

By-The-Drink Referendum Tomorrow

By TOM BAINES

After months of campaigning by supporters and opponents of liquor-by-the-drink sales in Greenville, the issue will be decided by the voters tomorrow in a city-wide referendum.

Arguments for and against the merits of mixed beverage sales here have been aired extensively, particularly in the period since last November when the City Council called for a referendum on the controversial liquor distribution issue.

Some 15,018 Greenville citizens are eligible to vote tomorrow on whether qualifying restaurants and social establishments within the city limits will be able to serve mixed drinks.

Anti-liquor forces in the area believe those sales should not be permitted and a full scale campaign has been conducted by the Concerned Citizens of Pitt County organization in an effort to defeat the mixed drink issue.

Frank Steinbeck, co-chairman of the anti-liquor group, said this morning "we've worked hard...done everything we know to do" to express the organization's stand. He added, "I feel we will win. I always feel optimistic."

The spokesman pointed to "more cooperation from churches and small groups and people in general" in fighting the issue. He said he was confident that after people "study (Please turn to Page 6)

Commissioners Amend Charter Of Hospital Incineration Plans For Radioactive Waste Disposal Program

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners this morning approved an amendment to the charter for Pitt Memorial Hospital, reducing the number of persons on the Board of Trustees, and changed the name of the Pitt County Commissioners' Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped.

In amending the hospital charter, commissioners okayed a reduction - from 35 to 20 - in the number of trustees. The move was to bring the charter in line with the affiliation agreement under which the medical facility serves as the clinical training facility for the East Carolina University School of Medicine.

Under the affiliation agreement, the board of trustees, which presently includes 20 members, is to be composed of 12 persons nominated and appointed by the board of commissioners, and eight persons nominated by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors and appointed by the Board of Commissioners.

In changing the name of the PCCCEH, the board approved a request from the committee to delete the word 'Commissioners' from the committee's name to shorten the committee's title.

In other business this morning, the board discussed with Charles Hudson, chairman of the Tar River Ports Commission the possibility of locating a solid waste collection container site on Port Terminal property, and heard a request from Alert Cable TV of Farmville, for a franchise to serve areas outside the Farmville municipal limits.

Spokesman for the cable television firm, Joe Surles, said he would submit a proposal, in writing, for the board's consideration.

The East Carolina University Radiation Safety Committee plans to apply soon for a license to incinerate materials that are contaminated by radioactivity.

These materials, including vials containing liquid scintillation media used to count radioactive tracers and the carcasses and waste products of animals used in research, will be burned in an already-operating incinerator here which is an annex to the Brody Medical Science Building in the medical complex adjacent to Pitt County Memorial Hospital, once the permit is obtained. Then the ashes, at least for the time being, will be sent to the waste burial ground in the State of Washington, where barrels of radioactive waste are now being shipped by ECU.

The savings in effort and money will be considerable, according to Francis DeFreis, radiation safety consultant, retained by ECU. It's a matter of reduction of mass, he explained. "Instead of sending 50 barrels a year at a cost of about $180 a barrel, we'll be sending just a few small ash-containing packets oftener at much less cost."

The new disposal plan also will alleviate storage problems. Now special protection measures must be used while radioactive waste is being held for shipment, Calvin Overcash, radiation safety technician for ECU, said. After licensure, it can be disposed of at convenient intervals.

Under current Nuclear Regulatory Commission guidelines, certain radioactive materials including 3-H (tritium) and 14-C (carbon 14), both of which are water soluble, can be disposed of by release into the sanitary sewage system if the amount is not more than one curie per year. However, sewage disposal has certain inherent drawbacks, particularly if the fluid also contains potentially toxic chemicals, so incineration seems a preferable alternative, Dr. Eugene D. Furth, chairman of the Radiation Safety Committee said.

"Our calculations suggest that incineration here can take place with release of less than 1/20th of the radioactivity that is allowed by all federal and state guidelines," Dr. Furth explained. "It should be pointed out that under the current guidelines, it is possible for the university to proceed with such incineration. However, we want to inform the community before we proceed in our request for licensure."

"3-H and 14-C are naturally-occurring nuclides that have been present for all of history since they are produced naturally by cosmic radiation. Our proposal would add 1/10,000 additional radioactivity to that already found in Pitt County," DeFreis explained. "During incineration, carbon dioxide and water are liberated, carrying off most of the tritium and carbon 14 into the atmosphere. Other materials remain the ash in variable quantities. The furnace is built in such a way that smoke is returned in an upper chamber, thus cutting down greatly on the radiative particles that do escape. All of the exhaust gases will be at a concentration safe to breath and all ashes will be protected and properly buried."

He further explained, "Calculations suggest that, under the worst possible conditions, the radiation dose to an individual standing 200 feet from the plume would be approximately equal to that absorbed by a person taking a five-day ski trip to Denver, Colorado, since natural radiation is much greater at higher altitudes."

Dr. Furth said the committee plans to monitor the effluent from the incinerator at various sites during the first several burns and from time to time thereafter to assure that the level of radioactivity being emitted is well within the calculations and guidelines.

"Institutions having radioactive materials to be disposed of once shipped them to Barnwell, S. C.," DeFreis explained. "Then in May, 1979, the South Carolina disposers stopped accepting N. C. material. So Washington State became the only disposal point available. Of course, distance greatly increased the cost. (The only other waste burial ground in the country is one in Nevada.)"

There is good reason to believe, he added, that Washington will soon stop accepting material. It is hoped that, by the time this happens, North Carolina will be providing a safely constructed disposal site within its borders for institutions within the state to use.

ECU currently has 50 users of radioactive materials for medical and other scientific research. It is Overcash's job to monitor all radioactive materials as they arrive and to keep up with their whereabouts and use and disposal.

"Monitoring of radioactive materials is way ahead of that of toxic chemicals, which probably pose a bigger threat to the public," Dr. Furth commented. "We think such monitoring is an excellent idea and only wish for the health of the public that it were being done equally well with other hazardous wastes."

A. L. Colclough, director of Occupational Health and Safety for the university said, radioactive waste use and disposal is currently regulated by the North Carolina Radiation Protection Commission, whose operating arm is the Radiation Protection Section of the N. C. Department of Human Resources Division of Facility Services. State standards are higher than those of the corresponding federal agency, he said. He explained that periodic inspections are made at ECU and that inspection of the incinerator used to burn the radioactive waste and other biological products will be part of these inspections once the license is obtained.

LEARNING DISABLED GROUP

Sandy Wainright is seeking to enlist the help of other parents of children with learning disabilities to form a local chapter of the North Carolina Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

She said learning disabled children are those who exhibit a disorder in one or more of the basic psychological processes involved in understanding or using spoken or written language. These may show up as problems in listening, thinking, talking, reading, writing, spelling, or doing arithmetic. Among the names the parent may have heard used by the child's teachers and/or counselors are perceptual handicaps, brain injuries, minimal brain dysfunction, dyslexia, and development aphasia. Not included are learning problems due primarily to visual, hearing or motor handicaps, mental retardation, emotional disturbances, or environmental disadvantages.

Interested persons are invited to attend an organizational meeting to be held Tuesday, Mar. 10, at 7:30 p. m. at the First Federal building on Greenville Boulevard. For more information, one may call either Sandy Wainright, 758-0264, or Dr. Betty Levey, 752-2912.

Preparing Ship Gondola Home

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — An Indian air force helicopter picked up the grounded Jules Verne balloon from a rural village and flew it to an airport here today while two American balloonists made arrangements for shipping the craft home.

Don Ida, a tree nursery operator from Boulder, Colo., and Maxie Anderson, a mining investment executive from Albuquerque, N.M., made an unscheduled landing in northern India on Saturday.

They left Egypt on Thursday, hoping to make the first non-stop balloon voyage around the world in eight to 10 days, but they were unable to gain sufficient altitude in time to cross the Himalayan Mountains safely.

With the red, white and blue metal gondola, the empty balloon, numerous empty gas cylinders and other items of equipment safely stowed at Saldarjung Airport, the two aviators turned their attention to shipping it all home.

"It will definitely go by sea," Ida said. The two balloonists will fly home — on a commercial airlines — and Anderson might leave as early as Tuesday, he added.

"Maxie may go on ahead, but (ground crew chief) Doc (Wiley) and I may stay on for a couple more days" to oversee the arrangements for shipping the gear, Ida said.

The approximately 8-foot by 8-foot, enclosed gondola took a bit of a beating when it banged down in a scrub-filled field outside the village of Mirchpur, about 90 miles northwest of the Indian capital.

