

Carter Stakes Future On Up To 8 Years His Anti-Inflation Effort

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Although President Carter says he will continue his fight against inflation even if it costs him a second term as president, some key government officials have said he probably can't get re-elected in 1980 if he doesn't deal with the problem. "I would maintain the fight against inflation," Carter said Thursday when asked what he would do if he had to make a choice. "I believe it's exactly what the American people want."

However, two key officials have said Carter's chances of re-election probably depend on his success in controlling inflation, which is now stuck at 10 percent, the worst it's been in four years.

"Politically, it is essential he lick the problem of inflation," Carter's chief inflation adviser, Alfred Kahn, said Wednesday in a speech. "He can't get re-elected unless he deals with inflation, and therefore he has to be serious," Chairman G. William Miller of the Federal Reserve Board told a congressional committee recently.

Both Kahn and Miller were appointed to their posts by Carter.

Carter acknowledged at his news conference Thursday that his efforts to reduce inflation by slowing government spending and pushing up interest rates could put an even bigger drag on the economy in 1979 than his administration has admitted previously.

He said economic growth could drop below 3 percent — a level that surely would increase unemployment above the current 5.8 percent of the labor force — but repeated earlier assurances that a serious economic downturn is unlikely.

"We don't anticipate a recession or depression next year," he said.

A large number of prominent private economists have said Carter's anti-inflation program virtually guarantees a recession in 1979. But administration economists had maintained until very recently that the economy should grow at a minimum of about 3 percent, and possibly higher, with little impact on unemployment.

The economy has been growing at a rate of 3.75 percent so far in 1978. The administration argues that slower economic growth is needed next year to take pressure off prices, which have more than doubled in the past 11 years.

"I think we will be successful in leveling off the rate of inflation and then in bringing it down," Carter said.

Carter also said he has not agreed to any changes in his voluntary wage and price guidelines — 7 percent for wages and an average of 5.75 percent for prices. But he added: "With a thousand different decisions to be made, there will be some flexibility."

The final details of the guidelines aren't yet worked out, Carter said.

On other topics at the nationally televised news conference, the president said:

"Americans should not overreact to the mass murder-suicide in Jonestown, Guyana, by demanding government supervision of religious cults. The deaths of more than 900 cult followers there was not 'typical in any way of America,' he said.

Favor Halving Of Public Job Agency

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN and OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writers
WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite predictions of rising unemployment, President Carter's budget managers are recommending the mammoth CETA public job program be cut by more than half in Carter's next budget, sources report.

Some 365,000 jobs would be eliminated — a move certain to shock blacks, organized labor and liberals in the Democratic Party. The cut also would anger some mayors who have come to depend on CETA money to pay the salaries for up to 33 percent of their city work forces.

The Labor Department, backed by some of Carter's White House staff, is waging a behind-the-scenes battle against the proposal by the Office of Management and Budget. No final decisions have been reached.

Carter is ordering sharp federal spending cuts for his fiscal 1980 budget in a drive against inflation. The Comprehensive Employment and Training Act programs are vulnerable because they are large, relatively new and have been criticized for numerous abuses. Further, the nation's job picture has improved substantially in the last two years.

With Carter's approval in 1977, Congress more than doubled the job program practically overnight to stimulate the economy. Under the program, the federal government pays most of the salaries for these workers in state and local government jobs or non-profit community groups.

But as unemployment dropped from a high of 9 percent to 5.8 percent, support for CETA waned. In October, Congress cut job levels from 725,000 last year to 625,000 by next Sept. 30.

Several weeks ago, Budget Director James McIntyre told members of Congress privately that unemployment over the next year is expected to rise from 5.8 percent to 6 percent and might go higher.

Nevertheless, McIntyre's OMB is recommending that in the year beginning next Oct. 1 the number of public jobs be slashed from 625,000 to 260,000, according to three sources, both inside and outside the government, who declined to be identified. That cut would trim $3.36 billion from the $11 billion federal manpower budget.

OMB also is recommending cuts elsewhere in CETA, including youth job training sections and a 350-person cut in the federal staff that administers the program, the sources said.

They said OMB is proposing to eliminate all 375,000 jobs in CETA's Title VI, under which spending is triggered when the national unemployment rate exceeds 4 percent. At the same time, OMB proposes an increase from 250,000 to 260,000 in Title II jobs, aimed at long-term unemployed people, according to the sources.

Report Denies 'Unnecessary' Duplication

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — The University of North Carolina Board of Governors released a study today saying there is no unnecessary program duplication at predominantly black and predominantly white schools in the Research Triangle and Piedmont areas.

The study compared duplicate degree programs among the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, North Carolina State University and North Carolina Central University.

It also compared the programs of N.C. A&T, UNC-Greensboro and Winston-Salem State. The board ordered the study in accordance with an agreement it made with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in May.

HEW has proposed that duplicative programs neighboring predominantly black and predominantly white schools be eliminated to speed up desegregation at the 16-campus university.

All members of the board have been asked to sit in on the committee meeting, but the full board will not act on the duplication study until Dec. 8.

The study, due at HEW by Dec. 15, has been prepared by a team of UNC officials headed by Senior Vice President Raymond Dawson. It is an analysis of duplicated programs at UNC campuses in the Research Triangle and Piedmont Triad areas.

The study also covers the UNC engineering programs at A&T, North Carolina State University and UNC-Charlotte.

University officials, board committee members and chancellors of the schools involved have declined to comment on the 80-page, five-chapter document.

University spokesmen have said from the outset of the study that it probably will not satisfy HEW and that the court battle avoided in May with the eleventh-hour settlement may be imminent.

COMPTON, Calif. (AP) — A 33-year-old woman who drove to her trial in her silver-toned Cadillac has been convicted of welfare fraud and perjury in what is believed to be the biggest such case ever.

Barbara Jean Williams was found guilty Thursday of 10 counts of welfare fraud and 12 counts of perjury. Another perjury count was dismissed on a technicality. She faces up to eight years in prison.

Mrs. Williams was accused of bilking Los Angeles County out of $240,000 by using eight fictitious names and collecting welfare for more than 70 children — including four of her own.

Superior Court Judge Kenneth Gale, who heard the case without a jury at the woman's request, set sentencing for Dec. 28. She remains free on $50,000 bail.

Expect Reduction In Tobacco Quota

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture was expected to announce today a 2 percent cut in the 1979 flue-cured tobacco quota.

An aide to U.S. Rep. Walter B. Jones, D-N.C., said Thursday that the unofficial word on the cut is 2 percent. Edmund B. Welch said the reduction would mean the effective quota — the amount farmers actually bring to market — would be reduced by about 11 percent in the five flue-cured states and 12 percent in North Carolina alone.

The effective quota is reached by applying to the base quota the previous year's market shortfalls, or surpluses, as is the case this year. A 2 percent cut in the base quota in 1979 would probably set the effective quota for N.C. fluecured farmers at 704 million pounds, or 93 pounds less than the 1978 quota.

USDA officials refused Thursday to confirm or deny the 2 percent figure.

A Senate aide, however, said the announcement of the 1979 quota would come at 3 p.m. today. The law requires the secretary of agriculture to set the quota by Dec. 1 of each year. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland left the quota unchanged last year.

Several North Carolina farm and government leaders gave their approval to the news. But some farmers said a 10 percent cut in the base quota would be necessary to prevent a tobacco surplus and depressed prices next year.

"I think it'll be pretty much accepted," said James A. Graham, state agriculture commissioner, who had recommended that Bergland leave the quota unchanged or cut it by no more than 5 percent. "As far as I'm concerned, I like it...I think it's a step in the right direction. I like that a whole lot better than a 10 percent cut."

Busy Day Faces Commissioners

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners will meet Monday at 10 a.m. at the Pitt County Court House.

Commissioners B. Alton Gardner, Burney L. Tucker and Ed N. Warren, re-elected to new terms on the board, will take the oath of office at the meeting.

Other items on the agenda include: consideration of the adoption of a cable television ordinance; election of board officers for the coming year and appointment of committees; appointments to various boards and commissions, including the Greenville Board of Adjustments, the Pitt County Development Commission, the Pitt County Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped, and the Pitt County Council on the Status of Women.

Other items on the agenda are: consideration of approval for final plans for Windermere Estates and East Acres Section I, subdivisions and consideration of a revised Sediment and Erosion Control Ordinance; consideration of a resolution on converting Pitt Technical Institute to a community college; and consideration of a request for funds for a siren for a second fire station by the Carolina Township Volunteer Fire Department.

Test Tube Baby Clinic Planned

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Patrick Steptoe, the British gynecologist credited with engineering the first "test tube" baby, says he will help set up a clinic for test tube fertilization in Norfolk, Va.

The clinic could be established within a year, Steptoe said Thursday, provided it can get private funding. Such birth research no longer receives federal funding from the National Institute of Health. No private funds have as yet been collected, the doctor said.

Steptoe said he and his colleague, Dr. Robert Edwards, would act only as advisers to the Virginia clinic. It will be operated by Dr. Howard Jones and his wife, Georgeanna, gynecologists who worked with Steptoe when they were with Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

Steptoe is here to receive a Citation of Achievement from the New York Fertility Research Foundation at a formal dinner tonight.

He said he was opening his own fertility clinic soon near Cambridge, England, where two teams of specialists would perform about 600 "test tube" implants per year. Steptoe said the operation probably would cost between $2,000 to $3,000, less than the cost of tubal surgery in the United States but more than in England.

Steptoe and Edwards shocked the medical community with the birth July 25 at Oldham Hospital, England, of Louise Brown, the first baby conceived outside its mother's womb.

RUMOR

I would like to have this mess about finding earthenworms in hamburgers at McDonald's cleared up. I'd like to know where it came from and how it got started. M. W.

Hotline talked first to local McDonald's franchise owner, Bill Freelove, and then to Doug Timberlake at the McDonald's Corporation home office in Chicago. Both said that, as with all gossip, there is probably no way to say how it got started, but that the rumor, to quote Timberlake is "absolutely false, unfounded and ludicrous."

The rumor, for those who might have somehow missed hearing it, is that McDonald's supplements the beef in its burgers with protein from ground worms.

Timberlake said all accounts he's heard seem to have it that the alleged practice was uncovered by either the CBS television network's "60 Minutes" team or the ABC network's "20/20" team. Neither is true and the McDonald's Corporation has letters from both networks to prove it.

A press conference was held in Atlanta with a regional officer of the U. S. Department of Agriculture present, to refute the rumor and swear that the company's hamburgers contain nothing but beef.

Timberlake says that the corporation was never affected nationwide, but that certain areas did see a drop in sales that seems to be being reversed now.

"McDonald's has taken the facts before the American public and believes people are intelligent enough to make decisions based on facts."

He said he understand that other hamburger chains also have been affected to some degree.

Local McDonald's employees have been provided information to give to anyone inquiring about the "earthworm situation."

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

SOME RESPONSE

The Coastal Carolina Track Club reports some response to the recent Hotline item about the club's wish to be of service to beginning runners. "Mostly, though," Bob Gotwals said, "the item attracted seasoned runners. We're delighted, of course, but do want to emphasize that beginners are welcome. We don't want the name, 'track club,' to scare anyone off."

"Fun Runs" especially for beginners have begun being held Sunday mornings at 8:30 at the Aycock Junior High School track on Greenville Boulevard, Gotwals said. Individuals and families are welcome to run a quarter-mile or several.

