Polish Talks Stall; Crisis Intensifying

By HARALD MOELLERSTROM
Associated Press Writer
GDANSK, Poland (AP) — The Polish labor crisis intensified today as talks aimed at ending the 15-day-old strikes stalled with both sides appearing unwilling to budge on the worker's key demand — trade unions free of government control. Meanwhile, the number of idle enterprises continued to mount.

Sources on the workers' strike committee said the number of strikebound enterprises in the tri-city region around Gdansk had swelled to 627, well above the 480 figure which the strikers claimed three days ago.

One strike committee member, who asked not to be named, claimed workers in the vital coal and steel centers in Silesia had threatened to strike in support of the Gdansk workers if the government does not meet the trade union demand by Monday, the unofficial end of a "cooling off" period proposed by strike leader Leszek Walesa on Thursday.

In West Berlin, the Working Group for Human Rights claimed today several hundred ethnic Poles in the communist East German port of Rostock had called in "sick" in a "solidarity action" with the workers across the border in Poland. The West German group had no information that other East German workers had joined them and the report could not be independently confirmed.

Hours after strike leaders here called off scheduled talks with the government Thursday night, the government negotiators postponed a fourth face-to-face bargaining session scheduled for today, saying without explanation that they were "not yet ready" to meet the Baltic area strike leaders.

Sources on the Joint Strike Committee, which represents an estimated 300,000 workers on Poland's industrial north coast, said the talks, which had been tentatively set for midday, could resume later today. It was not known if the government's postponement would cancel the later meeting.

The sources said they would press the chief government negotiator, First Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Jagielski, for a "direct answer" on their demand for free trade unions, the main stumbling block in a settlement of the strike.

Word of the government's postponement came amid growing signs that the strikers are losing patience with what they consider government stalling on the trade union issue.

"The (strike) presidium is tired of the haggling and would ask the government for a straight answer on the key demand to set up a free trade union or not," said one committee member.

The claim that miners and steelworkers in the southwestern area might join the walkout could have far-reaching consequences for embattled Communist Party leader Edward Gierek. The district is regarded as Gierek's main power base and the coal mines and steel mills have been relatively free of labor unrest.

Nevertheless, transport and industrial workers in the region's largest city, Wroclaw, have joined the strike, idling 56 enterprises. The workers there have said they would return to work on orders from the Gdansk committee.

Walesa, chairman of the Inter-Factory Strike Committee, called Thursday for a temporary halt to the spread of work stoppages in order to give the government time to reach a settlement. But another strike leader, Andrzej Gwiadza, said the time for compromise may have passed.

"Perhaps we could have reached some understanding with the government commission earlier," Gwiadza said. "But we are very hard-pressed by the plenum of the strike committee."

Walesa is considered a moderate among the strike leaders, and it was unclear whether all his colleagues would go along with the idea of briefly halting new walkouts, which government negotiators suggested during heated talks Thursday.

Fellow strike leader Bogdan Lis told reporters that free trade unions would be the only topic of any future meetings.

Lis said there was "partial agreement" on the free union question but the precise form of the new labor organization was not worked out. Lis said one possible solution would be parallel unions, one state-run and one run by the workers.

Pitt Community College Last Night Graduated 171

Summer graduation exercises for Pitt Community College graduates were held last night. Associate in applied science degrees and diplomas were awarded to 171 graduates of 26 different technical and vocational programs.

The commencement speaker was David J. Whichard II, president and editor of the Greenville Daily Reflector. He reminded the graduates of the personal sacrifices made by their families through the past years and of their support which brought about this day of graduation.

Whichard told the graduates that they were beneficiaries of significant financial support from Pitt County and North Carolina citizens. He stressed that the people of Pitt County are providing through their tax dollars some $400,000 each year for the support of Pitt Community College and that the people of North Carolina are contributing more than 3.2 million dollars annually toward support of PCC.

"You leave this place tonight better equipped to compete in the marketplace for employment. You are better equipped to assume an expanded role of leadership in this community because you are already participating in that role," the speaker stated.

The grads were reminded that the skills they now possess are much needed in this community and especially eastern North Carolina. These skills will be absorbed as new industries are established and existing industries expand.

Whichard explained that the overall image of Pitt Community College will be shaped largely by the quality of the graduates' achievements in the work-a-day world.

He said, "You join others who are products of its (PCC) classrooms and therefore become daily examples in our local economy of what level of proficiency is developed by its graduates."

"Yesterday's skills and knowledge are not adequate for the tasks of tomorrow," said Whichard. "You must continue to renew and update your skills in order to be a front runner in your chosen field."

Whichard concluded that no one had been guaranteed a degree or diploma upon enrolling at PCC, but they had been guaranteed an opportunity to achieve and that this achievement was their own accomplishment, with help from others along the way.

He said, "New doors will be open to you because of your studies at Pitt Community College. Whether you walk through these doors will be entirely up to you."

Whichard emphasized that new opportunities and responsibilities will confront the graduates and explained that such will be either new stepping stones or stumbling blocks with history being the judge.

He asserted, "Tonight, you are achievers! You are winners."

Charlton Wesley Owens, a graduate of electronic servicing, gave the graduates' response to the college. He expressed appreciation to all PCC personnel for the part they had performed in helping the graduates receive a good education. He suggested a formula that was working for him. Careful Planning plus Consistent Efforts plus Determination equal the Accomplishment of Desired Goals.

The speaker was introduced by Max R. Joyner, a member of the board of trustees of Pitt Community College. Clifton Everett, Sr., chairman of the board conferred the degrees and diplomas.

Dr. William E. Fulford, Jr., president of PCC, welcomed the convocation, and Edgar L. Boyd, dean of students, introduced the candidates for degrees and diplomas.

Dr. Will Wallace, minister of First Christian Church, pronounced the invocation and benediction. Mrs. Shirley Moore was organist. The ceremony was held in Mendenhall Student Center on the ECU Campus.

Economic Indicators In July Rocketed Upward

By GLENN RITT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's barometer of future economic activity rocketed by a record 4.6 percent in July, offering strong evidence the recession may be nearing an end.

Last month's surge in the Index of Leading Indicators follows a revised 1.5 percent increase in June, the Commerce Department said. Before then, the index had fallen a total of 12.6 percent for eight straight months beginning last October.

"Two consecutive increases are highly encouraging," said Felix Tamm, a Commerce Department economist. "The combined 6.1 percent rise in June and July have been very broadly based, and upward movements of this magnitude usually signal a new future trend."

Nine of the 10 leading indicators available for July showed marked improvements, with the greatest change occurring for the layoff rate. Only the average workweek did not change last month, the department said.

Another major contributor was the money supply, an indicator that could help relieve the recession, but also can aggravate inflation, economists say.

Other positive indicators were: vendor performance, the change in producer prices, stock prices, new orders for manufactured consumer goods, new orders for plant and equipment, the change in liquid assets and building permits.

Despite the two-month trend, Tamm cautioned that July's figure is "still preliminary" and subject to significant revision. In fact, June's rise originally was pegged at 2.5 percent before being re-evaluated by the Commerce Department.

And while the big change could indicate a near-end to the recession, "it would be a terrible mistake to conclude that we're in for a very rapid recovery," cautioned Lawrence Chimerine, head of Chase Econometrics Associates, a private forecasting firm.

"A very large increase in the index was not unexpected," Chimerine said. "Clearly the number of new layoffs are slowing because the recession is reaching bottom. Moreover, new orders and housing permits have to rise significantly because they become so incredibly depressed earlier this year."

The sharpest recent drop in the leading indicators occurred in April, when the index fell 3.9 percent. The recession turned out to be at its worst between April and June, with overall economic output dropping 9 percent, nearly the worst quarterly fall ever.

Since June, however, the economy has begun to show signs of improvement, particularly in the housing industry, as revealed by constant rises in building permits.

The record increase, while offering a bullish signal for recession-weary Americans, does not represent all good news, some analysts say.

Much of the jump was due to money supply, which increased by the largest amount — 0.65 percent — in the history of the index, Tamm said.

"In the 13 weeks up to early August, M1B (the broadest measure of currency and checking accounts) soared by $21 billion," said Ian McAvity, a Toronto-based market commentator.

"To put this in what I consider the most appropriate perspective, M1B took 34 weeks to rise by $20 billion last year — when it was considered a problem."

Cuban Refugees Storm Jet, Seek Reach U.S.

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Cuban refugees stormed aboard a Los Angeles-bound Braniff International jetliner during a stopover here in an attempt to force the crew to fly them to Miami, a spokesman for the airline said today.

The Federal Aviation Administration in Washington, D.C., said 300 refugees tried to board the plane, but about 150 succeeded. The Braniff spokesman here said "dozens" of refugees were aboard.

The crew and several passengers were taken hostage by the refugees, who were led by three men armed with pistols, the airline spokesman here said. He said the plane arrived Thursday night and was still at Jorge Chavez Airport this morning surrounded by armed policemen.

The refugees broke some windows in the airport terminal to get onto the runway where the plane was, he said. Witnesses said some of the refugees suffered cuts from the broken windows and others were prevented from boarding the plane by policemen firing shots into the air.

A Braniff spokesman in Dallas, Texas, earlier said the incident occurred as people were boarding the plane. Flight 920 en route from Rio de Janeiro to Los Angeles, and that 16 of the scheduled 164 passengers and one flight attendant had boarded at the time.

The spokesman said Peruvian government officials were "meeting on board the aircraft with a group reported to be Cubans to discuss demands." He said U.S. officials also were negotiating with the Cubans.

"The group did break through Peruvian security at the airport to board the aircraft," he said.

Flight 920 was making a fueling stopover in Lima and had been scheduled to depart for Los Angeles at 1:20 a.m. EDT, he said.

In April, 10,000 Cubans jammed the Peruvian Embassy compound in Havana after the Cuban government withdrew its security force. The Cubans in the first mass emigration went to South American countries including Peru, and later began going to the U.S. in the boatlift.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Joe Reap said that if the Cubans hijacked the plane and took it to the U.S., "they will be placed under arrest. It is the policy of the United States to prosecute hijackers."

OPERATOR PROBABLY BUSY

I have called places with big telephone switchboards like the City of Greenville office and Greenville Utilities and have been dismayed when the phone would ring and ring and no one would answer. It stands to reason during regular weekday working hours that there's someone there. Is all the equipment tied up or what? W. C.

According to Jim Packard, Private Automatic Branch Exchange (PABX) foreman in the Chestnut Street Office of Carolina Telephone here, it's probably not that the equipment is filled to capacity. Rather, he said, probably the operator is handling all the calls she can at that moment. If you'll hang up and redial, after an interval, you'll probably get through.

STUDENTS RETURN FOR CLASSES AND NIGHT LIFE — East Carolina students crowd the entrances to night clubs in downtown Greenville last night as traffic moves by in a Las Vegas night appearance. Students made the best of the short time remaining before serious studies begin by visiting the Greenville entertainment spots. ECU officials estimated the attendance for the new academic year would be about 13,500 students. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest.)

Dear Abby

President Abby: Expert On Domestic Affairs

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever considered running for president? I'm serious. I think you'd be perfect for the job, and what's more, I'll bet you could win. Say the word and I'll make the first campaign contribution.

YOUR FAN IN NEVADA

DEAR FAN: Thanks for the compliment as well as the vote of confidence, but I don't know how my husband would feel about being the "first lady."

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are planning to be married in a few months. We found a perfect spot in the mountains where the ceremony could be held in clean air, under the trees, near a lovely stream. Both of us are lovers of nature and the outdoors.

When we tried to find a minister in the area, we were disappointed to learn that most of them were only vacationers and would be gone long before the wedding would take place. Then we heard about a forest ranger who has the legal right to perform marriage ceremonies, although he is not a minister. We contacted him and he agreed to perform the ceremony.

