

Task Force Has Suspects And Leads In Poison Hunt

By JOHN DOWLING
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — A task force has two dozen suspects and several "very substantial" leads in its hunt for a "random murderer" who killed seven people by placing cyanide in Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules, authorities say.

The leads include the discovery of Tylenol bottles and capsules in a suburban motel parking lot on Tuesday, one day before the deaths began. The two Kane County sheriff's deputies who found the capsules strewn on the ground got sick the next day with symptoms that one specialist said could have been caused by cyanide.

Evidence from the parking lot was being tested.

Meanwhile, U.S. Food and Drug Administration Commissioner Arthur Hill Hayes said today that federal and drug-industry experts will look for ways to prevent tampering with over-the-counter drugs in stores.

Medicine packages "won't be absolutely foolproof — man is too ingenious when he has evil on his mind — but we think that perhaps there are ways that we could make them more secure ... in a drug or a grocery store," he said on ABC's "Good Morning America."

Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner discounted the at investigators think more than one person is involved in the crimes.

"The only thing we have suggesting more than one is involved (is that) some of the tablets were put back together with great care and caution. Others were a messy job."

Fahner said at a news conference Sunday night that among the task force's suspects are "malcontents ... and weirdos who don't act right or did something extremely out of the ordinary."

"We're trying to understand what kind of person could do these things," said Fahner, the chief of a local, state and federal task force with more than 100 investigators looking into the string of deaths. "It is an act of a random murderer who filled the capsules with cyanide and then placed them in the stores," he said.

The attorney general declined to reveal any other leads.

All of the deaths occurred between Wednesday and Friday in Chicago or its suburbs among people who had taken Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules, the nation's best-selling pain reliever. Autopsies revealed the deaths were caused by cyanide poisoning.

The cyanide-spiked capsules probably were placed in the stores Tuesday, Fahner said, apparently on the front of the shelves to ensure they would sell quickly, he said.

Investigators already have interviewed and cleared many suspects and now believe someone acting alone obtained bottles of Extra-Strength Tylenol, filled the capsules with cyanide at home and then "salted" store shelves with the deadly poison, Fahner said.

The task force is receiving a steady flow of tips, he said, but, "there's no way of knowing if any of these tips or these leads could break the case."

Investigators were beginning to comb personnel files today of people who might have had access to the capsules, Fahner said. He did not elaborate.

It was disclosed Sunday that Kane County sheriff's deputies found 24 bottles of Tylenol in a motel parking lot about 15 miles north of Winfield, where Mary Reiner, one of the victims, purchased her cyanide-laced medication.

ECU Day Proclaimed; City Plans Mark Anniversary 75

Mayor Percy Cox has proclaimed Saturday, Oct. 23, ECU Day in Greenville and has called on citizens to join East Carolina University in celebrating the university's 75th anniversary-homecoming weekend "with parades and pageantry."

"Splendor and excitement will reign supreme," during the fourth weekend of October here, according to Cox's proclamation. He delivered the proclamation to University Chancellor John

M. Howell in ceremonies arranged by the Student Homecoming Committee today.

Cox noted that thousands of alumni and friends are expected for the weekend events that include the homecoming football game, the 75th Anniversary Ball, the homecoming parade, the annual alumni awards luncheon, dances, socials, a band day contest, an exhibition by the ECU Marching Pirates, a concert at Minges Coliseum, and an art exhibition.

Mayor Cox and Chancellor Howell acknowledged the close relationship of the city and the university through the 75 years of East Carolina's history. "Happily for us, Town and Gown express a unity of interests and a sympathy of aspirations which is a fundamental strength for both the town — Greenville — and the gown —

East Carolina University," Howell said. "One of the great strengths for both the city of Greenville and East Carolina University has been our cooperative, rather than antagonistic, relationship."

Regina Hardee, student homecoming committee president, and Jess Riggs, student homecoming committee coordinator, joined Howell in accepting the proclamation embossed with the gold seal of the city.

Waste Site Bids Given Approval

By STUART SAVAGE

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners this morning approved the awarding of a contract to the L.A. Reynolds Co. for the paving of the Ayden-Grifton, Winterville and Wellcome solid waste container sites.

Reynolds submitted a low bid of $29.18 per ton for asphalt. It is estimated at least 970 tons will be needed to pave the driveways and ramps at the three sites.

The only other bidder was Barrus Construction Co. which submitted a bid of $29.50 per ton for the asphalt. Commissioners also gave approval to the acceptance of a $45,140 federal crisis intervention grant by the Department of Social Services to be used to meet emergency heating needs during the coming winter and a $59,968 grant to administer the Low Income Energy Assistance program.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.
Partly cloudy Wednesday through Friday with highs in 70s to low 80s. Low mostly 50s inland to low 60s along the coast.

Last year the Low Income Energy Assistance program brought between $350,000 and $400,000 into the county.

The board also gave approval to a request by the National Museum of Art for the loan of a painting now on display at the Pitt County Mental Health Center.

The painting of Pilot Mountain by artist Victor Huggins will be used by the museum for a three-year period in a traveling exhibit of Southeastern United States art.

The painting is valued at $1,800.

Commissioners honored county finance officer Mrs. Margaret Roberts who was installed as president of the N.C. Association of County Finance Officers during the weekend.

Case Warrant Not Yet Served

A spokesman at the SBI office in Greenville said that as of the middle of this morning, a warrant secured Thursday charging Sheriff's Deputy Billy Braswell with the first degree murder of the deputy's wife had not been served.

Braswell is a patient at Pitt Memorial Hospital where he is undergoing treatment for gunshot wounds. The SBI agent said authorities are waiting until Braswell's physical condition permits them to serve the warrant.

A hospital spokesman said that Braswell remained in "guarded" condition today.

Braswell's wife, Lillie, was found shot to death late on the morning of Sept. 27 east of Farmville. The deputy was found about an hour and 35 minutes later at his home in Farmville, suffering from gunshot wounds to his chest.

According to the SBI spokesman, the district attorney's office will determine how the warrant and subsequent hearing process is handled. Court was in session this morning and efforts to reach a spokesman for the district attorney's office for a comment on the warrant were unsuccessful.

According to the SBI spokesman, ballistics tests are being conducted in Raleigh on weapons sent there Friday by the SBI. The agent said no word on the tests had been received today.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said this morning that the SBI is continuing to handle the Braswell investigation.

Local Health Officials Remind Capsules' Poison Alert Remains

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Local health officials are warning consumers not to take Extra Strength Tylenol, the pain relieving over-the-counter drug that, because of having cyanide added to the capsule ingredients, killed several in the Chicago area late last week.

"Since it's now looking apparent that the Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules that killed people in the Chicago area were laced with cyanide from off the grocery shelves, not in the laboratories, I feel that people here have nothing to worry about," Pitt County Health Department director Dr. Robert Ehinger said this morning. Nevertheless, he said he agrees with the FDA recommendations that consumers not ingest Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules until it is proven beyond any doubt that the poisoning took place outside the lab and only in the Chicago area.

Dr. Joyce Mitchell, an emergency physician in the Pitt County Memorial Hospital Emergency Department, said she recommends, in the light of how quickly cyanide kills, refraining from using Extra-Strength Tylenol until it is proven that the problem is local to Chicago and not a possibility here. Cyanide, she said, can kill in less than 30 minutes if it is ingested full-strength. A cyanide antidote kit exists and emergency departments have it, she said, and it has to be used very quickly. She said she, herself, has treated one case of cyanide poisoning successfully. "This woman, though," she said, "had actually taken a chemical that breaks down with cyanide as one of its components — so she had more time. Straight cyanide allows next to no time for treatment."

Dan Sitko, supervisory investigator in the Food and Drug Administration office in Raleigh, said samples of Extra-Strength and regular Tylenol were taken from stores in North Carolina early in the weekend and flown to Atlanta for analysis. "Analysis of these samples and others from throughout the Southeastern section of the United States is just about complete this morning," he said, "and no cyanide has been found. The latest word I have is that the cyanide-laced capsules appear, so far, confined to the Chicago area."

There is no change, he said, in the suggestion that consumers take no Extra-Strength Tylenol until a more thorough investigation is completed by FDA and law enforcement agencies.

Angela Marie Moore Marries On Sunday

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Free Will Baptist Church here was the scene of the wedding ceremony of Angela Marie Moore and Erwin Clement Hines Sunday at 3 p.m. The Rev. Ed Taylor performed the double ring ceremony.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter David Moore Jr. of Greenville, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pittman Hines Sr. of Winterville.

A program of music was presented by Gladys Corbett, aunt of the bridegroom, organist, Guyla Evans, cousin of the bridegroom, pianist, and vocalists, Ms. Evsns, JoAnn Pennington, Wayne Vincent and Emerson Hobgood.

The bride's sister of Greenville, Debbie Matthews, was honor attendant. Bridesmaids included Debby Gray of Winterville, sister of the bridegroom, Larue Conner of Greenville, Donna Haddock of Ayden and Alice Hines of Plymouth, cousin of the bridegroom, Aimee Weathersby of Winterville was flower girl. She is cousin of the bride.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers were Bob Hines, brother of the bridegroom, Bruce Gray, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Shawn Carson, all of Winterville, and Mike Conner of Greenville.

The bride wore a formal gown of bridal satin and silk organza trimmed with chantilly lace and seed pearls. The empire bodice featured a sheer neckline with a circlet collar and full sheer bishop sleeves gathered onto a satin band with ruffles extending over the hand. Chantilly lace appliques trimmed with seed pearls patterned the bodice and adorned the collar and sleeve bands. Chantilly lace patterns encrusted with pearls also adorned the full length A-line skirt of organza over satin and bordered the hemline. The gown featured a redingote skirt of organza trimmed with lace attached in the front with lace appliques and gathered onto the back with a flat bow. The gown was created by the mother of the bridegroom. Her full length veil was bordered with chantilly lace and was attached to a beaded caplet. She carried a prayerbook covered with white miniature carnations, white lilies, pink sweetheart roses, lily of the valley and stephanotis.

The mother of the bride wore a frosty rose gown with a pleated skirt and matching lace trimmed jacket. She wore a wristlet of white miniature carnations and pink French roses. The mother of the bridegroom selected a turquoise gown with a pleated skirt. She wore a wristlet of white miniature carnations and French white roses.

The grandmothers were remembered with white carnation corsages.

The honor attendant wore a formal gown of rose taffeta styled with a gathered skirt and attached belt accenting the raised waistline. The fitted bodice was styled with a sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves capped with a shoulder bow. She carried a hand bouquet of mauve and cranberry butterfly roses, lilies and star blossoms with white and pink lace bows and streamers.

The attendants were dressed like the honor attendant in wine colored gowns. Their flowers were similar and were tied with mauve bows and streamers. The flower girl wore a wine dress and carried a natural wicker basket of flowers like those of the other attendants.

The couple will be living in Winterville after a wedding trip to the coast.

The bride graduated from Rose High School and Pitt Community College. She works at the Ayden Free Will Baptist Press.

The bridegroom graduated from D.H. Conley High School and Pitt Community College. He works at Nobles Exxon Station in Winterville.

