Fear Children Buried In Wintry Storms

By ANDY O'CONNELL
Associated Press Writer

Rescuers dug with bulldozers and shovels today searching for three children feared trapped under a mudslide formed by one of the worst storms of the century in the San Francisco area, while new snowstorms bore down on the West.

At least 14 people died in weather-related accidents Monday.

Two feet of snow during the night on top of 8 feet already on the ground closed all major roads across the Sierra Nevada and the U.S. Forest Service triggered more than 100 intentional snowslides in hopes of reducing the danger of accidental avalanches.

The Midwest was digging out from under 16 inches of snow that brought Milwaukee to a standstill in that city's worst snowstorm since 1947. Communities in the South were touting up losses from thunderstorms, floods and tornadoes.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. was expected to declare a state of emergency today in Marin County near San Francisco where 12 inches of rain in 24 hours washed fancy homes off hillsides and left millions of dollars in damage.

In Pacifica, south of San Francisco, rescuers had little hope of finding three children alive. They were trapped when a hillside collapsed and buried their home under tons of mud shortly before midnight Monday.

"I don't see how they could have survived," said Pacifica Fire Chief Cal Hinton.

Others were searching for possible victims of another mudslide in San Rafael that pushed a home from its foundation.

Winter storm warnings were posted today in the mountains of central and northern California, all of Utah, southwestern Wyoming and the Colorado Rockies.

The snow closed schools in two northern Arizona cities today and many highways were snowpacked and icy, including about 100 miles of Interstate on both sides of Flagstaff. Schools were closed in Flagstaff and Williams.

Across the country Monday, winds were fierce.

Winds reached 90 mph at the top of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. building in Cleveland, 85 mph on a mountain ridge at Park City ski resort west of Salt Lake City and 60 mph in parts of Illinois and Wisconsin.

"This miserable wind's been blowing since Sunday morning," Caribou County Commissioner Robert Anderson said Monday night after snow blown by 45 mph gusts closed roads in central and southern Idaho.

Thousands of people were forced from their homes and officials closed schools and highways as record rain pelted northern California, causing damage expected to run into the millions of dollars in counties around San Francisco.

A six-car Amtrak passenger train derailed in heavy rain at San Pablo, Calif., north of Oakland, injuring 13 people, none seriously. Rescuers had to use rowboats and helicopters to reach the train, since roads in the area were under up to five feet of water, police said.

A seven-car Southern Pacific freight train left the track about 200 miles to the north at Alderpoint, causing no reported injuries. Authorities said that accident was probably also caused by the rain.

An avalanche at the Squaw Valley, Calif. ski resort buried two men for nearly two hours before they were rescued. The two were buried "under about 3 feet of snow standing upright," a deputy said.

Three tornadoes touched down Monday in North Carolina and another hit Canton, Ga., destroying an airplane hangar.

At least eight tornadoes touched down in central and northern Alabama and rivers were running above flood level Monday in parts of Georgia, South Carolina and Kentucky.

Creationism A 'Violation'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - A federal judge today struck down Arkansas' creationism law, ruling that it violates the constitutional separation of church and state.

U.S. District Judge William Overton declared that the purpose of the legislation was to advance religion in violation of the First Amendment prohibition against laws that advance or inhibit religion.

The law, which was to take effect next fall, required public schools that teach the theory of evolution to give balanced treatment to the theory known as creation science.

Overton's 40-page decision said that even though the law says the legislative purpose is not to advance religion, the only inference that can be drawn from the circumstances under which the law was drafted and passed is that the purpose is religious.

"It was simply and purely an effort to introduce the biblical version of creation into the public school curricula," Overton said.

Two Incumbents Seek Re-Election To Pitt Bd.

BURNEY TUCKER

KELLY BARNHILL

Incumbent county commissioners Burney Tucker and Kelly Barnhill filed for re-election to the board today, while Alton Gardner, who will be 77 in February, announced that he will not seek re-election.

Gardner said he would not seek re-election, "due to age, I reckon. I know I'll miss it but I would be 82 at the end of another term."

Gardner has served on the Board of County Commissioners for 27 years, and has another year to go before his current term on the board ends.

"I'm going to miss it, I know. But I've decided to get out before I get pushed out. I've done my best to serve the people of the county, and I'd like to thank them for supporting me through the years."

Gardner, who has farming and business interests, served on the Pitt County Board of Education for seven years before becoming a county commissioner. In addition to serving on various boards and commissions in connection with his commissioner post over the years, Gardner served for 28 1/2 years on the Production Credit Association board of directors and on the Board of Directors of the Pitt County Drainage District since its formation in 1936.

Gardner represents Ayden, Grifton, and Swift Creek Townships.

Tucker, who represents Winterville, Chicod and Grimesland Townships, was appointed to the board in 1972 to fill the unexpired term of the late Vernon Cox, and won election to the seat in 1974 and 1978, for a total of 10 years as a commissioner.

A Winterville High School graduate, Tucker worked for the Pitt County School garage from 1938 to 1942 when he enlisted in the U.S. Navy. After his discharge from the Navy in 1945 as a chief petty officer, Tucker worked on the tobacco market, then from 1947 to 1950 served as a veteran's instructor with the Pitt County school system, then as a deputy tax collector with the county until 1955.

He left the school system in 1955 to enter the fertilizer business, where he remained until his retirement last year.

Tucker was a member of the Winterville board of aldermen before his enlistment in the Navy, and served as mayor of Winterville.

ALTON GARDNER

from 1949 until 1962. As mayor, Tucker reorganized the Winterville volunteer fire department, bought the first town fire truck, helped organize and purchase the first rural fire truck to serve the area surrounding the town, and the majority of streets were paved on a citizen "pay as you pave plan," during his tenure in office.

In addition to serving on various boards - Social Services, Industrial Commission, Airport Authority, and the Shephard Memorial Library - as part of his duties as a commissioner, Tucker served as chairman of the Selective Service Board for 12 years, and was a member of the Winterville Volunteer Fire Department for 22 years.

He is a member of Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church, where he is a member of the Official Board and the Board of Trustees, as well as a member of the Winterville Ruritan and Kiwanis Clubs, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Mohican Tribe of Red Men.

He is married to the former Mabel McGlohon, and they have three children and four grandchildren.

Barnhill, a 1958 graduate of J. H. Rose High School, attended East Carolina University and received his degree in civil engineering in 1963 from N.C. State University.

He was appointed to the Board of Commissioners in December 1980 to fill the unexpired term of Ed Warren, who resigned after being elected a member of the N.C.

SEVEN MORE NEEDED

We would like to have a Pitt Community College upholstery class in Farmville, but only three persons were present for the registration Tuesday night. Seven more are needed or the class must be canceled. F.B.

Anyone wishing to take upholstery currently being offered in Farmville should call Pitt Community College immediately and attend the Thursday night session at the Pitt Community College branch on East Wilson Street in Farmville.

TAX LISTING CERTIFICATION NEEDED?

I have heard talk of a new law that maybe all the people in the area are not aware. I understand that before a person can purchase his North Carolina license tags, he has to either have his personal tax listed for the year or all personal tax must be paid. I am not sure which is true, if either. I think if this information were explained as quickly as possible, it would be helpful to a lot of people. I.S.

According to information from the N.C. Department of Motor Vehicles, having begun Jan. 1, 1982, all applications for vehicle registration and vehicle registration renewal must contain a statement certifying that no property tax is owed on the vehicle being registered, that the registrant was the legal owner on Jan. 1 of the year of the title registration by naming the county in which the vehicle is registered for property taxes, and also the month and the year that this vehicle is listed for tax purposes.

As in years past, the owner also must certify that he has liability insurance coverage on the vehicle by listing the name of the insurance company and the policy number.

Listing of current odometer readings at the time of registration is also required.

Cooper To Seek Sheriff's Post

Farmville Police Chief Ron Cooper filed Monday as a candidate for sheriff of Pitt County.

Cooper, accompanied by his wife, Ginny, was at the Board of Elections office when the filing opened at noon Monday. He is seeking the office now held by Ralph Tyson. Tyson has not yet filed for re-election, but is expected to seek to succeed himself.

Cooper leads a department of 15 sworn officers and four full-time civilian employees in Farmville. The town commissioners have given approval for him to continue as chief while running for sheriff. "I promise the citizens of Farmville that campaigning will not interfere with my duties as chief," the candidate said.

Cooper has been police chief in Farmville for five years and has been in law enforcement work for 16 years. He was a member of the Durham police department for seven years, two of which he served as sergeant in charge of the narcotics and vice squad. He was chief of police in Whiteville for three years. He has completed numerous law enforcement education programs and is certified by the state to teach law enforcement and firearms courses.

A native of Knoxville, Tenn., he is the son of a Baptist minister and has a twin brother who is a minister. He and his wife, Ginny, have five sons.

"I think Pitt County has a very good sheriff department," he said, "and with good management, I think it could, with the same men and equipment, afford the people of Pitt County even higher-caliber service. I'd like to have the opportunity to make that possible."