The trouble started when we took my mother and grandmother to meet this ranger. They were appalled to find that he had long hair and a beard. They also objected to the fact that he isn't a "real" minister.

Abby, it doesn't matter to us who performs the marriage ceremony as long as it's legal. (Neither of us is religious.) What is your opinion?

A HAPPY COUPLE

DEAR HAPPY: Have the long-haired bearded ranger tie the knot and don't worry about what your mother and grandmother think. Perhaps you could remind them that Jesus Christ had long hair and a beard.

DEAR ABBY: Have you any words of comfort or advice for a woman who is the same age as her husband but is often mistaken for his mother?

That is my problem. My husband always has been extremely young-looking for his age. He has a trim, athletic build, a full head of hair and a boyish grin.

I have always had a weight problem. (I'm about 50 pounds overweight.) My hair started to turn gray when I was in my late 20s, but friends tell me it's "becoming."

I have to dress matronly because they don't make smart, youthful clothes in my size.

When my husband is with our 19-year-old daughter, everyone thinks he is her "date." When he is with me, they think I'm his mother. What can I do besides feel sorry for myself?

LOOKS OLD

DEAR LOOKS: Enlist the help of Overeaters Anonymous, TOPS, Weight Watchers or your friendly family physician and get your figure down to where it should be! For every 20 pounds you lose, you will look 10 years younger! And quit apologizing for your "matronly" wardrobe. If you can't find smart, youthful styles in your size, make some!

Now, about your hair, lady. Gray hair may be "becoming" — but it's not youthful. Don't wait until Monday to begin the self-improvement program. It's later than you think. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am 73. My wife is 65. She is a lovely little woman and we've been happily married for five years. (We're both second-time-arounders.)

She has a 40-year-old married son whose wife left him last year, so he came to live with us. I thought it was only temporary, but he has moved everything he owns over to our house, and it looks like he is dug in here for good.

He is a freeloader who expects his mother to cook him three meals a day, keep up his clothes and clean his room. He eats like a horse, doesn't furnish any of the food, has a nice car and expects his mother to keep him in gas part of the time. He works steady but we never see a penny.

I don't want to hurt his mother by asking her son to leave, but I have had it with this bum mooching free room and board! We have a nice little house, which I own. It's comfortable for two, but three's a crowd. Any advice?

CROWDED

DEAR CROWDED: Talk it over with your wife and decide together how much longer her son should be allowed to stay. Then she — not you — should give him the news.

Miss Roberson Entertained

HENDERSON — A miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Miss Libby Walker Roberson was held Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. John I. Price Jr.

The honoree was given a colonial corsage of white sweetheart roses, antique white lace ribbons and bridal bells.

Miss Linda Williams, sister of the bridegroom-elect, assisted the honoree in opening gifts which were displayed on a table covered with a white linen lace cloth. Centering the table was a three branch brass candelabrum holding white chase candles, yellow gladioli, daisy chrysanthemums and eucalyptus.

A white lace cloth gathered at the corners with yellow bridal ribbons, bells and summer flowers decorated the refreshment table. A silver candelabrum holding white chase candles surrounded by an arrangement of mixed summer flowers, baby's breath and eucalyptus accented the table. Punch was poured by Mrs. Martha Roberson, mother of the bride.

The honoree was remembered with a gift of crystal in her chosen pattern by the another, so comparing policies may pay off.

Cancer Policy: Proceed With Care and Know Exactly What You're Getting

If you're in the market for cancer insurance, be sure you understand these points, says the Health Insurance Institute:

1. Cancer insurance is only for costs connected to that one disease. It will not pay the full cost of care or for any other health care costs.

2. It is not a substitute for comprehensive protection. Therefore, before considering this insurance, be sure you have a policy that protects against all kinds of illnesses and accidents.

3. If you purchase a cancer policy, the odds are against your receiving any benefits at all, for in any one year 1 American in 220 will develop cancer.

4. Many cancer policies will pay nothing for ailments which are side effects or a complication of cancer.

5. Many of these policies will not pay for diagnosis, pathology reports, rehabilitation or check-ups after treatment.

6. It is not always true that a person can collect from two or more policies for the same illness at the same time. So don't count on receiving full benefits from all your policies.

7. Cancer insurance is not a Medicare supplement and will usually only pay for some of the medical expenses of cancer treatment.

8. If it is found out that you had cancer when you bought the policy, it will not pay benefits.

9. You may not need it. If you have Medicaid it will not be necessary, and if you are on Medicaid and do purchase it, you may lose your Medicaid eligibility or benefits.

Life Saving Tips

Here are some tips on buying life insurance that could save you money.

—If you're paying a monthly insurance premium, you can save by switching to an annual premium. One annual payment costs less than 12 monthly ones—and saves on checks and postage.

—If additional group life insurance is available where you work, check it out. It costs less than an individual policy and many employers pay part of the premium.

—Always shop around. Costs vary from one company to

Is Closing Essential?

Several streets in the area of 14th are to be closed to traffic from Sept. 2 through Nov. 3.

The closings will be necessary "in order to facilitate the widening and relocation of 14th Avenue and Farmville Boulevard," Ron Sewell, director of engineering and inspections, said.

Fourteenth from Myrtle to Farmville Boulevard will be one of the streets to be closed. Several other streets will be closed to all but local traffic.

Sewell said Raleigh Avenue will be the detour route while 14th is closed.

"We realize that it will be an inconvenience to the residents of the area and to the general public and we regret any hardships that may be placed on anyone during this period of construction," Sewell said. "However to successfully accomplish these improvements, we are requesting the cooperation of all citizens."

Fourteenth Avenue, as it is now to be called, is an incredibly busy street these days. It is one of the few routes from the east to the west side of the city, and with the great medical developments on the western side it is clear that the street will be carrying more and more traffic.

Our first impulse is to think that closing of the street is a necessary thing if we are to have the vastly improved thoroughfare that is planned. But then we recall that we have seen some extremely busy thoroughfares kept open while major construction was underway. Is it necessary to completely close this one for so long? We hope the city authorities have fully considered ways to keep 14th open as much as possible during the construction phase.

Is Candidacy Weakening?

The campaign of independent candidate John B. Anderson may well be losing ground rather than gaining.

The former candidate for the GOP presidential nomination has had a poor showing in the polls. It had been speculated that he wanted an important name from the Democratic party as his vice presidential running mate. He got a Democrat but a not-so-important name. Patrick J. Lucey, former governor of Wisconsin was announced as the vice presidential candidate.

The campaigning is just getting underway and things could change, but there has to be a question of whether Anderson can carry any of the states, and thus influence the election to the point of throwing it into the House of Representatives.

THIS AFTERNOON

Nuclear Arteries

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Interstate highways cutting across North Carolina are major traffic arteries for a variety of nuclear materials, and one north-south route is considered "Nuclear Alley" by those familiar with the shipments.

One city on that highway — Interstate-95 and U.S. 301 — has been designated a critical area by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, and armed guards are required for many shipments passing through Fayetteville.

Getting a true measure of the nuclear shipment activity is particularly difficult since most movement is under control of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the U.S. Defense machinery. Little information is available from those federal sources.

There are only two primary materials over which North Carolina officials keep close watch. By a state law adopted in 1977, the State Highway Patrol must be informed of all movement of spent nuclear fuels in or through North Carolina.

Officials of the radiation protection division of the Department of Human Resources periodically check the records of licensees who handle radioactive materials used in medicine.

Volume

According to Highway Patrol records kept since the law covering transit of spent nuclear fuels, there were 60 shipments in 1978; 40 in 1979; and 78 so far this year. No running tally is kept on medical nuclear materials, but officials point out that 87 hospitals and several other research facilities and laboratories in the state send or receive material almost weekly.

But a number of other factors go into making this state a major target of nuclear-laden vehicles: we are on direct line for a variety of radioactive wastes bound from the Northeast and Midwest for disposal sites at Barnwell, S.C.; we are on direct line for fuels being processed and reprocessed for generating plants all over the world since the Savannah River site in South Carolina, the Oak Ridge site in Tennessee, and an enriching plant at Wilmington all handle the materials at various stages of the process; and we are on direct line for numerous military shipments by highway and rail to the State Port at Wilmington.

The federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission establishes approved routes for certain of those shipments, but the only records reflecting those routes are those of spent nuclear fuel. Most of it is carried on Interstate-95, with the majority of that coming from the Norfolk ports bound for South Carolina. A few shipments are carried on Interstate-77, Interstate-40, and Interstate-26, a circuitous route designed to bypass Charlotte. And recently, a few shipments have been routed on Interstate-40 and Interstate-26 from Tennessee into South Carolina; that coming from Canada on its way to the reprocessing sites.

Other Editors Say Still Unconcerned

(Washington Daily News)

Too many of our citizens want to criticize somebody or some group for the incidence of crime or for the lack of apprehension of criminals, or for the failure of justice in our courts.

We are so perfectly willing to criticize everybody except the first place we ought to go — old number one. Self-criticism is difficult, and we are not really inclined to engage in any such act. It seems impossible so often, and of course in too many minds self-criticism remains an impractical and awkward art.

Yet, we look around us and we see a number of ugly crimes being committed all the time. Some take place in the broad open daylight and others in the darkness. There are people entering stores and shoplifting seems to have become a normal and everyday fad or excitement among fools who so often know better. A person enters a store and in the morning slaps a lady around. People walk down streets or at shopping centers, and there are purse or bank deposit snatchings. We hear about breaking and entering cases all the time and we are hardly impressed. We read about vandalism here or there and the story fazes us little. We read about this small store or that service station being held up and we say to ourselves "the officers ought to do something about that."

Robbing a bank draws a lot of publicity and we catch the guilty parties quickly and surely. Our highway patrolmen catch speeders and drunken drivers with fine regularity. A fellow might unintentionally violate a city ordinance and he pays his debt with amazing swiftness.

We tend to tell ourselves on the crimes of violence that "well, it can't happen to me." But in truth it is happening to somebody.

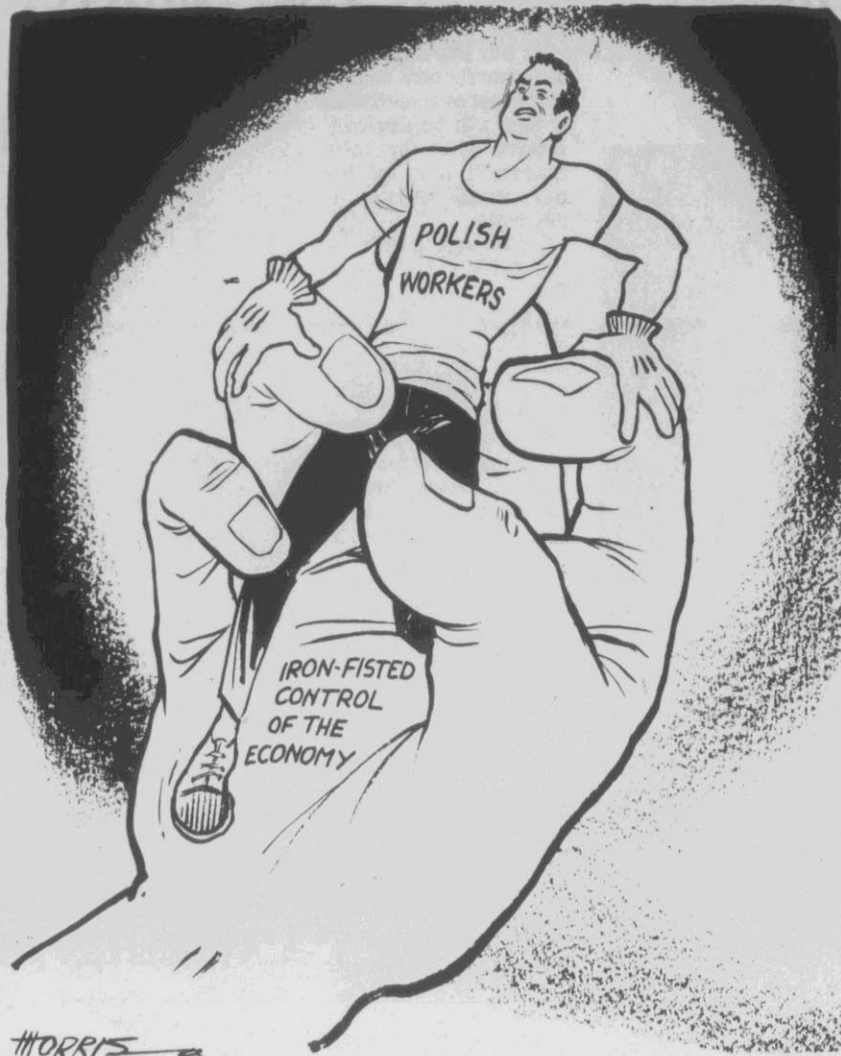

We get the kind and brand of law enforcement we want and are willing to pay for. If we at any time are satisfied with the status quo on any level then we shall never get any better enforcement than what we have at the given moment.

