Carter Also Asks Blue Collar Worker's Views

TALK OF THE TOWN - William Fisher talks to a friend as his wife Betty answers questions for reporters in their home in the Pittsburgh suburb of Carnegie.

By JAMES GERSTENZANG Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter slipped away from Camp David today to an unannounced destination - reportedly Martinsburg, W.Va. - for his second secret meeting with ordinary citizens in 24 hours.

Thursdays night, Carter left his mountaintop retreat and spent several hours in Carnegie, Pa., seeking the advice of steelworkers and other blue-collar laborers in a back porch give-and-take laced with lemonade.

At midmorning today, presidential spokesman Rex Granum told reporters Carter had again left Camp David for an undisclosed location, and would return sometime later in the day.

Granum would not rule out the possibility of a third or fourth presidential meeting with citizens, saying only that "the president is concluding the domestic summit by meeting with private citizens away from Camp David."

The advice he heard Thursday night in Carnegie, Pa., was for a speech just 72 hours away. That national television appearance could make or break his political future.

"I told him I thought the country was in a downhill spiral right now - inflation, the gas shortage, all the good stuff. He thinks the country's in a downhill spiral, too," said William Fisher, the president's 29-year-old host.

Carter described the conversation, around a picnic table, as "interesting and informative," said presidential spokesman Rex Granum. He revealed the president's whereabouts after Carter returned to Camp David, Md., for more work on the speech he will deliver Sunday at 10 p.m. EDT.

The president was having lunch at the mountaintop retreat today with several journalists, including Frank Reynolds of ABC, Walter Cronkite of CBS and some newspaper and magazine political columnists.

They were among the last outsiders with whom Carter arranged to consult as he concluded his domestic summit meeting at Camp David on a wide range of domestic ills. His wife, Rosalynn, a summit participant, said there are "no quick fixes."

Mrs. Carter and two White House aides, press secretary Jody Powell and appointments secretary Phil Wise, accompanied Carter by

No Renewal Club License

By TOM BAINES Reflecter Staff Writer

The City Council, following a hearing last night with sworn testimony, voted unanimously to deny a request for renewal of a special use permit for the operation of a private club on the Pactolus Highway.

The Council action followed lengthy discussion and testimony regarding the request by R. C. Robbins to have the permit, issued initially the Council last July, renewed.

Robbins, who was represented in his renewal petition by attorney Mickey Herrin, offered notice of appeal to the Council following the denial action.

In offering the motion to deny the renewal request, Councilman Charles Vincent concluded that Robbins had failed to satisfy parts of the general statutes governing the operation of his business.

Robbins, who was issued a permit a year ago to operate a "private club," informed the Council that since his club was not making money as a private operation, he decided to turn the club into a disco dance business.

A gathering of residents who live in the vicinity of Robbins' disco appeared before the Council in a show of opposition to the renewal request and spokesmen for the residents cited the loud music, early morning hours of operation, vehicular traffic problems, litter and general noise of the business as being disturbing.

Chief Inspector Alton Warren reported that he had visited the club three times during the last week to in-

DC-10s Are Cleared

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Aviation Administration will immediately release the grounded DC-10 jetliners for flight provided their engine mounts undergo frequent inspections, Rep. Jim. Lloyd, D-Calif., said today.

Lloyd said he received word of the action in a phone call from FAA administrator Langhorne M. Bond.

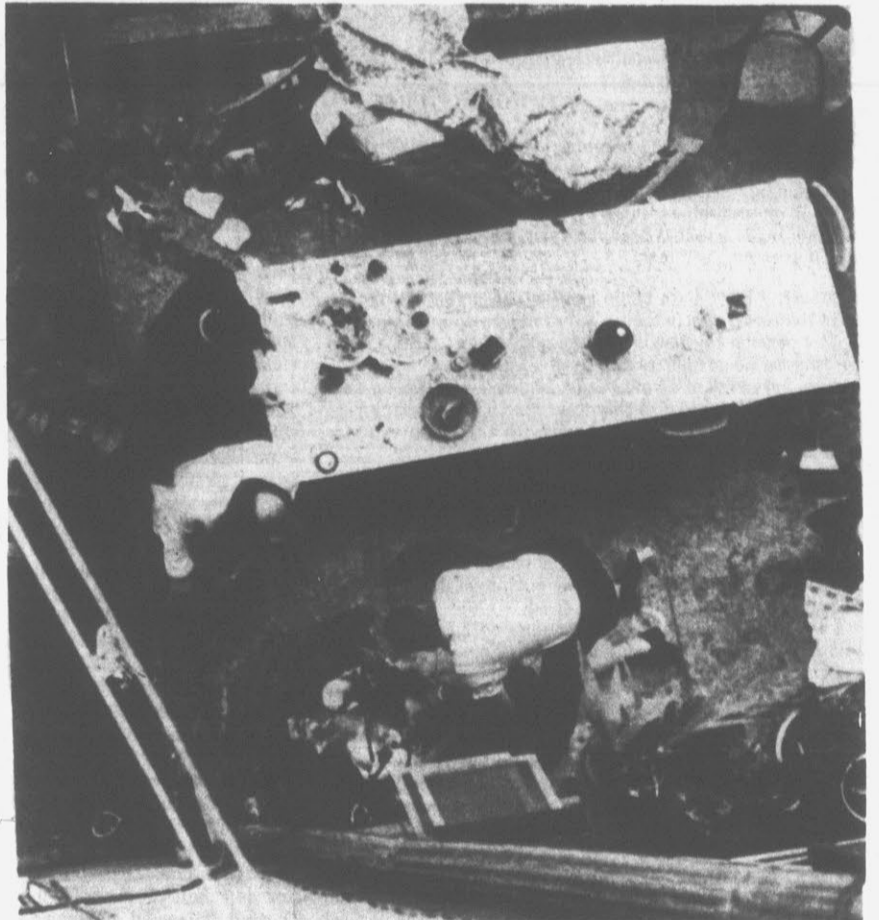

Bond scheduled a news conference at noon EDT to announce his decision on the DC10s.

Lloyd, chairman of a subcommittee which is to hold hearings next week on the jet, said Bond told him the plane "is fundamentally safe as long as an adequate check" is made on their engine mounts.

He said as a condition for lifting the grounding, the FAA will require that the thrust-link assembly on the mounting be checked after every 100 hours of flight, and that other areas of the assembly be inspected every 300 hours.

Lloyd, chairman of a Science and Technology investigations subcommittee, said, "I would urge operators of the aircraft to be super-cautious in checking these aircraft," he said.

SCENE OF GALANTE'S DEATH - Authorities examine the bodies of Mafia chieftain Carmine "Lilo" Galante, top, and Leonardo Coppola, bottom, after they were killed in a Brooklyn, N.Y. restaurant Thursday. (AP Laserphoto)

Mafia Chief Dies In Hail Of Bullets

NEW YORK (AP) - Carmine "The Cigar" Galante's ruthless ambition to become organized crime's "boss of bosses" was ended as ruthlessly as it was followed, police say, in a bloodied restaurant courtyard with Galante still clutching a fat stogie in his teeth.

"He vowed when he got out of prison that he would become a powerhouse," said Police Lt. Remo Francheshini, adding that there was evidence Galante was trying to cut in on the criminal activities of the Genovese crime family.

"He was into everything - narcotics, pornography, loansharking, labor rackets," said Francheshini. "He was trying to turn all the crime families upside down."

Galante, his bodyguard and another man died in a hail of point-blank gunfire Thursday afternoon at an Italian restaurant in an decaying section of Brooklyn. The restaurant's owner was among the dead.

The six assassins wore ski masks - a fingerprint on the crime that authorities said made it different from executions of other Mafia chieftains.

"Masks are not a usual thing," said Ralph Salerno, a former New York police officer versed in the ways of the mob.

Galante, who was under 24-hour guard while in prison four months ago as a result of a reported contract on his life, was drinking wine and munching salad in a courtyard behind Joe & Mary Italian-American Restaurant.

He apparently felt the restaurant was safe turf and had come to wish owner Giuseppe Turano a pleasant vacation trip next week to his Sicilian homeland, authorities said.

Galante, 69, had been free on $50,000 bail since March 23 after the U.S. Parole Commission passed a deadline for a new hearing. He had returned to jail for violating parole from a 1962 drug conviction. His infraction: consorting with known criminals.

Investments

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Investments in new and expanded industries in North Carolina edged slightly higher in the first six months of this year over 1978, Gov. Jim Hunt said Thursday.

Hunt said the investments through June totaled nearly $1.7 billion, compared with a $1.04 billion for the first half of 1978.

The governor said the investments will create more than 20,000 new jobs when the firms and expansions are in operation.

Ventures by 106 companies accounted for just over $1 billion of the investment capital, with the rest coming in industrial expansions. Investments by foreign firms during the period amounted to $102 million, the governor said.

A HOTLINE APPEAL

FAMILY'S HOUSE BURNED

The home of Mrs. Claudia Rouse and her four children just west of Joyner's Crossroads near Farmville burned Sunday morning. Virtually everything the family owned was destroyed.

The family is staying temporarily with relatives and has a prospect for another house, but are in need of household goods and some clothing.

Mrs. Rouse, the widow of Johnny Rouse, who died Christmas Eve, 1977, said she believes the fire started from the food freezer on the back porch.

Gifts for the family may be left with Mrs. Rouse's brother-in-law, George Rouse, at Speight Servicenter in Farmville or with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Katie Peaden, at the Falkland Post Office or at homes of any of the family members. Inquiries may be made by calling the George Rouse residence, 753-3896, or the Frank (Katie) Peaden residence, 758-1855.

Clothes sizes for the family members are as follows: Mrs. Rouse, 38 pants, 44 blouse; Jeffery, 32-34 pants; Carolyn, misses 6 or 7; Stephen, 10 boys'; and Christy, 7 girls'. The family said the two younger children are especially in need of clothes.

The Hotline appeal for Mrs. Rouse and her children was asked for by the Falkland Presbyterian Women of the Church, Mrs. Dorothy Hamill, president.

CONSUMER PROTECTION MEASURE

The N. C. General Assembly has extended the consumer's right to sue under the General Consumer Protection Law to four years. Previously the law was vague as to whether its time value was two or three years, according to a deputy attorney general in the N. C. Dept. of Justice. He said this is the basic law that defines unfair or deceptive business practices as illegal. Most consumer protection action is carried out under this law, he indicated.

PLO Seizes Egyptian Embassy, Diplomats

By ISMAIL KOVACI Associated Press Writer

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) - Three Palestinian terrorists blasted their way into the Egyptian Embassy today, seized the ambassador and other hostages and reportedly killed "many" of them, the state radio said. Egypt gave the go-ahead for an army assault on the building if needed.

The raiders killed a Turkish policeman and Turkish security guard as they stormed into the building, firing automatic weapons and apparently tossing a grenade. It was reported they seized as many as 20 hostages, including Ambassador Ahmed Kemal Olema and his son.

The terrorists demanded that Turkey sever its relations with Egypt and Israel, that Egypt release two Palestinian prisoners, and that they get a bus to take them to Ankara's airport and a plane to fly to a friendly Arab country.

If the conditions are not met, "we are determined to blow up the building," state radio quoted one of the terrorists as telling a reporter in a telephone interview.

In Cairo, Egyptian Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil said he had given permission for Turkish troops to assault the embassy "if they see on the spot that it is needed to save lives."

He said Egypt holds the Palestine Liberation Organization responsible for the attack and threatened "serious retaliation if guerrillas harmed Egyptian diplomats. Palestinian guerrillas have struck Egyptian targets periodically since President Anwar Sadat launched his peace initiative with Israel 21 months ago.

A Turkish employee of the embassy who was released told police "there are many dead" among the hostages, the government broadcast said. This could not be otherwise confirmed.

Missing Leaf Sale For First Time In 25 Years

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - For the first time in 25 years, farmer Billy Lovette of Columbus County will not be at the warehouse to hear the auctioneer's call for his and others' tobacco.

On Wednesday, Lovette plowed his 18 acres of leaf under.

