 acres of the 11.8 acre tract from R-6 (residential) to Unoffensive Industry.

The property that will be considered for rezoning is located north of Wyatt Street, west of Seaboard Coastline, east of Brownhill Cemetery, and south of Southern Railroad.

Earlier Monday, in a call meeting, the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission, voted to recommend the rezoning to the Council. The Planning board also voted to waive the customary tabling period on rezoning requests.

The city has plans to build a new Public Works facility on the property generally located in the southwest quadrant formed by the intersection of Southern Railway and Seaboard Coast Line. A $1.9 million bond program was authorized by local voters in the Nov. 7 elections.

In a related matter last night, the Council scheduled a public hearing for Dec. 19 on a change in the site location for the new Public Works facility as part of the UMTA (Urban Mass Transit Administration) grant.

Mayor Percy Cox said that the site change was necessary since the property in the South Evans area between the railroad tracks is no longer designated for the new facility.

Council members adopted a resolution of recommendations to the N.C. Department of Transportation endorsing "certain urgently needed projects" in and pertaining to the city.

Included in the resolution is a statement that the city "fully supports the construction of a fully controlled four-lane highway between Greenville and Wilson, similar to the highway being constructed between Wilson and Raleigh; and that at the eastern terminus of said four-lane controlled highway a fully controlled loop be constructed around the western perimeter of the city."

The Council also urges the Department of Transportation to widen Evans Street to four lanes from Tenth Street southerly to the U.S. 264 Bypass, widen 14th Street to four lanes from Charles Boulevard easterly to the bypass, and extend and four-lane Arlington Boulevard from N.C.11-U.S. 13 westerly to U.S. 264 Business, then continuing in a loop to Stantonsburg Road and then curving behind Pitt Memorial Hospital to Highway 43 West.

The Council agreed to incorporate certain pertinent data from a resolution endorsed by the local Chamber of Commerce regarding the 264 Highway.

In other business, a resolution establishing an Energy Conservation Commission was approved and the terms of office for members of the commission were established.

Serving three year terms on the ECC will be David Duffus, Sam Arnett, Leroy James, Dr. Rosino Lao and Mrs. Carlynne Knott. Two-year terms will be served by Bill Glenn, Marcus King, Dr. William Collins, and Jesse Harris, while one-year terms will be served by Phil Carroll, Tom Shea and Ralph Sullivan.

A bid of $24,215.48 submitted by Hastings Ford Inc. of Greenville for new police vehicles was approved by the Council. Other bids offered on the new vehicles included $24,400 by Brown-Wood Inc. and $26,122.68 by Phelps Chevrolet, both Greenville firms.

Identification Of Jonestown Dead Is Slow

By PATRICK BRESLIN
Associated Press Writer

DOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Del. (AP) — Airmen and federal specialists are painstakingly fingerprinting, X-raying, cleaning and embalming bodies of Peoples Temple murder-suicide victims, but autopsies that could confirm suspected mass cyanide poisonings have not been performed.

By Monday night, only 40 of the 912 bodies airlifted here from Jonestown, Guyana had been positively identified, officials said. Officials had fingerprinted 637 bodies, X-rayed 70 bodies and embalmed 70 — more than a week after the deaths.

The process is so difficult officials say they will wait until Wednesday or Thursday to estimate how long the entire operation will take.

None of the bodies, including that of the Rev. Jim Jones, leader of the religious sect, had left the mass-casualty base by Monday night, officials said. Death certificates are required by law before bodies can leave the state, and none had been issued.

Delaware officials are to meet today with State Department representatives to discuss how to proceed, said Edward F. Kafader, a deputy state attorney general

The absence of autopsies leaves open several legal and medical questions, including precise cause of death.

Some officials cite possible insurance problems since many companies refuse to compensate in cases of suicide, while others often pay double indemnity for murder victims.

Maj. Robert Groom, public information officer here, said autopsies have not been performed "because that was not in the directions from the Department of Defense....They were directed to prepare the bodies for presentation to the next of kin."

Dr. Ali Hameli, state medical examiner, said he would be prepared to perform autopsies and investigate the death of Jones or other victims before their bodies are cremated or buried in Delaware. He said state law authorizes him to conduct autopsies without consent of the next of kin if there are questions involving murder, suicide and the public interest.

State law also requires him to review cremation requests, he said.

Maj. Brigham Shuler of the Pentagon said the State Department will provide "good coffins" for the bodies and turn them over to next of kin, who must pay Delaware area morticians to transport them to burial sites. Many bodies are expected to go to California, where Jones recruited most of his followers.

Officials repeated pleas for relatives of Jonestown victims to help the identification process by mailing pictures, medical records and dental charts as quickly as possible to the 436th Air Base Group, Memorial Affairs Office, Dover Air Force Base, Delaware, 19901.

Brother Booked

ST. LOUIS (AP) — John Ray, 45, brother of James Earl Ray, convicted assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has been arrested and booked on suspicion of burglary and assault with intent to kill, police say.

Police said John Ray entered a home on the south side of St. Louis around 8 p.m. Monday, walked past the two children of Jesse Evans and began burglarizing the home. Officers said the children called their father who was visiting nearby.

Police said Evans, his brother, Thomas Evans, and a friend, John Lonsway, rushed to the home and began grappling with Ray. They said Ray allegedly was choking Jesse Evans when one of the other men got a shotgun.

Officers said Ray fled on foot and was arrested a short time later.

John and another Ray brother, Jerry, have been scheduled to testify later this week in Washington before the House Assassinations Committee in connection with its investigation into the death of King.

The committee's chief counsel, G. Robert Blakey, said in a prepared statement issued in Washington Monday that the committee has uncovered evidence pointing to the possibility of a "Ray family conspiracy" to murder King. He said the committee's principal suspicions fell most heavily on James Earl Ray's two brothers, John and Jerry Ray.

Drop Publicity On Launching

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — The Defense Department has decided to enforce a 1968 directive ordering that all military launchings be kept secret until after liftoff, a Florida newspaper says.

Vanderberg Air Force Base in California has followed the policy, but officials at Cape Canaveral have routinely publicized most military launches several days in advance. In today's editions, the newspaper, Cocoa TODAY, quoted a Pentagon source as saying liftoff procedures are being reviewed for security reasons. The source said the United States and Soviet Union attempt to track each other's rockets for information purposes.

Propose Area Be Re-Zoned

The Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission voted Monday to recommend to the City Council that a portion of the property designated as the new Public Works facility site be rezoned.

Meeting in a 1 p.m. special meeting, the city planning board members voted to endorse a request by the city that property located north of Wyatt Street, west of Seaboard Coast Line Railroad, east of Brownhill Cemetery, and south of Southern Railroad be rezoned from R-6 to Unoffensive Industry.

The city, it was pointed out, discovered that 6.4 acres of the tract is zoned for R-6 or residential use. The remaining segment is already zoned Unoffensive Industry, which would accomodate the Public Works facility.

In considering the rezoning request, board members voted unanimously to waive the customary tabling period and recommend rezoning to the Council.

The Council, which held a special call meeting last night, considered the planning board's recommendation and set the rezoning request for a public hearing at the Dec. 14 regular meeting.

OA MEETING PLACE NEEDED

I am interested in starting, in cooperation with the already existing Overeaters Anonymous group here, a second OA group, to meet on a different night of the week in a different part of town so more Greenville people can benefit from this wonderful organization. I am searching for a place for the proposed new OA group to meet, preferably in the Moyewood-West Greenville area. A church room would be ideal. We could meet any weeknight, except Thursday and would need the space only about an hour each week. We'd appreciate help. E. B.

Any church or other organization having a meeting place to offer this weight reduction assistance group (an affiliate of a national non-profit organization) is asked to call E. B. at 752-5594 after 5 p. m.

Miss Gardner Is Bride Of K. W. McCullough

The Phillipi Missionary Baptist Church was the scene of the candlelight wedding ceremony of Miss Evelyn Ruth Gardner and Kelly William McCullough Saturday at 3 p.m. The double ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. David Hammond.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Roger Ingram, organist, and Mrs. Mavis Williams, who sang "One Hand, One Heart," "The Lord's Prayer" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. David Earl Gardner of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Janie Marrow of Washington.

The church was decorated with a background of brass candelabra and areca palms. A heart candelabra was lighted by two ushers as part of the ceremony. At the altar was a profile prie-dieu where the bridal couple knelt for the closing prayer and benediction. Altar candelabra were placed on each side. The center of the church was enclosed with satin ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Linwood Dudley of Columbia, S. C., wore a formal length gown of white organza over taffeta designed with a high neckline encircled with white floral Venise lace and ruffled organza. The bodice featured a sheer yoke edged in floral lace and the full bishop sleeves were styled with fitted cuffs edged in lace and ruffled organza. The empire waistline was enhanced by Venise lace. The flared skirt and attached chapel train featured a border of romance blue underskirt banded in Venise lace.

She wore a bouffant veil in blue and white illusion held in place by a Camelot headpiece trimmed in floral lace over romance blue to match her gown and beaded in pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white miniature carnations, orchids and blue baby's breath tied with blue and white satin.

Miss Delois Marrow of Greenville, aunt of the bride, was honor attendant. She wore a formal length floral crepe dress in shades of blue styled with a high waistline, scoop neckline with a detachable double collar with a Vdesign. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue, white and yellow carnations and pom pons tied with blue satin.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Vivian Suggs, sister of the bride of Greenville and Miss Gloria McCullough, sister of the bridegroom of Washington. They wore formal length polyester knit sleeveless A-line dresses with attached double collar neckbinding and buttoned back vent with thread loops and tie belt. Their bouquets were styled like that of the honor attendant.

The flower girl was Sharon Marrow, niece of the bride of Greenville. She wore a formal length white eyelet dress styled with a gathered skirt, long sleeves with cuffs trimmed with eyelet beading and ribbon accented with baby blue satin ribbon tie belt. She carried a basket filled with yellow, white and blue flowers. Reginald Bernard Gardner of Greenville was ring bearer and carried a white satin pillow with a spray of blue, yellow and white flowers tied with a blue bow.

The best man was Glenn McCullough of Chocowinity, brother of the bridegroom, and ushers included Steven Gardner of Long Island, N. Y., brother of the bride, and Freddie McCullough of Washington, brother of the bridegroom. The junior usher was Andre O'Shone Gardner.

The mother of the bride wore a formal length gown of sky blue knit and the mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of green polyester knit. Both mothers and grandmothers wore white pom pon corsages.

Mrs. Rosa L. Harris directed the wedding.

The bride attended D. H. Conley High School and Pitt Technical Institute. She now works at Singer Furniture Co., Chocowinity. The bridegroom graduated from Washington High School and attended Beaufort Tech. He works at Procter and Gamble.

A reception was held at the Mount Herman Masonic Lodge given by the bride's parents after the ceremony. Mrs. V. Bell Willis introduced the receiving line.