Nixon Vows 'Will Not Keep My Mouth Shut'

OXFORD, England (AP) — Undaunted by the raucous shouts of protesters, Richard M. Nixon told students at this prestigious English university, "I'm not going to keep my mouth shut" despite retiring from politics.

The former president was driven past 500 American and British demonstrators who hurled eggs at his black limousine as it rolled slowly through the crowd before his Thursday address to the historic Oxford Union debating society.

Demonstrators grappled with police who linked arms in a human chain in a vain attempt to keep them from pounding on Nixon's limousine as it left the hall. From Oxford, Nixon returned to London, where he met British lawmakers at the House of Commons. He is scheduled to lunch today at a London hotel with the British publishers of his memoirs.

During a 20-minute speech on foreign affairs to the Oxford Union and the wide-ranging question-and-answer session that followed, Nixon frequently had to raise his voice over the chorus of chants from outside the 19th century hall.

"As long as I have any breath in me I will speak up for what I believe," Nixon told an audience of 800 at the Oxford Union. The address capped a European tour that marked Nixon's bid to actively re-enter the arena of international affairs.

Cries of "We Want Nixon Dead!" and "No More Nixon!" filtered into the high-ceilinged hall as the 65-year-old former president spoke.

Asked about the Watergate scandal that led to his resignation four years ago, Nixon admitted, "I screwed up and I paid the price."

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — Dutch police plan to "wipe out" skateboarding in public, but say there won't be a "witch hunt" for offenders. It is technically illegal to skateboard here, but the law has been virtually ignored.

Couple Weds In New Jersey On Saturday

KINNELON, N. J. — Helen Anne Edwards of Kinnelon, N. J., and Richard Edward Waldrop of Greenville, N. C., were united in marriage in a double ring candlelight ceremony in the Smoke Rise Community Church here Saturday. The Rev. Edward Johnson performed the ceremony at 4 p.m.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Helen Boquez, organist, aunt of the bride, and Miss Jane Harlan, soloist, cousin of the bride.

The church altar was adorned with white wicker vases filled with white and yellow spider mums. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long sleeved white lace gown from the House of Bianchi fashioned with the mandarin neckline and imported alencon lace beaded with pearls. She wore a fingertip length veil and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and ivy.

Mrs. Ruth Ginnotti of Pompton Plains, N. J., sister of the bride, was honor attendant. Other attendants were Miss Christina Kuhl of Smoke Rise, N. J., Miss Karen Nielson of Greenville, N. C., and Miss Paula Sturdy of Wilmington, N. C. The attendants wore hunter green gowns with matching picture hats and each carried a bouquet of white and yellow spider mums.

The bridegroom's best man was Frank Diener Jr. of Greenville, N. C. Ushers were James Teal, Jeryl Leonard and Robert Waldrop, brother of the bridegroom, all of Greenville, N. C.

The mother of the bride wore a toast knit ensemble with a corsage of yellow roses. The mother of the bridegroom selected a raspberry ensemble with a corsage of pink carnations. The grandmother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Paul E. Waldrop Sr. of Virginia Beach, Va., wore a light blue ensemble with a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Edwards of Kinnelon, N. J. She is a graduate of Kinnelon High School, County College of Mars and East Carolina University with a bachelor's degree in business and is a member of Phi Omega Pi Honor Society.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Waldrop Jr. of Greenville, N. C. He is a graduate of Rose High School, a veteran of Vietnam and a member of the U. S. Army Reserve. He is also a graduate of ECU with a degree from the School of Industrial Technology and is a member of the Epsilon Pi Tau Honor Society.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at Peronia Farms, Andover, N. J.

Both the bride and bridegroom are employed in the engineering department of Edwards Engineering Co., Pompton Plains, N. J. Following a wedding trip to St. Maartens Island, the couple will live in Jefferson Township, N. J.

On Friday evening, the parents of the bridegroom entertained the bridal couple, family, members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests at a dinner at Calamity Jane's Restaurant, Smoke Rise, N. J.

Doll Tea Set For Sunday

The Ladies Auxiliary of The Salvation Army is planning its annual doll tea Sunday from 2-5 p.m. at the Salvation Army Citadel.

Approximately 275 dolls have been dressed by ladies from Hooker Memorial Christian Church, First Christian Church, St. James United Methodist Church, Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, Eastern Star, Winterville Missionary Baptist Church, Winterville Christian Church.

Pitt County Extension Homemakers, University Church of Christ, Greenville Utilities, Ladies of The Salvation Army Home League and Auxiliary, Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church, Mrs. Larry Stox, Mrs. Barbara Licko, Mrs. Agnes Coward and Mrs. Jack Corbett also dressed dolls.

"Variety, beauty and originality are some of the descriptions that apply to this year's dolls," said Mrs. Major Arnold Williford of The Salvation Army.

A theme "Story Book Dolls," which was optional, was chosen and first, second and third place ribbons will be awarded among the groups following the theme. An honorable mention will be given to the most attractive display not following the theme.

It was announced in order to defray the rising costs of the undressed dolls, some dolls will be available for sale. A silver offering will also be taken. The other dolls will be given to needy children on Dec. 21-22 through the Toy Shop.

Mrs. Jesse Laughinghouse is the president of the Ladies Auxiliary. Mrs. Hugh Haynie and Mrs. W. M. Smith Jr. are serving as co-chairladies of the tea.

LOVABLE DOLLS... are admired by Mrs. Major Arnold Williford and her granddaughter, Mandy Clewis, age two, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Clewis of Greenville. The dolls will be shown at the annual doll tea Sunday afternoon.

Credit Women Meet

The Greenville Credit Women-International held its meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mildred Porter with a covered-dish dinner.

Mrs. Linda Westbrook, of Greenville Collection Services, presented the program on the International manual entitled "The Pain Starts When the Paying Stops." She stressed granting credit includes an unavoidable element of risk.

Letters, form notices, telegrams, telephone calls and personal visits are the usual methods of communicating with a customer whose account is past due, she said.

A report on the proposed budget for 1978-79 was presented by Shirley Pitt. Pearl Hartsell announced the annual Christmas meeting will be held Dec. 18 at First Federal with each member taking a covered-dish.

Ms. Pitt gave a report on the annual fall board meeting held Nov. 11-12 at the Hilton Inn, Greensboro.

New educational manuals and club yearbooks were distributed to members. President Martha Mills appointed Jane Walker to serve as the new recording secretary.

Program Chairwoman Westbrook announced Brayon Anderson will present the new program on communicating effectively.

Pilot Members Hear Program By Mrs. Rose

The Pilot Club of Greenville met Monday night at the Holiday Inn. Guests for the program were Mrs. Virgie Easterling and Mary Ann Rose.

A presentation was given by Mrs. Rose, R. N., professor at the East Carolina University School of Nursing, who showed slides taken in England on the "Care of the Terminal Ill Patient." Discussion centered around the comparison of the way these patients are treated in the United States where a majority (approximately 65 percent) die in hospitals as opposed to the English way of keeping patients in a more "home like setting."

It was reported $25 has been given Pitt County Social Services for a foster child. The Salvation Army was given $10 in addition to members who are helping "ring the bell" Dec.

A trip is planned for Pilots to attend a showing of "Star of Bethlehem" at Morehead Planetarium in Chapel Hill Dec. 2. Mrs. Trudy Blessing, coordinator of Outreach Division has chartered a bus and coordinated the activities of the trip.

A safety tree will be placed again this year at the corner of 264 By-pass and Charles Street. Pilots urge everyone to help keep the tree green.

Bridal Policy

A black and white glossy five by seven photograph is requested for engagement announcements. For publication in a Sunday edition, the information must be submitted by 12 noon on the preceding Wednesday. Engagement pictures must be released at least three weeks prior to the wedding date. After three weeks, only an announcement will be printed.

Wedding write-ups will be printed through the first week with a five by seven picture. During the second week with a wallet size picture and write-up giving less description and after the second week, just as an announcement. Wedding forms and pictures should be returned to "The Daily Reflector" one week prior to the date of the wedding. All information should be typed or written neatly.

Operation Santa Claus is near completion in Pitt County. Gifts must be in the Mental Health Association's collection points by Dec. 7.

Operation Santa Claus is a project of the Mental Health Association to provide Christmas gifts for patients in the state institutions serving eastern North Carolina.

D. A. Kelly, owner of Dak's on Evans Mall, has donated the vacant store next to Dak's, for the central collection point for all gifts from throughout the county. This building will be manned by volunteers from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday of next week. Morning deliveries to the building can be arranged, if necessary, also by calling the Mental Health Association office, 752-7448, and making an appointment.

Thad Eure Is Left In Charge

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Secretary of State Thad Eure says he's in charge of North Carolina this week.

While that statement is debatable, it's a fact that none of the state's three top elected officials are on hand to handle affairs. Gov. Jim Hunt is out of the state, and Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green and House Speaker Carl Stewart are out of the country.

Hunt left Thursday for a weekend in Atlanta at the Southern Growth Policies Board. He was installed as chairman Thursday.

Green is in the Middle East on a state-financed trip to attract industry and investment to North Carolina. Hunt said he asked Green to make the trip, his second to Arab countries this year.

And Stewart left last week for a two-week tour of the Soviet Union. He and an aide are paying their own expenses on the trip, which is with a group of legislators from other states.

"If anything were to happen to the governor or lieutenant governor today, I would immediately assume the mantle," Eure said.

Under state law, the president pro tem of the Senate is ahead of the secretary of state in line of succession, Eure said. But Sen. John Henley, D-Cumberland, wasn't in Raleigh either Thursday. He was at his drug store in Hope Mills, according to his secretary.

To add to the confusion, Eure said there is a provision in the state Constitution that says legislators are considered to have taken office upon election. Technically speaking, the offices of House speaker and Senate officer are vacant because the legislature hasn't yet convened to elect the officers.

"It's a most unusual situation. It's only happened once or twice before in my experience," said Eure, 79, who has held the office since 1936.

Symposium At Kinston

ECU News Bureau

KINSTON — A symposium for parents, grandparents and educators on literature for children will be offered Dec. 2 at St. Mary's Episcopal Church here.

The symposium will be directed by Nell Eutsler of the East Carolina University English faculty and Barbara Bremer, children's storyteller at Kinston's Plaza Branch Library. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Appearing on the program will be Ann Sullivan, elementary school librarian and storyteller, Joe Stines, children's librarian at the Kinston Public Library.

The symposium is free to all interested persons, and a nursery for small children will be provided. Some books will be available for purchase.

Has Organized A New Church

BELVOIR — Elder Gracie Bailey, a Simpson native, has organized a new church in the Belvoir area, the House of God Church.

The church is located one mile west of Belvoir Elementary School. The first service will be held Sunday at 11 a.m.

An afternoon service will be held at 3 o'clock, with Elder Mary Moore officiating.

Regular services will be held the first and third Sundays of each month, with Elder Bailey in charge. The public is invited.

New Highway Is Real Beauty

A new 11.4 mile segment of U. S. 64 was dedicated by Gov. Hunt this week.

The section stretches from Spring Hope to Nashville and it pushes the fully controlled access U. S. 64 ever onward toward Rocky Mount, Tarboro and perhaps further east.

The highway is a beauty. There are no grade crossings, and access is only by interchanges. The highway right-of-way is beautifully grassed and landscaped so that it enhances the country side rather than detracting from the rural nature of its environment.

