

Commissioners Ask By-The-Drink Vote

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners this morning adopted a resolution asking the Board of Elections to hold a referendum on or about May 18 on the question of whether or not to allow the sale of mixed beverages in restaurants and social clubs in the county.

The board also voted to separate a proposed $9 million bond issue for school capital improvements from the question of consolidating the Pitt County and Greenville city administrative units and requested the county and city boards of education to call a special meeting for Tuesday night to discuss with commissioners the mechanics of calling a referendum on the bond question.

Doug Starr, representing the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce presented a resolution from the Chamber's board of directors asking commissioners to call for a referendum to "allow the citizens of Pitt County to decide whether to allow the sale of mixed beverages..." The chamber resolution suggested the vote be held on May 4 or May 18.

There was no opposition to the proposed referendum voiced at this morning's session.

Floyd Kite told commissioners that a survey of 200 county residents on the by-the-drink liquor sale question resulted in 175 responses.

Kite said 51.4 per cent of those responding favored holding a referendum on the question, while 22.8 per cent were against calling for a vote.

He also said 40 per cent of those responding favored the sale of mixed beverages, while 31.4 per cent were opposed to the sale of liquor by the drink. Kite noted that 28.5 per cent of the respondents were undecided on the question.

Commissioners voted to separate the question of a bond issue for capital improvements in the school from the question of merging the two school systems after Bob Martin, chairman of the board said both the Pitt County and Greenville City Boards of Education have requested that the two questions be considered separately.

Martin told commissioners, "the study (on consolidation) we have requested may take longer than we had originally anticipated," and the two school boards feel it will result in "too long a delay."

Martin noted that "we put the two (the bond issue and merger question) together," in hopes of creating, "a more favorable atmosphere," for passage of the bond proposal.

The chairman added that in his opinion, the separation of the two questions now will, "eliminate a lot of friction," that might develop between the two school boards and the Board of County Commissioners.

City School Board Selects A Merger Committee

By JERRY RAYNOR

Miles Frost, Donovan Phillips and Theresa Shank are the three Greenville School Board members appointed to serve on the joint county-city school boards committee on developing a merger plan for the two school systems.

Mrs. Shank, chairman of the city school board, announced the appointments at the beginning of the February action meeting of the board Thursday night, then immediately announced her resignation as chairman to be effective Feb. 28, so that she can more fully devote her efforts to work as a member of the school boards merger committee.

Her resignation automatically elevates vice-chairman Ed Carter to the board's chairman on the date of Mrs. Shank's resignation.

Dr. Jon Tingstad was elected new vice-chairman by voice acclamation. The name of Mrs. Nancy Middleton was the first nominated for the vice-chairmanship, but Mrs. Middleton asked that her name be withdrawn.

On the matter of the proposed school bond issue, school board members unanimously approved a motion to deliver in writing to County Commissioners at their meeting today a resolution asking that the bond issue be separated entirely from the merger issue, and that the bond referendum be called as soon as possible.

Members noted that the county school board earlier this month took a similar action on the proposed $9 million bond issue called for jointly by the two school boards.

The first stage in the 1979-1980 budget preparation was presented to the board in the proposed capital outlay budget projection of expenditure summary.

In presenting the proposed budget, Superintendent Glenn Cox explained that the summary was "what I will call the A or immediate need budget, and the B, or inclusive budget capital outlay, needs. The B budget, Cox added, contains items that "we are aware will have to come from a bond issue."

Items contained in the superintendent's recommendation as immediate essential needs come to a total of $127,500. This figure covers the following individual projects:

— Roofing (resaturation of roofs at South Greenville and J. H. Rose Rose), $27,000.

— Heating (zone heating system and revalve radiators at Rose and replace heat distribution systems at Elmhurst and Sadie Sautler), $24,000.

— General school renovations (fencing, walls for cafeteria, acoustical material and drainage, Middle School), $30,000.

— Land acquisition (Sadie Sautler), $10,000.

— Electrical (replace wiring at Elmhurst, Rose, and South Greenville), $20,000.

— Storage tanks (20,000 gallon oil tank and 10,000 gallon gas tank), $7,500.

— Paving (Sadie Sautler, South Greenville, and Third Street), $9,000.

Items contained in the B, or full needs recommendations in the proposed budget are:

— Roofing (Agnes Fullilove), $22,000.

— Heating (J. H. Rose)

Chinese Warplanes Raid Near Port Of Haiphong

By DAVID TERRY
Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — In an escalation of the week-old war, Chinese warplanes striking deep into Vietnam pounded targets near the port of Haiphong, where Soviet ships were unloading missiles and radar equipment for their Vietnamese allies, Thai intelligence sources said today.

Japanese reports said, meanwhile, that a Chinese Vietnamese provincial capital, Ha Giang, may have fallen to the invaders, and that the Vietnamese defenders of Lang Son, a strategic crossroads town on the eastern front, apparently were under siege by Chinese ground troops.

Further east, closer to the South China Sea coast, outnumbered Vietnamese infantrymen were fighting fiercely today to keep three Chinese divisions from cutting off a highway and outflanking the Vietnamese forces around Lang Son.

The Japanese Embassy in Hanoi reported to the Foreign Ministry in Tokyo that Chinese troops may have captured Ha Giang, capital of the central province of Ha Tuyen, Japan's Kyodo news service reported. The city is about 12 miles south of the Chinese border.

The invaders earlier this week captured Cao Bang, capital of the central province of Cao Bang, and Lao Cai, capital of Hoang Lien Son province in the west.

Kyodo quoted ministry officials as saying Chinese troops also were believed to have besieged Lang Son, a provincial capital 80 miles north of Hanoi and 12 miles south of the border, and a key staging area for the Vietnamese defense.

If true, the report may mean that the Chinese routed Vietnamese artillery and infantry that had taken a stand in the hills just south of the village of Dong Dang, seven miles farther north from Lang Son.

Soviet Defense Minister Dmitri Ustinov, in a speech today in Moscow, denounced China's "dangerous provocations... against neighboring sovereign states" and said Peking is trying "to plunge the world into a war."

Meanwhile, Chinese aircraft struck an area northwest of Haiphong on Thursday, shortly after the Russian ships began their deliveries.

Double explosions were reported as the Chinese jets bombed near Haiphong, which could indicate the bombs were detonating explosive material, the sources said.

There were no reports of Vietnamese aircraft rising to meet the Chinese invaders at Haiphong, Hanoi's main port and a frequent target of U.S. raids during the Indochina war.

Chinese jet fighters knocked out most of Vietnam's radar emplacements and missile sites in air strikes last Saturday and Sunday, Thai sources said.

The sources, who asked not to be identified, said the Kremlin also is air lifting heavy weapons to an undisclosed destination in Vietnam. They said the airlift was first detected Thursday morning. The planes were being refueled in flight, the sources said.

Heavy fighting was reported, meanwhile, along 100 miles of the eastern Vietnam-China border.

Blumenthal Going To China Bringing Carter Views On Border War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, embarking on a nine-day trip to China, is carrying instructions from President Carter on what to say to Chinese leaders about their border war with Vietnam.

Blumenthal, the first top administration official to visit China since the United States established diplomatic relations Jan. 1, scheduled a mid-morning departure from Washington.

The Blumenthal trip, first intended primarily to discuss economic and trade issues, has taken on added significance with China's weekend invasion of Vietnam.

The Carter administration has publicly urged that the Chinese withdraw from Vietnam and that the Vietnamese take their troops out of Cambodia. But the Blumenthal trip gives Carter an opportunity to make his wishes known directly to the Chinese leadership.

"The secretary is carrying instructions from President Carter for meetings with the Chinese leadership on the China-Vietnam situation," said government officials, who requested anonymity.

They declined to reveal the content of the instructions, or whether they included a specific message from Carter to Chinese leaders.

The officials said the instructions to Blumenthal concerned "what to say" about the fighting. Blumenthal, expected to meet Chinese Chairman Hua Kuo-feng and Vice Chairman Teng Hsiaoping, will represent the president at the official opening of the U.S. Embassy in Peking March 1.

Officials said no serious consideration was given to postponing the trip because of the fighting. The trip, planned months in advance, is considered "an essential part of the normalization process," one said.

The officials also cautioned against expecting any spectacular gains from Blumenthal's trade and economic talks with the Chinese. But they said the trip will be important in "laying the groundwork for the normalization of economic relations."

And they hope Blumenthal will be successful in negotiating a settlement of $196 million in outstanding American claims against the Chinese government stemming from its seizure of American property after the communists took over the country in 1949.

Chief among these is a $53.8 million claim by the Boise Cascade Corp., whose subsidiary, the Shanghai Power Co., was seized by the communist government.

The United States, for its part, had frozen about $80 million in Chinese assets in this country, but officials said Thursday the U.S. government might be unable to obtain more than a major fraction of this total as a settlement of its own claims against the Chinese.

Recession Still Feared By Senate Committee

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The Senate Economy Committee today issued an interim report on the outlook for the state's economy and said it still expects a recession in late 1979 or early 1980.

The report was based on predictions from six economists who have appeared before the committee since the General Assembly convened.

The economists were almost unanimous in their predictions of a recession but were divided in their forecasts on when the recession will hit and how severe it will be.

They predict the recession will be fairly short, lasting from three to nine months.

David Crofts, legislative fiscal analyst, said the economic forecast has not changed enough since January, when the initial forecasts were received by the committee, to warrant a change in anticipated revenues for the state in the upcoming biennium.

He also said there is no change expected in current budget figures since revenue collections continue to be stable.

However, the panel said it is likely that a decline in growth in the housing industry may have an effect on furniture-manufacturing and home-apparel industries in North Carolina later this year.

Housing starts declined nationally in January, and Crofts said economists feel the higher interest rates and higher down payments required are beginning to have an effect that could reach North Carolina industry.

Although Crofts said economists do not feel a need to change budget projections for the next two years now, the timing, duration and severity of the recession may require a change later.

He said the political strife in Iran that has halted oil production there could also have an effect. Economists are monitoring the situation daily, he said.

HOME BURNED

Over in the morning Sunday Mrs. Florence Haddock of Rt. 4, Greenville was awakened by her husband, Oscar, and told their house was on fire. The Haddocks and their seven children managed to get out, but everything in the house was destroyed.

They are now staying with the Bruce Newton family, also on Rt. 4, and believe they have prospects of a place to live. Haddock is an employee of the A. C. Monk Company, Farmville; his wife is a homemaker.

Their church, St. Luke's of Greenville, of which the Rev. Hattie Mae Cobb is pastor, has asked Hotline to appeal for gifts for the family. Contributions may be made in care of the church or may be taken to the Newton home.

Names and approximate sizes of the family members are as follows: father, 34; mother, 16; Tony, 36; Raymond 30-32; Garry, 14 slim; Barbara 11-12; Sandra, 10; Donald, 10 slim and Chris, boys' 8.