The greatest criticism is due us — each of us — for being so self-satisfied and so utterly willing to sit by idly and let nature take its course. It is not until we are hit by crime or until some loved one is hit that we awaken to our challenge.

We can sit by and let the crime parade pass by and somewhere along the line we shall be poorer for it and we might not even be any wiser for it. We can say "well, I don't want to get involved", and let others bear the burden.

It is past time that a lot of us become involved. It is your community, your neighborhood, your home, your loved one — and ours. Crime involves all of us.

Personnel Needed, Too

WASHINGTON — The Republicans have pledged $100 billion for new arms to "catch up with the Russians." This will presumably include new missiles, the B-1 bomber, super submarines, more surface naval ships, and beefed up tactical forces that can be flown to any part of the world.

The country is all for it. The only thing the GOP hasn't explained is where they are going to get the personnel to man the new hardware.

The truth of the matter is the Air Force, Navy and Army cannot find the crews for the equipment they have now. The mood of the country is to spend money on anything the military says it needs, as long as American sons and daughters are not required to put on a uniform and use it.

What's the answer? The solution is to draft all the illegal aliens that have come to the United States and swear them into the armed forces.

While military pay may be a pittance to an American, it is a fortune to an illegal South American, Mexican or Haitian refugee. Rather than pick tomatoes or grapes the illegals would be trained to use our new military equipment, and be taught all the latest methods of warfare.

Instead of being hounded by immigration officials, they would be given PX privileges, USO dances and food stamps for their families. We would have Cuban submariners, to re-enlist would be immediately deported to their country of origin for being in the United States without a visa.

The beauty of this plan is that we could fulfill all our military commitments without fear of political fallout because we were endangering the lives of American boys. It would also resolve the debate as to whether American women should be required to serve in the armed forces.

But best of all, it would alleviate the bitterness that some Americans feel toward various boat people arriving in the United States. Instead of wanting to send them back, we would welcome these refugees with open arms as fresh mercenaries ready to fight to keep America free.

If the United States wants to become No. 1 in the world again, as the Republicans intend us to be, we are going to need all the illegal foreigners we can get.

Ecuadorian pilots, Chinese tank drivers, and Vietnamese missile men.

The officer corps would be made up of foreign generals, colonels, majors and admirals and captains who have been overthrown in their respective countries by Communist takeovers as well as those who have failed in right-wing junta revolutions in their respective countries.

By the time the $100 billion allocated by the Republicans would be accounted for, not one American would have to spend a day in the military to defend the country.

It is estimated that there are over 10 million illegal aliens in the United States right now. All we need is 5 million for a respectable defense capability. The other 5 million could be signed up for the reserve, and be permitted to work in the fields until an emergency required them to be called up.

While the illegals would only be required to serve for four years, those who refused

A Warning Given Israel

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — A warning signal flashed on for Israel when the press ignored Ronald Reagan's sharply-phoned statement Aug. 21 attacking the Carter administration for not vetoing the U.N. resolution condemning Israel's Jerusalem takeover.

Israel is now suspected here of planning other major moves against the Arabs under cover of the presidential campaign. The inability of Reagan and Democratic critics to make a headline political issue out of the non-veto argues for Israeli caution in its future moves.

These include intensification of Israel's cross-border attacks against Lebanon and a bold attempt at outright annexation of the Golan Heights. But sharpened skepticism in the U.S. about Israel's unilateral actions in Jerusalem, the West Bank and Lebanon may undercut Israel's traditional use of presidential campaigns to leverage its influence here so as to advance its cause against the Arabs.

Reagan's statement saying that the non-veto "appalled" him was not reported in newspapers here and in New York City, surprising his political advisers. Equally surprising was a private letter from one of Israel's champions in Congress, Rep. Ben Rosenthal of New York, to Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie. Rosenthal praised Muskie for going to the Security Council in person with a hard-hitting statement attacking repeated U.N. efforts to pass "unbalanced and unrealistic resolutions" against Israel.

But Muskie's failure to veto the Jerusalem text was accepted by Rosenthal. "Within the context of the constraints operating upon our foreign policy," he wrote Muskie, "I understand the decision."

The new moves that U.S. officials believe are now being planned by Prime Minister Menahem Begin's government against Lebanon and on the Golan Heights should be judged by Israel against this rising skepticism in the U.S. American public opinion in support of Israel can undermine a president's most cherished policies, as many a president has discovered to his sorrow. But without the backing of public opinion here, Israel could find its chosen course a rocky one.

The legal move aiming at Israeli absorption of the Golan Heights, which is by far the most daring now under consideration in Jerusalem, is being pushed by Geula Cohen, the same member of parliament who successfully won passage of the bill annexing Arab East Jerusalem.

The Golan Heights bill will come up for a vote when parliament reconvenes in October, and approval is by no means impossible. An editorial in the respected Jerusalem Post Aug. 1 asked: "Will Knesset (parliament) members again rush into folly, like lemmings to the sea, inevitably carrying the whole country with them?"

If the answer is yes, today's near-isolation of Israel in the world would become universal. If President Carter's decision not to veto the Jerusalem resolution could so easily escape public censure, annexation of the Golan Heights would inevitably face across-the-board condemnation in the U.S.

Intensification of Israeli raids on Lebanon, in concert with Israeli-armed Christian militia, would continue longstanding Israeli policy that the U.S. has repeatedly but vainly sought to stop. A new political element has been added, however, by Israel's open admission that U.S.-supplied arms are used in these raids.

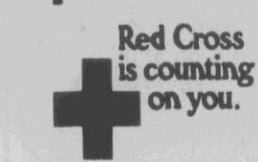

Administration officials will soon be summoned to testify on Capitol Hill whether the law prohibiting Israel from using American weapons except in self-defense is being broken. Some officials hope that will lead to a thorough congressional investigation to decide whether the cross-border attacks really are self-defensive or are aimed at territorial acquisition and the establishment of an independent pro-Israeli state in southern Lebanon.

For the Carter administration, the swing of public opinion away from automatic blessing of all Israel's actions is a two-edged sword. It makes it easier to resist Israel's demands, as in the Jerusalem resolution. But there is concern that as Prime Minister Begin feels more isolated, his propensity

SOME REALLY CARE
Walter Rauschenbusch, the great theologian and social reformer of the late nineteenth century, dedicated his life to the alleviation of human suffering. He was particularly interested in the passage of legislation which would forbid child labor.

On the morning that Rauschenbusch read in the newspaper that Congress had rejected a pending child labor law, he burst into tears. Here was a man who had in him the spirit of that Jesus who wept over

Jerusalem, crying out, "If thou hadst known in this day, even thou, the things which belong unto peace! But now they are hid from thine eyes." On another occasion he said of Jerusalem, "How often would I have gathered they children together, even as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings, and yet would not!"

There are somenoble souls in the world who care. They make a gallant army, to the glory of God and the emancipation of man. — Elisha Douglass

After Labor Day, New Energy

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Earlier than usual, perhaps symbolically so, the Labor Day weekend will soon be here and gone, thus commencing the season of toil and tension, the time when things undone suddenly need doing.

Vacations are over, school begins, and soon will come the fall sales, politics, a new symphony season, business meetings, personal reassessments, the World Series, football and falling leaves.

Caught in the mood of hyperactivity, retailers will try simultaneously to move old swimsuits and tennis rackets at end-of-season sales, and seek to push winter fashions, skates and skis at preseason discounts.

The boss will be back, feeling guilty about his summer idleness, especially after he sees the books and realizes performance is below projections. He'll lay down a new discipline, same as the year before.

The spirit of experimentation will be rampant. New Year's resolutions are for dreamers, but don't plans hatched in the late summer and early fall have a determination behind them that forces results?

The season brings out the cleverest programs of political aspirants and the sharpest promotions of those who would sell us automobiles. It is a time when people are receptive to — vulnerable to — something new.

A time, you might say, when people want to be done with the past: with programs that bring inflation, with cars that burn up gasoline, with attitudes that produce no results.

A new beginning — that's what people want around this time of year, and while they might not get it they do get the promise of it. That much can be ascertained by just a casual glance at the daily newspaper.

That glance will show, for example, that President Carter has still another new economic program to deal with the nation's ills, the others apparently having been forgotten or lost in the recession.

New York City has reaffirmed its goal of economic stability. The Red Sox restate their intention of winning the pennant. The Federal Reserve promises again to fight inflation to the death.

New beginnings, or promises of them, can be found almost anywhere else, too.

You can be certain as the day of the week that various chairmen and presidents will promise that next year's profits will tell a different story, and that stock analysts will promise 1,000 points on the Dow.

You can be sure that advertising agencies will present programs they promise will crack the market wide open, that Hollywood will promise the greatest picture since when, that a new glamor stock will emerge.

It's all there in the cards. It happens every year at this time, because this is a time for action, a time for new politics and business breakthroughs, a time when, finally, we can get the past off our backs.

You know it as well as anyone, because you've been as much a part of the post-Labor Day mood as any politician or institution. This is a time for finally doing all those things you know must be done.

Knowing this, why is it then that this great burst of post-Labor Day energy that looks like the greatest constructive force ever loosed on an economy, withers away into promises of "wait 'til next year?"

Demands U.S. Probe Piracy

CHICAGO (AP) — A state representative, charging the government has ignored a grisly case of piracy and bloodshed, is demanding the State Department investigate the disappearance of an American couple in Bahamian waters.

State Rep. Harry Yourell says he found a body aboard the couple's blood-stained yacht July 31 while on vacation in the area, and has photographs to prove it.

"These people were American citizens and their families are going through a nightmare wondering what hellish thing happened to the couple sailing into what they thought was paradise," he said.

William and Patti Kamerer, a middle-aged couple from Florida, set out from Fort Myers Beach in early July aboard their sailboat. The last entry Mrs. Kamerer made in the ship's log was dated 5 p.m. July 25 and it said: "Moored at Pipe Cay." Yourell said that six days later he came upon their yacht and found a body hanging over the side of a dinghy. The cockpit was ransacked, there were bullet holes near the galley and there was blood everywhere, he said.

When police arrived 18 hours later the body was gone.

Yourell said Bahamians told him they suspected the couple to be victims of piracy.

Both governments have said since they could find no bodies, there was no evidence of a crime, and U.S. officials say they have no jurisdiction.