Assisting were Pattie Stackhouse and Evelyn Brannigan. Leslie Gray and Elaine Smith were rice maids. Michelle Stackhouse distributed bulletins and Becky Hatton presided at the bride's book.

The couple was entertained at a pig picklin' Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gray given by the parents of the bridegroom.

Miss Altizer, Mr. Eudy Marry

KINSTON — Catherine Elaine Altizer and Joseph Daniel Eudy Jr. were united in marriage Saturday at 11 a.m. in a double ring ceremony. The wedding was conducted by the Rev. John T. Russell at St. Mary's Episcopal Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ray Altizer of Springfield, Va. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daniel Eudy of Kinston.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white organza over peau de soie. It was designed with a modified Queen Anne neckline outlined in scalloped chantilly lace and beaded with pearls. The fitted bodice featured a sheer yoke embroidered in a floral motif beaded with pearls. The clipped chantilly lace enhanced the bodice and encircled the empire waistline.

The full, bishop style sleeves of the gown were fashioned with appliques of lace. A pleated panel of organza bordered in the chantilly lace centered the skirt front with the chantilly lace edging the hemline. The attached chapel-length train was also trimmed in chantilly lace and featured an insert of pleated organza. The bride wore a fingertip illusion mantilla edged in the clipped chantilly lace to complement her gown. Her veil was held in place by a Camelot headpiece which was trimmed in floral lace. She carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, white roses and stephanotis. The maid of honor, Julie Dickerson of Chapel Hill, wore a formal gown of green Italian silk, designed with an open neckline. The gown also featured miniature rolled shoulder straps, empire bodice and an accordin pleated skirt. The sleeveless gown was complemented by a sheer chiffon cape. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow lilies interspersed with pom pons.

The bridesmaids were Debbie Fountain of Laurel, Md. and Margaret Anderson of Virginia Beach, Va. They wore dresses like that of the maid of honor and carried cascade bouquets of yellow princess lilies with matching ribbons.

Ushers for the wedding were Steve Eudy of Asheville and David Eudy of Kinston, brothers of the bridegroom.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mary Hunter Brame, organist of Kinston.

After a wedding trip to California, the couple will live in Greenville.

The bride attended Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, Va. and the bridegroom attended Mercer University in Atlanta, Ga. He is employed as a pharmacist for Kroger Co.

A reception was held at King's Restaurant in Kinston and Mary Jane Bright of Kinston was hostess. Sandra J. Norris of Greenville presided at the guest book.

MRS. JOSEPH DANIEL EUDY JR.

Perdue Broiler Houses...

An Investment That Pays You While It Pays For Itself.

Most crops, like tobacco for instance, require a large annual capital outlay followed by a long wait for a possible profit. A Perdue broiler house on the other hand is a crop that doesn't require a large annual capital outlay, or a four to five month wait to maybe turn a profit. Perdue broilers pay after every eight/nine week flock, starting with the first one. And those checks are guaranteed.

Also, a Perdue broiler house is one of the few agricultural operations that can pay its own way. Many others can't even generate enough income to pay for themselves much less provide a profit. And when a Perdue house is paid for, it won't be worn out like most row-crop equipment — compare that to other farm investments. And at market time, Perdue even absorbs poultry market fluctuations. That makes a Perdue broiler house a virtually risk-free sound investment.

Perdue pays a guaranteed paycheck every eight/nine weeks. These checks add up to over $20,000 a year gross income on a 500' house. And with better performance comes even better pay. So if you've been depending on row crops alone, you may want to consider Perdue. A broiler operation is compatible with your other farming responsibilities. But as an investment it stands alone. There's never been a better time to talk chicken with Perdue.

This Is A Major Tragedy

One has to wonder what kind of twisted madman would fill Tylenol Extra-Strength capsules with cyanide knowing full well that innocent people would die agonizing deaths.

We have to wonder what kind of person it takes to inflict this kind of horror on innocent people.

There is the evidence. People died Friday after taking the pain capsules which were found to contain the poison.

It threw the nation in a turmoil. The manufacturer immediately began a recall of the product and most stores began taking it off their shelves even before any official notification. A massive investigation was underway by Friday night in an attempt to determine how far the cyanide capsules had gone. Early investigations seemed to indicate that the capsules were reopened and the cyanide was put in them after they were packed.

There are many possibilities as to motives, but the fact that it could be done, and was done, is chilling to our society.

As long as there are questions about this tragedy society can consider itself under attack. Certainly nothing should be left undone in the investigation.

Oil Royalties Are Justified

North Carolina Congressman Walter B. Jones has steered a bill through the House which would allow coastal states to share in federal royalties for offshore oil wells.

The bill, if it passes the Senate, could mean almost $7 million annually for North Carolina. There are some ten companies which have rights to search for oil and gas off the coast of North Carolina.

The oil, if it is found, will be more of an inconvenience than anything else to North Carolina citizens.

Certainly our state deserves some compensation in the form of royalties for the hazards the oil pumping could pose. The bill should be approved.

NOT ENDANGERED, BUT QUITE A RARE SPECIES!

An Exercise In Triviality

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK RICHMOND, Va. — In a state where Ronald Reagan and all his works are still esteemed, the ambitious young Republican aspirant for the Senate seat long the private domain of the Byrd family has shed Reaganism for homogenized moderation.

Asked during a recent television interview here about President Reagan's role in his campaign, Rep. Paul Trible scarcely sounded like the Reaganite Republican who stands high in the affections of the Oval Office (getting a personal presidential campaign visit Wednesday). Trible replied that he would not make the mistake of getting "too close" to Reagan. "The president and I usually agree," he said, "but not always."

That may explain why Trible, once counted sure for the seat held by retiring independent Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., is no better than even against Lt. Gov. Richard Davis, his middle-road Democratic opponent. Davis is as fearful of being labeled anti-Reagan as Trible is of being caught in the Reagan embrace.

A tactician for Davis explained: "Trible is necking with Reagan, but he doesn't want to be caught in bed with him. And Davis wants to stay close enough to hold Reagan's hand if he needs it." This trivialization of politics reflects a pattern in many states of Republicans steering clear of the candidate and principles that carried the party to victory in 1980.

For Davis, who won his first statewide race a year ago (running with the popular Gov. Charles Robb), political wisdom dictates political lines to Reaganism. A decade of Republican dominance in statewide races was broken only by Robb's 1981 election. With Virginia unemployment below the national average, Davis is finely tuned to the president's relatively high approval from Virginia voters.

That is a change from 1980 when state Democratic Chairman Davis ridiculed Reagan as "a class-B movie actor." Now he says Reagan is doing "pretty well" in the White House. Davis' five-minute television commercial, the only ad yet out of his campaign, portrays an avuncular, 61-year-old rags-to-riches mortgage banker who landed amid Japanese shells on the beaches at Tarawa; not one word attacking Ronald Reagan, Reaganomics or Reaganism.

The reason is obvious to Davis, if not to Trible. While the liberal news media have declared Reaganomics a dismal failure, politicians are not so sure. They know that Reagan's promise to shake up the federal system, cut taxes, halt big government's growth and strengthen U.S. military power is a dream that did not start with Reagan, and is strong here in Virginia.

Reluctant to attack Ronald Reagan, Davis will not even allow himself to be pinned down on details of the president's economic program. He has ducked debates against Trible over radio and television. In his most open and dubious challenge to Reaganomics, he plays to staid Virginia's fears over big budget deficits; Davis wants a delay in the 10 percent cut in income tax rates scheduled next July 1.

In response, the 35-year-old third-term tidewater congressman did not embrace his president. Instead, Trible wallowed in political trivia for three months after the June Republican nominating convention; defending against absenteeism and foreign travel as a member of the House Armed Services Committee; making substantial charges that Davis was milking campaign money out of AFL-CIO labor.

Trible was seen heading for the center in his sudden decision to fire New Right political consultant Paul Manafort the day the convention ended. Manafort's ouster caused resentment on the right and raised questions about Trible's political wisdom. He seemed to be copying the ideologically neuter Republican race for governor of Virginia last year that broke the party's long win-

A Dram Shop Bill

By PAUL T. O'CONNOR RALEIGH — He's obviously drunk but he can still pay for his drinks. So he staggers to the bar for one last beer — something to make the trip home a little easier. The bartender serves it up and drops the 90 cents in the cash register. On the drive home, the drunk crosses the center line, hits another car and seriously injures his passengers.

Who should be liable for the injuries to those people? The drunk can be sued in civil court now but isn't the bar owner also partly to blame? Contrary to law, he served someone who was visibly intoxicated.

The Governor's Task Force on Drunk Driving thinks the tavern owner should have a legal responsibility in this case. They're proposing a "Dram Shop Bill" that would make the booze seller responsible to the tune of $500,000 for any damage caused by the booze drinker. It's a legal principle already recognized in a great many other states.

The idea is one of several recommendations the task force will send to Gov. Jim Hunt next month. Hunt plans to ask the 1983 General Assembly to make major changes in the state's drunk driving laws.

Pittsboro District Attorney Wade Barber explained how the Dram Shop bill would work. Holders of ABC permits would be responsible for the damage caused by anyone legally purchasing alcoholic beverages from them. Specifically, that would mean people underage and those obviously drunk — people who shouldn't have been served.

The bill has two purposes, Barber says. First, the victim has someone from whom to recover damages — a "deep pocket." The victims of drunk drivers often find themselves financially ruined by medical bills that the drunk can't cover. Anyone injured by a drunk driver would be allowed to sue — including the family of the drunk driver in his injury or death meant a financial loss to them. All ABC permittees would be required to have at least $300,000 worth of insurance.

Secondly, the law forces permittees to deny service to drunk or underage patrons. Faced with the potential for a big loss, insurance companies will demand that their clients keep youngsters out of their bars and that drunks be cut off. In court, evidence that the permittee had used "good practices" in these matters would be sufficient defense to absolve him of liability.

It is hoped, therefore, that the threat of a big lawsuit will make permittees more aware of the need to limit service and that, in turn, will cut down on the number of drunks on the road.

The bill covers tavern, restaurant and grocery store permittees — they're held responsible for the actions of their employees — but doesn't cover state-owned ABC stores. Nor does it cover restaurants with brown-bag permits, beer distributors of wholesalers or groups which get "special use" permits to serve alcoholic beverages for a limited time. It would not cover social occasions such as parties.

Members of the task force expect to face opposition from the restaurant industry. It is estimated that insurance companies will charge a tavern with a good record $3,000 a year for the minimum amount of insurance. Restaurants and grocery stores will probably pay considerably less, they said. One member of the task force,

Rush-To-Buy Is Balked

If you are wondering why the economy is so sluggish, listen to my tale.

I called a video cassette store the other day and inquired about the price of a recorder. The man said $695, but the offer was only good until Oct. 15.

"What happens then?" I wanted to know.

"What do you mean?"

"What happens on Oct. 15? Will you refuse to sell me the recorder after that date?"

"No, but we may refuse to sell it to you at that price."

"What price will you sell it to me for?"

"I can't say now. But the $689 is a special introductory offer, and only people who take advantage of it before the 15th will benefit by it."

"Is there a possibility that after Oct. 15 the price of your recorder could even be less than $689?"

"Oh, I hardly think so. We wouldn't sell it for less or no one would take advantage of our special sale."

