

Farmville, Snow Hill, Williamston Share In 'Excellence' Awards

RALEIGH — The towns of Farmville, Snow Hill and Williamston are among 77 North Carolina communities to receive the Governor's Community of Excellence Awards in a conference being held in Raleigh today.

The awards are being presented to the North Carolina communities at a banquet at 7 p.m. at which Governor James B. Hunt will speak.

Other speakers will be E. M. deWindt, chairman of the board of Eaton Corporation of Cleveland, Ohio; and William B. Barrett, executive director of the North Mississippi Industrial Development Association.

A large number of people from across the state involved with industrial recruitment at utilities, financial institutions, state and local governments, chambers of commerce and state communities will be attending this conference, the first North Carolina Governor's Conference on Economic Development.

The Governor's Community of Excellence Award is given to communities which have met criteria to make them more attractive to industrial location.

In addition to the three communities noted above, other communities in Region 7, the Washington Region, to receive the awards include La Grange, Plymouth, Trenton, Washington, and Pamlico County.

Angry 'No' To Releases At Embassy

By The Associated Press

The Iranian government was reported preparing today to free all hostages held in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran except white American males, but the Moslem militants holding the mission angrily denied captives would be released and accused Iran's foreign minister of pandering to world public opinion.

CBS correspondent Randy Daniels reported from Tehran that Foreign Minister Abolhassan Bani Sadr told him in an interview that "all women and blacks would be freed very soon." He did not say exactly when this would take place.

However, the occupiers told Tehran Radio: "No. Something like this will not be considered. Our conditions are known. We do not recognize any statement except our statements as broadcast by Tehran radio and television or statements we issue during embassy press conferences."

"We denounce any negotiations concerning the hostages' release before the United States extradites the deposed shah."

"We remind government officials to pay attention to internal problems connected with the people, instead of negotiating abroad and paying attention to international public opinion."

"Our action stems from the will of the people and the leadership of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini without anyone telling us what to do."

The State Department said six or seven women and one black U.S. Marine were among the 62 Americans held hostage in the embassy since Nov. 4. But it was assumed that by "blacks" Bani Sadr also meant the 36 non-American hostages, most of whom are dark-skinned Pakistani and Indian employees of the embassy.

Bani Sadr told a news conference Wednesday that the non-Americans might be freed by the weekend if proven "innocent" of any crimes, Radio Tehran reported.

Meanwhile, the United States blocked Iran's attempt to arraign it before the U.N. Security Council, and President Carter stymied an attempt by the Iranian government to withdraw its billions in oil revenues deposited in American banks.

"We're going to work actively to prevent a discussion by the Security Council until the hostages are released," State Department spokesman Hoddin Carter said. "There is no way this government will negotiate under the gun of its people being held."

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, after meeting with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, told reporters: "We have indicated that if the hostage question is resolved, then we're prepared to see the Security Council go forward and deal with the issues that anyone wishes to put before it, including the Iranians."

speech to dinner guests, the vice president praised the American people for what he termed "their incredible maturity and restraint in the face of a great deal of provocation" as 62 Americans continued to be held in Iran. (AP Laserphoto)

Offer Free Land To Recreation Use

An offer of free land for the Greenville Recreation and Parks Department; a recommendation to name the West Greenville site for the late

Thomas Foreman; and continuation of funds for the Young Adult Conservation Corps highlighted the monthly meeting of the Greenville

Recreation and Parks Commission meeting Wednesday night.

L. M. Ernest has offered to donate a tract of land adjacent to Elm Street Park to the city. The property, which runs 185 feet in frontage along Elm Street, is 134 feet deep, with a total area of 30,000 square feet. The commission is recommending to the City Council that Ernest's donation offer be accepted.

Another recommendation approved for presentation to the City Council is to name the West Greenville recreation facility the "Thomas M. Foreman Park" effective January 1, 1980. This would honor the late Mr. Foreman, who was instrumental in early advocacy to acquire the property as a recreation facility in the west part of town. Mr. Foreman also served several years on the recreation commission and was chairman when he had to resign due to ill health.

Director Boyd Lee reported that the Young Adult Conservation Corps (YACC) program has been approved for continued funding in the amount of $336,000 which will extend the current program through September 30, 1980. A total of 28 young people are now enrolled in the work program, which is primarily directed to making improvements in the park land north of the river.

Lee reported that for the period September 1 through October, the department had collected a total of $6,075 in fees from non-residents using the facility as well as program fees.

Also announced was the resignation of Bill Twine as the Coordinator of Special Populations, and the election of Susan Hoell to succeed Twine in this position. Ms. Hoell was previously Twine's assistant.

Chairman Rufus Huggins commented that several people have been disappointed that the new tennis courts at West Greenville are not

Oily Inferno

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — A Romanian oil tanker and a Greek coastal freighter collided in the Bosphorus early today, setting off thunderous explosions and fire, leaving 50 Romanian crew members missing and dumping nearly 30 million gallons of oil into the sea, officials said.

They said rescuers found one dead crewman and picked up three from the 150,000-ton Romanian tanker Independenta, which carried a crew of 54.

Police said the 33-member crew of the 5,298-ton Greek coaster Evria was unhurt.

The tanker, loaded with crude oil destined for Romania, collided with the Evria at the mouth of the Bosphorus, triggering powerful explosions that shattered windows in a wide area in Istanbul.

Witnesses told police the tanker was rocked by three blasts which sent thick smoke into the air. Governor Orhan Erbug said an estimated 95,000 tons of oil, or 28.4 million gallons, poured into the Marmara Sea. Authorities, 6th graf 1st Ld.

HOTLINE APPEAL

YARD-BAKE SALE

There will be a yard-bake sale held Saturday in the Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church parking lot to raise money to help defray the expenses of a two-year-old cancer patient. Anyone wishing to donate sale items or baked good may bring them to the church Friday between 9 a. m. and noon or early Saturday morning. The sale will begin at 9 a. m. Checks may be made payable to Jarvis Weekday School and marked donation.

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

CHICKEN PASTRY

Chicken pastry plates will be sold at the yard sale to be given at the Henry Cayton home Saturday for the replacement of a motor in a car specially equipped for a handicapped man. The Cayton home is located at 1705 Treemont Drive near Ficklen Stadium. "Some people may want to have lunch here on the way to the ECU game," Mrs. Cayton said. Donations for the sale may be left at the Cayton home.

A wrong phone number was given in a Hotline appeal published last Thursday on behalf of Grace Bailey, who with her two daughters, was burned out of her home. The correct phone number of her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. David Daniels, is 758-5535. Our apologies to the person who received wrong-number calls as a result of our error.

Best Describes 'Heroic Effort'

By STUART SAVAGE

Reflector Staff Writer

Dr. Andrew Best, on trial in Pitt County Superior Court on conspiracy and embezzlement charges in connection with the theft of money from the Eastern Tar River Credit Union, took the witness stand in his own behalf yesterday, denying he embezzled funds from the credit union.

Rather than take money from the credit union, Best said he took, "heroic acts to keep the credit union operating," including paying past due loans for others with his own money.

The embezzlement of funds allegedly occurred between April, 1973 and December, 1975. Witnesses testified that during that period, the credit union had been placed on suspension two times, and had chronic problems with past-due loan accounts.

"We had a chronic delinquency problem," Best explained, adding that, "at one time or another, every member of the board (of directors)," would do special things in an effort to bring the past-due accounts up-to-date.

Ruth Staton, former secretary-treasurer of the credit union testified that on April 30, 1973, she diverted $7,000 in money for deposit to the account of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, to Dr. Best and herself. She said $2,500 was credited to Best's loan account, while the remaining $4,500 went to pay delinquent loans for four sorority members.

Ms. Staton, who has pled guilty to five counts of embezzlement, said that on August 26, 1975, $3,900 was taken from the account of Annie Boyd and given to Best, who she said, "wanted the money for tax purposes."

Again, on December 23, 1975, she testified, Ms. Staton discussed with Best his need for money, and $5,000 was given to him.

Ms. Staton said the money included $2,300, treated as a loan to Bessie Mosley, Best's housekeeper, and a loan of $2,500 in the name of Georgia Corey, a member of the credit union who lives in Washington.

During his testimony, Best denied any knowledge of the April, 1973 sorority account transaction.

"The only thing I had to do with Delta," he said, was in June 1977, "at the request of Ms. Staton." (Ms. Staton was dismissed as secretary-treasurer of the credit union on March 29, 1977 after discrepancies were found in the credit union records during an examination of the books by examiners from the Credit Union Division of the N.C. Department of Commerce. Best was asked to step down from his position as a director of the credit union in May, 1977 by letter from the Credit Union Division.)

Best related how Ms. Staton told him of shortages in the sorority account and in her father's account, to "see if I could borrow money for her so that she could get it straightened out."

Whichard Joins SNPA Board

BOCA RATON, FLA. —

David J. Whichard II, president and co-publisher of "The Daily Reflector," is one of five persons elected to the board of directors of The Southern Newspaper Publishers Association (SNPA) at the 76th annual of the association held in Boca Raton on Wednesday.

The SNPA, which is composed of more than 450 daily newspapers in 14 Southern states, also elected Robert C. Marbut, president and chief executive officer of Harte-Hanks Communications, Inc. of San Antonio, Texas, as its new president. He succeeds Steed Rollins, publisher and president of the Durham

"Herald and Sun." Rollins was elected chairman of the board of SNPA directors.

Roland Weeks Jr., president and general manager of the Biloxi-Gulfport, Miss. "Herald and Sun" was named SNPA president-elect.

In addition to Whichard, others named to the board of directors are: Tom J. Hardin, of the Alexandria, La. "Daily Town Talk;" Robert M. Hederman III of the Jackson, Miss. "Clarion-Ledger and Daily News;" Ruth S. Holmberg of the Chattanooga, Tenn. "Times;" and R. Sid Crim of the Beckley, W. Va. "Post-Herald and Raleigh Register."

Mt. Sinai Again Has Egyptian Flag

By MAGDA ELSANGA

Associated Press Writer

MOUNT SINAI, Egypt (AP) — Egyptian soldiers raised their flag today near this venerated desert mountain where Moses is said to have received the Ten Commandments as Israel made its fourth-stage withdrawal from territory captured in the 1967 Mideast War.

The flag-raising ceremony, attended by about 200 Egyptian and Israeli soldiers, passing tourists and Bedouin Arabs, clears the way for President Anwar Sadat to celebrate the second anniversary of his peace initiative.

"Here the Ten Commandments came down with the moral injunction which is today applied to relations between people," said Israeli Gen. Dov Sion, referring to the Biblical caveat to "love thy neighbor."

The Israeli government of Prime Minister Menachem Begin agreed to turn over the 600-square-mile area in the south central Sinai two months early at the request of Sadat, who has placed great symbolic importance in its return.

The Egyptian leader has long said he wanted to build a three-in-one house of worship for Jews, Christians and Moslems at Mount Sinai, although some officials said he has altered these plans in deference to 30 solitude-seeking monks at the St.

Catherine's Monastery, built 1,400 years ago.

At a military ceremony at an Israeli-built airfield 12 miles from the mountain, the Israeli flag was lowered and an Egyptian flag raised in a ceremony that has now been repeated four times as Israel carries out its phased withdrawal from the desert peninsula.

Under an agreement reached between Cairo and Jerusalem, tourists from Israel will be allowed to visit the area under Egyptian supervision.

Under the peace treaty, the Mount Sinai area was scheduled to revert to Egyptian control next January.

But Menachem Begin agreed to Sadat's request to advance the handover so Egypt could hold ceremonies there marking the second anniversary of Sadat's arrival in Jerusalem on Nov. 19, 1977.

Rhodesia Efforts Advance

LONDON (AP) — Opposing parties at the Zimbabwe Rhodesia talks today accepted Britain's plan for a new interim government, paving the way for a peace settlement.

Britain announced the agreement after intense telephone communication throughout the night and further meetings this morning.

The 10-week-old talks arranged by Britain now can move to the final stage of working out a cease-fire in the seven-year-old war between government and nationalist guerrillas in Zimbabwe Rhodesia that has left 20,000 dead.

Despite the difficult negotiations ahead, the prospect of an end to years of international ostracism and bloody conflict lay in sight for the breakaway British colony of seven million blacks and 230,000 whites.

The final plan called for a British governor to rule Zimbabwe Rhodesia and supervise new elections before it is granted legal independence.

Nicholas Fenn, spokesman for British Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington, told a news conference: "Lord Carrington is delighted. He pays tribute to the statesmanship of both delegations."

Agreement came after Britain amended its original plan for direct rule during new elections and a cease-fire by stating that the Patriotic Front guerrillas will, like Salisbury's government troops, come under the direct authority of the proposed British governor.

Share Tobacco Tying Honors

"Like mother, like daughter" is a saying that would apply to the top winners of the Southern Flue-Cured Tobacco Festival Tobacco Tying Contest.

Mrs. Marien Pelletier, 78, of LaGrange, was the first place winner in the annual tobacco tying contest held Wednesday at the Tobacco Farmer Show. Mrs. Pelletier's daughter, Margie Hines of LaGrange, won the second place prize in the contest.

Mrs. Pelletier said that she had been tying tobacco for more than 65 years. For her perfect bundles with heads no smaller than a quarter and no larger than a 50 cent piece, Mrs. Pelletier received a Tobacco Festival first place plaque.

Each of the 14 contestants had two minutes to tie three bundles of tobacco.

Robert Martin, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners, served as the chairman for the event. Judges for the contest were Charles Forbes, E. B. Hodges and Red Forbes.

30,000 Attend Tobacco Show

Some 30,000 farmers and agribusinessmen attended the Tobacco Farmer Show Wednesday, according to show officials.

Country comedian Jerry Clower held the crowd's attention at his 2 p.m. performance. Clower has opened the show since its inception in 1975.

