Board Goes Against Tide

No Increase In Utility Rates

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

In spite of a recent upward adjustment in wholesale electric costs for Greenville Utilities Commission, board members have concurred with the GUC staff in not recommending an increase at this time in retail rates.

Curtis Howell, business manager, said Tuesday night that wholesale rates charged to Greenville Utilities were increased due to an 8.4 percent rate increase implemented by Virginia Electric & Power Co. Greenville Utilities' costs are affected through the power agency since two-thirds of the power above what the agency's own units supply this year comes from Vepco. Next year, the figure will go down to one-third and Vepco adjustments will not affect local rates after that.

Howell said that many things can affect electric rates over the next seven months and it will probably be April before GUC will know what the cost of power will be for any extended period of time.

Howell said the new wholesale rates were received Sept. 1 from the Municipal Power Agency. He suggested that if GUC still purchased all of its power from Vepco, commissioners would be faced now with increasing retail rates. He said, however, it appears that the net result of increases in demand and decreases in energy costs are such that an increase in retail charges will not be necessary.

Howell said that buying electricity from the power agency has reduced costs as had been projected. Costs would be higher now if Greenville was buying all of its power from Vepco, he said.

Retail charges for an average 1,000 kilowatt hours per month residential customer of GUC, over a 12-month period, is $62.78. It was pointed out that it appears Vepco's average residential bill for 1,000 kilowatt hours will increase in September from $66.40 to $74.28. Current rates for Carolina Power & Light Co., over a 12-month period for 1,000 kilowatt hours, is $63.05.

Commissioner Margaret Wirth pointed to the need for "some consistency and continuity" in local rates. She said that rates should not be changed "every time the wind blows."

GUC Director Charles Horne said local rates are now competitive with CP&L from an industrial and residential standpoint. Ultimately, commercial rates should also be on a par with CP&L, he said.

Horne, who said that the last local rate adjustment occurred in September of 1981, said GUC is not looking at reducing costs through power agency participation but at holding the line.

Harry Hagerty, commission chairman, said a key to Greenville Utilities' situation now is that "everything is working" as projected relative to the power agency involvement.

In other business, commissioners were informed that all plans for a proposed new $10 million wastewater treatment

Grace Of Monaco

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — The body of Princess Grace lay in state today in a 13th century palace chapel and her subjects came to pay respects to the Oscar-winning actress who left Hollywood 26 years ago but remained one of its most beloved stars.

The former Grace Kelly died in a Monaco hospital Tuesday at the age of 52 from a cerebral hemorrhage, about 36 hours after her car somersaulted 120 feet down a mountainside, trapping her inside.

Guards with black arm bands stood vigil and flags flew at half staff today atop the royal palace in honor of the princess, who reached stardom in 11 films that included "High Noon," "Dial M for Murder," "Rear Window," and "Country Girl," for which she won an Academy Award in 1955.

The guards allowed only Monaco residents to enter the castle to sign a condolence book, but several hundred tourists gathered outside to snap pictures of the "Rock of Monaco."

Only the estimated 30,000 residents of the principality were to be allowed to view the coffin later today, the palace said.

The glittering Monte Carlo casinos closed their doors for two days, flags were lowered to half-staff on the banks lining the Boulevard des Moulins and a championship soccer game was moved from the city as Monaco mourned its story-book princess.

No funeral date has been set, but Radio Monte Carlo reported it could be as late as Monday.

Former Gov. Michael S. Dukakis of Massachusetts turned the tables on Gov. Edward J. King and veteran Sen. Howard Cannon of Nevada narrowly defeated a conservative challenger to top a full slate of primary elections.

"A defeat for Reaganomics," Dukakis said of Tuesday's victory over a fellow Democrat who had embraced the president's economic policies.

In Wisconsin, voters overwhelmingly endorsed a nuclear freeze.
Former Minnesota Gov. Rudy Perpich jumped on the comeback wagon along with Dukakis, winning a surprising victory over state attorney general Warren Spannaus, who had the backing of former vice president Walter Mondale and other party regulars.

Perpich trailed throughout the night, pulling ahead in late returns early today.

"I went to bed, put two earplugs in and slept till 10 after 5," he told a reporter. "Just a few minutes ago I turned on the radio and found out I had won."

Cannon trailed Rep. Jim Santini in the Democratic primary until votes began flowing in early today from the La Vegas area, the senator's home base.

With 90 percent of the precincts counted, Cannon had 47,998 votes to 44,702 for Santini.

"I hope now we can get together and go on to win in November," said the 70-year-old senator. "We Democrats in Nevada have always had a lot of fights and gotten together to lick our wounds."

Except for Dukakis' victory, it was a good night for incumbents. Of the eight governors who sought renomination, all but King prevailed. And every member of Congress who sought renomination in the 12 primary states emerged victorious.

Sen. Robert Stafford, R-Vt., and Rep. Clement Zablocki, D-Wis., fought off challenges in Tuesday's primaries — Stafford, like Cannon, from his political right, Zablocki from his left.

Santini, Nevada's only congressman, was among the conservative Democrats who often supported President Reagan in House votes. He called Cannon a part of the congressional "old boy" network he blamed for the nation's economic problems. He also questioned how the 70-year-old Cannon became a millionaire during 24 years service in Congress.

Cannon countered by criticizing Santini's backing of President Reagan's economic policies.

In Wisconsin, the freeze resolution calling for a mutual and verifiable "nuclear weapons moratorium and reduction" won approval by a margin of 611,835 to 197,944, with 99 percent of the vote counted.

After initially indicating opposition to the Wisconsin resolution, the Reagan administration backed off and announced it would take no position because it considered the wording ambiguous.

It was the first statewide referendum on the nuclear freeze. Eight other states will have similar proposals on their ballots on Nov. 2.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli troops and armor pushed into Moslem west Beirut early today to head off what they called a "dangerous situation" following the bombing that killed Israeli-backed President-elect Bashir Gemayel and at least 26 senior aides.

The troops entered west Beirut in a "limited" move "to prevent fighting and secure peace," after the Tuesday blast that killed Gemayel, the Tel Aviv command said. It gave no details, but Beirut radio stations reported shooting between advancing Israeli forces and leftist Moslem militiamen.

For the first time in their 14-week-old invasion, the Israelis drove into the former PLO nerve center in the Fakhani neighborhood. They also entered the Kuwaiti Embassy area and the adjacent Bir Hassan neighborhood on the edge of the Chatilla refugee camp, and the coastal strip stretching from Ouzai to the burned-out Summerland Hotel, Beirut radios reported.

The Israeli command also clamped a curfew on Sidon, the main city in southern Lebanon, and closed the Lebanese-Israeli border to all but military traffic. Prime Minister Menachem Begin's spokesman, Uri Porat, told reporters in Jerusalem the army entered west Beirut to head off "a dangerous situation."

U.S. presidential envoy Morris Draper met with Begin for nearly an hour and said, "the shattering experience of Bashir Gemayel's assassination yesterday has complicated the problem for us, but we are going to move forward with determination."

No group claimed responsibility for the assassination, but Gemayel was opposed by Palestinians, Lebanese leftists and their Syrian allies who saw him moving toward a peace treaty with Israel. Gemayel also had rivals for power in the Christian community and escaped two previous assassination attempts.

Although Gemayel had not said he would seek a peace treaty between Lebanon and Israel, he had met with Israeli leaders and some of his foes criticized him for cooperation with the invading Israeli forces. He was the third leader in the Arab world linked to accommodation with Israel to be assassinated. King Abdullah of Jordan was killed in 1951 and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt in 1981.

Beirut radio broadcasts said the Israeli forces that have ringed west Beirut advanced up to 1.2 miles into the western sector, vacated two weeks ago by Palestine Liberation Organization guerrillas under a U.S.-negotiated plan after repeated Israeli bombardments.

Lebanese Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan rejected Israel's contention that the thrust was a limited operation and said it violated the agreement under which the PLO left for exile in other Arab nations.

In a statement read over state radio, Wazzan said he spoke by telephone to Draper in Tel Aviv about the thrust and that Draper "promised to follow the matter up."

graphers said machine gun exchanges flared between the Israelis and leftist militiamen near the Fakhani neighborhood and the city's soccer stadium, former PLO strongholds, forcing many residents to flee.

The military moves underlined Israeli concerns following the death of Gemayel, Israel's chief Lebanese supporter in the Israeli invasion to rout the PLO.

Besides the 27 known dead, a Lebanese government statement said at least 60 others were wounded in the blast that ripped through the east Beirut headquarters of Gemayel's rightist Phalange Party. The explosion collapsed the top two stories of the building into the first floor.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli Defense Minister Ariel Sharon blamed the PLO for Gemayel's death. But PLO chairman Yasser Arafat on a trip to Rome blamed Israel, saying the Jewish state now had a new excuse to stay in Lebanon.

The bombing came nine days before the 34-year-old Maronite Christian leader was to take office.

His corpse was dug out of the rubble nearly seven hours after the explosion at 4:10 p.m. (10:10 a.m. EDT), the government statement said.

"The body was badly distorted," said a police spokesman who requested anonymity. He said party aides were only able to identify Gemayel because of his wedding ring.

"This terrible crime that took the life of the president-elect is a link in the conspiracy against Lebanon that we have been working to end."

PIANO DELIVERED

Several months ago Hotline published an appeal for donations for a piano for Mrs. Joanna Tyson, the wheelchair-bound Greenville resident known throughout this area for her recitation of the poetry of Paul Laurence Dunbar. Donations totaling $75 were received. The piano was delivered this past Saturday, almost entirely because of the efforts of East Carolina University piano technician Don Wigent.

Wigent arranged for the donation of a used piano by the First Presbyterian Church of Greenville, repaired it and will tune it once it has been in its new place in Mrs. Tyson's living room for several weeks. He donated all of his work. Another $25 is needed to complete the project, because one of the movers of the piano from the church and to Mrs. Tyson's home was paid $40 (He provided the truck.); the other two $30 each. Any friend of Mrs. Tyson who wishes to be a contributor to the Joanna Tyson Piano Fund and help complete this project may send a donation c/o Carol Tyer, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Since the feature about Mrs. Tyson and the original Hotline appeal were published last spring, Mrs. Tyson has appeared on the "Carolina Today" television show twice, has made numerous personal appearances to recite Dunbar's work, and has been honored by the Pitt County Commissioners as Pitt County Handicapped Volunteer of the Year.

WRONG AMOUNT STATED

The quotation of an amount of money in Tuesday's Hotline column was incorrect. The sentence, referring to a rate charged for towing a vehicle, should have read, "The company which towed it charged me $35."

SHP Retirees Appointed To Advisory Group

HIGHWAY PATROL RETIREES .... Sgt. Willie Rogers, Lt. Lloyd G. Pate, Sgt. C. E. Whitfield, Capt. S. H. Mitchell and Lt. J. B. Boyd were honored Tuesday by being named members of the recently organized North Carolina State Highway

Patrol Advisory Council. The council is designed to further the goals and objectives of the patrol and to provide the members of the council a continuing professional and social relationship with the patrol. (Reflector Staff Photo)

In a move by the Highway Patrol to recognize its retired members, five local area patrol retirees were named to the North Carolina State Highway Patrol Advisory Council on Tuesday.

The retired men named to the advisory group, who received certificates from Troop A commander Capt. Carl Gilchrist at a luncheon meeting, included Capt. S. H. Mitchell, Lt. J. B. Boyd, Lt. Lloyd Pate, Sgt. C. E. Whitfield and Sgt. Willie Rogers.

In presenting the certificates, Gilchrist said the NCSHP Advisory Council was recently established under the authority of the Secretary of Crime Control and Public Safety Heman R. Clark and Patrol Commander Col. John T. Jenkins. "In a desire to recognize those retired members for their past dedication and service"

Gilchrist said, "They felt that something positive should be done to convey in some small way our appreciation and thanks for the contributions these people have made to our organization."

The purpose of the advisory council, Gilchrist said, is "to further the goals and objectives of the Highway Patrol and to provide the members of the advisory council a continuing professional and social relationship with the patrol."

"Membership in this organization will include those who retired from the Highway Patrol with honor and dignity and have been approved for membership by the board of directors," the troop commander explained. The board of directors, Gilchrist noted, consists of active members of the patrol holding the ranks of captain, major, lieutenant colonel and colonel.

Honorary membership, Gilchrist said, may be extended to persons other than retired members of the patrol if they have shown special interest in, and special support of, the Highway Patrol.

Money Is A Conflict Source

Unlike the combination "love and marriage," "money and marriage" usually don't go together like a horse and carriage.

Dr. Leo Hawkins, extension human development specialist, North Carolina State University, says money was named as a source of conflict by more than half of the families surveyed in a 1974-75 General Mills American Family study.

So the message for couples planning to tie the knot is: check out financial compatibility before the wedding.

Granted, Dr. Hawkins says, talk about potential money conflicts doesn't seem appropriate for couples who are sure their marriage was "made in heaven." But by sharing financial goals and expectations, couples can set the groundwork for a happier, more successful relationship.

Here is a question that can get that money talk started: If you got a tax-free windfall of $5,000, how would you spend it?

Aside from pinpointing each other's spending priorities, another essential insurance policy against future conflict is a financial plan. Couples should estimate their net income for the first year of marriage and prepare a hypothetical spending plan.

What are expected day-to-day expenses: the car payment, food at home and out, housing costs, clothing?

How savings for long-range goals fit into the plan should also be discussed. The specialist says that savings can be easier if each spouse works toward a common goal, whether that be an annual trip to Florida, a home of your own or more education.

There should be agreement on who will pay bills, keep records and inform the other spouse about the current financial situation. Finally, the decision-making process for major purchases and spending patterns should be clarified. Will expenditures exceeding $50 be made jointly, for example.

Dr. Hawkins says this talk-about-money session before the wedding does have its risks. "Perhaps your financial priorities and expectations are very different," he says. "If so, it's probably best to discover this before you're married."

On the positive side, couples may find their financial differences can be used to build communication skills, learn cooperative decision making and strengthen their relationship.

Secretaries Hear Speaker

"You Can Get There From Here" was Greg Anderson's topic when he spoke to the Greenville Chapter, Professional Secretaries International.

Head of packaging at Burroughs Wellcome, Anderson told of several steps to accomplishing individual goals for secretaries who seek advancement in their careers.

Kay White, Burroughs Wellcome, Marguerite Myers, Eastern Radiologists, Sybil Owens, Dupont, Joy Braswell, Pitt Memorial Hospital, Gale Skinner, Equitable Life, and Trish Myrum, Manpower Temporary Services, were guests for the evening.

President Nila Bland conducted the business session. It was announced members Anne Harrington and Betty Thompson have completed the Certified Professional Secretary exam and will be awarded their certificates at a special ceremony in October.

Dr. Ragan Gives Talk

FARMVILLE - The Major Benjamin May Chapter DAR held its meeting Saturday here at the chapter house. Dr. Fred D. Ragan was keynote speaker.

He is chairman of the department of history at East Carolina University and his topic was "Constitutionalism, Then and Now." He was introduced by Mrs. Anthony Holland, program chairman.

Mrs. Elmer Flake, regent, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Ed J. Carter gave an ancestral sketch of James Outlaw. Mrs. John Lewis was named a new member.

Mrs. Ed Hales reported on an upcoming issue of the NSDAR Magazine entitled "The DAR Legacy."

Newspaper clippings on the chapter were displayed by Elizabeth Lang.

Meeting hostesses were Nancy Bradham, Mrs. Allen C. Gorden, Mrs. John Wilkinson and Mrs. Jesse A. Smith.

Summer Activities Reported At Meet

Reports of summer activities highlighted the fall meeting of the Greenville Service League held Monday at the East Branch Library. Mrs. Frank Layne, president, welcomed members and committee reports were given.

Mrs. J.H. Hudson, finance chairman, announced Mrs. Jack Whichard as chairman of the 1983 Charity Ball to be held Feb. 11. Mrs. Alfred Ferguson and Mrs. Edward Smith will organize the Service League Follies scheduled for May 14.

A memorial tribute written by Virginia Basnight in honor of the late Mrs. E.O. Parkinson, a member, was read by Mrs. J. Bryan Brown.

Mrs. Kelly Barnhill, Bloodmobile chairman, said 87 league members worked a total of 343 hours and collected 525 pints of blood during four summer visits. The Bloodmobile will be at Tyler Dormitory on the ECU campus Sept. 28.

Mrs. William McConnell said the hospital gift shop now has a mini-cart to help serve patients at Pitt Memorial Hospital. Jo Betts Barrett, emergency charity chairman, reported four calls received and answered during the summer. Mrs. Horton Rountree, Laughinghouse Hospital Fund chairman, answered three requests for assistance and received 41 memorial gifts.

Mrs. William Sneed reported for the lending chest and one layette was furnished according to Mrs. Norwood Whitehurst.

Mrs. C.W. Harvey Jr. said 400 flags were placed on patient trays July 4 at the hospital.

Cats Grow In Popularity

CHICAGO (UPI) - The country is definitely going to the cats.

With felines in 23 million American households, manufacturers are cashing in on their popularity with books about cats and cats' images on everything from calendars and greeting cards to kitchen, bed and bath linens.

Now a housewares manufacturer has introduced the Catillac - pun intended - of litter boxes. The covered unit has a built-in air cleaner designed to keep both the box and its surrounding area free from odors and airborne pollutants.

It uses the same replaceable filter as the manufacturer's other air cleaners and is expected to retail for about $34.

The Norelco product was among dozens of new ones introduced at the 77th semi-annual national housewares show in Chicago recently.

Rain Can Be Pool Hazard

STAMFORD, Conn. (UPI) - Heavy rainstorms can create a potential health hazard in backyard swimming pools, says a pool water scientist.

"Rain and wind carry algae spores and nutrients into pool water," says James Brennan, of the Olin Corp. This increases the possibility of algae problems, he says.

"While algae itself is not necessarily a health hazard, it does provide a breeding ground for harmful germs and bacteria."

Bacteria in swimming pools can cause skin and eye irritations, ear infections and other potentially serious ailments, Brennan adds.

He says pool water should be tested daily for chlorine content because algae and other debris blown into the pool cause chlorine levels to drop.

To correct this, Brennan recommends superchlorinating the water by adding a heavier than usual dose of chlorinator granules.

BEAU BRIDGES

Beau Bridges To Attend Reception

November has been named the March of Dimes month for the annual Mothers March campaign in the Coastal Plains Chapter.

Actor Beau Bridges, honorary chairman, will be here Thursday and Friday to kick-off the event. Mothers' March leaders from a 17-county area will be honored at a reception at Sweet Caroline's with Bridges and state poster child, Kristin Mertz.

The Mothers March, a 35 year old tradition of the March of Dimes, has helped to fund research, medical grants, hospital equipment, professional education and patient aid throughout the chapter area. Bridges, who starred in "Norma Rae" and "The Other Side of the Mountain," will also appear at Carolina East Mall Friday.

