Foreign Cars Still Claim Best Mileage

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - American automakers, despite offering their most fuel-efficient cars ever this fall, have yet to break the stranglehold held by the imports on fuel economy.

Various versions of Chrysler's Dodge Omni and Plymouth Horizon scored 28 and 27 mpg. Chrysler, being propped up by government-guaranteed loans, is pinning hopes for a resurgence on its new front-wheel-drive "K" cars - the Dodge Aries and Plymouth Reliant.

They tied for fourth at 37 mpg. Those cars were followed by the five-speed Datsun 210 and Toyota Corolla Tercel, each at 36 mpg.

After motorist complaints that the figures were widely inflated, the EPA decided to issue only the lower city average as better reflecting the mileage a motorist can expect to achieve.

For the third straight year, the 10 cars getting the best mileage in the 1981 model year are all foreign-made, according to statistics released today by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Chrysler was also the only U.S. automaker to have models among the top 10 mileage makers, although both - the Dodge Colt and Plymouth Champ - are built by Japan's Mitsubishi Co.

The EPA in 1979 abandoned its practice of issuing both a city mileage figure and a highway estimate.

Motorists driving the top-rated domestic autos, the gasoline-powered Chevette and Ford's Escort and Lynx, would pay $774 annually with unleaded gasoline selling for $1.55, the EPA said.

Zoning Code Sees Revisions Voted

Public hearings were conducted on four items Thursday night and six others were scheduled for October hearings as the City Council breezed through one of its shortest meetings in recent months.

omment Commission for rezoning, from R-6 to Office and Institutional (O&I), a tract of approximately four tenths of an acre located adjacent to Dr. Isaac Artis' property in the 100 block of W. 16th Street.

Transportation Task Force of the Chamber of Commerce regarding its study of the fuel sales situation at the Pitt-Greenville Airport.

Approval was also given following a hearing for an ordinance amending the subdivision ordinance to allow minor subdivision plats to be approved by the Subdivision Review Committee.

The Council, following a hearing, gave its approval to an ordinance amending the Neighborhood Commercial (CN) zoning classification of the city code to allow a dance studio as a permitted use.

The task force, according to the report, recommends that the local "Airport Authority and the fixed base operator (1) re-negotiate the entire contract in order to upgrade the level of existing service, and (2) that fuel sales should be the function of a fixed base operator."

Abscam Trial Is Resumed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Abscam bribery-conspiracy trial of Rep. John Jenrette is resuming after a one-day recess for Rosh Hashana, the Jewish new year, on Thursday.

The city's planning director, Bobby Roberson, said he believes the amendment will result in speeding up the process of recording plats in the courthouse and will be in the best interest of the city and its citizens.

A proposal by Greenville Cable TV Inc. for revisions in its rate and programming schedules was received by the Council and, in accordance with the CATV enabling ordinance, a public hearing was scheduled for the Oct. 9 regular Council meeting on the revisions.

The governing board also received for consideration a report from the Airport

USED MICROWAVE GOOD BUY?

I am thinking of buying a previously owned microwave oven, but am wondering if I can wisely judge the condition and safety of it. Where can I go for help? B. J.

According to the Consumer's Marketplace Encyclopedia, each control should work properly and each setting should be functional. The timer should work accurately, especially for the short settings in the first three minutes which are probably the most useful in microwave cooking.

You definitely should get the instruction manual-cookbook. Without it, you would have to learn the proper settings and timings by trial and error - which is not really worth it, no matter how good a bargain the unit is.

Check all interior and exterior surfaces for signs of abuse or misuse.

Pay special attention to the condition of the door seal and make sure the door closes firmly and seals tightly. Also check that the double-lock mechanism has not been tampered with - failure of either of these two feature could lead to dangerous levels of microwave leakage.

Your best bet, if you're a Pitt County citizen, would be to call the Pitt County Health Department and make an appointment with Patty Hogan to check the unit for microwave leakage. This is a free service of the Environmental Health Division of the Health Department and can also be used by present owners, of course. Phone 752-4141 between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. any weekday.

N.C. Fuel Tax Shaping Up

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - A study commission may call for a 4 percent sales tax on fuel to shore up North Carolina's Highway Fund in the wake of sharp drops of revenue due to reduced consumption of gasoline.

shifted to the state's General Fund - a move that would free the $49.1 million needed by the patrol for use by the Department of Transportation.

If the proposal is approved, it would mean a retail price increase of about 5 cents per gallon for consumers.

In exchange, the additional sales tax on vehicle purchases - expected to produce $31.3 million for 1980-81 - would be added to the General Fund to offset the cost of financing the Highway Patrol. The actual sales tax on vehicles would remain at 2 percent, but there would be no limit on the amount of tax collected per vehicle.

"There may be some changes, but I doubt it," said former Gov. Dan K. Moore, chairman of the 32-member blue-ribbon Commission on Transportation Needs and Financing.

As Wednesday's session ended, Robinson was in the midst of a series of questions intended to show that undercover investigators, and the convicted swindler working with them as an informant, baited a trip for Jenrette.

By placing a sales tax on fuels, the state for the first time would tie tax revenue to fluctuations in the market price for gasoline. Under the existing tax program, the tax per gallon has remained constant as the retail price per gallon went up or down.

He had introduced in evidence several tape-recordings of telephone conversations between the informant, Melvin Weinberg, and co-defendant John Stowe, a Richmond, Va., businessman and friend of Jenrette.

The proposal was approved Thursday by the commission's finance committee and will be submitted to the full commission Nov. 7. If approved then, it would be placed in the form of a recommendation to Gov. Jim Hunt and the 1981 Legislature.

In his questions, Robinson stressed that in some conversations, Weinberg was the first to mention Jenrette.

As approved by the committee, the plan would generate $188.1 million in tax revenue through the added tax on fuels and removal of a $120 ceiling on sales taxes for new vehicles.

The board chairman emphasized that actually, the General Assembly has approved $1,000 of each school's appropriation for convention purposes. "We would have to take the $1,000 out of our appropriation." Everette said PCC trustees had rather, "use the $1,000 for our program, keep the $1,000 for use in the regular community college program."

He noted that, at the end of yesterday 501 more students were enrolled, at PCC for the new school year than were enrolled last year. Registration runs through Monday, Everette said, adding that, 200 more students are expected to register by the end of the period Monday.

Macho Man Full of More than Hot Air

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a man who is so macho that he flatly refuses to help his wife with anything connected with housework? He says, "Men do not do women's work."

We have no children, by choice, and we both work days, but he insists that I get up earlier than I ordinarily would in order to blow-dry his hair every morning. He also thinks it's a wife's duty to pick up after her husband, so he leaves his dirty socks and underwear all over the house. He says his mother was his father's "slave," and he expects me to be his.

As a working wife, I contribute equally to the household expenses and think I should be treated as an equal, but I'm not. His old-world upbringing has given him the macho, male-supremacy attitude, and it's about to drive me to the divorce court. Any suggestions?

SLAVE

DEAR SLAVE: You're working full time, right? You contribute equally toward household expenses, right? You are a "slave" by your own definition, right?

Emerson said, "Slavery is an institution for converting men into monkeys." Well, that goes for women, too, right? So stop picking up after the male chauvinist, and tell him to use some of that hot air he's full of to blow-dry his own hair. (P.S. A counselor might be able to save your marriage, but I'm not optimistic about your chances of getting him there.)

DEAR ABBY: There is this snooty women's editor in our office who insists on opening and reading mail addressed to Dear Abby, in care of this newspaper, before she forwards it to your Los Angeles office.

Should we inform the postmaster general? What are your thoughts on people who open and read other people's mail?

NAME WITHHELD

DEAR NAME: My attorney tells me that it is a crime for a person to open mail addressed to another unless authorized to do so. The penalty for doing this is one year in prison or a fine of $500. After this hits print, I doubt that it will be necessary to inform anybody. If I am mistaken, please let me know.

...

DEAR ABBY: I am a church organist. Frequently I am asked to play for weddings of people I don't know. They pay me and also send me an invitation to the wedding, which includes the dinner.

Am I obligated to send a gift?

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: You don't have to pull out all the stops. However, if you accept the invitation to the dinner, I think a small gift is in order.

DEAR READERS: I'm still getting responses to my survey. Here's one of my Spanish-speaking readers who disagrees with TIED.

"Estimada Abby: Estoy en total desacuerdo con CANSADA. Me apena que nunca haya disfrutado de algo tan maravilloso."

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

I thought I could endure a fall season of reruns brought about by the strike of two unions, but I can't.

Basically, I'm a weak person. I never told anyone, but once when I was watching "The Wizard of Oz" for the tenth time, something happened to me. I jumped to my feet and shouted at Dorothy, "Do you know how fat your stupid legs look wearing white anklets with black pumps? Wise up, Dorothy, you're 10 years old and you're eaten up with cellulite!" I don't know what made me say that.

Just after a summer of reruns, I am already saying unkind things to Alan Alda, Jim Garner and those nice men who work for Barney Miller.

I am sympathetic to the cause of the unions, but something has to be done before families are forced to go back to communicating with one another.

It occurs to me one solution to reruns would be to shorten the shows and extend the commercials to 30 or 60 minutes. Who among you has not wondered what happens to the guy who comes home to his surprise birthday party? His wife meets him at the door and says, "Surprise!" then gasps, "Honey, your breath!" She drags him into the nearest bathroom.

Sure, we see him minutes later on an antiseptic high, breathing on everyone, but what happens the next morning? I would like to pursue that relationship.

I'd also like to see Robert Young and Mrs. Olsen meet at a party some night and see which one triumphs in the fresh-perked Olympics.

Mrs. Olsen: What are YOU doing here?

Robert Young: I'm here because Fred has been mean as a snake lately, and I think he's drinking too much caffeine.

Mrs. Olsen: I think he's ticked off because he can't come home without tripping over you with a coffee pot in your hands.

Robert Young: Coffee beans up your nose!

Mrs. Olsen: Just so they're mountain grown!

There is no question that a longer commercial format could answer a lot of questions. Do the little weirdos in the Fruit of the Loom waistband have families? Does anyone ever wonder what kind of a babysitter travels with a chalk demonstration to explain fluoride to a kid? What holds the marriage together between the plumber and his wife who are always meeting over a clogged sink? Who's been stealing all the American Express traveler's checks overseas? It's a possibility.

Greed ranks high among the seven deadly sins. At the bridge table, it is close to being the deadliest.

In a recent team match, both teams bid to six hearts on similar auctions—as the cards lie, six spades is a better contract. At one table, everyone passed and West, who had not been paying too much attention to the auction, led the "automatic" queen of diamonds.

Declarer made short work of the hand. He won the king of diamonds and cashed two high trumps to reveal the break. After playing his last high trump, he turned his attention to spades. Fortunately, East held three spades, so declarer was able to dispose of his club loser on the fourth spade while East ruffed. The ace of diamonds was the entry to dummy to take a diamond discard on the fifth spade, and the slam coasted home.

