

New Sums To Federal School Programs

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

A budget amendment approved at the Monday night action meeting of the Greenville Board of Education constitutes a substantial boost in operating funds for CETA and other federal programs within the city school system.

Budget amendment No. 4 in the federal grant budget category adds $50,736 to federal funds received for the current fiscal year, bringing the total of federal funds' input this school year to $895,594.

Of the $50,736 figure, $37,872 is earmarked for CETA Extended Day programs; $9,364 is for career educational incentive grants, and $3,500 is for the gifted and talented program.

A second approved amendment, current expense amendment No. 5, transfers $7,000 to two projects — $4,000 for the athletic program and $3,000 to the band program. The funds for the band will cover $1,300 for band instrument repairs; $1,300 for band supplies and materials, and $400 for band transportation.

Approval on a tentative basis was given for the adoption of a salary supplement schedule for school employees. The purpose of the tentative status, recommended by Superintendent Delma Blinson in his proposal, is to permit payment of one-half the proposed supplement in December, with the payment of the remaining amount in the spring. The proposed supplement, an annual one, ranges in amount from a low of $180 to a high of $297 per employee.

Blinson noted that the total amount available for the supplemental salary schedule is basically the same as last year.

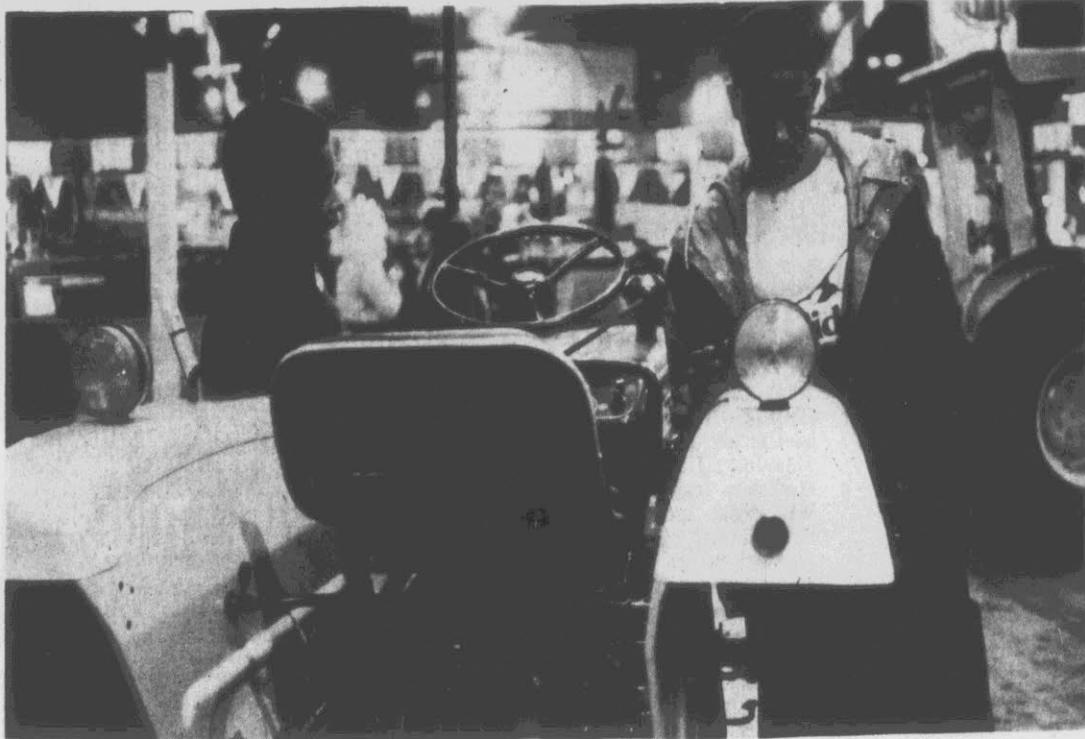

Two other budget-related actions were approved. One was adoption of the proposed calendar of dates for preparing in successive steps the budget for school year 1981-82. The other was approval of a general authorization for Fraeger Sanders to proceed with preliminary applications for federal funds. Sanders said that with funds becoming tighter, it was essential to explore at an early date all possible federal sources. Specific requests prepared at later dates will be brought to the board for discussion and action.

A plan for the emergency closing of schools in the event of inclement weather or for any other reason was adopted.

Provisions in the plan include authorization by the superintendent to make a decision to close schools without first having to get board concurrence. Additionally, the superintendent, if he deems it feasible, can direct teachers to remain at work with the canceled day to become a teacher work day/student holiday, thus precluding the necessity for a make-up day and, instead, holding school on a future regularly scheduled teacher work day/student holiday. In the event a make-up date is required, this will — if at all possible — be on the Saturday of the same week in which a school day was missed. Such a decision, Dr. Blinson explained, is mandatory under state law which directs that there can be no scheduling of a Saturday attendance day following a full five day school schedule — i.e., there can be no six-day school weeks.

If action becomes necessary to cancel school after school has already started, announcements will be made on TV and radio so that parents can pick up their children and also make arrangements for those children whose parents both work and who would be left at home unattended due to early school dismissal. Blinson added that, in any case, a sufficient number of teachers would remain at school to supervise

Reagan Eyes Big Cutback In Nuke Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan was reported today to be ready to propose a virtual elimination or reduction of U.S. and Soviet medium-range missiles in Europe.

The president will deliver what was described as a major foreign policy speech at midmorning Wednesday at the National Press Club. White House spokesman Larry Speakes refused to say whether Reagan would use the speech to make such a proposal.

But White House officials, who requested anonymity, said Reagan would outline the U.S. position at Soviet-American negotiations starting Nov. 30 in Geneva on reducing nuclear forces in Europe.

The speech was timed in advance of a visit by Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev to West Germany this weekend to meet with Chancellor Helmut Schmidt.

The New York Times, quoting "high-ranking administration officials," said in its editions today that Reagan is prepared to forgo deployment of all new medium-range missiles in Europe if the Soviet Union agrees to withdraw its comparable missiles that are targeted at Europe.

If the Soviets do not agree to this so-called "zero option," the Times said, the United States would propose a more limited agreement under which the Soviets would accept scheduled deployment of new American nuclear warheads on Pershing 2 and ground-based cruise missiles in exchange for Soviet reduction of the number of warheads on the SS-20 and other missiles to the same level.

The Soviet Union already has deployed substantial numbers of SS-20 missiles aimed at European targets. The United States is not supposed to deploy its medium-range missiles in Europe until late 1983. The Soviets contend that other European-based U.S. nuclear weapons, including aircraft, should be subject to negotiations.

The prospect of a U.S. "zero option" proposal was raised publicly Monday by NATO Secretary General Joseph Luns after he met with Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr.

Luns said he left the meeting reassured that "the United States of America will go to these talks (in Geneva) with a firm decision to come to acceptable agreements, even going as far as possible zero options."

Haig previously had said the United States would favor a zero option outcome of the so-called theater nuclear force negotiations with the Soviets under ideal conditions. But other U.S. officials said they did not consider such a proposal likely.

Reagan's speech Wednesday follows controversy in Europe over his comments by him and some of his advisers over possible use of atomic weapons in Europe.

The Europeans expressed particular alarm over Reagan's remark, in response to a hypothetical question during an Oct. 16 White House interview with editorial writers, that it was conceivable there could be a limited, battlefield nuclear exchange without triggering all-out nuclear war.

Tower To Reopen

WASHINGTON — Rep. Walter Jones, D-N.C., said today the air traffic control tower at Stallings Field in Kinston will be reopened at the beginning of 1982 for a full range of service.

The Federal Aviation Administration closed the tower Sept. 26 to free its personnel for emergency service at other airports during a strike by air traffic controllers.

Jones said a date for reopening the tower will be announced later.

County Board Approves City Computer Use

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners have approved a request by the city of Greenville to provide on-line computer service for the city's tax department and tabled action on a proposal from a Charlotte firm to do waterproofing work on the county office building on West Fifth Street.

In approving the city's request Monday for computer service, commissioners agreed to a program under which the county would handle current-year tax collections for Greenville. All expense involved is to be funded by the city.

The county, for some time, has provided tax listing and tax billing services for the city.

In tabling action on the waterproofing proposal, commissioners decided to seek other proposals for the work needed on the county office building.

R. E. Sleet, president of Southeastern Waterproofing Co. of Charlotte, and Cameron Dudley of Dudley and Shoe Architects, outlined for the board the immediate waterproofing needs and said the work would cost $18,900.

Dudley told commissioners that $5,000 is on hand for the work from fees remaining from the renovation project which turned the old hospital building into a complex for county offices.

Commissioners also voted to exercise the county's option to extend bids on the county's bank account for one year with Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., and approved increasing the county's Medicaid budget by $73,256 for the current fiscal year as required by the state.

At noon Monday, the board visited Third Street School in Greenville for lunch and a tour of the school as part of American Education Week.

Senate Facing Filibuster Due To Amendment

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today faced a threatened filibuster on a school prayer amendment its opponents say would be an open invitation to school boards to reinstate voluntary prayer and Bible readings in the classroom.

The amendment, pushed onto a key appropriations bill by the efforts of conservative Republican Sens. Jesse Helms of North Carolina and Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, was approved 51-34 Monday despite cries from critics that it is unconstitutional.

With the Senate poised to take up the bill as a whole today, Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., was willing "to go all the way," an aide said, in hopes of blocking passage with a filibuster.

Senate Republican leader Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee pulled the bill from the Senate floor after the prayer amendment was added Monday, but said he would bring it up again today. Weicker earlier said that conservatives "want to see everything change overnight, even if it means tearing down the Constitution."

He led a three-month filibuster earlier this year against a bill to restrict busing for school desegregation. Senate debate on the amendment was acrimonious, including a heated exchange as one member called another "the senator from B'nai B'rith."

Supporters of the amendment argued Monday that there is already voluntary prayer in other public institutions, including the Senate itself, and therefore school children should be given the option of deciding whether to participate.

Helms said the Supreme Court had gone too far in ruling against school prayer and Bible readings in the classroom.

Friday To Fill Post By Jan. 1

East Carolina University will have an interim chancellor appointed by Jan. 1, trustee chairman Ashley Futrell says.

Futrell, speaking to the university's Student Government Association on Monday, said he based the prediction on conversations with William C. Friday, president of the University of North Carolina system.

Chancellor Thomas B. Brewer, who remains on duty at the university, has submitted his resignation effective next summer.

Futrell also said a screening committee he heads expected to recommend appointment of a new chancellor by next April. He declined, however, to place a deadline on when the committee must issue its recommendations. Applications by prospective candidates will be accepted through Dec. 15, he said.

Futrell refused to speculate about the identity of the interim chancellor, but he said the individual chosen would come from the ECU family and would not be a candidate for the permanent chancellorship.

He said Friday has "talked about several different people with me but, as to the exact person, I cannot answer the question."

The student newspaper, "The East Carolinian," reported today that several unidentified sources have indicated the leading choice for the interim post is John Howell, a political science professor who served as vice chancellor for academic affairs before Brewer arrived on the ECU campus.

Employment In N.C. Expected To Fare Better

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Although North Carolina may experience a slight rise in unemployment soon, economic observers say the state still should fare better than most as the economy worsens.

"I think the industrial mix (in North Carolina) will work for us," said Alfred G. Smith III, chief economist at North Carolina National Bank in Charlotte.

Smith and other economists said the state's economy isn't dependent on durable goods industries such as automobiles and appliances, which have been hard hit by high interest rates.

Several large employers said they were holding their own in the face of what President Reagan and other government officials have called a recession.

International Business Machines Corp., which employs 12,000 people in the state, has had no layoffs and expects none, a spokesman said.

At Cannon Mills Co., which has about 22,000 North Carolina workers, employment has been steady, company spokesman Edward L. Rankin Jr. said. Data General Corp., computer manufacturer with plants in Wake County's Apex and Johnston County's Clayton, said employment is at normal levels.

By contrast, the national forecast is much worse. Council of Economic Advisers Chairman Murray Weidenbaum said Sunday that the unemployment rate in 1982 may reach the 9 percent level of the 1974-75 recession. He predicted that the economy would get better in the second half of the year.

Although unemployment in North Carolina has decreased over the long term, figures for the last week in October showed that joblessness rose in five major industries from the full-month figures recorded for the full month of September.

Unemployment in the state in September was 5.4 percent, down from 6.6 percent the previous September and well below the 1981 high of 7.3 percent in January. Nationally, the jobless rate was 7.5 percent in September and 8 percent in October.

But according to the N.C. Employment Security Commission, the rate for textiles jumped from 5.3 percent in the last week of October compared with 4.6 percent for all of September.

In construction, the October figure was 6.3 percent, up from 5.2 percent in September; in furniture, it was 8.4 percent, up from 5.7 percent; in lumber and woods, it was 5.2 percent, up from 3.6 percent; apparel, 5.3 percent, up from 4.5 percent.

Donald A. Brande, research director for the state ESC, cautioned against drawing quick conclusions from the gloomy national figures.

"It's too early to say this is a trend and we're going to be in a bad economic way in another month," he said. "It could happen, but it's too early to call it now."

$846,151 In Tax Proceeds Received By County

Net distributable tax proceeds totaling $846,151 were received by Pitt County for the quarter ending Sept. 30, it was reported by Mark Lynch, secretary of the N.C. Department of Revenue.

He said that on a per capita distribution basis figured relative to population, Greenville received $217,118 of the total amount. Population here was listed as 36,969.

Farmville, based on a population of 4,839, received $28,419 of the total distribution, Lynch reported, while Ayden, with a population of 4,437, received $26,058.

Other Pitt towns, their populations and receipts, included: Winterville, 2,062, $12,110; Grifton (Pitt's share), 1,915, $11,246; Bethel, 1,863, $10,941; Grimesland, 455, $2,672;

Fountain, 426, $2,501; Simpson, 409, $2,402; and Falkland, 119, $698.

Total population for Pitt County was listed as 90,581 with the county itself receiving $531,981 and the balance allotted to the 10 towns.

Greene County, figured on an ad valorem basis, received $55,574 in net distributions with $52,159 going to the county itself and the balance allotted to Snow Hill, $2,807; Hookerton, $401, and Walstonburg, $205.

Martin County, based on an ad valorem levy, received $218,458 with $180,293 going to the county and the balance allotted to nine towns. Receiving shares were: Williamston, $29,123; Robersonville, $5,934; Jamesville, $1,030; Oak City, $788; Hamilton, $613; Everetts, $322; Parmele, $184; Bear Grass, $99, and Hassell, $67.

