

Arab Envoys Seeking Forge United Front On Soviet Action

By The Associated Press
In closed-door meetings and hurried jet flights, Arab envoys were engaged in intensive diplomatic activity in the Middle East today that informed sources in Beirut said was aimed at forging a common front on the issue of the Soviet military intervention in Afghanistan.

Afghanistan's seven rebellious Moslem factions, meanwhile, were reported trying to unite for a "holy war" against the Soviet occupation army.

The Mideastern Arab states and other nations of the Islamic conference are scheduled to meet in Islamabad, Pakistan, next Saturday to discuss the situation in Afghanistan, where Soviet and Afghan government forces are trying to put down a rebellion by fundamentalist Moslem tribesmen.

Several Islamic states, including Saudi Arabia, have already announced they will be boycotting the summer Olympics in Moscow in protest.

U.S. ambassadors delivered personal messages from President Carter to the leaders of Bahrain, Oman and Sudan today dealing with the Afghan crisis, according to official reports from those governments. The contents of the messages were not revealed.

Meanwhile, British envoy Douglas Hurd, minister of state for foreign affairs, met with officials of the United Arab Emirates in that Persian Gulf oil state. Hurd has already visited Bahrain and Qatar.

The Arab envoys on the move included Saudi Arabia's foreign minister, Prince Saud al-Faisal, who visited Iraq and Kuwait, the U.A.E. oil minister, Mana Saeed Otaiba, who called on Saudi King Khaled with a personal message from U.A.E. President Sheik Zayed Bin Sultan al-Nahyan, and Saudi minister of state Dr. Mohammed Almilhim, sent by Khaled to the U.A.E. and Qatar.

Radio Tehran reported that an official of the Afghan Islamic Organization in the Iranian capital told Radio Tehran that discussions were under way among the rebel groups to form a single guerrilla front.

"The Afghan revolutionaries' duty is to expel the Soviet forces from Afghanistan through jihad (holy war), not through negotiations," the official reportedly said.

The Moslem rebels in Afghanistan are divided along tribal lines. They have been fighting their own separate wars since the first communist coup in April 1978 and were reported to control half the country or more. But the necessity for unification and coordination became apparent last month when the Soviet Union sent as many as 100,000 troops into Afghanistan to crush the rebellion and support the coup that eliminated President Hafizullah Amin and replaced him with Babrak Karmal, a more pliable Russian proxy.

Pentagon sources in Washington said the fighting since the Soviet intervention has been fiercest in the northeastern part of Afghanistan, bordering the Soviet Union, Pakistan and China. The sources in Washington said the Soviets may need 5,000 reinforcements there to make up for Afghan army defections to the rebels. More Soviet troops were landed at Kabul airport over the weekend, according to American reporters expelled by the new government.

The Kabul correspondent of Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency, reported that an Afghan official told him "strong contingents of Afghan troops were moving to the 50-mile-long Chinese border because 'for several weeks suspicious troop movements have been detected on the Chinese side.'" said the Afghan government also fears an attack across the Pakistani border.

The Cuban correspondent

"According to official spokesmen, American, British and Chinese advisers are training a contingent of more than 70,000 soldiers (in Pakistan) for an operation against Afghanistan," the Cuban report said.

Chinese Foreign Minister Huang Hua who is on a visit to Pakistan, and Pakistani President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq visited a camp for Afghan refugees near the border Sunday. Huang reiterated his government's support for the Moslem rebels and said it would also aid the refugees in Pakistan, now estimated to total 440,000.

In Washington, President Carter said he is prepared to use military force to protect Pakistan and called for a U.S. Olympic team boycott of the Moscow Games this summer if the Russians don't pull their troops out of Afghanistan within a month.

Carter Expects Olympic Boycott Call Concurrence

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says he expects the U.S. Olympic Committee will go along with his call for an American boycott of the Summer Olympics in Moscow if the Soviet Union has not withdrawn its troops from Afghanistan by Feb. 20.

Carter has no legal authority to dictate a boycott and the U.S. committee will meet next weekend in Colorado Springs, Colo., to consider the president's request.

Carter outlined his proposal Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press." Asked afterward if he thought the U.S. committee would abide by his request, he said, "I think so."

Carter, intensifying his attempts to punish the Soviet Union for its intervention in Afghanistan, called on the International Olympic Committee to boycott the Moscow games or transfer them to another site if Soviet troops are still in Afghanistan a month from now.

Presidential Counsel Lloyd Cutler said he anticipates that Canada, Great Britain and West Germany will support Carter's position.

Under Carter's proposal, the American boycott would take effect if the IOC ignores the president's appeal for a global boycott, as seems highly likely.

The IOC will meet in Lake Placid, N.Y., in mid-February, just before the Winter Olympics begin in that city.

For now, however, the focus is on the U.S. Olympic Committee, which will attempt to poll some 10,000 prospective American Olympic athletes to help the 86 voting members of the USOC's executive board decide on Carter's proposal.

USOC President Robert Kane said he was pleased that Carter made his appeal to the IOC rather than calling for a unilateral American boycott.

"We don't want to abdicate our position in the IOC," Kane said. "To boycott would take us out of that."

Douglas F. Roby of Ypsilanti, Mich., a past president of the USOC and a U.S. representative on the international committee, told The Washington Post in reaction to the president's call: "That's it. If the Soviets aren't out of there in 30 days, we probably won't go. We certainly have to obey the command of our government and our president, I feel. I'm sure the International Olympic Committee would not accept moving the Games at this late date, or postponing them."

After the president announced his proposal, Moscow Radio called Carter's proposal "futile" and accused him of trying to revive the Cold War.

Carter's television appearance was dominated by questions about the impact of the Afghanistan situation. He said many responsible Iranian officials now see the Soviet action in a neighboring country as a "major threat to Iran's security."

As a result, Carter predicted those officials will propose "additional measures" to secure the release of the 50 American hostages in Tehran.

Transit Funds

Greenville has received two important federal mass transit grants for the Greenville Area Transit (GREAT) system, city officials announced.

A capital improvements grant for $782,347, accepted by the City Council in December, will be used to acquire four new city buses, construct an addition to the city garage for the Transit Division, and purchase other shop and office equipment.

Some 90 percent of the project cost will be funded by the Federal Highway Administration and the N.C. Department of Transportation, it was noted, with the city providing the remaining ten percent.

The city has also received an operating assistance grant of $35,618, which will reimburse the city for one-half of its net expenses to operate the bus system in 1979.

It was explained that the city's matching share of the project has been provided through Revenue Sharing funds and other in-kind services. The city was authorized by the state to receive up to $45,000 for the project and if additional expenses can be documented, the grant budgets will be amended to allow the city to receive the full amount for which it is eligible.

The grants were the first federal mass transit grants requested by the city under the new Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1978.

Walter Jones Again Running

Congressman Walter B. Jones announced that he filed today for re-election to his eighth full term as a member of the U.S. House of Representatives, First District of North Carolina.

The Farmville Democrat filed with the State Board of Elections as a candidate in the May primary.

Jones was first elected to Congress in February of 1966 in a special election to fill the unexpired term of the late Herbert C. Bonner. He was re-elected in November of 1966 to a full term and has served continuously since that time.

Prior to his election to Congress, Jones served three terms in the North Carolina General Assembly.

In announcing his candidacy today, the congressman commented, "I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the citizens of my district for the support you have given to me over the past 14 years, and especially the many courtesies you have extended to me and my family. It has indeed been a high honor and a privilege to serve you. During my tenure I have attempted to afford you that type of representation which you deserve and have every right to expect."

Jones mentioned that in the "months ahead we must find new and creative ways to reduce inflation which is the greatest threat to this nation. We must renew our efforts to reduce government spending, rationalize government regulations to better serve the citizens of this great coun-

Toll Rising In Bleachers' Fall

By TOM WELLS
Associated Press Writer

SINCELEJO, Colombia (AP) — The death toll in the collapse of a crowded wooden grandstand in this northern Colombian city climbed to 162 today, police said. The weekend accident at a bull-

The bleachers, an extension upward of the grandstand at Colombia's largest bullring, were supported by long beams sunk into the ground. Officials said recent heavy rains softened the ground, and the beams gave way under the weight of the crowd.

An estimated 40,000 fans had packed the bullring Sunday afternoon. Witnesses said about 3,000 were in the five sections that crashed down. The tragedy occurred as the fans were excitedly cheering scores of youths and men in the ring running from several bulls before the start of the bullfights.

"We were at the eastern-end grandstand when suddenly I noticed that one of the sections began to fall backwards, and then the other four fell, trapping thousands of persons," said one of the spectators, Eduardo Ruiz.

Some of the victims were impaled on the splintered beams; others were trampled by panic-stricken survivors.

The Sincelojo hospital and a local health center were unable to handle all of the casualties. Many were taken to the neighboring towns of Corozal, Cerete and Sampues. The local institutions said they had 97 bodies. The hospital in Corozal said it had at least 50.

A 'Package' On Hostages

By The Associated Press

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim says he hopes a plan devised during his visit to Iran will lead to the release of the American hostages in Tehran. But the Iranian militants holding the Americans captive still insist the deposed shah must be returned before the hostages are freed.

"We have worked out a mechanism... and I hope this mechanism will make it possible to satisfy the government of Iran and lead to release of the hostages," Waldheim told reporters Sunday in New Delhi, India.

The U.N. chief would give no details of his plan. But after his visit to Tehran, Iranian officials said he proposed setting up a U.N. commission to investigate the Iranian revolutionary regime's charges against the deposed shah.

At the time, Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh welcomed the proposal. But he said the commission's findings would not be binding on Iran, and the hostages would not be released until the shah was returned.

Ghotbzadeh repeated this stand Saturday, telling a French interviewer that the return of the shah, now living in Panama, was the only way out of the impasse.

"It's easy," he said. "They give us the shah. We give them the hostages."

A spokesman for the militants holding the hostages, reached by telephone Sunday at the occupied U.S. Embassy, said: "Nothing would possibly lead to the release of the hostages but the extradition of the deposed shah and the return of his wealth."

Today was the hostages' 79th day in captivity.

Iowans Caucus Today To Pick Preferences

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — In living rooms, church basements and schoolhouses, Iowa Republicans and Democrats meet today to declare their presidential preferences in primary campaigns marked by sharp swings in public opinion polls.

The parties' precinct caucuses, most of which start at 8 p.m. CST, are the first official tests of the presidential campaign and a majority of the 10 Republicans and three Democrats seeking nomination campaigned hard in the state.

But not President Carter, who said the Iranian crisis required him to remain in Washington. Instead, he sent Vice President Walter F. Mondale, members of the Cabinet, his wife Rosalynn, their children and his mother.

And on Sunday, Carter demonstrated again the ability of a president to capture attention when he appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press." He urged a boycott of the Summer Olympics in Moscow and defended "the policies pursued during his three years in the White House."

Unless the Russians pull their forces from Afghanistan within a month, the president said, "neither I nor the American people would support the sending of an American team to Moscow."

Carter's chief rival for the Democratic nomination, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, was also on nationwide television Sunday.

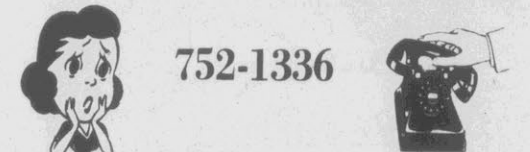

On ABC's "Issues and Answers," he said he would support an Olympics boycott, but called that proposal and the administration's partial embargo of grain sales to the Soviets "symbols" and added, "I don't think symbols are a substitute for an effective foreign policy."

Kennedy said Carter must receive at least 50 percent of the caucus votes to claim victory — a difficult goal in a state that traditionally elects many uncommitted delegates.

