Soviet Expected Ignore UN Call For Withdrawal

By The Associated Press
The U.N. General Assembly called for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Afghanistan by a vote of 104-18 but the Soviet occupation of the Central Asian country was expected to continue indefinitely, until the Moslem rebellion there is under control and the communist government is safe.

intervention in Afghanistan, urged the "immediate, unconditional and total" withdrawal of all foreign troops and called on the Security Council "to consider ways and means to implement" that withdrawal.

U.N. observers said it was unlikely the issue would be raised in the council again because the Soviets vetoed a similar resolution there Jan. 7. There is no veto in the assembly, but it can take no punitive action to enforce its resolutions.

However, most Moslem and Third World nations voted for the resolution, and this constituted a stunning rebuke to the Soviet Union. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim declared: "The real value of such a decision is the moral value, because it is an appeal to the international community."

"This is the strongest action in the United Nations in 25 years against the Soviet Union," said Deputy U.S. Ambassador William Vanden Heuvel.

"It is an overwhelming vote, unexpectedly strong, from all quarters, and I think it reflected the almost practical unanimity of the Third World countries, first of all in recognizing the Soviet aggression for what it is and secondly in condemning it."

Speaker after speaker condemned the Soviet intervention as "naked aggression." Only the Soviet Union's close friends voted against the resolution. Eighteen members of the 152-nation assembly abstained, and 12 either were not present or did not par-icipate. Although Cuba, the nominal head of the non-aligned movement, supported the Russians, only eight of the other 91 members of the non-aligned movement went along with this, while 57 voted for the resolution, 17 abstained and nine did not participate.

An estimated 100,000 Soviet troops poured into Afghanistan to insure the success of a coup Dec. 27 that eliminated President Hafizullah Amin and put Babrak Karmal, a man more to the Kremlin's liking, in power and to reinforce the Afghan army in putting down the Moslem revolt that broke out after the communists first took over the country in April 1978.

Western diplomats in Kabul, the Afghan capital, reported that the Soviets have been largely successful in putting the lid on the rebellion, and one said that fighting had stopped "almost everywhere."

Other sources said the Soviets were continuing to encounter rebel resistance in Badakhshan province, in northeast Afghanistan, and in Paktia, southeast of Kabul near the Pakistani border. But on Monday, hundreds of Soviet army trucks rolled northward through Badakhshan after delivering supplies, and the convoy was guarded by only one armored troop carrier for every two or three dozen trucks.

U.S. Newsmen Given 'Til Friday To Depart Iran

By STEVEN K. HINDY
Associated Press Writer
TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The Iranian government, which has ordered all American reporters to leave Iran, today gave them until Friday midnight to obey the directive.

The announcement, made by the director of the foreign press, Sadegh Abolghassem, said that with American reporters out of the country there will be less emphasis on the American hostages held at the U.S. Embassy since Nov. 4 by Islamic militants demanding the return of the ousted shah.

"I think it will be good for Iran, the United States and the hostages," said the foreign press chief.

Sadegh's orders, received verbally by a reporter for The Associated Press at the Ministry of National Guidance, are the result of a decision taken jointly by the ruling Revolutionary Council and Cabinet ministers on Monday.

On Monday night, the government ordered all American reporters out of the country, accusing them of biased reporting. But it said French, British and West German journalists could stay for the time being.

"The foreign (American) journalists have been misusing our kind cooperation and freedom we have given them," Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council said in a statement issued after a three-hour meeting Monday night. "They have used this against our revolution and we are going to expel all American correspondents effective immediately."

There were reports that the estimated 100 Americans would be given a few days to leave, but the director of the Ministry of National Guidance, which accredits reporters, said he could say nothing until he studied the expulsion order further.

The Revolutionary Council's spokesman, Oil Minister Ali Akbar Moinefar, said French, British and West German reporters were being allowed to remain for the time being but he added: "We give them a strong warning that if they send anything but the truth about the news they will be expelled as well."

The expulsion order follows a long series of public accusations that American reporters were sending out biased and incorrect reports and the eviction previously of 23 Western reporters whose reporting or reports appearing in their publications angered the revolutionary regime.

Some observers viewed the expulsion as an attempt to reduce publicity about the ethnic minorities challenging Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's authority and demanding autonomous home rule. But others thought the regime might be trying to improve chances for the release of the American hostages by curtailing the extensive TV coverage and other publicity given the students holding them captive.

Today was the hostages' 73rd day of captivity.

Need Pilots

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is asking its former fliers to return to duty to fill the steadily diminishing ranks of trained pilots.

Navy officials said Monday they sent 1,200 letters to former fighter, bomber, transport and helicopter pilots in the first half of 1979. Early last month, more letters were sent.

So far, some 200 of the pilots have returned to duty, the officials said. The effort is not linked to any preparations for possible military action in the Iranian situation, the officials said.

Martin Seeks Another Term

R. L. "Bob" Martin has filed as a candidate for reelection as a member of the Board of County Commissioners.

Martin, a Bethel resident, has represented District Two — Bethel, Belvoir, Pactolus and Carolina Townships — on the Board of Commissioners since 1956.

During his tenure, Martin has served as chairman of the board five times. He is a former mayor and town councilman of Bethel, as well as former judge of the Bethel town court. He has also served as a magistrate for Pitt County.

A past president of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners, Martin is currently a member of the Board of Directors of the organization, as well as of the National Association of County Officials.

Martin, retired agency supervisor for Seaboard Coast Line Railroad, is president of Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Association and has farming interests in the Bethel area. He is also a member of the local board of the Bank of North Carolina, a member of the board of directors of Little Mint, Inc., a member of the executive committee of the Pitt Board of Commissioners, and chairman of the county buildings and grounds committee.

He and his wife, Sue, have two children.

WILL EXCHANGE

I received a Christmas gift package bought at the Swiss Colony Store at Carolina East Mall. When I took it in soon after Christmas to exchange it, I was told that state law prohibits the exchanging of food items. I'm still burning over this and I wonder if there really is such a state law. Mrs. J. C.

Cheryl at the Swiss Colony Store, the manager, said to bring the package in and she will exchange the items in it that you do not like for ones of equal value. She said some of her help right after Christmas did make such statements to customers and that she did not approve and has now put a stop to it. Of course, opened or otherwise contaminated packages or those out of date could not be exchanged, she added, but probably most or all of yours could be.

Bruce Williams of the Food and Drug Protection Division of the N. C. Department of Agriculture said state law does prohibit the return of contaminated items, but not of food items per se. He said cheese is a "semi-perishable" item and that store personnel might wisely be cautious about accepting returned goods because of not knowing under what conditions such items were kept while they were out. The store can use its own discretion, however, he indicated, and be in line with state law.

The Ayden Board of Commissioners discussed rezoning, adopted a new power meter connect and disconnect policy, and set the date for a public hearing in their monthly meeting Monday night.

A public hearing was held at the meeting to discuss rezoning land off Jolly Road and adjacent to the school on West Third Street from RA-20 to RA 8. The planning board suggested the area be rezoned to allow construction of apartments.

The change means that the minimum lot size will go from 20,000 square feet to 8,000 square feet.

The Board passed a resolution establishing the sale of $222,000 of Sewer Bond Anticipation notes on Jan. 15.

The Commissioners also voted to adopt a new meter cut-on and cut-off policy. Those individuals threatened with power cut-off who can prove the cut-off is a health hazard will be exempted.

Restoration of electric service will only be available during normal working hours, and the fee will be $26.

"This will alleviate the problem of sending people out after 5 p.m. and in some cases after 11 p.m.," said Town Manager Don Russell.

According to Russell, the town clerk or the director of utilities will determine when a cut-off is an emergency situation.

Feb. 11 was the date set for a public hearing to discuss improvements to Boulevard Avenue. Commissioner Speight reported he had obtained the number of signatures needed to recommend upgrading of the street.

The Commissioners carried a motion to put $4,425 of revenue from Cable TV and Workman's Compensation back into the Town's funds. The revenue from Cable TV will go into the salaries of the electric company workers, according to Town Clerk Ralph Ford. The workman's compensation, says Ford, will go into the miscellaneous fund.

Ten stop signs and two yield signs will be placed in the newly-annexed Pines area. The Board voted to delete several streets in Pines from the state system and add them to Ayden's street system.

A motion to drop $1,181.32 in uncollectable public housing rent accounts from the town's budget was passed. All legal authorities have been exhausted in the attempt to collect these debts, including

Redevelopment Commission Reports A 'Productive Year'

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The Redevelopment Commission, in its annual report of activities to the city, indicated a "productive year" with a number of significant accomplishments taking place during calendar year 1979.

The report, addressed to Mayor Don McGlohn and members of the City Council, was approved Monday night by the commission members.

Commission chairman David Gordon indicated in the report that the "city and Redevelopment Commission urban renewal effort is proceeding well."

The report stated, "The Central Business District Project is substantially complete with the improvements by the city on Evans Street, Eighth Street, Ninth Street and landscaping of the parking lot at Fifth and Evans Street. The project is estimated at 95 percent complete at this time and the city has already exceeded its total commitment of $2,289,226 in work to be done in street improvements in the projects.

"The only remaining effort in this program," Gordon pointed out, "involves the sale and development of 12 remaining disposal parcels. There is active interest in these parcels in spite of the current high interest rates and no particular problems are anticipated in property disposition."

The chairman informed the city officials that the "Southside Redevelopment Program is approximately 85 percent complete and the response of private investors in the area has been enthusiastic." Gordon said that 35 new homes and a dental clinic have been constructed and a medical clinic is being built, "representing well over a million dollars in new investment in this neighborhood."

The report pointed to the continuation of "new private investment...in both the Shore Drive and the Central Business District."

Gordon reported that, "During the year, a change to the CBD project was executed which resulted in donation of the parking lot at Fifth and Green Street to the city, as well as the parking lot at the corner of Fifth and Evans Streets. The fair market value of these donations is estimated conservatively in excess of $100,000," it was added.

The report states, "During the year the Redevelopment Commission has continued to assist the city in carrying out of Community Development activities, primarily in land acquisition, disposition, relocation and rehabilitation."

"The flood plain area in West Meadowbrook project is cleared with the exception of approximately ten parcels which will be acquired through condemnation and final acquisition and rehabilitation is being completed in the area north of the flood plain."

The chairman mentioned, "Approximately 50 percent or 25 parcels required for widening of 14th Street have been optioned or purchased, and action has been initiated to commence condemnation as necessary to expedite this program."