Today, Leroy Van Dyke and the Auctioneers gave two performances, 12 noon and 2 p.m. Billy "Crash" Craddock, the Southern Knights and the Dream Lovers will perform Friday at 2 p.m. All performances are free to the public.

Doors open at Farmers Warehouse, N. Greene St., at 9 a.m. for the show. Show hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., with Friday as the final day. Some 175 exhibitors from across the Southeast are displaying their merchandise at the show, sponsored by "The Flue Cured Tobacco Farmer" in cooperation with "The Peanut Farmer" magazines.

Cecily Satterthwaite Weds William E. Hobgood

FARMVILLE — The marriage of Cecily Jane Satterthwaite and William Edward Hobgood was solemnized Friday night at 7:30 in the First Baptist Church here. The Rev. Ronnie Davis officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Fernando Ward Satterthwaite of Farmville, and the late Mrs. Elizabeth Harrington Satterthwaite. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas Hobgood of Farmville.

Mrs. W. C. Mercer, organist, presented traditional wedding music.

The couple entered the church together and were unattended. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a teal blue suede cocktail dress with matching accessories complemented by an orchid corsage.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Duke Sr. Assisting hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Tammy Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Outland Sr., Mr. and Mrs. William Minette, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Garner, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Oglesby and Mrs. M. F. Jones.

For a wedding trip, the bride changed into a light blue dress with a matching coat.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

I read an interesting study the other morning that stated more and more fathers are experiencing the "empty nest" syndrome.

"We are living in a time of house husbands, father images, and husbands who share the burden of child raising," the survey said. "It's not uncommon for fathers to be depressed, and feel empty and restless when their children leave home."

"That," I said, putting down the paper, "is a bunch of horsefeathers."

"I don't think it's horsefeathers at all," said my husband. "What you're saying is that I don't share the same love and concern for our children that you do. Why, I miss all four of them."

"We only had three," I amended.

"Are you sure? No matter. There isn't a day goes by that I don't think back on the good times we had as a family."

Remember that wonderful summer we camped on the Atlantic Ocean and dug for clams? We all sat around the campfire and ate them like popcorn.

"It wasn't the Atlantic Ocean. It was Lake Larvae, and it WAS popcorn because you couldn't find where the clams hid."

"Whatever. I really miss those kids. There were a lot of fun times and a lot of trying times. I miss those too. Remember when our second-born came to me and said, 'Dad, will you teach me how to drive?'"

"I'll never forget it. You sent him to the Kamikaze Driving School and it set us back $175."

"Gosh, those were good times — the broken legs — the broken skulls — the million and one emergencies that are parenthood."

"You never showed up for an emergency in your life!"

"But I called! Didn't I call?"

"Look, I know you love your children, but somehow men just don't get as involved in the lives of their children as mothers do."

He stood up stiffly. "I'm going to tell you something I've never told you before. I don't know why. Maybe I'm so macho I didn't want you to think I was weak or soft, but when my little girl walked out that door and said, 'Bye, Dad,' something in me died. I remembered the little ponytail and how we were always looking for rubber bands on doorknobs, little dolls crunching underfoot, grape bubblegum kisses and that wonderful feeling when she threw her arms around my neck and said, 'I love you, Daddy.' You never knew the pain when she left. If you did you never showed it."

"I never showed it because she never left. She's still at home."

He was silent a minute. Then he said, "Are you sure?"

ALL-IN-ONES

All-in-ones, the pantyhose, with the built-in panty, have made a mark in the hosiery business.

Recent industry reports estimate that all-in-ones make up about eight or nine percent of department store hosiery sales, say NCSU agricultural extension specialists.

Some hosiery manufacturers believe that the next area of growth for the all-in-one business will be textured pantyhose with a separate panty.

A Book Of Memories On Tobacco, Mules, Farming

"YOU SURE TOLD THE TRUTH" . . . Pamela Barefoot is told by a repeat customer about the content of "Mules and Memories: A Photo Documentary of the Tobacco Farmer," now being sold by her at the Tobacco Farmer Show here.

By CAROL TYLER
Reflector Staff Writer

Pamela Barefoot knows firsthand the tobacco culture she has so eloquently documented in her book, "Mules and Memories," now being sold by the author herself at the Tobacco Farmer Show here through Friday at 5 p.m.

"I helped barn tobacco six days a week every summer till I was 18," the Johnston County native said. "My father still farms a little, but mostly he spends his time running the A. R. Barefoot Grocery on Rt. 1, Four Oaks. We tease my mother that she's a celebrity now — She won the hollering contest at Spivey's Corners last year and the whole country heard her hollering 'Peanut!!' on 'Real People' a couple of weeks ago."

Ms. Barefoot attended Louisburg College and Virginia Commonwealth University and worked for a while for the Virginia Department of Corrections. "I finally quit out of frustration with insoluble problems," she said of her experience working at a training school for juvenile offenders.

Two weeks after she quit her paid job, she said, she began a year-long project of photographing and interviewing tobacco farmers and their families from South Georgia to Pennsylvania to Kentucky. Her first photograph was taken in her home county and is used on the cover of the book which has 105 color photographs, all taken by Ms. Barefoot herself. "I began in August, 1977," she said, "with the North Carolina harvest, went through the fall marketing, saw the Pennsylvania and Maryland selling in January through May, got back into the planting season here and continued on till harvest again, finishing up in August, 1978.

During the time of traveling Tobaccoland, there were breaks during which she typed and ran errands for a lawyer to earn her keep. In the meantime, she was contacting tobacco companies and special interest groups for financial backing and advance orders, writing a proposal for a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities (She received $3,900), and appealing to friends and relatives to co-sign for loans. Altogether she raised $68,000, most of which had to be paid back by her personally.

"If I knew then what I know now about how hard it would be, I wouldn't have undertaken it," she said of the compiling, publishing and selling of her book. "Yet, I'm glad I did it. If I sell enough books here in Greenville this week, I may soon be able to pay off the last two loans. Then I may, at long last, begin making some money for my work."

The book title, "Mules and Memories," came to her in a dream a few weeks after she began the project, she said. She said she envisioned the book much the way it is before it was ever begun — color photographs that would depict as accurately as possible tobacco farming as it really is and something of its history, with quotes from farmers and warehousemen and buyers and auctioneers themselves.

The chapter introductions were written by her cousin, Burt Kornegay, now a graduate student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Ms. Barefoot herself was the publisher. Bruce Smith, a professional book designer of Richmond, did the layout and W. M. Brown Company of Richmond, in Ms. Barefoot's estimation, "the best color printer on the East Coast," did the printing. John F.

Blair, Publisher of Winston-Salem is the distributor to book stores.

Ms. Barefoot's booth is No. 142 on the south side of the warehouse which houses the Tobacco Farmer Show, now underway. She's autographing copies of "Mules and Memories" there and selling them for $14.95 each. They also may be ordered directly from Barefoot Productions, 70 Lakeshore Drive, Quinton, Va. 23141 for the same price per copy. The retail book store price is $17.95.

Reason May Replace Hysteria

Seizure of the American embassy personnel by Iranians was a senseless, perilous and downright foolish thing to do.

The backing of this cruelty by the Iranian government simply adds to the futility which surrounds this international outrage.

There are signs, however, that the emotional phase of this situation is passing and perhaps some groups with cooler heads are gaining control.

There is a sort of checker game going on between the Carter administration and the Iranians.

The U.S. announced that no more oil would be purchased from Iran. That was followed by an Iranian announcement that no more oil would be sold to us.

A hunger strike was instituted in Iran to demonstrate that a food cutoff by the United States would have no effect on Iran.

Finally Iran, anticipating that its funds in U. S. banks might be frozen, announced the money would be withdrawn. This was followed by a Carter executive order freezing the funds.

Neither country has been hurt much by any of this. The U.S. may be pinched by loss of Iranian oil, but not crippled. Iran can get food elsewhere with its oil supplies, and no doubt the figuring is going on in Iran that its wealth will eventually be returned.

The importance of all this is that perhaps some logical thinking is finally going on in Iranian government. If a reasoning process is replacing hysteria it will eventually have to conclude that holding innocent Americans captive is going to be counterproductive for Iran.

Step Undercuts Spirit Of Compromise

Israel has arrested without charges an Arab mayor who questioned the Israeli policies.

Mayor Bassam Shakaa of Nablus is facing deportation.

The move by Israel is a regrettable and dangerous one. They have removed an elected public official and crushed his right to speak out on issues.

Someday Israel will have to reach a compromise on the problems of the West Bank, but this action doesn't allow much hope that a spirit of compromise is in the offing.

Physician Crisis Over?

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH—The physician shortage in North Carolina, and accompanying maldistribution in small towns and rural areas, which drew considerable public and legislative attention in recent years appears to be easing.

In fact, the state may have not only turned the corner of that crisis, but appears headed toward an oversupply in the future.

Two chief officials from the school of medicine at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill presented a report on medical education and distribution of physicians in North Carolina at a recent conference in Chicago.

"We believe ... that our state is moving from a situation in which it had a shortage and a serious geographic maldistribution of physicians to one in which the shortage has largely been overcome and the maldistribution ameliorated.

"In fact, many indicators suggest that we have actually reached a point of sufficiency in the number of physicians in come communities with the potential threat of a surplus in some areas in the future," the paper concluded.

UNC Report

Making the report, contained in a 34-page review of the past problem and innovative state efforts to resolve it, were Doctors Eugene S. Mayer, professor of family medicine, associate dean, and director of the Area Health Education Center at UNC; and Christopher C. Fordham III, dean emeritus and vice chancellor for health sciences at UNC.

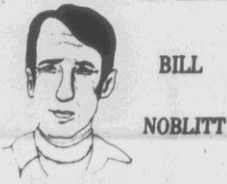

North Carolina has attracted considerable national and even world-wide attention with its package of programs designed, in various ways, to bring health services to isolated communities; to encourage physicians to locate in small towns and rural areas; to train more doctors, and train them in primary care areas rather than specialties; to spread residency and educational programs across the state on theory that many would choose to remain in less urban settings; to build rural health clinics staffed with nurse practitioners and physician extenders; and to recruit more minorities and Tar Heel natives into medical ranks.

An overview of the report shows that the approach is working. The state now has 25 rural health centers and nine Area Health Education Centers. There are innovative physician extenders in 81 of 100 counties. More than 200 physicians from outside North Carolina have been recruited to practice here. More students are entering family physician training with 80 percent staying in this state; half of them in towns under 15,000.

In 10 years, graduates from medical schools jumped from 104 to 344, each year, with 60 more to be added in 1981 when East Carolina University graduates its first class. Also, Tar Heels among the new doctors climbed from 99 to 271 between 1970 and 1979.

Described in detail in the paper are the many programs which are in place to join the academic centers and local hospitals and programs together, with federal funds in some cases. Most of the effort, however, has been state funded, with the General Assembly putting up over $90 million for AHED including $23.5 million for training centers, libraries, laboratories, and educational facilities. Local support amounts to about $10 million, and federal to $12.5 million, and phasing out.

Fordham and Mayer favor withdrawal of federal aid, noting that rigid federal strategies, and time spent meeting federal guidelines, "runs the risk of destroying the very feature which is the essence of AHED: regional centers to meet varying regional and local needs."

BILL NOBLITT

AHEC

Fordham and Mayer paid special attention to the Area Health Education Centers (AHEC) as the largest in thenation, and the only one state-wide in scope designed to bring research and library facilities, teaching staff, medical students and those in residency training, practicing individuals and up-to-date techniques and information to nine communities strategically located across the state. The program even has its own "air force" of five planes, with pilots flying more than a million miles last year.

Undermines Principles

WASHINGTON — There are times, perhaps, when a good case can be made for yielding economic principle to overriding reality, but such a case has not yet been made in the matter of the pending loan guarantee for the Chrysler Corp. Unless convincing evidence in support of the bill can be presented at this week's Senate hearings, the plan should be rejected.

We ought to be clear on what is at stake. It is not the $1.5 billion guarantee as such; there is no prospect that anything approaching this sum might actually be lost to the taxpayers; if all goes well, the Lockheed experience of several years ago could be repeated, and the Treasury would even turn a small profit.

No. Something far more precious is involved. The Carter administration's bill would undermine economic principles of the highest priority, and it would set a precedent that could plague the Congress for years to come.

We identify our industrial economy in terms of "the marketplace," or "venture capitalism" or the "free enterprise system." At bottom, ours is known for short as the "profit system." But as Professor Milton Friedman recently has remarked, that shorthand term is too short. Ours is not a profit system; it is a system of profit and loss.

Everything depends upon recognition of that fundamental concept. Capital is invested under the hope of gain, but it also is invested at the risk of loss. Take the element of risk away, and what remains? Nothing but a pallid imitation of free enterprise.

This is what is here proposed. The Treasury would guarantee the repayment by Chrysler of up to $1.5 billion in loans. To be sure, the ailing company would have to raise $1.5 billion in non-guaranteed loans or in "concessions" from its unions, but Chrysler has sufficient assets to overcome this requirement.

The administration's bill effectively would put the United States government in the automobile manufacturing business. The secretary of the Treasury would have to pass on "satisfactory" operating plans and "satisfactory" financing plans. The secretary would have to approve four-year programs of various kinds. And if the secretary should determine that Chrysler's problems in obtaining non-guaranteed credit are "the result of a failure on the part of management to exercise reasonable business prudence," the secretary shall require "such management changes as the secretary deems necessary."

What is the case in support of this extraordinary proposal? The administration says that if Chrysler went bankrupt, the collapse would have a "devastating impact"

Living Buddha 'Quit'

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

LHASA, Tibet (AP) — A Living Buddha, the only one I ever met, has promised to send me a prayer wheel.

Prayer wheels seem to have gone into hiding since the People's Liberation Army came over the mountain wall in the 1950's to reclaim Tibet for China. The only one we saw during our travels in Tibet was the enormous motorized prayer wheel in the Potala, the Dalai Lama's former winter palace, and it was broken.

