Area Legislators See State Budget Biggest Problem

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
Sen. Vernon White, and House members Sam Bundy and Ed Warren, representing Pitt County in the North Carolina General Assembly, feel the biggest problem facing law makers in the 1981 session, will be the state budget.

The General Assembly session begins tomorrow at Noon.

"Because of the shortfall in revenues," White said, "we may have to cut a few of the services."

"The state is not receiving the money we had anticipated...not keeping up with inflation," Bundy explained. "The budget will be very tight, very austere."

As White sees it, one of the "biggest fights," will be over whether "we levy a tax in some fashion...gas or what else," for highway maintenance and construction. "We are going to have to keep up our roads."

The highway problem, as Bundy sees it, "is going to be very great." Saying that the cost of highway construction is, "going up faster than anything else," he predicted that the General Assembly, "will not buy a five cents per gallon tax increase," although lawmakers might compromise on two cents a gallon.

Along with the budget, the lawmakers see a four or five percent pay hike for state employees and teachers as likely.

Other issues expected to loom large before the General Assembly include re-districting for Congressional, State House and State Senate seats, insurance bills designed to restore power to the Insurance Commissioner, and bills designed to raise interest rates banks can charge for various loans.

"It appears the Equal Rights Amendment is not as tight a problem as before," Bundy noted, saying the ERA question, "may not come up at all," during the 1981 session. "It has less chance of passing this year," than in the past, he indicated.

"Education is going to fare well," White theorized, emphasizing, however, that a proposed $600 million bond issue for school building construction will not pass.

Warren, the junior representative from Pitt, noted that, "during this session, it is my hope that some tax relief can be given. It will be my goal to support legislation that will result in improved efficiency in government and reduce or eliminate any duplication of programs or efforts, thus creating opportunities for passage of some tax relief measures."

A big concern of his, according to Warren, is, "how we can get some money back to the citizens."

Warren indicated support for increases in the amount allowed for personal exemptions on the State income tax, and increases in the amount of interest from savings that is exempt from taxes.

He also expressed interest in legislation which would increase the dollar value of inheritance that is exempt from taxes.

Rash Of 6 Fires In Cold

GRIFTON — The cold weather on Monday was paralleled in Grifton by a rash of house fires in and outside the town as Grifton Fire Department personnel were called to six separate fires from shortly before 8 a.m. until past ten at night.

Three of the fires resulted in major losses amounting to an estimate of $32,000; with the other three kept to minimal damage with approximately $500 in losses.

The first incident of a home fire was at 7:55 a.m. at a trailer home belonging to Robert A. Jones in Grifton. The estimated loss was put at $5,000.

At 10:47 a.m., the Grifton Fire Department responded to an alarm for a fire at the Rt. 1, Grifton home of Henry Harris. Heavy damage sustained to the residence is estimated at $15,000.

The 4:05 p.m. fire at the home of Mary Jane Mewborn on Market Street in Grifton was extinguished with only minor damage of about $100 sustained due to an electrical shortage.

Another instance of light damage sustained was that of the 6:49 p.m. fire at the home of Richard Bates in Grifton. Estimate of smoke damage from the furnace fire was $200.

At 8 p.m. Grifton firemen reported to the home of Durwood Rouse, Pine Villa, RFD, Grifton, where minor damage of approximately $200 was sustained.

The last fire of the day, another residence fire, was on Creek Shore Drive, with the house being a total loss. Owner of the home was not identified. Ayden Fire Department came to the assistance of the Grifton Fire Department for this fire. The estimated value of the house has been placed at $12,000.

Alton Clements, a town councilman providing information on the six fires, asks that home owners take special precaution during cold weather against a greater danger of home fires. He also said that people using fireplaces, wood stoves and some of the new types of heaters should be aware of the proper methods of operating these devices.

bination, he said, caused power to an area along Greenville Boulevard, from Evans Street to Arlington Boulevard, and other sections in the area, to go on and off as crews worked to restore power to the Lyndale Subdivision. The power outages included WNCT-TV's station, which went off the air several times due to the difficulties.

The trouble started, Green said, when two wires in the subdivision, carrying heavier-than-normal loads, "got together...twisted around each other," and a protector opened up. When crews untwisted the wires and the load built back up, "to about four times the normal," he continued, a switch broke, a wire burned out, and a bad insulator was located.

Greene noted that between 40 and 50 customers in the Simpson area were without power for a short time when (Please turn to Page 6)

Power Overload Spells Blackout For Some Greenville Residents

Greenville area residents spent another night in nature's deep freeze last night, according to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station, which reported the 8 a.m. temperature was 9 degrees.

The high temperature for the 24 hour period ending at midnight last night was 23 degrees, while the low for the same period was 9 degrees, GUC spokesmen reported. That compares with the high for the previous day of 31, and a low of 12 degrees.

The heavy load on electric circuits caused by the cold temperatures last night resulted in a power outage in the Lyndale Subdivision and areas along Greenville Boulevard.

Electric department superintendent Malcolm Green said Lyndale residents were without power from about 9:15 p.m. yesterday until about 12:45 a.m. today because of, "a combination of things." The same com-

Progress, Problems On Hostage Release

By The Associated Press

The United States and Iran both reported progress toward agreement on Iran's frozen assets in the United States, but U.S. officials said serious problems still stand in the way of an agreement for the release of the 52 American hostages.

The speaker of Iran's Parliament, Hashemi Rafsanjani, said "all roads" were open to settling the 437-day-old crisis. President Carter said he situation "looks better, but I can't predict success."

President-elect Ronald Reagan said information he received "indicated... optimism. I have my fingers crossed."

But Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher, meeting in Algiers since Thursday with Algerian intermediaries in the negotiations, reported "serious, substantive problems" still block agreement, U.S. officials said.

Officials in Washington said there had been no serious negotiations yet on the demand the Iranians said was the main issue between the two countries — the return of the fortune which the Iranian revolutionary regime charges the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his family transferred abroad.

They said that despite the optimistic talk from Tehran, Iran has not indicated any shift in its demand that the United States deposit $10 billion in the Algerian Central Bank as a guarantee for the return of the royal fortune.

The U.S. government rejected the demand, saying the shah's assets in the United States were worth only a small part of that amount.

Several officials in Washington familiar with the negotiations said prospects for a breakthrough before Reagan's inauguration next Tuesday still were not good.

The Majlis, Iran's parliament, met to consider two bills to lay the legal groundwork for an agreement, and Rafsanjani said he expected approval of the legislation. But the debate was called off when the 12-member Council of Guardians which must approve all legislation adopted did not show up for the session.

The council is dominated by hard-line Islamic clerics who are bitterly antagonistic toward the United States. Their absence could indicate an attempt to block any retreat from Iran's original demands for up to $24 billion for the release of the hostages.

One bill would approve appointment of a third-party as arbitrator of financial and legal claims between Iran and the United States. The other would nationalize the wealth of the shah and his closest relatives, providing a legal basis for the Iranian government's demand that the royal family's assets abroad be turned over to it.

BOAT MANUFACTURING FACILITY DESTROYED... Beaufort County firefighters battle a blaze that destroyed the Privateer boat

Boat Plant Destroyed By Fire In Early Hours

CHOCOWINITY — The Privateer boat manufacturing company near here was destroyed by fire this morning shortly after midnight.

Chocowinity Fire Chief Curtis Avery said the manufacturing area of the plant was engaged in fire when his department arrived just after the 12:15 a.m. alarm. Firefighters from Washington, Bunion, Old Ford and Blount's Creek were called in to assist. Nine trucks were used and a water holding tank filled from a nearby pond was set up to replenish the pumps as needed. The battle with the blaze in sub-freezing cold lasted for four hours.

A furnace explosion was blamed for the blaze. All that was saved was an office trailer adjacent to the buildings that burned. Several 55-gallon drums of acetone cleaning fluid also exploded. Avery said Warren Wilkerson of Greenville was the operator of the plant, and Wood Beasley of the Washington area was listed as an owner. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

Chief Avery said this was the largest fire with which the Chocowinity Fire Department has ever dealt. He expressed appreciation for the hard work of the members of his and the assisting fire departments and thankfulness that there were no injuries.