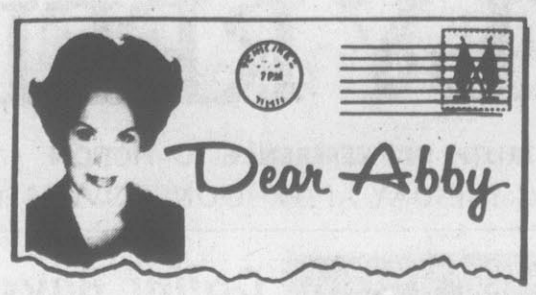

The refreshment table was covered with a white satin cloth centered with an arrangement of yellow, blue and white flowers designed in a four branched candelabra. The bride's table was centered with a decorated cake, and toast glasses. Mrs. Annie Hardy poured punch and cake was served by Mrs. Ernestine Green after the traditional slice was cut. Mrs. Doris Hansley and Mrs. Ruby Taylor assisted.

Guests were greeted by Ms. Margaret Andrews and goodbyes were said by Mr. and Mrs. David Earl Gardner. Mrs. Brenda Joyce Hawkins presided at the register.

An after-rehearsal refreshment hour was held in the fellowship hall given by the mother of the bridegroom.

The Reverend Wants No Reverence

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc

DEAR ABBY: In a recent letter from one who signed himself "Reverend L.W. Van Dellen," you replied, "Dear Reverend Van Dallen."

Abby, "Reverend" is not a title like "Doctor" or "Rabbi" or "Father." It is an adjective descriptive of character—not an office.

The World Almanac puts it this way: "A clergyman should never be referred to as "a Reverend," or addressed as "Reverend Blank."

"Reverend" should be used only as "Honorable" is used. It is "The Reverend Mr. Blank," or "The Reverend Dr. Blank," but never "Reverend Blank."

Please, Abby, never address a clergyman as "Reverend Anybody." It's simply not done.

YOUR FAITHFUL FAN IN L.A.

DEAR FAITHFUL: Ten whacks for me with a stack of "Presbyterian Outlooks," from whence came this appropriate jingle:

"There is a certain fellow
Who makes me want to burst,
He never fails to hail me with,
'Hello, Reverend Hurst!'

If two things make bad syntax,
This one is the first,
When some guy introduces me with,
'This is Reverend Hurst.'

As just a common 'Mister'
I'd acknowledge him to durst;
But I would like to punch the man
Who calls me 'Reverend Hurst.'"

DEAR ABBY: I work in a mail order house, and would you believe that about 20 percent of the people who place an order send us cash—and forget to send their names and addresses?

We have no idea who they are or where they live. We could just cry. All we can do is wait until they write again, complaining that they have not received their order, then we can fill it.

Please print this. It may help.

FRUSTRATED IN CHICAGO

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Move over. I, too, am distressed when a desperate reader writes with an urgent and serious problem, but neglects to send his address. Freud said, "There are no accidents". I sometimes wonder.

CONFIDENTIAL TO B.B.: Money talks. Save some before it says goodbye.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cox-Sutton Vows Exchanged In Double Ring Ceremony

BELL ARTHUR — Arthur Chapel Church was the scene of the Saturday wedding ceremony of Josephine Viola Sutton of Pueblo, Colo., and William Harold Cox of Colorado Springs, Colo. The Rev. James Gilbert officiated at the double ring ceremony at 3 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ree Sutton of Rt. 1, Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas Cox of Farmville.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Ernest Silver of Enfield, the bride wore a formal white gown of sheerganza and alencon lace, featuring a bodice designed with a deep V-neckline, outlined in scalloped alencon lace and pearls, and long fitted lace sleeves with traditional bridal buttons. The A-line skirt was appliqued and encrusted with pearls, flowing into an attached chapel length train. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations, daisy pom pons, gypsophilia and silk lily-of-the-valley, tied with white satin ribbon and accented with garden greenery.

Mrs. Finnia Eason of Greenville, S.C., sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Clementine Barrett of Fayetteville, sister of the bride, Miss Joyce Jennings, and Miss Shirley Morris of Elizabeth City and Mrs. Edith Thompson of Durham. Miss Caroline Copeland of Greenville, S. C., niece of the bride, served as flower girl.

The matron of honor wore a formal length gown, a Gleen Richards original, designed in a mulberry color with spaghetti straps and empire waistline. She carried a cluster bouquet of pink carnations, gypsophilia and garden greenery, tied with satin ribbon. The attendants wore similiarly designed gowns in wild rose with jackets trimmed with floral Venise lace, matching the lace at the hemline. The attendants' flowers matched the arrangement of the honor attendant's. The flower girl chose a long gown of wild rose accented with green. She carried a basket of mixed white daisies and pink carnations, tied with pink satin ribbon.

MRS. WILLIAM HAROLD COX

The Rev. Jasper Sugg, organist, and Miss Corlisse Lang, soloist, provided the nuptial music.

A reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

After a wedding trip to Denver, Colo., the couple will reside in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The bride is a graduate of Elizabeth City State University and is presently employed at the Social Security office in Pueblo, Colo. as a claims representative. The bridegroom is a graduate of A & T State University and is a captain in the U. S. Air Force, stationed at Peterson Field Air Force Base, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Bridal Policy

A black and white glossy five by seven photograph is requested for engagement announcements. For publication in a Sunday edition, the information must be submitted by 12 noon on the preceding Wednesday. Engagement pictures must be released at least three weeks prior to the wedding date. After three weeks, only an announcement will be printed.

Wedding write-ups will be printed through the first week with a five by seven picture. During the second week with a wallet size picture and write-up giving less description and after the second week, just as an announcement. Wedding forms and pictures should be returned to "The Daily Reflector" one week prior to the date of the wedding. All information should be typed or written neatly.

Home Decorating Trend: Colors That Wear Well

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Editor

Inflation is changing people's color preferences in housepaints, says Bonnie Bender, color marketing manager for a Pittsburgh paint manufacturer.

Mrs. Bender thinks the current trend toward more grayed, conservative tones is a reflection of people's concern about spiraling inflation.

"For the next two years, I think consumers will want colors that, psychologically, will wear well."

Mrs. Bender tracks trends by studying sales volume figures and color card use by customers in PPG Industries retail outlets nationwide.

Creamy whites are currently number one, she said, but soft, subtle beiges and neutral tans are coming up quickly.

She said the off-whites seem to be on the warm side, reflecting maximum light, an important quality in energyconscious times.

She thinks tones from soft blue grays to yellow grays and charcoal will be used as major decorating colors next year, sometimes combined with beiges and taupes.

Clean, clear blues are the top favorite currently for interiors, she said, and she expects varying shades of blue to be even more popular in 1979.

Design expert Terry Martin of New York City agrees about the trend toward grayed colors and gray as a color, but thinks it is unrelated to inflation.

"Personally, I think color trends in home furnishings tend to repeat themselves," she said in an interview. It just happens that people are being a little more practical now, she added.

Color affects people more than they realize, Ms. Martin said. It has a lot to do with appetites, for example. Lettuce salad on a pink dish looks greener and crisper than it really is.

Ms. Martin, who is interior designer for special projects for the J.C. Penney Co., said studies show a colorful fruit such as an apple or a peach eaten in the light will taste more flavorful than half of the same fruit eaten in the dark.

On the highway, she said, drivers have a greater desire to pass a red car than a blue or green one.

And aging persons like cooler colors such as blues and greens because yellow fluid forms in their eyes. They see more yellow and look for relief in the cooler hues, especially blue.

Ms. Martin said at least one doctor recommends a green environment for his ulcer patients for its soothing quality.

She thinks the continuing trend toward natural colors in home decorating is partly due to the ecology movement and partly because the "no color" look is a nice foil for other colors.

"People have a kind of fear toward home furnishings," she said. "They tend to change window treatments first. With more fading and dirt problems, they probably need changing first."

She said people also are more likely to buy an outrageous color for clothing than for furnishings because clothing is less expensive. If you tire of a dress, for example, throwing it away or giving it away is less wasteful than dumping a carpet or a piece of furniture.

She said people tend to handle the carpet problem by having it cut up for other rooms.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

I don't understand the anatomy of children's legs.

The same legs that will bend double and apparently have no bone when you put a boot on it, can, in the next minute, kick the back of a car seat with the forece of a wrecking ball.

The same legs that turn to liquid after an hour of shopping and will no longer support their bodies will, at bedtime, be capable of scaling walls and running a marathon.

I discovered this phenomenon with my first child. One day when she was about two, she simply collapsed on the floor and refused to stand. When I put her on my lap, she flexed her legs, her knees locked, and she pushed herself into a standing position right under my chin, nearly severing my tongue.

Every mother who has ever tried to thread the legs of a toddler into a grocery cart seat will know what I am talking about.

My children's first words were an entire declarative sentence. "Carry me!"

"I can't see the parade. Carry me!"

"I'm sleepy. Carry me!"

"The grass tickles my feet. Carry me!"

"I'm running away from home. Carry me!"

I lugged those kids around so much that by the time they were ready to enter school, I had a stomach like a snack tray. People at cocktail parties used to set glasses on it.

The legs continued to be a phenomenon. They weren't long enough to climb on a chair, get a drink of water or scale a toilet seat. On the other hand, they could leap over playpens higher than the child's head, get cookies on the top shelf or throw the cat in the dryer and turn the dial to DAMP DRY.

Even today, the legs of children confuse me. I've seen virgin feet of children that never touch the floor. They are either dangling from car seats, strollers or hips. Yet the moment they touch the floor there is 30 pounds of mud on them.

They can run a mile in less than four minutes, yet it'll take them three days to get the garbage from the sink to the can outside.

Their only mobility is riding around in a car . . . yet they run through 30 pairs of shoes a year.

Is a puzzlement.

Cooking Is Fun

OPEN SANDWICHES

3¾-ounce can brisling sardines
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 scallion, minced
Finely grated pared carrots
8 thin slices wholewheat bread

Lift sardines from their oil into a bowl; mash with mayonnaise and scallions; stir in ¼ cup of the carrot. Spread the bread with sardine mixture; sprinkle generously with the carrot. Makes 4 servings — 2 slices per portion.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain and snow are expected for the period until Wednesday morning for the Northwest. Snow is forecast for the Great Lakes and snow flurries for northern New England. Rain is due in the central and western Gulf, and showers in southern Florida. Milder temperatures are indicated for the Midwest. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press

A cold front is expected to move through the state Tuesday afternoon, bringing cooler temperatures and an end to the rain of the past several days.

Monday was a wet, gloomy day over North Carolina, with several areas of the state recording substantial amounts of rainfall. Cape Hatteras got the most rain in a 24-hour period with 1.08 inches, while Raleigh-Durham recorded 1.04 inches.

A warm front along the coast kept Monday's temperatures in the 70s, while the central sections had much cooler readings, with mid 40s in the Piedmont and 50s in the mountains.

Tuesday night's lows will range from the 20s in the mountains to the 50s along the coast.

Partly cloudy skies are forecast for Wednesday with highs in the 50s and 60s.