At the other table, East doubled six hearts for penalties! West was alert enough to realize that the double couldn't possibly be lead-directing, and he got his side off to an excellent start when he chose to lead a club. East rose with the ace and continued with a low club, declarer ruffing.

Declarer crossed to the queen of hearts, noting with joy that West followed with the eight, and then led the nine, intending to run it if East played low. East split his honors and declarer won the king. He crossed to the king of diamonds and ruffed a club, reducing his trump length to that of East. The stage was set for a trump coup.

East followed to three rounds of spades, but the fourth spade put him on the spot. Since he would be over-ruffed if he trumped, he discarded a diamond. So did declarer. On the last spade he pitched a club, and declarer parted with his last diamond.

Everyone was down to two cards. Declarer simply led a diamond from dummy, and whether East ruffed high or low, declarer would overruff and have the master trump for the last trick.

Life As It's Lived

The Efficiency Expert Meets A Dishwasher

By GAIL MICHAELS

Phillip looks at life as one big jigsaw puzzle. He's never happier than when he's organizing a variety of pieces into one compact whole.

This is best exemplified by the way he packs a car for a trip. I can pack a car in 15 minutes using only one rule-of-thumb: first come first serve and if it doesn't fit, leave it home. The only exceptions are my hairdryer and my kids, in that order.

Phillip also uses a rule-of-thumb: if his thumb fits between any two items in the car, the entire load has to be repacked. We've spent hours waiting for him to pack for an overnight trip to Bethel, N.C. When we're heading for Georgia, I try to give him two days.

He's the same way when he washes dishes. He's been known to hover over a sink for three hours without accomplishing anything beyond sorting the dirty dishes into neat little stacks. He says that my slipshod method of leaving the dishes in the sink while I run the water makes for inefficient use of the drainer. Never mind that for every 30 minutes he spends, I spend 10.

But with two children around any amount of time, whether it be mine or his, is too valuable to waste. That's why I suggested that we get a dishwasher.

Naturally, he preferred a home computer. "Just think of all the things it could do," he rhapsodized. "It could even balance our bank statements."

"If we bought a home computer, we wouldn't have a statement to balance."

"It could do other things. It could plan your menus."

"How?"

"Well, of course you'd have to give it a basic list of foods. And then it could make out your grocery list, too."

"You mean that instead of looking into the pantry to see what I haven't got, I look into the pantry to see what I've got, I feed that into the computer, and it tells me what I haven't got."

"Right."

"Sounds real efficient."

"It is. And fun, too."

"The problem is, honey, that I'll be spending so much time having fun that I won't have a chance to do the dishes, and you'll have to do them every night."

We got the dishwasher. As soon as it was installed, I handed Phillip the instruction manual and pointed to the instructions on loading. "See it even has pictures."

"I can do it better."

"Look Phillip, you are not going to play Legos with my dishes."

"I am merely looking for a more efficient alternative. These illustrations waste more than half the available space."

That night he did the dishes, and two plates cracked. He was amazed. "I thought I loaded them so that they couldn't move."

"I told you this was going to happen!"

He was unperturbed. "Just look at it this way. Next time there won't be as many to load."

Couple Weds In Virginia

DANVILLE, Va. — Margaret Royce Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Earle Jones of Danville, Va., and David Edward Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edward Davenport Jr. of Farmville, N. C., were married Aug. 30 at noon in the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany here.

The Rev. M. Douglas Girardeau performed the ceremony. Music was presented by organist Earl Miller.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and the honor attendant was Eleanor Thomas Jones of Danville, Va., sister of the bride. Bridesmaids included Elizabeth Anne Jones of Danville, sister of the bride, and Priscilla Lynn Hobson of Alexandria, Va., aunt of the bride.

The best man was the father of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Robert Headen of Chapel Hill and Jack Kite of Raleigh. Senior usher was Dr. Charles C. Freed of Danville.

A reception was held at the Wednesday Club.

The bride is a graduate of Converse College and is a cytotechnologist at Wake Medical Center, Raleigh. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina. He is an account executive with Merrill Lynch, Raleigh.

Accompanied by Bobbie Hackney Ames, formerly of Washington, N. C., the two women were visiting Mrs. Ames' sister, Mrs. Harold Thomas.

According to Mrs. Ames, Ms. Bryant enjoyed several golf lessons given by Harold Thomas, golf pro at the Brook Valley Country Club. "It was a new experience for her learning golf."

"Ms. Bryant came here from Virginia following several professional public appearances. Since her divorce, she has moved from Miami Beach to Tulsa, Okla., where her children are in school," said Mrs. Ames.

Mrs. Ames and Ms. Bryant are associated through Protect America's Children, a non-profit educational foundation.

BEAUTY OF PEARLS

NEW YORK (AP) — Pearls, which are said to have the power to inspire romance, are back in fashion, says the Jewelry Industry Council, which offers these tips to help preserve their beauty:

Pearls should be restrung at least once a year to avoid loss through breakage. Knots between pearls will not only guard against loss, but also prevent the pearls, which are relatively soft and can be scratched or chipped, from rubbing against each other.

After wearing pearls, wipe them with a soft cloth or chamois to remove soil, perspiration and cosmetics. Never spray perfume or hair lacquer on pearls, for this will dull their luster.

Large Appliances

Most kitchen and laundry appliances have a service life of many years. There comes a time however when new appliances need to be considered. At this time, there are several questions you should ask yourself. Among them:

Do I need that appliance? Can I afford it? Will I pay for it by cash or credit? Will it make life more comfortable? Do I have the space for it? Do I want to take care of it? What are the wiring and plumbing requirements? If I move, will this be a permanent fixture in the house or will I move it?

You will also want to check the warranty to find out its length and coverage and to see who will service the appliance when it needs fixing.

Due to the increasing cost of energy, look for energy efficient labeling and "power saver" features, too. Those bright yellow labels on certain appliances carry important information. They can be a great help if you're in the market for a refrigerator, freezer, clothes washer, dishwasher, water heater, room air conditioner or furnace. By looking at the Energy Guide label, it's easy to figure out how much it will cost in energy dollars to operate the appliance yearly.

How the appliance is used will of course make a big difference in the operating cost. As a rule, the more energy-efficient model will cost more to buy but it will save money in the long run.

Buying Mattresses

If you're not sleeping well, your mattress may be the cause. That could mean you'll be in the market for a new one. As you shop for a mattress, think about firmness and size. A mattress should be six inches longer than the tallest person who'll sleep on it. It should also be wide enough for those who'll use it.

There's one thing you won't have to worry about. Since 1973, mattresses have had to meet flammability standards set by the Consumer Products Safety Commission.

Innerspring mattresses are still very popular. Most bedding experts agree that at least 250 coils are needed for a durable mattress, and that a mattress should have at least four small vents.

Foam mattresses certainly have some advantages. They are flexible, light, dust-free, lint-free and non-allergenic, but they may turn yellow when exposed to air. As always, you as a consumer should weigh the advantages and disadvantages of both kinds before making a decision.

Moisten edges of each square with cold water; bring up points of dough over nectarines to meet in the top center; press together to seal. Place in a lightly greased 9-inch square or round cake pan. # This Year May End It Since 1960 televised debates have become a popular way to merchandise presidential candidates to the American voter.

On the state level, television debate has become popular as a part of the gubernatorial campaign.

The presidential debates are currently bogged down over the point of whether or not independent candidate John Anderson should be included. The sponsoring League of Women Voters says yes, and Anderson and GOP candidate Ronald Reagan agree to appear.

The advisors to President Carter frankly say that inclusion of Anderson serves them no useful purpose. They want the president to go directly at Reagan, and we don't know that we could argue with the strategy.

On the state level the gubernatorial debate did get off the ground and the most exciting part of it was a controversy over whether Republican candidate Beverly Luke could use visual aids. It was ruled he couldn't, and not much more of substance came out.

The Kennedy-Nixon television debates began the era of this campaign tool.

This may be the year which ends it.

Has to Be Election Year

It has to be an election year.

The U. S. Senate has voted to exempt itself from a 9.1 percent pay increase which is scheduled to take effect Oct. 1.

That means senators will continue to earn $60,662.50 annually.

The senatorial vote is noble, indeed, but let's keep an eye on things and see if the huge senatorial staffs continue to grow. Let's watch to see if the vast benefits senators accord themselves are cut, or if expense accounts continue to grow.

Salaries are just part of what U. S. senators give themselves.

A Political Tour Offer

"Media Travel Service. Can I help you please?"

"Yes, this is Henry Kidney. I'm planning a tour for my political candidate, and I was wondering if you could advise me of some good places where the media would be likely to cover him."

"We have a gastronomic, ethnic food tour which is very popular. You can visit an Italian pizza parlor, a Jewish delicatessen, a Mexican carry-out shop, and wind up eating at a Soul Food restaurant in the ghetto. It's one of our most popular trips for a political candidate. Your man gets to eat a pizza, a dill pickle, a tamale and red beans, which are included in the price."

"Don't you have a Polish restaurant you can recommend? My guy is very interested in the Polish people ever since they had their strike in Gdansk."

"We do have one, but it's very hard to get a table. Everybody running for political office from the presidential candidates on down wants to be photographed with someone of Polish descent. I may be able to book you into a Polish bar in three weeks."

"What else would you recommend?"

"We have a slum tour which all our clients are crazy about. We arrange for your candidate to walk through 10 blocks of burned out buildings, talk to a mother on welfare and sit on a stoop with six unemployed youths who have no future."

"How much is it?"

"Five hundred dollars, unless you want us to arrange a demonstration of the people in the neighborhood."

"Wouldn't that be dangerous for my man?"

"Not really. But it will guarantee him getting on TV that night. Cameramen love demonstrations, particularly if water hoses and tear gas are used."

"What about a tour of an automobile factory? Do you arrange those?"

"We have two tours - one where the employees are working, and the other where the factory is closed and everyone is out of work."

"Which one would you advise?"

"Frankly, the unemployed-worker-tour is more popular

Our guides will take your candidate to an auto worker's home and give him an opportunity to eat cornflakes and talk to the entire family. It also gives him a chance to discuss the economy and attack the importing of Japanese cars. The last time we sent a client to that home, he was on Cronkite, Chancellor and Frank Reynolds all in the same night."

"We'll take it. What about my man standing front of a coal mine, early in the morning, and shaking hands with the people as they go in?"

"I wouldn't recommend it. It's become too much of a picture cliché, and you'll never get your man on the air with it."

"Do you have something that's really different?"

"We have a deluxe tour of a disaster area. If Mt. St. Helens erupts again, or a hurricane hits the coast of Texas, we'll take your candidate to the scene in a private jet, give him a tour of the ravaged area, and arrange for him to speak to a man and woman who have just lost their house and all their possessions."

"That sounds like fun. Send me the brochure."

"You also might think of visiting an Indian reservation. For $3,000 we can arrange to have your candidate become an honorary chief of the tribe and participate in a tribal war dance. It's a sure-fire photo for People magazine."

"I must say you have a wide selection."

"By the way, we are also in the Hertz-Rent-A-Baby business. For $35 a day which includes free diapers, we'll supply a baby for the candidate to hug on any of his stops on the tour."