Lenoir County, figured on an ad valorem basis, received $550,332 with $427,535 distributed to the county and the rest allotted to Kinston, $111,168; La Grange, $8,369; Pink Hill, $3,007, and Grifton (Lenoir's share), $251.

Beaufort County totals, figured on a per capita basis, included $446,135 in distributions with $334,771 of the total allotted to the county itself. Seven towns shared in the balance, including: Washington, $72,219; Belhaven, $20,159; Aurora, $5,787; Washington Park, $4,263; Bath, $1,713, and Pantego, $185, $1,531.

Dear Abby

Runaway's Call Is Parents' Finest Gift

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: As Thanksgiving approaches, I am mindful of my many blessings, not the least of which is writing this column. Almost daily I receive some heartwarming letters, but I want to share this one from my files to publicize again one of the most gratifying public services performed by this column. If it serves to unite just one young runaway with his parents, it will be worth the space.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem daughter, not quite 17, ran away from home 14 months ago. She had been giving us a rough time for about a year — skipping school, staying out late and lying to us constantly. After a noisy scene, she stormed out of the house with only the clothes on her back. We didn't have a clue where she went.

Only a parent who has lived through this kind of nightmare can realize what we went through. After a year of heartaches and sleepless nights, we were told by the police to give up and assume she was dead. But parents never give up. We continued to search and hope and pray that she'd return to us one day.

Well, our prayers were answered when, out of the blue, we received a telephone call from someone who said he was a volunteer with Runaway Hotline (formerly Operation Peace of Mind) in Houston. (We live in Michigan.) We were told that our daughter had read of the toll-free number in "Dear Abby" and she wanted to let us know that she was well and happy in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The volunteer said our daughter would call him again on the following morning in case we had a message for her.

We told him we would welcome a collect call from her. Sure enough, she called us the next day! She sounded wonderful and said she was working and was going to night school to finish her education. This story has a happy ending. Our daughter is coming for Christmas!

Abby, will you please publish that toll-free number again so other runaway kids can establish communications with their families? Our daughter said that she had seen your column with the number posted near telephones where runaways hang out.

We will never be able to thank you enough for giving us the happiest holiday we've ever had!

GRATEFUL IN MICHIGAN

DEAR GRATEFUL: With pleasure. Runaways, call this toll-free number: 1-800-231-6946. If in Texas, use this number: 800-392-3352.

An operator will take your call and telephone your parents anywhere in the United States with a message from you. There will be no lecturing or reprimands. Your call will not be traced. And only one question will be asked: "Do you need anything?" If you do, you will be told where you can get it, free. I repeat, no attempt will be made to contact you or bring you back home — regardless of your age.

If you are a runaway, I beg you to forget the past and send a message to your parents now. They will sleep better tonight and so will you. And you will all have the best holiday season you've had in years. God bless you.

ABBY

P.S. Runaway Hotline was established nine years ago by a handful of public-spirited volunteers with the support of the governor of Texas. To date it has placed over 300,000 calls from runaways, assuring their families that they are OK. Beautiful!

Whitehurst Is Guest Speaker

Norwood Whitehurst, an accountant, addressed the Welcome Wagon Club recently at a luncheon meeting held at the Cinnamon Tree Restaurant.

During his talk on taxes, he discussed investing in relation to his topic. He gave information regarding All-Savers Certificates, individual retirement accounts and gift taxes.

Barbara Howlett, Kathy Sprau and Ava Ayers were introduced as prospective members.

A board meeting will not be held this month due to the Thanksgiving holiday. The next one will be held at the home of Bonnie Martin Dec. 2 at 10 a.m.

The group will be meeting Wednesday, Dec. 9, at 11:30 a.m. at the Cinnamon Tree.

The Scottish highlands approximates the size of New Hampshire. It is a fairly manageable size for touring. There have been to Scotland, it is easy to understand the old sentiment of "My Heart's in the Highlands." The natural beauty of its lakes and mountains, tumbling waterfalls, golden meadows, blazing hillsides, coastal cliffs and castles all make your heart succumb to enchantment. The glacial era brought ice sheets which gouged long deep hollows of salt water. While known as fjords in Norway, these hollows are called lochs in Scotland. The most famous of these waterways is Loch Ness, which is known for its inhabitant, Nessie.

BALLOONS AWAY — 350 excited students at Elmhurst on Monday morning released individual balloons into the sky in observance of American Education Week and National Book Week. Each student had attached a card with his name, school name and the title of his or her favorite book, with a request that the finder reply, giving the name of their favorite book. A light breeze quickly took the colorful balloons skyward in a northerly direction. Barring a shift of wind, the balloons should have drifted over Bethel, Oak City and Ahsokie before bursting and coming to earth. (Reflector Photo by Jerry Raynor)

East Sponsors Youth Award

Sen. John East, R-N.C., said today he is sponsoring a scholarship award for an outstanding North Carolina high school junior to visit Japan next summer.

Under a special Japan-U.S. Senate scholarship program, administered by the "Youth for Understanding" program, each U.S. senator will help select one student from the home state to live with a selected family in Japan for the summer of 1982. The program is funded by the government of Japan.

"Each high school in North Carolina is being asked to submit the name of an outstanding high school junior for consideration by a committee of educators from North Carolina under direction of the YFU. Interested students should notify their school principal," East explained.

The 100 scholarship recipients will attend a four-day orientation program in Washington before traveling to Japan. While in Japan, students will visit the Japanese Parliament, attend cultural exchange workshops and language seminars. The deadline for submitting nominations is Nov. 27.

Sayles-Curtis Vows Exchanged Saturday

Our Redeemer Lutheran Church here was the scene of the Saturday afternoon wedding ceremony of Debra Lenee Curtis and Richard

Andrew Sayles. Pastor Graham Nahouse performed the double ring ceremony at four o'clock. Parents of the couple are

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harry Curtis of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richard Sayles of Hagerstown, Md.

A program of wedding music was presented by Robert R. Hilgoe, grandfather of the bride, vocalist.

The bride's honor attendant was her sister, Carol Curtis of Greenville. Bridesmaids included Cindy Parrott and Maria Baro of Greenville, Jennifer O'Neal of Chapel Hill and Beth Sayles of Columbia, S. C., sister of the bridegroom. Lisa Reid of Greenville was flower girl.

The best man was Allen Graham of Hagerstown, Md. and ushers included Chuck Gauge of Greensboro, Tripp Snyder of Long Beach, Calif., Rhett Stroupe of Fayetteville and Dane Brewer of Hagerstown, Md.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza over peau de soie designed with an open Queen Anne neckline outlined in chantilly lace and accented with sequins. The fitted bodice was overlaid in chantilly lace with scalloped lace at the waistline. A white satin bow with streamers was featured at center back and matching chantilly lace was used on the sheer bishop sleeves with scalloped lace at the cuffs. The modified A-line skirt was enhanced with a panel of French chantilly lace bordered and edged in scalloped lace that extended to an attached chapel train accented by tiers of lace trimmed flounces that extended up to the waistline. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion edged in chantilly lace attached to a lace covered caplet.

The honor attendant wore a formal gown of Singapore teal matte jersey designed with a square neckline, blouson bodice and miniature rolled shoulder straps. The sleeveless gown was complemented with a matching lace jacket fashioned with a high neckline and ruffled collar. A self-fabric tie sash encircled the waistline of the jacket from which fell the lace peplum. The gown had a semi-flared skirt. The attendants wore gowns styled identically in alternating shades of nectarine and mocha.

The flower girl was dressed in a long white gown of qiana accented with ruffles and lace at the neckline and wrist. It had a tiered skirt and she carried a basket of mums and daisies. The dress was made by the bride's mother.

A reception and buffet dinner was held at the Casablanca. The couple will live in Winston-Salem after a cruise trip to the Bahamas.

The bride attended East Carolina University and is now attending UNC-G. She is also assistant manager of Mariann's Clothing, Winston-Salem. The bridegroom is a sales representative for Quality Oil Co., Winston-Salem, and graduated from Murfreesboro College and ECU.

MRS. CHARLES F. WYNNE

Couple Marries Saturday Morning

STOKES — Sherril L. Downing and Charles F. Wynne were united in marriage here Saturday morning at 11:30. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harold Turner.

A program of music was presented by Terry Leggett, soloist.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lapkovitch of Fayetteville, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Audrey B. Wynne of Stokes and the late Mr. M. L. Wynne.

The honor attendant was Judy Rivenbark of Whispering Pines, sister of the bride. The flower girl was Tracy M. Downing of Greenville, daughter of the bride. Jamie Taylor of Greenville, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man for the ceremony.

The couple will be living in Stokes after a Caribbean cruise.

A buffet lunch was held at the future residence of the couple after the ceremony.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

Next to the Muppets, jeans and bumper stickers, the No. 1 commodity in this country is small talk... the junk food of adult conversation.

Most people don't leave home without it.

It's the staple of every gathering, every party, every event where people stand around eating bait or crackers and watching their feet swell.

The basic charm of small talk is that you can drop in on it halfway or leave before it's over and never miss anything. They are complete sentences marked by the absence of an idea.

I'm worried about small talk. Lately, it's become so ordinary and so tacky... even for small talk. There's no creativity to it anymore. Same old stuff. "Do you think Diana and Charles are really happy?" and "I want someone to call me the minute PBS reruns Talking Blunt About Your Pancreas," and "Where were you and what were you doing when you heard Phil Donahue and Marlo Thomas were married?"

The holiday season will soon be upon us and it's not too early to compile a list of small-talk topics that are provocative and have some substance. These are just a few for starters. How about:

"Did I tell you about the diet I almost died from?" What a relief it would be to hear a few failure stories from dieters who have not lost 13 pounds in 13 days, but whose hair fell out and they personally molested a carrot stick from their latest fast.

"Hey, I started smoking again because I'm weak." You want to draw a crowd? Start talking about your lack of discipline. People will flock to hear anything you've got to say.

"Who is Carl Sagan and what is public television?" A refreshing alternative to a roomful of people engaged in their tired "TV is a wasteland" number.

"I don't have a solution to the economy." This would take a lot of courage to pull off, but people would mention your name days after the party was over.

Last week as I stood around at a party in which everyone was asking for the recipe of the dip, lying about how we were not going to send Christmas cards this year and pretending we all knew what AWACS stood for, I said, "I saw a fat jogger the other day."

It brought the entire room to my elbow.

To soften stiff chamois, soak it in warm water to which a spoonful of olive oil has been added.

COOKING IS FUN!

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

DEAR CECILY: Should cabbage salad be called coldslaw, coleslaw or slaw? An interesting new recipe for this old familiar would be appreciated. — BE CORRECT.

DEAR BE CORRECT: According to Webster, cabbage salad may be called coldslaw, coleslaw or slaw. The following recipe is fine to use at this time of year when those good fresh Bartlett pears are still with us. — C. B.

PEAR HAM SLAW
6 to 8 ounces sliced ham, cut in thin strips
1 cup thinly shredded green cabbage
1 small cucumber, pared and thinly sliced
1/4 cup thinly sliced celery
Vinaigrette, recipe follows

1 fresh Bartlett pear, cored and sliced
Toss the ham, cabbage, cucumber and celery with enough of the Vinaigrette to suit your own taste. Arrange in a shallow bowl. Surround with the pear slices. Spoon the remaining Vinaigrette over the pears.

VINAIGRETTE
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Beat or shake together the oil, vinegar, salt, sugar, celery seed and pepper. Makes about 1/2 cup.

Officers named for 1982 were: President, Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell; Vice President, Mrs. Polly Dail; Second Vice President, Miss Annie Turner; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Jean Weaver; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lucy Hananford; Treasurer, Mrs. Henry; Assistant Treasurer, Miss Turner; Building Fund Treasurer, Mrs. Shackell; Assistant Building Fund Treasurer, Mrs. Sybil Basart; and Chaplain, Mrs. Josephine Rawl.

The meeting was conducted by President Mrs. R. E. Corbett.

Mrs. Frances Critchfield of Bayview assisted her mother, Mrs. Henry, during the afternoon.

Mrs. James Henry Clark of Bethel. The wedding will take place Nov. 29.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Turner of Greenville announce the engagement of their daughter, Tina Rose, to James Clayton Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Clark of Bethel. The wedding will take place Nov. 29.

Chet Emerson Gives Talk

The Patient Circle of the King's Daughters and Sons held its meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. C. Henry. Chet Emerson, director of Boys Club of Pitt County, was guest speaker.

He told what is being done to encourage boys to be better citizens and the progress that has been made since it started operating 15 years ago. He said the club has been honored in the last two years with awards, one national and one from Readers Digest.

Contributions will be made to the Boys Club and to the Social Service Department to help foster children of the county.

Officers named for 1982 were: President, Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell; Vice President, Mrs. Polly Dail; Second Vice President, Miss Annie Turner; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Jean Weaver; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lucy Hananford; Treasurer, Mrs. Henry; Assistant Treasurer, Miss Turner; Building Fund Treasurer, Mrs. Shackell; Assistant Building Fund Treasurer, Mrs. Sybil Basart; and Chaplain, Mrs. Josephine Rawl.

The meeting was conducted by President Mrs. R. E. Corbett.

Mrs. Frances Critchfield of Bayview assisted her mother, Mrs. Henry, during the afternoon.

Mrs. James Henry Clark of Bethel. The wedding will take place Nov. 29.

Workshop By Women

A workshop program was held last week for members of the Grass Roots Garden Club meeting at the Community Center. Mrs. Lucille Sumrell was speaker.

She showed wreaths made of grapevine and also of Spanish moss. She demonstrated the making of snowflakes using plastic and yarn. Mrs. Patsy Denson assisted Mrs. Sumrell.

President Mildred Hecker conducted the business meeting and members voted to make a donation to Cherry Hospital, Operation Santa Claus and to Pitt County Social Services.

The Christmas party will be held at the Casablanca. Husbands of members will be special guests.

Auxiliary Has Program

The DAV Auxiliary held its meeting last week at the VFW Hut. Bennette Health of Williamston spoke on "Old Glory And How It Relates To The Bible."

Shirley Woolard, District 13 commander of Washington, was a guest and spoke on membership.

It was announced Havelock and Washington Units have reached their quotas for the year. The 13th District Meeting was held in Kinston and the local group won the attendance trophy. The next VA Hospital party in Durham will be held Dec. 9.

Those initiated into the group were Ruth White, Raye Brewer, Estelle Stiner and Mary Daniels.

DIET CENTER

"The Natural Way to Lose Weight!"

When you decide to lose weight, COMPARE!

