See No Real Resistance To Draft Registration

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Carter administration officials say they don't anticipate any serious resistance from young people who will be ordered to register for the draft a few months from now.

But for the time being, they are remaining noncommittal on the question most directly affecting half of those young people: Whether the 16 million women between age 18 and 26 will be subject to registration like their 16 million male contemporaries.

Without referring to either gender, one high official, who asked to remain nameless, said: "They're not being conscripted for some highly unpopular war. They're not being conscripted at all, and I don't think we should assume young people are any less patriotic than their parents." Nonetheless, officials of the U.S. National Student Association and a coalition of 42 peace, civil rights, religious and student groups pledged Thursday to picket, protest, demonstrate and hold campus teach-ins to register their opposition to President Carter's call to readiness.

As if on cue, students at Stanford University in California burned a facsimile of a draft card Thursday at a rally.

"If registration becomes a reality, we will call for a massive national protest on the day registration is resumed," said Barry Lynn, a spokesman for the Committee Against Registration and the Draft, a lobbying group that claims to represent various activist organizations.

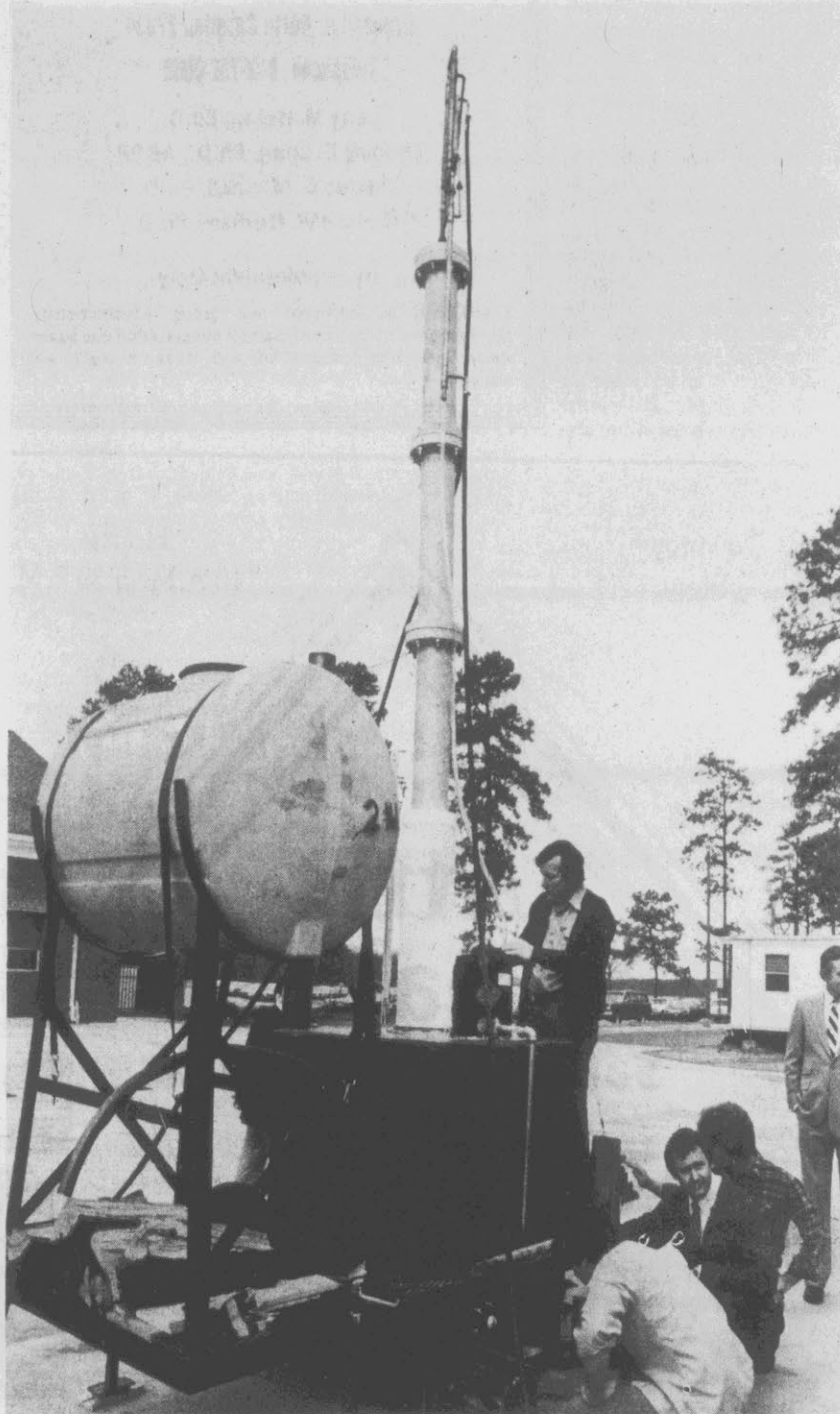

Frank Jackalone, chairman of the National Student Association, said, "We don't believe the youth of this country will tolerate such an invasion of their civil rights."

But the White House clearly thinks they will.

One official acknowledged that the registration requirement would add a measure of uncertainty to the lives and planning of the nation's young people but insisted: "It doesn't intrude on their jobs or their activities as students. The notion of simply being ready seems eminently sensible and one they can accept."

1979 Inflation Pushed Up To 13.3 Percent

By GLENN RITT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumer prices climbed 1.2 percent in December, pushing inflation for all of last year to 13.3 percent, the worst annual increase in 33 years, the Labor Department reported today.

What cost consumers $1 in the 1967 base year cost them nearly $2.30 as 1979 ended.

Over the year, workers' real spendable earnings were down 5.3 percent as a result of higher taxes and other rising costs. While average wages before taxes rose 8 percent, they were offset by a slight decrease in hours worked and a very high inflation rate.

The acceleration last year was caused primarily by housing and energy-fueled transportation costs, which rose relentlessly and accounted for about three-fourths of the entire increase in the Consumer Price Index in 1979.

Through the inflation-ravaged year, the price of a gallon of gasoline rose an average of 35.7 cents, while home heating oil jumped an average of 33.8 cents a gallon, the department said.

All energy costs rose 34.7 percent.

Last year also saw: -Home financing costs skyrocket 34.7 percent; -House prices shoot up 15.8 percent; -Food and beverages rise 10 percent; -All transportation costs, including automobile prices, jump 18.2 percent; -Medical care climb 10.1 percent.

December's 1.2 percent rise offered little prospect of relief to inflation-weary Americans, for it was somewhat higher than the average monthly increase through November.

The final CPI for 1979 is especially important because it affects the wages and benefits of more than 90 million Americans and the spending of billions of federal dollars.

That's because the index is used to calculate cost of living raises for more than 9 million union and non-union workers; benefit increases for more than 34 million Social Security recipients, and adjustments for 16 million food stamp recipients, 28 million children and elderly persons receiving meal subsidies and millions of other welfare recipients.

Economists estimate the government spends $1 billion to $2 billion for each percentage point rise in the CPI.

Defense And Oil Problems Talked

By MARY SCHULKEN
Reflector Staff Writer
Senator Robert Morgan spoke about energy, inflation, and Iran, and defended President Carter's state of the union message when Morgan addressed the Pitt County Democratic Women at their meeting at the Ramada Inn last night.

"We find ourselves in a weakened defense situation," said Morgan. "We haven't built any new ballistic missiles since 1969 and the Soviets have steadily increased their nuclear warheads. We tried relaxing the building of defenses but it did not work with Russia."

I believe President Carter reflected American wishes when he spoke of our resolve to defend oil reserves in the Middle East," the senator said. Morgan agrees with resuming registration for the draft. He explained "I introduced that bill two years ago and again last year so I am in favor of it."

We are not in an inferior situation militarily," said Morgan. "When you take into consideration economics and the resolve and will of the American people, then we are superior."

Senator Morgan also talked about the energy crisis. "Americans are dependent upon foreign sources for 50 percent of our oil. We are doing something about this dependence but you can't turn it around overnight. Fifty years of dependence isn't erased quickly."

There is a large amount of oil in shale in the United States but until now we have not thought it was economical to extract it," according to the senator.

"Oil production from shale wasn't important to us in 1974 and neither was ethanol because oil was cheap. At $2 a barrel why should we extract oil from shale for double that?"

Morgan expressed the belief that alternative energy sources are of the utmost importance today. "Often the U.S. people only approach crises when they are upon us."

There isn't one solution to the energy crisis," Morgan emphasized, "rather the answer will come from many, many solutions."

The senator spoke about the situation in Iran saying "I have reason to believe that the hostages will be returned safely."

Sometimes I ask myself," said Morgan, "why we don't just go in there. The answer is that we value human lives too much. Had we taken military action, the hostages would have been executed."

Morgan also discussed the federal budget. He said he expects a balanced budget in 1982 depending on foreign affairs. The current rate of inflation, according to the senator, is caused by the increased cost of energy.

"I do advocate spending money where it is justified," said Morgan. "Despite the rate of inflation more people are working now than ever before."

Morgan talked about the social security program saying "There will be some way to alleviate some social security taxes. For example why does Medicaid have to be paid from social security taxes?" Morgan concluded his message with an invitation to the public to call on him in Washington and make their wishes known.

Congressman Walter B. Jones introduced Morgan. Both Morgan and Jones spoke about how pleased they were to be in Pitt County.

Joyce Hastings, president of Pitt County Democratic Women, presided over the meeting. Before Jones and Morgan spoke, she presented a brass donkey to Mrs. Betty

Design Alcohol 'Plant'

The Alcohol Fuel Training Program at Pitt Community College has designed and built a farm-size ethanol distillation unit.

This still is the first alcohol fuel demonstration training unit of this size and type in the nation. It was designed to be used for production of small quantities of ethanol for on-farm use and was constructed at significantly less cost than existing units.

The farm-size still will produce ethyl alcohol in the 180-190 proof range. This alcohol will be burned as a sole fuel in gasoline engines rather than be mixed with

Dear Abby

New Paperback For Adults Only

By Abigail Van Buren

1980 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR READERS: Every week I received more newly published books than I can lift, much less read. But one little paperback caught my eye: "Parenthood Without Hassels—Well, Almost," but Dr. Kevin Leman. It was dedicated to "My high school counselor, who told me, 'Leman, with your disciplinary record and grades in this school, I couldn't get you into reform school.'"