The Haddocks' mailing address is Rt. 4, Box 184-A, Greenville.

BENEFIT FOR THREE FAMILIES

A magic show and clown revue will be given at Falkland Elementary School Monday at 7:30 p. m., with all proceeds to be divided among three families of the Falkland community who lost their homes to fire during the past week.

John Williams, a physical education teacher at the school and a part-time magician and clown will give the show, with help from fellow Clown Alley members of the Greenville area.

The three families to be benefited are the Walter Foremans, the Oscar Haddocks, and the Ricky Hamills. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. The show is to be held in the school auditorium.

Sharp Gain For N.C. Revenues

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — State tax collections recorded their largest increase of the fiscal year during January, jumping 17.8 percent over the amount collected during the same month last year, Revenue Secretary Mark Lynch said today.

That figure is "deceiving," Lynch warned. Changes in collections methods in several tax categories caused the figure to be unusually high, he said.

"I think the general state of the economy is excellent," Lynch said. "I do not in any way think that means we aren't going to have a downturn. I think we are going to have a downturn. It's not a question of whether; it's a question of when."

The January general fund jump brings the increase for the first seven months of the fiscal year to 14.7 percent over the same period in the previous year, he said.

That figure is crucial to legislative budgetmakers, who say a 10 percent year-end growth figure is needed to balance the state budget.

The large monthly increase was "illusory," Lynch said, because of procedural distortions in nearly all taxes except sale and use.

The sales taxes, reflecting consumer buying during the December Christmas season, were up 12 percent over the previous year. But the inflation rate was 9 percent, meaning real growth amounted to only about 3 percent, Lynch said.

"No conclusions can be made from the January report except that December sales were good, but not spectacular," he said.

Total general fund collections for the seven-month period amounted to $1.3 billion, compared with $1.1 billion during the same period in the 1977-1978 fiscal year.

The highway fund, compiled from gasoline and other transportation-related taxes, was up 9.6 percent during January, and 6.6 percent for the seven-month period.

Cigarette tax collections were up nearly 21 percent for the month, but down by less than 1 percent for the seven months. Lynch attributed the January increase to higher buying because of anticipated cigarette price increases.

Individual income tax collections were up 20 percent this January.

Found Dancing More Profitable

OKLAOMA CITY (AP) — Gov. George Nigh has found dancing to be more profitable than praying in his first few weeks as the state's chief executive.

Nigh announced Thursday that he generated a $416 profit on his inaugural ball, but lost $75 on his inaugural prayer breakfast.

The governor blamed the cost overrun for the prayer breakfast on an $82 expenditure for decorative candles.

Moving Debris Today

Workers were scheduled to begin moving contaminated debris from the Coastal Chemical Corp. fire to the county landfill on the Allen Road for disposal today.

The solid waste, including remains of the building and chemical containers as well as contaminated soil, will be buried in a lime lined pit. State officials said they were not sure how much material would be buried in the landfill or how long it would take to dispose of the solid waste.

Even after the solid material is disposed of, officials will still face the problem of what to do with thousands of gallons of contaminated water now stored behind dikes at the chemical plant site.

William Buffalo, who heads the pesticide division of the N.C. Department of Agriculture said lower concentrations of chemicals were found in the soil and water at the site than had been expected. The intense heat from the fire may have destroyed much of the hazardous material that was stored in the Coastal Chemical warehouse, he explained.

However, Buffalo said workers are continuing to treat the chemical-laced water at the site with soda-ash and other chemicals in an effort to break down and neutralize the potentially hazardous compounds.

Couple In Fla. Wreck Are Critically Injured

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Hackney Jr., formerly of Rt. 1, Ayden, were critically injured when their van was hit head-on by a dump truck in Naples, Fla. the afternoon of Feb. 14.

Hackney, 26, has been unconscious since the accident, but Mrs. Hackney, the former Denise Mobley, 25, of Williamston, has regained consciousness. She's "improving every day," according to her mother, Mrs. Edward Earl (Sally) Mobley of Williamston, interviewed by telephone in the Intensive Care Family Room of the Naples Community Hospital where the two are patients.

According to an article published in "The Naples Daily News" Feb. 15, the Hackneys' van was rammed on Kelly Road in Naples by a dump truck which allegedly was passing another vehicle. The truck overturned, but the driver, identified as Robert S. Jimerson, 20, was not injured. He was charged by the Florida Highway Patrol was "failing to use due care."

The newspaper account reported that Mrs. Hackney was removed from the wreckage immediately, but that members of the East Naples Fire Department labored 20 minutes with a "jaws of life" power tool to free Hackney and paramedics administered intravenous fluid to sustain him during the rescue.

The couple, both of whom attended East Carolina University, lived near Ayden last year. He was a carpenter and she was an occupational education teacher at C. B. Martin School in Edgecombe County. He is originally from Greensboro; she from Williamston. They began traveling southward in September, Mrs. Mobley said, and found jobs for themselves as waiter and waitress at the Beach Club Hotel in Naples in October.

They had lived and worked there since.

Mrs. Mobley said yesterday that Mrs. Hackney's condition has improved to the extent that she has been taken off a respirator and that her internal injuries seem under control. She has a number of broken bones, her mother said, and is in extreme pain, but, though heavily sedated, is aware of those around her and what has happened. Both her parents are with her and her brother, Phil, has visited, but has had to return to his home in Raleigh now. A younger brother, Bruce, is staying with an uncle and aunt in the Williamston area.

Hackney had not regained consciousness as of this morning. He has undergone surgery three times so far — on a foot, a wrist and to insert a tube into the trachea. All have been done with only local anesthetic, Mrs. Mobley said, and she and her husband and Hackney's father, there from Greensboro, have been pleased that he withstood the operations so well.

"We're seeing progress every single day," Mrs. Mobley said. "And we're continuously experiencing the kindness of practical strangers here and also of our good friends back home who're calling and writing and helping out back there. We ask for the prayers of everyone who reads this article."

Holding Man For Break-In

Greenville Police early today arrested Fredrick Lee Moore, 21 of 1605 Hopkins Dr. on charges of breaking and entering after finding him inside the Evans Street Automotive Service building at 1525 South Evans St.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Moore was taken into custody about 12:45 a.m.

He said entry to the building was gained by breaking out windows in a large door. When officers arrived at the scene, they heard noises coming from the structure, and a search revealed Moore hiding in a storage room.

Cannon said $200 worth of merchandise, including a shotgun, batteries, cigarettes, gloves and other items had been moved to a doorway.

Moore was jailed under a $1,000 bond pending court action in the case.

Ass'n Endorses Oil Recycling

RALEIGH — Henry McDowell, president of the North Carolina Association of Launderers and Cleaners, announced the endorsement by the association of the establishment of North Carolina's oil recycling refinery to be operated by the state's prison enterprises system.

McDowell gave the endorsement Saturday during the association's board of directors' quarterly meeting.

"Our launderers and cleaners, as energy users and tax payers in this state, realize the shortage we are now facing, and therefore wish to go on record in favor of the oil recycling process for any municipal, county, state or federal agencies within the state of North Carolina."

boilers, $50,000; and E. B. Aycock heating/air conditioning, $385,000, for a total of $435,000.

— General renovations to all buildings to include access for handicapped ($48,000) and energy conservation ($100,000), for a total of $148,000.

— Electrical, upgrade all electrical service to prepare for air conditioning, $150,000.

— Site work, track ($20,000) and football field ($350,000) for a total of $370,000.

— New construction, completion of the Middle School, $2,700,000; and rest rooms, dressing area, and concession stand at E. B. Aycock, $50,000, for a total of $2,750,000.

The grand total of the B proposals are $3,875,000. These recommendations will be studied by board members who will at a later date offer suggestions for approval, additions or revision of proposed items.

Two of five policy items on the agenda were moved to the March meeting for consideration to allow more time for study of draft policies — policy on School District Organization, and School Board Operations.

The interim policy applicable to Rose High School that ties attendance in with exemption from final semester exams, approved at the January 15 action meeting, was challenged by member Miles Frost. His challenge was based on a technicality — that the prescribed 30-day interval between the introduction of a policy and approval had not been observed in this instance.

As a result, a motion was approved declaring invalid the January 15 action on the policy. In the same motion, approval was given the policy, retroactive to the original January 15 date.

Frost cast a dissenting vote, "commenting, 'what are we going to look like when we exempt a student from exams then have that student fail the competency test?'"

Cox pointed out that one of the reasons for the policy, which applies only for the remainder of the school year on a test basis, "is to encourage better attendance on the part of A students, who often take advantage of the regular attendance policy."

Consideration of another policy, that of a "Code for Acceptable Student Behavior" resulted in the board's directing Cox to rewrite the policy in the form of administrative rules and regulation, rather than have it stand as a Board of Education Policy.

This action followed an opinion stated by member Ed Carter, who said "I am seriously concerned with the overall direction this board seems to be taking in dictating to the nth degree to the staff. I think it is up to the board to provide general guidelines, but we've got to keep in mind what we're here for, and I think we're losing sight of this."

Frost supported Carter's opinion, saying "policy is not flexible, rules and regulations are. It is up to the administration to give us intended administrative rules, then we can look into them and see if there's anything we need to veto."

The policy draft entitled "Affirmative Action Policy" (Students) introduced at last night's meeting created a division of opinion on the part of the board, resulting in a tie vote broken by chairman Shank who cast the decisive vote to keep the proposed policy alive for consideration at the March meeting.

The proposed policy has been written as a result of a recent court decision that ruled in the case of regulations of the Student Government Association at UNC-Chapel Hill to the effect that membership in an organization could not be reserved on the basis of sex or minority considerations — that such consideration could be a factor, but not the sole factor.

The wording of the policy for Greenville schools reads: "In order that no student in the Greenville City Schools should be denied the opportunity to participate in programs or activities at his/her choice, or be denied an honor for which he/she might be qualified, it shall be the policy of the Greenville City Board of Education that no student shall be denied the opportunity to be a part of any school activity, club, team or association, nor shall he/she be prohibited because of race, religion or ethnic origin from receiving any award, scholarship or honor for which he/she might be eligible."

Among opinions expressed by school board members in discussing the possible consequences of the proposed policy, if approved, are those that this could make null and void long-standing scholarships designated solely for black and solely for whites; and that since white students are in the majority, this could lead to a domination of leadership positions in organizations such as the Student Government Association, and in the cheerleader selection.

Member Nancy Middleton said she felt that students at Rose "are ready to handle the situation on their own" in the event the policy became effective.

Rose principal Howard Hurt said he strongly feels "that students are not ready," and stated his opinion that "provision should be made to guarantee every group representation." He said he prefers to see that "the principal has the right, if necessary, to appoint people. Race still makes a difference."