Winterville Ordinance Reduces Trains' Speed

By TOMMY FORREST
Reflector Staff Writer

WINTERVILLE — A public hearing was held prior to the regular town board meeting in Winterville last night to get input on the reduction of the train speed through Winterville on the Seaboard Coast Line tracks.

Mayor Walter Dail announced last week that Seaboard Coast Line official

J. S. Wilkes of Rocky Mount had visited Winterville and agreed to lower the limit.

The town ordinance stated the speed of the train was slated to be 35 MPH between the hours of 7:30 p.m. and 7:30 a.m.

Alderman Leland Tucker made a motion to change the ordinance to read, the speed of the train though Winterville would be 25 MPH, and night.

The motion carried.

In commenting on the action taken by the board, Wilkes said, "We are sensitive to the people's needs in Winterville just like we are in the other towns we operate through."

"If you have a problem, whether it be speed or whatever, we are interested in it," Wilkes added.

Mayor Dail told the board that total cost for repairs to five railroad crossings: Blount, Depot, Worthington, and Sylvania Street, amounted to approximately $7,596.

In new business Mayor Dail asked the board for permission to look into the possibility of obtaining natural gas for the town.

Mayor Dail said there was a possibility of bringing the line down the railroad from Greenville.

The mayor added that having natural gas would be a cheaper means of heating homes and would attract more industry.

The board authorized Mayor Dail to look into the matter.

Carl Dean, town advisor, told the board the planning and zoning board had initially approved the rezoning of a six and one half acre tract of land on the west side of old N.C. 11, north of the town limits from agricultural-residential to a multifamily block.

The rezoning was at the request of A. J. Speight, who is planning to develop the land for apartments. (Please turn to Page 2)

Ayden Bd. Receives Industrial Site Material

AYDEN — A pamphlet and book containing information on prime industrial sites in the Ayden-Grifton area were presented to the town board by Pitt County Development Commission Director Reese Hart during the board's monthly meeting Monday night.

The publications, prepared by the development commission, outline the characteristics of ten area industrial sites and heavily concentrated effort on behalf of the citizens of the Ayden-Grifton communities to identify, investigate and present prime industrial sites qualified for future economic development," said Hart. "This is the finest information I have seen presented by a town this size."

Hart added that he felt publications of this type gave communities a large advantage in attracting industries. "This, and having a contractor come in and put up a shell building are the two most important steps in getting industries to locate in an area. In this information, I feel you have the basis to convince industry to grow with the community."

The board also approved the Housing Authority budget for 1981-82. The budget calls for a total of $148,990 to operate the town's low-cost housing.

In other business, two public hearings were set for the February meeting. A public hearing on assessments for improvements on Boulevard and Turnage and Watermelon streets will be held February 9, along with a public hearing on rezoning land on North Lee Street from commercial to residential. The land is owned by the Hent Tripp heirs, Willie Tripp and Willie Edmondson.

The board also approved an 18-month contract with York Air Conditioning and Heating to service the town's heating system. The present contract calls only for serving the cooling system. The contract began January 1, 1981 and runs through June 30, 1982 at a cost of $149 per month.

Commissioner Dixon discussed with the board the establishment of the Ayden Council, a wing of the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce. A meeting has been set for January 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ayden courtroom to organize the council. "I hope all of you will come out to the meeting and become active in the organization," Dixon told the (Please turn to Page 2)

County Commissioners Back Interchange Plan

Spurred on by Greenville and Farmville area residents, the Board of County Commissioners last week adopted a resolution asking the Department of Transportation to include an interchange between Farmville and Greenville on the proposed U.S. 264 freeway.

The Farmville Town Board last night adopted a similar resolution.

According to the county resolution, the "preliminary field plan," for the location of the new U.S. 264, "has no provisions for an interchange location" between the two Pitt County municipalities. "The failure to provide for an interchange... will result in the inability of residents along SR 1200 (Stantonsburg Road), to gain access to the new facility without driving either to Farmville or to the Greenville terminus of the project."

The resolution noted that, "a location of interchange on this relocation of U.S. 264... would also prevent the accumulation of excessive traffic for exit at the Greenville terminus of the project just west of the Pitt County Memorial Hospital, and the Greenville medical complex."

Stressing that "it is important that the land for this interchange should be acquired when the right-of-way acquisition commences on the project," the commissioners' resolution added, "it is hereby requested to include this interchange in the field plan... and that the right-of-way and land necessary to complete this interchange be acquired when other land is acquired..."

The resolution also requested a public hearing be held, "before any final decision is reached."

Transportation Board member George Harper of Kinston, has also voiced his support for the inclusion of an interchange between Greenville and Farmville.

In a letter to W. A. Wilson Jr., head of roadway design for the Department of Transportation, dated December 5, Harper said, "I was very much surprised and disappointed to learn... that no provision for an interchange location... has been provided. Traffic counts at the present time might not justify one now," Harper indicated, adding, "but rest assured it will in the not too far distant future."

"It is suggested and recommended that serious consideration be given to acquiring the land for an interchange when right of way acquisition commences on this project. The particular location suggested is approximately halfway between Farmville and the Greenville Medical Complex where a fly over is presently proposed at SR 1210 (the Mazingo Road)."

Chamber Meeting To Be Held

Robert Griffin, chairman of the board of the Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce, announced today that the vice chairman and committee chairmen of the organization will hold an orientation meeting January 14 at 7:30 a.m. at the Ramada Inn Restaurant.

Griffin said that the purpose of the meeting is to review the program of work of the chamber of commerce and to inform the 1981 vice chairmen and committee chairmen of their responsibilities.

Vice chairmen Henry Leslie, Dr. Jon Tingelstad, Reid Hooper and Tim Rosche will be directing more than 25 committees and working with more than 1,000 volunteers, according to Griffin.

Concerning the orientation meeting Griffin said, "Our program of work during 1981 is an aggressive one. My confidence in our 'Directions '81' comes from the leadership and skilled persons within our membership who are offering themselves and their resources to meet the needs of our community which our chamber will address this year."

Following the orientation meeting, committee chairmen will begin organizing their committees and scheduling their first meetings during 1981.

Urges End Of Quibbling On School Bond Shares

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) - North Carolina's public school systems must set aside internal bickering over distribution of any new funds and jointly support a call for a statewide referendum by November on a proposed $750 million bond issue, state school Superintendent Craig Phillips said Monday.

Phillips urged school executives attending the winter conference of school superintendents not to argue over the economic or political climate for such a referendum.

"The message to get to every legislator and to the governor is the message the state Board of Education adopted... 'Let's not put it off any longer,'" Phillips said.

The state board called last week for the General Assembly to authorize a referendum. That followed action last year by Gov. Jim Hunt and state legislators to postpone a $600 million school bond referendum last November. Hunt and the legislators cited adverse economic and political factors.

Phillips said the proposed bond money would provide a basic $750,000 allocation for each county, to be used mostly for replacement of obsolete school facilities and renovation of older buildings.

Some of the superintendents attending Monday's meeting questioned the distribution plan, saying it would be more equitable to allocate the money on a per capita basis or according to school needs.

Phillips said such internal arguing would give key legislators "the best reason in the world" not to call for a referendum.

Some money would be better than no money, Phillips said, adding that, "if we don't get it now, the potholes (road maintenance) are going to take it."

Some superintendents also said they were concerned about a resolution of the North Carolina Association

Hunt Aide Says He Is Retiring

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) - Hugh V. Stevens, director of the governor's western office since 1977, said Monday he is retiring.

Stevens, 65, is a former U.S. marshal. He has headed the office since it was established by Gov. Jim Hunt.

Hunt is expected to appoint R. Wayne McDevitt, the state president of the Young Democratic Club, to succeed Stevens. McDevitt now is director of the Asheville regional office of the Department of Natural Resources and Community Development.

