POLICEMAN WOUNDED — A Bogota policeman is carried by fellow officers after he was wounded when the Dominican Embassy in Bogota was taken over by leftist guerrillas. The guerrillas gave the

Diplomats Hostages Of Leftist Gunmen

By TOM WELLS
Associated Press Writer
BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Leftist guerrillas holding the U.S. ambassador to Colombia and some 60 other hostages at the Dominican Republic Embassy said today they would release all women and two wounded hostages.

Earlier, a Colombian Cabinet minister said the guerrilla band lifted the 10 p.m. EST deadline it had set for the government to meet its demands — $50 million, the release of more than 300 political prisoners and publication of an anti-government manifesto in major foreign newspapers.

The guerrillas have threatened to kill their hostages, who include U.S. Ambassador Diego Asencio, the papal nuncio to Colombia and at least 15 other ambassadors or acting ambassadors, and several Colombian diplomats.

Approximately 25 women and 35 men were taken captive when the 30 raiders stormed into the Dominican mission during a noon diplomatic reception Wednesday.

A guerrilla spokesman, contacted by telephone by The Associated Press late this morning, said two wounded hostages were being freed at that moment and the women would follow. The guerrillas had said Wednesday the acting Paraguayan ambassador and another unidentified civilian were wounded.

The guerrillas, members of the M-19 guerrilla organization, also said one of their men was killed, and the government said three policemen were wounded.

The guerrilla gang's leader, "Commander No. 1," told The Associated Press by telephone, "We are prepared to remain here one or two months if necessary. It all depends on whether the government wants to negotiate or not."

The Cabinet minister, who asked not to be identified, also said the mediation efforts of Rafael Vasquez, a former foreign minister and head of the Colombian Human Rights Defense Commission, had ended, but he did not explain why.

The official did not say what the next steps would be in negotiations with the 30 guerrillas.

The hostages included U.S.

Ambassador Diego Asencio, the papal nuncio to Colombia and at least 14 other ambassadors or acting ambassadors, and several Colombian diplomats.

"The guerrillas said one of their men was killed and the Paraguayan ambassador and another unidentified person was wounded. The government said three policemen were also wounded.

"We are prepared for victory or death," the leader of the guerrillas, "Comandante Numero Uno," told a reporter. "We are demanding that the government meet certain conditions if it wishes to save the lives of important diplomats. If there is no agreement, everyone will leave here as corpses."

However, he refused to say what would happen if the government did not meet his deadline.

"This is a supposition and we are not dealing with suppositions," he said. But he added that they had pistols, rifles, grenades, bombs and abundant ammunition.

"The situation here is calm," U.S. Ambassador Diego S. Asencio told a reporter by telephone Wednesday night. "They are treating us well and we are awaiting the arrival of a negotiating commission from the government."

The government sent one negotiator, former Foreign Minister Alfredo Vasquez, a critic of the government's anti-guerrilla tactics. He met with the guerrillas in the embassy for nearly two hours, then went to President Julio Cesar Turbay's palace to discuss their demands.

Twenty-six men and four women dressed in athletic togs burst into the embassy with guns blazing during a reception on the Dominican Republic's independence day. Bodyguards of the ambassadors, some inside the two-story and some outside, returned the fire, but the invaders succeeded in taking over the building.

The embassy, which also doubles as the residence of Dominican Ambassador Diogenes Mayil Burgos, was surrounded by a small army of police and soldiers armed with automatic weapons and tear-gas grenades and wearing bulletproof vests. An armored car also was brought into the area.

In addition to the ransom money and the release of political prisoners, the guerrillas also demanded safe conduct out of Colombia, withdrawal of the security forces ringing the embassy and publication of an anti-government manifesto in major newspapers by 10 o'clock EST tonight.

The leader of the band said their manifesto would be issued at a news conference to be held at the embassy this morning. He said they would admit only four journalists who must approach the mission wearing only underwear to show they were unarmed.

The Colombian government said in addition to Asencio and Papal Nuncio Angelo Cervi, the ambassadors being held were from Guatemala, El Salvador, Haiti, Brazil, Austria, Switzerland, Uruguay, Egypt, Mexico, Venezuela, Costa Rica, and the Dominican Republic.

along with the acting ambassadors from Paraguay and Bolivia.

Swedish Ambassador Ragnar Petri told a Stockholm newspaper that called him he left the party about three minutes before the attack because the reception "was boring. Not much happened so I left after about 15 minutes."

M-19 has been the most active of Colombia's half dozen guerrilla groups, and more than 1,000 persons the army says are connected with it have been arrested in the last year. About 400 are now being tried in military courts for the obscurely defined crime of rebellion against the regime. M-19, or Movement 19, takes its name from the April 19, 1970, presidential elections which the guerrillas say were fraudulent.

Report Kabul Quieter

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP)

— The Afghan capital returned to normal today for the first time since bloody anti-Soviet rioting exploded here last week, killing more than 300 civilian and an unknown number of Soviet and Afghan soldiers.

Sporadic bursts of machinegun fire still rattled through the streets of the mile-high capital, and tanks remained on guard at the headquarters of the pro-Soviet Afghan government as well as at the Soviet Embassy and several housing compounds used by Russians and East Europeans.

But many of the Soviet and Afghan army tanks and armored cars that lumbered into the streets after the fighting broke out last Friday were withdrawn and the streets in front of government offices were reopened to traffic.

Kabul's merchants shut their shops last Thursday and kept them shut for six days to protest the Soviet occupation. The general strike halted business in the capital and triggered two days of anti-Soviet rioting and street battles between Moslem rebels and Soviet and Afghan troops last Friday and Saturday in which some 300 civilians were reported killed and thousands injured. Military casualties were not known.

The communist government decreed martial law and rounded up large numbers of Shiite Moslems, most of them from the Hazara Tribe, on suspicion of instigating the disturbances, sources said.

The Associated Press of Pakistan reported Afghan authorities carried out widespread executions following the street warfare. The report, which could not be independently confirmed, quoted diplomatic sources as saying an Islamic scholar was among those killed.

New Zone Classification Is Asked By Commission

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The Joint City-County Planning and Zoning Commission last night endorsed and recommended for approval by the City Council the creation of an Office and Institutional-2 zoning classification.

Planning Director Bobby Roberson explained that the Codes Review Committee, upon the recommendation of the planning staff, approved the creation of the new zone, intended to be applied in outlying areas in and around the city.

Roberson reported that the zoning classification "sets up a pure O and I zone" and reduces the number of uses permitted under the present O and I district from 24 to 19. Special uses allowed are reduced from six to one in the new district, he said.

The planning director related that the proposed zone "takes some of the questionable uses" out of the present O and I district. He asserted that development standards in the proposed zone are higher.

The district is established as an area in which the principal use of land is for general business offices, professional offices and industrial uses, it was noted.

The specific intentions of the district involve: prohibiting commercial and industrial uses of land which would generate large volumes of traffic; encouraging the development of areas which will serve as a buffer zone for residential zoning districts; providing for areas where office and institutional uses would be developed in an open setting as opposed to the intensive development of the O and I district; and encouraging the construction of and continued use of land for institutional and office uses.

The city planning board voted to recommend to the Council that 1.86 acres on the east side of Memorial Drive across from the entrance to Greenville Country Club be rezoned from R-15 to O and I-2.

The rezoning request had been submitted by Leroy Cherry, agent for Minges and Freeman, for the existing O and I but planning board members agreed that the rezoning should be to the new O and I-2 district, subject to Council approval of the zoning classification.

As a formality, the board denied the present O and I segment and recommended

UN Commission May, And Might Not, Meet American Hostages

By The Associated Press

A former Iranian official said a meeting had been arranged today between an international commission and the American hostages being held by militants in Tehran, but the captors said they had not decided whether to permit it. The hostages, in their 117th day of captivity, are threatened with at least 10 more weeks of confinement.

The official news agency Pars reported that former Iranian interior minister Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani said members of the U.N. commission studying allegations against the deposed shah would meet with the hostages. It quoted him as saying they would be accompanied by a representative of President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr.

One of the militants at the U.S. Embassy, reached by The Associated Press by telephone from Cyprus, said, "We are thinking about it but we haven't made up our minds yet."

Ayatollah Mohammed Beheshti, first secretary of the ruling Revolutionary Council, told reporters Wednesday it would take at least that long for the new Iranian Parliament, which Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini said would decide the fate of the hostages, to get organized and come to a decision.

"It would be of grave concern if the process dragged on that long," said a high-level U.S. official.

The 270-member Majlis, or Parliament, is to be elected in balloting March 14 and April 3. Beheshti indicated that the approximately 50 Americans would be freed before mid-May only if Khomeini, the leader of the Iranian revolutionary regime, changed his mind.

Meanwhile, the U.N. commission investigating Iranian allegations against deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi took testimony in Tehran Wednesday from more scores of disabled Iranians who the government said were tortured by the shah's secret police. The panel also visited a Tehran cemetery where the government claimed thousands of victims of the shah's alleged repression were buried.

The commission met for two hours with Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh. U.N. officials in New York said they discussed a meeting between the investigators and the hostages, but U.N. spokesman Rudolf Stajduhar said he did not know if a meeting was agreed on. However, Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim "hopes the hostages can be seen soon," the spokesman added.

Evidence Is Presented In Trial Of Policeman

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The trial of suspended Greenville policeman Douglas Ross, charged with possession of marijuana and maintaining and keeping a structure for the storage of a controlled substance, began Tuesday afternoon in Pitt County Superior Court.

Ross was arrested last July following a raid on a mobile home owned by the 23-year police veteran and recovery of over 8,000 pounds of marijuana. The mobile home was located on his property near Ross' house just west of Greenville.

Prior to the state calling its first witness yesterday, Judge Elbert Peele Jr. overruled and denied motions by defense attorneys to suppress the search warrant used in the July 23 raid and also to suppress evidence gathered in the raid.

Ross was one of 11 persons, including his wife,

Marga Ross, his sister-in-law, Louise Johnston Whitehurst, and several out-of-state residents charged following the raid.

The state utilized the afternoon session to introduce various items seized in the raid, including three of some 169 bales of marijuana, three revolvers, a calculator and electronic scales, and to have Jim Wilson, special agent with

HOTLINE FEEDBACK

MORE THAN GENEROUS

Hotline readers were more than generous after reading about the need of James Nichols, a double amputee who was in need of enough funds to buy an electric wheelchair. The Rev. Roger Tripp of Grace F.W.B. Church reports that donations were great enough to not only buy Nichols the chair, but also to buy materials with which his friends and relatives could construct a ramp for his house. Other renovations to make his house wheelchair-accessible are also being done, it was reported.

Nichols and his family express appreciation to everyone who responded.

Draft Registration Gets Off To A Rocky Start

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's draft registration plan is off to a rocky start in Congress and could be in serious trouble after a House committee refused to approve money needed for the program.

In the first congressional vote on the issue, a House Appropriations subcommittee deadlocked 6-6 Wednesday on whether to approve money for registration of young men, beginning this summer. The tie vote blocks the funds, at least temporarily.

Instead, the panel approved only enough money to set up a standby system in which registration would not start until the president ordered military mobilization in an emergency.

Such a plan was proposed by Selective Service officials last month but was rejected by Carter in favor of actual registration of men and women ages 19 and 20.

But the fact that Selective Service said it could do the job without advance registration was used as ammunition by Carter's opponents to block the administration's program.

They also cited the administration's acknowledgement that advance registration might save only seven days in mobilizing recruits.

The subcommittee never considered approving money to register women, and deleted funds for that even before opening discussion of the bill.

Barry Lynn, head of a coalition called Committee Against Registration and the Draft, called the subcommittee's vote "a serious setback for the administration."

But White House officials predicted the full Appropriations Committee will be more sympathetic to Carter's request and will go along with registration of men when it considers the issue later.

Key members of the panel, however, were not as confident.

Rep. James L. Whitten, D-Miss., chairman of the full committee, and Rep. Edward Boland, D-Mass., chairman of the subcommittee that handled Carter's request, said they could not predict the outcome.

"It's awfully difficult to overturn the recommendations of a subcommittee in the full committee," Boland said.

Installation Ceremonies Held Sunday Afternoon

Miss Kim Harrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harrell, was installed as Worthy Advisor of Greenville Assembly No. 67 during ceremonies Sunday at the Greenville Masonic Temple.

Miss Rose Jackson, P.W.A., served as installing officer. She welcomed guests and introduced other installing officers including: Miss Connie Briley, P.W.A., installing marshal; Miss Karen Kingsbury, immediate P.W.A., installing recorder; Miss Gigi Mosley, P.W.A. and grand representative to Oklahoma, installing chaplain; and Mrs. Lori K. Braxton, P.W.A., installing musician.

During the installation, Miss Harrell received her gavel from her parents and was presented a mascot from the assembly by Miss Joyce Riggan. Other officers for the coming term are:

Worthy Associate Advisor, Miss Riggan; Charity, Miss Lisa Topping; Hope, Miss Lori Jo Edwards; Faith, Miss Sarah Houston; Recorder, Miss Connie Briley, P.W.A.; Treasurer, Miss Phyllis Jones, P.W.A.; Drill Leader, Miss Myra Clark; Love, Miss Beverly Tedder;

Religion, Miss Leigh Anda Summerfield; Nature, Miss Pam Hawkins, P.W.A.; Immortality, Miss Mosley; Fidelity, Miss Melanie West; Patriotism, Miss Melody Hedges; Service, Miss Sarah Hester; Confidential Observer, Miss Rose Jackson, P.W.A.; Outer Observer, Miss Kim Paige; Musician, Miss Kathryn Kelley; and Choir Director, Miss Paige Levey, P.W.A.

Dr. Betty Levey was installed as Mother Advisor and three members of the Advisory Board are Mrs. Sarah Ashton, Mrs.

Grace Hill and William Murray. Other board members to be installed in the future are Mrs. Mary Freeland, Mrs. Sheri Strickland, Skip Bright and Terry Strickland.

Guests introduced by Miss Harrell included her parents, sister, Renee Harrell, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bailey and a cousin, Eric Bailey. She also recognized Murray, a Past Master of Crown Point Lodge, and thanked the lodge for their sponsorship of the assembly. Raymond Matthews, Past Master of Vanceboro Lodge, was introduced. Mrs. Raymond Matthews and Miss Tracy Matthews were also guests.

Tribute was paid to Miss Kingsbury, who received a Past Worthy Advisor's pin from her mother, Mrs. Owen Kingsbury.

Dr. Levey recognized assembly members for their service activities during the past term and presented the wreath award to Mrs. Braxton. It was announced Phyllis Jones had been elected Miss Service by members. Also recognized were Miss Mosley and Miss Paige Levey, immediate Past Grand Recorder of North Carolina. Miss Jones is serving as the Grand Representative to Indiana.

Murray gave the benediction which was followed by a reception. The dining room was decorated in Miss Harrell's colors, wine, pink and white. Miss Renee Harrell poured punch and Mrs. Ashton registered guests.

TERESA GAYLE PIPPIN, . . . is the daughter of Mrs. Bryan Richard Pippin of Farmville, who announces her engagement to Hallette Ward Willoughby Jr., son of Mrs. Edith McLawhorn Willoughby of Farmville, and the late Mr. H.W. Willoughby Sr. The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Mr. Pippin. A May wedding is planned.

Houseplant Business Growing Steadily

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Editor
CHICAGO (UPI) — The houseplant business is healthier than ever, judging from new product introductions at the 72nd semiannual National Housewares Exposition in Chicago.

One manufacturer's annual survey indicated more than 80 percent of American households grew plants indoors last year. More than 53 percent of the persons interviewed said they kept more plants in 1979 than in 1978 — an average of 21 planters, or more than twice as many as in 1975.

Old-fashioned red clay pots are still popular, but the Phillips Products Co., Inc. survey also showed more than half the estimated 236.6 million planters bought in the United States last year were plastic.

