

Egyptians Shout "Shalom"

Israeli Travel Suez Canal

By ARTHUR MAX
Associated Press Writer
Three Israeli navy ships steamed into the Suez Canal
today to cheers of "Shalom!"
from Egyptian workers on the canal banks. They were the first Israeli military vessels to use the 101-mile waterway.

"I would have never believed it if I wasn't seeing it," Yitzhak Davidi, commander of the Israeli landing

ship Ashdod, told reporters
on the ship after he welcomed
an Egyptian pilot aboard.
The landing ships Achziv
and the Ashkelon, also loaded with trucks from the Israeli occupation force in the southern Sinai, followed the Ashdod through the entrance

at 8:30 a.m. for the northward passage.
Egyptians rushed to the banks of the canal to see the Israeli vessels and shouted
"Shalom!" — Hebrew for
"peace." Israeli crew members lined the decks and waved back.

The Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty guaranteed passage for Israeli shipping through the Suez. The first Israeli-flag ship through the canal, the freighter Ashdod, made its passage April 28 with a crew of 22 but no cargo.

The three 1,000-ton landing craft, which had departed from the Israeli navy base at Sharm el Sheikh in the Sinai, were scheduled to complete their 15-hour voyage through the canal by midnight tonight and continue on to the Israeli port city of Haifa on the Mediterranean coast.

In another step of the unfolding peace between the two countries, Egyptian
President Anwar Sadat said
Monday that foreign airlines can begin service between Tel Aviv and Cairo
whenever they want to. The statement followed his weekend declaration with Prime Minister Menachem Begin opening the border between Egypt and Israel.

"There is no restriction, no boycott, let them come," he told reporters during a trip through the canal Monday

aboard his presidential yacht.

Sadat added, however, that flights between the two countries by the Israeli and Egyptian airlines would not begin until after Israel completes the initial phase of its withdrawal from the Sinai peninsula at the end of the year. The Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty provides that an aviation agreement is to be negotiated by July 1980.

Despite the Sadat-Begin declaration Sunday opening the border, there was no indication when Israeli tourists could visit the Pyramids or Egyptians could worship at the Dome of the Rock in Jerusalem.

Israeli Foreign Minister
Moshe Dayan was going to Cairo Monday to discuss regulations for traffic across the border. Sadat said Dayan and Egyptian officials "will work immediately on opening the borders and all the details of this as any two neighbors work together on an issue like that."

Egyptian officials said they expected only official delegations to be traveling freely between the two countries for several months.

Begin released 16
Palestinian prisoners on Monday to improve the climate for the Palestinian autonomy talks that began last Friday, and Israeli officials said more might be released soon as a further goodwill gesture to Egypt.

Complex Surgery

SEPARATION — The University of Utah Medical Center, in surgery as unique and delicate as it is dangerous, hopes to separate Siamese twins Lisa and Elisa

Hansen. (AP Laserphoto)

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Doctors today
hoped to separate 19-month-old Lisa and Elisa Hansen — Siamese twins joined at the tops of their heads — in dangerous and delicate surgery that could take as long as 20 hours to complete.

Dr. Stephen Minton, head of the University of Utah surgical team that was to perform the operation, said a few Siamese twins joined at the head have been separated successfully, but none shared blood vessels the way Lisa and Elisa do.

Previous attempts to separate twins with extensively-shared cranial tissue have ended in death or severe mental retardation, he said.

If separation is successful, there will be no mental retardation in either child, he said, and Lisa and Elisa will get a chance for normal lives.

Lisa and Elisa were hospitalized Monday to await surgery. University of Utah Medical Center spokesman John Dwan said the operation, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. EDT, could take "from six to 20 hours."

Today's surgery was to be the fifth in a series of complex operations aimed at eventual separation. Earlier, doctors tied off shared blood vessels and attempted to constrict the girls' skulls in the region where they are joined.

Rhodesia Swears In New Premier, President Today

By JOHN EDLIN
Associated Press Writer
SALISBURY, Rhodesia
(AP) — Bishop Abel
Muzorewa, Rhodesia's first black prime minister, was sworn into office today, ending 90 years of white-minority rule in the former British colony.

Muzorewa, a United Methodist bishop, took the oath of office shortly after being asked to form a government by Rhodesia's first black president, Joseph Gumede, who also was sworn in today.

Muzorewa was expected to name his 19-member cabinet

Wednesday. His government will be formally installed
Friday.

Despite the country's switch to black majority rule,
South Africa is the only assured foreign supporter of the new government, and it faces continuation of the guerrilla war waged by exiled nationalist leaders
Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe, a boycott from the rest of black Africa and uncertain chances for recognition by the United States and Britain.

Gumede, a former schoolmaster and diplomat and descendant of a 19th-century Zulu warrior-chief,
was elected to the ceremonial
figurehead presidency
Monday by the two houses of the new Parliament elected last month. He is a member of the Ndebele tribe and is expected to act as a bridge between his people and Muzorewa's dominant Shona tribe.

Muzorewa, whose United African National Council won 51 of the 100 seats in the lower house, will name a cabinet of 19 members including five whites. But two of the three other black parties announced they would not accept the two cabinet seats allotted each of them by a proportional representation system in the constitution.

One of the dissidents was the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole's Zimbabwe African National Union, which reiterated that it would not take the 12 seats in the lower house it won in the election. Sithole at first hailed the election as a democratic triumph but started claiming vote fraud
when the returns made Muzorewa and his party the winner.

Another minority faction,
Chief Kayisa Ndiweni's United Federal Party, also rejected the two cabinet posts to which it was entitled and indicated its nine members in the lower house would become the parliamentary opposition to the government.

Muzorewa said he and his cabinet would take office
regardless of what the other parties did. Prime Minister Ian Smith's transitional biracial government, which has been in office for 15 months, is scheduled to be replaced at midnight
Thursday, and the country will take the new name of Zimbabwe Rhodesia.

Judge In Drug Trial Killed By Rifle Shot

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) —
U.S. District Judge John H.
Wood Jr. was shot and killed outside his apartment this morning on the city's north side, police said.

The judge was pronounced dead on arrival at 9:30 a.m.
at Northeast Baptist Hospital, police said.

The judge was found face up, police said. He apparently was shot with a rifle, possibly from about 10 feet away.
Early reports said the assailant may have been a sniper.

Police quickly sealed off the area. Officers would not comment on any possible reason for the killing.

Wood had been presiding over drug cases developed in El Paso and other western Texas cities by the U.S. Attorney's office in San Antonio. However, it was not known if this was related to his death.

Wood was set to preside over the trial of professional gambler Jimmy Chagra, who is charged with conspiracy to possess, import and distribute cocaine and marijuana, all federal drug violations.

Venus Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Venus, far from being dull and featureless as many suspected, is a dynamic planet with spectacular terrain and a unique, driving atmosphere, scientists reported today.

In the first complete report on the Pioneer Venus spacecraft missions, scientists said radar images show a mountain higher than Everest, the largest rift valley so far sighted in the solar system and a giant plateau dwarfing any found on Earth.

And the planet that looks like a fuzzy yellow tennis ball
because of its thick clouds has a unique circulation system made up of atmospheric layers that drive one another with their motion, scientists say.

Dr. Harold Masursky of the U.S. Geological Survey said images constructed from radar scanning show a 37,000-foot-high mountain, unofficially called Maxwell, that would tower over Earth's largest, the 29,028-foot Everest.

Way Cleared For Bias Trial Action For N. Carolina

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —
The Supreme Court today cleared the way for a trial in a federal government suit against North Carolina for alleged discrimination against blacks and women in the state Highway Patrol.

The justices left intact a lower court ruling that a trial
on the discrimination charges is necessary.

North Carolina officials contend the 1975 suit was not properly filed and should be dismissed.
In 1973, the Justice Department advised North Carolina it was investigating employment practices within the North Carolina Highway Patrol.

Two years later, Attorney General Edward Levi
brought suit against the state for alleged unconstitutional discrimination against blacks and women.

A federal trial judge in North Carolina, however, threw out the lawsuit. He ruled that the attorney general had no authority to file a "pattern or practice"
suit against a state government unless the matter had been referred to him by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

The federal government appealed, and the 4th U.S.
Circuit Court of Appeals did not rule in the case until Sept.
12, 1978. Two months earlier,
President Carter won

congressional passage of government reorganization plan which granted the attorney general full authority to file such lawsuits against state or local governments without referral from the EEOC.

Chutist Falls

CHULA VISTA, Calif. (AP) —
As thousands of spectators looked on, veteran parachutist Greg Dionne, his parachutes snarled, fell 2,500 feet.

Dionne, 25, died Monday
during surgery several hours after the accident, said officials at Chula Vista Community Hospital.

A veteran of 500 jumps, Dionne was a member of the Clear Skies exhibition team and the third man to leave the twin-engine plane over Brown Field, where the National Air Festival was being held for the Memorial Day Weekend.

Dionne's rectangular parachute apparently failed to open fully. Witnesses said that when he opened his reserve parachute it became snarled in the main chute.

The El Cajon skydiving instructor fell onto the runway and was taken to the hospital
about 3 p.m., said witnesses.
The annual festival raises funds for the Aero-Space Museum in San Diego.

The circuit court ruled that it had to apply the law as it was then written — under Carter's reorganization — and reversed the trial judge's dismissal.

In seeking Supreme Court review, North Carolina Attorney General Rufus Ed-misten argued that the reorganization plan should not have been applied
retroactively to the 1975
lawsuit.

"After this case was dismissed, the attorney general appealed to the president, who through the authority granted by Congress, reorganized the executive branch to attempt to cure the error committed by the attorney general," Edmisten said.

"Such an error cannot be cured in such a manner," he said.

Government lawyers urged the justices to reject Ed-
misten's arguments,
although they conceded there are conflicting appeals court decisions concerning the reorganization's retroac-tivity.

LITTLE DISRUPTION

WASHINGTON (AP) — The
eight domestic airlines flying DC-10s, told to inspect engine mounts on 134 of the jets or ground them, moved quickly to meet today's federally imposed deadline. Little disruption seemed to result for the nation's air travelers.

Hunt Urges Limit In Insurance Cost Increase

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) —
Gov. Jim Hunt said today a 6 percent limit on yearly insurance rate increases should be kept in legislation pending
before the General Assembly,
as protection for the public.

Hunt, at a news conference,
said his primary concern in insurance rate legislation is holding down the cost of premiums, rather than the issue of whether the General Assembly or state insurance commissioner exercises

regulatory control.
"My emphasis has been on holding down the cost. I have not gotten into how it should be done," Hunt said.

