

$10 Million-Plus Budget Has City School Bd. Okay

By JERRY RAYNOR

The proposed budget of the Greenville City Schools for school year 1980-81, in five categories amounting to a total of $10,675,696, was approved by the school board at its April information meeting Monday night.

The budget will now go to the County Commissioners who will take it under advisement along with other budgets submitted by various county agencies and institutions.

Of the total, more than half

— $5,535,357, is earmarked from the State Public School Fund. And of the state funds, a significant portion — $3,258,231 is designated for teacher salaries.

Federal Grants Fund, in six divisions, account for $972,040 — almost ten percent of the total budget, and the School Food Service Fund amounts to $799,066.

The Local Current Expense Fund, amounting to $3,050,952, is the portion of the total budget to be provided from local tax sources, and is the sector of the budget, along with the Capital Outlay Fund of $318,281, that will be subject to possible cuts by the County Commissioners.

Commenting on the total budget, which for the first time has passed the ten million dollar mark, Superintendent Glenn Cox pointed out that "except for increases built in for teacher salaries, increases for the escalating costs of fuel and utilities, and increases for salaries of non-professional personnel, this budget pretty much represents holding the line on all other services."

The budget includes an estimated increase of roughly 15 percent in teacher salaries — based on recommendations made by Governor Hunt for a ten percent salary in-

Attain Agreement Close Out Urban Renewal

By TOM BAINES

The city has obtained an agreement from the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a schedule to close out the local urban renewal program and allow the city to phase into the Small Cities segment of the Community Development program.

Joe Laney, executive director of the Redevelopment Commission, reported at Monday night's meeting that Mayor Don McGlohn and other city officials made a recent trip to the Greensboro office of HUD to discuss the Small Cities funding for Greenville.

Laney explained that the city was recently notified that its application for Small Cities funding under the CD program had been turned down for the third year. He said the reason cited by HUD for turning down this year's application is that Greenville is considered to have adequate funds remaining under the "hold harmless" phase of the CD program.

The CD program as it is now administered by HUD only provides guaranteed funding to cities of over 50,000 population, it was pointed out, and Greenville is placed in a position of competing for "small cities" funding with a host of municipalities of less than the magic population figure of 50,000.

Laney said that Greenville received "hold harmless" funds in order to make a transition from the old urban renewal program to Community Development. Now the city is nearing the end of the transition phase and is reaching the point where funds are allocated to certain CD projects.

He explained further that HUD is anxious for Greenville to close out its urban renewal projects, specifically the Central Business District and Southside efforts. The CBD project is scheduled for close-out in 1980, Laney said, and with the close-out a surplus of funds from the project amounting to several hundred thousand dollars will be turned over to the city to use in the 14th Street thoroughfare project.

The city has feared that the surplus funding that will be turned over to the city by the Redevelopment Commission upon close-out of the CBD project will jeopardize the city's fourth year application for Small Cities funding.

Laney said last night that HUD officials, at the recent meeting, agreed to allow the city to delay closing out the CBD project until early in 1981 in order that the Small Cities application can be submitted and considered without the surplus CBD funds being credited to the local funding pot.

The director said that the city does not have enough "hold harmless" money to complete the South Evans project that involves housing rehabilitation and other improvements. The additional money is needed from the Small Cities program. Since the application was turned down, priorities were established and the emphasis

Dispute Delaying Airlift Of Cubans

By KERNAN TURNER

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The start of the airlift of Cubans from the Peruvian Embassy in Havana has been delayed by a dispute over who will be the first to leave.

The Peruvian government offered to take 1,000 of the 10,800 Cubans who crowded into its embassy compound Easter weekend. It said it was ready to fly the first 500 to Lima as soon as the Cuban government would let them go, and Charge D'Affaires Armando Lecaros submitted a list giving priority to the sick, the aged and members of family groups.

However, informed sources said the Cuban government rejected the list and countered with a list of 800 of the 4,000 people who got safe-conduct passes to leave the 20-acre embassy compound and wait at home for evacuation.

Some 5,500 of the would-be exiles were reported spoken for. The United States announced that it would take up to 3,500; Costa Rica said it would admit 300; Spain invited 500 and Ecuador 200.

Peruvian government sources said West Germany, Brazil and Canada also made offers.

Granma, the Cuban government newspaper, claimed that "Yankee provocations" were responsible for the flood of would-be refugees and suggested there was a connection with a U.S. Marine practice landing May 16 at the U.S. Navy's Guantanamo base, on the southeast coast of Cuba.

"The coincidence of these events is not casual," said a front-page editorial in the paper. "Nor maybe is the coincidence of epidemics and plagues in pork, tobacco and sugar cane, since as in the past the hand of the CIA could be behind all that."

It said protest rallies would be held at the Peruvian Embassy on Saturday, the 19th anniversary of the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion, on May 1 in Havana's Revolution Plaza and on May 16 at the Swiss Embassy, where the U.S. diplomatic office is located.

This is part three of a series. The dangers associated with drug abuse are numerous, and how much it takes to overdose depends on the individual's tolerance level.

"Drug classes would be helpful to make young people aware of the dangers associated with drug abuse and how to prevent an overdose," said Sarah Terry.

With some drugs, it's difficult to find that point of maximum tolerance because it may overlap with the point where a person gets high, she said. "It takes more and more to maintain that level of highness the person first sought. This happens over an extended period of time."

The first law of chemical consciousness is "What goes up, must come down." This is the old chemical rebound principle which means that any psychoactive drug — whether coffee, alcohol, nicotine, sedative-hypnotics, marijuana, heroin — is finished taking a person where he wants to go, it will leave him behind the starting point. "The longer you stay up and the higher you get, the harder you come down and the longer you stay there," said Ms. Terry. Then the impulse is to use more chemicals to get back to the starting point.

Marijuana (grass, weed, pot) doesn't cause overdose, but it stunts the personality and causes a person to become an emotional cripple, according to Dr. Nemo. "If you become dependent on marijuana, it prevents you from being able to cope with different situations or problems. The real danger is that it prevents full growth and potential," he said. "Life is not a bowl of cherries, and if we're always trying to escape we never learn to cope with it," said Nemo.

"High doses of marijuana may result in confusion, short termed memory and drowsiness," said Ms. Terry. She said a person should not drive because he is not in control of his reflexes.

Cocaine and amphetamines are stimulants (uppers). "Cocaine (coke) is on the increase because people have associated it with a rich man's drug, and they think it can't harm them," said the counselor.

Although cocaine is not addictive in the physical sense, frequent usage can produce strong psychological dependence, she said.

Coke, a white, bitter, odorless powder, is sold on the street in "rocks" or "flakes." It is purchased by the gram (about 1/28th ounce) or spoon, roughly a quarter of a teaspoon.

When snorted or injected, cocaine acts as a central nervous stimulant, creating a brief but intense high,

Ms. Terry said. "Cocaine does not normally cause physical withdrawal, but you become depressed. To overcome this, you have to use more cocaine," she said.

Tolerance occurs slower than with some of the other drugs discussed, and steady use requires larger doses to achieve the same effects, the counselor said.

Cocaine costs about $90 an ounce. Because it's so expensive, it is mixed with other substances, said Ms. Terry.

"Injecting cocaine could cause serious heart damage," she said. Abuse of amphetamines (whites) or PCP (angel dust) leads to serious mental illness, according to Nemo.

"A person who abuses amphetamines can't sleep or eat for several days, and a high tolerance is established," said Ms. Terry.

"The person can stay up for long periods and then he literally falls out," she said. This becomes a vicious cycle and the person will need medical supervision to come down off the drug, Ms. Terry said.

Alcohol and drug combinations are particularly dangerous, and the poly-drug user sets himself up for a potential overdose.

According to Ms. Terry, it is quite popular to pop Quaaludes and drink beer. This potentiates or makes the

Ayden Board Considers Cemetery Lot Pricing

By MARY SCHULKEN

AYDEN — Discussion of the prices of cemetery lots for out-of-town residents and the proposed format for the electric rate public hearing on April 22 dominated the agenda at the Ayden Town Board meeting Monday night.

The Board also studied rezoning an area of four acres across from North Lee Street to allow townhouses to be built.

Town Manager Don Russell reported that he had received no answer from MICA, a private rate study firm, on the cost of additional cemetery lot cost surveys: The Town of Ayden recently proposed to raise the fee for out of town residents purchasing lots from $600 to $1200, a figure many feel is too high.

According to Russell, Greenville's rate for out of town residents is $1000 and Farmville's is $600. "Farmville and Greenville admit their rates are too low though," said Russell. "Citizens don't feel they should subsidize costs entirely." In my opinion the Town Board has to protect interests primarily of the people in town.

Stated Board Member Harris, "There are a lot of folks that are out of town that we owe to also, a lot that are on our power lines, etc."

Russell made a motion that the out of town cemetery lots rate be $800 rather than $1200 but the motion was tabled for one month until more information is available.

Grantz Norcott, owner of Norcott & Co. Funeral homes, asked that a committee of councilmen conduct a study of rates to determine the feasibility of Ayden's proposed fees. Board member Brown suggested that a committee of "three responsible citizens of Ayden and two board members be appointed to do the study instead, and that they also look into the possibility of a perpetual care fund." The Board agreed to each member doing a study of rates and bringing the results to the next meeting.

