Day Of Special Olympics Drew 482 Participants For Events

The 1983 Greenville-Pitt County Special Olympics Spring Games, held Thursday at East Carolina University's Bunting Field, attracted 482 participants from 26 schools and agencies in Pitt County.

The day began with opening ceremonies of the Parade of Athletes, who were led by the D.H. Conley High School JROTC Colorguard. The national anthem was played, followed by Dexter Smith of Wellcome Middle School lighting the Special Olympics Flame of Hope.

Participants, spectators and volunteers were welcomed by Mayor Percy Cox who encouraged the athletes to do their best and praised 600 volunteers for giving their time.

ECU Football Coach Ed Emory and his team were introduced and recognized as "Honorary Coaches" for the games.

Events included ball and frisbee throws, jumping events, 50- and 100-meter dashes, 200- and 400-meter runs, a 400-meter relay, wheelchair races and adapted events.

Participants were awarded ribbons and recognized for their achievements. Competitions were held throughout the day with lunch breaks and other special activities including puppet shows, clinics, frisbee and karate club demonstrations, clowns and portrait drawings.

Special Olympics is the world's largest program of athletic competition, sports and recreation for the handicapped. The Greenville-Pitt County Special Olympics is in its 10th year and is supported by volunteers and local sponsors.

The event was co-sponsored by the Greenville Parks and Recreation Department, Pitt County Community Schools and East Carolina University.

Other sponsors include the Kiwanis Club of Greenville, Tar River Civitans, Association for Retarded Citizens, Ayden-Grifton Kiwanis Club, Junior Woman's Club, Pitt County community schools, Hardee's and University City Kiwanis Club.

Authorize Applying For City CD Funds

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

The City Council has authorized Mayor Percy Cox to submit an application on behalf of the city to the N.C. Department of Natural Resources and Community Development for third-year CD funding amounting to almost $1 million.

The authorization Thursday night followed the second and final public hearing necessary as part of the city's application process for continued funding of the South Evans CD project.

Andy Harris, CD administrator for the city, discussed briefly project activities that would be funded by the proposed $998,300 budget in the third and final year of local participation under the present CD format.

Harris said project activities listed in the third-year application reflect continuations from the city's first year participation in the program.

Activities targeted for continued funding include acquisition in the project area, totaling $358,300; relocation assistance, $205,800; and rehabilitation of dwellings, $202,000. Other funding areas include $44,000 for gas and electric improvements and $41,000 for improvements to the water and sewer facilities in the area. The budget calls for $94,000 in administrative funding.

The South Evans neighborhood designated by the city for revitalization is a 118-acre section bounded generally by 10th Street on the north, Charles Boulevard on the east, the Seaboard System on the west, and Norfolk-Southern Railroad on the south. The CD format calls for funding to be spent in a defined area.

No one from the neighborhood spoke at Thursday night's hearing. There were comments from some residents of the area at the March public hearing.

In other business, the council approved a request by residents of the West Gum Road community to rezone 8.8 acres, located east of and adjoining North Memorial Drive, north of Gum Road and west of Fred Webb Grain Co., from R-6 (residential) and unoffensive industry to R-6-MH to allow for mobile homes.

A resident of the community, Adelle Smith, said there are five mobile homes in the area that are owner-occupied and under present zoning the units could not be replaced if they were destroyed. She said the rezoning petition was submitted to allow for replacement if those needs arose.

The council also approved, following a public hearing, a request sponsored by the Planning and Zoning Commission to

Industrial Production Up As Wholesale Prices Dip

By The Associated Press

Industrial production rose 1.1 percent in March, its fourth straight monthly gain, while wholesale prices declined again, the government said today in reports providing new signals of a reversal of years of sluggish activity and high inflation rates.

The Federal Reserve Board said the rise in factory output came despite a drop in auto production, and followed overall production increases of 0.2 percent in December, 1.5 percent in January and 0.3 percent in February.

The Labor Department said wholesale prices fell 0.1 percent in March, the fourth month in a row, and at an annual rate of 4.1 percent for the first three months of the year, the biggest quarterly decline since 1952.

The fourth consecutive monthly decline in energy prices was a major factor in fighting inflation at the wholesale price level, plunging at an annual rate of 34.4 percent in the first quarter.

But the report did not reflect a recent upturn in wholesale prices for gasoline. For example, the report for March said wholesale gasoline prices fell 6 percent, but reflected price changes in February because the government's energy calculations lag a month behind the rest of the index.

This week, major oil companies completed another round of increases in wholesale prices for gasoline, ranging from a half cent to 4 cents a gallon. And dealers and oil industry analysts said they expect those higher costs to be passed on to motorists at service station pumps.

Stock prices, meanwhile, continued setting new records Thursday. About two issues rose for each one that fell on the New York Stock Exchange, and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials gained 8.61 points to a record 1,165.25.

Big Board volume slowed to 90.16 million shares from 100.52 million Wednesday.