He is one of hundreds of North Carolina farmers who have been ordered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to destroy tobacco crops contaminated with the herbicide picloram.

The USDA ruled Tuesday that farmers who do not destroy the contaminated tobacco would not receive federal price supports for their remaining healthy crops. State officials deemed the ruling necessary to keep the damaged leaves off the warehouse floors.

Beginning this morning, agents of USDA's Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service in the state's 11 counties with damaged tobacco will contact farmers and arrange for destruction of the tobacco. ASCS agents must be on hand to witness the destruction.

Lovette was one of those Tar Heel farmers using one of three brands of fertilizer manufactured by Smith-Douglass Inc. at its Kinston plant. Apparently, a potent herbicide was mixed in with the fertilizer. Smith-Douglass officials told Lovette that his 18 acres were not suitable for market.

"I've been farming 25 years for myself, and I've never seen anything like it," Lovette said. The company official who certified the crop 100 percent destroyed did not discuss any terms of a financial settlement.

But Lovette holds no grudge against Smith-Douglass. "Everybody makes mistakes," he said. "I'm full of them myself."

Meanwhile, none of the farmers who have suffered damage to their tobacco crops have been compensated for their losses. Smith-Douglass officials at their offices in Norfolk were unavailable for comment.

Investigating Ocracoke Fire

OCRACOKE, N.C. (AP) - The origin of a fire that caused severe damage to facilities at the Ocracoke Coast Guard station remained under investigation today.

Aside from that the station was functional Thursday just 24 hours after a blaze destroyed its communications center and a portion of its boathouse. No boats were lost, however, and the Coast Guard was able to use boat radios for communications.

"We're in operation and able to handle any mission," said Chief Ronnie O'Neal.

Coast Guard spokesman Fred Maldonado said electrical wiring was damaged by the flames.

First Meeting Of Stockholders Here

Some 100 of the 240 stockholders of North State Savings and Loan Corp. attended the initial stockholders meeting of the firm this week at the Willis Building.

North State, scheduled to open for business in two weeks, will be the 23rd stock-owned savings and loan to open in North Carolina since the state legislature authorized stock savings and loans in 1977.

The new corporation will open on the corner of First and Washington Streets, across from the Town Common, in a modular unit. Construction of a permanent office on the Second Street corner of the site, will begin immediately, it was reported.

William D. Reagan Jr., a graduate of East Carolina University with B.S. and M.B.A. degrees, serves as president of North State.

Board officers elected at the stockholders meeting included: I. J. Edwards Jr., chairman; Leslie H. Garner, vice president; J. T. Snowden Jr., treasurer; Ferrell Blount III, secretary; and A. B. Whitley, J. C. Whitehurst, J. Carlton Taylor, Dr. Charles Broome, W. G. Blount, Les Fuchs, Max Ray Joyner, Morris Brody, Bob Whitehurst, R. E. Davenport Jr., and Reagan as board members.

Vacuum Cleaner Frightens Child

By Abigail Van Buren
1979 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I feel like the biggest dummy in the world, but I have a problem I'm ashamed to ask anyone else about. I live in a small apartment with my husband and Debbie, our 20-month-old daughter. Every time I run the vacuum cleaner, Debbie becomes hysterical. She starts to scream and shake and I can hardly calm her down. She is terrified of the vacuum cleaner and I can't seem to explain that it's only a machine and won't hurt her. Maybe it's the noise that frightens her, but that can't be helped. I have not used my vacuum cleaner for weeks, and I really need to. Can you help me?

C. IN WORCESTER, MASS.

DEAR C.: Your child becomes hysterical because she is afraid of that curious-looking "monster" that makes such a threatening noise. Show her how harmless it is by letting her turn it off and on, and also by letting her guide it. When Debbie realizes that she can control it, and it can't harm her, she'll overcome her fear.

DEAR ABBY: I am 62, in good health and still a better man than most men in their 40s. I'm well-to-do and can retire with a pension anytime. I work for a big airline. I can offer a girl a good home and travel.

I am very fond of a young lady, 22. She's very pretty and well built and would probably marry me if I made her an offer. She is not a virgin. She lived with another man for a year but he left her.

Here's the twister. I just met another lady. She's the kind most men dream about but never meet. She's 19 and a virgin. She doesn't drink, smoke or run around. She's my dancing instructor and she thinks a lot of me, but her contract states that she can't date any of her students. She's very honest and refuses to see me outside of dancing class because she doesn't want to get fired.

I went to a woman who tells fortunes with cards and she told me I should keep trying for the virgin.

I am a Capricorn and the virgin is a Gemini. What do you think?

LONG ISLANDER

DEAR LONG: I'm no fortune teller, but if the virgin thought as much of you as you think of her, she would give up her job for you. But as long as she refuses to see you outside of class, a future with her is not in the cards.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 48-year-old grandmother who, for reasons of health, must have all my teeth extracted and replaced with dentures.

I have always had a very ugly mouth. My teeth were yellow, they stuck out in front, and there were large spaces between them.

My dentist promised to make me a beautiful set of teeth—nicely spaced, straight, white and pretty. I was looking forward to having a mouth I wouldn't be ashamed to smile with. Then I told my sister-in-law about it and she said, "Oh, no, don't let the dentist do that. You won't look like yourself." Then she went on to say that a really good dentist would try to make my new teeth look exactly like my old teeth.

Abby, I don't want them to look like the teeth I hated all my life. I want to look prettier. What would you do?

UGLY MOUTH IN ILLINOIS

DEAR MOUTH: I'd go for the beautiful new choppers!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TROUBLE GALORE" IN WACO, TEXAS: I just read your 55-page letter and will send you a personal reply when you send me your address. In the meantime, if you wish to cry over spilled milk, next time please condense it.

Couple Marries In Candlelight Ceremony

GOLDSBORO — The Greater Guiding Star Holy Church was the scene of the candlelight ceremony held Saturday, June 30, at three o'clock in the afternoon uniting Miss Denise Peten and Tony Allen Tyson in marriage. Elder J. D. Brown and the Rev. Clifton Buckham performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lillie Peten of Goldsboro, and Brodie Peten of Brooklyn, N. Y. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Leatha T. Barnes of Farmville, and the late Mr. Charles Tyson.

A program of wedding music was presented by Benjamin Johnson, organist of Goldsboro and Mrs. Molly Small, vocalist of Greenville.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Rueben Hamilton of Goldsboro. The bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza over peau de soie fashioned with a colonial neckline, empire waist and long fitted sleeves. The bodice featured a sheer semi-yoke and appliques of re-embroidered alencon lace and pearl motifs. The sleeves were appliqued with re-embroidered alencon lace and pearl motifs and closed with bridal buttons. The A-line skirt was appliqued with matching lace and pearl motifs bordered by a scalloped layer of re-embroidered alencon lace that extended into a chapel length train.

The bride chose a chapel length veil of silk illusion with appliques of re-embroidered alencon lace which fell from a Juliet cap of matching lace. She carried an arrangement of white and yellow daisies, baby's breath, white carnations with white satin ribbon tied in love knots.

Maid of honor was Valantricie Sauls of Goldsboro and JoAnn Ward of La Grange was matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Lauretta Exum, Genia Reid, cousins of the bride, Sandra Bell, Angelina Greenfield, Veronica Cogdell, Cindy Brown, Patricia Pearsall and Cassandra White, all of Goldsboro. Mia Pachawn Smith of Goldsboro was flower girl.

Charles Ray Tyson Jr. of Brooklyn, N. Y., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsman were Alvin and Gary Tyson, brothers of the bridegroom, Randolph Tyson, cousin of the bridegroom, and Bobby Ray Joyner, all of Farmville. Anthony Baldwin, Nathaniel Reid, cousins of the bride, Christopher Brown, Andrew McKinney and Garry Packer, all of Goldsboro. Kenneth Romando Sauls served as ring bearer.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Mary Herring of Goldsboro.

Mrs. Tony Allen Tyson

The bride is a graduate of Goldsboro High School and plans to enter ECU. The bridegroom is a graduate of Farmville Central High School and is self-employed as a brick mason.

A reception was held at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Eleanor Hutchin, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Bettye Cox, cousin of the bride, presided at the register.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and decorated with an arrangement of white and yellow daisies, baby's breath, mixed summer flowers, greenery and white tapers.

After the first slice of the wedding cake was cut by the bride couple, it was served by Mrs. Arnette Cogdell and Mrs. Nellie Altman. Mrs. Emma Reid and Mrs. Areatha Moye, cousins of the bride, poured punch.

Music selections were presented by the Eastern District YPHA Choir. Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Heath, aunt and uncle of the bride.

The bridegroom gave the after-rehearsal dinner in the church fellowship hall. A breakfast on the morning of the wedding was given by Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson and Mrs. Rhonda Floyd at the Holiday Inn.

The couple is living in Farmville after a wedding trip to Virginia.

Quick Meals At Home Receive Percentage Vote

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Editor

If you live in a metropolitan area and spend more than 35 minutes fixing dinner, you're out of step with the times.

That is one interpretation of a recent survey of changing mealtime habits.

The study was commissioned by a New York City-based magazine. It showed 35 minutes was the median dinner preparation time in urban areas where two-thirds of the United States' population lives. Only 17 percent of those surveyed said they spent an hour or more on that chore.

Seven out of 10 said they used a convenience food — mainly canned.

Nearly one in five said she did not plan ahead.

Half said they just grab whatever is on the pantry shelf and heat it up.

Two-thirds said they never cooked for future meals.

The telephone survey of 501 persons — 92 percent of them women — was conducted during a two-week period in March this year by the Wilkerson Co. of Philadelphia for Ladies' Home Journal magazine. It covered 19 major markets, ranging in size from Raleigh, N.C., to New York City, and stretching from San Diego to Boston.

Mrs. Patricia Tregellas, the magazine's vice president and director of communications, reported its findings at a workshop of the food industry's annual convention in Dallas. She said they contradict some widely held beliefs about American eating habits.

For example: Eighty-two percent of dinners are still eaten at home. In almost three-fourths of the households surveyed, everybody eats together. Only 6 percent said everybody ate at home but at different times.

Only 4 out of 10 said they had prepared a snack for any member of the family (themselves included) the day before they were surveyed.

Mrs. Tregellas said a lot of eating out occurs at fast food establishments, "but most of it is considered 'snacking.' Only 4 percent said they had lunch at a fast food spot yesterday; 2 percent dinner. And breakfast didn't even hit the chart on our study."

The favorite snack, the survey showed, was sweet: cookies or cake, followed by fruit or chips.

Most food shopping and meal preparation is still women's work, even when the women hold outside jobs, Mrs. Tregellas said.

"There's been a lot of noise about men becoming fascinated with cooking, but ... we found that only 2 percent of the dinner preparation was done by a husband on his own."

Ninety-four percent of the women said they do the majority of the shopping. Only one in 25 men said he was his household's primary shopper.

Despite high prices, the study found beef still the favorite dinner main course in 20 percent of the households, followed by poultry 15 percent, ham or pork 10 percent, and pasta 9 percent.

Another speaker, Rowena Hubbard, of San Francisco, said other recent research suggests pasta's rise to prominence reflects concern with inflation and a need to cut costs.

Ms. Hubbard, who is director of consumer services for Castle & Cooke Foods, said the meat-and-potato ethic is disappearing in some households as part of a move to lighter dinners. She said 45 percent of the respondents in onwed salas moving ahead of potatoes in popularity at dinner.

Plan Cut If Recession Occurs

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Carter administration official is indicating the president will propose a tax cut if a recession this year is worse than expected. "We are sensitive...to the fact that in the coming months economic conditions may change more substantially than we now anticipate," Budget Director James T. McIntyre said today in testimony prepared for the Senate Budget Committee. If that happens, he said, "we will modify the tax and the budgetary recommendations that we make to the Congress...."

Considerable support for a tax cut to ease the impact of a recession and high inflation has surfaced in Congress in recent weeks, although opinion is divided over whether the cut should be primarily for businesses, or for businesses and individuals. It is thought that Carter might propose a reduction in Social Security taxes next year, although he wants to avoid a reduction in individual income taxes if at all possible. A major tax cut would likely force a delay in balancing the federal budget in 1981, a top Carter priority.