Format for the public hearing on electric rates set for April 22 was discussed. Board member Dixon suggested that a presentation be made by the firm that did the rate study, explaining charges. He said he felt all questions should be either technical or for clarification and that comments by citizens be constructive, offering opinions and suggestions. "We should work from the savings backward, what they've paid in the past, what they'll be paying now. We need to be able to give the people block figures," Dixon stated.

"We also want a cross-section of all types of customers," he added. "It is very important that we get sufficient representation."

It was suggested that each person be allowed to have the floor for a limit of three minutes, in order to allow as many people as possible to voice their opinions or have their questions answered.

The Board passed a resolution at the request of Mrs. Edna Weil stating that they had no objection to section VIII housing in Ayden. David Weil of Goldsboro and Felix Harvey of Kinston propose to put 48 units of housing on four acres across from the apartments on North Lee Street.

The housing would not be just for single family or elderly housing as the present section VIII housing is. It would provide housing for low and middle income families. The project would be privately owned rather than federally owned.

The Board set a public hearing for the May board meeting to discuss rezoning this area from commercial to residential to allow these units to be built.

A petition for annexation of property on N.C. 11 where the new electric substation is located was accepted and a resolution was passed authorizing Town Clerk Ralph Ford to determine the suitability of the petition.

Priorities for federal grants-in-aid were set. The board agreed on the following list, in order of importance: community block grants, outdoor recreation, federally assisted housing, economic development action grants. "These priorities should be what we, as the Town of Ayden, get involved in most," said Town Manager Russell. President Carter's recent announcement of cutback of federal funds prompted the town to list these priorities.

May 8, 15, 22, and 29 were set as dates for advertisement of tax sales. June 9 is the day set for the tax lien sale to be conducted.

Requests have been made from three Ayden restaurants to exempt food establishments from closing from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Sundays as a present ordinance requires them to do. A public hearing on the matter was scheduled for the May meeting.

The final plat of Littlefield subdivision was accepted as presented and a petition for annexation of the area was

Suggests Recreation Director At Winterville Board Meeting

By TOMMY FORREST
Reflector Staff Writer

WINTERVILLE — Numerous items were on the agenda for the Winterville town board of aldermen meeting last night.

Recreation Commission chairman R. E. Carroll and treasurer Rodney Bullock presented annual reports of activities and programs of the commission for the past year.

In addition to the reports, a prospective Recreation Commission membership list and proposal list was presented. The membership list was approved by the board.

Among the proposals, Carroll cited the need for a fulltime recreation director.

"A fulltime qualified director is needed to plan for future needs," Carroll said.

Carroll said a fee would be charged each participant of an event in the recreation program and requested assistance from the town in the amount of $12,000, in addition to fees collected.

The new director would be needed about four months of the year, but other times could be used by the town for other jobs such as applying for grants.

Chairman Carroll also proposed future land requirements, and electrical repairs.

The board said the proposals would be taken in consideration at the May budget meeting.

Other business heard by the board included from Senator Robert Morgan and Congressman Walter Jones, thanking the board for their concern in the reinstatement of the Revenue Sharing Act to the town.

Tony Carter, of Talbert-Cox Associates, community planner, reported on the progress of rehabilitating the homes of Ella Waller and Susie Moore. Carter said other funding for 1980 was not approved, but it was hopeful for 1981.

Town advisor Carl Dean reported on curb and gutter for East Main St. Dean said the state was placing this in its five year plan for future construction.

Ernest Lee Cox presented the board with a property map and questioned the property taken by the city on a portion of Kennedy St. The matter was taken under advisement by the town attorney.

Bessie Gray also presented the board with a request to improve a portion of Gardner St. at the Gray's Pineview Care Home No. One and No. Two. The matter was handed to the town's street department for action.

Mayor Walter Dail reported Power Agency No. Two will hold a meeting in Greenville on April 15 to discuss the membership in Power Agency No. Three. Mayor Dail said this was the next step for obtaining power from CP&L in the future.

Citizens once again brought before the board the question as to why the police department's radar was suspended, requesting it be reinstated.

Mayor Dail said, "What's been done has been done. At the end of 90 days we'll discuss it."

Steve Thompson questioned the board as to the policeman's duties assisting fire units outside the town limits.

Alderman Bobby Crawford offered the explanation. "This has been thought through and through. If the county requests a policeman, then I think we should send one. This leaves the town without a policeman while he's outside the town limits in the four mile fire district. The highway patrol should provide any needed traffic handling."

Mayor Dail reported water sales to farmers last year netted $1,012. Dail said farmers would be charged the rate of $1 per acre this year. Dail also noted water used by farmers was from a spare well and pump owned by the town and not from the drinking supply.

In other business the board approved advertisement for tax lien sales of 1979, and consideration was given to adopting a liability insurance policy for policemen.

It was also noted by the board members, the fuel charge for the April 20 electric billing would be reduced from $20 per 1,000 kilowatts to $18 per 1,000 kilowatts.

Also approved by the board was a request to close Sylvania Street, next to A. G. Cox School, between the hours of 8-8:30 a.m. 3-3:30 p.m. to allow school buses to load and unload.

Died After Car Mishap

Greenville Police were continuing their investigation this morning into a 2:10 p.m. traffic collision yesterday on North Greene Street that resulted in the death of Robert Harris Daniels, 52 of 227 Orton Dr.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Daniels was the driver of one of the three cars involved in the mishap at the intersection of Greene and Dudley Streets.

Drivers of the other two cars were identified as Robert Keith Casper, 19 of Oak City and Carolyn Jean Little, 23 of Route 4, Greenville.

Both Casper and Ms. Little were treated at the Pitt Memorial Hospital emergency room and released.

Daniels, who was admitted for treatment, died at 5:26 p.m.

Investigators charged Casper with driving under the influence.

Damage from the collision was estimated at $1,000 to the Casper car and $800 to the Little auto. Officers said the Daniels car was a total loss, but gave no estimate of the value of the auto.

accepted. Town Clerk Ralph Ford reported that he had a verbal agreement from one of the landowners affected by annexation and that he had, at present, no response from the others.

By Pat Trexler

Whether you want to brighten up your own decor or give an elegant gift certain to delight anyone, this butterfly design worked on easy-to-handle plastic canvas turns an everyday wastebasket into a stunning decorator item.

It's worked on quick-stitch, six-mesh canvas with double strands of knitting worsted or single strands of bulky polyester craft yarn. One side panel is personalized with your own monogram and the other panel carries out the leaf and berry motif. Use your leftover canvas and yarns to make a matching set of coasters.

To obtain directions for making the butterfly wastebasket cover and coasters, send your request for Leaflet No. 3198 with $1.00 and a long, self-addressed envelope to Pat Trexler, "The Daily Reflector" P.O. Box 810, North Myrtle Beach, S.C. 29582.

Or you may order Kit No. K-3198 by sending check or money order for $14.00 to Pat Trexler at the same address. Each kit will include the instruction leaflet, plastic canvas sheets, Bernal Tabriz Craft Yarn in seven colors and a needle. Wastebasket is not included. Specify your choice of teal blue, gold and brown or deep tangerine, gold and brown for the butterfly colors. A cream color background is included for either color combination. The design is worked from a chart.

In these days of soaring inflation, you can keep your gift budget under control with handmade gifts which always mean so much more than anything you can purchase. The recipients of such gifts know that you have given of yourself.

This does take a lot of advance planning and working, however. Like most of you, I don't have any free daytime hours for doing my needlework. I use the time between finishing up the supper dishes and bedtime to create with needles and yarn.

Not many items can be finished in an evening or two — most take two or more weeks to complete when working on this type of schedule. With this in mind, I think that you will agree that late spring and early summer is the ideal time to start on your Christmas list. Through the next few weeks, I will feature many gift items and will hope that I can inspire you to create some of your own designs.

If you don't like to knit or crochet in the warmer months, then try your hand at needlepoint, cross-stitch or macrame. If you have never done needlepoint from a graph chart, why not make this the year you learn to do so?

Charted needlepoint makes a lot of "cents," for it can save you many dollars! When you work background around a preworked center design or when you use a canvas with the design painted on, you are obviously paying for the work someone else has done to get it to that stage, and this can send the costs soaring.

When you work from a chart, however, you purchase only blank canvas and the necessary yarns. This also allows you to select your own colors and gives you a much greater sense of accomplishment.

If you have artistic talent, you can, of course, paint your own designs directly onto the canvas and eliminate the use of charts altogether. Acrylic paints thinned with water are usually used for this purpose.

I should mention here that you should never mark your canvas with any type of marker or pen which is not absolutely waterproof. There are some felt tip pens which are marketed specifically for needlepoint canvases. These are usually available at needlework shops.

Most needlepoint canvas (except plastic canvas) needs to be blocked and this blocking process involves moistening the piece. If your markings are not waterproof, they can bleed through and completely ruin a beautiful piece of needlepoint. So, if you are in doubt about a marker, don't use it.