Gordon added, "The Redevelopment Commission looks forward to providing continued assistance to the city...during the coming year in the areas of acquisition, relocation and rehabilitation."

A summary of CD activity during 1979 indicated that 45 parcels were acquired with a total value of $396,415, while 34 families were relocated at a total cost of $255,621. Some 34 substandard structures were demolished in the various project areas at a cost of $15,890, while 37 struc-

OK Immunity

WASHINGTON (AP) — States may give parole officials absolute immunity from being sued because of their parole decisions, a unanimous Supreme Court ruled today.

The justices, upholding such immunity, thwarted a San Diego man's attempt to sue California authorities in connection with his daughter's slaying in 1975.

George Martinez tried to sue for $2 million after his 15-year-old daughter, Mary Ellen, was kidnapped and killed by a convicted sex offender who had been paroled five months earlier.

Martinez charged that state parole officials abused their duty when they paroled Richard J. Thomas, who previously had been convicted of attempting to rape two young girls.

The California immunity law "neither authorized nor immunized the deliberate killing of any human being," Justice John Paul Stevens wrote for the court.

"A legislative decision that has an incremental impact on the probability that death will result in any given situation, such as setting the speed limit at 55 miles per hour instead of 45, cannot be characterized as state action depriving a person of life just because it may set into motion a chain of events that ultimately leads to the random death of an innocent bystander," Stevens said.

Geopolitical Showdown Confronts Superpowers

By OTTO DOELLING
Associated Press Writer

Soviet expansion into Afghanistan has triggered a geopolitical showdown between the world's superpowers along Southwest Asia's so-called "arc of instability."

The ultimate stakes in what is expected to be a drawn-out global drama are extremely high since Afghanistan forms the backdoor to the fabulous oil wealth of Iran and the Arabian peninsula and to the Indian subcontinent.

Even if the Soviet Union, as it avows, is pursuing only short-range goals in the bloody suppression of Islamic insurgents in Afghanistan, the long-range effect is that the Russians will be more strategically placed to destabilize the autocratic Moslem regimes in Iran, Pakistan and Saudi Arabia, whenever the Kremlin's interests dictate.

"Geopolitics" — the interrelationship of politics and geography — is the game being played now.

Here is a geopolitical overview of the interests of each of the Big Three in the "arc of instability" as viewed by diplomatic and other analysts in the East and West.

SOVIET UNION

From the Moscow perspective, analysts view the current crisis as part of a Soviet maneuver to finally carve out concrete spheres of influence in the region following years of superpower jockeying that brought few clear results.

The most obvious and pressing concern behind the Russian move was that the unpopular Marxist regime of Hafizullah Amin would be overturned by tribal insurgents and expose the heavily Moslem populated southern regions of the Soviet Union to the infectious Islamic revolution.

The Soviets, therefore, chose to quell the Afghan insurrection and, according to experts, liquidate Amin, replacing him with a more responsive Satrap.

The Russians also appeared to be worried about the possible loss of credibility with the Kremlin's East European allies, eager to discourage their own dissident movements by raising the specter of Soviet intervention on the order of Hungary in 1956 and Czechoslovakia in 1968.

Then, too, there was the half-century-old Soviet sensitivity about encirclement by unfriendly states.

By effectively annexing Afghanistan, the Russians have come close to severing the first chain of anti-Marxist or anti-Soviet states surrounding them. Key links in this chain are Japan, South Korea, China, Pakistan, Iran, Turkey and Western Europe.

A military thrust of less than 300 miles from Afghanistan through western Pakistan or southeastern Iran would cut the chain and bring the Soviet Union to the Arabian Sea, near the entrance to the oil-rich Persian Gulf.

U.S. observers believe Russia's old thirst for warm waters may have been aroused anew by the prospect that the Soviet Union may face an energy shortage of its own beginning in the mid or late 1980s.

THE UNITED STATES

The Soviets may have their eye on the last half of this decade, but Arabian oil is immediately important to the United States and its Western allies.

About 20 percent of 8-million-plus barrels of oil the United States imports each day comes from wells on the Arab side of the Persian Gulf — 1.2 million alone from Saudi Arabia.

Saudi Arabia, a leading purchaser of U.S. weaponry, sits atop the world's largest proven reservoir of crude oil — 28 percent of the world total.

While Washington does not appear to perceive an imminent threat to the Arabian oil fields or the tanker routes, President Carter has told members of Congress that the Soviet move in Afghanistan directly threatened U.S. security because, if the Soviets suffered no adverse consequences from their action, there would be the temptation "to move again and again until they reached warm water ports" or gained control of world oil supplies.

The Russian action also has brought the United States and China closer to a community of interests.

Although the United States is sticking to its policy of not selling arms to China, Secretary of Defense Harold Brown said at the conclusion of his recent visit to Peking. "We found we have views very closely parallel on the need to strengthen other nations in the region."

CHINA

China's senior vice premier Deng Xiaoping regards intervention in Afghanistan as "a grave step taken by the Soviet Union to make a southward thrust to the Indian Ocean, control the sea lanes, seize oil-rich areas and outflank Europe so as to gain world hegemony."

Of more pressing concern to China is the security of its old friend and ally, Pakistan.

In addition to coordinating military aid to Pakistan with the United States, China can be expected to gain propaganda points in the Third World by pointing to Afghanistan as an example of the dangers faced by developing countries that get too friendly with the Russian bear.

No Formal Observance Here Of King Birthday

The birthday of the late noted Civil Rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. is not being observed in any formal way in Greenville today. Instead, according to Bennie Rountree, president of the Pitt County Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, individuals are being asked to "give time to think about the memory of Dr. King as they go about their work today."

Rountree noted that "this past Sunday several of the churches in Greenville included words about Dr. King's leadership in Sunday services."

A movement has been underway in recent years to establish January 15 as a national holiday to commemorate the memory of Dr. King. Although this has not been established on a national scale, several states now observe his birthday as a state holiday.

Since Dr. King's death in Memphis on April 4, 1968, a number of cities across the country have named streets, schools, housing projects, recreational buildings and parks for him.

Rountree noted that the non-violent movement started by Dr. King was a forerunner of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

"Under his leadership, the S.C.L.C. pushed for many causes to promote the quality of blacks in America," Rountree notes. "Among the greatest gains was the Voting Rights Act, made into law during Lyndon Johnson's term of office. Dr. King was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for his efforts. Because he turned his attention to human rights, the world benefited from his life."

Seven Accidents Here Yesterday

An estimated $11,250 property damage resulted from a series of seven traffic collisions investigated yesterday by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from an 11:49 a.m. mishap on Lincoln Drive.

Police said a car driven by Gloria Jean Brown of 410B Greenview Dr. collided with a house at 1618 Lincoln Dr., causing $1,000 damage to the car and $5,000 damage to the house.

Joseph Randal Hight of 108 Brookwood Dr., was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 5:10 p.m. collision at the intersection of Tenth Street and Riverbluff Drive.

Investigators reported the Hight car collided with an auto driven by Gary Thomas Allen of Route 7, Greenville, causing $900 damage to the Hight car and $1,200 damage to the Allen vehicle.

Police, who listed no address for the drivers, reported cars driven by Dene Cavelle Castleberry and George Phillip Baldwin, collided about 3:01 p.m. at the intersection of 14th and Elm Streets, causing $50 damage to the Castleberry car and $1,000 damage to the Baldwin auto.

An estimated $600 damage resulted to a car driven by Victoria Marshburn Harrington of Route 3, Greenville, when the vehicle struck a tree about 9:37 a.m. on Chestnut Street, 50 feet

West of the Raleigh Avenue intersection, officers reported.

Kelvin McNeil of Route 2, Robersonville was charged with following too close following investigation of a 6:25 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Fifth Street.

Police said the McNeil car collided with a vehicle driven by Frank Victor Morgan of 410 Manhattan Ave., causing an estimated $300 damage to each of the two vehicles.

A car driven by James Wilbur Conner of Williamston and a truck operated by Stuart M. Ogle of Nevada, Mo. collided about 12:25 p.m. on Tenth Street, just West of the Ninth Street intersection, causing $500 damage to the Conner auto.

No damage resulted to the truck police said.

An estimated $200 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 9:58 a.m. mishap on Fifth Street, 50 feet West of the Jarvis Street intersection.

Officers identified the drivers involved as Joyce Ann Dilday of Route 1, Coleraine, and John Joseph Laffiteau of Goldsboro.

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred Jordan has been named president of Methuen Inc.

Jordan is the first resident head of Methuen, the youngest of a group of international publishing companies owned by Associated Book Publishers.

A King Holiday?

Martin Luther King, Jr., who was born on this day in 1929, became one of the nation's best known black leaders during the 1950s and 1960s. For his efforts to bring about racial justice by nonviolent means, King won widespread praise and was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964. He was also stabbed, spat on, and arrested more than 30 times. An assassin shot and killed him in 1968. In recent years, many government officials, including President Carter, have supported a proposal to make King's birthday a national holiday. Two months ago, a King holiday proposal was narrowly defeated in the House of Representatives.

Processors Cut Coffee Prices

Wholesale coffee prices have dropped for the second time since last fall as the price of unroasted beans purchased by processors continues to decline.

Ten cents-a-pound wholesale reductions in ground coffee prices were announced by General Foods Corp., maker of the top-selling Maxwell House; Procter & Gamble Co., which makes No. 2-ranked Folger's; and Hills Brothers, whose brand is the No. 3-ranked seller.

The reductions bring the wholesale price of the three popular brands to $3.18 a pound, while General Foods' premium Yuban brand was reduced by a dime to $3.27.

General Foods, the nation's largest coffee roaster, said Monday it reduced prices Jan. 10 without announcement, while Procter & Gamble said its reduction took effect a day later and Hills Brothers cut its price Monday.

Frustrated Over Voting

SHELBY, N.C. (AP) — Expressing disgust with his colleagues over their voting tendencies, State Rep. Robert Z. Falls, D-Shelby, said Monday he will not seek re-election for a ninth term.

Falls complained that members of the General Assembly vote as they are told and not as they believe.

"A person going down to Raleigh these days, if he is not his own man, pretty soon somebody will own him," Falls said.

The 69-year-old leader of the three-member 40th District delegation also said he was retiring partially out of frustration with the legislature, but added that was not the only cause.

"I'm not going to live forever and I want to get out and do something else."

"Nobody has ever owned me. But it's frustrating to go down there and to be all alone, voting your conviction when other people are voting like somebody owns them, tells them to vote and not their convictions, and you know you are right," Falls said.