The travel lanes are widely separated for safety, and there is enough right-of-way to allow for additional lanes if traffic ever justifies.

In 1980 contracts are expected to be let for the final leg of the super highway to Rocky Mount.

Needless to say the counties and towns along the route of the interstate type highway are delighted. It gives a good safe travel route for residents of the area. Far more important, perhaps, the major new highway offers a tremendous asset to the area in attracting industry and business expansion. Its value is incalculable in this regard.

Gov. Hunt called the new highway a key to the "diversified, vigorous and growing economy."

Interestingly this same week hearings were held at Saratoga and at Wellcome School on various routes for an improved U. S. 264.

Incredibly some spoke to deny the people of Pitt County, its municipalities and the East in general the huge economic and safety benefits of a fully controlled access highway.

Soon the Department of Transportation will decide on a location for U. S. 264. The decision should not be difficult. Taxpaying citizens bear the cost of building roads, and they should get the fully controlled access U. S. 264 which they deserve.

The United States Is Growing Older

The United States grows older.

There were about 5.5 million fewer persons under 17 in 1977 than in 1970, the Census Bureau reports. The under-5 population decreased by 11.2 percent during the period.

Over the next decade the aging population will have an effect on schools, retailing, choice of entertainment and our lifestyle in general.

We may be a more subdued nation until a new burst of births sends the youthful element of our population into an increase.

Inflation, A Way Of Life

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — No general wants to lose a battle. President Jimmy Carter doesn't want to be known as the man who created a recession.

What that means is simply this: inflation as a way of life will remain with us for a long time to come. That is the unsettling conclusion of a team of economists at North Carolina State University who recently took pause to analyze the state of the economy and share conclusions with a gathering of newsmen.

In performing the service, John Lapp, whose expertise is inflation; Doug Fisher who specializes in money and banking; and Tom Grennes, an international trade specialist, dispelled a lot of myths and cut through a lot of confusion.

Agreeing that economists often don't agree — hence the "dismal art" label — the economists did agree that on certain points 99 percent of today's savvy economists can agree:

— Carter's current voluntary effort can not succeed; and mandatory wage-price controls will fail even more dismally.

Supply-Demand

— The root cause of inflation is an oversupply of dollars being put into circulation by the federal government, outstripping production and thereby causing prices to soar. Everything else represents symptoms, not causes.

— To cut the printing press back will result in higher inflation and higher unemployment; politically unacceptable medicine for the disease at hand.

— Despite the unsavory effects of inflation, most people are keeping up with it by increased income, so the outlook remains positive for the "good life."

Want to join the war on inflation? Remember Gerald Ford's call to arms for citizens to Whip Inflation Now?

"It is clear that there is absolutely nothing the individual can do," Lapp said flatly. "It is a federal decision: cut the money supply, cut federal spending, cut inflation.

"But no President wants to precipitate the likely result — a recession."

"There is, however, no alternative. It can be done more slowly, but there is no cheap way to get out of it."

Actually, in addition to the fear of causing a recession, the federal government has another reason to find inflation politically more acceptable than cutting the money supply, the economists find:

...and the only way, say the economists:

The Federal Reserve Board could cut the money being sent to banks to be put into general circulation and to make loans; this would result in sharply higher interest rates and sharply lower spending throughout the economy. That would slow down the demand which is keeping prices high, and cause productivity to be cut. That results in unemployment. Inevitable, then, is a temporary slump; even a recession. The more the money supply is cut, the more serious the consequences. And it would take perhaps a year before the first effects are felt: four or five years to iron the whole thing out.

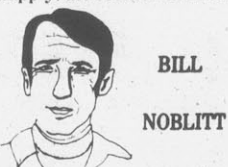

Why is this nation hard hit by inflation while our main trading partners in Japan, Germany and Switzerland enjoy no inflation, causing numerous other imbalances?

Because, say Lapp, Fisher and Grennes, those countries have clamped rigid controls on their money supplies.

While free to open or close the valves which control the money supply, government finds it beneficial to pay its bills with new, cheaper money. Inflation, then, is a hidden tax imposed upon the people without a vote of the Congress where accountability could be attached.

The Cure

Here, in sum, is how inflation could be brought to heel

Bidding For Dollar Share

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As budget time nears, a line will form outside the White House. Groups with one pet project or another will be bidding for a share of the federal dollar.

President Carter has said the budget will be tight, and the troubles facing the advocates of one relatively small program are a sample of what's to come.

The American Vocational Association says Joseph A. Califano Jr., secretary of health, education and welfare, wants to cut $180 million out of the $681 million currently budgeted for job training in agriculture, business, trade and the industrial arts.

The association is protesting the cut.

Saying the department will respond at the association's convention this weekend in Dallas, HEW undersecretary Hale Champion refused to discuss the 1980 budget.

But another department source, asking anonymity, says Califano wants to trim the funding for vocational education by at least $100 million.

Carter won't accept the association's invitation to say what he thinks about a cut.

The group offered him space in the January issue of its magazine to outline his reasoning — one way or the other. But an associate White House press secretary, Patricia Barrio, told Eugene Bottoms, executive director of the 55,000-member association, in a letter that "the demands upon the time of the president and his staff" make a response impossible.

She said Carter receives several hundred such requests a month.

Complaints about cuts in funding are likely to be echoed by other special interest groups as the president makes final decisions on what 1980 programs will get how much money. Carter has made it clear he's trying to cut the budget deficit.

That means some people aren't going to get as many federal dollars as they want. In some cases that could hold true regardless of what the president might have said about certain programs in the past.

THE UNRULY TONGUE

The story is told of Zanthus, an ancient Greek philosopher, who ordered his servant Aesop to prepare dinner for guests and to provide the best delicacies the market could supply.

So Aesop prepared tongues of all kinds — bird tongues, animal tongues, all served with different kinds of sauce. "Why so much tongue?" inquired Zanthus. Aesop replied, "Is there anything better than the instrument of praise and worship?"

The next day Zanthus ordered his servant to prepare a meal from the worst thing the market could supply. To his surprise, Zanthus was again presented with an assortment of tongues. When asked the reason for this selection Aesop replied, "Surely the tongue is the worst thing in the world. It is the instrument of strife, the organ of lies and blasphemy."

The tongue is both an organ of glory and an organ of shame. It depends on the mind that directs it.

All The News In China

WASHINGTON — Just when you think they have everything straightened out in China, somebody puts up a wall poster and throws all China-watchers into a tizzy.

Almost everyone I've met who has come back from China has praise for how well organized everything is and how disciplined the people are. But whether we want to admit it or not the People's Republic is still having an identity problem.

Other Editors Say Crimes Unchecked

(Washington Daily News)

All over North Carolina these days we are having one ugly serious crime after another. And we speak specifically of this crime of robbery.

We read that this small store has been robbed, this country service station robbed, or this rural grocery store robbed, or this outlying banking facility robbed or this person held up in a parking lot and robbed, or some other similar crime committed in a day when we are telling ourselves that it is an era of plenty.

If decent people cannot live in peace and decency, then things are more serious than we imagine. If in our own society we are unable to control such ugly crimes as they should be controlled, then we need to take another look. We need to think in terms of overhauling our criminal system and making some drastic improvements.

Just a few days ago some fellow held up Mrs. Hilda Bowen out at Acre's Station some 15 miles from Washington. It was not merely a holdup and robbery, but it almost was murder. Mrs. Bowen was shot by the robber, and she is lucky today to be alive.

Are we, the people, going to stand by and be indifferent to such incidents, or shall we stand together and say "this thing must stop?"

A suspect is in custody and is awaiting trial in jail. We do not say that he is guilty. That is a matter for a jury to do.

We are always deeply concerned when we see all the legal technicalities thrown into the path of justice today. This technicality or that technicality too often means that guilty people walk out free. It is time that we begin the slow process of eliminating all these so-called "legal technicalities" so that true justice can have its day.

When we go to court we must seek justice, or else justice remains too elusive. Justice is so often extremely difficult to come by under the most favorable circumstances. None of us wants to see innocent people punished and none of us wants to see guilty people escape. We look at all these robberies and we wonder how well our system of justice is dealing with them. Somehow we must not be doing the job that we need to do. If we were doing the needed job, we would be cutting down on the number and frequency of such crimes. We seem unable to do that.

Take the case of Lao Po. Lao Po has a house behind a wall. It is a perfect place for a poster and every morning when Lao Po wakes up he's afraid to go out and look at the wall.

A few months ago a poster had been stuck on his wall defaming the "Gang of Four" and singing the praises of Hua Kuo-feng, Mao's successor.

The people standing in front of Lao Po's house seemed satisfied and thanked Lao Po for bringing them such good news. Lao passed out rice wine to all the poster readers so they could toast Hua Kuo-feng, and at the same time revile the "Gang of Four" for disgracing the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung.

A few weeks later Lao Po sleepily opened his gate to see another poster on his wall. This one reviled Hua Kuo-feng as a secret ally of the "Gang of Four" and one of the masterminds behind the ouster of Defense Minister Peng Teh-huai.

What the poster failed to Analyze Cultist 'Type'

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON AP — Young people who join religious, spiritual or political cults are typically white, well-educated and from upper middle-class backgrounds, says a Harvard psychiatrist.

Dr. Robert P. Hopkins, an instructor at the Harvard Medical School, also writes in a recent edition of a psychiatry journal that research shows cult members are "generally from Jewish or liberal backgrounds, none typically from Roman Catholic or Evangelical Protestant backgrounds."

The edition of "Journal" containing the Hopkins article was published before the ritualistic mass murder-suicide this month involving more than 900 members of the Peoples Temple church commune at Jonestown, Guyana.

"Journal" is a publication of the National Association of Private Psychiatric Hospitals.

Hopkins said the cultists were people "who were retreating, into a safer, simpler kind of mini-world, which is created by the cult environment."

In another article in the same edition of "Journal," Dr. Margaret T. Singer, a psychiatric professor at The University of California in San Francisco, writes that cults have trouble recruiting lower-class young people.

"Lower-class youth in the United States, primarily, know there are no free dinners and no free meals," she writes.

"They can recognize a street hustle."

"Middle-and upper-class, young adults have not had enough experience with street hustlers in growing up to know how artful deceivers on the street can operate."

"Middle-and upper-class, young adults have not had enough experience with street hustlers in growing up to know how artful deceivers on the street can operate."

Ms. Singer said cults generally develop at times when society's values are changing. She estimates Ms. Singer said cults generally develop at times when society's values are changing. She estimated there are about 250 religious, racial, spiritual and political cults in the United States today.

40 Years Ago Today

December 1, 1938

Mayor M. K. Blount revealed today that a meeting of all bus operators whose lines operate in Greenville had been called for next Tuesday for the purpose of considering contracts for the location of a bus station.

In announcing the meeting, Mayor Blount pointed out the necessity of a bus terminal here and added that "it is certain that if the proper bus facilities are provided more people will use buses for travel and the gross receipts and net profits of the consenting companies will be greatly increased."

Therefore, he added, "Why not provide the public with the convenience and necessity?"

Balloons Worse Than Rabbits

By GAIL MICHAELS

Ask any mother in America what one toy should have never been invented, and the odds are ten to one that she'll say balloons.

A balloon serves no function except to frustrate. No parent has been fully initiated until she's been driving with the windows open down the interstate at 55 mph and has heard that blood-curdling shriek. "My balloon! Go back and GET it!"

