

Committee Roles Given Legislators

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Legislators receiving their committee assignments Wednesday after the formal opening of the 1979 General Assembly saw few changes from the 1977 and 1978 assignments, but one lawmaker was not happy with his committee.

House Speaker Carl J. Stewart Jr., D-Gaston, appointed Rep. J.P. Huskins, D-Iredell, to head the insurance panel. Huskins did not want the assignment. He voted against the controversial 1977 insurance law that limits the power of the insurance commissioner to block rate increases on certain policies.

The law must be reviewed by this legislature or die in 1980 due to an expiration clause.

The insurance chairmen in both houses who pushed the measure last year were not reelected. The law became the object of a bitter battle between Insurance Commissioner John Ingram and the insurance industry.

"I really didn't want it (the appointment). There's usually more work in this one than in any other," Huskins said. "As chairman, I'll try to suppress whatever feelings I have one way or another. I'm not going to let this committee run me."

Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green, assigned Carolyn Mathis, D-Mecklenburg, to be chairman of the Senate insurance panel. She voted for the 1977 law.

Two men who supported the Equal Rights Amendment in the 1977 legislature were assigned to the Senate and House amendments committees.

Sen. Cecil Hill, D-Transylvania, was renamed chairman of the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee, and Rep. Dave DeRamus, D-Forsyth, was named the new chairman of the House Constitutional Amendments panel.

Both Green and Stewart said the legislators who review existing state spending will also consider requests for new state spending projects.

Green said this should help shorten the session and keep members better informed on state budget matters.

Green made the following appointments to money committees:

— Sen. Ken Royall, D-Durham, to another term as head of the Ways and Means Committee.

— Sen. Harold Hardison, D-Lenoir, to another term as appropriations chairman.

— Sen. Marshall Rauch, D-Gaston, to another term as head of the Finance Committee.

— Sen. Robert Jordan, D-Montgomery, to fill the vacant Base Budget Committee chairmanship.

Among the new chairman of major Senate committees were: Sen. John Henley, D-Cumberland, banking; Sen. James Speed, D-Franklin, education; Sen. Ralph Scott, D-Alamance, higher education.

Green named Sen. I. Beverly Lake, D-Wake, to head the Judiciary II com-

Appeals To Parliament

By ROBERT H. REID
Associate Press Writer
TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar promised Parliament today to stop selling oil to South Africa and Israel, fire "unnecessary foreigners" and let the religious leaders opposed to Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his Westernization program "supervise government activities."

Presenting his civilian cabinet to the lower house for a vote of confidence, Bakhtiar appealed for support to end the year-long political and economic turmoil generated by opposition to the shah's autocratic rule. "Now that the treasury is empty and the factories are idle, I beg you to endeavor to start them again," he said.

Bakhtiar said relations with the South African government would be reviewed and oil sales halted because of that government's apartheid policy of racial segregation.

Turning to Israel, he said: "The Iranian nation has always shown its unity with the Arab brothers and has always supported the rights of the Palestinian people. Like the sale of oil to South Africa, the sale of oil to Israel will be stopped," he said.

Both nations are dependent on Iranian oil, which the shah had supplied despite international criticism. But the United States has said it would supply Israel.

Iran Airlift

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The U.S. Air Force today staged what appeared to be a major airlift of what was termed "cold weather gear" from the Defense General Supply Center here to Iran.

Details of the airlift, which involved at least five giant CSA jet transports operating from Byrd International Airport, were sketchy.

The Richmond News Leader said the operation seemed to have taken local officials and some Air Force officials in Washington by surprise.

"We first heard about it last night," said an Air Force officer from Pope Air Force Base, N.C., who was coordinating the airlift from Byrd airport.

The 20-minute speech to a packed house of 268 deputies was well received and was interrupted occasionally with applause. Expected anti-shah demonstrations outside did not materialize.

The 62-year-old, French-educated lawyer, a longtime opponent of the shah who was chosen by the ruler to restore civilian rule, said if the lower house and the Senate gave him the necessary votes of confidence, he would dissolve the SAVAK secret police, dismiss "unnecessary foreigners" from jobs, free prisoners held "solely on political grounds," prosecute human rights violators and compensate those who suffered unjustly in prison.

Bakhtiar said 68 persons sentenced to life imprisonment for political reasons had been set free today.

Project Sum Awarded Greenville And Grifton

RALEIGH — Greenville and Grifton have been awarded state grants along with 32 other local governments to assist in financing the construction of water supply projects, according to Dr. Sarah Morrow, Secretary of Human Resources, and Governor Jim Hunt.

Greenville is slated to receive $40,500 and Grifton, $36,250, in Clean Water Grants that total some $9.3 million statewide.

The money is the third in a series of grants under the North Carolina Clean Water Bond Act of 1977. Another ten such awards were made under the previous Act that began under the state grant program about seven years ago.

Based on priorities and the availability of funds, state grants of up to 25 percent of the total eligible costs can be made to approved water supply projects to assist in finan-

Thais Stage Rescue

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A Thai helicopter whisked former Cambodian Deputy Premier Ieng Sary from his homeland to safety today as Vietnamese tanks were reported closing in, and the ousted official then flew out of Bangkok for Hong Kong. Thai airlines officials said.

Another helicopter also made a brief landing inside Cambodia and then returned to Thailand, but there was no confirmation either of the choppers picked up ex-President Khieu Samphan or other ex-officials of the fallen Phnom Penh government.

Thai Prime Minister Kriangsak Chomanan told reporters earlier he had been told troops still loyal to the toppled Communist regime were spreading out to wage guerrilla war and that Ieng Sary would not flee his country "very soon."

But senior Thai military and Western sources said Khieu Samphan and Ieng Sary, along with about 500 of their associates and their families, were negotiating through intermediaries to enter Thailand so they could go on to China, their only important ally while they were in power.

Reporters at the border town of Aranyaprathet, 124 miles east of Bangkok, said the helicopters landed in Poipet, just across the frontier.

About 20 tanks and an unknown number of troops of the new Cambodian government were sighted to the south of Poipet.

Million Dollar Bail Set

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Bail has been set at $1 million for James Warren Smedley, a former American serviceman being returned from Thailand to face heroin smuggling charges in North Carolina, according to an assistant U.S. Attorney in Seattle, Wash.

Attorney Donald M. Currie said Wednesday that Smedley arrived in Seattle Saturday in the custody of U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agents.

Bail was set by a federal magistrate Monday, and a removal hearing has been scheduled Jan. 18 to determine whether Smedley should be brought to North Carolina, Currie said.

Currie said the only issue to be determined at the hearing is whether Smedley is the man named in a 1976 conspiracy indictment handed down by a federal grand jury in Raleigh.

The indictment accused Smedley of running the Thailand operation of Leslie T. "Ike" Atkinson's multimillion-dollar heroin smuggling ring until 1975.

Inflation Is Maintaining Its Momentum

By MICHAEL DOAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising costs of gasoline, food and machinery pushed wholesale prices up 0.8 percent in December as inflation kept up its momentum, the Labor Department said today.

For all of 1978, wholesale prices rose 9.1 percent, the biggest such increase since an 18.3 percent jump in 1974, the department said. In 1977, prices went up 6.6 percent.

The wholesale price figures are important because they are an early sign of what consumers can expect in the way of price changes in the next few months.

The 0.8 percent increase for December was the same as in November and about average for the past four months. If averaged out over an entire year it would amount to 10 percent — slightly above the 9 percent to 9.5 percent rise in the Consumer Price Index projected for 1978.

Wholesale food prices, which had eased in November, resumed their climb last month, rising 0.9 percent.

Beef and veal prices turned up in December after declining in November, but pork prices slipped.

Prices were higher for processed poultry, fruit and vegetables, dairy products and candy. Prices of eggs dropped 4 percent.

Smokers Warned Anew Of Risks To Life In Tobacco

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Here is a summary of conclusions from the surgeon general's report on smoking and health.

—The overall death rate for current cigarette smokers is 70 percent higher than for nonsmokers. It increases with the amount smoked, but ten to 15 years after they quit, the exsmokers' death rate is about the same as nonsmokers'.

—Cigar and pipe smokers have "slightly higher" mortality rates than nonsmokers, but "substantially lower" than cigarette smokers.

—For low tar and nicotine cigarette smokers (less than 17.6 mg. tar and 1.2 mg. nicotine) the death rate is 50 percent above nonsmokers.

—"Coronary heart disease is the chief contributor to the excess mortality among cigarette smokers," followed by lung cancer and chronic obstructive lung disease.

—Cigarette smoking is a major factor in the risk of heart attacks and sudden death in both men and women. Smoking increases the risk of heart attack tenfold in women using birth control pills.

—Cigarette smoking is causally related to lung cancer in women and men. Lung cancer may surpass breast cancer in a decade as the leading cause of cancer deaths among women.

—Smoking is a causal factor in cancers of the larynx, mouth and esophagus. Epidemiological studies have shown a "significant association" between cigarettes and bladder cancer. Cigarettes also are associated with kidney cancer in men but not women.

—Cigarettes are "significantly associated" with peptic ulcer disease and increase a person's risk of dying from it.

—"Workplace chemicals may be transformed into more harmful agents by smoking."

—Babies born to mothers who smoked during pregnancy weigh an average of 200 grams less than those born to nonsmokers.

—Maternal smoking "increases the risk of spontaneous abortion, of fetal death, and of neonatal death in otherwise normal infants."

—"Evidence is growing" that children of smoking mothers may have deficiencies in physical growth and mental and emotional development.

—Children whose parents smoke "are more likely to have bronchitis and pneumonia during the first year of life."

—Little is known about why the smoking habit "is so widespread and difficult to break."

—Although some youngsters experiment with smoking in grade school, very few are "addicted" to cigarettes by the end of ninth grade. High school is the critical place for their smoking decisions.

—Too many smoking-education programs try to scare "present-oriented" youngsters with threats of serious diseases they face years in the future.

—Doctors, other health professionals, coaches and parents can have a powerful influence on teen-age smoking.

—Children whose parents smoke are more likely to take up the habit.

Tobacco Industry Flays HEW Report; Vows To Fight New Initiatives

By The Associated Press

Leaders of North Carolina's huge tobacco industry condemned the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's report on smoking today and vowed they fight any new anti-smoking initiatives.

Billy Yeargin, managing director of the Raleigh-based Tobacco Growers Information Committee, accused HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano of putting on a "novelty, dog and pony show" in unveiling a report on smoking today from Surgeon General Julius Richmond.

"The surgeon general's report contains nothing that is basically new," Yeargin said. "It's a rehash of old business that's been accumulated since 1964."

Yeargin and other defenders of the tobacco industry accused Califano, a former smoker, of waging a personal crusade against the multimillion-dollar industry.

"People will be smoking long after Joe Califano is gone," state Agriculture Commissioner James Graham said, adding, "I know what tobacco did for this state yesterday and what it will do for it tomorrow."

