Commission Supports Annexation Step

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The Greenville Planning & Zoning Commission considered three annexation petitions Tuesday night and voted to recommend City Council approval of one of the items and to gather more data on the other two for next month's meeting.

Staff planner Skip Browder said all three petitions seek annexation by means of satellite provisions that apply when property is not contiguous to the present city limits.

The petitions were submitted by the owners of: Greenridge subdivision for annexation of section two of the development, located west of the city and involving 18 duplex lots; Colonial Mobile Home Park, a 70-acre development north of the city off N.C. 11; and Carolina Opry House, an 8.3-acre development located outside the city's extraterritorial jurisdiction.

In considering the Greenridge petition, it was pointed out by the planning staff that the request does not include all of the subdivision as required by local statutes.

Commissioners voted to table action on the petition in order to see if the residents in section one of the development would agree to be included in the overall annexation request. Three of the six duplex lots in the first section are developed.

After discussing the petition to bring the mobile home park into the city, commissioners instructed the planning staff to prepare an itemized breakdown on projected expenses and revenues that would result from annexation of the property.

The staff had recommended initially that the development be included in a five-year annexation plan to be considered.

The mobile home park has an internal water-sewer system and Greenville Utilities now sells water and sewer service to the park at a higher rate than in-town customers pay, according to Jim Roberts, an attorney representing the petitioner. Roberts said the city, in annexing the property, would not be required to take over the water-sewer system.

U. S. Sees January Gain In Industrial Production

By SALLY JACOBSEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In a strong new sign of an improving economy, the government reported today that output by the nation's factories and mines rose 0.9 percent in January.

It was only the second gain since July and the largest since last February.

A big increase for U.S. automakers helped lead the way last month, the Federal Reserve Board report indicated. And separate private reports have predicted auto production will continue rising in the next few months.

Retail sales and industrial production are the two biggest components of the gross national product — the sum of all U.S. goods and services. And though retail sales declined in December, they rose slightly in January and are expected to continue climbing.

The new gain in production, especially if it is followed by future increases as economists expect, could therefore signal an end to the recession that began in July 1981.

In fact, many private analysts and government officials have already declared the recession over.

Testifying before the Senate Appropriations Committee, Martin Feldstein, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisors, said the increase was "favorable news that reinforces the good news on the employment front." Unemployment fell last month to 10.2 percent, a development that included the first significant increase in payroll employment since the recession began.

Janice Faulkner Chosen To Head Regional Development Institute

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer
Janice Hardison Faulkner, an associate professor in English and a veteran faculty member at East Carolina University, has been appointed director of the ECU Regional Development Institute. Announcement of the appointment was made by Chancellor John Howell at a meeting of the ECU Faculty Senate on Tuesday.

She has been the institute's assistant director since last September and the acting director since Jan. 31, the date of R.T. (Tim) Brinn's retirement.

Dr. F. Douglas Moore, acting vice chancellor for institutional advancement and planning, headed a university search committee that recommended Mrs. Faulkner for the post. Nearly 130 applicants were considered for the position.

"We are fortunate to have, already in place, a member of the university faculty so highly qualified and willing to accept the challenges of this important position," Moore said.

Howell said Mrs. Faulkner is "a good choice. She knows everybody on campus as well as everybody in the area, and can work with faculty and state officials to broaden the activities of the institute."

A native of the Farm Life community of Martin County, Mrs. Faulkner is married to Walter H. Faulkner. She has been an ECU faculty member since 1957. From 1960 to 1963 she served as director of alumni affairs. In the English department, she has taught composition, literature, linguistics and folklore.

An active member of the Democratic Party, Mrs. Faulkner was for 18 months, during 1981 and 1982, executive director of the state party.

Commenting on her appointment, Mrs. Faulkner said "It's certainly one of the most challenging appointments I've had in my long association with East Carolina University. The institute is on the verge of high-level interaction with the 32-county area it serves, and because of diminished federal resources, it's more than ever necessary for the state and the university to use all its expertise and vitality to continue to move forward in ways to provide a high quality of life for people in eastern North Carolina."

Mrs. Faulkner said she feels that, in the near future, "faculty and students preparing themselves for careers in many areas will be more visible in the field instead of being isolated in academia."

The Regional Development Institute is housed in the Willis Building, a modern facility located at the corner of First and Reade streets. The institute provides a wide scope of services to eastern North Carolina.

"Some of the services we provide are technical assistance to small businesses, to local government agencies in planning and devising ways of getting things accomplished with available resources," Mrs. Faulkner pointed out.

JANICE H. FAULKNER

"We're also active in working with local committees on the 400th anniversary of North Carolina's settlement, both in cultural and economic spheres. Another area in which the institute is active is that of helping to remove blight in urban and rural areas."

Noting there's "a shift from urban to rural areas in eastern North Carolina," Mrs. Faulkner said there's a growing trend for people in town to live in the country.

"Because housing is a critical area, we'll be involved in identifying abandoned housing that can be restored and made habitable. Also, intelligent management of land and other natural resources is an area in which the institute will continue to be closely involved."

Sentenced To 3 Life Terms

SUMMERVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A 17-year-old Georgia youth has been sentenced to three consecutive life terms after he pleaded guilty to the murders of two men described by authorities as occultists.

Kenneth Avery Lowrance Brock of Walker County pleaded guilty Tuesday to the Dec. 16 shooting deaths of Charles Scudder, 56, and Joseph Odom, 37, at their home.

Fire Kills Three People In Home For The Elderly

By JAMES GOGEX
Associated Press Writer

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Three people died and three people were hospitalized after fire swept through the top floor of an 11-story public housing project for the elderly late Tuesday.

The fire broke out about 10:30 p.m. on the 11th floor of Solomon Towers, according to fire officials.

District Chief Thomas Eason of the Wilmington Fire Department said two victims were found on the 11th floor, one in a hallway and one in a room. Six people, including a woman who was carried down six flights of stairs in a wheelchair, were rescued by passers-by.

Police said Thelma Britton, 68, and Sylvia Barnes, 49, died of asphyxiation. Mitchell Cannon, 72, died later at New Hanover Memorial Hospital after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Assistant Chief H.L. Sandlin said a resident found in an 11th-floor room during a search was revived.

An aerial ladder was extended to the 11th floor, but those who could flee managed to make their way down the building's stairways. Elevators in the building were locked a half an hour after the fire began to keep victims from trying to escape on elevators where they might have been trapped, firefighters said.

Oxygen for those trapped on upper floors was hoisted by a bosun's chair.

Lorema Anderson, 76, who has been confined to a wheelchair for 56 years, said Donald Noe pulled her down six flights of stairs. "I asked him who he was, and he said he wasn't a fireman but was just a passerby. I thanked him for saving me and asked his name, and then he left," she said.

Henry Powell of Maco said he carried four people out before fire and rescue teams took over. James Leonard, 76, who has no legs, said he was carried down by a man who was walking by and saw the fire.

An 89-year-old man who asked not to be named said he lived on the 10th floor, morning. Several deaths were feared in the eleven-story rest home. (AP Laserphoto) and said "smoke was so thick you couldn't see."

"So I got my walking stick and went down the hall, knocking on all the doors. They all got out and went down the fire escape," he said.

Verna Herman, 82, said she heard noises "like things falling down" and went into the hall. Smoke was pouring from one end, so she ran the other way, ringing all the doorbells as she ran.

Assistant fire chief C.E. Bland said flames were "leaping out of the window" when fire trucks arrived.

He said firefighters rushed to the 11th floor, where the hallway was so hot they could only stay for a few minutes, even with protective clothing.

"To wake people up, we beat on the doors and kicked them, whatever we could do. Some of the people could hardly get to their doors. Some of those people had taken medication and it was hard to get them up."

He said he was surprised that the residents didn't panic.

LEUKEMIA PATIENT NEEDS ASSISTANCE

Darren Nelson, 17-year-old son of former Greenville residents Rex and Patsy Smith Nelson, now of near Kinston, is in Seattle, Wash., where he received a bone marrow transplant this past week.

Darren was diagnosed with leukemia last October and was referred to Seattle by the East Carolina University School of Medicine.

Rountree Christian Church has asked Hotline to appeal for donations for the Nelsons. The entire family — mom, dad and three sons — are in Seattle now, with brother, Daniel, 7, having provided the donor marrow. Nelson and the two younger sons will return home soon, but Darren and mother are slated to be there for up to three months. Mrs. Nelson has had to quit her job because of Dar-ren's illness. Grandparents of the boy are Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mark Nelson of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. David Smith of Ayden.

Donations may be sent in care of Rountree Church, Route 1, Ayden, 28513. Inquiries may be directed to Mrs. Cassie Buck, cousin of Mr. Nelson, 746-6181.

SEATING ASKED

The seating in the senior citizens recreation room at the City Community Building is ragged, Catherine Howard said. She asked that anyone having a sofa, loveseat, chair or other suitable furnishings to donate call her at 752-4137, Ext. 246 or 752-3205. Donations may be brought to the community building, located at the corner of Fourth and Green streets.

Hospital Board Is Told Cardiac Surgery Planning Is Underway

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

About 200 heart surgery patients a year that could be served here if a cardiac surgery program were available at Pitt County Memorial Hospital are being treated elsewhere, Dr. Walter Pories told hospital trustees Tuesday night.

All kinds of heart surgery, including transplant, except some pediatric cases, will probably be treated here within the next few years, he said.

Careful and deliberately slow planning of the program is under way, he said, with recruitment of doctors, nurses and profusionists begun. Already, he said, an impressive transplant team has been assembled, with much research already being done here.

It was pointed out twice during the trustee board meeting that PCMH's surgery load has plateaued. Reasons cited are the location here late last year of a privately owned ambulatory surgery facility and a nationwide trend toward less elective surgery, probably having to do with the economy. A cardiac program would once again put hospital surgery on the increase, Dr. Pories said.

Following explanation by Ralph Hall, vice president of facilities management, of proposed expansion plans for the hospital, the board approved preliminary planning of alternatives I and II. Alternative I would be modification of radiology and emergency areas of the hospital; alternative II, modification of the surgery suite. These alternatives are to be kept available if estimates on new construction are not what is thought. Pursuit of new construction was approved last month. Funded depreciation funds will be used for the proposed projects, the board said with its vote.

A two-year lease of storage space with ABC Moving and Storage was approved at a cost of $1,575 per month for 7,500 square feet. The use of this space for storage of medical and surgical supplies will eliminate the need for the Hawkins Building now that business offices of the hospital, also housed in

Producing A Generation Of Spoiled Brats

By VICTORIA GRAHAM
Associated Press Writer

PEKING (AP) — Four-year-old Xue Nan awakens her mother in the middle of the night and demands that she cook her favorite dishes. Her mother does.

Wei Ran insists on chocolate at every meal, and although he suffers nosebleeds from the caffeine, his parents lovingly mix it into his porridge.

Jia Lili prims and preens 40 minutes every day at a mirror, deciding what to wear, before heading off to kindergarten.

These are only children, the pampered products of China's rigid one-child family planning imperative designed to keep the population under 1.2 billion by the year 2000.

They are the pride and joy, the sun and moon of doting parents of modest means. But they pose a profound problem, say social scientists who look fear that China, built by hardened revolutionaries, is rearing a generation of spoiled brats.

They are more creative, inquisitive and healthy than other children, the sociologists say. They are high achievers, too, although in a society where much is done for them they sometimes quail before challenge and lack toughness and determination.

It is no wonder that posters promoting one-child families show a pretty cherubic little girl, arms outstretched, ordering her mother: "Mommie, love only me."

A current saying has it that, "Single children are the sun in a family and the parents and grandparents are the planets orbiting the sun."

"The family relationships simply are turned upside down and no one knows who heads the family anymore," says Liang Duan, a teacher at Dongsi Wutiao Kindergarten in Peking.

A cartoon in a Peking newspaper shows a puffed-up child getting a score of 100 in class and then going home where he is waited on, petted, fed and treated like a tiny emperor by parents and grandparents.

The number of only children in China is not known, but all families are ordered to have only one child and more than 12.5 million couples have pledged to have no more.

Families with one child get more benefits, more space, better child care and they can afford to give their one darling a bit more.

In some schools only children get inoculations ahead of others. In Canton an orthopedic group performs surgery on only-child polio victims before others. During the northern China drought last year, only children received limited powdered milk and vitamins first when there was not enough to go around for other needy children.

The eventual social implications of a generation of only children are worrying educators. Thirty-two books on child rearing have been published for parents of only children. The Academy of Social Sciences is studying how to counteract what could be profoundly negative consequences of only children who grow up to consider "me first."

Writing in the newspaper China Daily, Cheng Fengzhi, a teacher at Dongsi Wutiao, says only children are pampered and egotistic because their parents don't know how to discipline them. If parents know they can have but one child, she says, they shower everything on him or her, wanting the best but sometimes doing the worst.

Sometimes, she says, they treat only children like toys. They also may push them too hard, force them to learn too early and demand academic excellence but neglect their moral education.

"When we do manage to cultivate good habits in an only child," the teacher said, "it often is spoiled by a word or two from the parents."

In a country where many generations may live under one roof, idle grandparents lavish attention on grandchildren and that can give an only child an exaggerated sense of importance. Because they have no brothers or sisters, they don't learn to share and cooperate at an early age.

At Dongsi Wutiao, 106 of 136 children between 3 and 6 are only children. Some board at school, going home on weekends and returning Monday with more behavior problems.

"Often when the parent appears at the gate to take a child home," says teacher Liang Duan, "the child starts to go wild and a nice child in the nursery becomes a terror at home."

One 5-year-old girl in Shanghai refused to go to kindergarten after her mother went to work without promising to buy her a new scarf. She threw a tantrum. Finally her grandmother called the mother at work. She left her job, bought the scarf and took it home.

Then the girl stopped crying and went to school.

Fifty faculty members and students from 23 colleges and universities will be participating in 13 panel discussions.

Further information is available from Dr. Bobbie Au, Department of English, Roanoke College, Salem, Va. 24153.

Sticky Fingers Now Reformed

By Abigail Van Buren

1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this in order to save some other person from the same predicament I found myself in. I'm a high school student, living in a small town. I don't do drugs, I don't drink and my grades are very good.

I had one weakness. I was a compulsive shoplifter. I couldn't go into a store without coming out with at least one stolen object. This went on for quite a while until one day I was caught.

Man, talk about the biggest scare of your life! I was let go and only banned from the store, but that scare did something to me.

I completely reformed myself. I no longer feel the urge to steal anything. I feel much better about myself and I know I'll never take another thing. Actually, I would like to give the person who reported me a great big kiss!

REFORMED STICKY FINGERS

DEAR REFORMED: You were luckier than most. One good scare is sometimes more effective than a hundred sermons. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Since my early childhood I have been going with my parents to a beautiful nudist camp that caters to families.

My problem is that I have met a very nice man who has proposed marriage, but he refuses to join me in going to the nudist camp. I love him very much, as he has many fine qualities. However, I don't think I could live without those wonderful outings in the sun at the camp. I would feel deprived, imprisoned and depressed.

He insists that he is too inhibited to feel comfortable in the presence of unclothed strangers. He's also afraid it might be sexually stimulating.

I want to marry this man, but I need to convince him to join the camp. Can you help me?

M. IN OTTAWA, CANADA

DEAR M.: Inhibitions of this kind are difficult to overcome. But if you persuade him to visit the family-type camp just once, he may realize that it's a healthy family experience, and there is nothing sexy about it. And if he really wants to marry you, he may decide to grin and bare it.

DEAR ABBY: For years I have been scolded by my husband for picking my teeth with a toothpick in public. Just how much of a breach of etiquette is that? He says I embarrass him. He is 71 and I'm 69, and we've been married almost 49 years.

We're at a winter resort now. Yesterday we had dinner with friends, and I picked at my teeth at the table. Seeing no place to discard the toothpick, I chewed it up into small slivers and put the remains in my dinner napkin. I did all this very inconspicuously.

