

Iraqi Ground Forces Launch Iran Invasion

By The Associated Press
Iraqi ground forces invaded Iran today, Baghdad reported, as Iranian jet fighters bombed and strafed the Iraqi capital and nine other targets in Iraq. Iraq said its MiGs hit three more air bases in Iran following heavy raids across much of Iran Monday.

Iraq reported 47 Iraqis killed and 116 wounded by Iran's U.S.-made jets and claimed 20 were shot down and many of the pilots were taken prisoner. Iran said all of its planes returned safely and its forces downed 16 Iraqi MiGs Monday and today. Iraq admitted the loss of three planes.

Baghdad Radio also claimed that Iran released all 52 American hostages unconditionally today and said "this surprise move goes to show that the racist regime in Tehran is a collaborator with U.S. imperialism." Iran's government radio denied the report, saying the Baghdad broadcast was a lie. Tehran Radio said the hostage matter "has been frozen indefinitely" by the Iranian Parliament. A State Department spokesman in Washington said the department had

"absolutely no confirmation of the report whatsoever."

A spokesman for the State Department's Iran Working Group said he did not believe the report was reliable. But when department spokesman Joe Reap was asked if he considered the report credible, he replied: "We're not characterizing the report."

The invasion was reported in a communique broadcast by Baghdad Radio, which said Iraqi ground forces "advanced to take control of vital positions inside of Iran" to "break the racist government" of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

The targets were not specified. But Radio Tehran said Iranian armored troops routed Iraqi troops around Khorranshahr, Iran's main port on the disputed Shatt al-Arab estuary at the head of the Persian Gulf.

Reporting on the air war, the Iraqi state radio said Iranian jets struck all over the country, attacking Baghdad, Masul, Nineveh, Basra and six airfields and bases.

"Many men, women and children were killed," the broadcast said. "The largest portion of casualties occurred among the workers of the petrochemical and fertilizer factory of Basra, where 20 were killed and 50 wounded."

Damage at the airfields was limited to one runway that was quickly repaired, the communique said.

It said Iraqi planes raided three air bases and military airfields in western and southwestern Iran, "inflicting heavy destruction and burned many enemy aircraft on the ground."

It declared the gulf a war zone, warned ships against carrying supplies to Iraq and ordered all merchant ships in the Shatt al-Arab and adjoining waters to leave immediately, "otherwise the Iranian army cannot be held responsible for any damage to these vessels."

Iraq's President Saddam Hussein said the Iranian threats to shipping in the Strait of Hormuz constituted a declaration of war. But Khomeini, Iran's revolutionary leader, said Iraq had declared war on Iran and that Iraq would suffer the consequences.

The border war between the two neighboring oil nations escalated sharply in the air Monday. The Iraqi Air Force roamed far across Iran's skies to attack Tehran's Mehrabad Airport, 300 miles across the border, and 10 other airfields ranging 700 miles from Tabriz in the north to Boushehr in the south.

Prices Rose Again For Consumers

By GLENN RITT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices — which were unchanged in July — jumped 0.7 percent last month because of a very large spurt in food costs and a boost in car prices, the government said today.

If consumer prices rose at the same pace for the next 12 months, the annual compounded inflation rate would be 8.6 percent. For the first eight months of 1980, the rate was 12.1 percent, compared with a 13.3 percent level for all of 1979, the Labor Department said.

Patrick Jackman, a department economist, said consumer prices should accelerate even more in September, reflecting continued escalation in food prices and the virtual end of a months-long decline in mortgage interest rates.

"We should be back to a 0.9-percent to 1-percent monthly increase in September," said Jackman. That pace would once again bring inflation into the double-digit range.

All the figures in the Consumer Price Index are adjusted for seasonal variations.

In a separate report, the Labor Department said the average worker's take-home pay after taxes rose 0.3 percent last month.

The department's August report on consumer prices showed that:

—Food prices at the grocery store jumped 2.3 percent, following a 1.2 percent hike in July and much smaller rises earlier this year. Meats, poultry, fish and eggs rose 4.1 percent and accounted for half the monthly boost. Egg prices alone spurred 6.6 percent.

Fresh fruits and vegetables also registered substantial increases. —All housing costs rose 0.1 percent, following a 0.7 percent decrease in July. While mortgage rates fell 4.3 percent, the price of a house increased 1.7 percent and rents rose 0.6 percent.

—All transportation costs went up 0.9 percent, the largest monthly advance since March. New- and used-car prices rose 1.7 percent and 2.3 percent respectively. Public transportation spurred 4.4 percent, reflecting large price increases for airline, intercity mass transit and taxis.

—Gasoline prices declined 0.4 percent, the fourth consecutive monthly decline. Automobile finance charges, which had advanced sharply earlier this year, declined for the third straight month.

—Household fuels rose 0.5 percent, the smallest increase this year for this index, which includes heating oil, electricity and natural gas.

—Prices of apparel and their upkeep rose 0.6 percent compared with a 0.4 percent increase in July.

Outcry Cancels SHP Ticket Criteria

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The Highway Patrol will no longer consider the number of tickets issued by troopers in determining their pay raises, Burley Mitchell Jr., secretary of crime control and public safety, announced today. Mitchell said he was withdrawing immediately a new system that included the number of citations issued in evaluating the work and performance of troopers. He cited a large public outcry against the new system and objections from district attorneys and judges as reasons for the decision.

ing Democratic legislator, Senate president pro tem Craig Lawing, D-Charlotte. Mitchell said political pressures were not a factor in the decision. But he said "a lot" of public objections were received and considered.

UNBURIED CABLE

Cable running across my yard to my neighbors' house to provide Cable TV service to them has been unburi for the longest kind of time. I'm tired of it. Calls to the CATV office haven't helped. L. H.

Ray Bell of Greenville Cable TV confirmed that his company is behind on the burying of cables. He said a free installation offer, plus the return of East Carolina University and Pitt Community College students, plus the breakdown of a machine, caused his installers to get behind. "Our crews are working six days a week 10 hours a day to catch up now, though, and we expect to have it under control within five days," he said yesterday afternoon.

Concerned By Effects Of War For Hostages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a pledge of U.S. neutrality and some words of hope from President Carter, administration officials are worried that the border war between Iran and Iraq could have an "extremely disruptive" effect on efforts to free the 52 American hostages in Iran.

The officials, who asked not to be identified, said the Iraqi conflict could sidetrack Iranian authorities who have focused increasing attention recently on the hostages, now in their 325th day of captivity.

The administration quickly moved to quell any suspicions in Iran that the United States is assisting the Iraqi war effort.

CBS News reported Monday night that a message to that effect has been sent to Iranian authorities, and Carter declared as he arrived in Los Angeles on a campaign swing: "We are not taking a position in support of either Iran or Iraq."

"Our only hope is that the two nations can resolve the dispute peacefully," the president added.

But Carter, while emphasizing he was making no predictions, also said the fighting between the two longtime Mideast enemies could convince Iran that it needs friends and neighbors "and therefore induce them to release the hostages."

Carter said "the signals coming out of Iran" have indicated "some new desire to resolve the problem between us and them."

Iran's government radio denied a claim by Baghdad Radio early today that Iran has released all 52 American hostages unconditionally.

Everette Re-elected PCC Board Chairman

The Board of Trustees of Pitt Community College met yesterday and unanimously reelected Clifton W. Everette Sr. as its chairman for 1980-81. Other board officers elected for the coming year were Ms. Kay Whichard, vice chairman and Ms. Mary Langston, secretary.

The reelection of the officers was unanimously recommended by a nomination committee, chaired by R. E. Davenport Jr., PCC President. William E.

Fulford, Jr., informed the trustees that 2,452 curriculum students were enrolled for the college's fall quarter, an all-time high enrollment.

Fulford said this represents a 400-student increase over fall quarter, 1979-80, or a 19.4 percent increase in enrollment.

The increase in enrollment has created several problems, according to President Fulford. He cited a shortage of adequate classroom and parking space and the overcrowded classrooms.

He stressed the urgency of the problems to the board of trustees and urged them to address these and related problems as soon as possible.

"If enrollment continues to increase," said Fulford, "limits on enrollment may be required."

Significant student increases are noted in the following programs: accounting, EDP-business, machinist trade, electronics, medical secretary, and teacher aide. A new program, farm machinery mechanics, began with an enrollment of 14 students.

A new parking fee policy was adopted by the board. Under the new policy, all full-time and part-time students and faculty and staff will be charged $4 per year for parking decals for motor vehicles for daytime, on-campus parking. The PCC administration is authorized to establish temporary parking permits under the policy.

Funds collected from the fees and fines will be used for paving and maintaining parking lots and streets.

Authority was given to the board of trustees' building committee by the board to proceed with plans and planning for dedication of the Kay Whichard and Vernon White buildings. Dedication was tentatively scheduled for Sunday, November 23.

Upon the recommendation of the Board's building committee, A. B. Whitley Jr.,

chairman, the board voted to accept the PCC sign located on the front of the campus.

In other trustee actions, the Board approved several personnel appointments which had been recommended by President Fulford and the personnel committee, Ms. Whichard, chairman.

The Board also formally adopted its state and county budget for 1980-81. The state budget is $3,556,542.40, and the county budget is $440,444.

Philadelphia Teachers Vote On New Contract

By The Associated Press
 Striking Philadelphia teachers and other school employees were voting today on a tentative agreement to end the nation's largest public school strike and clear the way for 220,000 students to end a prolonged summer vacation.
 Tentative settlements also were being considered today in two other large strikes — in San Jose, Calif., and Bellevue, Wash.

The nine-member Philadelphia was also meeting today to ratify the two-year pact hammered out by district and union negotiators and Mayor William Green in two marathon sessions over the weekend.
 The 22-day strike by 23,000 public school employees centered on wages, class size and job security. Details of the tentative agreement were not released.
 "This is a tentative agreement, while not perfect, we can all live with," said Philadelphia Federation of Teachers President John Murray.

 If approved, classes could begin as early as Tuesday, officials said.
 The union's executive board approved the tentative pact by a 32-1 vote at a meeting shortly after the negotiators adjourned Sunday afternoon following a 20-hour bargaining session.

The PFT represents 11,000 teachers and 12,000 other employees, including teacher aides, child care workers and administrative personnel. The average annual salary for teachers currently is $23,300.
 The strike began Sept. 1, and so far has caused students to miss 10 scheduled days of school.
 Teacher strikes continued in 13 other districts across Pennsylvania, with about 71,000 students and 3,500 teachers affected.
 Elsewhere, administrators and teachers reached a tentative agreement Sunday to end a three-week strike in the 19,000-student Bellevue School District in Washington. Teachers were returning to prepare their classrooms today, and were to vote on the accord tonight.

 In California, the two sides reported a tentative agreement in the San Jose Unified School District, where 1,600 teachers walked out three weeks ago in a dispute over wages. Some 33,000 students were affected.
 Officials said the teachers would vote on the proposal later today. Further details were not immediately available.
 And in Michigan, 3,350 teachers were on strike in 13 districts, affecting 69,700 students. The 700 teachers in the 14,000-student Port Huron district said they again would ignore a judge's week-old back-to-work order today. St. Clair County Circuit Judge James Corden will consider jailing or fining the teachers at a hearing Tuesday.

Iraqi Ground Forces Launch Iran Invasion

By The Associated Press

Iraqi ground forces invaded Iran today, Baghdad reported, as Iranian jet fighters bombed and strafed the Iraqi capital and nine other targets in Iraq. Iraq said its MiGs hit three more air bases in Iran following heavy raids across much of Iran Monday.

Iraq reported 47 Iraqis killed and 116 wounded by Iran's U.S.-made jets and claimed 20 were shot down and many of the pilots were taken prisoner. Iran said all of its planes returned safely and its forces downed 16 Iraqi MiGs Monday and today. Iraq admitted the loss of three planes.

Baghdad Radio also claimed that Iran released all 52 American hostages unconditionally today and said "this surprise move goes to show that the racist regime in Tehran is a collaborator with U.S. imperialism." Iran's government radio denied the report, saying the Baghdad broadcast was a lie. Tehran Radio said the hostage matter "has been frozen indefinitely" by the Iranian Parliament. A State Department spokesman in Washington said the department had

A spokesman for the State Department's Iran Working Group said he did not believe the report was reliable. But when department spokesman Joe Reap was asked if he considered the report credible, he replied: "We're not characterizing the report."

The invasion was reported in a communique broadcast by Baghdad Radio, which said Iraqi ground forces "advanced to take control of vital positions inside of Iran" to "break the racist government" of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

The targets were not specified. But Radio Tehran said Iranian armored troops routed Iraqi troops around Khorramshahr, Iran's main port on the disputed Shatt al-Arab estuary at the head of the Persian Gulf.

Reporting on the air war, the Iraqi state radio said Iranian jets struck all over the country, attacking Baghdad, Masul, Nineveh, Basra and six airfields and bases.

"Many men, women and children were killed," the broadcast said. "The largest portion of casualties occurred among the workers of the petrochemical and fertilizer factory of Basra, where 20 were killed and 50 wounded."

Damage at the airfields was limited to one runway that was quickly repaired, the communique said.

It said Iraqi planes raided three air bases and military airfields in western and southwestern Iran, "inflicting heavy destruction and burned many enemy aircraft on the ground."

Iraq said its invasion was in retaliation for the "unlawful and irresponsible closure to navigation of the Hormuz Strait," which connects the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman and through which much of the Arab world's exported oil passes.

Iraq said Monday it would take action against all ships entering the Persian Gulf through the strait if they sailed too close to the Iranian coast on the north side.

It declared the gulf a war zone, warned ships against carrying supplies to Iraq and ordered all merchant ships in the Shatt al-Arab and adjoining waters to leave immediately, "otherwise the Iranian army cannot be held responsible for any damage to these vessels."

Iraq's President Saddam Hussein said the Iranian threats to shipping in the Strait of Hormuz constituted a declaration of war. But Khomeini, Iran's revolutionary leader, said Iraq had declared war on Iran and that Iraq would suffer the consequences.

The border war between the two neighboring oil nations escalated sharply in the air Monday. The Iraqi Air Force roamed far across Iran's skies to attack Tehran's Mehrabad Airport, 300 miles across the border, and 10 other airfields ranging 700 miles from Tabriz in the north to Boushehr in the south.

Standards Set For Pitt Revaluation

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
Pitt County Commissioners took final action yesterday in setting property value standards to be used in the tax revaluation, scheduled to go into effect January 1.

Commissioners approved a $2 per pound differential to be added to the raw land value for a farm's tobacco allotment to complete the valuation formula at yesterday's session. Earlier, the board had approved the schedule of values for other property and set a 50 cents per pound differential for peanuts.

The other uniform standards and rules used in the revaluation of property for tax purposes is the same as used for the revaluation which went into effect January 1, 1973.

In approving the standards and schedule of values, the board has complied with the state law requiring property to be appraised at its true market value or value in money.