Then there were the ones that just would not budge, period. I could blow on these for ten minutes, and the only thing that would expand was my cheeks. By the time I had worked on three of these, I had broken every blood vessel between my eyes and my chin. My face looked like a roadmap of metropolitan Atlanta.

Still, I was persistent. At the end of the evening I needed a face-lift, and I was so hyperventilated that I had to go to bed in a paper bag, but 80 balloons were sitting there ready for the next day's party.

But the balloon will survive. It has become an indispensable fixture in our children's lives and especially at birthday parties. I blew up two whole packages of party balloons. I'll have to admit, they fought it. I'd blow them up; they'd shoot out of my hands and raspberry twice around the room.

Or I'd get to the half-way point, then all the air would rush back into my throat, and I'd almost asphyxiate on my own breath.

Two weeks later there were still over 40 balloons in my kitchen alone.

"Why don't you get rid of them? I'm sick and tired of stumbling over them everywhere I go," Phillip said at breakfast.

"Believe me, I've tried. I've even been reduced to sticking pins in them, one by one, but Meg screamed as if I'd committed murder. I'm not so sure she's wrong."

Phillip raised one eyebrow over his coffee cup. "Pass that by me one more time."

"A week ago I carried them to Meg's school and gave all but ten away. Two days later, I counted 30."

"Gail..."

"It's true! I think they're breeding."

"That's ridiculous."

"It is not. Every time I open a closet, I find six more. And you'll notice they come in two shapes—round and oblong."

"So?"

"I think they're different sexes."

He got up from the table. "It's too early in the morning to listen to this. If you won't get rid of them, I will when I get home this afternoon."

I didn't have the heart to tell him that, while he was talking, the red one in the corner gave birth.

Vote Offer By Somoza

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Beleaguered President Anastasio Somoza says he is willing to ask the voters if they want him to quit, but that he won't step down until a separate election names a new president or ever leave the country. A key opposition leader called the offer a joke.

"The opposition has been trying to throw me out for a year and I decided the best way to solve this was by votes and not by bullets," Somoza said in a nationwide TV and radio broadcast Thursday night.

However, the president emphasized his proposed plebiscite would not determine his immediate resignation. Somoza said if he lost the vote there would then be a separate election with participation of all political parties to pick a constituent assembly which would choose his successor.

"At the moment the constituent assembly elects a president. I will hand over the support of invading U.S. Marines. Somoza earlier had vowed not to leave office until his term expires in 1981.

Nicaraguan people, the international press and the mediating commission," Alfonso Robelo, a member of the Broad Opposition Front's three-man negotiating team, said. "He is trying to gain all the time he can so President Carter forgets about human rights...so we forget about the brutalities of September. It is absurd."

The people reading the poster turned on Lao Po and said, "What in the name of Mao is going on?"

Lao Po nervously replied, "It is true that this poster is on my wall, but I am not responsible for the opinions expressed on it, though I am certain it wouldn't be here if it didn't have the full approval of the people who are in power."

"And who is in power?" one of the wall poster readers demanded.

"I wish I knew," said Lao Po, scurrying back into his house.

For nights Lao Po couldn't sleep. He kept peeking out his window hoping to see who was putting up another poster. But whoever did it managed to do so without being observed.

A week later there was a racket in front of the house. A new wall poster had proclaimed that Mao Tse-tung was personally responsible for many of China's political problems, and had collaborated with the "Gang of Four" to bring down Tao Chu and Peng Chen who had been disgraced during the Cultural Revolution.

Lao Po refused to open the gate as the wall poster readers shouted at him. "Are you trying to tell us Mao is 'out'?" someone yelled.

"Please," Lao Po pleaded. "I have nothing to do with what is posted on my wall. I am sorry I own a wall. If anyone wants it, they can have it."

"You can't get out of your responsibility that easily," a peasant doctor yelled. "If Mao is not the father of us all, then who is?"

"It should be on a poster next week," Lao Po said. "It better be," a schoolteacher said, "or we're canceling our subscription to your wall."

Last week a poster went up announcing Party Chairman Hua was a noodle. Mao was a won ton leader and Vice-Premier Teng Hsiao-ping had been elected Grand Marshal of Peking's Rose Bowl Parade.

It was too much for Lao Po's wall readers to take. They went into his house and thrashed him within an inch of his life. When the police asked why they had done it, the reply was, "You couldn't walk past Lao Po's house without his giving you some kind of bad news."

Arrest Man On Charges Of Rape Urges Southern Leaders Cool Rivalry

Greenville Police Chief Glenn Cannon reported this morning that Stephen Thomas Heblinger, 23 of Hillcrest Trailer Pk., was arrested last night on charges of rape, following investigation of an incident that allegedly occurred between 12 a.m. and 1 a.m. yesterday.

Cannon said the incident was reported to police about 8:30 p.m. by the alleged victim, a 20-year-old East Carolina University co-ed.

The chief quoted the victim as saying she had given Heblinger, a fellow employee, a ride home after work, about midnight Wednesday. She said she went into Heblinger's trailer, where she joined him in smoking marijuana for a brief period. When she started to leave, she was struck on the head twice and was stunned by the blows.

According to Cannon, Heblinger then allegedly took the young woman to the bedroom, where he tied her wrists and ankles to the bed, then raped her.

The victim, the chief said, left the trailer about 12:40 and returned to her home, then went to the hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises to her wrists and head.

She returned to work for just over three hours around noon yesterday. Cannon quoted the victim as saying, then went back to the hospital where she told doctors she had been raped. After leaving the hospital, the victim went to the Police Department where she reported the alleged attack, the chief explained.

Science Class Demonstration

A science class at Wellcome Middle School were presented a lesson on flower arranging in conjunction with classwork focused on flowers and plants. Mrs. Pat Rogers' sixth grade class was visited by Mrs. Ann Montgomery and Mrs. Shirley Russell on Thursday, November 30.

The women showed pictures of various types of plants and flowers, giving the characteristics and guides for care. In the lesson unit, the class had studied the parts of a flower and the functions.

Investigating Store Break-In

Investigation is continuing today into a break-in at Harris' Supermarket on North Greene Street which was reported yesterday. Chief Glenn Cannon said.

According to the chief, thieves gained entrance to the building through the roof, and took five hams, valued at about $100.

Rev. Parker To Speak Sunday

The Rev. Le Norris Parker, a native of Greenville and a student of Disciple Institute, will speak at the 11 a.m. service at Philippi Church of Christ, Sunday, Dec. 3.

The Rev. Parker is sponsored by Atlantic Christian College. He will be accompanied by the Clemons, Grove choir, ushers and members. The public is invited to attend.

ATLANTA (AP) — Southern leaders should "dampen the heat and emotion" of the South's economic rivalry with Northern and Midwestern states for the sake of "national objectives," according to federal budget director James McIntyre.

"We must work to resolve any regional issues which separate us," he said.

McIntyre made the comments in a speech prepared for today's session of the Southern Growth Policies Board's annual meeting.

Prolonged debate about the Sun Belt-Snow Belt battle for federal funds "can be divisive and thwart both regional and state policy and national objectives," McIntyre said.

"Federal programs are targeted to meet certain national needs," he said. "Making particular adjustments to allocation formulas merely to satisfy a particular state or region can be risky if done indiscriminately and arbitrarily for the sole purpose of promoting the interests of certain sections or factions."

The real problem, he said, is "assuring that federal funds are equitably allocated to those areas where they can be most effectively spent to meet national goals."

Georgia Gov. George Busbee, outgoing chairman of the Southern Growth Policies Board, told the group Thursday that Southerners should initiate their own proposals for federal policies and funding formulas rather than reacting defensively to the proposals of others.

hold the key to the South's future growth.

"The arena of international trade offers an unparalleled opportunity to create jobs for the South, to provide the capital we need for expansion and to stimulate our overall economic vitality," he said.

North Carolina Gov. James Hunt succeeds Busbee as chairman of the group.

Series Of 6 Accidents In Greenville Thursday

More than $6,800 property damage resulted from a series of six traffic collisions investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Heaviest damage, according to investigators, resulted from a 5:15 p.m. mishap on Dickinson Avenue, 20 feet West of the Raleigh Avenue intersection involving cars driven by Rose Anne Smith of Route 6, Greenville, Michael Redman of 201 Mumford Rd., and Edward Ardell Barnette of 607 West Fourth St.

Damage was estimated at $300 each to the Smith and Redman cars and $1,500 to the Barnette auto.

A 5:25 p.m. collision at the intersection of Evans and 11th Streets involved cars operated by Katherine Dunn Holt of 130 Longmeadow Rd., Mary Heath Toler of Winterville, and Fred Garland Hall of Ayden.

8, Greenville, about 2:54 p.m. on Longmeadow Road, 250 feet North of the Orton Drive intersection.

Police, who reported none of the 41 students on the bus were injured, said no damage resulted to the city schools vehicle.

An estimated $500 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 10:28 a.m. mishap on Greenville Boulevard, 50 feet West of the Arlington Boulevard intersection.

Police identified the drivers involved as Bryant Bennett Tripp of Route 2, Vanceboro and Annise Roberts of Jacksonville.

An estimated $300 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 5:25 p.m. collision at the intersection of Elm and Fifth Streets, according to officers.

Drivers of the cars were listed as Shannon Darlene Daniels of Selma and Kathy Lynn Anderson of River Bluff Apts.

Okay Role In Program

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — The Nash-Edgecombe-Wilson county area has been approved for participation in a federal welfare reform program that could provide up to $36 million for 2,000 jobs over the next two years.

North Carolina is one of 15 states participating in the program, and the tri-county area is the only site in North Carolina approved for funding.

The program is part of President Carter's Economic Opportunities Pilot Project which is designed to provide better jobs and income to breadwinners who need assistance.

Eva Clayton, assistant secretary of Natural Resources and Community Development, said the program is aimed at putting welfare recipients to work, but that others would also be included.

Larry G. Owen, director of the Total Employment Program in the state, said applicants would be tested to determine suitability for jobs. They must have lived in their county for three months and be willing to spend five to eight weeks being tested.

He said program participants will be eligible for stipends before they find jobs.

A total of $250,000 has been set aside for the nine-month planning phase in the three-county area, Owen said. The program could be kicked off by Oct. 1, 1979, the start of the 1980 fiscal year, he said.

All-Time Mark For Grape Crush

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The 1978 grape crush for wine in California will go down as an all-time record, up 6.8 percent over the previous year, says John De Luca, president of Wine Institute, the trade association of California's wine growers. "The crush will come to approximately 2,495 million tons, up from 2,335 million last year," De Luca said. "Also reports on the quality of this year's vintage indicate that it's excellent."

Shell Oil Co. Begins Rationing Of Gasoline

By WILLIAM GLASGALL, AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Shell Oil Co., the nation's largest marketer of gasoline, today began reducing by one-fourth the amount of all grades of gasoline shipped to dealers. It said the pinch might last through "the end of December or the early part of January."

Shell spokesman Norman Altstetter said the company has shipped dealers covers for their gasoline pumps that state: "Temporarily Closed."

Under the rationing program, Shell stations will receive 75 percent of their December 1977 shipments, or 75 percent of a figure based on December 1972 volume, if that figure is greater.

According to the American Petroleum Institute, the nation's gasoline supplies as of Nov. 24 totaled 9.1 billion gallons, 13 percent below what was on hand at this time last year, although production had risen 5 percent in the week.