Falls served on the House Agriculture Committee and was vice chairman of the public utilities panel. Falls vigorously supported the establishment of a veterinary school at North Carolina State University.

Two other incumbents from the 40th District, Democrats Jack Hunt and Edith Lutz, both of Cleveland County, have announced they will seek re-election.

Retrial Date In 25 Deaths Set

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A judge has set a retrial date of April 28 in Alameda County Superior Court for Juan Corona, charged with the 1971 hacking deaths of 25 itinerant farm laborers.

Sutter County Superior Court Judge Robert Patton set the date over heated objections from special prosecutor Ronald Fahey, whose appeal of an evidence ruling by Patton is pending before a higher court.

Corona was convicted on 25 counts of murder after a six-month trial in 1973. However, the state Supreme Court reversed the conviction two years ago on appeal after the court decided Corona did not receive an adequate defense.

CONTROL YOUR DEBTS

If your present bills, because of economic pressures, cannot be met by your income, legal relief may be available to you under the provisions of Chapter 13 of the Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978, which permits individuals to petition the Court for an arrangement allowing a thirty-six month period to discharge indebtedness, without property repossession or creditor harassment. Attorney's fees, which may be paid in monthly installments, are determined by the Court. There is no fee for an initial conference to discuss your eligibility for a "Wage Earner Plan".

Parents Of Pre-Schoolers Invited To Be Detectives

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Health Editor

Parents of pre-school children need to play health detective.

It takes a few minutes but can make a lifetime's difference to the infant, tot or toddler who may be found to have a physical or mental condition or developmental problem.

There are two reasons to look for signs of trouble:

1. If found early, some troubles may be corrected.
2. Those not correctable may call for special treatment to keep from becoming more of a handicap. The idea of every mother and father involved in health detective activity comes from the National Easter Seal Society.

"Take a minute to read these early warning signs..." the Society says in a new pamphlet for parents.

"You may find that your child has a special need."

The pamphlet spells out some of the common early warning signs that a child may have a problem in seeing, talking, playing, thinking, hearing, moving. Under SEEING, parents playing health detective are asked to check if their child:

- Is often unable to locate and pick up small objects which have been dropped.
- Frequently rubs eyes or complains that eyes hurt.
- Has reddened, watering or encrusted eyelids.
- Holds head in a strained or awkward position (tilts head to either side — thrusts head forward or backward) when trying to look at a particular person or object.
- Sometimes or always crosses one or both eyes.

"Some children are born with physical or mental conditions — or they may acquire disorders which handicap normal growth and development," the Society pamphlet says.

"Fortunately, many of these conditions can be corrected if parents recognize the problem early and seek help. Your failure to recognize and deal with problems early may result in an unnecessary life-long handicap."

If parents find a preschool child has any of the early warning signs listed in the pamphlet, they are advised to seek help immediately.

"Don't wait until your child enters school before you begin to deal with the problem," the Society cautions.

Who can help? "If you suspect that your child may have special needs, talk with your family doctor, public health nurse, the Easter Seal Society or other professionals in the field," the Society says in the pamphlet.

"Don't hesitate to ask their advice about what you feel may be unusual behavior or a possible physical problem."

"No matter where you live there are parent organizations and agencies which will assist you if your child has special needs."

"Remember, the earlier you recognize your child's special needs and seek professional help, the greater the possibility that your child can be helped to overcome a problem."

Under TALKING, you are supposed to check if your child:

- Cannot say "Mama" and "da-da" by age 1.
- Cannot say the names of a few toys and people by age 2.
- Cannot repeat common rhymes or TV jingles by age 3.
- If not talking in short sentences by age 4.

Smorgasbord No Longer Just Swedish Term

By TOM HOGGE
AP Wine and Food Writer

Swedish cookery, always well received in this country, is enjoying a new surge of popularity in America, a widely-known restaurant manager told me recently.

"It has been the most successful of the foreign buffets we have served," said Alan Lewis, director of New York's Windows on the World restaurant, which has made a number of ventures into international cooking.

"We have featured Japanese, Chinese, Moroccan and Brazilian dishes, to name a few," said Lewis, "but Swedish drew the most interest."

An interesting side effect of this popularity has been the indiscriminate use of the word smorgasbord, which was once used solely to describe the Swedish buffet.

In Sweden, the word smorgasbord translates into a classic understatement: "bread and butter table."

Most Swedish restaurants and many homes, I understand, offer not only a dazzling variety of cold fish, meats and pickles, but also feature a hot table where you can select roast pork, fish cakes, omelets and souffles.

For a typical smorgasbord dish, here's a recipe for herring salad.

- 1 pound salted herring filets
- 1 cup each diced cooked potatoes, diced pickled beets and sliced apples
- 1 small cucumber, peeled and chopped fine
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 1/4 cup liquid from pickled beets
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon ground pepper
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream and 1/2 cup mayonnaise, mixed
- Hot toast

Soak herring in cold water 10 hours, drain, rinse and drain again. Cut fish with scissors into 1/8 inch pieces, combining with potatoes, beets, apples, cu-

Other Scandinavian countries began picking up the term and now restaurants even proclaim Chinese and Japanese "smorgasbord."

"I've even seen one place featuring Italian smorgasbord," said Lewis. Which is odd, since the Italians have a perfectly good descriptive word in antipasto.

What is smorgasbord? It can be virtually any arrangement of delicacies, although the Swedes concentrate on pickled and baked herrings and fish steeped in brine. But Swedish restaurants also feature cheeses, sausages, smoked reindeer meat and tiny meatballs.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

I have always believed that the most exciting three words in the English language are, "Just add water."

This is obviously true of hot tubs and saunas. I don't own a home spa, but I know of a lot of people who think they're the greatest things since black towels.

In every ad you see for them, the people are laid back with their arms outstretched while their faces reflect an ecstasy reserved only for a loan approval.

I never know what to do in a whirlpool. After I guide my body carefully through a maze of water currents and find a seat, I just sit there and watch my fingers shrivel.

We were traveling with another couple through California recently when the sign on the motel advertised, "Hot Tubs." Since it was cold and raining and we were all suffering from passenger fatigue, the sign lured us in.

Within minutes after we checked in, the other female companion and I were standing at the edge of this outdoor, boiling caldron in our underwear. I put my foot in the tub. (My tea should be served this hot.) Pacing myself, I allowed an inch of my body to enter the tub every eight minutes. Later, I thought what a sight we must have been . . . both of us sitting there cooking in a tub with only our plastic rain scarves showing above the water.

No one said anything for a few minutes. Then I said, "I was just thinking. Do you ever use your crock pot?"

"Not a lot," she said. "I never think about it until it's too late."

We sat in silence another 15 minutes. Then she said, "The Wehrles had one of these tubs put in their new home in the backyard."

"Does she like it?" I asked. "She said it was just another way of getting the phone to ring."

Another woman entered the tub. She had on a bikini and her stomach was flat and her legs long and slim.

I looked at my friend. We both made the decision at the same time. We stretched our arms out, laid back and smiled like we had just heard voices. Now I knew why people looked like that in the spa ads.

No one wanted to leave first.

Freeport is one of the fine cities of the Bahamas. When visiting, you will find its shopping based in the International Bazaar in the downtown area. The Bazaar is a simulacrum of market streets found in countries such as France, Spain, Mexico, Japan, and the Scandinavian nations and displays goods from these countries at bargain prices. Interspersed with the shops are cafes and restaurants serving various national cuisines. In addition, branches of Nassau stores are scattered throughout the Bazaar and a small straw market is located at one end for last minute souvenirs.

Freeport and the Bahamas is a very exciting and interesting spot to visit. Love's Unflawed By Birth Defect

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1980 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: This letter has taken me 2 1/2 years to write. It is in response to someone who asked you if she should acknowledge the birth of a friend's baby who had been diagnosed as having Down's Syndrome. (Mongolism.) Thank you, Abby, for saying, "Yes, the mother of such a child needs all the support and cheering up she can get."

I read that column the day I came home from the hospital with little Jimmy, my newborn Down's Syndrome baby. But there is so much more that most people need to know, and as one who has had that experience, may I say it:

Please keep in mind that what happened to Jimmy was tragic, but the child himself is not a tragedy, and neither is his birth. He is as much a loving member of our family as our other children, so do send a card, a note, or a little gift to acknowledge his birth.

Here are a few suggestions that will help you feel more comfortable when talking to new parents of a Down's baby: Please don't ask if "insanity" runs in the family. Down's Syndrome is a chromosome defect, and is rarely hereditary. Furthermore, a Down's child is retarded, which is vastly different from insane.

Don't hesitate to ask how he is getting along. Some people avoid mentioning the child (as though he had died) because they think the situation is too horrible to discuss.

When the child seems to be progressing, please don't say he seems "normal" and maybe won't be retarded after all! New parents need to face up to the facts regarding their special child before they themselves can accept him as he is. By denying his limitations, you encourage false hopes, and convey the message that you don't really accept or love him.

About a third of all Down's children are born with heart defects. Our Jimmy required open-heart surgery. He survived the operation and is much improved. We thank God for that, so please don't say it might have been a "blessing" had he died. And don't express surprise that they "would bother" to operate on such a child.

Please believe the parents when they say that their special child is a very worthwhile little person, and they are actually glad to have him. While Down's Syndrome is nothing to wish for, it can be accepted, and is not nearly as catastrophic as it seems the first few weeks.

In the beginning, the parents need to talk about their feelings. Don't argue. Listen. Let them weep, and weep with them. And when they can finally smile about their baby, you smile, too.

Don't refer to the child as "that poor little thing." It hurts me to see people look upon my child with pity, and know that they wish he had never been born. He's not repulsive in the least, and I can honestly say that much good has already come from our little treasure. Our other children (the eldest is 9) have learned understanding and compassion because of their little brother. We told them the truth immediately, and they have loved him from the day they first saw him.

I cannot imagine life without Jimmy. He is the sunshine of our lives. People don't mean to be insensitive or cruel—they just don't know how to handle the birth of an exceptional child. I know this is much too long for your column, Abby, but please print as much of it as possible. You will be doing a tremendous service to many.

JIMMY'S MOTHER: ROCHESTER, N.Y.