Allen Loses Adviser Job

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) -

President Reagan, opting for a national security adviser with more authority than he gave deposed Richard V. Allen, is turning to a long-time confidante with little experience in foreign affairs.

The president carried out the first major personnel shakeup of his administration Monday by naming Deputy Secretary of State William P. Clark Jr. to replace Allen, whose resignation was "mutually agreed upon."

At the same time, Reagan said Clark, 50, would be given daily access to the Oval Office, something Allen lacked.

Allen had reported to Reagan through presidential counselor Edwin Meese III, who coordinates domestic and foreign policy.

Clark, a former California Supreme Court justice, was Reagan's chief of staff when Reagan was governor of California and is one of the most senior members of the president's inner circle. He planned to begin work today in the same White House basement office Allen used.

The president, in accepting Allen's resignation, said no evidence of wrongdoing had been found in Justice Department and White House probes of the former national security adviser's conduct.

"It's rather unusual that someone who had been the subject of a lot of rumors and allegations over a long period of time could go through a rigorous and meticulous examination and be substantiated in every detail and still find himself in a situation where his resignation would be submitted and accepted," Allen said.

Later, in an appearance on ABC's "Nightline," Allen said he had asked Reagan to reinstate him Monday afternoon.

"It seemed that that was not possible, precisely because of the accumulation of what I considered to be political circumstances, psychological circumstances," he said. "Having been cleared, the best thing was to take whatever burden might have been caused by my inadvertence or oversight away from the president."

Allen was placed on administrative leave with pay Nov. 29 pending the outcome of the investigations into his acceptance of $1,000 from Japanese journalists and three watches from Japanese friends and errors in his government financial disclosure forms.

Moments after Allen left the White House, Clark met with reporters.

Housing Authority Will Levy Late Rent Charge

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer.

Housing Authority commissioners Monday night adopted an amendment to the agency's leasing policy that will allow for the levying of a late charge on delinquent tenant rent accounts.

The amendment will provide for a late charge of $15 to be assessed on rents not paid by the fifth of the month. The late charge will be applied on the sixth working day.

Ken Noland, director of operations, said that until now the authority has not been able to assess a late charge and many tenants are waiting until the middle of the month to pay rents that are due on the first.

Commissioners also approved two amendments to the authority's admission policy that will give the director of tenant affairs, Sallye Streeter, flexibility in assigning tenants of the same sex to housing units.

Under the modified policy, Mrs. Streeter will be able to assign a parent and child of the same sex over 6 years of age to a two-bedroom unit and also assign, if she sees fit, two adults of the same sex to a two-bedroom apartment. Under the old policy, she would have been required to assign one-bedroom units in both cases.

Joe Laney, executive director, reported that Section Eight activity is progressing with 94 of the 100 units allocated under the existing housing program under lease. Of the 100 units authorized under the moderate rehabilitation program, 69 are under lease and 28 more are being worked on.

All 60 units in the University Towers mid-rise for the elderly were rented as of the first of the month, Laney said.

Temporary vacancies occurred in five of the 702 units operated by the authority during December, according to Mrs. Streeter, who said the vacancies were due to the transfer of families to more appropriate housing facilities.

Average rents in the six housing sections included:

NC 22-1 (Meadowbrook), $83.15; NC 22-2 (Kearney Park), $97.66; NC 22-3 (Moyewood), $102.22; NC 22-4 (Moyewood), $100.90; NC 22-5 (Hopkins Park), $74.28; and NC 22-6 (Newtown), $82.49, for an overall average of $91.84.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

I like to think of snoring as a masculine trait, yet in my heart I know there are possibly two or three women out there who inhale loud enough in their sleep to make cattle restless within a 50-mile radius.

A doctor in Los Angeles has not only come up with a cure for women's snoring, he has established a breakthrough on how to get women to admit they snore. The cure: a mink collar studded with rhinestones.

For a mink collar studded with rhinestones, I'd admit to being a cat burglar in my sleep.

The theory behind the mink collar is that it forces closure of the mouth, preventing mouth breathing which ultimately causes snoring.

What a shame men can't dress up for snoring. For some of us it's like climbing into a bed every night on the San Andreas fault, knowing that within minutes there will be a rumble, the bed will shake and the Richter scale will go crazy.

Changing beds was suggested for men who snored. The only time that worked for me was when he slept in a bed in Orlando and I slept in a bed in Dayton.

Rolling them over on their sides was suggested. This gives substance to the theory that as long as you're awake, you might as well move something.

A pillow stretched tightly over the face has merit — as soon as they work out a few bugs.

Personally, I like the proverbial knee on the throat while you shake them senseless and tell them to wake up and hear themselves snore.

"Do I snore?" I asked my husband the other night.

"I don't think so. Why?" he asked.

"Well, just because you can't hear me doesn't mean I don't. And if I thought I was robbing you of a minute's sleep, I couldn't sleep a wink."

"What are you driving at?" "Marj bought herself a Persian lamb collar yesterday to sleep in to keep her from snoring."

"You're kidding. That makes no sense at all." "Our dog has a collar and you've never heard him snore."

"So try a flea collar." "All I know is it worked for Marj," I insisted.

I didn't have the heart to tell him the reason it worked is that she didn't sleep a wink all night for fear someone would steal the collar.

Dear Abby

Girlfriend Isn't Family Member

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I'm a married woman (early 20s) and this problem concerns my best friend. (I'll call her Lila.) We are like sisters. Lila has been going with the same fellow (I'll call him George) for three years and they are practically engaged. George's grandmother was sick in the hospital, so Lila went to see her and they wouldn't let her in because "family members only" were allowed to visit. It has caused a terrible rift between George and his family. George sides with Lila and so do I.

Abby, don't you think they should have considered this girl "family"? George's family say that as long as they are not married, she is not family. George's grandmother died a week later, and he is still on the outs with them.

LILA'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Since George's grandmother was seriously ill, it is understandable that only family members were allowed to visit. Lila should have checked before going to the hospital.

DEAR ABBY: "Confused in Indiana" wrote to say she was "shocked" to learn that a friend went dancing the night she burned her husband. You agreed, saying you thought it was "inappropriate" for mourners to dance so soon after burying a loved one.

Who do you think you are to pass judgment in the first place? That woman has the right to mourn her husband any way she wants to!

After my father was buried, we went to my cousin's house where my father had spent many nappy hours. He particularly loved the clubroom. Right after the funeral I went down there and found the jukebox playing and all the relatives dancing and enjoying refreshments. On the chair where my father had always sat was a baseball cap made of flowers. (Dad loved baseball.) That was the only floral arrangement that was not left at the cemetery. It was as though my father was there watching everybody do what he loved to do in life.

After all, Abby, haven't you ever heard of an Irish wake? My family is not Irish, but not everyone sits "shivah."

MERRY IN MARYLAND

DEAR MERRY: I've had many surprises in my mail, but one of the biggest was the number of readers who wrote to disagree with me. You're right — everyone has the right to deal with his grief in his own way, but somehow, dancing the day of the funeral seemed inappropriate to me. And it still does.

DEAR ABBY: A very close friend of mine, who is a successful management consultant, has the worst case of halitosis I have ever encountered! Being a professional myself, I am worried that my friend's problem may cost him professionally and socially. He's single as well.

I have polled my friends, and no one has come up with a suitable solution. He is such a lovely person and he must be told. But how? And by whom?

Chef's Specials Are Promoted

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chef's specials are being promoted by more and more restaurants, from chains like Lums to fashionable Maxwell's Plum in New York City.

Thousands of restaurants of all classes are offering chef's specials — some as many as a dozen each evening — to attract and hold customers in an increasingly competitive market, says an article in Nation's Restaurant News.

Restaurant consultant Howard Gevertz told the trade publication that specials are, among other things, a restaurateur's way of telling his customers "that you are doing food in real ways, that you care about what's going on in the kitchen."

Gabino Sotelino, owner of Chicago's Ambria restaurant, says the trend contributes to quality. "If you do the same dishes every day, the quality of your cooking invariably suffers. Creativity is very important."

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: Get in touch with the adoption agency that placed the child with you. In some (but not in all) states, it will cooperate. Also write to ALMA, P.O. This organization does an excellent job of "matching" adoptees with their natural parents when all parties concerned are eager to be reunited.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NAMELESS IN ATLANTA: If you're convinced you are hopelessly impotent, you are.

DEAR FRIEND: He must be made aware of his problem by someone who cares a great deal about him. I nominate you! If you can't find the words to tell him that he needs to see a dentist and/or a physician about his offensive breath, send him this column. It would be an act of kindness. Trust me.

A proposal to put on duty a special night-cleaning crew in the city schools for a four-month period was discussed at the information meeting of the Greenville City Schools Board of Education and will be on the agenda for the action meeting next Monday.

