$5.5 Million Projected For City Schools

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Funds projected for Greenville City Schools by the State Public School Funds amount to $5,535,357 for the next school year, 1980-81.

At the action meeting of the Greenville Board of Education Monday night, Superintendent Glenn Cox presented to the board a breakdown of the categories of funds that will be coming to the school budget from the State Public School Funds source. The five and one half million dollar total, Cox noted, may change a little, but not significantly.

The allocation of these funds are based on pupil attendance of the best three of the first four months of school year 1979-80.

Per category, the fund totals projected are:

- Regular Instructional — $3,258,231.
- Special Instructional, $375,705.
- Employee benefit funds for above two groups, $698,413.
- Pupil Supporting Services, $180,470.
- Instructional Staff Support, $180,037.
- Administrative Support Services, $46,574.
- School Administration Support Services, $354,356.
- Business Support, $229,218.

— Employee benefit funds for the five support services staffs, $187,353.

— Regular Community Service, $21,715; and Other Community Services (employment benefits), $3,285.

Some of the effects of the allocations are that under the regular instructional program, Greenville City Schools will lose three teachers in the number paid for by state funds, will lose half the salary of one assistant superintendent, and the salaries of two custodian personnel. The schools will get an additional nine primary reading aides, bringing to 41 the number allocated through state funds.

The positions funded by the state are based on attendance figures, which were slightly lower this school year than the preceding one.

These tentative allocation amounts, Cox said, include a projected overall salary increase of about ten per cent and an amount of about four per cent to take care of increment raises for school personnel.

These figures will be another part of the overall funds considered in the budget planning work being undertaken by the board in preparing the 1980-81 school budget.

Approval was given to an administrative program procedure applicable to the sequence of English courses for high school students. The procedure, designed to provide a continuum in English courses, calls for completing levels in English step by step — i.e., successful completion of ninth grade English before a student is allowed to take 10th grade English, etc. Also included is authority for the principal to make exceptions.

Other procedural and policy matters approved at Monday's meeting are:

— The enrollment policy applicable to high school students who wish to take classes at Pitt Community College or East Carolina University. The approved policy is contingent on approval by those two institutions.

— The school district organization plan. This is the formal policy for the facility organization of the city schools as a result of the adoption of the redistricting plan. This plan does not apply to curriculum plans for the school. The adopted facility plan establishes: Primary grades.

kindergarten through grade three; Intermediate grades, four through six; middle, grade seven; junior high, grades eight and nine; and senior high, grades 10 through 12.

Cite Agency Misspending

By ROBERT PARRY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is spending millions of dollars a year on new furniture while five federal agencies don't even know how much they have stored, a Florida senator charged today.

Sen. Lawton Chiles, chairman of a Senate Governmental Affairs subcommittee, said he was amazed to discover last year that government warehouses were filling up with usable furniture while federal agencies spent $1.2 billion on new furniture in the 1970s.

"But what is even more incredible is that when we got to checking we found that some of the agencies ordering new furniture didn't even keep inventories of existing furniture," Chiles, a Democrat, said in a statement as he opened hearings on the issue.

He identified the agencies as the Veterans Administration, Small Business Administration, Commerce Department, State Department and Agriculture Department.

Chiles' allegations came one day after suits were filed by the Justice Department to recover more than $11.6 million allegedly misspent in payments to contractors for work they failed to do on public buildings.

Also on Monday, it was reported that the General Services Administration has told a New Jersey firm it may continue to do business with the government even though it was convicted last year of bribing federal officials.

Chiles said the absence of furniture inventories was discovered in a government-wide survey of stored goods conducted by the General Accounting Office, the investigative arm of Congress.

Chiles also released a list showing that federal agencies which kept inventories had $6.8 million in furniture and other equipment stored at more than 100 sites.

Last October, Chiles toured one of 78 government warehouses where usable furniture was stored in the Washington area. Although much of the furniture needed repair, some was brand new, still wrapped in plastic and stored in the original shipping cartons.

Published reports also claimed that usable furniture was being discarded in trash bins at the Agriculture Department.

The disclosures caused the head of the GSA last October to freeze furniture purchases while a review of stored furniture was conducted.

However, in his statement, Chiles said testimony will be presented at the hearing showing that some federal officials "continued to go on their merry way and keep the

Objections Heard To '911' System

By MARY SCHULKEN
Reflector Staff Writer

A public hearing held last night to discuss the implementation of a 911 universal emergency number in Pitt County resulted in expressions of displeasure by various members of fire and police departments around the county that say they would prefer the present system.

"It's working good just like it is," said Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson. His views were echoed by most of the approximately forty individuals attending the meeting.

"With inflation and the economy as it is, we need not to spend more money, but to save it," commented Greenville Police Chief Glen Cannon.

Presenting the 911 emergency number plan was Bill Lynch from the Governor's Crime Commission in Raleigh. "We want to make sure everyone knows what 911 is," he said. "Essentially it is a three digit number for help but when we use it we are referring to the entire system nationwide giving public access to emergency agencies."

Lynch cited the rising number of accidents and emergencies as good reasons for implementing a central number for emergencies. "The system is simple, it utilizes only three digits, you never have to look it up. Therefore, it can be used by children, in the dark, and under severe stress," explained Lynch.

"Time is of the essence in emergency situations," he added, "and this system drastically speeds up response time as usually measured."

Lynch gave as an example Durham County, where he said response time had been shortened considerably by the system.

"There are problems with the 911 system," he continued. He listed these as the people problem, the money problem, and the telephone company problem.

"The people problem deals with service agencies fretting over territory," explained Lynch. "The sheriff can't get along with the police chiefs, or vice versa."

The money problem, according to Lynch, deals mainly with installation costs and then a continuing cost. This difficulty relates to the telephone company problem.

Neither Lynch or Richard Flye of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph provided a definite estimate of the cost of a Pitt County 911 system.

"All I can give you," explained Lynch, "is a similar cost estimate." He cited Catawba County as a good example of possible costs in this area. Catawba County employs two full-time dispatchers and utilizes three 60-button consoles. They have 36 active lines, with 25 dedicated to 911. "The service cost there was $5,476 and the monthly charges are $2,300," he reported. In Orange County, however,

Child Is Killed By Car

FARMVILLE — A six-year-old girl reported crossing the Stantonsburg Road (State Road 1200) to board a school bus was killed this morning when she was struck by a car.

Medical Examiner Dr. Stan Harris identified the child as Miriam E. Harris. He said the accident occurred at 7:40 a. m. The child was dead at the scene of multiple neck and chest injuries, he indicated.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Trooper Spencer Padgett identified the driver of the car which hit the child as Harry Richard Heath, 34, of 406 W. Church Street, Farmville. He said Heath's car is traveling east public meeting, the westbound bus when the child apparently left the yard of her home and ran into the path of the car. He said the bus was not yet stopped when the accident occurred. The child was thrown 102 feet from the point of impact, he estimated.

The accident took place 2.8 miles from Farmville. Investigation is continuing. Trooper Padgett said.

El Salvador Soldiers Battle Uprising By Guerrilla Movement

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Troops and police battled guerrillas through the night in San Salvador as a leftist uprising against El Salvador's military-civilian junta went into its second day.

The government reported at least 53 persons killed. But one doctor said there were "many more dead than is being reported officially." Shooting was heard all over the capital during the night. There was speculation that ultra-rightist guerrillas were joining in to attack leftists.

"Many persons are trapped in their offices downtown because they are afraid to drive home," one resident reported.

Hundreds of soldiers ringed the national university and exchanged shots with militant leftists barricaded inside. The shooting was sporadic but very heavy, witnesses said.

Officials said the soldiers would not invade the sprawling campus since Latin-American campuses are traditionally off limits to government forces. But one officer said, "There are many weapons inside the university," and several persons who escaped from the campus reported "many dead and wounded" inside.

The uprising coincided with a general strike called by the Unified Leftist Movement, which includes the Popular Revolutionary Bloc, the United Popular Action Front, the Popular Leagues of Feb. 28 and the National Democratic Union, the front organization for the outlawed Communist Party.

Absorbing earlier defeats, Kennedy had said Illinois was the state where he'd turn it around. Now he is saying that he will press the challenge to Carter no matter what the outcome here, or in the New York primary one week from today.

He was campaigning for that one while Illinois Democrats cast their ballots today.

Anderson invited the Democrats, and independent voters, to make those ballots Republican, and mark them for him against Reagan. He campaigned until late Monday night, saying "the tide is rising. I've never felt more optimistic about an election in my life."

Big Stakes In Illinois Vote

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois, billed in advance as the showdown state, held its presidential primary election today, with Rep. John B. Anderson trying to detour Ronald Reagan's drive toward the Republican nomination and President Carter out to derail Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

The polls opened at 6 a. m. CST for 13 hours of balloting, with as many as 2.5 million voters expected to turn out on a brisk but sunny day.

The stakes were high: 152 votes for the Democratic presidential nomination in a state Kennedy once said would prove Carter's vulnerability to his challenge for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The senator from Massachusetts now says he'll beat the public opinion polls, which show him trailing Carter by a margin of more than 2-to-1, but doesn't claim he can beat the president.

IS CREDITING PAYMENT POLICY A PROBLEM?

Greenville Utilities is using a policy of not crediting payments that come in after 2 p. m. until the next working day. If the next working day is a holiday, it's not credited then. This puts a lot of people at a disadvantage, especially when they don't know about it. V.R.

