Speculating A Civilian Will Head Up Iran

By PHILIP DOPOULOS

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi met with former Prime Minister Ali Amini amid growing speculation the monarch will name him head of a new civilian government Saturday in a bid to end bloody antigovernment protests, well-placed sources reported.

Amini, prime minister from 1962-63, was summoned to the shah's heavily guarded palace today after the monarch met Wednesday evening with his main political foe, National Front leader Dr. Karim Sanjabi, in an abortive bid to persuade him to participate in a coalition.

Sanjabi, released from a month's detention last week, "strongly expressed his refusal," saying he considers the monarchy illegal and will not take part in any civilian administration formed by the shah, informed sources said.

Scientists in Stockholm, Sweden, reported an earthquake and three small aftershocks hit about 175 miles west of Iran's violence-torn city of Isfahan today, but there was no information on the tremors in Tehran.

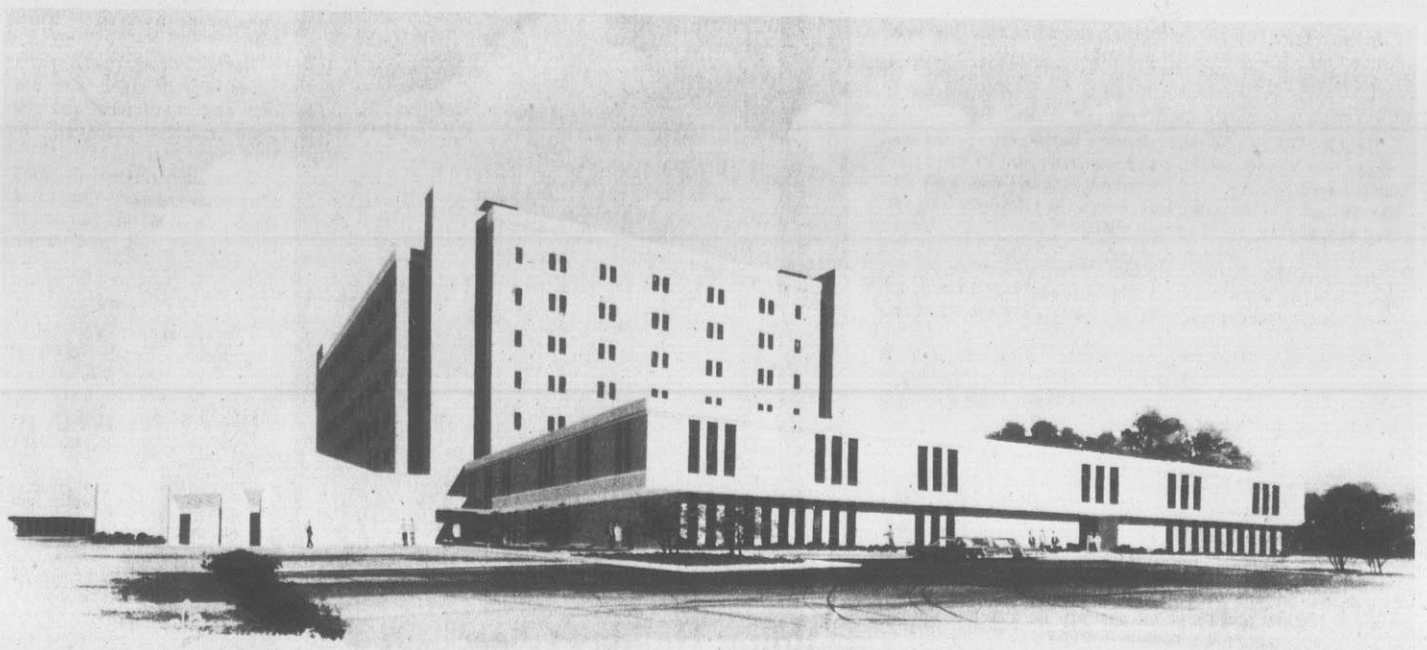

Informed sources said Isfahan was quiet today after three days of street battles in which at least 44 persons were killed and more than 700 wounded.

The sources said the soldiers who led club-wielding pro-shah mobs in a reign of terror against the monarch's opponents were in complete control of the city and had dispersed their vigilante army.

"The city is very tense and there's still a lot of fear in the air," a well-placed informant reported. "The army's in charge, but they haven't smashed the opposition yet by any means."

The soldiers opened up Wednesday with automatic weapons in the streets of Isfahan, 250 miles south of Tehran. Doctors at Soraya Hospital said among those shot were persons standing in line to give blood for the wounded.

Doctors at Askarieh Hospital charged the army was dragging bodies from the hospital in an attempt to cover up the death toll, which the government claimed was only nine.

School Sketch

MEDICAL SCHOOL COMPLEX ... This artists rendering pictures the proposed East Carolina University medical school building, to be located North of Pitt Memorial Hospital. Low bids for construction of the facility, opened yesterday, totaled $8.91 million more than the $25 million budgeted for the project. The design includes an auditorium to the left, with the two-story wing in the foreground housing administrative offices and library facilities.

Bids Run Millions Over

"Way over," is the way East Carolina University Vice-chancellor for Business Affairs C. G. Moore described low bids for construction of the 450,000 square-foot medical school building, which were opened yesterday.

Moore noted that the low bid for the general construction contract alone was about $4 million over what had been estimated.

James M. Lowry, director of Maintenance and Operations at ECU, reported that low bids for the project totaled $33.91 million, considerably higher than the $25 million budget.

In light of the high bids for the facility, to be located on a site just North of Pitt County Memorial Hospital, Lowry said, "we'll have to decide where we go from here. We're looking at all kinds of things in order to get it within the funds available."

Low bidder for the general contract yesterday was D. R. Allen and Sons of Fayetteville, with a bid of $17.74 million, while low bidder for the plumbing contract was Poole Kent Corp. of Raleigh, with a bid totaling $1.42 million. W. H. Sullivan Co. of Greensboro was the low bidder for the heating, air conditioning and ventilation contract with a bid which totaled $5.97 million, while low bidder for the electrical contract was Richards and Associates of Carlton, Ga., with a bid of $3.99 million.

High Point Sprinkler Co., was the low bidder ! for the building's fire protection systems with a bid of $271,200, while low bidder for the elevators in the medical school facility was U. S. Elevator Co., with a bid of $526,300.

As designed, the main portion of the structure would be eight stories high, including the penthouse. One two-story wing would house administrative offices and the library, while another wing would include an auditorium, Lowry said.

Airport Grant

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sen. Robert Morgan today announced the approval by the Federal Aviation Administration of an $857,680 airport development grant for the Pitt-Greenville Airport.

Airport manager Jim Turcotte said that the funds will be used for the reconstruction of parallel taxiways and to provide an additional asphalt overlay for runway 725.

According to Turcotte, the FAA grant funding provides for a continuation of an improvement project already underway at the Pitt-Greenville Airport.

Morgan said that the grant was approved late Thursday morning.

Firm Is Hired For Utilities Study

By KEITH MILLS
Reflector Staff Writer

In its regular monthly meeting this week, the Greenville Utilities Commission approved the hiring of R.W. Beck Associates to conduct a study of the value of an electric system to the city of Greenville.

The cost of the study, including a management review, would total $20,000.

GUC appointed a committee during its November meeting consisting of Commissioners Gene Prescott (chairman), George Coffman, Ed Wyatt, Director Charles Horne, and Bob Griffin of Proctor and Gamble who met with Beck representatives and reported back to the commission Tuesday night.

Since Beck Associates have been affiliated with GUC in the past, the committee reported that the firm is in the unique position of being able to start and complete the study in a short time frame that could not be met by other firms.

Also, the firm is in a position of conducting an objective study while being familiar with the Greenville system through work with ElectriCities.

Past work by the firm for GUC includes the design for Ayden and Winterville rates and bulk barn rates, according to Director Horne. He noted also that starting with a new firm would be quite expensive.

Commissioner Wyatt said "this is an exceptional firm in engineering work. Time is of the essence and they would be of valuable assistance to us and I would like to put that in the form of a motion."

In other business, Curtis Howell, GUC accounting, reported a surplus in fuel charge accounting for November of $170,420, bringing the current total to $503,198. GUC began this fiscal year with a fuel charge surplus of $326,013.

Subsequently, no retail fuel charge will be applied to GUC customers in December.

Wadie Lewis, water department foreman, reported that two employees within his department have been awarded certificates by the N.C. Department of Human Resources authorizing them to practice as grade A water treatment facility operators.

Boyd Connaway of 109 Holiday Court and Kelly Patton of Grimesland are now certified to operate any water treatment plant in the state. The grade A certificates, which brings to a total of five the number held by GUC plant operators, is the highest the state awards.

Skyjack Brings Arrest

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — An unarmed passenger told an attendant aboard a New York-to-Miami jet early today that the flight was going to Cuba, authorities said. The pilot diverted the plane to Charleston, where the man was arrested by the FBI.

The passenger, tentatively identified as Gerald Edmond Casey, was taken to the Charleston County jail pending a 9 a.m. hearing before a U.S. magistrate on a charge of "crime aboard an aircraft-interference with a flight crew."

The jet, a National Airlines Boeing 727 carrying 48 passengers and a crew of six, completed its flight to Miami International Airport at about 6 a.m., according to Walt Robshaw, a National spokesman in Mimai.

FBI agent John Lee in Washington said the incident occurred shortly after 3 a.m., when National Flight 97, which had taken off from Kennedy Airport, was about 50 miles south of Wilmington, N.C.

Lee said a man with his hand in his pocket approached a flight attendant and said "We're going to go to Cuba."

The man then went back to his seat, Lee said, while the pilot diverted the flight as a precaution and notified authorities on the ground.

Carter Warns Recession Talk Is 'Self-Fulfilling'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says predictions of a recession next year could "become a self-fulfilling prophecy" if people begin to believe them, even though the economy is basically sound.

Meanwhile, a key member of Congress said today the dollar is failing in its role as the world's key currency and should be supplemented with other international money before the world economic system collapses.

The suggestion by Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., was made in remarks prepared for the opening of hearings on the dollar problem before the international economics subcommittee of the Joint Economic Committee.

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal and Charles L. Schultze, chairman of Carter's Council of Economic Advisers, were scheduled to testify later in the day.

Carter told a group of business leaders Wednesday night: "There are predictions of a recession from various sources which I think can become a self-fulfilling prophecy unless the facts are described accurately to the American people."

In his speech, Carter said the economy continues to show strength that even his own advisers have found surprising, pointing to recent favorable statistics on housing, employment, retail sales and business inventories.

He said the "one consistent error in economic predictions" of his administration has been "to underestimate the economic strength and growth potential of our country."

"We do not anticipate a recession next year....Our nation is strong," Carter said.

The president's address was to a meeting of the Business Council, an organization of the nation's top corporate executives. He appealed for backing for his anti-inflation program, warning that inflation could undo all the economic gains of the last two years.

"Give me your pledge of compliance," he said. "There is no excuse now for you to delay....It would mean a great deal."

Business Council Chairman John D. deButts, who also is chairman of American Telephone and Telegraph, urged in his own remarks that the corporate executives work to support the wage and price guidelines.

Find Recreation Area Used To Dump Garbage

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Members of the Greenville Recreation and Parks Commission are recommending to the City Council that action be taken to place one or more garbage collection points (Dempsey Dumpsters) in the Moyewood Housing Area.

The motion also carried a stipulation that the director of the public housing program be asked to work with residents of Moyewood relative to the intended use of the park being established in the area; and that Recreation Dept. director Boyd Lee assist in an education program to inform residents of the benefits of the park area.

This action followed a discussion on the fact that a recent inspection of the park area revealed it is being used as a raw garbage dump area. Also, some person or persons have cut down 16 trees in the park area and left them in a fallen state without having cut them up.

The park area at Moyewood was inaugurated with a recent action by the City Council to set aside $10,000 to create a passive park-recreation area for Moyewood residents.

Lee noted that when Recreation Dept. maintenance personnel first began work to clear the area, it took a week to clear out accumulated garbage that had been dumped there previously, indicating that the area obviously has a long history as a dumping point.

Commission member Rufus Huggins noted that

UNICEF CARDS SOURCE?

I know it's late, but I'd like to know — is there any person or organization in Pitt County or nearby selling UNICEF Christmas cards this season? Mrs. A. T.

Based on much calling done by Carolyn Hibbard of the Pitt County Information Center, we feel safe in saying no. But we'd love to be proved wrong. If there is any person or group selling these cards, we'll be happy to report it in a column of the near future.

FAIR FORECAST

I'm going to the Independence Bowl game in Shreveport, La. Saturday and it is important to me to know what the weather will be like. Could you check the weather bureau there for an accurate report? J. S.

First we called the National Weather Service in Shreveport (318-635-7575) and got a recorded forecast that went only through Friday. So we tried the Raleigh office, which used its weather network to get us a long-range forecast out of Shreveport: "The guys down there are looking for fair weather all weekend," we were told, "with daytime highs in the 60's and night lows in the 40's."

Year Of Growth For Home Savings And Loan

The 73rd annual shareholders meeting of Home Savings and Loan Association was held here Tuesday with president David J. Whichard II, presiding.

J. Larkin Little, executive vice president, said in his annual report to the shareholders that the assets of Home Savings reached $57,589,354 as of Sept. 30, an increase of 19 percent over the previous year.

Little pointed out that, "Home Savings paid a record amount of interest to its savings depositors in the amount of $2,861,955 and added $550,369 to its reserves," bringing its total reserves up to $2,802,701.

He reported that, "Savings deposits from our customers during 1978 increased by $5,437,123. The increase in savings and a strong utilization of the secondary market allowed us to take care of the mortgage needs of our local and surrounding area."

Home Savings financed 375 homes in the association's lending area in 1978, Little said, for a dollar volume of $16,919,300.

The executive vice president pointed to two significant changes that took place in the savings and loan industry in June. He explained that the Federal Home Loan Bank approved the issuance of two new certificates of deposit.

The first new certificate, he explained, was an eight percent, eight-year certificate with a minimum deposit of $1,000, "but the major change came in the form of the money market certificate. This provided for a $10,000 certificate for 26 weeks at one-quarter percent above the weekly treasury bill."

Little contended that "these two certificates helped deter the disintermediation that associations experienced in other times of rising interest rates."

He told shareholders, "Last year was a year of change and growth for the association and 1979 should also be another year of continued growth."

Baldy Gets No Fringe Benefits

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: This is to protest that a bald-headed man has to pay the same price for a haircut as a man with a full head of hair.

It isn't fair. I think the barber should charge the bald-headed man half-price for a haircut.

Awaiting your reply.

MRS. L.P.B.

DEAR MRS. B.: So what should a barber charge the man whose hair is long and thick and requires twice as much time for a haircut? Sorry, it all evens out. Anyone who feels that the trimming he's getting isn't worth the trimming he's getting should stay out of barber shops.

DEAR ABBY: My son is living with a woman we are not at all fond of. On Christmas Eve the family gathers at my home for an exchange of gifts and I know my son will bring her.

No way will I give my approval of this living arrangement by giving them a gift together. And I certainly wouldn't give this woman a gift under ordinary circumstances. So my dilemma is: should I give her a gift?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: Yes.

DEAR ABBY: I've been seeing Ron (made up name) for seven months. We also work together. He's everything I like in a boyfriend—intelligent, considerate, good sense of humor and he puts up with my bossiness. My parents are crazy about him and I love his parents. He's 26 and I'm 23.

The problem is he wants to marry me and I keep putting him off because I think he's too short for me. I'm 5 feet 5, and Ron is only 5 feet 6. We are exactly the same weight, but my hands and feet are bigger than his.

I feel conspicuous when we're out together. He just doesn't seem masculine enough for me.

My parents say I'm too picky. Ron says if I don't make up my mind by next summer, he'll start dating other girls.

I don't want to lose him and I don't want to marry him. I know good men are hard to find, but I don't want to marry him unless I'm rid of this hang-up about his size. Can you help me?

HUNG UP

DEAR HUNG: The word from here is DON'T marry Ron or anyone else unless your heart and mind are in unison. In my opinion, size is unimportant, but then I won't have to live with Ron—YOU will.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.W.D.: No one said it better than Ella Wheeler Wilcox:

"Talk happiness. The world is sad enough
Without your woe. No path is wholly rough;
Look for the places that are smooth and clear,
And speak of those, to rest the weary ear
Of earth, so hurt by one continuous strain
Of human discontent and grief and pain."

Holiday Party Held

Eighty persons attended the American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 39 Christmas meeting and dinner at the Post home.

A special program of music was presented by the Greenville Community Chorus, directed by Ed Glenn.

Mrs. Sarah Ashton presided at the business meeting. Guests included Mrs. Betsy Tetterton, First Division president, and her husband. Post member Mrs. Lucille Quinn of Farmville also attended.

Mrs. Paul Vincent, a Gold Star Mother, was presented a poinsettia by the Auxiliary. Mrs. Ashton informed members that three veterans at Greenville Villa would be remembered at Christmas.

Greenville Post No. 39 presented a check of $150 to the auxiliary for Christmas projects.

Faye Adams decorated the tables, using the Christmas theme. Dinner committee members were Lou Wilson, Mamie Roper, Louise Tucker, Faye Adams, Ethel Allen, Janie Adams and Virginia Vandiford. Mrs. Fenner Corbett registered guests.

New members Mrs. Ruth Harris, Mrs. Aline Hamblen and Mrs. Gene Boyd were welcomed at the meeting. Miss Lara Hamblen was enrolled as a junior member.