When we got home, my husband gave me a scolding. I don't think I did anything so terrible. All my other manners are good. What is the verdict?

Is my husband a nitpicker? Or am I a slob?

VACATIONING

DEAR VACATIONING: Your husband is not a "nitpicker" — neither are you a slob. However, it is considered inelegant to pick one's teeth in public. And chewing up the toothpick is another no-no. You could pick up Dutch elm disease.

Nine Ways To Say I Love You

It is helpful to have at hand some handy phrases to use in coping with common childhood situation (as a matter of fact, many of them can be used for all ages.) For Example:

"There, There, There" (pronounce softly)! This all-purpose comforting sound is helpful when a child is crying too hard to listen to buy anything else and in situations which there isn't much a parent can do to help except to offer understanding and caring.

"It Will Be Better In A Minute" is good response for physical hurts of the scrape, bump, or tumble variety. It offers immediate sympathy, it's honest, and it doesn't encourage over reacting.

"Let's Talk About It" gets good results only if followed by a considerable period of attentive, listening silence. It is called communication.

"Tell Me Your Side Of It" is usually used when there is a dispute or when a child is being confronted with evidence of an accusing nature.

"Please" can - and should - be incorporated into every request, instruction, or order you issue. It will not weaken parental authority and teaches a child to say "please" also.

"This Will Be A New Experience For You" can often entice a child into trying a new food, starting to a new school or trying to learn a new skill.

"A Strong Boy/Girl Doesn't Use All His/Her Strength With Smaller Boys/Girls" gets better results than "Don't do that" or "Let the baby alone", probably because the older child appreciates this acknowledgement of his strength.

"You Make Me So Proud Of You" should be said privately and as quickly after your child has done something of which you approve. By reinforcing acceptable behavior you make him more likely to repeat it.

"I Love You" is the single, best, most effective phrase you can ever say to any child of any age (or any person) and the words should be spoken, with meaning, at least once or twice every day! When added to any of the phrases mentioned above, it immediately increases their effectiveness. It should never be taken for granted that your children know you mean the words without your never having to say them.

Essay Winners Honored

FARMVILLE — A tea was held Saturday honoring winners in the National History Month Essay Contest. It was sponsored by the Major Benjamin May Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution.

Chapter winners by school and grade, announced by Mrs. Fred Sauls, are as follows: Bethel Elementary, Karen Elizabeth Pilgreen, sixth grade and Laurie Ann Walker, eighth grade; Grifton Elementary, Susan Koon, fifth grade, Crystal Connour, sixth grade, Suzanne Berry, seventh grade and Missy Rose, eighth grade; Farmville Middle, Michael Cobb, sixth grade, Dean Lawrence, seventh grade and Suzanna Hinson, eighth; Pactolus, Tammy Bryant, fifth; H.B. Sugg, Robbie Lou Joyner, fifth grade.

Grade level winners were: Bobbie Lou Joyner, Karen Elizabeth Pilgreen, Dean Lawrence and Laurie Ann Walker. Each of the four placed in the top three in district competition and Lawrence was a first place winner. His essay will go on to state competition.

Lottie Lewis and Juanita Williams were named chairmen for the bridge tournament. Ms. Williams is the chapter's nominee for junior woman of the year.

The March 12 meeting will be held at the Colonial Inn at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Charles Carr, Mary Henry, Daisy Rogers, Mrs. Billy Darden and Joyce Williams were hostesses for the tea and meeting.

Jaycettes To Aid Hospital

A pledge to raise money for Pitt County Memorial Hospital was discussed during a meeting of the Greenville Jay-C-ettes held last week.

By unanimous vote, it was decided the club would sell stationery toward meeting this pledge.

Final plans for the 30th anniversary being held March 5 at 6:30 p.m. were announced. Speakers will include Kay Whichard, charter president of the Greenville Jay-C-ettes, Chet Emerson, director of the Pitt County Boys' Club and Lib Layne, former Jay-C-ettes president who will serve as mistress of ceremonies. Included in the celebration will be dinner and a dance. For more information about the celebration, call Ludie Smith, 756-7477.

Bridal Policy

A black and white glossy five by seven photograph is requested for engagement announcements. For publication in a Sunday edition, the information must be submitted by 12 noon on the preceding Wednesday. Engagement pictures must be released at least three weeks prior to the wedding date. After three weeks, only an announcement will be printed.

Wedding write-ups will be printed through the first week with a five by seven picture. During the second week with a wallet size picture and write-up giving less description and after the second week, just as an announcement. Wedding forms and pictures should be returned to "The Daily Reflector" one week prior to the date of the wedding. All information should be typed or written neatly.

Says Disparity Growing In State's Universities

By MARY ANNE RHYNE
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Unless North Carolina's private colleges get $200 to $300 more per undergraduate from the General Assembly, they will be pushed out of public universities, says Duke University President Terry Sanford.

"Somebody has got to take action if the dual system is worth preserving," Sanford told a joint committee on higher education on Tuesday. "We can't make up for it if we lose it now."

He predicted that disparity between public and private institutions will worsen in the next eight years as the number of high school graduates will drop by about 15 percent.

"The tuition gap is widening; the enrollment pool is dwindling," he said.

The state now spends $850 per in-state student enrolled in North Carolina's private colleges. Sanford, a former governor, predicted it would cost about $4 million to increase funding by $200 per student.

Ideally, he said, the state should pay about half as much to private schools as it pays students at public universities, he said.

"I don't ever expect them to narrow it totally."

Advocates for the private colleges and universities already have announced they'll seek an increase in aid of $175 per student in each year of the biennium for a total of $350.

In other legislative action:
Involuntary Commitment

Trial judges would be able to involuntarily commit defendants found incapable of standing trial or guilty by reason of insanity without deferring to psychiatrists under a bill being considered by a Senate committee.

The bill would "fill a gap" in state law left after the General Assembly passed legislation last year saying that only the court could discharge such defendants, said Lynn Gunn of the Mental Health Study Commission.

Under current law, a judge may order commitment proceedings that go through a doctor and two courts, she told the Senate Judiciary I Committee. Sometimes defendants are not committed because they "slip through the cracks" in the system, Ms. Gunn added.

"This bill tells the trial judge and those persons found incapable of standing trial or not guilty by reason of insanity that the judge can petition for commitment right then," she said. "The physician still makes an examination, but the judge has the authority."

Sen. Robert Swain, D-Buncombe, suggested the bill should be amended to let judges require proper medication as a condition of parole for such defendants.

"Some are suffering from illness that can be cured by drugs," he said. "That (provision) should be made clear in the law."

Ms. Gunn pointed out that a House bill introduced earlier this month would let judges exercise that power in all commitment cases, not just those involving defendants found incapable of standing trial or guilty by reason of insanity.

The panel delayed consideration of the bill while a similar provision was drafted for inclusion.

Power

The House Judiciary I Committee tried to resolve conflicts about who should have authority for setting certain salaries — the legislature, the governor, personnel managers or others.

The only conclusions were that salaries of Industrial Commission members, the state personnel director and the state highway administrator should be approved by the General Assembly.

The committee will continue work on the bill, which was prompted by a state Supreme Court ruling that legislative, executive and judicial powers have become blurred.

But lawmakers were hesitant to give up their authority.

"Before we take the power we had through the Advisory Budget Commission and delegate it into the bureaucracy ... I think we need to take a serious look at it," said Rep. Martin Nesbitt, D-Buncombe.

Trial Set For Illegal Hunting

New Bern attorney William Henry Barker, a former assistant district attorney for the 3rd Judicial District, faces trial in U.S. District Court in New Bern Thursday on four charges of violating the 1918 Migratory Waterfowl Act.

Barker, 38, and Dallas Dow Holton Jr., 41, of Bridgeton were charged after federal and state wildlife officers found them in Washington County last Jan. 26 with 22 Canada geese in their possession, according to Ted Curtis of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Barker served as an assistant district attorney for Pitt, Craven, Carteret and Pamlico counties before the district was split.

Curtis said Barker and Holton were hunting near the Washington-Hyde County line a few miles from the Pungo National Wildlife Refuge.

The officer said each man was charged with taking more Canada geese than the daily limit (one), exceeding the possession limit (one) and hunting after sunset. He said Barker also was charged with transporting illegally taken migratory waterfowl and that Holton was charged with hunting with an unplugged shotgun.

Each count carries a possible penalty of $500 fine and up to six months in jail.

Curtis said three men in another hunting party were charged the same night after two of the men were found hunting Canada geese at a site about one mile away from Barker and Holton. They were identified as Jimmy Allen Lee of Route 1, Oriental, William Everett Salter of Sea Level and Kanny Keeland Respass of Route 1, Pantego. Curtis said they had eight Canada geese in their possession.

Lee and Salter were charged with exceeding the daily limit and hunting after sunset while Respass was charged with aiding and abetting. Curtis said they would be tried March 15.

Police Investigate 3 Collisions Here

An estimated $2,050 damage resulted from three traffic collisions investigated by Greenville police Tuesday.

Officers said an estimated $400 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in an 8:02 a.m. collision at the intersection of Third and Pitt streets, involving cars driven by Nasser Ordoukhani of Wilson Acres and Joseph James Shelley of 707 W. Third St.

Police charged Ordoukhani with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

Cars driven by Judith Leonard Waters of 3610 Calvin Way, and Stephen Patrick Keys of Route 3, Byron, Ga., collided about 12:36 p.m. on Dickinson Avenue, 100 feet west of the 14th Street intersection, causing an estimated $150 damage to the Waters car and $500 damage to the Keys vehicle.

Keys was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident.

Investigators charged Arden Weldon Turner of Kinston, with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of an 11:30 p.m. collision at the intersection of the Stantonsburg Road and Memorial Drive.

Police said the Turner car collided with a vehicle driven by Marilyn James Bullock of Route 8, Greenville, causing an estimated $100 damage to the Turner car and $500 damage to the Bullock vehicle.

New Faces On Airport Panel

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Fifteen people were sworn in Monday, forming the new Greensboro-High Point Airport Authority police force. Superior Court Judge Douglas Albright swore in the officers.

Lawrence Graves, a High Point police officer for 19 years and a former member of the High Point city council, was chosen as the police chief.

The officers' jurisdiction will be limited to airport property, but they will have the power of arrest in enforcing county and state laws.

them were measures exempting nonresident military dependents from driver's license requirements and permitting odometer readings to be entered on certificates of title.

Property Taxes

Rep. Robert McAlister, D-Rockingham, introduced a package of legislation stemming from work by the study commission on property taxes.

One bill would amend the Machinery Act to take into account the ability of some counties to assess taxes using computer technology. Another would clarify rules on certification of tax officials and provide for continuing education for those officials.

Another bill would revise the process of appealing property tax valuation, requiring that equalization and review boards be replaced by "county assessment appeals boards" which would consist of voting members other than county commissioners.

California Planning Pay Tax Refunds With IOUs

By JENNIFER KERR
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — State workers, businesses and disgruntled taxpayers owed refunds will be paid in IOUs starting next week because the governor and lawmakers are still bickering over how to meet a $1.5 billion budget deficit, California officials said.

Assembly Republicans balked Tuesday at the newest compromise proposal, which they called a "booby trap" for an automatic sales tax increase next January.

Republican Gov. George Deukmejian planned more meetings today with legislative leaders after spending six hours behind closed doors with key lawmakers Tuesday.

The state's top fiscal officials said Tuesday the delay in finding a solution to the deficit means the state will run out of cash Feb. 23, and will begin paying its bills in IOUs or registered warrants for the first time since the Depression.

The IOUs are "registered warrants" — checks that the state has the money, perhaps weeks after issuance.

"The state will be broke a week from tomorrow," Treasurer Jesse Unruh said at a news conference Tuesday.

Unruh said it would take 10 days from a settlement for him to borrow money from private banks to tide the state over, so even a solution today would mean issuing IOUs into early March.

Legislators and other state officials have been getting calls from people angry about the IOUs. Assembly Speaker Willie Brown said he was approached at restaurants over the weekend by people who sarcastically asked him if he were going to pay his bill with an IOU.

However, welfare grants to about 31,000 families in Sacramento County will be paid in cash March 1 — even if the state pays the county in registered IOUs, Sacramento County officials said Tuesday.

County Executive Brian Richter told county supervisors he thinks that's the best way "to avoid chaos" that might result from issuing IOUs to the families.

In effect, the state will be "borrowing from the county instead of the Bank of America," Richter said.

The state's $25 billion budget for the fiscal year that ends June 30 was balanced when passed last June. It ran into trouble last fall as the recession caused drops in the sales and income tax revenues which account for 70 percent of revenues.

The Legislature has failed since early December to agree on how to deal with the deficit, with the Democrats who control both houses preferring tax hikes and Republicans urging big spending cuts.

The latest compromise proposes about $630 million in cuts now, the carryover of the rest of the deficit to next year and a standby sales tax increase that would take effect if the budget became unbalanced next year.

Republican Leader Robert Naylor called it "a booby trap" and "almost an automatic tax increase."

Unruh said the banks have been helping the state through its fiscal woes so far, but "no one in the financial community is willing to give the state a blank check secured by nothing more than a hope that action from our statehouse is forthcoming."

The first IOUs would go to 75,000 Californians for income tax refunds and to 10,000 businesses that have sold goods to the state.

After that, IOUs would go out to 86,000 state employees, plus another 10,000 businesses and 75,000 taxpayers a day, officials said. Up to 8 million income tax payers could get IOUs instead of regular checks for their refunds, averaging $250.

The state Franchise Tax Board, which collects income taxes, is getting over 2,000 telephone calls a day about the IOUs, said board spokesman Will Bush.

The IOUs would pay 5 percent interest, but only a few banks and credit unions — mostly those with many state employees as customers — have said they would cash the warrants.

The Information Age

As a glance at recent unemployment statistics will show, the Industrial Age is over, and we have entered a new Age of Information. Most layoffs in recent years have been in the area of heavy industry. And during the 1970s, 90 percent of the new jobs created in the U.S. were in areas other than those directly manufacturing goods. Not long ago, the majority of working Americans were laborers. By the late 1970s, "clerk" was the most common job classification. Today, studies show that more Americans are employed in the processing of information than in any other area. This number includes a wide variety of occupations, from lawyers to accountants to social workers.

DO YOU KNOW — What share of the American labor force worked on farms in 1900?

Greenville Foundation Elects Officers; Planning Discussed

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Officers were elected for the coming year and general planning for needs were discussed at a meeting of the Greenville Foundation Monday night.

Dr. Herbert Hadley was re-elected chairman of the foundation, and attorney Mike Colombo was re-elected vice chairman.

Others present at the meeting included special guest Nancy Warren of North Carolina National Bank; Dr. Carl Wille of the Greenville Recreation and Parks Commission; Willie Nels, city librarian; Dr. Louis H. (Bud) Zincone, chairman of the Sheppard Library Board; Jennis Allen, chief of the Greenville Fire and Rescue Department; City Manager Gail Meeks; Dr. John L. Wooten; Louis Gaylord, attorney; and Herbert W. (Bud) Wheelless, real estate agent.

This planning meeting, Dr. Hadley explained, "was not to consider anybody's dream list. What we are looking at at this time are ways in which we can work together to make the public more aware of needs that cannot be funded through regular budgeting. We hope also to interest the public in ways they can help, especially through donations to a general or specified trust fund."

The Greenville Foundation is a chartered agency through which persons, businesses or groups can make arrangements to donate gifts of money or property to any public agency or department in Pitt County. Recently, the foundation provided seed money of $100 each to the Greenville Recreation and Parks Department and to Sheppard Memorial Library so that a trust fund could be developed for these two agencies.

Mrs. Warren, a trust officer with North Carolina National Bank, explained to those attending the meeting the basic role of a bank's trust department in working with members of a trust fund. She pointed out that banks had personnel who are experts in various areas of trust funds — investment officers, tax officers, and other specialists in private or corporate categories of trust funds.