Being one who appreciates humor, I read on and found it to be well worth reading. With the author's permission, I quote:

- "A CHILD'S TEN COMMANDMENTS TO PARENTS"
- 1) My hands are small; please don't expect perfection whenever I make a bed, draw a picture, or throw a ball. My legs are short; please slow down so that I can keep up with you.
 - 2) My eyes have not seen the world as yours have; please let me explore safely; don't restrict me unnecessarily.
 - 3) Housework will always be there. I'm only little such a short time—please take time to explain things to about this wonderful world, and do so willingly.
 - 4) My feelings are tender; please be sensitive to needs; don't nag me all day long. (You wouldn't want to be nagged for your inquisitiveness.) Treat me as you would like to be treated.
 - 5) I am a special gift from God; please treasure me as God intended you to do, holding me accountable for my actions, giving me guidelines to live by, and disciplining me in a loving manner.
 - 6) I need your encouragement, but not your praise, to grow. Please go easy on the criticism; remember, you can criticize the things I do without criticizing me.
 - 7) Please give me the freedom to make decisions concerning myself. Permit me to fail, so that I can learn from my mistakes. Then someday I'll be prepared to make the kind of decisions life requires of me.
 - 8) Please don't do things over for me. Somehow that makes me feel that my efforts didn't quite measure up to your expectations. I know it's hard, but please don't try to compare me with my brother or my sister.
 - 9) Please don't be afraid to leave for a weekend together. Kids need vacations from parents, just as parents need vacations from kids. Besides, it's a great way to show us kids that your marriage is very special.
 - 10) Please take me to Sunday school and church regularly, setting a good example for me to follow. I enjoy learning more about God."

DEAR ABBY: In your reply to ANGRY IN SAN MATEO, you wrote that "love generates love."

The late Martin Luther King Jr. showed us that hate generates love, too. In his "Stride Toward Freedom" (New York: Harper & Brothers, 1958), he wrote:

"I can only close the gap in broken community by meeting hate with love. If I meet hate with hate, I become personalized, because creation is so designed that my personality can only be fulfilled in the context of community. . . . When I love, I restore community. . . ."

Dr. Congleton Speaks Tuesday

The Alpha Iota Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa held its meeting Tuesday at the Three Steers. Dr. Betty Congleton was guest speaker.

Professor in the department of history at ECU, Dr. Congleton presented the findings of her search of historical textbooks for their treatment of women's contributions in shaping the history of the United States.

She explored the lives of women from the deep south and of women such as Abigail Adams. She is currently teaching a course on "Women in American History" at ECU. Barbara Luce introduced the speaker.

June Carson, president, presided and Mary Frances Lewis gave the devotion. Hostesses for the evening were Dorothy Brown, Gladys Pate, Lillian Smith, Polly Spain and Gladys Womble.

Attorney Is CWI Speaker

Members of Greenville Credit Women International held a dinner meeting Tuesday at Pipeline. Attorney Fred Mattox was speaker.

His topic was "Divorce — A Creditors Responsibility."

Sue Venters, of Planters Bank, Ayden, was welcomed as a new member. Guests were Ginger Hackett, Pat West and Dorothy Bowser.

The annual CWI Scholarship award was presented to Ms. Bowser, an ECU senior majoring in business, by Mary Robertson.

Plans were announced by Angelene Venters for the State President's Project "Successful Supervision" to be given at the Feb. 26 meeting at Parker's Restaurant at 6:30 p.m. The program will be led by Kathryn Lewis. Members were encouraged to bring their bosses, supervisors or other interested persons.

Myrtle Fields announced the March meeting will be held jointly with CWI women from Kinston, Rocky Mount and Goldsboro with the local club as hostesses. The meeting will be held at the Holiday Inn March 25 with a social at 7 p.m. Perfect attendance recognition cards were distributed.

Urgency Shows Through

One had to harken back to the days of Franklin Roosevelt to recall a State of the Union address of the urgency that showed through President Carter's of Wednesday night.

Then, Hitler's Germany was on the march, and Roosevelt was calling for increased defense spending and a military draft.

Now it is the Russians who are on the march in the Middle East and President Carter is warning that our vital interests will be protected by "any means necessary, including military force."

The president didn't call for resumption of the draft but he did ask Congress to revitalize the Selective Service System. "I hope that it will not become necessary to reimpose the draft. However, we must be prepared for that possibility."

Carter also wants a new charter for the Central Intelligence Agency which has been hampered by Congressional restraints.

He also sought to rally our allies by calling on them to back up U. S. actions with deeds rather than words.

The president promised stronger military and diplomatic ties with Middle Eastern countries and he said mandatory gasoline rationing would be imposed if it became necessary.

"The (Middle East) situation demands careful thought, steady nerves, and resolute action—not only for this year but for many years to come," Carter solemnly told Congress, the American people and the world.

The president's message was devoted almost exclusively to the world situation and its domestic effects. It is obviously a critical situation, as dangerous to world peace as anything since the beginnings of World War I and World War II... and the potential for destruction of mankind is even greater.

It is a time for strong talk and action, which may be the only way to head off a holocaust.

Race Is Now Really Begun

Gov. Jim Hunt filed as a Democratic candidate for re-election Thursday.

On the same day State Sen. I. Beverly Lake, Jr. filed as a Republican candidate for the office.

Former governor Robert Scott has already filed as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Thus the race is on. We can expect to see the candidates frequently in the weeks ahead. We should listen to what they have to say to be in the best position to make choices in the May primary and in November.

THIS AFTERNOON

Show Of Support

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Noticeable in their absence from the parade of witnesses before a committee of the General Assembly recently, taking a close look at a statewide school bond issue, were members of local boards of county commissioners.

More than 350 school people, local school board members, and Parent-Teacher Association representatives overflowed the hearing room to show support for their colleagues making pitches to the legislators.

Speakers on the lengthy hearing agenda concentrated on the need to replace trailers, temporary classrooms, and antiquated structures as they encouraged the Committee on School Facilities Needs to put a $600 million school bond question on the ballot as soon as possible.

At present inflation rates, the schools are losing $72 million each year the building program is delayed — commented Young Allen, Superintendent of Lenoir County Schools.

Each local school district came up with a laundry list of needs, and by the end of the day the total cost had passed $2.5 billion statewide.

Matching
The proposal under study is for the state to provide $600 million to be divided to the local schools on the basis of population, and matched locally at the rate of about three local dollars for each state dollar.

One of the chief political reasons behind the present push for a state bond election is the recent failure for local school bond elections.

Taxpayers, and county commissioners, have displayed a reluctance to go along with the suggested massive investment of more dollars in the public schools at a time when student enrollment is declining.

To combat that trend, State Department of Public Instruction leaders suggested that local school officials prepare a survey of local needs and involve local county commissioners in preparing that report.

Apparently the process did not get the commissioners deeply involved, and the almost total absence of county commissioners from the parade of supporters before the legislative committee demonstrated that.

BILL NOBLITT

David Bruton, chairman of the State Board of Education, has scolded the professional staff for apparently dropping the ball on this critical political maneuver. But knowledgeable experts wonder if it was a failure of staff to try hard enough, or if it was a solid wall of resistance to the bond issue which the effort met.

County commissioners are complaining that they are under increasingly stiff citizen opposition to increased spending of taxpayer dollars. Citizen groups are becoming more active in fighting government expansions, and while the $600 million bond issue would be state funding at the top, the matching local dollars will still require big increases in each county.

Voting
The legislative committee must first authorize the statewide election question for consideration in the upcoming legislative session. That accomplished, the matter would likely appear on the ballots in the November election.

But with major local and statewide offices up for grabs

Other Editors Say Why Regulate?

(Wilson Times)

Armed with new accident statistics, members of the North Carolina Bicycle Committee are expected to launch another campaign for registration of mopeds and licensing of their operators, although the General Assembly has twice defeated licensing proposals.

Mopeds are bicycle-type machines powered by gasoline engines of no more than one brake-horsepower and are restricted to a maximum speed of 22 mph. Current state law exempts them, and bicycles, from vehicle operator licensing and registration requirements.

At a meeting last week, the committee was told that moped accidents more than doubled from 1976 to 1978. Adults were involved in most of the accidents, about 4 percent of which were fatal. And, more than a fifth of the victims were more than 55 years old.

But what was the bicycle accident rate during the same period... the number of bicycle fatalities and the age group involved? Perhaps such information is available, but it was not mentioned in The Associated Press account of the Bicycle Committee's session.

It would be surprising if there has not been an increase in the bicycle accidents because heightened health and energy conservation awareness has led to tremendous growth in the number of the two-wheelers on streets across the state.

No one has suggested state regulation of bicycle operation, nor are we advocating it. There is also doubt about the effectiveness of moped regulation in reducing accidents.

Would not most adult moped operators be able to obtain a license easily? What would registration accomplish, other than tagging moped owners with license plate and insurance costs?

These are questions the General Assembly should weigh.

Strength For Today

FAITH, INTELLECT AND LOGIC

Many bewildering teachings in Christian theology have arisen from the fact that theologians have tried to use their brains in areas where logic is inappropriate.

The doctrine of predestination is an example. Logically, if God is all-powerful and all-knowing, then the unwillingness of many people to accept Christian truth and live by it seems to be the result of God's willing. Therefore, John Calvin — and others before and after him — concluded that God sent some people into the world to be saved and others to be damned.

But this doctrine simply is not true. The entire testimony of Holy Scripture is against the monstrous idea that God sent some people into the world to be damned.

Christian truth is not contrary to logic but superior to it. Its basic concepts are far beyond the grasp of the intellect. Faith is first in religion; intellect and logic follow faith.

Olympic Compromise

WASHINGTON — The big question Americans are faced with is whether we should or should not participate in the Moscow Olympics. Unfortunately, everyone has made this an "either-or" proposition. I believe there is room for compromise which would show the Soviets we mean business and at the same time leave the door open in case they want to change their ways.

Why couldn't we tell the Russians that we intend to go into the Olympics on piecemeal basis depending on how they behave in the next few months?

For starters, President Carter could inform the Kremlin that if Russia gets out of Afghanistan we will send our track and field team to Moscow. The Soviets are very big in track and field and are expecting to take all the gold medals in these events.

Then, if they get their surrogate army of Cubans out of Angola, we would agree to send over our wrestlers and weightlifters.

We would also advise them that if they promised not to round up their dissidents and railroad them out of town during the games, we would enter our swimming and water polo teams.