U.S. Refineries Facing Glut Of Gasoline; May Slow Production

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The United States' rapidly growing reserves of gasoline are so great that refineries may be forced to slow down or shut down and gas prices eventually may drop, an oil industry analyst says.

Dan Lundberg said oil production runs at refineries are at "uneconomic rates" and gasoline stockpiles, fast approaching a record-breaking inventory, are so great that "the industry may have to drink it."

But his Lundberg Letter, a weekly oil industry periodical, stressed that "regardless of surpluses, certain increased costs must get through to the pump, so a decline in prices is not a reasonable prospect at this time."

The letter said consumer conservation of gasoline and continued production of fuel oil for winter heating were combining to create stocks of 277 million barrels of gas at refineries, in pipelines and at large terminals throughout the country.

Another oil industry publication official said Sunday that the nation has begun to control its consumption of petroleum products and could be on the way to easing the energy problem "without fully realizing it."

German Chacin, editor of the Energy Detente newsletter, said the U.S. economy has improved its energy efficiency 12 percent since the Arab oil embargo of 1973. He said that translates into a savings of 4.9 million barrels of oil a day.

"Since the petroleum price increases of 1973-74, conservation... has entered the scene with a vigor that many wouldn't have thought possible back in the 1960s and early '70s," Chacin said.

Energy Detente is a bilingual, twice-monthly publication that studies the energy situation in the Western Hemisphere. It is affiliated with the Lundberg Letter.

The Lundberg Letter, published Friday, said refinery production runs dropped to 72.7 percent of capacity in January from an already low 76.6 percent in December. Refiners, who generally like to run at about 90 percent capacity, are faced with "even greater slowdowns, perhaps shut-downs," the letter said.

Industry experts say production runs of less than 75 percent aren't profitable for most refineries.

A record surplus of 283.1 million barrels, set in April of last year, brought a 1.2 cent average drop in gasoline prices over an eight-month period, and another overload "would almost certainly cool the current round of price increases," the Lundberg Letter said.

If a dip in prices does occur, it could come "before the end of March," the letter said. The Lundberg Letter had previously predicted an average price for all grades of U.S. gas of $1.45 a gallon by the end of 1981.

Considering contact lenses? You may be interested to know that the contact lens fits over the colored portion of the eye although it is slightly smaller in diameter. Without contact lenses, it is normal for a person to blink a certain number of times per minute. The exact blinking rate varies from one individual to another. The reason is to cleanse the eye and thus spread normal tear fluid across the surface. Normal blinking can either help or hinder the adjustment to contacts depending upon the manner in which blinking occurs. For blinking to aid the adjustment, it is necessary to completely close the eye with each blink. Thus, you should not flutter or partially close your lids.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago I had a mastectomy. It was a terrible shock because I had been in excellent health and never dreamed it could happen to me. I was 44 and very happily married to a wonderful man who couldn't have been more supportive during the ordeal.

When I recovered, my husband started to lose interest in me (physically), and I couldn't blame him. I felt like half a woman. Our marriage fell apart, and we were divorced two years later. Shortly after that, I had a second mastectomy.

I am still attractive, and men are attracted to me, but I don't know how to handle the possibility of another romantic relationship. In clothes, I look like a whole woman with a beautiful figure, but I feel guilty and deceitful because I know I am not.

I can't very well confess my deficiencies to a man on the first date. But if I don't warn him, he could feel cheated later on.

Abby, must I forget about romance and the possibility of remarriage because I am damaged? I love life and I'm self-supporting, but I need to be loved again.

SOMETHING MISSING

DEAR MISSING: As long as you perceive yourself as "damaged" — or "half a woman" — your chances for being loved again are slim.

Please contact your local chapter of the American Cancer Society. It will have a long list of women in your community who have been down the same road but have learned how to live full lives that included romance and remarriage. They will be glad to help you build your self-esteem. That is really all you're "missing."

DEAR ABBY: We have a 10-month-old daughter, our first child, and she's an adorable, healthy little girl.

The trouble is Vera, my sister-in-law, who has a 16-month-old daughter. Vera has constantly compared the progress of my child with hers since the day mine was born. Her daughter sat up, crawled, walked and talked at a certain age, and what's the matter with mine?

I am sick of these comparisons, but I don't want to start anything with her. Will you please tell her, Abby?

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: It would be better if you told her. Let her know that you are perfectly satisfied with your daughter's rate of progress. And should you have any questions about it, you'll consult your pediatrician.

...

DEAR MISS VAN BUREN: I wish to protest your column on suggested Christmas gifts for the elderly.

Thanks to you I was inundated with gift certificates and small tins of tuna and chicken!

I disagree with you 100 percent. I don't want my friends and family to think of me as an object of charity at Christmastime. Your practical gift suggestions, such as newspaper or magazine subscriptions, gift certificates and food, do not appeal to me at all. I would much rather have a frivolous, frilly nightgown. Then at least I'd know I am still considered alive and feminine! And if I must, I will eat a peanut butter sandwich for my Christmas dinner while wearing my frilly gown.

Please, stop speaking for the world, Abby. Who do you think you are — the omnipotent being? What colossal ego!

Scholarship Finalists Chosen

David W. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Miller, 814 Gayle Blvd., Winterville, and Ana Rita Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Weber, 1302 E. Wright, Greenville, were among 70 finalists interviewed Saturday at North Carolina State University as the final step in scholarship competition under the university's Merit Scholars Program.

The 70 outstanding high school seniors were selected for interviews from a group of 519 applicants.

Six of the group will be selected this year as John Tyler Caldwell Scholars, an honor which will carry a renewable $3,000 scholarship (up to $12,000 for four years). The John Tyler Caldwell Scholars Program was established in 1975 by the NCSU Alumni Association.

A number of other unrestricted scholarships (as to particular curriculums) are being offered. Among these programs are the Freshman Scholars Program with fourteen $1,000 one-year scholarships from any geographical area, and the Wake County Merit Scholars Program offering ten $1,000 one-year scholarships to graduating seniors from the public and private Wake County high schools.

Saturday's competition was for a total of 36 unrestricted university wide merit awards.

In addition to these scholarships there are numerous other scholarships offered through the Merit Scholars Program which are restricted to specific academic areas of enrollment.

Winners in the Merit Scholars Program competition will be announced the first week in March.

Oratorical Contest Begins In The County

The American Legion began its nationwide oratorical contest at the county level last week.

The Pitt County contest was sponsored by Post 39 and was held Thursday evening in its building. Winner of the county contest was Kelly Hobgood, a freshman at Farmville Central High School. Runner-up was Pierson Shaw, a junior of D. H. Conley High School.

Hobgood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Thomas Britt of Farmville. Shaw is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Shaw of Greenville and is a cadet lieutenant in ROTC at Conley High.

Contestants delivered eight-to-10-minute prepared orations on a chosen aspect of the U. S. Constitution. Each then was assigned one article or amendment to the Constitution and was allowed five minutes to prepare an extemporaneous oration of three-to-five minutes.

The contest was supervised by Owen Kingsbury, oratorical chairman of Post 39, and Lucille Quinn, oratorical chairman of District 3, assisted by Ernest Avery, Post chairman.

Judges were Dr. Herbert Carlton, ECU professor of political science; Dr. Fred Parham, chairman of the ECU Chemistry Department; and Dr. Marshall Helms, professor emeritus of physics, ECU.

The county winner will go to the District 3 contest set for Feb. 19 and may advance through five other steps to national championship. There are awards at each stage, with the final prize a $16,000 scholarship and three lesser prizes.

Dead Animal Disposal Discussed

Recent dumpings of dead animals across the state has prompted the N.C. Department of Agriculture to re-define the laws regarding their disposal.

According to Dr. T.F. Zweigart, state veterinarian, the owner or person in charge of domestic animals or livestock is responsible for burying any animal within 24 hours of knowledge of death to a depth of at least three feet and no closer than 300 feet to any flowing stream or public water supply.

"In the event the owner of a dead animal is unknown," Zweigart said, "It becomes the responsibility of local government, county or city, to properly dispose of the carcass."

Commenting on the situation, state Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said, "We want it understood that dead animal dumping will not be tolerated, and we also want to make it clear it is not the department's responsibility to dispose or bury animals. We are, however, interested in any dead animal that might be diseased," he said.

FRANK STEINBECK, Co-Chairman, CONCERNED CITIZENS.

FRANK STEINBECK SAYS "Alcoholism is costing our Nation some $60 billion a year. It is costing North Carolina some $634 million a year. It is estimated we have 200,000 alcoholics. In addition we have some 69,000 persons from age 10 and 18 who are alcoholics.