Don't use a pencil either. The graphite from the lead will usually come off on the yarn as you pull the yarn through the canvas and will show up as grey smudges on any light yarn.

12 Questions For Sobering Thought

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You probably won't remember me, but I am a fairly successful, middle-aged family man who wrote to you about a year ago telling you I thought I had a problem with alcohol. I was drunk when I wrote that letter and couldn't remember mailing it, but I know I did because much to my surprise I received an answer from you!

You sent along a list of 12 questions to be answered yes or no; you told me if there were four or more "yesses" I was in deep trouble. You also urged me to go to just one Alcoholics Anonymous meeting.

To make a long story short I went, feeling slightly embarrassed, but my embarrassment soon turned to courage when I found doctors, lawyers, musicians, school teachers, bellhops, policemen and construction workers there. I was relieved to learn that I was not alone — that others suffered from the same feelings of fear, inadequacy and guilt that I felt.

On this, my first anniversary of sobriety, I just had to say thank you for sending me to A.A. You saved my life.

RAY

DEAR RAY: No thanks due me. I merely pointed to the road. You took it.

To celebrate your sobriety, I am printing the 12 questions so that others who wonder if they have a drinking problem can test themselves. The test was written by those who know first-hand what alcoholism is all about — members of Alcoholics Anonymous.

1. Have you ever decided to stop drinking for a week or so, but only lasted for a couple of days? Yes () ; No () .

Most of us in A.A. made all kinds of promises to ourselves and to our families. We could not keep them. Then we came to A.A., which said: "Just try not to drink today." (If you do not drink today, you cannot get drunk today.)

2. Do you wish people would mind their own business about your drinking — stop telling you what to do? Yes () ; No () .

In A.A. we do not tell anyone to do anything. We just talk about our own drinking, the trouble we got into and how we stopped.

3. Have you ever switched from one kind of drink to another in the hope that this would keep you from getting drunk? Yes () ; No () .

We tried all kinds of ways. We made our drinks weaker. Or just drank beer. Or we did not drink cocktails. Or only drank on weekends. You name it, we tried it. But if we drank anything with alcohol in it, we usually got drunk eventually.

4. Have you had a drink in the morning during the past year? Yes () ; No () .

Do you need a drink to get started, or to stop shaking? This is a pretty sure sign that you are not drinking "socially."

5. Do you envy people who can drink without getting into trouble? Yes () ; No () .

At one time or another, most of us have wondered why we were not like most people, who really can take it or leave it.

6. Have you had problems connected with drinking during the past year? Yes () ; No () .

Be honest! Doctors say that if you have a problem with alcohol and keep on drinking, it will get worse — never better.

7. Has your drinking caused trouble at home? Yes () ; No () .

8. Do you ever try to get "extra" drinks at a party because you do not get enough? Yes () ; No () .

9. Do you tell yourself you can stop drinking anytime you want to, even though you keep getting drunk when you don't mean to? Yes () ; No () .

Many of us kidded ourselves into thinking that we drank because we wanted to. After we came into A.A., we found out that once we started to drink, we couldn't stop.

10. Have you missed days at work because of drinking? Yes () ; No () .

Many of us admit now that we "called in sick" lots of times when the truth was that we were hung-over or on a drunk.

11. Do you have "blackouts"? Yes () ; No () .

A blackout is when there are drinking hours or days we cannot remember.

12. Have you ever felt that your life would be better if you did not drink? Yes () ; No () .

Alcoholics Anonymous is a fellowship of men and women who share their experience, strength and hope with each other that they may solve a common problem and help others to recover from alcoholism.

The only requirement for membership is a desire to stop drinking. There are no dues or fees for membership. It is self-supporting through voluntary contributions.

Look for A.A. in your phone book, or write to Box 459, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017 for information.

"Oh, God, this was a mistake. I knew it. I'm the only person in this room who remembers Guy Lombardo and has backs of knees that look like a map of New England. Tens. They're all tens going on 15.

"Please, God, I have never asked you for a big one. If you remember the time I let my mother-in-law feed my husband hot soup a spoonful at a time when he had a cold and said nothing... let me have a spot in the back row.

Now listen to me, feet. I'm going to tell you this just once. When that music starts I want you to move. I don't care what the rest of my body tells you... just move!

"Why me, God? Why do I always get next to the girl whose hair is long enough on top to pull back? Who doesn't wear underwear under her leotard? Who takes the chiffon scarf off her neck and ties it around her waist? Whose tights bag at the knees?

"The music is starting. Step, close, twirl, kick. Step, close, twirl, kick. Dummy! You just apologized to a wall for bumping into it. Wish I could take off these warm-up pants, but I don't know anyone in this room well enough to let them see my thighs.

"All this is my husband's fault. I used to dance until I married him. Now I've lost it. That's not the only excuse. I'm a mother. None of these girls in here has ever given birth. None of them knows what it is to dance when your entire body is arranged around your knees.

"How long is this record? What is she saying now? Don't forget to breathe. If I breathed any harder, I'd fog up the entire mirror.

"My leg! I have a cramp in my leg! Oh, that's cute. They're playing, 'Staying Alive.' Is it my imagination or is everyone looking at me? What's the matter with these people? Don't they ever get tired? I got it. This is the road company of 'Chorus Line.'

"Wonder how old Scarf Waist is making out? It figures. She doesn't even sweat. Not one bead. Come to think of it I've never seen anyone over 5'7" who sweats. How do they do that?

"It's over. I think I hurt myself. Wait a minute. There's someone who looks like she's passing out. Her hair is wild as an unmade bed, her arms are dragging on the floor and her pants are bagging.

"What kind of a creep would put a mirror in a room this small?"

Helped Make History

Our Sunday columnist, Noel Yancey, has a way of setting North Carolina's history straight and doing it with solid facts.

Sunday his column was about the late Gov. Gregg Cherry, a governor we didn't particularly remember for great accomplishments.

But, Yancey pointed out, it was Gov. Cherry, a man of iron determination, who kept the North Carolina delegation from walking out on the 1948 Democratic National Convention to join Strom Thurman and the Dixiecrat Party.

Cherry held his seat when the other southerners walked out following adoption of the civil rights plank and there was a scuffle in the state delegation. Some tried to grab the standard but Cherry gripped it firmly.

The formation of the Dixiecrat party was expected to draw enough Democratic support to make certain the election of Republican Presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey. It is well known now that in perhaps the greatest upset of American history Harry Truman was elected and went on to be one of our better presidents.

It might not seem so now, but keeping the North Carolina delegation within the Democratic Party was not the popular thing to do at the time for Gov. Cherry.

Once again, however, history shows us that doing what is popular is not always to do what is right. Gov. Cherry did what was right in 1948 and that makes him a giant in North Carolina history.

By JAMES J. KILPARTICK

Dismantling A System

WASHINGTON — The two-party system in the United States was in deep trouble long before Mr. Justice Stevens took pen in hand to prepare his recent opinion in Branti vs. Finkel. With that opinion, the system is in deeper trouble yet. Verily it is written that from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath.

About all the two parties have had going for them in recent years is the power to reward the party faithful with public jobs. That power, to be sure, has been vastly circumscribed by the growth of a career civil service at both the state and federal levels. Even so, many jobs have remained available as patronage. In the wake of the Supreme Court's opinion in the Branti case, the number will be significantly lower.

The facts of the case were not in dispute. In Rockland County, N.Y., a public defender is appointed by the county legislature for a six-year term. The job is a patronage job, controlled by whichever party controls the legislature when a vacancy occurs. The public defender in turn is authorized to appoint nine assistants who serve at his pleasure. These jobs also have been patronage jobs.

When the Republicans ruled Rockland County, Aaron Finkel and Alan Tabakman won jobs as assistant public defenders. They are both Republicans. But when Democrat Peter Branti took over as public defender in January 1978, he promptly set about a housecleaning. He handed Finkel and Tabakman their walking papers, the better to put worthy Democrats in their place. The two refused to walk. Instead they filed suit, contending that it is unconstitutional (under the First Amendment) for them to be discharged because of their political associations. A U.S. district judge agreed with this contention; the U.S. Second Circuit affirmed the ruling on appeal; and a couple of weeks ago the Supreme Court, speaking through Mr. Justice Stevens, sweepingly upheld the lower courts.

The six-man majority agreed, a bit dubiously, that party affiliation "may be" an acceptable requirement for some government jobs. Under some circumstances, a position "may be" appropriately considered political even though it is neither confidential nor policymaking in character. But the ultimate test, said the court, has nothing to do with policy or confidence: "The question is whether the hiring authority can demonstrate that party affiliation is an appropriate requirement for the effective performance of the public office involved."

In a footnote packed with ominous implications, the court said flatly that public funds, which are collected from taxpayers of all parties, "cannot be expended for the benefit of one political party simply because that party has control of the government." The distribution of patronage manifestly benefits a party. In what other fashion are party loyalists to be rewarded?