The auxiliary catered a Christmas luncheon for the Town and Country Senior Citizens Club and the Roanoke Rapids Senior Citizens Club Dec. 14.

Bridal Couple Entertained

Miss Sara Christine Wilkerson and Clifton Hugh Edwards III were entertained at a dance at the American Legion Building Friday evening.

Friends of the couple served as hosts and hostesses.

Music for dancing was provided by the In Crowd of Chapel Hill.

The buffet centerpiece was a silver epergne filled with red and white carnations and red satin ribbons cascading to reindeer.

Other decorations included Christmas greenery, Christmas tree, candles in hurricane globes and red and white flowers.

Miss Wilkerson was entertained at bridesmaids luncheon Saturday at the home of Mrs. James Harvey Ward III. Cohostesses included Mrs. Hubert Bryant and Mrs. Walker Lee Allen Jr.

The bride-elect was given a corsage of white daisies and a gift of silver in her chosen pattern.

Special guests included the bride's mother, Mrs. Herbert Wilkerson, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Clifton H. Edwards Jr., and his grandmother, Mrs. Claude Gaskins Jr.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

Heaven knows I am not without humor. I appreciate a good joke as well as the next person.

When the Pet Rock came out, I was the first to buy mine a leash and exercise it daily.

I loved the Sand Breeding kit that contained a male and female vial of sand to grow my own beach.

And no one got a bigger honk out of the newest crazy, "Weed Seed" for people with brown thumbs who are sick of providing plants with sun, water, sweet talk, and soft music, than I did.

But the other night when a hostess handed me a goblet and said, "Try this. It's Perrier water. You'll love it," I decided we have gone too far with gimmicks.

"Be serious," I said. "What is this really? It tastes like water."

"It is water. It's imported from France."

"What's the joke?"

"No joke. People from all over are drinking it before dinner with just a twist of lemon or lime in it."

"How much does it cost?"

"Eighty-nine cents a pint."

"You're kidding."

I looked around and every person in the room was sipping this clear, tasteless, liquid like it was a rare, vintage wine. I felt like we were all doing a remake of the "The Emperor's New Clothes."

A woman in disco pants and a silk overblouse said, "Could I have a refill?"

"Absolutely," said the host and disappeared with her glass."

"What year is this?" she asked, belting down a glass.

"June, 1963."

"I don't know about you," she said, "but I find it quite robust, very complex, but never pretentious."

I eased over to where my husband was standing. "Can you believe we're all standing around drinking imported water?"

"Yes, and I think Jack has had too much. He's beginning to sing in French."

"Frankly, I find it reminiscent of old world ambiance."

"Will you knock it off? We're not talking about vineyards of France, we're talking about water!"

I ran to the sink and emptied it out and filled my glass from the faucet. A shot of fluoride helped. Anything!

Perfectly Beautiful, Beautifully Perfect.

County 4-H Members Honored At Banquet

Pitt County 4-H members were honored Monday night during their annual banquet at the American Legion Building in Greenville.

Dasha Efird, 1979 state 4-H secretary, addressed the group on her experiences in the organization and challenged the group to set goals and work hard to achieve them.

Cynthis Lilley of the Grifton Pioneers 4-H Club and Jeffrey Johnson of the Fountain Trailblazers 4-H Club, were the 1978 recipients of the "I Dare You" award. The award is given annually to two county 4-H'ers who have shown outstanding leadership.

Two 4-H clubs received their charters and flag sets after fulfilling the requirements of organized club work for one year. Those awarded charters were the Greenfield Terrace Superstars 4-H Club and the Pactolus Seekers 4-H Club.

Worthington Farms and John Coker received certificates of appreciation for their support of the 4-H club work within the county.

In presenting the awards, Pitt County 4-H Agent Dale Panaro said, "It would be a lengthy task to recognize all the individuals, businesses, and organizations who have contributed time, energy and money to 4-H through the past year."

Amy Tyson of the Bushwackers 4-H Club and Brenda Roberson of the Bethel Golden Eagles 4-H Club received county champion awards in their project work. Miss Tyson won "Adventures in the Kitchen," with Miss Roberson cited for "Junior Leadership."

The following 4-H'ers were cited for completion of project work: Brenda Roberson, Bruce Rogers, Amy Edwards, Earl Gardner, John Ward III, Hank Urban, Sharon Glast, Nicol Rupert, Cheryl Thompson and Nicol Bryant.

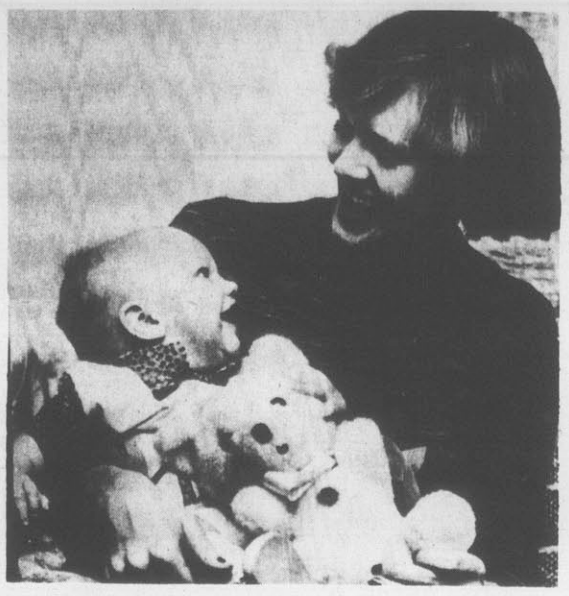

Mike Regans, Pitt County livestock agent, presented certificates to Sue Ellen Allen, Brenda Roberson, Scott Flanagan, Eddie Jones, and Ken Ross for raising and showing steers in the Coastal Plains Junior Livestock Show and Sale. Regans also recognized participants in the Horse Bowl competition.

Installation of the following officers for 1979 was made: president, Jeff Johnson; vice president, Cynthia Lilley; secretary-treasurer, Olga Savage; reporter, Danny Dupree.

Christmas decorations were provided by the Bushwackers 4-H Club. The Fountain Trailblazers and the Greenfield Terrace Superstars served refreshments after the program.

Christmas entertainment was held by the Clarks Neck Club and the Simpson Pushers Club.

Santa Claus made a surprise visit as a conclusion to the banquet with gifts for all attendants.

We Rely On World Markets

North Carolina's future prosperity is going to be heavily dependant on finding new world markets for our products.

Secretary of Natural Resources and Community Development Howard Lee sees Africa as a promising area for our seafood and agricultural products.

"Africa is going to become the new frontier," Lee said at a news conference. "Those who are there first with trade are going to be a part of it."

Lee recently took part in a trade mission to Nigeria and said he will reccommed to Gov. Hunt that trade relations with Nigeria be set up. He cited Nigeria as one of Africa's richest nations with huge oil reserves.

The prospects look promising. North Carolina can produce the seafood and agricultural products in quantities sufficient for export. Developing areas of the world are going to be prime markets for such products, and we in North Carolina should be planning now to capture our share of the market.

Annual Report Is Worth Your Reading

Greenville citizens now are receiving an annual report from the city government.

The report, prepared by Gail Meeks, assistant to the city manager, cover activities of various departments for the fiscal year.

The report is well worth reading. It is concise and illustrated with pictures. We have a city in which we can take pride, and our citizens will have a better understanding of it through this brochure.

'Fever' Soars On Tut

By JANE SEE WHITE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tutankhamen ruled fewer than 7 million subjects as pharoah of all Egypt 33 centuries ago. But in this nation the boy king has captured almost 6 million more souls. So far.

As if that weren't enough, the obscure Egyptian ruler has also spawned both legitimate and black market businesses that are cashing in on the epidemic of Tut-worship in the United States.

Since November 1976, a total of 5.6 million people in five cities have viewed the touring exhibit of relics recovered from Tut's tomb. Before April 15, when Tut departs New York for San Francisco, an additional 1.3 million will see the relics here.

When Tut played Los Angeles earlier this year, exhibit officials were told that scalpers were hawking admission tickets for as much as $45, so eager were Californians to lay eyes on the alabaster and gold objects from Tut's tomb.

All the 1.3 million tickets offered by Manhattan's Metropolitan Museum of Art — some free, some for a 60-cent service charge — were snapped up three months ago.

But as the Tut fever soared in New York with the exhibit's arrival here this week, scalpers' were charging from $15 to $50 a ticket.

Metropolitan Mueseum officials said Wednesday that they were seeking an injunction to prevent a ticket agency in Union City, N.J., from selling tickets at $20 each. Callers answering a New York City newspaper advertisement were offered the tickets.

Bruce Ratner, the city's Consumer Affairs commissioner, warned Wednesday that it is illegal to resell tickets to the exhibit and asked the city's newspapers not to accept advertisements for such sales.

"Seeing Tut is the status symbol right now in this city," said a Metropolitan Museum official who declined to be named. "It's even superseded sex."

Everyone, it seems, is cashing in on Tut fever here. Manhattan bookshops feature separate Tutankhamen sections near best-selling fiction and non-fiction. Bloomingdale's department store is offering a

Focus On Parental Duty

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — Parents would be required to take responsibility for their children who get into criminal trouble, need special counseling, or regularly play hookie from school in a set of proposals now being readied for the 1979 General Assembly.

At the same time, the recommendations would fix into Law the rights of parents to visit with and advise their children in event of a brush with the police.

These items dealing with parents are among many new approaches to reform of North Carolina's juvenile justice system being put forth by the Juvenile Code Revision Committee.

One thing the committee determined in its study is that the cooperation of the entire family is often essential to resolving whatever problem brings a child into juvenile court.

The proposed new law gives to judges wide discretion in ordering the involvement of parents in the effort to resolve the problem.

Court Order

The judge could order that parents participate along with the child in evaluation and diagnostic interviews or tests; that they participate along with the child in treatment programs working with a psychologist or psychiatrist; that if a child needs medical, surgical, psychiatric, psychological or other treatment, the parent must arrange it, and that the parents must provide transportation for the juvenile to his court appointments.

Failure of a parent to meet the requirements set down by the court could lead to a contempt of court citation.

According to comments contained in the Juvenile Cod Revision Committee report which will be released later this month, these steps are "designed to encourage parents to cooperate and assure a more accurate evaluation by a professional, while at the same time protecting their due process rights carefully."

Similar due process rights figure into sections of the recommendation dealing with the rights of parents to be with their children during the arrest and court proceedings.

BILL NOBLITT

When a juvenile is arrested, he would be told the standard things; he has a right to remain silent, to have an attorney appointed if he can't afford one, and that anything he says can be used against him.

A new caution would be added: that he has a right to have a parent, guardian, or custodian present during questioning, and if the child is under 14 years of age, no confession or admission of guilt can be used unless made in the presence of the child's parents, guardian, or attorney.

Presence

Parental rights to be present when a child is under arrest and questioned are without precedent in the law. As the committee studied this point, some argued against allowing parents— — or even more serious, permitting them to be present even when the youngster didn't want them there — would be "coercive". The committee rejected that argument in favor of the position spelled out earlier this year by U.S. Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall who found the practice of allowing an adult's request for legal advice but ignoring juvenile requests for parental aid "incongruous".

As for school truancy, the proposed new law would require that parents be notified if a pattern of absence develops, and if a child misses 30 days unexcused, the parents would be held responsible for causing the absences and subject to court action.

Correcting Excesses

WASHINGTON — Little by little, the Supreme Court under Warren Burger is correcting the excesses of the Supreme Court under Earl Warren. We saw this a week ago in a case involving a pair of armed robbers. Those of us who believe in handcuffing the crooks and not the cops can raise a cheer: For once, hooray for our side.

These were the facts: At about 8:30 o'clock on the night of Feb. 4, 1975, two robbers burst into a Robert Hall clothing store in Bourbonnais, Ill., south of Chicago. One of them swung a sawed-off .30-.30 rifle. They looted a cash register of $180, forced the employees to lie on the floor, and fled. Within an hour an alert police officer, clued to watch for a dark Plymouth Roadrunner, spotted such a car containing two male and two female passengers.

The officer stopped the car, ordered the occupants out, and searched the vehicle. Under the front seat he found a sawed-off .30-.30 rifle; in the glove compartment he found a box of .30-.30 shells. He and other officers then arrested the two male suspects, Frank L. Rakas, 28, and Lonnie L. King, 30, alias Douglas Clontz. The two were tried by a jury for armed robbery and found guilty. Rakas got 16 to 30 years, King 8 to 24 years. Both had long criminal records.

The rifle, of course, was a key piece of evidence for the prosecution. After the verdict, defense counsel appealed through the Illinois courts, contending that the defendants' Fourth Amendment rights had been violated. It is the Fourth that protects the people from unreasonable searches of their persons, houses, papers and effects. On this issue the case worked its way to the Supreme Court. On Dec. 5, speaking through Justice William Rehnquist, a majority of the Court struck a blow for common sense. The convictions were affirmed.

Rehnquist and his four brothers went straight to the language of the great amendment itself. Fourth Amendment rights belong to "the people," which is to say, the rights are personal. Rakas and King were entitled to be protected against unreasonable searches of "their" property; the car belonged to King's former wife. Neither defendant claimed possession of the rifle and shells; thus, these were not "their" property either.

From this line of reasoninq, it follows that niether Rakas nor King could have been aggrieved by an unlawful search and

Public Forum

Letters submitted for Public Forum must be limited to 300 words.

To the editor:

Recently an article appeared in your paper regarding "misspent funds" by 12 Mental Health Centers in the East. The Pitt Center was not listed and residents of Pitt might be pleased to know that this center passed the state audit with a clean bill of health.

Stephen Creech, Ph. D., the Area Director, Tony Sanders, Sandra Jones and Vanessa Henderson of the Business Department and the Personnel and Finance Committee of the Mental Area Board are due thanks for this and for public tax monies appropriately used for patient care in Pitt County.

I would like to comment on the unhappy timing of this article, whether by accident or design. One might gather that these mental health centers are guilty of irresponsible and profligate spending, or worse, fraud or peculation of public funds. This is not the case. These audit deficiencies usually represent differences of interpretation in the guidelines of how some of the categorical funds should be spent. The audit statement is not the "last word" and the area Mental Health programs can present their findings to show why the spending was justified. This usually results in the audit exceptions being reduced or removed.

However, the article, taken alone, is damaging to the fiscal credibility of the Mental Health Center programs and this could adversely affect the legislative funding of these programs. I should think the county commissioners in the areas affected would be furious.

At a time when there is already some disaffection and schism between the local programs and the State Dept. of Human Resources and Division of Mental Health (and state-operated programs such as regional hospitals), I believe Dr. Morrow, Secretary of Human Resources, or Ben Aiken, Director of Division of Mental Health, have obligation to speak up and put these audits in perspective. For one or both not to do so is to widen the breach between local programs and Raleigh officials and ultimately all patient care and all Mental Health funding will suffer.

40 Years Ago Today

December 14, 1938

Preparations for the arrival of Santa Claus on a pre-Christmas visit to Greenville to inaugurate the holiday season formally next Monday night were made at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Greenville Merchant's Association last night.

The Christmas shopping season will be officially started with the arrival of the white-bearded old gentleman, accompanied by a parade led by the high school band and the Boy Scouts.

Members of the Greenville Choral Club will sing a number of Christmas carols from the steps of the court house.

The affair is expected to attract a large crowd, not only from Greenville, but from a wide trading territory.

THE GALLUP POLL

'Test Tube Baby' Backed

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J. — If the federal government decides to fund research regarding vitro fertilization — the process of uniting a human sperm and egg outside a woman's body — the decision would, at the present time, meet with the approval of most Americans.

While the government is currently trying to decide whether this kind of research should be federally funded, the Gallup Poll, in a survey conducted after the birth of the successful "test tube baby" last July, found the public favorably disposed toward this procedure.

Specifically, the survey found the following:

*An extraordinary 93 percent had heard or read about the baby, a girl born in England;

*Among those who had heard or read about the birth, understanding of this relatively complicated process was high;

*By a two-to-one margin, the public approved of the procedure;

*A majority of Americans said they would be willing to undergo this procedure if they were childless, wanted to have a child, and this would allow them to do so.

The birth of Louise Brown and the procedure by which she was conceived — the vitro-fertilization process whereby one of her mother's eggs and her father's sperm were united in a laboratory diish and then emplanted in her mother's womb — clearly fascinated many Americans.

An extraordinarily large segment of the public, 93 percent, either heard or read about the baby's birth. In no group of Americans did this simple recognition fall below 71 percent and among some groups it reached as high as 98 percent.

But the public's interest in the birth goes well beyond just knowing it happened. Of those who had heard or read about the birth, four in 10 (42 percent) were also able to explain exactly what happened — that an egg was taken from the mother's body and fertilized with the father's sperm in a culture medium and then reimplanted in the mother's womb.

Predictably, understanding of the operation is highest among the so-called upscale socio-economic groups — that is, those in the upper education and income brackets and those who work in either business or the professions.

Understanding Is Key

By a two-to-one margin, the American public favors the use of this procedure and operation to aid childless couples. While 60 percent of all Americans say they favor the operation, about half as many, 27 percent, oppose it and 13 percent are undecided. Clearly, understanding of the procedure is a key in the formation of attitudes toward it. For example, support for the operation is generally highest among those groups most likely to have heard or read about the procedure and who are best able to explain what happened. And among people who are able to fully explain the procedure. With this group approval of the operation reaches 75 percent.