The President would agree to allow Americans to compete in the gymnastic events in exchange for a written document from the Soviets that they would not go into Yugoslavia. This means a lot to the Russians because we don't have anyone in this country who could take first place against one of their athletes on the parallel bars.

If they gave up their Backfire bomber we would throw in our archery, canoeing and field-hockey teams.

And if the Russians started

living up to the Helsinki Accords, we would allow our athletes to compete in volleyball, rowing and yachting.

It seems to me that this compromise would show the Soviets that the United States will not permit politics to interfere with the games. At the same time it will let them know that we're not sending over our boys and girls en masse while they believe they can do anything they want to endanger the world peace.

The ball will then be in the Soviet court. The countries behind the Iron Curtain will exert tremendous pressure on the Russians, because each satellite nation has spent years developing athletes whose sole job in life is to beat the Americans where it hurts.

If we stay out of the Olympics altogether we could look like spoilsports.

But if we agree to join the games one event at a time, demanding reciprocity, no one can criticize us for ruining the games.

You may be asking what do we do about the basketball event?

How To Zap Your Mind

By EDITH KERMIT ROOSEVELT

In addition to invading Afghanistan, the Soviets have discovered a way to invade your mind. One of the new mind control weapons under development utilizes extremely low frequency (ELF) magnetic fields to modify human brains and behavior.

The lid of secrecy in official Washington concerning what appears to be the weaponizing of electronic behavior modification by the Soviets was lifted by Eldon A. Byrd, a research scientist with the Naval Surface Weapons Center. Byrd holds a Master's degree in medical engineering.

"Now it appears that it may be possible to provide an input into the human brain electronically," Byrd said in a recent briefing he gave the Science Policy Staff of Congress concerning Russian ELF transmissions over this country.

The Navy scientist also said that he had been informed by the Environmental Protection Agency that an EPA monitoring team in Las Vegas had discovered that the Soviets are transmitting a possible form of electromagnetic pollution "that could, given a suitable frequency, yield psychoactive signals." He says that the signals are directed at the neurons of the human brain in such a way as to cause mood changes.

In a paper entitled "Remote Electronic Behavior Modification" published in Technology Tomorrow magazine, Byrd explained that a "10 Hertz modulation on the high frequency transmission that the Soviets continually keep in the air can be absorbed and re-radiated in the U.S. by Power transmission lines and water pipe grids."

This coincides with measurements by Bob Beck, an electronics engineer who heads Alpha Metrics in Los Angeles. Beck observed that the Soviet "woodpecker" signals have been particularly significant on the West Coast in and around Eugene, Oregon, an area which has several hundred miles of power lines to act as antennas.

Col. Tom Bearden, a physicist and weapons analyst with Computer Sciences Research Corp., has stated that "by simply adding on the desired modulation patterns, the Soviets can now pump material directly into the mind-brain-consciousness life loops of the entrained brains." "The weapons implications are enormous raw emotion such as she terror or panic can be transmitted" According to Bearden, the targeted brain — even entire populations — will use the material without question because they will be unaware of what has happened to them.

According to Byrd however "The impact of remote electronic behavior modification may not lie in long range transmissions, but in the small, pocket-size extremely low frequency psychoactive generators that have been constructed and may already be deployed in an attempt to influence the behavior of diplomats and others."

Counter-measure devices Byrd informed Congressional staff members, have already been issued to high-level German officials in order to block the effects of these weak electromagnetic fields.

This brings us to the microwave bombardment which the Soviets have, for the last few years, been aiming at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow. According to Dr. Stefan T. Possony, former with Air Force Intelligence and most recently a Senior Fellow with the Hoover Institute on War and Peace, a logical explanation for the microwave bombardment of the U.S. embassy in Moscow is that the Kremlin is testing microwave brain equipment in order to learn from our counter-measures whether or not we know anything about the new technology.

"This constitutes an enterprise in scientific reconnaissance and the stakes are high," said Possony. "If this technology works, direct and secret communication would be possible with persons who are otherwise inaccessible. Direct contacts with brains would revolutionize propaganda, espionage and subversion."

To the editor:

In Tuesday's Public Forum I noticed the gentleman who wrote the letter about Henry Aldridge's campaign used the word, "plaque," four times.

Perhaps the gentleman would like to know Webster's Dictionary's other definition of plaque: "any flat, thin piece of metal, clay, ivory, etc. used for ornament, as on a wall." Again, I'm afraid he'll have to use Dr. Aldridge when he refers to this definition of plaque because Dr. Aldridge has more of them in his office than anyone in Greenville. In my mind, plaques and community service go hand in hand. Community service and leadership might make good qualities for our representatives in Raleigh.

Already The 'Carter Doctrine'

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has declared the Persian Gulf region off-limits to the Soviet Union, saying he might use American troops to repel any Soviet push beyond Afghanistan.

The warning in the State of the Union address Wednesday night is likely to become known as the Carter Doctrine for establishing a policy of containment for the 1980s.

It is in sharp contrast to last year's plea to the Soviets to cooperate in a quest for peace and keynotes a new buildup of U.S. military might.

Carter was directly responding to the Soviet move into Afghanistan and bidding for the friendship of all Moslem countries, including Iran where some 50 Americans are held hostage.

He called for "steady nerves" at home and told the American people that resisting Soviet expansion is a long-haul effort.

The president took a hard line, but most of the other prospective candidates probably will say he was not tough enough.

First, he zoned the Persian Gulf within "the vital interests" of the United States and vowed to protect Western oil supplies with American troops.

Second, he reserved the option of using force to help Saudi Arabia or other producing countries stem internal rebellion.

Third, he offered "to shape a cooperative security framework" with Pakistan and all other countries in the Middle East and South Asia.

Fourth, he outlined a more potent military presence in the region, beginning with a larger navy in the Indian Ocean.

A high-ranking official said that Carter's move was intentionally vague on some points in order to retain his "flexibility."

But, the official said, there should be no mistaking that Carter reserves the right to use American military force, including ground troops, to protect the flow of oil through the Persian Gulf to the United States, West Europe and Japan.

Carter is not the first president to declare a region of the globe to be within the known as the Truman Doctrine and inaugurated the policy of "containment" of Communist expansion. Dwight D. Eisenhower, a decade later, asked Congress to authorize the use of American military force to protect the Middle East. In 1958, he used the authority to send troops into Lebanon under what has become known as the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Now, Carter has declared "An attempt by any outside force to gain control of the Persian Gulf region will be regarded as an assault on the vital interests of the United States. It will be repelled by use of any means necessary with a new burst of adventurism or a "peace of tensiveness."

at that same time, and Presidential politics occupying center stage, bond specialists say the prospects for passage are iffy, at best.

Without the backing of county commissioners for the statewide bond issue, and looking ahead to continued reluctance on the part of commissioners and taxpayers to back the many millions more in local funds to go with the state money, the outcome is very much up in the air.

Here is how the state school bond program has run so far: In 1949 a $25 million bond issue for local school construction was approved. Four years later that amount was doubled to $50 million. Ten years later the voters approved another doubling to $100 million; then in 1973 that amount was tripled to $300 million for a total of $475 million in 23 years. Adding $600 million this year would push the 30-year total to $1.75 billion in state money, matched by three dollars locally for a total of $7 billion.

Energy Fair Scheduled To Open Here Saturday

Some 45 exhibits and events are planned for Saturday's Energy Fair, scheduled from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Willis Building, First and Reade Streets here.

Judging of working models utilizing sun, wind, water and other alternate energies will take place at 10:30 a.m. and industrial seminars will provide information regarding using alcohol as a renewable energy resource, the theory and practical applications of sun power, and how to best use energy from wood.

Linda Hix, coordinator of the Greenville Energy Program, one of the fair sponsors, said that an exhibit of special interest to be shown is the ethanol-producing still built by Pitt Community College.

Another exhibit expected to generate interest, involves a display by the Industrial Technology Department at East Carolina University, showing working units that include a solar heat grabber, methane generator, solar stove, sail car, wind turbine, still, sterling engine, solar oven, solar window unit, vapor solar unit, cardboard solar cooker, hydraulic ram pump.

The Pitt County Extension office will also have a display and information about the use of wood as an alternate fuel, and the North Carolina Energy Division will have two electronic displays about energy conservation.

Opening ceremonies at 10 a.m.

Course Requires Aptitude Test

Persons interested in taking a bank teller training course sponsored by Pitt Community College need to take an aptitude test administered by the Employment Security Commission before being allowed to take the course.

Before taking the test, interested persons must go by the Employment Security Commission office and register. No one will be able to take the test on Jan. 30 without registering beforehand. The Employment Security Commission is located on Bismark St. in Greenville.

For further information concerning this course contact the Continuing Education Division of Pitt Community College at 756-3130, ext. 238.

Quite simple. We don't field a basketball team until the Soviets move their navy out of the Indian Ocean.

Will they do it? I have a feeling they will. The Russians were defeated in basketball by the United States and Yugoslavia in 1976 and they'll do anything to beat the pants off us this year.

FOCUS

Record Journey

On this day in 1890, an American newspaper reporter returned to New York City after traveling around the world in record time. Her name was Nellie Bly. As an investigative reporter, Bly became famous for stories in which she exposed conditions in mental hospitals and women's jails. In November, 1889, her paper, The New York World, assigned her to try to circle the globe in less time than it took Phileas Fogg, the hero of the popular novel "Around the World in Eighty Days." Bly made her journey by ship, train, hand cart and burro. She finished her trip in 72 days, 6 hours and 11 minutes.

DO YOU KNOW - Who wrote "Around the World in Eighty Days"?

THURSDAY'S ANSWER - The United States stopped buying and selling gold at a fixed price in 1971.

Criteria Announced For Durham School

DURHAM - Criteria for admission and nomination procedures for students from North Carolina who desire enrollment in the first class, beginning September 1980, in the North Carolina School of Science and Mathematics in Durham has been announced by the school's director, Charles R. Eilber.

Classes will have an enrollment of 150 students, male and female, at the 11th grade level. Enrollment is to increase at a steady rate to a maximum of 750-900 students within five years.

Through the week of February 18, current tenth graders may be nominated for the program. Nomination information has been sent to all schools in the state. Students can be nominated by school personnel, by parents, community representatives, or they can nominate themselves.

Those nominated will be asked to take part in interviews and test sessions at regional centers. A Selection Committee, to be composed of representatives from throughout the state, will review all information supplied on nominees. Semi-finalists, numbering 225, will be invited to the Durham campus in early May for additional interviews. Selection of students for the first class will be made by May 23.