U.S. Embassy Vice Consul Phillip Wall inspected the boat while it was in storage at a Bahamian military base. He said bloodstains in the cockpit were the only apparent evidence of violence he found.

for state officials is being constantly eroded by federal agencies who maintain that movement of nuclear material is in their domain. Some close to the scene predict that eventually the Nuclear Regulatory Commission will seek to knock down the state requirement that spent nuclear fuel records be kept by the state. And this summer, when federal agents demanded armed escorts for shipments through Fayetteville, state officials were not even informed of that decision.

Emphasis in both state and federal law is on spent nuclear fuel as the most hazardous from two specific viewpoints: it is highly enriched and concentrated by use in the generating plant reactors, and therefore a "high-grade" radioactive product; and it contains the stuff which terrorists would find useable in making nuclear weapons.

Almost all Highway Patrol troopers in North Carolina have been trained and equipped with monitoring devices to better keep tabs on nuclear shipments and protect the public in event of a wreck; and a number of state agents in weight and theft operations also use monitoring equipment to check for leakage whenever they process a truck hauling nuclear material.

Water Trucked To Thirsty Community

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP) — About 150 people carried drinking water home in plastic jugs after a 500-gallon National Guard tanker pulled into town, but others in the community of Davenport left their homes after private wells dried up this week.

The tanker brought the water from Clarksdale on Thursday at the request of Supervisor Jim Humbert.

Some people left their homes Thursday when toilets became unusable and sewage that could not be flushed started backing up.

"It ain't healthy," said resident John Hudson.

Davenport residents blame the water shortage on agriculture's heavy demand on underground water supplies. The area has several rice fields that use large agricultural pumps to keep the crop flooded.

Lack of rainfall and prolonged heat have compounded the problem, officials said.

Hudson said his 30-foot deep well is one of only two in the community that still is working.

"I have a little water coming from my pumps but it might play out any time and I don't know what I'll do then," he said. "I guess I'll have to drill a little deeper."

The community is trying to get a $50,000 grant along with a loan of $20,000 from the Farmers Home Administration to lay lines into Clarksdale and purchase water from the town. An application filed with the agency last year has not been approved.

Local Teachers At Conference

GREENSBORO — Three D.H. Conley teachers recently attended a vocational education conference at the Four Seasons Mall.

Attending were Business teacher Mary Thompson, and vocational home economics teachers Beulah Mebane and Sara Perkins. Perkins was the official delegate from D.H. Conley.

The theme of the conference was "Vocational Education — Its Opportunities and Challenges." Thompson spoke to the delegation on school-community relations.

Future Business Leaders of America State Parliamentarian David Adams, also from Conley, attended the conference along with all other FBLA state officers. The students served as hosts and hostesses.

Won Prize For Tanning

OCEAN CITY, N.J. (AP) — You may not have to be Italian to have a good suntan but a nicely browned Terry Giovinnazzo says it certainly helps.

Miss Giovinnazzo, 23, of Villanova, Pa., walked off Thursday with the unofficial title of world's best suntan in the first Ocean City Miscellaneous Sun Tanning Tournament.

The bronzed high school physical education teacher said the tan took hours of application.

"The secret is baby oil and a lot of hours in the sun," Miss Giovinnazzo confided. "And being Italian is also a very big factor."

The contest, inspired by sun-worshipping Zonker Harris in the popular "Doonesbury" comic strip, offered honors in 11 categories, some tan and some pale. The contest's official entry form especially welcomed "narcissists, egomaniacs and exhibitionists."

Among the winners were Kelly Butler for the best left arm tan and Wayne Horton for the whitest knuckles. Bald-headed Tony Scarillo kept the official "Golden Dome" award.

Jim Nawrocki, 14, of Hudson, Ohio, paled the competition in the "best under-all tan" category offered especially for those "TV freaks who never leave their air-conditioned family room during the summer."

Done The Most In Safety Drive

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A traffic safety expert said Thursday North Carolina has done more than any other state in the country to reduce traffic fatalities during the last 15 years.

Dr. B.J. Campbell, director of the Highway Safety Research Center at Chapel Hill, said North Carolina experienced 7.5 fatal accidents for each 100 miles driven 15 years ago.

Today, that ratio is down to 3.6 fatalities for each 100 miles, he said.

"If the 1965 death rate had prevailed last year, North Carolina would have had 3,000 traffic deaths instead of the approximate 1,500 which occurred," Campbell said.

IRANIANS IN MASS PRAYER — Iranians gathered at Tehran University Friday to participate in a four-hour ceremony of mass prayer and anti-American slogans on the

Life As It's Lived

Not Only The Kitchen In Need Of Remodeling Job

By GAIL MICHAELS
The other night while watching The Merv Griffin Show Phillip and I had barely recovered from the excitement of listening to the typical breakfast fare of one of the Gabor sisters when Merv introduced a singer with electric blue skin and a two-note range.

I groaned. "I ought to go into show business. I can sing in a monotone and wiggle my hips as well as she can."

"Yeah," Phillip agreed, "and you've got more to wiggle."

"Thanks!"
"Well, I didn't mean anything by it, but now that we're on the subject, the kitchen isn't the only thing around here that needs remodeling."

"It's not easy losing weight after having a baby. I'm too tired to diet."

"Then what you need is exercise."

"I do exercise. Yesterday I walked 8 blocks."

"Right. Four to the convenience store for a candy bar and 4 back."

"I can't help it. I get hungry."

"Eat a carrot."
"Somehow it's just not the same."

"Okay, it's up to you. I just hope you'll be comfortable this winter in your sun-dress."

I looked down at the dress I had been wearing every day for the last 4 months and resolved then and there to be able to zip my pants by September.

I knew all the dieting rules. I knew that I wasn't supposed to go to the grocery store hungry so the next shopping day I gorged myself with popcorn before I left the house.

I taped a picture of Cheryl Tiegs in a bathing suit on the refrigerator door, but the more I looked at her, the more undernourished she appeared.

I began to read cookbooks with the interest I had formerly reserved for Lady Chatterley's Lover.

I salivated over Jello Pudding ads with the wild abandon of a hydrophobic dog.

At the end of a week my cheeks looked so pinched and wan that I was sure I had lost at least 3 pounds. I took the barrettes out of my hair, stripped down to my bare fingernails, and weighed.

I had gained a fourth of a pound.

"This is horrible!" I wailed. "It's just as if I'm pregnant again."

Phillip turned white. "Watch your language."

"I can't help it! I'll be fat forever, and it's all your fault!"

"My fault?"
"You're Zachary's father."

"Now look..."
"Oh, never mind. It's just that I can't stand the thought of being obese the rest of my life!"

Try Private Settlement

NEW YORK (AP) — Relatives of singer Kate Smith have agreed to try to settle their differences privately, at least temporarily ending a public court fight over management of her estate.

Manhattan Supreme Court Judge Norman Ryp said Miss Smith's nieces have "explored and sketched the outline of a proposed settlement" that could be completed outside the courtroom.

He said the decision to call off the public phase of the dispute was made "out of love and devotion" and concern for "the fine reputation of Kate Smith."

One of Miss Smith's nieces, Suzanne Andron of Raleigh, N.C., has asked the court to remove her sister, Kathryn Rodriguez, as a court-appointed manager of the singer's estate. Both nieces and a New York attorney were named to handle Miss Smith's affairs last year after she suffered insulin shock.

Miss Smith entered a Raleigh hospital last Sunday for what was described as an effort to stabilize a diabetic condition. Family sources said she was expected to stay there until her nieces conclude their dispute.

Top practical price remained at $1.66 per pound. Demand continues strong on all grades of good, clean ripe tobacco. Volume was heavy with lugs and cutters accounting for most of the sales. Stabilization receipts were 4.08 percent of gross sales.

The market sold 779,319 pounds for $1,203,701 and an average of $154.46 per hundred. To date, the market has sold 12,156,041 pounds for $1,318,71 and a season average of $142.46.

Prices Holding At Farmville

FARMVILLE — Prices on most grades on the Farmville Tobacco Market were about the same as on Wednesday with the exception of several sheets of cutter grades that sold for $1.75 per pound and were company purchases. This was the top price for the season.

FBI Lifted Prints From Bomb At Blasted Casino

By DAVID N. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — FBI agents today were studying fingerprints found on the powerful bomb which blasted open a Lake Tahoe hotel-casino, a device painstakingly constructed, painted and shaped to make it look like office equipment, agents said.

Meanwhile, employees of Harvey's Resort Hotel-Casino were being hypnotized to draw out their memories of Tuesday, when two men wheeled in a box marked as IBM equipment as a woman sat in a van outside.

The box contained a bomb which blew up more than 30 hours later, showering debris over several blocks of this Lake Tahoe resort town. Before the blast, which occurred as bomb experts tried to disarm the device, officials tried unsuccessfully to pay a $3 million ransom, they said.

FBI supervising agent Joseph Yablonsky revealed Thursday that the bomb had been dusted for prints before it exploded and caused more than $3 million in damage to the $20 million, 250-room gambling house.

He said there had been no identification of the prints, and added there was no reason "at this time" to believe the plot was an inside job.

More than 50 FBI agents are on the case. Officials described the culprits as "experts in bombing," perhaps due to military training. The would-be extortionists left a three-page letter — demanding $3 million — with the bomb. The casino's owner, Harvey Gross, raised the money and an effort was made to deliver it by helicopter, but the extortionists did not show up, officials said.

Late Wednesday, the FBI issued an all-points bulletin for three men seen driving a black Ford, but that lead turned out to be a hoax.

Yablonsky said hypnosis had been used on Harvey's employees to determine whether anyone saw anything suspicious.

He said a technique called "psycholinguistics" was being used in an attempt to come up with a psychological profile of the letter's author.

The letter was "well-constructed in terms of articulation," he said, adding it was signed "Happy Landings." Other sources said there was not a single misspelling in the single-spaced, typed text.

Harvey's spokesman Lee Frankovich said the club was "working on a reward fund." Meanwhile, in Valencia, Calif., a device disguised as a bomb was blown up by officials after a motel near Six Flags Magic Mountain amusement park received a $50,000 extortion threat. In Reno, Nev., four casinos received phony bomb threats Thursday, officials said. Spokesmen attributed the threats to publicity over the blast in Stateline.

FBI agents assigned to the Harvey's case used terms of near-admiration in describing efforts taken in building the device.

"It was rather refined," Yablonsky said, displaying a color photograph of the bomb. "It appears great pains were taken, painting the item, shaving off the edges" to make it look like a piece of office equipment.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the Hardee vehicle and $350 to the car driven by Lee.

Pentagon Is Attempting Trace Leak

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Defense Department official says the Pentagon is trying to track down "leaks" of information about its revolutionary technology designed to keep foreign enemies from detecting U.S. bombers or missiles.

In a prepared statement released Thursday, Pentagon research chief William Perry also acknowledged he gave information on the "Stealth" project to Benjamin Schemmer, editor of the Armed Forces Journal.

However, Perry said he gave Schemmer the information only because other leaks to news media had led Defense Secretary Harold Brown to decide to publicly confirm the technology, which he did last week.

Perry did not directly comment on Schemmer's assertion to a House committee on Thursday that the information was given to him as "a directed leak for political purposes" in an election year. However, Brown has denied speculation that he publicized the program to counter allegations that the Carter administration has allowed national defense to stagnate.

Perry said he called Schemmer in to see him on Aug. 18 and offered to answer questions, within security guidelines, because Schemmer had had the gist of the story for more than two years but had agreed to withhold publication as long as the story was not published elsewhere.

The Pentagon research chief said he felt it was only fair to give the editor a chance to print his story ahead of Brown's news conference acknowledging the technological breakthrough.