Phones Contact ECU Alumni

ECU News Bureau

Each weekday evening, between 7 and 10 o'clock, volunteers from East Carolina University's student body use the telephone to call ECU alumni to get acquainted and seek financial support for alma mater.

In the first week of the 1st annual ECU National Phonothon, a total of $7,777 was pledged to the ECU Alumni Loyalty Fund, according to Don Y. Leggett, executive director of the ECU Alumni Association. A goal of more than $40,000 has been set for the campaign which will continue through Dec. 7.

Leggett explains that the "national" phonothon effort is different from community phonothon campaigns which have been conducted in areas of high ECU alumni population, usually limited to those areas in which there are local alumni chapters. Using volunteers from campus student organizations, the "national" phonothon is designed to contact alumni — more than 12,000 in most of the 50 states — who would not be reached during the community phonothons.

Fifteen telephone lines installed in the alumni offices on campus are utilized. Addresses and telephone numbers of target alumni are supplied by the alumni office.

Student organizations supplying volunteer callers are in competition to obtain the greatest amount of pledge support, Leggett said.

Five Accidents Here Monday

An estimated $4,025 property damage resulted from a series of five traffic mishaps investigated yesterday by Greenville police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a threevehicle mishap at the intersection of Fifth and Greene Streets about 3:15 p.m.

Officers reported a truck driven by Luther Cox Jr. of Route 4, Greenville, and cars driven by Ronald Joseph Sistare of 316 Scott Dorm and Sheryl Ann White of 114 Summit St. were involved in the incident.

Damage was estimated at $350 to the truck, $400 to the Sistare car and $800 to the White car.

Cars driven by Terry Elizabeth Taylor of 304 Martinsborough Rd. and Linda Darleene Braxton Foley of 1512 North Pitt St. collided about 7:30 p.m. on Greenville Boulevard, 75 feet East of the Red Banks Road intersection, causing an estimated $500 damage to the Taylor car and $250 damage to the Foley vehicle.

An 8:35 p.m. collision at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and 14th Street involved cars driven by Lila Smith McLawhorn of Route 6, Greenville, and Rebecca Duncan McDonald of 100 Greenwood Dr., according to investigators.

Damage from the collision was set at $250 to the McLawhorn car and $500 to the McDonald auto.

A 10:05 p.m. collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and the Belvoir Road involved cars driven by Shirley Stone Fields of Route 4, Greenville and Willie Leroy Beacham of Route 2, Ayden.

Police, who charged Beacham with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $200 to the Fields car and $400 to the Beacham auto.

Cars driven by Jerry Lee Boyd Jr. of Washington and Michael Frank Weaber of 59 Barnes St. collided about 3:55 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth and Meade Streets, causing an estimated $75 damage to the Boyd car and $300 damage to the Weaver car.

Left Up To High Court

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — State prosecutors have decided to let the state Supreme Court decide whether Superior Court Judge-elect Linwood T. Peoples should be convicted of criminal misconduct for his handling of traffic tickets while a District Court judge.

Lester V. Chalmers, a special deputy attorney general, said the prosecution decided to defer any action to the state Supreme Court, where a recommendation is pending to bar Peoples from holding judicial offices. Chalmers made a motion Monday in Vance Superior Court to drop an appeal of two cases against Peoples.

That decision put an end to prosecution of Peoples on criminal charges. The Supreme Court action is civil.

Earlier this year, Peoples faced five felony embezzlement charges and 28 misdemeanor charges of misconduct in office, carrying total penalties of 106 years in jail.

The charges were made after Peoples handled traffic cases out of court. And in each case, Peoples won.

Peoples refused to comment on the state's decision.

The state Judicial Standards Commission has recommended that the state Supreme Court formally remove Peoples from a District Court judgeship he resigned earlier this year. If the court agrees, People could be prevented from taking office.

He is scheduled to begin his judgeship in January.

Woman Attacked By Knife-Wielder

Greenville Police today are continuing their investigation into a 12:30 a.m. incident at 2605 East Tenth St. in which a young woman was attacked.

Chief Glenn Cannon said an intruder gained entrance to an apartment in the building through a window, grabbed the woman and placed a hand over her mouth, warning her not to scream or he would kill her with a knife he held in one hand.

According to the chief, the woman kneed the intruder in the groin, he hit her and pushed her to the floor, then she bit him and he dropped the knife and fled after she picked up the weapon.

Cannon noted that an attempted breaking and entering was reported at another apartment in the building occupied by two young women, about the same time.

Hertford Officials To Study Tax Revaluation

WINTON, N.C. (AP) — Bowing to pressure from hundreds of irate residents, Hertford County officials are seeking a way to lower property taxes that have been increased as much as 400 percent.

The county board has scheduled a closed session Wednesday to discuss the tax revaluation that has residents up in arms. The board met Monday with its assessment company in executive session following an open meeting.

About 150 persons showed up at the meeting to protest the property tax increase. Board members sympathized with their complaints and agreed there were errors and inequities in the new tax valuation.

Board chairman Randy Britton said the revaluation was expected to increase the county's tax base from $200 million to $425 million.

He said the county tax rate of $1.09 per $100 of property would be reduced, but he didn't know by how much.

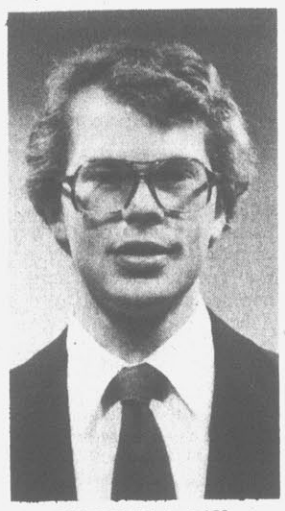

Two petitions, bearing several hundred signatures, call for a new valuation and the repeal of a $1.5 million bond issue for Roanoke-Chowan Technical Institute. The county's voters approved the issue by a margin of 96 votes in the Nov. 7 election.

Byrum R. Brown, a Murfreesboro insurance agent, said some farms that produce profits of only $6,000 a year were assessed at more than $100,000.

"There's no way a small farmer can come up and pay that — not unless you want to dismantle the small farm system of our county," he said. "There is a larger group out there dissatisfied more than you can imagine."

Probation, Parole Role

Marshall Lee Gay, a Walstonburg native, will assume duties as a state adult probation and parole officer as of Dec. 1, according to the Pitt County Department of Corrections.

MARSHALL L. GAY

Gay will be assigned to work through the Farmville office to supervise all adult probationers and parolees the court deems necessary. He will also conduct investigations and place clients on probation from the courts.

Gay has been employed by the Department as a restitution officer in Pitt and Lenoir Counties for the past year.

A 1975 East Carolina University graduate, Gay is married and lives in Greenville.

Alumni Sponsor Music Program

The Pitt County Chapter of the N. C. A & T Alumni Association will sponsor a "musical extravaganza" Sunday at 4 p. m. in the St. Gabriel's School Auditorium.

Featured will be the East Carolina University Gospel Singers and the Echos of Calvary of Mt. Calvary FWB Church.

This performance is free to the public, with donations forwarded to the Alumni Association of A & T for scholarship purposes. The public is invited. The auditorium is located at the corner of Ward and White Streets here.

Pilot Program To Earn Stamps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has approved regulations for a pilot program in 14 areas which will require some jobless poor people to earn their federal food stamp benefits.

Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said Monday that eligible "cities, counties or other political subdivisions" will be considered as potential sponsors. The 14 areas for the so-called workfare project will be selected later and the program is due to begin next spring. The program is designed to provide public service jobs to those who cannot find regular work and would require stamp recipients to work off the value of their coupons if a family's income is less than the stamps' value.

Advise Increase Research Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 53-member "Committee on Changing International Realities" says the federal government should devote more money to science to improve living standards in the United States and to make this country more competitive in world trade.

The group of business, labor and education leaders issued a statement noting that the proportion of the national income spent on research and development dropped from 3 percent in the mid-1960s to 2.3 percent in 1976.

Contacting Dissidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the United States has expressed strong support for the Shah of Iran, the government is initiating contacts with his opponents following domestic and political turmoil there. The Washington Post reported in today's editions.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski are preparing a report for President Carter on U.S intelligence failures concerning Iran after Carter reportedly send a Nov. 11 memorandum complaining about the quality of "political intelligence," especially as it concerns Iran, the newspaper said.

Unidentified administration officials were quoted by the Post as saying the United States has informed the Shah that it is continuing contacts with Iranian dissidents.

The United States has had little contact with the Shah's opponents in recent years, but Iranian leftists and conservative Moslems have joined together in bloody demonstrations demanding his ouster.

The newspaper said the administration is expected to move cautiously in contacting dissidents because such contacts could be viewed as undercutting U.S. support for the Iranian government.

Receiving Bids On Tennis Court

Sealed proposals for the construction and fencing of tennis courts will be received at city hall until 1 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 7, and then publicly opened and read.

Construction of tennis courts, the fencing of courts, and fencing for Moyewood Park will be received on separate bids.

Drawings and specifications for these projects may be examined and obtained at the Finance Office at city hall

No bid submitted may be withdrawn for a period of 30 days after the scheduled closing time for receipt of bids.

HEW Attack Has Nine Lives

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare's attack on southern university systems' desegregation plans seems to have nine lives.

A number of times it has appeared that the issue had been settled, only to be followed by new HEW threats.

University of North Carolina officials are apprehensive again because HEW has recently turned down plans of other states.

The UNC plan, once thought to be acceptable, is now under review by HEW with the prospect of more nit picking and meddling. Always the ultimate HEW weapon is the threat of a cutoff of federal funds to the 16-campus university system.

No one in the UNC system knows for certain, of course, what HEW's action on the desegregation plan will be, but there is concern in face of a sudden shift by the federal agency in regard to other southern states.

This concern shouldn't be necessary since North Carolina has presented a sound plan. If HEW sincerely wishes to do its job, it will allow the UNC system to proceed with the plan and its expected benefits to all our citizens.

Appears Very Unfriendly To Business

New York we don't fully understand.

This center of world commerce has condemned the J. P. Stevens Co. to the point where rumors — not yet confirmed — are that the firm might move its headquarters elsewhere.

Then when American Airlines announced it would move its headquarters to Dallas, but would leave a large operation to Dallas, there were calls for boycotts from various municipal unions.

It strikes us that New York has become a distinctly unfriendly place for business to operate. The city can't kick business around and expect large corporations to operate there forever.

Reject Model Land Code

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — The idea of state-imposed land use regulations modeled after a nationwide proposal put forth by the American Law Institute has been rejected by a committee of the North Carolina General Assembly.

The Model Land Development Code study committee unanimously accepted a special task force report which concluded that "North Carolina should not, at this time, adopt the Model Land Development Code as it stands, either as a whole or in significant parts."

The study commission was established by the 1977 General Assembly to report back to the 1979 session on possible adoption of the Model Land Development Code, and to recommend any changes in state law needed to incorporate parts of the model code which would improve planning and regulatory authority over growth and development for local governments across the state.