One of the most attractive new lines of houseplant accessories at the show was made of glass, both clear and brown-tinted. The Corning Glass Works Plant Helpers are a series of mix and match planters, saucers, domes, a window sill tray, a macrame hanger and glass rooster marbles.

Phillips, a Streamwood, Ill., company, introduced a double wall, globe-shaped plastic planter in three sizes and six colors. Colton Creators Inc. of Westbury, N.Y., introduced cluster and tower pots. The latter are stovepipe shaped planters with openings similar to those of a clay strawberry pot.

A Davie, Fla., company introduced a patented, double-walled, self-watering pot said to store a two-to six-month water supply. The duration depends on the plant being watered — from two months for African violets to six months for cactus, said Thalia Zetlin, president of Zetlin-Beer-Liu, Inc. Mrs. Zetlin said a vacuum system pulls air through the soil into the water chamber to release water only as the roots need it. Mrs. Zetlin said the Plant Pleaser system works with most potting soils but advised against mixtures containing a lot of vermiculite because they would create too much aeration.

Wire holders that suspend plant pots from windows, railings, walls, decks and fences and even above tables were introduced by Port-a-Pot of Croton Falls, N.Y. Some holders can be hung from eyehooks or looped over the railings or fences. The table model, called a Spider, is a series of V-shapes designed to lift pot bases above the surface to prevent marring.

A Tennessee manufacturer introduced a glass fireplace enclosure that converts to a greenhouse for summer use. When the metal mesh curtains are removed, a Hearth Lite containing a fluorescent plant tube is installed with two screws. The light system can be used outside the fireplace in winter, says the manufacturer, Cumberland Valley Metals, Inc., of Nashville.

Dry air in centrally heated homes and apartments is bad for most houseplants. So a New York City manufacturer of electric humidifiers, Kaz, Inc., had the bright idea of marketing its regular electric steam humidifiers to benefit plants as well as people. All it did was change the color of the water reservoirs, from beige to a leafy green. The 1 gallon model operates 9-10 hours, and the 1½ gallon, 12-15 hours. Both shut off automatically.

Another good source for indoor and outdoor gardening products is the New York Botanical Garden's spring catalogue, now being offered free for the first time. Among its new items are an umbrella-shaped, plastic terrarium-greenhouse that holds plants safely without watering while the owner's away for as long as 10 weeks. Diamond Mind (cq) Plant Watchers close like an umbrella for storage.

Caught In Lush Hour

DEAR ABBY: A woman I work with comes to work drunk periodically. She's nice when she's sober, but when she's drunk she's rude to clients, uses foul language and is very obnoxious to the rest of us. We have covered up for her so far, but it's really getting to much to handle.

I realize that alcoholism is an illness and that this woman needs help, but I'm afraid if I suggest it she will tell me to mind my own business.

She gets a good salary, but on those days when she's drunk she isn't able to do her job. What should I do?
VOTE FOR SOBRIETY

DEAR VOTE: Risk being told to mind your own business, and tell her anyway. Anyone who needs a drink to face the day is in serious trouble. You and your co-workers do her no favor by covering up for her. The poor woman needs to come to grips with her problem now. Alcoholism never gets better, nor does it go away without treatment. It just gets worse. Let her know that you care by urging her to seek help through Alcoholics Anonymous. They're in your directory.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 62-year-old woman who recently decided on an early retirement, although I'm in good health. I have a friend my age who is still working. She began calling me several times a week to come and have dinner with her. Just as I am about to leave after dinner she loads me down with half a dozen boxes, several books, etc. She says, "You have more time than I have now, so I hope you won't mind taking these shoes to the shoe repair, dropping these books at the library, and returning this blouse for credit."

At first I accommodated her with a smile, then I realized that every time she asked me over she had a list of errands for me to run. Abby, she has a car, and even though I no longer have an 8-to-5 job, I have plenty to keep me busy and don't appreciate running other people's errands.

The last time this happened, I said, "I would like to be invited over here just once and not be asked to run any errands!"

Well, I haven't heard from her since. I miss her. Should I call and apologize?
MINNIE

DEAR MINNIE: Not unless you miss being her errand girl.

DEAR ABBY: You wrote that if a person is invited to a wedding reception, a gift is in order.

Well, I disagree. I received an invitation to the wedding and reception for a girl whose name didn't mean a thing to me. I later learned that she was the daughter of my car-insurance agent. I am not a good (or even casual) friend of this man. In fact, I didn't even know he had a daughter!

I did not feel obligated to send a gift. Do you still think I was wrong?
CHUTZPAH IN OMAHA

DEAR CHUTZPAH: No, I was. I didn't consider those with so much chutzpah that they'd send invitations to virtual strangers.

DEAR ABBY: BILL IN LONG BEACH complained about haughty little secretaries who screen their boss's telephone calls. It's understandable that a busy executive needs some protection in that regard, but if it's done with finesse it's never offensive.

However, I have a more legitimate gripe; it's the big-shot who asks his secretary to get me on the phone.

I find it very irritating to pick up my phone and hear a secretary say, "Mr. Jones is calling you, please hold." Then I'm kept hanging on the line until Mr. Jones is free to talk to me!

I have a rule. When a secretary gets me on the phone to talk to her boss, if I don't hear his voice within 5 seconds, I hang up. When she calls again, I tell her that when she has her boss on the line to call me—and not until!

BUSY ATTORNEY

DEAR BUSY: I'm sure you speak for many. (Including me.)

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

I don't expect anyone to get too choked up about this, but we are in the middle of National Letter Writing Week.

I don't know about you, but I'm going to observe it by sitting right down and calling my friends whom I haven't written in three years.

My reluctance to write letters is based on several reasons: (a) I never have anything to report that is worth 15 cents; (b) when I read them over, I sound like a shut-in and get very depressed; (c) I never remember to mail them and find myself going through them months later, changing "The baby is walking" to "The baby is married" or "I am on a diet and must lose 15 pounds" to "I am on a diet and must lose 15 pounds over each knee."

I am intrigued by letter writers . . . what prompts them to write, how much they write, and their system for replying.

My mother runs her correspondence like a railroad. Upon receipt of a letter, she will sit right down that evening and fire one back (couldn't you scream?) being careful to note on what day it was sent.

You will hear not one word from her until you write back. You never have to worry about your letter crossing one another en route.

Another friend of mine only writes when something happens. I haven't heard from her in three years and can only assume she's serving time somewhere.

There's another kind of correspondent whom I only hear from when they are in another country. Obviously, I'm on the B list and receive communications only when they're doing something they're proud of. Most are merely acquaintances and I am astounded when they share intimate details of their irregularities.

The intriguing thing about the postal system is its optimism toward its future. They not only assume they'll have one, but they're already figuring out how it will work. The letter of the future will be sent electronically via satellite.

They are studying a system that will transmit a message to a post office where it is transformed into digital data at the rate of 10 pages per second, then beamed to a domestic satellite for instant transmission to a receiving post office. There it would be reconverted into printed form, automatically folded, and inserted into an addressed envelope at the speed of four to six letters per second.

I'm not sure, but I think they've just invented the telegram.

Twin Sisters Give Program

A program on special health problems of women and how to recognize and prevent them was given at the February meeting of the Lake Ellsworth Garden Club.

Dr. Malene Grant and Dr. Isa Grant, twin sisters, were guest speakers.

Mrs. Jeanne Carstarphen was recognized during the meeting conducted by President Mrs. Sharon Shallow. The club's next project will be controlling Japanese beetles throughout the neighborhood. Mrs. Alice Dickens was recognized for bringing in the most new members during the membership drive.

Mrs. Janice Calfee and Mrs. Carol Leonard were meeting hostesses.

Eta Delta Meeting Held

Eta Delta held its second February meeting at the home of Linda McGehee. Sandra Everett served as co-hostess.

The program consisted of an exercise in individual and group decision-making.

Plans were discussed for the charity casino night to be held March 29 at the American Legion Building. Tickets can be obtained from Eta Delta members.

any new purchase. Under the old system, interest on the new charge applied only from the start of the next month's billing cycle.

The new rules will not affect the minority of customers who pay their bills in full by the due date.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumers should boycott credit cards, says a leading consumer advocate in Congress who is unhappy about new charges that companies are adding to their bills.

Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., chairman of the House Banking subcommittee on consumers, said Wednesday, "The best way for consumers to fight increased credit card costs is to stop using the cards. Quite simply, that means a boycott of credit card purchases."

Annunzio commented as two of the largest retailers in the nation, Sears Roebuck & Co. and J.C. Penney, Inc., prepared to shift to a new way of computing finance charges that will mean larger bills for consumers who have an outstanding balance from month to month.

For customers who only pay a portion of their total balance each month, it will mean interest charges from the date of

Speech, Hearing Symposium To Open

Professionals and students in speech and hearing and other areas of special education will gather here tonight and Friday for the Tenth Annual Speech and Hearing Symposium.

The conference is being held by the East Carolina University chapter of the National Student Speech and Hearing Association, in cooperation with the ECU School of Allied Health and Social Professions and the Eastern Area Health Education Center.

Pres. Deedra Jessorand said tonight's and tomorrow morning's program will be headlined by Dr. Leonard LaPointe, Coordinator of Instruction in Audiology and Speech Pathology at the Veteran's Administration Medical Center in Gainesville, Fla. He will speak on treatment of aphasia tonight and will deal with systematic evaluation and treatment of motor speech disorders Friday.

Friday afternoon short courses will be led by Dr. Mariana Newton, Director of the Speech and Hearing Center of UNC-Greensboro; Dr. Hal R. Shigley, Clinical Director of the Eastern TEACCH Center here; Dr. Betty Levey, Professor of Special Education at ECU; and Dr. Steve Tacker, Professor of Psychology at ECU.

Find Possible 'Assist' In Kidney Transplants

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) - Doctors at North Carolina Memorial Hospital say they have found tentative evidence that kidney patients are more likely to accept kidney transplants from a dead body if the patients receive blood transfusions before surgery.

The significance of this, said a spokesman, is that more patients could be considered as candidates for transplants from cadavers.

"We may put people on the cadaver list where we would not otherwise," said Dr. William Finn, an associate professor of medicine at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Finn discussed the findings Wednesday at a seminar on transplants at the UNC kidney dialysis center.

Based on studies of 48 kidney transplants from cadavers to patients since July 1973, Finn predicted that 83 percent of the transplanted kidneys still will be working two years after surgery in patients who received at least four transfusions before surgery.

Finn said the rate for those who did not receive transfusions is less than 62 percent.

Ayden-Grifton School Chosen For Symposium

Ayden-Grifton High School has been selected as one of forty high schools in North Carolina to send a group to the North Carolina Junior Science and Humanities Symposium. The Symposium will be hosted by Duke University on March 9-11 in Durham, N.C.

Student participants were selected on the basis of their interest and ability in science. Students selected are Julia Baldree, Gail Nobles, West Paul, and Alan Sumrell.

The symposium provides opportunities for talented youth and science teachers to meet and observe some professional research investigators at work, to hear lectures on research in the sciences, and to be aware of the effects of research upon human life.

Based on these figures and similar results at other kidney transplant centers in the nation, N. C. Memorial for the past six months has been giving blood transfusions for candidates for kidneys from cadavers, Finn said.

While blood transfusions had not been used for kidney transplants before last year, they had been commonly used until recent years in connection with kidney dialysis, a mechanical procedure by which kidney patients regularly flush their system of blood impurities.

Finn said that although transfusions for dialysis patients were ended several years ago, N. C. Memorial was able to use patient records from those cases to help substantiate the connection between transfusions and successful transplants.

It Wasn't Even Close

New Hampshire is over and, as expected, President Kennedy and Ronald Reagan were the winners.

For Carter it was the third victory over Sen. Edward Kennedy, once viewed as unbeatable if he decided to enter the Democratic race for presidency.

This time it wasn't even particularly close with Carter receiving 49 percent of the votes and Kennedy 38 percent. The other ten percent went to California governor Edmond Brown.

Ronald Reagan, whose campaign had appeared to be in trouble, was a solid winner with 50 percent of the votes in a seven man field. The Reagan victory came even as he replaced his campaign manager.

As with the previous state tests New Hampshire won't tell the tale, but the results were a particularly hard blow for Kennedy. He was running in his home territory and certainly his campaign needed to show some spark if he is to mount an effective challenge.

The next primary will be in Kennedy's home state of Massachusetts where he is virtually certain to win. Following that he is counting on big states such as New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois to gain momentum.

A poor showing in any of those states would probably do in the Kennedy candidacy. Of course unfolding world and economic events could have their effects on his chances.

In sum, the New Hampshire primaries represented clear-cut victories for both President Carter and Ronald Reagan. Both must be quite pleased at this stage.

Lacking The Simple Route

There is the slight possibility that Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev was offering a signal when he said recently that the Soviet Union was willing to withdraw its troops from Afghanistan when "outside interference" ended.

Based on that President Carter has signaled through Yugoslav President Tito that our country will jointly guarantee Afghanistan's neutrality if Soviet troops are withdrawn.

All that is a complicated way to settle this Middle East problem. Regardless, virtually any possible solution is worth the effort.

THIS AFTERNOON

Better-Job Trend

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — A total of 6,082 manufacturing jobs were lost in North Carolina during 1979, but economic specialists with the state's Department of Commerce are not that upset with that condition.

Indeed, the experts see this as a healthy trend for the state because a big majority of the lost jobs were in textiles and apparel manufacturing.

Another reason for optimism is that despite widespread predictions of an economic slowdown, the jobs lost in 1979 were considerably less than those lost in 1978. Also, new industries announced in 1979 will create more than 37,000 jobs, far above the numbers needed to absorb workers displaced by plant closings or permanent layoffs.

And those new jobs being created are in manufacturing firms where wages are considerably higher than in textiles and apparel manufacturing, two of the traditionally lowest paying industries in the state.

The Commerce Department has been keeping close accounts on plant closings and layoffs for only two years. In 1978, there were 8,867 jobs lost, involving 47 firms. In 1979 the total was 32 percent less at 6,082 jobs involving 44 firms.

Seventeen textile firms disposed of 2,484 jobs and nine apparel firms disposed of 1,344 jobs, for a total of nearly two-thirds of all the jobs lost in the state. That situation repeats 1978 figures which show that 7,618 of the total jobs lost were in textiles and apparel.

Ten years ago, North Carolina's growth was concentrated in textiles, furniture, apparel, machinery, and chemicals; much of the machinery and chemical employment was in work related to textiles.

New technology and stronger competition are cutting into the textile employment ranks strongly.

BILL NOBLITT

now, with that industry having cut back some 50,000 jobs in the last decade.

New or expanded industries in 1979 were concentrated in electronics, electrical machinery, automobile and truck related areas, petroleum refining, and lumber and wood.

A chart of wages paid by North Carolina manufacturing firms shows that apparel, lumber and wood, furniture, food processing, and textiles all fall below the average paid in this state. Other categories pay above average, with tobacco, paper, and chemicals coming at the upper end of the scale.

So when textiles, on the lower end of the pay scale, is replaced by higher-wage industries, state officials see this as healthy. Textiles represented nearly 40 percent of the entire manufacturing labor force just 10 years ago, but now is about 30 percent. Still, the industry provides about a quarter of a million jobs for Tar Heels. Apparel firms employ nearly 90,000.

Losses

The biggest economic blow in 1979 was closing of Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co. at Durham where 616 jobs were lost. The Kerr Finishing plant at Concord closed, eliminating 426 jobs.

In Guilford County, two textile firms and two furniture firms accounted for 685 lost jobs. A General Electric transformer plant at Hickory laid off 250 workers, and Lenoir-Hickory Knitting Mills in Caldwell County closed with a loss of 200 jobs.

Other Editors Say More For Dogs

(The Raleigh Times)

There are many good reasons why the state should spend more money than it does now on the care of foster children.

A fact cited by Jane Richardson, a Raleigh foster parent testifying recently before the State Social Service Commission, dramatizes the degree of state neglect in providing for these children. Mrs. Richardson pointed out that the state pays a board rate of only $135 a month per child to foster parents. That averages out at $4 a day.