Rep. Walter Jones, D-N.C., said he saw no surprises in the report, which said cigarette smoking represents a significant health hazard in the United States.

"It's just about what we expected," said Jones, chairman of the House subcommittee on tobacco. "It's the same facts and figures they had 10 years ago just brushed up a little. I don't think it will make any radical changes in the way people smoke."

"I think people have the right to smoke and I shall defend that right as long as I'm in the Congress," Jones added.

Yeargin said he plans to call leaders of all sectors of the industry together to launch a new offensive on behalf of tobacco.

"It would probably be a research and public information campaign—a look into what is going on from the anti stand, from Califano, and what it could mean to the tobacco industry and to the Southeast in the future and what we in the tobacco industry could do to balance the record and keep them from putting us out of business," he said.

Yeargin said Califano was taking a "reckless approach" to the smoking issue by confusing the public with publicity without scientific value.

A spokesman for R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. in Winston-Salem, largest tobacco manufacturer in the nation, said, "Our attitude has always been that the jury is still out. The questions

Agency Ready Give Answers

Parents of exceptional children in Greenville City and Pitt County Schools who have questions or complaints regarding exceptional children can receive information from the Department of Public Instruction Division for Exceptional Children for answers to their questions.

Questions or complaints about the education of children with special needs should be addressed to the Inquiry and Grievance System, Division for Exceptional Children, Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh, N. C. 27611, (919) 733-3921.

A parent of an exceptional child, or a concerned citizen who knows, for instance, where an exceptional child has been denied entrance to an appropriate program; placed in a program that is inappropriate to conditions or needs; or assigned to a special education program when the child does not have special needs, then may contact the Division for prompt investigation and service.

Letters, telephone calls, or visits regarding questions or complaints about services are received by specified staff members in the office of the Division for Exceptional Children.

Information will be recorded on a Case Information Sheet and placed in the confidential files in the Division office. After the complaint is received a specified staff member will research and review the complaint in order to give an accurate answer and solution to the person initiating the question.

For cases in which medication or technical assistance prove to be unsatisfactory, due process procedures can be followed. The local school systems provide copies of these procedures. Under due process, a decision is made by a hearing officer or in some cases, a judge. A final decision is reached at this stage.

Pitt SCLC To Mark Day

Golf Course Little Evidence Found Has Its Cats Of Fraud In Medicaid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Edward Jackson is a 75-year-old retired merchant marine sailor who goes to Golden Gate Park golf course every day at 5 a.m. and 2 p.m. But he doesn't swing a club — he goes there to feed the cats who gather around the third and seventh tees.

At each site, Jackson has built four "cat mess halls," including two miniature tree houses made of wooden slats and two on the ground with wooden roofs.

The feedings began four years ago during a round of golf.

"I was playing one day when this scrawny little tabby about a year old, came up to me," he said. "I looked at those funny little sad eyes of hers and I knew she was a stray and that nobody was caring for her so I decided to get her something to eat."

From that cat, Lady Baby, came other strays, along with Lady Baby's kittens. And Jackson fed them all, rain or shine.

Sometimes, in the early morning darkness, patrolling police will ask Jackson what he is up to.

"I always tell them, 'Don't worry, I'm just feeding the cats.' And they go on their way."

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — State officials say they have little evidence of Medicaid fraud in North Carolina, but they have established a Medicaid Fraud Control Unit in the Justice Department nonetheless.

Attorney General Rufus Edmisten said Wednesday that the unit will investigate fraud by health care providers participating in the state's multi-million dollar Medicaid program.

Medicaid pays for health care for low-income families.

Edmisten said Wednesday that the unit was set up at the request of Gov. Jim Hunt. He said last year, however, that the request came from federal officials.

The unit will get 90 percent of its budget from the federal government under the 1977 Medicare-Medicaid Anti-Fraud and Abuse Amendments to the Social Security Act.

"I have, at the present time, no evidence that suggests that this type of thing is going on in North Carolina. But it goes without saying that if this kind of white-collar crime is occurring in North Carolina, I am bound to do all that I can as attorney general to detect it, to prosecute it and punish it to the full extent of the law," Edmisten said.

Edmisten said state Auditor Henry Bridges, the State Bureau of Investigation, the Special Investigations Section and other divisions of the Justice Department will assist in the program.

Dr. Sarah Morrow, secretary of Human Resources, said there are currently 25 or 30 cases of suspected Medicaid fraud under investigation in North Carolina. But she said she expects some of the cases to turn out to be "simply human error."

"North Carolina has less fraud than many other states," Mrs. Morrow said. "But we do recognize the larger the program, the more the potential for abuse, and our Medicaid program is a large one."

Mrs. Morrow said that New York City save $29 million in one year by using computers to weed out fraud, most of it done by duplicate billing.

Edmisten said the fraud control unit will use computers along with conventional crime-fighting methods to detect Medicaid fraud.

Seek Jurors In Assassination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jury selection is continuing in the trial of three Cuban exiles charged in connection with the slaying of former Chilean diplomat Orlando Letelier.

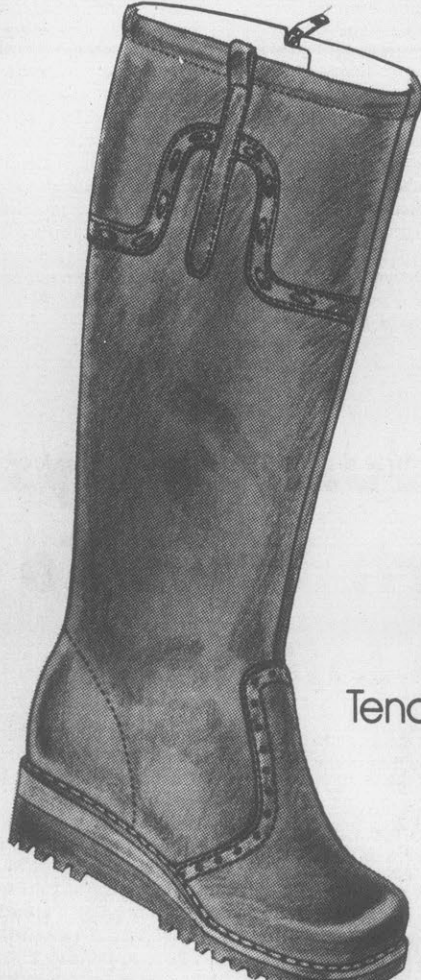

A federal judge held private conferences with potential jurors Wednesday but by day's end no jurors had been selected. Two of the three men charged are accused of plotting and executing the car-bomb murder of Letelier on Washington's Embassy Row in September 1976. The other man is charged with lying to a grand jury about the case and failing to report a felony.

Applauds Reader's Honesty

By Abigail Van Buren
1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 27 years old and I'm engaged to a man I'll call Mike, who is also 27. We have known each other for a long time, but have been engaged only a month. Before the engagement we didn't discuss having a family. That was a mistake.

Now Mike tells me that he would like to have three or four children. Maybe I'm selfish, but I don't want any.

Abby, I have absolutely no patience with children and, knowing myself as I do, I wouldn't make a very good mother.

Mike and I love each other, but this has become a big issue. Please don't tell me that if I had a child I'd learn to love it. I don't want the work and responsibility of raising children. Perhaps I'm weird, but I don't think they're worth it. So what is your advice?

DOESN'T WANT KIDS

DEAR DOESN'T: Tell Mike that unless he sees it your way, he'd better find another girl. I agree, you'd probably make a poor mother, but I applaud your honesty.

DEAR ABBY: There are organizations to protect women from sexual harassment on the job, but who protects us from our husbands' employers?

My husband quit his job and moved us from one side of the continent to the other. And, accepting a work load that nearly put him in the cardiac ward, he went to work for an Australian businessman who promised us a share in the profits.

This Australian was unable to drive in the U.S., so my husband invited him to stay in our home on his frequent business trips. On these occasions, he made overtures to me, which I declined as diplomatically as possible without insulting him outright. Not easily discouraged, he persisted until I opened avoided him. At that point, he fired my husband.

My husband thinks that with the business firmly established and profits booming, the Australian figured he could hire a new manager with whom he did not have to share profits.

I suspect the man felt rejected and sought retaliation. Who do you think is right?

LADY IN DISTRESS

DEAR LADY: You could both be right. Only the cad from Down Under knows. (P.S. The next time your husband makes a deal, remind him to get it in writing.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old Catholic. Years ago, when I was in high school, I had an abortion. I felt that it was the only sensible choice and I still feel that I did the right thing.

My problem is that I have not been to confession since my abortion because I am afraid I will be excommunicated.

Regardless of what it sounds like, I have high moral standards and I want to be forgiven.

I don't need a lecture on morals or birth control. I've had both, and I know I will never again become pregnant accidentally. Please answer in your column. I don't want a letter from you with this information delivered at my home. I can't ask a priest, and I do not want to give up my religion.

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING: Go to confession and talk honestly with your priest. It is possible that he can give you absolution.

DEAR ABBY: LIVING SISTER wrote complaining that her family charged the flowers for her mother's funeral to the mother's estate. She said it was disgraceful!

You agreed, and called it cheap and chintzy. Abby, your typewriter was in gear, but your brain was idling.

The Federal Estate Tax form allows ALL legitimate funeral expenses to be deducted. This includes not only flowers, but also long-distance telephone calls, motel and hotel costs, mileage and, of course, the undertaker's bill.

So, buy the flowers and pay the undertaker out of your own pocket and lose the deduction if it makes you feel better. But it's dumb.

SENIOR CITIZEN: BELLEVILLE, MICH.

DEAR SENIOR: You win. (P.S. There seems to be no end to what I learn from my readers!)

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (25 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

American AgriWomen Still Thriving

By ROBERT KIECKHEFER

CHICAGO (UPI) — When Trenna Grabowski went to the national meeting of American AgriWomen this year, she vowed not to run for a national office. But she came home to Du Bois, Ill., as the group's treasurer.

"I have young children," she said at a recent meeting of the Newspaper Farm Editors of America, "and I told myself I just don't have time."

"But then I got to thinking, 'What if everyone felt that way? How would we ever get anything done?'"

Eventually, she said, she decided the organization and its goals are important to her children, too. So she decided to accept the position.

America AgriWomen, founded in 1974, is an independent organization of rural women. Mrs. Grabowski said. It essentially is a coordinating group for state women's organizations and has an overall membership in excess of 15,000.

Each organization retains its own identity, she said, and the national group is non-partisan.

"Farmers make up less than 4 percent of the population and we feel that by joining our voices together we can magnify our clout," Mrs. Grabowski said.

Arts Festival Is Announced

The local Arts Festival, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville, will be held in early February. The festival is open to members of the junior club and students from Aycock Junior High School and Rose High School.