"Do we have to keep the baby?"

"No, you can drop it off at

Growth Dilemma

By BILL NOBLITT

RALEIGH - Economic growth is wonderful for a community.

Economic growth is traumatic for a community.

Expansion brings new jobs, higher wages, excitement and change, more people which create even more jobs meeting their daily retail and service needs.

Expansion brings congestion, demands on government for schools and roads and parks and hospitals and policemen and firemen which it may not be prepared to meet, possible pollution, rising land prices, pressures on existing businesses to meet competition in wages and sales.

A dilemma such as this now faces many North Carolina communities benefitting lustily from the state's attractive Sun Belt Superstar status, and Gov. Jim Hunt's greatly intensified economic growth program teamed with similar vigorous programs in numerous Tar Heel communities.

growth doesn't become an uncontrollable force which destroys rather than enhances Tar Heel communities.

"It's obviously true that poorly-planned growth can cause problems. But when people talk about creeping New Jerseyism they aren't complaining about the rate of economic growth."

"They are criticizing the fact that the level of jobs and economic activity can so far outstrip the infrastructure that growth can create a poor quality of life," Street says.

BILL NOBLITT

Infrastructure, by the way, are all those things which both the public and private sectors in a community must keep up to par to make a community a desirable place to live.

The project is being done under contract with the Regional J Council of Government embracing Wake, Durham, Orange, Chatham, Lee and Johnston counties. There are 18 such planning regions in the state.

What Street is doing, essentially, is to take a close look at what the industrial and major employment mix is now in this region; analyzing current trends such as expanded electronics industry growth; and how things are most likely to change in the near future.

Planning

This information is especially critical in the Triangle J region for two key reasons: present employment is heavily dominated by state government and major universities; both show signs of declining. And, other diversified growth is taking place so rapidly that the existing population has been pretty thoroughly "mined" to expand the labor force; which means that people must be imported in increasingly large numbers to meet employer needs.

"To continue our rapid rate of economic expansion, we'll have to make plans for the care and feeding of a population that is growing at an increased rate," Street finds.

So, how does government anticipate the funds which will be needed to pay for the demands placed on services while avoiding the pollution

Other Editors Say Community Pride

(Washington Daily News)

Community pride is one of the greatest and most worthy assets any area and any people can have. Throughout history, community pride has helped write many great and wonderful stories.

But community pride taken beyond the practical point can actually serve to hurt a community and pride for one community can actually hurt several other areas at the same time - if carried too far.

Recently we were asked if Beaufort County and our people would help an adjacent county in a matter of industrial development. While this editor cannot speak with authority for Beaufort County, our answer was "sure .... we'll be happy to help in every way we can." Actually, there is a strong element of pride in making such a statement. We in our county and ea, it seems to us, have been far more willing to work with outlying areas than some of them seem to be in working with others.

We speak specifically of the air transportation which is becoming ever more important to all areas of this America of ours. A given area without commercial air service is hurt in today's world.

More and more we realize in this Pamlico area that we are not going to have a first class airport with commercial air service at our command. But working together with several other communities, our chances are greatly enhanced.

For instance, if right today Washington, Greenville, New Bern and Kinston leaders should sit down together and say "let's settle upon one airport to serve us all," the air transportation progress we all desire would be one big step nearer.

If we take out a map of Eastern North Carolina and look at the number of people living within the area, the miles involved, and the varied interests there we can begin to understand why it is wise, practical, and necessary for us to get together.

We are of the opinion that Greenville should be the focus of an air terminal capable of serving the four cities and the counties there and nearby. If we take a closer look at the map of eastern North Carolina, a commercial airport serving a broad area and located in the vicinity along the Calico-Vanceboro road, would give a location of less than 25 miles from the communities of Washington, Greenville, New Bern and Kinston.

The realization of such an airport, we feel, would also mean the realization of air service by leading commercial lines, thereby giving the entire area a boost as we seek to keep in step in the march of progress.

Why cannot we get together? Is it community pride serving to thwart progress? Is it just plain old stubbornness? Whatever it might be, we ought to eliminate it. If only we seek to get together, the results of our efforts might well spell better things for a lot of communities and a lot of people.

We ought to try it.

All Eyes On November

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - Surely, said Vice President Walter F. Mondale, the American people have a right to see their presidential candidates meet face to face in campaign debate.

But not face to face to face, not right now.

Arguing the public case for the Democratic ticket in the debate about debates, Mondale said the voters deserve a direct meeting between President Carter and Ronald Reagan as the two men with a realistic chance of winning the White House.

He said that the presence of independent candidate John B. Anderson would turn the first debate into "just a bunch of cackling," but that the initial session should be the most important in the series.

All of that is a political cover story, as is Reagan's contention that the people are entitled to a debate with Anderson in it.

The fact is that the major party candidates are playing the debate issue - and Anderson's role - to what each sees as his own best chance of coming up a winner on Nov. 4.

Reagan has said repeatedly that Anderson is a bigger menace to Carter than to the Republican ticket. Hence it is in his interest to enhance the standing of the liberal independent candidate.

Mondale said every vote for Anderson is in effect a vote for Reagan. He said Reagan "knows perfectly well that the only function of Mr. Anderson in this campaign is to help elect Mr.

Reagan."

So Carter's interest is served by cutting Anderson down, seeking to keep him from prying away votes that might otherwise go to the Democratic ticket.

To that end, Mondale said repeatedly that Anderson is a minor candidate with no more chance of winning than three or four others like him. He said the Republican congressman from Illinois is losing support, going the way of past third-party candidates, running weaker than was former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in his presidential bid a dozen years ago.

The vice president said it is Reagan, not Carter, who wants to avoid debates. "I charge that Mr. Reagan doesn't want any debates, and if he has to have them, he wants as few as possible," said Mondale. He said Reagan is trying to use Anderson to duck confrontations with Carter.

If so, it's working. Carter has been backed into the risky position of being the candidate who refuses to join the Sept. 21 debate in Baltimore sponsored by the League of Women Voters. He insists the first debate must match him and Reagan, without Anderson. Mondale said an Anderson debate role could come later, and called the president's position a generous offer.

Carter strategists saw this coming. They have been arguing for weeks that no one gave the league the franchise to set up the 1980 debates. But it is the organization that sponsored Carter's debates with President Gerald R.

Strength For Today

THE PERSON BEHIND THE WHEEL

All during these past summer months Americans have been riding in their automobiles along the highways, hastening to or from vacations. Every day, tragically, some of them die in traffic accidents.

Driving a car is a phase of human conduct like other activities. It reflects our nature. Our driving may be inconsiderate, thoughtless, reckless or even wicked; it may be careful, competent, or even admirable.

Ordinary rudeness, such as crowding ahead of others through a doorway, may be irritating and unpleasant - but seldom fatal. But when a person becomes rude and aggressive with a ton or two of steel moving a mile a minute, the consequence can be frightful indeed.

Human life is not only sacred; it is divine. Only God can give it. No amount of money, good will, or remorse, can replace a life snuffed out in an accident. We should all remember this the next time we sit behind the wheel. - Elisha Douglass

Know Numbers & The Letters

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) - To have any understanding of today's economy it is said that you must know your numbers, like the 7.6 percent unemployment rate and the 12 percent prime rate and the 12.6 percent inflation.

You must know your alphabet too, at least if you are going to have any comprehension of the recent economic literature, which is filled with discussions of which letter best describes the recession.

Will it be a "U" or a "V" or an "L" or a "W"? That is, will the economy continue to fall swiftly, stay depressed for a while, and then rise swiftly, as in "U"? Will the rise be sudden, as in "V"?

While "U" and "V" are the most common descriptions, the others are drawing a following of late. An "L" recession would mean a decline that would persist. A "W" suggests a "double dip" recession.

Some economists who had risked their reputations on an "L" are now leaning toward the "W" reasoning that while the economy has shown some signs of recovery it will soon dip for the second time this year.

The recovery they foresee is a brief one. They question the accuracy of the job figures, but they are willing to concede that for whatever reason the unemployment rate hasn't shot up as they had forecast.

But they don't see the decline in the jobless rate continuing. They think it will begin climbing soon. They think that any cheering, by the Carter administration and others, should cease forthwith.

"The decline in the unemployment rate, which is likely to capture the headlines, was more the result of a drop in the labor force rather than an increase in the number of employed," says Morgan Stanley.

The investment house isn't very impressed either by other economic measures.

"Put simply, the underlying buying power to support renewed economic expansion is lacking at present," it is telling clients.

The adherents of "W" aren't impressed by a slight pickup in retail sales or consumer confidence. They aren't impressed by some strength in housing; they say that market will fall on its face again by October.

In fact, they argue that the rise in interest rates for homebuyers as well as businesses is already making its mark on the economy. And that mark, they say, is the mark of "W." It will fall again.

Bad as it is, the "W" offers much more hope than the "L," which describes a depressingly straight line at the bottom of the decline. An "L" economy is one that no longer responds to the usual incentives.

Those who believe in "L" say the economy it describes is inevitable in view of bureaucratic interference and debt-induced inflation, which they say has worn out the nation's will and its productive machinery.

Take your pick, but remember that no number, no letter, no economist and certainly no incumbent or candidate for public office, national or local, knows much more about the future economy than you do.

In fact, do you know that many of them get their most reliable cues from you in the form of those much publicized surveys of consumer confidence that reveal your intentions and ability to buy?

You may argue, in fact, that they rely on symbols and numerals because they do not know what to expect. And isn't that the same sort of thing practiced for eons by witchdoctors and fortune tellers?

Center Has Its Grand Opening

Grand opening activities for Greenville Home Decorating Center on NC 11 across from Pitt Community College were launched this morning with a 10 a.m. ribbon cutting.

Mayor Don McGlohon, Chamber of Commerce representatives, and other area guests were on hand for the opening, which will continue through Saturday.

Three of the six businesses that will occupy the Home

Decorating Center opened today, according to Harrison Gaskins, project coordinator for Tommy L. Little & Associates, developers. They are: Lighting Designs, with Bud Goolsby as manager; Distinctive Interiors, Randal Hight, manager; and Creative Wall Coverings, Alan Pittman, manager.

Gaskins said that six total units are located in the development and the owners hope to fill the remaining three sections with businesses that are involved in the decorating field. The project coordinator said the aim is to provide a facility where customers can get all of their home decorating service needs under one roof.

The entire facility contains some 18,000 square feet with each unit having approximately 3,000 square feet. Gaskins said that the structure incorporates the Ethan Allen architectural design.

Parking for some 100 vehicles is provided on a paved lot, the spokesman pointed out.

Firms at Greenville Home Decorating Center will observe operating hours of from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, Gaskins said, with shorter working hours on Saturday.

Ford in 1976, when Carter didn't object to their management. The president once said he would take part in league debates this time, but that was before Anderson got involved.

There are, as the Carter people argue, scores of other would-be sponsors. Carter has accepted three rival invitations, all of which include only himself and Reagan.