"Most kennels in Raleigh will not even board a dog for less than $5 a day," she said.

Money isn't the total answer for improving the lot of foster children. The permanent home program recommended to the General Assembly by the N.C. Coalition for Foster Children can provide the stable, on-going, loving family care for foster children that money alone could never buy, but can help make possible.

By revamping state laws governing foster children so that adoption is more feasible, the state can open up a whole new avenue of hope for these children, many of whom are shuttled from one foster home to another with little hope of a permanent home.

The painful hurt to these youngsters and the sometimes permanent damage that costs society thousands of dollars later could be substantially reduced if they could be adopted more easily by adults willing not only to give them care but also to bring lasting love and continuity to their lives.

Legislation proposed during the 1979 General Assembly calls for $1.4 million to establish an adoption clearing house and provide legal assistance to help counties free children for adoption and subsidies for families who adopt handicapped children.

We can't think of a program more humane and deserving of the legislature's attention and the public's support.

Strength For Today

BELIEF IS THE KEY
What does it mean to be a Christian?

If we say that a Christian is a person who tries to be like Christ, we oversimplify the issue. Christianity is more than action; it involves belief. Actually, Christian life starts with belief, and any attempt on our part to live what we call the Christian life without any relation whatsoever to firm belief is destined to end in ignominious failure.

When St. Paul was asked by the Philippian jailer what it meant to be saved, the Apostle responded, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, thou and thy house."

The Christian life begins with the act of believing. Of course, if it stops there, it is nothing but pretense. The belief must lead us on to a way of life, but to talk about this way of life without assuming the belief is to put the cart before the horse. Under these circumstances we can make no spiritual progress.

Handguns, Conspiracies

MANCHESTER, N.H. — That great glacial mass known as Campaign '80 has now moved out of New Hampshire, leaving behind a terminal moraine of buttons, bumper stickers, sample ballots and bruised ambitions. Without rehashing the results, let me return to a couple of factors that figured in the presidential primary.

I have in mind the growls of the gun nuts and the cries of the conspiracy kooks. There comes a time, it seems to me, when an otherwise admirable tolerance of the irrational runs out. My own reservoirs of patience have just run dry.

Toward the end of the campaign, the Gun Owners of New Hampshire staged a major rally in a Concord restaurant. Five or six hundred members turned out. All the candidates except Edward Kennedy appeared. With the sole, shining exception of John Anderson of Illinois, the whole covey of candidates simply groveled for the gun vote. The raucous, unruly crowd booed and heckled Anderson until he scarcely could be heard.

Anderson favors the licensing of handguns; he compares this to the licensing of automobiles. In my own view, this is a lousy idea; the analogy doesn't hold up. No plan of gun registration or gun licensing will affect the criminal bent on armed robbery. But Anderson was the only candidate who had the guts to suggest that something more is needed than windy talk about constitutional rights.

The gun nuts incessantly cite the Second Amendment. Well, we had lawyers on the platform — Connally, Baker and Dole. We had an expert professor in Phil Crane and a Phi Beta Kappa in George Bush. I kept waiting — waiting in vain — for any one of them to quote the whole of the Second Amendment to the crowd. What the amendment says is that "a well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

The first, controlling clause simply gets dropped down the memory hole. It would have been a blessing to hear one of these prospective presidents gently suggest that murdering hoodlums have nothing whatever to do with the well-regulated militia that is necessary to the security of a free state. The mind boggles at the lunatic notion that a bandit has a "God-given right" to a Saturday night special, yet that is where the tunnel vision of the gun lobby inevitably takes us. In any given year we have 20,000 murders in the U.S., half of them committed by persons using handguns. But instead of using their influence to restrict the availability of these non-sporting firearms, gun owners shout down every effort to search for a rational answer.

The conspiracy kooks are worse than the gun nuts. These numbskulls have fixed upon the theory that the Council on Foreign Relations and the Trilateral Commission are engaged in some insidious conspiracy to surrender our free republic to the Jewish bankers and the dirty Commies. In New Hampshire the kooks were breathing hard on George Bush because he had been a member of the horrible CFR.

The council, created in 1921, is composed of 2,000 national members and 3,000 local members who share a common interest in foreign affairs around the globe. The smaller Trilateral Commission, limited to 250 members, was created in 1973; its concerns go only to North America, Europe and Japan. David Rockefeller is chairman of

Schumann Is Not Kidding

By BARBARA M. MORRIS

The disastrous decline in SAT scores and rampant illiteracy tells the world that American education is a failure. It also tells taxpayers the education establishment is taking public monies under false pretenses. It must be — for how else can the debacle be explained?

How can kids attend school for 12 years and know so little upon graduation? The answer, as increasing numbers of parents know, is that the place called "school" does not exist to transmit a traditional body of knowledge. Rather, that which is known as "education" is little more than a semantic cover-up for what really goes on beyond the closed classroom door: teachers now known as "change agents" facilitating social change.

And the change agents are becoming very brazen, they are right up front about what they are doing. In spite of all the talk about getting "back to basics", basics is the last thing they care about. And it's not getting better. For example, Paul F. Schumann, Director of Secondary Education at Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles says, "History and Geography Should be Scrapped" in the January 1980 issue of Educational Leadership. Do you believe it?

Where is it going to end? What else can the change agents eliminate and still have the audacity to call their thing "education"?

As they currently exist in government schools, history and geography offer very little history and geography. In fact, these subjects are little more than vehicles for promoting everything from global interdependence to social and political revolution. For an educationist to come right out and advocate scrapping even the appearance of these subjects is an indication of the arrogance of the change agents. They must really think they have it made.

Schumann says, "I weep each spring when I see thousands of high school students approach their study of the Civil War in American history classes while dozens of contemporary social and political problems go undiscussed. Countless seniors study the steps by which a bill becomes law ... but don't even have a rudimentary understanding of consumer economics ... I say let's scrap conventional history and geography, grades four through 12, and start from a new philosophical perspective."

He's not kidding. He's dead serious. What does this "new philosophical perspective" include? During high school, Schumann would have pupils "give of themselves" (a la Red China) a full half year of social service in the local community, working in or for homes for the aged, convalescent homes, mental hospitals or drug abuse centers. In addition to this involuntary servitude, he would subject his captive audience to "two nine-weeks blocks of psychology — what makes us tick, what are our values, what is life all about, where we are going ..." — all concerns that used to be the province of the home and church.

But that's not all. Schumann also wants a solid quarter of consumer economics which he considers "fundamental concepts that can and must be taught to all youth." Isn't it interesting that learning to read is not given the same priority?

There would also be a unit on the "emerging" adolescent with an emphasis on sex education, study of "what makes humans human," a unit on parenting and "the development of a personal philosophy of life". Does any parent think that "personal philosophy of life" is going to be a Judeo-Christian philosophy? Hardly, since God has been outlawed in the government schools.

Schumann is well aware of the truth that those who don't know history are doomed to repeat it. He brushes it off by asking, "...how many people are in a position to make momentous decisions...?"

Well of course! In a dictatorship where you are required to work for the benefit of the state, there is no need to know anything. You do as you are told and you believe what you are told to believe. Your vote is meaningless.

History does repeat itself, and Schumann's totalitarian proposal is proof that it does.

"Public education" anyone?

To the editor:

I would like to pay tribute to principals, teachers of vocational education and the students who participated in National Vocational Education Week. For those of the general public who did not have an opportunity to view the exhibits placed in Carolina East Mall, you missed a real treat. You would have been surprised and pleased with the quality of work done by high school students.

Carolyn Gorham and Carl Toot of my office and Don McLane of Rose High are to be especially commended for the leadership they provided in pulling together a truly fine program observing the work of vocational teachers.

And then, I most certainly want to give credit to local industrial and business firms who worked hand-in-hand with the public schools. This is the kind of partnership which must exist if we are going to prepare our high school graduates to enter the world of work and thereby take their place in society.

Productivity Decline Related

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Americans have known for at least 15 years that they have been slipping behind other countries in the rate at which they improve their production efficiency.

They have known, but maybe haven't cared, though the steady decline has coincided with inflation.

The relationship still may not be comprehended, even after Congress' Joint Economic Committee last year released to a people accustomed to higher living standards a conclusion designed to startle.

Said the committee: "The average American is likely to see his standard of living drastically decline in the 1980s unless the United States accelerates its rate of productivity growth."

For many Americans the process has begun; hourly workers in 1979 earned about 6 percent or 7 percent more than in 1978 in terms of dollars, but with inflation of 13.4 percent their takehome pay was less.

Still, says C. Jackson Grayson Jr., chairman and founder of the American Productivity Center, whose mission is to raise the efficiency of American output, millions might still not comprehend the message.

Can people understand?, he was asked. "If they're afraid enough," he replied.

But, said Grayson, who was President Nixon's price commissioner, an experience that convinced him that controls don't work, too seldom is the connection made between inflation and low productivity.

The relationship is direct. If it costs less to turn out a product then all — shareholders, employees and purchasers, benefit — without depriving the other of their share.

Government intervention in the marketplace, some of it necessary, is one cause for the lag of growth in productivity, Grayson says. Tax disincentives to investments are another, he believes.

Grayson would like to see annual reports include a productivity measurement along with the money measures. High productivity, he feels, would show that management was looking to the future, building the company's strength rather than squeezing out quick dollars.

He is distressed at how little business knows about productivity. "I keep telling business people they don't know as much about it as they think they do," he says.

Individual companies, mainly small and medium size, can call the Houston center and receive answers to their questions, and even have individual surveys made and their future performance monitored.

Anti-Trust Suit Result Long Investigation

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — An eight-month investigation of chlorine sales in North Carolina climaxed Wednesday when the state attorney general's office announced it had filed suit accusing four chemical companies of price-fixing on chlorine bids across the state.

The suit was filed in Wake

County Superior Court this week.

The companies cited in the suit are Jones Chemical Co. of Caledonia, N.Y.; Suffolk Chemical Co. of Suffolk, Va.; Moreland-McKesson Co. of Spartanburg, S.C.; and Thompson-Haywood Chemical Co. of Kansas City, Kan.

During 1979, cities and counties in North Carolina purchased as much as $6 million worth of chlorine for water and sewer treatment, according to an official of the state environmental management division.

Figures for state chlorine purchases were not available but a state purchasing office official said the state buys a relatively small amount.

Carlton said the companies charged are "repackers" that distribute chlorine to distributors across the state. He said local distributors that are not affiliated with the four companies, even though they also submitted bids identical to the four, will not be charged.

He said the state decided to file charges against those repackers because they set the price for the local distributors.

If the companies are found guilty the state could receive triple damages while cities and counties could be awarded up to $5,000 per violation from each company, Carlton said.

both outfits. Most of the 65 American members of the commission also are members of the council.

And so what? In a free society, persons who share common interests have every right to free association. They have every right to try to influence public policies. The two organizations are no more insidious and probably are less influential than the American Security Council and the American Enterprise Institute. They are less secret than college fraternities or the Loyal Order of the Moose.

It is a futile exercise, I know, to contend with paranoids who dearly love their conspiracy theories. What would they do without David Rockefeller to denounce? Here in New Hampshire, Bush was constantly belabored by these hot-eyed apostles of I-see-a-plot. He did his best to talk sense into their addled heads, but I doubt he made any headway — and Campaign '80 has yet a long way to go.

and Randolph County losses totaled 490 in apparel and textiles.

At Rocky Mount, a bakery closed costing 191 jobs, and another 50 bakery workers were dismissed at another firm. Two firms closed in Richmond County costing 225 jobs, both were apparel related.

Those were the largest losses suffered. Other communities lost a variety of jobs, including a layoff of 80 workers at the Hatteras Yachts works at New Bern; 100 workers dismissed at a shoe factory at Waynesville; and 39 jobs lost when an auto clock plant at Elkin closed.

Tracked Phone Call By Escapee

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP) — While a reporter kept a jail escapee on the phone for 1½ hours, police traced and recaptured him.

William Blankenship, 20, was caught Tuesday after calling the Oroville Mercury-Register to talk about the paper's coverage of his escape the day before.

Judy Stanley, 26, put him or hold three times while she phoned police, let them into the office and showed them how to listen in on the call. Blankenship was serving six months on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, writing bad checks and drunk driving.

A spokesman for the Jones company declined comment and representatives of the Suffolk and Thompson-Haywood companies could not be reached Wednesday for comment.

Claim Slaughter Of Dolphins

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese fishermen, insisting they were protecting their livelihood against "gangsters of the sea," killed hundreds of dolphins today despite the outraged objections of conservationists. It was the second dolphin massacre in Japan in two years.

Greenpeace Foundation, the environmentalist group, lodged a formal protest with the Japanese government as the dolphin toll on western Japan's Iki Island reportedly rose past the 1,000 mark.

"They've been methodically slaughtering them," Susan Cate, a Greenpeace official, told The Associated Press in a telephone interview, adding that she had obtained the figure from the fishermen themselves.

The fishermen were killing the sea mammals with long knives and clubs and feeding the carcasses into a shredding machine that reduced them to pulp for fertilizer, witnesses said.

"The machine is dripping with blood. I've never seen anything like it," said Jim Nollman, of Bolinas, Calif.

Just two years ago, the fishermen of Iki, 1,200 miles southwest of Tokyo, caused a worldwide uproar after butchering 1,000 dolphins. Japanese embassies across the world were swamped with protest letters and a movement was started in the United States to boycott Japanese products in protest.

Nollman has been in the Iki area, near the city of Nagasaki, testing acoustical equipment designed to scare the dolphins away from the fishing grounds to avoid the mass killings.

"What's really frustrating is that the equipment works," Nollman said. "The fishermen have seen it work, but they've decided once and for all that they're going to get rid of all the dolphins in the area."

A study by the World Wildlife Fund has estimated that there are some 40,000 of the bottle-nose dolphins in the area. The fishermen claim the mammals consume vast amounts of the yellowtail, cuttlefish and other fish on which they depend to earn a living.

Navy Is Investigating 2 Sailors Who Posed For Playboy Photos

By NORM CLARKE
Associated Press Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Lisa Ann Woolf, in hot water with the Navy for posing nude in Playboy magazine, prefers to think of herself as "a good sailor" who spruced up the swabby's image.

"Before I joined up I thought all women sailors were big, ugly and had hair on their chests," said the 5-foot-2, 110-pound Miss Woolf, a machinist aboard the San Diego-based Samuel Gompers, a destroyer tender.

"Maybe this will show the men that there are some pretty women in the Navy," said Miss Woolf, who last year was among the first women stationed aboard a Navy ship.

Because she and a friend, Susan Gage, are among six military women featured in next month's Playboy, the Navy has launched an investigation that could cost them their jobs.

The controversy erupted last week, forcing Bambi Lynn Finney, 22, out of the Marine Corps on an early discharge.

A total of six women representing the Navy, Army, Air Force and Coast Guard appear in Playboy's April edition.

The fate of Miss Woolf and Miss Gage, a 22-year-old interior communications technician, will be determined by their respective commanding officers, a Navy spokesman said.

Both are scheduled to be promoted, but, because of the investigation, Miss Woolf said she has been advised that her promotion has been held up.

"They have to decide whether it's degrading to the service," she said.

She accepted the magazine's offer to be in the pictorial layout after answering a newspaper ad.

"I called my mom and dad before I posed and they said go ahead. We were not raised to be ashamed of our bodies," she said.

"Why do people automatically think you are some floozy or something?" asked Miss Woolf. "I didn't do it for dates. I have a steady boyfriend and I love him very much. It was an exciting thing to do, an opportunity I would never have again."

"My boyfriend's not too happy about it," she added.

In the magazine, the two women appear bottomless aboard a sailboat against a backdrop of Naval ships. Another photograph shows Miss Gage, of Lancaster, Calif., on roller skates on the Broadway Pier.

As a machinist, Miss Woolf has two years left on a four-year hitch. She said the men in her command "are proud of me. They know I'm a good person and a good sailor."