DEAR MOM: Your letter filled an entire column. But it was well worth the space. I know I speak for many when I say "thank you" for writing.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Winter has been here for sometime now and the selection of fruits in the store has been rather disappointing lately. Should you stop eating fresh fruits until spring? The answer is definitely NO! The best fresh fruits during the cold months are apples and oranges. The apples can be baked if they are not as crisp as you like them. You can still receive fiber from a baked apple and it is a very satisfying dessert. A grapefruit half can be broiled with flavor extract such as rum or brandy. An eye and taste appealing dessert is made by alternating layers of cottage cheese and grapes and strawberries in a parfait glass. Topped with crumbled Wasa Brod. You can still enjoy fruits throughout the cool months by using your imagination when preparing them.

Possibilities On Rails

It has been many years since the passenger trains rolled on Seaboard Coastline (then Atlantic Coastline) and Norfolk Southern (now owned by Southern) tracks through Pitt County.

If the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce has its way, however, the trains may roll again. A delegation from the Chamber went to Washington last week to discuss the possibility of an Amtrak route through Eastern North Carolina.

The route would follow Seaboard Coastline and Southern tracks from Norfolk to Memphis, Tenn. Possible stops would be Elizabeth City, Edenton, Washington, Greenville, Rocky Mount, Raleigh and Charlotte.

Lynne Olmstead, director of community development for the Chamber, said the route would be planned to serve resort areas and connect major university cities.

There are possibilities for such a route. Both the Southern and Seaboard Coastline tracks have been upgraded in recent years. Some of the major growth centers of the southeast would be joined by the proposed passenger run, some of them not having any passenger rail service at present.

It won't be easy getting a new Amtrak route approved, but it is possible to do so. Municipalities along the route should get together and attempt to show the feasibility of such a route.

Rein Death A Shock In N.C.

The death of Robert E. "Bo" Rein was shocking to his many friends in North Carolina.

Rein wandered far off course, traveled over North Carolina and finally crashed at sea off Virginia.

SCRABBLE, VA. — After 44 years of editing, promoting and selling other people's syndicated columns, Harry Elmlark is about to launch a column of his own. He intends to write a column about writing — more specifically about words — and every newspaper editor in the country who knows Harry will wish him all the luck in the world.

He is modest, as Muhammad Ali is modest; he is diffident, as Rosie Grier is diffident; he is a shrinking violet in a class with thistles and cacti. All of which made him for many years the supersalesman of the syndicate business, the quintessential guy with a feature to sell that no editor could possibly refuse.

Not good enough, said Harry. He thought there must be a snappier explication somewhere. How about "flaunt" and "flout," he asked. I remarked that the president of the United States, Mr. Carter, messed those up the other day. Mr. Carter had the Iranians flaunting the law.

Car Fumes Worry

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Residents of Mecklenburg County, and of other urban areas of the state in coming years, are liable to be fuming themselves if state officials follow through on plans to inspect automobile and light truck emission fumes for air pollutants.

Specialists at the North Carolina Department of Natural Resources and Community Development have decided that the level of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons which come primarily from truck and exhausts "periodically exceed national standards" in Charlotte, the state's largest city.

vehicles that travel the highways in the county." The state study commission now underway has been told that the work should also be done in such a way that inspection can be installed in future years in other urban centers of the state where auto and truck emissions are likely to reach a pollution stage.

The Environmental Management Commission in Raleigh has decided that an inspection and maintenance program for cars and light trucks is needed, and the General Assembly agreed to establish an Air Quality Legislative Study Commission to tackle the dilemma of how best to establish such an inspection and maintenance program.

BILL NOBLITT

Total cost of such a program in Charlotte would run from $12 million to $20 million over a 10-year period, and motorists would pay an inspection fee of between $4 and $5 yearly for the service, state specialists figure. A voluntary inspection program at the outset leading to mandatory regulations by the mid-1980s has been proposed.

Other Editors Say A Gasohol Push

(Washington Daily News)
Vice President Walter F. Mondale, on behalf of the Carter administration, has committed the United States to spend $1.15 billion to buy grain that had been previously earmarked for shipment to the Soviet Union.

In making the announcement, the vice president stated "American farmers are just as willing as other Americans to carry their share of the burden — but they must not be forced to carry an extra share just because they are farmers. Our purpose in buying the grain is to protect against losses, not guarantee profits."

We support the president's decision to revoke the grain sales on the one hand and then guarantee against farmers' losses on the other, but any plan to commit over two billion dollars in our tax money should provide some provision for a return on such a large investment. We feel that one exists.

Currently there are over 50 bills pending in Congress for providing alcohol production subsidies. Also, Pres. Carter's energy package proposes making permanent the temporary exemption gasohol now enjoys from the four-cents-per-gallon federal excise tax on gasoline.

Perhaps the grain that the United States is about to purchase can be used for a rapid expansion of the gasohol program. Gasohol is available now in a blend of ten percent ethanol and 90 percent gasoline, but research shows that mixture of twenty percent ethanol is feasible in American cars without major modifications. Alcohol added to gasoline increased octane levels, replacing lead and creating a cleaner burning fuel. Also, vehicles that run entirely on alcohol seem to be practical in the near future.

Yet there are problems still to be worked out. The distillation of alcohol requires energy and the end must be made to outweigh the means. Now is the time to commit to such research, and in the wake of the government's grain purchases the need is greater still.

The government had already planned a step-up of gasohol production before the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, but we now must go all out. We have more reason than ever to prove, ironically, that gasoline and alcohol do mix.

Strength For Today

DEEP IN THE JUNGLE
Dr. Albert Schweitzer, the noted German missionary of a generation ago, left a comfortable life to go into the darkness, disease, sin and death of the African jungle. He wrote: "I work with unbroken concentration but without hurry. However much I am at the mercy of the world, I never let myself get lost by brooding over its misery. I hold firmly to the thought that if I can, I will do a little to bring some portion of that misery to an end."
Schweitzer left three distinguished careers when he went to Africa. He was a great musician who gave organ concerts attended by thousands of people. He was also a noted physician and theologian. But he gave up all of this in order that he might serve the most lowly of people in a spirit of self-sacrifice. He spent his days among the patients in his hospital. On Sundays he preached at church services. Here was a Christian indeed. "Inasmuch as ye have done it to the least of these my brethren, he have done it unto me."

Big John In Private Talk

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — In another effort to end Jewish anger over his Middle East peace plan, John B. Connally spent two hours in an unannounced talk with Israeli Ambassador Ephraim Evron at the Palm Beach home of Max Fisher, a prominent Republican Jewish leader from Detroit, the day after Christmas.

Republicans might substantially improve in the Senate but probably not in the House.

Particularly targeted for courtship by a Reagan administration would be leading lights in the Coalition for a Democratic Majority (CDM), the defense-oriented political lobby headed by Ben Wattenberg, a former White House aide to Lyndon B. Johnson. Honorary CDM chairmen are Sens. Henry M. Jackson and Daniel Patrick Moynihan.

Connally's Mideast proposals were bold and comprehensive but they were considered unfriendly by Israel and some American Jewish leaders. They have kept him in hot water with the American Jewish community ever since his Oct. 11 speech.

At the time, aides of the Republican presidential candidate were furious at alleged "leaks" from the Israeli Embassy here, adding fuel to the anti-Connally fires. The meeting with Evron, arranged by Fisher, gave Connally a chance to explain pro-Israeli parts of his Mideast peace plan and counter his critics. Connally also told Evron that he would make another major Mideast speech in the near future elaborating on his bold October speech.

A footnote: The sudden ouster of Sam Hoskinson, Connally's top issues operative, by the campaign's new superboss, Charles Keating, sent a shock wave through Connally's Arlington, Va., headquarters operation here last week. Hoskinson, who left President Carter's National Security Council staff to join Connally's campaign last spring, was the 13th campaign aide to be fired by Keating.

Culver has been studiously neutral in the Carter-Kennedy race. He worried the Carter camp when he bought statewide radio time the evening of Jan. 21 — coinciding with Iowa's important Democratic caucuses that will choose between Carter and Kennedy. What's more, Culver sent out letters urging each of the 2,510 caucuses to tune in the radio to hear him. Was he planning a dramatic 11th hour plea for old pal Teddy?

Not a chance. Culver, facing a tough battle for reelection to the Senate has no intention of antagonizing Carterites (though nobody doubts his personal preference for Kennedy). Culver's Iowa staffers now have made clear that his radio message will urge support for his Senate campaign and certainly not choose sides for president.

The Reagan Cabinet

Front-running Ronald Reagan and the team of top strategists planning his Republican presidential campaign reached solid agreement on one post-election policy during their three-day, closed-door strategy session in Los Angeles last week: to bring conservative and moderate Democrats into a Reagan Cabinet and government.

Culver has been studiously neutral in the Carter-Kennedy race. He worried the Carter camp when he bought statewide radio time the evening of Jan. 21 — coinciding with Iowa's important Democratic caucuses that will choose between Carter and Kennedy. What's more, Culver sent out letters urging each of the 2,510 caucuses to tune in the radio to hear him. Was he planning a dramatic 11th hour plea for old pal Teddy?

It was not merely Brock's decision that rankled but the fact that it was reached without consulting senior Republican politicians from the farm belt — such as Bob Ray, the man who has governed Iowa for 12 years. Ray felt Brock undercut Republican presidential hopefuls, all of whom (with the exception of maverick Rep. John Anderson) have opposed the embargo. Ray, who normally does not seek out confrontation, planned to telephone Brock in Washington with a piece of his mind.

All this, of course, depends on Reagan holding his lead position, winning nomination and then election next November. The Reagan operatives will push hard for a conservative coalition not only to help Reagan staff his government but to give him a shot at a working coalition-majority on Capitol Hill. Congress has heavy Democratic majorities in both houses today, a situation that the NEW YORK (AP) — Sleeve-wise, I have some-of-the cuff remarks I would like to address to the shirt cutters, chemists and haberdashers in the Garment District or wherever they ply their trade.

In fact, I shall probably blow my stack, vent my spleen and snap my cuffs if the clerk attempts to foist off on me the "average sleeve length" that the New York Times said in a recent fashion report was the unavoidable coming thing at the shirt counter.

The next time I go to Macy's or Bloomingdale's to select the button down white Oxford dress shirts that are by Journalism's unwritten law every columnist's trade mark, I shall become very ill-tempered if they do not have my exact sleeve length.

According to the Times, 50 percent of the shirts made today still come in exact neck widths right down to the half inch but are available in only two sleeve lengths: regular (32-33) and long (34-35). Not

A 'Small Business' Can Vary

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — What is a "small business"?