But the league got there first, announced its debate plans, and succeeded in pre-empting the process, at least as far as Reagan and Anderson are concerned. And in fact, only the league, among all the prospective sponsors, had done it before.

As a result, Carter had to choose between risks: on one hand the criticism he is sure to face for refusing the Baltimore debate invitation; on the other, the votes he might ultimately lose by joining in a debate that would offer Anderson equal status with the Republican and Democratic candidates.

He decided to take the debate heat on the assumption that an Anderson revival could hurt him more. His first gamble was that they couldn't, or wouldn't, debate without him. He appears to have lost that bet.

So heat there is sure to be, particularly when Reagan and Anderson appear in Baltimore. It will be conservative Republican against liberal Republican, and both against Carter.

They'll miss no chance to remind voters that the president wouldn't come. It will give Reagan an opportunity to do what Anderson and five other GOP candidates did to him when he shunned a debate in Des Moines, Iowa, nine months ago. They talked all evening about the absentee.

Henry Hudson's River

On this day in 1609, a British sea captain named Henry Hudson entered the mouth of a large river near the present city of New York. He was looking for a sea route through North America to the Far East. What he found instead was a great waterway that would play an important role in the history of the New World. During the Revolutionary War, colonists hung a huge chain across the river to stop British ships. Robert Fulton sailed his first steamboat on the river in 1807. Programs now are underway to clean up the Hudson River, which has become badly polluted in recent years.

DO YOU KNOW - In what ship did Henry Hudson explore the Hudson River?

THURSDAY'S ANSWER - Patrick Lucey's home state is Wisconsin.

Monday's Agenda

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners will meet Monday at 10 a.m. in the Pitt County office building on West Fifth Street.

Included on the agenda is the consideration of a grant offer of $317,350 from the Federal Aviation Administration for Pitt-Greenville Airport, a report from the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce's Airport Transportation Task Force, consideration of several requests for exemption from the hiring freeze, and consideration of informal bids for a pest control contract.

Other business on the agenda includes the consideration of appointments to the planning board, a report from Greenville Cable TV on its intentions to change the rate structure, and a number of reports, including a report on plans for the dedication of the new county office building.

Task Force Will Probe 4 Killings

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) - State and local authorities are forming a special task force to investigate the slaying of an Army private and three members of his family in an apartment complex near Fort Bragg, it was reported today.

The Fayetteville Times, quoting a source close to the investigation, reported that six agents of the State Bureau of Investigation have been assigned to assist 12 Cumberland County officers already at work on the murders.

With the additional officers, authorities plan to examine a list of potential suspects on a "one-by-one basis," the source said.

"We're going to stick with this investigation until something breaks. You can be sure of that," said one investigator who asked not to be named.

He said a rumor that a suspect had turned himself in Wednesday was false. "I wish it were true," he said.

Patrols in the Eureka Springs community were being intensified Thursday night. Residents of the apartment complex, which caters to enlisted personnel stationed at Fort Bragg, have expressed fear for their safety since the bodies of their neighbors were found Saturday night.

The bodies of 22-year-old William Lee Shumway; his wife, Robyn, 19; her sister, Shari Hill, 18, and Mrs. Hill's son, Shaun Michael, 21 months, were discovered in the Shumway apartment. The family listed Inverness, Fla., as their home.

N.C. To Fight Motorist's Prayer Ban

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Backed up by Gov. Jim Hunt, state officials said Thursday they will ask the U.S. Supreme Court to uphold North Carolina's use of a motorist's prayer on highway maps printed by the state.

"It's not the Lord's Prayer, it is just a motorist's prayer," said Thomas Bradshaw, the state secretary of transportation.

Bradshaw said he would appeal the decision by the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that declared the prayer, used on state maps since 1964, was unconstitutional.

The state had defended its use of the prayer on the grounds it was non-denominational and was part of a traffic safety effort.

"By printing a prayer on the official map, the state is placing its power and support behind a particular form of theological belief," a three-judge panel of the appeals court said.

"A state may no more use its official publications to promote a particular type of religious belief than it may use its public schools to accomplish that result."

The ruling brought a unanimous outcry from political leaders.

"I strongly disagree with the court of appeals, and I think we should appeal to the Supreme Court," Hunt said. State Sen. I. Beverly Lake Jr., a Republican opposing Hunt, who is a Democrat, in the fall gubernatorial campaign, said he was not surprised, "given that court's liberal bent."

"I don't think it's any more unconstitutional than having 'In God We Trust' on our money. It's just more liberal nit-picking of our fundamental values," Lake said.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., was even stronger in his renunciation of the ruling.

"If I were Governor Hunt, I would tell those federal judges, 'OK, you've made your ruling, now send your troops in and try to enforce it.'"

The prayer, inserted for the first time as a filler item and retained each year since, reads:

"Our heavenly Father, we ask this day a particular blessing as we take the wheel of our car. Grant us safe passage through all the perils of travel; shelter those who accompany us and protect us from harm by Thy mercy; steady our hands and quicken our eye that we may never take another's life; guide us to our destination safely, confident in the knowledge that Thy blessings go with us through darkness and light ... sunshine and shower ... forever and ever. Amen."

The court's decision came in a 1974 suit argued by the North Carolina Civil Liberties Union on behalf of Lawrence C. Roush, a self-avowed atheist from Wilson, and Mary G.P. Hall, a Charlotte Unitarian now living in Arizona.

The Rev. W.W. Finlator of Raleigh, a Baptist minister and a board member of the national Civil Liberties Union, praised the court's ruling.

"It makes you look anti-prayer, but I am pro-prayer in a profound way. But you have to say that the state has no business in composing and publishing prayers," Finlator said.

CHERRY LANE SERVICES

The Rev. J.H. Vines and the Lewis Chapel Senior Choir will render services at Cherry Lane F.W.B. Church Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

More Abortion Funds Proposed

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - A state agency has recommended increasing North Carolina's abortion fund to $4.4 million during the next two years, doubling the amount spent during the current biennium.

The proposal by the Department of Human Resources is expected to set off another round of controversy over abortion, which prompted legislative fights and public demonstrations during the last three sessions of the General Assembly.

Anti-abortion opponents were quick to react Thursday when it was learned the department had sent its proposal to the State Budget Office.

"I just can't believe that," said the Rev. Daniel D. Carr, president of Churches for Life and Liberty and the organizer of an anti-abortion rally in Raleigh during the legislature's short session in June.

"Our people resent very much taking their tax money from them to pay for murder," Carr said.

I. Beverly Lake Jr., Republican nominee for governor, said he was opposed to "the expenditure of any state money for abortions and would certainly hate to see any expansion of the program."

Gov. Jim Hunt, who was not available, has said he personally opposes abortions but also has said repeatedly that poor women should have the same options as affluent women.

Stove Dealers Are To Meet

All dealers of woodburning stoves are invited.

bers of the Air Force - in Turkey. The State Department in Washington said its embassy in Ankara reported "there was no violence and no danger to Americans."

Helicopters clattered above the capital in the pre-dawn hours and hundreds of troops with armored personnel carriers and tanks cleared the streets. Sources said military buses rounded up deputies of the National Assembly. By dawn the city was deserted except for troops. By late morning, some Turks ventured out to army-supplied bread stores and long lines formed for food.

The commanders announced that the takeover, after five years of increasing political instability and violence, was aimed at preventing "a possible civil war and widespread fratricide."

The Ankara Martial Law Command said in a communique that Prime Minister Suleyman Demirel, leader of the conservative Justice Party, and the main opposition leader, former Premier Bulent Ecevit, leader of the left-center Republican People's Party, "were interned" in their homes.

Necmettin Erbakan, chief of the Moslem fundamentalist National Salvation Party, was "under the protection and custody" of the military, the communique added.

The five-man National Security Committee that took over the government is

Grooms Heads Drive Division

Franklin Grooms has been named as director of the Industrial Division of the Pitt County United Way Campaign. Grooms is employee relations manager at Eaton Corporation in Greenville.

Grooms received his B.S. in secondary education and social science from Tennessee Technological University and his M.A. in guidance counseling from Middle Tennessee State University.

His past experience includes chairman of the Economic Education Committee, Industrial Relations Committee, Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce; and board of directors, American Society of Training and Development.

headed by Evren and the commanders of the ground forces, air force, navy and gendarmerie.

This is the second time in 20 years the armed forces have taken over the southern anchor of the North Atlantic Alliance to try to enforce political stability. Evren and the other four military commanders in a statement nine months ago criticizing the political instability and violence indicated they were prepared to intervene again.

The troops moved through the country's cities shortly after midnight, set up roadblocks and took control of the streets. The coup was announced at 4:15 a.m. by the state radio. It said martial law in effect already in a third of the country had been extended over the rest, an indefinite curfew was in force, airports and the frontiers were closed, Parliament and all political parties were dissolved, all political activity was banned and the political immunity of members of Parliament was abolished.

High Pass Rate For Campbell

Dean F. Leary Davis of Campbell University School of Law has reported that 80 percent of the members of the Class of 1980 passed the recent North Carolina state bar examination, the same percentage as that of the University's first law class, which took the examination in 1979. Campbell's 1980 passing rate exceeded the state average by 12 percent.

Dean Davis described as "unfortunate and damaging" the statement attributed to anonymous bar officials printed by several North Carolina newspapers the Wednesday prior to release of the 1980 bar examination results to school officials. The unofficial statement erroneously attributed the decline in the overall passing rates among law graduates to, among other factors, the lower success rate of Campbell graduates.

Davis also noted that the success of alumni retaking the examination, combined with a 100 percent passing rate on out-of-state exams in 1979, brought the passing rate of the charter class to over 90 percent.

The report also stated, "The task force would like to emphasize that its recommendations include a total renewal of the existing contract to insure that the fixed base operator provides a full and complete range of services to the local community, not by way of limitation of the services."

A bid submitted by North Carolina Equipment Co. of Greenville in the amount of $83,450 for a heavy duty backhoe excavator for the Public Works Department was approved and Council members adopted a resolution authorizing the execution of documents with First Union Leasing Corp. for lease-purchase of the excavator.

Wyatt said that the lease-purchase arrangement provides an opportunity for the city to obtain a needed piece of equipment at a time when money is not available for full purchase. A five-year lease is involved, he added.