C. T. Fleming, supervisor for collection at Greenville Utilities, told Hotline that the policy of crediting the payments the next day would not affect the customer in any way — no penalty, no charge, no bad credit, etc. "We close out for the day around 1 p. m. or 2 p. m., but it wouldn't be right to penalize the customer," said Fleming. "The date on the receipt would determine when the bill was paid, (in case of a holiday?) and I can't see any problem for the customer." Payments after the close out for the day will be posted the next day, according to Fleming. The customer has 20 days from the date the meter is read to pay his bill. About three days later, he'll receive a second notice which has a cut-off date on it. The customer would still have five days from the cut-off date to pay his bill, said Fleming.

"If we closed out at 5 p. m., we wouldn't get the money to the bank and someone would have to work night shift to post it." Therefore, closing out early is a matter of convenience.

the categories of school facilities based on an enrollment plan that substantially reflects the racial ratio in the school population.

Member Terry Shank called for a clarification of the specific intent of each of the two monthly meetings — the information meeting normally held on the first Monday night of each month, and the action meeting on the third Monday night of the month.

Following discussion, a suggestion was offered that a policy change be considered that would call for a prior decision by the superintendent and or the board before an action item could be placed on the agenda of the information meeting. This could entail the emergency meeting of the board prior to an information meeting. In addition, Cox said he had concerns about the use of "Old" and "New" business items of the agenda, and wanted to offer a more concise clarification of these terms to be considered by the board at the next action meeting.

In an update report on the city-county schools merger progress, Cox reported that he and Supt. Ott Alford of the county schools had met with Dr. Charles Weaver, and that Weaver had said he expected to have a study of alternatives ready by the end of April. The alternatives offered by Dr. Weaver will constitute another step in the schedule of studies being made by the joint city-county merger committee attempting to come up with a merger plan for County Commissioners.

The board approved the hiring of Brian Clark Sweeney for the interim position as Job Placement Officer with the vocational education program in the city schools.

Cox explained that due to a reallocation of allotments, the city schools had received funds making possible the filling of this position for the remainder of the current school year, and added this position will be built into the vocational education program next year.

In response to a question about the feasibility of hiring a person to work in job placement instead of an additional teacher. Cox said Congress was concerned about a better record of job placement after graduation for vocational education students, and that this was a step in that direction.

Addendum No. 6 to the substitute teacher list was approved. The list includes two with master degrees, five with teaching degrees, three with non-teaching degrees, and five with less than four years of college. Also approved was a roster of 57 student teachers of East Carolina University.

Authorization was granted to accept a bid of $400 for an obsolete mobile unit. Acceptance of the bid is automatically tabled for ten days to permit the possible receipt of an upset bid on the 56 and one-half by 12 feet unit, which is said to be in poor shape.

Board members took a look at the proposed tentative school calendar for the 1980-81 school year. This calendar calls for a beginning date for pupils on August 25 (orientation day) with an ending date of Tuesday, June 9. Cox noted the calendar provides for a full week at Easter. Also, because of the way Christmas falls this year, it will mean ten full school days for this holiday instead of the usual seven or eight school days.

$19 Million Is Given Public TV

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's public television viewers dug into their pockets and came up with more than $19 million to support 128 stations, says the Public Broadcasting Service.

The non-commercial network said Monday that 581,000 viewers pledged donations during a two-week fund-raising drive. The amount raised was 24 percent more than PBS stations raised last year, the network said.

PBS said Festival '80 began March 1 and ended early Monday with a 29-hour programming marathon that raised an estimated $5.3 million.

they encountered telephone costs of $30,000.

Much of the cost, according to Lynch, depends on the degree of service the phone company is presently capable of providing. "Some areas cannot even provide a seven-digit universal number, not to mention a three-digit one. If this is the case, modifications can be costly," he reported.

The telephone company is forbidden to make the consumers pay for the service by the state utilities commission. Therefore, communities wanting 911 service must pay the costs.

When asked what would be the cost of installing the system here, Richard Flye replied, "We don't know what it would cost until you know what you want."

"The phone company is mandated to furnish facilities for a system of this type. If you don't want it that's fine, if you do we will do the best we can to provide it," he added.

Walter Gray, Police Chief of Bethel, voiced his objections to the 911 system, saying "what we're interested in is service to the community. We would know our system better than a central dispatch would."

Police Chief Tommy Burney of Ayden commented, "The person answering the telephone who knows the county, the curves, etc. can get someone there faster than a central dispatch system."

"You say that the main reason for 911 is to give strangers an opportunity to call, but we don't have many strangers call us for help," said Gray.

Lynch commented that the central system had ultimately saved the counties that used it money. "In Orange County, they saved $35,000 in dispatchers' salaries," he reported.

"If we closed down dispatchers and jails in the county," said Gray, "would the county jail be large enough to accommodate all the prisoners?"

Sheriff Ralph Tyson answered, saying "Not at this point. It would have to be expanded."

"We are very happy and very satisfied with the present system," said Gray. "The way the communities feel, we don't want to lose anything. We want to serve the taxpayers."

County Commissioner Ed Warren emphasized "We are not here to make a decision now, we are here to hear your views."

Rezoning Plea Wins Approval

In a special meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission on Monday, board members voted to recommend that the City Council approve a rezoning request by the Boys' Club of Pitt County.

The Boys' Club, it was pointed out, is seeking to have approximately seven acres on the west side of Greenville Boulevard, adjacent to University Condominiums, rezoned from R-20 to R-6. Low density residential usage is allowed in R-20 zones, while R-6 allows high density residential development.

Staff planner Skip Browder pointed out that the property lies between Greenville Boulevard and Cedar Lane and is located totally within the corporate limits.

Initial plans had been made to build a new Boys' Club facility on the Greenville Boulevard site but the club now plans to sell the tract and build off Arlington Boulevard near Greenville Middle School.

Commissioners discussed a new "Manual of Standard Designs and Details" prepared by the Engineering Department, covering such items as preliminary and final plat preparation, storm drainage design, sedimentation control, street standards, pavement design, ground cover, driveways, parking and storm water retention.

Indict Duo For Medicaid Fraud

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Two Goldsboro optometrists were indicted Monday by a Wake County Grand Jury on 30 counts of defrauding the state Medicaid program.

The indictments charged Dr. William E. Mitchell in 28 counts, and his brother, Dr. Fred L. Mitchell, on two counts of feloniously obtaining $700 in Medicaid payments by false pretenses.

The two, who own and operate Wayne Optometric Associates Inc., are charged with providing false information on Medicaid claims to make it appear that Medicaid recipients were eligible to receive eyeglasses when they were not eligible.

William E. Mitchell also is charged with billing Medicaid for services he did not perform and with misrepresenting the cost of eyeglasses for which he had billed Medicaid.

Officers Are Elected By Greenville Jaycees

MIKE JOYNER

Michael V. (Mike) Joyner, a local certified public accountant, has been elected president of the Greenville Jaycees.

Joyner's election took place during the organization's annual elections session. The new president will take office on June 1.

Other officers elected by the Jaycees included: Bobby Tripp, administrative assistant (a new position); Don Fleming, internal vice president; Doug Bonds, external vice president; Jeff Allen, ways and means vice president.

B.S.B.A. degree and joined the certified public accountant firm of John C. Proctor & Co. here in 1974.

Joyner joined the Greenville Jaycees in 1972 and has served tenures as ways and means vice president, treasurer, and director, in addition to assistant state chairman of the Boys' Home All Star game and chairman of the 1979 July 4th activities. He was named Jaycee of the Year in 1977 by the local chapter.

The new president is a member of the board of directors of the newly formed Greenville Chapter of the Kidney Foundation of North Carolina and holds memberships in the state and national associations of certified public accountants.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Verlon Joyner of Greenville, he is married to the former Gail Williams of Greenville and the couple has a three-year-old daughter, Kim.

The family attends Hooker Memorial Christian Church where he serves as treasurer.

Power Outages Due Area's High Winds

High winds, accompanying heavy rain early today, caused power outages in Winterville and in the Calico-Stokestown section of the county.

Spokesmen for the Town of Winterville said this morning that electric service was interrupted for about 3 hours after limbs from a tree fell on power lines there.

A Greenville Utilities Commission spokesman said a pole was blown down near Stokestown on N.C. 102 about 2:26 a.m., which took a main line down, and shut power off along N.C. 102 and on N.C. 43, below Chicod.

That damage was repaired and service restored by 6:55 a.m.

According to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station, 1.67 inches of rain fell during the 24 hour period ending at 8 a.m. today. The temperature at that time stood at 62 degrees.

Yesterday's high was reported at 67 degrees, while the low yesterday was recorded at 37 degrees.

The Tar River level at 8 a.m. today was 10.8 feet, while the level at 8 a.m. yesterday was 10.5 feet.

Clean Up Last Of Dumped Oil

KENNER, La. (AP) — Crews have cleaned up the last of 378,000 gallons of crude oil dumped into one of the busiest sections of the Mississippi River, officials say.

The major spill occurred Saturday during a barge collision on Kenner Bend. Coast Guard Petty Officer Kenneth Wink said large patches of oil formed at the site and smaller patches formed farther down stream before the crude was vacuumed by clean-up crews, pushed into the Gulf or dissipated by currents.

None of the grain aboard the second barge involved was lost, Wink said Monday. The river was not closed after the incident.

Security Role For Edmisten

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — State Attorney General Rufus Edmisten has been named to a committee charged with overseeing security at the Democratic National Convention in New York Aug. 11-14.

Edmisten says the chief attraction of the largely honorary post is that he will be able to go wherever he wants at the convention. He said he was chosen because of his close ties with law enforcement organizations around the country.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

I've always hated being short. There are a lot of reasons for it.

All the short guys who were supposed to feel secure around me and buzz my house every weekend didn't and never did.

People feel a compulsion to hug you because you remind them of a stuffed animal they had as a child.

And every kitchen I've ever owned was built to accommodate Julia Childs (6-2).

