1979 Wholesale Prices Up 12.5 Percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices rose 12.5 percent in 1979, the highest inflation at the wholesale level in five years, the Labor Department reported today.

There was some moderation in food and fuel price increases at year's end, with the government's Producer Price Index rising 0.8 percent in December, its most moderate rise since June. Prices in November had gone up 1.3 percent. Still, the increase from December 1978 to December 1979 was the worst at the wholesale level since 1974, when increases in crude oil prices caused by the Middle East oil embargo helped push the index up 18.3 percent. "There's no doubt that energy made an important contribution in both cases," said Labor Department economist John Early.

He noted that energy prices rose 62.7 percent in 1979 as a result of higher prices charged by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and added that OPEC's indecision about a new, joint base price made the future hard to predict. "We would be pleased and surprised" if the index goes up only 0.8 percent each month in the coming year, to produce a 10 percent increase for 1980, Early said. Prices at the wholesale level rose 9.2 percent in 1978.

Food prices fell 0.1 percent at wholesale last month following a sharp 2.6 percent rise in November and ended 7.5 percent higher than in December 1978.

The chief inflation culprits in December were metals, including gold, and energy, the Labor Department report said.

Non-food prices at wholesale went up 1.2 percent in December, compared with an increase of 0.8 percent in November. Sharply higher prices were noted for such items as jewelry and household implements in the wake of rapid advances in the price of precious and non-precious metals in world markets.

Although gasoline prices rose 3.4 percent in December, the same as November, prices for home heating oil were virtually unchanged for the second consecutive month, the report said.

Capital equipment prices rose 0.9 percent in December, compared with 0.5 percent in the previous month, and ended the year 8.7 percent ahead of the December 1978 level.

The Producer Price Index stood at 227.8 in December. This means that goods that cost $100 in the 1967 base period cost $227.80 last month.

The index measures price changes at three levels. Finished goods are those one step short of retail outlets. Intermediate materials have had some processing. Crude goods have had no processing.

The 12.5 percent increase in finished goods prices from December 1978 to December 1979 was outpaced by a 15.9 percent rise at the intermediate level and 17.5 percent increase in crude prices at wholesale.

Intermediate prices in December rose 1.2 percent, compared with 0.9 percent in the previous month; crude goods were up 1.1 percent, against 2 percent in November.

Charges Against Soviet Going To General Assembly

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States was successful in its drive to arraign the Soviet Union before the General Assembly for its military intervention in Afghanistan, but the Russians announced that they would veto any resolution in the Security Council calling for sanctions against Iran.

With Security Council action on Afghanistan blocked by the Soviet veto, the council adopted a resolution Wednesday night asking for an emergency session of the 152-nation assembly to deal with the situation in the Central Asian nation.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim announced that the assembly, which ended its regular 1979 session on Monday, would meet at 3 p.m. EST today.

The emergency session is expected to last several days, and the debate is expected to be a replay of the debate in the Security Council last weekend, with most of the members attacking the Soviet action in Afghanistan and the Soviet Union and its communist allies defending it.

The United States and its allies were reported confident that they could muster the two-thirds majority necessary for adoption of the resolution vetoed by the Soviet Union in the Security Council. The big-power veto does not apply in the assembly, but adoption of the resolution will have only moral and propaganda value since the assembly has no power to order punitive action.

The resolution deplored the armed intervention in Afghanistan and called for the withdrawal of all foreign forces.

The opponents of the Soviet action took their case to the General Assembly under a procedure established in 1950 to deal with situations in which a veto prevented the Security Council from taking action to preserve or restore peace.

The resolution asking for the assembly session was submitted by the Philippines and Mexico, and the vote in the 15-nation council was 12-2, with the Soviet Union and East Germany voting no and Zambia abstaining.

The council vote Monday on the resolution calling for withdrawal of the Soviet troops had been 13-2, with Zambia voting with the majority. But that was an issue of substance on which the negative Soviet vote counted as a veto, while the resolution to go to the General Assembly was a procedural matter exempt from the veto of the five permanent council members — the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and China.

Meanwhile, Tass, the official Soviet news agency, announced that U.S. plans to get the Security Council to vote sanctions against Iran were doomed to defeat.

"As regards the USSR, it will not tolerate any interference from the outside in the internal affairs of Iran, and will not allow the United States to impose a decision to apply economic sanctions against it," said Tass.

Clean-Up After Storm

STORM DAMAGE — Work crews try to clear a road in Portland, Ore. Wednesday in the wake of a winter storm that lashed the area. More than 85,000 homes were left without power as ice and snow downed lines. More than 100 boats sank and numerous roofs collapsed under the weight of snow in Oregon and Washington state, where many schools, businesses and highways were closed. Stranded motorists jammed hotels and motels throughout the Northwest. (AP Laserphoto)

Parks Commission Interested In Acquiring Land In Subdivision

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Members of the Greenville Recreation and Parks Commission on Wednesday night voted to have director Boyd Lee inform the City Council the Commission is interested in the possibility of acquiring land in a proposed new subdivision.

The property in which this interest was expressed is a six-acre area within the plat for Bedford, a housing subdivision to be built adjacent to Evans Street extended, outside the present city limits.

Provisions of subdivision regulations require that a specified percentage of new housing development acreage be offered for recreational usage. The City Council makes decisions on whether or not to take an option on purchasing the offered recreational land.

In a report to the Commission, Lee informed that all is now in readiness to proceed with the lighting of Guy Smith Stadium. Lee said that the City Council at its December meeting approved a $17,000 bid for fixtures, and that these are now in Greenville. He added that bids for installation of the lights would be considered by the City Council tonight, and that approval of a bid in the amount of approximately $37,000 is expected. Lee said that the target date for completion should make it possible to have lights operative in time for the summer season.

In another report, Lee gave the status of current construction work underway in three of the city's recreational areas.

At Evans Park off Hooker Road, six of eight tennis courts have been completed. Work is underway on the remaining two, with completion due once the area of these two is sufficiently dry to permit surfacing over the rock foundation.

Work has been completed on the $10,000 Community Development Fund project at Moyewood Park. This includes clearing the area, fencing in three-quarters of the area to provide a safeguard against children wandering down to the Tar River, the construction of a picnic shelter and table, two basketball areas, playground with equipment installed, and a bike area.

"We will soon set a date for an opening dedication ceremony," Lee commented.

Commission Chairman Rufus Huggins said "it is good to have this recreation area for residents of Moyewood. Until now the children have had to cross Memorial Drive to get over to Foreman Park, and this will relieve that dangerous situation. The residents there say it's really great to have this place for their children."

At the large river property north of the river, construction is now underway on the octagonal building which will house the office for the area. The office will provide boat rental services at a later date, and will also have space to provide other services.

Heavy Reinforcements For Red Army Invaders

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — Moslem rebels closed a strategic highway linking the Soviet Union with Kabul, and battled Soviet troops east and southwest of the Afghan capital, informed source reported today.

The Salang Highway was blocked Tuesday by fighting near the Doshi or Khenjan bridges, about 90 miles north of Kabul, Afghan and Asian diplomatic sources said. They quoted Afghan military officials and travelers just returned from the area.

But the sources also said the Soviets were continuing to pour men and armor into Afghanistan. Three divisions moved in this week, raising the number of Russian troops to at least 85,000, the sources said. A total of seven divisions have been brought in since the Russians moved in last month, they added.

Heavy military traffic was still heading south into Afghanistan from the Soviet cities of Torgundi, in the Turkoman Republic, and Termez, in the Uzbek Republic, several diplomatic sources said.

They also reported fighting in Nangahar province, east of Kabul, and said Russian troops had attacked rebel units near Saidabad, about 50 miles southwest of the capital in Wardak Province.

Meanwhile, Babrak Karmal's regime continued its attack on deposed President Hafizullah Amin, who was executed after the Soviet-backed coup that brought Karmal to power Dec. 27. It also blasted the United States for allegedly defending the deposed ruler.

The government broadcast an angry letter to President Carter from the widow of the late President Nur Mohammed Taraki, Amin's predecessor.

"Why are you defending a person who put innocent men women and children in prison?" asked Bibi Taraki. "We don't have enmity with your country, but it is your government which is trying with all its force to work against us in Afghanistan."

Spirit Lingers

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Christmas may be over, but the holiday spirit lingers on in the Magnolia State.

Gov. Cliff Finch's staff worked Wednesday to complete a Christmas card mailing ordered by the governor after the New Year's holiday.

Sources in the governor's office said Finch had called secretaries in for an emergency meeting on Tuesday and directed them to get the cards mailed at once.

Finch did not explain why he had waited until almost two weeks after Christmas to mail the cards, which have a drawing of the Governor's Mansion on the outside and a picture of Finch and his family inside.

A spokesman for the governor said the cards did not arrive from the printer until a week before Christmas and that holiday activities had prevented the staff from completing the mailing.

"We just didn't have time to get them all done," the spokesman said. "Everybody kind of pitched in to complete the work."

Grain Futures Continue Drop

CHICAGO (AP) — For the second day in a row, wheat, corn and oats futures plunged today to the lowest price trading regulations allow as traders continued to worry about the impact of a partial grain embargo against the Soviets.

"No one on the floor is going to rest until the markets are moving freely," said veteran trader Sam Roller of Bache Halsey Stuart Shields Inc., a major brokerage firm.

"When corn moves (from off the lowest price limit) the markets will start operating again," he added.

Traders are worried that the glut of corn in the domestic market because of the embargo will keep prices depressed for some time. Instead of trading in the grains, brokerage firms began buying soybeans today, with prices for future delivery contracts remaining unchanged from Wednesday to 9 cents lower at the beginning of trade.

Once the trading limit was reached in corn, wheat and oats, trading came to a virtual standstill. "Needless to say, it kills business," said another veteran trader.

Allsbrook Files For Re-Election

State Senator Julian Allsbrook of Roanoke Rapids has filed for re-election to one of the two seats in North Carolina's Sixth Senatorial District.

The veteran Democrat will seek to retain his Sixth District seat in the May primary. Allsbrook, an attorney, and Senator Vernon White of Winterville currently represent the district, which includes the counties of Pitt, Halifax, Martin and Edgecombe.

The incumbent said in his re-election announcement that he was "running in the Democratic Primary because of my long experience and my record as a

Operations Review By Greenville Foundation

The numerous legal technicalities governing the operation of a public charitable organization were discussed in a meeting Wednesday evening of The Greenville Foundation committee.

Dr. Herbert Hadley, committee chairman, said that Murray Greason, an attorney for the Winston-Salem Foundation, was on hand for the meeting to go over some of the legal aspects involved in the community foundation operation.

Hadley, who noted that the session served as a legal education program for the newly organized Foundation, said that the attorney explained things that the organization has to do in order to serve as a charitable outlet authorized to hold properties and trusts for the community.

Greason, according to Hadley, covered a "wide range of ideas" regarding what the foundation is as opposed to a private organization. Ways that funds can and cannot be used were mentioned by the visiting attorney, it was noted.

Hadley said that Henry Carter, executive director of the Winston-Salem Foundation, also attended the meeting. Winston-Salem has the second oldest community foundation in the nation, organized in 1918. The chairman said that the declaration of trust of the Greenville organization is similar to the Winston-Salem document.

A number of lawyers, bankers and trust officers attended last night's session, Hadley said, to become more familiar with the various aspects of the organization.

The Greenville Foundation will allow tax-deductible contributions to be made to various organizational trust funds.

The Foundation committee currently consists of seven persons, including four members appointed by the City Council and three

Couple Has 50th Anniversary

TARBORO — Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harris of Tarboro celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon, Dec. 30, at a reception held at the fellowship hall at Pender Chapel Baptist Church here.

The reception was given by the couple's children: Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Harris, Rolesville; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harris, Bethel; Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bell Jr., Belvoir; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harris, Willow Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Nichols, Conetoe; Mr. and Mrs. William Coggins, Pinetops; Mr. and Mrs. James Hamm, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harris, Tarboro; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Harris, Mr. and Clyde Suggs and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bottoms, Rocky Mount, and Linwood Harris, Raleigh.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Harris, who presided at the guest book and introduced guests to the receiving line.

The hall was decorated with red and white decorations. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cutwork cloth and decorated with an arrangement of white pom poms and red carnations flanked by white candles. The three tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Suggs and punch was poured by Mrs. Bottoms, daughters of the honorees.

The honoree wore a mint green formal gown of polyester, complemented by a red carnation corsage with gold ribbons. Gifts were presented to the couple.

Where has the time gone? In December of 1975, President Ford signed a bill into law which will bring the international metric system to this country by 1983. Can you believe I've only got three more years left to convert and I haven't spoken a word of metric yet?