There are hundreds of ways to lose weight. Diet Center suggests that before you start any reducing program, you compare. Consult your doctor. Talk to people who have been on the programs you are considering. Ask yourself if this is a plan you can live with, one that will enable you to keep weight off once you have lost it. If you will do this, we are confident that you will select Diet Center. The following is a basic introduction to the Diet Center Program.

we don't:	we do:
Use shots or drugs to stimulate weight loss. This would not conform to our totally natural approach.	Employ a 100% natural food supplement that stabilizes the blood sugar level and eliminates hunger.
Use prepackaged foods. We know that in order to maintain your weight loss, you must learn to plan your own meals.	Provide a comprehensive education in food selection and preparation techniques from natural sources.
Rely upon ketosis or any other unhealthy, physical state to promote weight loss.	Provide 100% of the daily nutrient requirements as outlined by the U.S. RDA and the 7 U.S. Dietary goals.
Make unrealistic claims as to the speed or effectiveness of our weight-loss program.	Achieve an average weight loss of 17 to 25 pounds in 6 weeks, a rate that can be sustained as needed.
Use computers or group therapy to overcome the uniquely personal problem of excess weight.	Meet daily, in private, with each dieter to determine and solve individual problems and chart progress.
Employ celebrities to present Diet Center in our advertising messages.	Publish unsolicited testimonials from real people who have overcome real weight problems at Diet Center.
Charge for any additional services beyond our basic reducing phase of the program.	Provide weekly classes in nutrition and behavior modification and a lifetime maintenance program, free of charge.
Require contracts or charge more than a fair price for the honest service that is rendered.	Encourage dieters to remain on the program only as long as they feel they are receiving their money's worth.
Employ high-pressure sales tactics to "sign you up" on our program. When you are ready, we are ready.	Offer a free, introductory consultation to supply you with the information needed to make your own decision.

A Commendable Idea

Gov. Jim Hunt, in appointing four new members of the State Board of Elections last week, called for increased activity by the board to promote voter registration.

It is a commendable idea. Final figures from the 1980 census still are not available, but projections by the Census Bureau indicate that only one of each two persons eligible is registered to vote in North Carolina. That is a sorry state of affairs for one of the 50 states in the country that has been a historical leader in the meaning of democracy.

Pitt County's current population is placed at just over 90,000, yet the county elections board says only 33,381 persons are registered. Again, specific population statistics are not available but, presumably, that would indicate there probably are 30,000 men and women, or more, who are eligible to register and have not done so. That is all the more pathetic when you include the apathy shown by registered voters in most elections as many choose to take care of other matters rather than casting a ballot.

The Nov. 3 election in Greenville highlights that situation, when 39.5 percent of the registered voters made the decision as the city elected a new mayor and six council members — three of whom were new. Interestingly, Greenville voters turned out in the city election at just about the same rate — 39 percent.

Toll Changes Offer Benefits

Greenville's City Council has adopted a resolution asking Carolina Telephone to provide toll free service for Grifton and Fountain to Greenville and Ayden.

The endorsement was requested by the Pitt-Greenville Area Chamber of Commerce. While it would result in a modest monthly increase to offset the lost toll charges, Chamber representatives said they felt there would be benefits to the county.

Pitt County does not have a countywide toll free system, but the proposed change would mean that all areas of the county would be able to call Greenville toll free. That strikes us as a logical situation. We think the change will be helpful to the entire county.

THIS AFTERNOON

One Avoided Fact

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — In all the argument over redistricting the North Carolina General Assembly, one important fact was neatly avoided: one-man-one-vote schemes don't necessarily mean everybody gets equal representation.

Indeed, that very concept guarantees that more populated sections, especially the urban centers, will get more representation than will the outlying, rural areas.

There has been, from time to time, talk among some legislators of seeking an amendment to the state constitution returning the State Senate to a geographical representation basis rather than population.

Thus, every section of the state would be assured of some voice in the General Assembly. To accomplish that, some people favor enlarging the senate to 100 members and requiring that each of the state's 100 counties have a senator.

concentrates in the population centers. It is easy to see that in a state as large and geographically and socially diverse as North Carolina, what suits the city dweller in the Piedmont doesn't necessarily set well with the people in the extreme eastern and western sections. As time goes by and the population trend continues, time will come when the state is controlled by urban interests.

The redistricting processes in this year's sessions of the General Assembly did nothing to change this direction. The likely result will be to worsen it. Only after the next election will it be clear which members of the General Assembly from which counties are chosen by voters to serve from the new house and senate districts.

But a casual inspection of the new district lines provides no indication that the current situation will change sharply.

At this time only 39 of the state's 100 counties have a senator.

There are 50 senators. Big counties like Mecklenburg,

Wake, Guilford and Forsyth hold multiple senate seats.

Meanwhile, as one senator from the east puts it: "I am the Senator from Bermuda."

Bermuda

That district runs almost the length of the North Carolina coast and to campaign or meet people to talk about issues and solutions, members of the Legislature must travel literally thousands of miles, some across the broad rivers and sounds which compose the coastal area with the barrier islands offshore.

In some sections of the state there are informal rotation agreements which mean that counties get direct representation from time to time as candidates agree to switch off. But those arrangements invariably run athwart individual political ambitions and not enforceable.

Elsewhere, bitter fights

Other Editors Say Bad Roads Cost

(The Durham Sun)

During his battle to win more money for the state's sagging highway fund, Gov. Jim Hunt often argued that forcing citizens to drive on bad roads can cost them as much as asking them to pay for building new ones or improving old ones.

He was right, of course. But critics ignored that fact and accused him of grabbing every excuse to squeeze more tax money out of Tar Heels.

Now comes independent confirmation of Hunt's contention from The Road Information Program, a non-profit highway research agency.

"Bouncing over rough and broken pavement wears out a lot more than your nerves," said the agency's executive director in an article that appeared this week in a special car-care section in The Durham Sun.

Americans, he said, spent more than $6 billion last year for needless repairs caused by driving on poor roads.

- Among the costs he listed were:
  - 150 percent more tire wear.
  - Twice the wear on brake and suspension systems.
  - As much as 56 percent more fuel use.

That translates into additional expenses of $184 yearly for the average driver, the director said. The figure is likely to worsen as falling gasoline use continues to cut state revenues from gasoline taxes and to force reductions in road upkeep.

In contrast, someone who drives 20,000 miles a year in a car that gets 20 miles a gallon uses 1,000 gallons. The additional 3 cents a gallon in gasoline taxes under Hunt's program costs the driver just $30 a year.

True, keeping roads in good shape is expensive. But when you consider the alternative....

Strength For Today

RECOVERING THE FUMBLE

At a football game recently the announcer barked over the amplifier after a particularly confused play, "Smith recovers his own fumble."

Good for Smith, or Jones, or anyone who recovers his own fumble. Do we need to remind ourselves that fumbling is a common experience in the lives of most of us? Every day we fumble something. There are many who feel that they have made a pretty bad fumble of the whole of life.

BY JAMES J. KILPATRICK

Signals To President?

WASHINGTON — There is bound to be some naval signal that a flagship sends to other vessels in a fleet: Hold to your course. Or, steady as you go. Or, keep close in line. Whatever, Mr. Reagan needs to run up some flags.

Pressures are growing on the president. They come from such junior officers as Budget Director David Stockman. They come from his Capitol Hill exec, Majority Leader Howard Baker. They come from committee captains in the Senate and from ranking lieutenants in the House. The pressures are all to the same effect: Don't just sit there, Mr. President. Do something!

Subject to a few reservations, this is the worst possible advice that might be given the president just now. When it comes to taxes, deficits, budget reductions and economic indicators — the whole gathering storm of bad news — the president has to hold fast. He cannot vacillate now.

Heaven knows the news is bad. Six months ago, the president, his budget director and his Treasury secretary were all talking confidently of the economic future. The federal deficit for fiscal '82 could be held to $45 billion; interest rates would subside to a prime of 14 percent by year's end; the unemployment rate would not exceed

C.S. Forester's legendary admiral, you will recall, calmed his officers by insisting on a few hands of whist and a good night's sleep before engaging the enemy in the morning. Hornblower had a key word in times of crisis. The word was, "ah-hmmm."

That is the word we need now, and fortunately, that is what we are hearing from the White House. The president will zig not, neither will he zag. He will not countenance any change in the tax reductions promised for the next two fiscal years. He will suffer whatever deficits these coming months may bring. He remains calmly confident that in time his program will work: It will stimulate production, generate greater revenues, diminish inflation and provide for essential federal programs. Steady as you go!

I am reminded in this regard of a conversation some years ago with the late Justice John Marshall Harlan. We were talking of some line of decisions that he manifestly disliked but nonetheless accepted. Why not dissent? It is sometimes more important, he told me, that the law be fixed than that the law be "right." This is the case with Mr. Reagan's program of economic recovery. In retrospect, I might wish that individual income taxes had been lowered by just enough to offset increases in Social Security taxes, and that his tax program had reduced taxes mainly for business. We'd be $22 billion better off this year and $81 billion better off next year.

But the important thing right now is for Mr. Reagan not to waffle. This is the essence of leadership, that 7.8 percent; we could anticipate a budget surplus of $500 million in 1984.

Now it appears that the '82 deficit may reach $90 billion; interest rates are still high; unemployment last month reached 8 percent; and the goal of a balanced budget by 1984 has been abandoned. Automobile sales are stagnant; the construction industry lags desperately; Midwestern farmers are in deep trouble. Even the battle against inflation, which had seemed to be going so well, now seems to be slowing.

Mr. Reagan's task at this critical juncture is to cast himself in the role of Horatio Hornblower on the bridge.

The Credibility Gap Remains

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Still awaited from investors is a statement of faith in the White House approach to the economy. There have been words of support perhaps, but they don't count. Wall Street talks in numbers.

The numbers just aren't there, as indicated by recent readings of the Dow Jones averages, and those who promote the notion that the market is headed higher are having a very difficult time explaining the delay.

Wasn't supply side economics supposed to transfer money from public to private sectors, thereby creating a flow of investment that would raise productivity, reduce inflation and feed a prolonged economic expansion?

Maybe so, but the money hasn't shown up yet, and it won't for a good while yet. And therein, say some investment specialists, is the reason why the Reagan administration hasn't received a market endorsement.

The problem, suggests the Morgan Bank, is not so much with investors as with the White House and its failure to close a big budget deficit, a deficit whose financing absorbs too much of the nation's savings.

Back in the 1960s, when the stock market and the economy boomed, federal deficits averaged less than 4 percent of the savings available for investment above that needed to replace worn-out facilities.

In other words, there were funds for investing in upgraded facilities and new technology, the kind of things that, we're told by economists, produce economic expansion. Government wasn't competing for that money.

The trend worsened, however, and so did the stock market. In the 1970s, say the Morgan economists, government took 25 percent of savings, and over the past two years it has taken an average of 34.

Now, they predict gov-

Stockman's Big Birthday

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Even as word spread Tuesday (Nov. 10) that David Stockman seemed to have destroyed himself with his own tongue, he failed in another bid to deflect Ronald Reagan from his stubborn convictions.

Reagan rejected language prepared for his news conference by Stockman's Office of Management and Budget (OMB) that would have repeated the follies of the last generation by trying to balance the budget through tax increases. Stockman had lost the fight for the president's mind to his closest political friend, Rep. Jack Kemp. Their tattered alliance was further torn that same day with disclosure of Stockman's quotes in the December Atlantic Monthly.

It was Stockman's 35th birthday. The events unfolding that day belied the conventional wisdom that the Reagan Cabinet's best and brightest member is wise beyond his years. Rather, it suggested politically juvenile behavior in undervaluing and betraying both his compatriots and his leader.

"The Education of David Stockman," William Greider's Atlantic article, illuminates the backstage developments preceding Tuesday's presidential press conference. Those quotes suggest that the president's budget director pushed so vigorously for drastic change in the Reagan economic program because he had not really believed in it for a long time.

Kemp, who last year promoted Stockman for the budget post to get a genuine supply-sider in the Cabinet, until he read those quotes could not fully believe his friend was abandoning the cause. As recently as the evening of Nov. 1 in Kemp's suburban Bethesda, Md., home, they talked taxpolicies for hours. Kemp decided they were not really so far apart.

On Nov. 4, however, the gap widened when Stockman conferred on Capitol Hill with House Republican leaders. Kemp asked Stockman how anything could be served by taking money out of the private sector through higher taxes; if those taxes diminish the pool of private savings, financing the debt becomes all the harder.

Stockman responded with the sarcasm that has antagonized liberal Democrats in Congress all year. He told his friend: Jack, why don't you just repeal taxes then, and finance the debt wholly through bonds? Kemp's face went ashen.

Other Republicans at that meeting were taken aback when Stockman suggested he would in the long run win the fight for budget-balancing through taxes. Even if the president decided otherwise now, Stockman implied, higher taxes eventually would be essential. His implication was that the underkind surely knew a lot more than the ex-movie actor twice his age.

Reagan himself was present two days later, on Nov. 6, when Stockman met with the House Republicans at the White House. Kemp argued heatedly that the Reagan-Kemp-Roth tax cuts ought to be accelerated, not delayed. In following Stockman's advice early this year and delaying the tax cut for budgetary reasons, said Kemp, the president had bought big deficits and recession. Further delays, he said, would mean more of the same.

At that point, presidential chief of staff James Baker asked Stockman to respond. Stockman warned of ruinous budget deficits on the horizon. Later that day, however, the president told a friend that Kemp's linkage of Stockman's tax delay and the economic recovery's delay was compelling.

Stockman had lost, but not surrendered. The OMB-prepared answer for Reagan's news conference called for tax increases in fiscal years 1983 and 1984 if accompanied by spending cuts. Instead, the president ash-canned Stockman's answer and replied by comparing tax increases to addictive drugs.

Stockman's persistence was explained by the quotes he gave Greider, suggesting private disillusionment with supply-side tax cuts months before they were in place. When he was reading some of those quotes while on a one-day speaking tour Tuesday, Kemp was stunned. Nevertheless, that night he telephoned Stockman, at a Washington restaurant celebrating his birthday, to reaffirm their friendship.

But when Kemp read the full article Wednesday morning, he was shattered to find Stockman revealing to Greider that he had been maneuvering to keep Kemp "happy" so that supply-siders could not mobilize against dilution of the tax bill. That is precisely what Kemp's aides and advisers have been telling him all year, and precisely what he has rejected as an unfair indictment of his friend.

The theme here is one of betrayal, which some of Stockman's erstwhile allies have come to consider as recurrent through his career. Greider suggests that in moving from supply-side economic to orthodox budget-balancing, "perhaps Stockman was only starting into another intellectual transition. He had changed from farm boy to campus activist at Michigan State, from Christian moralist to neo-conservative at Harvard." Stockman himself Tuesday night worried that he was about to be labeled Judas Iscariot.