A poll conducted Jan. 6-9 by the Des Moines Register gave Carter 57 percent popular support to Kennedy's 25 percent. Just a month before, each man had drawn a 40 percent rating.

Regardless of the outcome in Iowa, said Kennedy, he's in the race "for the duration."

REFLECTOR HOTLINE

SEPTIC SYSTEM TROUBLES

We had our house built in fall, 1975 and the contractor got a local plumber to install the septic tank and drainage field. We were not told then that a Case septic system, newly being used in this area at the time, was what we were getting. At the time this system was approved by the Pitt County Health Department, we understand, but after only 12 had been installed in the county, it was taken off the list of approved systems for this county because it was seen that it did not work with the high water table here. We have just had to have the system replaced at a cost of several hundred dollars, not to mention the cost and work involved in redoing our landscaping in both front and back yards. We feel the plumber who installed the system, Sam Pollard and Son, should take some responsibility, since we understand the company did replace, free of charge, systems of this type about which owners complained within less than a year after installation. Mrs. J. V.

The Case septic system did, indeed, prove unsatisfactory for conditions in this area, Pitt County Health Department Environmental Health Director Willie Pate said. "The system was developed by a retired N. C. State University engineering professor and it worked quite well in the mountains and Piedmont," he said. "But the company that was marketing it wanted to sell franchises statewide. The State Health Department approved and it was a mistake. In a very short time it was disapproved by the eastern counties, but some had already been installed, of course — 12 in this county. We found Mr. Pollard completely cooperative in replacing the ones that gave trouble in the first year."

Sam Pollard told Hotline that his company did replace the Case systems that gave trouble during the one-year guarantee period. He said he does not feel obligated to help you with your replacement costs, since it's been five years. "No septic system lasts forever," he said.

Neither he nor Pate could answer our question as to why the Pitt County or the state health agency did not notify owners of Case systems that there were serious problems with them at the time it was learned that they would not work satisfactorily in the lowlands of Eastern North Carolina.

Study Focuses On Cosmetics And Eye Health

FOREST GROVE, Ore. (AP) — Women are concerned about the relationship of cosmetic use to eye health, especially if they wear or plan to wear contact lenses, say two women who have undertaken research on the problem.

The Pacific University College of Optometry students, Nancy Jones of Everett, Wash., and Amy Postma of Kapaa, Hawaii, who say no previous research on this topic has been reported, hope to publish a paper on their study in an optometry journal.

Because they wanted to use "virgin cosmetic wearers," they selected 15 male subjects. All are optometry students so they were sympathetic to the project, the researchers report.

Three brands of eye shadow and mascara were used — water soluble, water non-soluble, and hypoallergenic. The male subjects wore the makeup on one eye at a time. The non-made-up eye was the control eye. They kept the makeup on a minimum of eight hours at a time.

One type of makeup was used for four days on one eye and then switched for a four-day period to the other eye. Then the subjects had five days off before starting on the next brand.

The researchers used special cameras to take pictures of the tear film and inverted eyelids of their subjects to record the amount of cosmetics found in the tear film and under the eyelids. Each subject also filled out questionnaires on his symptoms. Ms. Jones and Ms. Postma then correlated the subject's symptoms with the data collected through their observations.

Their general conclusion was that there was no significant difference among the results obtained when the subjects wore each of the three types of cosmetics. However, some of the subjects reported problems with each of the cosmetics when cleaning cosmetic particles off the contact lenses.

These same subjects also reported general discomfort with cosmetic wear. Thus, the problems associated with cosmetic use and contact lens wear appear to be due to individual reaction and not due to a specific cosmetic product.

More research, especially long term, needs to be done on this topic to adequately define the cause-effect relationship, says Dr. Diane Yolton of the Pacific College of Optometry faculty, who is the advisor for the project.

The students report that for the most part the cosmetic companies were cooperative in the research, two of them providing cosmetics and another calling several times for progress reports.

The men wore the cosmetics both on and off campus — wherever they went. Most of their acquaintances did not notice that they were wearing makeup on one eye.

The research project is supported by a national grant from Beta Sigma Kappa, International Optometry honor fraternity.

RIPPLING RIVER... design afghan is knitted all in one piece, with no sewing required.

Pat's Pointers
By Pat Trexler

Make ripples on the home scene with this stunning afghan in the Rippling River design. It is knitted all in one piece — with no sewing required — in four colors of knitting worsted weight yarn. Color it to match the mood of your favorite season. Directions are included on the same leaflet for a similar afghan to be crocheted in three colors.

To obtain directions for making the Rippling River Afghan, send your request for Leaflet No. C-453 with $1.00 and a long, self-addressed envelope to: Pat Trexler "The Daily Reflector," P.O. Box 810, North Myrtle Beach, S.C. 29582.

Or you may order a kit containing Wintuk yarn and the instruction leaflet by sending check or money order for $18.50 for the knitted version or $34.50 for the crocheted version, to Pat Trexler at the same address. Specify your choice of earth tones (brown, rust, gold), blue tones or green tones.

DEAR PAT: I always read your column with interest and learn many new things about needlecraft. I would like to share with your readers my method of increasing stitches in knitting.

When you try this method, you will scarcely be able to find where the increase was made. When you come to the point where an increase is to be made, make a loop on the index finger of the left hand and then slip it to the right-hand needle. The same method works just as well on a puri row. — MARGARET S.

Thanks Margaret! Your method is a very simple increase which does leave a tiny hole, but one much smaller than some other methods. I have used this technique to cast on stitches in the middle of a row, but never thought of using it for a single increase.

For anyone trying this for the first time, I should warn you to be sure to make a complete loop on your finger, letting the yarn cross over itself. Otherwise, you will not be making this increase correctly.

DEAR PAT: I made a sweater for my daughter for Christmas and was so happy with the decreases on the raglan sleeves that I would like to pass this idea along to others.

At the first raglan seam of each decrease row, slip four stitches to a double-pointed needle and hold in back of your work. Slide the stitches to the opposite end of the double-pointed needle and knit together the first stitch on each of the needles. Then knit together the second stitches from each needle and do the same with the third and fourth.

At the next raglan seam, work in the same manner except hold the stitches on the double-pointed needle in front of your work. This row is repeated on every eighth row. — MRS. C.F.

This has to be the most unusual type of decrease I have heard of in a long time — and a very effective one. I wouldn't recommend this for the beginning knitter, but for those of you who like to experiment and create new effects, this is a natural.

Try it on a sample swatch to see the effect. I would suggest that you cast on at least 50 or 60 stitches for your swatch, because you decrease so rapidly on each decrease row that a smaller number of stitches will not show you the effect.

Because of the large volume of mail she receives, Pat is unable to answer your letters personally. However, she welcomes all questions and hints and will use those of general interest in the column whenever possible.

Bridge Winners Announced

The Wednesday morning duplicate bridge game was played at Planters Bank.

The Art of Carpeting & Decor

by Larry C. Whitlow

Selecting the best kind of flooring for a kitchen is not always easy. There are many things to consider. Surprisingly, the easiest decision to make is often the color. Take a good hard look at kitchen usage and time available to keep the floor clean. Consider first the kind of flooring to have. It can be covered with tile, linoleum or kitchen carpeting. Determine next which will stay cleanest or the easiest to clean. Also, which would be comfortable and still be most pleasing to your taste?

Our many years of experience enables us to help you determine the right kind of flooring for all your needs. Stop by and see us soon at LARRY'S CARPETLAND INC., 3010 E. 10th St., 758-2300. Armstrong, Congoleum and Mannington vinyl, as well as a complete choice of carpeting are available from us. Hours: Mon. thru Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

Florists Bloom On Five Holidays

By Abigail Van Buren

1980 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my husband and I have an argument we can't seem to settle, he says, "Write to Abby," so I'm writing.

On what holidays do the nation's florists do the biggest business? I say that the biggest day is Mother's Day. My husband says it's Valentine's Day.

Also, is more money spent on flowers for funerals or weddings?

Orchids to you for any help you can give us.

THE BATTLING BRIGHAMS

DEAR BRIGHAMS: No orchids to me. I asked the Florists Transworld Delivery, and they listed the holidays in order of sales reported by the nation's florists:

- Christmas
- Mother's Day
- Easter
- Valentine's Day
- Thanksgiving

As for weddings versus funerals, funerals represent approximately 40 percent of an average florist's business, while weddings represent only 10 percent.

And what better time is there to remind my readers to give flowers to those you love while they can smell them!

DEAR ABBY: My sister is 46, divorced and a part-time swinger. I don't know what the definition of an alcoholic is, but I think she's one. When she's sober, she's a perfect lady, but after a few drinks she will go to bed with any guy who looks good to her.

Sis recently met a fine gentleman who seemed very much interested in her, but he was turned off fast when after a few drinks she said, "If I ever marry again, my husband will have to let me have men friends once in a while because I need variety!" Well, Abby, what respectable man would want a wife like that?

Help your doctor help you. Have periodic medical and eye examinations, especially if you are at middle age or later, even though you may feel well. Early detection is part of early cure for most serious diseases. Time and time again people could have been more successfully treated had they only been more conscientious about seeing their doctor regularly. What is true for your body is true for your eyes as well. Have your eyes examined on a regular basis to be sure that your glasses are right for you.

Eyeglasses are truly a custom made product that must be fitted and adapted to the individual wearer. Just as no two people have the same fingerprints, likewise, the bridge of the nose, shape of the eyes, etc. requires that eyewear be adjusted to fit individual features. The experienced and professional staff of CLEAR VUE OPTICIANS, 1706 6th, Physicians Quadrangle Building A, can ably assist you in the selection of eyewear that pleases you while properly fitting the eyewear to your features. EYE TIP: Preventative steps will be a lot easier on you and less expensive in the long run than one really serious illness.

Why Not A Golden Tan All Over?

If I could get her to quit drinking, do you think she would straighten out sexually? I think her appetite for "variety" is brought on by whiskey.

CONCERNED BROTHER

DEAR BROTHER: Alcohol relaxes (and sometimes removes) inhibitions, so it would seem that your sister's promiscuity is brought on by her drinking.

Her "need for variety" can be cured only if she is strongly motivated to cure it. Work on one problem at a time. Keep her sober, and you may not have to worry about her promiscuity.

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen anything in your column about this subject. Perhaps it's not regarded as a problem by most, but I think it deserves a mention. I'll call it "Advice to parents-in-law."

Parents, when you buy gifts for your married son or daughter, don't spend more on your son or daughter than you spend on his or her spouse. Example:

Christmas gifts for son: Cashmere sweater, tennis racket, brief case, wrist watch.

Christmas gifts for his wife: A pair of oven mitts, a box of dusting powder, a Monopoly game, a subscription to TV guide.

And please don't give your married child a personal gift on his birthday, and give his spouse something "for the two of you." (Save the gifts "for the two of you" for their anniversary.)

I realize most parents are naturally inclined to be a little more generous to their own flesh and blood, but please don't be so obvious. It's tacky.

Could Compete In China, Too

Republican gubernatorial candidate I. Beverly Lake, Jr. has taken a stand against support of the Most Favored Nation status for China.

He did this on the pretext of protecting North Carolina's textile industry and our state's tobacco industry.

Lake claims that China is a big tobacco producer, although he admits that China's tobacco is roughly comparable to U.S. "filler" grade tobacco.

Candidate Lake didn't touch on the fact that China was once a large consumer of American grown tobacco. We believe it can be again under the proper trade arrangements.

Tobacco can be, and is, grown in many areas of the world and U. S. growers have been in competition with foreign tobacco for as long as the crop has been around. It clearly costs more for American farmers to grow tobacco and the cost shows up in the price our tobacco brings on world markets. Other countries are willing to pay the price because U. S. farmers have a superb record of producing a superior product.

If our tobacco can compete in other countries around the world, why can't it compete for a share of the Chinese market?