McIntyre told the Senate committee that the administration hopes to keep a lid on spending. "Although we believe that a mild recession this year is likely, we also believe that we should not abandon budgetary restraint," he said.

Nevertheless, some increase in federal expenditures over earlier estimates will occur automatically to counter the impact of the recession and high inflation, the budget office said Thursday. These include unemployment benefits, up $1.4 billion in 1980; food stamps, up $1.7 billion, and Social Security benefits, up $1.5 billion.

The administration stopped insisting Thursday that there will not be a recession, conceding a mild slowdown in the economy of 0.5 percent this year may already be under way. It blamed the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which has raised world oil prices 60 percent this year.

In its mid-year update on the economy, the administration also said inflation and unemployment will be worse than thought previously. Consumer prices will increase 10.6 percent while joblessness will rise to 6.6 percent this year and 6.9 percent in 1980.

President Carter, who has been conducting a domestic summit at Camp David for more than a week, may have more to say about economic problems and oil prices when he delivers a nationwide address Sunday.

Carter economic adviser Lyle E. Gramley told reporters Thursday that the economy probably began slowing in the year's second quarter and may continue its downturn in the third.

"We think the recession that is implied by our forecast will be relatively mild and short-lived," said Gramley, a member of the president's Council of Economic Advisers.

But some private forecasters are saying the recession will be serious. One, Michael K. Evans of Evans Economics, Inc., of Washington, believes unemployment will peak at 8.6 percent next year.

Gramley acknowledged to reporters that "there is a possibility our forecast may underestimate" the extent of the downturn.

Budget Director James T. McIntyre also sounded a note of caution Thursday, saying that while he hopes Carter can propose a balanced budget for fiscal 1981, "I think we'll just have to wait and see with the uncertainty we face in the economy...."

However, McIntyre insisted, "Inflation is still the major threat to the American economy and we continue to believe that movement toward a balanced budget remains appropriate to keep cool the fires of inflation."

Rudy Oswald, chief economist for the AFL-CIO, said he fears the economy will be "predominantly worse" than the president believes and urged the administration to prepare for a more serious downturn. The current unemployment rate of 5.6 percent is higher than the under-5 percent rate that prevailed prior to the deep 1974-1975 recession, when joblessness hit a post-war peak of 9 percent.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the congressional Joint Economic Committee, said the country needs a tax cut to help get out of the recession, but agreed that government spending should be held in check.

Missing

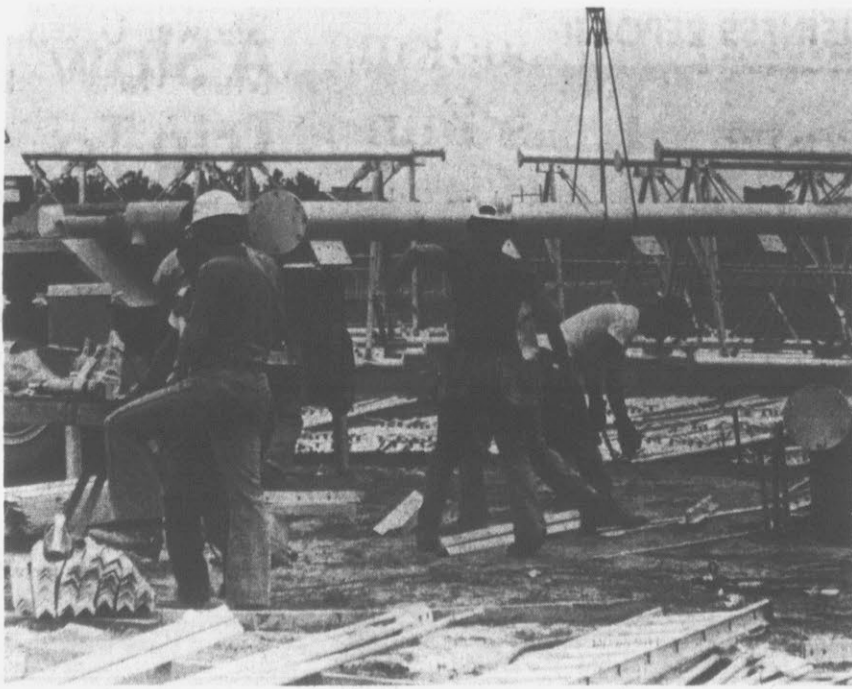

TARBORO, N.C. (AP) — Edgecombe County authorities are looking for a 23-year-old woman who has been missing from her home since Tuesday.

Police were tipped off to the woman's disappearance by her boyfriend. The woman's 18-month-old baby had been left crying inside the house, and was heard by Winston Bryant. The baby was apparently unharmed.

Authorities say the home of Dallas Gilliam Bullock was found with blood splattered on a bed, on walls, floors and on the front porch. They said a search of the area failed to turn up Ms. Bullock, and police say they have no leads.

Edgecombe County Sheriff Phil Ellis said the State Bureau of Investigation has been called in to help with the investigation.

TAKING SHAPE — WITN-TV's new 2,000 foot transmitter tower is now in the beginning stages and will soon be reaching up into the eastern North Carolina sky. Here, workmen utilizing two huge cranes make preparations to position the tri-legged base of the tower onto the main foundation. This first section weighs in at some 80,000 pounds. Early September is the scheduled completion date for the tall tower.

State Population Projection Indicates 12.9 Percent Growth

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Wake County will soon become North Carolina's second most populous county, recent state projections indicate. Also, the entire state will experience a population growth of 12.9 percent of 1970 figures.

Despite a slight leveling off in its growth rate, Wake, the state's fastest-growing urban area, will expand from 289,500 to 371,700 by 1990, according to projections. The projected growth rate for Wake County in the coming decade is 26 percent, or about 3 percent lower than in the past 10 years. In 1970, Wake's population was 229,000.

As a result of the growth, Wake would surpass Guilford County (326,700), but would still trail Mecklenburg County (440,600).

Wake planning department officials had projected a 1980 population of 293,500.

The most rapid growth in North Carolina is expected to occur in the coastal counties of Brunswick, Currituck and Dare, all of which are expected to reach or surpass a 50 percent rate of growth by 1990.

"The state is experiencing a lessening of the intensive growth of urban counties and slightly more rapid growth of rural counties," said state de-mographer Francine J. Ewing. "This trend, which is also apparent nationwide, is known as 'balanced growth.'"

Ms. Ewing said the projections, which were based on 1960 and 1970 census data and county estimates of the first six years of this decade, did not account for economic development.

Projections also show that the state's population will continue to grow older, as the children of the post-World War II era approach middle-age.

In 1970, the median age for North Carolinians was 26.42 years, while in 1980 the figure will be 29.35. By 1983, the last year for which a projection has been made, the median age will reach 30.34.

Ms. Ewing added that the migration of non-whites out of the state between 1960 and 1970 has been reversed. She said for this decade, the number of non-whites moving into the state will be slightly larger than the number leaving.

Driver Hurt In 3-Car Collision

An estimated $9,500 property damage resulted from a three-car collision yesterday about 6 p.m. at the intersection of 10th Street and Greenville Boulevard.

Greenville Police Department investigators identified the drivers involved in the collision as Teresa Ward Humphrey of Riverbluff Apts., Stephen Russell Bartlett III of 108B Library St., and Raymond Anthony Parker of 106 Hardee Rd.

Damage was estimated at $6,000 to the Humphrey car, $2,500 to the Bartlett vehicle and $1,000 to the Parker auto.

Investigators, who reported Mrs. Humphrey was injured in the collision, charged her with failing to stop for a red light.

Same Algae In Neuse

By The Associated Press
State officials say they have found the same type of algae in the Neuse River this year that they found in the Chowan River years ago.

The Chowan River in the northeast portion of the state has been choked with algae for years.

Jim Mulligan with the state Division of Environmental Management in Washington said this week that scientists have no answers to solving either river's algae problem.

"We would be incredibly lucky to put our finger on the cause factor (of the algae)," Mulligan said. "There are thousands of species of algae. This may be the end of the problem or it may be day two in the life of Neuse becoming the same way as the Chowan."

Local boaters and fishermen noticed the algae on the Neuse and complained about it to the state.

Mulligan said the blue-green algae found in both the Neuse and Chowan. He said the algae forms in colonies varying in size from microscopic to about that of a BB pellet.

Mulligan said the increased growth of algae is caused by more nitrates being put in the river by industrial facilities.

'New Generations' Bill Is Discussed

The New Generations Bill was discussed at the monthly meeting of the Pitt County Republican Party, earlier this week.

Issues Committee chairman Bob Morey explained that although the bill is now law, no funding date has been set.

Passed by the General Assembly on June 7, the bill expands and coordinates existing programs in a comprehensive statewide plan to raise, "new generations of children who are not stunted or handicapped in some way."

Touted as a Child Health Plan, Morey said the bill expands the definition of "health" to include mental and emotional health and includes a "values clarification" program which would provide comprehensive sex education from the kindergarten level and up, genetic and family counseling including advocacy of therapeutic abortions and state-provided contraceptives. "to all sexually active persons," regardless of age.

Following a discussion of the legislation, the party adopted a resolution, "to seriously question the advisability of the act as interference with the rights and responsibilities of parents to their children, in making the children, in effect, wards of the state; as unduly increasing the tax burden on the people of North Carolina; and as greatly expanding the state bureaucracy and leading to obtrusive interference by the state and federal governments in local school systems."

The resolution also hit Gov. Jim Hunt for his support of the bill through the Legislature, "without informing the public, and even some Legislators, as to the implications of the bill."

The resolution urged citizens to contact their Legislators and Gov. Hunt and ask for a full explanation of the New Generations Bill.

Signals New Role Of Service

Pitt Tech has officially become Pitt Community College.

The name was adopted by the board of trustees this week. It followed action by the General Assembly which created a comprehensive community college of Pitt Tech.

In implementing the change the board approve an associate in arts degree, college transfer curriculum for this fall. The administration was authorized to plan for an associate in science degree when enrollment justifies it.

Community college status has been long sought by Pitt Tech and this newspaper has supported the effort, believing that the institute can better serve our people in this manner.

Thus we are happy to see the change implemented and the institute entering this new phase of service to Pitt County and surrounding areas.

We would caution the board and administration that the public expects a strong technical program to be maintained at Pitt Community College. The technical programs have served our area well and, indeed, won Pitt Tech its many friends and supporters.

There is nothing wrong with broadening its services, but nothing should be done at Pitt Community College which takes away from the programs presently offered.

Wise Step To Protect Tobacco Sales

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has ordered farmers to destroy tobacco which was treated with contaminated fertilizer.

Tobacco already harvested should be delivered to Stabilization Corp. designated locations for full price supports.

Keeping the tobacco out of commercial channels is being done to "protect the integrity of the tobacco program," the USDA said.

That is wise, since the thing American tobacco has to sell to the world markets is quality. This should assure foreign buyers that quality will be maintained.

THIS AFTERNOON

Political Fever Growing

By BILL NOBLITT

Emotion

Previous public votes and stands on the issues can be forgotten and glossed over.

Even difficulty finding the money can be pushed out of mind by those who determine to go ahead and run a "Poor-boy" campaign and point an accusing finger at the well-heeled opposition who has "sold out to the special interests."

Not even mutiny around the homeplace can deter the fever once trading time arrives, and while many a smiling family portrait makes political literature more interesting, it is widely accepted that the political fever has put a lot of families on the rocks — privately, if not publicly.

So, political decisions become usually more emotional than cerebral ones, and that is why observers have such a difficult time predicting with logic and reason what will happen as the campaigns firm up.

Meanwhile, street talk and backroom political gossip goes on, and here are some of the factors which are seen by a number of people as influencing moves which will be made in coming months.

Jim Hunt will run for governor a second time. If President Jimmy Carter loses the Democratic nomination to Senator Teddy Kennedy, North Carolina's Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green will likely run for governor against Hunt, banking on a conservative revolt in the Democratic Party. Otherwise, Green will probably run for a second term as Number Two.

