Battling Near Beirut Airport

By The Associated Press

Israeli forces battled Palestinian guerrillas with tanks and artillery near Beirut airport today, moved more armor and other reinforcements up to the Green Line dividing the city and barred U.N. cease-fire observers from reaching the Lebanese capital.

A reported U.S. compromise plan to evacuate the PLO was rejected, meanwhile, by two top Moslem and leftist Lebanese leaders. PLO spokesman Bassam Abu Sharif reiterated that the guerrillas were ready to leave Beirut but not before an international peacekeeping force was in place.

A battle involving tanks, artillery and other weapons continued for several hours a few hundred yards north of the airport. The Tel Aviv command said one guerrilla was killed and one Israeli soldier slightly wounded. It said guerrillas sniped and fired bazooka shells intermittently at Israeli troops in the area of the airport and southeast Beirut.

The command said Israeli soldiers "are maintaining restraint in the face of repeated violations of the cease-fire by the terrorists," but the Israelis moved scores more tanks, armored personnel carriers and artillery to within 1.2 miles of the PLO nerve center in west Beirut's Fakhani neighborhood.

Correspondents saw dozens of M-60 and Merkava Israeli tanks and armored personnel carriers take up positions on the main crossing points into west Beirut along the Green Line that divides the capital into Moslem and Christian sectors.

The reinforcements were seen digging in at the harbor crossing point, the mid-city national museum intersection and the adjacent Christian neighborhoods of Tehwita, Forn el Shubbak, Badaro and Ein el Rummaneh.

The latest cease-fire - the ninth since Israel invaded Lebanon June 6 to crush the Palestine Liberation Organization - took effect Sunday evening as the U.N. Security Council passed a resolution calling for an end to hostilities and authorizing a force of observers to monitor the truce.

A convoy of U.N. trucks was stopped Monday at an Israeli checkpoint between Beirut and Damour, a coastal town 10 miles south of the Lebanese capital. Israeli press reports said the convoy returned to the U.N. base at Naqoura, near the Israeli-Lebanese border.

Israel has not reacted officially to the call for a truce supervision force.

Student Fees Adopted At City School Board Meet

By JERRY RAYNOR Reflector Staff Writer

Fees in different categories applicable to students in the coming school year were approved by members of the Greenville Board of Education at its information meeting Monday night. Action included accepting proposed fees on general instructional materials, lunch prices and student insurance.

A flat fee without additional charge for special subjects such as vocational courses, business, art and physical education will be charged. For students in grades 8 through 12 the general materials instructional fee has been set at $7.50, an increase of $2.50 from last year. The general fee for students in grades kindergarten through 7 remains unchanged at $5.

Also included in the fee schedule is a stipulation to exempt from payment students unable to pay fees based on low family income. The same table applicable to students receiving free meals at school will apply to non-payment of the general student fee.

Approval of this fee arrangement includes authorization for the finance officer to allocate County 411 monies and appropriate state funds to bring the total instructional materials money up to the same total amount realized under the last school year's fee arrangement, particularly for Aycock and Rose schools.

Superintendent Delma Blinson emphasized that parents eligible to make application for non-payment of fees as well as for meals must do so at an early date during the school year.

Additionally, students using materials for a personal project, i.e., a bookcase or painting they wish to keep for themselves, must pay the actual materials cost before the piece can become their personal property.

Meal fees for the 1982-83 school year remain unchanged from last year. For students in grades K-3 the lunch price is 75 cents; for those in grades 4-6 it is 80 cents; and for those in grades 7-12 lunches are 95 cents. Lunch for adults is $1.25.

Reduced lunch prices for students in all grades is 40 cents. Breakfast prices are 40 cents for all grades K-12, 30 cents for those qualifying for reduced meal prices, and 60 cents for adults.

Bids for milk and bread have not been received, so that extra milk prices have not been determined.

The contract for student and faculty insurance coverage was approved with Youth Guard, the same firm handling the coverage during the past school year. Premiums are $5 for students in all grades for coverage during the school day and $32 for 24-hour coverage. The 24-hour coverage is available to faculty and administrative personnel at $39. Football coverage is $38 per student, with the student to pay $10 and the other $28 to be paid by the Athletic Association.

In the matter of bids for spirit masters, thermal masters and duplicating fluid, school board members approved Dr. Blinson's recommendation to award the contract to the second lowest bidder, Taff Office Supply. Blinson said his recommendation to go to the second low bidder is based on the premise that Taff is a local firm that supports school programs through things such as buying ad space in the yearbooks and paying local taxes.

The low bid totaling $5,319.88 was submitted by Carolina Carbon and Ribbon. Taff's bid at $5,324.98 is $5.10 higher.

Board members approved a go-ahead for the administration to set up an after-school program to operate daily from the end of the school day until about 6 p.m. The program, Dr. Blinson emphasized, should be self-sustaining could result in a small deficit at any particular time. He said there was a high likelihood the program would break even over the course of a reasonable time period.

Housing Authority Adopts '83 Budget

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer

Operating budgets for fiscal year 1983 and revisions to the current 1982 financial packages were approved Monday night by the Greenville Housing Authority.

Commissioners gave their approval to an operating package for the authority's low-rent housing program for the year ending Sept. 30, 1983, totaling some $1.39 million, down slightly from $1.5 million for fiscal year 1982. Joe Laney, executive director, said there has been a reduction in operating subsidies and the authority anticipates less interest earned on general fund deposits for the new year.

He said the new package includes a one-step merit increase for employees and establishes a longevity pay system to bring the pay scale of the authority more in step with other governmental agencies in the area. He said the city, county and state all have longevity programs. A change in the agency's personnel policy was approved to accommodate the longevity proposal.

Board members gave their approval to an operating budget for fiscal year 1983 for the University Towers mid-rise project for the elderly. The approved package of $295,000 is down slightly from $323,000 for the current fiscal year because utility charges were lower than anticipated based on the forecast for the current year, he said.

A revision in the current operating budget for University Towers was endorsed. Laney said a surplus of $9,000 had been projected originally but the authority will actually realize a surplus of $39,000 due to increases in interests and the reduction in overall utility costs. The surplus will go into a reserve fund and some "betterments and improvements" have been proposed for the project, including the improvement of recreational facilities and some landscaping measures.

A revision to the current operating budget for conventional housing was approved. Laney said that since additional funds are available, the revision will cover a re-roofing project in Moyewood. Laney said the Moyewood section is over 13 years old and the units are in need of new roofs.

Commissioners approved by common consent a proposal by Laney to ask the City Council to eliminate proposed requirements that existing local duplex developments would have to provide containers or dumpsters for solid waste pick-up service.

The planning and zoning board has recommended that the council amend the city's containerized solid waste pick-up policy. Under the proposed amendment, a development of 10 or more duplex units would have to have containers or roll out carts for front yard service. Laney said the amendment would cause 568 units operated by the authority in five projects to become non-conforming. He said the measure would require a capital expenditure of over $100,000 to provide dumpsters and related facilities and the authority does not have funds to cover that expense.

The director, who said the authority has no objections to the policy change affecting new units, said it is hoped the council will reconsider the proposal to have existing duplexes come under the container provision. He said that while it was pointed out at the planning board meeting that the primary objective of the amendment is to eliminate two types of deliveries in the same neighborhood, all of the authority's duplexes are in neighborhoods where residential units already have individual pick-up service.

Commissioners approved a revised rent schedule implementing changes resulting from congressional legislation that increases rent charged to public housing residents from 25 percent to 30 percent of adjusted income.

Sallye Streeter, director of resident affairs, said that under the revisions, the increases are phased in for current residents and are effective at regular annual re-examinations. The first re-examinations in public housing are set up to go into effect Oct. 1, although some residents could be affected earlier due to changes in their incomes. New public housing residents will pay 30 percent of adjusted income immediately.

Mrs. Streeter said the increases in rent will be implemented on a schedule that includes: Aug. 1 through Sept. 30, rent computed at 26 percent; Oct. 1, computed at 27 percent; then computed at an additional 1 percent each year until the 30 percent is reached.

The resident affairs director noted that J.W. Grimes of Greenville consented recently to serve as a hearing officer relative to a request by a housing resident

Supports Views On El Salvador

WASHINGTON (AP) - The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says information from the CIA supports the Reagan administration's argument that the government of El Salvador deserves continued U.S. military aid.

A leading congressional critic of President Reagan's Salvadoran policy, on the other hand, charges the administration with a "massive public relations effort to try and paint over a situation that is very serious" and could lead to involvement of U.S. troops.

The panel's chairman, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., outlined their contrasting views on the eve of today's committee hearing on the administration's certification that the Salvadoran government is making progress on economic and social reforms and on human rights.

The certification was required for continued military aid to El Salvador, which is receiving about $81 million in such assistance in the fiscal year ending Sept. 30. The Salvadoran government is engaged in a civil war with leftist guerrillas.

Both Dodd and Sen. Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, the ranking Democrat on the committee, suggested that the administration will have trouble sustaining its request for $166 million in military aid to El Salvador in the next fiscal year. The Foreign Relations Committee trimmed the amount to $66 million on May 27, but that vote is subject to review on the Senate floor.

FURNISHINGS NEEDED

The Rev. The family members, who are newcomers to Greenville, lost their house in Beaufort County when it exploded as a result of a gas leak. They now live at 1509-A North Washington St., Greenville. Furniture may be taken to the house. Inquiries about specific needs may be made by calling Mamie Waters, the couple's neighbor, 757-3110.

Ask Broadening Balanced-Budget Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Reagan administration asked Congress today to broaden a proposed balanced-budget amendment to the Constitution to allow deficit spending during national emergencies short of war.

Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, in testimony prepared for a House Judiciary subcommittee hearing, said the administration enthusiastically supports the overall amendment.

"Individual Americans, who must live within their own means, have every right to expect and demand that their government do so as well," Regan said.

The proposed amendment, moving toward expected passage this week in the Senate, would prohibit the government from spending more than it takes in, except in wartime - or unless both house of Congress vote by a 60 percent majority to allow deficit spending.

"A wide variety of events, not necessarily entailing a declaration of war, may pose threats to national security," Regan told the Judiciary subcommittee on monopolies and commercial law.

"The administration would encourage the Congress to amend (the constitutional amendment) to allow a broader range of events - unforeseen events posing an imminent threat to national security - to qualify for a waiver," Regan said.

The Senate is expected to take final action on the balanced budget proposal by noon Wednesday. Supporters of the proposed amendment, claiming they have more than the two-thirds or 67 votes necessary for approval, say a vote could come sooner.

At the outset of today's hearing, Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, made clear he opposed the measure.

"This crusade by the president for this constitutional amendment comes at the same time his faltering economic programs are bringing us mammoth deficits that two years ago were truly unimaginable," Rodino said.

He called the proposal "an unwise and unworkable trivializing of a document that guarantees fundamental rights and provides the framework for the orderly function of government."

Rodino's opposition has kept the proposed amendment bottled up in his committee for months. Supporters of the measure are circulating a petition to have it removed from the committee and sent directly to the House floor.

Dear Abby

Witchcraft Rumors Give Company a Devil of a Time

By Abigail Van Buren

1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I just received a mimeographed letter in the mail telling me not to buy products made by Procter & Gamble. It was signed, "A Good Christian." It said the Procter & Gamble Co. supports a religious cult dedicated to witchcraft and the devil. As proof they sent a picture of the P&G trademark insignia — a man's face in a half-moon with 13 stars, a symbol of Satan.

The letter stated that the owner of Procter & Gamble appeared on "The Merv Griffin Show" and also on "Donahue," saying he owed his success to "Satan."

Abby, can you find out if the Procter & Gamble Co. has any connection with Satan and witchcraft, because if it has, I am not buying any more of its products.

NEEDS TO KNOW IN OHIO

DEAR NEEDS: Letters such as the one you received have been circulated through the U.S. for the last two years, and there is not a shred of truth in the rumor that P&G is connected with Satan, witchcraft or the devil!

Furthermore, neither Merv Griffin nor Phil Donahue has had anyone from Procter & Gamble on their shows, but this rumor has been so widespread that both Griffin and Donahue have had to send out form letters to deny this false accusation.

Some of the nation's most respected Christian religious leaders have issued public statements in an effort to put an end to this vicious campaign. They include the Rev. Jerry Falwell, the Rev. Jimmy Draper, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, the Rev. Donald E. Wildmon, Methodist minister and executive of the National Federation for Decency, Bishop Emerson Colaw, United Methodist Church, the Rev. William C. Black, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio.

All "good Christians" who have specific information about anyone distributing this propaganda should write to: Procter & Gamble, P.O. Box 599, Department D.A., Cincinnati, Ohio 45201. Please include your name, address and telephone number.