"Then what you are telling me is that $689 will be your rock bottom price for the rest of the year?"

"I didn't say that, sir. It is quite possible that if the recorders don't move during our introductory sale we will have to resort to some form of rebate. For example, we would mark them up to $800 and then offer our customers a $200 rebate, so in effect you would be paying only $600 for one. But that offer would be good only until Thanksgiving."

"So if I don't buy the recorder before the Oct. 15 deadline I have a chance of getting it later $89 cheaper."

"That's a definite possibility."

"Including the video recorders?"

"Especially video recorders. They are much too expensive to keep in inventory."

"Then that would be the best time to buy one."

"Not necessarily. We always have a warehouse sale after our post-Christmas sales in January. I wouldn't be surprised if we advertised them for $450."

"Perhaps my best bet is to wait until then."

"You could do that, or hold off until George Washington's Birthday when we give away two for the price of one."

"That seems like a good deal. There is no sense jumping into something until you people make it a loss leader."

"Of course you're always taking the chance the Japanese will raise the price of their video recorders at any moment and then the October special of $689 will seem like a bargain."

Other Editors Say Need Consistency

(Salisbury Post) In a first-ever study of school discipline policies throughout the state, the Governor's Council of Advocacy and Youth found that too many of the state's 143 school systems lacked policies consistent with state law.

The Rowan system appears to be in the clear in this department. Thanks to a vigorous reconsideration and standardization of its policies two or three years ago, the county school board turned around what was a bad situation. In doing so, it has met state and federal requirements.

(The Salisbury system was one of the 61 districts that did not respond to the GACCY's questionnaire.)

The deficiencies elsewhere are glaring. Nineteen of the 83 responding systems have no student codes of conduct conforming to state law. Fifty-five lack written codes covering corporal punishment. Many fail to tell either students or parents what the rules are or what the punishment for their violation would be.

In one aspect, the Rowan code was found at fault. This was in relation to the "due process" of law to which students are entitled when facing suspension or expulsion. The provision was established by court decisions. While possibly important in some cases, it is a relatively minor matter in the over-all picture.

While the ultimate blame for the lack of consistent and written policies lies with the local school boards, blame for many of the deficiencies can be attached to the State Department of Public Instruction. Being more familiar than local systems with state-wide policies and laws, it should have taken the lead in directing or encouraging the local systems to adopt standard codes. The code used by one area system — that of neighboring Stanly County — is cited in the report as a model.

Only when codes of conduct, procedures and punishment are determined and, most importantly, made clear to students and parents, will the discipline problems in schools become matters of less concern.

This report should serve to push the lagging systems in the direction that they should have voluntarily gone years ago.

Another Victim Of Recession

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer The recession has taken the edge off America's palate for wine.

Shipments of wine increased only 2.8 percent in the first six months of 1982, down from a 5.6 percent rate of growth in 1981, according to Marvin Shanken, editor and publisher of "Impact," an industry newsletter on the wine and liquor business.

"The economy is really taking its toll right now," said Shanken.

The bad news for the industry may have a bright side for the consumer, however.

Shanken said domestic winemakers are trying to boost business by cutting prices. When sales were booming, he said, they increased their prices. "Now, all of a sudden, with the softness and the reversal of the economy, they're in a very awkward situation ... and for the first time all of these wineries are backing off their prices and offering substantial discounts to the consumer."

Shanken said individual price cuts for U.S. wines range from 5 percent to 20 percent, depending on the market. "It's wine on sale," he said. "You see it in every other business and wine is now at the point where it's price competitive."

Shipments of wine have been growing rapidly since the early part of the last decade, as Americans developed a taste for lighter beverages with lower alcoholic content than the traditional drinks. From 1970 through 1980, for example, shipments of imported and domestic wine went from 267 million gallons to 478.2 million gallons. In 1980, shipments of wine outpaced shipments of distilled liquor for the first time and the trend has continued.

Shipments of table wines — as opposed to things like vermouth, champagne or sweet dessert wines — have increased even more than shipments of wine in general, going from 133 million gallons in 1970 to 361.6 million gallons 10 years later. Table wine accounted for only 50 percent of the wine market in 1970; today, it accounts for almost 80 percent.

Even table wine, however, has been hit by the recession. The growth rate during the first six months of 1982 was only 4.6 percent, Shanken said, down from 7.6 percent in 1981 and an annual rate of 11.2 percent from 1975 through 1980.

U.S.-produced wines are suffering more than imports, Shanken said. Shipments of American table wines were up only 3.2 percent during the first half of this year, while shipments of imports in the same category rose 8.9 percent.

He cited several reasons for the relative success of the imports.

"Part of it relates to the fact that there are a few brands which dominate the imported wine market... (These brands are) well positioned and getting tremendous advertising support... really carry the market with them."

Shanken also said that the big growth has been in two categories of imports. The Italian wines, he said, "are inexpensive wines in general so they are the wines people would turn to in terms of a squeeze or pinch on the pocketbook." French winemakers, meanwhile, also have been introducing less expensive wines — in the though we realize that we in no way deserve it.

But still we are not saved when we have taken this gift. One further step is necessary — the step of obedience. We must not only believe that L. Christ can save us; we must accept the forgiveness he offers; and then in the final step we must submit to his lordship and agree to follow him in our daily living. As the old gospel hymn puts it:

"There's no other way, To be happy in Jesus But to trust and obey."

Strength For Today

THREE STEPS

When the jailer at Philippi, terrified by an earthquake and the escape of his prisoners, cried out to Paul, "What shall I do to be saved?" Oayk's simple answer was, "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved."

But that of course is only the first step in salvation. All salvation begins with belief, but very decidedly does not end there. The second step is the step of a broader faith — we accept the forgiveness which comes from God even

Saturday's Cryptoquip - A FIRST-CLASS FENCER FOILS OPPONENTS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals A.

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

New Scenario

LONDON (AP) - The Kremlin is molding a new blitzkrieg battle plan aimed at punching through NATO defenses to win a war in Western Europe in three or four days, before the Allies can get political approval for a nuclear counterstrike, says a leading expert on Soviet military planning.

Christopher Donnelly, a senior analyst at the Soviet Studies Research Center at Sandhurst Royal Military Academy, Britain's equivalent of West Point, said the Soviet objective would be to block reinforcements to the front-line forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and destroy its missile bases, particularly in West Germany.

Connelly's scenario, based on the Soviets' use of tanks, planes, missile and infantry in a lightning offensive, was reported Sunday by the Press Association, Britain's domestic news agency. His analysis will be published shortly in the authoritative journal International Defense Review. British Defense Ministry spokesmen declined comment on the report.

May See Lowering Of Flue-Cured Crop Quota

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Tobacco farmers may see a lowering of their quotas next year because of the surplus created since the Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corp. has had to purchase a record 23 percent of this year's crop, agriculture officials say.

Almost a quarter of the 1982 flue-cured crop will go to stabilization as opposed to 9.27 percent last year, 12.67 percent in 1980 and 7.45 percent in 1979.

"That's more (1982) tobacco than we'd like to have," said Fred G. Bond, director of the Raleigh-based cooperative. "We have concerns when the volume (going to stabilization) exceeds 10 percent."

Bond said stabilization has already accumulated 173 million pounds of leaf during this growing season and is expected to hit the 200 million pound mark by the time most North Carolina markets close in mid-October.

"When you have a quarter of your crop going to stabilization, it appears that (tobacco company) buyers are putting up some resistance to the price supports," said John H. Cyrus, chief of tobacco affairs for the state Department of Agriculture.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is considering several options for next year's quota, which will be set by Dec. 1. One option would reduce the quota by as much as 14 percent.

"I would speculate that one of the most momentous occasions will be the public hearing to set the quota for 1983," said Dr. Charles R. Pugh, tobacco economist for the North Carolina State University Agricultural Extension Service.

Tobacco is purchased on loan by the stabilization when buyers do not offer prices above the federal price support level. A farmer then may obtain a loan on his tobacco at the support level from the stabilization corporation. The farmer-owned stabilization agency sells the tobacco later to pay off the loan.

MOVE TO THE MUSIC

Every morning I keep my figure in shape and my mind in gear. How? By listening to the news on this FM portable radio when I bike + got it at a low saver's price when I moved my checking account to First American.

In retailing we often have busy seasons and cash in the account. So I moved ours to First American's $10,000 short term certificate. Now we're earning at money market rates and I pick up on some beautiful music.

I had a good corn crop this year so I put my money into a retirement program. And I picked a tape player as my choice of one of 13 Soundesign items free or at low saver's prices. First American and Soundesign - two sound reasons for saving.

See this little radio? I got it free with a qualifying deposit from First American. Now I can go shopping and never miss a chapter of my favorite soap. Who says you gotta move with the music? It's drama that sends me.

Pick up on the sound of saving at First American and take home security that brings music to your ears. Now, for a limited time, First American would like you to have a pocket radio with TV channels, a walking stereo, a component cassette system, or one of 10 other choices... just for saving.

FREE. Check the chart below. Make your choice.

Not only can you pick the sound you want to hear, you can pick the savings plan that does the most for your family. And the offer goes like this: you may have a choice of one Soundesign item free or at a low saver's price with a qualifying deposit.

That deposit can be placed in a daily compounding passbook account, a money market security, a retirement plan. It all counts and it's all insured up to $100,000 by the FSLIC, an agency of the Federal Government.

Move some savings to the safety of First American, North Carolina's largest savings and loan association.

NEW 5-YEAR CERTIFICATE 12.75%

Rep. Andrews Denies Driving Under The Influence

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Ike F. Andrews, D-N.C., says he took a drink before his arrest Saturday night on a charge of driving under the influence, but says he was not drunk.

Meanwhile, political observers were speculating about the impact of the arrest on Andrews' race against Republican William W. Cobey.

Andrews was stopped about 10:20 p.m. Saturday after a high-speed chase on U.S. 1-South, the Raleigh beltline, police Lt. C.G. Diedrich said Sunday.

The 4th District congressman was charged with driving under the influence, failure to stop for a blue light, speeding, illegal transportation of liquor with a broken seal and improper vehicle registration.

Andrews, 57, was released on $200 bond, and a court appearance was scheduled for Oct. 18, Diedrich said.

Andrews said he was returning home from Washington when he was arrested. He said he left Washington around 5 p.m. Saturday and had stopped for a drink near Henderson.

"I had a Coca-Cola with a small amount of rum in it," he said, adding that he did not become drunk.

Diedrich said police radar clocked Andrews driving 67 mph in a 55 mph zone and that the congressman was driving erratically.

Andrews allegedly failed to stop when officers turned on their flashing blue lights and siren. He drove almost 3 miles before one patrol car pulled in front of his car to stop him, Diedrich said.

In an interview from his Cary home, Andrews said he did not purposely flee from police.

"I saw the blue lights at some distance, but I had no idea it involved me," he said.

Andrews, 57, refused a Breathalyzer test, Diedrich said. Failure to take a Breathalyzer test can result in suspension of a driver's license for six months, he said.

Andrews said later that "I wish I had taken the Breathalyzer. He said he did not because he wanted to get out of the Wake County Courthouse as quickly as possible.

