Greenville-Wilson Freeway OK'd By Transportation Board

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
RALEIGH — The Board of Transportation late this morning gave its approval to a Department of Transportation staff recommendation to build a freeway from Wilson to Greenville.

As approved, the freeway will be constructed in two stages. The first phase will include acquisition of the right-of-way for the entire 29.4 mile project, completion of the freeway between Wilson and Farmville, and between Farmville and Greenville. The first phase will also include construction of connectors to the east and west of Farmville to join the freeway to the present Farmville bypass.

The second phase of the project will complete the freeway, bypassing Farmville to the north. The new highway will begin at the N. C. 58 intersection just east of Wilson, bypass Saratoga and Farmville, and terminate one mile west of Pitt Memorial Hospital and the Greenville city limits. The Stantonsburg Road would be multi-laned and tie into the existing five-lane curb and gutter section near the hospital.

In addition to approving the Wilson-Greenville freeway, the Board of Transportation today approved a study of a new Greenville bypass — a western loop that would connect the new freeway to the eastern bypass, possibly in the vicinity of Burroughs-Wellcome Co to the north of Greenville.

Highway Administrator Billy Rose, who said the temporary use of the present five-lane Farmville bypass was recommended in an effort to "get the facility open and functioning sooner," noted the Greenville bypass study would "tie down the location of a bypass."

A source close to Governor Jim Hunt said present plans call for construction of the freeway north of Farmville to begin immediately after the completion of the freeway to the east and west of the town.

OK June 8

In a meeting held at 8:30 this morning, the Pitt County Board of Elections approved Friday, June 8 as the date to hold a public referendum on the sale of mixed beverages in Pitt County.

The mixed drink referendum will be held in conjunction with the referendum on the $9 million dollar school bond issue.

Elections Board supervisor Margaret Register said the meeting to approve the referendum date had been requested by the Pitt County Board of Commissioners at that board's meeting on Friday.

Hearing On Issue Cancelled

City Council Drops Staggered Terms

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer
In a move that was criticized by League of Women Voters representatives, the City Council cancelled a scheduled public hearing on a charter amendment that would implement four-year staggered terms for Council members and voted not to pursue the matter.

The Council, at its Feb. 8 meeting, adopted a resolution of intent to consider the amendment and called for a public hearing for last night's regular March meeting.

Mayor Percy Cox said last night that he felt that some of the Council members were divided on the issue and there was some concern that it might be more difficult to gain minority representation on the board if staggered terms were implemented.

Councilman Clarence Gray has opposed the move to implement staggered terms, expressing reservations that minority candidates would be successful in gaining seats on the Council.

Under the staggered term arrangement that had been considered, three candidates would be elected every two years. Dr. Donald Ensley, a spokesman for the Pitt County Black Assembly, said last month that black candidates usually place fifth or sixth in Council elections and the minority would have less chance of being represented if the election process was staggered.

Cox pointed out last night that after considering the matter, the Council had "pulled off of it" and decided "not to pursue" the matter further.

Margaret Wirth, representing the League of Women Voters, recalled that the Council scheduled the public hearing at last month's meeting and considering the matter in a workshop session and not placing it on the March agenda as indicated constituted behavior that was "contrary to the North Carolina Open Meetings Law."

Ms. Wirth contended that the Council's workshop discussion was not on record and she said the League hoped the Council would "speak openly on this issue."

Cox pointed out that the Council has announced that it will hold regular workshops on the Monday preceding the monthly meeting. He added that the workshop is open to anyone who would like to attend.

Patricia Dunn told the Council members that when they call for a public hearing, it should be held and citizens should be given the chance to speak. She said that the Council made a decision on the staggered term matter but did not make it at a public meeting.

The Council has considered action before regarding the implementation of staggered terms but each time has decided not to carry the mat-

Talks Cheer Carter But Sadat Termed Unhappy

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — President Carter and Egypt's Anwar Sadat held rolling peace talks on a train ride along the verdant Nile delta today, but appeared no closer to nailing down an Egyptian-Israeli treaty.

The Egyptian president said he is ready to sign such a treaty, but that Israeli misunderstandings and mistrust block the way. He said that only "some words here or there" now separate the two nations.

In Israel, Prime Minister Menachem Begin spent three hours briefing his cabinet and said afterward, "Everything now depends on the Egyptian answer. Israel has done its part."

The Israeli cabinet has already accepted compromise suggestions offered by Carter, but Sadat is seeking some modifications. Carter is scheduled to relay Sadat's response to Begin on Saturday night in Israel.

Begin told a parliamentary committee that a positive response from Sadat would "pave the road to peace," but a negative response would be "Egypt's responsibility."

Carter, speaking to reporters as he and Sadat rode an open railroad car from Cairo to this ancient port city, said "we still have some problems, obviously."

But Carter said the talks are going "very well," adding that he is neither disappointed nor pleasantly surprised by the talks.

"I'm doing my best," Sadat said. "But without the intensive effort by President Carter and the American people...we would have never reached a position" in which a treaty is within reach.

Carter and Sadat, said by U.S. officials to be unhappy with American treaty proposals, rode through 140 miles of blooming cotton and cheering throngs on the four-hour trip from Cairo to this ancient Mediterranean city.

Crowds along the way chanted, "Carter, Carter," and "Long live Sadat."

The Israeli cabinet meeting produced no new decisions.

Justice Minister Shmuel Tamir said the cabinet, which had previously approved Carter's latest compromise suggestions for a peace treaty, "paid notice" to Egypt's counterproposals and to Sadat's speech on Thursday calling for "freedom" and "national rights" for Palestinians.

Pitt Republicans Elect Officers At Convention

By STUART MORGAN
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Republican Party, at its biennial convention held Thursday evening in Greenville, elected county officers and delegates to serve at the state convention to be held in Raleigh, May 18 and 19.

The new officers for the GOP of Pitt County are: Jim McIntyre, chairman; Harriet Speight, vice-chairman; Lud Sherwood, secretary; and Don Lundegard, treasurer. Each officer will serve two years.

McIntyre, who lives in Winterville, is 28 years old and is an accountant for McIntyre and Gerry, Inc., on Charles Street.

"The attractive Republican candidates running for president, such as: Phil Crane and Ronald Reagan, are helping to build the Republican party in this area," explained McIntyre. "And, we are looking forward to a high level of participation by people supporting those candidates, and correspondingly their building the Republican party so that we will have a viable, two-party system."

In addition to electing new officers, 27 delegates and 27 alternates, for Pitt County, were selected to attend both the state and district conventions.

According to Mack Howard, acting as first-district chairman for the Republican party, "the district convention will be held in Pitt County on Saturday, April 21, at 2 p.m."

At that convention, Howard said "all 21 eastern counties in the first district will be represented." There are 11 such districts in N.C.

During yesterday's convention, Jackie Speight, chairman of the Young Republicans, recapped the activities of that club during the past year.

According to Harriet Speight, vice-chairman of the Pitt County Republican Party, "the Young Republicans will work in the precinct organization." Of 16 precincts in Pitt County, 11 were represented at Thursday's convention. She added that the club will meet March 23 and 24 in Winston-Salem.

A "straw poll" was also taken during yesterday's convention for the GOP of Pitt County, relating to the current Republican hopefuls for the upcoming presidential election.

Results of that poll follow: Ronald Reagan, Calif., first with 27 votes; Phillip Crane, Ind., second with 16 votes; Gerald Ford, Mich., third with eight votes; John Connally, Texas, and Howard Baker, Tenn., tied for fourth with five votes each; Jack Kemp, N.Y., fifth with only one vote; and George Bush, Texas, sixth with no votes.

Wheeler Airlines Planning Double Capacity

Wheeler Airlines, a commuter airline that serves Greenville, expects to double its passenger capacity during the next few months.

The airline is buying an F-27 propjet which seats 38 passengers. Receipt of the plane has been held up because of Federal Aviation Administration regulations that an airline not receive a plane until it has a hangar to house it. Hangar space for large planes is limited at Raleigh-Durham Airport, which is Wheeler's headquarters. However, Thomas H. McDowell, airport director, told the RDU Airport Authority Tuesday that Wheeler would exchange its four-plane hangar for a larger hangar now occupied by five planes, providing space for the new plane.

The new plane will be delivered next week, according to Ken Altevogt, Wheeler's Assistant Director of Flight, interviewed by telephone this morning. It won't be put into service for about three months, until a crew is trained and certified to fly it, though, he said.

The swap of hangars will leave a state-owned Aero Commander, now in the five-plane hangar, outdoors in an outside tie-down space. A space for it in an existing corporate hangar should open this summer. McDowell said there is a waiting list for corporate hangar space and that the state was No. 2 behind Super Dollar Stores Inc. Super Dollar has agreed to let the state have first priority for a hangar space, he indicated.

Wheeler now has six flights daily from RDU to Greenville, Charlotte, and Asheville, using two 15-passenger Beech 99 planes. Altevogt quoted Wheeler as saying that most of the flights are now full. The additional seating capacity may also enable the airline to expand service to New Bern and Danville, Va., two cities recently affected by Piedmont service cutbacks. Altevogt quoted Wheeler:

WHY NOT A CUSTOMER VOTE?

I believe that about half of the revenue of Greenville Utilities comes from outside the Greenville city limits. Why then should the upcoming bond issue for capital improvements to the GUC system by up to the residents of Greenville who choose to vote only? Rates of those living outside the city served by GUC are going up, too, so why shouldn't we be allowed to vote? W. P.

Hotline posed your question to Ed Waldrop, chairman of a volunteer GUC Information Committee to explain the need for a favorable bond issue vote. He said it's the law — that Greenville Utilities Corporation is owned by the citizens of Greenville, so they, as the owners, are the ones who must vote on capital improvements. GUC does have franchises to provide service to some designated outlying areas, he said, but there is no legal way that the customers could be made voters on the issues. It's not a membership corporation, like some of the rural electrification associations in the area, he indicated.

It's true, he added, that payments on the bonds issued, if the vote is affirmative, will be made from revenue, but, at this time, he said, there will be no direct increase because of the bond issue. GUC's policy is for electric rates to be those of the retail schedule of Virginia Electric and Power Company, the supplier.

Duke Doctors Find Zinc Allergy

Life may be a lot easier for thousands of diabetics thanks to a discovery made by scientists at Duke University Medical Center.

The Duke researchers have found that zinc used in preparing all commercial insulin can cause severe allergic skin reactions in some individuals, according to a Duke University News Service release.

Dr. Mark N. Feinglos, an endocrinologist in Duke's Department of Medicine, and Dr. Brian V. Jegasothy, a dermatologist, published an account of this finding in a recent issue of the British medical journal, "Lancet."

Dr. Feinglos said that zinc has been used to crystallize insulin, a relatively unstable hormone, since it was first manufactured in the 1920s.

"No one thought zinc could be a problem because it occurs naturally in the pancreas where insulin is produced," he said.

Charles Rainey, 65, of Hillsborough was the first diabetes patient whose painful skin allergy was relieved by zinc-free insulin, an experimental drug not yet licensed for general use. Dr. Feinglos said he and his colleagues tried virtually every known method of treating their patient's hypersensitivity without success. "I finally decided he was either allergic to insulin itself or something that was such an integral part of the insulin molecule that it had never been separated out before," he explained. "That's when I started thinking about the zinc."

The physician obtained some zinc-free insulin and, after securing approval from the Food and Drug Administration, treated Rainey with it. "All his allergic symptoms immediately cleared up," Dr. Feinglos said. "He hasn't had any trouble for about a year and a half now."

The next step was to prove that the zinc was responsible for the allergy and then to determine whether any other diabetics were similarly affected.

Working in the laboratory, Dr. Jegasothy demonstrated that both zinc sulfate and insulin containing zinc could make certain white blood cells taken from the patient multiply abnormally. Zinc-free insulin, he said, had no such effect.

A second series of experiments showed that a natural migration of white blood cells was inhibited when the metal was present in insulin, but was not changed when it was absent.

Dr. Jegasothy also said that samples of Rainey's skin that had been exposed to zinc sulfate were found under the microscope to be identical to tissue removed from his sores.

"After we've seen more patients, we'll be able to get an idea of how prevalent this is," Dr. Feinglos said. "Even if it's just one percent of the diabetics who have to take insulin, we're still talking about a very significant number of people."

The meeting was conducted by President Hester Latham.

Mrs. Julia Lawrence, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Carolyn Spruill, mother of the bridegroom-elect, Diane Spruill, sister, and Mrs. Nick Swain, aunt of the bridegroom-elect, were special guests.

Other hostesses were Leary Wilkinson, Ruth Watson, Madge Leonard, Margie Garri, Georgia Moore, Bettie Mae Little, Aldine Smith, Katie Peaden, Lonnie Belle Rouse, Lillian Trotman, Beatrice Moore, Donna Hamill, Marguerite Grant, Ida Faye Gaynor, Bessie Peaden, Edith Fleming, Doris Harris, Mary Lee Cobb, Joyce Peaden, Pearl Stokes, Ruth Tyer, Virginia Stancil and Patricia Dail.

Dear Abby

She Wants To Be A Widow

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Now I know why God lets the woman outlive her husband by about 10 years. She needs at least that much time to rest and recuperate. Pity the poor woman who's been married 50 years. I've been married 17 years, and if this man of mine doesn't go pretty soon, I pray to God that I will soon be laid to rest. I couldn't take another 33 years of this.

It's nag and brag! Rant and rave! Yell and cuss! All he has on his mind is eat, sleep and sex (especially sex). A poor woman goes to bed tired and wakes up tired. All a man is good for is his paycheck.

I've heard women talk about how lonely they are after their husbands pass on. Well, here is one who is looking forward to that day.

NO SIG IN GARDEN CITY

DEAR NO SIG: Too bad you didn't sign your name. A husband is entitled to know how his wife feels about him. He may want to hire a food taster.

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from LIKES IT LEGAL, who complained because her boyfriend told her that the men in his family never married—they just took common-law wives. While your response was sound, you missed a good opportunity to correct a common misconception about common-law marriages.

A common-law marriage IS a legal and binding marriage, just as valid as a ceremonial marriage with a license!

A couple who live together, cohabit, and have established a reputation in their community as man and wife, are, in the eyes of the law, LEGALLY married.