Hunt was responding to questions about comments
Monday by Insurance
Commissioner John Ingram,
who said in a Wilmington
speech that the commissioner's job will be of little value until a governor and other top state officials are elected "who will overcome the special interests."

Legislation extending a 1977 law that allows insurance companies to raise their rates while appealing rejection of rate hike
requests by the commissioner has cleared the House and Senate and is before the Senate for concurrence in amendments this week.

Hunt said he would not respond to Ingram's comment about the governor and special interests. But Hunt said the 6 percent limit on annual increases should be retained for auto liability policies, "and possibly on non-essential lines."

A House amendment extends the 6 percent limit to non-essential lines of casualty insurance, such as workmen's compensation and fire insurance. Essential lines are policies such as auto liability, which motorists are required by law to have.

Asked if it was proper for the General Assembly to be the regulator of insurance rates instead of the commissioner, Hunt said,

"Normally, I would think that would not be good policy."

On other topics, Hunt said he has written legislative appropriations chairmen expressing his reservations about a change in the state government retirement system. That change, which would allow some workers to take early retirement at full benefits, has been approved by the Senate but rejected by a House committee.

Hunt again said special-interest groups have been more successful than usual

during the current General Assembly session.

"The lobbyists have done
extremely well," he said.
"I'm not sure the people have done as well."

Hunt said there was no
critical shortage of gasoline
over the Memorial Day holiday weekend because motorists did not panic and limited their driving. "I think things were perhaps not as bad because people were acting with some sense," he said.

SHOULD PRESCRIBE GENERICALLY

I wish Greenville area doctors would be very careful to prescribe medication by generic name whenever possible. When your doctor is writing your prescription, you should ask him is it possible to prescribe generically. Recently a prescription was to cost me $7.95 until I requested the generic item and the cost was $1.95 — for the same portion of the same drug out of the same bottle. I had to obtain a corrected prescription, of course.

N.C. Joint Council On Health, Citizenship Climaxes Project

The North Carolina Joint Council on Health and Citizenship climaxed its project, "Campaign '79 for Freedom and Justice," with a talent show Saturday night and a public program Sunday afternoon.

Saturday activities were highlighted by a talent display which included presentations by six of the 12 contestants competing for the title, "Miss Freedom and Justice, 1979," and five guest artists.

The guest artists were students from Greenville and Kinston, as well as Miss Rhonda W. Lawrence, a professional model from San Diego, Calif. The program was narrated by Mrs. Mary K. Ferguson. Others working with the program were Mrs. Suetette A. Jones, Mrs. Dianne Kornegay, Miss Esther Porteur, the Rev. John H. Taylor and Johnny Wooten.

The public program Sunday marked the final activity of the campaign and featured the crowning of the queen and the keynote address.

Speaks Against Ban On Public Employee Strike

Robert J. Hursey, Jr. president of the East Carolina Federation of Teachers, Local 3612, is one of the teachers of North Carolina speaking in Raleigh today in opposition to the legislative bill — An act to prevent public employee strikes and conflicts of interest.

In a prepared text expressing his reaction to the proposed bill, Hursey labels it "infamous, degrading . . . and, almost obviously, unconstitutional." "As public employees, we for example, are permitted to affiliate with the KKK, the American Nazi Party, and the American Communist Party, but, if this bill is enacted, we shall not be able to affiliate with organizations which espouse the use of collective bargaining and which employ strike as a means of resolving impasse, organizations whose necessity, legitimacy, and efficacy have been upheld and endorsed by the Supreme Court of this land."

will hold the State financial hostage to those absurd demands; and that the State will be compelled to grant those demands and to raise taxes to unimaginable levels. "There is not one grain of evidence to support this insulting, inflammatory allegation . . . Indeed, the very last thing public employees wish to do is to alienate the public by insisting upon patently absurd demands." Turning from remarks on state employees in general to college teachers specifically, Hursey's text states, "For us, the college teachers of our State-supported institutions, collective bargaining promises true parity of treatment with other State employees. "We are sick unto death of being told "that we are different from other State employees" and that we do not desire the same monetary guarantees, such as longevity pay, minimal salary levels for attained academic rank, and guaranteed promotion increases, which almost all other State employees enjoy. "In particular," Hursey notes, "we wish to put an end to the type of treatment meted out by this Legislature on April 24 of this year in the House Committee on Higher Education where the bill to guarantee longevity pay for college teachers of the State suffered an ignominious defeat."

Hursey notes that to several legislators to whom he has posed the question, "Why this bill?" most have responded, "You know that I'm anti-union!" Later in the text Hursey explains "We frequently hear from some legislators that they must protect the public from strikes and that collective bargaining and striking are synonymous terms. "We have also been told that this legislation is needed to protect the public from the exorbitant demands of money-crazed public employees. This argument," Hursey adds, "reflects the insulting assumption that public employees will invariably insist upon unreasonable economic demands; that they

By The Associated Press At least nine persons died on North Carolina highways over the Memorial Day weekend, the state Highway Patrol reported this morning. That brought the state's traffic accident death toll for the year up to 553, or seven more than at this time last year. The traffic toll was kept through midnight Monday. The N.C. State Motor Club had predicted that 13 persons would lose their lives on North Carolina roads over the long weekend. Among those killed, according to the patrol, was Carlton West, 55, of Camden. The patrol said he died Sunday afternoon in a hit-and-run accident as he walked along a rural road four miles east of Shiloh. Two women died in an accident in Nash County shortly before noon Monday, the patrol said. The victims were identified as Barbara Higson Purdue, 35, and Tearl Joyner Faircloth, 37. The patrol said Ms. Purdue turned her car into the path of a dump truck outside of Dorchez. Denise Linda Cain, 25, of Bronx, N.Y., died Monday morning when he car blew a tire and struck a guard rail three miles south of Durham, the patrol said.

Average N.C. Worker Almost Priced Out Of Home-Buying

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — The price of the average home hit the $50,000 mark at the end of 1978, and the result has been to price the average North Carolina worker almost completely out of the market, according to North Carolina Labor Commissioner John Brooks.

Brooks made the statement recently in releasing statistics on monthly building permits issued in February by 38 North Carolina cities of more than 10,000 population. The permits totaled $46,681,349 in estimated construction costs.

"While the monthly building statistics provided by the U. S. Department of Commerce through our research are interesting and useful in themselves, they are also a reliable economic indicator of a broader nature," Brooks said.

"They are particularly valuable to all of us who are concerned about the state of the economy in North Carolina because they are both immediately indicative of significant shifts and also may be plotted to show an emerging long-term pattern.

Brooks said the average estimated construction cost alone of single-family homes authorized in February was $37,738, which was up 22.6 percent from February 1978, when the average cost was $30,775.

He added that just noting construction cost alone does not adequately reflect the actual total expenditure for a new home, because it leaves out of consideration other additional costs, including purchase of lot, closing costs, finance charges, and the builder's profit. At the end of 1978, the average single family home in North Carolina sold for $50,000. The average contained three bedrooms, and a bath and a half, Brooks said.

"This information tells us that the cost of becoming the owner of an 'average' new home has simply gotten out of the reach of North Carolina's 2,554,300 workers," Brooks said. "I believe that it is because of these financial considerations, rather than by actual individual preference, that more and more persons are turning to life in multi-family dwelling units in North Carolina as well as across the nation."

Charlotte led the state in the number of multi-family dwelling unit permits in February 1979 with 130. Elizabeth City was second with 118 units, and Eden was third with 72. Multi-family unit permits were up 84.7 percent over the amount in February 1978.

Brooks said the February permits for single-family units were down by 2.6 percent from the same period in 1978.

Couple Speaks Vows In Ceremony On Saturday

Couple Marries In Roanoke Rapids

MRS. JACK WEAVER HUSSEY JR.

Miss Connie Elizabeth McKenzie of Raleigh and Jack Weaver Hussey Jr. of Wake Forest spoke their vows Saturday in Hillyer Memorial Christian Church.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Stan McKenzie, the bride is the daughter of Mrs. James Paul McKenzie of Raleigh, and the late Mr. McKenzie. Her grandmother is Mrs. C. B. Spain of Greenville.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weaver Hussey Sr. of Goldsboro.

The bride wore a gown of white silk organza fashioned with a Victorian neckline, fitted bodice and long bishop sleeves. The neckline and bodice were adorned with applied silk Venise lace that extended down the bodice to enhance the waistline. The sleeves carried matching lace applique and draped into a lace trimmed cuff. The full A-line skirt fell to floor length with a lace trimmed flared ruffle at the hemline that flowed into a full chapel train.

Her elbow length veil of imported illusion tapered to a point in the back and was framed with matching lace. It was attached to a Juliet cap of lace and pearls.

The couple will make their home in Wake Forest after a wedding trip to Florida.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall.

The bride is manager of the Dog Grooming Shop. The bridegroom graduated from Pitt Technical Institute and works for Carolina Power and Light.

ROANOKE RAPIDS — Barbara Bailey Suggs and Daniel Gregory Durham were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in a ceremony performed at the Roanoke Rapids Woman's Club.

The Rev. Claude Neal Bailey of Danville, Va., uncle of the bride, conducted the ceremony. A program of organ music was presented by Mrs. Martha J. Morris of Enfield, and Mrs. Helen L. Bryant, aunt of the bride, sang "One Hand, Heart" and "Wedding Prayer."

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey L. Bailey of Roanoke Rapids and Dr. and Mrs. William H. Durham Jr. of Greenville are parents of the bridal couple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight white ivory chiffon fashioned with a fitted bodice, Venise lace insert, bishop sleeves with wide lace cuffs and full skirt with a flounced hemline topped with ruffled lace. She wore a floor length veil of candlelight illusion with seed pearls and lace on a Juliet cap. She carried an arrangement of silk spring flowers, baby's breath and an orchid. Mrs. Raven Jordan was honor attendant and bridesmaids were Mrs. Wanda Clements of Skippers, Va., Mrs. Joanne Baker of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Jane Smith of Winston-Salem.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers included George Alexander Weimer Jr. of Richmond, Va., James E. Sutton and Dr. Thomas W. Durham, both of Greenville.

Mrs. Hazel L. Smith of Roanoke Rapids, sister of the bride, directed the wedding.

The bride is a graduate of Roanoke Rapids High School and is a nursing major at Halifax Community College. The bridegroom graduated from Rose High School and ECU. He is a legal assistant for the N. C. Department of Corrections, Caledonia Correctional Institution.

The couple will live in Roanoke Rapids.

The parents of the bridegroom and friends of the family entertained at a rehearsal party Friday evening at the Fairfax Restaurant.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

(This is the second in a three-part series on what happens to missing socks. Today's column deals with "The Cause.")