Generally, the same pattern of opinion obtains when people are asked whether they would be willing to undergo the procedure if they were unable to have a child, wanted one, and this procedure would allow them to conceive.

About half the public, 53 percent, say they would undergo this procedure while 36 percent would not and 11 percent are undecided.

Interestingly, men and women have about the same views on each of these questions. And, despite the Roman Catholic church's labeling of vitro fertilization as "illicit," Catholics are favorably disposed toward the operation (56 percent) and half (50 percent) say they would use this route to conceive if they had to.

Strength For Today

ALL THINGS ARE POSSIBLE

On one occasion Jesus assured his disciples, "All things are possible to them that believe."

This is a most arresting statement in many ways. The important word here is "all". We know that many things are possible to them that believe. The person who believes in himself, in his work, in the product that he sells, is much more likely to succeed than the person who does not believe in these things.

But "All things"! That lifts the whole situation out of an earthly frame and puts it into a heavenly one. Nothing a person can do will make him successful in everything; only God can give success of that variety.

When Jesus said that faith would enable one to lift up mountains and cast them into the sea, he meant precisely that. This sounds like a fairy tale, but it is not; it is the Christian gospel.

So when any of us feel discouraged in mind and spirit, we should look up. "All things are possible to them that believe."

'Recession' Forecasts Mixed

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The President says there'll be no recession next year. An important Congressional agency says there will be one. And on Wall Street the views are mixed, as they always are and will be.

And what does it mean to you, this outburst of controversy that seems to be replacing inflation as the red-hot topic of cocktail party chitchat, academic philosophizing and kitchen table debate.

First, that there is a chance of a recession; high interest rates and prices seem certain to cut into economic activity. Secondly, households should be careful not to overextend themselves financially.

But you should be aware also that a good deal of the commotion involves politics, assumptions, games, and interpretations, as well as plain economics.

The politics should be clear. When President Carter maintains the nation will avoid a recession next year he might be speaking as much from necessity as from conviction. He doesn't have much choice.

Thomas Murphy, General Motors chairman, has the same dilemma: If he forecasts a weak economy he might convince potential customers that 1979 isn't the year to buy. GM almost always forecasts a big year.

Can the situation be much different for G. William Miller, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, guardian of the nation's money supply? Were he to forecast recession, he might undermine his own monetary goals.

Miller is especially sensitive to such possibilities. "We will have no recession unless we talk ourselves into it," he is quoted as saying. And so, he won't say it; and neither will President Carter.

Like any forecasts, those made by Carter, Murphy, Miller and others are only as good as the assumptions on which they are based.

Carter expects capital spending — for new, enlarged or more efficient production facilities — to bolster the economy. So does U.S. Steel's president, David Roderick. And Murphy feels people will love his cars.

There is no assurance these assumptions will prove out. In fact, the Congressional Budget Office believes that business capital spending will provide no stimulus at all, and that a recession could take place.

The U.S. economic expansion is now close to four years old, one of the longest-running goodtime shows of this century. Based only on statistical probabilities, it should be losing its steam. But when?

Should we therefore ignore the controversy? Some of it, to be sure, without losing any useful knowledge unless we enjoy the give and take of the public arena.

But, the smart household is one that distills what it hears and then applies its own judgement. It has been said many times before that the best indicator of your own financial condition is your wallet or purse.

Besides, those economists who are sometimes uncannily accurate in foreasting a continuation of existing trends have a relatively poor record in calling the major turns.

Gallup Poll...

"Have you heard or read about the baby born in England from an egg fertilized outside her mother's body?"

Among the 93 percent who said they had heard or read about the birth, this question was then asked:

"Just as you understand it, how was this done?"

Here are the results:

How Was Baby Conceived?

(Based on those who heard or read about the operation) Egg was taken from the mother's body and fertilized with the father's sperm in a culture medium and then reimplanted in the mother's body 42%
Was fertilized in a laboratory 19%
Incorrect answers (miscellaneous) 15%
Don't know 24%

This question was then asked of the total sample:

"Actually, what the doctor did was to remove an egg from one of the woman's ovaries and fertilize it in the laboratory with sperm from her husband. The embryo was them implanted in her uterus. The embryo grew inside the woman and was born like other babies. Some people oppose this kind of operation because they feel it is 'not natural.' Other people favor it because it would allow a husband and wife to have a child when otherwise it would be impossible. Which point of view comes closer to your own?"

Here are the results nationwide and by key groups:

	Favor operation	Oppose operation	No opinion

Catholics	56	32	12

And this question was also asked:

"Suppose you were married and wanted to have a child but were unable to do so. Do you think you would or would not be willing to undergo this procedure if it would enable you to have a child?"

Following are the results:

	Yes, would	No, would not	Don't know

seizure of their property, because it was not their property that was searched and seized. Their Fourth Amendment rights were never infringed. Thus, the rifle and shells could be introduced in evidence against them.

By its holding in the Rakas-King case, the Court departed from two major decisions of the Warren era, Jones v. United States in 1960 and Alderman v. United States in 1969. These are key links in a chain of cases that established the "exclusionary rule" and the "fruit of the poisoned tree." Somewhat oversimplified, the rule says that evidence that has been poisoned by unlawful seizure must be excluded on trial of a case.

One trouble with the exclusionary rule, said Rehnquist, is that "relevant and reliable evidence is kept from the trier of fact and the search for truth at trial is deflected." Every time the exclusionary rule is applied, "it exacts a substantial social cost for the vindication of Fourth Amendment rights." True, the Fourth Amendment does provide a degree of protection for persons who are legitimately on premises" is not to be taken with blind adherence. A sawed-off rifle in somebody else's car is fair game for the cops.

The four dissenters, led by Justice Byron White, moaned that the majority had "eviscerated" the prior law and had invited police "to engage in patently unreasonable searches every time an automobile contains more than one occupant." I do not read the Rehnquist opinion that way. As mere passengers, Rakas and King had no Fourth Amendment rights in Mrs. Clontz's car. Convictions affirmed! In Earl Warren's time, it would have gone the other way.

host of objects ranging from Wedgwood china to a tote bag with "I Love New York" inscribed in hieroglyphics.

The Metropolitan Museum reports that sales of its Tut relic reproductions and publications long ago totalled more than $12 million nationwide since 1976; profits will go to finance renovation of the Cairo Museum.

An "astounding" 80,000 people have paid $12.95 for "Tutankhamen — The Untold Story" by Thomas Hoving, says a spokesman for Simon & Schuster, which published the book just two months ago.

None of this surprises Hoving. A former director of the Metropolitan and the man who masterminded the Tut exhibit's 7-city, 3-year U.S. tour. Hoving says he knew all along precisely what he was doing.

"After we concluded the negotiations to bring the exhibit here, I wrote down what I thought the attendance would be. I figured 1 million a city. It averages 1.2 million. That's not bad," he says.

Phantom Of The Chapel: A Cat

CHICAGO (AP) — The phantom of Rockefeller Chapel has been found. It's a cat who likes to sing — but not for an audience.

"That's right. A white cat with brown spots wandered into the chapel about two weeks ago, probably because he heard the choir singing," said Mignon Hickman, administrative assistant for the chapel at the University of Chicago.

It was some time before the cat was actually seen, but every time the 43-member concert choir began practicing, his voice could be heard.

"I'm convinced that the cat knows Bach's 'Christmas Oratorio,'" said Mrs. Hickman.

But when the "Christmas Oratorio" was performed before a crowd, the cat didn't join in.

"He doesn't like audiences," said Mrs. Hickman. "He's back this week singing along at rehearsals for Handel's 'Messiah.'"

Airport Robbery Getaway Van Combed

NEW YORK (AP) — Fingerprint experts swarmed over a black getaway van today looking for clues that would help them crack what the FBI says is the biggest cash heist in U.S. history.

Police said the van, found Wednesday night on a Brooklyn street, was used by five masked gunmen to flee the Lufthansa German Airlines cargo hangar at Kennedy Airport Monday with more than $5 million in U.S. currency plus a huge haul of foreign currency and jewels.

But the men who masterminded the robbery and their record-breaking loot were still missing early today.

It was a traffic officer looking for illegally parked cars who gave the combined forces of the FBI, city police and the Port Authority police their biggest break in the case.

The van was towed to Kennedy Airport in the custody of Port Authority police, who have jurisdiction over all crimes committed at the airport.

The FBI confirmed Wednesday what had been in the van when it left the Lufthansa hangar after the hour-long rifling of a "high-value" concrete vault room: more than $5 million cash in U.S. currency, an undetermined amount of foreign currency and an unknown amount of precious stones and other jewelry.

An airline spokesman had said earlier that the jewelry shipments had a declared value of more than $850,000.

Discovery of the van came after authorities made public two composite drawings based on descriptions of two of the masked robbers. The composites showed one suspect to be about 27 with dark hair and a drooping mustache, the other appeared to be about 30, clean-shaven with gray hair. All of the robbers were described as white males with Brooklyn accents.

The gunmen reportedly unmasked at some point during the robbery long enough for Lufthansa guard Kerry Whalen to remember their faces. Whalen is believed to have seen the robbers during an interval when they believed he was unconscious from a blow to the head.

Although authorities refused to officially confirm that any of the employees had seen the robbers, a Port Authority police source who asked not to be identified said, "You wouldn't expect us to have composites if somebody didn't see their faces, would you?"

Whalen and at least nine other Lufthansa employees, who were handcuffed and locked in a cafeteria during the robbery, were under heavy police protection.

The Lufthansa heist surpasses the Guinness Book of World Records mark for robberies set in 1971 when New York's Pierre Hotel was the site of a stickup unofficially put at about $5 million.

In an alleged robbery earlier this year that involved neither cash nor arms, more than $10 million was transferred from the Security Pacific Nation Bank in Los Angeles to a private account by a computer manipulation.

The famed Brinks robbery of 1950 netted the thieves $1.2 million in cash and a like amount in negotiable securities.

Builder Of The Year Is Honored

Tommie L. Little, president of Tommie L. Little & Associates, was honored recently by the Greenville Home Builders Association as "Builder of the Year" for 1978.

TOMMIE LITTLE

Little received the builder award during the local association's annual awards and installation banquet.

The recipient, who has been engaged in building homes in Greenville for three years, served this year as second vice president of the HBA and was recently installed as first vice president for 1979.

A graduate of Catawba College, Little attended the Builders Institure at North Carolina State University.

Little is a member of the University City Kiwanis Club, past president of the Greenville Sports Club, and now serves as a member of the board of directors of the ECU Pirates Club. He is a member of Crown Point Masonic Lodge and a Shriner.

Little, a member of First Presbyterian Church, resides at 110 Lord Ashley Drive with his wife and two children.

Local builders Ollie Harrington and Mark Tipton received the builder of the year award in 1976 and 1977, respectively.

Nuclear Power Plants Performance Improved

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Improved performance by nuclear power plants means the state's two major electric utilities won't face economic penalties today from the N.C. Utilities Commission.

The commission could have ordered Duke Power Co. and Carolina Power and Light Co. to absorb additional generating costs if, because of poor management, their nuclear plants did not run at least 60 percent of the time.

The commission wants the two companies to run their nuclear plants as much as possible. Although nuclear plants cost more to build than coal plants, they are cheaper to run.

The rule was prompted by poor performance of Duke's Oconee plant and CP&L's Brunswick plant, both plagued by mechanical failures. Oconee ran 58 percent of the time last year, and Brunswick, 39 percent.

Oconee's fuel and operating costs are 5 cents per 10 kilowatt hours while the cost of substitute power is 20 cents per 10 kilowatt hours.

Both plants increased their output in 1978. For the first 11 months of the year, Oconee recorded a 72 percent performance, the best in its five-year history.

In the 12 months ended Oct. 31, CP&L's Brunswick plant ran 66 percent of the time. Combined with CP&L's other nuclear plant, Robinson, the factor was 64 percent.

North Carolina's plant performance rule, adopted last May, is believed to be the first of its kind in the nation.

In a public hearing in Raleigh today, the utilities commission was expected to change the way in which utilities can figure the "fuel charge" on electric bills.

The fuel charge, which varies from month to month, allows utilities to charge for higher coal, uranium and oil costs.

Beginning in January, the fuel charges will no longer be a separate entry on electric bills and will become part of the basic electricity rates. They will be adjusted every six months.

Installation On Saturday

The Pitt County Chapter No. 1530 of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees will meet at 12 noon Saturday at the Three Steers Restaurant for a "Dutch" luncheon.

Installation of officers will be held. Members are urged to attend the holiday social period. All visitors are welcome.

Hold Childbirth Class Friday

The Eastern Area Health Education Center will sponsor a Caesarean childbirth class Friday, Dec. 15, 8 p.m.' in the physical therapy department of Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Approximately two out of every ten couples will have an unexpected Caesarean childbirth. This class will help all couples to develop a knowledge of the caesarean birth and have a more positive participating experience.

For more information, call 757-4600 or 756-5883.

Services Sunday Afternoon

Services will be held Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at the Pray Hour Holiness Church, 1811 S. Pitt St.

Elder McNair, choir and congregation of Robersonville Holiness Church will be present for the service.

Elder M. C. Cousin is pastor of the Greenville Church. The public is invited to attend.

TOLL IS RISING

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The deaths from poison bootleg liquor in the east Indian state of Bihar climbed to 254, and at least 139 more are critically ill, the United News of India says.

Set Benefit DanceFriday

A benefit Disco Dance, with proceeds to go to the Aycock Jr. High Athletic Dept., is being held beginning at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 15 in the school's gym. The Monogram Club is sponsoring the event.

Other recent activities at Aycock include the presentation of a bird bath to the school by the Greenville Garden Club. The club further plans to do landscaping of the courts at Aycock.

Two ninth graders, Latonia Streeter and Barry Smith, were crowned "Mr. and Miss NAACP" at an event sponsored by the Macedonia Baptist Church, Farmville.

Television sportscaster Jim Woods is to speak to members of the Career Club at its December meeting; and the school newspaper, "The Jaguar Journal," goes on sale Dec. 19.

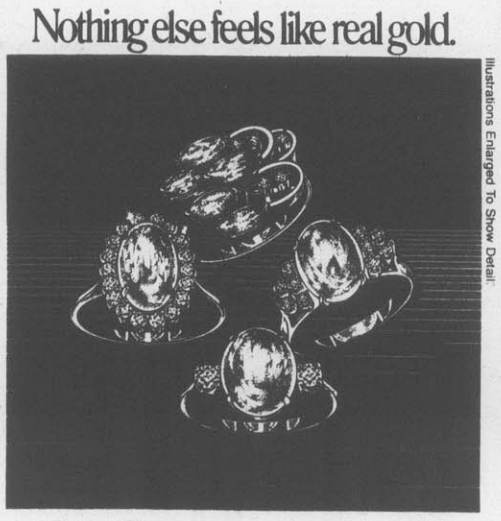

Christmas assemblies will be held in the gym Dec. 19 and 20, with music to be provided by the Choral Club. Also, the Future Business Leaders Association is sponsoring a canned food drive for a needy family at Christmas. Items collected will be presented to the Salvation Army for distribution.

Split In Ranks Of Palestinians

By GEORGE A. KRIMSKY
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Moderate and radical Palestinians are splitting over the proposal for self-rule in the West Bank and Gaza, and Yasser Arafat's position could be jeopardized.

The Palestine Liberation Organization chief publicly opposes the Egyptian-Israeli autonomy plan, but the radicals say he secretly plans to enter the PLO in elections outlined by the proposal.

The radicals already have begun an "education" campaign in Lebanon's Palestinian camps to convince refugee masses that Arafat plans to betray their cause for regaining the homeland.

"If the PLO participates, it would mean we accept the Camp David framework, the Israeli occupation, the settlements, all of it, without even getting an independent state," a radical spokesman told The Associated Press in an interview granted on the condition neither he nor his organization would be identified.

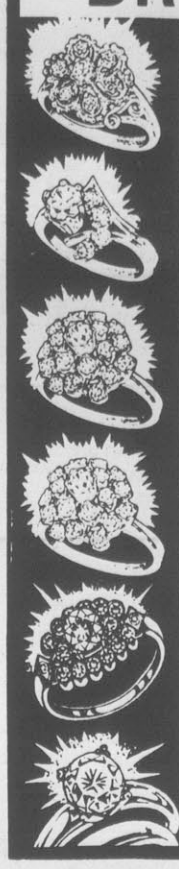

"Arafat is preparing the ground now for taking part in the self-rule plan. If he continues, we are sure the Palestinian situation will explode," the spokesman said. He raised the specter of an inter-Palestinian "revolution" in Lebanon, currently the home base for the guerrilla movement.

Asked about the charge, a spokesman for Arafat's Al Fatah group denied the 49-yearold leader secretly intends to participate in the self-rule plan. But he said the PLO leadership would consider taking part in elections in the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and Gaza Strip "if the United Nations supervised them and if Israel withdraws completely."

According to the radicals, most of the West Bank and Gaza political leaders are "waiting for a signal" from Arafat to prepare for the PLO's entrance in municipal elections.

Preparing Offer Conventional Loans With Graduated Rates

By MICHAEL DOAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many federal savings and loans are preparing to offer conventional loans to home buyers on a graduated interest rate that will let them make lower mortage payments for the first few years they are buying a house.