Alcoholism is caused by reasons: 1) The AVAILABILITY—easy to buy; 2) SOCIAL—cocktail parties, etc.; 3) PSYCHOLOGICAL—change in the personality; and 4) INBORN—it can be inherited. Liquor-by-the-drink could cause alcoholism."

As CONCERNED CITIZENS we should do our best to discourage drinking.

Citizens of Greenville have a duty to perform tomorrow. They will be going to the polls to decide whether the serving of mixed drinks will be allowed within the city limits. We think it is an important issue for our community and clearly groups on both sides of the issue feel so, too. There has been a strong campaign waged by both those who favor mixed drinks and those who are opposed to it. That is the way it should be in a democracy. Now, however, the campaign is nearly completed and it comes down to every citizen who is eligible to vote taking part in the referendum by visiting the polling places. We think most people have made their own personal decisions as to how they feel about the mixed drink issue, but for those feelings to be translated into action each of us has to cast a vote. However you feel, take time to vote tomorrow. The issue is important and the outcome should represent the broadest feeling of our community.

Greenville Industries Active

Greenville Industries, Inc. was organized to promote industrial development locally. Its board met last week to review what had been done and to re-elect W. W. Speight as president. The corporation plans to sell some timber on land it owns for industrial sites and use some of the proceeds to provide better access to the property. Having desirable industrial sites available is most important in the search for industry and certainly Greenville Industries has played an important role in this.

THIS AFTERNOON Road Crisis Key?

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Word from Washington on Federal highway funds may resolve the continuing saga of North Carolina's gasoline tax dilemma. Several specialists both in and out of state government are flatly predicting that President Ronald Reagan and the U.S. Congress are going to switch emphasis from highway construction to highway maintenance. If that happens, a lot of people will be off the political hot-seat in this state where resolution of budget problems hinge on whether a hefty hike in gasoline taxes will or will not become the legislative dog-fight of the decade. If the federal government declares that the Interstate Highway System is complete nationwide, with only those sections already under construction or in contract to be carried forward, and the Federal Highway Trust Fund (income from the four-cent federal gas tax) is to be redirected at maintenance rather than construction, impact in this state will be immediate and far-reaching.

share of the federal money in the past two years. But there is a side effect to all of this federal help. When cheap money is handed to the state it is only for construction, and to standards set forth by the federal government which, at the outset, means higher cost. Then, when the project is completed with all that nice landscaping and lighting and broad shoulders and guardrails — the state has to take over all maintenance. And that is why maintenance money has been buying less and less. It is plain to see that both in this state and across the nation, highway construction will be drastically reduced. With some continuing work on primary highways, and upgrading of secondary and urban roads, most experts feel this will not prove a problem. A Change Construction spending is running around $286 million, including federal funds. By 1985, there is not expected to be any money for construction without increased income. Maintenance is costing about $170 million yearly, and falling behind with projections that the shortfall will be $50 million by 1985 without increased income. To meet minimum needs, the major focus is on a four-cent gas tax hike along with other changes to produce $212 million yearly in new Highway Fund money. If the federal government turns around on its priority and makes available $200 million annually for maintenance, and the state match of $20 million comes from available maintenance funds and then the remaining money earmarked for maintenance in the state is shifted to state-priority construction work ... then the crunch will be over with the state needing perhaps a two-cent per gallon gas tax hike to move ahead.

BY ART BUCHWALD Show-And Tell Concept

There is entirely too much talk lately about nuclear war. First we had Secretary of State Alexander Haig testify in front of a Senate Committee that there were worse things in this world than nuclear war. Then we had Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger pushing for a neutron bomb. Everyone suddenly seems to be thinking the unthinkable. My friend Alabaster, who is getting nervous about all this nuclear saber-rattling, has a theory as to what is causing it. "The problem is that for 35 years our measuring stick for atomic holocaust has been Hiroshima and Nagasaki. "Every time someone wants to make an atomic weapon comparison he says: 'This warhead packs 1,000 times the wallop of the bomb dropped on Hiroshima.' Or 'This artillery shell will give you 30 times more punch than what we did to Nagasaki.' "These stats don't have relevance anymore. Hiroshima and Nagasaki are part of ancient history and have no meaning for the people running the world today. We have to come up with a new yardstick to give them some idea of what atomic weapons can do." "What do you suggest?" I asked him. "I have a modest proposal," Alabaster said. "We need two new examples to demonstrate how awesome nuclear war is, so it will sober up politicians, military men and statesmen, not only here but in the Soviet Union." "All right," I agreed. "What do you have in mind?" "We should permit the United States and the U.S.S.R. to fire off their largest nuclear weapon at just one Soviet and one U.S. city, to prove how powerful the weapons really are." "Why not?" I said. "Moscow and Washington would be off limits because we don't want to eliminate the leaders of both countries, or the lesson would be lost on them," he continued. "We must select two beautiful cities that have tremendous sentimental meaning for the people of the respective countries. I would suggest the U.S. 'nuke' Leningrad, and the U.S.S.R. 'nuke' San Francisco." "Why Leningrad?" I asked. "It is without a doubt the loveliest city in the Soviet Union, with magnificent palaces, irreplaceable architecture, and one of the great museums of the world." "Why San Francisco?" "Everyone loves San Francisco. One easily can leave his heart there." "What will it prove?" I asked. "When the Russians see the devastation one American weapon has done to its beloved Leningrad they will realize that the United States is not stockpiling Tinker Toys. "And in turn the Americans who have been discussing nuclear war as some kind of military Super Bowl will have second thoughts about solving its foreign problems with atomic weapons. With Leningrad and San Francisco 'nuked,' we won't need Hiroshima and Nagasaki anymore to point out the dangers of a new war. "But my modest proposal has a second benefit. We and the Soviets have spent a bundle on nuclear arms, and both sides deserve to shoot off at least one in anger during our lifetime, if for no other reason than to see firsthand that we got our money's worth." Other Editors Say Equitable Sharing

(Winston-Salem Sentinel)
One bill that should find no serious opposition in the 1981 General Assembly is a proposal to reform the North Carolina law that governs property division in a divorce. It may surprise some people to learn that in the state the ex-husband still gets it all. Legislation introduced by Rep. Patricia Hunt, D-Orange, and Sen. Helen Marvin D-Gaston, would bring North Carolina into the mainstream of states which follow a rule of equitable distribution. Their bill would give judges a number of factors to consider in dividing marital property, including the intangible contributions of a non-working wife. A second bill, introduced by Sen. William Redman, R-Iredell, has the same objective, but gives less guidance to the courts. Although it typifies the kind of practical reforms that would be mandated by passage of the Equal Rights Amendment, the equitable distribution bill is not aimed primarily at those usually perceived as career women. A wife with an independent career is probably more likely than others to achieve a fair division of assets through negotiation. Rather, it is the wife without significant earning capacity who is the most likely beneficiary. It is the wife whose contribution consists of long hours of service as a mother and homemaker. It is also the wife whose personal assets — an inheritance, for instance — might otherwise pass to the husband in divorce. The proposed change simply makes it the policy of the state that in no circumstance should a spouse be gratuitously enriched by a divorce. It is conceivable that some will object that an equitable distribution law would encourage divorce, contrary to the public policy promoting the sanctity of marriage. That might be true only to the extent that some marriages may now be preserved by nothing more than the wife's fear of financial disaster. It is hard to see any public interest in preserving marriages based solely on fear. Whether, as intimated by Rep. Hunt, North Carolina's law threatens to make the state a "dumping round" for unwanted wives from other states is almost beside the point. That surely is not the kind of reputation this state wants; but the protection of North Carolina women is itself ample reason to change the law.

of crash, in which a car is driven, head-on, at a speed of 35 mph, into a concrete barrier. The critics also say that the flat "pass-fail" rating system used to grade the cars is unfair. Boaz said the "pass-fail" grades are not meant as complete safety ratings. They are simply intended to show comparative performance. He said the head-on crash was used as a standard for testing because it is a common type of accident. He said more than 60 percent of crashes involve a front-end collision of some type. "The Car Book" says that 55 percent of deaths and serious injuries occur in frontal crashes. The publication is available at no charge from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009. Govm't Tells All About Autos

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
The federal government is trying to tell Americans everything they've ever wanted to know about automobiles with a 68-page guide called "The Car Book" that has become an instant hit with consumers. Critics, including some industry sources, charge that the publication — now in its second printing — is inaccurate and unfair, particularly in its safety ratings. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration prepared the guide and defends it. Bob Boaz, a spokesman for the agency, said the book is designed to show that there ARE differences among various makes and models and that there are cars on the market today that combine safety and good mileage. "The choice between safety and fuel economy is not one that the consumer should have to make," Boaz said. Critics of "The Car Book" say that the safety tests used were too limited because they involved only one type