His inconstancy tended to fulfill the prophecy by one of Washington's most astute lobbyists who in February predicted the high-flying Stockman would last no more than a year at OMB, certainly not for want of ability but for

Negotiating Resumes Over Farm Bill Compromises

By BOB FICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional negotiators are being warned by both the administration and their own colleagues that they must reconsider some of their farm bill compromises to get an acceptable package of commodity price supports.

Agriculture Secretary John R. Block, speaking with reporters Monday, cited the dairy compromise reached early in the negotiations as a key area of dispute.

And House members, backed by a coalition of self-styled citizens' groups, added price support programs for peanuts and sugar to the list of issues that could threaten House approval of the new farm bill. They contend that those programs will add $10 billion to consumer food bills.

The joint House-Senate conference committee, already tentatively agreed on those three issues as well as many others, hopes today's session will yield compromises on the remaining areas of dispute grain supports, food stamps and meat inspection.

As the panel handled minor differences between the $16.6 billion House farm bill and the $10.6 billion Senate version last week, Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., acknowledged that some backtracking may be necessary.

"We're going to have a lot of work to do to put the genie back in the bottle," said Dole, who has played a key role in trying to keep the compromise version of the farm bill close to the Senate version endorsed by Reagan.

"We're going to have to look again at sugar and peanuts,"

Dole said. The conference committee has agreed to retain price supports for those two commodities despite their rejection by the House last month.

Block refused Monday to say that the dairy compromise, costing $151 million more than President Reagan wants to spend, would prompt a presidential veto.

"I just want to reiterate the way it's written now ... just cries out that it needs attention," Block said. Reagan has advised the negotiators that any farm bill exceeding the cost of the Senate plan could be a veto target.

Although Dole has speculated that Reagan would sign a four-year farm bill costing up to $500 million more than the Senate version, Block said only that if the price tag is higher, "it can't be very much, I'll tell you that. That's a fact."

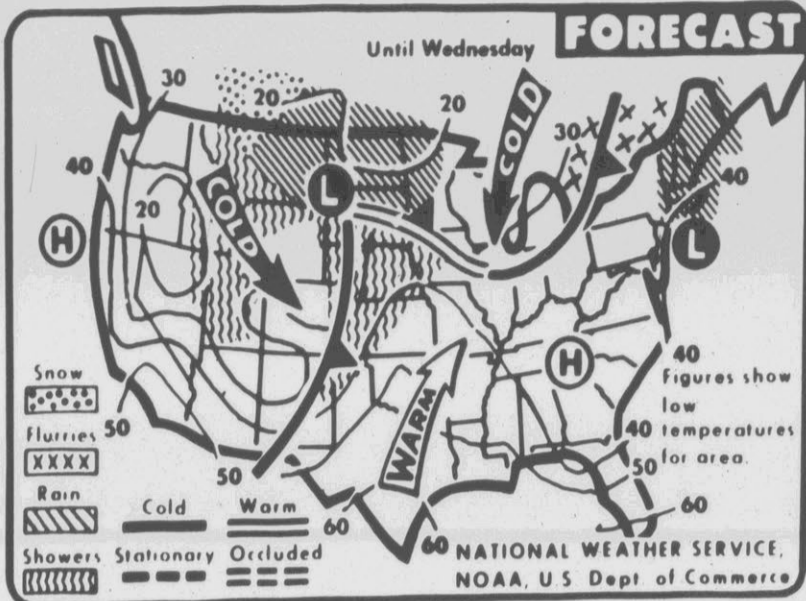

On Capitol Hill, three House members involved in the fights against dairy, sugar and peanut supports warned that the compromises on those three programs will have to be reconsidered if the farm bill is to be accepted by the House.

"The other provisions of the farm bill will be the victims of the congressional outrage," especially over the sugar program, said Rep. Margaret Heckler, R-Mass.

Rep. Stanley Lundine, D-N.Y., who led the peanut fight, added, "If they proceed in this good-old-boy network they have so far ... we'll just have to oppose it."

Ellen Haas of the Community Nutrition Institute said a preliminary analysis has shown that as many as 235 House members "would vote against the conference report as it now stands."

How's The Weather?

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain and showers are expected in the forecast period until Wednesday morning for much of the western third of the nation. Rain is forecast for New England. Cold weather is expected for most of the West and for the Great Lakes. Other areas will be mild. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press

A slow improving trend was expected to begin today with fair weather returning to all areas of the state tonight and Wednesday.

A weak area of low pressure and cold front, which has been moving slowly east across the state overnight,

Solar Fraction

Greenville's solar fraction calculated by the department of physics of East Carolina University was 54 Monday, which means that a solar water heater could have provided 54 percent of your hot water.

was located over southeastern North Carolina early today. To complicate matters somewhat, at the same time a rather significant upper level low pressure area was also moving across the region. This tended to keep things a bit unsettled today, but by tonight all these features were expected to be east and northeast of the area.

Clouds were on the increase ahead of these systems on Sunday and some showers moved into the western counties by mid-to late afternoon Monday. Scattered areas of rain spread into the eastern half of the state during the night. There were even a few isolated thundershowers near the coast during the night.

Rainfall has been rather spotty and generally on the light side, ranging from trace amounts to around one tenth of an inch. A few isolated larger amounts occurred over sections of the mountains and over the coastal region. Bryson City in the southern mountains reported three tenths, for one of the larger amounts thus far. Around two tenths of an inch was noted at several southeastern North Carolina reporting points. On the higher mountains peaks, including Grandfather Mountain, Mt. Mitchell and Mt. Pisgah, there was a trace on snow and sleet yesterday.

Temperatures were rather variable Monday. From the 40s and 50s in the mountains, the range was into the lower 70s over the southeastern counties. Jacksonville was the warmest with 73 yesterday. A cloud cover persisted around the state during the night and this helped in keeping temperatures up. Early morning readings were mostly in the 40s over the west to upper 40s and low 50s in the east.

Recreational weather outlook: Scattered areas of rain and some drizzle will keep mainly the east portion of the state on the damp side this morning. Otherwise, it will be variably cloudy around the state today with temperatures a little cooler, for the most part, than those of Monday. Temperatures will vary considerably as will the clouds, but generally be in the range from the upper 50s and low 60s. The higher mountains will be cool and also rather breezy with some 40s being the maximum levels today. A clearing weather trend will begin by tonight and Wednesday students until such time as they were picked up by parents.

Approval was given for Food Service Director Linda Tingle to contract for a soft drinks dispensing machine at Rose High. The machine will provide a choice of five non-carbonated, non-caffeinated soft drinks at 40 cents each. The five are Hawaiian punch, apple juice, lemonade, an orange drink and sweetened tea.

All of these drinks, except tea, contain Vitamin C. Ms. Tingle stressed that the drinks are supplemental items to the milk and orange juice provided with meals. The vending machine drinks, she emphasized, will provide a profit-making source for the food service program. Statistics presented to the board indicated that the availability of supplemental sweets and drinks would not affect purchase of regular meals.

Approval was given to add Carolina Planning Associates to the list of firms authorized to offer tax-sheltered annuities to employees of the city school system. Carolina Planning Associates include two firms — Kemper Investors Life Insurance Co. of Chicago and Northern Life Insurance Co. of Seattle.

Two contingents of students attended the school board meeting. Twenty sixth graders, members of the Greenville Elementary bands, presented a brief concert under the direction of Dottie Jo Knight. The group will perform in Winston-Salem on Monday at the Music Educators National Conference.

The second contingent was of students being recognized for outstanding achievement in athletics. Students and coaches recognized represented members of football, the girls' tennis team and cross-country teams.

Graham Dinner Planned

North Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Graham will be honored by Pitt County farmers and business people in Greenville next Tuesday.

Sam McLawhorn of Grifton, a member of the N.C. Board of Agriculture, said the "Jim Graham Appreciation Day" supper will be held in the Farmers Warehouse on North Greene Street beginning at 6 p.m.

A barbecue supper will be served and a bluegrass band will provide entertainment.

"We have two thousand $20 tickets distributed and we expect to sell every one of them," McLawhorn said, adding that tickets will also be available at the door.

"Agriculture is the state's most important industry, especially in eastern North Carolina. We felt that Jim Graham had done so much for the industry that he should be recognized in some tangible way and this is the way we decided to honor him," McLawhorn explained.

Proceeds from the appreciation day supper will be turned over to the Friends of Jim Graham committee, according to McLawhorn.

Hold Wife For Murder

A Greenville woman was in Pitt County Jail today, charged with murder in the Monday night shooting death of her 72-year-old husband following a domestic argument.

Pitt Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Ruby Pearl Teel, 41, charged by deputies with the murder of Jack Charles Teel, was placed in jail without privilege of bond.

Sheriff Tyson said the shooting incident took place at the Route 6, Greenville, home of a stepdaughter of the Teels. He said Mrs. Teel allegedly fired one shot from a pistol at her husband, missing him, and he then went to a car and picked up a crowbar. Teel, it was reported, broke a glass pane in a door of the house and his wife allegedly fired another shot, striking him in abdomen, Tyson said.

Dr. Stan Harris, Pitt medical examiner, said that Teel died of internal bleeding as a result of the abdominal wound.

Tyson said the incident was reported to his office at 9:11 p.m.

The Teels resided at 1224 Battle Street here.

Still Assessing Damage By Storm To N.C. Coast

HATTERAS, N.C. (AP) — Officials are still assessing the damage done by a storm that buffeted North Carolina's coast last week, burying highways and several beach cottages under sand and water.

"We had no real major erosion damages," said National Park Service spokesman Peggy Snead, referring to the area from Nags Head to Ocracoke Island. She said damage estimates would not be available until Wednesday or Thursday.

Heavy seas and winds subsided, roads were reopened and ferry service restored Monday along the Outer Banks in the wake of the storm that began Wednesday and lingered until Saturday.

Damage was reported from Kitty Hawk south to Long Beach, where a new inlet was carved by a rampaging sea. "It was nasty," said Jack Willis, a life-long resident of Ocracoke Island.

He said high tides agitated by winds of up to 50 miles an hour flattened a mile-long stretch of sand dunes between the ocean and N.C. 12 on the northern part of the island.

"The tides are at normal now, since the moon tide has gone down," said a spokesman at the Cape Hatteras Lighthouse. "And as far as erosion, we don't seem to have had much around the lighthouse."

She said some sandbagging had been done in front of a seawall surrounding the 111-year-old lighthouse, which has been in danger of falling into the ocean, to cushion the force of the waves.

Some of the worst damage occurred at Kill Devil Hills, just north of Nags Head, and at Topsail Beach, to the south in Pender County.

Ossie Gray, town manager for Kill Devil Hills, said he planned to ask Gov. Jim Hunt for disaster relief.

Gray said cottages along a 1,000- to 1,200-foot stretch of beach had outbuildings, decks and porches washed away. A three-mile stretch of beach road through Kill Devil Hills was flooded but was reopened Monday, Gray said.

At Nags Head, just south of Kill Devil Hills, town manager Tony Barrett said three cottages were destroyed and beach erosion was widespread.

In the central coastal area, at Topsail Island, Police Chief Eugene Tardiff said six cottages "are no longer safe to live in."

The Coast Guard suspended its search Saturday for William Harry Hollingsworth of Concord, lost in rough seas in a 12-foot canoe Thursday. A spokesman said Monday there had been no trace of the man.

His death now presumed, his family has scheduled a memorial service at 2 p.m. Sunday at Concord's First Presbyterian Church.

N.C. Route 12, the main highway between Nags Head and Cape Hatteras, had one lane open to limited traffic Monday, after storm surf covered it with 10 feet of sand.

A spokesman for the state Department of Transportation said ferry service was restored Monday morning from Ocracoke to Swan Quarter and to Cedar Island — the first time since Wednesday that the ferries were running consistently.

MAKING ROOM
ROME (AP) — City Hall on Monday announced plans to ban private traffic on 440 miles of city streets to allow public buses and trams to travel faster.

A ferry service spokesman at Cedar Island said several Ocracoke residents were stranded on the mainland for two days waiting to get back to their homes 23 miles out in Pamlico Sound.

At Wachovia, you can buy a tax-exempt savings certificate.

And you have a Personal Banker to explain what it can mean to you.

If you like the high yield of money market certificates, but you don't like paying so much of it in taxes, Wachovia has the answer. The new tax-exempt Wachovia All Savers Certificate.

Tax-Exempt Interest. You pay no Federal taxes on the first $1,000 of interest; on the first $2,000 if you file a joint return. A glance at the chart will show you what that could mean to you.

$500 Minimum, 12-Month Term. If you don't have a large amount of money to invest, or you can't afford to tie up your money for a long time, our new All Savers Certificate may be just what you're looking for.

Insured Safety. Your savings are safe, insured by the F.D.I.C. up to $100,000 per depositor, and backed by the financial strength of Wachovia Bank.

The Help of a Personal Banker.
A Wachovia Personal Banker can give you all the facts about the All Savers Certificate, so you can make an informed investment decision. Stop by this week.

The Wachovia All Savers yield effective Nov. 2 to Nov. 27 is 10.770%* when interest is left on deposit to maturity. Here's what the tax exemption could mean to you.

If your taxable Income is approximately:	Your tax bracket probably is:	Your All Savers Yield of 10.770% is equivalent to a taxable rate of:
$46,000	44%	19.232%
$36,000	39%	17.656%
$25,000	29%	15.169%
$16,000	22%	13.808%

*The yield of 10.770% is based on an annual rate of 10.272% compounded monthly with interest left on deposit until maturity. To earn $2,000.00 interest on one All Savers Certificate at 10.770% you need to invest about $18,570.00 if you leave interest on deposit to maturity. To earn $1,000.00 in interest on one All Savers Certificate at 10.770% you need to invest about $9,285.00 if you leave interest on deposit to maturity. These tax brackets are based on a married couple filing a joint return. The equivalent taxable rate shown assumes no more than $18,570.00 is invested. Substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced slightly today, recouping some of Monday's broad losses.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off 10.85 Monday, rose 1.24 to 846.27 by noon time today.

Gainers held a narrow lead over losers in the mid-day tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

After the close on Monday, the Federal Reserve removed from its discount rate the 2 percent penalty it had been charging financial institutions borrowing frequently from the Fed.

That step followed recent sharp declines in open-market interest rates. Many analysts believe rates will continue to drop in the immediate future.

But brokers also noted that recession worries lately have kept stock traders from responding with much enthusiasm to falling rates.

The NYSE's composite index picked up .07 to 70.06. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .37 at 310.24.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 19.39 million shares at noon time, against 20.36 million at the same point Monday.