"We feel fortunate that Bridge is visiting the chapter to help promote the Mother's March and the March of Dimes."

For further information call the March of Dimes at 758-2542.

Dear Abby

He Doesn't Hear Wife's Nagging

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am considering leaving my husband after 47 years of marriage. It may sound foolish to you, but I just can't live with him any longer because he refuses to wear his hearing aid! He got one three years ago and says there's nothing wrong with it—that he can hear just fine without it.

Abby, he can't hear just fine without it. I have to repeat everything I say two and three times. (I have a strong voice and I don't mumble.) I know he hasn't heard me correctly half the time by his responses.

He's retired, and there are lots of things he could do with his time besides sit around and read. He doesn't exercise the way he should, he smokes too much, and I have to beg him to be a little more sociable—even with old friends. I hate to nag him but I love him—that's why I keep after him to stay active, keep fit, and try to be better company for me and other people. His health is fine, but he acts like an old man. Help me, Abby. I can't go on like this.

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: The problem may not be your husband's hearing, but your nagging. I know you "love" him and keep after him for his own good, but his refusal to wear the hearing aid could be his way of tuning you out.

Please be more understanding and less demanding. Quit nagging him, and accept the fact that one of the most precious rights a person has is the right to be left alone.

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced grandmother living on a fixed income. After my divorce, I left my friends and moved from Rhode Island to Southern California hoping to see more of my married daughter and her children. Judy (not her real name) is my only child and her children are my only grandchildren.

Shortly after I arrived, Judy made it clear that she did not want to be bothered with me. She said she'd see me on my birthday and Christmas, and the rest of the time she prefers to be with her friends.

I am not comfortable with these terms, but I have little choice. I've tried to tell Judy how I feel, but she doesn't seem to care.

What should I do?

SNUBBED IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR SNUBBED: There must be more to this than meets the nose. (It smells.) There are some unanswered questions: Did Judy encourage you to leave your friends and move out West? Or did you make that choice knowing your daughter didn't want to be bothered with you?

Would you be satisfied to remain in California on Judy's terms? (You can't force her to see any more of you than she desires.)

My heart aches for you, but if you want to remain in California, get busy and make new friends. Or go back East where you have old ones. The choice is yours.

DEAR ABBY: When I read in your column that a transvestite stole women's clothing because he was too embarrassed to buy feminine apparel from a salesperson, my heart ached for him.

I am a transvestite, and I have no trouble buying whatever I want, but there are a few rules to follow: Go shopping when the stores are not crowded. You'll find the clerks happy to wait on you. They'll even let you try things on. I've bought everything from lingerie to shoes to dresses with no problem. I even bought a bridal gown and went back for two fittings!

Be neat, clean, discreet, inconspicuous and quiet. Never go shopping to "look"—go only when you are in a position to buy, and you will be greeted with courtesy and open arms. LOVES TO SHOP IN SAN MARINO

Cents-Off Coupons Do Advertise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Cents-off coupons are the fastest growing form of food advertising in the United States, a government report says.

Their numbers rose from 10 billion in 1965 to 90 billion in 1980, according to the Economic Research Service of the USDA, and about 80 percent of U.S. households redeemed coupons in 1979.

The ERS study turned up no hard evidence that food prices would drop if coupons weren't issued—because manufacturers could change to other types of advertising.

Daily newspaper coupons account for more than half of all coupons distributed and about 40 percent of those redeemed, the study showed.

About 60 percent of the manufacturers and retailers coupons redeemed in food stores were for food—total value, about $900 million. Even so, coupons remain the smallest portion of all major food advertising, or less than 25 percent of what the manufacturers spent on TV and radio commercials and less than 50 percent of that spent on printed media or premium offers, such as trading stamps.

The ERS study also found only about one coupon is redeemed out of every 20 issued.

Manufacturers use coupons to introduce new products, build brand loyalty and ensure that price reductions are passed on to consumers.

Vandalism Raises Cost

Pitt County has a valuable service available in its sanitary waste disposal program.

The county owns some 13 transfer sites at various points about the county and operates a landfill which serves both the city and county systems. It is also a costly system, with the budget for this fiscal year coming to $857,133. For this the taxpayers get the operation of the landfill, purchase of equipment, construction and paving of transfer sites, and hauling of bulk containers.

Still it all adds up to providing an essential service for county and city residents and, if the system is operated efficiently, it is obviously worth the cost.

The cost could be lower, however. County Manager Reginald Gray says people put limbs and such in the containers, taking up large amounts of space and making the dumping of them difficult. Other people do worse. Lights have been shot out, signs taken or defaced. Drives and landscaping have been cut up by vehicles, and, perhaps worst of all, some — either accidentally or on purpose — set fire to the containers which cost $2,700 each.

Clearly respect for property which tax dollars has bought could mean a savings. Those who insist on causing wanton destruction are not likely to stop because of an appeal. The rest of us, however, can keep an eye out for vandalism. Reporting such occurrences to authorities could result in action — and it could save all of us who pay taxes some dollars.

Drive Deserves Our Support

East Carolina University is currently conducting a $1 million campaign to keep the athletic program growing.

Reports indicate the campaign is proceeding well, although there is some distance to go to meet the goal.

And why support the growth of the university's athletic program?

Well, major sports events are a type of entertainment, and having entertainment and things to do are part of making an area an attractive place to live.

East Carolina made it to the top division of collegiate football after years of driving. Major college football games are an outstanding pastime for the people of Eastern North Carolina. Thus the drive for the athletic funds deserves our support.

Hurts Politicians

By PAUL T. O'CONNOR
RALEIGH — The new health insurance plan enacted by the Legislature this year and set to go into effect on Oct. 1 may provide for better health care for state employees and teachers but it isn't likely to do anything for the health of the state's politicians.

Gov. Jim Hunt wounded himself with teachers and state employees earlier this month when he tried to shave benefits to avoid what he predicts will be an $11 million health plan shortfall. The Legislature provided $109 million to fund a plan analysts say will cost $120 million to operate.

But Hunt won't be the only politician who'll regret the day the new plan passed. Future governors may face future shortfalls and legislators can expect health plan headaches in the next session. Headaches also loom for the leadership of the largest state employees association.

Under the new self-insurance plan, the state pays the health costs of its employees. The Legislature must appropriate enough money at the beginning of the year to cover all the bills that will come in over the next 52 weeks. It will be up to the governor to assure that there's money left to pay the bills that arrive in week 52. If it doesn't appear that there will be, he'll either have to ask a special governing board to cut benefits or find new money to put in the plan.

Headache No. 1: Legislators looking for the teacher vote may find themselves providing more benefits than money. They can pick the most optimistic cost projections for the coming year and when the money runs short, it's the governor's political headache when he cuts the benefits.

Headache No. 2: The cost of the health plan will go up from $109 million this year to $169 million next. With revenues so tight, where will the Legislature find that money and money for a July 1, 1983, pay raise? By July, state workers will have foregone this year's merit raises and received only one 5 percent hike in three years.

Legislators have another headache on the horizon. They may get the blame for future funding shortfalls. Hunt didn't do a very good job of pointing the finger at the Legislature this year. But you can bet your deductible he or his successor won't make the same mistake next time.

Headache No. 3: Maybe the N.C. State Employees Association should have gone along with Hunt's plan. The plan is a great improvement over current coverage which pays only those room rates and doctor's fees in effect on Sept. 30, 1981, and leaving state workers liable for the rest — $2,000 for one state worker's hysterectomy. The new plan pays current charges. Hunt's benefit cut would have increased each state worker's maximum liability from $200 to $650.

The need to find $11 million for the health plan may lead to lay-offs, Hunt said. At the very least, it means $11 million less in the budget surplus Hunt's been trying to build for a 1983 budget pay raise. Hunt's lowered benefits would have reduced by $20 million, it is estimated, the cost of the program next year — down to maybe $149 million. This money might have gone for a pay raise, too. And, had Hunt's plan been carried through, a $91 yearly increase in the employee-paid portion of family coverage would not have been out in effect.

AIMING FOR THE BIG MEET IN NOVEMBER!

BY ART BUCHWALD

Your Vacation Is Over

"All right, for those of you who just got back from wherever you went, the vacation is over. For those of you who couldn't afford to go away, your vacation is over, too.

"This will be your fall and winter schedule: There will be TV football on Monday and Thursday nights and Saturday and Sunday afternoons right up until '60 Minutes,' which will be shown in its entirety at the completion of the games. The World Series will be available on alternate evenings. You are advised to consult the local paper for the time in your area.

"Women will be expected to shape up this fall by following either the Jane Fonda exercise method, or some other approved aerobic plan. I want strong, healthy bodies with tight muscles, flat tummies, thin thighs and no flabby buttocks sticking out.

"Because of cuts in funds, school semesters will be shorter and school vacations longer. Teachers will once again be underpaid, but they will be expected to do their jobs even if it means doubling up on their classes. No praying in school until we pass a constitutional amendment.

"Public services will be cut back as Reaganomics trickles down to the people. Sacrifices must be made to get the country's economic house in order, particularly in the urban areas where people are hurting the most. No more federal bailouts can be expected for cities or states that find themselves in financial trouble, except for the three-week period before the November elections. I don't want people on fixed incomes complaining because their money doesn't go as far as it used to. By fighting the cuts, they are only prolonging recession which caused by the big spenders in Congress. I expect people to tighten their belts, whether they do it because they can't afford to buy food or go on the Pritikin diet.

"Because of the herpes epidemic, promiscuous sex is out, and I will not permit anyone who engages in it to serve in the armed forces.

"In spite of what I promised you last spring, there is still no mortgage money available for housing, and I want everyone to stay where they are until the interest rates go down another three or four points, which will be unlikely in the foreseeable future.

"Heating and gas bills will go up, as well as telephone rates for local calls. So if you're between a rock and hard place you will have to choose between keeping warm, having hot water or calling someone you love.

"New automobiles of every size and shape will be plentiful, and I expect everyone to go out and look at them, even if they can't afford to buy one. The banks have informed me they cannot finance cars for the rest of this year until they get their loans paid back by Poland and Mexico.

"The good news is that the new fashions have just come out, and most of the clothes look as if they have been dragged out of the closet. So anything you wear will be in fashion, and no one will be able to tell if it is something just made by a designer or a garment you bought at Goodwill Industries.

"The bad news is that medical costs are going up, and if you get sick this winter you are advised to only go to your doctor for a second opinion.

"Thanks to the National Rifle Association and America's dairy farmers there are enough guns and butter to go around for everyone. Not everybody can afford butter, but you can always buy a gun and hold up someone who is eating it.

"We have a wonderful fall and winter prepared for all of you. There will be Columbus Day sales, Thanksgiving Day sales, not to mention 'going out of business' sales, which will take place every day in your favorite shopping mall.

"We want to make 1982 the best year ever, and we can't do it if you dwell on all the bad things that have happened so far. Remember, no matter how bad things get, we all have the Rose Bowl to look forward to January 1."

Shultz Calls No Retreat

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Secretary of State George Shultz, heading the brutality on the streets of Poland rather than world-weary advice from old friend Helmut Schmidt, has called a halt to the Reagan administration's retreat on anti-Soviet sanctions.

Nothing can be done now about reduction of punitive measures against European companies selling U.S.-licensed equipment to Moscow for the Siberian gas pipeline. Those reductions were put into effect by Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, without Shultz's prior knowledge or approval. But the secretary of state is determined to hold the line, insisting on new Western European financial and trade pressures against the Kremlin to end martial law in Poland.

Such a position was not expected from Shultz, who in the past condemned "light-switch diplomacy" that turns punishment and reward of the Soviets on and off. As both a free-market economist and corporation executive, Shultz was expected to align himself with the business-is-business school prevailing in London, Paris and Bonn.

Shultz heard that school's most articulate voice three weeks ago at the exclusive Bohemian Grove encampment in California. His guest (invited long before Shultz's appointment) was West German Chancellor Schmidt.

Schmidt bent Shultz's ear for hours on the stupidity of President Reagan's Polish crusade. He argued that Solidarity was washed up as a political force in Poland, that economic sanctions against Moscow were counterproductive and that relieving Poland's despair depended on support for Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski.

Shultz listened to Schmidt amidst the remote tranquility of Bohemian Grove. But deeply affected by the massive turnout of unarmed, peaceful demonstrators throughout Poland and their brutal handling by security guards, he is listening to Schmidt no longer. That points straight to hardened U.S. pressures on Western Europe and Japan to impose financial and trade sanctions on Moscow.

The conversion of Shultz from skeptic to supporter of Reagan's anti-Soviet sanctions was demonstrated to one aide Sept. 1. That was the day Don Regan reduced U.S. punishment of European companies selling U.S.-licensed compressors to Moscow.

Having just digested columns of newspaper stories from Poland, Shultz told his aide he was stunned by Regan's announcement (which reporters, including us, were led to believe Shultz himself had agreed to). Regan, as chairman of the administration's senior policymaking group dealing with the pipeline issue, could not be overruled. But we, along with officials inside the administration, were incorrect in reporting that this sounded general retreat.

There will be no future tendency toward gentle dealing with U.S. allies. Indeed, Shultz and other national security officials believe public opinion in Europe has turned toward the hard-line U.S. position as a result of the Aug. 31 events in Poland.

Shultz's conversion arms the president with a new ally: The State Department. His predecessor, Alexander Haig, and his Foreign Service aides, fought the president from the day last December when limited sanctions were imposed. That lined up State, Agriculture, Commerce and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

When the president overruled Haig on pipeline sanctions, there was widespread belief that the bureaucracy eventually would get its way against the president — a belief nurtured by the recent retreat. But Shultz has around him new officials who share his shock about the Polish situation.

One is Shultz's hand-picked deputy secretary, Kenneth Dam — no Foreign Service officer but, like Shultz, a University of Chicago conservative economist. Even more important is Dr. William Schneider, an under secretary newly-arrived from the Office of Management and Budget who is both an authentic Reaganite and an astute bureaucratic insider.

But it is George Shultz

Other Editors Say Room For Hope

(Washington Daily News)

We have been told that an effort again will be made in the North Carolina legislature to give some measure of relief to local school systems throughout the state.

It became evident two years ago in the regular legislative session that high interest rates made it inadvisable for the state to call a $600 million school bond issue to help secondary schools.

Now some are seeing a lowering of the interest rates to a point where such a $600 million school bond issue will be advisable. Of course the legislature on its own cannot create any $600 million school bond money. It can set up the machinery and the decision will be made by the voters of our state. There could be opposition and there well might be; but traditionally state voters approve school bond issues on a statewide basis.

Then there surely will be another effort made to add an extra cent to the sales tax levy in our state. Our sales tax presently is set at four cents, and if another cent should be added to bring the total to five cents, then at least part of the money generated there would be expected to go for school outlay.

Of course there is no sure bet involved. Neither a statewide bond issue nor an extra one cent in sales tax may succeed. But from what we are told, plans are already being made to enter the two bills in the regular legislative session which gets underway in January.

We read with interest that some other counties and some other school systems are facing similar pictures to the one we have here in Beaufort County and the City of Washington system. "Not enough money" seems to tell the story in a lot of places. Historically speaking, we never remember a time when government had all the money it wanted.

Looking at the word "if" in monetary terms, if a $600 million school bond issue should be approved in North Carolina, we should expect to get somewhere between five and six million dollars locally for our two school systems.

An extra one cents sales tax, if 40 percent of the money generated should go for school building purposes, perhaps in our area we ought to get a minimum of half a million dollars per year, we estimate.

What we really are saying is that there is some hope for some help. It is no where near a certainty — not even close now; but it could happen.

Usury Ceilings Go Up & Away-y-y

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
State usury ceilings limiting the amount of interest lenders can charge on different types of loans are gradually being eliminated in many areas, but the battle is far from over.

Voters in at least two states — Arkansas and Washington — will get their say on the issue on election day in November.

The changes in usury laws mean that WHERE you borrow is more important than ever. If your bank credit card is issued in Illinois, for example, there is no limit on the amount of interest the bank can charge on your unpaid balance. If it's issued in Arkansas, there's a 10 percent maximum. And there are almost as many variations of the rules as there are states.

The trend toward doing away with — or at least raising — the interest limits began a little more than two years ago. Market interest rates like the prime rate and the rate paid on large certificates of deposit and U.S. Treasury securities were rising sharply. De-regulation of the banking industry meant that lenders were free to pay higher interest to compete for deposits.

At the same time, however, state usury laws — most of them unchanged for decades — restricted the amount those same lenders could charge, particularly for things like consumer loans and mortgages. Credit became scarcer; mortgage money dried up.

In 1980, Congress passed legislation overriding state usury ceilings on home mortgages and some other categories of loans. States themselves started moving to change limits for interest on other loans. Some states, notably Delaware and South Dakota, abolished ceilings on most consumer loans and encouraged out-of-state banks to move their credit-card operations to take advantage of the new, more liberal regulations.

A November 1981 report by the National Consumer Finance Association, a trade group of loan companies, showed that more than half a dozen states have virtually no limits on the amount of interest that can be charged for revolving credit — the kind you get with Visa, MasterCard or most retail charge cards.

Lawmakers in the state of Washington, where the maximum interest on retail credit had been limited to 12 percent a year, approved a measure setting the ceiling at 4 percentage points above the rate on six-month U.S. Treasury bills.

Labor unions and consumer groups opposed the measure, however, and succeeded in placing an initiative on the November ballot to restore the 12 percent ceiling.

The situation is reversed in Arkansas. Bankers and other lenders are pushing for change through voter action. An amendment on the Nov. 2 ballot would repeal the state's 10 percent usury limit with a floating ceiling that could go up to a maximum of

Strength For Today

FINDING FORTUNE
"Fortune lies in the gutter," declared James Monroe, fifth president of the United States. "Anybody who takes the trouble to bend down can pick it up."

One may say, of course, that it was easy enough for James Monroe to make such a declaration. He was gifted, and came from a background of affluence and prominence. Twice he was elected governor of Virginia and represented the United States abroad on important diplomatic missions. He capped his career by two terms as president of the United States.

But history shows that more often than not those who have come to fame have not been the highly endowed, but are those of ordinary ability who take the trouble to bend down and pick up a fortune. Great service in the world is generally rendered by people who, above all, have energy, common sense, and a sacrificial spirit. As a purely practical matter, then, there is a great deal of truth in Monroe's statement about the easy availability of fortune. — Elisha Douglass

The federal picture remains almost as complicated as the state one.

A House panel rejected a proposal late last year that would have pre-empted all state usury ceilings. And a group of congressmen led by House majority leader Jim Wright of Texas told a banking subcommittee less than a month ago that there should be a national usury ceiling.

Opponents of usury ceilings argue that the limits often deny credit to those who need it most. They say lenders simply switch to more profitable types of loans. They also say that competition will help keep interest rates down, even if there is no legal ceiling.

Supporters of the ceilings disagree. U.S. Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., says removal of state usury laws would mean "the consumer will never get a fair chance." He says the proposal last year to eliminate the state ceilings would have legalized loan-sharking.