For example, a standard home mortgage of $50,000 at 9½ percent interest over 30 years calls for monthly payments of $420. Under the graduated plan, the payments during the first year would be $318 a month. The monthly payment would increase in each of the first five years, reaching $457 in the fifth year. It would continue at that level until the loan is repaid.

The plan already is offered on many loans guaranteed by the Federal Housing Administration — commonly referred to as FHA loans.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board was voting today on a regulation authorizing the nation's 2,000 federally chartered savings and loans to offer the graduated plan on conventional loans.

"They will start very promptly, probably after the first of the year," said Alan Wade, spokesman for the United States League of Savings Associations.

However, he said, the program's growth may be gradual and he could not estimate how many associations would offer the plan.

Most people now buy their houses by paying the same mortgage interest rate for the entire life of the mortgage. Under the graduated plan, the lower payments during the first few years of the loan result from the interest rate being lower during those years.

The new bank board package also includes the reverse annuity mortgage, a plan allowing older homeowners to borrow on the equity of their house and repay it when they sell or take it out of their estate. A savings and loan would have to present a plan to the board for approval on a case-by-case basis.

The new package also includes another plan called the variable rate mortgage. Under it, the interest rate and monthly payments are adjustedregularly, depending on interest rates in the economy. However, the variable rate mortage is to be offered only in California, where it is already available through some state-chartered savings and loans.

The National Association of Home Builders has said the variable rate plan could push up interest rates and add to the cost of housing.

Offer A Gift Of Education

MAYS LANDING, N.J. (AP) — Atlantic Community College is offering holiday gift certificates for the person who has everything — except an education.

The small two-year college near Atlantic City is offering gift certificates in any amount that can be used for tuition, college spokeswoman Ellen Kaplan said.

"We printed up our own gift certificates here," Ms. Kaplan said. "If people want to give a $2 certificate, that's fine. It's the thought that counts."

She said a 15-credit semester costs about $250 and the college takes major credit cards.

Tree Insects Pose Threat

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The U.S. Forest Service has said an insect that preys on white pine Christmas trees and hard pine species in North Carolina may pose a serious threat to growers in 1979.

Forest Service officials said the pine sawfly has already damaged trees in Avery, Caldwell, Burke and Jackson counties and that defoliation of pines has been noted in some areas of the Blue Ridge Parkway.

Entomologists are considering bringing parasitic insects that prey on sawflies into infested areas of North Carolina.

The sawfly, which came from Europe and Siberia, was found in the Northeastern United States 64 years ago, but was never detected south of Pennsylvania until it showed up in North Carolina last year.

Arnold Drooz, an entomologist for the Forest Service at the Research Triangle Park, said the pest progresses from egg to larva to cocoon and, finally, to a winged insect. The larvae strip foliage from trees and are capable of killing pines, Drooz said.

He said adult female sawflies are yellow and black and males are mostly black with feathery antennae. The cocoons are brown and leathery and often are fastened to grass, twigs, needles and the bark of trees, Drooz said.

Bank Robbers Left The Coins

RAYNHAM, Mass. (AP) — The bank got to keep the change when a pair of holdup men apparently considered it more trouble than it was worth.

Police Chief Peter King said two men wearing ski masks and yellow slickers entered a branch office of the First Bristol County National Bank Wednesday, hurdled a counter and entered the vault.

Finding only one bag of coins in the vault, the disappointed bandits, one of them armed with a pistol, fled, King said.

FBI Has Own Competency Test

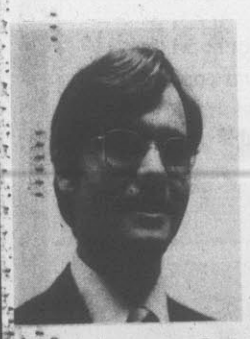

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Students grappling with basic competency tests might be encouraged to know that aspiring FBI agents must meet the bureau's own basic competency standards.

These days, being able to track down bad guys isn't enough to get you into the FBI. You also have to be able to spell words like "espionage" and "clandestine."

Those two words are included in a list of 500 distributed to prospective agents preparing for the bureau's screening exam Dec. 21 in Albany, N.Y.

The list reads something like a crime novel, on the assumption that if you can't spell "pyromania" "sabotage" or "insurrection," you may not be able to recognize the real thing.

Time Fast Runs Out On Cleveland

By STEVEN P. ROSENFELD
Associated Press Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's mayor and city council remain sharply divided over how to raise cash for their troubled city, with default on $15.5 million in loans only one day away.

Mayor Dennis Kucinich mustered only 13 council votes Wednesday, well short of the 22 he needed, favoring of his lastditch plan to increase payroll taxes and bring in an immediate $38 million in revenue.

Many council members insist the city should sell a $158 million light system to raise cash.

Six local banks must decide whether to refinance $15.5 million in short-term notes that mature Friday if the city is to avert becoming the first major U.S. city to default since the Depression.

Bankers have not indicated whether Kucinich's plan, including the 50 percent increase in the city's 1 percent payroll tax increase, is enough to persuade them to extend Rleveland's credit.

But Kucinich was optimistic Wednesday. "It's sort of like trying to run a race where you have to clear hurdles," he said. "If you don't start to run, it is sure you are going to lose."

The non-binding council vote, which followed a three-hour meeting between Kucinich and 27 council members, was nine short of the 22 votes required to send the tax increase plan to the voters.

The 32-year-old mayor said he thought his financial plan would work. But he said: "If I cannot get the City Council's cooperation...Cleveland will be in default."

Kucinich says default would bring layoffs, reductions in health care, waste collection, police, firefighting and other services, and delay improvements to snow removal equipment and street repairs.

Eventually, default could lead to bankruptcy and the city's surrender of financial control.

Legal Action?

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — The city of Winston-Salem is reportedly considering whether to take legal action to retrieve about $136,000 in federal anti-poverty money which is said to have ended up in the hands of a private, profit-making company.

The money is all that remains of $375,586 in Model Cities grants that the city Board of Aldermen gave to the non-profit Forsyth County Economic Development Corp. in the early 1970s to promote black capitalism.

However, most of the companies the corporation tried to form or help went bankrupt, and most of the money was lost. Vanguard Investment Co. Inc. now controls the corporation, according to a city audit.

The audit showed that the $136,134 is not being used for the purpose for which it was given, and has not been returned to the city.

Auditors said Vanguard refused to show its books to them and would not sign a statement saying the records the company did supply were accurate. The Winston-Salem Journal reported in Wednesday's editions that it could not reach Vanguard president James F. Hansley for comment.

According to papers filed with the N.C. Secretary of State, Vanguard operates as an investment company under the auspices of the federal Small Business Administration which matches private money. The funds are supposed to be used to help minority-owned businesses.

Fluoride Issue Facing Grifton

GRIFTON — Dr. Bill Rasberry, a Grifton dentist, came before the Grifton Town Board of Commissioners Tuesday to request that the town pursue adding fluoride to its water supply.

It was pointed out that the Utilities Director would have to have an "A" or "B" health certificate from the North Carolina Board of Health in handling the fluoridation process.

The board decided to schedule a public hearing on the matter in the latter portion of January, 1979.

Police Chief Linwood Outlaw reported that Officers Jackie Eason and William Aldridge had resigned from the Grifton police force. The board did not take any action concerning hiring two new officers.

Chief Outlaw also requested that the police cars be equipped with mobile radio telephones. According to Outlaw, the phone number would be routed through Kinston. The matter was tabled until the next meeting.

The board decided to hire Ms. Fay Bollinger as Grifton's librarian. Ms. Bollinger replaces Mrs. Gail Quinn, who Ayden-Grifton High School.

The board was reminded that town facilities would be closed Monday, Dec. 25, and Tuesday, Dec. 26.

Lighting City Christmas Tree Sunday

The annual ceremony of Lighting the City Christmas Tree at Elm Street Park will take place at 3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 17.

According to Recreation and Parks Dept. director Boyd Lee, this year the Pitt County Young Republican Club is co-sponsoring the event with the Recreation Dept.

Persons attending are being asked to bring items of canned goods to be distributed by the Young Republicans to needy persons and families in Greenville.

In addition to the tree lighting ceremony, there will also be a program of Christmas carol singing.

Two N.C. Suits Filed By 'Nova'

By The Associated Press

Florida-based Nova University has filed two suits against the University of North Carolina and its Board of Governors contending the board violated the U.S. Constitution when it denied the school an operating license last week.

The suits ask that Nova be allowed to offer programs in the state without being licensed and be allowed to confer degrees. The suits were filed in response to the UNC board's decision that Nova did not meet the state's licensing standards and should not be allowed to confer degrees in North Carolina.

Dr. Abraham S. Fischler, Nova president, said Wednesday, "We fervently believe our off-campus programs are worthy of state licensure in North Carolina, and any other state for that matter, on their educational merits alone."

He said the school has only 16 students currently studying in North Carolina. Nova offers graduate degrees in North Carolina in education and criminal justice.

Marvin Schiller, an assistant attorney general handling the cases for the state, said he would file answers to both suits soon. He said the state is not trying to interfere with Nova's freedom to operate, but only wants to prohibit the awarding of degrees.

The UNC board is authorized to govern the licensing of non-public educational institutions, but has no enforcement powers.

Nova opened in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in 1964, and in 1973 it started non-residence programs, including those in North Carolina.Students attend classes on weekends and do independent work.

Emergency Gas Plea Is Unheard

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina Natural Gas officials did not get a chance to carry their plea for an emergency natural gas allocation to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Wednesday.

The FERC postponed a hearing on that request and did not schedule another although it could be considered by the commission next week.

N.C. Natural Gas President Frank Barragan was to appear at the Washington hearing to discuss the allocation which would be made under a new energy priority rating system.

Fled From Hotel Fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — Actress Carol Channing said she began to worry about dying when a fire trapped her in a smoke-filled room at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

"My husband and I were in the room because we couldn't get down the hallway from the smoke," she said after firemen led them from the hotel Wednesday. "I thought, 'It is a slow death,' and then that we'll have to hold hands and jump out the window. Things like that go through your mind."

The hotel was hit by two fires Wednesday. Miss Channing, her husband, Charles Lowe, and 200 other hotel guests were evacuated when a storage closet caught fire at about 1:30 a.m.

Seven hours later, after the guests had returned to their rooms, a second fire broke out in an unoccupied apartment, fire investigators said. It was that blaze which trapped Miss Channing and her husband.

Two minor injuries were reported from the fires in the hotel, which is across the street from a theater where Miss Channing is starring in "Hello, Dolly!"

Auto Body Shop Price-Fixing Charges Bring Guilty Pleas

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Accepting no contest pleas from eight parties charged with conspiring to fix auto body shop labor rates, a federal judge has rejected fines of nearly $1 million recommended by a prosecutor.

"I think the public should be thankful for the effort you have made," U.S. District Judge John MacKenzie told Assistant U.S. Attorney James Weiss here Wednesday.

"But I should say that I could never in my wildest imagination reach for the fines suggested by you."

Seven auto dealers and the Tidewater Automobile Dealers Association pleaded no contest to charges they conspired to fix the repair prices.

The dealers were fined $5,000 each and the association was fined $3,500.

Weiss suggested nearly $1 million in fines, with $150,000 the highest individual recommendation.

But MacKenzie said the case involved an agreement by the firms to increase the hourly labor rate from $9 to $11.

"Until 1975, this type of anti-trust was only a misdemeanor and $50,000 was the maximum fine that could be levied," the judge said.

Newer, higher penalties and felony charges were designed to "reach out for national cases involving national firms," he added.

The seven firms were Phillips Lincoln-Mercury, Phillips Oldsmobile, Cavalier Ford, Kimnach Ford, Atlantic AMC-Jeep, Hoff Cadillac and Colonial Chevrolet.

Norfolk City Councilman Conoly Phillips owns Phillips Lincoln-Mercury, but a prosecutor said that Phillips "was not deeply involved in the conspiracy, just his dealership."

Phillips was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate earlier this year.

Weiss said 26 firms apparently were involved, but the government filed charges against the seven "that we believed to be the most culpable."

MacKenzie accepted the no contest pleas after attorneys for the defendants made a surprise appearance in court and asked to be allowed to enter the pleas.

Indictments against the firms on Sept. 18 followed an 18-month grand jury investigation. The government contended the conspiracy began in February 1976.

The defendants had entered innocent pleas and their attornies refused to discuss why the pleas were changed.

Traditional British Policeman's Image Is Changed

By GRAHAM HEATHCOTE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The image of the British policeman as a kindly copper helping old ladies across the road is gone for good after the Eltham shooting and the siege of Blackstock Road.

Two encounters in three days between policemen and armed bandits in London showed that while the bobby on his beat still walks only with a truncheon, he is backed by an army of trained marksmen and an armory of death-dealing weapons.

In a crowded shopping street in southeast London's Eltham district, a detective sergeant in plain clothes shot a gunman dead on Saturday. On Monday, a huge show of police force in north London's Highbury district forced two young gunmen holed up in Blackstock Road to surrender, 15 hours after they looted a liquor store with a shotgun.

Television and press cameras pictured the siege — the bandits' gun and police arsenal: revolvers, rifles, pump-action shotguns, bullhorns, bullet-proof vests, German shepherd dogs and intensive beam searchlights.

Such scenes might be common in some countries, but in Britain, with its tradition of police without guns, the show was a stunner.

The two events dramatically underlined a recent warning by Scotland Yard's commissioner, Sir David McNee, that no quarter would be given to armed criminals in London and that force would be met with force.

It was no secret that a lot of policemen now know how to use guns.

London's armed police had first showed themselves in force in 1975 when they compelled the surrender of a gang robbing a restaurant and a group of Irish terrorists who had seized hostages in an apartment block.

The Yard publicized its stepped-up training in the use of guns, its purchase of the latest weapons from the United States and its creation of special units to protect foreign embassies from terrorists, patrol high risk robbery areas and conduct sieges.

But these special units are under the control of the Yard.

Saturday's Eltham shooting showed that neighborhood police at precinct stations are carrying guns. And within 48 hours, the new direction in crime-fighting was demonstrated by the speed and power of the police response to the Highbury robbery.

In Eltham, a car full of detectives scouting possible robbery sites after earlier raids saw a shotgun gang robbing a security truck of receipts from a supermarket. When one of the gunmen swung his sawedoff shotgun toward the officers challenging him, Detective Sgt. Michael Banks, 32, killed him with a single revolver bullet.

It was the first revelation that precinct policemen were going armed on some assignments. Scotland Yard told The Associated Press that the commanders of each of the 26 Metropolitan Police districts have authority to issue guns to their men if they feel it's necessary.

The Yard named the dead gunman as Michael Calvey, 37, from London's tough East End, an unemployed father of two, who served 10 years in prison for armed robberies and who had been released from jail for a day in 1970 to get married.

Calvey's widow, Linda, told a reporter: "He was never a violent man. He told me he was through with crime and going straight. I want a full investigation. The police should have shot to wound and not to kill."

Gun confrontations with the police are uncommon in Britain and are big news when they happen.

Calvey was only the sixth gunman shot to death by the police in the last 25 years. Four of the six victims were killed in the last five years and two of them were teenage Asians who staged a holdup in the Indian High Commision in London with toy guns. But when the police opened fire, they thought they were facing the real thing.

Scotland Yard's deputy assistant commissioner, David Powis, told reporters after the Eltham shooting that he will stop robbers by all legal means, including shooting "in the center of the target." "These habitual criminals who go out on these atrocious crimes must realize they are embarking on very dangerous undertakings," he said.

The Yard said the 935 armed robberies in London last year were 22 percent up from 1976, and guns were fired in 61 of them, compared with 35 the previous year.

Publicity over the Eltham and Blackstock Road shootings stirred troubled comment about the increasing arming of the police.

Labor lawmaker Bruce George warned of a "slippery slope" and said he will question Home Secretary Merlyn Rees about police use of guns.

London's Conservative Evening Standard newspaper commented: "Policemen should manage without guns wherever possible...Civil peace is a precious and envied part of British life. Anyone who has seen police in France or Italy wearing pistols at the hip..or Aoerican forces swinging into the attack, must dread the thought that London policemen might become trigger-happy."

The Laborite Daily Mirror newspaper commented: "There is a danger that in a world of increasing criminal violence we may drift into a climate where arming the police becomes accepted and acceptable."

The publicity had no obvious effect on the underworld. Less than 48 hours after Calvey died and during the siege at Blackstock Road, shotgun bandits robbed a security truck of $44,000 about 18 miles from London, and other gun-toters stole gems worth $11,000 from a London shop.

Speaking of Your Health...

Cancer Therapies Can Be Effective

Two members of my immediate family developed cancer. Both were given large amounts of chemicals. Neither one survived. My question is, "Why do they continue to give these drugs when they do not seem to be effective?" — Mr. L.T.T., Conn.

Dear Mr. T.:

It is sad that the drugs and other techiniques that are now available for the treatment of cancer are not always effective. Yet, in many instances, chemotherapy can produce remissions in patients who might otherwise not survive the ravages of this formidable disease.

There are a variety of cancerous tumors than can actually be cured, or kept under control. For example, acute lymphocytic leukemia, a form of cancer in children, has responded to some of the newer drugs. Children who might otherwise not have survived are alive because of the effects of chemotherapy.

An enormous amount of research has produced dozens of drugs which have a value against certain specific tumors. Oncologists (specialists in the use of chemicals against cancer) now have about 30 or 40 different drugs which have potential value in controlling the extension of cancerous disease. These drugs, when used in combination with surgery and radiation therapy, offer the greatest chance for control.