Pension Adjustment By DuPont Begins Dec. 1

KINSTON — Howard Kress, Du Pont plant manager here, announced that pensions for 303 people who retired from the Kinston facility will be increased beginning Dec. 1.

"This increase reflects our continuing interest in the well-being of our pensioners," said Gene Houck, plant personnel superintendent.

He added, "It has long been our practice to periodically review their total retirement income related to Du Pont employment, including Social Security, and to make adjustments when appropriate."

Requests Face Adjustments Bd.

Three requests for special use permits are scheduled for consideration by the Greenville Board of Adjustments at Thursday's 7:30 p.m. meeting at city hall.

The agenda items include: request by M. E. Porter and Clifton O'Geary for a permit to extend the special use permit granted on Feb. 26 in order to construct and operate a racquetball and health club on Lot 4B of the Whicport development south of Greenville Boulevard adjacent to the railroad.

Public hearing on a request by Gulf Oil Co.-US for a permit to operate a service station at 2704 E. 10th St., and a public hearing on a request by Gulf Oil for a permit to operate a service station at 701 E. Greenville Blvd.

Plan Negotiate Nixon Library

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The chairman of the Duke University Board of Trustees has appointed a committee to negotiate with attorneys for former President Richard M. Nixon about locating a presidential library on the campus.

Named to the committee Monday by J. Alexander McMahon were John A. Forlines Jr. of Granite Falls, who has opposed the library during preliminary talks, Kay Goodman Stern of Greensboro and Neil L. Williams of Atlanta.

A board of trustees committee voted 9-2 on Sept. 4 to continue negotiations on the library. At that time, Forlines voted against continuing negotiations while Mrs. Stern and Williams voted with the majority to continue the talks.

The three-member committee will work with Duke counsel Eugene McDonald, who has been the university's chief representative in talks with Nixon's lawyers.

Plan Negotiate Nixon Library

Houck said pensioners who retired before July 1, 1979, will receive a 12 percent increase, plus .5 percent for each calendar year since they retired. A typical wage roll employee who retired in 1966, he said, will receive an adjustment that will increase his pension income by 19.5 percent, bringing increases made since retirement to a total of 90 percent. Pensioners who retired after June 30, 1979, will receive adjustments on a graduated basis.

"The one-half percent per year since retirement is a special, one time adjustment," he said. "It is made to recognize the lower retirement income generally received by pensioners who have been retired the longest."

Companywide nearly 32,000 retired employees will receive the increase.

Houck said the company's pension and retirement plan, formally adopted in 1904, is one of the oldest in American industry. The plan allows employees to retire with full pension at age 58 after 27 years of service.

Media Unfair Says Speaker For PLO

HICKORY, N.C. (AP) — A representative of the Palestine Liberation Organization said Monday that the American news media had unfairly characterized his group as a terrorist organization.

Hasan Rahman, deputy permanent observer for the PLO's delegation to the United Nations, told a Lenoir-Rhyne College audience that Israel is waging a "war of terrorism against the Palestinian people."

"I don't accept the term terrorism for my struggle," he said, adding that he considers PLO activity as legal resistance by the Palestinian people against Israeli occupation. "Terrorism was not introduced by Palestinians."

"We are not inherently warmongers," Rahman said of the 4 million Palestinians around the world. "We are fighting in self-defense to restore for ourselves what belongs to ourselves."

"As long as there is occupation, there has to be violence," he said. "We have no quarrel with Judaism as such."

Rahman spoke at a college forum on the future of the Middle East following the death of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. He represents the PLO on a number of U.N. committees, as well as at meetings of the U.N. Security Council.

The college forum also was to include a talk today by Yohanan Ramati, a representative of the Israeli consulate in New York and Leonard Scensy of the U.S. State Department will give the official American perspective on the Middle East future on Friday.

Strafing By Helicopters

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Afghan helicopter gunships attacked Pakistani border areas for the second straight day today, raking Afghan refugee camps with machine guns and dropping mines, state-run Pakistan Television said.

The Pakistan government said four choppers fired on one camp four miles inside Pakistan Monday and wounded two police. No injuries were reported today.

The Afghan charge d'affaires was summoned to the Pakistani foreign ministry and handed a note protesting "such grave provocations" and warning Kabul authorities they will held responsible for the "serious consequences."

The government statement said the gunships fired machine-gun bursts Monday on a refugee camp about 200 miles west of Islamabad. It was the third Afghan air violation alleged by Pakistan in the past month.

The two previous incidents were denied by the Soviet-backed regime in Kabul which claimed that Pakistan was fabricating the incidents to buttress its case for receiving American arms.

Man Dies After Fall

A Durham man, Doss Massenburg, died Saturday night in Pitt Memorial Hospital from injuries he received about 2:50 p.m. Friday when a scaffold at the East Carolina University medical school's Brody Medical Science building fell.

A second man on the scaffold, Edgar Outerbridge of Greenville, received a broken right ankle and left leg in the mishap.

Pitt County Medical Examiner Dr. Stan Harris said Massenburg died of head injuries.

Al Calcutt, project supervisor for D. R. Allen and Sons, the general contractors on the medical science building, said Massenburg and Outerbridge were on the scaffold, about 30 feet from the ground, to remove and clean brickwork on the exterior of the building.

Massenburg, according to Calcutt, was a brickmason foreman for the Alabama-based Dixie Construction Co., a sub-contractor on the project. Outerbridge was also a Dixie employee.

Both men were rushed to near-by Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Seattle Finally Tops Chargers

SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle Seahawks proved something to the rest of the National Football League — as well as themselves. They proved they could beat Dan Fouts and the San Diego Chargers.

"We're glad to get that off our backs," Seattle Coach Jack Patera said Monday night after his Seahawks walloped their American Football Conference West rivals 44-23.

"I know Seattle has had its problems this season," Chargers Coach Don Coryell said. "I want to congratulate them for coming back."

Seattle went into the nationally televised game with an 0-8 record against San Diego. The Chargers beat the Seahawks 24-10 in California earlier this season.

But after a 1-6 start, the Seahawks have put it together. They've now won three out of four, including back-to-back triumphs over Pit-sburgh and San Diego in the Kingdom.

Conversely, the Chargers, figured to be Super Bowl contenders, have won only three of their last eight games after a 3-0 start. In their last two games, they've allowed a total of 84 points.

San Diego, 6-5, now trails AFC West-leading Denver by two games with five to go.

"We'll be better," Coryell insisted. "We have a bunch of fighters who want to win. They want to win desperately. They won before and we'll win again."

"Now we're going to go out and win five. We'll make the playoffs some way, somehow."

Patera wasn't talking about the playoffs but Seattle's laughter-filled dressing room was in sharp contrast to the somber mood in San Diego's dressing room.

"The whole team is coming together," said

Seahawks' linebacker Michael Jackson, who recovered a fumble and picked off a Fouts pass for two of Seattle's four turnovers.

"This ranks right up there with our last victory (a come-from-behind 24-21 decision over Pittsburgh)," added fullback Dan Doornink, who scored two touchdowns Monday night.

Appropriately, the Seahawks used a slick bit of gimmickry that they call the "Monday Night Special" in subduing the Chargers.

The Seahawks scored on an 18-yard shovel pass play from quarterback Jim Zorn to Sherman Smith to highlight a 24-point second quarter after Seattle lined up for what appeared to be a 36-yard field goal attempt by Efrén Herrera.

"The shovel pass was an option," Patera said. "I don't remember using it before. But we fool around so much with that stuff it's hard to remember what we've tried."

"We knew if they (the Chargers) played the way they played all season," Smith said, "it would be a good play to try. When the coaches introduced it to us, they called it the 'Monday Night Special.'"

Zorn also combined with Doornink on an 80-yard TD play against the mistake-prone Chargers. It came after the Seahawks stopped San Diego twice on the Seattle 1-yard line at the start of the second half.

"Doornink's play was just a little quick screen out to the side," Patera said. "You don't expect to get that kind of yardage out of it."

San Diego coughed up three fumbles — two by rookie running back James Brooks and one by veteran running back Chuck Muncie — and Fouts threw one interception. In addition, the Seahawks made six first downs on San Diego penalties, two of them pass interference calls that set up touchdowns.

San Diego was called for 13 penalties for 138 yards and the Seahawks scored on eight of their last nine possessions.

Muncie scored on a 73-yard run, his longest of the season, in the second quarter and rushed 20 times for 151 yards.

The Seahawks' Theotis Brown carried the ball 18 times for 83 yards and tallied twice — on runs of 1 and 2 yards.

Zorn was 11 for 22 for 212 yards and two touchdowns while Fouts was 20 for 34 for 252 yards and one TD, a 22-yarder to Wes Chandler in the fourth quarter.

"Seattle played well but they didn't do anything that surprised us," Fouts said. "Things happen like that for lots of reasons. I'm not one to point fingers and blame people."

Purple-Gold Is Wednesday

East Carolina University's men's basketball team will hold its annual Purple-Gold game Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Minges Coliseum.

The display will be the first formal display of the 1981-82 Pirate team under third-year coach Dave Odqm. An informal scrimmage was held on Saturday prior to the ECU-William & Mary football game.

"I was just delighted with the defense on Saturday," Odqm said. "It was far more aggressive than in the past." Odqm added that he felt the tempo of the defense set a pace that he believes will be more to the liking of the fans of the Pirates.

Transfer Charles Green led the team in that 28-minute scrimmage, scoring 21 points and pulling down 10 rebounds.

The teams have been divided as follows:

*Purple — Al Mack, Morris Hargrove, Mark McLaurin, Bill McNair, Dave Reicheneker, Tony Byles and Mike Fox. Coaches will be Tom Bar-rise and Herb Krusen.

*Gold — Michael Gibson, Charles Green, Thom Brown, Jeff Best, Herb Gilchrist, Charles Watkins and Bruce Peartree. Coaches will be David Pendergraft and Don Carter.

Greg Batson, the only non-scholarship player on the team, will play on both units on an alternating basis.

The Pirates next action will be Monday night when they host to Australian National Team in a 7:30 p.m. game in Minges.

Overall Play Pleases Vincent

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

"I'm quite pleased with the outcome of our season — not counting the Jacksonville game," Rose High School football coach Ronald Vincent said yesterday.

The Rampants, under Vincent, posted an 8-2 regular season and followed that up with a 20-0 loss to Jacksonville in the first round of the State 4-A Football Playoffs last Friday night.

Vincent, who actually was serving only as interim coach, took over just a week before practice started this fall when head coach Dave Bumgarner underwent heart surgery and elected to take a year off. Bumgarner will not decide until after the first of year whether he will continue coaching or not.

Meanwhile, Vincent, who had served as offensive coordinator for the Rampants, took over the head job.

"I feel like our defense really improved as the season went on," Vincent said in looking back over the year. "We still have a ways to go in getting our offensive scheme of things like we want it. We never really got consistent on offense."

Vincent also feels that the Rampants have a good nucleus coming back to build around for next season.

"At the first of the year, looking at our schedule and what we had (two offensive and two defensive starters and just 14 lettermen), I had to be shooting for a 5-5 season, and a shot at the playoffs," the coach said. "I felt like we could get into the playoffs if our five wins were all conference wins." As it turned out Rose did go 5-2 in the conference, and it was enough to earn a post-season spot. However, the Rampants won all three of their non-conference games — and Vincent once remarked that he felt one victory in those three was a plus.

"I never had any idea that we'd be able to go 8-2," he added.

One of the reasons, the coach believes, was the attitude of the players. "It was very good. Everybody did what they had to do to win," he said. "Not making so many mistakes helped us, too, along with getting some outstanding efforts from some of our players."

Rose, Vincent pointed out, had no strategic breakdowns during the year. It had only one punt blocked, only four yards in actual punt returns, only one kickoff returned for a score, only one interception brought back for a score, and just one fumble returned against them all year long.

"Oddly enough, we never had a fumble return," he noted. All of the recoveries Rose made were at the spot of the fumble.

Vincent said one of his early major problems was getting the coaching staff settled. There was a vacancy on the staff, plus another left by his moving up. "Fortunately we were able to fill these quickly with two good men — Joe Godette and Tommy Peacock."

Then, the problem was getting the new offense in. Bumgarner and Vincent had already planned a switch from the wishbone to the I-formation. "We really hadn't gotten that far along, however," Vincent pointed out. "We still had a lot of work to do on it."

"But I have to say that I'm pretty well satisfied with the way it all turned out. I do feel that we could have done better, however," the coach said.

The Rampants lose six offensive starters and seven on defense, leaving only nine starters returning for the 1982 season, but Vincent feels that this is a plus. "It won't be quite as much of a rebuilding year as this year was. We won't have as many positions to fill. We will have some untried players (up from the junior varsity) that we will look for a lot of help, but I think we have a lot of potential."

Whether Vincent will be back as head coach is still up in the air. That won't be known until Bumgarner reaches his final decision on his future. And that presents a little problem for Vincent.

"We need to look that the returning personnel and make some decisions on some of them, whether to look at them at other positions, and the line. And we need to look further at our offensive scheme. Not knowing whether I'll be in charge next year does cause some problems, but they are not major ones. We (Bumgarner and Vincent) are working together on some things, and I still have some authority."

"One thing's for certain. I know I'll be around. Whether it's as head coach or an assistant is the question."

Three Are All-League

Three members of the Rose High School tennis team have been named to the All-Conference team announced today.

The three Rampettes are Lou Taft, Pauline Bearden, and Belinda Haselrig, who played the one, two and three singles spots and led Rose to an unbeaten regular season.

Others selected included Susan Smith of Fike, Angela Brown of Beddingfield, Tricia Mauldin, Mandy Thayer and Lezlie Lambeth of Rocky Mount, Kay York of Northern Nash, Sally Cunningham of Northeastern and Molly Sims and Frances Patterson of Hunt.

Southern Miss Climbs Into Top Ten Position

By The Associated Press

Pitt and Clemson remained 1-2 in The Associated Press college football poll today for the third week in a row, while Georgia and Alabama moved into the third and fourth spots and Southern Mississippi completed a meteoric climb into the Top Ten.

Southern California skidded from third place to 10th by losing to Washington 13-3, while Penn State and Arizona State, fifth and ninth a week ago, fell out of the Top Ten.

Pitt, a 48-0 winner over Army, received 63 of 68 first-place votes and 1,354 of a possible 1,360 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Clemson, which defeated Maryland 21-7 and captured the Atlantic Coast Conference crown, received the other five first-place ballots and 1,290 points.

Last week, Pitt led Clemson in first-place votes 53-7, with eight ballots going for Southern Cal, and 1,343-1,272 in points.

Georgia, which beat Auburn 24-13 and clinched at least a share of the Southeastern Conference championship, moved up from fourth to third with 1,169 points, replacing Southern Cal.