Too Far

But the model code went considerably further than most legislators are willing to go toward control of land use. State Senator Chris S. Barker, Jr., D-Craven County, was chairman of the study commission. He was so leery of the prospect of such sweeping regulation that at one meeting of the group earlier this year he told fellow lawmakers he "would prefer it not get out of this room what we are doing." He added that he had not told his constituents that he chaired the study.

On the surface, the proposal was rejected because of its complexity. It took the American Law Institute some 12 years to produce the 500-page document; yet legislators nationwide were urged to adopt the uniform code with only several months of study and preparation.

Deeper than that, however, were the revolutionary changes embodied in the proposed code. It would have every local governmental entity in the state set up uniform land use ordinances including subdivision development regulations, zoning restrictions, areas in which development would be allowed — and were it wouldn't— and a series of agencies and commissions up to and including a State Land Planning Agency to see to it that local programs conformed to the law, remained actively in compliance over the years, and to oversee various land use activities at both state and local levels.

BILL NOBLITT

One purpose spelled out for the uniform model code is to bring all language on land use into one set of common codes. Another is to require that all land wherever located — rural or urban — be subject to future planning.

Block Purchase

A controversial approach to future land use is a proposal that local or state governments be given authority to buy property in order to block undesirable development, or to guarantee desirable projects.

Most emphasis is on planning in the model code, and local governments would be required to map out far into the future all land uses, streets, subdivisions, other land uses; and set up a system to direct the chosen sorts of development into the selected places.

The American Law Institute often writes model legislation on a variety of topics. These are circulated nationwide for study and adoption, and indications are that some state legislatures merely rubberstamp the proposals.

From this model code process, some lawmakers hope to see more statewide and nationwide uniformity rather than often conflicting local ordinances and systems. (Tomorrow: Another Course)

And A Pinch Of SALT

We are suddenly hearing a great deal about the upcoming SALT II agreement. The results of the November 7 election are being reviewed in terms of senators prospectively for and against it. Journals of opinion are filled with speculation on the president's campaign to win public support. And all this is only the beginning.

Permit me to voice a minority report: The pending arms limitation agreement, by its very nature, is bound to be illusory. The swelling debate is mostly hot air. In the final analysis, it makes little difference whether the Senate ratifies or rejects.

Why are we engaging in this dumbshow? For months, we have been regaled with incomprehensible data on missiles and payloads and throw-weights, on submarines and bombers, on nuclear warheads of high and low and multiple degree. We have had charts and graphics and diagrams and balance sheets. Serious men take these matters seriously — as seriously as theologians counting angels on pinheads — and it is all, in the polite word, baloney.

It is immaterial, I mean to say, whether the agreement that is finally negotiated limits the Soviet Union to 820 land-based missiles or to 1,820, or to 10,820. The numbers might as well be drawn at random from a bingo drum. The figures are meaningless for the best of all reasons: The Soviets will not honor them anyhow.

Do we never learn? The Soviet Union may have lived up to international agreements having to do with the delivery of mail, but one would be hard-pressed to identify a single substantive, serious treaty that the Soviets have not violated in the most cynical fashion.

Have we forgotten Helsinki so soon? On the desk before me is the text of the agreement concluded on August 1, 1975. The Soviet Union, as foremost of the initiating and participating states, solemnly promised "to respect human rights and fundamental freedoms." The Soviet Union would protect "freedom of thought, conscience, religion

Land Ho!

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Americans long ago learned that what appeared to be a simple matter of trading when Japan started buying up American scrap iron and steel could turn into disaster as it did when the Nipponese started hurling back that metal in the form of bombs and warships in World War II.

Today however, this country is facing what appears to be an even greater problem than that which was involved in furnishing raw materials for a foreign power to convert into implements of war. Reference is made to the wholesale buying of American lands by not one foreign power but by a large number of nations.

All over the country we hear of tremendous tracts of land being purchased by the Japanese, West Germany, Iran, France and residents of other countries. No, the land isn't being bought by the government of the nations involved, but by businessmen, large corporations and the like.

Americans, hard-pressed with a recession on their hands and the dollar in jeopardy have been willing to part with their lands at prices far above any that they had ever dreamed of in the past.

They know full well that they could never produce a crop or other returns from the soil that would be worth the price that is freely offered by wealthy men and institutions in other lands. They know also that the buyers can never produce enough on those lands to make the sales a profitable business.

What should be sinking in, however, is that what we consider a harsh economic situation in this country really is a tempting one in other lands where costs and prices are many times higher.

What will happen one day when the U.S. attempts to stand up for its rights in the family of nations only to discover that we are dealing not with Americans alone but with people who have no interest whatsoever in the future welfare of this country?

Many foreign countries long ago made it impossible for Americans or people from any outside country to own properties there. Thus they can control their own destinies to a degree; but America, where we long have enjoyed being regarded as the melting pot of nations may find it's a different matter when this country is dealing not only with those who have chosen to make this country their home but also with those who actually own a part of the land which no longer will be free.

'Work' Costs Soared

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's inflation watchers might want to check into an industry that produces the same volume it did 20 years ago but requires more than twice the workforce and seven times the money.

That industry is Congress.

After the close of each twoyear session, a box score is printed in the Congressional Record that summarizes items such as the number of days, hours and minutes the Senate and House met and the total of bills introduced and enacted.

It's strictly numbers and so omits a great deal about any congressional session and the complexity of the issues faced.

But the numbers are part of the story and they've remained remarkably stable over the years.

In 1977, the first year of the 95th Congress, 15,386 bills were introduced and 1,320 were passed. This year, another 6,927 measures were introduced and 1,648 passed, some of them holdovers from the previous year.

The 85th Congress was in session 20 years earlier.

In 1957, 14,013 measures were introduced and another 6,591 the next year. The totals for bills and resolutions that passed were 2,408 in 1957 and 2,718 in 1958.

In one area, the 95th Congress clearly outstripped the 85th: members talked more.

During the two years of the 95th, the Senate was in session 2,510 hours and the House 1,897. The record of those sessions filled 66,573 pages.

In the 85th Congress, the Senate met 1,875 hours and the House 1,148. Their proceedings filled only 33,402 pages of the Congressional Record.

To handle that workload, staff sizes have more than doubled in 20 years. In 1958, the budget for the House was $37.8 million and for the Senate $22.3 million. The House figure for 1978 was $282.6 million and $166.4 million for the Senate.

Of course, the Senate is bigger. In 1958, there were 96 senators representing 48 states. That was the year they opened a new building now called the

Feeding The Soviet Spies

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Official suspicion is rising that Soviet KGB (intelligence) agents are surreptitiously using the Freedom of Information Act to pry secrets out of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), a development causing deep consternation in the intelligence community and among friendly foreign intelligence services that cooperate with the U.S.

Originally passed in 1967 and strengthened in 1975, the act invites anyone, not just citizens or resident aliens, to poke around the inner recesses of the CIA for "information" that is not classified as "national defense or foreign policy" secrets. But the expanding volume of requests has now reached the point that, as one intelligence operative told us, "mistakes are unavoidable under the act and sometimes secret stuff gets cleared."

The CIA alone has consumed 109 man-years of work meeting the insatiable demand, now coming in at a rate of 85 requests per week with a 10-day response deadline. Knowing in each case what is "security" information and what is not demands a high degree of experience.

Adding to the problem is the burden it is putting on friendly intelligence services abroad — and on U.S. businessmen who cooperate with the CIA. Concern over their exposure under terms of the act has drastically reduced this cooperation.

Now in the works is a major effort to close this loophole by a change in the law. One modest change, though far from satisfactory to the CIA, would follow the language of another new law — Privacy Act — and limit requests under the Freedom of Information Act to U.S. citizens and resident aliens.

Civil Defense Battle

White House political aides are blocking the appointment of Dr. Wesley Posvar, 52, the chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, to run the new civil defense program.

Despite Pentagon and other official support for Posvar, a West Point graduate and Rhodes scholar who took his Ph.D. at Oxford, Jimmy Carter's political aides want the job to go to a partisan Democrat with political ties to the president. The growing list now includes one ex-governor — Mike O'Callaghan of Nevada — and one lameduck governor, Michael Dukakis of Massachusetts. Another contender is William H. Wilcox, former aide to Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp and now head of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration which will be wrapped into the new Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) along with civil defense.

Posvar's credentials include the quiet support of Paul Nitze, a frequent critic of Carter on strategic defense questions and one of the prime movers for a serious civil defense program. Posvar's Oxford classmates included CIA Director Stansfield Turner and Gen. Bernard Rogers, the Army chief of staff.

Carter, who has not yet been brought into the fight over who should run the new civil defense program, wants a strong hand at the helm to dispel liberal Democratic attacks that his $1.75 billion civil defense

Strength For Today

YOUTH COUNTS

Lord Shaftesbury, over a hundred years ago observed that nearly all criminals began their criminal careers between the ages of eight and sixteen years. We are aware today that one of the alarming aspects of the present crime situation is the continuing decline in the age of criminals. A few decades ago the average age of criminals was in the late twenties. Today the average age has declined considerably below that figure. The lives of many of these unfortunates were destroyed before they had a chance to live them.

Modern parents often do not realize that the establishment of moral standards in the lives of their children and the leading of these children into lives of religious faith is more important than all the education, recreation, and financial advantages these children can ever have.

Youth counts — — and it counts for so much that we may well be terrified by the responsibilities resting upon us.

Less Impact On The Lenders

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — D-day for home mortgage lenders probably isn't going to be as big a deal as anticipated. It will come, as scheduled on Dec. 1, but it isn't likely to have the impact originally foreseen.

D-day is the time when many savings institutions will be deciding whether to continue offering savings certificates, at double-digit interest rates, or withdraw from the scramble for the saver's dollar.

Many of them were expected to choose the latter course rather than chase interest rates any higher. How, they asked, could they profit from buying money at 10 percent and relending it at the same rate?

Instead of relending the money they obtain from savers, they will probably invest it in large-denomination certificates of deposit at commercial banks.

The situation without precedent for thrifts to remain in competition so far into a highinterest period. Normally they were shut out, unable to offer yields that would continue to attract savers.

The explanation lies in the nature of the thrifts:

Their job is to lend for housing; it is socially desirable that home-lending costs be held down; therefore, limitations were set on the amount of interest the thrifts could pay on savings, the hope being to discourage rate competition that would drive up mortgage costs.

As you might expect, it didn't work during periods of rising interest. Rather than stay with the low-paying thrifts, people withdrew funds and sought higher rates elsewhere.

Their reasoning was obvious: Why go through an intermediary, the thrift institution, when you could skip that step and go right to the source of higher funds? That is, buy U.S. Treasury bills?

Last spring the Federal Home Loan Bank Board permitted the thrifts to offer sixmonth savings certificates that would pay the buyer a quarterpoint more than the Treasury Bill rate.

The FHLBB's move seemed to work well. The money stayed with the home lenders, even though the smallest savings certificate they could offer was for $10,000. The 8 percent-plus rate was competitive.

In December, however, the first of the certificates run out, and many home lenders have wondered what to do. Renew the certificates for another six months? Or retreat from competition and lose their funds?

