Iraq Raids Point To Possible New Drive

By STEVE K. HINDY
Associated Press Writer
BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi jets today strafed fuel depots and the television station in the Iranian refining center of Abadan, a military communique here said, in possible preparation for a thrust deeper into the oil-rich sector of Iran.

Western correspondents reported Iraq's capture of the port area of Khorramshahr, Iran's chief port a few miles north of Abadan. Both are on the disputed Shatt al-Arab border waterway.

The Iraqis claimed 29 Iraqis killed and six wounded in fighting Monday along the 300-mile invasion front. The Iraqis put their own casualties at seven dead and 16 wounded.

The Baghdad communique said the Iraq raid left the Abadan fuel depots in flames. It also said a satellite ground station in Asadabad, 200 miles west of Tehran; an airfield in the army garrison town of Dezful, and a silo, railway station and fuel depots in the neighboring town of Andimeshk were hit. The communique also said Iranian warplanes raided civilians targets in Kirkuk and Penjuin, in Iraq's Sulaimaniya province, leaving two civilians dead and nine wounded.

An Iranian communique said two Iraqi planes were shot down by anti-aircraft defenses around Abadan. Iran claimed bringing down 10 Iraqi warplanes and killing 80 Iraqi soldiers in Monday's fighting. Iraq claimed to have shot down two Iranian bombers and a helicopter and destroyed five tanks and three armored troop carriers.

Iraq's air force attacked Tehran, the Iranian capital, on three sides Monday, and there was an unconfirmed report that the local oil refinery was hit, the official Iranian news agency Pars said. Tehran Radio said the raiders killed four people, wounded 60 and damaged a factory and the airport.

Meanwhile, Jordan's King Hussein became the first Arab chief of state to declare open, concrete support for Arab Iraq in the 16-day-old war. He ordered mobilization of all transport vehicles to carry food and supplies to the Iraqi army, was reported lending bases to the Iraqi air force and in a broadcast urged all Arab nations to support the Iraqis against the non-Arab Persians of Iran "because a victory for Iraq will be a victory for all Arabs."

A Kuwait newspaper reported Jordan has massed 40,000 troops on its border with Iraq, awaiting word to join the battle against Iran. There was no immediate comment from Jordan.

Sources in Beirut said the Soviet Union, Iraq's chief supplier of arms, was shipping ammunition, spare parts and other war materiel to its ally via the Jordanian port of Aqaba. The sources said the shipments were coming from Soviet stockpiles in South Yemen and Ethiopia.

Syria became the first Arab country to criticize Iraq publicly. The official newspaper of the ruling Socialist Baath Party said Iraq launched the war on orders from the United States to divert attention from the Arabs' struggle with Israel.

Iran continued to deny the reports of decisive Iraqi advances in Khorramshahr, one of the chief targets of Iraq's drive to control the adjacent Shatt al-Arab estuary. It said its forces remained "in full control" of the city.

But Western reporters who visited there Monday reported the Iraqis in firm control of the vital port area. They said Iranian artillery fire could no longer reach the port and the only Iraqis still fighting in the city were small pockets of snipers.

Now Eligible To Vote

REGISTRATION DEADLINE — on Monday resulted in lengthy lines at the Pitt Board of Elections office here. Margaret Register, elections supervisor, said her office handled 295 new registrations Monday and 100 changes, such as addresses, were made as residents met voter eligibility requirements for the November general elections. Lines also formed at the office on Thursday, Friday and Saturday as extended registration hours were observed, Miss Register reported, and activity was also brisk at Sheppard Memorial Library and other branches that served as registration sites. The updated list of registrants is being prepared by the elections office. (Reflector Staff Photo)

City's Street Funds

Greenville will receive $414,982 from the N.C. Department of Transportation as its share of Powell Bill funds for fiscal year 1981, it was announced by Transportation Secretary Tom Bradshaw.

The secretary reported that the Greenville total is part of the $32.6 million in checks mailed to 458 municipalities in the state for local street construction and maintenance under the Powell Bill.

According to Bradshaw, Powell Bill allocations are made on a legislative formula based 75 percent on a community's population and 25 percent on its local street mileage. Estimated population for Greenville under the formula was 36,271, while the number of certified non-system miles here was set at 129.63.

The population increment for Greenville amounted to $328,237 of the total, while the mileage increment totaled $86,744.

Total Powell Bill allocations for other Pitt communities included: Farmville, $67,373; Ayden, $58,466; Grifton (Pitt and Lenoir Counties share), $32,069; Winterville, $29,978; Bethel, $25,672; Fountain, $6,505; Simpson, $5,863; Grimesland, $5,711; and Falkland, $1,233.

Bradshaw said that the largest single check of $4,013,228 went to Charlotte, while the smallest check of $846 was mailed to Caswell Beach in Brunswick County.

Tobacco Auctions Will Be Halted To Ease Backlog

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Flue-cured tobacco auctions will be halted next week to allow dealers and exporters to clear up a backlog of leaf that some industry spokesmen say has helped depress prices in recent days.

The holiday, coupled with observance of Columbus Day on Monday, will halt all sales in the five states in which auctions are held. Auctions are scheduled to resume Oct. 20. It is the first such holiday for tobacco auctions since 1973. In recent years, the warehouse designation system — by which growers say in advance where they plan to sell their leaf — has helped keep down stockpiles as dealers knew in advance how much tobacco could be expected from any given area. Receipts of tobacco by the Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corp., the grower cooperative that administers the price support program, doubled last week as price averages fell from $2 to $7 per hundred pounds.

Arthur L. Jackson, manager of accounting for Stabilization, said the week's heavy run of leaf ballooned on-hand stocks by 10 million pounds. Jackson said the cooperative probably would receive between 15 million and 18 million pounds of tobacco from this week's sales.

Under the price support program, leaf that is not sold for more than the price support for that particular grade is taken in by Stabilization for resale at a later date. The grower is paid immediately at the support level.

A spokesman for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which called the holiday for next week, said the action was taken after five major tobacco buying companies and exporters requested a halt. The USDA polled members of the 37-member Flue-Cured Tobacco Advisory Committee before calling the holiday.

Companies requesting the halt to sales were Universal Tobacco Co. of Richmond, Va.; Dibrell Tobacco Co. of Danville, Va.; Thorpe-Greenville Export Tobacco Co. of Rocky Mount; Piedmont Leaf Tobacco Co. of Winston-Salem and W.A. Adams Tobacco Co. of Oxford.

"When you get to the point that a major company like Universal has more tobacco than (it) can handle, it'll stop buying," said John H. Cyrus, chief of tobacco affairs in the North Carolina Department of Agriculture.

"If there's such a backlog of tobacco on the floor that the buying companies are going to have to pull back on their buying, it's better to stop the sale."

Companies requesting the halt to sales were Universal Tobacco Co. of Richmond,

Aycock Athletic Field Facility Is Offered By Club

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

A proposal by members of the Athletics Booster Club to construct toilet facilities on the athletic field at Aycock Junior High was presented at the meeting of the Greenville City School Board Monday night. The proposal will be acted on at the October 20 action meeting of the board.

Superintendent Glenn Cox revealed that in a letter of September 17 from Booster Club president Tommy Little, members of the club have voted to make the project their principal one to be undertaken this year by the Rose-Aycock Foundation.

Cox explained the facilities will be designed to fit in with any later improvement of the field, and will be located north of the present bleachers, between the bleachers and the wooded area behind. Cox added the toilet facilities will meet all construction requirements and building codes. The toilets will be paid for by the Booster Club, with no cost to the school system.

Another discussion coming before the board was that of a request that air conditioning at Rose High School be considered.

Mrs. Jean Rogers-Yorke, acting as spokesman for a group of concerned parents, teachers and students, presented the request which calls for action to air condition approximately 32 classrooms and the library at Rose High, the areas not now air conditioned.

In letters to Cox, Mrs. Rogers-Yorke noted that the two companies involved in providing estimates do not constitute recommendations by the interested group of any particular company. The two companies — Wilson Rhodes Electrical Contractors, and Carolina Sales, provided information without cost to the group.

Wilson Rhodes reported on details of work that would be involved, equipment required, and approximate costs to air condition the classrooms and library in the main building and outlying buildings at Rose that are not air-conditioned. The request presented does not include air conditioning for the gymnasium, the cafeteria or the hallways.

The total number of air conditioners required would be 107, at an estimated cost of $36,451, based on figures provided by Carolina Sales. Estimates of other expenses

Informal Open House Set For University Towers Project

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

An informal open house at the Housing Authority's newly occupied University Towers mid-rise for the elderly here has been planned for Friday, Oct. 17, it was reported at Monday night's meeting.

Housing commissioners agreed with Joe Laney, executive director, that the open house should be as informal as possible, with a minimum of speeches. The general public will be invited to attend the 11 a.m. activities, as will a representative of the Department of Housing and Urban Development and Greenville area officials, including the mayor, city council and Rep. Walter Jones.

Laney said that it is hoped that the new residents of University Towers, a 60-unit facility designed and built for senior citizens of low and moderate income, will serve as hostesses for the open house to give visitors a look at the facility.

According to Laney, the five-story structure, which has six units on the first floor designed specifically for handicapped residents, was fully occupied by Sept. 1. He pointed out that tenants "seem pleased with the facility."

Average rent paid in September at University Towers was $82, the executive director added.

Laney reported that Garris-Evans Lumber Co. has expressed an interest in expanding a storage facility on Ridgeway Street behind the Newtown housing development and has asked that the authority consider declaring a 50-foot section of Newtown property as excess.

Commissioners agreed that sale of the section would not adversely affect the housing development, other than place the storage facility 50 feet closer to the project. The tract would have to be rezoned for the Garris-Evans expansion, Laney explained, and zoning regulations would require that a screen or foliage buffer be placed between the facility and housing units.

The board members voted to declare the property as excess to project needs, subject to rezoning approval by the city and concurrence by HUD. The property would then be appraised and advertised for bids. In other business, Laney reported that 51 of the 77 units of housing authorized for Greenville under the Section Eight existing housing program have been leased and five others are now being processed.

The Authority is awaiting word from HUD on the execution of the annual contributions contract for the Section Eight moderate rehabilitation housing program here. Some 75 units have been authorized for the city under the program, Laney said, noting that several local property owners have expressed an interest in bringing rental units up to standard under the Section Eight format.

Women's Council Planning Step To Pool Resources And Efforts

Jean Darden, chairman of the Pitt County Council on the Status of Women told county commissioners yesterday that the council will spearhead a program, "NETWORK: Women" in an effort to let women's groups in the county know what other groups are doing so they can pool resources and effort, rather than duplicate activities.

Ms. Darden said the initial meeting of women interested in the network concept was held September 23. The next session is scheduled for October 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Ms. Mary L. Louis.

The council chairman told commissioners of a number of concerns voiced by women attending the September meeting and as voiced in a survey.

Some of those concerns included: lack of communication between county and municipal officials and the public; lack of county-wide transportation; employment rights; affordable and qualified childcare; affordable housing; recreation for single women; available jobs for women, especially in managerial positions; leadership appointments to boards and groups throughout the county for women; personal and family health affairs; and a talent bank.

Ms. Darden said possibly the greatest concern was the lack information about county and city facilities and what governing boards are doing about the various concerns the women voiced.

In other business yesterday, commissioners set a 15 mile per hour speed limit on the road between the new county office building and the Pitt County Health Department; agreed to give further study to a request by the Pitt County Humane Society for appointment of an animal cruelty investigator; heard a report from the tax collector's office that collections through the month of September are running $331,000 behind the same period last year; and endorsed, with reservations, the Greenville 201 Wastewater Facilities Plan as recommended by the Pitt County Planning Board.

In endorsing the 201 facilities plan, commissioners, just as the Planning Board had, recommended that the proposed sewer service area should be extended further west along the Stantonsburg Road, further south on N.C. 43, and further east on N.C. 33 to serve additional development in those areas.

The recommendations also suggested earlier construction of several collector and interceptor lines than proposed in the Greenville Utilities Commission plan.

Although called the Greenville 201 Wastewater Facilities Plan, the planning area extends from Grindle Creek on the north to D. H. Conley High School on the south, and from the Voice of America site west of the city to Simpson on the east — nearly a fourth of the county's land area and 54 percent of its population.

— provided by Wilson Rhodes, are: electrical materials and labor for installation, $69,559; pick-up, delivery, and materials for installation of window units, $8,585; and pole and line work including transformer and replacement of exchange, $5,850.

Altogether, the total estimated cost of the air conditioning project would come to $120,455.