"The only thing that was on my mind was to get out of there," he said. "More and more reporters kept showing up and the embarrassment was just increasing more and more."

He said he had a blood alcohol test administered at Raleigh Community Hospital after being released by the police, on the advice of his attorneys.

A hospital spokesman said the results would not be released without the permission of Andrews or his lawyers.

Democrats interviewed Sunday said the arrest could severely damage Andrews' chances of reelection.

"It is just sort of being fatal," said V.B. "Hawk" Johnson, a Raleigh bank executive and political counselor to Andrews. "It could be terminal, but it depends on how he acts now."

State Sen. Russell G. Walker, chairman of the state Democratic Party, said, "It's a real unfortunate thing...I don't want to comment too much, but it certainly couldn't have helped him."

Gov. Jim Hunt could not be reached for comment, but Gary Pearce, the governor's press secretary, said Hunt thought the arrest was "very unfortunate but he wants to know more before he says more."

The News and Observer of Raleigh reported that there was talk among some Democrats that Andrews should withdraw from his congressional race, but state Elections Director Alex Brock said it was too late for that.

Andrews kept part of his schedule Sunday, but canceled an appearance in Asheville.

On the Republican side, Cobey could not be reached for comment. But a spokesman said, "Bill thinks it is very unfortunate for him (Andrews) and his family but we have no further comment."

Damaged Hopes Of Reelection

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Gaston County Sheriff C.L. "Sarge" Waldrep's chances for reelection have been damaged due to public outrage over the handling of the case of four deputies who fired shots into a fleeing woman's car May 27, political observers say.

Waldrep's deputies, including one who has now retired, were on trial for firing shots at a car driven by Suzanne Starnes, 24, of Gastonia. The officers mistakenly believed she was helping a parole violator, and they admitted firing six shots during a chase that began after she drove away from her apartment about 1 a.m.

Ms. Starnes, who was not injured, testified she fled in terror because she didn't know the deputies were law enforcement officials when they began pursuing her. The officers were in civilian clothes.

Democrats have been trying to make political gains as a result of the incident, although a Gaston County Superior Court jury found the deputies innocent of wrongdoing.

Jim Funderburk, Gaston County Democratic Party chairman, said the case may help Leroy Russell, Waldrep's Democratic opponent, defeat the GOP incumbent in November.

Even Republican Party Chairman Richard Voorhees said the mixed public comment would have a negative impact on Waldrep's bid.

"I think it will make it a closer race, but I think he (Waldrep) has been a good nuts-and-bolts sheriff and that he will win," Voorhees said. "He has stood up for the prerogatives of his office, and I think the public sees that as a courageous stand."

Waldrep, 50, had heavy Democratic support in his 1974 and 1978 election wins.

He is seeking his third four-year term in a county that has about 58,000 registered voters, and in which Democrats outnumber Republicans about 3 to 1.

Russell, 42, formerly held jobs as a Gaston County magistrate, a Stanley and a Newton police patrolman, a sheriff's deputy and an N.C. driver's license examiner.

AT HOME FEDERAL ON BOTH SHORT-TERM AND LONG-TERM CERTIFICATES

HIGHER INTEREST THAN BANKS ON 7-DAY NOTICE CERTIFICATES

Our New 7-day Notice Certificate combines high money market rates, convenience and safety without tying up your capital. You can add to your account daily and withdraw from your account with just 7 days notice. A great investment for individuals or business. And it's 100% insured by FSLIC up to $100,000. Minimum investment: $20,000

HIGHER INTEREST THAN BANKS ON 91-DAY MONEY MARKET CERTIFICATES

Our insured 91-day Money Market Certificate gives you a better return than any bank can pay on this type of savings. An ideal investment when you want a high interest quick return on your money. And it's better than stock broker's uninsured Money Market Funds, because Home Federal accounts are insured safe up to $100,000. Minimum investment: $7,500.

HIGHER INTEREST THAN BANKS ON 2½ YEAR FIXED RATE CERTIFICATES

Take advantage of our insured 30-month Fixed Rate Certificate to lock in today's high interest rates in your favor—again, better than a bank can pay—for the next two and a half years. And remember: you get the benefit of daily compounding. Relax, and let your money work for you. Minimum investment: Just $500.

CLUB DESTROYED BY FLAMES — "The Hideout" club located near Grimesland off rural paved road 1760, was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. According to the owner Elmond Hardy, the club had not been occupied since Saturday night, a week ago. The owner said he was asleep in his house, which is located next to the club, when the fire was discovered. Hardy said he valued the ten year-old building, which was a total loss, at about $15,000. Fire departments from Grimesland, Clark's Neck and Simpson responded to the 7:48 a.m. call, along with the Eastern Pines Rescue Squad. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

'Pac-Man' Has A Legal Shield

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today shielded the highly successful "Pac-Man" video game from being zapped by similar-looking competitors. The court let stand a decision barring further sales of a home video game known as a "K.C. Munchkin" that closely resembles Pac-Man. The lower court ruling was based on federal copyright law. Both Pac-Man and K.C. Munchkin are maze-chase games employing a player-controlled central character, pursuit characters, dots and power capsules.

Pac-Man features a yellow dot with a V-shaped opening on one side. The "mouth" is visible only when it is open and is otherwise indistinguishable from the rest of the circular character.

K.C. Munchkin features a blue figure with horns and a smile, and its creators claim it has more of a complete character.

Bids Considered

Bids for the Ayden Middle School will be considered at the monthly meeting of the Pitt County Board of Education will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the third floor conference room of the Pitt County Office Building.

The meeting will be preceded by a 1:30 p.m. executive session dealing with a personnel matter.

Ferrell Blount, who replaces William Earl House on the Board of Education, will be sworn in.

For further information contact the office of the superintendent at 752-6106, extension 200.

Chowan Meet Planned Here

Dr. Bruce E. Whitaker, president of Chowan College, will be the speaker.

Alumni and friends of the college may make reservations by calling Bob or Betty Dough, 756-5128.

Crop-Dusting Pilots' Clinic Held

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

ROANOKE RAPIDS — The first ever big scale clinic in North Carolina for crop duster pilots is being held today and tomorrow near Roanoke Rapids, sponsored by the National Agricultural Aviation Association and the North Carolina Agricultural Aviation Association.

Dr. John Wilson, pesticide education specialist at North Carolina State University, Raleigh, said "the fly-in is expected to draw about 50 dust crop pilots from North Carolina and also from other states.

"The major purpose of the clinic is to test the accuracy of their equipment and the efficiency of pilots in flying and handling this equipment," Wilson said.

"Previous tests on an individual basis to determine a pilot's accuracy of application have been conducted mainly through spraying of cards placed on the ground, using dyed liquid," Wilson explained.

"At this clinic, pilots will spray dyed liquid on a tape stretched on the ground, one about 100 feet long and only about one and one-half inch wide. But instead of a general reading of the spray pattern to determine a pilot's accuracy, each tape will be fed into a computer to give us a read out on the pattern and accuracy of each pilot's application."

Some of the indicators being looked for is whether a pilot sprays directly on target, or whether his flying and his equipment results in a pattern of spraying more to the right or left of the tape target.

Wilson said this morning's fair weather and lack of wind was ideal for the purposes of the clinic.

"At this time in North Carolina pilots can request to be given accuracy tests, but I think that soon such certification will become a mandatory requirement," Wilson commented.

The first 25 pilots with their planes are being tested today, with the other 25 expected to be tested Tuesday in the second day of the clinic.

Views On Dental Health

Kenneth T. Perkins, D.D.S., P.A.

BABY BOTTLE TOOTH DECAY

From a dental point of view, nursing babies from bottles can cause problems. Dentally-speaking-what's the worst thing you can do to a baby? Stick him in his crib with a bottle at nap time and let him fall asleep with the bottle in his mouth. Milk or juice in the mouth and on the teeth turns to acid and causes teeth to break down rapidly. Many babies who sleep with a baby bottle develop severe tooth decay, often in their front teeth. The problem is not the bottle but what's in it. The sugar in the milk, formula, or fruit juices causes the decay. Sometimes, these teeth become so decayed they cause severe pain and may break off or have to be pulled. During the day, the baby swallows these drinks quickly, so there is no damage to the teeth. But during sleep, the liquid pools behind the baby's teeth and keeps them bathed in sugar for hours.

One solution is to give baby the last feeding before bedtime. If your baby is still using a bottle when his teeth begin to appear, let him use it for short periods of time awake or sitting up. If he is using a bottle as a pacifier, put water in the bottle.

Revival Underway

Services on Sunday are Sunday School at 11 a.m., and morning worship at 12 noon with Elder Marvin Farmer to speak. The pastor of the church is Inetta Fleming.

First rate investments for your All Savers money.

Most of you who invested in All Savers Certificates last year have used your allowable interest exclusion. So, to maintain your high return on savings, we suggest reinvesting your All Savers money in one or more of North State's high interest financial products.

Whether you require high return, liquidity or a tax deductible IRA, North State offers you the highest rates in North Carolina for comparable financial products.

13.00%* 30-Month C.D.

With a $500 minimum deposit, you can "lock in" today's high interest rates with our 30-Month C.D. If you do not need short-term liquidity, these certificates will offer you the highest return.

* This is an effective annual yield based on daily compounding of a nominal rate of 12.22%.

11.00%* 6-Month C.D.

North State's $1,000 minimum deposit, 6-month C.D. earns a higher rate of return than money market certificates with a much lower minimum balance. Our 6-month C.D.'s offer you short-term liquidity combined with high interest.

* This is an effective annual yield based on daily compounding of a nominal rate of 10.44%.

Funds Management

Our Funds Management<sup>SM</sup> account outrates any 7-day certificate and pays you a much higher interest. Plus, you may open a Funds Management<sup>SM</sup> account with a minimum deposit of $1,000...not $20,000 like 7-day certificates. If you want short-term liquidity without tying up your money, look into Funds Management.<sup>SM</sup>

13.00%* Fixed Rate IRA

Our $100 minimum deposit fixed rate IRA offers you the tax advantages of IRA's and the highest rates of North State. If you are considering opening an IRA or adding to an existing IRA account, our 30-month fixed rate IRA can earn you more for retirement.

* This is an effective annual yield based on daily compounding of a nominal rate of 12.22%.

10.23%* Variable Rate IRA

North State's $100 minimum deposit variable rate IRA will vary in return according to the money market. Each quarter, we set the variable rate according to prevailing money market conditions. The current rate will change this October 1st, so ask your North State Customer Service Representative for details.

* This is an effective annual yield based on daily compounding of a nominal rate of 9.737%.

You get the highest rate at North State.

If you want the highest returns on your savings, switch to North State. We structure our interest rates to pay more than any other bank or savings institution in the state. And your deposits are insured to $100,000 for a safe, high return.

Drop by North State and ask about our many high interest savings products. You'll agree, they're first rate investments.

Poultry
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina f.o.b. dock broiler market was steady. Supplies moderate. Demand moderate to good. The dock weighted average price for this week is 41.44 for small purchases of plant grade broilers picked up at processing plants. Estimated slaughter today, 1,775,000.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices declined broadly today as traders' hopes for lower interest rates suffered a setback.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 9.47 to 898.27 by noon.