There was good reason for their indecision: Treasury bill rates, on which the yield of their certificates is based, had jumped more than two points. On renewals, they would have to offer more than 10 percent.

At their annual meeting in Dallas at the end of October many of savings and loan officials were worried. How could they pay 10 percent for money And then relend it on mortgages that yield them less?

The decision was especially acute for thrift institutions in 18 states with usury limits of 10 percent or less. Even if they wished to, these lenders couldn'traise their mortgage rates.

But now they have their solution. They will "roll over" the certificates for another six months to those who want them. And they will simply reinvest the money at commercial banks.

Cuba Believed Helping Nicaragua's Guerrillas

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba is believed to be supplying financial aid and weapons, including 50-caliber machine guns, to leftist guerrilla forces in Nicaragua, according to a secret intelligence document.

The information in a report obtained by The Associated Press was based on what were described as "generally reliable" intelligence sources in Panama, which apparently has been acting as a conduit for the Cuban supplies.

The document also confirms previous reports that Venezuela and Panama itself are helping supply the guerrillas.

U.S. officials evaluating the information emphasized that reports of Cuban involvement in guerrilla attempts to overthrow President Anastasio Somoza cannot be fully confirmed. In any event, they said any Cuban support of the guerrillas has been "limited."

Nonetheless, the disclosure seems likely to reinforce fears among some congressional conservatives that the Sandinista guerrillas are trying to convert Nicaragua into "another Cuba."

Other informants who asked to remain anonymous said if the report is accurate it could have considerable significance for the entire Western Hemisphere.

They noted that the report suggests a retreat from Cuba's decision earlier this decade to end its backing for revolutionary movements in Latin America and concentrate on Africa instead.

"In effect, the Cubans are telling revolutionary forces throughout Latin America that, 'If your movement reaches a critical stage, you can count on us for support,'" said one informant.

Gen. Fernando Vecino Alegret, a veteran of Cuba's involvement in Angola and now Cuban Minister for Higher Education, has denied that Cuba is supporting the Sandinistas.

He said during a visit here last week that the Sandinistas have enough backing in Nicaragua to achieve victory on their own.

Nonetheless, Cuba's hostility toward Somoza dates back to the early 1960's when Somoza allowed Nicaragua to be used as a staging area for Cuban exile attacks on Cuba.

or belief." The Soviet Union pledged that it would facilitate the freer movement of individuals, including "travel by their citizens for personal or professional reasons."

Tell it to the Jews! The ink was not dry upon that gorgeous agreement before the Soviets were treating it with contempt. Tell it to journalists! The Helsinki package contained splendid pledges by the participating states to grant correspondents "progressively greater opportunities" for reporting the news. Have the Soviets lived up to these promises — to these relatively painless promises? To ask the question is to answer it.

In the name of common sense, why should any rational observer expect the Soviet Union to honor a vastly more serious agreement on arms limitation? The notion is ludicrous. The notion is worse than ludicrous; it is dangerous. The very existence of a formal agreement on strategic arms could well be perceived as an assurance of permanent peace.

There was a time in our history — a shameful time— when the United States systematically dishonored its own treaties. These were treaties with the Indian nations, and they were a long time ago. At least in this century, our people have regarded treaties as part of the supreme law of the land. We take a pledge of honor with great seriousness.

Honor troubles the Kremlin no more than it troubled Falstaff. If the Soviet Union one day determines that it is in Russia's best interests to launch a devastating first atomic strike against the United States, the pending draft agreement would permit the Soviets to bring about death and destruction beyond anything the world has ever known. And the agreement would permit us to retaliate in kind. If the Soviets conclude that even the permitted strategic weapons are not enough, they will produce more such weapons willy-nilly. No scrap of paper will matter.

The one question before the Senate is: Have we enough? Can we amintain a credible deterrent to atomic war? The question has to be answered ultimately in numbers, but the numbers have to be our numbers, based on our own sober judgment. A treaty on strategic arms limitation might have some symbolic value; it will have little else.

Lt. Gov. Green On Trade Trip

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green is on his second trip this year to the Middle East at tax-payer's expense.

Aides to the lieutenant governor said Monday the trip was an industrial trade mission aimed at following up on contacts made on Green's first trip in March. Traveling with him are a State Bureau of Investigation security agent and two state Commerce Department officials — international development director Jim Hinkle and his assistant Hunter Poole.

Gary Pearce, press secretary of Gov. Jim Hunt, said Commerce Department officials estimate the trip will cost the state about $2,000 per person — $8,000 for the group.

program is a farce aimed only at appeasing critics of the expected new strategic arms limitation treaty (SALT).

In point of fact, Carter personally telephoned Bardyl Tirana, the Defense Department official mainly responsible for the new program, on May 8, 1977, to ask for immediate studies of the immensely expensive Soviet program and for a U.S. response. That was long before he had given thought to lining up support for a new SALT treaty.

Those MIG-23'S

Ever since the angry, surprised reaction in the White House over revelations of Soviet MIG-23 attack-bombers in Cuba, the aircraft have been kept "under cover" to avoid their being photographed by high-flying U.S. surveillance spy planes.

Carter ordered the surveillance about 2 weeks ago to double-check Pentagon findings that the MIG-23s now in Fidel Castro's Cuban air force are similar to the type deployed in the Warsaw Pact arsenal as front-line Soviet nuclear-delivery planes. Pentagon analysts are certain that the Cuban planes are, indeed, the "dual-capable" type that can be "wired" for carrying nuclear bombs (although no accusation has been made here that the planes are equipped at this time for nuclear delivery).

As long as the planes stay under cover, U.S. efforts at positive identification of the MIGs will probably be frustrated. But Carter will insist on getting that information to determine whether the presence of the MIG-23s in Cuba violates the Soviet 1962 pledge not to send Cuba "offensive" weapons.

Dirksen Senate Office Building.

Senators and their staffs had no sooner moved into their new quarters when Alaska and Hawaii joined the Union and the size of the Senate increased to 100 members.

An annex to the Dirksen building is under construction to deal with the overcrowded conditions. It will cost $120 million if current estimates hold true. No one thinks they will.

The Max Account vs. any other bank's automatic transfer plan.

"NO CHARGE PER CHECK, NO TRANSFER FEES. MAX KEEPS IT SIMPLE."

On November 1, a new Federal Regulation allowed banks to offer automatic transfers from savings accounts to checking accounts. In effect, this means that you can earn interest on every dollar you put in the bank.

But some banks aren't offering the service.

Of the banks that do offer it, most of them charge more than we charge for Max.

In fact, in most cases, there are transfer fees and check charges based on a minimum monthly balance.

All told, they could cost you as much as $7.25 a month if you wrote 17 checks, and your balance fell below the minimum.

But the charge for Max is based on an average monthly savings balance, so you'll never have to worry about being slapped with a big fee if your balance dips once or twice a month.

Max vs. other plans: Compare

Charge for Avg. Monthly Balance:	NCNB's Max	Bank "A"	Bank "B"	Bank "C"	Bank "D"
$2500+	No Charge
$2000-$2499	$1
$1500-$1999	$2
$1000-$1499	$3
$500-$999	$4
Under $500	$5
Per-check charges	None
Transfer fees	None
Minimum or avg. balance	Average

What's more, with a $2500 average balance, you get Max at no charge. You also get something no other bank offers: DeLuxe Banking, which includes no-service-charge checking, no check printing charges, standard safe deposit box at no charge (when available), traveler's checks at no charge and special rates on your personal loans and Cash Reserve, an "open-line-of-credit" in your checking account.

Altogether, with the money you save on DeLuxe Banking, it makes sense to switch your account from a Savings & Loan. (Our Customer Service people can tell you more about it.)

So use the chart to compare Max with anybody else's plans or accounts. Then come see us at the bank that wants to be the best in the neighborhood.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued its recent meandering course today, with stock prices mixed in light trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues slipped .43 to 813.41 at noon.

But gainers led losers 7-4 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts pointed to a lack of solid news to explain the market's sluggishness. What news there was was not very favorable, albeit expected: The Labor Department said consumer prices rose 0.8 percent in October, matching the September increase but below August's 0.6 percent rise.

Traders appeared to be awaiting Wedneday's scheduled announcement of October's figures on the U.S. trade balance, which are expected by analysts to be along the lines of September's $1.7 billion increase.

Sony led the active list, unchanged at 7³⁄₄. A 125,000-share block crossed at that price.

The NYSE's composite average of all its listed stocks gained .04 to 53.60 in the first two hours of trading. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index fell .06 to 148.78.

Volume on the Big Board was a slow 8.37 million shares at noon, compared to 9.59 million shares at the same time Monday.

Casino-related issues continued active, with Ramada Inns off ⅜ to 9⅛, Caesars World down 2 to 23³⁄₄ and Resorts International class A losing ⅜ at 30³⁄₄ on the Amex.

McDonnell Douglas rose 1⅛ to 32³⁄₄ and Boeing gave up ⅛ to 67. Korean Airlines was reported considering the two aircraft makers for $1 billion worth of plane orders.

Eye N.C. Trade With Egypt

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — State officials are hoping a visit by the Egyptian embassador to the United States will lead to increased trade between Egypt and North Carolina.

Ashraf A. Ghorbal, 53, met Monday with Gov. Jim Hunt and state business leaders while on a "courtesy visit" to the state. The career diplomat said there are no specific business deals in the works, but he believes Egypt will step up trade of textile products with North Carolina firms.

Before meeting with Hunt, the ambassador told reporters he hoped to arrange a visit by the governor to Egypt.

N.C. Business Activity Is Up

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — The level of business activity in North Carolina is continuing to grow, according to a survey released Monday.

The Wachovia Business Index, which measures economic activity in the state, recorded a gain of ½ percent from September to October.

Economists at Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. said the rise was based on increases in nonfarm employment, manufacturing activity and average hourly earnings.

Pirates Roll Past St. Leo's, 91-78

A Hand In The Face

St. Leo's Ken Allison puts one hand over the eyes of East Carolina's Frank Hobson as the two battle for a rebound during Monday night action in Minges Coliseum. Also up for the ball is ECU's Herb Gray (20), while St. Leo's Mark Cates (12) watches. The Pirates cruised to a 91-78 victory over the Monarchs for their second straight win. East Carolina's Pirates had little trouble in rolling to their second straight victory of the young basketball season last night, dumping St. Leo's of Florida, 91-78.

But Coach Larry Gillman was not happy with the way the Pirates played in the game.

"We played well only in the first five minutes of the second half," he said. "If we're going to be successful against better teams, we're going to have to work a lot harder."

Against the youthful, short St. Leo team, the Pirates had little trouble, however, leading from start to finish. Only once, in the middle of the first half, did St. Leo threatened to pull even with the Bucs, but they fell back by ten over a two-minute period and never got closer than five again.

Five players reached double figures for the Pirates for the second game in a row, led again by Oliver Mack. Mack didn't score his usual number however, settling for 17 points in 30 minutes of play. Mack cashed in on seven of 12 from the floor and three of five at the line.