When I told my husband of my plan to memorize as much metric as I needed to get by, he was pleased. "As I've always said," he smiled, "30 milliliters of prevention is worth 54 kilograms of cure." Boy, I'm glad it's not something I've always said.

Cooking Is Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Among the foods on supermarket shelves whose prices have climbed are pure fruit preserves.

But there's a way to enjoy such preserves and save money: Make your own. This time around we're offering you one of the easiest of all fruit preserves to prepare — Apple Ginger Marmalade. It also happens to be a combination you can't buy. And is it ever good! Useful, too, because it may be offered on a condiment tray with a main dish, used for desserts or as a spread for hot breads or toast. And you don't have to process it; just put it in the freezer.

APPLE GINGER MARMALADE
1/4 pound fresh ginger root (peeled and coarsely chopped)
1 1/2 pounds green apples (pared, cored and coarsely chopped)
2 small lemons or limes (unpeeled, seeded and finely chopped)
1 small orange (unpeeled, seeded and finely chopped)
1/4 cups water
3/2 cups sugar

Into a large saucepot turn ginger, apple, lemon, orange and water. Bring to a boil; simmer, covered, until fruit and ginger are tender — about 40 minutes. Add sugar and stir until dissolved; bring to a boil; boil gently uncovered, stirring often toward end of cooking time, until thick — about 1 hour. Cool completely. Turn into freezer containers or freezer jars to within 1/2-inch of tops. Cover tightly and freeze. Makes about ten 1/2 pints.

It's not that I'm stubborn or stupid. It's just that I cannot bring myself to think that large. This country has always put great stock in small feet, small waists, compact cars, short distances, and minute portions. How do you think I'm going to feel renewing my driver's license when I report that my height is 1.52 meters and I weigh 286.0 kilograms? Why, it'll be all over town by noon.

That's why I've made a decision. At my age, I'm not going to waste time committing an entire metric system to memory. Instead, I made a list of the most used phrases in my vocabulary, converting words of measurement into metrics. You're welcome to use them.

To my neighbor: "Mayva, can I borrow 236 milliliters (1 cup) of flour/sugar/gin/coconut/rice/butter/etc.?"

Dear Abby

Times Change, Not Her Sheets

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Here's one I'll bet you never heard before. Our son's wife is a darling girl, well-educated, exceptionally clean, and comes from a fine family. We couldn't love her more if she were our own daughter. Their home is beautiful and always presentable and picked up, even though I know she hates housework.

The problem is that we live some distance away, and when we visit them once or twice a year the linens in their guest room haven't been changed since their previous guests visited. (Lots of friends and family visit them.)

Wash-and-wear linens never look crisp, I know, but since I first suspected that the beds had not been changed, I marked the sheets, so I know they are not laundered between guests.

I don't know how to handle this, since I prefer to sleep without sheets rather than jeopardize our marvelous relationship. But when I think of sleeping between used sheets — yuk!

TOO TIDY

DEAR TOO: If you are sure that the bed linen in the guest room is not fresh, tell your darling, well-educated, exceptionally clean daughter-in-law who hates housework that she "forgot" to change the linen. Offer to help her change it. Or quietly find fresh linen and change it yourself.

DEAR ABBY: My beloved wife of 47 years passed on to her reward after a lingering illness. She had been gone only a few weeks when I was besieged by single ladies from miles around. The first who came to console me was Monica, a very proper spinster from my church. For weeks, this kind lady daily brought casseroles, home-baked bread, cakes, etc., so when Monica asked me to drive her to a cousin's funeral 150 miles away, I agreed in order to reciprocate for her kindness. (She said her car was in the shop.) Since Monica intended to remain overnight, I arranged to stay with a friend nearby. Everything was perfectly proper.

Well, last Sunday, Monica waited for me after church, saying she had to talk to me privately. She had tears in her eyes as we sat in her car (which I later learned had NOT been in the shop) while she told me that her gossipy neighbors had seen her getting into my car with her suitcase and noticed that we didn't get back until the following evening, so they assume that we are having an intimate relationship! Monica then said her reputation would be ruined if I didn't announce my intentions to MARRY her! Abby, I am not even considering marriage, but if I were, it wouldn't be to Monica. What can I say without being cruel?

IN NO MOOD FOR MARRIAGE

DEAR IN: Just pat the lady on the hand and say, "Madame," the evil minds and clacking tongues of busybodies shall not shape my destiny — or yours. Let us see no more of each other from this day on, and prove the gossips wrong! Then run as though a fox were pursuing you. Because she is.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please do us widows a favor and remind all our married friends that we do not need a concert "with the girls," lunch "with the girls," or an evening out "with the girls." What we DO desperately need, however, is an introduction to some of their eligible male friends!

I am a widow in my 40s. I have lots of women friends who say they would love to do something for me, but they're no help at all when it comes to what I need the most — a chance to meet an unattached man! I can't understand why it should be so difficult to arrange a meeting.

My friends say, "Oh, I know a very nice widower I think you ought to meet; I'm going to get you and John together." And that's the last I hear about John.

I'm sure there are some single men out there, Abby, but my friends just aren't cooperating. Any suggestions?

NO NAME IN TEXAS

DEAR NO NAME: The next time a friend mentions a man she thinks you "ought to meet," waste no time in telling her when you're available. Then ask her to please arrange a meeting — at her place or yours. And if nothing happens, you'll know she's all talk and no action. Or the man isn't as available as she thought he was.

Different Status For Garwood

Associated Press Writer CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP) — Marine Pfc. Robert Garwood once punched an American prisoner of war in the ribs and was referred to by another prisoner as "a damn traitor," according to testimony today at a military hearing for Garwood.

into combat areas and tell American servicemen to lay down their weapons.

"He enjoyed a different status ... he lived with our captors," Harker said of Garwood.

One of the charges against Garwood is that he punched Harker in the ribs without reason while Harker was held in a Communist prison camp.

The hearing will determine whether there is enough evidence to court-martial the 33-year-old Garwood on charges of desertion and collaboration with the enemy in Vietnam.

Former Army infantryman David Harker, now a parole officer in Lynchburg, Va., testified today that while he was held prisoner in the late 1960s, Garwood hit him. Harker said the incident occurred after American prisoners, in search of food, killed a cat belonging to communist guards.

Harker said Garwood wore clothing similar to that used by communist soldiers, carried guns and helped guard other American prisoners.

Harker said Garwood also talked of using a bullhorn to

"He said they (Communists) treated him better than the (U.S.) Army," Ortiz-Rivera said.

Garwood urged American prisoners to "do everything the Viet Cong would tell us to do," Ortiz-Rivera said.

Garwood's attorneys contend anything Garwood did was done out of fear and that although he may have been able to leave the prisoners' compound, he was still a captive.

"Is Bobby released when he was allowed outside the compound? I don't think so," Dermot Foley, Garwood's civilian lawyer, said after Wednesday's session.

Ortiz-Rivera was the eighth prosecution witness to testify against Garwood. Others have said they saw Garwood carry guns and guard American prisoners, and they heard him claim to be a lieutenant in the North Vietnamese army.

Foley conceded that some sort of court-martial appeared likely but he said Garwood would expect acquittal and "there have been no surprises" in the testimony so far.

Foley quizzed Ortiz-Rivera on cooperation with the Communists, and Ortiz-Rivera said he signed statements put before him by the Communists.

He said didn't know what was in one statement but he remembered that a second statement, signed a few days before the Communists released him in 1968, contained anti-war remarks.

"It was the same as the other one. They told me to sign it so I signed it," Ortiz-Rivera said.

"Did you completely understand that the Viet Cong had the power of life and death over everybody in that camp?" Foley asked.

"Yes," Ortiz-Rivera replied. Ortiz-Rivera said he did not know why the Communists decided to release him in 1968.

Fought Fire

For 16 Hours

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Fire officials have not determined what started a fire that caused an estimated $250,000 damage Wednesday to a Greensboro container manufacturing plant.

One fireman was injured in the 12:39 a.m. blaze, which took firefighters 16 hours to bring under control.

The fire apparently broke out in a rear shipping area of Banner Manufacturing Co. Inc., and quickly spread through the warehouse.

Second Battalion Fire Chief Roy L. Newman said 30 firefighters and nine pieces of fire-fighting equipment were summoned to the plant, but he said that when the first units responded they had trouble finding the fire.

"We never did find the fire until it came through the roof about 90 minutes later," he said. Newman said the main part of the fire was in the rear of the plant's warehouse "where there were no doors, no windows, nothing for ventilation."

Jerry Cox, assistant chief for fire prevention, said the lack of adequate ventilation in the masonry and steel structure and the absence of a fire sprinkler system helped prolong the fire.

Ford Withdraws From Primary

BOSTON (AP) — Former President Gerald Ford has withdrawn from the March 4 Massachusetts presidential primary, election officials say.

Marcia Molay, state elections director, said a letter was received Wednesday from Ford saying, "I do not desire my name to be printed on the Massachusetts ballot."

Ford's name was placed on the ballot initially by state Republican chairman Gordon Nelson. Ten other Republicans and three Democrats remain in the running.

Attorney Files For Judgeship

NEW BERN — Attorney Moses D. (Mokey) Lassiter, 37, on Wednesday filed in Raleigh as a candidate for District Court Judge for District No. 3, which encompasses Craven, Pitt, Carteret and Pamlico Counties.

Lassiter will be seeking the seat of Judge Norris C. Reed, Jr., who has announced that he will be vacating the position in December 1980.

Lassiter is married to the former Paula Marks and they have two sons. He is the son of the late Dow Lassiter, who was a Greenville resident.

Quilt Show Will Be Saturday

One hundred years of quilting will be featured Saturday at a War-on-Winter Quilt Show at the Greenville Recreation community building at Fourth and Greene Streets.

Over 35 examples of different styles and patterns in the brightly colored quilts, some dating from the 1800's, will be shown. Quilting in a frame and lap quilting techniques will be demonstrated during the event, scheduled from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Information brochures about energy conservation and home weatherization will be available at a booth sponsored by the Greenville Energy Program.

Persons seeking further information about the quilt show should contact Kay Clemens at 756-5221.

Board Talks Annexation

GRIFTON — The Grifton Town Board held its monthly meeting Tuesday night to discuss annexation and street cleaning.

According to Town Clerk Nannie Smith, the Board voted to have a public hearing on annexation of 5.62 acres on Wall St. The land is directly across from St. Joseph and St. David St. and is the site where a rest home will be built.

The Board also voted to have the streets cleaned by a firm in Greenville and resolved to make a decision later on whether the firm should do the job permanently.

The merchants attended the meeting and asked the Board for help with the street cleaning situation. The Board said they would be glad to work with them.

Bicyclist Hurt In Collision

Willie J. Rascal of 516 Roosevelt Ave. was injured this morning when the bicycle he was riding collided with a car at the intersection of 14th and Fleming Streets.

Police Department investigators identified the driver of the car involved in the 6:57 a.m. mishap as June Scott Briggs of 1402 Colonial Ave.

Officers reported Rascal apparently rode into the path of the Briggs vehicle, which was unable to stop before striking the bicyclist.

Newsprint Price Rising

NEW YORK (AP) — A major newsprint maker has announced a new price increase, which will leave prices for the paper used in newspapers 25 percent higher than they were at the beginning of last year.

Consolidated-Bathurst Inc. of Montreal said Tuesday it will raise its price on May 1 to $400 (U.S.) per ton, up from the current $375 and from $320 in early 1979.

The increase, coming on the heels of a boost that took effect in October and November, caught some in the industry by surprise, but analysts predicted today that the new price will be adopted by other manufacturers.

"Newsprint supplies are very tight," said George Adler of Smith Barney Harris Upham and Co. "I think the others will join in the increase."

Newspapers have been scrambling for supplies all year, and inventories of newsprint have reached their lowest level in seven years.

In addition, labor contracts for Eastern Canadian newsprint producers expire April 30 and newspapers are trying to boost inventories before then.

Some analysts had thought the impending labor negotiations would help to hold off an increase, on the theory that producers would not want to appear to be too wealthy when they meet with union representatives, who are expected to demand wage parity with British Columbia workers.

Only Power Respected

Nobody wants a war with Russia, and we seriously doubt that the Soviets are ready for a military confrontation with the United States.

Nevertheless the only way Soviet expansionism is going to be stopped in the Middle East is by a military buildup by the United States in that portion of the world.

The time should be virtually here when Middle Eastern countries will welcome the presence of U. S. military forces in their lands. We shouldn't hesitate to move in this direction.