Shell attributed the shortage in part to a "dramatic increase in demand." It also blamed the shortage on maintenance shutdowns at two refineries, which have cut Shell's unleaded gasoline output by 15 percent.

Typically, driving falls off after Labor Day as vacations end and as winter weather begins to discourage travel plans. But this year, "demand for Shell gasoline has not only failed to taper off, but has actually increased to record levels," said Altstetter.

"Demand has just exceeded supply," he said. "We're even buying" gasoline from other suppliers.

Shell, the first major oil company to announce a nationwide rationing plan, began cutting back on shipments of unleaded gasoline to dealers in the Northeast earlier this month. Several other large oil companies have said they also have been affected by the gasoline crunch.

Maurice Granville, chairman of Texaco Inc., said Thursday his company's gasoline supplies are "extremely tight nationally."

"Inventories are low for all gasoline," Granville told a Chicago news conference. "The problem is that demand in various regions is somewhat higher than anticipated."

In addition, Mobil Corp. and Standard Oil Company of Indiana (Amoco) also have encountered shortages, especially of the unleaded gasoline required for most new cars.

Unwanted At Miniconvention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abortion and gay rights could become hot topics at next week's Democratic miniconvention in Memphis despite efforts by the party's resolutions committee to side-step such sensitive topics.

Dissident liberals say they will fight for a broader discussion of issues through petition campaigns and street demonstrations, if necessary. Resolutions approved by the committee Thursday included a general endorsement of increased civil rights, backing for the Equal Rights Amendment and support for a new Department of Education.

All Escape Night Fire

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Fire destroyed the old Bavarian Apartments on W. 4th St. early today, but firemen said all 55 residents of the building managed to escape.

Twenty-two persons were treated at the scene for minor injuries, and three were treated at area hospitals for smoke inhalation and burns.

One person suffered serious burns, according to fire marshal Norman Hastings.

Residents who heard the alarm go off about 3:30 a.m. ran from room to room to awaken other people living in the building. One unidentified man said he had jumped from a second-story window to escape the flames.

Firemen used ladders to help the residents escape.

Manager Ronald Scott said the fire began around the front door and had spread to the roof by 5 a.m.

The five-story building was constructed in the early 1900s. In the 1920s, it housed a Walker shoe factory. Since the 30s, it has been used as a motel and apartment building under various names.

In the past year, the fire alarm has gone off about once a week, but residents said no fire was ever found after the previous alarms.

Await Sentence In GSA Fraud

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Washington contractors are awaiting sentencing after pleading guilty to defrauding the government of $1.9 million through contracts awarded by the scandal-plagued General Services Administration.

Pleading guilty to fraud charges Thursday were Carmen O'Connor of Levcon Construction Co. and John P. Rudell of Tuxedo Contractors Inc. Federal prosecutors said the contractors overcharged the government for painting and maintenance work and then paid kickbacks to GSA employees who awarded the contracts.

The two contractors could receive up to five years in prison and a maximum $10,000 fine. No date for sentencing was set.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day and evening to organize your forces so that you make more progress toward financial security. Take time out to get a more practical angle on your present position in the world.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contacting bigwigs you know can now help you to become more successful. Get credit in better condition. A social affair you attend in the evening can bring great pleasure.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You get fine new ideas for advancement and should put them in operation quickly. Make new contacts with persons from different countries and be better informed.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Meet with those who could improve your career standing. Situations arise that will help you to become more respected, popular.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan how to be more amiable with friends and gain their goodwill. Be willing to reconcile where feasible. Show that you are able to please the public, gain prestige.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get into all those fundamental matters and they are soon behind you efficiently. Improve health in some way, also. Avoid one who has an insulting tongue and be happier.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out to recreations that relieve tensions and you can regain happiness. Plan how to make loved ones happier. Don't be a nagger.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Improve conditions at home as best as you can. Some new interest you have should be studied well. Be careful of details.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are now able to find the data you require that has been difficult to do before this. Plan time to see persons you like. Avoid that temptation to spend too much money.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study monetary affairs well and know where you stand, how to improve. Think big if you want to get big. Don't neglect necessary shopping.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You understand how to attain what you most need, so go after it. Attend a social function where you can meet many friends. Show that you are an excellent conversationalist.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get rid of those personal worries and then you can accomplish a great deal. An adviser can help you with some big problem you may have.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Contacting your best friend and working together to gain a mutual goal is wise today. Later, get together with other friends and have a fun time. Spend only within your means.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be of a most practical nature and would do fine in such fields as business, construction, and civic lines so be sure to give as much education as your progeny desires for best results throughout the lifetime. Teach early to reconcile with others and not to hold grudges.

Revival Series Begins Sunday

The Grindle Creek Church of God will sponsor a revival beginning Sunday, Dec. 3, featuring evangelist the Rev. John Banks from Mount Holly.

Services will begin each evening at 7:30, however, the Sunday services will begin at 7 p.m. Special singing will be featured each night with free nursery services provided. The Rev. Henry Wrenn, pastor, invites the public to attend.

Elected At N.C. Meet

ECU News Bureau

Robert M. Ussery, Director of Institutional Research at East Carolina University, is the new president-elect of the North Carolina Association for Institutional Research.

He was elected recently at the sixth annual NCAIR meeting in Charlotte. The event drew 70 institutional research representatives from public and private campuses in North Carolina and surrounding states. Ussery was also recognized for his role in founding the organization in 1972, and for outstanding service since then.

The purpose of the Association is to provide professional development and interchange of ideas on problems related to preparation, analysis and evaluation of data for post-secondary educational institutions.

Ussery joined the ECU staff in 1969, after previously serving with the Kinston City school system. He is an alumnus of East Carolina University.

Bucs Get First Road Test Vs. W&M

East Carolina University's basketball Pirates, with two straight season-opening wins behind them, take to the road Saturday night to face William & Mary in Williamsburg. Game time is 8 p.m. in William & Mary Hall. The Pirates will be trying to win their third game of the young year against no defeats, while William & Mary will be trying to bounce back from their first loss of the year, suffered Wednesday night. The Indians opened the season with an 86-64 romp over Delaware Valley, and followed that up with a 66-54 win over Christopher Newport. Wednesday, however, in their first road trip, the Indians ran afoul of West Virginia, losing in a slowdown game, 45-39.

Billy Harrington, a 6-1 guard, has been the leader for the Indians so far, hitting 21 points in the opener, and adding 20 more in the second game.

Tim Wagner, 6-5; Scott Whitley, 6-5; and Ken Bowen, 6-9, were also double figure scorers in the first game of the year.

Through the first two games, Harrington led the team with 20.5 points, while Wagner was hitting 10.0, Whitley, 16.0 and Bowen 13.5.

Both Harrington and Wagner led in rebounding with six a game.

"Harrington is a solid senior, and we'll have to contain him," Pirate coach Larry Gillman said. "You can be sure that they'll be very patient and intelligent and basic in their play. We'll have to do those kind of things too, but it should be a good game for us since we'll be on the road against a team like William & Mary that won't beat itself."

Gillman added that the Pirates would learn a lot about themselves in the game, just as the Indians learned a lot about themselves against West Virginia.

"I don't think that they'll try to run with us," Gillman said, "but I don't think they'll let all the air out of the ball either. They'll just try to be patient and get their very best shot and try to make us sustain our defense until we break down for them."

"But they have to worry about the things we do too. They're going to have to keep (Greg) Cornelius, (Al) Tyson, (Clarence) Miles and (Frank) Hobson off the boards. And they are going to have to contend with (Oliver) Mack."

"Everyone has the feeling that we're together now, and I think Mack may be ready to turn it loose, and when he does, no one can stop him. So they have to fear us a little, anyway."

"We just have to do the things we do best: board, get our running game going, and play aggressive defense."

Mack leads the Pirates into the game with a 19.5 average, while freshman Miles is second with a 13.0 mark. Junior guard George Maynor is hitting 12.5 per game, while Cornelius has a 12.0 average and Tyson is at 10.0.

Cornelius and Tyson are the leading rebounders at 8.0 and 9.0, respectively.

Following the Indian game, the Pirates begin a long road trip that takes them to Tennessee and Florida. Tuesday night, they'll meet the University of Tennessee in Knoxville, then travel on to Deland, Florida to compete in the Hatter Classic. The Pirates will face Larry Byrd and Indiana State in the opening round, while hosting Stetson faces Cleveland State in the other first round game on Friday. The finals and consolations will be played on Saturday night.

The Bucs then return home on December 12 to close out the December home slate against Lynchburg.

"It sure would be nice to start that long trip with another win. Taking a 3-0 record into the Tennessee game would be a big help for us," Gillman said.

Southern Cal Makes Noises As Second Los Angeles Powerhouse

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

There's some terrific college basketball being played these days in Los Angeles.

And guess what? UCLA isn't the only team that's playing it. Southern Cal, long a second-class citizen in town while UCLA's mighty Bruins ruled through the years, certainly appears to be a first-class outfit this season.

The Trojans looked every bit as good as their 12th-ranked national standing Thursday night as they opened their season with an 88-80 victory over the tough Houston Cougars.

"We played about as hard as we could," said Houston Coach Guy Lewis. "USC has an outstanding team with lots of talent and it's certainly no disgrace to lose to them. Their players came through with some great games."

Rams Bow In Opener

DEEP RUN — South Lenoir High School handed Greene Central a pair of losses as the Rams opened the 1978-79 basketball season last night.

South Lenoir took a 48-41 win in the boys' game, and added a 52-29 romp in the girls' contest. Greene Central did salvage a win in the junior varsity game, 58-53.

In the girls' game, South Lenoir broke away to take a 15-4 lead by the end of the first period. That was extended to 30-11 by halftime.

South Lenoir continued to pull away in the third period, moving its lead to 44-24. They outthrew the Lady Rams, 8-5, in the final period.

Katrina Foy led South Lenoir with 13 points, while Phyllis Boyette and Sandra Suggs each had 11. Iris Prigden led Greene Central with 10.

Greene Central gained the early lead in the boys' game, but was unable to hold to it. The Rams took a 14-8 lead after one period and outthrew their hosts, 12-11, in the second frame for a 26-19 halftime lead.

But South Lenoir took control in the third period, outscoring the Rams, 14-8, to cut the lead to 34-33. In the final quarter, Lenoir outthrew the Rams, 15-7, to win the game.

Larry Cannady led South Lenoir with 14, while Rick Brown added 12 and Clifton Whitfield had 10. Calvin Super and James Best each had 10 for Greene Central.

The Rams play host to Southwest Edgecombe tonight.

Television Coverage Set

WITN-TV in Washington has gained television rights to telecast the Independence Bowl game between East Carolina and Louisiana Tech.

The game will be played December 16 at Shreveport, La. Paul Oughton, vice-president for operations, said that Channel 7 would produce the live telecast of the game itself, using its own mobile production unit.

"We will have three cameras in operation," Oughton said. Two of those will be placed in or on the press box, while the other will be used on the sidelines.

"We will also be using a new piece of equipment for the first time in this game," Oughton said. "It's a one-inch video tape machine, which will allow us to do slow-motion replays. This unit has just been purchased."

Oughton said that one additional station, WRAL-TV, Channel Five, in Raleigh, had signed on to carry the game. "We are talking with other stations in North Carolina, Georgia and Louisiana about carrying the game also," he added. "No one in Virginia has expressed interest, however, and it appears that no one in Virginia will carry it, despite the fact that 11 players on the ECU team come from the Tidewater area."