Alabama, a 31-16 winner over Penn State as Bear Bryant posted a record-tying 314th coaching triumph, jumped from sixth to fourth with 1,128 points.

Nebraska climbed from seventh to fifth with 972 points after clinching the Big Eight title with a 31-7 victory over Iowa State. Southern Methodist's 30-6 triumph over Texas Tech pushed the Mustangs from eighth place to sixth with 924 points.

Michigan vaulted from 11th to seventh with 875 points thanks to a 28-10 victory over Purdue. Texas climbed from 10th to eighth with 873 points by defeating Texas Christian 31-15.

Southern Mississippi, an impressive 58-14 winner over Florida State, shot from 14th to ninth with 810 points. Southern Cal rounded out the Top Ten with 678 points.

The Second Ten consists of Miami, Fla., North Carolina, Penn State, Washington State, UCLA, Arkansas, Washington, Brigham Young, Iowa and Arizona State.

Last week, it was Michigan, Miami, North Carolina, Southern Mississippi, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Washington State, UCLA, Hawaii and Florida State.

Oklahoma dropped out after a 19-14 loss to Missouri, previously unbeaten Hawaii disappeared in the wake of a 13-3 loss to BYU that restored the Cougars to the rankings after a three-week absence and Florida State's loss to Southern Mississippi cost the Seminoles a spot in the Top Twenty.

Meanwhile, Washington's triumph over USC put the Huskies back after a one-week lapse and Iowa, which had been out for two weeks, got back in by defeating Wisconsin 17-7.

Walker Believes He's Best Heisman Choice

ATLANTA (AP) — Herschel Walker, Georgia's All-American tailback who finished third in Heisman Trophy voting last year as a freshman, believes he should win this year despite the record-breaking season by Southern California's Marcus Allen.

Walker burst upon the scene last year and helped the Bulldogs to the national championship, gaining a freshman rushing record of 1,616 yards. So far this season, the 6-foot-2, 220-pound sophomore has 1,666 yards with one game remaining against Georgia Tech on Dec. 5.

"I think I should win the Heisman Trophy," said the quietly confident 19-year-old. "I have a lot of confidence in myself. I'm not trying to say it in a cocky attitude. I'm just saying I had a good year last year and an even better year this year."

"More people are knowing what I'm doing and that's making more people (defenders) get around me, but still they're not stopping me," said Walker.

"I think my chances are pretty good," he said.

Allen, the Southern California senior, became the first running back in college history to go over the 2,000-yard mark in one season last Saturday. He has 2,123 yards.

Still, Walker said he would choose himself over Allen.

"He has a lot of yardage, but then if you're going to choose a Heisman candidate on stats, I think a lot of Heisman candidates that were ever chosen would not have won it," he said.

"I don't think stats matter that much. And talent-wise I think I have a lot more talent than he has. I think he's a tremendous back. You have to be a tremendous back to have as much yardage as he has. But I don't think he's any better back than I am," said Walker, who has been in only one losing game in two seasons.

But there are some who say Walker has not had the season he had as a freshman, when he averaged 5.9 yards a carry and scored seven times on runs of 48 yards or better.

This season his longest run has been 32 yards, but he has 60 attempts of 10 yards or better compared to only 35 a year ago.

"Coming off the season I had last year, they expect me to be what I'm not," Walker said in a telephone interview from the Athens, Ga., campus. "They expect me to be a superman, which I'm not. I'm just a human being like everyone else."

Walker, who had 165 yards in the Bulldogs' 24-13 victory over Auburn on Saturday to surpass his own school record for rushing in one season, is only 20 yards short of the Southeastern Conference record of 1,686 set by Charles Alexander of Louisiana State.

"I think I'm having a better year. I think I'm a more consistent runner this year," he said.

Two Tied In Picks

A tie between two entrants developed in the final Daily Reflector Football Contest of the 1981 season last week.

Bill Ferguson of 104-A Foxberry Circle and Heath Nisbet of 110 Oxford Road tied for first place and will split the prize money. Both correctly picked the winners in 25 of the 32 games listed in last week's contest entry pages.

Ferguson's point total guess was 77 and Nisbet's was 81, both two off the actual total of 79.

The Daily Reflector congratulates the weekly winners and thank the many who participated in the contest, which will return again next fall.

Walker, who had 165 yards in the Bulldogs' 24-13 victory over Auburn on Saturday to surpass his own school record for rushing in one season, is only 20 yards short of the Southeastern Conference record of 1,686 set by Charles Alexander of Louisiana State.

"I think I'm having a better year. I think I'm a more consistent runner this year," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lefty Driesell, basketball coach at the University of Maryland, blames the agents for so many college players turning pro while they still have eligibility remaining.

"The agents just tell the kids they should go," Driesell said. "Remember, the agents don't get any money if the kids remain in school. Naturally, they are going to influence a young man to leave school and turn pro. That's the only way they get paid."

Gryphons, Kinston Top Big East Picks

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

ROCKY MOUNT — The Big East Conference put Rocky Mount's Reggie Henderson on the spot last night. With all-everything George McLean, ranked as one of the top players in the state leading the Gryphon basketball hopes, the rest of the conference's coaches picked Rocky Mount to win the Big East crown this winter.

"There's just no way we're going to be as good as everybody thinks we are," Henderson said.

Nevertheless, in a ballot of the eight Big East coaches, Rocky Mount was what amounted to a unanimous choice. The Gryphons were named on seven ballots — all but Henderson's — and coaches were not allowed to vote for their own team.

New conference member Kinston got the other first place vote, and was selected for second place on the rest of the ballots, earning a total of 49 points to Rocky Mount's 43, based on a 7-6-5-ect. count.

Wilson's Hunt High School finished third in the balloting with 33 points, while Greenville Rose was fourth with 30. Northern Nash and Wilson Fike tied for fifth with 23 points, while Wilson Beddingfield ended up with 14 and Northeastern had nine.

Rocky Mount's girls also were a unanimous choice to win the championship in their division. Beddingfield finished second — being named second on every ballot — while Fike was third, and got the extra first place vote. Northern Nash and Hunt tied for fourth, followed by Rose in sixth, Kinston in seventh and Northeastern in eighth.

"We don't have the size to really be a championship team," Henderson said. "My biggest player is 6-4, and you don't win with that."

The big man, however, is not the man with the size but the 6-0 guard McLean, who is to be one of the higher sought players of the year this season. "It's hard to compare him with Phil (Ford)," Henderson said of another of his past backcourt stars. "Phil had a quicker first step, but George is more aggressive. George has quick hands and may be a better shooter and he sees the floor well. He's a very unselfish player."

Joining McLean in the starting lineup will probably be 6-3 Jerome Garrett at center and 5-11 guard Alton Phillips — all returning starters. The other forward will probably be Brian Hunter (6-3), while the other guard is likely to be Dino Moore (5-4).

"We have pretty good depth, but we're going to have to rely on our quickness. We just can't compete inside with the height we have. If you live by the jump shot, you die by the jump shot, so we're going to have to be lucky too."

Kinston's Paul Jones doesn't have the same problem — not at all. He looks at the tallest lineup in the conference, led by 6-10 center Eric Lewis.

The Vikings, who recorded a 19-6 record last year in tieing for the Mideastern title, expect to be competitive in the Big East. "I really don't know that much about the conference yet," Jones said.

But there's no doubt that Jones has the biggest club, and one of the more experienced clubs. Joining Lewis are three other returning starters 6-5 forward Derrick Johnson, 6-2 guard Herbert Suggs, and 5-9 guard Dalton Frizelle. Currently, the other forward is 5-10 Michael Fields.

But he may find himself pressed by one or two transfers. First, there's 6-4 Mark Signorelli, who transferred in from Chicago, and then there's 6-6 Michael Darden, who came from Ahsokie.

At any rate, Jones expects to be strong upfront, and to have a good bench behind his starters.

Hunt coach Willis Pepper was also surprised by his pre-season ranking. He returns just one starter, 6-0 Jerry Strayhorne. "We've only got two other lettermen back, 6-0 guard Neil Strayhorne and 6-6 center Anthony Brown," Pepper said.

Other starters are likely to be 6-3 forwards Larry Carter and Eric Ingram, both up from the junior varsity. "We have nine up from the JV team, and they had a good year. It really all depends on the transition. If they come around, we should have good depth."

"But I really look at this as a rebuilding year."

Northern Nash's Bobby Dunn is seen by some coaches as having the dark horse team in the conference. He returns three starters led by 5-11 guard Thomas Mabry, one of the league's top players last year. Joining him are 6-5 center Derrick Battle and 6-3 forward Steve Lynch.

"I think we'll be competitive," Dunn said. "And I'm glad to know that they think of us as a dark horse. Anytime you go on the court, you have to be realistic, but you still have to believe that you can win."

Other starters are likely to be either 6-0 forward Jim Harris ("if we go with a small, quick lineup") or 6-4 Bobby Dunn Jr. ("if we go with a big lineup"). The other guard will probably be either Clinton Lynch (5-11), Ronnie Stample (5-9) or Maurice Williams (5-9). Lynch could also play some at the small forward position.

"I think we'll have good depth. Randolph Battle (6-3) could give us a lot of help up front," Dunn said.

Fike's Harvey Reid faces a rebuilding year with not one starter back from last year's squad and just two lettermen. "Our biggest asset is our speed, and we've gotten a good effort so far."

The two lettermen, 6-3 center Danny Williams, the number six player last year, and 5-4 guard Vernon Sampson, both are likely starters. Joining them as potential starters are 6-3 John Lowe, a senior who did not play the last two years; Bud Powell, 6-1, up from the junior varsity; and 5-7 Ernest Moody, also up from the JV's.

"We can play other people and not hurt a lot," Reid said. "There are a lot of players who are quite even."

Beddingfield's new coach, Lin Green, faces a rebuilding year after two straight league titles. "We only have two lettermen back, 6-4 Thomas Loftin, who was a starter, and 5-10 Maurice Bynum, who didn't start. Most of our people will be up from the JV along with three newcomers. So we'll be very inexperienced," Green said.

Still, he's optimistic. "I think we can surprise some people along the way if we can keep our people in the game. We'll be tall — 6-4, 6-4, 6-1 — across the front, and that should help us."

Probable starters include Baron Burks, 6-4 at center; Mike Ward, 6-1 at the other forward slot beside Loftin; and 5-10 guard Ray Reid, joining Bynum in backcourt. Reid, Green noted, is the son of Fike coach Harvey Reid.

Northeastern coach Carl Harris, in his first year, admits that his team is in a rebuilding process. "This program has been down for a while, and we're trying to change some attitudes and get things going for a chance," Harris said.

He returns one full-time starter, 6-3 Kenny Griffin at forward, and one who moved up from the JV during the year to earn a starting berth, 6-4 Climmie Mercer.

"We'll have a young team and probably start four juniors," Harris said. Other starters will probably be 6-3 forward Jamie Turner, 5-9 guard Clifton Shaw and 5-8 guard Steve Dorsey. Harris also feels that he'll have good depth.

A full roundup on Rose High School's outlook will come later.

AIA Defeats Deacs, 63-62

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Former UCLA center Gig Sims grabbed a crucial offensive rebound and banked in a short jump shot with 1:14 left to give Athletics in Action a 63-62 win over Wake Forest in an exhibition basketball game Monday.

Sims took a missed free throw by teammate Dave Johnson with 1:47 left to give AIA possession with Wake Forest ahead 62-61. Sims scored a half minute later to put AIA on top for good.

Wake Forest's Danny Young missed two jump shots in the final minutes of play, including one with 5 seconds remaining after Sims blocked a jump shot by Wake Forest's John Toms.

The Deacons, who led 40-38 at halftime, hit only 8 of 35 shots in the second half and finished shooting just 37 percent from the field. Wake Forest never led by more than 4 points in the entire game.

Jim Johnstone led the Deacons with 14 points, 12 in the first half. Mike Helms added 13.

Rose Leads Cup Chase

Rose High School's boys' and girls' teams wound up the fall season atop the standings for the Big East All-Sports trophies.

The rampant boys finished first in the cross-country, earning eight points, while the football team finished second, to garner seven, giving Rose a total of 15 points.

Next in line is Fike with 12½, followed by Rocky Mount with 12, Hunt with 10½, Northern Nash with eight, Northeastern with five, and Kinston and Beddingfield, tied with four each.

Sports still to come include basketball and wrestling in the winter, and baseball, track, tennis, and golf in the spring.

The Rampettes earned eight points finishing first in tennis and five in cross-country with a fourth place finish. The total of 13 gives them a slim lead over second place Wilson Fike, with 12.

Beddingfield is third with eight, followed by Hunt and Rocky Mount with 6½ each, Kinston with five and Northeastern with three.

Other sports to come include basketball in the winter and track and softball in the spring.

Soccer Co-Champs

The Diplomats shared the title in the Grades 1-3 league of the Greenville Parks and Recreation Department's soccer program. Members of the team are, first row, left to right: Stephen Wyatt, Chris Frekle, John Savage, Richie Grimsley, Matt

Sugar Bowl Picks Georgia As Its Host Team; Pittsburgh To Be Foe

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Sugar Bowl picked third-ranked Georgia as host for its New Year's night football classic, opting for the defending national champion over fourth-ranked Alabama, the Associated Press has learned.

Mickey Holmes, executive director of the Sugar Bowl, would neither confirm nor deny that Georgia was the choice.

It's an open secret that top-ranked Pittsburgh is set as the visiting team for the Sugar Bowl, but Holmes would not comment on that, either.

This is the first year the committee has had the chance to choose between probable Southeastern Conference co-champions. Only an upset of Alabama by Auburn Nov. 28 could prevent a tie for the title between Georgia and Alabama.

"We know how we want to proceed on Saturday, and we will proceed accordingly," was all Holmes would say after the decision was made Monday.

"We cannot make any announcement until Saturday, and we will not," he said.

A six-year-old agreement with the SEC provides that the conference champion will be the Sugar Bowl host, and gives the Bowl committee the right to make the choice in the event of a tie for the title.

That agreement was renewed this year, but the Sugar Bowl fought for — and won — abolition of the most-recent-appearance rule. That rule said that in event of a tie for the title, the team which had been longest away from the bowl would get the New Year's Day bid.

Ironically, Alabama Coach Bear Bryant played a key role in lining up the SEC-Sugar Bowl agreement. Bryant last week tied Amos Alonzo Stagg for the most college football victories ever at 314, beating Penn State 31-16, and Alabama had hoped that victory would get it a Sugar Bowl invitation.

The Cotton Bowl said it is considering Alabama and Southern California for the visiting team berth against the Southwest Conference champion.