INVESTIGATED — Lisa Ann Woolf, 21, is under investigation by the Navy for posing in Playboy magazine. The machinist said she's "a good sailor" who helped spruce up the swabby's image. (AP Laserphoto)

Released From Her TV Series

NEW YORK (AP) — Two tapings shy of the season's end, Mackenzie Phillips is leaving "One Day at a Time," the Daily News reports.

She had asked for, and received, release from her role as the brash Julie Cooper in the hit CBS show.

"It's an amicable parting. Everybody likes her and we don't want to hold her to her contract against her will," a spokesman for Norman Lear's T.A.T. Communications said.

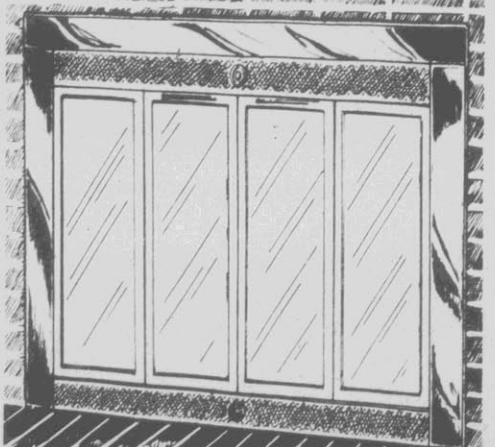

The 19-year-old actress "feels that she has outgrown the role, that she has stagnated in the part of the teen-age daughter. We may bring in a new character next season to replace her," the spokesman said.

Miss Phillips had returned to the program last month after several weeks off to recuperate from an illness. At her request last fall, she went to a drug diversion program after she was found semiconscious on a Hollywood street.

Gave Up At A Breaking Point

By YVONNE CHILIK
Associated Press Writer
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — After living for four years "like a fugitive, looking over her shoulder and jumping at the slightest sound," a former bank teller emptied $52,500 from a laundry bag onto a U.S. Magistrate's desk and surrendered, officials said.

Margaret Veca, 28, disappeared in 1976 with $95,000 from a Hoboken bank where she had been entrusted with a vault key, authorities said. She turned herself in Tuesday. She has been sought by the FBI since June 1, 1976, when officials at the Washington Savings Bank discovered money from the vault she was to lock up before the Memorial Day holiday was missing. She appeared Wednesday before U.S. Magistrate Serena Perretti with her family, a 3½-year-old son and William Kelly III, her boyfriend with whom she disappeared. Federal authorities, unsure why she abruptly reappeared, say the pressure of hiding may have reached the breaking point.

"She looks like she's 40," said a federal official who asked not to be identified. "They lived like moles for the past 3½ years. They never went out into the sunlight, they were afraid to go anywhere because they might have been recognized," he said. The couple moved from apartment to apartment, officials said, living in three different places since their disappearance, including Long Branch and Bradley Beach. They apparently spent only enough of the money to survive, and even stopped buying meat a few months ago because "they said they couldn't afford it," the official said. Ms. Veca is charged with embezzling the funds on May 28, 1976, after she was told by bank officials to lock the vault and set time locks before leaving for the holiday weekend. When officials returned the following Tuesday, the time locks were off and the money was gone, according to a complaint signed by Perretti. Federal officials speculate that family pressure because of a pregnancy, might have prompted her to "take the money and run." Described as a "good kid," Ms. Veca did well in school and was involved in church activities, childhood friends said. She had worked as a teller at the bank for about a year before her disappearance. Other employees told federal authorities Ms. Veca was the last person they would suspect. "It just shows you how a couple can ruin their lives," said the federal official, who said Ms. Veca looked "haggard" at her preliminary hearing. Kelly, 29, a former chemical operator, has not been charged in the embezzlement. Ms. Veca was released on a $50,000 personal recognizance bond.

Again Calls On Russians

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Chancellor Helmut Schmidt called again Thursday on the Soviet Union to withdraw from Afghanistan and hinted strongly West Germany will boycott of the Moscow Olympics.

In the opening speech of a foreign policy debate in the Bundestag, Schmidt said West Germany, as well as "the great majority of the peoples of the world" demanded "a prompt end to the Soviet military intervention."

"The Federal Republic is also of the opinion that it is up to the Soviet Union to create the conditions in which teams from all countries can participate in the Games," Schmidt told the delegates.

"These conditions do not exist — or should I say, do not yet exist, at the present time."

Schmidt noted that national Olympic committees have until late May to accept or reject formal invitations to the Summer Games in Moscow.

President Carter has called for a U.S. boycott of the Moscow Olympics.

Schmidt said, "We assume that the European and American position will at least by this time come together. In this regard may I add: I want to encourage no wishful thinking on account of the Summer Games."

Earlier this month, U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance failed to gain a public promise from the West Germans that they would boycott the Games to protest the Soviet incursion into Afghanistan.

Schmidt told foreign reporters at the time that he wanted to give "everyone time to create the conditions for all teams to participate."

Police List 2 Collisions

An estimated $3,100 property damage resulted from two traffic collisions investigated yesterday by Greenville Police.

Investigators reported heaviest damage resulted from a 5:41 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Elm Street, involving cars driven by Brenda Revels Vickers of 1604 Longwood Dr., and Sandra Batten Peaden of Washington.

Officers estimated damage from the collision at $800 to the Vickers car and $1,500 to the Peaden auto.

An 8:15 a.m. collision at the intersection of Club Pines and Memorial Drive involved cars driven by John Moutrie Burns of 536 Crestline Blvd., and Rachel Sylvia Corey of 219 Woodhaven Rd.

Police set damage at $700 to the Burns car and $100 to the Corey auto.

Siamese Twins Fail Separation

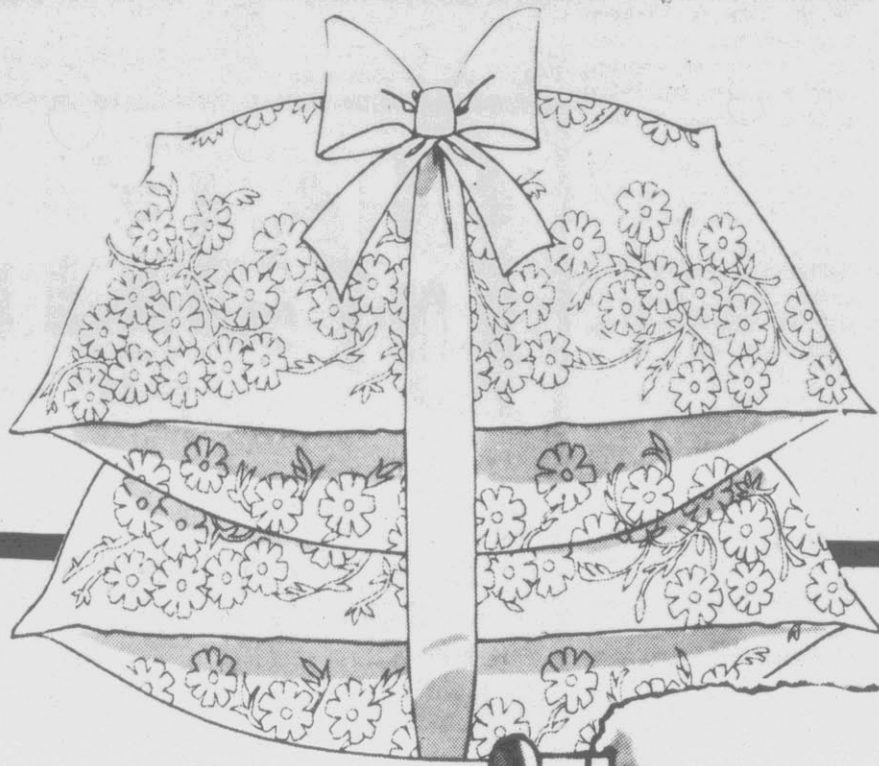

HOUSTON (AP) — One Siamese twin died during separation surgery, and the other died about three hours later at Texas Children's Hospital, authorities say.

The twins, Ivette and Ivonne Falcon de Morales, born in Puerto Rico last month, were joined from the upper chest to the lower abdomen.

Ivette, the weaker of the two, died during the one-hour surgery Wednesday by heart surgeon Dr. Denton Cooley, and Ivonne died about 7:30 p.m. Two sets of similarly joined twins have been successfully separated at Texas Children's Hospital since 1965.

approval of O and I-2. Bill Brown, a resident of St. Andrews Drive, expressed concern at the "chipping away" of residential property in the area, particularly the area behind the Wachovia Computer Center. Brown suggested that the matter be tabled until the Council acts on the new zone.

In another matter involving the O and I zone, commissioners voted to recommend that the request of D. G. Nichols for rezoning four acres on Greenville Boulevard, just west of King's Department Store and Winn-Dixie, from R-9 to O and I be approved.

Attorney Fred Mattox, representing Nichols, said that Nichols was seeking the existing O and I classification rather than the proposed O and I-2 zone. Mattox, acknowledging that the commission members could not contract zone, explained that the residents of Brentwood, located adjacent to the Nichols property, have signed a document with Nichols which restricts the types of development that can be undertaken on the tract. The attorney noted that the residents do not oppose Nichols development plans.

"As far as I know, no one is opposed," Mattox said, adding that the "neighborhood feels it can live with it."

Mattox reported that the matter has been under discussion for over five years and he added that the O and I-2 zone did not exist during those discussions. He said that the covenants agreed to by the residents refer to the existing O and I zone and to switch to the new classification would cause the developers problems.

He said that it was inconsequential as far as the board is concerned but very important "to our situation." The restrictive covenants were recorded on Jan. 31 of 1977, he added. Mattox mentioned that if the developers could have "gotten here four months ago, we would not have this problem."

Roberson said that O and I as it now exists is not a bad solution to the development problems involved with the tract.

Commissioner William Gibbs said that he was concerned as to being consistent in the board's recommendation to the Council, considering its endorsement of the new O and I-2 zoning classification.

Board members voted unanimously to recommend rezoning to the existing O and I classification.

In other business on the city agenda, commissioners gave their approval to the final plat of Town Park, located on the south side of W. Fifth Street between the Carolina Telephone Co. property and the Greenville City Schools property. Approval was also given to the sedimentation and erosion control plan of Town Park.

Joint board members voted to recommend that the Council approve the request of McAllister and Ayers for rezoning 16.7 acres on the east side of the Allen Road, south of Southern Railroad, from RA-20 to R-6. The developers intend to serve the area with sewer service, at their expense, it was reported.

Approval was also recommended for the request by Harry A. Hardee for rezoning 11 acres on the west side of NC 43 (New Bern Highway) north of Bell's Fork from RA-20 to Highway Commercial.

Roberson said that the tract initially was proposed for rezoning last February and the planning board felt at that time that rezoning, if any, should be for neighborhood commercial use. Problems were related as to strip development in the area, he recalled.

The planning official said that since that time, a connector has been added to the Thoroughfare Plan that would transect the tract. He said that it is now felt that the property south of the proposed connector would lend itself more to commercial development. Adjacent property would be best utilized for high density development and he suggested consideration be given to rezoning of the adjacent tract from RA-20 to R-6.

Commissioners voted to recommend approval of a request by David Evans Sr. for rezoning 5.8 acres in Quail Ridge development across from Windy Ridge on 14th Street Extension from R-6 to Neighborhood Commercial.

Roberson said that the city has to make a determination as to what is best suited commercially for the 14th Street Extension area. He noted that people living in that area now generally have to travel into the city for their goods.

He added that the planning staff feels that while ten to 15 acres of shopping center development would not be feasible for the area, five to six acres would be suitable.

Bill Clark, representing the developers, explained that the general concept for the neighborhood commercial development is that it will not be a heavy traffic center but aimed at meeting the needs of over 300 families living within walking distance of the development.

Clark said that the small neighborhood commercial development would incorporate the same design utilized in the residential structures and would generally blend in with the overall Quail Ridge project. Clark cited the investment of the developers in the project and he said they would not put something in the development that would detract.

It was suggested that the proposed neighborhood commercial development could possibly get by with only one access cut on 14th Street Extension.

Commissioners voted to recommend that the zoning regulations be amended to permit construction of duplexes in the Downtown Commercial Fringe (CDF) zone. The action was a result of a request from C. E. Kavanaugh to consider an amendment.

Kavanaugh, it was noted, owns property in a CDF zone that is currently used as a rental structure for residential purposes. Kavanaugh told the board that the energy situation has made it difficult for one family to rent a structure and pay utility bills for a high amount of square footage. He suggested that if the property could be utilized as a duplex with two tenants sharing the overall square footage, it would be more feasible.

Roberson said that a great deal of property now exists in CDF zones that should be residential. Inclusion of duplexes in the CDF zone would allow multi-family

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former government informant repeated under oath today that he was told that a North Carolina lawyer, now under consideration to be a federal judge, agreed to "fix" a court case with money.

James McTighe, 28, of Raleigh, N.C., testified at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on President Carter's nomination of Charles Winberry

Their Facts 'Jumbled'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Their hearts are in the right place, but the Tennessee legislators who are drafting resolutions to honor people around the state got their facts a bit jumbled.

Take the resolution that "congratulates Owen Maddox and Hollin Williams on the occasion of their business' twentieth anniversary."

Well, Chattanooga Service Auto Parts is 22 years old, and Maddox has bought out Williams.

"It's kind of strange really," said Maddox.

Among those in line for congratulations is Marty Browning, "an exceptional University of Tennessee majorette."

But Miss Browning "left after the fall quarter. She said she doesn't know for sure," a school spokesman said.

Then there's the resolution praising Lenoir City's high school football coach Scott Conner. And he's not even in the state any more.

"He has resigned and is teaching at a high school in North Carolina," says principal Rick Smotherman.

Another resolution praises Sarah Sands of Sweetwater for the first of three volumes on Monroe County's history.

"Actually, it's volume two that's finished," Mrs. Sands said. "I'm still working on the first."

usage of some of the property.

Approval was given to the preliminary plat of the property of James Lindsay Savage, located on the south side of US 264 Business across from Westwood Subdivision.

Board members welcomed Sidney Warner as a new member of the joint commission of Rocky Mount, N.C., to be a U.S. district judge.

McTighe said Winberry's name came up during a conversation he had with Gordon Dildy of Wilson, N.C., who he said had recruited him in 1977 as "front man" for an illegal cigarette sales operation.

McTighe said he asked Dildy what would happen if he were arrested. He said Dildy reassured him that he had recently had a case fixed for another front man, getting him off with probation instead of a prison sentence.

"He said he approached an official of the court about the possibility of a fix and that official referred him to Charles

Wilson, who spent most of the session on the witness stand, also identified a variety of photographs taken at the Ross property in July.

The SBI agent, using a graphic illustration of the Ross property layout, indicated to the jury the location of various structures on the 32-acre tract, including the Ross house, a storage facility located behind the house, and a mobile home where the marijuana was seized. Wilson estimated that the mobile structure was approximately 100 feet from the house.

Wilson, using a photograph to illustrate his testimony, pointed out a footpath from the Ross residence to the mobile home, and also a U-Haul trailer backed up to the mobile structure.

Wilson testified that after obtaining a search warrant, officers drove onto the Ross property on July 23 and observed "four Latin males" running from the house trailer. He said that the four men were apprehended and officers entered the trailer where they found Louise Whitehurst.

According to Wilson, windows in the trailer were covered from the inside with dark green plastic bags, taped to the inside of the window frames. The bales of marijuana, he testified, were found in various areas and one bale was discovered in the doorway, broken open.

Agents of the SBI, Greenville Police and Federal Drug Administration investigators were involved in the raid.

Winberry," McTighe said. "He approached Mr. Winberry and Mr. Winberry said the money arrangements would have to be in cash, but he felt sure he could do something for him."

On Wednesday, Winberry testified that he received a fee of $6,250 for representing David Windham in November 1976. He said he was paid by check and identified a copy of the check he was given. Windham was fined and placed on probation

Hopes Futility Is Recognized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warring factions in Cambodia may see the value of an international peace conference once they realize more fighting would be useless, says Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia.