Contests open to Rose students include: crafts; visual arts; photography (seniors only); literature; public speaking (grades 11 and 12); and music (piano-seniors only).

Contests open to Aycock students include literature and visual art.

Rules and categories for the contest have been sent to the schools and interested students should contact the teachers of these respective arts.

A sweet, three-fruit version that stores well.

3 cups sugar
3 unpeeled medium-size red apples, cut into eighths and cored

3 medium-size unpeeled seedless oranges, cut into eighths

1 pound fresh cranberries

Into a 2 to 3-quart refrigerator container, turn the sugar. In an electric food processor, with the steel blade in place, process the apples (half of the batch at one time) until they are finely ground (they will be mushy) and mix each batch with the sugar. In the same way finely grind and mix in the oranges and then the cranberries. Cover tightly and chill at least overnight for flavors to mellow and blend before using. Keeps well for weeks stored in the refrigerator. Makes 1½ to 2 quarts.

American AgriWomen's statement of purpose, she said, calls for "promotion of agriculture for the benefit of the American people and the world."

"We work in the areas of legislation, regulation, consumer relations, promotion and education... We're successfully combining careers and promotion and marketing. And we're doing it for the benefit of our children."

The national organization is only four years old, she said, but already it and its affiliates have.

A special award this year from an organization which annually selects four agriculture spokesmen of the

Ralph Hall Is Club Speaker

The Lakewood Pines Garden Club met at the home of Dot Woolard Tuesday, with co-hostesses Kathryn Harris and Lib Wright assisting Mrs. Woolard. The meeting was chaired by Lou Laney, president.

Ralph Hall Jr., head of the physical plant at Pitt Memorial Hospital, gave a presentation on areas to be planted at the hospital. The club will be donating funds for landscaping in one of the court yards in the Rehabilitation Center area.

Members discussed plans for the annual Spring Garden Fair and the club's 25 anniversary to be celebrated in February.

year. "Our girls just inundated them with reasons to speak up for agriculture," she said. Two of the four award-winners also were members of American AgriWomen, she said.

Placed nine members on multilateral trade commissions, raising the number of women on the commissions from one to 10. "In some cases, these women represent one of the few farmers that are on the committees," Mrs. Grabowski said.

Established and helped fund an independent resource center, which, among other things, makes agricultural information available to teachers.

Developed an experimental "self-drive" tour of agricultural areas in Oregon. "It's to get the consumer off the freeways and into agricultural land," Mrs. Grabowski said. If successful, the program could be expanded to other states.

Lobbied for estate tax reforms which would prevent widows from paying estate taxes on farmland inherited from their husbands; for legislation that would require clear labeling of imported agricultural products; and against a reclamation bill which the group fears could set precedent to take farmers' land from them.

American AgriWomen has not taken a stand on the proposed Equal Rights Amendment and does not plan to do so, she said.

"It would tear our organization apart, like it's torn our country partially apart and torn families apart. We have other purposes."

The major goal of the Illinois group this year, Mrs. Grabowski said, is to increase and improve teaching of economics in high schools.

"We feel there's a lack of knowledge on the part of the consumer about such things as the law of supply and demand," she said. "Unfortunately, economics has been dropped in favor of consumer ed. We agree consumer ed is important. But we feel economics is basic."

Results Generally Pleasing

The long-awaited results of North Carolina's competency tests, administered to 11th graders, were released Wednesday and the initial impression is maybe our students aren't doing so badly.

Some ten percent of the students statewide failed the reading test and 15 percent failed the math.

In Greenville the failure rate in reading was 11.9 percent and 15.3 percent in math. The county system failure rate was 15 percent in reading and 20 percent in math.

Considering that the figures include students enrolled in regular high school as well as extended day school, and other such programs for students will special needs, the figures indicate that a large majority of the students are getting at least a minimum education.

Spokesmen for both the city and county schools indicated they were pleased with the results, particularly because an improvement had been shown since a trial test was administered in March.

There is clearly room for much work among those who failed to pass the competency test, but the overall results on both the state and local level appear positive.

What is important now is that those who did not pass the test get the special help that they need in the areas their testing indicates they are most weak.

The object of the whole program is not to embarrass or brand anyone but to give parents and educators a guideline as to individual weaknesses. Most of those who failed can be helped and for parents, students and educators that is the immediate task.

Rates Are Still Too Far Out Of Line

The staff of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has recommended that Virginia Electric and Power Co. get a $7 million increase in wholesale rates for power sold to wholesale customers in North Carolina and Virginia.

Veeco had requested a $10.2 million increase.

The FERC should look closely at this request with an eye toward cutting it even further. Veeco rates are too far out of line with other private utilities and the FERC should be looking to close this gap.

Local Land Plans Policy

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — A proposal for statewide land use planning in local counties and municipalities will be presented to the General Assembly soon by the administration of Gov. Jim Hunt.

There is a key difference in approach, however. The foundation will be guidance and not regulation; voluntary land use planning rather than state-mandated.

Howard Lee, secretary of the Department of Natural Resources and Community Development, is a key leader in preparing the proposal, and has been working with an advisory committee including local governmental officials, staff from the League of Municipalities and the Association of County Commissioners, and representatives of agricultural and conservation interests.

Lee believes the proper path to follow is one of encouraging local land use planning by the carrot rather than the stick.

Required

The stick was used rather heavily in producing the Coastal Area Management Act for 20 counties in the east; but officials now say that was essential for two primary reasons: to overcome reluctance to move, and to get a timely start on protecting the most fragile and environmentally important coastal region.

For the remainder of the state, land use management legislation to be considered this year will be to "promote land use planning which guide, not regulate, growth in North Carolina by directing public service investment into those areas where local government desires growth."

This means that where local municipal or county governments do embrace land planning programs, the state will give priority in committing road, airport, water, sewer, and other public funds for improvements.

Supervision

Local, regional and statewide supervising commissions will be established with the aim of keeping decisions as closely as possible to local levels of government.

The Land Classification System proposes five classes of land use: developed, transition, community, rural, and conservation.

Each local plan would map the area into those categories, and designate localities for future growth and development. Farm interests, in particular, who in the past have opposed land use management are now being convinced that the way to protect farmland from increasing industrial, commercial and residential encroachment is the protection of land planning.

WRINGING OUR HANDS DOESN'T HELP MUCH!

By ROBERT PARRY

Special Interest Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirteen congressmen who helped kill a federal no-fault car insurance bill in committee received $28,600 in contributions from the political fundraising arm of the trial lawyers' association, a leading opponent of the bill.

Two dairy industry groups donated $110,750 to members of the House Agriculture Committee, which helps decide milk price supports and other issues worth millions of dollars to dairy farmers.

The trucking industry's political action committee contributed to the campaigns of two-thirds of the members of the House subcommittee that will handle deregulation of the $31 billion trucking industry.

The chief political fundraising committee of the marine engineers' union donated $1,000 or more each to 24 of 36 members of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee who sought re-election. The committee handles shipping legislation, and one member, citing a conflict of interest, sent his contribution back.

These contributions and thousands of others mark a growing trend in congressional campaigns — heavy financial support for candidates by political action committees, the campaign fundraising arms of businesses, unions and professional associations.

These political action committees — known as PACs — now number more than 1,700 and are allowed by law to give candidates up to $5,000 per election. Last year, they donated an estimated $40 million, raised through voluntary donations. Two years ago, the amount was $24 million.

Common Cause, which calls itself a citizens' lobby and researches and publicizes what it believes are government abuses, refers to the PAC contributions "the buying of Congress."

Public Forum
 Letters submitted for Public Forum must be limited to 300 words.

To the editor:

Upon reading the Daily Reflector sports page of Tuesday, Jan. 9, I was amused — nay, perturbed — by the irony in the decision of the U. S. State Department as regards the Kallie Knoetze affair. Knoetze, a young heavyweight boxer, has just been declared an illegal alien in this country. Last Tuesday his dream of "going the distance" was temporarily K. O.'ed by our government's revocation of his visa.

No reasons for this action have been given, other than the fact that, while serving as a law officer, Knoetze once wounded a malefactor. But, surely, he is not the first policeman or soldier to have shot someone in the line of duty. Besides, American boxing today allows even paroled killers to tilt in the center ring, and most hail this practice as a valuable social rehabilitation.

While the State Department naps, millions of genuine illegal aliens waltz into American jobs, pocketbooks, and welfare lists. Then someone in Washington has the gall to brand Knoetze as an illegal alien! This man comes in search of a chance at the world boxing title. He comes to give, not to take (not only will he give entertainment, but the United States Treasury will accrue thousands from his tax returns). His stay would be short, and all the while he would obey our laws. It is an absolute injustice to keep this athlete from visiting our shores.

Knoetze, if he still wants to enter the U. S., would be better advised to come in through the South, across the river. This is what I find so ironical in the State Department's decision. Where will this country be headed if men of proven courage and ability find America deaf to their dreams? Thinking Americans, as well as sports fans, want to see this man given a fair chance.

J. L. Wooten Jr.

The greater the growth of PACs in the political process, the less reason citizens have to believe their interests are going to be part of the decision-making process," says Fred Wertimer, Common Cause vice president.

Common Cause gets most of its money from $15 year memberships and does not contribute to political campaigns. It advocates a system of partial public financing to reduce the influence of special interest money on elections. However, the prospect for passage of such public financing in this budget-conscious Congress is not considered good.

Most PAC officials say the current system of making contributions encourages "broadbased" participation in the political process.

Some PAC officials also contend their donations are needed to protect their in-

THE CAMBODIA CASE

Monolith Myth Broken

By DENIS D. GRAY
Associated Press Writer
BANGKOK, THAILAND (AP) — The Vietnamese invasion of Cambodia has again shattered the myth of a worldwide Communist monolith, bound together by brotherly love based on common economic and political beliefs.

Vietnam and Cambodia — onetime "fraternal comrades and brothers-at-arms" — are ignoring ideology and fighting each other over frontier borders, for national self-interest and because of traditional hatreds just as savagely as nations of diverse creeds and aspirations have done.

It seems to be another example of old-fashioned self-interest over Karl Marx, already amply demonstrated by such phenomenon as Communist mavericks Yugoslavia and Romania thumping their noses at the Kremlin, the increasing independence of Communist parties in Western Europe, and, of course, the Sino-Soviet clash.

And it is the Sino-Soviet rivalry, as well as the emergence regionally of a powerful Vietnamized Indochina, that sends tremors into neutral and non-Communist Asian capitals and has prompted the United States to call the major powers to keep hands-off in the Cambodian conflict. It has also impelled Washington to side with a brutal Cambodian regime ousted by the Vietnamese attack in calling

Just Creating New Extremes

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market craze gave way to the real estate game, the horsepower race to the miles per gallon crawl, and the vital, spontaneous consumer movement to heavy-handed government regulation.

Which is to say that as Americans in the 1970s sought to modify the extremes of the 1960s, new extremes may have been created.