Also on Thursday, the school newspaper, "The Jaguar Journal," goes on sale.

Other events at Aycock include the enrollment of Grace Neal, a ninth grade student from Liberia; taking of orders for the school annual; and displays of students work in the Student Commons area and in display cases in the library.

On February 1, Afro-American months begins with the theme: "Black History: Role Model for Youth."

Books Theft Guilty Plea

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) - A one-time security guard has pleaded guilty to charges that he stole more than $300,000 worth of rare books from the Biltmore House, the 255-room mansion built in the 1890s by George Vanderbilt.

The FBI said at least 60 books have been recovered in North America and Europe, but more are missing. The theft was one of the largest ever reported from a literary collection in North Carolina.

Robert Livingston Matters, 56, also known as Rustem Levni Turkseven, pleaded guilty to stealing the books and prints at an appearance in U.S. District Court Monday. He will be sentenced March 2.

Matters faces a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a fine of $10,000. He was released on bond Monday.

FBI agent Robert Pence said Matters, who worked at the Biltmore Estate for 18 months in 1979-80, apparently acted alone. Matters ran a small bookbinding company in Asheville while he worked at the estate.

The rezoning was approved by the board.

Donald Boyle representing the Ruritan Club of Winterville presented to the board the Community Watch program the club has started.

Boyle said about 300 persons have already signed for the program. Boyle asked the board to approve door-to-door solicitation for the program, endorse the program for the community and proclaim the month of February as Community Watch month.

The board approved the request.

Boyle also added that ten signs had been purchased by the club to be placed at all entrances to the town, stating that Winterville was participating in the program. Also he added that smaller signs could be purchased by individuals for $1.50.

A bid of $33,487 was accepted from Aubrey Williamson of Williamston for restoration work on five houses in the Ayden redevelopment project. Williamson was the low bidder.

Town Manager Don Russell reported that the town's bus, which broke down before Christmas, will be running by the end of the week. "With the new motor we've had donated, and the bus that we have to use, we hope to have it back on the road sometime the end of the week." The bus is used to transport senior citizens from the Winterville-Ayden-Grifton area for the Pitt County Council on Aging. Presently, the senior citizens have had the use of the Winterville Jaycees' bus.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

I ran across an interesting statistic the other day. Due to the increase in crime, more people are getting dogs for protection and dog bites have soared 33 percent since 1965. Unfortunately, the dogs have been biting their owners, families and friends. Few dogs seem to want to "get involved" where there is any violence.

A couple of years ago we lived on a remote farm and my husband bought me an Irish setter. She should have been owned by an attorney. She'd take on a moving car at 55 mph, a group of children jumping rope, or a jogger having a coronary in front of the house. But when anyone suspicious came to the door, she'd run under the sofa and I'd have to drag her out, prop her up and push her lip back over her teeth, all the while explaining, "Make one move toward me and she'll tear you apart."

Her name was Kate. Late one afternoon, two guys appeared at my kitchen door requesting a drink of water. They said they were from the phone company, but they had no truck and no utility belt sagging around their knees.

"Steady, girl," I said, propping Kate up on her feet and hanging onto her collar. The men began to snicker.

"I suppose she looks friendly to you," I said as Kate licked their fingers and the breeze from her tail nearly knocked them off the step.

"She sure seems friendly," they said.

"Actually, she's been to obedience school and when I command 'KILL,' she goes for the throat. If you will stand perfectly still and don't make any sudden moves, I'll get your water!"

"That's her crouch position and she's baring her teeth," I warned.

"Looks like she's yawning to me," said one of the men.

"I thought it would look that way to you," I smiled. "It fools a lot of people. Just look at the size of those paws."

He fingered one and when he dropped it, it fell limply back into place. "Well, we certainly thank you for the water. Bye, Killer," they said while the dog nuzzled against their legs.

I pulled the dog inside and belted the door as one of them remarked, "I'm sure glad to get away from her."

"The dog?" asked his friend.

"No, the woman. She's not playing with a full deck."

Class Humor Fitted Occasion

DEAR ABBY: Apropos "old age": At a recent Smith College class reunion, each class held up a banner displaying a humorous poem or statement. There is a competition for the best one. The members of the class of 1918 easily won the prize with this banner:

MY BIFOCALS FIT
MY DENTURES ARE FINE
MY HEARING AID WORKS
BUT I DO MISS MY MIND!

RALEIGH S. HALES, PASADENA, CALIF.

DEAR RALEIGH: Thanks for the day-brightener, which I hope will not elicit another comment from a hot Pepper.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding your answer to CURIOUS IN GEORGIA concerning the question of Ronald Reagan's hair — does he or doesn't he dye it: My father, Vince Cicone, was Mr. Reagan's barber at Paramount Studios from 1961 to 1967, and Mr. Reagan promised my father that if he ever became governor of California, he would give him a position on the Board of Barber Examiners.

Well, Reagan became governor, and my father had a new career at 50!

Isn't it good to know that our new president keeps his promises?

Planning a trip to Spain? Remember that dining hours are traditionally late. Though the mid-day meal, which is for many the main meal of the day, begins no earlier than 1 p.m., most Spaniards do not begin coming into a restaurant until 2:00 or later. Although it is possible to be served in some restaurants as early as 8:30 in the evening, the fashionable dinner hour is at 10:00. If you are going to Madrid, you will be glad to know that it has a wide variety of restaurants and that it is known for its excellent seafood.

It is often important to know the customs of the countries you are planning to visit. This knowledge can prevent embarrassment and confusion. Competitiveness Pays Greenville has been designated a Regional Growth Center under the Balanced Policy Act of 1979, it was announced by Gov. Hunt last week. The designation is made to improve job opportunities and strengthen local and state government relationships. It could mean advantages in obtaining state and federal grants for economic development projects. That could be helpful in improving the economic climate of our area. The burden of economic development still rests with our own people, however, and if we want better jobs and a higher quality of life, all of us are going to have to work for them. Pitt County has fared well through recessions and other economic stormy times in recent years. This has been true because new industry has created new jobs and the ECU-Pitt County Memorial Hospital complex has rapidly developed. We will have to continue to be competitive, however, if we want desirable industries and businesses to locate here and provide the kind of jobs our population needs.

quently the tax reduction could be delayed until June. Virtually all of us would welcome a tax cut, but even more important to us all is reducing the federal deficit which feeds inflation.

Deficit Feeds Inflation

Federal Budget Director Designate David A. Stockman says that a proposed Jan. 1 tax cut might be delayed until later in the year. The delay would be because of the concern over the large budget deficit expected next year. Conse-

THIS AFTERNOON

Local Tax Stress

By BILL NOBLITT. RALEIGH — Aside from the unpleasant prospect of higher gasoline taxes which will dominate the 1981 session of the North Carolina General Assembly now convening, no other topic will take up more time and energy than ways to provide more money for local governments across the state. The property tax is tired, and the abundantly visible subject of taxpayer concern and anger. The pressure is on at home and in Raleigh not only to hold the line on those property taxes, but to cut them in various ways, more relief for the elderly, an end to the intangibles taxes on wealth, and a halt to the tax on goods held in inventory by manufacturers and merchants.

Local governments protest that such further cuts would only be possible if the state produced the dollars to make up the losses, while those pushing the cuts say such taxes stand in the way of business and industrial expansion, and hamper development of the state as a desirable retirement location.

BILL NOBLITT

Mandates. All the while, the General Assembly enacts law which effectively forces local governments to increase spending dramatically: more money for welfare, higher pay for teachers and other employees whose salaries are pegged to state levels, bigger outlays for Medicaid, higher standards for jails.

General Assembly therefore, does tell local governments what they can and must spend money on, and how they can produce the money for their local budgets. A classical impasse results as local officials clamor for more ways to raise more money which are more politically palatable than currently available, while state officials protect their vested interests in "available" tax sources.