The proposal, presented Monday night by Director of Buildings and Grounds Bob Stewart, calls for a three-man crew to work beginning after school hours until midnight. The crew, which would include one employee already on the maintenance payroll and two new temporary employees to be hired, would concentrate on long-range cleanup of areas requiring extensive attention not possible by the regular daytime crew. This would be a one-time, non-continuing project with an estimated cost of about $5,000 for the four-month time schedule.

A motion to have an architect or engineer study the status of possible additional wall construction at the Greenville Middle School was approved. The motion followed discussions on the recent installation of partial walls as well as various alternatives available for further internal renovations at the school. The study envisaged is a first step to provide the school board with some approximation of ultimate projected costs as well as some indication of the impact wall construction would have on ventilation.

Superintendent Delma Blinson told board members that architect George Shoe has been providing free assistance, but that it would not be fair to expect him to continue.

School board chairman Jon Tingelstad, saying he was neither for nor against the concepts of open or closed classrooms, said "we need to look at the whole spectrum of what is involved. Do we want to maintain to some degree an open classroom situation or do we want to move totally to closed classroom teaching?"

In a report on the effects of the first step of renovation recently completed at Middle School, principal John Carstarphen said "there is a 100 percent improvement already in the lessening of noise. The teachers are supportive of the wall work done and any that will be done in the future. Any lessening of noise is of immense educational value to us."

Mike Joyner, representing the certified public accountant firm of John C. Proctor Co., gave a rundown of the recently completed audit of Greenville City School funds. Joyner reported that, in general, the audit shows excellent accountability, with some minor improvements needed basically in accounting of minor funds. School board members will study the audit and be prepared to take approval action at next week's meeting. He praised the finance officer (Mrs. Naomi Edwards) for her investment practices.

Mrs. Kay Whitehurst, director of secondary education, Brian Sweeney of the Rose High vocational education staff and Cling Walton of Agnes Fullilove School jointly presented an overview of a computerized student information program initiated this year. The program, CAREERS (Computer Assistance Review of Education, Employment Relevancy System), is designed to have readily available standard information on students, along with information on post high school plans, career goals, and alternate career goals. In this first year of the CAREERS project, Sweeney and Walton have interviewed a sizeable percentage of students and have put the information on a computer disc.

Mrs. Whitehurst said, "We visualize in the near future having this demographic information available on all students from the seventh grade on. It is an excellent program, and a needed time-saving device for all our staff."

Vanguard Group Inc. of Valley Forge, Pa., was approved by the board as a firm authorized to offer a tax-sheltered retirement plan to Greenville City Schools employees.

Auto Production In U.S. At Low Level

DETROIT (AP) — Car production in the United States fell about 1.5 percent in 1981, to the lowest level in 20 years, as a prolonged sales slump forced sharp production cutbacks late in the year, according to company reports.

The major domestic automakers, excluding Volkswagen of America, said Monday they built 6,083,170 cars for the year, down from 6,175,203 in 1980. VW said it would report year-end production figures today.

The final industrywide total, even with VW figures included, was expected to be the lowest for any calendar year since 1961, when 5,516,317 were built.

Domestic car output fell 25.2 percent in December, to 339,551 cars from the 453,937 built in December 1980.

General Motors Corp. trimmed production 4 percent in 1981 to 3,903,967 cars from 4,064,556 the previous year, while Ford Motor Co. production rose 1 percent to 1,320,197 in 1981 from 1,306,949 a year earlier.

Chrysler Corp. built 749,687 cars in 1981, up 17.3 percent from 638,973 the year before, but auto production by American Motors Corp. fell 33.6 percent to 109,319 cars for the year, against 164,725 in 1980.

For December, GM made 246,820 cars, compared with 302,179 in December 1980, a decline of 18.3 percent; Ford production of 50,544 cars was down 54.7 percent from 111,626; Chrysler made 37,153 cars, up 16.4 percent from 31,906; and AMC made 5,034 cars, down 38.8 percent from 8,226.

Breathing Club Meet Planned

The American Lung Association of North Carolina, Eastern Region, is sponsoring a continuing program for the public, the Better Breathing Club.

This club will meet Thursday at 2 p.m. and every Thursday of the month at 2 p.m. at the Willis Building, corner of First and Reade streets. People with any form of breathing problems are invited to attend, as are members of their families. This month's program titled "Put Yourself in Control" will be presented by Shelton Dixon, respiratory therapist at Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Information provided those attending include facts on the respiratory system, common medication, using mechanical devices, conditioning exercises, diet, travel tips and ways to cope psychologically with a chronic health problem.

For more detail, interested persons may call the American Lung Association, 752-5093, any weekday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. This ongoing program is funded by Christmas Seal contributions.

PCB Landfill Bid Date Moved

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The bid-opening date for a contract to construct a controversial PCB landfill in Warren County has been moved to Jan. 21, state officials said Monday.

Burley B. Mitchell Jr., secretary of the state Department of Crime Control and Public Safety, said the change was due to delays caused by the holiday season. The advertisement for the hazardous-waste landfill specified Jan. 7 for opening bids.

Greenville's solar fraction calculated by the department of physics of East Carolina University was zero Monday, which means that a solar water heater could have provided zero percent of your hot water.

A Practical Idea?

When Chief Justice Warren Burger proposed prisons to be turned into "factories", a host of thoughts were evoked — mostly good ones.

The prospect of real productivity from ranks of hardened criminals (there's no room for any other kind in our institutions these days) seems sound; and the thought that inmates would be learning a valuable trade and good work habits were laudable; as was the implication that somehow or other the proceeds would take a big financial load off the backs of taxpayers, was good to hear.

And then, the second thoughts: What could a prison produce of value that would not compete with products of privately owned factories?

Good management for a prison factory would have to come from trained personnel; but where would they come from?

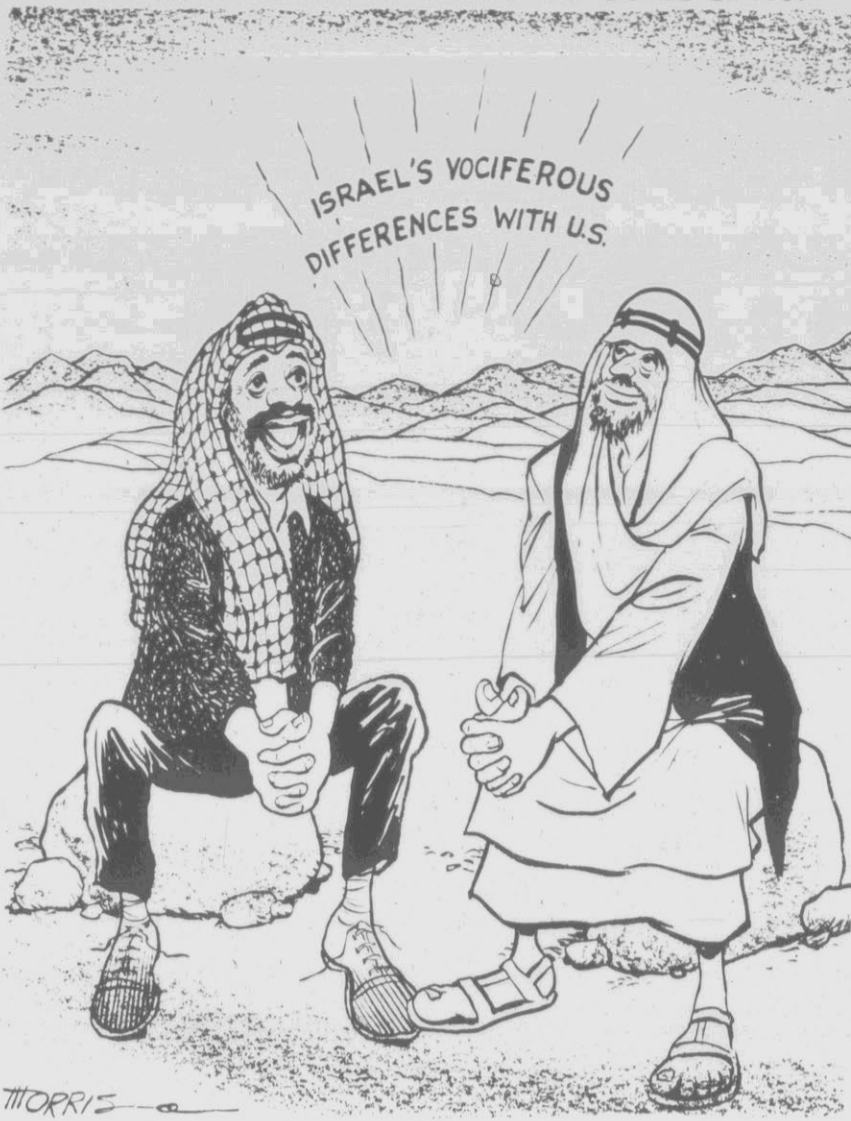

Out of the ranks of rejects? And, who would train the unskilled laborers? Inmates who themselves were unable to hack it in the outside world? The skilled who might be attracted by higher wages from private agency to an institute? (There go the profits.)