Rhodes noted that this figure is about one third what the cost would be for any project to be undertaken for a central air conditioning system, which would entail major construction and reconstruction. He also added that the large number of window units — 107 — was recommended because it is considered preferable to have two and three smaller units for each room rather than one larger unit, primarily because of the noise factor in larger units.

Mrs. Rogers-Yorke reported that fund raising efforts undertaken by the interested group has resulted in a firm commitment of over $5,000 and that it is estimated the group can raise between $8,000 and $12,000.

In response to the request, Cox emphasized that while the interest and the work of the group is a worthy undertaking, that available funds in capital outlay at the time — between $35 and $40 thousand — does not permit favorable consideration of the request. Board members also added that the matter of funds to cover increased utility costs would have to be considered.

Board member Mrs. Terry Shank further noted that other schools have similar problems. "We have been committed for years to air conditioning, at Aycock, for example, which has no windows. We need to look at all the air conditioning problems in all the schools and to come up with priorities."

"We are," she added, "deeply indebted to people like you who have committed themselves in their concern for our students."

In a discussion on long range plans for the Greenville City Schools, Cox outlined a calendar of progressive steps to lead to firming up long range plans for the board to consider for approval next March. This calls for accumulation of ideas by school staff and board members, and input from the public during October and November; consolidation of such information during December and January; a board review and developing of budget items during February; to be followed by board approval of long range plans in March.

Five members of the school board plan to attend the annual convention of State School Boards to be held in Asheville November 13-15. Those planning to attend are Ernest Brown, Mrs. Lena Brown, Mrs. Nancy Middleton, Mrs. Sue Zadeits, and Donovan Phillips. The board approved a motion to have the five select the two who will be official voting delegates for the board.

In a report on the status of students who have been immunized, it was shown that 98.15 percent of all kindergarten and first grade students have required immunizations. The 13 students who do not have all the required shots will, under state law, not be permitted to remain in school until they meet the requirements.

Cox made a report on test taking training now being given to 96 Rose High students who have requested this service. The training is being conducted in five sessions from 8 to 8:35 a.m. with teachers volunteering their free time to help the students in understanding the mechanics of taking various qualifying tests which are administered during the school year.

L. Felix Joyner, UNC vice president for finance, said proposed spending for desegregation had been incorporated in other categories. The university system currently is faced with a threatened cutoff of nearly $100 million in federal funds as a result of alleged failure to desegregate its 16 campuses.

The budget, which must be approved by the Legislature, calls for expenditures of $383 million dollars for capital improvements and $88 million for 10 percent cost-of-living pay increases for employees during 1981-83.

Joyner said the capital improvements proposal is 204 percent higher than the university requested for 1979-81. He said it represents long-range needs and includes top building and renovation priorities at all campuses.

About $155.5 million would go for new facilities, including $32.1 million for buildings at the system's five traditionally black campuses.

The budget proposal includes: — $18.6 million for a general classroom building at East Carolina University.

Anderson, a Greenville native, was employed by the city in 1968. He worked within the division as a collector, truck driver, and route supervisor prior to his appointment in 1977 as assistant sanitation superintendent. He attended C. M. Eppes High School.

As sanitation superintendent, Anderson will manage some 70 employees and over 20 vehicles and be responsible for backyard refuse collection, front yard trash pickup, business refuse collection, street sweeping, litter patrol, and mosquito and rodent control.

County Gets Bank Loans

DETROIT (AP) — A $20 million loan from two Detroit banks to Wayne County will mean an end to payless paydays for workers in the county's third most populous county, county officials said.

"It's a definite load off our mind," Richard Kelly, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Auditors, said Monday.

Kelly said the county will borrow the money by selling $15 million in tax anticipation notes to the National Bank of Detroit and $5 million to Detroit Bank & Trust. The agreement was reached Monday.

The notes, pegged at a 9 percent interest rate, must be repaid by Jan. 31 using property tax revenue.

The county, which faces a projected budget deficit of nearly $20 million by the end of its fiscal year Nov. 30, won permission from the state Municipal Finance Commission to issue the notes several weeks ago.

Eugene Norey, an assistant vice president of Detroit Bank & Trust, said the bank made the loan as "a civic gesture," but added the bank also considered the notes a sound investment.

Kelly said the loans will allow the county to pay its 5,400 employees on time starting Friday. The county has failed to meet its payroll on time for four weeks in a row. Employees have been forced to wait for their paychecks until money became available the following week.

Does His Duty, Closes Brothel

By TENA ANDERSEN Associated Press Writer DEADWOOD, S.D. (AP) — Circuit Judge R. E. Brandenburg said he didn't see much harm in keeping Deadwood's historic brothels open, but he had "a job to do" and closed them permanently.

He expects "a little static on the golf course on Sunday" since his decision Monday is bound to be unpopular with some Deadwood citizens who believe the four brothels helped the town maintain its Wild West flavor.

The brothels had been operating for more than 100 years even though prostitution is illegal in South Dakota. Deadwood citizens tolerated their well-known bawdy houses and even credited them with boosting the town's economy, which relies heavily on tourism.

Brandenburg granted a state request to declare three of the brothels a public nuisance and close them permanently. A hearing on the fourth brothel is set for Thursday.

The brothels have been padlocked since they were raided by local, state and federal law enforcement officers in May.

Brandenburg said he thought that closing the brothels was a bit pointless. "You can pick up a girl in a bar and take her home and nothing is said," Brandenburg said. "But you walk up 26 steps and pay 20 bucks and it's a big deal. That's not up to me. I've got a job to do."

"As far as I'm concerned, the state has proven its case and the permanent injunction will apply," Brandenburg said.

The state called several police officers as witnesses and played a videotape of Pam Holliday's appearance Wednesday on the NBC's "Tomorrow" show. In the 15-minute interview, Ms.

Holliday, the self-described madam of Pam's Purple Door, defended the brothels' place in the community.

The town's four brothels operated side-by-side on the second floor of antique, false-front buildings on Deadwood's historic Main Street. Down the street is the saloon where Wild Bill Hickock was shot to death during a card game.

Following the May raid, about a dozen prostitutes were granted immunity to testify before a federal grand jury. And about the same time, the state began its civil action to close the houses.

Although the existence of the houses was no secret, the prostitutes did not flaunt themselves publicly, Brandenburg said.

Travel Along with

Janet Stoughton

One of the most enjoyable things about traveling is being able to shop in different places. However, before spending money on purchases in another country, check the prices of the things you are interested in buying here. China and crystal, including taxes and mailing costs from England are about one-third the cost in the United States. Made-to-order clothes in such places as Hong Kong and Italy are great bargains. The biggest savings are usually to be found in local products such as perfume in France, silver work in Mexico and baskets in Haiti.

Housing Board . .

According to the tenant occupancy report submitted by Sallye Streeter, director of tenant affairs, overall rent average in the six housing areas operated by the Authority amounted to $75.31 for September. Individual project averages included: NC 22-1 (Meadowbrook), $65.63; NC 22-2 (Keamey Park), $77.52; NC 22-3 (Moyewood), $76.34; NC 22-4 (Moyewood), $73.85; NC 22-5 (Hopkins Park), $68.84; and NC 22-6 (Newtown), $86.36.

The director reported that HUD has completed the occupancy-management audit of the authority and commissioners should be receiving their copies soon. He said that all-in-all, HUD gave the authority a generally favorable report.

The management audit is required every five years, while the occupancy review is scheduled by HUD every two years.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A pro-marijuana coalition wants the California Supreme Court to order a pot initiative onto the state's November ballot.

Disaster Aid For Counties

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Small Business Administration announced Monday that 84 North Carolina counties have been declared disaster areas because of drought during the summer.

The declaration makes farmers and agriculture-related businesses in those counties eligible for federal financial assistance if they otherwise qualify.

In effect, the SBA declaration extends the loan program to all 100 counties. Under federal guidelines, such programs also are available to counties that are adjacent to those designated as having had a disaster.

America's Host Say Get Out!

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the hostess who didn't know how to get rid of her late-staying guests, how do you like this for a remedy?

A friend attended a party where she and other guests had overstayed their welcome. The hostess was obviously exhausted and eager for them to leave. Then, as one of the guests half-rose from her chair to adjust her skirt, the weary hostess rushed over to her and blurted out, "My dear, must you stay? Can't you leave?" The guest left immediately.

R.C.W., BURBANK

DEAR ABBY: Add this to your list of diplomatic ways to get rid of guests who overstay their welcome: Good-humoredly rise and say, "Well, we are going to bed so you nice people can go home."

JOAN

DEAR ABBY: The last time my guests stayed too late, I excused myself, went to my bedroom and quickly changed my dress to my bathrobe. When I returned they immediately took the hint and left. No hard feelings.

SAN FRANCISCO SLICK

DEAR SLICK: That may work with several guests, but I wouldn't recommend it for a lady who is entertaining a gentleman. He might interpret it as an invitation to stay all night.

DEAR ABBY: When a guest stays too late, I always stretch out on the couch, or curl up in a big chair, close my eyes and "pass out." To make it even more realistic, I snore a little. It has never failed.

FOXXY

DEAR ABBY: The best way to ensure one's self against guests who overstay their welcome is to have a grandfather clock that chimes every 15 minutes. A cuckoo clock is even more effective.

TICKTOCK TAMMY

DEAR TAMMY: Better yet, start a cuckoo clock collection. You could "wind up" with a fortune.

DEAR ABBY: STUPID CITY KID (AGE 36) wrote to ask how a mule differed from a donkey. He also wanted to know how they both differed from a jackass. I'm glad you explained it, because it gave me the courage to ask the following question:

Does a rooster have a male organ? I'm sure he must have, so I'll rephrase the question. Is a rooster's male organ sufficiently large to be visible to the naked eye? Thank you.

ANOTHER STUPID CITY KID (AGE 55)

DEAR KID: A rooster's male organ is barely visible. Obviously it is large enough to serve the purpose for which it was intended. But by human standards, it's nothing to crow about.

DEAR READERS: Almost everyone remembers where he or she was on Nov. 22, 1963, when the news that the late President Kennedy was assassinated was first broadcast.

If yours is an unusually interesting story to tell, please put it on a postcard and send it to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

The fashion forecast for fall is definite now: "Trends out of the west prevailing as far east as New York with intermittent gusts of boots, jeans and big hats. Cowboy garb widely scattered throughout the country with increasing interest in buckskin and fringe."

Some experts who interpret trends for a living say America is turning "back to basics." A professor in Alabama said our love affair with the cowboy is symbolic of our needs to return to traditional sex roles.

For me, it's a chance to finally understand the West.

You're looking at a woman who has seen every Western ever made from Smiley Burnett to Roy Rogers, from Gabby Hayes to John Wayne, from Newman to Redford. There were a lot of things I never figured out. Like how come cowboys traveled in pairs. One was always handsome and smart, and one was a comical sidekick who always got the horse who showed his gums when he laughed and pulled the blanket off him as he slept.

I never understood why the Indians in the movie had vaccinations and danced like they were choreographed by Bob Fosse.

And I could never figure out why, if their method of travel was so primitive, their luggage arrived with them in Denver instead of on a stagecoach for St. Louis.

But mostly, I could never understand the fashions of the times. You'd see a one-room log cabin out in the middle of a Godforsaken prairie. There were no rugs on the floor, no running water, a wood stove, no windows and out on the porch was the heroine wearing a cross-your-heart bra that lifted as it separated.

I couldn't fathom cowboys who could work all day in high-heeled boots and never complain about swollen ankles and aching feet.

And when were wrinkles invented? Surely within the last decade, because I once saw a cowboy sleep in his clothes, fall off a cliff into the rapids, climb a mountain, choke a rattlesnake in the dust and when they hung him from a tree he looked like he had just stepped out of a bandbox.

Is it possible cowboy clothes haven't changed in a hundred years? The shirts were always fitted? The pants perma-pressed? Good grief! The big "G" Kirk Douglas wore on his spurs makes sense now. It didn't stand for Gunslinger. It stood for Gucci!

Child-Rearing Costs

There have been many theories raised as to why the size of American families is shrinking. Some say it is because adults don't want to be saddled with the chores of raising large families. Some believe it is because children can't be used around the farms as labor anymore. Others see the "me" trend whereby people are more concerned with themselves.

Ask any parent, however, and he or she will come up with the answer in a hurry. It is expensive to raise children. The most recent survey shows that it now costs the average middle income family $85,000 to raise a child. That is the average cost of raising the child and paying for four years of college. Law, dental or medical school could see the costs much higher. Major illnesses, unusual teeth work or training for unusual abilities could run the cost even higher.

The cost is 33 percent over the $64,000 estimated in 1977.