He said that the network should be firmed up by sometime next week.

The game will be telecast at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, December 16. Dick Jones, WITN-TV Sports Director, and Ken Strayhorn, assistant sports director, will handle the action.

Tickets for the game have been placed on sale at the ECU ticket office. They are $7 with a $3.50 price for students.

Lady Pirates Fall To State

RALEIGH — Nationally second-ranked N.C. State glided past East Carolina in women's basketball Thursday night, 106-74, in Reynolds Coliseum.

The Wolfpack's all-America center, 6-2 Genia Beasley, collected a game-high 26 points, hitting on 10 of 15 shots from the floor and six or seven free throws. The Benson native was also top rebounder with 14.

Guard Gale Kerbaugh of the Pirates, now 0-2, topped the scoring for the visitors with 19, while playing the entire 40 minutes, as did forward Lynn Emerson. Emerson netted 18 points.

East Carolina scored on its first possession, but led only briefly. The taller Wolfpack cleaned both boards effectively, outrebounding the Pirates, 57-25, for the game.

"On the boards, they totally dominated us," said Pirate coach Cathy Andruzzi. "But we made the effort."

"If we hadn't gotten in foul trouble, it would have been a closer game. Our players are gutsy kids though and didn't give up."

The Pirates have their home opener Saturday at 7 p.m. against Duke in Minges Coliseum.

East Carolina: Thompson 12, Emerson 18, Green 6, Kerbaugh 17, Rountree 8, Ross 4, Barnes, Howell 3, Sully 4.
N.C. State: Lauding 19, Lacey 12, Beasley 26, Earnhardt 7, Rogers 2, Doty 4, Owen 8, Parker 2, Coffey 2, Frazier 2.

Tide Must Win Alabama Title

By The Associated Press

If Bear Bryant wants to win the national championship, he'll have to win the championship of Alabama first.

That, of course, will be decided Saturday when his Crimson Tide plays Auburn in their annual uncivil war.

"I don't think there's any doubt that both teams will be ready mentally," says Bryant. "It will be a typical game with great emotion on both sides."

Not only local pride, but an important bowl game is at stake. With a victory Saturday, Bryant's second-ranked Tide can gain a Sugar Bowl berth opposite top-ranked Penn State in a dream game in New Orleans Jan. 1 for the national championship.

A loss or a tie for Alabama would allow the 11th-ranked Georgia Bulldogs to win the Sugar Bowl berth as the Southeastern Conference representative, despite what they do against Georgia Tech

Saturday.

Alabama is hotter than its arch-rival, having won nine straight games after an opening-game loss to Southern-Cal. Auburn has won six and tied one of 10 games.

"Auburn is a big, strong physical team that is capable of controlling the line of scrimmage offensively and defensively," said Bryant. "They're also one of the best defensive teams in the conference against the run and they have a great set of backs."

Auburn Coach Doug Barfield has equal respect for Alabama. "For us to win," he said, "we'd have to play our best football on defense, make them really work for what they get. We'd have to move the ball well, complete more passes. And our kicking game would have to neutralize theirs."

Another bowl berth will be decided Saturday when ninth-ranked Houston plays Rice. The Cougars can gain a place in the Cotton Bowl with a victory over Rice, one of the weaker teams in the Southwest Conference.

Texas Tech has an outside shot at the Cotton Bowl but it would take an unlikely set of circumstances to do it. The Red Raiders would have to beat eighth-ranked Arkansas while Rice was upsetting Houston.

Meanwhile, Rose Bowl-bound Southern Cal, the nation's third-ranked team, will play the University of Hawaii Saturday in a tuneup for its Jan. 1 game in Pasadena with Michigan.

Elsewhere, Army meets Navy in Philadelphia in a continuation of one of college football's most storied rivalries. More than 100,000 fans at JFK Stadium — plus a national television audience of millions more — are expected to watch the contest between the service academies.

In a game tonight, No. 14 Texas plays Texas A&M in another historic rivalry. Sun Bowl-bound Texas is a 7-point favorite at Memorial Stadium at Austin, which expects its usual sellout house of 79,800.

What's right with the Kansas City Kings and what's wrong with the Denver Nuggets?

With about one-quarter of the season gone in the National Basketball Association, the Kings, who finished in a tie for fifth place in the Midwest Division last season, have to be considered the league's most pleasant surprise while the Nuggets, defending Midwest champions, have to be rated as one of the biggest disappointments.

The revitalized Kings improved their record to 12-8 Thursday night, beating the floundering Boston Celtics 108-94 and increased their Midwest lead to 3½ games over slumping Denver. The Nuggets lost a 111-105 decision to the New Orleans Jazz, their ninth setback in 10 games, dropping their overall record to 10-13.

In other NBA games, the Portland Trail Blazers edged the Cleveland Cavaliers 98-97, the Phoenix Suns overcame the Detroit Pistons 119-109, the Atlanta Hawks outlasted the New York Knicks 102-96 in overtime and the Houston Rockets downed the San Diego Clippers 113-104.

The Kings' reserves helped break open the game, keying a 28-12 spurt that began late in the third quarter and ended with Kansas City leading 89-73 with 7:18 left in the game. Ford added 16 points for Kansas City while Boston's Billy Knight led all scorers with 22 points.

Jazz 111, Nuggets 105
New Orleans built a 19-point first-half lead, then withstood a second-half Denver comeback in beating the Nuggets.

Pete Maravich paced the Jazz with 28 points and James McElroy scored 20. David Thompson and Charlie Scott each had 22 points for the Nuggets.

Trail Blazers 98, Cavaliers 97
Maurice Lucas' two free throws with nine seconds remaining provided Portland's winning margin over the Cavs, who had led until the final three minutes, at one time holding a 13-point advantage. Lucas topped the Trail Blazers with 23 points while Austin Carr paced Cleveland with 24.

Suns 119, Pistons 109
Paul Westphal scored 21 points in the second half, Walter Davis contributed 20 and Alvan Adams collected 15 as Phoenix rallied from a 17-point halftime deficit and overtook Detroit. Westphal finished with 29 points, Davis had 26 and Adams tallied 21. Rookie Terry Tyler led Detroit with 20.

Hawks 102, Knicks 96, OT
Eddie Johnson's layup with 1:07 left in overtime broke a 96-96 tie, then Atlanta added the final four points on free throws in handing the Knicks their third loss in three nights. Johnson and Dan Roundfield scored 19 points apiece for the Hawks. Roundfield getting 17 in the final 14 minutes. Toby Knight was high for New York with 19, one more than Earl Monroe.

Rockets 113, Clippers 104
Calvin Murphy scored 16 of his game-high 29 points in the

Conley Tops Rose Matmen

D.H. Conley rolled up his first victory of the young wrestling season last night, handing Rose High School its second straight defeat, 41-26.

The Vikings jumped off into the lead by winning the first six weight classes. They finished up by winning three of the remaining seven.

Conley took two wins by forfeits, as did Rose, while the Vikes took three by pins. Rose won two by pins. One match ended in a draw.

The win left Conley with a 1-0 record, while Rose slipped to 0-2. The Vikes play host to East Carteret on Monday, while Rose travels to Wilson Hunt on Tuesday.

Summary:

98. Greg Toler (C) won by forfeit.
105. Gary Harris (C) decisioned Ricky Warren, 8-2.
112. Shannon Carson (C) decisioned David Purvis, 11-4.
119. Donald Tardy (C) decisioned James Staton, 7-4.
126. Alexander Crandall (C) pinned Wayne Joyner, 1:09.
132. Robert Carney (C) pinned Jeff Atkinson, 3:59.
138. Jeff Jefferson (R) pinned David Carney, 3:49.
145. Alan Best (R) pinned Jesse Carmon, 5:31.
155. William Small (C) drew with Alfreed O'Neil, 7-7.
167. Earl Pique (C) pinned Randy McGowan, 3:16.
185. Stuart Ward (R) won by forfeit.
195. James Carter (C) won by forfeit.
Heavyweight: Ron Butler (R) won by forfeit.

At the age of 40, in 1927, Grover Cleveland Alexander was 21 games for the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Pirates of East Carolina University get their first true test of the year tomorrow night when they meet William & Mary in Williamsburg.

It's a two-way test in a way. It will be the first road game of the year, and the first against tougher competition than the first two games.

The Indians lost their first game Wednesday night, bowing to West Virginia, 45-39, in a slow-down game. The Pirates can probably look forward to the same type of contest.

So it will also be a test of the patience of the fairly young team.

Coach Larry Gillman will probably stick with this starting lineup of Greg Cornelius at center; Frank Hobson and Herb Gray at forwards, with Oliver Mack and George Maynor at the guards.

But you can be certain that 6-11 Al Tyson and forward Clarence Miles, both freshmen, are going to see a lot of action. Both are double figure scorers through the first two games.

Should the Pirates manage to make it three in a row in Williamsburg, they will have a good deal of momentum going into next week's games. And those will be a solid test in every meaning of the words.

Tuesday, the Pirates will be at Tennessee. The Vols won their first game against Biscayne, but only by 72-68, on their home court. Saturday night, they'll get a rough outing, traveling to meet number five ranked Louisville.

How prepared they will be for the Pirates after that is uncertain, and it could offer an opportunity for the Bucs to stop a "name" team.

Then, it will be on to Florida for the Hatter Classic. The Pirates are scheduled to meet Indiana State, with All-final period and Rick Barry collected 27 points, sparking Houston's victory over San Diego. Nick Weatherspoon led the Clippers with 22 points and rookie Freeman Williams had a pro career high of 19.

The Big Four Tournament Is BIG

Short Snooze

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — To say the Big Four basketball tournament isn't big would be as absurd as saying the Eiffel Tower isn't tall.

Sure the games don't count in the regular-season standings. And perhaps it's still too early to get an accurate indication of the teams' true grit.

Briefs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tom Watson has been named Male Player of the Year for the second straight year by the Golf Writers Association of America and rookie sensation Nancy Lopez has been picked as Lady Golfer of the Year.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have retained 29-year-old Gene Dusan as manager of their top minor league affiliate, the Tacoma Tugs of the Pacific Coast League.

The Indians also said Thursday that Fred Gladding, 42, had been hired as Tacoma pitching coach. Gladding had been pitching coach for the Detroit Tigers for the past three years.

But, like it or not, the Big Four tournament is BIG.

"It's neighborhood stuff, for bragging rights, and all those things that mean something," said Norm Sloan, whose sixth-ranked North Carolina State team plays No. 1 ranked Duke in the opening-round headliner tonight at 9 in Greensboro's Coliseum.

Everybody is driven by a relentless will to win for two harried nights, before capacity crowds of 15,564 per evening.

The tournament begins at 7 p.m. with 14th-ranked North Carolina and Wake Forest fighting, followed by Duke and State Saturday, the games will be televised regionally. The first night losers play at 7 with the opening round victors shooting for the title at 9.

And, as Sloan puts it, the real pressure will be in the consolation game. "Nobody wants to come out 0-2."

Duke, runnerup to Kentucky for the national championship last spring, has never won the Big Four meet. The Blue Devils are 2-0, having blasted Western Kentucky and squeezed past Southern Methodist.

North Carolina State got off to a strong start by beating Texas A&M, Pepperdine and Louisville, ranked fourth at the time. The Wolfpack also won the Sea Wolf Classic last weekend in Anchorage, Alaska.