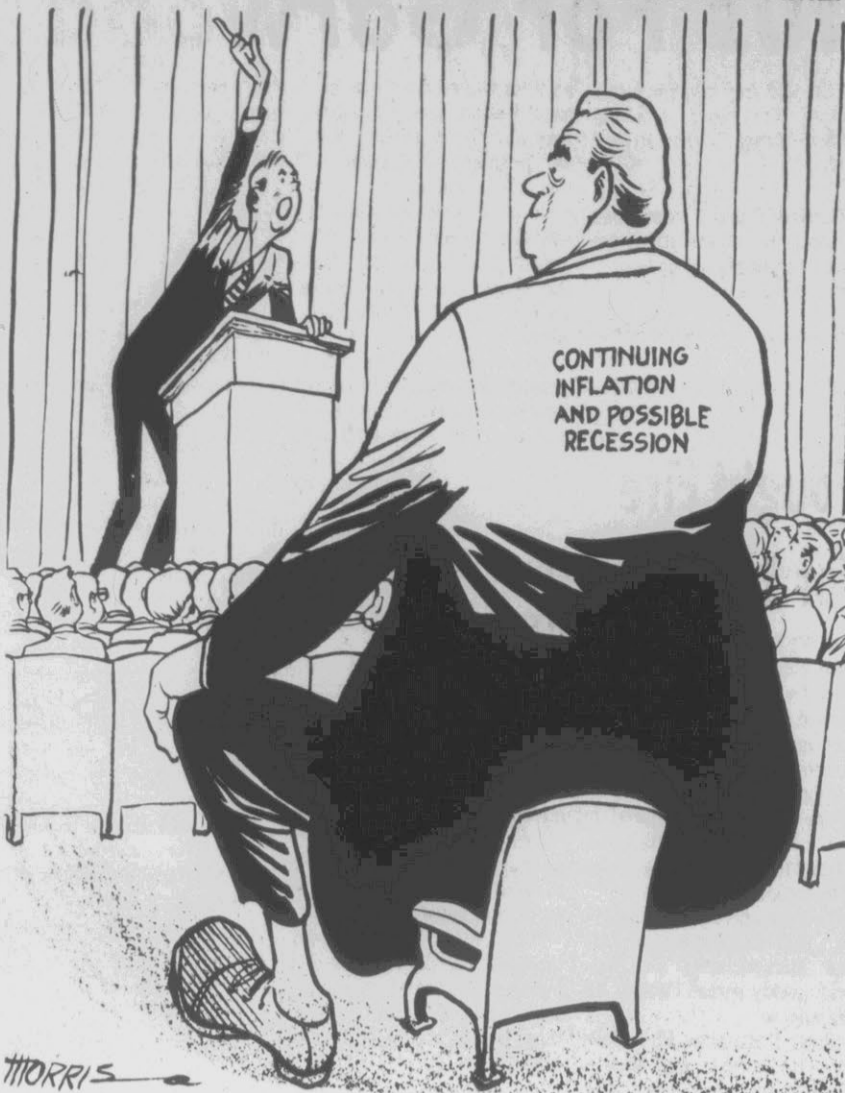

The Soviet communist government is totally alien to the Moslem world of the Middle East. The area's religious leaders must be realizing that their faith will be suppressed in any communist regime. The only way they can turn is to the west, and that means the United States.

Iran, locked as it is in its fantasy war with the United States, won't right away turn to our country for aid. They will eventually, though, assuming Khomeini doesn't hold the country in his dream world until it is too late to halt the Soviet threat.

Other Middle Eastern nations have more realistic leadership, and we would anticipate that they will quickly recognize protection from the west offers the only hope for maintaining their religious faith and their way of life.

A BIG POLITICAL POWER BY ELECTION TIME!

The Justices Will Survive

By PHILIP C. CLARKE
"The Supreme Court was a sitting target," exulted a recent full-page advertisement in daily newspapers. "Another American institution has been shown to be in the hands of men who are not up to its standards."

Something out of Pravda? Or from the underground press here at home? Not at all. The ad touted the arrival on the U.S. literary scene of one of the newest and biggest now-it-can-be-told books.

Titled The Brethren, the work appears destined to do the U.S. Supreme Court what the Watergate "exposes" of the early 1970s did to the Presidency — undermine public confidence in "another American institution".

Indeed, one of the two authors, Bob Woodward of the Washington Post, earlier had collaborated with another journalist in making Watergate a household word. And if advance publicity is any indication, The Brethren is likely to make the writers and publishers almost as much money as did the foibles of the Nixon White House.

An 11-page special report in Newsweek, which incidentally is owned by the Washington Post, claims somewhat breathlessly that the book "massively breaches the Supreme Court's 190-year tradition of secrecy."

"The results are, mildly put, provocative for the Court and the nation."

So, if the authors have their way, we're about to undergo another Watergate-type trauma by discovering that one more revered institution is only human and its leaders merely mortal.

Or, is this a case of crying "wolf" too often? We suggest that today's Americans are only too painfully aware of the frailties of our society. To dish up a bookful of gossip trivia about the Justices of the Supreme Court may titillate the curiosity of a lot of readers, but it's hardly likely to destroy the Court itself as a guardian of our Constitutional rights.

In our opinion, the authors destroy their own credibility by overdoing the gossip. As Newsweek puts it: "In two years of backstairs reporting, the authors have assembled an unflattering group portrait of the Justices in camera, shading votes, doing deals, cultivating allies, nursing enmities, intriguing where reason fails, united most visibly by their high esteem for the Court — and their low personal and professional regard for the incumbent Chief Justice."

In fact, The Brethren seems to be largely a below-the-belt sniping attack on Chief Justice Warren Burger whose philosophy happens to diverge some 180 degrees from that of the authors or, for that matter, from about 90 percent of our liberal-dominated news media.

Could it be that the book is an attempt at revenge for Supreme Court decisions obliging the press to observe the laws governing all other segments of our society instead of free-wheeling around like loose cannons behind the First Amendment? The Court has made ample clear that the media is not above the law which, of course, makes it a target for liberal journalists.

As columnist George Will observes: "Those who are eager to burn the mists of myths from the public mind should pause to consider what may fill the void. And it is not adequate to simply say: 'The truth shall make us free.' Various truths, at different times and places, have various effects; not all of them nice."

Precisely. The Brethren may diminish the Court's stature and 'chill' its deliberations because of the outlandish leaking of personal and confidential information from within that august body. But only in the short run. We have confidence that in the long run the Court will prevail. And those journalists to whom nothing is sacred but fame and fortune may themselves one day become the "sitting targets" of public revulsion. (Philip C. Clarke is a former AP foreign correspondent, Mutual Radio Network commentator, and general editor of Newsweek.)

Worldwide Condemnation

The most widely expected move in the world came this week as the Soviets vetoed a United Nations Security Council resolution demanding withdrawal of foreign troops from Afghanistan.

Now the debate can, and should move to the General Assembly. Although action by the UN General Assembly would only be a show of disapproval, the General Assembly should act. It should be clear to the Russians that they face general world condemnation for their actions.

THIS AFTERNOON

Gasohol Questions

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — The price gap is closing between gasoline and alcohol, and the technology exists to convert all sorts of green plants into fuel to burn in automobiles.

But a wood and paper expert at North Carolina State University is wondering if that is really the best use for the plants.

"The ultimate question that we face is a social one rather than a technical one," says Professor Irving S. Goldstein. "How do we want to use our biomass? Do we want to use it to produce useful materials like synthetic fibers, rubbers, plastics and adhesives? Or do we want to convert it into fuel and burn it up immediately?"

A study committee of the General Assembly is taking a close look at alcohol as a means of stretching the petroleum fuel supply, among other alternatives.

Pilot Project
One of the suggestions before that group is that the state get into pilot production of alcohol to demonstrate the methods of production and use.

Legislators also know that in order to make alcohol economically possible for farm and road use, it is likely that special tax breaks for its production and sale will be required. The issue, then, becomes one for political and social consideration rather than merely a question of how soon and how cheaply the alcohol can be produced.

Goldstein believes that government policies will be just as important as research in determining when and if the price gap narrows sufficiently to encourage alcohol.

His special interest is in making chemicals, including alcohols, from agricultural residues and wood — materials commonly referred to as "biomass". Foresters call the poor quality trees used in such processes "green junk."

BILL NOBLITT

A large scale distillery can produce ethanol at a cost between $1.20 and $1.75 per gallon. A ton of wood contains about 1,000 pounds of cellulose, which will yield about 500 pounds of glucose and 40 gallons of alcohol.

"Each rise in the price of natural gas and oil makes alcohols derived from agricultural residues and wood more economically attractive. Also, government subsidies and favorable tax treatment might be used to help bridge the price gap," Goldstein says.

A gallon of ethanol won't burn as hotly as gasoline, so it takes 1.6 gallons of the alcohol to replace one gallon of gas. Mixing 10 percent alcohol and 90 percent gas, however, gives the same performance as pure gasoline.

Cheaper
Another alcohol, methanol, is now produced at a cost of 50 cents per gallon using natural gas. Methanol made from wood would cost about 70 cents per gallon. But methanol is even weaker than ethanol, and it takes two gallons to replace one gallon of gas. Another problem is that when water is present — as it often is in a gas tank — the gas and methanol separate, causing problems. Ethanol doesn't separate, but instead burns the water out as well.

Foresters estimate that the nation has enough wood to meet about 10 percent of current annual energy needs. Goldstein said North Carolina is fortunate in having large quantities of wood and other

ONE CITY'S WOES

Default: Whose Fault?

By JON HALVORSEN

Associated Press Writer
SACO, Maine (AP) — On the 16th day of 1979, voters in this little Maine city eagerly passed a property tax limit styled after California's Proposition 13.

On the last day of 1979, Saco defaulted on a $2.1 million tax anticipation loan. Residents were shocked. Officials scrambled to pay the bills.

Few argue that the tax limitation directly caused the default. But one year later, residents are sharply divided over the merits of the referendum and the direction their city should take.

The municipal default climaxed a troubled year for Saco: Scores of public employees were fired, city and school programs suffered deep cuts and the City Council weathered almost a complete turnover of members. Over it all rang unending, often bitter public debate.

Former City Councilor Robert Cassette, who led the tax revolt, blames past "mismanagement" for Saco's default.

"It was certainly not the tax limitation," Cassette said. "Thank God we had put a limit on what they (City Hall) can do to us."

School Committee Chairwoman Glen Roth felt differently: "By clamping that tax cap on, it brought all the underlying problems — mismanagement and lack of revenue — to the surface" more quickly.

And, she added, the prohibition on raising taxes will make it harder now for this town of 13,000 to solve its financial problems.

City Administrator Curtis Tripp, the third person to hold that job in little more than a year, had no blame to assign.

"It's done, and my objective now is to cure the problem," said Tripp, who on Tuesday signed an emergency $200,000 loan agreement to tide Saco over for two weeks and allow the city to pay its employees.

As for whether the tax ceiling should be lifted, Tripp said, "It depends on the level of services the city wants."

The tax limitation, which stemmed from a controversial re-evaluation in 1978 in which some property doubled or tripled in assessed valuation, limited local property tax revenue last year to $3 million. In 1978, it had been $3.6 million.

The ceiling, which can be lifted only through another referendum, allowed for an inflation increase of just 2 percent in 1980 and each succeeding year.

Shortly after the referendum was passed, city and school officials began cutting their combined budgets.

Police Chief Alberick Martin lost four members of his 28-person department. Serious crime in the city jumped almost 25 percent last year and vandalism, classified as a minor crime, shot up 44 percent, he said.

"Just to maintain patrol, we need an additional three people," Martin said. Police morale also has been affected, he said — two veterans have resigned and "half a dozen or more" are looking for jobs.

Martin blamed the crime increase partly on the staff cuts in the police department, which forced elimination of a crime prevention program, as well as cuts in school programs and in the parks and recreation department. The director of the parks department also resigned.

The most controversial cuts came in the schools — "heartwrenching cuts that crippled our school system," said Mrs. Roth, a mother of three.

"There are parents who will look us in the eye and say, 'I voted for the tax cap,' and look you in the other eye and say, 'You're hurting my child.'"

The four public schools, with 1,650 pupils in kindergarten through eighth grade, lost 17 teachers. The private Thornton Academy, which serves as Saco's high school and gets city funds, dismissed 11 of its 59 instructors.

The schools dropped physical education and interscholastic sports for sixth- to eighth graders, and cut art lessons for all children from kindergarten to fifth grade. At Thornton Academy, some course offerings were eliminated or reduced, and the size of many classes grew from 20-to-22 students to more than 30.

But Thornton Headmaster James Jortberg said the worst crunch for the schools will come in the 1981-82 school year. The state's subsidy structure is based on a two-year time lag. With Saco spending well under the state

Other Editors Say Lifestyle, R.I.P.

(Greensboro Daily News)

Share this space with us. We're going to talk about something meaningful lifestyle. The word. If you can call it a word.

As we read the sundry analyses of the seventies, not one story did we see on the decade's contributions to our vocabulary.