Two Tibetan girls in traditional costumes were working on the gear mechanism but lost interest when we appeared with our cameras. They retreated into one of the 10,000 chapels in the high-rise palace that, outside of the surrounding snow capped mountains, is the Roof of the World's main scenic attraction.

There were no prayer wheels to be had in the tiny shops run by the Nepalese merchants along Parkor Street, the octagonal-shaped street that surrounds the Jokka Kang Cathedral in downtown Lhasa.

Now the shops didn't seem to carry much of anything, except some rusting canned goods and sacks of barley.

For at least a decade "welfare reform" has been like the weather: Everyone talks about it, but no one does anything about it.

But the House of Representatives at last took a tentative step toward welfare reform last week. By a narrow 222 to 194 margin the House approved a plan that would for the first time set a national minimum payment for welfare recipients. The plan is a much more modest version of a sweeping welfare reform package the Carter administration submitted to Congress two years ago. That plan, which included a job program, was scuttled very quickly.

Current welfare payment levels are set at the discretion of the various states, and are administered locally. The main goal of the legislation approved by the House is to bring paltry annual welfare payments in 13 southern and southwestern states up to 65 percent of the national poverty level by October, 1981.

The U.S. Census Bureau estimates that 65 percent of that floor in 1979 dollars for a family of four would amount to about $4,650. In North Carolina, a family of four on Aid To Families with Dependent Children now receives a maximum of $2,620 a year, assuming no other source of income such as pensions or Social Security are subtracted from that total.

An income of $4,650 a year may not sound like much money in today's economic climate, but for the 73,000 families on AFDC in North Carolina, a possible $2,000 a year increase in their payments would be substantial.

Another feature of particular interest to North Carolinians is a provision that would require AFDC payments to be made to two-parent families. Right now only single parent families are eligible in North Carolina and several other states. This policy is short-sighted. It encourages families to split up to qualify for AFDC. Counties like Guilford must then spend considerable sums trying to track down delinquent fathers for child-support payments. This is one of the more glaring deficiencies in a welfare system everyone admits is a disgrace.

The fate of the House bill is still far from settled. It now goes to the Senate where it awaits action by the Senate Finance Committee.

INSIDE REPORT

One Reagan Cloud In Fla.

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

Stuart, Fla. — A small dark cloud building against the inevitability of Ronald Reagan's nomination can be traced to independent-minded Florida Republicans such as Walter Bell, a semi-retired businessman from this pleasant little East Coast town.

Bell, a member of the Stuart central committee, is among 20 percent of delegates appointed to the Nov. 17 Republican state preferential convention as party officials and assumed to be overwhelmingly pro-Reagan. Bell is listed for Reagan by Florida head-counters for John B. Connally, George Bush and Reagan (although Reagan's count cautiously calls him "leaning Reagan").

There is one dissenter: Walter Bell. "Honestly, I'm totally undecided," he told us. In poor health lately, Bell explained he had not heard any candidate offer a Republican alternative to Teddy Kennedy's health plan that appeals to people less well-fixed financially than Bell. Furthermore, Reagan's age troubles him. "We need a president who can serve eight years."

Bell attended a coffee here to meet Connally's wife, Nellie, and shows up for any Republican candidate who comes near Stuart. Like hundreds of other delegates, he will arrive early in Orlando for the preferential convention to question Connally, Bush and other candidates before making up his mind in Saturday's secret balloting. But he won't be able to question Ronald Reagan, who will get there too late to be interrogated by delegates.

Because of the Walter Bells, Florida's preferential convention is becoming a no-win situation for Reagan. At best, balloting will bring an expected win but not by an impressive margin. At worst, it could conceivably bring an upset victory by Connally that would rattle Reagan's national aura of inevitability.

Whatever the outcome in Orlando, Florida's developments have exposed defects in campaign manager John Sears' smoothly stitched strategy of lying low until Reagan's Nov. 13 announcement of candidacy. Absence and silence have not made the Florida heart grow fonder nor silenced nagging doubts here about Reagan's age — a situation worsened by a messy shakeup of his Florida campaign.

That 1,357 Florida Republicans will assemble in Orlando for a "straw ballot" unrelated to national convention delegates is testimony to the madcap nature of presidential politics today.

Strength For Today

THE FOUR R'S

We have always heard a great deal about the three R's in education; but to "readin", "ritin", and "rithmetic" must be added religion, if education is to be complete.

The average American receives very little education in things spiritual. Religious training has largely gone out of the home. Sunday has become a play day and a visiting day. The average child enrolled in Sunday School probably does not attend more than half the sessions. Even those parents who are the most serious about securing a religious education for their children encounter constant difficulties in reaching this objective.

If there is any reality to religion at all, no one is truly educated who is ignorant of God's revealed truth. So let us think of education in terms of four R's, not three. And that fourth R, religion, is designed to prepare us for eternal living in the universe of God.

See No Pension Fund Problem

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Those billions of dollars of unfunded liabilities of private pension funds, about which so much concern has been expressed in the media, don't seem to worry many of the companies that run them.

In a survey of very large industrial and service companies, 74 percent of respondents said the furor had caused them to re-examine their own company's plans, but 92 percent said they saw no problem.

About plans in general, including those of other companies, however, the corporate executives were far less certain, with only 49 percent of those participating in the survey saying the issue was exaggerated.

The responses were to a questionnaire mailed to chief executives of the 2,500 largest industrial and service companies by William M. Mercer Inc., the world's largest employee benefits advisory firm.

George Faunce, a Mercer officer, explained that with 8 percent of the private sector's payrolls invested in pension funds the executives seem to believe the wherewithal exists to meet current retiree obligations.

Well-run funds, he said, follow actuarial principles, maintaining a fund sufficient for paying claims as they arise. Unless a company fails, the fund is constantly replenished by regular contributions.

A possible problem for the future, if not for now, was indicated by the 426 responses — an above average return, according to Mercer — dealing with the issue of early versus late retirement.

Nearly three-quarters of the responses disapproved of raising or eliminating the mandatory retirement age, now 70 years, to allow greater numbers of older people to remain in the workforce. In fact, some said they favored and would encourage even earlier retirement.

"There is a paradox here," Faunce conceded, with many Faunce and other Mercer officers, including Haeworth Robinson, former Social Security chief actuary, share the fear. With early retirement, and with longevity increasing, retirement sometimes exceeds 30 years.

"Right now three workers support each Social Security pensioner, but that ratio will become two workers for each pensioner at the turn of the century. It will put a severe burden on the system," Faunce said.

Supporters of Rep. Philip Crane originally conceived the preferential convention to boost his anemic national ratings before next year's primaries.

When Crane's early promise failed, Florida seemed certain Reagan country. After the Aug. 15-Sept. 15 caucuses supplying 80 percent of preferential convention delegates (in addition to the 20 percent of party officials), Reagan forces claimed a 2-to-1 edge over either Connally or Crane.

That surely exaggerated his strength, claiming independent souls such as Walter Bell who are subject to no discipline. Some 400 delegates to Orlando say they are undecided; if only half that number is telling the truth, there is potential for surprise.

Reagan has made a single one-day visit to Florida on Oct. 9, compared with frantic courtship from other candidates. Besides inundation of Florida by his wife and children, Connally was in the state himself Nov. 4 and 5 for questioning by delegates. Told that Connally had picked up four or five Reagan delegates, a national Reagan operative called this "a demeaning thing for a national candidate to go into somebody's living room to lobby for a straw vote."

Connally will be in Orlando Friday night to answer questions from delegates. Bush, making a big push to pass Crane or even Connally, will arrive three days early. But Reagan's agents originally said he would not even attend the convention unless permitted to speak before any other candidate. Because he accidentally drew "No. 1" in the order-of-speaking lottery, Reagan will be there — in time to shake some hands but not to answer questions.

Reagan's absence from the state was protested by veteran political hand Pat Hillings before he was sacked as Florida campaign chief. Hillings complained that Charles Black, Reagan's national field director, was ruining the campaign by bringing in "Young Republican types." National Reagan leaders say Hillings, a former California congressman and Nixon sidekick, was bungling the campaign.

Washington lawyer Paul Manafort, a veteran Nixon and Ford political aide, came to Florida two weeks before the convention to replace Hillings. But delegate coffees and cocktail parties still buzz with talk about why Reagan is so quiet on great issues. Whether this moves delegates such as Walter Bell to another candidate in Orlando poses an important early test for John Sears' strategy.

with a prayer wheel. He never showed up, but a Living Buddha did.

He was dark-haired, handsome and wore a wine-colored shawl or robe draped over one shoulder, an expensive wool pullover sweater and a white Western-style shirt open at the collar. The Living Buddha had come to dinner as part of the nightly entertainment and education that our hosts from the New China News Agency always arranged for us.

Through two translators, who took the dialogue from Tibetan to Chinese to English and back again, Pabala Gelielangje told us he was 39 years old and had been chosen as a Living Buddha at the age of 3 back in his native Chiang-du, 800 miles to the east.

He said he knew the Dalai Lama well, had met him many times and "would like to see him return. If he returns as a patriot, then the government and many people would welcome him."

About halfway through the meal, in the course of lighting up an American cigarette, which he favored above Chinese brands, the Living Buddha stunned us listeners by announcing that he "no longer believed in the religion."

He said he had dropped out of the celibate priesthood in 1962 to marry and now had three children. Religion, he explained, was no longer relevant to the Tibetan way of life. He still wore the robes however and suffered the adulation of those who revered him as a Living Buddha.

upon the company's 117,000 employees, its 4,700 dealers and its 19,000 suppliers. The Senate Banking Committee will want to receive overwhelming proof of this doomsday conjecture.

One has to sympathize, of course, with the prospective plight of the workers, but their pathetic scenario demands careful scrutiny. A reorganization under Chapter X of the Bankruptcy Act by no means requires the instantaneous shutdown of every Chrysler facility everywhere. Chrysler has about 93 percent of the automotive market; the company should market a million vehicles this year. The demand for this production will not evaporate if the company goes under. The demand will still be there, and its fulfillment will require, as before, workers, dealers and suppliers.

Treasury Secretary G. William Miller says that Chrysler's losses, amounting to $721 million through September, present "a unique situation." Yes and no. The situation is unique in that no other major U.S. corporation (Chrysler ranks 10th among manufacturers) is now in such miserable straits. But if principle is to be sacrificed in order to save No. 10 today, what of No. 12 tomorrow? Or No. 20? Ultimately such bail-out legislation must become a matter of pure politics — and principle be damned.

If Chrysler goes the way of Hupmobile, Hudson and Nash, competition in the auto industry would be reduced. It is not a happy prospect. But if we believe in the incentive system, we must believe that the marketplace eventually will cure the evil — that new investors will appear with greater faith in the system of profit and loss than the pending bill displays.

Stargell on the Road

Last month, Willie Stargell was making the plays and belting the home runs that helped the Pittsburgh Pirates win the World Series. This month, Stargell is on the road, raising money for the Willie Stargell Foundation for sickle cell anemia. Sickle cell anemia is a painful blood disease that usually affects black people. The hereditary disease occurs when sickle-shaped blood cells clog the blood vessels, interfering with the flow of blood and depriving the body tissues of oxygen. The disease may damage almost all parts of the body. Children are often its victims. This week Stargell takes his fund-raising campaign to New Orleans, Dallas, and Houston.

DO YOU KNOW — What position does Stargell play with the Pirates?

Has A Poor Opinion Of Desegregation Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new director of the Office of Civil Rights of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare says she doesn't think much of the University of North Carolina's latest proposal for furthering desegregation in the 16-campus system.

Roma J. Stewart was recently appointed to replace David Tatel as head of HEW's civil rights office.

She said she has looked at the university's latest desegregation proposal briefly and "my impression is that I didn't like it."

Prospects for a settlement in the long-running dispute appear dim, she said.

Ms. Stewart said she was "discouraged from what I've seen that there will be any settlement in the near future It doesn't look too good."

And the new director said she is not of a mind to compromise on the issue.

"I am basically of the view that the law ought to be obeyed — yesterday. And I'm not interested in a compromise. If all the right is on one side, the side that is right ought to get all the remedy; and I don't think you can compromise civil rights."

Lawyers for both sides have been negotiating to settle the matter before a scheduled March hearing.

HEW officials have already rejected a desegregation plan offered by the university, and begun steps to cut off some of the $89 million in federal funds the system receives.

A court order is blocking any cutoff of funds, however, until an administrative law judge hears the dispute in March.

Goodyear Plans Asheboro Plant

ASHEBORO, N.C. (AP) — Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announced Wednesday it tentatively plans to open a wire cord manufacturing plant near Asheboro.

John Gerstenmaier, vice chairman of Goodyear's board, said the plant, if built, would employ about 500 persons. He did not announce a timetable for construction.

Four Indicted In Alleged Embezzling

PLYMOUTH, N.C. (AP) — Four persons have been indicted in an alleged half-million dollar embezzlement scheme involving employment and training funds at the Eastern North Carolina Opportunities Industrial Center.

Warrants were drawn on the four, two of them top administrators at the Plymouth center, after indictments were handed down by a special Washington County grand jury late Tuesday.

The indictments charge the four former employees with misuse of thousands of dollars of Comprehensive Employment and Training Act money.

Two had been arrested by Wednesday night, and a third had agreed to give himself up. The fourth had not been located.

Michael Ervin of Edenton remained in the Washington County Jail under $25,000 bond. He was charged with 11 counts, including forgery, embezzlement and obtaining property by false pretense. He was the center's comptroller.

Delinda Riddick of Plymouth, a secretary, was released on a $1,000 bond. She was charged with forging an endorsement on a $328 check.

A spokesman for the Washington County Sheriff's Department said Wednesday night a warrant was still to be served on former center director Henry Crews, who is charged with nine counts, including embezzlement, obtaining property by false pretense and misapplication of funds.