SHP Retirees...

"We feel that this organization will enable active and retired members to maintain a closer relationship and camaraderie, in addition to the patrol's benefiting from the long experience, knowledge and expertise of these former members," Gluchrist said.

Mitchell, one of 37 charter members of the Highway Patrol, was sworn in July 1, 1929, and wore badge No. 3. A Camden County native, Mitchell's first duty station was Washington. He was moved every 90 days until 1931, when he was promoted to sergeant.

He was promoted to captain in 1949 and assigned to Greenville, after serving as a lieutenant in Greensboro. Mitchell, with 37 years service, retired in 1966.

Boyd, who retired in 1970 after 39 years service, joined the patrol in 1931. A Gastonia native, Boyd was stationed in Monroe for 18 years as a trooper and corporal, then promoted to sergeant in 1950 and transferred to Rocky Mount. He was assigned to Greenville in 1952 as a technical sergeant, then later promoted to lieutenant.

A Wayne County native, Pate joined the patrol in 1948 and was assigned to Kinston until 1960 when he was transferred to Mount Airy as a corporal, then transferred to Whiteville. He was promoted to sergeant in 1967 and moved to Greenville. Pate, who retired in 1978, was promoted to lieutenant in 1970.

Whitfield, a Greenville native, retired from the patrol with 21 years service in 1963. He was stationed in Wilmington, Swan Quarter, Windsor and Rocky Mount as a trooper, then promoted to corporal in 1952 and transferred to Greenville. In 1958, he was promoted to sergeant and transferred to Rockingham and two years later transferred to Reidsville as district sergeant.

Rogers, a native of Lumberton, joined the patrol in 1956, and was stationed in Keanansville and Goldsboro until 1967 when he was promoted to sergeant and transferred to Williamston where he remained until he retired in 1976. Following his retirement, Rogers served as chief of police of Williamston until his election as sheriff of Martin County.

himself who has hardened for the policy, moved by the same events in Poland that led Bishop Ignacei Tokarczuk, preaching Sept. 5 in the Polish city of Czestochowa, to condemn "police brutality" and plead: "Brother, do not beat your brothers, do not hide behind orders."

Despite the communist press tirade against "moral abuse of priestly authority," the bishop's denunciation was broadcast over Vatican Radio. Even left-of-center European newspapers have editorialized against the outrage in Poland. It is the same spirit now felt on the seventh floor of the State Department.

The Voting...

Primary election results from 12 states and the District of Columbia nearly completed the political lineup for the 1982 elections. Hawaii holds a primary on Saturday and New York next week. Runoffs are scheduled for Sept. 21 in Oklahoma, Sept. 28 in Alabama and Oct. 5 in Florida.

The ouster of King ended a bitter Democratic Party fight during which Dukakis repeatedly labeled the incumbent as a "cheerleader for Reaganomics" while King countered by saying his rival's record in office had been marked by free spending and tax increases.

In his concession speech, King said his four years in office "resulted in the greatest governmental turnaround in Massachusetts history."

Calling his victory a repudiation of Reagan policies, Dukakis told a victory rally, "I hope it's a message not only across this state but also across the entire country."

The Republican nominee against Dukakis will be John Winthrop Sears, a former Boston city councilman.

With 92 percent of the precincts counted, Dukakis had 582,755 votes and King had 500,823.

After trailing Spannaus through the night in the Minnesota counting, Perpich surged into the lead on the strength of big margins in his home territory of the northern part of the state. Perpich, who lost the governorship to current incumbent Albert Quie in 1978, won despite Spannaus' big margin in campaign spending and support for Spannaus for the party organization, including former Vice President Walter Mondale.

With 4,012 of 4,067 precincts reporting, Perpich is in the lead with 262,792 votes to Spannaus' 242,048.

In Vermont, Stafford, 69, a 10-year Senate veteran, defeated two conservatives who said he was spending more time traveling around the world than he was tending to state concerns.

But the challenge fell short as the chairman of the Senate Environment and Public Works committee polled 45 percent of the vote to 34 percent for Stewart Ledbetter and 19 percent for John McLaughry, a former Reagan White House aide.

In Wisconsin, Zablocki, the chairman of the House Foreign Affairs committee, defeated Lynn Adelman with unexpected ease. Adelman criticized Zablocki for supporting President Reagan's 1981 tax cut bill and for backing the sale of AWACS radar planes to Saudi Arabia.

The 17-term congressman, who represents a heavily Democratic district in Milwaukee, led Adelman 50,593 to 33,529 with about 95 percent of the vote counted.

Minnesota voters shattered the comeback dream of former Senator and presidential candidate Eugene McCarthy. Mark Dayton, the heir to a department store fortune, easily defeated McCarthy in the Democratic Senate primary. Dayton will try to oust Republican Sen. David Durenberger.

Mayor Marion Barry Jr. of Washington turned back the Democratic primary challenge of Patricia Roberts Harris, who served as secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services during the Carter administration. His primary victory in the heavily Democratic District of Columbia assured Barry of a second four-year term as mayor of the capital city. E. Brooke Lee won the Republican nomination.

Grace...

Prince Rainier III was at his wife's bedside when she died, along with two of her children — Princess Caroline, 26, and Crown Prince Albert, 24, said Nadia Lacoste, who had been spokeswoman for Princess Grace.

Princess Stephanie, 17, received minor injuries in the car crash Monday and was under observation at the hospital named after her mother, palace officials said.

"The princess regained consciousness at some point before her death because she requested that if people were going to send flowers, they be small, simple flowers," Mrs. Lacoste said. "She also suggested that people might make donations to her favorite charities in lieu of flowers."

Mrs. Lacoste said she could not say if the princess was aware of her critical condition when she made the requests.

The princess died at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday (4:30 p.m. EDT). The palace said all possibilities of treatment had been exhausted by "late in the day."

The tiny principality on a rocky slice of the French Riviera immediately went into mourning when Grace's death was announced just before midnight.

In the casino that made Monaco famous in Edwardian times, roulette wheels were brought to a stop and the blackjack cards packed away. The floodlights were turned off and the doors quietly closed. Across Casino Square, the gaudy Gafe de Paris closed, as did all the restaurants, cafes, bars and nightspots. The usually lively streets were deserted.

Across the yacht-filled harbor, the usually floodlit royal palace stood in darkness overnight.

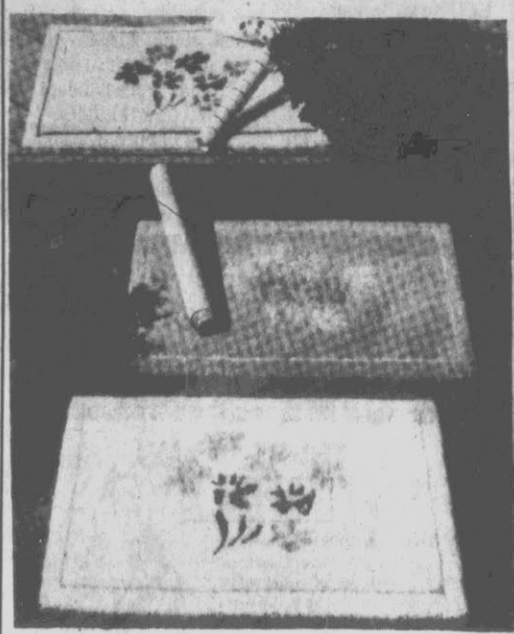

Tributes to the champagne-haired Philadelphia native began pouring in from the stars of her Hollywood past including President Reagan and Frank Sinatra.

Reagan praised her "character and elegance," saying in a statement from Washington that she was remembered as "a compassionate and gentle lady who had a deep and abiding affection for her adopted country and people."

Approve Sum's Use For Scholarships

ECU News Bureau
Directors of the Friends of the East Carolina University School of Music have approved the use of $2,000 by the school as freshmen scholarship awards for the 1982-83 academic year.

The designation, announced by Friends President Reid Hooper, enables the school of music to award "Friends" scholarships for the first time this fall. "The appropriation reflects the Friends' dedication to the continued quality and growth of our school of music," Dean Charles F. Schwartz said.

The Friends, an organization of 350 members, was chartered in the fall of 1981. The 11 scholarship recipients include voice students Elana Thompson of Morehead City and Amy West of Rocky Mount; percussionist Calvin Lane of Wilmington; violinist Coralie Patterson of Charlotte; French hornists Christine Fields of Harrisburg and Hugh Whaley of Maysville; oboist Frances Hudson of Miami, Fla.; cellist Mary Ann Prussing of Richmond, Va.; saxophonist Leo Shcutte of Chesapeake, Va.; string bassist Kurt Yanchenko of Burke, Va., and euphonium student Richard Tremmel of Marietta, Ga.

Rec Funds

Capital outlay funds are available for development of recreational facilities on Pitt County Board of Education properties, according to Alice Keene, coordinator of Pitt County Community Schools.
Any proposed facilities must be designed to serve the total community, she said. "Our projects to date have ranged from playground equipment to fencing for ballfields to a lighting system for a school auditorium," she noted.
"Each project has included a great deal of grassroots community involvement. We are pleased with this response and hope to continue this trend in the future," Ms. Keene said.

Arrest Man On Drug Charges

Kenneth Wayne Toler Jr., 26, of Winterville was arrested Saturday night by Greenville police and agents of the State Bureau of Investigation on charges of possession with intent to sell methaqualone. Chief Glenn Cannon said today.
Cannon said officers secured a search warrant for Toler's car, parked in a parking lot near the intersection of Fourth and Reade streets. During the 12:30 a.m. search, the chief said 33 methaqualone tablets were found under the dash of the vehicle.
Bond for Toler was set at $1,000 pending a court hearing of the case.

Moore Reunion Held Saturday

Gordon Moore was honored as the oldest living descendant of Warren Moore at the second reunion of the Warren Moore family held Saturday at Pictolus Elementary School.
More than 400 relatives and friends of the Moore family attended the reunion. Honored along with Gordon Moore as a family member in her 90s was Maggie Wilson. Family members in their 70s and 80s received pins and those in their 60s certificates.
The family has compiled notebooks on its history and has had T-shirts printed in honor of the family. Anyone wishing to obtain a book or a shirt may contact Vernestine Paige.

Rosh Hashanah Begins Friday

The Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashanah, begins Friday and will be celebrated in Greenville with High Holiday services Friday, Saturday and Sunday and Yom Kippur services Sept. 26 and 27 at the Synagogue Bayt Shalom.
There are 10 Days of Penitence, Aseres Y'Mei Teshuvah, between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.
The Rosh Hashanah services will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m.; Saturday at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. and Sunday at 10 a.m.
The Yom Kippur services will be held Sept. 26. at 7:15 p.m. and Sept. 27 at 10 a.m.

3 Collisions On Tuesday

An estimated $5,750 property damage resulted from three traffic collisions investigated by Greenville police Tuesday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted when trucks driven by Arthur Benjamin Mayo of Kinston and Calbert Curtis Roebuck of Route 5, Greenville, collided about 11:35 a.m. on Greenville Boulevard at the Sherwood Drive intersection, causing an estimated $3,500 damage to the Mayo truck and $100 damage to the Roebuck vehicle.

Police said both Mayo and Roebuck were injured in the collision.

Cars driven by Phillip Wayne Hull of Route 6, Winterville, and Elijah Brown of 300 Elizabeth St. collided about 5 p.m. at the intersection of Third and Latham streets.

Damage from the mishap was set at $1,500 to the Hull car and $50 to the Brown auto.

Investigators said an estimated $500 damage resulted to a vehicle driven by Hubert Kermit Leggett of 2008 Fern Drive when it collided with a highway sign about 9 a.m. on Memorial Drive, two-tenths of a mile south of the Mall Drive intersection.

Damage to the sign was placed at $50.

Library Bd. To Meet Sept. 21

The Sheppard Memorial Library Board of Trustees will hold its regularly scheduled meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 21 at the East Branch Library, 2000 Cedar Lane. The first order of business will be a public hearing to allow East Branch patrons an opportunity to offer comments and suggestions on library service. The regular business meeting of the trustees will follow the public hearing.

Named UPI Executive

NEW YORK (AP) — William J. Small, a broadcast news executive who held top posts at NBC News and CBS News, will take over as president and chief operating officer of United Press International.

In a statement released Tuesday by the news agency, Small said he was "honored to have been chosen" for the job.

"I am confident that under its new ownership, there is the will and the ability to provide a service to newspapers and broadcasters we can all view with pride and confidence," he said.

Small, 55, replaces Roderick W. Beaton, who retired Sept. 1 after 10 years as UPI president.

UPI, which has been losing money for a decade and reportedly had a deficit of $10 million in 1980, was sold in June for an undisclosed price by E.W. Scripps Co. to Media News Corp., a privately owned company based in Nashville, Tenn.

The principals of Media News are UPI Managing Director Douglas Ruhe, Cordell J. Overgaard, William Geissler and Len R. Small, vice president of Small Newspapers and no relation to the new UPI chief.

Describing Small as "a first-class newsman and a news executive of scope and imagination," Ruhe said Small would be responsible for all UPI's operations.

UPI, which employs 2,000 people and serves more than 7,000 news organizations, is the second-largest news agency in the United States after The Associated Press.

Separated From Gorilla Mother

DALLAS (AP) — A rare, lowland gorilla has been separated from its mother at the Dallas Zoo because she has a "checked history" with offspring, zoo officials say.

The 5-pound, 10-ounce baby, born at 7:10 a.m. Monday, was placed "under medical wraps" about four hours later and was doing well on Tuesday, said zoo spokesman Bill Stewart.

The mother, Shamba, "has kind of a checked history as a mother," Stewart said. "She's done fine sometimes, and then sometimes she does fine for a while and then just kind of loses interest."

There are only about 8,500 wild lowland gorillas in Africa and about 500 in zoos worldwide, he said.

MEETING BREZHNEV MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev today opened talks with South Yemeni President Ali Nasser Mohammed, Tass reported, but gave no other details.

Episcopalians Propose Warrior To Be Saint

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An Indian leader who led battles against white settlers before converting to Christianity has been proposed for sainthood in the Episcopal Church.

The church's governing convention on Tuesday asked its liturgical commission to include the onetime Cheyenne warrior "Oakerhater" on the church's calendar of saints, with Sept. 1 to be designated as the day for services honoring him.

The Indian was converted in 1879 and baptized David Pendleton Oakerhater. Afterward, he led most of his tribe to Christianity.

Delegates to the 11-day convention, which ends today, also called for special efforts to "alleviate the pain, suffering, disease and malnutrition which Indians are suffering" on reservations, where the unemployment rate is 89.9 percent, the resolution said.

The resolution directed the church to press the government to initiate programs to provide Indians with jobs.

"They are proud people and want to work," said delegate William Harris of Pierre, S.D.

In other action Tuesday, representatives of the 3 million-member denomination:

—Declared they "strongly condemn" abortion when the only purpose is to select the sex of a child or because "trivial abnormalities" are found in the fetus before birth.

—Promised church support to medical personnel who suffer discrimination because they refuse to participate in abortions, or because they do participate.

—Disavowed the "rigid dogmatism of the creationist movement," but affirmed "belief in the glorious ability of God to create in any manner." (Creationists maintain that God created the world suddenly, while evolutionists believe that forms of life developed slowly.)

—Urged the United States to end military aid to "any of the factions" involved in the conflict in El Salvador.

—Revised church canons to clarify procedures for a bishop to deal with a priest who disobeys pastoral direction while assuring due process for both.

—Approved medical uses of marijuana, but warned that it can be permanently damaging to smokers.

—Added the title "primate" to the church's presiding bishop, now to be known as "chief pastor and primate." The title is used in many national churches of the worldwide Anglican communion.

—Gave church sanction to "in vitro" fertilization, which can allow an otherwise childless couple to become parents when the woman's egg is fertilized by the man's sperm outside the womb, then reimplanted.

Hunt Urges Effort To Reduce School Dropouts

By MARY ANNE RHYNE
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt has urged state Department of Public Instruction workers to make reduction of the school dropout rate their "burning passion."

"We need to get young people to be in school whenever it is best for them. Let's adjust ourselves to them," Hunt said. "We want to help every child graduate from our schools."

"Let's make it a burning passion within us to get the dropout rate down," Hunt said at the department's annual staff meeting Tuesday. "Our dropout rate is still tragically high."

Expanding the extended-day program could help lower the dropout rate, Hunt said. About 80 of the 143 school systems now offer classes at non-traditional times for students who also must work.

The governor praised the department for helping school children learn to read and count better. Hunt also voiced his support for the state's eight regional education centers, one of which is in Williamston, and the addition of a writing exam to the state competency test now under consideration by the state testing commission.

He called on the state workers not to let a freeze of their salaries make them pessimistic.

"You have a pay freeze but you have jobs. One out of 10 North Carolinians does not," he said.

The General Assembly froze state workers' salaries this summer because of unexpected revenue shortfalls.

Hunt said he would like to see a writing exam added first to annual achievement tests and then to competency tests.

C.D. Spangler of Charlotte, the new chairman of the state Board of Education, made his first appearance before department workers. He said he knew he would face problems with teacher salaries, competency tests and student discipline — ongoing problems he said may never be solved.

Spangler did not take a stand on any issue in his speech but promised to not "call the plays for you who are doing your work so well."

Hunt said it "makes sense" to have the regional education centers despite objections from some state lawmakers about their costs.

"If there's anything we've learned today it's that you don't centralize everything in Washington and the same thing applies to the state capitals," the governor said.

The centers are designed to provide expert assistance in such areas as child nutrition, handicapped and gifted children, testing and vocational education.

The state budgeted $5.6 million, in federal and state funds, in 1981-82 for the eight centers.

House Demos Draft Own Balanced Budget Bill

Honor Services Of School Counselor

AYDEN — Annie Marable Brown, guidance counselor at D.H. Conley High School, was honored at a dinner recently for her service to Pitt County.

Around 150 persons attended the event, planned by a group of Mrs. Brown's former students, which recognized the guidance counselor for her "outstanding humanitarian and volunteer services."

ANNIE MARABLE BROWN

Mrs. Brown was presented with a plaque from a group of Ayden citizens honoring her for 23 years of service to the town and Pitt County. In addition, presentations were made by the U.S. Navy Recruiting Command, the U.S. Army District Recruiting Command and the Les Gaylemettes Civic Club.

Among those honoring Mrs. Brown were Ayden Mayor Ross Persinger; Gaston Monk, principal of Ayden Middle School; Bernard Haselrig, director of federal programs for Pitt County Schools; D.D. Garrett, president of the Pitt County NAACP; J.J. Brown, mayor pro-tem of Ayden; Don Russell, Ayden town manager and John W. Maye Jr., first vice president of the National A&T State University Alumni Association.

Mrs. Brown was recognized for her involvement in the Ayden Housing Project, the Ayden Youth Employment Service, the Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps at Conley, the Pitt County Involvement Council, the North Carolina Status of Women and the A&T State University Alumni Association.