We believe it can. We feel that North Carolina farmers will continue to produce a superior tobacco, and our independent tobacco companies will continue to do an outstanding selling job on the world market.

The China market will have to be opened to us, however, before our vigorous tobacco industry can tackle it . . . and that is where candidate Lake is wrong in opposing China trade.

Totalitarianism Isn't Nice To Watch

The puppet government in Afghanistan has ordered U. S. journalists out of the country.

The excuse given is that the journalists engage in "biased" reporting and are interfering in the nation's internal affairs.

The government fails to mention it is hugely embarrassing that the world is being informed of Soviet tanks and troops crushing the brave people of Afghanistan. Totalitarianism is never nice to watch.

Better Success Measure

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH — New jobs created in North Carolina by industrial growth and expansion is a more reliable, and a more trustworthy, measure of economic success than statements of capital dollar investments.

Top development officials with the State Department of Commerce say the jobs is where the payoff really comes, even though governors traditionally herald industrial investment in buildings and equipment as the major yardsticks.

Gov. Jim Hunt proclaimed another record year has just ended, with $2.4 billion total industrial capital investment for 1979.

"This has been a period of unprecedented growth in our employment and in our industrial economy," Hunt commented. To give you an idea of how fast our industrial recruitment has been growing: it took until 1976 to achieve our first billion-dollar year. Just two years later, 1978, we reached $2 billion. And in 1979 we had another 20 percent increase."

Inflation But the nagging question always remains: how much of this growth is due to inflated dollar values? Getting a straight answer to that is all but impossible. Simple comparisons of 1979 dollars to some previous years' dollars, or to the standard inflation rate, won't really give an accurate answer.

It is generally agreed that over the past decade the cost of things has doubled. A dollar today is worth 50 cents compared to what it would buy in 1970. But that is an across-the-board figure and can't really be applied to specific activities such as construction or specialized industrial machinery where the inflation rate has in most cases been even more pronounced.

Even so, it is clear that investment is up considerably. In just three years the total investment is more than in the previous eight years combined, and Hunt points out that that while specific figures are not available, "even allowing for inflation the increase would be tremendous. Why, it is up 150 percent over just three years ago...and inflation certainly hasn't touched that rate of increase."

It is in new jobs, however, that the growth can be measured in a constant way. In 1979, new industries announced in the state will create more than 37,000 jobs. Since January, 1977, more than 90,000 new jobs have been created. That total surpasses the previous four years combined, and comes at a time when textiles, due to advancing technology and the recession, has cut back some 50,000. The new industries, then, will not only take up the slack, but provide even more employment.

A big question with new jobs, though, is when they will come on line. Most will not be filled for two or three or more years, when the new plant is completed and goes into operation. Meanwhile, says Commerce Secretary D. M. (Launch) Faircloth, construction jobs nearly equal the eventual unemployment figures.

Two More

Besides that, Gov. Hunt adds, each new industrial job normally creates two service jobs in a community: in retail, trades, professions or government.

"It's not only important that we are growing, but how we are growing," says Hunt, who has been vigorously pushing two major concepts in industrial development: higher technology jobs which pay more than traditional North Carolina industries, and dispersed locations to bring jobs where the people live.

"We are growing with quality and diversity," he says. The record shows that in 1979 the top five categories for new investment were petroleum refining, machinery, automobile and truck related, electronics and electrical, and lumber and wood.

Ten years ago, growth was in textiles, furniture, machinery, fabricated metals and chemicals. "This increasing diversity is also indicated by the fact that textile employment now represents approximately 30 percent of manufacturing jobs, compared to nearly 40 percent 10 years ago," the governor added.

The Corporate Ladder

WASHINGTON — As more and more women join the work force, it follows that many of them are getting the key to the corporate washroom. When these women reach executive levels, it is only natural that companies not only investigate how effective they will be, but also how their spouses will fit in as "members of the team."

There was a time when a man who was being considered for a good job had to produce his wife to see if she was the "right kind of person" to be married to a corporation executive. This was usually done discreetly by inviting the wife to dinner with her husband to meet the other executives and their wives.

But now for the first time companies are taking a harder look at the husbands of women they are planning to hire.

Flagstaff, a pal, had just been put through an ordeal, and he reported back to me the next day about what had happened.

"Janet told me," he said, "that she thought she had the vice presidency of United Globetex all sewed up. The final test, she said, was how the top enchiladas reacted to me. You can imagine how nervous I was. Because her career was at stake, I asked her if I should wear a hat and white gloves — but she said a dark blue suit, a white shirt and a conservative tie would do just fine. Then I said, 'What do I say to all these big shots? I'm not good at small talk.'"

"Just be yourself," she told me, "they don't expect anything great out of an executive's husband. But since you'll be traveling with me a lot, they want to make sure that you won't do anything to disgrace the company."

"I asked her if I should bone up on the corporation so I didn't look ignorant when it came to United Globetex affairs. She said she didn't think I should discuss business as I would only make a fool of myself. So I said, 'What should I talk about?' and she replied, 'The children, clothes, football — but don't forget to tell them you went to Harvard so they won't think you're a dummy!'"

"Well, last night I went through my ordeal of fire. They took us to the Four Seasons restaurant. There were three executives and their spouses.

"The husband of the president was a mousy type and he gave me the once-over like I was dirt. He wanted to know how my golf game was. I told him I didn't play golf. I thought Janet would die. But the president was very nice and tried to put me at ease. She said some of the husbands of the top echelon didn't play golf either. If you want to know the truth I think she was making a pass at me — but I ignored it."

Baggies Are In Again

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

AP Special Correspondent NEW YORK (AP) — "Baggies Are In and We've Got 'em," proclaim full page newspaper ads placed by several fashionable boutiques and department stores.

Well, I've had them for years, despite my wife's constant carping, so I must be in, too.

"Now don't tell me you're going to wear those baggy old trousers over to the Morrisons," she said to me only last night as we suited up for a soiree at the neighbors.

"Certainly, dear," I wanted to tell her, if I could have gotten a word for my wardrobe in edgewise, "the anti-fashion fashion is very fashionable these days."

The comfortable amplitude of my old army pink ripcord slacks may have me compared in some ill informed circles to a baggy pants burlesque comedian on the order of Mickey Rooney in "Sugar Babies," but Vogue Magazine and others among

THE INSIDE REPORT

Vance Policy Unchanged

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance is pressing President Carter to name William W. Scranton, Republican governor of Pennsylvania 15 years ago, to a critically important European "security" conference in Madrid — showing that in some ways the Carter-

Vance team continues business as usual with Moscow.

The Madrid session will review progress in human rights and European "security" promised — and ignored — by Moscow at the 1975 Helsinki conference. Despite his reputation as an admirable establishment liberal Republican of a bygone era, Scranton is viewed by human rights advocates as unqualified for the assignment.

"Bill Scranton?" mused one high official asked about the impending appointment. "Frankly, I would prefer Mac Toon." Malcolm Toon is the foreign service Soviet expert who quit as ambassador to the Soviet Union last year, criticizing the administration for being "sloppy" in dealing with the Kremlin. Vance could depend on Scranton, his friend and fellow Yale man, not to roil the waters in Madrid (as Toon might).

Scranton lacks an insider's knowledge of the human rights campaign in the Soviet Union and the shocking fate there of "Helsinki-watch committees." That would seem to suggest presidential caution in naming Scranton, or any outsider, even with business as usual.

Business as usual, however, between Washington and Moscow ended when the Soviet Union's military took over Afghanistan. Some highly respected U.S. officials, past and present, quietly argue that Carter should pull the U.S. out of the Vienna negotiations on European armaments (MBFR) now that the Soviet tanks have rumbled. Others are counseling the administration that even the Madrid meeting on European "security" should be postponed; talking about international "security" with

Strength For Today

MOUNTAIN TOPS

Hills and mountain tops played an important part in the ministry of Jesus. He delivered his most famous sermon on a mountain. He was transfigured on a mountain. He ascended to heaven from the Mount of Olives. Throughout his ministry he frequently "went up on a mountain to pray."

Mountains are not only important as a means of ascent toward God; as one observer noted long ago, "It is the mountain tops that keep our valleys green." Very often the enduring results of Jesus's experiences came about after he had withdrawn from the mountains.

In the world of nature, the snow and rain from the mountains water the valleys below and make them fruitful. So the mountain places of prayer, meditation, and a quiet and devout withdrawal from the hurry and tension of the world can make our lives fruitful. The mountain tops can keep our valleys green if we will allow them to do so.

Trusted Beliefs Being Shaken

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — Perhaps you've been too involved with paying the bills and paring expenditures and trying to cut back on fuel usage to contemplate what it all means.

It means, for one thing, that some trusted American beliefs are being shaken, perhaps to death.

The notion, for example, that family wealth can grow each year, and the belief that material life improves each year, and that upward mobility is always possible for the ambitious.

We haven't yet discarded those notions, because they are so deeply imbedded in our psyches. They have been written into history books, they are part of our literature, they are depicted in advertisements.

We have, however, suspended them. High energy costs are making tight little houses more desirable than impressive mansions. And pint-size cars are substituting for those old parlors on wheels.

Inflation has challenged Americans with tough decisions, but many of them have temporarily sidestepped the challenge by utilizing their savings accounts and then dipping into their credit accounts for more.

Facing the challenge has been made all the more difficult for millions of families because they have seen their paychecks rise appreciably. Don't bigger paychecks mean a higher standard of living? They used to.

Last year, however, those big wage increases were almost totally absorbed by higher prices, and there is little hope of substantially less inflation this year. The mobility ladder has become a treadmill.

Eventually, if they haven't already, Americans will be forced to recognize that many of their ingrained hopes cannot be fulfilled, simply because the United States isn't growing the way it once did.

Productivity figures document the slowdown. For many years following World War II the country increased its rate of production efficiency by about 3 percent a year. Now it is down almost to zero in some areas of manufacturing, and there is little prospect for a quick improvement.

One reason, economists say, is that American industry does not have a sufficient flow of capital to finance production improvements. That is, after paying for improvements in ecology, health and other areas that do not raise productivity immediately, if ever.

Economists generally agree that without productivity increases, living standards cannot be raised. Productivity improvements, it is often explained, produce a bigger pie — a pie big enough so that everyone can have a bigger slice without depriving their neighbor of his share.

But raising the capital to raise living standards is also part of the problem. Last year Americans saved very little, the reason being that with inflation they couldn't save.

Some futurists say the way out of the impasse is reduce material wants.

Tim Dale manages our operations in Greenville. And for some time now, he's been planning the opening of our new Main Office at the corner of Greene and 3rd Streets. But what he's putting together is no ordinary grand opening.

Beginning at 9 a.m., Tim and his staff are going to be giving special keys to everyone who comes in the door. If your key opens the BB&T treasure chest, you'll win two of the mouth-watering rib eye steaks Tim's rounded up for this opening.

And even if your key doesn't open the chest, you can still walk away with a couple of nice steaks. All you have to do is open a checking or savings account with $50 or more or add $50 to an existing BB&T savings account.

Tim will also give you a free garden tool just for coming in between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. Thursday. As well as refreshments. And a chance to win an upright freezer for your home. There'll be a lot of nice things going on. So stop by our Main Office on

And They're Off

The 1980 presidential candidates have already spent long months on the campaign trail, making speeches, shaking hands, and raising money for this year's race to the White House. Today the race officially begins, as Iowa Republicans and Democrats meet in precinct caucuses to select delegates for next summer's national conventions. In 1976, Jimmy Carter got his campaign off to a successful start by winning in Iowa. Today he hopes to repeat that victory against California Governor Jerry Brown and Massachusetts Senator Edward Kennedy. Several Republican candidates are challenging the front-runner, former California Governor Ronald Reagan, for their party's nomination.