The revaluation is scheduled for completion by November 1, in time to be listed on the tax books by January 1, complying with state law which required a review of real property values within each county every eight years. (Personal property is not revalued every eight years, but placed on the tax books at 100 percent of its value when listed each year. A revaluation re-establishes the equity between real and personal property.)

At the completion of the revaluation, about November 1, property owners will be sent a notice advising them of value established for their property.

The appraisals for the revaluation take into consideration, among other things, location, zoning, past and probable future use, and type of soil.
The rural property schedule establishes four classes

Outcry Cancels SHP Ticket Criteria

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The Highway Patrol will no longer consider the number of tickets issued by troopers in determining their pay raises, Burley Mitchell Jr.,

secretary of crime control and public safety, announced today.
Mitchell said he was withdrawing immediately a new system that included the number of citations issued in evaluating the work and performance of troopers.

He cited a large public outcry against the new system and objections from district attorneys and judges as reasons for the decision.

Mitchell, in a news conference, said the patrol's review system was never intended to establish quotas or numerical goals for the issuing of traffic citations.

"However, a great deal of public concern and confusion about this system has arisen in the past few days," he said. "In order to insure that the policies of the state Highway Patrol do not give even the appearance of a quota system, I have instructed the state Highway Patrol to cease using the Work Planning and Performance Review system as it is currently set up in that division."

Mitchell's announcement comes less than a week after he and Gov. Jim Hunt vigorously defended the evaluation system in a news conference, following initial news accounts revealing that traffic tickets were an element of the system.

The system was criticized by Hunt's Republican reelection opponent, state Sen. I. Beverly Lake Jr., R-Raleigh, and also by a leading Democratic legislator, Senate president pro tem Craig Lawing, D-Charlotte.

Mitchell said political pressures were not a factor in the decision. But he said "a lot" of public objections were received and considered.
"If we can't explain the

CONCERNED BY EFFECTS OF WAR FOR HOSTAGES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a pledge of U.S. neutrality and some words of hope from President Carter, administration officials are worried that the border war between Iran and Iraq could have an "extremely disruptive" effect on efforts to free the 52 American hostages in Iran.

The officials, who asked not to be identified, said the Iraqi conflict could sidetrack Iranian authorities who have focused "increasing attention recently on the hostages, now in their 325th day of captivity.

The administration quickly moved to quell any suspicions in Iran that the United States is assisting the Iraqi war effort.
CBS News reported Monday night that a message to that effect has been sent to Iranian authorities, and Carter declared as he arrived in Los Angeles on a campaign swing: "We are not taking a position in support of either Iran or Iraq."
"Our only hope is that the two nations can resolve the dispute peacefully," the president added.
But Carter, while emphasizing he was making no predictions, also said the fighting between the two longtime Mideast enemies could convince Iran that it needs friends and neighbors "and therefore induce them to release the hostages."

Carter said "the signals coming out of Iran" have indicated "some new desire to resolve the problem between us and them."
Iran's government radio denied a claim by Baghdad Radio early today that Iran has released all 52 American hostages unconditionally.

Everette Re-elected PCC Board Chairman

The Board of Trustees of Pitt Community College met yesterday and unanimously reelected Clifton W. Everette Sr. as its chairman for 1980-81. Other board officers elected for the coming year were Ms. Kay Whichard, vice chairman and Ms. Mary Langston, secretary.

The reelection of the officers was unanimously recommended by a nomination committee, chaired by R. E. Davenport Jr., PCC President. William E.

Fulford, Jr., informed the trustees that 2,452 curriculum students were enrolled for the college's fall quarter, an all-time high enrollment.
Fulford said this represents a 400-student increase over fall quarter, 1979-80, or a 19.4 percent increase in enrollment.
The increase in enrollment has created several problems, according to President Fulford. He cited a shortage of adequate classroom and parking space and the overcrowded classrooms.

He stressed the urgency of the problems to the board of trustees and urged them to address these and related problems as soon as possible.
"If enrollment continues to increase," said Fulford, "limits on enrollment may be required."
Significant student increases are noted in the following programs: accounting, EDP-business, machinist trade, electronics, medical secretary, and teacher aide. A new program, farm machinery mechanics, began with an enrollment of 14 students.

A new parking fee policy was adopted by the board. Under the new policy, all full-time and part-time students and faculty and staff will be charged $4 per year for parking decals for motor vehicles for daytime, on-campus parking. The PCC administration is authorized to establish temporary parking permits under the policy.

Funds collected from the fees and fines will be used for paving and maintaining parking lots and streets.
Authority was given to the board of trustees' building committee by the board to proceed with plans and planning for dedication of the Kay Whichard and Vernon White buildings. Dedication was tentatively scheduled for Sunday, November 23.
Upon the recommendation of the Board's building committee, A. B. Whitley Jr.,

1981 Speaker

The governor's office has notified Chancellor Thomas B. Brewer that Gov. James B. Hunt Jr. has accepted an invitation to be the speaker at East Carolina University's 72nd Commencement next spring.
The commencement is scheduled for Friday, May 8.
The occasion will mark a major milestone in ECU history because of the graduation of the first class of the ECU four-year School of Medicine.

In other trustee actions, the Board approved several personnel appointments which had been recommended by President Fulford and the personnel committee, Ms. Whichard, chairman.
The Board also formally adopted its state and county budget for 1980-81. The state budget is $3,556,542.40, and the county budget is $440,444.

Nuke Vote

Maine residents are scheduled to vote today in a referendum that could help decide their state's energy future. The referendum asks whether voters favor or oppose a plan to outlaw nuclear power plants and close down Maine's only existing nuclear plant. Nuclear power gets its name from the core, or "nucleus," of an atom. Nuclear plants make power for electricity through a process called "fission," or the splitting of an atom's nucleus into two parts. When the nucleus is split, it gives off heat and radiation. The safety of nuclear power has become a widely discussed issue, since a serious accident occurred at Pennsylvania's Three Mile Island plant in March, 1979.

Balloonists Jump In An Ohio Storm

By THOMAS RIZZO
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two men who said they named their helium balloon "Super Chicken" because they were themselves chickens at heart screwed up their courage and jumped ship in a thunderstorm — one using a parachute for the first time ever.

It was the second time Ohio weather spoiled an attempt to cross the nation by balloon.

John Shoecraft, 35, and Ron Ripps, 37, were shaken up but uninjured Monday night when they decided to abort their three-day flight near an airfield outside Columbus.

Shoecraft leapt from the craft as it bounced on the ground, while Ripps was forced to don a parachute for the first time in his life and jump from a height of more than 2,000 feet.

The 10-story balloon, meanwhile, bounced back into the air and headed east without a pilot.

Shortly before 2 a.m. EDT, the Super Chicken was nearing Pittsburgh at an altitude of 27,000 feet and he said.

The balloon lifted off from Oceanside, Calif., at 4:30 a.m. EDT Saturday, and until it ran into thunderstorms over this Midwestern state, the Super Chicken's flight — usually about at 20,000 feet or higher — was "beautiful," said Ripps.

"We had no problems," he said as he sat on a couch in the hospital emergency room here.

But the two Phoenix, Ariz., businessmen said they encountered several problems in trying to come down.

Weather stations advised them to land the balloon when they encountered large squall lines in Ohio, Ripps said.

Shoecraft, visibly shaken by the experience, said the pair "pulled with all our might" on the balloon's ripcords, but the Super Chicken failed to deflate and began to ascend as soon as it hit the ground.

"I instructed Ron to jump at the moment of impact," he said. Shoecraft managed to scramble out of the gondola, but Ripps was caught inside as the Super Chicken lifted into the air.

"We bounced about three times. I couldn't get out," Ripps said.

When the balloon reached about 2,300 feet, he parachuted out.

"I never parachuted in my life before," he said. "I was scared."

The voyage was originally expected to end today near New York City.

Last October, the DaVinci TransAmerica, another 10-story helium balloon, crashed in Spencerville in northwestern Ohio during a severe thunderstorm as it attempted a cross-country flight. Its woman co-pilot broke her leg on impact.

The Super Chicken was similar in design to the "Kitty Hawk," a helium-filled balloon that traveled from San Francisco to Canada in May. The pilots of that craft, father-son team Maxie and Kris Anderson, landed several miles from the coast but further east than much of the U.S. shoreline and claimed success in their attempt to be the first to cross the continent in a helium balloon.

In 1978, Maxie Anderson was one of three men to make the first Atlantic balloon crossing.

Soviets Try To Justify Jamming Broadcasts

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda, in an article apparently designed to justify Soviet jamming of Western radio broadcasts, charged today that a series of Western radio stations have been conducting stepped-up "psychological warfare" against the socialist world.

The article was the first to deal with jamming of foreign broadcasts since the Voice of America, the British Broadcasting Corp. and West Germany's German Wave station all reported Aug. 20 that the Soviet Union had resumed blocking out their Russian-language broadcasts for the first time in seven years.

Soviet authorities have officially denied the jamming of the three stations, but Western diplomats have had no doubts that garbled voices, buzz-saw sounds and other random noise blocking the transmissions are the work of Soviet jamming experts. The Soviet Union and some East European countries have jammed the U.S.-financed stations Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty for many years.

The article accused the Voice of America, the BBC and German Wave of becoming increasingly hard-line in recent times, following in the footsteps of Radio Liberty and Radio Free Europe by devoting long broadcasts to anti-Soviet dissident material. It did not comment directly on claims of increased Soviet jamming since Aug. 20.

It said, however, that Western stations used recent events in Poland as a basis for "anti-communist fabrications." Western stations charged that the Soviet Union stepped up its jamming last month out of desire to keep news of the Polish disorders from reaching Soviet citizens.

The Pravda article also indicated Soviet sensitivity to Western claims that radio jamming violates the 1975 Helsinki accords on human rights and political cooperation in Europe. A conference is now getting under way in Madrid to review compliance with the Helsinki agreements.

The article quoted a commentary by the Czech news agency that said "the jamming of broadcasts of Radio Liberty and Radio Free Europe is in full accordance with international legal norms and accords with the spirit and letter of the Helsinki agreements" because the agreement says participating countries should not interfere in each other's internal affairs.

Open Warfare On Bird Pests

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Charlotte's City Council, although somewhat divided on the issue, has declared open warfare on starlings that come each year to fashionable Myers Park.

After two close votes, much debate and a tiebreaker by Mayor Eddie Knox, the council voted Monday to let Mecklenburg County police shoot the starlings if they follow their traditional pattern and take up roosts next month.

Thousands of the noisy black birds have come to the thick Myers Park foliage each autumn for the past several years. Last spring, council members told county officials they could shoot, but the gunfire was held.

This time apparently will be different, according to Ed Peacock, chairman of the Mecklenburg County Board of Commissioners.

"The board has approved it and instructed the county manager to organize the effort," Peacock said. "I presume if the starlings aren't scared away by this latest news, then we will shoot them."

Instead of shooting, noisemakers and helicopters were used last winter to scatter the birds until their usual March migration to the north.

Anticipating the problem again this year, some residents went to the county seeking help. The council then asked the council for permission to shoot if necessary.

Patti Lewis, president of the Mecklenburg Humane Society, objected to the shooting proposal and, instead, said the thick shrubbery in Myers Park should be pruned to deter the birds.

"The shrubbery is going to grow back," she said. "They just have to prune it back one-third to one-half. It's a temporary thing for the shrubbery and a permanent solution to the birds."

Children Break Mother's Heart

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband of 42 years died three weeks ago, and immediately following his funeral, my children insisted that I go to stay with my sister in another town to get away for a while.

Yesterday I came home to an immaculate but very empty house. I have three wonderful daughters (all married) whom I love dearly, but sometimes I wish they wouldn't be so helpful. In my absence they came in and cleaned my house — even the garage, from top to bottom! Every closet, cupboard and corner had been cleaned out, so there was not one trace of my beloved husband. All of his clothes were gone; even his fishing gear, golf clubs and tools had been disposed of. I know they did this only to spare me the difficult job of sorting through his belongings and deciding what to do with his things, but I really think I should have had a say in making those decisions.

I know my daughters meant well and what's done is done, so I am not going to say anything to them about it, but I just had to get this off my chest. Thanks for listening, Abby.

HEAVYHEARTED

DEAR HEAVYHEARTED: I understand your feelings and agree that your daughters wanted to spare you one of the most painful and difficult tasks a widow must face. However, you should have been consulted first. Perhaps your letter will prevent other well-meaning children from doing what yours did.

***

DEAR ABBY: Please help settle an argument. My friend insists that a hostess should ask her guests if they care for refreshments instead of serving them something they may not want.

She says it's wasteful and foolish to go to a lot of trouble preparing refreshments and offering them to guests who may not care for anything but force themselves to eat to avoid hurting a hostess's feelings.

I say that a gracious hostess will get off her duff and serve something because most people want refreshments, but if asked they will refuse so as not to put their hostess to any trouble.

Whose side are you on, Abby?

GRAND ISLAND, NEB.

DEAR GRAND: Yours.

DEAR ABBY: With reference to the letter putting down the woman who came to a wedding in silver lame stretch pants and a tight sweater. I suggest that one is offended by what one wants to be offended by.

Several years ago, when miniskirts were in style, I decided they looked good on me, so I wore one to Easter services. The pastor mentioned to me that he considered such attire out of place in church, particularly when worn with high heels!

I think what really bothered him was the fact that some of the congregation were distracted by my shapely legs and failed to pay proper attention to what he had to say.

If a woman looks good in short skirts or a sweater and stretch capris, she should wear them, and criticism be damned. As long as she is neat and clean, it's nobody else's business how she dresses.

Some women have great hair or facial features and take advantage of them. Some have great bodies. So what's the difference? Just as beauty lies in the eye of the beholder, so does umbrage.

ERIKA

DEAR ERIKA: I agree. There's nothing wrong with taking advantage of everything you have going for you, but one should consider the occasion. While silver lame stretch pants are great for a disco, they are inappropriate for a wedding. And miniskirts make for maximum distraction in church.

Packing a wardrobe for a woman traveler can be a cumbersome problem. Uncertain weather conditions and an insufficient number of porters add to the burden of traveling with too much baggage. Here are a few tips. Select one or two colors and build your wardrobe around them. This will give a greater variety of outfits and decrease the number of accessories needed. A coat that fits over your jacket and one that is weather adaptable (a hooded raincoat with a zip-in, warm lining) is ideal. Add to that a pair of good walking shoes, a slim skirt, a sweater set, pants, blouses, evening separates, a nightgown and robe, and you are equipped with a functional, carryable wardrobe.

The travel agents at QUIKOTE TRAVELS INC. can assist you with advice about clothing, weather, and local customs and food. We are complete travel agents. # President Has Stage

President Carter's press conference, which was televised by the networks last week, raised protests from the opposition.

The president's "good news" report obviously reflected well on his administration.

The reporters' questions were centered around comments he had made in an earlier speech in which he mentioned the "stirrings of hate" in the current campaign.

The Republican demand for equal time was expected, but network officials reacted, too. CBS News

President William Leonard said he was a little shaken by it. An ABC spokesman said it "did not distinguish the press conference in the traditional sense."