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to "Finders," who sought advice on how to obtain an honest appraisal for an "expensive-looking" piece of jewelry he said he had found, but had no luck in locating the owner.

You suggested that he take it to a reputable jeweler. I am a reputable jeweler, and when someone comes to me with a piece of jewelry valued at more than $100 and tells me he "found" it and wants it appraised, the first question I ask is, "Did you notify the police?"

If the answer is "yes," I check with the police to verify it. If the answer is "no," I advise him to do so immediately. Often jewelry is passed off as "found" when in fact it has been stolen.

SAMUEL S. FINCHLEY, E. ROCHESTER, N.Y.

DEAR MR. FINCHLEY: Thank you for raising an excellent point that I had not considered. I also heard from many lawyers advising me that in some areas there are laws requiring the finder to turn over the found item to the police department. After a certain length of time, if it is not claimed and identified by its rightful owner, it becomes the property of the finder.

DEAR ABBY: I met a very attractive young woman at a wedding. Since we were both unattached and seemed to have a lot in common, you might say we hit it off well from the moment we met. I invited her to dinner at the best restaurant in town for the following night, and she accepted on the spot.

Well, she spent the whole evening talking about her boyfriend — what a great guy he is and how much she missed him because he traveled for a living and was gone for two and three weeks at a time.

Every time I started to talk about something else, she would bring the conversation back to her boyfriend, quoting him and raving about his good points.

What I would like to know is this, Abby, if this boyfriend of hers is so terrific, why did she accept a dinner date with me?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Maybe she was hungry.

for a grievance hearing for a possible eviction for late payment of rent. She said Grimes heard both sides of the case and while he allowed the resident to remain in public housing, he counseled the resident on improving rent payments and did what she termed "a very good job."

Ken Noland, director of operations, said that authority-owned mail boxes in the Hopkins Park area have been the target of vandalism and the post office has offered to install government-owned boxes at no cost to the authority in centralized locations in the project. He said the post office placed boxes in Moyewood earlier and vandalism has not been as much of a problem there since then.

Laney reported that the authority has asked the Department of Housing and Urban Development to reconsider a site in West Meadowbrook as the location for 40 units of new low-rent family housing. HUD has already rejected various sites submitted by the authority for consideration. Laney said the agency was advised to ask for reconsideration of the Meadowbrook tract as well as a seven acre site on the Pactolus Highway just east of N.C. Department of Transportation highway division property. According to Laney, the units could be divided between the two sites if HUD approves.

The director said 102 units have been leased by the authority under the Section 8 existing housing program and 105 units under the moderate rehabilitation segment are leased. All 60 units in the University Towers development are rented.

Mrs. Streeter said that one temporary vacancy existed in the authority's housing developments during July and average rents included: N.C. 22-1 (Meadowbrook), $82.58; N.C. 22-2 (Kearney Park), $91.96; N.C. 22-3 (Moyewood), $87.30; N.C. 22-4 (Moyewood), $98.25; N.C. 22-5 (Hopkins Park), $77.97; and N.C. 22-6 (Newtown), $8.50, for an overall average of $87.20.

Will Run Again For President

Willis J. Stancill of Greenville, an Independent Party candidate for president in 1980, has told The Daily Reflector that he intends to run again for president — this time as a Clean Government System Party candidate — in 1984.

His 23-point platform and goals, Stancill said, includes planks dealing with tobacco, including "the elimination of the federal tax on all tobacco products," and "the imposition of $1 per pound import duty on all raw tobacco leaf."

Among other planks of the party platform, according to Stancill, is "amnesty for all criminal convictions," and the freeing of all prisoners judged to be no threat to society following analysis, and "mental therapy ... for all prisoners judged to be a danger," as well as "burning of all criminal records."

SBI Chief Says Green Security Agent Did Job

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The head of the State Bureau of Investigations says he is satisfied with the way an SBI agent assigned to protect Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green conducted himself after Green rebuffed an apparent bribe attempt by an undercover FBI agent involved in the Colcor operation.

SBI Director Haywood Starling met with Special Agent Joe Hines Monday to discuss Hines' involvement after Green said he was approached during the probe and that an undercover FBI agent had tried to entrap him.

Starling, in a prepared statement, said he talked with Hines to discuss reports of the alleged bribery attempt of Green by the undercover FBI agent in April following published reports of the incident.

"My only interest was to ascertain that Special Agent Hines acted in accordance with his assignment to provide security for the lieutenant governor," Starling said.

Starling refused to answer any questions about the statement. Other state Justice Department officials said the SBI was not looking into Green's handling of the alleged bribe attempt.

Green said last week that the FBI agent, identifying himself as Thomas "Doc" Ryan, was introduced to him and returned to his office on two more occasions discuss "making friends" in the estate. Green said he received a $2,000 cashier's check in the mail and returned it to Ryan several days later.

Green said he asked Hines to run a security check on the man, and state Justice Department officials said they wanted to know whether Green told the SBI agent that "Ryan" had sent him the check.

Deputy state Attorney General Andy Vanore declined to elaborate when asked about whether Hines knew of the money. "That's not a matter for the SBI to be saying one way or the other," he said.

An aide to Green, William Franklin, said he did not know whether Green suspected the check constituted a bribery attempt at the time.

"I don't know if he construed it to be a bribe or an illegal campaign contribution," Franklin said.

Green could not be reached for comment Monday.

A state judge, a state legislator and two other local public officials face federal bribery charges after being indicted along with 17 others on federal charges as a result of the Colcor operation. Authorities say the probe is continuing and that more indictments will be forthcoming.

Among those already indicted are state Rep. Ronald Taylor, D-Bladen, District Court Judge J. Wilton Hunt Sr., Columbus County Commissioner Edward Walton Williamson and Lake Waccamaw Police Chief Harold Lowery. They were indicted on federal bribery charges.

School Bd. ...

Initial planning calls for a weekly fee of $15 per student, with the program to be offered in at least three locations — one at Sadie Sauter or Third Street; one at Elmhurst or Eastern; and one at South Greenville. If response is sufficient, programs would be offered at four or all five of the schools.

Board member Sue Zadeits asked to be assured that the after-school program would not be detrimental to other programs. Blinson assured her that, if anything, chances are it could become a profit-making program.

However, "Profit-making is not our intent," Blinson commented. "Also, it is not our intent to run private programs out of business. Because of this, it will be difficult for us to reduce fees for the program below what is now planned."

In other actions, school board members: • Approved the administration's taking action to submit a grant fund proposal to the state in an effort to secure part of the state funding available to set up a community-based systems approach for dropout prevention.

The grant proposal, prepared by a school committee headed by Wende Allen, would be supplemented by federal funding available to the Greenville schools under the new Chapter 2 bloc grant proposal. Blinson said that about $24,000 from that source is available to supplement a state grant if such a grant is awarded to the Greenville schools.

• Approved second readings of four policy papers — suspension and expulsion; code of acceptable behavior; student grievance procedure and discipline — and the first reading on a snow make-up days policy. The make-up policy will receive a second reading at a later board meeting.

Blinson explained that all students will be given a copy of the code of behavior policy, and that other policy papers will be posted in the schools and made available on an individual basis to students if the need arises.

• Named Mrs. Zadeits as the liaison representative for the North Carolina School Board Association, and announced the appointment of Karen Lawrence as the new food services supervisor. Ms. Lawrence was formerly manager of the Elmhurst Cafeteria.

• In executive session, the board re-approved contracts for 15 part-time personnel, accepted two teacher resignations and approved the election of six new teachers.

High Honor For Barnhill

Howard C. Barnhill, formerly of Greenville, has been conferred the Laurel Wreath of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, the highest honor the fraternity bestows.

Barnhill will receive the award this week during the fraternity's 64th grand convocation in Detroit.

Barnhill is a graduate of North Carolina A&T University, Greensboro, and has a master's degree in public health from North Carolina Central University. He is an associate professor and director of the school of public health education centers program of the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. His wife is the former Lois Clay, a former Pitt County home extension agent.

Set Lifesaving Course Here

Ruth Taylor of the Pitt Red Cross said that an advanced lifesaving course will begin Wednesday at the Tar River Estates pool.

She said the course will continue on Thursday and Friday this week and then be taught Monday through Friday for the next two weeks from 7-9 p.m. Participants will pay a small charge to cover the pool fee and a book will have to be purchased for the course, she said.

Instructors will be Tom Harvey and Harvey Ginn.

Fatal Shot Was Self-Inflicted

GRIFFON — Eddie G. "Ed" Cannon, 61, died at his home here Monday of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Medical Examiner Stan Harris said Cannon, who suffered from chronic heart disease and a stroke, shot himself in the head with a .22 caliber pistol about 2 a.m. Monday. He was found dead about 8:15 a.m., Dr. Harris noted.

Cannon, who lived alone, was a native of Beaufort County who had lived in Florida before moving to Griffon in 1981. He was a retired insurance salesman.

Bess In Stable Condition

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Former first lady Bess Truman remained in serious but stable condition today following her weekend hospitalization for irregular breathing and pulse, officials said.

The 97-year-old widow of President Harry S. Truman was "looking a lot better" Monday and may be allowed to go home before the week is out, her doctor said.

She was hospitalized early Sunday for hyperkalemia, a buildup of potassium caused by diminished kidney function.

Pat's Pointers

By Pat Trexler

Whether you want to brighten up your own decor or give an elegant gift certain to delight anyone, this butterfly design worked on quick-stitch 7-mesh plastic canvas turns an everyday wastebasket into a stunning decorator item. One side panel is personalized with your monogram and the other panel carries out the leaf and berry motif. The background is worked in a diagonal Cashmere Stitch for a textured look, but a simple tent stitch can be used if you prefer.

With these finer-count fabrics or canvas, smaller items could be made. How about a 7-mesh phone book cover and a 10-mesh address book cover as a coordinated set?

To obtain directions for making the Butterfly Wastebasket Cover, send your request for Leaflet No. N-3198 with $1 and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Pat Trexler ("The Daily Reflector"), P.O. Box 810, North Myrtle Beach, S.C. 29582.

Or you may order Kit No. K-3198 by sending a check or money order for $15 to Pat Trexler at the same address. Each kit contains the instruction leaflet, needle, yarn and canvas and the price covers the shipping charges. The wastebasket is not included. Please specify your choice of the following color combinations for the butterfly design: turquoise and gold; blue and yellow; or tangerine and gold. Creamy white is used as the background for all color combinations.

In these days of soaring inflation you can keep your gift budget under control with handmade gifts that always mean so much more than anything you can purchase. The recipients of such gifts know that you have given of yourself.

This does take a lot of advance planning and working, however. Like so many of you, I don't have any free daytime hours for doing my needlework — I find myself stitching between doing the supper dishes and bedtime.

Not many items can be finished in an evening or two — most take two or more weeks to complete when working on this type of schedule. With this in mind, I know many of you consider mid-summer the ideal time to start on your Christmas list, so I will feature many gift items over the next few weeks in the hope that these will inspire you to create some of your own designs.

Just to give you an idea of how you can take one simple charted design and make a number of items, let's consider the butterfly motif featured today.

On the 7-mesh canvas, the overall design covers an area of approximately 8 1/2 inches in length and 4 inches in width, with the butterfly alone measuring about 5 3/4 inches in each direction. So the same full design motif with the same size canvas would make a most attractive tote bag, telephone book cover or place mat.

On 10-mesh canvas, the butterfly would be approximately 4 inches with the full design covering about 5 1/2 inches; on 18-count fabric or canvas, the butterfly is just a little over 2 inches across and down.

By Erma Bombeck

A couple of years ago, comedian Jonathan Winters told a joke about how he taped 173 pig eone to his arms to fly to Los Angeles, but just as he took off, "some clown threw out a handful of peanuts and it was all over."

Everytime I thought about that full-grown man with all those pigeons flapping, I killed myself laughing over the absurdity of it.

After Larry Walters floated three miles into the atmosphere a few weeks ago in a lawn chair, held aloft by 45 weather balloons, holding a BB gun, I don't know what to laugh at anymore.

Remember when people used to fall apart every time Jackie Gleason as Ralph Cramden said to his wife, "One of these days, Alice, I'm sending you to the moon!"? The first U.S. woman astronaut is training now for a flight.

Life isn't imitating art anymore. It's surpassing it.

I guess it's the old story where a cave woman went up to her cave teenager one day and said, "would you keep those drums down? I can't hear myself think for that music," and their father said, "why don't you stick it in your ear?" They laughed at that for a few thousand years and then it became reality.