According to a woman from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., the answer to disappearing socks is mathematically figured in subsets.

If you wash a pair of blue socks with a red stripe (BL/RD)2 and a pair of green angoras (GR/A)2 and a pair of white tennis socks (WH/T)2, all three pairs would be called X.

If Y had (GR/A)2 and (WH/T)2, then every element in Y is an element of X. Hence Y is a subset of X or X CY.

If there is a boldness in BL/RD2 somewhere between fill and spin dry, BL/RD2 splits.

That answer made more sense than most of the others sent in to determine what happens to socks in the washer.

Most of the writers zeroed in on sex. Like coat hangers and paper clips, socks were believed to have an active sex life — but only in water. Some believed they married, but they fooled around and often divorced in the dryer. No alimony was involved. Some stayed together through two or three washings, but suddenly turned into a swinging single. One writer believed that socks went through a sex change, coming out another color.

A large number embraced the Planned Obsolescence theory, that is a conspiracy between sock and washer manufacturers who incorporate sock disintegrators (right next to the button crusher) and sock sensors which grind up a sock and spit it out as lint. The newer models even have a reconstructed sock cycle which returns a sock lost five years ago.

There was a Sock Fairy theory for those of you who believe in Peter Pan, the Cloning theory where for every pair of socks an extra one is cloned driving you crazy with three socks of one color, and the Best Friend theory where your friend is secretly after your husband and both are trying to drive you whacko. There is the Reincarnation theory where it is believed that a sock returns in another form. (One woman swore that after five years of losing socks, they all came back one day as a sweater.)

Some believed socks had an identity crisis and split. Others leaned toward cannibalism. One writer went for the Steve Martin theory where socks, instead of getting high on detergent, got small and disappeared.

A great number believed socks to be a migratory species, activated by simply adding water. And finally, one writer blamed the United States government for programming washers to eat socks and keep the economy alive. One blamed the Russians for undermining American women's stability. I'd have been disappointed if someone hadn't said that.

GREENSBORO — Mrs. Anglene Venters of Greenville will be installed as president of the North Carolina Credit Women-International at the annual meeting June 3-4.

Over 200 members from across the state are expected to meet with the N. C. Merchants Association at the Holiday Inn-Four Seasons.

Those planning to attend from the Greenville Credit Women-International are: Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gregory; Carol Hardee; Charles Hardee; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe King; Pearl Hartsell; Martha Mills; Mildred Porter; Doris Price; Mary Roberson; Clara Seago; Mrs. Venters; Linda Westbrook; and Jo Anne White.

Registration will begin Sunday at 10 a.m. Other activities include: Career Club luncheon; pre-conference board meeting and business session; open house honoring Mrs. Johnnie Bundy, state president; wine and cheese party and dance.

The Monday program will begin with an awards breakfast at 7:30 followed by a joint session with the merchants; installation luncheon at noon; merchants' reception and banquet.

Mrs. Hardee of Greenville serves as state parliamentarian and Mrs. Mills, local club president, is a director.

City Families Cut Food Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Big city families cope with inflation mainly by cutting their food bills, according to a four-city survey by the Center for the Study of Metropolitan Problems. The center reported the second most used tactic was extra work, either overtime or less often, moonlighting or sending an additional member of the family out to work. The findings were reported by the American Council of Life Insurance, in Washington. The cities in the study were New York, Detroit, Atlanta and San Francisco.

CORN AND GRITS

Even tasters who thought they didn't like hominy grits enjoyed this dish at our house. 16-ounce can whole-kernel golden corn
1/2 cup quick-cooking hominy grits
1 teaspoon salt
4 ounces sharp cheddar cheese, shredded medium-fine
4-ounce can whole, roasted, peeled green chilies (drained and diced)

Drain corn, saving liquid; reserve corn. To corn liquid add enough water to make 2 cups; bring to a boil; stir in hominy and salt; simmer, covered, until thickened and liquid is absorbed — about 5 minutes. Off heat, stir in reserved corn, about half the cheese and the diced chilies. Turn into a buttered 1 1/2-quart baking dish (about 10 by 6 by 1 3/4 inches). Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until bubbling hot — 15 minutes. Let stand 10 to 15 minutes so grits will firm somewhat. Makes 6 servings.

At the bottom of the list, ranked as the "least inviting countries to live in" were Britain and Ireland.

'Cure' For Baldness Or Just Balderdash?

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I just heard that a scientist in Budapest, Hungary, recently came up with a formula that will actually grow hair on bald heads! They claim that this miracle lotion, which is a combination of herbs and chemicals, not only restores hair on bald heads, it also prevents people who have hair from losing it! This sounds too good to be true.

I'm told that the Budapest shopkeepers sold out their first shipment to some very cynical customers; when, a week later, the stuff started to show results, word got around and the shopkeepers had to call the police to keep the rioting customers from breaking down the doors.

Have you heard anything about this product?

INTERESTED IN ILLINOIS

DEAR INTERESTED: Yes, I've heard those hair-raising reports, but I'm skeptical. If this product from Hungary is not also from hunger, it will be marketed all over the world.

DEAR ABBY: PUZZLED IN MANHATTAN wrote: "I'm sure you've heard of Peeping Toms, but I'll bet you've never heard of a Peeping Tina. Tina is my wife. We have a view of a large apartment house from our bedroom window, and Tina loves to stand in the dark and watch men undress. Is something wrong with her?"

You replied, "Such curiosity is considered normal in adolescents, but your wife should have outgrown it by now." Abby, I've lived in high-rise apartments for years, as do many of my friends, and we all enjoy the game of "neighbor-watching." As a matter of fact, a pair of binoculars by the window is standard equipment for every apartment.

I am in my 30s and my friends are in their 50s and we aren't considered adolescents.

LOVES TO LOOK IN MANHATTAN

DEAR LOVES: Whatever happened to the right to privacy? Or do you go with the theory that people who undress with the shades up are closet exhibitionists? Granted there is a touch of the voyeur in all of us—but binoculars by the windows? Aw, c'mon!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WE ARE AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

Applicable To All Graduates

Robert Griffin, manager of the Procter & Gamble plant here, had a reminder for graduates of Pitt Technical Institute last Friday night . . . and it applies to graduates of all the public schools, colleges and universities.

"You've worked hard," Griffin told the graduates. "You're tired of studying and you're ready to use what you've learned to earn some money. True. But it's important to a lot of others too that are committed to you as you are to yourself though you've never met.

"While you paid about $300 to $350 per year for your education here, we, the public paid $1,150 per year for each of you to learn here. When you leave here tonight and return home you'll see North Carolinians working farms, pumping gas, running stores, building new businesses and stopping speeders. You be nice to them, because they put you here right now. They paid the difference. It's ok. They wanted to do it. They need you. What I'm saying is — a lot of people paid to help this school and you to join them."

How can the graduates pay these people back?

"Take your education and skills, join us in the working world and make lots of money. Then when the school needs money for growth or your vote to tax you to improve the school, you can bring your money and votes in here to Dr. Fulford and the students who follow you."

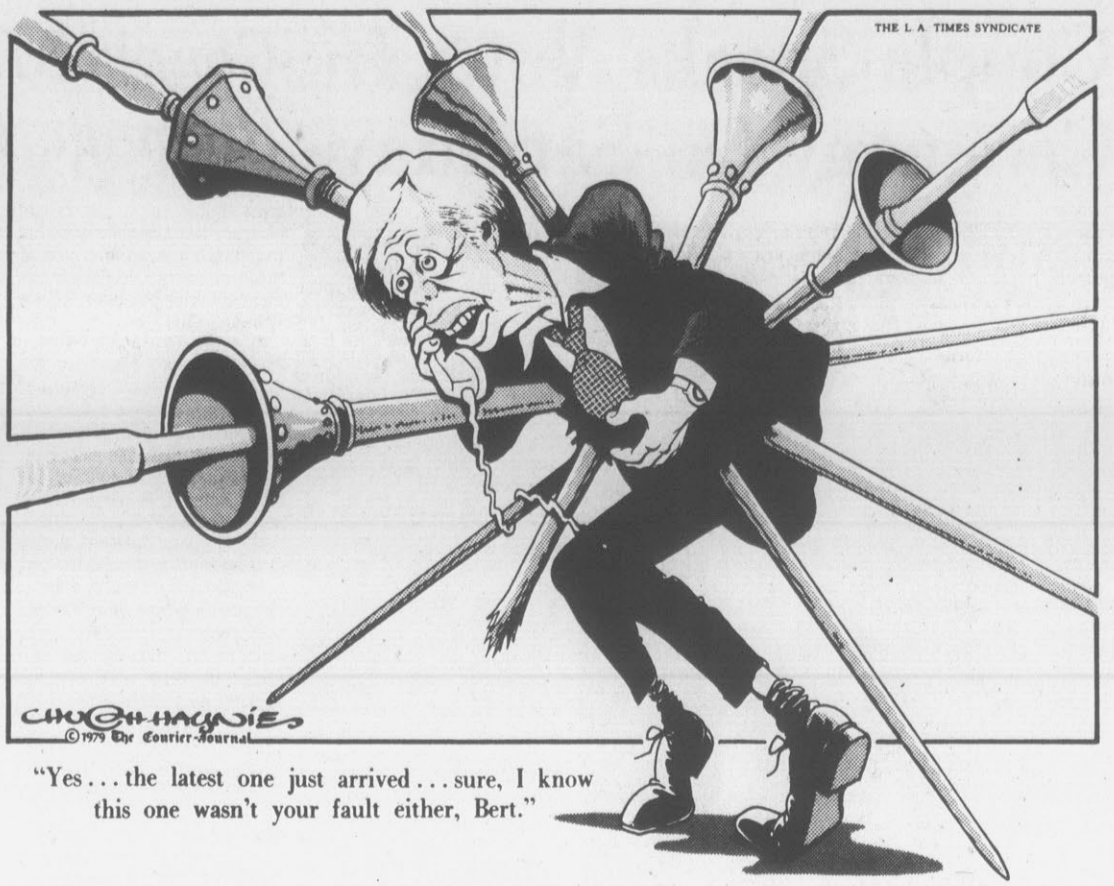

It is well to recognize that everybody who attends public schools, technical institutes or colleges is on scholarship. The money is provided by the taxpayers, who should expect a return. In that sense, virtually all of us owe something.

Positive Steps In The Middle East

It was a momentous time when Israel returned to Egypt El Arish in the Sinai Peninsula.

It was simultaneously announced that the two nations plan to open their borders, a true positive step following signing of a treaty.