Both Herb Gray and Greg Cornelius added 13 points, while George Maynor and Clarence Miles added 12 each.

Freshman Al Tyson was the team's leading rebounder with nine, while Miles had seven. St. Leo's Ken Allison led all rebounders with 10.

Kevin McDonald was the game's leading scorer with 21 for the Monarchs, while teammate Pate Maccarone added 20 and Allison had 12.

Overall, the Pirates controlled the boards only barely, 43-40. They also accomplished their goal of having more assists than turnovers, 15 to 13, with Maynor leading the way with five, while Frank Hobson added four in just 15 minutes of play.

The Pirates shot 49.4 per cent as compared to 46.8 per cent for the Monarchs, but ECU made only 64.7 per cent of its free throws.

"After we got ahead by about 20 points, we subbed and didn't do a good job after that," Gillman said of the game.

"We obviously have a lot more talent, but we have a lot of hard work ahead of us to get ready for William & Mary this weekend.

"We tried to look at a lot of people and this caused us some problems. The effort was there, but we kept having little breakdowns. I was happy at times with the effort," the coach said.

Gillman added that while the defense at times was very good, that there were continual little breakdowns that enabled St. Leo's to get back into the game.

"East Carolina has a nice club," Monarch Coach Norm Kaye said. "They play together well for a big team. It's a lot harder for big guys to work together. They responded well to their halftime meeting."

Kaye, too, acknowledged that the Pirates didn't play as well as they might have. "Their defense was great in the beginning of the game, but slacked off when they got ahead. They have the capacity to play defense for a longer time.

"I think we gave them some good practice against the zone defense, too. It bothered them for a little while, but I think they overcame it well. They played well without the ball against the zone. Overall, I'd have to give them a low 'B' for their performance, but it's early in the season," Kaye added.

Kaye also wasn't happy with the scorekeeping in the game. While all members of the press had the score at 41-32 at halftime, the official book and the scoreboard listed it at 41-30.

"We picked it up right away," Kaye said, "but we could get no satisfaction." At the half, the score was changed to reflect the 41-32 margin, but was then rechanged by the officials who ruled that the linescore in the book must be followed regardless.

"It wouldn't have made any difference tonight," Kaye said, "but it shouldn't have happened."

The Pirates jumped ahead right away, as Maynor and Cornelius scored the first two baskets for the Pirates. A three-point play by Mack upped the lead to 7-2, and after another Monarch basket, shots by Cornelius (two) and a tap by Gray ran it to 13-4.

St. Leo's then cut the lead back to three, 17-14, before Miles hit in a tap. Mike Dowd drove in for a basket, and was fouled on the play, but that was the shot that never made it to the scoreboard. He missed his free throw after the basket, when he had a chance to cut the lead to two.

A basket by Mack and a three-point play by Miles ran it back out to 24-16 (14, officially), and the Pirates eventually ran it out to 14 at 37-23 with 5:45 left.

But the Bucs went into a five minute drought that saw St. Leo pull back to 37-30 before two final baskets by the Pirates upped it to 41-30 at intermission.

The Pirates hit the first two baskets and a free throw in the second half to lead by 16, then added three four more to up the margin to 54-32.

The margin finally reached 25 at 76-51 with about eight minutes to go, and after that, St. Leo's was able to make a mini-comeback, cutting the lead to the final 13-point spread as the Pirates just toyed with them the rest of the way.

Now 2-0, the Pirates go on the road for the first time this year Saturday. They will play William & Mary at Williamsburg. After that, they go to Tennessee and play in the Hatter Classic next week.

Plans Are Under Way

Plans for the Independence Bowl trip by the East Carolina Pirates continue to be formulated by school officials.

The Pirate Club continues to take reservations for several chartered planes, and all Pirate Club members who wish to reserve seats should call immediately. Non-Pirate Club members may also sign up on a first-come, first-served basis for any seats that may not be taken by Pirate Club members, who will be given priority.

Officials are checking into various methods students and others who may not be flying can get to the game, and tickets are expected to be available this week at the ECU ticket office.

Full details of these plans will be announced later this week.

The game will be played in Shreveport, La., on Saturday, December 16, between East Carolina and hosting Louisiana Tech.

ECUWomen Open Year

East Carolina women's basketball coach Cathy Andruzzi announced an all-veteran lineup as the starters for the Pirates' opener tonight at Ca bell.

Rosie Thompson, a 1,000-point career scorer, and April Ross will open at the forward spots, with Lynne Emerson at center, and Gail Kerbaugh and Lydia Rountree at the guards.

"We have had five scrimmages, which I think have been very helpful in preparing us," said the first-year coach. "Our players have been working seven days a week to get ready, and it has been a real learning experience."

The Pirates, 19-11 last winter, tip off against the Camels at 7 p.m. and play N. C. State in Reynolds Coliseum on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The first home date for East Carolina will be on Saturday at 7 p.m. against Duke.

Rec Loops To Meet

The Greenville Recreation Department will hold adult basketball organizational classes on Thursday evening for both the men's and women's basketball programs.

The women's meeting will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. followed by the men's meeting at 8:30 p.m.

Both meetings will be held at the Jaycee Park administrative offices, 2000 Cedar Lane. All team managers and players desiring to get on a team are urged to attend. For more information, call 752-4137, ext. 220 or 248.

Steelers Play Well In Rout Of 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Terry Bradshaw and Lynn Swann are the National Football League's No. 1 passing combination, and the load carried by the Pittsburgh Steelers' defense seems considerably lighter today.

"I think we're all starting to play better," said linebacker Jack Ham, who intercepted two passes in Monday night's 24-7 victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

But only on offense had the Steelers been struggling, scoring one touchdown in each of their previous two games. Bradshaw was intercepted four times and Swann caught no passes in last week's 7-6 decision over Cincinnati.

"We passed well and ran the ball, too, which is what we have to do," said Swann after catching two touchdown passes and totaling 134 yards on eight receptions against the 49ers.

The victory was over a team that went down fighting, 31-28, a week earlier to the Los Angeles Rams, who held the Steelers to just 59 yards rushing two weeks ago.

"The Steelers are a great football team," said Fred O'Connor, 0-4 since becoming San Francisco's head coach. "We have three teams coming up (New Orleans, Tampa Bay and Detroit) that we can compete against."

If the 49ers, 1-12 after eight straight defeats, lose their final three games, they'll set an NFL record for losses in one season.

"I got my confidence back tonight," said Bradshaw, who took the NFL lead in touchdown passes with his 22nd, an 11-yard toss to John Stallworth in the fourth period.

A request was made that the game be postponed because of the City Hall assassinations earlier Monday of San Francisco Mayor George Moscone and Supervisor Harvey Milk, but the NFL decided the nationally televised would go on as scheduled.

Pittsburgh made its record 11-2, best in the NFL, and has a two-game lead over the Houston Oilers in the American Football Conference Central Division. The Steelers play in Houston on Sunday and can clinch the title with a victory.

Bradshaw threw a first-period interception, his eighth in three weeks, in the first period after teammate Roy Gerela had booted a 42-yard field goal.

Then the quarterback, who called his recent games embarrassing, went wild. He completed 9 of 11 passes for 137 yards on two second-period touchdown drives.

Swann caught scoring passes of 22 and 25 yards, raising his NFL-leading total to 11 touchdown receptions. He has a career-high 57 receptions this season and is tied with Seattle's Steve Largent for the AFC lead.

The 49ers cut Pittsburgh's lead to 17-7 in the third quarter on Paul Hofer's 2-yard touchdown run, but Steelers Coach Chuck Noll said: "As far as I'm concerned, we had a defensive shutout. We gave them a gift."

A messed-up handoff from Bradshaw to Rocky Bleier resulted in a fumble, which rookie defensive lineman Willie McCray recovered at Pittsburgh's 5-yard line. Hofer scored on a fourth-down play.

Despite allowing that touchdown, the Steelers now have given up the fewest points, 162, in the NFL.

Top Four Are Still The Same

Penn State, Alabama, Southern California and Oklahoma held onto the top four spots in The Associated Press college football poll today, while Michigan replaced Houston as the No.5 team.

In the race for the national championship, Penn State will face Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, provided Alabama beats Auburn Saturday, while Southern Cal and Michigan will meet in the Rose Bowl.

Oklahoma will have a rematch with No.6 Nebraska, its only conqueror, in the Orange Bowl while No. 10 Notre Dame will go against No. 9 Houston in the Cotton Bowl if the latter beats Rice this weekend.

However, if Alabama loses to or ties Auburn, No. 11 Georgia would go to the Sugar Bowl. And Houston can blow a Cotton Bowl berth to Texas Tech by losing to Rice if Tech beats Arkansas.

The other Top Ten teams, No. 7 Clemson and No. 8 Arkansas, are headed for the Gator and Fiesta Bowls, respectively.

Penn State, the nation's only undefeated major college team, closed out an 11-0 campaign by defeating Pitt 17-10. The Nittany Lions received 52 first-place votes and 1,256 of a possible 1,280 points from a nationwide panel of 64 sports writers and broadcasters.

Alabama received two first-place votes and 1,173 points while Southern Cal, a 27-25 winner over Notre Dame, received seven first-place ballots and 1,145 points. Oklahoma, idle along with Alabama last weekend, received the other three first-place votes and 1,133 points.

Michigan, which defeated Ohio State 14-3 in the annual Big Ten Rose Bowl shootout, moved up from sixth to fifth with 1,028 points while Houston lost to Texas Tech 22-21 and slipped from fifth to ninth.

Idle Nebraska climbed from seventh to sixth with 940 points, followed by Clemson, which received 864 points and jumped from 10th to seventh by trouncing South Carolina 41-23.

Arkansas, a 27-14 winner over Southern Methodist, received 722 points and rose from 11th to eighth.

Duke Holds To Number One

By The Associated Press

Preseason favorite Duke retained the top spot in The Associated Press' college basketball poll after the first weekend of action.

The Blue Devils, who overpowered Western Kentucky 78-53 in their season opener Saturday night, received 42 of 51 first-place votes and 1,010 points in the poll released Monday.

The balloting, among a nationwide committee of sports writers and broadcasters, was based on games played through Sunday, Nov. 26.

UCLA remained in second place after beating Boise State and DePaul last weekend. The Bruins received six first-place votes and 925 points.

Notre Dame, which has yet to open its season, held onto third place with one first-place vote and 829 points. Kansas, also idle last weekend, climbed one spot to fourth place with one first-place vote and 726 points.

Louisville, beaten by North Carolina State 72-66 Sunday night in the final of the Sea Wolf Classic in Alaska, dropped from fourth to fifth place with 704 points while North Carolina State climbed from 12th to sixth with 681 points and one first-place vote on the strength of its tournament showing.

The lone remaining first place vote went to Michigan State, which remained in seventh place with 666 points.

Completing the Top Ten were Michigan, 585 points, Syracuse, 474, and defending champion Kentucky, 469.

Louisiana State headed the second ten, followed by Southern California, Texas, North Carolina, San Francisco, Rutgers, Marquette, Nevada-Las Vegas, Maryland and Indiana.