It's as good a time as any to ask the question, because delegates to the White House Conference on Small Business right now are seeking more official recognition for this vital element of economic society.

asked the question several years ago. He pondered. The definition is vague, he conceded, after several moments of reflection. But, he concluded, many people consider it to include any company that isn't one of the 1,000 largest industrial concerns.

companies to attend this week's main event. Small business groups call attention to the special problems of small business by saying that there's a difference between Smith's Machine Shop and General Motors. You can't treat them the same, they say.

Expect instead, that some people will deem a business small when it has no more than three or five employees, while others will squeeze into the category businesses employing thousands of workers.

By that definition, a company can employ thousands of workers, and have sales far in excess of $50 million and assets of $100 million or more. It can be the biggest company in the community, in the county.

The Small Business Administration works with fairly broad boundaries. At latest count (1975) it lists 13.9 million U.S. businesses. Exclusion of farms reduces the total to 10.7 million; exclusion of big businesses drops it to 10.4 million, or 96.7 percent of nonfarm businesses.

In fact, it might even be argued that there are more differences within the small business category than there are between it and big business. Earnings, ownership, assets, employees and goals are in themselves categories that make them different.

Milton Stewart, who headed the Small Business Association (private) before he became chief advocate for the Small Business Administration (public), was

Arthur Levitt, chairman of the American Stock Exchange who is also chairman of the commission that helped organize the conference, said he expected some Amex

Poultry
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) (NCDA) - The North Carolina f.o.b. dock broiler market was steady today. Supply moderate to light. Demand good. Weights desirable to heavy. The North Carolina dock weighted average price this week is 43.31 cents per pound for small purchases of plant-grade broilers picked up at processing plants. Estimated slaughter today was 1,684,000.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market worked its way ahead in active trading today, extending its early-1980 rally. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which closed Monday at a three-month high, picked up another 2.13 to 865.70 in the first half hour today. Gainers took a 3-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. Gold prices, meanwhile, continued their most recent surge, reaching a record $682 an ounce at the morning fixing in London and touching the $700 level briefly in New York. The latest jump in the gold price has been attributed partly to the tensions in Iran and Afghanistan.

Those same factors have helped touch off a scramble to buy stocks of gold-mining companies and other concerns with commodity assets. Today's early volume leaders included International Paper, up 1/4 at 39 1/2; Gulf Oil, up 1/4 at 34 1/2, and Phelps Dodge, ahead 1/2 at 36 1/2.

Paving Contracts For Winterville Approved

The Winterville Board of Commissioners met Monday night to discuss paving contracts and to hear a presentation on Pitt Community College's Adult Basic Education program.

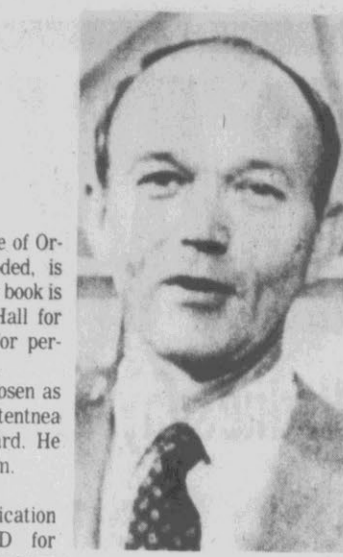

The Board approved paving contracts that totaled around $13,000. According to Elwood Nobles, town clerk, the contracts were for North Railroad Street, Rosewood Avenue, Lynn Loop, and Gayle Blvd., which have already been paved. Paving Gaylord Street and Bethanna Court was discussed and a decision will be made in several days on how much paving is to be done. The Commissioners approved paving parts of Weathering Heights also.

Murray Otterbridge and Kay Allen presented an explanation of the Adult Basic Education program at PCC. The college wants Winterville to help recruit students and provide classroom space in the community. Said Nobles, "Their purpose is to promote better communication between the college and communities." It was reported at the meeting that the Winterville Code of Ordinances, recently recoded, is now in a bound book. The book is available at the Town Hall for public use, but copies for personal use are five dollars.

Leland Tucker was chosen as a member of the Contentnea Metropolitan Sewer Board. He will serve a four-year term. Winterville's pre-application for $498,000 from HUD for rehabilitation of areas in town was acknowledged and Nobles reported that action will be taken on it in 60 days.

tures under rehabilitation at an overall cost of $248,175. Faye Brewington, staff real estate officer and project manager, told commissioners that since the last meeting, three acquisitions were closed in West Meadowbrook and one in Southside. Mrs. Brewington said that six demolitions took place during the month, all in the South Evans area, and five families were relocated, including three in South Evans and one each in West Meadowbrook and the CBD. Options were obtained on two parcels in South Evans, two in West Meadowbrook and one in the area of the West Greenville thoroughfare. Staff rehabilitation officer Ed Cobb reported that one 312 grant was completed involving a structure at Cotanche and 13th Streets, while one loan, involving a Ford Street structure, was co-letted. a judgement served over a year ago, Housing Authority Director Jerry Cox reported. Dr. Elliot Dixon was appointed as a representative to the Mid-East Commission Board. The Board planned two trips Monday night, Jan. 21 was the tentative date set to tour Morehead City's solid waste collection system. An appointment has been made for Thursday to go to Greensboro to talk with HUD representative about reconsideration of Ayden's proposed 50 unit site for public housing.

HUD did not approve the site proposed by the town is the possibility that federal funds will be lost, Russell reported. The Commissioners passed a recommendation to have a detailed rate study done by a rate study firm in order to make sound decisions about utility rates. Proposals will be taken and the lowest bidder will be accepted by Jan. 23. Vandals at the cemetery on Blount Street has necessitated the erection of a fence. The fence will be locked at night but open during the day. According to Russell, the fence is designed to keep cars out, not people.

Four Die When Bus Collided
JUNCTION CITY, Ark. (AP) - Four handicapped persons were killed when the small bus in which they were riding collided with a loaded gravel truck in heavy fog, police said. Authorities said Thomas Daniels, 28, died at a hospital, and Lisa Marsh, 11, Dell Williams, 18, and his brother L.J. Williams, 17, were killed in the crash Monday about 15 miles south of El Dorado. The bus was operated by the South Arkansas Regional Health Center in El Dorado. All four victims suffered from either a physical or mental handicap, authorities said.

Book Disavowed By Publisher

NEW YORK (AP) - "Katharine the Great," a controversial biography of Washington Post publisher Katharine Graham, has been disavowed by its publisher. Harcourt Brace Jovanovich has "reverted the (book) rights to the author," said spokesman Richard Udell. He declined to give a reason, saying only "This involves our relationship with the author and it would not be nice to comment."

The book alleges that the CIA fed the Washington Post information about the Watergate case because it was angry at President Nixon. Author Deborah Davis was not immediately available for comment. Elaine Markson, the author's agent, said 21,000 of the 25,000 books in the first printing had been sold.

Orders Book Be Removed

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - Greensboro City School Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Newbold has overruled the decision of a committee he appointed and has ordered the removal of a book about a 16-year-old car thief from school libraries. The paperback, "The Car Thief" by Theodore Wessner, was censored by Newbold because of its "profane and obscene language."

The censorship stems from complaints last fall by the parents of a student at Jackson Junior High School. The incident prompted Newbold's appointment of a special standing committee to evaluate library materials that draw complaints, even though it is school board policy for librarians to read books before they are placed on the shelves. The committee, comprised of parents, teachers and students decided the book was "appropriate for mature senior high school and adult audiences, but inappropriate for junior high school ages." Newbold eventually turned down the committee's suggestion after his own examination of the book. Although he said he did not read the whole book, he said he "saw enough obscene language to upset me." "I don't want Greensboro schools to get the reputation as a witch-hunting, book-burning school system. We are endorsing the high standards of literature and not the lowest level of language you hear on the streets," Newbold said. Parents who disagree with the ruling may appeal Newbold's decision to the city school board, he said.

The book appeared on school library shelves when a media specialist ordered a "package deal" of paperback books. The book was chosen based on reviews in "Book Review Digest," a source librarians use to select books.

Four In Family Shot To Death

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) - Four members of an Evansville family were found shot to death after apparently coming home and discovering burglars, state police said. Officials said all four victims were bound and each had been shot once in the head, apparently late Monday night. Investigators said all four were wearing coats, and the motor was running in the family car, which was found in the driveway to the home in this Ohio river city. Police identified the victims as Patrick Gilligan, 30; his wife, Theresa, 30; their daughter, Lisa, 5, and son, Gregory, 4. Police said a state police weighmaster, Pat Meyers, had been alerted to a possible burglary at the home next door to the Gilligans'. Meyers went to that home, found it had been broken into and checked the Gilligans' house to see whether it had been burglarized also. Residents of the first home Meyers checked were on vacation, officials said.

NORTH CAROLINA DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING
ON THE PROPOSED IMPROVEMENT OF US 13 AND NC 11
FROM NORTH OF GREENVILLE TO NORTH OF BETHEL

Project 6.221001 R-218 Pitt County

The NC Department of Transportation will hold the above public hearing on January 22, 1980, at 7:30 p.m. in the Auditorium of the North Pitt High School located on US 13-NC 11. The hearing will consist of an explanation of the proposed improvement, right of way requirements and procedures, relocation advisory assistance and State - Federal relationship. The hearing will be open to those present for statements, questions, comments and/or submittal of material pertaining to the proposed improvement. Additional material may be submitted for a period of ten days from the date of the hearing to Mr. George E. Wells, P. E., Manager of Highway Design, NC Department of Transportation, Division of Highways, P. O. Box 25201, Raleigh, NC 27611.

The proposed improvement is to widen the existing pavement to 24' and add a 24' roadway with a median from north of Greenville to the vicinity of Grindle Creek south of Bethel. From this point a bypass of Bethel is proposed on the east side. The right of way will be variable due to the type of construction. The right of way will be non-control along the existing roadway but controlled on the bypass.

A map setting forth the proposed improvements and copies of the Draft Negative Declaration are available for public review in the Division Office of the NC Department of Transportation in Greenville.

If additional information is desired contact W. A. Garrett, Jr., P. E., Public Hearing Officer, NC Department of Transportation, Division of Highways, P. O. Box 25201, Raleigh, NC 27611 or telephone 919-733-3244.

Weary Pirates Sent Packing By Dukers

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
HARRISONBURG, Va. — The effects of four road games in eight days finally came to bear on the East Carolina Pirates in the second half against James Madison University last night.

The mental and physical fatigue that set in during the game dulled the Pirates' shooting eyes and numbed their hands, creating a season low in shooting percentage and a season high in turnovers.