Even though there are many problems in the Middle East — some caused by the Egypt-Israel treaty — the weekend ceremony is certainly a hopeful one. It is one of the building blocks of peace.

Fragmented N.C. Cause

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — A highly placed bureaucrat in the administration of Gov. Jim Hunt who was in the vanguard of pressure to get tough environmental laws enacted says now those measures are being made feeble and fragmented by governmental bureaucracy.

Anne Taylor was president of the Joseph LaConte chapter of the Sierra Club when that organization and others across the state fought hard and won laws protecting the state's air, land, and water.

plementing the environmental measures.

"Being, as I am now, on the inside, it is graphically clear that the very nature of bureaucracy perpetuates our dilemma.

"Only the public is in a position to raise a question about how one section, division, unit, individual, or even department of state government serves its intended purpose.

"Fondly referred to as turf, no one within government dares step on another's. People mumble and grumble. But to cast the first stone, you had best be sure you have nothing, absolutely nothing, to lose," Ms. Taylor writes in a revealing article published in the spring issue of "N.C. Insight", published by the N.C. Center for Public Policy Research.

traordinarily narrow part to play in the enhancement of what altogether was to be environmental protection." Ms. Taylor charges.

The numerous boards, councils and commissions formed for every imaginable environmental purpose are rules and roles by bureaucrats, priorities set by politics and special interest groups, and a host of other factors shared in the willy-nilly development. To amplify, she lists such diverse groups and functions as sedimentation commission, environmental management commission, health services commission, air quality council, water quality council, coastal resources council, marine science council, land policy advisory committee, solid waste committee, trails committee, etc.

What is now essential, she argues, is renewed citizen concern and involvement in seeing the laws properly administered and enforced.

BILL NOBLITT

almost without representation of the environmentalists who pushed for the laws.

"The few who have been appointed find their commitment to the total of environmental quality relegated to a small piece and kept separate and apart from the other pieces that make up the whole — the land, the water, and the air," she finds.

As one example, she noted that only 13 people enforce the Sedimentation Pollution Control Act statewide, while nearly 400 people in the field do air quality or water quality work. Why couldn't violations at the thousands of construction sites be reported? Likewise, why can't a team approach using forest and park rangers, wildlife and marine fisheries people, other state experts, be implemented, Ms. Taylor wonders.

How did this happen? Ms. Taylor finds that different dates on the laws, funding problems, interpretation of

The Rhodesia Election

WASHINGTON — For the past week or ten days, the Hon. Joshua Nkomo, the distinguished terrorist, has been moving about the TV and lecture circuit, telling his listeners that there were no elections in Rhodesia last month. It was all an illusion. It was dumbshow. It was a sham.

On the CBS Morning News, this pre-eminent patriot of the Patriotic Front acknowledged that, yes, something in the nature of an election had occurred, but there had been no proper registration, even tourists may have voted, the mentally deranged could have cast ballots, and besides, the new "rotten" Constitution was itself disregarded.

As for peaceful negotiations to unify a new republic of Zimbabwe, the able and distinguished guerrilla tended to waffle. There was a war on. He might conduct some negotiations "in a tent." He would never negotiate with

Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa. "He is a traitor! One does not negotiate with traitors!"

The erudite Marxist statesman, a masterful practitioner of the arts of ambush, assassination and massacre, fumed impatiently at questions having to do with minority rights in any government he might ultimately head. His mission was to dissuade the Carter administration from taking any step toward formal recognition of the government he intends to overthrow with Soviet arms. He said not one word — not one word! — about the kind of elections he would pledge when his troops seize Salisbury and take power to themselves.

Because this beloved beer barrel projects a majestic image, it may be useful to put the April elections into an African perspective. It is absurd to judge the voting in Rhodesia in terms of voting in the United States or Britain.

The only reasonable context in which the legitimacy of the Muzorewa government may be judged is the context of Africa itself. To that judgment may be added the informed opinion of observers on the scene last month.

General Nkomo did not like the elections in Rhodesia. Perhaps he would have preferred elections in the pattern of elections in neighboring Angola and Mozambique. There have been no elections in Angola and Mozambique. These are the very best kind of elections. Dr. Agostino Neto holds power in Angola by sheer right of conquest; so, too, with Samora Machel in Mozambique.

Let us look around. In Zambia, Kenneth Kaunda three times has been elected president, but this is scarcely surprising, for Dr. Kaunda permits no opposition party. His United National Independence Party is the only party there is. The example of Zambia is widely admired. One-party elections are the rule in Algeria, Cameroun, Cape Verde Congo, Gabon, Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, the Ivory Coast, Kenya, Liberia, Madagascar, Malawi, Tanzania and Zaire, to name but a few.

Coal Town Plight

By THOMAS FERRARO
ST. CHARLES, Va. (UPI) — Since December 1977, state troopers have pulled into this rugged coal town nearly every weekday morning to keep peace between independent, working miners and strikers.

Troopers watch as the coal diggers rumble to work in a caravan of trucks and cars, passing about 40 members of the United Mine Workers of America who have been on strike for 18 months.

"One of two things would happen if State Police failed to show up," said Billy Belcher, president of the only Virginia UMW local still out from last year's three-month nationwide walkout.

"Either the scabs wouldn't go to work, or if they tried, we'd

To the editor:

Taxpayers! If you are concerned with the quality your dollar buys, this is for you. It seems our "all-knowing" Mayor and the Greenville City Council are willing to settle for a less qualified staff altogether. Have you ever attempted training for two jobs instead of one? As you know, the quality of work drops a great deal. If we sit back and let this issue continue to be railroaded through, we will end up with this type of staff. But what could be more convenient for all concerned — to have our excellent rescue squad staff quit because they are concerned with quality of training instead of quantity. The rules of the Fire Chief are certainly inappropriate for a rescue worker. Why is the length of hair an important prerequisite for saving lives?

Your support is needed! Let's keep the rescue squad and the fireworkers separate! Call the Mayor or someone on the City Council. Better yet — start a petition! We only need 4,000 votes to have a public vote! After all, it's much easier to build a building back than to build a human life. Which do you choose?

Kim Bunn

To the editor:

I am concerned about a report that the Coast Guard plans to discontinue the night shift at Hobucken and close the Cape Lookout Station completely. I wonder if anything can be done to prevent this action.

It is in the interest of all North Carolina citizens that these stations maintain a full staff in order to deter some of the drug smuggling along our coast. Also, the lives of many boaters might be in danger, at least less safe, without these stations in full operation.

THE INSIDE REPORT

A Born-Again Kremlin?

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — The born-again Christian's view of the Soviet Union held by Jimmy Carter is coming into the open from behind closed doors of the White House East Room in ways disconcerting to those being pressed to back the new strategic arms limitation treaty (SALT II).

"The president is a man with peace in his heart," one influential Democratic senator who is undecided told us after Carter's East room session with senators the night of May 21. "What scares me more than anything else about SALT is that he seems convinced that the Russians have that same peace and good will in their hearts."

The senator's appraisal: President Carter — for reasons of background, upbringing and religious heritage — takes the Soviet leaders at face value when they profess longing for detente and peace between the superpowers.

A moderate Republican senator, also undecided and also present at the White House SALT dinner, saw the same phenomenon in Carter's sudden anger over questions about possible Soviet violations of SALT II. This senator told us that during an otherwise masterful, "well-modulated" performance, the president "boiled over" on the cheating question — seemingly resentful that the Russians would be accused of such un-Christian conduct.

Carter flatly rejected charges, implicit in the questions from senators, that Moscow had cheated on SALT I. Not at all, he said; there were "misunderstandings" but the careful anti-cheating machinery worked out by Washington and Moscow had prevented actual violations. "A challenged nation has always backed down," Carter said.

"maximum gain" by Soviet cheating would be a mere "2 percent," Carter said. That would never be worth the potential disgrace of being found out.

Carter's acceptance of Soviet integrity goes far beyond possible cheating. On the next afternoon, May 22, in another East Room SALT-selling session, the president appeared to his audience to make light of the Soviet Union's global political offensive, supported by Cuban and other revolutionary forces.

Present for a session lasting over two hours following lunch were a roomful of establishment figures, rich in elder statesmen — Henry Cabot Lodge, Dean Rusk, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, David Packard and William Paley among others. The

STAINED GLASS WINDOWS

We appreciate the beauty of a stained glass window only when we look at it from the inside. Viewed from the outside, it is dull and devoid of rich coloring. But when we are inside the church or cathedral and see the light streaming through a stained glass window, then all its variegated beauty is revealed to us.

It is much the same with the life of the spirit. Those who are on the outside never understand what it is all about. But men and women of faith are aware of the glories of spiritual things, of the help they receive, and of the illumination which comes to them through God. They realize the need for forgiveness in their lives and believe that God has accorded them this through Jesus Christ.

Those on the outside of religious truth regard it as sentimental, fictitious and inconsequential. But those on the inside say: "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard, heither have entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him."

Stock Market Opinions Split

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — As the stock market enters June, sometimes an uninspired month, opinions on the future of prices are split wide as the Grand Canyon.

Nothing new in this; it's been that way for 15 years, and the fact that the Dow Jones industrial average is no higher than it was in 1964 lends documentation. It tells of a split in opinions, a stalemate.

What is new is that some of those on either side of the split feel that we may not have to wait much longer for the proof of the pudding. That proof, they agree, is in the performance, not the prediction.

On one side of the great divide are those who say the market will now fall into the abyss. Included in the group are some huge institutional traders who, over recent years, have been shunning stocks.

On the other side they're ready to climb the mountain. By 1983 they foresee peaks twice as high as the recent industrial average, which closed last week at 836.37 points, about the same as in June 1964.

On either side they view the same economic probabilities as providing credibility. We are at a watershed, they say. We are headed toward recession. Our red-ink economy is like blood flowing.

One group maintains the economy will be down for the count, or at least they act that way. They're shunning stocks. The other insists a downturn is the long-awaited correction, after which strength returns.

Group one, unfortunately, includes a solid representation of those with the money, which in this age means institutions such as pension and mutual funds. They have avoided investments for short-term deals.

What they are saying, among other things, is that the U.S. economy is too risky for them to commit their billions on a long-term basis. They have preferred to remain liquid, flexible. In short, ready to run.

However, their running hasn't gotten them far. Union and corporation executives are often distressed by the poor performance of their pension portfolios, especially as inflation dilutes values.

Even when invested in stocks, the funds have done poorly. A review by A.G. Becker Inc. of 571 pension funds found that since 1964 only 22 of every 100 matched or exceeded the Standard and Poor's 500 stock index.