BILL NOBLITT

Former Gov. Bob Scott is most likely to run for a Council of State post rather than governor or lieutenant governor on the premise that he needs a job and could more easily win as Secretary of State, for example. Prevailing Tar Heel wisdom: we fed his daddy and we fed him at the Mansion. . . enough of that.

Any Race

Insurance Commissioner John Ingram is capable of convincing himself of the ability to win any election, and may run either for governor or make another bid for a U. S. Senate seat against incumbent Bob Morgan.

Attorney General Rufus Edmisten, often mentioned as a possible candidate for governor or U. S. Senate, will most likely run for his present office for the reason that if he seeks a higher post the opposition will make public much of the now-whispered criticisms of Edmisten's public and private activity. Even so, he is expected to have serious opposition for the Attorney General post. State Senator Willis Whichard is a key potential.

Jockeying is still going on in other Council of State posts such as labor, auditor, agriculture, education. . . with some candidates committed and others still shopping.

WASHINGTON TODAY

Quiet Carter Committee

By MAUREEN SANTINI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outside the faded yellow townhouse, there is no sign at all that Jimmy Carter's reelection campaign is taking shape within.

But inside the downtown townhouse and a high-rise office building a few blocks away, there is hectic activity for an election that is still 16 months away.

Treasurer John Dalton plans ways to raise money, press secretary Linda Peek deals with reporters, chairman Evan Dobbelle meets weekly with White House aides and political director Jack Walsh recruits supporters.

Volunteers answer constantly ringing telephones with "Carter-Mondale Presidential Committee." The walls are full of posters of the candidates, one featuring caricatures of President Carter and Vice President Walter F. Mondale superimposed on a photograph of the White House with the message: "Challenging Leadership for Challenging Times."

By any account, these are challenging times for a president whose popularity in the polls has dwindled, whose nation is beset by gasoline shortages and inflation, and whose concerns must include Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. — to say nothing of several other campaigning Republicans.

At this point, the strategy is for Carter to be presidential while Dobbelle and his cadre of 52 full-time employees lay the groundwork for the full-fledged campaign that begins when Carter formally declares his candidacy, expected by the end of the year.

"We are not looking for visibility," Dobbelle said in a recent interview in the basement of the townhouse. "We are just working steadily and quietly. It will get visible fast enough, after the president announces."

Dobbelle, polishing the image of a president so hard at work running the nation he has no time for politics, says he has not spoken to Carter about the campaign since the re-election committee was formed in mid-March.

Even if he did, Dobbelle said, "all I would do is suggest what would be politically expedient, and he would show me the way out the door."

Formally, the Carter-Mondale committee is separate from the White House. Although many of the current campaign aides worked in Carter's 1976 effort, none of the president's inner circle of trusted Georgians who ran the '76 campaign has moved from the White House to the committee.

Strength For Today

THE MODERN MOOD

The great psychiatrist Dr. Jung once said, "One third of my patients suffer from no clinically definable disease but from the restlessness and emptiness of their lives. It seems to me that this can well be described as the general neurosis of our time."

In all of history, men and women have never had such a world full of things as they have at the present time. Yet despite this plethora of material blessings, people grow constantly more restless. In some parts of the world this restlessness takes the form of a desperate and never-ending search for amusement and entertainment. But none of these efforts yields the felicitous results expected. Usually the restlessness remains.

It would be impossible to find one prescription which could cure this malaise in everyone. But one thing is certain: the disease seldom affects people who live truly religious lives and constantly exert themselves to be of service to others.

BUSINESS REPORT!

The Good News Paper

BEIJING — "The People's Daily" of China, with a circulation of 6,180,343, not including free subscriptions to the Politburo, differs from Western newspapers in one major respect: It refuses to print bad news about the country. It is in fact the ultimate "good news" paper. Iron and steel production are going up, agriculture is leaping forward, economic indicators, under the new leaders, have never been better, the Chinese army is kicking the daylight out of the Vietnamese, and the class struggle to weed out Capitalist roaders, political degenerates and depraved followers of the Gang of Four continues with unabated success.

Murders, air crashes, inflation, strikes and even the troubles of Lee Marvin are not fit to print in the "People's Daily." You can read it from cover to cover without seeing one mention of Margaret Trudeau, Jackie Onassis, Bert Lance or Mick and Bianca Jagger. Better still, there are no political columnists to tell you what the government is doing wrong. When you have a thriving, dedicated, Socialist leadership following the principles of Chairman Hua and Vice-Premier Deng, there is no need for the Chinese equivalent of Evans and Novak to throw gloom and doom on a five-year plan.

Public Forum

Letters submitted for Public Forum should be limited to 300 words. The editor reserves the right to edit longer letters.

To the editor:

Most, or possibly all, of the members of the Board of Trustees at Martin Community College should resign. They are obviously not qualified and/or not motivated to run an educational institution where the interests of employees, students and taxpayers are protected.

A growing list of "unsuitable" Presidents and Vice-Presidents have been brought in who, with the approval of the Board members, sought to improve the administration of the school by firing several of the best qualified employees. Then, after a period of time, with little or no proper leadership from the Board of Trustees, these alleged school administrators have themselves moved on. It's no wonder that more and more concerned taxpayers are beginning to wonder, about what's going on behind those closed doors at the school.

It would only take one dedicated Board member to straighten out some of the mess by giving us reasons as to why professional employees with far more educational credentials than the Board members themselves, are continually threatened and/or dismissed. The most recent addition to the high-salaried Presidential ranks at the school has continued the trend of getting rid of highly qualified employees before she has even had a chance to evaluate their work, if, indeed, she either knows or care to evaluate their work.

The writer has worked in two other Community Colleges about the same age as Martin, and both of them are still being run by the original presidents. To my knowledge, neither of the other colleges have ever fired a professional-level employee. Contrast that with Martin, where at least five presidents and vice-presidents and literally dozens of capable professionals have seen their careers disrupted, if not ruined.

Gov. Hunt, the County Commissioners and members of the County Board of Education should immediately seek to replace the current board with individuals who themselves have some qualifications to run a college and who are not on an "ego trip" or politically motivated.

Destruction Of Imagination

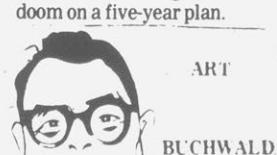

By GAIL MICHAELS

Americans pride themselves on their logic and realism. In fact, we are so proud of our ability to understand life as it really is that many of us spend years trying to destroy the imaginations of our children.

We tell them that there aren't any ghosts or witches or fairies. They sail across the ocean in their own front yards, and we bring them back to shore with a reminder that "they're only pretending that the grass is water."

What's more, Rapunzel is only a story, Jack's beanstalk was the magnolia tree in the backyard, and Rumpelstiltskin was actually a coal mine owner trying to reintroduce child labor in the hills of West Virginia.

Of course, most children

ART BUCHWALD

As for international events, once again the "People's Daily" only gives its readers good news. Any bad news that happens in the Soviet Union is good news to the Chinese. So columns are devoted to Kremlin disasters. A drought in Siberia, a Soviet mine disaster, a typhoon in the Black Sea and a train wreck in Kharkov make for joyous reading in the People's Republic. The "Daily" can't get enough bad news from the Soviet Union to satiate the appetite of its readers.

One of my requests when I arrived in China was to meet my counterpart, someone who deals in the lighter side of politics. They had one, they told me, but unfortunately he died in 1936.

But they did receive me at the "People's Daily," and showed me a new satirical four-page paper they were putting out consisting of cartoons. It had been started in April after two years of great thought.

Mr. Wang, a deputy editor, told me the paper was a big success though it is still in the

A Slow Trip To Anzio

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

ANZIO, ITALY (AP) — The train down from Rome was 45 minutes late, so it took almost two hours to cover the 37 miles to Anzio. It seemed almost sacrilegious to complain.

There were people getting off — Americans and British mostly, a few Germans — to visit the military cemeteries who remember when it took more than four months to cover that distance.

That was 35 years ago.

The historical marker in three languages (Italian, English and German) near the aptly named railway station of Campo di Carne — "field of slaughtered meat" — told the story in stark simplicity: "On this site thousands of men fought and died."

Domenico diNola, who runs the Cucina Casareccio, a truck stop on the main highway, sums up World War Two's most brutal beachhead battle with similar searing simplicity: "The Allies could have gone all the way to Rome. There was nothing stopping them. They waited just one day too long."

He was in the fifth grade at school, a school that seldom met after that, when British and American troops in Maj. Gen. John V. Lucas's VI Corps made their two-pronged landing at Anzio and Nettuno at dawn on Jan. 22, 1944.

The invasion was Churchill's idea, a quick breakthrough to Rome while the main Allied force was slugging its way toward Monte Cassino.

"Don't stick your neck out," Gen. Mark Clark, the U.S. 5th Army commander, told Lucas, remembering the slaughter at the Rapido River.

Lucas didn't. Instead of racing up the undefended road to Covering 58 miles of dirt and hard-surfaced roads north of Greenville, an estimated 50 Pitt County farm men and women and 4-H Club boys and girls this afternoon completed the last phase of the third annual farm tour of the county.

This year's tour, which carried the rural residents over 131 miles of fertile farming lands in the county, was terminated this afternoon around 5 p.m. 75 miles were covered yesterday on farms south of Greenville.

They assisted R.R. Bennett, county agent, and Miss Ethel Nice, home demonstration agent, in lectures and demonstrations on both days of the tour.

A number of Greenville and Pitt County physicians were at Atlantic Beach this afternoon attending the semi-annual meeting of the Second District Medical Society of which Dr. Thomas Ennett, county health officer, is president.

A business meeting is scheduled for tonight following a supper at 7 p.m. Scientific papers will be presented at the business meeting by Dr. Otis Johnson of Morehead City and Dr. Newsome P. Battle of Rocky Mount, guest speaker.

one is still certain that what is funny to residents of Nanjing will be funny to the Communist leaders in Beijing.

Because of the violent twists and turns in Chinese politics during the last 15 years, an editor's life on the "People's Daily," is not a secure one. During the Cultural Revolution, when the Gang of Four under Mao's widow were riding high, the entire editorial staff was shipped off to labor camps to clean toilets and be "re-educated," for anywhere from three to eight years.

While many Americans would advocate this type of treatment for our editors, I got the impression from Mr.
Wang, who had been sent to one, that if he had the choice he would have rather gotten severance pay and gone into public relations instead.

The editor responsible for the shakeup at the "People's Daily" under the Gang of Four, Mr. Lu Yin, is no longer there. When that regime was overthrown he was sent to a labor camp so he could be re-educated and dig ditches for new latrines. Mr. Wang said Lu Yin is still there, but the present staff didn't seem to be too unhappy about it.

"How long will he stay?" I asked.

"It depends on his attitude, which at the moment is still very bad," Mr. Wang said.
"If he sees the error of his ways he can come back to the "People's Daily," not as an editor but possibly to clean the men's room here."

I came away from my meeting with Mr. Wang convinced that the Chinese path to journalism was the only correct one, and our editors could learn a lot from the way the People's Republic puts out a paper.

If American editors knew they would be sent away to join Lu Yin scrubbing out washbowls, they would think twice before printing bad news about the United States which no one wants to read.

spect the situation following a complaint made to him by an area resident. Warren said in his opinion the use of the club as he found it was not detrimental to other people and parking facilities were adequate.

Mrs. Esther Roberts, who said she lived across the road from the disco on Rt. 5, Greenville, noted in her testimony that the situation at the dance facility had been worse in the week since July 4th.

Mrs. Roberts stated that some 75 percent of the customers were on the outside of the facility and she mentioned the "profanity, drinking, loud talking, leaving the area on cars." She said that "no where in our home could we go to escape the noise."

She added that litter had been a problem and she said that 102 litter items were picked up from her yard one morning. Insufficient parking was also cited as a problem.

Jerry Creech, who said that he lived approximately 100 feet from the disco, also cited the noise and cars leaving the facility at early morning hours as disturbing and noted that the problems have occurred mainly since July 4.