Texas and Indiana both had been in the Top Ten in the preseason poll. But Texas dropped a 76-71 decision to Long Beach State over the weekend and Indiana lost two of three games in the Sea Wolf Classic.

The only newcomer to the list was Maryland, which replaced Alabama after the Crimson Tide lost to Wagner in the Joe Lapchick Classic in New York.

Randle Hired

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Sonny Randle, a former pro football wide receiver and coach at the University of Virginia and East Carolina, was named Marshall University's football coach this morning.

Randle, who was asked to resign as Virginia's coach following a stormy 1975 season, will replace Frank Ellwood. A former Ohio State assistant coach, Ellwood was fired three weeks ago prior to his team's 45-0 loss to East Carolina.

Duke Avoids SMU Zone Defense, 86-80

Rampant Wrestlers

Rose High School's wrestlers open the season tonight against Goldsboro. Members of the team are, first row, left to right: Ray Staton, Curtis Daniels, Ricky Warren, Williford Teal, Jeff Atkinson, David Smith, Wayne Joyner, Alan Best; second row, Dan Mayo, James Staton, Reggie Eaton, Frank Tart, Randy McGowan, Mike Davis, Jeff Jones; third row, Joe Jolly, Mark Johnson, Alfred O'Neal, Stuart Ward, Ron Butler and Curtis Little. Coach Bill Foster of top-ranked Duke, which got by Southern Methodist 86-80 Monday night, says some adjustments are in order if the Blue Devils hope to live up to their No. 1 billing.

SMU used an effective zone defense to keep Duke under the gun throughout the first half in the contest at Durham. The Blue Devils finally took an uneasy lead, 19-18, at 10:06 on a layup by guard Jim Spanarkel, who scored a game high 21 points.

But SMU rallied for a 39-36 advantage at intermission.

In other games involving Atlantic Coast Conference teams, Clemson remained undefeated in its second start with a 106-74 win over Furman and Virginia improved to 3-0 with an easy 79-54 victory over Johns Hopkins.

Georgetown and Maryland battle tonight in the only game involving an ACC team.

DUKE 86, SMU 80

Spanarkel and center Mike Gminski combined for 41 points in a balanced scoring attack to pace Duke to the win, its second in two starts. Gminski poured in 20 points, Gene Banks added 18 and Bob Bender chipped in 10.

"We just couldn't seem to get going," Foster said. "We had no running game to speak of."

He said the Mustangs "played a gutsy game" and revealed a defense that "made us make some adjustments that we had some problems with. It was a good game for us like that."

Duke got six unanswered points in the opening minutes of the second half and a 47-41 lead at 16:44, which it never relinquished.

SMU Coach Sonny Allen said his team's performance indicates the Mustangs (1-1) will be in the thick of things in the Southwest Conference, where they are picked to finish near the bottom. He predicted a national championship for Duke.

"Last year, we played Kentucky the first game of the year and I said then that they would win the NCAA," Allen said. "I'll say the same thing about Duke this year."

Allen's son, Billy, was the playmaker for the Mustangs. He pumped in 19 points for SMU and Brad Branson and Phil Hale had 15 each.

CLEMSON 106, FURMAN 74

Senior guard Greg Coles scored 23 points and made five steals to lead the Tigers to their lopsided score at home. Five teammates aided Coles in double figures, including John Campbell with 17 points, Billy Williams and Bill Ross, each with 14, Derrick Johnson with 13 and Marvin Dickerson with 11.

Forward Al Daniel fired in a game high 26 points for Furman (1-1). The only other Paladin in double figures was center Jonathan Moore with 14 points.

VIRGINIA 79, JOHNS HOPKINS 54

"They're a pesky team," said Virginia Coach Terry Holland of Johns Hopkins. "They did a good job of controlling the tempo."

But it wasn't good enough as Jeff Lamp scored 14 points and Jeff Klein added 10 to post the Cavaliers' third straight triumph in as many games. Johns Hopkins suffered its second defeat in two starts.

Virginia, playing at home, rested on a 37-25 score at the half and pulled away in the final period.

But the Blue Jays boasted the game's leading scorer in Ray Zukowski with 19 points.

"Obviously, we wanted to speed it up and they wouldn't let us," Holland said. "It was hard to get any tempo up and down."

Sparky Gets Ax

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Reds manager Sparky Anderson has been fired, the Dayton Daily News said today in a copyright story.

His replacement will be John McNamara, former manager of the Oakland Athletics and the San Diego Padres, the paper said.

Dick Wagner, president and general manager of the Reds, reportedly met with Anderson on Monday in Los Angeles and told the manager he would be paid the last year on his contract for doing nothing.

The Reds called a mid-morning news conference, at which the Daily News said the Reds would announce the managerial change.

Rampant Wrestlers Set Eyes On Successful Defense Of Crown

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

With a new coach and only minimal experience back, the Rose High School wrestling team is somewhat of a question mark right now, but Coach Joe Testo feels that the Rampants came come around into form and be a contender again.

The defending champs lost several members from last year's team to graduation, and several others have not returned.

"It's really hard to tell how things are going because of the relative inexperience," Testo said. "With some people quitting the team and others coming out late, we're really not sure at several positions."

Testo feels the Rampants are going to be quite strong at several weights, including heavyweight, 104, 126 and 145 pounds.

"We don't have anyone at 195 pounds, and unless we wrestle someone out of class, or someone comes out to help us there, we may just have to forfeit every match and this will hurt us," he said.

Testo feels that the Rampants have several who could go to the state finals this year. "Ricky Warren, who is at 105, but who will probably got to 101 by then, is a true candidate, along with James Staton at 119 or 126 and Ron Butler at heavyweight. Mark Johnson at 138 could also get in there with work. Probably Butler and Warren had the best shots of all."

Tom Brown, a sophomore out for the first time is wrestling at the 98-pound level. "He's not ready yet and this may cause some problems early in the season," Testo said.

Warren currently occupies the 105-pound slot, with Curtis Daniels and Dan Mayo at the 112-pound level.

Staton will wrestle at 119, with Wayne Joyner and Jeff Jones at 126. Jeff Atkinson and David Purvis are wrestling at 132, with Johnson and Jeff Jefferson at 138.

Allen Best, Mike Davis and Woody Whichard are a trio at 145, with Reggie Eaton and Alfred O'Neal at 155. Randy McGowan is alone at 167, but Testo is hopeful that veteran Mark Shank will rejoin the team at that weight shortly.

Stuart Ward is at 185, with Butler and Curtis Little at heavyweight.

"I'm not familiar enough with the conference to say how things will go," the coach said, "but I think we'll do fairly well. I think we'll have a good chance to repeat at champions, but a lot will depend on how our young wrestlers come along. We really don't have a lot of depth."

The Rampants open the season tonight, hosting Goldsboro.

Longhorns Gore Montana, 148-71

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Coach Abe Lemons looked at his Texas team before Monday night's home game against Northern Montana and didn't like what he saw.

"We looked like zombies in the dressing room and I wasn't sure what was going to happen," said Lemons. "But we came out and played hard, which is what I wanted to see."

It was all too much for the visitors, who got stampeded by the 13th-ranked Longhorns 148-71. Senior guard Jim Krivacs scored 43 points as Texas recorded the most points ever by a Southwest Conference team, breaking the mark of 139 points set by Baylor against Trinity in 1965.

In other games involving Top 20 teams, No. 1 Duke struggled past Southern Methodist 86-80, No. 7 Michigan State whipped Central Michigan 71-54 and No. 11 Louisiana State easily beat New Orleans 64-42.

Texas obliterated the school scoring record, which had been 117 against Arkansas in 1972. And it wasn't all that far away from the NCAA single-game scoring record set by NevadaLas Vegas in a 164-111 victory over Hawaii-Hilo in 1976, or the NCAA's 91-point margin of victory record set by Louisiana State in a 124-33 victory over Southwestern, Tenn., in 1952.

Texas, which had been ranked sixth in The Associated Press' preseason poll, fell to 13th this week after losing its season opener to Long Beach State 71-66 Saturday night.

Duke didn't play particularly well but still won, which pleased Coach Bill Foster. "It comes out a win and we have things that we have to work on," he said. "It was a good game for us like that."

Guard Jim Spanarkel led Duke with 21 points, center Mike Gminski scored 20 and forward Gene Banks had 18. The Blue Devils trailed 39-36 at the half, took the lead early in the second half and turned back repeated threats by Southern Methodist in the late going.

SMU Coach Sonny Allen predicted a national championship for Duke, which was runnerup to Kentucky last season.

Seventh-ranked Michigan State opened its season with an easy victory over Central Michigan as Gregory Kelser scored 30 points, many coming after quick passes from playmaker Earvin Johnson, who had 14 points and 11 assists.

The game was close until Michigan State put on a 17-4 spurt late in the first half. The Spartans led 34-22 at the half and were never in trouble after intermission.

Wilson's Hopes High As He Replaces McGee

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke University's new head football coach said Monday the Blue Devils football program can be successful with a positive attitude and hard work.

Shirley "Red" Wilson, assistant athletic director at Duke and former Elon coach, was named Monday afternoon as the replacement for Mike McGee who was fired as the university's head football coach.

Wilson said he didn't know if the Blue Devils could achieve a winning record immediately but "we'll take the approach that we can win every game on our schedule. That's what we'll strive to do."

Wilson, who has been at Duke for 18 months, said, "I sincerely believe that the Duke University football program can be a great one. It can be accomplished through hard work and dedication.

Wilson said that he would begin lining up his staff today and that it is possible that all assistant coaches will be asked to stay.

Duke Athletic Director Tom Butters announced Monday afternoon that McGee's resignation would not be forthcoming, so his contract was terminated. Butters called McGee "a man and a damn fine one." He said he McGee would not remain at Duke in any other capacity.

"We were not progressing in allowing Duke University to have the kind of football prgram it deserves," said Butters, who refused to elaborate on other factors that entered into his decision to recommend McGee's termination to the Duke athletic council.

He said the Blue Devils had scored fewer points this season, but said that player dissension and the North Carolina win over Duke Saturday in which the Tar Heels rallied from a 12-point deficit "had absolutely nothing to do with my decision."

Butters declined to discuss any financial arangements that were made with McGee, who was not present at the news conference. He said that the three-year contract extension that he gave McGee last year, "was not a mistake. My reasons for keeping him last year were sound."

Wilson also refused to discuss any details of his contract with Duke.

"I'm very much the football coach at Duke," he said, adding that at this early stage he could not discuss in detail his ideas for improving Duke football.

"I plan to lead the pack in recruiting," he said.

Duke had a 4-7 record this season after starting off with victories over Georgia Tech and South Carolina.

McGee's dismissal came after the Blue Devils ended the season with a 16-15 loss to archrival North Carolina at Chapel Hill Saturday. The Tar Heels scored two touchdowns in the final three minutes to overcome a 15-3 lead by Duke.