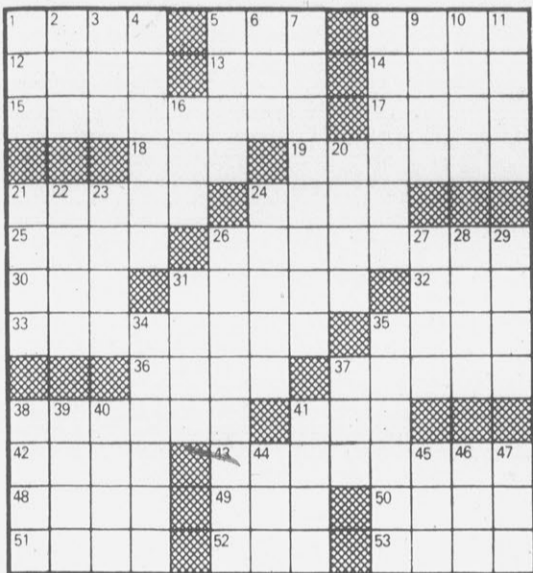

Blame is often placed on the timidity of portfolio managers, who under the relatively new "prudent man" law can be held responsible for investment decisions. They feel cautious more defensible than risk president told them that "several" senators he had dined with the previous evening had expressed concern that the Russians were plotting war against the U.S. This was "irrational," Carter insisted, exposing an inability among these senators to deal with the real world.

The senators actually did not see Moscow making "war" on the U.S.; they had asked about inherent contradictions between SALT II and Soviet gains at the expense of the U.S. in Africa, Asia and the Arabian peninsula. On the next day, Carter criticized these senators for thinking SALT could be used to restrain "peaceful competition" by the Soviet Union. Carter's explanation of the Soviet desire for SALT II was in the same vein. The president said the Russians, having attained military parity or equality with the U.S., now wanted to cut military spending and attain equality in economic and political power. In fact, there is nothing in the treaty that would slow the fantastic pace of Soviet armsbuilding.

The spiritual strain that has motivated Carter in many presidential undertakings showed through in his claim to the elder statesmen of overall U.S. strategic superiority despite deficiencies in certain calibers of weapons. He startled his audience by asserting that the administration's support of human rights and opposition to racism is partly responsible for that superiority.

While Carter is generally effective in his extraordinary personal efforts to sell SALT, critical senators clearly irritate him. At Wednesday's session following the senatorial dinner, he referred to "timid" senators seeking to amend the treaty rather than vote it up or down and to "outdated notions" about the Cold War by senators. He has, however, profited from heavy criticism that his earlier charge of "warmongering" against SALT critics was hurting the treaty's prospects for ratification.

But another form of mongering is now appearing: fearmongering. At Wednesday's session, Rabbi Alexander Schindler rose for a statement which one participant said had earmarks of being planted by the president's men. Schindler, one of the nation's most respected Jewish leaders, told the assembled notables that the nation's reform congregations had decided to back SALT II because to do otherwise would open the world's door to a "holocaust."

The president nodded in agreement. To SALT skeptics, however, such a warning is no more valid as a reason to back SALT than Carter's idealistic generosity in attributing to the Kremlin the same good will that lies in his own heart.

Kilpatrick Col. . . .

such American liberals as Bayard Rustin and Allard Lowenstein found the elections reasonably full and fair.

The Senate concurred in this appraisal by its stunning vote of 75-19 on the Schweiker resolution of May 15. This expressed the sense of the Senate that the president should lift sanctions against Rhodesia within two weeks after the installation of a black majority government. Such a government, in the Senate's view, has now been freely elected, and it has demonstrated its willingness to negotiate at an all-parties conference. How many other governments in Africa could make the same claim?

Ferraro Col...

beat their brains out," he said. He let out a loud laugh. "I'm serious."

There has been an uneasy peace the past year. But during the early months of the walkout there was sporadic violence. There were scores of arrests.

Trucks were pelted with rocks, windshields smashed, shots fired. An old UMW pensioner was roughed up. A UMW trailer was bombed.

Most of the half-dozen mines which refused to accept the UMW contract have closed, mostly because the coal they produced was of low quality and couldn't justify expenses.

The strike, violence and shutdowns are the latest in a 30-year series of events that have thrust this once-bustling town into a struggle for survival.

During the 1940s, St. Charles was one of the most profitable towns in coal-rich Southwest Virginia.

In the early 1950s, with many of the area's best coal reserves depleted, many of the larger companies left, taking with them jobs and prosperity.

Today, idle men walk the streets. Business in stores still open has plunged. Many families have moved out. Those who remain in shanties worry about the future.

"Let's face it, this town is dying," said a merchant who requested anonymity. "I'd like to sell my place and get out, but who'd buy it?"

St. Charles' population has dropped from more than 3,000 to less than 400 since the mid-1940s. The town retains a reputation as the toughest in Southwest Virginia.

Coal miners are proud of the UMW, which they honor like a religion. For generations, sons have followed fathers into the mines and the union, seeing it as their destined way of life.

Oldtimers say the town's rough-and-tumble reputation dates back to the early 1930s when local UMW organizing efforts were marked by shootings, beatings and bloodshed. Violence has highlighted many union strikes since then.

Because of incidents of violence in this strike, state police have conducted daily surveillance under orders from Gov. John Dalton.

"As long as they picket, we are going to send people out there to make sure miners can get to work as safely as possible," said State Police Capt. W.S. Hicklin.

"A while back we were unable to get anyone there one particular day and we had some rock throwing and some damage. We don't want it to happen again."

Pitt Sales Tax Climbs

Net sales and use tax collections in Pitt County during April amounted to $247,347, according to Mark Lynch, Secretary of the N.C. Department of Revenue.

The figure for April compared with $207,215 recorded in March and $238,885 in February in Pitt County.

Neighboring county totals for April, March and February included: Beaufort, $101,012, $96,833, $101,481; Edgecombe, $113,494, $116,253, $101,498;

Greene, $13,123, $12,749, $14,167; Lenoir, $165,876, $141,662, $167,509; Martin, $56,604, $53,483, $50,395; Wayne, $222,400, $214,077, $224,917; and Wilson, $191,810, $169,050, $159,870.

Net collections in the 99 participating counties in North Carolina totaled $14,495,392 in April, Lynch said, compared with $13,081,921 in March and $13,516,576 in February.

George Dickel Tennessee sippin' whisky. Smooth as moonbeams.

"Tastin' is believin'."

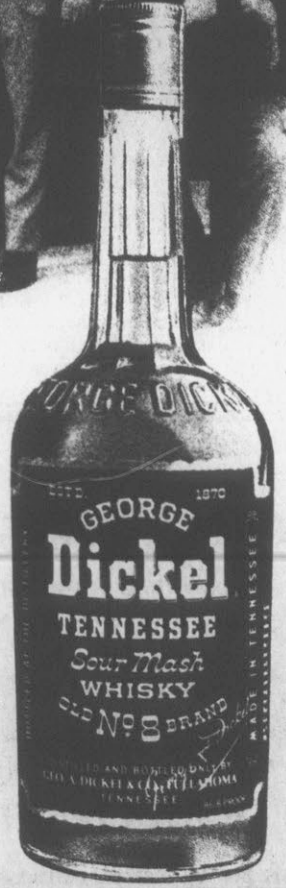

—Merle Beatty, Store Owner, 1871

"I remember we were tryin' to tell this city feller that George Dickel's whisky tastes smooth 'cause it's made with clear, sweet springwater."

"And it's mellowed good and proper 'cause Ol' George gives his sour mash extra time to get into the flavor."

"Well, I could see this city feller wasn't much impressed with our jawin', so I stopped talkin' and started pourin'."

"One sip was all it took. Said he'd never tasted a finer Tennessee Sour Mash. Didn't surprise us none. 'Cause when it comes to George Dickel's whisky, tastin' is believin'."

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed amid energy worries today, getting a sluggish start after the Memorial Day weekend.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.29 at 832.99.

Advances held a slight lead over declines in the broad tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the problems of rising gasoline prices and supply uncertainties were keeping the market in the doldrums.

The dollar gained ground in foreign exchange today, extending its strong trend of late. But the price of gold, which is often used as a measure of pessimism among the world's investors, also surged again to above $276 an ounce.

Among the gold mining stocks, Dome Mines climbed 3/4 to 112; Homestake Mining 1/4 to 34; Campbell Red Lake Mines 3/4 to 39 1/2, and ASA Ltd. 1/4 to 28.

Reliance Electric was delayed in opening after taking a 12 1/2-point jump to 60 1/2 last Friday, when Exxon Corp. set a price of $72 a share on its offer to acquire the company.

F.W. Woolworth fell 2 1/4 to 24 1/2. Late last week Brascan Ltd. encountered several legal setbacks in its bid to make a takeover offer for Woolworth.

Charged In Chase And Collision

SCENE OF COLLISION ...between van and Police Department car on Evans Street, between Second and Third Streets yesterday, which resulted in multiple charges against the driver of the van. (Reflector Photo by Stuart Morgan)

 A 31-year-old Greenville woman was placed under a $22,000 bond yesterday after she drove her van into the side of a Greenville Police Department car as she was being chased by another police vehicle.

Sarah R. Kirkpatrick of 210 North Harding St. was charged with careless and reckless driving, assault on a police officer with a deadly weapon (car), resisting arrest, and failing to stop for a blue light and siren, in connection with the 4 p.m. incident, Chief Glenn Cannon said.

According to Cannon, police were called to the Town Commons by park rangers who reported a woman had jumped into the river, had gotten out, and was threatening to jump again.

As police arrived at the boat ramp off First Street, Ms. Kirkpatrick was driving away in her van. Officers, attempting to stop the vehicle, chased it West on First Street, South on Washington Street, and through the Pitt County Court House parking lot.

Highway Patrolman Spencer Padgett, who investigated the collision, said the Kirkpatrick vehicle turned South on Evans Street as it exited the parking lot and turned toward a police car, driven by officer John R. Teel Jr. which was headed North on Evans Street.

Trooper Padgett said Teel swerved to the right in an attempt to avoid a head-on collision with the van. However, the van collided with the side of the police vehicle.

Following the collision, the Patrolman said, Ms. Kirkpatrick jumped from the truck and fled on foot.

She was apprehended a short distance away following a foot chase by Greenville police and highway patrolmen, Padgett explained.

Padgett estimated damage to the city-owned vehicle at $1,500 and set damage to the van at $900 to $1,000.

Teel, according to the Trooper, received minor injuries in the collision.

Couple Charged With Abusing Set Of Twins

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A couple was held today on charges of abusing one of their four sets of twins — a 7-year-old boy and girl — who reportedly lived for two years in a room so filthy that attendants donned gas masks to take them to an ambulance.