I told my husband I wouldn't be at all surprised if, give or take a few years, the lawn-chair shuttle would be the transportation wave of the future. It's energy efficient, can be assembled cheaply and is quiet, other than the blast of the BB gun.

He said I was out of my mind. I reminded him, "Nothing in this country is too ridiculous for success. Take that gum you're chewing. Can you imagine the first gum salesman to make the rounds? I can hear a storekeeper asking, "What do you do with it?"

"Put it in your mouth and chew it, but don't swallow it."

"Then why do you chew it?"

"To get the sugar out of it until we perfect a way to make it without sugar."

"I see, and then when you're tired of chewing it, what do you do with it?"

"You hunt for a piece of paper and spit it out and try to get rid of it or drop it on the ground where someone's shoe will get stuck on it."

He put down his paper and said, "Look, why don't you take that theory' put it in a pop bottle, put it in your ear and fly."

We wanted to laugh — but we were afraid to.

* One idea I have had — but haven't found the time to try — is to work the butterfly on 10-mesh plastic canvas, leaving a few stitches in the center of the butterfly. I would cut around all edges and finish the edges with an overcasting stitch. The butterfly would then be attached to the lid of a needlepoint box by working the omitted stitches through both thicknesses of butterfly and box lid. This would make it appear that the butterfly had just landed on the box top.

Fortunately, there is now a world of charted designs available at most places where needlepoint and cross-stitch supplies are sold, so next time you are browsing, turn on your imagination and visualize the many ways any single appealing design could be used.

If you enjoy offering a new dessert to guests, I suggest you try these delightful Nectarine Bars. They're put together easily and may be made a day ahead of serving.

Be eg these b'v'n, wee, we like to serve them with a plentiful garnish of fresh nectarine slices.

NECTARINE BARS
2 cups fork-stirred all-purpose flour
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar

Two 1/4-pound sticks butter
4 medium-size fresh nectarines (about 1 pound)

1 tablespoon cornstarch
3 tablespoons lemon juice
4 large eggs
2 cups granulated sugar
Mint sprigs, if desired

In a large bowl stir together flour and confectioners' sugar. With a pastry blender cut in butter until it is in fine particles. Pat mixture into an unbuttered 13 by 9 by 2-inch baking pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until lightly browned — 25 to 30 minutes. Leave oven control at 350 degrees.

Meanwhile slice 1 of the nectarines into an electric blender; turning on and off and scraping sides as necessary, whirl until almost smooth — there should be about 1-3rd cup. Add the cornstarch and lemon juice and whirl until smooth; reserve.

In a large bowl with an electric mixer beat eggs at high speed until thickened and lemon color; gradually beat in granulated sugar until thick and ivory color. Add nectarine mixture; at low speed beat until smooth. Pour over hot crust. Return to the 350-degree oven and bake until browned and almost set — 30 to 35 minutes. Place on a rack and cool completely. Cut into squares.

Slice remaining 3 nectarines and arrange on bars. If used, garnish with mint sprigs.

Makes 12 servings.

Arafat's Prospects Dim

With Lebanon's ordeal apparently approaching some sort of climax, there is yet time to marvel at the story of Yasser Arafat and his PLO guerrillas.

Correspondents (well, some of them) tell us Arafat is one of the few "moderates" in the PLO leadership, and if he is forced to step down the more radical element will take the reins.

We are also led to think Arafat cannot meet Israel's demands for much the same reason.

The Palestine Liberation Organization has many friends. They have provided the guerrillas with vast quantities of arms and munitions; and are seemingly prepared to continue that support. Of them all, only Syria was willing to fight. But there is a great silence when it comes to offering the PLO a refuge. Nobody really wants them; they are a malignancy, as Jordan learned and as Lebanon learned.

That leaves the outgunned, outnumbered PLO army a choice of becoming "martyrs" or dismemberment.

Arafat's personal prospects are equally dim.

However sympathetic many Americans might be to the dream of a homeland for the Palestinians, the PLO terrorists have a chilling impact.

Colcar Amazing Operation

The Federal Bureau of Investigation "Abscam" operation which led to indictment of some congressman was an amazing operation.

Last week North Carolinians were further amazed when a similar operation in Columbus County — code named Colcar — led to the arrests of a number of public officials.

FBI undercover agents made contact in the county from a Lake

Waccamaw cottage. They also set up a precious metals dealership and operated from an apartment in Whiteville.

It is not our purpose here to comment on the guilt or innocence of those so far involved, but the investigation and legal actions in this matter should be pursued to the fullest extent. The public's confidence in the basic institutions of society demands this.

A LITTLE CHUCKLE UP HIS SLEEVE, NO DOUBT!

BY JAMES KILPATRICK

But, 'Rules Are Rules'

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA. — The story that follows is a true story. It is not one of those events that reportedly happened to someone else in some other place. This story didn't happen once upon a time. It happened here, this week, to Mattie Dudley, 67, crippled since infancy, a little old lady in a wheelchair who peddles the Daily Progress on the streets of this university town.

As of Aug. 1, her Medicaid benefits have been suspended for the next two years.

How come?

The government's welfare workers discovered that Mattie Dudley had assets — really, one asset — in excess of the maximum permitted by law. And what was this asset?

It was a $1,000 funeral certificate that she finally was able to purchase in 1979 from the savings of a lifetime. Possession of the certificate, guaranteeing her a funeral from the Hill Wood Funeral Service, made her ineligible for benefits under the Supplemental Security Income program. In order to preserve her SSI benefits, she was compelled to give up Medicaid.

Charles Giametta, a reporter for the Progress, spelled out the infuriating facts in a Page One story last week. Mattie Dudley was born at Miller School in Albemarle County, where her father was a groundskeeper. A congenital condition caused her legs to shrivel and atrophy. She lives alone in a sparsely furnished basement apartment, but every day she is out on the downtown streets, a familiar figure in her canopied wheelchair, selling papers and talking to her customers.

Miss Dudley had been getting along, just barely, on her $280 a month in SSI benefits. This is a federally funded program that aids disabled or poor persons who are not covered by regular Social Security. Such benefits are limited to those persons whose assets do not exceed $1,500.

Purchase of the burial certificate in 1979 pushed her close to the limit. Now interest on the certificate, amounting to $226.17, has pushed her over the top. As Giametta said in his newspaper story, she has dropped through a hole in the safety net.

When this calamitous overage first was called to her attention a few weeks ago, Miss Dudley transferred her burial certificate to a friend. The friend promised to bury her according to plan, in the gray dress in the gray casket that Miss Dudley had picked out. It turned out that mere transfer of the certificate wasn't enough. Giametta explains: "Because she did not sell the certificate and use the money to purchase necessities such as food or clothing, she violated state Medicaid rules."

Welfare workers summoned Miss Dudley to a conference in City Hall. They gave her three options: (1) She could reacquire the certificate, cash it in and spend the proceeds on approved necessities; (2) she could reacquire the certificate and

'Pro Bono' Service

By PAUL T. O'CONNOR
RALEIGH — Federal funding for legal services for the poor was cut by 23 percent this year while legal aid caseload increased by 7 percent. There are now a million and a half North Carolinians eligible for legal aid but only between 150 and 170 legal aid lawyers to help them.

President Reagan justifies these cuts by saying private lawyers will provide free service to the poor — called "pro bono" in legal parlance. Legal Services of North Carolina (LSNC) and the N.C. Bar Association are initiating a joint statewide program aimed at increasing "pro bono" service. If future federal cuts are kept to a minimum, the president of the bar association says, the private bar may be able to make up for the cuts.

LSNC is the largest of four agencies providing legal aid to the poor in North Carolina. In all, 35,000 civil cases were handled through legal aid last year at a total cost to the federal government of $8.5 million. This year's budget is $6.1 million. Those seeking the legal aid must meet income standards. A family of four, for example, couldn't earn more than $11,600.

Bob Baker of Durham, bar association president, won't guess how many lawyers will join the pro bono program. But if only half of the 8,000 lawyers in the state donate their services on two cases a year, he says, pro bono will take care of about one quarter of the legal aid caseload.

LSNC spokesman Jim Abbott says the program goal is for 500 lawyers the first year each contributing about 10 hours of work. Baker says he'd be very disappointed if the program didn't draw at least that many lawyers.

Substituting private lawyers won't necessarily bring better service to the poor. Legal aid officers are specialists in poverty law — cases involving food stamps, rent, public housing, Medicaid, and social security. Private lawyers rarely specialize in these areas because people who can afford to pay lawyers don't usually need help in such matters, Abbott says.

In other legal aid areas, however, poor people have the same needs as those who can afford to pay. Divorce, child custody, land partitions, wills, cases of consumer fraud are all well-suited to pro bono service, Abbott says.

In family matters, pro bono will actually help overcome one of the serious weaknesses of legal aid, Abbott says. With married couples, both partners usually meet the income guidelines that determine eligibility for the program. But legal aid can't represent both. So the first partner to get to the legal aid office gets the free legal help and the other gets nothing. Abbott sees pro bono helping by representing the other partner.

With Congress currently debating next year's budget for legal aid, Baker says he hopes funding will at least stay at its current level. While the private bar will

To the editor:

The media is an important network for the dissemination of new ideas to the general public. This puts the responsibility for accuracy on the shoulders of those who control the media. Recently, an article written by Carol Tyer titled "Weight Loss Begun Christmas Is Complete" presented some very misleading ideas about weight management. People with weight problems are often desperate and easily fall victim to costly or questionable gimmicks or products. Articles such as Tyer's go beyond human interest when only one side of a story is presented. Such articles set people up to spend hard earned money on false promises and useless products.

While highlighting the magical, though unproven, qualities of aloe vera juice, spirulina, lecithin, and Vit. B Complex, Tyer's article overlooked the more mundane, yet time-proven steps Ms. Wainright took which were probably the main cause of her weight loss. Primarily Ms. Wainright accepted the responsibility for her own weight loss program. She also adjusted her eating habits in several significant ways: eliminating sweets, breads and fried foods, replacing whole milk with skim milk, and eating smaller portions of foods. She also began exercising. People who attempt the diet without these important changes are likely to be disappointed.

Another concern aroused by the article is the implication that people who may have other serious illnesses beyond obesity, should turn to their local health food store for nutrition advice. Their health could be seriously harmed by well meaning but unknowing sales people. Greenville offers several valid alternatives for help with weight management, such as Weight Watchers, Overeaters Anonymous, Diet Workshop, and many qualified Dietitians who provide less costly nutritionally sound support for dieters. We would like to suggest that Ms. Tyer consider these as future topics. This would help the public see a more complete picture of the weight management alternatives.

Strength For Today

STAND UP AND BE COUNTED

The secret ballot is one of the outstanding characteristics of democratic government. It is one of the privileges of free men to vote their opinions in private and so make their decisions without fear of reprisal.

Yet, important as the secret ballot is politically, the fact remains that amid the crowded circumstances of life people have to stand up at certain times and be counted. The time comes when our fellows want to know on which side of a given line we stand. For a long time we can smile and say that there are two sides to every question, but if we keep on saying this, people will have contempt for us.

We read sometimes of men centuries ago who went to the stake and gallows rather than remain neutral on a moral issue. Today, in our own country at least, we do not face the necessity for such spectacular heroism. But the necessity of standing up and being counted is as imperative now as it has ever been. — Elisha Douglass

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — When the subject is economics, who are you going to believe, the Reagan administration or Reagan administration officials?

There is a difference. As required, the administration has issued its midyear budget review and forecast, a document that speaks of a significant recovery later this year and a 1983 budget deficit kept to $115 billion.

But even before its release, and immediately after it too, high administration officials disavowed it as overly optimistic.

Murray Weidenbaum, retiring chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, called it unrealistic, prior to release.

The behavior of Donald Regan, Treasury secretary, suggests doubts. He declined to give the expected briefing on the document.

Earlier, Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige separated himself from the optimism, saying that over the short term the forecast was off the mark.

These are only some of the confusing aspects of the administration's program. How was such a document produced; that is, where did the ingredients come from — from the realm of reality, hope, politics?

Doubts within the administration, which produced the report, are multiplied outside by those who analyze it. Is it just a mistake that couldn't be corrected in time? A bureaucratic bungle? A public relations release meant to boost hopes? Or, is it even to be taken seriously?

The biggest doubts seem to be about the size of the budget deficit, about which the Reagan people have a record of unjustified optimism.

If the administration is correct in saying the deficit will be kept to $115 billion, then the question is how the Congressional Budget Office can add up the same numbers and reach a total of up to $151 billion.

And why the consensus of

A Preamble To Elections

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Although Vice President George Bush's fingerprints were nowhere to be seen, he breathed a sigh of relief when other members of the Bush family talked his elder brother, Prescott Jr., out of contesting Sen. Lowell Weicker in Connecticut's Republican primary.