A representative of the school will be available at Regional Centers throughout the state to discuss the nomination process with interested persons.

The representative for Region 1 (which includes Pitt County) will be at the Regional Education Center in Williamston on February 4.

Additional information can be obtained from guidance counselors at any public school or by writing to: North Carolina School of Science and Mathematics, 1912 West Club Boulevard, Durham, N.C., 27705.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip - COMMITTEE COMMITS MAYHEM ON MANY HOT MOTIONS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: N equals E

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Orthodox Judaism Acts Against Reform, Conservative Branches

Rabbi Richard Hirsch, leader of the small Reform movement in Israel, calls the Agudat Israel an "anti-modern, anti-progressive force," and says it is the uncompromising attitude of the Orthodox that leads Jews to abandon their religion.

By ARTHUR MAX
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — One of the strongest movements in Orthodox Judaism has decided to try to block the more liberal American Reform and Conservative branches from official recognition in Israel.

In effect, the first open international convention of Agudat Israel in 15 years declared war both in Israel and in the United States against the strains of Judaism which dominate American Jewry and have made modest inroads in Israel over the last decade.

Agudat Israel, spokesman say, accounts for one million of America's 5.7 million Jews. Many of its believers are Hasidic Jews, adherents of Jewish mysticism whose menfolk are easily identified by their long black caftans, earlocks and untrimmed beards. Much of the convention's business was conducted in Yiddish.

In Israel, Agudat Israel controls four of Parliament's 120 seats and is a key partner in Prime Minister Menachem Begin's ruling coalition. Aligned with the larger National Religious Party, Agudat Israel has political clout over such matters as marriage, divorce, abortion and Sabbath-observance laws.

The convention, or Great Assembly, which closed Jan. 13, marked the emergence of the Orthodox from a self-imposed isolation that followed World War II when most of Europe's Orthodox Jews perished in Nazi death camps. For most of the post-war period, orthodox concentrated on regenerating the Jewish people.

"But now," said Rabbi Menachem Lubinski of New York, "we have grown to such a point that we are ready to assume a leadership role in Judaism in general. We are no longer concerned with our little corner." Lubinski said the movement is concerned that Israel is ripe for the Reform and Conservative branches to make inroads, so Agudat Israel will watch its opponents closely and try to prevent them from receiving government funds to build schools.

The Assembly formulated a plan to dispatch teams of rabbinical students to the affluent American suburbs and small towns where the Conservative and Reform Jews are virtually unchallenged.

To the Orthodox, the liberal movements born in Germany 150 years ago and which spread swiftly to the United States preach watered down and unauthentic Judaism. They blame these movements for intermarriage, assimilation and the loss of Jewish identity in the United States.

Both movements have made some religious observances optional, like wearing skullcaps and strict adherence to dietary and Sabbath regulations. Reform Jews are less stringent than Conservatives.

Objections By Cardinal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ordered silenced in his advocacy of women's ordination, a Jesuit priest, the Rev. William Callahan, has been reassigned to the Jesuit School of Theology in Chicago — but head of that archdiocese apparently doesn't want him there.

Chicago's Cardinal John Cody reportedly raised objections, and although the Jesuits have authority to staff their own institutions without approval of local bishops, the transfer is being reconsidered in view of Cody's protests.

Callahan, founder of the Quixote Center, a justice group, and of Priests for Equality, which advocates women's ordination, was ordered transferred by his regional Jesuit superior, the Rev. Edward O'Flaherty of Boston, after earlier being silenced by the Rev. Pedro Arupe, the Jesuit superior general in Rome.

Wherever he winds up, Callahan said the Quixote Center would continue under co-directors and Priests for Equality through volunteers.

Nursery Is Registering

Registration for the 1980-81 nursery school program at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 29-30, from 9-11 a.m. in the church fellowship hall.

Applications will be taken on a first come basis. Programs available include: one day a week, Thursdays, two year olds; two days a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays, three year olds; three days a week, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, four year olds; three days a week, Wednesdays and Fridays, four year olds; and five days a week, four year olds.

The preschool operates from September until May, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon. Inquiries may be directed to Pam Smith, registration chairman, 752-3055, or Elizabeth Havens, director, 752-0053.

Evangelists To Lead Service

The Perry's Interdenominational Crusade will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. at Fleming Chapel Church, located on highway 33 three miles west of Greenville.

Evangelist Annie Perry and Evangelist Douglas Cogdell will conduct the service. There will be singing, preaching, and prayer for the sick. The public is invited to attend.

Announce Services

Quarterly meeting services will be held at St. James F.W.B. Church beginning with the business session Friday night. All members are asked to be present.

Elders Shirley Braxton will be the speaker on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Music will be provided by the St. James Youth Choir.

The Rev. C.R. Parker will deliver the 11 o'clock sermon on Sunday morning. Music will be by the Senior Choir.

At 3 p.m. the Rev. A.L. Miller, the choir and the congregation will be in charge.

The Rev. Parker invites the public to attend these services.

Guarded Treasure

What infinite pains we take to guard our valuable possessions! Yet not all our possessions can be given protection in a safe. What about the priceless treasure which each of us possesses — our eternal happiness?

To safeguard this great treasure, where can we go?

The answer lies in the Church. It gives us the combination that opens the door to our spiritual riches — the combination of faith and good works. The Church guards and guides us along the way that leads to the treasure — the way led by Jesus, our Savior. It invites everyone to join in service to God and to our fellowmen. In this way, we inherit new riches of the spirit that no man or circumstance can steal or destroy.

Honor Veteran Scouter At Annual Council Event

KINSTON — Vernon Sechrist of Rocky Mount, the oldest scoutmaster in the East Carolina Council, was recognized here Thursday night for 50 years of service as a scoutmaster.

Sechrist, known affectionately as "Seek," was honored at the council's annual adult recognition banquet, attended by scouting officials from throughout the 20-county area served by the council.

Maj. Gen. Paul Fontana, national council representative who made the presentation, pointed out that Sechrist organized Troop Seven at First Presbyterian Church in Rocky Mount some 50 years ago and he recently inducted the 788th boy into the troop.

In recognition activities last night, the council Roundup Award was presented to Post 318 of Pitt Memorial Hospital. Accepting the award were Sandra Harrison, post advisor, and Bob Barnes, assistant hospital administrator, for recruiting 75 new members.

Silver Beaver Awards, presented annually to adult leaders for "distinguished service to boyhood," were presented to Jayne Taylor and George Evans, both of Kinston, James Knowles and Rufus Swain of Wilson, Donald Winstead of Nashville, Patricia Trader of Aurora, and Paul Godfrey of Tarboro.

During the annual session, it was pointed out that at year end 1979, the council continued serving some 330 North Carolina communities with the scouting program. The service is carried out by nearly 4,000 adult volunteer leaders, 13 professional staff members, five office staff members and two camp rangers.

Total youth members registered in the council on Dec. 31 were 11,009 in 510 scouting units, it was reported.

Tribute To Newspapers

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt paid tribute to North Carolina newspapers Thursday night, saying a free and vigorous press is responsible for the state's reputation for open government.

Addressing the annual meeting of the North Carolina Press Association, Hunt said he had learned and benefitted from newspaper coverage of his administration over the last three years.

"I want you to know that I am one politician who appreciates the heat and criticism that I get from you," Hunt told publishers, editors and reporters attending the press association's awards' banquet.

"So long as we have a vigilant press there is little chance that we can hide our mistakes in government," he said.

The governor paid tribute to William Lassiter, longtime general counsel for the press association. Lassiter is retiring from the position.

Hunt said a 1979 revision of the state open-meetings law, which was advocated by Lassiter, was "a great and lasting service to the people of North Carolina."

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) (NCDA) — The North Carolina hen market today was steady on heavy type, supply fully adequate, demand moderate. Too few reporting to release prices.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices declined today, faced with more adverse news on inflation and rising interest rates. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 4.52 to 875.43 in the first half hour. Losers outnumbered gainers by an 8-7 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The government reported this morning that the consumer price index rose a seasonally adjusted 1.2 percent in December, bringing its rise for all of 1979 to 13.3 percent for the year. That marked the biggest increase since it jumped 18.2 percent in 1946.

New York's Citibank, meanwhile, raised its prime lending rate from 15 to 15 1/2 percent, joining most other major banks at that level. Some key interest rates in the bond market rose to record highs Thursday. Today's early volume leaders included Boeing, up 1/4 at 65 1/2; Warner-Lambert, up 1/8 at 21 1/2; and Smithkline, down 1/4 at 55 1/2.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average gained 2.39 to 879.95. Advances outnumbered declines by a narrow margin on the NYSE.

Alcohol Plant... Nuke Lab Leak After California Earthquake

gasoline to form gasohol. It can also be burned in diesel engines when blended with water and fuel injected.

The PCC program will use corn as a raw material initially because of its availability and because alcohol fuel research has been conducted using corn. The distillation process will yield approximately 2.6 gallons of 180-190 proof ethanol per bushel of corn.

After the alcohol is extracted from the corn, the remaining mash may be fed to livestock. Feeding this stillage means recovering the equivalent of 18.75 pounds of feedstock from every bushel of corn. Additionally, this feedstock is 27 percent protein as compared to the original six percent protein of corn.

The PCC still is designed to be woodfired initially but PCC plans to fire it with ethanol in the very near future.

The program is supported by one of 14 national alcohol fuel training grants awarded by the U.S. Department of Energy. The grant is for one year and totals $10,000.

The purposes of the program include designing and building an ethanol still that is simple to build and education and training in the construction of such stills, and permitting Pitt County to serve as a resource center in the promotion and exploration of diverse energy alternatives.

Before an individual may operate a still he must obtain a commercial or experimental permit from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

According to Marcus King, chairman of the Department of Energy Technology at PCC, alcohol is a fuel that is less explosive, more stable than gasoline, is benzene free, is less polluting as well as more efficient. Alcohol causes less wear on engines and is cleaner burning, cutting down on the number of oil changes needed. Alcohol emits 60-90 percent less pollution. Engines using it, says King, have 20 percent more power and eight percent better gas mileage.

By JOHN HOWARD Associated Press Writer LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) — Thousands of workers returned to their jobs today at a nuclear weapons lab where radioactive water trickled from a storage tank after an earthquake that cracked buildings and roads and injured dozens of persons. Authorities said the leak posed no health hazard.