East Baton Rouge Parish deputies said Leon Jolla, a 52-year-old carpenter, and his wife Anna Lee Jolla, 45, were booked Monday night on two counts each of cruelty to juveniles.

The twins were being treated for malnutrition today at Earl K. Long Hospital. An investigator said the children, neither of whom can talk, were no larger than 2- or 3-year-olds.

Another of the Jollas' 15 children, aged 3, was also hospitalized Monday and was reported today in good condition.

Lt. Royal McCastle, a juvenile division officer, said the sheriff's office was told of the children by the hospital's child protection center, which received a tip from a relative of the Jollas. Some neighbors said they were unaware of the 7-year-olds' existence.

McCastle said he and Detective Larry Wright found the children sitting in their own excrement and other filth in an empty room in the Jolla's 3-bedroom home. He said the girl wore an undershirt and the boy was naked.

McCastle said attendants summoned to the home went back to their ambulance for gas masks before they would enter the room.

McCastle quoted Mrs. Jolla as saying the children were fed twice a day and their room was cleaned about twice a month.

"The mother said the children used to come out, but after awhile they (the parents) thought the children weren't developing right for their age and the children started keeping to themselves," McCastle said.

"She said she and her husband had discussed getting help for them, but they never did. They just let them stay by themselves. The children don't talk, but they can walk."

"The mother said the children would come out late at night and go to the refrigerator to get water," McCastle said.

He said 13 of the Jolla's 15 children lived with their parents. He said a 15-year-old girl twin was placed in a foster home three years ago and a 20-year-old girl, also a twin, lives in her own apartment.

Before The North Carolina Utilities Commission

In the Matter of

Investigation and Rulemaking Relating to Advertising Expenditures and What May Be Included As a Utility Bill Insert) NOTICE OF HEARING

BY THE COMMISSION: The North Carolina Utilities Commission is conducting an investigation into the subjects of utility bill inserts and utility advertising for the purpose of formulating general rules to govern these subjects. The Public Staff, the Attorney General, the utilities and other intervenors filed proposed rules and comments in this proceeding on March 1, 1979, and the Commission has set a public hearing in this docket for the purpose of receiving testimony and comments from the public and oral argument from the parties.

This hearing will be held for the purpose of deciding whether the Commission should promulgate rules restricting bill inserts and advertising, and the legal and constitutional problems involved in making such rules. Pursuant to the requirements of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act (PURPA), the Commission will also consider whether electric and gas utilities may recover expenditures for promotional or political advertising from ratepayers, rather than being required to charge said expenditures to their shareholders (or other owners).

Public hearing will begin on Tuesday, September 18, 1979, at 10:00 a.m., in the Commission Hearing Room, Dobbs Building, 430 North Salisbury Street, Raleigh, North Carolina. Receipt of testimony from members of the public will be the first order of business. The Public Staff is authorized by statute to represent the using and consuming public in proceedings before the Commission. Written statements to the Public Staff should include any information which the writer wishes to be considered by the Public Staff in its investigation of the matter, and such statements should be addressed to Hon. Hugh A. Wells, Executive Director of the Public Staff, North Carolina Utilities Commission, P. O. Box 991, Raleigh, North Carolina 27602.

The Attorney General is also authorized by statute to represent the using and consuming public in proceedings before the Commission. Statements to the Attorney General should be addressed to Honorable Rufus L. Edmisten, Attorney General, c/o Utilities Division, P. O. Box 629, Raleigh, North Carolina 27602. Pirates Close Road Trip With Ninth Inning Rally For Victory

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Bill Robinson, Grant Jackson and the rest of the Pittsburgh Pirates are delighted to be back home tonight.

Lee Mazzilli and the rest of the New York Mets are no doubt thrilled to see them out of the Big Apple.

On Sunday, Robinson hit a ninth-inning home run to break a tie and give unbeaten Jackson his third victory as the Pirates beat New York 2-1.

And on Monday, Robinson hit a run-scoring single in the first inning, a two-run tie-breaking homer in the fourth inning and a double to trigger a three-run ninth as Pittsburgh, with Jackson picking up his sixth save, ripped the Mets 6-1.

"This will give us the impetus for a run at Philadelphia and Montreal," Manager Chuck Tanner said. "We're going home for 12 games with a 6-3 road trip, two wins in a row and a chance to beat some teams and get things together." The Pirates are 5½ games behind Philadelphia and Montreal, tied atop the East. The Phillies and Expos open a series tonight in Montreal while Pittsburgh hosts Chicago.

In Monday's other National League games, Atlanta beat San Francisco 4-1, Chicago defeated Philadelphia 4-1, Cincinnati nipped Los Angeles 3-2 in 13 innings and San Diego shaded Houston 5-4. The Expos and St. Louis Cardinals were idle Monday.

Robinson hit his ninth homer of the season, with Dave Parker on base, off winless Pete Falcone to break a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning and give sorebacked John Candelaria the victory.

Braves 4, Giants 1
Atlanta beat San Francisco in a sloppily played game Sunday. Manager Bobby Cox thought his Braves could do better, so he chewed them out. And they did better. Then Cox played it low-key.

"I don't think clubhouse meetings win ball games. Good pitching does," he said. He got it from Mickey Mahler who allowed eight hits, struck out seven Giants and walked one in his first complete game of the season.

"I felt strong, had a good fastball, a good curve and a good slider — and the wind was blowing straight in, which was great," Mahler said. Atlanta Stadium is a home-run hitter's dream.

It was for Glenn Hubbard, who hit a three-run shot off Giants starter Phil Nasti. "It was a good pitch, a slider down by his shoes, and he just golfed it out," said Giants Manager Joe Altobelli.

Cubs 4, Phillies 1
Bobby Murcer hit two home runs, a solo shot in the seventh inning and a two-run clout in the ninth. But it was Bill Buckner who had the game-winning hit, a two-out, eighth-inning triple that broke a 1-1 tie and gave the Cubs their victory over Philadelphia.

Dick Tidrow, obtained last week from the New York Yankees, took over for Mike Krukow and allowed six hits and one run in five relief innings to chalk up his first NL victory. In three appearances (10 innings) with Chicago he has a win and a save and a sparkling 0.90 earned-run average.

Reds 3, Dodgers 2
Cincinnati and Los Angeles battled through nine scoreless innings, then Dan Driessen homered for the Reds to open the top of the 10th — only to have Reggie Smith homer leading off the bottom of the inning.

In the 13th, Ken Griffey walked, Dave Concepcion singled and Driessen walked and Ray Knight broke the tie with a single off Charlie Hough. It scored two runs — and the Reds needed both. In the bottom of the 13th Derrel Thomas doubled and Dave Lopes singled for the Dodgers' final run.

Padres 5, Astros 4
Dave Winfield drove in three runs and pitcher Randy Jones drove in two to lead San Diego past the Astros. Jones, recording his fifth victory, needed ninth-inning relief from Rollie Fingers, who picked up his sixth save.

Greenville Legion Team Makes Debut With Win Over Washington

By JIM KYLE
Reflector Sports Writer

New Pitt County American Legion baseball coach Gary Overton got a chance to look over his players against non-conference competition last night as Post 39 opened the season with a win over Washington 4-3.

"We made a lot of mistakes, but we're a young and inexperienced team," Overton said after the game. "When we iron out or defensive mistakes, we will be a good, sound ballclub that can play with anyone."

Pitt County committed four errors in the game, but Overton said better defensive play will come with experience. He added that the team has had only one good practice session due to the recent rains.

A total of 15 players took the field for Pitt County, giving Overton a chance to look over his crop. He took over the program this season, replacing Ed Hooks.

One area which pleased him was pitching. "I was very pleased with our pitching, especially Ben Wilson." Bob Hemingway started the game and went three innings, holding Post 15 hitless. But the visitors scored an unearned run in the third on a pair of Pitt County errors.

Wilson started the fourth and pitched through the seventh, giving up the other two Washington runs, but only one earned run. He struck out eight batters for an average of two per inning and walked none. He was credited with the win.

Melvin Howard came in to mop up in the final two frames. He put the visitors out in order in the eighth, but gave up two hits in the ninth and hit a batter, loading the bases with one out. He got the next two batters out, however, to end the game.

Overton was able to get an indication of his club's power at the plate in the first inning. With two away, Will Barrett tripled to left center field and Skip Topping followed with a homer over the left field fence near the Harrington Field scoreboard.

Neither team scored again until the third when Post 15 got on the board. Scott Cutlor led off the frame, reaching on an error. After an out, Don Burbage walked, and with two away, Drew Roberson got a two-base error to plate Cutlor, making it 2-1.

Pitt County extended its lead to 3-1 in the bottom of the third. Mark Shank beat out an infield hit and was sacrificed to second by Jeffrey Hines. With two away, Topping got his second hit to plate Shank.

The final Post 39 run came in the fourth. Carl Knight led off with a base on balls and Mark Douglas moved him up with a sacrifice. He scored when Shank reached on an error.

Wilson struck out the side twice during his stint on the mound for Pitt County, but ran into some trouble in the seventh. He allowed Chris Jones a single, and after one out, Neal Prater got a base hit. The two moved up on a wild pitch and Vann Parker reached on an error, scoring Jones. Prater came in when Bill Batchlor got a single to left field.

Pitt County preserved the win in the ninth as Howard got into trouble and pitched out of it. Vic Walls and Prater led off the frame with a pair of base hits, and after an out, Ed Stowe was hit by a pitch to load things up. Howard struck out the next batter, however, and the final batter hit a fly ball to short, ending the game.

Pitt County's next game is scheduled for tonight at Snow Hill.

Bullets In Semi-Finals

JAMESVILLE — Jamesville High School will play host to Midway High School Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in the Eastern finals of the Class 1-A baseball playoffs.

Jamesville ripped Manteo, 12-5, on Saturday, to advance to the state semifinals.

A victory by the Bullets Wednesday night would send them into the state finals, a best-of-three series with the Western winner.

Pro Football Hall of Famer Yale Lary had a 44.28 average of 503 career punts.

Greene Central Wins Squeezer

SNOW HILL — Greene Central nipped Wallace-Rose Hill, 9-8, last night, to advance to the third round of the Girls State Softball Playoffs.

Wallace-Rose Hill scored four runs in the top of the first, but Greene Central came back to score six in its half of the first. The visitors came back with three in the fifth, but Greene Central tied it with one in the bottom of the inning.

Finally, in the eighth inning, the Lady Rams spotted Wallace-Rose Hill a run, then came back with two to win it. Denise Chasten led Wallace-Rose Hill with four, while Jane Mattheis had three and Susan Whaley had two.