Then we remembered that in another day convicts were re-manded to "the workhouse"; which in effect was a corresponding institution.

For reasons too numerous and involved, the "workhouse" system was removed from the scene.

As remarked earlier, Justice Burger has a nice thought; but practical?

STRANGE WHAT IS MUSIC TO SOME EARS!

By JAMES KILPATRICK

Callister On The ERA

WASHINGTON — On Dec. 23, Judge Marion J. Callister, chief judge of the U.S. District Court of Idaho, delivered an opinion that probably puts an end to the pending Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution. His reasoning is so cogent, and his scholarship so impressive, that it is hard to imagine that appellate courts will reverse his decision.

I have read the whole of his opinion, which is more than can be said for the militant feminists who popped off with predictable denunciations at the announcement of Judge Callister's order in the case. Several leading spokeswomen for the ERA charged that the judge had acted as he did because of his religion. The judge is a Mormon. Such charges are contemptible, but considering the source, the charges are fully in character.

By way of background: On March 22, 1972, Congress proposed a constitutional amendment that would become valid when ratified by three-fourths of the states "within seven years from the date of states (Nebraska, Tennessee, Kentucky and South Dakota) rescinded their resolutions of ratification. In October of 1978, by a majority vote in both House and Senate, Congress extended the period for ratification until June 30, 1982.

Four members of the Idaho legislature brought suit. The state had ratified the ERA in March 1972, but had rescinded in February 1977. The plaintiffs contended (1) that Idaho's subsequent rescission effectively nullified the earlier approval, (2) that once the original seven-year period ran out, all proceedings were concluded, and (3) that if Congress had any power to extend the period, the same two-thirds majority would be required in each house that was required for the original resolution in 1972.

JAMES J. KILPATRICK

its submission by the Congress." The amendment would provide that equality of rights under the law could not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex.

The legislatures of 35 states subsequently ratified the amendment, but the seven-year period originally fixed by Congress expired before the requisite three-fourths could be obtained. Meanwhile, Idaho and four other

The court's opinion begins with a prolonged analysis of certain threshold questions: Did the four Idaho legislators have standing to sue? Was the issue ripe for decision? Were the questions essentially "political," or were they fairly subject to judicial review?

In disposing of these objections, Judge Callister relied upon both case law and constitutional history. He concluded that the Idaho legislators were properly before the court. The ratify-

It Is Time To List Taxes

If a reminder is needed, it is time to note that the listing of real and personal property taxes began in Pitt County Monday.

All such property, by law, must be listed for tax purposes. Property owners will go to 15 listing places, although about a third now list by

There is a penalty for listing late and the lines get long at the listing places as the month goes on.

It is to no one's advantage to put it off.

Our Disadvantaged

By BILL NOBLITT
RALEIGH — Though the goal is to provide equal treatment for all citizens in a democratic society, the reality is that those who can demand equality come closer to getting it than do those who don't even understand the concept.

Justice in North Carolina's Criminal Court system falls in that category. The individual who knows his rights, demands fair treatment, gets a good lawyer, and fights gets a better deal.

Currently, among nearly 16,000 prisoners in North Carolina's correction system are some 500 officially classified as mentally retarded.

Those individuals are at a distinct disadvantage when dealing with the circumstances of their arrests, trials, convictions, and of their treatment in prison.

A study committee of the General Assembly has looked at this situation and recommends that both court officials and prison officials need special training in dealing with the retarded.

with law enforcement people and court officials, is fully aware of the likely result of making damaging statements.

For the retarded, such is not the case. In almost 60 percent of the cases studied in a national review, the mentally retarded voluntarily entered guilty pleas. In 40 percent of the cases in which the person did not plead guilty, the retarded individual waived his right to a trial by jury, depending instead upon the judge to find guilt or innocence.

BILL NOBLITT

Plea bargaining for reduction of charges or sentence is a standard procedure in the courts, yet in 80 percent of the cases involving retarded people, the charges were never reduced and the sentences were straightforward. When investigations were held to present mitigating circumstances, of which retardation is one, the information typically came too late to help the court in reaching its decision.

A clear demonstration that the retarded did not fully grasp what was happening is contained in statistics showing that two thirds of them volunteered confessions and incriminating statements.

No Appeal

Having missed out on apparent equal justice in the early procedures of arrest and trial, the pattern of inequality continued. No appeal was entered in 88 percent of the cases. Appeal is almost routine in criminal cases where conviction and sentencing occurs outside of plea bargaining. Further, no post-conviction relief such as probation or work release was asked for by the retarded in 84 percent of the cases.

The legislative study group feels that general ignorance of the special needs of the retarded and the absence of a routine method for de-

Other Editors Say Why Cheese?

(The Raleigh Times)

The recent flurry of media attention to stupendous government stores of surplus cheese highlighted the outrageous flaws in the government's dairy program.

That program meets its immediate goal of keeping U.S. dairy farmers in business by buying enough of their products to prop up prices.

But it props them up higher than they should be. And it fails miserably, almost obscenely, by wasting the chance to let this mammoth store of superior food do human good.

The 560 million pounds of cheese in U.S. storage could make five and a half billion cheese sandwiches — 25 percent American, or one and some extra bites for every living human, or enough to have given every one of the world's 17 million small children who died before age 5 in 1980 a sandwich a day for nearly a year — if bread could also have been found.

Cheese isn't merely food, it's superbe nutrition. Every calcium and Vitamin-A packed ounce has over 100 calories of energy and 8 grams of protein. Dried milk is another nutritional goldmine. Butter offers fat that's essential but unavailable to many people. U.S.-stored surpluses of these are all staggering.

While they grow, Americans — some of whom launched a "free the cheese" campaign — go on paying absurd dairy prices, including Raleigh's $2.35 a gallon for milk. And in poor nations, pregnant mothers who can't get milk go on delivering defective babies who can't either, and even babies born healthy waste away for lack of enough milk.

President Reagan's initial response to the "free the cheese" movement was to order 30 million pounds of the oldest cheddar released for needy Americans.

But that's not enough. For us to buy, store and waste costly food when many of us still are hungry and many foreigners starve every day is not only absurd economics and bad policy, it's morally wrong.

If we can't bring ourselves to share the dairy surplus out of simple humanity, at the very least we can try as hard to buy peace with cheese and milk and butter as we do with police equipment at home and arms abroad.

Strength For Today

OTHER PLANETS

Astronomers tell us that there are a multitude of bodies in the sky which may have some form of life upon them. They may have a lower type of life than ours or, perhaps, a higher. Diversity seems to please the Creator rather than uniformity, so the chances of widely diversified forms of life may be more probable than the opposite.

It is instructive to remember the pride when man assured himself that everything and the sun revolved around the earth. The scientists of his day forced Galileo to his knees and made him recant his heresy (now an accepted truth, of course), that the earth revolves around the sun. Isn't it just as foolish for us to think that of the millions of planets in the universe, ours is the only planet nourishing intelligent life?

And this consideration should remind us again that our Creator can be infinitely powerful as regards the universe, yet infinitely loving to each one of us. — Elisha Douglass

Protecting The Alliance

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — In the first round of his uphill battle to keep the Western alliance from splitting over U.S. sanctions against the Soviet Union, President Reagan, will deliver this warning to Chancellor Helmut Schmidt on Jan 5: The west cannot permit Moscow to use Poland to split the alliance.

The warning would seem to be self-evident. What makes it imperative is the widening gap between West Germany and the U.S. over Reagan's stern response to Soviet complicity in the Polish tragedy. With strong backing from the Italians and, only slightly less so, from France and Great Britain, the U.S. faces a West Germany whose insistence on the durability of detente is the antithesis of Ronald Reagan's hardening policy toward the Soviets.

Thus, in his Oval Office tete-a-tete with Schmidt, Reagan intends not to threaten or bluster. He will imply caution in his quiet way that West German-Soviet business-as-usual will infuriate Congress and could in the end give Moscow the prize it has always sought: the breakup of the Western alliance.

The president's cards are in low digits. The sanctions he is using against Moscow will not involve much self-sacrifice in the U.S., mainly because the U.S. has very little industrial trade with the Soviet Union. That gravely weakens his case for the moral issue: that the Western democracies and Japan cannot sit by and fiddle while Poland burns under Soviet orders to destroy the Polish workers' movement.

The moral issue all but disappeared with Reagan's own decision early last year to end the Soviet grain embargo, imposed as punishment for the invasion of Afghanistan. That was a domestic political decision, pure and simple, to salvage American farmers. It opens the way for Schmidt to say no to U.S.-style sanctions on similar grounds, arguing that German producers exert no less political clout on his government than farmers do on Reagan's.

More ambiguous is Reagan's failure to have eliminated the "gray area" style of military crackdown on Poland's peaceful democratic revolution. The Western alliance had reached commendable agreement on what to do, but only if Soviet troops crossed the border to liquidate Solidarity.