Furthermore, common-law marriage cannot be ended by one spouse simply moving out. Each party has legal obligations to the other, just as husband and wife have in a so-called "legal" marriage.

Thus, common-law marriage is much more than just "shacking up" or living together, and it should be made plain that all couples who decide to live together do not necessarily establish a common-law relationship.

Abby, 20 states still recognize common-law marriage, and Ohio is one of them.

OHIO LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: Thank you for pointing out that in those states where common-law marriages are recognized, they are as valid and binding as a marriage can be. And thank you too for letting my readers know that "shacking up" does not necessarily constitute a common-law marriage.

DEAR ABBY: I am having a problem with my 11-year-old daughter, an only child. Annie thinks she's old enough to stay by herself when my husband and I go out for a few hours in the evening. She says she is the only one in her class who still has a sitter.

My husband thinks Annie is right. She isn't a dumb child. She's in a special class with gifted children, but to me, that doesn't matter. I still think an 11-year-old should not be left at night without an adult. I would appreciate your opinion.

ANNIE'S MOM

DEAR MOM: Age is not always the most important factor. (Some 11-year-olds have more sense than their 17-year-old sitters.) I would not be influenced, however, by what the other kids in her class do. YOU must decide whether your daughter is able to stay by herself.

OES Officers Are Elected

Members of Greenville Chapter No. 149 elected a new slate of officers at their stated meeting Tuesday evening.

Including: Mrs. Irene T. Ledbetter, Worthy Matron; Charles Ledbetter, Worthy Patron; Mrs. Mildred Prebush, Associate Matron; A. E. Forrest, Associate Patron; Miss Alya Ray Taylor, Secretary; Mrs. Shirley Price, Treasurer; Mrs. Sheri Strickland, Conductress; and Miss Nancy McGlohon, Associate Conductress.

These officers and others to be appointed will be installed later this month in ceremonies open to families and friends.

The speaker demonstrated exercises and gave tips on ways to slim down.

Plans for a finance project were given by the finance and philanthropic chairpersons.

The meeting was conducted by President Hester Latham.

Drug Arrests Climb In Iredell County Schools

STATESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Iredell County sheriff's deputies have arrested 32 high school students since January on charges of possessing or selling drugs.

The arrests — mostly involving marijuana — have shocked parents and spawned rumors of hidden cameras and Big Brother-type surveillance at South, North and West Iredell high schools.

Report 4 Mishaps In City Yesterday

An estimated $4,100 property damage resulted from a series of four traffic collisions investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Heaviest damage, according to officers, resulted from a 2:50 p.m. collision at the intersection of Fourth and Summit Streets involving a car driven by Kyle Campbell of Greenville, and a truck operated by Robert Hemby of Greenville.

Investigators estimated damage at $1,800 to the Campbell car and $300 to the Hemby truck. Miss Campbell was charged with driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

An estimated $900 damage resulted to a car driven by Ronald Julius Terry of 1900 Charles St. when the Terry car and an auto driven by Archie Lee Gardner of 404A Darden Dr. collided about 12:30 p.m. on Third Street, 25 feet East of the Washington Street intersection.

No damage resulted to the Gardner car, according to officers.

Vehicles driven by Michael London Wilson of 1703 West Third St., and Susan Marie Boudreaux of 1502 Greenville Blvd. collided about 4 p.m. on Arlington Boulevard, 40 feet South of the Commerce Street intersection causing an estimated $150 damage to the Wilson truck and $450 damage to the Boudreaux car.

Police reported a car driven by Hattie Richardson White of 113 Oakdale Dr. collided with a sign at 2240 Dickinson Ave. about 5:05 p.m., causing an estimated $350 damage to the car and $150 damage to the sign.

Greenville Industries, Inc. might sound like a manufacturing concern to some, but it is, in fact, an organization dedicated to the county's economic improvement.

The corporation was formed around 12 years ago and stock was sold to citizens and concerns who were interested in industrial development in Pitt County.

It was not an objective to make money for the corporation, but rather to purchase some land which could be used to attract industry by offering sites which were reasonably priced.

Greenville Industries purchased the Dail Farm north of the river. Later a second farm was purchased near Simpson to move farm allotments and finally the Hopkins farm was bought on the Eastern bypass.

Several industries now stand on the Dail and Hopkins farms and they attest to the successfulness of the venture.

The success extends beyond the dreams of those who invested. Greenville Industries recently declared a 20 percent dividend to its stockholders, most of whom never expected a direct return originally.

The Simpson farm was sold and the Hopkins farm is paid off. There are still 250 acres of industrial land which the corporation can make available to desirable industries.

It took a little faith in the future by some forward looking citizens. The dividend is nice, but the big reward is the large numbers of good industrial jobs which have been created.

Key Is Under Carpet

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — When the Ayatollah Khomeini's revolutionary government takes over the Shah of Iran's summer palace, they undoubtedly will have a frustrating time trying to unlock the French windows in the morning room.

I am in a position to help out there. I happen to be one of the few people in the world who knows where the key is hidden.

A little over a year before Iran's collapse, I went to the Sadabad Palace in the cool hills north of smog-choked Teheran for an interview with the Empress Farah Diba, the shah's third wife.

A court protocol officer picked me up at the hotel. It was a scorching August day. We arrived early for the appointment and were ushered into the morning room. The sun beat mercilessly on the French windows, which walled the room on three sides.

"Much too hot in here," said the protocol officer, sweating profusely in his dark worsted business suit.

At his first attempt to yank open the windows, two soldiers with submachine guns popped out from behind hedges on the lawn.

"Locked," conceded the protocol officer, backing away from the window in embarrassment. "Security precautions, you understand." He tugged authoritatively on a red plush velvet cord.

A court attendant appeared almost instantly. The two conversed politely in Farsi, the Iranian language.

Swallowtail withdrew and returned with a large ring of keys. None of them seemed to fit the French windows.

"Tight security," explained my escort, barely able to conceal his chagrin at this failure. "This man obviously is not senior enough to be entrusted with the proper keys. You know, there have been three attempts on the shah's life."

A beribboned paratroop officer appeared with a larger ring of keys.

"The colonel is personally charged with the safety of the empress and the children," the protocol officer confided. But none of his keys fitted either.

Highly polished jump boots marched across the morning room to the gold French phone on the tiny golden table. More crisp orders were issued. All three of us settled back to wait.

The colonel addressed some words to me. "He says," my escort translated, "that the shah is much beloved by the people, but

Marked Farm Equipment A Wise Step

The Pitt Farm Bureau has begun a program to mark all farm equipment with an identifying number to protect against theft.

The program, which will be worked through the Pitt Sheriff's department, will also include marking of household and personal items.

Marking of farm equipment can be quite effective in reducing thefts and identifying items which are stolen. Farm operators should take advantage of this program.

THIS AFTERNOON Eyes On $$ Decisions

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — County commissioners and city councilmen across North Carolina are keeping a wary eye on the General Assembly this year to see how much local budgets are going to have to be increased as a result of state actions.

The pledge has come down from Gov. Jim Hunt and legislative leaders: no new local programs will be demanded by law which would cost increased local dollars.

But it is already — and increasingly — apparent that there are some hooks in that promise.

For one thing, expanding existing programs can cost a bundle without adding any new programs. For another, the state can push new programs into existence without actually mandating them, but local governments feel compelled to go along.

Both the League of Municipalities and the Association of County Commissioners keep skilled observers on hand in the General Assembly constantly, and both groups have been pushing hard to keep a lid on state-imposed spending increases.

Local Taxes

The reason is obvious: local governments are closest to the people and feel the immediate impact of any increases, especially since raising local money is effectively limited to the property tax rate, and that is one of the hottest issues going right now.

But despite their power and expertise, local governmental organizations have been unable to come up with any figures which would be of much help to the people back home. A complicating factor is that local governmental budgets are being prepared at this time, and the state increases need to be factored in before final totals are run.

"The problem is that state increases are an incremental thing", one local government expert said. "We won't truly know what has happened until after the session adjourns and we can study closely the appropriations bill."

"They add a little, and a little there, and it doesn't seem like much ... until you put it all together."

One agency of state government has been able to come up with a "guesstimate" of what it will cost local governments to pay their increased share of expanded programs.

The budget shop at Department of Human Resources says the total will run somewhere between $10 and $11 million in that one operation. The Medicaid program increases alone will cost counties another $5 million next fiscal year; and $8 million more the following fiscal year.

There are other expanded state programs — not new programs — which will require increased local dollars. When state employees and teachers get a sizable pay increase, for example, their locally hired counterparts expect the same raises. Teachers, particularly, when hired by local funds must be kept on the state salary schedule.

Salaries

Then there are law enforcement salaries. The state continues to raise the minimum salary, which local governments must pay. But that is optional, some legislators argue, and not mandated. In practice, however, local governments feel compelled to pay the higher scale in order to keep their policemen from moving to another community to work.

Another factor is the creation of new programs which the state will fund partially, but county governments must contribute to, which while not required prove popular and are demanded by the citizens — day care, infant screening, community treatment programs are examples.

And yet another complicating matter are seemingly minor changes in procedure which end up costing a bundle. The state, for example, told local governments to pick up the tab for certain people in skilled nursing facilities or transfer them to rest homes which are not as expensive. State officials insisted most recipients could be transferred so the cost would be minimal. It turns out most refuse to be moved, and the change is costing local governments about $5 million now.

Knowledgeable people are estimating that when all such possible increases are totaled, local taxpayers will face about $50 million more per year to satisfy state-imposed increases.

By ART BUCHWALD The Khomani Account

WASHINGTON — With the change of government in Iran there are many companies in the United States which are having a very difficult time collecting on their bills for goods and services provided the Middle East country when the shah was in power.

Their requests for payment from the Ayatollah Khomeini's provisional government have gone unanswered, so several companies have turned the matter over to American collection agencies who are ruthless when it comes to collecting unpaid bills.

One company, the Rugged Aviation Corp., hired the Chicago-based Threatening Collection Agency to see if it could get the Ayatollah to come up with the $956 million and 35 cents that Rugged claimed Iran owed it for 50 of its latest jet fighter planes.

The first thing Threatening did was send the Ayatollah a strong letter which went as follows:

"Dear Sir,

"The Rugged Aviation Co. has turned over your delinquent account to us for pay-

Other Editors Say Ripping Us Off

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

Raymond Taylor, a former marshal of the State Supreme Court, spoke the truth, of course, when he said it is inconceivable to make the taxpayers of this state pay for a full-salaried lieutenant governor.

The present office of the lieutenant governor of this state has a budget of $210,858. For the 1980-81 fiscal year the budget is projected at $220,858.

Clearly, by jumping a few thousand each year, we are headed toward a quarter of a million dollar office in five more years.

Including the lieutenant governor, the office has a staff of seven full-salaried people.

In addition, the lieutenant governor gets $22,500 for "consultant fees".

His office includes seven rooms in the Legislative building. The salary is $39,500 a year.

His job is to preside over the State Senate which is supposed to meet only every two years. As presiding officer he also names committees.

There are a few other perfunctory duties. But the full-salaried lieutenant governor today does nothing that parttime officeholders didn't do earlier.

The biggest activity of lieutenant governors since it became a full-salaried position has been to run for governor — at the expense of the people of North Carolina.

Raymond Taylor made the point very well. The only thing wrong with what he told members of the Goldsboro Kiwanis Club here this week is that everyone in the audience already knew it. It is inconceivable for the people of this state to have to pay for such waste.

The question is: Does there breathe anywhere in the General Assembly one single soul with the courage to stand up for the people and say, "This is wrong?"

Of course not. To get along one must go along.

But a General Assembly that perpetuates this expensive farce is part and parcel of the ripoff of the taxpayers of this state. And no member of the General Assembly can claim his hands are clean unless he has fought to put an end to it.

ment. According to their files you owe them $956 million and 35 cents, plus an 18 percent penalty for late payment.

"We're sure this has been an oversight. We will expect your check within 10 days or we will take further action which, we hasten to mention, will cause great embarrassment to you and your family."

A few days later Threatening received a postcard with the Ayatollah's picture on it and the words: "Allah be with me. I'm not paying one rial for anything that the shah ordered."

Threatening followed up with its second letter.

"Dear Ayatollah,

"Your cavalier attitude toward this obligation leaves us no choice but to inform you that unless you make partial payment on your debt to Rugged Aviation (we would consider $500 million a show of good faith), we will report you to the Retail Credit Assn. where you will be listed as a bad credit risk. This means that your American Express, Visa, Master Charge and Diner's Club cards will be considered invalid and will not be accepted by any restaurant in the Free World.

"We will also notify Sears, Roebuck, Radio Shack and Bloomingdale's that you are a four-flusher and should not be permitted to buy anything

THE INSIDE REPORT The Rush To Exit Iran

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — While anti-Americanism rushed toward a dangerous peak and big American contractors in Iran vainly sought information about the State Department's evacuation policy, military and diplomatic personnel were being quietly moved out of Tehran to safety.

That reversed the normal procedure: it is government officials, with their dependents if necessary, who usually stay till the dangerous end; the non-government Americans usually get moved out first.

But the deteriorating situation in Tehran and other hot spots in revolutionary Iran reversed that process, infuriating non-government civilians. One major contractor with several thousands of employees in the country tried desperately to learn both from the State Department and the U.S. embassy in Tehran about evacuation. The diplomats, facing understandable pressures not to undercut the then-ruling but slipping Bakhtiar regime, hedged. The contractor was discouraged from chartering airliners.

But Uncle Sam was not forgetting his own. Under an emergency (but publicly unannounced) policy of "very liberal" leave, many embassy employees and their dependents were in effect subsidized for Christmas vacation trips out of the country — from which of course, they never returned.

Admittedly, the State Department faced a difficult and even dangerous time in deciding when and how the exodus should take place. But the manner in which it finally happened left a lot of bad feeling.

tisan sense, Haig nevertheless delivered one of the "strongest addresses on America's world problems" that one senator had ever heard. The outgoing commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization discussed the new strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, but a careful reading between the lines was necessary to hear his warning.

Haig's voice is expected to weigh heavily against the new SALT treaty, unless the text is drastically modified by Senate amendment. But while in uniform, mum's the word. Haig's political ambitions range from the Republican presidential nomination, the vice presidential nomination if he cannot win the top spot, or the U.S. Senate seat in Pennsylvania now held by retiring Republican Sen. Richard Schweiker.