Sarah Taylor and Cincy Creech each had two hits to lead Greene Central, with Creech hitting a home run.

The win boosted the Greene Central record to 21-1. They face their next opponent on Wednesday, but the site and foe were not known this morning.

Bullets Must Start Comeback

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Sports Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — Kevin Grevey and Larry Wright, two of Washington's beleaguered guards, acknowledge the defending champion Bullets are having trouble, but all that will change if they can beat the Seattle SuperSonics tonight.

"I think we'll come back," said Grevey. "We're a team that makes great comebacks. We proved that when we were down 3-1 (against San Antonio).

"We can very well change this thing right around by getting a win here and now we're in the driver's seat. We just have to play much better than we have."

The Bullets won the opener of the National Basketball Association best-of-seven championship series, but lost the next two. Tonight's Game 4 is in the Seattle Coliseum.

The Bullets' guards have taken the brunt of criticism for the teams' poor play, having hit on only eight of 35 shots in Sunday's 105-95 loss, the third game of the series in which Washington hasn't scored 100 points.

"We didn't play well as a team," said Wright, the substitute who is supposed to fire up the club. "We've got to figure out a way to hit our shots.

We've got to take the game to Seattle, rather than let them take it to us. We're better when we're aggressive."

The Sonic guards outscored the Bullets' backcourt 64-19, but Wright said, "That comes from us not forcing the game to them. We walked the ball up the court and telegraphed every pass we threw. The Sonics had a chance to adjust and with the range of Gus Williams and Dennis Johnson, you can't do that."

Williams scored 31 points Sunday to bring his three-game total to 84, while Dennis Johnson had 17, plus nine assists.

Midway through Sunday's third quarter, when the Sonics had opened up a 17-point lead, Bullets' Coach Dick Motta brought in forward Greg Ballard and moved Bobby Dandridge to guard, a move he usually makes for defensive purposes. But this time, Motta said, it was to ster the offense.

Linebacker Dic Butkus of the Chicago Bears, a Pro Football Hall of Famer, on two occasions caught a pass for an extra point after a touchdown.

Twins Final Solace In Bottom Teams

By HERSCHEL NISSEN
AP Sports Writer

And just to keep things all in the family, shortstop Roy Smalley, Manager Gene Mauch's nephew, is leading the way. The Twins broke a five-game losing streak Monday by outslugging the Oakland A's 10-7. That boosted their record against the A's, Seattle Mariners and Toronto Blue Jays, the AL's three worst teams, to 14-0.

In addition, they are 5-2 with Detroit and 3-2 over Cleveland, giving them a 22-4 log against teams with sub-500 records. The only winning teams the Twins have played so far are California, Texas and Kansas City. They are only 4-14 against those clubs.

"All wins count the same. They don't put asterisks by the wins over the second-division clubs," said Smalley, who hit a two-run first-inning homer — his 10th of the season — and singled home two more runs to cap a tie-breaking four-run seventh.

Rangers 5, Red Sox 2
Fergie Jenkins and Sparky Lyle checked Boston on nine hits and Al Oliver lashed a two-run homer in the first inning as the Rangers posted their eighth consecutive triumph over the Red Sox dating back to last season. It was the third time in as many outings Jenkins had beaten his former team since he was traded back to Texas two years ago. Buddy Bell's double play grounder got the winning run home in the fifth inning and Bump Willis added a two-run single in the eighth.

Tigers 6, Blue Jays 2
Champ Summers, acquired from Cincinnati over the weekend, cracked his first American League homer to ignite a three-run second-inning while Jack Morris scattered seven hits in recording his first complete game of the year. Summers, who added two singles, triggered Detroit's three-run second with a two-out homer and Aurelio Rodriguez and Lynn Jones added RBI singles.

Jackie Stewart Hasn't Looked Back After Leaving Auto Racing

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Jackie Stewart hung up his auto racing helmet six years ago, and he hasn't looked back. "No, I don't miss it at all," said the wee Scotsman, three-time world driving champion and once the scourge of the Grand Prix circuit. "When I raced I gave it all I had. It was a challenging and glamorous era in my life.

cerned about the present unstable state of the sport he chose as a profession.

He was appalled at all the feuding and legal ramifications that shrouded the 63rd Indianapolis 500, the recognized giant of auto racing, last weekend.

"It reflected the absence of a strong ruling hand," he said. "If Tony Hulman had been alive, it wouldn't have happened. He was a man of great strength and of decorum. He was a pacifier who could have brought the competing factions together."

Hulman, who replaced Eddie Rickenbacker as head of the sprawling racing complex in 1946, died in 1977.

Stewart has both kind and critical words for the U.S. Auto Club, the ruling body for Indy-style racing.

"The USAC has lent credibility," he said, "but the sport has not grown. The tendency is to cut expenditures instead of expanding them."

"The prize money is not moving up, as in other sports. The crowds, outside Indianapolis, are disappointing. Facilities need to be upgraded. Racing teams are not getting a healthy return on their investment.

"This could discourage sponsors and manufacturers, such as Porsche. The stability is not there. There are deep problems."

Stewart said he thought too much was being made of the conflict between USAC and the maverick breakaway group known as Championship Auto Racing Teams (CART).

USAC, citing economy and safety as factors, favors reduction of the car's thrust and overall speed. CART wants less or no restrictions.

"It's a fallacy to think that greater speed brings greater fan appeal," Stewart insisted. "Put people on a corner and let cars run by at 150 miles an hour. They can't tell the difference between that and 200 miles an hour as long as the race is competitive."

Stewart flew over to do commentary on the Indy 500 for ABC-TV. Scottish-born, he now resides in Switzerland and is involved in various enterprises.

He raced twice at Indianapolis — finishing sixth in 1966 and 18th in 1967 after encountering engine problems.

He made his name on the Grand Prix circuit.

"The two are as different as chalk and cheese, lions and zebras," he said. "They require different skills. The Grand Prix involved braking and intricate turns. The 500 is a test of accuracy and precision."

Jackie was asked his thoughts on women, such as Janet Guthrie, competing with the men.

"I'm all for it — the more the better," he said. "This is a macho sport but there's no reason women can't race as well as men. We've had some outstanding women car racers in Europe — Anita Taylor, Christobel Carlyle and Marie-Claude Beaumont. You should see Marie. She's a beauty. A great attraction."

Exchange 5, First Federal 2

The Exchange pushed over three runs in the sixth inning to gain a 5-2 win over First Federal in the Tar Heel Little League yesterday.

The Exchange grabbed the lead in the first inning, pushing over two runs. Doug Bray was hit by a pitch and Tim Clark walked. Both moved up on an out and wild pitches brought them both around.

First Federal came back with one in the second. Keith Gaskins walked and came around on three wild pitches. The tying run came in the fourth. Chris Meeks walked, moved up on a passed ball and a wild pitch, and then scored after Phillip James, Ervin Best and Tyrone Barrett all walked.

Exchange came back with three to win it in the sixth. Joe Hobgood reached on a three-base error and scored on Billy Michel's double. Monte Atkinson reached on an error, scoring Michel, and Atkinson took third on an out. After Robert Joyner walked, a double steal scored Atkinson.

The Exchange got only two hits, and no one on either team got more than one.

Babe Ruth

Aaction Movers 7, Pepsi-Cola 2

Aaction Movers gained a 7-2 Babe Ruth League victory over Pepsi-Cola last night.

The win evened Aaction's record at 1-1, while Pepsi fell to 1-2.

Aaction scored its first run in the first. Scott Wilson walked and Bryan Dye reached on an error. Another error let Wilson score.

Two more crossed in the second. Chris Joyner singled and moved up on a sacrifice. Bill Owens also reached on an error, and Rudy Stalls reached on an infield hit. An error allowed Joyner to score. Jeff walk to Harris scored Pollard with the fifth run.

Wilson grounded out, scoring Owens for a 3-0 lead.

Aaction added two in the third and two more in the sixth.

Pepsi got its first run in the fourth. Emmett Walsh singled, moved up on an error and scored on Ike Smith's hit. The other run came in the sixth. Billy Brannigan tripled and scored on another triple by Ricky Owens.

Joyner led the Aaction hitting with two, while BraPepsi.

Planters Bank 3, Home Builders 2

Planters Bank nipped Home Builders, 3-2, in the Babe Ruth League to take sole possession of first place.

Planters is now 3-0, while Home Builders drops to 2-1.

Planters got its first run in the first. Gordon Douglas reached on an error and Crowell Pope doubled. A passed ball scored Douglas.

Home Builders came back with one in the bottom of the first. Scott Galloway doubled, moved up on a passed ball, and scored when Roger Williams singled.

Planters went back ahead in the second, then scored the winning run in the third. Pope reached on an error and then took third on another error. A wild pitch scored him.

The other Home Builders run came over in the fourth. Planters got only two hits off Galloway, while Galloway led the Home Builders' hitting with three. Danny Woods added two.

Southern Pitt Little League

WINTERVILLE — Winter-

ville took a pair of victories last night in the Southern Pitt Little League. Winterville downed Wellcome, 16-3, and then beat Bethel, 13-3.

Doug McRoy was the winning pitcher in the first game. Emory Vines, Joey Joyner, McRoy and Leon Cox all had two hits to lead Winterville. E. Thomas led Wellcome with two.

In the second game, Ronald Daniels was the winning pitcher. Cox and Joyner each had two hits to pace Winterville, while no one had more than one for Bethel.

Winterville is now 3-1.

Gosling Plans Leave N.C. Symphony Post

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Citing a lack of financial growth of the North Carolina symphony, John Gosling said Monday that he will step down as conductor and artistic director of the orchestra when his contract expires next year.

"I've put my heart and soul in this orchestra, and the work that I've done I want to see continue. But it seems that we're ... just spinning our wheels," the 51-year-old conductor said.

Gosling has been conductor and artistic director of the symphony since 1972, when he took over for Benjamin Swalin. "With inflation, it is becoming increasingly harder to finance the symphony. While finances are not my primary concern with the orchestra, what we can do artistically depends on what we can do financially," he said.

The symphony is financed by state allocations, ticket sales, contributions and foundation donations.

Gosling's contract expires in June 1980. He said he is under consideration for other positions, but declined to say where.

SPEAKER — Brian L. Peters, the children's church director of First Free Will Baptist Church, Newport News, Va., will be guest speaker at Grace Free Will Baptist Church Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Peter's presentation will include practical information and teacher aids such as visuals, puppets and child promotion. The public is invited to attend.

George Norman of Greensboro, chairman of the trustees of the N.C. Symphony Society, said later, "John's done a first-class job over the years, bringing the symphony along and attracting a lot of fine musicians. We wish him well."