In addition, she was honored for her 20 years of volunteer service in civil rights and her guidance to students.

By DAVID ESPO Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats, hoping to neutralize a Republican campaign issue, are drafting legislation that would encourage but not require a balanced federal budget.

"I don't think you can overlook the balanced budget movement," Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., said Tuesday as details of the Democratic proposal surfaced.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

Variable cloudiness and cooler Friday through Sunday with a few showers on Saturday. Highs in 70s and lows in 60s Friday, cooling to the 50s Sunday morning.

The measure calls on the president to submit a balanced budget to Congress each year, and requires the budget committees of both houses to submit a balanced budget to the floor.

But both the president and the committees may submit second, unbalanced budgets as well, and there is no requirement for the two houses of Congress to approve a balanced budget.

In contrast, a proposed constitutional amendment endorsed by President Reagan and approved by the GOP-controlled Senate requires a balanced budget, barring national security needs or a three-fifths vote by both houses of Congress. That proposal is now bottled up in the House Judiciary Committee. Reagan is expected to make major use of the proposed amendment in his campaigning this fall on behalf of Republican congressional candidates.

But Jones and Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., the House Democratic Whip, declared in a recent letter to their Democratic colleagues:

"What is needed is not more politically attractive language calling on Congress to balance the budget...What is needed is a coherent procedure to insure that Congress can enforce the spending and taxing decisions that we make."

Foley and Jones are part of a task force appointed by House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass. to consider alternatives to the GOP-inspired constitutional amendment. While there are several draft bills circulating in the House, officials said it was uncertain Democrats would even introduce the legislation this year.

They said O'Neill appointed the task force when Republicans threatened to break the constitutional amendment loose from the Judiciary Committee. That drive now appears stalled short of its goal.

Even so, officials said Democrats were hoping to develop a "standard" for party candidates to rally around in the fall campaign.

These officials said several points are common to all the draft bills being reviewed:

—The president would have to send a balanced budget to Congress each year, although he also could submit a second budget, this one including a deficit, along with an explanation.

—The House and Senate Budget Committees would have to forward a balanced budget to the floor each year. But the committees also could send an accompanying budget — with a deficit — to the floor.

—The budget committees would be guided by spending priorities in deciding how to balance the budget. Money for social insurance, including Social Security, defense and the national debt would be provided first. Grants to other levels of government would be cut before other programs. Cities, counties and states can raise taxes on their own to make up for lost federal aid.

—The budget committees would be required to produce budget plans in which federal spending would decline as a percentage of the nation's economy.

—Once Congress adopts spending and tax targets in the budget, a three-fifths majority of both houses would be required to override it. Under current law, a simple majority vote suffices.

—The budget committees, the administration, the Federal Reserve and the Congressional Budget Office would be required to agree on economic assumptions that are important for determining the size and shape of the budget. Budget debates the past several years have been marked by sharp disagreement over economic assumptions used by all sides.

BLOODMOBILE DRIVE CONTINUES IN COUNTY — The Pitt County Bloodmobile collected 155 pints of blood in Greenville Tuesday, according to Red Cross spokeswoman Ruth Taylor. She said there were 18 deferrals. Mrs. Taylor said the quota is down slightly and the demand is great. The next

How Tar Heel Representatives And Senators Voted

Roll Call Report Service
WASHINGTON — Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes during the week ending Sept. 10.

HAZARDOUS WASTE — By a vote of 148 for and 183 against, the House rejected an amendment that would have continued the exemption of most small businesses, hospitals and schools from the law regulating the disposal of hazardous wastes. The means that, if the Senate goes along with the House, concerns that generate up to 2,200 pounds of waste per month will no longer be permitted to send their waste to town dumps and other landfills where leakage threatens groundwater. These small generators will, like those generating more than 2,200 pounds monthly, be required to use secure, federally approved disposal sites.

The amendment was proposed to HR 6307, a bill extending and strengthening the 1976 Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. The bill was passed and sent to the Senate.

Supporter Thomas Bliley, R-Va., said it was necessary to continue the exemption to prevent "a bludgeon approach against untold numbers of small businesses and schools to solve a problem the magnitude of which we are not certain..."

Opponent James Florio, D-N.J., said that even though small concerns produce much less waste than large industrial operations, "We are still talking about billions of pounds of hazardous wastes potentially put into our drinking water supplies."

Members voting "yea" wanted to continue to exempt laundries, schools and other small generators from stringent federal regulation of their waste disposal, and to have the EPA further study the problem.

Reps. Walter Jones, D-1, L.H. Fountain, D-2, Charles Whitley, D-3, Eugene Johnston, R-6, W.G. Hefner, D-8, James Martin, R-9, and James Broyhill, R-10, voted "yea."

Reps. Ike Andrews, D-4, Stephen Neal, D-5, and Charles Rose, D-7, voted "nay."

Rep. William Hendon, R-11, did not vote.

COMMON LAW — The

House rejected, 85 for and 255 against, an amendment to the hazardous waste bill (see preceding vote) that sought to restrict the latitude of federal judges in cases involving hazardous wastes. The amendment attempted to delete language in the bill empowering federal judge's interpretation of common law in addition to the 1976 federal law.

Opponent James Florio, D-N.J., said "the use of federal common law of nuisance is especially essential in interstate pollution cases where state principles probably would not apply."

Members voting "nay" wanted federal judges to have the broadest possible authority to decide cases brought against those who pollute by disposing of hazardous wastes.

Johnston and Broyhill voted "yea."

Jones, Fountain, Whitley, Andrews, Neal, Rose, Hefner and Martin voted "nay."

Hendon did not vote.

VETO OVERRIDE — By a vote of 301 for and 117 against, the House overrode President Reagan's veto of a $14.2 billion appropriations bill, marking the first time in the Regan presidency it has beaten his veto of a spending bill. The issue went to the Senate (see vote below).

The bill, covering the few weeks remaining in fiscal 1982, contained more than $1 billion than Reagan wanted for various social programs and $2 billion less than he wanted for defense. Among politically-sensitive domestic programs it would fund are community service jobs for the elderly, college grants for poor students, and education aid for poor and handicapped children. Nearly half of the outlay — $6.2 billion — would pay salaries for federal workers.

Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass, who supported the override, called Reagan a "man with a heart of stone" and he said "this bill is not, as the president claims, a budget buster."

Reagan, in his veto message, said the bill typified Congress' "old, spendthrift habits" and that "it will undermine the confidence crucial to continued reductions in deficits and interest rates which we must achieve for sustained economic growth."

Members voting "yea" favored overriding the presidential veto passing the $14.2 billion spending bill.

Jones, Fountain, Whitley, Andrews, Neal, Rose, Hefner and Hendon voted "yea."

Johnston, Fountain and Broyhill voted "nay."

SENATE SPENDING VETO — By a vote of 60 for and 30 against, the Senate joined the House in overriding President Reagan's veto of a $14.2 billion appropriations bill (HR 6863) for 1982 (see House vote). The vote provided exactly the two-thirds majority needed to override the veto and enact the bill into law.

Senators voting "yea" opposed the president's claim that the bill was too expensive.

Sens. John East, R, and Jesse Helms, R, voted "nay."

Queen Plans

Calif. Visit

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth will be making her first visit to California when she and her husband, Prince Philip, travel to America next spring.

A spokesman for Buckingham Palace announced plans by the monarch for a 10-day "official visit" to the United States, including the West Coast, from Feb. 26 to March 7. The queen accepted a standing invitation from President and Nancy Reagan for a U.S. visit.

The palace on Tuesday said the queen probably will visit Los Angeles and San Francisco.

However, the announcement made no mention whether she would visit the Western White House at the Reagan ranch near Santa Barbara.

Reagan and his wife stayed with the queen at Windsor Castle in June on the president's trip to Britain to address both Houses of Parliament. The president at that time went horseback riding with Elizabeth in Windsor Great Park.

The palace also said the queen and Prince Philip would visit Jamaica and the Cayman Islands just before arriving in the United States.

Arafat Says Israel Bears The Blame

ROME (AP) — PLO chief Yasser Arafat today blamed Israel for the killing of Lebanon's president-elect, and said the Israeli move into west Beirut broke the U.S.-negotiated agreement for withdrawal of Palestinian guerrilla fighters.

Arriving in Rome on a major diplomatic initiative that includes a long-sought meeting with Pope John Paul II, Arafat said Bashir Gemayel's assassination was "the continuation of the Israeli plan against Palestinian and Lebanese people, particularly Lebanese people."

After a brief welcoming ceremony under extraordinary security at Ciampino military airport, the Palestine Liberation Organization leader held a news conference in a waiting room packed with Arab diplomats and supporters.

Speaking in Arabic, Arafat said Gemayel's killing was "an attempt to strike at Lebanese reconciliation and to offer a justification for the continuation of the Israeli occupation of Lebanon."

Israel has claimed the PLO was tied to the Gemayel assassination.

No group claimed responsibility for the Tuesday blast, but rightist Christians and leftist Moslems allied with the PLO have been fighting in Lebanon for years and the assassination pointed to another bloodbath.

Referring to news that Israeli troops entered Moslem west Beirut hours after the Gemayel's assassination, Arafat said the move violated the agreement that led to withdrawal of PLO forces from the city two weeks ago.

"We had this agreement through the Lebanese gov-

"HAM WATCH" INAUGURATED AT MEETING — Area amateur radio operators at the monthly meeting of the Brightleaf Amateur Radio Club Tuesday night heard state officials describe the newly formed "Ham Watch" program originated by Greenville amateur operator Bob Sickles. The program will be presented across the state, starting in Greenville. Present at the meeting were, left to right, Lt. C. E. Warren, Greenville Police Department; L.D. Hyde, director of the state division of crime prevention; Bob Sickles (W4RGF), originator of the program, and Sgt. Floyd Owens (WB4TWF) of Washington, the Highway Patrol. North Carolina has about 9,000 licensed amateur radio operators that will be asked to report emergencies and potential emergencies via amateur radio VHF repeaters. Sickles said the program has been well received by state officials and that other states have contacted North Carolina officials for details of the program. Each amateur club participating in the program will receive specific training. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest) ernment and through Mr. Philip Habib," he said, referring to the U.S. presidential envoy who negotiated the evacuation arrangement.

The Vatican said, meanwhile, that Gemayel's assassination prompted "deep sorrow and consternation."

"Gemayel was the president-elect of a country to which the Holy See feels very close," said deputy press spokesman the Rev. Pierfranco Pastore. "We cannot furthermore overlook the fact that the inhumane and atrocious death ... has occurred at a very delicate time both for the country's international situation and for the general."

No representatives of the Italian government were at airport, ringed with police sharpshooters as Arafat's special Royal Air Maroc Boeing 727 landed.

But 20 ambassadors from Arab and Third World countries greeted Arafat. Also there was Greek Catholic Archbishop Hilarion Capudji, a Syrian-born prelate who spent three years in an Israeli prison for smuggling guns to Palestinians.

Arafat was dressed in olive-drab fatigues and a black and white checkered kaffiyeh, or headress. The barrel of a pistol poked out from beneath his jacket.

Communist Sen. Paolo Bufalini, vice chairman of the Italian delegation in an international meeting which invited Arafat to Italy, welcomed the Palestinian leader saying "Brother, it is no secret that we are deeply moved and touched by having you here."

"I am very grateful to be here because this (welcome) is coming from the heart to touch my heart," Arafat replied in English. "This message is from a friendly country, from the people of this friendly country who are very near to my people."

Arafat's papal audience drew sharp and emotional objections from Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who argued it will give the PLO political legitimacy at a time when its power is waning.

Cable Rate Hike In Williamston

WILLIAMSTON — A Cablevision rate hike of $2 per month has been authorized by members of the Williamston Town Board of Commissioners. The commissioners approved the increase at its September meeting Monday night.

The $2 increase, the second to be granted since the initial installation of Cablevision in Williamston, takes the monthly rate up to $9.50. Some minor increases were also approved for connection fees and service calls.

Cablevision manager Billy Travis explained that future plans call for a basic service to consist of channels 2-13 except for channel 8, which is not included as it carries the movie channel. An agreement was also reached to carry a 24-hours news service network at a future date.

In other matters, Administrative Assistant John Boykin reported that $2,247 remains on hand for the town to use in community development matters.

Reception For Two Retirees

BETHEL — Dr. Eddie West, superintendent of Pitt County schools, and Betty Speir of Bethel were honored at a reception Monday night given by the parent-teacher organization at Bethel Elementary School.

The reception was one of several events held during the Bethel school's open house, which was attended by around 155 parents.

In addition to the open house, the PTP held its organization meeting and approved fund-raising activities for the 1982-83 school year. The organization chose the theme of "Pride In School" for the school year. A kick-off day emphasizing this theme will be held in October.

Fall for the fun of it.

Dear Utility Customer,

You do not have to be "shocked" this winter when you receive your utility bill! Call me about our Budget Billing Program.

Budget Billing is designed to spread out the cost of electricity or natural gas over a 12 month period. Those who use electricity or natural gas as their primary heating source, know that bills can be very high during the winter months. Budget billing eliminates these "Peak Bills" and spreads out the payments.

Budget Billing is also very beneficial for those on a fixed or limited income. Knowing what your utility bill is going to be each month does help in preparing that monthly household budget.

If you are interested, please write me, c/o The Greenville Utilities Commission, PO Box 1847, Greenville N.C. 27834, or give me a call at 752-7166 Ext. 219.

I will be very happy to discuss Budget Billing with you in more detail and help you to determine if the program will benefit you.

Sincerely,
George Reel

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today amid some uncertainty about prospects for a recovery from the recession.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 1.01 to 922.00 in the first half hour.

But gainers led a 3-2 lead over losers in the early tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The market has rallied sharply since mid-August, responding to hopes that declining interest rates would help induce a rebound in economic activity in the months ahead.

But some economists have warned that the timing of such a recovery remains uncertain, and that in its early stages it is likely to be modest at best.

This morning the government reported that industrial production dropped 0.5 percent last month.

Today's early prices included Sony, up 1/4 at 13; Halliburton, up 1/4 at 27 1/2, and American Telephone & Telegraph, down 1/4 at 56 1/4.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 4.32 to 923.01, on top of an 11.87 gain Monday.

Advances outpaced declines by about 2 to 1 on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totaled 83.07 million shares, against 59.52 million in the previous week.

The NYSE's composite index gained .54 to 70.57.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 3.15 at 284.82.

Utility Board...

plant here are complete and have been presented to the GUC staff for detailed review. Horne said state and federal aid to build the facility remains a question mark.

Jim Brown, representing Olsen Associates Inc., said that if the new facility was in the bidding phase at this time, total costs would run about $9.4 million. He said the figure includes $7.7 million for the actual plant and $1.7 million for a pumping station and lines, with a 10 percent contingency allowance included.

Horne said that while there has been talk relative to a reduction in the federal share of 75 percent of project costs, GUC has no real local participation figure to go on other than 12.5 percent as originally expected.

Following review of the plans by GUC officials, the project will be forwarded to the state for technical review and then hopefully approval will be given, contingent upon fund availability.

Brown said that in view of funding options, it is conceivable Greenville Utilities might consider building part of the new facility to handle about one-third of the plant's eventual capacity. In the event the plant is built in phases, GUC would continue to operate the old treatment plant until the new facility is completed.

Horne said he figured it would probably cost about one half of the projected project total to build a phase that would have one third capacity.

In a related item, commissioners endorsed a resolution approving exchange of land between GUC and Worthington Farms Inc. that will allow GUC access across property to discharge water into the river.

Malcolm Green, superintendent of GUC's electric department, discussed the operation of the load management system to reduce the electrical peak load during August, by cutting off residential hot water heaters and air conditioning units.

Green said the load management system was utilized for the fifth time this summer and on the peak day, which occurred on Aug. 24, a demand reduction of 10.5 megawatts was realized.

The spokesman said the first two-hour test of a pilot program for reducing the peak electric demand for bulk tobacco barns was conducted at 15 locations involving 100 barns. Green said an overall demand reduction of 40 percent was recorded during the test period with no damage resulting to the curing tobacco.

According to Green, the test confirmed that GUC can pick a time and reduce demand by 40 percent without affecting the contents of the barns. He added that there are about 2,500 bulk barns on the local system and some 41,000 bulk units in the state.

Horne informed commissioners that the refund Greenville received late last fall from Veeco from a 1978 rate case settlement was partially refunded to customers during January, February and March. The balance was scheduled to be refunded through August and September billings, he said.

Green said a price has been agreed upon relative to the purchase of the Veeco substation off Meadowbrook Road and public hearings have been held. He said Veeco does not anticipate that FERC approval of the sale will be given before Oct. 1. When GUC assumes ownership of the substation, no further transmission charges will be paid to Veeco.

John Ferren, secretary, reported that planning maps detailing a proposed rural water system were discussed with the county planning commission and the project was presented in general terms to the City Council at a workshop. Ferren said the staff still intends to meet with the city planning board and again with the council to talk about the extension of rural service lines.

Horne pointed out that the municipal power agency closed with CP&L for another 16 percent of the planned ownership interest in CP&L generating units, bringing the agency up to 50 percent of planned purchases.

He said another closing around the end of the month would bring total undivided ownership interest in the generating units to almost 70 percent of the original purchase plan.

Commissioners gave their approval to a request for satellite annexation into the city's corporate limits of the proposed water filtration plant site. The property, which is not contiguous to the city limits, is located north of the Tar River and west of the airport.

Several bids were awarded by the board, including:

- Hesco Inc. ($26,970) for padmount transformers;
- Ditch Witch of North Carolina Inc. ($13,350.34) for a trencher with boring attachment for the electric department;
- Ditch Witch ($12,250) for a trencher with backhoe for the gas department; and
- American Meter Division of Singer Inc. ($16,085.60) for a solid state automatic gas prover.

Plan Move To New Martin Courthouse

WILLIAMSTON — Martin County Commissioners have agreed to move the county's communications center to the new courthouse when the building is completed.

Commissioners voted unanimously this week to provide the Williamston Town Board a letter of intent to move the center and also to purchase a new digitized alarm system. Commissioners also agreed to take over the communication system's cost and operation when it is moved to the new courthouse location.

Discussion on whether to attempt to move the existing system from its present site in the Williamston Town Hall to the courthouse was also discussed. Commissioner A.C. Bailey said he feels it will be more feasible to purchase a new system rather than attempt to move the old system. He said the old system could be retained as a backup to the new equipment.

Commissioners agreed to study costs involved in purchase of new equipment before coming to a decision on which route to take.

Approval was given to Martin Community College to transfer $5,984 in funds left over from a roofing project. The funds will be transferred to a line item for payment of the college's portion of the costs of construction of a new shipping and receiving building now under construction.

A request by Leon Allen that the board consider permitting the Martin County Extension Service to have use of the entire Agricultural Building when county offices are relocated in the new courthouse was presented to the board.

Commissioners did not take action on the request, but asked Allen to present a formal proposal to commissioners for action at a later date.