Reports Wednesday of higher auto sales in the first 10 days of April were considered optimistic for the economy. Traders have been concerned about sluggish consumer spending for cars and other durable goods.

The latest increases in wholesale gasoline prices, as much as 4 cents a gallon, come on top of a nickel-a-gallon rise in federal gasoline taxes that took effect April 1.

Dan Lundberg, publisher of the Lundberg Letter that keeps track of gasoline prices at 17,000 service stations nationwide, said "it is almost inevitable" that the wholesale price increases as well as the full tax increase will be passed on to customers at the pump.

Urging Freeze Tobacco Crop Price Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several North Carolina tobacco leaders told a Congressional committee Thursday farmers will face back-breaking fees and cuts in the amount of tobacco they can grow if federal price supports are not frozen for two years.

The industry leaders told the House Tobacco and Peanut Subcommittee, holding the second of three days of hearings Thursday, that the federal tobacco program will be in serious trouble if price supports aren't kept at 1982 levels.

"We have talked to enough of our customers, both domestic and foreign, to be convinced that unless we do something this year about the price and quality of our tobacco, we may not be able to save this program," said William Griffin of Pollockville, president of the 2,500-member Tobacco Growers Association of North Carolina.

"We want to impress on the committee the seriousness of the situation," Griffin said.

The Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corp. in Raleigh, the N.C. Grange and the farm bureaus of South Carolina, Virginia and Florida are also among those groups supporting a freeze.

Minnesota Has A Record Storm

By DEAN FOSDICK
Associated Press Writer

A record spring storm buried Minnesota in up to 17 inches of snow, leaving two snow shovelers dead of heart attacks, popping a bubble-top stadium and plunging temperatures below freezing today from the Rockies to the Great Lakes.

The massive storm was making a quick exit to Canada as it blew across Lake Superior, but it set new records Thursday for April snows in Minnesota — clogging roads and knocking out power.

Temperatures records tumbled as a cold front pushed through Texas and toward the Atlantic.

The mercury dropped to 31 in Waco, Texas, breaking the old record low for the date set in 1928 and setting a new mark for the latest freeze of a season. The 32-degree reading in Wichita Falls also was the latest date that city has experienced freezing temperatures.

In Amarillo, the 25-degree reading broke a record set in 1906, and San Angelo's 29 degrees was a record low and marked the latest date for a freeze there.

Temperatures early today dropped to 25 degrees in Denver and 28 in Kansas City, Mo., and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

More than a foot of wet, sticky snow coated southern Minnesota. Faribault was the hardest hit, reporting 17 inches. Sections of South Dakota got 7 inches with lesser amounts falling on Nebraska and Iowa, closing hundreds of schools and threatening livestock losses that analysts say could lead to higher beef prices.

Duluth, Minn., had 11.3 inches of snow by 10 p.m., surpassing a previous April record of 11.2 inches set in 1961.

Minneapolis-St. Paul, which recorded 13.6 inches, set a new 24-hour April snowfall record, breaking the previous 9.3 inches from 1949. The Twin Cities also broke the record for monthly snow accumulation, piling up 21.3 inches so far through April against the 1928 record of 16.9 inches.

At the Metrodome in Minneapolis, where Thursday's game between the Minnesota Twins and the California Angels had been canceled earlier, a snowslide broke a lightning rod and tore a hole in the bubble roof about 11:15 p.m.

Hotline gets things done for you. Call 752-1336 and tell your problem or your sound-off or mail it to Hotline, The Daily Reflector, Box 1967, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Because of the large numbers received, Hotline can answer and publish only those items considered most pertinent to our readers. Names must be given, but only initials will be used.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS FEEDBACK

Greenville area residents proved themselves as buddies and huggers by overwhelmingly responding to the Hotline appeal placed April 8 by the Special Olympics committee. More than 600 volunteers showed up Thursday when only 500 volunteer ID tags had been prepared, Bill Twine said. Everyone was given a job, he indicated. There were so many volunteers that every single child participating had his own buddy. Members of the ECU football team and the ECU women's track team were among the volunteers, he added.

COATSWITCHED

A Hotline reader has advertised extensively and to no avail for the return of her light tan Forecaster of Boston all-weather coat apparently taken by mistake from the King and Queen Restaurant coatrack March 25. A Misty Harbor all-weather of about the same color was left in its place. The person who has the coat is asked to return it to the manager of the King and Queen and get her own coat.

Overlooked

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Pacific Telephone forgot something in its new Marin County phone book: 700 names and numbers.

But perhaps in compensation, there are hundreds of duplicates.

The errors apparently are limited to omissions in the "W" and "S" sections, and duplication of names from Sondheimier through Speer.

One customer, Pat Witt, noticed the problem because she was curious.

"I decided to see how many names there were like mine," Ms. Witt said. "Then I realized, my gosh, there aren't any at all."

"We're very sorry for any inconvenience this mistake may cause our customers," said Charles McAvoy, Pacific Telephone's general manager, in a statement issued Wednesday. He blamed "an error which occurred during the manufacturing process."