Politicians give him almost no chance for the 1980

Positive Approach To Service

By GAIL MICHAELS

A mother's responsibilities used to be limited to the care and attention she provided for her children in the home, but recently more and more mothers are recognizing that their responsibilities extend to the public sphere as well. It is not at all unusual to read that a group of concerned mothers is lobbying for a new federal regulation to protect their little ones. And although I do not belong to their ranks, I am grateful to these activists. If it weren't for sleep each night with chemical flame retardants protecting her tender skin.

The newest effort to increase the number of federal regulations protecting our children has been in the area of television. The mothers involved in this effort want to force the television networks to eliminate all advertising service announcements spaced at regular time intervals and aimed specifically at children in every age group. Here are just a few of the many possibilities:

"It's potty time, kids. Those of you who are sitting there on your hands and feet and wriggling like you're at a disco, get up now. Mommy does not like spots on her rug."

"Healthy children need fresh air. Have you been outside today? No? Then open the front door and breathe deeply three times. Now back to our program..."

"Have you done your homework, boys and girls? Homework makes you smart. Look at the screen. Can you read the questions that appear on the screen? That's right. My name is "2 + 2 equals " " Can you answer these questions? Good. You are prepared for the state competency test, and you can stay for the next program."

"Hey, kids, have you brushed your teeth tonight? You haven't? Tch, tch, tch. Charlie's Angels and the Incredible Hulk brush their teeth, and you should too. Go to the bathroom right now and squeeze a little toothpaste on your toothbrush. Do not squeeze it on the wall. Be sure to get those back teeth. Now rinse your mouth. Do not spray water at the mirror through your front teeth. Good. Now, you're ready for those close-ups."

"It's nine o'clock and time to go to bed. Make sure your footie pajamas are on straight so that they don't cut off the circulation in your ankles. Okay, now off you go. But wait. Don't forget to kiss me goodnight."

Strength For Today

GREEN-EYED MONSTER

"The green-eyed monster" is an apt and vivid expression, suggesting the frighteningly destructive effects of jealousy on our lives. It is also a very old expression. Shakespeare used it in his play "Othello".

Jealousy poisons friendship and shatters love. When we are jealous, we can no longer trust; and when we cannot trust, we cannot love.

Jealousy is always more damaging to the person affected by it than to the person against whom it is directed. The jealous person is sour and bitter, for he is always envious of whatever others have. The jealous person is sorry for himself. He hates others for getting ahead, and rejoices in their failures. He thus becomes almost incapable of analyzing his own situation and taking the necessary steps to correct his mistakes.

Well, indeed, might Shakespeare write, "O! beware, my Lord, of jealousy."

Congressional Overview Meet Hosted By C-of-C

Congressman Walter B. Jones and Tim Smith, legislative/political affairs manager of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, were the guest speakers at a Congressional Overview Conference for the First Congressional District Thursday, hosted by the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce Congressional Action Committee.

Congressman Jones told the business leaders that he favors mandatory wage and price controls.

"It seems that it would be the only way to the stable dollar," said Jones. "It would be one way to curb inflation."

Jones also discussed legislation concerning social security, energy guidelines, congressional veto, Alaska Lands Lockup, and federal campaign subsidies.

Discussing regulatory reform, Jones said, "I would be in favor of some form of congressional veto."

He also said that he would vote against federal campaign subsidies which would allow public monies to be used for incumbents' campaigns.

Smith presented the top business legislation issues and discussed how the local chambers' congressional action committees should take action against the legislation.

Smith commented that one of the major issues that chambers are concerned with in 1979 is regulatory reform. Smith noted that the national chamber is organizing a Regulatory Action Committee similar to the congressional action committees to support regulatory reforms.

Dr. David White, chairman of the GACOC Congressional Action Committee, presided at the meeting. Representatives from the Elizabeth City, Kinston-Lenoir County, Greater Washington, Greenville Area and New Bern Chambers of Commerce were on hand at the meeting.

Late, But Will Enforce Law

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Guilford County court officials say court proceedings should go a lot smoother when they begin enforcing some two-year-old rules later this month.

The rules will require defense attorneys to seek plea negotiations prior to arraignment of defendants in order to save time and court costs. The regulations will also require jurors to complete biographical information sheets.

Court officials say the rules were implemented two years ago but apparently haven't been enforced. Enforcement of the rules should make court proceedings more convenient for the public as well as local attorneys, officials said.

Beginning March 19, the county's presiding Superior Court judges and the district attorney's staff plan to enforce the intent of arraignment days and eliminate what they say has been widespread abuse by lawyers.

Attorneys often view arraignment as a mere technicality, said Superior Court Judge Robert Collier and District Attorney Michael Schlosser.

"Rather than using it to get rid of guilty pleas, everybody was pleading not guilty and then on the trial date pleading guilty," Collier said. He said such changes in pleas resulted in a waste of courtroom time.

Airline Planning Drop Rocky Mount, Wilson

presidential nomination, but larger prospects for either the vice presidential spot or the Senate. Continuing decline of the U.S. in the world and more defeats such as the anti-American crusade in Iran could change that and make Haig a real 1980 factor.

Tower the Leader?
The prospect of Sen. John Tower of Texas, replacing Sen. Howard Baker (Tenn.) as Senate Republican leader, would remove a major remaining White house hope that the expected arms control treaty (SALT II) with the Soviet Union may indeed win Senate approval.

No politician plays his cards closer to the vest than Baker, and nobody can be sure what he actually will do on SALT. That, plus Baker's tendency to praise Jimmy Carter after a presidential stroking session, has led White House tacticians to hope for his ultimate support.

Tower, on the other hand, is much less congenial to the president and a sure vote against SALT.

Baker is expected to resign as minority leader to seek the Republican presidential nomination; Tower, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, is slightly favored over assistant minority leader Ted Stevens of Alaska to replace him.

A footnote: the first reaction to the ludicrous photo of Tower dressed as Superman for a Dallas costume party was that he could forget the Senate leadership post. But on second thought, Senate insiders thought it had helped Tower by deflating his stuffed-shirt image. —Field Enterprises, Inc.

Reese Bailey.

Piedmont's Senior Vice President and Assistant to the President William R. Howard announced the intent to curtail service Wednesday, citing marginal profits and increased availability of alternate service at larger airports as the reasons.

Bailey said the company would suspend service within about 90 days unless Civil Aeronautics Board officials rule that similar airline service is "essential to the overall economy and potential of the Rocky Mount-Wilson area." In that case, the officials can require Piedmont to temporarily remain in service here until a unfortunately there are enemies to be guarded against. We must be ever vigilant."

A Baluchi porter entered, wearing the striped collarless shirt and baggy bloomer trousers of the working class. When the colonel addressed him, the porter's eyes lit up in instant recognition. He pattered across the room, lifted the corner of the Persian carpet and uncovered the brass key that was lurking there.

The windows swung open and a cooling breeze rustled the portiers.

I should have known the squadrons of new F-14s and the helicopter complex at Isfahan would not be sufficient to guarantee the future of the Pahlavi dynasty. You can't hide everything under a rug.

suitable replacement can be found.

The Authority will soon receive a list of companies which may take over service at the airport from Piedmont, Bailey said. They will receive, also, the names of contacts with the CAB for further negotiations for service to the airport.

"We are aware of our proximity to the Raleigh-Durham Airport, but we have shown in our surveys that a real need exists in our area for airline service to certain points," Bailey said. The possibility of a commuter-type service to larger airports has not been ruled out, he added.

In his statement, Howard said, "The availability of excellent long-haul service at other nearby airports, particularly Raleigh-Durham, and the recently improved highway to Raleigh have made it increasingly attractive for Rocky Mount and Wilson area residents to drive to Raleigh-Durham for a greater choice of flights. It is not economically feasible for us to continue service to Rocky Mount-Wilson."

Bailey said Piedmont is halting service at about four airports, the adjustment made possible by the Airline Deregulation Act of 1978. The act allows airlines to stop and start service with more ease, to hopefully permit more competition and lower fares.

According to the Airline, there are now four daily flights operated out of Rocky Mount-Wilson, with about 14,000 boardings per year. Piedmont has provided services to Rocky Mount since 1961.

Wife In Ministry Affecting A Family

By GALE TOLLIN
Associated Press Writer
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —

the ministry and became a stockbroker, it was only the start of robe and role changes in the family. His wife, Marilyn, soon will become an orained minister.

Mrs. Breckenridge completed her seminary studies Feb. 22.

By summer, she hopes to be called as pastor of an American Lutheran Church parish in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

She was in her third year at

Luther-Northwestern Theological Seminary, St. Paul, when her husband decided last

April to leave the United Church of Christ ministry.

For years, Mrs. Breckenridge had dreamed of becoming a minister. She had even thought that someday she and her husband might become co-pastors of a church.

"The children felt very betrayed," said Breckenridge, 40.

"They felt daddy's supposed to be the minister, not mama."

But after four years as pastor of a church at Brattleboro, Vt.,

and a decade at Lynnhurst Congregational Church, Minneapolis, Breckenridge had started thinking it was time for a change.

In considering options, Breckenridge recognized a wide variety of interests — business, engineering, sociology, psychology, education, social work, the mission field, music, the arts. He had acquired a love of nature and wildlife from his father, Walter Breckenridge, naturalist and longtime director of the museum of natural history at the University of Minnesota.

He enjoyed rebuilding and racing old cars, and had won several trophies at the Twin Cities Speedway dragstrip. He once raced a Model A Ford that he had souped so that it would accelerate from zero to 100 mph in 13 seconds.

But he knew something about the stock market, too, from investment of a small settlement which came to him after he was in an automobile accident

when he was in high school.

Following a series of interviews and licensing examinations, he joined Dain, Kalman & Quail,

Minneapolis, members of the

New York Stock Exchange. The transition from preacher to stockbroker was "beautiful,"

he said, with no feeling of being

"lost."

When she becomes a Lutheran pastor, Mrs. Breckenridge expects her husband to be a helpful member of her flock.

"He'd better!" she laughed, a hint of resolution in her voice.

"For 14 years, I supported his ministry in UCC churches."

Breckenridge smiled in agreement. "I recognize the role of denominations but the Christian faith is paramount," he said.

Mrs. Breckenridge was a Lutheran before her 1961 marriage. She has nothing against the UCC but is comfortable with the decision to return to her original denomination, and as a minister.

"I felt I would be more a person in my own right in the Lutheran Church," she added. In the UCC, she was known as

"Tom's wife." But to his wife's

Lutheran colleagues, Breckenridge now is "Marilyn's husband."

Action Taken On Varied Items At Council Session

The City Council took action on a variety of items Thursday night, including various requests for rezoning property and one regarding an annexation petition.

Approval was given by the Council for the annexation of Section II of North River Estates, located south of Greenfield Terrace, along State Road 1419.

A request by Ralph C. Tucker for rezoning some 17.38 acres on the north side of US 264 West, just east of Baker Heights, was approved. Tucker sought rezoning from RA-20 to R-6 and R-9.

Mayor Percy Cox said last night that due to a typographical error in the public advertisement of a rezoning request by Kenneth Whichard regarding property south of Greenville Boulevard, adjoining Belvedere Subdivision, the request would have to be readvertised.

Whichard is seeking to have 5.16 acres rezoned from R-9 to R-6, it was explained, and the advertising notice indicated that zoning would be from R-6 to R-9.

Fred Mattox, an attorney representing Whichard, said that his client understood the problem but asked if there was a possibility the Council might have a special meeting scheduled between now and next month's regular meeting. He said that Whichard would like to be on the special agenda if a meeting is scheduled.

The Council adopted a resolution approving the exchange of the capital stock of Greenville Cable TV Inc. for the capital stock of Tar River Communications Inc.

City Manager Ed Wyatt said that the firm was going to a holding company arrangement and the action would not adversely affect cable service here. Approval of the action would give the company access to capital funds to continue to expand service here.

A spokesman for the cable television firm said that service to areas of the city not currently receiving cable would be purchased.

A second request of Greenville Cable TV for an amendment to the appropriate ordinance relative to the transfer of control was also approved. A second reading of the ordinance amendment is required and will be scheduled for the April 12 meeting.

Wyatt said the transfer of control action adds Pitt County to the franchise arrangement.

Other action taken by the Council included:

— Appointment of Ralph Tucker Sr. and Melvin Rountree to the Land Development Ad Hoc Committee;

— Reappointment of Mark Grossnickle to a one-year term as the Rose High School student representative on the Sheppard Memorial Library Board;

— Adoption of an order closing an unnamed dirt street located south of and adjacent to Farmers Warehouse on N. Green Street;

— Adoption of guidelines, as presented by a sub-committee of the Recreation and Parks Commission, for naming recreation facilities, with Councilman Clarence Gray opposing the adoption;

— Authorization for the submission of the 1979-80 Community Development hold-harmless application totaling $735,926, including an unprogrammed balance of $44,926 (this year marks the fifth and final year the city is eligible for hold-harmless funds but Greenville hopes to receive discretionary funds in the future);

— Approval of a renewal permit application by Holt Oldsmobile for the mobile home at 101 Hooker Road and denial of a request by Samuel Brown for renewal of the permit for a mobile home at 1607 Garland Street (it was pointed out that the permit was issued to Brown and he no longer occupies the structure);

— Scheduling of a public hearing for April 12 on an application by James Russell Whichard for a permit to place a mobile home at 101 S. Summit Street for use as a residence for Mrs. James Whichard's mother; — Approval of an application by Coastal Chemical Corp. for a permit to place a mobile home on Evans Street Extension for use as a temporary field office;

— Approval of authorization to apply to the N.C. Department of Transportation for revision of the Transit Evaluation Grant and the Transit Coordination Grant;

— Approval of an agreement with William E. Friend for architectural services for the Public Works facility;

— Approval of an amendment to the engineering contract with Olsen Associates of Greenville for the 14th Street improvement project;

— Adoption of resolutions approving the sale of two disposal parcels in the Southside Redevelopment Project;

— Adoption of recommendations made by the Traffic Commission, calling for the placement of "No right turn on red" signs at the south and west approaches to the Fifth and Evans Streets intersection, prohibition of parking from 1-8 a.m. on the south side of Berkley Road from the corner of Circle Drive to Fieldside Drive, prohibition of parking from 1-8 a.m. on both sides of Forest Hills Drive from the corner of Circle Drive to Berkley Road, prohibition of parking from 1-8 a.m. on the south side of Berkley Road from the corner of Circle Drive to Forest Hills Drive;

— Approval of an application by Stuffy's of Greenville at 521 Cotanche Street for an on-premise beer and wine privilege license;

— Scheduling of three rezoning requests for April 12 public hearings;

— Approval to delay action until budget time on a recommendation by the Planning and Zoning Commission that an application be submitted for a Historic Preservation Inventory Grant;

— Concurrence in the extension of the extraterritorial limits approximately 1,000 feet beyond State Road 1204 to conform with the Utilities Commission water district line, and request for the County Commissioners to accept the planning board recommendation regarding the extension;

— Scheduling of a public hearing on the Thoroughfare Plan for Tuesday, April 3 at 7:30 p.m.;

— Approval of the refund of a building permit for $30 to Cradle Bradley; and — Awarding of a bid in the amount of $8,114.87 to Mervis Uniforms of Virginia Beach, Va. for spring-summer uniforms for the Police Department.