Another matter the board agreed to consider is a request that two more offices for doctors be authorized for construction at Martin General Hospital. Hospital Administrator Warren Goff said the proposed additional offices are needed to meet current local needs. Other spokesmen for the request expressed a fear the hospital would not be able to keep doctors recruited to the area unless better office facilities are provided.

Weigh Moving Ballfield Site

WILLIAMSTON — Members of the Martin County School Board have expressed concern over a proposal to shift the site of the proposed softball field to be constructed at Williamston High School.

Charlie Mills, affiliated with the Williamston High School athletic program, has suggested that over $3,000 in the expense of moving dirt can be saved if the original position of the field is altered.

School board members fear that changing the site might create a conflict with nearby homeowners. Board members are to visit the site and to take the matter up again at the October meeting.

In other actions, the school board approved hiring a number of new employees, accepted a few resignations, and considered a student request to attend a school outside the school district of his legal residence.

The board also agreed to look into the best possible means of investing school funds in order to realize the highest returns on invested funds.

ECU Coach Emory Just Can't Get 'No Respect'

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Ed Emory might be excused if he starts jerking at the knot on his tie, shaking his head and doing a Rodney Dangerfield imitation. "I just don't get no respect," he told the Greenville Sports Club yesterday. "I got no respect from the officials, from Monte Kiffin and from the State football team," he continued with a laugh. "In fact, right after the game, one of the television people took me outside the locker room for an interview. He took me down to the goal posts and I just stepped back with one foot onto the field without thinking. "Hey, buddy, some guy in red hollared at me, 'get off the field.'"

Wall pushed off on Gerald Sykes when catching an earlier 16-yard touchdown pass. (Wall was quoted in Monday's Raleigh Times as saying, "Maybe I did push him a little.") "We also made some coaching mistakes, like not going for one point instead of two when it was 21-18," Emory said. "That was a miscommunication problem. We go by a chart as to what to go for depending on the game conditions, and our chart said kick, but (the coach calling the play) misread the chart and called for two. We could have called a time out and gotten it straightened out, but we'd rather safe those time outs until late in the game."

Emory did feel that the Pirates should be allowed a split crew for the game, however. A full Atlantic Coast Conference crew called the game — as they have all previous games with State and other ACC teams. "You can bet when the ACC goes on the road against someone outside the conference, they get a split crew."

"Our offensive line played well, and our fullbacks, (Please turn to page 19)

Chargers Go For Victory No. 3

Farmville Meets D.H. Conley; Panthers Battle West Craven

By RICK SCOPPE
Reflector Sports Writer
Ayden-Grifton goes for its third straight win Friday evening, but already A-G coach Dixon Sauls has reached uncharted depths with the Chargers' previous two victories. Sauls, in his sixth year as head coach at Ayden-Grifton, has never had a team win its opening two games. Never, that is, until this season. And the two wins have only served to further the confidence the Chargers gained a year ago when they reached the eastern 3-A state finals. "I feel the team has gained some confidence (with each outing)," Sauls said. "We looked at the three postseason games last year as pre-season for this year and we've built on last year's success." Ayden-Grifton, which plays host to nonconference foe North Lenoir Friday, has won 12 of its last 14 games and are looking stronger as each week goes by. The Chargers opened its 1982 Eastern Carolina Conference schedule last week with a 24-6 win over Farmville Central. Ayden-Grifton used a hard-hitting, swarming defense to hold Farmville Central to a mere 69 yards total offense. The Chargers gave up 133 yards total offense in their opening-season 27-7 win over Roanoke. Thus, in two games the Charger defense has surrendered just 13 points and 202 yards total offense. "We played with a lot of intensity on defense against (Farmville Central)," Sauls said. "We executed our defense extremely well except for two or three plays. "We think for the most part we've been able to accomplish what we've set out to do (on defense) in the first two ballgames," he said. "We may be a little ahead of where we had hoped." The Chargers' next foe is North Lenoir, a team A-G beat 35-0 a year ago. But, Sauls knows this is another season and a different team. "North Lenoir has the most talented overall team we've faced so far," Sauls said. The Hawks, who run a slot-I offense and a six-man front on defense, are 1-1-0 this season, having lost to South Lenoir, 36-22, and defeating Greene Central, 14-13, last week. "They are primarily a running team and they have tremendous size on both the offensive and defensive lines," Sauls said. In other games Friday, D.H. Conley (0-2-1, 0-0) is at Farmville (0-3-0, 0-1), North Pitt (1-1-1, 0-0) entertains West Craven (2-1-0, 0-0) and Greene Central (0-1-2, 0-0) travels to James Kenan (2-0-0, 1-0). In the Northeastern Conference Friday evening, Roanoke (1-2-0, 0-1) plays host to Edenton (1-1-0, 0-1) and Williamston (2-1-0, 1-0) entertains Ahoskie (2-1-0, 0-1). In the Tobacco Belt Conference, co-league leader Jamesville (2-1-0, 2-0) plays host to Belhaven (2-1-0, 1-0) in an important early-season battle. In games last week, D.H. Conley and North Pitt tied, 6-6, Washington blanked Roanoke, 17-0, Williamston shut out Plymouth, 20-0, and Jamesville rolled past Chocowinity, 32-14. North Pitt North Pitt did not have a preseason. Instead, the Panthers had what Coach B.T. Chappell terms a "work-season." "I don't know about the other teams," Chappell said, "but we had so many players miss practice because of work I can't say we had a pre-season. We had a work-season." Thus, the first three games have been a pre-season of sorts for the Panthers, and Chappell feels his club is just being to work out some of the kinks that were left over from its "work-season."

Crucial Weekend Ahead For NFL Players, Owners

WASHINGTON (AP) — It might be the most important weekend of the National Football League season — played out in New York hotel rooms with representatives of the players and club owners making decisions that could affect not only this season but may alter the financial structure of the game. Contract talks will resume Friday with union dissecting the offer made by the owners' negotiators when the two sides last met one week ago. "We will respond to the offer they made to us on a point-by-point basis," said Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFLPA. "We would expect discussion of the fundamental issues to the players, namely a decent wage package for the vast majority of players in the league. "We are willing to listen to any ideas that will solve the concerns of the players." Garvey made it clear, though, that the union will continue to insist on what has been the centerpiece of its demands — a proposal to guarantee the players a fixed percentage of the team's gross revenues. "We are not abandoning percentage of gross but are trying to form a basis for continuing negotiations," he said. The NFL Management Council, the owners' bargaining agents, agreed Tuesday to a union request for resumption of the talks. "Depending on how serious they are we are ready to go through the weekend," said management council spokesman Jim Miller. The owners last Wednesday offered a financial package that included cash bonuses based on service in the league. Four hours after the comprehensive proposal was presented the union had rejected it. Friday's negotiating session will precede by 72 hours a meeting of the union's executive committee, also to be held in New York, at which Garvey said a strike deadline will be set. Earlier, Garvey said the strike deadline would be either the third or fourth weekend of the season. (Please turn to page 19)

Plain Talk ABOUT REAL ESTATE
WHY IS THE TRANSFERRED BUYER IMPORTANT TO YOU?
It's a startling fact of real estate that a greater number of homes are bought by transferring families than at any other time in our history. This substantial segment of the home buying public should be a primary interest to you if you're selling your home. The transferring family is generally in an excellent position to buy and they must buy now. Many employers offer mortgage rate assistance so the transferee isn't worried about today's rates. They are ready to move and quick to decide.
Not every real estate firm can put your home in touch with this substantial segment of the market. Call us when you're ready to sell your home. We've built a reputation among transferring families. It's no wonder they depend on us!

RED OAK — Rose High School's boys' cross-country team suffered its first Big East defeat in several years yesterday, bowing to Northern Nash, 24-31.

Rampant C-C Team Beaten By N. Nash

While Rose's John Ormond led the way across the finish line with a time of 15:35, Rose was unable to put together enough high place finishes to pull out the win. Northern's Greg Battle finished second in 16:01, followed by Randolph Battle in 16:12 and Donnie Pittman in 16:15.

The next Rose finisher was John Byrd, finishing fifth in 16:38. Teammate Paul Bolen was sixth in 16:50, followed by Northern's Larry Gorman in 17:10, Knight Derrick Battle in 17:17, and Rose's Jeremiah Brown in 17:18. Rose's Todd Crouch was tenth in 17:29.

Other Rose finishers included Frank Rabey, 13th in 18:00; Will Hester, 14th in 18:08; Alan Dickens, 15th in 18:49; Chris Baggett, 21st in 20:50, and Joe Rayle, 22nd in 21:32.

Rose, now 4-2 on the season, plays host to Rocky Mount on Thursday.

Royals, Angels Get R-e-l-i-e-f

By The Associated Press

In these days of tight pennant races, it's crucial to get some relief from your bullpen. When that relief comes right from the start of a game, it's the kind of bonus teams dream of.

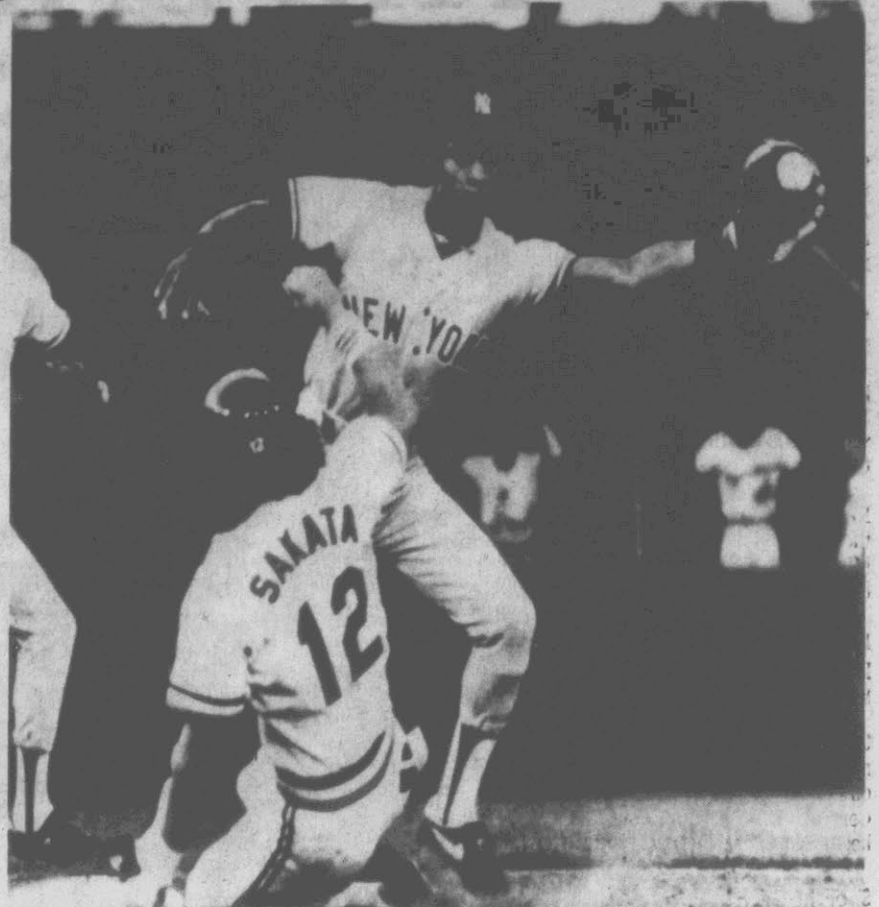

The dreams of the Kansas City Royals and California Angels were realized Tuesday night as relievers Bill Castro and Bruce Kison were given rare starts and came through with superb efforts. Castro won his first game as a starter in seven years, holding the Seattle Mariners to two runs and five hits in 51-3 innings as KC won 5-2.

and show them they were wrong about me," he said. "This is the first time since I was with Milwaukee that I've got a chance to pitch. I almost called it quits after I was released by the Angels."

Angels 7, White Sox 0

Doug DeCinces was the offensive star with three hits for the surging Angels, but Kison was the key to the victory.

"When I got to the ballpark Monday, I was told that I might start Tuesday," Kison said. "But I actually didn't learn for sure until Tuesday morning."

Errant Toss

New York Yankee second baseman Willie Randolph reaches for the throw from first baseman Steve Balboni as Lenn Sakata of the Baltimore Orioles slides in safely. Balboni's throw went past Randolph for an error, allowing Sakata to go to third. Yankee shortstop Andre Robertson, far left, comes in to back up the fifth inning play in the first game of a double header swept by the Orioles. (AP Laserphoto)

Crum Confident But Not Taking Vandy Lightly

By TOM FOREMAN Jr.
AP Sports Writer

CHAPEL HILL — Holding Pittsburgh to one touchdown and losing by one point might be encouraging to most North Carolina supporters, but coach Dick Crum isn't taking the Tar Heels next opponent, Vanderbilt, for granted.

Pitt quarterback Dan Marino was expected to pick the Tar Heel defensive secondary apart. He completed 15 of 28 passes for 125 yards and suffered four interceptions, although the game's only touchdown was a pass from Marino to running back Bryan Thomas.

Vanderbilt also likes to pass. Senior quarterback Whit Taylor completed 17 of 35 passes for 196 yards and three touchdowns as the Commodores downed Memphis State 24-14.

Even with the Tar Heels' defensive effort last Thursday, Crum refuses to rest easy.

"I'm never confident," he told reporters Tuesday. "The trick is gonna be for the defense to do it again this week. That performance last week will not mean very much if they don't play well this week."

Crum said there won't be any new gimmicks in the North Carolina defense this week, just as there were no changes in the defense which limited the potent Pittsburgh attack to 197 yards.

"After the ball game last week, everybody asked us

"How'd we change our defense?" We played the same basic defense we played last year," he said. "We've got a multiple-type defense, but we're not taking on any new things for 'em."

He said the defense did have to work on improving itself prior to the Pittsburgh game, but the results of their labor was obvious.

"The pass rush looked pretty consistent. You put good pressure on the passer, your backs are gonna look pretty good," Crum said. "You let him stand there all day and you aren't gonna look very good."

Crum isn't resting easy with his offense, either. The Tar Heels were indeed slowed by the Panther defense, but a recurring ankle injury to tailback Kelvin Bryant and left guard David Drechsler also hampered the attack.

Quarterback Rod Elkins completed 14 of 30 passes for 156 yards, but Crum said he'd like to see improvement in the aerial phase of the attack.

"I think it's gotta get better. We had about five balls that should have been caught," said Crum. "The passing game was not what we would have liked to have seen, but I think it shows signs of being a very good one."

The referees played a key role, according to Crum. When the night was done, 15 flags had been dropped against the Tar Heels and he's not sure all those mistakes really occurred.

"When you go back over the film, you really can't find anything," he said. "There were the procedure penalties. I think the crowd noise had something to do with that. I don't believe I've ever coached in a ball game where, between the two teams, there were 28 penalties."

That victory kept the American League West-leading Royals a game ahead of the Angels, who benefited from Kison's seven-hitter in a 7-0 pasting of the Chicago White Sox. The Angels won their fifth straight as Kison, 8-5, walked one and struck out four in his first start since June 22. It was his first shutout since April 23, 1980, when he one-hit Minnesota.

Elsewhere, Milwaukee downed Detroit 6-3 but lost a half-game in the AL East race to Baltimore, which swept the New York Yankees 5-4 and 5-3. The Brewers are 1 1/2 games ahead of the Orioles. Boston remained 4 1/2 out with a 12-1 wipeout of Cleveland, Minnesota edged Texas 3-2 and the Oakland-Toronto game was rained out.

"I've always been a reliever," said Castro, who was supported by Hal McRae's RBI double. McRae has 121 runs batted in, tying the record for designated hitters, set by Rusty Staub in 1978. "But a couple of guys had told me I might get a chance to start, because Bud Black was having trouble. All I want to do is help the ballclub to win. I don't care how they use me."

Castro was cut by both California and Oakland this season before being picked up by the Royals.

"I hope I get a chance to pitch against them (Angels)

Carpenter To USFL?

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Rob Carpenter, the New York Giants' leading rusher last season, says he may sign with a United States Football League team soon.

"My agent is talking to the USFL teams. I'm really not planning on playing for the Giants," said Carpenter.

Carpenter rejected the Giants' salary offer, reportedly $275,000 a year for three years, which stood when the NFL Players' Association collective bargaining agreement expired July 15.

Walton's Status Still A Question

SAN DIEGO (AP) — With the start of the San Diego Clippers' training camp just two weeks away, Bill Walton's status remains a 6-foot-11 inch question mark.

"I'd love to say I'd be in camp a month from now, but I just don't think the foot will be ready by then," says Walton, who has missed four National Basketball Association seasons because of recurring foot problems.

Five years ago he was the most dominant force in the NBA, earning Most Valuable Player honors after leading the Portland Trail Blazers to the 1977 league title.

But a surefire Hall-of-Fame career hit a roadblock on April 21, 1978. After reluctantly taking a painkilling injection in his aching left foot, Walton fractured a key bone in the arch during a playoff game. His basketball career has been in limbo ever since.

"Let's face it. I'd love to play," he said in an interview with The San Diego Tribune. "My goal is to work back into condition and play regularly in the NBA again and I want to do it with the Clippers. But I refuse to try it again until I'm ready."

Last month, Walton, 30, suggested he might be able to join the Clippers once a week between studying for law school at Stanford University.

The Clippers say they are willing to have him back on whatever part-time basis can be arranged.

"I'd like to have him for five minutes, five days or five weeks. Even once a month," said Sterling.

Sugar Ray To Decide In 2 Months If He'll Return

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Boxer Sugar Ray Leonard, who has been out of the ring for four months after eye surgery, says he will decide in about two months whether he will resume his career.

"That'll be almost exactly six months after the operation," Leonard said Tuesday in Hot Springs where he was speaking to a manager convention of Wal-Mart Inc. "My vision now is 20-20, and I don't anticipate any problem with the eye."

Leonard underwent surgery in May for a detached retina.

Since he has been away from boxing, Leonard said, he has found he doesn't miss it. "I don't get the urge any more. Maybe that's a good sign."

"Every day I stay away from boxing the chances are less that I will return," Leonard said at a news conference.

In answer to a series of questions, Leonard said money wouldn't be a factor in his decision and that he didn't think he had anything left to prove as a fighter.

Leonard is the world welterweight champion with a 32-1 record. He said the World Boxing Council and the World Boxing Association haven't pressured him to resume his career. "They've been quite lenient with me and quite understanding," Leonard said.

Ex-Ayden Resident Wins Title

CLEVELAND — Bill Bell, a former Ayden resident, has been awarded the 1982 United States Karate Association Championship in Brown Belt Fighting Division, it was announced recently.

Bell received the award at a banquet here following a two-day tournament. The banquet honored the tournament winners and the 1982 USKA total points champions.

Bell is a former student of Charles June, who is an instructor and part owner of the Greenville Academy of Martial Arts.

"I couldn't have done it without Sensei June's instructions and help throughout my first years in karate," Bell said. "This award is readily his."