Most young couples are well aware of the cost and therefore many of them plan for one or two children. Who can blame them?

LURKS IN THE WINGS WHEN THERE'S TROUBLE!

By RICHARD REEVES

Japanese Texas Plant

SAN ANGELO, Tex. — I have seen the future and it works in a hangar out by the airport near this west Texas city of 75,000 people. That's where they make the Mitsubishi MU-2, a twin-engine executive airplane.

"They" are 500 local workers. They work for the Japanese. Two or so Japanese executives are rotated in and out of here, 250 miles west of Dallas, for three-to-five-year tours to tell the Americans what to do.

My first impression was that the Japanese, who tend to travel through town in small groups, reminded me of the British at an outpost somewhere in colonial Africa about 100 years ago. There is some of that — the Japanese are selling those turbo-prop to American companies and the money goes back to Tokyo — but folks around here are mighty happy with the arrangement.

"We welcome them," said James Heath of the local Chamber of Commerce. "The Japanese employ our people, pay our taxes and put money in our banks. They even add a dimension to our culture. One of the best restaurants in town is serving some Japanese food, the China Gardens."

"We know they are competing against planes made by American companies," he said. "But we also know the future is international — and we want a part of it. We were hoping to get some Japanese textile work in here. A French company just bought Monarch Tile here and they are putting in computerized systems for the first time. We are trying now to make a linkup with the German-American Chamber of Commerce."

Heath, in fact, was hired to aggressively go after foreign industrial development in San Angelo, a raw-boned, Baptist oil and ranch town that, even locals say, is in the middle of no place. For 14 years before coming here — going back to the time Mitsubishi executives first became temporary Texans — Heath was director of international investments for the Texas Industrial Commission.

What Texas sells here and abroad, is a determinedly pro-business climate. No corporate or personal income taxes and a "right-to-work" law. That means no union at Mitsubishi or some other places in town, the Ethicon Division of Johnson and Johnson, and Levi Strauss.

"Give us some promotion. We'll take them here from anywhere," Heath said. He meant industrial or commercial investment. What San Angelo — and the rest of Texas — doesn't want is agricultural investment. "We do our best to stop foreigners from buying ranch land," he said. "That doesn't do us or anybody much good. The foreigners buy it as an investment for tax reasons, and what happens is that some of it is taken out of production and the prices they are willing to pay just drive up everybody else's valuation and property taxes."

The business of America is business, and San Angelo is the real world. The little city turns out five of the planes a month — they cost $1.5 million each — with components and parts made in Japan. The MU-2 is cheaper and, I am told, better made and operates more efficiently than its American competitors. Which is why American companies are buying MU-2s as fast as the Japanese can build them — and, incidentally, why much of what Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan are saying about the re-industrialization of America is nonsense.

Counting On Minorities

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
AUSTIN, Texas — Even though his esteem in Texas has dropped lower than any earlier Democratic president, Jimmy Carter may yet win this state's 26 electoral votes — and save his second term — with a flood of Mexican-American and black voters Nov. 4.

Identification, registration and turnout of minority voters have become the beginning, middle and end of Carter's strategy in Texas. It is too late to repair the president's policies that antagonize Texans. Partly thanks to the evangelical political movement, Carter's rural base is eroded. The state's "Anglos" — non-Hispanic whites — run 65 percent or more for Ronald Reagan.

In Texas-sized proportions, this is the problem faced by President Carter throughout his Southern base. Thus, slurs about Reagan's "racism" are not just the politics of excess but a deadly serious effort to energize minority voters. What antagonizes editorial writers and cartoonists may impel blacks and Hispanics to vote.

The need is imperative in Texas. Only three Democratic nominees — Al Smith, Adlai Stevenson and George McGovern — have lost Texas. No Democrat has been elected without carrying Texas. But Carter's presidential record would have doomed him in the old Texas, where "Anglos" ruled.

"I have never seen a president so poorly regarded," confided one veteran Democratic politician here. "Nobody has a good word for him." Yet, this old pro predicts Carter, now trailing in all polls, will carry Texas. One of his reasons is Reagan's anemic campaign. A better reason is the black-brown vote.

The politically critical arithmetic of minority voting depends on vague approximations. In 1976 when Carter won Texas with 53 percent, the black-brown vote may have been 550,000 (out of 4 million). Carter won an estimated 87 percent of the browns and at least 93 percent (Republicans say 98 percent) of the blacks.

For Carter to carry Texas this year, he must dramatically expand the 1976 minority-voter volume and not fall too far below his share of it then. That is the job of Bob Beckel, a skilled political technician from Brooklyn who left the White House staff (where he had been selling SALT II to Congress) early this year and came here to sell Carter to Texas.

Beckel's registration efforts were expected to yield 800,000 Mexican-American voters (compared with 460,000 in 1976) by the Oct. 4 deadline. New black registration is less robust and less measurable. If Beckel can actually get the new voters to the polls, Texas may well be Carter's.

That is why Beckel had no time for much more than lip service responding to complaints from traditional Texas Democratic politicians that the president's record flagrantly offends Texans: Carter's energy policy seemingly favors the Northeast; his oil windfall profits tax enrages small royalty owners even more than corporate titans; the Carter ad-

Opening A New Market

Japan is closed to American-made cigarettes. Yet there is a sure market for American cigarettes in that country.

Opening it up would help both nations because it would improve the balance of payments between the United States and Japan.

So why not do it? It's not that easy. Tobacco has been a monopoly in Japan for many years.

The question has been raised, however. It's a very logical step and we hope that something can be accomplished to allow export of American cigarettes to Japan in a short time.

THIS AFTERNOON

Counties Seek Aid

RALEIGH — With local taxpayer opposition to spiraling property taxes getting stiffer and stiffer, county commissioners from across North Carolina will hit the 1981 General Assembly with a package of proposals designed to give them some relief.

The underlying strategy contains two major elements: raise more money for county governments from a variety of sources other than property taxes; and transfer to the state financing of two major programs currently draining local budgets.

If the General Assembly went along with the proposals without change, it would not only provide major relief to county officials, but establish new directions in policy and relationships between state and local governments.

But even county officials who are pushing the proposals recognize the slim chance that all of the proposals will be embraced by state lawmakers.

The obvious end result would be that North Carolina taxpayers would continue to put up the money. The difference would be that county commissioners would shift the responsibility to the state level. Members of the General Assembly are no more anxious than are county commissioners to bear the political cross of raising taxes.

Among the resolutions adopted by county commissioners at the annual convention of their association last month in Charlotte are authority to collect another penny in local sales taxes in addition to the penny already collected by 99 of the 100 counties and the three cents collected by the state government; a 50 percent increase in court costs; hefty increases in various criminal, civil, weapons and jail fees; and several maneuvers shifting outlays for education and Medicaid to the state.

Not even the county commissioners anticipate that all of the measures will be approved. They hedged their bets by both endorsing a statewide school bond election to provide funds for school renovation and construction, while at the same time pushing for the state to take full responsibility for financing public school operations while counties would be responsible for providing only the physical facilities.

A bond issue of $600 million has been proposed by a legislative study commission at the urging of the State Board of Education. That amount represents only a third of the needs in the state, according to Craig Phillips, superintendent of public instruction. Total outlay for public schools is now running $1.7 billion a year (up $165 million from the previous year), with the state putting up 63 percent.

the federal share is 13 percent, and the local share is 23.6 percent, or better than $403 million. That local share has increased six percent in 10 years, and that is what worries local commissioners.

Growing dependence on local school funds derived from property taxes to provide basic education as well as local subsidies for excellence is, say the commissioners, producing "gross inequities" from one county to the next, jeopardizing the concept of equality statewide.

Unbalanced County commissioners also expressed their concern with what they term "a recent trend of local boards of education to increase the revenues appropriated for the administration of the educational process" causing the ratio of administrative costs as compared with instructional costs to become unbalanced.

The Association of County Commissioners was instructed to "study and make recommendations regarding means and methods of bringing into

To the editor:

Recently, your paper printed an article from the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service which was very misleading. Pine saw timber was said to have dropped to approximately one half the price of a year ago.

Obviously, the Extension Service has not gone to many timber sales lately. Even though the economy remains bleak and the housing starts relatively low, the price for timber has not taken the sharp drop mentioned because timber companies on the whole do not have large timber inventories and there is still a great demand for good grade pine. The competition for timber among the various timber companies remains keen, especially with winter just around the corner.

Therefore, I would seriously question the advice of the Extension Service article not to sell, but borrow money instead. The prime rate of 13 1/2 percent makes this a somewhat risky venture.

Also, it should be noted that the article says nothing about mature pine saw timber that is ready and needs to be cut now.

The landowner of North Carolina should think twice before accepting the advice of the Extension Service without first weighing other alternatives.

Strength For Today

BE CAREFUL, IT PAYS It is said that in some airlines if the man in charge of the ground crew ever releases a plane for service which is later found to have a defect, he is out of a job for good. This policy is based on the realization that one little mistake or oversight may cause the death of scores of people.

It would be a terrible thing, of course, if standards as severe as this were applied to everything we do. And yet, how much trouble would be saved in every walk of life, if we and others were just a little more careful. There is probably not an industrial plant anywhere which could not increase its output considerably if its employees would exercise more care, trying in every way to cut down waste of time and material.

Nothing pays better dividends than careful attention to detail. Much of genius is the capacity to be careful. The immortals in music, art, and the like were all men who took immense care in everything they did. — Elisha Douglass

U.S. Savings Bonds Get Lift

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. savings bonds, once billed as the patriotic way to save but unable to compete in times of inflation with more attractive investments, are getting a shot in the arm from the Carter administration.

Treasury Secretary G. William Miller announced Monday that President Carter, acting under a new law, has raised the interest rate on Series EE bonds from 7 percent to 8 percent. The rate for Series HH bonds will go from 6.5 percent to 7.5 percent.

In addition, Series EE bonds need be held only nine years — rather than the current 11 years — before maturing. Series HH bonds will continue to mature in 10 years.

The changes will take effect with purchases made after Oct. 31. The higher rates — but not the shortened maturity — also will apply to all outstanding Series E, EE, H and HH bonds as well as the savings notes known as Freedom Shares.

"Giving small savers a fair return and encouraging increased savings in this country are integral parts of our efforts to reduce inflation and provide the enormous investment needed to revitalize our economy in the 1980s," Miller said in a statement announcing the changes.

The Treasury Department estimates that one of three American families owns some savings bonds, which were inaugurated by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1941 to bolster the war effort. More than $80 billion worth are outstanding.

But the bonds, usually bought through payroll deductions, have fallen on hard times over the last 1 1/2 years as Americans have found they could earn considerably more interest elsewhere.

When interest rates in general soared earlier this year to the range of 20 percent, an investor with as little as $100 to deposit in a savings and loan association could earn 12 percent interest. But the Series EE bond still paid only 7 percent.

As a result of that disparity, savings bond sales plummeted and redemptions of long-held bonds rose. In a good year, sales would exceed redemptions, but in 1979, redemptions were $5.3 billion greater than sales. And in the first three quarters of 1980, the "outflow" was $10 billion.

The higher rates still are unlikely to appeal to investors with large amounts to set aside, because better yields are available on other investments, including some federal government securities. But the new rate will be considerably better than the 5.25 percent earned on passbook savings accounts at banks and 5.5 percent at savings and loan associations.

There also is some advantage to the Treasury Department and, ultimately, to taxpayers in general. The more savings bonds sold, the less money the government will have to borrow on the open market at interest rates that are today in the 12 percent range.

Congress agreed earlier this year to allow the president to raise the interest rate on savings bonds by up to one percentage point every six months. The Series E bond earned only 6 percent until June 1, 1979, when the rate was raised to 6.5 percent.

Series E was replaced by Series EE on Jan. 1, 1980, and the interest rate rose to 7 percent.

Series EE bonds can be bought for $25 and, under the current interest rate, would be worth slightly more than $50 when mature in 11 years. Treasury officials were unable to say immediately what the maturity value of that bond would be under the new interest rate and shorter maturity term.

The Series HH bond is available in denominations ranging from $500 to $10,000. Holders of these bonds receive interest checks twice a year.

Carter Charges Electing Reagan Can Split Nation

By MAUREEN SANTINI
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — President Carter, toughening his already tough rhetoric against Ronald Reagan, is charging that the Republican's election could tear the United States into factions by race, by religion and by region.

crats on Monday, "You'll determine whether this America will be unified or, if I lose the election, whether Americans might be separated black from white, Jew from Christian, North from South, rural from urban."

The statement came one day after five major news organizations released surveys showing Reagan well ahead in the electoral college vote that will actually decide the election.