Hurt added "on the surface the policy looks great, it is certainly the most democratic thing to do, but I feel so strongly about this I'd be willing to go to court to argue that it is not now the best thing for Rose High School."

Donovan Phillips wants legal consultation to be certain the policy to be offered will be correct in legal wording.

The motion offered by Sue Zadeits, and which ended in the tie broken by Shank, was that the board get input from the staff at Rose and Aycock, with input also from student organizations and that a report on the findings received be brought back to the board. Additionally, she wants donors of scholarship contacted to get their reactions.

Other items considered at the meeting and action taken were: Approval of three resignations and three elections of staff member teachers; approval of a revised substitute teacher's list; approval of two budget amendments, a capital outlay one for $1,064.41 representing adjustment of funds at the Middle School as the result of reimbursements agreed on with the contractor; and a current expense amendment of $17,349, representing state funds received to operate the skills lab at Rose High.

The board unanimously endorsed a motion to recognize the outstanding efforts of the staff of elementary schools and the central office by sending a letter of congratulation and a potted plant to each school. Also approved in conjunction with efforts carried in on the accreditation work was a plaque to honor Charles Ross for his work as overall coordinator.

Testifies Loans And Gifts Made To Sheriff

By LORI COOKE
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The self-described operator of a gambling operation in Wilson County testified in U.S. District Court Thursday that he once loaned Chief Deputy Tony Owens $300 and gave Christmas gifts to county Sheriff Robin Pridgen for many years.

Johnny Moore testified at Owens' trial, in which Owens is charged with conspiring to obstruct the enforcement of laws relating to gambling. Owens and Pridgen were scheduled to go on trial together on the charge, but at the request of Owens' attorneys, the trials were separated Thursday morning.

Pridgen still faces a separate trial on the charge. He was convicted by a federal court jury Wednesday of violating federal anti-racketeering laws and filing false income-tax returns.

Moore said he and Pridgen visited each other at their homes and he gave Pridgen "lots and lots of gifts every Christmas." Moore said he also bought Christmas gifts for Pridgen's wife and said his wife and Pridgen's wife exchanged gifts for many years.

The most expensive gift he ever bought Pridgen, Moore said, was a suit of clothes and the most expensive gift he bought Pridgen's wife was a coat.

Moore also testified that Pridgen occasionally visited The Clubhouse, where Moore conducted a gambling operation, but never came inside. Moore said Owens came to The Clubhouse and spoke to him outside about borrowing money.

Moore said he lent Owens $300 and it was repaid the next week, as Owens had promised it would be. Moore said no interest was paid on the loan. He said Owens told him that Owens came to Moore for the loan at the suggestion of Pridgen after Owens tried to borrow money from Pridgen.

Moore, who testified he has made his living as a gambler for the past 15 years, said he and Gerald Frazier took over The Clubhouse several years ago. He said the property was owned by an attorney named Ferris. Wilson County tax records show the property is owned by Robert A. Ferris, a Wilson attorney, who purchased it in 1959.

Moore said the two took over the old, run-down building off U.S. 301 and renovated it, raising the floor and installing windows and doors, including a steel door which was operated electrically, before opening the place for dice and card games.

Moore has been indicted for perjury by a federal grand jury but has not been tried on the charge.

Windy City Exhibition Blew In With Blizzard

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Editor

CHICAGO (UPI) — If Chicago's recent blizzard had trapped people overnight at the 70th semi-annual National Housewares Exhibition, they wouldn't even have had to go without a toothbrush.

Among the thousands of new products displayed by about 1,800 exhibitors was a new tooth-care device its manufacturer says is meant to replace the toothbrush.

Among the new products shown were an electronic mousetrap; a solar turntable for houseplants; a five-shelf folding wooden bar named for Dracula because it is made in Transylvania; vertical roasters for unstuffed poultry; a food processor with a special peeling blade and lid; a six-slice toaster-broiler-oven with continuous cleaning; a portable convection oven; and expensive, heavy gauge, institutional pots and pans for home cooks.

The new dental product, ToothPro, is a rechargeable battery-operated device with one power handle and four replaceable, snap-off, low abrasion plastic cleaning cups. The manufacturer, Porta-Pro, Inc., of Boulder, Colo., consists of a practicing dentist, the chairman of the Department of Preventive Dentistry at Indiana University, the inventor of a popular brand of toothpaste and the originator of the WaterPik.

A medical products company, Concept, Inc., of Clearwater, Fla., showed an inexpensive pen-shaped device to serve a similar purpose. But Richard B. Manecke, vice president for the consumer division, said his company recommends the Tooth Polisher only for removing food and tobacco stains from the front teeth and is not meant for use by children or dentists.

The vertical roasters, which fit in the birds' cavities, were designed and are made by Denis and George Spanek of Burlingame, Calif., based on a concept their mother, Anna, developed when she was a cook in private homes in France. Denis Spanek said all three sizes — for rock cornish hens, chickens and turkeys — cut cooking time because the wire frames conduct heat in the cavities and basting can be done inside and out.

The food processor that peels potatoes and the like is Panasonic's deluxe model, which also has suction-grip feet, on, off and pulse buttons, instant braking and a low profile designed to fit under kitchen cabinets. A special peeling disc and dome-shaped lid is offered as an introductory gift with the unit and sold separately for owners of the company's original unit.

The continuous clean toaster-broiler-oven is from Toastmaster. Other such appliances have shiny steel walls to reflect heat effectively for even toasting. A McGraw-Edison demonstrator said new configuration of the heating elements provides similar results with the speckled gray walls.

The Maxim convection oven is the third portable on the United States market. They reduce baking and roasting time an estimated 20-30 percent because heat is circulated continuously by a fan in the appliance.

The first such oven was introduced about five years ago by Farberware and a Cuisinart portable, at the July, 1978, housewares show. The newest manufacturer is Joseph Bender, a mechanical engineer and a long-time supplier of components for other appliance manufacturers.

A random poll of other manufacturers and importers suggests at least one more such oven may be available before the end of the year. Major companies currently doing market research include Dazey Products Co., General Electric, Toastmaster and Moulinex Products, Inc.

High-priced cookware and appliances continue to proliferate, despite talk of recession.

"The economy doesn't have as strong an effect on our business," said David Isenberg, an appliance distributor from Wilmington, Mass. "It's mostly staples — toasters, irons, blenders, can openers. If they break or wear out, people are going to replace them."

Institutional cookware for home use is part of the high price picture. Many items are 50-75 percent more expensive than most consumer cookware.

Mirro Aluminum introduced a full line of heavyweight institutional-design pots and pans with hard-coat anodized aluminum finish inside and out and heavy duty metal handles. It includes three saucepans, suggested retail, $248-32; two covered pots, $305-40; two frypans, $20 and $39; and a sauteuse (like a straight-sided skillet), $36.

"Price is not that important anymore," said N.H.M.A.'s Zapfel. "The more expensive items are going to be bought as gifts."

The industry has many copiers, he said, adding: "People who won't spend $200-$250 for a food processor are willing to spend $49."

New products that fit the "trading down" category included:

—An electric hand-held mixer from Moulinex with dough hooks, usually a feature only of larger, more expensive stand mixers.

—American Electric's American III food processor, with a belt-driven motor and low profile. It probably will retail for about $40, a company spokesman said.

—Waring's Food Processor II, suggested retail, about $124, compared with $160 for the company's lifetime guarantee model. The new unit has a multi-functional single switch and manual pulse action, a clear plastic bowl and three blades.

Denis Spanek

Bud Dugnan, national sales manager for Chicago Metallic, a manufacturer of both consumer and institutional cookware, said his company has begun selling the latter to kitchen shops because consumers kept asking for it at restaurant supply stores. Dugnan and other industry spokesmen attributed the demand to hobbyists — men and women — who enjoy making as well as eating food and are willing to pay extra for top quality equipment.

Another strong trend in cookware is Du Pont's hard-coat non-stick SilverStone finish. It was so successful last year in heavy-gauge stove-top utensils that licensees now are using it on a wide variety of bakeware and small electric appliances. Among them: Mirro, Nordic Ware, WearEver, West Bend, Regal Ware, Sunbeam, Ekko and General Housewares' Country Collection and Magnalite lines.

New multi-purpose products included Regal Ware's cast aluminum casseroles with SilverStone coating and glass lids that can be used alone in microwave ovens.

Both Wear-Ever and Presto introduced electric versions of their low-pressure fryers.

Other innovative items: —A Munsey Products six-slice toaster-broiler-oven with solid-state electronic timer and heat sensing device designed to make infinite batches of toast without readjusting the controls.

—Farberware's seven-speed food processor with on-off-pulse switching, suction cup feet, a new design dough-mixing blade and a braking system that stops blades within three seconds.

Wear Shoes When Driving

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I live in a part of the country where it's warm or hot most of the time, and for this reason I often go barefoot.

My parents have a fit when they see me driving without shoes because they think it is unsafe. I can't see where driving shoeless has anything to do with safety. What do you think?

LIKES TO DRIVE

DEAR LIKES: A bare foot is more apt to slip off the pedals than one with a shoe. So, when driving, put your best foot forward — and put a shoe on it!

DEAR ABBY: Our baby died two weeks after she was born. With the help of wonderful friends and relatives we made it through some rough days. However, we continue to have some upsetting problems.

We still get telephone calls from business people who want to sell us diaper services, insurance, baby furniture and other things for the "new baby." They talk a blue streak before I can get a word in edgewise to let them know that our baby died.

Two days after the funeral, a man with a big smile knocked on our door and gave us a sales pitch about taking pictures of the baby! I became hysterical.

These salespeople might be welcomed with open arms by parents of living children, but it tears people like us apart. It has been four months since we buried our precious angel, and we're still getting calls.

Even if this doesn't make your column, thanks for listening.

BOTHERED, BEREAVED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Thanks for writing. I hope this reminds those who sell baby services to be less eager and more considerate.

DEAR ABBY: I go with a man who is never satisfied with the food in a restaurant.

No matter what Stan orders, he usually sends it back. It's either overcooked or undercooked, cold, smells "funny," or he just doesn't like the looks of it. It's embarrassing. He's never satisfied with the table they give us, and if the waiter isn't right there when he wants something, he complains to the manager. If the service isn't perfect, he leaves no tip!

He also carries one of those little battery-operated fans. If someone smokes near him, out comes the fan and blows the smoke back into the smoker's face!

I'm 22 and he's 29. He wants to marry me, but I'm not sure. What do you think?

HAVING DOUBTS

DEAR HAVING: Stan appears demanding, inflexible, quick to criticize and slow to spend. If you marry him, be prepared to give in a lot.