Declining issues outnumbered advances by more than 2 to 1 among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average climbed 11.49 points Friday as investors anticipated a substantial decline in the money supply, and possibly a cut in the Federal Reserve's discount rate.

But after the close on Friday, the Fed surprised Wall Street with a report of a $400 million increase in the basic measure of the money supply for the week ended Sept. 22. It took no action on the discount rate.

Analysts said that dual disappointment threw cold water on hopes that had been building up Friday for a further decline in interest rates.

Johnson & Johnson dropped 2 to 41 1/2. The investigation continues into who might have introduced cyanide into some capsules of J&J's Extra-Strength Tylenol, resulting in seven deaths in the Chicago area.

The NYSE's composite index fell 62 to 69.39. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off 1.97 at 281.15.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 23.76 million shares at noon, against 27.08 million at the same point Friday.

Kleindienst Is Barred

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today permanently banned former Attorney General Richard Kleindienst from practicing before it.

The justices, in a brief written order, went far beyond the disciplinary actions taken against Kleindienst in his home state of Arizona.

The court said Kleindienst is "disbarred from the practice of law in this court" and ordered that "his name be stricken from the roll of attorneys admitted to practice before the bar of this court."

The high court's two Arizona Justices William H. Rehnquist and Sandra Day O'Connor, did not participate in the Kleindienst matter.

Kleindienst, who served as U.S. attorney general under former President Richard Nixon, was acquitted of 14 state perjury charges stemming from a bar association investigation of his role as a lawyer in a scheme to siphon millions of dollars from a Teamsters Union welfare fund.

But the state bar association took its charges to the Arizona Supreme Court, and on April 23, 1982 the state's highest court found Kleindienst had lied under oath on two occasions during the investigation.

The Tucson lawyer was suspended from practicing law in Arizona until May 9, 1983.

Last June 1, the nation's highest court suspended

Chamber Group Tours Columbia

By JERRY RAYNOR
 Reflector Staff Writer

The trip to Columbia, Missouri by a contingent of Greenville and Pitt County citizens, including representatives of the city and county governments and the Pitt-Greenville Chamber of Commerce, was a most informative venture, according to Larkin Little, chairman of the Chamber.

"We arrived back in Greenville about 6:30 Sunday night," Little said, "and all of us who went will be getting together soon to compile a synopsis of our impressions, our findings, and the ways we can put to good use things we learned while visiting Columbia."

Little said one of "the most impressive things about the city of Columbia is the vitality of its downtown area. Everything is alive and well in the center of the city, so that's one of the things we'll be taking a close look at when we prepare our synopsis which we plan to give wide distribution."

In Columbia, Greenville representatives met with city officials, people from the medical school and the University of Missouri located at Columbia.

"All these people were very helpful," Little said. "In our time with them, we found out that Greenville is doing a lot of things the right way, but we also came back with a lot of ideas about things we can do in Greenville that will be helpful for the city and the county."

In addition to Larkin, those attending included Mayor Percy Cox, City Council member Mrs. Janice Buck, County Commissioner Kelly Barnhill, Dave Mosier, executive director of the Downtown Greenville Association, and Ed Walker, president of the Pitt-Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

Braves Find Victory In Defeat; Brewers Win East

Atlanta Falls, But Clinches West Title As San Fran Fells Dodgers

By The Associated Press
And so, on the final day of the regular season, the Atlanta Braves found victory in defeat. They won the National League West because the Los Angeles Dodgers lost it.

Perhaps that's not entirely fair to the Braves, who began the season like they would never lose, winning a record 13 straight games. But then they faltered in midseason, only to win the West title in spitting fashion, backing in on the coattails of the Dodger defeat to San Francisco.

The Braves lost 5-1 Sunday to the San Diego Padres and had to wait about 45 minutes for the outcome of the Dodgers' game at San Francisco to know if they would win the division outright or be forced into a one-game playoff tonight at Los Angeles.

That was settled when Jo Morgan smashed a three-run homer in the seventh inning off Terry Forster to lift the Giants to a 5-3 victory.

The Braves were in — their first division title since 1969. "The cream came to the top and we're it," said Braves Manager Joe Torre, his uniform soaked with champagne from the locker room victory celebration.

Atlanta opens a best-of-five series Wednesday afternoon against the Cardinals, the NL East champions, in St. Louis. The Cardinals ended their season with a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs in 14 innings.

Although the Braves didn't close the season on a winning note, they didn't complain.

"I don't care how we did it, it's done," said Braves' slugger Dale Murphy. "We've just taken the longest and toughest step."

The Braves took a one-run lead on Terry Harper's leadoff homer in the top of the fifth off San Diego left-hander Tim Lollar, 16-9, who had retired the previous 10 batters and had not given up a hit.

The Padres, however, scored five runs in the bottom of the inning, highlighted by Alan Wiggins' bases-loaded triple.

Rick Camp, 11-13, was the loser.

Giants 5, Dodgers 3

Morgan knew the Giants wouldn't hear the end of it from hometown fans if they hadn't beat the archrival Dodgers.

"All that people would have been talking about, if we hadn't won this game, was how we folded and lost the last three games to the Dodgers," said Morgan, 39.

Reliever Greg Minton, 10-4, was the winning pitcher. Tom Niedenfuer, 3-4, was the loser after leaving with runners on second and third before giving way to Terry Forster in the seventh.

ing in his third and last opportunity for his 20th season victory, pitched the first six innings for the Dodgers, allowing only two hits and striking out nine. But he was removed in the top of the seventh for a pinch hitter. Ron Cey hit his 24th homer, a two-run shot in the second. Cardinals 5, Cubs 4
St. Louis ended the season on a high note by snapping a four-game losing streak with the extra-inning victory over Chicago. The Cards hadn't won since clinching their division title last Monday. Julio Gonzalez provided the big hit of the game when he led off the 14th inning with a home run, his first of the season. He had four hits in the game.

Eric Rasmussen, 1-2, was the winning pitcher and Ken Kravec, 1-1 was the loser.

Phillies 4, Mets 1
Steve Carlton, 23-11 and the major leagues' only 20-game winner, stopped the Mets on four hits and one walk while striking out 12. He also won his fourth NL strikeout title with 286.

Mike Schmidt stroked his 35th homer of the season, a two-run shot in the fifth to give the Phillies a 4-1 lead. New York's lone run came in the first on Ron Gardenhire's homer, his third of the season.

Ed Lynch, 4-8, was the losing pitcher.

A 'Robin' Shoots Down Birds As Milwaukee Pounds Orioles, 10-2

By The Associated Press
It took a Robin to finally bring down the Orioles.

"I knew this club would come back, and it did," said Milwaukee Manager Harvey Kuenn after Robin Yount's slugging helped the Brewers beat Baltimore 10-2 on the final day of the regular season Sunday, giving them their first American League East title. "They were relaxed for every game here."

The Orioles were doing all the winning before Sunday. They had taken the first three games of the big series and pulled even in the race, threatening to take the division championship in dramatic fashion for departing Manager Earl Weaver.

However, the Brewers got a quick 3-0 lead Sunday — thanks in part to two solo home runs by Yount — and virtually took charge from the beginning. Yount also blasted a triple in his big day.

"This has been a club of character right along," Yount said. "We were loose throughout this series. We approached every game with the same attitude, with a positive feeling. Today was no different."

Both of Yount's homers came against Baltimore ace Jim Palmer. The first one, in the first inning, was on an outside fastball which Yount hit to the opposite field.

"That's the sign of a good hitter," said Palmer.

Catcher Rick Dempsey then suggested pitching Yount in, Palmer said.

"So the next time, he hits it over the left-field wall."

Cecil Cooper and Ted Simmons also hit home runs to boost the Brewers' major league-leading total to 216, and Don Sutton, the National League expatriate, pitched eight gutsy innings, scattering eight hits.

"I knew all along this club would win, with or without me," Sutton said. "This is the best collection of talent I ever played with. I'm glad to go along for the ride."

The Brewers advanced to the AL championship series against California starting Tuesday night in Anaheim.

Angels 7, Rangers 6

Gary Pettis blasted a home run with one out in the ninth inning, his first major league hit, leading California over Texas. Pettis' homer came off reliever Danny Darwin, 10-8, and made a winner of Mickey Mahler, 2-0, the seventh California pitcher.

The Rangers had worked their way back from a 6-0

Braves Get A Little Help From A Friend

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Losing 5-1 and down to their last out, the Atlanta Braves knew they needed outside help to win their first National League Western Division title since 1969.

Miraculously, they got it — 500 miles away in San Francisco — to survive one of baseball's wildest three-way races.

"This is the way this crazy season should end," said Braves' slugger Dale Murphy after Joe Morgan's three-run homer in the seventh inning gave the San Francisco Giants a 5-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Sunday.

The Giants' victory prevented the Dodgers from tying the Braves and forcing a one-game playoff. For Atlanta, 5-1 losers to San Diego, it was enough to finish one game ahead of the Dodgers and Giants in the NL West.

But the champagne celebration was delayed 45 minutes until the Braves, watching on television as 100 newsmen waited outside, cheered the final out in San Francisco.

To Murphy, it seemed a fitting end to a nerve-wracking season.

"We won 13 in a row, then we lose 19 of 21, then right at the last minute we have to watch TV to find out our fate. It seems like that's the way it should be," said Murphy.

Morgan instantly was toasted in three cities — San Francisco, San Diego and Atlanta.

"Whatever Joe Morgan wants, it's my treat," said Atlanta third baseman Bob Horner, who climbed a chair in the chaotic clubhouse to offer a toast to the Braves and the Giants.

"I guarantee he (Morgan) will get a telegram saying, 'Thank You,'" said Braves' relief ace Steve Bedrosian, soaked from gushers of champagne and beer.

Manager Joe Torre had a

BALTIMORE (AP) — Winning 33 of 44 games wasn't bad, but it wasn't good enough.

Yet, after the Baltimore Orioles were demolished 10-2 by the Milwaukee Brewers and lost the American League East championship on the final day of the season, their fans stayed around to cheer.

They wanted to say one final farewell to Manager Earl Weaver, who retired after the Orioles bowed out, ending a 14½-year stint with the club.

Responding to the cheers of, "We want Earl," Weaver came out of the clubhouse to wave goodbye and throw kisses to his followers.

Then Weaver sent word for the players whose stretch drive fell just short to come out for a curtain call. Most of them responded, in various stages of undress.

Weaver later reappeared and helped self-appointed cheerleader Wild Bill Hagy lead the fans one last time to spell out: "O-R-I-O-L-E-S." It was an emotional scene.

Manager Harvey Kuenn of the Brewers came across the field to greet Weaver, and Baltimore owner Edward Bennett Williams came out of the stands to add his good wishes.

"I congratulated Earl on a fine job and told him it was a

Last Saturday afternoon, East Carolina University's Pirates had the opportunity to go a long way towards erasing some of the "Who's That?" syndrome that has followed them as the school has attempted to build its football program.

Unfortunately, things conspired against them to make it just another losing afternoon.

Now — before all you hot and heavy Pirate fans get their dander up, let us explain.

