Deaths Blamed On Panic

Apartment Fire Kills 18 People

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A fire roared through an aging downtown apartment building Saturday, killing 18 people who apparently panicked and ran to their deaths in burning hallways, authorities said.

Authorities originally termed the fire "suspicious," but later said arson had been ruled out as a cause.

At least 38 people were injured, some when they jumped out windows in the four-story Dorothy Mae apartment hotel. Many of the one-room apartments were packed with beds.

The 50-year-old brick building on Sunset Boulevard had been deemed a "high-risk" potential fire hazard by the city at least a decade ago.

Half the victims were children — four of them infants.

Five of the injured, including a 14-month-old boy, were listed in "extremely critical" condition with second- and third-degree burns over 90 percent of their bodies, said a county health spokesman.

"There's no question, there's no doubt, that if those people had stayed in their rooms, they'd still be alive today," said Deputy Chief Al Shultz.

Dozens of the survivors were rescued by neighbors and firefighters who yelled at frightened residents to stay away from the hallways, said Battalion Chief Gerald Johnson.

"If these people had stayed in their rooms, they'd be OK," Johnson said of the fatalities.

Most of the victims were Hispanic, he said, adding that he was concerned there may have been more unreported injuries.

"Several who might have been illegal aliens ... may have been burned or hurt (but) they just took off because they were scared," Johnson said.

All but two of the one-room apartments were virtually untouched by smoke or flame, and smoke alarms still blared in several apartments two hours after the blaze was extinguished.

Smoke detectors are not required in apartment hallways, said fire department spokesman Ed Reed.

Between 170 and 200 people lived in the brick, stucco-front building, located in a low-income area five miles east of the heart of Hollywood.

The swift-moving blaze, which broke out at 4:27 a.m., was not controlled until 90 minutes later because firefighters made rescue of the residents their first priority, Reed explained.

City Fire Chief Allen Evansen said arson investigators ruled out a "suspicious" cause, but were not sure what caused the blaze, which may have started in the first-floor boiler room or near the second-floor stair landing.

He added that the fire "probably was burning 45 minutes before we got the call. You can't fault that (Please turn to A-2)

Greenville Fire and Rescue personnel pour a steady stream of water on the recently filled hole on First Street to show, according to Greenville Public Works Director Mayo Allen, where the weak spots are. Allen said the street, opened to traffic Friday, will remain unpaved for 30 days or "until we see just where trouble spots, if any, are located." (Reflector Photo By Mary Schulken)

University Salary Levels Are Based On Degrees

By MELVIN LANG
Reflector Staff Writer

A national comparison of salaries for university and college professors released last week showed a wide range of pay for faculty members at the 15 academic branches of the University of North Carolina.

Raymond H. Dawson, UNC vice president for academic affairs, says that's as it should be because those salaries are based on the degree-granting level of the particular university.

"If you leave out the medical schools (and school of dentistry at Chapel Hill) we get the same budgeted appropriation" for all campuses, Dawson said, explaining that the institutions that grant doctorates also carry the highest pay scales.

For the UNC system, academic doctorates now may be granted at UNC-Chapel Hill, UNC-Greensboro and N.C. State. Those three schools also top the list of faculty pay levels in the system.

According to the American Association of University Professors, full professors at UNC-Chapel Hill earned an average of $41,500 for a nine-month period in 1981-82. Professors at UNC-Greensboro were paid an average $38,500 while those at N.C. State earned $38,100.

In contrast, the pay dropped sharply on other UNC-affiliated campuses. UNC-Charlotte paid its professors $33,300 and East Carolina University professors drew $31,500.

Salary levels dropped again at the other institutions.

The salaries cited by the AAUP, as reported in the Chronicle of Higher Education, do not include fringe benefits nor do they include salaries of professors at the system's school of dentistry and two schools of medicine. Dawson said that, basically, the only other factor involved in salaries for professors would be payments from endowments — again, primarily at UNC-Chapel Hill, UNC-Greensboro and N.C. State.

Dawson, in a telephone interview, said the UNC system "did very well" in the comparisons with other universities. The study listed $48,500, for a full professor at Harvard University, as the highest average salary.

"Overall, this was a pretty good showing," Dawson said, pointing out that professors at North Carolina's state universities received a 15 percent pay raise for 1980-81 and 10 percent in 1981-82.

He noted, however, that the system "will lose ground" on a comparative basis this year because of a state freeze on salaries.

Democrats Step Up Campaigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comeback-hungry Democrats stepped up their political tempo this Labor Day weekend with speeches denigrating Ronald Reagan as "a president who only listens to millionaires" and blaming his policies for continuing high unemployment.

Reagan defended his economic policies in a radio address Saturday and planned to plunge into the 1982 campaign on Thursday with an appearance in Utah on behalf of Republican Sen. Orrin Hatch, who is facing a tough re-election battle.

In the broadcast from his mountaintop ranch in California, Reagan said the current high unemployment rate is caused by long-time economic policies — not just the current recession.

Former Vice President Walter F. Mondale also was on the radio this weekend — the traditional start of the campaign season — with five-minute speeches scheduled Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

In his Saturday speech, Mondale said the Reagan administration "is well on the way toward creating two Americas — one where the well-to-do get more and more, and another where the rest of us get less and less."

Mondale will be in Pennsylvania on Tuesday to campaign for Democratic candidates for the House and Senate.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, heavily favored to win election to a sixth term, was spending the Labor Day weekend on Cape Cod with his family and then heading for Kentucky on Tuesday to address a Democratic fund-raising event.

Sen. John Glenn of Ohio, another Democrat with presidential ambitions, was campaigning in North Carolina on Saturday and was scheduled to help Democrats in Ohio on Monday. He is not up for re-election this year.

Democratic Party leaders sent a sample speech to local party officials looking for something to say on Labor Day.

"Labor Day 1982 is Job-Wanted Day for the 3 million Americans who've lost their jobs since Ronald Reagan's unfair, unworkable economic program became law," was the opening line of the Democratic speech.

Collards Ayden Gears Up For More Greens

Ayden will hold its annual celebration of the collard this week, complete with collard-cooking and collard-eating contests. And for those who haven't learned to appreciate the homegrown delicacy, there will be athletic contests, dances, wild west shows and carnival rides.

The week-long Ayden Collard Festival begins Monday with softball and tennis tournaments. Carnival rides and amusements will open Tuesday on West Avenue in front of the town hall, and on Wednesday, a disco-soul dance will be held on West Avenue from 8-midnight.

The Miss Collard Beauty Pageant is scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Ayden Middle School. The Blue Diamond Band, a local country-western band, will perform on West Avenue at 8 p.m.

The festival will climax Saturday with the following events:

•10 a.m., 3 p.m., 6 p.m. 9 p.m., wild west shows on West Avenue featuring Marshall Destin.

•11 a.m., Dr. Eddie West, superintendent of Pitt County Schools, will speak at pre-parade ceremonies on West Avenue.

•11:30 a.m., the 1982 Collard Festival Parade will begin.

At noon, judging for the the Collard-Cooking Contest will be held. This event, along with the Collard-Eating Contest, will be filmed by PM Magazine, according to Willis Manning, executive director of the festival. The contest will be limited to 25 entries, he said, and persons interested in entering should contact Carol Ann Hardee. Winners will be announced at 1 p.m.

•2 p.m., the Collard-Eating Contest featuring three-time champ D.A. Rogers of Snow Hill, will begin on West Avenue. Rogers, say festival officials, holds the world's record for downing collards — six and one-fourth pounds in 30 minutes.

•5 p.m., the Collard Festival Fun Runs will be held, followed by the 10,000 meter run.

•8 p.m.-midnight, the street dance featuring the Band of Oz will be held on West Avenue. In addition, a gospel sing will be held at the Silver Nugget Saloon on West Avenue.

On Sunday, carnival rides will run all day and a gospel sing will be held at 2 p.m. at the Pentecostal Holiness Church.

For further information about the 1982 Collard Festival contact Willis Manning at 746-2752 or the Ayden Town Hall, 746-4152.

Karen Oakley's T-shirt carries the message: Here comes some collard eaters from Ayden, so ... Watch Your Mess. Weinberger 'Encouraged' By Talks With Egyptians

By United Press International
U.S. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said Saturday he was "very much encouraged" by talks with Egyptian leaders on the American initiative for peace in the Mideast, a proposal adamantly opposed by Israel.

In Beirut, the coastal road was open to traffic for the first time since mid-June despite Israeli maneuvers that sent troops to the edge of the nearby Sabra refugee camp for a second straight day.

Weinberger met with Egyptian President

Hosni Mubarak for 75 minutes in Alexandria to discuss President Reagan's blueprint for bringing peace to the Mideast. He called the talks "very constructive and very friendly."

"I feel very much encouraged," Weinberger said. "It has been very nice."

Egyptian officials said privately that Cairo's reaction was "reasonably favorable" and the general feeling was the Reagan plan could serve as a basis for negotiations. An official Egyptian response was expected following a cabinet meeting.

In Tunisia, Yasser Arafat and the 300-member Palestine National Council — the Palestine Liberation Organization's "parliament in exile" — also planned to meet in Tunis in advance of Monday's Arab summit at Fez, Morocco.

Arafat said earlier the PLO did not flatly reject the American plan, "nor do we criticize them. We are studying them."

But in Israel, Defense Minister Ariel Sharon predicted Saturday Reagan would eventually be forced to abandon the initiative because "there's not chance that anyone will be able to enforce a plan from the outside."

"Israel will not accept and will not discuss it," Sharon said in Tel Aviv on a weekly radio show. Sharon said the Camp David agreement "is the only option Israel will be ready to uphold."

The American initiative calls for Palestinian autonomy in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip in association with Jordan. It rules out an independent Palestinian state but also calls for an end to new Israeli settlements in the occupied territories.

Polish Bury Second Victim

LUBIN, Poland (AP) — Weeping villagers on Saturday buried one of the two workers slain here by police bullets during the Aug. 31 demonstrations marking the second anniversary of the creation of the Solidarity union movement.

Two other demonstrators were killed in Gdansk and Wroclaw during the violent protests against the martial-law regime and the suspension of Solidarity.

Mieczyslaw Pozniak, 25, a worker at the Elektromontaz factory that assembles electrical equipment in this copper mining city, was buried in the village of Orzeszkow, 10 miles from Lubin.

about 3,000 people.

Lubin residents prepared a Sunday Mass commemorating the two victims. Many expressed bitterness that not one government or Communist Party official had visited the victims' relatives.

Reinforced police units continued to patrol Lubin, and army troops checked roads to other points.

"Probably, the Mass will be peaceful tomorrow and we expect people will have common sense," a local Communist Party official said. "The situation is still tense. We know it was a tragedy and the authorities are doing everything to clear it up."

"Do we need rubber batons, do we need firearms in our country?" the parish priest said in his angry homily before some 800 mourners.

The official PAP news agency reported that almost 1,000 people have been fined or given jail terms ranging from one month to 18 months in connection with the protests that swept at least 54 Polish cities and towns.

Authorities said police opened fire in Lubin, Gdansk, and Wroclaw after protestors began throwing rocks and firebombs.

Andrzej Trajkowski, 32, the other Lubin worker killed, was buried Friday after a funeral attended by

U.S. Joins In Plan To Boost Lending

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

TORONTO (AP) — Acknowledging growing strains on the world's financial system, the United States and nine other industrial nations agreed Saturday on the need to increase lending to developing countries but disagreed on how much.

The United States stood firm against a major increase in loans made through the 146-nation International Monetary Fund, which opens its annual meeting here Monday.

Finance ministers from the major industrial countries agreed to consider as an alternative a U.S. proposal to create an emergency loan fund limited to giving prompt help to countries facing financial crises, such as Mexico.

The U.S. proposal did not specify the size of the fund.

The general increase in IMF lending now being considered could not take effect until 1985, while the emergency fund could provide credits more quickly.

Final decisions on both matters are not expected before next spring.

"I think there are quite a few problems currently in the international economic system," U.S. Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan told reporters. "At the current moment they seem to be able to be handled, not without difficulty...by the existing framework."

"However, were things to deteriorate, we'd have to take another look, but I'm not forecasting that."

Mexico's inability to meet payments on its $80 billion debt, the Third World's largest, and similar problems confronting Poland, Argentina, Romania, Zaire and other nations have sent a nervous chill throughout the international banking system.

Ministers from the "rich" countries — the United States, Japan, West Germany, Britain, France, Italy, Canada, Belgium, the Netherlands and Sweden, known as the Group of 10 — met Saturday in preparation for Monday's opening session.

The IMF now has about $67 billion in lending resources, but only about $26 billion is in U.S. dollars, Japanese yen, German marks and other hard currencies that hold their value worldwide. The remainder is limited to the issuing country.

Regan said most of the rich countries favor increasing their quotas — the measure of their lending contributions — by at least 50 percent.

He said the United States has not taken a formal position, although it favors a smaller increase than do the other countries. U.S. officials indicated they were pushing for an increase of less than 25 percent.

The United States is the largest contributor to the fund. Its present quota of $14 billion equals nearly 20 percent of the total lending pool.

Ministers representing poor countries called Friday for at least a doubling of the quotas, saying that if current trends were not reversed the world financial system could collapse.

The IMF has in recent years played a major role as the lender of last resort to countries in deep financial trouble and unable to borrow from private institutions. This trend has placed strains on the agency's lending resources and raised concerns that the international financial system could crumble unless the IMF has sufficient funds to maintain stability.

Mexico currently is negotiating with IMF officials a $4.5-$5 billion loan, one of the largest in the IMF's 37-year history.

Regan said the IMF's current resources are adequate for "normal circumstances...but whether or not there are going to be emergencies is a matter of judgement."

The secretary added that the proposed emergency fund does not reduce "the need for increasing the quotas."

In a joint communique, the Group of 10 noted the "heightened international financial strains in some areas" and "recognized that an increased role for conditional financing by the fund... may be needed in the period ahead."

The communique also called for an assessment of "the adequacy of existing arrangements...to deal with major strains in the international financial system."

Regan said the other finance ministers thought the idea of an emergency fund "was worth exploring."

But West German Finance Minister Manfred Lahnstein said the other industrial countries are wary of the concept and would prefer a straightforward increase in quotas.

Raleigh Lays Claim To Second Largest

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Raleigh, the 9,276 new residents and reaching a total population of 159,531. Charlotte, the state's largest city, had a population of 319,138 and a growth rate of 1.32 percent. Other major cities after Raleigh and Greensboro were Winston-Salem, population 139,085 and growth rate 2.43 percent; and Durham, population 101,317 and growth rate 0.34 percent.

The figures were released by the Raleigh Planning Department. Greensboro, with a population of 157,000, grew only 0.53 percent, but a major annexation now pending could put the Gate City back in second place. Charlotte, the state's largest city, had a population of 319,138 and a growth rate of 1.32 percent. Other major cities after Raleigh and Greensboro were Winston-Salem, population 139,085 and growth rate 2.43 percent; and Durham, population 101,317 and growth rate 0.34 percent.

During a 27-month period ending June 30, Raleigh grew 2.74 percent, gaining

Air Force Seeks Cause Of Crash

TELLICO PLAINS, Tenn. (AP) — Air Force officials searched Saturday for a shoebox-sized flight recorder they hope will help determine what caused the crash of a C141-B transport jet which killed all nine crewmen aboard.

Some 64 Air Force personnel from Charleston, S.C., Air Force Base and four other bases looked through the wreckage atop a remote mountain on the Tennessee-North Carolina state line in Cherokee National Forest.

They continued removing remains of the nine and took them to the University of Tennessee pathology lab in Knoxville for identification.

Capt. Greg Jones, an Air Force physician heading the identification team, said Saturday that toxicology tests would be performed on the remains to see if carbon monoxide or other gasses were present.

"It could tell us if there was a fire on board at the time," Jones said.

Officials say it could be weeks before they know why the Air Force's second-largest cargo plane slammed into the cliff Tuesday afternoon and sprayed debris for a half-mile down the other side of the mountain.

Bad weather could have been a factor, they said.

The plane's recorder should have preserved on aluminum tape the flight instrument readings at the time of the crash. The plane didn't have a cockpit voice recorder as do commercial airliners.

"As soon as we find that we will have some very important information about the flight profile," Col. Charles G. Colvin, the investigation supervisor, said.

Officials took aerial photographs of the wreckage Saturday to help in the investigation and plotted out where various pieces of the plane landed.

Colvin said an Air Force engine expert from Oklahoma and other specialists were being brought in to study the wreckage.

"He can say, 'That engine was running when it hit the ground, or that engine was stopped when it hit the ground,'" Colvin said. "We might even have people from Lockheed come in. We'll have to wait and see."

Lockheed-Georgia Co. makes the giant cargo and troop transport jet, which is roughly the size of a Boeing 747 commercial airliner.

Capt. Beth Schneidhorst, an investigation spokeswoman, said no details of the crash investigation will be released until the probe is finished.

"It's not fair to speculate, because there are so many possibilities," she said. After the investigation is complete, trucks and crane-equipped helicopters will remove the debris.

The plane left Charleston Air Force Base on a low-flying training mission through South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee and North Carolina.

Col. Chester G. Oehme Jr., who is heading the investigation and cleanup operation, said the crew had flown many such missions. The area is commonly used for those missions, he said.

Oehme said the plane was probably traveling at 260 mph when it hit the cliff about 70 feet below its peak.

Officials said the plane was 15 miles off the center of its course, but was still within the proper flight corridor.

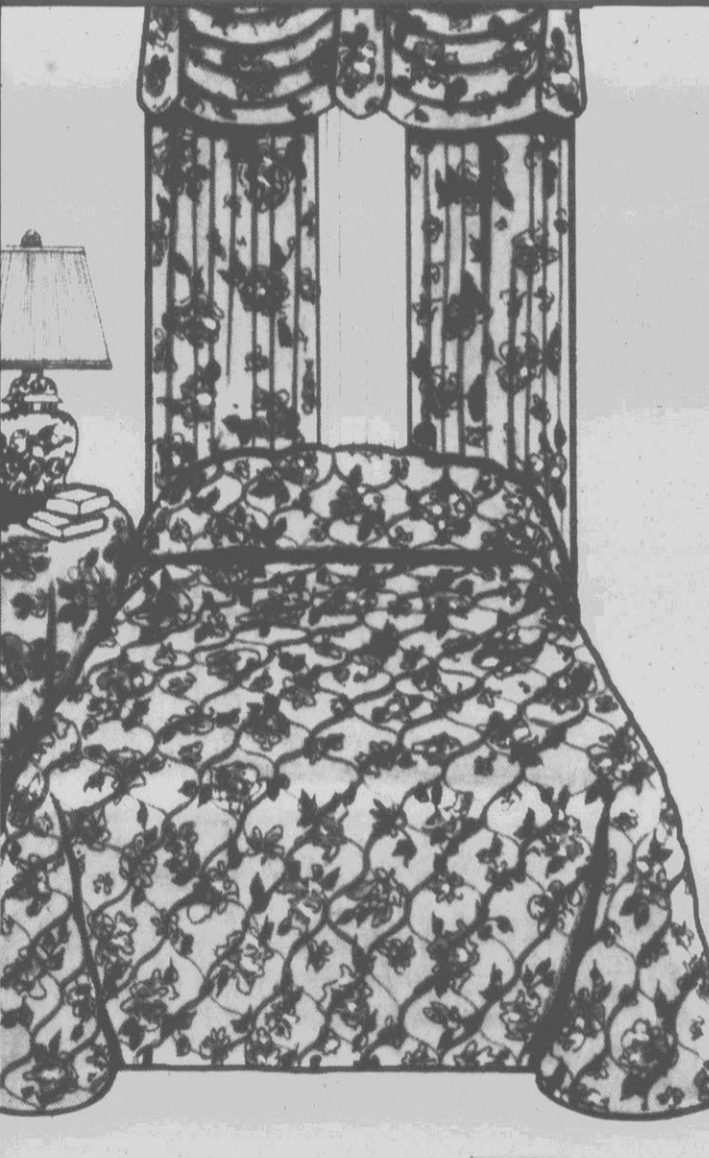

Searchers with flashlights found the wreckage late Wednesday night after a Federal Aviation Administration computer tracked the plane to within a mile of the crash site

Life As It's Lived

By GAIL MICHAELS
 Going to the movies with Meg is as frustrating as trying to swim without getting one's bathing suit wet. Perhaps it's because I'm not a trailblazer. At the rate movie theaters charge nowadays, a movie has to acquire the status of a classic before I am even tempted to check the show times in the ad section of the newspaper. Not only does the movie in question have to have good reviews from respected film critics, but it also must have good reviews from at least three close friends or neighbors.

Herein lies the problem. If the movie in question is suitable for Meg, my friends are not the only ones reviewing it. Her friends are, too. And whereas adults tend to concentrate on the theme of a film and general discussion of how well it and the characters are developed, children tend to concentrate exclusively on the plot. All of it. The idea of letting their friends savor the elements of surprise in the climax and its denouement never occurs to them. Any beginning has to have an end.

Meg, therefore, is usually apprised of all the salient details of any and every G and PG movie that gains popularity. She, in turn, immediately passes on this knowledge to me.

"Don't tell me what happens!" I rage in the middle of every synopsis. "I'd rather see for myself!" But she continues to regale me with the story lines from all the Walt Disney movies, from "Annie," from "Star Wars," and from a great many others of which I've never heard. Still, my anger didn't peak until she told me what happened to E.T.

Phillip and I had just decided to take her to see the movie. The reviewers and my friends had used so many superlatives to describe this blockbuster that I was really excited at the prospect of the outing. Meg was excited, too. "Mark told me all about it." "Great," I groaned. "Well, he may have spoiled it for you, but please don't spoil it for me."

Now those of you who have not yet seen "E.T." should stop reading immediately because I don't want to do to you what Meg did to me. The movie is exceptional, and that's all you need to know.

But Meg wanted me to know more. "I'm not going to spoil it for you," she said. "I was just going to tell you that E.T. was this creature from outer space who was real good and loved this little boy, and the little boy loved him. Of course, E.T. dies, but ..."

I was furious. "You've ruined it for me, Meg! I didn't want to hear what happened. I wanted to see it for myself."

"But ..."

"If you say another word about it, Daddy and I won't take you!" For once she was silent. She was even silent during most of the movie, declining to grace us with her usual running commentary. But when the tears began to cascade down my cheeks as E.T. lay dying in the midst of all those NASA officials, she couldn't contain herself any longer.

"It's okay, Mommy," she said anxiously, patting my arm. "It's really okay."

Still sobbing, I put my hand on her arm. "I'm all right sweetheart. I'm very sad, but I know it's not real ... Look!" I added excitedly. "E.T.'s alive!"

"I know it. I wanted to tell you," she sighed. "Because I couldn't bear to see you suffer ... but better you than me."

DISC RECORD

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The 5 millionth video disc, "The Jazz Singer" in stereo starring Neil Diamond, has been produced at the RCA plant here and presented as a plaque to the plant's 1,200 employees.

Video discs play pictures and sound through any TV set.

American consumers spent more than $90 million on videodisc players and discs in the product's first year. This figure exceeded the combined first year sales of black-and-white television, color TV and video cassette recorders.

Benefit Performance Planned

A benefit performance featuring three widely known gospel singing groups along with local personalities from television and radio stations will be held Sept. 25 at D.H. Conley High School.

The three gospel groups scheduled to perform during the four-hour show, which begins at 7 p.m., are Donnie Harris and the Worship; Betty Gurganus and Sunrise Singers and the Harmony Gospel Singers.

Additionally, personalities from television stations WITN, WNCT and WCTI as well as disc jockeys from several radio stations will be on hand for the benefit event.

All proceeds will go to The Refreshing Outreach, a drug and alcohol rehabilitation center located in Pitt County between Greenville and Farmville.

Tickets are priced at $5 and may be purchased at Grant's Buick, Art Dellano's Mobile Homes of N.C. Inc., the Christian Book Store, and Radio Station WBZQ.

Tickets may also be purchased by calling 753-2775.

ROCKING HORSE — When Jerry Godfrey thought of building a giant rocking horse to advertise his Mauldin, S.C. furniture store, he didn't realize that the city's sign ordinance would make the 12-foot-tall horse illegal. Godfrey believes that it's the largest rocking horse in the world, but says it can't be a landmark if he has to take it down. (AP Laserphoto)

Car Sales Hurt 'Little Detroit'

By ELISSA McCRARY
Associated Press Writer

FOREST CITY, N.C. (AP) — Tillman Moss spends most of his days watching traffic pass by his small used-car lot on Forest City's Main Street.

Buyers at Moss's lot have been few and far between this year. Moss says his business is off 60 percent — the worst year, he says, in his 37 years as a used-car dealer.

"I'm just not selling much and neither is anybody else," said Moss, 67. "People are afraid to go in debt for cars with interest rates like they are. People aren't buying cars, period."

Moss is one of about 2,000 people in the Forest City area who make their livings in the car business. The town has 300 garages and body shops, 234 licensed car dealers and dozens of tire stores.

Until recently, about 3,000 automobiles a week were being reconditioned in Forest City, then sold at auction in cities like Richmond, Va., and Washington, D.C. But the sagging economy has left dealers with little demand for their cars.

Forest City or "Little Detroit," as it's known in the area, has been thriving on the dented fenders and peeling paint of used cars since World War II, when Detroit carmakers temporarily stopped turning out new automobiles. Area residents found that they could turn a quick profit by buying a used car, cleaning and painting it and reselling it up North.

Used-car lots sprang up all over the small Rutherford County town, according to Martha Roach, executive secretary of the local chamber of commerce.

"You can look in almost every back yard and see a used-car lot," Ms. Roach said. "Most of the people around here are in the car business in one way or another."

Ms. Roach ranked used cars just behind textiles as the major industry in the county.

Forest City's downtown streets are lined with car dealerships. Many service stations feature a small selection of used cars on a side lot.

The used-car lots range from what Moss calls his "cinderblock" operation, with 25 or 30 cars and a small cinderblock office, to Terry Watkins' plush offices and dozens of gleaming reconditioned vehicles.

None of the dealers will discuss their profits or losses and Ms. Roach says there are no figures to indicate how much money used-car sales pump into the local economy. One dealer, who asked not to be identified, called used cars "a million-dollar business in these parts."

Watkins, one of the area's largest car dealers, began making buying trips to Washington, D.C., in the early 1960s.

"I'd drive all night, get a newspaper and start calling on the telephone to buy a car," he said. "Then I would tow the car back, fix it up and sell it."

Watkins' Washington purchases now are shipped to him on a car carrier that holds seven used cars. He has a full-time buyer who lives in Washington.

Watkins says the recession hasn't hurt his business substantially. But he admits he's getting fewer cars from northern areas because consumers are holding onto their older cars and buying new cars less often.

Bus Wreck Hurts 33 People On Way To Family Reunion

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — A chartered bus collided with a tractor-trailer on the New Jersey Turnpike here Saturday, injuring 33 people traveling to a family reunion, officials said.

Two of the passengers were trapped in the bus for 2½ hours and were admitted to hospitals, officials said. The remaining 31 bus passengers, all from Baltimore, and the driver of the tractor-trailer were treated and released, officials said.

The bus, chartered from the Gladney Bus Co. of Baltimore and en route to Boston, was traveling in the northbound left lane of the turnpike about six miles from Philadelphia.

The driver, George L. Brooks, of Baltimore, changed into the right lane, striking the rear of the tractor-trailer at 3:03 a.m., said Trooper Larry DiSimone, of the Moorestown barracks.

The cause of the accident was under investigation, said DiSimone.

Mary Wilson, 61, of Baltimore, was listed in serious condition at Cooper Medical Center in Camden, said Barbara Silverman, a hospital administrator.

Shawn Purviance, 15, of Baltimore, was expected to be admitted to the intensive care unit of Cherry Hill Medical Center with a fractured leg for 24 hours observation, said a nursing supervisor who asked not to be identified.

Miss Purviance was listed in stable condition, the supervisor said.

Brooks was not injured, but the driver of the tractor trailer, Eugene Peterson Sr., 26, of Plainfield, was treated and released, said DiSimone.

Some of the 33 passengers on the bus had climbed out through windows by the time Trooper Wayne Young arrived on the scene, but Ms. Wilson and Ms. Purviance were trapped in the bus, which had extensive damage, said DiSimone.

With the assistance of first aid squads, Young freed the two women after 2½ hours by dismantling the front of the bus, said DiSimone.

"Most of them are members of an extended family going up to Boston," said Ms. Silverman. Ms. Wilson is not related to the families, said Ms. Silverman.

Four States To Hold Primaries Tuesday

By MIKE SILVERMAN Associated Press Writer

Three governors are seeking re-election nominations and former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace is trying for a comeback as four states hold primary elections Tuesday.

Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt and Sen. Dennis DeConcini, both Democrats, face little or no opposition in the primary, but Republicans are fighting it out for the chance to oppose them in November.

In Florida, Gov. Bob Graham is expected to emerge from the Democratic primary with a nomination for a second term. Sen. Lawton Chiles has no Democratic primary opposition, but Republicans consider him vulnerable and a major fight is being waged to pick his opponent.

Connecticut has a primary, too, but little statewide action. Gov. William O'Neill, a Democrat, and Sen. Lowell Weicker, a Republican, are unopposed, and their November opponents have already been selected at party nominating conventions.

Wallace, 63 and out of office four years, is trying to rekindle on a more moderate note a political career that saw him first elected governor in 1962 as an ardent segregationist. Wallace, a Democrat, is seeking an unprecedented fourth term as governor. After four years out of office, he was elected to a second term in 1970 and to a third in 1974.

This time he is actively seeking black votes, but has failed to win major black endorsements and faces two formidable opponents — Lt. Gov. George McMillan and House Speaker Joe McCrackall.

To be nominated, a candidate must win a majority of the vote in the primary, so the big question appears to be whether Wallace will be forced into a runoff Sept. 28.

Gov. Fob James, stepping down after a single term, has not made any endorsement.

One of the unknowns is whether Wallace's physical shape will be a liability at the polls. Paralyzed in the legs by a would-be assassin while campaigning for president in Maryland in 1972, Wallace has been confined to a wheelchair for a decade.

Unopposed in the Republican primary is Montgomery Mayor Emory Folmar, a hard-line conservative who seeks to be Alabama's first Republican governor this century.

Alabama's primary also will determine whether Supreme Court Justice Oscar Adams has a chance to become the first black ever elected to a statewide office in Alabama.

Adams, 57, was appointed to the court to fill a vacancy two years ago — the first black to sit on Alabama's highest court. He is opposed in the primary for his seat by Jim Ziegler, a former member of the state Public Service Commission, and George Williams, a Huntsville attorney.

The federal government has announced it will send election officials to Alabama and Georgia to monitor elections and register blacks. The 461 observers to be sent to Alabama's primary are the most ever assigned to one election in that state.

DeConcini, seeking his second term, faces a nominal primary challenge from Caroline Killen, 56, known as the "bicycling and recycling lady" from Tucson.

The GOP side matches state Rep. Pete Dunn, 40, a moderate backed by most party regulars, against Dean Sellers, 35, a conservative Mesa real estate developer.

Babbitt, who was appointed to the governor's post and then elected in 1978, has an opponent on the ballot, but Steve Jancek, a 59-year-old retiree, died last month of a stroke.

Republicans will choose between Senate President Leo Corbet, 45, and Glendale auto dealer Evan Mecham, 58, a perennial candidate.

One of the state's liveliest battles is in the 1st Congressional District, a Republican stronghold where the retirement of former Minority Leader John Rhodes has inspired four entries.

They are John McCain, a retired Navy captain and Vietnam war hero; state Rep. Donna Carlson-West, 44, a four-term legislator whose following comes from Equal Rights Amendment foes and supporters of an anti-abortion amendment; state Sen. Jim Mack, 49, a staunchly pro-business conservative, and Mesa veterinarian Ray Russell, 50, a Mormon conservative with a past record of community service.

Democrat Bill Hegarty, 57, a Scottsdale high school driver education teacher, is unopposed in that primary.

Three Florida Republicans are vying for the nomination to oppose Chiles, a two-term incumbent who has been targeted by the Republican National Committee as vulnerable. He has no Democratic opposition.

Labor Unions Blame Reagan For Lack Of Work

By MERRILL HARTSON
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A year ago on Labor Day, President Reagan told an audience of New York City unionists that the goal of his economic program was "jobs, jobs, jobs and more jobs." Today, unemployment has sidelined almost 11 million Americans and the jobless rate threatens to break into double digits.

Reagan aides say the president considers the jobless rate unacceptable. Because of it he is the target of derision and unhappiness among the predominantly Democratic union leadership across the country. Says Lane Kirkland of the AFL-CIO:

"Because of actions and policies that have been carried out on the other 364 days of the year, American workers have less to celebrate on Labor Day 1982 than at any other time in a nearly half-century."

Just short of every 10th American worker must observe this year's 100th annual Labor Day tribute to working people by contemplating post-holiday searches for work and visits to unemployment offices.

Reagan, who was said Friday to consider August's 9.8 percent unemployment rate "at an unacceptably high level," attributed the high jobless rate to long-term economic policies during his radio address Saturday.

"I'm convinced that in these last few decades, the increased intervention by government in the marketplace, tax policies that took too great a percentage of overall earnings plus burdensome and unnecessary regulations reduced economic growth and kept us from creating new jobs," the president said.

"I guess what I'm trying to point out is that our unemployment problem is due to more than just the current recession," Reagan said.

The president said that "unemployment has been gaining on us for years," although he added that the number of people with jobs "is a higher percentage of those of working age than we had in times of full employment."

Reagan, who rode to the White House telling people they were worse off after four years of Jimmy Carter's Democratic presidency, violently disagrees with organized labor's prescription for a critically ill job market.

He brushes aside calls for Roosevelt-era government-subsidized works programs, saying the only lasting jobs are in private business and pleading with critics to give his program a chance to achieve an economic turnaround.

"We must adopt policies that will stimulate economic growth and create new jobs for the increased numbers entering the job market," the president said Saturday, adding that the nation must have "the will and determination to hold our course."

Behind the heated political crossfire are the cold statistics:
—Some 10.8 million Americans were out of work in August as unemployment remained at a post-World War II record high.

—Joblessness among adult males, the traditional family bread-winners, was at 8.9 percent, an all-time high.

—Unemployment in the black and Hispanic communities was much higher — 18.8 percent for blacks and 14.6 for Hispanics. Unemployment among black teen-agers stood at 51.6 percent.

—Some 5.6 million people had to settle for part-time work, either because that was all they could find or they had their hours curtailed by financially pressed management.

—Only slightly more than 40 percent of those without jobs are drawing unemployment compensation, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. That's far below the 60 percent coverage during the recession of 1974-75.

Reagan was spending the Labor Day holiday at his Santa Barbara, Calif., home. A year ago on Labor Day, he brought a stage-prop check for $85 million to New York as a symbolic first federal payment for a highway project. Speaking to a union audience, he said it marked the beginning of "a new age of the American worker."

In the year since, the first two installments of Reagan's three-year, $750 billion tax cuts have taken hold, although the chief executive recently argued for — and won congressional approval for — a $98 billion tax increase. He has pressed Congress for slashes in social spending, and hasn't shied away from using the veto.

A $14.2 billion supplemental appropriations bill for the remainder of the current fiscal year was sent back to Congress by Reagan, who said it was too expensive.

Angered Preacher Kills Two Kids

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An angry crowd pummeled a sidewalk preacher with chains and pipes after he drove his car at some teen-age hecklers and instead ran down three small children heading home from a circus, police said.

Two of the children, both 4-year-olds, were killed and an 18-month-old boy was critically injured.

A grocery store manager waved a gun and held the crowd at bay until police arrived and arrested the Bible-carrying preacher.

The suspect, William Duguman, was being treated in the jail ward of San Francisco General Hospital on Saturday, police said.

Duguman, 22, of San Francisco, who is unemployed, was booked for investigation of two counts of murder and one count of attempted murder, police said.

"It was crazy what he did," said an unidentified witness. "He just jumped the curb and crushed those children into the wall like bugs."

Police said the children had been to a circus at the Cow Palace, a few blocks away, and were waiting for a bus at the corner Friday evening when Duguman's car hurtled over the curb.

The car rammed the children into the wall of a store, leaving a 4-foot-wide hole in the wall, police said.

"I understand he was preaching the Gospel and he was being heckled by the neighborhood kids, teen-agers," said Police Sgt. Bob Donsbach. "He got upset and tried to run them down and unfortunately the two little kids got in the way" at a bus stop.

"The teen-agers were making fun of him, and it turned into a shoving match and then an actual fight," said Sgt. Dennis Schardt.

"The suspect was gotten the better of, and was actually beaten up," Schardt said.

According to police, Duguman drove around the block, near a housing project, and then spotted his tormentors and aimed his car. The teen-agers darted out of the way, but the younger children were hit.

Coroner's investigators said the two 4-year-olds were so badly crushed, they would probably have to study dental charts to officially identify the remains.

Police identified the dead children as Lamont Metoyer and Tiffany Sommers.

The injured child, 18-month-old Griffin Tamaris, underwent about eight hours of surgery, much of it delicate microsurgery to repair nerves in her arm. She was in critical condition Saturday, said Marilyn Potash, nursing supervisor at San Francisco General Hospital.

Police said Lamont's mother, Brenda, who had taken the tots to the circus and was waiting with them at the bus stop, escaped serious injury.

After the crash, a crowd swarmed around the car and bystanders pummeled the suspect and battered the vehicle.

Dear Abby

Couple Gets Close for Comfort
But Too Close for Safety

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think this is a dumb question, because I need to know, and I can't ask anyone else. I am a 13-year-old girl who became a woman five months ago. My boyfriend is 15 and we are very much in love. I know you will say we are too young to know what real love is, but you are wrong, Abby. We are both very mature for our ages. Now my question: Is there a chance of becoming pregnant if a boy and girl are very, very close but keep their underwear on?

A girlfriend said you explained this in a book and even said a girl could become pregnant without losing her virginity. That is hard for me to believe. Please answer soon. I am ...

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: Your question is far from "dumb." In my booklet, "What Every Teen-Ager Ought to Know," in the chapter titled, "How to Get Pregnant," I wrote:

"One of the questions I have been asked often by teens is: 'How far can I go without getting pregnant?' That is not a dumb question. It's a very intelligent one. A lot of kids get aroused by just lying close to each other while kissing. Then they just naturally proceed to the next step, which is petting.

"Sometimes they remove some of their clothing because it's 'in the way,' or they burrow underneath it to explore each other's bodies with their hands. This is known as heavy petting, or 'doing everything else but.'

"The technical (and legal) definition of sexual intercourse is 'penetration.' (The male's sex organ must penetrate the female's.) However, as impossible as it may sound, in the medical literature can be found cases where there has been no penetration — the girl remained a virgin, but after engaging in heavy petting, she found herself pregnant.

"How can that be? Simple.

"The boy and girl were lying very close to each other (unclad), doing 'everything but,' when a small amount of sperm leaked out ... near (not inside, but very close to) the girl's vagina. The sperm got into the moisture around the vagina and found its way up into it, and fertilized the egg!"

A copy of this booklet, which also contains a chapter titled "How Not to Get Pregnant," can be obtained by sending $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

DEAR ABBY: How does one know when one is ready for marriage?

D.

DEAR D.: If you have to ask, you're not ready.

DEAR ABBY: I have a question for you: Is God a creation of mankind?

T. BALL, LINCOLN, NEB.

DEAR MR. BALL: According to atheists, who do not believe in the existence of "God," God is a creation of mankind. But according to theologians, mankind (and all living things) is the creation of God.

DEAR ABBY: Your column in the Pacific Stars and Stripes is well-read by service personnel overseas, so if you print your answer you will be helping a lot of servicemen and women who have the same problem I have.

Civilian friends are always asking me to purchase certain items for them through the Base Exchange (P.X.), which sells merchandise to those of us in the armed forces at a great savings. They always offer to give me the money in advance so I am in no way inconvenienced.

I don't want to be rude or unfriendly, but I really don't want to break the rules. So how do I get out of doing them this favor in the most courteous manner possible?

A.P.O. SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR A.P.O.: Tell them that because such favors are clearly in violation of regulations, you deeply regret that you can't accommodate them. Period.

Navratilova Has Easy Win On Saturday

Austin Attack

U.S. Open third seed Tracy Austin Joe Durie and defeated her 6-4, 6-3, grits her teeth as she returns a shot at the National Tennis Center. (AP Saturday afternoon. Austin faced Laserphoto)

NEW YORK (AP) — Ninth-seeded Yannick Noah of France was pushed to the limit before escaping the upset bid by qualifier Eric Korita, while top-seeded Martina Navratilova crushed her third-round opponent Saturday in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

Also advancing into the fourth round at the National Tennis Center were defending champion Tracy Austin, the women's No. 3 seed, No. 7 Pam Shriver, No. 14 Virginia Ruzici of Romania and No. 15 Andrea Leand.

Third-seeded Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia completed the day action with a dull 6-3, 6-0, 6-1 victory over Harold Solomon in a match that featured long baseline rallies.

In night matches, fifth-seeded Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia took on Bulgarian Manuela Maleeva, while Sweden's Mats Wilander, the French Open champion and seeded 11th in the men's singles here, played Tim Wilkison.

Noah needed 3½ hours to outlast Korita 7-5, 6-7, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. Navratilova cruised by Nancy Yeargin 6-3, 6-3; Austin stopped Jo Durie of Great Britain 6-4, 6-3; Shriver eliminated Dana Gilbert 3-6, 6-2, 6-3; Ruzici defeated Beth Herr 7-5, 6-2, and Leand ousted Heather Ludloff 6-4, 6-2.

Gene Mayer, seeded sixth, stopped Mark Dickson 4-6, 7-6, 6-2, 6-1.

"He is the best server I have ever played against," Noah said after edging Korita on the hard courts at Flushing Meadow. "He serves very well . . . Maybe he served very well today because this is the first time I have seen him. It (the ball) almost hit me four or five times."

The No. 5 player at Southern Methodist University, Korita had to qualify for the 128-player field in this $1.5 million tournament, the richest in the world. He earned his shot at Noah by beating SMU teammate Jerome Vanier of France in the opening round and Brad Gilbert in the second, serving 16 aces.

Both Vanier and Gilbert also had to qualify for this year's Open.

Against Noah, Korita, a native of Glenview, Ill., boomed eight aces. He followed his serve to the net and followed up many of them with put-away volleys.

"I served pretty well," Korita admitted. "I was hoping to come up with a few boomers, and a couple times I did and a couple times I didn't. You can't hit them all."

But the experience and mastery of strokes pulled Noah through. In the final set, he broke Korita in the fourth set, only to be broken back in the seventh.

Then came the crucial 10th game with Noah leading 5-4 and Korita serving.

The Frenchman jumped out to a love-30 advantage before Korita fought back to knot the score. The next two points were split, bring the pair to deuce.

Noah took the advantage with a soft, angled cross-court forehand, then broke for the match on an identical shot that Korita could only tip with his racket.

"When I broke back at 4-2 to make it 4-3 (in the fifth set), then I had break point, I said I have to stand back and go for it," Korita said. "If I could hit then, I could hold my serve. And I was close. But close doesn't really count much."

Navratilova, seeking her fourth consecutive Grand Slam title, said she likes being the top-ranked woman in the world.

Yannick Noah Struggles To Win, Says Younger Players Have Edge

NEW YORK (AP) - Yannick Noah of France struggled through five tough sets to eliminate unknown 19-year-old Eric Korita in the third round of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships and then reflected on how young players have an edge in this tournament.

"When you're young, you have nothing to lose," he said. "You don't realize . . . you don't know what's happening. When you first come to the circuit, you surprise yourself. It's more pressure for the better known players because they are playing somebody of lesser rank."

"When I was younger, I wasn't very nervous. It's much more pressure on the guy who is seeded."

"This from a grizzled veteran who, at 22, isn't exactly a senior citizen. But despite his age, Noah rates as one of the heavyweights of the pro tennis circuit.

Noah first surfaced in 1978 and 1979 when he won five tour titles and became France's No. 1-ranked player. A severe thigh injury cost him three months in 1980, the same year he lost the finals of the Italian Open to Guillermo Vilas.

He came back last year, winning the Richmond crown and beating Gene Mayer, Roscoe Tanner and Ivan Lendl along the way. His victories this year include Palm Springs, where he ended Lendl's 44-match winning streak in February, and South Orange three weeks ago, his final warmup for the Open.

He is seeded ninth in this tournament and one more victory in his next match here against Australian Kim Warwick will put him in the quarter-finals. There, he expects to find Lendl, the No. 3 seed, and he promises he won't be in awe of the Czech star.

"I hope I make it to the quarters and play Lendl and then we will see," he said.

Noah has confidence about playing the Czech because of his past successes with him. Besides the Palm Springs stunner and his victory at Richmond a year ago, Noah led France past Czechoslovakia and into the Davis Cup semifinals last July, beating Lendl in both singles and doubles matches.

Lendl, of course, is no pushover. He defeated Noah this year in semifinals at Washington and Monte Carlo and holds the No 3 seed in this tournament.

At the Open, Noah swept past Kevin Curren and Brian Gottfried in straight sets before the third round struggle with Korita. He has displayed an effective topspin backhand return and a quiet confidence about his ability.

Born in Sedan, France, he was raised in Cameroon where Arthur Ashe met him while on a tour of Africa. Ashe recognized the youngster's potential and urged French Federation officials to get him to Paris where he could improve against stiffer competition.

Now Noah lives in Paris and is ranked 10th in the world, making him a target for the youngsters . . . who aren't much younger than him.

Guilford 57 Emory & Henry 7

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Earl Clinton threw a pair of touchdown passes and Harvey Woods ran for two more as Guilford opened its college football season Saturday with a 57-7 non-conference victory over Emory & Henry.

The Quakers' point total was the school's highest since defeating East Carolina 79-0 in 1932.

Clinton completed 7 of 9 passes for 178 yards, including touchdowns of 47 yards to Tom Goga and 10 yards to Greg Weaver. Woods carried 14 times for 62 yards and a pair of 13-yard touchdowns while Charlie Heard gained 100 yards in 13 carries.

The Wasps' lone touchdown came on Randy Roe's 5-yard, fourth-quarter run.

Pirate Counter Attack!

The counter attack: ECU's defense led by All-America candidate Jody Schulz and veterans Mike Grant, Hal Stevens and Clint Harris will be smashing rushers and rushing passers this fall. With a host of transfers and fresh recruits, this may be the biggest, fastest defensive alignment the Pirates have ever counter attacked with.

Add the wide-open "I" formation offense with a pair of quarterbacks holding a passing clinic, and you have high-powered, fun-to-watch football in Ficklen Stadium.

So, watch the Pirates counter attack this fall. Reserve season tickets now to all the Pirates' home games. Simply call the Athletic Ticket Office at 919-757-6500, or drop by your local Wachovia Bank and pick up a ticket order form.

Late Charger Surge Scalps Redskins

By RICK SCOPPE
Reflector Sports Writer

LITTLEFIELD — It took over three quarters, but Ayden-Grifton finally managed its first touchdown of the 1982 season...and its second...and its third...and its fourth.

Trailing by a touchdown going into the final period, the Chargers struck for four touchdowns — two by sophomore tailback Kelvin Harris — as A-G powered by Roanoke, 27-7, Friday night.

On an exceedingly hot and humid evening, the Chargers called up memories of last year when they advanced to the Eastern 3-A finals as they scored the last four times they had the ball to rally to win their season-opener.

"Overall, it was an excellent opening game. You've got to be pleased," A-G coach Dixon Sauls said. "It's too early to rate our season but we have a healthy outlook for our season."

The state of the Chargers' health was apparent in the second half. While the Redskins grew weary, Ayden-Grifton seemed only to gain strength. None more so than Harris.

Harris, a 6-0, 167-pounder, rushed for 132 yards in 13 attempts in his first varsity game. Of those 132 yards, 105 came in the second half (on 10 carries) as Harris, who runs the 40 in 4.55 seconds, outraced the Roanoke 4-4 defense for TD runs of 20 and 38 yards.

"It was a good start for (Harris)," Sauls said. "We felt all along he had the makings of a good back. He has natural running ability."

Harris, who did not start, was not the only A-G runner who had a good night. So, too, did A-G fullback Jarvis Koonce. Koonce, a 6-0, 200-pound senior, rushed 79 yards in 16 carries.

Both runners have their offensive line to thank for many of their yards, especially the right side where guard Chuck Smithwick, tackle Kevin Craft and tight end Doug Coley more than held their own against Roanoke star defensive tackle Donnie Wallace and linebacker Bernie Williford.

The results were impressive. Ayden-Grifton parlayed a new starting backfield into 247 yards rushing and 338 yards total offense and 19 first downs.

"They ran a lot of second-man through double dives," Roanoke coach Nolan Respass said. "Our defense stayed on the field more than 75 percent of the time and we just got worn down."

Respass said having to use eight players both ways was one reason his team tired. The Chargers have 10 players going both ways. Said Sauls: "I just felt we wore them down in the second half."

Roanoke, now 1-1-0, had its problems even before the game started. Tailback Jeffery Morning forgot his gear and did not suit up, giving Respass only one tailback — Rick Hines.

Hines, a 5-9, 155-pound junior listed as a wide receiver on the roster, was the Redskins' main offensive threat, rushing for 69 yards in 18 carries. He also returned a punt 57 yards.

Otherwise, Roanoke's offense was stifled by an aggressive A-G defense. The Chargers held Roanoke to 133 yards total offense and only five first downs — one in the second half.

It was that second half — the fourth period in particular — that turned the game around.

Ayden-Grifton, down 7-0 after a 38-yard run by quarterback Glendale Daniels late in the second period, tied the game with 9:48 remaining when Harris swept left end for 20 yards. Tyrone Gay kicked the PAT.

The drive, which began at the Roanoke 49, was sparked by a 16-yard run by Harris and a pass interference call on third and 13 from the 36.

The Chargers stopped Roanoke on three plays and got the ball back at the A-G 49. Koonce burst over the right side for 26 yards and, after Harris was throw for a five-yard loss, Kennedy hit Coley from 28 yards out for the go-ahead score.

Kennedy, starting his first game at quarterback, slipped as he went back but righted himself and spotted Coley behind the defense in the end zone. The PAT missed but A-G led, 13-7, with 6:41 left.

"He exhibited great poise tonight," Sauls said of Kennedy, who was eight of 15 for 89 yards. "He had trouble setting up (on the play). He slipped and was still able to (get off the pass)."

The Chargers got the ball back quickly on a fumble by Daniels at the Roanoke 35. Starting tailback Malcolm Worthington burst up the middle for 11 yards and three plays later Koonce went over from two yards out. Gay's PAT made it 20-7 with 3:15 to go.

The Chargers' final score was set up by a 37-yard interception return by Worthington. Harris sliced off left tackle, broke a shoulder-pad high tackle attempt and outran the Redskins for a 38-yard TD run. Gay's PAT upped the A-G led to 27-7 with 1:05 left.

"When you score 27 points against a team like Roanoke you've got to be pleased," Sauls said. "We came from behind, too, which is a tribute to this team."

Ayden-Grifton, which has not defeated the Redskins since 1979 (not 1977 as previously reported), threatened to take the early lead when Terry Ellis recovered a fumbled punt at the Roanoke 26.

The Chargers, however, failed to gain a first down. It was the first of a number of lost opportunities for A-G in the first half.

Three plays after giving the ball up, the Chargers got it back when Koonce, the A-G linebacker, covered a fumble at the Roanoke 28. A-G gained one first down before Kennedy's pass fell incomplete on fourth down from the 13 to end threat.

A-G moved from the Roanoke 44 after a punt late in the first quarter to the 19 on bursts of 14 yards by Koonce and 10 yards by Harris. But, the drive ended at the 19 when Gay slipped on a reverse.

Roanoke took the lead moments later after Koonce fumbled a handoff on the A-G 38. On the first play from scrimmage following the fumble, Daniels went around the left side on an option for 38 yards and the score. Williford kicked the PAT and Roanoke led, 7-0, with 3:56 left.

Ayden-Grifton drove from its 20 to the Roanoke 12 as time was running out in the half, sparked by a 16-yard run by Harris and a 16-yard pass from Kennedy to Jackie Conway. But, the drive ended with an incomplete pass.

The third quarter was more of the same for the Chargers. They moved the ball but could not score.

A-G put together a 13-play drive in its initial series of the period after a Redskins punt, but Koonce was stopped short

Cougars Top Conley, 39-22

PINETOPS — Tailback Jerome Staton scored four touchdowns — two in each half — to carry Southwest Edgecombe to a 39-22 win over D.H. Conley Friday night in a nonconference football game.

The victory avenged a 19-6 loss to Conley a year ago. The Cougars, now 2-0, accumulated 304 yards rushing against Conley as time and again they hurt the Vikings around the ends.

Nolan Corpening led Southwest in rushing with 100 yards in 10 carries. He scored one TD.

Conley, now 0-2, was led by tailback Mitchell Cox. Cox, who transferred to Conley from North Pitt this year, rushed to 71 yards and three TDs. Cox also caught two passes for 29 yards.

"We looked like a million bucks on one series and then looked terrible on another," D.H. Conley coach Gerald Garner said. "We'd forget to pull on a sweep — the same kid who had done it right (the previous series)."

"I just don't know why," Garner added, "but we seem to leave it on the bus sometimes."

SouthWest, which tied for the Eastern Carolina Conference championship last season and is picked among the favorites to win the ECC this season, took a lead it never lost in the first period.

Staton, who rushed for 60 yards on the night, burst over from 15 yards away and Loyd Haskins kicked the point after to make it 7-0 midway through the first period.

Staton followed that run with a 10-yard score in the second period. The kick failed but SWE led, 13-0.

Conley cut the deficit to 13-7 later in the period on a 22-yard pass from QB Todd Rouse to Cox. Mike Long kicked the PAT.

SWE, however, countered moments later with a 53-yard TD run by Corpening to up its lead to 19-7.

The Cougars made it 27-7 going into the half when Jim Umstead scored from five yards out and Corpening ran for the two points.

Conley cut the deficit to 27-22 with two scores in the third period but could get no closer as SWE scored twice in the final period.

Cox returned a kickoff 90 yards in the third period and Long kicked the PAT to make it 27-14. Then later in the period, Cox raced 30 yards on a counter play and ran for the two points to make it 27-22.

However, the Cougars regained command in the final period with Staton scoring on runs of 12 and 14 yards. Neither PAT was good.

Rouse, who went all the way at quarterback, was five for 16 for 55 yards. He had two passes intercepted.

Full game statistics were not available.

Conley plays host to North Pitt Friday.

Greene, Beddingfield Play To Scoreless Tie

SNOW HILL — For Greene Central Coach Spence Grantham, there's good news and bad news.

The good news is that his defense hasn't allowed a touchdown in the first two football games of the season.

The bad news is that his offense hasn't gotten on the scoreboard either.

In what might be one of the oddest beginnings of a football season, Greene Central has played two straight scoreless ties. The latest came Friday night as the Rams and Wilson Beddingfield both failed to score.

Beddingfield blocked two Ram punts to have a chance at scoring, but never got a sustained drive going. The Bruins crossed the 20 only once, and just did then.

Greene Central, in the meantime found it just as hard to find the end zone. The Rams got to the 20 twice but failed to convert, twice missing on field goals of 26 and 35 yards. On the final drive, a potential touchdown pass just slipped off the fingers of Brian Hall.

Bullets Down Columbia, 20-6

JAMESVILLE — Jamesville High School rolled to a 20-6 Tobacco Belt Conference victory over Columbia High School Friday night.

The win evened the overall mark of the Bullets at 1-1. They are 1-0 in league play.

Details of the game were unavailable.

The Bullets travel to Chocowinity on Friday.

"I thought our kids played well," Grantham said. "They played hard, but we had some breakdowns and their defensive line play was overpowering."

Grantham may have lost one of his better athletes in the game too as linebacker/tight end Richard Evans sustained knee injuries.

Grantham praised the play of quarterback Elmer Dixon, who hit on seven of 15 attempts for 130 yards, while split end Oscar Rouse pulled in three of those, including one of 57 yards. Defensively, Grantham singled out the play of tackle James Moore.

Now 0-0-2, the Rams play host to North Lenoir next Friday. Beddingfield, 0-0-1, travels to SouthWest Edgecombe.

NEW YORK (AP) — On a day when John McEnroe and Martina Navratilova both survived tie-breakers to post second-round victories before the largest crowd in U.S. Open tennis championship history, Chip Hooper and Tim Mayotte, a couple of lesser-known players, stole the thunder from the two top seeds.

Hooper scored a bitter, marathon victory over veteran Roscoe Tanner and Mayotte came within a whisker of upsetting third-seeded Ivan Lendl.

McEnroe eliminated Marty Davis 7-6, 6-4, 6-3 and Navratilova ousted Jill Davis (no relation to Marty) 7-6, 6-1 on the center court as 20,738 fans jammed the National Tennis Center.

Jimmy Connors and Hank Pfister were well into that court's third match of the day while behind them in the grandstand, Hooper and Tanner, the No. 16 seed, were still engaged in their 4½-hour duel. They needed a final set tie-breaker before Hooper won 6-7, 7-6, 4-6, 7-5, 7-6.