The result was a 63-52 victory by James Madison, which has now won six straight games, and has not been beaten on its home court in seven games this season.

The Pirates hit only 41.5 per cent of their shots in the game and committed 25 turnovers. While they did control the backboards, mainly through the play of Michael Gibson, the turnovers and shooting cancelled that phase of the game. James Madison was credited with 14 steals among those 25 turnovers. But many times, the Pirates seemed to make passes directly to the Dukers, as is their Purple and Gold uniforms were being mistaken for the Pirates' own.

"Our execution in the second half was the worst it's been this year," Coach Dave Odom moaned afterwards. "I have to take total responsibility for the loss. We are coming off a long road trip and I think I worked them too hard today (in practice prior to the game). We had no spring or bounce in our legs tonight. "The thing that is frustrating is that we still had a chance right to the end. But whenever you have people like (Herb) Krusen get nothing in the first half, George (Maynor) get just two, and that on a freak tip, and Herb Gray do next to nothing (four points) in the first half, you know something is wrong. We were lucky to be in the game at all."

The Pirates were tied with the Dukers at intermission, 31-31, and actually had the chance to take the lead, but a shot at the horn was off-target.

In the first half, it was the rebounding that kept the Pirates in the game, as they hit only 43.3 per cent of their shots, while Madison canned 59.1 per cent.

Madison jumped out to a 6-0 lead, but the Pirates came back to score seven in a row and gain the lead at 9-8 on a basket by David Underwood. But Madison jumped back ahead on a shot by Steve Stielper and moved out to a nine-point spread, 17-9, with 9:03 left.

East Carolina fought back once more, behind the play of Gibson, and regained the lead on Maynor's tap of his own missed shot, 23-21. The Pirates lost it again, 25-23, but a three-point play by Frank Hobson with 3:14 left, moved the Bucs out to a 26-25 lead.

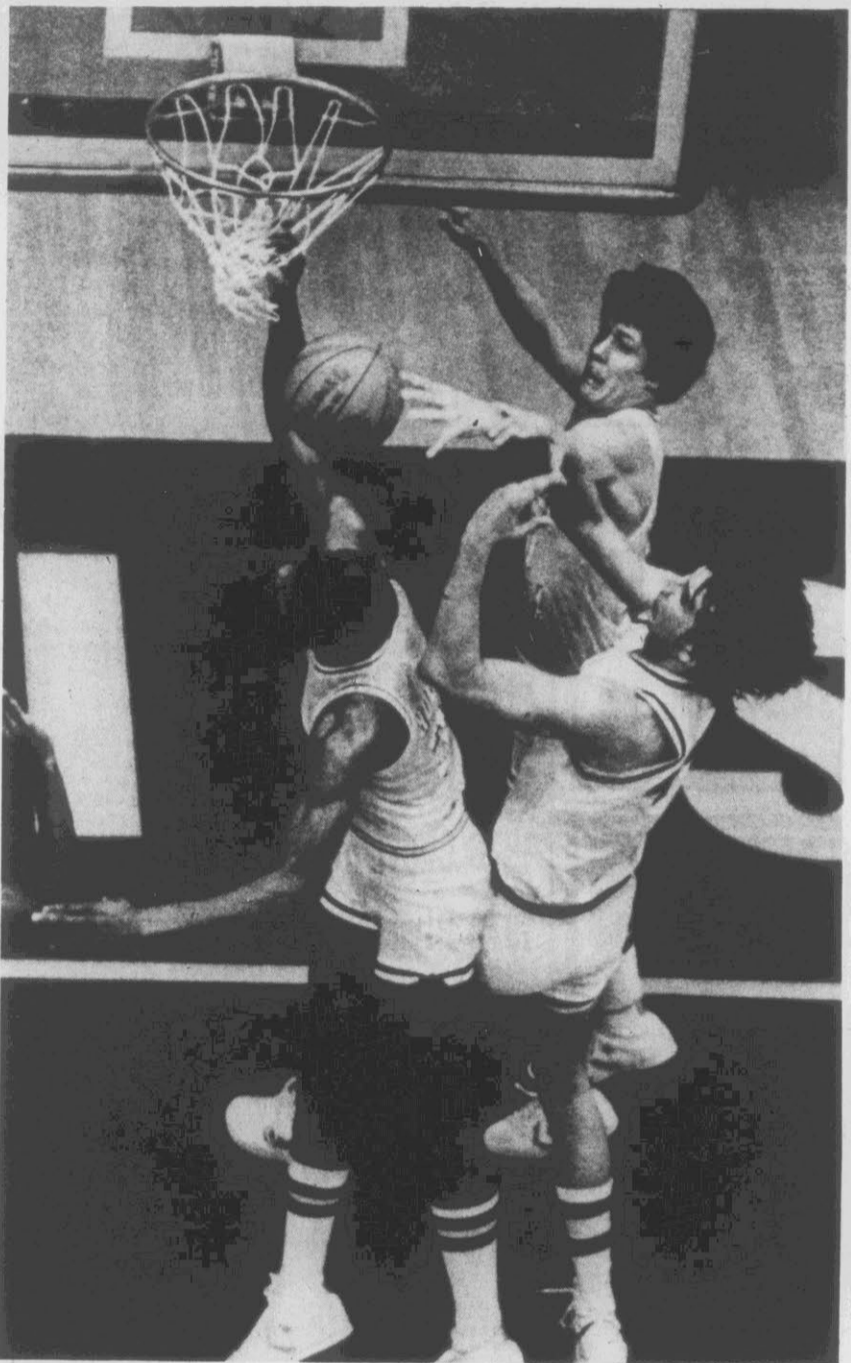

James Madison's Bob Donohoe tied it up with a jumper with 52 seconds left, and the Pirates missed on a chance to regain the lead at the horn.

Stielper, held to only 12 points in the game, hit the first shot of the second half for Madison to return them to the lead. Then, after Kyle Powers scored for the Pirates, Tyrone Shoulders made a three-point play for a 36-33 lead, and the Pirates never caught up again.

Led by Shoulders, the Dukers pulled out to as much as a 12-point lead, 48-36, over the next few minutes. It hung right around that level for most of the half, and with 2:34 left, a jumper by Bryant Wiggins cut it to 53-48.

The Pirates forced four turnovers over the next two minutes, but were never able to convert. Three times they threw the ball away before getting a shot and the other time they missed and Madison came away with the rebound.

"We still had a chance to get back in the game there late, but

Five ACC Teams On List; DePaul At Top

By TOM CANAVAN
Associated Press Writer
Coach Ray Meyer and DePaul finally are going to get a chance to live with a No. 1 ranking. But for UCLA, college basketball's wonder team of the 1960s and 70s, the story is new — life without a number.

Meyer ended 37 years of waiting for a No. 1 ranking Monday when DePaul replaced Duke as the top team in The Associated Press college basketball poll. The Blue Demons, 12-4 and ranked second last week, received 51 of 60 first-place votes and 1,189 of a possible 1,200 points in the nationwide balloting of sports writers and broadcasters.

said his team will look forward to.

"The boys like being No. 1," he said. "They're proud of it and I'm sure they're going to want to stay there."

And just as Monday's poll ended Meyer's wait, it also ended UCLA's stay in the Top 20. For the first time in perhaps as long as 14 years, the Bruins were not ranked.

"I believe this is the first time we've been unranked since the 1965-66 season," said UCLA sports information director Vic Kelley, referring to the year when the Bruins lost three of their first six games. "There's no way to know for sure."

The Associated Press retains a record of only the final poll of each season, and a check showed that the last time UCLA did not appear in the final poll was the spring of 1966.

Duke, which held the No. 1 spot the past four weeks, slipped to No. 5 behind Ohio State, Syracuse and Oregon State. The Blue Devils received 846 points following losses to Clemson and North Carolina.

Ohio State, ranked third last week, got four first-place votes and 1,116 points — 24 more than Syracuse, which got the final five first-place votes. Oregon State also made a big move, jumping from No. 9 to fourth. The Beavers, 15-1, collected 959 points.

Kentucky, upset by Alabama last Saturday, fell from fourth to sixth with 752 points — nine more than Louisville, which jumped from 11th to seventh. Notre Dame, beaten by San Francisco last week, slipped one notch to eighth with 667 points while North Carolina, 636, and St. John's, N.Y., 630, rounded out the Top Ten.

Purdue dropped one spot this week and headed the Second Ten. Virginia was 12th followed by Iowa, Louisiana State, Missouri, North Carolina State, Clemson, Brigham Young, Indiana and Tennessee.

North Carolina State, 11-1, and Tennessee, 11-3, both joined the Top 20 for the first time this year, replacing UCLA and Georgetown, D.C.

It's quite an honor, we've never been No. 1, you know," said Meyer, who earlier this season recorded his 600th career coaching victory. "In a way, it's a penalty because from here on in we have to be good every night."

Matmen At Home

East Carolina University's wrestlers play host to East Stroudsburg in a dual meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Minges Coliseum.

The Pirates, 1-1 in dual meets, will be seeking their second straight win after rolling over West Chester on Saturday.

"East Stroudsburg is another solid team," ECU coach Ed Steers said. "They have one excellent wrestler at 167-pounds in Jim Vargo. He was Eastern champ and a national qualifier last year. The rest of their team is not great, but is tough. They have the type team that gives us a lot of trouble."

The Pirates next outing will be Saturday, January 26, against Appalachian State and Clemson in Boone.

East Carolina finished with only two players in double figures. Gibson, who had 14, and also pulled down a game-high 13 rebounds, and Powers, who had ten. Gray finished with just six, while Krusen had four and Maynor had only two. "We can't win when our top scorers are not hitting like this," Odom added.

Lady Pirates Face Carolina

East Carolina University's women, after a road trip that covered 37 days and nine games, finally get a chance to return home to Minges Coliseum Wednesday night, but that homecoming may not be so great.

The Pirates will be playing host to the University of North Carolina with a 7:30 p.m. tipoff.

"North Carolina is probably the toughest opponent we've played so far this year, with the possible exception of Clemson," Coach Cathy Andruzzi said.

"They are very improved over last year, and we are going to have to really play well to have a chance to beat them," the coach added.

"They have good speed and quickness and a lot of depth. They run players in and out all night long."

Carolina comes into the game with a 13-5 record, while the Pirates hold a 12-4 mark.

North Carolina is led by the scoring of Bernie McGlade, hitting 16 points a game, but Andruzzi adds that she is not the whole ball game. "They have several others averaging in or close to double figures, and are going to be awfully tough to stop because they are so well balanced in their attack."