All the white pages are being reprinted. Distribution of the 200,000 new books had just begun this week.

Designers 'Play It Again: ' Look Is Movie-Star Dramatic

By EILEEN PUTMAN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Just when women were getting used to spring's sexy '40s fit, here comes a loosely layered look to soften silhouettes and tug at purse strings. It's Seventh Avenue's newest bag of old tricks.

The new fall and winter lines, to be unveiled by U.S. designers over the next two weeks, have a look somewhere between Mae West and Joan Crawford, Beau Brummel and Basil Rathbone.

Female forms take on a bold masculine shape through big shoulders, man-tailored outerwear in giant houndstooth plaids and dashing long suit jackets.

It's a look that's movie-star dramatic, not to mention sexy. Indeed, sweaters, which go over and under everything, are taking their biggest bow since Lana Turner.

There's also a bit of trickery that calls for some detective work, like the playful "trompe l'oeil" dresses that fool the eye and "split-image" sportswear with lots of layers for an architectural look.

Most women these days don't scrap their wardrobes and rush out to buy the latest of whatever Seventh Avenue designers are showing. Today's fashion means flexibility, not slavishness to hemlines or other designer whims.

But there may be room in many closets for irresistible items, and this season's offerings include some tantalizing new looks that should tempt most fashion-conscious women.

The season's bold silhouette uses oversized tops to emphasize slim hips and legs, although designers like Perry Ellis delight in going against the prevailing trends.

For example, Ellis likes the long lean look in skirts, but he gives them a high waist and tops them with tiny cropped jackets.

Bill Blass likes a sporty checkerboard knit for day and his usual glitz and glamour in luxury fabrics for evening. Blassport, his sportswear line, is tailored but loose and easy.

As always, Blass has something for everybody. His skirt lengths go above the knees or descend to mid-calf. Graphic stripes and solids lend boldness.

The season's color seems to be curry, bittersweet or ochre combined with muted earth tones, or charcoal gray that emphasizes the silhouette.

John Anthony, who loves the tailored approach to women's clothing, plans evening wear in the grand style of the '30s, with supple chocolate brown leather inset with brown lace in elegant monochromaticism.

Sweaters, sleek and sexy, show up glittery for evening, business-like in daytime vests, sedately seductive in lithe dresses and warmly comfortable in coats.

They are also a smart move for the designers, who hope consumers will at least buy sweaters to achieve the new "soft" top-important look if they aren't willing to buy entire new wardrobes.

Valentino caresses the hips with a classic cardigan taken to an elongated blouse. Ralph Lauren likes his sweaters as dresses, like his long, lean, red cashmere dress slipped over a white linen blouse.

Adrienne Vittadini goes for drama with her taupe and black brick-pattern lamb's wool and angora sweater dress.

Coats are big and warm in Sherlockian tweeds or big houndstooth plaids with broad shoulders in either short or long versions. The streamlined cloth coat makes an appearance, and many designers show a coatdress for fall with sharply tailored collar and cuff details.

Ronaldus Shamask uses camel-color melton to make a bathrobe-style wrap with an exaggerated triangular lapel. Geoffrey Beene offers a curvaceous creamy mohair version with trapunto stitching along wide shoulders.

Some designers are showing long suit jackets in rakish silhouettes that taper from big shoulders to a fitted waist and then flair out again in the style of the English dandy of the 1840s.

What's fun and mischievous this season is "trompe l'oeil," that witty bit of trickery that literally means "fool the eye" and which is appearing on just about everything.

Beaded or inset illusion lapels or contrasting back and front views are typical. Graphic color blocks or peplums on a one-piece dress suggest two-piece dressing.

Blass is dabbling in the art with a dapper olive tweed one-piece suitdress that features illusionary jacket detailing in front, lapels and a peplum that completes the image.

And finally, in sportswear, there is layer upon layer — it's called "split-dressing" — in big-over-small proportions.

Pants are cleanly tailored with ease and class. Ellis shows a windowpane plaid pant with flyaway jacket. Others are going for a more fitted jacket, although looser than last season's corseted look.

Shapely business suits still have a bit of Crawford-ish '40s flair — padded shoulders and narrow waists — but rigid fit is out. Tightly cinched waists and pencil thin skirts are also gone.

The new suits are softly structured, a look that Women's Wear Daily to comment that they recall the heyday of "Audrey Hepburn's" coltish elegance and look as if they're heading for the best luncheon tables."

No one said this season's look hadn't been done before. In fact, it pops up in the best old movies.

An estimated 4 million persons have peptic ulcers, or about 18 persons in every 1,000. However, deaths from peptic ulcers dropped from 6.6 to 2.5 per 1,000 population — more men dying than women — between 1962 and 1978.

Dear Abby

To Servicemen Your Families Are Up In Arms

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: What can parents do or say to get some response from their sons or daughters in the military service far from home? We love them, and when we don't hear from them, we worry and our hearts ache.

We know "Dear Abby" appears in the Stars and Stripes, the newspaper read by almost everyone in the armed forces, so please write a paragraph asking them to please drop a line to their families so we will know they are alive and well. Thanks a million.