She added that management assigns trust officers who can advise on whether a high or low income type of investment is best suited to the needs of a particular trust, depending on the immediate or long range plans applicable to the terms of the trust.

Dr. Hadley remarked that, at this point, "we are getting together information on trust funds that will give us a greater degree of flexibility. I think there's a great deal that can be done in the area of setting up trusts to help meet some pressing needs in these times of tight budgets. That's what we're striving for and seeking public support for."

Inmate Dies In Central Prison

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A Central Prison inmate, serving 15 years for assault with intent to commit rape, died Tuesday after he was found in his cell bleeding from apparent self-inflicted wounds on both arms.

Gene L. Rice, 35, was convicted in Alamance County on the assault with intent to commit rape charge and was convicted in Caswell County for assault with a deadly weapon. He was sentenced to 15 months in prison on that charge.

Prison spokesman Stuart Shadbolt said Rice had been moved from an intensive management block to a single cell in the prison's new section about 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Shadbolt said prison officials could not determine when Rice, whose wife lives in Graham, was last seen, but he was discovered in his cell about 4 p.m. and pronounced dead at the scene.

There was no indication of foul play and the State Bureau of Investigation has been asked to investigate. Other inmates were in the same block of cells, but not in position to observe other cells, Shadbolt said.

Arrest Resulted From A Determined Mother

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Detective work by a Cary woman determined to prove that her son's death was not an accident has led to the arrest of two men on murder charges.

Following tips, including some that resulted from newspaper ads and handbills posted by the woman, Jean Hunt conducted her own probe for seven months — ignoring warnings that the work she was doing might be dangerous.

"I was determined that the death of my son would not be swept under the rug," she said.

Sheriff's investigators originally blamed faulty wiring for a July 5 fire that killed Hubert Lee Hunt, 27, in his home. But reports from the city-county crime lab indicated that the fire started in three areas of the house, said Detective L.E. Williamson.

"She kept after people until they felt the pressure," Williamson said. "I think they felt pursued."

Williamson said investigators received a tip that helped lead to the arrests, but he would not comment further.

"I went out and interviewed a lot of people," Mrs. Hunt said. "I've been out in some backwoods places. I can tell you that."

Edward Dale Carwell, 22, and James D. Bryant, 17, have been charged with first degree murder, arson, and felony larceny.

Two other people also were charged in the case. Tara DeeRee Johnson, 18, was charged with felony larceny and accessory after the fact to murder, and Bruce Edward Driver, 27, was charged with felony larceny and violation of probation.

Police said stereo equipment worth $1,400 was found missing after the fire.

Williams said the department's workload was so great that another detective on the case had to be transferred after about a month on the case.

At that point, Mrs. Hunt launched her own investigation.

County Rejects Building Bid

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners has rejected bids for a garage building for the county landfill, and decided not to award contracts for the purchase of an optical scanner for the data processing center.

The bids for the two projects were opened at the board's meeting Monday.

In rejecting the garage bids, which ranged from $19,954 to $25,000 for a pole-type building, commissioners agreed to readvertise for bids for a metal building.

Rather than award contracts for the purchase of an optical scanner, the board instructed data processing center manager Gene Windham to investigate the possibility of leasing the equipment.

Only two bids were received for the scanning equipment — a $49,067 proposal from National Computer Systems, and a $5,379 bid from Scan-Tron Corp. The Scan-Tron bid, however, did not include disc drives that were included in the NCS package.

Conley FBLA Takes Awards

CONLEY FBLA WINNERS ... D.H. Conley High School swept the competition at the recent Future Business Leaders of America District I Competitive Events Meeting. First-place

D.H. Conley Future Business Leaders of America captured four first-place awards and one second-place award at the District I competitive events meeting held at East Carolina University recently.

First place winners were

Penny Joyner, Miss FBLA; Kathryn Kelley, clerk-typist II, and Wendy Moore, clerk-typist I. Lisa Allen was a second-place winner in the job interview category.

These students will compete with winners from the other state districts at the State Leadership Conference in Winston-Salem March 17-20. District I covers north-eastern North Carolina. Fifteen schools participated in the ECU competition which was hosted by the ECU chapter of Phi Beta Lambda and the School of Business.

Other Conley students participating in the event were Lisa Harris and Michelle Savage, poster; Ragan Spain, accounting I, and Emily Wilkerson, public speaking.

Graham Seeks Prevent Abandoning Railroads

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said the state is in danger of losing its branch line railroad system, and asked for government action to prevent it.

He said large railroads have indicated they intend to abandon 266 miles of branch line tracks and said that action could have serious economic impact on several communities.

"If the present trend continues, every branch line railroad system could eventually be abandoned by large rail systems, seriously hurting the economic viability of rural communities who use the lines to transport crops, pulpwood, building materials, fertilizers and the like out of and into their sometimes remote areas," Graham said.

"This will also mean that new industries will not locate in these areas since there would be no rail transportation to move materials in and out of the area."

Graham said the lines subject to abandonment include:

- Marion to West Shelby, 51 miles.
- Wilmington to New Bern, 89.17 miles.
- Henderson to Creedmoor, 14 miles.
- Fairmont branch line, 11 miles.
- Lumberton to St. Pauls to Duart, 23 miles.
- Pittsboro to Moncre, 11 miles.
- Halifax to Scotland Neck, 19 miles.
- Norlina to Roanoke Rapids, 35 miles.
- Red Springs to Parkton

section, 13 miles.

The Marion to West Shelby track is owned by Norfolk-Southern Corp., the others by CSX Corp.

Graham said the rail systems have a moral obligation to the communities where they have reaped profits in the past.

He said the Interstate Commerce Commission needs to review the requests carefully to see what effects abandonment would have on the economic livelihood of areas that would be affected.

"When you kill transportation alternatives in any area, you effectively kill any possibility of agribusiness, food distribution and industrial growth," he said.

Cocaine Ring Said Busted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — More than 150 law officers staged one of the biggest West Coast drug busts ever, arresting 20 people and cutting off a network that distributed an estimated $65 million in cocaine a month, authorities said.

The raids netted $240,000 in cocaine, $250,000 in jewelry, scuba gear, wetsuits, rifles, pistols, thick packets of more than $150,000 in U.S. currency and a number of vehicles, officials said.

"In the short run, many noses will probably dry up," U.S. Attorney Joseph Russoniello said after the raids, referring to the effect of heavy cocaine use on nasal passages.

The raids started at 8 a.m. and continued throughout the day in five San Francisco Bay area cities. The arrests culminated a year of legal wiretaps, stakeouts and other surveillance, Russoniello said.

The cocaine network has been linked to cocaine seizures at four Colombian ships in the last two months, he said.

Hospital Releases Governor Jim Hunt

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Jim Hunt, released from the hospital Tuesday afternoon, will spend the next 10 days at the governor's mansion recuperating from an appendectomy.

Spokesman Gary Pearce said Hunt got out of the hospital at 4 p.m. and was home a half hour later. He said Hunt has continued to stay on top of developments in the Legislature and had talked with his legislative lobbyist, Zeb Alley, about the approval of dram shop legislation by a Senate committee Tuesday.

"He's very pleased about that," Pearce said.

Pearce said the doctor advised Hunt not to do any travel or speaking through next week. "He's going to stay away from the office and take it easy — just get his full strength back before he assumes his full schedule."

Hunt, 45, was taken to Wake Medical Center on Thursday after he fainted during a speech before a group of mental health officials.

Doctors at first diagnosed his ailment as an intestinal virus. Physical examinations and X-rays showed that Hunt had gallstones, and doctors decided to keep him at the hospital for observation.

But when Hunt's surgeon, Dr. Fred Ng, visited Hunt on Friday, the governor's pains had moved to the lower right side of his abdomen, indicating that his appendix had become inflamed. He was taken to surgery for an operation that lasted 45 minutes.

Conflict In Film's Debut

YOU PAY FOR WHAT YOU GET — Linda Ronstadt and Rex Smith, who starred in the Broadway stage production, also play leading roles in "Pirates of Penzance" film version opening in theaters Friday, the same night it airs on pay-TV systems. (AP Laserphoto)

By JAY ARNOLD
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Universal Pictures will show its $10 million version of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Pirates of Penzance" on pay television Friday, the same day the movie musical debuts in theaters across the country.

But it's a first-time gamble most theater owners don't want to take.

Believing that audiences will stay away from the picture after it is shown on pay television, only about 100 of the nation's approximately 4,000 motion picture theaters have signed to play "Pirates."

"I would not have played it had they given it to me for nothing," says A. Alan Friedberg, president of the Boston-based Sack Theaters chain and former chairman of the National Association of Theater Owners. "I didn't invest millions of dollars in brick and mortar to play films simultaneously with television."

"As far as we're concerned, the picture doesn't exist," groused Mel Wintman, president of the nation's largest theater chain, the 1,000-screen GCC Theaters Inc.. "We will not play (simultaneously) with TV. We feel we have earned the right to play it first."

Subscription TV companies are asking subscribers to pay around $10 for a one-time showing of the movie, with Universal collecting about $6 of that figure. Most first-run movies tickets today cost between $2.00 and $5.00 each.

Industry sources say the sign-up rate for "Pirates" is running between 10 percent and 20 percent of the nation's 1.5 million homes that are wired for pay-per-view billing.

If 20 percent sign, the one-night return would be about $3 million — a large figure, but still far from what it takes to put today's multimillion-dollar movies in the black.

The lavish "Pirates" is not simply another ambitious made-for-television project. Filmed in an expensive widescreen process and sophisticated Dolby Stereo, it was intended for theatrical release.

According to a Universal spokesman, who declined to be identified, the picture, which was shot in England, cost about $10 million. Advertising and marketing generally doubles the production cost, so the film would have to gross $20 million to break-even.

Hedging its bets, Universal is demanding advance payments from pay television distributors, just as the studio does with theater owners on major movies, said John Gwin, president of Oak Media Development, whose ON-TV will offer "Pirates" to about 600,000 subscribers nationwide.

The results of recent live pay television events have been mixed. A much-publicized Who rock concert last year achieved a dismal 12 percent sign-up rate at ON-TV. In comparison, the 1982 Rolling Stones pay-per-view concert attracted 25 percent viewership, while some boxing matches have achieved 50 percent sign-up rates.

Universal executives have been cautious about the prospects for "Pirates," calling its release an "experiment" and emphasizing that no other same-day showings are in the works.

"This is an experiment in the future of theatrical distribution," said Jerry Hartman, vice president-director of marketing for Universal Pay Television. "It's a learning experience. We have set no goals."

As for "Pirates," modest 100-screen theatrical debut, Universal maintains the film would have opened on a small scale anyway, regardless of the pay TV controversy.

One exhibitor who will show the movie agreed.

Robert Laemmle, co-partner of Laemmle Theaters in Los Angeles, said "Pirates" is an "art film" that requires careful handling, in contrast to a "Superman" or a "Rocky" that can be released in as many as 1,500 theaters at once.

The movie is a film version of the recent Broadway revival produced by Joseph Papp's New York Shakespeare Festival. The cast includes rock stars Linda Ronstadt and Rex Smith as well as Broadway veterans Kevin Kline, George Rose and Angela Lansbury.

Universal executives said they hope to attract a different "universe" of viewers, the stay-at-home types who rarely trek to the local Bijou. They claim they aren't trying to take bread out of theater owners' mouths. Theaters that play the movie will benefit from extensive advertising, they say.

"I'm certain that there will be some people who might have gone to the theater who might sit home and watch it," Hartman said. "But I think it also will encourage a lot of people who would not have gone out to see it."

Nor will executives say this spells the end of theatrical distribution.

"The pay TV system is still in its infancy," said Gordon Armstrong, Universal vice president for advertising-publicity-promotion. "We're talking about 1.5 million homes. That's not a lot."

He said that placing pay television at the top of the traditional distribution sequence was "a long way down the road."

"We're not taking away the audience in this attempt," Armstrong said. "We feel there's a different audience out there. You've got a very narrow corridor — 1.5 million homes — if we had everyone signed up, which is not the case."

ECU Starts On-Campus Interviews

On-campus interviews of three finalists began at East Carolina University today as the institution narrows its search for a vice chancellor for institutional advancement.

John Kanipe, associate vice chancellor for foundations and development at N.C. State University, was interviewed today by representatives of the administration, faculty, trustees and alumni.

Donald Y. Leggett, ECU director of alumni relations, will be interviewed Thursday. Dr. F. Douglas Moore, who has held the vice chancellorship in an acting capacity for the last year, will be interviewed next week.

Men's Convention To Meet

The first annual men's convention will convene at Burning Bush Holiness Holy Ghost-Baptized Church of Christ Friday and continue through Sunday, with services at 8 p.m. each evening.

Friday night the speaker will be Pastor Leroy Grimes of Washington, N.C. On Saturday Ruling Elder James Newton will speak and Sunday Elder Cooper of Plymouth will be the guest speaker.

Granddaughter To Sing

Arsenia Dervon Harris and Lisa Birkhimer will sing during the 60th birthday celebration of the pastor of Morning Glory Apostolic Faith Holiness Church Sunday at noon. Miss Harris is the granddaughter of the pastor, the Rev. Irene Epps. Piano music will be provided by James Sanders of Ayden.

The church is located at 1012 W. Fifth St.

Bloodmobile Collects 177 Pints

A Bloodmobile visit Tuesday at Pitt Community College saw 177 pints of blood donated and 12 deferrals recorded, according to Pitt Red Cross spokeswoman Ruth Taylor.

She said the drive was sponsored by the Student Government Association. Connie Wrenn serves as adviser.

Mrs. Taylor reminded area donors to call the Red Cross office at 752-4222 in order to schedule appointments to give blood at the Bloodmobile visit on Feb. 28 at the Moose Lodge. She said the visit marks the first time that donors have the opportunity to call in advance to arrange specific times to give blood.

Test-Taking Class Planned

A one-week program for Rose High School students entitled "Early Bird Test-Taking Session" will begin Monday at 8 a.m. The program is designed to help prepare students taking standardized and teacher prepared tests. Registration is through the guidance department. To obtain further information call 758-4411.

Hospice Marks Anniversary

Hospice of East Carolina celebrated its first anniversary Tuesday.

Since its inception, the organization has served 98 advanced cancer patients and their families, director Beverly Burnette said.

Hospice has a fund-raising drive under way, with $70,000 needed for this coming year's operational expenses. All of this money stays in Pitt County. Mrs. Burnette pointed out. Anyone individual or organization interested in helping with the fund-raising efforts may call Mrs. Burnette, 758-4622.

Award Nominations Are Sought

The Bethel Council of the Pitt-Greenville Chamber of Commerce is seeking nominations for its Citizen of the Year Award.

James Dupree, the council's board chairman, said names of nominees may be sent to the council at P.O. Box 1022, Bethel, 27812 before Feb. 28. The award will be presented March 10 at 7 p.m. at the council's annual meeting, scheduled for the Bethel Elementary cafeteria.

Nomination forms are available at the Bethel Pharmacy, Wachovia Bank and Trust, Wynne's Chevrolet, Da-Nite Lunch, M.O. Blount & Sons and by calling the chamber office at 752-4101.

By JOHN FLESHER
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A state senator is seeking support to increase the drinking age to 21, and an aide says Gov. Jim Hunt supports a modified dram shop proposal approved by a Senate committee Tuesday.

The Senate Judiciary III Committee voted in favor of a dram shop statute that differs little from the one a subcommittee tentatively approved last week.

The proposal would make businesses liable to civil suits if they sell alcoholic beverages to minors or to people already drunk who later cause traffic accidents.

The dram shop issue has been the biggest obstacle to passage of the lengthy Hunt bill. It is designed to curb drunken driving by making it easier to convict defendants, by revoking their driver's licenses and by eliminating plea bargaining and imposing tougher sentences.

With that matter resolved, bill sponsor and committee chairman Sen. Henson Barnes, D-Wayne, said he expected the committee to vote on the entire package this week.

The proposal then would go to the Senate Finance Committee, which will consider costs of implementing the measure and the fees it levies.