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long self-addressed, stamped (25 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Sanky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Recognize A Mistake Made

There is enough going on in the State Legislature this week to make us aware its members now recognize that a monumental mistake has been made in the decision to move the container freight crane from the Morehead City State Port.

In a surprise move the House State Properties Committee reported favorably on a bill to require that the crane remain at Morehead. Thursday administrative forces quickly descended Legislature and the House bill was shunted off to another committee. As this was being done, however, a similar bill in the Senate was being reported favorably and sent to the floor for full debate.

We don't know what will happen by the time this appears in print, but we hope the Legislature will keep these bills alive and approve them.

An extremely poor decision was made to let contracts for moving the big crane at a huge cost to the state. The logical thing now would be for the administration to recognize that and get out of the contract. Bureaucracy seldom admits mistakes, however, and usually attempts to bluff things through.

It needs to be said again that the container crane, while it may have been placed too soon, is already installed at Morehead. Harbor improvements are in sight to make the crane fully usable. The state's investment in the crane is infinitesimal in comparison to its potential for economic good.

The Port of Morehead will be reduced to a second class shipping facility if the Ports Authority goes through with the move. That will have adverse economic effects for all counties in this area, including Pitt County, since the port is our closest link to the shipping lanes of the world.

Real Danger Of Big War In Far East

The Chinese-Vietnam war seems to worsen every day.

There is real danger that if the fighting continues, full scale war could erupt in the Far East, perhaps including an involvement by the Soviet Union.

The inclination of almost everyone in our country is to stay out of it, and certainly we should. A war in the Far East could set off all kinds of worldwide reactions, however, any one of which could involve the United States.

It is a perilous situation for world peace.

Options For Green Team

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Jimmy Green's cabinet is mulling options, and leaders take great pains to make it clear that at present mulling is all they are up to.

But there are, admit those close to the process, several options including the intriguing thought that Green would stand a better chance at the Governor's Office in 1980 as something other than a Democrat.

Just as promptly, disclaimers are provided which make that prospect slim indeed. But political observers find the mere mention of longtime Democrats seriously considering — however briefly — departure from the party a noteworthy event.

The "cabinet" for Lt. Gov. Green is busily organizing across North Carolina, and Green is leaning heavily on this group to help him determine his future political course.

Obviously there are several options, but chief among them would be gaining the governorship in some fashion. Others include:

Running again for lieutenant governor with an eye to retaining control over the State Senate as presiding officer and controller of committee assignments, chairmanships, and proposed legislation for study and action. Given the possibility that a close ally in the person of State Rep. Liston Ramsey, D-Madison, has an early lead for becoming Speaker of the House of Representatives, it is recognized that conservative Democrats would then effectively control the General Assembly whatever happens in the governor's race.

Running for governor as a Democrat, seeking to label Gov. Jim Hunt a liberal, and rallying conservatives to the Green camp. Hunt's decision to seek a second term, and whether he badly stumbles in coming months will largely shape that course.

Running for Governor as a Democrat, and calling on several other conservative politicians to run also in hopes of fragmenting the primary vote and showing that Hunt doesn't have the solid support might think he does, then pulling all the dissent vote together in a runoff.

BILL NOBLITT

Running for Governor as something other than a Democrat — as an independent, or even a Republican.

The rationale behind such a drastic possibility as splitting the party runs like this: Hunt has the purse strings and control over state jobs and appointments, giving him as incumbent an almost unbeatable edge in the primary. Bypass the primary, and tackle Hunt head-on in a general election, and a conservative might stand a chance.

Coalition

If it were possible, some of Green's advisors contend, that Democrats for Helms, Republicans, and independent conservatives could join in the effort, both the money and the organization would be readily at hand to make a credible race.

"But this is just talk. There are an awful lot of us in the Cabinet who are lifelong Democrats and wouldn't switch for anything," one advisor offered by way of disclaiming the likelihood.

"But on the other hand," he quickly added, "there are more conservatives in North Carolina than anything else."

Another close Green advisor is looking further down the political path, and sees the development in this state in the next 10 years of two distinct political parties — Liberals and Conservatives — with GOP and Democratic labels no longer applicable.

"The time may be ripe just now to start moving in that direction, and Jimmy Green is the person who could start it" this insider says.

Two recent governors have been elected in other states after switching party labels. Labels no longer count, say some of Green's people — it is what you stand for which will win.

Wars Began In Asia

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration has tried to justify the establishment of normal relations with China by depicting it as a major step toward peace and stability in Asia.

That rationale has come back to haunt the administration as the outbreak of war on two fronts in Southeast Asia has created perhaps the most dangerous

Other Editors Say Roads Or Rebate?

Roads or a rebate? The choice was raised in an appropriations committee discussion last week by Sen. James B. Garrison, who said lawmakers ought to consider whether money earmarked for a rebate to taxpayers could be put to better use

The Stanly Democrat, a member of the state Board of Transportation, made it clear he favored the first option. The people of his district, he said "don't give a toot" about the $10 to $25 income tax rebate proposed by Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr. and the Advisory Budget Commission. "They think we're a bunch of fools" for talking about a rebate, Garrison said.

A financial crisis faces the Highway Fund, the prime source for building and maintaining roads. The growth rate in gasoline tax revenues has slowed to a walk, while costs continue to gallop under the whip of inflation and demands for upkeep and construction. Unless relief is found through additional financing, the state's road program could grind to a halt.

Garrison suggested that the $35 million annual budget for the state Highway Patrol be shifted from the Highway Fund to the General Fund. The move would free that amount for road purposes. The tax rebate would cost between $26 million and $65 million, and would be contingent upon the availability of surplus funds at the end of the next fiscal year. Garrison advised the appropriations committee to forget about the rebate, and make the patrol transfer.

The suggestion merits careful study. Of course, it would be no more than a stopgap so far as resolving the highway financing crisis is concerned. Transportation officials have forecast needs totaling $100 million beyond estimated income for the Highway Fund. Sooner or later the administration and the legislature will have to deal with the more difficult decision of whether to raise the present gasoline tax of nine cents per gallon or to shift the tax to a percentage basis so that receipts would rise with the impact of inflation. Garrison is probably right that taxpayers, given the choice, would prefer roads to an inconsequential tax rebate.

40 Years Ago Today

The temperature dropped to 22 degrees last night, one of the lowest marks reached so far this year and 56 degrees below the high mark of 78 set Sunday afternoon.

Although a drop in the mercury was recorded throughout much of the United States, the rapid descent here is believed to have equalled that in any part of the country.

Although the unseasonal warm weather last week and the high mark of Sunday probably made local residents feel the cold weather more than they otherwise would, the 22 mark reached last night is believed to have been about as low as the mercury has reached this winter.

A quantity of meat was stolen from C. T. Tyson, who lives across the road from the Pitt prison camp, last night and members of the sheriff's office said they were unable to find any tracks or clues upon which to base their investigation.

The ground was frozen and officers were unable to tell how many were in the looting party. Two hams, one shoulder, some side meat and sausage were stolen.

THE INSIDE REPORT

Friction Shrouds Policy

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Deepening friction between Zbigniew Brzezinski, President Carter's national security adviser, and Marshall Shulman, the State Department's Soviet expert, is shrouding policy toward communist Russia in contradictions that deeply trouble major American allies.

"It's making my skin crawl," one administration policymaker told us in describing what he called the Brzezinski-Shulman "hatred." Hatred is surely too strong a word. Nevertheless, the two former intellectual adversaries from Columbia University have been on a descending curve of policy conflict and personal relations ever since Carter entered the White House.

The result has been Carter's dizzying on-again, off-again wavering toward Moscow: hard-line, soft-line, no-line.

Brzezinski, with total access to the Oval Office, pushes his hard line demanding that the Soviet Union be held to account for its worldwide offensive.

Shulman, 11 years Brzezinski's senior, at 62 is the oldest aide brought to Washington by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance. He refuses to react to Soviet depredations in Asia, Africa and the Far East, advising Vance that SALT II and bilateral U.S.-Soviet relations are all that matter.

A strong president with convictions of his own about handling the Soviets could quickly resolve the conflict and force feuding ministers to comply or quit. Carter's inability to do that has astonished foreign leaders from Western Europe, Japan, communist China and elsewhere.

"Where should I go to find out what America's policy is?" a major European foreign policy leader, here on a recent fact-finding mission, privately asked a State Department official. The reply was totally unsatisfactory.

But the U.S. humiliation in Iran, plus undisguised ridicule of America's inability to protect its embassies or its ambassadors, could change Carter. He could be forced over to the Brzezinski way, at the expense of the Shulman way.

Political developments on Capitol Hill are also relentlessly pushing Carter. Republican leaders, appalled at U.S. reverses, are opening a major campaign to compel Carter to explain his policy toward the Soviets. The more he and his top aides explain, the more public the Brzezinski-Shulman split must become. In the current political mood, Brzezinski's relatively hard line would win hands down in Congress.

Carter will find it difficult to continue not to choose between the two conflicting methods of treating a Soviet Union that is clearly on the offensive. The alternative is further decline in U.S. standing abroad.

As Vance's top adviser on dealing with the Russians,

THE SEVERAL ANSWERS TO PRAYER
There is a hymn which contains the line, "Teach us the patience of unanswered prayer." This hymn should be revised with the word "unanswered" deleted; for there is no such thing as unanswered prayer. There is ungranted prayer, but never unanswered prayer.

If we think back over our lives we will appreciate that God's greatest mercy has often been manifested toward us when he said no or wait. One of the greatest benefits of any blessing is its timing. What we regard as a blessing now may be vastly more of a blessing if God delays the giving of it.

By GAIL MICHAELS
Ah, snow. The twilight's fairy lace. The morning's brilliant silence.
And the only way to fully appreciate it is from the inside looking out.
If only my philosophy were shared by my daughter. When she woke up that morning several weeks ago and discovered that snow was not just the fantasy of a few picture book illustrators, she was ecstatic. And she was determined to take advantage of every second it was on the ground. We had to catch her as she went out the door in her pajamas. We had to change her, underwear and all, three times, and each time she was soaked to the bone, her teeth were clattering like castanets, and her skin tone varied from deep purple to violet red.

to dance, to roll, to bury her face in this frozen magic.
I, on the other hand, had to be pushed out the door each time in three pairs of socks, boots, two pairs of pants, two sweaters, a shirt, an undershirt, a coat, gloves, a muffler, and a fur hat that the mockingbirds kept diving at.
"Whatever happened to the sweet little aproned mother who stayed indoors and made snow cream?" I moaned on the third go-round.
"Whatever happened to that happy-go-lucky college girl who laughed when I washed her face in the snow?" Phillip asked.
"She died after she got married, had a kid, and read Passages."
"Oh, come on. Where's your sense of adventure? Don't you want to enjoy your daughter's first experience with snow?"