Ask Citizens Select Slogan

The Slogan Committee of the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce is requesting citizen support in selecting a new slogan for Greenville.

According to J. T. Snowden, chairman of the Chamber's Slogan Committee, three slogan suggestions have been approved by the committee. These suggestions are as follows: "People, Progress and Pride"; "Progressive and Proud"; and "Progress and Quality Together."

The slogan suggestions will be listed in an advertisement in "The Daily Reflector" so that citizens may select their favorite slogan. Citizens may also include their own selection for a slogan. All selections should be mailed to the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 894, Greenville, N. C., by Tuesday, March 13.

Chamber of Commerce members have also received slogan selection cards. Snowden said that these members are encouraged to return their selections as soon as possible.

The committee is seeking citizen input for the selection of the slogan because it will be used to identify Greenville. The slogan will be displayed on all "Welcome to Greenville" signs which are to be erected at several entrances to the city within 90 days. The slogan will also be used in publications and in conjunction with city promotions.

Planning Hold 2 Joy Nights

Two Joy Night services will be held. The first will be at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Best Chapel with Eldress Sonhya Small Woods, speaker. The Simpson Chapel Junior Choir will render music.

At 7 p.m. Saturday, joy night will be held at Simpson Chapel. Speakers will be Eldress Louise Hicks, Eldress Gracie Bailey, Eldress Mary Moore. The Joy Bells of Greenville will render the music.

The pastor, Bishop Matthew Best, invites the public to both joy nights.

Music Program Sunday Evening

Shirley and the Eight Gospel Specialists of Grimesland will give a musical program at Sweet Hope Free Will Baptist Church, Galloways Crossroad, Sunday, March 11, 7:30 p.m.

Sister Luella White, president of the Willing Workers Club No. 2, will serve as sponsor. The Rev. W. J. Best, pastor, invites the public to attend.

Graduation To Be Wednesday

Graduation services for a class of the Pre-release and Aftercare prison rehabilitation program will be held Wednesday at noon in the Fellowship Hall of Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church.

The guest speaker will be Pat Dye, East Carolina University football coach.

The bidding:

Opening lead: King of ♦.

Here's another opportunity for you to test your skill in handling the dummy. Cover the East and West hands with your thumbs and decide how you would play six spades after the lead of the king of diamonds.

You have bid well to reach a good slam. In view of your three aces and good intermediates, you judged your hand too strong to open one no trump. Now, when partner jump raised your spades, you elected to try for slam by issuing an invitation with a bid over game. Since you did not cue-bid, this invitation specifically asked partner about the quality of his trumps. Holding the top two honors, he was happy to accept.

West's king of diamonds lead hits your weak spot. However, you still have two good chances. Assuming trumps are 3-2, if the jack of hearts is guarded no more than twice, you can discard dummy's diamond loser on your fourth heart. If that falls through, there is always the club finesse. Assume you win the ace of diamonds and draw trumps ending in dummy. If you take the club finesse and it loses, the defenders will quickly cash a diamond trick for down one. So obviously you must test the hearts first. You cash the king-queen and lead to the ace, but East shows out. You can ruff the fourth heart in dummy and try the club finesse, but even if it succeeds, you will be down one—you cannot get back to dummy to repeat the club finesse.

However, you can combine the two lines to better your chances. After drawing three rounds of trumps, cash three top hearts, ending in dummy! If the jack of hearts drops, return to your hand with the ace of clubs and discard a diamond on the ten of hearts. Concede a club and claim the slam.

If the jack of hearts does not drop, you are in dummy to take the club finesse. When that succeeds, you cross back to dummy by ruffing the ten of hearts and repeat the club finesse, and twelve tricks are yours.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal bridge format. Do they know something you don't? Charles Goren's "Four-Deal Bridge" will teach you the strategies and tactics of this fast-paced action game that provides the cure for unending rubbers. For a copy and a scorepad, send $1.75 to "Goren-Four Deal," c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 259, Norwood, N.J. 07648. Make checks payable to NEWS-PAPERBOOKS.

Choir Union To Meet Saturday

The Interdenominational Choir Union will hold its monthly meeting at Elm Grove F.W.B. Church, Ayden, Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

This Union consists of the Selvia Chapel Gospel Chorus, the Little Creek Disciples Choir, the Morning Star Holiness Senior Choir, and the Elm Grove Senior Choir. The public is invited.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 10, 1979

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have the chance to think big and to make plans that have considerable breadth and scope to them. Get into whatever you can do to put your life along richer and more highly developed lines. Discuss goals with powerful persons.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Know what your potentials are and put out the right effort so that you make the most of them. You have and can use advanced ideas of a creative nature to your advancement. Stop talking and dreaming so much and get busy working.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Consider buying new gadgets or appliances that speed work at home. Think along progressive lines and get fine results. Don't waste time with people who are stodgy, dull.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get together with persons who are difficult to see during work days and get good advice for improving regular activities. Reread reports and statements for possible errors.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have to think big now in order to have more abundance, and this is a good time to do so. Plan how to improve property. Take no chances with reputation.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan how to become more magnetic and charming so that you can accomplish more in the future. Contact good friends and have a good time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan a new course of action early and know how best to carry it out. Experts give you good suggestions privately that should be followed for best results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study your acquaintances well and know which ones you want to become your good friends and cultivate them. Accept an invitation to a social gathering that may come suddenly. Dress nicely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get into some civic work you like and help to make conditions around you better. Handle outside affairs well. Take it easy in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good time to be off to a new place where you can get a different perspective. Concentrate on how better to advance in the future. Find a way to cut down on expenses and save.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study your responsibilities and know how best to discharge them. Show more affection for loved ones and feel happier. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have made an agreement with another and now have to carry through with it conscientiously. A new situation arises that can be very beneficial to you. Take good care of your health.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Good time to improve home surroundings. Be thoughtful with family members and gain more cooperation. Organize monetary affairs better.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will have excellent judgment even as a little child, so give the finest education you can and this can become a very successful life. Not one who cares too much for sports of any kind, only mental gymnastics.

How's The Weather?

FORECAST

Until Saturday

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is expected in the forecast period until Saturday morning, from the central Gulf to the Northeast. Snow is due for the Great Lakes. Sunny and generally mild weather is forecast in the West. Cold weather is expected from the northern Plains to the upper Mississippi Valley. (AP Laser-photo Map)

The sun stuck its head out this afternoon, but by Saturday night, it will be a stranger once again to North Carolina.

Forecasts are calling for rain across the state by Saturday evening, followed by colder temperatures at the start of the new week.

A low pressure now off the Virginia coast gave North Carolina another bout with rain and some thunderstorms Thursday. In fact, some snow was mixed with rain over the northern mountains.

The bad weather moved off into the Atlantic, leaving a day of fair weather for the soggy Tar Heel state. But another broad area of low pressure currently over the Dakotas to Texas will press East over the next two days reaching the Mississippi Valley tonight and spread to the Atlantic Seaboard over the weekend.

Thus, rain is again in the weather forecast for the mountains Saturday with scattered rain spreading to the coast by Saturday night, continuing there on Sunday.

Fog formed over much of the state just after midnight today, but burned off by mid morning. Temperatures cooled into the upper 30s and low 40s over much of the Piedmont to the coast overnight, with the 30s were scattered over the mountains. Today's sunshine helped boost temperatures well into the 50s and low 60s east of the mountains.

Thick clouds and scattered showers kept temperatures from reaching their potential levels Thursday afternoon. The maximums struggled to reach the mid to upper 50s over the coastal area, and some spots never got out of the 40s. Cape Hatteras registered only 45 degrees and Greensboro 47 degrees.

The range fell between 58 degrees at New Bern and Jacksonville to the 45 at Cape Hatteras. Boone, in the northern mountains, reached only 35 degrees with 39 at Fletcher.

Because Thursday's rainfall was not general, the scattered showers produced about two thirds of an inch near the coast and under one third of an inch in other areas.

Registering Pre-Schoolers On March 20

GRIMESLAND — The G. R. Whitfield School will hold pre-school registration Tuesday, March 20, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. for all children who will attend kindergarten at G. R. Whitfield next year.

The registration will be for all children living in the Whitfield district who will be five or six years old on or before Oct. 16, 1979.

The school requests that all parents who have eligible children contact the school before March 13 so that needed forms may be issued before the registration date. Parents may call 752-6614 or come by the school from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for more information.

Parents will need to bring a copy of the child's birth certificate and immunization records for the registration.

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

CRYPTOQUIP

NOBMASO BMCSO XHT GCWWAGMB
NFIVMO GWFXX-VHTIASB

Yesterday's Cryptoquip — SWEET LADY YAWNS DAIN-TILY.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: H equals A

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Has Reason For Pride In TV Show Ratings

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cy Chermak is not an humble man. He's a bit pompous, and something of a braggart.

There are lots of men like that in Hollywood. But Chermak is rare among them.

Cy Chermak has a hit television show at NBC, an accomplishment of no small dimensions.

Chermak's show, "CHiPs," and "Little House on the Prairie" are NBC's only weekly series holding their own in the ratings.

"It's wonderful at NBC when you produce one of only two hits they have," he says. He beams self-content. "It promulgates an attitude of being important to NBC. They don't (mess) with you when you've got one of their two hit shows."

It's hard to resent Chermak's brand of bragging. It's delivered straight, and with a smile. "It's difficult to be humble when you've got their only hit. They return your telephone calls. It's very nice."

Chermak calls himself the "series doctor," a producer-for-hire with a knack of saving other producer's flops. Among his rescues: "Ironside," "The Virginian" and now "CHiPs."

"CHiPs," in case you don't watch TV on Saturday night, is a cop show without blaring guns. Its action is in stunts — chases, car wrecks and the like. After a very shaky beginning two seasons ago, "CHiPs" has made its way to the upper half in the ratings and appears to be getting stronger.

"It started out as a ... flop," he recalls. "There was a change in management and they brought me in. We got a very marginal renewal. But by the end of the first season, we'd changed it from a flop to something that was very respectable."

Chermak says he watched the first 10 episodes of the show when it was really struggling. "They said to me, 'What do you think?'" I said it was a dog. They said, 'Aw, c'mon, it's not that bad.' I told them, yes it was, it was dreadful. They asked me if I would do it, and I said yes.

"I thought the potential was enormous. I said to myself, 'I can be a hero with this show.' The ingredients were there. Larry Wilcox and Erik Estrada (the show's stars) were young, attractive and exciting. And there were stunts. Before 'CHiPs,' if you wanted to see stunts and chases, something like 'Smokey and the Bandit,' you had to get out of your chair and go to a drive-in movie.

You may not believe this, but Chermak has a fine sense of perspective about "CHiPs."

"Let's talk about quality," he says. "To me, quality means a show that can be enjoyed by a broad spectrum of the audience. As a quality show, 'CHiPs' is not high drama. Lawrence Olivier is never gonna call me and ask if he can guest on the show."

"And I don't know if we're ever going to win an Emmy. Every real good dramatic show could beat us out. And we're never going to be a comedy."

"We're just a fast-paced action adventure, well-done, and dammit, there are an awful lot of people who want to come home at night after work, kick off their shoes and have a little fun. The show is fun to watch."

Plan Services For Saturday

Services will be held at Cherry Lane F. W. B. Church Saturday, March 10, 7:30 p.m.

Recommend Cuts Of $800 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee wants $800 million chopped from unspecified areas of President Carter's proposed $131 billion military spending plan for the 1980 budget year.

The Senate committee recommended the cuts Thursday, despite opposition from Mississippi Democrat John Stennis, who says he will continue to push for a smaller cut.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed in heavy trading today, running into some resistance after the rally of the past several sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up more than 5 points in early trading, was off .26 at 844.59 by noon.

The average piled up a net gain of 29.10 points from Monday through Thursday. Gainers held a 2-1 lead over losers in the mid-day tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts say the market's early-March rally, accompanied by rising volume, has been fueled more by hopes than by any concrete developments.

Traders seem optimistic, they said, that President Carter's Middle East trip will lead to a peace agreement between Egypt and Israel.

Some investors also apparently feel that interest rates might be approaching a turning point after their sharp and steady rise last year.

By mid-morning today, however, brokers said sellers who had been waiting for a rise in prices like the one this week began to make their presence felt.

Gambling stocks turned downward after a sharp runup in recent days. Caesars World, which hit a new high on Thursday, fell 3 1/2 to 59 1/2; Bally Manufacturing was off 1 1/4 at 64 1/2, and Del E. Webb dropped 1 1/2 to 22 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index rose .13 to 55.94, and the American Stock Exchange market value index was up .43 at 167.12.

Volume on the Big Board reached 17.81 million shares by noon.

Freeway...

of-way for the project would begin in 1980 as soon as the design phase has been completed. Hopefully, construction will begin in early 1981, with completion probably being sometime in 1983 for sections east and west of Farmville.

Governor Hunt and Bradshaw have both repeatedly termed the Wilson-to-Greenville route the number one priority project of Hunt's administration.