Sudan Ceremonial Is Scheduled In New Bern

NEW BERN — The sixty-third Sudan Temple Annual Winter Ceremonial and Business Meeting will be held in New Bern Jan. 25-26. Robert Lee, president-elect of the New Bern Shrine Club for 1980, will serve as General Chairman.

The Sudan Temple in New Bern is one of three temples in North Carolina and serves the eastern part of the state as headquarters for Shrine activities. It has over 11,200 members recognized throughout the United States for the contribution they make to the charitable work of Shriners hospitals for crippled and burned children.

The Shrine is called the "Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine" but is usually shortened to "A.A.O.N.M.S." The Potentate of Sudan Temple is John R. Godwin of Wrightsville Beach. The other officers live throughout eastern North Carolina.

Sudan Temple has 42 Shrine Clubs throughout its jurisdiction and has 27 uniformed units. A golf tournament will precede the activities beginning on Friday and will be followed by open house at the Temple for shriners that afternoon. A pre-ceremonial dance will be held Friday night.

The Annual Business meeting of the Temple will be on Saturday during which reports for the year's activities will be given. The business of the temple will be completed and officers for 1980 will be elected, followed by installation of members into the Sudan Temple. The Potentate's Ball and installation of officers will conclude the Saturday activities.

In 1979 Sudan Temple donated $400,000 to Shriners hospitals to treat crippled and burned children.

the couture cognoscent call it "the funky Annie Hall look." Loose is lovely, these days. The droop seat is still hanging in there.

At last we closet collectors of favorite garments can come out of the closet. Halston, Calvin Klein, Givenchy and others have given their blessing to the rumpled, crumpled look.

Now, like Margaux Hemingway and Jackie O, we can go about in broad daylight without snickers in form-free, loose-fitting old tweeds, slightly sagging in the stern and decidedly more blouson than tapered at the cuffs.

"Low key outre," the fashion writers call it. "Discreet, relaxed, unfettered, consciously disheveled," the Times recently piled on the adjectives.

That's been my look for years. Always ahead of my time, thanks to my penchant for storing away yesterday's clothing antiques in anticipation of tomorrow's trendy resurrection.

When Courreges brought back the Eisenhower battle jacket a few seasons ago, I still had mine mothballed in the attic.

It is perfectly preserved, authentic right down to the three hash marks on the sleeve and the 106th Infantry Division patch on the shoulder (a golden lion's head that resembled a door knocker). I could have cut a classy figure in it on the boulevard as soon as the style was unveiled.

The wardrobe was willing but, alas, the waistline couldn't hack it anymore.

Instructor Has Their Attention

Moscow after the invasion of a sovereign state is demeaning and a sign of weakness.

Such counsel is getting nowhere as yet in the inner councils of the secretary of state. Vance chose Scranton (well before the Soviet killings started in Afghanistan) partly to bar boat-rocking at Madrid by U.S. human rights advocates. He believed Scranton would not be spearpoint for the American human rights constituency as Arthur Goldberg brilliantly was at the first post-Helsinki conference in Belgrade in 1977 — much to Vance's annoyance.

However unfair that may be to independent-minded Bill Scranton, there is no sign so far that the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan has changed Vance's mind. The secretary's calm and constancy contrast with primordial emotions unleashed by Afghanistan and now running high among Americans — and Russians, as well.

For example, Washington correspondent Thomas Kielinger of the respected West German newspaper Die Welt in an interview published Jan. 14 quoted a ranking (but anonymous) Soviet diplomat mocking Carter's ch-advertised "rapid deployment force" to safeguard the Mideast and Persian Gulf oil: "Rapid deployment force! What is rapid deployment? I believe we have demonstrated that in Afghanistan."

The Russian diplomat used blunt language to deride U.S. influence and power in the world today: "The years in which the U.S. had the say as to what could and what could not be done in the world are past, once and for all. We can no longer tolerate Washington behaving as though it were the umpire of contemporary history."

Such views publicly expressed by a disciplined Soviet diplomat would have been unthinkable in any previous U.S.-Soviet crisis. Likewise, the deep hostility to Moscow exhibited by those who want the Vienna arms talks broken off has also reached an emotional high point that seems to have escaped Vance and his inner circle.

That is the background of the proposed Scranton appointment and its nod to business as usual. Vance does not view the Madrid conference as a heaven-sent opportunity for the U.S. to make a weighty case to an international tribunal against Soviet thuggery — denial of human rights at home and military invasion abroad.

This will please U.S. allies in Western Europe, who want no confrontation at Madrid or anywhere else with Moscow's overbearing power. But it dangerously ignores the mood in the world and raises anew most serious questions about U.S. will.

"After the chitchat, the executive vice-president got down to business. She said a husband's role in the company was just as important as the wife's. She expected us to be a team. That meant I had to entertain important customers in my home or in a restaurant, take the spouses shopping or sightseeing, and make them feel welcome while my wife was trying to close the deal.

"Janet's immediate boss asked me if I had a drinking problem, which I of course denied. She asked me if I minded Janet going to meetings in other cities and being away from home when duty called. I said, of course, I didn't. I was not one of those husbands who always complained when his wife started packing her bag.

"This seemed to satisfy them all, and even the mousy husband of the president gave the impression that I would fit in. As a matter of fact, as we left the restaurant, the executive vice president whispered to Janet. 'I think your husband is adorable, and he seems awfully intelligent for a man.'"

"That must have pleased Janet no end," I said to Flagstaff.

"It did. When we got home she hugged and kissed me and said, 'Honey, I'm on my way up the corporate ladder, and whatever happens, I'm taking you with me.'"

Inquiry Still Dragging On Tito Condition 'Good' After Leg Amputated

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — It has been more than a year since the U.S. Justice Department began its investigation into a $20,000-contribution to Luther Hodges's unsuccessful 1978 senate race.

And, still the case is not resolved. The investigation began 17 months ago when the government wanted to know whether any part of an $85,000 loan from the Bank of North Carolina to Charlotte radio executive Stan Kaplan went directly or indirectly to the Hodges campaign.

Federal law limits individuals to $1,000 in contributions per candidate in any one election and prohibits an individual from giving money to someone else to use to make a political contribution.

The initial probe focused on Hodges, his campaign finance chairman and neighbor Dick Spangler, who arranged Kaplan's loan, and the Bank of North Carolina, of which Spangler is chairman.

As pieces of the investigation were dropped, Hodges, Spangler and the bank were cleared. The probe then became centered on Kaplan.

Justice department officials say the investigation is now a matter of poring over bank records. But no one will predict just how much longer the case will take.

Meanwhile, Kaplan will not say what effects the probe has had on his political affairs. He has continued making contributions — $1,500 to Eddie Knox's successful campaign for Charlotte mayor — and has been an active supporter of Gov. Jim Hunt. Kaplan is also the chief money raiser for the Kennedy for President effort in North Carolina.

By STEPHEN H. MILLER Associated Press Writer
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Josip Broz Tito spent a quiet night and was in good condition today following the life-saving amputation of his left leg, his doctors reported.

Yugoslavia's 87-year-old leader was operated on Sunday for the second time in eight days to prevent fatal gangrene poisoning due to blockage in the arteries of the leg.

"The general condition of President Tito is good," his doctors said in a medical bulletin issued today. They said his pulse, blood pressure and temperature were within normal limits.

Belgrade remained calm despite speculation all week that the Russians might try to coerce Yugoslavia back into the Kremlin's orbit if Tito, the pioneer of the independent communism, died. Anti-aircraft guns were set up at the Belgrade and Zagreb airports, but this appeared to be part of a nationwide, low-priority "vigilance" program ordered after the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan.

In Bonn, the West German Defense Ministry denied German newspaper reports that the Soviets were reinforcing their troops in Central Europe because of Tito's condition.

Giving Program On Middle East

The International Relations Committee of the League of Women Voters will present a program, "Middle East Mosaic" Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the First Presbyterian Church here.

The speaker will be Dr. Sandra Wurth-Hough, Middle East specialist, in the Political Science Department at ECU.

Dr. Wurth-Hough will present information on the intermingling of history, geography, economics, culture and religion of the peoples of the area, with particular emphasis on the impact of Islam. Audience discussion will follow. The public is invited.

one of his World War II Partisans, a machine-gunner at a famous 1941 battle, who said: "Your deeds will live forever but you must recover." "We are Tito's, Tito is ours," a chorus of Bosnian children sang before the announcement of the operation on the government television service. The operation was performed at a hospital in the northern city of Ljubljana where Tito had been undergoing treatment since Jan. 2 for arterial blockage in his left leg.

Washington Study By 5

Five students from J.H. Rose Senior High School will participate in a government study program in Washington, D.C.

Paula Alcock, Jane Edgarty, Mark Douglas, David Holley, and Jesse Tart will represent Greenville and North Carolina as members of the Presidential Classroom National Student Body.

Each student will attend the program for one week beginning Jan. 19 and running through Feb. 16. During the sessions they will join with 400 high school students from the United States and abroad. The curriculum will focus on power and the federal institutions as well as decision-making processes that form national policies.

The students will study government and politics through direct contact with national leaders and Washington analysts. Many of the seminars will convene at federal agencies and on Capitol Hill, where students will visit their congressional delegates.

The goal of the Presidential Classroom is to develop the leadership potential among young Americans by exposing them to the U.S. democratic system firsthand.

Derailment In Newton, Sunday

NEWTON, N.C. (AP) — Thirteen cars of a 114-unit Southern Railway freight train derailed Sunday, causing minor damage to one boxcar filled with cigarettes and four others filled with beer.

Damage was estimated by railroad officials at $25,000. Eight of the derailed cars were empty.

Authorities said the train, en route from Winston-Salem to Asheville, derailed in Newton after a wheel malfunctioned.

Cleanup operations were continuing today.

A story in Sunday's edition reported that one of the events during Saturday's March of Dimes fund-raiser at Carolina East Mall was a rock-a-thon sponsored by the sororities of East Carolina University. The story should have said that the rock-a-thon was sponsored by the resident student staff at ECU.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market advanced slightly in active trading today, extending the advance of the past two weeks.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials climbed 2.99 to 870.14 in the first half hour.

Gainers took a 3-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said little had occurred to change the news background against which the market has rallied in recent sessions on heavy volume.

Last week was the busiest ever at both the New York and American stock exchanges.

The price of gold climbed to $85.00 an ounce at the afternoon fixing in London, up from $83.85 at Friday afternoon's fixing.

Today's early volume leaders included Boeing, up 1 1/2 at 63 1/2; Sears Roebuck, down 1/4 at 17 1/2; and General Motors, up 1/4 at 53 1/2.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.58 to 867.15, extending its gain for the week to 8.62 points.

Declines outnumbered advances by an 8-7 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totaled 47.15 million shares, against 54.17 million in the previous session.

The NYSE's composite index rose .14 to 63.94.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 1.51 at a new high of 264.46.

try and strengthen our national defense effort." He asserted, "We must not and we will not give away the resources of this country to foreign dictators. It is essential that we dedicate ourselves and our resources to regaining our rightful place of leadership among the nations of the world."

Jones said in his re-election statement, "As a ranking member of the House Agriculture Committee and as chairman of its Tobacco Subcommittee, I will continue my efforts to insure that farm programs be updated to better serve the farming interests across the nation."

He contended that, "Government cannot be all things to all people. However, farmers have always been at the mercy of economic forces over which they have no control and they are especially vulnerable to the inflation we are experiencing today. Since they form the foundation of our entire economy, it is in the national interest for the government to provide them a chance to earn a fair return for their work."

Jones concluded, "During my tenure in office every effort has been made by me and my office to provide prompt responses and personal attention to requests for assistance from my constituency. I will continue to be responsive to these personal needs in all matters pertaining to the federal government so long as I am entrusted with the privilege of serving in this high office."