There is nothing new in all this, of course. Everything a president running for re-election says and does is political, but it is also presidential.

The networks don't have to cover the presidential news conferences. But then what if he makes some momentous announcement?

Shroud Belief Based On Faith

The shroud of Turin continues to cause controversy among the scientists and religious men who examine it.

Recently a group of scientists studied the cloth which bears the imprint of a man and carries the legend that it wrapped the body of Christ, and said that it could be authentic.

Now an American microscopist says he found traces of iron-ore pigment on the cloth. Based on that he believes the shroud to be a medieval fake.

We may never know for certain. Christianity and most other world religions are based on faith and for those who believe in the authenticity of the shroud of Turin, it is a reinforcement of faith.

'Back To Basics'

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — For the past few years, "Back to Basics" has been the rallying cry of those who saw the public schools doing less than they could toward teaching youngsters the fundamentals.

A number of top school officials both in Raleigh and in communities across North Carolina defensively took the stance that the basics had never been left, and dismissed those pushing for a return to the basics as mediocre outsiders who didn't understand the complexities of modern-day education.

Evidence continues to mount to the contrary: declining college entrance scores and the need for remediation in reading and writing at major universities; test scores showing elementary and secondary school students not learning their basics; dropout and discipline problems soaring.

Reforms instituted by the "joy-in-learning" behaviorists who have dominated education for two decades, now, have fallen in disrepute: social promotions, open classrooms, non-grading, new math, social adjustment, behavior modification, etc.

Learning to read, to write, and to handle arithmetic clearly has been given a back seat to that underlying philosophy which pervades so-called modern education: "taking the child where he or she is and in a permissive atmosphere letting him move ahead as he wishes."

The theory has been to provide the opportunity while avoiding anything which makes learning seem like drudgery or hard work, thereby encouraging youngsters to one day decide to learn and learn on their own.

When Gov. Jim Hunt unveiled his "Education

Priorities for the 1980's" the other day, it was quickly apparent that many of the things he was proposing are contained already in budgets and plans drawn up by the

BILL NOBLITT

State Board of Education and the staff of the Department of Public Instruction.

There is a theme running through Hunt's program, and the various specifics such as reduced class size, more classroom aides, remediation, a writing test, in-school suspension, reform in teacher preparation and evaluation, etc., all aim toward one simple goal: to teach basic skills.

Does this mean that the state's educational establishment and those who would turn the schools back into places where academic achievement takes priority now see eye to eye?

Not necessarily. A chief Hunt advisor bluntly makes the point: "Do you think that stuff would be in the Department budget if Hunt had not insisted on it? That's the governor's role... to build a fire under people to lead them in doing the job right."

Leaders
Conversation with several key Hunt advisors in education reveal that basic skills are not only the most important concern, but that a great deal of time and thought has gone into defining just what "basic" means. These individuals are important not only because they advise the governor, but because they represent him and speak for him at the almost daily strategy, planning and budgeting sessions within the educational bureaucracy.

These people are convinced that hard work, strong discipline, and an end to social experimentation and behavior modification in the schools must come soon. They reject the constant refrain from the educational establishment that because the schools must take all students, the decline is due to socio-economic or racial backgrounds of the students.

THE KIND OF POLITICS WE CAN DO WITHOUT!

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

Message To Moscow

WASHINGTON — The Senate took a couple of roll call votes one afternoon last week on a question that in itself was innocuous — but this was one of those weather-man moments in which the Senate wets a finger to the wind. Behold, the wind is changing. The question had to do with nerve gas.

Before the afternoon had ended, we had a small, comprehensible glimpse of the enormously complex problems that bedevil us. Seen through the wrong end of a telescope, the immediate issue was small. Turned around, it was fearfully large. The Senate's purpose was to send a message, and in the end it was evident — as evident as a cool wind — that a message had been sent. No one can say with certainty how the message will be received.

This was the situation: The Senate was debating the Military Construction Authorization Act for 1981. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., had an amendment to add one line to page 4. This was the one line: "Pine Bluff Arsenal, Arkansas, $3,150,000." The item, already approved in the House, would authorize development of a new chemical weapons facility at Pine Bluff. After an hour's heated debate, the Senate concurred.

Note, if you will, that the vote was not taken on an appropriation, but merely on an authorization. In a $5.5 billion bill, the recommended $3.1 million was an infinitesimal speck. The proposed "facility," if built, could not produce anything for three to five years. And without specific approval by the president — no matter who is president — nothing could be produced at all.

Small gestures can have large consequences. Opponents of the amendment, led by Gary Hart, D-Colo., protested that the action was premature. No hearings had been held on the necessity for putting the armed forces back in the business of chemical warfare. Costs ultimately would soar to $4 billion. The prospect of resumed production would offend our allies in Western Europe; they want no part of such weapons. If the message were intended for the Soviet Union, the Soviet Union would not be impressed, but rather antagonized. Far better, the opponents insisted, to study the problem a while longer. And Hart offered a substitute amendment to that effect.

"This thing has been studied to death," said Jackson. He cited 21 studies between 1971 and 1979. Meanwhile, the Soviet Union is believed to have pressed forward relentlessly with its own programs of chemical warfare. Unclassified intelligence reports indicate that the Soviets lead the United States by 5-to-1 in ground-based chemical delivery systems, by 11-to-1 in personnel assigned to such weapons and by 14-to-1 in production facilities. Our own stockpiles are obsolete, steadily deteriorating, and dangerous to store and to ship. Simple prudence, Jackson urged, should support the authorization.

Hart persisted in pleading for delay. For the past four years Soviet and U.S. negotiators have been discussing a treaty to ban chemical warfare. The Jackson amendment, he feared, would upset these delicate talks and set off a

To the editor:

I attended the "Touch of Fantasy" presented by the Pitt County Association for Retarded Citizens. This was an outstanding positive upbeat program. It was well worth $1 for anyone.

Much work went into organizing. I must commend Director Dianne Pickett, Co-chairpersons Sandi Hall and Lorraine McGowan and everyone who worked so diligently to make "Fantasy" a success. The music was very good. It would have been easy to overlook the music because of its background significance, but it was of such professional quality I have to comment. Celeste Pickett stood out with her flute solos. The singers were very professional. Soloists Alan Jones, Jacquelyn Willis Carnes and Cuddle (Dianne Pickett) exhibited beautiful voices. The performances were delightful. There were dance routines from folk cloggers to "chorus girl" style to ballet. There were human "toys," human "animals" and human "muppets." There were clowns. There were athletics with the Steel Wheels basketball team and Special Olympics medalists Freddie Best and Norris Reels.

With all the professionalism present, the performances that will long stand out were those of retarded and handicapped citizens. The Caswell Choir received a standing ovation. Special Olympics Medalist Freddie Best engaged in a tumbling routine that gripped the heart. Norris Reels aroused the envy of "normal" healthy people in the audience with his tumbling exhibition which demonstrated why he is International Special Olympics Gold Medalist. Many of us with two good legs wished we could play basketball as well as those guys in wheelchairs.

I am proud that the First Free Will Baptist church opens its doors to ARC/PC for its monthly meetings. I urge all Pitt County citizens to make plans now to attend "Touch of Fantasy" next year and to support ARC/PC.

SERVICE IN HUMILITY

In Japan about thirty years ago a noted public official dedicated himself to reforming the prison system, which was debasing and corrupting prisoners. He began by getting a number of bright young law students interested in prison reform. The prisons were usually administered by inefficient and uneducated persons whom the other services did not want. The reformer finally got the services of about forty bright young law students to take over administration. The result was a dramatic upturn in the morale of the prisoners and the operation of the system. But the families of the young men who had chosen this service were dismayed, feeling that their sons had lost face and had disgraced themselves.

It was Jesus who began to teach the world that he who would be great must volunteer to be least. This is in accordance with the dictum, "Whosoever would be first among you shall be your servant." — Elisha Douglass

A 'Big Bang' Under Study

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — An underground nuclear test exploded by the Soviet Union at its testing grounds in Semipalatinsk appears to have greatly exceeded the 150 kiloton limit set in the Threshold Test Ban Treaty between the U.S. and the Soviets.

An intelligence report citing the Sept. 14 test as having an explosive power of between 160 and 650 kilotons — far over the maximum limit set in the treaty — is now under secret study at the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA), the State Department and the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). There is no sign yet that the Carter administration has done anything more than ask Moscow for an explanation of the reported violation.

The September test is the first that friendly seismographic instruments have measured at so high a level. But since the 1974 treaty, intelligence sources have reported at least seven other probable violations. All are "under study" by the U.S.

Ford vs. Abdnor
When President Ford came to South Dakota Sept. 11 to plug for the election of Rep. James Abdnor over Sen. George McGovern, he stepped on a hornet's nest by making the presidential debates a major issue in a press conference he held side-by-side with anti-debater Abdnor.

Every political candidate should debate his opponent, Ford said, directing his remark right at President Carter. What Ford did not know is that Abdnor has refused to debate McGovern despite repeated challenges by McGovern.

Abdnor was stoical about Ford's embarrassing pro-debate stand. He said it did not change his mind about refusing to debate McGovern under any conditions, period.

PD 59 Targets China
The controversial Presidential Directive 59, which is designed to retarget U.S. missiles against Soviet military targets rather than population centers, includes about 100 military targets in China — a fact not disclosed or even hinted at in all the furor over the new directive.

That word leaked after secret testimony about PD 59 to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Sept. 16. The purpose of the new directive is to give the U.S. retaliatory options in case of Soviet nuclear attack, rather than the sole option of a massive anti-population reprisal. It has been bitterly attacked by liberals as preparing the way for possible "limited nuclear war."

Inclusion of Chinese military targets under PD 59 makes sense, Pentagon authorities say, because China has a nuclear capability and because there is no proof that present harmony in U.S.-Chinese relations will persist. But word that Chinese military targets are getting such attention from the U.S. could deeply disturb Peking.

Cutler's Empire
White House chief counsel Lloyd Cutler, a Washington super lawyer before going to work for President Carter, is believed by White House staffers to have his eye on a more powerful role in a second Carter administration.

The signals, say these White House staffers, are multiplying: a highly-publicized article in Foreign Affairs magazine that calls for major, constitutional reorganization of the U.S. government, and a gradual enlargement of his own White House staff to 17 persons.

Cutler's sideways move into high-level political analysis convinces some insiders that he wants to succeed Zbigniew Brzezinski as national security aide. Others believe his eye is set higher — on the job of secretary of state. Whatever Cutler's goal, White House aides say he probably has enough bureaucratic know-how and proximity to Carter to get what he wants.

Study Cruise Plans Carefully

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
The shipping companies are starting to advertise this season's fall and winter cruises, and potential passengers have to shop carefully for smooth sailing.

The majority of cruises are problem-free, but trouble can strike even the most luxurious trip. What was billed as a "Journey to Paradise" aboard the SS Norway — the world's biggest cruise ship — made headlines in August when a day-long power failure left 1,600 passengers adrift in the southern Bahamas, without electricity or running water.

There is no way you can guarantee you'll avoid disaster. But you can protect yourself by finding out as much as possible, in advance, about the ship you are going to sail on and the company which operates it.

Vacations at sea are big business. Cruise Lines International Association, a trade group whose members account for 90 percent of the market, expects 1.2 million people to take cruises in 1980.

up from 1.1 million last year. William Armstrong, a spokesman for the association, said the average price will be about $140 a day, an increase of 12 percent or $15 a day from 1979. That includes meals, entertainment, etc., but does not cover tips.

Don't bank on paying the minimum price listed in the advertisements. There are usually very few cabins available at the minimum and you probably will end up paying more.

Winter is the peak season for cruises and Armstrong said the week-long sail is still the most popular. "Fly-sail" packages, including a plane trip to and from the port of departure, continue to grow, Armstrong said.

If you're considering a cruise, you should start by keeping your ears open. Listen to people who have sailed before. "Word of mouth is still the best endorsement," Armstrong said. If you're using a travel agent, make sure the agent has sailed on the ship and is not relying on the brochure.

The U.S. Public Health Service inspects cruise ships, but many of them fail the inspections and continue to sail. The Norway, for example, got only 8 points out of a possible 100 when it was inspected in June. The health service said, however, that the violations posed no immediate danger to the passengers and that the ship's operators were working to correct the problems.

Armstrong said a failing grade from the health service "is not emblematic of an unsafe or unsanitary ship." He said the standards are "rightfully and correctly extremely high."

Almost all cruise ships today offer one-class service. Everyone has the run of the ship and all its facilities. The price you pay depends on the location and size of your cabin, but the most expensive accommodations may not necessarily be the most comfortable. The highest priced cabins are the ones on the top deck. Those cabins also are the ones where you will notice the ship's motion the most. You may be just as happy with a stateroom on the second or third deck.

If you live near a port, try to arrange a visit to any ship you are considering. If you can't make a personal check, look at a deck plan. Check dimensions of the cabins and subtract the area occupied by the bed or beds to find out how much space you will have to move around in. Don't forget the little things: the size of the closets, the number of drawers. Does the bathroom include both a shower and a tub?

Before you decide on a particular cabin, look at its location in relation to public areas and recreation facilities. Will you have a long walk to the dining room or the swimming pool? Are you too close to a possibly-noisy main corridor?

Ask to see sample menus. Once you are on board ship, you can't decide to go to another restaurant if you don't like the food.

When figuring out your total costs, find out whether port taxes are included in the price. They can run $10 a person or more and if you have several stops, the total can be substantial.

Puerto Rico May Get Some Stranded Refugees

CHICAGO (AP) — The Carter administration has decided to send Cuban and Haitian refugees to Puerto Rico if they don't have sponsors in the United States by Oct. 15, the Chicago Tribune reported today.

About 9,000 Haitians and an estimated 10,000 Cubans, including some with criminal records and some with mental and behavioral problems, would be affected over the next six months, the Tribune said.

The newspaper said the decision was announced Monday at a closed White House meeting. The Pentagon objected, the newspaper said, because the refugees are to be housed at Fort Allen, an Army installation in Puerto Rico.

There was no immediate comment from the White House or the Pentagon on the report. The Tribune did not identify the source of its story, written by the newspaper's Washington staff.

Immigration officers estimate that between 15,000 and 25,000 Haitians have arrived in Florida over the past several years. The refugees contend they face punishment if they are forced to return, while the government contends they are simply fleeing poverty in their island homeland.

The Cuban refugees are being housed at military bases in several states awaiting processing and sponsors. The government has said they will be consolidated at Fort Chaffee, Ark., for the winter months.

According to the Tribune, the decision to move the refugees to Puerto Rico was announced by Victor Palmieri, head of the Cuban Refugee Task Force, and would mean moving all refugees from Fort McCoy in Wisconsin within 30 days. Some from Fort McCoy would go to Fort Chaffee, the Tribune said. Authorities have agreed that no more than 10,000 refugees will be housed at Fort Chaffee, so any refugees above that number will be sent to Puerto Rico, the newspaper said.