And at a Democratic dinner in Chicago that raised $360,000, Carter sounded like a man trying to come from behind when he exhorted his supporters to give their all to ensure his re-election lest the Republicans gain a narrow victory the way Richard Nixon did over the late Hubert Humphrey in 1968.

"This is my last campaign," the president declared. "The last political race I will ever run." He said he did not intend to turn the government over to people whose philosophy is "directly contrary to everything I believe in all my heart and soul."

that group of people is totally pragmatic and based on what he feels they can do for him politically," Powell said.

He also mentioned a controversial promise Reagan is alleged to have made about appointing only certain types of Christians to his Cabinet. Another Carter aide, David Rubenstein, pointed to the backing for Reagan by the fundamentalist Christian group Moral Majority, whose leadership has said that God hears only the prayers of Christians.

The remarks about division consisted of just one paragraph in Carter's last speech of the day. He made no attempt to elaborate what precisely he meant.

Earlier, in suburban DuPage County outside Chicago, a Republican enclave that gave Gerald R. Ford his margin of victory four years ago, the president portrayed Reagan as a potentially dangerous man without the subtlety necessary to make the "serious judgments" the presidency requires.

Kennedy would never have served in the White House. In 1968, if all of us had done just a little bit more, Hubert Humphrey would have been president and Richard Nixon never could have served."

He said those close contests show "the crucial nature of a presidential election."

Offers Campus-Pairing As Solution For UNC

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Massachusetts sociologist and education specialist has recommended that the University of North Carolina pair campuses in Winston-Salem and Elizabeth City with existing predominantly white schools as part of a sweeping reorganization to improve racial balance in the 16-campus system.

The proposal by Robert A. Dentler, a former dean at Boston University and now an education research manager for Abt Associates Inc., came during testimony at an administrative law hearing on the Department of Education's attempt to cut off nearly $100 million in federal funding to UNC.

DOE has accused the university system of prolonging segregation.

Dentler's proposal also called for shifting of several degree programs to black campuses and consolidating other programs to attract more white students to the five traditionally black dominated schools. His proposal would leave East Carolina as the only predominantly white school with a nursing program.

Using his plan, Dentler said the university, by 1990, could achieve an enrollment pattern that would have blacks making up at least 11 percent of the student bodies at the traditional white schools and whites comprising 60 percent of the enrollment at the five traditionally black schools by 1990.

The pairing proposal would link Winston-Salem State University, a predominantly black school, with the North Carolina School of the Arts, which has a mostly white enrollment, and Elizabeth City State University with the predominantly white College of the Albemarle, a community college.

communications at North Carolina Central.

Dentler said some changes in admissions procedures, including development of one course catalogue for the entire system, and uniform application forms would present the 16 campuses in the same light and allow more effective monitoring of affirmative action efforts.

In both Illinois and Wisconsin, two states that are leaning toward his GOP opponent, Carter also embellished his war and peace campaign theme, hinting that a Ronald Reagan presidency would smack of jingoism, which he said was "an excellent way to lead our country toward war."

White House press secretary Jody Powell, asked whether Carter's apocalyptic comment about Reagan dividing the nation might not have been overstatement, said it was not so at all.

He said it "goes to the record of Reagan's statements and actions and the behavior of people with whom he is associated. The time has come for him to be held accountable."

Carter also said the election will determine "whether we'll have a close feeling of community and consultation with our allies, whether our adversaries will be tempted to end the peace for which we all prayed. These kinds of questions and many others ought to be on your minds and hearts as you go through ... the next four weeks of making the best major decision."

At the fundraiser, Carter reminded his audience that the election could be decided by how hard they work. "In 1960, if just a few people had voted differently, John

"There is much more at stake in 1980 than there was in 1976," he said. "Much more at stake. The Republican Party is different. The consequences of the election are much more profound.... The alternative is too doubtful, too bleak to contemplate."

ministration is demanding new school busing in Houston.

Lt. Gov. William Hobby and state Attorney General Mark White, two moderately conservative Democrats supporting Carter, have warned the president that his railroad deregulation bill is ruining him politically among lower-to-middle income non-minority Texans. Boosting freight rates for Wyoming coal, they warn, will drive sky-high utility bills still higher and alienate faithful Democrats.

It is among disaffected Democrats that Republican Gov. Bill Clements, calling Carter a "phony" and "liar" spreads the Reagan gospel. Accompanied by former Gov. John B. Connally, Clements spent the past month setting up Reagan organizations in formerly "brass-collar" Democratic country (so-called because the Democratic Party had a brass collar around voters' necks). Clements' auxiliaries there are fundamentalist Baptist ministers including Carter supporters of 1976 who preach for Reagan this time.

Hill County in central Texas is one such Bible-belt, brass-collar area which gave Carter 66 percent of its 1976 vote. Carter strategists acknowledge that is impossible this time. If the county's vote falls below 61 percent, they fear a statewide drop in the rural vote that will require a heroic minority turnout to save Carter.

That is why Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will visit the Rio Grande Valley late this month to ask his Mexican-American following to succor Carter. "I wish Teddy Kennedy would come live in Texas all year," Clements told us, meaning his presence will lose more Texas votes than it wins. Considering Carter's total reliance on minority politics, he has no choice but to take the risk.

balance the administrative versus educational costs of educating the children of this state."

Clearly the most far-reaching of the proposals is that transferring all instructional costs in the public schools to the state, while counties would take responsibility for the buildings. Vigorous debate on that has been underway for some time as various study groups probed methods of finance and equalization. To many county officials, however, the bottom line is the fact that property taxes cannot produce the money to equalize education from the state's poorest to richest counties.

Lifeboats In 'Poor Shape'

By BRUCE BARTLEY, Associated Press Writer VALDEZ, Alaska (AP) — The lifeboats on the cruise ship Prinsendam were equipped inadequately, passengers aboard the ill-fated luxury liner say. Passengers reported broken or missing rudders, no food, water or flares on the lifeboats, although during an emergency drill on the first day of the cruise out of Vancouver, British Columbia, they said they were told the boats were equipped fully.

"There was no food, no water, no nothing," said Don Rohn of Royal Oak, Mich.

More than 500 passengers and crew members were sent scrambling into the boats Saturday when the luxury liner caught fire 120 miles west of the fishing village of Yakutat in the Gulf of Alaska.

Military helicopters, planes and ships and a passing oil supertanker rescued the passengers and crew. Except for a group of Indonesian crew members — who spoke no English and never knew exactly what was happening, the evacuation was orderly, said Bill Powell of Laguna Beach, Calif.

Robert Natt, a spokesman for Holland America Cruises, said earlier the ship had passed all U.S. Coast Guard, Dutch Shipping Inspectorate and Lloyd's Classification Society safety requirements on an annual basis.

He and other Holland America officials weren't immediately available for comment on the specific charges of the passengers.

Another passenger, John Dammarell of Laguna Beach, Calif., said, "There was no rudder, the engine could not be started, there were no flares, much less provisions. The lifeboats were totally inadequate."

The ship was equipped with eight lifeboats, at least one of which was left dangling on the side of the ship when it became tangled in the hoist and later burned, the Coast Guard said.

Although the weather deteriorated rapidly throughout the rescue effort Saturday, most of the people were transferred from the lifeboats to the tanker Williamsburgh while the weather was still good.

"We were fortunate that we had good weather," said A.D. McBurney of Fallbrook, Calif. "A day either way would have made a big difference."

Seas late Friday were so rough that many passengers on the 400-foot liner were unable to eat their dinner. The weather was also bad on Sunday as the remnants of a typhoon swirled through the gulf.

Freedom Is Elusive To Many Cuban Refugees

FORT INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa. (AP) — After months spent at the refugee camp here, Mario Alvarez has moved on — but only to another camp. Freedom remains an elusive dream for the 23-year-old Cuban house painter.

"I didn't expect it to take this long," said Alvarez, one of 626 Cubans who were flown to the newly consolidated resettlement camp at Fort Chaffee, Ark., to await sponsors.

"But I've read all that's been written in the newspapers and I understand that it's going to take a while," he said.

Three more plane loads of refugees from Fort Indiantown Gap were scheduled to leave today, and a total of about 2,000 from the camp will be shipped out within the next week, officials said.

Some of the refugees traveling to Arkansas may have trouble finding sponsors because they are being called "the hard core," but they actually are "the best of the lot," said Harry Johnson, head of the State Department's Cuban-Haitian Task Force at the Gap.

"The only problem these people have is that they don't have a friend or a relative on the outside," he said. "Anybody that could live in a goldfish bowl for four months is bound to reveal his true character. These are very good people. They've illustrated they have patience and understanding."

Most of the Cubans remaining at Fort Indiantown Gap are young men, semi-skilled or unskilled laborers who came to the United States alone. The camp will be emptied by Oct. 15, officials said.

The move from one resettlement center to another did not disturb Felipe Aguila, a 21-year-old ranch hand who came to the United States with his brother, a construction worker.

"Even though I am in a camp I feel like I am in the land of liberty. The living here is so much better. Nothing bad happened to me in Cuba, but I don't like communism. I like to be free," said Aguila, looking thoroughly American in track shoes, ski jacket and baseball cap.

Carl White, a spokesman for the U.S. State Department, said some refugees were reluctant to leave because "they know they are going from a population of 2,600 to a population of 10,000 (at Fort Chaffee)."

"They feel they might get lost in the shuffle as far as sponsors," he said. When asked if the move would work to the refugees' advantage, Johnson said: "I'd be lying if I said it would. We can give them a larger variety of activities and a lot more creature comforts. But all bigness isn't good. It won't speed up (finding sponsors). It will slow it down a little."

Embroiders' Guild Has Meeting

The North Carolina chapter of the Embroiders' Guild of America, Inc. met Oct 6 for its first meeting of the year.

Two Christmas projects were taught by Carole Bowman of The Scotch Bonnet and Marguerite Cameron of Morehead City.

Several members attended the Embroiders Assembly in Richmond, Va. Awards for teachers certification in level II were given to Pat Reep and Marguerite Cameron. Cameron's award is for canvas work and Reep's is for surface stitching.

The Louise Downing Award was presented to Pat Reep in Richmond. Ms. Downing of Pitt County has resigned her post as education director for Valentine Museum. This special award has been established in her name and designates a two-year research course in the honors program. The area of stitching for study is decided by the award recipient. Reep will pursue the study of quilting.

Trail Of Blood Helped Police

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — A trail of dried blood from 20 pounds of purloined chopped meat helped police track down the thief who slipped into a school here and made off with not only the burgers, but also eight boxes of oatmeal cookies, 60 bags of potato chips and 288 pretzel sticks.

The culprit was a 13-year-old boy who used the food to hold a barbecue for his friends.

Politicians Need Actors

By STEVEN M. EAMES, Associated Press Writer RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) —

"All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players; they have their exits and their entrances, and one man plays many parts..." wrote Shakespeare in "As You Like It."

If a Chapel Hill actor got what he liked, that world would be limited to North Carolina for politicians — especially those who now go out of state for actors and other talent to make their election-time television commercials.

"That's a dirty trick, too," said Sid Rancer, who noted Gov. Jim Hunt hired a New York company to produce his campaign television spots. "We have producing companies and advertising agencies right here. Why don't they give them the money?"

Rancer, 67, became angry after Republican senatorial candidate John East's campaign called him last Wednesday to portray a farmer in a television ad, he said.

Then, just hours before he went before the cameras, Rancer got a call from his agent saying East's campaign had "brought down a New York actor."

Rancer, who says he is one of the few members of the Screen Actors Guild living in North Carolina, says there's plenty of non-union talent as well as union workers in North Carolina to do the job — and cheaper.

That's because the New York actor hired in Rancer's stead got not only union scale (North Carolina actors sometimes work for less than scale), but the campaign had to pick up air fare and expenses.

But a spot check of North Carolina talent agencies revealed that the state's politicians have made no calls this political season for North Carolina actors — except for Rancer's brush with the East campaign.

One reason is that most state politicians quickly assert they don't use actors in their television spots.

"Our farmers are all real farmers," said Stephanie Bass of Hunt's campaign.

"Our farmers are all Johnston and Wake County farmers."

So why does Hunt, who is pushing North Carolina as a film-making Mecca, use David Sawyer's advertising agency in New York to produce his television ads?

For one thing, Ms. Bass said, they did a good job last time — when Hunt was elected in 1976. Also, Hunt has a personal relationship with Sawyer which makes the films more effective.

And, she says, "No one outfit (in North Carolina) can do all that Sawyer's can do." Ms. Bass noted that North Carolina has some very accomplished companies in the various areas of production, but "not under one roof."