Greenville attorney Tom Taft, currently chairman of the State Ports Authority and a former chairman of the Highway 264 Association, said at a news conference in Greenville yesterday that the fact that two years have been cut from the timetable for the U.S. 264 project is evidence of the concern the Governor has for the highway.

Normally a project such as this takes seven years — from the time it is included in the State's Transportation Improvement Plan until the roadway is completed, Taft indicated.

The Wilson-to-Greenville project will take "five years from start to finish," Taft said.

The U.S. 264 project was added to the Transportation Improvement Plan in January 1978 by the Board of Transportation. Cost of the project has been estimated at $59.1 million, of which $8 million will be required for right-of-way acquisition.

The right-of-way for the freeway — varying from 250 to 480 feet wide — will be located somewhere within the 2,000 foot wide corridor approved by the board today. The corridor runs to the north of the present U.S. 264.

A motion to accept the recommendation was made by George Harper of Kinston, a member of the Board of Transportation. The motion was approved unanimously.

Action by the board will help Governor Hunt fulfill the commitment he made during his campaign to improve east-west transportation in North Carolina.

Seeks Avoid Being Arena

KUWAIT (AP) — The president of North Yemen accused both the United States and the Soviet Union's proteges, Marxist South Yemen, of trying to transform the Yemens into an arena of superpower conflict.

The president, Col. Ali Abdullah Saleh, leveled his charges in an interview with the conservative Kuwait newspaper Alrai Alaam, while border clashes between North and South continued for the 15th day.

"We refuse to be turned into a tool in the hands of the United States or the Soviet Union or to allow the intervention of any superpower through us, though we are keen to be friends with both superpowers," Saleh said.

"The government of Aden is exploding the dispute (between the two Yemens) to serve an international strategy that aims to transform Yemen into an arena of dangerous superpower conflict."

U.S. officials estimate there are up to 1,000 Soviet military advisers in South Yemen, and a Kuwaiti newspaper reported 2,700 Cuban troops and 150 more Soviet advisers recently flew to South Yemen to bolster their Marxist government there.

Recent statements by Defense Secretary Harold Brown, threatening military intervention in the Middle East to protect U.S. interests "added fuel to the conflict's fire and constituted part of the superpower game," Saleh added.

Obituaries

Bullock

Mrs. Claire Barber Bullock died this morning. A Hertford native, she had been an Ayden resident for the past 35 years. She was a member of the Ayden United Methodist Church.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Farmer Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Clyde Dunn. Burial will be in the Ayden Cemetery.

Surviving her are three sons, Garland I. Bullock Jr. of Virginia, Leonard Bullock of Memphis, Tenn. and Thomas G. Bullock of Farmville; two daughters, Mrs. Frank Tester of Raleigh and Mrs. Anne Northrup of Greenville; 18 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Pitt County Retarded Citizens Association, Box 254, Greenville, in care of Mrs. Pennie Dunn, treasurer. The family will receive friends at the funeral home Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Super Pothole Can Hold Car

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — What's 6 feet by 3 feet and bottomless?

A super pothole — large enough to swallow a compact car — located on a busy Interstate 70 bridge near Columbia.

When Missouri Highway patrol officers investigated the citizen band radio messages of frantic motorists about a "bottomless" pothole on a bridge over Hominy Creek, they found the drivers were barely exaggerating: reinforcing bars were the only things keeping cars from falling into the creek.

Efforts to fix the bridge still were going on late Thursday.

Teamsters Ignore Pay Guidelines

By OWEN ULLMANN
 AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Teamsters union is threatening to barrel through President Carter's anti-inflation wage guidelines with pay raise demands that more than double the 7 percent voluntary limit called for by Carter.

The union is asking the trucking industry for a first-year wage increase of 14 percent, sources say, while demanding full cost-of-living protection on top of that.

The 300,000 truck drivers and warehouse workers affected by the contract talks now make an average of $9.40 an hour in straight-time wages.

The union's demand is for a flat $1.35 hourly raise, plus additional increases tied to the inflation rate, said the sources, who requested anonymity.

The current agreement expires March 31. A top union official has expressed confidence the two sides can reach a settlement by the deadline to avert a potentially crippling nationwide strike.

In all, the union is seeking $2.35 over three years, a 25 percent general wage increase. When major fringe benefits and the cost-of-living raises are added, the demand equals a 50 percent to 55 percent boost overall.

One administration official acknowledged Thursday that the union's initial offer is "way above the guidelines." But the official, who declined to be named, said the industry might take a strong stand and hold the union to a settlement within the presidential guidelines.

Carter's inflation fighters have said the 2.1-million-member union will provide a crucial test for the guidelines.

Some officials say the Teamsters, who won wage and fringe increases of more than 11 percent a year in their present three-year pact, could make or break Carter's guidelines.

Woman Injured During Break-In

A woman was reported injured this morning when an intruder entered her apartment.

Police Chief Glenn Cannon said a man wearing a ski mask entered an apartment at 204 N. Elm St at approximately 9:45 this morning.

Cannon said the occupant of the apartment tried to pull off the mask and the man reportedly struck the woman with a gun and fled.

The official said the woman's roommate had left for work apparently leaving the door unlocked.

Cannon said the man had apparently tried to gain entrance to other apartments in the area. Investigation into the incident is continuing.

ter through. Last night's vote to withdraw the proposal from consideration was unanimous.

In another matter, the Council voted to adopt a resolution requesting the N.C. Legislature to amend the Session Laws to increase the number of members on the Greenville Utilities Commission by one member.

Today marks the final deadline for such action before the current Legislature, it was pointed out.

Cox said that a formal request had been made from the black community to increase the GUC membership because the board currently does not have black representation. The action would increase the number of members from six to seven and Cox noted that the new number would provide a situation for the breaking of a tie vote.

The resolution asks that "the Legislators representing Pitt County and the City of Greenville" enact the amendment to Chapter 146 of the 1941 Session Laws, as amended.

Under the amendment, the new member would "be a bona fide resident of the city" and would be appointed by the Council for a five-year term. According to the resolution, "the first person appointed to fill this position shall hold office from the date of the appointment until the first regular Council meeting in March, 1984."

The League representatives asked about the possibility of adding an eighth member in order to have a woman appointed to the Utilities Commission.

It was pointed out that the new seventh member could possibly be a black woman.

The Council voted four to one, with Mrs. Mildred McGrath opposing, to rezone 1.75 acres on the north side of Sixth Street just west of Hollowell's Pharmacy from Medical Arts to Downtown Commercial Fringe, as requested by George S. Attmore, agent for A & P Associates.

Attorney Fred Mattox, representing Attmore, read a letter from the doctors making up the Physician's Quadrangle group in which support was offered for the rezoning request.

Mattox, saying that the structure on the Sixth Street lot is not suitable for medical arts usage, noted that the city made the building a non-conforming use when it adopted the zoning code applying the medical arts designation.

The attorney contended that the building is not encroaching upon any residential use and the immediate neighbors are basically downtown commercial in their zoning designations and not medical arts.

Cox suggested that Office and Institutional zoning would be more appropriate for the tract. Mattox, noting that the Planning Board recommended the CDF designation, said that Attmore had been operating under the CDF authorization in seeking a tenant for the structure.

Attmore, it was explained, has secured prospects for a tenant under the CDF zoning use and doctors in the area have concurred in the tenant prospect.

Mrs. McGrath said that the tract was part of the overall medical arts zone that was designated under the Medical District Development Plan. She said that she had understood some of the doctors had expressed opposition to the rezoning.

East Regional Opens With Two Games

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — outstanding individual statistics. "My teammates respect me and that's half of it," Reed said Thursday after a brief workout.

Gminski Wins ACC Accolade

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Some people think Mike Gminski is the best big man in college basketball.

The Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association thought enough of the Duke center him to name him the conference player of the year Thursday.

Gminski, 6-11 and 245 pounds, handily won the Flucie Stewart Award by garnering 70 of 105 votes cast.

Virginia's Jeff Lamp, the sophomore scoring machine who led the ACC in scoring this season, was second for the honor with 16 votes. Others who received votes were Jim Spanarkel of Duke; Dudley Bradley, Mike O'Koren and Al Wood of North Carolina; Charles "Hawkeye" Whitney of North Carolina State and Bobby Conrad of Clemson.

Gminski was the only unanimous choice for the all-ACC team. He was also named one of the all-tournament five.

As a freshman, Gminski was co-rookie of the year in the league.

Last season as a sophomore, he averaged 20 points and 10 rebounds a game, made all-conference and all-tournament teams and was chosen for the all-star teams in the NCAA playoffs in the Eastern Regional and the finals. His 29 points against Notre Dame last year led Duke into the national championship game with Kentucky.

He was also chosen for the Academic All-America team last year.

Despite tight defensive tactics by Duke's opponents, Gminski averaged 18.9 points a game this season, second in the conference. His 9.2 rebounding average was also second. He was fifth in field-goal accuracy with just over 52 percent, and he hit 72 percent of his free throws.

His sharp shooting touch makes him a potent outside shooting force, and his strength under the basket is not to be denied.

Gminski began playing for the Blue Devils when he was 17 years old after skipping his senior year in high school. He set a high school scoring record at Monroe, Conn.

at North Carolina State University's Reynolds Coliseum, the site of tonight's first round in the NCAA East Regional.

"Our offense is motion-oriented and I like that," he said. "My job is really easy on this team."

Reed has dished out a school record 205 assists, has 1,017 points and is averaging 16 per game to lead the 13th-ranked Owls. All of the Temple starters boast of scoring averages in double figures.

The Owls, the only ranked team that failed to draw a bye for the playoffs, battled St. John's at 7 p.m. Iona was paired with Penn in the nightcap at 9:30 p.m.

The winner of the Temple-St. John's matchup meets second-seeded and sixth-ranked Duke, while the Iona-Penn victor is paired with top-seeded and No. 3 North Carolina.

It will be Temple's second meeting with St. John's this season. The Owls eked out a 74-73 victory over the Redmen on the road, and Reed predicted a second triumph for the Owls.

"If we can control the tempo and the boards, I think we can win it," Reed said.

Temple Coach Don Casey wasn't as outwardly confident. "St. John's is a total team," said Casey, who is recuperating from a bout with a virus that briefly hospitalized him. "They're playing even more total now than they were when we played them before."

Reed said the key to defeating St. John's is to stop guard Reggie Carter and 6-9 center Wayne McCoy, both of whom are averaging 14.7 points per game.

The Redmen were defeated by Iona 63-57 in the East Coast Athletic Conference playoffs, and they finished the regular season with an 18-10 mark. St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca, who had thought his squad would have to settle for the National Invitation Tournament, was surprised by the NCAA bid.

Coach Jim Valvano of Iona (23-6) has built the New Rochelle school into the top New York City metropolitan area team, largely on the abilities of

Wife Helped Levi's Attitude

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — A change in attitude — prompted by some stern lectures from his wife Judy — was the key factor in the turnaround of Wayne Levi's golfing fortunes.

"Attitude," he said. "That's the whole thing. It's a change in attitude, and it's all because of my wife."

"We got married last October. She's very much sports-oriented. I'd been hitting the ball pretty good for a couple of years, but I'd let myself get upset about a bad shot and then go along and miss a short putt I should have made for birdie."

"She saw it right away. And she got on my case real bad. I needed it. It was just exactly what I needed. Now I don't let a bad shot bother me. I don't give up. I keep on playing as hard as I can."

That change in attitude helped him to a share of the 1978 National Team championship and a third-place finish in Pensacola, accounting for most of the $25,000 he won last season. He's already surpassed that this year, with more than $33,000, and Thursday he found himself in a tie with veteran Tommy Aaron for the first-round lead in the $300,000 Jackie Gleason-Inverrary Classic.

Levi and Aaron, who share the same birthday — Feb. 23, but separated by 16 years — had matching 66s Thursday and were a single shot in front of Larry Nelson.

A group at 68 was made up of British Ryder Cup player Mark James, Australian veteran Bruce Devlin and Charles Coody.

Ray Floyd, Jim Simons, Mark Hayes, U.S. Open champ Andy North and Tom Purtzer were at 69, three shots under par on the 7,127 yard Inverrary Country Club course.

Jack Nicklaus, the winner of the last three tournaments on this course, shot a 74 and must improve in the second round if he is to qualify for the weekend play.

"I just haven't got it (his golf game) sharp yet. It just needs more work," Nicklaus said. "I really didn't play all that badly. It's just that every time I made a mistake it cost me a bogey and every time I got the ball close to the hole I missed the putt."

He wasn't alone in his difficulties, however. Lon Hinkle, the season's leading money-winner, shot 76 and withdrew. Jerry Pate shot a fat 81. Andy Bean, who has been in title contention a half-dozen times this year, blew to a 78. And Tom Weiskopf withdrew before finishing his round.

Sam Snead had 74 and Lee Trevino shot 73.

Coe College won every home game in football in 1978 and lost every game on the road.

Knights Bow In Tournament

KINSTON — Hosting Bethel Academy won the varsity and girls championships in its own invitational basketball tournament last night, knocking off Greenville Christian Academy in both games.

The boys fell to Bethel, 66-62, while the girls were on the short end of a 30-20 score. The Greenville Christian junior varsity, however, won its championship, downing Mt. Calvary, 41-31.

In the boys' game, Greenville slipped into a 15-12 lead in the first period, then held off Bethel to hold only a 28-27 halftime lead.

Bethel charged ahead in the third period, outscoring Greenville, 17-11, for a 44-39 lead. Greenville tried to rally, 23-22, but fell short.

Brown led Bethel with 26 points, while Summerlin had 12 and Williams had 10. Steve Tyburski led Greenville with 20 points, while Ben Haddock and Marshall Crumpler each had 11.

The Knights finished the season with a 13-7 record. In the girls' game, Bethel edged ahead, 4-3, after one period, but the Lady Knights took a 10-8 halftime lead.

Bethel pulled away in the third period, however, and held an 18-15 lead after the frame ended. Bethel outscored Greenville, 12-5, in the final quarter.

Cindy Nobles led Bethel with 10 points.

The tournament ended the season for the Knights.

6-11 Jeff Ruland, who is averaging 24.6 points per game.

Penn Coach Bob Weinbauer, whose squad compiled a 21-5 record, said the first-round matchups "were almost exactly what I expected. Except I thought that maybe St. John's might go to the NIT."