The leak at the Lawrence Livermore lab began Thursday at the rate of a quart a minute and dwindled today to several gallons per hour, according to spokesman Michael Ross. The tank, on a base of impermeable asphalt, was cordoned off as officials monitored the leak. Ross said the leak might continue for several days.

The seepage was apparently caused by Thursday morning's quake, which measured 5.5 on the Richter scale and was described by one person as a "gentle, rolling motion, not the usual jolts."

Ross said the radioactive tritium content of the water was about half the concentration permitted to be discharged into sewers under federal regulations, and that it posed no health hazard.

Earlier, most of the lab's 7,200 employees were evacuated when officials discovered leaking gas. Ross said the 640-acre facility, one of two nuclear weapons labs in the nation, suffered only minor structural damage. He said there was no radiation leakage from the plant's nuclear reactor.

About 30 persons at the complex were treated for minor injuries. In Livermore, at least two dozen persons were treated for minor injuries and released, and Margy Odell, spokeswoman for a local hospital, said six persons were admitted for additional treatment.

Dr. Bruce Bolt of the Berkeley Seismographic Station said the temblor's epicenter was located 12 miles northwest of Livermore. It was followed almost immediately by two severe aftershocks measuring 5.2 and 4.8. Two more strong aftershocks occurred Thursday night, registering 4.6 and 4.4 on the Richter scale.

Defer Parleys
ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — The Islamic foreign ministers' conference to discuss a common strategy against the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan may be postponed from Saturday to Sunday at Iran's request, conference sources said.

They said the Iranians told conference officials Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh couldn't attend Saturday because he is a candidate in Iran's presidential election, and returns were expected Saturday.

They also said Iran, Syria, Libya and the Palestine Liberation Organization objected to holding the conference Saturday because it coincides with the day Egypt and Israel are to normalize relations.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Jane McKee, the 24-year-old daughter of a Chapel Hill man, is a flight attendant aboard the Delta airlines flight hijacked to Cuba this morning, her father said today.

She is the daughter of Chapel Hill realtor John McKee and is a resident of Raleigh.

McKee said today that his daughter has been a flight attendant for Delta for two years. He said airline officials told him today that they are negotiating for release of the plane.

Pirates, Seahawks Vie For The East

East Carolina's Pirates return to the hardwood Saturday at 7:30 p.m., hosting sectional rival UNC-Wilmington.

Coach Dave Odom is looking for a tough game from the Seahawks, who bring an 11-6 record into the game. They defeated East Carolina's last opponent, Baptist, in Wilmington on Thursday, 71-52. The Pirates had downed the Buccaneers, 90-67, on Monday.

"I think Wilmington is one of the five or six best teams we play," Odom said. "We talked with the people at James Madison the other day right after they beat them in Harrisonburg, and they said they felt that Wilmington was the best team they've played this year. That includes some pretty good teams, like Virginia Commonwealth, Richmond—and us. So that should mean that we are the underdogs in this game."

Odom feels that point guard Barry Taylor is the key to the Wilmington game. "He plays with poise and authority. We have to control him," Taylor is averaging 11.2 points a game.

Odom also believes that the Seahawks have a strong inside game with the duo of Danny Davis (9.9 points and 9.7 rebounds) and Garry Cooper (14.4 points, 7.4 rebounds). "They look like bookends with their size and ability. They are excellent shooting in John Haskins (8.3), Dennis Tobin, and Shawn Williams (8.6)." The latter is a former Washington High School star who played in the shadow of Dominic Williams.

Tobin was the star of last night's game against Baptist, pouring in a game-high 18 points. "They will give us problems because of their outside shooting ability, and the inside game that is so strong too. They also play very good defense. One of their defenses, the 3-2 zone is probably the toughest since it protects against the outside shot and gives pressure inside too."

Odom said that the contest is a big game for the Pirates, largely because of the regional rivalry. "We are fairly equal talentwise, but it is a game we must win to help us along toward our goal of having a winning season."

The coach feels that the longer break between the last few games has helped the team. "Playing four games in eight days wore us down. We didn't practice enough and you lose fundamentals when you do that. I think we are physically and mentally sharp now, so it can't help but help us. Our team attitude is good, and our team is maturing. They understand things better now."

The Pirates, who recently lost Clarence Miles when he chose to leave the team and East Carolina, will probably be missing another member of the team, Mark McLaurin, who suffered a slight shoulder separation in practice and sat out the Baptist game. "That's going to be a day-to-day sort of thing. He might miss the next few games. It just depends on how he comes along."

The Pirates' scoring is led by George Maynor with a 14.6 average, while Herb Krusen is hitting 12.8 and Herb Gray has a 10.7 mark.

Krusen, by the way, needs just 21 points to become the school's 14th 1,000 point career scorer, and could reach it against the Seahawks.

The game closes out the current home slate, as the Pirates travel to Detroit next Saturday, then visit South Carolina on Feb. 7, before returning home against little known, but strong Illinois State on Feb. 9.

East Carolina Holds Off FSU To Gain 15th Victory, 69-61

East Carolina's women jumped on Florida State's Seminoles early for a 12-point lead, then had to struggle in the latter stages of the game to pull out a 69-61 victory in Mingos

Coliseum last night. Point guard Laurie Sikes fired in six early points with Kathy Riley adding eight as the Pirates jumped out to an 18-6 lead with 12:41 elapsed in the opening half and it appeared the Seminoles were out of the contest.

But Florida State guard Teresa Tinsley pumped in her ten points of the evening as the visitors cut the margin to 35-31 at the half. East Carolina continued to struggle offensively at the start of the final stanza, as Florida State's Rose Harper tied the score at 37-37 with her only field goal of the night.

Riley again ignited the Pirate offense, as she had 16 of her game-high 28 points in the crucial second half. Sikes added 16 points, while center Marcia Girven and forward Rosie Thompson grabbed 12 rebounds each.

"About all I can say about this game is that we're tired," ECU coach Cathy Andruzzi said. "We played a tough game Monday night against Old Dominion.

"Our game is a pressing defense and we just weren't up to that. Florida State made us play their game. Our outside game wasn't working as well as we would have liked."

"They took the fast break away from us," echoed assistant Marcia Richards.

The Pirates, now 15-5, travel to South Carolina Saturday to face the nationally eighth-ranked Gamecocks.

"South Carolina is going to be fired up when they play us, and we're going to have to be ready for them," Andruzzi said. Following the Saturday evening game at Columbia, the Pirates return home to face N.C. State on Wednesday—another nation power.

Manpower Down For Quad Meet

East Carolina's wrestlers travel to Boone this weekend to take part in a quad match with hosting Appalachian State, Clemson and Central Florida.

The Pirates, however, will be without one of their top wrestlers, Butch Revils, who will miss the meet because of a death in his family.

Revils, ranked sixth in the country by two leading wrestling publications, is generally counted on by Coach Ed Steers to win his match. "This could mean as much as a 12-point turnaround, since instead of winning with a pin, we could possibly lose on a pin," Steers said. "We usually count on our four studs to win."

The four, according to Steers are Steve Goode, Frank Schaefer and D.T. Joyner, along with Revils. Joyner is also nationally ranked, listed as seventh in the country.

Steers rates Clemson as the toughest of the three opponents for Saturday afternoon's matches, while Appalachian State and Central Florida will both provide tough opposition too.

Vikings Win, Tie For First

HOLLYWOOD — D.H. Conley moved back into a tie with Farmville Central for the Eastern Carolina Conference lead last night, slipping past Ayden-Grifton, 60-52.

The Vikings pulled even with the idle Jaguars, as both have 8-3 league records.

In the earlier girls' game, Ayden-Grifton nipped Conley, 47-45, in a double overtime.

Ayden-Grifton's girls rushed out to an 11-4 lead in the first period, but Conley came back to take control in the second period, cutting the lead to 24-20. The Valkyries continued to con-rol the game in the third period, moving out to a 33-27 lead.

The Chargers fought back, however, and Marie Lewis tied it up with 15 seconds left, hitting two free throws. Both teams missed chances to win it in the final 15 ticks.

After neither team scored in the overtime, both pushed through two points in the second extra period. Then, with one second left, Aretha Cannon slipped past the defense to hit and give Ayden-Grifton the victory.

Cannon and Lewis each had 14 points to lead A-G, while Glenda Green poured in 31 points for Conley.

In the boys' game, Conley inched ahead, 10-9, in the first quarter, and extended that to 29-23 by halftime. Conley upped that lead to 47-33 during the third, and allowed the Chargers a 19-13 rally in the final period.

Timmy Edwards led Ayden-Grifton with 19, while Clarence Baker had 11 and Alan Hasely had 10. Conley was led by David Brock with 16.

The Vikings travel to North Pitt tonight, while Ayden-Grifton is host to North Lenoir.

The big hubbub right now is whether or not the United States, even the entire free world should participate in this summer's Olympic Games in Russia.

President Carter has called for American, and other athletes, to boycott the games unless the Soviet Union pulls out of Afghanistan. The likelihood of that is highly doubtful.

So, it is therefore likely that the United States will not participate in the games. Hopefully, some sort of alternative will be found.

There will be, of course, many athletes who will want to carry on with the games. The cry of "no politics" will be heard from many.

However, anyone who knows anything about the history of the Olympics knows that politics has played a major role in the Olympic Games since 1936, when Adolph Hitler made the first Munich games such a political spectacle. While politics fell away to some extent during the games which followed World War II, they quickly erupted again as the Cold War propaganda battle warmed up.

Some also argue that to halt the games would wipe them out. Twice, World Wars have stopped the games. While we are not now involved in a war, at least on the battlefield, a stand must be made for the ideals this country is supposed to be in favor of.

Certainly it will cause hardship. It will spoil the dreams of many athletes. But the overall cause must take precedence.

We back the president's call for a boycott, and urge the formation of some alternate form of games.

At the same time, we would follow the lead of Dwight Stones and others in calling for a permanent site for the future Olympic Games. Greece, logically, would be the ideal site, in the shadow of Mt. Olympus, but not necessarily in Athens.

All countries which participate could contribute on a per-capita income basis, based on United Nations population and income figures. In that way, the poorer countries would not be hit as hard, while the more affluent would bear their fair share.

No country which did not participate in the cost of construction of the site could participate in the games. Those who wish to later join would still pay this one time fee. Then, each four years, an assessment, again based on the same criteria, would be made for participating countries.

The site could be used during the remaining three years for other competitions, training and the like.