Consensus Is Of Waste

By GEORGE GALLUP
PRINCETON, N.J. — President Ronald Reagan undoubtedly struck a responsive chord with the American people in his recent televised speech when he called for cuts in government waste and administrative overhead. The public judgment today, according to a recent Gallup survey, is that about half (48 cents) of every tax dollar that goes to the federal government in Washington is wasted. This survey finding suggests that much of the public's frustration and anger over government spending is directed not so much at the services those funds provide but at what is widely perceived to be wasted taxpayer money. Reagan Has Opportunity To Improve On Carter Record President Jimmy Carter has an opportunity to improve on former President Jimmy Carter's record by convincing Americans that waste is being cut out of federal spending. The Carter administration made little headway in this respect. In surveys conducted in 1978 and 1979 the public believed that about half (48 cents) of every tax dollar that went to the federal government was wasted, the same figure recorded this year. Here is the question asked to ascertain the public's perception of waste in federal spending: "Of every tax dollar that goes to the federal government in Washington, D.C., how many cents of each dollar would you say are wasted?" And here are the median figures for key population groups:

State And Local Governments Waste Less
The closer government is to the people, the less money they believe is wasted. For example, when survey respondents were asked how many cents of each tax dollar received by their state government is wasted, the median average obtained is 29 cents. And in the case of local government, the figure is 23 cents. Again, little difference is found in responses since the 1979 survey. Following are the questions asked, the national results and the responses by political affiliation: "And how many cents of each tax dollar that goes to the government of this state would you say are wasted?"

To the editor:
Saturday was Valentine's Day, a day for sweethearts and a time for love. I hope that this Valentine's Day, all the people of the world will have forgotten about fighting and arguing. Maybe if everyone will be kind for just one day, they will discover how wonderful it really is and never fight again. Perhaps this is an idealistic hope, but isn't it worth a try? I hope following this Valentine's Day, no one will argue about school mergers, mixed drinks or anything else. Just for this one special day, maybe the world, or at least Greenville, can be covered with a blanket of peace, love and kindness. Think how wonderful the world would be if it were filled with love and kindness. Maybe the people of Greenville can't make the whole world peaceful, but maybe we can start it on its way. Billy Carter Plans Sell Some Property

BUENA VISTA, Ga. (AP) — Billy Carter says he will sell some of his land in Plains to help pay off an Internal Revenue Service debt of $105,123 and avoid foreclosure on his Marion County home.

The IRS refused to grant a request from the brother of former President Jimmy Carter to pay off the 1978 debt in installments, said IRS spokesman Giles Hollingsworth.

Carter must pay the entire amount by March 3 or the IRS will sell Carter's home, which he put up as collateral for the payment of back taxes, interest and penalties, Hollingsworth said.

"This is a foreclosure," he said.

"It's just a legal thing," Carter said Saturday. "They gave me so much time to come up with the money, but we're still negotiating. We've offered to pay it off in installments or some other way, but they wanted it all."

Seized Airplane And Marijuana

CONWAY, S.C. (AP) — Authorities have seized an airplane "loaded to the windows" with marijuana and arrested three men in connection with the alleged smuggling operation.

Officers were searching for a fourth man wanted in the case early this morning.

When two men stepped out of the twin-engine Navajo that landed at the Horry County Airport about five miles west of Conway, S.C., shortly after 11 p.m. Sunday, they walked into the arms of Horry County police and U.S. Customs agents.

Detectives also arrested a man driving a pickup truck near the airport.

The plane was piloted by George Pope, 41, of Erwin, N.C., and Ronald W. Mullis, 44, of Fayetteville, N.C., was a passenger, according to Horry County Police Chief Gordon Harris.

Harris said Harold G. Goforth, 34, of North Myrtle Beach, S.C., who was driving a red pickup truck near the airport when the airplane landed, was also arrested.

All three have been charged with conspiracy to violate state drug laws and possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

A fourth man fled in a white pickup truck when police gave chase, then hopped out of the truck, eluding capture, Harris said.

The chief said the aircraft held 500 to 1,000 pounds of marijuana with a total estimated street value of up to $400,000.

The marijuana was packed in 30 brown plastic garbage bags.

Harris said the aircraft, which was equipped with nose tanks for fuel, was apparently modified to carry drugs and held as "much pot as the vehicle could carry."

"It's loaded to the windows," he said, as a swarm of officers, narcotics agents and detectives began unloading the marijuana into a police van.

Tour Planned

The Robert Lee Humber house at the corner of Fifth and Washington streets here will be open to the public for touring Tuesday evening, according to Bob Swinson, president of the Greenville Area Preservation Association.

The tour of the Humber historic house will follow a brief meeting of the preservation group to be held at Planter's National Bank downtown Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Interested persons will then walk to the house, about two blocks, for the free tour. John L. Humber, professor at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill and son of the late Dr. Humber will host the tour.

The traditional turn-of-the-century wood frame house, built in 1895, has been given to the city of Greenville as a memorial to Dr. Humber, a former state senator and advocate of the arts and of world government. It will soon be used as the Eastern Branch Office of the N. C. Division of Archives and History.

all the facts," they will realize their vote should be against mixed drink sales. Saying that "we've given them all the facts," Steinbeck noted, "I don't see how intelligent people could vote otherwise."

He said that every survey conducted regarding alcohol sales indicated that consumption increases paralleled liquor-by-the-drink.

Steinbeck contended that in the two years since the issue was approved in Mecklenburg County, consumption of alcohol has increased 36.6 percent and driving under the influence has increased by 31 percent. He said that overall, the national increase is less than four percent.

The Greenville Restaurant Association has spearheaded the effort to see the issue approved here. Bob Sauter, owner of the Pipeline restaurant in downtown Greenville and a director of the association, stressed that the effects of mixed drink sales in lieu of brown bagging are "all positive."

Sauter said he feels control is the key element, suggesting that "consumption on the average will be reduced because of the economic impact of mixed beverages." He said that the cost of a mixed drink will be a prohibitive factor.

The restaurant owner observed that without mixed drink approval, there will continue to be very little restraint placed on how much alcohol a customer can consume. He said a patron "now can bring in a gallon and have one drink or drink all of it...there is no control."

Sauter said that the supporters of liquor-by-the-drink did their homework early, accomplished their groundwork back in October and presented the points they wanted to stress. Telephone responses have indicated a 60 to 70 percent affirmative reaction, he said, adding that the general public is more informed now "as to the real issues involved."

"We have stressed the fact that it will add control and take the open liquor bottles out of cars," he said.

An attorney in the State ABC office in Raleigh said this morning that if the mixed beverage issue is approved in Greenville tomorrow, there will be no more brown bagging permits held by restaurants here after they expire on April 30.

The spokesperson said that while "social establishments" such as country clubs will be eligible to hold both permits, restaurants will have only the mixed drink option. They will not hold both permits or be able to continue offering brown bagging in their facilities, she said.

In the past, the attorney stated, a minimum of three weeks from the date of the referendum to the issuance of mixed drink permits has been the normal time frame observed by the ABC Board. She said that if restaurants apply for and receive a mixed drink permit prior to the April 30 expiration date, those facilities would be asked to "hand us their brown bag permit."

An initial application fee of $500 is charged for prospective mixed drink permit holders, it was mentioned, and if that application is approved prior to April 30, the holder would be required to renew the permit after that date at a cost of $250. The spokesperson said that the $250 renewal fee could be saved by waiting until May 1 to apply for the initial permit.

All nine Greenville polling sites will be open tomorrow from 6:30 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. and Margaret Register, supervisor of the Pitt Board of Elections, said that only those qualified registered voters residing within the city limits will be eligible to vote. Local citizens who were previously registered to vote and those who registered prior to the Jan. 19 deadline will be able to participate in tomorrow's balloting.

Handicapped citizens or others who are able to go to the polling site but not able to go inside may be waited on by a precinct official curbside during the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m., Miss Register said.

Inmates Fail In Escape Effort

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Two inmates at Nevada's Maximum Security Prison took nine people hostage but surrendered peacefully when they failed to get outside the prison walls, authorities have reported.

Death Row inmate Patrick McKenna, 34, pulled a gun on a guard and forced him to release prisoner David Wayne, 37, prison spokesman Howard Pyle said after Saturday's incident. The two men then took prison nurse Nelda Cushman and seven other guards hostage.