EMPTY MAILBOX IN YORBA LINDA

DEAR EMPTY: Will this do?

To Whom It May Concern, Wherever You Are:

The way to get a letter is to write one. It doesn't have to be a literary masterpiece. A postcard will do.

If you have nothing to say, write and say you have nothing to say, but you want Mom, Dad, Sis, Buba, Grandma, Gramps and the dog and cat to know that you are still among the living. Send your love and sign your name. It will take you approximately five minutes.

Do this at least once a week and you will light up the lives of those who love you like you wouldn't believe possible. Deal? Deal!

DEAR ABBY: I have a terrific marriage. It's the second time around for both of us, and we couldn't be happier. We've been married for five years.

There is only one problem. Dick still has "Amy Beth" tattooed on his arm. She is his ex-wife. It bothers me, and I have asked him to have it removed several times. He says he will, then it's forgotten until I mention it again.

When we are around Amy Beth and members of his family, I'm uneasy because the tattoo is very noticeable.

Why do you think Dick hasn't removed it? He says he never gives Amy Beth a thought. Any suggestions?

NO. 2

DEAR NO. 2: There could be several reasons: (1) He may not know where to go to have the tattoo removed. (A dermatologist could help him.) (2) He may think it's painful. (In some cases it is.) (3) He may think it's expensive. (See answer to No. 2.)

An alternate solution: There are two cosmetic products available to cover birthmarks, tattoos and skin discolorations: Dermablend and Covermark. Inquire where cosmetics are sold.

Since Dick no longer has Amy Beth on his mind, it's time he got her name from under his skin.

DEAR ABBY: I received an invitation to a baby shower for a woman I know only casually. The hostess is a distant relative from whom I hear only when she wants something.

This note appeared with the invitation:
"Can you imagine a shower where the mother-to-be gets just what she wants, the right color and style, and doesn't get three of everything, and doesn't have to go and exchange them? Well, we can really have that kind of shower because I have a list of exactly what she wants. Just send me your check for $15 and I'll do the shopping! Hope to see you at the shower!" — (Hostess)

Nice wording, but I think this is an out-and-out request for funds. In other words, "The mother-to-be and I went shopping, and here is your share of the bill."

Do I have to send a gift whether I attend or not? Reply in your column, please.

ON THE SUCKER LIST

DEAR ON: I agree, it is an out-and-out request for funds. It's also not much fun for those who may want to surprise the mother-to-be with an imaginative gift of their own choosing. (And what about those who had planned on spending less than $15?)

If you feel (as your signature indicated) "on the sucker list," politely decline. An invitation does not obligate you to send a gift to someone you know "only casually."

Decision Proper

The Eastern Carolina Health Systems Agency has acted properly in turning down all requests for construction of private psychiatric hospitals in Eastern North Carolina.

The requests included one from Charter Medical to build in Greenville and two from other firms applying to operate in New Bern and Rocky Mount.

The board followed the recommendations of its review committee which said the proposals were inconsistent with the philosophy, goals and objectives of the health systems plan to have mental health services deinstitutionalized and provided by community hospitals and community mental health centers.

The report said patients could be cared for at less cost in community hospitals and the applicants did not have sufficient support from existing health and social service providers in the areas.

ECHSA is charged with controlling the cost of medical care. The agency has studied these proposals carefully and made its ruling based on its findings. The agency has made a proper decision after conscientious study.

We are confident that the State Department of Human Resources will act in accordance with the decision made by the ECHSA.

Caution Is Needed

The legality of double-trailer trucks cruising along North Carolina highways is still too new for definitive information to be available, but the vision of two trailers and a tractor bouncing along our two-lane highways is difficult to bring up.

A state Department of Transportation spokesman says that, so far, only U.S. 258 in the western end of the county and U.S. 64 across the northern end of the county have been approved for the double-trailer rigs. Presumably, both were listed as access routes to I-95. If that's the case, the improved U.S. 264 certainly will be included and that probably would add N.C. 11 between Kinston and Greenville.

Whatever the reasoning, the thought of driving along 258 or 64 and coming up on one of those vehicular behemoths is enough to make you think about turning in your driver's license. Just think about how difficult it is now to pass another vehicle, or to be passed, on those highways and then add on the extra distance and width of a double-trailer rig. Including the cab, they can range up to about 66 feet in length and 102 inches wide — that's up to 14 feet longer than conventional tractor-trailer rigs.

Current plans call for the rigs to be restricted to four-lane highways and two-lane roads that have lanes no less than 12 feet wide. We think that is the absolute minimum that should be allowed.

These rigs have been used out West for years, but there the highways are wide and the countryside is open, with few curves. That just is not the situation here, and caution should be exercised.

GOP Obstacle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have a mathematical obstacle to overcome if they expect to retain majority control of the Senate in 1984: Of the 33 Senate seats to be decided, 19 are now held by Republicans, against 14 occupied by Democrats.