Bell was one of June's top green belts before leaving. He now trains on the Louisiana Tech karate team in Ruston, La.

DHC Takes Pair From Chargers

LITTLEFIELD — D.H. Conley extended its unbeaten string to four as it beat Ayden-Grifton twice in a nonconference volleyball match Tuesday.

The Valkyries won the first match 15-1, 15-8, and then swept the second 15-4, 15-6.

Jackie Daniels had four points in the first match and Amy Gibbs had six in the second to lead DHC to the first two victories.

In the second match, Lori Kandrotas scored six points in the first game and Mary Mitchell scored seven points in the second game.

Angela Griffin and Stelena Roundtree both had three points for A-G in the second game.

Ayden-Grifton, now 1-2, takes nearly two weeks off now before returning to play on Sept. 28 at Farmville Central. D.H. Conley plays host to North Pitt Thursday.

S. of the Deaf ..... 2

Farmville ..... 0

FARMVILLE — The Eastern North Carolina School of the Deaf swept the first match but was taken to three games in the second before coming away with a pair of volleyball victories Tuesday.

The match was Farmville's season-opener.

The School of the Deaf won the first match, 15-4, 15-13, behind the serving of Donna Butler, who had five points in the first game. Rhoda Harris had five points for Farmville in the second game.

In the second match, the Lady Jaguars won the first game, 15-12, behind Lydia Worthington's seven points, but then dropped the next two, 15-8, 15-3, for the loss.

North Pitt ..... 1

BETHEL — Hosting North Pitt and Rose High School split a pair of volleyball matches yesterday. The Panthers won the first match in three games, while Rose came back to win the second match, also in three games.

In the opening match, North Pitt won the opening game, 15-4, but Rose came back to take the second, 15-8, forcing the third match, that won by North Pitt, 15-12.

Rose was led in the match by Linda Winstead, who served up eight in a row in the second game.

In the second match, North Pitt again got off to a winning start, 15-13, but Rose came back to take the next two games, 15-5 and 15-8, for the win. Becky Dunn served up five straight points in the second game, while Frances Barnhill had five and Winstead had four in the third.

Rose is now 2-2 on the season and plays host to Greene Central on Thursday.

North Pitt, which was opening its season, is now 1-1, and travels to D.H. Conley on Thursday.

Valenzuela Razor-Sharp As L.A. Ups Lead To 1 1/2

Back In Time

Houston Astros' Terry Puhl (right) dives head first back to first base as Atlanta Braves' pitcher Rick Mahler (background) threw to first baseman Chris Chambliss in a pickoff try during the first inning of Tuesday night's game in Atlanta. (AP Laserphoto)

By The Associated Press
Fernando Valenzuela was razor-sharp — and really cutting it for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I was really hitting the corners," said Valenzuela after pitching the Dodgers to a 1-0 victory over the San Diego Padres Tuesday night. "I got a little tired toward the end, but that was from concentrating in such a tight game."

Valenzuela's control was perfect — he didn't walk a batter while striking out six and giving up but six hits. The performance boosted the Dodgers' lead in the National League West to 1 1/2 games over the Atlanta Braves, 4-0 losers to the Houston Astros.

Valenzuela, 18-12, snapped a personal three-game losing streak with his fourth shutout of the season. The Los Angeles left-hander retired the first 10 Padres in order and allowed only one hit through five innings and two through six. The complete game was his 17th, tops in the N.L.

"I learned to control myself," said Valenzuela in pointing out that his losing streak didn't fluster him. "I learned you have to forget the past. Don't forget, my teammates also lost some tight games."

Ken Landreaux singled, doubled and tripled to lead the Dodgers' attack as they handed the Padres their fourth consecutive loss. The Dodgers got the game's only run on doubles by Landreaux and Pedro Guerrero in the first inning.

Eric Show, 10-5, was the loser.

Astros 4, Braves 0
Mike LaCoss gave up just two hits over seven innings and Jose Cruz belted a home run to lead Houston over Atlanta.

Both hits off LaCoss, 5-6, came in the second inning, one of only two scoring threats by the Braves. LaCoss struck out three and walked two before Frank LaCorte relieved and posted his fifth save.

Houston took a 2-0 lead in the fifth with the aid of a two-out error by Atlanta shortstop Rafael Ramirez that allowed two unearned runs to score. Cruz's home run, his ninth, was a solo shot in the sixth and the Astros added a run in the ninth on a sacrifice fly by Doran.

"He has pitched well out of the bullpen," Houston Manager Bob Lillis said of LaCoss.

ECU V'ball Team Falls

East Carolina's Lady Pirates opened the 1982 volleyball season with a loss to N.C. State last night in Minges Coliseum.

The Lady Wolfpack took the match in straight games, 15-5, 15-7, 15-3.

"It was too early for us to play a team of State's caliber," Coach Lynn Davidson said. "I saw a lot of good things though. Our passing was good; our serving was good and the fundamentals were there. We're going to be strong."

Davidson singled out the play of Sandy Gideons and Johnny Fry in the match. "(Sandy) came off the bench and did a great job on the back row," Davidson said. "Johanna had several serving aces. She's going to be one of the keystones for our team."

The Lady Pirates return to action on Thursday, traveling to William & Mary.

THE CITY of Greenville has a Citizen Concern System to help citizens with their questions, needs, and concerns. If you need assistance, call Gail Meeks, ombudsman for the Citizen Concern System, at 752-4137, extension 224.

"Even though he lost the last time out, he pitched so well that I decided right then to give him a start. He had good command of his pitches tonight, good velocity. He's in the rotation the rest of the way."

Cardinals 2, Phillies 0
Darrell Porter's two-run homer in the fourth inning and the combined five-hit pitching of John Stuper and Bruce Sutter carried St. Louis over Philadelphia and sent the Cardinals back into first place in the NL East by a half-game.

The Phillies had taken over the lead Monday night behind Steve Carlton's 20th victory of the season.

Stuper, 7-6, was knocked out in the eighth before Sutter came on to shut off the Phillies and post his league-leading 32nd save.

Expos 3, Mets 1
Al Oliver drove in two runs with a pair of singles and Charlie Lea limited New York to six hits in 6 1-3 innings as Montreal defeated the Mets for the Expos' fourth straight victory.

Lea, 12-9, who ended a personal three-game losing streak, left with a 3-0 lead and one out in the seventh inning after singles by Ron Hodges and Brian Giles gave the Mets runners at first and third.

Woodie Fryman relieved and pinch-hitter Rusty Staub delivered a sacrifice fly that right fielder Warren Cromartie caught with his back against the fence. Jeff Reardon pitched the final two innings and recorded his 25th save.

Pirates 15, Cubs 5
Richie Hebner and Bill Madlock blasted grand slam home runs in consecutive innings as Pittsburgh, trailing 4-0, stormed back to rout Chicago. Madlock drove in two additional runs with sacrifice flies and now has a career high 88 RBI for the season.

The Cubs built their lead in the top of the third, but the Pirates retaliated for five runs in the bottom of the inning off Chicago starter Dickie Noles, 8-12, with Hebner's slam keying the rally. Madlock's slam in the fourth gave Pittsburgh a 9-4 lead.

Giants 2, Reds 1
Dave Bergman hit a two-out, two-run homer in the seventh inning to lead San Francisco over Cincinnati. Bergman's third homer of the season came on a 2-0 pitch from Bruce Berenyi, 8-17, who allowed only one hit through six innings.

Cincinnati's Alex Trevino hit his first major league home run, on his 1,056th at-bat, in the second inning off Giants' starter Altee Hammaker, 10-8.

Rampant Girls Looking For Big Things In Tennis

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

A lack of interest has cut the number of girls' tennis team in half this year as three of the six area schools with teams have abandoned them.

Bear Grass, Williamston and Farmville Central have all left the courts, leaving Rose, Roanoke and Greene Central as the lone area entries.

Rose High School's Ramettes come into the season off an unbeaten 16-0 year in 1981 — and they are unbeaten through three matches so far this season.

Coach Gwen Dayton is looking for good things this year, but she won't go so far as to predict another Big East title. "I hate to predict," she said, "I don't want to jinx us."

Nevertheless, she does expect Rose to battle for the championship again this year. Following its sectional co-championship of last year, Rose returns nine members of that title team. Only three members of the team are no longer around, two having graduated and another having given up tennis due to an injury.

"We are pretty much of a veteran team," Dayton said. "Some have moved up the ladder this year but we're pretty much the same team as last year." Dayton has five seniors, six juniors and one sophomore on the 1982 edition. There are only three newcomers on the team.

Returning are three of the six singles players, senior Pauline Bearden, who moves from number two to number one; junior Louise Evans, up from five to two; and Marsha Tart, a senior, up from six to three.

Bearden, by the way, is unbeaten in two years of dual meet competition, and lost out in the semifinals of the sectionals last year.

Joining those three is junior Barbara Little, who saw some action at the sixth position last year. She will play number four this year.

Marjorie Jones, a junior, is currently at number five, with Hayes Warren, also a junior, at number six.

"Both of them played some doubles last year, and the ladder could change some during the season. But this is how they are now," Dayton said.

In the doubles, Little and Tart are playing number one, with seniors Kristi Logue and Janet Mizelle at number two. Evans and Warren are at number three.

Dayton looks to Rocky Mount to provide the most challenge to Rose. "They were our toughest competition last year, and I look for them to be again," Dayton said. "I definitely think that we have as good a chance as anyone to win the title."

At Roanoke, the Squaws were somewhat handicapped earlier in the season by a lack of a coach. But Henry Peel took over at the start of school and Roanoke is off to a 2-2 start.

"We're improving as we go along," Peel said. "Not having had much practice before school started hurt, but I think we're getting better with every match, and we should continue to."

While mostly unfamiliar with the rest of the Northeastern Conference, Peel feels that Washington will probably be the class of the league. "I've heard that Roanoke Rapids is good too." Otherwise, he feels that Roanoke has a chance to win the rest of its matches.

The Squaws return seven members of last year's team, including all six of the singles starters. That ladder currently shows, from one through six, senior Mary Bland, senior Janet Clark, senior Paula Respass, senior Tammy Johnson, junior Ginya Smith and senior Tracey Davis.

While Peel has been doing some experimenting with the doubles, he currently lists Bland and Clark at number one, Respass and Johnson at number two, and Davis and Kim Roberson, a senior, at number three. Roberson is the seventh member of last year's team who is returning.

There are four newcomers to the team, senior Briana Crouch, and sophomores Marty Knox, Amy Matthews and Chantyl Lawrence.

"I thought we were going to have at least one freshmen, too," Peel said, "but apparently she decided not to come out."

While nearby Williamston has dropped tennis, Peel feels the sport is secure at Roanoke despite some problems. The town has only four tennis courts, two each at two separate locations — none at the school. "We don't have any feeder program either. To my knowledge, there's no youth tennis program in the city, and they don't have one at the junior high. That would help us if it were started."

For Greene Central, the season is already as long as it was last year in entirety. "We only had three matches last year," Coach Seth Jones explained. "When we set up the schedule, we had three matches each with Farmville, Southern Nash and C.B. Aycock, but both Southern and Farmville dropped out before we began play. We had no non-conference matches on the schedule, so we only had the three with Aycock left."

The Lady Rams lost all three of those matches and are 1-3 right now.

"We're a very young team," Jones said. "We don't have a lot of experience. So if we can win a few I'll be satisfied for this season. Our best chance is going to be against some of those non-conference teams. I just don't see us beating Aycock this year."

Only four members of last year's team return, and just two of them were starters, seniors Katie Harrison and Sherri Odom. Harrison has moved from number five to number one, while Odom has held her number two slot.

Odom, however, is currently sidelined with a sprained ankle.

Joining them are returning senior Glenda Mooring, who played in one doubles match last year, and sophomore Kathy Herring, who saw no action at all last season. Mooring is currently number three while Herring is number five.

Playing at number four in the singles is sophomore Carla Edwards, but she missed yesterday's match with an illness.

Jennifer Gay, a freshman, is at number six, while sophomore Leigh Harrison and freshman Carol Jenkins round out the team.

In the doubles, Jones is using Katie Harrison and Mooring at number one, Herring and Edwards at number two and Gay and Jenkins at number three.

"I really feel like like we're just now settling down this week," Chappell said.

The Panthers, who are coming off a 6-6 tie with Conley, need a win this week to, achieve one of Chappell's preseason goals: a winning nonconference record. Thus far, North Pitt is 1-1 in nonconference play.

"A win this week would be real big," Chappell said. "It would satisfy one of our goals we had in the preseason."

West Craven comes into the contest at 2-1-0, having sandwiched victories over Farmville (14-6) and Jones Senior (8-0) around a defeat to 2-A East Carteret (17-6).

"I think this is going to be the toughest game we've played so far. They like to hit and they've got two good-sized running backs," Chappell said.

The Eagles run out of a variation of the split backfield and are led by the running of Wayne and Norman Becton, who gained 154 yards and scored two TDs against Farmville.

Chappell said the Panthers will make a number of changes this week on both offense and defense as they ready for the Eagles. On defense, the changes will entail mainly moving people from one position to another. On offense, Chappell hopes to open up his offense more.

"I was disappointed with our linebacker play last week (against Conley)," Chappell said. "We keyed on (tailback) Mitchell (Cox) and we were not picking up their fullback and we got hurt by their trap."

"West Craven does a lot of the same thing. We've just got get our line and linebackers working together."

Farmville Central Farmville Central coach Gilbert Carroll said last week prior to the Jaguars' 24-6 loss to Ayden-Grifton he felt like a fighter backed into a corner. What does he feel like now?

"I feel like that fight's over and I'm just trying to channel my anger and give it to the great garbage can in the sky," Carroll said. "I'm just trying for serenity."

A victory over Conley Friday would give Carroll a feeling of serenity, albeit brief what with Havelock looming on the horizon. But, with the Jaguars winless in three games, it won't be easy.

"I think they have a better team than last year," Carroll said. "We have to be ready to play them Friday night."

"We need to win," he added. "We haven't won at home and we haven't won this year."

Carroll is making a change this week that may hurt the Jaguars initially but which he hopes will help them in the long run. The second-year coach is sending four players down to the junior varsity, all four of whom have either started or played a lot in the first three games.

"I told them it was a lateral move," Carroll said. "They had three games on the varsity and they gained some good experience, but I want them to play with their class."

Three of the players are freshman and the fourth is a sophomore. "It'll help them and it won't hurt the varsity," Carroll said.

As for the Vikings, Carroll said: "I'm sure they've got more confidence than we do. We barely beat them last year and we're a little more beat up this week than last."

Still, the game shapes up as fairly even, especially since the Jaguars have faced Clinton and Ayden-Grifton the past two weeks.

"If the boys can cut out the mistakes we could have the opportunity for an even game," Carroll said. "Physically, we're about even. But, then, to tell the truth maybe we're a little overmatched up front."

D.H. Conley D.H. Conley coach Gerald Garner looks at Farmville Central and Coach Gilbert Carroll and sees a near-mirror image of his situation.

"He's situation is very similar to mine," Garner said. "He's 0-3 and we're 0-2-1. He's played two exceptional ball clubs like we have and we both have played teams that I would not put in that class but that were pretty good teams."

The Jaguars have lost to Clinton and Ayden-Grifton, both of whom are unbeaten, while the Vikings have failed to Washington and SouthWest Edgecombe, also teams who have yet to lose.

Add to that one other fact: after Friday's game the Vikings face the Chargers and the Jaguars meet Havelock. Thus, it is an important, if not crucial, game for both teams if they have any hopes of a winning season.

"It's almost an identical situation," Garner said. "This is a very, very important game psychologically, but it's not a must game."

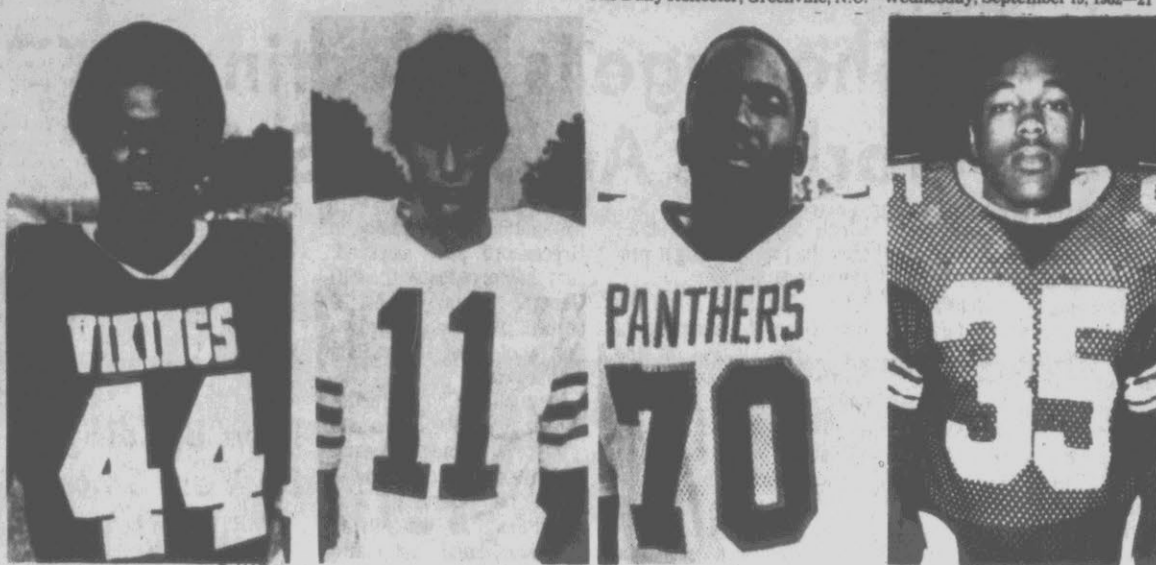

The Vikings have one added incentive that Garner hopes will work in their favor. They have never beaten Farmville. The Vikings are 0-11-0 against Farmville.

"The first thing is that this is a Pitt County rival," Garner said. "The second thing is that in the series D.H. Conley has had 11 straight losses to Farmville Central High School."

"That's something that's eating at us," Garner added. "I hope that will be a motivating factor for the kids."

Garner said the two teams match up fairly evenly. "Farmville is much better team than their record indicates," Garner said. "I know (FC coach Gil Carroll) will have his kids ready."

Money Shortage Is Affecting State Workers Across U.S.A.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina was one of nine states to freeze salaries for state employees in 1982 as at least 26 states were forced to make cutbacks in budgets for 1982 and 1983 because of revenue shortfalls, a nationwide survey indicates.

The survey by the National Conference of State Legislatures shows that 16 states froze state hiring and 20 reduced their work forces through layoffs.

"Because of revenue shortfalls, at least 26 states have made cutbacks in budgets for fiscal years 1982 and 1983 after those budgets had already been enacted," a summary of the survey findings said.

Many states that did give employees raises cut back in other areas. Some were forced to lay off workers, according to the survey, which concludes that states face their worst budget problems in 40 years.