Meanwhile, Rancer said East's campaign staff, run by the Congressional Club, brushed aside his complaint that North Carolinians are not being hired for acting roles in East's campaign — and Rancer questioned use of actors in political advertisements anyway.

Carter Wrenn, treasurer of the Congressional Club, said he knew nothing about the New York actor Rancer said was hired. He referred questions to Earl Ash, who makes the ads.

But Ash and his crew were unavailable. They were out for a long day of shooting.

However, Wrenn said East's campaign uses North Carolinians throughout in production jobs.

"We don't use any out-of-state producers or anything," he said. Wrenn said even the editing is done at North Carolina television stations.

Wrenn suggested the story might lie with East's opponent, incumbent Democratic Sen. Robert Morgan, who uses a South Carolina advertising firm.

"We don't have any actors in ours," said Mike Mann, assistant campaign director for Morgan. "But I don't think we plan to make any kind of issue out of it."

Mann conceded, however, that the advertising and production for Morgan's ads is done by Cook Ruef Spann & Weiser Inc. of Columbia, S.C., who shot at least part of the strips in Florida.

More Ticketing During August

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Monthly statistics released by the Highway Patrol Monday show that state troopers issued 45 percent more tickets in August — while an evaluation program based on the number of tickets issued was in effect — than they did in the same month last year.

By contrast, in July the number of tickets issued was down 8 percent over those issued in July 1979.

The evaluation system actually began in July but did not become fully implemented until August. It was scrapped in September after a public outcry protesting any plan that tended to impose a ticket-writing quota on the troopers.

Joseph K. Register, director of the traffic records section of the Department of Transportation, said Monday that troopers in August wrote a ticket on the average of one for every 97 minutes worked. In August 1979, that average was one ticket for every 139 minutes.

Register said he could not say whether the evaluation program had anything to do with the number of tickets written, but declared that the troopers "didn't go out there and make a bunch of frivolous arrests."

He said the tickets issued in August showed an increase in tickets for speeding over 65 mph — up 51 percent — and for drunk driving arrests, up 54 percent.

Burley B. Mitchell Jr., secretary of crime control and public safety, acknowledged that the increase was "an extraordinary jump."

"It's probably some combination of factors, but at this point I can't explain it. I'm going to want to know why, if we can figure it out," Mitchell said.

"As far as the DUT's (drunk driving), that's exactly what we told them to do, to concentrate on those because they are involved in a majority of highway deaths," Mitchell said.

"On the speeding cases, I frankly don't know what that means," Mitchell said.

Thick Smog Lingers On

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thick smog made even more dense as it mixed with fog and low clouds brought an eighth choking day of misery to southern Californians today, with no relief in sight.

Air Quality Management District spokesman Milt Kohut said first-stage advisories were forecast for "all over — central LA, the San Fernando Valley, San Gabriel Valley, (and) Orange County."

The northern beaches of the South Coast Air Basin, including Venice, Santa Monica, Malibu and Topanga also would be under first-stage health advisories, but other coastal areas might escape, he said.

Only mountains and desert areas throughout the four-county air basin were expected to escape the stale air.

The inversion layer, which had lifted to 2,000 feet during a weekend respite from rush-hour freeway fumes, dropped back down to 1,000 feet Monday and was expected to drop all the way to the 800-foot level which predominated last week.

The layer traps the smog like a lid. Under a first-stage alert, elderly people, small children and people with respiratory problems are warned to stay inside.

First-stage alerts are called when ozone levels in the air reach 0.20 parts per million.

Kohut said second-stage alerts also were possible today but were not being forecast. A forecast would mean industry would have to cut back 20 percent on air pollution or face a fine.

A second-stage smog episode occurs when the ozone level reaches 0.35 parts per million. Last week's four second-stage smog alerts were the longest consecutive string of such actions this year.

Proposes Merger With Hardee's Inc.

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — A Canadian cigarette manufacturer has proposed a merger with Hardee's Food Systems Inc. in a transaction valued at $76 million, a spokesman for the Rocky Mount food chain said Monday.

Imasco Ltd. of Montreal, Canada's largest cigarette manufacturer, already owns 45 percent of Hardee's common stock.

Jack A. Laughery, chairman of Hardee's, said Imasco's proposal includes an offer to buy the chain's shares at $25 each.

Trading of Hardee's stock was suspended for about 2½ hours on the New York Stock Exchange Monday before the merger offer was disclosed.

Hardee's closed at 23¼, up 5½ from Friday's close. Volume of shares traded was 128,300, with 127,000 exchanged after trading resumed.

Normal daily volume in August has averaged about 25,000 shares.

Imasco does not trade on U.S. exchanges. Its stock closed Monday on the Toronto Stock Exchange at $28 (Canadian), up 7.

The Canadian firm earned $68.2 million on sales of $1.2 billion last year. Hardee's reported record profits of $4.7 million for the first six months of this year, up from $3.4 million for the same period last year. Sales for the first two quarters totaled $199 million, up from $160 million last year.

Hardee's operates 1,305 restaurants in the United States, Central America, the Middle East and Japan. The company owns 485 of those restaurants and the rest are franchised.

Laughery said in a prepared statement that Hardee's directors would meet "as promptly as practicable" to consider the Imasco proposal. If approved, Hardee's would merge with a U.S. subsidiary of Imasco.

This is the second merger proposal in recent years for the chain, which ranks fourth in the country among fast-food hamburger chains. A proposed merger with Pet Inc. fell through after Pet was acquired by IC Industries of Chicago.

Hardee's spokesmen declined to speculate Monday on whether the new proposal would be accepted.

Court Rebuffs Marijuana Cult

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a Miami Beach church who want to smoke pot in praise of God are still breaking the law. The nation's highest court has rejected their freedom-of-religion appeal.

The Supreme Court, citing a lack of jurisdiction and a general disinterest in the case Monday, left intact a decision outlawing the use of marijuana for religious purposes.

That leaves members of the Ethiopian Zion Coptic Church facing a Florida

Supreme Court decision that bars them from smoking the illegal drug during worship services at a Miami Beach home.

The state court ruled last Nov. 1 that marijuana laws do not violate the church members' freedom of religion.

Monday's denial of review does not preclude other legal maneuvers by the Coptics. But the defeat proved bitter enough to spur a church member identifying himself as Brother Love to call the Supreme Court's nine justices "cowards."

"It is a cowardly position not to face this pressing problem head-on, and thus deny millions of persons their God-given rights," said Brother Love. "The court has acted as cowards."

The Coptic church traces its roots to a bona fide religion of long standing in Jamaica and Ethiopia. Indeed, the Florida courts found that the use of marijuana "is an essential portion of the (church's) religious practice."

The Supreme Court previously has refused to hear arguments over the outlawing of snake-handling and poison-drinking as religious practices.

The marijuana itself is not an object of worship, but is used by church members to bring them closer to God. Coptics believe marijuana is the mystical body and blood of "Jes-us."

In 1979, Florida and Miami Beach officials filed a nuisance complaint seeking a court order prohibiting the use of church member Jacquelyn Renee Town's home on fashionable Star Island in Biscayne Bay as the church's worship place. The authorities also sought a prohibition of the marijuana-smoking.

A state trial judge issued such prohibitions, and the state Supreme Court upheld them. "To hold otherwise would, for all practical purposes, legalize the use of cannabis for anyone, member or non-member of the (church), who came to Ms. Town's residence to use the prohibited drug," the state court said.

Beginning its 1980-81 term with what may have been the busiest day in its 190 years, the Supreme Court also took these actions:

—Agreed to decide in a Georgia case whether criminal evidence can be used against a person when it was discovered in his or her home by government agents who entered carrying an arrest warrant for someone else. The justices must decide whether a separate search warrant is needed.

—Left intact a ruling that allows a county-run health center in Lansing, Mich., to distribute contraceptives to teen-agers without telling the youngsters' parents.

—Agreed to decide whether a new federal standard for worker exposure to cotton dust should be struck down as economically unreasonable. The case asks the justices to decide whether all gov-

Fraud Charged In Fake Rings

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Two Durham men have been charged with mail fraud involving a counterfeit class ring scheme that federal agents say could have provided $24 million for its operators.

FBI spokesmen said the rings, some of which have been seized, bore inscriptions identifying them as class rings for the University of North Carolina and several high schools.

Each ring, the FBI said, also bore the name of a legitimate ring manufacturer plus the number of karats supposedly contained in the ring.

FBI agent Robert L. Pence said it was believed 17,000 rings were produced in New York for sale in North Carolina and other states. About 12,000 of those rings, which were to be sold for up to $250 each, were seized last month at a New York jewelry company, he said.

Pence said the FBI was attempting to locate the remaining 5,000 rings. "Hopefully, we can handle that before they are too widely distributed," he said.

"As far as we know, none of the rings has been distributed," Pence said.

Pence said the mail fraud charges were filed against Abe Greenberg, 59, and Robert Newman Hales Sr. He did not specify how the men were accused of being involved. Each man was released under his own recognizance after appearing before a U.S. magistrate.

Mail fraud carries a maximum sentence of five years and $1,000 fine.

The FBI said the operators of the plan were making 5,000 rings per week at a cost of $10 each and distributing them through a pyramid of con artists in North Carolina, Virginia, Missouri and Texas. The con men would then sell the rings to unsuspecting jewelers for $200 or more each.

The rings were chemically treated to make them look older, Pence said.

Jewelers would be able to tell the rings were phony if they gave them an acid test but probably would not do so for fear of harming the ring's finish, said Pence.

Among the schools with phony rings bearing their names were Person High School in Roxboro, Armstrong Junior High School in Fayetteville, Eastern High School in Mebane, and St. Pauls High School in Robeson County.

Pence said other arrests were expected.

Three Wrecks Investigated Yesterday

An estimated $2,500 damage resulted from a series of three traffic mishaps investigated here yesterday by Greenville police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 12 noon collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Third Street, involving cars driven by Sarah Brown Edmonds of Williamston, and Ida Deal Wolf of Hollywood, Fla.

Damage was estimated at $150 to the Edmonds vehicle and $1,200 to the Wolf car.

Cars driven by Beverly Rose Cox of Route 2, Greenville, and Deborah Jean Holt of 601 East 11th St. collided about 7:25 a.m. at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Farmville Boulevard, resulting in an estimated $400 damage to the Cox car and $250 damage to the Holt vehicle.

Odell Thompson of Ayden was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, following investigation of a 1:10 p.m. collision on Memorial Drive at the View Drive intersection.

Investigators said the Thompson truck collided with a truck operated by George Thomas Mayo of Route 4, Greenville, causing $400 damage to the Mayo vehicle and $500 damage to the Thompson truck.

Local Group In Delegation

Three Greenville citizens were part of a North Carolina delegation to Washington, D. C. last week to make the point that a huge military budget is, not only inflationary, but also harmful to the defense of the United States.

The three are Shelley Goguen, Patrick O'Neill and Carroll Webber.

The N. C. group passed out leaflets at the Pentagon and gave three performances of a guerrilla theater play in the Pentagon concourse. The play satirized six fruitless United States wars. Group members also visited North Carolina's senators and brought their concerns to other government offices.

Last week's action was part of a Year-of-Election Presence that began in January.

Refuse Hear Flynt Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court has refused to hear an appeal from the publisher of "Hustler" and "Chic" magazines, Larry Flynt, who was fined $27,500 for selling his magazines here.

Flynt drew the fines in 1979 for an obscenity conviction.

The court's decision came in a 6-3 vote, just one vote short of the four votes needed to win a Supreme Court review. Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall said they wanted to hear Flynt's arguments.

Attorneys for the magazine publisher were prepared to argue that the magazines should be constitutionally protected because Atlanta's community standards do not regard them as obscene.

The appeal said the state trial court erred in excluding "all relevant evidence of community standards (such as) surveys, expert testimony and similar magazines sold in the community."

The appeal said Flynt's conviction and its affirmation by Georgia courts "will undoubtedly spawn wide-scale prosecutions throughout the state of Georgia aimed at other national magazines which will ultimately be repressed."

Nursing Home Change OK'd

The Certificate of Need Section of the Department of Human Resources Division of Facility Services has approved the proposal of Larry B. Cornish to acquire ownership of the Greenville Villa nursing home.

After reviewing the findings of the recommending agencies, the Certificate of Need Section determined that the project is needed, financially feasible, will be adequately staffed and operated, and promotes cost containment, according to officials.

What is your best Investment?

You could be living in it!

Today's home could be the best investment of your lifetime. Compare other investments with the increasing value of a home of your own.