North Carolina and Wake Forest have played only one game each. The Tar Heels whipped Northwestern 97-67 Wednesday night in their first outing and Wake Forest edged Jacksonville University, 70-68 last Friday night.

The Big Four has had its share of surprises, but North Carolina beat N.C. State 87-82 for the title a year ago. The Tar Heels went on to win the ACC regular-season championship. Duke, which lost 79-66 to N.C. State in the opening round, finished third by beating Wake Forest 97-84.

Duke is rugged on the boards, with a front line of 6-11 Mike Gminski, a 6-5 Gene Banks and 6-7 Kenny Dennard.

Guard Clyde Austin of N.C. State was named most valuable player in the tournament in Alaska, where the Pack displayed strong depth. Wake is young, with two freshmen — Jim Johnstone and Alvis Rogers — set to start.

Tiger Matmen Lack Experience

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer

If experience is a prerequisite for winning wrestling matches, Williamston mat coach Harold Robinson can forget about this season. He only has three grapplers with any experience.

But Robinson feels his team can win some matches despite its youth. "It's just going to be a matter of how quickly they can learn," he said. "They're learning quick and seem to have a lot of enthusiasm in practice. I think once they get some matches under their belts, they'll be all right."

"It's just going to be how well these young kids come around and find out what it's all about. It might take them until mid-way in the season. They're not going to set the world on fire, but they're not going to back off from anybody either."

The Tigers have two wrestlers that have a good deal of experience, senior Terry Gainer at 132 and junior Milton Peele at 145.

Gainer, a fourth-year man, has good quickness and strength. "He's a smart kid and he loves to wrestle. He likes to practice and is eager to learn," Robinson said. "He's going to do well for himself."

Peele is also quick and strong, and like Gainer, he loves the sport. He is in his third season. Both these two were runners-up in the conference last season.

The only other Williamston wrestler with any real experience is sophomore Richard Rogers at 126. "He's not the strongest kid in the world, but he uses his head and keeps himself in good shape," according to his coach.

After those top three, it's just a matter of gaining some experience. In the remaining nine weight classes (the Tigers won't field a heavyweight), there are four freshmen and three first-year sophomores among the starters. Only Senior Rudolph Cotfield at 155 was on the team last year. He's expected to do much better.

The freshmen are Bryan Purvis at 98, John Corey at 105, Matthew Brown at 112 and Willie Beach at 119. Also at 119 is junior Davod Ocam, a transfer from Michigan who has wrestled before.

Sophomore Harry Beach and first-year senior David Griffin will battle for the 138 spot, while sophomore Calvin Mobley and freshman Vincent Rogers are both at 165.

Rounding out the team are first-year senior Lindburgh White at 185 and sophomore Tyrone Perry at 195.

Robinson said Plymouth is the team to beat in the Northeastern Conference this season. "Plymouth is going to be the strongest team in our conference without question," he said.

Behind the Vikings, Edenton and Washington should be battling for second place, with Williamston possibly making a run there.

"We should finish behind those guys, but I'd like to think we can do as well as the other people. To be realistic, we can't finish first, but we can give them a run for their money for second or third."

Crackdown In Peking For 'Excessive Democracy'

Citizenship Is Next Big Step

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Tiny Jessica Katz is in her new home today, and she and her family at last are on their way to becoming Americans, a prospect deemed almost unbelievable by her Russian father.

"It's going to take a long time before I realize I am an American," said Boris Katz.

The Katz family, including 13-month-old Jessica and 11-day-old Gabriella, landed in Boston Thursday, climaxing a three-year struggle to emigrate from the Soviet Union.

And already, the responsibilities of starting over in a new world are taking hold.

"We plan to live with my mother until we find a house here in Boston," Katz said. "At present, I'm a computer programmer, and I hope to find work here very soon. I know nothing yet, but I hope I'm able to find work."

A spokesman for the Combined Jewish Philanthropies said a social worker would help settle the family and find a job for Katz.

"They've got to settle down to everyday living once the cameras are gone," the spokesman said.

Katz and his wife, Natalia, worked as computer engineers in Russia. When they first applied for permission to leave, Soviet authorities balked, claiming they had handled classified information.

But Jessica was ill, born with a stomach disorder Russian doctors appeared unable to treat. The infant's plight became news, and eventually triggered the family's exodus.

Jessica became known as the "littlest refusenik," after other Jews who were refused permission to leave the Soviet Union. Americans touring the Soviet Union brought containers of a special predigested milk for Jessica.

TOKYO (AP) — A gathering of 2,000 rebellious youths in Peking's biggest square broke up in disunity as the Chinese Communist leadership cracked down on what it called "excessive democracy."

At the same time, a wall poster surfaced praising the late Chairman Mao-Tse-tung as "a modern Lenin" and warning that Mao's critics were courting trouble. The Asian Wall Street Journal said Peking authorities were banning mass rallies to preserve order.

Japanese correspondents in the Chinese capital reported that in spite of this, a number of other posters were seen which resisted Senior Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-Ping's call to halt personal attacks on Mao and emphasize stability and unity instead.

The poster campaign, now three weeks old, burst out in a frenzy of support for Teng, 74, twice disgraced by the Communist Party's radicals and now leader of China's modernization program.

Representing an estimated 100,000 students and youth workers, the wall poster writers attacked Mao for backing the radicals in driving Teng out of office and raising Hua Kuo-feng to the premiership in April 1976. The poster campaign demanded Teng be made premier, a post Hua retained even after becoming Mao's successor as party chairman.

Teng took the wind out of the wall poster storm Sunday when he told a visiting Japanese political delegation he had no desire to be premier and added that Mao, though he made mistakes in his old age, remained the guide to Chinese policy.

The leadership also cautioned Chinese against disclosing China's domestic problems to foreign reporters, the Japanese correspondents said.

Selecting Alternates In Johnson Trial Jury

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Two alternate jurors were expected to be selected today in the trial of Betty Lou Johnson who is charged with first-degree murder in the shooting death of her husband.

Both the prosecution and the defense carefully questioned the 12 jurors already chosen about their marriages and views on self-defense. Two jurors were selected Thursday, completing the 12-member panel of seven men and five women.

Mrs. Johnson, 37, is accused of murdering Dr. Archie T. Johnson Jr. at the estranged couple's Raleigh home on July 10. She pleaded innocent.

Allen A. Bailey of Charlotte, one of Mrs. Johnson's attorneys, told one juror Thursday, "There's no question in anybody's mind that Mrs. Johnson pulled the trigger that did it."

But Bailey said Johnson shot her husband in self-defense. The attorney told prospective jurors earlier in the week that Johnson assaulted his wife before he was shot.

It has been evident all week from questions put to 32 prospective jurors that both the prosecution and the defense were concerned about the jurors' views on domestic quarrels and self-defense.

The jurors selected are married and all but two have children. There is only one black juror.

During the week, prosecutors have asked prospective jurors whether they would tend to side with a woman in any domestic dispute. All said they would not take sides.

Both prosecution and defense attorneys probed the jurors about their own marital histories.

Defense lawyers also asked prospective jurors whether they believed in the concept of self-defense, whether they believed some circumstances justified taking another's life and whether they kept guns at home for self-protection.

All the jurors said they believed in self-defense and that taking another's life could be justified in self defense. About half said they kept guns at home.

Sixty Years For Crimes

SPARTA, N.C. (AP) — A Virginia man was sentenced to 40 to 60 years in prison Thursday in connection with a drowning death in the New River near Sparta.

William Guilford Bullins, 23, of Hillsville, Va., was convicted of second-degree murder and common law robbery in Alleghany County Superior Court. He was originally charged with first-degree murder and armed robbery in connection with the May 23rd death of Virgil Dean Sexton, 38, of Galax, Va.

Sexton drowned after he and four others, including Bullins, had gone to the New River after drinking.

Testimony by Sexton's sister and others indicated that Sexton had received a $775 insurance settlement on the day he died and that his companions had plotted to rob him.

Bullins and Sexton reportedly scuffled in the water and Sexton was not seen again.

Three others charged with Bullins pleaded guilty to lesser charges and testified against him. They were also sentenced Thursday.

Curtis Franklin Horton Jr., 34, and William Mayberry, 31, both of Galax, were each sentenced to 20 years for voluntary manslaughter and 10 years for common law robbery.

Mayberry's wife, Debra Jean Mayberry, 31, was sentenced to 10 years for common law robbery.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ 1 ♥ Pass Pass

Pass Pass
Opening lead: Queen of ♣.

South, declaring three no trump, compounded a bidding error with a lapse in play, and the defenders were quick to take advantage.

South's jump to two no trump was a distinct overbid—it should have shown a hand just a whit short of a two no trump opening, and South's hand did not measure up to those standards. A simple reopening bid of one no trump would have been adequate. If South had a minimum balanced hand, there would be no point in keeping the bidding alive when North could not act freely, so, logically, a one no trump reopening would have to show a hand too strong for an original no trump.

West led the queen of hearts and continued the suit when that was allowed to win. Declarer won the ace, and paused to take stock. Once the ace of clubs was forced out, there were eight tricks, and a second trick could be built in spades to bring the total to nine.

If West held both the king of spades and ace of clubs, the contract would be defeated, so declarer had to presume that East held one of those cards. In addition, West's entry had to be attacked first. Since it seemed a toss-up as to which black suit to play, declarer elected to lead the ace and jack of spades.

West won the king and, had he meekly continued with a heart, declarer would have romped home after forcing out the ace of clubs. But West realized that hearts offered no future, so he continued with a third spade. Declarer was doomed. When East got in with the ace of clubs, he had two more spades to cash for down one.

Declarer guessed right when he lead a spade. Unfortunately, he chose the wrong one. Observe the difference if declarer leads the jack of spades from his hand. Now the defenders can do him no harm. After he regains the lead, declarer can unblock the ace of spades and drive out the ace of clubs while still retaining an entry to dummy, and nine tricks are there for the taking.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal bridge format. Do they know something you don't? Charles Goren's "Four-Deal Bridge" will teach you the strategies and tactics of this fast-paced action game that provides the cure for unending rubbers. For a copy and a

Offer New Adaptation Of An Old Melodrama

A play with timely overtones in light of North Carolina's recent adoption of liquor-by-the-drink laws is the premiere effort of the theatrical program of the Greenville Recreation and Parks Department.

A modern adaptation by Brian J. Burton of the classic 19th century melodrama, "The Drunkard - Or Down With Demon Drink" is being presented in the auditorium of the Library/Recreation Building, 2000 Cedar Lane for two performances, one on Saturday, the second on Sunday.

Curtain time for the Saturday performance is 8 p.m., and the Sunday matinee is at 2 p.m. Tickets are priced at $2 for adults and $1 for children and Senior Citizens.

Burton's script is based on the well known comic-morality play by W. H. Smith and "A Gentleman."

Stuart Aronson, director of the Greenville production, has changed the locale from 30 miles outside London and the city of London to an unspecified place in Stanly County and the 30 mile distant metropolitan center of Charlotte.

"I felt this would be appropriate," Aronson commented. "With the attention focused on Charlotte as our largest metropolitan center and its position in the liquor law, the choice seemed ideal."