"The Department of Defense delayed any investigation of the earlier leaks in the beginning in hopes that this very sensitive program would not be further highlighted either to the press or to potential adversaries," Perry said.

"After the Aug. 22 press conference which admitted the existence of this technology, it was no longer necessary to delay a formal investigation," he said, and he added that the Pentagon has asked the Justice Department and its own agents to look into such leaks.

In addition to several news accounts touching on the program, key elements of the Stealth project were discussed last Jan. 31 in an officially approved speech by Lt. Gen. Kelly H. Burke, Air Force deputy chief of staff for research, before an aeronautics conference in Monterey, Calif.

Although Burke did not use the word "Stealth," his presentation on possible future bomber concepts contained several paragraphs which spoke of technology approaches followed in the program.

The Stealth project was first mentioned in print in July 1976 in a lengthy story appearing in the industry-oriented publication Aerospace Daily. It described the essential objectives of that program.

A number of publications have since mentioned project.

Asking Hike In Compensation

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The insurance industry made a formal application Thursday for a 12.4 percent hike in workers' compensation premiums effective Jan. 1.

Thomas S. Carpenter of Charlotte, chairman of the North Carolina Rate Bureau, said insurance companies had lost millions of dollars on workers' compensation in recent years.

"Even with the projected increase, workers' compensation insurance rates are rising at less than half the pace of increases in the cost of major items for which the insurance pays," Carpenter said.

State law generally requires employers with more than three workers to carry workers' compensation insurance.

Insurance Commissioner John Ingram is expected to hold public hearings before acting on the rate bureau's filing.

Boys Terrorized Elderly Sisters

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — While her invalid sister watched helplessly from her bed, a teen-ager burst into the apartment of 65-year-old Mary Lutz and committed a robbery that sparked two weeks of terror for the widowed sisters, police say.

Mrs. Lutz and Dorothy Smith, 55, were repeatedly robbed and threatened by a gang of seven boys, according to officials.

Police had to coax the story from the frightened women, who pleaded that no action be taken until they could move.

"They were just terrorized. These kids were just terrorizing the neighborhood," Detective Walter Fromm said of the juveniles, whose names were not released.

"I had information on them before, but not enough to make an arrest," said Fromm, who was able to trace the youths based on Mrs. Lutz' recollection of their names and nicknames.

Last weekend, Mrs. Lutz moved to another apartment. Other family members are staying with Mrs. Smith until she can be relocated.

Six of the boys, who ranged in age from 11 to 16, were charged Tuesday and Wednesday with nine counts each of robbery. The apparent ringleader, a 16-year-old, was charged with robbing the women 10 times and with robbing and assaulting a 65-year-old woman in the same neighborhood on Tuesday.

Fromm gave this account of the events that began Aug. 5:

The ringleader broke open the rear door of the first-floor apartment in the city's Kensington section, grabbed Mrs. Lutz and threatened to hurt her unless she gave him money. He took $110 from her purse.

Mrs. Smith, who has diabetes and heart disease, watched from her bed.

Until Aug. 18, the ringleader and six other boys returned periodically, taking a television set, small amounts of cash and forcing Mrs. Lutz' wedding band from her finger.

When their demands were not met, the boys threatened to cut Mrs. Lutz' throat. Police said one of the youths put a pistol to the woman's head and pulled the trigger, but the gun didn't fire.

On Aug. 18, police responded to a fight outside the apartment. An investigating officer learned of the repeated intrusions while talking to Mrs. Lutz and pressed her for more information.

Labor Day... the traditional day honoring the labor force of the nation. It's a legal holiday... when working people across the country take a one-day break on the first Monday in September.

Work has long been viewed as the cure for most of the troubles of the world. Honest and productive work, which one intends to get done, is a real blessing for humans. It keeps us moving forward and making our days on this earth worthwhile.

As the parable of the talents shows, God expects us to do something with our abilities. Draw fresh inspiration for your life and work in your house of worship this week.

N.C. Corporate Tax Plan Proposed

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Textile manufacturers proposed to the Legislature's Revenue Laws Study Committee Thursday new corporate tax measures which could benefit most North Carolina manufacturers and shippers.

"I believe that North Carolina's taxpayers — both individual and corporate — are due a tax cut and I would urge that this committee make such recommendations to the 1981 General Assembly," Charles Dunn, executive vice president of the North Carolina Textile Manufacturers Association said.

Dunn noted that North Carolina's tax laws sometimes give a business advantage to manufacturers located in other states.

Among his group's recommendations were:

— A corporate income tax credit on inventory taxes paid which would gradually offset North Carolina's property tax now levied on inventories.

— Elimination of inventory taxes on goods purchased but not yet shipped by a manufacturer, commonly called "bill and hold" goods.

— Exemption from taxes for equipment installed at plants to control air or noise pollution.

— A switch in the accounting procedures to simplify computing the state's intangibles tax.

Under the proposal to offset inventory taxes, presented by Donald Ardis of Texti Industries in Greensboro, a state corporate income tax credit of 10 percent of property taxes paid on inventories would be given, with the credit increasing by 10 percent annually until corporations receive full credit.

Ardis also proposed that the credit could be "carried forward and used for up to five years" to the extent the credit could not be used in a given year.

"This incentive would apply to all corporations and thus not favor one particular industry or group," Ardis said. "It would also permit our state to be more competitive with neighboring states."

Tom Lee of Cone Mills Corp. in Greensboro suggested inventory taxes on "bill and hold" goods be eliminated.

Often in textiles and in some other businesses, a buyer in another state may purchase goods before they are produced and tell the manufacturer to ship them only on getting a bill. Between production and shipping, the goods are subject to the inventory tax.

Lee said that lack of such a tax in neighboring states could lure buyers away from North Carolina businesses.

William Ellmore of Burlington Industries in Greensboro proposed that property taxes on pollution abatement equipment be exempted.

A law exempting such equipment already is on the books, Ellmore said, but it is impossible to claim exemptions on some equipment as the law is now written.

The textile manufacturers recommended the current law be amended to provide that property installed in an industrial plant for the primary purpose of reducing air pollution be exempted from tax.

Tariff Hike Reducing Imported Truck Allure

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL, Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a new wrinkle in the matter of the government of the United States relying on the factories of Japan to make almost one-third of the pickup trucks bought for federal use.

The tariff that Uncle Sam

now imposes on Japanese light trucks has made them so expensive government purchasing agents are putting out the word: Buy American.

The Federal Supply Service, which does the shopping for government agencies, began asking its customers this week to choose American pickups, even though their gas mileage isn't as good as that of the smaller Japanese trucks, whenever possible — not out of a desire to help the beleaguered U.S. auto industry but because of the 25 percent import duty on Japanese small trucks that took effect a week ago.

"We are contacting these people by telephone," says Milton Broome, the acting director of the Federal Supply Service's Auto Center. "We inquire if there is any possibility they can use a standard pickup truck; whether they can juggle their averages around so they can use a vehicle that gets 15 mpg instead of one that gets 21 or 22."

Government agencies have been ordering Japanese-made compact pickups, marketed by General Motors, Chrysler and Ford, because the models are the lowest-priced available and because they help meet minimum gasoline mileage standards required of agency fleets.

"If we buy some of the one-ton trucks that carry a larger load, we have to balance that off by buying smaller vehicles," Broome said.

He added: "I don't enjoy buying foreign vehicles. The problem is that they (Japanese manufacturers) are not bidding against any domestic vehicle. Our problem is there is not a domestically manufactured compact pickup truck."

Broome said that in the first nine months of this fiscal year, 5,600 to 5,900 of the 20,600 pickups bought by the government were compact from Japan. This was at a time of a traumatic slump in the American auto industry.

Initially, when asked, Peter Hickman of the General Services Administration said 5,900 of 36,000 compact trucks the government bought in that period — one-sixth of the total — were made by the Japanese. But on Thursday, the GSA took another look at its figures for the nine months and decided that pickup purchases totaled only 20,600, raising the percentage coming from Japan.

The Big Three automakers are planning to introduce compact pickups in the 1982 model year and Broome said the government will buy the domestic products then.

Claims Kluxer Boasted Of 3

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Ku Klux Klansman David Wayne Matthews, just hours after five communist demonstrators were killed last November, told a jailer "I only got three of them," a sheriff's deputy testified Thursday.

Guilford County sheriff's deputy Coy Jarrett testified that Matthews made the statement as he was being taken to a cell on the morning of Nov. 4.

"They can't hang me for all of them. I only got three of them," Jarrett said Matthews told him.

Matthews is one of six Klansmen and Nazis on trial on charges of first-degree murder in the shooting of five Communist Workers Party activists during a "Death to the Klan" rally last Nov. 3.

Jarrett's testimony was challenged by the defense, but Superior Court Judge James M. Long ruled that Matthews's statement was "unsolicited and voluntary and, as a matter of law, is not barred from evidence in this case."

He said there was no indication that Matthews, 24, of Newton, was threatened, promised or encouraged to make the statement.

Meanwhile, CWP activist Thomas Conrad Clark was sentenced to 30 days in jail for contempt of court after refusing to testify.

Clark raised his right hand in a clenched fist as he was sworn in as a witness. Asked by Assistant District Attorney Rick Greeson to identify pictures of shooting victims Michael Nathan and James Waller, Clark replied, "I've already said what I'm going to say about this case."

After repeated warnings, Long imposed the sentence and asked Clark if he denied the contempt charge.

"No, I've got nothing but contempt," said Clark. He said he considered the trial a sham and charged that the government, police and Klan conspired to kill the CWP members.

Public Works Schedule Set

Monday, September 1 will be observed by Greenville's Public Works Department as a regular holiday. Their sanitation division will collect backyard garbage as usual except for Monday's service, which will be provided on Tuesday. Front yard trash service will run one day behind throughout the week.

Also, the transit system, (GREAT) will observe Labor Day as a holiday. There will be no bus service on Monday, but regular service will resume on Tuesday.

Cemetery gates will be opened early in the morning and locked at sundown, although the cemetery division will be closed. Persons needing information about the cemeteries should contact a local funeral director or the police department, who will in turn, notify a public works employee.

The police department should be contacted for any emergency street or storm sewer damage or other problem connected with streets or traffic signs. A public works employee is on call to handle these problems.

Industry Is Largest Taxpayer

WINTERVILLE — Ajax Magnathermic Corporation, the town's largest taxpayer, paid its 1980 taxes this week, reports Town Clerk Elwood Nobles.

The company paid $11,521.58 and received a discount of $230.43 by paying in August.

Nobles added that this is the first year Ajax has been the town's largest taxpayer. Today is the last day taxpayers can get a two percent discount by paying early.

The town office will be closed Monday, Sept. 1 to observe the Labor Day holiday, reminded Nobles. He added that the garbage route normally picked up Monday will be picked up Tuesday, but that two garbage pick ups will be made next week. "We won't be losing a pick up, we'll be doing it one day late," he said.

Actors Act In Wyoming

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — While actors in Hollywood walk picket lines, in Jackson they navigate whitewater for the cameras and stage knock-down fights in the bars and balconies of town.

Among the stars at work in this scenic mountain valley are Robert Duvall and Clint Eastwood. And then there's Clyde, a 4-foot-tall orangutan.

Shooting begins soon after Labor Day on "Pursuit," a fictionalized account of Northwest Orient skyjacker D.B. Cooper starring Duvall.

The "Pursuit" crew was in Jackson earlier this summer filming whitewater boating scenes and now is scheduled to stay four or five weeks.

Another big production in the area this summer is "Any Which Way You Can," the sequel to the popular Clint Eastwood movie "Every Which Way But Loose."