Robbins said that he had spent over $30,000 at the disco and he reported that he only sold beer at the facility. He acknowledged that the Sheriff's Department had been called in three times during the year when customers got out of hand.

Robbins, who said he was the sole owner of the disco, told the Council that he did not think his business was bothering anyone.

Herrin said that the disco might be in close proximity to the residents but he contended that in terms of whether it constituted a nuisance, legally a nuisance "is more than something that irritates you." Herrin contended that ordinance requirements for the operation of the business had been met.

Councilman John Howard said that the Council issued Robbins a permit last July for the operation of a private club and it was indicated then that dues would be charged as a means of having control over clientele. The nature of the business has been changed from a private club, it was asserted.

Vincent said in his motion to deny the request that he concluded that Robbins' operation of the business was not in keeping with the permit as originally issued. He concluded that the business constituted a nuisance or a hazard because of the number of persons using the facility and the vehicular movement at the business.

Testimony, in support of and against the request, was given under oath as requested by Herrin.

Robbins' permit to operate the business expires at midnight tonight, it was pointed out.

In other business during a three-hour meeting, the Council voted to deny a request by Miles Davis for a permit to place a mobile home at 1611 S. Pitt Street for use as a personal residence.

Joe Laney, executive director of the Redevelopment Commission, said that Davis is residing with his family in a structure that has been purchased by the commission.
Laney said that if Davis would work with the commission's relocation staff, he felt a suitable standard house could be found that would be within Davis' means.

Laney, noting that the house is located in the Southside area, said that the commission has been successful in encouraging private investment in the area and some 30 to 40 homes have been constructed there by private investors. He said that the commission is opposed to the mobile home permit request in that the indiscriminate placement of mobile units in the area might discourage investment in new houses.

Davis told the Council that he had tried to purchase a home but was told he did not make enough money.

Cox said that if a permit was issued for a mobile home, it would only be on a one-year temporary basis and if the Council decided in a year not to renew the permit, Davis would have a mobile unit he would have to move.

Davis and his wife said they would be willing to take the chance of having to move the mobile home in a year.

In voting to deny the request, Cox urged Laney to do everything he could to assist the Davis family in finding a suitable relocation home.

helicopter and small jet to the Pittsburgh suburb for the 90-minute roundtable.

They left Camp David at 6 p.m. EDT and returned at 10:23 p.m., said Granum, the deputy White House press secretary.

The president's plans were kept a secret from Fisher and his wife, Bette, 25, until about one hour before he arrived at their two-story house. The group had been assembled by a White House staff member for a discussion of "what was wrong with the country," Fisher said.

In addition to the Fishers, five couples, including several workers from steel mills, a carpenter and a county employee, took part.

"The reason why he came here?" Fisher asked rhetorically. "I guess we're the people at the bottom of the pole."

"He asked us to get things off our chests and tell him everything...the oil shortage, the gas lines," Fisher said.
The president and his wife notes. "He said he'd be taking everything into consideration."

Carter's location was a mystery for about 3½ hours, with Granum saying only that the president had left Camp David, a Marine-guarded presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains 60 miles north of Washington.

White House aides had said
Carter would be meeting Thursday afternoon and evening with aides at Camp David. Asked about the security of the journey,
Granum said:

"The overriding concern was that he have a candid, direct and productive conversation with a group of citizens who could tell him what they think."

During his seven days of conferences at Camp David, Carter sought advice on such diverse subjects as inflation, employment, energy policy and national morality.

The day after his Sunday night speech, he will travel to Kansas City, Mo., and Detroit, where he will reveal "additional specifics" of his energy proposals, a White House press office announcement said.

He will follow that trip with meetings later in the week with congressional leaders, the Cabinet and top White House aides.

Mrs. Carter told a White House gathering Thursday
she had been present for most of the Camp David meetings and that there had been nearly unanimous agreement the nation faces a wide range of problems that have been years in the making.

"I believe and Jimmy believes that the people of our country have faith in the strength we have as Americans," said Mrs.
Carter, who has more influence on her husband's decisions than any recent presidential wife.

"We can solve our problems...not overnight, but we can solve our problems," she said at a White House lawn party for the Women's National Democratic Club.

During the Camp David meetings, Carter talked about what he sees as national moral decay, according to some participants.
They said Carter cited family breakups and complained that he must go back to the 1950s to find motion pictures suitable for his 11-year-old daughter, Amy.

The exact shape of the president's energy proposals remained a mystery. One White House aide, asking not to be named, said public disclosure of some recommendations by an energy task force had made it less likely they would be approved.

The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N.C.—Friday, July 13, 1979—5
This appeared to be a reference to a proposal for a mobilization board to cut through government red-tape and speed crucial energy projects, which was among proposals delivered to Carter on Thursday morning by the task force.

WARNING!

HELL IS WAITING FOR YOU!

JESUS CHRIST (the Son of God) DESCRIBES HELL TO BE:

A LAKE OF FIRE! (Rev. 20:10-15)

A PLACE OF TORMENT! (Luke 16:22-24)

A PLACE WHERE LOST SOULS NEVER DIE — AND THE FIRE IS NOT QUENCHED! (Mark 9:43-48)

A PLACE OF WEEPING — WAILING — AND GNASHING
OF TEETH! (Matt. 25-30) (Matt. 8:12) (Matt. 24:51)

A PLACE WHERE SINNERS AND UNBELIEVERS DRINK OF
THE WINE OF GOD'S WRATH! (Rev. 14:10)

A PLACE WHERE THE SMOKE OF THEIR TORMENT
ASCENDETH UP FOREVER AND EVER. (Rev. 14:11)

ALL LIARS, ADULTERERS, FORNICATORS, SORCERERS, (Enchanter with drugs) MURDERERS, AND UNBELIEVERS, ARE GOING TO SPEND ETERNITY IN THE LAKE OF FIRE! (Rev. 21:8) (Rev. 22:15)

MOST PEOPLE ARE GOING TO HELL!

(Jesus said so!) (Matt. 7:13-14)

THERE IS NO WAY TO ESCAPE OUT OF HELL! FOREVER! — AND EVER! THERE IS NO PURGATORY! (Read Luke 16:19-31)

AWAKE! AWAKE!

YOU ARE GOING TO HELL! — UNLESS YOU SINCERELY, WHOLEHEARTEDLY — REPENT OF YOUR SINS! THEN — "BELIEVE ON THE LORD JESUS CHRIST" AS YOUR SAVIOUR AND LORD! —
THEN — FOREVER FOLLOW HIM! — LOVE HIM! — OBEY HIM ALL THE DAYS OF YOUR LIFE!

NO SIN — OR SINNER — WILL EVER ENTER HEAVEN! — AND HELL
IS THE ONLY OTHER PLACE YOU CAN GO!

REMEMBER! — CHURCH MEMBERSHIP OR GOOD WORKS OR GOOD MORALS, — OR ANYTHING ELSE, WILL NEVER SAVE YOU!
JESUS SAID, "YE MUST BE BORN AGAIN." (John 3:3-8)

EVERY CHRISTIAN SHOULD WARN EVERY PERSON POSSIBLE OF

Fear Control By Leadership

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The deacons of a Raleigh church have decided to withhold money from the Baptist State Convention, citing conduct of convention leaders in several issues.

The Hayes Barton Baptist Church adopted a resolution on Tuesday which expressed "grave concern about the apparent effort of some convention leadership to impose centralized control over convention agencies and activities contrary to Baptist tradition."

The Rev. T.L. Cashwell Jr., pastor of the church, said Thursday that the continuing feud between the convention and the Wake Forest University board of trustees was not the central reason for the deacons' action.

"That's only a symptom of the concern," he said. "That's an incident that illustrates it." The Rev. Cecil A. Ray of Raleigh, general secretary-treasurer of the convention, said he was unsure of how the convention would settle the dispute with Hayes Barton deacons.

Ray said many of the 3,500 churches in the convention have withheld cooperative program funds at some time in protest of convention policies. Some rural churches have withheld funds because they did not want the money to go to Wake Forest, he said.

Ray added that no other church had taken action similar in nature to the decision of the Hayes Barton deacons.

The convention provided about 4 percent of Wake Forest's budget during the past year, not including the budget for the university's Bowman-Gray School of Medicine.

Ordination Planned In Sunday Service

Miss Mary Boyd Sugg, a recent graduate of Union Theological Seminary in Virginia, will be ordained as a Minister of the Word and Sacraments as part of the morning services at the First Presbyterian Church, here at 10:00 Sunday.

William V. Arnold, Associate Professor of Pastoral Counseling at UTS, Ruling Elders completing the Commission are: Thomas L. Broadrick and Mrs. H.H. Bryant, First Presbyterian Church, Greenville; Mrs. J.O. Farmer, First Presbyterian Church, Rocky Mount; and Mrs. J.C. Marrow, Howard Memorial Presbyterian Church, Tarboro.

Miss Sugg is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Harding Sugg of Greenville. She graduated from Rose High School and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill prior to receiving the Master of Divinity Degree from Union Theological Seminary last month. She plans to spend the next year in Clinical Pastoral Education studies at Memorial Hospital, Houston, Texas. Her family have been closely associated with the local church where her grandfather, the late Dr. Robert S. Boyd, was pastor from 1939 to 1947 and where her parents have served as Ruling Elders.

Immediately following the worship service, the Women of the Church will have a reception in the fellowship hall in honor of Miss Sugg. Friends and members of the congregation are invited to the Ordination Service and to the reception.

A Commission appointed by Albemarle Presbytery, of which the local church is a member, will conduct the service of ordination. The Rev. Robert E. Burns, III, pastor of the Howard Memorial Presbyterian Church, Tarboro, is chairman of the Commission. Other ministers participating are Gerald M. Anders, Associate Pastor First Presbyterian Church; Joseph R. Cochran, General Secretary of the Presbytery; Stewart C. LaNeave, Campus Minister at East Carolina University; and

OUR DOCTRINAL STANDARDS—Our first and final rule for all doctrine, faith and practice is God's Holy Word, the Bible. We believe the Bible is the written Word of God, without error in the original manuscripts, and of infallible and divine authority in all matters of faith and practice. Therefore, all of our teaching and preaching is from the Bible.

OUR CHURCH'S VISION—All of our teaching and preaching is centered in the Bible. We believe God's Word provides the answers to today's situation, just as it did 2000 years ago. Just as man breaking God's laws disrupts the ecological balance, so man breaking God's spiritual laws upsets man's relationship with other men and God. Submission to God's Word, the Bible, is the key to resolving these problems.

Sabbatical For Pastor

Fr. J. Paul Byron

The Rev. J. Paul Byron, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church will be leaving Greenville next week for a year's sabbatical.

The New York native has been serving as pastor of the local church for about three and one-half years and plans to spend the greater part of his leave at St. Regis University in Toronto.

Before leaving North Carolina, Fr. Byron will serve three weeks in the pastoral role in Roanoke Rapids.

St. Peter's Parish Council hosted an afternoon party last Sunday, honoring the priest, and presented him with a parting gift.

During his absence the local parish will be served by Fr. Harry Webb who has been working in the vocational field for the Diocese of Raleigh.

Revival Week Begins July 16
A week-long Holy Ghost Revival will be held at Joy Temple, Holiness Church, 410 Howell Street, beginning Monday, July 16 and continuing through Friday, July 20.

Pastor M. P. Hargrove of Newport News, Va., and "assistant pastor Inetta Fleming will conduct services with the Joy Temple Choir and the Holy Temple Choir of Walstonburg providing music.

Theme for the week is "I Believe God." The public is invited to the series of evening services.

SUNDAY SPEAKER
Eldress Iala Ruffins will be the speaker at Simpson Chapel F.W.B. Church Sunday night at 7:30. The public is invited.

Tides of Time

Portrait of human initiative!
At the moment it is moving bits of beach from place to place. But as the tides of time sweep in that initiative will be turned to ever more important aims.

TODAY offers more exciting opportunities than changing the contours of the sand. In churches around the world children are being taught the spiritual truths that will become essential as their horizons of initiative expand.