In other business on the agenda, the Council:

- Named Dr. Jasper Register to a three-year term on the Human Relations Council, succeeding Lemuel Clemons who completed the maximum of two terms;

- Named Monty Frizzell, who is serving the unexpired term of Donovan Phillips on the HRC, to a full three-year term on the board;

- Approved the application by Burroughs Wellcome for a one-year permit to place a mobile home at US 13 and State Road 1584 for use as an office, and approved the applications by the ECU School of Allied Health and Social Professions and the Eastern Area Health Education Center for renewal of mobile home permits;

- Approved applications by the Sting Inc. (Peaches) at Greenville Square and New Horizon at 1311 W. Fifth Street for one-year renewals of special use permits;

- Adopted ordinances establishing a speed limit of 25 miles per hour on a portion of E. Fourth Street beginning at a point 250 feet from the eastern right-of-way of Reade Street to Cemetery Road, establishing a speed limit of 20 miles per hour on a portion of E. Fourth Street from Sycamore Street to Cemetery Road (school zone) during school hours, setting a speed limit of 25 miles per hour on a portion of E. Fifth Street beginning at a point 200 feet from the eastern right-of-way of Reade Street to Elm Street, establishing a speed limit of 35 miles per hour on a portion of E. Fifth from Elm to Tenth Street, and setting a speed limit of 25 miles per hour on a segment of E. Fifth from Hilltop Street to Cemetery Road (school zone) during school hours;

- Accepted four streets in Section III of Westhaven Subdivision for permanent maintenance;

- Scheduled public hearings for Oct. 9 on three requests for rezoning, on an amendment to the zoning ordinance relative to street access, and on a recommendation by the planning board that a portion of the cul-de-sac of Sara Lane located in Elizabeth Heights be closed (a resolution of intent to close the street was also adopted);

- Approved applications by Kozy Korral Country Lounge at 802 Clark Street for an on-premise beer privilege license, by the Rathskeller at 111 E. Fifth Street for an on-premise beer privilege license, by Harris Cash and Carry at 2509 Dickinson Avenue for an off-premise wine privilege license, by Mc's Variety Center, 607 Vance Street, for an off-premise beer privilege license; and approved a request by Carolina Coupons for refund of a privilege license fee since the business was never operated;

- Approved a budget amendment amounting to $4,650 to cover the first lease portion for the excavator;

- Adopted an ordinance amending the fire district by deleting some six acres located northeast of Arlington Boulevard, southwest of ECU property, east of S. Evans Street, and west of Greenville Square (fire district requirements for heavy construction with regard to commercial buildings would not apply since the property will be developed for residential use with condominiums);

- Adopted a resolution condemning under the law of eminent domain an easement and right-of-way for the construction of utility facilities across the property of Charles D. Cobb on the north side of the bypass just west of Highway 11;

The spokesman noted that the change to a stock charter will have no effect on the terms and conditions of any savings accounts of depositors nor of any mortgages held by First Federal. The association's membership in the Federal Home Loan Bank system will continue.

According to Tugwell, proxy statements are being mailed, giving all eligible account holders the right to vote on the capital stock plan. A meeting of the members will be held on Oct. 9 to consider and vote upon the change.

Qualifying savers at First Federal, he said, will be eligible to buy stock in amounts proportional to their share of total savings in the association, up to 200 shares. No member will be required to purchase stock.

'Unprecedented' In The West

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — While the Roman Catholic Church is to permit some married priests in the United States, this is not entirely new. The church has some other priests with wives besides the disaffected Episcopal priests now planning to enter it.

Nevertheless, acceptance of married clergy in the church's Latin (Western) rite is unprecedented in this country, and was seen in several quarters as likely to increase pressures for an end to the mandatory rule of celibacy.

Episcopal Presiding Bishop John M. Allin, in his first comment on the Roman Catholic decision to admit the dissident Episcopalians, including married priests, said this week:

"We know that the rule of celibacy now mandatory for most Roman clergy is one under which many of those clergy are living with some reluctance. It will be hard for those men to accept the fact that a new arrival from Anglicanism will be able to serve as a priest while married while a life-long Roman Catholic will not."

"This will be a hard experience for the Roman Catholics and they should have our charity and good will as they seek to struggle with it."

Only a relatively few Episcopal priests are involved in the intended shift to Rome — perhaps about 70 of the 12,300 Episcopal clergy — although the precise number is uncertain. Most are married.

Their dissatisfaction with the Episcopal Church, part of the worldwide Anglican Communion of 65 million Christians, came to a head with the church's 1976 decision to allow ordination of women.

The dissident clergy, and some lay members of the 2.8 million-member church, also resisted revisions in the church's historic Book of Common Prayer. A small segment broke away to form a separate Anglican body but it also splintered in new disputes.

Some others sought a haven in the Roman Church, and its U.S. bishops last month disclosed they are developing provision to admit the married Episcopal clergy to the Roman priesthood, and also to admit disaffected lay Episcopalians under special arrangements for them.

They are to be allowed to retain a "common identity" within the Roman Church, including Anglican liturgy or forms of worship, but must affirm Roman Catholic doctrine and authority of pope and bishops.

Details of the process still are to be spelled out, but the plan had the general approval of Pope John Paul II.

Although the Roman Church has married priests in its Eastern rite, particularly in the Middle East but also including Ukrainian rite priests in this country, the new married clergy would be the first among Latin rite Catholics in the United States.

However, there have been some married Protestant clergy accepted individually in the Latin rite priesthood in Europe and Australia. The Episcopal clergy would be the first married men accepted as a group in that Western priesthood, and the first in the United States.

Catholic Bishop Bernard Law of Springfield, Mo., who served as liaison between the U.S. Catholic bishops and dissident Episcopalians in working out the process, said it would not affect the Latin rite's rule of celibacy.

However, Frank Bonnifer of Chicago, a married former Catholic priest and past president of the National Federation of Priests' Council, told the National Catholic Reporter the step would rekindle the debate about celibacy in the church, and that it also raised this ironic question:

"Does the decision mean a Roman Catholic priest who left the Catholic priesthood to marry and become an Episcopal priest (as some have done) can now be accepted back into the church as a married priest?"

Both Episcopal Bishop Allin and Catholic Archbishop John R. Quinn of San Francisco, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, said the action would not impede An-

It is so much more beautiful than words. The sun touches the lake to bronze and the sky is a wonderful blend of apricot and mauve and burnished orange. The big buck silhouetted at the water's edge seems to be looking right at you. For the moment, at least, you are both unafraid.

You store this sight in your memory, to be dusted off on days when the view is cloudy. Remembering, you realize anew that there's something so much bigger than all of us. No man could have made that lake, nor that sky, nor that deer, nor all that glory.

Nature is an ultimate teacher. It would seem, in fact, as if God must have chosen nature as a kind of reflection. Your place of worship is a reflection, too. Why not take a look at it?

Cigarette Smuggling Crackdown Seen

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Floridians who were to receive more than three cartons of contraband cigarettes seized by federal agents here after being shipped from North Carolina may be found in violation of state tobacco tax laws, a Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agent says.

Intended recipients of fewer than three cartons are not subject to prosecution, agent Stoney Daw said Thursday in Jacksonville.

"The packages were destined to individuals all over the state," Daw said. "The cigarette cartons came in packages like Mister Coffee boxes that would be misleading to postal employees."

Agents seized 1,128 cartons of cigarettes at a bulk mail center here as part of an investigation of a North Carolina-based operation that agents say delivered goods to eight states. Daw said the investigation is "a pilot project for the ATF — the first of its kind in the state of Florida."

Other seizures were made in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Texas, New York, New Jersey and Minnesota — states with high cigarette taxes, agents said.

Florida places a $2.10 tax on each carton of cigarettes, Daw said, while the tax only is 20 cents in North Carolina.

Special Agent John Westra said the government will ask a federal grand jury in Raleigh, N.C., to seek indictments of persons in violation of the federal contraband cigarette statute and for mail fraud.

Agents for eight months investigated the mail-order operation in North Carolina. Cartons of cigarettes were being packed into boxes at a Farmville, N.C., farmhouse owned by Edward Jones, according to a warrant filed in Jacksonville federal court.

Jones bought the cigarettes from Moores Wholesale Inc., a North Carolina licensed cigarette distributor, the warrant said.

Agents watched him take the cartons to his farmhouse and later to the Walstonburg post office, where they were mailed to Florida, according to the warrant. Jones is not registered to distribute cigarettes in Florida, agents said.

ATF agents in Raleigh served a search warrant Tuesday morning on a Walstonburg supplier, Westra said. He said cigarette cartons were seized in the raid, adding, "I would say it was a very profitable venture by those involved."

Daw said he was not certain by what means orders were solicited or placed, but added that several order forms were found in the seized boxes. He said the usual practice in this type of operation is to have persons distribute forms to friends or at places like flea markets.

Report Sam Ervin Cancer Treatable

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — Former Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., the North Carolina Democrat who headed the Senate's Watergate investigation, said Thursday he has developed "a little bit of cancer" that is treatable by medication.

Ervin, who returned to his law practice in Morganton after retiring from the Senate in 1975, underwent tests at Duke Medical Center in Durham earlier Thursday.

He had gone to the medical center following the removal of a lymph gland from his groin last week at a Morganton hospital.

"The doctors do inform me that I have a little bit of cancer," Ervin said. "They say it is the most controllable type of cancer."

Ervin, who will 84 in two weeks, said doctors making the test told him the name of the cancer — but he had forgotten it.

"There are more types of cancer than there are types of pickles," Ervin said. "It's a form that involves the lymph glands."

The former senator said doctors told him there would be no need for additional surgery. They also ruled out chemotherapy, Ervin said, in favor of some type of medication that will be prescribed later.

Ervin served in the U.S.

Senate from 1954 until his retirement, gaining note as a leading authority on constitutional law. His sessions with the Watergate committee frequently was spiced with homespun humor and quotations from the Constitution and the Bible.

Drawing on his experience with that committee, Ervin in recent months has writing a book about his knowledge of the Watergate break-in and the Nixon administration's involvement.

In a recent interview, Ervin said he was prompted to write the book because of former President Nixon's published account of the Watergate controversy. Ervin said he wanted to set the record straight.

The Watergate scandal led to Nixon's resignation as president.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed in fairly active trading today as several big banks raised their prime lending rates to 12.25 percent.

Gaining issues outnumbered losers by a slim 6-5 margin by midday on the New York Stock Exchange. But the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off 2.65 to 938.65.

Several large banks increased their prime lending rates to 12.25 percent from 12 percent citing higher interest rates in money markets as the reason. The prime rate applies to corporate loans.

Trading volume was fairly active at 21.72 million shares compared to 19.72 million in the previous session.

Among actively traded issues, Sony fell 1/4 to 14 after gains in the previous two sessions.

Texasco, also active, dropped 3/4 to 36 1/2, Thursday.

Upset Over Poster-Ban

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Republican Beverly Lake pressed his complaints Thursday about the use of posters during his televised debate with Gov. Jim Hunt, who responded by comparing the dispute to a child's game.

"Maybe sometime there will be a show-and-tell debate and we can have a battle of the props," Hunt said. "Like a first-grade poster contest."

Lake, on the other hand, said Hunt showed a "lack of integrity" by opposing his attempt to use posters during their debate.

"Governor Hunt demonstrated his lack of integrity by claiming that I violated these rules," he said. Hunt contended ground rules worked out before the debate prohibited the poster.

Lake said he was considering filing a suit against the debate sponsors, the N.C. Association of Broadcasters and the League of Women Voters, for not allowing him to use the props.

Lake renewed his call again Thursday for more debates, and urged Hunt to join him in paying television stations to rebroadcast their Monday night debate. Hunt declined in each case.

"I will not participate in further debates. My schedule is already in place for the rest of the campaign, and he has shown he will not deal in the issues of this campaign," Hunt said.