Surely this is the big story of the past 10 years. Pseudo-words have piled upon polyglot syllables. There is no end to this input. It is an ongoing catastrophe.

So, since hope still springs eternal in our hearts, we'll do what we can to murder just one little noxious wordoid as our way of greeting the eighties. We'll campaign for the demise of lifestyle.

To convince you of its wretchedness, we ask you only to think on it for a moment. Turn it over in your mind. Roll it around on your tongue.

See anything interesting about it? Of course not. That's what's wrong with it. It's gray, insubstantial, vague.

Use it in a sentence. Then use the shorter, more pungent word life in its place. It can be done. If it can't the sentence probably doesn't make much sense in the first place.

A vague word has been used to mask a vague thought. To be sure, there is nothing wrong with coining new words. Language is a living thing; most often compared to a river into which many tributaries feed their varied contributions.

Good things do bob along on the current now and then. "Astronaut" for example, is a good word, though hardly out of diapers. Most of the time, though, we use made-up words the same way people cuss — to cover up our inadequacies.

As the seventies pass, let's resolve to use lifestyle no more. Let's kick it out the door. The English language will be the healthier for it.

If you like lifestyle, or any of the other new sons and daughters of Jargon, rest easy. You won't miss one miserable word. There's still a full pack to pick from.

Strength For Today

ALL IS VANITY?

The writer of the Book of Ecclesiastes was an old worldling who had lived an indulgent and selfish life, and then when he had to pay the price in the form of disillusionment set up a vociferous complaint about the world in general. He had tried mirth, pleasure, and the indulgences of the flesh, but had found them all empty and unrewarding. He jumped therefore, to the conclusion that all is vanity.

Everything is indeed vanity to the man who has put himself at the center of his universe and has thought only of how great a toll of satisfaction he can exact from each passing circumstance and person. But the writer of Ecclesiastes would have had a different outlook if, like the Apostle Paul and other great spiritual figures in the gospel, he had lived for others rather than himself.

Life becomes vain only for those who live for vain things — people who do not realize that the meaning of life lies outside of the here and now.

Stock Rally Reasons Weighed

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Another eruption of stock prices rocked Wall Street this week, forcing analysts and commentators to go fishing in their grab-bag of reasons why. Never be at a loss for words is their motto.

Among the explanations they chose were these:

It was a reaction to an almost certain rise in defense spending; it was the new year rally a bit delayed; it resulted from a Commerce Department report that the recession had not yet arrived.

The favorite catchall also was called into service. The rally, it was explained, was one of those periodic occurrences of mass insight in which "the public" somehow decided that stocks were undervalued.

And why did the public so decide? Well, said an analyst-promoter, that old stock market just couldn't be floored by $600-an-ounce gold or $34-a-barrel oil or 13 percent inflation or 15 percent interest rates. And when the public saw how rugged and determined it was they just knew they had a real battler out there and they threw in their support.

That's what "the public" did? Really? Why you cannot even get "the public" defined on Wall Street. It is, you might say, as fuzzy a concept as "Wall Street," which can stand for sellers or buyers or speculators or stock exchanges or bankers or the power structure.

Wall Street likes to think it represents Main Street. It loves to refer to the "buying public," which in turn suggests a cross-section of America, of individuals buyers, sellers and decision-makers. "The public" is something the public thinks it understands.

The public that people think they understand, however, may have less to do with stock prices than many in the brokerage community like to admit. Individual ownership is down in the past decade; institutional ownership is up.

That switch probably explains more about this week's market than the attitudes of middle America, the war threat or perception of stocks as undervalued. Institutions must invest or get buried in cash.

Cash, of course, isn't healthy today for a very good reason: So long as inflation persists — and the forecasts are that it will — the value of cash automatically falls. That is, unless it earns an extraordinary rate of interest. The temptation is always there to invest in stocks.

It is especially true for pension funds, which have the enormous burden of wisely investing the millions and billions of dollars that pour in on them. Pension funds are huge and constantly growing.

All institutions — pension funds, mutual funds, bank-administered trusts, and insurance companies — are set up to invest big blocks of stocks, and they do so almost as a matter of course. The big decision is not so much whether to invest as when to invest. It is a decision of timing.

Pollutants In Western Haze

RESEARCH TRIANGLE PARK, N.C. (AP) — The haze that covers the Great Smoky Mountains has become a mixture of industrial pollutants, a scientist at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says.

Robert K. Stevens, chief of the EPA's Inorganic Pollutant Analysis Branch, says an agency team has concluded that 61 percent of the fine particles suspended in the mountains' atmosphere are acid sulfates, including sulfuric acid.

In the past, scientists believed the blue haze seen in the Smokies and the Blue Ridge Mountains was caused by natural substances emitted into the air by vegetation.

Stevens says the team took air measurements for six days in September 1978 at a Great Smoky National Park site near Gatlinburg, Tenn.

The sulfate compounds found by the team are characteristic of industrial fossil fuel emissions that could come from sites as far away as Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina or the Ohio River basin, he says.

Stevens made the remarks at an EPA-sponsored symposium on natural emissions into the atmosphere.

He says the natural emissions still occur but they are "totally overwhelmed by acid sulfate." And, Stevens says, while "in great-grandfather's time the haze possibly was a bluish color, the haze is now white."

Stevens says he and other EPA scientists have taken similar measurements in a mountain range in the Soviet Union, where pollution levels appear to be much lower and the haze is still blue.

Dr. George Goldstein, the clinical operation's coordinator for the EPA's Human Studies Division at Chapel Hill, says the agency will research the health effects of the sulfates sometime this spring.

Concern Over Longshoremen's Move

By PEGGY ANDERSEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—White House officials, saying the president should set U.S. foreign policy, are talking to the International Longshoremen's Association about its boycott of Soviet shipping.

partial embargo of Soviet-ordered grain announced by President Carter in retaliation for Soviet intervention in Afghanistan. It also would affect cargo destined for other countries aboard Soviet ships.

"The administration has made it clear that we hope foreign policy decisions will be left to the chief executive and his branch of government, and not be made outside of it," State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said Wednesday.

"We can't say that someone has no right to express himself," spokesman Carter said of the union's action. "But we hope that the steps would be those arrived at by the democratic — with a small 'd' — leadership of this country."

The ILA had no advance discussion with the administration on its Wednesday decision to refuse to work on Soviet ships after those already in port are cleared, said ILA president Thomas "Teddy" Gleason.

He indicated the union would go along with the president if there were questions about the boycott, adding that he did not want to "embarrass or second-guess" Carter.

Public Hearing Set On US13-NC 11 Program

The North Carolina Department of Transportation will hold a public hearing on proposed improvements to US13-NC11 from North of Greenville to North of Bethel on January 22.

The hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the North Pitt High School auditorium on US13-NC11.

Essay Selected For Regional Competition

Plans for the proposed improvement call for widening the existing roadway to 24 feet, and adding a second 24 foot roadway and median, from just North on the NC 903 intersection to South of Bethel near Grindle Creek. From Grindle Creek to North of Bethel, a bypass to the East of the municipality is proposed.

Right-of-way access along the existing route would not be controlled, while right-of-way access along the bypass would be controlled under the proposal.

Division of Highways personnel will be present at the hearing to explain the proposed improvement, right-of-way requirements and procedures, and housing relocation advisory assistance.

Interested persons are encouraged to attend and make comments, ask questions, or submit material pertaining to the project. Additional material may be submitted until February 1 to George E. Wells, Manager of Highway Design, NCDOT, Division of Highways, P. O. Box 25201, Raleigh, N.C. 27611.

A map of the proposed improvements and copies of the environmental assessment are available for public review at the NCDOT Division Office in Greenville. Further information may be secured from W. A. Garrett Jr., Public Hearing Officer, NCDOT, Division of Highways, P. O. Box 25201, Raleigh, N.C. 27611 or by calling him at 733-3244.

Volunteers Sought For Clean-Up Work

The Beautification, Clean-up and Litter Control Committee of the City of Greenville held its January meeting Wednesday.

The following city street areas were identified as needing to have litter picked up by volunteers: Arlington Boulevard from Hooker Road to Red Banks Road, Charles Street from Tenth Street to the Bypass, and Fifth Street from Memorial Drive to the intersection of Fifth and Tenth streets.

The group decided that the keep Greenville as litter-free as possible, citizen volunteer clean-up efforts are necessary since city and state manpower are not adequate to continually monitor all areas.

Any individual or group wanting to assist in these areas is asked to call the City Sanitation Department to obtain litter collection bags and to arrange for the filled bags to be picked up by the city.

The New York-based ILA represents 116,000 port workers on the East and Gulf coasts and at major inland ports on the Great Lakes and along the Mississippi River.

West Coast dockworkers, represented by the 12,000-member International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said they did not plan to support the boycott.

The ILA action could disrupt transport of the 3 million metric tons of grain that reportedly have not yet been delivered to the Soviets under terms of a five-year trade agreement.

Carter's embargo, which affects 17 million metric tons of grain, did not apply to the minimum annual U.S. commitment to the Soviets of 8 million tons. This grain, the president said, is intended for human consumption in the Soviet Union.

The boycott also could affect cargo headed for non-Soviet ports aboard Russian ships. In the first half of 1979, Soviet vessels reportedly handled 1.2 million tons of the foreign cargo at U.S. ports. Less than 25 percent of that total involved U.S.-Soviet trade.

The ILA boycott, which Gleason said would affect trade worth "hundreds of millions of dollars," was winning broad support at ILA ports.

A 19-man ILA crew in Philadelphia forfeited a night's pay — at $15.60 an hour — and refused Wednesday to unload the legislator concerned for all the people of North Carolina."

Allsbrook commented, "Friends of East Carolina University and the people throughout the state know record in behalf of this fine school. They also know of my intense interest and support of the public schools, as well as other universities and colleges of higher education, including community colleges, which have progressed so well in providing quality education for all who are students in the various educational programs of our people throughout the state."

The senator said that he is "interested in the continued improvement of a strong physical education program that will build the bodies of our young people at a rate comparable to the mental growth taking place. I believe such a program will help alleviate drug and other harmful abuses among our students."

"Everyone knows of the tremendous effort that I have put forth to accomplish the maximum in the field of improvement of the health, welfare and general economic advancement of our state employees, teachers and others serving in the field of education, while at the same time having a realistic budget for the state," he said.

"One issue coming up in the next General Assembly is of particular interest," Allsbrook added. "This is the redistricting of congressional and legislative districts. I will fight to see that the people of this area get a fair shake when the new districts are formed."

A Roanoke Rapids native, Allsbrook received his undergraduate and law degrees from the University of North Carolina where he served as president of the student body his senior year.

In 1979, Allsbrook received a special award from the N.C. Human Resources Commission for his years of service to Eastern North Carolina.

In all sessions of the General Assembly since 1965, he has served on the Appropriations Committee and he is currently chairman of the Senate Judiciary I Committee.

Driver Charged In Collision

Bradley Henderson Jr. of Stokes, was charged by Greenville police yesterday with leaving the scene of an accident and failing to stop for a red light following investigation of a 6:42 a.m. collision at the intersection of Hooker Road and Arlington Boulevard.

Officers reported the Henderson car collided with a vehicle driven by James Shelton Wells of 1501 Elm St., causing the Wells car to go out of control and collide with a vehicle driven by James Charles Buck of 2514 Sunset Ave.

Police estimated damage from the collision at $2,000 to the Henderson car, $1,500 to the Wells vehicle and $1,000 to the Buck auto.

MEANY HOSPITALIZED
WASHINGTON (AP) — A painful buildup of fluid in his legs has hospitalized former AFL-CIO President George Meany. Meany was admitted to George Washington Univ. Hospital last Sunday.

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) — The leaders of Egypt and Israel agreed today that the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan was a threat to world peace, but failed to reach accord on Palestinian autonomy and Jerusalem.

President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin said at a news conference they concurred in the belief that the Soviet action was "a very grave international problem" with repercussions for other countries in the area.

Sadat said "our views on what has taken place there in Afghanistan and what we see in the area are identical."

Begin said the Soviet move was "one of the most brutal acts carried out in our time."

The Soviet Union, he said, had intervened in "an ancient, independent country, a free people. ... Then here is the question of course, logically, what country comes next?"

He said he and Sadat "found that we have the same opinion on this very grave international problem."

Both Egypt and Israel have offered the use of their bases to the United States should they be needed. The Carter administration turned down the offers but said the United States might occasionally use Egyptian facilities in the future.

Begin said he and Sadat had disagreed in discussing Jerusalem, whose arab sector was annexed by Israel in 1967.

The Palestinian autonomy plan, laid out in the Camp David accords of 1978 and loosely linked to the peace treaty, foresees an autonomous council of Palestinians ruling themselves. Israel says autonomy applies only to people but Egypt says it should lead to an independent state.