District Attorney William C. Griffin of Williamston said SBI agents had contacted Crews in Chicago and obtained his promise to surrender in North Carolina next Wednesday.

A warrant has also been issued for former center bookkeeper Audrey Holloway of Raleigh, who is charged with embezzlement. She had not been located Wednesday night.

The indictments stemmed from an investigation by the state attorney general's office following an audit report, released last May. The report, covering the center's activities from Jan. 1, 1976, through Dec. 31, 1978, showed a deficit of $572,158 in CETA funds.

The irregularities were from $1.2 million allotted to the center.

Griffin said the charges against the four involved nearly $7,000 of the money.

Although the state Auditor's Office could not account for $572,000, Griffin said, "It's almost impossible to tell" how much was involved in alleged criminal activity and how much was properly spent, but improperly accounted for.

Questions surrounding Ervin's handling of the CETA funds led to the audit, which also showed:

—Inadequate management to effectively control and account for CETA funds.

—Inadequate and inconsistent personnel policies.

—Continued funding of the center, even after questions of mismanagement arose.

—Failure to file federal Internal Revenue Service information forms since 1974.

—Inadequate documentation of some expenses and serious weaknesses in the center's financial management.

Dog Won't Heed English

ALLERTON, Ill. (AP) — Roland Smith finally found the perfect dog, a 145-pound giant schnauzer. But there was just one little problem — Lucifer didn't understand English.

Smith learned the dog's 55 commands in Hungarian.

Smith, a dog-fancier and farmer, decided that Lucifer was so highly trained that it would be best not to teach him English. That way, only the Smiths could direct the dog.

So Lucifer's trainers sent his command words from Hungary and University of Illinois Professor Stephen Schmidt helped the Smiths learn them.

Smith said he got the Hungarian dog when he was not satisfied with any giant schnauzers he found in this country. He said the 4-year-old dog is trained in obedience, tracking and "bite work" — he will grab an agitator by the arm.

"He's also trained so that if I laid something down, like a wallet or just a rock, and told him to watch it, you'd have to kill him to get it," said Smith.

Reservists To Camp Lejeune

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine reservists are being alerted for a military exercise this weekend at Camp Lejeune, N.C., a Pentagon official said Wednesday.

Officials said the exercise is one of 12 to 15 held each year and has nothing to do with the hostage situation in Iran.

The Pentagon reported that 800 to 1,000 Marine reservists from cities along the East Coast will be flown to Lejeune Friday and returned on Sunday. Officials said the drill is to measure the ability of the reserve units to respond to mobilization orders in a simulated emergency situation.

Acid Fumes Sickened 8

MISSISSAUGA, Ontario (AP) — Eight firemen inhaled hydrochloric acid fumes today while standing 180 feet from a chlorine tank car ruptured in a massive train derailment over the weekend. They were hospitalized and reported in stable condition, officials said.

They were not wearing gas masks and walked away under their own power. Doctors said they experienced watering eyes and a tightening of the chest and were hospitalized only as a precaution.

The men were standing by as crews attempted to patch the ruptured tanker, emitting chlorine vapors, which, when mixed with moisture in the air, forms windborne pockets of potentially deadly hydrochloric acid.

The more than 150,000 persons who returned to their homes Tuesday after three days away faced no danger, authorities said, but 75,000 persons living closest to the site were kept away for at least one more day and a large area of town remained sealed off.

City Counts 2 Accidents

An estimated $3,350 property damage resulted from two traffic collisions investigated yesterday by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 10:48 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Third and Elm Streets, involving cars driven by Maridene Pressly of Tampa, Fla., and Betty Jean Sams of Chamblee, Ga.

Police, who charged Ms. Sams with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $1,800 to the Pressly car and $800 to the Sams auto.

A truck driven by Kenneth Wayne Sanders of Garner and a car operated by John Francis Dillon of Cedar Lane Apts., collided about 2:20 p.m. on Evans Street, 37 feet North of the Third Street intersection, causing an estimated $300 damage to the truck and $450 damage to the car, investigators reported.

Capsizing Cost Lives Of 52

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — At least 52 persons, most of them women, drowned when an overloaded boat capsized in the Narmada River in western India, the United News of India reported today.

S.K. Chaudhary, a district official, told UNI that 30 persons swam to safety when the mishap occurred Wednesday in Baroda district. The accident site is about 217 miles north of Bombay.

Further details were not immediately available.

Counselor Will Lecture Friday

Thomas F. Conlon, Counselor in the Department of State, will give a lecture at 11 a.m. Friday, November 16 in the auditorium of the Jenkins Fine Arts Building.

Conlon has served in Indonesia, the Philippines, Singapore, Viet Nam and Thailand.

He will lecture on "Contemporary Problems in Southeast Asia," including drug traffic and the "boat people." A question and answer session will follow the lecture.

The lecture is without charge, and the public is invited to attend.

Best...

Testifying he told Ms. Staton that he could do nothing about the shortage in her father's account, Best said he called Ms. Staton on June 15, 1977 and told her, "that I had been successful in obtaining money," for the sorority shortage. Best continued by relating how he gave an official bank check and $165 in cash to a sorority official, and in return, received the sorority's credit union passbook.

"I know nothing of the $2,500 applied to my loan balance," Best emphasized. The $3,476 he gave to the sorority in 1977 and the $2,500 allegedly applied to his loan account in 1973 had, "no connection," he said.

In regard to the $3,900 from the Boyd account, Best testified that, "the $3,900 check was a check I cashed for Ms. Staton, on or about the day the check was written. The money was given to her (Ms. Staton)."

Best explained that it was, "usual procedure," for him to cash checks for Ms. Staton. "She had a check payable to me. I cashed it. I honored her request to cash the check. I didn't question it," Best testified.

As for the December 1975 incident, Best said he needed money for year-end bills, and asked his housekeeper, Ms. Mosley, if she would borrow the money. "She readily agreed," Best said, but was unable to borrow more than $2,500 on an unsecured loan.

He testified that Ms. Staton said she would try to get the additional money from Ms. Corey.

Later, Best said, "she (Ms. Staton) brought me two checks," for $2,500 each.

"Ms. Mosley endorsed her check," Best recounted, while, "Ms. Corey's check was already endorsed."

Later, in May 1976, according to Best, he made one payment on each of the two loans.

He said that, "on or about March 14, 1977," Ms. Staton gave him and other members of the credit union board a list of delinquencies, "because she said she expected the examiner."

Best said he "expressed concern," when he found the Corey loan had not been paid off and he had not been reminded of his obligation. He then paid the $2,350 still due on the account, he said.

Best indicated that in addition to the Corey account, he went out and raised $26,000 to pay off delinquent accounts for other persons, so the accounts would be up-to-date when the credit union books were examined. "I had nothing to do with embezzlement," Best emphasized.

Murder Trial Rescheduled

SANFORD, N.C. (AP) — Trial of Robert Henry McDowell on first-degree murder charges has been rescheduled for Dec. 3 in Johnston County Superior Court.

Judge Robert Gavin declared a mistrial Tuesday in the wake of publicity surrounding an alleged escape attempt by McDowell from the Lee County jail. Gavin said the publicity could be prejudicial to a jury, noting that "evidence of flight is some evidence of guilt and can be considered that way by a jury."

McDowell, 28, is charged in the stabbing death of 4-year-old Carol Ann Hinson of Sanford on July 15.

Heavy Damage, Many Killed In Iran's Quake

By The Associated Press

As many as 600 persons were killed and 1,500 suffered injuries in the earthquake that struck northeastern Iran, a rescue coordinator said today.

Rescue workers were still digging up bodies from rubble more than 24 hours after the quake flattened at least 18 villages Wednesday, leaving hundreds of peasants homeless, said coordinator Mohammed Ali Shirazi, reached by telephone in the Iranian city of Mashhad from Nicosia, Cyprus.

Shirazi, son of the religious leader in Mashhad, said the quake struck before dawn local time, crumbling dwellings on top of thousands of sleeping villagers.

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the nation's revolutionary leader, called the quake "tragic and frightening" and appealed to Iranians to provide all possible aid to the victims.

"This tragedy requires everyone's help," the Iranian leader said in a statement broadcast by Tehran Radio.

Shirazi said the tremor was felt in Mashhad, 500 miles east of Tehran, but that none of the famous domed mosques, tall minarets or other buildings in the holy city suffered any damage.

The quake measured 6.7 on the Richter scale, the U.S. Geological Survey in Denver reported. Tehran Radio, monitored in London, said it measured 5.6.

Earthquakes occur frequently in Iran, often taking many lives. A quake measuring 6.7 on the Richter scale struck 270 miles south of Mashhad on Jan. 16, killing about 200 persons, injuring many others and leveling hundreds of structures.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. A quake measuring six can cause severe damage. A quake measuring seven represents a quake of 1906, which occurred "major" quake capable of before the Richter scale was widespread, heavy damage. The San Francisco earthquake, 8.3 on the Richter scale, devised, has been estimated at

Found Work For 2,326 Persons

During the recently completed fiscal year which ended Sept. 30, the Greenville Job Service Office found employment for 2,326 persons.

"The new industry in Pitt County has aided our office in this accomplishment by using Job Service as a source of applicants," James E. Hannan, manager, said.

There were 11,748 applicants filing new applications or renewing previous applications for employment. "Approximately 24 percent of these applicants were employed or job attached," Hannan said. Other services included 1,564 counseling interviews conducted by the two Job Service counselors in the local office. There were also 2,043 tests administered.

"We place 476 veterans on jobs," reported Kendrick Taylor, Veterans Employment Representative in the local office. There were 266 veterans counseled and 207 tested by Job Service. Some 1,343 veterans submitted new applications or renewed existing applications during this period.

"An increase in placement services is planned for the forthcoming fiscal year," Hannan said. "We encourage employers to allow their Job Service to assist them in meeting their employment needs."

The Greenville Job Service Office is located at 3101 Bismarck Street; phone, 756-2686.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices opened higher today in a continuation of the thin, nervous trading of recent sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues was up .34 to 816.89 in the early going.

Advancing issues led declines by a slight margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the market was hesitant, awaiting further developments from Iran, where several dozen Americans are still being held hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran by Iranian students demanding the return of the shah from the United States.

It was also said to be still digesting the freeze on Iranian bank deposits in the United States ordered Wednesday by President Carter following the attempt by the Iranian government to withdraw the money.

Among early stock prices, IBM was up 1/8 to 62 1/2. General Motors slipped 1/4 to 54 1/2. Conoco fell 1/4 to 46 1/4. Union Oil rose 1/4 to 45 1/2 and Coca Cola was unchanged at 33 1/2.

On Wednesday, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off 6 at the outset and up 6 at mid-afternoon, finished with a 2.47 gain at 816.55.

Advances outnumbered declines by a 4-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume totaled 30.97 million shares, against 29.24 million the day before.

The NYSE's composite index rose .26 to 58.85.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 1.89 at 215.22.

Art, Crafts Sale Is Set

Saturday and Sunday Temple Israel in Kinston will hold an exhibit and sale of the works of seven award-winning professional craftspeople from Eastern North Carolina.

The show, which is sponsored by Temple Israel Sisterhood-Hadassah, will feature the works of Gail Ritzer, ceramist and potter; Jim Dees, photographer; Cathy Fahrenbruch, jeweler and weaver; William (Bif) Bream, designer of functional wood objects; Charlotte Purrington, quilter; Robert Timberlake, designer in metal; and Susan Parrott, weaver and designer of functional stained glass.

In addition to the works exhibited, each of the artists is available to create works on commission for persons who are interested in acquiring fine crafts works made to their own order and specification. Several of the members of this show are skilled in restoration of antique objects and photographs and will be available at the show for consultation.

The exhibit and sale will be open to the public with a reception for the artists at 7 p. m. Saturday and will be open from 1 to 5 p. m. Sunday. Temple Israel is located on the corner of W. Vernon (Highway 70 Business) and Laroque Avenues in Kinston.

Arrests Made In Theft Cases

Arrests have been made by Pitt County deputies following investigation of rural break-ins on Oct. 13 and Nov. 3.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Walter Earl Best of Rt. 1, Box 333, Stokes, and Alfred Lee Locust, Rt. 1, Box 229, Stokes, were charged with breaking, entering and larceny in connection with an incident at Leggett's TV and Repair Shop in Stokes.

Sheriff Tyson said that a stereo, eight-track tape player and radio were reported stolen in the Oct. 13 break-in. Value of the missing items was estimated at $450.

Bond for Best and Locust was set at $2,000 each.

Best and Levy Spencer of Rt. 1, Box 72, Robersonville, were each charged with breaking, entering and larceny in connection with a Nov. 3 incident at Warren's Farm Supply, Rt. 1, Stokes.

According to the sheriff, seven pistols, a shotgun and some $50 in currency were reported taken from the business in the break-in. He noted that six of the pistols and the shotgun were recovered. Total value of the missing items was $1,500.

Bond for Spencer was set at $1,500, while bond for Best on the Warren Farm Supply charge was set at $1,000. Hearings were scheduled for District Court in Greenville.

New Record In Spitting

The Southern Flue-Cured Tobacco Festival's Tobacco Spitting Contest record of 18 feet, two inches was broken Wednesday when Sam Harrell of Greenville spat 22 feet, one inch.

Harrell was a contestant in the First Annual Southern Flue-Cured Tobacco Festival Tobacco Spitting Contest in 1978.

"I've been practicing and chewing ever since so I could win this year," said Harrell.

During his first attempt at spitting in the 1979 contest, Harrell had to back away from the line as he swallowed by mistake. However, on his second attempt, his shot exceeded the length of the spitting ramp.

Randy Raper of Wendell placed second in the event with a shot of 20 feet, one inch.

Harrell was presented a bronze spittoon and a Tobacco Festival plaque. Raper received a Tobacco Festival plaque.