Since Republicans hold a relatively narrow 54-46 majority in the Senate, even modest Democratic gains could be translated into a Democratic takeover.

"We're counting on a strong economic resurgence and anticipate that the president will run for re-election," said Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Senate GOP campaign committee.

Of the 19 Republicans whose terms expire after 1984, only Majority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., has said he will not run again.

Lugar concedes the mathematical vulnerability of Republicans but says active fundraising efforts have already begun for 1984 and each of the 18 GOP incumbents expected to seek re-election are already "off to a strong start."

Even so, the apparent advantage favoring Democrats seems to be contributing to the political edginess that many Senate Republicans have been expressing lately.

Some of the hottest criticism of President Reagan's economic policies is coming from senators of his own party, especially on the Senate Budget Committee — where five Republicans, including Chairman Pete V. Domenici of New Mexico, are up for re-election in 1984.

In fact, during a recent meeting of the committee, one Republican after another attacked Reagan's proposed rapid defense buildup.

The GOP broadsides silenced Democratic Sen. Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio, an acerbic, often longwinded critic of Reagan. Metzenbaum said that Republicans had done such a complete job of criticizing the president themselves, he could think of nothing further to say.

Domenici, one of the GOP critics, wistfully told Metzenbaum that, if only he'd known Republican criticism of Reagan would have silenced the Ohio senator, he would have tried it earlier.

Conservative Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., reflecting on the growing rift among Republicans on economic issues, observed tongue-in-cheek: "The Republican Party is not a well-disciplined monolith like the Democratic Party."

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker Jr., R-Tenn., usually begins each week by inserting a few lines of poetry in the Congressional Record. But last week, the Senate Chaplain, the Rev. Richard C. Halverson, beat him to it.

"Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall. Humpty Dumpty had a great fall. All the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put Humpty Dumpty together again," Halverson intoned as he delivered his morning prayer.

A few bowed heads lifted quizzically. Then Halverson completed his thought:

"Dear God...prevent the Senate from being like Humpty Dumpty. Keep it from being so fractured and fragmented that no one will be able to put it together again."

Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., wants Uncle Sam to erect a historical marker at the Troy, N.Y., gravesite of the real "Uncle Sam," Samuel Wilson.

Wilson, 1766-1854, was an Army meat inspector in the War of 1812. The term "Uncle Sam," began as a derogatory reference to the U.S. government during the War of 1812 — apparently derived from the large initials "U.S." that Wilson stamped on barrels of salted meat and other military commodities.

NEW YORK (AP) — You may view the last-minute scramble to open tax-reducing Individual Retirement Accounts as eagerness on the part of ordinary Americans to express personal responsibility for their own pensions.

Or, as many people do, you may see it as something very different, as evidence that the tax system makes puppets of people, forcing them into financial contortions and investments that otherwise might not interest them.

Not everyone, that is, view IRAs as an opportunity. Some see them as an intrusion into private lives, a meddling third party that, for example, induces the young to prepare for retirement rather than for living.

Is it wise, they ask, for a young couple to pay for good living at age 65 when they haven't yet bought a home or prepared themselves financially for the expenses that go with raising a family?

But the IRA, which allows a person to deposit up to $2,000 in a special retirement account and deduct that amount from gross taxable income, is but one of many ways in which taxes are used to direct behavior.

In almost every instance the goal of such tax legislation is to direct money into what are considered socially desirable goals, such as retirement or home ownership or business investments or long-term stock commitments.

But, say critics, one of the problems with tax incentives is that they eventually come to be viewed as tax loopholes. When that happens, they say, the same energy that went into opening them may go toward closing them.

As a result, they conclude, those who are urged to take advantage of tax incentives someday may find themselves castigated as tax avoiders.

Homeowners, for example, are allowed a tax credit equal to 15 percent of the first $2,000 they spend on insulation, the purpose being to encourage energy conservation and avoid shortages.

In just a matter of months, however, fear of an energy shortage have waned, and so has the enthusiasm that accompanied the energy tax credit legislation. It is no secret now that the administration has considered eliminating or reducing the size of the credit in order to help cut the budget deficit.

There are some, too, who see taxes as the economy's biggest area of growth, and because of this, they complain, government grows larger, the private sector and free enterprise becomes more hamstrung, and liberties are curtailed.

You'll get plenty of argument on some aspects of that argument, but it is true that government has grown while the private sector has shrunk.

The average worker, says the Tax Foundation, now spends two hours and 40 minutes of each eight-hour workday earning money for federal, state or local taxes. True, the federal take has shrunk, but state-local has risen.

This, say critics of tax policy, has driven Americans into an underground economy in which billions of dollars of income are withheld from scrutiny of the Internal Revenue Service.

The criticisms never end, confirming the old adage that time, tide and taxes wait for no man but instead move on relentlessly.

Change Is Needed For Financial Stability

WASHINGTON — Dr. Henry A. Kissinger will address a selected international audience over luncheon at the Washington Hilton Hotel on May 17, spearheading a drive against the Reagan administration's new smugness toward the rest of the Western world now that U.S. economic recovery has begun.