"He's done an outstanding job in bringing the symphony to a level of national prominence. The term 'major symphony' is now applied to North Carolina," Norman said.

He said the trustee's artistic committee would probably begin a search for a replacement soon.

When Gosling joined the symphony in 1972, it had 65 players, a 29-week season and a $1.6 million annual budget. The orchestra now has 73 players, a 40-week season and a budget of $2.2 million.

Gosling was the conductor of the Erie Philharmonic in Pennsylvania before coming to North Carolina. He spends his summers at the Music from Bear Valley Festival, which he created a decade ago in California.

WAGE INCREASE
EDEN, N.C. (AP) — A 7 percent wage increase went into effect Sunday for hourly employees at Fieldcrest Mills; but many workers complain that the cost-of-living raise, said to comply with President Carter's guidelines, isn't enough.

equally vital.

Normally, a double of a no trump contract calls for the lead of either the doubler's suit or his partner's. Here, however, South's insistence on a no trump contract made it clear that he had the enemy suits under control, so East's double was intended to show tricks in the overcaller's first-bid suit. That was the only clue West needed to defeat the contract.

The element of time first made its appearance in the selection of the opening lead. West realized that he could not afford to give declarer a second trick in diamonds, for he had only one entry to his diamond suit and declarer would almost surely remove that entry before West's diamonds were established. Therefore, West chose the jack of hearts as his opening lead.

Declarer covered with the king and East won the ace. He shifted to a diamond, and declarer's ten lost to West's queen. Back came the nine of hearts, and declarer made a good decision when he played low from dummy. Now East was on the spot. He realized that if he also followed low, he would be able to limit declarer to two heart tricks. However, then he would not have an entry to lead another diamond through declarer.

To gain a tempo, East overtook the nine with his queen even though that set up a third heart trick in dummy. The diamond return through declarer's tenace allowed West to establish his suit while he still held the ace of clubs for an entry.

This excellent defense left declarer with no counter. Even with three heart tricks, he had only eight tricks without the club suit. Fortunately, for him, he took those tricks before starting on clubs, so when West won the ace of clubs, he had been reduced to only enough diamonds to defeat the contract one trick.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal bridge format. Do they know something you don't? Charles Goren's "Four-Deal Bridge" will teach you the strategies and tactics of this fast-paced action game that provides the cure for unending rubbers. Revision Of N.C. Rape Laws Voted By Assembly

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Legislation revising North Carolina's rape laws, including a provision strengthening punishment for related sexual offenses, was enacted by the General Assembly Monday.

The bill won final passage when the House voted unanimously to go along with Senate amendments.

Supporters, including the state attorney general's office, said the most significant change the bill makes in current law is the recognition of homosexual rape as a first-degree offense. Homosexual rape has previously been punishable by 10 years in prison but carries a possible life sentence under the new law.

The measure creates new crimes of first and second-degree sexual offense, covering related sexual assaults not covered by existing definitions of rape.

The measure was sponsored by Reps. Louise Brennan and Ruth Easterling, D-Mecklenburg, and was approved earlier in both the House and Senate.

The new law abolishes the legal presumption that a person is incapable of committing a sex offense if under 14 years of age. It retains a provision that prevents charges of rape being brought against one partner by the other in a marriage unless the two are living apart by judicial decree.

In other legislative action:

S & L's

Legislation allowing mutual savings and loan associations to convert to stock ownership won approval in the Senate, after opponents gave up their efforts to block the measure. The Senate voted 46-2 to approve the bill and send it to the House.

Sen. Marshall Rauch, D-Gaston, an opponent who stalled the bill for weeks in the finance committee that he chairs, said he was giving up his fight against the measure. The Senate adopted committee amendments prohibiting any state-chartered association from issuing stock until federal regulatory boards permit such a conversion for a federal-chartered savings and loans in North Carolina.

"The bill has all the safeguards we could think of to put in," Rauch said.

Uniform Sentencing

The uniform sentencing bill pushed by Gov. Jim Hunt was scheduled for House debate today when it failed to consider the measure Monday night. The bill would replace most state sentencing laws with a system of presumed sentences. A judge would be expected to issue the presumed sentence for each crime unless he gave written reasons for giving a stiffer or lighter sentence.

Loans

The House enacted legislation permitting lenders to charge a 4 percent penalty for late payment on loans. The legislation was enacted when the House voted unanimously to go along with Senate amendments.

Abandoned Pets

Legislation was enacted making it a misdemeanor to abandon an animal when a person has custody of that animal. The measure, sponsored by Rep. Marilyn Bissell, R-Mecklenburg, carries a $200 fine and was enacted when the House voted to go along with Senate changes reducing the penalty.

Money

A budget subcommittee approved two proposals improving travel compensation for state workers. The joint appropriations subcommittee approved measures raising the daily travel pay from $27 to $31 a day and raising auto compensation from 17 cents to 19 cents per mile.

The subcommittee took the action while considering special appropriation requests. The panel is dividing up $13 million included in the proposed biennial budget for special appropriations.

The panel rejected a request that $500,000 be put in reserve for construction of a state government office building in downtown Fayetteville.

Campus Cops
The House voted tentative approval to a bill giving college campus police officers arrest powers.

Ingram To Seek Another Office

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — John Ingram said Monday that he doesn't plan to seek another term as insurance commissioner.

He said, however, that he expects to seek another elected office, but he declined to say which one.

Ingram made the remarks in a speech at a fire-fighting training school in Wilmington. Ingram said the office of commissioner will be ineffective until it regains the power to veto insurance-rate increases.

"Until you elect a governor, a lieutenant governor and a (House) speaker who will overcome the special interests, the office of insurance commissioner will not be worth having."

Ingram has been at odds with the insurance industry and with the Legislature for some time.

A bill passed in 1977 allows him to turn down rate-increase requests but allows the insurance companies to put new rates into effect anyway while the cases are appealed in court.

Ingram has lobbied extensively to try to see that the law, scheduled to expire this year, is not extended. The Legislature has an extension bill under consideration.

Ingram said he is also unhappy with a disclosure law that requires certain comparative rate information to be made available to consumers. He wanted a stronger bill.

Ingram, who was defeated by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., in last year's U.S. Senate race, said he plans to decide after the legislative session is over what office he will seek in 1980.

Tobacco Loan Rates

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Grade loan rates for the 1979-crop flue-cured tobacco will range from 70 cents to $1.67 per pound under a proposal announced recently by Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the U. S. department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The proposed rates reflect an average support of $129.30 per pound, 8.3 cents per pound above the 1978 level, Fitzgerald said.

The deadline for receiving comments on the proposal is June 22. Loan rates will be discounted 10 percent for any grade of the primings group, (including first quality non-descript), which contain moderately more dirt or sand than normal. Tobacco containing excessive sand or dirt will be graded No-G (No-Grade.)

As in the past, no loans will be available on any tobacco grade No-G, N2 (second quality non-descript), W (Doubtful Keeping Order), U (Unsound), or scrap.

Marketings of these grades, however, will be charged against the quotas for the farms on which they were produced.

The cooperative associations through which advances are made available will be authorized to deduct one cent per pound to apply against overhead costs.

Comments on the proposed loan rates should be submitted in writing to the Director, Price Support and Loan Division, USDA-ASCS, P. O. Box 2415, Washington, D. C. 20013.

Eastern School PTA To Meet

The Eastern Elementary School PTA meeting will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. A special program will be given by musical students.

Including: band students under the direction of Mrs. Dottie Jo Knight; Mrs. Brenda Harrison, strings; and Mrs. Venora Hopkins, chorus.

Glenn Cox, superintendent of city schools, will speak briefly on the June 8 school bond issue.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 30, 1979

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good time to think about your ambitions and how best to succeed with them. Discuss your policies and principles with a bigwig and you make big headway.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are highly creative now and can get much done along such lines. Be with persons you enjoy and have a good time. Learn to talk less and listen more and you learn more.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You make home conditions far better by the attention you place on them now. A good time to entertain friends but do it after business hours.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have new plans to advance and should discuss them with your associates for best results. Contact good friends and get their backing.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you think big you have a fine opportunity that can help to make you big if you truly apply yourself. Look to a bigwig for the financial assistance you need.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are able to impress others considerably because you are dynamic and charming now. Either accept social invitations or extend them now. Be the strutting Leo and get good results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to elevate your consciousness to greater things and you can become an important person. An expert can give you fine advice which should be followed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Listen to what a bigwig has to suggest so that you gain a cherished personal aim. Be with good friends who can help you become more affluent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact an influential person who can assist you in furthering your career considerably. Handle community affairs intelligently and get fine results. Make sure financial affairs are in good order.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Good day to enlarge your scopes, plan a trip, be outgoing, advancing. Put that fine energy to work early. Make arrangements to meet fascinating people, worthwhile personalities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Put your resources to work and become more successful. Get in touch with progressive people you know and make new allies. Bankers and business experts can be of real help to you also.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you listen to what a clever partner has to suggest, you can coordinate your efforts and gain greater benefits in the future. Being petty is foolish. Concentrate on larger issues.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can make headway in your career by applying more practical and progressive methods. Find a new treatment also that will improve the state of your health.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will have tremendous charm and will be spoiled by everyone, so teach to stand on own feet and then this becomes a most successful life. Give praise for good work done. Plan for a fine academic education and give cultural benefits early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

HELLO, BOSS.

Everybody here would like to say one thing to you today.

"We appreciate your business, Boss!" You see, at Branch Banking and Trust we've known for some time how

why the big ad now? It's simple. At a time when personal

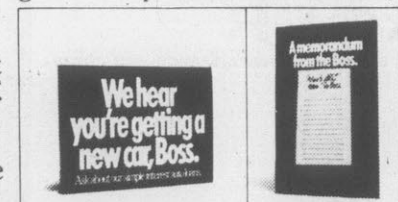

THE BOSS'S CAR.

We make you boss. You make it stick.

service has all but disappeared, we want you to know it's alive and well at BB&T. That means when you want to look for ways to earn more on your savings — or get more out of your checking — we won't leave any stone unturned. When you want to talk about a loan, we'll listen. And we'll try to help you get it. Because everybody works a little harder when they know they're working for the Boss.

In fact, to make sure we never forget who's important to us around here,

We're decorating our office so everyone knows who's boss. We're distributing Boss badges, bumper stickers and signs at all our offices.

Not because we expect signs and buttons to convince anyone of anything. When you've got the kind of people we have — people who are committed to their communities and their neighbors — that isn't necessary.

But because we want the whole world to know that personal service is a thriving business at BB&T — and you're at the heart of that business. Because you're the Boss.