So local governments press their case for new sources of revenue premised on the probable conclusion that the property tax is the only major source of income the state allows them, and it is to be even further reduced and it is both slow to grow and unpopular, then more flexibility to produce more dollars is critical. At this point, the two major goals being pursued in the Legislature are an optional penny increase in the sales tax (already four cents, with the state keeping three pennies, and local governments

Protest From His Soul

SCRABBLE, VA. — It is marvelous, when you come to think of it, the things that drive people bonkers. Dr. Dene T. Walters, of the Wilmington Medical Center in Wilmington, Del., recently went up the wall with the plural of process. In a letter to the Journal of the American Medical Association, he voiced a protest that came from his soul. "There is absolutely no excuse," he cried, "for 'process-sees'!" Dr. Walters' point was that the proper plural of one process is two processes. After all, we do not speak of abscesses, or princeesses, or excesses. "The word process-sees does not exist," he asserted, "and I refuse to be dragged into a world where it becomes the norm just because people say it that way and where pronouncing it correctly will be viewed with suspicion." This passionate outcry from Dr. Walters ignited a companion flame in the breast of Dr. John Archer, a senior editor of the journal. It isn't process-sees that bothers him, it appears, is the highfalutin' tendency of Americans to pronounce English words as if they were French. "Valet, for example, an eminently English word, has all but lost its English pronunciation in the United States. It should be pronounced like it is spelled and would rhyme with mallet. Yet call your hotel's valet service anything but 'vallay,' and everyone will think it is your first trip to the big city." This is not the only thing that bugs Dr. Archer. "Particularly annoying to me," he grouches on, "is the impossibility of ordering a turbot in a restaurant. A turbot is one of a variety of flounders, and while the name may have had a French derivation, the word is English and pronounced 'ter-but.' But if one orders a turbut in a fancy restaurant, to borrow from Bertie Wooster, ice begins to form on the slopes of the waiter's forehead. You might think it odd to find such squawks and groans in the pages of JAMA, but not so. Not all doctors are concerned exclusively with fibias, tibias and well-tempered clavicles. Some of the most pleasant reading in the New England Journal of Medicine comes in the occasional letters from Dr. Lois DeBakey of the Baylor College of Medicine. It is the cockeyed construction that gets her, as in: "The mother is allowed to undress and hold the baby," or "The patients in this study were broken down by age and sex." But getting back to pronunciations: I had a letter, the other day from a woman who blows up at ap-PLIC-able, "APP-lic-able," she cries, "APP-lic-able!" A friend at CBS used to throw pencils when she heard har-ASS. It's HAR-ass, or so she insisted. Lots of people were upset at Mr. Carter's pronunciation of nukier, as in the advice he got from Amy. Places names give incessant trouble. Anyone who gets into broadcasting learns early on that the city in Illinois isn't Ky-ro, like in Egypt, but Kay-ro, like in corn syrup. Incidentally, some critics get sore at "early on," but the adverb doesn't bother me. I think it sounds friendly. In South Carolina it's Bew-fort, in North Carolina it's Bo-Fort. It's Albany, N.Y., but Al-BENNY, Ga. In Delaware it's a New-ARK, in New Jersey it's NEW-erk. Illinois gives us not only Kay-ro but also New-A-thens (with a long "A"), Vye-enna and Ver-sales.

Weinberger Stirs Panic

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK. WASHINGTON — Unease within the defense community over Caspar (Cap) Weinberger has blossomed into panic now that the secretary of defense-designate has booted out "Reaganaut" military advisers, trashed their recommendations and at least opened the door for soft-liners.

The certain appointment of Frank Carlucci, the Carter administration's deputy CIA director, as deputy secretary of defense is the visible tip of concealed events. In a Dec. 20 shouting match, Cap the Knife fired defense expert William Van Cleave as transition chief, blackballed him and his team from Pentagon posts and consigned their reports to ash cans. Since then, a collection of personalities never connected with strong defense have been edging into the Reagan transition.

The most charitable explanation is that this is no conspiracy but the product of Weinberger's nearly total ignorance on defense questions, which was fully revealed in his Senate confirmation hearing. But assuming Weinberger finally learns the names and issues involved, he has lost valuable time in revising defense spending and lost invaluable experts he badly needs.

In this as in other transition wars these past two months, Ronald Reagan's presence is barely felt. There has been no gesture from either the president-elect or his chief aide, Ed Meese, that they regard a radical reconstruction of the nation's depleted defenses as top priority.

Consider the Reagan-Meese view toward Weinberger's insistence on Carlucci, a civil servant with no Defense Department background, as deputy secretary. Reagan's "kitchen cabinet" unanimously recommended against it, as did his defense transition team. The president-elect might then have suggested saving the deputy secretary's spot for an expert. Instead, Reagan acquiesced.

That was the situation when Van Cleave, Reagan's defense adviser throughout the campaign, went to California Dec. 20 to brief Weinberger. The secretary-designate was in an ugly mood. He unjustly believed Van Cleave was responsible for a press campaign against Carlucci.

An icy Weinberger informed Van Cleave that he and his team's services were terminated forthwith. The hot-tempered Van Cleave shouted that his responsibility was to advise Reagan himself and Weinberger could not fire him. Weinberger shouted back that Van Cleave was deceiving himself; he was gone.

Weinberger was correct. Early in the transition period when Van Cleave crossed swords with transition overseer William Timmons, a Timmons aide asked Meese whether Van Cleave was under the president-elect's protection. No, replied Meese, fire him if you want. The trouble blew over temporarily, but Reagan has not come to his defense adviser's aid.

Van Cleave was not the only victim. His team's members, including some of the nation's leading military experts, are blackballed. That includes the highly-esteemed Ben Plymale of Boeing, who made the disastrous Dec. 20 trip west with Van Cleave. Plymale had been expected to be an adornment of the Reagan Pentagon as under secretary for research.

The defense plans fastidiously prepared by Van Cleave, Plymale and associates will never be read by Weinberger. That may well prevent any Reagan hurry-up plans for accelerated spending in the current fiscal year.

Pentagon offices formerly occupied by the Van Cleave team are now mostly empty. In charge of the skeleton crew there is an old Weinberger-Carlucci comrade from HEW days in the Nixon administration: William Howard Taft III, a Washington lawyer who knows even less about defense than Weinberger and Carlucci. Yet, incredibly, Taft has wound up on the list for the department's No. 3 post: under secretary for policy.

Taft has been conferring on defense matters with Richard Stubbing, a Carter administration anti-defense expert. (Please turn to Page 12)

To the editor:

Yesterday's New York Times featured an informative article titled, "Liquor: Soon the South Could Be All Wet," which discussed the pros and cons of legalized open alcohol laws in Greenville.

As a recovering alcoholic originally from a "dry" southern state, I am impelled to respond in your editorial page. I am in total agreement with Mr. Stenbeck's efforts! However, the restaurant owner fighting to make Greenville "wet" has apparently not considered the cost-per-person that states must shell out to rehabilitate the alcoholic. In my case, it cost the State of New York in excess of $7,000 for my rehab program. This figure does not represent the public assistance I was forced to receive for three months following my rehabilitation prior to acquiring employment once again! In total, the state of New York has spent in excess of $12,000 in a period of nine months — all for rehabilitation from the disease of alcoholism — a disease that is definitely fostered by the accessibility of alcoholic beverages.

Recognized and respected national agencies conservatively estimate that 10 percent (the figure is usually higher in most places) of the American population suffers from the disease known as alcoholism.

Considering the fact that Greenville's population is some 20,000 the above statistics would dictate a conservative 3,000 alcoholics in the city. Based on New York's cost to rehabilitate us, is Greenville ready to spend $36 million per year just in the name of accessibility for profit and pocketbook? Or is the cause of a more sane humanity more important? These are only two of the questions your voting population must confront. Yet, they are questions that must be faced sincerely.

Thank you for allowing me to express my candid opinion from 1,500 miles north of your beautiful city!