The luncheon will highlight a day-long conference called for the purpose of getting President Reagan to address the chaotic state of the financial world when he meets leaders of other industrialized nations at the Williamsburg summit two weeks later. What Kissinger and an assortment of bankers, academicians and politicians at the conference have in common is the belief that a decade of floating exchange rates in international currencies has produced a permanent state of financial instability worldwide. Therefore, they see change as imperative.

There is no such awareness apparent at the State Department, where the agenda planned for Williamsburg, according to a "secret" memorandum written by Under Secretary W. Allen Wallis, opposes "intervention" in international monetary affairs. Celebrating self-satisfaction, the Wallis memo suggests that Williamsburg offers "an opportunity" for the U.S. "to take credit for the growth now emerging" around the world.

That contrasts with the consensus among those who will confer at the Washington Hilton. They believe American recovery will prove illusory so long as the rest of the industrialized world is in misery. That means bringing an end to the escalating international currency war and moving quickly to resume more stable rates of exchange.

Accordingly, Rep. Jack Kemp and Professor Robert Mundell of Columbia

University some six weeks ago decided to sponsor an invitation-only conference to establish "an agenda for Williamsburg." Kemp and Mundell, political and economic pioneers respectively in the supply-side movement, have never disguised their desire for a return to something like the Bretton Woods system of fixed exchange rates based on gold that was demolished by the Nixon administration in the 1970s.

In truth, the rigors of daily wrestling with Congress hardly give the major minds at the White House much time to consider the fate of the West's financial structure. What results is not so much high-level determination to preserve floating exchange rates as a delegation of such matters to lower-level officials truly determined not to return to the Bretton Woods.

Thus, the tone for U.S. strategy at Williamsburg so far has been set at the second level of the State Department by Allen Wallis, an ardent free-market economist. His "secret" memo of March 15 describes the principal U.S. objective at the industrialized nations summit May 28-30 as "agreement that world economic recovery depends on each country establishing the domestic conditions for sustainable non-inflationary growth and job creation."

If that is not clear enough, the Wallis memo goes on to boast that "we have resisted international schemes to 'fix' short-term domestic policies," set international exchange rates and "reform" international institutions. In effect, he is suggesting that Uncle Sam tell his hard-pressed cousins to follow the American example, oblivious to the danger that disordered international financial conditions pose for the American recovery.

Strength For Today

A pastor in one of our large cities was asked to take a half hour at midnight on a local radio station to answer questions as a religious counselor to people who were in trouble.

He said that he was very worried when he sat down that he would get few, if any, calls. The first call came in five seconds. He did not know until after the program had ended that the telephone company had put a meter on the line and had found that 1,045 people had called in that 30-minute period.

If you go to bed happy and content, remember that every night there are millions of people lying awake because of troubles — deep troubles.

Some people feel that life has slipped away from them without their making much of it. Parents worry about their children; young people are in agony over blasted romances; broken households and loved ones with mental derangement cause great pain.

Thank God for your joys, but remember that the world is full of lonely, suffering people.

Lease-Renting Can Be Expensive

RALEIGH — To the unsophisticated consumer, the newspaper ad doesn't look like such a bad deal. He's poor. He doesn't have a good credit rating. Yet, he can still have that nice console color television in his home. All he has to do is pay $14 a week, and eventually he'll own the set.

Some rental businesses in North Carolina are getting around the consumer protections of the state's Retail Installment Sales Act through use of "lease with the option to buy agreements." The businesses are charging exorbitant interest rates, failing to fully apprise their customers of the terms of the transaction and charging astronomical prices.

A bill working its way through the General Assembly, however, aims to close the loophole these businesses have found. The bill is backed not only by consumer advocates but by the N.C. Merchants Association which says some folks aren't playing fair with their customers.

Under these arrangements, the consumer enters into a week-to-week contract which is automatically renewed when the weekly payment is received. If he makes all his payments, the appliance becomes his at the end of the agreed-upon period.

But many of these people never get to own those appliances. Under the terms of these contracts, says Rep. Jeanne Fenner, D-Wilson, sponsor of the bill, the customer holds no interest in the property until the final payment is made. If they miss a single payment, the rental agency has the power to break into their house and retrieve it. Apparently, these agencies are showing little patience with late payments, repossessing items when only a single payment has been missed.

Unlike most lease-purchase agreements, the customer gets no credit for the equity he's built up on the purchase of the appliance. If he misses just one payment, he can lose everything he's put into the item.

Those customers who make all the payments end up paying an incredible price for the appliance. Mrs. Fenner told the committee of a consumer who made 92 weekly payments of $28.50 for a TV set — that's a total of $2,622. She reported that the typical interest rate involved in these purchases is 50 percent. One washing machine purchase was at 177 percent interest.

In many cases, however, the consumer has no idea what the total final cost will be, or what they're paying in interest. It isn't included on the contract and no one tells them, Mrs. Fenner said.