It's a tall world and to reinforce my theory, there's a new book coming out next month called "The Height of Your Life," written by Ralph Keyes.

He writes that our height is our destiny and there is a strong and pervasive bias in our society in favor of tall people.

It's true. The more successful you become, the taller people think you are.

The taller you are, the more money you make.

Tall women are even more fertile. (Two advantages out of three isn't bad.)

One of the things I never considered until I saw it in print was the relation between height and jobs. If you're short and female this will really frost you.

Miss Americas "average" 5-7 and the contest is gradually swinging toward taller girls year after year, suggesting that the pageant management does not see a short girl as representative of America and its ideals.

Models are traditionally moose-like. One agency said the ideal woman model measures 5-7 to 5-9. I should know. I buy all of her clothes and shorten them.

Tall chorus girls occupy the center of the chorus line and get paid more for being there. The stubbies are put on the ends. One show in Vegas advertises 5-8 and up!

So what are the job opportunities left for short women? According to Mr. Keyes: ballclub mascots. Short people are always needed to fit the chicken outfits.

Psychologists, rock stars, radio and TV reporters, and military heroes. (No wonder they want us for the draft.) Theatrical agents are usually short, and saints are notoriously built close to the ground. And we all know how many openings there are for saints.

They could add "writer" to the list. Most of us are small in stature, or maybe we just don't bother to stand up. Oh, well, if we write tall... maybe no one will notice.

TODAY'S STORY

Sweet Cindy, having been presented an Ariane Clark Gift by the Frog Prince, tells him she cannot marry him because her Mean Stepmother would Object. The Prince Vanishes, leaving Sweet Cindy alone in the Garden. .)

"Well," said Sweet Cindy to herself, "I'll go in, but my Stepmother will probably wrest this Ariane Clark Gift from me."

Just then, the door Opened and out came the Magic Prince, leading a Donkey. He led the Donkey to the farther side of the Garden and tied it to a stob. Then he lifted up Sweet Cindy and carried her over the Threshold. "That sure tickles," said Sweet Cindy.

After several days in the House, Sweet Cindy said, "My Stepmother must have Gone for Good, so I consent, Sweet Prince."

The Prince fell at her Feet. "Oh, Sweet Cindy!" he said, "You must go now to Ariane Clark and select your Silver and China and Crystal."

"Class! Class!" cried Sweet Cindy. And went and did so. Then they were Married and lived happily ever after, nothing marring their Bliss save an occasional bray heard from the Garden.

Mrs. Sumrell Gives Program

The Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club held its dinner meeting Thursday at the Ramada Inn.

The program was presented by the Ways and Means Committee, whose chairman is Mary Harper. Dena Harrell introduced Mrs. Lucille Sumrell, arts and crafts supervisor with the Greenville Recreation and Parks Department, as speaker. She displayed several crafts and encouraged those present to participate in the department's program.

Jodi Hyder reported on her recent trip to the National Legislative Conference in Washington, D. C. The banquet speaker was Joan Mondale and her topic was "Women in the Arts."

Elizabeth Deal, Mildred Pate and Ann Jackson were named to a nominating committee.

The Finance Committee members were hostesses and dinner tables featured spring flowers. Naomi Edwards is committee chairman.

Dumping Is Intolerable

An Associated Press story recently told of gypsy truckers who are dumping toxic chemicals from mid-Atlantic and Western state factories in the woods of northern New England.

The shady operators reportedly get $2,200 for a haul from Wilmington, Del. to Maine. From New York to Vermont the report is a going rate of $900.

So far the authorities have had difficulty in curbing the illegal practice of dumping dangerous chemicals. The culprits use phony shipping manifests, false company names and operate in the dead of night.

North Carolina had a sobering experience with such dumping along its highways, and the state is still trying to figure out how to get rid of the deadly mess which was created.

The U. S. Environmental Protection Agency has come up with some new rules to control disposal of hazardous wastes. Records of shipments will have to be kept and confirmation will have to be obtained that the wastes were disposed of in proper dumps.

The rules have not yet taken effect, and it is not certain that they will stop the illegal traffic.

Illegal waste dumping must be stopped. It is going to take the efforts of all law enforcement agencies, individual citizens and perhaps specially trained squads, but it is something our society should not tolerate.

They Can't Escape In Iran

The "other" embassy hostages — in Bogota, Colombia — appear to be headed for a long stay.

The situation is far different that that in Iran, where government condones such outrages, but the terrorist in Bogota seem to be dug in for a stay.

Monday the Uruguayan ambassador made a daring escape by tying together bedsheets and lowering himself from the second floor where he found safety in the hands of military police.

Escape would be futile in Iran. Those who escaped the enemy would find themselves in the hand of a government pledged to lawlessness.

It is not a pretty situation.

THIS AFTERNOON Toxics' Disposal

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Plans are being made by North Carolina's state government which could lead to this state becoming a major location for new techniques in disposal of toxic and hazardous wastes, including low-level radioactive materials.

A special task force headed by Dr. Quentin Lindsey, science advisor to Gov. Jim Hunt, has been quietly at work for many months developing a program for action both in the 1980 short session of the General Assembly, and in future years.

Details of the task force conclusions remain sketchy, but it is clear that a number of high governmental agency officials and elected officials are convinced that North Carolina must take the lead in finding a method of getting rid of the untold bulk of poisonous industrial and research byproducts now piling up at an alarming rate.

Here, pieced together from several different knowledgeable sources, are the bare bones of what is happening. The timing of legislative proposals — even the certainty of future action — is still in doubt.

By reducing the bulk to ashes, Barnwell authorities have told North Carolina officials, in effect, "If you'll burn it, we'll bury the ashes."

2 State officials, faced with loud and militant public opposition to location of toxic waste disposal facilities in numerous communities, have devised a financial scheme to reward those communities which accept such a facility. Part of the fees paid to the disposal facility would be earmarked for a state fund to insure perpetual care and security of the site even after the facility is no longer in operation; a fund paid to the local board of county commissioners to offset any undesirable effects of the facility, such as lost revenues because other industries or growth factors won't locate near a disposal facility; and a fund paid to a local community to help pay for landscaping or recreational facilities or fire departments in the vicinity of the disposal facility.

Up In Arms
Lindsey recently spoke to a committee of the General Assembly concerned with solid waste disposal. State Rep. Charles Charles Holt, D-Cumberland, summed up the dilemma in few words. The problem, he said, is "How to locate a disposal

DOESN'T LOOK GOOD FOR OUR SIDE!

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK Right-Of-Access Study

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — Suppose, to be supposing, that four persons die when their private home burns down. Does a newspaper reporter have any right to wander at will through the ruins, searching for the "color" that might improve his story?

The answer is clearly no. Nothing in the First Amendment conceivably endows the press with any right of access to wholly private property. Suppose the fire is in a hotel or a restaurant. These are places of public accommodation. The death toll is large. Do reporters have any right of access, superior to the rights of the general public, to enter the smoldering premises in order to gather news of the tragedy? Here the answer is not quite so clear.

And suppose, to be further supposing, that the news involves a public institution — a prison, a hospital or a public school? Is there a constitutional right of access in instances such as these?

For the past several days, a First Amendment Congress of journalists has been examining such questions here in Williamsburg. A better spot could not have been found. It was here in 1776 that George Mason, in his Virginia Declaration of Rights, first asserted a right to freedom of speech "and of the press." Twelve years later James Madison would pick up Mason's language in drafting what would become the First Amendment to the Constitution.

Confidential sources, and to gather the news itself.

None of these areas of concern offers greater difficulty than the question of access. In the landmark case of Houchins vs. KQED, decided in June of 1978, three members of the Supreme Court (Burger, White and Rehnquist), held flatly that the First Amendment implies no such thing: Reporters have no right of access "to government information or sources of information within the government's control." Three others (Stevens, Brennan and Powell) seemed to disagree: "Information gathering is entitled to some measure of constitutional protection." One justice (Stewart) came down in the middle. Marshall and Blackmun took no part.

The issue thus remains uncertainly resolved. My own strong conviction, for whatever it may be worth, is that a right of access goes hand in hand with a right to publish. The latter is meaningless without the former. In a time of pervasive government involvement in our lives, the press may be denied the very freedom promised by the First Amendment if access to public institutions may be blandly forbidden to us. How do we cover the news and serve the people if any county sheriff can keep the press from examining conditions in a county jail?

I cannot accept the view that freedom of speech and freedom of the press are constitutionally all the same thing. Freedom of speech is every person's right, but "the press" is an institution. It is indeed the only private institution singled out by the Constitution for special protection. As such, I will argue, "the press" has a right — though surely not an unlimited right — to gain access to public institutions. All we have to do is to sell our case to the Supreme Court — and so far, we've failed.

To the editor:

In response to Mr. Harper's letter, published in the Mar. 14 edition of "The Daily Reflector," I say he is absolutely right — Why not legalize a drug that causes brain deterioration and cancer?

Why shouldn't we legalize marijuana, so people could smoke it, deteriorate their brains and not have to worry about being caught by the police? The logic he uses in stating that "this would put the sellers of marijuana out of business" is just plain stupid. Furthermore, any government that sells a drug of this kind for tax revenue should be thrown in jail.

Greg Fidler, Student
E. B. Aycock Junior High School

To the editor:

A mining operation in the middle of a designated natural area within a North Carolina State Park? Unbelievable? Gov. Hunt, Howard Lee and Jim Stevens have recently approved a lease agreement giving N. C. Molybdenum Corporation a 10-year right to remove and process molybdenum ore within Medoc Mountain State Park in Halifax County.