A new concept, known as "immune therapy," is the most recent light on the horizon for the control of malignant cells in the body. Ongoing research all over the world offers the greatest sense of hope that the answer to cancer is inevitable.

Our 14-year-old son still speaks in a high-pitched voice. He is bright and in an advanced grade which brings him in contact with older boys. It's becoming more and more embarrassing to him. Is there any way we can help him to speed up the change to an adult voice? — Mrs. G.G., Fla.

Dear Mrs. G.:

It is not unusual for a delay in the change from the high-pitched voice of puberty into the lower-pitched voice of adolescence. Yet this is small comfort to a boy who is made anxious by the persistence of a childish voice. Unfortunately, "other" youngsters can be cruel, and thus magnify the intensity of your son's anxiety.

In some instances, hormone deficiencies may be pinpointed as the cause. If so, hormone replacement can be effective. If studies fail to reveal a hormone deficiency, then it might be worthwhile for you to investigate a speech-training program. Speech therapists are highly trained people who can, with specially designed vocal exercises, help to lower the pitch of the voice. An additional value to such speech therapy is that your son will be given a more positive feeling that something active is being done to remedy his problem.

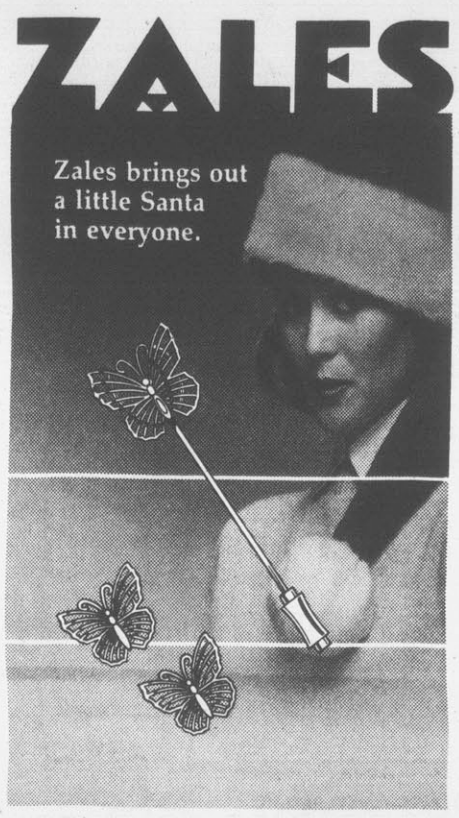

Time and patience, of course, are two valuable means of support during the period. With your understanding and help your son will advance to a mature voice with little or no emotional scarring.

Again Convicted Of Maiming Stepsons

BOLIVIA, N.C. (AP) — A Supply man has been convicted for the second time of charges of maiming his two stepsons and has been sentenced to a maximum of 10 years in prison on each of the two charges with the terms to run consecutively.

Lee Maxwell Hewett Jr., 22, was denied bond pending his appeal.

Hewett was charged with scalding his two stepsons, Ronnie Gross, 6, and Shawn Gross, 4, by holding them in a bathtub of water. Both children were severely burned. One child lost four toes on each foot, according to trial testimony.

Dr. L.B. Mason of Wilmington testified Wednesday that he had seen both boys shortly after the incident and that their injuries were permanent and maiming. Hewett was first convicted of the charges in April 1977. He was given a new trial because an appeals court said the first trial jury was given improper instructions.

Ronnie Gross testified for the prosecution, pointing out his stepfather as the person who forced him and his brother into the tub, turned on the water and held them down in it.

The boys' mother, Sharon Hewett, testified that she was in another room and heard the children screaming during the incident in May. She said she ran into the bathroom and tried to stop her husband but was knocked down. She said she then went for help. An agent of the State Bureau of Investigation backed up her testimony.

But the defense presented arguments that the children were in the bathroom and that Hewett broke down the shower door to get the boys out when he discovered what had happened to them.

Undeterred By Club Acquittal

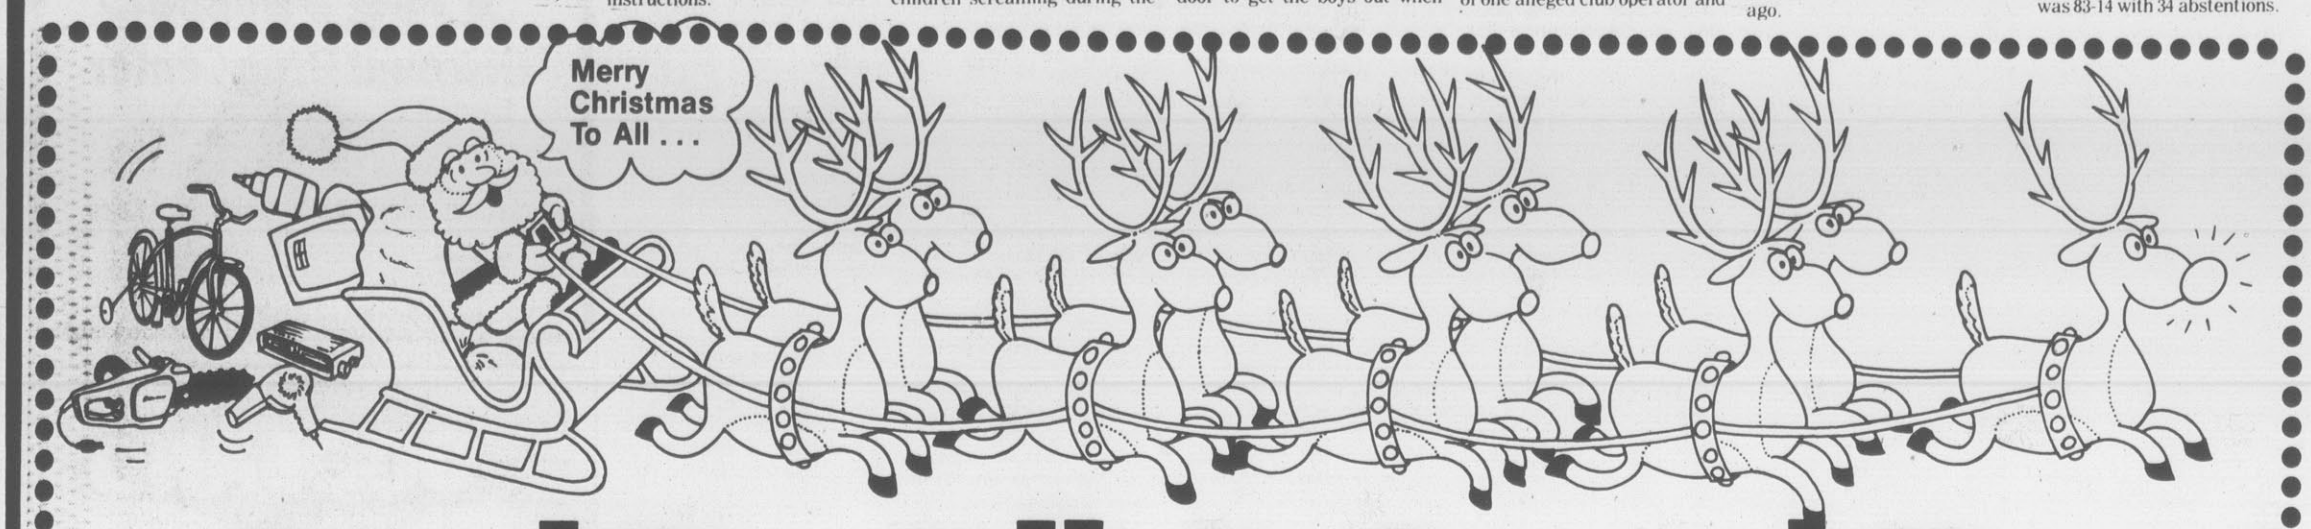

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Gaston County authorities vow they will continue to fight illegal nightclubs, despite the acquittal of one alleged club operator and the dropping of charges against another two.

The alleged operator was acquitted in district court Tuesday after prosecutors tried unsuccessfully to establish that he was in charge of a club which offered liquor.

Charges against two other alleged operators were then dropped, and charges against another two alleged operators were dismissed several weeks ago.

CONDEMN COLLUSION

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The General Assembly voted yesterday to condemn what it termed collusion of Israel, Japan, the United States, Britai-, France, West Germany, Belgium and Italy in collaborating "politically, diplomatically, economically and militarily" with the government of South Africa. The vote was 83-14 with 34 abstentions.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were lower in slow trading today marking the third consecutive session of declines.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off 1.39 at 808.47 by noon. The Dow average tumbled more than 3 points near the opening, recovered to fractional loss by late morning then drifted lower again.

Uncertainties on domestic and international issues have weighed on the market for several days, including the Mideast peace settlement, oil prices and domestic interest rates.

This weekend the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries will meet to set OPEC oil prices. Although there have been indications that the price increase may be within a 5 to 10 percent range, the Oil Minister of Iraq, Tayeh Abdul Karim, said today he considered that increase "unacceptable."

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal also raised the spector of continued tight money and high interest rates. He told a congressional hearing that monetary policy "must be kept tight until inflation has been brought under control."

Overall, declining issues outnumbered gainers by a margin of almost 2-to-1 in a noon tally of trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Big Board volume came to 9.50 million shares at midday, up slightly from 9.43 million on Tuesday.

Among actively traded issues, Marathon Manufacturing fell 1 point to 29 1/8; Texaco slipped 1/8 to 23 7/8; Standard Oil of Indiana rose 5/8 to 54 5/8 and Boeing gained 5/8 to 69 3/8. Maremont, down 7/8 to 29 1/4, in less active trading, Tuesday expressed interest in acquiring Marathon.

The NYSE composite index slipped .16 to 53.56. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index declined .19 to 150.04.

Lord Snowdon To Wed Again

LONDON (AP) — Lord Snowdon, Princess Margaret's former husband, announced today he will marry divorcee Lucy Lindsay-Hogg in London Friday.

Mrs. Lindsay-Hogg, 37, is the former wife of film producer Michael Lindsay-Hogg and has been Snowdon's steady companion. The marriage will take place at the Kensington register office.

Recreation...

such action is very likely that of a few of the residents only, and that he believes personal contact with residents will result in alleviation of the problem.

It was noted too that Jesse Harris, director of Human Relations, has already sent a memo on the situation to each resident of Moyewood, seeking their cooperation in helping to make the passive park area one that can be used for its intended use.

On the matter of progress of bids for projected new tennis courts, Lee informed commissioners that due to insufficient bids on Nov. 27, the original bid opening date, the bids had been readvertised and opened again on Dec. 7.

Two bids were received on surfacing, and one on fencing. Lee said he will recommend to the City Council that the lower of the two bids on surfacing be accepted, and that action be taken to put out further bids for the fencing.

After considering the standard offer of a recreation area required by the Planning and Zoning Commission in new sub-divisions, for an area in Twin Oaks Subdivision adjacent to Jaycee Park, commissioners voted to recommend the area not be held for purchase option. The area offered is 100 by 148 feet.

ECU Athletic Director Is Pleased With Fan Support

East Carolina University Athletic Director Bill Cain said he was pleased with the support shown to the university by its football fans as the date of the Independence Bowl draws near.

The Pirates face defending Independence Bowl champion Louisiana Tech in the game Saturday at 2:30 p.m. (eastern time) in Shreveport, La.

"I can't say that I'm displeased," Cain said concerning ticket sales for the game. "I'm always happy with the support that our fans have shown us, not only in this game, but over the years."

Cain pointed out that there are many factors that must be taken into consideration about the game. "It's a long, long way to have to go and there are no easy, inexpensive ways to get there. Also it comes right before Christmas, and a lot of people have other plans.

"I am pleased that the game will be on television. That will give a lot of our fans the opportunity to see the game, anyway," he added.

While there are several planeloads of people going to the game, Cain said he had no idea what the total number of fans who plan to attend the game are.

"The bowl people (in general, not just Independence) are impressed with what any institution can do with its ticket allotment. A lot of bowls don't really carry a lot of their fans with them. It all depends on when they play and where.

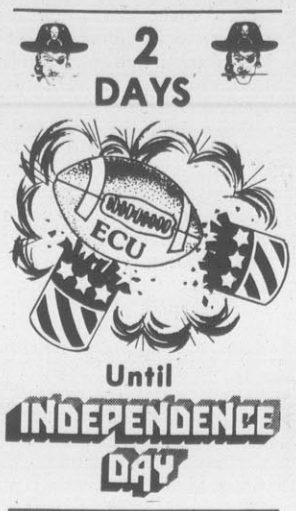

"We are trying to do the things necessary to have a good relationship with bowl people; trying to do things in a first class manner," he said.

Cain said the fact that the game would be on television on at least three stations in North Carolina, in a home-based network, has to be an impressive thing.

He also noted that while N.C. State carried a lot of people to the Peach Bowl in Atlanta last year, that ticket sales for this year's State bowl trip to the Tangerine in Orlando, were not attracting nearly the same following.

"As I said, it all depends on when and where."

The Pirate Club is now involved in a drive to sell the remaining tickets in the allotment, and Cain said initial response from the campaign is good.

Gminski Leads Blue Devils To 79-65 Win Over Southern Cal

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke Coach Bill Foster said Duke's 79-65 victory over Southern California Wednesday night was an emotional one — "almost as emotional as an ACC Atlantic Coast Conference game."

In the only game involving a conference team, powerful center Mike Gminski pumped in 25 points to lead the top-ranked Blue Devils over previously undefeated Southern California. There's no conference action scheduled tonight.

Both teams suffered from poor shooting in the first half, but Duke improved its shooting in the second half to 63 percent from the field, up from only 37.1 percent in the first half.

"Well, it was some second half for us out there," Foster said. "Give them a lot of credit for their defense. We were hoping to break open a lot earlier, but when we finally did, that was it."

The game had been billed as a battle of the centers, but the Blue Devils held Southern California center Cliff Robinson scoreless from the floor in the first half and limited him to a game total of six points.

Duke improved to 6-0 while Southern California fell to 3-1.

Leading the attack for the Trojans was Barry Brooks wtih 14 points. For Duke, Jim Spanarkel added 20 points and Gene Banks chipped in 17.

Robinson, the Pacific Conference leading scorer as a freshman last year, failed in 11 of 13 attempts from the floor. He sat out much of the second half after picking up his fourth foul with 9:11 left to play, but still led the rebounding with a game high of 14.

Banks and Gminski each collected eight rebounds for Duke, which had a team total of 41. Southern California had a team total of 37 rebounds.

Duke opened up to a 10-point lead on a backdoor play by Spanarkel with 17:40 to go in the second half. With seven minutes left in the game, Spanarkel made another backdoor play and boosted Duke's lead to 20 points, 62-42.

Foster said he hoped to control the game defensively a lot earlier and that he was not able to switch defensive tactics as much as ha would have liked. Duke played mostly zone, switching occasionally to man-to-man.

Southern California Coach Bob Boyd said "Duke is a much better team" than the Trojans.

"They executed very well," he said. "While playing from behind, this is a very tough offense to stop because we were overplaying going for the ball."

The Trojans connected on 30 percent of their shots from the floor in the first half, and 37 percent in the second.

Player Admission

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — In the first public acknowledgment by any of the principals, Indiana University basketball player Jim Roberson says he and two others were kicked off the team this week for smoking marijuana.

Roberson, a senior, and sophomores Tommy Baker and Don Cox were dismissed by Coach Bobby Knight Monday.

Five other players, including the top two scorers, were placed on indefinite probation, although Knight said it wouldn't affect their playing status.

On probation are starters Ray Tolbert and Mike Woodson and reserves Landon Turner, Phil Isenbarger and Eric Kirchner.

Roberson, a 6-foot-9 forwardcenter from Rochester, N.Y., said in a television interview, when asked if marijuana were involved: "That was, you know, that was it. Straight."

Roberson added: "There were not any wild partes; there were no wild events...where some innocent child would say, 'Is that one of the Indiana basketball players?'"

Kinston Tops Rampettes

KINSTON — Kinston High School's girls basketball team gained revenge for an earlier defeat by Rose High School by downing the Rampettes, 44-38, last night.

Rose moved out into the lead early, taking a 13-8 lead after one period. But Kinston moved into a tight zone defense in the second period and outscored Rose, 14-11, to close the gap to 24-22 at intermission.

Rose managed to hold onto the lead in the third period, but took only a 32-29 lead into the final quarter. Kinston, which dominated rebounding in the game, was able to overcome that lead, outscoring Rose, 15-6, in the final quarter to win the game.

"We played well, but we didn't shoot well," Coach Robert Carraway said afterwards. "Their zone defense hurt our inside game, too. We still got the shots, all through the game, but we just couldn't seem to hit the basket.

"We didn't even shoot free throws well, hitting just four of 14."

Von Chapman led Kinston with 13 points, while Addy Cuomo added 10. Kathy Streeter had 13 and Margaret McGlohon had 10 for Rose.

The Rampettes, now 2-3, play host to Washington on Tuesday.

Rose Streeter 13, McGlohon 10, Gay 6, Cullipher 6, Waller 2, Williams 1, Davis, Dunn, Haselrig.
Kinston Chapman 13, Cuomo 10, Davis 8, Carter 9, Longcake 4, Lutz, Hardy.

Jags Climb To Seventh

By AL CARSON
The Durham Sun

There is a 3-A team in the state voted number one this week which did not get enough votes to crack into The Top Ten of The Associated Press North Carolina high school basketball poll.