Freshmen More Materialistic

WASHINGTON (AP) - A national survey of more than a quarter-million students indicates this year's college freshmen are more materialistic than any other recent entering class.

The 14th annual poll conducted by UCLA and the American Council on Education also found a record number of students headed for business careers. The survey showed 63 percent rated "being very well off financially" as a primary goal. Last year, 60 percent felt that way and in 1967, only 44 percent cited financial well-being as a main objective. UCLA Professor Alexander W. Astin, the survey director, says there also is "increased student interest in power and status."

$18,000 Salary Is A Hardship

CLEVELAND (AP) - At $18,000 a year, members of the Cleveland City Council aren't likely to get rich on just their city salaries. In fact, some say they are having trouble making ends meet.

So Council President George L. Forbes is trying to help them line up part-time jobs to supplement their incomes. He's told some members to prepare resumes so he can give them to prospective employers. "I've gone out and talked to certain people," Forbes said.

In recent years, more councilmen have been full-time legislators, finding it difficult to hold outside jobs since the council holds committee meetings during business hours.

Mrs. Stancil died Thursday. All messages of sympathy may be sent to William Stancil, 915 S. Sixteenth Street, Newark, N. J. 07108.

Cabbie Lost Mayoral Bid

DALLAS (AP) - Cab driver Tom Gibbons was not elected mayor of Dallas, which is not particularly surprising since his campaign slogan was: "I don't want to win."

Gibbons invested very little time and almost no money for the election Saturday against incumbent Bob Folsom.

He still polled nearly 25 percent of the vote, surprising considering his background - which included no politics and several arrests for commercial obscenity charges.

"Most of my votes are anti-Folsom votes, rather than pro-Gibbons votes," he admitted. Gibbons' campaign, he said, was to be a forum for airing his complaints about the judicial system.

Before he drove a cab, Gibbons worked for some Dallas peep shows and adult book stores. His arrests and convictions in connection with those activities raised his anger about the justice system.

He admits he was angry the day he filed to run against Folsom, but not angry enough to want to be mayor.

"Maybe, just maybe, if I hadn't said in the beginning I didn't want to win, I could have gotten more votes," he said, adding, "I still don't think it (a victory) would have been right. I just didn't have the confidence I could handle the job."

INDEPENDENCE GESTURE

ROME (AP) - Trumpeting condemnation of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, the Italian Communist Party is waging a new campaign to prove its independence from Moscow as another Italian government crisis approaches.

Seniors Club Plans For February Trip

The Town and Country Senior Citizens Club met Thursday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Ninety members and three guests attended.

The Rev. Adrian Brown gave the devotion and Mrs. Sarah J. Ashton presided at the meeting.

The following members were given certificates of appreciation from the March of Dimes: James Ward, Eula Andrews, Julia Houle, Ann Fornes, and Sarah Ashton.

Mrs. Frances Dixon introduced Mrs. Janet Rodgers who gave a program on India. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hill modeled clothes worn by the people of India.

Plans for the trip to the Southern Flower Show in Charlotte on Feb. 26 were discussed and Mrs. Ashton reported that a few seats were still available on the bus. Members and friends planning to go should contact Mrs. Ashton immediately.

Plans to attend the circus in Raleigh in March were made. At the Feb. 7 meeting, members will exchange valentines. All members must bring a valentine.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sadie Worthington, Mrs.

Ruth Harris, Mrs. Alma Letchworth, Mrs. Ethel Allen, Mrs. Reppie Buck, Mrs. Lillian McDaniel, and Mrs. Esther Buck.

REALISTIC RETIREMENT PLANNING
 There are two approaches to retirement planning for the homeowner. One is to sock money away in the bank and have a good-sized nest egg with which to buy a retirement home when the time comes. The other approach is to buy that retirement home now and have it well paid off when retirement arrives.

Economically and emotionally, the best answer is to buy that home now. Not only will you have a good cash investment in it when you retire, but the value of that home should keep increasing with the inflation rate. Better still, invest in a second rental home. Let your renter help pay for your retirement. Interviews with retirees reveal that one of the last things they desire to do upon retirement is withdraw a sizeable amount of cash from savings. The bank account is a must at a time when expenses climb and income remains flat. Do you think real estate will ever cost less than it does now? The time to start retirement planning is today!

Bradshaw's Heroics Leads Steelers Past Rams

Swann Flies

Pittsburgh Steelers' receiver Lynn Swann (88) goes up for touchdown catch as Los Angeles

Rams' defenders Pat Thomas (27) and Nolan Cromwell (21) arrive too late during third quarter action in Super Bowl XIV Sunday in Pasadena, Calif. (AP Laserphoto)

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - Something was very wrong. Terry Bradshaw just couldn't shake the feeling. The Pittsburgh Steelers were going to lose.

It was early Sunday morning, 12 hours before kickoff. The quarterback sat up in bed, suddenly wide awake after drifting off to sleep just three hours earlier.

He closed his eyes again. It did not good. The feeling was still there. He turned on the television, watched the test pattern and listened to the high-pitched whine accompanying it for the rest of the night.

The hours drifted by. Still no sleep.

"All I could think about was losing," Bradshaw recalled later - after he had chased away the demons with yet another Most Valuable Player performance in Pittsburgh's 31-19 Super Bowl victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

Hmph! Losing normally just doesn't accompany Bradshaw and the Steelers. Records do. Winning a Super Bowl does.

Sunday, Bradshaw threw his eighth and ninth Super Bowl touchdown passes... a record. Lynn Swann and John Stallworth each caught a third Super Bowl touchdown pass... a record.

Franco Harris scored his third and fourth career Super Bowl touchdowns... a record.

Oh, and the Steelers' Super Bowl victory was their fourth... a record.

"It was weird. It just wasn't like me, not being able to sleep before a big game," said Bradshaw, whose 309 yards passing (14 for 21) was within nine yards of the record he set a year ago. "Last year before Dallas (the Steelers beat the Cowboys 35-31) I didn't have any trouble. I never had any negative thoughts. I never think about losing. I had to say to myself, 'Stop that, now. Think positive.' Finally, it worked."

Then there was the small matter of asserting himself with his teammates.

"I think I had more of a leadership role this time," Bradshaw said. "I really took charge and tried to juice 'em. I never do that. But I really took control of the team. Usually I just go out and play the game. But I felt I wasn't involved, and I thought 'If I'm not involved maybe they're not involved,' so I made a point of pumping 'em, getting them going, getting them excited."

When? "At the start of the second half, after I got myself juiced up. That wasn't tough at all. I mean, 13-10 got me juiced up real good."

That was the Rams' lead, technically built on Cullen Bryant's 1-yard run and field goals of 31 and 45 yards by Frank Corral but, in fact, built on the cool passing of young quarterback Vince Ferragamo and some explosive running by Wendell Tyler.

Ferragamo was starting only his eighth pro game. He was supposed to crack under the pressure. He never even came close.

"That didn't surprise me a bit," Steelers Coach Chuck Noll said. "Nothing about the Rams surprised me, especially their quarterback. He's a fine one."

"I told Terry before the game that he would have to come up with the big play," Noll added.

"Nuff said. With 2:48 gone in the third period, Bradshaw went to Swann, unloading a bomb that the lithe wide receiver caught with a leap at the 2-yard line. He tumbled into the end zone to complete the 47-yard scoring play. It put the Steelers back on top 17-13.

Undaunted, Ferragamo came back with a 50-yard bomb to Billy Waddy, then handed off to running back Lawrence McCutcheon, who pitched a 27-yard option pass to Ron Smith for a touchdown and a 19-17

Ram lead that remained that way when Corral missed the extra point.

The big play, Noll had said.

With 2:56 gone in the fourth period and Swann sidelined with a concussion (he was cartwheeled by Pat Thomas in the third quarter), Bradshaw went to Stallworth, who had faked an inside route, then had taken off downfield. The bomb was perfect, Stallworth gathering it in at the Rams' 32 as Thomas lunged in vain, then going the rest of the way to complete the 73-yard play that put Pittsburgh ahead to stay.

The Steelers wrapped it up when Harris, who had gotten their first touchdown on a 1-yard sweep in the second period, bulled in from the 1 again with 1:52 to go. It came three plays after a pass interference penalty against Thomas for bumping Jim Smith in the end zone.

It was the only controversial call, and the Rams really didn't argue too loudly. "He tried to take the position away from the receiver," referee Fred Silva said of Thomas' contact. "He was not playing the ball." And Charlie Musser, the field judge who threw the flag, added: "He (Thomas) had his hands all over him."

Harris' clinching touchdown came eight plays after Jack Lambert, the Steelers' middle linebacker, broke the Rams' backs by intercepting a Ferragamo pass at the Pittsburgh 14-yard line.

The interception and touchdown finally allowed the Steelers to breathe easily against a team which most observers felt would be blown out of the Rose Bowl long before the extravagant halftime show.

Maryland Atop ACC With Win Over UNC

By DICK BRINSTER
Associated Press Writer

During an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game involving Duke one of the television broadcasters made a point of the Blue Devils being ranked 5th nationally while occupying sixth place in the ACC.

That was strange, but anything is possible in the ACC. For instance, in the national rankings the name Maryland is nowhere to be found. But the Terps sit atop the ACC today, ahead of five ranked members.

And, after its 92-86 victory over North Carolina Sunday one would think Maryland coach Lefty Driesell would feel like the king of the hill.

But Driesell said Sunday the Terps were taking them one at a time. He did concede, however, that the victory over the 9th-ranked Tar Heels was an important step.

"The win today should help us along the way, but it does not make the season," said Driesell, whose Terrapins are now 5-1 in the ACC and 13-2 overall. "Our next eight games are against nationally ranked teams."

Aside from the upset of North Carolina, Clemson won at home over Virginia Saturday, 88-68, and Duke won at home over North Carolina State, 67-56.

In non-conference action Saturday night, Wake Forest routed Appalachian State, 87-61, and Georgia Tech lost to Boston College, 40-37.

Maryland simply outclassed the North Carolina with Albert King, who scored 28 points, leading the way in a 67 percent shooting performance.

Miles Leaves East Carolina

Clarence Miles, a sophomore swingman at East Carolina, has withdrawn from school to evaluate his future plans. Pirate coach Dave Odom announced Monday.

Miles, a native of Burlington, had placed in 11 of ECU's 16 games, starting three times. He was averaging 3.7 points a game and had a 2.4 rebounding average.

Last year as a freshman, Miles started eight of 25 games and averaged 4.7 points a contest and 3.2 rebounds.

Pirates Face Baptist Tonight

East Carolina University's Pirates, after a week off following a grueling four-game eight-day trip, return to the hardwood tonight at 7:30 p.m., playing host to winless Baptist College of Charleston.

The Baptists come into the game with a 26-game losing streak, one of the longest, if not the longest, in the country at this time. After losing their final 14 games last season, they have bowed in 12 straight this year, including a 90-72 setback at the hands of South Carolina State on Saturday night.

The matchup will be the second for the two clubs. East Carolina beat them, 99-77, in Charleston, the second game of the four on the trip just ended.

"I think our players needed some time to rest, away from the game," ECU Coach Dave Odom said of the week away from the court. "In the second half at Madison we had a good half defensively, but our worst execution of the year on offense. It was part fatigue, part mental sharpness and part Madison playing so well. Madison is behind us, but I hope we've overcome the other two factors."

Baptist will be led by 6-7 forward Eddie Talley with a 16.7 average and 6-4 guard Eric Tennille at 14.6.

The Pirates bring a 9-7 record into the contest. They are led by three players in double figures. George Maynor, 6-3 senior guard, leads the way at 14.1, while 6-5 senior forward Herb Krusen is hitting at a 12.7 pace. Another senior, 6-8 forward Herb Gray, has a 10.8 average.