When they had finished, Lendl and Mayotte resumed a rain-delayed match and the Czech was forced to battle from behind, staying alive by winning a fourth-set tie-breaker and surviving 6-4, 3-6, 4-6, 7-6, 6-4.

In other significant results Friday, the second-seeded Connors eliminated Pfister 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, No. 4 Guillermo Vilas defeated Marcos Hocevar 6-4, 6-2, 6-3, Andrea Jaeger, No. 4, eliminated Yvonne Vermaak 6-3, 6-0, and Hana Mandlikova, No. 5, beat Anne White 7-6, 6-2.

But it was the Hooper-Tanner and Mayotte-Lendl matches which captured the imagination of the crowd. Hooper captured his victory with a final set 7-4 tie-breaker, the third of the match. Tanner had won the first set that way, 7-2, and Hooper took the second, 7-5.

The battle between the two booming servers turned bitter with Tanner accusing Hooper of deliberately hitting balls at him.

"It gets me a little angry when the guy has the full court to hit in and he blasts it at me three or four times in a row," Tanner said. "Maybe he doesn't like me, I don't know. That's fine."

Lesson Spots Still Available

The Greenville Recreation and Parks Department still has opening in the following tennis classes:

- Beginners Monday and Wednesday 12 noon to 1 p.m.
- Advanced beginners, Tuesday and Thursday 12 noon to 1 p.m.
- Intermediate Monday and Wednesday 1 to 2 p.m.

All classes will be held at River Birch Tennis Center beginning September 7 or 8. Call 756-9343 to register.

There is a $4 fee for the four-week session.

"Oh sure," Hooper said. "I played in college and got hit billions of times. I did not try to hit him. He had his chances to win and he should have."

Then Mayotte and Lendl took over the grandstand court and put on a pulsating show. The American, who reached the semifinals at Wimbledon, led after three sets and Lendl stayed alive only by winning a 7-4 tie-breaker in the fourth.

Then the Czech took the final set and the match, disappointing a partisan crowd which was rooting for the upset.

"There were 20 bad line calls," said Lendl. "That's a bit much for one match. This is the U.S. Open and there were just five linespeople. We're hitting the ball at 120 miles per hour and they're calling it through the net. That's terrible."

Passing Down

Rose High quarterback Kenny Kirkland sets to unload a pass as Donnell Lee (21) and Reggie Smith (32) provide protection against oncoming

Jacksonville players. The Rampants, after falling behind 16-0 early in the game, rallied to take the lead before finally bowing to Jacksonville, 23-22. (Reflector Photo by Katie Zernbelt)

Late Cardinal Score Tops Rose

The Rampant defense, however, again held, forcing a punt. But on that, Rose was called for roughing the kicker — who didn't fall until all of the Rose chargers had hit the ground. That set up a first down at the Rose 31, but Curcenne fumbled it away on the next play.

Rose then drove for the go-ahead score. Buie hit Frazier for 30 yards on second down, down to the Cardinal 25. Then, facing third and 15 at the 30, Frazier again got the call on the end around, ripping off 25 yards to the five. From there, Lee got the call on the quick pitch, moving Rose ahead. A two-point pass by Buie to Tyrone Smith made it 22-16 with 9:08 left.

Jacksonville, however, drove right back to score the winning touchdown. Taking over on their own 33, the Cards drove in 10 plays — including two face-masking calls. The first big play, however, was a 22-yard dash by Curcenne around the right side to the Card 47. Golden then hit Whaley for 12 yards and a first down at the Rose 39.

But on the next play, Golden was thrown for an eight-yard loss, and the Cards eventually faced a third and 11 at the Rose 40. Ellis Dillahunt, trying to get around the left side was dragged down by a Rampant lying on his stomach — who was then called for facemasking on the play. That moved it to the 29. Two plays later another facemasking call moved it to the six, and on the next, Curcenne went over for the score, tying it up. Losito's kick made the difference with four minutes left. Rose did have a chance, however, getting the ball back for the last time with 1:59 left, moving from the 17 to the 49 of Jacksonville before failing to pick up a first down.

Rose finished the game with 224 yards in total offense, 100 of that by Frazier on four carries. He also caught three passes for 51 yards. Jacksonville, meanwhile, got only 81 yards in total offense, 57 through the air and only 24 on the ground.

But the only stat that mattered is that on the scoreboard — and Jacksonville had just enough to get the win. The victory left the Cardinals with a 2-0 record, while Rose is now 0-1. Rose travels to New Bern next Friday night to face the Bears.

Pitt Crew Works To Fix Tiger Errors Cost 20-12 Defeat Wrecked Car For Rudd

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Changing tires and adding fuel on race day are only the most visible things done by the crew of a race car.

The men who keep the sleek racing machines going often work long, exhausting hours so that the driver can go out, stand on the gas and make the headlines.

The crew of Ricky Rudd's Pontiac Grand Prix, owned by Richard Childress and sponsored by Piedmont Airlines, was doing just that Thursday and Friday, trying to get Rudd back onto the 1.366-mile Darlington International Raceway banked oval in time to get some practice in for Sunday's Southern 500 Grand National stock car race.

Rudd, who will be 26 in eight days, was Grand National rookie of the year in 1977 and has been a top competitor ever since. But he still is looking for his first Grand National victory, and he just can't seem to get a break.

The handsome youngster qualified sixth in Thursday's opening round of time trials, turning in a lap of 153.368 mph on his first time around the Darlington track. However, the "Lady in Black" — as NASCAR's oldest superspeedway is known — jumped up and bit Rudd on the second of his two qualifying laps.

He lost control in the fourth turn — later saying something in the rear of the car apparently broke — and slammed hard into the concrete wall. The collision turned the sleek racing car into a pile of mangled sheetmetal.

But, there was the crew Friday, sweating in humid 90-degree weather and putting the car back together like a giant jigsaw puzzle.

"We've got four complete cars at the shop (in Winston-Salem, N.C.), but we decided to fix his one here for several reasons," explained Childress, himself a Grand National driver until the end of last season.

"First, we would have had to re-qualify if we withdrew that car, and that would have knocked us out of the (Ingersoll-Rand) pit crew competition. And we're in pretty good shape in those point standings."

"Second, we build our own cars, so we've got the crew to get this one back together. It will look a little 'used,' but it'll be just as good as it was when we qualified."

"Finally," Childress continued, "I don't like to pit on the backstretch ere, and that might have been the case if we'd had to re-qualify."

The Darlington track has a pit road along both straightaways, with all the top qualifiers pitting on the front straight and the rest of the 40-car field using the backstretch pits.

Childress attested to the amount of work he and his crew put in on the car to get it back into the race.

"For the record, we had to straighten the frame on both front and rear, we've replaced all the suspension parts, put in a new fuel cell, oil tank and rear end, and we've got to replace both bumpers, the windshield, the engine, and maybe a few other odds and ends, too. It won't be pretty, but it'll be ready."

Bill Elliott took second-day qualifying honors Friday as he grabbed the 13th spot on the race day grid with a lap of 153.891 in a Ford Thunderbird. Elliott, who won the pole for the 1980 Rebel 500 here, is 26 and also has not won a Grand National race. But he has finished second, fourth, seventh and third in his last four outings on this track.

Morgan Shepherd was a close second Friday at 153.144 in a Buick Regal.

The partial lineup for Sunday's Southern 500 Grand National stock car race, with type of car and qualifying speed in mph:

- 1. David Pearson, Buick Regal, 155.729 (breaks old Southern 500 qualifying record of 154.896 set in 1979 by Bobby Allison).
- 2. Darrell Waltrip, Buick Regal, 154.563.
- 3. Bobby Allison, Chevrolet Monte Carlo, 154.224.
- 4. Joe Ruttman, Buick Regal, 154.079.
- 5. Dale Earnhardt, Ford Thunderbird, 153.891.
- 6. Ricky Rudd, Pontiac Grand Prix, 153.368.
- 7. Tim Richmond, Buick Regal, 153.363.
- 8. Richard Petty, Pontiac Grand Prix, 153.282.
- 9. Cale Yarborough, Buick Regal, 153.110.

GASTON — West Northampton, playing only its second football game after the consolidation of Gaston and Gumberry High Schools, took advantage of Williamston mistakes Friday night and gained a 20-12 triumph over the Tigers.

Williamston lost three of four fumbles and had one pass intercepted. West Northampton turned two of the fumbles and the interception into scores.

The tone of the night was set early as Williamston fumbled the game's opening kickoff and West Northampton recovered. Then, after less than four minutes of play, June Turner kicked into the end zone for the score and Ted Squire added the PAT for a 7-0 lead.

Williamston got back into the game in the second period, ending a 47-yard drive on Al Willingham's one-yard plunge into the end zone. The try failed, however, leaving West up, 7-6. Roosevelt Everett had guided the drive, picking up 36 yards on three carries.

Later in the half, West Northampton extended its lead to 13-6 when Anthony Roberts fumbled, returning it 13 yards to the end zone.

Early in the second half, West Northampton opened the gap further with another touchdown. On its first possession of the second half, the hosts scored on a 33-yard run by Roberts, who had returned a punt 19 yards to the Williamston 36 to set up the score. Squire again kicked the PAT making it 20-6.

Williamston came back on the next series, helped along by three major penalties, scoring on a two-yard Elliott run.

West later drove to the Williamston 16 where a fourth and one play failed to make the needed yardage with 4:30 left in the game. Williamston,

Dolphins Nips Giants In OT

By The Associated Press Don Shula wasn't about to let his Miami Dolphins make the same mistakes against the New York Giants that they had made a week earlier with Kansas City.

And place-kicker Rex Robinson wasn't going to repeat his performance either when the Dolphins and Giants went into sudden-death overtime in their final National Football League exhibition game.

As soon as the Dolphins moved the ball to the New York 13, the Miami coach sent out his kicking team on first down to break the 13-13 tie. Robinson responded with a 31-yard field goal for the victory in the nationally televised game.

A week earlier in a 17-17 tie with the Chiefs, penalties cost Miami a victory when Robinson's 36-yard attempt bounced off the crossbar.

"Rather than take the chance of getting penalties on the next two plays, I decided to go ahead and kick," Shula said. "Rex could've been the hero last week, but the ball bounced out. This week, he made up for it."

The Giants got first possession in overtime but a quarterback sack and a penalty killed their chance for a winning drive.

Miami finished the pre-season 2-1-1 while the Giants closed 1-3.

Elsewhere in NFL exhibition games, Cincinnati defeated Washington 28-21, Tampa Bay whipped Atlanta 34-0, San Francisco beat Seattle 17-13 and Minnesota downed New Orleans 24-21.

Ken Anderson completed 23 of 32 passes for 307 yards to lead the Cincinnati over Washington in the battle of winless teams.

"It was important to this football team that we won this game," said Cincinnati Coach Forrest Gregg. "I know it's only the preseason. But I think our people doubted themselves a little bit in a lot of ways."

Anderson had first-half scoring passes of 17 yards to Isaac Curtis, 10 yards to Steve Kreider and 38 yards to Cris Collinsworth in leading the Bengals to a 21-14 lead.

The winning score came with 12:54 to play when Anderson connected on a pass to Curtis and driving the Bengals 73 yards in eight plays.

Quarterback Joe Theismann, playing less than a half for the Redskins, connected on seven of nine passes for 140 yards. Wilbur Jackson rushed for 78 yards and a pair of first-half touchdowns.

The Tampa Bay defense held Atlanta to only 92 total yards and allowed the Falcons to cross midfield only once in rolling to the easy victory. The Buccaneers also had sacks totaling 32 yards.

H & R BLOCK TO OFFER TAX SCHOOL IN GREENVILLE

Thousands of people are earning money in their spare time as income tax preparers.

H & R Block, the world's largest income tax preparation service, is offering a basic income tax course starting September 9 or 10 with morning and evening classes available.

During the 12 week course, students will study all phases of income tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns. Experienced Block personnel will teach current laws, theory and application as practiced in Block offices nationwide. There is a classroom lecture on each subject and practice problems at every level. Courses are programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students will find the course both interesting and challenging.

Anyone may enroll. There are no restrictions or qualifications. Courses are ideally suited for housewives, retired persons, teachers or persons wanting to increase their tax knowledge.

Qualified course graduates may be offered job interviews for positions with Block. Many accept employment with Block because of the flexible hours available. However, Block is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are graduates under any obligation to accept employment with H & R Block.

The modest course fee includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for completion of the school. Certificates will be awarded upon successful completion of the course.

Registration forms and brochures for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting the H & R Block Office at Greenville Square Shopping Center, Greenville, N.C. 27834, Telephone: 756-9365.

MATTAMUSKEET HUNT SET — Refuge manager Steve Frick announced the dates of this year's duck hunts for Mattamuskeet National Wildlife Refuge.

In addition to the regular eight two-day hunts, a third annual two-day youth hunt will be conducted. This year's youth hunt will be held Nov. 26-27 and is open to hunters under 16 years old.

The youth hunt will include a hunter education and safety program, a tour of the refuge and the standard hunter orientation. Actual hunting will begin Nov. 26 at 1 p.m. and finish at sunset and on Nov. 27 one-half hour before sunrise until noon.

Parents, guardians or sponsors of young people who wish to participate in the hunt should send a 3 X 5 card to: Youth Hunt, Mattamuskeet NWR, Rt. 1, Box N-2, Swan Quarter, N.C. 27885.

Youths are restricted to one application per hunter. All the information needed is the youth's name.

A minimum of two and a maximum of three young people will be permitted per blind. An adult must accompany the youths, but will not be allowed to hunt.

This year's regular two-day hunts will be held Dec. 7, 8 and 10; 11, 14 and 7; and 22, 28 and 29. Also included will be a Dec. 31 and Jan. 1, 4 and 5 hunts.

Individuals wishing to apply for the adult hunt should send a 3 X 5 card with their name and mailing address to: Mattamuskeet Hunt, Mattamuskeet NWR, Rt. 1, Box N-2, Swan Quarter, N.C. 27885.

They should list, in priority order, three choices of hunting dates. Hunters who are selected may bring one or two companions of their choice. Any hunter who submits more than one application will not be considered for the hunt.

A lottery drawing will be held at the Refuge Headquarters Monday, Oct. 11, at 1 p.m. to draw for both the youth and adult hunts. Any application received by that date and time will be considered.

Hunters who are drawn will receive further instructions by mail. Unsuccessful hunters will not be notified.

Hunters not selected during the regular lottery may apply in person for the standby lottery on the day of each hunt.

For more information, contact the refuge manager at (919) 926-4021.

NATIONAL ENDANGERED SPECIES SOCIETY ISSUES WHOOPING CRANE STAMP — First it was the Federal Duck Stamp. Then came the National Wild Turkey Federation and the Rugged Grouse Society.

Now, the National Endangered Species Society has issued the first stamp and print of the Endangered Species Society's program.

The selling of stamps to promote interest in research and survival of a species is one of those solid success stories that shows American's concern for wildlife.

The Endangered Species Stamp, which depicts the whooping crane by national wildlife artist Les Kouba, is available to collectors in a 750 limited edition signed and numbered series with 75 remarques and 50 art proofs.

If the success of similar programs is anything to judge by, the program should be a great investment for collectors. For example, the second Federal Duck Stamp Print sold for $10 in 1935 and is now worth $8,000. The 974 Duck Stamp Print sold for $100 and is now worth $2,000.

The first Wild Turkey Stamp Print sold for $60 and is now bringing $2,200. The first Ruffed Grouse Print sold for $110 in 1979 and now sells for $1,000, and the first Striped Bass Stamp Print sold for $95 in 1980 and is now bringing $500.

There's no guarantee that this annual program will increase as fast as others have, but it's a real winner and sure to rise in price very rapidly as demand is high.

The cost of the Endangered Species stamps is $5 each, $20 for a block of four and $50 for a collector's sheet of 10 stamps. The prints (only 750 made) sell for $115 with mint stamp and $165 museum framed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Football League Players Association has decided not to be around when professional football management offers another contract.

The NFL Management Council said Friday it will present and explain its new offer Wednesday at the Washington offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

But Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFLPA, said the players don't want to hear it if a federal mediator is present.

"The board of player representatives voted Monday (in Chicago) not to accept FMCS intervention," Garvey said Friday.

The management council had no immediate statement on Garvey's refusal to meet at the mediator's office.

Garvey is surprised about one thing, however, and that is that both sides aren't diligently working toward a contract with the season set to begin Sept. 12.

"If someone would have told me six months ago I would be spending the weekend before the start of the season at home with my family I would have said they were crazy," he said. "I really thought we would be locked in round-the-clock negotiations."

PUT EXTRA CASH in your pocket today. Sell your "don't needs" with an inexpensive Classified Ad.

On Aug. 26, one day after the last round of talks were indefinitely suspended, Jack Donlan, executive director of the NFLMC, urged Kay McMurray, head of the mediation service, to intervene in the stalemated negotiations.

While he has met separately with both sides in the dispute, McMurray has refused, to date, to call both sides in for a joint session.

The resolution approved at the players' meeting in Chicago said the union would not meet with the federal mediator until the management council placed a good faith offer on the table and the negotiation committee included persons with the authority to make a deal.

Garvey said union negotiators are available this week and all next week to bargain in good faith. "Name the Washington hotel of your choice," he said to the management council. The old collective bargaining agreement between the players' union and the NFL expired on July 15.

What's The Law On...

What's the law on...certain dove hunting regulations:

No more than a daily bag limit may be in the hunters possession on the dove field. If birds are placed in the possession of another hunter away from the field, the birds must be tagged with the name and address of the hunter who killed the birds, the hunters signature, the total number of birds involved, and the date the birds were killed.

The hunter must make a serious effort to retrieve any downed bird.

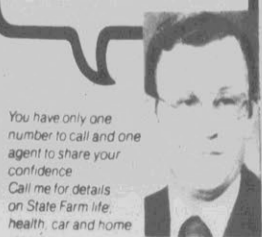

The hunter must have on his/her person a valid State hunting license at all times while hunting.

Any auto-loading or repeating shotgun must be limited to holding only three shells while dove hunting.

Songbirds, hawks, owls, killdeers, nighthawks, chimney swifts, woodpeckers, and many other species of birds should not be shot. These birds are protected by State and Federal regulations and killing them or shooting at them is strictly prohibited.

Brewers Start Flag Run On Wrong Foot

By The Associated Press
If the Milwaukee Brewers are going to win the American League East, they'll have to beat the best to do it. Milwaukee, currently leading the division, plays only above-.500 teams for the rest of the season. And on Friday night, the Brewers began their stretch run on the wrong foot. California's Tommy John, acquired from the New York Yankees this week, debuted with an eight-hitter for the Angels as they downed the Brewers 5-2.

"He's the same Tommy John," said Milwaukee Manager Harvey Kuenn. "He keeps the ball down and away and doesn't make too many mistakes."

The loss reduced Milwaukee's lead in the AL East to 3½ games over Boston and four games over Baltimore, which both won Friday night. The victory kept California two games behind victorious Kansas City in the AL West.

"You can't count on shutting down the top hitting teams like the Brewers," John said. "I tried to hold them to three, four or even five runs, and I figured our club would out-score them."

Any thoughts on his new team?
"The Angels are like wine and cheese — they age well," said the 39-year-old left-hander, now 11-10 this season.

California's big hits came in the fourth inning when Juan Beniquez hit a two-run triple and Bobby Grich followed with his 16th homer.
Brian Downing started the game with a home run, the sixth time he has done that this season for the Angels. That tied the AL record for most leadoff homers in a season, also held by Eddie Joost, Eddie Yost, Tommy Harper and Bert Campaneris.

Orioles 4, Twins 2
Hot-hitting Eddie Murray and Cal Ripken Jr. each homered to help the streaking Orioles to their 13th win in their last 14 games. Murray's solo shot gave him eight homers and 24 runs batted in during his last 17 games.
Ripken slugged a two-run homer, his 22nd of the year.

Red Sox 10, Mariners 8
It was another typical Fenway Park game in Boston. Reid Nichols had a three-run homer and Tony Perez added a solo shot as the Red Sox took a 9-0 lead after five innings. Seattle then came back with seven runs in the sixth on three-run homers by Todd Cruz and Al Cowens and a solo blast by Gary Gray.

Dave Stapleton added a Red Sox homer in the seventh to give Boston a 10-7 lead.

Seattle finished with 17 hits and Boston had 16.

Royals 5, Yankees 3

Willie Wilson's 10th career inside-the-park home run highlighted the Kansas City win. Frank White delivered a key two-run single as the Royals rallied for four runs in the fourth inning to take a 5-2 lead.

Vida Blue, 11-9, overcame a shaky start and went 6 2-3 innings before Dan Quisenberry came on for his 32nd save.

Ken Griffey, who went 4-for-4, homered for the

Tigers 6, A's 3

Mike Laga smacked his first major-league home run and Lance Parrish added a two-run shot to carry the Tigers. Laga, who hit 34 homers in the minors this season, drilled a two-run shot that gave Detroit a 2-1 lead in the second. Parrish's 27th homer of the year put the Tigers ahead 6-1 in the seventh.

Jerry Ujdur, 9-7, allowed eight hits and struck out nine for Detroit. One of those hits was a solo home run by Wayne Gross.

Indians 3, Blue Jays 2
Veterans Toby Harrah and Andre Thornton homered and rookie pitchers Bud Anderson and Neil Heaton got last-out help from reliever Tom Brennan in the Cleveland victory.

With two outs in the first inning, Harrah hit his 25th homer and Thornton followed with his 29th against Toronto's Jim Clancy, 11-13.

Anderson allowed four hits in five innings. Heaton, making his major-league debut, then coasted into the ninth before Toronto scored once and three hits, bringing on Brennan.

White Sox 7, Rangers 5
Greg Luzinski drove in three runs as Chicago got strong relief pitching in winning its fifth in a row.

Larry Parrish's two-run homer gave pulled Texas within 6-5 in the fifth and knocked out White Sox starter LaMarr Hoyt. Kevin Hickey, Warren Brusstar and Jim Kern then came in to halt the Rangers.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
 Atlanta 4, Montreal 3
 The Los Angeles Dodgers did nothing but hurt the Atlanta Braves during the month of August.
 The way they're playing

Carlton, who struck out 12 and did not walk anyone, became the major league's first 18-game winner and he has now beaten each team in the National League at least once.

 Schmidt slugged a 1-0 pitch into the left field seats off starter Joe Niekro, 13-10, who allowed only five hits, struck out four and walked only one.

The blow was Schmidt's 29th homer.
 Niekro is 5-10 against the Phillies and has not beaten them since August, 1979. Carlton, 18-9, defeated Houston for the 31st time against 10 losses.

Davis tripled.
 Sutter walked Jack Clark and Dave Bergman intentionally before Evans drove in the winning run with a fly ball to center.

Greg Minton, 9-4, was the winning pitcher, working the top of the 10th.

Goin' Batty

Richie Hebner (10) of the Pittsburgh Pirates, tosses his bat in the air in disgust after striking out against Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher Bob Welch during second-inning action Friday at Dodger Stadium. Dodger catcher Mike Scioscia offers little consolation as he prepares to return the ball to Welch. (AP Laserphoto) these days, they can do nothing but help them.

The Dodgers - who bumped the Braves out of first in the National League West by beating them eight straight times in August - lost for the fourth time in their last five starts Friday night, a 3-2 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Meanwhile, the suddenly revitalized Braves made hay with a 4-3 victory over the Montreal Expos on Claudell Washington's three-run homer and climbed 2½ games ahead of the second-place Dodgers.

"That's as long a home run as you're going to hit," Atlanta Manager Joe Torre said of Washington's blast at Montreal's Olympic Stadium. "I think the foul pole kept the ball from hitting the roof."

Washington stood at home plate several seconds watching the ball in flight.

"I was doing my Reggie Jackson imitation," he said jokingly. "Actually, I stood there because I didn't know whether the ball was going to be fair or foul."

Washington said the homer had been a case of guessing correctly.

(Expos pitcher) Charlie Lea had been jumping ahead of most of the hitters with a fastball. He started me off with a curve, and I figured he'd come back with a fastball. I guessed right."

The Braves, who have won seven out of eight games and 13 out of 15, trailed 2-1 entering the fifth.

Winning pitcher Phil Niekro, 14-3, opened the fifth with a single off Lea, 11-8. One out later, Rafael Ramirez followed with a single before Washington struck the right field foul pole with a towering drive for his 13th homer and a 4-2 Atlanta lead.

Pirates 3, Dodgers 2
 Johnny Ray and Bill Madlock knocked in runs with two-out singles in the seventh to break a 1-1 tie and lead Pittsburgh over Los Angeles.

Don Robinson, 15-8, teamed with two relief pitchers to scatter seven hits. Kent Tekulve and Rod Scurry pitched the final two innings, with Scurry earning his 13th save.

Bob Welch, 15-10, was the loser.

The Pirates' winning rally started when Dale Berra singled and stole second with one out in the seventh. After Robinson flied out, Omar Moreno walked, then Ray and Madlock followed with run-scoring singles.

Reds 1, Mets 0
 Frank Pastore and Brad Lesley combined on a seven-inning and Cincinnati scored its only run on a balk by rookie right-hander Rick Ownbey to beat New York.

Pastore, 8-10, struck out five and walked two, pitching out of a one-out, two-on jam in the sixth inning before needing Lesley's relief help in the ninth after Ron Hodges' leadoff double. The loss was the 16th in 17 games for the Mets.

The Reds scored their run in the fourth inning when Ownbey, 0-2, batted home Dave Concepcion from third.

Phillies 2, Astros 1
 Mike Schmidt hit a home run with two outs in the ninth inning to break a 1-1 tie and Steve Carlton pitched a two-hitter as Philadelphia defeated Houston.

Ex-Cowboys Suing Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — The trial of three former Dallas Cowboys who claim the National Football League team withheld medical information that might have prevented permanent disabilities is scheduled to begin next week in state district court here.

Former Cowboys Mike Gaechter, Willie Townes and Coy Leon Donahue filed a $2.5 million law suit in 1979 against the team and its physicians charging that negligence in informing players of the extent of injuries caused each physical suffering, mental anguish and loss of earnings.

The players claim team physicians and coaches deceived them about the severity of their injuries.

The Cowboys management and legal council would not comment on the litigation but denied all accusations made in the lawsuit.

On Friday, state judge John Marshall denied a request from attorney Frank Hernandez to declare the suit a class action. Hernandez had argued that 124 former players might have joined the suit if the request was granted.

Hernandez said the suit challenges a deeply ingrained attitude in professional football that players should play with pain.

"The Cowboys don't tell players what's wrong with them. That's the way they operate," he said. "The whole attitude, the whole thing, that's what we're challenging."

"I know there is a difference between playing with pain and playing with a potentially crippling injury," Hernandez said. "Whether we win this thing or not, we're going to have an impact. People will be watching."

"The whole message the suit has had is an awakening of the football players to the fact that they do have rights to medical information and they are entitled to workmen's compensation benefits," he said.

Last year, Marshall ruled that two team physicians originally named in the suit could not be held personally liable because the Texas statute of limitations for health professionals requires that all claims be made within two years of the alleged act.

Gaechter was enjoying his finest season in 1969 when he injured his Achilles' tendon. He says he was given shots of two painkillers and sent back into the lineup.

Playing on an injured leg, Gaechter says, now has left him with cramps and a limp in the weakened leg.

Townes claims in his deposition that the team did not inform him about calcium deposits in his leg.

"The doctors and coaches treated me as if I were not actually physically hurt," Townes said in his deposition about the 1969 and 1970 seasons.

"Had they told me about the medical facts, I would have been able to have the operation on my leg much sooner, could have rehabilitated sooner and probably would not have lost my position to Larry Cole."

Donahue also contends the Cowboys withheld medical information and delayed a necessary operation on his injured knee.

Morris Brown 28
Fayetteville St. 12

ATLANTA (AP) — Fernanza Burgess threw one touchdown pass and scored another as Morris Brown opened its 1982 football season with a 28-12 victory over Fayetteville State Saturday.

Burgess connected with Randy Walker on a 35-yard scoring pass to cap an 80-yard drive in the third quarter and came back later to score on a one-yard keeper.

Leon Winfrey opened the scoring for the Wolverines with a nine-yard run in the first quarter, a touchdown he set up with a 42-yard punt return to the Fayetteville 42.

The Wolverines other score came on a 21-yard dash by Craig Harris in the final quarter.

The visitors from North Carolina cut the halftime margin to 7-6 with Walter Sheldon tallied on a two-yard run 3:42 before halftime, and the Broncos got their other touchdown in the final quarter on a one-yard keeper by Kevin Wardlaw.

THE GREENVILLE Police Department Crime Prevention Section will work with any interested group in establishing a Community Watch Team in its neighborhood. Call Sgt. D. A. Jackson at 752-3342 for details.