State Sen. Robert Warren, D-Johnston, said he hopes to get enough votes in the Senate Judiciary III Committee to raise the drinking age from 18 to 21 instead of 19, as proposed by Hunt.

The minimum dinking age now is 18 for beer and wine and 21 for liquor.

Warren said he had surveyed six of the 10 committee members and three favored his amendment, two were opposed and one was undecided.

Warren said if he can't get commitments of support from at least six members, he'll wait and introduce his amendment on the Senate floor.

"We need consistency here," he said. "If the drinking age is 21 for one thing it ought to be for everything. You can get just as drunk off beer as you can off whiskey."

Zeb Alley, Hunt's legislative lobbyist, said the governor was satisfied with the compromise dram shop statute.

"The governor thinks this section is a good section," said Alley. "He supports it strongly."

Sen. Ben Tison, D-Mecklenburg, chairman of the subcommittee that drafted the compromise, said, "I didn't agree with all (of it) but it's probably the best we can do."

The amended statute softens the burden on some merchants the original bill imposed. The amended version imposes civil liability for sales of alcohol consumed on premises and for sales to minors regardless of where the beverages are drunk. But it removes liability for sales to people of legal age who drink off premises.

It also reduces the amount of insurance establishments with liquor permits will have to carry. The original bill required coverage of at least $100,000 per victim and $300,000 per occurrence. The new version calls for coverage of $25,000 per person and $50,000 per occurrence.

The judiciary committee approved several other amendments Tuesday, including a provision to soften the section dealing with seizure of vehicles.

As originally worded, the bill would permit impoundment of a person's vehicle if he is convicted of a traffic-related offense while his license is revoked for driving while impaired.

The revision would allow a judge to take into consideration whether family members or other innocent people would be hurt by the loss of the car. It also would require that the offense provoking the impoundment be alcohol-related.

The House Judiciary III Committee, considering its own version of the bill, adopted an amendment by Rep. Al Adams, D-Wake. It makes driving with a blood alcohol level of 0.20 a "grossly aggravating" factor, which would draw the heaviest sentence.

"These are the people that are causing the deaths on the road," Adams said.

Rep. Martin Lancaster, D-Wayne, committee chairman and bill sponsor, said the Governor's Task Force on Drunken Driving decided not to recommend the change because 20,000 drivers are arrested each year with that amount of alcohol in their blood.

"Their reasoning was it would be too much of a burden on county jails," Lancaster said.

The Senate committee ran into problems when several senators said they had different ideas about the definition of "impaired" in the bill, which focuses on creation of a driving while impaired offense to replace all existing alcohol-related traffic charges.

"The bill is intended to apply to appreciable impairment only," Pearce said.

POLARIZED — Pike, a three-month-old, 17-pound polar bear cub, nuzzles San Francisco Zoo health technician Gail Hedberg after she made her debut at the Zoo. Pike, pronounced Peek-a, will weigh about 800 pounds when she's fully grown. (AP Laserphoto)

A Final Berth For Old Salts

SEALEVEL, N.C. (AP) — The Sailors' Snug Harbor, founded with the help of Alexander Hamilton in 1801, provides a final berth for 113 retired sailors who sit around oaken tables and tell tales of torpedoes and tall ships.

"I first went to sea in 1923 at the age of 17," said Alexander Balent, 76. "I sailed on two schooners and one barkentine that was built in Hawaii in 1867 as a four-masted schooner. Everything about it was rotten. Even the food."

But the Harbor, as its staff and residents call it, is second only to the more expensive country clubs and resort hotels in luxury. Large ship models, ship's wheels, ship's telegraphs and paintings of maritime scenes abound.

Broad carpeted halls lead to handsomely furnished private rooms with private baths. Some of the retired merchant mariners come and go in their own cars with more freedom than they ever had in the cramped quarters of seagoing vessels.

"This is the best I've seen," said Max Katzoff, 72, who spent more than 20 years as a firefighter, oiler and water tender aboard tankers and cargo ships. "I just got back from an eight-day visit to my brother and I was glad to get back. I missed this."

The retired sailors range in age from 60 to 98. A few are women who sailed as nannies or stewardesses aboard ocean liners.

The Sailors' Snug Harbor was founded in 1801 by Capt. Robert Richard Randall, a ship's master and Revolutionary War hero who made a fortune. With the help of Hamilton, his close friend, he willed 21 acres of land in New York to a perpetual trust to provide a home "for aged, decrepit and worn out seamen."

The 21 acres turned out to be in the heart of what is now Greenwich Village, and the trust that administers Randall's estate still owns most of the land and collects rents.

Snug Harbor opened on Staten Island, which was not then a part of New York City, in 1833. By 1976 it had taken care of 11,000 disabled and retired mariners, and its buildings had fallen apart. So the harbor moved to its new quarters in Sealevel, which has a moderate climate and a hospital a mile away.

Requirements for admission include need, plus at least 10 years on the high seas, at least five under the American flag. Residents pay 40 percent of their income and retain their capital assets. About 10 qualified applicants are on the waiting list.

Capt. William Smith — all residents are promoted to captain upon admission — said he went to sea in 1926 in the Coast Guard. He served on private yachts and steamships and pulled into ports from Iceland to the Galapagos Islands.

Smith, a quadriplegic, said he was diagnosed as a victim of multiple sclerosis in 1931.

"But that didn't stop me," he said. "I've been to the Far East and to Europe as a radio operator in a wheelchair."

Snow Hampers Indian Relief

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — An inch of new snow has further hampered efforts to deliver supplies to Navajo and Zuni Indians, stranded for three weeks by knee-deep mud, officials say.

Army National Guard Rescue helicopters used to deliver supplies to the reservations have returned to their home bases for maintenance and are not scheduled to return to the area.

ATTENTION NATURAL GAS CUSTOMERS OF GREENVILLE UTILITIES COMMISSION

On January 1, 1983, Greenville Utilities Commission began phasing out appliance service work in customer's homes. This service will be continued on a limited basis until June 30, 1983. After that date, Greenville Utilities Commission will no longer provide this service.

All gas customers needing appliance service work are requested to contact the gas appliance dealer from whom these appliances were purchased.

Yesterday's Cryptquip — THE PATIENT INMATE
AUTHORED STORIES; USED PEN NAME.
Today's Cryptquip clue: X equals E.

The Cryptquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Poland has established itself as a power in world bridge. In 1978, the Poles won the team event at the World Bridge Olympiad in New Orleans. The depth of the Polish team is evident from the performance of Marcin Lesniewski at the recent World Olympiad in Biarritz.

East and South both showed power with their double and redouble, respectively. West chose to introduce his four-card heart suit for no good reason, and North competed in spades. However, with his trickless hand North was not prepared to sit for three hearts doubled, which would probably have been defeated two tricks. South tried to compensate by going on to game.

East won the opening lead with the king of clubs and shifted to a trump to cut down heart ruffs in dummy. Lesniewski won in hand with the queen, cashed the ace of hearts and ruffed a heart in dummy. He came back to hand with a club ruff, ruffed another heart and then ruffed a second club.

The club suit was now established, but there was no way to get to the table to enjoy it. That didn't bother declarer particularly. He simply cashed his trumps and exited with his last heart. On these tricks, dummy's remaining clubs were discarded.

Everyone was down to nothing but diamonds. East could do no better than cash the ace of diamonds and surrender the rest to declarer. Underleading the ace of diamonds would not have helped, because dummy's Q-10-9 assured declarer of two diamond tricks regardless of the lie of the cards.

Distributors

Urge Re-Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — An association of East Coast natural gas distributors is asking the Federal Energy Regulator Commission to reconsider an order the distributors claim will boost prices to consumers by $10 billion this year.

The order last month allowed producers to automatically add certain costs in preparing gas for transmission to the maximum legal price they charge. The commission said it had no choice but to allow the costs under a 1978 law establishing a timetable for decontrol of natural gas.

The group, Associated Gas Distributors, also has initiated a suit in the U.S. Court of Appeals here that will be pursued if the commission doesn't agree by this Friday to reconsider its action, an attorney for the utilities said.

Offers $250,000

For Information

NORTH MIAMI, Fla. (AP)

— An insurance adjuster has offered $250,000 for help in solving the theft of $11 million in gold from a jewelry wholesaler.

"A quarter of a million is an awful lot of money for information," adjuster Harold J. Smith said Monday. "It's probably one of the biggest rewards ever offered."

Police said Monday they had no new leads in the case. FBI spokesman Dennis Erich says agents want to know why an electronic door was unlocked at the Golden Door, one of the largest gold-smelting firms in the Southeast, during the robbery last Thursday.

Congressional Names Offer 'Dream Legislation'

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — One way to get a foretaste of what a new Congress will be like is to examine the rosters of freshmen members of the House and Senate.

Historically, personnel changes that follow elections provide clues as to the type of legislation that will be introduced.

In the light of the administration's plans to set up a payment-in-kind program to help stabilize agriculture prices, it can be seen that farm legislation will be big in the 98th Congress.

In that area, a Missouri first-term lawgiver, Rep. Alan Wheat, cannot be written off despite his lack of seniority. Perhaps he can collaborate with a Texas colleague to give the nation a Wheat-Fields bill.

Or maybe that bill could better serve as a vehicle for yet another MX missile basing mode proposal.

Is Congress not concerned about upgrading the ability of automobiles to absorb the impact of low speed collisions? And does not a new representative from Michigan have a name ideal for that purpose? Particularly if he joins with an Arkansas senator?

Yes, motorists, there is a bright future ahead for the Carr-Bumpers bill. And if freshman Rep. Ron Packard, R-Calif., wants to co-sponsor the measure, so much the better.

Problems encountered by the U.S. Mint in providing coins for the realm also traditionally command a lot of attention in Congress.

This year, providentially, there is a freshman House member from Minnesota who can join an Oklahoma senator in sponsoring the Penny-Nickles bill to bolster production.

In the 1982 elections, the 6th District of California chose a new representative named Barbara Boxer. It seems preordained that she should take an interest in federal regulations to curb excess violence in prize-fights.

Nomenclature logic further dictates that she be joined in this effort by a second term congressman from Illinois and the senior senator from Wyoming.

The result would be the Savage-Boxer-Wallop bill to outlaw certain types of punches.

Another female newcomer is Rep. Marcy Kaptur, D-Ohio. What better arena could she occupy than the humane treatment of hostages? She can team up with an Ohio Republican to produce the Kindness-Kapture bill.

And what might the future hold for a North Carolina freshman? A distinct possibility is a close association with a certain Colorado senator. There obviously are many causes a Valentine-Hart bill would well serve.

Other first-termers include Reps. Jim Moody, D-Wis., Richard Ray, D-Ga., Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., Thomas Ridge, R-Pa., Ed Towns, D-N.Y., and Bob Wise, D-W.Va. Big things are expected from all of them.

All "Stennis anyone?" players are especially gratified to have a second-generation Staggers on Capitol Hill. His father, the retired chairman of the House Commerce Committee, provided inspiration for many figurative pieces of legislation in his time.

The junior Staggers makes his debut coincident with a nationwide campaign to curtail drunk driving. That timing is impeccable.

These newcomers can't carry the entire legislative load, however.

It likewise is good to welcome back veteran lawgivers bearing such promising names as Borer, Bonker, Gore, Leach, Lent, Long, Obey, Pepper, Pickle, Price, Rangle, Hall, Rose, Sharp, Stump, Swift, Winn, Wright, Walker, Weaver, Wyden, Bore, Baken, Hyde, Byrd, Dole, East, Hatch, Lugar, Nunn, Specter and Tower.

Should the need arise for legislation to aid farmers whose crops are damaged by premature winter storms, it can be filled by the Massachusetts and Texas delegations combining forces with the Early-Frost bill.

You saw the results of a recent study showing that youth gangs now operate in small as well as large cities?

That appears to call for a bipartisan measure to increase federal penalties for juvenile delinquency. In other words, the Young-Studds bill.

It would fit in well with the Fish-Roe bill to regulate the domestic caviar industry.

Meanwhile, if Rep. Phil Gramm of Texas, who recently switched parties, doesn't become active in promoting the metric system, many of his new colleagues will be sorely disappointed.

Levis Filled A Gold Rush Need

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — At the time of the American gold rush, Levi Strauss, a young immigrant from Bavaria, was selling clothes and household goods in New York City.

In 1853, Strauss booked passage on a clipper ship bound for San Francisco, taking rolls of canvas to sell to gold miners to make tents and wagon covers. The canvas didn't sell — at least not for those purposes.

Instead, the miners wanted pants rugged enough to stand up to the rigors of digging for gold. What they soon came to refer to as "those pants of Levi's," did the job.

Strauss soon shifted from canvas to denim — blue denim — and for nearly 100 years "Levi's" meant mostly work clothes for miners, cowboys and lumberjacks out West.

But, according to Levi Strauss & Co., in the 1930's the pants became popular in the East as well, and by 1983, 130 years after Strauss went to California, more than 1 billion pairs of the jeans had been produced.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market showed some scattered gains today with a lift from new evidence of an improving economy.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 4.56 to 1,097.66 in the first half hour. Gainers and losers ran about even in the early rally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Before the market opened, the government reported that industrial production increased 0.9 percent in January.

The figure came as no big surprise to Wall Street. But analysts said it provided further support for the growing belief that the year-and-half-old recession was giving way to recovery. The news helped set the market rolling for another possible run at the 1,100 level in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Today's early prices included Mobil, up 1/4 at 28; Federal National Mortgage, up 1/4 at 21 1/4, and American Telephone & Telegraph, up 1/4 at 67 1/4.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 4.00 to 1,093.10.

Advances slightly outnumbered declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume totaled 89.04 million shares, against 72.64 million in the previous session.

The NYSE's composite index slipped 21 to 85.68. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 4.52 at a record high of 384.72.

Steno Book May Linger Awhile

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP) - As technology steadily changes the appearance of the nation's offices, it appears that one long-standing office product - the steno book - will be around for some time to come.

In an informal survey of secretaries, a manufacturer of office supplies found 90 percent of the office workers queried feel the increased use of dictation equipment will not diminish the need for steno books in the future.

Ninety-five percent of the respondents to the survey conducted by Ampad use steno books regularly and 80 percent of those use them for taking shorthand. Other uses cited were note taking and recording minutes of meetings, daily schedules and telephone messages.

Surplus Food Goes To Needy

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Two programs to distribute food to the needy of Los Angeles County have given away over 5 million pounds of meat, produce, dairy products and staples, according to spokesmen.

"This is surplus food, and the effort is to get it out of the warehouses and onto people's tables," Joan Pinchuck, spokeswoman for the Department of Community Development, said Monday.

Guest Speaker

Beatrice C. Maye was the guest speaker for the Pitt County Senior Citizens Social Club, which met Tuesday. Her topic was "African-American History Month." Rosalie Jones will be the guest speaker for the group's March 15 meeting.

All Safe After 'Belly-Landing'

By ANNE S. CROWLEY
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) - An emergency bellyflop by a New York-bound Eastern Airlines jet scorched the plane's hull as it slid safely to a stop, but the landing turned out "even better than with wheels," said one of the 74 people aboard.

Eastern Flight 194, carrying 67 passengers and seven crew members from West Palm Beach to New York's Kennedy International Airport and then to Albany, N.Y., was diverted to Miami Tuesday night when the pilot couldn't get the left landing gear to retract fully after takeoff.

Pilot R.R. Curti circled for 2 1/2 hours before bringing the jetliner in wheels up, slow and low, "smack dab in the center of the runway," around 8:30 p.m., Eastern spokesman Tom Myers said.

Curti, two flight officers and four flight attendants were interviewed by Federal Aviation Administration investigators Tuesday night. They would not comment afterward on the emergency landing.

Sparks flew and friction scorched the plane's metal hull, but an Eastern spokesman said the only injuries were scraped hands, elbows and knees of people who fell off the wings trying to get out of the disabled Boeing 727.