We love to watch our toddlers "working." Yes, we marvel at the energy and industry that inspire their sand bucket brigades. It is time to provide them with the moral and religious resources needed by those we count on to build a better world.

YOUR DAILY Horoscope from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is good for social, mental or spiritual expansion and for getting more in tune with the various situations you want to know more about. Then, in the afternoon and evening you are able to prepare for a big day tomorrow.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan a wiser course for the days ahead. Come to right decisions. Go after the knowledge you require. Take no risks with money, possessions.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try to please your good friends. Later meet with a good adviser and plan the future better. New situations arise that can bring fine benefits to you. Be careful of a much older person.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle outside matters early and then go after social pleasures. Improve your credit before you go out for fun. Be on time for any appointments you make.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be inspired in the morning and then handle any community work that is to your liking. Look to new acquaintances for ideas to make the future better for yourself.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be sure to carry through with promises made and then delve into whatever interests you. Avoid one who talks too much and could wear you down.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Complete arrangements with partners before you go out to other interests. Handle an upcoming problem as best you can. Show that you are devoted to loved ones.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make your home more charming and then do some entertaining there, discuss mutual interests. Cooperate with fellow workers more and get much done. Show more devotion to family.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) First get your work done and then join with good friends socially. Put creative ideas to work. Plan time to schedule activities for the week ahead.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Discuss mutual plans with kin before going off to amusements you like. Put finest talents to work. Get foundational affairs in order early.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make calls to friends and relations and then look about your home and improve conditions there. Be precise in handling correspondence. Plan to take some course of study that will help you in the future.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handling important affairs early is wise. Then get matters cleared up with your relatives. Plan repairs to property. Don't neglect writing important letters.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Handle personal affairs early and then get down to practical tasks. Study social matters before you make business appointments.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will understand others well and get along with everyone. Upon maturity your progeny will branch out in pioneering lines and will be able to coordinate efforts with others admirably. Sports are good here and the love of nature is very pronounced.

fense minister to resign his command, got Khomeini's backing and forced the minister to back down.
A Tehran newspaper said the dispute reflected deep divisions among the military leaders that "can end only in harm to the morale and status of the armed forces as a whole"
Meanwhile, hundreds of air force technicians went on strike last week demanding promotions and favored status. A strike leader said 18,000 men could be off the job by next week, and a senior general said all air force planes might eventually be grounded.

Khomeini's regime depends mostly on its revolutionary militiamen to maintain order inside the country, but it needs the armed forces to counter threats on two of its borders.
The government has accused Iraq, its western neighbor, of land and air raids across their border. And it fears that the civil war in Afghanistan, its eastern neighbor, will spill across their frontier.
Foreign military specialists believe that in a real emergency, the Iranian armed forces would have to depend mostly on riflemen with only spotty air and armored support.
One specialist estimates that building a well-coordinated air, land and sea force — which Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's men were finding difficult before the disruptions of the revolution — could take as long as three more years.

At the time of the February revolution, the shah's armed forces numbered 413,000 men. Many of the troops took part in putting down anti-shah demonstrations for months. But discipline and organization collapsed in the face of the general insurrection in mid-February.
Thousands of soldiers deserted; hundreds of thousands of light weapons fell into the hands of Khomeini's forces and others.
The insurrection was touched off by anti-shah technicians in the air force who battled the income rises and falls with the energy consumption in the business sector, thus any reduction in a commitment to nuclear energy would spell trouble for the state.

"I am enthusiastic about alternative technologies," he said, but he added that nuclear power is essential until those technologies advance. Lee was responding to information which indicated up to 20 percent of the state's energy needs could be provided by solar energy.

Offer Assist In Funding

The N. C. Dept. of Natural Resources and Community Development and the N. C. Dept. of Commerce are cooperating to offer assistance to 232 communities in the state which may qualify for federal urban development funding.
"I hope many of our towns and cities will call on our seven regional offices for help," NRCD Secretary Howard Lee said. "There's not going to be enough money to finance every proposal, but we are confident that a number of projects from North Carolina can be funded. Private developers and industries working with government can solve a lot of problems."
"For too long the federal government relied only on public funds to solve problems, but now we've got a program where we can match private sector brainpower and funds with federal incentives to lick some of our problems," Dept. of Commerce Secretary Lauch Faircloth said.
The following communities in the Greenville area have either received grants, have been declared eligible to apply for grants, or could become eligible to apply if they take proper steps, Lee said: Ayden, Bethel, Farmville, Fountain, Grifton, Robersonville, and Walstonburg.
Lee said growth in per capita

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined broadly again today as investors awaited President Carter's address to the nation Sunday night.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off 7 points Thursday, dropped 4.44 to 832.42 by noontime today.

Losers held a 4-1 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

After a week-long series of meetings at his Camp David, Md., retreat, Carter scheduled a speech Sunday night to disclose his plans for the energy situation and the economy.

The administration, meanwhile, acknowledged that a recession was likely, accompanied by a double-digit inflation rate this year.

"The long and vigorous recovery that we have enjoyed over the past few years has come to an end," Lyle Gramley, a member of the Council of Economic Advisers, told the Senate Budget Committee today.

Another depressant was International Business Machines' report Thursday of a slight decline in quarterly earnings.

IBM shares, which fell 1 1/2 Thursday, dropped 3/4 to 69 3/4 today in trading that included a 212,000-share block at 69 1/2.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index fell .35 to 58.03. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost .61 to 195.00.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 14.59 million shares at noontime, against 14.06 million at the same point Thursday.

Charges Seventy-Two Killed In Fire

Choice By Race

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — A suit has been filed this week in U.S. District Court in Asheville by a Burke County school board member who says he was denied a job because of reverse discrimination.

Jack D. Phillips, a teacher at Tabernacle Christian School and a school board member since April, maintains that personnel director Ervin O. Hallyburton and former superintendent Charles H. Weaver recommended W.F. McIntosh Jr., a black, for a job as assistant superintendent of the Burke County schools. The job was eventually awarded to McIntosh.

Phillips, who is white, alleges that the school board chose McIntosh solely on the basis of race.

Phillips' suit also names as defendants four former and seven present school board members. The board consists of 12 members.

The plaintiff is asking for $20,000 plus 6 percent interest in actual damages and $100,000 in punitive damages.

The North Carolina Foundation for Individual Rights is handling the suit on Phillips' behalf. The Charlotte-based group is involved in several reverse-discrimination cases.

ZARAGOZA, Spain (AP) — The toll in Spain's worst hotel fire rose today to 72 dead, three missing and 70 injured, officials said. Two Americans and a Canadian were reported among the dead as the government opened a probe into alleged safety violations at the 10-story building.

The Zaragoza Hospital-Clinic said Robert Baschlow of New York City died of injuries from the fire Thursday morning at the Hotel Corona de Aragon. Abbott Laboratories in Madrid said one of its representatives in Spain, American Wallace Foster, had been identified by Spanish officials as among the dead.

The U.S. Consulate at Barcelona said the dead Canadian was Arnold Tinero, but his home address was not known.

Ramon Sainz de Varanda, the mayor of this northeastern provincial capital, told reporters the luxury hotel did not meet required safety standards. Civil Gov. Francisco Laina disputed the mayor and said the building had 160 fire extinguishers for 237 rooms.

Laina said the fire, the worst hotel disaster in Spanish history, started when cooking oil in a deep-fat fryer exploded in the ground-floor coffee shop. Firemen said as the flames roared through the first two floors, the ventilation system spread the smoke throughout the building, and about half the victims died from suffocation.

There were 300 guests registered in the hotel. Those who escaped included the 79-year-old widow of dictator Francisco Franco, who was visiting Zaragoza for the enrollment of her 21-year-old grandson in a military academy. She was treated at the hospital for shock and smoke inhalation and was released.

Three People Died In Shotgun Blasts

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP) — Shotgun blasts killed three people in Robeson County Thursday night in two unrelated incidents.

The deaths include an 11-year-old Maryland boy who was playing with a gun around a trash heap in Elrod and a St. Pauls couple in an apparent murder-suicide.

The 11-year-old was identified as Richard Stable of Baltimore. He was visiting relatives in Lumberton.

According to the sheriff's department records, the youngster and another youth identified as his cousin were shooting at rodents in a trash dump near Elrod. Stable reportedly stumbled, causing the 410-gauge shotgun he was carrying to discharge a load into his upper left chest. The youngster was pronounced dead on arrival at Lumberton's Southeastern General Hospital following the 5 p.m. mishap.

In an unrelated event, a man and a woman identified as James Hunt and Letha Hammonds, both of Rt. 2 St. Pauls, were shot to death Thursday night. Deputies are calling it an apparent murder-suicide.

Law men were summoned to the frame dwelling just before 9 p.m. Thursday. They found the couple lying in the kitchen with a .12 gauge shotgun and a spent shell under Hunt's body. They were pronounced dead at the scene. It was not known early Friday who shot the other. Police have not determined the ages of the couple.

Inching Near Seek Probe Of Dollar Gas Sheriff's Dept.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The average price for a gallon of gasoline is inching closer to the one dollar figure in the two Carolinas, but drivers can rest easy in knowing there is enough gas to go around.

In the latest survey of the Carolinas' Motor Club, the Charlotte-based organization found that availability improved during the week, but also discovered some of the 189 stations surveyed were out of fuel temporarily.

The club predicted that two-thirds of the service stations in the two state area will remain open on Saturday. In North Carolina, one-third of the service stations will remain open Sunday, while in South Carolina, one-fourth of the service stations there will pump on Sunday.

Premium gasoline in North Carolina this week sold for an average of 94 cents a gallon. Unleaded gasoline sold for $2.1 and regular gas went at an average price of 87.7. All prices indicated are for full-service pumps.

South Carolina's average prices remained slightly lower than those in North Carolina. Full-service premium gasoline sold at an average price of 93.2 cents per gallon. The price for unleaded was 91.4 cents, and 87.7 cents was the average for regular.

Church Marking Women's Day

NEWLAND, N.C. (AP) — The Avery County Commissioners have asked the U.S. attorney to investigate possible wrongdoing in the Avery Sheriff's Department.

Commission Chairman Edward T. Vance said Thursday the federal agency was asked to investigate because the board has been unable to get state officials to order a probe.

Vance declined to specify what allegations the board has made against the sheriff's department, but said possible mishandling of money is among the things the board has questioned.

"There are many things," Vance said. For instance, the General Assembly of North Carolina ruled that a sheriff's department could not have a personal checking account and (the sheriff's department) has had one for a long time."

Vance said Sheriff J.A. Braswell has agreed to allow the county auditor check the account, but Vance added, "I'm not sure that all the information has been made available."

There are also reports the commissioners are questioning the use by the sheriff's department of Law Enforcement Assistance Administration funds. Braswell was not immediately available for comment.

Vance said in February the board requested both District Attorney Clyde M. Roberts and the state attorney general's of-file to conduct investigations of the department, but both refused.

Deputy Attorney General James Bullock said his office is not authorized to conduct such investigations unless requested by the governor, a law enforcement agency or the local district attorney.

Roberts said that although Vance and the county manager had requested a probe, he has not yet received a formal request.

U.S. Attorney Harold M. Edwards said that although his office has no authority to conduct such an investigation, it can request the FBI to investigate if he feels one is warranted. He declined to say whether the commissioners' allegations merit an investigation.

Hearing Loss Is Not A Sign Of Old Age

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

Send for this model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. While many people with a hearing loss will not receive any significant benefit from any hearing aid, this free model will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It is not a real hearing aid, and it's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 9844, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria St., Chicago, Illinois 60646.

Lowly Mets Thump Once-Powerful L.A.

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

"I've run out of excuses," Tommy Lasorda moaned. "I've used them all up."

Lasorda's misery is understandable. He's the manager of:

—(a) the National League's defending champions.

—(b) the National League's worst team, or,

—(c) both of the above.

The answer, of course, is (c). The Los Angeles Dodgers, losers of six of their last eight games and 12 of their last 15, hit a new low Thursday night, sinking 18 games under .500 under the weight of a 12-5 loss to the New York Mets, who'd had the league's worst record before the Dodgers showed up.