In the 1960s, nothing in medical care was too expensive. In the 1970s hospitals are being closed. In the 1960s demand for services led to higher taxes. In the 1970s people demand that taxes be cut.

Twenty years ago it was fashionable to move to the suburbs. Now the inner city retracts some of the same people. In the 1960s, savings were stressed; in the 1970s credit became a way of life.

But if you take the view of business, few changes are more obvious than the growth of government regulations, which now involve almost every decision, and almost bury the decision in a confusion of paper.

Murray Weidenbaum, former assistant treasury secretary and now head of the Center for the Study of American Business at St. Louis' Washington University, lists some of the ways management decisions are affected:

"What lines of business to go into, what products can be produced, which investments can be financed, under what conditions can products be produced, where can they be made, how can they be marketed, what prices can be charged, what profit can be made?"

Weidenbaum, who has become a reigning, recognized expert on the subject of regulation, estimates the aggregate cost of complying with federal regulations will come to $98 billion in fiscal 1979.

To that sum must be added the annual cost of operating the federal regulatory agencies, about $4.8 billion, making the overall total about $103 billion, or roughly $2,000 for a family of four.

Weidenbaum isn't through with the numbers. Regulation can have serious indirect effects also, he says, such as the discouragement of new products or because of adverse affects on employment.

"The minimum wage law," he writes, "has priced many teenagers out of labor markets." One increase in the statutory minimum wage, he says, reduced teenage employment by 225,000 jobs below predictions.

One of the major changes in the 1970s-style regulatory activity is that new government agencies are not limited to single industry, such as transportation, but have unlimited jurisdictions.

As examples, he points to The Environmental Protection Agency, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Consumer Product Safety Commission and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

The activity of such agencies, he writes in the Prudential Magazine, does not fit comfortably the notion of benign and wise officials always making sensible decisions in society's greater interests.

He concedes that any realistic appraisal of government regulation must acknowledge that important and positive benefits have resulted from some agency activities: less pollution, fewer product hazards, reduced job discrimination and other socially desirable goals.

Soviet Seeing Growth

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet citizens are getting more cars, televisions, refrigerators and washing machines than ever before, according to the Central Intelligence Agency. But their economy is still growing more slowly than the U.S. economy.

Overall, the Soviets are catching up in some ways and falling behind in others.

Take housing, which has always been woefully short in the Soviet Union. In 1960, the Soviets built about 5.5 square feet of floor space for each citizen. The United States built 8.5 square feet for every American. In 1977, Americans were building about 10.5 square feet and the Soviets were down to 4.5 square feet.

Or food. In 1960, the average Soviet farm worker produced enough to feed five of his fellow-citizens. The average American farmer fed 26 Americans. By 1977, the American farmer had doubled that, feeding 52 fellow citizens. The Soviet farmer, meanwhile, had barely moved and was providing for only eight Soviet citizens.

The 1977 figures, the most recent available, are in a 175-page annual report called "Handbook of Economic Statistics" put out by the CIA. Statistics from Communist countries are put together from a variety of sources, including the CIA's own economic analysts.

Stashed away in the columns of tiny figures is a human story of how people live in the Soviet Union — better than they used to, but at a level still far below U.S. standards. In 1976, the average American — man, woman or baby — had nearly two radios and two-thirds of a TV set at his disposal. The average Soviet citizen had to share a radio and TV with three others.

In 1960, less than one new car was being built for every 1,000 Russians. By 1977 it was nearly five per 1,000. But the United States was producing 42 new

January 11, 1939

County chairman Hoover Taft invited chairmen of the committees for the celebration of the President's birthday from the various townships of Pitt County to a combined dinner and business meeting conducted at the Proctor Hotel last night. The meeting was held to assure a uniform program throughout the county.

Various letters and bulletins from the national and regional headquarters were read and discussed. The program for this year's campaign was announced and instructions reviewed. Several new and interesting features were discussed, including the "March of Dimes" started by Eddie Cantor, wherein one "gives a dime and wears a button", the President's birthday card which is to be filled with dimes and mailed directly to the President at the White House, ten-cent stickers for automobile windshields and finally the President's Ball.

Strength For Today

IMMEASURABLE PEACE

One of the most wealthy and successful businessmen of the 1920s was Albert L. Kramer. But with all his wealth he was a frustrated, unsatisfied man.

But then he started to read the Bible, and over a period of years, as a result of an intense program of reading and meditation, he became a devoted Christian.

In the Great Depression he lost all of his money, but this did not bother him in the slightest, as indicated by the title of a book he wrote about himself — "From Missions to Happiness."

This remarkable man found that when he had Jesus Christ in his heart, he had inner peace; and when he had inner peace, he had something which millions of dollars could not buy. He had known the excitement of making a great fortune, yet with all this he had heart hunger.

All earthly joys are sharply limited in scope. Only spiritual peace and concord surpass our understanding.

terests in Congress against competing interests that also contribute money to candidates.

In the House, much of the campaign money was directed to key committee and subcommittee chairmen, and PACs generally focused attention on committees dealing with their special areas of interest.

Rep. Thomas S. Foley, chairman of the Agriculture Committee, won a tough reelection fight in 1978, helped by $67,300 from political action committees representing agricultural interests.

Foley says he favors public financing for congressional but has "no apologies to make" for accepting the money. He says he "never accepted any strings attached" to contributions and is "not going to give any individual or group special consideration."

Four ranking members of the House Banking Committee received a total of nearly $100,000 from financial, insurance and housing interests that are affected by legislation handled by the committee.

Rep. Fernand J. St Germain, D-R.I., chairman of the House Banking subcommittee on financial institutions supervising, regulation and insurance, was given $37,475 by political action groups representing interests affected by Banking Committee actions.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., committee chairman, reported $23,600 from such groups; Rep. Thomas Ashley, D-Ohio, chairman of the housing and community development subcommittee, received $21,300; and Rep. William S. Moorhead, D-Pa., chairman of the economic stabilization subcommittee, got $17,200.

Spokesmen for St Germain, Ashley and Moorhead said

NCAE Speaker Critical Over Funding Of Private Colleges

RALEIGH — C. Stewart Stafford, president of the North Carolina Association of Educators, said Tuesday that the state's aid to private college has increased 300 percent in the last seven years as opposed to per pupil expenditures for public schools, which have gone up only 93 percent.

"If the General Assembly had been as willing to fund its public schools as it has to pour money into the private colleges, North Carolina's schools wouldn't rank 44th in the nation in per pupil expenditures," said Stafford.

"In addition, the private colleges are asking for another $200 per student increase this session and are beating the drums for an annual per student appropriation of one-half of what is spent on the state's institutes of higher learning," Stafford continued. "If successful, that drive will leave North Carolina in the position of spending more per student on a private college student than is being spent on a public school student."

Stafford said that the current per pupil expenditure from state sources is estimated at $950. The state spends some $2,800 per public college and university student, so the 50 percent figure being talked about by private college leaders would mean a state appropriation of some $1,400 per North Carolinian enrolled in a private college.

Stafford said that his organization would carry its case that the public schools are not being treated fairly to the individual members of the General Assembly and that the Association is determined to either greatly improve the funding level "or identify the issues upon which the next gubernatorial election will turn."

leaders, now believed trying to set up a guerrilla movement in the countryside. The sight of Chinese advisers and diplomats fleeing Cambodia into Thailand must have been painful for Chinese leaders in Peking.

But it may not be all one way. China is already using a propaganda line that will probably be intensified in the future — wooing Southeast Asia, Japan and even the United States to its camp against the Soviets by pointing to Moscow-backed Vietnam's open aggression in Cambodia.

"Vietnam's attempt to annex Cambodia by force and set up an Indochinese Federation under its control is a major step in pushing its own regional hegemony and an important part of the Soviet drive for hegemony in Asia and the Far East," a recent Peking statement warned.

Many Asians won't need much prompting for their suspicions of Vietnam and Moscow to deepen. Newspaper editorials have already jumped on a pledge made only late last year by Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong about not supporting insurgent movements in the region.

The countries of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations — Thailand, Malaysia, Philippines, Singapore and Indonesia — are expressing concern over Vietnam's recent action. And American officials have indicated that normalization of relations with Hanoi — which Vietnam badly wanted — may now be further off.

Vietnam, admitting serious economic problems and unabashedly calling for foreign aid, may suffer in that area as well. Several countries, including Japan and Sweden, have already

Using Less Fuel

According to information released by George Laws, Pitt County Schools' Energy Control Officer, 11 county schools showed marked decreases in fuel oil consumption through Jan. 5, as compared with last year's usage.

Pactolus School showed the only increase among the 12 schools with a 4.6 percent increase in fuel oil usage.

Bethel Elementary School showed the most significant decrease with a 59.9 percent figure. Wellcome Middle School also had a large decrease, using 48.8 percent less fuel in the past year.

The percentages of the other schools' decreases are as follows: G. R. Whitfield, 36.4; Chicod, 25.4; A. G. Cox, 25.4; Farmville Middle, 24.9; Ayden Elementary, 23.8; Stokes, 19.7; Falkland, 17.8; Ayden Middle, 9.5; and Belvoir, 8.2 percent.

cars for every 1,000 Americans in 1977.

All in all, the U.S. economy grew by 4.9 percent in 1977, while the Soviet economy grew by 3.3 percent.

In any country, most people compare their lot with the life their parents and grandparents knew, not with the way of life in other countries they know little about.

The Russians were producing more milk, wool, lumber, crude oil, steel, cement and tractors than the United States. More gold, too. And they were apparently catching up with U.S. production of copper, natural gas and synthetic rubber.

Officially, the Soviets deny having any inflation at all, though the CIA detected an 11 percent increase in prices paid by consumers between 1970 and 1976. U.S. retail prices went up 56 percent during the same period.

The usual way economists measure national wealth is to divide the total produced by a country in a year by the number of inhabitants. According to that standard, the Soviets come up with a creditable $4,050 dollars per citizen, somewhat above Italy's $3,380, but less than half the 1977 figure for the United States: $8,720.

Annual Campaign Set By Heart Association

At a meeting of volunteer leaders of the Pitt County Heart Association on Monday, plans were made for the 1979 Heart Fund campaign.

Mrs. Betty Owens, president of the organization, referring to the annual door-to-door residential solicitation scheduled this year for Sunday, Feb. 25, said "The campaign this year is a challenge to all of us."

She then noted that "for the second consecutive year, deaths from heart and blood vessel diseases continued below the million mark nationally, and we believe that our fight against these diseases is having an impact."

According to Mrs. Owens, heart deaths still outnumber all other causes of death in the U.S. and in North Carolina. Of the 46,506 deaths in North Carolina in 1977, 24,151 were due to cardiovascular disease. In Pitt County for that year, 355 of 682 deaths were attributed to cardiovascular or related diseases.