Sadat said that after these disagreements are ironed out, autonomy should be implemented in Gaza first. Egypt administered the Gaza strip until it was captured by Israel.

Threats And Fiery Cross

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Gaston County commissioners say they'll pay a reward for information concerning who was responsible for leaving a four-foot high flaming cross on the county manager's lawn Sunday.

Charges rigged to the cross apparently triggered three small explosions, but no one was hurt.

County Manager Dave Hunscher was at home with his wife and their three children when the incident occurred. His father-in-law and mother-in-law from New Jersey were visiting and also were in the house.

Officials will not speculate who is responsible for the incident.

Hunscher, 39, says the incident follows obscene phone calls and letters he's received for the past four weeks.

"You've got kids answering (obscene) phone calls, peering out windows, looking at a burning cross — scared to death. Where the hell are we when public officials in this county have to go through this?" Hunscher said.

The first obscene phone call, he said, came after he transferred his secretary, Pat Phillips. She was removed from her job after a confrontation between the two in county offices.

Mrs. Phillips has obtained legal counsel, hoping to win her old job back through a compromise with county officials.

Hunscher said other county officials have received violent threats during the past year. He cited the shotgunning of Sheriff C.L. Waldrep's home last February, the attempted bombing of the sheriff's home in April and death threats against two county commissioners, the county attorney and tax supervisor in August.

Bank representatives are: Fred Webb, North Carolina National Bank; Louis Gaylor, Wachovia Bank and Trust Co.; and Max Ray Joyner, Planters National Bank.

Hadley said that Branch Banking and Trust Co. and Peoples Bank and Trust Co. also had representatives at last night's meeting and hopefully the two banks will be added to the declaration of trust at a future date.

Major Assault On Illiteracy And Jobs For Youth

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, grappling with the stubborn youth unemployment problem, is mounting a frontal assault on functional illiteracy and bankrolling the campaign with a 50 percent boost in spending.

Informed administration sources said President Carter will unveil a new approach to youth joblessness Thursday based on attacking functional illiteracy — the inability to read, write or do simple math. Coupled with this will be a broad effort to bring the nation's schools into a battle that has been waged largely through Labor Department job training programs.

The proposal will contain the only major new program and one of the largest spending increases in the budget Carter submits to Congress Jan. 28.

The proposal results from a nine-month study of the $4-billion-a-year youth employment programs by a task force under the direction of Vice President Walter F. Mondale.

The sources, who requested anonymity, said the president will call for additional spending of $1.2 billion in fiscal 1981 and $2 billion in fiscal 1982. If Congress approves, that will bring total spending to $6 billion in the 12 months beginning Oct. 1, 1981.

An unstated side benefit for a president challenged for re-election is that the proposal will shore up his support among labor, urban, civil rights and other Democratic Party constituencies.

The target is four million youths, aged 14 to 21, who face serious employment problems in the 1980s. Half have already dropped out of school and are unemployed; of those, 40 percent are minorities. The other two million are still in school, but in the poorest districts and in the bottom third of their class. Carter's planners hope the new program will reach three million of these youths.

Administration sources said the task force made three discoveries about the seemingly intractable problem of joblessness among the young: it will be worse in the 1980s for some youths and some communities; employers say their biggest problem is finding youths who have mastered the three R's; and they base their hiring of such youths mostly on a record of reliability in a previous job.

The shift of the economy from blue- to white-collar jobs has been dramatic. In 1950, 34 percent of all jobs were open to workers without a high school diploma. By 1970, only 9 percent were, but the high school dropout rate has remained at 13 percent.

"Once there were more such jobs than dropouts; now there are increasingly more dropouts than jobs for them," one source said.

The problem for business was illustrated by a telephone company that told the task force it has to interview 12 to 15 persons to find one qualified to take orders for telephones.

The task force found the heavy emphasis on previous job experience left youths who had never had a job in a Catch-22 situation, but almost as bad off were those who had worked only in government-financed job programs.

As a result, the Carter program will add a Basic Employability-Skills Training program in the new Department of Education. Of the new money, Education will get $900 million in 1981 and $1 billion in 1982; Labor will get the remainder.

Carter's planners hope the Education segment will reach one million youths in junior highs and high schools through these five components:

—It will finance the teaching of basic reading, writing and mathematical skills. The task force found that federal aid to education has left a big gap between the pre-school Head Start and elementary school Title I programs, on the one hand, and a series of college aid programs, on the other.

—It will provide money for school systems to hire employment counselors to set up part-time school, part-time work programs. The task force found such programs are attractive to youths and can provide private job experience.

—It will pay for school systems to develop classes and information about local labor markets. "Everybody's out there telling kids to become key punch operators, but those jobs will decline in the 1980s," one source said. "We hope schools will bring in local personnel managers to talk about their needs."

—It will pay for training teachers in literacy instruction. "More than one teacher told us something like, 'I'm a biology teacher and I don't know how to teach reading,'" one source said.

—It will provide money to expand and integrate existing vocational education throughout local school districts. "Public vocational education has a good track record with kids and private industry," a source said.

At the Labor Department, combined into one, giving local officials more flexibility.

Nursery School Is Taking Applicants

The Memorial Baptist Church Nursery School is now accepting applications for the fall of 1980.

Two classes will be offered. Classes for three year olds will be on Tuesday and Thursday from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon. Classes for four year olds will be on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon.

Mrs. Marcia Pleasants is in her second year as director of this school. She holds a B.S. degree and MA. Ed. in early childhood education from East Carolina University. Prior to her directorship, Mrs. Pleasants had four years experience teaching kindergarten and second grade.

Those interested in either the three or four year program or even one day a week for two year olds, call Mrs. Pleasants at 752-6503 or at the church office at 756-5314 for further information.

Offer Mini-Series Study Of Religion

Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church is offering a study of the predominant religions of the world presented through an eight week mini-series of films and discussions.

The series begins Thursday at 6:30 p.m. and will be held each Thursday evening through March 6. There will be no fee for the sessions, and persons are welcome to attend one or all of them.

Judaism; Jan. 17, Japanese Buddhism, Shinto; Jan. 24, Judaism, Buddhism, Islam, Christianity compared; Jan. 31, panel discussion; Feb. 7, TBA; Feb. 14, Hinduism; Feb. 21, Haterites; Feb. 28, Quakers; Mar. 6, Mohammedan world. All films will be shown in Room 01 of the educational building.

As current trends in politics, economics, and social issues are influenced by the religious convictions of the persons involved, Christianity and other religions are having an increasing impact on the world. An understanding of Islam, Judaism, and other faiths may encourage steps toward world peace.

Dr. Creech Radio Guest

Dr. Stephen K. Creech, Area Director of the Pitt County Mental Health Center, will be a guest Sunday at 1:06 p. m. on "Mental Health Matters" on WNCT radio.

He will talk about the role of the community mental health center in offering prevention, detection, treatment, and rehabilitation of mental and emotional disorders and the promotion of mental well-being. Recent emphasis on prevention in mental health services will be addressed.

Area Students On Honors Lists

Beaufort Community College in Washington has announced its list of students making all A's and students making the Dean's List for the 1979 Fall quarter.

Students making all A's achieved a 4.0 grade point average. William G. Whitley of Greenville was among those receiving this distinction.

Students named to the Dean's List achieved a 3.5 through 3.9 grade point average with no grade lower than a "C." Janet L. Bowers, Curtis E. Brown, and Rita J. Ross of Greenville made the Dean's List Fall quarter.

On Jan. 20, Sandra Jones, Center Reimbursement Officer, will talk about mental health fees and eligibility. Bailey, Chairman of the PCMHC Area Board, will discuss the role of the board in the operations, programs, and services of the center.

"Mental Health Matters" is aired weekly as a public service to keep the public informed about mental health services and programs and innovations in the field.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a breather today from Wednesday's near-record pace and turned mixed as it digested the federal government's latest inflation news. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off 1.62 Wednesday, was unchanged at 850.09 at 10:30 a.m. today. Advances slightly outnumbered declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Today's volume was moderately active, a day after Big Board volume had surged to 65.26 million shares in its third-busiest day ever.

The government said wholesale prices climbed by .8 percent in December after a 1.3 percent gain in November. For the year, wholesale prices were up by 12.5 percent, with energy prices up by 62.7 percent.

Other signs of economic trouble also abounded, with the government reporting a sharp decline in single-family housing construction in November.

In early trading, Boeing was up by 1/4 at 56 3/4 and Bethlehem Steel was ahead by 1/4 at 24 3/4. Eastman Kodak rose 1/4 to 47 1/4 and American Telephone & Telegraph was off by 1/4 at 26 1/2.

Phillips Petroleum was unchanged at 48 1/2 and Occidental Petroleum was off 1/4 at 25 1/4.

The NYSE's composite index rose .13 to 62.72 Wednesday and the American Stock Exchange the market value index was up by .87 at 850.09.

Some Funds Go To Unqualified

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — is going to persons without heat bills to pay — such as those in nursing homes, group homes or rented housing in which the owner pays the utilities. And the officials say it would be too costly to try to identify such people.

"It would take months to establish the bureaucracy to determine that," said June Milby, spokeswoman for the state Department of Human Resources. "There may be some cases where people who are not desperately in need are getting money, but they are few and far between."

Eve Wardrup, assistance payments coordinator, agreed. "The problem was that simply the cost of trying to figure out that sort of thing would be so complex, we would spend more money trying to distribute the money than on the actual program," she said.

Mary Hatcher, operations analyst for the Social Security Administration in Raleigh, said all Supplemental Security Income recipients — except those confined to a state hospital or institution — have been mailed a $73 check to help cover winter heating bills.

She said approximately 140,000 SSI recipients in the state received the checks totaling $14 million.

A second program, operated by the state division of social services, is distributing money among approximately 77,000 persons who receive Aid to Families With Dependent Children assistance.

Ms. Wardrup said 14,000 families will receive $100 because they have one AFDC recipient, and 63,000 families will get $200 because they have two or more recipients.

A third state program, run by the Natural Resources and Community Development Department, distributes $4 million directly to the oil dealer or other energy supplier for those who qualify.

New Secretary Of Commerce

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Chicago business leader who has served in government under seven presidents is the new secretary of commerce. Philip M. Klutznick, 72, was sworn into office Wednesday by President Carter.

Speaking of his age, Klutznick asked: "Can you think of anything more enjoyable than getting an opportunity at age 72 to come back to an active life and help your country?"

As commerce secretary, he will head a $3 billion agency that oversees activities ranging from the census to international trade.

Soviet Troupe Cancels Tour

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — A Soviet dance troupe that was scheduled to perform here Sunday has canceled a 54-city tour of the United States in response to President Carter's sanctions against the Soviet Union, a promoter says.

The Krasnyarsk Dance Company did not arrive for its opening performance in New York on Jan. 5. Samuel Niefeld, an executive with Columbia Artists Management in New York, said Wednesday.

"There certainly is an indication around the western world that (Soviet) artists are not traveling to their appointed destinations as freely as they did before the Afghanistan incursion," Niefeld said.

Clemson Tops Duke; Heels Nip Wake

By The Associated Press
Minutes after his 18th-ranked Clemson University basketball team pulled off its upset of the year — an 87-82 overtime decision over top-ranked and previously unbeaten Duke — Tiger head coach Bill Foster felt a little like joking. "Ah, just another dull win," he said, directing the comment at those who had questioned his easy December home schedule. "One of these days, we're gonna have to get somebody in here who can play this game." Duke coach Bill Foster admitted it was "one heckuva ballgame. I think it goes to show what we all have been saying all along — there are an awfully lot of good teams in the country." In other games Wednesday involving Atlantic Coast Conference teams, 15th-ranked North Carolina downed Wake Forest, 72-68, and Georgia Tech defeated Western Carolina, 70-60.

Duke came into the game with Clemson with a 12-0 record and a No. 1 ranking. Clemson, meanwhile, sported a 10-1 overall record and a 2-0 Atlantic Coast Conference mark. The Tigers had struggled into the Top 20 two days earlier.

A week ago, the Tigers gave Duke advance warning of their capabilities with a 93-76 upset over then fourth-ranked North Carolina.

At the half, the Tigers trailed Duke 43-41, losing a 10-point lead late in the first 20 minutes of play. The Blue Devils led by as many as five points with 12:17 left.

Forward Al Wood scored 16 points to lead 15th-ranked North Carolina to a victory, but Wood's most spectacular contribution may have been a steal he converted into a four-point play.

Wood appeared ready to dunk the ball when Wake Forest's Benny McKaig grabbed his waist. Nonetheless, Wood threw up a desperation shot that dropped through the basket.

Because it was an intentional foul, Wood received two shots and sank both. "I have clowned around, but you never expect to hit a shot like that," Wood said afterward.