To the editor:

Concerning my comments at the Greenville City Council meeting on the parking situation, let me set the record straight about my true feelings on this matter.

The problem we encounter in this neighborhood results from some university students who do not view this area as their home and, consequently do not give it the same care and consideration that they give the place they do consider to be their home. Certainly not all students contribute to this situation, and I am sorry that my remark was misinterpreted as such. My statements were not meant to encompass the entire student body, of which I am currently a member.

A neighborhood is a fragile and delicate entity that is created only by mutual regard and caring by each resident for the comfort, rights and happiness of the others sharing it. I was trying to express the helplessness and despair many of us feel when time after time after time we plead and beg for cooperation, but continue to experience blocked driveways, destroyed fences, loud and persistent music, etc.

I watch dear friends give up and leave the neighborhood I have loved and cared for so deeply for 27 years, and their departure fills me with grief. I have almost lost hope that we will ever again have the peaceful enjoyment of this neighborhood as we have had for so many years in the past.

Strength For Today

LIVED THE GOSPEL. John Ruskin, the famous English writer and reformer, was born to wealth. Early in life he enjoyed this wealth without much thought of social responsibility. But, challenged by the parable of Lazarus and Dives (Luke 16:19-31), when he was 36 years old he experienced a change of heart and during the remainder of his life strove to serve rather than be served.

"Up to the time I was thirty-six," he wrote later, "I could not say that I had in any way 'taken up my cross' or denied myself anything. I cannot be easy in doing this any more, for I fear that if I were to die at present God might justly say to me, 'Thou in thy lifetime received thy good things and likewise Lazarus his evil things.' I found myself always doing what I like, and that is certainly not the way to heaven."

Ruskin was an inspiring man as well as a great literary figure. He found the secret of the gospel and lived it. — Elisha Douglass

School Acts To Sell Its Grads

By JOHN CUNNIFF. AP Business Analyst. NEW YORK (AP) — The question arose over the role of a school, whether it was wise to transfer funds from strictly academic endeavors to more mundane matters, such as "selling" its graduates.

Dean William H. Meckling, Graduate School of management, University of Rochester, was skeptical, but M. Alison McGrath, placement director, won him over, arguing that it pays to practice what you teach.

And so a delegation of professors, administrative aides and students hired rooms at the Hilton Hotel and invited corporate recruiters to a reception, followed by interviews with this year's graduating class.

With demand and supply in balance, "we had to be assertive," said Ms. McGrath, herself a relatively recent college graduate. "What we did," she explained, "was apply traditional marketing tactics to selling the business school to get a bigger share of the market." Meckling beamed.

The $5,000 or so, he said, was well spent.

Thirty students, all of whom paid their own room, board and travel expenses, were exposed to more corporate hirers than they could have seen in weeks on their own. Twenty-four companies that had not recruited on the Rochester campus came to look the students over.

Richard Lill, 23, a triple major in corporate accounting, finance and economics, said it expanded his horizons. Previously, he said, he was content to stay in Rochester. After the interviews, his options greatly enlarged. He conceded, "I might have been limiting myself."

Christopher L. Snyder, vice president of Data Resources and head of its New York operations, was so pleased he said he would consider a financial contribution to the next Rochester venture, already planned.

Data Resources, a consulting company that is sometimes called the economist's economist, is young (average age is under 30) and fast-growing. It recruits 30 masters in business administration each year.

Snyder, who looks over most of the top schools, liked what he saw. "At this school you can hire a graduate for $25,000 to $30,000, compared with $35,000 to $40,000 for a Harvard MBA," he said. Data Resources hires Harvard grads (it was founded by Otto Eckstein of Harvard) "but at that price we're not so excited," said Snyder.

Moreover, Rochester's MBAs are strong in finance and accounting, which Snyder seems to like. "We need strong analytical skills," he said, "and strong entrepreneurial skills too." New employees are expected to be team leaders (at maybe $60,000 a year) within two years, he said. They must be problem solvers, and know how to meet with clients.

Rochester's decision to go out and meet the market rather than wait for the market to come to it is praised as innovative and maybe even unique, but it is just good marketing practice, says Ms. McGrath. The school, she explains, knows it has something to offer, even if some timid recruiters have avoided the campus' winter snow and ice. With enthusiasm, she points to a ranking of business schools that puts M.I.T. first, Rochester fourth, Stanford fifth, and Harvard 10th.

At first, said Meckling, the business school utilized the services of the university's central placement office. He established a separate office for business students and hired Ms. McGrath to run it.

When she proposed the New York plan, "I was skeptical," he said. "It would be costly, and it was not clear we would get benefits from it. There was a fundamental question of how much should we use to help students get jobs. We're an education institution primarily."

But, said Meckling, who appreciates good marketing, the experience convinced him that the money was well spent. Based on the results — the enthusiasm of the students and recruiters, for one — there would be more such recruiting programs, he said.

Fund-Raiser Investigated

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - The fund-raising efforts by a Florida man on behalf of Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and the Congressional Club are being scrutinized by federal agents in connection with an investigation in Florida.

The FBI inquiry focuses on the activities of David James Mertz, 40, a professional fund-raiser who already is the subject of an FBI probe in Tampa, Fla., according to sources quoted by the News and Observer of Raleigh.

There is no indication that the club - Helms' political organization - figured directly in the probe.

Mertz raised approximately $1.05 million for the Helms organization in 1978 and 1980, according to club officials. He worked under contract with the club and was not an employee.

Federal prosecutors in Florida have subpoenaed several political fund-raisers, including Mertz and a Tampa business associate, Ronald Gynis.

The investigation centers on the 1980 Republican Presidential Campaign Committee, an independent group that claimed to be raising money on behalf of President-elect Ronald Reagan but was not part of the Reagan campaign.

The Tampa Tribune has reported that the committee raised $400,000, none of which was spent for Reagan.

Reagan Knew Photographers

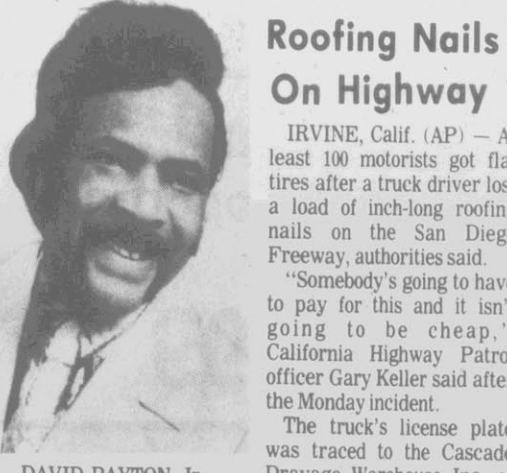

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Ronald Reagan never missed a beat when a photographer complained that he wasn't getting the correct angle for a picture of a horse the president-elect was riding.

The photographer asked Reagan on Monday if he would turn the horse around so the cameraman could get a picture of the horse's head. The photographer insisted he was looking at "the wrong end" of the animal, a gift from Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo.

Reagan countered: "You've covered politics. You should be used to that." The white Arabian stallion continued munching on the grass of the Will Rogers State Park and the president-elect didn't move him.

one wire in that area burned down.

Greene said crews were at work in the Lyndale area this morning checking the load on the circuits in the area in an attempt to prevent a recurrence of last night's problems.

Other GUC spokesmen said the cold weather also resulted in two water main breaks along 14th Street, between Fleming and Chestnut streets.

They explained that while the lines did not freeze, the immense change in temperature places additional stress on the lines, causing them to break.

Green noted that there was an "all time high peak" demand on the city's electric distribution system about 7:30 this morning. The load was 130.6 megawatts, even after the commission's load management program was used to "shave 6 to 8 megawatts" off the peak. The previous high came last week with a demand of 122 megawatts.

County agricultural agents say beef cattle production may be hurt most directly by the cold snap due to weight loss. The cattle are losing weight in some instances and in other cases, not gaining the proper amounts due to the cold weather.