"I can enjoy her from a window."
"You're just sore because I teased you when you tried to stand up with all those clothes on and fell into a tree."
"I was snow blind."
Phillip laughed. "You know, you are really incredible."
I agreed. "It's incredible that I'm still standing here listening to you when my hands are raw, my feet are frozen, and my nose is numb."
"Well, you'll just have to learn to live with a little discomfort."
"Okay, okay, forget it. I've got an idea that you'll really love. Let's get a cardboard box and slide Meg down the hill. She'll love it."
She adored it. I stood at the top of the hill and pushed her, and Phillip stood at the bottom, and caught her. And her screams of excitement were so infectious that I even began to enjoy myself.

Then Phillip suggested that I take a turn. "Remember how you loved to do this when we were in college?"
So I sat on the box. And it sank. I pushed it a little way down the hill, and it sank again. Phillip was at the bottom of the hill doubled up like he had acute appendicitis. He decided that he'd just have to show me how to do it.
He walked over and sort of nudged my toe up under his stomach. "Gee, honey, what happened to that boy I knew in college who could streak down the hill like a runaway locomotive?"
"Shut up."

Vehicle Exhaust System Inspection Resurrected

By SHARON BOND
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The Senate resurrected a bill Thursday that would require motor-vehicle exhaust systems to pass inspection, after the measure was sent to its death the previous day. The bill, which would require that motor vehicles in North Carolina have exhaust systems

"in good working order and free from gross defects," was killed Wednesday by a 18-28 vote after a lengthy debate. But the bill's sponsor, Sen. Charles Vickery, D-Orange, apparently changed the minds of some of the senators who voted against it. He managed to get it back on the floor for reconsideration Thursday with a 34-11 vote.

And with no debate at all, the Senate gave it tentative approval with a 30-15 vote.

Vickery said it was just a matter of better explaining the bill, not vote-swapping that got his colleagues to reconsider.

"I just explained the bill," he said. "People didn't understand it yesterday. I apparently didn't explain it very well."

Final action on the bill was delayed until Friday by one of its opponents, Sen. Julian Allbrook, D-Halifax. Opponents who killed it originally said such a requirement would place an economic burden on North Carolinians.

In other legislative action Thursday:

Taxes

A bill that would raise all personal tax exemptions by 20 percent was endorsed by a House subcommittee looking at recommendations for cutting state income taxes.

The bill, approved unanimously by a subcommittee of the House Finance Committee, goes further than the tax-cut proposal offered by Gov. Jim Hunt.

It would provide a tax cut by granting a 20 percent increase in the personal exemptions for heads of households, spouses and dependents. Hunt's plan would raise the exemption for dependants from $600 to $1,000, benefitting only those families with children or other dependants.

The subcommittee's endorsement is not binding on the full committee, but it will go to the panel as a recommendation.

Rep. John Gamble, D-Lincoln, head of the full House Finance Committee said the committee will hold the bill until later in the session. That panel has not yet acted on the Hunt tax plan.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Dan Lilley, D-Lenoir, would reduce anticipated state revenues by $70 million.

Banking

A bill that would revise interest rate ceiling on short-term business loans by state-chartered banks was approved by the Senate Banking Committee and sent to the full Senate.

It would set a short-term interest rate ceiling at 12 percent for loans amounting to less than $25,000. Interest rates on loans totaling more than $25,000 would be negotiated between the lender and borrower.

Under existing law, the interest rates on short-term loans range from 8 percent to an unlimited rate on larger amounts of money.

Crane

A Senate committee voted Thursday to approve a bill that would block a decision by the State Ports Authority to move the container crane from the Morehead City port to the Wilmington port.

This action came a day after a House committee pushed aside a similar bill.

The bill approved by the Senate committee was amended to give the Ports Authority the choice of leaving the $2.6 million crane in Morehead City or buying another one for Morehead if the one that is there now is moved.

Rules

Apparently this General Assembly is not going to be able to agree on a set of joint legislative rules. The House refused Thursday to appoint another conference committee to meet with a Senate panel on the main area of dispute.

In dispute is a rule that would require Senate committees to consider all House bills received, a rule which the House is bound by now concerning Senate bills.

A conference committee report was approved by the House and sent to the Senate last week containing that provision. The Senate refused to accept a compromise offer on the provision, and House Speaker Carl Stewart said the entire joint rules package was now dead.

Savings and Loans

A bill that would lift the 10 percent ceiling on the amount of interest stock-owned savings and loan associations can charge on home loans was approved by the House Banking and Thrift Institutions Committee and sent to the full House.

The bill brings regulations for stock-owned associations in line with those governing mutual savings and loans.

Patrol Cars

The Senate approved and sent to the House a bill that would reduce the number of unmarked state Highway Patrol cars on the road by 6 percent. Current law allows 21 percent of the patrol's fleet to be unmarked.

The bill would reduce by 38 the number of the 208 vehicles in the patrol's 1,131 fleet that are unmarked.

How's The Weather?

FORECAST

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is expected in the period until Saturday morning for most of the East. Rain is due for the northern Pacific coast and snow flurries are in store for the northern and central Rockies. Mild weather is forecast for the East but most of the country will be cold. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press
Another wet weekend is on tap, but this time you'll probably need galoshes instead of snow shoes.

A low pressure area centered in the North Central United States is moving slowly eastward, bringing with it heavy precipitation which could cause some flooding in North Carolina since the ground in much of the state is already saturated from previous precipitation.

Highs today will range from the 50s in the northwest to the 60s in the southeast. There will be thunderstorms in the mountains with showers and thunder-showers elsewhere by tonight and continuing through Saturday.

Lows tonight will range from the 40s in the west to the 50s in the east. Highs Saturday will be in the 50s in the northwest mountains to the 60s elsewhere, except along the southeast coast where temperatures will climb into the 70s.

Thursday morning dense fog covered just about all of the state. But it dissipated during the mid morning and allowed the sun to peep out over the Tarheel area. Highs around the state ranged in the 60s. The warmest temperature reported was in Wilmington along the coast with 69 degrees, followed by Asheville in the mountains with 67 degrees.

During the evening fog began to build up again along the coast causing poor visibility.

Last night skies once again became cloudy with scattered light rain, drizzle and fog across much of the state. Lows thus far this morning have ranged in the 40s and low 50s. Precipitation amounts for the past 24 hours still remain under one quarter inch.

Shulman succeeded many illustrious diplomats, including Averell Harriman, Llewelyn Thompson and Charles (Chip) Bohlen. Each was a veteran of personal confrontations with the Kremlin's leadership. In contrast, Shulman never had held a top policy job; his experience with the Soviet leadership was on an academic level.

Brzezinski and Shulman, as contradictory in temperament as in attitudes toward Moscow, had a long history of dispute over the U.S. and Russia that friends of both insist was conducted with professional courtesy at Columbia and, before that, at Harvard. Shulman was the expert on internal Soviet affairs; Brzezinski the expert on the Soviet world role, its regional political goals and the postwar expansion of its military capabilities.

Once arrived here, however, Brzezinski had the far more prestigious position. But his access to the president did not give him a decisive edge over Shulman in the power struggle: on the contrary, Shulman often has prevailed, thanks to Vance's unflinching support and Carter's unwillingness to overrule his secretary of state.

A case in point, which we mentioned last week, was Shulman's veto of a stiff U.S. rebuke to Moscow for inflammatory anti-American Soviet broadcasts into Iran during the revolution. The Iran "working group," composed of mid-level diplomats, unanimously recommended the rebuke; Vance upheld Shulman's decision not to affront the Kremlin.

Stark new evidence of America's decline and the fears it has unleashed among U.S. allies would seem to require a Brzezinski-Shulman showdown. Without it, Carter cannot begin to persuade his allies that he really knows how he wants to deal with Moscow.

situation facing that continent since the Korean War.

Within three days after President Carter's announcement of his new China policy, assistant secretary of state Richard Holbrooke told reporters, "Normalization of relations with the People's Republic of China was viewed by the president as a step towards increasing peace and stability in the region."

It was not long, however, before Vietnamese-led forces invaded neighboring Cambodia and overturned the pro-Peking regime headed by Pol Pot.

Thereafter, China, not wanting to be seen as a powerless bystander in the face of the ouster of a friendly regime, responded by launching what appears to be a limited attack on Vietnam.

The question being asked here now is what effect the U.S. reconciliation with China had on the decision of Vietnam, Moscow's chief ally in Southeast Asia, to invade Cambodia and on China's subsequent attack on Vietnam.

Administration officials contend the Vietnamese action against Cambodia may have occurred regardless of whether China and the United States had moved ahead with normalization.

But some analysts say Moscow directed Hanoi's move into Cambodia to punish China for what the Soviets perceived as an emerging Sino-American alliance.

Rivalries among Asian communist nations might seem to be of limited concern to the United States but officials here are watching developments unfold with considerable uneasiness.

After all, one official said, the last three wars in which the United States has been involved all have begun in Asia.

writers won't give us any peace."

She went through some other letters. "All right, then, how would you like a 707 Boeing jet with leather seats designed by Gucci?"

"That sounds more like it. How do we win that?"

"I'm not sure. All the letter says is 'Dear Art and Ann, You have won a 707 Boeing jet airplane. Please fill out this card and enclose $29.50 for luggage tags. These tags will be placed in a computer, and if your tag is selected the Boeing will be delivered to your hangar or any airline terminal gate that you specify. All cards with checks must be in no later than March 1.'"

"I don't see how the sweepstakes mappers do it," I said. "They give so much and ask so little in return."

My wife agreed. "And people say there is no such thing as the American dream."

Missionary Will Speak

Jerry Potter will be the guest speaker at Immanuel Baptist Church Sunday at 11 a.m. He is a missionary with the Department of Deaf Missions of the Baptist State Convention.

JERRY POTTER

He is working at Garner-Webb College, Boiling Springs, in a two-year effort to establish a degree program for the deaf.

A native of Mississippi, Potter moved to Oregon and worked with IBM. While there, he and his wife became interested in working with the deaf. In 1952, the Potter family moved to North Carolina where he began his ministry as a missionary to the deaf here.

The public is invited to attend the service.

Will Speak At Services

The Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church will welcome the Rev. Kermit Braswell of Queen Street United Methodist Church of Kinston as guest speaker at its morning worship service, 11 a.m., Sunday, Feb. 25.

The Rev. James H. Bailey, pastor of Jarvis Memorial, will speak Sunday at Queen Street United Methodist Church, Kinston. These kinds of assignments will be taking place across the state Sunday as part of an effort to interpret the pension needs of North Carolina Conference ministers.

Certain key lay leaders will be scheduled for talks on Sundays through March as part of the same program. The 539 United Methodist Churches of the state conference are seeking to underwrite the necessary funding, hoping to raise three million dollars over the next three years.

The crusade will enable continued support of those already retired and help provide funds for those retiring in the future.