We endorse mixed beverages in the City of Greenville

As voters and citizens of the City of Greenville, we support the referendum to be held on February 17. We feel that a fairly administered and strictly enforced mixed beverage law would have numerous benefits for the city. Among those benefits, we feel, are:

- Increased revenues in taxes.
- Increased economy from the ability to attract conventions, etc., from outside the city.
- A better method of controlling alcohol, in that in restaurants where mixed beverages are served, brown bagging would no longer be allowed under state law.
- A progressive law for a progressive city.
- A better environment for restaurants, thus, better restaurants.
- For those who choose to drink, the freedom to drink the beverage of their choice in small doses, without having to illegally carry an opened whiskey bottle around.

In no way do we support the establishment of walk-in bars and taverns, serving mixed beverages. The referendum that the citizens of Greenville will decide will allow established, sit-down restaurants to apply for mixed beverages licenses so that their customers may choose to have a drink along with a meal.

We urge your support for the referendum on February 17.

SATURDAY NIGHT COLLISION — Four persons were reported injured when these cars, driven by Cedric Guy Roberts of Williamston and Francis Smith Stokes of 108 North Ash St., collided about 8 p.m. on Greene Street, 300 feet north of the First Street intersection. Officers, who said both drivers and a passenger in each of the cars received minor injuries, charged Roberts with driving under the influence, driving left of center, and possession of marijuana. Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the Roberts car and $2,200 to the Stokes vehicle. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Failed Attempt Recruit A Spy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet secret police failed in an attempt to blackmail and recruit a spy a U.S. Army attache who is a candidate to become a special military adviser to Vice President Bush, it was reported today.

Maj. James R. Holbrook, who was stationed in Moscow, flatly rejected the Soviet offer. The Washington Post reported today.

The incident, which may have included the use of drugs and efforts to obtain compromising photographs of Holbrook, was the most serious attempt to compromise and recruit a U.S. Embassy official in Moscow in recent years, the newspaper said, quoting reliable sources.

Observers in Moscow speculate that Soviet intelligence may have learned that Holbrook was a candidate for the post with Bush, which would have given him access to national secrets, the newspaper said.

The attempt failed, according to the report, when Holbrook and his traveling companion, Army Lt. Col. Thomas A. Spencer, reported the incident to their superiors.

Holbrook, 41, who has been returned to Washington with his family, told the Post he would not comment on the reported incident. The State Department and the U.S. Embassy in Moscow also declined comment.

The newspaper said the incident took place during the week of Jan. 12 in the western Ukrainian city of Rovno near the Polish border, apparently shortly before Holbrook was ordered home for the interview with Bush.

A spokesman for the vice president said that Holbrook was one of four people recommended by the Army for the job. No action has been taken on the recommendations.

"Losing Hair? Try This At No Risk"

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss...and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss...but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in the family," it is certainly not proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair...now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days—at their risk—if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail. ADV.

Vandals Hit In Cleveland

By ALAN ADLER
Associated Press Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — More than 60 youths armed with boards tore through a one-block area of downtown Cleveland early Sunday, smashing at least nine store windows and looting merchandise, police said.

Officers were still piecing together information and were unsure what started the 1:20 a.m. incident. It took them about 45 minutes to disperse the crowd.

"For all we know, this grew from when a bar let out at 20th and Euclid," said Cleveland police Sgt. Gary Spoerke. He said some arrests had been made, but couldn't provide the number.

There were no immediate reports of injuries.

Some of the 30 officers who helped quell the disturbance remained at the scene to help merchants board up broken windows in the predominantly black central downtown area. Police would not comment on the racial makeup of the crowd.

"After we got it dispersed, there's nothing to do but clean it up," Spoerke said.

The stores that were damaged ranged from a coin and stamp shop to a discount department store.

GMC Preparing Rebate Offers

CHICAGO (AP) — In an attempt to stimulate sluggish sales, General Motors Corp. is preparing to offer cash rebates — some as high as $500 — on all its 1981 model cars, according to published reports.

GM will hold a series of dealer meetings starting Tuesday to announce the plan. The Chicago Tribune reported Sunday. In addition to cash rebates, the program reportedly will include incentives for dealers and salesmen.

The 1981 model year began Oct. 1, and through December, sales trailed 1979 by less than 10 percent. In January, GM raised model prices, and sales dropped to almost 14 percent below last year.

Fired Policeman Allowed 'Resign'

MIAMI (AP) — A former Dade County policeman who was fired after the beating death of black insurance executive Arthur McDuffie will be reinstated and allowed to resign, officials say.

Ubaldo DeToro, charged as an accessory in the beating, was granted a directed verdict of acquittal the day before an all-white jury found four other ex-officers innocent in the slaying. That verdict touched off three days of rioting here in which 18 people died.

County Manager Merrett Stierheim said he would follow a hearing officer's recommendation that DeToro, 27, be reinstated, but gave his approval on the condition that DeToro resign immediately. County officials say DeToro will be paid about $20,000 for salary he would have received, less any money he earned in the last year.

To The Citizens of Greenville:

We believe that it is time for Greenville citizens to stand up and vote for those activities, programs and facilities that make our community a better place to live...like better schools, recreation facilities, slum clearance, good planning, orderly growth, etc....and to vote against any issue that does not build pride in our community!

We believe that "liquor-by-the-drink" will lead to greater alcohol consumption and its related problems, and will not build pride in our community.

We urge all citizens to examine this issue carefully, as it reflects on the pride we have in Greenville, and vote accordingly.

We plan to cast our vote for community pride by voting against liquor-by-the-drink.

Grounded In Whale Tour

SAN DIEGO (AP) — An 86-foot sailing ship returning from a whale-watching excursion ran aground in thick fog near here, but the 54 people aboard waded safely to shore, the Coast Guard reported.

"We were a couple miles offshore and the fog came from behind like pea soup," said Edward Barr, the ship's captain. "I did a mental calculation of how long to run (along the coast) before turning into the harbor. But I miscalculated and I turned into the point."

The ship, the California, was several miles off the coast returning from the whale-watching excursion about 4 p.m. Sunday when the fog rolled in. Barr radioed a Mayday to the Coast Guard.

Authorities estimated Barr turned his ship about 300 yards too soon. It grounded directly beneath the Coast Guard lighthouse station at the tip of Point Loma.

Efforts were planned to tow the ship, built in 1935, into deeper water and save it from the crashing surf, Barr said.

Crew members said there was no panic among the 49 Los Angeles-area passengers, and that everyone was able to slide safely from the ship into the waist-deep water and walk to shore.

Passengers said there was no indication of trouble aboard the vessel until a scraping sound was heard and the ship came to a halt.

"When it happened, nobody knew how far out we were," said passenger Larry Foutz.

"We heard a loud bump and the whole ship shifted," said Monica Schoppe, another passenger. "We all waited for it to right — and it didn't."

Saved From An Inferno

CENTRALIA, Pa. (AP) — Ten to 15 families should be moved out of the path of an underground coal fire that burned for two decades before nearly swallowing a 12-year-old boy, a congressman says.

The boy, Todd Domboski, told authorities he was playing in his grandmother's yard Saturday morning when he noticed smoke rising from the earth.

When he went to look at it, his foot broke through the surface, the ground opened up and he slipped through, dropping about six feet before he was able to grab some tree roots.

"If he didn't have a red hunting cap on, I wouldn't have found him," said Eric Wolfgang, a nephew who pulled the boy to safety.

The boy was taken to Ashland Hospital, where he was tested for inhalation of carbon monoxide fumes and released.

Neighbors later tossed a brick into the hole to see how deep it was.

"It was quite a few seconds before we heard the brick hit bottom," said Bob Godinski, a neighbor. "The hole is fairly deep."

Officials of the state Department of Environmental Resources took a temperature reading of 350 degrees in the hole.

sore on his ankle and thumb. Within six days he was covered with what appeared to be third-degree burns.

The boy's skin had no defense mechanisms, and was too tender to stand the pressure of a touch. To ease the pain, nurses painted his body twice a day with Crisco shortening, the only treatment that helped.

Pain Ends For The Crisco Kid

MICHAEL HAMMOND, age 10, died Saturday after a lengthy bout with a rare skin disease that covered his body with painful sores. (AP Laserphoto)

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — To little Michael Hammond, even a kiss was painful. The pressure of a touch could cause infection or death.

His mother was afraid he would die without knowing how much he was loved.

She was with him Saturday when the boy, dubbed "the Crisco Kid" by nurses who applied shortening to his skin as treatment for his rare disease, died of apparent heart failure at the age of 10.