Sihanouk, who met Wednesday with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, said he sees no hope for peace in his homeland until China, the Soviet Union and Vietnam decide the forces they support cannot win a battlefield victory. But he said that, so far, those countries have shown no interest in his proposal for an international conference.

Productivity Report Revised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The productivity of American workers and businesses declined in the fourth quarter of last year — but not as much as initially reported.

The Labor Department said Wednesday that the decline in productivity, which measures how many goods and services are produced in an hour of paid working time, declined at an annual rate of 0.6 percent in the fourth quarter. Earlier figures had put the decline at 1.6 percent.

by U.S. District Judge John Larkin.

Winberry testified that he entered the case, as co-counsel with Windham's lawyer, John Clark, on Friday, Nov. 12. Windham pleaded no contest to the mail fraud charge against him on the following Monday.

Both Dildy and Windham declined to answer questions about the case, citing their right under the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution to refuse to incriminate themselves.

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., said he believed they had waived this privilege by giving a sworn affidavit to a Senate investigator earlier. He said he might ask the committee to cite them for contempt of Congress.

Clark testified that he did not provide any legal services for Dildy in 1977, although he has in other years from 1974 to the present.

He said he could not remember when Winberry entered the Windham case, although his telephone records showed a call to Winberry on Nov. 5, 1976.

Carl Tillman, who was the acting U.S. attorney at the time, testified that Windham did not agree to name his confederates as part of a plea bargain and did not, in fact, name them.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Snow is expected in the period until Friday morning from the northern to the central Plains. Cold weather is due from the northern Plains into most of the East. Warm weather is predicted from the Southwest across the southern tier of states to Florida. (AP Laserphoto Map)

Skiers in the western North Carolina mountains may find the weather to their liking for the next several days while others will find it a bit cold for outdoor activities. Temperatures were expected to be near normal again today, with the highs ranging from the 30s in the northwest to the 50s in the southeast. There also was the possibility of snow showers in the northwest and the chance of showers over the northern Piedmont today. Meanwhile, more cold is on the way from Canada. Winds will be shifting to the north tonight, bringing in colder air through Friday. Low temperatures tonight are expected to drop to the teens in the mountains and range in the 20s elsewhere. Cold winds will keep a chill in the air Friday with highs for the day expected to hold in the 30s in the mountains and mostly in the 40s elsewhere. Temperatures varied considerably around the state Wednesday, reaching a high of 58 in Wilmington. In the mountains, Boone had a high of 35. A chance of rain will prevail over the state Saturday and over the east Sunday. The rain may be mixed with snow in the mountains Saturday. Weekend highs will range from the 40s in the mountains to the 50s along the coast.

Home Mortgage Interest Up

By GLENN RITT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Homebuyers, beginning today, will have to pay up to a record 13 percent interest for government-backed mortgages. It's the second increase in less than three weeks.

Acting simultaneously, the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration on Wednesday increased the maximum interest rate they charge on home mortgages by 1 percent. Meanwhile, the government temporarily put a lid of 12 percent on the interest earned on 2 1/2-year savings certificates bought in March — despite a formula providing for interest of up to 13.5 percent.

Wednesday's announcements, which came within three hours of each other, represent additional reactions to the Federal Reserve Board's tight-money policies, aimed at cooling inflation.

The VA-FHA action follows a Feb. 11 boost from 11.5 percent to 12 percent for single-family mortgages and from 11 percent to 12 percent for multi-family mortgages.

Interest rates were also increased for mobile-home loans, from 14.5 percent to 15.5 percent; for mobile homes with a lot, from 14 percent to 15 percent, and for property improvements, from 14 percent to 15.5 percent.

"With the prevailing mortgage rates and the recent action of the Federal Reserve Board, we had no alternative," said Moon Landrieu, secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

The Federal Reserve increased its lending rate to member banks from 12 percent to 13 percent, forcing banks to boost the rates charged their customers to levels sometimes exceeding 16 percent. Last May, government-backed mortgage rates were at 10 percent — at that time a record.

At 10 percent, a homeowner would pay $355.42 a month to carry a $40,500, 30-year mortgage, says Thomas Parliament, an economist at the U.S. League of Savings Associations.

The same mortgage at today's 13 percent rate would cost $448.01, or an additional $92 a month, he said.

Despite this extra burden, Landrieu called the interest rate increase "necessary" to keep the FHA and VA housing market alive.

Many home-sellers are unwilling to do business with buyers who qualify for VA and FHA mortgages, he said. That's because sellers must pay up to 15 points on such mortgages.

A point equals 1 percent of the mortgage amount. Points are one-time premiums imposed by commercial lenders to offset the loss they would incur by lending money at the lower, government-backed rates.

Even at 13 percent, VA and FHA interest rates are about 1 percentage point under conventional mortgages.

Couple Turned Over To Face N.C. Drug Action

NEW YORK (AP) — A newsdealer in the Manhattan Criminal Court building and his wife were turned over to North Carolina authorities Wednesday for extradition to that state to face charges of heroin trafficking.

Matthew Parks, 61, and his wife, Nettie, 52, of Cambria Heights, Queens, are among about 40 persons indicted in Wayne County, N. C. in connection with a billion-dollar heroin ring, according to Queens District Attorney John Santucci.

Mrs. Parks is the sister of Leslie "Ike" Atkinson, described by Santucci as one of the "Country Boys" gang, along with Frank and Harry Lucas, and believed to be the chief rivals of LeRoy "Nicky" Barnes in the narcotics trade.

Santucci said that during a two-day hearing on the extradition of the Parkses testimony was heard about a conversation in which Parks allegedly told Atkinson that he had two or three kilos of heroin he was keeping for "Ike" in the Brooklyn Federal Building.

where Parks formerly operated a newsstand.

Members of the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation were in state Supreme Court in Kew Gardens, Queens, to take custody of the couple after the extradition was ordered.

They were supposed to arrive in North Carolina late Wednesday night. Santucci said that from the airport the couple were to be taken by car to the Wayne County jail in Goldsboro.

The Queens district attorney said the investigation of the "Country Boys" began in Queens and later spread to Manhattan and the Bronx and into other states. He said his office has been cooperating with Wayne County authorities on the case.

Photographers Got A Lawsuit

PARIS (AP) — There's such a "strong fascination" about Marlene Dietrich that two freelance photographers hoisted themselves up on a crane to a fourth-floor window to get her picture.

They got slapped with a lawsuit instead. Miss Dietrich on Wednesday sued Bruno Mouron, 25, and Bernard Wiss, 27, for about $7,300 for invasion of privacy.

French laws strongly favor celebrities against invasions of privacy. But the photographers' lawyer told the judge their action was justified because the German-born actress "continues to exercise a strong fascination."

He also said they never actually took any pictures.

Miss Dietrich, 74, lives in secluded retirement in Paris and was not in the courtroom. The verdict is to be announced March 26.

Contact Results In Immunizing

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — About 200 people who came in contact with two patients suspected of have diphtheria have been immunized, health officials said.

The two patients, a 14-year-old girl and a medical student, have been released from hospitals and are doing fine, a spokeswoman for Children's Hospital of the King's Daughters said.

Diphtheria, a highly infectious disease, has almost disappeared in this country since mass immunization began after World War II.

More Than Voice Via Telephone

WASHINGTON (AP) — An electronics industry newsletter says that one of these days, you might be able to send more over the telephone than just your voice.

"Electronic Mail and Message Systems" says Touch-Tone phone receivers may one day give way to a "Touch-Fone" — a telephone with a hand attached to it. The "hand" would be capable of "pointing, feeling, touching, caressing, etc., under remote control over a telephone line," the newsletter said. The newsletter suggests several business applications, including routine handshakes and signing documents by long distance.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were mixed in active trading early today, after a broad-selloff in the previous session. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks gained 2.05 to 857.17 in the first half hour of trading after dropping 9.13 points on Wednesday. But in the broad tally of all trading in the early going, losing issues outnumbered gainers by a 54 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

In the economic news early today, there were continued signs of inflation forces. The Labor Department's employment cost index showed wages and salaries rose 2.4 percent in the final quarter of 1979, up from 2.1 percent in the previous quarter. Among actively traded stocks in the early going, IBM rose 1 to 63 after falling 3 points on Wednesday. Texaco slipped 1/4 to 40 1/2 and Mobil gained 1 1/2 to 81 1/2. US Life fell 1/2 to 21 in the early going.

On Wednesday the market turned broadly lower in late trading. At the close of the NYSE declines outnumbered advances by more than a 2-1 margin. Big Board volume totaled 46.43 million shares, against 40 million in the previous session. The NYSE's composite index lost .84 to 64.30.

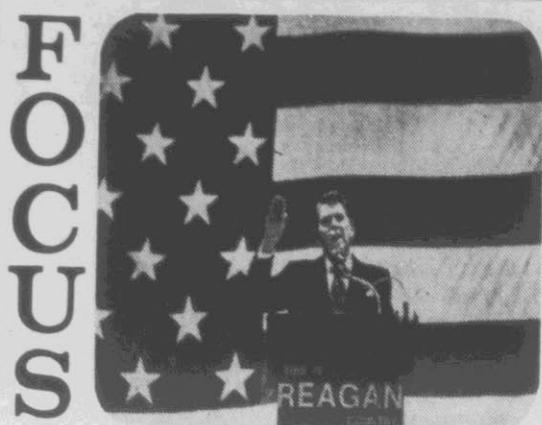

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .44 at 298.27.

Reagan Debates

As recently as last month, Ronald Reagan was refusing to debate his opponents for the Republican presidential nomination. Reagan was considered the front-runner among Republican candidates, and said a debate would only divide the party. But Reagan's opponents strongly criticized him for refusing to debate them in Iowa, and since his loss in that state's January caucus voting, Reagan has become more willing to debate. He has also stepped up his campaign activities in important primary states, frequently attacking the policies of President Carter. Republican presidential candidates again are scheduled to debate today in South Carolina. Among those planning to take part is Ronald Reagan.

First Entry In Shad Festival

GRIFTON — The "shad runs" in Grifton have begun, as the first entry for the 10,000 meter "Spring Shad Run" was received in the mail on the same day as the first hickory shad was caught, Feb. 25.

The first shad is traditionally caught in the annual Grifton Shad Festival Hickory Shad Fishing Contest at Pitchkettle Creek, and this year was no exception.

R. T. Daugherty of Kinston, a World War I veteran, had tried unsuccessfully seven or eight times this year before boating the first shad. He took four in quick succession after having reeled in his prize-winning first catch.

Daugherty also entered the first shad of the season in 1979, on Feb. 28, also taken at Pitchkettle Creek. This year's shad was the identical weight of last year's — 1 pound, 12 ounces.

Paul Breitman of Greenville was the first to register for the "Spring Shad Run" race, which will be held on April 20.

The Shad Festival will feature a wide variety of activities and events. For information, write Grifton Shad Festival, Box 928, Grifton, N.C. 28530.

He said more than 886,000 of the nearly 3 million eligible blacks voted by midafternoon Wednesday. Police reported 15,000 people were waiting in a line four miles long at one polling station.

"If this goes on, it's going to be a big poll," said Boynton.

Reports from around the country indicated that twice as many persons voted than did so last April on the first day of the election that gave Rhodesia its first black-majority government after 90 years of white rule. The difference apparently was due to the participation of guerrilla leaders Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo and their parties, who were excluded from the 1979 vote.

Women Police Back In Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — A four-year battle by the Justice Department to force Philadelphia to hire women police officers is back in court over the issue of threatened layoffs. The Justice Department sought a federal court order Wednesday to prevent Philadelphia officials from including 32 women police officers among the 628 officers to be laid off Friday. Justice attorneys say the 32 women would have had enough seniority to prevent their being laid off if the city had hired them as quickly as the court had ordered. The layoffs are planned to relieve budget problems.

VETERAN ACTOR DIES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Veteran character actor George Tobias, who appeared most recently as the neighbor in the "Bewitched" television series, died of cancer Wednesday. He was 78.

CORRECTION

Dr. Jarrett Barnhill, child psychiatrist consultant at the Pitt County Mental Health Center, was incorrectly identified in Wednesday's "Reflector" as a child psychologist consultant.

Pirates Hang On, Nip Campbell 53-52

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

The youngster and his father walked slowly from Minges Coliseum after last night's game between East Carolina and Campbell.

"Who won, Dad?" the youth asked.

"Didn't you watch the game?" the father replied.

"Yeah, I think we won," the youngster said.

That probably summed up the way a lot of the fans felt afterwards—they thought the Pirates won.

The scoreboard scored it that way anyway, 53-52. It seemed, however, that neither team really wanted the victory.

East Carolina trailed much of the way, leading only briefly at the start of the contest, regaining the margin for the final minute of the first half, then again losing it early in the second. The Bucs trailed by as much as seven in the second stanza, finally taking the lead for good with just over four minutes left on a three-point play by George Maynor.

Even then, after building up a five-point lead, the Pirates' inability to hit at the foul line allowed Campbell to come back and have a chance to win it in the final seconds, before a hook shot by 6-11 Tony Britto bounced off the front of the rim at the buzzer.

"It seemed like we were saying to ourselves at the start of the first half: 'Well, after this, we have only three more halves of basketball to play,'" Coach Dave Odom told the press afterwards. "It wasn't supposed to be that way."

Odom said that he may have been partially at fault because of his pre-game talk with the Pirates. "I may have put them to sleep," he said. "It wasn't what I said but the way I said it. I was very calm and I'm not a calm guy. I don't think I realized what I did until Coach (Eddie) Payne told me later. I told him if I ever did it again to hit me with a wet towel. Being calm and business-like put me out of control the tempo of the game. "Campbell is not the best team we've played, but they are very well coached, and we played right into their hands. We played the game at 40 miles per hour instead of 55."

He also noted that the Pirates still looked out of shape. "We were slow getting back on defense all night. We didn't shoot well in the first half, and that hurt too."

The Pirates shot only 33 percent in the first half, but bounced back with 54.5 percent in the second half.

East Carolina took the initial lead on a basket by George Maynor after 25 seconds, but Campbell tied it up and took a 4-2 lead. After a tap by Herb Gray tied it at 4-4, Campbell hit two more baskets, one each by Darrell Mauldin and Fred Whitfield for an 8-4 lead.

The Pirates managed to tie it at 14-14 and 16-16, but couldn't take the lead until David Underwood hit two free throws after a Gray basket for a 22-20 lead. Campbell again tied it, but Gray slam dunked a rebound with 1:21 left for a 24-22 lead. Both teams missed free throw opportunities in the closing seconds, and with three seconds left, Benston was called for a technical for hanging on the rim also trying to slam dunk a rebound.

Even then, the Pirates couldn't gain, as Herb Krusen's free throw with time expired bounded away, leaving it at 24-22 at intermission.

After two early ties, Whitfield hit on a fast break to put Campbell back up, 28-26. From that, the Camels slowly built up as much as a seven point lead, 36-29. They held that for three exchanges, then saw the Pirates score six straight points, a basket by Maynor, two free throws by Michael Gibson and another Maynor basket, coming after Mark McLaurin stole the inbounds pass after the free throws. That cut it to 40-39.

After tying it twice, 41-41 and 43-43, the Pirates again fell back by three, but Krusen hit from the lane and Gibson scored from underneath with 4:56 left for a 47-46 lead. Rodney McCants made the first of two free throws to tie it up with 4:35 to go, but it was the last time it was knotted.

Maynor hit on a baseline jumper with 4:12 remaining, and added a free throw on a foul called on the play for a 50-47 lead. Gray picked up another basket with 3:38 showing to up the lead to five.

Campbell hit a free throw to trim it to four, then clipped it to two after Kyle Powers missed at the line.

Britto slammed through a dunk to trim the lead to 52-50, and Tony Byles added a point to the lead hitting the first of two free throws with 20 seconds left.

Britto again scored, putting back a missed shot with 10 seconds left, and Gibson was fouled on the inbounds play with eight seconds to go. He missed and Campbell got the ball, calling time with four seconds left at midcourt.