Billy Graham Plans Lectures

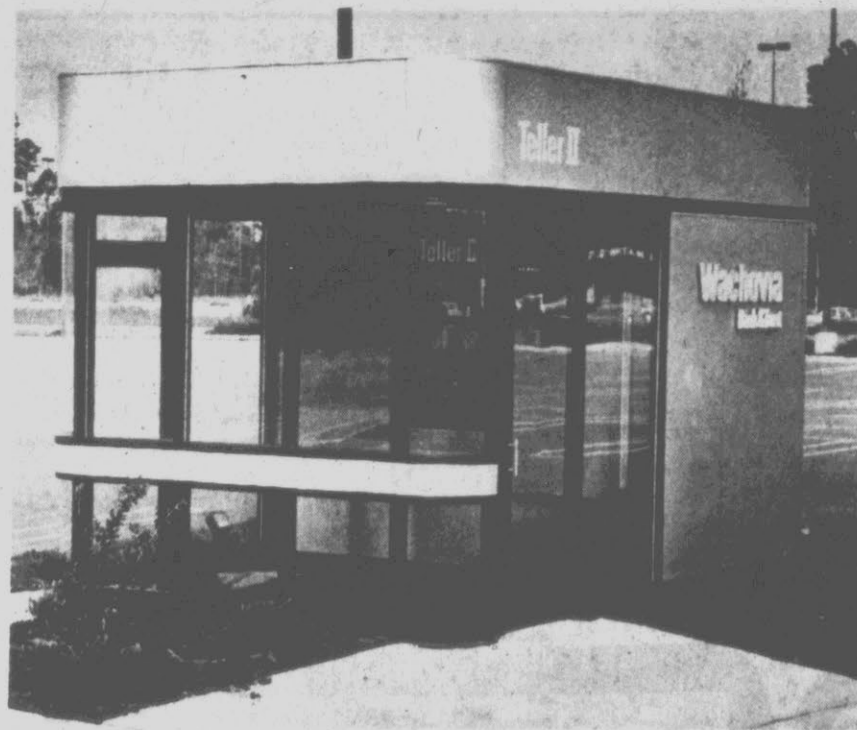

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) - Evangelist Billy Graham will leave the crowded crusade circuit later this month to conduct a lecture series at the University of North Carolina.

The 64-year-old North Carolina native, who began his career as an evangelist in Charlotte in 1947, has appeared infrequently in the state.

Student Christian organizations, primarily the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, are sponsoring the Sept. 27-Oct. 1 series. All lectures will be indoors and the largest hall will be Carmichael Auditorium, which seats about 10,000.

The topic of the lectures has not been announced. Since 1947, Graham has preached to nearly 100 million people. He most recently drew attention for visiting the Soviet Union at the invitation of Russian officials.

Statistics from the Billy Graham Association indicate that the evangelist has conducted nine crusades in North Carolina, attracting 1.5 million people.

Wachovia Plans Service At Fourth Teller II Site

Wachovia Bank & Trust Co. has announced that it will begin operation of its fourth Teller II automated teller machine in Greenville on Tuesday. The machine is located in a stand-alone facility on the perimeter of Carolina East Convenience Center, adjacent to Carolina East Mall. Wachovia said the new unit is its first automated teller machine to be placed in a stand-alone building in a non-bank location. Thomas A. Bennett, regional vice president in Greenville, said a ribbon cutting ceremony is set for 9 a.m. Tuesday with Mayor Percy Cox and other officials on hand. The new Teller II, according to Bennett, is located on the solid interior rear wall of the facility, and the front and side walls are glass. The lighted lobby has heating and air conditioning.

hours a day, seven days a week. It gives account balance information, transfers funds between accounts, and dispenses cash in multiples of $5 up to a daily limit of $200. Payments and deposits are also accepted. The bank has Teller II machines at its Pitt Plaza, Medical Park and university offices here.

The Wachovia 7-Day Money Market Certificate

Another reason why Wachovia is the place for the money you want to invest, but don't want to risk.

Now the best thing about having money to tie up in a high return investment... is that you don't have to tie it up for more than a week.

If you have at least $20,000 to invest, are interested in a high rate of return, prefer the shortest term, and want to make certain your investment is safe, the Wachovia 7-Day Money Market Certificate may be for you.

Money Market Rates. Your money will earn at current money market rates, and your interest is compounded daily. A Personal Banker can advise you on the current rate.

Seven Day Term. Every seven days, you can (1) make additional deposits to your certificate, (2) withdraw all of your money with no penalties, (3) withdraw part of your money as long as you maintain a $20,000 minimum, or (4) leave your money on deposit and we'll renew your certificate automatically.

Safety and Stability. At Wachovia, you know your investment is safe, insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and backed by the financial strength of Wachovia, a bank with an unbroken record of stability for over 100 years.

Location Convenience. You can open your 7-Day Certificate, as well as make deposits and withdrawals, at any of our nearly 200 offices statewide.

The Help of a Personal Banker. At Wachovia, you have your own Personal Banker to explain the 7-Day Certificate and other Wachovia investment options, and help you determine the combination of investments that's right for you. Anytime you have a question about your investment, simply give your Personal Banker a call.

Stop By. Or Call Toll-Free 1-800-672-6167. We'd like you to have our brochure explaining the Wachovia 7-Day Money Market Certificate and other Wachovia deposit services. You can pick up your copy at your nearest Wachovia office or call toll-free and we'll send you one by mail. 1-800-672-6167 Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

GOREN BRIDGE

BY CHARLES GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF
© 1982 Tribune Company Syndicate, Inc.

DEAR MR. GOREN

Q.—North opened the bidding fourth hand with one no trump. This was passed round to my partner, who balanced with a double. I held:

♠xx ♥xxx ♦xxx ♣xxxx

I bid two clubs and my partner bid two spades. The hand was a disaster. My partner said she took my bid as being the Stayman Convention, and that I should have rebid three clubs. I maintained that Stayman does not apply after an opposing no trump opening bid. We would appreciate your opinion.—Clare Leroux, Cincinnati, Ohio

(This question has been awarded the weekly prize.)

A.—You seem to play in a strange game. Let's be kind and give North an absolute maximum for his no trump opening bid, i.e., 18 points. Now let's presume that your partner, who passed originally, had an absolute maximum of 12 points. Add to that your 1 point and you still come up with only 31. What was South doing passing his partner's no trump opening when he held at least 9 points?

Next, your partner was courting disaster when she stepped into the auction. Since she did not bid a suit, we must suppose that her hand was reasonably balanced. She and North between them held at least 28 points. If we split the remainder of the points between you and South, your side would still be outgunned 22-18. It is asking for trouble to try to make eight tricks under those circumstances. It seems to me that a pass would have been more circumspect.

Last, you are right. In the situation you describe, the Stayman Convention does not apply. Your bid of two clubs simply showed a long club suit and a hand not good enough to play for penalties against one no trump doubled.

Q.—In your books, I find that, in rubber bridge, the deal passes to the player on the dealer's left if a hand is passed out. However, I have often been taken to task at my bridge club for suggesting this. They maintain that the same player must redeal, rather than the hand be scored as a zero and we get on to the next hand.—L.S., Buffalo, N.Y.

A.—I can only presume that, at your bridge club, you are playing either Chicago Bridge or that each round consists of six deals. In that event, a redeal is correct.

Q.—I have a feeling that playing Chicago Bridge produces higher total scores over a period than does straight rubber bridge. Has anyone ever attempted to evaluate this difference?—G. E. Eberhart, Cincinnati, Ohio

A.—Not statistically, as far as I know. However, experts at this form of the game assure me that the scores run 20 percent to 25 percent higher, and my own experience would tend to bear this out.

Send any questions for this column to: Charles Goren and Omar Sharif, care of this newspaper. Each week a prize of a copy of the new "Goren's Bridge Complete," a $9.95 value, will be awarded for the question judged the best received.

Charles Goren and Omar Sharif personally cannot undertake to answer all questions submitted.

Puzzled Over Aspirin Action

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Three researchers say aspirin apparently helps prevent sunburn, although it's uncertain how or why.

Taken as directed—three tablets every four hours, or no more than 12 a day— aspirin nearly triples human tolerance to the sun, said three skin specialists at Mount Sinai Medical Center.

"Theoretically, in June, I can go out in the sun for only 30 minutes before I get red cheeks and a red nose," Dr. Stephen N. Horwitz, one of the researchers, said Wednesday. "But I can stay out an hour and a half on three aspirin."

He said, however, that sunscreens are a better sunburn guard.

New Hanover Tops Waste List

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—State officials say North Carolina businesses and industries generated an estimated 1.8 billion pounds of hazardous waste in 1981—the equivalent of about 310 pounds per state resident.

A report by the Solid and Hazardous Waste Management Branch, the first report of its kind to be compiled by the state, shows that fewer than 1,000 firms generated the waste.

Nearly 99 percent of the waste generators were concentrated in 17 counties, mostly in the Piedmont. But New Hanover County on the coast generated the most hazardous waste—1.4 billion pounds.

Other counties the report said produce more than 2 million pound of hazardous waste during the year included: Buncombe, 3.8 million pounds; Cabarrus, almost 10 million pounds; Caldwell, 7.3 million pounds; Cleveland, 36.4 million; Cumberland, 2.8 million; Davidson, 2.6 million;

Forsyth, 13.6 million; Gaston, 5.7 million; Guilford, 12.5 million; Lee, 2.0 million; Mecklenburg, 33.0 million; Moore, 5.6 million; Catawba, 3.0 million; Pitt, 8.0 million; Rowan, 2.4 million; and Wake, 282.1 million.

The industries generating most of the waste were those manufacturing textile products, furniture, chemicals and electronic machinery. About 78 percent of the wastes were flammable solvents, such as paint thinner. Another 14 percent were toxic substances, which include arsenic and mercury. The federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976 defines a hazardous waste as anything that can cause death or a serious, irreversible illness or pose a substantial hazard to human health or the environment. Radioactive wastes are not included. The hazardous waste figures are based on information provided by most of North Carolina's 806 major generators of hazardous waste, said D.W. Strickland, head of the waste branch.

To be classified as a major generator, a company must produce more than 2,200 pounds of waste per month.

"We offer higher rates and insure them to $100,000. But your best insurance is our financial stability."

Bill Reagan, President
North State Savings & Loan Corp.

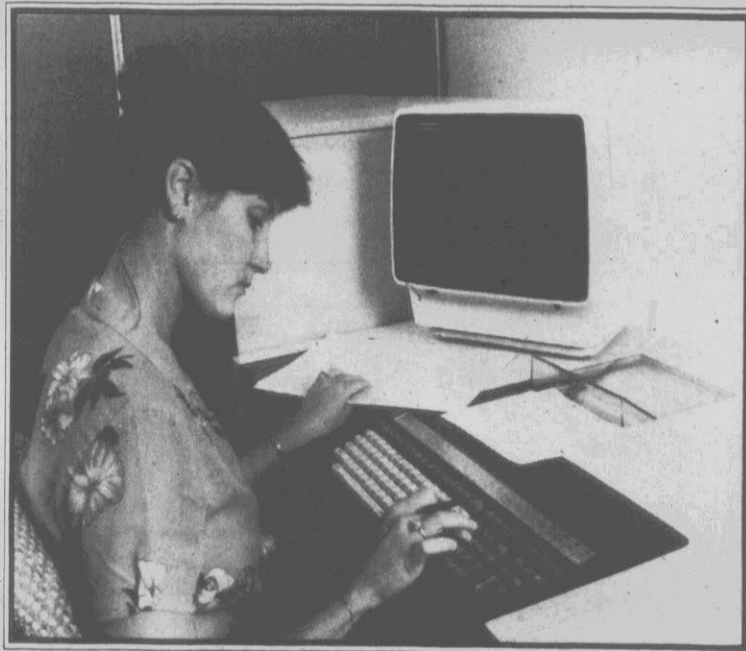

"At North State we're able to offer higher rates than other banks and savings & loans because we're regulated and insured by the North Carolina Savings Guaranty Corporation rather than the FSLIC (Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation).

"No one has ever lost a penny in accounts insured by either. But since we're not burdened by federal regulation, we're more efficient, more profitable, and we can afford to offer higher yields on your savings investments.

"And, in fact, we do offer higher yields. Higher than any other bank or savings and loan in the State of North Carolina."

"Ultimately, your best insurance is North State's financial stability."

"In truth, the $100,000 deposit insurance, offered by every savings and loan in the state, is the 'absolute last line of defense' against losses of your funds.

"The real security of your savings deposits is the management, liquidity and profitability of the financial institution you patronize. And this is where North State excels."

"Sound management is why our savings yields are the highest in the state."

"North State started with a crack management team and a strong board of directors who invested their money in a sound financial concept: Offer investors higher rates of interest, invest those deposits in higher yielding instruments, and return a profit to our stockholders and depositors.

"It works.

"In June, while total deposits in savings & loans across the state declined by $2 million, our deposits increased by over $2 million. The reason? In today's economy, people cannot afford to keep their savings in lower yielding investments.

So they switched to North State."

"Join the people who get the highest rates."

"We are anxious to tell you all about the progressive, high yielding, safe financial products offered by North State. And we can help you construct a sound financial program. If you need liquidity, we offer Funds CheckingSM which paid over 11% interest on checking deposits in August.

"Or, for an even higher yield, our $1000 minimum Certificates of Deposit yield over 12% in a six month period. Our 30-month and 3½ year CD's offer even more interest.

"It's costing you money to save elsewhere. Come to North State."

"Come to any of our three locations and start getting a higher yield."

"Customer representatives at our two Greenville locations and our new Windsor branch will be happy to tell you about all the innovative financial products available at North State.

"You'll soon find out what a good feeling it is to know you're earning the maximum on your savings.

"At North State, you get those high rates in a safe, secure investment insured to $100,000 by the North Carolina Savings Guaranty Corporation.

"And our solid financial position insures your high yields even more."

Shagging—New And Old Styles

By Jane Welborn
Reflector Staff Writer

It might have been gray outside on the beach, but it was anything but dismal inside The Jolly Knave Tavern in Atlantic Beach. The laughs and the cheers blended in with the bright clothes and the smiles to lend a happy atmosphere to the dance contest.

The five judges sat around the roped off floor. Lined six or seven deep behind them were the cheering onlookers, some of them talented dancers themselves. As the couples swirled around and the music blared, the crowd clapped and whistled for the fancy footwork.

The dance being done at the contest was one that can be seen any night at any of the beach music clubs in the South. That dance is the shag.

The shag is a variation of the bop, the jitterbug and the swing danced to the beat of the rhythm and blues known as "beach music."

Shad Alberty of Fort Mills, S.C., has been shagging since 1952. "The shag began in the 1940s," he said. "The old style of the dance is extremely hard to learn and must be practiced every day until it comes automatically."

Judy Bazemore, a shag teacher at Louie's Beach Club in Greenville, said that the shag taught at Louie's is done to a nine-beat count. "The shag is taught different ways," she said, "but you are doing the same steps whether you use a six-, eight- or nine-count."

Although a lot like the bop, the shag is a smoother dance. "The main difference between the shag and the bop is that the shag is mostly danced from the waist down while the bop has more jumping and body movements," according to Ms. Bazemore.

"There are different styles of the shag," she said. "The basic style is usually the same, but North Carolinians use a kick and in South Carolina they rock back instead of kicking. There is a difference between the style in western North Carolina and eastern North Carolina. You can tell what area a dancer is from by watching him dance."

"College kids are now putting more bounce into the shag," she said. "There is definitely an old style and a new style of shagging."

The shag used to be mainly a male dance. The woman only did the basic steps. Included in the basic are such moves as the belly roll, the sugar foot, the pivot, the applejack, the boogie walk and fly-backs.

Ms. Bazemore said that good dancers take these basic steps of the shag and make up their own variations and moves using the count of the music.

"The woman now has begun to do some of the fancy steps that the males do on the dance floor," said Bazemore, a dancer on the professional shag circuit. "There are now some really good female dancers."

"The shag is still a male dance, though," she said. "It is probably 60 percent of the man and 40 percent of the woman. The female stays in the basic step with nine counts and the male does most of the fancy moves."

Mike Pace, who along with his wife Brenda won the 1980

North Carolina shag title, agreed that the shag is a male-dominated dance.

"I have been dancing for 17 years and I like the old style better," Pace said. "If the female knows the basic well, she can dance with any male dancer. Back in the days when Myrtle Beach was really cranked up and all they did was shag, guys would pick a girl and dance with her all night. If they didn't all know the basics, then they looked dumb dancing together."

"The female is now trying to do too much," Pace said. "The couples now do steps together."

According to Charlie Womble, another of the shag teachers at Louie's and a dancer on the circuit, the shag should stay a male-dominated dance. "If a girl can do the basic and not get out of it while the man does steps, then the girl is a good dancer," he said.

And there were plenty of good dancers at the contest at Atlantic Beach. John and Pee Wee Teal came from Raleigh and Bob and Carol Myrick from Durham were there. Also dancing were Cecil and Linda Squires of Raleigh. The ages of the couples who dance on the circuit range from 18 to 50.

At the contest at the Jolly Knave, Ms. Bazemore was the head judge. She explained that the contestants were being judged according to the rules specified by the Shag Preservation Association. This association was formed in 1981 by nightclubs in North and South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia "to create and maintain an environment conducive to the shag and promote the music and the atmosphere surrounding the dance."

The main reason for the formation of the association was to set down rules to govern the administration of shag contests.

According to shagger Mike Pace of Stokes, "Before the SPA was formed, every nightclub made up its own rules for a shag contest. It is much better to have the SPA rules."

Any nightclub wishing to have a dance contest must first have the date for the contest approved by the SPA. No two contests sanctioned by the association can be held the same day, so each contest can have a chance to have the best dancers on the circuit participate.

As defined by the by-laws of the SPA, each contest must have five judges, two picked from the dancers on the circuit at the present time and three out of a pool of SPA approved judges from the area. There are four categories for judging a shag contest: smoothness, togetherness, degree of difficulty and execution and repertoire.

In dance contests sanctioned by the SPA, the judges use score sheets on which they give each couple a grade from 1-10 in each of the categories. The couple with the most points at the end of the four rounds of dancing is declared the winner.

SPA contests must pay at least six places. After the semi-finals the nine couples entered in the contest at the Jolly Knave voted to split the prize money so that every couple would receive some compensation for their efforts.

A Greenville couple, Charlie Womble and Jackie McGhee, took first place honors at The Jolly Knave.

Ms. Bazemore said the "judges watch the feet and smoothness of the dancers and the crowd watches the showmanship. A lot of times the audience does not agree with the judges, but all the judges are dancers and know the degree of difficulty of the moves the couple is doing."

Because the SPA was formed recently, the circuit is not very large. But there are many good dancers who are dancing as novices and will join the circuit when they have won an SPA novice contest.

"There are children from the ages of 7-17 that are now competing in kid's shag contests," Basemore said. "The kids are really easy to teach. They pick up the hard moves so quickly. The hardest people to teach are those who have been dancing in nightclubs and did not learn to shag the right way. Those who have never learned can pick it up quickly."

Charlie Womble is one of those people who picked the dance up quickly. He has only been shagging for two years, and is winning contests sanctioned by the SPA. He also teaches shagging lessons in the nightclub where he learned to dance.

He Fights To Get Daughter

By ANDREW MacLEOD
VANCOUVER, Wash. (UPI) — Like many American men who went away to the Vietnam war, Gary Tanous fathered a child with a Vietnamese woman. Unlike most, he's battling to bring his daughter home.

It's been a tough fight and an embittering experience.

"I blame the Americans more than the Vietnamese," said Tanous. "They're both at fault, but I'd say it's about a 70-30 split."

Of the bureaucratic wall

he's run up against in his two-year effort to get his teenage daughter, Jean Marie, out of Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, Tanous said. "It's just a crate of fools is what it is."

With the recent announcement by Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach that Eurasian children are free to leave Vietnam, the next move appears to be up to Congress to create the means for the children to enter the United States.

The United States recognizes about 8,000 "Amasian" children — Eurasian children of American descent — in Vietnam, said Frank Sieverts, a spokesman for the State Department's Bureau of Refugee Programs. However, other estimates put the population of Amasian children in Southeast Asia much higher.

So far, interest by their American fathers in gaining custody of the children has not been high. However, Sieverts said if Congress is able to establish a means for the children to enter the United States, interest may increase.

"If a program develops, it's quite possible more fathers will come forward," he said.

Tanous, 42, has spent much of his time lobbying the Northwest's congressional delegation and traveling to London and Bangkok, Thailand, to meet with Vietnamese officials.

As a result, he said, he's spent $20,000, gone through several jobs and is broke and unemployed.

But he hasn't lost faith that he'll be reunited with the girl, one of 76 Amasian children in Vietnam who is a documented American citizen.

Reaching into the pocket of his jeans, he pulls out several snapshots.

"This is my favorite one,"

he said. The photo shows a 14-year-old girl with shoulder-length black hair in black pajamas standing beside a small Honda motorbike on a Ho Chi Minh street.

An elderly woman similarly dressed is next to the girl. The woman is Jean Marie's "grandmother," Tanous explained. He smiles. "They're not related. She just takes care of Jean Marie."

Jean Marie's mother and Tanous were married in 1966. He was a 27-year-old civilian electronics engineer working in communications in Vietnam. His wife, whom he met in a bar near Saigon, was 19 at the time.

In 1968, Tanous and his family were back in the states. His wife returned to Vietnam with their one-year-old daughter for a visit. She didn't return at the time. They divorced.

After the fall of Saigon, Tanous said his ex-wife told him their daughter was with family members in France. Later, he learned Jean Marie did not make it out of Vietnam with her mother. It was then that he began his efforts to gain custody of the girl.

Tanous said he doesn't know where his ex-wife lives, except that he believes she is in the United States.

"I think she really feels guilty about what happened to the kid," he said, adding that he is not bitter because the woman was not able to get the child out of Vietnam when she left.

"I suppose if there was war here and some foreign power was screwing up our economy, we'd have a different outlook on things, too," he said.

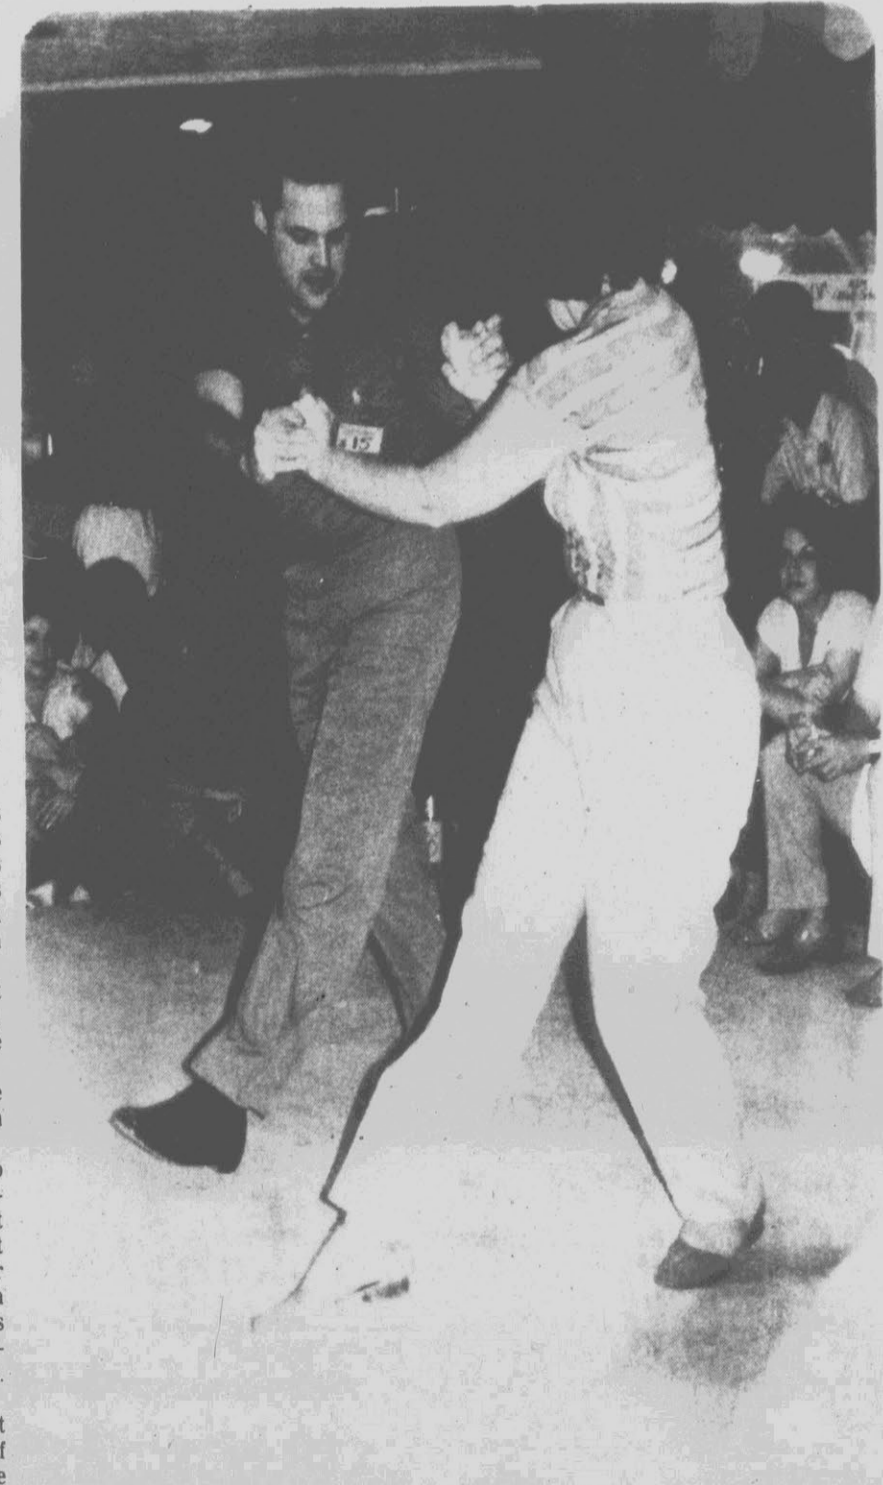

How well Jean Marie is faring in Vietnam, Tanous doesn't know. Much of his information on the child has come second-hand from journalists traveling through the country.

However, he believes that since she is half-American, she will never fit into the Vietnamese culture.

He said Eurasians "are treated worse than a black in Alabama 20 years ago..."

Tanous has managed to learn that the girl has developed a parasite in her heart and that she recently spent five months in prison for trying to flee Vietnam in a boat. Vietnamese officials stopped the boat from making it to international waters. For that Tanous is grateful.

"She was lucky she got caught," he said. "Most of the boats that get out are boarded by Thai pirates. She'd have been dead. All the girls that look like that are dead," he said tapping a photo.

Harrington-Drinnon Wedding Held

The wedding ceremony of Vicki Williams Drinnon and Lennie Darrell Harrington took place Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in the First Pentecostal Holiness Church here. The Rev. James B. Morris performed the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lee Williams of Greenville are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Marie Harrington Morris of Greensboro and the late Lennie Ray Harrington.

A program of organ music was presented by Eloise Jackson.

The bride was given in marriage by her son, Tim Drinnon. Her matron of honor was Vickie M. Harrington of Greenville. Terry Harrington of Greenville, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man and the usher was Will Pope of Greenville.

The bride wore a formal ivory gown of Nottingham lace. The gown was fashioned with a low scooped neckline and lace flounced short sleeves. The gathered skirt, accented with a scalloped lace ruffle, flowed into an attached brush train. She carried a colonial silk nosegay of peach opened roses and tiger lilies interlaced with ivory baby's breath and tied with matching peach lace and satin ribbons.

The matron of honor wore a floor length peach floral gown accented with an empire waistline and sheer bell long sleeves. She carried a single long-stemmed silk peach rose accented with matching baby's breath with peach lace and satin ribbons.

The mothers of the bridal couple were remembered with peach silk miniature rose corsages.

The wedding was directed by Mary Roberson.

A reception was held at the church after the ceremony. Rhonda Harrington, cousin of the bridegroom, served cake and Mary Adams, aunt of the bride, poured punch. Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Ray Harrington, cousin of the bridegroom, presided at the registry.

The couple will be living in Greenville after a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va.

Both the bride and bridegroom attended J.H. Rose High School. She is employed by Bankers Mortgage Corp.; he as a contractor.

NECTARINE PICKLE

You can use the leftover syrup to pickle more fruit.

- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
- 1/2 cup cider vinegar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 of a cinnamon stick (2-inch piece)
- 1 pound (4 medium) firm-ripe nectarines, halved

In a medium saucepan over low heat, stir together granulated sugar, brown sugar, vinegar, water and cinnamon stick until sugars dissolve; simmer 5 minutes. Add nectarine halves; return to simmering; simmer until nectarines are just tender—about 5 minutes. Cool; turn into storage container, slipping off any loose skins. Cover and chill. Drain before serving. Makes 8 servings.