According to Sam Bundy, North Carolina Representative, chairman for the event, the participation for the contest was excellent. Eleven men competed for the championship title.

N.C. Delegate To Assembly

Dr. Constantine G. Kledaras, professor of Social Work in the ECU School of Allied Health and Social Professions will be one of 303 delegates to attend the National Association of Social Workers Delegate Assembly at San Antonio, Texas Nov. 17-20.

Dr. Kledaras will represent the North Carolina Chapter of NASW at the 1979 biennial assembly.

Father Of Quints Dies

NORTH BAY, Ontario (AP) — Oliva Dionne, father of the Dionne quintuplets, died early today at his home in Corbeil near North Bay. He was 78.

Family members said Dionne was not feeling well last night but he had not been in bad health. He had been living with his wife, Elzire, 70, in their modest bungalow near the farmhouse where the girls were born by the light of kerosene lamps.

Forty-five years ago, in the middle of the Depression, the birth of five identical sisters in the farmhouse made news around the world.

The May 28, 1934 births touched off a massive curiosity blitz that turned their sleepy hamlet into a circus filled with throngs wanting to see the babies.

The attending doctor, Allan Dafoe, basked in the limelight as the girls grew and their pictures were on the covers of magazines everywhere.

But the shy Oliva Dionne at first shunned attention and friends said he was shaken and confused by the attending publicity crush that eventually caused the daughters to leave home for good.

He and his wife were billed as "The World's Most Famous Parents," and appeared on a vaudeville show, deriving some money for their lack of privacy.

The surviving daughters — Cecile, Yvonne and Annette — live near Montreal.

Emilie died at the age of 19 from suffocation during an epileptic seizure and Marie died in 1970, apparently of a blood clot in the brain.

Rose, Millbrook Meet In First Round

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

The last time Rose High School moved into the state 4-A playoffs they were decided underdogs.

Friday night at Raleigh's Millbrook High School, the Rampants will again be decided dominate throughout, but especially tough in the first half, when it rolled up the 21 points.

"Northeastern was as physical as any team we've played, but we did some things in the first half that stuck it to them. The long drive that gave us the opening touchdown put them down, then we came right back and scored off a short punt, and that hurt them. Then, when we threw the bomb on them and that broke their backs," Bumgarner said.

"In the second half, we didn't play as well, but we knew we didn't have to. We should have scored a couple of more times, but we got to gambling and that took us out of a couple of drives."

Bumgarner added that he felt his defense played quite well. "And we got a fine effort from our offensive line in their blocking."

Millbrook will offer a challenge to the Rampants because of its outstanding passing game. Led by quarterback Greg Sasser, a 5-11, 170-pound senior, the Wildcats have been able to score from anywhere on the field.

"They've really got me worried," Bumgarner said. "They are a lot like Bertie. They're not real big, but they are very quick. If we can hit them enough to stay with our blocks long enough to give our backs a chance to get through the holes we'll be all right."

"They are very explosive on offense, and Sasser can score for them from anywhere on the field. He'll throw from anywhere, anytime."

While Millbrook's running game is reported to be suspect, Bumgarner feels that it more than compliments their passing game.

"John Riggsbee, their tailback, picked up over 100 yards in their last game, so they can run it," Bumgarner pointed out.

Sasser's top receiver is wide-out Richard Wilder, a 6-1, 160-pound senior. "He can go deep quite well, and Sasser can get the ball to him."

Defensively, the Wildcats line up in a 5-2 and sometimes shift to a 6-2 formation. "Again, they are very quick, and they use a lot of the same personnel going both ways. That could become a factor in the game, since we will use more players, and therefore be fresher. I think a big key will be our driving it down the field early to score and go ahead and put their offense on the field already tired from playing defense."

Tops among the defensive players is Phil Bruley, a 6-1, 195-pound linebacker.

"The biggest thing about them is that they don't make mistakes," Bumgarner said. "They are a smart, fundamental team. We can't make mistakes and hope to win. But then, we can't expect to be able to make mistakes and come away successfully from here on in."

The winner will go on next week to play host to the winner between Terry Sanford and Raleigh Sanderson. In the other Eastern brackets, Jacksonville plays host to Richmond County, and Rocky Mount entertains Pine Forest.

In the west's upper bracket, North Mecklenburg is home against High Point, while Hickory entertains High Point Andrews. The lower bracket in the west has Kannapolis facing Chapel Hill, while Northern Durham plays East Burke.

underdogs for the 8 p.m. game.

But Coach Dave Bumgarner is hopeful that the outcome will be the same. The last time, in 1975, the Rampants not only won their first game, but went on to take the State 4-A Championship.

Millbrook comes into the game with a 9-1 record, having won the Division Five championship, beating out favored Broughton and Sanderson. The Wildcats bowed out to Chapel Hill, the runner-up in Division Six, by a 6-0 score. But they also downed Terry Sanford, the Division Three winner, 14-7.

The lone loss came in the third game of the year, giving them a seven-game winning streak to take into the playoffs. They count four shutouts to their credit, including three straight, over which they have a 13-quarter streak against their opponents.

The Rampants, meanwhile, are 8-2, having finished tied for the Division One title, but getting the league's number two berth by virtue of having lost to co-champ Rocky Mount, 21-14. Their only other loss was 14-8 in their opener to Kinston, a game in which Rose turned over the ball eight times.

The two teams faced only one common opponent, Enloe. Rose gained a 26-6 win against the Eagles, while Millbrook rolled up a 38-0 win, opening their 13-quarter streak.

Rose comes into the game following a 21-0 win over Northeastern that clinched the playoff berth, and the tie for the title. In that contest, Rose was

Duke Kicks ECU By 5-0

East Carolina University's soccer team closed out its 1979 season yesterday with a disheartening 5-0 drubbing at the hands of Duke University.

Duke dominated the contest from the early minutes and never lost control of the situation. Ian Garrett and Wayne Bergen each scored singles goals in the first half to propel the Blue Devils to a 2-0 halftime lead.

It was clearly a frustrating day for the Pirates, who saw their own attack even stopped by Mother Nature. A large muddy area in front of the goal helped the Duke goalie on several occasions, as the ball stopped in the sticky turf.

"Duke had superior skill today," Coach Brad Smith said. "They are a very well coached team and they play together well."

Luis Prieto scored twice in the second half to pace the Blue Devils to their tenth win against seven losses and two ties. East Carolina dropped to 6-11-2.

"This game was the epitome of our season inconsistency. We are a young team with only two seniors and we have a lot to look forward to next year," Smith said.

Dye: Green's Best QB In State

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina University's offensive unit continues to advance in the national NCAA standings, and to lead the Southern Independents grouping.

The Pirates are nationally ranked in three of the four offensive categories, in the top ten in all three.

And Pat Dye continues to lead the offensive unit, as well as complimenting the defense for the improvement it has shown over the last five or six games.

"Right now, I think we have the best football team we've ever had at East Carolina," he said yesterday at his weekly press conference. This weekend will be the final home game for a group of seniors who've done a great job for the school.

"I think I can safely say that this group, like the four or five ahead of them, will be the winningest group of seniors to finish up this year in the state," Dye said. "I'm not real certain of that for this year, but I don't know that the last few senior classes have won more games than any other team in the state."

Not only that, but Dye called his quarterback, Leander Green, the best in the state and one of the best in the country.

"I know that a lot of other quarterbacks have more impressive statistics, but I feel that Green is directly responsible for nearly every yard we gain," Dye said. "Most quarterbacks only have to make the pitch, or make the pass. But Leander has to be able to do four things well. He has to read the defense and decide whether to give the ball to the fullback or not. Then, he has to decide whether to keep it or pitch it out. He has to be able to pass, and he has to be able to run the football himself; and be physically tough doing it. I doubt that there are many quarterbacks in this country who have run for 87 yards and a touchdown this year.

"It's a compliment to him that our backs are averaging seven yards a carry 'cause he's getting the ball to them where it's the softest."

Currently the Pirates continue to lead the Southerners in total offense, rushing and scoring. The Bucs are picking up 454.2 yards a game, good enough for sixth in the nation. They are rushing for 352.8 yards, third in the NCAA statistics, and they are scoring 32.6 points, eighth in the country.

Individually, Anthony Collins is the number two rusher in the 13-team independent group with a 97.4 average, and is 23rd in the country. He stands sixth in all-purpose rushing with a 154.0 average. Collins is fifth in the South in scoring with a 6.0 average.

Green is fourth in total offense in the independents at 149.0 per game, seventh in passing efficiency, and second in scoring (11th nationally) at 7.8 Kicker Bill Lamm is tied with Collins for fifth with 6.0 per game, while Theodore Sutton is seventh in rushing at 66.0 per game.

Jordan Case, quarterback of North Texas State, this week's opponent, ranks 21st in national passing efficiency.

"There is no question that we've made a lot of progress since the start of the year," Dye said. "Most of it has been defensively, and a lot of it has to be because of the way Mike Davis has been playing at defensive end. Then, getting Jeffrey Warren back (off an injury) has helped us a lot too."

East Carolina closes out its home season, seeking to wrap up its sixth straight winning season against North Texas State on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium. North Texas, 5-5, will be ending its year, seeking its fifth straight winning year.

The game will be the first of what is hoped to be an annual event, the Tobacco Festival Game.

Odom Pleased With Purple-Gold Play

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Freshman Bryant Wiggins dropped in a 15-foot jumper with about five seconds left last night to give the Purple a 74-72 victory over the Gold last night as Dave Odom's first East Carolina basketball team went on public display.

While most of the Gold defense seemed to be looking for George Maynor to take the final shot, Wiggins found himself all alone for the easy jumper that provided the victory in the game that was tight all the way and featured excellent shooting.

"Generally, I'm very pleased with the way it went," Odom said afterwards. "I was surprised that we didn't run more with the ball. I thought we'd be able to use our fast break more than we did."

Looking at the scoring, Odom said he didn't know whether the offense was that good, or the defense that bad. "I think for our first public showing, we played well. We were well controlled and on top of the situation most of the time. I'm also happy with the attitude we displayed. I think we showed a lot of class out there."

The shooting in the game was top-rate for both teams. The Purple hit on 55.4 per cent of its floor shots, while the Gold dropped in 55.8 per cent. The Purple also hit all five of its free throws, while the Gold slipped to just 14 of 23, 60.9 per cent.

"I don't think we took the game seriously in the matter of who won and who lost," Odom said, "but I'm happy it was close. And I really wasn't surprised that Wiggins took the final shot. He's not afraid of the devil himself."

Overall, Odom said he felt the Pirates were right on schedule in his plans for them during the pre-season drills. "Not that we don't have problems; we do.

We're small, so we are going to have to compensate in other ways. We've got to get the ball out quick and use our guard height to our best advantage."

In the scoring for the winners, veteran Herb Krusen led the way with 18 points, while David Underwood added 15. Maynor had 14 and Frank Hobson picked off ten. The Gold was led by returnee Herb Gray with 18, while Clarence Miles had 15 and Michael Gibson, a transfer, had 14.

Gray was also the game's leading rebounder, pulling off 11. "I think we can safely say we're going to be playing a lot of people, ten or 11 of them most of the time," Odom said. "And it shows the acceptance of the players of what we want, a team unity."

Odom said the Pirates had two objectives in the game last night. "First, we wanted to see where we are, and I think we're about where we want to be at this time. Second we wanted to gain some respect from the public, and I think we did that."

About 1,500 attended the game, a higher than usual crowd for the Purple-Gold scrimmage.

"We're going to have another game next Wednesday at Ayden-Grifton High School," Odom also announced. "That's going to be at 7:30 p.m. We'll probably divide the squad a different way for that game."

Asked if he had moved toward picking out players for starting roles, Odom said he had not. "Right now, I'm not really worried about it. We're going to be more concerned about who finishes than we are who starts.

The people on the floor at the end of the game are going to be the ones doing the job for us."

East Carolina opens the regular season on Monday, November 26 against the Marathon Oilers in an exhibition. Their first "official" game will be Friday, November 30 when they face Virginia Commonwealth in the first round of the Spider Classic in Richmond, Va.

Andruzzi Looks To 'Team' Play; Women Face Indians Saturday

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Cathy Andruzzi, starting her second year as head coach of the East Carolina women's basketball team promised that this year's squad would be more of a "team" team.

Last night's Purple-Gold game may have shown that she is right about this year's version.

"A Purple-Gold game is the hardest to play," she said after watching the Gold take a 55-43 win over the Purple. "Everyone knows what the others can do, so it's tough to play. Then, too, we didn't want to do of pressing and get everyone tired for Saturday's opener."

Probably the biggest factor in the game was the absence of junior transfer Laurie Sikes, who was sidelined with a knee injury. "She probably could have played," Andruzzi said, "but we wanted to be sure that she was ready for the opener."

The Lady Pirates open their regular season on Saturday at 5 p.m. in Minges Coliseum, playing host to William & Mary.

"Without Laurie, who's our quarterback, a lot of the intensity and enthusiasm is absent," Andruzzi added.

One of the biggest surprises of the game was the play of Donna Brayboy, who was switched to point guard for the game replacing Sikes on the Gold team. "She had never worked at the point for us until (Tuesday)," Andruzzi zi pointed out. "But I think she did a very good job. 'She's a good perimeter shooter, but she went to the boards too.' Brayboy was off on her shooting, only two of 14, but she pulled off 11 rebounds, second high for the Gold team."

Veteran Marcia Girven led the Gold rebounding with 12, while freshman Mary Denkler had nine points.

The Gold scoring was led by transfer Kathy Riley, who was the number nine scorer in the region last year at Middle Tennessee. "Riley's a battler," Andruzzi said. "She's going to be a very important part of the team. She's a good shooter, but she can not only hit from outside, but can drive well too." Riley finished with 19 points on seven of 16 field goals and five of six free throws. Girven added 15 and Denkler had 11.