March 25 has been designated as Pension Crusade Sunday. North Carolina United Methodists will have the opportunity to underwrite their church's share of the three million dollar goal over the next three years.

Show Film On Martin Luther

A two-hour feature length movie "Martin Luther" will be shown by Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church Sunday from 2-4 p.m.

The movie will be shown at the Greenville Woman's Club Building, located on Parkview Drive.

A free will offering will be taken to cover the expense of renting the movie. The public is invited to attend.

Revival Series

Revival services will be held at the Greenville Church of God of Prophecy, Mumford Rd. Feb. 26-March 3.

Services will begin each night 7:30 p.m., with featured speaker Timmy E. Foxx of Wilmington. Pastor James Brown invites the public to attend these special services.

Opening lead: Six of ♠.
A modicum of care was all that was required to make this contract. Yet when this hand was played at a recent tournament, only one declarer succeeded in making three no trump.

Despite the fact that he held a six-card suit, South's hand was essentially balanced with stoppers in all suits, so many players elected to open one no trump to save themselves rebid problems. North employed the Stayman Convention to check on a possible 4-4 heart fit, then settled for three no trump when South denied holding a four-card major.

The opening lead was invariably a low spade, and dummy's king won. Most declarers cashed the king of clubs and continued the suit. Since they could not make the contract without four tricks in clubs, they had to surrender a trick to East's ten of clubs. East reverted to spades, and four tricks in that suit cooked declarer's goose.

The successful declarer realized that East was the danger hand, so at little cost to himself he found a way to prevent East from gaining the lead. Instead of tackling clubs immediately, he gave himself an additional chance.

At trick two, South came to his hand with the king of hearts and led a low club up to dummy. West produced the queen, and declarer, suspecting this card was probably a singleton, allowed him to win the trick! The contract was now unbeatable.

West had no way to reach his partner for a spade lead through declarer's queen. No matter what was returned, declarer would be able to win, cash the king of clubs on the table and then return to his hand in a red suit to play off the ace-jack of clubs. That cleared the club suit from the defender's hands and established declarer's two long clubs. In all, he came to ten tricks for a well deserved top score.

Report Mitchell Called By Nixon

MIAMI (AP) — Former Attorney General John Mitchell received frequent telephone calls while in prison from his old boss, former President Richard Nixon, according to a "Miami" magazine article.

The copyright article appearing in the magazine's March issue was written under the pseudonym Ronald James by J. Ronald Beasley, a former Miami television news producer. He met Mitchell while serving part of a 14-month sentence at Maxwell Federal Prison Camp in Montgomery, Ala., for cocaine possession and conspiracy.

The article also said Mitchell blamed former White House counsel Charles Colson for Watergate.

Readying First Encyclical

ROME (AP) — Pope John Paul II's first encyclical will be issued before Easter and will deal with human rights and the Gospel, several Italian newspapers report.

Encyclicals are the most authoritative of papal documents. They have been used by recent popes to outline the policies they planned to follow during their pontificates.

John Paul, 58, who is Polish, was elected Oct. 16 as the first non-Italian pope in almost 500 years.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined slightly in slow trading today amid continued wariness over the inflation outlook and fighting in Vietnam.

Losers outnumbered gainers by a 5-3 margin in the mid-day tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.21 at 825.36.

The latest reports from intelligence sources in Thailand said Chinese plans had struck deep into Vietnam near the port of Haiphong, where radar equipment and missiles were being unloaded from Soviet ships.

Wall Street also was waiting with little enthusiasm for the government's monthly report on the consumer price index, which was expected late today.

Most observers were expecting the index to show a rise for January at an annual rate of at least 10 percent.

Resorts International class A shares rose 1/2 to 46 1/2 in heavy trading at the American Stock Exchange. Analysts noted some apparent hopes that New Jersey authorities would rule favorably on Resorts International's application for a permanent casino license in Atlantic City.

The NYSE's composite index dropped .16 to 55.04, while the Amex market value index rose .03 to 163.20.

More Aid To Soul City

SOU CITY, N.C. (AP) — A federal task force formed to help Soul City attract private investment planned to visit the federally-backed town in Warren County today.

Gordon Carey, vice president and general manager of the Soul City Company, said he is glad the city will have a closer working relationship with the federal government. But Carey said he is not sure how the task force will go about helping the financially-troubled new city.

Thirteen new communities were formed by the federal government in an effort to halt urban decay, but seven failed and the program has been termed a financial disaster. Patricia Roberts Harris, secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, said last fall that only six new towns, including Soul City, would continue getting federal funds.

Last week, she announced the appointment of the task force for Soul City, which has already received over $9 million in federal loan guarantees.

Former Durham lawyer Floyd McKissick originated the idea for a new town in rural Warren County. McKissick got federal backing for the development of Soul City in 1974.

Co-Author Of Research Paper

ECU News Bureau
Individuals working cooperatively in pairs produce "significantly more creative solutions" to problems, a recent study by an East Carolina University psychologist indicates.

Larry Bolen of the ECU psychology faculty and University of Georgia psychologist E. Paul Torrance have published results of their study in a recent issue of the "Journal of Clinical Psychology."

"The Bolen-Torrance study is entitled "The Influence on Creative Thinking of Locus of Control, Cooperation and Sex," and was undertaken to assess how creative thinking is influenced by a variety of factors.

"The research was designed to determine if persons working together or alone produce more creative solutions to problems, whether males or females are more creative, and whether persons who feel they are controlled by their environment or those who believe they are in control are more creative," said Dr. Bolen.

The two researchers discovered that cooperative solutions to the given problems were more creative than solutions reached by individuals working alone. When the problem-solvers had partners, they tended to be more "flexible and original in their thinking," he noted.

The male subjects in the study were observed to be more flexible, more able to use different strategies in their thinking than the females, but there was no difference between males and females in their "originality or fluency" when they functioned creatively.

"Surprisingly, it was found that individuals who are externally controlled, or who feel they have little responsibility for what happens to them functioned more creatively than 'internals,'" said Bolen.

Bolen and Torrance attribute this finding to the fact that the tasks assigned subjects in their study "required divergent thinking, rather than convergent."

Dr. Bolen is an alumnus of West Georgia College where he also earned the MA degree. He holds the EdD from the University of Georgia.

Commissioners...

Commissioner Charles Gaskins, saying, "no one on this board is opposed to the bond issue," suggested a joint meeting with the two school boards to consider the mechanics of a referendum for capital outlay bonds.

Commissioners tied the proposed $9 million bond issue to the merger question in January, after meeting with representatives of the two school boards to determine what progress had been made toward merging the two school systems and toward requesting a bond issue to meet capital improvement needs within the two school administrative units.

In September 1977, the county board asked the two boards of education to come up with a plan for consolidating the two units. And for several years, commissioners have urged the school boards to consider issuing bonds to finance school construction and renovation, saying the county is unable to fund needed improvements on a pay-as-you-go basis through current appropriations.

In January, after commissioners announced that they would ask for a report on progress on merger plans and on the bond vote, both the city and county school boards agreed on the $9 million figure. Until then the school boards had been unable to agree on the amount of bond funds that would be needed. In other action today, commissioners named Walter Faulkner and Dr. Donald Weir to the Commissioners' Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped, and reappointed Robert May and Jim P. Craft to Farmville's extra-territorial planning board.

The board also voted to support a bill introduced in the General Assembly that would share with county governments part of the franchise tax now going to the State and municipal governments.

bond funds that would be needed. In other action today, commissioners named Walter Faulkner and Dr. Donald Weir to the Commissioners' Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped, and reappointed Robert May and Jim P. Craft to Farmville's extra-territorial planning board.

The board also voted to support a bill introduced in the General Assembly that would share with county governments part of the franchise tax now going to the State and municipal governments.

In September 1977, the county board asked the two boards of education to come up with a plan for consolidating the two units. And for several years, commissioners have urged the school boards to consider issuing bonds to finance school construction and renovation, saying the county is unable to fund needed improvements on a pay-as-you-go basis through current appropriations.

In January, after commissioners announced that they would ask for a report on progress on merger plans and on the bond vote, both the city and county school boards agreed on the $9 million figure. Until then the school boards had been unable to agree on the amount of bond funds that would be needed. In other action today, commissioners named Walter Faulkner and Dr. Donald Weir to the Commissioners' Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped, and reappointed Robert May and Jim P. Craft to Farmville's extra-territorial planning board.

Heels Trip State; Ice Tie For 1st

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer
CHAPEL HILL — It's probably impossible for a Carolina State basketball game to be truly dull, but last night's 71-56 Tar Heel victory over the Wolfpack at Carmichael Auditorium was, at the very least, uninspiring.

Neither team played particularly well, but it was State's poor execution, rather than any tremendous effort on the part of North Carolina, that sent the Wolfpack to its ninth ACC loss of the season beside just two wins.

The methodical Tar Heel victory was an important one. It gives the team a full-game lead over Duke in the ACC race and means, at 9-3, the very worst the team can finish is in a tie for first place.

That will all be settled Saturday night when the Heels travel to Durham to face the Blue Devils. If Duke wins, a coin toss will decide the top seed in the upcoming conference tourney, a seeding that means a bye in the first round.

Guard Dave Colescott hit key baskets in both halves that ignited his team and the crowd of 10,000. The first was a 20-footer from the right side with just over five minutes left in the first half that gave the Tar Heels the lead for the first time since early in the ballgame.

The bucket, which brought the fans to life for the first time, was part of a 15-0 UNC tear that saw the Heels go from a 22-17 deficit to a 35-22 lead in a matter of five minutes.

Then, in the second half, after the Wolfpack chipped an 11-point UNC lead down to four, the 6-1 junior made a great move underneath for a layup and then completed a three-point play to get his team rolling again. The Heels were up by 13 before the Wolfpack scored again.

"We're very happy to have won what I call a hard-fought ballgame," Carolina coach Dean Smith said afterwards. "Both teams played with great intensity."

That intensity often manifested itself in missed shots from close range, poor ball control and bad passes, especially for State in the first half of play.

Smith credited his team's defense with the 15-point run in the first half. "That stretch in the first half when we did a great job defensively was very instrumental, but the game wasn't won at the half by any means."

"State came out and played so very hard and aggressively in the second half. I admire them for that."

Smith gave Colescott credit for getting the Tar Heels moving in the second half. "Colescott's basket really helped us to break it open in the end," he said.

Colescott said of the play, "I got the ball, looked up and saw it was one-on-one with Clyde (Austin). I thought I could beat him. I just went to the basket as hard as I could."

He was fouled on the play and sank the free throw and the Tar Heels were off again. They went to the four corners offense after Rich Yonakor made it an eight-point margin with 7:25 left to play.