East Carolina's Rosie Thompson is currently the state's leading scorer, averaging 21.8 points a game. Kathy Riley comes into the game with the state's number four average at 16.3, while Lydia Rountree is eighth at 12.4 and Mary Denker has an 8.9 average, good enough for 15th.

In rebounding, Thompson is third at 10.0, while Marcia Girven is fifth at 8.0. Laurie Sikes is the state's leader in assists with 7.6 per game.

The team as a whole is the leader in defense, giving up 61.5 points a game.

Tyson Is At VCU

RICHMOND, Va. — Al Tyson, 6-11 center, has enrolled in Virginia Commonwealth University, it was announced yesterday.

Tyson, a former D.H. Conley High School star, entered East Carolina last year as a freshman, and played in 22 games, including a 24-point performance against N.C. State. He averaged 6.0 points per game for the season.

New Guys Are Still Winning

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The 1980 PGA Tour opened just as the decade of the '70s ended — with the new guys winning.

A record-tying total of 12 men scored their first par victories in 1979, and Craig Stadler made it 13 in a 12-month period Monday with his 2-shot triumph in the rain-delayed Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Gymnastics Class Set

Gymnastics classes for youths will begin next week at East Carolina University. Registration will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in the gymnastics gym of Memorial Gymnasium.

Tennis Club Sets Meeting

The Greenville Tennis Club will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the television room of the Elm Street gym to discuss this year's calendar of events and a membership drive.

from here on." While his may have been just another face in the growing list of first time winners, it was a different face. The chunky guy is believed to be the first man to win a Tour title while wearing a full beard, this one a bushy red affair that makes him look something like a short Merlin Olsen.

There was nothing defensive about his play, however. "It was just one of those days when everything fell into place," he said. "Everything went right, perfect. Every time I got in trouble, I made a good recovery shot."

"I think I only missed two fairways, and I made birdie on both those holes." That was on the front-nine par-5's at La Quinta Country Club, Nos. 5 and 6. That pair of 4's put him 3 under par for the day and he wasn't out of a share of the lead the rest of the way.

Jr. High Results

Wellcome and G.R. Whitfield split a pair of games yesterday.

Wellcome won the girls' game, 39-19. Sherri Bradley led Wellcome with 9 points, while Meca Kornegay was high for Whitfield with 16.

In the boys' game, Whitfield took a 57-41 win. D. Williams had 19 and Darrell Stevenson had 14 for Whitfield. Wellcome was led by Rodney Dudley with 18.

Misera Shot By Jackets Lets Tar Heels Slip To 54-53 Win

By TOM FOREMAN Jr. Associated Press Writer

North Carolina has traveled a crooked road in order to get back to the .500 mark in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Against Georgia Tech in Greensboro Monday night, the fifth-ranked Tar Heels almost found a pothole.

After consecutive losses to Clemson and Virginia, North Carolina returned to Chapel Hill and downed Wake Forest. In a game they were supposed to be out of before they even took the floor, the Tar Heels ran roughshod over Duke.

The Yellow Jackets were also set up to be run out of the Greensboro Coliseum. But no body told Tech they were sure losers.

Taking the game down to the wire after trailing by as many as 11 points, Georgia Tech's Lenny Horton missed a layup at the buzzer to give North Carolina a 54-53 win.

In Richmond, Jeff Lamp and Ralph Sampson provided the needed firepower to propel the 12th-ranked Cavaliers to a 65-58 victory over Virginia Tech. After North Carolina's victory, its ninth in 12 games, Al Wood said the team would take the win, though it was not the effort they had intended to produce.

"Coach (Dean Smith) always says we'll settle for a one-point win, but the team feels we ought to open it up. We couldn't tonight," said Wood, who furnished 11 points, as did Mike O'Koren.

For Horton, there were no words to hide what should have happened. "I just should have made that," he said. "There's no excuse for that, getting the ball in there close (and missing)."

Georgia Tech's loss marks their seventh in league play without a win, and an overall record of 4-10.

Virginia Tech held a 44-42 lead over the Cavaliers with 11:25 left in the contest. But for the next 6½ minutes, the Gobblers couldn't buy a point. Nonetheless, they trailed by only five and eventually tied the game at 52 on Les Henson's five straight points.

But Lamp opened up and closed the door on Virginia Tech, now 9-3 with the loss. Lamp ended the night with 24 points, and Sampson contributed 21 rebounds. His effort was one short of the team record, and one short of half Virginia's total.

Pitt Defeated By Ferrum JC

LITTLEFIELD — Ferrum Junior College, ranked third in Region Ten, rolled to a 102-73 victory over Pitt Community College last night.

The Panthers came on strong throughout the game, shooting 73 per cent for the game. "They are, by far, the best team we've played this year," Coach Herb Dillon said. "And their top player, Mickey Hardy, is the best individual we've seen. He's a super player and is heavily recruited by the senior colleges."

Hardy paced the Panther victory, hitting 27 points. Larry Suggs had an outstanding board game for the Paladins, pulling off 16 and scoring 17 points. "Suggs is averaging about 19 rebounds a game and is the leading rebounder in Region Ten," Dillon pointed out.

Ferrum jumped off to an early lead, building up a 45-32 lead in the first half. The Panthers continued to pull away, outscoring Pitt, 57-41, in the second half. In addition to Hardy, Reggie Long had 13, Harold Taylor had 11, and Karon Henderson, Kenny Thompson and Ezzell Stewart each had ten for Ferrum, now 11-3 on the year.

The Paladins, now 7-6, were led by Frankie Dail with 18, while Jeff Moreno had 11 and Randy Stokes added 10. Pitt travels to Jacksonville on Wednesday to face Coastal Carolina.

Ferrum—Hardy 11 5-7 27; Henderson 5 0-0 10; Long 6 1-2 13; Thompson 5 0-0 10; Stewart 5 0-0 10; Taylor 2 7-7 11; Cook 4 0-0 8; McCray 1 0-0 7; Wright 1 2-2 4; Eggleston 0 1-1 1; E. Smith 1 0-0 2; D. Smith 2 0-0 4; Totals 43 16-19 102.

Rosettes In Gym Action

JACKSONVILLE — The Rosettes took eleven firsts and eight seconds en route to their seventh win of the season without a defeat as they claimed a 94.3 to 88.95 victory over the Seaside's of Jacksonville in a gymnastics meet this past weekend.

Jennifer Newton finished first in the all-arounds for 10 year olds with a score of 31.15. She first in the vault, balance beam and uneven bars and second in the floor exercise.

Donna Costner finished second in the all-around in the 13 year old age group. Costner took firsts in both the floor exercises and the uneven bars. She also finished second in the balance beam.

Christy Garrison claimed a first in the floor exercise and a third in the balance beam in the 9-11 age group while Nancy Johnson took a first in the balance beam and two thirds in the uneven bars and the vault. Kristen Houck finished third in the floor exercise.

In the 12-14 age group, Karie Seykora took two seconds, in the vault and floor exercises, and two thirds, in the uneven bars and the balance beam. Christa Welborne claimed third in the floor exercise.

Susan Lewis and Karen Downes combined for three firsts and two seconds in the 15 and older group. Lewis won both the balance beam and the vault while Downes took first in the uneven bars.

Lewis grabbed second in the uneven bars and Downes came in second in the floor exercises. She also finished third in the balance beam while Lewis was third in the floor exercise.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip — PHEASANT UNDER GLASS DELIGHTED CRITICAL EPIGURE.
 Today's Cryptoquip clue: Nequals T

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Comedy Of 'Lobo' Different From The Usual TV Product

Kostelanetz A Crowd-Pleaser

NEW YORK (AP) — Conductor Andre Kostelanetz once said he had devoted his talents and training to making classical music accessible to the public.

"If I can leave an inheritance of a growing audience for the concert hall, I will have accomplished everything," the Russian-born conductor said.

And before his death of pneumonia at age 78 on Sunday in Haiti, he had succeeded admirably. Interested in radio as early as 1924, Kostelanetz joined CBS in 1932, and in ensuing years won a wide audience of listeners with a musical program which mixed light classics and popular music transcribed for symphonic orchestra.

It is said that Kostelanetz, on his way to the United States in 1922, stopped in a Warsaw record shop and heard some American pop tunes. He said the songs bowled him over with their "dynamism and melody."

By PETER J. BOYER
 AP Television Writer
 LOS ANGELES (AP) — To those unamused by its humor, it is has been dubbed "Sheriff Lobotomy" — television's monument to empty-headedness.

The man who put the show on the air, NBC President Fred Silverman, is only slightly more flattering: "Road Runner" cartoons with humans instead of animation, he called it.

"The Misadventures of Sheriff Lobo," reviled creature, just don't get no respect. But ratings points, that's another matter.

"Sheriff Lobo," has not only endured the unkind remarks, it has prevailed. Prevalent on Tuesday night against the forces of ABC, which has owned the evening for some time now.

"We've taken points away from Happy Days," says Lobo himself, Claude Aikens, "and we're going to take more."

Indeed, "Sheriff Lobo" has taken on "Happy Days" and succeeded in swiping a sizable share of that long-running hit's audience, a feat few outside of NBC executive suites would have imagined.

Aikens endeavors to explain: "Well, for one thing, 'Happy Days' is sort of a tired giant (the show is in its seventh season). "But also, audiences haven't seen this kind of comedy since "the '30s or '40s, it's a different kind of comedy, not the standard three-camera television sitcom. There are the mistaken identities, the physical humor; it's a romp, an old-time romp. We're not, strictly speaking, a sitcom."

Aikens says he doesn't take Silverman's assessment of the show unkindly; in fact, he agrees with it. "That's right, we are like 'Road Runner.' I love the 'Road Runner,' watch it all the time. We do a lot of the same sort of thing on our show... Mills Watson (who plays inept Deputy Perkins) is perfect for that kind of thing; I think he's a comedy genius."

The "Sheriff Lobotomy" stuff from critics did bother him, Aikens admits.

"It hurt me, I think, mainly because I was so certain everyone would like it. You know it's not very often that you read a script and laugh out loud, but that happens to me all the time on this show, it really does. I can't wait to read the next one."

"I think part of the problem is that this show is unlike anything else on television. You know, they said the same things about the Marx Brothers and Laurel and Hardy."

Beyond doubt, "Sheriff Lobo" was helped by the graying of "Happy Days," a teenybop show whose teenyboppers have grown up. "Happy Days" viewers have presumably grown up too, but new kiddies have their hands on the TV knob now and are tuning in "Lobo."