Mike O'Koren, whose steal clinched the victory, agreed. "You make a funky shot like that, it kind of hurts you (Wake Forest), mentally and on the scoreboard, too," he said.

The teams remained within four points of each other throughout most of the second half.

Tar Heel coach Dean Smith, praised Wood and O'Koren. "We wanted to get Al the ball more in the second half. Wake did a good job defensively in the first half of keeping the ball away from him," Smith said.

Panthers Find Depth Helping The Cause

By RICK SCOPPE
Reflector Sports Writer
BETHEL — Depth. Every basketball coach wants it; lack of it can cause a good team to lose and a mediocre team to be competitive.

This year, for the first time in many a season, North Pitt had depth, the kind Coach Cobble Deans had thought would wear well throughout the season. Although the final results are not yet in, the Panther's depth has played to mixed results.

Following Tuesday night's win over Southern Nash, the Panthers are 8-6 overall and 5-3 in the league.

"We haven't had the depth I really thought we would have at the guard positions," Deans said. "We've had some problems with injuries and have had one disciplinary problem and we lost three or four games over Christmas when those guys were out."

"I had to throw some kids in there and I guess they might not have had as much experience as I had hoped," he said. Still, Deans is quick to credit Steve Moore, North Pitt's junior varsity coach, for what depth he does enjoy.

"I'm reaping the benefits of Mr. Moore," Deans said. "Over half our players are up from the junior varsity this year."

Starting for the Panthers this year are Ronnie House and Milton Hardy at the guards, Melvin Simmons at center and Reginald Knight and Gordian Dunn at the forwards.

But with the depth the Panthers have, a host of other players are also seeing a lot of playing time. These include Tony Pittman and Cliff Harris at the guards, Juan Atkinson and Paul Tucker at the forwards and Vince Parker at center.

The rest of the Panther squad includes Randy Little, Terry and Randy Brummell and Cleveland Perkins.

"We've got only average quickness," Deans said of his team. "But we seem to be helping each other out on defense real well."

"We do have a lack of height," Deans added. The Panthers' tallest player is the 6'3" Langley. "So far, though, we haven't been hurt too badly on the boards."

As far as the conference goes, Deans feels there are at least four teams that could challenge for the title: D.H. Conley, C.B. Aycock, Farmville Central and North Pitt.

"I've got to be realistic, though. We've lost three conference games and it's going to be hard for us to take the title, but I think we'll be an influence on who wins it," Deans said. "I'm not saying we can't take the title but it'll be hard. It'll just depend on who plays well when it counts."

North Pitt's Girls North Pitt coach Gail Stanfield can point to exactly when her squad's season turned around.

In the early weeks of the season her Pant-HERS had won only two games and none in the Eastern Carolina Conference.

Then came the county Christmas tournament.

"We had a little talk right before Christmas when we sat down and discussed things," Stanfield said. "We got our heads together and we played real well during Christmas."

During that period, the Panthers defeated both Greene Central and Ayden-Grifton, which had lost only once before falling to the Pant-HERS. As a result, North Pitt takes a 4-6 overall and a 3-4 conference record into Friday's battle at C.B. Aycock.

"If we can play like we did during Christmas we can win some games this season," Stanfield said. "I think we're capable of having a .500 season if we keep playing this way."

Starting for North Pitt this year are seniors Starla Singleton, Caroline Best, Kim Sharpe and Cynthia Short and junior Connie Dupree. Top reserves are Sandra Brown and Jeannette Brown.

The rest of the Pant-HER lineup includes Monica Brown, Lynn Nelson, Linda James, Lisa Carraway, Lisa Barnes and Gladys Roberson.

In discussing the conference race, Stanfield, as do the rest of the conference's coaches, picks Southwest Edgecombe, undefeated so far this season, to take the title.

"They're definitely the team that'll win it," Stanfield said. "I don't think there's a team that can come close. They're giants compared to us."

"After them, though, I'd pick Ayden-Grifton, D.H. Conley and C.B. Aycock," she said.

Paladins Roll Past Cape Fear

FAYETTEVILLE — Pitt Community College romped to a 76-45 victory over Cape Fear Technical College of Fayetteville last night.

The Paladins streaked away to an early lead and were never in trouble against Cape Fear. By halftime, Pitt had rolled up a 34-16 lead, and they outshot Cape Fear, 42-29, in the second half.

Jeff Moreno, out with a broken thumb, returned to action for the Paladins, and it meant a great deal to the team, according to Coach Herb Dillon. "Jeff had ten assists and scored 12 points for us in his first game back, so you can see what he means," Dillon said.

Starter Danny Garriss, however, saw only limited action due to a recent injury, playing only about ten minutes. He failed to score, but dished out four assists and pulled off nine rebounds. Larry Suggs led the rebounding with 16.

"Dennis Batts had one of his better games," Dillon added. Batts, with 23 points, was the game's high scorer. Frankie Dail added 16, while Calvin McNeil hit ten.

Randy Stonestreet was the only Cape Fear player in double figures with 12.

"Overall, I'd say it was one of our better games," Dillon said. "We played pretty well."

The Paladins are now 7-4 on the year and travel to Rocky Mount on Friday to meet the N.C. Wesleyan junior varsity.

Jaguars Romp Past Lejeune

JACKSONVILLE — Farmville Central swept 11 of the 13 weight classes and rolled to a 63-12 wrestling decision over Camp Lejeune High School last night.

The Jaguars lost only twice, both on pins, as they won their seventh dual meet against no losses. Of the 11 wins, seven came on pins, two on forfeits, one on a major decision and one on a superior decision.

Farmville plays host to arch-rival D.H. Conley in a 7:30 p.m. match on Friday.

Lady Pirates Face Mississippi In Clemson Tournament Opener

East Carolina University's women enter their second tournament of the year Friday night, playing Mississippi College for Women in the first round of the Clemson University Invitational.

The Pirates take on Mississippi in the first game of the tournament, at 6 p.m., while Clemson entertains Madison in the second game, set for 8 p.m.

Saturday, the championship and consolation events will be held.

The Pirates go into the game riding a three-game winning streak following their return to action after the Christmas holidays. All three victories came on the road, against Marshall, 63-59; West Virginia, 67-56; and Virginia Tech, 78-58.

had some great teams that went to the nationals. The whole tournament will be tough. But we'd like to get to the finals against Clemson and get some revenge, too."

While the meeting with Mississippi will be the first of the year between the two schools, regardless of the outcome of either game, the Pirates will be facing an old face on Saturday. They defeated Madison, 72-48, earlier in the year, while suffering an 83-78 loss to Clemson in the second round of the Carolina Christmas Classic in Chapel Hill just prior to Christmas.

Mississippi is led by center Sue Johnson, who is averaging 20.1 points per game and pulling down 12.0 rebounds. Forward Carrie Ball is the only other player in double figures with a 12.5 average.

Rosie Thompson continues to lead the Pirate scoring with a 21.8 average, and a 10.3 rebounding average. Kathy Riley is scoring at a 16.3 clip, while Lydia Rountree is averaging 12.4 per game.

Junior college transfer Laurie Sikes passed the 100 assist mark with her eighth during the Virginia Tech game, and with a total of 107 is just two off the record of 109 set last year by Rountree. Sikes should pass the mark during Friday night's game.

Thompson, Sikes and Riley will start for the Pirates, along with Marcia Girven and Rountree.

The tournament closes out a nine-game road trip for the Lady Pirates, who return home on Wednesday to entertain the University of North Carolina in a 7:30 p.m. game in Minges Coliseum.

Emory Names First ECU Grid Signees

Eight North Carolina high school products and four from Georgia are included among the first dozen football signees by new East Carolina coach Ed Emory and his staff.

The 12 players announced have signed East Carolina's institutional letter of intent to accept a grant-in-aid from the Pirates, a team which finished 7-3-1 last fall and has not had fewer than seven wins in any of the past eight seasons.

"I think we have a good group here that can help continue our winning tradition at East Carolina," Emory said in announcing the group. "We have a good cross section by positions and I'm happy to have every one of them on our side."

The group includes James Martin of Evergreen who rushed for over 2,000 yards last fall, nose guard Tony Smith of Laurinburg who was included on several lists of top prospects in the state as compiled by the media, defensive ends Jeff Autry of Covington, Ga., and Derrick Strickland of Atlanta, Ga., two highly regarded players in the Peach State, as well as kicker Ted King of Rose High School, a state finalist in the 4-A ranks.

Martin gained 1,702 yards in the regular season and eclipsed the 2,000 yard barrier in two playoff games. He scored 30 touchdowns last fall and helped West Columbus High School to its third straight league title. He also serves as president of the senior class.

The complete list:

Jeff Autry, defensive end, 6-3, 225, Newton County H.S., Covington, Ga.; Chuck Bishop, quarterback, 5-8, 165, Richmond County H.S., Rockingham; Lawrence Brooks, defensive lineman, 6-4, 260, Northeastern H.S., Elizabeth City; Ernest Byner, running back, 6-1, 200, Baldwin County H.S., Milledgeville, Ga.; Tim

Emory, linebacker, 6-2, 200, North Buncombe H.S., Asheville; Jeff Hurst, offensive lineman, 6-4, 215, Jackson H.S., Jackson, Ga.; Ted King, kicker, 5-10, 165, Rose H.S., Greenville; James Martin, running back, 5-11, 200, West Columbus H.S., Evergreen; Norman Quick, offensive lineman, 6-2, 226, Scotland County H.S., Laurinburg; Tony Smith, nose guard, 6-2, 240, Scotland County H.S., Laurinburg; Alvin Sparks, linebacker-defensive end, 6-4, 230, Seventy-First H.S., Santa Anna Junior College, Fayetteville; and Derrick Strickland, defensive end, 6-3, 218, Archer H.S., Atlanta, Ga.

Rain Dampens Desert Classic

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A rare desert rain has forced the $304,500 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic into an even more unusual situation — a six-day format.

A steady downpour Wednesday forced an overnight suspension of play in the first round. It was scheduled — weather permitting — to be completed today.

And since the lack of daylight at this time of the year and the unique set-up of this tournament make it impossible to play double rounds, the only five-day, 90-hole tournament on the PGA tour schedule has been extended through Monday.

"Due to the large number of amateurs competing and the lack of daylight, it simply isn't possible to play two rounds in a day," PGA Tour Deputy Commissioner Clyde Mangum said.

"The courses are in such bad condition, it will take time for them to drain and for us to put them in shape to play. There just isn't enough daylight for us to complete this round and then try to play another full round in the same day."

Only two of the 128 pros — Jerry McGee and Peter Jacobson — completed their rounds before heavy rains swamped the courses and forced the suspension of play. McGee struggled to an 80 and Jacobsen shot par 72, both at La Quinta.

The rest of the players marked their positions on the flooded courses and were set to resume first-round play at noon PST Thursday. The format calls for one round on each of four courses — La Quinta, Eldorado, Indian Wells and Bermuda Dunes — before the field is cut and the pros only play the fifth and last round.

NBC, which was scheduled to provide national television coverage of play Saturday and Sunday, also will televise the finish on Monday.

About one-quarter of the field had failed to make the turn when flooded greens, fairways and bunkers made the four courses unplayable.

Tom Purtzer, with a 32, and Gil Morgan, with a 33, both at Indian Wells, had the best nine-hole scores, but defending champion John Mahaffey was making a decided move.

Playing at Indian Wells with former President Gerald Ford, host Hope and Nathaniel Crosby, son of the late Bing Crosby, Mahaffey was 3 under par after eight holes. Two of his birdies came after iron shots nestled within six inches of the cup.

Kaline, Snider Didn't Make Big Bucks, But Are Still Immortals

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Based on today's baseball economy, Duke Snider and Al Kaline, the newest members of the Hall of Fame, were bargain basement performers.

The two brilliant outfielders of the 1950s reminisced about their best salaries Wednesday after being voted into the Cooperstown, N.Y., shrine.

"My highest salary was $46,000 and a Cadillac when I played in Brooklyn," said Snider. "And I was happy to get it."

Why didn't he make any more than that?

"The Dodgers told us they didn't have that kind of money," he said. Kaline said he made just over $100,000 in each of his last three years in Detroit and at one point resisted a raise.

"I was just under $100,000 and the media was pointing out how every club in the league had one guy over that figure," he said. "The Tigers wanted to give me the difference but I had an off year ... I only batted about .280 ... and I told them I didn't want it that way. I said I'd come back and have a better season and then they could give it to me."

There weren't many off years for either Snider or Kaline, who won decisive election to the Hall of Fame in voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Kaline received 340 of the 385 votes cast and Snider, who missed by 13 votes a year ago, got 333 this time. Both were well beyond the 289, or 75 percent, required for election. Don Drysdale finished third with 238 votes, 51 short of election. Gil Hodges was fourth for the second straight year with 233, followed by Hoyt Wilhelm with 209.