The vice president was concerned that his brother's possible loss, either to Weicker in the primary or Democratic representative Toby Moffett in the general election, would tarnish his own future presidential prospects. George was careful to say not one word to his brother, but the intervention by other family members was overt.

A footnote: One day before the ferociously anti-Reagan Weicker defeated Bush for the party designation at the state convention, he was invited to the White House for a bill-signing ceremony and photographed with President Reagan. A day earlier, he was the only Republican senator to vote against Reagan's third-year tax cut.

Tsongas Leaves Teddy
Sen. Paul Tsongas's strong continuing criticism of Israel's invasion of Lebanon has left his senior colleague, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, far behind in terms of political reaction by Massachusetts voters to the Middle East conflict.

Kennedy, up for re-election this fall, is getting Mideast mail from back home that is running a steady 2-to-1 against Israel. One-quarter of those telling Kennedy that Israel should be disciplined add that the U.S. should stop sending military aid under present circumstances.

Tsongas's outspoken condemnation of Israel started in June when Prime Minister Menachem Begin defied the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. In contrast, Kennedy has said nothing remotely critical of Israel. That raises this question: Is Tsongas closer to public sentiment than the undisputed champion of Bay State Democrats?

Bob Byrd And The NFL
Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd is no football fan, but he has received $7,000 in contributions to his west Virginia battle for reelection from National Football League owners, with more on the way.

The reason: Byrd's support is wanted for a bill granting the NFL retroactive exemption from antitrust laws, thereby blocking the klandish Los Angeles franchise shift. So far, $1,000 gifts have come from owners Georgia Frontiere (Los Angeles Rams), Hugh Culverhouse (Tampa Bay Buccaneers), Joe Robbie (Miami Dolphins), Gene Klein (San Diego Chargers), Bud Adams (Houston Oilers), Rankin Smith (Atlanta Falcons) and Leonard Tose (Philadelphia Eagles).

Rep. Jack Kemp, a former quarterback who keeps close ties to the NFL, has scolded club owners for backing Byrd against the Republican challenge from Rep. Cleve Benedict.

Feuding Republicans
The ideological tempest in the Republican Party blew hot at a recent meeting in San Francisco of the Eagles, the party's high-rolling financial contributors, when Deputy National Chairman Richard Bond tangled with Rep. John LeBoutillier.

LeBoutillier, an outspoken Reagan conservative, had complained to the Eagles that supporters of Vice President George Bush had won all the choice slots in the Reagan administration. That was a basic cause of Reagan's problems, LeBoutillier suggested, amid fairly heavy applause.

Bond, a Bush protege and key operative in his 1980 presidential campaign against Reagan, shortly thereafter privately chewed out LeBoutillier. "I thought John gave back about as good as he got," one Eagle told us. The upshot: Bond made clear that LeBoutillier is no longer welcome at Eagles meetings.

Gramm's Grapes
Rep. Phil Gramm of Texas, a leader of the Bol Weevil conservative Democrats, will spend most of October putting his mouth where his votes have gone: squarely behind President Reagan's beleaguered economic program.

Gramm's schedule will take him to every major Texas city and a lot of towns on a speechmaking defense of Reaganomics just before the Nov. 2 election. The prospect of a pro-Reagan Democrat on Texas hustings where many Republicans fear to tread will help Gramm if he should ever decide to change parties. He easily won Democratic renomination in a contested primary in May and has no serious Republican opponent in the November election.

Although Reagan's economic program has been deserted by many Reaganites, Gramm remains faithful. If the Democratic leadership decides to punish him by kicking him off the House Budget Committee next year, Gramm might switch parties.

Hope Amidst The Confusion?

private sector forecasters, including those in big business and academe, think a figure low as $115 billion is out of the question unless there is an unforeseen economic surge.

Confusion probably wasn't eased when the president during the past week reiterated support for a constitutional amendment to balance the budget, and congratulated a banker who lowered the prime lending rate.

Many people, it seems safe to say, are perplexed by advocacy of budget balance from a president who defends record high budget deficits. And most people too are aware that the heads of banks don't lower their interest rates unless their own money costs have dropped. Why, therefore, the praise?

The praise went to John McGillicuddy, chairman of Manufacturers Hanover Bank, whose own bank's analyses have included observations about the president's role in keeping loan rates high.

In brief, almost every bank in the country has been saying all year that they aren't the cause of high interest rates, that they merely reflect economic conditions, and that the condition doing the most to keep interest rates high is President Reagan's big budget deficits.

In effect, therefore, the president's call of praise was to a representative of an industry that blames either him or Congress, or both, for high interest rates.

Despite all this, the possibility still exists that the president and his team are fully aware of what they are doing, and that in fact they have insights and strengths not possessed by critics.

As if to lend credibility to that view, interest rates are indeed coming down as the president all along has said they would.

And the downturn even seemed to pick up momentum after the confusing budget forecast became known, followed by the seeming disaffection of some of his team, and the odd and well-publicized telephone call.

Britain Ignores U.S. Embargo

By DAVID MASON
Chief European Correspondent
LONDON (AP) — Britain has joined America's three other major European allies in official defiance of President Reagan's embargo of U.S. technology for the Soviet gas pipeline and has ordered four British firms to honor $236 million in contracts.

Trade Secretary Lord Cockfield told the House of Lords Monday that the ban "is an unacceptable extension of American territorial jurisdiction in a way which is repugnant in international law."

Cockfield said he was invoking the Protection of Trading Interests Act to prohibit compliance with foreign regulations that would restrain British industry. The French and Italian governments have also ordered firms in their countries to honor pipeline contracts, while the West German government said it would support any company that did so.

These nations contend Reagan cannot interfere with contracts signed before July 1, when he banned use of U.S.-licensed technology to build equipment for the pipeline. The embargo was intended to force an easing of the martial law restrictions in Poland, which the United States blames on the Soviet Union.

"We regret that the British have taken this action," said Reagan's deputy press secretary, Larry Speakes. "We regret any action that has been taken that would weaken pressure on the Polish authorities."

But as he spoke, Reagan invoked the contract principle in telling Iowa farmers that current U.S. grain agreements with the Soviet Union would be extended for one year without any limit on the size of shipments.

The president told the convention of the National Corn Growers Association in Des Moines that the extension "would have the sanctity of a contract, ensuring U.S. farmers access to the Soviet market." And he told farmers in State Center, Iowa, that the United States must "restore that faith in us that if we've made a deal or a contract, it'll be a contract and we'll keep it."

Reagan last Friday announced that his government would not negotiate the new long-term grain agreement with the Soviet Union that U.S. grain farmers are demanding. But in an attempt to hold the farm vote, he said the current agreement would be extended for a year.

Many Europeans cite Reagan's refusal to ban U.S. grain sales to the Soviet Union — totaling $1.8 billion or more this year — as justification for opposition to his bans aimed at the Siberian pipeline, which is scheduled to begin operating in 1984. They argue that Europe needs the pipeline as a source of energy and of jobs during the current recession.

The U.S. government contends Western Europe should not be dependent on Soviet energy supplies. It also wants to deny the Soviet Union the billions of dollars in foreign currency it would manufactured goods exports, said Antonio Jorge, an economist at Florida International University here.

"The problems of the Cuban economy are intractable," he said last Friday. "And who knows about the political repercussions of economic events in totalitarian regimes?"

Castro's recently reported overtures toward improving relations with the United States were made in hopes of finding sources of money through foreign investment for Cuba's depressed economy, the report's authors, Ernesto Betancourt and Wilson Dizard III, said.

"The ultimate goal of this effort is to secure government-insured U.S. investment in Cuba, thereby saddling the U.S. taxpayer with the responsibility for the Cuban debt," and thus having the United States mortgage the Cuban revolution.

Western banks with a large stake in Cuba's financial well-being are aware that low revenues from plummeting world sugar prices and the lack of a second major source of income in Cuba could hurt their firms.

The Royal Bank of Canada knows well that "Cuba is facing financial problems," senior economist Kurt Van Dem Hagen said.

"The Cubans know it too. We have (financial) problems, but who doesn't these days?" said Pedro Oviedo of the Cuban Interests Section in Washington.

In 1981, the Financial Times in London reported that U.S. pressure from the Reagan administration may have killed a planned German deal with Cuba for some $60 million in Deutschmarks. MIAMI (AP) — Fidel Castro's communist revolution has been heavily mortgaged by Western banks, according to a study by an anti-Castro lobbying group.

The Cuban-American National Foundation reported July 28 that much of Cuba's foreign debt to the West, $2.6 billion, comes due next year, and institutions such as the Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Tokyo have been informed that Cuba will not be able to repay it all.

The foundation said Cuba faces severe near-term loan restructuring or actual default.

U.S. banks will not be affected by Cuba's debt problems. No American institution has loaned Cuba money since a trade embargo was imposed 10 years ago because $2 billion worth of U.S.-owned property was seized in 1959 by Castro.

keep it, and thus lose her SSI benefits; or (3) she could leave things the way they are and forfeit her Medicaid benefits for the next two years. Spinning the wheel of fortune, she picked No. 3. Goodbye, Medicaid.

"Maybe sometime I might need it," she told Giannetta, "if I got sick and couldn't do for myself. But right now, I can do for myself. I ain't never sick much."

The welfare workers should not be cast as the wicked witches in this story. They were sympathetic with Mattie Dudley's plight, but rules are rules. "It's not what we want, it's the regulations we have to follow." Another local funeral home confirmed that a dozen other elderly pensioners have cashed in their pre-paid certificates in the past year in order to preserve their eligibility for welfare.

A proper story should have a happy ending. This one doesn't. Congressman Kenneth Robinson, who represents the Charlottesville area, boiled over when he learned of Mattie Dudley's case. He has introduced a bill to remedy the situation for all pensioners so situated, but the mills of the law grind slowly and for this little old lady in a wheelchair, time is running out.

earn through sale of natural gas from the pipeline.

The largest of the four British firms affected by Lord Cockfield's announcement, John Brown and Co. Ltd., announced within an hour of his statement that it would go ahead at the end of August with deliveries of six of the 21 gas turbines it has agreed to supply for the 3,600-mile pipeline from Siberia to Western Europe.

The turbines, which use rotors made by the General Electric Co., were specifically targeted by Reagan's ban. But company Chairman Sir John Mayhew-Sanders said the firm will get the components outside the United States if it has to.

The other three British companies are Smith International (North Sea) Ltd., Baker Oil Tools Ltd. and American Air Filters Ltd. A total of 12 British companies hold $387 million worth of pipeline contracts.

The West Germany news magazine Der Spiegel reported the Soviet government has offered European firms deals to deliver U.S.-made equipment or equipment made under U.S. license from stocks on hand before Reagan's embargo took effect.

The magazine said this would allow delivery of at least one-fifth of the 125 turbines originally ordered for the pipeline. It said Moscow had given its European contractors until Aug. 21 to decide on the offer.

A spokeswoman for West Germany's AEG-Telefunken said the firm has not decided how to handle its turbine contracts.

volunteer, there's a limit to how much it can help. The caseload is far too large for volunteers, he says, and the expertise in many areas of poverty law just isn't to be found among private lawyers.

The president of the National Legal Aid Defender Association, a private group based in Washington, recently told the Wake County Bar Association that it is folly to think that pro bono can replace legal aid services. In tracing the history of pro bono back into the 19th century, Howard Eisenburg said private lawyers have never been able to substantially represent the poor in court.

Pro bono is nothing new to North Carolina. Abbott estimated that there are currently between 10 and 20 private lawyers helping LSNC in each of its 15 offices. With the new program, the two groups hope to better organize and expand that help.

Novelist Rona Jaffe 'Gratified' By Developing Of A TV Movie

By TOM JORY
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Rona Jaffe put her first novel, "The Best of Everything," in someone else's hands for adaptation to the screen, and the experience was not altogether satisfying.

"I was just a kid," she says today, "and they did what they wanted to the story."

The book, published in 1958, was a best-seller, and the 20th Century-Fox film, starring Joan Crawford and Hope Lange, was not a bad one — though it wasn't wholly Ms. Jaffe's creation.

The Brooklyn-born novelist is at work now on a TV movie based on "Mazes and Monsters," her latest book, and she's taking a more active part in the translation from the printed page.

"I didn't write the script," she says. "When you're so close to the book, it's difficult to make the kinds of cuts you have to make for a two-hour movie."

"The writer who's doing the script can see the high points in the novel," she says. "When you've written the 400-page book yourself, you consider everything a high point."

Ms. Jaffe, 49, is an associate producer of "Mazes and Monsters," which CBS plans to broadcast sometime in the coming season. Casting is under way — the novelist has a hand in that — and filming will begin early next month.