Army and Defense Department officials said they had never envisioned the use of Fort Allen to house the number of refugees proposed, the Tribune said, though the base had been offered as a site to house some refugees. The Tribune said military officials at Monday's meeting said Fort Allen lacks facilities to deal with criminals and people with mental problems. The newspaper quoted one source as saying the proposal would turn the fort into "a medium-security prison."

Klan Leader Planning Bid For Governorship

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Klan leader Virgil Griffin says he will launch a campaign for governor in 1984 that will promote legal barriers against integration, intermarriage, forced busing, welfare and communism.

And, Griffin said, he wanted "laws" for Jews and blacks. Asked what kind of law he wanted for Jews, Griffin replied in an interview:

"I guess we need the same kind Hitler had — gas 'em ... I'll let the Nazi Party handle the Jews."

Of blacks Griffin said: "Some blacks should be gassed, and there's some whites that should be gassed."

But, Griffin said he would not "go around talking about gassing no Jews, I can tell you that."

Griffin, currently serving a prison sentence for burning a cross on the lawn of a private residence, said he would start campaigning when he is released Oct. 1. Griffin, 36, is working at a Stanley service station during the day and returns to prison at night under North Carolina's prisoner work-release program.

Griffin said he was serious about his candidacy.

"I intend to win ... I'll be off probation by then. I want a man in Raleigh I can trust and I'm the only damn one I know I can trust," Griffin said.

"I done a lot of thinking in jail. About the laws that I don't like and the things I'd like to see changed," Griffin said. "And the only way to do that is to get involved with politics."

Griffin said he joined the Ku Klux Klan in 1963. He currently is the grand dragon of his group.

Among the things Griffin says he would change are busing laws and laws allowing blacks and whites to intermarry.

"They shouldn't have to bus white people 30 miles to send them to integrated schools," he said. "I don't believe in mixing blacks and whites together. When you start integrating in schools, next you start integrating in marriage. I figure if God ... wanted us black-and-white striped or a mongrel race, he'd have made us a mongrel race."

Along with integration, Griffin said he would outlaw communists. "The communist party doesn't have a right anywhere in America. If we continually let the communist party run up the streets in America, nobody's going to have any freedom."

On Klan relations with the Nazis, Griffin said, "It's like the Black Panthers, and the NAACP and the Muslims. They don't get along all that good ... but when they go on the street, they all go, and they're all niggers. We're all white."

Griffin said rapists and murderers should be killed. Of a rapist, Griffin said, "I'd take him to the first telephone pole and hang him — publicly. If it was a white raping a black I'd do it, if it was a black raping a white I'd do it."

Law Student Named Editor

WINSTON-SALEM — A Wake Forest University law student from Greenville has been named editor of the 1980-81 Wake Forest Law Review. Robert Gentry Brinkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Brinkley, will serve in this position during the coming year.

Brinkley is a third-year student in the School of Law. He is a 1974 graduate of J.H. Rose High School and received the B.S. degree in business administration from East Carolina University in 1978 as an honor graduate.

The Review publishes six times a year for lawyers in North Carolina and surrounding states and is composed of articles written by teachers, practicing lawyers and Wake Forest law students.

A LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

LIKE SO MANY OF YOU, WE ARE CONCERNED WITH WHAT HAS BECOME A SERIOUS PROBLEM REGARDING THE THEFT OF GOLD AND SILVER VALUABLES. IT CONCERNS US BECAUSE, LIKE YOU, WE ARE CITIZENS OF A SOCIETY THAT DEPENDS ON LAW AND ORDER, AND BECAUSE OUR HOMES ARE JUST AS SUSCEPTIBLE AS YOURS TO THE POSSIBILITY OF THEFT. WE ARE ALSO CONCERNED BECAUSE WE HAPPEN TO BE IN THE BUSINESS OF BUYING VALUABLES, LIKE SILVER AND GOLD.

THERE ARE SOME WHO SEEM TO FEEL THAT ANYONE WHO BUYS IS ENCOURAGING THE THIEF. THIS IS JUST NOT TRUE. WE ARE DOING EVERYTHING WE POSSIBLY CAN TO DISCOURAGE THE THIEF. OUR REPUTATION IS AT STAKE. THE FUTURE OF OUR BUSINESS IS AT STAKE. OUR SAFETY IS AT STAKE. OUR SENSE OF MORAL RESPONSIBILITY IS AT STAKE.

WE REQUIRE POSITIVE PROOF THAT THE SELLER IS 18 YEARS OLD. WE REQUIRE SELLERS SIGNATURE, AND WE REQUIRE THE SELLERS N.C. DRIVERS LICENSE NUMBER. WE REGULARLY CALL LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS TO ASK ABOUT MERCHANTS IF WE HAVE SOME DOUBT REGARDING PROPER OWNERSHIP. THEY CALL US REGULARLY TO REPORT THEFTS AND WE MAKE EVERY EFFORT TO WATCH FOR THE MERCHANDISE AND REPORT IT TO THEM IF IT SHOWS UP. WORD HAS CIRCULATED THAT WE REQUIRE PROPER I.D. AND THAT WE WORK VERY CLOSELY WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS. CONSEQUENTLY, THERE ARE OTHER DEALERS ALL AROUND THAT DO NOT HAVE THE STRICT REQUIREMENTS WE HAVE. WITHOUT REVEALING WHO I AM, I HAVE PERSONALLY TALKED TO FOUR DEALERS WHO ADMIT TISE THEY BUY. NONE OF THEM REQUIRE NAMES OR I.D. THERE IS TALK AMONG LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS AND CITY GOVERNMENTS ABOUT STRICTER CONTROLS FOR PRECIOUS METALS BUYERS. WE ARE ON RECORD AS FAVORING ANY CONTROLS WHICH PROTECT THE SELLER AND THE BUYER. WE WOULD EXPECT ANY TIGHTER CONTROLS TO BE ENFORCED FOR ALL BUYERS WHETHER THEY OPERATE FROM LOCAL ESTABLISHED BUSINESSES, MOTEL ROOMS, ROLLING VANS, OR TELEPHONE NUMBERS IN CLASSIFIED ADS. LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS KNOW HOW DIFFICULT THIS IS, AND THEY ARE TO BE COMMENDED FOR THE CONSCIENTIOUS EFFORT THEY ARE MAKING TO CATCH THIEVES AND RECOVER STOLEN MERCHANDISE. NEEDLESS TO SAY, THE OWNERS OF VALUABLES ALSO HAVE A RESPONSIBILITY TO SECURE THEIR VALUABLES. WE ALSO RECOMMEND THAT PEOPLE NOT DISCUSS OR BRAG ABOUT THEIR HOME VALUABLES IN PUBLIC. WE ALSO FEEL THAT IT IS GENERALLY UNWISE TO GO TO A STRANGER'S HOME TO SELL, OR TO LET STANGERS COME TO THE HOME TO BUY.

WE OPERATE IN WELL LIGHTED, SECURE, SAFE, PLEASANT SURROUNDINGS. WE REQUIRE POSITIVE I.D. WE PAY HIGHER PRICES THAN ANY I HAVE SEEN ADVERTISED. NINETY-NINE PERCENT OF OUR CUSTOMERS ARE LEGITIMATE SELLERS LOOKING FOR A REPUTABLE BUYER TO PURCHASE MERCHANDISE THEY NO LONGER NEED OR WANT. WE ARE HERE TO OFFER A PROFESSIONAL, LEGITIMATE, REPUTABLE BUYING SERVICE TO THOSE 99%. IF YOU PREFER TO TALK TO US IN TOTAL PRIVACY, CALL US FOR AN APPOINTMENT. BUT BY ALL MEANS, YOU MAY COME TO ANY OF OUR BUYERS AT ANY TIME AND KNOW THAT HE WILL GIVE YOU PERSONAL PROFESSIONAL ASSISTANCE WHETHER YOU SELL OR NOT. AND YOU WILL BE DOING BUSINESS WITH A COMPANY THAT IS TRYING TO DISCOURAGE THE THIEF.

whose appointment as ambassador to Japan in 1977 turned out to be one of President Carter's rare diplomatic triumphs, has not closed the door to staying in Tokyo if Carter is re-elected.

That will be good news in Japanese political and business circles, where it had been assumed Mansfield would leave in January to be replaced by another of the non-descript ambassadors usually sent to Tokyo. Mansfield, whose age (76) and authoritative air appeal to the Japanese, is credited with a major upgrading of U.S.-Japanese relations.

Along with other U.S. ambassadors, he will routinely submit his resignation after Nov. 4 no matter how the election goes. But he has enjoyed immensely his second career and may well remain as ambassador if Carter wins.

new arms race. Jackson responded with the same reasoning that Ronald Reagan has been urging in his presidential campaign: History teaches us that the Soviets "will never, never agree to an accord in an area where they have an advantage and we have no offsetting capability." We can negotiate effectively, Jackson contended, only from a position of strength. Let us not be naive; let us be under no illusions. "The debate today is not over bricks and mortar. It is over the question of how we should negotiate with the Soviet Union."

Precisely so. The Senate voted down Hart's study resolution by a single vote, 47-46, and immediately went on to adopt Jackson's Pine Bluff authorization by a decisive 52-38. Ten years ago no such amendment would have passed. The feeling then was that surely the Soviet Union could be reasoned with; our good example in halting chemical production would suffice. The Senate's message last week, if I read it correctly, is that a sleeping giant is waking up. It is a somber message, especially in this horrible context, but it is a message that has to be sent.

Reagan, Carter Invade Each Other's Strongholds

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer
President Carter and Ronald Reagan trooped one another's political strongholds today in forays launched by a brutal exchange of charges over suffering, betrayal and even life and death.

The president, campaigning in Reagan's home state of California, declared flatly Monday night that the Nov. 4 poses a choice between "peace or war." It was Carter's severest characterization to date of the Republican nominee's prospective responsibility as commander in chief.

As for himself, Carter said he already has dealt with crisis after crisis that "you never knew about." He didn't elaborate, except to say that had he acted improperly, it "perhaps would have endangered the safety and peace of the entire world."

Reagan, for his part, said Carter had betrayed the South, had spread "distortions and half-truths" about the GOP campaign and was responsible for more than tripling what Reagan termed the "family suffering index."

After stops in Knoxville, Tenn., and Miami Monday, Reagan stumped in Pensacola, Fla., today before setting out for Baton Rouge, La., and Springfield, Mo.

Independent challenger John B. Anderson, meanwhile, insisted he had gained equal footing with Carter and Reagan via his nationally televised debate with the Republican Sunday night. But his balloon was deflated somewhat by a poor turnout at a rally in Philadelphia and burgeoning indications that the first debate may well have been the last of the 1980 campaign.

Carter headed for Northern California and stops in Portland, Ore., and Tacoma, Wash., today after opening his tour of the Golden State with an embrace from the man who won its Democratic primary, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. The Massachusetts senator joined Carter at a Beverly Hills fundraiser, exhorting the party faithful to rally behind the president.

Earlier, at a question-and-answer session at a Torrance, Calif., high school, Carter said the current fighting between Iraq and Iran could speed the release of the American hostages.

"It could convince Iran that they need peace with their neighbors, that they need to be part of the international community, they need to be able to have a strong and viable economy, they need to get spare parts for their military weapons and so forth, and therefore induce them to release the hostages," Carter said.

"I'm not predicting that, but it's a possibility," he said.

Carter told the California AFL-CIO convention the state will be vital in determining who wins the White House. Carter has lost it three times so far, twice in the 1976 primary and general elections, and to Kennedy this year.

The president accused Reagan of offering a "counterfeit future," and said that while the GOP nominee opposes most every program supported by labor, he campaigns now under the guise of friendship to workers.

On Nov. 4, said Carter, "What you decide on that day, you and those who listen to your voice, will determine what kind of life you and your families will have, whether this nation will make progress or go backward and whether we have peace or war."

Carter was introduced by Jack Henning, executive secretary of the California AFL-CIO, who cited a "fraudulent political advertisement of the Reagan crowd which indicated I have sympathy with the candidacy of Ronald Reagan." That, said Henning, was "inconceivable."

Reagan, in Knoxville, said that "Jimmy Carter has turned his back on the problems you face in the South" by mismanaging the economy.

Combining figures relating to mortgage rates, price increases in food and gasoline, and unemployment, Reagan unveiled his "family suffering index" by which to measure the president's performance.

Reagan said that index, propelled by a 50.9 percent hike in gasoline prices alone, had more than tripled since Carter took office.

Carter had used a similar statistical gimmick in his 1976 campaign, a "misery index" that combined the inflation and unemployment rates. Reagan said the misery index was 20.3 percent under Carter, compared with the 12.5 percent which the Democrat had said was so poor under the administration of Gerald R. Ford.

Later, in Miami, Reagan accused the president of "using distortions and half-truths in an effort to frighten Americans into believing that I would hurt Social Security."

The Republican said he had long since laid to rest the suggestion that he still favors making Social Security a voluntary program.

In Springfield, Ill., on the way west, Carter said the 1980 choice is sharper than any since Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater faced President Lyndon B. Johnson 16 years ago. Johnson won a landslide after a campaign in which he painted Goldwater as a rash Republican who would risk war.

Carter previously had tempered his variation on that theme by saying, as he did in Cleveland a week ago, that he doesn't mean to insinuate Reagan "is for war and against peace."

Questioned over his decision to sit out the Sunday night debate, Carter said "I think I came out okay." Reagan and Anderson disagreed, each chiding the president as having run from the fight.

But Reagan said he saw no purpose in meeting Anderson again, though he left the door open for a "round robin" format in which he would meet Carter one-on-one only if Carter did the same with Anderson.

But Carter continued to insist on meeting Reagan first, period. As for the round robin notion, presidential press secretary Jody Powell snapped: "That's silly. It's not the American League playoffs."

Reagan's running mate, George Bush, said in Ohio that while the Reagan-Anderson meeting was "refreshing ... it may be we've seen the last debate."

Anderson drew several thousand persons at a midday rally in Chicago's Daley Square Monday, but barely 800 — mostly college students — turned out for him at Philadelphia's Civic Center despite the fact that the event was widely advertised. One of the first rules for political advance teams is never to schedule their candidate into a setting of empty seats, but they set out 3,200 chairs for Anderson.

'Fingerprinting' Some Cancers

By KEVIN MCKEAN
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In a promising application of recently developed genetic techniques, scientists are using cancer "fingerprints" to spot some forms of the disease earlier, predict their likely courses and prescribe more effective treatment, medical researchers report.

Using the technique, doctors can verify a borderline diagnosis of a white blood cancer known as chronic granulocytic leukemia — and predict when the virulent phase of the disease will appear.

The "fingerprint" technology developed 10 years ago but only now coming into routine clinical use, also can alert doctors to patients who have undergone surgery for bladder cancer but face a recurrence, the researchers say.

The scientists' reports Monday to a seminar here came as the federal government announced that the cancer cure rate is approaching 50 percent in the United States.

Health and Human Services Secretary Patricia Roberts Harris credited advances in the early detection and treatment of breast cancer, acute leukemia and Hodgkin's disease for the improvement.

But cancer still kills 400,000 Americans a year and is the second most common cause of death behind heart disease, she said.