"Denkler moves well away from the ball. You don't know she's there until all of a sudden she gets the ball and scores on you," the coach said. "She may be a freshman, but she's not afraid of anything. She's not quick, but she could be a potential starter if she can improve on that phase of the game. She's one of the best shooters on the team. She and Riley make a pretty good team up front."

For the Purple, Rosie Thompson, the veteran, was the leader. She was off on her shooting too, hitting just six of 16 from the floor and four of five at the line, for 16 points. She pulled off a team high 11 rebounds. No other player on the Purple broke into double figure scoring.

The Gold also shot better as a team than did the Purple hitting 45 per cent of its shots as compared to 32.1 per cent for the Purple.

"I think the big difference between this year's team and last year's is that we have athletes now, and I think they're smarter on the court too. I'm really looking ahead to Saturday's game," Andruzzi added.

Following the William & Mary game, the women travel to the New York area for a pair of games on Friday and Saturday of next week against St. John's and Manhattan. They return home on Wednesday, Nov. 28 to face UNC-Wilmington.

Playoff experience may be the determining factor when Ahoskie battles Farmville Central Friday night in the opening round of the 3-A high school football playoffs.

The Jaguars have it, the Cougars don't.

Ahoskie's last appearance in the playoffs was in 1974, when they lost in the finals to Ragsdale, 35-0. For Farmville, this is its fourth straight year in the playoffs, although they have yet to win the championship.

"No one on our team has been to the playoffs before," Ahoskie coach Daryl Allen said yesterday in a telephone interview. "Farmville's been there now for four years straight and they have that experience."

"I don't think it'll have that much of an effect, though," Allen added. "We're impressed with them, you have to be considering their record, but we're confident about our team and our ability to move the ball."

The Cougars rely on a ground attack that features the running of halfbacks Greg Woffard and Wayne Ellis. Woffard (6' 1", 195) runs the 40 in 4.6 seconds while Ellis (6' 6", 200) has been timed at 4.5. Both have been contacted by numerous state universities, including UNC, Duke, Wake Forest and East Carolina.

"In the past we were an I-team," said Allen, who is in his ninth year at Ahoskie. "We went to the wishbone this year, though, to take advantage of both of our backs."

"Neither has rushed for over 1,000 yards, but between them I think they have about 1,400 yards."

The Jaguars have their own version of a power running back in senior Donald Reid. Reid, along with his brother Ronald, is making his third appearance in the playoffs.

Led by Donald Reid, who gained over 1,000 yards rushing this year, the Jaguars averaged nearly 260 yards on the ground while winning all ten of their games this season.

Ahoskie, 9-1 on the season, lost to only Bertie, 16-15, the second week of the season.

Defensively, the two teams match up evenly. The Jaguars gave up only 41 points and the Cougars allowed only 64, while using one of the most unusual defenses around.

In their defensive scheme not only do the Cougars' backs and linebackers stand up, but so, too, do the interior linemen.

"We don't use it all the time," Allen said. "But we do use it. We use it both to surprise the other team and, also, it makes it easier for us to move and pursue."

"It's definitely not a defense that will stop a back for no gain very often. It's more of a reading type of defense, which gives us a lot of pursuit ability," Allen said.

Farmville, known for its straight ahead running power, may give the Cougars problems, Allen admitted. "They have some big backs, especially the Reid kid, who like to run straight at you."

"We've been telling our kids all week that they're going to have to keep going until the whistle blows not to assume he's down until the whistle blows."

"We just have to wait and see what happens."

Roof Loss Is Hurting

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Kansas City will lose at least $1 million in revenue because of the June 4 collapse of the Kemper Arena roof — possibly more if the building is not ready for use March 1 as planned.

Losses in sports and other amusement books will be $1.3 million through Feb. 29, according to the city's convention department.

Although many of the events at Kemper have been transferred to Municipal Auditorium, in downtown Kansas City, the building's smaller capacity limits its profitability.

Sloppy Record Keeping Lost Court Case Files

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Court officials say sloppy record-keeping resulted in the disappearance of several hundred Durham County case files and other problems cited in a recent state audit.

The audit report showed that 300 criminal case files disappeared between the magistrates' offices and the clerk of court's office between Jan. 1, 1978, and May 7, 1979.

The report, released this week, said that during the same period, 177 more cases were recorded in the clerk's office but later disappeared.

"I think all this was just mismanagement," said Bert M. Montague, director of the Administrative Office of the Courts. "I don't think any thievery has been going on. To a large extent, the problems have been corrected."

Auditors singled out one case in which a defendant's Division of Motor Vehicles record showed he received a prayer for judgment continued on a charge of driving while his license was revoked.

However, the disposition of the case on a clerk's docket list showed the defendant had been convicted of driving under the influence and required to pay the court costs.

Durham clerk of court James Carr said by law the case should have carried a mandatory fine.

Carr said the case file is among those missing. And he said he would recommend to Chief District Court Judge Milton Reid that defendants be recalled to court if the clerks cannot find out what happened in the cases.

New procedures have been set up to address problems mentioned in the auditor's report in most cases, officials said. And more than a dozen corrective steps recommended by the state auditor have already been implemented, according to Carr.

Court offices were moved from the old Durham County Courthouse into a modern judicial building last year. Montague said that before the move, there was almost open access to court files.

The audit also showed that 2,448 warrants had been signed but never served by the sheriff's office and police department. Montague said the number is not unusual for a county the size of Durham.

Auditors also found that some bonds had not been forfeited by bondsmen when the defendants whose appearances they guaranteed failed to appear in court.

And in some cases already concluded, it was found that bonds had not been released to people who put up money or property for defendants, the report said.

Color Vision Secret Hinted

By WARREN E. LEARY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists think they have discovered how the human eye sees color and transmits that information to the brain, a question that has baffled researchers for decades.

Reports released Wednesday say three visual proteins in the eye and a light-absorbing molecule called "retinal" interact to produce signals the brain interprets as colors.

The eye sees when light coming through the front hits objects called rods and cones on the retina, a light-sensitive layer in the back of the eyeball.

Rods perceive low light and are most useful for night vision. The cones are sensitive to color and contain the proteins that bind with retinal.

Most scientists agree that light absorbed by the rods and cones is converted to nerve impulses, but the process has not been understood.

The new reports say color vision can be explained for the first time with a chemical model based on experimental data instead of merely through theoretical assumptions.

The studies show the eye has four visual proteins, three involved with color vision and the other with black-and-white.

Dr. Koji Nakanishi of Columbia University said 11-cis-retinal, a light-absorbing molecule that comes from vitamin A, binds with the visual proteins in the retina.

When light hits these protein-retinal units, the bond breaks and generates a nerve impulse that carries color-coded visual information to the brain, he said. This bond-making and bond-breaking process must go on continually or blindness results, he added.

Nakanishi said the units formed by the color proteins and retinal absorb either red, green or blue light. These are the additive prime colors, which when put together in various combinations produce all the other colors we see.

The photochemical process is described in the Journal of the American Chemical Society by Nakanishi and co-workers at Columbia, Dr. Barry Honig of the University of Illinois and Dr. Rosalee Crouch of the University of South Carolina Medical School.

A major finding of the research, Nakanishi said, is that experiments with visual proteins from cattle show that the proteins carry negative charges.

Child Dies In Burning Home

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — A 2-year-old Gastonia girl, Shwanna Thompson, died of smoke inhalation Wednesday when a fire broke out in her home while she was alone.

Police said the fire apparently started while the child's mother, 19-year-old Evelyn Thompson, was at a nearby convenience store. Neighbors tried to rescue the child but were driven back by heat and smoke.

Gaston County police and fire officials have not determined the cause of the fire. About half of the three-bedroom home was heavily damaged by the fire.

Reagan Hits Energy Role

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan, seeking to build support in the Northeast, says the region needs more refineries to lessen its dependence on foreign oil.

The former California governor also called Wednesday for quicker decontrol of prices on domestic oil than advocated by President Carter and said the president's proposed "windfall" tax on oil company revenues should be rejected.

Reagan made administration energy policy a major target as he spent his first full day on the campaign trail in the Northeast — a part of the nation he told various audiences he was determined not to "write off."

Reagan, who formally declared his candidacy Tuesday, was to hold a news conference today in New York City before flying to Philadelphia for a rally.

He told a Republican rally in Manchester Wednesday night that the best way to ease energy shortages is through "more efficient automobiles, more exploration for gas and oil and more refineries where they are needed on the East Coast."

Capture Youth Inside A Store

Chief Glenn Cannon said today that officers arrested Ronnie Ashley White, 16 of 602B Hudson St. about 11 p.m. last night on breaking, entering and larceny charges after finding the youth inside Clark's Department store at West End Circle.

Cannon said White allegedly gained entrance to the building by climbing through an air conditioning duct.

George Dickel Tennessee sippin' whisky. Smooth as moonbeams.

"Tastin' is believin'!"
—Merle Beatty, Store Owner, 1871

"I remember we were tryin' to tell this city feller that George Dickel's whisky tastes smooth 'cause it's made with clear, sweet springwater.

"And it's mellowed good and proper 'cause Ol' George gives his sour mash extra time to get into the flavor.

"Well, I could see this city feller wasn't much impressed with our jawin', so I stopped talkin' and started pourin'.

"One sip was all it took. Said he'd never tasted a finer Tennessee Sour Mash. Didn't surprise us none. 'Cause when it comes to George Dickel's whisky, tastin' is believin'."

Tight Security For Ailing Shah

By RICHARD T. PIENCIAK
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The anti-shah demonstrations outside New York Hospital have stopped. But inside, security is as tight as ever for Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, who is resting in $1,000-a-day quarters while Iranian students demanding his return hold Americans hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

The 17th floor of New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center is guarded by 18 marksmen. The doors are one-way mirrors. Every visitor, package, telegram, bouquet and greeting card sent to the shah, a cancer victim, is screened for possible explosives. The rooms adjacent to his are empty to serve as buffers. Other patients on the floor are shooed away by security. Although anti-shah demonstrations have ceased since the embassy takeover, the extensive security was heightened by last week's intrusion by a white-robed man who was seized after threatening doctors with a sword. Ever since a mob of Iranians seized the embassy in Tehran on Nov. 4, little has been heard from the deposed monarch, who is under a death sentence by a revolutionary court in his homeland.

The only official announcement from his quarters since the takeover has consisted of 169 words, nearly half of them about his medical condition. In that statement, the shah recalled how during his reign 45,000 Americans had lived in peace, tranquility and prosperity in Iran. He prayed for return of that peace, the statement added. The shah offered to leave his accommodations if it would help free the hostages, but his doctors warned that any move could be fatal. Repeated requests for interviews have been turned down on grounds that the shah is too ill. "The family at this point wants to remain in seclusion," a spokeswoman said on one occasion. When asked why the shah was able to entertain visitors such as former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and singer Frank Sinatra, one member of the shah's contingent said: "That's different. They were close personal friends." The shah flew to New York Oct. 22 from his exile in Mexico. Two days later, he underwent gallbladder surgery that confirmed the presence of cancer in his lymph system. Two days later, the shah celebrated his 60th birthday with calls from the heads of state of Morocco, Jordan, Spain, Egypt, Mexico, Monaco and the Netherlands, as well as the Nixons, the Kissingers and members of the Rockefeller family. Nowadays, according to many sources, the shah eats regular hospital food, although still on a bland diet. He watches television — old movies to pass the time and news broadcasts to follow the events in Iran.

Hold Three In Local Robbery

Three men, taken into custody by Kinston police officers about 2:45 a.m. today, have been charged with armed robbery in connection with an incident that occurred here shortly after midnight. Chief Glenn Cannon reported.

Cannon identified the three as Kenno Farrow, 20 of Farmville, and Michael Ray Moye, 18 and Randy Anderson, 22, both of Route 1, Greenville.

The chief said Brian Eugene Johnston, 22 of 406 Biltmore St., told police that he talked to the three men outside the Paddock Club on Dickinson Avenue about 12:45 a.m., bought them each a beer, then sat for a while in his van with them before driving to Greene Springs Park.

He said the men pulled a knife, drove back to the Paddock Club to pick up the car in which they had been riding, then drove the car and van to the Town Commons, off First Street, where they took $16 in cash, a stereo speaker, and the keys to his van from him.

Johnston reported the incident to police about 1:35 a.m. and Farrow, Moye and Anderson were taken into custody in connection with the incident in Kinston.

Hearings On Recruiting

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee is scheduled to begin hearings Monday on the Army's nationwide recruiting malpractice scandal.

Army Secretary Clifford Alexander is expected to be the first witness.

Sens. Robert Morgan, D-N.C., and Sam Nunn, D-Ga., will preside over the hearings. Morgan began calling for Senate hearings in the recruiting fraud scandal in August.

He has said that any malpractice on the part of recruiters is the result of pressure from superiors to fill quotas. And he called for a halt to any disciplinary action against recruiters charged in the wake of the Army's probe until the Senate hearings.

Morgan said he doesn't believe the Army is getting to the root of the problem.

The subcommittee plans to start the hearings with testimony from Army officials, then work its way down the chain of command to the recruiters, Arnold Punaro, a Morgan aide said.

Punaro said a time limit for the hearings has not been set and that the proceedings could be held over a period of several months.

Brig. Gen. Donald W. Connelly is expected to follow Alexander in testifying before the subcommittee. He will outline the preliminary results of the Army's investigation.

The Army investigation, which began last May in Charlotte, has resulted in the suspension of 300 recruiters nationwide.

The suspended include more than half the 55 recruiters in the Army's Charlotte recruiting district, which includes western North Carolina and four counties in South Carolina, have been relieved of duty.

Three recruiters from the Charlotte district who were tried in courts-martial at Fort Bragg recently were all acquitted.

Worker Killed In Logging Mishap

LINCOLNTON, N.C. (AP) — A Lincoln County man was critically injured Wednesday morning in a logging accident on his farm six miles west of Lincolnton.