First, East Carolina had the opportunity to beat a Big Eight team that had a reputation nationally. It might not have been the best of the Big Eight teams, but it certainly is one of the more well-known. When you mention Missouri, most folks connect it with the Big Eight — you know, Oklahoma, Nebraska. Mention Iowa or Iowa State and most don't know which is Big Eight or Big Ten.

Secondly, it didn't turn out that way. One of the foremost reasons was that quarterback Greg Stewart was on the bench following asthma problems. He's had these problems before, and it could be the pre-game nervousness that brings it on. For sure, when he's not in there, the Pirate passing game suffers.

While Kevin Ingram brings in perhaps a better running attack, Stewart by comparison, is the better passer. And the Pirates needed their passing attack to be able to have a true shot at beating Missouri.

That the Pirates stuck so close to the Tigers was in itself proof that the program has advanced. With ten minutes left to go in the contest, it was only 14-9, and the Pirates had a chance, if they could have scored a touchdown, to take the lead and maybe pull out the win.

But it was not to be. Missouri came through with a long drive, then scored again on a breakaway that put the game out of reach.

And therein lies the most unfortunate part of the whole story. Those last two touchdowns made what was actually a very close game look like a runaway. And probably 95 percent of the people who see that score will see only that — the final score. They will not know — or care — that the Pirates played a game that they can be proud of, even in defeat.

Moral victory? Maybe, but there are no columns for moral victories on the sports pages or record books. There are only wins and losses, and sometimes that can seem unfair.

Maybe the stats of the game were lopsided with over 400 yards for Missouri and only just over 200 for the Pirates.

But East Carolina's defense spent a lot of time on the field Saturday. They played hard and did their best under the circumstances against one of the best passing teams in the country. They took advantage of the linebacking problems of the Pirates and made it pay off.

Much of that 400+ yards, too, came late in the game when the Pirate defense was worn out. Unless the offense generates something, it's hard to keep the defense fresh.

And without Stewart, the Pirates didn't generate much offense.

So most of the people who are not die-hard ECU fans won't know all that anyway. They'll just see the final score, 28-9? Just another losing afternoon for the upstart Pirates.

shame he's retiring," Kuenn said. "He's been a credit to baseball."

"I thought it was very nice of him to postpone his celebration in order to come over and talk to me," Weaver said of Kuenn.

Weaver, who has signed on for the next two years as a consultant with the Orioles, said he didn't know what to expect in retirement.

"I don't know if boredom will set in," he said. "Retirement is only a word I've heard. I don't know what it holds."

But he contended that he didn't think he could face another long spring training session followed by a 162-game schedule.

Weaver's final game provided an ironic twist when he went to the mound for one last time to replace pitcher Jim Palmer, his longtime antagonist.

Asked what words were exchanged at final summit meeting, Weaver recalled Palmer saying, "I wish I could have done better, or words to that effect."

"I told him he had been my stopper, and had been for 14 years," Weaver said.

Palmer, noting that he and Weaver will be teammates as analysts for ABC-TV for some of the postseason games, joked: "Earl thought he had gotten away from me."

Then he added of his future sidekick in the announcing booth: "Now maybe he'll learn something about the game."

General Manager Hank Peters of the Orioles said a replacement for Weaver would be announced in the not too distant future.

ECU's Floyd, Schulz Gain Player Honors

East Carolina center John Floyd and defensive end Jody Schulz have been named offensive and defensive Players of the Week for their efforts in ECU's 28-9 loss to Missouri Saturday.

The picks were made Sunday after the ECU coaching staff reviewed films of Saturday's game.

Schulz, a 6-4, 235-pound senior who is being touted as an All-American, had 16 tackles — including a sack that knocked Missouri quarterback Marlon Alder out of the game.

Schulz, who is from Chester, Md., had six solo and six primary tackles, and four of his tackles resulted in 23 yards in losses.

"If the All-American selection committee would look at the Missouri films there would be no question that Jody Schulz would be an All-American," ECU coach Ed Emory said.

Floyd, a 6-1, 248-pound junior, had a "great game against Missouri," Emory said. "It was probably the best center play we've had since I've been here. Missouri had a real good nose guard and John was knocked down only once."

Emory and his staff also named speciality team players.

The offensive specialist was freshman Jeff Heath, who accounted for all nine ECU points with three field goals. The defensive specialists were Curtis Wyatt, a sophomore. Wyatt recovered a fumble punt to set up one of the Pirates' three field goals.

ECU, now 2-2 this season, returns to action Saturday night when the Pirates play host to Richmond.

Emory will be at the Quarterback Club again tonight beginning at six o'clock at the Ramada Inn. Emory will answer questions about the Missouri game, ECU's upcoming game with Richmond and other questions pertaining to ECU football.

U.S., France In Finals

By The Associated Press
The United States and France both earned berths in next month's Davis Cup finals, but they took very different routes getting there.

Led by fiery John McEnroe, the Americans swept past Australia 5-0, finishing the whitewashing in Perth with a pair of singles victories Sunday. France was extended to the limit, though, with Yannick Noah winning the decisive match in a 3-2 triumph over New Zealand in Aix-en-Provence, France.

The winners will meet Nov.

26-28 at Grenoble, France, with the Americans going after their second straight Davis Cup victory.

McEnroe and Peter Fleming combined Saturday for the clinching doubles victory over Peter McNamara and John Alexander, and it was simply a matter of playing out the string Sunday as McEnroe rolled past Alexander 6-3, 6-3 and Gene Mayer stopped Mark Edmondson — subbing for the injured McNamara — 6-4, 6-3.

Those two matches were shortened to best-two-of-three because the United States already had clinched the victory.

"The first three matches were tough, particularly the doubles," McEnroe said. "But, after that..."

Neale Fraser, the Australian team captain, said his team played as well as it could have despite the result.

"All we needed was something extra to go our way in those first three games," Fraser noted.

New Zealander Chris Lewis kept his team's hopes alive in Sunday's first singles, beating Thierry Tulasne 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 to tie the overall match at 2-2. But Noah put France into the Cup finals for the first time since 1933 — when the French lost to Britain — by sweeping past Russell Simpson 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Looking ahead to meeting the Americans in France, Noah said, "We can bother them on clay. We won't have anything to lose. And we're capable of creating some surprises."

Willes Win Doubles Title

Carl and Carlie Wille took their eighth mixed doubles club championship Sunday, downing Howard and Nancy Powell 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 to win the "A" flight of the Greenville Country Club's Jack Stoughton Memorial Championships at the Greenville Country Club.

Barbara and Jim Moye slipped past Carolyn Powell and Jim Black 5-7, 6-3, 6-4 to win the "B" flight.

In the men's "A" doubles, Paul Camnitz and Larry Graham defeated Joe Davis and Bill Monroe 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. Larry Land and Jim Moye downed Dick Larson and Bill Turcotte 6-4, 6-2 to win the men's "B" title.

In the women's "A" championship, Myra Hill and Carlie Wille whipped Sydney Womack and Mary Angela Lee 6-1, 6-1. Barbara Moye and Carolyn Powell defeated Reva Brown and Linda Muller 7-5, 6-3 for the "B" crown.

Sally Ann Atkinson and Clarine Powell downed Dee Chaffee and Lynda Wilms 6-2, 6-2 to win the women's "B" consolation.

Exec Committee May Join Negotiators In NFL Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League Management Council's executive committee was considering joining its negotiators at the bargaining table in response to the union's position that it was a way toward ending the players' strike.

"Sure, we'll take a look at it. We'll give it some consideration," Jack Donlan, the owners' chief negotiator said Sunday of a proposal by Ed Garvey, the executive director of the players union.

Garvey, who has repeatedly rejected the presence of a mediator at the talks, said it would be "a reasonable step" if the owners' executive committee would join the negotiations and if, despite their presence for a couple of days, the bargaining remained stalled. Donlan said he wouldn't feel that the committee of owners was undercutting him if it chose to accept Garvey's invitation.

But Donlan also didn't hold out much hope that Garvey's apparent shift would have a significant effect in ending the 14-day strike. "It's interesting that for a couple of months Garvey said it was too soon for a mediator and now he's saying it's too late," Donlan said.

He also said Garvey's offer could be construed as a means of prolonging player support for the strike. "All things considered," Donlan said, "we think he's saying these things so he can placate the players."

"They meet with us for three days (in Washington) and don't do anything. Then he can tell the players, 'Hang on; we can get the owners to the table.' Maybe that'll be good for a week. Then he can tell them, 'Hang on; there's going to be a mediator at the table.' I can see where the players would say to themselves, 'Wait a minute; maybe something's going to change.' But it's just another excuse to keep the strike going."

Donlan also called Garvey's apparent offer the "same old bull. Even if the owners come to the table, Garvey'll find some other way to avoid it (mediation). It'll be, 'Oh, they didn't take us seriously,' or 'They didn't give us this,' or something."

Donlan also said the owners would consider opening training camps, closed to all workouts since the strike began Sept. 21, and would take immediate legal action to prevent the union from staging the first of what is supposed to be a 20-game all-star series, Sunday at RFK Stadium in Washington. "We feel the players have an obligation to play football for use," Donlan said. "We're going to take steps to enjoy them from playing any other football games."

deficit and tied the score in the eighth on a two-run homer by Pete O'Brien, who also doubled home two runs in a three-run sixth.

A's 6, Royals 3
Joe Rudi and Dave McKay drove in two runs apiece to lead Oakland over Kansas City.

The A's broke a 3-3 tie when Mike Heath singled with one out in the fourth and Rudi clubbed his fifth homer to put the A's up 5-3. Loser Larry Gura, 18-12, also gave up a two-run homer to McKay in the second.

Brian Kingman, 4-12, was the winner.

Red Sox 5, Yankees 3
Dwight Evans and Jim Rice belted consecutive home runs in the first inning and Rick Miller snapped a 3-3 tie with a run-scoring single in the 11th as Boston defeated New York.

Mike Brown earned his first major league victory with four innings of four-hit, scoreless relief. He struck out one and walked one.

Rudy May, 6-6, was the victim of Boston's 11th-inning rally.

Blue Jays 5, Mariners 2
Willie Upshaw's two-run triple snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning and Jim Clancy fired a five-hitter as Toronto completed the best season in its six-year history.

Clancy, 16-14, who came within a broken-bat ninth inning single of a perfect game in his last start, struck out seven and walked one as the Blue Jays closed with a 78-84 record. The loss was Seattle's sixth in a row.

Tigers 9, Indians 1
Alan Trammell homered and singled to drive in three runs and Jerry Ujdr scattered seven hits in eight innings as Detroit beat Cleveland.

Ujdr, 10-10, struck out four and walked one before getting relief help in the ninth from Howard Bailey.

Loser Rick Sutcliffe, 14-8, gave up Trammell's two-run homer in the fourth. Trammell also belted an RBI single in the sixth.

White Sox 6, Twins 1
Tom Paciorek and Harold Baines hit home runs and Marc Hill drove in three runs as Chicago whipped Minnesota behind LaMarr Hoyt's seven-hitter.

Hoyt, 19-15, struck out six and walked two for his 14th complete game of the season. Brad Havens, 10-14, took the loss.

Baines finished the season with 105 runs batted in, the most by a White Sox player since Richie Allen's total of 113 in 1972.

21-season career with a single in the bottom of the first. He left the game later in the inning for a pinch runner to a standing ovation from the 14,948 hometown fans.

