Carter Announces His Candidacy Today

By BROOKS JACKSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, set to announce officially today that he is seeking re-election, has pulled almost even with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in a new opinion poll.

Carter campaign chief Robert Strauss said he was surprised to see Carter coming on so quickly and suggested that Kennedy has caused himself further political damage by his criticism of Carter's decision to admit the former Shah of Iran to the United States.

Carter was scheduled to announce his candidacy officially in the East Room of the White House at 2:30 p.m. EST today, then attend a fund-raising dinner at a Washington hotel in the evening. He recorded a five-minute television speech to be broadcast at 8:55 p.m. EST on time purchased from the CBS network.

Earlier in the year, Carter was trailing Kennedy 2-1 in polls of Democratic voters, but an ABC-Louis Harris poll released Monday night showed Carter trailing Kennedy 44 percent to 51 percent among Democratic voters in a head-on race.

The poll showed Carter even closer in a three-way race including Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., of California, the third major contender for the Democratic nomination. In the three-way matchup, the Democrats polled gave Kennedy 44 percent, Carter 40 and Brown 10.

Carter actually was ahead of Kennedy when Democrats were lumped together with independents, who can vote in some Democratic primaries. Among both groups of voters, the poll showed Carter led Kennedy 48 to 46 in a head-on race and 42 to 40 in a threeway race with Brown, who got 11 percent.

Carter's own chief pollster, Patrick Caddell, said the Iran crisis may be inflating the president's approval rating temporarily.

"We're still the underdog," Caddell told reporters.

Strauss, speaking at a news conference at Carter campaign headquarters, said the Iranian situation has helped Carter politically by giving him an opportunity to show himself as steady, cool and decisive in a crisis.

And Strauss predicted Kennedy's attack on the shah had been a political blunder that will cost him votes. "I think it's damaging politically to Sen. Kennedy," Strauss said.

Kennedy said in a San Francisco television interview Sunday that the shah "ran one of the most violent regimes in the history of mankind," and questioned why Carter would admit him to the United States when "Hispanics who are here legally... have to wait nine years to bring their wife and their children to this country."

Kennedy later insisted he wasn't attacking Carter's handling of the hostage situation, but State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said Kennedy had not helped the crisis. Reporters were told that Kennedy's remarks could hardly help administration efforts to get another country to accept the shah as a resident.

White House spokesman Jody Powell said Carter would refuse to be drawn into a political debate on Iran while the hostages' lives are still at stake, but added: "I think you recognize how bloody my tongue is from being bitten."

60-To-1

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Iranians reportedly voted 60-to-1 for Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Islamic constitution, giving the Shiite Moslem patriarch supreme power for life, but there was no word of how many boycotted the referendum.

Khomeini's militiamen increased the guard at the occupied U.S. Embassy, apparently in anticipation of a U.S. attempt to free the 50 Americans held hostage there by students demanding the return of the deposed shah. Foreign Minister Sadeq Ghotbzadeh said all the hostages were still being well-fed and well treated, and he denied reports that they were kept tied to chairs.

Final results of the referendum were not expected until later in the week. But initial returns from the vote Sunday and Monday pointed to landslide approval by those who voted.

1980 Assembly Role Reviewed By Legislators

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer

Sen. Vernon White and Representatives Sam Bundy and Horton Rountree outlined prospects for the 1980 session of the General Assembly at a Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce coffee talk program here this morning.

Sen. Julian Allsbrook of Roanoke Rapids, who was scheduled to appear on the program, was unable to attend the session, sponsored by Duffus Realty, Inc. for the chamber.

According to White, the 1980 mini-session, set to begin the first Thursday in June, will be, "part of the original (1979) session," and last, "hopefully 13 to 18 legislative days."

The main business before the legislators, he explained, will be to "take a look at the second year of the budget. We're going back to revise the budget."

White explained, that if there is a surplus of funds at that time, the members of the Legislature will spend it. "If the revenue picture is not as bright," as it was at the close of the 1979 session, then budget cuts will be made.

In addition to the budget, White said, members of the General Assembly will be able to consider, "all bills that passed one house (during the past session) and remain in committee. Those bills are still alive," he noted.

Non-controversial local bills may also be introduced and considered during the session, as well as legislation recommended by legislative study committees scheduled to report to the 1980 session.

Other legislation, according to White, can be considered only on approval of two-thirds of the members of each house.

"One of the hottest issues," White said, will be the salaries of state employees and teachers," adding that state employees were, "not satisfied with the salaries given them," by the 1979 General Assembly.

A one percent increase for state employees and teachers, the Senator explained, means an expenditure of $20 million.

Explaining that the county governments in the state are saying, "we're putting so much burden on them," White said the 1980 session may, "help finance some of the things we've mandated them to do."

School financing - the possibility of a state-wide school bond issue - dental insurance for state employees, removing the tax on heating fuel, and the possibility of state help in offsetting high fuel costs for schools, are other items likely to be considered during the coming session.

The needs of the aging, the rights of adopted children, changes in the liquor laws, revenue laws, and other items are also likely possibilities, White noted.

"Budget and finance will be the most important thing," Bundy agreed. "The budget is going to be... always is... the most important thing to come before us."

According to the representative, sales and income tax collections have shown an increase, while almost all other taxes - cigarette, inheritance, gasoline, and others - have decreased.

Taxes on gasoline, which support the Department of Transportation, road construction and maintenance, as well as the Highway Patrol, for the first four months of the fiscal year, are $5 million behind the same period a year ago, Bundy explained. If it continues, he said, the figure will be $15 million by the end of the year.

Cuts in highway funds result in a cutback in highway construction. However, according to Bundy, DOT officials say there is, "no change as far as 264 is concerned and as far as they

Junior High Curriculum Changes Talked By Board

By JERRY RAYNOR Reflector Staff Writer

A preliminary look at the recommended curriculum for students in the eight and ninth grade at Aycock Junior High was the main issue considered in discussions held at the December information meeting of the Greenville Board of Education on Monday night.

New requirements for graduation from high school to be effective with the graduating class of 1983, mandated by the State Department of Public Instruction have created a need for schools to re-evaluate the structure of credits and requirements, particularly those applicable to students entering the ninth grade.

The preliminary perspective recommended for use at Aycock was presented to the board by Aycock principal Paul Rasberry. In this plan, students in both the eighth and ninth grades will have six periods daily beginning with the 1980-81 school year instead of the seven periods now in effect.

Basically, this preliminary plan calls for required subjects in the eighth grade to be a unit each in language arts, social studies, general math or algebra, and an earth science. Electives for the eighth grade students would include arts and crafts, foreign language (French or Spanish), music, typing, reading, and speech and drama, among others.

Promotion from the eighth to ninth grade would be based on attaining a total of eight points credit as opposed to the ten points currently required.

For ninth grade students, required subjects will be English, History, a math subject (algebra, general math or geometry), and health and physical education.

More than a dozen electives will be available to ninth graders.

To be promoted to the tenth grade, the recommendation is that a student must pass three subjects - English, health and physical education, and one other full unit.

Rasberry emphasized that the recommendations represented the concurrence of a majority of teachers, counselors and other staff personnel at Aycock. He also pointed out that the concept of only three subjects required for promotion to the tenth grade is "based on the fact that it is at Rose where the student has the opportunity to select from technical and vocational courses. There's 24 electives there, things they can't get at Aycock."

This concept was questioned by Mrs. Kay Whitehurst, Director of Secondary Education. Mrs. Whitehurst noted that with the recent graduation requirement of 21 units effective with the 1983 graduating class, mandated recently by the city school board, this "will mean that a student who leaves Aycock with only three units will have to take and successfully pass six units every year of their three years at Rose High.

Tipton Installed State President Of Builders Association At Meet

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer

Mark Tipton of Greenville was installed here Monday as the new president of the influential North Carolina Home Builders Association for 1980.

Tipton, who has served as vice president of the state organization for the past two years, received the oath of office from former NCHBA president John Bell of Goldsboro during the annual inauguration session.

Jesse Childers of Greenville, active official of the local HBA, was installed during the meeting as one of ten regional vice presidents of the association for the new year.

The guest speaker for the meeting, which attracted builders and their spouses from throughout North Carolina, as well as a contingent of guests, was US Senator Robert Morgan, who told the gathering that he favored "the use of tax-exempt bonds for housing purposes."

Also on hand for brief remarks was Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green and the state official assured the builders that "things will get better." Green said that the NCHBA members "represent people who make more dreams come true than any one I know of."

Tipton, who received the gavel as the new head of the association from outgoing president, Sherrill Faw of North Wilkesboro, is vice president of Tipton Builders of Greenville.

The new president was born in Wilson but has spent most of life in Greenville. He received degrees in history and in urban and regional planning from East Carolina University and has also studied history at Oxford University.

"I promise we will go forward," Tipton assured the gathering of builders at the Greenville Country Club. He said that the association would work "to combat the doomsday talk about our industry."

The president acknowledged that the building industry is experiencing a down point now but he emphasized that "we won't be there long." Tipton added, "There is an answer and we will do everything in our power to find the answer."

In his remarks to the NCHBA members, Morgan said that he was asked by Faw recently "if Congress realizes the seriousness of the problem" facing housing as a result of action by the Federal Reserve Board to reduce the money supply and to increase interest rates.

"After I answered him," Morgan stated, "I got to thinking about his question. The more I thought about it, Morgan said that "it is not clear, even now, just why the Fed shifted its policy course so abruptly." The result of the control on bank reserves has been an increase in interest rates that was "quickly transmitted to housing markets through increases in the rates charged for mortgage loan commitments," he said.

Morgan noted that recent NAHB testimony indicates that "the situation for the housing industry and for the home-buying public doesn't look good."

NAHB, he said, is predicting a "catastrophic drop" in new-home construction "with tremendous costs to the national economy." He added, the more I heard and read about it, the less I became sure that Congress or the administration, or anybody else in the nation understands the current housing problem and recognizes its seriousness."

The North Carolina senator recalled that on Oct. 6, the Federal Reserve Board "dramatically announced major initiatives to restrain the growth of money and credit in order to break consumer expectations of a continuing inflationary spiral."

He reported that the FRB "raised the discount rate for bank borrowing to 12 percent, imposed an eight percent marginal reserve requirement on managed liabilities, and announced that it would...focus its attention on controlling bank reserves instead of on controlling the federal funds borrowing rate."

Fuel Bill Help Plan Outlined

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Plans for distributing about $34.4 million in federal aid to help low-income families pay for their fuel bills were approved Monday by Gov. Jim Hunt.

Under the plans, which are subject to federal approval, checks of up to $200 will go to at least 220,000 persons who are eligible for assistance under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program and to those eligible for assistance under the Supplemental Security Income program.

In addition, about $5.32 million would be added to the energy crisis assistance program operated in each county by the State Economic Opportunity Office.

The plan calls for 14,000 payments of $100 each to one-child families eligible for the dependent children program. Payments of $200 each will be made to 63,000 persons in multichild families.

A $73 check will be issued to 143,000 persons receiving supplemental income. These include the disabled, aged or blind low-income individuals.

The federal funds are available under the low-income energy assistance program signed into law by President Carter last week.

Hunt called for a "vigorous and effective outreach program to see that the citizens in each community who most need help are receiving it."

He especially urged attention for the elderly and asked the county councils on aging to help identify those eligible for the payments.

Housing Complex Construction On Schedule

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer

Construction remains on schedule on the new mid-rise housing complex for the elderly going up on a site located between E. Third and E. Fourth Streets.

The contractor has poured the final section of the facility's second floor, according to Housing Authority executive director Joe Laney, who said that the basement masonry work is now "pretty well in."

Laney, who said that construction crews are now working on Saturdays in order to continue on the contract schedule, noted that masonry work has been started on the outside of the complex in spite of the cold weather.

Work is underway now on the second story columns, the spokesman mentioned, in preparation for pouring the third floor of the five-level structure.

Laney told housing commissioners that he is pleased so far with the work of the general contracting firm. The completion date for the 60-unit mid-rise is June of 1980.

The executive director reported that progress on the Section Eight existing housing program is starting to pick up now that property owners who have rental units are starting to inquire about the program.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development approved subsidizing for 50 units of existing housing for Greenville in October and Laney said that so far eight contracts have been signed with landlords. He said that it is anticipated that by the end of the month, progress will pick up.

Under the program, owners of rental units would be encouraged to apply for assistance to bring their existing units up to standards and then be able to charge fair market rent for their property.

In the case of elderly or handicapped tenants who are living in units but paying less than fair market rent, the property owner can be subsidized through the Authority for the rent difference. The

Today, Jimmy Carter is expected to announce his candidacy in another election, launching his campaign for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination and another four years in the White House. At least two other Democrats and 10 Republicans are also seeking the job Carter now holds. But Carter hopes to upset them all, despite the low ratings he has received in recent public opinion polls. Five Accidents Here Yesterday

More than $7,700 property damage resulted from a series of five traffic mishaps investigated by Greenville police yesterday. Officers reported heaviest damage resulted when a car driven by Louise Hortense Moyer of Route 8, Greenville, collided with a Police Department car and another vehicle stopped on Greenville Boulevard, 90 feet West of the Adams Boulevard intersection, about 9:05 a.m.

Investigators said the police car, driven by Willis R. Robertson of Branches Estates, was stopped behind a disabled vehicle driven by Rosie Marie Fields of Grimesland, with its blue lights flashing, when the Moyer vehicle collided with it, then veered into the Fields auto.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the city vehicle, $475 to the Fields vehicle, and $1,500 to the Moyer car.

Ms. Moyer was charged with failing to yield the right of way to a flashing blue light. Investigators reported a car driven by Theodora McGregory Proctor of Windy Ridge collided with a parked vehicle owned by Jeffery Lee Hertzberg of Route 1, Kill Devil Hills, about 5:30 p.m. on Elm Street, 140 feet South of the Sixth Street intersection.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the Proctor vehicle and $500 to the Hertzberg car.

An 11:20 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Ninth and Washington Streets, involved cars driven by Morris Brody of 110 Christenbury Rd., and Joey Ray Burroughs of 2001 East Greenville Blvd. and a parked truck owned by General Transport of High Point.

Officers estimated damage at $200 to the Brody car, $1,000 to the Burroughs auto, and $825 to the truck.

A 9:38 a.m. mishap at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Greenville Boulevard involved cars driven by Raymond Daniel Sinclair of Morehead City and Jeannie Oakley Garris of Route 1, Ayden.

Damage from the collision was estimated at $200 to the Sinclair car and $700 to the Garris auto.

Cars driven by Shirley Koch Duff of 200 Staffordshire Rd. and Patricia Ann Gunn of Durham, collided about 3 p.m. at the intersection of Arlington and Greenville Boulevards, causing $350 damage to the Duff car and no damage to the Gunn vehicle.

A Retirement Party Is Held

A retirement party was held for Mrs. Julia Tyson Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Mables. The Rev. Jesse Ray Roberson was the featured speaker at the special event.

Mrs. Tyson has been employed at Sadie Sautter School for the past 13 years. Prior to her experience there, she was employed by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watson of Stokes for 30 years.

Attendees at the party included the following: The Rev. Daisy Pippins of Baltimore, Md., her sister; Luthelia Andrews of Portsmouth, Va., her sister; Willie Roscoe Wilson of Stanford, Conn., her nephew; Mrs. Phylis Hines of Winterville, her niece; and Mrs. Claudette Wilkes of Greenville. Punch was poured by Mrs. Evelyn Keel and good byes were said by Mrs. Curtis Mobley.

tenant benefits in being able to maintain occupancy while avoiding a difficult rent increase.

Laney explained that of the eight units already under contract here, seven involve elderly or handicapped tenants. The Authority enters into a five-year contract with the property owners for the rent subsidy program.

Rent averages in the various housing developments operated by the city during November, according to Sallye Streeter, director of tenant affairs, included: NC 22-1 (Meadowbrook), $72.87; NC 22-1 (Kearney Park), $86.41; NC 22-3 (Moyewood), $88.78; NC 22-4 (Moyewood), $78.05; NC 22-5 (Hopkins Park), $58.90; and NC 22-6 (Newtown), $77.14, for an overall average of $79.14.

Mrs. Streeter reported that the staff compiled and distributed the tenant newsletter during the month and a purging of the occupancy application file began.

When pressed for more specific plans on time for reading and writing skills, Rasberry said "I'm sure each teacher will be aware of students' needs in this respect. I don't want to tell any teacher to allocate say a 15 minute or 25 minute block of time to reading or writing. I don't want to block a teacher into something that is perhaps not needed for a particular class."

School board members also raised questions about the continuity of foreign language courses, and the proposal of physical education as an elective for eighth graders.

On the matter of languages, Rasberry said "for eighth graders, these are basically introductory courses so that a student can determine if he or she wants to pursue Spanish or French at a later date."

Pam Penland, eight grade counselor, commented that traditionally, eight graders do take physical education and that exceptions are rare. "In fact," she said, "we look upon an eighth grader not taking physical education as an exception, and in such cases we always contact the parent to discuss such a decision."

Other concerns relative to the proposed curriculum expressed by school board members include those of advance notification to parents of the choices and consequences involved in course selections by students, and a

Knockers Taken
BOSTON (AP) — Police are investigating the case of the disappearing door knockers on Beacon Hill, one of Boston's oldest and most fashionable neighborhoods.

All over the downtown area, residents opened their front doors last week to discover their brass strikers missing.

Thieves, apparently operating in early morning darkness, literally ripped off more than a dozen of the brass knockers from brick townhouses, police said.

Officials said the fire apparently started in the bedroom, possibly from drapes covering electric heat units. Damage was estimated at $21,000 to the home and its contents.

There was no one home at the time of the blaze.

According to Winterville fire officials, firemen responded to a call to the home of Lewis Edwards, of 431 Evergreen Dr., at 9:02 a.m. Firemen arriving on the scene said fire was seen from the master bedroom in the front portion of the home.

"It is my opinion," Mrs. Whitehurst added, "that it is just as easy, in fact easier, to add more subjects at Aycock. There's room at Aycock to do this, and the seams are bursting at Rose already."

Several school board members expressed concern about opportunities for students to get reading and communication blocks of time within the proposed curriculum.

know, no change will be made. It's right on schedule." "It could be a long session," Roundtree noted, "if we have long-winded legislators."

Liquor-by-the-drink legislation will almost certainly come before the session, Roundtree said. He said pending legislation may change the law to allow communities within counties that have defeated liquor-by-the-drink referendums, to hold separate local elections.

"This might be the year we have to bite the bullet," Roundtree emphasized, saying that if there is a "shortfall," in revenues, capital improvement projects may be cut from the budget, and State employees may not receive the raise they want.

range use — $1,621,050.00. This figure represents the cost of renovation of heating and air conditioning at Aycock and Rose.

— Accessibility for the handicapped — $51,360. Basically to provide elevators at Rose for the library on the second floor.

— Renovations for energy conservation — $348,285.00

— New or renovated facilities for administration, maintenance, transportation and warehousing — $369,150.00, and — Other needs — $2,247,000.00.

This $9,263,525 figure, Cox admitted, amounts to a "dream wish," but yet represents actual needs. He said the state is recognizing that local county funds cannot meet all school needs, and they thus are thinking in terms of the $600 million bond issue.

A report of the Health Screening Program being carried out at the Middle School reveals that to date a total of 64 students have been screened and reports sent to parents. The reports provides data on height, weight, blood pressure, the TB test, vision, and hematocrit (which is the percentage of red blood cells to determine the presence of anemia.) Recommendations for any steps that would be helpful to a child's health are also noted on the report.

Replacement of temporary facilities — $3,342,680.00. This covers three basis projects: completion of the Middle School; building an auto-mechanics building; and construction of a six-classroom building at Rose to replace mobile units.

Replacement of obsolete facilities — $1,284,000.00. This would include replacement of the Agnes Fullilove School if it was decided there is a continued need for a building at this site.

Knockers Taken
BOSTON (AP) — Police are investigating the case of the disappearing door knockers on Beacon Hill, one of Boston's oldest and most fashionable neighborhoods.

All over the downtown area, residents opened their front doors last week to discover their brass strikers missing.

Thieves, apparently operating in early morning darkness, literally ripped off more than a dozen of the brass knockers from brick townhouses, police said.

Officials said the fire apparently started in the bedroom, possibly from drapes covering electric heat units. Damage was estimated at $21,000 to the home and its contents.

There was no one home at the time of the blaze.

Name Teacher Coordinator

Carolyn J. Ferebee, a veteran teacher with 20 years service with the Greenville City Schools, has been named Greenville City Schools Coordinator for the Community Schools Program.

The program, one with the strong advocacy of Governor James B. Hunt, Jr., is designed to encourage and make possible greater community involvement in school activities. It also involves the extensive use of public school facilities to serve the community in a variety of educational programs, as well as to provide facilities for community needs.

As coordinator, Mrs. Ferebee will act as liaison between the schools and the community; in identifying and cataloging volunteers; and surveying the need for volunteers in the various schools and providing adequate training for them.

One of her principal duties will be meeting on a regular basis with a Community Schools Advisory Council which will be a group to study the process of needs, assessment and resource development in the overall program.

Commenting on her new job, Mrs. Ferebee said that she agrees with Governor Hunt's view "that the public schools are owned by the community and should be used for a wide range of community activities and services."

Mrs. Ferebee is married to Daniel F. Ferebee, who is employed with du Pont in Kinston. They have a daughter, Jacqueline, who is a senior at Elizabeth City State University.

Retail Price Of Milk Increased

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The retail price of milk went up 10 cents Monday in Raleigh area chain supermarkets, raising the average cost of a gallon of milk to $2.25.

The retail hike follows an increase in the amount farmers can ask for raw milk. Store spokesmen also said they were passing along increased processing costs.

Order Separate Trials In Death

MANTEO, N.C. (AP) — A Superior Court judge ordered separate trials Monday for two Dare County men charged with accessory after the fact of a hit-and-run death.

Trial had been scheduled Monday for Malcolm Keith Fearing III, a Manteo town commissioner, and Claude C. Duvall, a former deputy sheriff. The cases were continued until February, with a special jury pool to be called from another county.

Fearing and Duvall are accused of failing to report properly the death of Cloise H. Creef, 87, who was struck by a vehicle and killed Feb. 19. Fearing and Duvall allegedly were passengers in the vehicle.

Ask Shirley To Watch Language

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have a childless neighbor who loves kids and is a wonderful friend. On a moment's notice Shirley will gladly look after my brood. (I have three, ages 2, 4 and 5.) So what's my problem? Shirley's language is unreal. She can't utter two sentences without including half dozen dirty words. I'm sure she doesn't realize how often she uses those words; it's just automatic with her.

After being around Shirley for a while yesterday, my 4-year-old came up with a real mind-blower. When I told him that was a "bad" word and he shouldn't use it again, he said, "Well, Aunt Shirley uses it all the time, so why can't I?" Now, Abby, I wouldn't hurt Shirley's feelings for the world because she is really a wonderful friend and has a heart of gold, but her language is something else. Is there a solution? Don't suggest I keep my kids away from her. I can't.

FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: I doubt if you would "hurt" Shirley if you asked her to try to watch her language in front of the kids. (I also doubt if it would do much good, but it's worth a try.) Just tell your kids it's not nice to use "bad" words. And let them know that there are some "good" people who use "bad" words, and Aunt Shirley is one of them.

DEAR ABBY: Our beautiful, 20-year-old daughter is about to marry a fine, high-principled man who recently moved to this rather small town. The young man has a strict religious background and is as strait-laced as anyone we've ever known. I'm sure if he knew about our daughter's past, and that she has already lied to him about her virginity, he would have been long gone.

My husband and I love our daughter and want her to be happy, but we feel she should be honest with her fiancé—and admit that she has made some mistakes. We feel that this is not only the honorable thing to do, but it could save her and her husband some serious problems in the future.

Many of the people in this town know that our daughter had a very bad reputation in her teens, and since she plans to live here after her marriage, her chances of being able to hide her past are nil.

Abby, she reads your column every day and says you advocate withholding the truth in a situation such as this. If you do, forget this letter; if you agree with us, please answer this in your column soon.

TROUBLED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I agree that your daughter should confess that he is not the first man in her life. To lie about this would be a serious mistake. How many others, and the details, however, need not be part of the confession. If it is going to make a difference in the way the young man feels about her, she's wise to tell him now.

DEAR ABBY: Charlie and I have been married for nine years. We have eight kids. (No twins.) He just told me that he is trying to think up some minor crime to commit so they'll lock him up.

Charlie isn't a violent man, but he's threatening to hit a policeman or throw a brick through somebody's window, so they'll arrest him and take him to jail. He says the noise around this house is driving him crazy.

Abby, I can't gag the kids. Besides I didn't have them alone, and if I can stand them, so can he.

Charlie says he's fed up with me and the kids and married life, and the only place for him is in a nice quiet jail where nobody can bother him. Help me.

CHARLIE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I've heard of men trying to break OUT of jail, but never INTO one. If Charlie is joking—laugh. If he's serious, you'd better get him to a doctor to have his head examined.

Give Fireplace Renewed Look

A discolored brick fireplace can get a renewed look and add to the decorating scheme in a room with a coat of paint.

The fireplace's size can be minimized by painting it the predominant color of the room or it can be made to stand out by choosing a contrasting color, say specialists with the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service.

Surface preparation prior to painting is extremely important, they say. Remove loose ashes and soot and use a wire brush to scrape away dirt and loose particles.

If a white, salt-like material is present, wipe with a diluted acid solution. Remove smoke film and grease by applying detergent or soap suds with a scrub brush. Be sure the surface is completely dry before painting.

If the brick has never been painted, coat first with a masonry primer and let dry. Applying a filler to rough edges will create a smooth painting surface. Then apply a quality interior latex paint for best results.

Auxiliary To Have Party

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 39 will have a covered-dish dinner and Christmas program Thursday at 7 p.m. at the American Legion Bldg.

Post members and Gold Star parents are invited guests. Members are reminded to bring gifts for Operation Sana Claus.

Fried and scrambled eggs have a tendency to stick to the pan unless a lot of fat is used. Cut down on calories and cleanup time by spraying pans with vegetable cooking spray which is now available in nonaerosol containers.

PICKLED BEETS

My sister Phyllis' recipe is repeated by request.

Two 1-pound cans sliced beets

1 cup cider vinegar

¾ cup sugar

1 teaspoon whole allspice

10 whole cloves

½ to 2-inch piece stick cinnamon

Drain beets; save liquid. In a medium saucepan bring beet liquid and remaining ingredients to a boil and boil 2 minutes; pour over beets. If there is not enough liquid to cover beets make up the rest with boiling water. (The recipe should fill a 1-quart jar.) Chill for several days to allow flavors to blend before serving.

Little Red Stocking Fund Set

The Children's Home Society of North Carolina, Inc., announced today the opening of its Little Red Stocking fund-raising campaign.

The appeal is made during the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. The goal set for this year by the agency's statewide board of directors is $130,000. The announcement was made by Mrs. Sidney J. Stern Jr., president.

During the past year, 188 children were placed in permanent adoptive homes through the efforts of CHS. Clients are served from seven area offices including Greenville.

The operating budget of The Children's Home Society comes from various sources. Approximately 31 percent of the budget is allocated from North Carolina United Ways.

Gifts to the Little Red Stocking are tax deductible and may be mailed to The Children's Home Society, P. O. Box 6587, Greensboro, 27405.

Rehabilitation Hopes Shaken

Criminals a victim of society and thus can be brought around by human kindness? Forget it. A psychologist, Stanton E. Samenow speaking to a group of priest, says the rehabilitation concept should be forgotten.

"There is nothing to rehabilitate in most prisoners," he said.

There are simply some bad people who engage in anti-social behavior from early childhood. "A half-hour of counseling a week in an effort to rehabilitate a career criminal is like trying to catch a tidal wave with a bucket," he said.

It would take long individual therapy to change a criminal, going back to learning what most people learn in the third grade. Even then the results are mixed.

There is something about that theory that goes against all that the human race believes in. There is always hope, even for the lowest sinner.

Yet the practical side of us says that the theory is correct — that hardened criminals seldom change.

What is society to do? Well, for starters we just have to accept the fact that there are career criminals and they aren't going to change. They will have to be dealt with according to the law.

But then for those who do reform and sincerely want to join the society of law abiding citizens, the door must always be open.

Probably Reflects A General Braking

Recessions may or may not slow down the inflation rate; nevertheless they have an effect in many areas of the economy.

The long heralded recession apparently is slowing down the growth rate of North Carolina's general fund revenues.

State Revenue Secretary Mark Lynch said the general fund grew by only 6.7 percent during October, compared with 23 percent for September over the previous September.

The slow down could be only a one month aberration, but it is probably some reflection of the braking that is currently going on in the economy.

THIS AFTERNOON

Court Role: Fight Crime

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — On the street, the bad guys have a saying: "Don't do the crime if you can't do the time."

In parlance of current criminology, that is expressed: "As an effective deterrent to crime, punishment should be swift and certain."

Cast into disrepute are the bleeding heart reforms of recent years holding that social deprivation and the excesses of the establishment are excuses for perpetrators of criminal deeds, and that psychological testing, counseling and rehabilitation opportunities are effective tools in "reforming" the errant.

Most experts now embrace the belief that bad people do bad things, and the best way to keep them from doing that is to let it be known that justice will not be delayed by interminable legal maneuverings; and that regardless of any number of other considerations, if you do certain bad things, you are going to do some certain time in prison.

Two Laws

Those are the underlying motives in two controversial laws in North Carolina: the Speedy Trials Act, and the Fair Sentencing Act. Speedy trials has been implemented on an interim basis of a 120-day limit which drops to 90 days next October. Fair sentencing takes effect next year.

The two reforms are the chief weapons in Gov. Jim Hunt's fight against crime in North Carolina. Hunt sees the criminal court as the key to effectively reducing the upsurge in crime — or at least holding the line.

Both are under assault from various quarters, principally from officers of some courts who maintain that the speedy trial law is unworkable, and that presumptive sentencing will flood the prisons by requiring certain sentences, but still not remove present inequities which arise from almost total discretion on behalf of prosecutors and judges.

In several isolated cases, serious criminal charges have been dismissed by judges when district attorneys have allowed the 120-day time limit to run out. Those actions are causing critics to wonder if the public is well served by a law which requires that charges be dropped.

BILL NOBLITT

Gov. Hunt has ordered an investigation by the state's Administrative Office of the Courts, and the overall conclusion is blunt: things were done by court officials which ought not, and the mistakes could have been corrected. The dismissals could have been easily avoided.

"I'M MAD AS HELL AND I'M..."

"...gonna have to take it awhile longer."

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

Bumbling Harassment

WASHINGTON — Perhaps you remember the Datapoint case. That was the case, back in 1978, in which the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission blundered so badly that its errors cost the taxpayers nearly $88,000. Well, the commission has done it again.

This time the commission's boneheaded abuse of the law has cost us $106,000.

These matters are worth a moment of your time. They speak eloquently of the continuing conflict between government on the one hand and the private sector on the other. Ordinarily it is a one-sided conflict. Few private businesses can stand up to the massive, unlimited power of a federal agency supported by federal funds. The good news is that business is beginning to fight back; the bad news is that big government seems oblivious to rebuke.

In the Datapoint case a couple of years ago, the EEOC brought sweeping charges of racial discrimination against a San Antonio firm. The company spent months preparing its defense, but on the very day of trial, the EEOC's lawyers blandly dropped 90 percent of their charges; then they went to trial so ill prepared that an infuriated district judge found the lawyers guilty of "contumacious behavior." The court awarded Datapoint $87,890 in legal expenses because of the "groundless, unreasonable, vexatious and frivolous" conduct of the EEOC.

A remarkably similar situation began to develop 10 years ago in Suffolk, Va., a southside town of 10,000 in the state's peanut and hog growing country. On June 19, 1969, a black woman named Sandra Holland filed a formal charge with the EEOC. She said the Suffolk branch of the American National Bank had discriminated against her in May by hiring a white person to fill a job for which she was qualified.

Note the chronology if you will. In March 1970, the EEOC sent an investigator to Suffolk. In December 1970, the agency's area director issued a preliminary finding of fact. Nothing further happened until March of 1974, when the commission formally charged the bank with unlawful employment practices at its Suffolk branch. The bank meanwhile had attempted to ameliorate the charges by citing its affirmative action program at its Portsmouth branch 25 miles away. The EEOC ruled any such defense "irrelevant" to the case at hand.

More time passed. Sandra Holland declined to file suit in her own behalf. Her complaint had been unimpressive from the outset, partly because she could not establish exactly when she had applied for a job. (Eventually a U.S. district judge would hold that she never had filed an application at Suffolk.) Nevertheless, EEOC went to court in January 1976 with a catchall complaint charging a pattern or practice of discrimination in both Suffolk and Portsmouth.

Still more time passed. At last, 10 years — 10 years! — after the original complaint, the case came on for trial before District Judge J. Calvin Clarke in Norfolk. He heard the EEOC's presentation for four days, and threw the whole thing out of court.

Had the bank engaged in a pattern or practice of racial discrimination? The government's evidence was unbelievably flimsy. In some instances it appeared that a complaining witness, having applied for a job in December, felt discriminated against because someone else had been hired the preceding August. In other instances, a black applicant charged racial discrimination because another black applicant had been chosen. One applicant had an appalling credit record — hardly a qualification for employment by a bank. So it went.

INSIDE REPORT

All John Sears' Campaign

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — In a tense showdown Nov. 26 at the candidate's Los Angeles home, John Sears at long last won total control over Ronald Reagan's last try for the presidency — an event that reflects past struggles and will shape the future of the Reagan campaign.

It boiled down to "him or me" between Sears and Reagan's closest longtime aide, Michael Deaver. Two other senior campaign operatives present supported Sears, and Reagan did not back Deaver. It was then that Deaver, having devoted a decade in service to Reagan — and every waking day the last five years to electing him president — offered to quit. The offer was accepted.

Deaver follows a trail of other longtime Reagan servitors tossed over the side by their chief in the belief that Sears, a relative newcomer to Reagan's inner circle, knows best how to put him in the White House. That suggests Ron Reagan, whose nice-guy image dates back to his Hollywood roles, is a harder man than generally known.

Sears has been softening Reagan's right-wing image, but hardly anybody disagrees with that. The significant point is that the Reagan campaign now is run by men owing primary allegiance to Sears, not Reagan. Sears, whose press interviews have been eclipsing Reagan's, controls not only strategy and issue research but vital channels to the candidate. In sum, it is today John Sears' camaign.

That hardly seemed possible early last year when Sears, an urbane Washington lawyer, was under fire from California Reaganites for his management of Reagan's near-miss 1976 campaign. Behind his self-assured exterior, Sears was worried. He told his bright young deputies — Jim Lake, Charles Black and David Keene — they should come as a package. If Sears got bounced, all four should join another campaign. (In fact, Keene joined George Bush's campaign, partly because he doubted Sears' staying power with Reagan.)

The doubt was whether anybody could overcome Lyn Nofziger, seldom far from Reagan's side for the past 15 years and determined to displace Sears for 1980. The tough-talking, fast-punning Nofziger had the nation's grass roots conservatives on his side, but he finished a poor second in the byzantine political games played around Reagan.

One reason Nofziger was demoted to semi-menial jobs and eventually left the campaign was covert support for Sears from Deaver, partner in the Deaver-Hannaford public relations firm that has managed Reagan's affairs since he left the governorship. But amid offstage cackling by the defeated Nofziger, Deaver found the tables turned.

On Nov. 26, the Deaver-Sears struggle had reached a point requiring Deaver to confront the candidate. Arriving at Reagan's home in Pacific Palisades, he found Sears, Black and Lake ahead of him — and united against him. Sears prevailed, a press release was hurriedly prepared, and Deaver hastened to a northern California duck hunting trip — far away from the prying press.

That clinched it for Sears. Two weeks earlier, Dr. Martin Anderson quit as full-time research chief to return to Stanford University. Even before Anderson's decision, the effective research operation had been transplanted to Washington under Sears' (Continued on page 6)

Other Editors Say Better Air Service

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

People in the Rocky Mount-Wilson area who travel and make use of airlines with regularity should certainly be impressed with flight schedules now, and those that can be offered by Sunbird Airlines. RWI's new commuter service.

Sunbird president, Ralph Quinlan, speaking at a Rotary meeting, indicated that he is willing to give this area what it wants in air transportation.

Air service is now available that has not been offered here in a long time. And better schedules, and more service will be forthcoming from Sunbird, Quinlan indicated.

As passenger demand grows, so will "flights available". And, it's only logical, so will the size of the commuter aircraft being used to accommodate more passenger service from this area.

There is a lot at stake. Sunbird intends to be a success here and continue to grow. They have orders for new aircraft and avionics to serve RWI. This area wants convenient air service to distant points and connecting flights to other cities. It is a mutual advantage to Sunbird and to the people of this area to use the new commuter service.

As demand grows for additional service, Sunbird president Quinlan has said that it would be offered. We can see a veritable menu of destinations direct from RWI if those people who use air travel will use the new service now offered and let it be known their intentions to continue direct flights from Rocky Mount.

In less than two weeks of service here the airline president says "we've already got growing pains". He predicts 15 flights per day originating here by the third month of service.

New Bern has made excellent use of its commuter airlines. It now has several plus Piedmont and Altair daily service. The same can be true here in the RWI area. As demand grows, so will Sunbird service.

WASHINGTON — A dining room picture of Herbert Hoover's quiet campaign for support and vindication shows how earnest the former President is in his effort to impress his own views on the next Republican campaign.

A staunch group of 20-40 Republicans friendly to Hoover are invited to a private dinner at which the former President appears as speaker. He discusses public issues, naturally emphasizing his own opinion on the Roosevelt administration. What it amounts to is a sort of stately peptalk.

LEAVING THE NEST
An elderly woman, sitting on the terrace of her home one afternoon, looked up at a robin's nest above a window and remarked to her daughter, "I think that those two young robins will be out of the nest soon." The next morning, when the daughter went to her mother's room, she found that the mother had passed away during the night. Meanwhile, the young robins had left the nest for good.

As I stood on the terrace and talked with a member of the family who told me this story, I thought of how sym-

Investment-Efficiency Ratio

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — What this country needs, said William Freund, an economist, is an easily recognized measure of the efficiency with which our dollars are invested.

A simple measure that depicts growth resulting from the use of capital would help people understand the present dilemma of stagflation, and even guide the economy toward more jobs and a higher living standard.

This afternoon the Investment-Efficiency Ratio, or IER, was announced by the New York Stock Exchange, of which Freund is chief economist. It revealed an ominous trend: Investment dollars are being wasted.

For every dollar invested in the decade of the Fifties, 30.2 cents of real growth was produced. The return slipped to 27.1 cents in the Sixties. In the Seventies it has plunged — to 12.8 cents through 1978.

On the IER scale, that means a fall from 64.6 to 33.5 to 25.7.

The new ratio is part of an exchange study on "Building a Better Future," subtitled "Economic Choices for the 1980s."

With help from Wharton Econometric Associates and Prof. John Kendrick of George Washington University, a former Commerce Department chief economist, Freund analyzed three possible economic paths for the 1980s.

The first — to leave policies unchanged in the 1980s — would produce 7.7 percent inflation, 6.7 percent unemployment, a $950 increase in disposable personal income and a 2.4 percent growth in production.

The policies referred to involve taxes the exchange thinks may thwart investment, government regulations it feels discourages risk-taking, and government spending at a relatively high level.

It assumes also that wages will rise an average of 9.5 percent a year, foreign oil prices will grow at 10 percent annually and that monetary policy will be neither restrictive nor expansive.

A second, pessimistic scenario foresees these factors growing worse. But, the report strongly suggests, neither the status quo nor pessimism need be.

If we use our financial resources wisely, it indicates, we might achieve 6.7 percent inflation, 5.8 percent joblessness, a $2,100 jump in personal income, and a real growth in production of 3.4 percent.

We can do this, it says, by "implementing new policies to encourage saving, capital investment, productivity and entrepreneurship."

direction — a hidden reason for Anderson's departure.

With Pete Hannaford having decided long ago to return to the Deaver-Hannaford firm, that left one holdover from Reagan's Sacramento days: Edward Meese, chief of staff during Reagan's second term as governor. Distraught over Deaver's fall, Meese flew the red-eye to Washington that night and huddled with the campaign's nominal national chairman, Sen. Paul Laxalt, the next morning.

Meese's trip fit a previously planned Washington visit, and he is not quitting as issues adviser traveling aboard the candidate's plane. But with the research machinery in Sears' hands, Meese is no rival. Indeed, plans are afoot to move national campaign headquarters to Washington — symbolically affirming Sears' triumph over the Californians.

The time and effort consumed in that triumph may explain why Reagan's long-awaited campaign inaugural Nov. 13 seemed ill-prepared. With the fight finished, some insiders fear a one-man-stranglehold over the campaign. Outside consultants complain they cannot penetrate the Sears screen. "I never thought I had a problem with John," one adviser told us, "but John apparently had a problem with me."

Sears is the toast of American politics, managing a nearly errorless front-runner's campaign while decapitating his rivals. But he wins no applause from hitherto ruggedly loyalist Reaganites who are coming to view Bush as a viable alternative. To keep their support, Reagan may have to show by word and deed that this presidential campaign is his own, not his manager's.

stinging opinion in which he found for the bank at every point. Then, in an unusual step, he denounced the EEOC's lawyers for acting "unreasonably" and "in bad faith." They were "obviously and woefully unprepared at trial." The government's action was "vexatious," and "frivolous." In September, the Court awarded the bank $106,084 in legal expenses. The judgment, of course, must be paid from tax funds.

In a further comment, Judge Clarke said that while the award is "unfortunate," the EEOC's conduct "transcended the bounds of tolerance." To which, we may be certain, the EEOC will respond with disdain. The commission has appealed to the Fourth Circuit. If Judge Clarke should be affirmed, the bank's expenses obviously will have increased — and so, alas, will the taxpayers' also.

committee chairman Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, R-Mich., asks: "Have you ever been asked your preference for presidential candidates by professional pollsters George Gallup or Lou Harris? Probably not since they usually poll less than 2,000 people.

"That's why the National Republican Congressional Committee is launching this project to reach millions of Americans across the country to give them a chance to vote for their presidential choice well in advance of the convention."

Thym Smith, a committee spokesman, said, "Our goal is to send one to every Republican in the country."

He conceded the survey was an unorthodox way of raising funds for GOP candidates for Congress. But he defended it as "an attempt to get away from the fat-cat image and generate more involvement in the party."

He claimed the first $5 of the contribution mostly pays for mailing, processing and tabulating the ballots.

Response hasn't been exactly overwhelming, perhaps suggesting many Republicans are still holding out for Harris or Gallup.

Of the 10 million forms mailed since June, "between 300,000 and 400,000" have been filled out and returned, "some with money and some without," Smith said.

Of those with money, the average contribution has been about $11, he said.

Which candidate has the edge? The committee isn't saying — at least not until early 1980 — when the tabulation is completed and the results released, Smith said.

Carter Family Survives Its Share Of Melodrama

By MAUREEN SANTINI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a cast of some television soap opera, the Carter family of Plains, Ga., has survived its share of melodrama during the White House run of "Jimmy Carter, Jimmy Carter." A son's marital troubles, a brother's bout with the bottle, a nephew's prison sentence, one sister's skirmishes with the law, the other's efforts to

"save" an accused pornographer — all are real-life plots from the past three years. Little has been left to the imagination as the Carters have had their linen aired in public, perhaps more than any other presidential family. Today, as Carter announces the start of his quest for reelection, the spotlight will shine even more brightly on his family, many of whom will be campaigning on his behalf.

Since 1976, when Jimmy Carter emerged from the pack to win the Democratic presidential nomination, the spotlight has rarely slipped off his family. Since his inauguration, Carter has experienced the death of a revered uncle, the birth of two grandchildren, a daughter-in-law's miscarriage, and the weddings of two nieces.

There is the eccentric, outspoken matriarch, Miss Lillian, who said last week that if she had $1 million to spare, she would hire someone to kill Iran's Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

Mrs. Carter, 81, also raised eyebrows recently with her suggestive reaction to the presidential candidacy of Sen. Edward Kennedy, whose two older brothers were slain by assassins. "I hope nothing happens to him," she told Democratic Party pickers in Nashua, N.H., early in September.

She comes off as a villain in "Cousin Beedie and Cousin Hot," a book about family feuds written by Hugh Carter Sr., the president's cousin. The gossip book says Mrs. Carter opposed her son's marriage to Rosalynn Smith.

Hugh's son and namesake is a presidential assistant who earned the nickname "Cousin Cheap" when he removed television sets from White House offices and canceled magazine subscriptions to save money.

The president's brother, Billy, lent his name to a beer, capitalized on his redneck reputation by out-earning the president in public appearances, and finally checked into Long Beach Naval Hospital for alcoholism treatments.

Earlier, Billy had outraged many by playing host to a group of prominent Libyans who had feted him in Tripoli. He was reported to have said that American Jews offended by his Libyan friendship "can kiss my ass." That remark caused a White House official to publicly disassociate the president from the slur.

The president's sisters are just as independent. Gloria Carter Spann rides a motorcycle. She and Billy do not speak. She stayed out of the limelight until last February when she was arrested for refusing to quit playing a harmonica in an all-night diner in Americus, Ga.

Mrs. Spann's son, William, is in prison in California for armed robbery. Last January, in a letter to a Sacramento, Calif., television station, KXTV, naming their son James Earl Carter IV. The couple separated a year ago, a painful episode for the Carter family.

—Son Jeff, 27, and his wife, Annette, were reported to have smoked marijuana in the suburban home of a friend, to the chagrin of Jeff's Secret Service agents. They recently moved out of the White House to a home in the suburbs.

—The youngest child, 12-year-old Amy, attends 7th grade at a public school. Growing up in a glass bowl is no picnic, and she shuns reporters. Her parents were enraged in 1978 when a gossip column reported that Amy's Secret Service agents stole a trophy for her after she finished last in a relay race. The story was hotly denied.

With all the turbulence in the Carter family, Jimmy and Rosalynn Carter have, by all accounts, a rock solid relationship after 33 years of marriage. Rosalynn, 52, is his closest adviser and campaigns extensively on his behalf. She also rates higher in the polls than her husband.

Flag Flies Half-Mast For School's Graduate

By NAOMI KAUFMAN
Associated Press Writer
SWANSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The American flag hung at half-mast outside Swansboro High School Monday.

Ellis, 29, lived most of his life in Swansboro, a small coastal town, and was a 1968 graduate of the high school. On Nov. 21, he died when an angry mob stormed the U.S. Embassy in Islamabad, Pakistan. He was an Army chief warrant officer, stationed at the embassy as a pilot and was one of two servicemen to die in the attack.

Airline Will Add Flights

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Piedmont Airlines will add as many as 16 daily flights to Raleigh-Durham Airport in January, more than doubling its present service, a company spokesman said Monday.

Eastern Airlines plans to discontinue two daily flights this month, another spokesman said.

Frank L. Paschal, city manager for Piedmont at RDU, said the planned flights would serve new cities and provide additional service to cities already served by Piedmont. The new flights will begin Jan. 15, he said.

Piedmont now has 12 daily departures at RDU. Paschal would not name the new cities, but he said the airline was focusing on new flights to and from cities such as Raleigh-Durham, Greensboro and Norfolk, Va.

"(They have) tremendous growth potential where the tax base is expanding all the time," he said.

Eastern discontinued flights will include its last Raleigh to Chicago flight and a morning flight to Charlotte, according to H.K. Braswell, manager of sales and services at RDU.

Spokesmen for Delta Airlines and United Airlines said no immediate cutbacks or additional flights were expected at RDU.

"Hearts in every land are pierced by the sorrow, the pain, that we feel," Cox said.

which was already decorated for Christmas.

Listening were two other career servicemen — his father, Edmond Polinski of Spring Lake, and his adoptive father, Erwin Ellis of Mobile — as well as a group of soldiers from Fort Bragg and from Washington. Polinski is a retired Army sergeant and Ellis is a retired career Marine who was stationed at Camp Lejeune, near Swansboro.

Heading the military contingent were the Army Chief of Staff, Gen. Edward Meyer, and the deputy commandant of the 18th Airborne Corps at Fort Bragg, Maj. Gen. Edward Partain. Ellis was stationed at Fort Bragg until last April, when he was assigned to the embassy.

Ellis had also been stationed in Thailand and Vietnam, where he won medals that included the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Bronze star.

The other serviceman who died in the attack was Marine Cpl. Steven Crowley, who was buried last Friday at Arlington National Cemetery.

VOTE TO END SANCTIONS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has backed a compromise with President Carter, voting 10-1, on lifting economic sanctions against Zimbabwe Rhodesia.

Local Teacher Draws Sentence

RALEIGH — A Greenville school teacher was sentenced Monday in U.S. District Court in Raleigh to serve six months in prison after a federal jury found her guilty last month on four counts of preparing false and fraudulent federal income tax returns.

Federal Judge Franklin T. Dupree also ordered Mrs. Mary B. Atkins to serve three years probation following release from prison and pay all costs of prosecution.

She is to report to the U. S. marshal's office in Raleigh on Jan. 2.

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices put together a moderate gain today after the market held its ground in Monday's session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials climbed 4.36 to 823.98 in the first half hour.

Gainers outnumbered losers by a 3-2 margin in the early rally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the stage for today's advance was set Monday, when stock prices declined only slightly despite soaring gold prices, a slumping dollar and persisting tensions in the Middle East.

"The market was eligible to get killed," said Larry Wachtel at Bache Halsey Stuart Shields Inc. "The fact that it didn't is the reason we're having a rally today."

Wachtel said some investing institutions recently have begun buying programs based on evidence that the economy is slowing and that interest rates might be at or even past a peak.

Florida Power & Light led the active list in early trading, off 1/4 at 25 1/2. A 100,000-share block traded at that price.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 2.73 points to 819.62.

Declines outnumbered advances by a 4-3 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totaled 29.03 million shares, against 30.48 million in the previous session.

The NYSE's composite index was off .17 at 60.54.

Lecturer Talks At Williamston

WILLIAMSTON - "Conditional love is life on a banana peel," Dr. Ken Olson told area dentists who attended an Eastern AHEC-sponsored seminar in Williamston Friday.

The world famous author and lecturer said he spent the first 28 years of his life trying to excel enough to win his father's approval. "Then I found out," he said, "that if anyone is putting conditions on his relationship with you, no amount of pleasing is going to be enough. I learned to accept my own humanness. I gave myself permission to be me and him permission to be displeased with me. I continued to love him, but no longer needed him to 'punch my ticket.' Before he died, he did accept me for myself.

"Half the hospitals in the country would be empty and half the drug companies would go broke," he asserted, "if people accepted their own humanness and stopped expending energy in futile attempts to live up to someone else's standards.

Dr. Olson is the author of the bestseller, "The Art of Hanging Loose in an Upright World."

A former Lutheran minister who went back to school at age 35 to get a Ph.D. in psychology and became a clinical psychologist specializing in work with teenagers, the Scottsdale, Ariz. resident now travels 100,000 miles or more a year as a lecturer and writer. He soon will have published his fourth book, "It Hurts Too Much for a Bandaid."

New behavior, he said, is never tried by anyone until the result of the old behavior becomes painful to the individual himself. This is why no amount of informing about hazards or nagging ever works, he said. "People are changed only by the power of the emotions in their subconscious minds, and when these emotions become strong enough they can change mightily."

He urged the dentists and their office staffs to make their offices places of positive atmosphere by demonstration of true concern for the patient's feelings and by positive actions and explanations.

"Don't take yourself and your own authority and ability too seriously," he told the dentists. "But do know that your practice will succeed if you love your patients and take care of their teeth in a way that makes them and you feel that you and they are real and human and valuable."

 "That scenario has the prime interest rate rising to 16 percent during the first quarter of next year, remaining there through most of the first half of the year" and then dropping to 14 percent by the end of the year."

The forecast of the national association, he said, indicated a decline in housing starts next year from 1.75 million units in 1979 to just over one million in 1980. Construction would decline less in the South than in the nation as a whole, he said of the forecast.

"I favor the use of tax-exempt bonds for housing purposes, and I expect to support and to participate in developing a Senate bill to continue the authorization for the tax exemption of bonds for housing," the senator commented.

"Your organization, along with others, has recommended passage of legislation authorizing a tax exemption for interest earned on passbook savings up to $1,000, in order to induce great savings," he said. "I am inclined to agree with you. There is a definite need to improve our savings picture."

Morgan cautioned that if the trend continues, he is afraid that the situation will get to the point that citizens will have to go to the federal government for any type of home loan. "God forbid that," he said.

In addition to Morgan and Green, State Rep. Sam Bundy was on hand, as were State Senators Willis Whitchard, Ed Renfrow and Harold Har-disson, members of the Pitt Board of County Commissioners, and City Council representatives.

Ray DeBruhl of Cary received the association's Distinguished Service Award in recognition of his many years of service.

Tipton and Childers were among those receiving certificates for their service on the executive committee.

Brewer: No De-Emphasis Of Football

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Since last Thursday afternoon, when Pat Dye resigned at East Carolina University, rumors and charges have surfaced about the school's athletic program. Dye, himself, has been inconsistent about what is going on. He denies some things in one newspaper account, then turns right around and says something else in another. There has even been a rumor that William Friday, president of the University of North Carolina system had sent the word down: ECU is getting too big for its bristles. That one brought a laugh from East Carolina chancellor Thomas Brewer. "There's no truth to that at all. We are nowhere close to reaching our desired goals or potential in athletics, and we don't intend to rest on what we have."

Brewer emphasized that he and the university are "firmly committed" to excellence in athletics. "We've come a pretty good way in football and our basketball is improving. Baseball has done well in recent years. And while we need to work on some of our other sports, we feel that they will improve."

Brewer said that while he feels football "is the flagship" of the athletic program, he has as much desire in seeing the football team go 11-0 as he does seeing the golf team or tennis team be a winner. "We want winners, and we are not going to be satisfied."

The chancellor said that East Carolina isn't going to try and pattern its program after that of North Carolina or N.C. State. "We have our own destiny to fulfill. Why do we have to be as good as Carolina or State," he asked. "They are not perennial football powers. Why don't we try to be as good as Penn State or teams in that league."

Exactly what form the East Carolina athletic program will take is uncertain, Brewer added. "We are currently involved in a study of the entire university. We are seeking a blueprint for the 80's."

Under this plan, a planning commission has been formed, and sub-committees that will be involved in various areas. Athletics will come under the Student Service group, and additional task forces under each of the categories will be named.

These task forces, Brewer said, will make recommendations as to the future of the athletic programs.

"However, I can assure everyone that our programs are not going to continue to improve. We absolutely want to continue to grow toward national prominence in all fields."

Brewer emphasized that the future growth of the university's athletic programs will take the continued strong support of the "friends of the university." "Athletic funds can come from only three sources," Brewer pointed out. "They come from income (gate receipts), student fees and gifts."

"I hope that our income will continue to grow in the coming years," Brewer added. "Our student fees will be increased sooner or later, and probably sooner. We hope that our gifts will continue to grow. I think the Pirate Club has done an outstanding job for us in that field."

Brewer took exception to one statement carried in the "News and Observer" on Monday. "They said that the Pirate Club provided 90 per cent of our scholarship money. This is not true. We need $750,000 a year, and they provide about $350,000. I would love to see us reach the point where the Pirate Club is fully handling the scholarships. That would allow us to do a lot of other things we cannot do now."

There has been a rumor that the administration is seeking to channel funds from the alumni away from the Pirate Club and into other university activities. "That's a lie!" Brewer said. "It's nothing but a bald-faced lie. We want people to continue giving to the Pirate Club. How could we want anything else?"

There have also been statements from angry fans that Brewer has done nothing to bolster up the program, along the lines of former chancellor Leo Jenkins, who constantly boasted of the school's athletic program.

"I'd have to say that people who say that just haven't listened," Brewer said. "I have made very few speeches where I haven't touched on the fact that we want all of our programs to be outstanding. I have firmly committed to athletics, just as I have to academics. We have to have excellence in both. I don't want to have the type of team on the field that wins, but when our alumni get ready to send their kids to school, they send them to Chapel Hill. I don't think our alumni want that. They want good academics and athletics."

(In the concluding installment, Brewer will discuss scheduling, facilities, athletic director Bill Cain, academics and athletics, and other rumors that have surfaced.)

Begin The Search

The committee named to seek a new coach at East Carolina University is expected to begin interviews in the very near future, and could start as early as today.

While officially, the committee said no names would be mentioned during the interview process, it is known that current assistants Dick Kupec and Frank Orgel were recommended by Pat Dye, while Henry Trevathan is also seeking the position.

From outside the university, few names have been made public, but it has been learned that ECU grad Ed Emory of the Georgia Tech staff, and Jim Donnan, former N.C. State quarterback, now on the Kansas State staff, have applied. Donnan is also a candidate for the State job, which is being sought by Dye.

Dye was interviewed last night by the State selection committee, and is felt to be the leading candidate for that job.

Pigskin Search

New Orleans Saints quarterback Archie Manning (8) is looking for something he dropped on Monday night football in the New Orleans Superdome.

Branch Hopes Touchdown Pass Receptions Will Help Him

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Oakland wide receiver Cliff Branch said he hoped the two late-game touchdown receptions that gave the Raiders a 42-35 victory over New Orleans would put him back in the good graces of Coach Tom Flores.

Branch caught seven passes for 126 yards in the Monday night National Football League game, but the last two were the keys — a 66-yarder that knotted the score at 35-35 with 3:19 to play and an eight-yarder that made it 42-35 with just under two minutes left.

"Maybe this got me out of the dog house," Branch said after the game. Branch didn't explain why Flores started Rich Martini in his place Monday, but he said he wasn't disappointed that he had.

"I'm still part of the team," he said. "It takes 45 guys to win the game, and I'm still one of the 45."

The victory kept Oakland's hopes of a playoff berth alive. "I just told our team we have a chance ... just win the last three and, well, that's it," Flores said.

New Orleans has to count on beating San Diego and Los Angeles losing to Atlanta next week. That would set up a head-to-head Rams-Saints clash for the NFC West title.

"This is one of my most disappointing losses ever," said Saints Coach Dick Nolan. "When you've got a 21-point lead, you've got to keep it."

The Saints had a 21-point lead, twice.

After Oakland went out in front 7-0 on a 3-yard pass from Kenny Stabler to tight end Raymond Chester in the first quarter, the Saints went ahead 28-7 with a four-touchdown second quarter.

Fullback Tony Galbreath scored on a 2-yard run 90 seconds into the second quarter and on a 17-yard pass from Archie Manning with just under five minutes gone in the period. Chuck Muncie scored on a 1-yard plunge with four minutes left before intermission, and tight end Henry Childs took a 28-yard pass from Manning in for a score with 2:18 remaining.

But Oakland came back to make it 28-14 when Arthur Whittington scored as time ran out in the first half.

The Saints went up by 21 points again in the third quarter when linebacker Kenny Borel intercepted a Stabler pass and returned it 19 yards for a touchdown.

Mark van Eeghen narrowed it to 35-21 on a 1-yard run with 2:01 left in the third quarter, and Oakland scored 21 points in the final period — all on passes by Stabler.

Tight end Derrick Ramsey scored on a 17-yard pass two minutes into the final quarter, and Branch got the final two. His final score was set up by a bizarre turnover. Muncie fumbled at the New Orleans 41. Oakland safety Mike Davis scooped it up, ran to the 20 and bounced the ball forward to linebacker Ted Hendricks, for another seven yards.

Two running plays got the ball to the 8-yard line, and Stabler hit Branch for the winning touchdown from there. "I've been with the Raiders for eight years, and we've been in a lot of that type of games," Branch said. "The Raiders play that kind of football."

"I coach this team," said LSU's Dale Brown, "but the way they play, sometimes even I get excited."

New Orleans Coach Don Smith on LSU:

"I think they're playing much better than in the past and that's because they're playing so unselfishly."

Wood Sparks Carolina Win

By The Associated Press
North Carolina's Al Wood hit for a career high 34 points Monday night to lead the 8th-ranked Tar Heels to a 93-62 victory over South Florida.

North Carolina was one of three Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams that ended up on the winning side Monday night. Virginia defeated Randolph-Macon 76-55, and Maryland managed to squeak by Penn State 56-55.

The Tar Heels trailed in the early minutes at St. Petersburg, 12-8. But then they scored six unanswered points, and the Brahms never caught them again.

South Florida was led by forward Tony Frier with 22 points and guard Tony Washam with 21.

The win boosted North Carolina's record to 2-1, while dropping the Brahms to an even 1-1.

Thirteenth-ranked Virginia got its steam from 7-foot-4 freshman Ralph Sampson, who scored 23 points and grabbed 11 rebounds. He hit 11 of 14 shots from the floor, blocked five shots and had one steal while playing 26 minutes.

It was the third win in a row for the Cavaliers, who were never pressed after a 17-6 lead in the first 6½ minutes.

With a 47-24 at the half, the Cavaliers used reserves liberally during the second period. Paul Gartlan scored 22 points for Randolph-Macon, which lost for the second time in three starts.

In Hersey, Pa., Dutch Morley's foul shot in the last 14 seconds gave Maryland the one-point victory over Penn State.

The Terps biggest lead of the evening, 55-51, came with Ernest Graham's four straight points and a slam dunk by Albert King with 1:45 to play.

Morley was fouled out with Maryland leading 55-53. He missed the first shot but made the second. But then came Rich Fetter with a field goal in the last two seconds to bring Penn State to within one.

Mike Edelman had 20 points for Penn State, which led at the half 31-29.

King finished with 28 points for Maryland.

Wake's Venuto Is ACC Player

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Wake Forest quarterback Jay Venuto has been chosen the Atlantic Coast Conference football player of the year.

The junior from Salem, N.J., who led the Deacons to an 8-3 record and a place in the Tangerine Bowl, was the choice of the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association. He received 73 of the 121 votes cast.

Jim Ritcher, North Carolina State's center and this season's winner of the Outland Award as the nation's best interior lineman, was second with 28 votes.

Others mentioned in the balloting were defensive tackle and linebacker Bubba Brown of Clemson, quarterback Matt Kucper of North Carolina, middle guard James Parker and running back James McDougald of Wake Forest, quarterback Scott Smith of N.C. State and running back Tom Vigorito of Virginia.

Venuto was at the helm when the Deacons opened their season by barely edging Appalachian. However, they moved on to defeat Georgia 22-21 in a game that saw Wake Forest gain 570 yards against what was supposed to be one of the nation's best defenses.

In the next game — against East Carolina — Venuto completed 28 of 33 passes for 334 yards in a 23-21 victory. A 17-14 fall at N.C. State brought the first loss for the Deacons in eight games.

Venuto set an ACC record when he passed for 357 yards against Auburn, which had a 38-10 lead at halftime, but which fell to the Deacons 42-38.

Venuto easily led the ACC with a record 223.9 yards per game in total offense. He threw 367 passes, completing 198 for 2432 yards and 16 touchdowns.

He is in his senior year scholastically and has indicated he will return to Wake Forest for his final year of eligibility.

Venuto is the first ACC player of the year from Wake Forest since the late Brian Piccolo won the award in 1964.

Purdue Runs Away In Victory Over Butler

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Butler didn't do it this time — not against Purdue, anyway.

Class told the story Monday night, as the 12th-ranked Boilermakers ran away to an 83-60 college basketball victory over the Butler Bulldogs behind mountainous Joe Barry Carroll.

"We thought we might get shut out for a while," said Butler Coach Joe Sexson, who watched helplessly as his Big Ten opponents scored the game's first 16 points behind one of the nation's top centers.

The 7-foot-1 Carroll had six of Purdue's points in that 16-0 streak and finished with 27.

"It was just a tremendous effort by Purdue," added Sexson. "We were too small and they just played over the top of us. Carroll was tremendous."

The Boilermakers widened their early lead to 19 points, at 24-5, and led 41-29 at the half. Butler's Gary Raker scored the first two baskets of the second half to pull the Bulldogs within eight points, at 41-33, but then Purdue ran off 10 straight points to put the game out of reach.

"Our size obviously affected their play," noted Purdue Coach Lee Rose, "and Joe Barry was a totally dominating figure."

Elsewhere, fourth-ranked Notre Dame defeated Iowa State 87-77 as Tracy Jackson scored 20 points. The Fighting Irish were in front the entire game, leading by as many as 16 points at one stage in the second half.

"We did a good job of breaking out early, like we did against Valparaiso (in the 92-66 season opening victory)," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps. "(But) I'm still concerned with our offensive rebounding. I think if we concentrate more on the boards, we'll improve as the season progresses."

Sixth-ranked Louisiana State won its second straight game with a 104-78 decision over the University of New Orleans as DeWayne Scates, Durand Macklin and Willie Sims each scored 20 points. With Scates hitting four quick baskets, the Tigers built a 16-4 lead in the first 4½ minutes and New Orleans never came closer than six points after that.

"I coach this team," said LSU's Dale Brown, "but the way they play, sometimes even I get excited."

New Orleans Coach Don Smith on LSU:

"I think they're playing much better than in the past and that's because they're playing so unselfishly."

Dye Apologizes

Former East Carolina University football coach Pat Dye issued a statement late this morning, apologizing for statements he had made about his former employers.

"I want you to know that I deeply and sincerely regret the statements which have been made reflecting on the University Administration," he said in a written statement brought to "The Daily Reflector."

"I apologize for any embarrassment these remarks, as reported, may have caused. I thoroughly enjoyed my association with East Carolina University, the students, Alumni and the community. I have never been associated with an effort that has grown with such enthusiasm; only with the tremendous support of the people of eastern North Carolina and surrounding areas could we have achieved the goals we set. I will always be grateful for the opportunities the University and its leadership gave me and assure them of my continued respect."

Charles White Captures Heisman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — His coach describes 1979 Heisman Trophy winner Charles White as "a player who gives 100 percent even when he isn't carrying the football."

And there were doubts when the 185-pound tailback was injured in the season opener that he would even be in the running for the honor as the nation's outstanding collegiate football player.

"I missed the next game with a shoulder injury but came back to lead the nation's rushers with 1,803 yards. "In his case, the main factor in winning the Heisman was his competitiveness," said Coach John Robinson, whose Trojans won the Pacific-10 title and rate second in the nation in The Associated Press poll.

"Check the final quarters of our games or when a game was in doubt, and you see the true value of Charles White."

White, a 21-year-old senior from nearby San Fernando, said he was so nervous about the Heisman poll "that I didn't sleep" on Sunday night.

"That's why I'm so jumpy today," the 6-foot tailback added, but his worries were needless.

He won 1,695 points to 773 for Oklahoma's Billy Sims, the Oklahoma runner seeking to repeat the Heisman honor he captured in 1978. Quarterback Marc Wilson of BYU was third with 589, but White had majority points in each of the six districts of voting.

"I came to Southern California wanting to make good and make a good impression of myself in growth," said White, who wants to beat Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, graduate in June with a degree in speech communications, and play professional football.

"I have come a long way in four years learning and learning about myself. I know now, I set my goals too high. The whole University of Southern California setup helped me." White became the third Heisman man Trophy winner from his school, joining Mike Garrett, who won in 1965, and O. J. Simpson, 1968.

In his four years, White gained 5,998 yards rushing and scored 48 touchdowns. He caught 57 passes for 534 yards. A year ago he finished fourth to Sims in the Heisman voting.

"My vote went in for Charles White before the season was over with," said Sims. "He worked his tail off this season."

This year, Ohio State quarterback Art Schlichter, the only non-senior among the top six finishers, was in fourth with 251 votes, followed by Notre Dame running back Vagas Ferguson, 162; Southern California quarterback Paul McDonald, 92; South Carolina running back George Rogers, 81; Purdue quarterback Mark Herrmann, 54; Florida State nose guard Ron Simmons, 41, and Alabama quarterback Steadman Shealy, 32.

Duke Ranked Second; Heels Fall To Eighth

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer
Lou Carnesecca has been trying to keep the profile low at St. John's, but how do you hide a monster?

That, apparently, is what Carnesecca has created at the New York City school. And the Redmen's basketball coach will have an even tougher time keeping the Redmen under wraps today, considering the heights that St. John's has reached in The AP basketball poll.

Ranked No.16 at the opening of the season, the Redmen leaped seven places to the No.9 position after two victories over the weekend, including an 88-73 pounding of Michigan State, defending NCAA champions, in the finals of the Lapchick Tournament.

The Redmen collected 571 points to edge out No.10 DePaul by 11 points. The new position could make Carnesecca cringe, since it is generally known that he believes high rankings put more pressure on a team.

Meanwhile, the Indiana Ho-siers held on to the No.1 position after an impressive 80-52 victory over Miami of Ohio in their season opener. The Hoosiers pulled in 28 of a possible 59 first-place votes for 1,118 points.

That was enough to give Bob Knight's preseason favorites a 20-point edge over No.2 Duke. The Blue Devils, who won the Big Four Tournament with two victories over the weekend, including Saturday night's 86-74 triumph over North Carolina, were handed 18 votes for first place.

Ohio State, meanwhile, received seven first-place votes and held the No.3 spot today with 1,027 points. Fourth-ranked Notre Dame received one first-place vote and 907 points and Kentucky, winner of the Great Alaska Shootout Tournament, collected five first-place votes and 874 points for the No.5 ranking.

LSU, a big winner over Florida in its season opener, moved up one notch to No.6 with 866 points. UCLA also gained one place, to seventh, with 706 points, after two weekend victories. North Carolina's loss to Duke dropped the Tar Heels two spots to No.8.

Syracuse, No.12 last week, headed the Second Ten followed by No.12 Purdue, No.13 Virginia, No.14 Louisville, No.15 Oregon State, No.16 Marquette, No.17 Georgetown, No.18 Brigham Young, No.19 Kansas and No.20 Iowa.

Iowa replaced Texas A&M, which was ranked 14th in the preseason but dropped out after two losses in the Great Alaska Shootout Tournament.

Buck Bench Aids In Win

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson got the most out of his bench as Junior Bridgeman and Lloyd Walton came in to score 19 and 18 points, respectively, in the Bucks' 96-89 victory over the Utah Jazz.

While Nelson was using his bench, Utah Coach Tom Nissalke was keeping Pete Maravich on the bench again Monday night, and said he was looking to trade the nine-year veteran guard.

"The whole bench played well tonight, but that's usually the case," Nelson said following the only National Basketball Association game Monday night.

"Walton gave us a big lift and Harvey Catchings did a good job," he said. "I think we played hard and that made a difference."

Nissalke didn't use Maravich, despite repeated cries from some fans to have the former Louisiana State ace sent in.

Nissalke said the Jazz is trying to work out a trade with some team for Maravich.

"We are looking to make a deal that will benefit both the team and Pete," he said.

Maravich is averaging 17.1 points per game. He has played in 17 of Utah's 24 games.

He has not played in the last several games, and Nissalke has been critical of Maravich's performance during practices.

Milwaukee, the Midwest Division leader, raised its record to 19-8. Utah fell to 4-20, snapping its two-game winning streak — its longest stretch in the last two years.

Jazz pulled to within 88-87 with 2:48 left in the game on a three-point play by Terry Furlow. But Marques Johnson scored on a short jumper and Bridgeman added a technical free throw when Utah was called for using a zone defense to give the Bucks a 91-87 edge.

"We were not really playing a zone. But in defense of the officials, they had to call it that way. It's a stupid rule," Nissalke said.

Milwaukee's defense held Utah to a field goal and a pair of free throws by Tom Boswell for the first five minutes of the final quarter in building up its lead.

Johnson finished with 18 for the Bucks and Quinn Buckner had 12.

Adrian Dantley led Utah with 28, Allan Bristow had 14 and Furlow 13.

DH NO FACTOR

BALTIMORE (AP) — The designated hitter rule was not used in the 1979 World Series between Pittsburgh and Baltimore and neither side seemed to benefit in any way.

The Pirate hurlers, who were accustomed to going to bat, were 1-for-16 at the plate. The Oriole pitchers, swinging a bat for the first time in years, were a collective 1-for-15.

Despite Poor Start, Ram Coach Optimistic

By RICK SCOPPE

Reflector Sports Writer

SNOW HILL — Although it is early, Greene Central may look back to last Saturday as the turning point of its basketball season.

Following a 51-41 loss Friday to Southwest Edgecombe, the Rams ran head on into a strong South Lenior squad. Surprisingly, Greene Central led for most of the contest, before losing, 67-65, on a last second shot.

Despite the loss, the Rams' third of the year without a win, Coach Lewis Godwin was pleased with his team's effort. "We bounced back against them," he said. "Just the night before we had struggled to get 40 points."

"If we play like we did against them, once we mature, we should be in the middle of the pack (in the Eastern Carolina Conference)," he added.

For now, however, the Rams are beset by inconsistency, the result of being a young team.

"We are still playing inconsistently," Goodwin said. "But, as I said, if Saturday's game is any indication of how good we'll be, we should be all right."

Starting for the Rams this year are seniors Jerome Artis (6'0") and Cecil Streeter (5'10"), sophomores Roderick Lane (6'3") and Eric Lewis (6'8") and junior David Joyner (6'0").

Cleve Ellis, a 6'1" senior, is Godwin's top reserve.

The rest of the squad consists of Al Murray, Jeffrey Applewhite, George Hunter, John Ray, Al Speight and David Shirley.

"This is the biggest team I've ever had here," Godwin said. "But we're so young, despite having five seniors, because only one of them really has any experience. It's just going to take some time to get used to varsity competition."

Girl's Basketball

After opening the season with a one-point win over Beddingfield, Greene Central's women's basketball team has dropped its last two games, by 16 and 28 points.

Despite this, Coach Jim Fulghum feels his girls are where he expected them to be at this stage of the season.

"Last year, we were 5-6, or something like that, but we were able to play everybody pretty competitive," Fulghum said. "This year, we'll be able to score more points than we did last season but our defense and rebounding may not be as good, mainly because we have a young team."

The Rams have two seniors and eight sophomores in their lineup this season.

Starting for the Rams are seniors Melody Ham and Sandra Harper and sophomores Sharon Suggs, Vicky Dupree and Letha Taylor.

Reserves include Sylvia Swinson, Wanda Atkinson, Annette Bright and Amy Kerney.

"So far, we've played two real good ball clubs in Southwest Edgecombe and South Lenior and we lost to both of them," Fulghum said. "For us to be competitive, everybody is going to have to play well, which didn't happen in those two losses."

Word Goes Out On Women's Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is sending out the word to most of the nation's colleges that female athletic scholarship holders must get as much financial help, on the average, as men, sources said.

The secretary of health, education and labor, Patricia Roberts Harris, scheduled a news conference today to make the long-awaited announcement clarifying what the government expects of schools that receive federal aid and have athletic programs.

Sources who asked not to be identified said the new policy will force many colleges and universities to allot more of their athletic scholarship money to female athletes. The biggest losers could be football programs, which generally soak up a disproportionate share of a school's athletic budget.

The long-running dispute over sex discrimination in college athletics has pitted feminists seeking changes in the treatment of female athletes against school administrators and coaching staffs who often have resisted what they considered an assault on football.

Mrs. Harris' announcement, which comes after months of debate and delay, reverses an earlier tentative finding by her predecessor, Joseph A. Califano Jr., who sought to apply a per capita spending test to each facet of college athletics.

Uwe von Schamann of Oklahoma made 125 consecutive extra points in the 1976-77-78 seasons.

Ohio State Moves Past 'Bama In Poll

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Alabama's come-from-behind 25-18 victory over Auburn cost it the No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press' final regular-season college football poll today and enabled Ohio State to vault into first place in a torrid three-way race with the Crimson Tide and Southern California.

Runnerup Alabama received 29 first-place votes from a nationwide panel of 67 sports writers and broadcasters to 16 for Ohio State and 19 for Southern Cal.

But eight voters, apparently unimpressed by Alabama's close call, left the Crimson Tide out of their top three choices while the Buckeyes of Ohio State were lower than third on only three ballots and piled up 33 second-place votes to overtake Alabama's edge in first-place votes.

Ohio State, which was unranked in the preseason ratings, totaled 1,267 points to 1,265½ for Alabama in what may be the closest first-place race in the 44-year history of The AP poll. Southern Cal was breathing down Alabama's neck with 1,257 points.

Ohio State and Alabama finished the regular season with 11-0 records while Southern Cal wound up 10-0-1. Ohio State and Southern Cal will meet in the Rose Bowl while Alabama faces sixth-ranked Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl.

A week ago, Alabama had 34 first-place votes to 12 for Southern Cal and 13 for Ohio State and led in points 1,193-1,142-1,141. However, the fumble-plagued Crimson Tide blew a 17-6 second-half lead against Auburn and needed a touchdown with 8:17 left to play to nip the Tigers.

Florida State, 11-0, held onto fourth place with 1,103 points and 10-1 Oklahoma, the Seminoles' Orange Bowl opponent, remained fifth with one first-place vote and 1,068 points.

Arkansas, 10-1, jumped from eighth to sixth with 951 points. One voter split his first-place pick between the Razorbacks and eighth-ranked Houston. Arkansas replaced Texas, which fell from sixth to 11th after losing to Texas A&M 13-7.

Nebraska, 10-1, remained in seventh place with 908 points while Houston, also 10-1 and the Cornhuskers' Cotton Bowl foe, went from 10th to eighth with 893½ points following a 63-0 rout of Rice.

The other first-place vote went to 11-0 Brigham Young, which held onto ninth place with 848 points. Pitt, 11th a week ago, moved into 10th place by defeating Penn State 29-14 to complete a 10-1 regular season. It marked the Panthers' first appearance of the season in the Top Ten.

The Second Ten consists of Texas, Purdue, Washington, Michigan, Tulane, South Carolina, Auburn, Clemson, Baylor and Temple.

Last week, it was Pitt, Purdue, Washington, Auburn, Michigan, Tulane, South Carolina, Clemson, Penn State and Baylor.

Penn State dropped out by losing to Pitt while Temple returned to the Top Twenty after a two-week absence.

FOOTBALL AND ART

BOSTON (AP) — Those contemporary abstract paintings which hung in a Boston art gallery this fall were the work of a 6-7, 245-pound man who makes his living in the violent world of pro football.

He is Don Hasselbeck, a reserve tight end for the New England Patriots.

"People who don't know art looked at my paintings and said they all looked alike," Hasselbeck commented. "But if you look at them long enough, you'll notice some are numb bers, some are letters, and some are just colors."

During his career with the Los Angeles Lakers, Elgin Baylor attempted 20,173 field goals.

Jerry West made 7,160 of his 8,801 free throws during his career with the Los Angeles Lakers.

The bidding:
North East South West
1♠ Pass 2NT Pass
3NT Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Five of ♣ The opening lead is, quite often, a shot in the dark. It is then incumbent on third hand to advise partner on whether the attack has struck pay dirt or whether a shift would be more attractive. That is the time to free your mind from the old bromides and use your intelligence instead.

The bidding was simple enough. With so much of his strength in his short suits, North could see no better contract than three no trump, so he did not waste time making a bid that might lead his partner astray. West made his normal lead of his fourth-best heart, and dummy, perforce, won the ace. "Never signal with an honor" is one of those shibboleths, so East contributed the seven, which seemed high enough to encourage his partner to continue. Declarer crossed to his hand with the king of clubs and took the finesse. East was in with the queen. He cashed the king of hearts and continued with the jack, but whether West overtook or not, the contract was safe.

Proper play by East at trick one would have defeated the contract. He should have followed with the jack of hearts, not the seven. True, this runs counter to the adage but it is winning bridge.

In the first place, playing the lowest card you hold can never be a come-on signal. Even an eight or a nine could be a discouraging card if you hold nothing lower. More importantly, following with the jack could not possibly cost on this hand!
If South holds the queen, he is always entitled to a second heart trick. If West holds both the queen and ten, the play will make no difference. If South holds the ten-nine guarded twice, the defense is again helpless. But if South holds the ten and West the queen-nine, it is essential to unblock.
When a play cannot possibly lose and might gain, it is obviously correct to discard the axioms set forth in the textbooks and make that play!

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, DEC. 5, 1979

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime could be difficult because most contacts are likely to be emotionally overwrought, but the evening is excellent for a whole new attitude in which most everyone is more agreeable.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your duties and then plan how to execute them more efficiently. Plan some kind of entertaining at home in the evening.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try to avoid making errors in writings early in the day. Find a new way to solve a puzzling problem. Relax at home tonight.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You must practice more thrift now if you want to have more security in the future. Don't let an outsider take advantage of you.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care of important business matters early in the day and then take care of personal affairs in the evening.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good day to take of business affairs which you've had little time for lately. Follow your hunches which are accurate at this time.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Relegate social events to the evening for best results, since business affairs claim your attention during the day. Be wise.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be active during the but don't jeopardize your reputation in any way. Find a better way of pleasing the one you love.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't make drastic changes now just because you are restless due to atmospheric conditions. Strive for happiness.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make a plan of importance but don't get started on it until later in the day. Take needed health treatments.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) It is not wise to force associates into doing what you think is best during day. Be more diplomatic for best results.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make sure you listen carefully to what others say so that there will be no misunderstanding at this time.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Show more compassion for the troubles of others and try to help them as much as you can. Put creative ideas to work.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who easily understands the thoughts of others and would do fine in whatever is connected with human equations. Teach good manners and give religious training early in life. There's a leader in this chart.
"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Eleven Die In Rock Concert Stampede

By BILL VALE
Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I couldn't believe it. They could see the people all piled up and they still tried to climb over them just to get in," said one man who watched in horror as 11 persons died in a crushing human wave surging into Riverfront Coliseum for a rock concert by "The Who." Police Lt. Col. Joseph Staff said seven young men and four young women were trampled and killed when the mob pushed into the hall on the Ohio River in a crush of bodies that continued for 30 minutes. Eight other persons were seriously injured, police said.

Twenty more were treated at four hospitals and released. The Monday night concert, which drew an audience of more than 18,000 people, went on as scheduled and "The Who" made no mention of the tragedy during their performance.

"We decided to let the concert go on. If we stopped it, we would have had a worse panic," said Lt. Dale Menkhaus who led 25 police officers in a crowd-control detail.

Menkhaus estimated that more than 6,000 people, some who had waited more than three hours, were crowded on the coliseum's plaza level waiting for the doors to open. Many had been drinking and smoking marijuana.

As at some past rock concerts, some seats were reserved, but about half were available on a first-come, first-served. Authorities said pushing incidents in the past had led to arrests.

"The group likes to do a little sound test," Menkhaus said. When the crowd heard the music, it surged forward.

"They opened only two doors. They have about 50. I suggested they open more, but was told there wasn't enough personnel to open more," Menkhaus said.

"First a bottle crashed through the glass. Then they started pushing more glass out and they started pouring in. We couldn't stop them," said Ray Schwertman, an usher.

Dick Ogburn, a concertgoer from Lexington, Ky., said, "People were going down. I saw people's heads being stepped on. I fell and I couldn't get up. People kept pushing me down. I was afraid for my life."

Menkhaus said it was nearly 30 minutes before his officers could mount a charge into the crowd. "We found the first bodies about 15 feet from the door outside," he said.

Dr. Al Trott, emergency room supervisor at Cincinnati General Hospital, said all victims suffered "footprint-like injuries."

"Some made it. Some died within two or three minutes," said Isy D'Agostino, a nurse from Dayton. "It's a real sad way to go."

City Safety Director Richard Castellini said he will ask the City Council to pass a law requiring that all seats be reserved at future events. "It's the urgency of getting a seat that makes this happen," he said.

"This is a terrible tragedy," said City Manager Sylvester Murray, who said he would open an investigation today.

Monday's mob scene was not a first for Riverfront Coliseum. On April 19, 1977, police arrested 76 people who tried to push their way into a "Led Zeppelin" rock concert.

"This is not violence, it is pushing. We had this trouble some time ago when the 'Led Zeppelin' appeared here," Murray said.

Coliseum officials could not be reached for comment. Access to offices was barred to reporters and telephone calls were refused.

Electric Factory Concerts of Philadelphia, Pa., sponsor of the concert, also had no comment.

Jeff Chaney of Carlisle, an Army veteran, said he tried to revive three of the victims. His efforts failed mostly "because people just didn't seem to care. 'I couldn't believe it. They could see the people all piled up and they still tried to climb over them just to get in," Chaney said. He said one girl was clinging to his leg, but by the time he pulled her free, she was dead.

News of the deaths brought parents storming to the Coliseum to find their children, but security guards refused them entrance. "Go home and see if they come home. You can't come in without a ticket," said one guard to a middle-aged blonde woman. The woman beat on the door and swore before leaving in tears.

Paramedics, police and firefighters were visibly shaken.

"We have all sorts of life-saving devices," said a tearful paramedic who declined to identify himself. "We have drugs. We have highly trained people, and none of it did a bit of good. They just died. We couldn't save a one of them."

Honors Go To 4-H Members

Pitt County 4-Hers received honors and awards Thursday during the annual 4-H Achievement Night at the Greenville American Legion Building.

The Clark's Neck "Dirt Squirrels" were recognized at the meeting as "Club of the Year." The Pitt County Horse Fanciers' Club was awarded a cash prize for completing the most blue ribbon project books.

Amy Tyson, president of the Bushwackers 4-H Club, and Darrell Austin, president of the Greenfield Terrace Superstars 4-H Club, were named recipients of the "I Dare You" award. The award is presented each year to two outstanding 4-H members.

The following club members were named outstanding officers in their individual clubs and received a cash award: Julia Carter, president of the Fountain Trailblazers, president of the year; Kevin Worthington, vice president of the Bushwackers, vice president of the year; Sean Gibbs, secretary of the Greenfield Terrace Superstars, outstanding secretary; Gloria Hinson, reporter of the Fountain Trailblazers, outstanding reporter.

The following young persons were awarded certificates and gold pins as county champion project winners: Jackie Giggs, Bethel Golden Eagles, child care; Amy Tyson, Bushwackers, clothing; Kevin Worthington, Bushwackers, crafts; Amber Harris, Greenfield Terrace Superstars, foods; Tammy Irwin, Horse Fanciers, horses; John Ward III, Greenfield Terrace Superstars, self-determined; Cynthia Lilley, Grifton Pioneers, leisure education, career exploration, junior leadership and health. Thirty-four other 4-Hers received certificates and ribbons for individual projects.

First State Bank of Winterville, MacDonald's, McLawhorn's Egg Farms, and Stuart Aronson were recognized for their support of the county 4-H program. Entertainment was provided by the Fountain 4-Hers and Amy Tyson, state talent show participant.

Les Strayhorn spoke on "Making the Most of Every Opportunity." He challenged the youth to achieve even more goals during the 1980 4-H year.

"We are very pleased with the accomplishments of the 4-Hers in Pitt County during 1979," said Dale Panaro, county 4-H agent.

"We would like to recognize the assistance from the community 4-H club leaders, parents of 4-Hers, and many county volunteers. We look forward to another good year of 4-H club work in 1980."

Underline Value Of Child Safety Seats

The North Carolina Department of Human Resources and the North Carolina State Pediatric Society are sponsoring a series of child passenger workshops across the state to explain the benefits of infant safety seats in automobiles and the establishment of safety seat loan programs.

A workshop will begin at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 5 at the Belk Building (Allied Health facility) on Charles Boulevard.

The University of North Carolina's Highway Safety Research Center, which conducts the workshops, reported that automobile accidents are the leading cause of death for children under age five.

While parents cannot immunize their children against traffic accidents, it was noted, highway safety experts believe that the proper use of car safety seats could prevent 80 to 90 percent of the fatalities.

Mark Pastor's Will Meet On Anniversary Certified Seed

Services will begin Thursday, Dec. 6, 7:30 p.m., at Simpson Chapel Church in honor of its pastor's anniversary.

The Rev. Dixon will conduct services Thursday, with the Rev. Douglas Cogdell and Holly Hill Church in charge of the Friday services. Sunday, 3 p.m., services will be closed by the Rev. Jasper Tyson and Popular Hill Church. The public is invited to attend these services.

Dr. Gene Sullivan will be on hand Friday, Dec. 7, 10 a.m., at the Pitt County Extension office to talk with local growers about certified seed growing in the Pitt County area.

According to assistant agricultural extension agent Sam Uzzell, the meeting should be over by 12 noon. All interested farmers are welcome. For more information, call the office, 758-1196.

THE STUDENT INTERN PROGRAM AT THE DAILY REFLECTOR IS GIVING THESE THREE YOUNG PEOPLE A HEAD START IN TODAY'S TIGHT JOB MARKET.

Leigh Coakley

Larry Sullivan

Joyce Evans

Experience is the name of the game when it comes to landing a full-time job after graduation. And experience is what Joyce Evans, Leigh Coakley and Larry Sullivan are getting as student interns in the newsroom at THE DAILY REFLECTOR.

All three will soon finish their studies at East Carolina University and hope to find jobs associated with an aspect of mass media. In addition to getting paid for their jobs at the newspaper, they are eligible to earn academic credit for their work.

It has been said that you learn by doing, and Joyce, Leigh and Larry are learning, and doing, a lot. Larry works weekends with the sports department covering local high school sports and works at the sports desk on Saturdays. Leigh and Joyce work a couple of hours each weekday and alternate on Saturdays. They handle a wide assortment of duties — rewrites, obituaries, weekend traffic accidents, feature stories, weddings and HOTLINE inquiries.

Not only is THE DAILY REFLECTOR helping to train future journalists, but we also keep you informed on the things that matter the most to you right here at home.

Now that you've met our student interns, why not make it a point to read their articles regularly in THE DAILY REFLECTOR. Along with all the news, sports and other features that have been a part of your local newspaper for almost a century.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

Since 1882, a mirror of the community.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip — SOMNAMBULISTS SELDOM STUMBLE ON IDEAS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: M equals W

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

New Laws On Health Care

A new law will have substantial impact on local health planning activities, Roy Selby, executive director of the Eastern Carolina Health Systems Agency, said today.

Signed by Pres. Carter Oct. 4, the Health Planning and Resources Development Amendments of 1979 extend the planning program through fiscal 1982 with major revisions.

"The amendments give us new tools to reduce wasteful health care spending," Selby said.

He said there is a new program established to assist in voluntary discontinuance of unneeded hospital services or conversion to more appropriate uses.

The certificate of need program is expanded to cover major medical equipment used for hospital inpatients.

Competition is emphasized in National Health Priorities and new review criteria.

Health Systems Agencies are required to collect information on the charge for hospital services and make them available to the public.

The health planning cycle is changed from an annual to a

U.S. Backed By Africans And Arabs

By JOHN BAUSMAN
 Associated Press Writer
 UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Arab and African members of the United Nations, in an unusual show of support for the United States, are calling for the release of the American hostages in Iran.

Frequently in the past they have been part of Third World groups that opposed the positions taken by the United States. But the seven African and two Arab delegates who spoke in the first three days of the Security Council debate on the U.S.-Iranian crisis all censured Iran's violation of the principle of diplomatic immunity.

Said Ambassador Leon N'Dong of Gabon: "Despite our sympathy for the cause defended by the Iranians, we are bound to regret the fact that the diplomatic personnel of a mission, as well as its premises, should be the object of aggression and violation."

"I can understand the grievances of the Iranian people," said Ambassador Blessing Akoporde Clark of Nigeria, "but to understand that is not to approve the methods the Iranians have selected to redress their deeply felt grievances.

"We earnestly implore the government and the people of Iran to release the American hostages without further delay and unconditionally."

Winston A. Tubman of Liberia said the Iranian seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and those inside it might do irreparable damage to "the very process by which peaceful intercourse among nations is made possible."

"If...the world is allowed to become an unsafe place for diplomats to pursue their noble calling, mankind would quickly become engulfed in a dark barbaric world too dangerous to contemplate," he warned.

Ambassador Kamanda wa Kamanda of Zaire said the nations of the Third World were most endangered by the Iranians' flouting "internationally recognized and established principles."

"Small and medium-size states, which are the most numerous and most vulnerable on earth, would ultimately be the major victims of any disregard of the objective rules and principles of the United Nations Charter and of international conventions which guarantee order and justice in international relations," said Kamanda.

One of the two Arab speakers, Abdalla Yacoub Bishara of Kuwait, in opening the debate pointed out that "passions that have been suppressed for three decades and have recently found an outlet are bound to be strong, deep and spontaneous."

But he, too, called for the immediate release of the hostages and suggested that the council authorize Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim "to set up a consultative body that may assist in identifying abuses and violations of human rights that took place in Iran under the past regime" of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

The other Arab speaker, Ahmed Esmat Abdel Meguid of Egypt, expressed dismay at the bad image the Iranian action was giving the Moslem religion and in effect accused Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and his followers of violating the tenets of Islam.