Hugh Smith, 58, died about 11:20 p.m. at a Charlotte hospital. A hospital spokesman said Smith and several other workers were cutting timber on his farm when the top of a tree they were working on fell and struck him in the head.

Visitor To Local Art Center

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

"I try to go where the action is, and since there's so much going on in North Carolina, that means a lot of travel for me," Mrs. Sara Hodgkins remarked during a Wednesday afternoon visit at the Greenville Art Center.

Mrs. Hodgkins, Secretary of the North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources, has a multi-dimensional field to cover. As head of the first cultural affairs department to be established in any state, she has the responsibility of coordinating and keeping tabs on cultural programs of the Division of Archives and History, the Division of the Arts, and the Division of the State Library.

"Of course, I have to keep a balance between traveling and keeping time for office work," she added. "But I feel that getting out, seeing people, seeing the grassroots results of programs and work being done is vital to my job."

Mrs. Hodgkins' visit here is part of her plan to visit all the 12 art galleries and museums across North Carolina that make up the Affiliate Galleries — these are scattered from Asheville to Wilmington.

Blanche Monroe, president of the East Carolina Art Society, Randy Osman, director of the Gray Gallery, ECU, Mrs. Hodgkins, and Mrs. Edith Walker, director of the Greenville Art Center.

Reaction To Bombing

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Three off-base incidents this week involving military explosives have prompted Fort Bragg officials to re-examine security measures.

Lt. Col Ron David, public affairs officer at Fort Bragg, said it is impossible to determine if the explosives came from the base because a number of military posts nearby use similar materials.

He said soldiers using explosives and other military equipment were monitored but it was difficult to check "each puff of smoke and blast."

The three incidents included the attempted bombing of an Army sergeant's house Sunday, the explosion of a grenade at a Fayetteville steel company Tuesday and the discovery of military equipment in a rental storage area in Fayetteville.

David said some of the material used in the attempted bombing of Sgt. James E. Ross's home Sunday could have come from Fort Bragg.

Two people were charged Monday and two others were charged Tuesday in the incident. They are charged with making a bomb with a mock grenade and a TNT slab. The bomb bounced off a wall of Ross's house but did not explode.

Tuesday, Fayetteville police reported that a military simulator grenade exploded at Hercules Steel Co. under a scrap car hood. The building was evacuated before the bomb exploded.

That same day investigators from Fort Bragg found military flares, smoke grenades and other military equipment in a rental storage area. They said the equipment was harmless but illegal for civilians to own.

Fear Gasoline Allocation Cut

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Gasoline allocations to North Carolina may be cut by 4 percent as a result of the embargo on Iranian oil, the president of the state's service station association said Wednesday.

Max Pegram also predicted that gasoline prices will be more expensive as a result of the cut off of Iranian oil.

State and oil industry officials have forecast an increase in price of 3 percent to 5 percent by Christmas.

Opera Theater Holding Tryouts

Tryouts will be held on two days, Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 19 and 20, for the forthcoming ECU Opera Theater production. Tryouts will be from 7:30 to 10 p.m. both nights in Room 105 of the A. J. Fletcher Music Center, East Carolina University.

The productions will consist of two one-act works, Ralph Vaughan Williams's "Riders to the Sea," and Jacques Ibert's "Angeliqne."

Interested persons are to contact Dr. Clyde S. Hiss, director of the Opera Theater, at 757-6331 for full details.

"Tomorrow (Thursday) I'll be in Washington to appear on the Leo Jenkins TV show, and then on Friday I'll be visiting New Bern," she explained. "New Bern is such a lovely historical town, and its encouraging to see how various agencies there are working together."

An example of the continuing growth of art and history in North Carolina is the recent change of status of the Museum of the Albemarle in Elizabeth City from a private to a state museum. "It's the first local history museum in the state, and eventually there will be other similar branch museums," she noted.

"The good part about affiliate galleries and regional history museums is that these provide local outlets so that people can share in shows and exhibitions drawn from state material. In these times of the high expense of traveling, that means a lot."

Mrs. Hodgkins feels that "the word culture doesn't put people off the way it did in the past. After all," she said, "culture is simply part of our everyday life, the way we live, the things we do, and I think the average person is beginning to see culture in that light."

Her home is in Southern Pines, where her husband, Norman L. Hodgkins, is a banker. Their oldest daughter has recently graduated from college and is working with the Arts Council in Kinston. "Two other daughters are still home. The two of them and my husband are most helpful, without them I'd never be able to do what I'm doing. They're wonderfully understanding."

Opening lead: Queen of ♥.

While brilliant declarer play and superlative defense grab the headlines, the quiet plays that make the difference between success and failure are often overlooked. Had we not been at the table when this hand was played, East's efforts might have gone unnoticed.

South became interested in slam as soon as North raised spades. He began his probe with a quiet bid of three diamonds. North liked his hand, so he jumped to game. Now there was no denying South. He checked for aces and confidently settled ed in six spades when he learned that only one was missing.

West led the queen of hearts, East won the ace and donned his thinking cap. Obviously, declarer had the king of hearts, and if he held any other heart losers, they could be ruffed in dummy. It was tempting to shift to a minor suit, but East reasoned that if declarer had any losers in those suits, there was nothing he could do with them. So East returned a trump, and in the fullness of time declarer lost a diamond trick for nothing.

What's the point of this column, you ask? Look a bit closer at East's trump shift. It is a remarkable defensive play indeed, for it removes an entry to dummy before declarer has a chance to put it to use!

Observe what would have happened had East lazily returned a heart or shifted to a diamond. Declarer wins, cashes the ace of clubs and ruffs a club high. A spade to the ten is the entry for another club ruff. Declarer crosses back to the table with the king of trumps, drawing the last trump, and ruffs another club high to set up the fifth club.

There is still a trump in dummy, and declarer can enter dummy either by ruffing the king of hearts or leading a low trump to the seven. The established club is declarer's twelfth trick.

Meryl Streep
Has Baby Boy

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Meryl Streep had been sure she was going to give birth to a girl. So when her 6-pound, 14-ounce boy made his appearance by Caesarian section, it took a while to come up with a name.

The baby and mother both were doing well after the Tuesday delivery, according to Ray Rebhan of New York Hospital.

Miss Streep, who married artist and sculptor Donald J. Gummer in October 1978, was nominated for an Oscar for her performance in "The Deer Hunter" and won a television Emmy for her performance in the "Holocaust" series.

The baby's name? The couple finally decided on Henry — "after Hank Aaron," said Miss Streep. "No, it's just a good name."

Ballerina Again
Quits Company

NEW YORK (AP) — Ballerina Cynthia Gregory has taken another jump from American Ballet Theater — her third since 1967.

Miss Gregory told ABT dancers, who have been locked out since Oct. 21 after a breakdown in contract negotiations, she would not return.

"We've formally told them Cynthia will no longer dance with the company," John Hemminger, Miss Gregory's husband and agent, said Wednesday.

"We were able to reach agreement on the artistic side, but Ballet Theater was unable to meet our financial requirements," he said.

Miss Gregory, 33, retired from the company in 1975 but rejoined it a year later. In November 1977 she left again, saying the company had not provided her with a suitable partner. She returned two months later.

Aaron Copland
Again Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Aaron Copland, who has been honored with the Pulitzer Prize and the Presidential Medal of Freedom, is the latest recipient of the distinguished achievement award of the Third Street Music School Settlement.

The Brooklyn-born composer, whose music has been performed for the past 54 years, was cited on his 79th birthday Wednesday at a lunch attended by leading figures in music, theater and art.

Big Las Vegas
Deal For Dolly

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dolly Parton will bring her country music to Las Vegas with a multimillion dollar contract at the Riviera hotel calling for six weeks of appearances in each of the next three years.

The buxom blonde of old timey music will make her debut at the hotel in June, 1980, on completion of her first feature film, "9 To 5" in which she costars with Jane Fonda and Lily Tomlin.

'Little Richard'
Appears Sunday

"He once made as much as $10,000 an hour for his frenzied rock and roll performances, but good golly, Miss Molly, Little Richard has changed," says Dr. James F. Parham, local Seventh-Day Adventist minister.

Little Richard, whose real name is Richard Penniman, will make a one-day-only appearance at Rose High School here Sunday at 4 p. m. Sponsor of the appearance is Ebenezer Seventh-Day Adventist Church, of which Dr. Parham is pastor.

"Gone is the hair piled high atop his head. The flowing capes and outlandish outfits have been replaced by stylish business suits. And when Little Richard sings these days, it's strictly for God," Dr. Parham said.

His conversion took place in a Hollywood, Calif. hotel room 36 months ago, Dr. Parham quotes the former rock-and-roll star, when the combination of what he now calls a depraved life and the tragedies around him became more than he could handle. "I got heavy into narcotics," he said.

LITTLE RICHARD
—Richard Penniman

Little Richard first burst into the music scene in 1956 with "Tootie Fruitee." A succession of hit records followed, including "Good Golly, Miss Molly" and "Long Tall Sally." Today he works for the Memorial Bible Company of Nashville, Tenn.

TV Trend Is Moving
To Amateur DetectiveBY PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A couple of publicity sheets arrived from NBC the other day announcing the development of two new shows for the network. "Momma" and "Allison Sydney Harrison," they were called.

So what? Well, the subject matter of these planned shows, seems noteworthy, perhaps even telling. "Momma," a pilot starring Esther Rolle, is about a housemaid "with an abiding passion for murder mysteries."

"Allison Sydney Harrison" is about a 14-year-old kid, daughter of a high-priced detective, who has "an insatiable curiosity and a terrific nose for trouble." And, no doubt, an abiding passion for mysteries.

Yes, I smell trend here. The amateur detective is the coming thing. Cops or professional private detectives have become passe on TV. Having an amateur solve crimes allows for much more ludicrous situations.

NBC already has a housewife-detective with a passion for mystery ("Kate Loves a Mystery") and soon it will have a housemaid-detective and a precocious kid-detective.

ABC has a show about a rich couple with an abiding passion for mysteries, "Hart to Hart." There are bound to be more. In fact, a quick bit of checking surfaced several amateur detective pilots that may soon appear on a network schedule.

"Nemo of the North," about an Eskimo sled driver with an abiding passion for mysteries. In the pilot, Nemo stumbles across plans by a group of sinister condominium developers to melt entire neighborhoods and then buy up the land cheap.

"Mr. President," about a U.S. chief executive who has an abiding passion for mysteries. In the pilot, Mr. President tries to solve the disappearance of his personal pollster, while a nation goes to pot.

"Leo," about a Pope with an abiding passion for mysteries. In the pilot, Pope Leo investigates the theft of Rome's last Nash Rambler.

"Abdul," about a jet-setting Arab oil sheik with an abiding passion for mysteries. In the pilot, Abdul investigates the swindling of a countryman, who bought 10,000 acres of Georgia swampland believing it to be Newark.

"Benny the Wino," about a down-and-out with an abiding passion for mysteries. In the pilot, Benny drinks milk and becomes ill. He tries to find out why.

"Emergency Mystery," about a private detective who does NOT have an abiding passion for mysteries. So, he goes to medical school and becomes a noted surgeon. Then he develops an abiding passion for mysteries.

"Mo," about Morris Sibbitz, a TV executive with an abiding passion for mysteries. In the pilot caper, Mo tries to solve the disappearance of a new idea from a major network.

Told Personally Tell Of Cutoff

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Electric and natural gas companies operating in North Carolina have been ordered to notify in person any customer whose service is about to be cut off for failure to pay a bill.

The state Utilities Commission, which issued the order Wednesday, said utilities must notify customers in writing 10 days in advance of the cut-off date and then in person at least 24 hours before service is cut off.

"The purpose of this contact will be to attempt to personally inform the customer and his designated representative that termination of service is imminent and to fully explain all alternatives to termination which may be available to the customer," the commission's order said.

The commission said the companies must also make arrangements for customers who cannot pay the full amount of a bill to pay on an installment plan.

And, a customer whose electric or gas service is about to be cut off may file an informal appeal with the Utilities Commission, under the new procedures.

The order will also prevent companies from terminating service after 4 p.m. on Fridays or on weekends or holidays.

A limited termination policy during the winter heating period was also put into effect. For elderly or handicapped persons meeting the requirements of the policy, no service may be shut off during the period from Nov. 1 through March 31 without the approval of the Utilities Commission.

The commission also ordered each utility to file reports on compliance with the new policies and procedures within 20 days and to file monthly reports after that on the number of customers whose service was shut off.

Flood Speaks At Workshop

Dudley Flood, assistant superintendent in charge of pupil services, North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, gave a talk on "Get Your Communication Act Together" at a Title One PAC workshop at D. H. Conley High School.

Parents and staff from D. H. Conley, Chicod, W. H. Robinson, G. R. Whitfield, and A. G. Cox Schools attended the meeting. Bernard Haselrig, Title One Director, introduced Flood, and Mrs. Frances Edwards, Mrs. Belinda Carney and Melvin Rountree welcomed guests. Refreshments were served by the Conley PAC.

Bradshaw Eyes More Airports

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Transportation Secretary Thomas Bradshaw said Wednesday more airports in North Carolina would be a key element in attracting new industry to the state.

Bradshaw said improved aviation capabilities also would help individual businesses and promote balanced growth.

He made the comments in a speech at the North Carolina Airports Conference at N.C. State University.

DEAR ABBY: Last summer I overheard my clergyman talking to a young woman who is a member of his congregation. He told her it was all over between them, and that if his wife hadn't been in the hospital it never would have happened. He said they should go on as though nothing had happened.

I was so shocked I could hardly believe my ears. This minister has done much for the community and is loved and respected by all who know him. He also has a lovely wife and family.

I told my husband about it. He said we all make mistakes and that I should keep quiet because if this ever got out it might hurt the church.