Doctors said no autopsy was planned. This week was to have been a big one for Michael. After spending nearly his entire life in institutions, he was making progress toward his goal of someday living in the outside world, and was to start attending school for the first time.

Since age 2, Michael had lived at the Sunland Training Center, a state institution for the mentally retarded. He was not retarded, but was taken because of his affliction, epidermolysis bullosa.

The inherited disease, which is incurable, strikes one newborn in 50,000. At birth, Michael had strange

Lady Pirates Unranked; Men Face UNC-W

A Staff Report
East Carolina's Lady Pirates failed for the second straight week to return to the women's top 20 poll.

Last week ECU fell from 19th out of the poll following a loss to UNC, 77-74. However, the Lady Pirates were only 15 points away from being tied for 20th.

The Lady Pirates, 20-5 this season, made their first appearance ever in the poll three weeks ago at 18th following a win over N.C. State and a narrow loss to Southern Cal.

ECU's chances of returning to the top 20 could be enhanced greatly if the Lady Pirates come away with a victory Wednesday night against N.C. State in Raleigh. N.C. State is ranked #15th this week.

The game will be broadcast on WOOW starting at 7:10.

East Carolina's men's team, now 11-12, play host to UNC-Wilmington tonight in its last home game this season. The Pirates, who suffered an embarrassing 68-63 loss to Delaware State Thursday night, defeated UNC-W earlier this season, 72-64, in Wilmington.

The Seahawks, now 10-10, are coming off a 57-52 triple overtime victory over Maine and have won eight of their last 11 games. ECU lost at Maine earlier this season, 112-81.

Speedy Pit Stop Sends Petty To Daytona Win

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — There is no question in the mind of Richard Petty that a different set of circumstances would have prevented him from winning his seventh Daytona 500 stock car race.

But he took advantage of a blunder by favorite Bobby Allison's pit crew, charged from behind to take the lead and held on to it thanks to a fast pit stop. The result was his 193rd NASCAR Grand National victory and an old lesson for all to remember.

"When opportunity knocked we took advantage of it," said Petty, the seven-time national driving champion, who collected $90,575 Sunday for winning the 23rd renewal of the $780,000 event.

With 26 laps remaining in the 200-lap race on the 2.5-mile, high-banked oval, polesitter Allison's car ran out of gas and limped into the pits. Petty, running in fourth position, remained on the track as contenders Buddy Baker and Dale Earnhardt made their pit stops. A lap later new leader Ricky Rudd pitted, giving Petty the lead.

All had passed Allison as he was running out of fuel, filled his tank and changed tires. Petty meanwhile built a huge lead, then pitted his Buick Regal without a tire change and returned to racing with a 10-second lead.

"It was a case of follow the leader," Petty said of Rudd, Baker and Earnhardt, who finished third through fifth, respectively. "But we weren't following the leader."

"We just waited to see if they'd change tires, and when all of them did, we didn't. If we had gone in first and just taken gas, the rest of them would have done the same thing."

Petty admitted that he couldn't outrun second-place finisher Allison, whose sleek

Pontiac LeMans admittedly was the fastest car on the track.

"Nobody could run with Bobby, but this thing's more than speed," said the 43-year-old driver from Randleman, N.C. "A lot of things can happen in a 500-mile race. You just wait for something and try to take advantage of it."

Allison, whose car with its sloped rear window was the only one of its kind in the first race in which use of the boxy, downsized 1981 models was required, was disconsolate afterward.

"We ran out of gas and got behind and never caught up again," he said. "Everybody was accusing me of sandbagging all week. Well, they better look for somebody else now...the number one sandbagger of all time."

Allison led 21 times for 117 laps as the lead changed hands 49 times among nine drivers.

"The tires stick better for eight or 10 laps, but after that they all run about the same. We just tried to get a big lead and hope they couldn't catch us."

He also kept his fingers crossed there would be no yellow flags to bunch up the field for a sprint to the finish. All four cautions periods in the race came during the first 90 laps and there were no injuries in the minor accidents that did occur.

Allison, who spent most of his time battling Neil Bonnett until the latter left when his car developed a vibration after 123 laps, was able to overtake Rudd, Earnhardt and Baker. He managed to shave Petty's lead to four seconds at the end, but did so partially because the winner eased off in the final laps.

"I was able to do just what I wanted after the pit stop because I could run open (with the accelerator to the floor) when I was alone," said Petty. "I only had to lift it when I got into traffic."

Petty admitted he benefitted from the lack of a caution flag after he took the lead. Such an occurrence could have made any of the other contenders the winner.

Could he have beaten Allison had there been a yellow flag? "I seriously doubt it," he said. "But then you just don't know, because we didn't have any idea about anything coming in here."

"We put a new engine in the car Saturday but didn't get a chance to test it because of the rain. We went out there cold turkey."

"Without our radio, we lost the option to go to the end without a tire change," said crew member Robert Yates. "Too bad, because after looking at them after our change I'm sure our tires would have gone the distance, too."

"That decision (not to change tires) was Dale's," said Petty. "When I'm in the race car he's in charge of the pits and I do what he says."

Petty negotiated the final 65 laps without changing tires. But he said the difference was minimal.

TV, UNC Do Maryland In, 76-63

By TOM FOREMAN Jr., Associated Press Writer
Based on past experience, putting Maryland on national television Sunday was probably the best thing that could have happened to North Carolina.

The 10th-ranked Tar Heels raced to an 18-point halftime lead and held off two Maryland threats to demolish the 19th-ranked Terrapins, 76-63, in a nationally televised contest in College Park.

The Terrapins have dropped previous national television games to Louisville and Notre Dame. In addition, North Carolina's humiliating loss last Wednesday to Wake Forest was something coach Lefty Driesell feared, especially because he knew the Tar Heels would be quite hungry.

North Carolina proceeded to bite off a big chunk by breaking a 12-12 tie with a 20-4 spurt midway through the first half. Pacing the drive was Al Wood, who had left the game with a sore shoulder. He returned after a rest and scored 16 points.

"It's a lot of pain, but I can play with it," Wood said. "When I put ice on it, it started calming down and it felt real good when I went back in."

Wood ended the game with 28 points, while James Worthy scored 15 and freshman Sam Perkins had 13.

"The first half was as sorry as we have played in Cole Field House," Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell told reporters, adding: "I would appreciate it if you did not ask me many questions. I don't want to say too much now." Albert King scored 19 points to pace Maryland, which has lost four of its last seven. Greg Manning and Buck Williams scored 13 apiece.

In Saturday's Atlantic Coast Conference action, top-ranked Virginia blasted Clemson 73-58, while No. 7 Wake Forest squeezed by Duke 58-52. In Saturday night's action, No. 12 Notre Dame crushed North Carolina State 71-55 and Baptist College of South Carolina stopped Georgia Tech 74-51.

Jeff Lamp pushed his total career points to 2,113 by scoring 19 points, while Lee Raker added 16 to give the Cavaliers their 11th conference victory, 22nd overall win and 27th consecutive triumph over two seasons.

Coach Terry Holland credited his team's defense with the victory, especially since it held the Tigers to a 39.7 percent shooting performance from the floor.

"They caught on a little bit to what we were doing in the second half and we had to change defenses," Holland said. "But we did a good job in the man-to-man despite their big front line."

Ralph Sampson was held to 12 points, but Tiger coach Bill Foster said the key was Sampson's supporting cast.

"We did a lot of things well in the first half in nullifying Sampson, but Raker and Lamp hit the jumpers," Foster said.

Wake Forest attempted its game total of 19 free throws in the last nine minutes of play against the Blue Devils. They hit 14, including two by Frank Johnson with 6 seconds left in the game. Coach Carl Tacy admitted after the contest that the joy of beating North Carolina by such a big margin in Chapel Hill had not yet worn off.

"We expected the win we had Wednesday would carry over and affect our play somewhat today," Tacy said. "I think our concentration wasn't the greatest and it gave us some problems early."

Wake Forest never gained a lead until early in the second half, then extended its advantage to seven points before Duke pulled to within one late in the game. Johnson credited his team's defensive efforts.

"I think that was some of the best defense we played all season," Johnson said. "They never could get off a good shot and they looked confused."

Gene Banks led Duke with 18 points, while Vince Taylor and Tom Emma added 12 points each.

With Orlando Woolridge scoring 24 points, the Fighting Irish had a relatively easy time in Reynolds Coliseum. Coach Jim Valvano admitted as much after the game.

"That was a good, old-fashioned butt-whipping by a very good basketball team," Valvano said. "They're as fine a team as we've faced all season."