The new movie's centerpiece is a fight between two professional street-fighters, Eastwood and Bill Smith, that starts near the town square and spreads across balconies and through windows from one end of the square to the other.

The movie's heartthrob is Clyde, a 4-foot-tall orangutan, whose feats include nocturnal beer-drinking forays in the Cowboy Bar.

Vitas Blasts Ump After Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — Vitas Gerulaitis spent three of the most frustrating hours of his career on the stadium court at the U.S. Open Thursday night. He then spent 15 minutes venting his anger by blasting nearly everyone who played a part in his second-round defeat by little-known Hank Pfister.

"It was a joke," said the No.5 seed from nearby Kings Point, N.Y. after Pfister's 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 1-6, 7-6 victory. "It was the worst central umpire (Zeno Frau) for a match I've seen. They want this to be the biggest tournament in the world, then they have no net judge and roving judges on the line? With only one other match going on?"

Gerulaitis, who lost in the finals last year, then criticized the 6-foot-4 Pfister, who is ranked 40th in the world.

"Every time Pfister cried, they changed the calls for him," said Gerulaitis. "Why not ask me if they were good?"

"On one of my serves, I hit almost an ace and he barely ticked the ball with his racket. Then he complained that the guy (a linesman) stuck out his hand and it distracted him. He was lucky to reach the ball."

Second-seed John McEnroe, who beat Gerulaitis in the 1980 final, returned to action today against Steve Krulivitz. Jimmy Connors, No.3 seed, opposed Butch Walts; No.7 Harold Solomon took on unpredictable Ilie Nastase of Romania; No.10 Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia battled Chris Mayotte; No.13 Brian Gottfried played Tim Gullikson, and No.16 Vic Amaya took on Rick Fagel in a night match. Martina Navratilova, the second-seed among the women, played Leslie Allen. No.5 Wendy Turnbull of Australia played her first match of the tournament, a night contest with Renee Richards, and Andrea Jaeger, the 15-year-old eighth-seed, also made her first appearance in this event, against Jeanne DuVal.

While Gerulaitis seethed about the officiating — one of his complaints during the match, to tournament referee Mike Blanchard, resulted in a judge being placed at the net — he also was unimpressed with Pfister, whom he'd beaten five times previously.

"He got a set and a half start on me because of them (the officials)," Gerulaitis claimed. "I played average, made some silly errors in the fifth set. He did play a good tiebreaker."

Pfister called the win "my second biggest, next to beating Connors in Las Vegas in '78. And I beat Gerulaitis in his own backyard."

He did it despite serving erratically and losing his power in the third and fourth sets. But he was a demon in the final set as both men played spectacularly. Pfister won the tiebreaker 8-6 when Gerulaitis, who had saved one match point with a dynamite serve, missed on a couple of backhands.

"To beat him 7-6 in the fifth is a real accomplishment for me," said the 26-year-old Californian who has never won on the tour. "He got some bad calls early on, but otherwise I thought the officiating was excellent."

What certainly was excellent was the play of women's defending champion Tracy Austin, who embarrassed Rosie Casals 6-0, 6-0 in 46 minutes.

"I'd rather have played anybody but Tracy," said Casals of the No.1 seed. "She knows how to win and that's the last thing it takes to be a champion. She's good, she wants it and now she knows how to get it."

Third-seed Chris Evert Lloyd had little trouble with Peanut Louie in an anticlimactic match that followed Gerulaitis-Pfister on the National Tennis Center stadium court. Lloyd, a four-time Open winner, scored a 6-3, 6-1 decision.

Only one women's seed was beaten in the second round Thursday, No.16 Regina Marsikova falling to JoAnne Russell 6-2, 6-3. Kathy Jordan, No.11, beat Sharon Walsh 6-1, 6-4; No.12 Virginia Wade of Britain struggled for the second time in a row before ousting Claudia Casabianca of Argentina 4-6, 6-3, 7-5; No.13 Pam Shriver defeated Renee Blount 6-1, 6-2, and No.14 Ivanna Madruga of Argentina blasted Kim Jones 6-3, 6-3.

A couple of men's seeds weren't so lucky. Eddie Dibbs, rated eighth, lost to Vijay Amritraj of India 7-5, 0-6, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, and No.9 Peter Fleming was overwhelmed by Johan Kriek of South Africa 6-4, 6-2, 6-0.

"I'm playing well enough to beat all of the good guys in the Top 10," said Amritraj, who has beaten Dibbs, Connors, Fleming and Guillermo Vilas of Argentina twice this year and taken Gerulaitis once. "I was physically stronger at the end of the match."

Kriek looked like a master against Fleming and credited the harcourt with helping his game.

"I grew up on these type of cement courts in South Africa," said the 22-year-old, who is ranked 29th in the world and had made it to the quarterfinals here the last two years. "They suit my game fine because I can either serve-and-volley or stay at the baseline."

Elsewhere among the men, No.4 Vilas blasted John Hayes 6-2, 6-4, 6-4; No.11 Roscoe Tanner eliminated 16-year-old Jimmy Arias, the youngest men's singles player in Open history, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0; No.14 Wojtek Fibak of Poland beat Peter Feigl of Austria 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, and No.15 Yannick Noah of France stopped Bruce Manson 6-7, 7-6, 6-0, 6-2.

Borg Catches Up!

Sweden's Bjorn Borg dashes across the court to return a shot by John Sadri Thursday during second round action in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships in New York. The top-seeded Borg posted a 7-5, 6-2, 2-6, 6-0 victory over Sadri. (AP Laserphoto)

Another Back On Injured List

Another back has joined the group resting on the sidelines at East Carolina University's football practice.

Warren Brookins, a 5-10, 175-pound sophomore from Philadelphia, suffered in knee injury in drills yesterday. The injury leaves more backs now sidelined than able to practice. It was not known how long Brookins would be out of action.

"Injuries are our primary concern right now," Coach Ed Emory said. "We have a lot of first-liners out now, and we need to get them back and ready for Duke." That leaves just over a week, as the Pirates open the season next Saturday in Durham against the Blue Devils.

Emory also noted that he felt that the defense appeared ahead of the offense in the midweek scrimmage held Wednesday night. That was in reverse of the trend in last Saturday's scrimmage.

The Pirates will be appearing at Carolina East Mall on Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. for autographs and pictures. In addition, season tickets will be on sale Saturday from 12 noon to 5 p.m., instead of Friday night and all day Saturday as earlier announced.

Hustlers Meet

A meeting will be held Saturday from 1 to 2 p.m. under the Ficklen Stadium scoreboard for all youths, 11 and over, interested in selling concessions in the stands during East Carolina home football games this fall.

All youths interested are asked to report at this time.

Rested Bench Provides Punch For Cincinnati

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cincinnati Reds catcher Johnny Bench says he makes better newspaper copy when he plays every day. But the 12-year National League veteran says a little rest makes him a better catcher.

He showed what a 32-year-old can do after two days off from behind the plate — a two-run homer that was more than enough behind the seven-hit performance of Paul Moskau in Cincinnati's 4-0 win over the slumping Pittsburgh Pirates 4-0.

"When I'm catching every day, it's great for you guys," Bench told reporters afterwards. "You guys say, 'Yeah, he's an iron man.' In the meantime, I can't walk, I can't throw..."

"I feel awful good now," he said. "That's the whole idea of not catching every day."

In the only other NL games Thursday, Houston beat Chicago 4-1 and St. Louis romped over Atlanta, 11-2.

Moskau raised his record to 9-5 with his first shutout of the season and passed some of the credit to Bench.

"Toward the end of the game, I started getting sloppy," said Moskau. "He came out and gave me a kind of verbal kick in the pants. He said, 'This is your game, finish it.' That gave me a lift."

Bench wants this to be his last season as a full-time catcher.

"I'm not even thinking about that now," said Reds Manager John McNamara. "We've got a chance to win a pennant and that's all I'm thinking about."

Meanwhile, Pittsburgh, in a four-game losing streak, is thinking about hitting. Except for Bill Madlock's double, the Pirates got only singles off Moskau, and only two base runners got past first.

Part of the problem is that Willie Stargell is on the disabled list, and slugger Dave Parker missed his second game with a sore knee.

But other key hitters aren't producing. Leadoff man Omar Moreno is 3-for-18, No.2 batter Tim Lincecum is 1-for-15, followed by Phil Garner, in a 1-for-21 slump.

Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner spread some optimism around the clubhouse before the game.

"I told them we have 35 games left and all the plusses are on our side. Montreal and Philadelphia both have to go back to the west coast. We don't. We have a lot of games at home."

"I told them to keep working hard, plugging away. We'll get Parker and Stargell back in there. I see all good things down the stretch."

The Reds got more runs than they needed in the third. Dave Concepcion singled, stole second, went to third on an infield out and scored on Dan Driessen's single. Bench's 21st home run came off the next pitch from starter Rick Rhoden, 4-4.

In the ninth, Ron Oester and Dave Concepcion singled off reliever Grant Jackson, and George Foster singled home the last run.

Still, Pittsburgh held on to the short end of a first-place tie with Montreal, which enjoyed a one-percentage point advantage in the NL East.

Astros 4, Cubs 1

Alan Ashby's two-run single highlighted a three-run third inning that carried Houston to its 11th victory in a row over

Chicago, including all nine this season.

Terry Puhl had three singles and an RBI for the Astros, who extended their lead in the NL West to 2½-games over Los Angeles.

Joaquin Andujar, 24, shut out the Cubs for six innings and Joe Sambito finished to earn his 13th save although he gave up a run in the seventh on Mike Vail's pinch single.

Cardinals 11, Braves 2

Dane Iorg drove in seven runs, second-highest in the National League this season, and Bob Forsch fired a six-hitter to lead St. Louis over Atlanta.

The Braves had won five games in a row but they were overwhelmed by a 14-hit attack that included Iorg's two-run double in the first inning, a three-run double in the second and a two-run single in the fourth.

Barry Foote of the Chicago Cubs drove in eight runs on April 22.

"I've had more hits, but I've never driven in more runs," Iorg said. "The game was blown away early, so it was icing on the cake. I've been happier. When you come off the bench in the eighth or ninth inning and drive in the winning run as a pinch hitter, that's the ultimate."

Jets, Broncos & (Yawn) Steelers Tops

NEW YORK (AP) — Ready for a new look in the National Football League's American Conference? Look for the New York Jets in the East and Denver Broncos in the West to emerge as division champions.

Ready for more of the same of thing? Look for the Pittsburgh Steelers to once again edge Houston for the Central Division crown.

The Jets, with more afterburners than the space shuttle, are tailor-made for the NFL's new aerial era and should beat out New England's hot-and-cold Patriots for first place.

The Broncos, whose Achilles heel for years has seemed to be the lack of a mobile quarterback, have one now. Matt Robinson, late of the Jets, gives Denver the secret ingredient needed to outlast San Diego.

The acquisition of Ken Stabler puts Houston in the superteam class. He'll take a lot of the pressure off Earl Campbell and make believers out of a lot of other Oilers. But Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll, making a small change here, a tiny adjustment there, will keep the Steelers as close to invincibility as they've always been.

Here, then, is what to look for when the AFC's grueling 16-game regular season comes to an end:

EAST DIVISION

New York Jets
New England Patriots
Buffalo Bills
Miami Dolphins
Baltimore Colts

WEST DIVISION

Denver Broncos
San Diego Chargers
Seattle Seahawks
Kansas City Chiefs
Oakland Raiders

CENTRAL DIVISION

Pittsburgh Steelers
Houston Oilers
Cleveland Browns
Cincinnati Bengals

Richard Todd isn't looking over his shoulder these days. With Robinson gone, there's no controversy over who's the Jets' No. 1 quarterback. And consider his arsenal. Wesley Walker and Johnny "Lam" Jones give him two devastating bomb targets.