Now I can't even look at that worthless man without thinking what a hypocrite he is to preach "honor and fidelity." I would like to be able to forgive and forget, but I just can't.

I have lost all faith in him. What should I do?
NO NAME, SMALL TOWN

DEAR NO NAME: Your husband has the right attitude. Clergymen are not saints. They are men with all the frailties men are heir to. One swallow does not a summer make. Nor does one transgression make a man "worthless." Judge not. Let the Lord do the judging.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is very good-looking and is on the lying side of 50. He doesn't look like the swinging type, but I wouldn't put a thing past him. He gives a rather attractive, youngish divorcee, who works in his office building, a ride home nearly every evening. He doesn't accept any pay, but he does sometimes stop at her apartment for a drink (he says) now and then.

He's never more than half an hour late in getting home. Do you think he could be unfaithful to me in half an hour?
CAL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I don't know. He's your husband, lady. Could he?

DEAR ABBY: A guy who works with us has given up cigarettes. Not SMOKING them — just BUYING them.

He has bummed at least one cigarette a day from each of the six guys who work with him, and since he never carries any of his own, there is no chance of getting one back.

We can't say we don't have any when he asks, since he knows we do, but please tell us how to cure him of this chintzy trick?

GARY AND FRANK

DEAR G AND F: Next time he asks for a cigarette, offer to SELL him a pack.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letter in which a woman physician described her happy sexless marriage. I discovered too late that my first wife had a strong aversion to sex. (She thought sex was filthy and disgusting.) Consequently, we developed a meaningful mutual interest in bird-watching, music, bowling and tournament bridge.

We finally found the ultimate solution: DIVORCE. My present wife likes to quote the slogan of the rent-a-car agency that claims, "When you're No. 2, you try harder."

She sure does!

HAPPY IN CASA GRANDE

DEAR HAPPY: You lucked out. Some folks have to get a lemon first to appreciate a peach.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Will Ask President Of UMW To Resign

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller will be asked to resign to become "president emeritus," a member of the union's governing body has told the Beckley (W.Va.) Post-Herald.

The member of the union's International Executive Board, who asked that he not be identified, said that Miller would retain his title and rank, but union Vice President Sam Church would assume the day-to-day responsibilities of running the union, the Post-Herald said in today's editions.

Miller, who suffered a heart attack Monday, was reported in satisfactory condition in the coronary care unit of a Charleston hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

The 56-year-old union chief has been running the UMW since 1972.

The IEB member was quoted by the Post-Herald as saying: "First off, I can assure you that no one is going to try to ouster anyone. Secondly, Sam, if any changes are made, will still be vice president. There is a word you should look up — emeritus. The definition I have is 'retired from active service while still retaining title and rank.'"

The action, the IEB member said, would come Friday during the board's meeting in Washington, D.C.

Another IEB member, who also asked that he not be identified, said he had not heard about the proposal to make Miller president emeritus, but he said Miller was incapable of handling his responsibilities because of his sickness.

Law Reaches 10,000 Miles

NEW YORK (AP) — Amazed that the city was able to track him down, a Uruguayan citizen mailed a $40 check to pay a parking ticket he received while visiting here.

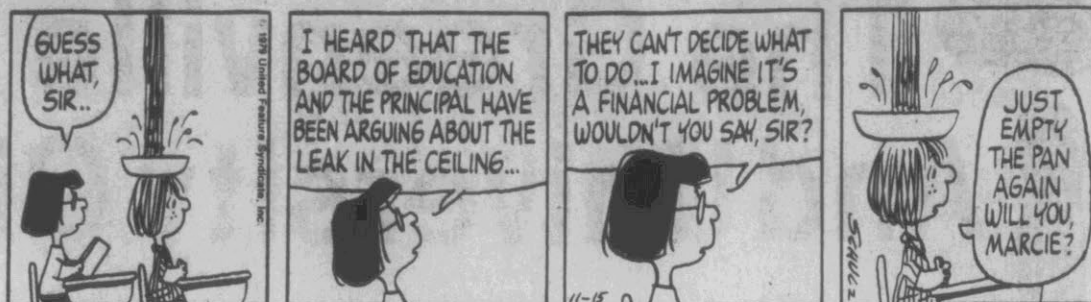

In a letter accompanying the check, Elias Bluth, of Montevideo, wrote: "Any department that can track down a Uruguayan citizen who visited New York for a few days and manages to deliver a summons for a parking violation at his personal address nearly 10,000 miles away deserves to get paid. Congratulations!"

The letter was sent to the director of the Parking Violations Bureau with a carbon copy to Mayor Edward Koch, who made it public Tuesday.

May Enroll In Classes

The Human Resources Development Program (HRD) of Pitt Community College is now accepting applications for enrollment in its next class beginning Dec. 6.

The program is an eight-week course designed for non-high school graduates who are underemployed and economically disadvantaged. The program attempts to prepare the student for obtaining and maintaining gainful employment by upgrading the level of education, preparing for the high school equivalency examination, and an introduction to the world of work. Greenville-Pitt County residents who are receiving welfare or unemployment funds are especially encouraged to apply.

Interested persons should contact Charles Dickens, program coordinator, 756-3130, extension 255, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Pitt Churches Contributed To College

The Free Will Baptist Churches of Pitt County contributed $12,426 to the support of Mount Olive College during their annual dinner Nov. 12, according to Bobby Taylor, dinner chairman. Gum Swamp Church was awarded a $100 scholarship for making the largest contribution at the dinner. Bethany Church received a $100 scholarship for giving the most money per member. The Marlboro and Winterville churches each received a $100 scholarship for bringing the most high school students to the dinner.

Contributions were received from 15 county churches. This year's funds brought the Pitt County total to $164,910 since the program began in 1963.

Asks Probe Of Funds Misuse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., has asked the General Accounting Office to investigate the reported misuse of federal funds by a private food stamp advocacy group.

In a letter to the GAO, Helms and 19 other congressional co-signers questioned the legality of the use of federal funds by the Food Research and Action Center. They contend FRAC may be undermining a congressional pilot program which studies the feasibility of requiring able-bodied food stamp recipients to perform work in partial payment for stamps.

"FRAC apparently is opposed to the concept of work in return for benefits, and is advising its members to disrupt food stamp 'workfare' demonstration projects," Helms charged.

Helms said Tuesday that FRAC has distributed a newsletter urging its members to "monitor and hassle pilot (workfare) operations and to advise FRAC employees of situations that could be used as possible litigation issues against workfare."

Muskie Warns Savings Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Budget Committee says Congress must achieve $3.7 billion in savings or the a wide range of government programs could be hurt.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said Tuesday programs that will be threatened by next spring range from anti-recession jobs programs to refugee aid. At issue is a battle between the Senate and the House over the 1980 budget. The House approved a budget of $547.6 billion but struck a Senate proposal that would force congressional committees to make savings agreed to in an earlier target budget.

THE UNBORN CHILDREN OF LILLIAN COX STEIN SINGLETON AND ALL OTHER PERSONS WHO MAY OR COULD HAVE ANY INTEREST HEREIN, Respondents

Pursuant to an Order of the Superior Court of Pitt County in the above entitled proceeding, the undersigned Commissioners will offer for sale for cash at public auction at the door of the Pitt County Court House, facing Third Street, Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, at 12:00 Noon on Friday, November 16, 1979, the following described lot or parcel of land lying and being in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, and more particularly described as follows:

That certain lot or parcel of land situated, lying and being in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, and in the Highland Pines Subdivision, on the west side of Harding Street and beginning 10 feet southwardly from the southwest corner of the intersection of First and Harding Streets and runs, thence with the western line of Harding Street in a southerly direction 60 feet to a stake, thence in a westerly direction 114.5 feet to a stake, thence in a northerly direction 80 feet to a stake, thence in an easterly direction 114 feet to a stake on the west side of Harding Street to the beginning and being Lot No. 15 in Block "P" of the Highland Pines Subdivision, as shown on a map recorded in the Pitt County Registry in Map Book 2, on page 216, and being the same conveyed to D. L. Turner by J. V. Vance, Jr., by deed dated January 29, 1952, and recorded in Book G-26, on page 303, in the Pitt County Registry; reference is also made to deeds recorded in Book W-28, on page 322 and L-29, on page 131 in the Pitt County Registry, being the same property conveyed by M. L. Turnage to Heber F. Cox by deed dated September 10, 1964, and recorded in Book S-34, on page 197 in the Pitt County Registry.

The highest bidder will be required to deposit with the Commissioners ten (10%) per cent of his bid as security for performance. Sale will be made subject to City of Greenville and Pitt County and valorem taxes subsequent to 1979, and to confirmation of the Court.

This the 14th day of October, 1979.

L. Allen Han, Clerk of Court.

William I. Woolen, Jr., Commissioner.

Oct. 23, Nov. 1, 8, 15, 1979.

Computer Hiring Failed Test

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A report by the state auditor's office has labeled an experimental computerized hiring program that has cost the state $168,000 a failure.

State Auditor Henry Bridges released a report this month that concluded that "political referrals" and other hiring methods have taken precedence over the experimental program, causing it to fail.

The audit covered the first 17 months of operation of the Central Applicant Referral System, a pet project of Gov. Jim Hunt. The program is used in Wake County only.

Fifty two persons were hired as a result of the operation of the system during the 17 months, the report said, while another 4,000 jobs were filled by other hiring methods, including the governor's patronage system.

"We find agency acceptance and usage of the (computerized) system to be minimal and numerous problems to exist in the program," the auditor's report said.

A spokesman for Hunt said the criticism was unwarranted.

"On the basis of what's in the audit, there's not enough justification to come down that strongly on the program," said Gary Pearce, Hunt's press secretary.

Joseph A. Pell, who oversees the Hunt patronage system, denied that his work had helped stifle the computerized referral system. "They're completely out of line," he said of the auditor's conclusions.

"You know when you talk about the governor's patronage system, you're talking about the weakest system of them all. You know what the strongest system is? It's known as the bureaucracy," he said.

Harold Webb, state personnel officer, said the auditor's figure of 52 jobs filled did not represent the true number of jobs filled or the use of the system.

He cited as an example the informal use of the system for referrals for jobs outside Wake County.

The report said that many of the applicants referred through the system were unqualified or unavailable for the job.

It said there were no applicants in the system for nearly 13 percent of the jobs, and that agencies sometimes withheld "exceptional" applications from the system.

It also pointed to delays and duplications in the lists.

The central referral system was started in October 1977 as a pilot project and applies to Wake County only, where about 17,000 of the state's 63,000 employees work.

Officials said then it was designed to inject more fairness and efficiency into state hiring. When a state agency in Wake County requests applicants for a vacancy, the computer randomly sends 15 names of persons who might be qualified.

State agencies are not required to use the system.

Policy On Doors Stirs An Uproar

NEW LONDON, Ohio (AP) — Last year, New London High School officials removed the doors on the stalls in the girls' restrooms because of problems with vandalism and smoking. Now the outside doors are gone, too, and the "open door" policy is causing an uproar.

"I have two daughters at the school, and the youngest refuses to go in (the restroom) because there are boys standing around outside and pushing each other in," said Joyce Fallet. "I want people to know it's not just the protection of a few students, but the protection of the morals of our children."

About 140 parents have banded together in their new cause. They are calling the action an invasion of privacy and are circulating petitions to get the doors back. Some of the 390 pupils are also circulating petitions through the northern Ohio town of about 2,300.

School administrators say the doors were removed last week because of reports of vandalism and smoking. Individual stall doors were removed last year for similar reasons, but now that the outside doors are gone, parents say there is "a pretty clear view" from the hall.

"It's a matter of discrimination. The boys' restrooms still have the doors on and boys smoke as much as girls. We don't want a whole lot, just the darn outside doors," Mrs. Fallet said.

She said the parents realize the school is trying to protect its property, but they feel there are other methods that should be used.

Mrs. Fallet voiced her opinion at New London's school board meeting Monday and offered to spend a few hours monitoring the restrooms. She said she thinks other mothers would gladly do the same.

Principal Robert Wenner said at the meeting that he would put the doors back on "when and if" the volunteers show up.

"Nowadays, they don't even build restrooms with doors because of the same problems we have had reported," said Superintendent Howard Dulmage. However, he said, having parents monitor the restrooms might solve the problem.

"After evaluating the situation, we (the board) might consider having parents help out. I don't think anyone's modesty has been compromised. We're just trying to protect the school and protect those students from threats of violence, vandalism and smoking," Dulmage said.

But as of Wednesday, no parents had arrived for monitor duty, and the doors remained off.

P.S. A shopper tip from Gandalf -- "Shop early when the selection is best"!

Order an S&S Holiday Turkey or Ham now . . .

A holiday tradition from our kitchens to yours!

12 lb. * turkey with 2 qts. cornbread dressing and
1 qt. giblet gravy,
$18.95 + tax.
Larger turkeys are also available.

14-17 lb. * ham,
$26.95 + tax.

Serve something special for the holidays from S&S. Choose a meaty S&S Turkey, golden brown and ready to heat and serve with homemade cornbread dressing and tasty giblet gravy. Or select a juicy S&S Baked Ham, a flavorful vegetable dish, and a scrumptious homemade S&S cake or pie. The S&S chefs do all the work, so you'll have more time to enjoy your holiday. Pick up an order form at S&S, or call 756-8950 and place your order over the phone.

S&S Cafeteria is the place where you can dine on a tempting selection of over 100 delicious items, each prepared fresh every day. Come home to eat at S&S, where you'll find "something special" for lunch or dinner at our house . . . and a holiday menu of take-home favorites for a special family dinner at home.

Saville SUITS ARE TODAY'S CLASSICS

There is a renewed interest in clean, classic suits.

They are the dominant message of the season...

They are glamorous for day - more glamorous for evening.

They are wool. They are gabardine
-tweed - plaid - flannel - checked.

There's a suit to suit every woman's style.

Suits are the signature of Holiday '79.

A few of our many signatures include:
