Iran Said Inching Toward Release Of 50 Hostages

By BRYANE BRUMLEY Associated Press Writer TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - There has been "some movement" toward release of the American hostages now in their 67th day of captivity, but freedom is still weeks away, a top Iranian official said today. "There is some movement," Ayatollah Mohammed Beheshti, first secretary of Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council, told American reporters at a news conference. "I am not sure if this movement will be seen in a few days, maybe (it will be in) a few weeks." Beheshti, one of the most influential clergymen in this revolutionary theocracy, refused to elaborate, but said "a solution includes the possibility of a spy trial." The students who took over the U.S. Embassy on Nov. 4 and Khomeini's revolutionary regime charge that the embassy was an espionage center. The students have also said they will release the captives only if Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi is returned to Iran for trial, and that the only person they will take orders from is Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the leader of the Iranian revolution. Asked if a solution to the crisis might also involve a public investigation of human rights violations by the shah's regime and U.S. involvement in Iranian affairs, Beheshti said, "Maybe so. It is not excluded."

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim has raised the possibility of a public investigation by the world organization.

"America is not doing anything to resolve the crisis," Beheshti said. "They can do many things in this regard. The case is in their hands, not ours."

"They have begun new actions against the interests of our nation. They should wash away the effect of the new action they have begun."

He referred to the U.S. demand that the U.N. Security Council impose sanctions against Iran because of the regime's refusal to heed an earlier Security Council resolution calling for the immediate release of the hostages.

Diplomatic sources in Washington said the United States has gotten other major industrial nations to agree on new financial sanctions against Iran and plans to include them in the U.N. resolution. The New York Times reported.

The sanctions are less strict than the current freeze on Iranian assets under U.S. control but strong enough to add more pressure on Iran to release the hostages, the Times said.

Meanwhile, revolutionary guards kept a close watch on cars carrying thousands of pilgrims into the holy city of Qom, Khomeini's residence, for a Shiite Moslem holiday today.

Khomeini, preparing to go into seclusion for two weeks to rest, banned demonstrations in Qom because of recent clashes between his supporters and those of the religious leader of the Azerbaijani minority.

Pitt School Board Talks Funds, Teacher Action

By MARY SCHULKEN Reflector Staff Writer

A new teacher evaluation plan and a possible loss of federal funds to Pitt County Schools were the major topics discussed Tuesday afternoon at the Pitt County Board of Education meeting. More than 200 Pitt County teachers overflowed the District Courtroom yesterday to voice concern over a plan of evaluation adopted by the Board in December. The form, which requires teachers to rate their own performances, list their weaknesses, and then sign their evaluations, was to be implemented this month. Helen Johnson, president of the Association of Classroom Teachers, told the School Board to "take a close and critical look at this plan, to recognize the problems it creates, to reconsider the action you have taken." "It is a frustrating, intimidating, degrading, intolerable instrument," Ms. Johnson added. Ms. Johnson and several others stated that the plan was unrealistic because many teachers insisted they would not rate themselves lower than the two highest evaluation levels since they are not sure what the evaluation will be used for.

dealt with in the meantime. The Board unanimously approved a motion in favor of these suggestions and called for a coordinated evaluation between school and a workshop this summer for the evaluation plan. If changes are recommended, however, this motion did not guarantee that such changes will be implemented. One teacher said that, as it stands, the evaluation plan would not be a true instrument of evaluation but rather a self preservation report.

Annette McRae, president of the Pitt County Chapter of the N.C. Association of Educators, said that the plan had no clear-cut criteria to guide teachers in filling it out, and that this ambiguity heightens teachers' fears that the plan could work against them.

Superintendent Ott Alford said, "The plan was my choice. My reason for wanting this plan is that there is less paperwork, although more time involved. It is my thought that this is a plan the board can act on, can live with."

"I believe strongly in what I have recommended," Alford added.

Alford made two suggestions concerning the plan. He proposed that only the teacher and the principal receive a copy of the assessment, and not the supervisor. He also proposed that the program be implemented in the fall so that problems can be

HEW accused Pitt County Schools of racial segregation in language arts classes and sex discrimination in occupational education classes.

According to Alford, the language arts classes are racially identifiable because of the County's system of grouping according to performance and abilities. The occupational education classes are electives and are the choice of the student.

Sheriff Silent On Allegations Of 'Brutality'

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson said yesterday he had "no comment" on a letter sent by the Pitt County Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to the Sheriff's Department. State community relations officials and the news media, alleging that two black men have been beaten by white deputies.

The letter, from D. D. Garrett, president of the Pitt NAACP branch, said the organization, "has been informed," that several deputies have exercised, "what may be determined as blatant police brutality."

The latest reports, according to Garrett's correspondence, "are from Mr. Julius Wright, Route 4, Greenville, and Mr. Stanely Daniels of Greenville."

The letter concluded; "...we hope that what we have heard about several of your white officers beating black men with pistols and flash lights is only rumor. If by any chance it is more than rumor, we are requesting that your immediate attention be given to this matter in order that your department may be cleaned up," and concluded by requesting a conference with the sheriff to discuss the matter.

When asked if the allegations described in the letter are being investigated, Tyson said again, "no comment." In an interview, Garrett said Wright was struck in the mouth with a flashlight by a deputy questioning him in connection with a stolen property investigation. He said Daniels was also struck by officers during an investigation.

Court records show that Wright was charged with possession of stolen property on November 29. He was also charged with resisting arrest on that same date by Deputy Sheriff Lee Piscasio.

The resisting arrest warrant charged that Wright resisted by swinging a chair at the deputy. The stolen property possession charge was dismissed by prosecutors on December 13, because of, "insufficient evidence to prosecute," according to court records, which explained the television Wright allegedly possessed had not been recovered and two co-defendants had not been arrested.

The resisting arrest charge is pending in Superior Court. Daniels was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff J. L. Moye on December 8, on charges of receiving stolen property in connection with a November 27, incident. That case is also pending in Superior Court.

Snow, Cold Ties Up The Northwest

By The Associated Press

Travelers who didn't stay home packed motels in the Northwest early today as a persistent storm shrouded Washington and Oregon with up to 30 inches of snow and ice.

The snow, which came in the second major storm of the winter, began falling Monday, and continued into today as weather service officials predicted several more inches for the area.

Hazardous road conditions were responsible for at least one traffic death in Washington, and officials said one woman was raped when she stopped to help a snow-bound motorist.

"The traffic is insane," said police dispatcher Cindy Jensen of The Dalles, an Oregon community along the Columbia River, where snow hit hard Tuesday.

Stranded truckers and travelers filled motels in The Dalles and neighboring Hood River as the National Guard armory in The Dalles opened to provide additional shelter.

Up to 30 inches of snow was reported in Hood River, while The Dalles was blanketed with 15 inches. The Washington community of Quillayute had received 20 inches of snow by Tuesday.

Seattle residents dug out from under more than 7 inches of powder. Non-essential city employees in Portland were sent home in mid-afternoon Tuesday as the freezing rain and snow continued.

Dozens of schools, offices and businesses were closed in the two states, and Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Co. in Seattle was to close today, said spokesman R.J. Cook. The weather also forced a halt to flights at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport for seven hours as workers cleared a runway for departures.

The winter storm extended to the northern and central Rockies in Idaho, Colorado and Utah, the National Weather Service said.

"I think we are going to stay in a snow shower pattern right on through Thursday," said NWS forecaster Paul Ellis in Seattle.

Washington State Patrol officials said motorists apparently were staying home - and slowing down when they did venture out.

"It was a very sparse rush hour," James Reedy, communications officer in the Seattle office, said Tuesday. "You probably can still see a lot of them in the ditches (from Monday)."

Farmville Extends Gas Co. Franchise 10 Years

By CAROL TYER Reflector Staff Writer

FARMVILLE - Final reading was given and adoption was made of an ordinance extending North Carolina Natural Gas's franchise in the Town of Farmville for 10 years.

The action ending months of negotiation with the natural gas company was done in a regularly scheduled Board of Commissioners' meeting here last night.

A schedule for proposed development of the Fiscal Year 1981 budget was presented by Town Administrator Patrick Thomas. Thomas reported that a four-week test of the use of roll-out garbage collection carts for solid waste collection will begin in the Claremont area Jan. 21 and in the Sunset-Dale Drive area Feb. 18. Operational desirability and citizen reception is to be observed, he said.

An ordinance was adopted implementing Police Chief Ron Cooper's recommendations and establishing legal basis for traffic control measures now being used in the H. B. Sugg School area. The cautionary arrow sign at George and Hines streets is to be replaced with a standard One Way (south) sign applicable during school opening and closing hours - 7:30 to 8:30 a. m. and 2 to 3:30 p.

m. The Do Not Enter sign at S. George and Perry streets is to be amended to indicate it applies only during school opening and closing hours.

Following a report by Public Safety Committee Chairman Commissioner David Stowe, the board voted for a budget amendment to bring $6,000 out of capital reserve to apply an addition to the Rescue Squad building now underway. The addition is to be 50 by 20 feet and much of the work is being done by Rescue Squad members themselves.

A budget amendment was adopted to reflect the contracted extension of the Com- (Continued on page 16)

Saudis Execute 63 In Grand Mosque Attack

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) - The Saudi government today executed 63 militants who seized the Grand Mosque in Mecca, Islam's holiest shrine. Officials did not give the method of execution, but the traditional Saudi way is by public beheading after Friday prayers.

The Interior Ministry said the commander of the mosque attack, identified as Juseiman Bin Mohammed Bin Saif, headed the list of those executed, and that those put to death included 41 Saudis, 10 Egyptians, six South Yemenis, three Kuwaitis and one each from North Yemen, Sudan and Iraq.

The Interior Ministry said the executions were carried out in eight cities, apparently to dispel suspicions the mosque attack weakened government authority. The bulk of the attackers were said to be from a dissident Saudi tribe that opposed the monarchy.

The executions were spread out as follows: Mecca 15, Riyadh 10, seven each in Medina, Dammam, Bridah and Abha and five each in Hayil and Tabouk.

The announcement said the executions were in accordance with the punishment prescribed by the Koran - Islam's holy book, and that the interior minister, Prince Nayef Bin Abdul Aziz, was ordered to carry them out by King Khaled.

"following the confessions of the criminals who attacked the Grand Mosque."

It also said the executions were in accordance with an edict by Saudi religious leaders. There had been no announcement of any trial preceding the executions, but earlier announcements said a full investigation was conducted.

The Grand Mosque is inside a 38-acre compound housing the Kabaa, which Moslems believe was built by the prophet Abraham.

VEPCO Nuclear Plant Is Back On Line Today

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia Electric & Power Co.'s Unit 1 at its Surry nuclear plant is back in service this morning. It is the only one of Veeco's four reactors on line.

The unit was switched on late Tuesday night and was generating at 90 percent capacity by 9 a.m., said Veeco spokesman Lee Starkey, "and that's about as high as it will go."

North Anna Unit 1 is scheduled to go back into service early next week, despite the discovery of corrosion in some support plates.

Surry Unit 1 was taken off line Dec. 19 after a motor failed in a coolant pump.

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission said two days later the unit could not be put back on line until certain coolant pipes were tested to determine if they could withstand severe earthquake stress.

"We ran those tests and they turned out okay," said Stenzel. He said approval for the unit to go operational was received over the weekend from the NRC.

Other modifications required by the NRC after the Three Mile Island accident also were taken care of.

"Performing the post-TMI modifications at this time has enabled the company to eliminate a similar outage previously scheduled for early 1980," said C.M. Stallings, vice president for power operations.

Surry No. 2 still is undergoing steam generator replacement and is not expected to be back in service until April 15.

At North Anna, No. 2 is still awaiting licensing by the NRC and Unit 1 is being refueled.

Veeco said Tuesday it has found corrosion in plates supporting secondary tubing.

The company said the problem was caused when too much of an acid-producing substance was inadvertently dumped into the tubes. The substance is used during chemical treatments to prevent corrosion.

The corrosion in the support plates does not appear to be a major problem, said Veeco officials and independent scientists.

Starkey said the problem will be corrected by flushing that area of the unit out, which can be done while the reactor is generating commercially at 30 percent capacity.

Corrosion-produced leaks in pipes of the 220-ton steam generators at Surry No. 2 forced that unit's shutdown and the $100 million replacement of its three generators.

The dumping incident at North Anna occurred last February, a Veeco spokesman said. "The condition is typical of corrosion problems encountered throughout the industry," said W.L. Proffit, Veeco's senior vice president for power.

City Will Take Dirty Pictures

NEW YORK (AP) — Sanitation police will be accompanied on their rounds by a "litter lens patrol" to identify and dramatize sanitation problems on New York City streets, says Mayor Edward Koch.

Koch said Tuesday that Sanitation Department police accompanied by photographers will serve summonses and take pictures in areas where street cleanliness has declined. Photographs will be made available to news media and the names of the violators will be made public.

"By publicizing the names of violators of our sanitary codes, we should be able to highlight some of our trouble spots and identify some of our trouble-makers," Koch said.

Group To Plan Leadership Conference

A committee has been formed in Pitt County for the purpose of planning a County Governor's Conference on Leadership Development for Women.

The steering committee's initial meeting was held yesterday. Mrs. Juanita Bryant of Raleigh and Booneville was a special guest. She is executive director, Leadership Development for Women for the State of North Carolina.

"The county level conference is a follow-up to the successful statewide conference convened by Governor Jim Hunt in Raleigh, May, 1978, and the nine regional conferences held across the state last year," said Mrs. Bryant.

"Holding these meetings at the county level fulfills opportunities for women at the local level," she added.

Mrs. Bryant, several weeks ago, received the Distinguished Citizen of North Carolina Award from Gov. Hunt.

She was appointed by Gov. Hunt to the North Carolina Task Force on Families to write state recommendations for the White House Conference on Families. Mrs. Bryant is past president of NCFWC and is presently first vice president of General Federation of Women's Clubs and is an unopposed candidate for president-elect. She is also a member of the Women's Forum of N.C.

Follow-up conferences are planned in all 100 counties. Each will offer speakers and workshops for individuals who wish to develop their leadership skills.

The conferences are being sponsored by the North Carolina Council on the Status of Women and the N. C. Council of Women's Organizations in cooperation with the office of the governor.

Mrs. Jean Darden and Mrs. Nancy Middleton, both of Greenville, are serving as co-chairmen of the planning group for Pitt.

At yesterday's meeting, appointments were made to the following committees: invitation; reservation; public information; printed programs; workshop leaders; luncheon and arrangements.

Members of the planning committee include: Mrs. Selina F. Forbes; Mrs. Antoinette James Lloyd; Mrs. Mildred T. McGrath; Mrs. Debora W. Rhodes; Mrs. Rosalie Trotman; Mrs. Pat Koontz; Mrs. Helen Simpson; Mrs. Ann Whitehurst; Mrs. Betty Brewer; Mrs. Gracie Vines; and Ms. Addie Gore.

Wife Issued A Special Card

By Abigail Van Buren

1980 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have a solution for the woman whose husband had a habit of getting a little drunk on Saturday night and inviting everyone within earshot to come to his home on Sunday morning for Bloody Marys and brunch:

I ran into the same situation a number of years ago in Annapolis, Md.

We were at a club when Mr. B. started issuing invitations. Mrs. B. simply went to all within earshot and quietly inquired, "Have you seen my husband's calling card?" Then she handed us each one, upon which his name was in the usual place, but on the back it read: "Don't believe anything I say tonight unless you hear it from me in the morning!"

We all had a quiet chuckle. No one's feelings were hurt, and Mrs. B. was off the hook!

BETTY IN LOS OSOS

DEAR ABBY: In response to JERI OUT WEST, who wondered how many couples who really love each other sleep apart: We've been married for 34 years, and for the last 17 years we have had twin beds. There is nothing like it for comfort and total relaxation. We're able to turn every which way without worrying about kicking one another, or breathing in each others' faces.

He likes the blankets on. I like them off. If he has a cold, he can keep the cold germs in his own bed. And when it comes to intimacy, we manage nicely. One twin bed is big enough for both of us.

I LOVE MY HUSBAND IN ALHAMBRA

DEAR ABBY: What has sleeping got to do with lovemaking? Nothing whatsoever! If I didn't get my rest I would be a lousy lover. That's why the little woman and I sleep in separate bedrooms. She snores up a storm.

ARTHUR IN ARIZONA

DEAR ABBY: Sleeping apart is really great. I meet a lot of new girls that way.

My wife stays on her side of town, and I stay in the other 95 percent of town!

LARRY IN COLUMBUS, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: I'm 33 and my husband is 35. He's always been a very restless sleeper, and gets up several times during the night to make notes or read. (He says he gets his best thinking done at night.) The only way I can get any sleep is to sleep in another room, which I do.

Believe me, it hasn't hurt our love life. Our children are 10, 7, 6, 4, 2 and another is on the way.

SLEEPS APART BUT GETS TOGETHER

DEAR ABBY: We've been married for 37 years and love each other. For years we slept together—or, I should say, tried to sleep together. He's a big man who sleeps spread-eagled. He also snores like a sawmill. I wanted to sleep next to him because I enjoyed the closeness and pillow talk and, naturally, the lovemaking, but once he fell asleep he assumed the spread-eagle position and started to snore. I would poke him in the ribs to make him turn over, which disturbed HIS sleep. This went on for years until I decided to move into another bedroom—the smartest move I ever made.

CATHY OUT WEST

DEAR ABBY: I am 92 and my wife is in her 70s (she doesn't like to tell her exact age). We have been married for 47 years and have had our separate bedrooms for the last 35 years. But that doesn't mean we don't share the same bed at least part of the night or day.

Every morning about 4:30 or 5 a.m. my wife comes into my bedroom and crawls into bed with me. We do our cuddling and lovemaking for about an hour and then she goes back to her own bedroom.

IN CLASS—Lydie Pinoy Marshall (center) who directs "A La Bonne Cocotte," a French cooking school in New York City, helps her pupils prepare noodles (les nouilles).

French Cooking Is Authentic

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A series of articles currently running in the magazine, Bon Appetit, offers cooks a chance to take some exceptionally good "lessons." Each month a chef or cooking-school teacher is interviewed, and some of his or her recipes are published.

The December 1979 issue of Bon Appetit features Lydie Pinoy Marshall, who conducts the French cooking school, A La Bonne Cocotte, in New York City.

Lydie's school is widely esteemed because, as Bon Appetit's interviewer writes, "She offers French cuisine as it should be taught—with emphasis not only on skills and principles, but on the palate. Under her gentle but determined tutelage, advanced students (those who have mastered basic techniques) are taken into the realm of the great French gastronomes, who, above all, had taste—often for the simplest foods."

As it happens, Lydie is a neighbor and friend of mine in New York City. When I told her how much I enjoyed the article, she offered some extra advice:

"I tell my students that even though they are in a cooking class, they should take advantage of what their families may be able to pass along. Cooking was first taught me in France by my mother and my aunt—my mother's sister. Eventually my aunt married a Scottish-American, who lived in Cleveland. When I was a teen-ager, I came to stay with them, and my aunt continued to show me how to cook some of the best French dishes. Now she and my uncle live in Arizona, and when I visit them, she is still so helpful."

Lydie's recipes in Bon Appetit's "cooking class" series include two of her specialties—Coulis de Tomates and Sauce Aurore. They are particular favorites of my own, and I am happy to have permission to pass them along.

LYDIE MARSHALL'S COULIS DE TOMATES AND SAUCE AURORE
For the Coulis de Tomates:
6 tablespoons olive oil
2 medium onions, minced (about 1 cup)
35-ounce can Italian peeled plum tomatoes (not packed in tomato puree or paste)
1 teaspoon dried thyme
1 tablespoon minced garlic
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper

Heat oil in a heavy, large skillet. Add onion and cook over low heat until soft but not brown, about 10 minutes. Add all remaining ingredients and simmer 45 minutes, stirring frequently. Puree in an electric blender. Return to a saucepan and simmer to consistency of soft relish, about 30 minutes. Taste and adjust seasoning as desired. Makes about 2 and 1/3 cups. For Sauce Aurore (recipe follows) reserve 1 cup of the Coulis de Tomates and refrigerate or freeze the rest to use as you like.

RESOLVE To Help Area Couples

Efforts are being made to form a group for infertile couples in the Greenville-Rocky Mount area.

According to Beverly Thompson, the group, if realized, will tentatively meet under the name RESOLVE. RESOLVE is a Boston-based organization which offers counseling, referral and support groups for infertile couples. The local group could become a chapter of this organization.

"Infertility," Mrs. Thompson said, "is an inability to conceive a pregnancy after one year of trying or inability to carry pregnancies through to a live birth."

"At least 10 million people are involuntarily childless at any given time. This represents one out of every six couples of childbearing age. The general causes involve the female in about 35 percent of the cases and the male in about 35 percent and combined the two in the remaining 30 percent. In least 10 percent, no causes are known.

"Successful treatment leads to one or more pregnancies in almost 50 percent of cases. It is vital to get to a reliable specialist and have a thorough and proper investigation," she said.

"Acceptance of infertility is not easy," she went on. "And it is not something that everyone can help you with. Unless another person has experienced this same problem, then he or she has no way of knowing what it is like. A group like this would provide association with others who do know what it's like.

"Education is needed," she said. "Myths need to be cleared up. Infertility is not just a female problem. It's just as often a male one.

"Infertility is not all in the head. 90 percent of the time it's physical and the feelings of stress and frustration are the result, not the cause, of infertility."

"Adopting a child is not the way to conceive, as is often told. Persons who have adopted become pregnant in only five percent of cases, the exact percentage as those who do not adopt."

Mrs. Thompson said marriage counselors, Claude and Carol Andrews of Tarboro, will be working with the group. She herself is a partner in an infertile marriage, she said, and has had to work through her own feelings about her situation.

"We hope that couples faced with this problem or who think they may be facing this problem will come to the meetings that we are planning," she said. "We hope husbands will attend with their wives. However, individuals will be welcomed. Ministers, doctors, counselors and others interested in the problem, but not directly dealing with it, are invited, also."

The first meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the Educational Building of Lakeside Baptist Church, Rocky Mount. For more information, Mrs. Thompson may be reached after 5 p.m. at 977-0247.

More Will Be Needed

As the Soviets cruelly knife through Afganistan, President Carter has announced a series of punitive measures designed to demonstrate our disapproval.

There will be a delay in consideration of the SALT II treaty, a slow down in cultural exchange programs, limitations on Russian fishing in U.S. waters and curtailment of sales of some items to the Soviet Union.

Perhaps the president's strongest action, was a curtailment of grain sales to the Soviets. In theory at least, Russia badly needs the grain to compensate for its own poor harvest so it has turned to U.S. farming efficiency to make up its losses.

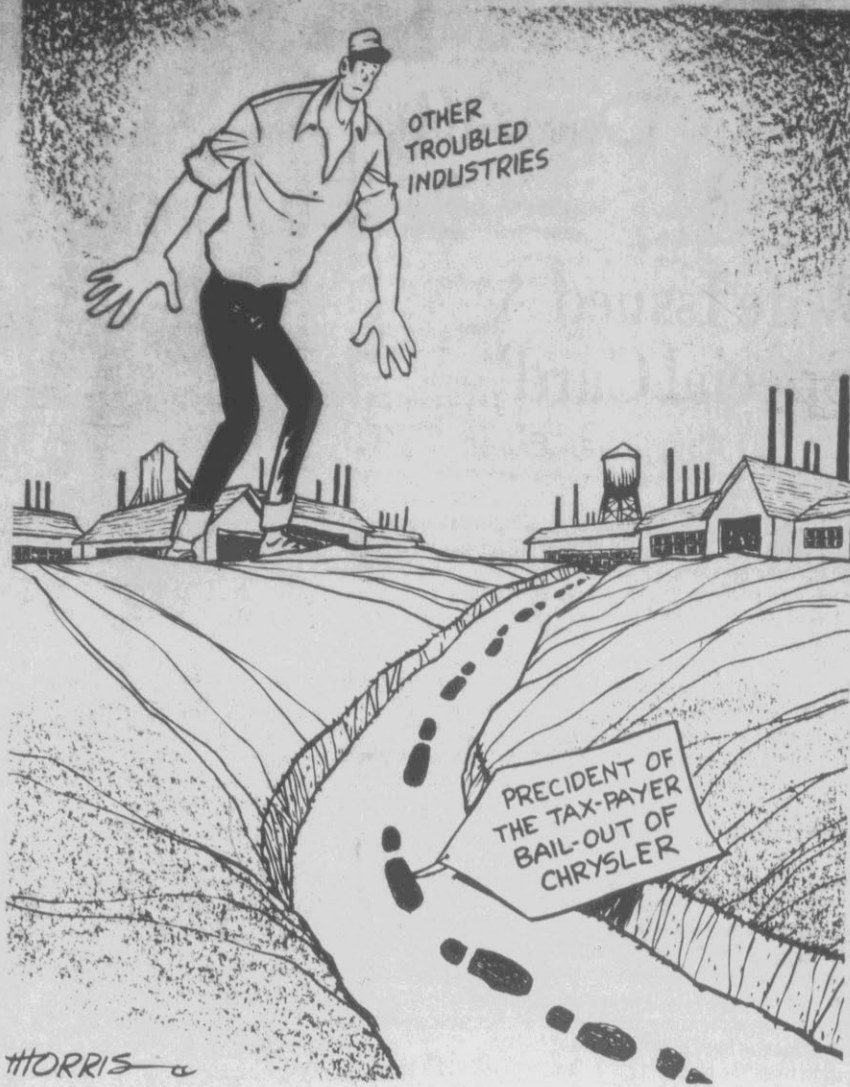

The grain embargo may hurt the Soviet economy a little, but it is going to harm the American farmer much more. Certainly the embargo is not going to stop the Russians in Afganistan. Its leaders were fully prepared for U. S. reprisals and even adverse world opinion as it drove into Afganistan.

An expansionist minded regime only understands one thing, and that is power. We wouldn't advocate a direct military confrontation with the Soviets, but a stronger military reaction by the United States in meeting its Iranian humiliation might well have caused the Soviets to think twice before rushing into Afganistan.

Surely no one in our government thinks that curtailment of grain sales, cultural programs, SALT II or even the Olympics is going to change the course that the Soviets have set in Afganistan. So far what has been done hurts us more than the Russians, and if we don't show more strength we can expect the Red armies to move into other Middle East countries.

LET'S NOT MAKE IT TOO INTRIGUING A ROUTE!

Too Much On My Plate

WASHINGTON — Rowly, the columnist who works across the hall from me, came into my office the other day and said, "What are we going to do about Afghanistan?"

"I'm aware of that," I told him. "But I'm not up to dealing with Afghanistan until I find out where the hell it is."

"So you're not going to take it seriously?" "I didn't say I wasn't going to take it seriously. I said I wasn't going to take it at all. No one told me to keep an eye on Afghanistan. I need time for these things. Give me another month and then I might tilt one way or the other."

"A month could be too late. We have to do something about it now!" "President Carter has warned Leonid Brezhnev in the strongest terms that the United States takes the dimmest view of the Soviet troops being sent there. I should think that would take care of the matter."

"Words aren't enough. We're going to have to take some sort of action." "I'm not ready to take any action, Rowly. There is just so much a person in my position can do."

"Don't you realize that the invasion of Afghanistan by the Soviets is a dagger thrusting at the heart of Iran?" "The way I feel about Iran these days, I wish someone would stab it."

"And it would change the entire balance of power in the Middle East." "I'm not a dummy, Rowly. Everyone knows that. But I have enough on my plate right now. Carter is going to handle this one alone. I'm sure he's up to it."

"But the Russians installed their own puppet in the capital and killed their other puppet. Their intentions are to destroy the Moslems in the country and make Afganistan a satellite of the Soviet Union. Are you going to stand by and allow this act of naked aggression?" "Rowly, you know how I feel about naked aggression. I was one of the first people to speak out against it long before it was fashionable. I will put my record of anti-naked aggression against anyone in this country. At the same time, I have to deal with one crisis at a time. I can't spread myself too thin."

"I'm sorry you feel this way about it," he said. "I was hoping you would at least have a solution to this one — no wonder Carter says there

Spurred By Goldwater

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK WASHINGTON —

Whispered advice from Sen. Barry Goldwater to Sen. Strom Thurmond that the Republican Party must nominate a "strong" and vigorous presidential candidate played a role in Thurmond's endorsement of John B. Connally in South Carolina's March 8 Republican presidential primary.

Also quietly advising Thurmond, the Southern Republican patriarch, to take a personal hand in the primary was Sen. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma. Both argued that Reagan's age (68) casts doubts on whether he could lead the West during the most critical period since World War II. In fact, Goldwater has been torpedoing his fellow-conservative's presidential ambitions for a dozen years.

Thurmond's aides were surprised when he decided to endorse Connally. Former White House aide Harry Dent, Thurmond's closest political adviser for two decades, warned Thurmond that many South Carolina Republicans felt Connally would be a heavy political load to carry in view of Reagan's popularity. But, backed by private encouragement from Goldwater, Thurmond's mind was made up.

Change For CIA

The Soviet invasion of Afghanistan is diminishing the vengeful mood in Congress against the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), with one major change all but certain: the end of a CIA "charter" to limit the agency's freedom of action.

Another change gathering surprising support on Capitol Hill would end the absurd system that compels the CIA to clear all clandestine operations with eight congressional committees. Such widespread distribution of the agency's innermost plans and operations makes secrecy a joke.

Behind the switch is the Soviet worldwide offensive. Even anti-CIA legislators have noted that when the U.S. is accused of offending a Moslem state, retribution against American Embassies is swift. But when Moscow mounts an outright invasion of Moslem Afghanistan, not a single Soviet Embassy is seized.

The reason: Soviet agents control "the street" in such places as Tehran and Kabul, using undercover agents schooled in manipulating mobs. Since the CIA's hands were tied in 1975, the U.S. cannot compete.

Tax Cut Fever

Despite the White House decision not to include a tax cut proposal in the budget message, the prospects for congressional passage of tax reduction in 1980 are exactly 100 percent — with a high probability that President Carter will sign the final version.

The question is not "whether," but "how big," Rep. James Jones of Oklahoma, leading the Democratic tax cut strategy, is pushing for a relatively modest $20 billion package in the House. That would not enable ordinary taxpayers even to keep up with inflation. Republicans will press for a much bigger tax cut that would tempt a Carter veto.

After much discussion within the White House, it was decided not to publicly outline the kind of bare bones, Jones-style tax bill the president prefers on grounds it might snowball into something bigger. But Democrats in Congress fear that Carter will let Republicans get ahead of him as chief tax cutter, much as he did in 1978.

Raiding New York

While the headlines play on the Iowa caucuses and the New Hampshire primary, Republican presidential hopeful George Bush's operatives have waged an undercover campaign to steal New York's big presidential convention delegation away from front-runner Ronald Reagan.

Since New York shut out Reagan in 1976 and thereby delivered the Republican nomination to Gerald Ford, the state has been a prime target of Reagan campaign manager John Sears. He has succeeded admirably, lining up much of the party's organizational leaders with more to come if Reagan wins in Iowa and New Hampshire.

But Bush political operative David Keene (a Sears aide in 1976) has been hard at work undermining Sears' labors. As a result, he has lined up key delegates both in New York City and upstate. Keene is telling Republicans elsewhere — particularly in Iowa — that some 40 percent of Reagan's New York strength has been eroded.

NEW YORK — Lou Gehrig, former Yankee first baseman whose baseball career was ended by infantile paralysis, is earnestly applying himself to his new job as a city parole commissioner in New York. He played 2,130 straight games before retiring.

RALEIGH — A chap would have needed more eyes than Argus to watch just one of the political huddles going on here yesterday as those Democrats who could be wheeled out of $25 gathered to eat a two dollar meal and pay tribute to Andrew Jackson and the Democratic party treasury.

If all of the hot air which came out of those huddles could have been gathered, it would have been enough to melt all the snow blocking North Carolina highways.

Democratic Battle Joined

The battle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination was formally joined this week as former governor Bob Scott filed as a candidate.

Gov. Jim Hunt is expected to file later this month. Scott immediately made a campaign issue out of the constitutional amendment which made it possible for Hunt to seek re-election. Scott said he would call for a referendum to repeal the 1977 gubernatorial succession amendment.

No doubt Scott will hammer at the succession amendment as the campaign progresses.

THIS AFTERNOON

Reforms Shape Up

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — Recommendations for change in the way teachers are trained and certified in North Carolina have been adopted by the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina which operates most of the teacher-training programs, and the State Board of Education which runs the public schools.

Two years later, a review of the numerous changes called for show considerable progress, especially in the areas of improved relations between the two governing boards and reamping of programs on the campuses of teacher training schools.

Things are not moving quite so well in the areas of establishing a would-be teacher's intentions and commitment to teach, and in building tougher criteria for admissions, retention and exit from teacher training programs.

One of the recommendations called for a "clear set" of standards and criteria for admission to, retention in, and exit from teacher training.

Progress

Steps would include counseling, testing, screening devices, and program review to assure successful progress from students. For certification, a review of student teaching performance, course work, and scores on the National Teacher Exam and other tests are called for.

Review of the status of this recommendation "revealed less than adequate progress across most constituent institutions", a report on the program just completed shows. Slowness is "Probably due to recent changes and continued planning for modifying teacher certification and program approval standards and procedures..." the report suggests.

BILL NOBLITT

Another recommendation was that teacher education programs "should be concentrated on students who have the commitment and intention to teach after graduation". The status report concludes that it is "very difficult to judge and to affect the commitment of students to the teaching profession. Most programs have sharpened their recruitment and counseling activities to test and to encourage commitment to teaching. It is not possible to evaluate the effectiveness of these actions. It is also not reasonable to expect that everyone who enters or graduates from a teacher education program will go into the teaching profession."

On the plus side, a University Council on Teacher Education to improve planning, evaluation, and communication is functioning with close contacts developed between the colleges, the Board of Governors, and the State Board of Education.

To the editor: On March 18, 1977, one of Greenville's finer citizens left this earth. On Jan. 4, 1980, a park was dedicated in his honor and memory — the Thomas M. Foreman recreation park on West Fifth Street.

Tom Foreman's activity in Greenville and his contribution to the overall community effort is well known by his many friends. There was a large attendance at the 10 a. m. dedication, yet there were many who were unable to leave their job situations to be present.

It was a pleasant affair and many kind words were spoken. Even so, the magnitude of this man of generous heart and untiring efforts to improve his town was largely left untouched. All of us who were fortunate to know Tom Foreman found ourselves filled with admiration, respect and love. He was a fine citizen, husband, father, friend and dedicated worker for his fellow man.

Tom Foreman will long be remembered in Greenville. He was truly a special person.

I loved Tom Foreman... he was my friend.

Strength For Today

ONE GOD There is a quaint story in the 20th chapter of Kings, which reveals the naive reasoning of ancient pagan peoples about the gods and their relation to people.

Ancient peoples believed that each nation had its own god which offered protection. On one occasion when the Syrians were defeated by the Israelites, the Syrians concluded that the defeat had come because they fought the Israelites in the hilly Israelite territory far from the valleys occupied by the Syrians. Next time the outcome will be different, the Syrians insisted. We will fight the Israelites in the valleys and win, because "Their god is god of the hills, but not of the valleys."

Many people today have a god for the hilltop experiences of life such as worship, church work, and inspiration, and another much less demanding god for the valley experiences of business and play. But the Biblical declaration is categorical and unqualified: "The Lord our God is one God." Elisha Douglass

Other Editors Say Gold In Books

(The Raleigh Times)

Looking for investments? You might try gold at over $600 an ounce. Or silver, expected to soar out of sight in the 80s. And then there are short-term notes paying almost 12 percent interest. Coin collecting is profitable, too. Or was. And what about art?

But then again, what about books? According to an article in The Durham Sun, a 1936 first edition of "Gone With the Wind" which probably cost under $3 is worth between $150 and $200 today. A 1934 first edition of Ernest Hemingway's "The Sun Also Rises" could sell for up to $300, and William Faulkner's 1926 edition of "Soldier's Pay" could command up to $1,000.

Surprisingly, newer volumes are valuable, too. A first edition "In Cold Blood" by Truman Capote could bring $25 today while the 1962 edition of Ken Kesey's "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" has a value of from $20 to $25.

Book collecting is a hit and miss thing, according to Michael Barnes, proprietor of Chapel Hill's Old Book Corner. "I recommend land", he said, noting that there's no way of telling what the book market will do.

But Barnes, who recalls that a copy of Cicero's works published in Venice in 1485 passed through his store once, predicts that it might be wise to hang on to copies of Vietnam War literature which he thinks may be valuable someday.

Anyone who has browsed through a second hand bookstore for hours at a time realizes how easily one can be infected by bookitis. Most second handers collect for the pleasure of reading and owning good books, although undoubtedly some have an eye on tomorrow's price tag.

But a bonus to book collecting is that while increasing the value of your estate, you are at the same time improving your mind. Which is more than can be said of gold or silver or comic books.

Economic Warfare Is Costly

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — Economic warfare is costly, no matter how or against whom it is practiced — against the Iranians for having taken Americans hostage or the Soviet Union for its involvement in Afghanistan.

The grain and high technology embargo against the Soviets may hurt an already weakened dollar, which depends on exports to regain strength. It can disrupt domestic markets, costing those involved as much as $300 million dollars, according to Agriculture Secretary Bob Berglund.

It may result in lost federal revenue and at the same time raise the level of government financing...which in turn could raise pressure on money markets and force domestic interest rates higher.

It may force authorities into making gasohol as an expedient to absorb excess grain rather than as part of a well-conceived and well-financed long-range energy conservation and production plan.

Conceivably, it could invite economic retaliation in some form from the Soviets, or perhaps lead to the loss of markets to other industrial nations that might fill the technology void.

Many Americans and their congressmen will be asking detailed questions over the next few days about who gets the better of the bargain, in view of the potential damage to the U.S. economy.

While Berglund stated that when they reopen "there's no reason for markets to change much from last Friday's close," experience suggests that such an assumption is based solely in hope and not on reason.

Closer to reality would be the assumption that markets will react wildly, as those holding contracts for future delivery seek to unload and potential buyers, having time on their side, bide their time.

Even if the federal government makes good on its plan to buy up much of the grain, the commodity apparently will stay in the United States, continuing to overhang the market and affecting prices from farmer to retailer and all those in between.

In technology, some producers have been furious at export restrictions even before the latest move. Control Data Corp., a producer of computer hardware and software, has been disturbed, having been denied sale to the Soviets of a sophisticated meteorological computer. The government said it had military uses.

One problem with restrictions on technology is that the United States no longer has a corner on the market. Licensing agreements have put American technology into the factories of Europe and Japan, and these nations also have developed competitive technology.

Economic pressure may be America's trump card. The world's biggest economy can perhaps win its way in a battle of asset-power, but the battle could upset its own game plan and diminish those assets too.

Economic warfare is painful as well as costly.

United Way Is Being Attacked

DENVER (AP) — United Way of America, the mammoth nationwide charity drive that raised more than $1.2 billion last year, is under attack for the way its 2,300 U.S. chapters raise and spend their money. Critics, chiefly a host of smaller philanthropic groups and health agencies that must compete for America's inflation-pinched charity dollar, are challenging United Way's historic monopoly on the cheapest and most lucrative form of fund-raising — on-the-job solicitation and payroll deductions. They also take issue with United Way's image as the chief spokesman for American charity.

Dozens of advocacy groups — like the Sierra Club, the Gray Panthers, the National Organization for Women, Zero Population Growth and the National Black United Fund — also are clamoring for a share of Americans' largess. Last month, a congressional panel recommended major reforms in the Combined Federal Campaign, the $80-million-a-year drive that United Way and several allied charities conduct among the 5 million civilian and military employees of the federal government.

Among the findings of the House Subcommittee on Civil Service, chaired by Rep. Pat Schroeder, D-Colo., was that non-United Way charities have been excluded from participating in the federal campaign.

The subcommittee recommended elimination of coercive tactics said to have been used during the federal campaigns.

University have new deans or chairpersons and an overall strengthening of programs is reported underway. Individual leaders have been given more authority to take action as the committee system is downplayed.

Improved
Slight improvement is reported in numbers of students enrolled in teacher-training courses for fields not in great demand, and an increase in training for newer, needed areas.

Continued professional growth among public school educators through in-service training is another recommendation, and major proposals along that line are expected later this year in a Quality Assurance Program proposal now being developed.

The most sweeping change has taken place in distribution of education programs at the University campuses. Emphasis is on eastern regional development, and graduate programs are being established at Fayetteville, Elizabeth City, Pembroke and Wilmington, and studied at Winston-Salem.

Also, 46 degree programs and tracks which were terminated, low in productivity, low in strength, or low in demand for graduates have been terminated, and another 69 are under review.

College faculty improvements to attract more experienced educators with higher degrees are also showing success.

Even my own brother-in-law, who has a solution to everything, had a blank look on his face when I mentioned the coup in Kabul."

"That's it then," he said, "you're just going to sit in your office reading the comics while Afghanistan goes down the drain?"

Series Of U.S. Actions Against Soviet Launched

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is formally setting in motion a series of measures against the Soviet Union in retaliation for what he calls "the greatest threat to peace since the Second World War."

Carter said Tuesday night that these measures will make the Soviet Union "suffer," but he acknowledged they probably will not force the Kremlin to withdraw its forces from Afghanistan.

Speaking to about 100 members of the House and Senate invited to the White House for a report on the situation in South-west Asia, Carter said there was nothing the United States could have done militarily to block the Soviet action.

Carter admitted that the retaliatory measures were aimed principally at influencing future — and not present — Soviet behavior but said that Moscow's intervention nonetheless posed a threat to American security interests.

If the Soviets suffered no adverse consequences, they would have been tempted "to move again and again until they reached the warm-water ports" or gained control of world oil supplies, Carter said.

The day after the Dec. 27 Soviet-sponsored coup in Afghanistan, Carter had compared the Soviet action to the Kremlin's use of armed force to put down uprisings in Hungary in 1956 and in Czechoslovakia in 1968.

But Tuesday, he said the intervention in Afghanistan was cause for greater concern because the target was a non-aligned state rather than nations that had long been in the Soviet sphere of influence.

Carter explained the rationale for his cutbacks in Soviet-American commercial and diplomatic ties this way:

"We hope that we have laid down a marker and let them (the Soviets) know that they will indeed suffer now and in the future."

Tuesday's measures included:

—Formal notification to the Soviets that they will not be allowed to open a planned consulate in New York and a directive that the 17 officials assigned to staff the consulate are to be sent home expeditiously. The Soviets also were informed that the United States will not open a consulate in Kiev and that the seven officially assigned there will be withdrawn.

—A directive to the Soviet airline Aeroflot to limit its roundtrip flights between the United States and the Soviet Union to two a week. Aeroflot had been allowed four such flights in summer weeks and three weekly the rest of the year.

—The dispatch of three Coast Guard cutters to Alaskan waters to enforce limitations on Soviet fishing in U.S. waters. Carter had announced Friday that the Soviet catch in U.S. waters would be limited to 75-

000 tons, compared with an expected catch this year of 435,000 tons.

—The adoption of licensing controls on the sale of agricultural exports to the Soviet Union and the suspension of licensing for high technology items. The latter action could affect the sale of $155 million in U.S. manufactured goods for which export license applications are pending, Commerce Department officials said.

The suspension of the sale of 17 million tons of grain to the Soviet Union has prompted a chorus of protests from Republican presidential candidates who claim that the administration is asking the American farmer to bear the brunt of its anti-Soviet measures.

In response, the administration announced Tuesday a boost in government support rates for wheat and corn. The wheat rates were pegged at $2.50 a bushel from $2.35 while corn supports were boosted to $2.10 per bushel from $2. This supplements a series of other actions already announced.

In addition, State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said there is "hardly a sector of American society" that is not arguing it should be exempt from the costs of the administration's retaliatory program.

He said critics of the program have tended to separate one aspect of the package and attack it as if it stands alone. Rather, he said, the package of U.S. actions — affecting farmers, businessmen and scholars interested in cultural exchange — should be viewed as a single unit.

One of the congressmen invited to the White House, Rep. Michael Barnes, said afterwards that Carter's remarks about the gravity of the situation were "acceptable political hyperbole and an effort to galvanize the international community in a way that didn't occur in the aftermath of the Soviet intervention in Czechoslovakia."

Barnes, a Maryland Democrat, quoted the president as saying that by the time the United States was able to bring the issue of the Czech invasion before the United Nations the "international furor had died down" and support for any concerted action had waned.

Silver Buys Lots Of Gas

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — A pocket full of silver will buy a lot of gas at a Leon Cooke's Shell station.

Cooke is offering $18 worth of gas for $1 in silver coins — as long as they're real silver. That means coins minted in or before 1964.

The offer started last Saturday, and Cooke originally pumped $15 worth of gas for $1 in coins. But he increased the amount to stay in line with the rising price of silver.

In silver markets in New York Tuesday, the precious metal closed at $31.75 an ounce. A dollar's worth of silver coins weighs about three-quarters of an ounce.

Cooke flashed a grin when he was asked how the offer was going and quickly produced two silver dollars from his pocket.

"We collected $20 worth of silver dimes on Monday," he said. "... People like a good deal."

Cooke said he had been thinking about trading gas for silver for quite a while but had held back until silver prices began to rise. He admits to making "a little extra profit" on the deal.

For the most part, he said, customers have reacted with surprise when they learn of the offer. Some tell him they are going home to get their silver; others seem a little skeptical, he said.

But Cooke said he thinks more people will begin bartering metals such as gold and silver for gas and other items.

"With the economy the way it is, this could develop into a trend in this country," he said.

Home Fire Kills Three Children

PAULSBORO, N.J. (AP) — A mid-morning fire believed started in the kitchen of a home here killed three preschool children and injured their 23-year-old mother, authorities said.

Police officer Roger De Stefano, the first police official to arrive at the fire Tuesday, said he and an unidentified neighbor tried to enter the house but were "forced back by a wall of flames coming down the stairwell."

Authorities identified the victims as Warren Hamilton, 4; Theodore, 3; and their sister Marketta, 1. Their mother, Lucy Hamilton, jumped from a bedroom window on the second floor, officials said.

Advisory Council Meets Thursday

The Parents' Advisory Council for Exceptional Children will hold its regularly scheduled meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Greenville City School's Administrative Office.

Mr. Steve Flora, Greenville City School's psychologist, will speak to the group. Members and interested persons are invited to attend.

Bertie Black Spokesmen Mourn Political 'Apathy'

WINDSOR, N.C. (AP) — Although 54 percent of Bertie County's residents are black, here has never been a black legislator, county commissioner, sheriff, clerk of court, judge, mayor or town commissioner in the county during this century.

The only blacks to win election are two Bertie Board of Education members — Helen Cooper in 1972 and the Rev. Andrew J. Cherry in 1976.

The public schools are 75 percent black.

are no longer interested in the public schools," said J. Winston Sessoms, a 56-year-old black political leader and director of community services for the Choanoke Area Development Association.

"There has been a direct change in attitudes in human relationships," Sessoms said. "But the same old system endures; (white landowners) still control."

the lack of blacks seeking office reflects the fact they have been responsive to black needs.

"Maybe it shows some contentment with what the whites are doing," said John A. Pritchett, an 83-year-old white attorney and member of the State Board of Election. "We don't hear too many complaints from blacks before the county commissioners."

Black leaders contend that apathy, lack of education and the exodus of potential leaders has hindered black political involvement. And the leaders also contend the whites have discouraged black participation.

Sessoms said Bertie's blacks have never voted as a bloc because the voters are spread out and there has been a tendency to vote for a well-known local white landowner.

"It's part of the Great White Father concept, (which says) whites always do more for blacks than blacks can do for themselves," Sessoms said.

The Rev. Cherry said Bertie County's black ministers, traditionally a source of political leadership in the South, are poorly educated and are mostly itinerant preachers with few community roots.

He said he was the only college-educated black minister in Bertie County for 20 years.

But blacks in Bertie County are making themselves heard more. In recent years, white officials have helped get three federally subsidized public housing projects and two federally subsidized day care centers in the county.

There are now several black deputy sheriffs and several blacks on the Windsor police force and in other government offices.

Angry, Scared Man Is Fined

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A Mecklenburg County man

was fined $1,500 this week for firing an AK-47 automatic rifle at a youth he thought had torn up his lawn in a car and was going to run him down.

Kenneth Rhoades, 35, pleaded no contest to assault with a deadly weapon in Mecklenburg County Superior Court. He said his lawn had been turfed — torn up by cars — and his mailbox knocked down four times before the July 9 incident occurred.

He said he meant to shoot out a tire although the spray of bullets hit the car and wounded the driver, Robert Shefte, 18, in the arm.

Judge Forrest Ferrell also ordered Rhoades to pay $1,261 restitution for Shefte's medical and car-repair bills. The judge imposed a two-year suspended sentence.

Rhoades' attorneys said the shooting was a "stupid act" by a scared man. They also said Shefte was "looking for trouble."

Rhoades said he went outside to investigate after seeing tire marks on the grass and, as he stood at the end of his driveway, a car approached and accelerated.

He jumped out of the car's path, he testified, and opened fire. Rhoades said he bought the Chinese Communist AK-47 as a "collector's item" three years ago. He said he was told it was set to fire only on a semi-automatic setting but it was automatic fire that came from the rifle on July 9.

Shefte testified he had attended a party that night and at one point, he said he drove onto the 17th green of a golf course. He said his family paid $5,000 for the damage.

Shefte said there were five bullet holes in the outside of his car and 12 to 15 holes in the backseat.

Ferrell said he will order that the AK-47 be destroyed unless the FBI wants to prosecute Rhoades for not having the required Treasury Department permit for the weapon.

Challenge Is Dismissed

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The state Court of Appeals has upheld a ruling by a Wake County Superior Court Judge that dismissed a constitutional challenge to North Carolina's liquor-by-the-drink law.

The Court of Appeals found Tuesday that the case was properly dismissed on all grounds but one — the court found the judge erred in addressing the constitutionality of the law in ruling on the motion to dismiss.

The appeals court didn't make any finding on the 1978 law's constitutionality. The law allows communities with ABC systems to hold local referendums on mixed-drink sales.

Four persons had filed the suit last January against the state Board of Alcoholic Control, the state attorney general and others. It asked the law be declared unconstitutional.

Judge James H. Pou Bailey dismissed the case last March. He concluded the plaintiffs had no legal standing to sue in the matter. The appeals court said that to have standing, the four would have had to show that the law would invade their legally protected interests and would cause them immediate harm.

But the appeals court ruled that it was improper to decide the constitutionality of the law in ruling on a motion to dismiss.

OSCAR EWING DIES

Bert Parks' Career Has Been Boosted

By PETER MATTIACE
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Bert Parks, America's first cause celebre of the 1980s, says his career is zooming since he was fired as host of the Miss America Pageant.

"My God, man. I thought here you were with another job offer and I was going to have to turn you down." The 65-year-old Parks said when he answered the telephone at his Hollywood, Fla., home. Meanwhile, Albert A. Marks Jr., the pageant chief who canned Parks, says he is considering four men to sing "There She Is" to the next Miss America in September. He refused to identify the prospects, but ruled out a number of possible hosts whose names have been making the rounds.

Parks said Tuesday that job offers have been "unbelievable" since Marks announced he had not been invited back for his 26th consecutive pageant. Marks — himself 67 — said the 59-year-old beauty contest dismissed Parks because it wanted a more youthful image.

Parks said he has been asked to do several guest appearances on television shows and many national television and radio commercials. He will soon perform previously offered parts on television's "Love Boat" and "WKRP in Cincinnati," Parks said.

Parks said he has not received any serious offers to emcee beauty pageants. But officials of the Miss Hemisphere Pageant in Philadelphia announced Tuesday they want Parks to emcee their 17th show in August.

In addition, Seaside Heights, N.J., Mayor George Tompkins has offered Parks the emcee's job at the town's Most Beautiful Grandmother contest.

Marks, an investment banker, said a decision on Parks' replacement will be made in about three weeks.

"He will be male. He will be ideally between the ages of 30 and 45. He will have an instantly recognizable name," Marks said.

"He will be of the general type of Bert Parks in that he will continue to inspire comments in the girls themselves while not stealing the spotlight away from them," Marks said.

He said the new host "definitely will not be" Merv Griffin, John Davidson, Mac Davis, Gavin MacLeod or Ed McMahon, who have all been mentioned for the job.

"Ed McMahon didn't even sell knives so good on the Boardwalk," said Marks, referring to McMahon's early days as a summer pitchman.

McMahon performs with Johnny Carson on NBC-TV's

"Tonight Show." Carson, who says Parks is an American institution, has been leading a campaign to have Parks rehired.

As a result of that campaign and drives by newspaper columnists and disc jockeys around the country, the pageant's offices have received more than 10,000 postcards and letters demanding Parks' return.

Nevada State Sen. Wilbur Faiss — age 68 — urged senior citizens Monday to boycott the contest, calling the firing "a blatant case of age discrimination and a slap at America's senior citizens."

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JAN. 10, 1980

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: If you are truly cooperative in your relations with other persons you will be able to get much of value done. But anything you do that is of a drastic or dramatic nature can put you behind the eight ball and cause a difficult upheaval. Consider all aspects of any plan you have in mind.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't upset your romantic life over some silly matter that doesn't amount to anything. Be alert to possible trickery by others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A fellow worker could tax your nerves if you are not tactful. Show that you are an efficient worker and gain benefits.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't argue with anyone over money and this becomes a fine day. Start a new enterprise that has been difficult to do before.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Petty annoyances at home could lead to much unpleasantness. It's best you overlook them. Evening is fine for entertaining at home.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Keep any meetings with others harmonious otherwise it could cause a severance of connections. Use particular care in travel.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are tempted to spend too much and could regret it later, so be sensible. Improve surroundings in ways that are not costly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Forget business for now and improve your personal life. Join with interesting friends who can be of help to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) This is not a good time to make changes which you could later regret, so stick to the status quo. Evening can be delightful with a loved one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be a good friend and show others you like them for themselves alone and you get like response. Add to present happiness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get involved in community affairs and do not permit a conniving person to waste your time. Take time for personal correspondence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have a fascinating project you are working on, so don't permit a selfish person to keep you from it. Not a good day for travel.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Not a good time for making radical changes but fine for maintaining poise with everyone. Understand better what kin expect of you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be successful provided you teach early to finish whatever has been started. There is much ability at neatness and precision. One who is interested in religious matters, so have good books around early.

When City Police Go On Strike

By ROGER GILLOTT
Associated Press Writer
SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Shops are being robbed, private security firms are cashing in and well-to-do residents are considering private neighborhood patrols as this wealthy seaside city's first police strike goes into its seventh day today.

"There are a lot of paranoid people out there, especially in the wealthy neighborhoods," said Bill Wagner, owner of Presidio Security Systems, which has doubled its night patrols to meet demand.

In the Riviera section of the city, on a wooded ridge where homes valued $200,000 to $500,000 overlook the Pacific Ocean, the homeowners association planned to consider later today a proposal to hire private security guards.

Police said no increase in home burglaries has been reported so far in the week-old strike, but shop owners were hard hit as a skeleton police force of nine officers patrolled a city of 75,000 people on Monday. The normal complement is 25.

"We still have an abbreviated staff of the same dying old men," Police Chief James Glavis said wearily, noting that he and all lieutenants and captains are working 12-and 14-hour shifts.

Glavis said public security was being limited to life-endangering emergencies and major crimes.

At least seven commercial burglaries, including a $50,000 jewelry theft discovered when the downtown store reopened Monday, have been attributed to the shortage of police, said police Capt. Charles Thompson.

Thompson said the jewelry robbery may have been committed early Sunday while the three officers on duty were bogged down keeping spectators away from firefighters at three downtown arson fires.

The fires, set within a three-block area within a 90-minute period, caused an estimated $375,000 damage to a dress shop, a shoe store and a machine shop. No injuries were reported. Two people sleeping in an apartment above the dress shop when that fire broke out around 3 a.m. escaped safely in their nightclothes.

A fourth arson at a downtown business on Monday caused only minor damage.

Banks and other businesses were beefing up their security.

"The phone has been ringing off the hook. We have taken on 11 new clients already today," said Bob Pentecost, owner of WBC Security Inc.

Pentecost, whose firm specializes in providing guards for shopping centers and other buildings, said business is up 20 percent and he has hired several striking police officers to fill his demand for guards.

"The stores are bearing the brunt of the crime," he said. "One of them who called us had already been robbed twice."

The Santa Barbara Museum of Art, which was the target of a $1 million art theft in December 1978, refused to discuss its security measures. In the 1978 theft, three turn-of-the-century paintings by French impressionist Claude Monet were stolen. The paintings were recovered, and the museum's former security chief, Ron Mousouris, was convicted of grand theft and sentenced to spend one year in jail and pay a $3,000 fine.

The 100 officers on the force walked off the job late last Wednesday in a dispute that centered as much on a proposed merit system as on financial issues.

The city is offering a one-year contract with an 8 percent across-the-board wage increase, plus up to a 5 percent "incentive" increase based on merit.

The union is demanding a 12 percent across the board increase, saying it opposes the merit plan because it is too vague and would leave raises too much to the whim of administrators.

The yearly wage for police officers now ranges from $19,188 to $21,762, city officials said.

The police walkout is the first strike by municipal employees in city history.

Afghan Rebels Claim Three Districts Are Taken

By BARRY SHLACHTER
Associated Press Writer
KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — The Afghan rebels claimed their guerrillas have taken over three more districts of Afghanistan near the Soviet border and captured two towns near the Pakistani frontier, but Soviet forces were reported in control of most major cities and towns in the Central Asian country. Rebel sources said their fighters took control of three districts in the northern province of Kunduz, some 25 miles from the Soviet border, and captured two towns in Laghman Province, northeast of Kabul, and about 40 miles from the border with Pakistan's Northwest

Frontier Province. The rebels told reporters in Islamabad, Pakistan, that the guerrillas were aided by defectors from the Afghan army who deserted because they oppose the Soviet military occupation of the country. Afghan sources and Asian diplomats in Kabul, the Afghan capital, said the estimated 100,000 Soviet troops in the country were encountering armed resistance in at least five provinces. Bamian province, northwest of Kabul, was under guerrilla control, reliable sources said. The mechanized Soviet forces were unable to penetrate the area because villagers blocked the main highway to the east with landslides and the mountain road to the west was impassable because of snow, the informants said. The mood of the public in Kabul was a mixture of seething anger and resignation toward the Soviet forces that ousted communist President Hafizullah Amin on Dec. 27 and then fanned out across the country to try to put down the 20-month-old rebellion by anticommunist Moslem tribesmen. Amin was executed, and the Russians brought another communist, Babrak Karmal, home from exile in Czechoslovakia to replace him.

"Unless there is some powerful force to kick them out of here, which there is not, the Russians will never leave," said a military academy graduate who sympathizes with the guerrillas. A Soviet veto killed a resolution Monday in the U.N. Security Council deploring the intervention in Afghanistan and calling for the immediate withdrawal of all foreign forces. The resolution was introduced by five non-aligned members of the council after a three-day debate in which most speakers condemned the Soviet intervention. The council vote was 13-2 in favor of the resolution, with only the Soviet Union and East Germany opposing it, but the negative Soviet vote constituted a veto that killed the resolution. The United States and other opponents of the Soviet action were discussing whether to take their case against the Russians to the General Assembly, where the big-power veto does not apply. An assembly debate would produce more publicized condemnations of the Soviet action and probably a resolution calling for withdrawal of the Soviet troops but no punitive action. President Carter in an interview with John Chancellor of NBC said the United States is trying to form an international consortium of Western nations and Mideast oil countries to channel military aid to Pakistan because of the big Soviet force next door in Afghanistan.

Repeaters For Grammy Award

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Doobie Brothers and Rickie Lee Jones made dazzling debuts and Donna Summer and Kenny Rogers were distinguished repeaters in the nominations for the 22nd annual Grammy Awards.

After a decade of togetherness but no Grammy nominations, the Doobie Brothers hit it big with their "Minute By Minute" album Tuesday with bids in six categories — record of the year, album of the year, best pop performance by a group and, for brother Michael McDonald, two songs of the year and a best arrangement accompanying vocalist nominations.

Miss Jones, whose debut collection of streetwise songs was released early last year, was nominated for best new artist, best female rock performance for "The Last Chance Texaco" and best female pop performance for "Chuck E.'s in Love," which also earned her a song of the year nomination.

In the most diversified performance of the day, the sultry Miss Summer — who won a Grammy last year for "Last Dance" — was nominated in three performing categories: pop, rock and rhythm and blues. Her "Bad Girls" album was nominated for album of the year and her recording of "Hot Stuff" for best disco record.

The silvery bearded Rogers, who won a Grammy two years ago for "Lucille," won heavily on "The Gambler" with nominations for record of the year, album of the year and best male country performance.

The National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences 4,500 members will vote on a staggering 336 nominees in a record 58 categories, including four new ones in rock, and one new category each for disco and jazz-fusion. The Feb. 27 awards ceremonies will be televised from Los Angeles by CBS.

Opera On Tour Realized Dream

NEW YORK (AP) — For Beverly Sills it was a "dream come true" — a touring opera company where young gifted performers could gain invaluable experience from performing the same work — "La Traviata" — two or three times a week.

Miss Sills, the general director of the New York City Opera, announced Tuesday the creation of the National Opera Touring Company.

The company of 36 singers and 27 instrumentalists will begin the tour Oct. 5 in New York, make its way through the Midwest and close in Los Angeles.

Miss Sills said the company, which is budgeted for five weeks in the fall and three weeks in the spring, hopes to give 40 performances during its maiden tour.

Union Pacific And Missouri Pacific Eye A Giant Merger

By FLOYD NORRIS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific railroads, joining a merger binge brought on by the belief that energy problems will be good for the nation's rail system, have proposed a nearly $1 billion marriage that would create the nation's largest railroad.

The announcement Tuesday stunned the rail industry and seemed certain to provoke strong opposition from competing railroads, who fear the business muscle of such a line.

"The move will firmly position the two railroads for the future and create a strong central core to the nation's rail system," said Union Pacific Chairman James H. Evans.

The merged line would stretch from the West Coast to Chicago and the Gulf of Mexico and would replace the Burlington Northern as the largest railroad in the country.

Approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission would be needed for the merger, a process expected to take at least two years. Competing railroads declined public comment, but Wall Street analysts said strong opposition is a virtual certainty.

The deal was the latest manifestation of a merger fever that is sweeping the rail industry, which sees rising energy costs as helping it compete with trucks and planes and believes larger railroads can benefit from economies of scale.

In other proposals pending before the ICC, Burlington Northern is seeking to acquire the smaller Frisco line and Seaboard Coast Lines is trying to merge with the Chessie System.

Under the deal, Missouri Pacific shareholders would get Union Pacific stock with a market value estimated by analysts at $60 to $63 a share, or a total value of $945.6 million to $992.9 million.

Besides creating the nation's largest railroad, the merger would link two companies with strong natural resources operations. Missouri Pacific operates a natural gas pipeline between Louisiana and St. Louis and is engaged in gas exploration and production in Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas. Union Pacific owns Champlain Petroleum Co., an oil producer, and has interests in coal and uranium.

The largest railroad merger ever was the ill-fated one that created the Penn Central Railroad. That combination of Eastern lines eventually ended in bankruptcy, but analysts said the Union Pacific-Missouri Pacific combination appeared to make more economic sense.

Hypnosis Helps

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Durham police were having difficulty finding information about the New Year's day slaying of a 16-year-old boy until they decided to hypnotize three people in connection with the investigation.

Now using hypnosis and the more-traditional method of contacting possible informants, detectives say they may be closing in on a suspect.

The boy, Henry Cotton, and three friends were returning from a disco early Jan. 1 when a bullet smashed through the pickup truck Cotton was driving and hit him in the head.

Now police say they believe Cotton was the victim of a random killing — that his killer did not know him.

Capt. Worth Hill and Sgt. George Hare have hypnotized three passers-by. The first two witnesses gave police a suspect's hair color and details of a car that could have been the one used by the killer.

They also gave the police some numbers from a license plate, but the numbers could be in any sequence. Police are running the numbers through a computer to see if they can find a match.

Both witnesses told the same story under hypnosis, police say.

Cotton was a junior varsity basketball player at Northern High School. Investigator C.E. Britt says the boy was well liked and he knows of no one who may have wanted to kill Cotton.

Gave 121 Pts. To Bloodmobile

The Bloodmobile had a successful visit Monday at Pitt Community College with PCC students and staff turning out to donate 121 pints of blood.

Pitt blood chairman Ott Alford said that the PCC visit, the first there in recent years, resulted in the "best showing ever" at the college and came at a critical time of the year for the blood program.

Alford said that in addition to the 121 units collected, another 23 persons were deferred for various health reasons, for an overall turnout of 144 persons.

The blood chairman offered his appreciation to Betty Roberson of the PCC staff for her coordination of the visit, and the Student Government Association for assisting in the blood drive.

Alford also thanked the nursing association at Pitt Community College for helping during the special visit, and also members of Gamma Beta Pi, an honor society at PCC, for their involvement in the drive. He expressed appreciation to the "many volunteers who assisted yesterday."

HOUSING AUTHORITY — Carl Blackwood, a new appointment.

HOUSING AUTHORITY GRIEVANCE PANEL — Richard Dupree, a reappointment.

The board authorized the town administrator to sell bus bars and appurtenances to Carolina Power and Light Company at nominal cost. This action was brought about by a change in the point of delivery of electricity from the wholesaler to the town made last year.

A bid was awarded to Encee Chemicals for purchase of the caustic soda used in the town's wastewater treatment plant operations. Howerton Gowen, the current supplier, received the bid for purchase of liquid chlorine for the plant.

An ordinance was adopted directing repair or demolition of a residence at 1011 S. Main Street owned by Mary Parker Brooks and one at 203 S. Williams Street owned by L. S. Willoughby. The first is unoccupied; the second occupied by a person who reportedly runs a junkyard which violates town ordinances.

Authorization was given for the printing of a final draft of an Industrial Park Feasibility Study done for the Farmville Economic Council by Pridgen Consultants. This work is being done under an Economic Development Administration grant to the town which originated several years ago.

discrimination, the Board voted to use the 30 days allowed them by HEW to comply to formulate a plan dealing effectively with the government's demands.

The Board went to two executive sessions to discuss personnel matters and a land site acquisition. In the sessions, they voted to take action to begin acquisition of around 25 acres of land near Ayden.

Also covered at Tuesday's meeting were sanitation reports supplied by the Health Department which showed the County's schools received a clean bill of health. It was also reported that the porch at Ayden Middle School had been repaired and is being prepared for use again. The old Stokes-Pactolus facility demolition work will be completed in March. While discussing these concerns, the Board approved a motion to put carpet in Ayden Middle School if the budget allows.

The Board also resolved to implement an inclement weather provision to the state's two-tenths of a mile regulation for school bus stops as well as supporting action that an overpass be built over the proposed eastern loop connecting the present 264 Farmville bypass and the proposed 264 extension to Greenville.

A new exam policy and grade averaging policy was adopted by the board and $300 was appropriated for oil spill equipment.

The Board voted against a plan of community recreation presented by Alice Keene that involves matching government funds. An amended budget resolution motion was carried.

Big Rally Lifts Rampants To Victory

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Rose High School, down 18 points in the first half, rallied with a firm defense in the second and pulled out a 64-60 victory over Bertie Senior High last night.

"We were just dead in the first half," Coach Jim Brewington said, shaking his head, after it was finally over. "We had lousy play from everyone. It was just like we'd practiced on Monday. I told them that they'd play that way too, but they didn't believe me until halftime."

At halftime, however, the Rampants believed. And they went back out and made believers out of the Falcons. The Rose zone press trap proved too much for the Falcons, who made turnover after turnover during the second half. Rose, which had shot poorly in the first half, also found its eye, and went to the boards also. "I'm proud of the way we came back," Brewington said. "We were down 18 and didn't cave in. But games like this make you get old."

Rose, with no rebounding, poor shooting and a number of turnovers, couldn't seem to get started in the first period, while Bertie, with good shooting streaked out to a 12-point lead. After Rose pulled into a 6-6 tie, Bertie ripped off the next ten in a row as Rose scored only one basket and just those two points in the final five minutes of play. Bertie used that to build up a 20-8 lead. In the second period, Rose began to go to the boards, but still had no shooting eye, hitting just seven of 21 shots. Bertie, pouring in six of nine from the floor, and five of six at the line, continued to build its lead, extending it to 18 at one point. Rose never put more than one basket with another until Bertie, led by Stanley Push and Clarence Hayes, bulled out to a 34-16 lead with 3:19 left in the half.

Rose offered a slim comeback after that, cutting it back to 13, but trailed, 37-23 at intermission. Rose played outstanding defense in the third period, forcing nine turnovers. They also held a good rebounding margin, and got their shooting going, hitting ten of 19. Led by Calvin Whichard and Donald House, the Rampants fought back to within two, 47-45, with 1:04 left, but Bertie was able to pull back out into a 53-47 lead by the end of the period.

The Rampants, hitting five of eight in the final period and seven of eight from the line, cashed in on the first ten points of the second half without a miss, including three-point plays by House and Cliff Kilpatrick. That rushed the Rampants into a 57-53 lead with 6:21 left. Rose appeared to get a little careless after that, allowing Bertie to pull back within striking distance, but they were able to hold the Falcons off, never allowing them within three the rest of the way.

East Carolina Seeks To Bounce Back Against Baptist College

East Carolina University's basketball Pirates complete their current two-game road trip with a visit to Charleston, S.C., Thursday night to face Baptist College.

The Pirates came into the game following a heart-breaking loss to Oral Roberts University on Monday, 83-82. In that game, the Pirates, down by 11 points in the first half, rallied to take as much as an 11 point lead midway through the second half, then saw their lead evaporate. The Pirates missed eight opportunities at the foul line in the second half, including several in the closing minutes that could have made the difference. The loss left the Pirates with a 6-7 record thus far, going into the game with Baptist. Their hosts, however, will come in with no more than one victory—and they have to beat Campbell tonight to pull that off. They go into that game tonight with an 0-7 record.

Forward Eddie Talley (6-7) leads the Baptist scoring with a 15.1 average, while 6-4 guard Eric Tennille is second in scoring with a 13.4 mark. The other forward, Glenn Duncan, also 6-7, is hitting 10.9 per game. The Pirates will be led by George Maynor and Herb Krusen, both of whom are averaging in double figures, while Herb Gray is coming off one of his better games of the year against ORU. Krusen has reached the stage where he is a candidate for the 1,000-Point Club of the Pirates. Going into the game Thursday, Krusen has 926 career points. Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m. The Pirates return home to play host to Atlantic Christian on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Minges Coliseum. They return to the road on Monday to face James Madison in Harrisonburg, Va., then close out the month of January with two more home games, against Baptist and UNC-Wilmington.

Reginald Knight led the Panthers with 23 points while Melvin Simmons had 22 and Vince Parker had 12. John Battle led the 'Birds with 15, while Dexter High had 13. The North Pitt girls rolled up a 15-6 lead in the first quarter and extended that to 31-14 by halftime. They continued to pull away, upping their lead to 54-20 by the end of the third. Southern was allowed a 10-4 comeback in the final frame.

Connie Dupree led the Panthers with 15, while Carolyn Best had 10 and Starla Singleton had 11. Betsy Alston had 12 to pace Southern Nash. North Pitt travels to Charles B. Aycock on Friday. JV—North Pitt 59, Southern Nash 50.

NCAA, Despite Threat Of Suit, Heads Into Women's Athletics

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association concluded its 74th annual convention Tuesday a day early and on what many delegates felt was a "momentous and historic" note — possibly opening the door for the embrace of women's athletics.

Beginning in 1981, the 282 Division II and 180 Division III NCAA members will offer championships in women's basketball, field hockey, swimming, tennis and volleyball. "This is a momentous decision, a historic decision," said one delegate. The next step, many believe, will be the inclusion of women's sports in Division I, the Notre Dames, Oklahomas, Southern Cal and Alabamas of the college sports world.

However, the venerable, male-dominated NCAA may have a fight on its hands. The Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (IAIW) threatened in a telegram last weekend to take legal action if the NCAA adopted women's championships. And many delegates seemed in sympathy. Gail Fullerton, president of San Jose State University, a Division I school, said the action Tuesday could "sound the death knell for the IAIW."

In other notable developments Tuesday, the convention: —Narrowly rejected a proposal to force Division I basketball schools without football programs to sponsor eight sports; —Tightened recruiting restrictions in football and basketball; —Adopted a resolution to support any decision President Carter might make to boycott the 1980 Moscow Olympics because of the Russian invasion of Afghanistan.

The resolution was submitted by Robert Sweet, president of Rhode Island University and unanimously adopted as the convention's final act. Sweet said the resolution was prompted in part by remarks Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, made in an Associated Press story Sunday. Sweet acknowledged the NCAA is aware of the "major sacrifice" a boycott would cause American athletes who have been preparing for the games for years. "But athletes," he said, "more than any others, must understand the importance of self-sacrifice for the greater good."

After much emotional debate on the women's issues, the proposals carried in both divisions by greater than expected. The Division I schools, led by the Pacific-10 Conference, then unsuccessfully attempted to have the votes rescinded. The threat to the IAIW is financial. Using money from its richly successful basketball tournament, the NCAA pays all team expenses, including a per diem stipend, for all championship events. The IAIW does not. Most schools hold joint membership in both organizations and Fullerton pointed out, "In these days of continuing financial restrictions, given a choice of championships to go to, would choose the least expensive."

California Angel designated hitters led the American League in that department in 1979 with a .318 average.

Aycock Runs Past Chargers

PIKEVILLE — Ayden-Grifton's Chargers tried to let the air out of the ball against the Falcons of Charles B. Aycock High School last night, but ended up getting shot down in the final two periods, suffering a 49-25 defeat.

The Ayden-Grifton girls took a 51-40 decision in their game. Trying to slow down the high-flying Falcons, Ayden-Grifton slowed it down in the first half and into the second half. They inched into an 8-6 lead after one period, but found themselves trailing the Falcons at halftime, 13-12.

In the third period, the stall continued to work, but Aycock began to break it and pulled away, building up an eight-point lead. After that, the Chargers were forced to run with the Falcons, and were blown away. Ayden-Grifton 70, C.B. Aycock 62.

Farmville Guards Too Hot For Vikes

By RICK SCOPPE
Reflector Sports Writer

FARMVILLE — It was a night D.H. Conley coach Shelley Marsh would probably just as soon forget. For Farmville Central, however, it was a night to remember, as the Jaguars handed the Vikings only their second loss of the season, 60-46, Tuesday evening.

The win left Farmville and Conley tied for the lead in the Eastern Carolina Conference, with identical 6-2 marks. The Jaguars are 10-4 overall while the Vikings are 11-2.

Earlier, in the girls' game, the Valkyries surprised the Lady Jaguars, 53-47.

Led by the outside shooting of guards Dennis Pitt, who finished with 18 points, and Mike Horne, who had 17, the Jaguars were hot from the outset, moving to an early 10-point lead over the Vikings, who never got closer than three points the entire game.

"They were ready for us," said Marsh, whose team was led by Sammy Tucker's 12 points. "They just shot the eyes out of the basket and we didn't shoot that well. When your best shooter goes 0-8 you know you're in trouble."

"This was, though, an abnormal night," Marsh added. "When you've got your hand in their face and they're still making it from way out, well, you know they're hot."

Shelley found no disagreement from Farmville coach Mike Terrell.

"We shot very well," Terrell said. "The key was that our shots were going in and their's weren't."

"We were ready for them tonight," he added. "We lost earlier in the season to them in overtime and there was probably a little revenge factor going in."

Terrell was obviously happy with the win, but even more so because his squad had stayed out of foul trouble, something that has plagued them throughout the year.

"We've got a lot of guys who played football and we had a tendency to commit a lot of fouls," Terrell said. "We lost a lot of games in which we had many more field goals than our opponents — in fact, in every game we've had more field goals than our opponents, but we've been hurt at the foul line."

"Tonight, they shot only five foul shots and we stayed out of foul trouble," he added. "Still, you'd have to say this wasn't one of their better performances."

It was, however, one of Farmville's best to date.

The Jaguars jumped out to an 18-8 first-period lead on the outside shooting of Horne, who had eight in the quarter, and Pitt, who added six.

Conley, forced into numerous turnovers by an active 2-3 zone in the first period, scored the first 10 points of the second quarter to cut the deficit to two, 20-18, behind the inside play of Sammy Tucker, who finished the half with 10 points.

Farmville pulled ahead, 25-20, moments later but Sammy Tyson, coming off the Vikings' bench, scored the last six points for Conley, pulling them to within three, at 29-26, at the break.

The Jaguars, as they did in the first period, came out in the third quarter and hit nearly everything they could get in the air. Farmville led seven straight points and led, 35-26, midway through the period.

After a Conley bucket by Tucker, the Jaguars rattled off eight more points before a last second jumper by Conley's Keith Gatlin from just inside half court swished through the net, sending the game into the fourth period with Farmville up, 45-30.

The Jaguars continued to build their lead, which reached as many as 18 before ending with a 14-point victory.

In the girls' game, Tilda Garis poured in 21 points and Glenda Green added 11 and the Valkyries overcame 22 points by Farmville's Pam Moye to win their sixth game of the season against five losses.

D.H. Conley, now 5-3 in the league, jumped out to a 15-10 first-quarter lead and extended its advantage to 29-22 at the half mainly on the outside shooting of Garris and the inside play of Green.

The Valkyries, who shot 50 percent from the floor for the night, continued to mount their advantage in the second half, moving out to a 41-33 third-quarter bulge. The Jaguars got within five late in the fourth period but could get no closer as they lost their fourth game of the year in 12 starts.

"Our outside shooting was really good tonight," Conley coach Norma Respass said. "We're finally getting the girls to take the outside shot."

"That, and our fast break, really helped us," she continued. "Our outside shooting got us the lead and then our fast break got going. They seemed more hesitant than I thought they'd be in getting back to cover it."

"I'm just really pleased with the win," she added. "I think this shows our girls that they can beat most of the teams in the conference, except Southwest Edgecombe, and they're in a class by themselves. But its gonna take pure-tee hustle."

North Lenoir Tops Greene

SNOW HILL — North Lenoir paid a visit to Greene Central last night and before they left the gym, the Rams had hollared "Uncle."

Coach Louis Godwin, however, feels that "foul" may have been the better word.

North Lenoir, scoring only six field goals in the second half, won their way to a 73-65 victory at the foul line, a place where they made 45 stops during the evening, cashing in on 31 of those.

"They shot 33 free throws in the second half," Godwin commented. "We shot only three during the half and never got to a one-and-one. Maybe I'm just seeing our half of it, but I thought it looked the same on both ends of the court."

The two teams played even in the first period, 12-12, but the Rams managed to sneak out into a 36-32 lead at intermission. They again played dead even in the third, with the Rams holding on to their lead, 54-50. But in the final period, North Lenoir's free throw shooting provided a 23-11 margin, and the Hawks charged to the win.

Mike White led North Lenoir with 23, while Eugene Connors had 20, Kevin Battle had 11 and Isaac Heath had 10. David Joyner led the Rams with 23.

In the girls' game, North Lenoir held on for a 40-39 win over the Lady Rams. Greene Central inched into an 8-7 lead after one period, but North Lenoir pulled ahead, 17-16, at the half. The Hawks continued to pull away, building their lead to 29-22 during the third period.

In the final period, Greene Central rallied, closing the gap to 40-39 on the first of two free throws. The second was missed, but the Rams got the rebound, but missed a final chance when their shot missed with eight seconds left.

Sharon Gillette led North Lenoir with 10, while Leatha Taylor had 21 to pace the Rams.

Lifegate In Second Loss

KINSTON — Bethel Christian Academy gained a 43-37 victory over Lifegate Christian last night.

Terry Duncan led Lifegate with 25 points, while Mike Beard had ten to pace Bethel.

Now 0-2, Lifegate will entertain Calvary Christian at 10 a.m. Saturday at Chicod School. Both the girls and boys teams will be playing.

New Mexico Probe Is Nationwide Symptom

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Eligibility and transcript troubles that have rocked the University of New Mexico's athletic program may be part of a nationwide problem, authorities say.

"The investigation that UNM has conducted and made public is causing a review by many junior colleges across the nation of their curriculums and method of instruction," said R.E. Thompson, U.S. attorney in charge of the UNM probe.

The UNM regents have picked a special investigator to conduct a probe and to coordinate information from various investigations into the UNM athletic program.

The UNM athletic department has been plagued by problems since the FBI disclosed in November it was investigating possible mail fraud and bribery in connection with the junior college transcripts of a Lobo basketball player.

The Albuquerque FBI office has sent copies of a report on its investigation for information purposes to FBI offices in 11 other cities — Portland, Los Angeles, Las Vegas, Kansas City, New Orleans, Newark, N.J., Butte, Mont., Phoenix, San Antonio, and Dallas.

Former UNM head basketball Coach Norm Ellenberger and his assistant Manny Goldstein were suspended, and a Lobo basketball player was declared ineligible after the FBI released a transcript, contained in a sworn affidavit in U.S. District Court, of a wiretapped telephone conversation between Ellenberger and Goldstein concerning the doctoring of transcripts.

Ellenberger was later fired after Goldstein resigned.

Six more UNM basketball players were later declared ineligible when the players said they had not enrolled in or attended a course given by Ottawa College of Kansas for which they had been given credit.

It was later learned that three UNM football players, also declared ineligible, had received Ottawa credits without attending classes.

UNM forfeited six 1979 football and one basketball victory this season because the ineligible players had played in those games.

Forrest Putman, special agent in charge of the Albuquerque FBI office, said he did not know how far the troubles at UNM might spread.

"Right now it's hard to say," he said. "A lot of it is going to be up to the Justice Department and U.S. attorneys in other jurisdictions."

Many of the decisions as to how far the investigation will be pursued nationwide will depend on higher authorities in Washington, D.C., Putman said.

ROBERSONVILLE — Roanoke High School rolled to a 77-53 victory over Roanoke Rapids in a Northeastern Conference basketball game last night. Roanoke also took the girls game by a 32-42 score.

Maurice Chance's 36 points led the way as the Redskins captured the conference contest. Roanoke pulled out to an 18-12 lead in the first period and extended that to 36-20 by halftime.

The Redskins continued on the warpath in the second half, raising their lead to 62-39 midway through. They out-scored the Yellow Jackets, 15-14, in the final quarter.

In addition to Chance's 36, Anthony Latham and Donald Weathersbee each added ten. Travis Hite led Roanoke Rapids with 19.

In the girls' game, Roanoke powered to a 13-2 lead in the first period and held a 32-20 lead at the half. They upped that to 39-22 in the third frame and allowed a 20-13 rally by the Lady Jackets in the final quarter.

Gervin Scores 53, But Spurs Still Nearly Blow The Victory

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

It was a typical game for the San Antonio Spurs.

George "Ice" Gervin scored 53 points, the Spurs totalling 137 and still they almost lost to the Denver Nuggets because of their matador defense — wave both arms and get out of the way as your man drives by.

"We had an unbelievable offensive performance by Ice, but we had to struggle to win because we play no defense," said San Antonio Coach Doug Moe after his club edged the Nuggets 137-134 Tuesday night.

San Antonio, which leads the National Basketball Association in scoring but is dead last in defense, held a 134-126 margin with 1:38 remaining. The Nuggets pulled within one at 135-134 on a three-point goal by David Thompson, but two free throws by James Silas with 16 seconds left gave the Spurs a three-point advantage.

Bobby Wilkerson and John

Roche missed three-point tries for the Nuggets in the closing seconds.

76ers 111, Knicks 108

Julius Erving scored 29 points and Maurice Cheeks and Darryl Dawkins added 20 apiece as the Sixers won their sixth game in the last seven starts and ended New York's five-game winning streak. The Knicks fought back from a 13-point third-quarter deficit but Cheeks scored five points down the stretch to keep Philadelphia on top.

Rockets 118, Cavaliers 115

Moses Malone scored 40 points and grabbed 21 rebounds for Houston, and won the game with a three-point play with 28 seconds left in overtime. The Cavs had several chances to tie, but Randy Smith and Mike Mitchell failed on attempted three-point field goals.

Clippers 124, Kings 116

Guards Lloyd Free, Brian Taylor and Freeman Williams combined for 86 points as the Clippers stopped Kansas City's four-game winning streak. San Diego built a 21-point lead in the third quarter and then held on.

Otis Birdsong, Kansas City's high-scoring guard, managed just 14 points and shot a dismal 1-for-12 in the first half.

Bulls 110, Bucks 102

Reserves John Mengelt and Dwight Jones led Chicago past Milwaukee, Mengelt scoring 18 points and Jones hitting three baskets in the final period.

Jazz 124, Pistons 110

Adrian Dantley's 34 points led Utah past Detroit in a matchup of the NBA's two losingest teams. The Jazz went ahead to stay in the third period, when Tom Boswell scored 11 of his 23 points.

Pacers 122, Blazers 118

Mickey Johnson scored on an offensive rebound with 40 seconds left to break a 116-116 tie and the Pacers went on to end a five-game losing streak.

WILLIAMSTON — Williamston High School got back on the winning track last night, sweeping a pair of games from Tarboro. The Tiger boys won their game, 53-48, while the girls took a 60-36 decision.

The action started slow in the varsity boys' game, with Williamston edging ahead, 8-6, after one period. It picked up a little in the second quarter, with Williamston pushing out to a 23-16 halftime lead. The Tigers were able to add only a point to their lead in the third period, as they took a 35-27 lead into the final eight minutes. Tarboro tried to rally, 21-18, but fell short.

Edward Williams led Williamston with 14, while Woody Sadler had 12 and James Woolard had 11. Steele led Tarboro with 12, while Battle had 11 and Hyman had 10.

Williamston's girls jumped out to an early lead and were never in trouble after that. They led, 16-5 after the first quarter and extended that to 31-20 by halftime. They ran the lead to 48-30 by the end of the third quarter, and outthit Tarboro, 12-6, in the last frame.

Jan Rogerson led Williamston with 28 points while Ginger Edwards added 18. Angie Robbins hit 11 for Tarboro.

Williamston travels to Roanoke on Friday.

Dons Rally, Turn In Win Over Irish

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Notre Dame was beating the San Francisco Dons under the backboards, treating Bill Cartwright's former understudy with a minimum of respect.

"The coach told me at half-time that was my house, that I live in there and shouldn't let anybody else in," the Dons' 7-foot Wallace Bryant said later, discussing how he helped turned things around in the second half Tuesday night as USF roared to a 67-59 victory over the seventh-ranked Fighting Irish.

Bryant scored two points in the first half, when Notre Dame outscored the taller Dons 25-16. The Irish settled for a 30-30 halftime standoff, however, making just 13 of 33 field goal attempts.

Notre Dame didn't get off as many chances to score in the second half, partly because Bryant blocked so many shots. The Irish finished the night with an embarrassing total of 22 turnovers and a 39 percent field goal shooting mark in the loss which made their record 7-2.

It was Notre Dame's first game since their 86-80 loss to Kentucky on Dec. 29.

Only three other members of The Associated Press Top Twenty were in action and all came away winners, although two had close calls.

Louisville, the No. 11 team, routed St. Louis 94-65 in a Metro Conference game while No. 14 St. John's, N.Y., edged Princeton 44-42 and No. 20

Georgetown, D.C., withstood a late rally by St. Joseph's, Pa., and prevailed 62-53.

Bryant, the sophomore who stepped into the starting center job when All-American Cartwright went from college basketball to the pros, scored 11 of his 13 points in the second half. He totaled 13 rebounds and six blocked shots in the victory which improved unranked USF's record to 11-2.

The Dons held a 31-21 rebounding edge in the second half.

"Our front line isn't as big as in the past few seasons, but we've done well against big teams. We've played the Russians and UCLA this season," said 6-5 forward Tracy Jackson of Notre Dame.

"In the second half, when we had that bad spell, USF took advantage. We didn't make any shots from the field and we couldn't make our free throws, either."

Notre Dame led 50-46 with eight minutes remaining, but USF then outscored the Irish 11-0, going ahead to stay at 51-50 on a jump shot by Mike Rice with 6½ minutes remaining.

"They had us down, but once we got over the top, we got a lot of confidence and kept it going," said Coach Dan Belluomini, who has only one senior on his USF squad.

"I thought we were a year away. Maybe not," he added.

Substitute forward John Hegwood, who, like Bryant is from Gary, Ind., not far from Notre Dame, led the Dons with 14 points. Bryant and guards Quintin Dailey and Billy Reid had 13 each.

The game's top scorer was Notre Dame guard Rich Branning, with 15 points. He was the only Irish player to shoot better than 50 percent (7 of 13) from the field, but he made one of four free throws and the team was a poor nine of 19.

Darrell Griffith scored 24 points for Louisville and three teammates also were in double figures as the Cardinals, 11-2, crushed St. Louis. Griffith also handed out seven assists while Louisville's full-court press forced St. Louis into 25 turnovers.

"It seemed like everything we did turned out right," said Coach Denny Crum. "We forced them out of the slow-down type game they wanted to play. We did a good job on the press and forced them into a position they're not used to running that offense from. When you get ahead of a team, it's awful hard for them ever to catch up playing slow."

St. Louis Coach Ron Ecker called the Cardinals "an excellent team" and said they "seem to be playing with a lot of enthusiasm right now. And when you have that, basketball can be an awful lot of fun."

Frank Gilroy put St. John's, 10-1, in front of the Tigers 38-36 with 4:24 to play. Gilroy and Bernard Rencher then hit both ends of 1-and-1 opportunities in the final 42 seconds after the lead changed hands 21 times.

Georgetown led St. Joseph's slice a 32-18 halftime deficit to 45-40 with 8½ minutes left but that was the closest the Hawks could come. Craig Shelton led the winners with 14 points.

In Southwest Conference action, Brad Branson's 25 points, including eight straight in a second-half burst, paced Southern Methodist over Baylor 78-72; John Danks scored 24 points as Texas shot 68 percent and trounced Houston 99-73; 6-foot-10 Scott Hastings' 23 points and 14 rebounds helped Arkansas defeat Texas Christian 70-58 and Texas A&M edged Texas Tech 63-60 behind Rudy Woods' 20 points.

Aaron Strayhorn's 20-foot jump shot at the buzzer gave Hawaii a 78-76 Western Athletic Conference overtime victory over San Diego State.

Dave Niles scored 27 points, 19 above his average, as Detroit connected on 40 of 60 shots and handed Marshall its worst home setback in five years 101-77.

In a women's game, the University of the District of Columbia got 41 points from Alice Butler, the nation's No. 3 scorer, and swamped Mt. Vernon College 143-11.

Economy In Past Decade Saw Growth

INTERSTATE SECURITIES CORP. While our recent economic experience might lead us to believe otherwise, the 70s did see some progress in terms of total output, productivity and employment.

Compared with the 60s, the growth of the 70s was unexciting, but it was sufficient to raise the general standard of living. The problems were numerous: substantial increases in the number of people seeking work, oil shortages and high price increases, a high level of imports, and the fall of the dollar.

When compared with long term trends, economic growth in the last decade was not too bad. Growth in 1979 in employment, consumer disposable income and outlays, capital spending and the index of industrial production, while below the levels of 1977 and 1978, was well above the average annual growth of the past 10 years. Unfortunately, this growth was achieved with a huge expansion in credit which pushed inflation to record levels.

Higher pay was demanded to keep up with inflation and hourly pay rose nine percent last year. Output per manhour declined one percent, however, resulting in a 10 percent gain in unit labor costs. The consumer price index was up 11 percent, matching the gain in 1974 and comparing with an average annual change in the 70s of seven percent. The average annual change in the 60s was two percent.

On the investment scene, the yield curve is inverted (short term rates are higher than long term rates) just as it was in 1973-74. Interest rates exceed the peaks of the last recession. All but very short term fixed income securities lost ground as interest rates rose.

The S&P 500 is about 13 percent ahead of a year ago, in line with growth in corporate earnings. Yields are only slightly lower because of substantial dividend growth during the year. Including the dividend, the S&P 500's total return for the year was about 19 percent/earnings multiples are about where they were a year ago. More than half of all stocks sell for between five and eight times earnings.

No matter what Congress does now, it will not change the fact that we are starting a recession down the throat. Estimates on its severity vary, as usual, complicated by unsettled conditions in the Middle East. The three major factors in our economy are consumer spending for durable goods, non-residential investment, and changes in inventories.

Total spending in these three areas, as a percentage of GNP, is high, but below the peak year of 1973. The category most vulnerable to decline in the near future is consumer durables spending. Consumer debt is at a record level and savings are very low. At some point, inflation will force a change in spending habits and spending for durables will decline.

Policy changes which should have been made 10 years ago are now unavoidable. They won't change the current recession or recovery, but in the decade of the 80s, our economy can attack these problems, if Washington will only try. The current focus on the supply side (productivity) of the economy is a good start.

Life Insurance Purchases Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — New purchases of life insurance in 1978 came to $407 billion — a record yearly high, according to the American Council of Life Insurance.

The Council says the figure brought the total life-insurance coverage with legal reserve companies to a record $2,870 billion in protection for Americans.

The average amount of life-insurance coverage for each insured family in the United States, it says, increased to $40,800 in 1978, up 8.2 percent over the $37,700 of protection held a year earlier.

REFUGEE PROMISE

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The U.S. coordinator for refugee affairs, Victor Palmieri, has promised that the United States will resettle an average of 10,000 Indochinese refugees a month from Thailand beginning in February, a Thai government spokesman says.

Fellow POW Says Garwood Not Fed In With Captors

By MONTE PLOTT
Associated Press Writer
CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP) — Marine Pfc. Robert Garwood moved in with his communist captors and was honored at a feast marking his "liberation" in May 1967, according to testimony today at a hearing which could lead to a court-martial for Garwood.

Garwood, 33, faces allegations of desertion and collaboration with the enemy in Vietnam.

Luis Antonio Ortiz-Rivera, a Puerto Rican who was in the U.S. Army and was captured in Vietnam, said today he encountered Garwood at a prison camp in South Vietnam and saw Garwood's "liberation" ceremony.

There were speeches and a feast, Ortiz-Rivera said, speaking through an interpreter.

"We had meat which was something we never had," Ortiz-Rivera said, adding that Garwood moved out of the prisoners' compound and lived with communist guards.

Ortiz-Rivera also said Garwood urged American prisoners to do whatever their captors told them to do. He said Garwood declared that the communists treated him better than the American military.

Another former POW testified Tuesday that American prisoners were intimidated into cooperating with the communists by being told "if we died that day, nobody would know."

Army Warrant Officer Francis Anton said that he met Garwood in a prison camp, but added, "I hesitate to refer to him at the time I knew him as a POW."

Last month, Anton testified at the hearing that Garwood lived outside the prisoners' desolate compound, ate better food than other POWs and carried weapons.

Garwood's lawyers on Tuesday quizzed Anton, who is now stationed at Fort Dix, N.J., in hopes of showing that Garwood was merely one of many prisoners who cooperated with the Communists out of fear.

Anton conceded that he and other Americans followed the orders of the Communists, including writing an anti-American letter under threat of starvation.

"Did you cooperate?" asked defense attorney Dale Miller.

"To an extent, yes," replied Anton, explaining that POWs wrote the letter but refused to follow the Communists' orders to admit to killing civilians and raping women.

The letter was written, Anton said, after the Communists "hinted to us we were in the jungle and nobody knew we were there...if we died that day, nobody would know."

But, Anton declared, Garwood's actions showed that he either cooperated with the Vietnamese voluntarily or he was "the greatest actor in the world."

"There was no way in the world he could have perpetrated this thing without telling somebody," Anton said.

Garwood, a 19-year-old jeep driver from Indiana when he disappeared near Danang in 1965, returned to the United States last March. He contends he was captured and held prisoner for nearly 14 years.

Lt. Col. John Studds, Garwood's commanding officer in Vietnam, testified Tuesday that Garwood disappeared after taking a jeep out on a purported driving assignment to Danang.

Studds said he felt at the time Garwood had taken an unauthorized absence but he listed him as missing to "give the benefit of the doubt."

Anton, 36, described in agonizing detail the struggle for survival in the camps and the way American prisoners were psychologically pitted against each other by the Communists.

Anton quoted one POW who died in Vietnam as telling other prisoners, "Don't tell me anything you don't want the Vietnamese to know...this is a jungle and we're all in it."

Anton said at the camp where he saw Garwood most frequently, there was only a three-foot-high bamboo fence marking off the prisoners' area.

Under questioning from Miller, he conceded that prisoners could have escaped at almost any time but they would have faced the rigors of an unknown jungle and the wrath of local villagers who sided with the Communists.

FEWER VISIT ROME

ROME (AP) — American visitors to Rome decreased in 1979 for the first time in five years, city officials report. Americans still led the total pack of 5.9 million foreign tourists, but the 1.11 million of them in 1979 were 66,000 fewer than the year before.

"We were sure in our minds we could have taken over the camp but then what would we have done?" Anton said.

No Tax-Filing Sentencing Set

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Sentencing has been scheduled Feb. 28 for former Winston-Salem alderman Carl H. Russell Sr., who pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court on Tuesday to one count of failing to file a federal income tax return in 1976.

Russell, 69, had been charged with failure to file for a four-year period, but Judge Eugene Gordon dismissed three of the counts. The Internal Revenue Service said Russell failed to report income of more than $100,000 in 1976.

Miller, apparently trying to show that all POWs accepted some aid from the enemy, asked Anton if POWs didn't take food and clothing from the enemy.

That brought a chuckle from Anton.

"Yes, sir, that's what they kept telling us — that we didn't have to work and they gave us three meals a day."

Maj. T.B. Hamilton Jr., presiding officer at the hearing, also smiled, sarcastically.

"Such a deal," he interjected.

Songs and Causes

Twenty years ago a young folk singer named Joan Baez entered the national music scene with an impressive performance at the Newport Folk Festival in Rhode Island. Since then, Baez has recorded 27 albums, many of them containing songs she herself composed, and has traveled widely, entertaining audiences around the world. She has also devoted much of her time and energy to humanitarian causes. In the 1960s, she campaigned for civil rights and spoke out against the Vietnam War. More recently, she has worked to get more aid for the Cambodian refugees and Vietnamese "boat people." Joan Baez was born on this day in 1941.

DO YOU KNOW — What famous male singer and songwriter did Baez help promote during the early 1960s?

 LOS ANGELES (AP) — I dreamed last night that PBS aired its first major made-for-TV movie. It was strange — the dream, and the movie.

"The Lathe of Heaven," it was called (the movie), based on Ursula K. Le Guin's futuristic yarn about a young man whose dreams change reality. PBS' first movie went something like this:

Bruce Davison played a fellow named George Orr, a troubled lad who begins the movie by stumbling out of the rubble of a nuclear holocaust. Things are pretty awful, but George is soon stirred from sleep to discover he was only having a nightmare.

George, understandably, takes little comfort in the awakening. He knows he must sleep again, and that his dreams have this peculiar effect on reality. Like the time he tried to get fresh with his Aunt Ethyl and she slapped him. He dreamed that night that Aunt Ethyl died in a car crash, and it happened.

No pleasant reverie, this —

Sundays Aid CBS Rating

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS, banking once again on a strong Sunday night lineup, won the networks' weekly ratings competition and edged even closer to front-running ABC in their race for first place for the season to date.

CBS' success in the week ending Jan. 6 came with help from the pro football playoffs — or without it.

Ratings on prime-time programs are determined by the A.C. Nielsen Co., but the networks themselves figure the weekly averages.

For the most recent week, CBS and NBC included in the ratings the tail end of CBS' broadcast of the National Football Conference playoff game between Los Angeles and Tampa Bay, as well as the post-game show, while ABC choose to ignore the sports programming.

CBS, in any case, finished the week with a rating of 20.2 to 19.7 for runnerup NBC. ABC's rating ranged from 18.8 — CBS' figure — to 19.1 — ABC's.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 20.2 percent of the homes in the country with television were tuned to CBS.

The rating for the football post-game show, No. 1 for the week with the runner portion of game second, was 35.5, with "60 Minutes" third at 32.5.

It was CBS' third No. 1 finish in a row, and the network's sixth in the last eight weeks. NBC finished second for the first time since the week ending Nov. 25.

Both CBS and NBC maintain ABC's lead for the season so far is two-tenths of a ratings point — 19.3 to 19.1. ABC says the margin is greater, 19.4 to 18.9.

NBC's best effort for the week was the Orange Bowl football game between Oklahoma and Florida State, eighth in the ratings, though the 19th place finish for the three-hour premiere of its newest dramatic series, "Skag," was encouraging to the No. 3 network.

CBS scored, meanwhile, with a new series of its own, "Knots Landing." The initial episode in the series, a spinoff from CBS' successful "Dallas," was 14th in the ratings.

Here are the week's 10 highest-rated shows:

NFL Championship Post-Game, with a rating of 35.5 representing 27.1 million homes, NFL Championship Game, 33.3 or 25.4 million, "60 Minutes," 32.5 or 24.8 million, "Dallas," 27 or 20.6 million, and "Alice," 26 or 19.8 million, all CBS; "Eight is Enough," 25.8 or 19.7 million, ABC; "Dukes of Hazard," 25.7 or 19.6 million, CBS; Orange Bowl, 25.1 or 19.2 million, NBC, and "Three's Company," 24.7 or 18.8 million, and "Mork and Mandy," 24.3 or 18.5 million, both ABC.

lieve George is telling the truth about his "effective dreams" when he induces a dream in George that the sun is shining. This is 1999 or so, and the sun never shines. Until George has a dream that it does.

The doctor begins to see wonderful possibilities in George's dreams. "Using your gift," he tells George, "I'm going to do what no politician, no scientist, no philosopher has ever been able to do... I'm going to make the whole world right."

His first action along those lines is to induce a dream in George that there be a William Haber Institute of Oneirology. George dreams, and awakens inside the William Haber Institute of Oneirology.

Encouraged, and his ego temporarily satisfied, the good doctor moves forward. He induces George to dream that the world is no longer overpopulated.

George does, and presto! ... an uncrowded Earth. Unfortunately, George dreamed about a plague, which wiped out six billion people. "I'm sorry you had a bad dream George," Dr. Haber tells him.

Dr. Haber manipulated George's dreams toward other ends, with equally weird and disastrous ends, and eventually schemed to usurp the power for himself. The results were eerily fascinating, featuring sea turtles and kaleidoscopes and aliens that looked like giant artichokes in wet suits.

When we first hit the tournament trail, the only "good hands" reported to us were those played by a handful of acknowledged experts. But the standard of bridge has improved enormously since those days. With all due modesty, we like to think that we contributed something toward better bidding; however, the quality of play by "unknowns" continues to surprise us.

Wayne Hascall of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Bob Webber of Clawson, Mich., were West and East respectively on this hand from one of the events at the Fall North American Championships. After a competitive auction, they found themselves defending five spades. Note West's raise to five diamonds on a hand with no high-card points but long trumps and a singleton. After pushing the opponents to the five-level, they bowed out of the auction — it is an old truism that when you are outgunned, the five-level belongs to the opponents.

Hascall led his singleton heart. East won the ace and shifted to the king of diamonds. To this trick, Hascall imaginatively followed with the ten.

His partner, Webber, took time out for some thought. Obviously, West held several diamonds lower than the ten, so why did he choose that card? If West wanted a club shift, he could simply have followed with a low diamond. If he wanted a diamond continuation, he could have played an intermediate diamond spot.

Failed Prove Dog Is Guilty

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Dr. Jerome Tift, the state's associate chief medical examiner, says tests do not prove that a pet dog was responsible for the death Friday of a 2-year-old Guilford County boy.

The child, William Travis Crews, was found unconscious and badly mutilated in his back yard at 5 a.m. Friday. He died later at Moses Cone Hospital. The family's pet Alaskan malamute puppy has been suspected of being the killer.

"We looked at the dog's gastric contents and found nothing suspicious there, but the contents weren't obtained until 12 hours after the boy's death," Tift said.

"There was also an area of ground in the back yard where it looked like the dog had vomited. Some material in the vomit looked like it came from a disposable diaper," he said.

Tift said hairs matching those of the dog were found on the child, but he said it would be difficult to prove the puppy was the same animal that attacked the boy.

"Certainly it is most likely that he did it," Tift added. Sheriff Paul H. Gibson says he and Guilford County Sheriff's Department investigators "don't think there's any question about it being the dog."

He said investigators believe the child opened the door when he heard the dog scratching to get inside. Then, they say, the boy got outside and was attacked.

Gibson said the dog is being held for 10 days of observation at the Guilford County Animal Shelter, but it has not been decided what to do with it after that time.

CINCINNATI (AP) — An arrest warrant has been issued for Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flynt, who a spokesman says is hospitalized at an undisclosed location for chronic pain and drug addiction.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge Robert Kraft issued the warrant and revoked a $27,000 bond Tuesday after Flynt and his attorneys failed to appear for a hearing to determine the status of various pornography-related charges pending against Flynt.

A lawyer came to the hearing to ask for a continuance, but said he did not represent Flynt or the magazine.

Flynt is charged with disseminating material harmful to juveniles in connection with the distribution of a 1977 pamphlet on war and a 1978 pamphlet on child abuse. An additional charge of pandering obscenity is also pending from his sale in 1978 of Hustler in Hamilton County.

Flynt was paralyzed from a gunshot wound received March 8, 1978, during his pornography trial in Georgia.

In Los Angeles, Jan Rogers, spokeswoman for Flynt, said he was in a hospital for treatment of chronic pain and drug addiction. She declined to disclose the name of the hospital.

Solar Power 'Test Town' Very Remote

By KEVIN M. KELLEGHAN
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The mountain hamlet selected by a U.S.-Mexico joint project for this country's first solar energy community is so remote that planners describe it as "a place you can't even get to on horseback."

The village of Ajuchitlan, tucked away from the 20th century in mountains hot as a blast furnace less than 100 miles south of this capital, near Cuernavaca, will be a model for isolated villages to use solar energy to pump water and generate electricity.

"You get there first by car, then four-wheeled vehicle, then on horseback and finally on foot up rocky cliffs," Robert Wilcox, science attache at the U.S. embassy told The Associated Press. "Electricity wouldn't reach there until the next century."

Ajuchitlan is so remote that families cannot afford delivery of kerosene to run a generator or burn lamps. Villagers cook with firewood, but trees are getting scarce and farther away. Clothes are laundered on stones at a stream. Bedtime is soon after sunset.

The plans for the village are being drafted at the U.S. Department of Energy while negotiators discuss the cost.

The joint project begins, literally, with getting there. "Mexico is providing the road and bridge," Wilcox said. "The U.S. will provide the design and the hardware."

He said a meeting will be held early next year to approve the design and cost. Solar installations for the village can be completed in less than 15 months after the agreement is signed.

Although there are several methods to take advantage of the sun's energy, Mexico selected the cheapest and least complex. The sun provides the power needed to drive pumps to supply water for homes and irrigation and to drive a generator for electricity.

A key element is water below ground. "There are water deposits in the subsoil of northern desert areas at about 30 to 90 feet that can be pumped for use in homes, agriculture and cattle raising," a study shows.

"Use of that water will determine the development of tourism in Baja California, for example. Solar plants are vital to cattle raising. During the 1974 drought in northern Mexico, lack of water cost $10 million in lost cattle."

The sun's heat boils butane gas which drives a water pump, also driving a simple generator for electricity. One kilowatt of electric energy produced by this solar plant will cost $7,700 over 20 years, about the cost of operating a refrigerator. The same kilowatt produced by an internal combustion pump would cost $72,000.

"It costs $25,000 to build each mile of road in the Mexican desert to get to these villages," said a member of one agency involved in the project. "Solar energy installations need no roads because there is no fuel delivery nor spare parts to replace."

Nor is maintenance required. One untrained watchman opens a valve at daybreak, shuts it at dusk. He wipes porous tiles occasionally. Solar batteries can store energy for cloudy days. Only 3 percent of the butane fuel evaporates every year.

Solar energy will provide the village with drinking and irrigation water. There will be a waste disposal system, or waste can be recycled for fertilizer. Villagers will dry grain and operate milk separators.

Ajuchitlan will have a community center equipped to make ice and refrigerate food. There will be a store, a bath, a laundry and a radio to communicate with other villages.

Homes will have electric lights, maybe even television. Surplus energy will initiate light industry such as sewing machines.

Planners expect the solar installation to attract isolated families into new communities surrounding the water pump. The master plan envisions building a school and medical center nearby for relocated peasants.

CHECKS TO 4 MILLION WASHINGTON (AP) — Four million blind, aged and disabled Americans are being sent checks totaling $400 million to help them meet rising heating bills, the government says.

RALEIGH — Blue mold, a fungus disease that cost U.S. and Canadian tobacco growers a quarter-billion dollars in 1979, is expected to appear again in 1980.

That was the consensus of 125 tobacco plant pathologists and commercial representatives who met in Raleigh earlier this month to discuss the unprecedented 1979 epidemic and why it occurred, the control measures needed, and the outlook for the coming year.

Blue mold normally is a plant bed disease, but field outbreaks were widespread in 1979. Losses in some fields, including burley tobacco grown in western North Carolina and elsewhere, ranged up to 50 to 60 percent or higher.

All types of tobacco except Wisconsin-grown cigar binder were affected. A national committee estimated losses by type as follows:

Flue cured (U. S. and Canada), $143 million; burley, almost $92 million; southern Maryland, $5.7 million; shade cigar wrapper (Conn. and Mass.), $4.4 million; cigar filler, $4.4 million; and smaller amounts for fire-cured, dark-fired, sun-cured and broadleaf.

Total losses were estimated at $252 million — more than the losses caused by all other tobacco diseases combined, according to Furney A. Todd, extension tobacco plant pathologist at North Carolina State University.

"Chances are, tobacco growers will have to fight blue mold in plant beds or field, or both, during the coming year. This means that growers will need to study available control methods and develop plans to combat the disease if and when it appears," Todd said.

Mos of those attending the Raleigh conference agreed that the 1979 epidemic was caused by tiny, wind-blown spores called conidia which built up to high levels in states to the south and moved northward and westward.

The plant pathologists associated the disease with unusual weather conditions, including temperatures averaging 3 to 6 degrees below normal during most of May and June, accompanied by cloudy, rainy days. The causal agent for blue mold (Peronospora tabacina) operates best when mean temperatures range from 58 to 68 degrees Fahrenheit.

Indications that the disease will recur in 1980, Todd said, include inoculum buildup during the 1979 crop year, the presence of resistant spore forms in old tobacco trash, and the sporulation on sucker growth during November.

A blue mold warning system, developed by the U. S. Tobacco Disease Council, will be in operation in all tobacco states and areas this coming year.

N. C. State University has been designated "Blue Mold Central," with Todd as coordinator of the system for the United States and Canada. He will be assisted by Dr. Charles E. Main, research plant pathologist, and Dr. Jerry M. Davis, meteorologist.

An agricultural extension agent in each county is reporting blue mold occurrences and is keeping local growers informed of the situation and recommendations for dealing with it," Todd said.

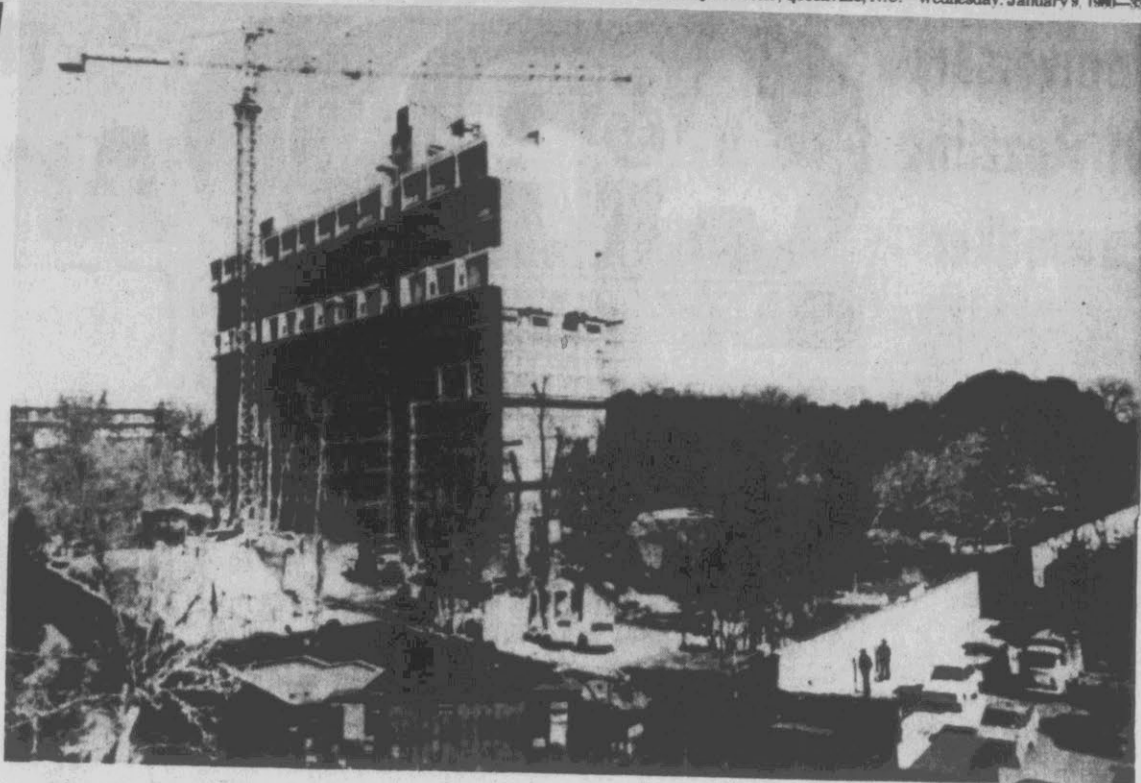

Every state will follow the same for gathering information on outbreaks and reporting it promptly to "Blue Mold Central." In turn, as conditions warrant, Coordinator Todd will disseminate information on blue mold conditions to the various states and counties.

An experimental soil fungicide, Ridomil, was tested extensively in 1979 and found to give adequate blue mold control when applied as a preplant soil treatment at the rate of one quart per acre. This material, however, has not been cleared for use by growers and is not now being sold in the United States.

The Environmental Protection Agency has been asked to give emergency label clearance to Ridomil to permit its use on the 1980 crop if needed.

"Control methods for the 1980 crop begin in the plant bed site," Todd said. He advised all tobacco farmers to spray or dust their beds with fungicides containing ferbam, zineb, maneb or metiram.

In plant beds covered with cheese cloth, applications should begin when tobacco seedlings are about the size of VEPCO Plans Advisory Bds.

The Virginia Electric and Power Co., under fire from a number of sources who, among other things, have suggested that VEPCO sell its holdings in North Carolina and depart from the state, announced today plans to establish consumer advisory boards in each of its five divisions.

T. Justin Moore Jr., VEPCO board chairman, said, "we have been studying these types of programs for several months now," and "want to establish a more personal link with our customers and promote better communications with them."

The purpose of the advisory boards, according to Moore, is to allow customers to review proposed policy changes, service practices, customer relations matters, and corporate communications, including advertising. The boards would also determine areas of mutual concern and agreement, provide a forum for customer concerns, and a means of evaluation by a group not associated with the company, Moore commented.

Moore said board members will be selected by VEPCO division vice presidents from nominations submitted by legislators, government officials, educators, consumer groups, church groups, leaders in business and industry, and other organizations. No VEPCO representatives would serve on the boards, which will meet at least four times a year, according to Moore.

"We think constructive criticism can be of real benefit to VEPCO," Moore said. "By establishing these customer advisory boards, we think VEPCO and its customers can help each other communicate more effectively."

Anniversary Of Puzzling Lawmaker

There Are Lots Of Reasons You'll Ann Page and A&P...

By Dr. H.G. JONES
For The Associated Press
CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) —
January 9 marks the anniversary of the death of one of North Carolina's most puzzling congressmen.

His name was Lemuel Sawyer, and when he died in 1852 he had held public office for nearly two decades and had written three small books during a checkered career.

By the judgment of his autobiography, published in the third person singular when he was 67 years old, he missed achieving greatness only because of the machinations of others. A more objective rating might have placed him in a category of "characters."

His father, Lemuel Sawyer
Sr., had served in the colonial assembly from Pasquotank County, in the Provincial Congress that adopted the first constitution of the state and in several other public offices.

He married Mary Taylor, and to them the younger Lemuel was born in 1777 along the Pasquotank River in Camden County, across from Elizabeth City.

At age 16 the youth was sent to Long Island where he attended Flatbush Academy. At the invitation of Congressman Dempsey Burgess, his brother-in-law, young Lemuel moved to Philadelphia, where Congress was in session, and attended for a time the University of Pennsylvania.

At age 20 he returned to Camden County and took over a farm "much exhausted and dilapidated, and a dozen slaves." He attended the University of North Carolina for a year, then studied law and in 1800 was elected the youngest member of the House of Commons.

If we can believe his claim, he blocked the old custom of re-electing the officers and staff and, instead, succeeded in putting into the clerkship a young man named William Hill.

Hill later served as secretary of state for 46 years, longer than any man in history.

In 1804 Sawyer was a presidential elector and a member of the Council of State. Then, in 1807, he was elected to the U.S.
House of Representatives.

As a member of Congress from 1807 to 1813, from 1817 to 1823 and from 1825 to 1829, Sawyer seldom distinguished himself. He did introduce a bill to promote polar exploration (it was defeated); and he gained a reputation as a good card-playing gambler, but he was "reckless and short-sighted in money matters..."

He was little more successful in his marriages. His first two wives, Mary Snowden and Camilla Wertz, and all their children, died. His third wife,
Diana Rapalye Fisher of Brooklyn, N.Y., provided him with a comfortable fortune to squander in his old age.

Sawyer's name is better remembered in literature — not because of merit but because of chronology. In 1824, he wrote
"Blackbeard," a comedy in four acts, recognized as the first play on a North Carolina subject published by a native
North Carolinian.

The book is really not about Blackbeard the pirate, though the title derives from the plot in which two "sharpies" in Cur-rituck County bilk four others out of their money by promising to recover the pirate's treasure and sharing it with them.

In reality, "Blackbeard" is worth reading not so much for humor as for an understanding of life in Currituck County 150 years ago. Partially autobiographical, the play reveals much about social customs, political practices and skulduggery.

In the same year, Sawyer published a tragedy titled "The Wreck of Honor," and 20 years later — long after his congressional career ended, he wrote a mean biography of John Randolph of Roanoke, as well as his own immodest "Auto-Biography."

At the age of 73, Sawyer found a minor clerkship in the federal bureaucracy in Washington, and he died there two years later. He was buried in the family cemetery in Lamb's Ferry in Camden County.

RARE LION CUBS
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia
(AP) — A pair of rare Gir lion cubs were born in the national zoo here three weeks ago, encouraging wildlife experts trying to save the rare species of lion from extinction, zoo director
P.N. Phillips says. There are only about 250 Gir lions in the world and the Kuala Lumpur zoo has seven of them.

Airlines In New Battle For Britain

By STEPHEN C. SMITH
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI (AP) — A new "Battle for Britain" is raging among 10 U.S. airlines. To the victor will go the lucrative air route between Miami and London, now served by National Airlines.

National, however, is merging with Pan American World Airways, effective today, and a condition for approval of the merger was that it surrender its busy Miami-London flight.

Air Florida, American, Braniff, Delta, Eastern, Republic, Trans World Airlines, Western and World Airways have jumped into the fray, claiming they could best serve the route.

But Pan Am and National — which when merged will be known simply as Pan Am — say they won't give up the route without a fight.

Pan Am formally applied to take it over, saying the National route was one of the reasons it sought the merger. National employees pooled resources to buy full page newspaper advertisements and went to Washington to lobby for their cause.

Air Florida, meanwhile, launched its own campaign for the route and says it will undersell all competitors. As part of its effort, Air Florida has introduced bumper stickers, buttons and other paraphernalia exhorting Floridians to join the "Battle for Britain."

Air Florida's effort got a boost Friday when a staff bureau within the Civil Aeronautics Board — the Bureau of International Aviation — filed a brief in Washington favoring that airline for the route.

The brief, which makes the bureau a party to the case, said four carriers — Air Florida, Delta, Eastern, Western and World — each would provide "substantial benefits" to consumers if given the route. But it gave preference to Air Florida, with Eastern ranked second.

CAB spokesman Alan Pollock said the brief would play a minor role in deciding the route case, because other bureaus are expected to file recommendations as well.

Air Florida chairman C. Edward Acker said his company would offer "unrestricted, low cost air transportation" if it wins the route. The proposed Air Florida "unrestricted one-way fare" is $184.

National's current standard economy class fare between Miami and London is $365 one way. Its round-trip "super APEX" fare is $452.

Eastern says it will offer economy one-way fares ranging from as low as $99 up to $199, depending on the day of the week and the season. But Eastern officials say rising fuel prices may force these prices up by the time any fares are formally approved.

Daily, early evening flights to London are now flown by National and British Airways; an international treaty limits service on such routes to one airline from each country.

But recent deregulation of American air service has allowed smaller carriers to expand, to grow richer and — now that the U.S. slot is up for grabs — to think big.

"Before deregulation, companies like Air Florida wouldn't even consider getting into such a big case," said Ted Lopatkiewicz, a CAB spokesman. "Now the board is more liberal in spreading international awards around."

Specific figures on the Miami-London route's profitability are not available. But National and Pan Am officials say overseas operations account for 22 percent of National's total profit — and Miami-London provides a large share of it.

"Miami-London is a major contributor to National's overall profitability and our commitments have been based on the benefits expected from the entire merger, including this route," says Pan Am Chairman William Seawell.

"We've done a good job in developing Miami-London...and we deserve to keep it," said J. Dan Brock, National's international vice president. "And morally, it's part of the (National) property. ...Pan Am went into the purchase in good faith and the route was part of National and should go with the company."

Eastern disagrees. "The CAB said very strongly, when they approved the merger, that if the Miami-London route was left intact, the CAB would turn down the merger," said Morton Ehrlich, Eastern's senior vice president for planning.