Both Krusen and Gray are chasing the 1,000-point plateau. Krusen is now 35 points away with 965 points. Gray, with 896, needs 104 to make the club. Gray has also passed the 500 rebound career level, pulling off 518 to date.

The Pirates are idle again until Saturday, following the meeting with Baptist. They entertain UNC-Wilmington on Saturday.

Initial ticket reaction to the visit of Willie Mays, ex-baseball great and Hall of Famer, has been good, according to W.M. "Booger" Scales, playing a big role in Mays' visit to Greenville.

The visit will be to speak at the Greenville Sports Club on Thursday, February 14, at noon. The meeting will be held at the American Legion hut, which seats 300 people. Only that number of tickets will be available for the luncheon, to be catered by Parker's Barbecue.

Of those 300, over a third have already been sold at $6 each, including 50 purchased by First State Bank to be donated to the Pitt County Boys Club.

"We want to emphasize that this meeting is open to everyone in Greenville," Scales said, "not just to members of the Sports Club.

The Mays visit will serve a double purpose, as he will also speak at Martin Academy in Everetts. That visit is being paid for by Gaylord Perry, one of the school's sponsors. The Greenville visit is being handled by Integon, "in honor of Eastern North Carolina's long ties with that company, and due to the fact that Mays is one of the most prestigious customers," Scales pointed out.

One of ten men named to the Hall of Fame on his first opportunity, Mays collected the highest percentage of ballots ever received by a player. Only three eligible voters failed to list the immortal on his ballot.

In addition to Mays, Perry and Dick Dietz, a former Giant catcher, will attend the Sports Club meeting.

All profits from the sale of tickets, above the cost of the dinner and hall rental, will go to the Greenville Sports Club, to aid its programs in the future.

"If he don't show up," Scales moaned, "I'm going to have to move at least three states away from North Carolina. Either that, or go back in the Army at my old job, prop supervisor on gliders. I hope my children will at least be allowed to stay on in the state, even if they have to get out of Greenville."

Ever the hustler, it's doubtful that Booger will have to leave, and just as doubtful that Mays won't show up.

Tickets are expected to go fast, and are available at Hodges' Sporting Goods; Bond's Sporting Goods; Biggs Drug Store and Hargett's Drug Store.

The battle for supremacy in the Division I 4-A ranks and the 3-A Eastern Carolina Conference appeared headed down to the wire, at least in the boys' races.

After the first seven games in Division I, the half-way point, there is at least a three and possibly a four-way tie for first place. The Rampants of Rose are knotted along with Beddingfield and at least one other club with 5-2 records.

The Rampants have somewhat of a disadvantage in the final swing through the conference, however, since they play four of those games on the road—Northern Nash, Beddingfield, Hunt and Bertie.

In the Eastern Carolina Conference, Farmville Central holds a tight half-game lead over D.H. Conley for first place. The Jaguars are 8-3 in league play, while Conley is 7-3. Everyone else has lost at least four games, but a lot can still happen.

It will prove an interesting dash to the wire.

Mitchell Wins Open

PHOENIX (AP) — In two weeks there have been two first-time winners on the pro golf tour. But Jeff Mitchell, the latest man to break through, said it isn't necessarily a trend.

"You'll start to see those familiar names up there pretty soon," Mitchell said after scoring a 4-stroke victory Sunday in the Phoenix Open. He glanced over at the scoreboard, and continued: "Look, there aren't but a couple of strange names up there now. The old names will be coming back."

It was one of the more familiar names. 16-time tour winner Hubert Green, who had the best chance to overtake the front-running Mitchell in the final round. But Green fell back with a last-round 73, dropping out of contention and making it relatively easy for the 25-year-old Mitchell to claim the $54,000 first prize.

That compares with the $38,032 he collected all of last season and represents a huge change in his personal and professional life.

In response to a question, he started toting up some of the things the victory will mean.

"Let's see," said the 25-year-old Mitchell, who had to survive the Monday qualifying round just to get in the tournament field. "It puts me in the Tournament of Champions and the Masters. And I'm in the PGA. And there's no more Mondays."

His solid final round of 67 finished of a 272 total — 12 under par on the 6,726 yard Phoenix Country Club course.

"What a great feeling," he said.

Rik Massengale was equally thrilled with his second-place finish. Massengale, once one of the game's more promising young players, broke a lengthy slump with a solid, 6-under-par 65 that brought him from far back in the pack to second place at 276.

He won $32,400, which compares with the $29,000 he'd collected in the last two full years.

the following:
1. 45,757 pounds of tobacco to be offered for rental in parcels of 5,000 pounds.

USOC To Discuss Boycott

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The U.S. Olympic Committee, facing an appeal by President Carter and sharply divided opinions from American athletes, will meet next weekend to consider the possibility of not sending a team to Moscow for the Summer Olympic Games.

"That will be one matter discussed, among others," says Col. Donald F. Miller, executive director of the USOC. "All options and alternatives will be properly discussed."

At this time as well, the USOC will poll thousands of prospective American Olympic athletes in hopes of getting a feel of the national pulse on the subject.

In addition to the USOC affair in Colorado Springs, Colo., on Jan. 26 and 27, Miller said Sunday that he has arranged a subsequent meeting between representatives of his organization and Ireland's Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee, to discuss "all aspects of this difficult and sensitive situation."

The meeting with Killanin was scheduled to take place Feb. 8, 9 or 10 at the IOC meeting at Lake Placid, N.Y., according to a statement from Miller.

"The USOC has a trust in representing our American athletes in the international Olympic movement — both the athletes of this generation and those of future generations," said Miller. "We believe that the President of the United States recognizes that trust."

Killanin, meanwhile, has reaffirmed his insistence that the 1980 Summer Olympic Games cannot be shifted from Moscow. "There is no question of their being moved to another venue," Killanin was quoted today in The Times of London. "This is a time for cool heads and quiet voices."

He again said, as he did last week, that the 1980 Games were awarded to the Soviet Union in 1974, and unless the Soviets break the terms of that binding agreement, the Games cannot legally be moved.

"This does not mean that I or the IOC are condoning the political action taken by the host country," Killanin, in a weekend interview in Dublin, said of Russia's recent military intervention in Afghanistan. "But if we started to make political judgements it would be the end of the Games."

The reaction from the Olympic chief and his American counterpart came as a result of Carter's nationally televised appeal Sunday for the Summer Olympics to be moved out of Moscow, postponed or canceled if the Soviet Union does not pull its troops out of Afghanistan in a month. Carter also urged that both the Summer and Winter Games be moved to a permanent site in Greece, where the modern Olympics began in 1896.

Although Carter has no legal authority to block sending American athletes to Moscow, the President said he sent a message to the USOC on Sunday in which he outlined his position and urged that the organization present his views to the IOC, the only group that can move the Games.

Stallworth: Did What We Had To Do To Win

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Credit wide receiver John Stallworth of the Pittsburgh Steelers with the most outstanding play and the most outlandish understatement of Super Bowl XIV.

"We did what we had to in the second half, so it wasn't a total loss," Stallworth said after he and Terry Bradshaw combined on a 73-yard, fourth-quarter bomb that boosted Pittsburgh to a 31-19 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

A total loss? Hardly. Instead, it was a fourth Super Bowl title for the Steelers, twice as many as anybody else.

"Another title for the 'City of Champions,'" bubbled Pittsburgh's other wide receiver, Lynn Swann, who caught a 43-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter shortly before a jolting hit sent him to the sidelines for the rest of the game.

"Just think, the next time we walk into that office at Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh, we'll be looking at a case with four trophies," said Swann.

Winning image aside, the Steelers trailed 13-10 at half-time and there were as many worried looks in the Rose Bowl as there were terrible towels.

"I was concerned at half-time. I was very concerned," said

Steelers linebacker Jack Lambert. "We just didn't have any intensity on defense."

Swann's 47-yard touchdown gave Pittsburgh a brief lead at 17-13. After the Rams moved back on top Stallworth and Bradshaw put Pittsburgh ahead to stay at 24-19 with their long touchdown toss over the middle.

"I feel like I can go deep on anybody in the NFL. I have confidence in my abilities," said Stallworth.

But in victory, the Steelers offered a salute to the Rams.

"I am really proud for the Ram ballclub, too. They played their butts off," said center Mike Webster. "I had a lot of respect for the Rams before the game. I have more now."

Los Angeles quarterback Vince Ferragamo was singled out by many Steelers.

"He must have taken a cool pill before he came out there," said safety Don Shell.

"I think Ferragamo played a super game," said Joe Greene. "He threw the ball well, he called the right plays. We just had too many good football players."

Lambert, whose fourth-quarter interception sealed the victory, said the same.

"Ferragamo had a lot of calm and poise out there. He played an excellent football game and I wouldn't tell you that if he didn't."

Franco Harris capped the Pittsburgh scoring with his second touchdown run of the game.

Celtics Fall In Double Overtime

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics knew what to do, but they just couldn't do it.

As a result, Dennis Johnson got off a three-point field goal that tied the game for Seattle at the final buzzer, and the SuperSonics went on to beat the Celtics 108-106 in double overtime Sunday in a National Basketball Association game.

"We wanted to foul," Boston Coach Bill Fitch said. "We planned on fouling, but we couldn't get to the ball in time. It was a physical error, not a mental one."

"The first option was to Fred Brown," said Sonics Coach Lenny Wilkens, "but D.J. or (Gus) Williams were other options. My main worry was that the Celtics would foul before we got off the shot."

However, Fitch said veteran center Dave Cowens committed a mental error. After the Sonics called a timeout with three seconds left to set up the final shot, Seattle tried to throw the ball inbound and Cowens batted it out before it reached big Jack Sikma. That used up one second and Johnson scored after the ensuing throw-in.

"Dave overhusted," Fitch said. "The ball came in to Sikma and Dave knocked it back out instead of letting Sikma get it and then fouling him."

Bucks 89, Blazers 88
Brian Winters sank a 20-foot jumper from the top of the key with four seconds to play to enable Milwaukee to end a three-game losing streak.

Ron Brewer scored eight points in the last 4:52 for the Blazers, and his baseline jump shot gave Portland an 88-83 lead with 2:16 left. A three-point goal by Dave Meyers at 1:15 brought Milwaukee close and rookie Sidney Moncrief made one free throw with 36 seconds left.

ECU Names Two More Coaches

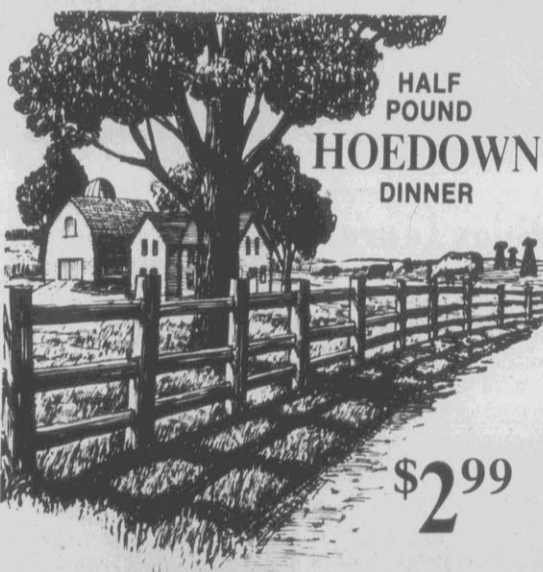

New East Carolina football coach Ed Emory completed his full-time staff of assistant coaches today with the addition of two backfield aides.

Steve Schnell, defensive secondary coach the past three years at William and Mary, was named to coach the offensive backs for the Pirates while Tommy Bowden, son of Florida State coach Bobby Bowden, was named to coach the defensive backs.

Schnell, 35, had previously coached at Lafayette and Widener in the college ranks and at Indian Hills High School in Oakland, N.J.