Revival Set At Landmark

The Friday-through-Sunday services will feature music by Fred Duncan of Liberty Baptist College in Lynchburg, Va.

Services will begin at 7:30 each evening. A nursery will be provided, the public is invited, says the pastor, the Rev. John T. Woodley.

Ragin' Cajuns Challenge Pirate Streak

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

There have been ten games played in Ficklen Stadium since Southwestern Louisiana last visited Greenville. During that string, the Pirates of East Carolina haven't been beaten or tied on their home field.

Back on October 29, 1977, the Pirates had an 11-game streak going on the Ficklen turf when the Ragin' Cajuns came to town for a contest billed as a tough offensive thriller.

That night, however, it turned into a defensive struggle, and thanks to three field goals, the Ragin' Cajuns came away with a 9-7 victory over the Pirates.

"There are some of us around who remember that," nose guard Wally Myers said. "We don't want it to happen again."

Saturday at 7 p.m., the Louisiana team gets its second chance at stopping the Pirate string, and trying to stop another string that is one of the nation's best along with it.

East Carolina, win or lose, will be trying to score in its 100th straight game. The Pirates currently stand fourth in the nation in scoring strings, not having been shut out over their last 99 games. The last shutout came in 1971 when Toledo beat the Pirates, 45-0, in the head coaching debut of Sonny Randle.

Southwestern comes into the game following a 14-12 victory over New Mexico State in its home opener. The Ragin' Cajuns claimed the win by stopping a two-point conversion try with 16 seconds left in the game.

For the Pirates, it is also their second game, having dropped Duke University, 35-10, last week in Durham. The meeting of the two will be the third in the series, neither team having won yet on its home field. The Pirates dropped SWL, 38-9, in their last meeting in 1978 in Lafayette, La.

"Southwestern is a lot like us," ECU Coach Ed Emory said. "They are one of the larger schools in the state, they have a fine defense, and some fine running backs."

Sam Robertson, who served as the defensive coordinator for the Ragin' Cajuns when they beat the Pirates here, is now the head coach for the team, also in his first year. He was not at the school the last two years, having served in the same position at Texas Tech.

"I think their defense will be much more challenging for us than Duke's was," Emory continued. "Their philosophy is to win on defense. They have two great tackles, and a nose guard better than Duke's. They have more team speed than the Blue Devils, and that's going to make it tougher on us to move the ball."

Offensively, the Louisiana team also has more going for it, having an established running game to go with a strong passing game. David Chatham (5-10, 183) rushed for 78 yards in 14 carries, while Rodney Smith (5-8, 167) lugged it 18 times for 60 yards, scoring one of the two touchdowns against New Mexico State.

Quarterback Phil Reynolds (6-1, 175) hit on 13 of 26 passes for 182 yards and a score, including a 58-yard touchdown bomb to tight end Brent Anderson (6-3, 205). He had two passes picked off by New Mexico State.

As a team, the Ragin' Cajuns picked up 143 on the ground and 182 through the air. They allowed 147 on the ground and 231 through the air.

East Carolina's rushing was led by Anthony Collins, who gathered in 60 yards on 12 carries. Mike Hawkins had 59 yards on eight lugs, including a 41-yard touchdown romp. Theodore Sutton carried 19 times for 48 yards, while quarterback Carlton Nelson had the same yardage in 12 tries.

Nelson hit on four of four passes for 51 yards, while his backup, Greg Stewart hit on three of four for 34.

Overall, the Bucs ground out 311 yards on the ground, while allowing just two. They passed for 85 yards, allowing 163.

On defense, the visitors have eight of 11 starters back. Emory rates tackle Jeff Holm (6-3, 243) as a top pro prospect, with Randy Thomas (6-0, 212) as a strong defensive end. "They return three in their secondary, which is probably the strength of their team," Emory added.

East Carolina returns to the road next week to face nationally-ranked Florida State at Tallahassee.

Tar Heels Take On Texas Tech As Some Call Them Underdogs

By BILL WERONKA
Associated Press Writer

There have not been any conference game in the Atlantic Coast Conference yet this season. This Saturday won't change that as a light ACC schedule presents only four non-conference games.

But it is not a week to be overlooked.

When North Carolina travels to Texas Tech, ABC will be on hand in Lubbock, Texas, to televise the 15th-ranked Tar Heels battle with the unranked Red Raiders. Game time is 12:50 p.m.

Ironically, many of the college game's leading prognosticators have tabbed the Tar Heels as underdogs. Surprising in that Texas Tech went 3-6-2 last season. Of course the Red Raiders lost four games to the likes of Southern Cal, Texas, Houston and Arkansas. But UNC went 7-1 and beat Michigan in the Gator Bowl.

In another comparison, Texas Tech has 33 lettermen back and 12 starters, while UNC has more than 40 lettermen back and 15 starters.

And, both teams have one game under their belts. Last Saturday the Tar Heels whipped Furman, 35-13, and the Red Raiders did in Texas-El Paso, 35-7. But neither opponent was a high-powered challenge — both were merely warmups for Saturday.

North Carolina checked out their sophomore quarterback Rod Elkins and found him more than adequate. The Tar Heel offense checked off 445 total yards, with the rushing game accounting for more than 300. Tailback Amos Lawrence gained more than 100 yards for the 17th time in his career at UNC and his backup Kelvin Bryant gained 105. Then 252-pound fullback Billy Johnson gained 81 yards and did a more than adequate job blocking. Bryant says Johnson "is more like three or four people."

But the Tar Heel offense did give up two fumbles that Furman turned into field goals. Coach Dick Crum knows Texas Tech won't let him off that easy.

Speaking of the Red Raiders, they piled up 519 yards on offense last week. Quarterback Ron Reeves completed 11 of 16 passes for 193 yards and three touchdowns. And fullback Wes Hightower banged out 103 yards right up the middle.

The Tar Heels trip to Lubbock could be interesting, indeed.

The other three games on the ACC schedule should not be overlooked either. A confident Virginia and an unpredictable Clemson open their seasons, while Maryland will be trying to find its offense. Virginia hosts rival Navy, Clemson hosts Rice and Maryland welcomes Vanderbilt to College Park.

NAVY AT VIRGINIA
Virginia has its first winning season since 1968 last year, but still took it on the chin against Navy, which rallied in the second half to win, 17-10, its sixth straight win over the Cavaliers.

But Virginia coach Dick Bestwick has been smiling a lot in preseason. He boasts the biggest offensive line in the ACC (averaging more than 260 pounds). All-ACC tailback Tommy Vigorito (who some say is the fastest in the conference), a lot of experience, a proven quarterback and a new offense.

Bestwick switched the I-formation this year. After running Vigorito and Greg Taylor out of the backfield last year, one had to go in the new formation. Taylor moved to wide receiver where his speed is an asset. But Taylor will not be seen Saturday because of a pulled hamstring. Quarterback Todd Kirtley gives the offense a passing threat. And the defense that surprised the conference last season, Bestwick says is better.

But Bestwick knows, "you've got to be totally prepared because Navy always is."

Navy returns 11 starters from a team that went 7-4 last season and had a nationally-

Tennis Club Event Set

The Greenville Tennis Club's Men's 35 Doubles tournament will begin Saturday at 9 a.m. at River Birch Tennis Center. A field of seven teams will be competing for the title.

The semifinals matches will be held later Saturday at 3:30 p.m., with the finals to be Sunday at 3:30 also at River Birch.

Saturday is also the deadline for entering the men's and women's 35 and junior boys and girls singles events.

There were not enough entries to hold competition in the women's 35 doubles and the junior boys and girls doubles.

ranked defense. But there are some question marks. The Middies have switched a defensive safety to quarterback. The defensive line is strong but the offensive line is inexperienced, as is the defensive backfield.

RICE AT CLEMSON

The Clemson defense will be solid this year. That you can count on. As for the rest of the team...well, no one is sure.

There is not a single senior on the offense, which makes coach Danny Ford rather uneasy. ACC Rookie-of-the-Year Chuck McSwain is back at tailback but the rest of the backfield is new.

Davis Lets Opponents Know That He's There

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Saturday afternoon at Duke University, starting Blue Devil quarterback Ben Bennett went back to throw a pass on the first play by his team in the game.

Just as he cocked his arm to throw, a white and gold clad Pirate slammed into him, jarring the ball loose for a fumble. Fortunately for the Blue Devils there was a teammate right there to fall on the ball, at the 15-yard line, ahead of the charging Pirates.

That was the welcome Bennett, a highly recruited freshman, got to college football.

At the time in Wallace Wade Stadium, currently without a press box, no one in the media or stat crew caught who it was that made the hit—called by Coach Ed Emory one of the key factors in the game. But throughout the rest of the contest there was no doubt that the man who did it made his name known—Mike Davis.

For Davis, a 5-11, 204-pound junior from Rocky Mount, it was nothing new. The defensive end is already being compared with such greats as Cary Godette and Zack Valentine.

Davis came to East Carolina after a year at Shaw University, when that team dropped football. Since Shaw did drop the sport, Davis was allowed by the NCAA to participate without the customary year's wait. He began making his presence felt last year, making 13 primary tackles and nine assists, getting one sack and three tackles for a loss, in addition to breaking up one pass.

Saturday's official stats gave him four assists, and eight total takedowns, with three sacks on the quarterback for a total of minus 25 yards.

From Rocky Mount High School, Davis had an offer to attend N.C. Central, but the school instead signed someone else. So he entered Shaw as a walkon.

"I really wasn't that disappointed when they dropped football," Davis said. "I was planning on transferring anyway. I was thinking about Central, Fayetteville State, or East Carolina. One of the things that led by to East Carolina was the fact that I knew a lot of the players here."

For Emory, it was a good thing.

A high school defensive end and running back, Davis admits a preference for the defensive unit. "I'd rather hit than be hit," he said.

Davis felt that his sack of Bennett came as somewhat of a surprise. "I play the weak end, and usually I drop off for pass coverage, but we had a (call) on that rushed the quarterback. We figured that they were going to pass right away, and I don't think they felt I would come, so they left me alone."

"I don't think it will be that easy this week. They'll know, so I don't think I'll get in as much. I'm sure that we'll call some of those plays though."

When not on the field or in class, Davis enjoys weight lifting. He has bench pressed 385 pounds, and had set his goal at 400 before fall practice started, but admits that he didn't work as hard second session of the summer quarter, and didn't make it. "I will make it, however."

An industrial technology major, Davis hopes to get a job in some technological field after graduation. Pro ball? "I guess I'm not really that big. And I don't really want to go into coaching. Maybe little league or something like that. But I'm not the right guy for coaching."

How does he like being compared to Godette and Valentine? "That's a pretty good compliment. Those were the best guys who've been here."

Maybe somewhere down the line, they'll be comparing some other defensive end, and making that comparison with Godette, Valentine and Davis.