Miss Heath, Mr. Little Married Saturday

Timothy Christian Church was the scene of the wedding ceremony of Barbara Lynn Heath and Dwayne Allen Little Saturday evening at seven o'clock. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton E. Heath of Route 1, Vanceboro. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen L. Little of Greenville.

A program of organ music was presented by Wilma Smith. Janet Mayo was soloist.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul Brown, pastor of Rosebud Christian Church in Walnut Cove. He was assisted by the Rev. Stanley Rouse, pastor of Timothy Church.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father. She wore a formal gown of white organza over peau de soie which featured a V-off-the-shoulder neckline outlined in ruffled chantilly lace. Ruffled chantilly lace trimmed the sheer Princess Diana sleeves. The modified empire bodice was embossed in appliques of re-embroidered lace beaded in pearls and iridescent sequins. A border of silk Venise lace in a floral motif encircled the waistline. The full skirt and attached chapel train were bordered in a ruffle of chantilly lace at the hemline. She wore a garden hat trimmed in embroidered lace beaded with pearls to complement her gown. A sheer fingertip illusion veil was attached. She carried a cascade of bridal satin ribbon mixed with white lily of the valley.

Kathy H. Glidewell was honor attendant for her sister and wore a formal gown of blue tinstea Italian silk designed with an open scooped neckline enhanced with a matching chantilly lace overlay. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice and natural waistline from which fell the chantilly lace peplum and flared skirt. She wore a garden hat accented with illusion and carried a nosegay of yellow and blue daisies. The attendants wore gowns and hats styled identical to that of the honor attendant.

Bridesmaids were Judy Sawyer of Greenville, Tracy J. Smith and Lisa R. Smith of Route 1, Vanceboro.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers included Warren Cade, Eric Churchill, Scott Buck, all of Greenville and Ruben Butler of Stokes.

The mother of the bride wore a blue formal gown and the mother of the bridegroom wore an apricot formal gown. Both were presented bouquets of white carnations.

Sybil Morris was mistress of ceremony and Brenda Carrawan presided at the guest register.

A reception was given by the parents of the bride in the church fellowship hall. Punch was poured by Linda Smith of Greenville and cake was served by Selma Harris and Iona Newby.

The bride is a graduate of D.H. Conley High School and the bridegroom is a graduate of Rose High School. Both work at Burroughs Wellcome.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will live near Greenville.

An after-rehearsal dinner was given by the parents of the bridegroom at Parkers Barbecue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Newby, Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Newby, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Newby and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Newby entertained the bridal couple at a cookout. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Churchill entertained the bridal couple and wedding party at a dinner at their home Wednesday night.

Other shaggers have been dancing for a longer period of time. Mike Pace learned to shag 18 years ago. Many of the best shagging couples, such as the Squires and the Myricks, now have children who are entering contests.

"I love to dance and I grew up dancing," said Bazemore. "My aunt taught me the sugarfoot when I was young. I had no idea that I would grow up to use it in a dance contest."

Shad Alberty learned to dance in Greensboro in the 1950s. He forecasts a bright future for the 40-year-old dancer.

"The popularity of the shag has been growing each year, except for a slump in the late 1960s. About 1973, the shag picked back up and has been growing like a storm. I think that it will keep getting bigger and will soon be nationwide," he said.

A Beach Music Hall of Fame has been established in Spartanburg, S.C., and on Nov. 21 a black tie Beach Music Awards Program will be held in the Civic Center in Myrtle Beach, S.C. According to Alberty, there will be categories for beach music songs and groups as well as awards for the best shaggers.

"The interest in shagging is unbelievable," said Womble. "The number of contests has grown and there are now more participants. There used to be four contests a year and now there are two or three per month."

"Learning to shag is the best thing that ever happened to me," he said. "It is never too late to learn how."

Has Hawk For Pet

By ANN D. KIRKWOOD
BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Ruth Melichar has a would-be mate in the house, and it's not her husband.

Ki, a smartly colored sparrow hawk, has single-mindedly selected Mrs. Melichar, a Boise artist, as his chosen mate and does not wish to share her.

Three rooms in the Melichar home have been turned into a hospital for wounded, maimed and crippled birds.

Ki is one of the patients. He was found starving beside a roadway about five years ago. He is imprinted — or "thinks of himself as a person" — Mrs. Melichar said, and isn't capable of surviving in the wild.

"He doesn't know what to hunt, where to hunt or how to hunt," she said. "He doesn't know any of the taboos of birdhood. He thinks of himself as human. So, when mating season comes around, I'm his mate."

In 1974, Mrs. Melichar, already a well-known local painter, received her first bird, a sick burrowing owl. She took the bird to a Meridian, Idaho, veterinarian, J.C. Lee.

"He said if I wanted to keep it as a pet, he'd get me the permits as long as I'd take in a few birds. It all started out with me and a few birds."

But very quickly Mrs. Melichar, equipped with state and federal permits, filled a room with bird cages, then the three rooms — and now cages even adorn a counter near her clothes washer and dryer as more and more people bring wounded or abandoned birds to the makeshift hospital.

"You never know what I'll have by the end of the day," Mrs. Melichar said as she walked through the caged room that once was her artist's studio. "They'll get me up at 6 a.m. with a wounded bird and, at 11 p.m., they'll still be coming in."

Neighborhood children turn over an owl wounded by a B-B gun, loggers worried about an abandoned baby owl knock on her door — and frantic mothers come with their children in tow, laden with what once were two family pets that now have hatched their own family of cooing doves.

Each day the Melichars buy a fresh beef liver and chop the organ into worm-shaped chunks of meat. By hand, Mrs. Melichar pops the "pseudo worms" down a "baby robin's throat, coaxes a magpie to eat or pets and feeds a full-grown shreeek owl that is blind in both eyes.

She spreads antibiotic lotion on their wounds, wraps a broken wing or soothes a nervous newcomer, cooing and talking quietly.

Midgette-Chrismon Vows Said

MRS. GERALD THOMAS MIDGETTE

ENGELHARD — Kay Marie Chrismon, formerly of Greenville, and Gerald Thomas Midgette of Engelhard were married Saturday afternoon at two o'clock by the uncle of the bride, Rev. Harold Chrismon of Vass.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira S. Chrismon of Montgomery, Ill., was given in marriage by her parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harold Gibbs of Engelhard.

For the double ring ceremony, the bride was dressed in a gown of candlelight chiffon and net over taffeta. It had a fitted bodice with sweetheart neckline appliqued with beaded alencon lace. Lace appliques also accented the short puffed sleeves and sweep train. The overskirt was trimmed with silk flowers. A crown of silk flowers and seed pearls was attached to a double-tiered veil of illusion trimmed with lace. Her gown and veil were made by her mother. She carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, thimble zinnias and baby's breath.

Vickie Boswell of Mobile, Ala. was honor attendant and Dalene Latham of Greenville was bridesmaid. Myra Ross of Durham, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The ring bearer was Rusty Ross of Durham, nephew of the bride, and the usher was Harold Gibbs of Engelhard, brother of the bridegroom. Timmy Gibbs of Engelhard was best man.

A program of piano music was presented by Donna Stegall, Teresa Scarlett was vocalist and both are from Greenville.

The attendants each wore a long gown of rust colored elitesoir fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves, fitted bodice and flared skirt. They each carried a wicker basket adorned with orange and yellow zinnias, marigolds and baby's breath. They wore baby's breath in their hair. The flower girl wore a yellow lace and chiffon over taffeta gown designed similar to that of the bride's gown. She carried a basket similar to that of the bridesmaids and wore a crown of yellow flowers.

A yard reception was held. The refreshment table was covered with a white linen, lace-trimmed cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and orange garden flowers. Barbara Ross, sister of the bride, poured punch and Sandra Johnson, sister of the bride, served wedding cake.

Yellow and orange flowers, greenery and yellow ribbon decorated the ceremony area. Programs were given out by Katrina Watson. Lou Ann Gibbs presided at the guest register.

The couple will live near Engelhard after a wedding trip to Ocracoke Island.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University and is employed by the Hyde Rural Health Corp. The bridegroom graduated from Mattamuskeet High School and is a commercial fisherman.

Margie Ann Potter became the bride of Sammy Ray Farmer Saturday at 4 p.m. in the Bethany Free Will Baptist Church. The Rev. C.L. Patrick performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond West Potter of Route 2, Ayden. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace Farmer of Route 1, Pinetops.

Judy Braxton played the piano. Mary Elizabeth Brown sang "O Promise Me" and then "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt on the prie-dieu. The church was decorated with two seven-branch candles on each side. The couple lit the unity candle.

The bride was given in marriage her parents and escorted by her father. She wore a formal gown of white organza over peau de soie designed with a sweetheart neckline outlined in scalloped chantilly lace. The empire bodice was overlaid in chantilly lace accented with seed pearls. The long fitted sleeves were fashioned of chantilly lace, calla points and button closures. The modified waistline also featured chantilly lace and the A-line skirt and attached chapel train were enhanced by cascading tiers of organza edged in matching lace. She wore a chapel length veil of illusion edged in chantilly lace attached to an open pillbox of organza. She carried a bouquet of red roses and baby's breath with white ribbons.

The maid of honor was Regina Gray of Greenville, who wore a formal yellow gown with spaghetti straps and matching jacket. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses accented with miniature carnations and baby's breath tied with yellow ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Joan Denton and Wanda Farmer of Pinetops, sisters of the bridegroom, Danita Stallings and Dale Williams both of Greenville. They wore seafoam green silesta floor length gowns. The bodice featured a yoke neckline accented with a drape bertha collar edged with matching Venise lace motifs. The flared skirt of silesta flowed from an empire waist. They carried bouquets like that of the honor attendant.

Tonya Denton of Pinetops, niece of the bridegroom, was miniature bride. She wore a dress similar to that of the bride and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and fern tied with yellow ribbons.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers were Paul, Michael and Raymond Potter Jr., brothers of the bride, and Frank Webb of Ayden. The ring bearer was Steven Farmer, son of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride wore a green dress with matching jacket and a corsage of white carnations. The mother of the bridegroom selected a peach colored sleeveless dress. It had a matching jacket. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Edith Collier, wore a corsage of white carnations. A reception was held after the ceremony. Mrs. Frank Webb served cake and Melissa Farmer poured punch.

The bridegroom is a graduate of South Edgecombe High School and is vice president of the electrical division of Stuart Shinn, Inc. The bride is a graduate of Ayden-Gritton High School and is a sales representative for Don F. Cameron Co. of Raleigh.

The couple will live in Greenville after a wedding trip to unannounced points.

COOKING IS FUN

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Years ago Cobb Salad, served in California's Brown Derby restaurants, was popular. Especially so because "The Brown Derby Cookbook" (issued in 1933) gave the recipe for it so cooks could duplicate it at home.

Lately Cobb Salad has had a revival — with present-day cooks making their own versions of it. One version recently tried in my kitchen takes current high food costs into consideration: converted-style rice stretches the original ingredients.

MAKE-AHEAD COBB RICE SALAD

- 1 cup converted-style rice
- 1-3rd cup corn oil
- 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- Worcestershire sauce to taste
- 2 cups diced (1/2 inch) cooked chicken
- 4 to 6 slices bacon
- 1 or 2 large eggs
- 2 medium tomatoes
- Salad greens
- 1 medium avocado
- Minced fresh chives to taste
- 2 to 4 ounces blue cheese (1/4 to 1/2 cup), crumbled
- Mayonnaise, preferably homemade

Cook rice according to package directions, using the amount of water given for a soft texture; fluff with a fork; cover and let stand until lukewarm.

Whisk or shake together oil, vinegar, garlic, salt, pepper, mustard, sugar and Worcestershire sauce. Toss with rice and chicken; cover and refrigerate — overnight, if you like.

Cook bacon until crisp, drain on paper toweling; cover and refrigerate.

Hard-cook egg, shell, slice, cover and refrigerate.

Skin tomatoes; seed and dice; cover and refrigerate.

At serving time, shred salad greens and arrange on a large platter or in a shallow salad bowl. Top with rice mixture.

Reheat bacon. Peel and cut avocado into about 1/2-inch cubes; arrange over center of rice mixture with bacon, egg, tomatoes, chives and blue cheese. Serve at once. Pass mayonnaise.

Makes 6 main-dish or 8 buffet servings.

Starch Lovers Tablets let you eat pizza, spaghetti, & other fattening foods without worrying about counting calories. $14.95 for 75. Phone 756-8720, leave your name & phone no.

Mrs. Camilla Moore Is Entertained

AYDEN — Camilla C. Moore celebrated her 90th birthday Saturday. A reception was given in her honor at the Ayden Community Building by her daughter, Ellen Anderson, and granddaughters, Nelda Highsmith and Loretta Lewellyn.

The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of mixed summer flowers flanked by yellow candles. Assisting in serving were Ruby Peed of Greenville and Margaret Turnage of Bath.

Mrs. Moore was born Sept. 5, 1892, in Baltimore, Md. and has lived in Virginia, Frankfort, Germany and Bath. She lived in Greenville for the past 20 years until moving to Ayden recently.

The tallest iceberg on record towered 550 feet above the surface of the ocean. This was only five feet shorter than the Washington Monument.

Bostick-Lee Vows Said

MRS. DOUGLAS GLENN BOSTICK

Cora Pauline Lee and Douglas Glenn Bostick were married Saturday at 3 p.m. in Memorial Baptist Church. The Rev. E.T. Vinson performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Webster Lee of Greenville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Bostick of Grifton.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal-length gown of white organza over peua de soie. The gown was designed with an open neckline, a cluny lace berth collar, and an empire bodice overlaid with cluny lace. The modified wastline was encircled with a white satin ribbon and bow at center back. The A-line skirt and attached chapel-length train was accentuated with a deep flounced hemline of cluny lace. Her fingertip illusion veil and wreath of silk pastel flowers was made and designed by her aunt. She carried a formal cascade bouquet of Phalaenopsis orchids, pixie miniature white carnations, baby's breath, Sprengeri greenery, and mauve satin ribbon.

The maid of honor was Bonnie Lynn Lee and the bridesmaid was Carolina Desmond Lee, both sisters of the bride. They wore formal gowns of dusty pink silesta designed with a high neckline. The neckline was of scalloped schiffli embroidered ivory lace that continued as a yoke on the blouson bodice. The raglan sleeves were elasticized at the elbow to create fullness. A self fabric tie sash encircled the wastline, from which fell a flared skirt. They carried mixed bouquets of mauve and different shades of pink summer flowers that were nestled in baby's breath and tied with mauve satin.

Jerome Bostick, father of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Douglas Blizzard of Kinross; Randy and Billy Bostick, brothers of the bridegroom and James Webster Lee Jr., brother of the bride.

The flower girl was Becky Dawn Stevens of Grifton. The ring bearer was Joshua Webster Hayes, cousin of the bride of Vanceboro.

A program of classical music was presented by Joseph Goodwin, organist, and Susan Godley, soloist.

The bride attended Peace College, Raleigh, and made her debut at the North Carolina Debutante Ball in 1980. She is employed by Roy H. Park Broadcasting Company, Greenville. The bridegroom attended Pitt Community College and is employed at Greenville Hemodialysis Center and Rehabilitation Center, Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

The mother of the bride wore a mauve chiffon formal length gown. The bridegroom's mother wore a green formal length gown. Both mothers were given corsages of white orchids.

Mrs. R.L. Moore of Ayden, grandmother of the bride, was remembered with a corsage of white orchids.

The reception, given by the bride's parents, was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Music was provided by Herbert White Lee and Hal Moore, uncles of the bride. The bride and bridegroom cut the traditional first slice of cake with the bride's uncle's Naval Academy sword, after which Mrs. Julian White served the wedding guests. Punch was served by Mrs. William Westfall Lee Jr.

The parents of the bridegroom entertained the wedding party, family and friends after the rehearsal with a dinner party held at the Greenville Masonic Temple.

Following the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip to Charleston and Kiawah Island, S.C. They will reside in Ayden upon their return.

Friends of the family honored the couple with a Hawaiian luau theme dance at Brook Valley Country Club.

Saturday morning a wedding breakfast honoring the couple was given by Mr. and Mrs. William Westfall Lee Jr., and Herbert White Lee, uncles and aunt of the bride.

Engagement Announced

THELMA ELAINE ELKS...is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dennis Kite of Route 2, Greenville, who announce her engagement to William Lee Buddy Ipock, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Price Ipock of Route 9, Greenville. The wedding will take place Oct. 29.

Engagement Announced

CELIA GRAY SMITH...is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Smith of Route 2, Plymouth, who announce her engagement to Donald Alan Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Davenport of Route 1, Roper. The wedding is planned for Oct. 30.

Miss Bennett Has Gazebo Wedding

Jodi Kathleen Bennett and John Thurman Nelson were married Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in the gazebo on the East Carolina University campus. The Rev. Harold Greene performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. George G. Bennett of Cary. Mr. and Mrs. Thurman E. Nelson of Route 11, Greenville, are parents of the bridegroom.

Billy and Sandra Stinson presented a program of wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her honor attendant was her sister, Debbie Bell of Greenville. The father of the bridegroom was best man.

The bride's dress is an Aria Argent from the American Royalty Collection. The full length dress of white woven yarn is tied at the waistline with a white ribbon. The dress is complemented by a matching jacket which had long sleeves. She wore baby's breath in her hair and carried a bouquet of silk white and blue flowers.

The honor attendant wore a floor length dress of pastel blue accented with matching flowers at the neckline and had long sleeves. She carried a bouquet of blue, white and pink flowers.

After a wedding trip to Virginia, the couple will live near Greenville.

The bride attends East Carolina University and works at Dean's Photography. The bridegroom is employed by Hastings Ford.

A reception was held after the ceremony on the university campus. Susan Bennett, sister of the bride, poured punch and Patti Dover, sister of the bride, served cake.

The pangolin is an animal that lives in Africa and southern and southeastern Asia. It looks like a pine cone with legs, according to National Geographic. Tough overlapping scales cover most of its stocky body. When threatened, pangolins curl up into hard, scaly balls. It takes a lion, or a tiger, or a human to unroll it. The pangolin itself generally eats ants and termites.

Koballa-Bassett Wedding Held Here

St. Peter's Catholic Church here was the scene of the Saturday afternoon wedding ceremony of Anne Elizabeth Bassett and Dennis Steven Koballa. Father William Frost conducted the double ring ceremony.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Bassett of Greenville, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal gown of white organza over peau de soie designed with an open neckline outlined in a ruffle of chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was enhanced with re-embroidered alencon lace beaded with pearls and sequins. Floral silk Venise lace encircled the waistline and the three-quarter length full sleeves were finished in cuffs of chantilly lace accented with satin streamers. The modified A-line skirt and attached chapel train were edged in chantilly lace. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion with pencil edging held in place by a Camelot cap overlaid in silk Venise lace beaded with pearls. Appliques of matching lace were scattered over the illusion. The bride carried a nosegay of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Koballa of Fayetteville.

The bride's sister, Carol Matune, of North Canton, Ohio was honor attendant. Bridesmaids included Jean Bassett of Greenville, sister of the bride, and Donna McMillan of Louisville, Ky., sister of the bridegroom.

The best man was Michael Koballa of Yadkinville, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers included brothers of the bridegroom, Thomas Koballa of Austin, Tex. and Patrick Koballa of Fayetteville.

The attendants wore formal gown of frost rose chiffon designed with a rounded neckline, blouson bodice and short puffed sleeves with tucks. The waistline was encircled with a satin tie sash from which fell the flared skirt accented with miniature tucks of chiffon. They carried nosegays of pink miniature carnations and white poms highlighted with baby's breath.

Mothers of the couple were given white phalaenopsis orchids and grandmothers wore white miniature carnation corsages.

The couple will live in Fayetteville.

The bridegroom graduated from East Carolina Universi-

Storing Tips For Fruits

Most fresh fruits remain at their best for only a few days, but some, if stored properly, may last longer.

How you handle fresh fruits makes the difference. Before storing fresh fruits, sort them and either use or discard damaged fruits immediately, advises Rachel Kinlaw, extension food specialist at North Carolina State University.

Most fruits, except berries and cherries, should be washed and dried before storing.

Unripe fruit should be left to ripen in open air at room temperature and out of direct sunlight.

The length of time that a fresh fruit will retain high quality under home storage conditions varies with the condition of the fruit when purchased.

TRASHCANS

In warm weather, prompt, proper disposal of food and trash and clean garbage cans often help to discourage ants, flies and other pests form hanging around the house, remind extension home economists at NCSU.

Both kitchen and outside containers should be washed with suds as often as possible.

Fill containers with warm suds and scrub the inside with a brush used only for this purpose. Wash the outside and containers and rinse with a hose or a pail of water.

To remove odors, add some ammonia or chlorine bleach to the rinse water and rinse again. Never, however, mix bleach and ammonia together. Turn containers upside down to drain, then rightside up to dry.

The only venomous snake that will attack a human without provocation is the African Mamba.

Scuppernongs — A Native Autumn Delicacy

A CLUSTER . . . of ripening scuppernong changes from green to bronze and then to a deeper yellowish-brown. When the grapes ripen, the color deeper yellowish-brown.

About Ready For Harvest

DISPLAYING A GOOD CROP . . . Chris Powell, a sophomore at Farmville Central High School, displays full clusters of scuppernongs almost ready for harvest. The vineyard here is of the newer, row-type method of framing vines and are located on the Arch Flanagan farm.

Photos By Jerry Raynor

Everybody at least once in his life should have the opportunity to taste a scuppernong grape picked directly from the vine. Each September, when fall is in the air, those fortunate individuals who have access to a vine, anxiously begin to pay visits to it — reaching, tasting to determine the degree of ripeness.

The color of the grapes and their aroma both give away their readiness secrets. When the grapes are a soft brown, they are ready for first eating. When they become dark, deep, lustrous brown, the taste is delicate, delightful — actually inimitable. The fruity, pungent aroma pervades the general atmosphere. You find yourself being drawn toward it, experiencing an irresistible urge to sample its bouquet.

But one can't merely sample a scuppernong grape. Once you're under the vine, the ability to walk away is practically unachievable. Scuppernong eating is characteristic of the "one-right-after-the-other" syndrome. One formula for escaping is to fill your pockets and hands with as much of the luscious fruit as possible. Then, as you leave, you can still eat grapes. This keeps you from having to interrupt the process. Instead of vine-to-mouth, it can be from hand-to-mouth.

Culinary Uses

Some people like to use scuppernongs for culinary purposes. Housewives make rich jellies and preserves from the grapes. Now and then, some people try their hand at making scuppernong wine. Wine making necessitates the harvest of all the grapes at one time. To accomplish this, they spread on the ground underneath the vine old sheets, bedspreads, quilts or large pieces of plastic. Then with long sticks, they gently tap the vine which causes the grapes to fall.

Vine Training

There are two popular methods for training a grapevine. The older method in general use is to build an overhead framework. From the root system and the main trunk of the vine, there grow innumerable tendrils and leaf-filled shoots that grope for support. It's on these tendrils and shoots that the fruit develops. Consequently, in the overhead framework method posts are placed about six feet in height at strategic spots around the root system. Connecting crosspieces are nailed across the tops of these posts. Through this framework, they weave and train the tendrils.

Once grapes are ready for plucking, you only have to stand under the framework and reach through the tendrils and shoots to find the tantalizing clusters of grapes.

Another, more modern method, is to construct a frame confined to one row of posts only. Wire is strung from post to post and the tendrils are woven in and out among the strands of wire in a lateral or horizontal fashion. With this type of framing, you can stand either on one side or the other to pick the grapes. This eliminates the stretching and straining required of the older framing method. Furthermore, if a homeowner has a small backyard, it's still possible to cultivate a grapevine if he uses the newer method of framing.

Easy To Root

A scuppernong vine is easy to root. Make a wooden box 16 by 8 by 8 inches, fill it with rich dirt and peat moss and attach the box to the grape arbor. Take a shoot, a runner, pull it to the box of dirt and push it down into the soil, packing the dirt firmly. Make certain that the end of the runner is exposed; it must extend out and beyond the box. Some people advocate pulling two or three runners into the box of dirt. This will be your new vine, the portion you cut from the main vine once it's rooted and ready to transplant. Leave the shoot in the box of dirt for a year, and you'll have your new grapevine.

Many Varieties

The scuppernong, a white grape, is a member of the muscadine family. It is probably the oldest cultivated native American variety. Over the years, many hybrid varieties have been developed from original wild stock.

The scuppernong is believed to have originated along the banks of the Scuppernong River in Tyrrell County. Early colonists found it here when they arrived.

On Roanoke Island, near Manteo, there is a Mother Vineyard, a huge scuppernong grapevine with massive, gnarled trunk vines. Legend has it that this vine was planted by Amadas and Barlowe from roots taken from a vine in the Scuppernong River area.

Find A Vine

Fortunately, many people in Pitt County and throughout eastern North Carolina have scuppernong grapes growing on their farms or premises. Many of these people sell the grapes, in bulk or by the handful. Now that the time of ripeness for scuppernongs is at hand, look around and find yourself a vine. Actually, it doesn't take much looking. You only need to sharpen your sense of smell and it will steer you right to where the luscious, aromatic grapes grow.

TWO SAMPLE, TWO TALK . . . Two women, Mary Belcher and Irma Dixon, at left, talk about making grape jams and jellies while Markevia Barfield and her mother, Bonnie

Labor Day Frisbee Festival

By JUNE B. CHOCHULES
Smithsonian News Service
WASHINGTON, D.C.

It's Labor day weekend in Washington, D.C. Thousands of people are gathered on the National Mall—picnicking, playing softball or just plain relaxing.

Suddenly, a bright blue and silver saucer shaped object whizzes by, quickly followed by a larger, orange disc, then one with a weird greenish hue. In a few seconds, the sky is filled with hundreds of brightly colored spinning discs, all appearing to converge on the U.S. Capitol.

Don't head for cover! It's not an invasion by an alien space-age army or even a friendlier visit from a group of extra-terrestrial tourists.

It's only the "big throw," the grand finale of the Smithsonian Institution's annual Frisbee Disc Festival, the world's largest non-competitive disc event.

Sponsored by the National Air and Space Museum, the festival includes much more than this massive fling.

Featured during the five-hour festivities are workshops and exhibitions of disc tricks and moves by disc champions — both the human and canine kind. It's a day when young and old, novice and expert, can learn or perfect the tosses and catches that make Frisbee disc play one of America's favorite pastimes.

The festival was begun in the spring of 1977 at the suggestion of Bill Good, a member of the museum's art department staff and a Frisbee disc enthusiast. "The Smithsonian was already holding annual kite and boomerang festivals," Good recalls. "I thought the Frisbee Disc Festival would be an appropriate addition. And as for the air and space connection, a disc is really a combination of an airplane wing and a gyroscope."

Explains Donald Lopez, chairman of the museum's aeronautics department, "A disc has an airfoil shape — slightly rounded on the top and flat on the bottom. The shape gives it lift when it's moving, the rotation keeps it stable and the angle at which it is thrown gives it direction."

Sounds simple enough, but there's more to disc-flipping than meets the uninitiated eye. "The faster the forward motion of a Frisbee disc and the greater its attitude (the angle at which it flies), the greater the lift and the longer the flight," Frisbee disc experts Mark Danna and Dan Poynter write in the "Frisbee Players Handbook". "It's the same principle as an airplane's wing. When the leading edge of a forward moving wing is tilted upward, air is compressed underneath it. When the speed of a Frisbee disc slows, the disc levels out because the air pressure above and below it becomes the same."

An entire vocabulary has grown up to describe some of the nuances of Frisbee, disc aerodynamics, but even the experts admit that the precise aerodynamic basis of why a disc can "fly" has yet to be explained.

But Frisbee disc aficionados don't seem to worry about physics and aerodynamics as they practice perfecting their disc skills at the Festival's workshops. The beginner workshops concentrate on the basic toss and catch skills, which, once mastered, are used to perform more advanced disc moves. Intermediate and advanced workshops focus on "fancy tricks," including "nail delays," where the disc spins on the nail of the index finger, and "chest rolls," which involve rolling the disc from one hand across the body, down the other arm and into the opposite hand. The object of all these maneuvers, of course, is to keep the disc spinning, and all advanced moves are guaranteed to impress any audience a disc spinner can muster.

When the workshops break, everyone's off to find a prime spot on the Mall for viewing the freestyle and canine exhibitions—the most popular events at the festival.