Snider said salaries never were a subject of discussion among the Dodger teams that dominated the National League in the 1950s.

"Nobody cared what the other guy was making," he said. "Pee Wee (Reese) didn't care what Jackie (Robinson) got and Jackie didn't care what (Carl) Furillo got."

Both Kaline and Snider endorsed the high salaries that have swept baseball since the free agent revolution.

"I'm not against anybody making as much as he can," said Kaline. "But I am against taking the money and running. If you take, you should give something back, too."

Snider said if he made $1 million a year, he'd sweep the stands, wash the uniforms, manage the team and play, too. "If the owners want to give that kind of money out, I don't blame the players for taking it," he said. "But I don't think it's healthy for the game."

Kaline became the 10th man in history elected to the Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility. His credentials included a .297 batting average in 22 seasons with the Tigers, 3,007 hits and 399 home runs. Signed off the sandlots of Baltimore in 1953, he never played a game in the minors and became the youngest batting champion in American league history when he won the crown with a .340 average in 1955 at the age of 21.

Snider batted .295 in 18 major league seasons, most of them with the Dodgers in Brooklyn and Los Angeles. He tagged 407 home runs and for five straight seasons from 1952-1957, he hit 40 or more homers. His 11 World Series homers remain the record for a National League.

NEW Academy Tops Martin

SHARPESBURG — Winless Academy on Friday. Martin Academy stuck close to Nash-Edgcombe-Wilson Academy for one half, but finally bowed, 54-19, in a basketball game last night. The Martin girls also were defeated by NEW, 28-9.

In the boys' game, NEW managed a 7-6 lead in the first period, and their height and depth began to tell in the second period as they pulled away to an 18-9 lead by the end of the half. NEW continued to pull away from the Pioneers in the third period, moving to a 40-13 lead. They polished off Martin, 14-6, in the final quarter.

Griffin led NEW with 12 points and was the game's only scorer in double figures.

In the girls' game, Martin trailed by only 3-2 after one period, and was scoreless in the second as NEW moved out to a 13-2 lead. NEW upped the lead to 17-4 by the end of the third and outscored Martin, 11-5, in the final quarter.

No one was in double figures in the game. Martin travels to Chowan

Austin Tabbed AP's Top Female Athlete

By CHRISTY BARBEE
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tracy Austin, the youngest person ever to win the U.S. tennis championship, has been voted The Associated Press Female Athlete of the Year for 1979.

She is a junior in high school in Rolling Hills, Calif., and with her mother as chaperone and companion, she tours the world playing tennis.

At age 16, Austin won the U.S. Open last September, beating long-reigning champion Chris Evert Lloyd in straight sets in the final.

Now 17, Austin is ranked third in the world by the Women's Tennis Association, behind Martina Navratilova and Lloyd — a very close grouping according to the computer points used to make the ratings.

In the nationwide balloting by sports writers and broadcasters, Austin received 72 of 205 votes. The next highest total was the 50 for golfer Nancy Lopez Melton. The AP's Female Athlete of the Year in 1978.

Navratilova, the two-time Wimbledon winner, was third with 33, followed by Old Dominion basketball star Nancy Leiberhan with 13 and marathon swimmer Diana Nyad with 5.

Lloyd, who has been chosen AP Athlete of the Year three times (1974, 1975 and 1977), received four votes.

This is the 50th year The AP has chosen Athletes of the Year.

Austin first commanded notice at Wimbledon in 1977 when, at age 14, she reached the third round, then lost to Lloyd. In those days, the sub 5-footer wailed away at the ball with pigtailed and pinafores flying. She was big news at that tender age, but she was so shy she could barely conduct an interview.

A player most distinguished by her steadiness, Austin has steadily improved — both on the court and in the interview room. Last winter, having grown to 5-foot-4, she beat Lloyd for the first time, and in the Italian championships last spring, she decimated Lloyd's 125-match clay-court winning streak.

She was 4-2 over Lloyd for 1979 and has beaten her twice already this year. Austin was 5-6 against Navratilova.

Shue-Less Clippers Turn Back Bucks

By The Associated Press
It was a National Basketball Association game but it brought back memories of Knute Rockne and George Gipp, Pat'Brien and Ronald Reagan. "I think they were up because of what happened and they went out and won one for the Gipper," San Diego assistant Coach Bob Weiss said after the Clippers, with Head Coach Gene Shue beginning a one-week suspension, turned back the Milwaukee Bucks 111-107 Wednesday night.

What the Clippers learned was that Shue had been suspended for a week without pay and fined $3,500 by NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien for striking referee Dick Bavetta during a game in Chicago last Friday night and then failing to leave the court after being ejected.

Elsewhere, the Boston Celtics trimmed the New York Knicks 112-95, the Atlanta Hawks defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers 111-107, the Philadelphia 76ers nipped the New Jersey Nets 108-105, the Washington Bullets shaded the Los Angeles Lakers 103-101, the Houston Rockets edged the Denver Nuggets 114-112, the Phoenix Suns whipped the Golden State Warriors 113-100 and the Seattle SuperSonics downed the Indiana Pacers 120-111.

The Clippers, who trailed by six points midway through the third period, caught up on a jump shot by Lloyd Free and took the lead for good 100-98 on another jumper by Free.

Brian Taylor added 21 points for the Clippers, including three three-point goals, while Joe Bryant had 18 and Bobby Smith 17.

Celtics 112, Knicks 95
Dave Cowens found his shooting eye early in the fourth quarter and helped the Celtics to their 17th victory in 18 home games. Boston built a 61-45 halftime advantage but had the lead cut to 73-72 late in the third period.

Chris Ford gave Boston some breathing room with a pair of free throws before reserve center Rick Robey scored on a layup and then on a stuff before the buzzer. Cowens returned in the fourth quarter and immediately hit on an outside jump shot and a layup. He went on to score seven of his 14 points in the period as the Celtics opened a 101-79 lead. Nate Archibald led Boston with 20 points.

Hawks 111, Cavaliers 107
Eddie Johnson's six points in the final three minutes boosted Atlanta. Johnson's former teammate at Auburn, Cleveland's Mike Mitchell, had tied the game 107-107 with 1:24 remaining but Johnson sank two free throws 14 seconds later to put the Hawks ahead for good. Atlanta's Armond Hill sank two more free throws with eight seconds remaining for the final margin. Tom McMillen led Atlanta with 19 points while Mitchell had 32 for the Cavaliers.

76ers 108, Nets 105
A pair of free throws by Caldwell Jones with 19 seconds remaining, his only points of the game, helped Philadelphia turn back the Nets.

The Nets trailed 86-74 at the start of the final period but outscored the 76ers 23-9 and went ahead 97-95 on a field goal by Cliff Robinson with 5:06 remaining.

Bullets 103, Lakers 101
Elvin Hayes sank a turnaround jumper with four seconds remaining after rebounding a missed shot by teammate Bob Dandridge. The Lakers, trailing 101-97 with 1:25 left, tied the score with 29 seconds remaining after Kareem Abdul-Jabbar sank two free throws and followed with a field goal. Hayes led the Bullets, who won their fourth in a row, with 25 points. Greg Ballard had 21 and Dandridge scored 15 to become the 39th NBA player to pass the 15,000-point mark.

'Rockford Files' Reaches End Of Road

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lucius couldn't believe his eyes. He threw down the newspaper in disgust and whined, "Did you read that? Did you?"

The offending story began: "TV Private Eye Jim Rockford solves his last case as NBC's 'The Rockford Files' ends its six-year run..."

My pal Lucius, television connoisseur, "Rockford" fan and loafer of the first degree, fairly trembled at the news. "This is too much," he said, turning away, mumbling.

For a fellow whose steadfast job has been parking cars at the Rose Bowl, Lucius takes life very seriously. He was shaken by the ayatollah's outrages and frightened by the Russian intervention in Afghanistan. But "Rockford" leaving the air, this was a frontal asgrieved. Television loses a lot in Jim Rockford. Rockford was one of TV's last adults, a man possessed of self-assurance and an abiding instinct for survival. He lived by his wits. He could take care of himself. He was a grown-up in an era when most TV characters serve as doltish straight men for adolescent stand-up comics.

Rockford heroes were of the best sort — reluctantly drawn forth. He didn't carry a gun, but he was forever being shot at. He loathed fistfights, but, if pressed, would rearrange a wronghead's facial features — and then clutch his fist in pain.

Rockford had character. If his heart was gumshoe, his mind was strictly Baker Street. He'd resort to the sleazy gimmicks of his trade — cheap disguises, glass-to-ear eavesdropping through walls — but in the end, his reasoning powers and nimble wit always saved his skin.

Garner, 52, had wanted to end Rockford's career last season, but NBC President Fred Silverman, needing some substance in his schedule, convinced Garner to go around for one final dance. He didn't make it.

When Garner repeatedly failed to show up for work at Universal Studios, black rumors flew. "Garner is dying," the blackest speculation, was shot down by "Rockford" exec-

Movie-Goers May Vote On Favorites

Ballots for the public to name their own favorites in film performances, films, song, director, etc., are now being distributed at both the Plaza and Buccaneer movie theaters in Greenville. This includes Park Theater downtown.

This is the first time ever that awards will be presented based on votes by the public. The results of the balloting for the "First Annual American Movie Awards" will be covered live from Hollywood in "The American Movie Awards," to be broadcast on Monday, February 11, from 9 to 11 p.m. David Frost will be co-host with two major stars to be announced.

Movies nominated for voting by public ballots are: "The Deer Hunter," "Apocalypse Now," "The China Syndrome," "Manhattan," and "Rocky II."

Other nominations are:

- Best actor — Alan Alda, Robert De Niro, Jack Lemmon, Al Pacino.
- Best actress — Ellen Burstyn, Jill Clayburgh, Sally Field, Jane Fonda, Diane Keaton.
- Best supporting actor —

MIRRORING PROMETHEUS — Olympic gold medalists Oleg and Ludmila Protopopov, formerly of the Soviet Union, team up to recreate the pose of the statue of Prometheus that overlooks the skating rink at New York's Rockefeller Plaza. The couple practiced their routines in preparation for the opening of the 48th edition of the "Ice Capades", Jan. 23, which they will be headlining. (AP Laserphoto)

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are now determined to produce results that you have become imbued with but it is certainly no time to force your ideas and viewpoints on others. Show you are interested in others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are determined to produce results that you have within your subconscious and can do so by using positive and understanding methods.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try to please partners and much good comes from this. Get into a worldly enterprise that can bring you much benefit in the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't run off on any tangents that keep you from getting your work done.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan how to get your finest talents working and gain aid from a bigwig who likes you. Show more affection for a loved one.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have to be very diplomatic at home since kin could be in a nervous state. Buy some thoughtful gifts that could be helpful.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Streamline your activities so that you have maximum efficiency and minimum of effort. Friends are a joy this evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Keep your mind focused on the practical and know how to command a greater income in the future. Invest your money more wisely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be very tactful in going after personal aims or you get serious rebuffs, especially from bigwigs. Evening fine for renewing old friendships.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study conditions around you well and know how to proceed for better results in the days ahead. Complete an unfinished project.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Good time to discuss future plans with allies. You have to make better plans to gain your personal aims. Avoid a known gossip.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handling outside duties intelligently is important now. Find a good way to expand by getting into new and lucrative activities.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study every angle of a new project that interests you otherwise you cannot make it operate successfully. Morning blues are soon gone.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be able to ferret out the truth of any situation or matter where others fail to do so, so slant education along lines of research, investigation. Give the finest moral and ethical training early. Sports are particularly good here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Yesterday's Cryptoquip — YOUNG MESSENGER MISSES OUT ON GIANT GRATUITY.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: O equals B

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

hold both the king of clubs and king of spades (those cards, together with the ace of diamonds West was known to have, would have given him enough for a takeout double), the contract can be virtually assured by allowing East to hold this trick.

As the cards lie, East cannot afford to return a club, for declarer will simply let this ride to dummy's queen and the contract is home. So East returned a trump. Declarer won, drew the last trump, then cashed the ace of spades and led the jack. He did not care who won the king of spades. He intended to win any club return with the ace and discard his remaining club on the queen of spades to make his contract.

Note that if East returns a club at trick three and this loses to West's king, the spade finesse is almost guaranteed and only a club ruff—a slight possibility—threatens the contract.

Observe also that, if declarer wins the ace of clubs at trick two, he will go down to defeat. When West gets in with the king of spades, he reverts to clubs and East will be able to cash two clubs to go with the diamond and spade tricks already in the bank.

At no trump play, the holdup is used to break the enemy's communications, thus making it difficult for the defenders to cash their long-suit tricks. At a suit contract, the same principle applies, but now the goal is usually to prevent an opposing ruff. There is another objective that can be attained by a holdup play, which applies to both suit play and no trump—to gain time. Consider this hand.