Funds raised in the heart campaign will be used to support public education about controlling risk factors associated with heart attack and stroke, how to summon emergency life support, professional training for ambulance and rescue squads, community programs for patients and their families, and continued research.

Special guest at Monday night's meeting was Dr. Robert E. Thurber, president-elect of the North Carolina Heart Association.

Persons filling officer positions in the Pitt County Heart Association in addition to Mrs. Owens are - Dr. John C. Yeager, public information chairman; Mrs. Libby Swinson, secretary; and Mrs. Nancy Warren, treasurer.

Those filling volunteer chairman positions are - Ed Warren, Heart Fund; Mrs. Ann Duffus, fund raising; Mrs. Camille Archie, Greenville City; Mrs. Nancy Middleton and Mrs. Billy Jean Trevathan, Special Events; Charles Burnett, Corporations, Industries and Employees Solicitation; Mrs. Blanche Forbes, Special Gifts; Mrs. Nancy Smith, College; and Mrs. Nancy O'Brien, School.

Brochure Project Before Martin Bd.

WILLIAMSTON - A printing of several thousand brochures dealing with various areas of Martin County was one of the items considered by members of the Martin County Commissioners at their January meeting.

William Jenkins and John Boykin, president and vice-president of the Williamston Chamber of Commerce appeared before the board to encourage commissioners to support such a project. They noted original approval given by commissioners had run into a legal problem in using tax revenues but added that other funds could be used to support the project.

After hearing the two Chamber men, the board agreed to help fund the project from funds which are not tax revenues.

Discussions on the bad condition of trash pick-up trucks resulted in commissioners talking about the possibility of hiring a full time mechanic to work on the trucks and other equipment. The board agreed to further pursue study of the situation after Martin County Sanitarian Ghurman Ange informed commissioners that the pick-up trucks were in poor condition. A new truck now costs somewhere in the range of $68,000 to $70,000.

In other actions, commissioners approved a letter and report to be forwarded to Dr. Sarah Morrow, head of the Dept. of Human Resources, relating to proposals for the CBA program in Martin County. The CBA program is designed basically to deal with youth needs to prevent delinquency and for community based services.

A report by Dept. of Transportation district engineer Earl Moore shows that $371,887 had been spent on road construction in Martin County secondary roads for the period Dec. 1, 1977 and Nov. 30, 1978. Moore also recommended an updating of priorities for secondary roads in the near future.

Discuss New Fire Station

WILLIAMSTON - A lengthy discussion on plans for a new fire station dominated the January meeting of the Williamston Board of Commissioners.

A letter from Wilson and Associates, architects for the new fire station, called attention to the fact that the contract carries a $30 a day liquidated damage fee for not completing the project on the agreed date.

Fire Chief Tommy Price noted that efforts had been made by the contractor to complete the project by the agreed time, but that many delays had resulted in arrival of materials ordered and other difficult to predict factors.

It was also pointed out that the architects could request additional funds other than $22,000 already paid should the project continue to be delayed.

Commissioners feel the town should not be held responsible for additional costs due to delays and instructed Town Administrator J. B. Godwin to meet with the architects to discuss the matter.

A contract between the town of Williamston and Environment I of Greenville was approved. The contract, which has a May beginning date, entails testing at the new sewer plant, operational and supervisory services by Environment I.

Town commissioners also agreed to consider a request that the town give financial assistance to the publication of a brochure on Martin County.

Church Women Meet Tonight

The Christian Women's Fellowship Club of Philippi Church of Christ will meet tonight at 7:30.

Plans for the new year will be discussed and objectives will be reviewed. All members are urged to be present.

Methodists To Hold Workshop

Over 350 United Methodists from Beaufort, Greene, Hyde, Lenoir, Martin and Pitt Counties will attend a church training workshop Thursday, Jan. 18, at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church.

The workshop, designed for United Methodists in the Greenville District, will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The workshop is one of 12 being held across eastern North Carolina by the N. C. United Methodist Conference. It includes 18 classes to help church officers learn their responsibilities.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lost ground today, depressed by a report that producer prices had risen more in 1978 than in any year since 1974.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues was off 4.24 to 820.69 at noon.

Losers held a 7.4 edge over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Shortly before the market opened, the Labor Department said producer prices had risen a seasonally adjusted 0.8 percent in December and 9.1 percent in 1978.

Anticipation of the producer price figures pushed the Dow average down 6.50 on Wednesday. And traders had more to look forward to with money supply figures due out after trading closes today.

The most active issue was Penn Central, which fell 1/4 to 6 as a block of 438,500 shares crossed at that price.

Jones Sees No Justification

Congressman Walter Jones said this morning that the newly released Surgeon General's report on smoking and health "offers no justification for the government imposing legislative or regulatory restrictions on an individual's choice to smoke."

Jones, commenting on the new report, said that, "As chairman of the Tobacco Subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee, I am not surprised by the contents" of the report.

"After reviewing the report, I have concluded that it presents no material which has not been available previously from other sources," the First District representative said.

"Ever since the Surgeon General's first report in 1964," Jones noted, "people have been adequately aware of charges that cigarette smoking may be harmful. Despite this, millions of informed Americans have chosen to continue smoking for personal satisfaction."

Jones said, "We must be careful to insure that HEW (Department of Health, Education and Welfare) does not use this new report to coerce citizens when they exercise their freedom to make their own decision about smoking. The federal government can not be allowed to be the 'great nanny of us all' as some beauracrat would like to do."

The congressman added, "There are several aspects to the report itself which need to be emphasized, but which HEW will probably choose not to publicize since these points contradict charges made by anti-smoking forces. It fails to mention Secretary (Joseph) Califano's own testimony that the tobacco farm program bears no relationship to the prevalence of smoking. It points out that lower tar and nicotine cigarettes pose fewer risks."

Jones noted, "Finally, it concludes that cigarette smoke poses no health hazard to the non-smoker who is in the vicinity of a smoker."

Inflation....

The price of gasoline, sold at the refinery, rose 4 percent in December, and kerosene rose in price by 2.8 percent.

The report measured finished goods, or the price of products just before they are sold to consumers. The Producer Price Index for Finished Goods stood at 202.4, meaning that wholesale products that cost $100 in the base period of 1967 cost $202.40 last month.

The report was released as urban officials and the Senate leader of President Carter's party were giving the administration little encouragement on its anti-inflation program.

At earlier stages of production, there were some signs of improvement. The cost of intermediate goods rose 0.6 percent and the cost of crude goods, the earliest stage of production, slowed markedly to 0.4 percent because of a decline in crude food prices. However, food at the intermediate level was still a high 1.2 percent.

The administration is trying to cut its budget and promote its wage and price standards as a way to fight inflation.

Alfred E. Kahn, who heads the anti-inflation program, told the National Urban Coalition Wednesday that "the prescribed medicine for inflation is restraint" by government and the public.

As part of the anti-inflation effort, he said, more money cannot be spent to fight unemployment, to rebuild the cities or to pay for universal mittee. He formed a third judiciary committee that will have Sen. Henson Barnes, D-Wayne, as its chairman.

In the House, Rep. Ed Holmes, D-Chatham, was renamed as head of the appropriations panel; Rep. Ben Tison, D-Mecklenburg, was renamed as head of the Base Budget Committee; and Rep. John Gamble, D-Lincoln, was named as the new Finance Committee chairman.

Rep. Parks Helms, D-Mecklenburg, was named to the vacant Judiciary II chairmanship, and Rep. J.E. Lambeth, D-Davidson, was named to head the House Wildlife Committee.

Only a handful of bills were filed Wednesday. Gov. Jim Hunt's office announced early Wednesday that more than 70 bills his administration wants passed would be filed by legislators Wednesday. But by close of business only a few had actually been filed. And these were described as the lesser ones Hunt wants enacted.

Among the new bills that were filed was one aimed at speeding actions by the state Paroles Commission. It was filed in both chambers and would allow most parole decisions to be decided by subcommittees of two or three members, instead of the whole panel.

Rep. Dave DeRamus, D-Forsyth, filed a bill that would raise the retirement age to 70 in state and local government. It would also allow persons older than 70 to be continued as employees on a year-to-year basis.

Three House resolutions were filed urging a balanced federal budget or a constitutional convention to mandate a balanced budget.

Expect Russell Walter Next Demo Chairman

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Sen. Russell Walker of Asheboro is expected to be Gov. Jim Hunt's choice to replace Betty McCain as state Democratic Party chairman when she steps down.

Hunt has not publicly announced the change, but he cleared his choice with Democratic members of the state's congressional delegation this week.

Earlier, Hunt said privately that he would allow Mrs. McCain to keep the party chairmanship if she wished, but she apparently has decided to step down. Mrs. McCain, a resident of Hunt's home town of Wilson, has been head of the state party since August 1976.

Hunt has been waiting to announce his decision until the General Assembly convened Wednesday and after Wednesday night's state Democratic Party gala.

Walker, 60, declined to comment on his new job at the opening of the legislature Wednesday.

Walker has been a close political ally of Hunt's since Hunt entered statewide politics. In 1972 Walker managed the Democratic U.S. Senate campaign for Rep. Nick Galifianakis of Durham.

The head of the Democratic Party in the state has traditionally been the choice of the governor during Democratic administrations. Once the governor announces his choice, the post is officially filled by the party executive committee, which has routinely accepted the governor's choice in the past.

The next meeting of the state committee will be in early February, when Walker is expected to be officially picked for the post.

The regular meeting date for the commission was adopted and will fall on the second Monday of each month at 8 p.m. The next scheduled session will be on Feb. 12.

Commission's Officers Named

Officers were elected this week to serve the Greenville Area Energy Management Commission for the coming year.

Named as chairperson for the new commission was Marcus King, while Carynn Knott will serve as vice chairperson. Dr. William Collins was elected liaison officer.

All three officers will serve a one-year term, expiring Dec. 31.

In other business at the commission's regular January meeting, tentative appointments were made to the various subcommittees for the purpose of carrying out the work required under the contract with the U.S. Department of Energy.

The regular meeting date for the commission was adopted and will fall on the second Monday of each month at 8 p.m. The next scheduled session will be on Feb. 12.

Board To Visit School Sites

WILLIAMSTON — Jan. 22 and 23 are the dates that have been set for members of the Martin County Board of Education to visit various school sites throughout the county.

Action was taken to deal with several pupil assignments in which problems have arisen on the status of guardianship of the students. Permission for the students to remain in their present assignments was given, with a provision in several of the cases that guardianship be determined by the end of the current semester.

Funds were approved for several school projects including acceptance of a low bid of $19,248 for floor covering at the Williamston Junior High School; $26,400 for window projects at Jamesville and Farm Life Schools; and the board was informed that the purchase of 258 new desks for Rodgers School had been carried out, and that the old desks would be placed for sale on the state bid sheet.