Jim Fannin also stepped down as manager of Montreal to take another post with the Expos. He had been under fire by the fans most of the season for team's failure to repeat as NL East champions.

Tim Wallach cracked a three-run homer in the sixth and Andre Dawson a solo shot in the fourth to support the five-hit performance of Steve Rogers, 19-8. It was Wallach's 28th homer of the season and Dawson's 23rd.

Pittsburgh's Al Oliver, who had two singles in three at bats, won his first batting title with a .331 average and second baseman Johnny Ray became the second rookie in NL history to appear in all 162 of his team's games.

Don Robinson, 15-13, was tagged with the loss.

Astros 3, Reds 0
Right-hander Joe Niekro recorded his fifth shutout and 16th complete game in firing a three-hitter against Cincinnati. He struck out four and walked three in finishing 17-12.

Dickie Thon scored two runs off loser Frank Pastore, 8-13, both after receiving walks.

Atlanta Gets Some Help...

final word for those who doubted the Braves' staying power.

"They talked about the Dodgers' experience. They talked about our inexperience. All I know is the cream came to the top and we're it," said Torre, who guided the Braves to the title after being fired by the New York Mets last year.

He rejected the notion that the Braves backed into the title.

"If winning five of the last seven games on the road is backing in, then that's fine," he said.

Atlanta owner Ted Turner, whose broadcasting company labeled the Braves "America's Team" because of their coast-to-coast audience, called the triumph by baseball's youngest team "just the beginning."

"We stuck together through thick and thin," he said. "We finished last four years in a row — a record under divisional play — but we hung together."

"It's been seven rough years," agreed infielder Jerry Royster, recalling the hard times.

"We went through 101 losses in a season (1977) and a 17-game losing streak. It was total embarrassment. Now, finally, this," he said, breaking into a coast-to-coast grin.

Phil Niekro, the 43-year-old veteran of Atlanta's staff, says the Braves won't knuckle under in the best-of-5 series against the St. Louis Cardinals, winners of the National League East.

"You go to spring training with the World Series as your goal — and that's our next step," said Niekro, 17-4, who will open against the Cardinals Wednesday.

The Braves, who finished last in the NL West in 1976, 1977, 1978 and 1979, are chasing their first World Series crown since 1958 when the club was in Milwaukee.

"We've just taken the longest and toughest step," said Murphy, who tied for the runs batted in title with 109 and finished second in homers with 36.

"We can beat anybody now," said Bedrosian.

Until Morgan's homer, it looked like a freak play might cost the Braves dearly.

For Insomniacs: CBS 'Nightwatch' Makes Debut

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Starting today, insomniacs, night workers and news addicts who don't get cable television can exchange four hours for "a breath of the world" — several times around — in the "CBS News Nightwatch."

The Monday-through-Friday program began today at 2 a.m. EDT. "Nightwatch" is the largest regularly scheduled block of network news ever. It also is the biggest chunk in the networks' growing news lineup competing with Ted Turner's Cable News Network and all-night and all-news radio.

And when ABC News' 12-1 a.m. program debuts Oct. 26, it will just about close the loop. A viewer could start with the local news, watch "Nightline," ABC's yet-unnamed hour show, break for a half hour with David Letterman, then move to "NBC News Overnight" before catching "Nightwatch."

That brings the early bird — or late bird — to 6 a.m. and the new dawn patrol news programs leading into "Today," "Good Morning America" and the "CBS Morning News." Over the past year, the networks have added nearly 40 hours of regularly scheduled news and information program a week. "A whole culture lives at that time of the night," says Robert Ferrante, executive producer of "Nightwatch." Nielsen says 5 million people watch TV from 2 to 6. They're not a strange audience, just another facet of society."

Among Ferrante's untapped target viewers are the people who move America's food and produce overnight, the entertainment world's "support group" and police and fire officials. "Some of these people haven't been available for any news," he says. On some nights, as many as 6 million listeners tune to radio's "Larry King Show," a call-in, interview program. An average of 1.25 million homes watch "NBC News Overnight" from 1:30-2:30.

Ferrante says "Nightwatch" will be different from the slightly irreverent "NBC News Overnight."

Each of the program's four anchors — Harold Dow, Christopher Glenn, Felicia Jeter and Karen Stone — will have an hour as solo newscaster. While off the anchor desk, the other three can produce reporting pieces and do interviews. Ferrante says the first 90 minutes of the show will have more news and features. From 3:30 to 5, the pace will be a little slower, and the program will repeat some reports. The last hour will focus more on business for an early-rising audience.

Carson Signs A Long Contract

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Within hours of celebrating his 20th anniversary as host of "The Tonight Show," Johnny Carson announced a new contract with NBC, silencing speculation that his association with the network would not reach the 21st year.

Carson made the announcement at a party Sunday night after a nostalgic television special marking his two decades with the late-night show.

The length of the new contract and its financial terms were not announced. Network officials said Carson signed the contract in September and it went into effect immediately, replacing a previous three-year contract that still had one year to run.

In announcing the new contract, he told his staff, "I talked with Grant Tinker two weeks ago and said, 'As long as we're doing the show as well as we are doing, I want to continue. Even though we still have another year to run (on the current contract) we will continue beyond that.'"

The staff broke into applause, and Carson added: "Besides, if I stay at home, Joanna (his wife) would kill me." There had been speculation that Carson would not stay with NBC because of declining ratings for the show. Carson has dismissed the reports, saying that while his show may lose to the competition on a given night, his overall ratings are the highest for the time slot.

On the TV special, Carson, 56, marked his 20 years with a two-hour retrospective of favorite clips from past shows. The audience at NBC's Burbank studios gave Carson a standing ovation when he stepped on stage Sunday night.

"Twenty years ago in New York the audience stood up and I thought they were leaving," he said, smiling.

Carson took over the show from host Jack Paar on Oct. 1, 1962, after several years as host of the ABC game show "Who Do You Trust?"

Backstage, before the anniversary show began, announcer Ed McMahon said, "I figured at the most we'd go five years. But it's been 5,120 shows since then, counting Johnny and all of substitute hosts."

McMahon said, "Twenty years ago, I went to Carson and asked him what my role would be. Johnny said, 'I don't even know what my role is.'"

The signing of the new pact was marked contrast to that of Carson's last contract on May 6, 1980. The agreement was preceded by a dispute between Carson and former NBC President Fred Silverman, who felt the show's ratings dropped when Carson was absent and wanted him to work more often.

It appeared almost certain Carson would quit the show until NBC agreed to cut the 90-minute show to one hour and his appearances to four a week. His annual salary was reportedly raised to substantially more than $5 million. At the time the show netted an estimated $30 million for the network.

Carson's relationship with Tinker, who is Silverman's successor and NBC board chairman, has been much quieter.

Tinker said in a statement released Sunday night, "Along with many millions of viewers, we're delighted that Johnny has agreed to continue doing 'The Tonight Show.'"

"Despite the best efforts of the competition, 1982 marks his 20th consecutive year as 'The King of Late Night Television.'

Mall Protested By Entertainers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Entertainers Walter Matthau, Peter Graves, Nanette Fabray, Bo Swenson, John Raitt and Dom DeLuise joined about 700 residents of the Pacific Palisades at a weekend rally to protest a proposed shopping mall.

Saturday's gathering was prompted by plans to raze the 58-year-old Santa Monica Land and Water Co. building in this quiet, stylish section of Los Angeles to make room for the three-story mall. Residents, already upset about weekend traffic, have created a group called Preserve Pacific Palisades Inc. and have gathered 8,000 signatures opposing the mall.

N.C. Weekend Traffic Claims Fifteen Lives

By The Associated Press
Fifteen people died in traffic accidents on North Carolina highways this weekend, including three in a head-on collision in Onslow County Saturday night.

The weekend deaths brought the toll for the year to 925, compared to 1,102 at the same time last year.

The two-vehicle crash in Onslow County occurred at 8:50 p.m. Saturday on U.S. 17, five miles north of Jacksonville. The state Highway Patrol said the accident happened when a car driven by Michael J. Rutledge, a Camp Lejeune Marine, crossed the center line, striking another car head-on.

The patrol identified the two in the other car as Kilmer Pasture Fisher, 54, and Jessie Payton Fisher, 55, both of Merritt.

In other accidents, two Guilford County people died in separate accidents in High Point, the patrol said.

Raymond D. Bennett, 34, died Saturday night when the car he was driving veered out of control in High Point around 10:30 p.m. And Freddie Monroe Smith, 35, died early Sunday after being thrown from the car he was driving, which had run off the side of a road in High Point.

Larry Wayne Hall, 17, of Rosman was killed after being run over while lying on U.S. 64 in Transylvania County, two miles west of his hometown at 3:50 a.m. Sunday, the patrol said.

Mark Vinson Thompson, 18, of Whiteville, died when he lost control of the car he was driving. The car ran off the road, striking a tree at 12:15 a.m. Sunday on N.C. 905 in Columbus County.

One of three pedestrians changing the tire of a car partially parked in the roadway on Interstate 77 south of U.S. 21 in Iredell County was killed when he was struck by a car. Roy Stephen Collings, 25, of Cornelius, was killed about 10:45 p.m. Saturday.

Another pedestrian was killed Saturday at 9:48 p.m. inside the Clinton city limits in Sampson County. Hattie Ann Boyette, 88, of Clinton, was killed when a car backed over her, troopers said.

A car traveling east on N.C. 82 in Cumberland County struck and killed Icem Thomas McLamb, 60, of Godwin about 9:25 p.m. Saturday.

John Michael Trexler, 18, of Richfield, was killed when he drove his motorcycle off a rural Rowan County road near Salisbury and struck a tree Saturday.

Clayton E. Card, 56, of Asheville, N.Y., died Saturday afternoon when the car he was riding was struck by another vehicle. The patrol said the other vehicle was trying to pass another car on N.C. 12, south of Nags Head.

Stuart Odell Watkins, 10, of Thomasville was killed at 8:20 a.m. Saturday when he drove a motorcycle in front of an oncoming vehicle on a rural road three miles south of his hometown.

Charles Melvin Wade, 34, of Wilkesboro, was killed at 6 a.m. Saturday when the car he was driving ran off N.C. 16, hit a ditch and caught on fire. The accident happened about five miles south of Wilkesboro.

Helen Wike Reese, 51, of Taylorsville was killed in a head-on accident on N.C. 127 at 8:20 p.m. Friday.

The accident occurred when one car pulled onto the road, was hit in the rear by another car, which was pushed into the path of the car Ms. Reese was driving.

Find China Not So Inscrutable

FAR EASTERN COWBOY — Using an urga — a 15-foot birch pole with a leather noose — this Chinese cowboy tries to rope a wild Mongolian

By MIKE FEINSILBER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

When the National Geographic Society publishes a book about a country, it doesn't stint. Today, it published a book about China on which its photographers expended 1,181 rolls of 36-exposure film.

Few but the National Geographic, richly endowed and with a membership of 11 million, could afford so ambitious a project. No commercial publisher would risk the $4 million of out-front money it took to produce this hefty book — and to send 10 photographers and nine writers to China over a two-year span.