There was nothing to the auction. Both South's opening bid and North's jump to game will meet with universal approval.

West led the king of diamonds and shifted to the eight of clubs. Dummy's ten fetched the jack from East, and the fate of the contract hinges on declarer's play. If he reasons that West cannot

Indira Again Prime Minister

By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indira Gandhi returned in triumph to the Indian Parliament today and appealed for national reconciliation in a speech to her wildly cheering and applauding supporters.

Indira Gandhi returned in triumph to Parliament today, was appointed prime minister of India and appealed for national reconciliation in a speech to her wildly cheering and applauding supporters.

"We are not small people, we are not petty people," the prime minister-designate said after a landslide election victory that returned her to power as dramatically as she left it 34 months ago.

"We do not think in terms of vendetta and personal vindictiveness," said Mrs. Gandhi, who ordered thousands of her political opponents jailed during the 19 months of emergency rule that capped her previous 11 years in office and led to her ouster in a 1977 election. She has accused her successors of waging a vendetta against her in the form of still pending court cases alleging misconduct in office.

In her speech, Mrs. Gandhi claimed former Prime Minister Morarji Desai's government had shattered India's economy. "We have to pick up the pieces that have all been shattered and broken, and start the battle against injustice and poverty," she said.

The last time the 62-year-old stateswoman appeared in Parliament was December 1978, when she went to the lower house to answer contempt charges involving harassment of officials during the 19-month emergency. After that last appearance she spent a week in jail.

She returned victoriously today, with a two-thirds parliamentary majority, to take command of the Congress Party delegation and receive the formal invitation of President Neelam Sanjiva Reddy to form a new government.

With races for all but one of the 525 parliament seats decided, Mrs. Gandhi's party held 351 votes. Parties loyal to her won another 22 seats, giving her a working total of 372 votes.

India's two communist parties and other leftist groups won 52 seats and several went to minor parties and independents. Another 17 seats in the house will be filled later. Polling in two snowbound counties was put off until the summer and voting was suspended in 15 districts in Assam and Meghalaya states because of violence in which two candidates died.

Mrs. Gandhi lost the 1977 election because of oppressiveness during her emergency rule period and was succeeded by Janata Party leader Morarji Desai. His 28-month-old coalition collapsed last month and Singh replaced him as prime minister.

In last week's election, opponents tried to depict Mrs. Gandhi as undemocratic, reviving arguments they used to oust her after the 19 months of emergency rule that saw thousands of her critics jailed, civil rights curbed, forced sterilizations and evictions, and press censorship.

They also said that if she returned as prime minister, it would increase the power of her controversial son Sanjay, also charged with contempt for activities during the emergency rule period. He was elected to Parliament, nevertheless, by a wide margin.

During the two-month election campaign, Mrs. Gandhi promised a firm government that would curb inflation, raise industrial production, combat crime and try to end violent clashes between Hindus and Moslems.

The Janata Secular party of Prime Minister Charan Singh was second in the balloting, winning 41 seats. The Janata Party of Untouchable leader Jagjivan Ram, who before the election had been considered Mrs. Gandhi's main opponent, won 31 seats, a long tumble from the 298 seats it carried in 1977 to topple her from power.

FOCUS

League of Nations

Sixty years ago today, representatives of 42 countries established the League of Nations. The League met for the next 26 years at its headquarters in the Palace of Nations in Geneva, Switzerland. The main goal of the League was to maintain world peace. In the League's covenant, or constitution, each member nation promised to protect the territory and independence of each other member against attack. But the League could not force its members to help an attacked nation, and its attempts to prevent such attacks during the 1920s and 1930s failed. The United States never joined the League of Nations, which dissolved in 1946, with the founding of the United Nations.

DO YOU KNOW — Which president campaigned for U.S. membership in the League of Nations?

Leadership Workshop Set

A leadership workshop will be held for the Eastern North Carolina chapters of AARP on Tuesday (January 22) at the Holiday Inn with registration at 9:00 a.m.

Chapter 2016 of Greenville will host the meeting, as advised by Peter Anderson, president of the chapter.

The regularly scheduled meeting for the Greenville chapter is Monday, Jan. 14, and plans for the coming workshop will be discussed.

Quarterly Meet Saturday Night

Mill's Chapel FWB Church in Grimesland will hold its quarterly meeting Saturday night. Eldress Cox and her Congregation House of Prayer of Ayden will conduct the service.

The Rev. Jimmy Swinson of Mill's Chapel will hold Sunday morning services with music provided by Mill's Chapel Choir.

Dinner will be served at 2 p.m. and at 3 o'clock the Rev. Edwards and congregation will hold services. The public is invited to attend all the worship services.

NEW FIRE EQUIPMENT - The Eastern Pines fire department recently added two new pieces of equipment to the department. A new pumper was purchased at a cost of $55,000 and a tanker was accepted on loan by the county for the department from the Federal Government. The tanker was a surplus vehicle and was converted to the water tanker by members of the department. It has the capability of 1400 gallons. The new pumper has a 1000 gallon per minute pump and a 750 gallon booster tank. The department now has five pieces of fire equipment. (Reflector Photos by Tommy Forrest)

The government of India recently acknowledged that its commemorative stamp honoring Mahatma Gandhi and Pandit Nehru, issued nine years ago, was based on an original photograph taken by Max Desfor of The Associated Press.

At that time the stamp's design was officially credited to an Indian artist based on a photograph "from the collection of ... an Indian woman and her father, Nehru, was based, and that he had never received official credit. She said she would look into the matter."

In September 1979, Max was given a letter by the press attaché of the Indian Embassy in Washington, D.C. The letter, dated August 1979, was from Belkind, wrote a letter to Indian officials documenting the

In November that year this column (written by Irving Desfor, Max's brother) set the record straight and detailed how Max took the photo in 1946.

In 1977, while Max was covering the summit conference of non-aligned nations in Sri Lanka for the AP, he met Indira Gandhi, then prime minister of India. Max reminded her that it was his photograph on which the stamp honoring Gandhi and her father, Nehru, was based, and that he had never received official credit. She said she would look into the matter.

Max, in the meantime, had reached official retirement age and left the AP in December 1978. He is now photo editor of U.S. News and World Report in Washington, D.C.

Irving "Doc" Desfor, who wrote this column for many years and who is Max's brother, came out of retirement to write this finale to this story above. To my old friend and colleague Max, I'd like to add my congratulations now that the credit due has finally been acknowledged.

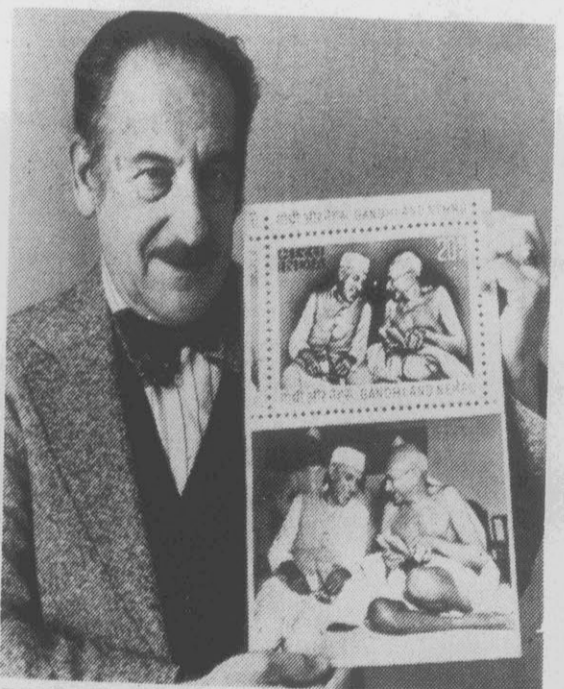

I am a photo catalog buff. I like to pore through them to see what's new, particularly in the gadget area. One of my favorites, packed with all kinds of things photographers dream about, is from Spiratone Inc., 135-06 Northern Blvd. Flushing, N.Y. 11354. It costs 50 cents.

Still another favorite is put out by Porter's Camera Store, Inc., P.O. Box 628, Cedar Falls, Iowa 50613. Their latest, K-24, is tabloid newspaper size and contains 112 pages packed with cameras, darkroom gear and all kinds of gadgets. It's free. K-25 should be out in January.

Yet another is put out by Helix, 325 West Huron St., Chicago, Ill. 60610. Between the three you'll have quite a bit of reading to do.

If you're shopping for photo equipment, there's one other guide that you'll find most useful. It's Popular Photography's 1980 Photography Directory and Buying Guide, now on sale at most newsstands for $2.95. It is loaded with guides for all kinds of photographic equipment. Broken down into sections for the various types of equipment, each section is led off by a very helpful "Buypoints" article that will more fully help you to understand what you need and what to buy.

Those concerned with camera-club activities or teaching can send to Eastman Kodak Co., Dept. 841, Rochester, N.Y. 14650, for the 1980 "Your Programs from Kodak" which lists several slide shows and movies on a variety of subjects available on a free loan basis.

Reunion Is Held By Youth Group

The Proclaimers, an interdenominational youth group, held its seventh-year reunion at the Ayden Community Building Friday.

Ron Braxton, advisor, welcomed the group and gave the invocation.

The Rev. David Hines, Bob Hines and Erwin Hines played instrumental music to accompany group singing. Dawn Holland, Alice Hines, Emerson Hobgood, David Hines and Pres. Donald Ribeiro related the influence that belonging to The Proclaimers has had on their lives. The Rev. Ronnie Hobgood gave a devotion, attributing his first experience in sharing the Gospel to The Proclaimers.

Ron Braxton, organizer of the group, was presented a plaque for his spiritual leadership.

Tim Devinyne pronounced the benediction. Approximately 50 persons attended.

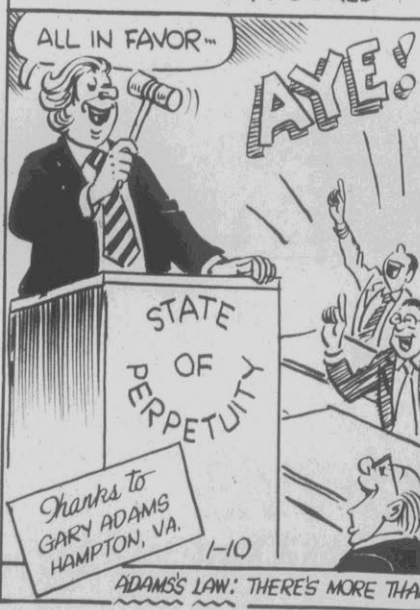

Solicitation Is Given Approval

City Manager Ed Wyatt announced the approval of a request by the Winterville Kiwanis Club to conduct a merchant solicitation here from Jan. 4 through Feb. 2.

Wyatt said the request was submitted by C. G. McLawnhorn of Rt. 2, Winterville.

CANCELLING PLANS
OTTAWA (AP) - Some Canadians are cancelling plans to attend the Olympics in Moscow in July because of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, travel agents say.

TRUE OR FALSE!!
Does A Small Car Really Meet Your Family's Needs??

Basically the main and in most cases the only reason for an individual's purchase of a small or compact car is for fuel economy. IN MOST CASES IF WE COMPARE A COMPARABLY EQUIPPED FOREIGN COMPACT CAR TO A LARGER CAR OF COMPARABLE EQUIPMENT the government estimated gas mileage will vary very little.

Let's consider some valid reasons for buying a larger car versus a smaller one:

1. Big cars generally are more durable and last longer.
2. In many instances foreign car repairs are more costly than domestic larger cars.
3. Parts for foreign small cars are sometimes very difficult to get.
4. Big cars are safer in case of an accident. One out of every five cars will be in an accident in any one year period.
5. Big cars are generally more comfortable.
6. The larger car meets a much wider range of total needs than a small car.
7. In many cases if we compare the price of a small luxury car to a larger luxury car the price of the small car will be higher with much less equipment.
8. By purchasing American made cars, the American dollars stay here and improve our economy.

The American public has been so used to bargain prices for fuel for so many years they have taken low fuel prices for granted. To be realistic in this regard, we need to compare today's gas prices with those in the past. Gas is approximately $1.00 a gallon, as compared to 40 or 50 years ago when it was 25 or 30 cents per gallon. Today's prices for gas are about three times more than they were back then. During this same period of time, the costs of other items have gone up five to ten times, in some cases even more. Stop and think back to 1974 when there were gas lines and many people went out and purchased compact cars, only to realize a few months later, when things seemed to return to normal, that they had made a poor decision.

I am not saying that your decision would be wrong to purchase a small car. All I am trying to do is to place the facts before you and you decide "Does A Small Car Really Meet Your Family's Needs".