The loss was the worst by the Wolfpack at home during this season, and second worst this year.

"They put it to us early and often," Valvano said. "Now we have to look at the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament as our NCAA tournament."

Thurl Bailey led N.C. State with 17 points and four rebounds, the latter a testament to Notre Dame's board strength. If there was any solace in Georgia Tech's loss, it was that only 563 people paid to see it. What that audience witnessed was an early 22-4 lead which grew to a 41-12 halftime lead for the Buccaneers.

"That's a Butler Builder!"

Irwin Wins By Six, But It Wasn't Easy

HONOLULU (AP) — Hale Irwin won the Hawaiian Open by a 6-stroke margin and with a record score. He led all the way in the final round, by a minimum of 2 strokes.

But it wasn't easy. "It sounds absurd, but it's hard to play with a 5-stroke lead," Irwin said Sunday after scoring his first victory on the PGA Tour since the 1979 U.S. Open.

"You don't want to get too aggressive and make mistakes. And you don't want to be too conservative and back off. It's hard to keep that momentum."

The key to it, Irwin said, was experience. "A lot of experience came into play over those last few holes," said the man who now has won 12 American titles in 13 years on the Tour.

"I knew I had to play a good back nine, not so much making birdies but making good golf shots and a lot of par, forcing the other guys to try to catch me." He did that. And more.

Irwin got the pars he needed to secure the victory. And then he put on a birdie-eagle finish to set the tournament scoring record at 265, 23 strokes under par on the 6,881-yard Waialae Country Club course that was robbed of its defenses by the rare absence of wind.

"Deep down I wanted to break the record, but, really, it was just a bonus," said Irwin, who started the final round with a 5-shot cushion, saw it dwindle to 2 strokes at the turn, then finished his closing 69 on a high note.

Don January, a 51-year-old veteran and an occasional competitor on the seniors tour, came on to take second at 271 after a closing 68.

Ben Crenshaw, Terry Diehl and Isao Aoki, Japan's leading player, were next at 272. Crenshaw, who once got to within 2 strokes of the top spot but finished with a 67. "You have to be realistic about it," Ben said. "I was playing for second. I didn't have any thought of catching Hale. He's too good a player."

Aoki had a closing 69, Diehl 70.

The group at 273 included Bean, Tom Watson, John Schroeder, John Mahaffey and George Archer. Bean, Mahaffey and Archer had last round 67's. Watson shot a 68 in the warm sunshine and Schroeder matched par 72.

Lee Trevino finished with a 68 and a 274 total. Bruce Lietzke, a two-time winner this season, had a birdie-birdie-birdie finish for a 69 that extended his streak of consecutive rounds at par or better to 18. He had a 275 total.

Irwin, who won $58,500 from the total purse of $325,000, had the lead all the way in the last round but said: "Things were starting to get a little shaky there for a while" when his lead dwindled to 2 strokes.

He added to that margin, however, with a great 9-iron shot that left him a six-inch tap-in for birdie on the 12th. The critical string of pars followed.

And he got the scoring record with a 5-iron shot that left him a 6-footer on the 17th and a 3-wood shot that set up his 20-foot eagle putt on the last hole.

"It's been a long time," he said. "I'm very pleased, not only with the win but with myself."

Triple Bogey Costs Carner Lead, Not Win

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A triple bogey on the 10th hole cost JoAnne Carner the lead midway through the Ladies Professional Golf Association's S&H golf tournament.

But she parred it in the final round and got a standing ovation and a hefty dose of confidence to carry her to a 2-stroke victory in sudden death over Dot Germain.

"I knew I was going to play well when I parred 10," Carner said Sunday. She played conservatively and safely on the extra hole and stroked her way to a $15,000 victory in wind and rain Sunday. It was the second time in as many weeks she was forced into sudden death play.

Germain, the defending champion at Pasadena Golf Club, made her only birdie of the day on the 18th hole to catch the veteran Carner at 1-under-par 215 in regulation play.

She hadn't been playing well most of the day and the extra hole was no different. She hit a tree with her first shot, then hooked one and it landed in the bunker. She hit over the fairway, missed a 50-foot chip shot and wound up with a double-bogey 6 for second place and $9,800.

Jan Stephenson was third at par 216 for $7,000 and Cindy Hill was two strokes back to pocket $5,000.

Carner, who was in the lead for the entire back nine, bogeyed the 17th and skimmed the water coming in on the last hole. She made par and said she knew then — even before Germain shot — that they were headed for a playoff.

"I love playoffs. I usually win them," said the 11-year pro, who is 7-4 in sudden death. Carner lost the Whirlpool Classic last week in a playoff with Judy Rankin and winner Sally Little.

St. Peter's Girls Win 2

St. Peter's boys dropped two games this weekend while the girls swept a pair in basketball action.

St. Peter's boys lost, 52-41, Saturday to St. Mary's despite Bryan Bridges' 19 points, and then lost to Annunciation Saturday, 47-29. In that game, David Giordano had 10 points.

St. Peter's girls fared better, defeating St. Mary's, 32-17, and then whipping Annunciation, 28-23. Alice Zincone had seven in Saturday's win while Sam Dixon and Margaret Kootz had seven each in Sunday's victory.

In junior varsity action, St. Peter's girls won, 16-4, over St. Mary's behind Kim Bridges' 10 points while the JV boys lost, 31-26. Hunter Clark had 10 for the locals.

The JV boys also lost to Annunciation, 33-29, despite 12 points from Andrew Perry.

Steelwheels Sweep Pair

The Greenville Steelwheels defeated the Asheville Skywheels twice this weekend in wheelchair basketball games. Greenville won the first game, 43-28, and took the second, 48-26.

Theron Moye led the Steelwheels in the first game with 12 points and chipped in 14 in the second. Richard Hudson led Greenville in the second game with 16 points.

The Steelwheels end the regular season at 10-10 and will enter next week's tournament in Raleigh with either a third or fourth seeding, depending on the results of other league games this weekend.

May Have Landed 10-Year Deal With BBC For Cable Network

By TOM JORY
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In the high-stakes and increasingly competitive pay-cable TV derby, Arthur Taylor and the folks at RCTV may have landed the biggest fish of them all — the entire output of the British Broadcasting Corp. for at least the next 10 years.

But don't get the notion that RCTV — the RC is for Rockefeller Center — is about to skim off the class stuff familiar to Americans as a staple of public television and offer yet another high-culture alternative.

"We are a broad-based, general entertainment service for the viewer who is dissatisfied with what he's been receiving from commercial TV and other middle-of-the-road services," says Taylor, a former president of CBS.

"What we can provide," he says, "is a satisfying evening of entertainment. We're not out to change the cultural norm, but to gloriously entertain the public."

The soft-spoken Taylor, 45, brings considerable experience in both broadcasting and financial management to RCTV.

He was only 37 when he was hired by CBS away from the International Paper Co., where he had been executive vice president and chief financial officer.

Taylor was, at one time, considered heir apparent to William S. Paley, founder and chairman of CBS. He was president of CBS, Inc., from 1972 until October 1976, when he was forced by Paley to resign.

While at CBS, Taylor led an industry campaign against pay-cable, and was responsible for the so-called "family viewing time" concept.

Taylor says his objection to pay-cable, while at CBS, "was that they were using over-the-air programming, and not paying for it." Conditions have changed, he says.

Taylor says RCTV shouldn't be lumped with other culturally oriented cable programmers like Bravo, which began providing shows for cable subscribers in December, and the CBS and ABC cable networks, which are scheduled to debut this year. The Public Broadcasting Service, in the past the sole continuing source of cultural programming, also plans to enter the pay TV market in the not too distant future.

RCTV will offer six hours of programming daily — eight hours a day on weekends — beginning in January 1982. Subscribers will pay a monthly fee, probably between $8 and $10, for the service.

"We think that it will be a very long time before cable is a vast initiator of programming," Taylor says. "For us, the BBC represents for the next 10 years, at least, a known, fixed quantity of programs. It's a great comfort to have that 5,000 hours a year to rely on — if we need it."

"When you look, there are only two sources that produce as many as 5,000 hours of programs a year — the BBC and Soviet television," he says. "We felt that the BBC would be more appealing to American viewers."

There was concern at first that the RCTV-BBC arrangement would strangle PBS, which for years has relied on the relatively less-expensive British product. The fact is, Britain's independent producers gradually have replaced the BBC as a major source for PBS, and the impact probably will be minimal.