Just how secure are our state parks? Remember last summer when the U. S. Marines at Cap Lejeune asked to use Hammocks Beach State Park as an exclusive playground for their personnel? Or do you recall when the NCDHR proposed a camp for emotionally handicapped children within Merchants Millpond State Park? Did you know that Weyerhaeuser Corporation retains the mineral (phosphate?) rights beneath Goose Creek State Park, or that a gravel company has the mineral rights in Stone Mountain State Park?

North Carolinians interested in protecting the natural heritage of our state should write to Gov. Hunt or their legislators asking for legislations which would ensure public participation in transactions involving state park lands, and that environmental impact statements be prepared prior to any actual mining within park lands. Finally, we question the wisdom of a state parks policy which allows retention or awarding of mineral rights on acquired land.

Power Elite Of Illinois

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
CHICAGO — On Friday noon before the presidential primary here, Gov. James Thompson summoned the power elite of the Illinois Republican Party into secret session over luncheon at the University Club in Chicago to consider the looming reality of life with Reagan.

The would-be power brokers had come to think of the Illinois primary results, once regarded crucial to the Republican presidential nomination, as largely irrelevant. Even if their fellow Illinoisan, Rep. John Anderson, defeated Ronald Reagan in the "beauty contest," as signalled by polls, the party leaders saw little prospect that anybody could defeat Reagan for the presidential nomination.

Thus, Big Jim Thompson, who last month came within a hair of endorsing the now-fading George Bush, gave this advice at the University Club luncheon: Keep cool, don't attempt any stop-Reagan drive (as desired by some present) — especially an eleventh-hour Gerald Ford candidacy. That means any impetus to keep the nomination from Reagan will not come from Illinois, which once seemed its most probable source.

ideology, are not greatly concerned by Anderson's liberalism but are convinced he cannot be nominated by a Republican national convention. That conviction was reinforced at the nationally televised debate here when Anderson, proclaiming his intention to build "a new politics," refused to pledge Republican loyalty.

As for Ford, Thompson and most of his allies felt it was too late for him. A case in point is former Rep. Tim Sheehan, Jerry Ford's pal from congressional days and a respected party leader here. He twice urged the former president to run without success, then filed as a pro-Reagan delegate.

That was the situation when Thompson set up the University Club luncheon. "Make no mistake," one party leader confided. "We're getting together to stop Reagan." But not Thompson. He had more modest ambitions: electing a majority of uncommitted delegates Tuesday against Totten's Reagan-committed delegates.

Highly important in Illinois, that would mean Big Jim instead of Don Totten leading the delegation in Detroit. Those uncommitted delegates as realistic politicians would presumably have little interest in Anderson. They could back Ford if he actually becomes a factor or Bush if he miraculously revives. But most guess they may end up voting for Reagan, whose nomination may have long dreaded.

Accommodation with reality was in the air when Totten, Thompson's antagonist in Springfield's legislative wars, telephoned to say Reagan would like to see the governor alone. Previously, Totten had prevailed on Reagan to decline Thompson's invitation to an executive mansion dinner of the kind accorded other presidential candidates. A few hours before the televised debate, Thompson, un-noticed, entered Reagan's suite on the ninth floor of the Drake Hotel (with Totten not present). By all accounts, it was a cordial, forgettable chat with Thompson giving Reagan some tips on energy policy.

That might make it slightly easier to accept life with Reagan. So might Reagan's virtuoso performance in the debate. But on primary eve, Illinois Republican leaders note Reagan's difficulty in expanding his 30 percent hard core in the polls and wonder whether that portends disaster in November. Any movement to make sure that does not happen will have to begin some place other than Illinois.

SELF-ACCEPTANCE AND SELF-CRITICISM
"If I cannot accept myself," said a young man who had been through a difficult emotional experience, "I cannot live with myself, if I cannot criticize myself, no one will live with me." His statement presents something of a dilemma. How far can we go in accepting ourselves and our limitations, and at what point must we begin the painful process of self-criticism?

If we always accept ourselves as we are, and

Spending More, Saving Less

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
Battered by bills and double-digit inflation, U.S. families are spending more and saving less these days.

The U.S. League of Savings Association says that in the last quarter of 1979, savings totaled only 3.3 percent of disposable income — the lowest rate of any time since World War II.

In January, the Consumer Price Index increased at an annual rate of 18 percent. Even the high-interest certificates of deposit pay less than 18 percent a year. An ordinary savings account pays less than 6 percent annually. There is less incentive to save when your dollars are not even earning enough to keep up with inflation.

Efforts are under way in Congress to encourage savings by providing a tax deduction for part of the interest earned. There also are proposals to remove the ceiling on interest rates on savings accounts.

For most people, saving is a day-to-day, dollar-by-dollar activity and economists at Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank, have some advice to make it easier.

Establish goals. Figure out how much you need on hand in case of an emergency. "Experts suggest that in today's economic climate, an emergency fund should, with the help of unemployment insurance, be large enough to carry you for six months...if you should lose your job," says a recent Citibank newsletter for consumers.

Decide how much you can realistically expect to set aside on a regular basis and set a target date for bringing your emergency fund up to par.

Once you develop a master plan, you'll have to find the money to make it work. Here are some suggestions from Citibank:

- Pay yourself first. When you get your paycheck, put part of it — even if it is only a few dollars — into a savings account before you do anything else. If you wait to see what you have left after paying the bills, the chances are you won't have anything.
- Collect coins. Put loose change into a jar or jars. When you have enough, get coin wrappers from the bank and deposit the money in a savings account.
- Put refunds to work.

When you get a refund for a supermarket product, put it in the bank instead of in your wallet. If you have business expenses for which you are reimbursed, put the company payments into a special savings account.

- Take advantage of a debt repayment. Suppose you've been paying off a bill at the rate of $25 a month. You're used to setting aside the $25. When the bill is paid, continue to set aside the $25, but put it into savings instead.
- Break one habit to start another. Do you really need that Danish pastry you eat at work every day? Are you trying to stop smoking? Put the money you normally would spend on habits like these in a piggy bank and periodically transfer the contents to a savings account.

FOCUS

"Campaign of Ideas"

"We have tried to make this a campaign of ideas," presidential candidate John Anderson said after his strong showings in the Vermont and Massachusetts primaries two weeks ago. Anderson's ideas often do not agree with those of his Republican opponents. Unlike many Republicans, he has opposed sharp increases in military spending, while supporting the Panama Canal and SALT II treaties and favoring the registration of handguns. He has also proposed a 50-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline, to help reduce fuel consumption and provide money for the Social Security System. Anderson's "campaign of ideas" faces another test today, with an important primary election in the candidate's home state.

DO YOU KNOW — What state does John Anderson represent in the House of Representatives?

MONDAY'S ANSWER — The shamrock is Ireland's national flower.

Pitt Schools Will Use Cal. Achievement Test

Pitt County Schools will be using the California Achievement Test to assess the educational progress throughout the county. The tests will be administered between March 18 and March 26. Test schedules will vary from school to school, therefore interested parents should contact their local school if there are any questions.

According to John McKnight, assistant superintendent in charge of testing, test administrators and their proctors have been trained in each school. Test coordinators will also insure that each student has the best testing conditions possible. Students in first through ninth grades will be tested. Areas being tested will be language arts and mathematics. Also students in the fourth through eighth grades will be tested in social studies and science.

Katheryn Lewis, assistant superintendent for Pitt County Schools stated "these tests and their scores will be used to strengthen the educational development of each and every Pitt County student involved in the testing."

Test scores will be released later this spring and parents are urged to come out and discuss their child's performance with his or her teacher.

Parents should be aware of testing during the following week. The county schools suggest that students get a good night's rest and have a substantial breakfast for best results on the test.

West Point Students Hold A Science Fair

D.H. Conley High School senior Michael Wayne Joyner of Winterville has been offered an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y. for the class that will enter this summer.

MICHAEL JOYNER

Joyner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Joyner. He is a member of the National Honor Society, the school yearbook staff, several school clubs, cross country and track teams, and holds the rank of major in Conley's JROTC. In addition, Michael has attained the Eagle Scout badge in Boy Scout Troop 550 in Winterville.

Congressman Walter B. Jones has offered his congratulations to Joyner and has expressed full confidence that the student will be an "outstanding representative of the First Congressional District of North Carolina."

On Friday the students at G.R. Whitfield School held their annual science fair. Around eighty exhibits were entered by students from grades one through eight. A variety of projects were presented in the area of technical, physical, earth, life and biological sciences.

Prizes were awarded in these categories for entries in grades first through fifth and in grades six through eighth. Winners were, grades one through five, technical physical, earth category: first place, Brenda Hardee; second place, Quincy Hawkins; third place, Patti Jones and Gwen Whitehurst; life and biological category: first place, Shannon Foster.

Grades six through eight for the same categories are: first place, Lisa Stokes; second place, Lee Hardee; third place, Renee Rice; in the life, biological category: first place, Jeff Taft and Mike Richardson; second place, Ann Hardy, Pam Hardy and Carolyn Brown; third place, Debbie Adams, Dawn Adler and Darrell Stephenson.

Exhibits were judged by Mrs. Katheryn Lewis, assistant superintendent of Pitt County Schools. The exhibits for the science fair were supervised by Earl Bruton, science teacher.

facility without getting a community up in arms."

But in response to Lindsey's description of a user's fee to fund state and local activities related to such a facility, several legislators termed such an approach a bribe to accept what would be otherwise an unacceptable program.

Lindsay responded that such facilities are not likely to be major investments nor have large payrolls, and therefore would not be attractive to a community. Besides, he said, there would likely be negative effects on the community.

"We are, then, asking these communities to accept these facilities with no positive effects for themselves, but for the greater benefit of the entire state, and the other people in the state," Lindsey said.

"It is not a bribe ... The fees would be used for enhancing safety — or the feeling of safety — and other community improvements," Lindsey said.