"If you flew off carriers in Korea, this was a piece of cake," said a calm William Brokaw, who lives in Palm Beach and New York City. "I've flown through 100 times worse than that in Korea with MiGs chasing us. The aircraft is built to pancake."

Dozens of Metro-Dade police, firefighters and rescue workers stood by, ready to rush any injured passengers to safety, but they had little to do but spray the aircraft with firefighting foam after it skidded to a halt.

"It was a beautiful landing. The whole thing went off just like a drill," said firefighter John Carroll.

Spurred By Negligence

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - The death of a Wake County man in a highway accident has given new impetus to efforts in the Legislature to enact a comparative fault system for negligence lawsuits.

Under the proposal, negligence would not prevent an injured person or his survivors from collecting damages. The jury would apportion blame for an accident and award damages accordingly.

A contract with McLaurin Parking Co., for continued management of parking facilities at the hospital, was approved, with McLaurin being paid 35 percent of all taken, not to exceed $66,000 or fall under $58,000. Equipment owned by McLaurin now reverts to the hospital, under the new contract.

The hospital received $34,900 from the Duke Endowment for free care provided by the hospital last year.

Vice President for Nursing Services Betty Trought reported on a visit by representatives of the Duke Endowment to view the Co-Venture nursing program of PCMH, Eastern Area Health Education Center, and Pitt Community College. This program is for bringing new nurses to a high degree of proficiency quickly with input from all three institutions.

Approved for provisional medical staff privileges were Dr. Merwin Dieckmann and Dr. Charles S. Baker III in family medicine; Dr. Joseph Russo and Dr. Karen A. Filkins in obstetrics and gynecology; Dr. Robert Bolande in pathology; Dr. Rosemary A. Thomas in internal medicine (cardiology); Dr. Jose Caro, active, in internal medicine (endocrinology & metabolism); for courtesy privileges, Dr. Lesley Mega in psychiatric medicine (child and adolescent).

Promoted from provisional to full staff privileges were Dr. Robert Dellinger in family medicine; Dr. Mark Delasega in internal medicine; Dr. Raymond Dombroski in obstetrics/gynecology; Dr. Joyce Mitchell in emergency medicine; Dr. James Holland in surgery; Dr. Dwayne Kratzer, consulting in podiatric medicine; Dr. Richard Kelly in radiology; and Dr. Satpal Grewal, consulting in radiation therapy.

Dr. Charles Duckett, a family practitioner, was approved for Type II obstetrical privileges.

SWE Surprises N. Pitt

By RICK SCOPPE
Reflector Sports Writer
BETHEL — SouthWest Edgecombe may have dealt North Pitt's ECC regular-season title hopes a blow Tuesday evening from which the stumbling Panthers may not recover.

SouthWest, behind Jesse Forbes' 16 points and Tim Walker's 13, rallied from six points behind in the fourth quarter and outscored the Panthers 7 to 2 in overtime to win, 54-51.

The win leaves North Pitt at 8-3 in the Eastern Carolina Conference, a game behind ECC-leading Farmville Central. The Jaguars clinched a tie for the ECC title with a 68-48 win over winless C.B. Aycock last night.

Farmville can clinch the title with a victory Friday against Southern Nash. The Panthers would need to beat Ayden-Grifton Friday and the Jaguars to lose to tie for the title.

SouthWest, which has now won five straight, including wins over Farmville and Ayden-Grifton, is now 14-7 overall and 6-5 in the ECC.

"A gift, ain't it?" North Pitt coach Cobby Deans said afterwards. "I just think we gave the ballgame to them."

"When you go to the foul line and have a layup for a chance to win and you miss both, you don't deserve to win," Deans said. "I just think we sort of relaxed and gave them the game."

North Pitt rallied from a three-point deficit in the first period to go up, 32-27, at the half. The Panthers stretched a four-point third-period lead to six early in the final period and led, 45-41, with 3:19 left.

North Pitt did not score again in regulation — but SouthWest center LeMonte did. Johnson scored eight of his 10 points during a two-minute span that saw SWE outscore North Pitt, 8 to 2 to tie it at 47.

Johnson drove the lane for a bucket, hit a jumper at the foul line and then canned four free throws during the run. Johnson's final two free throws tied the game at 47 with 1:44 left.

After North Pitt forward Charles Harris missed a jumper with a minute left, the Cougars were called for a five second count. Greg Briley then missed the front end of a one-and-one with 33 seconds to left.

SouthWest ran the clock down to five seconds but Forbes' driving jumper was off, sending the game into overtime.

SWE got the tap in OT and Walker hit a 17-foot jumper to give the Cougars a 49-47 bulge. After Greg Hines missed a one-and-one chance, Darryl Bess drove the lane for a bucket to make it 51-47 with 53 seconds left.

Keith Clark's jumper from the foul line cut the lead to 51-49, but Bess hit one of two free throws to make it 52-49 with 37 seconds left. Briley's layup with 26 seconds left cut the lead to 52-51.

North Pitt appeared headed for the lead when center Dennis Bradley was free for a layup on the fast break. But, Bradley missed the layup with 20 seconds left and Walker hit two free throws with 11 seconds to hand the North Pitt a second straight loss.

"We've been kind of going through the motions lately," admitted Deans. "If this doesn't shake 'em up...."

The Panthers, who dropped a 42-37 decision to Farmville last Tuesday, fall to 15-6 overall.

The Panthers were led by Hines with 18 points and five rebounds. "Hines was the only bright spot," Deans said.

Bradley had 10 points and a game-high 12 rebounds as North Pitt outrebounded the Cougars, 22-18. Johnson led

Pant-HERS Stun Cougars

By RICK SCOPPE
Reflector Sports Writer
BETHEL — It was an evening North Pitt coach Randy Avery and his Pant-HERS may never forget.

In perhaps the biggest win in the history of girls' basketball at North Pitt, the Pant-HERS stunned SouthWest Edgecombe, 60-58, Tuesday night in an Eastern Carolina Conference game.

"I swear I just don't know what to say," Avery said afterwards. "I am at a complete loss for words."

"This is the most exciting thing to happen to me since I've been coaching at North Pitt," said Avery, who beat the Lady Cougars for the first time in his three seasons as Pant-HERS coach and also avenged an 81-37 whipping at SWE's hands earlier this year.

North Pitt, which is 4-7 in the ECC and 9-15 overall, led by two at the half and three entering the fourth period before SWE outscored North Pitt, 8 to 2, to rally from a four-point deficit for a 52-49 lead with 3:58 left.

But North Pitt refused to fold. After tying the game at 52 on a driving layup by Linda Harrell, North Pitt took the lead for good on a pair of foul shots by Sherri Bradley at 58-56 with 29 seconds left.

SouthWest's Janice Draughn, who scored a game-high 27 points, missed two foul shots with 23 seconds remaining. North Pitt's Regina Cox hit a one-and-one for a 60-56 lead with 23 seconds left.

Draughn sliced the lead to two on a driving jumper 10 seconds later. Cox then missed two free throws but Draughn lost the ball out of bounds. The Pant-HERS' DeLores Pittman then missed the front end of a one-and-one with seven seconds, but Draughn's 25-foot jumper at the buzzer rimmed out, sending SWE to just its third loss in 21 games.

SouthWest, which saw a 70-game winning streak snapped by Tarboro this season, falls to 9-2 in the ECC.

Pittman led North Pitt with 13 points. Cox added 12 points and Harrell 11 for the Pant-HERS. Cox, a freshman, led North Pitt with 14 rebounds.

North Pitt hit 24 of 37 (64.8%) from the foul line. SouthWest was 13 of 23 at the line.

Joining Draughn in double figures for SouthWest were Kim Edmondson and Melody Jenkins with 10 points each. Jenkins was one of three starters who saw limited playing time because of foul troubles. Jenkins fouled out with 2:06 to go. Two other starters ended the game with four fouls.

"Regina Cox just had a super ball game, there's no doubt about that," Avery said.

Up For Two

Rampants Blow Lead; Rally Fails To Catch Vikes

By ALAN WOOTEN
Reflector Sports Writer
Charles Shackleford pumped in 31 points to lead four Kinston players in double figures as the Vikings withstood a valiant upset bid from host Greenville Rose Tuesday night, 81-76.

Travis Freeman scored 13 for the Vikings. Kenneth Walters had 12 and Roy Lee Sutton added 11 to aid the Kinston attack.

Earlier in the girls' game, Rose got 16 points from Francis Barnhill to defeat the Lady Vikings, 54-47.

"I thought we had it," Rose coach Jim Brewington said afterwards. "We shot real well (58% from the floor), but we just could not get it in at the end."

The Vikings were also aided by free throws. Kinston made good on 25 of 33 (75.7%) free throws while Rose made only 12 of 21 (57.1%).

A layup off a fastbreak by Tony Clemons pulled Rose within 72-68 with 4:02 left. The Vikings then tried to pull the ball out with 3:12 left to run off some of the time.

The result was a turnover and a 20-footer from the left wing by Donnell Lee, which cut the lead to 72-70. Walters scored inside for Kinston with 2:20 left to make it 74-70.

A Rose turnover at 2:04 returned the ball to Kinston. The Vikings, however, missed three consecutive free throws.

The last one headed for the out-of-bounds line with three Rose players giving chase.

Alan Dickens came up with the save. The only problem was the ball went to the 6'8" Shackleford who took two steps from the wing, went airborne, and slammed the ball through for a 76-70 lead.

The Rampants weren't through just yet. Clemons made good on two free throws with 1:22 showing to cut it to 76-72. A Shackleford tip-in ran the lead back out to 78-72.

Two more free throws by Clemons cut it back to 78-74 with :59 left. Walters made the front end of a one-and-one and Shackleford tipped in the missed second shot for an 81-74 lead with 52 seconds left. Albert Brown hit a jumper to make it 81-76.

The Rampants could not foul anyone in time but did come up with a steal with 20 seconds left. Lee raced down for the layup but was fouled by Kinston's Paul Beaman.

The shot wouldn't fall and neither would the two ensuing free throws. Shackleford missed on a one-and-one opportunity with :09 left. A shot from beyond half-court by

ECU Women Look To Go Over .500 Vs. Morehead

East Carolina's Lady Pirates play host to Morehead State Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Minges Coliseum, attempting to climb back above the .500 mark.

The Lady Pirates, now 10-10, come into the game following an 85-57 defeat at the hands of fifth-ranked Cheyney State in the finals of the Lady Pirate-Converse Classic on Sunday evening.

Morehead State, in contrast, held a 13-7 record prior to a Tuesday night game with Cincinnati. It's the first meeting between the two schools.

"They're a real good team," Coach Cathy Andruzzi said of her opponent. "They gave Western Kentucky a real good game and took Louisville into overtime. It's going to be tough to beat them."

Western Kentucky is the only opponent the two teams have shared. Morehead State bowed to that team by a 70-61 score, while East Carolina fell, 76-44. That game is one that Andruzzi considers the worst played contest of the year for the Lady Pirates.

"Coach Mickey Wells has done a great job (at Morehead State). We've never played them, so I am fairly unfamiliar with them. But they've won some real big game this year and when they come in here Thursday, they will play with their all."

As is usual, Morehead will hold a height advantage over the Lady Pirates. They start Loni Guilette, a 6-3 sophomore at center, with 6-1 junior Lynn Miley at one of the forward spots. A junior, 5-11 Priscilla Blackford is the other forwards. At the guard positions are 5-10 sophomore Connie Appleman and 5-7 junior Rita Berry.

If the Lady Pirates go with their recent starting lineup of Darlene Chaney at center, Mary Denkler and Sylvia Bragg at forwards and Fran Hooks and Caren Truske at

Price Honored

GREENSBORO (AP) — Georgia Tech's Mark Price has been named basketball rookie of the week in the Atlantic Coast Conference for the third time this season.

Price, a six-foot, 165-pound freshman from Enid, Okla., scored 37 points in leading the Yellow Jackets to their first back-to-back conference victories since joining the league in 1978.

In his team's 67-66 triumph over Duke, Price had 13 points. He then scored 24 in the Yellow Jackets' 70-69 win over Wake Forest.

Kinston Beats Aycock, 76-60

KINSTON — Maurice Hardy scored 19 points to lead Kinston to an easy 76-60 victory over E.B. Aycock Tuesday in a junior high basketball game.

EBA, now 3-8, was led by Dwight Smith with 22 points.

In the girls' game, E.B. Aycock defeated Kinston, 37-35, behind Kim Dupree and Vicki Parrott. Dupree scored 16 points and Parrott added 13 for Aycock, now 8-3 overall.

Jags Clinch Tie For Title

PIKEVILLE — Farmville Central's boys clinched no worse than a tie for first place in the Eastern Carolina Conference last night with a 68-48 victory over last place Charles B. Aycock.

Aycock's girls, meanwhile, iced a tie for first place in the girls' race with a 61-40 win over the Lady Jaguars.

Farmville's win, combined with SouthWest Edgecombe's upset of North Pitt, served to push the Jaguars into first place all alone with a 9-2 league record. A victory by Farmville over Southern Nash on Friday would clinch the regular season championship for the Jaguars.

And North Pitt's upset of SouthWest in the girls' game enabled Aycock — which ended its conference season with the win over Farmville — to end the year at 10-2, and no worse than a tie for first. SouthWest can tie — and bring on a Saturday coin toss for first seeding in next week's ECC tournament — with a win over Greene Central Friday night. A loss by the Lady Cougars, however, would award sole possession of first to Aycock.

Farmville zoomed away in the first quarter of the boys' game, building up a 27-12 lead. After that, it was just a question of the margin. By halftime, the Jaguars had built up a 41-23 lead. They extended that to 55-32 during the third period and finished off the winless Falcons by allowing a 16-13 rally.

Andrew Edwards paced the Jaguars with a career high 24 points while Reggie Gorham had 14 and Tony Hargrove added 12. Mark Radford paced Aycock with 21, while Jeff Woodard had 14 and Terry Fuller hit 10.

Farmville is now 15-6 overall. Aycock is 0-20 overall and ends the ECC year with an 0-12 mark. The Falcons have one chance — in a non-conference game against 1-A Rosewood on Friday — to end the regular season with a victory.

The win was the 24th straight by Farmville over Aycock since the 1971-72 season.

Aycock's girls rode out to a 13-5 lead in the first period of their game, then outscored Farmville, 22-10, in the second period. That gave the Lady Falcons a 35-15 lead to take to the dressing room.

In the third period, Aycock again outscored the Lady Jags, 19-7, building the lead out to 54-22. Farmville was allowed an 18-7 rally in the final quarter.

Sherri Williams led Aycock with 19 points, with Zina Jones adding 17 and Marsha Hester, 10. Stephanie Newton had 20 to lead Farmville.

The Lady Jaguars fall to 3-8 in the conference and 4-18 overall. Aycock is now 17-4 overall.

Firebirds Upend Rams

SNOW HILL — Greene Central's Rams rallied from ten points down in the fourth period to within four of Southern Nash, then saw a turnover send them on the road to a 48-35 defeat last night.

Greene Central's girls downed Southern, 39-36, in their game.

Southern inched out into a 10-9 lead after one period of the boys' game, then held Greene Central to just four points in the second quarter. At the same time the Firebirds were scoring 11 of their own to build up a 21-13 halftime advantage.

Greene Central inched back to within six points during the third period with a 12-10 advantage, and trailed, 31-25, going into the final period. In that, the Rams continued to rally until they had pulled within four, then double-dribbled unguarded and the turnover spelled the end for them. Southern scored to go back out by six, and continued to pull away, finally outitting the Rams, 17-10, in the period.

David Spivey led Southern with 14 points while Jimmy Pulley added 10. Theodore Edwards led Greene Central with 10 points.

The Rams drop to 4-7 with the loss in the conference, and are 6-15 overall. Southern is now 5-6 in the league and 6-13 overall.

Greene Central's girls fell behind early, 9-4, but struggled back with a 12-8 margin in the second period to trail by only 17-16 at the half. In the third period, the Lady Rams pushed ahead, outscoring the Ladybirds, 10-5. That made it 26-22 going into the final period.