As significant as the BBC connection will be — RCTV will have first choice of all shows produced by the publicly financed British network — Taylor estimates that more than half of the new pay system's programming will be from other sources, overwhelmingly American.

He says RCTV will assemble a program catalog featuring a variety in form — drama, mystery, action-adventure, comedy, performing arts, children's programs.

"American film — as much as we can get," he says of non-BBC aspect of the RCTV schedule. "But it's obvious most of those go to Home Box Office, Showtime, the Movie Channel, and we will not bid against them.

"Original American drama will occupy a large portion of our schedule. Because of our relationship with the BBC, we felt the next highest priority ought to be exclusive relations with American producers."

That means RCTV will purchase some programs outright from independent and other producers, and help pay for other productions.

Taylor's investment firm, Arthur Taylor & Co., was involved in negotiations with the BBC — the financially strapped British network reportedly will receive about $5 million a year from RCTV — and will develop the pay system for Rockefeller Center, Inc.

Creation of RCTV followed an intensive, eight-month study of the burgeoning industry, Taylor says.

"My thought is that many participants (in the cable TV business) are over-estimating the size of the audience," Taylor says. "That's why we are a pay service. We are willing to cultivate the dedicated viewer. We don't want to be constantly stretching the audience."

Ringo, McCartney In Record Session

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Former Beatles Ringo Starr and Paul McCartney have reunited for a recording session, but an official at a Caribbean studio denies rumors that the third surviving member of the rock group, George Harrison, will add his talents to the record.

And Steve Jackson labeled as "totally untrue" a report in the Sun newspaper of London that the album would be a tribute to John Lennon, the Beatle who was shot to death Dec. 8 outside his New York City apartment. He said McCartney and Starr had booked recording time at the studio before Lennon's death.

Jackson, manager of Montserrat's Air Studio, said Sunday in a telephone interview that he, studio owner George Martin and McCartney met Starr, the Beatles' drummer, at the airport about noon.

"There were about four other people there and no one made a fuss," Jackson said.

McCartney reportedly has been on tiny Montserrat for a week.

Jackson denied that Harrison would be going to the island, as did McCartney's lawyer in New York, Lee V. Eastman.

Martin produced the Beatles' albums before the group's break-up in 1971. He established Air Studio a few years ago as a retreat for musicians to combine recording and leisure in a secluded tropical environment.

Neither Looked For Fairy Tale Romance

NEW YORK (AP) — With the approach of the 25th wedding anniversary of Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco, family and friends of the former film star Grace Kelly say they never viewed the marriage as the "fairy-tale romance" it was reported to be.

Princess Grace's older sister, Peggy Conlan, considered the union a "nice agreement," she said in an interview in the March issue of McCall's.

Her younger sister said the marriage lasted because neither partner had romantic expectations.

"It's great because they like separate things," said Lizanne LeVine. "When they're apart, they have their individual lives to lead. They're even financially independent of each other."

Designer Oleg Cassini, Princess Grace's only serious romantic link prior to her marriage, echoed the family assessment.

"I don't see a fairy tale in her life," Cassini told McCall's. "Those fairy tales have a way of becoming undone. These kind of marriages are organized, arranged. I don't call it a marriage of convenience. I call it a marriage of reason. They met each other — that was enough."

Monaco will celebrate the silver wedding anniversary on April 19. The couple has three children.

Another Movie Role For Robin

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Robin Williams will star in "The World According to Garp," which goes into production April 10 in New York under the direction of George Roy Hill.

The movie, written by Steve Tesich, is based on the best-selling novel by John Irving. It also stars Mary Beth Hurt and Glenn Close.

Williams is the star of "Mork and Mindy" and played the title role in "Popeye."

McGraw Has Miniseries Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ali MacGraw will play the role of Natalie Jastrow in the 16-hour ABC miniseries "Winds of War," now filming in Europe.

The role of her uncle, Aaron Jastrow, will be played by Lee Strasberg.

Robert Mitchum makes his television debut in the series as Pug Henry and Polly Bergen plays his wife, Rhoda.

The cast and crew is currently in Zagreb, Yugoslavia, and moves to Rome next week. The filming, under the direction of Dan Curtis, is reported to be slightly ahead of schedule.

IS THIS WHAT YOU WANT IN GREENVILLE?

The Liquor Promoters Are So Sure L-B-D Will Pass They Have Already Announced The Opening Of A

BARTENDER'S SCHOOL

LOCATED IN GREENVILLE SQUARE—A FAMILY SHOPPING CENTER

WHY? To sell food? Not quite! They want to sell as much liquor as possible in as many outlets as can open!

Let it be clearly understood that Liquor By The Drink will mean more than just having a mixed drink with your meals.

The restaurants will also have bars that can stay open until 1:00 and 2:00 in the morning long after the kitchens close.

This is an open bar law anyway you look at it—putting control in the hands of bartenders and cocktail waitresses whose job is to sell as much liquor as they can.

All these bars will be concentrated within the Greenville City Limits drawing customers from the surrounding area to come into town to do their drinking.

Greenville will become known as the City Of The Late-Night Bars and Private Clubs.

See Shuttle In Arms Race

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda today accused the United States of preparing to spread the arms race into space by using the space shuttle for military purposes.

"War in space? Unfortunately, this is not a scientific fantasy but the everyday life of military preparations in the Pentagon in which laser weapons and their carriers - the space shuttle - have an important part," Pravda said.

"One of the first tasks of the shuttle spacecraft will be to test the aiming device for laser weapons put into orbit to destroy Soviet rockets," the Soviet newspaper said. It claimed it was quoting a report in the Baltimore Sun.

Pravda said the "Pentagon designs are directed at undermining the efforts of peace-loving countries to prevent the spread of the arms race to space."

These designs "clearly contradict the will of the international community, expressed in the decisions of the United Nations General Assembly and other documents, which urge all countries to explore and use space in the interests of peace and security."

There was no immediate U.S. comment on the Pravda story.

Meanwhile, the $8 billion space shuttle program, already three years behind schedule, was hit by another delay when space agency officials at Cape Canaveral postponed a critical test-firing of its main engines because bad weather delayed last-minute repairs and preparations. The test was rescheduled for Thursday. The shuttle is targeted for its first launch on April 7.

A-Bomb Devastation Pope John Paul II begins an 11-day tour of the Far East today. In Japan, he will visit the only sites where atomic bombs have been dropped in war. On August 14, 1945, Hiroshima was the first city to be struck by an atomic bomb. The greater part of the city was destroyed, and about 200,000 people were killed. Three days later another 80,000 people were killed or injured after the United States dropped a second bomb on Nagasaki. "We will be merciful God," Pope John Paul II has said, "that this never happens again in the history of humanity."

DO YOU KNOW - Which nation became the second in the world to develop atomic weapons? FRIDAY'S ANSWER - The aorta is the largest artery in the human body.

Students On Honors List

The following students from Pitt, Greene, and Martin counties attending Meredith College in Raleigh made the dean's list fall semester.

Pitt County - Donna Marie Griffin, Margaret Williams McGaughey, and Margaret Irene Yelverton, all of Farmville.

Greene County - Lillian Olivia Heath, Snow Hill.

Martin County - Cassandra Louise Dixon, Charlotte Green Grimes, Janet Carol Ross, all of Robersonville; Sylvia Mizelle Hardison, Jamesville; Jackie Ann Revels, Anne Rogers, Susan Ann Taylor, Jane Wooldard Wynne, Julia Irene Whitley, Susan Peel Davis and Alissa Gray Robertson, all of Williamston.

Q.5 - As South, vulnerable, you hold: KQ10974 5 K87 J92 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 2 Pass 1 4 Pass 2 5 Pass 2 6 Pass 2 NT Pass?

What do you bid now? A. - When partner "reversed" into hearts on the second round, he announced a hand worth about 18 points. His subsequent action showed virtually no support for spades - he might even have a singleton! Nevertheless, we recommend a leap to four spades. You have the values for game, and your suit should play for no more than two losers opposite any holding partner may have. However, your spades could prove virtually worthless at a no trump contract.

Q.6 - Neither vulnerable, as South you hold: AQ9 9 A9665 0 K7 4 A73 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 4 Pass 2 5 Pass 3 6 Pass 3 7 Pass 3 8 Pass?

What do you bid now? A. - Slam prospects flared when partner opened the bidding, which encouraged you to make two forward-going moves by overcalling at the two-level and cue-bidding the club ace en route to four spades. Partner, however, has shown a distinct lack of enthusiasm as you must be content with four spades for the moment. If partner has been taking it easy, awaiting to see whether you have a fit or not, and now bids again, don't settle for anything less than a small slam.