Penn co-captain Bobby Willis said as long as the Quakers are involved in the NCAA playoffs, he has no gripes over the tournament sites.

"I'd rather be playing in North Carolina than be shipped out to Tennessee or Kansas or somewhere else," Willis said. "I'm just looking forward to the tournament."

Meanwhile, Duke Coach Bill Foster said he would begin formulating a game plan immediately after he learns who the Blue Devils will face Sunday. He said a meeting with St. John's, a team that beat Duke earlier this season, "would be nice" but "at this point anybody can win. There's no sense in rooting for one over the other."

Duke, 22-7, will be without the services of two starters. Point guard Bob Bender underwent an appendectomy last weekend and forward Kenny Dennard suffered a sprained right ankle during practice on Wednesday.

Foster said senior John Harrell will start for Bender and freshman Vince Taylor will open at Dennard's position.

North Carolina Coach Dean Smith said he has no preference between Iona or Penn as an opponent on Sunday.

"You can't control it anyway," said Smith, whose Tar Heels, 23-5, clinched the Atlantic Coast Conference championship by defeating Duke last weekend. He said the odds of meeting Duke to decide the East representative to the final four "aren't too great. You would have to play great teams all the way down the line."

Conley Opens With 4-0 Win

WILLIAMSTON — D.H. Conley High School opened the 1979 baseball season with a 4-0 victory over Williamston High School yesterday.

The entire game was played in the rain, which caused both teams to have fielding problems. However, Conley was able to contain the Tigers defensively and keep them scoreless.

Conley broke the scoring ice in the third inning, scoring a run. R. Lassiter walked as did M. Dixon. A single by A. Credle brought in Lassiter for a 1-0 lead.

The second run came in the sixth. Wilson walked and stole second, scoring when Spencer reached on a single and an error.

Two more came over in the seventh. Page reached on an error and scored when Dixon advanced on an out and scored on another.

Williamston travels to North Pitt on Tuesday, while Conley is at Washington on Tuesday.

Rain forced the cancellation or postponement of several athletic events yesterday in the area.

East Carolina University's baseball game at UNC Charlotte was wiped out by the rain. No new date was set for the game, and it may not be rescheduled.

A baseball game between Southern Wayne and Farmville Central, on the Jaguar field, was tentatively reset for Saturday afternoon.

Tennis matches between East Carteret and Farmville, and Eastern Wayne and Greene Central, have been reset for this afternoon.

East Carolina's baseball Pirates open their home season tomorrow afternoon at 2 p.m. against the University of Connecticut at Harrington Field.

The Pirates come into the home stand following four tough road games. A contest with UNC Charlotte, scheduled for yesterday, was rained out.

The Bucs opened up against the University of South Carolina in Columbia, and then played two games against Clemson University on the Tigers' home field. From these four, the Pirates were able to win just one game.

Coach Monte Little said earlier that he would be extremely happy if he could come away with a split in the four games, but the Pirate hitting was not quite up to what the Pirate pitching was able to do.

In only one game, the first, were the Pirates able to get the bats around in good order, gaining a 4-3 ten-inning win over South Carolina. The next day, they were blanked, 5-0, by the Gamecocks.

Clemson, which had lost its opening game, and then won five in a row, topped the Pirates in the first game, 2-1, and won the second, 1-0, despite a three-hitter by Mickey Britt.

Little will have to be pleased with the pitching, but probably won't be too happy with the hitting of the Pirates during that road trip.

Still, against the likes of such teams as Clemson and South Carolina, the results were not all that bad.

The bulk of the schedule from here on out is at home. A total of 41 games remain on the schedule, and only eight of those are on the road. Should the Pirates be able to come through in the games at Harrington, plus those few road appearances, their chances of getting into the NCAA regionals would not be lessened by their performance against Clemson and South Carolina. And they will have two more shots at the Gamecocks at the end of the season when South Carolina visits Greenville in May.

Blue Devil Problems

Whether Duke University's Blue Devils can survive the latest of their problems will be known Sunday.

Duke will face the winner of tonight's Temple-St. John's game Sunday afternoon. Bob Bender will definitely be out of action, and should Duke even go to the finals on March 26, it is unlikely that he would be able to return to action after his appendix operation.

Added to that loss is the ankle injury to Kenny Dennard, listed as doubtful for Sunday's game. That will probably give Duke its toughest test in the game Sunday.

Should they get past that, Dennard will likely be ready for the next game, next Friday night.

Duke, however, should be able to adjust mentally better to Dennard's injury than to Bender's illness. The suddenness of the latter, coupled with the doubts that must have filled the minds of the Duke players as to Bender's condition probably weighted more on them than when Dennard was injured.

Threatened

ATLANTA (AP) — A threatening letter sent to driver Donnie Allison has prompted Atlanta International Raceway officials to increase security for races March 17 and 18.

The track's vice president, Bobby Batson, said Thursday, "We have talked to the sheriff's department (in Henry County) about this because they are in charge of our security. Our grandstand security will be beefed considerably" for the International Race of Champions on March 17 and the Atlanta 500 on March 18.

At a news conference here Thursday, Allison's brother Bobby said he and Donnie were "concerned" about the letter.

"You can't disregard them (the threats) because they might be serious," he said. "But you can't buckle under to them either."

A fist fight broke out between the Allison brothers and Cale Yarborough at the Daytona 500 after Donnie Allison and Yarborough were involved in a wreck on the last lap.

The writer of the Atlanta-postmarked letter identified himself as a Yarborough fan and threatened to get revenge during one of the races here, the Atlanta Constitution reported.

Thursday to beat South Stokes 60-50 in the opening round of the girl's 3-A basketball tournament.

Leading scorer for South Stokes and for the game was Betsy Covington, whose 25 points were half her team's total.

In the second game in girl's 3-A, Davie's Jill Amos got 19 points to lead her team to a 56-43 victory over West Carteret.

Davie led throughout the game, controlling the boards with 48 rebounds.

The action in girl's 4-A saw one easy win and one tough one.

Wilson Fike went into overtime against East Burke, winning 59-53. In the other 3-A game, Garner plays High Point Andrews.

Unbeaten Dixon kept up its winning ways with a 47-37 win over Avery County in the semifinals of the 2-A girls tournament Thursday. Leading scorer was Teresa Milner with 13.

In the other 2-A game, East Lincoln posted a 44-37 win over Eastman with Sharon Barnett's 18 points leading the way.

Dixon and East Lincoln meet tonight, as do Parkwood and Central Davidson, in the 2-A semifinals.

Rosena Jones and Shiela Ford combined for all but six of Clarkton's points in its 48-44 win over Princeton in 1-A girls action Thursday.

Jones led the fast break against Princeton's zone for 22 points, and Ford added 20.

Forty-Team Dogfight Gets Going State Wins; Heels Defeated

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

"The season, that's the meat; this is the dessert."

The dessert, as reserve center Keith Jackson of the University of Detroit put it, is the NCAA basketball tournament, a 40-team dogfight that gets underway with eight first-round games tonight. It builds to a climax March 26 in Salt Lake City with the crowning of a successor to last year's college champion, Kentucky.

While most of the nation's powers received first-round byes and won't swing into action until Saturday or Sunday, 17th-ranked Detroit, 22-5, takes on Lamar, 22-8, in one of the Midwest Regional first-round games tonight at Murrellsboro, Tenn.

No. 20 Tennessee, 20-11 and winner of the Southeastern Conference tournament, goes against Eastern Kentucky, 21-7, winner of the Ohio Valley Conference tourney, in the other Midwest first-round.

In the East Regional at Raleigh, N.C., St. John's, N.Y., 18-10, plays No. 13 Temple, 25-3; and Iona, 23-5, meets Penn, 21-5; in the Midwest Regional at Lawrence, Kan., Virginia Tech, 21-8, takes on Jacksonville, 19-10, and Weber State, 24-8, opposes New Mexico State, 22-9; and in the West Regional at Los Angeles, Utah, 20-9, plays Pepperdine, 21-9, and Southern Cal, 19-8, goes against Utah State, 19-10.

Although Detroit beat such teams as No. 11 Georgetown and No. 12 Marquette during the regular season, Lamar Coach Billy Tubbs says his club is not intimidated.

"Our guys don't seem overly enthused, excited or fired up," said Tubbs. "They're taking it all in stride. But by the time the game gets here, we'll definitely be ready to play."

"The difference in our ball clubs is we haven't beaten anybody ranked and they have, but it's probably our turn now," added Tubbs. "We may be No. 40 in a field of 40, but we're in the NCAA playoffs."

Despite being ranked 20th nationally, Tennessee's 20-11 record is the worst of the six teams in the Midwest Regional and the Vols are 0-4 in NCAA tournament play. Thus Coach Don DeVoe is confident his team won't be looking past Eastern Kentucky.

"We can get things completely out of proportion if we think about anything but Eastern," said DeVoe. "They're good or they wouldn't be here. The mere fact that the University of Tennessee has never won an NCAA game will be a great motivating factor for us."

Eastern Kentucky's 21-7 record is its best since 1947, yet the school has received as little notice as any team in the tournament. "Schools with regional names have identity problems, I guess," said Eastern Kentucky Coach Ed Byhre, "but I don't think that we or the Ohio Valley Conference have anything to be ashamed of."

Temple beat St. John's 74-73 in New York during the regular season, and the Redmen were something of a surprise selection for the NCAAs after losing to Iona 63-57 in the ECAC New York-New Jersey playoff.

New Mexico State is hoping to repeat its 63-58 regular-season victory over Weber State. Virginia Tech, winner of the Metro Conference tournament, takes an eight-game winning streak into its game against Jacksonville, which is enjoying a resurgence under first-year Coach Tates Locke.

"Jacksonville went five years in a row winning 20 games," noted Locke. "We're trying to breach the gap between the winning tradition and now, and we're having fun trying to give the people something to talk about."

Southern Cal, making its first NCAA playoff appearance since 1961, has won nine of its last 11 games, but Coach Bob Boyd has plenty of respect for Utah State.

"They're a strong, quick, good perimeter shooting team," said Boyd, who announced in midseason that he was resigning at the end of this year. "They've already beaten four teams in the NCAA tourney — Brigham Young, Utah, Pacific and Weber State — and that gives them credibility."

Center Cliff Robinson, Southern Cal's leading scorer, has missed the last six games because of a sprained left foot and may not play tonight.

The Pepperdine-Utah game could be decided in the pivot, where Pepperdine's 6-foot-9 sophomore, Tom Chambers, could have his hands full with Utah's Ray Ellis, a 7-foot senior.

"Ellis is huge, experienced and strong," said Utah Coach Jerry Pimm. "For us to win, I think we'll need a super game out of Chambers."

Matt Bahr kicked 22 field goals for Penn State in 1978, an NCAA major-college record.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — It will be Tennessee against South Carolina and North Carolina State jumping off against Old Dominion tonight in the semifinal round of the Intercollegiate Athletics for Women Region II women's basketball tournament.

Tennessee's Lady Vols, last year's Region II AIAW basketball champs and 26-7 this season, advanced by virtue of its 89-61 win over Clemson in opening round play Thursday night.

Five Lady Vols scored in double figures with All-American standout Cindy Brogdon leading the parade. She hit for 26 points, followed by Debbie Grabber, with 15, Cindy Ely, with 14, and Jeri Lynn Harper and Kathy O'Neil with 10 apiece.

Clemson's Barbara Kennedy accounted for 29 points and Bobbie Mims hit for 16 for the losers.

With the loss, Clemson's record drops to 22-10. Meanwhile, North Carolina State jumped out to an early lead and Tennessee Tech never recovered as the Wolfpack went on to post an 89-72 victory in another opening round contest.

Ginger Rouse sparked North Carolina State, pumping in 21 points and snaring 8 rebounds. She was joined by Ronnie Laughlin and Trudi Lacy who each finished with 16 points.

Tennessee Tech was led by Pam Chambers who finished the night with 22 points. Tech's Carmen Dowdell hit on 16 points and collected 8 rebounds.

With the win, North Carolina State brought its season record to 26-6, while Tennessee Tech now carries a 24-9 slate.

In still earlier first round action Thursday night, Nancy Lieberman scored a game-high 27 points to lead Old Dominion over North Carolina 81-60.

Lieberman sank 12 of 21 floor shots for the victorious and No. 1-ranked Lady Monarchs as they ran their season record to 29-1. Bernie McGlade had 22 points and 15 rebounds for North Carolina, which wound up its season at 18-14.

Rounding out Thursday night play, Katrina Anderson scored 20 points and grabbed 10 rebounds as her South Carolina squad battled from behind to defeat Morehead State 70-64.

South Carolina's Lady Gamecocks pushed ahead 34-31 at halftime and won despite never being able to build a substantial lead in the contest. Morehead State's Robin Harmon had a game-high 24 points.

Greensboro Page's basketball team collapsed around James Worthy Thursday night, but not in the way one might think.

The collapse refers to the 2-1-2 defense Page used to pull an upset in the high school boys' 4-A semifinals, beating Gastonia Ashbrook 58-51. Page held Worthy to 20 points and seven rebounds.

Leading Page, now 23-5, was David Dupont with 18 points, 14 of them coming on free throws.

The win sets the stage for a Greensboro battle tonight in the finals.

In the other 4-A semifinal game, Greensboro Grimsley outlasted Raleigh Enloe for a 96-78 rout.

With 2:42 to go in the third period, Enloe led by one, 53-52. But Grimsley quickly got control and led by as much as 20. Leading scorer for Grimsley, now 27-1, was Jeff Anderson with 35.

In 3-A action, the results were much as predicted. Dominique Wilkins shot over, around and everywhere else, garnering 29 points in Washington's 84-47 win over Albemarle.

In the second game, Canton Pisgah jumped off to a 12 point lead but needed a follow shot with four seconds left by Kevin Haney to edge West Brunswick 49-47. Haney led all scorers with 18 points.

Pisgah, 22-3, meets Washington tonight in the semifinals.

In the second semifinal 3-A game, Rockingham and South Lenoir play.

Monroe and Bandys came out the victors in 2-A action Thursday.

Donald Allen with 26 points led Monroe to a 70-62 win over Jones Senior, and Allen made the game's last seven points at the free throw line in the final 32 seconds.