That, coupled with the Jets' already potent if unspectacular ground game, should give defenses fits. New York's defense is young and improving.

The Patriots, too, have an awesome air attack with Steve Grogan — or maybe Matt Cavanaugh — throwing to Harold Jackson and Stanley Morgan, and a strong defense. So what's wrong? Why do they lose the big ones — or win the big ones and lose the little ones? Don't ask the coaches. Ask a psychologist.

Buffalo is yet another team in the division tailored to the wide-open passing game, with Joe Ferguson throwing to Jerry Butler and Frank Lewis. And the rookie-riddled defense of a year ago could become a positive factor.

Coach Don Shula, presumably in his last season with Miami, can go with aging, short-throwing leadership (Bob Griese, 35), erratic, long-throwing "middle age" (Don Strock, 29), or untested youth (Guy Benjamin, 25, or David Woodley, 21). And that's only his first problem. The Dolphins are beginning to look like a patchwork team.

Will Bert Jones ever return to form in Baltimore? Will the Colts ever give running back-receiver Joe Washington some support? For Mike McCormack, the new head coach, it's not an enviable situation.

In recent years, Denver has had more "starting" running backs than any two teams would need, half a dozen of them shutting in and out of the lineup. But almost always there was gimpy Craig Morton, unable to run and, thus, repeatedly flattened. Now, with Robinson's legs (and stronger arm, too), the Broncos are about to take a big step up.

San Diego's Dan Fouts will have another fine season, but can he duplicate his record passing of '79? And, despite trades, a high-powered running game is still strikingly absent.

Seattle quarterback Jim Zorn is, for opposition defenses, one of the scariest things around. Perhaps the only thing scarier on the Seahawks is their defense. That's what's keeping this team from serious playoff contention.

Defense is what gave Kansas City hope in its games — but if the Chiefs fell behind early, they rarely caught up. This year the once-archaic offense will start catching up. Say goodbye to the wing-T.

And say goodbye to Oakland — not as an NFL franchise just yet (That's perhaps a year away), but as an NFL power. The team which lived by the pass and died by the run got rid of its passing game when Al Davis unloaded Stabler. Right-handed Dan Pastorini, never much of a passer anyway, on the left-handed Raiders will quarterback them into such a hole that the city's fan will wonder why they ever wanted the team to stick around.

So the Terry Bradshaw era will last two more years — whereupon Cliff Stoudt or the Steelers' No. 1 draft choice, Arizona State quarterback Mark Malone, will be ready to take over. For every player getting on in years, there seem to be two ready and able to move in under the guidance of Taskmaster Noll, their low-key but iron-fisted coach.

Passing a mere afterthought in Houston the past couple of years, will be revived under Stabler's direction. The Snake is considered a genius at employing every possible weapon and is perhaps the best "two-minute" quarterback around. Campbell may wind up with three or four extra years on his career as he becomes another cog and not the whole machine.

Cleveland is an offense-rich, defense-poor team. Picking Charles White, the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern Cal, was good public relations, but it won't do much to reduce the opposition scoring.

Cincinnati is headed for turmoil under the drill-sergeant mentality of Forrest Gregg, the new head coach. And unless quarterback Ken Anderson can shake off the injuries (or second-year man Jack Thompson matures with lightning speed), the Bengals are headed for yet another basement finish.

Stabler's Drill Is Too Quick

HOUSTON (AP) — Ken Stabler of the Houston Oilers, noted as one of the deadliest two-minute quarterbacks in the National Football League, was too efficient Thursday night.

Stabler took only 1 minute 28 seconds to lead the Oilers to a touchdown before halftime, leaving the Buffalo Bills time to attempt a come back.

But the Oilers will take Stabler's two-minute drill just as they'll settle for their 24-7 victory over Buffalo in the final preseason tuneup before the Sept. 7 regular season opener against Pittsburgh.

"We have worked hard on our two-minute offense and at the end of the first half, we did about as good as you can do," Oilers Coach Bum Phillips said. "Hell, we scored so darned fast, that we gave them the ball with a minute left."

Buffalo had pulled to a 10-7 deficit in the second quarter when Stabler took the controls and guided the Oilers to a quick score and a 17-7 halftime lead.

Stabler passed 22 yards to tight end Mike Barber and 17 yards to wide receiver Mike Renfro and handed off to Earl Campbell for the first of his two touchdown runs.

Stabler also hit running back Rob Carpenter with a 7-yard touchdown pass and Toni Fritsch kicked a 33-yard field goal for the Oilers. Buffalo's second quarter touchdown came on a 1-yard dive by Auburn rookie Joe Cribbs.

"Hey, man, it's tough to go 50 or 60 yards," Stabler said of Houston's second quarter two-minute drill. "If you get it in one play fine. That's like cussing someone for winning by five points when the betting line was six points."

Campbell's performance reacquainted the 45,973 Oiler fans with the NFL rushing champion.

He had taken a backseat to Stabler's passing during the first three preseason games but he exploded for 58 yards on the first play of the game and finished with 109 yards on 11 carries and two touchdowns.

"I was watching Earl on the sidelines during the game and it was an awfully good feeling not having to tackle him," said Oilers defensive back Jack Tatum, who played against Campbell as an Oakland Raider last season. "He is a super athlete and it is a pleasure to be on the field with him."

Buffalo Coach Chuck Knox, trying to get the Bills ready to face Miami in the season opener, said "I would like to have played better but it was a short week for us. We're not ready to play Miami yet. I know that. We've got a lot to work on."

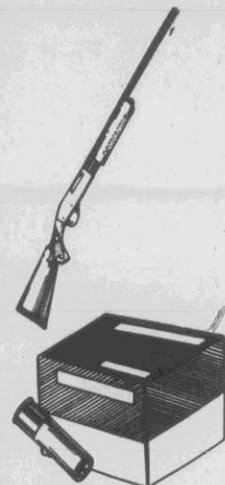

The Bills have not beaten Miami since 1969, an NFL record 20 straight losses to one team.

Pro football's longest game was the AFC Divisional playoff between the Kansas City Chiefs and Miami Dolphins on Dec. 25, 1971. Miami won it, 27-24, after 82 minutes and 40 seconds of action.

pear to be on the upswing from last year. This could be the toughie of the weekend, but we like Conley's chances in this one.

Jamesville travels to Princeton. The two met last year in the first round of the 1-A State playoffs. Princeton is expected to be just as strong as last year, while Jamesville largely has to rebuild after losing a lot of players. There seems to be little choice here, and we look for Princeton to come out ahead here.

Greene Central visits South Lenoir in another traditional game. The Rams won 20-7, last year, and this year, the Greene Central team is the pick of many of the Eastern Carolina coaches as one of the teams to beat in the conference. That should be enough to overpower South Lenoir in this non-conference encounter.

Rose High School's Rampants play host to Kinston, a team that eeked out a 14-8 win last season. The Vikings were pretty well controlled last year, gaining few yards, but taking advantage of Rose mistakes. They got one score on a long pass, and the other came after a Rampant fumble in the shadow of the goal posts. Otherwise, the Rose defense held them in check, and the Rampants had only themselves to blame for the loss.

The Rampants are the choice of the Division I coaches to win the title this year, and Dave Bumgarner feels that a victory against Kinston would be a good start for his team. Kinston is up from last year, and will be out to spoil the opening of the Rampants.

Another toughie to pick, but we will stick with Rose to win a close one.

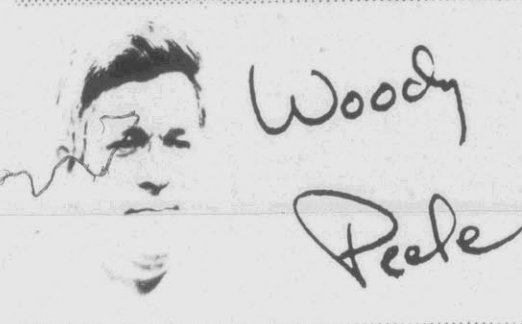

The annual Rose-Aycock Booster Club drive is now underway. This is one of the principal ways in which funds are raised for the athletic programs at both Rose High School and E.B. Aycock Junior High School.

Tommie Little of the club notes that donations of any size are acceptable, and that there is no minimum in order to become a member.

"One of our projects for the year is to build toilet facilities at E.B. Aycock track," Little explained. He noted that the athletic budget for the year is $32,000, of which $22,000 is expected to come from gate receipts and season ticket sales.

Season tickets are now on sale also. They are $25 for adults and $15 for students. These tickets are good for admission to all Rose and Aycock home athletic events (expect playoffs) throughout the 1980-81 school year, not just football season.

Persons wishing to buy season tickets may do so at Rose or at the gate at home games. Persons wishing to make donations to the Rose-Aycock Foundation may contact Little or the school.

The time of year has finally rolled around where we must take pen, er, ah, computer, in hand, and come up with our annual football predictions.

This week, since the slate is limited, we will warm up with the usual high school openers. Then, next week, our panel of experts—made up of the same bunch of jokers as last year—along with a weekly guest, will begin making their choices of some of the area college football games, plus some other toughies.

While we are in hopes of being able to defend our championship won last year, we have been told that it was only a fluke, and both Tom Baines and Joe Jenkins are vowing revenge this year. While we agree with the fluke victory, we're not all that sure about their revenge.

The fun will begin on that next week. In the meantime, seven of the nine area high schools get their season underway tonight. Only Farmville Central and North Pitt are idle, getting their year started next Friday night. All of the rest will have an open date somewhere down the line, while the Jaguars and Panthers dash straight through their ten week slate.

In the top Pitt-Martin-Greene game of the week, Ayden-Grifton travels to Williamston for the only "in-area" meeting. The Chargers are coming off a break-even season, and are planning on going to the air to improve their mark for this season. Williamston had a good year last time out, and is expecting its team to be improved. Williamston was able to roll up a 20-0 win in last year's meeting, and we look for them to come out on top again this season.

Belhaven visits Roanoke, looking for revenge for last year's 34-8 loss. Belhaven will be improved, too, this year, but Roanoke should be more improved. We look for the Redskins to come away with a win in this opener.

Conley heads down the road to West Craven. Next year, these two teams will be in the same conference, as Conley is moved from the Eastern Carolina to the Coastal by the NCHSAA's realignment program. But for now, it is a non-conference encounter. Conley's Vikings ap-

Murcer Wants His Shot At The Series

A Long One

Minnesota Twins' second baseman Rob Wilfong makes a long jump as he throws to first after tagging Toronto Blue Jays' Alfredo Griffin

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Bobby Murcer has a special reason for wanting to win the World Series with the New York Yankees.

Once acclaimed as the successor to Mickey Mantle in the Yankees' outfield, Murcer spent six full, fairly productive years in pinstripes in the late 1960s and early 70s.

But the Yankees never won a pennant with Murcer, who finally was traded to San Francisco in 1975.

"Back in the early '70s, we challenged once, but I thought we were a player or two away from winning," Murcer said.

"It turned out that the only player who went away was me, but the Yankees brought me back, and it means an awful lot to me to win and go all the way," Murcer said.

Now, getting a chance to play even sporadically, the 34-year-old Murcer has been a key to the Yankees' success of 1980. Thursday night, he hit his 12th homer of the season to break a tie in the seventh inning and give New York a 6-5 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

It was the ninth time this season he has notched the game-winning RBI, and this one helped the Yankees maintain their half-game lead over the Baltimore Orioles in the American League East.

"I think that we'll play better and play harder in the stretch and that we'll win this thing," Murcer said.