Bowden, 25, starred at West Virginia where he played in the 1975 Peach Bowl and earned his physical education degree in 1976. He served as a part-time assistant with the Mountaineers coaching the secondary one year before moving on to Florida State, where he helped his father the past two seasons.

Emory previously named Frank Orgel as the defensive coordinator and Wright Anderson as the offensive coordinator. Other offensive coaches include Jim Gudger, Henry Trevathan and Schnell. Other defensive staff members include Bob Sanders, Jim Holland and Bowden.

Steelers Win, But Rams Proud

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — "We had the chance to be great and we didn't quite make it," said Los Angeles Rams defensive end Fred Dryer. "The Steelers are the champs, great champs, and I respect them."

"But they know it could have been us instead of them." The Rams, longshots even to make it to Super Bowl XIV and longshots to beat the three-time champion Pittsburgh Steelers when they did get there, almost reached football's pinnacle after struggling uphill all season.

But when it was over Sunday in Pasadena's Rose Bowl, the heavily favored Steelers had ended the Rams' hopes of once again overcoming great odds, as Pittsburgh came from behind for a 31-19 victory.

Following the game, which they led most of the way until the fourth quarter, the Rams players were extremely weary and most spoke in low tones. But they were proud.

"We went out and played as well as we could play, as hard as we could, and that's what it's all about," said safety Dave Elmendorf, who had one of Los Angeles' three interceptions of Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw.

Offensive tackle Doug France said, "I hope the way we played made people realize that we really are a good team. It'll depend on what the reporters write about the game since fans tend to believe what they read, I guess."

"But I know the players and coaches from both sides thought it was a hell of a game."

There was some kind of hitting out there; I'm more tired than I've ever been after a game."

Two key plays for Pittsburgh were a pair of long touchdown passes by Bradshaw, one of 47 yards to Lynn Swann in the third period, and another of 73 yards to John Stallworth in the fourth to give the Steelers a 24-19 lead. Rams' cornerback Rod Perry was the defender on both plays.

"On the pass to Swann, I jumped, but just didn't get high enough," said Perry, who at 5-foot-9 is three inches shorter than Swann. "On the Stallworth touchdown, there was a bust in our coverage; I was supposed to get help and I didn't."

Two Rams, who had played almost error-free football for the first three periods, made costly mistakes in the closing moments. The first came when quarterback Vince Ferragamo threw an interception that stopped a drive in Steeler territory, the second when cornerback Pat Thomas was called for pass interference in the end zone to set up Pittsburgh's final score.

"We could have won if I hadn't thrown that interception," said Ferragamo, who completed 15 of 25 passes for 212 yards and suffered just that interception.

Of the pass interference call, Rams' Coach Ray Malavasi said: "It was just a bad call. I could see it clearly from the sidelines, and Thomas did not interfere."

Thomas, who tangled with Pittsburgh receiver Jim Smith on the play, would say only, "It was a sorry call."

Helped From The Floor

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Dale Brown didn't like the odds, but he didn't mind the final score...even though he lost. In his eyes, it was a moral victory in the classic sense.

"We lost our leading scorer and rebounder just as the game started," pointed out the Louisiana State coach. "Then our big man fouled out early in the second half. Our next-leading scorer played the rest of the way with four fouls and we got only five free throws to their 37."

On top of all that, LSU had to play in what Brown called "one of the worst gyms in the country." DePaul's intimidating Alumni Hall.

"And we still didn't lose until the final 50 seconds...I would have to say that would give us a psychological advantage if we happen to meet DePaul again," said Brown, obviously thinking of a possible shot at the Blue Demons in the NCAA tournament.

All this happened Sunday in what Brown called a "gutsy, gutsy effort," a 78-73 loss to the nation's top-ranked college basketball team.

Starting with the disadvantage of playing in DePaul's gym, Brown's Tigers lost top scorer Durand Macklin to injury no more than 22 seconds into the game. Early in the second half, both 7-foot Rick Mattick and 6-9 DeWayne Scales of LSU drew their fourth fouls, with Mattick leaving the game with his fifth with 15:57 to play.

Scales stayed on to finish with 26 points, 18 of them in the second half and 16 in the final 10 minutes. DePaul held several 10-point leads in the second half, but couldn't put the 14th-ranked Tigers away until Clyde Bradshaw converted three free throws in the final seconds. Mark Aguirre scored 31 points for the winners, including 13 of 14 from the foul line.

"What more do you want from a ballplayer?" asked DePaul Coach Ray Meyer of Aguirre. "When you go to the free throw line 14 times, that shows me something. It shows you're not just standing around."

The Maryland Terps weren't standing around, either. Sunday, taking the measure of ninth-ranked North Carolina 92-86 in one of many upsets over the weekend.

Second-ranked Ohio State, No. 3 Syracuse, No. 11 Purdue, No. 12 Virginia and No. 13 Iowa all lost Saturday. Ohio State was beaten by Michigan 75-74 in overtime; Syracuse lost a 68-67 heart-breaker to Old Dominion; Purdue dropped a 67-61 decision to Minnesota; Virginia suffered an 88-68 loss to No. 18 Clemson and Iowa was beaten 75-67 by Michigan State.

Elsewhere, No. 4 Oregon State beat Washington 89-84; No. 5 Duke stopped No. 16 North Carolina State 67-56; No. 6 Kentucky routed Vanderbilt 106-90; No. 7 Louisville defeated Tulane 76-59; No. 8 Notre Dame turned back UCLA 80-73; No. 10 St. John's edged Georgetown 71-69; No. 14 LSU nipped No. 20 Tennessee 75-74; No. 15 Missouri trimmed Oklahoma State 69-64; No. 18 Brigham Young routed Colorado State 104-82 and No. 19 Indiana defeated Northwestern 81-72.

Thad Garner scored four of his 19 points in overtime to help Michigan beat Ohio State, the first defeat in six Big Ten games for the Buckeyes.

Old Dominion overcame an 11-point deficit in the last 4½ minutes to beat Syracuse. The Monarchs finally won the game on Bobby Vaughn's tip-in basket at the buzzer following three other last-gasp shots. Trent Tucker scored 19 points and Darryl Mitchell hit two clutch free throws with 17 seconds left, leading Minnesota over Purdue.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JAN. 22, 1980

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Be aware of all the angles of a new project and you get better results by so doing. There are apt to be delays in getting started but take them in your stride and replace limitations constructively.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan and arrange the future so that you gain your finest goals. Not the right time to be with good friends for enjoyment. Be practical.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Looking into all the factors why you are not advancing as quickly as you would like is wise. Study reasons and make right changes.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to look on the good side of friends so that you are not disappointed. Handle business affairs intelligently and avoid mistakes.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do nothing that could ruin your credit rating. Don't permit others to influence you in the wrong directions. Hold your own.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Analyze how best to develop in right directions and then put plan in motion. Consider well any new contacts and possible associates.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Pay more attention to loved one who is getting more restless and could do something rash. Avoid overly talkative people.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Have better accord with partners by pleasing them more. Be patient in solving a domestic problem. Avoid jumping to conclusions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study new ideas carefully before using them in connection with your work. Be sure of facts and figures. Think logically, clearly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make plans well in advance for a well-earned vacation. Buy a gift for a loved one, but stay within your budget.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Know what is going on at home and have more harmony there by extra thought on your part. Study contracts carefully.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Improve relationships with allies by some new ideas, thoughts that are inspiring. Welcome change that could prove beneficial.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be conservative in handling money and investments. Consult with a financial expert who can give you excellent tips.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who can easily work at whatever is of a modern nature. Teach early to get the habit of finishing whatever has been started. Teach to moderate in drinking, eating, etc.

Hollywood Artists Are Featured In Impressive London Exhibition

By GREGORY JENSEN

LONDON (UPI)—A major London museum is showing a splashy survey of "The Art of Hollywood" these days, but it might not be the art you expect.

True, Fred and Ginger dance cheek to cheek on one video screen and Orson Welles as "Citizen Kane" strides through the halls of Xanadu on another. But elsewhere King Kong's giant paw plunges through a skylight, clutching a lifesized dummy of Fay Wray. Entry tickets are sold in an ornate picture palace box office, and one staircase is carpeted to look like a piano keyboard.

The Victoria and Albert Museum's lavish exhibition is devoted not to movie stars but to the men who determined how movies look — art directors.

"Art directors remain shadowy figures, little known outside the industry," wrote American critic Clancy Sigal in an introduction to the show.

"Even otherwise knowledgeable buffs tend to dismiss them as hack draughtsmen or as mere designers of the back-grounds' which show off the Gables and Hepburns at their best."

Yet good art directors "have the right to be remembered as co-authors of the films on which they worked," says John Hambley, one of the show's organizers. An art director not only designed sets and props and supervised costumes but usually — like William Cameron Menzies on "Gone With the Wind" — produced "storyboards" sketching out scenes in precise detail, even picking camera angles in advance. Often the director simply had to follow the lines the art director laid down.

More than that, an argument could be made — and this show makes it — that everything we know as "Hollywood" traces to Willfred Buckland, Hollywood's first art director.

Buckland was a Broadway theater man, summoned to the West Coast in 1914 by Cecil B. de Mille. He brought the "Klieg" light to the movies, enabling indoor studios to be used for the first time. This eliminated dependence on California sunshine and allowed rigid control of production details.

"The Art of Hollywood" concentrates on nine art directors who "were enormously powerful influences not only on the art of film but also on public taste," the museum says. Mostly they died forgotten men.

Only Cedric Gibbons is a name some people may know — and no wonder. His credit appears on 1,500 movies over 35 years, and he won 11 Academy Awards for his art direction.

More typical is Richard Day. The museum notes the latest film biographical dictionary devotes 87 lines to Doris Day and not one to Richard Day, though he was the art director of more than 50 major movies from "Greed" to "On the Waterfront."

Art Directors like Van Nest Polglase — who designed not only those lavish Busby Berkeley musicals but supervised the design of "Citizen Kane" — are so little remembered that there are no studies or collections of their work.

The show's two organizers spent nearly a year of "part detective hunt, part archaeological dig" unearthing material about them. They uncovered hundreds of original sketches of famous movie sets, dozens of "storyboards" and a mass of documentary material.

This scholarly material, some of it quite beautiful, is presented with a razzmatazz exuberance which makes a museum-goer gasp.

Look up at one point and William Holden's corpse stares at you, floating face down above a transparent ceiling representing the swimming pool of "Sunset Boulevard." Beyond a mirrored corridor from "Citizen Kane" is a 1930s bar with an all-star cast etched on the mirror behind the bar.

The Busby Berkeley piano-key staircase descends into a mirrored Art Deco masterpiece where snippets of famous musicals appear on overhead screens.

"The Art of Hollywood" complements a British television series on Hollywood. The exhibition will be at the Victoria and Albert until Jan. 27.

Suspension For Presley's Doctor

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Dr. George Nichopoulos, the late Elvis Presley's personal physician, has been barred for three months from practicing medicine. He was accused of prescribing more than 10,000 doses of medication to Presley in the 18 months before his death.

The Tennessee Board of Medical Examiners ordered the three-month suspension of Nichopoulos' license and three years probation after finding the 52-year-old internist guilty Saturday of over-prescribing drugs to Presley and nine other persons.

Nichopoulos, who sat silently as the board's verdict was announced, was found innocent on 10 other counts of over-prescribing drugs.

The board which could have permanently barred Nichopoulos from practicing medicine in Tennessee, found the doctor innocent on two other charges — "unprofessional, dishonorable or unethical conduct" and "gross incompetence, gross ignorance, gross negligence or gross malpractice in the course of medical practice."

"I've come to the conclusion that Dr. Nichopoulos is not a so called 'bad doctor.' He got careless," Dr. Howard R. Foreman of Nashville, the board's secretary, said. "I feel very strongly that in no way should this man's license be revoked. This man is too valuable to his community."