Hendersonville, 5-0, denied Washington the privilege of being a unanimous top choice, but the school finished 11th in the voting.

In the 4-A poll, Gastonia Ashbrook continued in first place, with McDowell County registering one first place vote and moving from sixth to fourth position.Changes in the 4-A classification saw Durham Hillside, Greensboro Grimsley and Fayetteville Terry Sanford all slipping after losses. Saford was replaced in the rankings by West Charlotte, Hillside moved from second to fifth and Grimsley went from third to seventh.

Raleigh Sanderson is number two, with Morganton Freedom taking the third spot.

Western Harnett succeeded Durham Jordan in the second spot in the 3-A poll. Jordan lost and slipped to fourth. Rockingham County jumped from fourth to third. Jordan and Western Harnett meet tomorrow night at Jordan in a Triangle 3-A Conference game.

Madison-Mayodan and Farmville Central, ninth and tenth last week, moved up to sixth and seventh, respectively. Madison bombed Western Guilford, 66-35, Tuesday, while Farmville thumped Eastern Wayne, 74-53. Both teams are 5-0.

Southwest Edgecombe and Salisbury, losers last week, slipped in the voting, as did West Carteret. All Three teams are now 5-1.

Hendersonville, a perennial power, was impressive in an 8064 win over Mountain Heritage, and earned its top vote, with a good chance of breaking into The Top Ten next week.

ASU Gets Victory

BOONE, N.C. (AP) — Virginia Military Institute came within three points of the lead against Appalachian State, but lost its momentum and the game, 108-82, in Southern Conference basketball action Wednesday night.

Appalachian led the entire game, building up its largest leads toward the end. VMI rallied near the end of the first half only to fall back again with the halftime score 49-41.

Guard Walter Anderson scored 23 points and center Mel Hubbard hit for 16 and pulled down 12 rebounds to lead the Mountaineers to their win.

The victory stretched the Mountaineers winning streak to seven for the season but dropped VMI to 4-3.

In the second half, Appalachian built up its lead, breaking the 100-point mark with 1:29 left on a 10-foot jumper by Tony Salvo.

Appalachian shot 56 perent from the field and 65 percent from the foul line. VMI managed 43 percent from the field and 64 percent from the charity line.

Vikings Down Jaguar Matmen

HOLLYWOOD — D.H. Conley gained a 37-28 wrestling victory over arch-rival Farmville Central last night.

The Vikings won seven of the 13 weight classes, taking four of them by pins. The remaining three, won by decisions, were by lopsided margins.

Conley actually piled up 38 points in the match, but were penalized a point when a Viking fan ran onto the mat at one point.

Farmville's six wins included two forfeits and one disqualification.

Conley is now 4-0 on the year, and will play host to Cary on Saturday. Farmville, 3-2, entertains Kinston on Friday.

Summary:

98 Greg Toler (C) decisioned Tomi King, 13-0.
105 Gary Harris (C) pinned Bryan White, 1:13.
112 Shannon Carson (C) decisioned Brady Nichols, 11-2.

Hogs In Jam Again

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Two University of Arkansas football players have been tied to a probe of the alleged rape of a coed in a UA athletic dormitory, sources have told The Associated Press.

A local prosecutor Wednesday night confirmed that a coed, about 21, had lodged a complaint alleging that she was raped six times early Tuesday morning in the dormitory. The university on Wednesday suspended two students pending a hearing, but declined to say whether the students were football players.

No charges have been filed.

The 9-2 Razorbacks, ranked No. 8, play UCLA in the Fiesta Bowl in Tempe, Ariz., Dec. 25.

School officials and Kim Smith, the Washington County deputy prosecutor conducting the probe, refused to name the students. However, sources close to the UA athletic program told the AP Wednesday night that the students were UA football players, and Smith said that he believed at least one of the two was a football player.

The team was wracked by scandal about this time last year when football Coach Lou Holtz suspended three key players from the Orange Bowl squad because of an alleged incident involving a woman in a dormitory.

Spartans Have No Trouble

By The Associated Press

What had been billed as the battle of the centers was really no contest as the top-ranked Duke Blue Devils put the clamps on Cliff Robinson and defeated No.12 Southern California 79-65.

"It was an emotional game," said Duke Coach Bill Foster, "almost as emotional as an ACC (Atlantic Coast Conference) game...almost."

Duke center Mike Gminski fired in 25 points and led the Blue Devils' blanket defense of Southern Cal center Cliff Robinson, the Pacific 8 Conference's leading scorer as a freshman last year. Robinson was scoreless from the floor in the first half and finished the game with just six points, hitting only 2 of 13 field goal attempts.

"They executed very well," Southern Cal Coach Bob Boyd said of the Blue Devils. "While playing from behind, this is a very tough offense to stop."

Duke led 32-26 at the half, then pulled away behind Gminski, Jim Spanarkel and Gene Banks.

"Give them a lot of credit for their defense," Foster graciously said. "We were hoping to break open a lot earlier, but when we finally did, that was it."

Spanarkel added 20 points and Banks 17 for Duke, Barry Brooks paced the Trojans with 14 points.

In the only other game involving a ranked team Wednesday night, No.3 Michigan State clobbered Western Michigan 109-69.

Michigan State Coach Jud Heathcote apparently didn't see the final score in his team's third straight victory.

"We played quite well in the first half, but we're not ready lo kill anybody yet," Heathcote said after the Spartans slaughtered Western Michigan. "We had trouble with their zone defense."

Jay Vincent scored 27 points — 21 in the first half that saw the Spartans take a 56-18 lead — to pace the Michigan State rout. Greg Kelser added 24 points and Earvin Johnson had 19 points, nine rebounds, six steals and 14 assists.

Ray Voelkel set an NCAA record for consecutive field goals as American University raced to its fifth straight win, 105-87 over Saint Mary's. Voelkel was 4-for-4 in the game to run his consecutive field goal streak to 24.

Chris Bennetti's 10-foot baseline jumper with three seconds remaining gave MacMurray a 79-78 win over Illinois College while Robin Gregory connected on two free throws with three seconds left to play to push Wittenberg past Ashland 75-74.

Elsewhere, it was Connecticut 65, Massachusetts 62; St. Francis 68, Penn St. 63; Appalachian 108, VMI 82; Bowling Green 80, Valparaiso 70; Southern Mississippi 107, Missouri-Kansas City 100; Toledo 64, Northwest Louisiana 48; Vanderbilt 65, Cal Poly-Pomona 62; Bradley 77, Loyola-Chicago 72; Dayton 86, Miami, Ohio, 69; DePaul 81, Butler 62; Detroit 101, Wayne State 66; Long Beach St. 91, Wichita St. 88; Nebraska 91, Cal State-Sacramento 56; Arizona 90, Grand Canyon 78; Colorado 97, Denver 70; Fullerton St. 109, Portland St. 92, and Washington St. 66, Gonzaga 63 in double overtime.

"I GIVE UP, LADY"

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Millie Morabito, executive secretary in the Broadcast News department of the Associated Press, is an ardent rooter for the Army football team.

This fall she attended the Colgate-Army game and found herself sitting behind a man, who was not only cheering hard for Colgate but smoking a big, black cigar. He was blowing unpleasant clouds of smoke back at Millie.

She remonstrated with him once, twice, three times. Finally, Miss Morabito took things into her own hands. She rolled up a program and began to hit him over the head. Miss Morabito landed a half dozen good shots before the man surrendered.

Farmville Central Girls Face Rebuilding Task This Season

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer

Inexperience is the key factor for Farmville Central's girls' basketball team this season. The Lady Jaguars have only one returning starter and not a single senior in the starting lineup.

"We're very, very young and inexperienced," said coach Hilda Worthington. "We have three juniors and two sophomores starting."

The Lady Jaguar coach said the team does have some assets, however. "We have some quickness, and we have a few with shooting ability, it's just slow in coming around."

But inexperience will be the team's biggest problem. "We're probably weak in all areas, it's just going to take a little time to come around and start putting things together."

Worthington said the Lady Jags are hoping to stay above .500 this year. "If we can do that, we will be doing real, real well, I think," she said.

The top returnee for Farmville Central is junior guard Diana Gordon (5-5). She has played for two seasons and was a starter last year. "Diana is a good little player. She is quick and plays good defense. She's got a good outside shot and the ability to drive with the ball," Worthington commented.

Junior Courtney Lancaster (5-5) is the other backcourt starter. She has a "good, smooth shot," Worthington said.

At center is 5-10 sophomore Rose Edmonds. "She is coming around real well for her first year starting," the coach said. "She's going to be a fairly good ballplayer."

Sophomore Etta Gorham (5-9) and junior Pam Moye (5-8) are the team's forwards. Gorham is improving, while Moye is one of the better shooters on the team.

The top reserve for the Lady Jaguars is senior Kathy Hart (5-9). She is a "utility" reserve, who can fill in "anywhere I need her," Worthington said.

Three freshmen make up the remainder of the team's reserves who are expected to see action this season. They are center Brenda Reid (5-11), forward Rose Lang (5-7) and guard Annie Fulton (5-7).

Worthington said D. H. Conley and new member Southwest Edgecombe should be the top teams in the Eastern Carolina Conference this season. "Conley has the best material and Southwest Edgecombe fits right up there with them."

In addition, Ayden-Grifton and North Lenoir should also be improved. "It's going to be a tough race."

The Lady Jaguars may have their problems this season. "We'll just try to gain experience and keep working on the fundamentals," Worthington said.

AMONG THE BEVY of professional basketball scouts at last weekend's Hatter Classic tournament in Deland, Fla. was Al Menendez, an assistant coach for the Detroit Pistons. By the time it was over Menendez, in his second year with Detroit, was drooling over Indiana State's Larry Bird.

Bird, a 6-9 forward who dominated in both of the Sycamores' runaway victories, is probably the best college player this season and exactly what the Pistons are after: a power forward. But despite the fact that Detroit has three first-round picks in this season's NBA draft, it will probably not be able to get Bird.

Rumor has it, according to Menendez, that Bird will sign with the Boston Celtics at the end of the season. The Celts drafted Bird as a junior season last year, but he chose to stay at Indiana State to finish out his college career. Boston owns the rights to the forward until the next draft, and Bird is expected to reach terms with the team soon after the end of the college season.

Menendez was a high school coach for five years in New York and served in an assistant's role at such places as C. W. Post, Hofstra, and Nevada-Las Vegas before landing his present job. He was hired at Detroit by former coach Herb Brown, who gave him his first college job.

THE BUSY SEASON for a pro scout begins with training camp in September, according to Menendez. "I have to be at training camp for the first week, and then we begin scouting all our opponents once they start playing exhibition games."

The purpose of this early scouting is not only to check out the opposition, but "we have to see if people will cut players that we can use," Menendez said.

"During the first two weeks of the season, I'm with the team most of the time, doing some scouting. When college practice starts on Oct. 15, when you go into a pro town, you usually try to watch the colleges there practice. For instance, I always scout UCLA when we are in Los Angeles.

"You can probably get a better idea of what kind of player and person a kid is in practice."

During December and January, Menendez spends nearly all of his time scouting college talent. He especially likes tournaments such as the Hatter Classic where he was looking over ECU's Oliver Mack, as well as Bird.

"I try to go to as many tournaments as I can because you can see four teams in one place and they are usually intersectional games. When you get a chance to see a team leave their area of the country, you get a better idea of how good a kid is."

Since the Pistons have three first-round picks this year, Menendez is concentrating on "top 50" players in his travels. The team won't worry about finding "sleepers," relatively unknown players who could develop into pro material.

Still, it is an exhausting search. "I was on the road for about 172 days last year. You try to (travel) in a straight line, but I criss-cross the country at least three times during the course of a season."

NORTH CAROLINA AND the Atlantic Coast Conference area are special to Menendez, and not just because of the numerous professional players it has produced. "The one thing that impresses me most about the North Carolina area is that basketball is a very key sport—more than just a game to the people in the state of North Carolina.

"The rivalries are very good and the coaches are excellent, whether you're talking about North Carolina and Duke or Lenoir-Rhyne and Gardner-Webb. On the whole, it is one of the best basketball areas in the country because of that."

In times past, many of the collegians in this state came from other areas, Menendez said. For example, N. C. State imported a lot of Indiana players during the Everett Case era and North Carolina got nearly all of its players from New York when Frank McGuire was coaching there.

It's not that way any more. "Notice that there are many more good home-grown players. The intensity of North Carolina basketball carries down to all levels." This intensity at the high school, and even junior high level is what produces good college prospects.

Menendez attended this season's Big Four Tournament in Greensboro and has already scouted most of the ACC teams. Some of the players that have impressed him are UNC's Mike O'Koren, State's "Hawkeye" Whitney and Duke's Jim Spanarkel and Mike Gminski.

Of course, O'Koren and Gminski are only juniors, but both have nearly unlimited potential. "I like Mike O'Koren very much. Be's one of the smartest, hardest-working, unselfish players that has come along in many years," Menendez said.

"Just about everybody at Duke is a prospect. Their top four players are very talented. Spanarkel will be a first-round pick. Gminski is an excellent offensive center, but has to get better defensively to be as good a pro as he should be. Gene Banks is a great, great talent and Kenny Dennard might be a sleeper."

State's Whitney and Clyde Austin are both top prospects, while "Tiny" Pinder and UNC's Dudley Bradley will probably get drafted. "They are good enough to warrant a look," Menendez said.

Others include Wake Forest's Frankie Johnson and Alvis Rogers, (although he is only a freshman), along with John Gerdy of Davidson.

PIRATE OLIVER MACK was unimpressive in the Hatter Classic, but Menendez has seen him in play before and has also watched him in practice.

"Right now, I would say he is a first round player, however, things change very quickly." For example, Menendez explained, Wake's Rod Griffin was considered one of the top five players going into last season, but by the end of the year he was barely a first-round choice and ended up getting cut in Denver's training camp.

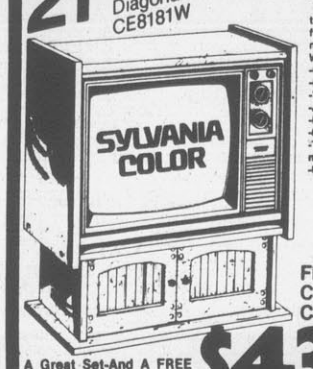

"Mack probably will not be in the very, very top" of this year's draft. "Most teams always go for the big guys first. He needs to become more well-rounded and work on his defense and ballhandling."

Mendendez call Mack an "excellent physical specimen with a good shot and a good instinct for the game."

Evansville Looks Toward The Future

EVANSVLLE, Ind. (AP) — One year ago, the University of Evansville was in shock with the loss of its basketball team, coach and 14 others in an airplane crash. Today, the school is looking to the future and confident it will succeed.

"Sure, we have a long way to go," admits new Coach Dick Walters, "but things are falling into place. I'm happy with the way things have gone."

It was on Dec. 13 last year that the chartered airplane carrying 29 persons crashed shortly after leaving Evansville's Dress Regional Airport for a game in Tennessee.

"People here are proud basketball people," said the 31year-old coach who succeeded the late Bobby Watson. "They're knowledgeable people. After what happened to the program, they're hurt a little bit. But I feel an obligation and the players feel an obligation to give them a quality team."

The rebuilt squad of freshmen and transfer students has won one game in six starts going into Saturday's clash at Austin Peay.

"It's going to take time, I know that," said Walters, whose first victory, a one-point decision over Murray State, came last Monday. "I have to be patient. We all have to be patient and understand what we're up against. We're going to get it done. There's no doubt in my mind we'll get it done.

"Those who work hard always succeed," Walters said. "There's not a team or coaching staff in the country putting in more time or working harder than ours.

"One of our goals," he said, "is to help people forget the tragedy. I don't think we can dwell on the past. Failure waits for those who stay with anything made yesterday, good or bad. Today is a new day and we have to make the best of it.

"We have talent. Indiana State has one of the finest teams in the country and we outplayed them most of the game, all but the last 1½ minutes. The last 1½ minutes is where cohesiveness comes into play. That's where expeience counts. Who would have guessed with Larry Bird and company in here we'd take them down to the wire?"

Walters, who compiled a 202-56 junior college record over nine seasons, said "on paper, our first five opponents figured to beat us."

All Of Her Prayers Answered, Says Mrs. Johnson

By ELISSA McCRARY
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A tearful but smiling Betty Lou Johnson, hugging her parents and children, said Wednesday all of her prayers had been answered after a Superior Court jury found her innocent of murder in the slaying of her husband, Dr. Archie T. Johnson Jr.

The jury deliberated for about 35 minutes before returning a the verdict in the 2½-week trial. The courtroom broke into applause when the verdict was read.

Mrs. Johnson, 38, a member of the Republican National Committee, was charged with the fatal shooting of her husband at the couple's home in Raleigh on the night of July 10. Johnson, 41, was a prominent pediatrician and was active in political circles in the state.

When the verdict was announced, Mrs. Johnson bowed her head and wept. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Barefoot of Benson, and two of her children, Ashley, 13, and Celeste, 12, jumped up to hug Mrs. Johnson when they heard the verdict.

Allen A. Bailey of Charlotte, one of Mrs. Johnson's attorneys, said he never doubted that she would be found innocent of the charge.

"I felt secure. I wasn't surprised by the verdict. I expected it," Bailey said. "After they (the jurors) had been here two and a half weeks, I was sure they would reach a verdict quickly."

Bailey bowed his head and appeared to pray when the decision was announced.