How about caveat emptor? Let the buyer beware. Isn't it the responsibility of the buyer to make sure he isn't getting a bad deal. Not in these cases, she said. These buyers are often poor, uneducated, unsophisticated consumers. These businesses are preying on them.

Bill Rustin, lobbyist for the merchants association, told a House committee that his membership had been informed of the bill and no one objected. "I see no reason for someone to take advantage of their customers," Rustin said of the practice.

If the bill is passed, rental agencies would have to comply with the finance limits of the installment sales law for these kinds of transactions. (Simple rentals would not be affected.) They'd be required to fully apprise their customers of how much the appliance will eventually cost and the interest rates. They'd also have to spell out the terms of repossession.

Mrs. Fenner and consumer advocates pushing the bill worked on it very quietly. In other states, rental agency lobbying stopped such legislation. Mrs. Fenner says she hopes to have the bill through the assembly before such an effort can be started here.

Life As It's Lived

Constant Dilemma For Parents On PG Circuit

By GAIL MICHAELS

Meg and I were standing in line to buy tickets for "The Black Stallion Returns" when she suddenly began to read the marquee. "PG," she said with a puzzled air. "What does that mean?"

I got the same queasy feeling in the pit of stomach that I get every time I am caught unaware by the rating system. "It means 'parental guidance suggested,'" she said thoughtfully, then paused. "And what does that mean?"

"It means that some material may not be suitable for preteens," I quoted. "What material?" Meg persisted.

That I didn't know, and that's what caused my queasiness. Did the horse kick in someone's head? Did the general say something more uncouth than the general pleasantries Meg hears among her precocious first-grade classmates? Or did the desert tribesmen serve children for breakfast?

This is more or less the dilemma that every parent on the PG circuit faces. Almost all the really popular movies are rated PG. And unless we parents are lucky enough to run across an extremely explicit review or are conscientious enough to attend the movie before exposing our impressionable youngsters, we either deprive our families of a terrific movie or, more likely, we wait in tense readiness throughout the entire picture for whatever is going to hit the fan.

Occasionally, parents are fortunate enough to get a preview from children who have already seen the movie in question. They always remember the parts responsible for the PG rating. When I was hesitating to take Meg to "E.T." for fear that she would see little aliens aerated by machine gun fire, the little boys next door were able to reassure me. "There wasn't any violence, just a few bad words," they shrugged. "Wanna hear them?" And they proceeded to shock me.

Choosing a movie would be far easier if the rating system were more specific. My ideal system would have three categories: sex, language and violence. For language we could have a rating like BW (bad word) with a 1, 2 or 3 after it to indicate the degree of filth. If the talk in the movie was really foul, the rating would change to CC continuous cursing.

For violence we would have K (kicking, etc), PT

Spray Beats 'Monsters'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The 3-year-old son of David and Lynn Himes used to keep his parents awake with tearful tales of things that went bump in the night — in his bedroom.

So Mrs. Himes and her friend, Gary Sennett, invented Monster Spray. A spritz from the 8-ounce pump bottle dissolves monsters and other bedtime fears, Sennett said Thursday.

"Since we have insecticides and room fresheners, why not something to make monsters go away?" he said. "Obviously, it's just a placebo, but it really does what it's supposed to do."

Sennett and Mrs. Himes decided that since the water-based spray worked so well on her son, Rugger, they would sell it commercially in two scents — bubble gum and grape.

It has been on sale nearly a year and Sennett said about 800 to 1,200 bottles have been sold in the Milwaukee area. He said his company, Shimera, hopes to market it nationwide. A bottle costs less than $2.

"Initially, it's all done very seriously," he said. "Parents come in the bedroom and spray. Then, because it smells nice, the kid sprays it and he's taken control of getting rid of his nightmares."

"It eventually becomes a toy. And once you reduce something to the level of play, it's no longer a fear."

Rugger frequently uses Monster Spray as a toy, Sennett said, but the boy no longer needs it to get to sleep.

Urge 'Explore' Conduct Roots

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Teachers should explore the reasons for misbehavior instead of just condemning it and resorting to spanking, says the head of the National Center for the Study of Corporal Punishment and Alternatives in the Schools.

"We can't afford not to look at prevention," Irwin A. Hyman told a group of about 100 people at Greensboro College Thursday night. "Kids who misbehave have a problem of self-esteem. I haven't seen one problem of misbehavior where a child did not feel badly about themselves. We need to teach teachers to praise kids."

Hyman, who is also a psychology professor at Temple University, said corporal punishment has negative effects. "It teaches violence is the way to solve problems."

"Your parental power has been taken away by the state," he said. "I don't want the state inflicting pain upon the body of my child without my consent."

"We should train school psychologists and counselors to work with teachers instead of testing students," Hyman said. "Some people get their jollies from hitting kids. They hit them with straps, fists. They stomp on them, throw them against the wall. One teacher chained two kids to his motorcycle and dragged them through the parking lot. These are severe cases."