Silverman guessed that that would happen.

"He told me at the beginning not to worry about (ratings) numbers and that he had confidence that we would make it," Aikens says. "And that's the nicest thing you can hear."

CONDUCTOR DIES — Andre Kostelanetz, who led a number of symphony orchestras and made frequent appearances with the New York Philharmonic, died in Haiti at age 78 as a result of heart failure brought on by pneumonia, his representative in New York said Monday. (AP Laserphoto)

Presley Doctor Facing Charges

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Chancery Court judge. The hearing was scheduled to resume today.

"Dr. Nichopoulos will take the stand but we don't feel he ought to be compelled to testify for the prosecution," Thomson said. "We have spent a great deal of time on his defense and he would be effectively deprived of that defense if he were called out of turn."

Harbison, a Vanderbilt University pharmacologist, said the drugs Nichopoulos prescribed for the 16 patients were "highly addictive" and could cause withdrawal symptoms when a patient quit taking them.

On cross-examination, Harbison said he knew nothing of the involved patients' physical needs, and acknowledged that the patients' records did not show evidence of dosage escalation that would be expected in the case of addicted persons.

Ten current and former patients of Nichopoulos also testified, each praising the physician's medical care.

Gospel Singer To Be Featured

Greenville gospel singer Barbara Rodgers will be featured on a UNC-TV program to be aired Tuesday, Jan. 22, at 10 p.m.

The program is titled, "Death Is Easy, Dying Is Hard." It is a followup to the film "Joan Robinson: One Woman's Story" to be televised nationally Monday, Jan. 21 at 8 p.m.

Miss Rodgers, a Greenville resident, is a cancer patient.

Puppet Show Is Slated Saturday

An original puppet show, "The Lost Colony" by the Dare County Public Schools, Manteo, will be presented Saturday at 1 p.m. at Sadie Sautler Elementary School.

Local sponsor is the Greenville Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. Kindergarten through sixth-grade are invited to this free 40-minute-long show performed by students.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JAN. 16, 1980

YOUR DAILY Horoscope
 from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to make sure that you organize your life so you can make rapid progress and have greater abundance in the future. Show that you are most thoughtful of others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go to the most influential persons you know who can assist you in career matters. Be more optimistic about the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are inspired with new and practical ideas now that can help your growth and development, so follow through with them.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put those ideas to work that will help improve regular routines. Avoid one who is hypocritical and could harm you in some way.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to be more objective with associates and cooperate more with them and get excellent results. Safeguard your health.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Give personal attention to that work ahead of you and get excellent results. Take no risks with your reputation at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take time for recreation and ease tensions you have been under for some time. Think along optimistic lines.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Spend more time and effort on family affairs and get the results you want. Forget your worries and get more sleep.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Go to the proper sources for the data and information you need. Be alert to new ideas that can help you advance in career matters.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) The planets are most favorable for making progress in your line of endeavor. Be more encouraging to others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show more friendliness to those around you instead of keeping your head up in the sky and being so stuckup.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Studying personal affairs well can show you the way to improve them. Take more interest in matters of love.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Look to more influential persons for the assistance you need to make a greater success of life. Strive for happiness.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be able to get the component parts of any plan well organized and then put the whole package together with excellent results. Be sure to give the finest education you can afford. Religious training is important.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

The average player finesses everything in sight. The expert looks to see how many finesses he can avoid! Consider this hand from a recent rubber bridge game at New York's Cavendish Club.

The bidding was straightforward. South showed his strength by jumping to three no trump and North felt that his spade support was too good to suppress. South needed no more encouragement to contract for slam — his wealth of prime controls made his hand worth considerably more than its 19 points in high cards.

Fourth Annie In Broadway Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaping Lizards! There's another Annie on Broadway — the fourth since the hit musical by the same name opened in April 1977.

Despite the fact that his left-hand opponent had bid the suit, West elected to lead the queen of clubs. When dummy appeared, it seemed that declarer was dependent on either the trump or the diamond finesse for his contract, with the outside possibility of setting up clubs. But South, Andrew Gabrilovitch of Stamford, Conn., showed that he could make the hand without relying on either finesse.

Declarer won the king of clubs and immediately returned a club toward the ace. If West ruffed, he would be spending a trump on air and the club ace would be good for a diamond discard; if East ruffed, chances were that it would be with a long trump. When the ace of clubs survived, declarer continued with a club from dummy. East discarded a diamond and declarer ruffed.

The ace and king of hearts were cashed and a heart was ruffed in dummy. Next came the king and ace of diamonds, spurning the finesse. Another club was led from the table, declarer ruffing as East sluffed a heart. Now declarer exited with his last diamond.

East, left with nothing but four trumps, was forced to ruff, and he was end played. He had to lead away from his queen of trumps into dummy's tenace. So the slam rolled home despite the fact that declarer did not take a finesse and did not even use the established fifth club.

Fewer Dead As Driving Slows

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Drivers in North Carolina are slowing down on the highways, and the result has been a steady decline in the death tolls of the past several years.

Lt. Arnold Rector of the Highway Patrol's traffic safety office said the reductions were partly attributable to "voluntary compliance with the speed limit by most motorists." He also said troopers were cracking down on speeders.

"... There has been a determined effort by troopers to conscientiously enforce all of the laws of the state," Rector said, adding that a federally-funded project permitted troopers to work overtime on one of their days off in certain sections of the state in 1979.

Records for last year show that 1,496 persons were killed in traffic accidents throughout the state. The total is 19 less than the total in 1978.

The start of the new year has raised hopes that the trend of declines will continue. As of midnight Monday, 44 deaths had been recorded in the state, against 63 for the same period last year.

In a statement released in Charlotte Monday, the North Carolina Motor Club said that North Carolinians could "reduce death and injury on our streets and highways and save valuable gasoline by being an active supporter" of the 55 mph speed limit.

The club also endorsed the Governor's Highway Safety Program campaign, "55 I Believe."

State records do indicate a sharp reduction in deaths since the speed limits were lowered.

The all-time high death count in North Carolina occurred in one of the last years of 60 and 70 mph speed limits. In 1972, 1,983 persons died in traffic accidents.

The downturn occurred in 1974, with the reduction of speed limits, when the death toll fell to 1,585 — the sharpest decline in one year since World War II.

The toll later climbed to 1,515 in 1978, up from 1,442 the previous year.

Find 986 Died From Tornadoes

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — An official of the National Forecast Center says 8,560 tornadoes killed 986 Americans during the last decade — and more people may be killed by twisters in the 1980s.

Deputy Director Fred Ostby said the chances of death increase with the spread of population centers. Figures compiled by the center show that Texas was most often hit by the tornadoes — 1,425 that killed 137 — but 145 people died in the 292 tornadoes that hit Mississippi.

only that, but the percentage of "average sleeve length" shirts rolling off the cutting table is increasing.

The Times article quotes a vice president in charge of men's sleeves at Saks Fifth Avenue as saying "retailers love the idea. It cuts down considerably on the amount of inventory a store must have on hand."

Well, I happen to be from the old celluloid collar school that thinks shirts should be made to fit the customer and not the shelves.

The vice president in charge of sleeve lengths at the Hathaway Company, America's oldest shirt manufacturer, defended the new average sleeve length with the put-down remark in the Times that "most men don't know their proper sleeve length anyway."

It just so happens that I know my own sleeve length, even if I never could get Honorable Minh, my old Saigon shirtmaker, to believe it.

Minh would duly come out from behind his counter and measure me from wrist to shoulder and arm pit to palm with the long tape measure hanging around his neck. He'd holler out the statistics to his wife, who copied them in Chinese in a long banker's-sized journal.

But when the boys in the backroom or down in Cholon, the Chinese ghetto in Saigon, got around to cutting the cloth, they never could bring themselves to believe that the Big Feet, the Americans, had such long arms. Unilaterally, they would deduct a few inches, figuring the fitter had got it wrong.

Minh's shirts were fine for displaying your new PX watch, but with the French cuff models, the cufflinks wound up somewhere near your elbow. Even now, you can tell an old Indochina hand at a cocktail party the minute he reaches out a hairy arm from an impeccably tailored suit for a drink.

Minh has since gone into the grocery business out in California, otherwise his adoption of the average length sleeve might result in a vest.

to spend the summer snoozing in a hammock."

He seemed deflated and suspicious. "How'd you know that?" he demanded.

"Harry," I said, "you taught me that 10 years ago. Now go teach the whole human race."

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT INVITATION FOR APPLICATIONS FOR SECTION 202 FUND RESERVATIONS

To Whom It May Concern:
 The Department of Housing and Urban Development invites applications for newly constructed and/or substantially rehabilitated housing units under the Section 202 Direct Loan Program for Housing for the Elderly or Handicapped. This notification is based on a tentative allocation of funds which is subject to modification.

Section 202 direct loan authority in the amount of $5,607,000 for metropolitan and $6,346,000 for non-metropolitan areas is tentatively being made available to the Greensboro Area HUD Office jurisdiction to finance an estimated 190 units for metropolitan areas and 210 units for non-metropolitan areas. The areas listed below, within the HUD Office jurisdiction, have been identified as those in which additional housing for the elderly or handicapped is warranted, based on the goals expressed in local housing assistance plans. Applications for the designated areas below will be evaluated first, and only in the event that an insufficient number of approvable applications are received for the designated allocation areas will applications for other areas be considered for approval. Notwithstanding the above preference for applications received for a designated allocation area, applications for housing designed exclusively or primarily for the non-elderly or handicapped are also accepted and evaluated. Prospective applicants are also advised of the existence of other factors (other than the funding capacity of the Greensboro Area Office) which will limit the number of approvable units for any application.

LIMITED QUANTITIES Will Be Available On Certain Items

SHOP EARLY!
Plenty of unadvertised specials received too late to be included in this tabloid. Shop for these bargains at your Roses store.

Due to the nature of certain purchases of merchandise . . . we will be unable to issue RAINCHECKS since there will not be any merchandise available to reorder. These items will carry a No Raincheck notation.

ROSES PLEDGE TO CUSTOMERS
Roses strives to have every advertised item in stock at the beginning of the sale period. If for some unavoidable reason the advertised item is not in stock, Roses will, at the customer's request, but at Roses' option, either issue a Rain Check to purchase the item at the sale price when the merchandise is available or offer a comparable item at a reduced price. It is the honest intention of Roses to back up our policy of "Satisfaction Guaranteed" always.