Mr. Justice Powell, who was joined in dissent by Rehnquist and Stewart, observed that the majority's "vague and sweeping language" surely will create vast uncertainty — and vast litigation as well. The effect will be "to decrease the accountability and denigrate the role of our national political parties." Without the right Indians in subordinate jobs, how is even the wisest chief to carry out the wishes of the voters who elected him?

It is fair to ask what became of Mr. Chief Justice Burger in this case. Four years ago, in a very similar case involving minor appointees of the Cook County (Ill.) sheriff, the chief justice was fully in accord with Mr. Justice Powell. For courts to interfere with such patronage, he said, is to intrude upon legislative concerns. It strains the First Amendment, he added, to hold that the Constitution commands something it has not been thought to require for 185 years. He scorned the appointees' suit as "a classic example of trivializing constitutional adjudication." Obviously the chief's 1976 views have gone through a sea of change.

Philadelphia Pro-Kennedy

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
PHILADELPHIA — Mayor William Green of Philadelphia is all but certain to endorse Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for president sometime this week, a potentially far-reaching event that points up defects in President Carter's unique reelection campaign.

That Bill Green should wait so long to endorse old pal and family friend Teddy Kennedy is partially attributable to the darker side of the Carter method: the implied threat of retribution against cities whose mayors oppose the president. But that same method's studied snubs of this city's new mayor have forced him to end up as an enemy.

A Green endorsement could be the added edge enabling Kennedy to win the Pennsylvania Democratic primary April 22, where Carter could drive a final stake through the Kennedy campaign's heart. Green backing Kennedy firms up an apparently substantial lead in Philadelphia (about 20 percent of the state Democratic vote) and also builds Kennedy's prestige elsewhere in the state.

The prospect of Kennedy's challenge being prolonged nationally by Philadelphia can be traced to the Carter method. It is light on lofty poetry and heavy on pedestrian elbow grease: meticulous attention to petty details such as ballot placement of delegates, social amenities and minor government largesse from Washington, surprise presidential telephone calls to political hacks. Its darker side is shrouded in vindictiveness and coercion.

That darker side is seen in Carter's attitude toward Philadelphia, a city 119 miles from Washington he has never visited as president. The overt reason for his absence was the embarrassing presence until January of Frank Rizzo as a maverick right-wing Democratic mayor. But Democratic politicians here believe Carter neither forgave nor forgot that Philadelphia voted against him in his climactic 1976 Pennsylvania primary triumph.

Replacement of Rizzo by the incomparably more congenial Green did not help. Green's personal ties with Kennedy led the White House inner circle to dismiss his professions of neutrality. That ignored this truth: Green, sobered by harsh realities of municipal finance, is appalled by Kennedy's openhanded economic liberalism.

Consequently, a little presidential romancing might have secured Green's neutrality. Instead, there was a cold shoulder, and not because of presidential preoccupation with Iran. "Invitations for tea at the White House came to everybody and his brother, but not to Bill," a Green insider told us. Carter has been busy telephoning low-level politicians such as city Registrar of Wills Ron Donatucci, Democratic leader of the 26th ward in South Philadelphia where the president needs help. No calls went to the mayor.

What Green has received from Washington is a little carrot and a little stick. The carrot: Secretary of Commerce Philip Klutznick came here to reveal that Philadelphia had won out over Lynn, Mass., for a $2.2 million shoe research facility (Pennsylvania no longer manufactures shoes, but Massachusetts voted for Kennedy). The stick: Although legal impediments had been cleared, urban development grants for Philadelphia remained stalled in Washington.

That stall suggested a broader threat that this city would suffer cruelly if its mayor opposed the president. "I would rather that Bill kept neutral," one local Kennedy leader confided. "We need the federal money more than Kennedy needs Green."

The mayor has been playing it both ways. While he maintains public neutrality, his fund-raisers have raised money for Kennedy. David Glancy, Green's new hand-picked city chairman, has been officially neutral but privately pro-Kennedy.

Apart from future blockages in the federal money pipeline, the president's present budget cutbacks prompted quick retaliation. District attorney Edward Rendell, a dynamic new political presence here, reacted quickly to Carter's cut of law enforcement grants by breaking his selfimposed restriction on (Continued on page 5)

OPEC To Tighten Squeeze?

Oil ministers of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries are to hold a special session in Saudi Arabia May 7.

No agenda has been announced but when OPEC meets price increases are usually the subject of conversation these days.

OPEC oil is squeezing the world, and so far the industrialized, and the third world, nations have found no way or will to fight back.

It is a problem which can be solved with all the alternative energy sources available to us. We wonder though, if we will get to moving before it is too late.

THIS AFTERNOON

A School Concern

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — There is an undercurrent of concern seething within North Carolina's public school classrooms which some people are convinced is interfering with the educational process.

Mainstreaming is the root of the problem. The Federal "Education for All Handicapped Children Act" of 1975 has been implemented in North Carolina schools through required state legislation.

The professionals say little in public about what is happening in some classrooms, but in private conversation about problems in the schools, teachers and administrators express their unhappiness with the situation.

The matter is a sensitive one. Few will deny that all possible should be done for those children suffering mental, emotional, and physical handicaps.

Considerable investment in facilities and training of special education personnel has previously been committed to dealing most effectively with special children.

Set Apart
But the very term "special" became the target of reformers: special buses, special buildings, special teachers, and special programs all combined to set the handicapped apart from others — making the general public less concerned and sensitive to the problems; and making the youngsters themselves feel apart from society at large.

Thus came mainstreaming. To the degree possible, children with problems are to be treated in normal classrooms along with all the other children. No "special" schools where the handicapped are concentrated were encouraged, and those children in need of highly specialized aids were to attend regular classes as much as possible, then get the special programs for only part of the day.

What happens, though, when a roomful of students with a teacher find themselves part of this experiment?

BILL NOBLITT

In a good number of cases, reports show positive results. The handicapped child finds acceptance and begins to deal with the problem while adjusting to the new surroundings. The other kids learn to handle their relationships with handicapped persons better. The teachers are challenged to provide special help.

In a good number of other cases, however, there are horror stories. Much depends upon the nature of the specific problem of the child; in what way it manifests itself, how severe it is, etc.

In severe cases classes are disrupted, emotional confrontations create tensions detrimental to learning, youngsters taunt one another and build walls of distrust and dislike, teachers who confess they are not trained to handle special problems feel unable to handle them, and both teachers and students say the situation robs them of considerable time from regular routines.

Costly
Dealing with the mainstreaming revolution is proving a costly process as well. Not only have a host of special education teachers, supervisors and administrators been required, but it is certain that teachers in regular classroom settings must have more help in the form of classroom aides or special assistants to deal with their regular charges and the distractions created by the handicapped.

Other Editors Say Suspects Filters

(Rocky Mount Telegram)
Anyone who smokes filter cigarettes in the belief that they're safer than nonfilters might be in for an unpleasant surprise.

According to recent studies, filter cigarettes may be more detrimental to health than regular ones, says the Health Insurance Institute.

Dr. G.H. Miller, director of Studies on Smoking, Edinboro, Pa., told the Institute that the real culprit is carbon monoxide, which is much higher in filtered smoking.

The carbon monoxide, he says, would seem to be more dangerous than nicotine and tars, once considered the prime reasons for the high mortality among smokers.

"As far as I'm concerned," says the Edinboro State College professor, "nicotine in the minute quantities inhaled by smokers is not deadly; carbon monoxide is."

In fact, according to Dr. Miller's recently reported study of 7,600 individuals who died between 1972 to 1974 in Erie County, Pa., nonfilter smokers, on the average, can expect to outlive filter smokers "by three to four years."

"My message then to smokers," he says, "is to stop, not switch."

The basic problem with the carbon monoxide according to his report, is that it produces cholesterol plaque, which can increase arteriosclerosis and high blood pressure.

Further, according to Dr. Miller, "the dislodging of plaque from arterial walls results in heart attacks and aneurysms."

And this would explain, he continues, "the higher cardiovascular disease of the smoker compared with the nonsmoker and also the filter cigarette smoker compared with the nonfilter cigarette smoker."

Since studies showing the "safety" of filter cigarettes cannot be authenticated, filter cigarettes cannot be considered "safer" than nonfilter cigarettes.

"It is time," says Dr. Miller, "that all physicians, health professionals, government officials and the general public realize that carbon monoxide is an extremely dangerous compound."

Therefore, all smokers, whether they smoke filter or non-filter cigarettes, should stop smoking for the sake of their very lives and their health."

Strength For Today

BELIEF INVOLVES ACTION

What is Christian belief? It is more than mere belief in facts. We may know that two plus two makes four, and our life will probably be none the better or worse for knowing it. But if we sincerely believe a religious truth, it will have a profound effect upon our way of life.

In the field of religion, to believe something means to believe it enough to act upon it with confidence. We not only believe that God exists; we believe that He exists for us.

We not only regard Christ as a historical figure; we believe that his spirit is creating history today and that he can revitalize our lives if we will permit him to do so.

Creeds have no value unless we appropriate them into our lives and allow them to make a difference in what we do.

To believe that the Bible is the Word of God is to use its words for guidance because it is a message straight from God.