Twelve area people are in the cast. The cast (listed in order of their appearance on stage) is: Connie Nichols as Mrs. Wilson;

Heidi Lane, Mary Wilson; Bob Myers, the villainous lawyer, Cribbs; Mike Peters as "The Drunkard;" Liz Nicholson, Sophia Spindle; David Werdal, William Dawton; Marsha Smith, Agnes Dawton; Millie Tripp, Mrs. Gates; Irene Murray, Mrs. Stevens; Gary Gasparini, McGee; Robin Tripp, Julia Middleton; and Bryan Powell, Arden Rencelaw. The role of Sam Adams has been rewritten by Aronson to become a feminine role under the name Samantha Adams, with Phyllis Lazzo in this part.

Scenery is by William T. Atkinson, and stage manager is Sandra Jones.

The melodramatic events involved in the evils of drink are enlightened with a number of catchy tunes, with music and lyrics by Burton. Among the songs are "A Mother's Love," "Those Who Are Good," "He Has Fallen," a tender love duet, "Now I Found Thee," "Old Devil Temptation," and the theme song of the play, "Down With Drink!"

This is a play with appeal to all ages, one in which the comic aspects of melodrama are uppermost. Seating capacity is limited — about 175, so that those interested in seeing a performance are advised to purchase tickets in sufficient time before the curtain hour.

Produced under the auspices of the Greenville Recreation and Parks Department, the production is made possible by a grant from the N. C. Arts Council.

Postmaster Appointed

MEMPHIS, TENN. — Regional Postmaster General James J. Symbol of the 11-state Southern Region, U. S. Postal Service, announced Thursday the appointment of Gold Joyner, Jr., as the new Postmaster and Sectional Center Manager of Rocky Mount, N.C.

Joyner, 43, a career postal employee, has served as SC Director-Customer Services in the Rocky Mount Post Office for the past four years. In addition to serving as postmaster of Rocky Mount, Joyner will assume management responsibility for 146 associate post offices within his Sectional Center area.

Joyner joined the postal service in 1956 as a substitute city carrier in the Rocky Mount post office. He was promoted to Foreman of Mails in 1970, assistant Sectional Center Manager for Support in 1973, and Sectional Center Director of Customer Services in 1974. For the past 14 months he has also served as District Rural Coordinator at the Carolina District Office in Charlotte.

Held Hearing For Residents

GRIFTON — A public hearing was held in Grifton Wednesday night for residents of Brassie Dr. to air their views on reducing the speed limit on their road.

The majority of citizens present at the meeting were in favor of reducing the speed, but spoke against placing speed bumps along the road. Action will be taken by the Grifton Town Board of Commissioners in its regular session Dec. 12.

WEATHER FORECAST — Snow flurries are expected in the period until Saturday morning from east of the Rockies to the Northeast. Showers are forecast from the Midwest to the mid-Atlantic and Northeast coastal areas. The southern half of the nation should be sunny and mild. (AP Laserphoto Map) according to the National Weather Service.

Rain will continue to linger along the south coastal area and the Outer Banks today. With some rain or drizzle likely. But cloudiness has begun to break up in the mountains and Piedmont and a clearing trend will be spreading throughout the state tonight and Saturday.

Thursday was a gloomy day in the state, with rain from the coast to the mountains. Coastal sections of the state recorded about an inch of rain in a 24-hour period.

The cloud covering Thursday kept temperatures cool across the state. Afternoon highs ranged from a chilly 36 degrees at Boone to 63 at Cape Hatteras. Most afternoon readings were in the lower 50s.

Lows this morning were in the 30s in the mountains and upper 40s and low 50s in other parts of the state.

Today's temperatures will be in the 50s to lower 60s. Saturday morning will be cooler but highs are expected to get into the lower 60s over most of the state.

Specialist Has Joined Faculty

ECU News Bureau

J. Robert Weber, former coordinator of the Council of State Governments, Law and Justice Section, Lexington, Ky., has joined the faculty of the East Carolina University Department of Social Work and Correctional Services.

He will direct ECU's new program for the development, expansion and improvement of educational resources for child and family welfare personnel.

The ECU program was established by a recent grant of $30,956 from the Children's Bureau of the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare. Among its chief purposes will be study of child welfare workers in 33 eastern N. C. counties to determine specific training needs of these professionals.

Results of the study will be incorporated into future in-service courses offered by ECU in several locations to social workers who wish to strengthen their knowledge or pursue degrees in social work.

Weber is an alumnus of Indiana University and holds the MSW degree from the University of California at Berkeley.

His career has included a term as administrator of services for the Illinois Department of Corrections Juvenile Division and directorship of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency's information center in New York.

He is the author of numerous publications on criminal justice and juvenile delinquency prevention.

Escapee Is Recaptured

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Durham County sheriff's deputies recaptured Thursday night a 19-year-old Brooklyn man who escaped from John Umstead Mental Hospital in Butler Monday night.

Eric Reed is wanted in connection with the attempted murders of three New York City policemen in January.

A sheriff's department spokesman said officers were tipped to Reed's whereabouts in a Durham apartment by people Reed refers to as his "family," although there is no blood relationship.

Reed was charged with escape and returned to the hospital, according to the spokesman. He had escaped from Brooklyn's Kingsboro psychiatric facility on June 10, and was recaptured in Durham on July 8.

Reed was wanted for the Jan. 18 shooting of Police Officer Ed Horvath who was wounded in the abdomen. Nine days later, two other policemen were fired upon, and Reed was also wanted in connection with that incident.

Shortly after the second shooting, Reed was arrested, but escaped several months later from Kingsboro. He was arrested in North Carolina after an incident in which a woman was knifed.

He is being held in North Carolina until he is found competent to be extradited.

Church Planning For 'Joy Night'

A Joy Night service will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at New Hope Fellowship Tabernacle Holiness Church, located on Highway 43 North.

Elder Lester Andrews, pastor of Christian Chapel Holiness Church, Parme, is in charge of the service.

Sunday at noon Youth Day services will be held. Missionary Daisy M. Carney is the speaker. The public is invited to both services, says the pastor, Elder B. R. Barnhill.

Offer Family Night Sunday

The Junior Choir of the Triumph Baptist Church will sponsor a Family Night program Sunday, Dec. 3, 7 p.m.

The program will feature "The Dixieland Gospel Singers" of Kinston, Robert Fuller and the Spiritualaires of Kinston, and many more.

Shirley Hansley, choir president, Gwen Gray and Christine Hansley, advisors, invite the public to attend.

BEAT INFLATION BUY A NEW HOME NOW

YOUR NEW HOME WILL COST LESS TODAY

If you buy your new home now, you'll pay less than you would a year from now. Some people are delaying a buying decision, in hopes that interest rates will come down. And it's true that interest rates are higher now than before. But those who wait will probably pay for their hesitation. In dollars and cents. Interest rates may come down, but the cost of building materials will not. They're rising by an average of fifteen percent a year. So, even with a lower interest rate, the cost of the materials in your home will be fifteen percent higher next year. This means that, by buying now, you won't have to pay that extra fifteen percent it will cost to build the same home next year.

Yesterday's Cryptiquip — TOUGH TALES ELICIT RAUCOUS LAUGHTER.

Today's Cryptiquip clue: E equals O

The Cryptiquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Coordinated Workshop

ECU News Bureau
KINSTON — More than 150 professionals participated in a recent workshop here, where they examined community resources for dealing with child abuse.

The program was coordinated by Virginia Tate, assistant professor in the East Carolina University School of Nursing, and sponsored by the Eastern Area Health Education Center and the Lenoir County Mental Health Association.

Funding was derived from the association, the Lenoir County Medical Auxiliary, the Lenoir County Junior Women's Club and six pharmaceutical companies.

DEAR ABBY: I've got a screwball on my hands. He's a fast-talking fellow student who, after our second date, wanted to move in with me for what he calls a "trial marriage."

I told him that a real marriage in a well-lighted church would precede any moving in. That was last week. This week I'm getting a sales pitch worthy of Dale Carnegie himself. This character tells me that marriage stifles freedom; true love comes only from complete unselfish sharing (it's my apartment); and it's the duty of today's youth to abolish outmoded conventions.

Outmoded my foot! To my mind a woman who does not insist on the social and legal protection of a recorded marriage is a fool. And I can't understand how any man could respect a girl so dumb she wouldn't demand it.

I will welcome any advice you might offer, unless perchance you espouse trial marriages, in which case please toss this into your wastepaper basket.

JOSIE IN NEW ALBANY, IND.

DEAR JOSIE: You don't need any advice from me. You are a very together lady. Let that smoothie get his own apartment and hire a maid.

DEAR ABBY: I divorced my husband a year ago, the biggest mistake I ever made because I still love him. I filed for the divorce never dreaming he would let me go through with it, but he did.

Our divorce solved nothing. It just doomed me to loneliness, to say nothing of what it has done to our children who miss him terribly.

Abby, I am willing to crawl, beg, anything, to get him back, but I don't know how to go about it. Please, please help me.

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Don't play games. Tell him exactly what you have told me. Or better yet, send him a clipping of this column with an olive branch. You've nothing to lose but your loneliness. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I was contemplating marriage, but now I'm confused. A gentleman who works with me advised me not to tie the knot until I had taken a survey of 20 married people and asked them if they would marry the same person they are now married to if they had it to do over again.

I took the survey, and 19 said no. Only one said yes! After that I had a nightmare in which I called off my wedding. Help! (I'm 20 and my fiancé is 24.)

CONFUSED IN PASSAIC

DEAR CONFUSED: If you're confused for any reason, postpone your wedding until you're head is straight. It's much easier to tie the knot than untie it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress and I'm writing to say that I am sick and tired of hearing this job put down.

I just heard the following commercial on TV. "If I hadn't gone to such and such a school for something or other, I'd still be just a waitress." Well, just imagine that! A fate worse than death!

Abby, I've been a waitress for 18 years, and I'm not ashamed of it. I own my own home, a car, and I'm raising two children alone. We take a vacation every summer. I've never had one penny from welfare, and I don't owe a dime.

My work is honorable and rewarding, and I resent the insinuation that waitress work is something to be ashamed of. Please print this for all the waitresses who share my feelings.

KATHY IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR KATHY: Consider it done.

Insurance Rate Hearings Set

RALEIGH — The Insurance Laws Study Committee of the Legislative Research Commission is holding three public hearings on insurance rate regulations early next week.

The first two meetings will be held Monday in Charlotte and Raleigh. On Tuesday, Dec. 5, the third meeting will be held in Greenville beginning at 10 a.m. and lasting until noon. Place of the Greenville meeting will be in the auditorium of Willis Building, East Carolina University, located at the corner of Reade and East First streets.

Because of the strict schedule of the Committee, the length of each hearing will be limited to two hours. Also, subject matter will be limited to the regulation of insurance rates under the file and use regulation enacted by the 1977 General Assembly.

The Committee will not be able to hear individual complaints regarding policies and rates under the new system due to these limitations.

People wanting to take part in the hearings are asked to reduce their statements to writing; and those who, because of the hearing time limits, are not afforded the opportunity to speak will be asked to submit their written statements to the Committee. The Committee will report its findings and recommendations which will consider the issue of insurance rate regulation to the 1979 General Assembly.

1.75 litres - $11⁵⁰

This barrel can save you up to $2.00 a bottle on premium scotch. We import Muirhead's from Scotland in oak barrels. And bottle it here in the United States. This saves a lot of money on duties and handling charges.

And we can pass the savings along to you.

Since it's the same good scotch, we figure you won't care where it's bottled. As long as you can pocket the difference.