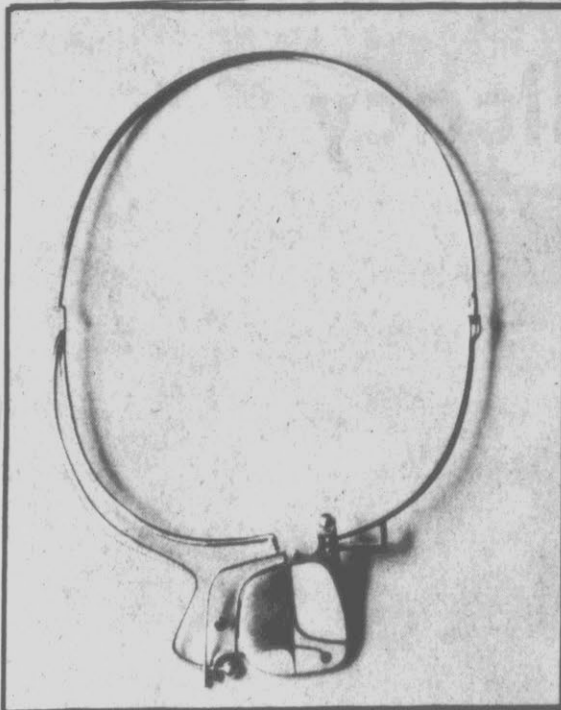

GARDEN STYLE . . . L.H. Ellis is typical of grape lovers who grow scuppernongs on a small scale as part of a home garden. A few vines in a single row afford an ample supply for home eating and for culinary purposes.

A SPECIAL DESIGN . . . Mrs. Waters Brantley picks grapes from a slanted frame designed especially for her by her husband. The arrangement allows short and tall people to pick at a comfortable level.

Metalsmith Show Opening Soon

RED DOT . . . a necklace by ECU faculty artist John E. Satterfield, is crafted of sterling silver, ivory and acrylic. This piece is included in the Southeastern Contemporary Metalsmith show opening Sept. 16 at Gray Gallery on the ECU campus.

An exhibition of works by Southeastern Contemporary Metalsmiths will open at the Gray Art Gallery on Sept. 16 at 7:30 p.m. and will be on view through Oct. 15. The exhibition consists of sixty-eight pieces of work by twenty-eight metalsmiths. Their work is representative of the diversity in national trends in metalsmithing.

Goblets, bowls, rings, pins, bracelets and boxes shown by the artists are indicative of the contemporary metalsmith's search for new materials and techniques. In this selection of work there is evidence of the current trends toward the use of plastics and atomic metals such as titanium in combination with more traditional gold and silver.

Among artists represented are Richard Mafong of Georgia, known for his intricately-crafted hollow ware; Harold Helwig of Kentucky, who specializes in enamels; and Jim Wallace, a Tennessean, whose work in iron has been acclaimed internationally.

This exhibition is the second Southeastern Metalsmiths exhibition organized by the Mint Museum and circulated and funded by the Southern Arts Federation.

The public is invited to attend the reception at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 16 and to view the show at the gallery during regular school hours.

Three From N.C. Show

GREENSBORO — An exhibition of works by three artists originally from central North Carolina will headline the fall season at Green Hill Art Gallery, 200 North David Street in Greensboro.

Two painters, Warren Brandt, originally of Greensboro and Lee Hall of Lexington, and ceramic sculptor James Howard of Charlotte are having the exhibition which will be on view through October 10.

N.C. Crafts Show Details Listed

open at the State Museum of History in Raleigh on March 17, 1983. The exhibit will be on display through June.

Open to North Carolina natives and current or former residents, the exhibition carries a first place cash award of $3,000, a second place award of $1,500, and a third place award of $500.

For this exhibition, the Museum is seeking the best in contemporary products — in clay, leather, fiber, metal, wood, glass, mixed media — in order to reflect the creative abilities of North Carolinians.

Judges will be Lloyd Herman, director of the Smithsonian Institution's Renwick Gallery; Dr. Lee Hall, president of the Rhode Island School of Design; and Garry Barker, director of MATCH in Berea, Kentucky.

For entry forms, interested craftsmen are to write to: N.C. Museum of History Associates, 109 East Jones Street, Raleigh, N.C., 27611.

RALEIGH — Craftsmen are being provided substantial advance notice on the forthcoming juried exhibition of North Carolina crafts to

Woodworking Commission

GREENSBORO — Green Hill Art Gallery will be accepting proposals from North Carolina woodworkers for the commission of two seating modules/benches for the Main Exhibition Gallery. Green Hill is the only non-profit art gallery in the state to exclusively feature the artists of North Carolina.

The purchase award will be a maximum of $500 including costs for delivering the work to Greensboro by December 30.

There is no fee for entry. Proposal applications must be received by October 1. For a form and further details, write: Green Hill Art Gallery, 200 North David Street, Greensboro, N.C., 27401 or call 373-4515.

School of Education. Mrs. Ledford was killed in a June, 1981, automobile accident while she was a graduate fellow in reading education at ECU. At left is acting Vice Chancellor F. Douglas Moore, representing the ECU Foundation Inc. (ECU News Bureau Photo by Marianne Baines)

Memorial Fund Established To Honor The Late Becky Ledford

By William Shires
ECU News Bureau

Buzz Ledford's Super Grit Cowboy Band and two other music-making groups have set aside October 17 on their fall schedule for a charity show that has a special, heart-tugging meaning for Buzz and his friends.

The show is to raise money — an estimated $3,000 to 5,000 — to build up a memorial fund Buzz has established in the name of his late wife, Becky, who helped the group get started toward in the music business.

Tragically, Becky died in an automobile accident in June, 1981, just as Super Grit Cowboy Band began taking off in the country music charts and through a recording company, Hoodswamp Records, which Ledford manages. Her memory has continued to be an inspiration.

"She believed in me," says Ledford. "She helped me find myself and kept me going. She encouraged us in what we were doing."

For months after her death "I was just lost," Ledford said. "I didn't think I could go on. But then what Becky had done kept coming back."

Last fall, The Super Grit Cowboy Band and four other groups, all close to Buzz, staged a benefit that raised $3,000 in Becky's memory.

With this initial amount, Ledford established The Becky Ledford Memorial Fellowship in reading education at her alma mater, East Carolina University, last fall.

His wife, the former Becky Keith of Kinston, received the BS degree in 1976 and the MA degree in 1979, both in intermediate education with a concentration in language arts. She was an honor student.

She had been named the recipient of a graduate fellowship for reading education in ECU's School of Education for the 1981-82 school year. Buzz specified that a stipend from the endowed fund be used for a graduate fellowship in reading education.

Plans are for Buzz Ledford's friends, most of whom knew Becky, to put on benefits once or twice a year, or as often as possible, to increase the memorial fellowship fund. On October 17 the Bill Lyster Band of Raleigh and Coulters of Durham will join Super Grit Cowboy Band at the Carolina Opry House in Greenville where $5 tickets for the benefit will be available at the door.

Last fall, these groups were joined by the Larry Franklin Band of Denison, Texas, and the John D. Walker Band of Garner.

In November, Super Grit Cowboy Band will play the Hoodswamp Symphony Ball with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, in Raleigh, perhaps with Gov. Jim Hunt doing guest fiddling. The symphony was written and scored by Michael Kinzie, the band's fiddle player, a graduate of the ECU School of Music.

French explorer Rene Robert Cavalier, Sieur de LaSalle, was murdered in 1687 by his own men. Mutiny had broken out in Texas as he was attempting to reach the mouth of the Mississippi River to establish a fort.

Faculty Recital September 12

The first faculty recital for the East Carolina University School of Music for the 1982-83 season will take place Sept. 12 and will feature baritone Clyde S. Hiss and pianist Ellen Reithmaier Nagode.

The recital will take place at 8:15 p.m. in the A.J. Fletcher Recital Hall on campus.

No admission is charged for the public recital. Selections to be performed in the recital are:

•Two arias from "Die Jahreszeiten (The Seasons)" by Haydn; "Vier ernste Gesänge (Four Serious Songs)" by Brahms; and "Mein Sohn, sei Allahs Frieden hier" from "Der Barbier von Bagdad" by Peter Cornelius.

•"Three Liebeslieder Polkas," by the contemporary American Bach, P.D.Q., with Hiss to be assisted by members of the vocal ensemble "Voice" — Patricia Hiss, soprano; Susan W. Jones, mezzo-soprano; Frederick Johnson, tenor; Barbara Caspar and Alisia Wetherington, pianists; Gabriel Faure's "L'Horizon Chimerique;" and "Chansons Gallardes" by Francis Poulenc.

Hospitality House

WASHINGTON — The performing arts is the theme of Kay Currie's "Hospitality House" show today. The weekly personality show is aired from noon until 12:30 p.m. Sundays over WITN-TV, Channel 7, Washington.

Kay's first guest today is Jim Bridges of the College of the Albemarle, Elizabeth City, who will give a performance as the celebrated Mark Twain, writer, journalist, lecturer, conversationalist and river boat enthusiast.

Bridges will be in typical Twain costume and will respond to questions submitted by Kay about his (Twain's) childhood, his idea of happiness, and other phases of his life. He will also deliver a soliloquy.

Two other guests appearing on "Hospitality House" today are Rudolph Alexander, Associate Dean of Student Activities, East Carolina University, and Miss Elizabeth Copeland, retired librarian and currently coordinator of Pitt County Chronicals. These two guests will discuss the 1982 ECU Artists Series of six entertainments which will include appearances by pianist Peter Serkin, the Tokyo String Quartet and the Gregory Smith Singers.

After today's Sunday show, "Hospitality House" will switch to a new air time on Saturday afternoons. The next show will be broadcast at 1 p.m. Saturday, September 11.

Women can talk with less effort than men because their vocal cords are shorter.

Home Owners Can Make It Tough For Burglars

By BARBARA MAYER
AP Newsfeatures

The growth of the home security industry is founded on the fact that burglaries are generally on the rise in most parts of the United States.

This situation has created a growing market for alarm systems and other security devices, such as locks and bolts. However, law enforcement officers and security specialists agree an individual can go a long way — without spending money — toward preventing burglaries by making it difficult for would-be intruders to enter a house.

One home security product maker recently collected a number of ways of safeguarding a home. A checklist of things to do that cost little or nothing shows how to maintain the appearance of life and activity, thus discouraging burglars. Some of the safeguards, however, do involve a greater energy expense.

The best defense is confusion, a sense of activity and avoidance of an easily defined routine of entering and leaving the home, according to the checklist printed in booklet form by Fichet Inc.

If you go out, leave lights on, leave a radio playing, and adjust the window shades or blinds as if you were at home. Taking the phone off the hook so a caller will think someone is at home is another ploy. In hot weather, consider leaving the air conditioner turned on very low.

Even when at home, practice good security by keeping windows and doors locked at all times and ladders locked away. Make sure the doors to the basement and garage are locked except when in use. Don't hide keys outside, and instruct children not to open the door to strangers. Keep valuables out of sight and turn on exterior lights at night.

Don't have your name on the outside of the house. Cruising burglars can look up your phone number and call to see if anyone is at home. Make sure shrubs do not provide a hiding place; trim them back so that neighbors can see into the first-floor windows.

Sliding glass doors are easy to open or even remove by lifting out of their frame. Guard against this by inserting nails into the inside frame of the windows just above the door itself.

If you have exterior doors with glass panes, add a metal grill, an acrylic plastic cover or replace the glass with wire mesh reinforced glass.

It is a good idea to photograph and engrave an identifying number on valuables for insurance purposes. Keep a list of valuables, too, in case you should ever have to make a claim.

Place emergency numbers — police and fire department especially — where they can be seen on each telephone extension.

If you live in an apartment, use only one initial on your mailbox and apartment registry listing so that you guard against being telephoned to check if you are at home. Make sure you have a peephole in your apartment door and install two separate locks plus a high security deadbolt with a pickproof cylinder.

Windows which can be reached from an outside fire escape or the ground should be secured with police department-approved gates. Air conditioners should be bolted to window supporting frames. Select a window that is not easily reached from the outside if you have a choice when it comes to installing an air conditioner.

The duplicate door key you may leave with your superintendent should be sealed in an envelope. Ask the superintendent to leave the key in the envelope. If there is a break-in, check that the envelope has not been tampered with.

A good idea in both home and apartment is to install a lock on the bedroom door so potential intruders will have a harder time causing you physical harm.

When going on vacation ask a friend, relative or neighbor to keep an eye on the house and to remove mail daily. Or you can request that mail delivery be suspended until you return.

When stopping delivery services such as newspaper and milk, do so without explanation.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q. — I read an article where it said to use a three-quarter-inch earth auger bit to drill holes in compacted soil for aerating, but it left me puzzled because it said to use the bit in a portable electric drill. My portable drill is the quarter-inch type. How can a big bit like that be used in a small drill?

A. — A quarter-inch drill means that it will hold bits with a quarter-inch shank. It has nothing to do with the size of the bit itself. A quarter-inch drill thus can hold a three-quarter-inch bit if the bit has a quarter-inch shank. One word of caution: When a drill is used outdoors, it must be of the shockproof type or, if not, it must be grounded.

Q. — Our kitchen floor has a linoleum covering which has been there many years. We would like to take it up and put down resilient floor tiles. Is this a tough job and how should it be done?

A. — Years ago, sheet linoleum often was installed with little or no cement. Start at one corner and try pulling it up. Even if cement was used originally, it may have dried so much that somebody with muscle might be able to tug enough to loosen it. If it is too resistant, use a floor chisel with a wide blade.

There are a couple of ways to dissolve the cement, but they sometimes are fire hazards and sometimes do not work too well. Once the linoleum is up — and you may have to do it in broken pieces — nail down any loose boards and replace any rotted ones. Then install either hardboard or plywood underlayment, the kind that come in 4 feet by 4 feet sheets. They are much easier to handle than 4 by 8 sheets. Nail down the underlayment, leaving a tiny space between the sheets about the thickness of a dime. The tiles then can be glued to the underlayment, assuring you of a level floor.

Q. — I have had an old can of hydraulic cement in the basement for years. Recently, where there was a hole in the concrete wall and water started to seep in, I enlarged the hole and inserted some of the hydraulic cement in it, holding it there as the instructions said. The water merely disintegrated the cement and it fell to the floor. I thought that kind of cement could be used in an opening through which water was coming. What did I do wrong?

A. — You probably placed the plug of hydraulic cement into the gap before it had started to harden. The trick is to form the plug and then hold it in your hand until it begins to become solid. At that instant, place it into the opening and hold it there for 3 or 4 minutes without moving your hand. Once you let go the patch should be sufficiently hard so it doesn't fall out. Sometimes, if you don't make the insertion at exactly the right moment, you will have to do it a second time.

PLAN YOUR HOME The Cedar Wood

Passive Solar Design Features Super Kitchen

By Jerry Bishop

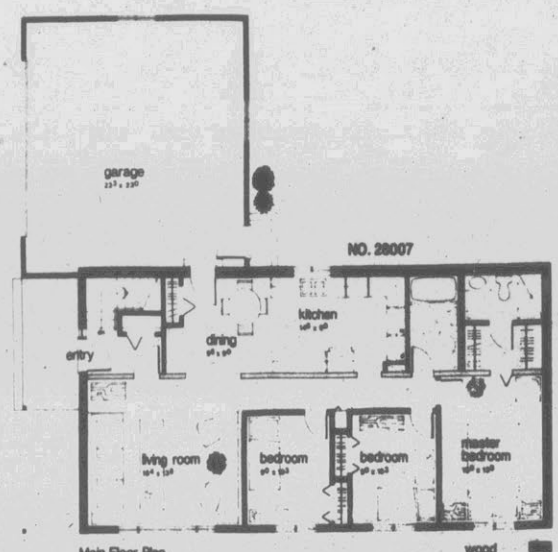

The CedarWood is a 1,200 square foot single story ranch design, with 3 bedrooms and 2 baths, the master bedroom features a walk through closet and private bath. Also shown is a full basement and an attached 2-car garage, the garage opens to the dining area. Highlighting this home is the large combination kitchen and dining area, complete with laundry facilities and plenty of work room for the culinary aficionado.

Iowa over 50% of this home's heating requirement is supplied by direct solar gain through the four south facing windows.

In the Cedar Rapids area, The CedarWood, would cost about $56,000 without lot, based on Spring, 1980 construction costs.

The CedarWood is designed for a flat site with driveway access from the west. Access from the south is optional. Greatly reducing home heating and cooling requirements are R-30 insulation in the double 2 x 4 walls, R-40 ceiling insulation, double and triple-glazed windows, and an air-lock entry. In addition, the home is designed to minimize infiltration, using an air-to-air heat exchanger to provide fresh air. In Cedar Rapids, Putting powdered graphite or ordinary talcum powder in the area of a squeak on a staircase may diminish or silence the noise, but the remedy will not last very long. It's only a temporary solution. A permanent or near-permanent cure requires more attention.

In nearly all cases, stair squeaks occur when there is an opening between a riser and a tread. The riser is the vertical portion of the step, the tread being the horizontal part or section on which you place your weight.

Risers and treads usually are held together with nails and/or glue — or with special joints that sometimes are reinforced with wedges. The easiest way to end squeaks is via the nailing method. By bouncing on the tread, you can get the feel of where the squeak is.

If it is in the front part of the tread, drive nails through that section so they go into the riser below. Drive two of them at an angle so their points meet or almost meet inside the wood. If you could see through the wood, the nails would look like a V. With hardwood, which might split when the nails are driven in, first make pilot holes with an electric drill, using bits thinner than the nails. The nails, by the way, preferably should be of the threaded kind.

Should the squeak be coming from the back part of the tread, you usually will find there is a slight opening between the back portion and the bottom of the riser. Drive a thin wedge into that opening by inserting the wedge a bit into the gap. Complete the insertion by placing a block of wood against the block, which will push in the wedge. Sometimes it will go all the way in and sometimes it won't. When it doesn't, slice off the part that protrudes. If the area will not be covered by carpeting, the patch can be neatly concealed with a piece of moulding.

Speaking of carpeting, it often cannot be pushed aside enough to make the repair. In that event, you can make the repair with nails.

Pitt Community College Continuing Education Division

Present An Insurance Pre-Licensing Institute
September 1, 1982 - November 19, 1982

Pitt Community College is pleased to again announce a series of course offering of general interest to the insurance industry. The North Carolina Department of Insurance has approved pre-licensing courses for prospective agents that will, upon successful completion, waive the written examination.

Registration: In progress-Tuesday, September 7 and Wednesday, September 8 in the Continuing Education Office at PCC 2:00 P.M. to 8:00 P.M.
Costs: Tuition $6:50 per course
For Further Information About These Courses Contact: Tommy Joyner At 756-3130, Ext. 238.

NOTICE: The student must successfully complete Part I (INS 214) and either Part II (INS 215) or Part III (INS 216) to qualify for the licensing exam waiver. These courses exempt the prospective agent from taking the written exam but do not exempt the individual from any other licensing requirements.

Are You Dog Tired Of Wanting A House?

LOOK AT ONE OF GREENVILLE'S MORE CONVENIENTLY LOCATED SUBDIVISIONS

Take a look at what's available in a new home today. You'll see pretty much the same thing everywhere you go. But, things are different at Greenwood Forest.

It begins with the spacious half acre wooded lots. There's room to breathe here - to enjoy life. At Greenwood Forest you get the "feel" of country living with the convenience of being near the city.

The homes are different here, too. You choose the plan that suits you, 3 or 4 bedrooms - from the basic architecture to the smallest detail.

There's more at Greenwood Forest...much more. Come and see for yourself.

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Cryptoquip puzzle grid with 11 columns and 18 rows. Numbers 1-56 are placed in the grid to indicate starting points for words.

CRYPTOQUIP 9-4

JLV XAJJXV WUNACJ, GXKTV OAJL OGVJC EAWJKX, RBEVTVR SXGBVW UNAJV SGWJ

Yesterday's Cryptoquip — DIDN'T POOR HOUDINI, IF FRUSTRATED, PULL HIS HARE OUT? Today's Cryptoquip clue: J equals T.

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Correctional Policy Urged

ECU NEWS BUREAU The newly installed president of the American Correctional Association has called for the formulation of a national correctional policy. "The absence of such a policy is all too evident as we review the sad history of the complex relationships between the federal government and state correctional systems," said H.G. (Gus) Moeller, who is a visiting professor in the department of social work and correctional services at East Carolina University. Moeller was installed Aug. 19 as president of the 12,000-member association at the 112th Congress of Corrections in Toronto. Before his recent retirement from the active faculty at ECU, Moeller was a professor and director of correctional services. Jerry Lewis Gears Up For Telethon

When the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon started in 1966, it was broadcast by only one station in New York. Today, more than 200 stations carry the program and it has become a Labor Day tradition to millions of Americans. More than 93 million viewers tuned in last year, according to the A.C. Nielsen ratings. This year, the telethon will air throughout the country from Sunday, Sept. 5 to Monday, Sept. 6 (check local listings for exact time).

The telethon continues to be the Muscular Dystrophy Association's most important fund-raising event. Money raised during the program helps carry on the fight against 40 neuromuscular diseases by supporting basic and applied research, medical and social services for patients and their families, and professional and public health education.

At the over 240 MDA-sponsored outpatient clinics around the country, patients receive medical care, physical therapy, orthopedic aids, and counseling. MDA also sponsors summer camp sessions in 40 states and Puerto Rico, offers adult recreational and educational activities year-round, and provides patients with aid in transportation. All of these services are offered at no direct charge to the patients or their families.

Over the years, a countless number of entertainers, athletes, and leaders in labor, government, and civic affairs have participated in the telethon. Among them are MDA National Vice President Ed McMahon, the program's anchorman for the past nine years; and MDA National Sports Chairman Bob Griese.

In addition to being the telethon's host, Jerry Lewis has contributed an immeasurable amount of time and energy in his role as National Chairman of the health agency — a post he has held for 25 years. "Each man must choose the cause closest to his heart, and I've chosen mine," Lewis said.

He personally raised the entire cost of a multi-million dollar building for the Institute for Muscular Disease in New York City...known as "The House That Jerry Built."

Lewis was born Joseph Levitch in Newark, N.J., and made his entertaining debut at the age of 5 singing "Brother, Can You Spare A Dime?"

JERRY LEWIS, the host of the annual Labor Day Telethon for Muscular Dystrophy poses with Christi Bartlett, the 1982 Poster Child. The telethon will be carried coast to coast on over 200 television stations (check local listings for exact time).

Murder Mars Charmed Life

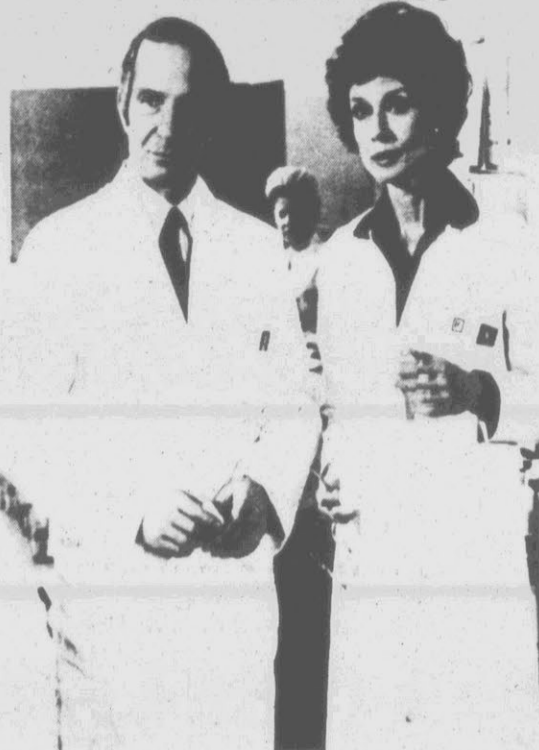

A tale of international murder and intrigue set against a background of fabulous wealth and jet-set society — "Sidney Sheldon's Bloodline" will be presented as The ABC Sunday Night Movie, Sept. 5 (8-11 p.m.). The film was originally released theatrically in 1979.

In the story, Elizabeth Roffe (Audrey Hepburn) is a young woman leading a charmed life: born to wealth and gentility, she has no concern greater than deciding how most to enjoy the simple pleasures she has chosen.

That peaceful life ends suddenly and shockingly when Elizabeth decides to carry on a family tradition by assuming control of her father's business when he is killed in what appears to be a mountainclimbing accident.

The future of the company is important — the chief of research is near completion of a drug that will retard the aging process — but it soon becomes clear that someone doesn't want Elizabeth to age at all. As evidence indicates that her father was murdered, and repeated attempts on her own life begin, Elizabeth has to realize that no one around her can be trusted...certainly not her greedy relatives, and most especially not the ambitious man she loves.

Terence Young directed "Sidney Sheldon's Bloodline"

BEN GAZZARA IS AN ambitious man in love with Audrey Hepburn — or in love with her wealth and power — but even he is not free of suspicion when an assassin stalks in "Sidney Sheldon's Bloodline," airing as The ABC Sunday Night Movie, Sept. 5 (8-11 p.m.).

The ageless magic of gold

Gold. It's the world's most treasured metal today, as it has been through the centuries.

Why? Well, consider that gold alone combines the qualities of lustrous beauty, virtual indestructibility, extreme rarity and ease of workability. Because gold can be remelted and used over and over, the gold you own may once have adorned Cleopatra!

Last year nearly two-thirds of the new gold supply was used in the making of jewelry, from watches to wedding rings.

Gold. Today as in centuries past, we treasure it for its unique and irresistible magic.

Nothing else feels like real gold.
Nothing else makes any moment so precious.

Georgia Hosts Clemson

QUARTERBACK HOMER JORDAN will be at the helm of the Clemson Tigers when they meet the Georgia Bulldogs on "NCAA Football," airing Monday, Sept. 6 (9 p.m.-midnight) on ABC.

The Georgia Bulldogs and the Clemson Tigers will kick off the fall NCAA football season in a nationally televised game airing on ABC, Monday, Sept. 6 (9 p.m.-midnight), from Sanford Stadium in Athens, Ga. This marks Georgia's first home game ever played under the stadium's newly installed lighting system.

This will be the 51st meeting between these rivals which first battled in 1897. Georgia has won 33 games, Clemson has won 14 and there have been three ties. The national champion Tigers won last year's confrontation 13-3.

Clemson is coached by Danny Ford, who in his four seasons has compiled a 27-9-0 record. He piloted the Tigers last year to their first national collegiate football championship and was named "Coach of the Year." At 33, Ford was the youngest coach to ever lead a team to the national title and when he was hired at Clemson at age 30, he was the youngest college football coach in the country at that time.

Georgia's Vince Dooley is in his 19th season as head football coach where he has compiled a 140-58-6 record. Two years ago, Dooley directed the Bulldogs to their finest record in history (12-0-0) and their first national championship. He has been named Southeastern Conference "Coach of the Year" seven times, including last season.

Clemson, 12-0-0 last year (its first undefeated record since 1948), returns 22 offensive lettermen, including six starters, and 28 defensive lettermen, including seven starters. The Tigers, wearing white and orange uniforms, operate out of the "I" offensive formation and will line up in the 5-2 defense.

Tiger quarterback Homer Jordan, a 180-pound senior from Athens, Ga., completed 55 percent of his passes last year for nine touchdowns, and in doing so was tied for 12th nationally in passing efficiency. "Homer should be an All-America candidate this year," said Coach Ford. "He did everything we asked last year and made such a drastic improvement in the mental aspects of the game."

Georgia logged a 10-2-0 record last year, including a 20-24 loss to Pittsburgh in the Sugar Bowl. In the final 1981 wire service polls, The Bulldogs were ranked fifth by UPI (coaches) and sixth by AP (writers). Georgia returns 24 offensive lettermen, including six starters, and 22 defensive lettermen, including eight starters. The Bulldogs, wearing red and white with silver pants, operate out of the "I" formation and will line up in the split-60 defense.

The Bulldogs' offensive capabilities will be hurt by the loss of tailback Herschel Walker, a two-time consensus All-American who holds or has tied six NCAA offensive records, 15 Georgia records and eight SEC marks. Walker broke his right thumb in practice Aug. 21 and is expected to be out for at least three weeks.

Walker's replacement, Carnie Norris, from Spartanburg, S.C., says he still believes Georgia will beat Clemson. The Labor Day night opener will give the Bulldogs an opportunity to prove that they are more than "a one-man team," he added.

An Early Start

Christopher Norris, who plays nurse Gloria Brancusi on "Trapper John, M.D.," started her long career on Broadway in "The Sound of Music" when she was seven. Her parents were performers so her theatrical experiences started early.

Schizoid Lapses In And Out Of Sanity

On The Right Side

As a villain on "One Life to Live," actor Mark Goddard's character murdered three people before being killed himself. Now Goddard welcomes the chance to play on "the right side of the law" as Lt. Paul Reed on "The Doctors."

Goddard, also popular for his role as Major Don West on the "Lost in Space" series, feels more comfortable as a good guy. Says Goddard, "It's closer to what I believe in — morality, good living and staying alive."