Bandys edged Currituck 51-49 when Alan Deal made a 10-foot jump shot with seven seconds left. Deal paced the Trojans with 17 points.

Bandys and Monroe play tonight in the semifinals, and defending champ Wake Forest-Rolesville faces Ledford.

Leonard McKay and Darryl Neil combined for 70 points Thursday night to lead Clarkton to a 92-82 victory over Garland in the semifinals of the 1-A tournament.

Clarkton, 23-1, will meet the winner of tonight's Tryon-Belhaven game on Saturday for the 1-A championship.

McKay had 36 points and Neil scored 34, including 22 in the second half.

Trio Share Sunstar Lead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Veteran Shirley Englehorn gave young Vicki Fergon a golf lesson in Palm Springs the other day. Perhaps the student should have been instructing the teacher.

Fergon, in just her third year on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, shot the best competitive round of her life, a 4-under-par 68, to share the lead in the $100,000 Sunstar Classic entering today's second round.

Sandra Spuzich and Jerilyn Britz matched Fergon's effort on Thursday as the chase began for the $15,000 first prize being offered in the 72-hole Sunstar, which finishes Sunday at the 6,268-yard, par 37-35 Rancho Park golf course.

"The lesson really helped me," said Fergon of her session with Englehorn, a member of the LPGA since 1959 who carded a 76 in the Sunstar's first round. "I just played my game today. I knew I was going to play well."

"I missed a lot of cuts last year and was discouraged at times," added the 23-year-old Fergon, who earned just $11,794 in 32 events to rank 62nd on the LPGA earnings list. "I expect to do a lot better this year."

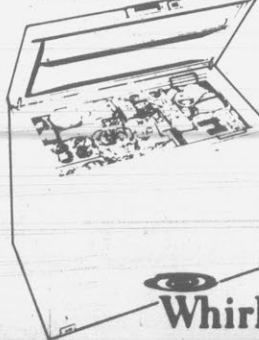

Defending champion Nancy Lopez, who won nine tournaments and earned a record $189,814 last year, was just two strokes off the pace after the first round. The 22-year-old Lopez was tied at 70 with rookie pro Cathy Sherk.

Next at 71 were Pat Bradley, Dale Lundquist, Barbara Barrow, Joan Joyce and Lily Wu. Six players, including Amy Alcott and Hollis Stacy, were at even-par 72, while 15 players came in at 73 and another 15 had scores of 74.

The field of 103 pros and five amateurs will be cut to the low 70 and ties following the second round.

Alcorn State Win More Than A Win

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

It was much more than a basketball game for Alcorn State, a small, predominantly black school in Lorman, Miss., seeking to make its mark in the big time.

The Braves, getting a buzzer-beating basket by Larry Smith, rose to the occasion Thursday night and defeated Mississippi State 80-78 in the first round of the National Invitation Tournament.

"This game has a special meaning for a lot of small schools, not just black colleges, but all small schools," Whitney said. "A lot of people don't give them a chance."

Whitney, whose team is now 28-0, says those who downgrade Alcorn because of its schedule now have to "eat a few words." And he repeated his contention that the Braves should be ranked among the nation's best. Indiana State, the only other unbeaten major college team, is ranked No. 1.

It was the first basketball game ever played in Mississippi between a small, predominantly black school and a large, predominantly white university. Alcorn State plays in the unheralded Southwestern Athletic Conference while Mississippi State is a member of the prestigious Southeastern Conference.

Smith's eight-footer capped a comeback that erased an 11-point Mississippi State lead, 68-57, with 6:03 left in the game. Alcorn State had trailed by as many as 16 points in the first half.

Smith said teammate Joe Jenkins was to have taken the final shot but "the ball ended up in my hands. I just went up and the next thing I knew the ball was going off the glass and going in."

Smith, a 6-foot-8 forward who led Alcorn State in the regular season with averages of 17.6 points and 14 rebounds per game, topped the Braves with 19 points. Wiley Peck was high scorer for Mississippi State with 22, including 15 in the second half.

Peck's stuff and free throw gave the Bulldogs a 68-57 lead, but the Braves' tenacious full-court press disrupted the Mississippi State attack. Alcorn ran off nine consecutive points and forged ahead 78-76 on Smith's steal and basket with 1:23 left.

Brown hit a 15-foot jumper to tie it at 78 with 50 seconds left and Alcorn worked the ball for the last shot.

In other first-round NIT games Thursday night, Indiana whipped Texas Tech 78-59, Purdue beat Central Michigan 97-80, Dayton defeated Holy Cross 105-81, Alabama trimmed St. Bonaventure 98-89 and Texas A&M topped New Mexico 79-68.

Pairings for the second-round NIT games, to be played March 12, are Alcorn State against Indiana, Nevada-Reno against Texas A&M, Ohio State against Maryland, Old Dominion against Clemson, Virginia against Alabama and Dayton against Purdue.

That will reduce the field to six teams. Two will then be chosen in a blind draw and receive berths in the semifinals; the other four will meet in third-round games to determine the other semifinalists. The semifinals and finals will be played at New York's Madison Square Garden March 19 and 21.

Mike Woodson, a junior forward, scored 30 points as Indiana handed Texas Tech its worst homecourt defeat in 48 years, jumping out to a 15-2 lead and coasting home.

The Red Raiders, who missed their first eight shots and 18 of their first 20, shot 19 percent for the first half and 35 percent for the game. Indiana, by contrast, made 32 of 45 for 71 percent.

"You can't spot a team like Indiana that many points," said Texas Tech Coach Gerald Myers. "Even when they had the big lead they kept working for the good shots. We started gambling but we only seemed to get in a bigger hole."

"It seemed like we didn't have our hearts in it. This was embarrassing for the team, for Texas Tech and the Southwest Conference."

Indiana Coach Bobby Knight said "We played very well. When you get off to as start like that you are in good shape and they are in a bind."

Freshman Mike Searce came off the bench to score a career-high 26 points and reserve center Neil Bemenderfer contributed a career-high 17 as Purdue beat Central Michigan.

"We had exceptional performances from two players who have not contributed much offensively," said Purdue Coach Lee Rose, referring to Searce and Bemenderfer. "Bemenderfer played extremely well. He's come a long way since I first saw him."

About Searce, who hit 11 of 18 from the field, Rose said, "He has his limitations, but one is not — when he's hot — shooting."

Jim Paxson scored 29 points and fast-breaking Dayton shot 60 percent from the field against Holy Cross in posting its highest total in 38 NIT games.

"They are an exceptionally classy team," Holy Cross Coach George Blaney said of Dayton. "We tried as many as six or seven defenses and they shot us out of all of them."

Reggie King scored 29 points and became Alabama's single-season record holder with 644 points as the Tide beat St.

Bonaventure. Alabama led 48-40 at halftime and scored the first eight points of the second half, saw the Bonnies pull within two with five minutes to go and then pulled away at the finish.

Sophomore forwards Rynn Wright and Vernon Smith scored 23 points each to power Texas A&M past New Mexico.

The Aggies made 31 of 50 field goal attempts, 62 percent, Wright hitting 10 of 11 and Smith 11 of 15.

"We were like a watchspring before the game, we were so tight," said New Mexico Coach Norm Ellenberger. "In the locker room we were nervous, you could feel it."

Pitt Junior Champs

Uniform Products Liability Law Moves In Senate

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A bill that would establish a uniform products liability law, placing limits on the ability of consumers to sue, is on its way to the full Senate after getting approval from a Senate committee.

The Senate Manufacturing,

Labor and Commerce Committee amended the bill first, however, to provide less immunity to manufacturers.

The amendments were seen as a response to consumer groups and trial lawyers, who criticized the original bill, saying it would take away a consumer's right to sue for injury caused by defective products. Sen. Robert Jordan, D-Montgomery, the bill's sponsor, offered an amendment to remove a provision that would have given manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers an indisputable defense in court cases. The defense would be an assumption that a product was manufactured in conformity with the prevailing state of the art.

In other legislative action:

Terms

The Senate gave final approval to a proposed constitutional amendment that would extend the terms for state legislators from two years to four years. The measure now goes to the House, where a three-fifths majority is needed before the amendment can be put to a public referendum.

Senate approval came on a 32-15 vote, just three votes more than the three-fifths needed.

Opponents sought to send the bill to another committee, arguing it would cost the state $12,000 to hold the required election.

But the sponsor, Sen. Henson Barnes, D-Wayne, said the legislature's fiscal research staff said a statewide vote on the amendment would not require additional money.

Senate minority leader Sen. Donald Kincaid, R-Caldwell, labeled the proposed amendment self-serving at best. He circulated a letter Thursday urging voters write House members in an effort to get the amendment killed.

Savings & Loans

The House Banking Committee delayed action until next week on a Hunt administration proposal that would ensure consumers dominate state boards regulating the banking industry. The committee adjourned rather than face a vote on an amendment, backed by lobbyists for savings and loan associations, that would have exempted the state Savings and Loan Commission.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Ruth Cook, D-Wake, would require that the governor in the future appoint a majority of consumers — without industry ties — to the state commissions regulating banks, savings and loans and credit unions.

"If you pass this, you are allowing the savings and loan commission to have a majority of members from the industry they're regulating. You're allowing them to regulate themselves," Rep. Al Adams, D-Wake, said of the amendment.

Ports

A bill was filed in the House that would separate the state Ports Authority from its small railroad operation. The measure is aimed at removing the ports operations from a national railroad act, which has forced the state to allow collective bargaining with a union representing ports workers.

Insurance

Rep. Robert Jordan, D-Montgomery, filed a bill that would require automobile insurance companies to notify policy holders when their policies have been sent to the state Reinsurance Facility. The bill would also require the companies to tell policyholders why their policies are being turned over to the facility.

The reinsurance facility is a pool for high-risk automobile drivers, in which all insurance companies doing business in the state share the coverage risks.

Banks

The House Banking Committee approved and sent to the full House a bill that would remove most of the state's interest ceilings on short-term business loans. The bill has already been passed by the Senate.

It would set a 12 percent interest rate cap on loans under $25,000 and leave no limit on larger loans. It would replace a complicated structure now in use that ranges from an 8 percent cap on some loans to an unlimited ceiling on loans of more than $300,000.

Annexation

A bill that, if passed, would mean a substantial change in the state's current annexation laws came up before the Senate Judiciary II Committee Thursday for a public hearing.

The bill would allow areas outside the limits of a city to vote on bond issues used to finance the extension of city water and sewer lines into their area.

But the bill is seen both by those in favor of it and those opposed as a means to stop cities from annexing areas without the consent of residents in those areas.

Onslow County Commissioner Herschel Brown, one of those speaking in favor of the bill, said that currently, "there is no representation for those whom the city is going to annex. The city can impose annexation despite their wishes."

Several city officials spoke against the measure. Jim Melvin, mayor of Greensboro and president of the N.C. League of Municipalities, said individuals who live in an urban-type area must anticipate annexation.

Domestic Violence

A committee substitute for a bill to give law enforcement officers more authority in dealing with domestic violence was given a favorable report by the Senate Judiciary II Committee.

The committee substitute eliminates part of the bill in which a person accused of violence against a spouse can be jailed for 24 hours if a judicial officer determines that, if released, he or she is liable to commit further violence. It also gives law officers more discretion in handling such cases.

Notice Of Intent Filed For Hospital Addition

Jack W. Richardson, Director of Pitt Co. Memorial Hospital, filed notice Mar. 2 of intent to incur a capital expenditure for the purpose of constructing 166 additional hospital (tertiary) beds and modifying existing beds to allow for 20 Intensive Care Unit beds at the hospital.

The project is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1981 and is estimated to cost $5,320,000.

The project has been submitted to the Certificate of Need Section of the Division of Facility Services of the N. C. Department of Human Resources for review by planning agencies under provision of the Social Security Amendments of 1972.

The planning agencies, in examining the proposal, will seek to determine whether the project is needed, if it can be adequately staffed and operated, whether it is economically feasible within prevailing rate structures, and if it proposes specific cost-containment features.

Copies of the proposal have been referred to the Office of Administration, Div. of Facility

Services, and to the Eastern Carolina Health Systems Agency, Inc., Greenville, for review as required by federal law.

In its role as coordinator of project reviews, the Certificate of Need Section will receive the advice of state and regional agencies about the conformity of the project to their standards and criteria. The Department will then decide on the recommendation to be made to the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare concerning the project.

Multiplication Tables Train For Quick Recall

By REBECCA BUFFALO, Reflector Staff Writer

Farmville Middle School students are doing the "multiplication push" to strengthen their quick recall skills.

With the increased emphasis on knowledge of basic skills, Farmville math teachers decided that children in the middle school needed work on quick recall of multiplication tables prior to entering high school-level courses such as algebra and trigonometry.

According to Beth Ward, assistant principal, for the past six weeks, all students have been given two-minute time tests to ascertain their quick recall skills.

"We've used flash cards, records and other resources, as well as daily drills," said Mrs. Ward.

When a child received a perfect score on the Friday time drill, he/she was named a "Time Tiger" and received a certificate.

A number of children served as "Fact Finders" button holding children in the school corridors, asking multiplication questions and passing out prizes to winners. Some tests were even given over the intercom to get the children primed for the Friday quizzes.

The school sent home letters, informing parents of the "push." Children who were having problems were sent home with flash cards and other materials to strengthen their skills.

Thursday, March 8, was "reckoning day" for Farmville Middle students, as those who had made perfect scores were allowed a day off from school. Those who had problems with the quizzes were included in small instructional groups.

Mrs. Ward was proud to announce that thanks to the educational "push," only 86 out of Farmville Middle's approximately 650 students came for remediation Thursday.

"The 'push' has been very successful," commented Mrs. Ward. "All of our students were involved with this, from lower levels on up. Everyone worked really hard."

Mrs. Ward noted that one of Farmville Middle's math teachers, Mrs. Cathy Crawford, has aided in coordination of the "push" program.

According to Mrs. Jane Huffman, Farmville Middle is the first school in Pitt County to use the "push" technique. Mrs. Huffman serves as director of math resources for county schools.

"I had first heard of this type of program in Wake County schools, but as far as I know, this is the first for our county," Mrs. Huffman noted.