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

CRYPTOQUIP

11-28

CKK ENMEXN EMGPXNG CPPXGP MLN THSHT SHNPLX

Yesterday's Cryptoquip — FACETIOUS PARODY FRACTURES POLITE LADY.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: N equals R

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Peter, Paul And Mary Appearing Wednesday On Dick Clark Show

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This Wednesday, Dick Clark's NBC variety show has Peter, Paul and Mary on the bill. The Mary of the trio says it's their first prime-time TV shot in ages. Since the black-and-white ages?

"Don't be like that, darlin'," Mary Travers sighed in mock dismay. "Don't be like my daughter. She sees 'The Waltons' and says, 'Was it really like that, Mom?'"

Ms. T., tall, blond-haired and possessed of a let'-er-rip laugh, a swift but kindly wit and a low, gentle voice, until this year has sung solo, PP&M having disbanded in 1970 after 10 years together.

But the folk trio, as famed for advocating social change as for such hits as "Blowin' in the Wind," teamed up again this spring for a new album, their 13th, called "Reunion," and a 17-city tour.

Ms. Travers, Paul Stookey and Peter Yarrow all had talked for several years of doing another album, but were delayed by demands of their separate careers, she said.

Paul was producing records and rebuilding his home in Maine. Peter was writing songs and producing records here. And she was cutting solo albums — five in all — and doing concerts and lectures.

"Last December, we said, 'This is ridiculous, we'll never do it until we sit down and lay out the time,'" she recalled. Shortly afterward reunion plans were made and work began.

It's not a full-time reunion, she noted: "We're going to do six to 10 concerts next year, but we haven't made any commitments to one another or anyone else for that matter to do them every year.

"It's really on a project-to-project basis."

During the chat, she was asked about the lectures she now gives at colleges on the subject "Society and Its Effect on Music."

Whereupon she mildly groused that when she turns on Top 40 Radio, she hears 15 different pop music styles, and said there's no "leading edge" to today's music, no strong force. Vagueness seems in vogue.

"You have a definitive style when the culture of a society is moving in a definitive way," she theorized. "When it (society) is awash, wallowing, when it hasn't got momentum, the music doesn't have momentum."

That seems to be happening today, she said, and the music of many styles "isn't eclectic in an educated sense. It's eclectic out of a lack of momentum, of commitment to itself."

Is all lost, or does she see brighter days ahead?

"Of course I do," she laughed. "I'm the last of the grand optimists. One of the advantages of getting older is that you read of different times. And you realize that no time is forever.

"Change is the password to life."

A knowledge of the probabilities was all that declarer needed to bring home a good spade slam on this hand from a recent rubber bridge game at the Club Albarran, the leading bridge club in Paris.

Considering his partner's initial two-over-one response and subsequent spade support, South decided that he should have good play for slam. He simply bid it because neither Blackwood nor a cue-bidding sequence would be likely to elicit the exact information he needed.

West led the top of his club sequence, and when dummy came down, declarer was reasonably satisfied with his prospects. If hearts were 3-3, there would be no problems — declarer could discard three diamonds on dummy's suit, and he would make an overtrick. However, hearts were more likely to split 4-2. In that case, it seemed declarer would have to find a diamond honor with West, then guess which one it was.

However, declarer did not relish the prospect of being forced to guess the diamond — only a 50 percent chance — which would have been fatal here. Instead, he decided to rely on the almost 85 percent chance of finding hearts either 3-3 or 4-2.

The problem was that there would be no entry to dummy's fifth heart if declarer drew trumps and then played off the top hearts. But South solved that problem very neatly.

Declarer won the ace of clubs and drew trumps. Now, he simply led a heart from his hand and ducked in dummy. East won and tried to cash the king of clubs, but declarer ruffed and led his remaining heart. Dummy's ace-king-queen of hearts drew all the remaining cards in that suit, and the fifth heart provided declarer with a third diamond discard.

Thus, declarer lost only one heart trick!

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FOR RELEASE WEDNESDAY, NOV. 30, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Think out a better campaign of action whereby you can gain the objectives which are most vital to your progress. Also a good time for putting in active motion a plan of action whereby you can make your dreams come true.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Attend to pressing obligations early and then you can get into new interests. A new approach with a loved one leads to greater happiness.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can eliminate tensions with associates early in the day. Then carry through with new decisions you reached. Enjoy a romantic evening and forget about business.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Finish your work early and then you can meet with partners and put over good deals. Improve health were needed. Take time for favorite recreations.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan early for the recreation you want to enjoy later and then get right to work at hand. Put finishing touches on any creative work you are involved in.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take care of home problems first before you consider outside affairs. Don't forget fundamental affairs before considering outside entertainment. Be charming.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take care of necessary communications early in the day. Then get into important fundamental affairs intelligently.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Handle anything of a monetary nature before turning your attention to reports and statements. Set up a better budget.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Go after personal aims early, but later handle practical affairs intelligently. Take any needed health treatments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Making private plans is good early in the day and then you can carry them through in a positive manner. Listen to a suggestion from a good adviser and follow it. Don't waste valuable time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) First get clear in your mind what your true aims are and then put the wheels in motion for obtaining them. A person in business can be most helpful to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can gain the favor of bigwigs today and advance in your career. Do what you can to improve your credit rating. Get together with good friends at social functions.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Think out how to change your life for the better early, then handle business problems well. Making new contacts is wise so that you improve career. Home is best bet in evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will like to find out what it is that motivates others, so be sure to give fine spiritual and academic training. Teach early to be more practical. Your child will make good plans and then follow through in a positive way.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Connie Francis To Sing Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For singer Connie Francis, the applause may never be quite the same.

It's been four years since she was raped by an intruder who broke into her Long Island motel room. She hasn't performed publicly since then, despite an onrush of resulting publicity.

This week the 38-year-old entertainer is to appear on her friend Dick Clark's "Wednesday Live" television show.

The songstress who popularized such hits as "Where The Boys Are," "Lipstick On Your Collar," and "Who's Sorry Now?" has had comeback offers before but "I didn't want to do anything," she said.

COUNCIL MEETING

PACTOLUS — The Pactolus Elementary School Advisory Council will meet Thursday, 7:30 p.m., at the school. All members are asked to attend the meeting.

Haley Admits Source Used

NEW YORK (AP) — Writer Alex Haley concedes that his best-seller about his family's ancestry is rooted partly in passages from another book.

The author of "Roots" took the witness stand in U.S. District Court Monday and said three passages from Harold Courlander's "The African" found their way into his book.

Haley said he had not read "The African" before "Roots" was published and claimed the passages were probably among a host of material donated to him during years of research.

Jonestown Survivors Will Start Return To U.S.

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) — Jonestown survivors will begin returning to the United States starting tonight or Wednesday, U.S. consular officials said.

They said seven survivors, all age 61 or over, would leave no later than Wednesday evening.

They were identified as Hyacinth Thrash, 70, of San Francisco; Grover Davis, 79; Madeline Brooks, 73; Carol Young, 78; Alvaray Satterwhite, 61; Marian Campbell, 61; and Raymond Godshalk, 62. The hometowns of the other six were not immediately available.

Police were making a complete inventory of the camp and questioning Peoples Temple sect members in Georgetown to determine which of the 80 survivors will be permitted to leave this South American nation and which will be held as suspects and material witnesses in the suicide-murder at Jonestown.

"Their status is being reviewed, and some will be allowed to go," Assistant Commissioner Skip Roberts said Monday. "Some will be held for judicial proceedings."

Two Americans have been charged with murder, and three others were questioned Monday for the second time about the death ceremony in which 908 Americans and one Guyanese died at the Rev. Jim Jones' religious commune in northwest Guyana.

The three were Tim Carter, 28, and his brother, Michael, 20, both of Boise, Idaho, and Michael Prokes, 32, a former Modesto, Calif., television newsman.

"We just wanted to question them some more and go back over their story," Roberts said.

Roberts added that some of the survivors might begin leaving Wednesday.

The two men under arrest are Larry Layton, 32, of San Francisco, who is charged with killing Rep. Leo J. Ryan, D-Calif., and four others with him at an airstrip near Jonestown, and Charles Beikman, 43, of Indianapolis, who is charged with killing a Peoples Temple staff member in Georgetown and her three children.

Only one of the surviving cultists has returned from Jonestown to the United States. He was Miguel DePina, 84, who was in a Georgetown hospital during the mass poisoning in which his wife died.

U.S. Embassy officials said the returning survivors would be flown to the Charleston, S.C., Air Force Base and would be subject to normal re-entry procedures for American citizens returning from abroad. They said the Internal Revenue Service, the Immigration and Naturalization Service and representatives of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare would interview cult members "who are willing" about the Jonestown events.

In Charleston, the FBI said its agents would also question the returning cultists and would arrest any who might have participated in the slaying of Rep. Ryan or conspired in the killing. Although Layton has been arrested for the killing of the five, survivors of the attack at the airstrip said six or eight other men took part in the attack.

The murder of a congressman is a federal crime, regardless of where it occurs, and any participant can be charged with conspiracy.

Ryan and three U.S. newsmen killed with him had gone to Jonestown to investigate reports that cultists were being held there against there will and were being abused.

Haven In U.S. For Boatpeople

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Refugee officials say more than 2,000 Vietnamese refugees will be flown from Malaysia to the United States in the next two or three weeks, and the Carter administration is reported planning to seek congressional approval to admit some 20,000 others who have fled from Indochina.

Refugee officials say the 2,000 U.S.-bound refugees will be taken from Malaysia's crowded transit camps, where 40,000 Vietnamese have found shelter, and from among the 2,500 refugees stranded aboard the freighter Hai Hong off the west coast of Malaysia.

Justice Department officials in Washington said Attorney General Griffin B. Bell will ask Congress to approve admission of 22,500 Indochinese refugees before next May 1. They would be in addition to the annual quota of 25,000, which is already exhausted, and would include the 2,500 Washington said it would take after the Hai Hong case hit the headlines.

A growing flood of refugees from Vietnam is riding all manner of old, leaky craft on the southerly currents of the South China Sea to Malaysia. Over the past two weeks, the rate of arrivals has reached 300 to 500 a day, taxing already crowded refugee camps and threatening the Malaysian government with a crisis.

Most of the refugees now are ethnic Chinese, a community never popular with the Vietnamese because they dominated commercial life in South Vietnam.

Urged Pay Taxes Early

FARMVILLE — Farmville property owners who have not paid their municipal ad valorem taxes are urged to do so before the holiday season.

Tax collector P. A. Thomas suggests that residents take care of this obligation before holiday gift-buying leaves them low on funds. If payment of taxes is delayed until January the amount due is increased two percent under state law, with additional penalties for each month of delinquency.

This year the town plans its earliest and most complete efforts ever to collect delinquent taxes, including garnishment of wages beginning in January.

Farmville's ad valorem tax rate is 55 cents per $100 valuation. The rate has not changed in seven years and is one of the lowest municipal tax rates in the state for a town of 5,000 or more residents. Rates for nearby governments include: Pitt County, 95 cents; Greenville, 70; and Winterville' 70.