Kathleen Quinlan plays a sixteen-year-old suicidal schizoid in "I Never Promised You a Rose Garden," to be rebroadcast on The CBS Movie on Wednesday, Sept. 8 (midnight). The film is based on Joanne Greenberg's best-selling novel about an adolescent's three-year battle with insanity.

In the story, Deborah Blake (Miss Quinlan) is a patient in a mental institution. On the surface, she is cut-off, an emotional deadweight. Given to self-mutilation, she scars her arms with cigarette burns but feels nothing. The story follows Quinlan's character through several different worlds. Part of the story details her often ugly and violent day-to-day existence in the mental ward, her confrontations with the other patients and her relationship with the hospital staff.

Another part of the story takes place in the girl's private fantasy land, a land filled with primitives who dress in animal skins and engage in fire rituals. The rest, the core of the film, focuses on her relationship with her psychiatrist (Bibi Andersson), developed through doctor-patient dialogues. The psychiatrist chips away at the girl's fears and defenses and eventually helps her to overcome her internal demons.

The film is a bit jumbled at times when depicting the state of Blake's insane mind, but even so, Quinlan's strong performance carries it through any real difficulties. Also starring are Sylvia Sidney, Susan Tyrrell and Diane Varsi.

the film, particularly with the scenes within the institution, and some moments, both the calm and the hysterically out of control, are shattering.

The screenplay by Lewis John Carlinio and Gavin Lambert has a tendency to circumvent deep analysis of the main characters. Instead, it seems overly concerned with portraying the shifting levels of reality the mentally ill pass through.

"I Never Promised You a Rose Garden" was originally released theatrically in 1977. It marked the first major starring role for Kathleen Quinlan. Previously, she appeared in "American Graffiti" and "Lifeguard."

Michele Will Tell

DEAR MICHELE: Two of my old favorite shows are the "Beverly Hillbillies" and "Gomer Pyle." Where are the actor who played Jethro and the actress who played Ellie Mae? And how about the actor who played Sergeant Carter on "Gomer Pyle"? Are these people acting now? EDMUND GURGANUS, JR., WASHINGTON, N.C.

TO EDMUND: Max Baer (Jethro) is now on the other side of the camera — he's a producer, while Donna Douglas has resurrected her acting career after a successful hiatus as a real estate salesperson in the Los Angeles area. She is currently recreating her role of Ellie Mae in clubs and theatres around the country. Frank Sutton, the irascible Sgt. Carter, died on June 28, 1974, at the age of 51.

DEAR MICHELE: After viewing Ralph Waite in a movie called "The Gentleman Bandit," I read where he actually used to be a minister. I enjoy seeing him act, but am interested in why he decided to give up being a minister. SANDY C., ROANOKE RAPIDS, N.C.

TO SANDY: Waite is a former minister. He earned a Bachelor of Divinity degree at Yale University and was ordained in the Presbyterian Church, serving with United Church of Christ congregations in Garden City and Fisher's Island in New York. His decision to leave the ministry was based upon several factors which included his introduction to an acting class by pal Bill "Days of Our Lives" Hayes.

DEAR MICHELE: When "Dallas" first came on TV, I think Pam had two brothers. The only one we see is Cliff. What happened to the other brother? MARIAN SMITH, ST. PAULS, N.C.

TO MARIAN: Our sources indicate Pam and Cliff had a brother and a sister — both deceased.

Henry Will Live

Bette Davis, paying tribute to her contemporary and friend, Henry Fonda: "No one fought harder to live than Henry Fonda. Little did he realize...he'll always live. Thank God for television...we will see him often."

"Peanuts" On TV

"The Charlie Brown and Snoopy Show," an all-new animated Saturday morning children's series will premiere in September 1983 on CBS.

This project will mark the first time that the 'Peanuts' characters have ever appeared on television as a series.

ANSWER →

There is nothing in fish that makes it in any special way a food for the brain. All food enriches the blood, which, in turn, nourishes our bodies, including the brain. 1—Food and Feeding, St Henry Thompson, M.B., F.R.C.S. 2—Popular Fallacies, A.S.E. Ackerman

Here is food for thought. Looking for an established firm - one of wide experience and know-how? Come to us. We have the answer.

Earthlings Travel To Mars

The commander of an exploratory mission to Mars later returns to the red planet with his family as part of a group of settlers from Earth, in "The Martian Chronicles," a six-hour miniseries based on Ray Bradbury's classic science fiction novel. The drama will be rebroadcast in three parts on successive Fridays, beginning Sept. 10 (9-11 p.m.).

Part One takes place in February of 1999. An expedition takes off from Cape Canaveral, Fla., headed for Mars. When the crew is not heard from, another expedition travels to the planet with the same result. Finally, Col. John Wilder (Rock Hudson) leads a third mission.

After landing safely and scouting a major portion of the planet, Wilder and his crew discover that apparently all of the Martian population has succumbed to an outbreak of chicken pox, obviously transmitted by a member of an earlier expedition from Earth. Spender (Bernie Casey), a crew member, is concerned that further influences from Earth will only pollute Mars more, and he sets upon several of his comrades to prevent their return to their native planet.

Wilder and Parkhill (Darren McGavin) pursue Spender, but he confronts the colonel alone and indicates that he wants to stay on Mars. Wilder refuses his request to discourage future exploration and demands that Spender return for a court martial.

"I think space travel has made children of us all again," said Hudson during the filming of "The Martian Chronicles," which was shot on location in England, Malta and the Canary Islands. "I was familiar with Bradbury, but never had a fancy for science fiction until I read his script. That hooked me."

Hudson confessed that he found his encounters with his co-stars in this drama unique. "The Martians are beautiful people," he said. "I can talk with them. I can see them and when I finally meet one, I try to shake hands with him and my hand melts right through his."

She's A Victim Again And Again

A career woman's leisurely cross-country drive turns into a nightmare of persecution and victimization in "Jackson County Jail," The CBS Late Night Movie, to be rebroadcast on Friday, Sept. 10 (midnight). Yvette Mimieux plays the beleaguered Dinah Hunter, who falls prey to the series of harrowing misadventures.

Tommy Lee Jones also stars as Corey Blake, a prisoner who turns out to be the only person willing to help.

Dinah decides to escape the tensions and problems of her personal and professional life by taking a relaxed drive across the country on her way to New York. But the pleasantness ends abruptly when two hitchhikers steal her car and leave her unconscious by the side of the road.

After dragging herself to a highway cafe, she is assaulted by its owner. He in turn has her put in jail when he accuses her of being a prostitute. But jail ends up being the worst place for Dinah — the deputy assaults her, and she kills him in self-defense.

Blake, the convicted felon in the next cell, lifts the keys from the deputy's body. He then convinces Dinah to escape with him, since she will face murder charges if she remains in jail.

The two of them make their escape. But they are confronted

Two In Comedy

Richard Benjamin and Paula Prentiss star in "Packin' It In," a new motion picture-for-television now filming in Vancouver for future broadcast on CBS.

Also starring are Tony Roberts, Andrea Marcovicci, Molly Ringwald, Mari Gorman, Susan Ruttan and Kenneth McMillan.

In the comedy, real-life husband-and-wife Benjamin and Ms. Prentiss portray a married couple who seek a simpler, cleaner and crime-free life for themselves and their two children in Oregon when the pressures of everyday living in Los Angeles become too much for them.

with the irony of the situation when they are cornered during the small town's Bicentennial celebration.

Also starring are Robert Caradine as Bobby Ray and Howard Hesseman as David.

In real life, Miss Mimieux has very little in common with her character of Dinah Hunter besides her blondish hair. Yvette speaks four languages — English, French, Spanish and Italian — fluently, is a professional photographer, and active member of anthropological and archeological expeditions.

Mule Gets A Kick Out Of The Game

"Gus, The Pigskin Mule," a sports story about an imported Yugoslavian mule who kicks 100-yard field goals, will be presented in two parts on CBS' "Walt Disney." Part One will air Saturday, Sept. 11 (8-9 p.m.), with Part Two airing the following week. The film was originally released theatrically in 1976.

In Part One of the comedy, football team owner Hank Cooper (Ed Asner) is watching his hapless California Atoms head for another winless season. Even the cheerleaders fail to draw crowds, and Cooper's coach, Ernie Venner (Don Knotts), fails to field a respectable squad. In addition, Cooper's friend Charley Gwynn (Harold Gould) is demanding repayment of a loan used to finance the team for another year.

Meanwhile, on a farm in the Yugoslavian countryside, Andrija "Andy" Petrovic (Gary Grimes) is upset. No matter how he tries, the slightly built young man cannot match the physical prowess of his soccer-star brother Stjepan (Jackson Bostwick), much to the disappointment of Papa Petrovic (Titos Vandis).

Andy's mule, Gus, feeling his human friend's plight, testily kicks a soccer ball out of sight. Andy sees the chance to finally win his papa's respect.

Cooper and Gwynn make a bet: if the Atoms can win the Super Bowl, Cooper's debt is cleared. If not, Gwynn gets the team.

Gus' halftime kick through the goalposts makes the crowds cheer and gives Cooper an idea. In the next game, he puts Gus in to kick a field goal. Sports moderators covering the game on national television check the rules. Since "player" is not restricted to humans, Gus is eligible.

John McEnroe, the first man since the 1920s to win the U.S. Open three straight years, and five-time champion Chris Evert Lloyd highlight a list of the world's best players in America's foremost tennis event, the United States Open Tennis Championships, from Flushing Meadows-Corona Park, N.Y. CBS Sports, which has presented the event for 15 straight years, will broadcast coverage of the championships beginning Saturday, Sept. 4, and continuing through Sunday, Sept. 12 (check listings for exact times). Highlights will be shown weeknights (11:30 p.m.-midnight).

Brent Musburger will host the coverage for CBS Sports. Pat Summerall, broadcasting his 10th U.S. Open, will be joined by Tony Trabert, the former Wimbledon, French Open and two-time United States Lawn Tennis Association champion; John Newcombe, former Wimbledon and U.S. Open titlist; and Virginia Wade, the former Wimbledon winner, for commentary.

In last year's centennial championship meetings, McEnroe stopped Sweden's Bjorn Borg in four sets — as he did earlier in 1981 at Wimbledon — to affirm himself as the sport's top player.

But a great deal has changed since then.

McEnroe remains No. 1, according to the Association of Tennis Professionals rankings, but with an asterisk, in that Jimmy Connors has defeated him twice consecutively on grass — McEnroe's best surface.

Borg, who decided to take a long vacation after failing to win his first Open last year, was told he would have to qualify to play at Wimbledon and at the U.S. Open, and Borg promptly said he wouldn't play in any other Grand Prix tournaments this year.

Ivan Lendl, Czechoslovakia's 22-year-old tennis wizard who zipped through the winter indoor events with little strain, played golf rather than tennis during Wimbledon after being knocked out of the French Open by young Mats Wilander, and has since seen his ranking drop to fourth.

Wilander, only 17 years old, is being hailed as Sweden's new Borg after winning the French Open, reaching the semifinals at the Italian Open, the quarterfinals at Wimbledon, and running McEnroe around for over six hours before succumbing in Davis Cup play.

Although McEnroe has handled Connors in their last two U.S. Open meetings, "Mac" has lost three of his last four encounters with Jimmy, including Wimbledon, Queens Club, and the Grand Prix Masters. The victory came in the final of the U.S. Pro Indoor.

For someone who was hailed as the world's greatest tennis player (after winning Wimbledon and the Open last year), 1982 has been pretty rough for McEnroe. He has lost to Lendl in the WCT finals, to Eddie Dibbs in the WCT Tournament of Championships, to Lendl and Connors in the round-robin Grand Prix Masters, and to South Africa's Johan Kriek at Memphis, in addition to his two grass defeats to Connors in England.

A nagging ankle injury, which forced him to withdraw during a Grand Prix event in Brussels and the French Open, is part of the reason behind McEnroe's problems, as is the possibility of an emotional letdown after playing so sensationally in 1981. Regardless, Tony Trabert still regards McEnroe as the man to beat in 1982.

"It's his surface, he's home in New York, and he's still the champion," Trabert said.

He's Still Fighting

At age 37, Earnie Shavers is still boxing. Shavers retired in August 1980, but returned to the ring in December 1981. "Maybe I'm slower," he says, "but I can be slow, as long as I land. I'll take little fights, ones I can't get hurt in, don't train for, and wait for one last payday."

Christie Thriller

"The Mirror Crack'd," the Agatha Christie thriller starring Elizabeth Taylor, Rock Hudson, Angela Lansbury, Kim Novak, Tony Curtis, Edward Fox and Geraldine Chaplin, has been sold to the CBS Television Network.

Angela Lansbury portrays the legendary lady super sleuth, Miss Jane Marple, collecting clues from a cast of international superstars, and putting the pieces together that solves an exciting and baffling puzzle.

AUSTIN REED  OF REGENT STREET

PRESENTS THE IMPECCABLE THISTLE TWEED SHETLAND

Austin Reed of Regent Street now embodies all that is uncompromisingly British in styling and attention to detail, in tailored clothing for women. Favored for fall: The two button, natural-shoulder, Thistle Tweed Shetland jacket with contrasting heather-blue, all-wool worsted skirt.

TV Chatter

By Polly Vonetes

JOHN BARBOUR, recently left the "Real People" series, but he WILL BE BACK on the screen this fall with his own program, "That Quiz Show." John is the producer of the syndicated show.

Before the year ends two very glamorous ladies will be cast in the role of a grandmother: DOROTHY LAMOUR will be one thanks to son TOM HOWARD and wife DENISE — and ELIZABETH TAYLOR'S daughter MARIA is expecting in November.

DONNA BARNES, Penthouse magazine's August "Pet of the Month", is beautiful and certainly not dumb. Donna recently graduated from the University of Texas with not one but two degrees.

Look for seven-year-old DREW BARRYMORE on the cover of December issue of the Ladies Home Journal. The little star of "E.T." has captivated everyone who has come in contact with her.

The reconciliation of JOHN DENVER and wife ANNIE is straining at the seams. They are once again trying it apartsville. Both are still living in Aspen — but not together.

"Ninety percent of brain wasted."

FOR GERARD NIERENBERG, author, The Art of Creative Thinking (Cornerstone Library)

Are people born with creativity, or is it acquired? — O.N., Anniston, Ala.

● Everyone can be taught to be creative. Most adults have merely permitted their creative skills to become dormant. The average person, for example, presently operates on a few cylinders, using only 10 percent of brain capacity; 90 percent is still available. Babies use creativity skills better than adults because infants are constantly forced to deal with new sights, sounds and experiences. Grown-ups should try the art of creative thinking. When people are not creative, they set up barriers so they see only what they expect to see. This tunnel vision is not beneficial for career or day-to-day decisions.

FOR JANE POWELL, actress

How do you keep so slim and trim? Do you work at it? — E.C., Owensboro, Ky.

● I have been counting calories all my life. I come from chubby stock; my mother is always on a diet, too. And as a teen-ager I was chubby, so I had to start my calorie-watching at a young age. I don't diet, but I know what is good for me and what isn't. I also exercise every day.

FOR GARY COLLINS, emcee, Miss America Pageant

Did your wife, Mary Ann Mobley (a former Miss America), give you any advice on making the pageant run smoothly? — D.W., Trenton, N.J.

● She gave me one important tip: Be nice and helpful to the contestants. When she was up for the title, she was a petrified little girl from Brandon, Miss. Bert Parks gave her encouragement. She never would have made it to the end without it.

FOR LINDA ELLERBEE, of NBC News Overnight

Do you do your own makeup? — T.N., Vancouver, Wash.

● When I was a reporter on the street, I did it myself. But studio cameras are different — they're not as kind as natural light! Without makeup, under the intense lighting of a set, your eyes tend to disappear. Watching yourself on TV is unreal, too, like hearing your voice on tape for the first time. Frightening thing is, when I see myself, I wonder, "Is that really me?"

PRO Frank N. Wilner, director, Issue Development, Association of American Railroads

Yes. Railroads were granted lands to encourage settlement of the West. In turn, railroads had to provide reduced-rate transportation to the Government. Two Congressional studies concluded that the railroads earned title to the lands in this manner, and the Supreme Court affirmed the railroads' repayment and ownership. Confiscating private property — or prohibiting abandonment of branch lines — would harm the quality of main-line service and threaten more rail bankruptcies.

PRO AND CON

Should Railroads Be Allowed to Keep Federal Land Grants Once They Have Abandoned Service to an Area?

(Question submitted by Zane Zell, Shelby, Mont.)

Send questions of national significance, on a postcard, to "Pro & Con," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $10 for those published.

FROM THE "ASK" EDITOR

QUOTES: Jim Nabors, now on screen in The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas, griped about the music business of today and concluded: "You don't need a true singing voice to succeed. You can croak like a strangled crow. They take care of you with super electronic equipment so that you end up sounding like Caruso." . . . Comic Joan Rivers met a new mother and advised: "The best child-rearing philosophy I've seen is a special edition of Dr. Spock — with a foreword by Joan Crawford." . . . Octogenarian George Burns has a satisfying substitute for a romantic interlude: "Very hot soup — home-cooked barley soup. And if it isn't zingy enough, I add a little ketchup." . . . Pete Rozelle, National Football League commissioner, said this about his ideal vacation: "I'd like to go somewhere with lots of water, no phones and no stores." . . . MISAP-

PREHENSION: Christopher Norris, of TV's Trapper John, M.D., wants to set the record straight and enlighten all those who mistakenly assume that actresses have it easy on the set: "Most people in other fields work from 9 to 5. They think all we do is lool around the set all day. But in fact, by the time most folks get to work, I've already been there a few hours. And I don't get home until 8:30." . . . Singer Vikki Carr is the wife of Michael Nilsson, executive vice president of the Sinclair Paint Co. In order to become familiar with her husband's work, she accompanied him to a string of conventions. "People who think those things are fun need their heads examined," sighed Vikki. "I told Michael I'd never doubt or envy him again. It's a back-breaking grind — all work, no play. Even if convention-goers did want to goof off or fool around, they had no time — or energy." . . . TRANSPORTATION:

When Prince Charles was late for an engagement, due to heavy traffic on London streets, one of those waiting to greet him handed him a tube of ointment for little Prince William's royal diaper rash. "If you can come up with something to cure 'traffic rash,'" replied Charles, "I'll be eternally grateful." . . . John Hillerman, of Magnum, P.I., recently revisited New York City for the first time in 20 years. Although as Higgins he sees Magnum in plenty of jams, he was shocked by the city's traffic jams. "I can't recall it ever being that bad. Only city worse is Rome."

Nabors

Rivers

Rozelle

CON Representative Byron L. Dorgan (D-N.D.), member, Agriculture Committee

No. Congress gave over 130 million acres of public lands to railroads that promised to provide service for the public. Now those railroads want to abandon some of that service and keep the lands — rich in oil, gas and timber — for themselves. They want taxpayers to pay for highways in order to replace this lost service. That's not fair. The railroads say they have "paid back" the land grants. They haven't. They should either keep their promise or give back these lands.

Ever wonder why we celebrate Labor Day with time off from our jobs? Perhaps it's because working for many of us is no labor of love.

What to Do When You Hate Your Job

By Kurt Andersen

When I left college six years ago last June, I was giddy with high hopes about joining the world at large. But I was not naive about the difficulties of snatching a good job nor about the rigors of work. Of course dues had to be paid, a track record established. I suspected, for instance, that a 21-year-old who owned one suit might not be CBS news's first choice to take over for Eric Sevareid.

Shortly after, a job was offered to me, as a copyboy for the New York Daily News. My memory of the first day at work is hazy. I do remember fetching coffee — cream, no sugar — for a famous columnist who now acts in beer commercials on TV, and I remember walking 12 hot blocks to pick up an envelope from the houseboy of a slightly less famous columnist. Somehow, it was not at all what I had had in mind. Eight hours after I had begun my newspaper career at the News, I crept like a terrorist into the executive suite, shot a curt note over the boss's doorsill and ran. Life should be taken one day at a time, they say, and one day of this kind was plenty for me.

My panicky retreat after only a day was certainly rash and probably arrogant, although it turned out to be the correct career move. But in my fleeting tenure as a copyboy, I had a potent short course in some of the reasons why so many people hate their jobs so much. We are smart humans, yet we are sometimes given the work of programmed robots. We pine for responsibility and respect, yet we are given a paycheck and a production quota. The ancient Greeks knew that work was almost always a dull drag: Slaves did all the heavy lifting (and they did do windows), and nobody pretended that drudgery was good for the soul.

It is revealing that in America, the supposed glories of work are annually commemorated — Labor Day — with a long weekend of beer and beer feet, the whole country determinedly loafing. The poll-takers, of course, would have us believe that we are a nation of blissful laborers. Nearly every year for the last two decades, Gallup or the others have asked a sample of Americans if they are "satisfied" or "very satisfied" with their jobs, and between 80 and 92 percent have said, yeah, sure, right. But the problem with polls is that often their findings are deceptive. Maybe those stunning majorities are saying that they're resigned to their jobs, that they're not about to quit, or that they're not losers. But very satisfied? When the opinion surveyors phrase the question about jobs differently — less threateningly — they discover something more like the truth: Nearly 60 percent of Americans say that if they had their working lives to begin again, they would choose another line of work. In other words, if yours isn't a labor of love, you are not alone. Most Americans are not crazy about their jobs.

How is it that so many of us are stuck with jobs we'd prefer not to have? Some of us simply started off on the wrong foot and never got around to discovering what we'd really like to be doing. According to Rosalyn Forbes, Ed.D., a New York City psychologist and business consultant, most people don't deliberately choose their jobs, "but simply fall into them." In this haphazardness are often found the seeds of discontent.

But it's more complicated than that. Some of our problems lie with the types of jobs we must perform in our society. In the mid-1800's, most Americans worked for themselves, in fields or in shops or on the road; working life today is unquestionably less sweaty, but now less than 10 percent of Americans are self-employed. Many of us are simply cogs in the wheels of big companies, and the result in many cases has been disenchantment. "In the days when people created something themselves and then sold it, there was a lot of intrinsic satisfaction," says Gerda McCahan, Ph.D., clinical psychologist and professor of psychology at Furman University, Greenville, S.C. "Today workers don't feel they have a handle on what their company does or how they fit into the overall picture." It's not surprising that according to social scientists, the people happiest with their work are executives, entrepreneurs and professionals — men and women who are often their own bosses.

That doesn't mean it's impossible for everybody else to be happy. Dr. McCahan tells of one manufacturing company that involves workers in the decision-making and running of the company — and worker satisfaction has increased. But it's rare for an American firm to go to such lengths.

This sense of lacking control, of not belonging, can be true even for people who by all appearances are "in charge." Says Dr. Forbes: "Many middle managers have responsibility but no authority. And companies are just not utilizing these workers as they could and should."

In addition, a special set of problems exists for workers of the baby-boom generation, who were educated for great things and promised the world. But a shrinking economy, lack of projected expansion in many industries and an extended retirement age have meant that jobs haven't turned over as quickly as expected. Statistics compiled by the American Management Association show that 80 to 90 percent of middle managers don't make it to the top level by age 40. The great expectations of many baby boomers have ended up going limp.

Some of us also end up in trouble because of expectations about what work in general should offer. "We are a work-oriented society, bound to the Protestant ethic that work is good and, therefore, a person who works is good," explains Dr. McCahan. "We tend to think that work is the most important part of us. If we're not doing a job that is very important or exciting, we worry that we are less good than we should be."

This problem has become complicated by the extreme emphasis in recent years on job fulfillment, satisfaction and enrichment. Work is supposed to be engaging, a well-lit avenue of self-expression.

Some of our job-related unhappiness may be tied to internal changes that we experience as individuals. Edward B. Klein, Ph.D., professor of psychology at the University of Cincinnati and one of the co-authors of

The Seasons of a Man's Life, believes that a person's age often plays a significant role in on-the-job dissatisfaction: "A critical stage is age 30," he states, "when a lot of people reappraise the kind of life structure they built in their 20's, including the work they do. The most dramatic time of unhappiness with work comes at around age 40. If you're a middle manager, you may have expected

No-Labor Day? Don't get up; after all, it's a holiday weekend and, besides, you've got over a thousand servants ready to tote and fetch for you. Sure you have, in the form of energy from fossil fuels—oil, gas, and coal. Though you may take them for granted, they provide the equivalent of 1,000 laborers toiling every day for each man, woman, and child in the U.S. So while most of us are enjoying that extra day of leisure—tomorrow's well-deserved Labor Day tribute to America's working men and women—all of us in the industrialized world are also able to take life a whole lot easier because of abundant energy.

Sacred cows. Back in the Stone Age, people had only their own muscle power—equal to about three watts. Then came animal power; harnessing a bullock, for instance, provides nine times as much energy as the hardest human labor. Today, our society runs on energy equivalent to more than 100 of these "sacred cows" for every person.

"Considering all the work they do, they're entitled to celebrate Labor Day."

Watts you eat. Down on the farm, technology has replaced much human labor. Energy to make and run farm equipment. Natural gas for "super fertilizers." Petrochemicals for insecticides and more. In 40 years of progress—fueled by energy and petroleum products—per-acre yields have more than doubled, and labor use per acre has decreased by more than two-thirds. Internal combustion engines turn 15-30 percent of fuel energy into useful work, while you're good for only about two percent, since your three watts of musclepower requires an average of 140 watts of food energy.

Bright idea. America's overflowing picnic basket of food-stuffs isn't the only result of working smarter. Overall energy efficiency has improved throughout the economy so that now it takes 23 percent less energy to produce as many goods and services as 30 years ago. Still, whether you labor at pounding a jackhammer or a typewriter, it takes energy to keep us working—and to spur the economic growth that will create new jobs, rural and urban. As the National Conference of Black Mayors pointed out, for example, "The success of economic recovery strategies...will be substantially powered by the availability of [an] adequate supply of reasonably priced electric energy." The same goes for secure oil, gas, and other energy sources, for the fact is that work is the use of energy. Fortunately, today's end-of-summer holiday requires neither: Relax and enjoy.

It's a fact: One barrel of oil provides as much energy as a person hard at work for 15 years—a terrific bargain since that much labor would cost more than $100,000 at the minimum wage.

Mobil

that you would have made it to a senior position by then. Not having done so can result in enormous disappointment."

Another possible cause of the working blues: Most jobs unfortunately require us to work alongside other people. Now, other people are not objectionable per se; some of my best friends are other people. Unlike us, however, they are sometimes insufferable jerks. And the jerkiest have an uncanny ability to rise to positions of power. Disliking a job is often a matter of disliking the people who come with it.

One factor that many of us assume critically affects job happiness is money, yet Dr. Forbes, among several other experts, contends that since the 1960's money really has become less seductive: "Low salaries don't seem to dissatisfy people as much as other aspects of their jobs," she says. Dr. Jonathan Freedman, author of Happy People, points out that although income ranks high as an aspect of work satisfaction, it rarely is the major factor. Research, he says, has revealed that the amount you make is less important than how it compares to others who are at your level.

If you seriously dislike your job, don't despair. Some authentically negative aspects of work can be counteracted and even fixed (see below). When he was 40, Ralph Waldo Emerson griped that, "The life of labor does not make men, but drudges." But by the time he was 57, Emerson had cheered up: "Every man's task," he wrote, "is his life-preserver." Indeed, the older a worker gets, according to several contemporary studies, the more pleased he becomes with his work, spontaneously. And the more job satisfaction he achieves, the longer he lives — a literal life-preserver. □

Advice for the Shopworn

Overcoming job dissatisfaction is often a two-part project. Initially you'll want to see what you can do to raise your satisfaction level for your present job. (Also, because of the economy, you may have to make the best of it for now.) If that doesn't work, you'll want to draw up a game plan for finding more rewarding work down the road.

- Begin by analyzing what it is you like and dislike about your present position. According to Dr. McCahan, many people actually turn the little things they dislike about their jobs into monsters by putting off doing them or taking care of these tasks when

The Prestige Factor

If you secretly hate your job, the reason may be that it's just not prestigious enough. Here is a list of common occupations and the percentage of people who, in a 1981 Gallup survey, gave each one a high prestige rating:

Low Prestige Jobs

- Realtor: Only 6 percent of all respondents gave this job a high prestige rating
- Advertising rep: 8 percent
- Local politician: 16 percent

they're tired or irritated. She suggests you get them over with early in the day and as quickly as possible. Then save the rest of the day for the projects you like — and want to savor.

- Use your lunch hours to refuel psychologically, says Dr. McCahan. That hour or so each day should be a time to do things you enjoy, either alone or with people who "make you feel 100 percent better." Too often, she says, "we spend time with people who end up taking from us."

- One way to infuse new life into a job, particularly for older workers, is to become a mentor or adviser for young people in the company, says Dr. Klein.