To the editor:
The misspelled word (heroine for heroin) in the headline of the Sunday edition of your newspaper was an embarrassing reflection on your journalistic professionalism. Despite my efforts to hide it from out of state visitors in my home, they uncovered the paper and the sound of their snickering is still ringing in my ears.

Interestingly, several years ago I asked you for a job that would prevent such errors. I didn't get it. It would appear that no one else did either.

Editor's Note: Heroin is the preferred spelling, of course, but Webster's Third New International Dictionary of the English Language (Unabridged) also gives heroine as a spelling for the narcotic substance referred to in our Sunday article in question.

Credit Guide For Consumers

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Recent government and industry moves to restrict the use of credit have made it more important than ever for consumers to learn the rights and responsibilities of buying now and paying later.

Specific credit terms vary from lender to lender and state to state. The basic principles of credit use — and misuse — are fairly standard, however, and the American Bar Association has prepared a 36-page booklet to help clear up confusion. The booklet, called "Your Guide to Consumer Credit and Bankruptcy," costs $1. It is available from the American Bar Association, Order-Billing 157, 1155 E. 60th St., Chicago, 60637.

The ABA booklet explains what credit is and shows you how to compare costs for different types of credit. It includes chapters on applying for credit, checking your credit record, correcting credit mistakes, figuring out whether you have reached your credit limit, dealing with debt collectors and, if all else fails, going bankrupt.

Shopping for credit is a key. There are two terms — finance charge and annual percentage rate — to keep in mind when you're looking at the cost of a loan. The finance charge is the total amount — in dollars and cents — you pay to use the lender's money. It includes interest and special charges like service fees or credit-related insurance premiums. The annual percentage rate — expressed as a percent — is the rate of interest on a yearly basis. Lenders must tell you both the finance charge and the annual percentage rate.

Decide what you are looking for when you borrow money. Are you willing to pay more in the long run in exchange for lower monthly payments? A three-year, $4,000 loan at 11 percent annual interest would mean monthly payments of $131. Your total interest over the 36 months would be $716. A four-year loan for the same amount of money at the same rate would mean monthly payments of only $103. But your total interest over 48 months would be $962.

The cost of open-end or revolving credit like the kind you get on bank cards depends not only on the annual percentage rate, but also on the way your outstanding balance is calculated. The creditor has to tell you which method is used: average balance, previous balance or adjusted balance. The adjusted balance method is the cheapest; the previous balance system is the most expensive.

Wise use of credit includes knowing when to stop. How can you tell you have reached your limit? "There is no general, all-encompassing answer," says the bar association. There are some danger signs, however. You probably are at or near your limit if:

—Monthly payments for all your debts except your mortgage add up to more than 20 percent of your monthly take-home pay — after taxes.

—You never pay more than the minimum due each month. Many creditors are increasing the minimum payment; if you can barely manage the existing minimum, you could be in trouble when new rules take effect. Try to increase payments on your own, gradually, so you won't face a sudden boost, all at once, later on.

—You use credit to pay for things you used to buy with cash. Credit should not be used for everyday purchases like groceries.

drug 10 or even 20 times stronger depending on factors such as which drug and tolerance level, which is influenced by the person's weight, whether he takes other drugs (illegally or doctor prescribed). This sets up the overdose effects of other depressants, she said.

Alcohol is an extremely active drug, and in combination with other drugs it can be fatal, Ms. Terry said. "Alcohol and Valium (tranquillizer) or Quaaludes can actually cause people to die," said Neno.

The famous of the deadly alcohol-drug combinations is barbiturates. They have high overdose potential and a heavy chance of physical addiction, according to Ms. Terry.

Use and abuse for barbiturates are divided between prescription and illicit sources. Legal prescription barbiturates are numerous and illicit ones (bought off the streets) are called "Reds" and are often sold as 100 milligrams of Secobarbital. "Reds" may contain anything from weak tranquilizers to actual barbiturates, in a wide variety of strengths. Other street names include "yellow jackets," "rainbows," "Mexican Reds" and dozens of other names which vary according to locality and dealer's sales pitch.

Secobarbitals, illegal or pharmaceutical (usually bright red capsules) or illicit (usually pink capsules), are more commonly sold than any other single drug in the barbiturate category, according to the Do It Now Foundation, drug researcher.

Effects of barbiturates range from mild sedative to tongue slurring to stupor and are usually classified as non-selective depressants. They depress or slow down the activity of the entire central nervous system (brain and spinal cord). Because the central nervous system is responsible for thinking, reasoning, and sensory power, and vital functions such as breathing and heart-beat, one can see that if the system slowed down to the point of stopping, death would result, said Ms. Terry.

Because alcohol is also a central nervous system depressant and acts on the brain in ways similar to barbiturates, the two together produce an addictive effect. One study found that when alcohol was combined with barbiturates, the lethal dose of the barbiturate was nearly 50 percent less when used alone.

Depressants or downers (whether they're alcohol/sedative-hypnotic, sedative-hypnotic/tranquillizer or alcohol/tranquillizer) can be fatal, according to research reports.

In case a person has not overdosed but is going in that direction, Ms. Terry gave instructions to assist persons in contact with him. "The main thing is to try to keep the person breathing. He may be given artificial respiration."

"If he has overdosed, never try to make him throw up for he may ingest the vomit and suffocate," she said.

If there is any chance that a person is in danger of overdose, he should be taken to the hospital immediately. This applies for all drugs, the counselor said.

"Try to keep him awake but if you can't, get him to the hospital and take a sample of the drugs with you for quick remedy must be administered," Ms. Terry said.

Each person's tolerance level to drugs is different and will depend on whether he has eaten, what is going on with him internally, the amount of drugs ingested and whether drugs were taken in combination with other drugs, she said.

FOCUS

Aiming For the Great Race

Today is the deadline for drivers to enter cars in the country's most famous auto race — the Indianapolis 500. Altogether, more than 80 cars are expected to try to qualify for this year's race. Qualification trials held on the two weekends before the race will determine which 33 cars actually make the starting lineup. In recent years, the fastest drivers have qualified at speeds of more than 200 m.p.h. The race takes place on a 2½ mile oval track. The first driver to complete 200 laps — 500 miles — wins. Ray Harroun won the first Indy 500 in 1911 with an average speed of about 75 m.p.h.

DO YOU KNOW — On what holiday weekend does the Indianapolis 500 take place?

MONDAY'S ANSWER — Pierre Trudeau is Canada's prime minister.

Expansion For PCA Building

Work is under way on a 3,200 square foot addition to the Pitt-Greene Production Credit Association's office facilities at 100 E. First Street here.

Arnold B. Parris, president of the farmer lending cooperative, said that the addition on the east side of the present structure should be completed in about six months.

Parris explained that the addition will be made a part of the existing building with the exterior design complementing the present structure. The interior of the new section will feature a Williamsburg theme, he noted.

According to Parris, part of the present PCA staff will move into the new section, which will house the bookkeeping department, private offices, a vault, an employee lounge, and the president's office.

Some 38 parking spaces will be available when the addition work is finished, the spokesman said, and a driveway around the building will have exits on First Street and Cotanche Street. Landscaping work is also planned to coincide with the new addition.

Parris said that the construction work is being handled by Carolina B & M Construction Co. of Charlotte.

The Pitt-Greene PCA moved into the present First Street offices, which contain some 3,400 square feet, in 1975.

physical facilities required. The handicapped must be assured full and equal access to all parts of the school complex, and this means that stairs, restroom doors, elevated areas of all sorts, entrances and exits — all are being rebuilt. School buildings with two or more floors are on the way out.

To sum up the situation, a quote from the national publication "Teacher Magazine" strikes with considerable force: "Frustration, resentment, and in extreme cases, outright exasperation" describe the attitudes of some educators wrestling with mainstreaming.

ty. Patronage has been a vital part of our two-party system at least since the day that Federalist John Adams named Federalist William Marbury as a justice of the peace. We wage political campaigns partly to throw the opposition's rascals out. And why is this? It is to throw our rascals in. Take this away from the system, and not much remains.

So, Green and his inner circle asked themselves just how real is the president's power to hurt or help Philadelphia. What had Mayor Richard Caliguiri's early endorsement of the president won for Pittsburg? "A lot of invitations to the White House," replies a close associate of Caliguiri.

Fiery Death On Maiden Voyage

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — The first commercial boat built in Elizabeth City in several years stayed afloat for two weeks before it met its fiery death off the Florida coast last weekend.

The Chaquiste, a 32-foot vessel designed to support offshore oil exploration, was on its maiden voyage when it burned and sank off Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The lone occupant of the vessel escaped uninjured.

Craig Weltman, duty officer at the Fort Lauderdale Coast Guard Station, said the Chaquiste caught fire about 4 p.m. Saturday. A Coast Guard cutter reached the scene about 5 p.m., but the Chaquiste already had burned to the waterline.

It sank in 400 feet in water a few minutes later. The Chaquiste was launched in mid-March after being completed at the Elizabeth City Shipyard, which was recently purchased by a local dentist and his wife. The fiberglass vessel was the first of several planned boats designed to lend support to offshore oil rigs along the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico.

Nigel Helps, 33, was the commander of the vessel, which he built for Alexander Arens of Mexico and sailed for that country. Helps told rescuers that he had been conducting final trials of the Chaquiste before continuing down the Florida coast when he noticed smoke curling out of a hatch.

He said that when he lifted the hatch, flames apparently fed by diesel fuel raced through the vessel.

 was placed on the 14th Street improvement segment. Laney noted that the section of 14th Street from Charles Boulevard to the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad is a part of the South Evans project. Commissioners indicated their concurrence in the action involving the urban renewal projects. It was pointed out that in allowing the close-out delay for CBD, HUD suggested that both urban renewal projects be closed out in 1981. In other business last night, commissioners approved a waiver from the restrictive covenants of the Southside project for the Evans Co. Laney said that the company earlier purchased a tract from the commission at the corner of Perkins and Howell Streets and built a structure on the lot after receiving a variance from the Board of Adjustments regarding setback requirements. The executive director said that the waiver from the restrictive covenants of the Southside area is needed by the company in order to gain clear title to the property. Faye Brewington, Southside project manager and staff real estate officer, reported that six acquisitions were made since the March meeting, involving four parcels in South Evans and two in the West Greenville thoroughfare area. Mrs. Brewington noted that five demolitions took place during the period, involving crease and a five percent increment increase; and about the same percentage of increase for non-professional personnel as the city schools move to a statewide scale of salaries based on the Staff Personnel Salaries Act for the first time. "The increase in teacher salaries," Cox said, "will be contingent on the action taken by the legislature." — The second item on Monday night's agenda was discussion of the proposed school calendar for school year 1980-81. The suggested calendar is for an orientation day of August 25, with the first school day on August 26. Holidays projected include November 27 and 28 for Thanksgiving, a longer than usual Christmas holiday from December 22 through January 4 (due to the dates on which Christmas and New Year fall), and an Easter holiday of a full week, April 20-24. This would place the graduation date on Tuesday, June 9. Relative to a Tuesday graduation, board members suggested that Cox have a survey made of juniors to determine their feelings about a Tuesday instead of the usual Friday graduation date so that the board can consider a possible adjustment if that is felt to be called for. Also, the proposed calendar would have any days lost before December 19 to be made up on the three-day period December 29, 30 and 31; with days lost after December 19 to be made up during the Easter holiday. The calendar is due to be acted on at the April action meeting of the board.

GOOD NEWS

Our economy is really very strong, if it wasn't, inflation would not be as high as it is. In fact the reported 18% inflation rate means that there is as much demand for consumer goods as ever. Trying to keep up for this demand and the money to produce these goods has driven the prime lending rate to record highs of 19% or more... THESE FACTS HAVE CONFUSED A LOT OF PEOPLE. But we, at Holt Oldsmobile-Datsun, would like to give you, the consumer, some facts why a new car purchase is a very good and wise investment. Fact: Federal Exemption. Auto financing is exempt from the U.S. Government's recently announced credit controls. Fact: No Increase In Interest. Auto financing maximum rates have not increased in 8 years. They in most all cases are far, far BELOW prime lending rates you hear about through the media. Fact: No Money Shortage. For people with good credit there is plenty of low rate money available to them through Holt Oldsmobile-Datsun. Fact: New Car Cost Down. Although inflation is around 18%, None of our cars have increased in proportion with the national RATE OF INFLATION. Fact: Better Mileage. All of our new car lines have increased gas mileage ratings over past models. Fact: Now Is The Time. The above conditions about money are true now, but the N.C. Legislature and Federal Government could change interest rates or money availability in the near future. So if you would like to have a new car or truck get it while the getting is best. Fact: Best Selection, Best Deals. Right now Holt Oldsmobile-Datsun has a very good selection of cars and trucks along with the honest effort to make you the best deal possible. Robinson Proves Worth To Bucs

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It's a new baseball season, but not any different than any other for Bill Robinson.

He's still trying to prove himself, it seems.

Once a player of great promise, Robinson has had a checkered career with four major league teams, most recently the Pittsburgh Pirates. He almost joined a fifth this year, but vetoed a trade that the Pirates made with the Houston Astros during the off-season.

Robinson says in so many words that he would rather come off the bench as a defensive replacement in the late innings in Pittsburgh than start anywhere else.

And Monday night, he not only provided the Pirates with late-inning defense but late-inning offense as well, hitting a 10th-inning home run to provide Pittsburgh with a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

"Anything else would be secondary compared to playing in Pittsburgh," said the veteran outfielder who will be 36 in June.

About the proposed trade for Houston pitcher Joaquin Andujar:

"I have no animosity whatsoever toward anyone. I know a trade is all business. It's nothing personal."

In other National League action Monday night, the Cincinnati Reds whipped the San Francisco Giants 6-5, the Houston Astros edged the Atlanta Braves 5-4 and the San Diego Padres stopped the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1.

Reds 6, Giants 5
Dave Collins, who earlier in the day was named the NL's first Player of the Week, hit a two-out, bases-loaded triple in the bottom of the ninth inning to lift Cincinnati over San Francisco.

Collins, who had been hitless in four previous times at bat, hit the first pitch thrown to him by loser Gary Lavelle to send home three runs and cap a five-run rally.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Reds, who remained the only unbeaten team in the major leagues.

Astros 5, Braves 4
Enos Cabell's base-loaded sacrifice fly scored Cesar Cedeño with the winning run in the ninth inning to lead Houston over Atlanta. Singles by Cedeño and Joe Morgan, and an intentional walk to Jose Cruz preceded Cabell's sacrifice fly against reliever Al Hrabosky.

Padres 2, Dodgers 1
San Diego broke a scoreless tie with two runs in the eighth inning, one on a wild pitch by Robert Castillo and another on Willie Montanez' sacrifice fly, en route to a close victory over Los Angeles.

Broken Play

Pirates' Willie Stargell slides into second base breaking up the double play attempt by Chicago Cubs' Ivan DeJesus, 11, during the Pirates' home opener Monday in Pittsburgh. Pirates' John Milner was safe at first on the play as the Pirates went on to win in ten rain-filled innings, 5-4. (AP Laserphoto)

Wake Court Rules Rein Legally Dead

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A Wake County Superior Court judge has ruled former North Carolina State head football coach Robert E. "Bo" Rein legally dead, three months after a bizarre cross-country flight that ended when Rein's plane crashed into the Atlantic Ocean off the Virginia coast.

Judge E. Maurice Braswell declared Rein dead after receiving testimony from two of Rein's assistant coaches at Louisiana State University and reviewing federal documents detailing the incident.

Suzanne Kay Rein, Rein's wife, had requested the court action to allow settlement of her husband's estate.

Wiping away tears, Mrs. Rein left the courtroom shortly after proceedings began and was unable to testify.

According to assistant coach Gregory H. Williams of Baton Rouge, La., Rein was recruiting up until the final minute before he departed on the ill-fated flight on Jan. 10.

Williams said that after a full day of recruiting and a brief dinner, he accompanied Rein to the homes of three more prospective athletes between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. After he arrived at the airport, Rein talked by phone with a Pennsylvania recruit while waiting for his flight.

Assistant coach Alphonse A. Masella Jr., who was waiting for the plane in Baton Rouge, testified that he had received reports that the aircraft was spiraling toward the ocean, and then that the aircraft had crashed into the ocean.

Braswell ordered that a temporary receivership established by the court for Rein's estate be dissolved and that the assets be transferred to representatives of the Rein estate.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board in Atlanta said a field investigation on the crash will be completed this week. The report will then be sent to the Bureau of Accident Investigation with the NTSB in Washington, D.C.

Many golfers have now reached the $1 million mark in earnings but one of the greatest, Ben Hogan, did not. The purses were too small in his era.

Edward Set To Fight Here

Ayden native Demetrius "Oak Tree" Edwards is scheduled to fight a 10-round bout against Rocky Stevens April 26 in Minges Coliseum as professional boxing comes to Eastern North Carolina, it was announced Monday.

Edwards' bout will be the main event on the card and gives area fans their first chance to see the former Ayden High School star athlete.

Edwards, fighting at 183 pounds, turned pro late last year after becoming the #1 ranked light-heavyweight kick boxer in the world.

Among other fighters on the card is Tom Prader. Prader, the 14th ranked heavyweight boxer in the world, has gone the distance with World Boxing Council champ Larry Holmes.

All of the fighters on the card will train at Bill McDonald's Karate School on Dickinson Avenue. McDonald trained Ed-

Eckersley Straightens Out, Downs Detroit

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Dennis Eckersley wasn't sharp on Opening Day against the Milwaukee Brewers and it looked like it was going to be another one of those dull days against the Detroit Tigers Monday.

But after throwing 34 pitches and working out of a bases-loaded jam in the first inning, the picture brightened considerably. And as Eckersley straightened himself out, so did the Boston Red Sox, with a 3-1 victory.

"I didn't have a good slider, but I could've pitched all day," Eckersley said after allowing the Tigers just three hits in seven innings.

Eckersley was replaced after a 56-minute rain delay, allowing Tom Burgmeier to finish up.

"I had to get out of there after that long delay," Eckersley noted. "(But) I felt much better than I did in Milwaukee my first time out. That time I just stunk."