"They want a college campus that looks like it's in the East, and where they can film before the kids arrive from summer vacation, and after they get there," the novelist says.

Ms. Jaffe's novel is a thriller about four college students who take medieval roles to play a game called Mazes and Monsters — not unlike the current campus craze Dungeons and Dragons — as a way of suppressing their own adolescent problems. The game soon threatens the lives of its participants.

"The thing that's been very gratifying," she says, "is that everybody wants the movie to be as close to the book as possible. Usually, it seems they want to be as far away from the book as they can."

"As a novelist," Ms. Jaffe says, "when you see something totally different from what you've written, you get mad, because these are your children they're fooling with, your characters."

That's one reason she's been involved in the early stages of casting. "I don't expect to find a J.J. like the one I wrote about. It's not that easy."

"He doesn't necessarily have to be blond like my J.J. was in the book, but he has to have J.J.'s qualities. I want him to be appealing, and young, and noticeably intelligent."

"The girls," she says, "have to look like college girls. Too often, they get Dallas Cowboys cheerleaders to play college girls, and who believes that?"

Rona Jaffe studied acting with Lee Strasberg at the Actor's Studio, and the experience, she says, has been helpful in her new role as filmmaker.

"I think anyone who writes words actors are going to say should take acting. Too often," she says, "you see words written that actors have to stumble over, and stage directions that are ludicrous. If you've been an actor — or studied acting — you can avoid those problems."

Ignorant Of '79 Concert

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Agents for country music singer Johnny Paycheck say they don't know anything about the 1979 concert in Greensboro that the singer supposedly missed or the ensuing $26,605 judgment that led to Paycheck's arrest in Raleigh last weekend.

Paycheck was arrested early Sunday after a performance in Raleigh for allegedly failing to make good on the judgment against him for failing to show at the 1979 concert.

He was released after a bail bondsman agreed to guarantee payment of the civil judgment plus court costs and $6,219 in interest if the singer is later declared in default of the judgment.

However, Dick Blake of Lavender-Blake Agency of Nashville, Tenn., the agency that handled Paycheck's bookings at the time, said in a telephone interview that Shorty Lavender handled Paycheck's arrangements, but that Lavender died "six or seven months ago."

"I don't recall anything about it," Blake said. "I haven't had anything to do with Paycheck even before Shorty and I split up, which was before he died."

'E.T.' Recaptures Lead In Season Blockbusters

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial" recaptured the top slot in the weekend box office race from "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," but both films far outdistanced the rest of a huge pack of summer blockbusters.

Making a quick recovery from its only second-place showing since it was released nine weeks ago, "E.T." grossed $10.4 million at 1,521 theaters in the U.S. and Canada between Friday and Sunday, while "Whorehouse" roped in $9 million at 1,435 theaters.

It was the first weekend that "E.T." had slid below $11 million, but for the Paycheck was one of Shorty's artists, really. I don't know much about the man."

Paycheck's current booking agent, Tony Conway, also of Nashville, said he knew nothing of the 1979 concert.

"His attorney, who was aware of it as of Saturday night, is going to take it to court," Conway said in a telephone interview. "I really don't know much about it."

Conway said Paycheck is not scheduled to appear in North Carolina through 1983, but that "this wouldn't stop him from playing there. He posted bond and we'll fight it in court."

John Stackhouse, a Goldsboro businessman, filed suit against Paycheck in Wayne County Superior Court and his attorney said Stackhouse had obtained a default judgment in December 1981.

Stackhouse said in a telephone interview that Paycheck failed to show up after being billed as the top attraction in a three-act concert scheduled for the Greensboro Coliseum to benefit the North Carolina Burn Center, which later was built in Chapel Hill.

eight-straight week Steven Spielberg's tale of a lovable, stranded alien continued to set new records for gross receipts to date. The film has taken in $169.8 million in 52 days.

"Whorehouse," a musical starring Dolly Parton as a motherly madam and Burt Reynolds as her lawman boyfriend, has drawn $28.4 million since in 10 days of release.

The two Universal films' nearest competitor was something of a surprise: Paramount's "An Officer and a Gentleman" grabbed $3.3 million at only 346 theaters during its first weekend of release. The film, which stars Richard Gere and Debra Winger, is an unabashed romance-drama and was not expected to shine in a crowded field of mostly lighter films that generally attract summer audiences.

Another new entry, "Night Shift," checked in with a respectable $2.5 million at 683 theaters. The Ladd Co.-Warner Bros. comedy stars Henry Winkler and is directed by his former "Happy Days" sidekick, Ron Howard.

Also topping the $2 million mark last weekend were ABC-20th Century Fox's "Young Doctors in Love," $2.6 million at 796 theaters; MGM-UA's "Rocky III," $2.4 million at 1,147 theaters; Warner Bros.' "The World According to Garp," $2.4 million at 365 theaters; and 20th Century-Fox's "Six Pack," $2.1 million at 783 theaters.

With such films as "Poltergeist," "Annie," "Star Trek II," "TRON," and "Raiders of the Lost Ark" continuing to rake in more than $1 million a weekend, the overall summer box office picture is shaping up as the rosiest on record.

The entertainment newspaper Daily Variety predicted last week that total U.S. film box office receipts for the 15 weeks between Memorial Day weekend and Labor Day would reach at least $1.375 billion, 18 percent more than last summer's total.

If that estimate holds true, the newspaper said it would translate to sales of more than 440 million tickets during the period, 8 percent over the 1978 record of 410 million and 31 percent over median summer sales for the years 1969-81.

Attendance At Carowinds Up

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Carowinds' attendance is up and so is the average amount each person spends at the amusement park, according to Taft Broadcasting Co., which owns the park.

Attendance is 2 percent above last year's pace when 1.139 million entered the park, the highest attendance figure since 1.229 million visited in 1975.

In the three months ending June 30, 558,000 people have entered Carowinds' gates. Bolstered by a $1 admission increase to $10.75, the park's net revenues from April to June increased 8 percent to $7.6 million.

Officials said increased prices had helped raise per-person spending to an average of $13.95, up from $13.10 last year.

Middle Belt Leaf Quality Improving

By The Associated Press
Quality of offerings improved on Middle Belt flue-cured tobacco markets Monday, according to the Federal-State Market News Service.
The volume of lugs increased about 20 percent compared to last Thursday, while primings and nondescript declined a similar amount. Primings comprised 63 percent of sales; lugs, 30 percent; and nondescript, 5 percent.
Grade prices slipped mainly $1 to $4 per hundred from Thursday's levels. Most grades averaged even with or just above their support prices.
Middle Belt markets at Durham, Henderson, Louisburg, Oxford and Warrenton, hold their first sales Tuesday.

Grade prices were steady to stronger on the Eastern Belt as markets there began the second week of sales.
There was little change in lug grades but most primings and nondescript tobacco gained $2 to $5 per hundred. Stabilization Corp. receipts were estimated at 30 to 40 percent of gross sales.
Quality was about the same as last Thursday with good and fair quality lugs and primings making up nearly 80 percent of sales.
Stronger prices and improved quality marked the opening of the second sales week on the South Carolina-Border North Carolina markets.

See Need For Greater Hurricane Preparedness

By JOHN FLESHER
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Modern technology has improved forecasters' ability to predict when and where a hurricane will strike, but officials say many people in the state may be lulled into a false sense of security about the real dangers a hurricane poses.

John Sanders, a coastal weather specialist at North Carolina State University, says the biggest task facing hurricane specialists is educating the public about the possibility of a direct hit on the North Carolina coast and what would happen if precautions are not taken.
Many people think high winds pose the biggest threat during a hurricane, Sanders said. But far more dangerous to coastal residents is the "surge," a swell of water often 25 feet high which slams into the coast with the force to move virtually anything in its path, he said.
Nine out of 10 hurricane-related deaths are drownings, he added.
"In a recent survey, only about one out of every eight people on the coast was aware of the role which precipitation and storm surge play in causing widespread coastal flooding," Sanders said.
The key to avoiding injury or death from storm surge is timely evacuation, which was the subject of a Sea Grant project in which evacuation times for North Carolina coastal communities were estimated, Sanders said.
Using Holden Beach and Goose Creek Island as models, the study suggested that people be ordered to leave their homes and move inland eight to 13 hours before the eye of the hurricane is expected to reach the shore.
That would take into account time needed for mobilization, travel and delays at bridges and intersections, Sanders said.

Improvements of North Carolina's coastal roads are needed, since few are designed for the deluge of traffic that would occur with an evacuation, he said.
The N.C. Coastal Resources Commission may require all coastal communities to develop plans for coping with the aftermath of a hurricane or other natural disaster.
If the commission goes forward with that idea, it would offer guidelines for dealing with the emergencies but allow local governments to make their own policies.

said Todd Llewellyn of the N.C. Department of Natural Resources and Community Development. There has been a public hearing on the proposal but no decision has been reached.
Rebuilding of roads, movement of heavy equipment to disaster scenes and building-code adjustments would be among the topics the commission would address, Llewellyn said.

The Dog Star
There'll be a hot time in many an old town tonight — the torrid "dog days" of August have arrived. This "dog" tag was first used by the ancient Greeks, not as a cur's curse, but as a calendar device. They observed that the onslaught of sultry summer weather coincided with the rise of Sirius, the largest star in the constellation Canis Major — the "great dog." The brightest star in the night sky, it is only 8.6 light years from Earth and 23 times as bright as the sun. But not only does the weather get its name from the star, but the star may get its name from the weather. "Sirius" may have meant "scorched" in Greek.

DO YOU KNOW — For whom was the month of "August" named?
MONDAY'S ANSWER — Andrew Jackson, famous as an Indian fighter, was President in 1832.

Grade Average Up On Ga.-Fla. Mart

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — Grade averages continued to climb Monday on the Georgia-Florida flue-cured tobacco market, the Federal-State Market News Service reported.
Averages for most grades were up from $2 to $6 per hundred pounds from Friday's levels. Numerous sheets of better quality leaf and cutters sold for $205 per hundred pounds.
Preliminary gross sales figures on Monday were 4,230,591 pounds at an average of $185.11 per hundred pounds for a value of $7,831,231, bringing season totals to 44,660,695 pounds at an average of $165.17 for a value of $73,764,660.
Preliminary Georgia sales figures Monday were 3,254,126 pounds at an average of $183.92 per hundred pounds, for a value of $5,984,946. Florida sales were 976,465 pounds at an average of $189.08 per hundred pounds for a value of $1,846,285 pounds.
The largest gains of the day were posted by grade B3KM, up $8 with an auction bid of $195 per hundred pounds, and B4KM, also up $8 to $190.
The proportion of leaf appearing for sale Monday increased to around 45 percent of all sales, the service said.

Firm Destroyed By Explosion

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — An explosion Sunday night destroyed a business run by a man affiliated with the Hell's Angels Motorcycle Club, according to Winston-Salem police.

Fire investigators are trying to determine if there is a link between the explosion and one last month at the home of the leader of another motorcycle club.

The explosion Sunday blew out all the front windows and doors at Joe's Leathers, firemen said. The company produces leather products and artificial limbs.

Said 'Leading' Arms Supplier

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union, not the United States, is by far the world's largest supplier of arms to the developing Third World, according to a State Department report.

The report, based on "conservative U.S. intelligence estimates," states that over the last 10 years, the Soviet Union delivered 74,000 tanks, aircraft, warships, missiles and other major weapons of war to nations in the Middle East, Asia, Latin America and Africa.

That compares with some 44,000 delivered by the United States, the report said. It depicts the Soviet Union as escalating arms deliveries in the latter half of the decade from 1972 until now.

"In some weapons categories, Soviet deliveries have exceeded those of the United States for all or most of the decade," the State Department said.

"In the other categories, the Soviets surpassed U.S. deliveries by the mid-1970s," it said. "Today the Soviets exceed U.S. levels in most weapons categories considered in this report," with the exception of certain types of warships.

The report acknowledges that when arms sales to the Third World are measured by dollar values, the United States is ahead of the Soviet Union by a margin of roughly 2 to 1.

"The major reason for this is that well over half the dollar value of U.S. military transfers during this decade consists of construction, training and various other services, not weapons," the department said.

"By providing actual weapons transfer data for the first time, the new report gives the public a choice of perspectives from which to study this important issue," the department said.

The report said the Near East and South Asia make up the greatest Third World regional arms market.

States in that region buy the largest quantities, the greatest variety and the most sophisticated weapons, it said.

"Over the last decade, the region has received about 85 percent of the surface-to-air missiles, and some 70 percent of the heavy and light armor and the supersonic fighters exported," it said, in addition to about half of the artillery, missile-equipped patrol boats and helicopters.