Sponsors said the two-day seminar at New York's Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center was the first to deal with the practical uses of the new genetic technique called "chromosome banding."

"We can use chromosome studies to diagnose certain leukemias and lymphomas, predict how patients will do and also how they'll respond to therapy," said Dr. R.S.K. Chaganti, head of the genetics lab at Sloan-Kettering and co-chairman of the seminar.

Chromosomes are the parts of cells that carry genes, an animal's genetic blueprint. Chromosomes can be treated with stains or enzymes that mark them with distinctive and identifying patterns of light and dark bands.

Using these banding tests, scientists discovered particular forms of cancer are sometimes linked with particular chromosome defects, providing a sort of genetic "fingerprint" for cancer.

For example, about 90 percent of patients with chronic granulocytic leukemia have a defect called the "Philadelphia chromosome," in which part of one chromosome has detached and moved to another.

The presence of the Philadelphia chromosome, named for the city where it was discovered, proves the diagnosis of chronic granulocytic leukemia in borderline cases, said Dr. Robert V. Pierre of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

In addition, he said, chromosome studies can often detect, several months before symptoms appear, when a patient is moving into the more virulent phase of the disease. The studies also help doctors in their selection of which drugs to use.

Dr. Avery Sandberg at Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., has found that chromosome abnormalities signal whether bladder cancer will reappear in patients who have had one tumor removed.

"If the tumor contains chromosome markers (abnormalities), chances are 10 to 1 it will recur. If there are no markers, chances are 10 to 1 it will not," said Sandberg, who collaborated with Dr. William Falor of Akron General Hospital in Ohio in the work.

He said if markers are present, some doctors now advocate removing the bladder entirely to head off a possibly fatal recurrence.

Other specific chromosome changes have been identified for Burkitt's lymphoma, a blood cancer; cancer of the ovaries; and other tumors.

Chromosome studies also have become the standard way to track the progress of one of the more promising treatments for blood cancer, bone marrow transplantation, according to Richard J. O'Reilly, head of the transplantation program at Sloan-Kettering.

"If you had told me 10 years ago that cytogenetics (the study of chromosomes) would come this far this soon, I wouldn't have believed it," said Dr. R. Neil Schimke of the University of Kansas.

"The banding techniques have opened up whole new vistas."

Six Somoza Assassins Said To Be Identified

By NESTOR VERDINA
Associated Press Writer

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — Paraguay's government says it has identified six of ex-dictator Anastasio Somoza's killers, but five of them are at large and the sixth is dead.

Paraguayan police identified four of the assassins Monday as Jorge Alberto Ruiz, Jorge Omar Lewinger and Juan Jose Partini, all leftist Montonero guerrillas from Argentina, and Guillermo Victor Thomas, a member of the Reorganization Committee of Revolutionary Front 17, a previously unheard-of group.

Paraguayan authorities said Somoza's killers also included Hugo Alfredo Irurzun and Silvia Mercedes Hodgers, members of the Argentine People's Revolutionary Army. But Paraguayan police shot and killed Irurzun Thursday night when they went to search for him in a house rented by Miss Hodgers.

Somoza, the former Nicaraguan dictator, and two aides were killed in a bazooka and machine-gun ambush in Asuncion Wednesday. The assassination brought the Montoneros and the People's Revolutionary Army back into the news after a nearly two-year absence. The military government in Buenos Aires claimed to have all but liquidated the insurgent organizations in 1978.

Police say at least seven persons helped plan or participated in the assassination. Spokesman Hector Osvaldo Palacios said the government believes the five remaining assassins are still in Paraguay, and the landlocked nation's borders with Brazil, Bolivia and Argentina remained closed Monday for a sixth day.

Palacios said the government's chief witness, an architect whose car was commandeered by at least three gunmen fleeing the ambush scene, had not identified the suspects. The spokesman said photographs of the suspects were taken from an extensive file on Latin American guerrillas shared by international police forces. He would not say who identified them.

Two members of a Paraguayan opposition party, asking not to be named, said there were reports in government circles that Irurzun had been arrested and released by police about a week before the attack.

They said there was widespread belief that the Argentine was not involved in the plot against Somoza, but was killed by police who thought it necessary to produce results from their investigation.

Irurzun, who authorities say fought with the Sandinista guerrillas who toppled Somoza last year, has been buried in Paraguay. His parents have sought permission to have his body exhumed and transported for burial in Argentina.

Carter's 1976 Ads Are Now Used Against Him

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group supporting Ronald Reagan has obtained copies of Jimmy Carter's 1976 television campaign commercials and turned them into the centerpiece of their own anti-Carter campaign.

The purpose is to show then-candidate Carter making promises he failed to keep.

Each one ends with Carter asking, "Are we satisfied with what we have or are we ready to change it for the better?" The scene then shifts from Carter to the words, "Are you satisfied?"

The advertisements are now in the hands of a group known as Citizens for Reagan in 80. It is a project funded entirely by the Fund for a Conservative Majority, a political action committee that hopes to raise $4 million to $5 million to plug Reagan's campaign.

By law, Reagan, who has accepted public financing of his campaign, cannot have any official tie with independent fund-raising committees, such as the Fund for a Conservative Majority. In fact, Reagan denounced one ad the group made earlier this year as "in lousy taste ... a pretty bad commercial."

That ad depicted Uncle Sam as a punching bag taking shots from the Ayatollah Khomeini, Cuban president Fidel Castro and a man supposed to look like a Kremlin leader.

The group, which has scheduled a news conference Wednesday to unveil the ads, plans to spend about half its warchest on them.

The ads will be targeted for four key states where the group thinks Reagan has a chance of narrowly beating Carter on Nov. 4: New York, Pennsylvania, Florida and Connecticut.

"We're going to flood the airwaves with these things," said one person familiar with the campaign but who asked that his name not be used.

He said it was unclear how the group obtained Carter's 1976 ads. "I'm not going to ask questions about where the tapes come from," he said. "We let the word out that, gosh, if we could only get those commercials ..."

All of the original ads were shot by Atlanta media expert Gerald Rafshoon, who remains Carter's top media adviser. He neglected to copyright the ads, the source said, so there is no legal problem in using them for pro-Reagan spots.

Attorneys for the Fund for a Conservative Majority copyrighted Rafshoon's ads themselves on Monday.

"We're going with them because we know they're OK," the source said. "Legally we know what we're doing is safe."

The new ads focus on Carter talking about subjects such as inflation and unemployment.

One ad opens with an announcer saying that two million persons have lost their jobs in 1980 and then switches to Carter in 1976 saying that the 7.8 percent jobless rate then was unacceptable.

Another ad shows Carter saying that the 6.5 percent inflation rate in 1976 was too high, and notes that the inflation rate has more than doubled since then.

Most of the ads are devoted to shots of Carter, and then close with Carter's call for a change in leadership, and then Reagan's name.

Former Federal Negotiator Doubted UNC Pledges

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former federal civil rights negotiator said Monday efforts to reach agreement on desegregation of the University of North Carolina failed in part because he could not trust the state to carry out its promises.

"We were dealing with a state that had earlier made commitments and failed to honor them," said David Tatel, former director of the Office of Civil Rights.

Tatel, testifying at a hearing to determine if federal funding will be cut off to

UNC, also said he had intentionally delayed putting a final draft of suggested guidelines for the university's desegregation into writing for several weeks because he was afraid it would be "misused or misinterpreted."

UNC lawyers were to cross-examine Tatel, who has been in private law practice in Washington since resigning from the government post last October, during today's session.

In his testimony Monday,

Tatel said:

— UNC President William C. Friday once told him that one of the obstacles to improving the state's five historically black institutions was the "weakness" of their top campus officials.

— UNC made two previously undisclosed settlement proposals in July and October of 1979, but those proposals were not taken seriously by the government because they included fewer desegregation remedies than the university had previously offered.

Friday, contacted at his home in Chapel Hill, declined to respond to Tatel's testimony. He did say that Tatel once had told him that North Carolina had done more to desegregate than any Southern state.

"I regret that Mr. Tatel has concluded that the state of North Carolina cannot be trusted," Friday said.

Tatel said he delayed putting into writing his proposed guidelines because he wanted to avoid the appearance that the government was trying to run UNC.

"We were trying not to get trapped in a public debate over whether HEW was trying to tell UNC how to run its higher-education system," Tatel said.

Tatel said the proposals later were put on paper and presented formally to UNC officials. In March of 1979, the old Department of Health, Education and Welfare rejected UNC's plan for meeting those guidelines and began steps to cut off federal funding of the 16-campus system.

Tatel became director of HEW's Office of Civil Rights in 1977 and supervised most of the final events leading to the current hearing.

He said that his early meetings with UNC officials were "quite positive." But by early 1978, he said, the atmosphere had changed and the tone of a meeting between federal officials and the UNC staff was cool.

Negotiations continued and, Tatel said, by mid-May the department had concluded there was a basis for provisionally accepting UNC's plans to remove the vestiges of segregation. But Tatel said he remained skeptical about the possibility of a final agreement because of numerous contingencies in the UNC plan.

"I had my doubts... about whether it would lead to an acceptable plan," he said. "But if there was any chance a provisional plan would work, we should try it."

Tatel said that over subsequent months UNC provided several reports on the contingencies in its plan, including the crucial issue of program duplication.

He said his office evaluated all the plans and decided the overall proposal was inadequate. He said the plan had deficiencies in all the major criteria for an approved desegregation plan, including improving the state's five predominantly black campuses.

Federal officials have maintained that UNC must eliminate duplication of programs offered on both the mostly black and mostly white campuses.

Tatel said he suggested that his office's evaluation be used as a basis for further talks but that UNC president William Friday rejected the idea in January 1979 and sent the evaluation back to Washington.

Graham's Staff Is Reshuffled

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said Monday he has realigned the top levels of his staff to have all division heads reporting directly to him.

Graham confirmed the reorganization after William A. Wilder Jr., who has been associated with the department for 15 years, announced he has resigned. Wilder had been an assistant commissioner since 1972.

Graham said two other assistant commissioners, Alex M. Lewis and Melvin H. Hearn, will continue "in their present role... (but) their may be a different terminology of title and job description." He said they would remain in the same pay grade "if they continue to perform at the present level."

Other sources, however, indicated Graham was eliminating the assistant commissioner's job entirely.

Graham said the reorganization was part of a continual reassessment of the Agriculture Department's program.

"I didn't single him (Wilder) out," Graham said. "I have been studying the program for the last several months. The realignment is so that everyone will have a good understanding of what his responsibilities are."

Wilder said he and Graham have had "some differences of opinion" and that for a while he has not been convinced that "the direction we were going in was to my satisfaction."

But, Wilder said, the realignment was "not the absolute, direct reason. I felt like it was a point in time, if I had the opportunity, to make a change."

Wilder, 46, said he planned to devote his time to running a family-owned nursery in Knightdale, where he is the mayor.

N.C. Crops See Drought Losses

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina's farm economy has lost $200 million so far this year because of hot, dry weather and may lose more unless there is an abrupt change, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said Monday.

Estimated yields for field crops alone have been reduced by $125 million, Graham said, with soybeans, peanuts and late tobacco bearing the brunt of the losses.

Graham said the state's $3 billion farm industry, however, was feeling the weather's impact across the board. "As best we can determine, losses have reached $200 million and the losses are continuing to mount," he said.

Graham's department has estimated the soybean crop, expected to top $250 million this year, will be down by at least $12 million. Anticipated peanut yields are down by $14 million and still dropping. The tobacco forecast has been reduced by $23 million.

Such losses would make the farmers' plight similar to that in 1977, when crop and livestock losses ranged between $200 million and $250 million.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said Monday that farmers in 60 counties already have applied for disaster payments for their crops.

The Farmers Home Administration also has begun accepting applications for low-income disaster loans. Sixty-nine North Carolina counties have been declared disaster areas, making disaster loans available in those areas to qualified growers.

"This is going to be a tough year," said Guy Jones, crop specialist with the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service. "The farmers are going to be hurt and hurt again."

Although summer officially ended Monday, temperatures remained in the 90s in many places. Fayetteville, Rocky Mount and Elizabeth City reported highs in the mid 90s, while Raleigh had a record high of 93. Asheville's 88 also was a record high.

GAVE APPROVAL

City Manager Ed Wyatt announced the approval of requests by the Kiwanis Club to conduct its annual peanut sale on Nov. 7 and 8, and by Ebenezer Seventh-Day Adventist Church for permission to conduct a merchant solicitation Sept. 15-20 in order to raise funds for purchasing a church.

Vehicles Damaged In Wrecks

An estimated $1,250 property damage resulted from three traffic collisions investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Heaviest damage, according to officers, resulted from a 3:45 p.m. collision on 10th Street, 150 feet east of the Greenville Boulevard intersection, involving cars driven by Ronald George Schmidt of Kenosha, Wis., and Vivian French Adams of Route 1, Grimesland.

Police, who charged Schmidt with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, set damage at $150 to the Schmidt car and $400 to the Adams auto.

Vehicles driven by Larry Mitchell Mewborn of Route 2, Farmville, and Chris Alan Harvel of 922 East 14th St. collided about 3:25 p.m. at the intersection of Third and Cotanche Streets, resulting in an estimated $300 damage to the Mewborn car and $100 damage to the Harvel truck.

Harvel was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of the mishap.

Police reported a car driven by Sarah Pat Roberson of 516 Tyson St. collided with a parked car owned by Christy Joseph Gouras of 700 North Greene St. about 7:57 p.m. on East Gum Road, 100 feet West of the Drum Avenue intersection.

An estimated $300 damage resulted to the Gouras car while no damage was done to the Roberson vehicle, officers reported.

N.C. Unemployment Again Dips

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina's unemployment rate fell by more than a percentage point last month, pushed downward by an apparent upswing in the furniture, textile and apparel industries.

With the state's jobless rate standing at 7 percent for August, officials of the state Employment Security Commission predicted the end of North Carolina's 1980 recession was in sight.

ESC Chairman J.B. Archer said the 1.1 percent drop from July to August left North Carolina below the national unadjusted employment rate of 7.5 percent.

"The August rate, which was .4 of a percentage below the June state rate, indicates that unemployment in North Carolina is stabilizing as the economy begins to recover," Archer said. "There was a general across-the-board improvement in both the manufacturing and non-manufacturing industries in the state during August."

Another factor was the number of summer job seekers leaving the labor market, Archer said.

David W. Doerner, economics analyst at North Carolina National Bank in Charlotte, was not as optimistic as Archer and other ESC spokesmen.

"One month's figures don't mean a whole lot by themselves," Doerner said. "If we see another month of numbers like these, we should be pretty thrilled about it."

David A. Garrison, research director for the ESC, predicted the rate would drop again in September, noting that students traditionally go back to school then and service and trade industries begin additional hiring for the holiday season.

For August, there was a significant increase in employment in the furniture, textile and apparel-manufacturing industries as seasonal shutdowns for inventory and repairs declined, Archer said. He said there was also a rise in employment in the trade, construction, finance, insurance and real estate sectors.