The inbounds play came to Britto, who just missed on a hook from the left side of the foul line, and the Pirates had the win.

Gray led the Pirate scoring with 15, while Maynor had 13 and Krusen added ten. Mauldin led Campbell with 12 and Whitfield had 10.

Gibson led the Pirate rebounding—the two teams deadlocked in this phase of the game—snatching off 13.

Campbell's Danny Roberts attributed the loss to "a lot of little things becoming big things" after the Camels had built up their seven point lead.

"We had a number of chances to blow 'em away after that, but we just got apprehensive about getting the job done."

He also felt that Britto's having to sit out much of the first half with three quick fouls hurt the Camels chances. "We try and build our game around him."

But for Odom, the victory was a good one. "The fact that we won is pleasing. Next summer, people are not going to remember how badly we played in the first half, only that we won."

The Bucs close out the season Saturday at 2 p.m., facing the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in Minges.

"If we get 16 (wins), we can all count our blessings," Odom said. "I want nothing more than for our seniors to go out with a win."

"You know, if we can win, we'll probably be among about five per cent of the teams in the country who will end up with a win. Since we're on probation and can't go anywhere, we don't have to worry about ending up with a loss—the way all but one team is going to do. Just us few who are staying home really have a chance to finish winners."

Loose Ball Tango

East Carolina's Tony Byles (in white) collides with Campbell's Rett Newton as the basketball flies away to the left during action last night in Minges Coliseum. Campbell's Fred Whitfield lies on the floor at the right. The play came during the chase after a loose ball as the two schools played in Minges Coliseum. East Carolina squeezed out a 53-52 victory. Once And Future Coaches Meet As ACC Fever Grips Greensboro

By DICK BRINSTER
Associated Press Writer
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Norm Sloan and Bill Foster could very well be opposing each other for the final time when their teams meet tonight in the third game of opening-round play in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament.

Sloan already has announced he will leave North Carolina State to return to his old job at the University of Florida. Meanwhile, Foster will neither confirm nor deny reports he will replace the legendary Frank McGuire at South Carolina once Duke's season has ended.

"I don't know what the coach is going to do," Duke forward Gene Banks said Wednesday at a press conference he called to announce he would return to fulfill the final year of his collegiate eligibility.

Banks was considering turning professional following his junior year. And while he admitted Foster's status has not influenced his decision, perhaps his will have an affect on Foster.

Duke, a team once rated first in the nation, has suffered crippling injuries and fallen from the polls. Faced with the prospect of All-ACC center Mike Gminski's graduation and the possibility second-teamer Banks would opt for the National Basketball Association, Foster appeared to be all but gone.

Now, reports have circulated that Foster may remain at Duke. The Blue Devils, 7-7 in the ACC and 19-8 overall, show promise for next season with Banks returning.

Sloan, a veteran of 14 seasons at N.C. State, made his decision in spite of the returning talent on the Wolfpack team.

He would be especially blessed by the presence of talented freshmen Sidney Lowe and Dereck Whittenburg.

Lowe, who has been described by Sloan as being "poised and steady," joins first-team All-ACC choice Hawkeye Whitney when the 19th-ranked Wolfpack meets Duke at 7 p.m.

Sloan, who led N.C. State to three ACC crowns and a national title, has been especially enthusiastic about the team, which has posted a surprising 9-5 conference record and an overall 20-6 mark.

The teams traded victories this season, with both winning at home.

In the 9 p.m. matchup, Clemson puts it 8-6 ACC record on the line against Virginia, which finished 7-7.

In afternoon games, 10th-ranked North Carolina, 9-5 in the ACC and 20-6 overall, was to meet Wake Forest (4-10, 13-13), and seventh-ranked Maryland (11-3, 21-5) was scheduled against Georgia Tech (1-13, 8-17).

Pirate Wrestlers Vie For Regional Titles

East Carolina University will carry nine wrestlers to the NCAA Eastern Regionals which start tomorrow at Virginia Tech.

The Pirates will be seeking to gain berths in the NCAA nationals, to be held in two weeks at Oregon State University. Winners in each weight class automatically qualify for the nationals.

A total of 26 schools are eligible for the meet, which embraces independent schools along the east coast. However, not all those schools will participate, and most will not bring complete teams.

The Pirates will not wrestle in the 158-pound class.

Top hopes for the Pirates include 177-pounder Butch Revils and heavyweight D.T. Joyner, both of whom have been nationally ranked between sixth and eighth all season. Revils, however, was injured in practice earlier in the week, and will have to overcome that additional handicap to gain his title.

"I think Frank Schaefer (150) has a good chance to win, too," Coach Ed Steers said, "along with Steve Goode (167). But Steve is coming off an injury and that might cost him."

Others wrestling for the Pirates will include Nathan Kluttz (118), Charles McGimsey (126), Gray Sours (134), Scott Eaton (142), and Jay Dever (190).

Steers picks Slippery Rock as the favorite in the team race, followed by Virginia Tech and Old Dominion.

Runners In AAU

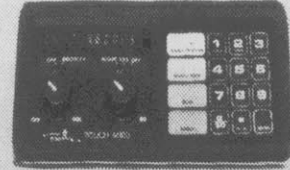

East Carolina University will enter four members of its indoor track team in the AAU Indoor Championships, to be held Friday at Madison Square Garden in New York City.

Coach Bill Carson will carry his mile relay team to the meet, seeking to gain the finals of the event. The four include Carlton Bell, Shawn Laney, Otis Melvin and Stan Curry.

"We hope to get into the finals," Carson said. "If we do, that will give us two more good races on the boards before we go to the NCAA's (in two weeks). If our relay keeps on going like it has been, I think we have a real good chance to place in the nationals."

Next week, the Pirates will take part in the Coaches Conference meet to be held in Pittsburgh.

Irish Again Prove A Killer

By FRED GOODALL
AP Sports Writer
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Top-ranked college basketball teams which venture into Notre Dame's Athletic and Convocation Center indeed are invading treacherous ground. Five times in the 12-year history of the ACC — as the school's "sixth man" student body affectionately calls it — the Irish have stopped the nation's No. 1 team in its tracks. On Jan. 23, 1971, it was UCLA. Three years later, it was UCLA again and the Bruins' 88-game winning streak. In 1977, it was unbeaten San Francisco, and a year later defending national champion Marquette. Wednesday night was DePaul's turn. It took two overtime sessions, but the Irish got the job done again with a pulsating 76-74 victory which snapped the Blue Demons' 26-game winning streak. "That's what freaks me out about this place," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps. "Don't play Notre Dame when you're No. 1 and unbeaten. "But this doesn't compare with 1974. Beating UCLA, snapping the winning streak and everything that goes with it rank with the greatest moments in sports. I think any coach would have wanted to be part of it," Phelps added. Orlando Wooleridge canned two free throws with 19 seconds left in the second overtime to give the Irish, 21-5, the victory. The winning shots capped a steady uphill climb which began after DePaul, 25-1, scored the first eight points of the second half to take a commanding lead. But Notre Dame roared back and wiped out a nine-point deficit by scoring 11 straight points to set up a see-saw battle which saw the game tied at 64 after regulation, and 70 after the first overtime. Both teams wasted opportunities to win the game in regulation. Two free throws by Tracy Jackson tied the game at 64 with 1:08 left. DePaul went into a delay game and held the ball until Teddy Grubbs threw it away with 13 seconds left. Notre Dame took possession but turned it over when Bill Hanzlik was whistled for traveling five seconds later. DePaul's Clyde Bradshaw missed a 20 footer at the buzzer, and the game went into overtime. Rich Brauning tied the game at 70 with a jumper from the corner with seven seconds left in the first overtime. He got the chance after James Mitchem, playing with a broken hand, missed the entire backboard on the front end of a one-and-end free throw situation with 36 seconds to go and DePaul leading 70-68. While Coach Ray Meyer obviously was disappointed with the loss, he seemed a bit relieved. "I've been asked 10 times in the last two weeks about being No. 1. I didn't ask to be No. 1. It was voted, and so what," he said. "I'll send congratulations if there is another team voted No. 1 after this game. He can have the 'monkey.' I don't want it." Kelly Tripucka led Notre Dame with 28 points and Wooleridge added 16. Mark Aguirre, voted the game's most valuable player, scored 28 for DePaul, and teammate Terry Cummings added 16.

Nowhere To Go

Notre Dame's Bill Hanzlik throws up a block against DePaul's Mark Aguirre during action in South Bend, Ind., Wednesday night. Hanzlik tied the score in the game, which set the stage for Notre Dame to defeat top-ranked and previously undefeated DePaul. The final score was 76-74 in double overtime. (AP Laserphoto)

Fratianne Expected To Join Pro Ranks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Figure skater Linda Fratianne, who won a silver medal in the recently completed Winter Olympics at Lake Placid, N.Y., was expected to announce today that she is turning professional. According to an announcement circulated Wednesday, a news conference was scheduled at 11 a.m., PST today at the Beverly Hills Hotel "for the purpose of announcing a signing and future career plans."

Meanwhile, an Olympic teammate of Fratianne added to the speculation that the 19-year-old queen of American figure skating would turn professional. Sandy Lenz, who finished ninth in the women's figure skating competition at Lake Placid, said in Chicago Wednesday that Fratianne had told her she would not defend her world championship at Dortmund, Germany next month. Lenz, of Rockford, Ill., said Fratianne confided in her after a White House reception on Monday. "She just said that she would not be going," said Lenz. "But when she spoke to me, she had not yet talked to her coach." Lenz said that Fratianne, of Northridge, Calif., left the White House "in tears" and was saying goodbye to her teammates on the front lawn when she made her comments. "We were saying goodbye and she was very upset at the time," said Lenz. "You know, the Olympics were over and everybody was leaving."

On Tuesday, Fratianne's mother said Linda might not defend her world title. "As far as I'm concerned, I wouldn't put her through that again," said Virginia Fratianne in reference to last week's judging by an international panel at the Olympics. Lenz, 19, said in a telephone interview that Fratianne made similar remarks to her. "She did not feel the judges scored her correctly (on the school figures)," said Lenz. Fratianne finished third in the compulsory figures and second overall in the women's figure skating behind Annette Poetzch of East Germany. Fratianne won the world title in 1977 but lost the championship to Poetzch in 1978. However, she won the title again last year and was favored to win an Olympic gold medal.

Encircled by reporters and fans, Farmville Central coach Mike Terrell was trying to explain his club's 70-66 loss Tuesday night to Plymouth in the District 13-A finals.

"We just didn't shoot very well. The boys couldn't get it through," he said, succinctly summing up why his squad had just lost.

In 32 minutes of basketball the Jaguars had managed to get off 25 more shots than Plymouth but made one less field goal while shooting only 32 percent.

Plymouth, on the other hand, hit nearly 49 percent from the floor, led by guard Terry Bell, who made 12-of-18 in scoring a game-high 34 points.

On the opposite end of the scale was Farmville's Dennis Pitt, who had a terrible shooting night, canning only 7-of-35 shots.

"We just couldn't get that spark, that one little spurt we needed," Terrell said. "Our press didn't help us either as much as it has and we couldn't get the rebounds we needed in crucial situations. They always seemed to come up with those."

During the Vikings 11-0 spurt midway through the third period, Farmville could not get a second shot off in five trips down court, so good was Plymouth's rebounding.

In the end, however, it was the Vikings' ability to hit from the outside that gave them the victory.

Trailing by one with 33 seconds remaining, Plymouth worked the ball to the left to Larry Spencer. The 6'5" forward fired in a 22-footer from the same spot he had knocked in four previous field goals, giving Plymouth the lead for good.

A half minute and three misses later, Farmville's season had ended.

Only three months earlier the question marks for Terrell and the Jaguars were many. Having lost four starters off his 1978 ECC winning squad, Terrell was forced to fill the gap with two guards who had never played high school basketball: Dennis Pitt and Mike Horne.

Now, three months later, Terrell was trying to explain how his club had come to lose in the district finals.

Asked what he had told his club in the locker-room afterwards, Terrell said: "Our kids are emotional. They're competitors. We just tried to go through the agony of defeat together."

Lost In Crowd

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Host Arnold Palmer, Tom Watson, Tom Weiskopf, Gary Player, Andy Bean, Ben Crenshaw, U.S. Open champ Hale Irwin and Masters winner Fuzzy Zoeller are the big names in the $300,000 Bay Hill Golf Classic which got underway today. But few probably remember the defending champion. He's 25-year-old Bob Byman, who scored his only professional victory here last year in his second year on the PGA tour. Byman scored a two-hole playoff victory over fellow unknown John Schroeder, posting a six-under-par 284 on the 7,102-yard, par 71 Bay Hill Country Club course.

Since then, he hasn't done much, though. His best showing was a tie for eighth place in Memphis, Tenn.

Byman's victory last year netted him $45,000 (this year's top prize is $54,000), and also gained a year's exemption from the anxious Monday qualifying with other tour "rabbits."

"Naturally, it was the biggest thrill of my golfing career," said Byman. "I can't remember ever being so excited."

"Bay Hill was my only win, but it gave me confidence to play well in other tournaments. I've wanted to play the PGA Tour since I was a kid, and I feel I'm on schedule."

Atlanta Hawks Looking Toward Title

Junior Champs

The Warriors won the Greenville Recreation and Parks Department's Junior League Championship. Members of the team are,

By The Associated Press
Don't look now but the Atlanta Hawks, who haven't won a title since the National Basketball Association went from two to four divisions in 1970-71, have the biggest lead of any NBA division pacesetter heading down the homestretch. "Now we're six up and 17 to go and that's just great."

Coach Hubie Brown said Wednesday night after the Hawks defeated the Indiana Pacers 116-111 and opened a six-game Central Division bulge over the San Antonio Spurs, who were beaten by Boston 130-125, and the Houston Rockets, 110-97 winners over Washington. The Hawks' magic number to clinch is 12.

They turned back Indiana as Eddie Johnson scored 32 points, including a tie-breaking three-point basket with 21 seconds to play. Johnson connected with only one second left on the 24-second clock to give the Hawks a 114-111 lead. Indiana's Johnny Davis then missed a three-pointer and Johnson, fouled in the scramble for the rebound, added a pair of free throws.

John Drew added 18 points for Atlanta. Indiana was paced by Mickey Johnson with 26 and George McGinnis with 23.

Celtics 130, Spurs 125
Larry Bird scored 30 points and Cedric Maxwell added 22 to lead the Celtics to their fourth consecutive victory. They remained 1½ games ahead of runner-up Philadelphia in the Atlantic Division.

Rockets 110, Bullets 110
Moses Malone scored 33 points, including 21 of 23 free throws, and got into a late-game shoving match with Washington's Elvin Hayes. The Rockets trailed until late in the third quarter when Allen Leavell's layup gave them a 67-65 lead.

Malone hit six of his free throws in the final 3½ minutes. With less than two minutes left, Hayes knocked him to the floor and Malone came up pushing. Players and coaches from both teams separated the two players.

Detroit its 13th consecutive setback. The Clippers never trailed, although the Pistons got within one point in the final period before Williams broke loose for 19 points.

Warriors 133, Nets 120
Purvis Short scored 16 of his 34 points in the fourth quarter, enabling Golden State to hold off a New Jersey rally. Short, who came off the bench to make 16 of 21 shots in just 26 minutes of playing time, scored eight points in the last 3½ minutes after New Jersey trimmed a 22-point deficit to 113-108. Short then scored eight points in a 20-6 burst by Golden State. Phil Smith added 24 for the Warriors while Mike Newlin scored 35 for New Jersey.

Road Race Is Set April 5

The Second Annual Greenville Road Race, sponsored by the Easter Seal Society, Bond's Sporting Goods and the Coastal Carolina Track Club, has been slated for April 5.

Last year's race attracted 500 runners from all over North Carolina and thousands of spectators who came out to cheer runners in their 10,000 meter (6.2 mile) race through Greenville.