The Orioles whipped California 13-8. Elsewhere in the league, Boston edged Oakland 3-2, Detroit defeated Milwaukee 11-7 and Texas dented Kansas City 10-6. The Minnesota-Toronto game was suspended after 14 innings, tied 5-5.

Lou Piniella also homered for the Yankees, and lefty Ron Guidry, 13-9, picked up the victory out of the bullpen, relieving Rudy May, who began the season out there. "It feels good to win," said Murcer. "I was looking for a good pitch to hit hard. I had to figure Jim (Seattle pitcher Jim Beattie) didn't want to walk me as the leadoff man in the eighth. I sounded off earlier when I wasn't playing, and I think I have proved my point."

Falcons Try To Stop Loss Skein

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Winning isn't everything — and when it comes to Atlanta Falcons exhibition games, it isn't anything.

Atlanta built itself into contention a few years ago with a superb defense, nicknamed the Grits Blitz. Then the National Football League changed the rules, limiting the tactics a defense could employ in order to open up the offense, particularly the passing game.

And history — as well as every team Atlanta has played in the past two preseasons — passed the Falcons by.

Last year they were 0-4 and the team which in 1978 had made the playoffs with a 9-7 record sagged to 6-10. This year, heading into tonight's final exhibition against Baltimore, the Falcons are 0-3 and, although Coach Leeman Bennett won't be diverted from his primary goal — assessing each player's abilities, particularly those of the remaining rookies — he wouldn't mind if Atlanta won for a change.

"We want to win because the players have worked hard and played well for the most part. It's been very disappointing not to win but I feel this may have been our best training camp since I've been with the Falcons," said Bennett, in his fourth year as head coach. "We still plan to get a good look at our younger people. If we don't, it wouldn't have done any good to keep them around this long."

Tonight other games are

New England at Seattle, Miami at New Orleans and Washington at Tampa Bay.

On Saturday night it's Pittsburgh at Dallas, San Diego at Los Angeles, the New York Jets at the New York Giants, Cleveland at Minnesota, Philadelphia at Oakland, St. Louis at Chicago, Denver at Green Bay, Detroit at Cincinnati and Kansas City vs. San Francisco at Tucson, Ariz.

On Thursday night, the Houston Oilers beat the Buffalo Bills 24-7 as Earl Campbell set up one touchdown with a 58-yard run and scored two on short dashes.

"I don't think there's any comparison this preseason and last," Bennett said, comparing the Falcons' 135 points allowed in 1979's exhibitions to the 48 yielded so far in 1980. "This year we have played good teams and have played well but we've just lost. That's been frustrating but the effort and work by the players has been all I can ask for."

Atlanta's defense will be severely tested by Bert Jones, the oft-injured quarterback of the Colts who appears to be a fine form once again. Last week, in less than three periods against the Giants, Jones completed 14 of 20 passes for 323 yards and four touchdowns in Baltimore's 37-20 romp. "We have faced (Seattle's) Jim Zorn, (Pittsburgh's) Terry Bradshaw and (San Diego's) Dan Fouts in the preseason," Bennett said, "so we should be well prepared."

in a double play Thursday. The American League game in Toronto was halted after 14 innings, tied at 5-5, to accommodate other events in the stadium. The game will resume this afternoon. (AP Laserphoto)

U.N.C. ANNOUNCES TOTAL SELLOUT

Chapel Hill, N.C.—Officials in the Athletic Department at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill announced today that all 1980 football tickets for Carolina's home games have completely sold out. This marks the third year in a row that Carolina has sold out of all its home football games.

This year's total sellout is particularly note-worthy in that it occurred before the start of the season and that tickets for seven home games were sold instead of the usual six.

The growth in Carolina football attendance has been dramatic during the past several years. Season ticket sales have increased from 12,605 in 1975 to 25,754 in 1980. By the end of the upcoming season U.N.C. will have sold out its last twenty-three home games without the benefit of Band Day or reduced rate tickets of any type.

Over the years, Canada has always posed a threat to bridge's big guns in the World Team Olympiad. This year should be no exception. Anchored by one of the world's most established and feared pairs—Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela of Toronto—and supported by four young and aggressive players—Allan Graves and George Mittleman of Toronto, and Eric Kokish and Peter Nagy of Montreal—the Canadians would be our choice as the team most likely to cause an upset.

In 1978, Kokish-Nagy finished second in the World Olympiad Open Pairs Championship. This hand, from the finals of the Canadian Trials, is typical of their style. The opening one club bid was strong and forcing, and the one diamond response was negative. Thereafter, the auction was natural.

Against four hearts West made his normal lead of the king of clubs. Nagy made the key play of allowing the king to win. To have a chance of defeating the contract, West must shift to a spade, but that is far from obvious. At the table, he chose to continue with a club, taken by declarer's ace.

Declarer crossed to the king of diamonds and ran the nine of hearts. He continued with a low heart to the eight, learning of the bad break. After cashing the ace of diamonds and ruffing a diamond in dummy, declarer returned to his hand with a club ruff.

His preliminary work completed, declarer cashed the ace of hearts and led the queen of diamonds. East refused to ruff, but he was only postponing the inevitable. Declarer continued with the queen of hearts. East was forced to win the king of hearts and had to present declarer with the king of spades as his game-going trick.

Your play to the first trick could decide the fate of the contract! A writer once remarked: "There's no such thing as a blind opening lead, only deaf opening leaders!" Animals Can Do Things People Can't Or Won't

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Animals can do two things on television that people cannot: go without clothes, and do a "reality TV" show that is worth watching.

This latter revelation came last Sunday, when ABC premiered its "Those Amazing Animals" series. Oh, the people who make the series tried their best to create "Animals" in the image of the human "reality" shows, such as "Real People" and "That's Incredible." There was a studio audience (human) and a trio of wisecracking hosts (also human), in accordance with the standard format for "reality" shows.

It didn't work. The animals were fun to watch anyway. I think that's because animals are innocent of the urges to low entertainment that inspire the stars of the "Real People" breed. If an animal does something goofy, he's doing to please his human captors or because that's his natural behavior.

That we gawk in wonder is a curious trait of our species.

As I say, last week's premiere of "Those Amazing Animals" was fun, but it began on a note not very promising. That is, the first segment was a people segment, rather a standard one at that.

It was about underwater photographers Ron and Valerie Taylor, who, of course, take pictures of dangerous sharks, a booming avocation these days.

"In 20 years, Val has only been attacked once," we're told in ominous tones. "This will be the second time... This is an amazing bit of film. Within 50 minutes of entering the water, Val's life will be in danger."

Putting Val's life in danger, of course, was the only reason for the segment. They achieved their purpose, and then some.

Mrs. Taylor floated around a school of sharks, pulling fish out of her wetsuit to attract them to her, until finally one of the sharks attacked her. It seemed a perfectly reasonable action. Why settle for a dead fish when you can lurch on a warm human?

The shark tore into Mrs. Taylor's leg, and she had to be rushed to ship's deck for aid. There we were treated to close-up shots of rent flesh and an expanding puddle of Mrs. Taylor's blood while the Taylors held this conversation:

He: "We work so often with these sharks and look what happens..."

She: "Why did he have to do that to me?"

He: "Bloody nuisance."

Indeed, Next week, host Burgess Meredith promised, we'll return to the Taylors and "learn an exciting new definition of the word 'courage.'"

Maybe even another word or two. "Dumb," perhaps. Or "crazy." After the shark number, people pretty much butted out and let the animals take over. There was a great piece on an operatic parrot that had you really saying, "That's amazing." There was a nifty creature from the San Diego Zoo called a Slow Loris, a moon-eyed little sweetheart who did nothing but bat his big browns and look cute.

How to see more of Greenville by moving to Wilson.

When you first look at Wilson Acres Apartments, what you'll notice are the windows. They're huge. Those big, thermalpane windows let in a wonderful airy effect to every apartment at Wilson Acres. That's something you'll enjoy on days when you want to look out over the surrounding quiet residential neighborhood. Or watch neighbors walking to the pool. Or going to play tennis.

And, at Wilson Acres, you'll get a lot more than big windows. You'll have a choice of 2 or 3 bedroom apartments with a full kitchen, heat pump, self-cleaning oven, dishwasher and dryer hook-ups. Clubhouse with a pool. And all the benefits of living in a neighborhood that's convenient to almost everyplace in town. With a price that's convenient, too.

So get a look at more of Greenville. Move to Wilson (Acres Apartments).

Jury Deliberating First Abscam Case

By RICHARD T. PIENCIAK

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Prosecutors say Rep. Michael Myers was "caught red handed."

Defense lawyers say he was "play acting."

Today, the jury in the nation's first Abscam trial was going to court to begin deliberating the fate of Myers and three other men accused of sharing a bribe from undercover FBI agents.

The nine-woman, three-man panel was to begin deliberating after receiving instructions from U.S. District Judge George C. Pratt.

Myers' bribery-conspiracy trial, which began in Brooklyn on Aug. 11, is the first for six congressmen indicted on charges stemming from the FBI's investigation, code-named Abscam. The others will stand trial later this year.

The Pennsylvania Democrat, Camden, N.J., Mayor

Angelo Errichetti, Philadelphia City Councilman Louis Johanson and Philadelphia attorney Howard Criden were accused of sharing $50,000 from undercover FBI agents posing as representatives of an Arab sheik in return for Myers' promise to help the sheik in immigration matters.

They were charged with bribery, conspiracy and traveling in interstate commerce to commit bribery. The bribery count included two subsections, one carrying a possible 15-year prison term and a lesser "criminal gratuity" offense carrying a possible two-year term. The conspiracy count carried a possible five-year term.

Pratt ruled earlier that the jury must find Myers guilty of either subsection of the bribery statute in order to convict on the conspiracy and interstate travel counts.

He also ruled that if the jury acquitted Myers it had to clear the other defendants.

"If it was play acting for him it was play acting for everyone," Pratt said.

The government argued that videotapes and sound recordings played in court showed Myers was "caught red handed" and was "in need of a story." In closing remarks, federal prosecutor Thomas P. Puccio called "split personality nonsense" Myers' testimony that he had been "play acting" when he promised to help the sheik.

Myers testified he had no criminal intent when he took the money and no plans to exert influence on the sheik's behalf. His lawyers argued that no private immigration bill ever was introduced and that there had been no follow-up by the government after the payment.

Myers said he had been assured he would never have to do anything for the sheik.

Puccio scoffed, "Did he believe an Arab sheik was going to dole out $50,000 for doing absolutely nothing?"

The defense said promises Myers made in the "play acting" conversations came from coaching by Mel Weinberg, the convicted con man credited with setting up the sting.

Defense lawyers concentrated on discrediting Weinberg's testimony, and the government's summation was directed at Myers' credibility.

Illegal Drug Labs Create New Center

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta, which prides itself as a regional distribution point for some other goods, has become a regional center for clandestine laboratories that produce illegal drugs, the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency says.

"Georgia far outranks other Southeastern states in the number of clandestine labs seized," DEA agent Chris Brown said in a recent interview.

A map in Brown's office displays 31 labs identified or raided in the past year in the Atlanta metropolitan area.

Brown said two drugs — MDA and methamphetamine — are commonly produced in the labs. MDA, short for 3,4-methylenedioxyampheta-mine, is a psychic stimulant and hallucinogen.

"If you can bake a cake, you can make MDA," Brown said. And Ray Vinsik, special agent in charge of the Atlanta office, said many drug paraphernalia stores carry instructions for preparing the substance.

An investment of about $1,000 worth of chemicals can produce 200 pounds of MDA in an illegal lab. The substance wholesales for about $1,500 a pound or retails on the street for about $700 an ounce.

The labs are dangerous to drug users because the quality and strength of the drug may vary significantly from batch to batch, the DEA said.