Suppose you put $35,000 in the stock market in 1975, how much is it worth today?

Compare the median price ($35,300) for existing homes in 1975 with the median price of $55,700 in 1979. That's a 58% increase.

If you had put 20% down ($7060) you would now have a $20,400 profit. Just about tripled your money.

Of course, there are more advantages to home ownership than merely making a profit. There is security, contentment, privacy, pride-of-ownership, as well as increasing equity and important tax advantages.

With the prices of homes continuing to increase, now is the time to buy the home you've always wanted.

Decisions Due On Jenrette

By LARRY MARGASAK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John W. Jenrette's lawyer says jurors should look into the congressman's soul to find an innocent man who refused a bribe despite serious financial and drinking problems.

But the assistant U.S. attorney prosecuting Jenrette for bribery suggests that the jury look at FBI videotapes to find a corrupt politician "willing to sell his office." The two conclusions were as different as the lawyers who presented them Monday at Jenrette's Abscam bribery trial.

Jenrette's attorney, Kenneth M. Robinson, shouted, gestured and brought his client to tears. The low-key prosecutor, John Kotelly, methodically replayed video and audio recordings and reviewed the testimony of FBI witnesses.

After U.S. District Judge John Garrett Penn gave his instructions on the law today, jurors were to decide whether Jenrette, a South Carolina Democrat, took a $50,000 bribe from an FBI agent posing as a representative of two wealthy Arabs needing a congressional favor. The government says Jenrette split the money with co-defendant John R. Stowe.

Jenrette is accused of bribery and conspiracy while

Stowe, a longtime friend and Richmond, Va., businessman, is charged with conspiracy and aiding and abetting bribery. If convicted, each man would face a maximum 35 years in prison and thousands of dollars in fines.

Robinson said FBI recordings "can be yanked and pulled and distorted to say anything you want them to say. It's in his soul you'll find his innocence or his guilt — not on those tapes."

The lawyer told the eight women and four men on the jury that it's innocence which they'll find. They'll see a man, Robinson said, who met with Abscam investigators at a time he was battling alcoholism and faced with the collapse of a condominium-golf course project he partly owned.

"Ninety-nine out of 100 people in the condition he was in would have taken that money," Robinson said. "He didn't take the money because he knew it was wrong."

Kotelly asked jurors to recall FBI videotapes, which were played for the jury and can be replayed during deliberations if the jurors want.

On one tape, FBI agent Anthony Amoroso offered Jenrette $50,000 last Dec. 4 in return for Jenrette's promise to introduce immigration legislation for the fictitious Arabs. The meeting took place at a Washington house used secretly by the FBI.

"Nowhere in that discussion does Congressman Jenrette ever say, 'No, I don't want the money,'" Kotelly said. "He was ready and willing at the time he came to the townhouse to accept a bribe. He was not so intoxicated that he didn't know what he was doing."

Kotelly acknowledged that Jenrette left the house Dec. 4 without taking the money, but told jurors the congressman was stalling so he could arrange for someone else to pick up the cash. The prosecutor recalled that a Dec. 6 videotape showed Stowe taking the $50,000 and an audio recording 90 minutes thereafter of Jenrette calling Amoroso to confirm receiving the money.

Robinson said that after Jenrette refused to take the $50,000 bribe himself, the congressman kept in touch with the Abscam agents. He and Kotelly differed on the reason.

Kotelly said Jenrette did so to solicit another $125,000, by telling the agents he would get Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., to introduce an immigration bill in the Senate.

overturned. Two men in the truck, heading from Kentucky to Colorado, escaped injury. (AP Laserphoto)

Robinson contended Jenrette brought up Thurmond's name to "buy time," because Jenrette thought he was meeting with mobsters and would be killed if he broke off contact.

Robinson's legal argument was entrapment, which normally occurs when the government induces someone to commit an offense he never intended to commit. Despite Jenrette's refusal to take bribe money directly, Robinson maintained that entrapment still applied in the case because the FBI had been trying for six years to target Jenrette for prosecution.

4-H Week Observed Locally

Pitt County 4-H'ers and leaders will be joining with 4-H'ers and leaders across the nation October 5-11 in celebration of National 4-H week.

The theme for the week's observance is "Expanding Horizons," which challenges club members to seek new knowledge, acquire life skills and build on personal strength. Members are encouraged to strengthen their citizenship and leadership abilities.

Throughout the week 4-H'ers and leaders will be calling attention to the national observance through participation in Church Sunday activities, exhibits throughout the county, and local club events.

There are 594 youth enrolled in 4-H clubs in Pitt County. An additional 445 youth have participated in special interest activities in Pitt County over the past year. These youth are part of five million youth across the nation enrolled in 4-H activities.

Volunteer leaders assist with club and special interest activities. One-hundred sixty-nine volunteer leaders served as 4-H volunteers in Pitt County during the past year.

During the past ten years, participation of urban youth in 4-H has tripled, although 4-H is still serving a large percentage of farm and rural youth. Today, 23 percent of 4-H members nationwide live in suburbs or cities of more than 50,000 population, compared with 19 percent who live on farms. Forty percent reside in small towns or open country and 18 percent live in towns and cities of 10,000-50,000.

According to Dale Panero, Pitt County 4-H coordinator, "National 4-H week is a special occasion for 4-H'ers and leaders. We are proud of the quality educational programs available to youth 6-19 in Pitt County. We would like to talk to more volunteer leaders who would be interested in working with a local club." Panero added, "There are a lot of interesting programs and activities for youth in club work."

CRUSADE

The Guiding Light Ministries Crusade will continue through Saturday, Oct. 11 at the Guiding Light Temple of Faith Mission, located on South Main Street, Farmville. Nightly services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Tenth Year For Bishop

BOSTON (AP) — Cardinal Humberto Medeiros, who condemned pro-abortion candidates two days before last month's Massachusetts primary, celebrates his tenth year today in the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Boston.

Medeiros, who turned 65 on Monday, still appears to many as the quiet parish priest who came to the United States from Portugal as a youth, swept the floors of a mill in Fall River to finance his education, and worked his way up the Catholic hierarchy.

"He's one of the few of us who could walk down the street wearing a biretta (a priest's hat) and cassock and not seem phony," a Boston priest said of the man who is the spiritual leader of the second largest diocese in the country with 2 million Catholics.

Through it all, Medeiros has refused to follow the polls or bend to political considerations.

"The purpose of authority is primarily to inspire, to encourage, to direct and to challenge others to new levels of Christlikeness," he said after being challenged for his strong anti-abortion views.

"As an instrument of this authority, I speak as a spokesman for my church and for what my church believes," he said. "I do so, not to alienate, nor to cause anger, but simply because I believe this has been willed by Christ for His church until the end of time."

AMERICAN STOCK EXCHANGE
 The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped 3.24 to 962.46 in the first two hours of trading as declines out-numbered advances by a narrow margin among New York Stock Exchange issues. Oil issues, which led the rally Monday as the Dow average rose 15.02 points, turned lower. Mobil dropped 1/8 to 75 1/8, Phillips lost 3/8 to 51 3/4, and Standard of Ohio lost 2 1/8 to 62 3/8. But Union of California was up 1/8 to 43 1/4. Hopes of a peak in interest rates were spurred at the end of last week when the Federal Reserve reported a large decline in the money supply after several large increases. That was seen as reducing the pressure on the Fed to tighten credit further.

City Detour Planned On 14th Ave.

The city announced that a detour will be in effect for the 14th Avenue improvements project, as of Monday, Oct. 13.

According to the schedule, traffic on 14th Avenue will detour at the intersection of 14th and Myrtle Avenue, traveling along Myrtle to Paris Avenue and then down Paris to Farmville Boulevard. Traffic coming from Farmville Boulevard will also utilize Paris and Myrtle to 14th Avenue.

Tyson Street will also serve as a detour route as work will involve the 14th Avenue-Farmville Boulevard intersection, as well as the Raleigh Avenue intersection with Farmville Boulevard.

During the detour phase, the street sections will be closed to all but local traffic, with access provided to all local businesses and property.

The city said that if there are any questions relative to the detour, citizens should feel free to contact the Engineering Department at 752-4137, Ext. 211.

Need A Job, And Any Kind

GRATERFORD, Pa. (AP) — Finding a job on the outside was all that stood between prison inmate Richard Smith and parole. So he joined the French Foreign Legion.

For six years, Smith, 32, tried to gain parole from a 4- to 10-year sentence for a stabbing. Each time, it was denied because he had no job waiting. Frustrated, he finally told officials in August he would even be willing to join the French Foreign Legion if it would get him out of jail.

They said OK, and he left for France last week. "I keep thinking of Beau Geste and Tyrone Power," said Montgomery County Judge Vincent Cirillo, who sentenced Smith for the stabbing. "If that's what he wants to do, that's fine."

Truck Driver Is Invited Visit

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Truck driver Clarence Murphy didn't get the answer he wanted from President Carter, but he did get an invitation to visit the White House.

Murphy asked the president at last Wednesday's town meeting why auto haulers are not covered by federal Trade Adjustment Assistance benefits, which provide payments to workers laid off when foreign imports hurt manufacturers.

Carter told Murphy he would get back to him after consulting the Secretary of Labor.

On Sunday, Carter called to reply that not all laid-off workers can receive TRA benefits, said Murphy. "The point of what he said is that the line has got to be drawn somewhere," he added. In addition, Murphy said, the president asked him to drop by the White House.

Catch A Thief, Earn Applause

By JOHN W. GONZALEZ
 Associated Press Writer

NEW YOR (AP) — I caught a mugger on my dinner break Monday evening. I was too upset to eat for some time afterward, but I'll never forget the cheers of my crime-weary fellow pedestrians.

The thief picked a tall woman who was walking on Madison Avenue during rush hour. In the shadow of the rectory of St. Patrick's Cathedral, on a corner crowded with people who are moving too fast to give you the time of day, the thief ripped the thin, gold chain from the young woman's neck.

From 15 feet away I heard her scream and saw her reach for the disappearing arm and body that had snatched her jewelry. She missed, but the thickness of the crowd slowed the thief's flight and a businessman pushed the young man onto the street, where I was able to pounce on him.

I had to bear-hug the fellow for 10 or 15 minutes until the police came. Fortunately, the businessman knew an effective arm twist and helped me bring the chain-snatcher to his feet.

I endured a barrage of obscenities from the mugger, who had failed in what has become a trendy crime in New York. In the first eight months of 1980, nearly 2,000 chain snatchings were reported in the city's subways alone. Since April, police said, there have been an average of about 500 such robberies a month. In fact, later Monday night, a 32-year-old man was stabbed to death when robbers tried to snatch a gold chain from a companion.

The woman immediately thanked us and started looking for her chain, which lay by the curb. She couldn't find the medal that had been attached to it.

By then there was a crowd surrounding us, each person asking the other if the police had been called. A scrawny security guard from a nearby construction site came by and suggested we keep holding the fellow.

"The thief bucked and squirmed, demanding to be let go. 'You ripped my chain from my neck. What did you do with the medal?'" said the woman.

His reply was in poor taste, but he never denied the woman's accusation.

Several men who came close and asked "Have you got him?" gave the thief a verbal tan-and-feathering.

Someone yelled, "We've got to fight back. We've got to stick together, New York. No more of this!"

"Let's give these men a hand! Look at how they got one!" After applauding, some of the passersby moved on and others drew closer, starting new rounds of cheers and staring at the thief.

The woman, impatient during the wait for police, stood nearby and toyed with her broken chain. I don't know whether she ever found the medal.

Finally, a siren echoed among the skyscrapers. The blue-and-white squad car from a midtown precinct rolled up and officers with open handcuffs rushed to our aid.

Police arrested a youth they identified as Tyrone Hodge, 18, and booked him on a charge of grand larceny.

My 29-year-old body ached a bit from the ordeal but was I unharmed. As I moved quickly away from the scene, I felt some pats on the back and heard more applause from the construction workers and secretaries who were waiting for their buses.

I got half a block away and the businessman jogged up behind me and insisted on shaking my hand. He thanked me for doing my civic duty.

Minutes later, I was back on the job, thinking about Walter Mitty, the would-be hero.

Anderson Attacks Rival's Tactics, Ads

BOSTON (AP) — Independent presidential candidate John B. Anderson is on the attack against President Carter's campaign for its "Nixonian" tactics and what he says is its assumption it will win the black vote.

Campaigning in Chicago, Anderson told a group of black entrepreneurs and ministers that both Carter and Republican Ronald Reagan are ignoring the black vote. He also said that he agrees with historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr. that the Carter campaign shows some of the political qualities of former President Richard M. Nixon in its efforts to keep him off general election ballots.