- If your job is drudgery and there's no way around it, Dr. McCahan suggests you assess your total life and determine what aspects make you happiest. Then put more time and energy into them. There's no reason why you have to define who you are mainly by your work.

- Let's say you do decide to try to make a move. If it's the office politics or your boss's moodiness that you dislike, you might be happy doing the same thing under a different roof. But you may realize that you'd prefer

"The Worst Job I Ever Had"

Even folks whom we view as having glamorous, exciting careers have at some time had jobs they just couldn't stand. We asked a few famous members of the American work force to describe the job they hated most.

Senator William Proxmire: "In 1977, as Chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, I wanted to get a firsthand view of the attitude of New York City workers toward accepting no increase in pay. So I took a job as a garbage collector in Brooklyn for one day. When we began work, it was cold and dark and, let's face it, garbage is garbage. But my fellow workers were great. All in all, I felt that in some ways my job as U.S. Senator had a slight edge on that Brooklyn job."

Stiller and Menra, comedy team: Anne Meara — "While waiting for my talents to be discovered, I worked at a research lab. I tested out a detergent. I had to put my hands in lye, and ended up with a rash."

Jerry Stiller — "At 21, I eked out a meager living by selling magazines door to door. Nine out of 10 doors slammed in my face, but the 10th homeowner opened the door wide. She tried to convert me to her religious cult. It wasn't too much of a wrench to quit that job."

Dolly Parton, singer-actress: "I was 4 when I was hired for my worst job. That's when I was big enough to pick up and hold a baby. I'm referring, of course, to the eight brothers and sisters following me (I'm one of 12). I was the baby sitter. At the start I thought it was a grand, fun way to play house. It stopped being wonderful when I knew I had a nonpaying job."

Jessica Lange, actress: "I became a model in order to pay for my acting classes. I never found modeling glamorous. When one hears of the enormous fees that models collect, it seems like a fortune. It is, if you work an eight-hour day, a five-day week. But if you only work for one hour a week, which often happened to me, you get poor, not rich."

James Coco, actor: "The wolf was at my door one Christmas, so I got myself hired as a Santa Claus for Macy's. My debut in their window display is no doubt one remembered to this day by those with long memories. Amazed spectators saw the only bare-derriered Santa in the store's history. As I made my descent down the chimney, my pants got ripped on a nail that was sticking out to get me — which resulted in my baring all."

Ann Miller, actress: "Way back when, I got furious with M.G.M. and decided to leave them because they asked me to play a mother. There I was thinking I looked so young and jazzy, and they insulted me by asking me to be a mom."

Wayne Rogers, actor: "After graduating from Princeton, I was a waiter at the Pierre Hotel in New York City. One night there was a big ball, and two friends from college came in with two beautiful girls. I told the captain that I was having a coronary. I just could not face my friends."

Harold Robbins, author: "I was budget director at Universal Pictures, responsible for the annual disbursement of $40 million. Somehow, I got hold of a new property, which I described as 'lousy.' That's when I knew I wanted to write, not juggle figures."

— Anita Summer

something totally new. See if you can sum up what you like doing and what you're good at. Do you like playing it safe or taking risks? Do you like to interact with people or are you a lone wolf? Do you love or hate giving a sales pitch? "Match your preference to your job," says Dr. Forbes. "Satisfying work is a matter of keeping your expectations high enough but within the bounds of reality."

● Broaden your options with educational programs, either within your company or outside of it. "Take advantage of these programs to learn another skill and find an alternative path," says Dr. Klein.

● He also advises that you find a "support group" of peers you can talk to — people outside of your company as well as within. Speaking with them regularly can help you gain perspective and give you a sense of alternatives.

Our 65th Year!

My Feet Were Killing Me...Until I Discovered the Miracle in Germany!

IT was the European trip I had always dreamed about. I had the time and money to go where I wanted —see what I wanted. But I soon learned that money and time don't mean much when your feet hurt too much to walk. After a few days of sightseeing my feet were killing me.

MADE FOR YOUR FEET ALONE

Here's why Feathersprings work for them and why they can work for you. These supports are like nothing you've ever seen before. They are custom formed and made for your feet alone! Unlike conventional devices, they actually imitate the youthful elastic support that Nature originally intended your feet to have.

Oh, I tried to keep going. In Paris I limped through Notre Dame and along the Champs-Élysées. And I went up in the Eiffel Tower although I can't honestly say I remember the view. My feet were so tired and sore my whole body ached. While everybody else was having a great time, I was in my hotel room. I didn't even feel like sitting in a sidewalk cafe.

The whole trip was like that until I got to Hamburg, Germany. There, by accident, I happened to hear about an exciting breakthrough for anyone who suffers from sore, aching feet and legs.

This wonderful invention was a custom formed foot support called Flexible Featherspring®. When I got a pair and slipped them into my shoes my pain disappeared almost instantly. The flexible shock absorbing support they gave my feet was like cradling them on a cushion of air. I could walk, stand, even run. The relief was truly a miracle.

And just one pair was all I needed. I learned that women also can wear them—even with sandals and open backed shoes. They're completely invisible.

Imagine how dumbfounded I was to discover these miraculous devices were sold only in Europe. Right then I determined that I would share the miracle I discovered in Germany with my own countrymen.

In the last nine years over a quarter million Americans of all ages—many with foot problems far more severe than mine—have experienced this blessed relief for themselves.

NO RISK OFFER

Whatever your problem—corns, calluses, pain in the balls of your feet, burning nerve ends, painful ankles, old injuries, backaches or just generally sore, aching feet, Flexible Feathersprings will bring you relief with every step you take or your money back.

Don't suffer pain and discomfort needlessly. If your feet hurt, the miracle of Germany can help you. Write for more detailed information. There is no obligation whatsoever. No salesman will call. Just fill out the coupon below and mail it today.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT THE MIRACLE:

Received my wife's Feathersprings two days ago. They are super—neither of us can believe the results. She has had terrible feet for years; already no pain. Incidentally, her sore knee is much better...

As a retired physician, this result is amazing. Dr.-C.O.C./Tucson, Arizona

After wearing Feathersprings for 3 months, I would never want to be without them. It's so wonderful to walk without every step hurting. They have helped my corns, ingrown toe nails, and my legs and back are so much better.

Mrs. C.F.E., Sarasota, Fla.

"Since I've been wearing Feathersprings I have been able to wear shoes I wasn't able to wear before. Mainly because of my corns and calluses. Thanks a hundred times over." A.H./East Orange, New Jersey

"My husband felt a great relief and no more pain. They are truly an answer to our prayers. Only wish that he had heard of them twenty-years ago."

Mrs. F.J.S./Metairie, Louisiana

... "At the present time I still wear the Feathersprings and indeed they perform well after seven years of use." G.M.G. Dallas, Texas

"Wish I had believed your ad five years ago." Mrs. W.C., Fayetteville, N.C.

FOOD Pure Corn

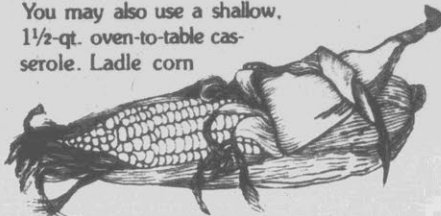

By Marilyn Hansen

One of the great delights of summer just has to be eating fresh, sweet corn on the cob, with plenty of butter and a sprinkle of salt. But there are other ways to enjoy fresh corn. Here are a few suggestions.

CORN PUDDING

- 3 cups scraped fresh corn, about 6 ears
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- Dash ground nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

1. Toss corn with the flour in a large bowl.
2. In a medium bowl, beat together eggs, heavy cream, milk, salt, sugar, nutmeg and baking powder. Stir in melted butter. Pour over corn-flour combination and mix well.
3. Lightly grease 8 ramekins or custard cups. You may also use a shallow, 1 1/2-qt. oven-to-table casserole. Ladle corn mixture into prepared dishes. Set dishes in a baking pan and fill pan with hot water to a depth of 1/2 inch.

4. Bake in preheated 375° oven about 20 to 30 minutes, until a silver knife inserted 1/2 inch from side of dish comes out clean and pudding is slightly puffed up with a golden top. Time will vary depending on size and depth of baking dish. Makes 8 servings

Note: This recipe is one of several delightful corn pudding variations served at Hubert's Restaurant, New York City, where American food is prepared with style and élan.

COLACHE

- 4 yellow summer squash, about 1 1/4 lbs.
 - 4 ears corn
 - 3 ripe tomatoes
 - 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 - 1/2 cup chopped green onion or onion
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1. Peel squash and dice. Scrape corn kernels from cobs. Peel tomatoes, remove seeds and dice.
 2. In a large skillet, heat butter until hot, but not smoking. Add green onion and cook, stirring until wilted, about 5 minutes. Add squash, corn, tomatoes and the salt and pepper. Mix well.
 3. Heat mixture to boiling, reduce heat, cover and simmer about 15 to 20 minutes until vegetables are tender. Stir now and then. Makes 6 servings

THE PRODUCT... THE COSMETIC COMPANIES DON'T WANT YOU TO KNOW ABOUT!

A FEW POINTS OF INTEREST

Why does your nail polish crack and chip right after it's applied? Why does your lipstick become mushy? Why does your eyeliner become thick and pasty? Why? Why? Why? The answer is simple—the Cosmetic Companies want to sell you more and more cosmetics and massages. More creams, more lotions, more blushes, more foundations, more, more, more! Why? You ask. Because the more they sell, the more money they make. Big business is BIG money.

For years the cosmetic companies have told you — Imported Oils will make your skin smooth. Secret Lotions will make your skin smooth. Special Creams will make your skin smooth. Every one of these products covers up your skin. They try to fill-in the wrinkles and lines on your face the way an Auto Body shop fills in the dent on a car's fender!

A FEAT OF SCIENCE

A few years ago, Cosmetic Chemists made a dramatic breakthrough. They developed a product that is unlike any over-the-counter makeup on the market. But, the Cosmetic Companies kept it a secret until now.

Why did they keep it a secret? It's simple, because they'd rather sell you 3 or 4 costly products than one inexpensive product that works. Major companies are interested in making huge sums of money.

"RENEW 21" AND HOW IT WORKS

Instead of filling in and covering up the wrinkles and lines on your face, Renew 21 supplies your skin with the youthful-elastic-strength your skin needs. This elastic-strength eliminates the wrinkles, lines and puffiness for up to 8 hours.

Now, in just 60 seconds, you can look younger, prettier and more desirable! Renew 21 works no matter how old you are, how wrinkled you are, how puffy your face is. It works on both women and men. You will look 10 to 15 years younger in only one minute and when you look younger, you'll also feel younger.

Instantly your flabby spots are firm'd up. All those little telltale wrinkles and lines get flattened out. Your skin feels great and you look at least 10 years younger too! Smooth, Soft, Wrinkle Free Skin for up to 8 hours with each application.

100% SAFE TO USE

Renew 21 is a safe, gentle, non-greasy lotion that actually becomes part of you. It's 100% safe — contains no harsh chemicals, no hormones, no animal proteins. Never will it clog your pores, because it's not greasy or sticky. You apply your makeup right over it. The fact is, you may not even want to wear makeup — that's how great you'll look and feel.

This unretouched photograph accentuates the actual results of Renew 21. Thousands of women have seen results like this in their own mirrors.

WILLOW LABEL, Dept. WR-87 Box 141, East Glastonbury CT 06025

Gentlemen, please RUSH me Renew 21 (temporary wrinkle remover) so that I can see for myself how great it works. I understand that if I am not completely satisfied I may return the unused portion for a complete refund of purchase price.

WHAT WORLD

IN THE

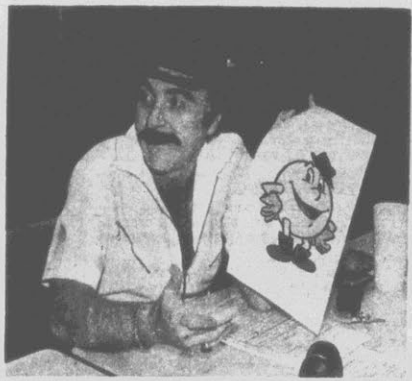

By Eliot Kaplan

A STAR IS REBORN

It's been some 12 years since the pressures and hypocrisies of show business drove comedian Marty Ingels to a nervous breakdown. Now he is sticking his toe tentatively back into the shark-infested waters of performing. He'll supply the voice of Pac-Man on the new

Saturday morning Pac-Man cartoon show, premiering later this month on ABC.

Ingels, 46, recovered after switching careers (he became a celebrity talent broker) and marrying actress-singer Shirley Jones. He told us recently, "I've been in the background in this family for years, living with this famous woman and three stepsons [David, Shaun and Patrick Cassidy] who

Ingels and friend: "PacapacaWowie!"

ABC were all rock stars. But now I'm going to stick my tongue out at all of them and say, 'Ho, I'm Pac-Man!'"

The same old Hollywood nonsense prevails, though. Ingels thought Pac-Man should utter a catch phrase, like Captain Marvel's "Shazam," every time he eats his power-inducing Pac-pellets. Ingels suggested

"PacapacaWowie!" "So all these big shots are standing around debating, 'Well, should it be 'Pacapacaweeewee,' or maybe 'Pacapacawoowoo?'" Finally, they had to call an executive in New York. He nixed the whole idea.

"That's the kind of baloney that broke me before. And sure enough, driving home I began to hyperventilate, which is how my anxiety attacks begin."

WHY TEACHERS BURN OUT

Summer's over. It's back-to-school time and kids everywhere are crying in their oatmeal. But thanks to the rising incidence of teacher burnout, many teachers are also dreading the return. And surprisingly, a recent study has found that the primary cause of teacher frustration may not be unruly students, unreasonable parents or unrelenting paperwork, but an unsupportive school system.

Instructional supervisors, whose job is to observe classes and have direct teacher contact, are instead spending almost all their time on managerial duties, reports Cheryl Sullivan, assistant professor of education at Emory University. The result:

Teachers are not getting the feedback and emotional support they need. This has a debilitating effect, especially on younger teachers. "Teaching can be very lonesome," says Sullivan. "Teachers need some setting to talk things over."

HOT TIP ON A NEW TONGUE

Geraldine Gordon, 50, is a lucky woman. One of only a handful of people in the world with an artificial tongue (her own diseased tongue was removed in 1977), she has been fitted with the first tongue designed specifically to aid speech. She is now 80 to 85 percent intelligible and has returned to work as a county welfare department supervisor.

The tongue is an incredibly complex muscle, and this new silicone model, which attaches to the bottom teeth and is removable, was five years in the making. Developed by speech pathologist Rebecca Leonard and prosthodontic dentist Robert Gillis, both of the University of California, Davis, Medical Center, it contains a special groove to funnel liquids into Gordon's esophagus. Otherwise she would eat through tubes to keep food and saliva out of her lungs.

Dr. Gillis told us that Gordon still can't make certain sounds (k and g). He hopes to add slight movements to the tongue, such as flexing the tip, that would aid speech even more.

SOBERING NEWS

Someday soon, you may be able to enjoy a three-martini lunch and then go straight back to your job — even if you work as a tight-rope walker. That's because scientists are closing in on a pill that sobers you up almost instantly.

Dr. Ernest Noble, director of the U.C.L.A. Alcohol Research Center, has been giving the pill to volunteer tipplers and then testing their coordination, balance, memory and attention span. He reports that the pill, a combination of three drugs, sobered them up by as much as 50 percent within 15 to 30 minutes.

Noble, who's also an adviser to a Los Angeles company that soon plans to market a sobering powder made of natural ingredients, told us both remedies are designed for the social, not the problem, drinker. But it's hoped such an instant sober-upper might reduce drunk-driving accidents.

Merit Taste Stands Alone.

Extensive research confirms MERIT proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking.

Landmark smoker study confirms that the majority of higher tar smokers who have switched to MERIT have one thing in common—Praise for MERIT taste.

Taste Debate Ends.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers who switched from higher tar are glad they did. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

Taste Verdict: MERIT.

Further, extensive unmarked-pack tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared with higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

HOCUS-FOCUS

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR EYES? There are at least six differences in drawing details between top and bottom panels. How quickly can you find them? Check answers with those below.

Junior Whirl

by Hal Kaufman

● GATHER WITS! Think you have your wits about you? Check these words by Samuel Taylor Coleridge: "No mind is thoroughly organized that is deficient in a sense of humor." Fill blank with a five-letter word.

1	2	3	4	5	6
1	B	E	A	C	O
2	E
3	A
4	C
5	O
6	N

● See Here! These five planets are visible by unaided eye from earth: 1. RASM. 2. CURYMER. 3. SEVUN. 4. PRUJITE. 5. SNAURT. Unscramble names.

● Rope Trick! Rope A is 3 feet long. Rope B is 3 feet plus one-quarter C. Rope C equals Rope A plus Rope B. How long are all three?

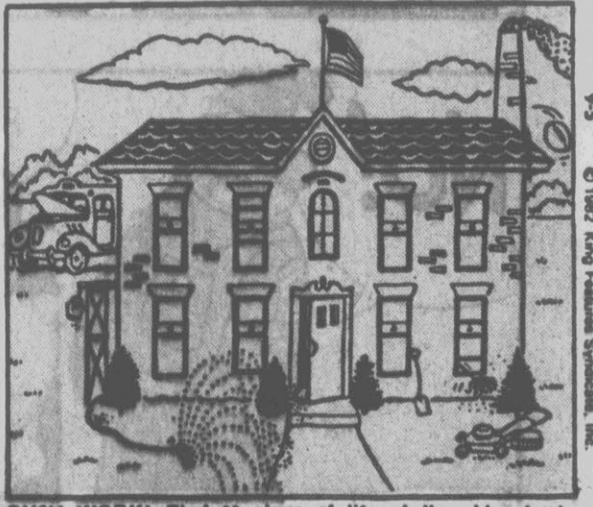

● Riddle-Me-This. If you can! What's gross, spouts water and blows smoke rings? A cigargoyle. What did the prisoners find wrong with the walls? They weren't built to scale.

WORD SQUARE CHALLENGE

Six words corresponding to definitions below complete the word square above. How quickly can you discover the words? (No. 1 - Beacon - is already in place).

1. Mariner's warning.
2. Card game.
3. Yield to pressure.
4. Champed with teeth.
5. Trying experience.
6. Necktie's tool.

Remember, a word square consists of words that read the same both across and down.

● BUSY WORK! Find 11 signs of life at the old school.

SPELLBINDER

SCORE 10 points for using all the letters in the word below to form two complete words:

GENDARME

THEN score 2 points each for all words of four letters or more found among the letters.

Try to score at least 20 points.

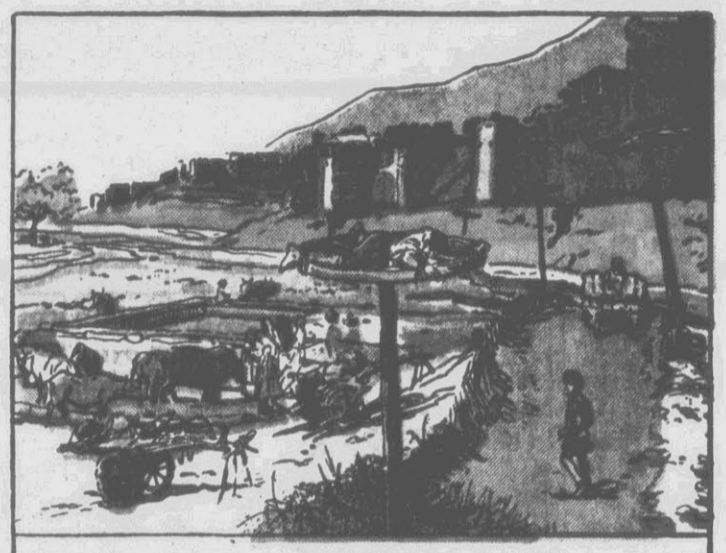

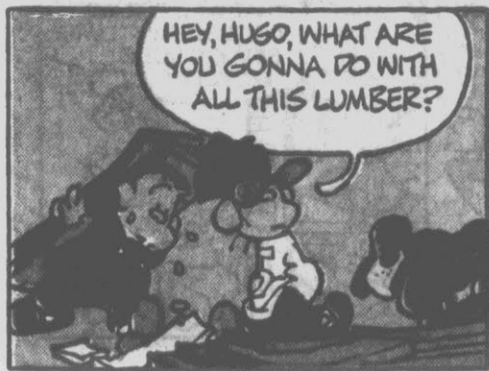

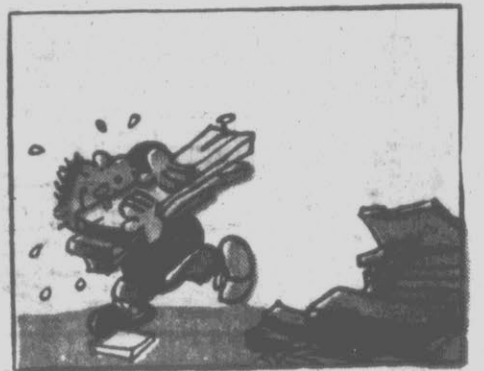

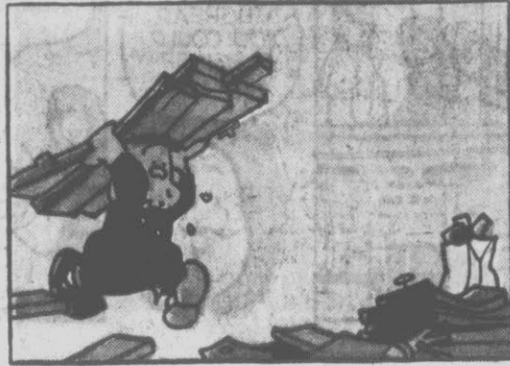

Differences: 1. Dumbbell is missing. 2. Chair is missing. 3. Necktie is missing. 4. Bell is missing. 5. Socks are missing. 6. Chair's feet is different.

1. Beacon. 2. Euchre. 3. Ace. 4. Chewed. 5. Grindal. 6. Mouth.

Our Story: GALAN HAS MET A DETOUR ON THE ROAD TO WISDOM. ACCUSED OF STEALING EMPEROR HARSHA'S SACRED RING, HE IS SET FREE TO FIND THE TRUE THIEF-- WITH HIS LEARNED FRIEND YUAN CHEN HELD AS HOSTAGE. ALL SIGNS OF VILLAINY POINT TO TIMUR, HARSHA'S BROTHER. GALAN VENTURES SOUTH TO TIMUR'S KINGDOM.

TIMUR'S SCHEME IS PLAIN. WITHOUT THE RING, PRINCESS MAYANA CANNOT SUCCEED HER FATHER. TIMUR WILL INHERIT HIS BROTHER'S THRONE.

GALAN HAS NO PLAN, AND LITTLE HOPE. HE OBSERVES THAT HARSHA'S WELL-TENDED LANDS GIVE WAY TO THE DERELICT DOMAINS OF TIMUR. THE REMAINS OF "CRIMINALS" GRACE THE ROADWAY, MUTE TESTIMONY TO A STERN BUT EQUAL JUSTICE: UNDER TIMUR'S RULE, ALL MUST SUFFER.

THE CAPITAL CITY OF RAJTOLE SQUATS IN A FETID VALLEY BOTTOM WRUNG FROM MARSHES BUT NOT FROM POVERTY. OUT OF PITY GALAN OFFERS A COIN TO ONE BEGGAR AND IS ASSAULTED BY FIVE MORE. HE LOSES A CLOAK, A SHOE, AND A BIT OF SKIN BEFORE LOSING HIS TEMPER.

THE QUEST HAS NOT BEGUN WELL. WHO RESPECTS A BOY OF ELEVEN? IN A SQUALID TAVERN HE SEEKS INFORMATION BUT MEETS ONLY MOCKERY. "TIMUR HAS DRIVEN EVEN INFANTS TO DRINK," LAUGHS A BURLY OAF WHO EASILY DISARMS GALAN AND THEN KICKS HIM OUT. AT THE HANDS OF THE TWINS HE HAD NEVER BEEN SO HUMILIATED.

The PHANTOM

by LEE TALK

...WHEN THE HOSTAGES ARRIVE WITH THE TERRORISTS AS CAPTIVES... THE WORLD PRESS GOES CRAZY!

DIANA!

PRESIDENT LUAGA!

MRS. PALMER-WALKER... HOW DID YOU DO IT?

NO INTERVIEWS, SORRY.

WITH PLEASURE, SIR!

PRESIDENT LUAGA OF BANGALLA.

I SAW A FEW FAMILIAR MARKS. AM I RIGHT IN THINKING HE...
RIGHT! HE DID IT ALL! HE'S WAITING FOR US AT THE TREE HOUSE.

REFUSION AT THE TREE HOUSE... "CASTLE IN THE AIR."

DADDY... HOW CAN I THANK YOU? YOU NOT ONLY SAVED YOUR FAMILY, YOU SAVED MY POLITICAL CAREER...

YOU'RE THANKING ME?

YOU WERE READY TO SACRIFICE YOUR CAREER TO TRADE THE TERRORISTS FOR MY FAMILY.

WHAT'S ANY CAREER WORTH... COMPARED TO THAT!

Stoep

LET'S SEE... WHAT SHOULD I COOK MYSELF TONIGHT?

TONIGHT I'M GOING TO COOK MYSELF A FANTASTIC, GOURMET EXTRAVAGANZA.

GEEZ... THESE ARE REALLY COMPLEX RECIPES...

ALL THE HECK WITH IT, I'M COOKING FOR ONE—

I'LL JUST GRAB A FROZEN DINNER.

NO USE DIRTYING UP A BUNCH OF POTS AND PANS...

GREAT! PLASTIC FORKS... I WON'T HAVE TO MESS UP ANY SILVERWARE...

HECK, I MIGHT AS WELL EAT THIS RIGHT OUT OF THE TIN FOIL THING... WON'T HAVE TO WASH ANY DISHES...

WELL, YOU WOULDN'T WANT ME TO HAVE TO CLEAR OFF A TABLE, WOULD YOU?

FLASH GORDON

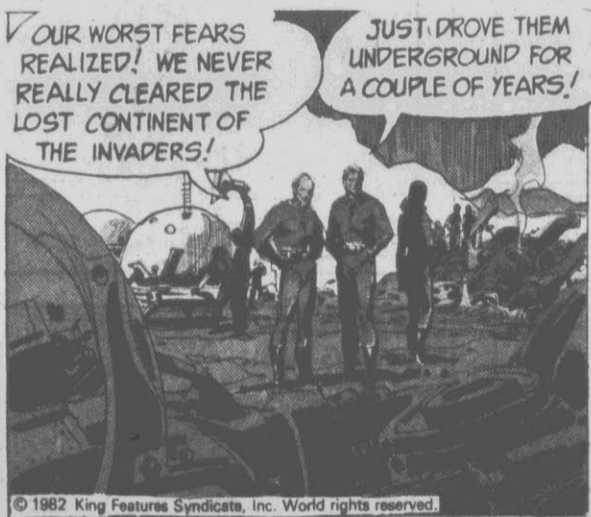

by Dan Barry

THEY MADE A SHAMBLES OF OUR EQUIPMENT!

DOUBT IF OUR SHIP'S STILL AIRWORTHY!

WELL, WE LEARNED WHAT WE WANTED, FLASH!

OUR WORST FEARS REALIZED! WE NEVER REALLY CLEARED THE LOST CONTINENT OF THE INVADERS!

JUST PROVE THEM UNDERGROUND FOR A COUPLE OF YEARS!

A GOOD QUESTION, DALE! AT LEAST, THIS TIME, WE'RE FOREWARNED...

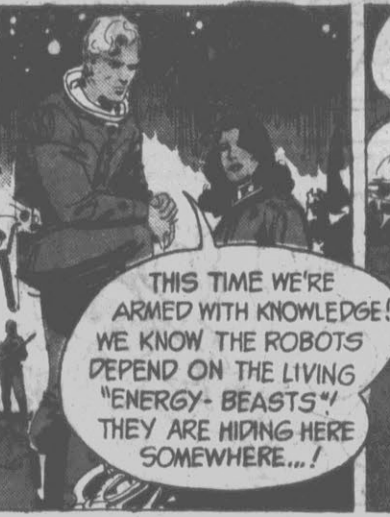

WELL, FLASH—WHAT NOW?

YOU'LL CONTACT BARIN'S HEADQUARTERS! GIVE HIM A FULL REPORT!

RIGHT!

THIS TIME WE'RE ARMED WITH KNOWLEDGE! WE KNOW THE ROBOTS DEPEND ON THE LIVING "ENERGY-BEASTS"! THEY ARE HIDING HERE SOMEWHERE...!

I'LL TAKE THE LAND-LAB ON THE FIRST PROBE!

FLASH—BE CAREFUL!