Eckersley was rocked for three home runs in Boston's 9-5 loss to the Brewers last week.

In other American League action Monday night, the Minnesota Twins tripped the California Angels 5-3, the Texas Rangers beat the Cleveland Indians 7-4 and the Seattle Mariners stopped the Oakland A's 7-1. Two games were rained out — Milwaukee at Toronto and New York at Chicago.

Boston Manager Don Zimmer was thrown out of the game in the first inning for arguing calls with umpire Marty Springstead.

Twins 5, Angels 3
Roy Smalley's three-run homer capped a four-run ninth, pacing Minnesota over California. Angel reliever Mark Clear walked Danny Goodwin and gave up a single to Hosken Powell to open the inning. One out later, Mike Cabbage singled home Powell and moved Castino to third. Dave LaRoche then relieved Clear and struck out Rob Wilfong before Smalley hit his second homer of the season.

Rangers 7, Indians 4
Jim Sundberg's grand slam home run in the bottom of the first offset one by Jorge Orta in the top of the inning and helped Texas beat Cleveland. Sundberg's shot capped a six-run rally.

ECU, Others Postponed

Rains forced the postponement of most area sports activity yesterday.

East Carolina's baseball game at UNC-Wilmington was washed out, and it was uncertain if the contest would be made up later in the season. The two teams are scheduled to meet in single games in Greenville Saturday night and Sunday.

Postponed until Friday were North Pitt, Ayden-Grifton at Southern Nash track; Farmville Central, Greene Central at Southwest Edgecombe track; and Tarboro, Southern Nash, Ayden-Grifton at Farmville Central golf.

No date was set for a replay of Bear Grass at Jamesville softball.

Cancelled were Conley, C.B. Aycock at North Lenoir track, and North Carolina Central at East Carolina tennis.

Celtics Complete Sweep Of Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The plodding Houston Rockets decided to fight fire with fire with the running Boston Celtics in the fourth game of their National Basketball Association Eastern Conference semifinal playoff series Monday night.

The Rockets decided to run, too, and all they did was get burned for the 10th straight time as the Celtics flexed their muscle with another third-quarter surge and rolled to a 138-121 victory.

The win gave Boston a 4-0 sweep in the lopsided series and propelled them into the NBA Eastern Conference finals against the Philadelphia-Atlanta winner.

In nine previous losses to the Celtics, six straight in the regular season, the Rockets seldom dared get in a foot race with the greyhound-quick Celtics. And when they opened up

Monday night, the Celtics were neither surprised nor dismayed by the change in tactics.

"We're happy when people run with us," said Celtic forward Cedric Maxwell, who scored 27 points. "We think we have a good transition game and can get down the court with the best of them."

With the Celtics loping along with a 49-35 lead in the second quarter, the Rockets suddenly erupted with 12 straight points that cut the lead to 49-47 and the slumbering 13,106 Rocket fans came to life.

It was a fight the remainder of the first half with Boston being forced into a floor-length pass by Nate Archibald and a last-second basket by Maxwell for a 66-64 halftime lead.

But then the fun was over for the Rockets, who watched for the fourth time in the series as the Celtics put together a breakthrough third-quarter spurt that put an end to their season with a 14-4 spurt to start to start the third quarter.

Both Philadelphia and Los Angeles can wrap up their second-round series tonight at home, but they are coming into their games from different directions.

After three close contests, each won by the home team, the Philadelphia 76ers stunned the Atlanta Hawks 107-83 Sunday night in Atlanta to take a 3-1 lead in their series.

"The attitude of Atlanta fans was one of shock and disbelief," reported Sixers General Manager Pat Williams. But he's not counting his chickens just yet.

"My concern is that we might be inclined to take it a little easy and we can't do that," said Williams.

Los Angeles, on the other hand, is coming off a 127-101 thrashing at Phoenix after having beaten the Suns in the first three games of its series. The Lakers came out flat, fell behind 10-0 and never caught up.

In Seattle, the defending champion SuperSonics play host to the Milwaukee Bucks with their series tied 2-2. Seattle pulled even with a 112-107 victory at Milwaukee Sunday.

West Germany, Japan Appear Ready To Back U.S. Boycott Call

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

West Germany and Japan, two allies whose support is considered vital to President Carter's drive for an international boycott of the Moscow Summer Olympics, appear ready to lend that support following the U.S. Olympic Committee's vote in favor of a boycott.

In addition, network sources say NBC will not televise the Moscow Olympics, although the official announcement will be delayed until lawyers are certain NBC has satisfied its insurance commitment and can recover some $57 million. That sum represents 90 percent of NBC's payment to the Soviet Olympic Organizing Committee and the International Olympic Committee.

Klaus Boelling, chief spokesman for the West German government, said Monday it would recommend that the country's National Olympic Committee vote to boycott the Games as long as Soviet troops remain in Afghanistan.

The committee will meet May 15 in Dusseldorf to decide whether to send a team to Moscow. Although the government decision is not binding, Willi Daume, West German IOC member, said it "certainly has weight."

West Germany's decision is expected to influence other Western European nations. France, for example, is on record as saying it will wait for a meeting of European nations in May before deciding on its position.

Meanwhile, Japanese Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira is scheduled to visit Washington in late April, and government officials said Ohira wanted to bring a proboycott decision with him.

"It is apparent the USOC's decision will have a serious effect on us, serious enough to influence our position," said Katsuji Shibata, president of the Japanese Olympic Committee.

The IOC has had no official comment on the USOC vote, but will review the Moscow situation at its executive board meeting in Lausanne, Switzerland April 21-23. "I will make no comment on the USOC's decision until I have talked to everyone else about about it," said IOC President Lord Killanin.

Putt-Putt Winners

Allen Elder and Donald Sanford came from behind to win the Monday Night Tournament at the Putt-Putt golf course last night.

Carl White, who was putting twice, couldn't hold his lead and finished with a 20-under-par 88, two behind the winners.

Steve Strickland and Eddie Robinson finished third with a 95 over the soggy mats.

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the Jury:

"The facts are not in dispute. The auction is as shown, and declarer went down in his contract. It is your task to determine what crimes, if any, have been committed and who is responsible for the debacle.

"East won the first trick with the jack of diamonds after declarer correctly played low from dummy, and shifted to a heart. Declarer followed low, West won the king and reverted to a diamond. Declarer finessed, East won the king and cleared the suit. When West got in with the king of clubs, he still had two diamonds to cash for down two. What is your verdict?"

"Your honor, it is our considered opinion that both North and South were guilty of the most reprehensible crimes perpetrated in the name of bridge. Let us first consider the case of North's bidding.

"There are some hands where it is correct to bid a three-card diamond suit in response to partner's one club opening bid. However, this is not one of them. With a balanced hand, no four-card major suit, and stoppers in all suits, there is no reason why North should not get the hand off his chest with a two no trump response at his first turn. South would have raised to game, and with North as declarer, the hand would have been cold against any defense.

"When North bid three clubs at his second turn, he was simply torturing partner. Even now he could have saved the day by jumping in no trump.

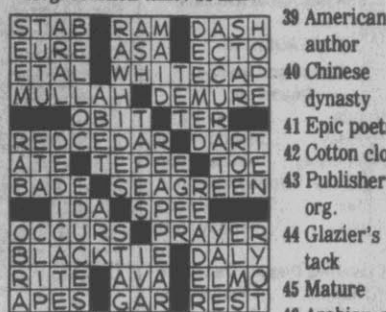

"South's handling of the play was not much better than his partner's bidding. Since the queen of hearts was in dummy for all to see, it is hardly likely that East's shift to a heart at trick two was away from the king. Therefore, South should have gone up with the ace of hearts, crossed to dummy with a spade and taken the club finesse. The contract would now be made.

"Since we realize that there is a strong movement away from the death penalty, we recommend that both South and North be confined for 90 days and be forced to review the principles of bidding and play as set forth in 'Goren's Bridge Complete.'"

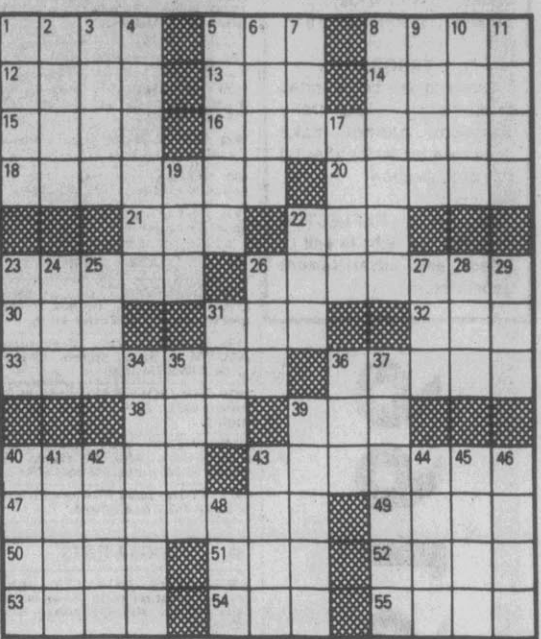

Your play to the first trick could decide the fate of the contract! A writer once remarked: "There's no such thing as a blind opening lead, only deaf opening leaders!" Today's Cryptogram clue: U equals I

The Cryptogram is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. 'Kramer' Receives Top Honors In Oscar Awards

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — On a tranquil night for Oscar, Dustin Hoffman and his bitter child custody battle "Kramer vs. Kramer" earned the best of the 52nd annual Academy awards, while Sally Field's portrayal of a union militant in "Norma Rae" brought her best actress honors.