U.S. planners had long suspected that Moscow would order Solidarity to be crushed by Polish forces acting as proxies. But the U.S. never could get West Germany to agree on a common alliance reaction to such "internal" repression, leaving the "gray area" of ambiguity.

Moscow has brilliantly exploited that "gray area," but so has Schmidt and the anti-American left wing of his Social Democratic Party (SPD). The "gray area" has become a crutch for the avoidance of anti-Soviet and anti-Polish actions in Bonn.

In his Dec. 30 statement explaining the continued inaction by Schmidt's government, Kurt Becker, the official spokesman, emphasized the "varying evaluations of the events" in Poland. Translated, that means West Germany does not accept Reagan's finding of Soviet "complicity" in the Polish crackdown.

Likewise, Becker stated as Schmidt's "principle" that "Poland must solve its problems alone without outside intervention" — ignoring official U.S. disclosure that the martial law decrees were published surreptitiously in Moscow months ago and carried out with top Soviet generals secretly calling the shots in Warsaw.

Reagan will not confront Schmidt with such fundamental disagreements. Nor will he express the indignation of his top aides over Schmidt's claim (contained in Becker's statement) that the Dec. 30 visit to Bonn by Polish Deputy Prime Minister Mieczyslaw Rakowski was "a clear reaction to Bonn's political influence on the situation."

To the Reagan administration, that sentiment is on rough par with Schmidt's long-standing claim to be the west's valued bridge to Soviet president Leonid Brezhnev. Some officials here suspect that political pressures on Schmidt have forced him to proclaim West Germany as a mediator between the U.S. and the Soviet Union, when in fact it is the most powerful European member of the alliance.

It is not Reagan's plan to irritate such open sores in his discussion with Schmidt. Nor will the president pressure Schmidt to cancel the Yamal gas pipeline, even though the coalition government of Italy — one of the future beneficiaries of Soviet gas — has formally agreed to reconsider Italy's participation and the U.S. very much wants it canceled.

The crisis in the alliance transcends the Yamal pipeline, West German trade with the Eastern Bloc or who said what when. They are wasting flesh on the bones of the alliance but it is the bone itself that is in danger of disintegrating.

Congressmen Tour The World

By DAVID ESPO
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — From far-off France to farther-off Fiji, members of Congress are taking advantage of a long winter recess to broaden their horizons through travel.

They will study everything from European highway safety to the communist threat in Latin America to earthquake damage in Italy to life among the natives in the Pacific.

And they will do it at taxpayer expense.

They all say the trips are part of their official duties in Congress.

As a result, they will circle the globe, for the most part, in a fleet of Air Force planes maintained for VIP travel.

They will rely on State Department and embassy officials for travel assistance, including the sightseeing that always seems to find its way into the most hectic official schedule.

In some cases, they will bring their wives and staff aides with them.

No official records will be available for months on the precise numbers of trips planned, the members of Congress making them, or the cost. But an Associated Press check turned up 51 members of the House and Senate traveling out of the country in December and January.

The largest delegation, 12 House members, was scheduled to arrive in Brussels, Belgium today to begin two days of discussions on trade issues. Then it's on to the Hague, capital of The Netherlands, for a meeting with members of the European Parliament.

In contrast, Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is traveling only with aides on a tour of the Mideast.

Percy left Washington on Dec. 17 for planned stops in Israel, Egypt, Jordan, Sudan and Saudi Arabia. His trip combined sightseeing with talks with several national leaders, including Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, before a scheduled return to the United States on Jan. 20.

The longest trip includes an island-hopping excursion through the South Pacific, with stops in Yap; Majuro; Ebeye and elsewhere in U.S. Trust Territories. There will be time on the way out and the way back in Hawaii as well as visits to Guam and Samoa. "It will be a different island every night," said one aide, indicating the trip would be hard work. He estimated the delegation would log nearly 60 hours flying time.

Actually, there are two delegations making the South Pacific trip.

One, led by Rep. John Seiberling, D-Ohio, also will visit Fiji, a former British colony now in the British Commonwealth. Aides said the purpose of that trip is to compare life on a non-American territory with life under U.S. rule.

The second group, led by Democrat Antonio Won Pat, Guam's non-voting delegate in Congress, won't go to Fiji, but will visit Port Moresby, the capital of independent Papua New Guinea.

The highest-ranking member of the Congress traveling out of the country is Senate Republican leader Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee. Baker, accompanied by his wife, aides and Sens. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., and Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., left Jan. 2 for a 12-day trip through Panama, Peru, Argentina, Chile and Mexico. An aide left behind in Washington said Baker was undertaking the trip at President Reagan's request "to promote good will and understanding" with countries of South and Central America.

Also traveling in a warm-weather region is a six-person delegation of the House Armed Services Committee, which left Monday for a 13-day trip through Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Peru and Mexico.

Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., the committee chairman, said the purpose of the tour is "to obtain additional insight regarding a range of issues confronting the committee and the Congress."

"These issues include an assessment of the strategic situation in Central America, particularly in El Salvador," Price said in a news release explaining the journey. The group had no plans to visit El Salvador.

Opting for Europe instead of South America are three delegations totaling 16 House members.

The biggest, headed by Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., arranged to fly to Italy today to see how $50 million in American earthquake reconstruction aid was spent as well as to look at the Italian aerospace industry.

Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., intends to split off from the group and visit Polish refugees in Austria, an aide said.

Two groups from the House Public Works Committee also are traveling.

Rep. James Howard, D-N.J., will lead a five-member delegation to England, France and Ireland. A committee announcement said the group will meet with officials in those countries to discuss urban transportation, highway safety, international aviation, water pollution control, water supply, deepwater port operation and hydroelectric power.

Two other members of the committee, Reps. Elliott H. Levitas, D-Ga., and Bud Schuster, R-Pa., left Saturday for Helsinki.

$1,793,039 In September Building Permits Issued

Building permits valued at $1,793,039 were issued in Greenville during September, according to a monthly report of building activity released by state Labor Commissioner John Brooks.

For the first nine months of 1981 building permits with a total value of $16,745,705 were issued here, Brooks said.

The September total for Greenville compared with $1,205,371 recorded in August.

In Pitt County, construction authorized during September amounted to $1,882,399, including $315,000 for 10 single-family units, $1,168,712 for eight non-residential units, and $398,687 for 60 additions and alterations. Brooks said building activity in the state's largest cities

Greenville Girl Wins Scholarship

RALEIGH — Dawn Marie Morgan has been awarded a special merit scholarship for the 1982-83 school year at Peace College.

Ms. Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Morgan of 304 Hastings Court, Greenville, is a senior at Rose High School. She has been active in softball, Keywanettes, marching band, the Senior Club, Spanish Club and powder puff football. She is leader of the marching band flag corps and was a nominee to Girl's State.

Special merit scholarships are awarded to students who have maintained above average grades in high school and who possess characteristics of leadership ability and make outstanding contributions to their communities.

dropped significantly in September from a year ago but construction units authorized during the first three quarters of 1981 are still running slightly ahead of the same period last year.

He said three of the four categories covered monthly by the Labor Department's Research and Statistics Division topped 1980 totals for the first three quarters. Permits for single-family homes gained four percent, from 4,859 to 5,051; multi-family units increased 14.3 percent, from 4,684 to 5,354; and non-residential building rose 4.3 percent, from 2,783 to 2,904 units. Only permits for additions and alterations posted a decline (4.9 percent) from 18,220 to 17,324.

In September alone, total construction dropped 19.5 percent, Brooks said, as all four categories were down over the year. Estimated value, at $105,989,459, increased 3.4 percent, from $102,536,177.

Building values for September and for the first nine months of the year in several neighboring cities included: Elizabeth City, $302,700, $2,970,075; Goldsboro, $364,971, $7,168,470;

Jacksonville, $2,949,499, $14,185,461; Kinston, $155,174, $7,586,572;

New Bern, $1,096,268, $7,967,431; Roanoke Rapids, $9,085,130, $12,424,084; Rocky Mount, $3,622,572, $15,309,233; Tarboro, $104,700, $3,437,400; and Wilson, $598,377, $10,174,468.

For the seventh time this year, Charlotte led the 44 reporting cities in the value of construction authorized with $25,342,713, Brooks said, followed by Raleigh with $12,536,428; Hickory with $11,336,335, Roanoke Rapids with $9,085,130, Winston-Salem with $6,726,917, and Greensboro, $6,320,797.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — After more than two years of fighting Afghan rebels, Soviet forces have only secured Kabul, the capital, and are nearly doubling their strength to 150,000 men by spring, a report from Afghanistan says.

The report, from a source who has been accurate in the past, quoted an Afghan military source. He said outside Kabul, the Soviets are constantly exposed to guerrilla ambushes, and the Kremlin has ordered 20,000 more troops into the country in recent weeks.

The report supported other Western diplomatic accounts that the Soviets are bogged down in attempts to crush resistance to the Afghan Communist government.

termining the degree of retardation as part of the early criminal justice procedure is largely responsible.