Three Accidents In Greenville Monday

An estimated $2,050 property damage resulted from three traffic collisions investigated here yesterday by Greenville Police.

Heaviest damage, according to investigators, resulted from a 10:25 a.m. collision on St. Andrews Dr., 30 feet North of the Greenville Boulevard intersection.

Officers reported a car driven by Johnnie Small-Bey of 1111B West Fourth St. collided with a utility pole, causing $650 damage to the car and $400 damage to the pole.

Small-Bey was charged with exceeding a safe speed following investigation of the mishap.

Police reported a truck driven by John Lawson Maness of New Bern collided with the Bank of North Carolina building at 2820 East Tenth St., about 4:03 p.m., causing $200 damage to the truck and $500 damage to a corner of the bank building.

Cars driven by James Noah Gilbert Jr. of 1509 Myrtle Ave., and Phyllis Dawson Tyson of 104B Phillips Cir. collided about 10:45 a.m. at the intersection of Fifth and Hudson Streets, resulting in an estimated $200 damage to the Gilbert car and $100 damage to the Tyson vehicle.

FELLOWSHIP SERVICE

There will be a fellowship service at Mill Chapel F.W.B. Church this week end. Beginning Saturday night at 7 o'clock the church will conduct common services. On Sunday at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. there will be services. Pastor Jimmy Swinson invites the public to attend.

Stabber Killed 2, Wounded Another

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Police were searching for a man early this morning who killed two persons and wounded a third in a stabbing attack.

Authorities said Catherine Graham, 36, of Greensboro, and Joseph T. McKinney, 20, of Gibsonville, were killed in the attack. The surviving victim, Henry Lee McNeill, 19, was in stable condition at Moses Cone Hospital with a puncture wound in his lung.

The bodies of Ms. Graham and McNeill were found in a house on McCulloch Street, where the murders occurred shortly before 4 a.m. Monday.

McKinney's body was found at a nearby restaurant where he apparently fled to call for help after being stabbed, police said.

A spokesman for the police department said no motive has been found, although five or six persons were in the house at the time of the incident.

Capt. B.L. Thomas, chief of the Criminal Investigation Bureau, said McKinney was scheduled to appear as a witness for the state Monday in another case involving charges of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill and inflicting serious injury.

Police said they believe the assailant was a male, about 30 years old.

Mobile Homes Rate Hike Asked

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Rate Bureau has asked for a 6 percent rate hike for mobile homeowner's insurance policies.

The bureau filed the request with the Department of Insurance and said a 63.8 percent increase was needed. State law limits the request to 6 percent.

The increase, which would become effective Aug. 1, would raise the rates for the most common mobile-homeowner's policy by $10, from $170 to $180 a year, on a value of $12,000.

 warehouses full of new furniture." The suits, filed Monday in U.S. District Court here by the Justice Department, named 13 contractors, five corporations and nine former employees of the General Services Administration, the federal agency that rents or buys space in buildings and offices.

The suits cited more than $3.8 million in alleged bribes to federal employees and fraudulent contracts. The government wants twice that amount in damages, plus a forfeit of $2,000 each for more than 2,000 allegedly fraudulent contracts. Vincent B. Terlep Jr., an attorney for the Civil Division of the Justice Department, said the suits were the first arising from investigations into operations of the GSA's Public Buildings Service in the nation's capital. Terlep said more suits involving the building service are expected soon.

In an unrelated development, the GSA has decided that a New Jersey company, although convicted last year of bribing federal officials, still may sell supplies to the government.

The case involves Atlas Paint and Varnish Co., of Irvington, N.J. Last year, Atlas was convicted of paying thousands of dollars in kickbacks to GSA officials from 1969 to 1977. The GSA's decision was made last month but went unnoticed until Monday.

The GSA fined the company $10,000 and barred two of its top officials from dealings with the government for three years. Paul J. Caggiano, acting director of the GSA's office of contracts, cited the firm's position as a small business in a high unemployment area as a principal reason for the decision.

Asked in a telephone interview about the appearance of the GSA continuing to do business with a firm convicted of bribery, Caggiano said, "I'm not concerned with how it looks."

Discussing the nine suits filed Monday, Terlep said the government still is trying to determine how much was

Prime Rate Is Up Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The cost of business loans jumped today for the fifth time this month as Chase Manhattan Bank and the First National Bank of Chicago raised their prime lending rate to a record 19 percent.

Chase Manhattan, which had moved to an 18 1/2 percent rate on loans to top-ranked businesses March 13, also said it is instituting a special loan rate for small businesses. The small business rate is pegged initially at 18 1/4 percent.

First National Bank of Chicago raised its prime rate from the 18 1/2 percent level it set last Friday. The prime stood at 16 1/2 percent on March 1, and was at 15 1/4 percent before the latest round of credit-tightening by the Federal Reserve began in mid-February.

Chase, the nation's third-largest bank, said its decision to raise the prime "is consistent with the philosophy and programs outlined by the President and the Federal Reserve to exercise discipline and restraint in lending."

The prime rate is not directly tied to rates on consumer loans or home mortgages. But those rates have been moving up as well recently, the result of the Fed's actions that are attempting to slow the economy and stall 18 percent-a-year inflation.

Tito Condition Is Worsening

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Doctors treating President Josip Broz Tito said today the 87-year-old Yugoslav leader had developed extensive stomach hemorrhaging and his very grave condition had declined further.

"Things are becoming worse," said government spokesman Tone Vahen. "This is how the bulletin reads and we cannot really add anything to it."

Tito's eight-doctor medical panel said it was continuing intensive treatment to keep him alive at the Slovenian hospital he entered 67 days ago.

Stomp Hard If It's Bomb-Fuse

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "I guess you can stomp pretty hard when there's a bomb about to go off under your feet," said a police spokesman after an officer trampled out a burning fuse connected to two sticks of dynamite.

Officials said the bomb, left Sunday at the studios of television station KPTV, was defused by Patrolman Lloyd Higgins when an anonymous caller tipped authorities. There were no injuries.

The attempt was linked by police to the March 9 bombing of a Shell Oil Co. office here. A man who said he represented the "James Bond Organization" claimed responsibility for that incident.

Davis' Sixth Homer Tops Richmond

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
 East Carolina University's Pirates spotted the University of Richmond a 1-0 lead in the first inning, then came back to gain a 4-1 triumph, snapping a two-game losing streak.

The game, played under threatening skies, was moved up twice in time, finally played at 12 noon, and finished under a light sprinkle.

The Pirates got a good pitching effort from Bill Wilder, who struck out seven, walked none and gave up six hits.

"Bill never felt good out there today," Coach Hal Baird said. "He really didn't think he could get the job done and we had Mickey (Britt) up all up until the third inning. But Wilder was successful in keeping the Spiders away from the plate after that. They did put a man on second with one out in the second, but left him standing. Another reached second on an error and a sacrifice in the third, and a double play erased a man at second in the fifth. A single and a stolen base put another on second in the sixth, but Wilder never gave up more than one baserunner in an inning, and shut the Spiders off completely in the final two innings.

Meanwhile, Spider hurler Tim Cecil was keepig his team in the game with fine hurling. The Pirates didn't threaten until the third—when they scored twice to move ahead, 2-1. John Hallow led off with a double, but was cut down trying to reach third when Todd Hendley's bunt was played there. Hendley then scored just ahead of Butch Davis as the leadoff batter cracked out his sixth home run of the season with two away to give the Pirates the lead.

Panthers Nip Roanoke, 8-6

BETHEL — North Pitt High School held off a Roanoke rally yesterday and gained an 8-6 baseball victory over the Redskins.

Roanoke pushed over a run in the first to take an early lead. Anthony Latham doubled, stole third and scored on a sacrifice fly by Glen Cargile.

In the bottom of the first, however, North Pitt scored three times. Carl Knight doubled and Greg Briley walked. William Beacham doubled in both runners and scored the third run on a hit by Bob Hemingway.

Roanoke added a run in the second, but the Panthers countered that with two, including a homer by Roger Bell. Roanoke scored two more in the third to close the gap to 5-4.

In the fourth, however, North Pitt put it out of reach, scoring three more times. Briley walked and so did Beacham and Ron House, loading the bases. Hemingway singled in one run, and Gregory Briley singled in the other two.

Roanoke scored two more in the seventh, but fell short. North Pitt, now 2-1, was scheduled to travel to Southern Nash today.

Sampson, Lamp Spark Virginia

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Sampson, probably the most sought-after high school basketball player since Wilt Chamberlain, says he is not ready to forego his final three years of college ball for the pros.

The 7-foot-4, 210-pound Sampson led the Virginia Cavaliers into the final of the National Invitation Tournament, scoring 26 points, grabbing 15 rebounds and blocking four shots Monday night in a 90-71 victory over Nevada-Las Vegas.

Sampson has averaged 14.6 points and 11 rebounds with the Cavaliers this season, and he has blocked 155 shots in 33 games. His statistics have stirred interest in the front office of the Boston Celtics, who would like him to go hardship and turn pro.

"I haven't established anything about turning pro yet," said the 19-year-old from Harrisonburg, Va. "I know I'm not physically ready, and I'm probably not all the way emotionally ready for the pros." With Virginia tied 35-35 at the half with Nevada-Las Vegas in the NIT semifinals, Sampson led a surge that gave Virginia a 10-point lead. Sampson scored nine points as the Cavaliers outscored the Runnin' Rebels 20-10 and took a 55-45 lead with 13 minutes left in the game.

Jeff Lamp, a 6-6 swingman, had seven points in the surge, and wound up with game honors at 30 points. Michael Burns led Nevada-Las Vegas with 20 points.

"We work well together," Sampson said of he and Lamp. "We move well. He gets the ball to me when I need it, and I get it to him when he needs it."

"We had to get out and establish a lead in the second half," Sampson said.

With the victory, Virginia, 23-10, earned the right to face Minnesota, 21-10, in the NIT final Wednesday night. Minnesota edged Illinois 65-63 in the first game of the semis. Illinois, 21-13, and Nevada-Las Vegas, 23-8, will meet in the consolation game preceding Wednesday night's final.

Another big freshman, 7-2 reserve center Randy Breuer, was the key to Minnesota's victory. Breuer scored 24 points and grabbed nine rebounds as the Gophers held on to beat Illinois. Darryl Mitchell hit two free throws with 14 seconds remaining to provide Minnesota with its final margin.

"We watched the Minnesota game real close," Cavaliers Coach Terry Holland said. "I marked down the score when Breuer came into the game. I think it was 14-8 (in favor of Illinois). Even when he didn't get the rebound, he had a hand on it."

When Breuer came off the bench, Gophers Coach Jim Dutcher was able to move his top scorer, 6-11 Kevin McHale, to forward. That gave Minnesota plenty of height on the front line with the other forward, Gary Holmes, going 6-10.

"Their height will present some problems for us," Holland said. Asked if he would compare Minnesota with big and burly Atlantic Coast Conference foe Clemson, Holland said: "Minnesota looked more like the Russians tonight."

Breuer scored 13 consecutive points for Minnesota over a span of six minutes in the second half, all from the inside and the foul line, as the Gophers battled to take a four-point lead, 48-44, with nearly 13 minutes left.

Minnesota never led by more than three after that, and even trailed 51-30 once on a bucket by Illinois' Reno Gray with 9:20 left.

"I think some of our big people got tired toward the end," Dutcher said. "Breuer and McHale weren't moving as well."

East Carolina didn't see another man on second until the sixth when Billy Best reached there on a fielder's choice and a stolen base.

The only other opportunity the Pirates saw came in the eighth, when they added two unearned runs for insurance. Mike Sorrell reached on an error on the shortstop, and scored when Kelly Robinette slapped a double into left field. With two away, Raymie Styons reached on an error when his grounder was bobbed at third, and he moved up, letting Robinette score when the ball was then overthrown for a second misplay on his ball.

Robinette was the only Pirate to get more than one hit, banging out three during

The annual East Carolina University Football Banquet will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Greenville American Legion Building. Members of the 1979 East Carolina team will be honored during the evening, and awards presented to outstanding players.

Among the awards to be presented will be those to the permanent team captains for the season. Selected for that honor are Mike Brewington on defense and Matt Mulholland on offense.

Dr. Tom Brewer will serve as the speaker for the evening.

Kinston Downs Ayden-Grifton

KINSTON — Kinston High School pushed over six second inning runs and went on to take a 12-7 baseball victory over Ayden-Grifton yesterday.

It was the second loss in three starts for the Chargers, who travel to Roanoke today.

Ayden-Grifton opened the scoring in the first inning, getting two across. Chris Strickland walked and so did Bernard Ricciarelli. Tyrone Gay singled in Gay, and an error allowed Ricciarelli to score.

Roanoke added a run in the second, but the Panthers countered that with two, including a homer by Roger Bell. Roanoke scored two more in the third to close the gap to 5-4.

and Grady and Pittman walked, loading the bases. A tucker ball let Goodwin in. Tucker walked and Sasser singled in Grady, with an error on the play letting Pittman score. Consecutive walks to Bruton, Mitchell, Goodwin and Grady brought in the remaining runs.

Ayden-Grifton was never able to catch up after that. Gay led the A-G hitting with four, while Strickland added two. Wade had three to pace Kinston.

Second Meeting For Weltlich, Duke Folks

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — University of Mississippi coach Bob Weltlich was believed to be in North Carolina on Monday, meeting for the second time with Duke University officials about their basketball coaching vacancy.

Weltlich left Oxford on Monday but Ole Miss officials said they did not know where the coach was headed but understood he intended to talk with Duke officials early in the week.

Weltlich was named Southeastern Conference coach of the year after guiding the Rebels to a 17-13 overall record for the highest victory total at Ole Miss in 42 years. He had talked earlier with both Iowa State and Duke about their coaching vacancies.

He has been at Ole Miss for four years and receives a salary of $33,000 annually. His contract was extended for two years in December and is scheduled to end in 1982.

Weltlich had said earlier that he had not been offered the job at Duke but said they had offered to fly him to Durham to talk to their search committee.

"I would assume they consider me one of their finalists," he said. Duke officials said they hoped to make a decision on the coaching vacancy by the end of the week. However, Duke athletic director Tom Butters would neither confirm nor deny reports that Weltlich was enroute to Durham, N.C.

for a meeting with him. "Whether or when I meet with him is of no concern to the public," Butters said. He refused to place any significance on the fact that a meeting with Weltlich would be the second between the two men.

Earlier, Weltlich announced his decision not to be considered for a coaching vacancy at Iowa State University. Weltlich had flown to Ames, Iowa last week to interview for the position.

"I appreciate the interest that Iowa State has shown in me as a candidate for the basketball job," Weltlich said. "I found our discussions to be most enlightening and informative, but I think it is in the best interest of all concerned that I remove myself from consideration."

Weltlich, who reportedly spent Friday and Saturday in Lexington, Ky., talking with Duke University officials, confirmed that additional meetings would be held this week.

He said he hoped to have a final decision on any Duke offer by the end of the week. Weltlich returned to Oxford on Sunday and met with athletic director Warner Alford.

Prior to the meeting, Weltlich said he had no intention of playing one school against the other. "I'm going to say, 'Hey, what do you want to do with our basketball program?' Then I'm going to compare the different things," he said.

Weltlich said among the things he would like to see at Ole Miss are increased season ticket sales, a television program for himself and a broader radio network.

"If we are to remain competitive, these are some improvements we have to make," he said. "I'm not making unrealistic demands on anyone."

Alford said that during the meeting "we just talked about the program and what we thought was best the future — things we needed to do to keep our program moving forward."

Alford said he had no idea whether Weltlich was seriously considering a move, but said he planned to talk with him when he returned.

He said the subjects mentioned by Weltlich were discussed and "there were no major disagreements. These were things that we were going to do anyway, regardless if no one else was involved."

Alford said Weltlich's future was discussed, indicating this included the question of salary. He noted that should a television program be worked out for Weltlich, it would boost the coach's income.

Sources close to the program said Weltlich's total basketball-related income could climb to $60,000 should he remain at Ole Miss. Reports indicated the Duke package, including salary, television and basketball camp revenue, was worth an estimated $100,000 annually.

Louisville Hopes Third Time A Charm

By TOM CANAVAN
Associated Press Writer
Denny Crum and Larry Brown feel they owe something to UCLA — but each may want to repay the debt differently.

Crum has twice taken his University of Louisville basketball team to the NCAA Final Four. And twice his Cardinals have had dreams of a national championship shattered by UCLA's Bruins.

Crum took his first Louisville team to the 1972 NCAA semifinals, but UCLA, led by Bill Walton, drubbed the Cardinals 96-77 on the way to the chamampionship. And in 1975, it was UCLA again derailed Louisville with a 75-74 overtime decision in the semifinals.

In each of those games, Crum faced John Wooden, who coached Crum at UCLA in the 1950s and later made him a UCLA assistant.

But things are different this year. And Crum is hoping this third trip to the finals, in Indianapolis, may be the charm that carries second-ranked Louisville, 31-3, to its first-ever national title.

Louisville tangles with Iowa, 23-8, in Saturday's semifinals, with the winner advancing to Monday's finals against the winner of Saturday's other semifinal matching Purdue (22-9) and UCLA (21-9).

"If anybody's going to beat us now, they're going to have to play awfully well," Crum said.

Something that a very indebted Larry Brown has UCLA doing.

"I was kinda down and out when they offered me the job here," said Brown, the first-year UCLA coach whose surprising Bruins have made it to the championship round of the NCAA playoffs. "I thought to myself that if a school like UCLA wants me, I must be able to coach basketball."

Brown quit as Denver Nuggets' coach in February of last year although he guided Denver to four National Basketball Association division titles in as many seasons.

"When I arrived here and saw the kids and got caught up in everything, I knew college coaching was for me."

The matching of Brown and UCLA was not a "lived happily ever after" story. He and his Bruins had some problems, as the land's most dominant basketball team during the past two decades slipped to 8-6 at one point in the season.

UCLA wound up fourth in the Pacific-10 — the first time the Bruins failed to win the league title in 14 years — and was doubtful for inclusion in the NCAA playoffs.

But UCLA, winner of 10 of the last 16 NCAA crowns, was invited to the tournament and defeated Old Dominion, top-ranked DePaul, 10th-rated Ohio

State and then Clemson to take the NCAA West Regional title.

"The winning tradition at UCLA is more of a help than a hindrance to me," said Brown.

"It sure doesn't hurt recruiting when you can show the kids all the NCAA banners."

An 11th NCAA title would make it easier next season, and possibly convince everybody that Brown was meant for coaching a college team.

Crum and Brown, however, aren't the only ones thinking of NCAA championships. You can count coaches Lee Rose of Purdue and Lute Olson of Iowa in that number.

"I'm going to the Final Four," Rose said. "My players are taking me there. We're going to try and not get caught up in all the Final Four hoopla."

"But, at the same time this is the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow and we're going to try and enjoy it."

The player who figures to be a key to that effort is Purdue All-American center Joe Barry Carroll, who takes a 22.1 points per game average into the game. The 7-foot-1 senior has scored 106 of his points as the Boilermakers moved past LaSalle, St. John's, Indiana and Duke to reach the semifinals.

And what does Rose think about UCLA.

"It looks like we're facing tradition," Rose said. "Nobody has been there (the Final Four) as many times as UCLA. I'm sure it's much more comfortable for them in this situation than it is for us. UCLA is playing on their emotion and their enthusiasm and for younger players that's much more important than experience."

It's Rose's second trip to the Final Four in four years. He took North Carolina-Charlotte to the finals in 1977, losing to eventual champion Marquette in the semifinals.

Olson is making his first trip to the Final Four, and it's going to be all business. That business is preparing to play Louisville.

"Louisville will come in as the favorite, but that's the situation we've been in all year long," Olson said. "We'll just go out and play as hard as we possibly can."

"We're thrilled to have the opportunity to play in the Final Four," Olson said. "I think it's like a dream come true as far as our players are concerned and certainly from the coaching standpoint, that's one of the things you dream about — an opportunity to play in the NCAA Final Four."

And for whoever wins, the dream will last a lifetime.

THE MOUSE HOUSE
CINCINNATI (AP) — Basketball games have been delayed for many reasons but a brand new one showed up at the Riverfront Coliseum here when the University of Cincinnati met Memphis State.

A mouse scampered out on the floor and competition was halted for five minutes as players from both teams chased the little animal around the court. Finally, the Memphis State mascot, a student dressed in a tiger costume, lunged and caught the tiny animal in his paws as the crowd roared.

"That's the first time I ever saw a mouse bring down the house," was the comment of one of the officials.

Circus Of Humiliation Is Packing And Leaving

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Something to cheer — the Circus of Humiliation is packing up and leaving town. For awhile, anyway.

Chuck Barris Productions, acknowledging changing trends in the syndicated TV market and a shrinking interest in products, Barris will not offer any new shows or our current shows, new or current, for the next fall season.

Stations such as Chicago's WMEQ, which already have deals with Barris, will air Barris shows. "But we will not offer any new shows or our current shows for the fall season ... because the market has changed radically," says Buddy Granoff, Barris' executive vice president.

No "Newlywed Game," no "$1.98 Beauty Contest," no "Dating Game," no "Three's a Crowd," no "Gong Show." It will be safe to turn on the TV set again.

If right-living and good luck has allowed you to miss Barris' shows, they are a combination of Peeping Tomism and the morbid curiosity that prompts gawking at traffic accidents.

"$1.98 Beauty Contest," for example, features six ladies who subject themselves to the crudities of host Rip Taylor.

and then parade in front of the camera in bathing suits as the announcer cracks cruel jokes about them.

At one point, Barris' idea of fun was the hottest thing on television. People flocked to the set to see "The Gong Show," which paraded fellow humans past a panel of celebrity judges who sounded a gong when they'd had enough.

Granoff blames a changing market for the Barris pullout, saying that a trend among stations to insist on short-term syndication deals has made the business too risky for producers.

"The stations are becoming more sophisticated in their buying habits," says an analyst for a New York firm that buys national advertising for independent stations. "They're asking for packages of 26 weeks and shorter, instead of 52 weeks. With 52 weeks, if the show doesn't work, you're stuck with 26 weeks of a show that's hurting you."

Granoff says that Barris Productions is by no means jumping off of the syndication wagon forever; in fact, Barris just happens to have a "revolutionary" talk show in the works that will be unleashed "when the time is right." Granoff says:

"It's called 'Leave it to the Girls,' and it's an issues-oriented talk show. We look at talk shows now, and they're all the same — a guy pushing his latest record or book from show to show."

"Leave it to the Girls" will be more meaningful, dealing with today's issues — there will be two regular hostesses and another girl who will put a man on the spot with questions like, "Who should have a vasectomy?" "Who should pay for the abortion?" All the issues of today.

"It's the show of tomorrow." Consider yourselves forewarned.

Justin Makes A Queen Laugh

LONDON (AP) — There isn't a lot to giggle about in the film, "Kramer vs. Kramer," but its 8-year-old star got a laugh out of Queen Elizabeth II.

Justin Henry, who stars with adults Dustin Hoffman and Meryl Streep in the hit movie, met the Queen of England on Monday at a royal command performance of the Oscar-nominated story of a custody battle.

The Queen asked Henry if he thought the movie would make her cry.

"You might," the blond youngster replied. "It made my mom cry four times." The Queen laughed. It could not be seen whether she shed a tear during the movie.

Henry attended the screening, which raised $128,860 for the Cinema and Television Benevolent Fund, despite a bout with tonsillitis.

Meanwhile, Hoffman — who was recently divorced — told reporters he intends to remarry, but would not say to whom.

Resume Program About Gardens

"Backyard Gardener," featuring up-to-the-minute gardening information, has returned to the University of North Carolina educational television network for the spring season.

Among the stations airing the program each Monday evening from 7-7:30 p.m. are WUNK-TV, Channel 25, Greenville, and WUND-TV, Channel 2, Columbia.

Viewers may obtain answers to questions about gardening by calling in to the program at the Raleigh studios of UNC television (919) 733-5641.

The Lady Just Has 'Everything'

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm 30 years old and I have everything I want," says Phyllis George Brown.

"I wanted a pear-shaped diamond and I got that. I wanted to fall in love with a Southern gentleman, who was handsome and successful, and I have that.

"I wanted to live in a beautiful Southern mansion, and now I not only live in the governor's mansion but John and I just bought a big, white federal home of our own.

"And on top of everything," she says, "I'm pregnant."

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, MAR. 19, 1980

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are able to work out important details that can help you get ahead in career matters. Be on your best behavior and show more understanding of others. Keep cheerful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) The ideas you have been working on in recent days should be put in operation without delay. Show that you have wisdom.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are warm and friendly now and can make a fine impression on others. Take no risks with your health at this time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Arranging recreational activities early in the day is to your advantage. Follow the advice of a financial expert.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Talk over your career goals with higher-ups and get ahead easier. Use right methods to solve difficult problems.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Obtain the information you need for a special project you have in mind. Go after your aims early in the day and get excellent results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can put a new system to work that will make you more efficient. Take no risks where your health is concerned.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study business conditions early and then later you'll know how to deal with others. Improving relations with associates is wise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Good day to renew your energies so that you can handle your obligations well. Allow time for meditation in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take time to improve your talents. Do something of a humanitarian nature and gain the respect of others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take a new look at your responsibilities and figure out a better way to handle them. Make sure legal papers are in order.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Listen to what a business expert has to say but use own judgment when making a decision. Don't neglect civic work.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put new ideas to work that could give you added income in the future. Strive for more rapport with loved one. Be wise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one who can add something new to old-time enterprises and make them more lucrative. A fine college education can equip your progeny for a most successful life. Be sure to give good spiritual training.

Leaning To NBC News

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Mudd, passed over as the successor to CBS anchorman Walter Cronkite, is on the verge of signing a lucrative contract with rival network NBC, says the New York Daily News.

ROGER MUDD

"It depends on what you mean by on the verge," the News today quoted the veteran newsman as saying. "When all the wires have been pulled out of the wall it takes time to make a decision. I won't be making one for at least a couple of weeks."

The News said Mudd had had offers from several areas since CBS announced that Dan Rather would become anchorman when Cronkite leaves the post.

Can Use Tram For $20,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Two days ago, angry Roosevelt Island residents shouted down actor Sylvester Stallone. Now, says a spokesman for the residents, a compromise has been reached that will mean $20,000 for the island's youth.

The dispute began when Martin Poll, who is producing Stallone's new movie, "Hawks," planned to film a major scene aboard the tramway that connects the island with Manhattan.

Residents Association President Louis Carbonetti says under a new agreement residents can have the tram during rush hours and the producers get it during the day and on Saturday. Poll also agreed to donate $20,000 to the island's youth program.

Good defense often consists of no more than creating an illusion. To illustrate, we offer this hand from the recent Bermuda Regional held at the Southampton Princess—probably the most popular and pleasant tournament on the American Contract Bridge League's yearly calendar.

We approve of North's decision not to respond two clubs, for his hand did not quite measure up to a two-over-one response. However, when he chose one no trump in preference to bidding his weak spade suit, the 4-4 spade fit was irretrievably lost. At spades, declarer should be able to come to nine tricks without much of a problem.

Against two hearts West led the ten of clubs. Declarer won the ace and king, discarding two diamonds from his hand. Then he led a low spade from dummy. East played the king of spades, which won the trick! Now East shifted to a low diamond.

Winners Are Named In Poster, Essay Contest

HAPPY WINNERS - Pitt County students who are first and second place winners in the Pitt Soil and Water Conservation District poster, essay and speech contest display their checks of $5 and $10. The winners are, left to right, Robert Stanfield, first place, Ayden Middle School; Crystal Harrell, second place, Ayden Middle School; Felix Ingram, first place, Ayden Middle School; Reggie Barrow, first place, Gritton School; B.H. Bland, first place, Stokes Elementary. (Reflector Photo by Mary Schulken)

Five Pitt County students are winners in the Poster, Essay and Speech contest sponsored by the North Carolina Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. The winners represent the Pitt Soil and Water Conservation District.

Each first place winner received a $10 check, and second place winners received $5. First place winners were fourth grade, B.H. Bland, Jr., fifth grade, Felix Ingram, sixth grade, Robert Stanfield. Essay contest winners included, in the sixth grade, Reggie Barrow, first place, and Crystal Harrell, second place. There were no winners in the speech competition.

The topic of the essay and poster contests was "Plants: How They Improve our Environment." Essays were judged on neatness, clarity, content, and grammar. Posters were judged on content, neatness, originality, and artistic ability. The speech contest is usually based on effectiveness, personality, composition, accuracy, and effective speaking.

The state contest supports programs of career education in environmental and conservation sciences, management, and technology throughout the state. District winners will be eligible for the area competition and area winners for the state competition.