$64,020 Grant Is Announced

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Walter B. Jones today announced that the National Institute of Allergies and Infectious Diseases has awarded a grant of $64,020 to East Carolina University.

This grant is to be used for research in the area of regulation of the immune response in live animals and covers the budget of the project for one year.

To Renew Talks On Space Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union will renew talks Jan. 23 in Bern, Switzerland, in an effort to ban satellites capable of hunting down and destroying other satellites.

The two superpowers are searching for a way of halting development of the satellites, which could be used to destroy another nation's surveillance and communications satellites.

Pirates Upset South Carolina, 56-55

Rebound Action

East Carolina's Pirates held South Carolina to only 18 second half points last night, and pulled off a stunning 56-55 upset of the Gamecocks to claim their second straight one-point victory in the role of underdogs.

The Pirates trailed by as much as eight points in the first half, but came back to take the lead five and a half minutes into the second half. South Carolina regained it twice more after that before the Pirates took the lead for good with 6:19 left on a Herb Krusen jumper at 52-51.

After George Maynor scored a baseline jumper for a 54-51 ECU lead, the Pirates got the ball back and went to a slow-down offense. It produced three trips to the foul line in the final minute, but converted on just two of those, but they proved the difference.

Oliver Mack scored the first with 52 seconds left, making it 55-51. Then, after Zam Frederick hit with 42 seconds to go, trimming it to 55-53. South Carolina committed several fouls before finally putting the Pirates into the bonus with 25 seconds left and sending Maynor to the line. He missed, and the Gamecocks got the rebound.

They got the ball to Cedrick Hordges under the basket, but he amazingly missed an easy layup, then missed on a tap. He got the ball once more, but it was knocked from his hands before he could shoot again and the Pirates came up with it, getting it to Maynor near midcourt, and he was fouled with four seconds remaining.

He hit the first shot, making it 56 to 53, but missed the second, and Mike Doyle hit a 40-footer in desperation at the horn, closing it to the final one-point margin.

Coach Larry Gillman was thrilled with the win, calling it East Carolina's "greatest, and my greatest win."

"I was a little surprised that they went with a zone defense," he said of the Gamecocks. "They did a good job of it with Minnesota, but we handled the zone well against Iona, and I thought they'd go with a man defense. We didn't play as well tonight as we did against Iona, but we gave a real good gutsy effort. We played very intense."

Turning to his own team's defense, Gillman felt the Pirates did a good job. "We shut Hordges out in the second half. We let him get the ball from the outside, then doubled him from the top." Hordges was 0-for-7 from the floor in the half.

While the Pirates were badly beaten on the boards, 44-32, Gillman said he expected that, since South Carolina enjoyed a height advantage. "But we more than made up for our board deficiency in being scrappy and helping on defense."

South Carolina's Frank McGuire said that he was very disappointed in his own team's lack of intensity. "I'm real upset," he told the press. "I haven't said much to a team in a long time, but I had a few sentences for them tonight."

"The coach, whose team hadn't played for 17 days, said he couldn't blame that. 'I blame a lack of intensity, effort, ambition, or whatever you want to call it.'"

He added that while he didn't mind losing to Leo Jenkins' former school, "I'm tired of making other teams look good. But East Carolina did play with a lot of intensity and that was the difference."

One of the South Carolina starters, Jimmy Graziano didn't play in the game, due to an ankle injury, and another player, transfer Jim Strickland, who played ten minutes in a reserve role in his first play, were also keys, McGuire felt. "Strickland just isn't ready yet. He hasn't played competitively for a year and a half, and he's just not ready to go."

"You know, if we'd played well and lost, I wouldn't say anything. But I can promise you that tomorrow (Thursday) there are going to be bodies flying all over our gym."

Many Changes Seen By S.C. Coach McGuire

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Basketball on the college level has come a long way since Frank McGuire, now the head coach at the University of South Carolina, first came on the scene.

The Gamecock coach was the guest of the Greenville Sports Club yesterday at a special meeting of the organization, and told of the changes he had seen over the past 30 years in the business.

McGuire told of coming to the University of North Carolina from St. John's, and getting "my brains" beat out early by Everett Case at N.C. State. "It wasn't easy to build a program at North Carolina. And it was hard to bring kids in from New York at first, too. But now it's easy. We just had to break the barrier, and basketball has brought a cultural change to this area."

Financially, basketball has changed. "In 1946, North Carolina went to the nationals, and got $4,000 for the trip," McGuire pointed out. "In 1952, St. John's went and got $57,000. The 1957 North Carolina team went all the way and won the title and got $72,000. This past year, Duke, after paying all expenses, still cleared $250,000."

Coaching, too, has changed, McGuire said. "Maybe it was more fun a few years ago, when you could get up and shout and get away with it. But television and radio have taken away a lot from the coaches' activity. Nowadays, a coach goes right from the game to in front of the mike and must be completely composed. The fans can't do something like that. Back in the days before so much radio and television coverage, a coach knew he could go in front of the newspaper men and make rash statements, think them over during the night, and the writer would call him back the next morning and ask him if he still felt that way. But since TV and radio, that's a thing of the past, too."

McGuire said he liked the North and South Carolina attitudes of people. "One of the reasons I took the job at North Carolina was that Billy Carmichael said that I'd have the respect of the people here. I've found that true. In New York, people don't have time to be friendly like they do in the South. "But this is my home, now. I've been here 27 years, and you can tell by my accent," he said to laughter. McGuire still speaks with the New York City Irish brogue he was brought up with. "I've kept it through recruiting," he added.

McGuire said that a coach had to be able to recruit to be successful. "I had a little trouble over the past couple of years in South Carolina, but now that's over," he said in reference to his age and expected retirement. "I've been given six more years by the South Carolina Supreme Court, and I think I can have another big winner before I'm through. We've already signed the best player in Washington."

Admitting that leaving the Atlantic Coast Conference was the worst mistake South Carolina ever made, McGuire said that he'd like to see the school readmitted. "But if we can't get back in, we have to do something. One problem is that our people want to see the natural rivalries. We can bring in Marquette or Notre Dame or someone like that and still not sell out. But any ACC team will pack the house."

McGuire also said that Leo Jenkins tried to get him to come to Greenville over 15 years ago when he left the pro coaching ranks before going to South Carolina. "Leo came to see me 10 or 12 times, trying to get me to take the job as vice-president for East Carolina, but I wanted to stay in coaching. He had a dream about East Carolina, and it's a thrill to visit Greenville and see how his dream has come true."

Next week's speaker, on Tuesday, will be Clyde Walker, now athletic director at the University of North Carolina Charlotte.

Lady Pirates Gain Finals At Clemson

CLEMSON, S.C. — East Carolina reached the finals of the Clemson Invitational women's basketball tournament with a 66-58 opening round win over Alabama-Birmingham last night.

The Pirates, now 8-4, used an 18-point performance by point guard Lydia Rountree to move past UAB into the finals against Clemson, a 102-48 winner over William & Mary in Wednesday's second game.

First-year ECU coach Cathy Andruzzi said after the game. "They know about Rosie Thompson and her scoring and they were all over her. She got the ball to the others well, though. Rountree was outstanding at the point. She penetrated well and was also our leading rebounder with 13. She controlled the ball on offense."

"They clamped down on Gale Kerbaugh a lot, too, and she only got eight points, but she was a demon on defense. Inside, Lynne Emerson and Marcia Girven worked well. Lynne almost shut out the people she played against and Marcia added 16 points," Andruzzi said.

"I'm really pleased that we have made progress and have reached 8-4 now. I watched Clemson play and they are really strong, as strong as some of the teams which are nationally ranked. They play two units, fast break well, have fine shooting and play tough defense. We'll have our hands full, particularly playing them in their own tournament."

The Pirates led by as many as 20 points during the first half last night, sparked by good fast breaking and penetration on offense. Turnovers allowed UBA to climb back into the game, but the Pirates never trailed.

"They came out playing us in a man-to-man," Andruzzi noted. "We were a little faster than they were and that made a difference. Rosie did a good job of penetrating, and after a while, they couldn't keep up with us running. "Then we got tired and they came back. They kept pressure on Gail and Rosie, but they did a super job. That left Emerson and Girven open and they combined for 26 points— just what we wanted."

Following the Clemson tournament, the Pirates will play at home on Jan. 17 against North Carolina.

Gastonia Ashbrook, Washington Hold Lead

By Al Carson
The Durham Sun

Gastonia Ashbrook retained its grip on the No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press North Carolina 4-A high school basketball rankings released today with a 40-35 victory over McDowell County.

Hickory also beat McDowell County to keep its No. 2 ranking, while the pair of losses forced McDowell County out of the top 10.

Washington remains unchallenged as the top 3-A team with an 11-0 record and all 14 first-place votes.

Elsewhere in the 4-A ranks, Durham Hillside was whipped by Durham High and slipped from third to a tie for seventh with Goldsboro. Southern Wayne dropped from the ranks of the unbeaten and fell from sixth to ninth, and Northern Nash moved up from eighth to fifth with an 11-1 record and 10 straight victories.

Washington garnered its strength in this week's 3-A rankings largely on a 92-39 triumph over Roanoke Rapids. The Pam Pack jumped out to a 23-2 lead and coasted the rest of the way.

South Iredell is rated No. 2 in the 3-A category followed by Hendersonville — all with unblemished records — while Edén Morehead is fourth and Rutherfordton-Spindale Central is fifth.

Durham Jordan, at one time second-ranked, suffered its fourth loss and dipped to the No. 10 spot. West Brunswick moved into the top 10, replacing Rockingham County at No. 9.

Burlington Cummings, ranked seventh, is 11-3 and has won 10 games in a row.

Here are the top ten teams in The Associated Press North Carolina high school basketball poll for classifications 3-A and 4-A, with first place votes in parentheses, records and total points. 4-A

Deacs, Terps, Devils ACC Winners

By The Associated Press
Wake Forest appears to be specializing in major upsets this season in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

First it beat Maryland, which was then ranked No. 20, last weekend 66-60.
And Wednesday night, with three freshmen starting, the Deacons knocked off third-ranked North Carolina 59-56.
But that wasn't the only upset in the ACC. It took two overtimes, but Maryland beat eighth-ranked North Carolina State 82-81.

In other games Wednesday, Duke rolled over Clemson 73-54, and Virginia trounced William & Mary 95-56.

WAKE FOREST 59, N. CAROLINA 56

Aycock In Mat Win

E. B. Aycock's wrestlers rolled over Beddingfield yesterday for a 68-11 victory. The Jaguars got eight pins along the way.

Summary:

88: G. Williams (B) dec. T. Whitchard, 16-12.

94: P. Taylor (A) pinned E. Franks, 1-10.

100: Double forfeit.

106: H. Barrett (A) won by forfeit.

112: D. Lee (A) pinned D. Artis, 0-15.

118: D. Murphy (A) pinned T. Phelps, 1-31.