East Carolina University's "Task Force" on Intercollegiate Athletics, a part of the overall "Task Force" working on Chancellor Tom Brewer's "Plan for the 80's," is seeking input from everyone.

Public opinions on the intercollegiate athletic program at the university is desired, and the task force committee is asking that the form below be filled in and sent in.

In my opinion, the contribution that athletics makes at East Carolina would best be described as (circle one):

Crowd Trick Almost Works, But Purdue Gains Overtime Victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Mike Searce should know better than to listen to the Wisconsin Badger basketball fans. But he did Thursday night — and it almost cost the Purdue Boilermakers a game.

With the score of their Big Ten contest tied 50-50 and 20 seconds left, Purdue had possession of the ball and a chance to win. But Wisconsin fans began a 10-second chant at this point, duping Searce into rushing up a premature desperation shot that missed.

There was still time for the Badgers to take a shot of their own. Luckily for the embarrassed Searce, it missed, and the Boilermakers went on to win in overtime, 73-60.

"That sure was great crowd support," Purdue Coach Lee Rose said of the deceitful Badger crowd.

Rose did have some time to soothe Searce when the Badgers, planning their last shot in regulation, called time out with nine seconds remaining.

"I told him to forget it because he was going to be in there and I don't want him thinking about it," Rose related.

Badger Coach Bill Cofield was reluctant to respond when asked whether the game reflected rumors of selfishness on his team.

"We executed our game plan very well," Cofield told sports writers. "The only statement I am going to make is my original one: we executed very well."

The 14th-ranked Boilermakers were one of six ranked teams in action Thursday night. Elsewhere, No. 4 Ohio State stopped Illinois 79-76; No. 6 Syracuse held off Rutgers 69-66; No. 9 St. John's routed Davidson 67-48; Minnesota upset No. 16 Indiana 55-47 and No. 20 Brigham Young crushed San Diego State 123-91.

Brian Walker and Joe Barry Carroll took over for Purdue in the overtime period, combining for 10 points. Carroll finished with 21 points and Keith Edmonson added 17 for Purdue.

Herb Williams scored 24 points to lead Ohio State past Illinois. The Buckeyes took an early lead and were never headed, although they were constantly troubled by Illinois rallies and a press in the final minutes.

Roosevelt Bouie and Louis Orr combined for 28 of Syracuse's 37 second-half points to lead the Orangemen past a surprisingly tough Rutgers team. The Scarlet Knights, struggling through a so-so season, had numerous chances to win down the homestretch, but finally fell short as Orr made a key steal in the final 10 seconds.

"Whenever we play them," said Syracuse Coach Jim Boehm, "it doesn't matter which team is good or bad, it's always a close game."

Syracuse trailed 35-32 at half-time and Boehm said the first half problems resulted from the Orangemen's inability to get the ball to Bouie.

"Everybody says that something must have been wrong when a ranked team has a tough time," Boehm said. "But I think that we should give Rutgers some credit, they played well."

Rutgers Coach Tom Young was pleased with his team's effort despite the loss.

"It's amazing we even had a chance to win it at the end," he said. "I admire the heck out of our kids."

Reggie Carter led a balanced attack with 11 points, and also contributed four steals, five assists and six rebounds to lead St. John's over Davidson. Darryl Mitchell sank four clutch free throws in the final minute to spark Minnesota over Indiana. Danny Ainge scored 30 points to pace BYU's victory over San Diego State.

Panthers Nip Greene Central

SNOW HILL — Milton Hardy hit a field goal and two free throws in the last 50 seconds and Reginald Knight canned two foul shots moments later to give North Pitt a hard-fought 49-44 win over Greene Central Thursday night in an Eastern Carolina Conference basketball game.

Earlier, in the girls' game, Letha Taylor's 26 points led the Rams past the Pant-HERS, 59-43.

With the score tied, 43-43, with 50 seconds left in the boys' game, North Pitt's Hardy, who, along with Gordan Dunn, led the Panthers with 14 points, hit to give the visitors from Bethel the lead.

A free throw by Greene Central narrowed the margin to one but Knight then connected on both ends of a one-and-one. Following a missed layup by the Rams, Hardy hit both sides of a one-and-one, giving the Panthers the victory.

The win left North Pitt at 7-4 in the league and 10-7 overall while the Rams drop to 4-8 and 6-12.

Greene Central jumped out to the early lead in the ballgame, taking a 13-8 first-period advantage. But the Panthers crept back to take a 24-23 halftime lead.

Greene Central regained the lead in the third quarter, 34-31, but the Panthers came back in the final period to tie it up and then go ahead before sealing the victory with some clutch free throw shooting.

Greene Central was led by Eric Lewis' 16 points and Jerome Artis' 12.

In the girls' game, Greene Central grabbed the early lead and was never headed in winning its sixth game of the season against 12 losses. The Rams are 3-9 in the ECC. North Pitt dropped to 3-9 and 5-11.

After trailing 12-8 at the end of the first quarter, the Pant-HERS went into the dressing room behind, 24-21. North Pitt could get no closer after that, as Greene Central outscored the Pant-HERS, 15-8 and 20-14 in the final two periods.

North Pitt was led by Starla Singleton's 15 points and Carolyn Best's 14. Sharon Suggs had 10 for the winners.

Buc Swimmers Face Seahawks

East Carolina University's swimmers travel to Wilmington Saturday for a 1 p.m. match against the University of North Carolina-Wilmington.

Both the men's and women's teams will participate in the meet, which opens up a two week session that winds up the dual meet competition for the men.

Following Saturday's meet, the Pirates return home on Tuesday to face nationally ranked N.C. State at 7 p.m., then travel to Duke for a 1 p.m. meet on Saturday, Feb. 2. They close out the dual meet season against North Carolina in Minges Natatorium on Feb. 4. The women, who participate in all three of these meets, have remaining meets with William and Mary and Pfeiffer on their schedule, in mid-February.

The men go into the meet with a 4-0 record and two swimmers ranked among the nation's best in Division I. Ted Nieman is currently ranked 14th in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:40.07, while Kelly Hopkins is 11th in the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:06.00. Hopkins' time has qualified him for the Olympic trials, joining former ECU freestyler John Tudor in that meet.

The women, with a 1-2 mark, have a number of swimmers ranked in AIAW's Division II, including Karen Davidson's whose 10:47.0 leads the nation in the 1,000-yard freestyle, some 20 seconds ahead of her closest competition.

Davidson also ranks seventh in the 200-yard backstroke in 2:20.12, and second in the 400-yard individual medley in 4:48.92.

Tammy Putnam ranks third in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 55.47; sixth in the 200-yard freestyle in 2:00.31; sixth in the 1,000-yard freestyle in 11:24.1; fifth in the 100-yard backstroke in 1:04.11; fourth in the 200-yard backstroke in 2:17.09; third in the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:33.11; ninth in the 50-yard butterfly in 28.31; third in the 100 IM in 1:04.39; and fourth in the 200 IM in 2:14.44.

Julie Malcolm is seventh in the 500 freestyle in 5:20.73; and eighth in the 200 breaststroke in 2:37.69.

Beth Reen ranks 10th in the 1,000 freestyle in 11:32.0; seventh in the 100 butterfly in 1:02.46; and fourth in the 200 butterfly in 2:15.51.

Cindy Sailer ranks third in the 50 butterfly in 28.07, while Lauren Grimes is sixth in the same event in 28.25.

Three ECU women's relay teams are ranked. The 200 freestyle team is eighth in 1:45.07; the 400 freestyle team is fifth in 3:46.46; and the 800 freestyle team is second in 8:16.48.

Winless Vet Holds Golf Lead

SAN DIEGO (AP) — This is a year of decision for Bill Calfee. Based on his performance, he'll decide whether to give up the PGA tour and pursue another line of work. "I'm just not going to stay out here as a Monday qualifier," the 30-year-old Calfee said Thursday. "You can't play out here indefinitely winning $15,000 or $20,000 (less than expenses)."

Becoming an exempt player — maybe not winning but making the top 60 (money-winners) — is my goal right now." Calfee, who has experienced little but frustration in three previous years on the tour, took a major step in the right direction Thursday with a no-bogey, 7-under-par 65 that gave him a 1-stroke lead after the first round of the $250,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open golf tournament.

"Last year was a very disappointing season for me," said Calfee, who won only $15,402. "The first two years I considered learning experience. But course at Torrey Pines, the easier of the two oceanside layouts used for the first two rounds, Fergus played the tougher, 7,002-yard South course. Each carries a par 72. They switched courses for today's round, then play the last two over the South.

Tom Watson, Player of the Year for the past three seasons, opened his 1980 campaign with a no-bogey 68 on the North course. "It's not a bad way to start the year," Watson said. "I had a chance to shoot 66, but I let it slip away at the end." He missed a three-foot birdie putt on his 17th hole and took three from the fringe for par-5 on his last. "My putting is a little bit suspect, and I scrambled some.

Portland Continues To Hold Its Jinx Over Los Angeles

By The Associated Press
The Portland Trail Blazers certainly aren't burning up the National Basketball Association these days, but they look like world-beaters whenever they play the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Blazers met the Lakers for the third time this season Thursday night and for the third time, they beat them. "This is the best game we played all year," noted Portland Coach Jack Ramsay after the 111-103 victory. "If we play game after game like that, we will be in the playoffs. We played a very good team and beat them. We have to do these kinds of things night after night. Consistency is what wins in this league." Of course Ramsay's team has been anything but consistent so far, with a mediocre 25-27 record. The usually consistent Lakers (35-16), meanwhile, were anything but that Thursday night.

Kings 98, Bullets 87
Mike Newlin and Ed Jordan combined for 19 points in the fourth quarter, leading New Jersey over Washington. The Bullets scored only four field goals in the final 12 minutes while losing their sixth game in a row.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC:

WILL IT COST YOU $75 TO FILL UP?

A friend who recently returned from Greece swears it cost him $75 to fill his car's gas tank. That works out to about $4 a gallon. It's not quite that bad here yet, but there's no question that gas is expensive now, and will become even more expensive in the future. Also, it could become scarcer than it is now, with long gas lines becoming an everyday occurrence.

Of course, there's really nothing new about that. Gas has been expensive in other parts of the world for decades. Until now, we have been fortunate enough to have all the gas we could guzzle at prices that were one-third of what the rest of the world was paying.