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST - Warmer weather is expected in the forecast period until Wednesday morning for the south-central and southeastern areas of the country. Colder weather is due in the Northwest. Rain is forecast for coastal areas of Washington and snow is in store for northern Minnesota. (AP Laserphoto Map)

A strong cold front moved into western North Carolina early this morning and was expected to be off the coast by this afternoon. Rain was ending and skies were clearing with the movement of the front.

Winds shifted to the northwest with passage of the front and picked up speed to 15 to 25 mph, but they were expected to be diminishing by tonight. Small craft advisories continued along the coast.

High temperatures today were expected to range around 50 in the northwest mountains and climb to around 70 degrees on the Outer Banks.

The forecast calls for clear and cooler tonight with lows ranging from the upper 20s in the northwest mountains to the upper 40s on the Outer Banks.

Rain moved into the mountains early Monday and spread across the state. Early this morning heavy rains and strong winds moved from the Piedmont into the Coastal Plain and on to the coast. Wind gusts reached 44 mph at Wilmington and 36 mph at Cape Hatteras.

A flash flood watch was issued for the western part of the state Monday afternoon but only Murphy, in Cherokee County, reported some minor flooding.

Rainfall averaged from an inch and a half to a little over three inches in the mountains, and about an inch and a half east of the mountains.

Told Bees Can Aid Curbing Of Erosion

The principle speaker at the Pitt County Bee Keepers Association meeting last week was C.L. Lupton of Greenville. Lupton said the honeybee has the capacity of helping eliminate the shoreline erosion problem if he is placed so he can pollinate the sea plants along our shores. Lupton explained that the density of growth will be increased.

Alfred Dietz and Gary Couvillon of the Entomology Department and the Department of Plant Sciences at the University of Georgia are conducting an experiment to determine the feasibility of such a project.

During the business session of the meeting plans were made to meet monthly during 1980. The program committee, Don Nancy, Carl Lupton, and Winston Wooten, will plan the meetings.

President Winston Wooten of Ayden presided at the meeting and announced the spring dinner this Saturday, March 22 from 5-8 p.m. at the church fellowship hall. Plates are $2.50 each.

Pitt County delegates to the meeting include Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Cobb of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. Worthington of Ayden.

The next meeting of the Pitt County Bee Keepers Association will be April 10 at 7 p.m. Anyone interested should contact the Pitt County Agricultural Extension office at 758-1196.

WHY WORK FOR A BIG COMPANY...

WHEN A BIG COMPANY CAN WORK FOR YOU.

Aero Mayflower became one of the largest companies in the moving business by working with independent owner/operators. It goes like this. We get the moves. You carry them out and we split the profits. Your share is at least 56%. You will be your own boss with all of the freedom that goes with it.

Here's what it takes to qualify:

1. Must be 21 or over.
2. Able to attend our training program (if you need it) at our expense.
3. The ability to purchase or lease a tractor. Plan on an investment of $2,000-$5,500. We'll help you find one.
4. Call 1-800-428-1234 for more information, including an estimate on how much money you can make.
5. You should have an independent spirit and enjoy traveling.

IF YOU CAN QUALIFY, WE CAN WORK FOR YOU.

NERO FIDDLED — An unidentified fireman stands in front of a blazing vacant house, Monday, just hours after Kansas City's 900 firemen deserted the city's 31 fire stations. The firemen are protesting dismissal of 42 of their colleagues, who were fired in a job action last December. The firemen went on strike Monday to show they would not sign a contract with the city until the fired firemen are reinstated. The fire occurred across the street from a fire station where the striking firemen were picketing. (AP Laserphoto) Copyright Kansas City Times—John Spink

Psychologist Erich Fromm Is Stricken

LOCARNO, Switzerland (AP) — Erich Fromm, the eminent German-born American authority on psychology, died today of heart failure, family sources said. He would have been 80 on Sunday.

Fromm felt Western man was a product of his culture and that he became estranged from himself in industrial society. His key concern was how man could come to terms with his isolation, insignificance and doubt about the meaning of life.

Fromm died at his home in suburban Muralto where he had settled in the late 1960s. He is survived by his third wife, Annie Freeman Fromm.

Fromm was rated as one of the world's leading figures in the psychoanalytic movement, and was an often-cited proponent of "alternative" lifestyles.

Among his pioneering works were "Psychoanalysis and Religion," "Healthy Society" and "The Art of Loving."

A native of Frankfurt, Fromm emigrated to the United States when Adolf Hitler launched his anti-Jewish campaign following the 1933 Nazi takeover in Germany.

He lectured at several American universities, including Columbia, Yale and New York University and for several years was professor at the National University of Mexico.

His other famous works included "The Forgotten Language," "The Sane Society," "Sigmund Freud's Mission,"

Local Student Shared Program

CHAPEL HILL — Ginger Scales of Greenville has successfully completed the economic development training program conducted at the University of North Carolina.

Scales is fields services representative for the N.C. Department of Commerce.

The six-day program, conducted by UNC-CH's Institute for Economic Development, is designed to provide individuals with the background training necessary for organizing, programming and operating an economic development program in the public or private sector.

Two Soliciting Requests OK'd

City Manager Ed Wyatt announced the approval of two requests for solicitation permits in Greenville.

Wyatt said the requests were submitted by: the Greenville Jaycees for permission to conduct a door-to-door, sidewalk, and merchant solicitation in order to raise funds for a state project from March 14 through May 9; and by Gamma Beta Phi for permission to conduct a door-to-door solicitation throughout the city from March 16-20 in order to raise funds for the Cerebral Palsy Center in Greenville.

Discontent In Faculty Women

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — A faculty committee at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill has warned school officials of widespread discontent among women faculty members at UNC.

And the committee warned in a 28-page report that a determined effort is needed to arrest the situation before it gets worse.

The report by the Committee on the Status of Women strongly criticizes university policies toward the hiring, promotion, tenure and salaries of women faculty members.

"Women are virtually absent from the ranks of department chairpersons, the most powerful people in the university on matters of hiring, tenure and promotion," the report stated. "There are two women department chairpersons in academic affairs; two in health affairs. Except for the dean of the School of Nursing, there are no women deans, vice chancellors, or chancellor."

The report recommended a effort to appoint women to those positions.

The committee also found that the percentages of women assistant professors had declined since 1973 although this "comes at a time when the pools of qualified female Ph.D.'s are increasing in quantity and quality."

The committee said there were no females among the group of 31 full professors hired by UNC since 1973.

There has been a "revolving door" practice in which female junior faculty members stayed for as long as six years and then were denied tenure, the committee said, and it concluded that the practice keeps female faculty members in a subservient position in the university.

Noting that many of its recommendations are like those made by in 1973 by the first Committee on the Status of Women, the committee said this "suggests to us that the university has not implemented Affirmative Action and has not succeeded in creating and enforcing fair and regular procedures, nor in encouraging the climate of sensitivity called for" in the 1973 report.

The group said any progress made since 1973 has been the result of individuals "who have acted and encouraged others to act in good faith."

The report will be debated Friday at a Faculty Council meeting.

High Price On Old Gun

DRUMRIGHT, Okla. (AP) — Police Chief Hunter Mixon hopes the little reminder of the Roaring Twenties locked in his safe will net his department $1,000 to $1,500 for new equipment.

Mixon is ready to part with a 1921 Thompson submachine gun acquired by the eastern Oklahoma town in 1934. The gun may have come in handy during the heyday of feuding moonshiners and marauding bank robbers, but Mixon would rather have something more modern.

"Back then, in the wild era, I guess they needed it," the chief said. "The city has found it's actually useless."

Among other things, the gun is a little expensive to operate. Because of the cost of ammunition, Mixon said it costs several hundred dollars a minute to fire the weapon.

"It's a collector's item," he said.

Sealed bids for the federally restricted weapon will be accepted until April 1, Mixon said.

Principal At Conference

CHAPEL HILL — Paul Rasberry, principal of Aycock Jr. High, attended the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Education's conference on "Junior High and Middle Schools Into the 80's" March 11-12.

Keynote speaker for the conference was Dr. Robert Hanes, superintendent of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro School system and a specialist in school curriculums.

The conference was sponsored by the N.C. Junior High and Middle School Principals, the N.C. Department of Public Instruction and the School of Education. It examined trends in middle and junior high education.

Church Service On Wednesday

There will be a special missionary service at the Meadowbrook Pentecostal Holiness Church on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. Jettie Parker who has served as missionary to South Africa. At present he is pastor of a church in Sanford. He will show a film about work in the mission field. The Rev. Parker and his family plan to return to South Africa as missionaries in the fall of this year.

The Rev. Philip Bland and congregation invite the public to attend.

Find Bodies In Burned Home

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — Lenoir County Sheriff's deputies found a county man and his wife dead in their fire-damaged home Monday afternoon.

Vance Taylor and his wife, Eula, both in their late 60s, apparently died of smoke inhalation, said Lenoir Sheriff Leo Harper.

Harper said the fire occurred Saturday night or early Sunday morning, but it was not reported. The bodies were discovered after deputies were called to the house by a caretaker.

Harper said there was no structural damage to the house, but the interior was heavily damaged by smoke.

U.S. 220 Paving Now Scheduled

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Paving of the new section of a four-lane, divided U.S. 220 from Level Cross in Randolph County to Greensboro is scheduled to begin next month.

Highway officials estimate the road will be open to traffic by the summer of 1981.

A $2.8-million contract to pave the first portion of the new 9.1-mile stretch of 220 was awarded to Thompson-Arthur Paving Co. of Greensboro last week by the North Carolina Board of Transportation.

A contract to pave the second leg of the new highway is expected to be let in May.