Registration for the run is $5, all of which goes to the Easter Seal Society. The first 500 runners registered will receive complimentary "Greenville Road Race" T-shirts, and other prizes will be awarded to the top finishers in seven age categories for male and female participants. Certificates will be presented to all who finish.

Interested runners can obtain applications for the race from the Northeast Regional Office of the Easter Seal Society, 114 E. Third St., Greenville, N.C. 27834. Assistant in arranging lodging for out-of-town participants can also be obtained by writing this address or by calling (919) 758-3230.

Tells Of Love For Woman Who Didn't Exist

By MICHAEL B. LAFFERTY
Associated Press Writer
TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Have you heard the one about the fellow who fell in love with the imaginary woman?

It's no joke. It happened in Toledo to Ron Reed, and he's not laughing.

On Wednesday, a week after Reed, 34, found out that Kyle Stratton — the love of his life, the woman he would die for — never existed, he sat down and talked about it.

"She was sincere and passionate. I would have given my life for that lady. I lived as if we were married," he said in an interview.

Wednesday was also the day Robert and Carolyn Matuszak went before a Toledo Municipal Court judge, charged in connection with an alleged ruse that bilked Reed out of at least $34,400 since 1973.

Mrs. Matuszak, 38, is charged with grand theft by deception. Her 35-year-old husband is charged with complicity in grand theft. They have refused to comment on the charges. Both are free on their own recognizance.

Police Sgt. Fred Neipp and detective Richard Pohl said that since Reed's case has been publicized, at least four other men have contacted police. Each has told police he was contacted by Mrs. Matuszak to contribute to the welfare of Kyle Stratton.

Neipp described the men as "mousey and mild and impressionable." At least one other unidentified man spent at least $4,000 on roses for Miss Stratton over a two-year period in the 1960s, police said.

"Our feeling is that there are still other victims," Neipp said.

According to Reed and police, he became involved with the fictitious woman through Mrs. Matuszak, who he said he had met when he moved from Dayton to Toledo.

Reed said she did his horoscope, then told him about her invalid sorority sister — Miss Stratton — who had been hospitalized first at the Mayo Clinic and later at Toledo Hospital for injuries received in a car crash.

Reed was told Miss Stratton wanted to leave the hospital but needed money for a nurse, a kidney dialysis unit and an apartment.

Reed, a production designer for Libbey-Owens-Ford, a plate glass manufacturer in Toledo, began shelling out for Miss Stratton's care. He says he can prove he paid at least $34,400. The total may be as high as $40,000. He also sent clothes and gifts.

Reed — a quiet, slightly balding man about 5-foot-10 and 200 pounds — said he was kept going by pictures of a beautiful, petite blonde, not realizing until much later the pictures were the kind found in any dime store. He also received some letters purportedly written by Miss Stratton, and occasionally was able to talk to a woman with a soft alluring voice.

The pictures decorated the walls of Reed's small, south Toledo apartment. A giant computer printout with the words "I Love Kyle" printed thousands of times covered a wall of his bedroom, and a huge red heart still hangs on the wall, once emblazoned with the words, "I Love Kyle."

One day he received a letter from Miss Stratton referring to him as her husband. "From that point onward, I was married and I governed my actions accordingly," he said.

Reed said he routinely worked six or seven days a week for the last few years, putting in 60- and 70-hour weeks. "I'd do anything to get money. I had the most overtime of anyone in the plant," he said. "I felt I had a duty to my wife."

Reed was a good husband. Although he went to parties with friends, he says he never cheated on Miss Stratton.

He went so far as to name "Kyle Reed" as beneficiary of his $149,000 life insurance policy.

Through the years, he said, Mrs. Matuszak kept him from seeing Miss Stratton, saying that Kyle's lawyer-guardian didn't approve of Reed.

So Reed worked out an elaborate plan to get her out of Toledo Hospital and to a nurse in Dayton: "I felt once we were out of the hospital, and I could get Kyle a nurse in Dayton, then we could get married, and then the lawyer would have to accept us."

Reed told skeptical friends that he actually had met Kyle and had talked with her.

"He lied to me and to his mother," said Ray Landes, a co-worker of Reed. Landes tipped police to the matter. And after a long talk in a neighborhood bar, he persuaded Reed to talk to the police himself.

Reed said he was shocked when officers told him there was no such person as Kyle Stratton.

"I was so tremendously hurt. I trust people, perhaps too much," he said.

Reed builds and collects small, electronically controlled boats. During the course of the interview, he glanced at a marine tugboat named the "USS Kyle."

"Maybe I should take this off," he said of the name plate. "But then on the other hand, maybe I should leave it on as a reminder."

Visiting St. Louis Will Be Life-Or-Death Trip

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — Cathy Farris is planning a round-trip to St. Louis later this week and the excursion is, quite literally, a life and death proposition.

The 25-year-old mother, who has spent most of her life in toster homes, is going to the city to undergo a bone marrow transplant in an attempt to halt the spread of leukemia she has had since 1974.

The doctors have told her that she has only a 17 percent chance of surviving the operation and returning to her home alive. But she thinks the odds are worth the trip.

"They have told me that if I don't have the operation then the most I have to live is a year and it would be painful," she explained. However, Mrs. Farris has already exceeded doctors' earlier predictions that she would only live five years after the leukemia was discovered.

"My doctor says there is a 17 percent chance I will live, and if I live I will be cured," she said. "Three percent die during the operation and most die afterwards up to three months afterwards of pneumonia or other complications."

The ruling Wednesday means the disco will be prohibited from selling alcoholic beverages as of March 1, although it can remain open.

Attorneys for Studio 54 could not be reached for comment and employees at the club said they were unaware of the ruling.

Lawrence J. Gedda, spokesman for the five-member authority, said the action was taken following the imprisonment of owners Steven Rubell and Jan Schragar.

Studio 54 Will Go Dry

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Liquor Authority, citing the activities of two of Studio 54's owners, has refused to renew the liquor license of the trendy Manhattan nightclub.

The two reported to federal authorities earlier this month to begin serving 3½-year prison sentences. They were sentenced and fined $20,000 each after pleading guilty to charges of evading corporate and personal income taxes.

Gedda said that because of their conduct, including "their conviction on income-tax evasion charges and other violations of law which we had charged them with, they were not fit and proper persons to hold a liquor license."

Meanwhile, a Morganton woman has offered to baby-sit 2-year-old Melissa Farris while her parents travel to Missouri.

Mrs. Farris, says she has prayed for three things in her life and said she has them.

"One was a good husband and he is, he's been real good to me, and the other was a home of my own. The third was a child. I do have all three now and am thankful for that," she said.

A welcome visitor to the recent Tri-State Regional in Port Chester, N.Y., was Jaime Ortiz-Patino, president of the World Bridge Federation. He took time off from a business trip to the United States to partner Bridge World editor Edgar Kaplan in the Men's Swiss Teams. Despite his heavy involvement in bridge organization, Ortiz's skills as a player are undiminished.

After East made a normal (for tournament play, that is) preempt of three spades in first seat, West tried to muddy the waters in an attempt to buy the hand undoubled. But there was no denying North, who doubled and then doubled the escape to four spades. Sitting South, Ortiz elected to try for the vulnerable game rather than accept what might have been an inadequate penalty.

West led the jack of spades, won by the ace — ace of diamonds and another would have scuttled the contract, but we haven't yet reached the point where we play with see-through cards. Since the contract would be hopeless without a 3-3 trump break, declarer immediately played ace, king and another heart. East won and forced declarer with a spade.

The contract now hinged on declarer holding his diamond losers to one — something that would not be easy to accomplish. One way would be to play a defender for a doubleton ace of diamonds by leading to a diamond honor and then playing a low diamond from both hands. However, before committing himself to this line, declarer set about learning something about the hands. He cashed three top clubs, and when East showed up with two, the count of the hand was complete, though inferentially. East should have seven spades, and had shown up with three hearts and two clubs, for twelve cards. That left room for only one diamond.

Now the spot cards in diamonds came into play. The only hope for the contract was that East's lone diamond would be the ace (unlikely in view of the preempt) or a singleton jack or ten. So declarer led a diamond to the king, and was delighted to see East follow with the ten on the trick. West won the ace and exited with a club, won in dummy, as declarer shed a diamond. He returned to his hand with a spade ruff and confidently led a low diamond to the eight. When that held, the contract was home.

NRC Says Accident Will Not Delay Its Schedule

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nuclear Regulatory Commission says this week's nuclear malfunction in Florida probably won't delay plans for the resumption of licensing of atomic plants.

But Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., chairman of a Senate subcommittee on nuclear regulation, says a major new investigation may be warranted — one that could require the shutting down of some existing plants.

Hart, in a prepared opening statement for a hearing today on Tuesday's accident at the Crystal River power plant, called the event disturbing — especially since it involved a Babcock & Wilcox reactor.

The same company designed the unit at Pennsylvania's

Three Mile Island, site of the nation's most serious nuclear accident 11 months ago.

The Florida accident showed "the continued apparent susceptibility of Babcock & Wilcox reactors to minor plant disturbances," Hart said.

"Similar mechanical malfunctions have occurred at B&W plants on 10 other occasions, including the Rancho Seco plant in California," Hart claimed.

At Crystal River, an apparent instrument panel power failure led to a shutdown of the power plant's reactor and the flooding of the reactor's containment building with 43,000 gallons of radioactive water.

"A minor event at Three Mile Island resulted in very serious consequences," Hart said. "At Crystal River, we were more fortunate, but large quantities of reactor coolant were released into the containment building."

Hart said he will ask NRC officials if they "intend to undertake a review of whether corrective measures are needed at other B&W reactors and whether these reactors should be down-rated or even shut down during such a review."

The NRC has called the Crystal River incident "an electronic failure of some type." No radioactive material leaked outside the building, according to both the NRC and Florida Power, the utility which operates the plant.

Safety systems at the Florida plant worked as planned after Tuesday's accident and damage to the plant seems limited to the accumulation of radioactive water in the reactor containment structure, NRC commissioners told another Senate panel, the Appropriations subcommittee on energy, on Wednesday.

"Was it a close call?" asked Chairman Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La.

"It was not," testified Victor Stello, NRC director of inspection and enforcement.

"All indications we have are that there's no fuel failure or anything like that," NRC Chairman John F. Ahearne told the panel.

By contrast, the Three Mile Island reactor near Harrisburg, Pa., suffered extensive fuel damage in that March 1979 accident.

Ahearne said the 43,000 gallons at Crystal River "is not an unusual amount" of radioactive water to have on the floor of the containment structure and that similar amounts spill in other nuclear plants about once a year.

He was asked if the mishap affects the commission's plans, announced Tuesday, to end soon its self-imposed pause on licensing new plants — a moratorium prompted by the Three Mile Island accident.

"As far as I can see now, it wouldn't have any effect," Ahearne testified.

However, Commissioner Victor Gilinsky added: "It does remind you that one needs to be careful."

MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT — At a Wednesday morning news conference in Greenville, Operation Overcharge president Larkin Little announced that Senator Robert Morgan, Congressman Walter B. Jones, and the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs were supporting the complaint against VEPCO and the request for intervention by the Federal Regulatory Commission

CRYSTAL RIVER, Fla. (AP) — Despite at least eight shut-downs in three years at the Crystal River Nuclear Plant, local residents of this Gulf Coast community have become blasé about it all.

Not even Tuesday's mishap at the plant, which spilled a large quantity of radioactive water after malfunctioning, has ruffled many of the 3,100 residents.

The Florida Power Corp. plant is by far the town's largest employer, and pays more than 30 percent of Citrus County's property taxes. The trouble-plagued, 825-megawatt unit sits just off the Gulf of Mexico about 10 miles northwest of downtown Crystal River.

In three years of operation, the $410-million nuclear facility has had at least eight shut-downs for a variety of malfunctions and accidents, including leakage of a small amount of radioactive gas early in 1978.

A number of residents claim the news media has exaggerated the problems.

"I swear, here we go again," a gas station operator said in exasperation when a reporter asked directions to the plant site. "They said it wasn't serious, but the town's filling up with media types again... There's nothing to it, man."

June McClure, who said she learned about the incident on television Tuesday night, declared: "I'm not worried. It looks to me like the media blew up something that wasn't that serious."

Michael Parker, 19, a supermarket clerk, worries a bit about the possible dangers. "Sometimes they make it so I get scared to go to bed at night," he said. "My mother is in real estate, and having the plant there is not good for her business."

"But most people in this town don't care. I talk to a lot of people coming in the store, and they say 'Don't you think if there was a major problem they would evacuate us?'"

The company employs more than 500 area residents, including a large number of construction workers building two coal-powered generating units on its 4,700-acre site. There already are two fossil-fueled units in operation.

In 1978, Florida Power reported a payroll of $8.7 million for a work force of 407.

This is a busy tourist season along the coastal area, and every motel was jammed Tuesday and Wednesday for at least 25 miles in either direction. Crowds clogged restaurants and other public places.

"I have no problems with the nuclear plant," said a waitress. "It seems to bring a lot of people to town."

VEPCO Cites Rehash Of Old Issues In Complaint

Virginia Electric and Power Company responded Wednesday to the complaint filed against them by the United States Office of Consumer Affairs on behalf of Operation Overcharge by calling it a "rehash of old issues."

According to W.W. Berry, executive vice president for VEPCO, the company's operations have already been examined sufficiently. "Our operations have been carefully scrutinized by regulatory commissions and outside consultants. When areas for improvement have been revealed, we have worked vigorously to achieve better results."

Berry also contended that other issues discussed in the motion have been fully heard by the United States District Court, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (to whom the petition has been filed) and by both the North Carolina and Virginia state commissions. VEPCO is currently awaiting decisions by the FERC and the North Carolina Court of Appeals.

"Another investigation on the same issues would be costly, time-consuming, and direct valuable resources from current improvement efforts," added Berry.

"The 84-page motion contains little new information," asserted the executive vice president. "In fact, it only rehashes old issues, some of which have already been heard and rejected by both the Virginia State Corporation Commission and the North Carolina Utilities Commission."

Senator Robert Morgan, and Congressman Walter B. Jones, announced support for Operation Overcharge's complaint yesterday in a 10 a.m. conference. Berry said VEPCO is concerned that the North Carolina Public Staff and the attorney general have joined the effort. (North Carolina Attorney General Rufus Edmisten earlier announced the Attorney General's office support of the complaint).

"We certainly share the concern of our customers over continuing high inflation and escalating fuel prices which are driving up the cost of everything, including electric rates," commented Berry.

Congressman Walter B. Jones yesterday called VEPCO's rates "...totally out of line compared to those of other electric utilities in our state."

Suing Cessna In Munson Death

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A $42.2 million wrongful death lawsuit has been filed against the Cessna Aircraft Co. and Flight Safety International Inc. in the death of New York Yankees catcher Thurman Munson.

The 32-year-old Yankee captain died last summer when the Cessna twin-engine jet he was flying crashed as he practiced landings at the Akron-Canton airport. Flight Safety International had provided instruction for him.

Airing Songs, Stories Of Fats Waller

British Made TV Funnier

By ROBERT MUSEL
LONDON (UPI) — The British get a lot of the credit for making American television funnier. Not that they write better jokes — they don't — but because they worry less about ethnic and religious sensibilities, sponsor timidity and what the children will think when they hear a double or single entendre on the tube.

Many American shows are based on ideas pioneered across the Atlantic. The BBC first made a bigot the star of a show, "Till Death Us Do Part," which became the long-running (and better) "All in the Family" in the United States. The BBC's "Stepoe and Son" crossed the Atlantic as "Sanford and Son," but only after American sponsors, worried about showcasing their products in a program starring lower working class people, were convinced by the ratings here that it was worth taking a chance.

The British first mixed black and white families in "Love Thy Neighbor" and starred an unmarried mother in another series. There were many ethnic laughs — and groans — in a series about a Jewish mother and her son, and in "Me Mammy," in which an Irish Catholic mother tried, with the aid of a closetful of the statues of saints, to save her son from his Protestant girl friend.