Most of the states of the region have a rudimentary arms producing capacity of their own with major arms industries in Israel, Egypt and India, it said.

It said the Soviet Union does little if any construction in other countries and that training costs borne by Moscow are unknown.

James L. Buckley, undersecretary of state for security assistance, said the report, the first in an annual series, is intended to dispel "the myth" that the United States is the largest supplier of arms to the developing world.

"And it makes clear that, contrary to the popular image of the dizzying upward arms spiral, arms transfers in fact fluctuated widely from year to year and, viewed over a sufficiently long period of time, do not show a distinct upward trend," Buckley said.

Buckley defended U.S. arms transfers in general as "a legitimate and sometimes necessary instrument of foreign policy."

"To suggest, however, that the U.S. government in this or in past administrations has sought indiscriminately to press arms upon Third World nations is not supported by the facts," he said.

Principal

Russ Cotton, former principal of Farmville Central High School, has been made principal of Wellcome Middle School, county school officials announced today.

Cotton was transferred to Wellcome after a year's leave of absence to attend the North Carolina Leadership Institute for Principals. He was one of three principals in the state to be chosen as an executive assistant for the leadership institute.

A native of Red Springs, he earned his B.S. degree at Davidson and his M.A. at East Carolina University. He has over 20 years experience in education ranging from teaching to assistant principal to principal.

"My first few weeks at Wellcome will be a learning process," said Cotton, "but with strong support from the community and the dedication and leadership of the faculty we will have good things happening for kids at Wellcome."

Henderson Grabs 100th Base; A's Steal Game From Perry, Mariners

By The Associated Press
Rickey Henderson's penchant for thievery has rubbed off on his Oakland teammates, who stole a victory from Seattle. The Minnesota Twins didn't have that kind of lead to follow, yet they pulled off the same kind of heroics against California.

Henderson, baseball's premier base-stealer, notched No. 100 in Game 105, tying his own American League record, set in 1980, as the A's came from behind for a 6-5 decision over the Mariners Monday night. He is on course to break Lou Brock's major-league mark of 118 steals, set in 1974, when Brock had only 75 through 105 games.

"That's the greatest part, when you can tie or break a record in a game you win," said Henderson, who got his 100th in a four-run seventh-inning rally. "I think I'll be able to relax for the next 15 or 16."

Oakland trailed 5-0 as Matt Keough, who won for the first time at home after eight losses in a row, allowed a two-run double by Bruce Bochte and a two-run homer by Al Cowens.

The winning run, breaking a 5-5 tie, came when Henderson scored from third on a squeeze bunt by Dan Meyer. Gaylord Perry, who was after his 305th major-league victory, and three relief pitchers worked for Seattle in the seventh and the loss went to Mike Stanton, 1-3.

A two-run homer in the sixth by Tony Armas began the rally. Davey Lopes and Mitchell Page opened the seventh with singles off Gaylord Perry and Lopes scored as center fielder Joe Simpson overthrew third base. Page ended up at third and scored when Mike Heath doubled. After pinch-hitter Jeff Burroughs grounded out, Henderson singled, with Heath stopping at third.

Henderson then stole second with Ed Vande Berg pitching for Seattle and Dwayne Murphy at the plate. Murphy walked to load the bases, and a balk by Vande Berg brought home Heath with the tying run.

"The 100th was one of the toughest for me to steal. Getting the 99th seemed easy. I got a few hits Sunday but got thrown out when I ran, I've been thrown out five times in the last week," he added.

Henderson easily beat catcher Rick Sweet's throw to second for 100, with Heath at third, one out and Seattle leading 5-4 in the seventh.

"I had to check Heath at third before I threw to second," said Sweet. "That meant I was throwing a little late, anyway. With Rickey going, there was no way I could have gotten him."

With Henderson on third and Muffy at second, Meyer laid down the successful squeeze bunt.

The Twins scored three times in the seventh, liked it so much that they did it again in the eighth and then the ninth to overtake the Angels 9-7. The loss dropped California .002 behind Kansas City in the AL West as the Royals edged Detroit 6-5 in 10 innings.

Elsewhere, it was Cleveland 6, Texas 2; Boston 5, Baltimore 2, and Toronto 9, Milwaukee 4.

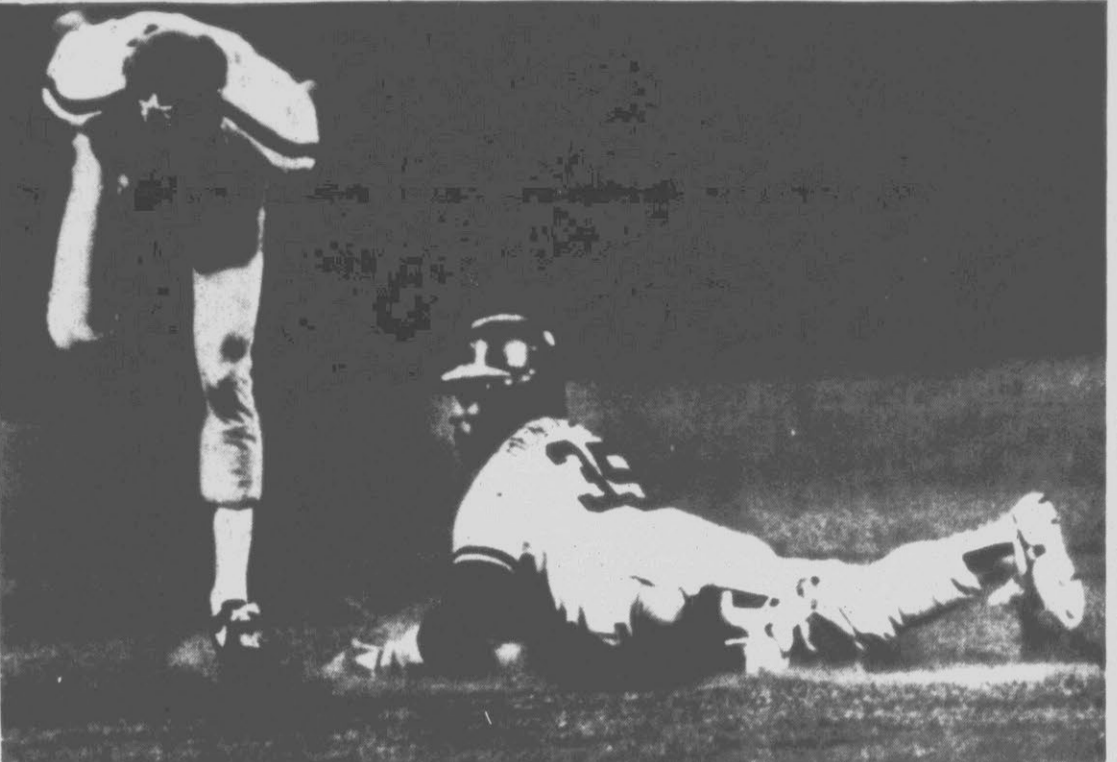

Twins 9, Angels 7
Ron Washington's two-run single in the ninth capped the Twins rally.

Gary Ward's three-run homer had brought Minnesota within 7-6 in the eighth. Tim Laudner walked to lead off the ninth and Randy Johnson doubled off reliever Luis Sanchez. With one out, Bobby Mitchell drew an intentional walk and Washington singled in two runs. Tom Brunansky then doubled home an insurance run.

"I can't say I was looking for a certain pitch, but they'd thrown me sliders all night and I was able to place this one," said Washington, who sliced it into right field. "I remember facing Sanchez three times in Venezuela. I got one hit off him."

Doug DeCinces ignited a four-run rally in the sixth with his fourth homer in five games for California. Teammate Fred Lynn also homered.

Pitt, Hamlet Open Series

Pitt County Post 39's American Legion baseball team will open a best-of-seven series for the Eastern North Carolina championship tonight at Harrington Field against Hamlet. Game time is 8 p.m.

Pitt County defeated Garner last week, four games to one, to win the Area I title, while Hamlet took a four games to two win over Whiteville for the Area II championship.

The winner of the series will advance to face the winner of the Asheboro-Cherryville series for the state championship.

Game two of the series will be played at Harrington on Wednesday night before the series moves to Rockingham for the next two games. A fifth game, if needed, would also be played in Rockingham, and should a sixth or seventh game be needed, they would be played back in Greenville.

Groh: Deacs Headed In Right Direction Despite ACC Prediction

By TOM FOREMAN Jr.
AP Sports Writer

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Wake Forest coach Al Groh says the Demon Deacons are headed down the road in the right direction despite pre-season predictions that his club will finish seventh in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Whether the Deacons can win consistently or not remains to be seen, but one thing is for certain, they will put the ball in the air.

Groh told a recent gathering of reporters at an ACC meeting in Pinehurst that he feels confident his team will improve on its 1981 mark of 4-7.

"I'm encouraged by where we're going. We won more games last year than we should have won," he continues. "We recruited better than we thought we would do and we had about as productive a spring practice as we could have hoped for."

The offense will once again be engineered by quarterback Gary Schofield, who passed for 504 yards on 43 of 62 attempts against Maryland last season, shattering several school, conference and NCAA records. Schofield's favorite receiver will be tight end Phil Denfeld, who snagged 51 passes for 461 yards.

"In Gary Schofield, we have a quarterback who showed his great potential and skill last year," says Groh. "With some of the things he did in the off-season, he's a better quarterback now than he was last year."

"The tight end part of the offense is really the cornerstone of the attack. Denfeld is tremendously important to us," he adds.

Tim Ryan will replace Wayne Baumgardner at split end with David Richmond behind him. Marshall Archie, another redshirt in 1981, appears to be the starting flanker, with Dexter Hawkins also coming off an injury last year.

When Schofield isn't throwing, he'll have a potpourri of running backs to choose from. Wake Forest was last in rushing in the ACC in 1981, averaging 81.5 yards a game. Upperclassmen Duane Owens and Carlos Cunningham will find themselves battling for playing time with 10 freshmen.

Offensive guards Danny Martin and Pat Slenski return for their junior seasons. Senior Lee Vernon goes against sophomore redshirts Bobby Morrison, Glen Campbell and Bill Schuchman for the tackle spots.

Converted tight end Michael Nessel and transfer Greg Gunter are the candidates at center.

"As a group, our offensive line right now is stronger and better than it was last year at this time," says Groh.

Wake Forest was last in defense in 1981. Groh said he worked hard to bring in top quality defensive players, although he did not indicate whether any freshmen would start immediately.

Steve Hammond returns at inside linebacker after enduring a knee injury which doctors had predicted would end his career. Steve Litaker and Malcolm Hairston will vie for the other position.

Eddie Green, injured most of last year, is expected to provide leadership at cornerback. He'll be joined by Henderson Threatt.

Mike Hodgson is the only returning starter at defensive end, with converted tight ends Bruce Mark and Rodger Morrill trying to win the other spot.

Junior college transfer Tony Coates looks to be the starter at nose guard, while Randall Singleton, Mike Ferraro and Robert Sherrord wait their turns.

Pierre Brown, a member of the defensive secondary last season, is one of several players switched to outside linebacker for 1982. John Piedmonte and Kent Simon, the latter an inside linebacker in 1981, are hoping to start at the other position.

"I don't see us suddenly becoming a 'Steel Curtain' on defense," says Groh. "I think we're a team that will play the game more consistently, more aggressively, more organized than we did last year."

Now Coach Is Talking Strike

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The National Football League players aren't the only ones talking about a strike this season. Add Minnesota Vikings head coach Bud Grant and his staff to the list.

Grant and his coaching staff threatened to strike this Saturday's Hall of Fame game at Canton, Ohio unless they are paid for working the game, Grant said Monday.

The Vikings are scheduled to meet the Baltimore Colts in the nationally televised opener of the 1982 NFL exhibition season. Merlin Olsen, Sam Huff, Doug Atkins and George Musso will be inducted in the NFL Hall of Fame prior to the game.

"Coaches involved in the playoffs get a share equal to what the players get," Grant said at the Vikings training camp at Mankato, Minn. "The same is true of the Pro Bowl, but not the Hall of Fame game. The coaches get zilch."

Grant said he went through the proper channels last month when he asked Vikings' General Manager Mike Lynn to write NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle's office to request pay for the coaches.

"They've done nothing, per say," said Grant of the request.

Lynn, who said he was not aware of Grant's threatened strike, said:

"When I wrote the league office on the subject of coaches pay, they replied, 'No, no pay for the coaches at this time'" Lynn said.

It was an answer Grant and his staff found slightly unacceptable.