Georgia, with All-American running back Herschel Walker, nailed down the national championship last Jan. 1, with a victory over Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl.

Alabama's lone defeat this year was at the hands of Georgia Tech. Georgia's was by second-ranked Clemson. Alabama was also tied 7-7 by Southern Mississippi.

Alabama has played in the Sugar Bowl 10 times.

Bryant is 7-1 in Sugar Bowl appearances dating back to 1962. The loss was to Notre Dame on Dec. 31, 1973, in a 24-23 contest that decided the national championship. Many regard it as one of the most exciting football games ever played.

Pittsburgh Coach Jackie Sherrill, an Alabama alumnus, said no decision had been made on where his team would celebrate the new year.

He said the decision would be based on the gate share, status of the opponent, exposure and the opportunity for his players to have a good time. Any personal desire to go against his former coach was not mentioned.

But at least some of his players had already made up their minds.

"If I had to decide today, it would be the Sugar Bowl," said senior linebacker Sal Sunseri, the team's leading tackler and an acknowledged emotional leader.

"I think guys like Dave Puzzuoli and myself any some of our offense would be great on Bourbon Street."

Bourbon Street is the night life center of the French Quarter.

"I want to stomp on Bourbon Street," said tight end John Brown, and quarterback Dan Marino added, "I'll be there with him."

Sunseri added a sobering note.

"We've got to win next week (against Temple) or we'll be going to the Monroeville Bowl, and I don't think we'll be very happy there," he said.

Monroeville is a Pittsburgh suburb.

Fike's Harvey Reid faces a rebuilding year with not one starter back from last year's squad and just two lettermen. "Our biggest asset is our speed, and we've gotten a good effort so far."

The two lettermen, 6-3 center Danny Williams, the number six player last year, and 5-4 guard Vernon Sampson, both are likely starters. Joining them as potential starters are 6-3 John Lowe, a senior who did

Will Orange Pants Return?

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — It was just about this time last year that the Clemson Tigers made their debut in orange pants.

It was the final game of the season, a home contest against South Carolina, and the orange pants were worn in an attempt to give the Tigers a little extra against those dreaded Gamecocks.

It worked, because Clemson stopped George Rogers and bowl-bound South Carolina in its tracks, 27-6. After the game, the orange pants were likely placed back into their boxes lovingly and gingerly until needed again.

The need came in the third game of the 1981 season when the Tigers hosted then fourth-ranked Georgia. With the orange pants flapping in the breeze, Clemson defeated the Bulldogs 13-3.

When Maryland came into Death Valley last Saturday with a chance to knock Clemson from the unbeaten ranks and steal a share of the Atlantic Coast Conference title, the Tigers again trotted out in orange pants. The final score was Clemson 21, Maryland 7.

Yes, indeed, there seems to be magic in those orange pants, 3-0 in a tradition thus far limited to Death Valley.

Will Clemson take them on the road to play South Carolina this weekend?

"I don't know," said linebacker Jeff Davis, one of the senior members of the team who would make such a decision. "We'll probably take a vote Wednesday and decide if we want to wear orange pants against South Carolina."

"But I'm going to go down there and play hard no matter what kind of pants we have on. I don't care if we wear green pants. We need to win that game."

Actually, the Gamecocks may be the ones who decide to dress all in garnet, since they find themselves in much the same position as the Tigers were last year.

In 1980, the Tigers were 5-5 when they played South Carolina and weren't within shouting distance of any bowl. The underdogs were fighting for pride.

South Carolina was in the process of enjoying its finest season. The Gamecocks were heading to the Gator Bowl and Rogers would soon be named the Heisman Trophy winner.

This season, Clemson is 10-0, ranked No. 2 in the country, has its second Atlantic Coast Conference title in the past four years and is probably headed to the Orange Bowl.

South Carolina got off to slow start and was 2-3 after five games. Then the Gamecocks defeated Kentucky and Virginia to go back above .500.

South Carolina won its biggest game of the season by defeating then third-ranked North Carolina 31-13 and followed with a win over North Carolina State that pushed its record to 6-3. Then came a 23-21 loss to Pacific on Nov. 7.

Now, while the cross-state rivalries can't spoil the Tigers' postseason aspirations, they can throw a wrench into Clemson's first undefeated and untied season since 1948.

And there would be nothing the Gamecocks would like more.

Is NFL Looking Away From Violence?

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
Pete Rozelle's silence in the wake of performances by Conrad Dobler eight nights ago and William Gay 15 days before that shows you how the National Football League sometimes says one thing and does another.

The league can bray all it wants about violence. But until it starts coming down harder on the perpetrators — and doing so publicly — we believe it is doing little more than paying lip service to the problem.
In Dobler's case, the game was pretty much out of hand.

Dallas led Buffalo 27-14 with a couple of minutes to go. But Dobler, a guard for the Bills, and defensive tackle John Dutton of the Cowboys were staging their own private war.
Dobler was flagged for "leg-whipping." That's a clever little tactic wherein one player spins around, his leg fully extended, with the expressed purpose of impeding the progress toward the quarterback of another player by making contact with his body.

Bay after using his helmet as a battering ram on Packers quarterback Lynn Dickey. It's called spearing. It could be called maiming.
In his 10 years in the NFL, Dobler has developed a reputation — he worked hard to build and maintain it — as one of the less sanitary players around. "Dirty" and "Dobler" are as synonymous as "Assassin" and "Tatum" used to be. Whether by intent or not, Gay in his fourth year, is likewise developing an unsavory reputation.

Further, the fine against Gay was a very private affair. Rozelle's policy is not to announce fines. That's been the cause of more than a few heated debates at league headquarters.
Rozelle feels the people who should know — the other players around the league — find out through the grapevine when someone's wallet is thinned out and that such knowledge helps reduce violence.

Why, then, are football players singled out for infractions during the game but not after it? Other sports don't hesitate to announce players' fines.
More to the point, why doesn't the NFL really begin cracking down on offenders, not just with increased fines (a $1,000 fine amounts to less than a day's pay) but with increased suspensions, without pay?
Do you really believe no player in the NFL has committed an act worthy of suspension since Mel Morgan of New England delivered a forearm to John Stallworth's head and was benched by Rozelle for one game in 1977?

Coaches will be loathe to teach what they euphemistically call aggressiveness when they discover gaping holes in their depth charts.
As the injury lists have increased in length and severity, a few coaches have spoken out strongly against the rising tide of mayhem in the NFL. It's time the commissioner stopped, looked and listened.

Alabama Gets Cotton Invite

DALLAS (AP) — The University of Alabama will be invited to play the Southwest Conference representative in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day, The Dallas Times Herald reported today.

Under NCAA rules, no official bowl bids can be made until Saturday's games are over.

Alabama's Cotton Bowl opponent will likely be either Texas or Arkansas although Houston still has an outside chance. Southern Methodist University will win the SWC championship if the Mustangs beat Arkansas Saturday, but the Mustangs cannot appear in a bowl game because the are on NCAA probation.
The Cotton Bowl would be Alabama's 35th bowl appearance and be the 23rd straight, both national records. Alabama has appeared in the Cotton Bowl five times, winning two and losing three. Bryant's team whipped SWC champion Baylor, 30-2, in last year's game.

Nothing was done by the commissioner. No harm, no foul.
Granted, it is impossible to delve into the workings of Dobler's mind to establish intent to harm. But we're dealing now in a business where judgment calls have become the order of the day. And from this corner, the judgment — from that replay, from previous plays, from Dobler's desire to be known as something other than a pussy — is "guilty." It should have been from Rozelle's corner, too. A fine should have been imposed against Dobler. A stiff one. Maybe a suspension, too.

A fine, reportedly $1,500, was levied against Gay. But he, too, was back in action the following Sunday, none the worse for wear, while Dickey was still disabled.

Detroit Coach Knew 12 Men Were On The Field

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Detroit Coach Monte Clark tried to explain how things almost got out of hand at the end of Detroit's 27-24 National Football League victory Sunday over the Dallas Cowboys.

Hipple had no choice but to kneel, take the snap and hold the ball for Murray's attempt.
However, the Lions had one too many men on the field and Clark knew it — only he was powerless to correct the situation since the clock was ticking down the final seconds.
The 47-yard kick sailed through the uprights as the gun sounded and Clark held his breath.

Still, Clark could not hide his joy and satisfaction in the outcome.
"We needed this," the Detroit coach noted. "It's done wonders for the players. This is a real shot in the arm."
Clark said he and the players were so overcome with glee immediately after leaving the field that they broke with tradition and waited several minutes before holding a team prayer in the Lions' clubhouse.
"I said, 'Go ahead and whoop it up a bit,'" Clark said. "But there was a big 'Thank You' at the end, when we finally got around to the prayer."
The Lions, who have won all five of their home games and lost all six road games, head for Chicago this weekend for an NFC Central contest with the 3-11 Bears.

The newspaper reported that the Crimson Tide will be invited for a second straight Cotton Bowl appearance Saturday. The report came only hours after The Associated Press reported that Georgia had been picked over Alabama for a spot in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.
"I cannot say that we have made a decision," Jim Brock, executive vice president of the Cotton Bowl, said.
"It would be false to say the we will invite Alabama. It could happen but it hasn't happened. We haven't visited with (Alabama) Coach (Bear) Bryant since last Friday on the practice field at Penn State," Brock said.

Cotton Bowl officials had confirmed earlier they were considering inviting Alabama or Southern California.

B. Allison To DiGard

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Grand National stock car veteran Bobby Allison plans to join the DiGard Racing team next season, according to the team's owner.
Allison, 43, of Hueytown, Ala., has made more than $3 million in his NASCAR career and is fourth on the all-time victory list with 64. He signed a three-year contract Monday.
Allison has had four victories and earnings of $526,365 in 30 races this year. He enters the season finale in second place, trailing Winston Cup leader Darrell Waltrip by 81 points.
William J. "Bill" Gardner, chairman of the board of DiGard, said the team still must make a decision on the status of its current driver Ricky Rudd.
"A decision ... will be made after Sunday's race at Riverside, Calif.," he said. "We hold an annual renewal option on Rudd for seven more years."
Gardner also said the team would have to consider the possibility of new sponsorship.
"I've met with Hardee's executives in New York, and they expressed an interest in sponsorship of DiGard with Bobby Allison as the driver," Gardner said. Hardee's has been sponsoring Allison since the World 600 in May.
Gardner said he plans to meet this week with William B. Stokely III, chairman of Stokely-Van Camp Inc.
"I want to meet with Stokely to discuss his position," Gardner said. Gatorade, a product of Stokely-Van Camp, has been sponsoring the DiGard team since the beginning of the 1976 season.
Allison became available when he quit the Ranier Racing team, effective at the end of the season. He cited a "difference in philosophy," and team owner Harry Ranier signed Allison's contract release after the Oct. 11 National 500.
NASCAR driver Richard Petty turned down an offer to join Ranier, which then signed up Benny Parsons, who is completing one season as driver for car owner Bud Moore.

To The Editor:

The article by Rick Scoppe regarding the complaints of Larry O'Roark was unfortunate and will no doubt hurt the ECU recruiting program. As the facts come to light, it is readily apparent why he quit the team — a freshman took his position.
The negative side of a free press is what you have to contend with the sensationalism and the immature writer with little insight or foresight — which seems to be the case here.
There is a positive side to all of this and that is in the way that Ed Emory has handled it. I, for one, would like to compliment him. It has given me a good insight into Ed Emory, the man. He has not once condemned O'Roark but complimented him, nor has he complained or made excuses. That says a lot to me! The team, ECU and its supporters should be proud.

Appeal Is Denied

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Dick King, U.S. Auto Club president, has denied Mario Andretti's appeal of Bobby Unser being named winner of the 1981 Indianapolis 500-mile race, USAC announced Monday.
Unser initially was declared winner of the race, but the next day he was penalized one lap for passing cars during a yellow caution light and runner-up Andretti was named winner.
But USAC took the victory away from Andretti after an appeal by Unser.
Andretti's appeal, filed Oct. 10 by Indianapolis attorney Forest Bowman, contended Andretti wasn't given sufficient notice to attend and prepare for Unser's appeal hearings last summer.

To The Editor:
Your article concerning the Girls' State Tennis Tournament in The Daily Reflector entitled "Duffy Bows in First Round" is factual but necessary details are omitted. The impression left with the reader is that the challenge was too great — that she failed to show up for the match. The exact opposite is the truth.
Under the direction of her coach, she arrived at the courts where the tournament was believed to be held in plenty of time. While her coach was not present, Duffy awaited the upcoming match. When it was realized that the tournament was actually being held at another site and she arrived there, the grace period had already elapsed, and it was ruled that her opponent had won by default. A protest was filed and the officials agreed to let the match be played. A counter protest was filed and the original decision of victory by default was upheld.
A day that began with the thrill of playing in the state tennis tournament — a dream come true — ended as a nightmare for an outstanding athlete who had worked long and hard at being one of the best players in the state. Whether caused by a coach's misinterpretation of information or a committee's decision to penalize a player, who by no fault of her own, arrived late at the courts, the result was still the same. Being a senior, this opportunity will never present itself again. She must only wonder what could have happened. It is unfortunate that she must read the headlines of your article after such an emotionally upsetting event, when in a previous article your only mention of her state qualification came in a short paragraph at the end of the article. But those who know her best will always know the truth — Theresa Duffy IS a champ.

A Review

Rich & Famous, Adventure Film

By MAXINE CAREY HARKER

"Rich and Famous" — a review. Perhaps it would be a mistake to label this a woman's movie. For if men are truly interested in knowing what makes women "tick" then this movie will provide some insight.

It is the story of true friendship of two people who just happen to be female. Jacqueline Bisset and Candice Bergen are writers. "Rich" is Bergen who writes for the masses and has no compunctions about exploiting her celebrity friends. Not even her "dear mama" is safe from this woman's crass typewriter. And she is prolific, producing one best seller after the other.

"Famous" is Bisset whose cerebral offering has brought her some barely lucrative honors and a classic case of writer's block. She must stand by and watch Bergen cloy her way to the top of the best seller list year after year.

Being writers they are able to express themselves verbally as well. They hold back nothing from each other. Envy. Secrets. Anger and love. The only rule in this contest of wills that exists throughout is loyalty and that is what keeps their friendship alive through the years.

Actor Wm. Holden Dead

By JERRY BUCK

Associated Press Writer SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor William Holden, who won an Oscar as the hard-bitten prisoner of war in "Stalag 17" and was the disillusioned news executive in "Network," was found dead at his apartment here

Monday, police said.

Holden, 63, apparently died of natural causes, said Police Sgt. Dick Tapiam and had apparently been dead "for some time, possibly two or three days."