Rough Makes Difference At Pinehurst

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Barry Jaeckel, No. 117 on the money-winning list, kept it out of the rough and shot 66. Tom Watson, No. 1 on the money-winning list with a record $510,000, got it in the rough and shot 75. "I just didn't do anything right," a disappointed Watson said after his poor opening round Thursday in the Hall of Fame golf tournament, which he has won the last two years. "I just didn't play very well. They had the pins tucked pretty well and they were pretty hard to get to. But that wasn't my problem. My problem was that it took me too long to arrive (on the putting surfaces)." Watson, already assured of a fourth consecutive money-winning title and Player of the Year honors, winner of the British Open and six American titles this year, easily the outstanding player in the game, had to birdie his last hole on the difficult, 7,020 yard No. 2 course at Pinehurst to avoid his poorest score of the season. Howard Twitty, who played with Watson on the bright, warm, sunny day, observed that "Tom has had a fantastic season. But you just can't have a fantastic round every day. "But you can't count him out of it. Not ever." But Watson, who followed his round with a long session on the practice tee, faces the need for drastic improvement Friday if he is to survive the cut for the last two rounds Saturday and Sunday. He desperately needs improvement if he is to overtake Lee Trevino in their race for the coveted Vardon Trophy, which goes to the player with the low stroke average on the PGA tour. Trevino, who is not playing here, has a 69.91 average. Watson, through

Thursday's round, is 69.99. The deep, difficult rough was the key during the opening round. "You hit out of it, and you arms feel like they've got whiplash," said Lon Nielsen, tied with Twitty and Mike White for second at 68. "It's treacherous; just very, very tough," said Jaeckel. "The difference between a score under par and a score over par can be a matter of inches, whether the ball stays in the fairway or trickles two inches in the rough." Tied at 69, three strokes back, were Ben Crenshaw, Ron Streck, Scott Simpson, Terry Mauney, Australian Bruce Devlin, Jon Chaffee and Peter Oosterhuis of England. "The key to my round," said Jaeckel, winner of one tournament in his six years of tour activity, "was that I kept it out of the rough." He missed only one fairway and three greens. He saved par on two of those and chipped in from 60 feet for a birdie on the other. He didn't make a bogey, scored three birdies after approach shots left him putts of less than six feet and got his last one, on the 17th, from about 20 feet. "Sure, it's my best round of the year," Jaeckel said. "It's been a dismal season. There isn't much to choose from."

Sanford Brick's Greenville Office will Be Open From 8-12 On Saturdays Beginning Sept. 13

Our contest opened up with a bang last week, and except for a 50-50 week by Etha Allen, we are just about as tight across the rest of the panel as we can get. Our guest for the week, Rick Gilstrap of Pitt Memorial Hospital, showed us all up by coming with a 10-2 card. Rick Scoppe, Tom Baines and Joe Jenkins all finished with 9-3 marks, while this writer ended up 8-4. (A mixup in the printed predictions gave us 9-3, but one game was turned around.) Our guest this week is the new athletic director at East Carolina University, Dr. Ken Karr. We didn't think about it in time, or we would have put the San Diego State-Washington State game on the list, since Dr. Karr just came from that former school. At any rate, he has his work cut out for him to equal or better Gilstrap. In our high school picks last week, we ended up with another 5-1 week, bringing out individual mark to 10-2 on the year. Only the Beddingfield-Greene Central game eluded us last time out. We have eight games to pick this week, so let's get to it. Ayden-Grifton travels to Southwest Edgecombe. The Chargers have not had the luck so far, losing both outings. Southwest opened with a 65-0 victory over North Edgecombe. The home field is worth something, too, so we'll pick the Cougars to win. North Lenoir visits North Pitt. Both teams opened with wins last week, and this is a stern test for both of them. We hate to go against the Panthers, but we feel that North-Lenoir may have a little too much for them. D.H. Conley plays host to Washington. The Vikes are 0-1, losing a tough one to West Craven, while the Pam Pack is 0-2. But if Washington plays Conley like it played Rose, it could come away with a win. We'll pick Washington to win here. Finally, for the in-county teams, Farmville Central visits C.B. Aycock, looking to extend its Eastern Carolina Conference winning streak to 32. Can they do it? We again hate to say it, but we don't think so. Now I realize that I've just picked all four of the Pitt teams to lose. I can't believe it either. One of them is bound to prove me wrong. The only question is which one. Elsewhere in our area, we'll pick Williamston over Currituck, Roanoke over Gaston, Jamesville over Chocowinity and Southern Nash over Greene Central. Turning to our panel, we find only one true local game, since Rose High School has an open date this weekend. The lone encounter locally finds the Pirates of East Carolina hosting Southwestern Louisiana. SWL was the last team to beat the Pirates in Ficklen. The Bucs would like to get some revenge for that, extending their current streak to 11 in Ficklen. Oddly enough, SWL stopped an 11-game winning streak with its 1977 win. Our panel goes down the line with the Pirates, however, with a 6-0 vote for the Pirates. Other concensus picks find Maryland over Vanderbilt; Virginia over Navy; Holy Cross over Army; Michigan State over Illinois; VMI over William & Mary; Clemson over Rice; North Carolina over Texas Tech; Appalachian State over The Citadel; Indiana over Iowa; Stanford over Tulane, and Wyoming over Oregon State. # Expos Finally Learning They Can Win It

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer
The Montreal Expos may not know exactly what it takes to win a divisional title, but they could hardly be accused of failing to take advantage of a golden opportunity.

The Expos, benefitting from a two-out error by Lenny Randle, jumped on the Chicago Cubs for four runs in the first inning Thursday night and hung on for a 6-5 victory on the strength of Woody Fryman's clutch relief pitching.

The victory enabled Montreal to maintain its one-half-game lead over Philadelphia in the National League East. In the only other games played Thursday, the Phillies beat the New York Mets 5-1 while the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 to stay within 3½ games of first place. "I think its finally sunk in that they can win," said Fryman, who authored 1-3 innings of hitless relief after the Cubs had drawn to within a run in the eighth inning. "If you've never won you don't know what it's like." The Expos have never won a divisional title since their inception in 1969. That was the point the 40-year-old Fryman was making after the game.

"I've been there once in 15 years, and it was the best feeling I've ever had," he said, alluding to 1972 during which he pitched for the American League East champion Detroit Tigers.

While Fryman, 64, picked up the victory, second baseman Rodney Scott was the game saver. His diving stop of a sharp infield single by Jesus Figueroa in the eighth inning held the potential tying run at third base.

"If the ball went into right field they probably would have scored a run, and who knows what would have happened after that?" said Scott. After spotting the Cubs a first-inning run, the Expos scored four times on a triple by Rowland Office, Randle's error and run-scoring doubles by Gary Carter, Warren Cromartie and Larry Parrish off rookie Randy Martz, 0-2. Carter closed out the scoring for Montreal with his 24th home run in the seventh inning.

Watson Atones For Bad Play Yanks Past Sox; Orioles Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
Bob Watson made a mistake in the first inning, and the Boston Red Sox paid for it later. "I caused a one-run deficit," said the New York Yankees first baseman referring to a fielding lapse that led to a run for the Red Sox. "and I just wanted to get one back." He was eventually given the opportunity to "atone for my misplay" — and did, in a big way. Watson hit a grand slam home run in the sixth inning, then doubled home the winning run in the 10th inning to pace the Yankees to an 8-5 victory at Fenway Park. "I knew when I hit it that it was going to be out. I hit a sinker ball. He (reliever Bob Stanley) just made a mistake and I hit it pretty good."

Watson's familiarity with the Red Sox pitching staff was as much to his advantage as anything. "Watson played for the Red Sox last year and knows their pitchers better than anybody," said New York Manager Dick Howser. "He's our most consistent hitter, even though he's been bothered by a broken finger on his left hand this season."

The victory kept the Yankees' lead in the AL East at three games over Baltimore, a 6-1 victor over Toronto. In the only other AL game, Kansas City defeated California 7-2. The Milwaukee-Minnesota game was rained out.

Watson's homer wiped out a 2-1 Boston lead. Then, after the Red Sox had rallied with single runs in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings to pull into a 5-5 tie, the Yankees reached reliever Tom Burgmeier, 5-4, for three runs in the 10th, including Watson's ringing double to right center. Reliever Ron Davis, 7-10, gained the victory.

Orioles 6, Blue Jays 1
Steve Stone won his 23rd game of the season, scattering eight hits as Baltimore beat Toronto. It was the fifth straight victory for the Orioles, who supported Stone with eight walks, four stolen bases and 11 hits, four of them singles by Al Bumbry.

Gullickson Can Not Believe It

MONTREAL (AP) — Only Steve Carlton, Tom Seaver and Nolan Ryan have struck out more batters in a major league game than Bill Gullickson, a fact that he finds unbelievable.

After three years in minor league cities such as West Palm Beach, Memphis and Denver, Gullickson answered the Expos call when David Palmer, one of the club's top starters, developed a tender elbow last May.

Gullickson suffered from an acute shortage of runs in several of his early starting assignments and found himself with 1-3 mark before reeling off victories in seven of his next eight decisions, including the 4-2 triumph over Chicago Wednesday.

"He's very coachable," said Expos Manager Dick Williams. "He had a habit of pitching with the ball behind his back until (pitching coach) Galen Cisco suggested before a recent start in San Francisco that he hide the ball in his glove."

"He went out and threw a shutout at the Giants." Until smashing the team record of 14 strikeouts held by Bill Stoneman, Gullickson had fanned more than 18 just once. He mowed down 20 batters on strikes in a pony league game at Joliet.

"I don't consider myself a strikeout pitcher," said Gullickson. "I think of myself more as a power pitcher."

"We were torn between Gullickson and Paul Molitor at the draft table," said Jim Fanning, Expos vice-president of player development, referring to the infielder later drafted by Milwaukee Brewers. "But (scouting director) Danny Menendez strongly recommended that we draft Gullickson."

The Fat Lady Sings Tampa Bay's Tune

By FRED GOODALL
AP Sports Writer
TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Momentum in a National Football League game is just about as uncertain as the weather. A team never knows whether it might go for or against them. "Big Mo" was on the side of the Los Angeles Rams for 58 minutes Thursday night, but it suddenly swung to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in the final two minutes of their NFL game and the result was a 10-9 Bucs victory. "I heard they were laughing at us on the sidelines," said Tampa Bay tight end Jimmie Giles. "But the opera ain't over 'till the fat lady sings. And she's singing now."

The triumph gave the Bucs a 2-0 record, while Los Angeles, off to its worst start since 1963, dropped to 0-2.

The game was billed as a rematch of the defensive struggle the two teams endured in last season's National Football Conference championship game. It turned out to be just that.

Four field goals between them — three by Los Angeles'

Frank Corral and one by Tampa Bay's Garo Yepremian — was all the scoring the teams could muster through 59 minutes.

Three seconds into the 60th minute, Bucs quarterback Doug Williams dove into the end zone from 1 yard out to cap a 6-play, 62-yard march. Yepremian then clinched the victory with the conversion.

The key play in the winning drive was a 41-yard pass interference penalty called on Los Angeles safety Ivory Sully, which gave the Bucs a first down at the Rams' 11 with 1:21 remaining. It changed the complexion of the game, and Sulley and Rams head Coach Ray Malavasi both took exception to the call.