"Me Mammy" had a cast of brilliant Irish actors and scripts by an award-winning Irish writer. But it was probably a little ahead of its time — Catholics tended to wince as often as they laughed. It was the kind of series that needed some audience preparation and that process is now under way.

The BBC produced a series, "All Gas and Gaiters" — the title refers to the sermons and the leggings or gaiters worn by bishops of the Church of England — that was funny enough.

But the first real hit of this genre is the current "Bless Me Father" about a highly individualistic Roman Catholic priest, Father Duddleswell (Arthur Lowe), and his young curate, Father Neil (Daniel Abineri).

Duddleswell presides over St. Jude's, a chronically under-financed church, and is attended to by an underpaid housekeeper.

Fresh-faced, recently-ordained Father Neil arrives and learns that there is much more of wisdom and woe to being a priest than he was taught in the seminary.

It's a well-written show with much religious warmth along the way, adapted by Peter de Rosa from his best-selling novels. In Lowe as the star the station was lucky to get one of Britain's masters of character comedy.

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fats Waller lived hard, laughed loud and wrote lyrics like this: "This joint is jumpin', it's really jumpin', come in cats and check your hats, this joint is jumpin'... The roof is rockin', the neighbor's knockin', we'll all run when the wagon comes, this joint is jumpin'..."

If you are in America and not in jail, find a television set this Thursday and watch PBS-TV's "Camera 3" episode, "Fats Waller: An American Original." If you are in jail, bribe the keeper.

This is as basic as good gets: Fats Waller, performing his own music.

Thomas "Fats" Waller died in 1942 at the age of 39; but he left a lot of himself around, in hundreds of songs and stories and, fortunately, in some remarkably well-preserved film performances.

The "Camera 3" tribute includes Fats' own renditions of "Honeysuckle Rose," "The Joint is Jumpin'," "Your Feet's Too Big" and "Ain't Misbehavin'," the title number of the current hit Fats Waller revue.

The central cast from "Ain't Misbehavin'" acts as sort of group host for the half-hour, filling in with Waller legend and history and doing a couple of numbers themselves.

Of the Waller legend, we are told: "Fats Waller was an easy force, a grand creator. He was a composer, pianist, a master of the organ and comedian... Fats was a hit right from the start — a big, jovial man who could go all night on gin alone."

But there was a man underneath, "a black man, selling his stuff in a white world. And it was a buyer's market."

When Waller died, all of Harlem turned out for the funeral, and Adam Clayton Powell Jr. began his eulogy with the words: "Fats Waller always played to a packed house."

The thing doesn't pretend to be a biography, just a glimpse of a big, hard-pounding man who peddled joy. But ample sampling of his product is presented here, and that's the show's merit.

Tugging at the opposite reaches of your emotions, NBC offers a documentary on troubled kids, "For The Child's Own Good." NBC reporter Bob Rogers focuses on the treatment of delinquent children, which has become a boom industry, fed by anxious times and big government grants.

The star of the show is a place called Elan, a treatment center in the Maine woods that features confrontation as its prime therapeutic device.

At Elan, dunce caps, paddles and high-volume group confrontations are employed because, claims Joe Ricci, who runs Elan, there is no such thing as a good kid who has not been disciplined.

Elan has made Joe Ricci a millionaire.

The NBC White Paper offers no judgments here, but it does point out that no hard evidence refutes or supports the centers' claims; nor is there any uniform code regulating such places.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEB. 29, 1980

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This Leap Year Day there is likely to be several upsets and you would be wise to keep this in mind and not become annoyed. Conditions will improve later in the day.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Follow the right precepts and principles you wish to operate under in the days ahead and you have more happiness and success.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Morning is fine for improving the situation at home, then later put your finest talents to work. Think constructively.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You need to employ more effort now to gain your most cherished goals. Show increased devotion to family members.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Know your true position in financial affairs with associates and take steps to improve it. Be logical.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Morning is best for going after personal aims. Show more consideration for closest ties and ease the tension at home.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Figure out what you desire in the future and then do your best to attain these aims. Use right methods to solve a problem.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are able to be of assistance to one whom you are very fond of. Steer clear of a group meeting today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to gain a favor from a higher-up now and advance in your career. Don't overlook an important business matter.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A new contact can be helpful to you in gaining the support of an influential person. Come to a better understanding with mate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make sure business matters are handled well before engaging in social activities. Look for quiet pleasure.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Talk over your ideas with associates and gain their cooperation. Positive thinking could help you gain your aims.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Work is a pleasure in the morning. Later you have time to spend with associates in constructive pursuits. Be more optimistic.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have every capability early in life to put ideas to work successfully and get ahead in chosen career. Direct the education along troubleshooting lines for best results. Give religious training early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

The Multi-Million Salaries Abound

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As the film industry glides into the 1980s in an atmosphere of prosperity, one unsettling element appears: those million-dollar star salaries.

Ten years ago, a $1 million fee for a star was almost unheard of. Five years ago, perhaps five actors could draw such payment. Today at least a score of stars can exact million-dollar salaries, and the list is growing.

Steve Martin earned a reported half-million dollars for his film debut in "The Jerk." Its success will no doubt double that figure. Because of "10," Dudley Moore and Bo Derek are approaching the million-dollar mark in future deals.

Steve McQueen, who has been drawing $3 million per film, now sets the figure at $5 million. Stars like McQueen can also demand a percentage of gross receipts, without waiting until the producer's profit is calculated.

Standard fees for both Paul Newman and Marlon Brando are now $3 million, plus a percentage. Robert Redford, Dustin Hoffman and Burt Reynolds are in the same category. Woody Allen, Clint Eastwood and Warren Beatty would be except they choose to work for their own companies.

Barbra Streisand and Jane Fonda appear to be the only actresses in the million-plus rank; they, too, prefer to develop their own projects.

"It's a matter of supply and demand," observes one high-powered agent. "If a producer wants a star badly enough, he'll pay, no matter what we ask."

Doobie Brothers Take Honors In Grammy Award

By YARDENA ARAR
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The

Doobie Brothers, who 10 years ago were playing in bars to the motorcycle crowd, were presented record of the year and song of the year honors at the 22nd annual Grammy ceremonies — the first time they had been nominated. The six members of the rock'n'roll band took home victrola-shaped trophies Wednesday for record of the year, "What a Fool Believes," and best pop vocal performance by a group, "Minute By Minute."

Two Grammys for "What a Fool Believes" — in the song of the year and best arrangement accompanying vocalists categories — were personal triumphs for Michael McDonald, who joined the group five years ago and was given much credit for the band's six nominations this year.

"It's a form of acceptance we never got before, and we enjoy it," said McDonald, who shared the song of the year award with co-writer Kenny Loggins.

The Doobie Brothers won more awards than any other artists honored in 58 categories and were the only major first-time winners.

Repeat winners included Billy Joel, whose "52nd Street" won album of the year and best male pop performance. Earth, Wind & Fire raised its career Grammy total from three to five, winning rhythm and blues honors for group vocal, "After the Love Has Gone," and instrumental, "Boogie Wonderland."

But Dionne Warwick and Herb Alpert provided the two major comeback stories of the night. Alpert, whose "Rise" was named best pop instrumental, won the last of his five previous Grammys in 1966.

"Oh my dears, my dears," Miss Warwick said, wiping tears away after winning the best female pop performance for "I'll Never Love This Way Again." Earlier, her "Deja Vu" had been named best female rhythm and blues performance.

Bob Dylan, one of pop music's best known born-again Christians, won the best male rock performance award for "Gotta Serve Somebody."

Rickie Lee Jones, who wore tight leather pants, gave thanks to a more worldly bunch after being named best new artist.

Donna Summer, nominated in five categories, won only best female rock performance for "Hot Stuff." The rock group vocal award went to the Eagles for "Heartache Tonight." Michael Jackson won best male rhythm and blues honors for

"Don't Stop Till You Get Enough;" Gloria Gaynor's "I Will Survive" was named best disco recording; and Emmylou Harris won female country vocal honors with "Blue Kentucky Girl," written by a Missouri school janitor.

Kenny Rogers, who was host for the televised National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences ceremonies, won best male country performance for "The Gambler."

Performers included Barbra Streisand, Neil Diamond and The Charlie Daniels Band, which won a country Grammy for "The Devil Came Down to Georgia."

And veteran comedian George Burns appeared with Deborah Harry of the rock group Blondie.

"I don't always go out with young girls — sometimes I stay home with them," cracked Burns.

One Life Lost In Fiery Crash

By WILLIAM C. MANN
Associated Press Writer

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Philippine aviation experts today tentatively blamed pilot error for the fiery crash of a Taiwanese jetliner in Manila that claimed the life of one of the 135 persons aboard.

Hospital sources said an unidentified passenger died today at a Manila hospital of burns sustained in the Wednesday crash.

All seven Americans aboard survived the crash.

Carmen Rayos, a spokeswoman for Taiwan's China Air Lines, said 35 passengers remained in Manila area hospitals, with most being treated for burns or broken bones. All 11 crew members also were injured, but 74 passengers escaped the crash unhurt, she said. Most of those aboard were Taiwanese.

The chief of the Philippine Bureau of Air Transportation, Jesus Singson, said it appeared pilot Wu Hung misjudged his approach to the runway as he brought the China Air Lines Boeing 707 in for a landing.

"The pilot undershot the runway," Airport Director Luis Tabuena said. "He almost hit the highway (on the airport perimeter) and missed the approach lights by only 20 meters (60 feet)."

The big jet slammed into the tarmac nose first, bounced several times and exploded in flames.

Wu said the plane dived unexpectedly as he landed and he could not regain control. "The plane descended too fast. I could not lift it up," he said.

The airline said Wu, who was slightly injured in the crash, had logged more than 30,000 hours flying time, much of it as a 30-year veteran of the Nationalist Chinese air force.

Singson appointed an investigation team to look into the crash and said hearings would be held next week. A CAL team was en route to Manila to join the inquiry.

Trudeau's Wife 'Cools' Movie

LONDON (AP) — She told all in her autobiography and was going to make a movie about it, but now that Pierre Elliott Trudeau's back in power she's going to cool it.

She won't move back with him, but Margaret Trudeau, estranged wife of Canada's prime minister-designate, "is very keen to help Pierre," a friend says in Nigel Dempster's gossip column for the Daily Mail.

Trudeau's Liberal Party ousted the Conservatives led by Joe Clark in Canada's elections this month.

"She kept quiet during the election and it was felt that now he is back in power, the film could only be a great embarrassment."

The 31-year-old jet setter stood to gain more than $500,000 from the movie rights to her book "Beyond Reason," but she'll break the contract, Dempster reported Wednesday.

Quarterly Meet This Weekend

Quarterly meeting services will be held this weekend at Holy Trinity United Holiness Church in Greenville. On Saturday at 7 p.m., holy communion will be celebrated.

Following Sunday School at 10 a.m., morning worship services will convene at 11 a.m. with the pastor, Ralph Love, delivering the morning sermon.

The Rev. Otha Hayes and Mt. Moriah Holiness Church, Farmville will be guests of Holy Trinity and in charge of the evening worship services.

Rev. Love and the members of Holy Trinity invite the public to attend.

Bob Scott Refuses To Address Union

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Former Gov. Bob Scott has refused an invitation to appear before the political arm of the North Carolina AFL-CIO, claiming the labor organization was too closely aligned with Gov. Jim Hunt.

Scott, who is challenging Hunt for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said in a letter to state AFL-CIO president Wilbur Hobby that Hobby was "obligated" to the Hunt administration because of Comprehensive Employment and Training Act grants awarded to firms in which Hobby has interest.

"It appears that my appearance before COPE (Committee on Political Education) would be a futile exercise," Scott said in the letter, which was released Wednesday.

State Sen. I. Beverly Lake, who is seeking the Republican nomination for governor, also declined to appear before the committee. Lake has also been critical of Hobby and the Hunt administration for the CETA grants.

Also refusing to appear before the COPE panel were Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green and State Sen. Edward Renfrow, the front-runner in the auditor's race.

Hunt and several other candidates will appear before the committee today.

Who decides when to transplant? You or your nematocide?

If you're using fumigants for nematode control in your tobacco, you have to wait two to three weeks before transplanting. That can mean getting a late start and missing favorable weather conditions.

With Mocap* nematocide-insecticide, there's no waiting, no worrying. You can transplant when you want. You'll get effective nematode and wireworm control without leaf-flecking, early flowering or increased suckering.

See us about using Mocap on this year's crop. So you can be the one who decides when to transplant. Mocap

Many Tornado Deaths Are Declared 'Unnecessary'

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of Americans will die in tornadoes in the next decade, many of them needlessly, predicts a government weather expert who is working to reduce that toll.

"The challenge in the 80s will be to improve tornado preparedness as well as detection and warning systems to minimize the loss of life," said Fred Ostby of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City.

Ostby is organizing a multistate tornado drill for March 6 to evaluate how well-prepared people are for these sudden, violent storms.

Television and radio broadcasts will be pre-empted for weather warnings, sirens will be tested, various civil defense, school and community groups will react as though there were a tornado.

The exact time of the drill isn't being announced, according to officials at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. It will affect Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

There were 8,560 tornadoes in the 1970s, a 25 percent increase from the previous decade. Ostby said there are better communications now and more people are watching for tornadoes, leading to increased reports and thus better warnings.

But though tornado deaths have been on the decline, he stressed that "it's going to be hard to get it down any further."

Ostby's year-end report stresses that many of the deaths in future tornadoes may be unnecessary with "apathy contributing to the ignoring of watches and warnings that could be lifesavers."

And his comments are supported by a recent study of people's behavior in the tragic Wichita Falls, Tex., tornadoes last April.

The researchers found that 25 of the 43 persons killed and 30 of the 59 seriously injured were in automobiles trying to drive out of the storm's path. This despite ample warning from the weather bureau that people should remain indoors because the storm was approaching.

While most people think of the warmer months as tornado season, National Weather Service records show that the storms have occurred in every month of the year, and have affected every state at one time or another.

During the 1970s, Texas was the most tornado-prone state, recording 1,425 of the storms.

However, the 137 tornado deaths recorded in the Lone Star state during the decade rank it second to Mississippi, where 145 people died in 658 tornadoes.

But these storms are possible anywhere in the country, and if one threatens here's what the government experts say to do:

—Stay away from windows, doors and outside walls. Protect your head.

—In homes and small buildings, go to the basement or to an interior part of the lowest level — closets, bathrooms or interior halls. Get under something sturdy.

—In schools, nursing homes, hospitals, factories and shopping centers, go to designated shelter areas. Interior hallways on the lowest floor are usually best.

—In high-rise buildings, go to interior small rooms or hallways.

—In mobile homes or vehicles, leave them and go to a substantial structure. If there is no shelter nearby, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine or culvert with your hands protecting your head.

IRS Schedules Small Business Workshop Here

The Internal Revenue Service has scheduled a small business workshop in Greenville on March 13 from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. at the Willis Building on the corner of Reade and First Streets.

This workshop is designed primarily for the new small business person and will provide information and education on the tax rights and responsibilities of persons starting a business.

Advance registration is required. To pre-register write to IRS, 320 Federal Place, Greensboro, N.C. 27401, attn: Tax Workshop Coordinator by March 7. Include name, address, telephone and the town in which attending. Bring a pocket calculator to the workshop.

Consciousness Raising Meet Set Tonight

An introduction to consciousness raising workshop will be sponsored by the Greenville Chapter of the National Organization for Women Thursday night at 7:30 at the First Federal Savings and Loan Meeting Room on the 264 bypass.

The concept of consciousness raising was developed in the early 60's as women began to face changing roles. A major focus of CR is to help women deal effectively with anger and frustration in an atmosphere of peer support.

The demonstration on Thursday will provide interested persons a chance to experience a CR group. After the initial session participants will have the opportunity to continue in a group to be formed in the month of March. The public is invited.

CHOIR REHEARSAL

The young adult choir of Holy Trinity United Holiness Church will have rehearsal at the church on Saturday at 5 p.m. All members and interested friends are urged to be present.