The statistical results are that a retarded person is more likely to be convicted, more likely to serve a longer sentence with no relief such as parole, probation or work release, and is more likely to become a repeat offender.

This is worsened by two additional problems: the retarded lack funds to employ attorneys and are most often assigned the less experienced defenders; and, the court isn't structured to provide special treatment for the retarded — a precondition to achieving equality of treatment.

ing process, under the Constitution, requires a balancing of congressional and state actions. In the end, the object is to obtain a reasonably contemporaneous expression of the will of the people in not less than three-fourths of the states. Congress is not required to fix any particular period for ratification, but if Congress chooses to fix such a period — in this instance, seven years — that time period "becomes an integral part of the proposed mode of ratification."

"Once the proposal has been formulated and sent to the states, the time period could not be changed any more than the entity designated to ratify could be changed from the state legislature to a convention or vice versa. Once the proposal is made, Congress is not at liberty to change it."

As for the validity of a resolution of rescission: "Until the technical three-fourths has been reached, a rescission of a prior ratification is clearly a proper exercise of a state's power ... especially when that act would give a truer picture of local sentiment regarding the proposed amendment."

At no point in his opinion did Judge Callister have a word to say about the merits of the ERA as such. The opinion is directed entirely to questions of constitutional law. It would be useful to have his conclusions appealed and affirmed by the Supreme Court itself, for the questions surely will arise again. But barring reversal, they will not rise any time soon for the ERA.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market fell into a broad and steep decline in active trading today amid new fears about higher interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 9.04 to 873.48 after two hours of trading, erasing its 7.52-point gain Monday. Its transportation and utility measures also fell.

Losers led gainers by better than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange, with nearly 900 issues off on the day, and the NYSE's composite index skidded 0.79 to 70.41.

Big Board volume totaled 22.21 million shares at noon EST, compared with 15.51 million at that hour Monday.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off 1.91 to 319.50.

Interest-rate concerns were raised anew by an unexpected surge in the nation's basic money supply reported Monday, and a leading economist's predictions today that some rates will again near their record-high levels of last year.

Polish Govm't May Expel Many Dissidents

By The Associated Press
 Martial law chief Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski indicated he might expel Solidarity leaders from Poland and said he would "have no objection" if Western countries took them in, diplomatic sources said today.

Jaruzelski, meeting with 10 Common Market ambassadors Monday in Warsaw, did not say whether Solidarity leader Lech Walesa might be among those expelled, according to diplomatic sources in Brussels, Belgium. The sources refused to be identified.

Walesa has been under house arrest since martial law was imposed Dec. 13 and the independent labor federation has been suspended.

The French newspaper Le Matin quoted a Polish Catholic priest, identified only as a Solidarity supporter and a friend of Walesa, as saying Walesa's quarters are changed every two or three days for fear he may try to escape. The paper quoted Walesa's wife as saying he was in good health but eats little because he fears being drugged.

Le Matin also said the military regime has talked Walesa's conditions for releases, which include having jailed Solidarity members and Archbishop Jozef Glemp, Poland's primate, attend the talks. None of the reports could be independently confirmed. The sources in Brussels said Jaruzelski told the Common Market envoys he was gradually releasing some internees who had signed "guarantees they would no longer take part in subversive activities."

The Polish government has acknowledged that 5,500 Poles have been detained under martial law, but Western sources say the number could be as high as 50,000.

Jaruzelski met for two hours with the ambassadors as Common Market foreign ministers convened in an emergency session in Brussels to consider the Polish crisis.

Radio Warsaw said Jaruzelski drew the ambassadors' "attention to the importance of the economic and trade exchanges between East and West for the consolidation of European peace."

Meanwhile, Yugoslavia's government newspaper Borba reported from Warsaw that Poland's leaders were purging Communist Party ranks, and that many party members were turning in their party cards in protest over the military takeover and out of conviction that the party had lost the faith of Poles.

In another development,

Radio Warsaw said that Maciej Szczepanski, the ex-Polish radio and TV chief arrested Oct. 14 on embezzlement charges, went on trial in Warsaw today. It said four other former broadcasting executives were being tried with Szczepanski, including his deputy, Eugeniusz Patyk.

In Brussels, the Common Market foreign ministers agreed Monday not to undermine U.S. sanctions against Poland and the Soviet Union, but postponed proposals to join in by cutting off food and financial aid.

LARGEST TAX CHECK - Carolina Telephone's 1981 Greenville tax payment amounted to $110,140.27, according to Dick Flye (L), district commercial and marketing manager, who said the check makes the company the largest taxpayer in the city.

Flye, in presenting the check to Floyd Little, city tax collector, said the company's total tax bill within Pitt County, including all city taxes, is $330,115.25. Carolina Telephone's total operating tax bill for 1981, including all state and federal taxes, is expected to amount to nearly $56.9 million, he reported. The total figure, Flye said, does not include almost $5 million in 2 percent federal excise tax payments which were billed to telephone users by CT&T. The excise taxes are remitted to the federal government upon collection. (Reflector Staff Photo)

House of Representatives. Representing Greenville Township, Barnhill said, "one of my major concerns is to promote economic development for Pitt County, which will provide more jobs for citizens of the county."

He also expressed interest in "continued growth and improvement of the educational process" in the county. President of Hendrix-Barnhill Co., Barnhill is a member of the board of directors of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, past president of the N.C. Irrigation Society and the Carolinas Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association, and past chairman of the Allis-Chalmers National Dealer Council.

Members of the Transport Workers Union agreed last year to $200 million in wage concessions to help Pan Am. The sacrifice was not made "to dish out benefits to one class of employee," Mel Brackett, president of the union's Local 504, said Monday.

But Pan Am spokesman James Arey said the union was objecting to "an insurance company offering" which raised the limit on a non-contributory medical plan, "not a salary benefit." He is married and has three children.

Growers Want Lettuce-Freeze Ired By Rumors Of Pay Increase

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) - Lettuce growers in the Imperial Valley are hoping for a killing freeze to rid them of some of their crop - those plants carrying "squash leaf curl" disease.

The disease, which turns the lettuce yellow and is caused by insects, has reduced the lettuce acreage to 28,988, its lowest level in the valley in 27 years, and pushed up the price of the crop to the highest level since a 1979 farm workers strike.

Prices at El Centro supermarkets ranged from 49 cents to 99 cents a head but lettuce was selling for about $1 a head in New York City last weekend and for up to $2 in Hawaii.

Charged With Deer-Shooting

A Route 1, Grimesland, man has been charged by area Wildlife Protector Kay Dunn in connection with the Dec. 30 shooting of an antlerless deer on the Bear Grass highway in Pitt County.

Dunn said that Stephen Allen Keller, 22, was charged with taking antlerless deer during closed season and also with hunting deer with a firearm while on a public road or right-of-way in Pitt County.

The wildlife official said another young man and a juvenile were also being investigated in connection with the case.

According to Dunn, the doe had been picked up as a fawn and bottle fed by a rural family but had been allowed to run free. The yearling deer had an orange collar around its neck, he added. Dunn said the deer was not on the property of the family which fed it when the shooting took place. He pointed out that the deer was taken to a veterinarian after the shooting but died the following day.

Arrest Couple For Burglary

A Route 2, Greenville, couple has been arrested by Pitt County deputies and charged with second degree burglary in the Jan. 2 break-in at a rural residence.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Gregory Lee Williams, 19, and his wife, Connie Lorraine Williams, 18, were charged with the incident at the home of Alma Haddock, Route 2, Box 427, Greenville.

Tyson said property items valued at $747, including a television set, clock radio, pocketbook, coffee maker, an unknown amount of money and various items of clothing, were reported missing from the home following the incident. Some of the missing items have been recovered, he said.

Entrance to the dwelling was gained through the front door, according to the sheriff. Bond was set at $10,000 each, he said.

Hot-Shooting ECU Tops Baptist, 70-56

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
CHARLESTON, S. C. —
East Carolina's Pirates shot a blazing 63.2 percent from the floor and played outstanding defense as they raised their record to 4-5 with a 70-56 thumping over Baptist College at Charleston last night.

the game away, and included 18 of 31 free throws during the same period to hold off the hungry Buccaneers, who dropped to 4-4 with the loss.
"Baptist is a much better coached club than they have been," ECU coach Dave Odom said afterwards, "and they have much better talent."
The Pirate defense was a key factor in the game, and helped ECU control the contest. Only three times in the game, once late in the first half, then midway through the second and again a few minutes later, did Baptist manage to put together more than two points at a time. The first time, the Buccaneers managed four points, the second time, three, and the last, six, when they put on their final rush at the Pirates.

But ECU, leading 51-46 after that last spree, outscored the Baptists 19-10 the rest of the way to put the game away, leading by as much as 16 in the final stages.