Southern tried to rally in the final period, but its 14-13 advantage wasn't enough to pull it out.

Cyndi Hicks led the Lady Rams with 14 points while Saraphenia Cox added 12. Southern was led by Melissa Morgan with 14 and Cynthia Brown with 13.

Both teams are deadlocked at 5-6 in the league standings, while Greene is 13-8 overall and Southern is 11-8.

Greene Central closes out the regular season on Friday, hosting SouthWest Edgecombe.

Conley Nips Eagles To Wrap Up Crown

VANCEBORO — D.H. Conley's Vikings eased to a 50-49 victory over West Craven and wrapped up the 1982-83 Coastal Conference championship in basketball.

Conley's girls, with a 53-22 romp over the Lady Eagles, remained tied with North Lenoir for first place.

The Vikings, now 9-0 in the conference suffered through a poor first half then came on strong in the second to hold off West Craven's last ditch bid for the CC title. "We didn't play good defense in the first half and we were impatient on offense," Coach Shelly Marsh said. As a result, Conley held only a 12-11 lead after one period and fell behind in the second frame as the Eagles build up a 17-9 margin in the second quarter. That put the Eagles into a 28-21 lead at the half.

Conley was unable to regain the lead in the third period, however, despite a 16-10 margin. That cut the Eagles' advantage to only one, however, 38-37, as the final quarter began. In that, Conley outscored West Craven, 13-11, and only an Eagle basket at the buzzer made it the one-point final margin.

Keith Gatlin had another fine night, scoring 32 points to lead Conley. Ronnie Bellamy paced West Craven with 24.

Conley is now 18-3 overall, while West Craven is 16-4. In the girls' game, Conley had little trouble with the Lady Eagles, rolling up an 18-2 lead in the first period. The Valkyries outthit West Craven again, 15-4, to take a 33-6 halftime lead. That was extended to 44-13 in the third period and both teams scored nine points in the final quarter.

Irish Barnhill led Conley with 12 points while Mechio Kornegay added 10. No one scored in double figures for West Craven.

The win leaves Conley with an 8-1 league mark and a 20-2 overall record. West Craven is 1-8, 2-19.

Conley's girls remain tied with North Lenoir for first place in the league. North Lenoir, a 70-60 winner over Havelock last night, plays host to West Carteret on Friday, while Conley entertains Havelock. Should both win — or lose — the tie will be broken on Saturday by a coin toss. A split, however, would leave one in first all alone.

Roanoke Clinches Title

ROANOKE RAPIDS — Roanoke High School of Robersonville swept a pair of games from hosting Roanoke Rapids last night and clinched the championships of the Northeastern Conference.

The Roanoke boys, with their 60-39 victory, got help from Bertie, which downed Plymouth, 61-60, to give the Redskins the Northeastern Conference title.

The Roanoke girls, meanwhile, rolled up a 57-36 victory and put away the title in their division.

Both the boys and girls have completed their conference schedule with 14-2 and 15-1 records, respectively.

Roanoke's junior varsity rounded out the championship evening with a 66-34 victory, giving the Paposes the NEAC title in that division, too.

The Redskins eased out to a 12-8 lead in the first period of their game, then saw the Yellow Jackets keep pace with them in the second period, 12-12. That left Roanoke ahead, 24-20, at the half.

In the third frame, however, Roanoke outthit the Jackets, 18-8, to run its lead out to 43-29. The final quarter saw the Redskins roll up a 17-10 advantage to win handily.

Greg Everett led Roanoke with 17 points, while Donnie Wallace picked up 14 and Ricky Highsmith had 12. R. Ramsey led Roanoke Rapids with 10.

The Roanoke girls also built up a 12-8 lead in the first period, but saw Roanoke Rapids rally to cut the lead back to 24-21 at the half.

Roanoke eased away again in the third period, 11-8, building its lead to 35-29. Then, in the final quarter, the Squaws outthit the Lady Jackets, 22-7, to win going away.

Dezella Jones led Roanoke with 17 points while Mary Bland had 13 and Gloria Duggins and Sheila Howell each had 12. No one scored in double figures for the Jackets.

Roanoke's boys and girls are now both 16-3 overall. Roanoke Rapids' boys fall to 8-7 in the conference and 8-9 overall, while the girls are 0-15, 0-17.

Roanoke closes out the regular season tonight hosting Ayden-Grifton in a non-conference game.

Vike Rally Fells Rose...

Dickens was good at the end but came after the buzzer.

"We played about as well as we have all season since the Fike game," Brewington said. "We just got a little tired at the end."

Rose jumped out to an early 23-19 lead. They held that advantage for a 41-37 halftime lead.

The Vikings cut the margin in the third quarter, 20-16, and entered the final period tied at 57. The Vikings scored the first five points in the fourth quarter and eventually held on for the win.

The Rampants came out hot to begin the game, scoring on their first seven possessions to take a 14-6 lead. Dickens made good on a three-point play to help the Rampants go from a one-point lead (16-15) to a three-point lead and, eventually, a 23-19 first quarter lead.

The Vikings stayed close as the second period started. The Rampants made a 12-2 run to open up a 39-27 lead with just 2:07 left.

Leading 27-25, Lee picked up a steal and raced in for the layup to give Rose a 29-25 lead with 4:56 left. Mac Walston hit a short jumper and Lee added two free throws and a driving jumper to make it 35-25 with 3:08 left.

Cedric Kilpatrick made two free throws for Kinston, but, Lee and Clemmons each scored a bucket to give Rose its' 39-27 lead.

Shackleford picked up four free throws to help Kinston trim the margin to 41-37 at the half.

In the third quarter, Rose jumped out to a quick eight-point lead, 47-39. Clemmons hit three jumpers to spearhead the spurt.

Shackleford rallied the Vikings back. He scored on a jumper at 6:20 to make it 47-41. He then hit from the lane at 5:10 and added two free throws 11 seconds later to close the gap to 49-45.

Walters hit a pair of jumpers to bring the Vikings within 51-49 with 3:50 left. Freeman finally tied the game at 51 with a 20-footer on the right baseline with 2:27 left.

Lee hit a jumper to make it 53-51 and Clemmons took a pass from Lee to make it 57-53. Walters and Shackleford both scored in the final :30 to make it 57-57 after three periods.

Lee paced the Rose scoring with 26 while backcourt teammate Clemmons tallied 24. Dickens added 14 as the Rampants fell to 3-8 in the Big East and 4-13 overall.

Kinston upped its record to 6-5 in conference action and 14-6 overall.

In the girls' contest, Rose jumped to an early lead and held on for the win, 54-47, behind Barnhill's 16 points. Alma Atkinson and Linda Winstead added 12 each for Rose, now 6-5 and 8-10.

Kinston fell to 5-6 and 9-8.

"The first three minutes were the key," Rose coach Dennis Gibson said. "We ran off those (eight) points and it pretty even after that."

Rose led 18-8 after one period. Kinston made a rally, 14-10, in the second quarter to close the gap to 28-22 by halftime. It cut two more points off the lead in the third quarter, 42-38, before finally bowing to the inspired Rampettes by a seven-point margin.

Barnhill hit two running jumpers from the left wing in the first quarter to help the Rampettes to an 8-0 start. They continued to hold the upper hand in gaining the lead, 18-8, after one period.

Cynthia Williams hit from the lane with 6:47 left to bring the Lady Vikings to within four, 18-14. The Rampettes pulled back out to a 28-19 lead with 2:31 left of a follow shot by Winstead.

The quarter ended with Rose ahead by 28-22.

The third quarter was close all the way. Rose did manage a 36-27 lead with 4:32 left. The wide margin was short-lived and the period ended with Rose ahead, 42-38.

Neither team made any headway in the early going of the fourth quarter. Two baskets by Kinston's Hope Walker cut the gap from eight to four, 50-46, with 2:19 left.

Atkinson scored from 15 feet to give Rose a 52-46 lead with 1:42 left. Williams made two free throws with 1:09 left for Kinston and Barnhill made two for Rose with 50 seconds left.

Neither team could score from there to the end and the Rampettes escaped with the victory.

Valencia Fields had 17 for Kinston. Williams and Walker added 10 each.

"They kept running back at us," Gibson said. "The girls wanted to win and they played much better than they did against Beddingfield Friday night (a 63-50 loss)."

Jamesville Loses 19th—Barely

BATH — Victory continued to elude the Jamesville Bullets last night as Bath escaped with a 40-39 victory over their guests.

Bath's girls also came away with a win, downing Jamesville, 34-25.

The Bullets, winless in 19 games so far this year, had the chance to tie the game up and force an overtime but failed. Rex Bell went to the line with two shots and just one second remaining with the Bullets trailing 40-38. He made the first shot, but missed the second that would have knotted it and probably meant an overtime.

Bath had moved out into an 10-4 lead in the first period, but Jamesville had come back with a 13-10 advantage in the second period. That left Bath up at the half, 20-17.

In the third quarter, Bath again outscored Jamesville, 10-8, and held a 30-25 lead going into the final quarter in which Jamesville's rally just fell short.

Steve Marsh led Bath with 14 points while Tracy Peele had 12 for Jamesville and Kenny Moore added ten.

Jamesville falls to 0-15 in the conference while Bath is now 6-9. The Pirates are 6-10 overall.

Jamesville's Lady Bullets managed a 5-4 lead after one period, but an 8-7 margin by Bath in the second left it knotted at 12-12 at intermission.

Bath outscored Jamesville, 7-3, in the third period for a 19-15 lead, and then outthit the Bullets again, 15-10, to wrap up the win.

Vanessa Board led Bath with 13 points while Karen Board added 11. Kim Floyd had 11 to lead Jamesville.

The Jamesville girls are now 6-9 in the conference and 6-13 overall. Bath is 9-6, 10-6.

Jamesville closes out the regular season on Friday, hosting Bear Grass.

Creswell Defeats B. Grass

BEAR GRASS — Durrell Mercer scored 17 points and Ezroe Webb added 14 as Creswell downed Bear Grass, 46-39, Tuesday night in a Tobacco Belt Conference basketball game.

Earlier, in the girls' game, Bear Grass used 35 points from Angie Mizelle to rout Creswell, 67-29.

Creswell, now 8-7 in the league and 11-8 overall, inched out to a 13-12 lead after the first period and outscored the Bears, 11-6, in the second period to take a 24-18 halftime lead.

Creswell stretched its lead to 37-26 after three periods and then held off a late flurry by Bear Grass to win by seven.

Phil Peele led Bear Grass (6-9, 7-11) with 15 points and Lawrence Watson had 11.

In the girls' game, Mizelle nailed 14 field goals and canned seven of eight from the foul line to lead the Lady Bears to an easy win: Aria Williams added 15 points for Bear Grass (11-4, 14-4).

Bear Grass started quickly, moving ahead, 16-6, after the first eight minutes and then stretched its lead to 33-12 at the half. A 20-2 third quarter pushed the Bear Grass led to 53-14 and the Lady Bears coasted home in the final period for the win.

Bear Grass travels to Jamesville Friday.

Duke-Md. Rescheduled

DURHAM (AP) — The Duke-Maryland Atlantic Conference basketball game postponed on Feb. 12 because of bad weather has been rescheduled for Feb. 21 at Cameron Indoor Stadium.

Tipoff time for the non-televised game is 7:30 p.m. EDT and all tickets sold for the original date will be honored, Duke officials said.

B.C. Blisters St. John's

By The Associated Press

Boston College forward Jay Murphy takes his best shots against the St. John's basketball team. At least it seems that way to Lou Carnesecca.

"We seem to be his tonic," said the St. John's coach after Murphy scored 30 points Tuesday night to lead the 18th-ranked Eagles to a 92-75 basketball upset over the sixth-ranked Redmen.

It was the second time this season that Murphy helped the Eagles upset Carnesecca's team. The first time, the Redmen were 14-0 when they were shocked by B.C.

"The last time he hurt us inside," Carnesecca said about Murphy. "Normally, when you see a big guy shooting from the outside like that, you let him have the shot. This guy, you can't. He's a very deceiving player. Now that I think about it, he also hurt us last year."

Murphy, a 6-foot-9, 220-pounder with a 16.6 average coming into the game at St. John's Alumni Hall, hit 11 of his 15 shots from the floor, many of them from long range.

"I wanted to try to play away from the basket," Murphy said. "For the last two years, I've been playing the post. I had a 15-to-17-foot range when I was in high school. Even though I was playing the post, I continuously worked on my jump shot."

The Redmen led by 38-35 at the half, but let the game get away from them in the last 20 minutes.

"Our defense broke down for 4-5 minutes in that second half," Carnesecca said. "We just totally disintegrated. It was just their game — they made us look terrible."

The game involved some pressure for the Eagles, who just entered the Top Twenty for the first time this season and had something to prove.

"But we can't let this win get us carried away," said Boston College Coach Gary Williams, in his first year at B.C. "We have to stay realistic — keep it in perspective. You can have that tendency to get carried away after a big week like this."

"The one thing this win has probably done for us, it's given us confidence we can win on the road."

Murphy also had a team-high 11 rebounds and John Garris had 20 points, 10 rebounds and four blocked shots as the Eagles improved their record to 18-4 overall and 8-4 in the Big East. The Redmen, 20-3, lost for the third time in 12 Big East games.

In the only other game involving a ranked team, No. 4 Houston crushed Texas 106-63 in a Southwest Conference game as Clyde Drexler scored 21 points. It was the Cougars' 20th consecutive conference victory and the 17th straight win at home.

Houston had a 53-26 at the half behind the shooting of Michael Young, Akeem Olajuwon and Reid Gettis. Olajuwon, the Cougars' 7-foot sophomore, also blocked 10 shots to set a season record for the school with 127 blocks. He broke a record set by Dwight Davis with 125 during the 1970-71 season.

The Cougars' victory over the Longhorns had a revenge motive attached to it. They had been asked by some of the university's football players to avenge Houston's humiliating 50-0 football loss to the Longhorns in Austin last season.

"The football players really wanted us to run it up. They wanted us to score 100 points because of what happened to them at Austin," Olajuwon.

"The game meant a lot to the football players. They wanted us to win by 50 and they were sincere about it," added Drexler.

In other action, Mississippi State defeated Georgia 73-64 in a bizarre game that included four Bulldog fouls at the end — three of which were technicals on Coach Hugh Durham.

Mississippi State hit seven times from the free throw line in the final second of the game to turn a two-point lead into nine points in a hurry. Jeff Malone, the SEC's leading scorer, sank five of those free throws.

With 47 seconds left, Malone, the game's top scorer with 30 points, hit a jumper for a 64-62 Mississippi State lead. Kelvin Hildreth then fouled James Banks with 26 seconds left and Banks sank both free throws to tie it at 64.

Malone missed the front end of a 1-1 with 16 seconds left, and Georgia lost the rebound. With four seconds left, Malone hit another jumper to make it 66-64. Georgia called time with two seconds left, and again with one second on the clock.

Georgia's Terry Fair was then called for charging after Hildreth was knocked to the floor. Durham argued with officials, and continued his protests until he was charged with three technicals.

Hildreth shot his 1-1, making them both, and Malone followed with five of his six attempts for the final margin.

In other action, Terrell Schlundt scored a career-high 28 points as Marquette whipped Loyola of Chicago 97-85; a slam dunk by Mark West gave Old Dominion the lead for good with 2:25 left and the Monarchs held on for a 76-73 victory over Virginia Tech; Butch Graves scored 27

NCSU Women Rip Tar Heels

RALEIGH (AP) — Angie Armstrong scored a career-high 28 points to lead 18th-ranked North Carolina State to a 97-82 women's Atlantic Coast Conference basketball victory over No. 20 North Carolina Tuesday night.

Linda Page chipped in 20 points, Priscilla Adams 15 and Claudia Kreicker 14 as the 17-6 Wolfpack raised their ACC-leading record to 9-1.

Allison Wrecks Second Car In As Many Days

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Allison says sometimes accidents are unavoidable in auto racing.