Gov. Jim Hunt asked the 1982 General Assembly to freeze the salaries of the state's 180,000 teachers and state employees at June 30 levels to save about $94 million in anticipation of a revenue shortfall this year.

The state also is operating under a hiring freeze. Agencies have been given a specified number of positions that must remain vacant, but personnel can be hired as long as that number is maintained.

If salaries had not been frozen for a year starting July 1, North Carolina teachers and state employees would have gotten increases of about 5 percent under various pay plans.

Representatives of a state government employees association, which met in Greensboro last weekend, said they plan to ask the 1983 General Assembly for a 25 percent pay increase in 1983 that would cost $727 million for one year.

However, Chief Budget Officer John A. Williams said if the revenue picture doesn't improve, the pay freeze might be extended. That would mean no cost-of-living increases, and automatic merit increases built into the pay scales would be withheld for another year.

Revenues this year already are coming in below expectations, Williams said. For July, the first month of the new fiscal year, revenues grew at a rate of 5.7 percent over last year.

August figures will not be released until later this month, but revenues are expected to be even lower than in July. This current budget estimates were the growth-rate would be 8.9 percent.

New Building To Be Very Smart

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Besides being the tallest high-rise in Connecticut when its doors open next year, Hartford's City Place will be one of the "smartest" structures in the nation, according to its builders.

The 38-story tower will have a central computer to watch over and regulate its elevators, heating, air conditioning, ventilation, lighting, security and fire systems.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, SEPT. 16, 1982

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime gives you a good chance to put your practical affairs in better order. Tact and poise on your part are required to avoid an unpleasant situation from arising.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is the best time for clearing up monetary problems. Make sure to follow advice you get from a business expert.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Taking the treatments that will improve your appearance is wise. Make new friends that are worthwhile.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study just where you are headed and find more workable methods to gain success. Come to a better accord with loved one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't rely on friends who are busy with own affairs at this time. Make plans to have more abundance in the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be sure to handle an important duty well since you could be observed by higher-ups now. Take needed health treatments.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Put those creative ideas to work now and gain the respect of associates. Strive for increased happiness. Sidestep an opponent.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have to use diplomacy if you wish to have the harmony at home you desire. Try not to offend others at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact persons who can assist you with routines and you get better results in the future. Avoid a troublemaker.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Anything of a monetary matter should be talked over with experts today. Show more devotion to loved one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If properly tuned astrologically, this should be a fine day for sociability. Take steps to improve your appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good day to have discussions with close ties and come to a better accord. Make plans to have greater income in the future.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Consult business experts who can give you the right advice at this time. Steer clear of one who has an eye on your assets.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will need much spiritual and ethical training early in life for your progeny to be successful. Anything that concerns big money matters is fine here. Give cultural advantages and the best education you can afford.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

SNOW SURPRISE — A couple identifying themselves as Ohioans were snowed out of their fishing trip and their tent early Tuesday when eight inches of late summer snow fell on the 10,500-foot-high Grand Mesa in western Colorado. They took refuge at a nearby lodge. Travelers' advisories were issued for mountain passes throughout the state. (AP Laserphoto)

Yesterday's Cryptiquip — FLAT TIRES CAN SURE LEVEL OUR VACATION FANTASIES.
Today's Cryptiquip clue: V equals P.

The Cryptiquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Opening lead: King of ♠.

Experts make certain plays automatically. But sometimes they have to pay for their ability. Their opponents can infer certain card combinations by what the expert does or does not do. This deal is from the Mixed Team Championship at the Summer North American Nationals.

Sitting South was a former world champion, Eddie Kantar of Los Angeles. He reached a normal three no trump contract that probably would have made were it not for the fact that sitting East and West respectively were two other champions, Rhoda Walsh of Los Angeles and Mike Lawrence of Berkeley, Calif.

Against three no trump, Lawrence led the king of spades. Then he shifted to the seven of hearts. Kantar played low from dummy and Rhoda Walsh inserted the ten. Kantar made the expert play of allowing the ten to win.

East was now faced with a problem. Had her partner led from a doubleton heart, in which case declarer has started with Q-x-x, or from three cards in the suit, in which case declarer was now down to a bare queen? If the former, she might as well cash the ace of hearts because there was no way to establish and run the hearts. If the latter, a low heart would defeat the contract unless declarer could run nine tricks.

After some thought, East came up with the right decision — she continued with a low heart. Declarer overtook his queen of hearts with the king and tried the club finesse. West won the queen, cashed the ace of spades and reverted to hearts to gain a three-trick set.

How did East arrive at her decision to continue with a low heart? She banked on declarer to have made the right technical play! If declarer had started with Q-x-x in hearts, he could have killed that suit by playing the king from dummy at trick two! When he did not make that play, it could only be because he had started with a doubleton queen.

What price fame?

Two USAs?
More than one United States of America? It's not possible. Or is it? On this day in 1821, Mexico, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua banded together to win their independence from Spain. Two years later those former colonies, minus Mexico, formed the United States of Central America. But its Constitution, unlike our own, did not provide for a central government to hold the provinces together. For example, the government could not collect taxes or raise an army. The second United States of America split up 15 years after it was organized. Today, 20 million people in those five nations and another 70 million in Mexico celebrate their independence from Spain.

DO YOU KNOW — Which Central American nation gained its independence in 1981?
TUESDAY'S ANSWER — A recall is the direct vote that can remove an elected official from office.

Marcos Flying To U.S. Visit

HONOLULU (AP) — Friendly flag-waving Filipinos and a handful of protesters greeted Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos, making his first official trip to America in 16 years.

Marcos arrived here after an all-night flight from the Philippines and spent seven hours in a hotel after an airport greeting before boarding a plane Tuesday evening for Washington, D.C. Marcos is to rendezvous with his wife, Imelda, who flew separately to New York City, and both are to meet President and Mrs. Reagan on Thursday. Mrs. Marcos, the second-most powerful politician in the Philippines, left three days earlier on a Philippine government-chartered plane. An entourage of more than 100 people was traveling with Marcos and scores of other Filipinos were sent ahead to Washington for the 6-day official visit and to New York, where Marcos is to address the Council on Foreign Relations and the United Nations.

Marcos was accompanied by his son, Ferdinand Jr., 24, about half of his cabinet, labor union leaders, newspaper publishers, reporters and guards. A throng of 400 pro-Marcos Filipinos shouted the greeting "Mabuhay" as Marcos stepped off the Philippine Airlines 747 at Hickam Air Force Base.

Bess Truman Is Still Improving

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Bess Truman's condition has improved slightly, but the 97-year-old former first lady remained in serious condition today at Research Medical Center, hospital officials said.

Mrs. Truman's vital signs were stable and her temperature was normal, Dr. Wallace Graham said Tuesday. The longtime Truman family physician said nurses began exercising Mrs. Truman's shoulders, fingers, wrists and legs to keep her joints from stiffening.

Jessica No. 1 Anchorwoman

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Anchorwoman Jessica Savitch has found the going tough as a woman bucking the male dominated television newscasting industry where she's had to fight every step of the way.

Savitch, 34, has written her memoirs, perhaps a bit prematurely, in "Jessica Savitch: Anchorwoman," saying early in the book that the term "anchorwoman" didn't exist before she invented it.

As anchorwoman of NBC-TV's Saturday night news, and fill-in anchor on other prime-time occasions, Savitch does a bang-up, straight-forward newscast, certainly as well or better than any man.

On screen the blonde broadcaster is all business, almost deadpan, reporting the news and introducing the network's far-flung correspondents with charm and efficiency.

Her on-air delivery is objective, almost cold in its non-partisanship. There are no feminine wiles or other non-professional elements in Jessica's on-screen persona.

In person she is an entirely different woman, bewitching, animated, sexy and full of personal opinions.

Astonishingly, Jessica has an off-screen speech impediment, a delightful lisp that gives her just the right touch of vulnerability to go along with her surprisingly diminutive stature, 5-foot-4, less than 110 pounds.

But Jessica's most pleasing attribute is a bright and shining intelligence, a grasp of news, personal relationships and an unimpaired view of herself as a pioneer woman prime time network broadcaster.

"Every job I ever had was accompanied by the phrase, ... the first woman to ... whatever," she said, her green-blue eyes sparkling with humor.

"I began in radio playing records and reporting the news. I was the first female broadcaster at WOND in Pleasantville (N.J.) and the first at WBBF in Buffalo. The same thing at KHOU-TV in Houston.

"And I was the first woman anchor, weekends, at KYW-TV in Philadelphia. But no matter where I went, there were no precedents for me. There was no role model woman I could learn from.

"True, there were some women reporters in television at the time. Barbara Walters for one. But they weren't anchors.

"I wrote this book not so much as an autobiography but as a means to help women who want to become broadcasters or anchorwomen. I get 80 letters a week from young women who want to get in the business, most want to be stars but four or five want to become reporters, writers and presenters of news.

"I kept notes, journals and clippings through the years in the event I might write a book in the distant, wintry twilight of the future. I accelerated the plan because I have become the role model."

Wherever she goes, Jessica faces the same questions: "If you weren't pretty would you have your job?"

Do viewers resent the fact you're a woman reporting news?

Could she become a female Cronkite?

Do male co-workers resent your success?

Why aren't you a nightly prime time anchor instead of just Saturdays?

Jessica fields the questions candidly and with wit. A woman must be more than pretty to deliver the news effectively over a long period of time.

Viewers do NOT resent her as a broadcaster. Cronkite? Maybe. Some male co-workers still harbor age-old chauvinistic attitudes. And she's not a daily prime time anchor because, after only four years, she's still the new kid on the block.

She is happy to see so many women anchoring local news programs around the country but Jessica, who writes all her own copy, is dismayed that many are little more than Barbie dolls who vacantly read the news like robots.

"Barbie dolls are great if the teleprompter doesn't break down," Jessica said.

Jessica would like to become the first nightly prime time anchorwoman. She is absolutely convinced someday some woman will hold a job equal to Tom Brokaw, Frank Reynolds or Dan Rather.

She admires such other women network newswomen as CBS's Leslie Stahl, ABC's Walters, Cassie Mackin and Ann Compton and NBC's Linda Ellerbee.

"We all faced the same situations," Jessica said.

"The three stages of women working in TV news: 'First, 'You can't have the job because you're a female.' Second, 'You got the job because you're a female.' We've finally reached the third stage where they are now evaluating us because of our ability, not our exterior packaging."

Even so, Jessica's packaging cannot have hindered her becoming TV's first successful anchorwoman.

Miss America Led Ratings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — NBC's live telecast of the Miss America Pageant from Atlantic City, N.J., was No. 1 in the A.C. Nielsen Co. television ratings for the week ended Sept. 12.

The annual pageant Sept. 11 was the first win for NBC since May 25, when "Television's Greatest Commercial" finished on top.

CBS returned to first place in the network ratings, after having been displaced the week before by ABC, with a Nielsen rating of 15.3. ABC was second with 14.2 and NBC was third with 13.0.

The networks say this means in an average prime-time minute, 15.3 percent of the nation's homes with TV were tuned to CBS.

NBC's first-place win was its only slot in the Top 10. CBS took six places, led by No. 4 "60 Minutes," ABC had three in the Top 10.

ABC's "Too Close for Comfort" was second and the network's "Three's Company" was third.

Renurs of the two-part miniseries "Scruples" placed No. 5 and No. 9 for CBS, while "M-A-S-H," its perennial frontrunner, was in tenth place.

The week also saw two usually high-rated shows, CBS' "Magnum, P.I." and NBC's "CHiPs," finish among the five lowest rated.

Here are the Top 10 shows: The Miss America Pageant, a rating of 23.3 or 19.4 million households, NBC; "Too Close for Comfort," 21.3 or 17.7 million, ABC; "Three's Company," 21.0 or 17.7 million, ABC; "60 Minutes," 20.8 or 17.3 million, CBS; "Scruples," Part II, 19.6 or 16.3 million, CBS; "Archie Bunker's Place," 19.5 or 16.2 million, CBS; "The Jeffersons," 19.3 or 16.1 million, CBS; ABC Sunday Night Movie, "The Fog," 19.1 or 15.9 million, ABC; "Scruples," Part I, 18.8 or 15.7 million, CBS; "M-A-S-H," 18.5 or 15.4 million, CBS.

Here are the next 10: "Hart to Hart," ABC; "Laverne and Shirley," ABC; "Happy Days," ABC; "Hill Street Blues," NBC; "One Day at a Time," CBS; "Twenty-Two," ABC; "The Love Boat," ABC; NBC Monday Night at the Movies, "Madam X," NBC; NCAA Football, Clemson vs. Georgia, ABC; "Real People," NBC.

Here are the five lowest-rated shows: "Magnum, P.I.," CBS; "Walt Disney's 'Gus,'" CBS; ABC News Closeup, "The Monastery," ABC; "Catalina Sea-Lab," NBC; "CHiPs," NBC.

Philadelphia To Honor Soprano

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Art Alliance will present its 1982 Medal of Achievement to soprano Anna Moffo, Sept. 28.

She'll receive the award at a dinner held in conjunction with the celebration of the "City of Brotherly Love's" 300th anniversary.

The Art Alliance was founded in 1915 to promote cultural activities in the region, and each year it honors an outstanding Philadelphian for his or her contribution to the arts.

Previous medalists have included singer Marian Anderson, conductor Eugene Ormandy, novelist James Michener and architect Louis Kahn.

AN EYE ON TOYS

STRASBOURG, France (AP) — The European Parliament has approved a report urging member nations to provide funds to help toy manufacturers "re-convert war toys to peaceful toys."

Martin Is Out Of Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former Broadway star Mary Martin has left the hospital with the help of a walker just nine days after an auto accident that also critically injured actress Janet Gaynor.

Miss Martin, 68, known for her Broadway performances in "South Pacific," and "Peter Pan," will be cared for by a private nurse, said hospital spokeswoman Leslie Lingaas after Miss Martin's departure Tuesday.

The traffic accident killed Miss Martin's longtime friend and personal manager, Ben Washer, 76.

Miss Gaynor, who in 1928 was the first recipient of Academy Award for best actress, remained in serious but stable condition at San Francisco General Hospital.

Bank Nationalization Angers Monterrey, Mexico

EDITOR'S NOTE — Mexico City and Guadalajara are bigger, but Monterrey, a tough industrial city of 2 million people only three hours down the road from Laredo, Texas, boasts an extended, powerful business community. Leaders say the local economy is hard hit by Mexico's economic turmoil, and they are uncertain about their future.

By SOLLUSSMAN
Associated Press Writer
MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — President Jose Lopez Portillo's seizure of the private banking industry is broadening the traditional rivalry between the federal government and the free-thinking business community in Monterrey, Mexico's northern industrial stronghold.

Business leaders are nervous and angry after the surprise bank takeover, announced by Lopez Portillo in his Sept. 1 state of the union message as a means of halting the flow of billions of dollars from the country. Monterrey businessmen think the move was one more setback in the 9-month-old economic collapse that hit the nation at the start of the year when oil revenues fell drastically.

"There's a lot of uncertainty in the business sector," said Jorge Arrambide Garza, director of the local Chamber of Industry. "With the shocks this regime has given us, anything could happen."

Lopez Portillo argued private banks were "sacking the country" of its funds. He also issued an ominous warning to Mexicans who, he said, have taken $14 billion from the country in recent months and own $35 billion in U.S. real estate. "You have one month to meditate, then we will act," the president said.

The statements were matters of deep concern in this city, Mexico's third-largest. Monterrey is a bastion of private enterprise, and business leaders have a history of run-ins with populist-oriented government officials in Mexico City, 597 miles to the south.

Business leaders in Monterrey were prepared to organize a national strike last week to demonstrate their dissatisfaction with government economic policy. The strike fizzled when they failed to reach a consensus. Many still favor a cautious approach.

Chamber of Commerce President Ruben Alanis said the first two years of Lopez Portillo's administration brought business confidence. After that Mexico, buoyed by massive crude oil revenues, tried to develop too quickly and built up heavy debts.

"We were all happy about the development," Alanis said. But "I think it's not unknown that Monterrey is caught in a very strong and deep economic crisis."

Lopez Portillo, who completes his six-year term Dec. 1 in the midst of the worst recession to hit Mexico in 50 years, maintained a truce with the northern capitalists during those first oil-fueled boom years of his administration.

The Monterrey-based Alfa group, whose economic woes last year foreshadowed the national crisis, added companies during the early part of Lopez Portillo's administration and became the largest conglomerate in Latin America.

Alfa now owes its creditors — many in the United States — an estimated $2.3 billion. Businessmen say it was not the only company hurt when the economy went sour.

"Alfa was touched first, but almost all the Monterrey groups have part of their debt abroad," Arrambide said. "Alfa had more problems because it grew more rapidly and went more into debt with foreign money than the others."

The local newspaper El Norte, known for its independent stand, estimates that the Vitro industrial conglomerate owes $740 million outside the country, another named Visa, $532 million, and Cydsa $425 million.

Mexico's efforts to meet interest and principal payments this year on its $81 billion debt have led to a series of economic measures. The government raised consumer prices on gasoline, corn tortillas and bread last month in an attempt to cut costly subsidies on those items. It also froze an estimated $13 billion in dollars deposited in Mexican banks, and devalued the peso for the second time this year.

The bank expropriation, coupled with strict currency controls, was announced when none of the other measures succeeded in halting the exit of pesos.

In Monterrey, the economic recession is easy to gauge. When Alfa laid off as many as 6,000 employees, most of them executives, prices dropped for residential real estate. The recession — gripping the rest of Mexico along with 60 percent inflation as well as 40 percent unemployment and underemployment among working-age people — spread.

Investment and construction projects have ground to a halt. While unemployment statistics here are not available, the local social security institute estimates 24,000 people lost their jobs from March through July.

Despite the current problems, some people say there's a strong work ethic in Monterrey. The answer, they say, is to adapt to the new conditions — and work harder than ever.

The city's industrial output began developing at the turn of the century when the Cuatremoc Brewery opened its doors. The brewery expanded, deciding to produce its own bottles and bottle caps. Major goods produced now include food and beverages, steel, glass, petrochemicals, fibers and paper.

"These are working people," said taxi driver Juan Castilleja Villanueva. "When you see people on the streets, they're either going or coming from work."

Arrambide says business leaders warned Lopez Portillo more than a year ago about the dangers of overheating the economy. "We lacked a lot of vision because we trusted the government," he said.

Hawaii Cuts Sugar Back Due Dumping

By GORDON SAKAMOTO HONOLULU (UPI) — The dumping of foreign sugar is upsetting the delicate economic balance in Hawaii, producer of 20 percent of the sugar used in the United States.

The dramatic slide in the world price of sugar, temporarily slowed by the imposition of emergency import quotas by President Reagan, has made growers — among them some of the biggest corporations in Hawaii — reconsider their century-long affiliation with sugar.