"I was going for the ball and he was going for the ball," said Sulley, who was whistled for knocking down intended receiver Kevin House. "In my opinion, that's not interference. When the whole team plays well for 59 minutes and then it comes down to this, it's not justice," Sulley continued. "I feel bad for my teammates."

Malavasi said: "A lot of things happened wrong. There were a lot of bad calls. The pass interference call was one."

Two plays after the penalty, Williams scrambled for 10 yards and a first-and-goal situation at the 1-yard line. He scored the touchdown on the following play and Yepremian's conversion kick sealed the victory.

Corral, who kicked three goals when the Rams beat the Bucs 9-0 in the NFC title game, gave Los Angeles a 3-0 lead with 9:16 left in the second quarter with a 43-yard field goal. A 43-yarder which hit the crossbar and bounced through for Yepremian tied the game at 3-3 as time ran out in the first half.

Corral's second field goal, a 32-yarder with 6:59 to go in the third quarter, was the result of good field position the Rams enjoyed the entire period. His 27-yarder with seven minutes left in the game capped a drive quarterback Vince Ferragamo engineered from his own 20-yard line to the Bucs' 9.

Tampa Bay entered the game as the NFL's top-ranked defense after yielding only 128 total yards in a season opening triumph at Cincinnati. But the Rams dominated the game offensively from the start, although the Bucs came up with four timely interceptions that thwarted Los Angeles drives.

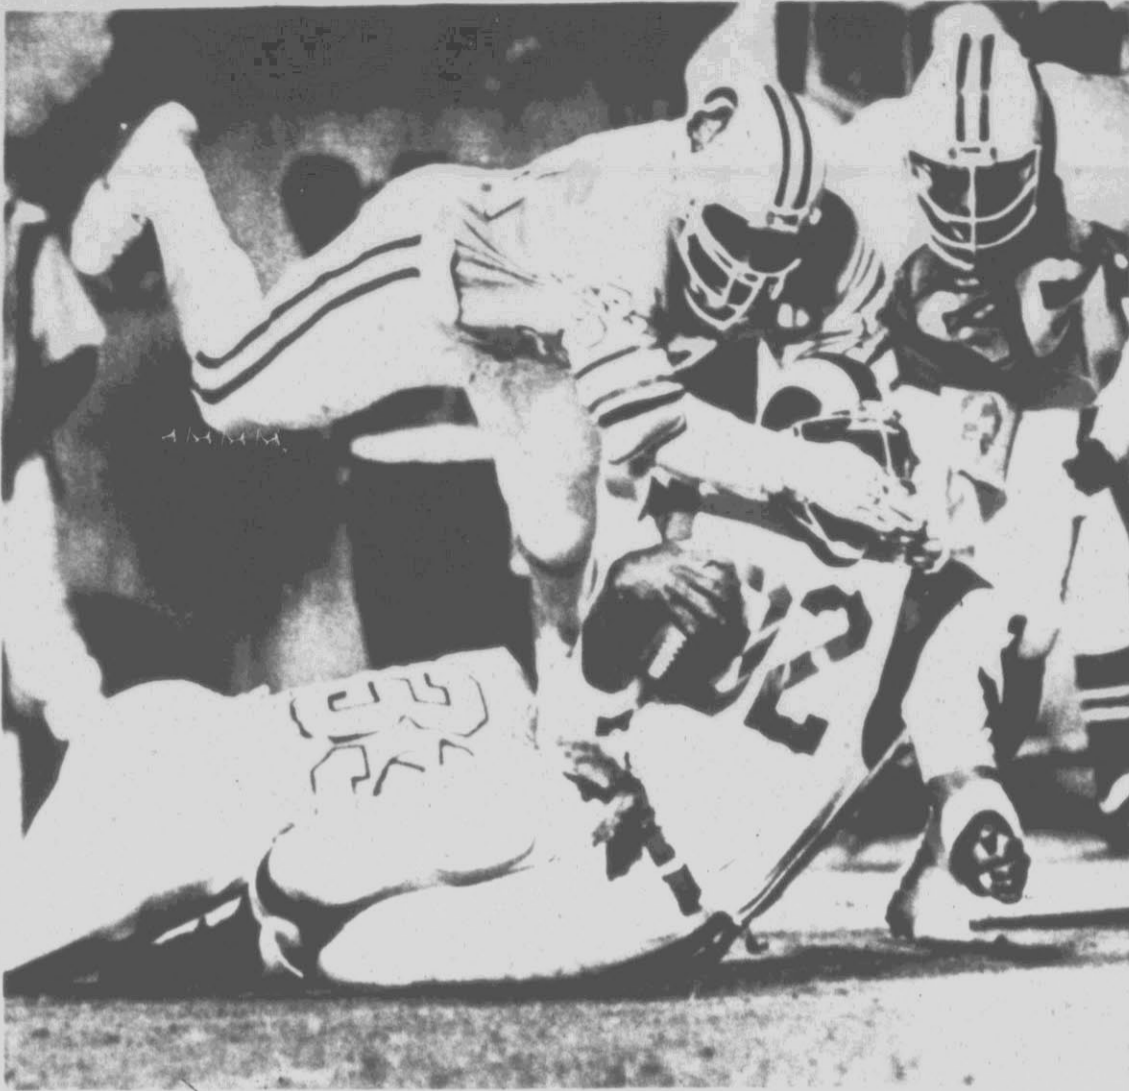

"We've played LA three times (in the last two years) and they haven't scored a touchdown yet," said Bucs Coach John McKay. "Holding them to no touchdowns was the key factor."

Ferragamo hit 17 of 29 passes for 191 yards as the Rams rolled up 360 total yards on offense, compared to only 186 for Tampa Bay.

"You got to give and give and give and not let them in the end zone," said Bucs defensive end LeeRoy Selmon. "We let them do a little too much of that, but I'm happy with the victory."

Williams, who was playing with a mild case of strep throat, completed 10 of 23 for 97 yards and was intercepted once. Jerry Eckwood led the Bucs' rushing with 60 yards in 16 carries.

Los Angeles rookie running back Jewell Thomas led all rushers with 64 yards on seven carries.

action came in the second quarter of the game Thursday night in Tampa. The Buccaneers rallied to take a 10-9 victory in the contest. (AP Laserphoto)

Riggins, NFL Protest Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Riggins and the National Football League Players Association formally protested the action by the Washington Redskins, who retired the running back under a rule which prevents him from playing pro football this year.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the players' union, filed a grievance against the Redskins and the NFL for placing Riggins on the "left camp-retired" list, which prohibits a player who reported to camp and left but did not return within five days from being activated again that year.

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — One recent evening, some 50 women — most of them militant feminists — came after work to a reception and screening of a TV movie which had stirred anger among other audiences.

Four men had walked out of a special showing of "The Women's Room," earlier in the week. Some viewers had shouted at the screen.

ABC, which will air "The Women's Room" Sunday night, decided to see how the film, destined for controversy, would play to its most important audience — women.

The answer was they loved it. "I had tears in my eyes throughout," said one woman.

But the answer was colored by the choice of a select group — committed, militant, activist women — most of whom had read Marilyn French's angry novel on which the movie is based.

The downtrodden

housewives who are the victims of the piece were not present, and the question of how they might react to "The Women's Room" remained unanswered.

Easier to predict was the reaction of men — most will hate it with good reason.

"A lot of people will resent it," said Jacqueline Babbitt, the ABC vice president who supervised the project. "A lot of men won't like it. A lot of people feel it's very anti-male. I don't think it's anti-male."

But the creators admittedly did not set out to woo men.

"I really don't have a lot of sympathy for men and men's problems," said Carol Sobieski, the TV writer who translated Ms. French's best-seller into the three-hour teleplay. "I was not writing about men."

"This movie does not set out to be a balanced piece," said Ms. Sobieski. "This is about a wounded woman, and most of her wounds are at the hands of men, and I am writing about her."

"The Women's Room," is, in short, a propaganda piece produced in the midst of revolution. Like most propaganda, it does not give the other side a chance. Men are the enemy, it says.

Unlike most propaganda, "The Women's Room" is an engrossing drama with haunting performances by such actresses as Patty Duke Astin, Tyne Daly and Colleen Dewhurst.

Lee Remick stars as Mira, the woman whose life mirrors the radical shifts in women's lives between the late 1950s and the dawn of the 1960s.

"I had followed the rules," she says at the beginning. "Smile, marry, raise children, market, wash, smile, diet, don't nag, cook, clean, smile. I followed the rules and they failed me."

The villain of this story is Mira's medical student husband who ignores her sexual needs, berates her when she becomes pregnant, complains because their babies' crying interrupts his sleep and eventually leaves her for another woman — taking the children with him.

He is not the only ogre. In the suburban world of "The Women's Room," husbands are insensitive clods who drive their wives to mental breakdowns or suicide attempts.

"There aren't any battered wives in this picture," Ms. Sobieski noted. "These men are only awful because they don't listen."

The blanket indictment of all men ultimately flaws the story's credibility.

The second half of the film focuses on Mira's life after divorce — her return to college, her friendships with strong, determined women including two who become lesbian lovers, and Mira's own love affair with the one remotely sympathetic man in the story. (Fear not. He has feet of clay.)

Ms. Sobieski describes the film's ending as upbeat as compared to the book.

"In the end of the book, the woman has no relationships with anybody," she says. "Her children are gone. She quit her job and she's walking on the beach completely isolated. Marilyn (French) said she considered that a fulfilled woman."

"I said, 'You cannot do that to an audience. You cannot say that every woman out there ought to cut herself off and that is fulfillment for a woman.'"

Thus, the ending offers a note of hope. Women have choices, it says. A simple message, but one which Ms. Sobieski insists is news to many.

"The Women's Room" is provocative and disturbing. It may enrage some viewers and enlighten others. One thing is assured — it is not boring.

FCC Amends Rules For Late-Night TV Viewers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal agency has some good news for night owls wishing there were something to watch on television after a station's usual signoff time.

The Federal Communications Commission amended its rules Wednesday to allow television stations to remain on the air after normal signoff to present visual slides or slow-moving texts of news, sports, weather or other informational programming.

Such programming could be presented without any audio or with unrelated audio, such as background music, the FCC ruled, allowing broadcasters to experiment with new services for the public.

The commission had to amend its rules to allow such programming because of its definition of television. That definition specifies a station's aural and visual transmitters must be operated simultaneously to present a related program package.

The definition stems from the early days of television, when the FCC was afraid radio broadcasters would apply for TV channels for the sole purpose of extending their radio signal.

The rule change scraps the requirement of simultaneous operation of the visual and aural transmitters during the "graveyard" hours when stations are normally off the air. In no case, however, can such special programming be offred before midnight or after 6 a.m., the FCC added.

The decision will allow regular over-the-air TV stations to offer the type of informational programming often seen on cable TV systems, where a single channel may be devoted to slow-moving texts of news reports.

If a station does present such non-entertainment programming, the commission added, it can count that programming in its annual report to the station's public affairs efforts.

When Richard Nixon went to Peking in 1972, he became the first U.S. president to visit China.