Anderson was to address a group of newspaper editors in Cambridge, Mass., today, then hold a news conference before going on to campaign in Connecticut.

In Chicago, he said he resented that he said the Carter-Mondale campaign's belief that it had the black vote in its "hip pocket."

He also said he objected to Carter ads that said a vote for him was a vote for Reagan. "A vote for John Anderson is a vote for John Anderson," he said.

And he said he wondered whether Schlesinger, an official in the John F. Kennedy administration, "didn't reflect on the fact that the Nixon campaign became ... infamous for a department of dirty tricks, things that were not illegal but certainly exhibited a less-than-generous spirit."

Royals Upset, Wonder Who Will Be Starting

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas City Royals, amid growing resentment toward Manager Jim Frey, expected to find out today who will start — and at what position — in the opening game of the American League playoffs Wednesday against the New York Yankees.

"It would be nice of him to let us know," one player said after a two-hour workout Monday. "Maybe he's going to throw darts at pictures on a wall."

Frey has consistently refused to reveal his plans to his team. Three positions involving five players are undecided — first base, right field and catcher. There were mutterings from one end of the clubhouse to the other.

"If only we knew who was going to be where," said one of the regulars who is not involved in the indecision. "It would sure help the guys get ready."

Frey already has announced his pitching rotation through the first four games and said he would announce his starting lineup after today's practice.

New York Yankee Manager Dick Howser announced his pitching rotation and first-game lineup late Monday. Left-hander Ron Guidry, 17-10, will start for the Eastern Division champions, opposed by Kansas City left-hander Larry Gura, who is 18-10 but winless in his last eight starts.

Howser said his Wednesday lineup would be:

Left-hander Rudy May, 15-5, will pitch for the Yankees Thursday night against Kansas City right-hander Dennis Leonard, 20-11.

The series shifts to Yankee Stadium Friday night and Tommy John, 22-9, will be opposed by Paul Splittorff,

The Winner

Niekro Pitches Astros To Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Right-hander Ken Forsch, soaked in champagne, predicted his Houston Astros would beat the Philadelphia Phillies in the National League playoffs — yet he was so excited he couldn't predict what he would do.

Forsch, 12-13 on the season, will face Philadelphia ace Steve Carlton tonight in the opener of the best-three-of-five series for the title.

"I'm so excited about our beating Los Angeles that I haven't even thought about the next game," said Forsch. "I'll think about it on the plane trip to Philadelphia."

He doesn't think the West's single game playoff after a deadlocked finish would hurt the Astros, explaining, "We might have arrived in Philly and got all nervous waiting for the game."

Houston finally, after 19 years, won its division with a convincing 7-1 victory over the Dodgers, who had beaten the Astros three straight to knot the regular season at 92-70 and force the single game playoff on Monday afternoon.

"I've been waiting for this 14 years," declared an equally champagne-soaked Joe Niekro, who pitched the victory and allowed only six hits.

"I started out with my knuckler, went to the fastball and then back to the knuckler."

He befuddled the Dodgers, who had won the past three games with home runs but didn't get a ball to the fence this time.

Niekro's teammates had jumped on Dodger starter Dave Goltz for four runs in the first three innings and added three in the fourth. Four were driven in by first baseman Art Howe, who hit a two-run homer in the third and a two-run single in the fourth after Rick Sutcliffe had relieved Goltz.

The Dodgers never could fathom Niekro, who notched his 20th victory of the season, and even the fans became frustrated.

In the last of the fourth, as the Dodgers scored their only run, debris was hurled out the field. When a roll of toilet tissue was hurled out of the left field bleachers, home plate umpire Doug Harvey sent the Astros to their dugout and halted play.

The suspension lasted only three minutes as fans were warned their conduct could bring a forfeit in the playoff game.

'Bama 1st; Heels Ranked 8th

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The UCLA football team got a lot of yardage in The Associated Press poll out of last Saturday's victory over Ohio State.

And now that the Bruins are ranked No.5 in the country, Coach Terry Donahue hopes there is no significance attached to that particular number.

"Oklahoma was ranked No.5 when Stanford beat them," the Bruin coach reminds you of the shocker two weeks ago. "And we're No.5 now. Do you think there's a parallel there? I hope not."

UCLA plays Stanford this weekend in Los Angeles in what Donahue sees as a true measure of UCLA's 1980 season.

"Up to this point, I'd say this was the strongest team we've had here at UCLA," says Donahue. "But we'll know for sure after the Stanford game. Stanford is capable of beating any team in the country."

Although Donahue feels that Stanford's offensive line is "vastly superior to Ohio State's," the 17-0 shutout of the Buckeyes in Columbus will long be considered by many to be the highlight of UCLA's 1980 season. The fourth straight victory by UCLA kicked them up six spots in the polls, from 11th to fifth. Ohio State, meanwhile, skidded from second to No.9.

Ironically, the UCLA victory not only helped the Bruins but also gave a lift to their fierce cross-town rival, Southern Cal. The Trojans moved up from No.4 to No.2 after a 23-21 decision over Arizona State.

There was a new No.3 team, too, after Nebraska was upset 18-14 by Florida State. Texas took over that position, moving up two spots in the wake of a 41-28 triumph over Rice. Nebraska, meanwhile, plunged to 10th.

Alabama, meanwhile, was a near-unanimous choice for No.1 after a 45-0 rout of Kentucky that gave Bear Bryant his 300th coaching triumph. The Crimson Tide received 60 of the 63 first-place votes from the national panel of sports writers and sportscasters for as total of 1,252 points.

Southern Cal, with 1,227 points, had one of the other votes for first place along with No. 4 Pittsburgh and UCLA.

Georgia moved from eighth to sixth despite an idle weekend; Notre Dame held on to No.7 following a 26-21 decision over Michigan State and North Carolina moved up two places to No.8 after routing Georgia Tech 33-0.

Florida State's upset of Nebraska helped the Seminoles move from 16th to 11th. The remainder of the Top Twenty included Oklahoma; Miami (Fla.); Penn State; Arkansas; Stanford; South Carolina; Baylor; Missouri and Southern Methodist.

ECU Names Five Assistant ADs

East Carolina director of athletics Dr. Ken Karr today announced a reorganization of the Pirate athletic department, including the appointment of five additional assistant athletic directors to serve on Karr's staff.

Previously, only two assistant athletic directors had served on the staff.

The five named are: Gus Andrews, assistant athletic director for external affairs; Pirate Club; Laurie Arrants, assistant for student life; Hal Baird, assistant for equipment; Bob Helmick, assistant for operations; and Ken Smith, assistant for public relations.

John Welborn, in his fifth year as an assistant, will now be titled assistant for student life. Earline Leggett, assistant for business affairs, will continue in the same position.

"I felt it necessary to name more people to our direct administrative staff in athletics in order that we may more efficiently run our departmental affairs," Karr said. "With the exception of Earline Leggett, everyone on our new administrative staff has many other duties, thereby cutting the amount of time each can spend on direct administrative tasks. And that's the reason for the number of assistant athletic directors.

"For an athletic program of this size, and with the ambitions we have for the future, it is necessary to have an administrative staff with specific duties for efficient operations. No single person can handle directly all the many tasks we face daily in making our department go. Duties must be delegated and responsibilities accepted by several people in order for our athletic program to grow and function soundly."

Football, NCAA and AIAW basketball, sports medicine and academic counseling will answer directly to Karr. All other sports will report to one of four assistant athletic directors.

Andrews, the executive director of the Pirate Club, will continue in that role, and has been added to the administrative staff to more closely coordinate external fund raising affairs.

Helmick, as assistant for operations, will handle duties related to physical staging of events and transportation.

Baird, as assistant for equipment, will work on a central organization of equipment and supplies for the various teams, as well as having certain sports reporting to him. Those sports include NCAA baseball and soccer, and AIAW softball, gymnastics and volleyball.

Smith, as assistant for public relations, will oversee all sports information work, promotions, radio network, cheerleaders, band and various special events.

Welborn will be in charge of AIAW and NCAA tennis and NCAA wrestling. Arrants will take care of AIAW and NCAA swimming and track, AIAW field hockey and the strength coach.

Prior to these appointments, Andrews was executive director of the Pirate Club; Arrants was coordinator of women's athletics; Baird was head baseball coach; Helmick was director of operations; and Smith was director of sports information and promotions.

These appointments will not affect the coaching duties of Arrants for AIAW field hockey and track, Baird for baseball and Helmick for golf.

The new assistants will assume their duties immediately.

Bears Bomb Bucs

CHICAGO (AP) — When asked about his team's execution in a game long ago, Tampa Bay Coach John McKay deadpanned, "I'm all for it."

Admittedly, he'd have to go a ways to top that hit. But standing in the catacombs of ancient Soldier Field and drawing inspiration from the surroundings, McKay shook his head and gave it a try.

"We must have set Monday Night Football back 2,000 years," he said after Tampa Bay absorbed a 23-0 defeat by the Chicago Bears, who have shut out the Bucs in their last three meetings. "They beat us in every phase of the game — passing, running, kicking, special teams and coaching. They even beat us coming out of the tunnel."

But the way both teams played the opening half, most fans probably weren't sure they had come out. Neither side seemed capable of a sustained drive until Chicago took over at its own 42, marched to the 9-yard line and settled for the first of three field goals by Bob Thomas, this one a 37-yard effort that spelled the 3-0 halftime margin. He added field goals of 29 and 44 yards in the second half.

The next possession seemed to set the tone for the Bucs' night. They moved from their own 44-yard line to the Chicago 10, where quarterback Doug Williams fired to Jimmie Giles for an apparent touchdown. But a holding call against center Steve Wilson wiped out the score and put the Tampa Bay offense in reverse. Four plays and a penalty later, Garo Yepremian's 49-yard attempt was blocked.

"That first half was not my favorite kind of football game," said Bears Coach Neill Armstrong. "I can't explain it. We had electricity in our warmup but it didn't show up until the second half."

That's when Mike Phipps commandeered an offense that had earned countless boos and just 77 total first-half yards and began playing it like an orchestra. On third-and-13 at the Buc 42, Phipps picked up a Tampa Bay blitz and hit Brian Baschnagel with a 37-yard pass to the 5. Phipps then rolled right, and finding the corner free, rammed into the end zone himself, the first time he has rushed for a TD since 1974, when he was quarterbacking Cleveland.

Wooten Wins F'ball Contest

George Wooten of 2003 Tuckahoe Dr. captured first place in last week's Daily Reflector Football Contest.

Wooten correctly picked the winners in 27 of the 32 games listed in last Tuesday's contest section. He took first, however, on the basis of his point total, hitting the 71 points scored in Auburn's 55-16 win over Richmond, on the nose.

Second place went to last week's second place finisher Seth Jones, of P.B. Box 211, Walstonburg. Jones also had 27 games right, but was three off the point total with a guess of 68.

One other entrant also had 27 correct picks, but was further off the point total.

The next contest appears on the following pages.

Philadelphia In Playoffs For 4th Time In 5 Years

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies, knocking on the door of the World Series for the fourth time in five years, opened their best-of-five National League Championship series tonight against the Houston Astros.

Steve Carlton, a 24-game winner, will pitch for the Phillies, who won the East over the weekend in a three-game set with the Montreal Expos.

Ken Forsch (12-13) is Houston's reluctant choice after the Astros were forced to a one-game playoff with the Los Angeles Dodgers to win the West. They had to use ace Joe Niekro, (20-12) to get the job done.

Houston went into Los Angeles with a three-game lead, needing just one victory to complete their first championship season in the franchise's 19-year history. But they lost all three, forcing the playoff, which they won, 7-1.

The Phillies, meanwhile, clinched on Saturday without using Carlton, who starts tonight with seven days of rest. Forsch has had just three days between starts.

If that's not enough of a handicap for the Astros, Carlton, the league's strikeout king and owner of the second best ERA in the league, has a 2-0 record against Houston this year and a 28-9 lifetime.

Also, the Phillies during the regular season were 9-3 against the West Division champions, 5-1 at home and 4-2 in the Astrodome. Houston, however, has defied the odds all season, so it would be foolhardy to sell manager Bill Virdon's team short now.

Phillies Manager Dallas Green declined to announce his lineup until before game time (8:15 p.m.), but Virdon is expected to go with the team that finished off the Dodgers in the fifth playoff in NL history.

Art Howe should be at first base, with the veteran Joe Morgan at second, and shortstop Craig Reynolds and third baseman Enos Cabell rounding out the infield. Alan Ashby probably will catch.