"Players get paid extra for the game but we don't, so we may strike the game," Grant said. "The coaching staff may go, but not coach."

Moye Sparks Greenville Win

BOONE — Greenville's North State Little League All-Stars rolled to an 8-3 victory behind the four-hit pitching of Tom Moye yesterday to advance to the North Carolina State Little League semifinals.

The North Staters tripped South Buncombe County in the opening game, and will meet Tri-Community, a 6-5 winner over Lenoir in a 5 p.m. game today. In the other game, Myers Park, as 12-5 victor over West Fayetteville, takes on King, which had a first-round bye.

The two winners meet Thursday for the state title, with the winner advancing into the South Regional next week in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Moye, in gaining the win, struck out 11 and walked two. He also led the team's hitting with three in four trips.

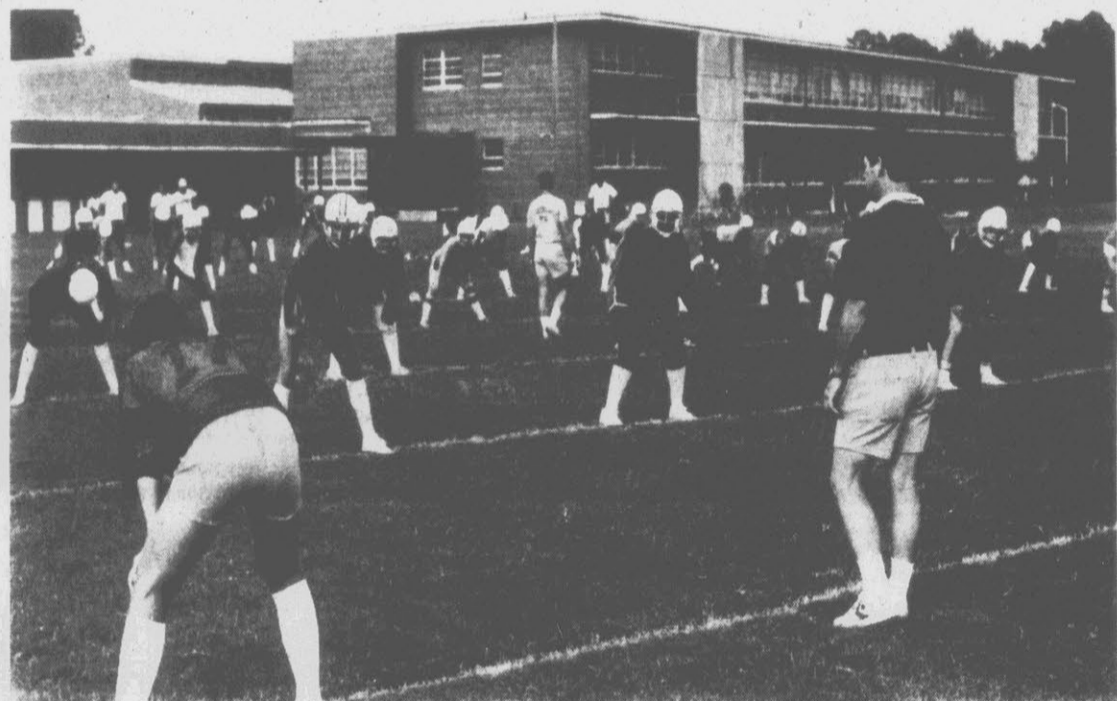

Greenville took the lead in the game in the first inning, scoring three times and were never caught. Morris Johnson reached on a fielder's choice and Brian Pierce walked. Moye then doubled to drive in both runners. He later scored on a hit by Tony Evans to make it 3-0.

South Buncombe came up with two in the bottom of the frame, but never caught up. Greenville added three more in the fourth for a 6-2 lead, and picked up two more in the fifth. South Buncombe's other run came in the bottom of the fifth.

Pierce and Jeff Mahoney each added two hits in three appearances for Greenville.

Practice Opens

Vincent Welcomes 80 Candidates As Rose Opens Football Practice

Rose High School football coach Ronald Vincent, having taken over the helm of the Rampants on his own this season, welcomed some 80 candidates to yesterday as fall practice got underway.

Vincent served as interim coach last year and was recently named to the position on a regular basis.

Vincent said he was looking for about ten more out before the first week of drills, without pads, comes to an end.

"They seem to be in a little bit better shape than they have been in the last few years," Vincent said of the team's condition on the first day. "There have been no surprises so far."

Vincent said the goals of the week are to get the offense in, along with the basics of the defense, in addition to bringing the team into physical condition for the season.

Rose will stick with the I formation on offense and the 4-4 alignment on defense.

"We don't have to do a whole lot of teaching this year, just primarily some reviewing," Vincent said.

Chief areas of concern include receivers, quarterbacks, defensive backs and linebackers. "We'll have a rookie quarterback, but I don't expect it to be too much of a problem since they played junior varsity. It's just a matter of getting some experience.

The Rampants will go through once-a-day drills this week, each evening at 6 p.m.

On Saturday, they will work at 10 a.m. Starting next Monday, they will go to two-a-days, at 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. as they don full gear.

Rose is scheduled to scrimmage against Washington on Thursday, August 19, in Greenville. The time and site of that scrimmage has not been firmed up.

Rose opens the season against Jacksonville on Friday, September 3, at 8 p.m. in Ficken Stadium.

NFL Players Ask For Talks At Site Of Eagles' Grid Camp

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Football League Players Association is proposing that its contract talks with the National Football League resume on Thursday in West Chester, Pa.

But the league opposes holding the talks at the site of the Philadelphia Eagles' training camp. Management Council spokesman Jim Miller said such a locale would be a "disruptive force."

"How would you like to be a coach and have the league's negotiating sessions going on two doors down the hall," Miller asked.

NFLPA Executive Director Ed Garvey said that holding the talks in West Chester would allow the participation of John Bunting, the Eagles' player representative. Bunting is a member of the union's negotiating team.

"It is imperative that the players on the negotiating committee be included in the talks," Garvey said in a message sent Monday to the owners' bargaining agent, the NFL Management Council.

Union officials say members of the negotiating team must stay close to a practice facility to stay in shape as the regular season draws near.

Jack Donlan, executive director of the management council, was unavailable for comment on the proposal.

The talks, alternating between Washington, site of the union's headquarters, and New York, where the league's offices are located, have been in recess for 10 days as both parties have failed to agree to a site for the next round of negotiations.

Earlier Monday, Donlan had suggested negotiators meet Thursday and Friday in Washington to be followed by a session next week in New York.

The collective bargaining agreement between the union and the league expired July 15.

Major stumbling blocks to a solution remain the union's demand players be paid a percentage of each team's gross revenues and management's insistence the new contract include a provision for drug testing.

Kaat's Failure At The Bat Costs Cards

By The Associated Press
Jim Kaat pitched as well as St. Louis Cardinal Manager Whitey Herzog could have expected — it was his hitting that left something to be desired.

Kaat failed to come through at the plate in the clutch situations, in the 12th and 16th innings, and it was one of the reasons the Cardinals lost to the Pirates 4-2 in 17 innings. The Pirates finally got to the crafty left-hander on Johnny Ray's two-run triple in the 17th, wrapping up a game that lasted nearly five hours.

Tanner refused to second-guess Herzog, labeling Kaat "a good hitter" and pointing out "he can swing the bat."
"I'm never astounded," Tanner added. "I let Rick (Rhoden, Pirate pitcher) hit in the seventh. Tanner also sent up pitcher Don Robinson to pinch-hit in the 15th."
"You utilize your personnel and do what you have to do," Tanner said.

Kaat wasn't surprised that Herzog sent him up to hit for himself.
"Whitey just asked me how I felt. I felt good. I'm disappointed I didn't get the run home," Kaat said.
Kaat was the fourth St. Louis pitcher and previously had pitched five hitless innings in his longest stint of the season.

Dale Berra led off the 17th with a single, was sacrificed to second and stayed there when Omar Moreno walked. Ray's triple sailed over the bag at third base and caromed off the wall in left at Busch Stadium.
The hit made a winner of Enrique Romo, who took over for Pittsburgh in the 15th inning and squeezed out of a bases-loaded, none-out St. Louis threat an inning later.

The Cardinals stranded 24 baserunners, three shy of the National League record for an extra-inning game. The Pirates left 13 aboard for a two-team total of 37 in the four hour, 55-minute game.
In other NL action, it was Philadelphia 2, Montreal 1; Houston 6, San Diego 4; Atlanta 7, San Francisco 3 and Cincinnati 5, Los Angeles 1.

Phillies 2, Expos 1
Bo Diaz drove in both runs with his 17th home run and a sacrifice fly to lead Philadelphia over Montreal.
Larry Christenson, 7-5, scattered eight hits over seven innings before leaving with a sore back and then got shutout relief help from Ron Reed and Tug McGraw, who posted his fifth save of the season. Christenson had back spasms and was carried out on a stretcher from the dugout.
Bill Gullickson, 8-0, was the loser although he gave up just five hits.

Astros 6, Padres 4
Jose Cruz's two-run double in the eighth inning keyed a five-run rally that lifted Houston over San Diego.
Houston entered the eighth trailing 4-1, but Art Howe led off with a single and scored one out later on Dickie Thon's triple. Tony Scott drove in Thon with a single off reliever Gary Lucas, 0-8, and after Ray Knight singled, Cruz delivered his big double.
Cruz, who went to third on the throw to the plate, scored on Danny Heep's sacrifice fly to make it 6-4.
Joe Niekro, 11-7, struck five hits over eight innings, allowing out three and walking one. Dave Smith pitched the ninth to earn his eighth save.

Judge Says No To Trial Delay; No Agreement Yet On Talks Site

By The Associated Press
The judge in California did the balking, the coach in Minnesota threatened some walking and players did no talking as the National Football League drew closer to the opening of its exhibition season.
U.S. District Court Judge Harry Pregerson turned down the NFL's request for a delay in the damage phase of the Raiders-NFL antitrust trial.

The Los Angeles Coliseum has asked for $53 million in damages from the league and the Raiders seek $160 million.
A federal jury ruled last May that the league violated antitrust law when it blocked the Raiders move from Oakland to Los Angeles. The NFL is still appealing that decision.
In Mankato, Minn., Vikings head Coach Bud Grant and his staff have threatened to strike this Saturday's Hall of Fame game because the coaching staff is not being paid for working the exhibition between Minnesota and the Baltimore Colts.

"Players get paid extra for playing the game but we don't, so we (the coaching staff) may strike the game," said Grant at the Vikings training camp. "The staff may go, but not coach."
The NFL turned down a Vikings request several weeks ago that the coaching staff be paid for the game.
Meanwhile, talks between the league and the NFL Players Association are still bogged down because the two sides can't agree on a site to conduct negotiations for a new collective bargaining agreement.

The players union hinted that Chester, Pa., the site of the Philadelphia Eagles training camp, would be acceptable, while management suggested meetings in Washington Thursday and Friday, with discussions continuing in New York next week.
Louie Kelcher, whose retirement last week surprised the San Diego Chargers, gave no indications he planned to return. The 28-year-old three-

Alfredo Griffin, who hit safely in 18 of 22 games and batted .321 last month, stroked a pair of doubles, drove in three runs and scored twice to continue his hot batting.

The Cardinals stranded 24 baserunners, three shy of the National League record for an extra-inning game. The Pirates left 13 aboard for a two-team total of 37 in the four hour, 55-minute game.
In other NL action, it was Philadelphia 2, Montreal 1; Houston 6, San Diego 4; Atlanta 7, San Francisco 3 and Cincinnati 5, Los Angeles 1.

"I've been swinging the bat better each day," said Griffin, whose average is up to .244. "I'm getting my pitch and being more patient at the plate. Before, I was swinging no matter where the pitcher threw the ball and I was swinging at a lot of bad pitches."

Red Sox 5, Orioles 2
John Tudor won for the first time in six weeks as Boston handed Baltimore its fifth consecutive defeat.

"We hit the heck out of the ball in Chicago and couldn't score," Red Sox Manager Ralph Houk said, thinking about checked-swings by Dwight Evans and Carl Yastrzemski which knocked in runs. "Tonight, they dropped in."

Indians 6, Rangers 2
Rick Sutcliffe threw a five-hitter to lower his American League-leading earned run average to 2.74.

Sutcliffe, acquired last winter from the Los Angeles Dodgers, is 9-4 and, since May 17, Cleveland has won 15 of the 19 games he's pitched.