"Kramer" won five major awards Monday night, including best picture, best screenplay and directing (Robert Benton), best supporting actress (Meryl Streep) and best actor — the often-nominated but never-before chosen Hoffman.

Bob Fosse's "All That Jazz," a self-inspired musical about a stage producer's frenetic and eventually fatal drive, won four Oscars — film editing, art direction, adapted score and costume design.

"Apocalypse Now," Francis Ford Coppola's Vietnam War epic, collected for sound and cinematography. "Norma Rae" was the other multiple winner of the night, garnering Oscars for best song — "It Goes Like It Goes" — and for Miss Field's performance.

Hoffman's ambivalent acceptance and a verbal sparring match with reporters backstage provided the evening's only hints of spontaneous drama, commodities of which Oscar is usually in ample supply. Monday night was an exception.

Hoffman joked a bit as he accepted his Oscar, then turned serious, making reference to his being "critical of the Academy, and for reason."

Backstage, he expanded: "I guess what I'm trying to say is that I do think that art is competitive ... but it is for the artist to do the competing. There's just no way to arbitrarily draw the line on good work."

Not at all ambivalent was Sally Field, who struggled for years with her cutesy "Gidget" image before getting roles worthy of Oscar performances. Her portrayal of the diminutive, tough-minded union organizer, Norma Rae, earned her a best actress Oscar in a difficult field that included such heavyweights as Jane Fonda and Marsha Mason.

Miss Field wept openly on stage, and said afterward, "I'm absolutely shocked. ... I know I'll go home and cry some more. I've wanted to be an actress since I was three. This is incredible."

Melvyn Douglas, who at 70 was competing in the supporting actor category against 8-year-old Justin Henry, was a predicted and popular winner for his role as the craggy capitalist in "Being There."

Douglas, who has continued working despite weakened health, was the only winning actor not in attendance at Monday's ceremony.

The other supporting role award — to Meryl Streep for "Kramer" — was not unexpected, either. The only surprise came weeks ago, when Miss Streep, who played Hoffman's estranged wife in the movie, was nominated in the supporting, rather than lead category.

Steve Tesich won an Oscar for his charming, free-spirited "Breaking Away" script, a tale of growing up in a Midwest college town.

"The Tin Drum," from West Germany, was the best foreign language film. It was that country's first Oscar.

SECOND OSCAR — Melvyn Douglas, the crusty old industrialist in "Being There", won an Academy Award Monday evening as best supporting actor. It was the second supporting actor award for Douglas, who also won in 1963 for a role in "Hud". (AP Laserphoto)

Charge Plagiarism By Script Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two and a half years ago, a freelance writer sent a script to Dustin Hoffman, saying the actor would win an Oscar nomination if he used it. The script was rejected, Hoffman won the Oscar and the writer is suing the makers of "Kramer vs. Kramer" for plagiarism.

Jay Christian, the 34-year-old Burbank author of a manuscript entitled "A Touch of Innocence," said Monday that he filed a $221 million suit Friday against Columbia Pictures Inc., Hoffman, Hoffman's Sweetwall Productions Inc. and director-screenwriter Robert Benton.

Representatives of Hoffman and Sweetwall here and in New York refused to comment when contacted about the suit.

The damage suit, filed in Superior Court in Glendale, claims the filmmakers plagiarized Christian's manuscript about a divorced father who wins custody of his child. "The only real difference is that 'Kramer' used a boy, and I used a girl," said Christian.

Court Backs FCC Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal appeals court has upheld a Federal Communications Commission rule that would allow cable television to air network programs that duplicate shows already being broadcast by a local station.

And in another decision affecting broadcasters, the FCC denied a request Monday to temporarily suspend its new, more stringent affirmative action guidelines used in processing radio and TV license renewal applications.

The FCC's decision against cable TV blackouts, issued in May 1978, was upheld Monday by the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond. Implementation of the decision had been delayed ever since its adoption because of legal challenges by a host of local TV stations and broadcast groups.

At issue was that the FCC calls its network non-duplication rules.

Before the 1978 ruling, the FCC required cable systems offering the signal of a distant station affiliated with the same network as a local station to "black out" programs which duplicated local network programming.

Suzanne Somers Is Relishing Success

NEW YORK (AP) — For a dumb blonde who snorts when she laughs and is seemingly unaware of the effect she has on men, Chrissy has done all right for herself — and is not about to get off the roller-coaster now.

Suzanne Somers paid her dues like most pretty faces looking for a break. As Chrissy, in the hit ABC-TV series "Three's Company," she got that break.

"I get all the laughs with her (Chrissy) and everybody likes her. I don't think I've ever met anyone who doesn't think her a sweet little girl..." said the actress.

Ms. Somers has played the bubble-brained sexpot for the past four seasons and has a contract to do two more. In addition, she has opened a successful Las Vegas night club act and is co-starring with Donald Sutherland in a romantic comedy, "Nothing Personal."

But she knows there are limits to the exposure an actress can get.

"TV can burn you out," she told the Daily News. "If you're on too much, you get over-exposed and are no longer commercial and I intend to have a career that lasts another 30 years."

Where Accuracy Is Not All-Important

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Sounds like a real hot one, doesn't it? It's got all the elements — blacks, drugs, religion, sex ... could make headlines all across the country."

No, that's not a CBS executive contemplating the ratings riches CBS hopes to reap in airing its four-hour TV movie, "Guyana Tragedy: The Story of Jim Jones." But the ethics involved are similar.

The above dialogue is from the movie, attributed to the character representing the late Rep. Leo Ryan. I say "character" because Ryan, in this movie, is portrayed as a publicity-hungry politician apparently hoping to further the cause of Leo Ryan by investigating Jones and his Peoples Temple.

I'm not certain that's an accurate portrayal, but accuracy isn't the ambition of a "docu-drama." Gathering crowds is.

CBS is apparently confident that a crowd will gather to watch this exploitation, having dedicated two evenings of prime time to its showing (tonight and Wednesday) in the final week of a nip-and-tuck ratings battle with ABC.

Perhaps they're right, though I can't understand why anyone would willingly sit down to re-live that dark tragedy of Jonestown, Guyana. It's like going to a funeral you're not obliged to attend.

CBS may pass "Guyana Tragedy" off as a painful history lesson or a study in misguided zealotry, but their on-air promos leave no doubt as to what the network has in mind. You see Jim Jones in a passionate embrace with one of his many women as the announcer touts in resonant tones "The story of Jim Jones ..."

On a dramatic level, the movie is superbly executed. It begins with a frantic Jonestown scene in which Peoples Temple disciples are rushed to a pavilion for poison potion, and bolters are shot down by armed guards. The chaos ends when Jones lifts his hand and softly calls out:

"All right, all right, it was

Elvis Film For Next Winter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Elvis Presley, fast becoming an American folk hero, will undergo yet another film biography, "This is Elvis!", the first with the full cooperation of the Presley estate and Col. Tom Parker, Elvis' long-time manager.

Warner Bros. announced David L. Wolper, best known for "Roots" and dozens of documentaries, will produce the feature film for release next winter.

The movie will be constructed from existing film footage of actual events and performances which highlighted Presley's career, enhanced by filmed recreations of events which occurred behind the scenes during Presley's life.

just a loyalty test. We're safe this time. ... We must always be prepared to take the final step. The next 'white alert' might be a real attack. ..."

Powers Boothe renders a startling portrayal of Jones, presenting an earnest preacher with boyish good looks who becomes a messianic wacko with a death wish.

But there is something wrong here. The dramatic necessity of shining light on his supposed once-good intentions, making Jim Jones even momentarily a sympathetic character, just doesn't wash. This is no wayward hero, but a sick con artist running a death camp scam.

LONDON (AP) — A portrait of a single red rose painted by an unknown 19th-century Italian artist was left to actress Greta Garbo by famed photographer Sir Cecil Beaton, who once asked the film star to marry him.

The will on Beaton's estate, estimated at $1.1 million, was published Monday. He left his entire collection of photographs of the British royal family to Joyce Hosi, his secretary for 26 years.

"I feel extremely proud to be acting as custodian of the royal photographs," Miss Hosi said. "I will look after them and cherish them all my life."

The bulk of Beaton's estate was left to relatives.

Beaton, who also designed the sets and costumes for "My Fair Lady," died in January.

Barbara Eden Series Readied

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Barbara Eden, who starred for five years in the "I Dream of Jeannie" series, will return to episodic television in "Harper Valley PTA," based on the theatrical movie in which she starred.

Second only to "Smokey and the Bandit" among most-watched NBC-TV movies this year, "Harper Valley PTA" was the fourth highest-rated movie of the 1979-80 season.