The August report showed a total of 194,500 unemployed workers across the state, down by 34,500 from the previous month. However the August figure was 67,700 above the number of unemployed in August 1979, when the unemployment rate was 4.6 percent.

Archer said there were 2,592,000 employed people in North Carolina last month —

3,100 more than in July but 21,500 fewer than in the same month last year.

The tobacco industry recorded a seasonal increase of 15.3 percent in employment from July to August for a gain of 1.5 percent from August 1979; and there was a gain of 4.2 percent from July to August in the metals industry.

The number of jobs in the furniture industry rose by 1,900 — or 2.5 percent — from July to August. However, the employment rate was down 4.8 percent or 4,000 jobs from August 1979.

In the textile industry, employment rose by 1 percent, representing 2,600 jobs, but there were 3,400 fewer textile workers on the job last month than during

August 1979.

Employment was up by 1.4 percent, or 1,200 jobs, from July to August. The total was 700 below the employment figure for August of last year.

Morgan Denies Funds From N.Y. 'Fat Cats'

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Campaign officials for Sen. Robert Morgan, D-N.C., Monday denied Republican allegations that Morgan received funds from "New York fat-cats and ultra-liberal activists" at a Washington reception given in his honor last week.

"There have been many ludicrous and distorted charges made during this campaign and Senator Morgan has not stooped to answer them. But when the Congressional Club takes the low road of blatant falsehoods, then the record should be set straight," Morgan's campaign director, Sidney Eagles Jr., said Monday.

State Republican Chairman Jack Lee charged earlier that Morgan got $35,000 from the reception, which Lee said was held by "HEW boss and anti-tobacco leader Patricia Harris."

Lee, speaking on behalf of Morgan's senatorial opponent John East, said, "Now we understand why Robert Morgan — for four years — has done nothing to effectively stop HEW's anti-tobacco campaign."

But Eagles flatly denied that the fund-raising event was hosted by Ms. Harris.

"Patricia Harris had no hand in sponsoring a fund-raising event in Washington last week," he said. "Senator Morgan is proud that five of his Senate colleagues volunteered to sponsor the event and help him with his reelection."

Eagles said the sponsors were senators Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., William Proxmire, D-Wisc., Russell Long, D-La., John Stennis, D-Miss., and Sam Nunn, D-Ga.

He said representatives of three tobacco-industry groups and several farm groups also were at the reception. "This could hardly be called an anti-farm or anti-tobacco group," he said.

"To say that Robert Morgan is not a friend of the tobacco farmer is preposterous," Eagles said. "He grew up on a tobacco farm, he has worked in a tobacco field and he has been one of the staunchest champions of the tobacco grower in the Senate."

But, Lee further contended that New York bankers and "ultra-liberals" held a $250 per head fund-raiser for Morgan Sept. 16. He said that affair raised nearly $19,000 for Morgan's campaign chests.

"To understand why the New York banker fat-cats want to re-elect Morgan, you must remember that Morgan voted for the $1.5 billion taxpayer bailout of New York City," Lee said. "And that he gave millions of our tax dollars to Panama and Nicaragua — most of which was used to repay loans to Morgan's friends — the big bankers — in New York City."

Farmville Mart Is Stronger

FARMVILLE — In grade-for-grade prices, the Farmville market was stronger Tuesday than on the Thursday last week. It appeared that top practical prices advanced from $1.66 to $1.70 per pound, and sheet-after-sheet sold on the market at $1.75 and $1.80 per pound in company purchases.

Leaf, lugs and smoking leaf accounted for most of the volume. Very little non-descript was on the floor. Stabilization receipts accounted for only 1.82 percent of gross sales.

The market sold 765,222 pounds Tuesday for $1,239,181, for an average of $161.94 per 100 pounds.

To date, the market has sold 19,314,924 pounds for $28,623,572 for a season average of $148.19 per 100 pounds.

Voter Night Is Planned AT Bethel

BETHEL — Voter registration and the responsibilities of voting will be stressed at Thursday's Bethel Precinct Community Night, scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Bethel Elementary School gym.

Participating in the event will be county commissioners Bob Martin and Ed Warren and Bethel Mayor Bob Whitehurst, as well as state Rep. Sam Bundy, Sen. Vernon White, and other county office holders.

George Saleeby, chairman of the Pitt Democratic Party, will greet the precinct gathering, and Sam McLawhorn, member of the State Board of Agriculture, will talk to farmers.

Dave Speir, chairman of the event, said, "This is an effort to generate community unity and spirit and also to remind ourselves of the importance of family, community, and love of country to our way of life."

He said the program will include songs by local groups, selections by the North Pitt High School Band, and the singing of some patriotic songs by the assembly.

An official will be present to register any unregistered voters.

Speir said that all citizens living in Bethel precinct are invited to attend.

Association Holds Meeting

The board of directors of the Greenville Industrial-Eppes Alumni Association, Inc. held a business meeting-workshop session on Saturday at the Holiday Inn.

Betty C. Streeter was recognized, in her absence, for her many contributions to the organization. The local chapter will hold its meeting Wednesday, Oct. 1 at the home of Marian Wilkes, West Fifth Street. All alumni, faculty and friends are invited to attend.

Bicycle Chase

Hertford Douglas Davis, 23 of Route 1, Bethel, probably could use a good lawyer, although attorney David Thomas Greer of 901 Forrest Hill Dr. isn't the right man.

According to Greenville police, Greer and his son saw Davis riding the younger Greer's bicycle away from their home about 8:50 p.m. yesterday and gave pursuit. When Davis dropped the bicycle in the yard of 614 Ernul St., Greer — one of several persons being considered for appointment as public defender for the Third Judicial District — caught Davis and held him until police arrived.

Investigators charged Davis with larceny. They reported that Davis allegedly left another bicycle in Greer's yard when he rode off on the Greer vehicle.

"YOUR PROFESSIONAL PERMANENT DEALER"

"YOUR PROFESSIONAL PERMANENT DEALER"

The machine age has not been altogether kind to human beings. From time to time, machines have been known to resist, even thwart, humans who try to use them.

You're ready to work, but the machine's not.

But now humans can look forward to a much more pleasant relationship at NCNB.

The people who introduced the first banking machines in North Carolina now introduce the most advanced banking machines in America.

The new NCNB 24 talks your language. It says "Hello, what can I do for you?" instead of "Enter your desired transaction."

It understands your needs. So it gives you a choice of cash in $5 amounts up to $100,

Some machines take your money, but won't give you the time of day.

instead of just $25 or $50.

It knows that everybody can make mistakes. So it doesn't take your card away just because you hit the wrong button.

It knows you don't like to wait. So it handles your banking in as little as 30 seconds.

It knows that you expect full service. So it lets you do everything from getting money to checking out your balances.

In short, the new NCNB 24 makes all of your routine banking easier.

So, if you're not banking with NCNB 24 now, this is a good time to start.

Just when you need them most, some machines let you down.

For the details, stop in at the bank that wants to be the best in the neighborhood.

Finally, a machine that treats you like a human being.

Lack Capability Of Big Defeats

LONDON (AP) - Although Iraq holds the military edge over Iran it doesn't mean the Baghdad regime can mount a big offensive against its neighbor with impunity, a military analyst at the International Institute for Strategic Studies says.

"My own bet is that neither could inflict a large-scale defeat on the other. The present balance of forces is in the Iraqis' favor, but that doesn't make a major Iraqi assault a military option," Gregory Trevorton, the Institute's assistant director, told The Associated Press in an interview.

"The Iraqis are likely to have the best of a short-term conflict, but the longer the war lasted, that calculation could tip."

Trevorton said aside from local conflicts, both Iraq and Iran lack important recent fighting experience, and that neither side is likely to attack the other's oil installations because "they are both so vulnerable that it could leave them both worse off."

He added that "both sides should be interested in limiting the conflict," and said that Iraq's attack on Tehran airport and 10 other Iranian airfields Monday "is a sign of how badly the Iranian armed forces have deteriorated."

"The shah built one of the most powerful armed forces in the region, but the deterioration since he went has been such that the Iraq forces certainly are in much better condition, although the Iranian navy probably is still superior.

"Because of lack of information, it is hard to know the degree of chaos, readiness and state of equipment in Iran - and we know very little about the border fighting."

Before Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolution ousted the shah 20 months ago, Iraq had 242,000 men in its armed forces and in its 240,000. There was also a paramilitary force of 75,000 in Iran and 80,000 in Iraq.

But the Iranian army and air force were demoralized by the revolution and decimated by the desertions and purges that followed.

Most of Iran's military equipment was bought from the United States, and like the men who use it, it probably has been greatly affected by the revolution.

However, Iraq is supplied by the Soviet Union and presumably can count on all it needs.

New Delays On Judges

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Robert Morgan said Monday delays in confirming two North Carolinians nominated for federal judgeships have added to the risks that they might not win their seats on the bench.

"It would be better if they were confirmed before the recess," Morgan said, referring to efforts by lawmakers to leave Washington possibly as early as Friday.

Morgan, a North Carolina Democrat, said he still, however, expects to gain confirmation for Richard C. Erwin and S. Gerald Arnold.

Erwin, who would become the first black federal judge in North Carolina in more than a century, has won the approval of the Senate Judiciary Committee but still must be confirmed by the full Senate.

The committee delayed a vote on Arnold last week at the request of Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. Republicans have indicated they will attempt to block confirmation of Democratic nominees until after the Nov. 4 election.

Congress is scheduled to call a recess Oct. 4 until after the general election, but some congressmen are pushing to move that date up.

The ECHSA governing body is charged with the responsibility for making decisions designed to improve the health services available to Eastern North Carolinians by increasing their availability, accessibility, acceptability, continuity, and quality; restrain rising health care costs; and avoid unnecessary duplication of health resources.

In other action at the ECHSA meeting, the board approved certificates of need for the East Carolina University School of Medicine family practice residency program, and for the acquisition of Greenville Villa, Albemarle Villa, and Medic-Home Health Center by Beverly Enterprises.

18 MORE BODIES
SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) - Police have found 18 more bodies in various parts of this Central American nation, bringing to at least 44 the number killed in a weekend of political violence.

The dissenters say they refuse on moral grounds to serve in an occupation force that is often called upon to quell demonstrations by Palestinian nationalists.

All able-bodied Israeli citizens are drafted for three years of military service followed by as many as 40 days a year of reserve duty.

Revaluation.....

for cleared land and takes into consideration whether the land is on a paved road, dirt road or path. Values range from a high (Class I land on paved road) of $1,600 per acre, to a low (Class IV land on a path), of $950 per acre.

Woodland is listed as good, fair and poor with access by paved road, dirt road and path. Good woodland on a paved road under the schedule would be valued at $600 per acre while poor woodland on a path would be valued at $250 per acre. The value for swampland has been set at $100 to $150 per acre.

The schedule for appraising dwellings in rural areas as well as in municipalities takes into consideration local building material costs, labor at the local rate, sales, and other factors.

Generally, residential property (house) values are figured, either up or down, from a base of $26 per square foot.

The value of residential lots in rural areas ranges from $2,500 to $5,000, while the worth of lots in municipalities is based on a front-foot value, although other factors may affect the ultimate fair market price.

Even though the revaluation, which under law must reflect the actual value of property, will increase the valuation of taxable property in the county, the tax rate is the governing factor in how much taxes an individual or business will pay.

With a substantial increase in property values expected, it is conceivable that the tax rate in effect when the new values are placed on the books could be reduced considerably.

BLOCKADE ENDED

BERLIN (AP) - West German employees of the East German-run Berlin rail system have left a signal house voluntarily, ending a 36-hour blockade of passenger traffic between the divided city and West Germany.

Williamston Chief Sees Little Change

WILLIAMSTON - James Thompson, chief of the Williamston Police Department, said last week that he expects no major changes in the operations of the department.

He has been chief of the department since August 28, replacing former chief Willie Rodgers, who resigned the post to become sheriff of Martin County.

A Martin County native, Thompson has been a member of the Williamston Police Department for 11 years, the last five as a sergeant.

"We're trying to develop better public relations within the community," Thompson noted, but expect, "no major changes," to be made in the operations of the department.

So far, according to the chief, the largest change has been to put officers, "working the streets again," by assigning policemen to foot patrols in the city's business district.

Thompson is married to the former Mary Knox of Bear Grass and the couple has one son.

He is a graduate of Robersonville High School, and has an associate degree in law enforcement from Beaufort County Community College.

URGES RETURN

ATHENS, Greece (AP) - British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, at an official dinner Monday, called for Greece's speedy return of Greece to NATO to strengthen the alliance's southern flank.

No Objectors

JERUSALEM (AP) - The Israeli Supreme Court ruled today against army recruits who refuse on grounds of conscience to serve in Israeli-occupied Arab lands.

The three-judge panel, rejecting an appeal by Pvt. Gadi Elgazi of orders to serve in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, said the army had the right to station its soldiers wherever it chose.

Haim Cohen, a liberal Supreme Court judge, supported the verdict against Elgazi, but said he doubted the usefulness of forcing the army's will on a small number of objectors.

The military command has said conscientious objectors amount to no more than a "small minority," and refused to give figures. About half a dozen conscripts are believed to have been jailed over the years for defying orders to serve in the West Bank or Gaza Strip, where 1.2 million Palestinians live.

The dissenters say they refuse on moral grounds to serve in an occupation force that is often called upon to quell demonstrations by Palestinian nationalists.

All able-bodied Israeli citizens are drafted for three years of military service followed by as many as 40 days a year of reserve duty.

Montgomery Paces Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilbert Montgomery has come out of his shell.

The once reluctant seventh-round draft choice from Abilene Christian, who dropped words almost as often as baseball's silent man, Steve Carlton, finally is tooting his own horn.

Montgomery let it be known that he has arrived, after accounting for 154 of the Philadelphia Eagles' 382 yards in a 35-3 victory over the New York Giants in Monday night's National Football League television game.

"I think I'm a complete back now," said Montgomery, who ran for 87 yards, scoring from the one, caught passes for 67, including the Eagles' first touchdown, a 3-yarder from Ron Jaworski.

"I block well and I'm a pretty good pass receiver. And I'm getting better," said Montgomery after the unbeaten Eagles third victory of the season and 10th straight over the Giants since 1975.

The Eagles now have scored 104 points in three games and allowed just 16 to Denver, Minnesota and the Giants. The defense held the opposition under 100 yards on the ground for the third straight game.

Eagles' Coach Dick Vermeil said Montgomery, the league's third best running back before this past week's games, should gain 100 yards every game he plays.

Montgomery wasn't ready to go that far.

"Every guy is entitled to his opinion," said the 5-foot-10 Montgomery. "But everybody must execute and create blocks for you to do well."

Montgomery said he hated Monday night games.

"I don't think anybody likes Monday night games. It takes too much out of you. You end up waiting around too long," Montgomery said. "It makes the week (the next week) too short, because you don't get enough time to recover."

In addition to Montgomery, the Eagles' offense had to tip its collective helmet to quarterback Jaworski, who completed 18 of 29 passes for 240 yards and three touchdowns. He ran the team as if it was dictated from a text book.