They brought back some pictures of exotic China, but mostly commonplace, scrutable China, a portrait of how a quarter of humanity lives, pictures not only of the Great Wall and of Chinese junk with quilted sails afloat on calm seas, but glimpses into workaday China:

—A policeman in a wrinkled, white, high-collared uniform, directs traffic before Mao's tomb. He stands on a wooden platform bearing, in red characters on a yellow background, this message: "Pay attention to safety."

—In a bazaar in Kashgar, a veiled vendor sells a round breadstuff that — for all the world — looks like seed-covered bagels.

—Aboard a train to Xian, a young woman conductor makes an announcement over the loudspeaker: Railroad workers are trying to improve service, her words are translated, and would passengers please cooperate by not throwing trash or spitting on the floor?

—At the foot of a mountain, a Muslim camel driver bows toward Mecca.

—And what is a traffic jam like in Peking, with its three million bicycles? Reporters Jay and Linda Mathews describe it: "The basic rule of the road, apparently, is that the streets belong to those bicycles, which operate as if the automobiles did not exist, darting into traffic heedless of stoptights. Pedestrians, only slightly less daring, jaywalk with abandon. The beleaguered police periodically attempt to restore order, but nothing works for very long."

The National Geographic's photographers were the first from the society to be welcomed into China since 1948. Closed areas were kept off-limits.

Of the 42,000 color pictures taken, the editors selected 412 for the book, which sells for $19.95. The first press run was for 470,000 copies.

Even though what they set out to produce is not a book about ideology, officials of the Geographic Society said negotiating with the Chinese for access proved more troublesome than primitive roads and harsh weather.

Sometimes, said editor Kenneth Danforth, an interpreter who accompanied the society's photographers and writers from the United States would spend an hour in furious conversation, arguing for the right to go to some forbidden place. Then, he said, the interpreter would turn to him with this report: "They said no." From such verdicts, there was no appeal.

Project director Charles O. Hyman, in an introduction, said, "Chinese officials — sometimes an unwieldy number — went along on every journey. They did so, they insisted, to 'ease our way, attend our comforts and protect us.'"

Rousseau, assigned to hold court in Forsyth County through December, said the conditions the news media must follow are "very stringent, as they ought to be under the circumstances."

District Attorney Donald K. Tisdale said the order calls for much cooperation among newspapers, television and radio on such matters as sharing the cost of installing equipment.

Judge William Z. Wood of Winston-Salem, senior resident Superior Court judge in Forsyth County, will approve the construction of facilities in or adjacent to courthouses in the county to accommodate concealed cameras and cameramen

Two More Arrested In Gulf Oil Extortion Plot; Total Now Four

By CHARLES C. HILL
Associated Press Writer
BAYTOWN, Texas (AP) — A deadline has passed without more bomb explosions at a Gulf Oil refinery and four people have been arrested in a $15-million extortion plot, but the company says the plot will remain shut down until its security is assured.

Five bombs scattered around the Gulf Oil Chemicals Co. refinery near here were found and neutralized, one of them exploding harmlessly while it was being deactivated on Thursday.

The extortionists warned in a letter to Gulf last Tuesday that 10 bombs were hidden around the plant, set to explode at noon Sunday. The deadline passed without incident and the search continued.

"We wouldn't even consider that reopening the plant until we feel it is safe to," Gulf spokesman Barry Smyth said Sunday. He said the company was waiting for a go-ahead from the FBI.

The slow and expensive process of shutting down the Cedar Bayou plant 30 miles east of Houston was completed Thursday morning, the day the five bombs were found.

Four people from Durango, Colo., have been arrested in the case. The FBI declined to say whether more suspects were being sought.

John Marvin McBride, 46, and Jill Renee Bird, 36, were arrested in Durango on Sunday on federal extortion warrants and were being held in $1 million bond each for a hearing in Durango on Friday.

McBride had been free on $25,000 bond in another extortion case in Riverside, Calif. La Plata County sheriff's officials said.

On Friday night, Theodore Duane McKinney, 45, and Michael Allen Worth, 34, both also from Durango, were arrested in Arizona and were being held in $1 million bond in Phoenix for a hearing Friday on extortion charges.

The owner of a Durango coin shop, Larry Rasmussen, said Worth is the partner of a man named John McBride in a gun shop and private investigation business operated for the last three years one flight above Rasmussen's shop.

Sheriff's officers said McBride allegedly approached a Palm Springs, Calif., couple in an attempt to collect on a debt owed by their son to a Durango businessman. He allegedly represented himself as a Durango policeman and threatened to arrest the son unless the couple paid him $2,000. He has been charged with grand theft, extortion and impersonating a police officer.

Ms. Bird said Sunday she has lived in Durango for three years, is unemployed and takes classes at Fort Lewis College in Durango.

In an affidavit presented in federal court in Phoenix, the FBI said McKinney and Worth were arrested in Apache Junction, Ariz., while they were on the phone with Bob Quintana, security chief at the Gulf plant.

The statement said a man identifying himself as one of the extortionists called Quintana on Friday, telling him to bring the $15 million to Tempe, Ariz., and wait at a pay phone in a bowling alley for further instructions. Quintana then obeyed a series of calls and went from pay phone to pay phone, the FBI said. Wiretaps and surveillance led police to McKinney and Worth, the affidavit said.

Gulf estimates it cost at least $1.5 million to shut down the Cedar Bayou plant and says it will cost that much to start it up again.

The plant, which produces petrochemicals used in making plastics, detergents, cosmetics and other products, had never been shut since it opened in 1963.

The company says it also has cost at least $300,000 a day to keep the storage tanks, processing units and pipelines clear of volatile material during the shutdown.

The plant workforce, normally about 1,100, has been cut to the minimum needed for security and maintenance, Gulf said.

Company spokesman Kirk Vogeley said Sunday that Gulf officials believed if there were an explosion at the Cedar Bayou plant, no damage would be caused outside the 1,000-acre facility. There are no houses or businesses nearby.

Limitations For Cameras In Court

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — While the state Supreme Court has issued an order allowing cameras and broadcast equipment to cover legal proceedings in court, the order still gives judges some control over the courtroom picture.

The Sept. 22 order authorizes newspapers, television and radio stations to photograph and broadcast public judicial proceedings in the state. But the two-year experiment has many restrictions and exceptions. The order said the presiding judge will "at all times" have the authority to end sound and camera coverage once it has started, or to prohibit it altogether.

Moreover, any one of the three participating media may block such coverage of a proceeding.

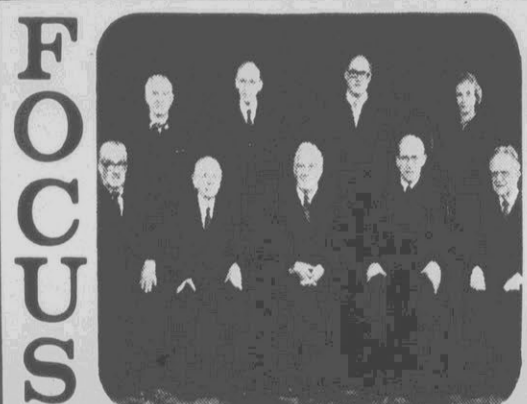

"In the absence of advance media agreement on disputed equipment or personnel issues, the presiding judge shall exclude all contesting media personnel from a proceeding," the order says.

And legal authorities say they are not certain when cameras in the court will become a reality.

"Based on my quick reading of the order, I don't think we're going to see any sound and camera coverage in courthouses anytime soon," said Superior Court Judge J.A. Rousseau Jr. of North Wilkesboro.

Rousseau, assigned to hold court in Forsyth County through December, said the conditions the news media must follow are "very stringent, as they ought to be under the circumstances."

District Attorney Donald K. Tisdale said the order calls for much cooperation among newspapers, television and radio on such matters as sharing the cost of installing equipment.

Juggling the Justices

For years, the U.S. Supreme Court was known as "the nine old men." But times change. On the Supreme Court, which begins a new session today, not all the members are elderly, and not all are men. But there are still nine of them. However only six justices sat on the first Supreme Court. By 1807 there were seven. And by 1863 the Court had grown to ten. Three years later, however, legislators decided to curb President Andrew Johnson's power to appoint justices by reducing Court membership to seven. By 1869, there were eight members again. That's when Congress finally decided that nine was the most judicious figure. And it has been that way ever since.

Q.1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q109643 ♣K72 ♦83 ♣75
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♣ 2 ♣ Pass 3 ♣
Dble Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—First of all, partner's double is for takeout, not penalties, so you must bid. Secondly, partner has doubled in the direct seat, so he is bidding from strength and is not just competing. Considering those facts, you have an excellent hand for him—a key honor in his suit and a reasonable six-card suit of your own. It would be craven to bid anything less than four spades.

Q.2—East West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠6 4 A8752 ♣AQ9432
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♣ Pass 1 NT ?
What action do you take?

A.—If partner has a fit for either of your minor suits, you can certainly compete for a partscore, and could even have a game. Bid two no trump. When common sense tells you that a no trump bid cannot have its natural meaning, it should be considered as "unusual"—i.e., a takeout for the lower unbid suits. If you had a hand strong enough to make two no trump, you would have doubled one no trump.

What action do you take?

A.—You have the maximum that the law allows for an opening bid of one of a suit and you could press on by showing your four-card diamond suit. But would that be wise? Even if partner has a maximum 10 points, game is extremely doubtful—you have no source of tricks. What you do have is a preponderance of strength in your short suits, which weighs in favor of a no trump contract, so we would pass and hope that partner can make one no trump.

What do you bid now?

A.—You have an opening bid, and we have always preached that an opening bid facing an opener should produce game. That would suggest a jump to either three no trump or three diamonds. Here, however, partner has shown no great liking for your suit and you certainly don't fancy his, so it would be wise to proceed with caution. Our first choice is two diamonds, to try to elicit a spade preference. Next is two no trump. If partner passes either of those bids, we doubt that we will have missed a game.

Two Wrecks Are Reported

An estimated $6,550 property damage resulted from two traffic collisions investigated by Greenville police Saturday.

Officers said an estimated $2,000 damage resulted to each of two cars in a 10:50 a.m. collision at the intersection of Greenville Boulevard and Elm Street, involving cars driven by Sherri Lynn Boyd of 1501 East Fifth St., and Ruth Irene Boxberger of 2102 Southview Dr.

Poice, who reported Ms. Boyd was injured, charged Ms. Boxberger with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Officers charged James L. Davis of 1112 Myrtle Ave. with driving under the influence after the car he was driving collided with a utility pole on 14th Street, 200 feet east of the East Rock Springs Road intersection.

Damage was estimated at $2,500 to the car and $500 to the pole.

New Nixon Book On Leadership

NEW YORK (AP) — A leader is a complex stew, and the ingredients include egotism, ruthlessness and knowing when you have overstayed your welcome, Richard Nixon notes in his new book, "Leaders."

According to excerpts published in the Oct. 11 issue of Newsweek magazine, the former president says a leader must be ruthless in order to perform such functions as firing a loyal aide either for incompetence or because someone better is available.

Nixon says he may have lacked some of the necessary ruthlessness. "In my own administration (Chief of Staff) Bob Haldeman got a reputation for ruthlessness," Nixon wrote. "One reason