Clippers Take Cautious Stance

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The San Diego Clippers, encouraged but guardedly optimistic by Bill Walton's spectacular start in his latest comeback bid, say it's too early to start counting on his return.
Walton, his career blunted 2½ years ago at age 26 by a brittle foot, scored 24 points, had 21 rebounds and seven blocked shots Saturday night in his first major test of the injury-prone foot. His performance came Saturday night at Las Vegas in an alumni game between former UCLA and University of Nevada Las Vegas standouts.

Based on what he saw and heard of Walton's effort, Podleski said, "There's no question in my mind he's still the best center in basketball if he's capable of playing."
Walton, still under contract to the Clippers and on the club's injured reserve list, is welcome to attend the Clippers' 1982 training camp, Podleski said, and he "looks like he's capable of playing."

manager of the Clippers, said Monday "One game is just one step back. Every time progress is made you're pleased, but if you don't keep things in the proper perspective you could lose your mind."

Rocky Mount has won the Eastern Regionals every year since it began in 1977.
Mike Quesenberry and Alan Arrington led the awesome Rocky Mount attack with 21-under par 87's. Goldsboro was led by Kevin Best with an 89.

Rocky Mount, playing on its home course, led by only one stroke after the first round, but pulled away for the easy win in the second and third rounds.

The Greenville Putt-Putt team was leading Rocky Mount by seven strokes and Goldsboro by 33 before the conclusive match.

After the dust settled, Rocky Mount was first with a total of 2,768 strokes, followed by Greenville at 2,796 and Goldsboro at 2,821.

Rocky Mount has won the Eastern Regionals every year since it began in 1977.
Mike Quesenberry and Alan Arrington led the awesome Rocky Mount attack with 21-under par 87's. Goldsboro was led by Kevin Best with an 89.

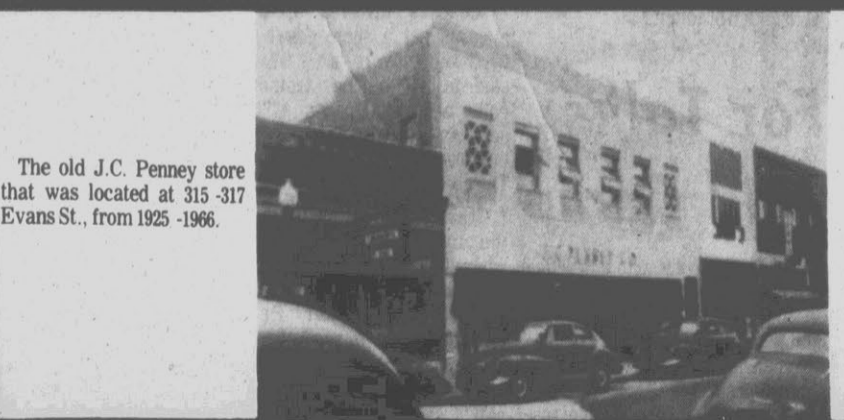

Greenville was led by Robbie Ehrmann with an 89, Bobby Ipock and Danny Harris with 90's, Jake Loftin with 97, and Allen Elder with a 98.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR has been advertising local businesses since January 26, 1882.

In August, 1925, the J.C. Penney Company opened a store in Greenville. Vida Crawford has worked in the Greenville store for 40 years, a store record. She remembers "when the original store was a two-story building on Evans Street, located where Coffman's Men's Wear is now".
Christine Windham, an employee of 30 years who works in Fashions, remembers when the department was called "ready-to-wear".
"You couldn't buy better men's work clothes anywhere", said Windham. "And the store very seldom stayed open past 5:30 p.m. Oh, once in awhile during the Christmas holidays we would stay open later than that, but not often."
Another employee of 30 years, Richard Meeks, is currently a salesperson in auto supply. "At one time I was an assistant manager of the old store," said Meeks, "but I like selling better."
Asked if he was an avid car enthusiast, he responded, "Nope, I didn't know much at all about autos when I first started selling auto supplies in 1976. My hobbies are hunting, fishing and boats."
All three employees are natives of Pitt County and remember when only 15 employees did all the work at the store. Now there are 65 full-time employees at the Penney's store in Pitt Plaza.
The present store opened in August of 1966 and is currently managed by William Hopper.
"We have seven employees who have worked at Penney's in Greenville for a combined total of 167 years," said Hopper. "We are quite pleased to be in Greenville. The customer/merchandise match-up seems to just perfect."
"And we have been very satisfied in our relationship with THE DAILY REFLECTOR. They have cooperated to the fullest."

The old J.C. Penney store that was located at 315-317 Evans St., from 1925-1966.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, AUG. 4, 1982

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to make sure that you are aware of the needs and wishes of close ties and to be truly cooperative. Make long-range plans to have more abundance in the days ahead.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Associates are likely to be demanding today so try to cooperate with them and avoid arguments. Keep calm with everyone.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try to be more cooperative with co-workers and improve harmony and quality of work. Sidestep an opponent.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't get involved in any expensive pleasures or new projects that you cannot handle comfortably. Be logical.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't irritate anyone at home but try to establish more harmony there instead. Strive for happiness.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have to exercise great care in motion today to avoid possible accident. Do nothing that could harm your good name.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study your duties well and then handle them in a most precise manner. You can easily gain your aims at this time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't try to force others to do things or you could get negative reactions. Make sure you keep your eye on your wallet.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Investigating into whatever is puzzling to you is wise and beneficial at this time. Maintain a cheerful manner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) It's important you show friends that you are devoted, otherwise you could lose some of them. Be wise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to use much tact in handling public affairs at this time to be successful. Show that you have ability.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Many fascinating new outlets come into the horizon, but study them objectively before making any decisions.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be sure to handle your responsibilities in a most efficient and conscientious way, and they are soon behind you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be good at solving own problems as well as those of others, so be sure to give as fine an education as you can that will stress modern ways of doing things. One who will be interested in social subjects.

Just a little deception can go a long way. Israeli internationalist, Shaya Levit was the star of this hand from a recent tournament in Monte Carlo.

We have to admit that we have become somewhat more cautious as we have grown older, and we doubt that we would have sat for three hearts doubled with the East cards. Almost certainly our prudent retreat to three spades would have been vindicated because it's unlikely that we would have found the defense against three hearts that Levit did.

West opened a low club, declarer played low from dummy and East's eight was captured by the jack. Declarer led a low trump and successfully finessed dummy's nine. The queen of clubs was covered by the king and taken by the ace. After declarer ruffed his last club on the table, he led the king of hearts, which lost to the ace.

The jack of spades from West was ducked, and Levit made his first fine play when he went up with the ace. He reverted to a club, which promoted his partner's jack of hearts to a trick via an over-ruff. The defenders still needed two tricks, and with the king of diamonds inside, it would seem that one would be their limit. But watch what happened.

West continued with the ten of spades. Declarer played the queen from dummy and Levit followed with the three! Declarer won a trick to which he was not entitled, but Levit had a count of the hand and knew that one diamond discard was not going to help declarer.

However, now declarer thought that West held king of spades, so East had to have the king of diamonds for his opening bid. With this picture of the hand in mind, declarer continued with the ace of diamonds and another, playing low from dummy after West smoothly produced the ten, in the hope that East had started with a doubleton king. East scored the jack of diamonds, and West still had to make his king for the setting trick. The 200 East-West score for down one doubled and vulnerable was a top score on the board.

Farm Leaders Generally Lukewarm To Reagan Talk

Doctors Reportedly Believe That Hinckley Continues To Be Threat

By LARRY MARGASAK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — If a federal judge follows the advice of John W. Hinckley's doctors, the man who wounded President Reagan will remain hospitalized because he's a danger to himself and actress Jodie Foster.

Sources said a medical team from St. Elizabeths Hospital wrote U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker on Monday that Hinckley has serious personality disorders and should not be released.

Parker refused to make the report public immediately, but the sources, familiar with the two-page letter of findings and 200 pages of medical records, confirmed the contents. They spoke on condition that they not be identified.

The judge has scheduled a hearing Monday to determine whether Hinckley should be let out of St. Elizabeths, the federal mental facility he entered June 21 after a jury found him innocent by reason of insanity.

Hinckley has not asked for his freedom and could decide to waive the release hearing he's entitled to under the law. If he remains at St. Elizabeths, either voluntarily or because Parker orders it, Hinckley could return to court every six months to ask for his release.

To let Hinckley out Parker must find, by a preponderance of the evidence, that he is not likely to injure himself or other persons due to mental illness.

According to the sources, the St. Elizabeths doctors said Hinckley is afflicted with the depression and personality disorders described in detail at his trial for shooting Reagan, White House Press Secretary James Brady and two law enforcement officers.

According to that trial testimony, that means Hinckley has fantasies, exhibits odd behavior, has an exaggerated feeling of self-importance and is socially isolated.

One doctor said at his trial that Hinckley has a lonely person's disorder, like some cowboys and librarians.

Twice since he's been in custody, Hinckley has attempted suicide — once by taking an overdose of the painkiller Tylenol and another time by hanging himself. The St. Elizabeths doctors believe this danger still exists.

Hinckley, in an interview after his trial, spoke about his current feelings for Miss Foster, the actress who rejected him.

"I don't think I would go stalking after her...if we were in the same room there might be some problem," he told Washington Post reporter Laura Kiernan, who he telephoned a week after the trial.

Hinckley left love letters under Miss Foster's door at Yale University, where she was a student, and talked to her on the telephone. She told him, politely, to stop calling.

Hinckley also wrote a letter just before the March 30, 1981 shooting, saying he would get Reagan in order to impress her and win her love.

In the conversation with Miss Kiernan, Hinckley also said, "I certainly would not be a danger to myself and I honestly don't think I've been a danger to society...I certainly would not be a danger to the president. I'll say that for sure."

Hinckley went to trial on a 13-count indictment that charged him with attempting to kill the president and assaulting, with intent to kill, all four of his victims.

Defense psychiatrists said Hinckley suffered from severe schizophrenia and could not distinguish reality from fantasy. He believed, the defense said, that by shooting the president, he could form a magical union with Miss Foster.

The prosecution doctors contended that Hinckley had personality disorders, but they did not prevent him from appreciating the wrongfulness of his act or conforming his conduct to requirements of the law.

By STEVE DAUGHERTY
Associated Press Writer

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The reaction of farm leaders to President Reagan's speech to the National Corn Growers Association ranged from pleasure and satisfaction to disappointment, with critics saying it held "nothing new."

"I think it was pretty favorable," said Raymond Heck, who farms near the central Iowa community of Perry and is president of the Iowa Soybean Association. "I'm a lot more satisfied with things now than I was before the speech."

In Monday's address, Reagan said the extension of the grain trade agreement with the Soviet Union "would have the sanctity of a contract, ensuring U.S. farmers' access to the Soviet market."

Heck recalled that at the Iowa Governor's Export Conference in late June in Cedar Rapids, representatives of the U.S. State Department and U.S. Commerce Department had said the issue was not a long-term grain agreement with the Soviet Union. The issue, the officials had told Heck, was whether or not to trade with the Soviets at all.

Heck, who toured the Dee Brothers Farm near the Marshall County community of State Center with the president after the speech, said he asked Reagan if his remark applied to all contracts and the president replied it did.

"Put the two together," said Heck, referring to the extension and the sanctity comment, "and I'm pretty pleased."

That pleasure, however, apparently was not widespread in the agriculture community.

De Von Woodland, a farmer-rancher from Blackfoot, Idaho, and president of the Corning-based National Farmers Organization, saw no landmark signal in Reagan's comments.

"It's taken for granted that we'll honor contracts,"

Woodland said. "We've never intended to break contracts. Sanctity of contracts is just a simple way of doing business as usual in agriculture. We expect the government to do things the same way."

Woodland said the speech contained "nothing new." The export theme is overworked, he complained.

"Exports have their place, and we need to look for and expand those," Woodland said. "But you've got to have more than a market, you've got to have a price."

Curt Sorteberg, assistant to the president of the Iowa Farmers Union, was another critic of the president's remarks.

"I would say he said nothing in as long a period of time as I've ever heard," Sorteberg said.

"I think that what we've done is send a message to the rest of the exporting countries that they can move in on the Soviet market."

"This is a sad day for American farmers," he continued. "I was sincerely hoping that the president would come up with something new" to get rid of the huge grain surplus.

Louis Faivre, a DeKalb, Ill., farmer and vice president of the Illinois Corn Growers Association, complained of the lack of administration urgency to deal with the Soviets.

"We don't control the market," Faivre said. "Even our closest allies, like Canada, are snickering at us, I imagine," because they plan to make their grain available to the Soviets, he said.

Dean Kleckner, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, was kinder.

"I think it should be pleasing to farmers," he said of the speech. "He emphasized the area of exports. He said we must restore confidence in our reliability as a supplier, and that is the No. 1 area that we have to work on."