"A rout's a rout," said Mets catcher John Stearns. "That's all there is to it."

The game was, in effect, over after one inning. At that point the Mets led 8-0. It was the biggest first inning in Mets history and the most runs scored against the Dodgers in one inning this season.

In the rest of the NL, Chicago outlasted Cincinnati 10-8, Pittsburgh beat Houston 5-3, San Francisco defeated Montreal 5-3 and Philadelphia edged San Diego 4-3.

"I couldn't feel worse if I was dead," said Lasorda. "Errors, bases on balls — you name it."

What bothered him most was the bases-loaded walk Burt Hooton issued to Mets pitcher

Dock Ellis, forcing home the fourth run of the decisive first inning. That's when Lasorda yanked Hooton. "Dock Ellis couldn't hit water if he fell out of a boat," Lasorda grumbled.

Joel Youngblood greeted reliever Dennis Lewallyn with a liner to left which Von Joshua dropped for a two-run error, then Frank Taveras doubled down the third base line for two more runs.

Ellis blanked the Dodgers until the seventh inning, by which time New York led 12-0. But he'd stayed around until the eighth, long enough to pick up his first NL victory since Sept. 8, 1975, when he was pitching for Pittsburgh. "When they give you that many runs," Ellis said, "the idea is to get the ball over the plate and let them hit it."

Cubs 10, Reds 8

Steve Dillard's tie-breaking single and pitcher Bruce Sutter's two-run single in a rain-delayed, five-run ninth inning propelled the Cubs past Cincinnati and within 3½ games of the first-place Expos in the East. The game was delayed 2¼ hours at the start and again for 1:11 in the top of the ninth after Chicago had scored its five runs.

George Foster drove in four runs for the Reds with a two-run single in Cincinnati's five-run fourth inning and his 20th homer in the sixth. The four RBI gave him the league lead with 72, three ahead of Chicago's injured Dave Kingman.

Pirates 5, Astros 3

Houston's slide continued as the Astros, leaders in the West, dropped their sixth straight game, but remained 5½ games ahead of the Reds.

Willie Stargell hit a solo homer for Pittsburgh in the fourth inning, then Bill Madlock hit a two-run shot in the seventh, his first homer for the Pirates since being obtained from San Francisco.

Bert Blyleven got the victory with help from Kent Tekulve, who notched his 13th save.

Giants 5, Expos 3

Dennis Littlejohn drove in three runs with a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly and Jack Clark sufficed his 17th homer as San Francisco became the season's first team to sweep a series in Montreal. The Expos have dropped three in a row.

Andre Dawson doubled and singled to drive in two of Montreal's runs. The other one came on Gary Carter's 14th homer.

Phillies 4, Padres 3

Bake McBride hit a tie-breaking, eighth-inning sacrifice fly to give Steve Carlton his third straight victory and 11th of the year.

Carlton struck out five batters to boost his career total to 2,583, past Bob Feller and into a tie with Warren Spahn for 10th place on the all-time major league list.

Power Off For Legion

The third game in the best-of-five series between Rocky Mount and Pitt County's American Legion baseball teams ended in a power-failure last night.

A half-inning had been completed before a rain-shower forced the players from the field. During the rain, two of the power poles at Harrington Field lost their lights, and after the rain had stopped, and the first inning completed, a third light pole blew, and umpires suspended the game.

It will be resumed tonight at 8 p.m. at Harrington at the start of the second inning. Rocky Mount had taken a 1-0 lead in the first.

Pitt leads the best-of-three series, 2-0, and needs just one more win to move into the Area I finals against the Western Division winner, either Johnston County or Garner.

Britz, Massey Share Women's Open Lead

By SCOTT M. BUSHNELL
AP Sports Writer

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — It's a familiar place for Jerilynn Britz; she only hopes it lasts.

The Minnesota golfer shares the first round lead in the $125,000 U.S. Women's Open with Debbie Massey. Both shot one-under-par 70s Thursday.

Britz had the lead in last week's Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament at Noblesville, Ind. with two holes to play, only to see it fade away. Hollis Stacy won the $15,000 first prize in a playoff.

"I was really lucky today," the 36-year-old Britz said, pointing out that she had to make five crucial putts to save par, including one on the 18th hole.

While she has yet to post a victory on the women's tour, Britz has won $36,100 this year.

Stacy is in a six-way tie for third place in the oldest women's professional tourney, one stroke back. Jane Blalock, Pam Higgins, Cathy Morse, Sandra Spuzich and Sally Little also matched par 71.

Stacy, who is shooting for an unprecedented third straight Open title. She said her even-par round on the 6,010-yard Brooklawn Country Club put her "in good position."

Massey, who has missed four of the last eight LPGA tournaments because of torn tendons in her left thumb, credited her putting with the fast start.

"This is a real good round for me. I had no three-putts and that's real good for these greens," the Bethlehem, Pa., pro said.

The fast surface of the greens and the exacting pin placement was cited by all of the leaders as more than compensating for the short course. Brooklawn is the shortest course in Women's Open history.

"This is one of the best courses we've played," said Little. "And I don't think the scores are going to be that low."

"This is the first course on the tour that rewards the shot-maker and not the long-ball hitter," said Blalock.

Tied at one-over-par 72 were two-time Open titlist Donna Young, Sandra Post and Beth Stone. Grouped at 73 were Nancy Lopez, Laura Baugh, Sandra Palmer and Kathy Whitworth.

The field of 153 golfers — a record for the event — will be reduced to 50 plus ties at the end of today's round. The winner will receive $19,000.

Close Call

BALTIMORE — East Carolina athletic director Bill Cain and four of his colleagues had a close call in Baltimore yesterday when their private plane landed.

The five, along with Greenville pilot Carl Woxman, were on their way to attend a meeting of officials about the formation of a new conference.

On landing, Woxman's seven-passenger Cessna, blew a tire after running about 100 yards.

"Carl did a fantastic job of controlling the plane," Cain said. "He kept it under control until we finally stopped."

Along with Woxman and Cain, those on the plane included Chuck Boone, AD of Richmond; Dean Eilers of James Madison, Jim Jarrett of Old Dominion, and Ben Carnevale of William & Marv.

Albemarle Teams In Senior Ruth Finals

Albemarle County's Senior Babe Ruth League All-Star teams pushed into their respective Area G finals last night with victories over Windsor.

The 16-year-olds from Albemarle downed Windsor by a 21-10 score, while the 17-18-year-olds gained a 17-6 win.

Tonight, Windsor will take on Pitt County's all-stars in games at 6:30 (16's) and 8:30 (17-18) at Guy Smith Stadium, with the loser being eliminated. The winners meet Albemarle on Saturday for the championships and the right to advance to the state tournament.

Windsor struck first in the 16-year-old game, scoring a run in the top of the first inning. Chuck Daniels singled and scored after moving up when Truat Robertson reached on an error and Bobby Francis singled.

But Albemarle came right back to score 13 runs in the bottom of the first, putting it out of reach. Aubrey Patterson walked and Mike Winslow singled, then stole second. Billy Sawyer grounded out, scoring Patterson. Ryland Lindsey walked, as did Tony Spivey, loading the bases. Scott Williams then singled in two runs, and David Jordan hit a sacrifice fly to score the fourth run. Jimmy Knight reached on an error, and stole second. David Bunch walked, reloading the bases. Patterson walked, scoring the fifth run, and Winslow singled in another. Sawyer singled in two and Lindsey reached on a fielder's choice. Spivey singled in two more, with a double steal bringing in Lindsay. Williams reached on an infield hit, scoring Spivey. Two wild pitches and a passed ball brought Williams over with the 13th run.

Albemarle added two in the second, two in the third, one in the fifth and three in the sixth for its 21 run total. Windsor added two in the third, five in the fourth,

New League Is Near Reality

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

While officials at East Carolina University are relatively mum on the subject, it appears that a new athletic conference, involving several sports, but not football, is in the making.

Athletic Directors from East Carolina, the U.S. Naval Academy, the University of Richmond, the College of William & Mary, James Madison University and Old Dominion University met yesterday in Baltimore to discuss plans for the formation of the conference.

While ECU athletic director Bill Cain admitted that such a meeting was held, he would not discuss its outcome other than to say he and the other AD's were "optimistic" about the possible formation of a conference.

Such a league, according to reports reaching Greenville, would include basketball and at least five other sports, in order to meet the NCAA requirement of six schools with six sports in order to qualify for conference standing and tournament berths.

There was no word on what other sports might be included in the league, but it was felt that soccer, baseball, wrestling, golf, tennis, track and swimming might be included. East Carolina participates in those sports for men currently.

How quickly the group could begin conference play is uncertain. Reportedly, East Carolina has at least one game with three of the other five during the coming season. It might be possible for the league to hold a conference post-season tournament at the end of the coming year, but it would appear unlikely at this time.

Further meetings will be held in the future, Cain indicated.

Pitt Teams In Area Finals

EDENTON — Pitt County's 13-year-old and 14-15-year-old Babe Ruth baseball all-stars both advanced in the Area G tournament last night. The 13-year-olds downed Bertie-Windsor 13-3, while the 14-15-year-olds topped Currituck County 11-4.

The victories gave both teams the winner's bracket championships in their respective double elimination events. The 13-year-olds will play the winner of a game between Currituck and Bertie-Windsor tonight at 7, while the 14-15-year-olds will also face the winner of a game between Currituck and Windsor at 9.

Pitt County got off to a 5-0 lead in the 14-15-year-old game to wrap up the win early. Roy Lassiter, Greg Hardison, Dixon Page and Bobby Avery all walked, while Billy Junf reached on an error. Jeff Cox doubled and the final run came in on an error.

Pitt added one run in the fifth and five more in the sixth. Avery was the leading hitter, going 2-3. Kevin Battle was the winning pitcher, while Warren Bell was the loser. True Snowden was 2-4 for Currituck.

No details were available on the 13-year-old game.

North's Homecoming Lead Makes Him Happy

By MIKE O'BRIEN
AP Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — It was a happy homecoming for Andy North.

The Madison, Wis., product and 1978 U.S. Open champion shot a six-under-par 66 Thursday, matching his best competitive round of the year and his best in nearly six months.

Hours later, North was pleasantly surprised that no one had bettered that score under nearly ideal conditions at the 7,010-yard Tuckaway Country Club course.

Victor Regalado, Mike Reid and David Eger also shot 66s, creating a four-way tie for a one-stroke lead after the first round of the $200,000 Greater Milwaukee Open.

Tied at 67 were Joe Hager, Keith Fergus, D.A. Weibring, Mark Lye, John Lister and Cesar Sanudo.

Twelve others, including 1973 U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller, were at 68. Reigning Masters and San Diego champion Fuzzy Zoeller, top name in this tournament, and 14 others were at 69 as 80 golfers broke par.

"This course is absolutely perfect," North said. "There are going to be a lot of low scores, probably lower than 66, this week."

North, who had been dissatisfied with his play since his U.S. Open triumph, credited his turnabout to an old putter he hadn't used since his days at the University of Florida and a new putting technique taught him in Chicago last week by pro Earl Milligan.

"I haven't made as many long putts as I did today since probably the Open last year," said North, whose seven birdies included an 18 foot putt, a 15 footer and three from 12 feet.

North has changed to a more erect putting stance.

"The putter is swinging more freely," he said. "If the putter is swinging freely, you're going to make some putts. You roll it instead of knocking it into the ground."

Regalado, seeking his third tour victory, also putted well on greens which were soft from rain the previous two days and resisted spike marks most of the day. Regalado reached every green in regulation for the first time all year and needed only 31 putts.

Three, whose best finish in three pro seasons was second at Pensacola last year, was the only lead sharer who avoided a bogey.

"I was able to set up opportunities and let my putting do the talking," said Reid. "Every time I needed to make a putt to keep momentum, I made it. It doesn't matter what they do with traps and placements. If you have good greens and fairways like these, the scores will be low. It's that simple."

Eger, 27, is playing his third tournament since regaining his tour card June 1. He had it revoked last November after he had earned only $1,330 as a rookie last June.