Well, the energy crisis is here to stay. It's now a way of life. We won't see 30¢-a-gallon gas or the good old "gas wars" again. We hope you'll never have to spend $75 to fill your tank. But, $1 a gallon or $4 a gallon, we think you should buy a car that enables you to afford the gas for your transportation needs.

TOYOTA — THE BEST SELLING ECONOMY CAR IN THE WORLD.

Toyota has been in the transportation business for over 40 years. That's 40 years of building quality economy cars and trucks for a demanding world market. Toyotas have had to be fuel-efficient because they were designed and built in a country where high fuel prices and scarcities have always been a way of life. And the cars have had to last because no one could afford the luxury of buying a new one every two or three years. A way of life has literally created a car that is compact, fuel-efficient and long-lasting. The Toyota. Now, high fuel prices and scarcities are a fact of life the world over — even here. That's why Toyota has become the best-selling economy car in the world.

ECONOMY DOESN'T HAVE TO BE DULL.

Just because we have to seriously consider fuel economy when we buy a new car doesn't mean we have to settle for less in an automobile. I suggest you take a look at the Toyota line-up and test drive one. The styling is not boring, it's exciting. It's the kind of car you can be proud to drive. And the performance will surprise you because you will find it hard to believe that a car that gets such good mileage can have such pep. It accelerates and corners like a true thoroughbred.

But the most important thing about a Toyota car or truck is its real value. The initial cost is low, especially considering the true quality of the vehicle. You'll be hard put to find a better-built car or truck. And it's easy to own because it stays in your garage, not in the repair shop. If you do require service, be assured that it will be fast, correct and fairly priced, as your Toyota dealer's factory-trained specialists and genuine Toyota parts network are recognized throughout the industry.

So don't worry about spending $75 to fill up your tank sometime in the future. Start saving gas dollars right now by buying a thrifty car that's stingy with gasoline — a new Toyota. You'll like the way it looks, the way it rides, the way it performs, the way it holds up over the years. And you'll especially like the way it squeezes extra miles out of every precious gallon of gas.

Sincerely,
Jim Moran

We will miss you, maestro. You gave us great joy!

After the 1979 world team championship in which Italy lost to the U.S. in the finals, the great Giorgio Belladonna, regarded by many as the world's finest player, announced that he would no longer compete in international competition.

There are a host of famous hands declared or defended by Belladonna, but we remember him best for a hand he did not play!

At the 1965 European Championship, Belladonna almost singlehandedly was carrying an Italian team to yet another championship. One of the Italian kibitzers at the event brought this hand to one of our associates, claiming that Belladonna had played it.

The solution is elegant. To make his contract, declarer must try to ruff a heart. If he wins the first trick and leads a heart, East wins and shifts to a trump, and declarer ends up a trick short.

The winning play is to enter dummy at trick two with the ace of clubs and lead a heart toward the closed hand. If East rises with the ace, declarer wins a heart trick by force and makes his contract, so East must duck. However, when West wins the first heart, he cannot lead a trump without giving up his side's trump trick, so declarer now cannot be prevented from scoring a heart ruff for his tenth trick.

A search of the hand records failed to turn up the hand, and it was suggested that it might have been played at some other tournament. Our colleague decided to ask the great one himself.

It would have been easy enough for Belladonna to say yes, he had played it somewhere or other, and another Belladonna classic would have entered the records. But Belladonna is too proud of his

Ringo Playing In Comedy Role

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Ringo Starr will star in "Cave Man," a new comedy feature film for United Artists to be shot on locations in Mexico beginning Feb. 11.

Starr, the former Beatle, has appeared in other films without Harrison, McCartney and Lennon, including "The Magic Christian" and "Candy." "Cave Man" will be directed by Carl Gottlieb who also wrote the screenplay with Rudy DeLuca for producers Larry Turman and David Foster.

Ray Bradbury Is Unhappy Over Adapting 'Martian Chronicles'

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ray Bradbury doesn't like NBC's version of his "Martian Chronicles." This could be because Bradbury is a contrary fellow in the matter of adaptations of his work. Or, because Bradbury saw NBC's adaptation.

The latter seems more likely. NBC's "Martian Chronicles," a six-hour miniseries beginning Sunday, is a lovely thing to look at — craggy, rust-colored landscapes, spacey cities and such; but the excitement of a fanciful space adventure is missing.

It's like a pinball machine without the little steel balls; the lights and bells and electric bumpers are there, but nothing touches them off.

That would have been all right had greater care been given to the story's satire on man's corruptive influence on his surroundings. That theme is present here, but it is hampered away at, rather than subtly suggested.

Rock Hudson, Bernie Casey, Darren McGavin and others are American astronauts sent to explore Mars and lay the groundwork for colonization. From the beginning, Bernie Casey is against the idea.

"It's wrong," he keeps telling anyone who'll listen. They restrain themselves from asking him. "If you don't like this, Bernie, why don't you take up plumbing?"

Anyway, they get to Mars, where much more rumination than exploration is done. There's less talk at a Tupperware party. Bernie goes off on a quick jaunt, and returns to proclaim:

"I would say that as far as Martians are concerned, this planet's finished." Hammer, hammer. See, earlier explorations infected the Red Planet with whooping cough or something. This deeply affects Bernie.

"I went inside a house," he tells his pals. "Inside there were bodies — stacked, piles of autumn leaves, like sticks, like stacks of bur newspaper..."

Okay, okay, Bernie, we your drift.

NBC says it reworked "Martian Chronicles" after Bradbury's initial objections, but network never did find the author's touch. The result is a hour miniseries that could have been great, but isn't. Pictures, though.

Backing Carter Pledge A Tall Order For Military

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States faces serious military handicaps in backing President Carter's pledge to repel any Soviet drive to gain control of the oil-producing Persian Gulf region.

The Carter administration is moving to overcome these handicaps. But it could take five years or longer to correct major deficiencies in U.S. ability to send large Army and Marine forces and their heavy equipment to remote areas and to sustain them with supplies and reinforcements in extended fighting.

Meanwhile, American strategists are counting on long-range nuclear missiles and bombers to deter the Soviets from any move that would endanger vital U.S. interests. Carter made it clear a Russian grab for control of the Persian Gulf would be so regarded.

Assuming both sides refrained from firing nuclear weapons at each other, these are some of the biggest problems which the Carter administration must cure to enforce its new Persian Gulf doctrine: —"We have an alarming shortfall in airlift capability," said Gen. Lew Allen, Air Force chief of staff. —The Navy's fleet is "stretched thinner than at any time since the end of World War II," said Adm. Thomas Hayward, chief of naval operations. The Navy has had to strip aircraft carriers from both the Pacific and Mediterranean to maintain a crisis force in the Arabian Sea. —Army National Guard and Reserve units, which are supposed to be ready to mobilize and deploy in an emergency, are about 145,000 short in strength. The Army's Individual Ready Reserve manpower pool, from which battle casualties would be replaced, has dropped by nearly 550,000 since the draft ended in mid-1973. —With the loss of Iran as an ally, the United States lacks any assured place to land troops, build up supplies and to mount counter-attacks against Soviet forces in a Persian Gulf-Arabian Sea war. Senior military officials note that the Soviets enjoy a geographical advantage — Russia lies relatively close to the Persian Gulf, while the United States is thousands of miles away. This means the Russians can easily support an invasion overland or by air from home territory, as they did in Afghanistan, while the United States must rely on very long air and sea lines of supply, which could be vulnerable. Some senior military officers contend the Carter administration and its predecessors too long subordinated the Indian Ocean region in their strategic planning.

Navy analysts warned a dozen years ago that the first voyage of a Soviet naval task force there probably was the forerunner of a long-term Russian program to dominate that vast area after the British pulled out. They were ignored.

Need Donors Of Corneas

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — A new program is underway between the North Carolina Eye and Human Tissue Bank and the Duke Medical Center to attempt to solve the problem of finding donors of corneas to those persons suffering blindness.

Jeannette Hodges, a surgeon's assistant, has been hired as the state's first eye-donor coordinator. She said in an interview that the biggest part of her job is trying to make people aware of the need for corneal donations.

She said many persons carry donor cards to indicate their desire for eyes or other organs to be made available for transplant after death. But she said even the card isn't sufficient to meet demand "because not enough people know that that was what their loved one wanted."

Dr. Gary Foulks, an ophthalmology professor at Duke and Mrs. Hodges' supervisor, said, "One thing I need to emphasize is that a person doesn't have to have perfect eyes to be a donor. He or she doesn't have to have 20-20 vision, as some people assume."

Foulks also said donated eyes need to be removed and stored no more than four hours after the donor's death.

About 200 persons in North Carolina and 2,500 people in the country are waiting for cornea transplants.

Ali Would

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Muhammad Ali, stripped of his boxing title when he refused induction for the Vietnam War, says he would be willing to fight against Soviet forces in Afghanistan because "that would be a just war."

The now-retired heavyweight champion told reporters here Friday that "I am threatened, my family is threatened, the peace of the world is threatened", by the Soviet presence in Afghanistan.

He also repeated his strong support of President Carter's call for a possible boycott of the Moscow Olympics.

Area People Attend Seminar

Dietitians, nutritionists and food service supervisors from throughout the area are attending an Eastern AHEC-sponsored seminar on food-related allergies this afternoon at Lenoir Memorial Hospital, Kinston.

Conducting the seminar are Dr. Walter R. Sabiston of the Kinston Head and Neck Clinic and Claudia Pridgen, R. N. and allergy technician who works in the Head and Neck Clinic. Both Dr. Sabiston and Ms. Pridgen have post-graduate training in recognition and treatment of allergies.

Meeting Is Held By Seniors Club

The Moyewood Senior Citizens Club held its first meeting of 1980 recently.

The meeting was opened by a group song and the 23rd Psalm was said in unison. Mrs. Patsy Smith read "A Prayer for the New Year" by Helen Steiner Rice. The president, Mrs. Emma May, recited the last stanza of Miss Rice's "Let Us Seek God's Guidance Through the Year." The members who attended the senior citizens' Christmas party discussed the activities. Mrs. Helen Taft, who has been a Pitt County Memorial Hospital patient, expressed appreciation to her friends for their kindnesses.

The district meeting will be held in Tarboro Monday, Jan. 28, it was reminded.

Store Robbed By Lone Gunman

Greenville Police today are looking for a lone bandit who robbed the Fast Fare store on Hooker Road at gunpoint about 11:35 p.m. yesterday.

Chief Glenn Cannon said the store clerk was refilling a drink cooler at the rear of the store when a man entered, purchased 12-cents worth of candy, then pulled a pistol and ordered the clerk to lie face-down on the floor.