In the Houston outfield, expect Terry Puhl, Cesar Cedeno and Jose Cruz. Green did say he would use veteran Bob Boone to handle Carlton, but left unsaid whether he would go to veterans Greg Luzinski and Garry Maddox in the outfield.

Boone, coming off knee surgery this winter, has played under physical handicap and slumped to .228 as a hitter. His defense also has suffered. He did, however, single home the tying run in the ninth inning at Montreal Saturday to send the game into extra innings.

Boone, Maddox and Luzinski all were benched part of the final week of the season for weak offense. Maddox resented the move, pouted and one night scratched himself from the lineup, claiming an injured little finger affected his batting.

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL INDEX

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

HUNTER ORIGINAL OLDE TYME CEILING FANS

This was the fan that went round the world. These Hunter ceiling fans, the 1903 originals, swirled away heat in the steamy jungles of Africa, in the deserts of Morocco, on the shores of India and in the plantation homes of the South. A lot of people who remember those days still refer to all ceiling fans as "Hunter Fans". Johnny-come-lately's can't fool them—they know Hunter is the original.

Royals Upset At Manager.....

14-11, in another duel of left-handers. If the series goes to Game 4, the Yankees will send veteran right-hander Luis Tiant, 8-9, against Kansas City right-hander Rich Gale, 13-9.

The Yankees said they will activate veteran third baseman Graig Nettles, who was felled by hepatitis this season, and are expected to start him Thursday. Howser is expected to make room for Nettles by dropping either outfielder Joe Lefebvre or utility man Dennis Werth.

Freyy must choose between Darrell Porter and John Wathan at catcher; Clint Hurdle, Jose Cardenal or Wathan in right field; and Willie Mays Aikens or Wathan at first base.

Wathan, a right-handed hitter and master utility man, probably will find a spot somewhere in the lineup against the Yankee left-handers. He played mostly at catcher this year when Porter, who drove in 112 runs in 1979, got off to a slow start after missing the first month of the season in a drug and alcohol rehabilitation center. Porter, a left-handed hitter, is considered the superior catcher but has hit only .249.

Hurdle, a left-handed hitter, batted .294 for the season and is a greatly superior rightfielder to Wathan or the 37-year-old Cardenal, who hits right-handed and was signed in late August after being released by the New York Mets. Willie Aikens, a left-handed hitter, hit .278 and drove in 98 runs but does not hit left-handed pitching well.

"A lot of guys on the team would be surprised if I didn't start," said Aikens. "If I'm not playing, there could be things said."

"I just want to play in the worst way," said Wathan. "I

Jail Sentence For Punk Star

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The sentence was a cruel blow to his fans, who moaned loudly in Dublin District Court's public gallery. Their hero, punk rock star Johnny Rotten, was sentenced to three months in jail for kicking a bar manager and his assistant after they refused to serve him a drink.

The 24-year-old singer, who launched the punk craze in Britain five years ago with the now defunct Sex Pistols, was freed on bail of $1,757 pending an appeal of the Dublin District Court's sentence Monday.

The Irish-born singer, who pleaded innocent, had spent the weekend in Dublin's Mountjoy prison after he was refused bail Saturday. He said he was told to get out when he walked into a bar Friday and asked for two pints of lager. As he began to leave, he said he was jumped by the barman and punched in the face and head. He denied kicking anyone and declared: "I'm not a violent person."

Rotten is in Ireland to perform with a new group formed by his younger brothers.

HOMEcoming SET
Proctor Memorial Christian Church of Grimesland will celebrate homecoming on Sunday, Oct. 12. Morning worship will begin at 11 a.m. and will be followed by a fellowship dinner at the church.

Actors' Union Votes Reject Proposed Pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actors in a Los Angeles local have voted to reject the proposed contract hammered during the lengthy strike against movie and television producers, but a smaller local in San Francisco endorsed the pact.

Members of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists here voted 228-220 against the settlement Monday, and San Francisco's smaller AFTRA chapter approved it 51-7, according to Bud Wolff, AFTRA's national executive secretary.

AFTRA chapters in New York, Chicago, and Washington, D.C. have yet to vote on the agreement, and the Screen Actors Guild still is conducting balloting by mail, Wolff said.

AFTRA and SAG had told their 67,000 members they could head studio calls while voting continues, but many actors stayed home Monday because they either honored musicians' picket lines or because they hadn't yet been called back.

Meanwhile, the American Federation of Musicians — still on strike with no talks taking place — won a temporary restraining order against Universal Studios Monday, barring the studio from using old soundtracks for new programs.

The musicians' union convinced a judge to block broadcast of two new episodes of "Quincy," alleging the music for them was recorded before the current season, a violation of the contract. The union claimed Universal already had broadcast one episode of "Quincy" using the soundtrack from an old episode.

Superior Court Judge Jerry Pacht set Oct. 20 to hear arguments on the issuance of a preliminary injunction.

A Universal spokeswoman declined comment on the court action.

Yet, ABC didn't hesitate to figure in its own ratings on the night that CBS and NBC were broadcasting the Reagan-Anderson debate — unrated by Nielsen because it was unsponsored — while ABC rolled in the points by showing "Midnight Express" instead.

None of this matters a whit in the great scheme of things, of course, but it might cheer front-running NBC a bit — it's pretty clear that NBC isn't the only network that considers this TV season a legitimate one.

But there was little turnout at such major facilities as MGM, 20th Century Fox, Burbank Studios, Paramount, Universal and Disney, where musicians picketed in small groups.

Marie Fera, a studio orchestra cellist who has been on strike with her 5,000 fellow AFM members since Aug. 1, explained: "We want repayment for replay of TV shows. ... A rerun could go for weeks or years and we never get another penny. Every rerun means less original programming."

The musicians provide background music for films and filmed television programs.

set-Gower Studios, which were not picketed.

Ratings Don't Worry ABC, They Say; But Show Undue Concern

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — For a network insisting that the TV season hasn't really started yet, ABC seems unduly concerned with ratings during this television "non-season."

ABC and CBS, finding themselves at a relative disadvantage going into this strike-altered season, declared the season non-existent for the duration of the actors' strike. Both networks lacked rival NBC's store of strike-proof programs, most notably, the blockbuster "Shogun" miniseries.

Yet, ABC has been fairly combative in its weekly ratings tallies packaged for the television press.

After the week of September 15 — the traditional start of the fall season, recognized as such this year only by NBC (which ran "Shogun" that week) — ABC began its ratings release thus:

"SHOGUN wa Okina seiko de atta. Omedeto NBC! Fune wa demashita. Asu wa nani ga kimasuka?"

"Translation: SHOGUN was a big rating success. Congratulations NBC! But the ship has sailed. What will tomorrow bring?"

Seems to be a challenging tone there, for a network insisting the race hasn't yet begun and isn't about to start.

The network went on to offer ratings data on its long-ago "Roots" miniseries as "a point of reference," just in case the world was tempted to make too much of "Shogun."

"For the week ending January 30th 1977," the release read, "the top seven rated shows were all 'Roots' episodes."

Yes, yes, we remember, NBC, of course, cleaned house in the ratings opening week and gained enough momentum to win the second week as well. That is, NBC won by every count except ABC's.

"ABC and NBC finished in a tie for first place for the week ending September 28, 1980," the ABC ratings release boasted.

Huh? The Niensens as interpreted by CBS and NBC show:

NBC—17.5
ABC—17.4
CBS—16.0

How did ABC figure the tie?

Recognizing the musicians' support for the actors' 11-week walkout, SAG and AFTRA obtained from the producers a promise of amnesty to all actors choosing to honor musician pickets.

The few actors that did go back to work Monday included the cast of ABC's "Barney Miller" — Hal Linden, Max Gail, Ron Glass, Steve Landesberg and others — at the small Sun-

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Francis Ford Coppola and Gene Kelly have formed a new organization for the development and production of musical motion pictures.

The organization is a unit of Coppola's Zoetrope Studios, and is the first devoted to musicals since the MGM unit of the 1940s and 1950s.

Kelly will develop and train a musical repertory company and will act as producer and director on a series of films.

Investigators said that just before Newton and his partner Ed Torres announced last year they would purchase the Aladdin Hotel, Newton contacted an alleged associate of the Gambino Mafia family in Las Vegas for "help with a problem," according to NBC News.

That associate, Guido Penosi, allegedly took up the matter with Frank Piccolo, a reputed Gambino boss in New York. Police in New York said that Piccolo told friends he had become a hidden partner in the hotel deal, the broadcast said.

NBC said Penosi was a key figure in a federal grand jury investigation of the alleged activities of the Gambino family in Las Vegas, particularly in connection with the Aladdin Hotel. Newton and his partner were given state approval last month to buy the Aladdin.

Newton called the NBC report "an absolute smear campaign," saying it amounted to "slander, defamation of character and everything else."

The report did not say where the grand jury was meeting, but quoted federal authorities as saying Newton is expected to be one of the first witnesses.

NBC News quoted authorities as saying that Newton, despite his large income, has had financial problems.

But the singer recently testified under oath before the Nevada Gaming Control Board that he had no hidden partners and that he knew Penosi only as a fan and a family friend, NBC said.

Hidden interests in casinos are illegal under Nevada law.

Penosi told NBC News that he did not know Newton, but the network quoted authorities as saying they know of at least 11 calls made by Penosi to the singer's home in a two-month period.

The Aladdin Hotel was reopened last Wednesday after the state had shut it down for 11 weeks during an investigation, the longest closure in Nevada gaming history.

Expect Grand Jury Call Entertainer To Testify

NEW YORK (AP) — Entertainer Wayne Newton is expected to be called as a witness before a special grand jury investigating possible Mafia connections in his deal to buy a Las Vegas casino for $85 million, NBC News reported Monday night.

Investigators said that just before Newton and his partner Ed Torres announced last year they would purchase the Aladdin Hotel, Newton contacted an alleged associate of the Gambino Mafia family in Las Vegas for "help with a problem," according to NBC News.

That associate, Guido Penosi, allegedly took up the matter with Frank Piccolo, a reputed Gambino boss in New York. Police in New York said that Piccolo told friends he had become a hidden partner in the hotel deal, the broadcast said.

Signaling is the language of the play of the cards. Watch how East and West combined on today's hand to defeat a contract that seemed sure to make.

North and South bid well to reach a good four spade contract. Note that North did not feel compelled to do anything more than make a free raise to two spades with his useful hand. When South showed additional values, North went to game with alacrity.

West led king of clubs and East signaled encouragement with the ten. Lackadaisical defense will allow declarer to make his contract. Assume that West continues with the ace of clubs and another. Declarer ruffs, draws trumps and runs the nine of diamonds. East wins and shifts to a heart, but declarer rises with the ace, repeats the diamond finesse and makes the rest of the tricks.

Fortunately, West took time out to consider the meaning of his partner's ten of clubs. It was unlikely that it was a doubleton, for that would mean that declarer held five clubs to the queen-jack, which was totally inconsistent with the bidding. The only other reason for East to encourage a club continuation was because he held the queen.

Once that was established, the rest of the defense became routine. At trick two West led his low club! East won the queen and shifted to a heart. Those three plays effectively squashed whatever chance declarer had for his contract. Whether he won the ace of hearts or played low, the defenders were sure to get a heart trick.

The only legitimate play for the contract now was to hope that West had started with both the king and jack of diamonds. But that was not the case, so the defenders had to come to a diamond trick for down one.

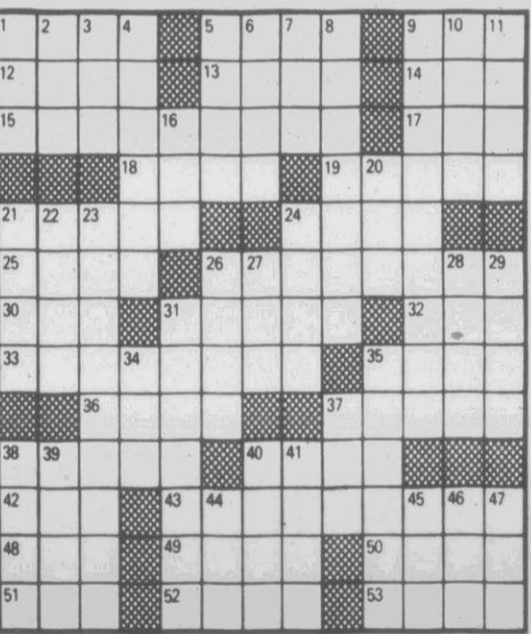

Your play to the first trick could decide the fate of the contract! A writer once remarked: "There's no such thing as a blind opening lead, only deaf opening leads!"