124: K. Smith (A) pinned A. Jordan, 4-54.

130: D. Fisher (A) pinned M. Farmer, 2-26.

136: M. O'Neil (A) won by forfeit.

142: E. Staton (A) pinned S. Ruffin, 4-49.

150: R. Yelverton (B) pinned E. O'Neil, 3-53.

157: S. Corey (A) pinned G. Brown, 2-26.

167: L. Jackson (A) pinned Woodard, 1-20.

182: D. Smith (A) drew with P. Lewis, 6-6.

Hwt.: R. Anderson (A) won by forfeit.

Deacon coach Carl Tacy is a pretty reserved fellow. But, he allowed after the game, "This was just a super win."

Tempo told the story, with Wake slowing down the action in the second half when it took the lead. The Tar Heels were powerless against an offense they made famous — the four corners.

"This was certainly not a typical Wake Forest team," said Tar Heel Coach Dean Smith. "They weren't running and shooting."

The leading scorer for Wake Forest was Frank Johnson with 19. Tacy said the junior guard is beginning to fulfill the role he knew he would.

Tacy said he felt that as long as the Deacons kept the lead, they were willing to stay with the slow-down offense. "When we lost the lead we did a good job of getting it back and then went back to the delay game."

The Deacons also led the Tar Heels in rebounds, 35-25. High scorers for the Tar Heels were Al Wood and Dudley Bradley with 14 each. Mike O'Koren was limited to 11.

Also Wednesday, it was announced that Wake Forest back-up center Larry Harrison had been declared academically ineligible for the rest of the season. Harrison averaged five points and four rebounds a game.

MARYLAND 82, N. CAROLINA ST. 81

It wasn't the high-scoring shootout like the one last month between the Terrapins and the Wolfpack, but the result was the same — Maryland came out victorious.

"Maybe someone might start voting for us in polls," said Coach Lefty Driesell after the double-overtime win against the nation's eighth-ranked team.

Ernest Graham led the Terp effort with 24. In the game last month against the N.C. State, he scored a career-high 44. Maryland won that game 124-110.

Wolfpack Coach Norm Sloan said the Pack didn't do the things it should have. "It was our responsibility to get the good shot," Sloan said.

Kendal "Tiny" Pinder's 23 points paced the Wolfpack attack. Charles "Hawkeye" Whitener scored 22, but he missed a 15-foot shot at the buzzer that would have won the game for the Pack.

DUKE 73, CLEMSON 54
It was the first ACC game for the seventh-ranked Blue Devils, and they opened their season with a bang.
Four starters scored in double figures, led by Mike Gminski with 17. Gminski also pulled down 11 rebounds.

"I'm glad to get this win, and I think it will pick up our confidence in shooting outside and shooting our free throws," said Duke Coach Bill Foster.

"I was also pleased by the balance in our scoring and our good free throw shooting," he said. Duke made 27 of 32 shots from the line.

Scoring in double figures were Kenny Dennard with 14, Gene Banks with 12 and Jim Spanarkel with 14.

Clemson Coach Bill Foster said, "I thought our guys battled well. We just shot poorly."

Duke raised its record to 10-2 for the season and 1-0 in the ACC, while Clemson stands at 9-3 for the year and 0-2 in the conference.

VIRGINIA 95, WILLIAM & MARY 56

Cavalier Coach Terry Holland said the win got "the bad taste out of our mouths from the North Carolina game," which Virginia lost 86-74 in double overtime last week.

Sophomore Lee Raker was the game's leading scorer with 29, and Jeff Lamp got turned on as usual and added 23.

"William & Mary is a much better ballclub than they showed tonight. They had some good shots early that didn't fall for them," Holland said.

Indian coach Bruce Parkhill said, "We got completely out-played on both sides of the floor."

"I don't have any answers at this point. I won't sleep tonight. I know that," he said.

The Cavaliers forced 21 turnovers during the first half. Virginia increased its record to 7-4 with the win, while William & Mary dropped to 4-6.

HOLLYWOOD — D.H. Conley's Vikings gained an easy 49-5 victory over the North Pitt wrestling team last night.

The Vikings won 11 of the 13 weight classes and got a draw in one of the other two, giving North Pitt only one victory in the evening.

Conley is now 6-1 overall and 3-0 in Eastern Carolina Conference matches.

The Vikings play host to Southern Nash, and North Pitt visits East Carteret on Friday.

Summary:

100: William Green (C) won by forfeit.

107: Greg Tolar (C) won by forfeit.

114: Gary Harris (C) pinned Glenn Andrews, 1-54.

121: Donald Hardy (C) decided Tim Andrews, 15-8.

128: Alexander Crandall (C) decided John Simpson, 14-7.

134: Robert Carney (C) pinned David Woods, 5-23.

140: Donald Baffle (NP) decided Dennis Carney, 8-7.

147: Curtis Bridges (C) drew with David Manning, 5-5.

157: William Small (C) decided David Shaw, 16-1.

169: Double forfeit.

187: Earl Paige (C) won by forfeit.

197: James Carter (C) won by forfeit.

East Carolina plays host to North Carolina tonight in the first home wrestling match of the season for the Pirates.

East Carolina, 0-1 on the year, will be led by Steve Goode at 158 pounds, who owns a 10-2 record, and 177-pounder Butch Revils with a 5-2 mark.

The match will mark the debut of freshman heavyweight Mindell Tyson, a member of the Pirates' Independence Bowl champion football team.

The match against the Tar Heels, now 3-1, starts at 8 p.m. in Minges Coliseum.

All scouts, coming in uniform, will be admitted free of charge.

Pirates...

Neither team shot well in the game, although the Pirates did turn a 40 per cent first half around and hit 45.8 per cent in the second half. South Carolina dropped for 45.2 in the first to only 29.6 in the second, for a 37.9 percentage overall.

The Gamecocks also had trouble handling the ball with 18 turnovers as compared to 11 for the Pirates.

East Carolina ran off the first five points of the game, but the Gamecocks came back to run off ten in a row and take a 10-5 lead. They stretched that margin to seven at 16-9 with 11 minutes to go.

The Pirates closed it back to two, and finally tied it up at 25-25 on a steal by Moseley.

But South Carolina came back to regain the lead on a jumper in the lane by Kenny Reynolds, and the Gamecocks pulled away to their biggest lead, 37-29, eight points, just before the half ended at 37-31.

East Carolina took command in the second half, however, and pulled back and finally regained the lead at 44-43 on three straight baskets by Mack, the last coming with 14:36 to go.

After Cornelius raised it to 46-43, South Carolina came back on two free throws and a basket by Doyle to regain the lead at 47-46. The foul shots came after Mack blocked a shot by Doyle and then hit the floor hard.

But a tap by Maynor put the Pirates back up before Tom Wimbush stuffed in a missed shot that gave South Carolina the lead for the last time. After a Doyle jumper, Frank Hobson hit to pull the Pirates within one again, setting up the final six minutes started by Krusen's bucket that put the Pirates up for good.

Maynor led the Pirates with 15 points, while Mack had 14. Doyle led South Carolina with 18, scoring ten of the Gamecock's 18 second half points. Hordges had 13, all in the first half and Frederick had 10.

The Pirates are now 6-6 and play host to strong Virginia Commonwealth on Saturday.

IT HAS BEEN a season of highs and lows for the Farmville Central basketball team so far. Tuesday night the Jaguars achieved a high they hope to keep for awhile: the top spot in the Eastern Carolina Conference.

The Farmville football team made its yearly trip to the state 3-A playoffs this season, and that caused a three-week delay in the school's basketball program since nearly all the Jaguar cagers also play football.

Thus, coach Mike Terrell, even though he was counting on a good year, was unsure how quickly his team would jell in the first few games.

The team surprised nearly everyone by winning its first six ballgames and achieving a number seven ranking in the state 3-A basketball poll. But just before Christmas, things began to occur that brought the Jaguars' heads out of the clouds.

Farmville suffered its first loss to 4-A Beddingfield 66-60 before the holiday break. The loss dropped the team to eighth in the state. Then the Jags were dumped by North Pitt 50-58 in the Rose Holiday Classic and fell out of the top 10 altogether.

In their first conference game after Christmas, North Lenoir defeated them 73-63 as Hawk Johnny Wiggins scored 31 points. That was the low point for the team, which split its second six games after winning its first six.

THE LOSS to North Lenoir was the team's first defeat in the conference, and so far, its only defeat. Tuesday night, the Jags visited D. H. Conley in a showdown for first place.

Both teams were 6-1 in the league going into the contest, with the winner taking sole possession of the top spot.

Farmville's play in the game reflected the Jags' season so far. "I thought we played very well in spots and poor in spots," Terrell said after the contest.

The Jaguars built up a nine-point first-half lead, only to see Conley come back and go up by one early in the third quarter. Then the Jags turned it on, scoring 18 straight points. Still, they had to hold off the charging Vikings late in the game for a 69-57 win.

So Farmville is now 7-1 in the league and Conley 6-2, tied for second with North Lenoir.

The Jaguars are talented. As Conley coach Shelly Marsh noted, their top 10 players are the best 10 in the conference. That also seems to be true of the starting five.

Farmville's strength is in the frontcourt, especially at forward where Donald Freeman and Donald Reid are the starters. Earl Harris at center is a good defensive player and rebounder, but his offense is lacking at this point.

Terrell also is not getting much offense from his guards, and this could hurt the team as the season goes along.

For the Farmville cagers to follow in the footsteps of the school's football team, they will have to develop some consistency and get more scoring at the guard and center spots.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST—Snow is expected in the forecast period until Friday morning from the northern Rockies into the central Plains. Snow is also forecast for the Great Lakes and Midwest. Rain is due for northern Florida and southern Georgia. Cold temperatures are facing most areas. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press
Another surge of cold air has pushed across North Carolina, reinforcing the cold that was already here. The front was drifting southeastward while a low pressure system was building over the western Gulf of Mexico.

This system is drifting eastward and should spread precipitation over North Carolina in the next 24 to 48 hours. With cold air already over the state, the precipitation probably will start as snow in the mountains tonight and possibly as sleet or freezing rain in the central sections of the state by morning.

Some warming is expected on Friday with the precipitation in the form of light rain across most of the state. The rain is expected to linger into Saturday as well but with clearing and colder Sunday.

Under sunny skies, temperatures generally reached the 40s around the state Wednesday although some mountain areas held in the 30s. Overnight low readings showed some moderation.

Lows included Asheville 18, Greensboro and Fayetteville 22, Wilmington 24, Raleigh 25, and Charlotte 26.

High temperatures today were expected to range from the 30s in the mountains to near 50 on the coast. Lows tonight will be in the 20s and 30s.

Background Said Factor

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Results of the state's competency test show 11th graders in poor, rural areas failed the test at a much higher rate than their counterparts in more well-to-do school districts.