Bailey and Raleigh attorney Wade M. Smith had portrayed Mrs. Johnson as a woman tormented by an increasingly violent husband. She testified that on the night of July 10, Johnson threatened to kill her and their three children. Defense attorneys argued that Mrs. Johnson shot her husband in self defense.

Attorneys for the prosecution, special prosecutor Russell W. DeMent Jr. and Assistant District Attorney L.W. Payne, contended that Mrs. Johnson had become bitter and resentful after years of physical abuse and humiliation at the hands of her husband. They said in their final arguments to the jury Tuesday that Mrs. Johnson planned to kill Johnson.

DeMent was hired by the Johnson family to prosecute the case.

Judge Edwin S. Preston charged the jury of five women and seven men for about 45 minutes Wednesday morning, instructing them on the possible verdicts they could return in the case.

Preston told jurors they could reach verdicts on charges of first-degree murder, second-degree murder or voluntary manslaughter, or decide that Mrs. Johnson acted in self defense and find her innocent. He reminded the jury that the burden was on the state to prove beyond reasonable doubt that Mrs. Johnson was guilty.

The Barefoots and Mrs. Johnson's children were jubilant after the verdict was read.

"I'm just thankful it is all over," said a tearful Barefoot, a prominent Benson farmer. "It has been a hard few months for the family. But I never had any doubt about the verdict."

"My heart's still here," said Mrs. Barefoot seconds after the verdict was read, pointing to her throat. "I had deep faith and I had confidence in the lawyers."

Ashley, with tears streaming down his face, said, "I'm glad. Now I can lead a normal life."

"Not all of my prayers are answered, but one of them was minutes ago," Bailey said.

Minutes after hearing the verdict, members of Mrs. Johnson's family along with Bailey and several close friends met for a prayer session in a small room adjoining the courtroom. They emerged tearful but smiling with their arms around one another.

Afterwards, Mrs. Johnson and Bailey talked about the trial at a news conference.

"I'm grateful, I'm humble," Mrs. Johnson said. "So many prayers of friends, family and from people I don't even know have been answered. All of my prayers have been answered. It's terrible that this horrible tragedy ever happened."

Mrs. Johnson said she has received letters from women all over the country who say their husbands beat them.

"The wives say they are afraid to have a gun in the house because they are afraid they will shoot their husbands for what they (the husbands) are doing to them," she said.

Mrs. Johnson said she will continue to live in her home in Raleigh. She said she has not decided whether to resign as a member of the Republican National Committee. She has served two years of a four-year term.

Bailey told reporters he doesn't believe the decision will cause more women to kill their husbands.

"I don't think it will cause open season on wife beaters," Bailey said. "I think there ought to be open season on wife beaters. Any man who would strike a lady except in self defense — there's no place in society for him."

Asked if she thought Johnson's family was "out to get her" by hiring a special prosecutor, Mrs. Johnson said she understood why the Johnsons hired DeMent. "If the situation were reversed, it would be difficult for us. It was a tremendous loss for them," she said.

Johnson's sister, Janet Matthews of Benson, said after the trial that it was "unbelievable" that the jury had acquitted Mrs. Johnson. Mrs. Matthews attended the trial with her husband, Mickey Matthews, and her mother, Jeanette Johnson.

"She (Betty Lou Johnson) has drug him through the mud and she's got that to live with," Mrs. Matthews said. "If she can live with it, so can I. It's not going to hurt anybody but her and her children."

"He (Johnson) was tried on his character, strictly from what she was saying, and he was not there. He couldn't defend himself," Matthews said.

DeMent said he was not surprised by the outcome of the trial.

"With the evidence we had, and the children being as they were, it was difficult. "The fact that the only two witnesses were her children made it hard for us."

Over 104 Charges, 15 Arrests In Theft Ring

ROANOKE RAPIDS, N.C. (AP) — More than 104 charges have been filed and 15 persons have already been arrested following a month-long investigation into a larcey ring, Roanoke Rapids police said Wednesday.

Police said many more arrests are expected in connection with the theft of $30,000 worth of steel-belted radial tires and batteries from a Sears and Roebuck Co. catalog store in Roanoke Rapids.

"It's hard to round all these people up because they know we're looking for them," said Detective Lt. Harry House. "And now, when we get there, we're finding new cars with no tires and no battery."

House estimated $27,000 worth of goods have yet to be recovered, and predicted buyers of the stolen merchandise may try to get rid of it since the roundup has been publicized.

Roanoke Rapids resident Calvin Williams, 22, a Sears employee from June until earlier this month, was charged with 17 counts of grand larceny and 29 counts of petty larceny.

Melvin Lee Arrington, 24, of Littleton, was charged with 14 counts of grand larceny and 21 counts of petty larceny. He worked for Sears from May until mid-October.

Two men charged as accomplices are Joseph Wayne Ivey, 28, and Gilbert Hardy Fleming, 27, both of Roanoke Rapids. Ivey was charged with grand larceny, petty larceny and attempted larceny, while Fleming was charged with larceny.

Trials for the 15 have been set for Dec. 22 in Roanoke Rapids District Court.

Haywood Turner, 30, of Roanoke Rapids was charged with two counts of felonious possession of stolen goods; Betty A. Pulliam, 22, of Roanoke Rapids was charged with one count of felonious possession of stolen goods, and Charles Edward Mitchell, 24, of Roanoke Rapids was charged with felonious possession and misdemeanor possession of stolen goods.

Also arrested for possession of stolen goods were Johnny C. Owens, 28, of Gaston; James Ronald Smith, 33, of Roanoke Rapids; James C. Norris, 48, of Roanoke Rapids; Roy Douglas Mitchell, 32, of Weldon; George Alexander Lee, 27, of Roanoke Rapids; Leon N. Williams, 26, of Gaston; Calvin Stanley Jones, 27, of Roanoke Rapids, and Everette Clanton, 24, of Roanoke Rapids.

Marijuana Is Washed Ashore

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — Twenty-two bales of marijuana — reported by U.S. Customs officials to be "one of the largest wash-ups" in recent history — washed ashore on the outer banks of Currituck County.

Officials said the marijuana, which had an estimated street value of $600,000, was apparently dumped Tuesday by frightened smugglers who decided to give up on plans to sneak it into this country.

Physician's License Is Taken Away

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Medical Examiners revoked the license of a Winston-Salem physician Wednesday who was charged with providing improper medical treatment to patients in eight weight-control clinics in the state.

But the board suspended the revocation and allowed Dr. Shong H. Chang to continue his family practice if he does not violate federal or state law during the next five years.

Chang was charged with prescribing injections of human chorionic gonadotropins to overweight clients of the Professional Reducing Centers of North Carolina. HCG is extracted from the blood or urine of pregnant women and has not been proven effective in weight loss, according to the state medical society.

Chang did not contest the charges brought aganst him. He told the board he stopped working for the clinics in October. And because he disassociated himself with the clinics, the board suspended the revocation, according to Dr. David S. Citron, board president.

"We understand that he has disassociated himself from the activities that led to his charges and...that he is now providing satisfactory medical services to his community," Citron said.

The reducing centers are located in Greensboro, Burlington, Charlotte, Raleigh, High Point, Fayetteville and Winston-Salem. Company officials have defended the programs, saying that medical groups oppose them because they want to drive them out of business to lessen the competition for patients.

$81,000 for water main project. This bid was awarded based on revised project costs. The intial bid by the company totaled $88,536 for water main construction along state roads 1204 and 1202. However, due to construction changes by the Department of Transportation, Director Horne reported that a waterline along 1202 would be impractical; therefore, water main work along 1202 was cancelled from the project. The initial bid included $42,561 for SR1202 work and $45,975 for SR1204 work for a total bid of $88,536.

The revised project (SR1204, NC43 from SR1204 to the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center and SR1200 from SR1204 to Allen Road) includes: SR1204, $45,975, plus three valves and fittings, $1,125, NC43 (2,500 feet), $17,400, and SR1200 (2,600 feet), $16,500, for a total revised construction cost of $81,000. Engineering and contingency costs totaling $12,000 bring the total revised project cost to $93,000.

In connection with the water main project, GUC approved the transfer of $125,000 from retained earnings in the sewer fund to the water fund to finance the project; the total includes $21,000 for short extension construction by GUC crews. Before this contract, the commission had $330,000 available in retained earnings.

— Hendrix-Barnhill, $224,638 for Fornes Run sanitary sewer outfall replacement, Reedy Branch sanitary sewer outfall replacement and Brook Road sanitary sewer parallel. The award of this contract represents a deduction of $43,700 from the low bid of $289,677 submitted by Hendrix-Barnhill. The Fornes Run project was bid with a deductive alternate which stops the outfall replacement at 14th Street rather than extending it to North Overlook Drive. The total cost of the project, including engineering, inspection and contingency fees, is $256,000.

In lieu of the awarded contract, GUC modified its sewer capital project budget to show expenditures for WC-179 projects, which involves a total of seven projects, at $420,000 and other main extensions at $151,780. This will not change the total budgeted expenditures.

— Westinghouse Electric Supply, $33,995 for 100-25 KVA pole type transformers.

— Rigby Electric Supply Company, $10,600 for 10-100 KVA padmount transformers.

— Stuart Shinn Inc., $53,000 for installation of $2,500 load management switches.

— Hastings Ford Inc., alternate bid of $10,832 for one 1978 model dump truck. The original bid from Hastings Ford totaled $12,229.71 for a 1979 dump truck.

— Pump and Lighting Co any, $5,219 for 1,700 feet of 6-inch PVC pipe.

— James G. Biddle Company, $5,191 for one thumper (underground fault locator).

— Westinghouse Electric Supply Company, $5,595 for 10,000 feet of 4-inch polyvinyl chloride conduit (PVC).

Witness Says Cultist Wounded 2 Defectors

By LEW WHEATON
Associated Press Writer

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) — A witness at a preliminary hearing accused Jonestown cultist Larry Layton of wounding two defectors escaping with Rep. Leo Ryan, but the witness couldn't say who shot Ryan and four others who died with him.

The California Democrat and the others were shot to death Nov. 18 outside their plane at a jungle airstrip not far from the Rev. Jim Jones' Peoples Temple colony, where more than 900 died in a murder-suicide ritual shortly after the airstrip killings.

Dale Parks, 27, one of the Peoples Temple defectors who was in a second plane with Layton, testified Wednesday that when firing started on the airstrip, he saw Layton, a 32year-old San Franciscan, pull out a pistol and start shooting.

Parks said he saw Layton wound defectors Monica Bagby and Vern Gosley and then point the gun at Parks himself, but it misfired, and Parks grabbed it.

Those aboard the smaller plane ran for the bush, Parks said, while gunfire continued at the larger plane at the other end of the runway. He said he did not see who was doing the shooting, but he said he saw a tractor and trailer with Peoples Temple security men aboard pull onto the airstrip just before the gunfire broke out.

There has been no report that Layton shot any of the five who died. But under Guyanese law, if he is convicted of conspiracy in a murder case, he would be guilty of murder. In addition to Ryan, those killed were Parks' mother, Patricia, who was fleeing from the colony, and three U.S. newsmen who accompanied Ryan to investigate reports that some of the cultists were being kept in Jonestown against their will and were being mistreated.

The hearing is being held to determine whether there is enough evidence to bring Layton to trial.

Prosecutor Nandram Kissoon said during a break Wednesday that he would try to link Layton with Wesley Bridenbach, another cult member thought to have died at Jonestown. He said he would show that they posed as defecting members of the cult to get aboard Ryan's planes, shoot the pilots during the flight, cause the planes to crash and thus prevent the congressman, the newsmen and the defectors from reporting on Jonestown.

Informed sources said Kissoon would introduce a statement Layton gave police in which he accepted "full responsiblity" for all the deaths and injuries at the airstrip.

"I had begged Bishop Jim Jones that I be allowed to bring down" the plane carrying Ryan and the defectors back to Georgetown from the jungle colony some 150 miles northwest of the capital," the statement reportedly said.

It said Jones rejected the plan but Layton went ahead with it. However, he did not admit killing anyone, the sources said.

Trudeau Laughs Off Retiring

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau laughed off broadcast reports that he may leave politics and return to his estranged socialite wife, Margaret, "It's absurd," he said Wednesday.

Trudeau, prime minister since 1968, said he wants one more term as Liberal Party leader in order to be in power when Quebec residents vote in a non-binding referendum to separate the predominately French-speaking province from the rest of Canada.

Staff comments about Trudeau's personal life are forbidden. However, sources say there is nothing new in the couple's relationship.

Republicans Cut Back On Staff

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican Party, swimming in money earlier this year, has run out and has been forced to lay off employees on the eve of the holiday season.

Between 50 and 60 employees of the Republican National Committee have been fired since September, and the committee is about $500,000 in debt, says press secretary Peter Teeley.

The layoffs still leave the national committee with a staff of 207 full-time and 63 part-time employees, but Teeley said another half dozen or so may go and the number probably will be reduced further by not replacing employees who retire or quit.

By comparison, the Democratic National Committee, which has been in deep money trouble for the past decade, is expected to be down to about 50 employees at the end of the year.

The GOP, spurred by highly successful fund raising early this year, set an ambitious budget of $19.5 million for 1978, but receipts began falling off in midsummer when donors were turning to specific campaigns with gifts or were more concerned with vacation plans.

As a result, the Republicans are expected to fall somewhere between $1 million and $2 million short of their anticipated income, and even belt tightening has left them with the current debt. However, Teeley said the party still expects to break even by the end of the year.

Although the Democrats are finishing the year pretty much within their financial bounds, they face new problems with a $650,000 bill for the midterm conference in Memphis.

They are relying on still-uncounted income from fund-raising parties and contributions from the Memphis host committee to balance that.

Teeley said 43 of those laid off by the GOP had been organizing directors provided state parties at the expense of the national committee, and officials hope some of them will be picked up by state Republican organizations.

Two Named By Governor

RALEIGH — Two Greenville men, Reese Helms and George W. Laws Jr., have been appointed by Gov. Jim Hunt to serve on his North Carolina Volunteer Energy Conservation Corps.

Helms and Laws were designated by the Board of County Commissioners, and appointed following completion of a Governor's Energy Awareness Confrence in Raleigh, last week.

In accepting the appointment, members of the Corps have agreed to encourage citizens in their communities to become more aware and to work towards creating a sound energy conservation ethic in North Carolina.

Helms is energy conservation manager for the Greenville Utilities Commission, while Laws directs energy conservation efforts of the Pitt County Board of Education.

WOMEN. YOU'RE EQUAL IN THE AIR FORCE.
Women start out on the same footing as men in Air Force ROTC. Women wear the same insignia and hold the same cadet positions in AFROTC, just as they do later on as Air Force officers.
And the same AFROTC scholarship can be yours as a woman. If you qualify, you can have your tuition, book costs and lab fees paid by the Air Force, and receive $100 a month for other expenses. It helps free you to concentrate on your education. And that's important.
As an Air Force officer, you'll be expected to use your training and education, and be a leader managing people and complex systems. You'll be handed executive responsibility starting with your first job.
It's a great way to be equal, and a great way to serve your country. Check into the AFROTC program at your campus. Be sure to ask about AFROTC scholarships — you may be helping yourself earn an exciting new lifestyle.

Has His Suspicions Of Air Pollution Source

BESSEMER CITY, N.C. (AP) — A state official says he has a pretty good idea where sooty air pollution in this Gaston County town is coming from, but he's not absolutely sure.

"I would say that it's better than a 90 percent chance that it's coming from the company," said Ray Gorman, a botanist in the air quality section of the state Department of Natural Resources and Community Development.

He was referring to the Lithium Corporation, which residents point to as the source of air pollution responsible for dying trees and even peeling paint.

The pollution phenomenon has been around for six years but has intensified during the past two years, with trees decaying and dying within half a mile of the plant.

The pollutant's identity, however, has stymied state and corporate officials.

"I don't think we're dealing with anything mysterious," Gorman said. "Nor are we dealing with anything beyond the realm of technology. But we are dealing with something that right now we know very little about.

"Air pollution study is still in its infancy as far as its effects on vegetation are concerned," he said.

The corporation, whose chemical product is used for a variety of things from powering heart pacemakers to psychological medicine, has an otherwise clean environmental record.

The Lithium Corp.'s emissions include chloride, flouride, bromine, sulfur dioxide, lithium dust, lithium compounds and sulfuric acid. But $1 million in equipment keeps the corporation in compliance with state and federal clean-air standards.

The trees are an embarrassment for the firm, which boasts an otherwise spotless environmental record and an award from a national outdoors organization for improving water quality.

Art Gillespie, a spokesman for the firm, said "I am not acknowledging that this is a problem connected with us."

However, the company has offered some compensation for dead trees, and has also offered free covers for persons who have complained about paint peeling from their cars.

One woman wondered if soot from the plant led to the death of her cat. The animal used to munch grass after sootfalls, she said.

A veterinarian said blood samples from the cat showed the animal died from a bacterial infection.

Whether it could have been caused by pollutants, the veterinarian said, "I honestly don't know. I would hope to God it wasn't, because I live sort of in the neighborhood."

Sees Market

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green says there is a potentially large market in the Middle East for North Carolina furniture.

Green, who returned from a two-week trip to the Middle East last Friday, said Saudi officials encouraged North Carolina to sponsor a trade mission next year aimed solely at the booming market for furniture.

"One large company we met in Saudi Arabia is building an entire city," Green said, "and they talked with us about furnishing that city with North Carolina textile products and furniture."