The defending Daytona 500 champion has been around NASCAR Grand National racing for 20 years and has won more than his share of races.

But the craggy-faced veteran also has been rudely introduced to many a fence or wall while plying his chosen trade over the years. In fact, Allison has wrecked two cars in the last two days at Daytona International Speedway.

"I'm all right, but I'm kind of disappointed. Now we're definitely behind," Allison said Tuesday about two hours after totaling his backup car, the Buick Regal in which he won both Daytona races a year ago.

Allison also crunched the new Chevrolet Monte Carlo SS that DiGard team co-owner Bill Gardner says took all winter to get ready. That one became junk Monday during the Busch Clash when Allison slid through some oil and ricocheted off two walls.

"The one today (Tuesday) was about the simplest kind of thing that happens at major speedways. It was an unavoidable situation, and it's the kind of thing you just find yourself in the middle of from time to time," Allison said.

"I was right behind (A.J.) Foyt and I was waiting to see where he was going to go before I decided exactly what I was going to do. I guess I was going about 195.

"Up ahead of A.J., I saw the barest wisp of smoke, and I knew somebody was having some trouble, but I couldn't see it. Foyt backed off real quick, and that helped me make up my mind where I was going to go. I had to go inside him.

"That's when I saw the other car spinning up ahead of me. I just aimed the car and tried to thread the needle, but there was no opening. The only other chance I had was to go back up into Foyt."

The spinning car, an Oldsmobile Cutlass driven by Howard Mark, apparently had blown an oil line. Foyt managed to avoid everyone, but Allison hit the other car a hard blow.

Mark suffered a bruised shoulder, but Allison escaped with only a few small scratches on his hands and face from fragments of the glass windshield.

"I'm kind of glum right now, and I am a little sore, more than I was after yesterday (Monday)," Allison said. "We brought that Buick strictly as insurance, and we wore out that insurance now."

Pole Sitters

Ricky Rudd (right) and Geoff Bodine show who's No. 1 and No. 2 at Daytona. Rudd won the pole for this Sunday's Daytona 500. Rudd turned in a speed of 198.864 and Bodine hit 197.920. (AP Laserphoto)

Blackford is the leading scorer for Morehead, hitting 18.2 per game. She's also the leading rebounder with a 13.2 average. Guilette is averaging 10.6 points while Appleman is scoring at a 10.2 clip. Berry is hitting 8.9 and Miley, 8.7 points a game.

East Carolina's scoring is led by Mary Denkler, named to the Lady Pirate Classic all-tournament team — her fourth tourney all-star team in two years. Denkler has a 21.6 average. Chaney is next with a 9.7 mark, followed by 8.4 by Bragg, 5.3 by Hooks and 2.9 by Truske.

However, East Carolina will probably play freshman Lisa Squirewell a great deal too. The freshman forward scored 29 points and pulled down 14 rebounds in her two games in the Classic, playing only 47 minutes.

Hooks could become another casualty on the growing list which has only eight players left on the team. Both Loraine Foster and Delphine Mabry were lost earlier in the season to injuries. Hooks sprained an ankle on Saturday against Detroit, but was able to play on Sunday. However, her ankle was swollen on Monday and she was not expected to practice in hopes of being ready to play by Thursday night.

Should she not be available, that would put much more pressure on the Pirates.

East Carolina returns to action on Sunday afternoon, hosting Boston University in a 3 p.m. game in Minges.

Washington Rolls Past Tigers, 74-42

ROBERSONVILLE — Washington High School held Williamston to only one point in the first period and romped to a 74-42 victory in their Northeastern Conference basketball game last night. The game was played at Roanoke High School because of the unavailability of the Williamston gym due to the collapse of part of the bleachers in the gym.

Williamston's girls rallied from an early Washington lead to take a 40-27 win in their game.

Washington, while holding the Tigers to just one free throw during the first eight minutes of play, scored 21 of their own to put the game on ice. Williamston outthrew Washington, 17-15, in the second quarter, but was still far behind, 36-18, at the half.

Washington again pulled away in the third period, building its lead out to 56-32. The Pam Pack then finished off the clawless Tigers, 18-10, in the final quarter.

William Simmons led Washington with 22 points, while J. Guilford had 11. Maurice Carter had 10 for Williamston.

Washington is now 5-10 in conference games and 7-14 overall. Williamston slips to 2-13, 4-15.

Washington's girls pushed out into a 10-4 lead after one quarter, but couldn't hold to the lead. Williamston came back with an 8-5 margin in the second quarter, cutting the Lady Pack lead back to 15-12 at halftime.

In the third period, Williamston repeated the first period's scoring — but in reverse, powering out to a 22-19 lead. The Lady Tigers outscored Washington, 18-8, in the final quarter to win going away.

Williamston was led by Timberly Rodgers and Sonya Purvis with ten each, while Glenda Daley had 14 for Washington.

Williamston is now 5-10 in the league and 5-14 overall. Washington is 2-13, 3-16.

Williamston closes out the regular season on Friday, traveling to Edenton.

SWE with five rebounds.

North Pitt hit 48.8% (20 of 41) from the floor. SWE canned 45.8% (22 of 48) from the field. The Panthers continued to have their problems at the foul line, hitting 11 of 17 (64.7%).

SouthWest led early on the strength of its outside shooting. Two jumpers by Forbes and a 18-footer by Walker gave SWE a 13-8 lead with 1:15 left. Hines' two buckets brought North Pitt within 15-12 at the end of the period.

North Pitt, going to its semi-stall in the second period against SWE's 1-3-1 and 2-1-2 zones, tied the game three times early in the quarter and took the lead (23-21) on Hines' follow shot with 4:35 left.

SWE battled back to go ahead, 27-26, on two straight jumpers by Forbes, but the Panthers scored the final six points of the half — four by Charles Harris on a jumper and a twisting baseline drive — go up by five at halftime.

North Pitt stretched the lead to 37-31 on a three-point play by Hines and a drive by Bradley with 3:40 left and led going into the final period, 37-33. A pair of free throws by Bradley upped the lead to 39-33 with 7:10 left in the game before the Cougars began their extended rally that eventually gave them the victory.

"Well," said a disgruntled Deans after the loss, "I guess there's the (ECC) tournament."

"We had a number players who played as well as they possibly could, but this was a team effort."

North Pitt trailed, 11-6, with three minutes left in the opening quarter, but rallied to cut the lead to 13-12 going into the second period. North Pitt took its first lead (14-13) on two foul shots by Peggy Latham with 7:12 left in the half.

The Pan-HERS stretched the lead to 20-17 with 4:59 to go on a follow shot and a jumper by Cox. The Lady Cougars regained the lead at 21-20 at the 2:27 mark, but Pittman's jumper from the right baseline at the horn put North Pitt ahead, 27-25, at halftime.

The Lady Cougars went up, 38-36, with 2:34 to go in the third period, but the Pant-HERS scored seven straight — three on a three-point play by Pittman — for a 43-40 lead after three periods.

SouthWest used a 6-0 run early in the final quarter to go up, 50-48, and then stretched its lead to three before the Pant-HERS rallied to win.

"I kind of have to pinch myself," Avery said with a laugh. "It's something we really needed."

Old Berlin Subway Has Its Ghosts

By CHRISTINE BACKHAUS
Associated Press Writer

BERLIN (AP) — The subways from Tegel and Wedding to Alt-Mariendorf and Neukoelln in West Berlin have the "ghost stations" on their route. They don't stop there. The stations are in East Berlin and are sealed off from above.

For West Berlin's subway riders they are grim reminders of the division of their city by The Wall.

The ghost stations are easily recognized. The train slows to a crawl. The lighting is dim. Plaster crumbles from decaying walls. The platforms are covered with grime.

The first ghost station after Kochstrasse, the last stop in West Berlin on subway Line 6, is Stadtmitte. Riders know when it is coming up. The train slows but doesn't stop. Two blue-uniformed East German guards with automatic weapons come into view. They watch as the train slips by.

Stadtmitte is one of 12 ghost stations on two West Berlin subway lines that cut through a two-mile-wide swath of East Berlin that juts into the West.

When the East Germans completed the Berlin Wall in 1961, the stations were declared off-limits to East Germans and sealed to prevent escapes.

The ghost stations are along subway Lines 6 and 8, which link the old French sector neighborhoods of Tegel and Wedding in the north with Alt-Mariendorf and Neukoelln in the former American sector in the south.

About 90,000 people travel the lines daily. Line 6 runs 12 miles, with about two miles in East Berlin. Line 8 runs seven miles, with about 2.6 miles in the East.

"Going through the ghost stations is always a little scary," said a 26-year-old woman who travels the route regularly, boarding at one of West Berlin's gleaming stations.

The trains are required to slow down and they can stop only at one station in East Berlin — the Friedrichstrasse station. There, subway riders can clear border control and make connections with trains bound for Eastern Europe.

Guenther Hecht, spokesman for the West Berlin Transportation Co. which runs the subway, said the East German government leases the five-mile right of way to his city-owned firm.

"The East German government collects 5 million marks ($2.2 million) annually just for granting us passage," he said. "They claim they need this much for maintaining the tracks."

West Berlin service crews aren't permitted to enter the tunnels into the East, and so must rely on their Eastern counterparts when equipment fails.

"If a problem does arise, we've got a hot line with our Eastern partners," said Hecht. But he admitted that when there is a breakdown in the East "it takes an awful long time to get the trains moving again because (their) handling of such problems is slow and bureaucratic."

He said passengers have sometimes been stuck in the tunnels several hours waiting for East German repair crews to show up.

Has anyone ever tried to escape from the East by subway?

"Even if there were attempts, escape would be hopeless considering the tight security system the East has put up around the stations," he said.

Hecht also said he doubted the East Germans will ever deny right of way to West German trains.

"You have to remember there is a lot of money involved. They would never voluntarily give up this source of highly valued Western currency," he said.

No Big Drop In Mortgage Rates Soon

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
The billions of dollars deposited in the new money-market savings and checking accounts mean more money for mortgages, but lenders say borrowers won't see any big drop in interest rates in the near future.

"There is no question that the new accounts represent an ability to generate a lot of money," said Leonard Shane, chairman of the U.S. League of Savings Institutions. "But we have to have a learning curve. (We must) learn the behavior pattern of these accounts."

Shane, who also is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Mercury Savings of Huntington Beach, Calif., explained that lenders do not know how stable the new accounts will be. Will customers leave their money on deposit as interest rates change or will they switch their funds in and out, from one account to another?

Shane said there is no doubt that some of the money will be loaned out as mortgages. "But on a dollar-for-dollar basis, no way."

Mortgage rates already have come down from their peak of around 18 percent, and Shane said the increased availability of funds will help stabilize the market — and interest rates.

But he noted that the interest rate on the new accounts fluctuates; lenders cannot guarantee a rate for longer than one month, and are allowed to change rates as often as once a day. Lenders cannot make long-term commitments with short-term money, he said, and are reluctant to lower mortgage rates without knowing what the future will bring.

A new "cliche" question is making the rounds of the banking industry, Shane said. "How do you make a 30-year loan with one-day money?"

The new accounts were authorized by federal regulators late last year. They allow anyone with at least $2,500 to deposit to earn money-market interest rates on federally insured bank accounts. Most institutions are offering rates higher than the money-market mutual funds, which have lost deposits since the new bank accounts were introduced.

James Christian, chief economist for the U.S. League of Savings Institutions, said the new accounts have lowered the cost of money for savings and loans, although he declined to provide specific figures.

He said much of the money is coming from money-market certificates which were paying 12 percent interest and which have expired. The money-market savings accounts generally are paying around 10 percent or 11 percent and the SuperNOW checking accounts are paying a few percentage points less.

"For us, we're rolling down higher-cost money," said Christian.

He said the proportion of savings and loan deposits in accounts which are tied to market interest rates — as opposed to those limited by government ceilings — went from 70 percent at the end of November to 74 percent at the end of November.

He said, however, that mortgage rates — now around 13 percent — are not likely to drop by more than one percentage point in coming months. There is no easy formula linking mortgage rates to interest rates on deposits, Christian said.

He pointed out that lenders frequently "sell" mortgage loans on the secondary market. They are not willing to make a loan unless they can sell it and the rate they charge is often tied more closely to the rates in the capital market in general than to the rates they are paying on deposits.

Both Shane and Christian said the size of the federal deficit is a barrier to sharply lower interest rates. As long as the federal government demands large amounts of credit, they said, rates will stay in double digits.

Rep. Michel Learning Benefits Of Pork Barrel

By MIKE ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An adviser to House Republican leader Bob Michel is explaining Michel's new strategy.

"From now on," he says, "we will be much more aggressive about going after what you would probably cynically call pork."

Back in Peoria, where Michel comes from, "pork" means hogs. On Capitol Hill, however, the term is short for "pork barrel," the grab bag of goodies some congressmen scramble to bestow in their home district.

Highways, bridges, dams and reservoirs, military bases, federal buildings, lucrative construction contracts — all prime examples of the federal largesse lawmakers seek as proof that Potomac fever hasn't given them amnesia about who elected them.

Michel started the new session of Congress with two announcements:

—A mobile army surgical hospital (MASH) unit would be moving to Peoria. It would pump $900,000 a year into the recession-wracked city's economy, he said.

—Peoria-based Caterpillar Tractor Co., whose layoffs are a major factor in the city's 19.6 percent unemployment rate, landed a $13 million, five-year Army contract for road graders.

Michel, who spent 20 years on the Appropriations Committee calling for fiscal restraint, has never been much for pork barreling. Until his last race for reelection.

"We just squeaked through by the skin of our teeth this last time," Michel says. Peoria's joblessness was blamed by his opponent on President Reagan's economic program. Michel played a key role in herding that program through the House.

"What else could have gone wrong?" Michel says, shaking his head. "It was rock bottom."

Lacking any quick fix for Peoria's economy, which is based on the kind of heavy industry slumping in many northern cities, Michel is turning to the Pentagon. He speaks bluntly of inserting three-term Rep. Daniel P. Crane, R-Ill., into a slot on the Armed Services Committee to flex some home state muscle.

"Dan Crane wouldn't have been placed on the Armed Services Committee if I hadn't pushed his candidacy," Michel says.

Without waiting for Crane to get started, Michel has buttonholed Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger "several times in White House settings and at his shop and over here at my shop."

"I said, 'Cap, I tell you, you get pretty good support from the rural community, even organizations, for example, such as the Farm Bureau — conservative farm community people who feel that the security of the country is an important thing.'"

All the pork, of course, is not to be found in the Pentagon. Already Michel is speaking of a federally funded bridge over the Mississippi in rural Henderson County. "We have to be pushing for it," he says.

Michel's new approach forces him to focus on two things at once — the battle of the national budget on Capitol Hill and public works projects for his district.

"People elect a representative to represent them ... Whenever you forget that ... and think that's too small an item to think about, you're going to be in trouble," he says.

With an eye toward 1984, Michel wants to make sure voters understand his contribution.

A your-congressman-reports radio show and a television program, both fashioned in the House recording studio, will be made available to local stations. A column will be mailed out to district newspapers.

Such publicity is paid for by the taxpayer. Based on last fall's campaign, though, voters may not mind.

Michel had always prided himself on refusing to spend all of the money allotted to his office and returning some of it to the treasury. Then his Democratic opponent last fall, G. Douglas Stephens, blasted him for not spending enough and thus, in effect, shortchanging Peoria voters.

"When we got criticized for not spending enough of our allowance, I thought the world was coming to an end," press secretary Mike Johnson says.

Michel, himself, figures

there may be no other way to let the voters know that he's on the job. "I was rather appalled," he says, "when we got in the midst of the campaign that people were unaware of the things we had done."

"Every time something was done, whether it was some benefit or award or contract for the district, I didn't go about issuing a press release or having a big ballyhoo," he said.

"But I find on sober reflection that, unless you do tout your horn a little bit and let people know what you've done, comes time for election, they ask: 'What have you done?'"