It was the final home game for the Tar Heels and Smith naturally congratulated his three seniors, Dudley Bradley, Randy Wiel and Ged Daughton, as well as the Carmichael fans.

Forward Mike O'Koren led all scorers with 21 points. He said the game was very physical and that State "shouldn't be the last-place team in the conference."

Colescott had 13 points, while Bradley added 10. Austin led the Wolfpack with 14, while Hawkeye Whitney had 13 and was the game's leading rebounder with eight.

Sloan refused to comment on the game and closed his team's locker room after it was over. The Wolfpack hit only 45.5 per cent of its shots, 33.5 per cent in the first half.

Many of the State misses were seemingly easy layups, while the Wolfpack also hurt its chances by turning the ball over 17 times.

The Tar Heels now turn their attention to the Blue Devils, a difficult task, especially with the ACC tournament coming up.

"I'd like to change playing State and Duke at the end of the season," Smith said, because everyone has started to look towards the tournament at this time of year.

"The regular season championship is important. It always means an NCAA bid, regardless of the tournament."

Smith added his team is playing "our best basketball now. I'm very happy with the team."

Lady Pirates Run Past Duke; Face North Carolina Tonight

East Carolina gained a 69-46 victory over Duke University in the first round of the North Carolina Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women's tournament yesterday.

In other first round action, top-ranked N.C. State beat UNC-Greensboro, 131-47; North Carolina defeated Wake Forest, 96-72, and host Appalachian State squeezed past Western Carolina, 80-77.

The Pirates, seeded third in the tournament, had to overcome a tough defense by Duke in the opening minutes of the game, moving out to a ten-point lead by halftime. East Carolina led the entire second half, while Duke could only manage to pull within 12 points.

"We were kind of sluggish in the first half," Coach Cathy Andruzzi said. "We didn't shoot well from the field, and we couldn't penetrate down the middle. Our girls were tired, but we came out in the second half and did a real good job."

"Now, we need to beat UNC in the semifinals to have any hope of gaining a berth in the regionals," she added. This year, the tournament runner-up no longer gains an automatic bid to the regionals.

Rosie Thompson led the Pirate scoring with 16 points, while guard Gale Kerbaugh had 15 and center Marcie Girven added 14.

East Carolina, now 17-10, will face North Carolina in semifinal play Friday at 9 p.m., while N.C. State takes on Appalachian State at 7 p.m. The finals are Saturday, with consolation at 1 p.m. and the championships at 3 p.m.

Jamesville Wins, 51-49; Bears Are Knocked Out

Jamesville advanced to the semifinals of the District 1, 1-A Basketball Tournament last night, but Bear Grass was knocked out of the tourney.

Jamesville will now face Manteo, the winner over Bear Grass, on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at Plymouth, in the semifinals of the tournament. The finals will be held on Tuesday.

Jamesville downed Creswell, the number three Tidewater Conference champ, in its game, played on the Bullets, home court, 51-49, while Manteo, hosting Bear Grass, came away with a 71-64 win.

Jamesville and Creswell were close all the way. They were tied at 17-17 after one period, and the Bullets took a slim 20-28 lead into halftime.

Creswell came back to knot it again at the end of three, 39-39.

In the final period, Jamesville fell back by four, but Tommy DiNardo hit two free throws, and Alan Frazier followed with two more, tying it at 49-49. Then, Keith Modlin hit two with just under a minute left, making it 51-49. Creswell then had two shots blocked by DiNardo, and the Bullets missed on a free throw after that. They stole the ball back, and again missed at the line with two seconds left.

DiNardo led Jamesville with 21 points, while Trent Ange had 12. James Holley led Creswell with 21, while James Phelps added 12.

In the other game, Bear Grass slipped out into a 14-12 lead in the first period. It stayed close with the Bears still ahead, 27-25, at intermission.

But Manteo came back to rip the Bears, 22-10 in the third period, building up a 47-37 lead. The Bears outhit Creswell again, 27-24, in the final period, but couldn't catch up.

Steve Burton led Manteo with 26, while George Moores had 23 and Johnny Tillet had 15. The Bears were led by Watson Rogers with 23 and Jesse Bullock with 14.

Moseley Off Team

Walter Moseley, 6-2 sophomore guard from Queens, N.Y., has reportedly left the East Carolina University basketball team.

Moseley told ECU coach Larry Gillman Wednesday that he would no longer be a member of the Pirate basketball team. Reportedly, he was not satisfied with his playing time.

Moseley had played in 24 of the 26 games so far this year, averaging 3.0 points in an average of 11 minutes a game. He started only once this year, after starting in most games last year as a freshman.

As a freshman, he averaged 4.2 points a game, starting in 31 of 33 games. He did not play in three games, and averaged 26 minutes a game.

It was not known whether Moseley would transfer from East Carolina at the end of the year.

Moseley is the second Pirate to leave the team this season. Herb Gray left following the end of the first semester, also dissatisfied with his playing time.

A-G Girls, North Lenoir Take Wins

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
WILLIAMSTON — Ayden-Grifton's girls and North Lenoir's boys advanced to the semifinals of the District One 3-A basketball tournament last night, but it took an overtime for the former and some poor shooting by the latter's foes for it to be accomplished.

Ayden-Grifton's girls, runners-up in the Eastern Carolina Conference, downed Roanoke, the third-place finisher in the Northeastern Conference, 48-45, in an overtime. A-G blew a 14-point lead it held early in the third period before escaping with the win.

North Lenoir had all kinds of trouble with pesky Williamston, but finally shook the Tigers loose in the third period when the Tigers suffered through some horrible shooting problems, 67-58.

Tonight, the final two first round games are scheduled. Washington's girls meet D.H. Conley at 6 p.m., with Roanoke's boys facing North Pitt at 7:30 p.m.

Semifinals will be Monday and Tuesday, with the finals on Wednesday. Winners in the boys and girls events advance to the state tournament.

North Lenoir jumped out early to a 4-0 lead and slowly build up an eight point margin in the first period of the game behind the scoring of Johnny Wiggins and Amos Pearce, 14-6. The Hawks held a 20-15 advantage at the end of the frame.

Williamston ran off ten straight points in the early moments of the second period and gained a 25-22 lead as Walter Harris and Jimmy Barnes each scored four points. North Lenoir hung with them and regained the lead at 30-28 on a steal by Randy Johnson. They held on and led 34-32 at the half.

Part of the success of Williamston was due to its hot shooting, as the Tigers hit on 14 of 23 shots from the floor in the first half.

But after tying the score at 34-34 in the third period, Williamston's touch deserted it. They hit just four of 17 third period shots, and fell back by 45-40. Only six turnovers by the Hawks kept it that close.

Things got no better for the Tigers in the third period, as they made seven of 17, and it allowed North Lenoir to move out to a nine-point lead, 55-46, and then to an 11-point spread, 61-50 with 1:22 left.

Overall, Williamston hit on 43.9 per cent of their shots, while North Lenoir made 53.7 per cent of theirs. The Hawks also controlled the boards, grabbing off 39 rebounds to 27 for the Tigers.

Pearcill led the North Lenoir scoring with 24 points, while Wiggins added 19. Harris paced Williamston with 20, with James Woolard adding 15 and Barnes, 14.

North Lenoir takes on Washington in Tuesday night's semifinals.

"We were able to get the ball inside and that helped us a lot," Hawk coach Jerry Walston said. "Goah, they shot well. We had heard that they didn't shoot well, but they didn't miss many. They forced us to run some man-to-man defense, and we really didn't want to. But I think we did a good job of it in the second half. We hid it well, too, making it look like a zone."

Walston looked forward to meeting Washington. "I saw them the other night for the first time. We've played them in the last three district tournaments, and we know that they're good. Everyone knows that. We don't plan to do anything special, just try and play our game. We'll try and keep them off the boards and try to deny (Dominique) Wilkins the ball."

Williamston coach Rick Waldron was clearly disappointed in the loss.

"We just got beat, but I think we gave it all we had. They have a good club," he said.

Asked what happened to the Tiger shooting, Waldron said he didn't know. "We've been like that all year—up and down. We play well for a while, then fall apart. We haven't put four quarters together all year, but play great in spurts."

"But I guess I'm pleased with the effort. I guess if anybody can match up with Washington, at least in height, it's North Lenoir."

In the girls' game, it looked like Ayden-Grifton was going to have a waltz to its win, powering out to a ninepoint lead in the first period, 15-6. But Roanoke cut that back to 17-12 before the period ended.

Ayden-Grifton moved away again in the third period, building up a 28-18 lead before holding a 32-22 margin at the half.

After scoring the first two baskets of the third period for a 36-22 lead, Ayden-Grifton fell victim to a tough zone press by Roanoke, and didn't score another field goal until 5:01 remained in regulation time—a lapse of 9:22. They got only two free throws during that gap.

Roanoke used it to its advantage, cutting the lead to 37-34 by the end of the period.

In the final quarter, Roanoke tied it up on a steal by Carolyn Jones, then moved ahead after another steal when Dee Stanley was fouled and made both shots for a 40-38 lead. The teams swapped points until it reached 43-43, and both then missed chances to end the game in regulation time.

Roanoke had a turnover with 14 seconds to go, and Ayden-Grifton failed to get off a shot.

In the overtime, Shanda Brock hit after 21 seconds for a 45-43 A-G lead, and she added two free throws with 31 seconds left to clinch the victory, as Roanoke never caught up again.

Brock led A-G with 18, while

Mary Rowe had 14. Stanley had 16 to pace Roanoke.

A-G Coach Cathy Purvis said that she problems the Chargers had with the Roanoke press somewhat surprised her. "We've been pressed before and had no trouble with it. But it just took us a while to adjust. We didn't do anything special, just ran a zig-zag."

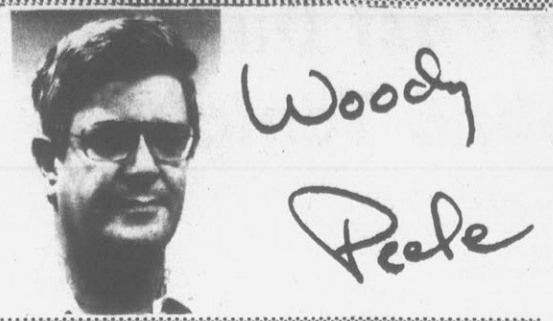

Ayden-Grifton will now meet Williamston in the semifinals on Tuesday. "We've played them twice before earlier in the year," Purvis said. "They beat us by four here and we beat them by five at Ayden-Grifton. I think we have a good chance. It should be a real good ball game."

Losing coach Phil Griffin felt his team didn't play well in the first half. "We played real well in the second, but we missed a couple of chances to win it at the end with a turnover and some missed free throws. You can't do that and win when it close."

Griffin said the Redskins pressed some in the first half, but not effectively. "We got some early fouls and that hurt our press, but we played it real well in the second half."