"Tonight was much like I expected it to be," Odom said. "It's hard to blow out a team that handles the ball as well as they do." He noted that he would have rather played a little faster tempo than the one ECU allowed Baptist to dictate.

inept play. Their not getting many points in a row shows that we were in control all the way."
The coach said he never felt that the outcome was in doubt because the Pirates did maintain control of the game. "We played with enough confidence to be secure with the win," he said. "We prepared for this game as hard as we do for any game. Over the years, we've had trouble with teams like Baptist."
"But we did what we had to do. I guess workmanlike is the best description of our play. We had good commitment. It was a fine win."

could not score more than two in a stretch again the rest of the half, and two shots by Bill McNair, one a backhand tip as he moved opposite the ball, and a stuff by Morris Hargrove moved ECU out to a 27-19 lead with 1:27 left, and the Pirates held a 28-21 halftime lead.

Early in the second half, the Pirates put together a string of five, three by Hargrove, to run the lead out to nine, 34-25. After another Baptist basket, McNair and Byles both hit to up the lead to 11, 38-27.

66-64 decision over George Mason and currently share first place in the league standings with James Madison.
East Carolina then travels to Harrisonburg, Va., on Saturday, to face the Dukes in what the Pirates hope will be a battle for first place.

Rose Faces Gryphons; Area Teams In Action

A Staff Report
The pre-holiday and post-holiday basketball tournaments have been won or lost and when the area high schools return to the hardwood this week most will be either beginning or continuing conference play.
One of the biggest games of the week comes Tuesday night when Greenville Rose travels to Rocky Mount to face the highly-regarded Gryphons. Rose, fresh from winning the Pitt County Holiday Tournament, is 5-3 overall and 0-1 in the Big East.

Ayden-Grifton, still without top scorer and rebounder Thomas Anderson, plays host to Southern Nash. The Chargers are 4-6 overall and 1-1 in the ECC. Southern Nash is 5-6 and 0-1.
In a nonconference matchup, D.H. Conley travels to Farmville Central trying to end a five-game losing streak. The Vikings are 5-5 while the Jaguars are 3-7.
Farmville defeated Conley in the consolation game of the Pitt County Holiday Tournament during the Christmas week to end a six-game losing streak and to give the Jaguars a split with the Vikings. Conley defeated Farmville, 60-50, on Dec. 4.
In the Northeastern Conference, undefeated Roanoke travels to Williamston. The Redskins are 8-0 overall and 5-0 in the conference. Williamston is 0-7 and 0-6.
In action in the Tobacco Belt Conference, Bear Host (1-5 overall and 1-4 in the league) plays host to Belhaven while Jamesville (3-5 and 2-4) plays host to Cape Hatteras.

Carolina, Virginia Are One-Two; Collide In Key Matchup Saturday

By The Associated Press
Preseason favorite North Carolina is the near-unanimous choice today as the No.1 team in The Associated Press college basketball poll following a week in which nine of the nation's Top 20 teams lost at least one game.
This week's poll, in which Virginia replaced previously unbeaten Wichita State as the country's No. 2 team, sets up a matchup of the nation's two top-ranked teams Saturday when North Carolina hosts the Cavaliers in a nationally televised game.

It will mark the second time this season that teams ranked 1-2 in the country have met. Earlier this season, North Carolina retained the nation's bragging rights by downing No.2 Kentucky 82-69.
North Carolina, which raised its record to 9-0 with a victory over William and Mary last night, collected 56 of 58 first-place votes and 1,158 points — two shy of perfection. The Tar Heels also posted a thrilling 56-50 overtime decision over Penn State and downed Santa Clara 63-50 in winning the Cable Car Classic last week.

Virginia, 11-0 following a pair of victories over James Madison and one over Richmond, was tabbed No.1 on the final two first-place ballots. The Cavaliers received 1,095 points from the poll's nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.
Kentucky, now 8-1 following a 34-28 overtime victory over Notre Dame in a slowdown game and a harrowing 68-66 decision over Georgia last

Midway through the remaining time, Baptist managed its first series of points, getting two baskets from Reggie Walker to cut the ECU lead back to 17-16 with 4:05 left. But the Buccaneers McNair's basket came on a stuff on which he went high above the basket to slam the ball through.

Baptist's Eddie Talley, its leading scorer, finally got his first points of the game with 12:37 left, and 30 seconds later, he scored on a three-point play for the Buccaneers' second series of more than two. That cut the lead back to 41-34. But two free throws by Byles and a driving layup by Charles Green returned the lead to 11 once more.

Byles again led the Pirates with 15 points, while Hargrove and McNair each pushed in 13. Talley led Baptist with 17, while McKither Bodison hit 10.
East Carolina led the rebounding, 29-24, with Gibson pacing ECU with five. Talley had five to lead Baptist.
The game ended the current road trip by the Pirates. They will make a brief stop at home Wednesday night against William & Mary, a 64-40 loser last night to the University of North Carolina, the nation's top-ranked team. The Indians bring a 6-2 record into the contest, and will be playing their first ECAC-South game.
For East Carolina, it will be the second conference game. Earlier, the Pirates took a

Tar Heels Rip William & Mary

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Because college basketball does not implement a shot clock, William & Mary was saved from major embarrassment against top-ranked North Carolina — it lost only by 24 points.
Freshman Michael Jordan and sophomore Sam Perkins scored 13 points each to lead the Tar Heels to a 64-40 whipping of the outmanned Indians, their ninth victory of the season. Junior forward James Worthy added 12 in a game which coach Dean Smith felt might have been worse.

"That's the great thing about college basketball," Smith said. "If we played NBA rules it would not have been a contest. But, with college rules they can make it a game."
Under professional rules, William & Mary could not have used the zone defense it implemented as a means to counter Perkins and Worthy. But, in trying to shut down the baseline, the Indians allowed Jordan to fire away from the perimeter.
Jordan scored 11 points in the first half as the Tar Heels built a 35-20 halftime lead.

Worthy and Perkins shared the first eight points of the second half as the North Carolina lead grew to the final victory margin.
North Carolina built a 38-23 advantage on the boards and Smith credited Perkins with most of the work.
"His play on the defensive backboard was just outstanding," Smith added.
William & Mary, now 6-2, aided its own demise by shooting 29 percent in the first half and 31 percent for the game. But Indian coach Bruce Parkhill said the performance was deceiving.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Despite shooting just 40 percent from the floor, Richmond's Spiders have snapped a three-game basketball losing streak with a 58-45 victory over South Carolina's Gamecocks, who went scoreless for a 10:17 span in the second half.
"South Carolina, which fell to 3-7 and now has lost five games it's played on the road, wasn't much more accurate than the Spiders, hitting only 25 of 46 shots for 45.6 percent.
"The shooting was very bad. The first nine games, we shot 55 percent, which was indicative of our preseason," said Tarrant.

"All of a sudden, we're shooting 37 percent. And there were a lot of bad turnovers by both teams. Every time we did something goofy, they'd come back and throw it out of bounds."

NCS Nips Southern Miss

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Derek Whittenburg sank the front end of a bonus situation with two seconds left to lead 20th-ranked North Carolina State to a 46-45 non-conference victory over Southern Mississippi in college basketball Monday night.

"We stole one," said Whittenburg, who finished with a team-high 13 points and converted a key second-half three-point play which put N.C. State ahead by six points after trailing most of the game.

The Wolfpack, nursing a 45-43 advantage with just over 6 minutes left, used a delay offense and held the ball until Sidney Lowe drove to the basket with 32 seconds left. That shot was ejected by the Golden Eagles' Joe Dawson, who finished with 12 points.

Southern Mississippi's Curtis Green canned a 15-foot jumper with 24 seconds left to tie the count at 45 but then fouled Whittenburg who applied the clincher.

Willie Robinson, a 6-6 senior, connected a short jumper with 10:14 remaining as Southern Mississippi moved out to a 16-10 lead which it held throughout the half. The cold shooting Wolfpack connected

NOW YOU CAN MAKE A TAX-DEDUCTIBLE CONTRIBUTION TO YOURSELF.

The new tax law makes it possible for you to deposit up to $2,000 a year in a Wachovia Individual Retirement Account and deduct it from your taxable income... even if you are presently covered by a company retirement program.

You can deposit the money in large or small amounts, as often as you choose, whenever you choose. Your interest is based on money market rates and it accumulates tax-free until you start making withdrawals. When you begin withdrawing from your account, each withdrawal will be taxed as ordinary income. Of course, the law requires penalties on withdrawals before you reach age 59½.

What it all adds up to is an opportunity for any employed individual to put something aside for the future, and reduce his or her income taxes at the same time.

Here's how much a Wachovia IRA can reduce your 1982 taxes.