New York scored first on an opening period 50 yard field goal by Joe Danelo. Jaworski, Montgomery and company then took over.

Jaworski sent the Eagles ahead on that 3-yarder to Montgomery. He then completed a 22-yard pass play to Harold Carmichael, the 115th straight game the wide receiver has caught at least one pass — an NFL record.

Fullback Leroy Harris scored from the 2 and it was 21-3 at halftime. Jaworski passed 12 yards to Charles Smith for a third period score, and Montgomery swept over from the 1 to complete the scoring.

Jenkins Is Back To Active Status

NEW YORK (AP) — Ferguson Jenkins says he doesn't really understand why he was suspended, but he's happy to be back on active status.

The Texas Rangers pitcher was restored to active duty Monday by baseball's permanent arbitrator, University of Kansas law professor Raymond Goetz, who reversed the suspension imposed two weeks ago by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

It was the first time that an action of the commissioner of baseball has been overturned by an arbitrator.

Goetz supported the grievance filed in Jenkins' behalf by the Major League Players Association. He notified the union and management's Player Relations Committee of his position.

Jenkins, when informed of the decision, immediately flew to Minnesota to join his teammates for a series with the Twins.

The pitcher, who was suspended on Sept. 8 after he refused to answer any questions from the Commissioner's security staff following his drug-related arrest in Toronto two weeks earlier, arrived at the stadium in Bloomington, Minn., Monday night after the game had started.

Asked why he felt he was suspended, Jenkins replied, "I haven't figured out yet why he (Kuhn) suspended me. I pitched two games prior to that (after his arrest), and then he suspends me."

"Lee MacPhail (American League president) said it was too much pressure on me to pitch. He really didn't know. It was his assumption."

"I didn't have anything to say (about the suspension), Pat (Corrales, the Rangers' manager) just said I couldn't pitch."

"Bowie Kuhn took it upon himself to suspend me before he had more information. He suspended me, I think, because I didn't answer the questions asked. I'm being prejudged before the actual hearing. I don't know what his logic was."

The Canadian-born pitcher was detained at the Toronto airport after small amounts of cocaine, marijuana and hashish were found during a routine check of his luggage on the Rangers' last trip to Canada on Aug. 24. A court hearing on the case is scheduled for mid-December.

Jenkins was withheld from his scheduled start in Toronto on Aug. 25, but then was returned to the rotation and made two starts for Texas before he was summoned by Kuhn for a hearing in New York. The pitcher was questioned about the drug matter during the hearing, but remained silent on the advice of his attorney. Shortly after that, he was suspended with pay.

Kuhn, reacting to the decision by Goetz, said, "In my judgement, the arbitrator's decision regarding Ferguson Jenkins is wrong. It does a grave disservice, not only to those of us in sports administration, but to concerned parents and citizens everywhere."

The commissioner questioned the arbitrator's argument that Canadian authorities did not view Jenkins' alleged possession of the drugs as serious.

"I totally disagree," Kuhn said. "I believe vast segments of society are outraged that some athletes do not show a greater sense of responsibility to a public that idolizes and imitates them. Whether or not local law enforcement is concerned with this problem, baseball is and must be."

Johnson Is Top Picker

R.B. Johnson of P.O. Box 611, Bethel, is the winner of the second of the ten weekly Daily Reflector Football Contests.

Johnson correctly picked the winners in 30 of the 32 games listed. His victory came thanks to his point total guess, however. His guess of 76 was closest to the actual total of 94 scored in Alabama's 59-35 victory over Mississippi.

Second place went to Ann Blue of 203 Crestwood Dr., Farmville, who also had 30 right, but had a point guess of 75.

Four others also had 30 correct games, but were further off the point total.

The third of the weekly contests appears on the following pages.

Despite 2-1 Lead, Freedom Has Toughest Challenge In Years

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — It is now being called the closest America's Cup series since the U.S. J Class sloop Rainbow defeated England's Endeavor in 1934.

That series went six races, and Rainbow had to rally from a 2-0 deficit to beat Endeavor. Endeavor was built and owned by aircraft pioneer Thomas O.M. Sopwith, and Rainbow was skippered by Harold S. Vanderbilt. It was, of a sort, a battle of titans.

The principles in 1980 are the 12-meter yacht Freedom, skippered by Dennis Conner, a drapery maker from San Diego, and the sloop Australia, sailed by America's Cup veteran Jim Hardy.

Freedom went into today's race leading the best-of-seven series 2-1 but facing perhaps the stiffest challenge since 1970 when Gretel 2 of Australia challenged Intrepid. Gretel 2 apparently had evened that series 1-1 before she was disqualified in the second race for a collision at the start. Intrepid won the next race to lead 3-0, but Gretel 2, skippered by Hardy, came back to win the fourth race before being eliminated.

The Rainbow-Endeavor series has been considered the classic America's Cup battle to this point, however, because the English boat generally was regarded as the faster of the two. It was seamanship and superb tactics that finally enabled Rainbow to emerge victorious.

"There hasn't been a series as closely contested as this one since 1934," says Bob Bavier, skipper of the U.S. cup defender Constellation in 1964.

The first race of the 1980 series went to Freedom by 1 minute, 52 seconds in winds of about 10 knots. Australia was leading by a huge margin when the second race was abandoned because the time limit ran out. When race No.2 was resailed Friday, Australia won by 28 seconds in winds that never went above four knots.

Freedom withstood a protest by Australia to win Sunday's race by a mere 53 seconds in heavier winds.

It generally is conceded that Freedom and Australia are equivalent in boat speed in winds of 8-12 knots. In lighter air, Australia is faster. In heavier air, Freedom is faster.

"The breaking point does seem to be around nine knots," John Marshall, Freedom's sail expert, said. "But that would show me that there is a fundamental problem with their boat. With her rigging, her 'bendy' mast, she should be equal with us up to 15 or 16 knots."

The "bendy" mast was introduced to the America's Cup for the first time this year by the English on their boat Lionheart. After Australia won the right to challenge for the cup, she installed a flexible mast. The mast actually has a fiberglass tip, which allows the mast to bend backward near the top. This allows the boat to carry more sail area near the top.

"It's not really the mast that gives her an advantage," Marshall said. "It's the sail, the sail area. The top part of that sail should, theoretically, increase the boat's speed until it becomes overpowered. That would occur at about 16 knots."

Because of the mast, Australia carries about 200 more square feet of sail than Freedom. Considering that these 12-meter racing sloops carry a sail area of about 2,000 square, the difference is only about one percent. That's not much, but it has helped in very light air.

"We didn't sail with Australia before the first race," Conner said. "All we had heard is that Ted (Turner) had gone out with her for about 20 minutes one day. All we really had to go on was the '77 series' in which Australia lost four straight to Courageous."

"We had heard she had done this to her keel and done this to her rigging, and we knew the bendy rig was the thing of the future," Conner said. "So we had a tremendous amount of respect for them. We were about as scared of them as we could be. I guess. We knew they would be pretty tough."

On The Move

Belmont Abbey Nips Pirates

BELMONT ABBEY — Belmont Abbey College gained a 2-1 overtime soccer victory over East Carolina University yesterday.

The score was tied at 1-1 at the end of regulation play, and two ten-minute overtime periods were played. During the first overtime, it stayed at 1-1. Belmont Abbey then scored the winning goal in the second overtime.

"Steve Brown, our goalie, had a super match," said Pirate Coach Brad Smith. Brown was credited with 16 saves in the match.

East Carolina's only score came in the first half when Mike Lawrence scored on a corner kick with an assist from Walter Schroeder.

The loss dropped the Pirates to 2-6 on the year.

East Carolina next travels to participate in the UNC Charlotte Invitational Tournament on Saturday and Sunday. East Carolina faces UNCC on Saturday and Virginia Commonwealth on Sunday.

The University of North Carolina leads the event with a 293 score, while Campbell is second at 301. The Pirates are in third with a 306, followed closely by UNC-Greensboro at 310, with N.C. State sixth at 311.

Steve Jones led the Pirate scoring with a 74, followed by Don Sweeting at 76, Mike Moye at 78 and Mike Helms at 79. Three golfers are tied for individual honors at 72.

"We figured we would be in the top three or four teams, so we played about as expected," Coach Bob Helmick said. "The weather was just too muggy and miserable for any team to play well."

The event winds up today.

Golfers In Third Place

FAYETTEVILLE — East Carolina University's golfers are in third place after one round of the two-day Methodist College Invitational Golf Tournament at Fayetteville's Cyprus Lakes Golf Course.

The University of North Carolina leads the event with a 293 score, while Campbell is second at 301. The Pirates are in third with a 306, followed closely by UNC-Greensboro at 310, with N.C. State sixth at 311.

Steve Jones led the Pirate scoring with a 74, followed by Don Sweeting at 76, Mike Moye at 78 and Mike Helms at 79. Three golfers are tied for individual honors at 72.

"We figured we would be in the top three or four teams, so we played about as expected," Coach Bob Helmick said. "The weather was just too muggy and miserable for any team to play well."

The event winds up today.

Keep Your Socks Up, Guys, Pete's Watching

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National Football League Commissioner's office apparently believes good football starts at the bottom.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle has imposed a total of $1,000 in fines to Cincinnati Bengals players whose socks sagged during recent steamy hot games at Tampa and Miami.

"It's tedious stuff, just nit-picking," said tight end Dan Ross. "You've got guys trying to take other guys' heads off with illegal shots and they don't fine them. But they fine you if your socks are too high or too low. Next thing you know they'll fine you if you use stickum on your socks and it doesn't conform to team colors."

"In Miami, the guy who reported us was the officials' observer," said Mike Brown, assistant Bengals general manager who passed the fines on to the individual players.

"We wish he had been looking on the fumble by Don Strock. That wasn't called," Brown said referring to an apparent ball loss by the Dolphins quarterback.

Jan Van Duser, NFL director of personnel, said Monday the fines may appear petty. "But the thing was getting out of hand a few years ago. Some teams really had a rag tag look."

Van Duser said the enforcement of uniform standards was stepped up because the league was concerned about the image it conveyed on television.

"Doctors tell us that kids emulate everything they see on television. If a player doesn't wear a hip pad, they won't wear a hip pad. But sure, cosmetics is a part of it too," Van Duser said.

Linebacker Glenn Cameron wrote a protest letter to Rozelle after he was fined $100.

"We as players don't have the time or energy to spend worrying about our dress during a game. To be expected to check and see if our socks may have slipped or our shirt tails are out is ridiculous," Cameron wrote.

"I would also like to point out to those who never played this game that it gets hot in those uniforms during September, and especially in Miami. Many of our players do not tape their socks in this month due to the excessive heat and the possibility of cramping in the legs."

Cameron said he didn't expect the letter would accomplish much.

"I don't know what will happen but everyone works too hard for money these days for anyone to take it away for something like this," Cameron said.

Nebraska Makes Move, Climbs To Third Place

By The Associated Press

While Alabama and Ohio State remained solidly entrenched at the top of the Associated Press college football poll, Nebraska's Cornhuskers began to make serious inroads in the rankings.

Nebraska, which clobbered Iowa 57-0 last Saturday, moved all the way from sixth place to the No.3 spot.

Alabama, a 59-35 winner over Mississippi, continued in the No.1 spot, drawing 34 first-place votes and 1,215 of a possible 1,260 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Ohio State's Buckeyes rolled over Minnesota 47-0 and held tightly to the No.2 ranking with 26 first-place ballots and 1,183 points.

Alabama and Ohio State each polled 30 first-place votes a week ago, but the Crimson Tide led the rankings in total points, 1,232-1,216.

Nebraska got two first-place votes — their first of the season — and came up with 1,053 points to move past Oklahoma, Southern California and Pittsburgh.

Oklahoma, which did not play last weekend, fell from third to fourth with 1,018 points, while Southern California dropped from fourth to fifth despite knocking South Carolina out of the Top Twenty with a 23-13 triumph. The Trojans got 999 points.

Pittsburgh dunked Kansas 18-3 and got the only other first-place vote, but fell from fifth to sixth with 913 points.

Texas, Notre Dame, Florida State and Georgia filled out the first 10, just as they did a week ago. Texas polled 902 points, while the other three drew 835, 770 and 718 points, respectively.

Texas ripped Utah State 35-17; Notre Dame nipped Michigan 29-27; Florida State whipped East Carolina 63-7, and Georgia slipped past Clemson 20-16.

Penn State heads the Second Ten, followed by Missouri, Washington, North Carolina, Arkansas, UCLA, Michigan, Auburn, Maryland and Arizona State.

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL INDEX

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Freak Play Preserves John's 22nd Win, Helps Yankees Past Indians

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Rich Gossage's 31st save of the season protected Tommy John's career-high 22nd victory, both of which were greatly assisted by Toby Harrah's first save of sorts. And Harrah plays for the other team.

With Cleveland threatening to tie the game in the ninth with Harrah on third base, Harrah was hit by pinch hitter Ron Hassey's line drive for the final out of the game, preserving the New York Yankees' 4-3 victory over the Indians Monday night.

"I've been in the game a long time," said Cleveland Manager Dave Garcia, "and I can truthfully say I've never seen anything like that. It was just a freak thing."

It was the kind of freak thing that goes in your favor when you're going good, and the New York Yankees are going better than anybody else. Their record in September is 18-4.

The victory, combining with Baltimore's 5-3 loss to Boston, increased the Yankees' lead to five game over the Orioles in the American League East. Any combination of Yankee wins and Oriole losses adding to eight assures New York of its fourth division crown in five years. Both clubs have 12 games left.

The Yankees, who didn't touch Cleveland starter Len Barker for a hit until two outs in the sixth, had gone ahead 4-2 with three runs in the eighth on two walks, a bad hop double and a bouncing single by Bob Watson. Gossage came in for the ninth, an entry which has meant peace of mind for the Yankee pitching staff this summer.

In Gossage's previous 18 appearances over 282-3 innings, the hard-throwing right-hander hadn't surrendered a run. But Jack Brohamer's pinch-single, a walk, sacrifice and Rick Manning's RBI-grounder snapped Gossage's string and put the tying run on third.

Red Sox 5, Orioles 3
Tony Perez was in the middle of many pennant races

when he played for Cincinnati and Montreal. This season with Boston, he can only play spoiler in September. He was pivotal in damaging Baltimore's pennant hopes Monday night.

Perez had a single, a double and a homer, his 22nd and first in six weeks, which keyed a three-run rally in the seventh as the Red Sox defeated the Orioles.

It was the first time since July 19 that the Orioles had taken a lead into the seventh and not won a game, ending a streak of 32 straight under those conditions.

"I've been chasing a lot of bad pitches," Perez said. "I haven't been worrying about hitting homers, I've been worrying about getting hits."

In five games at Memorial Stadium this season, Perez has gone 10-for-19, with three homers and eight RBI. Overall against the Orioles, he is 12-for-27.

Perez also stole his first base in the AL, the 48th of his career, when Dwight Evans failed to make connection on a hit-and-run play and catcher Rick Dempsey threw wildly to second.