Pork producers may also experience weight loss and slowed weight gain, as well as the increased susceptibility of baby pigs to sickness.

"The cost of energy to keep these animals warm is putting an additional burden on the producers," explained extension agent Sam Uzzell. "These costs will be very high, escalated by the cold."

in order to have adequate parking. The parcels are zoned for Downtown Commercial Fringe usage, she added.

Reynolds May qualified to bid of Disposal Parcels I-2, located at Wyatt and McClellan Streets, and J-1, located near the corner of Pitt and Howell Streets. It was pointed out that May owns eight houses in the area between Railroad and 14th Street and would move them and bring them up to code standards if he is successful in his bid.

The I-2 parcel would accommodate three of the houses, while one house could be placed on the J-1 parcel. Property already owned by May in the area would handle the remaining four houses, it was noted.

The city will purchase the property the houses are now located on and offer it for resale as commercial sites.

The Rev. Alfred Norfleet, who owns property at Pitt and Howell Streets, was qualified by the board to submit a bid on Disposal Parcel J-1a, which adjoins Norfleet's tract. Mrs. Brewington said that Norfleet is interested in purchasing a small amount of property in order to have offstreet parking for an existing private home.

Commissioners qualified Matthew Lewis to bid on Disposal Parcel 6A-1, located at Mooring Street and Melody Lane. The real estate officer said that Lewis plans to put a single family dwelling on the lot and will either build a new house or move a structure to the site and complete renovations.

All of the bidders will be required to submit development plans if their purchase offers are approved.

Confidence By Hospital Bd.

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) - Trustees of Craven County Hospital gave a vote of confidence Monday night to hospital administrator Lonnie Moore, refusing to go along with a call from the county commissioners to oust him from office.

The commissioners called for Moore's replacement after two months of public scrutiny over the hospital's handling of food purchases. Ten people have been indicted on charges of stealing food from the hospital.

The hospital trustees said Moore "has made some errors in his judgment of the character and ability of a few employees" but said his "overall management has been excellent."

Dismissal Vote Bribery Case

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) - A judge's decision to dismiss voter-bribery charges against former Sen. George McGovern's campaign committee will not be appealed, state Attorney General Mark Meierhenry says.

"It would be a waste of time and money" to appeal, Meierhenry said Monday.

The charge was filed after McGovern workers offered to give away meals on election day, Nov. 4, at community centers on and near the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation. McGovern, a Democrat, was defeated.

Speedy Spiders Burn Pirates, 80-63

A Brave Now
Baseball pitcher Gaylord Perry of Williamston poses with his stock in trade Monday at an Atlanta Braves press conference announcing his joining the team. The 42-year-old Coming into last night's game in Minges Coliseum, the University of Richmond was ranked third in the nation in field goal percentage, hitting 56.5 per cent of their shots.

They were a little below that against the Pirates. Unfortunately for East Carolina, the Pirates were a lot below that.

By the time the smoke had cleared, Richmond had sizzled the nets for 6-6, and snapping a four-game losing streak. For East Carolina, it was the second straight loss, and dropped it to 6-8.

It all resulted in an 80-63 victory by the Spiders, evening their record at 6-6, and snapping a four-game losing streak. For East Carolina, it was the second straight loss, and dropped it to 6-8.

As it has been so in many games, the victory over the Pirates was a two-man show — not unexpectedly. Mike Perry, ranked fifth in the nation in scoring, poured in 25 points on 11 of 15 field goals and 3 of 7 free throws. He also had eight rebounds and four assists.

Some of his thunder, however, was stolen by John Schweitz, who hit 28, including 10 of 18 from the floor, 8 of 9 at the line. He had seven rebounds and dished out six assists.

"I'm really very concerned that we continue to let two players on the opposing teams dominate play," ECU coach Dave Odom said later. "I've never seen a season where this has happened before like this."

"I'm ashamed to say that we concentrated on these two. We were aware of their ability, and it makes you wonder if anyone is listening to what you say (when you see the results)," Odom added.

At one point, when Perry and Schweitz went to the bench with 2:42 remaining, the Spiders held a 23-point lead, 76-53, and the two had their total of 53 points between them — the same as the entire Pirate team.

"It was a bad night for the Pirates," Odom said, "and it was a great night for the Spiders. They played great."

Odom said that Richmond was much quicker than the Pirates. "It showed on both ends of the court. We felt we would be able to offset their speed with good defense, but our defense was so bad at times, it was almost nonexistent."

On offense, Odom felt the team had a tendency to take bad shots in the game. "And that took us out of our offense. Also, when the game gets so quick, we lose some of our players. Like (Tom) Szymanski: it's almost impossible for him to play at that pace."

Big Tom, who scored 20 against Pan American, played only 13 minutes, hitting two free throws and getting four rebounds. He was 0 for 1 from the floor as the Spiders raced back and forth.

Odom also expressed worry about the Pirate shooting percentage. "The low percentage is getting to be the rule rather than the exception."

He admitted that the Pirates, who played their fifth game in nine days, were tired. "(Charles) Watkins played very tired tonight. It was very noticeable."

The Pirates stuck with the Spiders for only a little while at the start, and then the Richmond team sped out to as much as a nine-point lead before intermission. After an initial Richmond lead, East Carolina gained a 4-3 lead on a shot by Michael Gibson, and then regained it at 6-5 on Szymanski's free throws.

But Perry scored off a fast break with 14:37 left, for a 7-6 lead, and the Spiders were never caught again. Led the Schweitz and Perry, the Spiders pulled steadily away, building up their nine-point lead at the 8:05 mark when Jeff Pehl hit from underneath.

East Carolina hung with them, however, and fought back, cutting it to four at the half on a buzzer jumper by Morris Hargrove.

"I really thought we had a chance at the half," Odom said. "But I knew we had to get off to a good start and we didn't. We dropped behind by 12 quickly and we're not a good come-from-behind team."

After the two teams swapped opening baskets, Richmond scored four straight baskets to go ahead by 12, 48-36, and that was it. The Pirates were never able to get anything going and their cold hands even went over into the four shooting.

where they made only nine of 16 in the period. East Carolina's scoring was led by Mark McLaurin and Watkins, each with 12 points.

The Pirates will close out their current home stand on Wednesday, playing game six over an 11-day swing, hosting Atlantic Christian.

ECU Hosts Bulldogs

East Carolina's Pirates seek to return to the winning side of the column on Wednesday, hosting Atlantic Christian College in the closing game of their current home series. Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

The Pirates come into the game, having lost their last two outings, the latest an 80-63 setback by Richmond on Monday.

Atlantic Christian also comes in following a loss, bowing Monday to Shaw, 62-61. The high point of the year for the Bulldogs was a second place finish in the Sertoma Invitational in Greenwood, S.C.

Forward William Bogues is the leading scorer on the team with an 18.0 average, while former Ayden-Gritton High School star James Leggett, at center, is hitting 16.0 and pulling down 8.5 rebounds.

The other forward is George Bell, while the guards include Raphael Boyd, and former D.H. Conley player Rick Mobley.

Following the game, the sixth in 11 days, the Pirates have almost a week off before traveling to Charlotte to face the UNC-C 49ers.

Lady Pirates Test Tar Heels

East Carolina University's Lady Pirates finally wind up their long road trip tonight, traveling to Chapel Hill to meet the University of North Carolina. It will be the first NCAIAW game of the year for the Pirates.

And Coach Cathy Andruzzi is hoping that just being so near home will have a rousing effect on the Pirates.

The Lady Bucs come off the road at last on Saturday, playing host to William & Mary in a 7:30 p.m. game in Minges Coliseum.

Now 9-3, the Lady Pirates won their last two outings, against Stetson and Florida State, after a terrible performance against Florida.

"Florida State beat Florida, 90-48," Andruzzi said. "We beat Florida State by 11. Indiana beat Florida by 30, and we beat Indiana. You want to look at that and either laugh or cry. I'd rather laugh than cry. It was just one of those games that you wish you have back."