The State District Attorney General's office, which had been investigating the medical board charges for possible criminal violations, filmed the proceedings throughout the week. State prosecutors declined to comment, however, on whether they would bring any charges against Nichopoulos.

Nichopoulos specifically was found guilty of "dispensing, prescribing, or otherwise distributing any controlled substance or any other drug not in the course of professional practice, or not in good faith to relieve pain and suffering, or not to cure an ailment, physical infirmity or disease."

The 10 guilty rulings included prescriptions written for Presley; entertainer Jerry Lee Lewis; Alan Fortas, a former Presley aide; Gail Clifton; twin brothers Drew and Ivan Cook; Robert Deason; Barbara Kaplan; Barry Underberg; and for Nichopoulos himself.

Under provisions of the ruling, Nichopoulos' license was suspended immediately but automatically will be renewed after three months. Over the next three years, the board will monitor the doctor's activities.

After the board had rendered its decision, Nichopoulos, accompanied by members of his family, left the hearing room without comment. Board members also left the chambers immediately under the guard of police and sheriff's deputies who had been present throughout the five days of testimony.

Nichopoulos could appeal the board's decision to Chancery Court, but there was no word from the doctor's attorneys on his plans.

A 59-page complaint filed by attorneys for the state Department of Public Health last September accused Nichopoulos of overprescribing drugs to 16 patients, including Presley, Lewis and his own daughter, Chrissy Nichopoulos. The complaint was amended in November to include four other names, including Nichopoulos.

The hearing began last Monday amid the glare of television camera lights and a crush of media representatives and spectators.

As expected, Nichopoulos' treatment of his most famous patient, Presley, soon became the central topic.

Accused of writing 199 prescriptions for Presley between Jan. 10, 1976, and Aug. 15, 1977, totaling more than 10,000 doses of sedatives, amphetamines and narcotics, Nichopoulos testified the singer never got many of the drugs.

He said placebos were substituted for some of the medication, some of it went to members of the Presley entourage and more was destroyed at the end of the singer's tours.

Nichopoulos also testified that twice in the four years before Presley's death on Aug. 16, 1977, the singer was treated at Baptist Hospital in Memphis for drug addiction.

RIGGED GAME

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — In an attempt to lure wealthy gamblers behind the Iron Curtain, Poland and Hungary have asked casino experts in Austria to train croupiers and help set up the first casinos in Communist countries. Unfortunately for the local citizens, however, it has been decided that the casinos will accept only foreign currency.

Science For Children Slipped Into TV Show

By PETER J. BOYER

AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The researchers wanted to know what kids thought about science.

"I would not like to be a scientist," wrote one 11-year-old boy in his essay. "They get up early in the morning... I can't get up that early in the morning." Reasonable lad.

An 11-year-old girl, of practical nature, wrote: "I would like to be a scientist. ... I would invent a lot of things, like a dish wiper so I wouldn't have to wipe dishes after my mom washed them."

From these responses and those from 8,000 other children across the country, researchers from the Children's Television Workshop surmised that kids felt science was generally a good idea, but dangerous and demanding, and therefore, best left to others.

CTW was asking the questions because it wanted to make a kids' show about science, hoping to match the success of CTW's "Sesame Street" and "Electric Company." Their surveys allowed the children themselves to shape the program.

Kids watched television programs on a computerized device that allowed them to judge the program by pressing buttons when they were bored or interested. The results showed that children liked strong role models, human involvement, and visual as opposed to audio stimulation.

The target audience was the 8-12 age group, chosen by CTW's advising staff of psychologists, educators and industry leaders because youngsters of that age are beginning to think systematically and to organize "objects and events along the dimensions of time, space and function."

The kid hosts chosen for the new show are a white girl (Lisa), black boy (Mark) and a Puerto Rican girl (Trini) — a bright and engaging trio.

The result: "3-2-1 Contact," a daily half-hour show that is absolutely something to cheer. It's not "Mr. Wizard," with test tubes and experiments and such; in fact, the science stuff just sort of slips in among the fun stuff.

For example, the theme of opening week last week was "Noisy and Quiet." Mark and Lisa were shown talking to each other through a pair of tin cans connected by a string (a means of communication used by every kid at least once); then Trini called them over to listen to an amazing fellow who imitates sounds — creaking doors, trains and the like.

Somewhere along the way, someone mentioned that "the reason you hear something is because it vibrates." That's an effective, inoffensive method of teaching, the sugar-pill theory: If the youngsters don't know it's good for them, they can sit back and enjoy it.

Most Costly TV Series On Masada

MASADA, Israel (UPI) — On an ancient mountain fortress where Jewish zealots chose suicide over slavery, Israeli soldiers take their oath of allegiance and vow: "Masada shall never fall again."

The story of Masada and the 960 Jews who held out there against a besieging Roman army for three years is a symbol of courage and determination to Israelis.

Americans will get a chance to see it recreated on their television screens in a $20 million production this spring. Officials at Universal Studios said "Masada" is the most expensive mini-series ever filmed.

"There's no way this production is going to make a profit," said Richard Irving, Universal's executive in charge of production. He surveyed the hundreds of actors, extras and technicians working under a blazing sun in the Judean desert near the Dead Sea.

But once in a while Peter Strauss is Ben-Yair, Peter O'Toole is Silva.

Hollywood decides to make a picture that has some importance," Irving said.

The studio hopes to earn back part of its huge investment by showing "Masada" as a feature film in European theaters.

For Israeli officials, the project is a hoped-for public relations boost for their country in the tradition of "Exodus," the 1960s film with Paul Newman that dramatized Israel's fight against the British.

Israel's army engineer corps helped recreate the massive ramp used by Rome's 10th Legion for the final assault against the mountain fortress of Masada in 73 A.D.

"The land you occupy was given as promised to the children of Israel by almighty God," the leader of the zealots, Eliezer Ben-Yair, shouted to the Roman general, Flavius Silva.

Peter Strauss is Ben-Yair, Peter O'Toole is Silva.

Q.1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠83 ♥AQ107 ♦95 ♠AQJ84

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♦ ?

What action do you take?
A.—Despite the fact that you are vulnerable and could be caught between two strong hands, we recommend that you enter the auction. Since you can support either unbid suit, your hand is well suited for a takeout double. This is perhaps the last chance you have to tell partner that you have something while at a safe level.

Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠8 ♥A6 ♦A10973 ♠AQJ65

Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one heart. What action do you take?

A.—Even though, in terms of high cards, you probably have the best hand at the table, you are proscribed from making a takeout double because you don't hold spades. If you invite partner to name a suit, he will almost surely bid spades, and by the time you convince him that your double was off-shape, you could be too high. A simple overall of two diamonds is enough for the moment. You can introduce your clubs at your next turn if the auction permits.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠83 ♥J9864 ♦AK74 ♠93

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass Pass 1 ♥ 5 ♠ ?

What action do you take?
A.—While your heart length increases your offensive potential and lessens defensive prospects, there is no reason to suppose that your side can make eleven tricks at a heart contract. Even if you have no heart tricks on defense, your two top diamonds suggest that the enemy can't make five clubs. Double. That fifth heart is deceptive—without that, you wouldn't even consider any other action.

Q.4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠QJ107 ♥6 ♦QJ95 ♠AQ63

The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1 ♠ 1 ♥ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Whatever you do, don't jump to three clubs—that would virtually exclude some other suit contract. The choice here is between one spade or a game-forcing cue-bid of two hearts. Our choice would be the cue-bid. We certainly want to play in game somewhere, but partner might expect us to have greater length in the suit if we freely bid spades at the one-level.

Q.5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A10 ♥AQ4 ♦AKQJ10 ♠643

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♠ 2 ♣ Pass Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—You have a strong hand and must take action. However, as in the previous hand, don't eliminate other options by committing the hand to a diamond contract. Double. That will give partner the opportunity to show a heart suit, where you could make a game opposite as little as a five-card suit headed by the king. If partner bids spades instead, you have enough strength to correct to three diamonds.

Q.6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQ103 ♥AJ5 ♦A9842 ♠7

Partner and second hand pass. What is your opening bid?

A.—In order to prepare for any response partner might make, we recommend opening one spade. If partner responds two hearts or two diamonds, you can raise comfortably. If partner responds one no trump or two clubs, a rebid of two diamonds is a standout. An opening bid of one diamond will leave you awkwardly placed should partner respond two clubs.

POTATO JOHN FINED

SHEFFIELD, England (AP) — To his customers he was known as Potato John, a kind-hearted salesman who sold fruit and vegetables at their doors.

Now the salesman, Patrick Curr, has been jailed for 30 months and fined $2,400.

Police say Curr lent money to hard-up housewives and pensioners against their family allowances and charged them 800 percent interest.

Answer to Saturday's puzzle.

A group of Farmers from Lumber Bridge walked off Friday night with most of the top honors in the annual North Carolina Soybean Yield Contest. First place honors went to David Walton, Rt. 1, Lumber Bridge, who had an official yield of 57.74 bushels per acre. Walton also won the contest last year.

Other top yielders in the state in 1979 were George Shook, Lumber Bridge, 56.11 bushels; O'Bryan Gray, Elizabeth City, 55.95 bushels; Duncan Malloy, Jr., Lumber Bridge, 55.61 bushels; John C. Balfour & Son, Lumber Bridge, 55.56 bushels.

Lumber Bridge is in Robeson County but the community extends into Hoke County.

Cattle Data Via Teletip

The soybean yield contest is conducted by the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service. The state winners were announced at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Soybean Producers Association in Raleigh.

Soybeans are North Carolina's most widely grown crop. About 1,850,000 acres were harvested in 1979. The average yield in the state was only 24 bushels, less than half of the yield of the contest winners.

Area winners recognized Friday night were William E. Bender, Norlina, 54.66 bushels; Murray Corriher, China Grove, 51.75 bushels; Jennings M. Davenport, Creswell, 50.62 bushels; and Chris Wade, LaGrange, 48.49 bushels.

Walton was recognized as an area winner as well as the state winner. Third place state winner Gray was also an area winner.

Other farmers who produced 50 or more bushels per acre were Hersey Combs, Elizabeth City, 55.33 bushels; Linwood M. Singletary, Lumberton, 54.98 bushels; Murray Berry, Elizabeth City, 52.34 bushels; and Albert Seaman, Norlina, 50.68 bushels.

Jim Dumphy, extension soybean specialist at N.C. State, attributed the high yields of the winners to two factors.

"They had favorable weather and they 'flat out' paid attention to what they were doing," he said.

Dumphy said the winners planted many different varieties, although the top growers this year seemed to prefer Essex and Forrest. They also used many planting dates, tillage practices, and herbicides.

"But they all had a high level of soil fertility and they made sure their soil was adequately limed," he emphasized.

"I've studied the practices of the top 50 farmers in the contest and found that nearly every one of them maintain their soil pH at between 5.8 and 6.2. About the only exceptions are those farmers with high organic soils, where a pH of 5.0 to 5.2 is adequate," Dumphy continued.

"To sum up, good soybean growers are good managers. They use essentially the same production tools as other farmers but they use them at the right time and in a little different way."

"Most farmers only excel in one or two commodities. It may be tobacco or it may be hogs or apples, depending on where they put their priority. Good soybean growers put their priority on soybeans."

Congratulations Jaycees

NATIONAL JAYCEE WEEK • JAN. 20-26

Warren Stroud
Jaycee President

During National Jaycee Week, we recognize our local Jaycees and Jay-C-Ettes and salute them for their untiring effort on behalf of the community. In Greenville and across the nation, Jaycees put community service before personal glory. These young men and women of energy and action are working today for a better tomorrow, aiming toward the leadership which is such an essential part of their dedication, as in so many ways, they work for all of us...making Greenville a better place to live.