Mariners 5, Royals 4
George Brett's ninth homer tied the game and both teams scored a run in the 10th, but Willie Horton's single in the 11th scored Bruce Bochte to allow Seattle to win a cliff-hanger.

Brett's solo homer, his 21st of the season, was just the Kansas City star's second hit in his last 14 at bats, both homers. Brett was 1-for-4, with a walk, and is now hitting .393 in his quest to become the first 400 hitter since 1941.

Angels 3, Brewers 3
Before long-term contracts, the Angels' September surge would have been called a salary drive. Now, California Manager Jim Fregosi calls it a healthy streak.

"The reason we've been playing well lately is that I've finally got my injured players back," said Fregosi after Bob Clark scored the tying run and knocked in the winning run

Cards Have Grown To Regret Trading Away Steve Carlton

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Steve Carlton trade — now, that's one that the St. Louis Cardinals have lived to regret.

Talk about coming back to haunt your team, Carlton has been a continuous nightmare for the Cardinals since they swapped him to the Philadelphia Phillies for Rick Wise eight years ago.

The left-hander has a mountainous 29-8 record against St. Louis — more victories than any Cardinal southpaw has totaled in that time — including Monday night's 3-2, 10-inning triumph with Tug McGraw's last-inning relief help.

"I don't think there's a more powerful pitcher around today," said Phillies Manager Dallas Green of Carlton, now 23-8. "It was a super effort in a real clutch game."

The Phillies' top pitcher led their charge into first place in the National League East. The Montreal Expos, 4-2 losers to the Pittsburgh Pirates, dropped into second place, a half-game off the pace.

"We've worked hard all year to get here and we're tickled to death to be here," said Green. "We fell all along that we belong here."

Pirates 4, Expos 2
Mike Easler smacked a two-run homer and Dave Parker doubled home two runs, leading Pittsburgh over Montreal. The victory, Pittsburgh's 12th in 17 meetings with the Expos this season, left the third-place Pirates 3 1/2 games behind Philadelphia.

Parker's two-run double off Scott Sanderson, 15-10, gave Pittsburgh a 2-0 lead in the third inning. After the Expos scored in the seventh on Warren Cromartie's sacrifice fly, the Pirates made it 4-1 on Easler's blast in the bottom of the inning.

Jim Bibby, 18-5, was the winner.

Astros 4, Padres 2
Joe Morgan and Cesar Cedeno homered to power Joe Niekro to his 17th victory of the season as Houston beat San Diego and improved its lead in the NL West to two games over Los Angeles.

Niekro, 17-12, allowed just two unearned runs on four hits while walking three and striking out three en route to his 10th complete game of the season.

Loser Bob Shirley, 11-11, was tagged for four runs on seven hits through six innings. The loss snapped a 10-game Padre winning streak at San Diego Stadium.

Brewers 7, Dodgers 2
Gary Matthews and Bob Horner slugged two-run homers and Chris Chambliss had four hits and two RBI to lead Atlanta over Los Angeles.

Preston Hanna, 2-0, hurled five scoreless innings for the Braves to earn the victory with relief help from Rick Camp, who picked up his 19th save. Don Sutton, 12-5, took the loss.

"Human nature has to place the blame somewhere," said Sutton. "Tonight I just didn't give us a chance to win. I made a couple of pitches I didn't want to make, and without them we had a chance at a win."

Giants 7, Reds 3
Rich Murray drove in two runs, including the game-winning in the fifth inning, as San Francisco defeated Cincinnati.

The Giants scored the winning run in the fifth when Terry Whitfield singled and took second when Guy Sularz walked. Murray singled to drive in Whitfield, giving the Giants a 4-3 lead at that point.

They added three runs in the eighth on RBI-singles by Larry Herndon, Milt May and Whitfield.

Alan Ripley, 8-9, was the winner with relief help from Gary Lavelle.

Cubs 3, Mets 2
Pinch hitter Jesus Figueroa drilled a two-out RBI-single in the sixth inning to lead Chicago over New York.

Figueroa's hit came off Dyar Miller, 1-2, the third New York pitcher. Bill Caudill got the victory for the Cubs, raising his record to 3-5 and Bruce Sutter picked up his 27th save, his first since August 16.

Virtue deserves to be rewarded. At the bridge table, virtue appears in the guise of proper technique. Six spades, an excellent contract, was reached on a thoughtful auction. Once South showed a spade suit, only a jump shift did full justice to North's hand. South recognized the importance of his good trumps and wealth of controls, so he made a slam try by bidding one over game. That was all the encouragement North needed. West led the top of his heart sequence and declarer won in dummy. He cashed the high clubs, crossed to his hand with a diamond and ruffed a club. Next came a diamond to the ace. Unfortunately, West ruffed, and declarer was left with a diamond loser and nowhere to put it. Declarer was something less than virtuous in handling his assets. The high trumps in dummy should have alerted him to the possibility of a dummy reversal. That line of play would succeed as long as hearts split no worse than 5-2, a highly likely proposition. After a heart lead, declarer can keep his virtue intact by taking both high hearts. When East and West follow to these two tricks, the contract is assured against anything but 5-0 trumps. Declarer ruffs a heart with the king, gets back to dummy with the eight of trumps and ruffs dummy's last heart with the ace of trumps. Now declarer simply overtakes the jack of trumps and draws the last two trumps. On the last trump, technique reaps an unexpected bonus, for East is placed in a hopeless position. He must hold three diamonds to guard against establishing declarer's third diamond, so

'Shogun' Could Reverse Rating Trend At NBC

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fred Silverman's very own television season has found the legitimizing it needed — "Shogun," a bona fide, runaway hit that may actually bring about The Miracle at NBC.

They'll talk about it for years, the way baseball fans speak reverently of the 1914 Miracle Braves of Boston, who came from last place to win the National League pennant.

Silverman's ambition seemed even less attainable. The first 18 months of his NBC presidency has seemed like an effort to shrink the legend of Fred Silverman, Superprogrammer. Yet, he boldly predicted that NBC would be No. 1 by this Christmas.

Some considered Silverman's show of bravado merely a smokescreen meant to keep his RCA bosses from thinking about the bleak present. Silverman was fighting for his job. Then NBC lost the Moscow Olympics, and the pipe dream seemed dead.

But Silverman got lucky. Actors went on strike, leaving all three networks, in essence, on even terms. And Silverman, thinking on his feet, moved quickly to create a "revised fall schedule," meant to suggest the illusion of a real season.

"Shogun," an expensive miniseries of unknown potential, was the cornerstone of Silverman's plan. There were those at NBC who questioned Silverman's decision to "waste" "Shogun" last week, when the other two networks were saying there was no season.

Silverman gambled, and won. "Shogun" overcame its idiosyncracies — namely, overlength and a considerable amount of untranslated Japanese — and became a sweeping hit. Viewers proved Silverman right. They did want a new season. "Shogun," the five-part, 12-hour miniseries based on James Clavell's novel, represented a new season.

Viewers repaid Silverman by watching the thing in droves. They bought sake and paperback editions of Clavell's fat novel and made "Shogun" a television phenomenon along the lines of "Roots."

"Shogun" won't match "Roots" in ratings numbers, but it was easily the network's all-time entertainment winner. Complete national ratings were not yet compiled Monday, but overnight ratings from Chicago, New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco showed that well more than half the viewers watching television in those cities were watching "Shogun."

TELEVISION'S TOP NURSE — Florida-born Susan Pratt O'Hanlon plays the role of nurse Anne Logan on TV's "General Hospital," the number one Nielsen-rated national daytime series. During her early years she spent her time training for the equestrian events in the 1980 Moscow Summer Olympics; but gave this up for modeling and acting. Following many guest roles on TV shows she landed the part in "General Hospital", and has starred on the show for two years. (AP Laserphoto)

Visit Home By Hope

Viewing dropped somewhat on Friday, perhaps due to the Jewish holiday or even viewer fatigue. But "Shogun" was a winner, a big winner.

Silverman grabbed the opportunity to use "Shogun" as a momentum-builder. He heavily promoted upcoming NBC programs, such as the currently running "Centennial" reprise and the season premiere of "Little House on the Prairie."

"Shogun" succeeded in cementing the perception that no matter what the other guys were doing, NBC was delivering a fall season. NBC has a heavy load of big movies on hand, and the World Series in a few weeks (Silverman's got to be praying for Dodgers-Yankees).

Even if the actors' strike ended this week, it would be December before the networks got full delivery of their ordered series. By then, Silverman may well have his miracle accomplished.

'Dr. Johnny Fever' Has Low Opinion Of Television; Dislikes His Series

CINCINNATI (AP) — Actor Howard Hesseman, alias Dr. Johnny Fever of "WKRP in Cincinnati" sounds like he's in the wrong business.

"I'm trying to remember if I owe any rent," the 77-year-old comedian said as he visited 44 Craigton Road on Monday and had tea with its residents, pensioner John Ching, 78, and his wife, Florence, 73.

Hope tried to visit the house five years ago, but ended up knocking on the wrong door.

"I didn't remember it all," he confessed. "The houses are so close together it's difficult to tell which was mine. My father was confused by that. He was always going to the wrong house. Mind you, he had a lot of fun..."

Hope is in London for the 21st Bob Hope pro-am golf tournament to raise money for the Stars Organization for Spastics, a charity, and the Eltham Little Theater, which he also visited.

Hope, who left Britain at the age of 4, said he emigrated "because I found out I didn't have much chance of becoming king."

Talent Hunt By Ad Agencies

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Not only the movies are casting directors.

Advertising agencies also need casting directors to get the right people for television commercials.

Joseph P. Hogan, president of an ad agency here, which recently created a 30-second commercial for Cabin Crafts Carpets, said "of the nine people in the rug commercial, only three were professional talents. No one really knows what a rug salesman should look like, so we need casting directors to guess."

Ustinov To Sue If Tour Dropped

TORONTO (AP) — Though he looks down his nose at court fights, actor Peter Ustinov says he'll sue the Stratford Festival for breach of contract if it cancels the London tour of "King Lear," in which he stars.

"I'm giving them 48 hours to change their minds. Otherwise, I shall be forced into taking legal steps — the most sterile activity on God's earth," Ustinov said.

The festival's board of governors on Friday canceled plans to take "King Lear" and "Virginia," a play starring Maggie Smith, to London. They cited casting and contractual difficulties with the Lear production.

Ustinov said Saturday his appearance at Stratford this year had been contingent on the London tour.

Longest Fire Jump At Theater

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joe Gilbride made the longest fire jump in the history of the movie industry to promote the opening of "The Stunt Man" at a theater in Westwood.

Gilbride, clad in a burning protective suit, leaped from the top of a crane 100 feet above the street. He landed on an inflatable bag used in stunt work.

The movie stars Steve Railsback, Peter O'Toole and Barbara Hershey.

Wife Avers Jenrette A Big Drinker

By LARRY MARGASAK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)

John Jenrette, an alcoholic who was sober only a few hours a day, drank a fifth of liquor daily last winter, when FBI recordings show the congressman was holding bribery discussions with Abscam undercover agents, his wife says.

Rita Jenrette, testifying at her husband's bribery trial Monday, also said she secretly taped the visit of two FBI agents to the Jenrette home in February when the agents told Jenrette they were actually working for the FBI instead of representing two Arab sheiks.

Last December and January, during the Abscam investigation of the South Carolina Democrat, her husband was sober only when he awoke in the morning, she said.

"What was his consumption in 1979?" defense lawyer Kenneth M. Robinson asked.

"A fifth a day. He might have had more," she said.

Robinson, who was calling additional witnesses today, has said one of his defenses against the bribery charges is Jenrette's alcoholism. Jenrette has since participated in an alcohol rehabilitation program and no longer drinks, she said.

FBI video and audio tapes show Jenrette discussed a bribe with an FBI undercover agent last Dec. 4 and again Jan. 7. On Dec. 6, a videotape shows Jenrette's co-defendant, Richmond, Va., businessman John R. Stowe, picking up a $50,000 cash payoff. An audio tape shows that Jenrette called the agent on Dec. 6 to say he received the money.

A federal grand jury has charged that Jenrette and Stowe split a $50,000 payoff in return for Jenrette's promise to introduce legislation to let two wealthy Arabs live in the United States. In fact, the Arabs were phony — creations of FBI undercover agents.

In December and January, Mrs. Jenrette said, her husband sometimes became so drunk at work that his administrative assistant would call and "I would come and get him."

Last Christmas eve, Mrs. Jenrette told the U.S. District Court jury, she and her husband were supposed to visit relatives. She found him at midnight, alone and drunk, in his congressional office.

Mrs. Jenrette said he sometimes blacked out and was unable to remember his activities while he was drunk. For example, she said, once he went to sleep intoxicated on a Monday, voted Tuesday in the House and came home drunk again Tuesday night. Wednesday morning, he accused her of letting him sleep straight through from Monday to Wednesday.

Jenrette, 44, looked downcast as his wife testified, sometimes resting his face on his hands. When she finished, he blew her a kiss.

Mrs. Jenrette told the jury that she did some secret taping of her own when two FBI agents arrived at her home Feb. 2 to tell Jenrette they were actually working for the FBI.

Robinson then played Mrs. Jenrette's tape and she listened to herself angrily tell the agents that they "set up" her husband.

When the tape was finished, Mrs. Jenrette, in a combative voice, told prosecutor John Kotely that the FBI "did set my husband up." She denied, in response to Kotely's question, that she was acting when she shouted at the agents, knowing all the while that her tape recorder was rolling.

During the recording, Jenrette, usually slurring his words, acknowledged to the agents that he had meetings with "Tony DeVito," the name used by undercover agent Anthony Amoroso, and FBI informant Melvin Weinberg.

Carter Visiting N.C. October 9

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — President Carter will make a campaign appearance in Winston-Salem on Oct. 9, Gov. Jim Hunt said Monday in disclosing that plans for a presidential swing into eastern North Carolina have been dropped.

Hunt said Carter probably would not return to North Carolina before the Nov. 4 general election.

This trip, Hunt said, is "an indication that the president thinks North Carolina is very important and he's putting a high priority on this state."

Wallace N. Hyde, chairman of the Carter campaign in the state, said he was more optimistic of a second appearance by the president. "I'd say the chances for that are 50-50," he said.

Until recently, Carter campaign officials had indicated the president probably would campaign personally in eastern North Carolina, probably in Greenville. That was especially the case, they indicated, if he elected to make only one trip to North Carolina.

Hyde said, however, new polls showed that Carter's strength in the east was holding while there was some erosion in the Piedmont.

WHY YOU CAN FIND THE CLOTHES ON THE RIGHT FOR LESS THAN THE CLOTHES ON THE LEFT.

The merchandise on the left can be bought in Raleigh. The clothes cost $200.00, plus the gas money it takes to drive there and back. The merchandise on the right can be bought locally. The clothes still cost $200.00, but the money spent on transportation will be a lot less.

You'll find what you want nearby—and you can use that left over gas money for something extra. That's why THE DAILY REFLECTOR puts advertisements from local shopping places first.