In 1981, sugar production resulted in a staggering $83.5 million loss to the Hawaii industry, which accounts for eight percent of the state's revenue and eight percent of its jobs.

The outlook for 1982 is discouraging. There will be another loss in the millions of dollars, according to economists.

In cost-cutting moves this year, three major plantations went on a two-week enforced shutdown that put half of the industry's 8,400 employees off the payroll. Another shutdown is planned for the fall.

The sugar workers' union, the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, agreed to defer half of a 10 percent contract wage increase. Executives took hefty pay cuts.

Additionally, the Hawaii Sugar Planters Association, which represents the industry, asked the Hawaii Legislature for a $50 million "Sugar Stabilization Fund." The request was not granted, but the industry won some tax relief and other financial benefits.

The arithmetic for the Hawaii sugar industry is simple: It costs 21 to 22 cents to produce a pound of raw sugar in the state. The federal government, under the 1981 Farm Act, will subsidize sugar up to 19.08 cents a pound. But the world price, because of the huge infusion of foreign sugar, has dropped to as low as 8.02 cents a pound.

The import quota has helped ease the difference, but not to a point where the industry can turn a profit.

Given that picture, some of the major growers have given a clear indication they will not absorb further losses.

Amfac already has announced it will phase out 12,000-acre Puna Sugar Co. on the island of Hawaii by the end of 1984. It will mean the layoff of 500 sugar workers.

Since the Puna announcement, Amfac also has cut back sugar acreage at another plantation. A second company has made a similar move.

The cuts mean acreage in sugar cane will be reduced to the 200,000-acre level, down from the high of 242,476 acres in 1968.

Of additional concern to Hawaii sugar growers is President Reagan's Caribbean Basin Initiative, which could further add to the industry's woes. As it now stands, the initiative would allow duty-free imports, among them sugar, from Caribbean nations into the United States.

Henry A. Walker, president of Amfac, told the company's stockholders' meeting that, except for sugar, it was the verge of joining the front ranks of American corporations.

He said Amfac did not want to pull out of sugar in Hawaii but, "We cannot, and will not, let sugar get in the way."

In accepting the wage increase deferral, Tommy Trask, regional director of the ILWU, called it a move to show support for the industry. "We recognize their plight."

He said the move should be viewed "in bittersweet fashion — the vast majority of the work force will retain their jobs. Survival is the key to this whole thing."

A bank economist offered additional numbers that would result were sugar to go out of business in Hawaii.

"Massive unemployment would develop in Hawaii with an accompanying recession if the sugar industry were to fold," he said.

"There are about 9,500 sugar workers on whom a total of 30,000 jobs depend.

Wildlife In 'Explosion'

By CHARLES MITCHELL
NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Since Kenya banned game hunting five years ago the animals have been doing very well — too well.

The burgeoning wildlife population now rivals drought as the main cause of crop and livestock destruction.

Elephants, buffaloes, lions, leopards, monkeys, hyenas, wild pigs and even porcupines trample freely through the bush from Marsabit to Mombasa eating or crushing crops and livestock valued at more than $7 million per year.

Now ecologists, conservationists, politicians, farmers and newspapers who once campaigned to save the wildlife are clamoring for at least a limited and controlled lifting of the hunting ban introduced in 1977.

"Wildlife numbers have built up to such numbers that the impact on crops and agriculture is enormous," said Dr. David Western, a member of the New York Zoological Society and a Kenya government wildlife trustee who spends most of his time in the field.

"Kenya cannot afford the tremendous losses in the arid agricultural areas it is now experiencing. The crops have to be protected," Western said.

Almost any other form of protection besides limited hunting would prove as costly as the value of the crops destroyed, "a zero solution," said Western.

Wildlife growth since the 1977 ban is impressive. Zebra and wildebeest population increased by more than 50 percent. From 1979 to 1981 the buffalo population has doubled to almost 250,000.

While arm-chair conservationists and "eco-freaks" applaud the figures, farmers say they are being ruined by the animals.

At the Ziwani sisal estate near Mt. Kilimanjaro, a herd of elephants and baboons ate their way through 1,500 of the estate's 35,000 acres in two days. Game rangers came — and watched.

"They shot off some blanks to scare the elephants. How can they expect to scare off hundreds of elephants with blanks?" said estate manager Harry Shamash. The cost — $500,000 in lost crops.

At the near-by village of Mbolu, farmers sleep in shifts to protect their small corn crops from elephants. Their only means of protection is to beat tribal drums to frighten the animals.

"If a herd of elephants walked into the center of Nairobi and started demolishing shops, they would be shot on the spot and owners would be handsomely compensated," one politician said.

A government compensation scheme is supposed to reimburse farmers for lost property, but it has proved inadequate, slow and plagued by fraud, corruption and beauracrat tangles. Farmers claim payment is far below true value and often takes two years or more to reach them.

In 1979 farmers claimed $6 million. The government had set aside $400,000.

More than crops are destroyed. About 100 people are believed to be killed by wild animals every year.

Under Kenya game laws, even killing a protected animal in self defense is a punishable offense.

"On the issue of wildlife killing humans, the situation is clearly intolerable," said the influential Daily Nation newspaper recently.

"If the laws are relaxed for the control of marauding wildlife, then the people will protect themselves and their crops. This should be a priority item for government, since its target is to ensure that people produce enough food for the nation, not for elephants and monkeys," it said.

"Farmers will eventually take things into their own hands," Western said. Already farmers in one coastal district waged "a monkey war" against the animals threatening their entire harvest.

Western and other serious ecologists have proposed a plan for re-introducing limited and controlled hunting, though Western said "the government is going very slowly" on the idea.

Under the scheme farmers would sell licenses to hunters to clear the farmer's land. Thus the revenue would go to the farmer who needed it most and was most at risk.

The ban on trade in trophies like ivory and zebra skins inside Kenya would remain to discourage poaching. All trophies would be exported under government control. The entire program would be watched closely by the government and conservationists.

But the government still looks elsewhere for a solution.

Wildlife Minister Elijah Mwangale recently proposed that marauding baboons be captured and fed to man-eating crocodiles in the Tana river, thus saving both crops and humans.

Competition Said Unfair

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Peter Fonda rode one in "Easy Rider," and Sylvester Stallone took his Harley in "Rocky III." For better than 30 years, the mystique of Harley-Davidson dominated the macho motorcycle world. But now America's only remaining manufacturer of motorcycles says it is in danger of being run off the road by Japanese imports.

Davidson's problems. Harvey Applebaum, an attorney representing Honda, contended that the recession, general decline in motorcycle demand and other issues have played a major role in Harley-Davidson's decline. "We clearly don't feel there is any merit to Harley's argument that their problems are due to Honda's imports," Applebaum said in an interview.

The government is about to investigate complaints from Harley-Davidson Motor Co. Inc. that a wave of imported Japanese motorcycles — especially the heavy, highway-touring models similar to those built by Harley-Davidson — is making it impossible for the 79-year-old American company to compete.

He also noted that Honda and Kawasaki each have a motorcycle assembly plant in the United States. Harley-Davidson argues those motorcycles should be considered imports because their power train assemblies come from Japan.

Under U.S. law, the International Trade Commission could recommend to President Reagan an import quota or additional duties on motorcycles if it is determined that the imports are the primary reason for Harley-Davidson's troubles.

Harley-Davidson, which became a privately held company in 1981 when it was purchased by 14 of its executives, refuses to make revenue and loss figures public, saying only that it ran a deficit last year and that losses are continuing. In 1980, the last year that the company was publicly traded, it reported a profit of $12.3 million on sales of $290 million.

In a petition filed earlier this month with the commission, the Milwaukee-based, privately held company accused Japanese manufacturers of copying its design and advertising style to grab customers who have been Harley-Davidson's "traditional support."

During the past 12 months the company cut its workforce by 40 percent, laying off 1,600 workers at its plants in Milwaukee and York, Pa. Other workers have had salaries frozen or reduced.

The complaint says Japanese sales of the powerful open-highway bikes of 700cc and above have jumped by nearly one-third since 1977, while Harley-Davidson's share of the slumping motorcycle market has fallen.

The Japanese manufacturers began sending motorcycles to the United States in large volume during the late 1960s, but only began pushing their bigger and more expensive open-road models in recent years.

During the first six months of this year, four Japanese companies — Honda, Yamaha, Kawasaki, and Suzuki — accounted for nearly 86 percent of the 134,412 over-the-road motorcycles sold in the United States, while Harley-Davidson's share dropped to about 13 percent.

"They're virtually copying our motorcycles ... as well as our marketing approach," complains Harley chairman Vaughn Beals. He noted the introduction last year by several Japanese manufacturers of new, powerful V-twin engine touring cycles in Harley's "macho style."

During much of the 1960s and early '70s, Harley-Davidson collared almost all of that market.

The worst may be ahead for Harley-Davidson. Beals says that despite an overall decline in demand, the Japanese are sending the powerful bikes to the United States in record numbers. He says a two-year supply of Japanese "heavyweight" bikes already may be in the country.

The company told the trade commission "there is a serious question how long Harley-Davidson ... can continue to survive" without some temporary restriction on imports.

"We're concerned that they may start flooding the market with these machines at rock-bottom prices," Beals said. "What we're requesting ... is an orderly market where we can stand on our feet and compete."

"If the import situation continues to deteriorate ... the willingness of (Harley-Davidson's) lenders to continue to support the company will be brought into question," the petition continued. Three of the four Japanese manufacturers declined to comment on the Harley-Davidson allegations, saying they had not thoroughly examined the petition filed with the government.

A spokesman for Honda, which makes about 40 percent of the motorcycles sold in this country, denied that Japanese manufacturers are to blame for Harley-

Book Tries Pierce Cloak

By ROBERT PARRY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

The U.S. government's largest and most secret spy operation is not the CIA, but the National Security Agency, which performs its intelligence work with "Star Wars" electronics rather than the cloak and dagger.

The NSA, scrutinized in greater detail than ever before in a newly published book "The Puzzle Palace," controls a vast array of intelligence-gathering wizardry: from spy satellites over the Soviet Union to giant receiving dishes that can eavesdrop on overseas cable traffic and telephone calls.

Its computers are measured by the acre and the classified documents it produces daily are weighed by the ton. Its charter is to protect U.S. government secret communications from interception while picking off and decoding the messages of other nations.

NSA's job is considered so sensitive that 30 years after its creation in 1952, President Harry S. Truman's memorandum authorizing its birth remains a closely guarded government secret. Until 1957, the government did not even publicly acknowledge NSA's existence.

But in "The Puzzle Palace," author James Bamford, a 35-year-old lawyer living in Natick, Mass., strips away at least the outer layer of NSA's secrecy.

Bamford said his 465-page book is based entirely on unclassified documents and interviews with current and former NSA officials.

NSA officials, however, have refused comment on the book. "It's the brick wall approach," said Jim Ryan, an NSA spokesman.

Bamford's first big break in penetrating NSA's secrecy came with his discovery of an unclassified newsletter for agency employees and their families. Bamford says he then used the Freedom of Information Act to pry from the agency a total of 6,000 partially censored pages of newsletters dating back to 1952.

"The key was that they had sent this to the families," Bamford said in an interview. "Since they sent it to the families, they opened it up to the world."

Despite the censoring, the newsletters gave Bamford some important clues to NSA's secret operations. And in exchange for dropping his FOIA challenge for a completely uncensored version, he said he was given information on NSA's organizational structure, which his book details for the first time.

Besides laying out the names and duties of much of NSA's top echelon, he says NSA's total work force tops 60,000 employees, more than all other U.S. intelligence agencies combined.

Bamford says his review of the old newsletters also led NSA to grant him a tour of its giant headquarters in Fort Meade, Md., which he calls the "Taj Mahal of eavesdropping" and describes as "almost the size of the CIA building with the United States Capitol sitting on top."

He says the NSA's incinerators destroy nearly 40 tons of classified documents a day and he quotes NSA officials as saying the buildings house more than 5½ acres of computers.

"Today the NSA's enormous basement, which stretches for city blocks ... undoubtedly holds the largest and most advanced computer operation in the world," Bamford writes.

Enormous computers, with code names like Carillon and Loadstone, are used to solve complex statistical questions involved in modern code-breaking, he says.

Bamford says his research also uncovered clues to the locations of secret NSA listening posts, including one in Yakima, Wash., and another in Sugar Grove, W. Va.

Bamford notes that the NSA's antennas at Sugar Grove are about 60 miles from the Comsat earth station in Etam, W. Va., which handles more than half the international commercial satellite communications to and from the United States.

He says that NSA's 105-foot dish at the Sugar Grove station "should be able to pick up every earthbound whisper destined for Etam, as well as every pulse sent skyward."

Although providing no concrete evidence of Sugar Grove's purpose, Bamford notes that one of the visitors to the station was the head of an NSA operation responsible for eavesdropping on communications to and from the United States.

While NSA apparently has yet to develop a computer that can monitor telephone conversations, the computers can search for key words in cables and computer transmissions and automatically kick such messages out for further analysis, Bamford says.

To target a person in the United States for electronic eavesdropping, NSA would have to show a secret federal court that there was "probable cause" to believe the person was an agent of a foreign power and obtain a warrant.

That procedure was established after disclosures that during the 1960s and 1970s, NSA eavesdropped on overseas telephone calls and cables by some anti-war activists, including actress Jane Fonda.

But despite the new rules, a message from an American to a foreigner whose communications are being monitored could be picked up.

In an interview, Bamford said he is "not anti-NSA," but feels the agency has enveloped itself in too much secrecy.

"I think it's dangerous to have an agency that secret," he said. "You should have some accountability."

Barter Helps College Costs

BELMONT, N.C. (AP) — Officials at Sacred Heart College in Belmont have found a way for students to pay for their education without spending a dime.

At Sacred Heart, students can barter services in exchange for tuition. So far, only two students are attending the school on the barter plan, but Sister Mary Michelle, president of Sacred Heart, says the program works.

"I would encourage other schools to do the same thing," she said. "What it amounts to is a student trades services for the service we offer — an education."

The barter program began at Sacred Heart about a year and a half ago when the school joined Tradex, a 500-member, Charlotte-based bartering organization.

Tradex members earn trading "points" when they provide services or sell goods to other Tradex members. The points can be used to buy goods or services from members of the group or other trading groups across the country.

Leon Schwartz, a member of Tradex, says Davidson College also has two students enrolled this year who bartered for tuition.

"Bartering is something that is very needed in today's economy," Schwartz said. "Maybe a person doesn't have money for something he wants, but just about everybody has a service that somebody else wants."

"Education is expensive, but bartering makes it more affordable," he added. "It's something that a lot of colleges should be looking at right now."

Sister Mary Michelle says the school barters with Tradex, not with the students. She says the school selects a service out of hundreds offered by the group.

"If we need our carpets cleaned, then that's the service we'll get," she said. "Our points mount up, just like money in the bank, and we get so many services for the points we have to pay."

RULES AND REGULATIONS of the PITT COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR Greenville, N. C.

Leroy James, Director of Exhibits, Men's Division

Evelyn Spangler, Director of Exhibits, Women's Division

1. The Pitt County American Legion Agricultural Fair, Inc., is not responsible for loss, injury, theft or damage by fire, lightning, wind, or any agency, for any exhibit made. All exhibits in all Departments, and otherwise, are accepted only with that understanding.
2. Exhibitors in all departments must have their products entered and ready for exhibition in building by 5 p.m., Monday, Sept. 27, except in the Floral Department and Home Cooked Products as provided for.
3. No livestock or poultry exhibits can be taken from grounds until after 9 a.m., Saturday, October 2, except as is necessary to meet the Hog Cholera Eradication Program. This rule will be rigidly enforced.
4. No exhibits in Exhibit Building can be taken out until after Saturday night. Exhibit Building will be open Sunday, October 3, from 2:00-5:00 p.m. for this purpose.
5. Only products listed in the Department will receive premiums.
6. Produce or exhibits, except in the Livestock Department, that were exhibited at any previous Pitt County Fair will not be accepted.
7. No unworthy article will be awarded a premium. Where there is only one entry in a class, only second premium will be awarded.
8. All protests made by exhibitors will be considered by the Management, and its decision will be final.
9. All exhibits must be produced in Eastern North Carolina.
10. Only one entry per class will be accepted—except as provided in the Livestock and Poultry Departments.
11. No unworthy booth or exhibit will be awarded a premium.
12. Exhibitors will not be allowed in Exhibit Hall during judging.
12. All exhibits must be picked up by Monday afternoon, October 4 by 5 p.m. Anything not picked up will be disposed of at the discretion of the Fair Manager.

Miss Addie R. Gore, Home Economics Extension Agent
 Mrs. Evelyn L. Spangler, Home Economics Extension Agent
 Directors

The home Economics Division of the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service, North Carolina State University at Raleigh, has grown from the original canning clubs to a broader adult education program for the homemaker. It reflects the needs of contemporary living, with emphasis on consumer education, management, and family economics. Included are all phases of homemaking: Foods and Nutrition, Clothing and Textiles, Housing and House Furnishings, Home Finances and Human Development. Each is equally important in developing a well-balanced home in which happy, healthy people are to live. Emphasis is also being placed on Community Service, Safety, Citizenship, Education, Health, and Cultural Arts. The newest research findings in Home Economics apply to both rural and urban homemakers. Educational Exhibits this year are planned in an effort to promote the total Home Economics Extension Program.

Organizations connected with the Extension Homemaker Programs in Pitt County are eligible to have nine exhibits, each 8x8 feet.

Lowe's Pricing Policy:

Many items in this tabloid carry a reference retail price. The reference is intended to provide a guide to the range of retail selling prices in our area and may be useful in identifying different units of the same manufacturer. An item's reference retail price is either the manufacturer's suggested retail price or our determination of its full retail price based on prices at which it or similar merchandise is offered by principal retailers (department stores, specialty shops and other non-discount sellers) in our selling area. While we believe our reference prices do not appreciably exceed the highest retail prices at which sales are made in our selling area, we cannot assure you that our reference retail prices, as described above, represent the prices in every community on any given day. Some items in this advertisement are listed at "regular" selling prices. The merchandise is offered at this price except during a special sale. The purpose of showing a reference retail price (or a regular price) is to assist you, our customer, in making a knowledgeable and better informed buying decision. We suggest that you also do comparative shopping and compare our prices. (Prices in this tabloid do not include delivery charges. Ask us about delivery rates.)
 Lowe's Raincheck Policy: If we sell out of an advertised item, we'll issue you a raincheck. When we restock, you'll be notified so you can buy at the previously advertised price (except for products marked "Limited Quantities"). Our smaller stores may not stock all advertised items. But every item shown here can be ordered for you.

*Lowe's Low Payment Credit Terms:

Your credit must be satisfactory. Lowe's cash price does not include sales tax. The monthly payment and deferred payment price include sales tax at 4%. If sales tax is different in your area, the monthly payment & deferred payment price will vary slightly. Insurance is available, but not included in our figures. Delivery charges, if any, are not included.