The challenge of the Tar Heels will be a tough one for the Pirates. "North Carolina's team this year is probably one of the best they've ever had," the coach pointed out. "Their front line is tremendous. They have Henrietta Walls (6-2), Kathy Crawford (6-0), and Tresa Brown (6-2)."

Overcoming that height will be the biggest task the Pirates face.

The Lady Heels come into the game with a 7-8 record, having beaten nationally ranked Texas in their last outing. All three of the front court people are in double figures, and are almost even. Walls is tops with a 14.7 average, while Brown is hitting 14.4 per game and Crawford, 13.1. Walls is the leading rebounder with 8.0 per game, while Brown is snagging 7.0 and Crawford, 6.2.

Brown, a freshman, was also highly recruited by East Carolina last year.

Kathy Riley continues to lead the Lady Pirate scoring with a 19.6 average. Sam Jones is the only other one in double figures with a 13.3 average. Mary Denkler is third at 8.8 and Marcia Girven is hitting 8.5. Girven is also the leading rebounder with an 8.5 average, while Riley is next at 7.3.

Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m. in Chapel Hill.

Taste Of Victory All Chargers Needed To Whet Their Appetite

By RICK SCOPPE
Reflector Sports Writer

A taste was all it took. Ayden-Gritton, having tasted winning, is quickly learning to love the flavor of winning.

The Chargers, who lost five of their first seven games this season, take a three-game winning streak into tonight's ECC game with Charles B. Aycock, a team Ayden-Gritton should feast on.

The Falcons, winners of only one game this season, must face a Charger team that is playing as well as any in the league at the moment. But Coach Bob Murphrey knows how quickly that can change.

"Our guys are beginning to understand — or I hope they are — that we're a good team only when we come out ready to play," said Murphrey, whose Chargers are 6-6 overall and 4-3 in the ECC. "They understand that we can lose to any team in the league and at the same time can beat any team as well, when we're playing together."

"I'm really happy with our style of ball," Murphrey added. "We seem to be in a groove right now. We're shooting very well for a high school team and the reason for that, I think, is that we're playing together and getting the good shot."

Perhaps the biggest reason for the Chargers' sudden resurgence is the play of senior point guard Timmy Edwards. Edwards averaged 15.7 points a game last season and was named to the all-conference team. This season he is scoring a just over 14 points a game. The difference in points is slight, but the difference in wins for the Chargers, who were 3-19 last year, is anything but slight.

"He's playing a different role this season," Murphrey said. "He's not scoring as much as he did last year but he's making the sacrifice and getting other players involved."

"He knows what it takes to win. Last year, he could have a good night, get his 25, 30 points and we'd lose. This year he's taking what's there."

This season Edwards has also had more help from his friends, led by 6-2 center Clarence Baker (12 ppg) and guard Thomas Anderson (11 ppg) and forwards Chris Phillips (9 ppg) and Allan Haseley.

But perhaps the key to the Charger season comes down to a 15-point halftime lead they failed to protect. Ayden-Gritton, 2-4 and 1-2 at the time, led North Lenoir, 38-23, at intermission only to lose, 58-57.

"I was disgusted and I think the team was disgusted after that," Murphrey said. "That was a Tuesday night and I told the team to take the next day off. I didn't want to see them and I don't think they wanted to see me either. It was time to examine where we were going with the season."

Since then Ayden-Gritton has won four of five games and appear to like the taste of winning.

In other ECC games Tuesday night, Farmville Central (1-12, 0-7) travels to 10th-ranked D.H. Conley (8-3, 4-2), North Pitt (5-8, 4-3) plays host to Southern Nash (7-2, 8-5) and league leader Greene Central (11-2, 7-0) travels to North Lenoir (7-5, 4-4). The Rams are rated 13th in this week's AP poll.

Other games Tuesday include Roanoke at Roanoke Rapids, Jamesville at Creswell, ESP at Greenville Christian, Williamston at Tarboro and Pantego at Bear Grass.

In a key ECC wrestling match tonight, the sixth-ranked D.H. Conley Vikings travel to Farmville Central. Conley is 10-0 while the Jaguars are 3-3.

In games Friday night involving ECC teams, Conley travels to North Lenoir, Southern Nash at Farmville, Aycock at North Pitt and Southwest Edgecombe (1-6, 2-11) at Greene Central. The Cougar girls are third in the state in the AP poll.

Also Friday, Williamston travels to Roanoke and Bear Grass is at Belhaven.

Following Tuesday's game, the Chargers play host to Roanoke Saturday night. The Redskin boys are 9-2 and ranked 14th in the today's AP high school poll. The Roanoke girls are 11-0 and ranked seventh.

Oregon State Nips Virginia For First Place On AP's Cage Poll

By TOM CANAVAN
Associated Press Writer

Oregon State edged Virginia for the No. 1 position in The Associated Press college basketball poll Tuesday as DePaul, which held the top slot for the past six weeks, fell to No. 4 following a stunning loss to Old Dominion last weekend.

Oregon State, 12-0 and ranked second last week, collected 39 of 61 first-place votes and 1,197 points out of a possible 1,220 in the balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The top-ranking marks the first time in Ralph Miller's 30-year coaching career that one of his team's has reached to the nation's top position.

Virginia, which was in the No. 3 position last week, was tabbed No. 1 on 20 ballots and garnered 1,169 points. The Cavaliers, 11-0, posted triumphs over Delaware, North Carolina State and North Carolina last week.

Preseason favorite Kentucky jumped from fourth to No. 3 with 1,041 points. The Wildcats, 10-1, defeated Auburn and edged then-No. 13 Tennessee 48-47 in action last week.

DePaul, which still managed to collect the final two first-place votes despite the 63-62 loss to Old Dominion, received 1,002 points — 12 more than undefeated Wake Forest. The Deacons, 12-0, whipped Appalachian State and nipped then-No. 20 Clemson 73-71 last week.

Louisiana State, 12-1, climbed from No. 9 to sixth in this week's poll while Notre Dame, UCLA, Michigan and Maryland — which were almost upset last week, rounded out the Top 10.

The Irish, 54-52 losers to Marquette last week, slipped from No. 5 to seventh with 690 points — 15 more than UCLA, which was stunned by Southern Cal 68-66 and dropped one notch to No. 8. Michigan, knocked from the undefeated ranks by Purdue early last week, edged Maryland for the No. 9 slot. The Wolverines got 597 points, while the Terps, who were defeated by Athletic Coast Conference rival North Carolina 75-66, received 583 points.

Tennessee jumped three positions in the poll, despite the loss to Kentucky, and headed the Second 10. Arizona State was 12th followed by South Alabama, Iowa, Brigham Young, Utah, North Carolina, Illinois, Clemson and Minnesota.

Last week the Second 10 was Iowa, Illinois, Tennessee,

NCAA Set To Vote On Bringing Women Into Group's Structure

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Barring a desperation move by opponents, NCAA delegates were expected to vote on a complicated, controversial package of proposals today that would bring women into the male-dominated group's governing structure.

The first item of business was a move by Donna Lopiano, president of the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women, that might block the plan.

Lopiano made her motion moments after the convention was officially convened Monday. She was seeking to move Proposal No. 7, which would postpone the NCAA's entry into women's athletics and move it ahead of the governance proposal and another amendment in which Division I schools will decide whether to sponsor women's championships.

After lengthy and passionate debate from the floor, a move by Dan Gibbens, faculty representative from Oklahoma, was accepted to postpone the vote on Lopiano's motion.

In the meantime, convention officers worried that the expected long and bitter fight over the women's issues would probably push the assembly past its projected adjournment of noon Wednesday.

The governance plan, formulated by a 14-person committee, would add about 215 women to NCAA committees and Council.

The AIW, apparently joined by many leaders of the women's rights movement across the nation, charges the NCAA will only swallow up and dominate women's athletics.