Griffin said the Redskins pressed some in the first half, but not effectively. "We got

East Carolina University's basketball team winds up the 1978-79 season on Monday and has an exhibition game on Tuesday against the Russian National team.

The game Monday will probably be the toughest of the year for the Pirates, who will be meeting the second team this year to have been ranked number one. The other is Indiana State.

The game will end what has definitely been the toughest schedule that an East Carolina team has ever faced.

There are a number of highlights on the schedule. The Pirates, in addition to facing some of the best teams in the country, beat Iona, a sure tournament team, on its own home court. They beat South Carolina here in Greenville.

Six times they went into overtimes, tying a national record. They played four of those overtimes in a row, and that just might be a national record. Ac-ording to the NCAA, no one has kept records on consecutive overtimes. But if six is the national record for a season, four would probably be a national mark for consecutive extra periods.

The team will wind up the year with two less players than it started with. Herb Gray left the team at the end of the first semester. Walter Moseley announced yesterday that he was leaving the team.

What the future will bring to the Pirate basketball program has yet to be seen.

Some Honors Ahead

Oliver Mack, East Carolina's top scorer for the past two seasons, will be playing in at least two post-season games.

Mack has been invited to the prestigious Aloha Classic in Honolulu, Hawaii. That gave annually attracts 38 of the nation's top seniors, all of whom can be expected to be high draft choices next June.

Both Mack and Greg Cornelius, the only other senior on the team, will participate in an all-star game to be played in Portsmouth, Va.

According to ECU coach Larry Gillman, Mac Mack was also invited to play in a couple of other games, but has turned them down.

He's still in the running for the Pizza Hut Classic, where the top ten east and west players meet in an All-Star game in Las Vegas. Mack was considerable down in the fan voting in the last release of the balloting, but there was a heavy vote for him reportedly made in Texas, where he made his first mark in college basketball while in junior college.

Expect Summer Fuel Problem

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is predicting motorists could find gasoline in short supply this summer due to the Iranian revolution and that it will cost at least three to four cents more a gallon than now.

Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger told a House committee Thursday that unless Iranian production is restored speedily, there will be a gasoline shortage of "noticeable but not crippling" severity during the summer driving season.

He said the administration may be forced to take mandatory steps to make sure there is enough heating oil for next winter — meaning a reduction in "gasoline availability."

"There will be a gasoline problem — in all likelihood — this summer," he said.

Testifying before the House Budget Committee, Schlesinger said there still has been no word from the new Iranian revolutionary government on when exports may be resumed.

Later in Tehran, Deputy Prime Minister Ebrahim Yazdi said Iran will resume oil exports very soon. But he did not say precisely when that would come or how much oil would be sold to which countries.

The new government in Iran has promised to resume sales to the United States, but officials here have raised the possibility that it could be in curtailed amounts.

Before the cutoff in December, Iran had supplied about 5 percent of total U.S. oil consumption, or close to 1 million barrels a day. However, the net effect of the shutdown is a reduction of around 500,000 barrels because other producing nations have increased their exports somewhat to help offset the Iranian cutoff.

Schlesinger suggested that the total negative impact on U.S. crude oil supplies could reach 8 percent because of international commitments that might require the United States to share fuel with other consuming nations.

The extent of any gasoline shortage will depend on the length of the Iranian shutdown as well as the degree to which these foreign commitments must be honored, an issue which the International Energy Agency must decide when it meets next month.

Schlesinger predicted gasoline prices by mid-summer would be "three or four cents higher" than at present. "But they could be considerably more" if producing nations decide to raise their prices beyond the recent 14 percent increase already voted by the Organization for Petroleum Exporting Countries, he said.

Culprit On Flight South Will Speak At Service Series

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — The suspect got away, but that's just fine with two Saginaw County sheriff's deputies and a local resident.

Deputies Charles Frisby and Jerry Wilson were called to John Wetzel's home Wednesday night after receiving a complaint that there was someone in Wetzel's basement.

With their weapons drawn, the deputies slipped into the basement. They spotted some movement in a corner, approached the figure, and were confronted by an irate blackbird.

Here's what the deputies reported as happening:

"Officers and complainant then pursued suspect around the basement area in a vain attempt to apprehend same. Suspect continuously eluded capture and kept dive-bombing pursuers."

"Deputy Wilson, with hat in hand, finally flushed suspect back upstairs and culprit made his getaway through the back door, which complainant had left ajar."

"These officers watched breathlessly as the culprit made his getaway southbound toward Miami."

Award Bids On Project

ECU News Bureau
Wright Snack Bar contracts are in the process of being awarded, Joseph O. Clark, Manager of the East Carolina University student supply stores, announced.

Current plans call for construction to begin around the first of March and the tentative completion date has been set for July 1.

The opening of the snack shop was delayed in 1977 when the expanded book was opened because construction bids ran over the budget. Clark said, "We were faced with a choice to reschedule the whole project until all funds needed were in hand, or to go ahead with the Bookstore areas and do as much with the snack shop as we could."

To meet the budget, three items were cut from the job; the finished flooring, food equipment and part of the movable equipment allowance. The rest of the snack shop, located across the hall from the Bookstore on the ground floor of Wright, was completed at that time. A total of $125,000 has been borrowed to complete the project.

The new snack bar will be similar to the Croatan in the type of service that it offers but with larger physical facilities, three permanent cash registers and a larger food area.

Seek N.C. Record Pay For College President

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — The trustees of Western Piedmont Community College are seeking a $15,000 increase in the county salary supplement paid to the president of the college.

If they get it, the supplement from Burke County would be $20,000 — the highest paid any community college president in the state.

Supplements range from nothing at Sandhills Community College to $16,185 at Central Piedmont Community College.

The college has been seeking a replacement for President Gordon C. Blank, who resigned to take a similar job in New York, since August. W. Stanley Moore, chairman of the college's presidential search committee, said Wednesday a supplement of between $5,000 and $15,000 higher than the current amount is needed to attract a high-quality candidate for the job.

The college is now considering two out-of-state candidates for the job, Moore said. He said neither will be invited for a final interview with the selection committee until the committee has a definite salary figure to negotiate.

"We can't go out and start talking turkey unless we know we have a reasonable expectation of being successful," he added.

The most the state can pay for the job is $26,532, which would bring the total salary, with the proposed supplement, to $46,532.

"We are trying to establish a relationship with the county commissioners asking what we might reasonably expect for what we think is one of the better institutions in the state," Moore said.

The college trustees plan to go to the commissioners soon with a formal request for more money after each commissioner is contacted individually. Moore said all the commissioners would be contacted by early next week.

We're The First In Greenville To Cover All Our New Homes With The

HOME OWNERS WARRANTY

TEN YEAR PROTECTION

When you move into one of our new homes, you will be protected by HOW, America's new 10-year homebuyers' protection plan. For the first two years after purchase, you will be covered by the Home Owners Warranty. During the first year, we will repair any defects in workmanship and materials that fail to meet approved standards. In the second, we will repair defects in wiring, ductwork, and piping. During these two years, HOW's national insurance plan will stand behind our warranty obligations to you. For the next eight years, the HOW program insures you against any major structural defect that vitally affects the use of your home. (Exclusions are reasonable. See us for details.)

To qualify for participation in the Home Owners Warranty Program, we have met HOW's standards for technical competence, ethical conduct, and financial responsibility. We have signed a contract with the national headquarters of HOW, in Washington, D.C., agreeing to place all of our homes under warranty, to qualify annually for re-registration, and to submit to spot-checks of our work by HOW inspectors. We also have pledged to abide by procedures set up by HOW for speedy and effective settlement of any buyer/builder disagreement.

When you buy a home from us, you will receive your Home Owners Warranty from us and a binding Certificate of Participation, containing your insurance policy, from HOW. And please remember: This unique, 10-year protection package can be provided only by a builder who is registered with HOW. Only he can display the HOW emblem.

Before you buy or build a new home, see us first.

White Flag Over Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) - It was just too much.

Four inches of sleet and snow, stranded travelers, a power failure and two days of fog prompted employees at Hartsfield International Airport to throw in the towel and run up the white flag.

"We give up. We surrender," John Braden, an airport spokesman, said Thursday after workers hoisted the white flag outside the terminal of the nation's second busiest airport.

It's been a rough week. Saturday night a winter storm covered runways with snow and sleet. On Sunday and Monday, the storm moved north, closing airports there, but stranding travelers here.

A minor fire in a storage area knocked out electrical power for the airport for Tuesday and part of Wednesday.

Then on Wednesday, the fog rolled in and hung around all day Thursday.

"I don't know anything else that could happen to us," Braden said. "We're just looking forward to the next natural disaster."

Expect No Merger Proposals

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - An official of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare says facilities at predominantly black campuses in the University of North Carolina system are inferior to those at the system's predominantly white schools.

But Dr. Mary Berry, one of five HEW officials who are visiting UNC campuses this week.

Offer Musical Program Sunday

A musical program will be held at Fleming Chapel Church Sunday afternoon beginning at three o'clock.

Appearing will be the Gospel Consolators and the Southern Jubilees of Greenville and the Mighty Travelletes of Hamilton.

said she doesn't expect to recommend merger of programs at the UNC institutions. She is assistant secretary of education at HEW.

The officials also heard students complain about the facilities at one traditionally black school.

"I think it's fair to say that resources that were available at UNC-G (Greensboro) were much more adequate than those at other black schools. I think they (UNC-G) were in general much better equipped," Ms. Berry said.

"But we haven't proposed any mergers. We don't expect to," she said.

Ms. Berry made the comments while she and Dr. David Tatal, director of the Office of Civil Rights, toured the North Carolina A&T campus Thursday. Earlier in the day, they and other HEW officials were at UNC-G, and on Wednesday, the group visited Fayetteville State, North Carolina Central and Winston-Salem State. They were scheduled to meet with a group of blacks in Raleigh Thursday night.

The three schools in the Triad - UNC-G, Winston-Salem State and N.C. A&T - are part of the final stumbling block in the desegregation dispute between HEW and the state. North Carolina is the last Southern state awaiting approval of its desegregation plan, and the university system and the state maintain that programs are not unnecessarily duplicated on white and black campuses.

Chancellor Lewis Dowdy of N.C. A&T said he would reject any merger of programs.

While touring classrooms, dorms and other facilities, the federal officials were in earshot of a group of students shouting complaints about inadequate facilities, dorms and food.

Dr. Al Smith, A&T vice chancellor, tried to quell the angry crowd's shouts. "If you know anything about Dr. Mary Berry, you know she's for real.

You've got to give people a chance," Smith said.

HEW is under a court order to examine the UNC system's desegregation plan. It has until March 14 to decide on the state's plan. If the plan is rejected, it could cost the state as much as $89 million in federal aid.