Patriotism

On The Line

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York state Assembly Republicans may have finally succeeded in making their opponents' look downright un-American — they got the Democratic majority to vote against the Pledge of Allegiance.

"Some of you think this is a slick political maneuver," said Republican Assemblyman Peter Sullivan before he called for a vote Monday on a resolution to add the Pledge of Allegiance to the Assembly's daily ritual.

From the grumbling across the aisle, it seemed that's exactly what Democrats thought.

But Sullivan said he couldn't "think of a finer way" to open each day's session. He noted that state legislators in California, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Illinois do just that.

The Pledge of Allegiance resolution was easily shot down on a party line vote — 88 Democrats versus 51 Republicans. The Democrats didn't even bother to offer any debate on the measures.

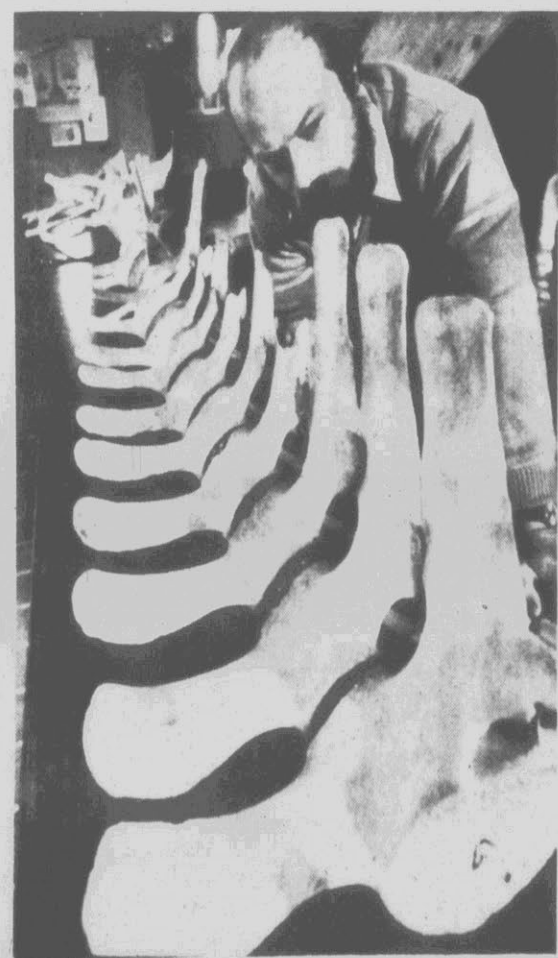

Later, Assembly Majority Leader Daniel Walsh told reporters that the pledge "isn't necessary" because legislators already are sworn to uphold the state and federal constitutions.

CHURCHMAN BURIED BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The head of the Armenian Orthodox Church in the Near East, Catholicos Khoren I, was buried Tuesday in Antelias, north of Beirut, with several former presidents, other political leaders and diplomats attending.

Direct Loans Idea Ruled Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housing Secretary Samuel R. Pierce says it would be impractical to establish a program of direct federal loans to homeowners facing mortgage foreclosures.

Pierce, appearing before a Senate committee, said the worst of the recession appears to be over and fewer people will need special help as the economy picks up. He said such a program would discourage private lenders from working out alternate payment plans.

WHALE BUILDER — Exhibits curator Bob Marye inspects bones from the skeleton of a 38-foot whale that he is reassembling at the Louisiana Nature Center in New Orleans. The skeleton is from a Bryde's whale that died near the mouth of the Mississippi River in February 1982. (AP Laserphoto)

Says Bing A Cold Father

NEW YORK (AP) - Bing Crosby was a cold father who made his son Gary feel inferior until a few years before the crooner died, when they talked "like one adult to another."

Gary Crosby, one of Crosby's four sons with his first wife, Dixie Lee, tells his story in a new book, "Going My Own Way."

Gary Crosby said he grew up in the late 1930s and 1940s with "too many restrictions" and a father who badgered him about his weight, staging a weekly weigh-in that ended in a lecture and a spanking if the scales tipped too much.

"He was not the kind of man who puts his arms around his sons and hugs them and tells them how he really feels and why he is doing what he does," Gary Crosby wrote in an excerpt appearing in the March issue of Good Housekeeping.

It was only a couple of years before his father died that Gary Crosby "found out he really did love me."

One afternoon, the older Crosby "talked to me like one adult to another" and from then on, Gary Crosby said, "I wasn't afraid of him anymore and I was no longer angry."

The singer died in 1977 at age 74.

shot Henry Goldblume in the chest last season, or the occasional gritty movie, network television tends to romanticize prostitution.

In sitcoms and walk-ons in TV movies, prostitutes typically are seen as golden-hearted beauties. Someone like Detective Wojohowicz (Max Gail in "Barney Miller") might get them to question their morality, but, generally, the biggest flaw in these working women is that they're considered misguided.

In "Dixie: Changing Habits," a sweet but altogether flimsy romantic comedy on CBS tonight, Dixie Cabot is New Orleans' most famous madam. She feels neither misguided nor mistreated. She's a businesswoman who engages in a service, as John Daly of "What's My Line" might say by way of introduction.

Dixie is played by the irrepressible Suzanne Pleshette, whose special brand of sassy charm is well-suited for this role. Her Southern accent is understated and her down-home smile and gleeful glint add spice to the characterization.

Dixie is a famous folk figure in New Orleans. Truck drivers recognize her. Cops solicit her autograph. Her brothel oozes community. It's a mansion of plenty, a home away from home for her volunteer workers.

Their biggest domestic problem seems to be leaky plumbing, although occasional police crackdowns can be irritating, too. After one such arrest, Dixie is brought into court, where she offers her personal code of ethics.

"I don't believe what I do is wrong," she says. "In my home, nobody gets hurt, nobody gets robbed and nobody gets cheated."

The judge is unmoved. "Get thee to a nunnery," he says, and so begins Dixie's 90-day prison term in a convent, and the movie's major conflict, a clash of lifestyles. "You tend to the spirit. We tend to the body," is Dixie's assessment of the different vocations.

A clash in cultures or attitudes is a frequent theme of network TV. Just last week, suburbanites went to the wilds of Oregon in CBS' "Packin' It In," while ABC's "Condo" unveiled a sitcom that pitted two neighbors from opposite sides of the tracks.

But "Dixie: Changing Habits" apparently is the first fish-out-of-water story involving a hooker in a habit. Dixie's attitude is one of congeniality, not combativeness, although she's crestfallen to learn that the religious retreat owns no TV. Her offer to buy one falls on the deaf ears of Mother Superior Eugenio, played by the ubiquitous Cloris Leachman.

Miss Leachman, whose Phyllis character was a hit on "Rhoda" and then a bust in her own series, comes off better in more animated, vociferous roles. She seems too controlled, even to the point of near-catatonia, as Dixie's willful nemesis.

The movie's best moments come when Dixie grapples with her foreign environment. She arrives with three suitcases, one for jewelry alone. For the silent prayer session, she comes down in a flaming red gown.

Eventually, Dixie begins fitting in, sharing such experiences as making pottery, tending to the goats and eating organically.

Standard lessons are learned along the way about the value of community, while some positive aspects from both cultures begin rubbing off on the other. As a puffy form of whimsy, this kind of entertainment might please some.

But, in its all-consuming desire for a neatly bundled ending, there is too much contrived maneuvering, as, quite predictably, Dixie taps some of her old friends (Kenneth McMillan and John Considine, who also wrote the script) to help the convent out of a jam.

Erik Estrada Now Engaged

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Erik Estrada, who stars as Officer Frank "Ponch" Poncherello on NBC's "CHiPs" series, made a romantic - and successful - Valentine's Day marriage proposal to model-actress Kathy Shower.

Estrada and the 29-year-old Ms. Shower met last October when she was working on a "CHiPs" episode, Barron said.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Danny Kaye Still In Hospital Care

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Actor Danny Kaye has undergone more tests at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, where he has been hospitalized for over a week after complaining of heart and back problems.

The 70-year-old entertainer was listed in good condition Tuesday, but no date has been set for his release, said hospital spokeswoman Virginia Bohannon.

"He's getting along very well," said Sonia Stathes, a spokeswoman for Kaye's publicist. "He's just resting and they are doing more tests on him."

Kaye was moved from an observation unit to a monitored room on Tuesday, Ms. Bohannon said.

Kaye was admitted to the hospital's intensive care unit on Feb. 7, complaining of irregular heart rhythm and back pains. Last week, his physician ruled out any type of surgery.

Kaye won a special Oscar in 1954, and an Emmy in 1964 for his long-running TV series, "The Danny Kaye Show." He starred in such films as "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty," "Hans Christian Andersen" and "A Song is Born."

America's Grocery Stores Are Beat Of Rabbi Cop

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Rabbi Joseph Kaufman carries a badge.

"You know how everybody's always saying things must be kept kosher? I'm making sure they really are," says Kaufman, scrutinizing a side of freshly killed beef hanging in a meat freezer.

The 49-year-old Polish-born Hebrew scholar is paid $24,500 annually to enforce two sections of the Miami Beach city code which make it an offense to advertise or sell food as kosher if it isn't. Kaufman is one of an estimated 500 full-time kosher cops active in the United States, seeing that the Jewish law regulating food preparation and eating is obeyed.

"There are not enough hours in the day for me to do everything I have to do," says Kaufman, who does his sleuthing inside 124 Miami Beach restaurants, bakeries, butcher shops, food wholesalers and grocery stores that claim to hew to Biblical dietary restrictions. "And on the Sabbath, I have to go on foot when I make my rounds."

Kaufman's hunt for the breakers of kosher law takes him from flash freezers of meatpacking plants to gala hotel dining rooms. He keeps a "little jail" in the bowels of Miami Beach City Hall, a locked refrigerator filled with unkosher soup bases, gelatin and ice cream confiscated in kosher kitchens and shops.

What's kosher and what's "trayf," or unfit to eat, is outlined in the Old Testament book of Leviticus, along with Talmudic texts and 3,000 years of rabbinical findings and writings.

But for devout Orthodox Jews like Kaufman, the why of ancient Hebrew dietary laws is as important as their application.

"Here is God up in heaven, who has his chosen people," says Rabbi Tibor Stern, chief kosher inspector for Hebrew National. "He doesn't want me to have bacon and eggs for breakfast. He wants me to have lox and bagels. Now, what is God's interest in little old me?"

The origin of the ancient laws of kashruth, explains the gray-bearded rabbi, "is not health, although kosher is healthy, no question about it. It's a question of holiness. In the eyes of God, I'm his child. For love or selfish reasons, he wants to preserve me. He knows the reason behind the laws."

The Hungarian-born Stern must decide whether the 99 million hot dogs manufactured annually by Hebrew National pass Biblical muster.

"Even the knife blade used to cut the meat must be unblemished," says Stern, who suddenly confides impishly: "You know, I never eat hot dogs. But believe me, ours are kosher. The kosherest, maybe even."

"Thou shalt not eat any abominable thing," commands the Old Testament book of Deuteronomy. Leviticus warns Jews not to dine from a bestiary including camel, hare, crow and bat. Cattle must be ritually killed by slicing the jugular, to evacuate as much blood as possible. The meat must then be soaked in water and salted.

Keeping kosher can be costly, even too expensive for some Jews, says William A. Gralnick, regional director of the American Jewish Committee. In Miami, a kosher chicken costs $1.35 a pound compared to 45 cents a pound for non-kosher poultry, says Kaufman.

Price "is a major deterrent to those Jews of moderate means who are considering starting a kosher home," says Gralnick.

And is kosher as healthy as Stern maintains? Miami biochemist Dr. Emile Schandl says ingredients allowed in popular kosher foods are known to cause cancer, heart disease and brain lesions in mice.

Gefilte fish labeled "kosher" may still contain monosodium glutamate, ammonia chloride and flavoring, he says, while beef salami can be loaded with sodium erythrobate and sodium nitrite.

"We don't ban things just because they are not healthy," says Dr. Menachim Raab, president of the Florida region of the Rabbinical Council of America. "Only things that do not live up to religious laws."

Stern estimates that less than a third of South Florida's 450,000 Jews keep a kosher household. Couples often complain of the effort required to keep two sets of cooking and eating utensils, one for handling meat products and the other for milk, cheese and other dairy goods.

"When you're kosher, it's very hard," said Miami Beach housewife Ann Karow. "The worst part of it is changing the dishes." On Passover, when Jewish dietary restrictions become even stricter, she and her husband check into an all-kosher hotel.

"I think kashruth is a key factor of our survival as a people," Stern says. "It isolates the Jew from the non-Jew. It makes us separate, but equal."

Defector Tells 'Infiltrations'

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP) — Soviet leader Yuri Andropov turned the KGB into "an extremely professional organization" that tries to infiltrate

Western peace movements and promote the Kremlin's policies toward NATO and the United States, a KGB defector says.

"It is most comfortable for the Soviets to use the Communist parties and pro-Communist organizations in Europe... I speak about the Communist parties and cover organizations which give themselves neutral names like 'Young Women for Peace' or such," former KGB Maj. Stanislav A. Levchenko was quoted as telling the news magazine Der Spiegel in the issue appearing Monday.

"When these cover organizations meet for conferences, they... speak about possibilities to solve national problems — based on positions which would be extremely favorable for the Soviet Union and its policy toward the NATO states and the U.S.A."

Spiegel quoted Levchenko as saying, "Most members of these cover organizations don't even know that these organizations either belong to the Communist Party or are steered by it."

Andropov headed the KGB from 1967 to 1982 when he was promoted to the secretariat of the Communist Party Central Committee. He was named party leader after the death of Leonid I.

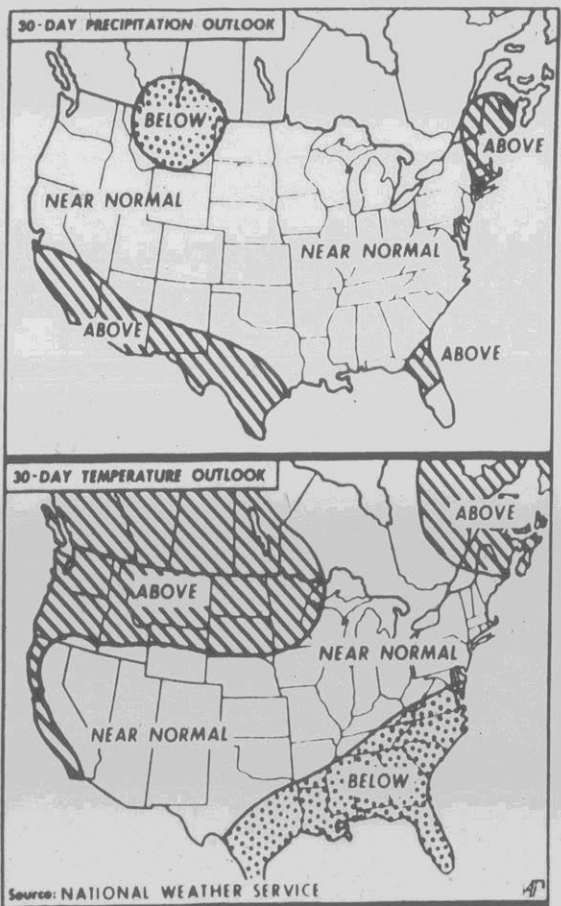

Brezhnev in November.

Levchenko defected in 1979 in Tokyo, where he was working under cover as a correspondent for the Soviet magazine New Times. He was flown to Washington, where he recently reported to a House committee on Soviet activities. Der Spiegel said it interviewed him in a Washington hotel.

"The KGB has changed drastically indeed during the past 10 years," Levchenko was quoted as saying. "I was there when an official of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, immediately after signing of the so-called final act of Helsinki 1975, gave a speech and evaluated the entire agreement in an extremely cynical fashion."

"Even before the final Helsinki document, the so-called human rights basket, was signed, the Soviets were determined to cheat, never to open a door to Western Europe for a real exchange of information, journalists, tourists and so on."