If your 1982 taxable income is approximately:	Your tax brackets probably are:		If you put $2000 into a Wachovia IRA, you can probably reduce your 1982 income taxes by:	If your working spouse also contributes $2000, together you can probably reduce 1982 taxes by:
	Federal	North Carolina
$20,000	22%	7%	$580 REDUCTION	$1,160 REDUCTION
$29,000	29%	7%	$720 REDUCTION	$1,440 REDUCTION
$39,000	39%	7%	$920 REDUCTION	$1,840 REDUCTION
$64,000	49%	7%	$1,120 REDUCTION	$2,240 REDUCTION

The above examples are based on the most recent IRS and N.C. tax information available assuming a married couple filing a joint return who do not itemize deductions. While deposits to an IRA are tax-deductible in the year they are made, these funds are taxed as ordinary income when they are withdrawn from the account. Substantial tax penalties required for withdrawals prior to age 59½. Federal regulations also require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of a time deposit.

You can start earning tax-deferred interest right now. Deposits to your Wachovia Individual Retirement Account start earning interest from the day you open your account. Yet you pay no taxes on that interest — or your deposits — until you begin your withdrawals. And if, like most people, you begin withdrawals when you retire, you will probably be in a lower tax bracket.

Why not see a Personal Banker this week about opening a Wachovia I.R.A.? And start enjoying your tax break now.

TV Film Has An Aura Of 'Hill Street Blues'

By TOM JORY
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There is a gritty, "Hill Street Blues" feel to "The Ambush Murders" — a sensation triggered, perhaps, by the often humorless joshing that goes on during roll call in the police squadroom.

For both the acclaimed NBC series and CBS' made-for-TV movie — to be broadcast Tuesday evening, 9-11 EST — begin in that setting, a locale that seems always to suggest trouble ahead.

The relationship between the two TV shows ends there, however, and "The Ambush Murders," based on a real-life story, quickly becomes a gripping lesson in abuse of the law and justice.

"Just give me a conviction," the district attorney tells an associate in a golf-course conversation that sets the tone for the movie. "The people of Lindero are demanding it."

"You mean your reelection is demanding it," the prosecutor says. "It wouldn't hurt your career either," the DA replies.

"The Ambush Murders" is the story of Ray Ellsworth, a black activist accused of killing two cops in an ambush the evening of April 12, 1971. It begins — after the scene is set — with Ellsworth, played by Dorian Harewood, facing a third trial. His wife, Kariha (Alfre Woodward), finds a young, white lawyer, Paul Marshall (James Brolin) willing to take the case, but Ellsworth isn't sure he's ready to accept "plain white bread." Marshall assures Ellsworth that he's prepared to commit himself to the accused killer's defense. "We were both in the Marines," he says, searching for some common ground.

"Well, he's self-righteous, angry, hostile and arrogant," Marshall tells his wife that evening, describing his reluctant client, "but he seems like a nice guy."

Almost at once, the bearded lawyer begins to uncover the weaknesses in the government's case against Ellsworth — lies, half-truths, pressured jailhouse statements.

"It was nothing personal," one of the key witnesses against Ellsworth says, "I mean, they kept showing me the picture of Ray. 'Was he there?' I said, 'Yeah.' I know they got all the wrong people because of me."

Motivation for the authorities' pursuit of Ellsworth is never really clear. The cop in charge of the investigation, played by Louis Giambalvo, may be nothing more than a bigot. But why the prosecuting attorney, Barnes (Robert Denison), persists with the flimsy case is a mystery.

Even after charges against other suspects have been dropped — and his boss has been re-elected — Barnes insists on another trial for Ellsworth.

"You're not their best shot," Marshall tells his client. "You're just the biggest fish."

In the end, the case hinges on the testimony of a black transsexual pressured by police to point the finger at Ellsworth, and a cop who admits he was determined to kill a black the night of the ambush.

"We've all been humiliated here," Marshall tells the jury in his closing argument. "It is our shame that when the case began, we didn't fold up our briefcases and go home."

"The Ambush Murders" — a compelling story well told — was adapted from a book by reporter Ben Bradlee Jr., based on the ambush-killing of two policemen in Riverside, Calif., in 1971, and the subsequent prosecution of Gary W. Lawton. When Lawton was acquitted just over four years later, after his third trial, the case was closed.

Bradlee covered the last of the trials for the Riverside Pree-Enterprise. In a newspaper interview after the book was published, the reporter said, "I think the police were sincere in moving on Lawton. But they tended to put on blinders to evidence that pointed them in another direction."

"I don't know who did it," the writer said. "I don't know any responsible person who does."

If you went up with the ace of spades at trick one and returned the jack, you are on the right track—but your defense is not good enough. Declarer wins the second spade in dummy and loses a club finesse. Your partner can cash one spade trick, but then the defense is through and declarer sails home with ten tricks.

You have overlooked the possibility that partner might have a tenace position in spades, and to run the suit you will have to unblock the jack while retaining your entry so that you can lead through declarer later. See what happens if you play the jack of spades at trick one! Now when declarer loses the club finesse, West can lead a spade to your ace. You return the suit, and the defense nets three spade tricks and a club for an excellent score.

What if South held four spades headed by the 10? It's unlikely, for partner shouldn't lead the two from four to the eight. But even so, the defenders can recover. After winning the king of clubs West must shift to a heart, and the defenders get all the tricks to which they are entitled.

Do you think that you defend as well as you play the cards? In that case, cover the West and South hands and decide how you would go about defending three no trump after your partner leads the two of spades. You are playing duplicate, so overtricks are important.

One thing you can tell from the auction and what you can see is that South ventured into no trump on a sketchy spade stopper, so he can't have much in his partner's suits. Your five low diamonds suggest that declarer has four tricks in that suit, and you can see a heart and a spade trick as well. Declarer must surely be able to develop either hearts or clubs for the three extra tricks he needs for his contract. The only major source of tricks for the defense is the spade suit, and you will have to unblock the jack of spades to free that suit for partner.

HEART ATTACK — Television producer Joe Hamilton, husband of comedienne Carol Burnett (both shown in this 1976 photo), suffered a "moderate" heart attack at his son's wedding last Thursday, a spokesman says. Miss Burnett's publicist says Hamilton was out of intensive care at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles "and the prognosis is good". (AP Laserphoto)

Book Awards Made By Critics Circle

NEW YORK (AP) — The latest chapter in the saga of Rabbit Angstrom, John Updike's "Rabbit is Rich," has won the National Book Critics Circle award for the most distinguished novel published in 1981.

The book was one of four category winners picked Monday by the 22-member board of directors of the National Book Critics Circle.

Updike's novel was called a "perceptive, funny, wrenching story" that brings readers up to date on the life of Rabbit Angstrom, first met 20 years ago in Updike's "Rabbit, Run."

Another winner Monday was Stephen Jay Gould's "The Mismeasure of Man," which took the prize for general nonfiction. A.R. Ammons won the poetry prize for "A Coast of Trees," and "The Virgil Thomson Reader" by American composer and music critic Virgil Thomson, won in the criticism category.

"The Mismeasure of Man" was cited as a "penetrating study that explores the history of the concept of intelligence and exposes the roots of its measurement in cultural and racial prejudice." Ammons' volume of poetry — his 16th — was described by the judges as an "uncommonly eloquent, lyrical meditation on American life today and a reaffirmation of the poetic tradition of Wordsworth and Whitman."

And Thomson's book was described as "a lifetime of musical achievement, knowledge and sharp felicitous critical writing ... presented in a rich volume that is music to both ears and mind."

The winners were selected by the board from a nominating list of five books in each category. The awards ceremony will be held at the New York Public Library on Jan. 28.

The National Book Critics Circle, founded in 1974, is an organization of 300 professional book critics and book-review editors across the country.

Roman Times
 This week it's out with the old and on with the new — including 1982 calendars. Modern calendars originated in Roman times. In Latin "calendae" means the first day of the month. The Romans named some months after gods, like Janus or Mars, but gave others numbers. September through December were the seventh through tenth months. July was named for Julius Caesar who reorganized the calendar and established a 365 1/4 day year. But by 1582 the Julian Calendar was running 10 days late. Pope Gregory XIII eliminated leap days in 3 of every 4 turn-of-the-century years. Without the change, we wouldn't be celebrating New Year's until January 14th, the date the Russian Orthodox Church still observes.

Appeals Court Filings Begin

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Contested races have shaped up for Democratic nominations to at least two seats on the state Court of Appeals.
 Candidates for legislative and congressional seats are unable to file yet. The General Assembly, facing more delays in reapportionment, has postponed the filing period until Feb. 15, and legislative leaders expect the period to be delayed again when the General Assembly holds a planned special session later this month or in February.
 Two other judges on the Court of Appeals, Hugh A. Wells and Charles L. Becton, filed as candidates for their own seats.
 Brock said three other seats on the Appeals Court are up for election this year. Those are the seats of incumbents Chief Judge Naomi E. Morris and judges Harry Martin and Willis Whitchard.
BREAK-IN
 Greenville police are investigating a break-in discovered about 1:08 a.m. today at Stereo Village at 317 Arlington Blvd.
 Chief Glenn Cannon said thieves broke out a window and took a cassette player-recorder valued at $250.