The body was found by the apartment's manager, who became concerned when he had not heard from Holden in two or three weeks, Tapiam said.

"I went to the scene," Tapiam said. "He was on the floor. No one else was there."

Holden had not been reported in poor health. But last year there were reports he was going to West Germany to consult with Dr. Hans Nieper, a cancer expert. Nieper had said at the time he did not think Holden was seriously ill.

The actor was a close friend of President Reagan, a relationship that began when both were officers in the Screen Actors Guild. Reagan, a movie actor for many years, went on to become president of SAG.

Holden and his wife were best man and matron of honor at the 1952 wedding of Reagan and his wife Nancy, now the first lady.

Reagan's deputy press secretary, Larry Speakes, said he spoke with the president in the Oval Office shortly after word of Holden's death. Speakes quoted Reagan as saying he was "shocked, of course, grief ... what do you say about a long-time friend? A great sense of personal loss, a fine man. Our friendship never waned."

One of Holden's most recent film roles was that of a movie director in Blake Edwards' black comedy about Hollywood, "S.O.B.," released earlier this year.

Holden got his big break in films as the musically inclined boxer in "Golden Boy," in 1939, then rose to become one of the most popular movie actors of his time.

His academy award came in 1953, and he got other nominations for his performances as the hack screen writer in "Sunset Boulevard" in 1950 and for "Network." His "Network" co-star, Peter Finch, was awarded the Oscar posthumously.

In recent years, Holden traveled on cultural and anthropological missions to Africa and New Guinea with his close friend, Stephanie Powers, a star of the ABC television series "Hart to Hart." They brought back many artifacts from New Guinea and were engaged in helping that country develop its art.

Holden was also interested in the ecology of Africa and was a frequent visitor to that continent, where for several years he had interest in the Mt. Kenya Safari Club and Hotel.

One of his most recent films was "The Earthling," filmed in the South Pacific. He had also narrated a documentary on the ecology of the oceans.

Holden is survived by two sons, Peter and Scott, and a daughter, Virginia, as well as his former wife, Ardis ("Brenda") Holden, with whom he remained close until his death. Holden never remarried.

He made his television debut as the policeman who didn't want to retire in Joseph Wambaugh's "The Blue Knight." The four-hour movie was seen on NBC in 1973, but Holden declined to do the spin-off television series, which starred George Kennedy and had only a short run.

Bisset has an interlude with a fellow passenger that gives new meaning to the words Fly United. At another point she grants an interview to a reporter from Rolling Stone. If he is a sample of that publication's stable of writers, they must be besieged daily by perspective subjects for its pages.

Most disconcerting is to hear Jacqueline Bisset's British accent go undisguised while Bergen affects a sometimes sappy Southern drawl. It seems to be another attempt by Hollywood to stereotype Southerners in a negative way. A small matter, however, in view of their masterful performance about the complexities of how to remain lifelong best friends.

"Rich and Famous" is one of the few movies of the season starring women. But don't think it is not an adventure film. It is; if you like chasing through the minds and hearts of two free spirits bound together by the unexplainable.

Lunch Theater On Wednesday

The Best Lunch Theater Ever at the Greenville Museum of Art will present a reading of "Mabel," a new one-act play by Sheila Turnage and Christine Rusch. The reading will take place at noon, Wednesday, Nov. 18.

On Wednesday, Dec. 2 at noon, there will be a full production of "A La Carte" by Christine Rusch, directed by Gregory Smith of the East Carolina University Drama Department.

The previously scheduled performance of a play by David Downing has been postponed until the spring season of the GMA Lunch Theater.

Luboff Choir Concert Set

The Norman Luboff Choir will be in concert at 8 p.m. Thursday, November 19 in Hendrix Theater, Mendenhall Student Center, East Carolina University.

The Luboff Choir, which has appeared in performances on several previous occasions at ECU, features programs with music ranging from Bach chorales to Beatle tunes. The Luboff Choir has issued more than 50 LPs, has had numerous appearances on television, and for the past decade has successfully toured the nation in concert appearances.

Tickets are priced at $5 and are available at the Central Ticket Office or can be purchased at the door just prior to the 8 p.m. curtain time.

Here Thursday

Down-home country performer Jerry Clower will be appearing Thursday, Nov. 19 at 1 p.m. at the Farmers Warehouse in Greenville.

Clower is from Amite County, Mississippi and his collection of stories springs from his background. He is a comedian and entertainer in the old southern style.

Re-releasing 'House Of Wax'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Warner Bros., hoping to flag down a few more dollars from its old 3-D hit "House of Wax," will re-release the horror film in Baltimore and San Antonio this month.

The studio plans to release the 1950s thriller, which starred Vincent Price, in other parts of the country in time for Thanksgiving.

In addition to Price, the film features Frank Lovejoy, Phyllis Kirk and a newcomer at the time named Charles Buchinsky, now known as Charles Bronson.

Retirement Not Pearl's Idea

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — As she approaches the age when most people retire, singer Pearl Bailey says she doesn't like the idea of forced retirement at all. "Only God has the stopwatch," she said.

Miss Bailey, 63, said in an interview that "senior citizen" is the "most disgusting" term she knows.

The former special adviser to the United Nations spoke to an audience at the Sinai Temple on Sunday, and the Michigan City Human Rights commission and Mayor Clifford Arnold presented her with a plaque recognizing her humanitarian work.

Japanese Told Of N.C. Sites

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt is carrying his crusade for industrial expansion to the Orient, telling the Japanese government and industry officials in Tokyo that North Carolina is the best location in the United States for foreign investment.

Hunt said Monday that North Carolina has the lowest construction costs in the nation. He also pointed to the state's new $24-million microelectronics center, encouraging research and manufacturing in computer technology, and the recently announced establishment of a biotechnology center.

He said North Carolina has no laws against foreign investment and "few barriers to improvements in productivity."

"Those are some of the reasons why, in 1980, more foreign-owned firms announced industrial plants in North Carolina than in any other state in the United States," Hunt said.

Hunt made the remarks at the sixth annual meeting of the Southeast United States-Japan Association at the Imperial Hotel.

Hunt said that a $37-million Ajinomoto plant, manufacturing amino acids, will be dedicated in Raleigh next April. He said there are about 20 Japanese companies doing business in North Carolina.

The governor also met with officials of Japan Tobacco and Salt Association to encourage the continued purchase of North Carolina flue-cured tobacco. Japan Tobacco and Salt is the single largest foreign buyer of North Carolina leaf.

Hunt and the delegation of state officials and business executives traveling with him arrived in Japan on Sunday. Later in the week, Hunt is to visit Nagoya and Osaka before traveling to South Korea and Taiwan to meet industrial prospects and trade officials. The governor is scheduled to return Nov. 25.

Man Charged In Kidnappings

SEABOARD, N.C. (AP) — A Milwaukee, Wis. man is charged with two counts of kidnapping and one count of burglary after a Seaboard woman and her daughter allegedly were abducted early Monday.

Junious Lee Flythe, 18, of Milwaukee was charged with two counts of kidnapping and one count of burglary. He was being held in the Northhampton County Jail without bond, said Otis Wheeler, chief detective for Northhampton County Sheriff's Department.

Wheeler said Flythe is charged with breaking into the home of Sarah Epps through a back bedroom window and taking her and her young daughter hostage around 4 a.m.

Wheeler said Flythe beat Mrs. Epps and then drove her and her daughter to the home of Flythe's mother in Margarettsville. Officers made the arrest there about 5:30 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. Epps was treated at Halifax Memorial Hospital and released.

Park Projects Done By FFA

WINSTON-SALEM — More than 260 U.S. community parks were cleaned, developed, expanded or renovated this year by members of the Future Farmers of America.

Park development was one of the leading areas of community improvement FFA members selected as part of the FFA's Building Our American Communities (BOAC) program.

BOAC, sponsored by R.J. Reynolds Industries, Inc., is designed to develop leadership skills in young people while improving the quality of life in small and rural communities. More than 1,500 BOAC projects were conducted by FFA members in 50 states during 1981.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip — THE CHOCOLATE ECLAIR IS A DELICATE DESSERT.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: J equals U

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, NOV. 18, 1981

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This could be an adverse day unless you follow the promptings of your best judgment and avoid trouble. Take no chances with a risky venture at this time. Be more discreet.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You and family members can join efforts in home improvements by replacing the old with the new. Take the initiative.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use extreme care in motion today and avoid possible accident. Consult a financial expert for the advice you need.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A good friend comes to your rescue today at a time of real need. Plan to have more security in the future.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Look on the bright side of situations and make your life happier. A higher-up can be of great help to you now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study your situation in an objective manner and improve it instead of fretting about it. A new contact can be helpful now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Your friends are not helpful today but this is because of pressures they have. Strive for increased happiness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A higher-up could vent ire on you if you don't steer clear of this person today. Ally yourself with a good associate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have new ideas that need expression but settling a matter with a co-worker takes precedence right now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure to keep promises you have made. Take time to engage in favorite hobby. Your hunches are accurate now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take a more positive stand where an important matter is concerned. Sidestep a troublemaker. Use common sense.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have much work to do and should get someone to help you with it for best results. Take needed health treatments.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you stay within your budget, you can have the amusement you crave at this time. Follow the advice of an expert.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will know whom to go to in time of stress but teach not to exaggerate troubles. Ideal chart for the field of manufacturing, selling in particular. Give good ethical upbringing and teach the power of honesty in all things. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

TO HOLD WORKSHOP

Education: Good And Bad

With teachers striking, schools closing and education budgets shrinking, many Americans may see nothing much to celebrate during this American Education Week. Despite these difficulties, some statistics show that American public schools are good and getting better. Today seventy-five percent of American children can be expected to graduate from high school — up from 60 percent just 30 years ago. Of those, nearly half will go on to college. Our literacy rate ranks with the world's highest — at 99.5 percent. In spite of the controversy America's commitment to education remains strong. We spend more than $80 million a year to educate our 54 million primary and secondary school students.

DO YOU KNOW — In what city is the nation's oldest public school located?

MONDAY'S ANSWER — Lane Kirkland is the president of the AFL-CIO.

"A little learning is a dangerous thing," Alexander Pope advised the world. South, declarer at four hearts on today's hand, proved just how right Pope was. It did not take long for North-South to reach a reasonable heart game. Once North raised hearts, South's hand revalued to some 20 points, so the jump to game was a formality.

West led the jack of spades, and most declarers would find that the hand posed no problem. They would force an entry to dummy in the club suit to take the trump finesse. When that succeeded and the suit broke evenly, the contract would be guaranteed, regardless of what transpired in the other suits.

However, declarer's combined trump holding permits a standard safety play to maximize the chances of holding the losers in the trump suit to one trick. It is

Plan Program

An awareness program featuring discussions and experiences of handicapped persons, entitled "Social Awareness of a Handicap," will be held beginning at 10:30 a.m., Wednesday, November 18, at Agnes Fullilove Community School.

Presenters are May Brantly and Donna Willis, both graduate students at East Carolina University. Anyone interested in further details of the program are to call Ms. Brantly or Ms. Willis at 752-6707 or 758-8687.

to cash the ace of trumps and, if the king does not fall, to enter dummy and then lead a trump toward the queen. Since declarer was a well-read fellow, this was the line he chose. After cashing the ace of hearts, he led a club from hand. West grabbed the ace and shifted to a low diamond. Declarer guessed wrong, playing the jack from the table. He ended up losing three tricks in the minor suits in addition to a trump.

Safety plays are a sensible precaution—if you can afford to lose a trick! Declarer had his priorities mixed up: before he could try the safety play, he needed to know whether he could afford to lose a trick in trumps. Best technique is for South to tackle diamonds at trick two. If he takes the right position in diamonds, or if West hops with the ace, declarer can afford a trump loser and should avail himself of the safety play since that would greatly increase his chances of making the contract.

If, however, declarer loses two diamond tricks in addition to the ace of clubs, he cannot afford to lose a trick in trumps. The only way to bring home the trump suit without loss is to hope that East holds a doubleton king, which can be picked up with a finesse.

Two Wrecks Investigated

An estimated $2,200 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated by Greenville police Monday.

Cars driven by Terry Lou Cobb of Winterville and Janet Dorothy Evanski of Pineview Trailer Park collided about 8:57 a.m. on 10th Street, 175 feet west of the Anderson Street intersection.

Damage from the collision was estimated at $450 to the Cobb car and $900 to the Evanski vehicle.

Cars driven by Barbara Evans Wilkins of 413 Nash St. and Lisa Kim Floyd of 105G Cedar Court collided about 4:20 p.m. on Seventh Street, 50 feet east of the Cotanche Street intersection, causing an estimated $250 damage to the Wilkins car and $600 damage to the Floyd auto.

No Arrests In Beating

FRANKLIN, N.C. (AP) — No arrests have been made in the case of a state Highway Patrol trooper who was beaten with his own blackjack after stopping a suspicious vehicle.

Sgt. G.M. Dowdle said the car believed to have been occupied by the assailants had not been found, despite roadblocks that were set up shortly after the attack. Officers say ambushers may have left the car and were hiding to attack the trooper.

Meanwhile, Trooper Bruce Harwood was released Sunday from Angel Community Hospital but did not return to work Monday. He suffered a mild concussion in the ambush.

The attack took place about 9 p.m. Saturday on Buck Creek Road about 10 miles east of Franklin, Dowdle said. He said Harwood had approached a car that night after passing the vehicle minutes earlier on the curving road.

The car, described as a late-model maroon Chevrolet Monte Carlo, had been weaving as it traveled along the road, Dowdle said.

Harwood turned his patrol vehicle and headed back to stop the vehicle, Dowdle said. When he came around a curve, the vehicle was stopped in the road, and the driver was inside sitting behind the wheel.

Harwood got out of his patrol car and approached the car. As he approached the driver, he was grabbed from behind, Dowdle said.

Harwood turned to struggle, but was struck on the head and knocked unconscious, Dowdle continued.

Investigators say the weapon may have been Harwood's blackjack, which he felt pulled from his pocket during the scuffle.

Dowdle said the trooper was struck five or six times in the head. When Harwood regained consciousness, he was lying in the roadway and the suspicious car had vanished.

Important News For Smokers:

New Merit Research Released!

New survey results prove MERIT delivers in key areas of taste, ease of switch, and long-term satisfaction.

---

Rigorous new MERIT research proves it.

MERIT smokers confirm taste a major factor in completing a successful switch from higher tar cigarettes.

MERIT Switch Clicks.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers are glad they switched from higher tar cigarettes. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

2 Of 3 Smokers Prefer MERIT.

In the second part of this study, new tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared with higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.