Green said there is also potential for sales of North Carolina textiles, shoes, building materials and construction services in the Mideast.

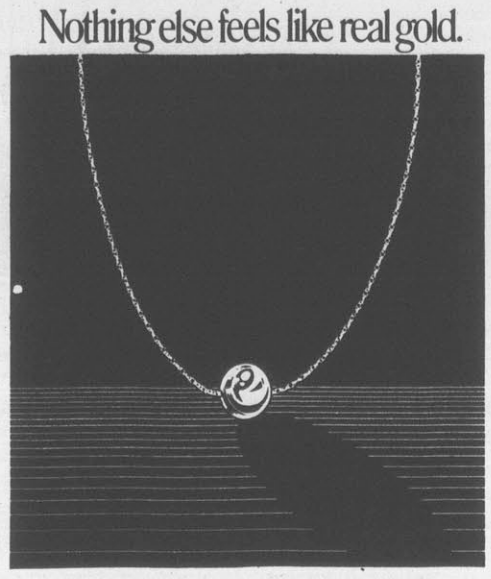

Green visited companies and government officials on the trip through Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates, West Germany and England. He was accompanied by James Hinkle, director of the Commerce Department's international development division; Hinkle's assistant, Hunter Poole, and a State Bureau of Investigation security agent.

Choirs To Give Sunday Program

The Children's, Youth and Adult Choirs of Arlington Street Baptist Church will present "Joy To the World, Jesus Reigns" Sunday during the regular morning worship hour.

A quarterly hymn sing will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m., with emphasis on "Carols of the World." Mrs. Jasa Allen will direct the music services. The pastor, the Rev. Harold Greene, invites the public.

This barrel can save you up to $2.00 a bottle on premium scotch. We import Muirhead's from Scotland in oak barrels. And bottle it here in the United States. This saves a lot of money on duties and handling charges.

And we can pass the savings along to you.

Since it's the same good scotch, we figure you won't care where it's bottled. As long as you can pocket the difference.

Muirhead's. Made in Scotland. Bottled in America.

Conventions can be useful, but they are not unmixed blessings. Consider this hand from a recent team match.

At one table, South boldly leaped to game after his partner raised to two spades. This was a distinct overbid, but it worked out well. West led a heart, and declarer had no difficulty in making his contract. He captured the king with the ace, then led a trump to the queen and ace. After winning the heart return, he ruffed a heart in dummy, cashed the king of trumps and returned to his hand with a club to draw the last trump. Declarer lost only one trump and two diamonds.

At the other table the bidding went as shown in the diagram. South, a more practical soul, did not feel that his hand warranted a unilateral jump to game, so he made a trial bid in hearts. North, looking at a sound raise and only a doubleton heart, was delighted to accept the invitation.

This was an intelligent auction, but the sequence had an unfortunate aftermath. West decided that there was no point to a heart lead, so he mentally flipped a coin to choose between the minor suits. He opted for a diamond, with most pleasing results for his side.

East won the jack of diamonds and continued with the king. When that held, the defenders needed only one more trick to set the contract, for they were sure to get the ace of trumps. The bidding made it obvious that West was unlikely to hold a useful high card, so East reasoned that his only real chance for the setting trick was via a trump promotion. Therefore, he continued with the ace of diamonds.

Declarer ruffed and led a trump to the king and ace. East followed through with his plan by returning his fourth diamond, and declarer was a dead duck. Whether he ruffed with the jack or low, West's ten of trumps was bound to score the setting trick.

Gary Owens Reflects On California Yuletide

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gary Owens was asked on the first day of Christmas what his true love gave to him. "A luminous cattle prod for after-dark rustling," he sighed. But he cheered up.

"The spirit of Christmas is everywhere here in Southern California," he insisted. "Why, even Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm are exchanging prisoners."

Mr. Owens, a man of great persiflage, knows whereof he speaks. He has observed Christmas in Los Angeles for 17 years from his podium as a top disc jockey at radio station KMPC.

A prominent graduate of the "Laugh-In" and "Gong" shows, he spent his boyhood yules in chilly South Dakota. He spent later Christmases as a radio man in eight cities from Omaha to San Francisco.

But he says Christmas in sunny Los Angeles is unique, even though there is no snow, even though every yuletide "my sons run outside to the front lawn and build a smogman."

He cited gifts folks give here. Such as "lizard-flavored nose drops." Or "a quivering Jello statue shaped like Dolly Parton." For those of taste, he mentioned a hot item here last year.

"It was a Tiffany lampshade aglow with handpainted scenes from the furtive love life of Warren Beatty," is what he said.

"In Beverly Hills," he continued, "the stars give each other an agent. This sounds costly, but the town is so rich the Salvation Army band has a string section."

He spoke of Christmas pageants they hold in lesser communities here. Such as the Krelmayer area (no map lists it.)

"In Krelmayer, they have a breathtaking ceremony celebrating the Magi," he explained. "It stars Ralph Magi, a used car dealer. "Each Christmas, he dresses up as Santa Claus and drives his 1968 car into his 320-pound wife, who is dressed like Scrooge. This symbolizes the triumph of good over evil at Christmastime.

"It didn't go well last year. Magi's wife was unhurt and his car was totalled."

The noted yule expert was asked if he was putting us on.

His eyes twinkled, his cheeks grew ruddy. And, laying a finger alongside his nose, up the chimney he rose.

At the time, he was in an air-conditioned office with no fireplace. We are still wondering how Gary Owens did it.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, DEC. 15, 1978

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to consider how you would like conditions to be with friends and kin and to make commitments to that effect. You find it possible to gain the goodwill of others by thoughtfulness. However, a day to sidestep overemotionalism or you get in trouble with others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Do nothing unusual during day and then you can enjoy the company of good friends in the evening. Keep busy at whatever is of a practical nature during daytime.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure you go to the right sources for the information you need at this time. Don't drive too hastily. Friends are best seen in the evening. Be kind.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure your monetary plans are working as you expect them to. Improve your budget but don't stint where home and food are concerned. Let your wardrobe be ample but not lavish.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Now you know how to make your appearance more charming so that you become more popular and happy. Do some entertaining in the evening and have a delightful time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have personal wishes that should be studied well before you go after them. Contact personal adviser who has fine ideas to give you now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be with friends who are somewhat demanding but also generous when you need it most. First finish work and then enjoy a social gathering in the evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get into community work that will also be fine for furthering your career even if it is in a different line. A credit affair that has been difficult can now be worked out pleasantly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Work on all those angles that can make a new interest very successful. You know exactly how to advance in the right direction, be it in personal or business life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have made promises that require your keeping them now and gaining the goodwill of others. Be willing to do errands for loved ones and maintain harmony.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study associates' activities and make helpful suggestions. Handle civic duties without resentment and get good results. Avoid one who is a known troublemaker.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study the work ahead of you and then take care of it cleverly and efficiently. A health matter should be taken care of now before it worsens. Be careful of intruders.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Work on holiday plans as much as you can. Get as much shopping done as you can. But first pay important bills.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be able to use body, soul and mind in fine combination and be most precise, inventive, fast. The talents are many and varied here, so teach to finish one thing before going on to another.

Salute Wayne's Role In An Ad

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Actor John Wayne, whose most frequent movie roles have been straight-talking Westerners, has been named "Advertising Personality of the Year" for his role in TV commercials for Great Western Savings bank.

Wayne accepted the award from the Advertising Club of Los Angeles Wednesday.

"His appearance in the ads created an atmosphere of honesty, directness and believability all advertising attempts to achieve," said club president Harry Spitzer.

Betty Ford Never Flinched In Quiz

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question was tough. The audience groaned in embarrassment. But Betty Ford never flinched.

How, the former first lady was asked Wedneday, have your mastectomy, arthritis and drinking problem affected your personal relationship with your husband?

Mrs. Ford gazed out at the 100 guests at the Washington Press Club luncheon and replied to the male questioner with customary candor.

"Many women feel after a mastectomy that they are less desirable to their husbands," she said. "It is a big barrier that a woman has to get over. But my husband didn't feel it was a big barrier. We faced it together. But I was lucky."

She continued: "Speaking of arthritis, it depends on the degree. Some people are in wheel chairs from it. But we don't have to think of marriage as something purely physical. It is something much deeper than that."

Mrs. Ford said that while she was being treated in the Long Beach (Calif.) Naval Hospital last May for alcohol and drug addiction, she learned that alcoholics and drug abusers, particularly men, sometimes withdraw from sex.

Mrs. Ford, who said she never had to make "that adjustment," was in town to promote her new book, "The Times of My Life."

Dressed in a burgundy-colored velvet blazer and with her strawberry hair swept high over her much publicized face lift, she looked much less nervous than she said she felt.

Mrs. Ford was critical of her former press secretary, Sheila Rabb Weidenfeld, who tells several embarrassing stories about the Ford children's private lives in her new book about the Ford White House.

Cites Role In Soil Erosion

According to Jesse L. Hicks, ead of the USDA- Soil Conser- tion Service in North arolina, farmers in North arolina should be praised in eir fight against erosion hich occurred in the past year. "According to reports aching us, farmers in all arts of the state are really go- g to work on measures to pro- ct their topsoil and prevent y additional soil loss during e winter months, when the nd is not protected by growing ops," said Hicks.

Hicks pointed out that conser- ation work is done voluntarily, llowing the same approach nce organized conservation ork began in North Carolina ore than 40 years ago.

Tar Heel landowners work rough 93 local soil and water onservation districts, which erve all 100 counties.

Such techniques as cover crops, field borders, grassed waterways, terraces and diversions are employed to prevent erosion by wind and water.

"All we are trying to do is to preserve and improve our capacity to produce food and fiber, and to maintain our vital resources of productive land," said Hicks. "At the same time, the conservation program keeps our lakes and streams clear."

According to Hicks, the Soil Conservation Service has simplified its paper work so that its employees can devote more time to conservation on the land.

The Soil Conservation Service offers its programs and assistance without regard to race, creed, color, sex or national origin.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

I. Notice is hereby given that the City Council of the City of Greenville, North Carolina, will conduct a public hearing in the City Council Chambers on Tuesday, December 19, 1978 at 5:00 P.M., on the third floor of the Municipal Building at Fifth and Washington Streets for the purpose of considering a project for which financial assistance is being sought from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, pursuant to the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended, generally described as follows:

A. Description of Project:

(1) Funds are being sought for the purchase of the following capital improvements: six (6) 17-25 passenger transit vehicles; one (1) 10-passenger van with lift; one (1) service vehicle; nine (9) fareboxes; one (1) radio station and tower with eight (8) mobile units; ten (10) bus shelters; 40 bus stop benches; 300 bus stop signs; one (1) bus maintenance garage and miscellaneous shop and garage equipment.

(2) The project is located in the City of Greenville, North Carolina.

(3) Total project cost is estimated to be $630,130. The Federal share of the project is estimated to be $504,104 (80%). The State matching share will be $63,013 (10%). The local matching share will be $63,013 (10%) which is proposed to be financed from General Revenue Sharing funds.

B. Relocation:

No persons, families or businesses will be displaced by this project.

C. Environment:

The proposed project will not have a significant impact upon the urban area.

D. Comprehensive Planning:

(1) This project is in conformance with comprehensive land use and transportation planning in this area.

(2) This project has been reviewed by the A-95 Clearinghouse, Raleigh, North Carolina, and the mid-East Commission, Washington, North Carolina.

E. Elderly and Handicapped:

The special needs of the elderly and handicapped will be met through purchase of a van with a lift capable of transporting these persons. Fare reduction for the elderly and handicapped is under consideration.

II. At the hearing, the City of Greenville will afford an opportunity for interested persons or agencies to be heard with respect to the social, economic and environmental aspects of the project. Interested persons may submit orally or in writing evidence and recommendations with respect to said project.

III. A copy of the application for a Federal grant for the proposed project, together with an environmental analysis and the Transit Development Plan for the area, is currently available for public inspection in the Office of the City Clerk, located on the first floor of City Hall, at the corner of Fifth and Washington Streets.

01 PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE

LEGAL NOTICE TO FAMILIES WHO LIVED IN PUBLIC HOUSING PROJECTS OPERATED BY THE GREENVILLE HOUSING AUTHORITY OR LIVED IN PUBLIC HOUSING PROJECTS IN ANY OTHER CITY BETWEEN MARCH 16, 1971, SEPTEMBER 26, 1975.

If you rented a house or apartment from the Greenville Housing Authority or any other Public Housing Agency (PHA) during the period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, you may be eligible to file a claim for a refund of part of your rent during that period if:

1. The wife or husband of the head of the household was present and dependent upon the head of the household for support and/or;

2. a dependent member of your family household was employed.

If you believe your family falls within one of the categories described above, you may wish to continue reading this Notice in order to determine how and under what circumstances you may file a claim.

On July 7, 1978, the District Court of the District of Columbia entered a Stipulated Order providing that the definition of family income for purposes of computing maximum rentals for public housing, as contained in a HUD Circular, which excluded spouses from the $300 deduction for each dependent and excluded dependents from the $300 deduction for each secondary wage earner, was invalid and violated the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended. The effect of this determination is that certain families who lived in public housing during the period from March 16, 1971, to September 26, 1975, may have been charged too much rent. Therefore, the District Court ordered HUD to establish a one million dollar fund for the payment of claims which current or former tenants of public housing may submit for a refund of any overpayments.

The District Court's Stipulated Order provides that, if valid claims exceed one million dollars, HUD has the option of having the Order dissolved in which case NTO and HUD may negotiate a modified settlement or proceed with further litigation. Thus, claimants should realize that the submittal of a claim determined valid by a PHA may result in full, partial, or no payment, depending on the total amount of valid claims submitted to HUD, or the final outcome of any further litigation. Any person wishing to receive a copy of the Stipulated Order or a claim form may do so by making their request known to a local PHA.

Individuals wishing to submit a claim must fill in the claim form made a part of this Notice and must submit it to the Public Housing Agency's address indicated on the claim form, or such other appropriate Public Housing Agency if different from the address indicated, within 120 days from December 7, 1978. No claims will be accepted after the end of the 120 day period, April 7, 1979.

Information provided by the claimant on the claim form must be specific as to the time period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, for which the wife or husband of the head of the household was present and was a dependent and/or a dependent in the household was employed.

Not All Women Like Sea Duty

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — "I don't know how I like it, but I can't get out of it," says Seaman recruit Leigh Ann Williams of her assignment to the Navy repair ship Vulcan.

Miss Williams, 18, of Grand Forks, N.D., is one of 32 enlisted women last week reported for duty aboard the 520-foot ship.

Miss Williams tried to get out of the assignment she had volunteered for in boot camp, but the Navy refused.

"When you're in the second week of boot camp, you don't even know what a ship is," she said. "I'm living with it."

Not all comment from the women sailors is negative, however.

Radioman 2nd Class Patricia Aycock, 24, of Memphis, Tenn., said duty aboard the Vulcan "so far has been good. But it's different. It takes some getting used to."

And Quartermaster 2nd Class Linda Michele Couffelt, 27, said she's excited about going to sea because it will give her a chance to practice her specialty — plotting navigational courses.

"I can't wait," she said. "I'd like to be out there to see if I can make it as a quartermaster."

Capt. Harry A. Spencer, the Vulcan's skipper, said Wednesday his ship, with a crew of 715, will receive 30 more enlisted women by the end of this month.

The Vulcan is the only Navy ship thus far to be assigned enlisted women. Two women officers reported aboard the Vulcan last month.

Miss Williams said she is terrified at the idea of leaving the security of Norfolk Naval Station for the open sea in February.

"I've never done it before," she said. "A lot of people say seasickness is in your head, so I'm just not going to think about it."

Operations Specialist 2nd Class Mary Elizabeth Kelly, 30, said working aboard the Vulcan has provided her first opportunity to practice her specialty.

"I get a little perturbed with the comments from guys," Miss Kelly said.

"Some don't think the women-at-sea idea will work. I just let them know that I was an honor graduate" in naval technical training.

Miss Williams added:

"There are a lot of men who don't appreciate women on a ship. Most of them are macho men. We show them up every time. I ignore them."

Charge 2 In Gun Deaths

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP) — Two Columbus County men were arraigned Wednesday in connection with the armed robbery of a convenience store and the shooting deaths of the store's owner and a customer in Fairmont Tuesday.

J.W. Oliver, 28, and George Moore, 25, both of Fair Bluff, are each charged with two counts of first-degree murder and one count of armed robbery. Bond has been denied both.

The pair is charged with the armed robbery of Watts Convenient Mart, and the murder of Allen R. Watts, 49, the owner, and Dayton C. Hodge, 52, a Fairmont area farmer who was buying gas at the store.

Moore and Oliver were arrested a short time later in woods behind the convenience store.

Both men were given court-appointed attorneys in their first court appearance before Robeson County District Court Judge Craig Ellis.

At the time of the shootings, Oliver was free on bond pending an appeal of an armed robbery conviction in Columbus County.

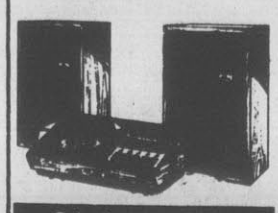

TOPPED $1 MILLION

MOUNT OLIVE, N.C. — Mount Olive College received a total of $118,273 from seventeen annual dinners held during October and November by Free Will Baptist Churches in North Carolina. The total raised in 1978 marks the first million dollars raised in support of the school by Free Will Baptists since the program began in 1963.