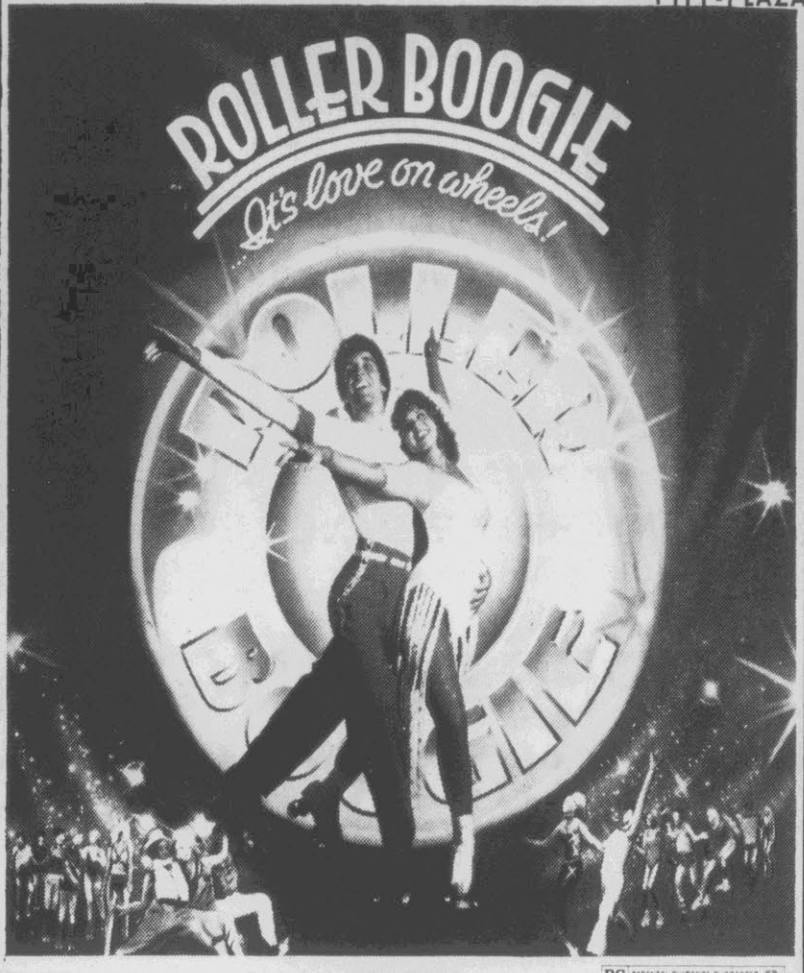

The robber then opened the cash register and took a small amount of money, and walked out.

Endorse Return To Registering

WASHINGTON (AP) - Members of North Carolina's congressional delegation say they support President Carter's call for reinstatement of draft registration.

And all but Democratic Rep. Walter B. Jones say an actual return to the draft is not warranted.

Jones said the all-volunteer Army has failed to attract and maintain a sufficient number of soldiers.

"It appears to me that, with the very, very low rate of re-enlistment and world tensions what they are, it might well be that the draft is the only solution," Jones said.

Republican Sen. Jesse Helms predicted that "within 12 months, and certainly after the elections, you'll see some sort of draft."

But Helms said that an immediate return to the draft is impractical.

Democratic Sen. Robert Morgan said registration alone may encourage enlistments in the Army, National Guard and reserves. Morgan has called in each of the past two years for reinstating registration.

Rep. L. Richardson Preyer, a Democrat, said the president can use registration as one of his "diplomatic weapons" in confrontations with other nations.

Democratic Rep. Lamar Guder was perhaps the most hesitant about reinstating registration for the draft. He said, "I expect I will be supportive" of Carter's call for appropriation of funds to gear up the Selective Service.

The other members of the delegation who agreed were: Republicans Jim Martin and James Broyhill, and Democrats L.H. Fountain, Charles Whitley, Ike Andrews, Stephen Neal, Charles Rose III and W.G. Hefner.

Former Ingram Deputy Seeking Insurance Post

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Burlington attorney James Long, a former deputy to Insurance Commissioner John Ingram, filed today as a Democratic candidate for state insurance commissioner.

In remarks after filing as a candidate with the state Board of Elections, Long vowed to be a "consumer watchdog" and said he could be more effective than Ingram.

Long said the insurance department needs "capable and qualified" staff members to defeat rate hike requests sought by insurance commissioners.

He also said political activity within Ingram's insurance department has made it difficult for the commissioner's staff to be effective.

"I can improve the quality of the staff, to see that competent attorneys and actuaries are hired," Long said.

Long is a former three-term legislator who served as Ingram's chief deputy commissioner of insurance in 1975 and 1976.

Long said that when he was on Ingram's staff, "the few professionals left in that department were not allowed to do their job" because of politics within the department.

"I intend to be the consumer watchdog to see that the public is paying the lowest rate for the insurance it buys. I can and will say 'no' to unjustified increases," Long said.

Long is the first candidate for insurance commissioner to enter the race. Ingram has not yet revealed his plans, and is considering several entering several other races.

If Ingram does not seek re-election, his current chief deputy commissioner Kenneth Brown has said he will file as a Democratic candidate for that office. Others are also expected to enter the race, including another former Ingram deputy commissioner, Roy Rabon.

In other political developments a Goldsboro man, Clyde Pulley, said he would be a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor in the May 6 primary. Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green is seeking re-election this year and faces Democratic primary challenge from House Speaker Carl Stewart.

Pulley, an instructor of criminal justice at Wilson County Technical Institute, said he is concerned that some black people in the state are passing

Problems Underlined In Alcohol Awareness Week

By NANCY MIDDLETON
Director of Consultation and Education
Pitt County Mental Health Center

North Carolina Alcohol
Awareness Week, Jan. 20-27, focuses special attention on problems of alcohol and alcohol abuse.

The Alcohol and Drug Center of Pitt County is a component part of the Pitt County Mental Health Center, which offers education and direct services to the community. Established in November, 1979, as a free-standing unit, the center is a multi-faceted organization with the primary purpose of assisting problem drinkers and drug abusers and their families in overcoming these problems.

longer has to make a decision of whether or not to drink because he knows that, if he does drink after taking medication, he will become seriously ill. This type of treatment allows the individual an opportunity to work with his counselor to sort out other life problems while remaining sober.

and convicted for driving under the influence. Legal offenders are referred to the center by the court in order to participate in a 10-hour education program. This program includes information on alcohol and drugs and their effects, N. C. laws, attitudes and values regarding chemical use, and where people can go for help with these problems. It offers an opportunity for the students to examine their own drinking and drug-related behavior in view of responsible information. And it offers an avenue for students to seek a referral for getting help if they so choose.

The center staff is always seeking new ways of serving the community, over and above the currently existing programs, Doucett said. Hours are from Monday through Friday from 8
a. m. to 5 p. m. and Wednesday from 6:30 to 9 p. m. It is located at 2020 W. Greenville Boulevard, opposite Oakdale Subdivision.

The public is invited to stop by to visit and information. Persons having suggestions, ideas, problems, needs or a desire to assist the staff by offering time, talents or materials will be welcomed and served by the staff, Doucette added.

According to Deborah Doucett, court counselor at the center, the initial contact with the people served by the center is the result of referral, either by the individual himself or by another agency or person, including family doctor, a court order, a concerned family member or friend, or another program such as a hospital or the Walter B. Jones ARC.

Usually the problem can be dealt with on an outpatient basis, with the person remaining in the community and participating in regularly scheduled counseling sessions. Occasionally, however, the drinking or drug abuse has become so severe that the person requires hospitalization in order to withdraw safely from the alcohol or drugs before pursuing a course of treatment to remain chemical-free. At this time, this person is referred to a hospital for medical supervision during detoxification and, upon returning to the community, he takes part in individual supportive counseling with a center staff member. The counseling may include a regimen of Antabuse therapy, which would be administered by a registered nurse and supervised by a physician.

basis, the problem drinker no

ple or the whole family in order to enable them to reduce conflict in the relationship and to learn positive ways of dealing with one another.

While some people are fortunate enough to see for themselves that they are starting to experience problems with danger signals until they have been affected in other important aspects of their lives. For many, this involves being charged with

Employee Caught And Charged With Thefts

FARMVILLE — An employee of the Colonial Inn Restaurant here was caught by Farmville police early this morning allegedly breaking into the restaurant and was charged with this and other break-ins.

Charged was David Wayne Boone of 401 S. Barrett Street, Farmville. The arrest was the result of a stakeout of the restaurant by Lt. W. G. Barber and Crime Prevention Officer

Kenneth Godwin, Police Chief Ron Cooper said. He said Godwin photographed the subject taking the screen off and entering a rear window and Lt.

Barber, stationed inside, confronted him once he was inside the building. The photography was done with a special camera capable of unobtrusively taking night photographs, he said.

David Whitley, the owner and manager of the Inn, interviewed by phone this morning, said he has been plagued with break-ins and thefts recently and hopes this arrest will put an end to them.

Boone was charged with the burglary of Whitley's home Dec. 29, and of breakings and enterings at the restaurant Jan. 22 and last night. He was placed in Pitt County Jail under $7,500 bond. His probable cause hearing in Farmville District Court is set for Feb. 7.

The Greenville Citizens Bikeway Committee will have an exhibit at the Energy Fair here on Saturday, manned by committee members who will answer questions concerning bicycles and routes.

The booth will display a map of bike routes in the city and bicycle registration will also be available.

SUNDAY SERVICE
WINTERVILLE — Eldress Laura Nobles will be the guest speaker at Mt. Shiloh Baptist Church here Sunday at 3 p.m. She will be accompanied by Grifton Chapel Church. The Rev. M. Laws, pastor, invites the public.

Turns Self In To Face Charges

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The director of North Carolina's Division of Community Assistance turned himself in to authorities Thursday night and was charged with attempted second-degree, forcible rape, Raleigh police said.

Police Sgt. Larry Marshburn said Lenwood V. Long, 36, turned himself in about 6 p.m. to answer a complaint by a 27-year-old employee of his department.

Marshburn said the alleged incident occurred at Long's home earlier in the day.

LANDON DOING WELL
TOPEKA, Kansas (AP) — Alif Landon, 92, is "doing fine" and receiving visitors and phone calls as he undergoes medical tests. Landon was hospitalized Wednesday for an onset of dizziness.