"We have a choice before us. A crucially important choice to over 100,000 female athletes in our country," Christine Grant, of Iowa, told delegates Monday while urging support of the reordering of the agenda. "I think if this convention is going to move into the area of women's athletics then it must do so completely.

"It must deal with championships, it must deal with governance and it must have a single set of rules for the women in that organization," she added. "Otherwise if you examine the governance proposal you will quickly realize its going to result in complete competitive chaos by women's athletics. I implore this convention to vote for reordering."

Judi Holland, senior associate athletic director at UCLA and a leader among a minority of women who support the NCAA's initiatives, told the assembly it should disregard Lopiano's motion.

"I feel one of the strongest and most important things to be decided here is whether or not women will be included in the governance of NCAA and whether or not championships will be offered," she said. "I think to reorder the agenda certainly seems to be constructed to confuse the issue and I'm sure many of us would like to take it as it is in the book."

Also to be acted upon are a plan to require that an athlete complete one-fifth of a degree program each year to be eligible; a proposal to base scholarship on whether an athlete's family is judged to be in need of financial assistance, and several changes in recruiting rules.

Battle Set On 'Need' Scholarships In NCAA

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Wholesale cheating, slush funds, widespread abuses. Those were among the disastrous results when the Big Ten Conference awarded athletic scholarships based on need in the late 1950s.

Fearing the same results, the forces of major college football were prepared to do battle at the National Collegiate Athletic Association's annual convention today against proposed legislation that would make athletic scholarships in Divisions I and II available only on the basis of need, except for tuition, fees and books.

That means athletes would have to meet certain financial requirements to qualify for scholarships covering room and board.

The commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, H. Boyd McWhorter, calls the need issue "critical" and says its passage "could have the most far-reaching implications." However, McWhorter stopped short of mentioning a pullout from the NCAA by members of the College Football Association, a move that has been threatened in the past. The CFA consists of 61 of the nation's leading football institutions.

"When you pass legislation here, you never know what's been voted until you get the NCAA's interpretation," McWhorter said. "The effect of this would be the awarding of athletic grants on a basis we don't believe in. It's unfair to the athlete, it won't save that much money and it's conducive to a great number of abuses."

The need issue almost was adopted by Division I five years ago. A stirring speech by the Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice president of Notre Dame, after a tie ballot on the issue was enough to swing a few more votes against the need proposal and beat it

Today's Cryptoquip clue: I equals Y

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Nelson's New Job

When Gaylord Nelson lost his U.S. Senate seat in the November election, he found himself in the same position as a lot of other defeated Democrats: looking for a job. Nelson did not stay unemployed for long. In December, he was selected to become national chairman of the Wilderness Society, an organization devoted to protecting the nation's wild forests, grasslands, animals and waterways. The job is new, but Nelson's interest in conservation is not. As a senator, he worked for many bills designed to help protect the environment. After "packing up 18 years worth of stuff" from his Senate career, Nelson takes over his new job tomorrow.

DO YOU KNOW — What state did Nelson represent in the Senate?

MONDAY'S ANSWER — Thomas Jefferson was the main author of the Declaration of Independence.

Optimist Announce Contest

The Optimist Club of Greenville announced plans for its 1981 oratorical contest sponsored annually in conjunction with Optimist International.

Steve Hall, chairman of this year's local event, said that the club has scheduled a "Run Off" contest for Saturday, Feb. 7 at 10 a.m. at Wahl-Coates School on E. Fifth Street, followed by the club contest on Monday evening, Feb. 9 at 6:30 p.m. at Tom's Restaurant on Maxwell Street.

The official subject for this year's contest is "A Commitment to Share," the spokesman said.

According to Hall, the oratorical contests are held for boys and girls under 16 years of age. Local winners are eligible to enter the zone contest and possibly the regional and district events. He noted that winners of the district or state contest will be presented college scholarships.

He pointed out that contestants must not have reached their 16th birthdays as of Dec. 31, 1980. There is no minimum age.

The oratorical contest, first sponsored by Optimist International in 1928, is aimed at offering training, encouragement and experience that will aid the participants as they become contributing citizens in society.

Developed as an activity that would foster self-improvement of the contestants, the oratorical contest has gained wide acceptance by Optimist clubs across the United States and Canada.

I never heard of that maxim, but if it is a maxim it's bound to be an old maxim, for

The bidding:

Opening lead: Four of ♣.

During the Civil War, the battleship Merrimack was scuttled to block the entrance to a harbor. From this desperate act was derived the term "Merrimack Coup," a play where a defender deliberately sacrifices a high honor for the purpose of knocking out an entry. But if the sea route is blocked, there is nothing to stop you from going by land!

Although North held only 8 points, he felt that his good six-card suit amply compensated for any high-card shortage. We endorse his decision to bid three no trump.

West led the four of spades, won by East with the ace. Had East tamely returned a spade, this column would never have been written. But East could see that dummy's diamond suit posed a very real threat and that it was vital to attack dummy's entry — the ace of clubs — before the ace of diamonds was dislodged. A shift to a low club would have proven ineffective for declarer would win in his hand and force out the ace of diamonds. Therefore, East made the brilliant shift to the king of clubs — the Merrimack Coup!

It would have been to no avail to hold up the ace of clubs — East would simply continue the suit to render dummy entryless. So declarer won the ace but now he could count only eight tricks — two spade, two hearts, one diamond and three clubs. However, he found an intriguing method of bringing home his contract.

After winning the ace of clubs, declarer ran dummy's nine of hearts. West won the jack and exited with a club to declarer's jack. Declarer led the queen of diamonds and overtook in dummy with the king.

East could not afford to win the diamond, for that would set up the whole suit for declarer. When he ducked, he provided declarer with an entry to the table to take a second heart finesse. When this succeeded, declarer had his ninth trick.

Both East and South deserve recognition for their brilliant performance.

FREED BY RANSOM

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Alberto Massoni, a kidnapped industrialist, was released unharmed on the outskirts of Milan today after his family paid a $720,000 ransom, police said.

Collisions Are Reported In City

An estimated $2,960 property damage resulted from two traffic collisions investigated here yesterday by Greenville Police.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 10:34 a.m. collision at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Elm Street, involving a truck driven by Lindsay Wayne Brewer of Route 4, Greenville and a car operated by Lisa Fleisig of McGehee, Arizona.

Police, who said Ms. Fleisig was injured in the collision, estimated damage at $2,000 to the car, $300 to the truck, and $10 to a mobile home being pulled by the truck.

Cheryl A. Miller of Rossford, Ohio, was charged with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 3:33 p.m. collision on Red Banks Road, 75 feet east of the Charles Street intersection.

Investigators said the Miller car collided with a vehicle driven by Nannie Mae Young of Route 1, Greenville, causing $200 damage to the Miller auto and $450 damage to the Young car.

Interest Checking With The Saver In Mind.

At most banks and savings and loans, there's only one way around an interest checking service charge. You have to keep up a high minimum balance.

And to most people, maintaining that balance can mean exhausting a savings account.

We think that's wrong.

Planters has an easier way to help you avoid service charges. With just $500 in savings, you won't have to pay a penny for Planters Interest Checking.

If, by chance, meeting a minimum isn't a problem to you, Planters Interest Checking is also free of service charges when you keep a $1000 minimum in your Interest Checking account. The choice is yours.

WE'D RATHER GIVE YOU SERVICE.
NOT A SERVICE CHARGE.

In addition to 5 1/4% interest, Planters Interest Checking comes with free travelers checks and a free subscription to the monthly financial newsletter, Consumer Views. You may even qualify for a line of credit to use with your Planters Interest Checking account.

PLANTERS INTEREST CHECKING.
IT'S REALLY A SIMPLE CHOICE.

Sign up now for your Planters Interest Checking account. It's easy to start. And if you already have a checking account with us, it's even easier. All you have to do is tell us you want Interest Checking.

Interest on checking. You're going to be hearing a whole lot about it from a whole lot of places. But we think all you really need to hear is one very simple thing.

At Planters, you don't have to sacrifice your savings to afford it.