"This is just part of a statewide emphasis on learning basic skills prior to high school," she added.

Final Seminar Planned Sunday

WINTERVILLE — The final seminar on "The Christian Coping With Grief" will be conducted Sunday at 7 p.m. at the Winterville Missionary Baptist Church.

The guest discussion leader will be Dr. Robert Dillard with the pediatrics department of the ECU School of Medicine. His program topic will be "Telling a Child About Death."

Interested persons are invited to attend. A nursery will be provided.

Quarterly Meet This Weekend

Quarterly meeting will be observed at Rock Spring FWB Church this weekend.

Friday at 7:30 p.m. Quarterly Conference will be held. Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Holy Communion will be observed, with Elder J. S. Lucas and St. Paul FWB Church in charge. Sunday at 11 a.m. Bishop W. L. Phillips, the Senior Choir and Ushers will be in charge. Sunday at 3 p.m. Vice Bishop J. H. Vines and Lewis' Chapel Church will be in charge. Lunch will be served at 2 p.m.

The public is invited, according to the pastor, Bishop W. L. Phillips.

The Battling Rideouts Turn To Divorce Step

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — John Rideout, acquitted in a widely publicized trial of raping his wife, says her decision to file for divorce two months after their reconciliation is "the final straw." "This is the final straw. There's no turning back," Rideout said Thursday after learning that his wife, Greta, had filed a divorce petition in Marion County Circuit.

The couple announced their reconciliation Jan. 6 and told reporters they were happier than they had ever been. But Rideout, who turned 22 Thursday, said he had not seen his wife or their 2½-year-old daughter, Jenny, since shortly before he received a note Tuesday from Mrs. Rideout saying she was leaving him.

Earlier this week, Rideout said, he learned that his wife had told a reporter that everything was not "peachy-keen" in their marriage. "She left me everything here except her makeup and her car," said Rideout, referring to the north Salem residence they leased shortly after their reconciliation. "All of hers and Jenny's clothes are still here."

Last Dec. 27, a jury of eight women and four men acquitted Rideout in what was believed to be the first case in the United States of a man being charged with rape by a wife with whom he was living.

Mrs. Rideout could not be reached for comment Thursday.

The latest separation is the couple's fourth since their marriage Nov. 15, 1976.

It came as no surprise to Charles Burt, one of the two lawyers who represented Rideout at his trial. "It's exactly what I expected," he said. "It fits the same pattern. They have separated and reconciled repeatedly, and it's a pretty tough history."

"They're just youngsters with a lot of problems," Rideout said Thursday that his wife recently asked him to join her in seeing a marriage counselor. "I said, 'fine' but I never heard anything more about it," Rideout said.

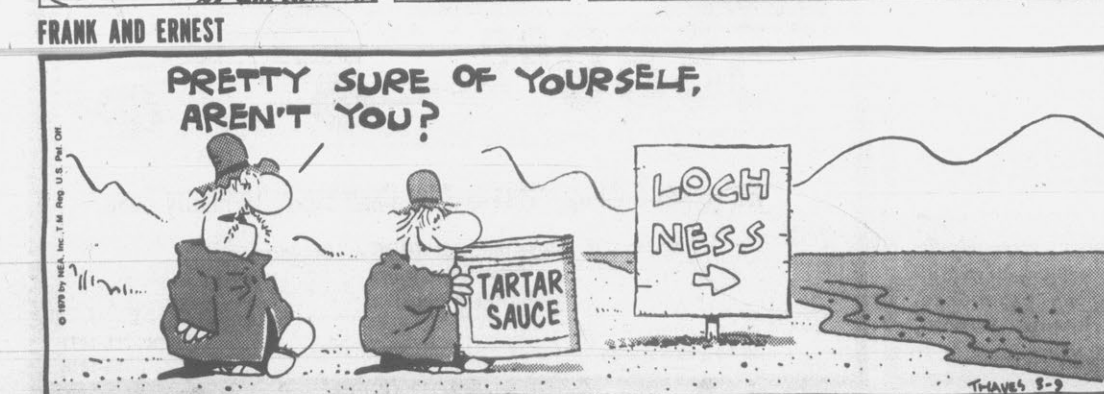

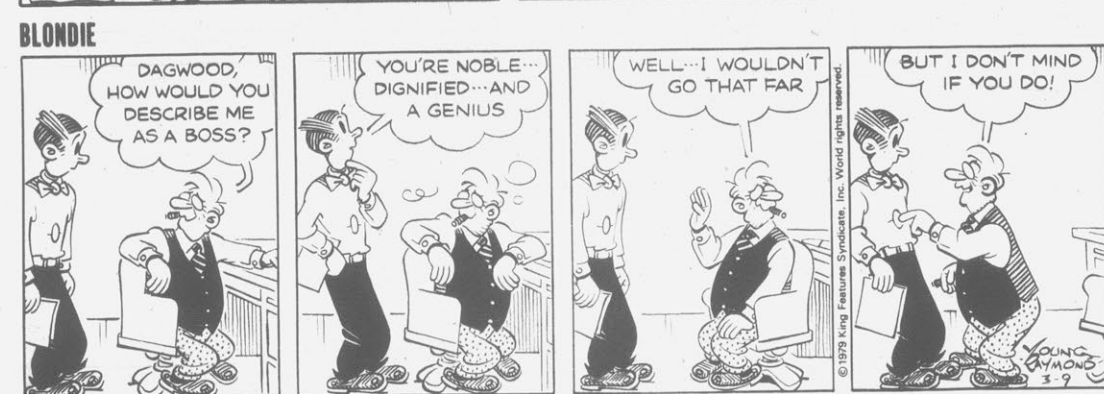

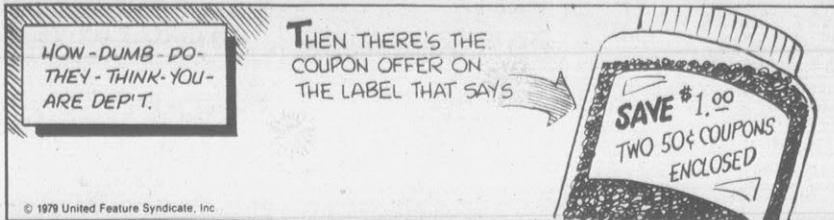

When they reconciled, he said, "I tried to put everything in the past, and I felt I accomplished it."

In an interview last week with an Associated Press reporter, Mrs. Rideout said the couple had yet to visit a marriage counselor.

"We should," she said, "things aren't peachy-keen around here."

She did not elaborate except to say that when the subject of Rideout's trial comes up "we end up disagreeing and arguing ..."

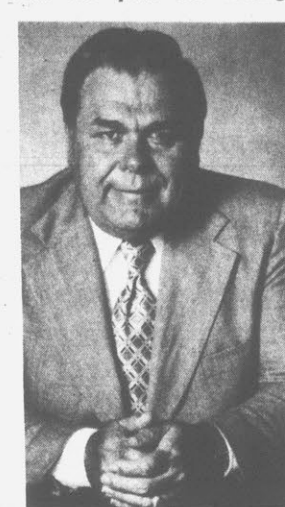

Rideout faces a domestic relations court hearing on April 16 on the state's attempt to gain $4,256 reimbursement for welfare funds received by his wife and child during the times the couple were separated.

Evangelist Will Speak

A special series of services will be held at Saint James United Methodist Church beginning Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Services will be held twice daily through Wednesday at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The visiting evangelist will be the Rev. Tommy Tyson of Chapel Hill, N.C. is an evangelist of The United Methodist Church and a member of The North Carolina Annual Conference.

He received a B.A. degree from Duke University, M.D. from Duke Divinity School and a D.D. was conferred by Oral Roberts University.

Special music for the services will be provided by Gene and Joan Tyson of Tulsa, Okla., and the Cancell Choir of St. James under the direction of Stephen Vaughn. A children's nursery will be provided and the public is invited to attend.

Kindergarten Registration

FARMVILLE — H. B. Sugg School will hold kindergarten registration Tuesday, March 20, for children who will be eligible to attend this coming school year.

Registration will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Parents need not bring their children with them. However, the birth certificate and immunization records should be presented at the time of registration. Birth certificates may be obtained from the register of deeds. Shot records may be obtained from family physicians or county health department. Immunizations must be up to date and include shots for diphtheria, tetanus (lockjaw) and whooping cough, polio and red and German measles. Also children must be five years old on or before Oct. 16, 1979 to be eligible.

Installing A New Pastor

REV. MAURICE LAWS

WINTERVILLE — Quarterly meeting services will be held at Mt. Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church Sunday. Morning worship services will be held at 11 a.m. with the pastor, senior choir and ushers in charge. Holy Communion will follow the 11 a.m. service, with dinner served at 2 p.m.

Moderator C. B. Gray and the Triumph and Davis Chapel Churches will be in charge of the installation service of Mt. Shiloh's new pastor, Maurice Laws at 2:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend.

Fellowship To Meet Sunday

The Unitarian-Universalists Fellowship will meet Sunday at 10:30 a.m. in the Downtown Planters Bank building.

After the general service, small groups will discuss the topic, "Where We're Coming From." Interested persons are welcome to attend this service and the optional covered dish luncheon. Sunday School will be offered for children eight years and older.

Agribusiness Meet Tuesday

The regular meeting of the Pitt County Agribusiness Association Inc. will be held Tuesday, March 13. This will be a Dutch breakfast meeting at 7:30 a.m. at the Three Steers Restaurant, according to Ken Tanner, president.

Ben Everett of Palmyra will discuss some highlights of his farm tour to China. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Kindergarten Registration

Belvoir Elementary School will hold its kindergarten registration Thursday, March 22, in the school media center from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Parents are asked to bring birth certificates and immunization records, since children will not be registered without this information. The child does not need to come.

Idi Amin Boasts Tanzanian Invaders Retreating

By ANDREW TORCHIA
Associated Press Writer
NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Ugandan President Idi Amin said today that Tanzanian invaders were retreating and that his forces had "captured intact long-range artillery and other military hardware."

Amin was quoted over Radio Uganda as saying that "reports from the battlefield since last night were encouraging — the enemy is retreating."

Amin said the morale of his forces was fine. He asked Ugandans to carry on with normal duties. "There is nothing to fear," he was quoted as saying.

Police officials at Mpigi, the town 25 miles southwest of Kampala that previous Uganda Radio broadcasts described as the front line of the conflict, answered telephones as usual but declined to give any information about the war.

However, Spokesmen in Nairobi for Ugandan exile forces fighting alongside Tanzanian regulars said it appeared that Amin's promised counter-attack had begun. The spokesmen said they had expected the push to start during the night.

Uganda Radio said Thursday that the invaders were heading toward Mpigi. Diplomatic sources in Kampala said the invaders on Tuesday resumed their northern drive past Lukaya, 25 miles south of Mpigi, and had met no resistance from government troops.

The sources said there was no alarm in the capital but Amin signaled concern by urging his officers "to be the last to leave a military objective and to fight until the last man."

Libyan tanks, fighter planes, heavy artillery and infantry weapons were reported streaming into Kampala, but sources said none has been used so far against the Tanzanians or the anti-Amin exiles allied with them.

Since Uganda invaded Tanzania four months ago, Tanzania claims to have destroyed a major part of Amin's fleet of warplanes and while the condition of his 20,000-man army was not known, about one-third were believed refusing to fight.

Diplomats and observers said the invaders include about 3,000 exile fighters and perhaps 4,000

Tanzanians. Amin is believed to have about the same number ready to defend Kampala if the invaders reach that far.

"The next week or so should show whether the military balance has shifted in favor of Uganda," one foreign observer said.

Most believe Tanzanian President Julius K. Nyerere is more interested in keeping pressure on Amin to force his regime to fall from within, rather than sweeping through Kampala.

But diplomats said if the invaders are heading for Kampala and a final assault, their heavy guns will reach it within several days.

Tanzania has controlled much of southwestern Uganda for some time and earlier conquered the towns of Masaka, Mbarra and shelled Lukaya for at least two days before moving northward again.

Amin and Nyerere have been at odds since Nyerere gave refuge to Milton-Obote, the Ugandan president Amin toppled in a 1971 coup, and to his followers, who are now invading their homeland.

SBI Directed 'Travel Cheap'

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Keep it cheap, the State Bureau of Investigation has told its agents.

The agents have been told to stay at inexpensive motels and to pay for some of their own meals until more money can be found.

Not enough money remains in the SBI travel budget to pay the bills for February and March, said SBI director Haywood R. Starling.

"I don't know what we're going to do," Starling said. "It would be detrimental to the people of North Carolina to close shop and put a lot of agents on annual leave."

Attorney General Rufus Edmisten said he intended to ask the governor and the Council of State for "enough money to hobble along."

Edmisten says the SBI, which is under his jurisdiction, hasn't been squandering money.

"I believe this is a true emergency. I would imagine that the people of North Carolina would rather know the SBI was out working cases than to have a piddling little old (tax) rebate," Edmisten said.

More than 10 percent of a year's budget went into one case, Starling said.

Starling said the tab for the year-long investigation and subsequent trail of convicted heroin dealer Leslie "Ike" Atkinson ran to $23,416 for meals, lodging and air fare.

At various times, more than 50 agents worked on that case, which brought Atkinson a 12-to-20-year jail term.

The SBI was given $229,472 for this fiscal year's meals and lodging, said James H. Gardner, the Justice Department's chief fiscal officer. Only $26,472 remained in the budget at the end of last month, and the money is supposed to last until June 30.

Agents must now get permission from Raleigh headquarters before spending the night out of town and have been told to stay at inexpensive motels. They have also been forbidden to charge any out-of-town business-related meals unless they are away overnight. Most other state employees can charge their noon meals if they are more than 10 miles away from their offices on business.

Sets Discussion On Biofeedback

Lou Gilbert, psychologist in Adult Services at the Pitt County Mental Health Center, will be the guest on "Mental Health Matters" Sunday at 1:06 p.m. on WNCN-TV.

Ms. Gilbert will discuss her use of biofeedback in her work at the center. Gilbert said, "I believe that the mind exerts considerable control over bodily function and can be trained or disciplined to have a more positive effect."

In the radio interview, Gilbert will discuss how biofeedback can be used to help in relaxation of body-mind tensions.