"My memories of the tour start in Milwaukee because it's the only tournament I played halfway well in," said Eger, whose third round 67 here last year was his only other round under 70 on the tour.

"The par 5s are where you redeem yourself here. They're all reachable in two, and I'm just average off the tee," said Eger, who birdied each of the four par 5 holes.

Knight Goes To Court Today

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Sports Writer
SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Coach Bobby Knight headed for municipal court today to face trial on aggravated assault charges, hours before he was to direct the United States men's basketball team on the basketball court in a gold medal showdown in the Pan American Games with Puerto Rico.

Meanwhile, United States Olympic Committee spokesmen predicted the U.S. gold medal count, which stood at 93 entering today's action at this eighth edition of the hemispheric Olympics, would climb by an all-time record 125 by the close of competition here Sunday.

The Americans expected to reap a bumper crop of medals today and Saturday as sports such as freestyle wrestling, tennis, boxing, sailing and track and field wound down to conclusion.
U.S. athletes collected three of Thursday's eight gold medals, with big victories in the men's and women's 400-meter runs and singles tennis.

Dark-horse Tony Darden of Norristown, Pa., came from out of nowhere to make up 10 yards in the final strides and beat Cuban powerhouse Alberto Juantorena in the men's 400.
Darden said Juantorena's loss, his second in three days, emphasized "He's getting old. Now it's my turn."

In the controversial women's 400, Sharon Dabney, Philadelphia, nipped Guyana's June Griffith as the two lunged headlong for the finish line. Two protests by the Guyanan, accusing Dabney of leaving her lane and disputing the interpretation of the photo finish, were turned down.
Susan Hagey, LaJolla, Calif., beat teammate Trey Lewis, San Pedro, Calif., 3-6, 6-0, 6-2 to win the women's singles gold medal.
In boxing, however, another legendary Cuban, heavyweight Teofilo Stevenson, had little trouble with his American opponent, Bubba Hadley, Camp Lejeune, N.C., lasted only until 1 minute, 39 seconds into the first round before being knocked out by the awesome Stevenson.

In other semifinal bouts, the Americans all advanced — bantamweight Jackie Beard, Jackson, Tenn., junior welterweight Lemuel Steeples, St. Louis, junior middleweight James Shuler, Philadelphia, and light heavy Tony Tucker, Grand Rapids, Mich. — into Saturday night's finals.
In basketball, Mike Woodson was switched from forward to guard to replace the injured Kyle Macy and hit for 29 points as the U.S. team trounced Brazil 106-88. It was the eighth consecutive victory in the round-robin tournament for the Americans, a record matched only by the host Puerto Ricans.

Comiskey Park Really Rocks

Comiskey Park was really rockin' Thursday night. So much so, in fact, that the White Sox and Tigers couldn't finish their dance.

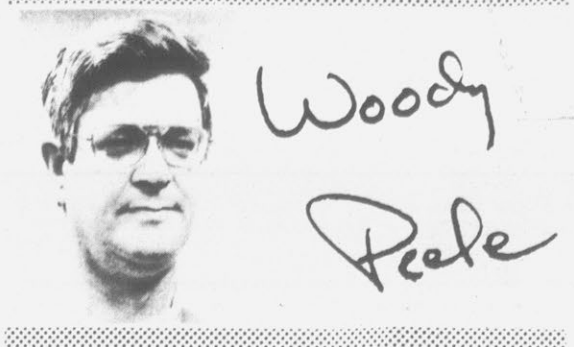

beat Kansas City 6-2. New York blasted Seattle 14-2 and Milwaukee took Toronto 5-3.
Rangers 6, Kansas City 2
Slumping Kansas City was victimized by a pair of John Ellis homers, four Buddy Bell hits, three by Richie Zisk and Jim Sundberg and a seven-hitter by Doc Medich. In his last outing, Medich combined with Jim Kern to one-hit Toronto.
Yankees 14, Mariners 2
Willie Randolph had four hits, drove in four runs and slammed a three-run homer, and Reggie Jackson also homered as the Yankees broke a seven-game losing streak in the Kingdom.
"I don't believe in all this hex stuff," said Randolph. "It's just that the Mariners get super up for the Yankees. We're the world champions, after all."

Detroit beat Chicago 4-1 in the opener of their scheduled two-night double-header, a routine contest in which unbeaten rookie Pat Underwood won his fourth straight game. An Anti-Disco Night promotion followed, staged by Steve Dahl, a local disc jockey who professes to hate disco music.
More than 40,000 fans were in the stadium, many entering for 98 cents if they also brought along a disco record. Those records were piled in center field, flinging records, burning banners and hurling firecrackers.

The start of the second game was delayed as the fans milled on the field. It took the sudden appearance of 40 Chicago police officers to finally clear the playing area but the damage had been done.
One hour and 16 minutes after the scheduled start of the second game, umpire Dave Phillips deemed the field unplayable and postponed the contest.

"Well, 'Dolly' is a Chevy Caprice, another Grand National short track car."
The younger Waltrip said naming the cars gives them definite personalities.
But numbers rather than names may provide the real clues behind who stacks up as the favorite for this weekend's race.
Alexis Leras, a spokeswoman for the National Association for Stock Car Racing, Inc. (NAS-CAR), in Daytona Beach, Fla., said four drivers currently lead the pack.

Each "lady" represents a late model stock car. And the stable of cars thus far this year has brought the 32-year-old driver from Franklin, Tenn., a whopping $309,220 in earnings. That's tops on the NASCAR Grand National circuit.
Waltrip is hoping to build on that total with Saturday night's Busch Nashville 420. That's when Waltrip is to escort "Dolly" to town for the 420 lap event.

Brook Valley Golf and Country Club
The team of Judy and Don Edwards and Linda and Mike Harrington tied with Janet and Don McGlohon and Frances and Jim Harris for first place in the Jack and Jill Tournament this week. Both had a net 25.
Second place also saw a tie between four teams. They were: Sara and Frank Orgel, Josie Rawls and Wayne Hall; Margie and Dan Harrington, and Dena and Doug Morgan; Mary and Earl Bruton and Doris and Andy Boles; Mary Meade and Bob Powell, and Ellen and Jim Fleming. All carded 26.
Taking third place was Glo and Bill Clark, and Shelby and Hass Bailey with a 27.
Bill Clark had his best score ever, a 39-36-75, which included four birdies. Julius Budacz has his best round of the year, a 35-39-74. Danny Bercini broke 80 for the first time with a 41-35-76.
The Men's Four-Man Best Ball Tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday.
The Interclub Championship between Brook Valley and Greenville men will be held July 28-29. The deadline for signups, at either club, is Wednesday, July 25.
The Father-Son championship will be held August 4-5 with a deadline for signups on Thursday, August 2.

Ayden Golf and Country Club
The Ayden Golf and Country Club will play host to the Pitt County Junior Tournament on Wednesday.
The tournament is open to all junior members of Pitt County country clubs, ages 10-17. Pro Tim Smith said that three or four age groups would be used, depending on the size of the field. Ages 10-11 will play nine holes, and older youths will play 18.
Jim Jackson, an eight-year-old junior member at Ayden, got his first par on the fourth hole, a par three.

16-Year-Old All-Stars

Waltrip Keeps Fast Company
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Stock car driver Darrell Waltrip is being seen these days keeping fast company with a whole bevy of painted ladies — cars named for women.
He has been linked with "Dolly Parton," "Wicked Wanda," "Maybelline" and "Virginia."
Each "lady" represents a late model stock car. And the stable of cars thus far this year has brought the 32-year-old driver from Franklin, Tenn., a whopping $309,220 in earnings. That's tops on the NASCAR Grand National circuit.
Waltrip is hoping to build on that total with Saturday night's Busch Nashville 420. That's when Waltrip is to escort "Dolly" to town for the 420 lap event.
What's in a name?
"Maybelline," according to Darrell's younger brother, Bobby, who runs the family speed shop in Franklin, is an Oldsmobile modified for super speedway use.
"Virginia" is a Chevrolet

Chess Event Held Here
The Greenville Community Chess Club held its first tournament yesterday at the South Greenville Gym.
Kenneth Cox took first place in the event, while Lee Hadden was second. Other finalists included Daniel Dawson and James Turnage.
In the beginners class, Calvin Reddick took first place.

Opening lead: Seven of ♣.

Quite often, the fate of a contract might hinge on the favorable location of an honor card. But it is rare that a lowly four can be the key card in a defensive operation. Consider this hand.

In terms of point-count only, North's hand might be considered a trifle heavy for a mere raise to two spades. But North took into account that he held only one king and no ace or singleton, and that he had only three-card support. However, once South could compete freely, North made up for any reticence at his first turn by raising to game.

West made his normal lead of the top of his partner's suit. East won the jack and continued with the ace. To these tricks declarer followed with the three and then the ten, while West contributed the deuce to the second trick. Declarer's falsecard was to no avail. East knew that his partner could not have three hearts, for with the 7-5-2 in the suit, his correct play to the second trick would have been the five, not the two. When a player holds three worthless cards in his partner's suit and leads the suit, he should play them in descending order.

Since West was known to be out of hearts, East hit upon a simple method to establish a trump trick for himself. At trick three he led the four of hearts. Declarer played the five perforce, and West trumped with the four of spades. This forced the jack of trumps from dummy and insured a trump trick for East. The ace of clubs then provided the setting trick.

No doubt if East had continued with a high heart instead of the four, West would have risen to the occasion and secured the trump promotion by ruffing with the four anyway—at least he should. But a thoughtful partner, while trusting his teammate, nevertheless takes every precaution to assure that he does not get lulled into a false step.

Amidst Chaff, Some Good TV

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Humanitas Prizes were given out this week, awarded to TV writers whose scripts communicated "those values which most fully enrich the human person."

I'd forgotten all about that, the notion that commercial television can be uplifting, that it can enrich our lives. I think I lost it in the crossfire between TV's hysters and haters.

But Humanitas served to remind. There is a fertile middle ground between pretentious, self-consciously "relevant" TV and mindless, cheap-thrills TV. There is such a thing as good television.

The prizes, awarded by the Human Family Institute, go to writers whose scripts are both broadly entertaining and humanizing — the very definition of good television.

The three winners worked that middle ground well, and, significantly, their works were aired on three different networks.

NBC's prizewinner was Jane-Howard Hammerstein's "Summer of My German Soldier," her first major TV credit. The TV movie was a masterful lesson in compassion and the overcoming of prejudice, and it didn't preach. Leon Tokatyan's script for the "Vet" episode of CBS' "Lou Grant" explored the special pains endured by Vietnam veterans. It was, as the Humanitas Prize board wrote, "a challenge to its viewers, and to all of us, to face our fears and grow beyond our guilt, anger and resentment."

But I think that the third winner, Michael Leeson's "Blind Date" episode of ABC's "Taxi" series, is the best proof that TV can aim at broad audiences without insulting the narrow segments of that audience.

"Blind Date" was funny, funny enough for a kid or a humanities professor to laugh at, and feel good about later.

Judge Awards Actor $280,000

DETROIT (AP) — A judge has awarded $280,000 to actor John Gavin, who says he was hurt financially by a newspaper article linking him to the wife of an auto industry executive.

The default judgment in the 1975 lawsuit was handed down Wednesday in Wayne County Circuit Court against Los Angeles publicist Jay Bernstein. Gavin blamed Bernstein for a syndicated newspaper story linking Gavin romantically with Detroit area socialite Dollie Cole.

At the time, she was married to General Motors Corp. President Edward N. Cole, who later died in a plane crash.

Court Summons Alan Jay Lerner

NEW YORK (AP) — The songwriter who composed such works as "My Fair Lady" and "Gigi" has been ordered to appear in court to show why he should not be held in contempt for failing to answer a court questionnaire about his finances.

Alan Jay Lerner was named in an action filed by A La Vieille Russie, a Russian art jewelry and antique dealer on Fifth Avenue, claiming Lerner owes $19,146 for a diamond necklace.

The swastika was adopted as Germany's national flag in 1933.