Most of the poor school systems are located in the eastern part of the state, according to H.T. Connor, assistant state superintendent. But some city systems, including Durham and Greensboro, produced failure rates above the state average.

Ten percent of the state's 11th graders failed the reading part of the test, according to figures released Tuesday, and 15 percent failed the math portion.

School systems with higher-than-average failure rates had two key characteristics in common, Connor said. They are relatively low family income and relatively low levels of adult educational attainment.

There are other problems shared by the rural school systems, Connor said. Because they are poor, they generally spend little local tax money for education. They encounter problems attracting and keeping quality teachers. And parents tend not to get involved as school volunteers or aides, he said.

Yearbook Staff Taking Orders

The annual/yearbook staff at E. B. Aycock Junior High School is taking orders for "The Echo," which will be distributed in the spring, according to Paul Rasberry, principal.

Miss Faye Creegan's eighth grade students are working on projects, with selected ones to be entered in the "Tarheel Junior Historian" magazine statewide contest for junior and senior high school students. Entries will be submitted in April, with winners to be announced in May at a statewide meeting at Meredith College, Raleigh.

In other school activities, the school has its first junior varsity team for girls.

League Loses In Liquor Suit

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Attorneys for the North Carolina Christian Action League said Wednesday they will not appeal a Wake County Superior Court judge's denial of a temporary restraining order on mixed drink referendums.

Superior Court Judge James H. Pou Bailey denied the league's request, which would have delayed local referendums on mixed drink sales. He also rejected a request by the league to halt the sale of mixed drinks in areas where voters have already passed referendums.

Attorneys for the league said they would not appeal Bailey's decision because local referendums probably would be over by the time the case could get to the Court of Appeals.

Local-option referendums are scheduled Friday in Durham, New Hanover, Onslow and Wake Counties. Voters in several other localities will decide on mixed-drink sales during the next few weeks.

The group filed suit against the state Friday in an attempt to throw out the liquor-by-the-drink law, which was enacted by the General Assembly last summer. It asked Bailey to issue temporary restraining orders to block the referendums and further sales of mixed beverages pending the outcome of the suit.

Bailey, who has not set a date for the trial of the suit, said an order blocking local-option referendums on mixed-drink sales would interfere with the constitutional rights of voters. He said he could grant a temporary injunction against the referendums only if there were a threat of immediate and irreparable damage to those opposing the sale of liquor by the drink.

Democrats Pack Raleigh Center

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Nearly 1,000 jubilant North Carolina Democrats packed the Raleigh Civic Center Wednesday night for the party's third annual "gala."

The crush of the crowd dimmed the excitement for some, but most stayed through the hot, crowded evening, even if it had its inconveniences.

"I paid $100 (for a ticket), and I can't even get a drink of liquor," a Piedmont Democrat grumbled after surveying the long line at one of several bars.

Some of the participants may not have been too happy about the high price of tickets, but party leaders expected the final accounting to show a profit of at least $35,000 for party coffers.

Except for a receiving line that included Gov. Jim Hunt, Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green and President Jimmy Carter's press secretary Jody Powell, the event was largely unstructured.

A band played occasionally, leading off with the party theme song, "Happy Days are Here Again."

Meanwhile, the lines were long at the buffet tables, where the party faithful could munch on a variety of hors d'oeuvres from egg rolls to the ever-present peanuts.

Wednesday night's gala seemed to attract a much larger number of middle-level state officials than the events in two previous years, including Samuel P. Garrison, warden of Central Prison, and William M.A. Greene, state Ports Authority director.

Making a rare political appearance since his upset loss for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate was Luther H. Hodges Jr., who lost the nomination to state Insurance Commissioner John R. Ingram. Ingram in turn lost the general election to Sen. Jesse A. Helms, R-N.C.

Arrest Man In Fountain

FOUNTAIN — A Greenville man was arrested here Wednesday morning and charged in connection with two early morning break-ins, including one at the home of a Pitt County deputy sheriff.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson reported that Lonnie Williams, 60, was charged with breaking, entering and larceny at the home of Deputy John Baker and also at the George Burnette home located across the street from the Baker residence here.

The sheriff said that a pocketbook and sport coat was reported taken from the Baker home and a blanket from the Burnette residence. All three items were recovered, it was noted.

Sheriff Tyson, who said the break-ins took place between 7:30 a.m. and 8 a.m., added that Baker's wife was asleep when her home was entered.

Bond for Williams, who was employed by the town of Fountain at the time of the incidents, was set at $5,000 with a first appearance hearing scheduled for today in Ayden District Court.

Giving Senior Recital Friday

Carolyn Marie Smith, flutist, will present her senior recital at 8:15 p.m. Friday, Jan. 12 in the A. J. Fletcher Music Center Recital Hall.

Her program will include "Sonata" by C.P.E. Bach; Satie's "Gymnopedies No. 1 and 3;" and works by Georges-Hue and de Boismortier.

Ms. Smith will be assisted by Brenda Miles, pianist, cellist Andrea Smith, guitarist Mike Thompson, and flutists Susan Cheston and Lisa Clo, all students in the School of Music.

There is no admission fee, and the public is invited to attend.

Gymnastics Registration

The East Carolina Children's Gymnastics Registration will be held Sunday, Jan. 14, from 1-4 p.m. in Memorial Gym on the East Carolina University campus.

Children must be registered at this time. If unable to attend registration, a parent may have another parent register a child. Cost for the six weeks of gymnastic instruction will be $20.

The schedule will be as follows:

MONDAY — 6-7 p.m., 6-8 year olds, beginners; 7:15-8:15 p.m., 11 and up, intermediates.

TUESDAY — 6-7 p.m., 8-11 year olds, intermediates; 7:15-8:15 p.m., 12 and up, intermediates.

WEDNESDAY — 6-7 p.m., all boys, beginners; 7:15 p.m.-8:15 p.m., all boys, intermediates.

THURSDAY — 6-7 p.m., 6-8 year olds, beginners; 7:15-8:15 p.m., 8-11 year olds, beginners.

Zany Disc Jockey Plays His Own Off-Beat Songs

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The disc jockey slips the record onto the turntable, puts needle to groove, and out comes the evening's most requested hit: "I took my fish head out to see a moo-vie, I didn't have to paa-ay to get it in."
It's time for Demented Radio, and your host for the evening, Dr. Demento!

Demento, known to his mother as Barry Hansen, is a balding, 37-year-old man who makes a living by letting America listen to his records. It's a huge collection, 100,000 or so, and the common denominator is comedy.
Dementia, if you prefer.
Hansen hosts a nationally syndicated radio show featuring records you don't ordinarily hear on commercial radio; or anywhere else, for that matter. It's not exactly the Top Pop 100.

Included in his collection — "Fish Heads," with the catchy lyric above, "Flying Purple People Eaters" and the memorable 1895 Dan Quinn recording, "Henrietta, Have You Met Her?"

"The purpose of my show is to relax you and get your mind off your troubles for a couple of hours," Hansen says. "I play demented music."
"I play records with no regard whatsoever as to whether they're available in record stores. That's different from most radio shows, which work hand in hand with the record companies, and all you hear are the hit records."

Many of Dr. Demento's best songs are homemade tapes, sent to him by fans with a flair for strange.
"On the national show, the No. 1 hit is a homemade tape called "My Dead Dog Rover," a song that kiddies have been singing for years."
He promptly launches into the first verse, set to the tune of "I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover":
"I'm looking over, my dead dog Rover, who I ov'ran with the mower..."
Remember, this is demented radio.
"That's typical of what I do," he says proudly. "That song is by Stu. Dave and Hank."
Hansen became Dr. Demento in the early 70s, back in the beginning days of "underground

They Get What They Want

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television producer Aaron Spelling thinks American TV viewers are getting exactly what they want.
Spelling, producer of such TV shows as "Charlie's Angels" and "Family," told some 1,000 broadcast executives at a meeting of the Hollywood Radio and Television Society Tuesday that the public determines what is shown on television.
"All they have to do is turn it off and they'll get what they want," said Spelling.

Horowitz Delays Return

NEW YORK (AP) — Pianist Vladimir Horowitz has postponed his return to the concert stage for another month and will not appear before March, according to a spokesman for his manager, Harold Shaw.
Horowitz, who was hospitalized early last month for what was termed minor corrective surgery, has canceled and is rescheduling in February.

CRYPTOQUIP 1-11

U M E U I V W K M F E I F L R K V W J I K
H J S P H F J S M P H M L R

Yesterday's Cryptiquip — HUMID WATUSI FAN OFTEN EASED INTO THE SWIM.

Today's Cryptiquip clue: J equals O

The Cryptiquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JAN. 12, 1979

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A strange day and evening and one when you would be wise not to become involved in anything which could make you feel like a martyr. Do whatever work you have calmly.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be patient with a close tie who could be out of sorts today. Do whatever will rectify tensions in your career work. Don't lose your temper with anyone or there is trouble.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Good day to go after information you need to make your life work more efficiently and satisfactorily. Use care in motion, even on short trips. Take no risks with credit.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be careful in handling of money. Wait a while before setting up a new budget you have in mind. Study it further.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A personal problem you have had for some time now can be cleared up easily. Postpone a group affair to a more favorable time. Make sure business affairs are in good order.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Postpone the handling of a private matter that has been puzzling to you. Be more understanding with your mate and have more harmony between you. Take no risks with money or possessions.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't have any confrontations with friends who are in a bad mood today and avoid trouble. Impartiality with all is best. Use your smile more and all works out better for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take care you do not annoy higher-ups in any way now. Take care of that credit matter and you avoid loss. Relax where mate is concerned.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find better ways to advance and get better results. Make new contacts of worth who can be of help to you. Take no risks in driving.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Change your ideas concerning mate and come to a far better understanding now. Find a better way of handling responsibilities, also.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study partners and know how best to work with them more successfully. Be more cooperative in a project or it goes in the wastebasket. Think along happier lines.

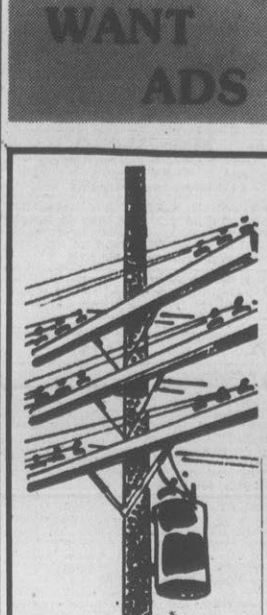

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Your work load may seem confusing, but if you consult with an expert, it soon clears up. Come to a better understanding with fellow workers, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't be disappointed if some entertainment you had planned does not work out, since it is for the best. Get busy with a particular talent you want to express better.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have every kind of ability at solving problems, especially where pleasing the public is concerned, so be sure to slant education along such lines. Teach early not to develop a martyr complex and to think more objectively.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