A national study shows that schools prohibiting corporal punishment do not have more discipline problems than schools allowing the punishment.

"Why do teachers use it? Because they don't know any better!" Hyman said.

Five Collisions In Greenville Thursday

An estimated $7,350 damage resulted from a series of five traffic collisions investigated by Greenville police Thursday.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 3:49 p.m. collision on Charles Street, 50 feet South of the 14th Street intersection, involving cars driven by Michael Keith Townsend of 1504 E. Fourth St. and John Asa Drew Jr. of Aulander.

Police, who charged Drew with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $2,500 to the Townsend car and $2,000 to the Drew vehicle.

Cars driven by Faye Phillips Best of Route 1, Greenville, and Deborah Karr Wall of 2531 Memorial Drive collided about 10:07 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth and Washington streets, causing an estimated $200 damage to the Best car and $700 damage to the Wall vehicle.

Investigators said cars driven by Mathew Lee Sheppard of 101 White St. and Susan Ann Lassiter of 120 N. Eastern St. collided about 9:10 a.m. at the intersection of Third and White streets.

Damage from the mishap was set at $200 to the Sheppard car and $500 to the Lassiter vehicle.

A 2:54 p.m. collision at the intersection of Fifth and 10th streets involved cars driven by Clair J. Bigler of Raleigh and Edna W. Fisher of 1905 E. Fourth St., investigators said.

Damage from the mishap was set at $150 to the Bigler car and $500 to the Fisher vehicle.

Say Cigarette Data Incorrect

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal tests understate the true tar, nicotine and carbon monoxide content of Barclay cigarettes, and may not be used as proof for advertising claims, the Federal Trade Commission says.

In a notice published in the Federal Register, the FTC said that Barclays, manufactured by Brown & Williamson Tobacco Co. of Louisville, Ky., deliver more tar, nicotine and carbon monoxide than the commission's testing program now indicates.

Independent consultants believe the tar content of Barclays 80s and 85s ranges from three to seven milligrams of tar, rather than the 1 milligram recorded by the FTC's "smoking machine," the commission said.

"We continue to believe that our product is a 1 milligram tar cigarette," Gene Russell, manager of public relations for Brown & Williamson, said in a telephone interview.

And for any overlap in categories we could always have a rating like ICK (intense cursing and kicking) and SICK (sex with intense cursing and kicking).

But "The Black Stallion Returns" had nothing but excitement, suspense, altruism and honor. It was an incredibly good movie, even though I did sit through it braced for the PT or the BW Meg, however, was not. The movie having moved her to tears, I took her in my arms and explained to her about the nobility of the love that the boy had for his horse.

She wiped her nose on my shoulder. "Oh, Mommy, I am so glad that I had you here for PG. I just don't think I could have stood this alone."

Amended Workers Compensation Bill Achieved

By MARY ANNE RHYNE
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Legislators and representatives of labor and industry say they believe three years of negotiations soon may result in more injured workers receiving compensation.

To accomplish that, the House Manufacturing and Labor Subcommittee on Thursday approved an amended version of a bill introduced by Rep. William Clark, D-Cumberland. The full committee could consider the bill as early as next week.

Frank Huskins, former judge on the state Court of Appeals and Supreme Court and a former Industrial Commission member, drafted the bill as amended at the request of industry.

"This is a substantial step in the right direction," said Chris Scott of the state AFL-CIO.

"Finally we have identified the very narrow problem," said Sam Johnson, lobbyist for the North Carolina Associated Industries. "We have written what we tried to."

Courts have interpreted the existing law to cover only those injuries sustained in accidents where the employee slipped, tripped or fell. They have not allowed compensation where workers sustained an injury during the normal performance of their jobs.

In its original form, Clark's bill would have allowed compensation for injuries from any job-related accident. Industry spokesmen fought the bill, saying it would cover too many accidents.

The amended Clark bill would allow compensation for back injuries suffered during the normal job performance and compensation for other kinds of injuries sustained when the worker slipped, tripped or fell.

"The vast majority of problems we're attempting to address are back injuries," Clark said. "This is not as far as I would like to go. But if it is acceptable to others, I can accept it."

Clark offered a similar compromise in 1981, when the General Assembly was addressing the same problem. The 1981 compromise, which never made it to the floor, would have affected back injuries and hernias.

Some groups warned Thursday that the Legislature still may have to consider hernias and other injuries.

Alan Briggs of the N.C. Academy of Trial Lawyers said he was afraid the subcommittee was skirting the problem by failing to deal directly with the courts' interpretation of what constitutes an accident.

"Sometimes you have to take what you can get," Clark said.

Huskins said he believes the bill would work well.

"By treating it this way it will be easier for the courts and the Industrial Commission to administer," he said. "I think this is a reasonably fair compromise between industry and workers."

In other legislative action:

Ridge Law

The state Senate suspended the rules to tentatively approve a bill prohibiting high-rise construction on mountain ridges. Final consideration of the bill was postponed until Tuesday so some technical changes could be introduced.

The bill, introduced by Rep. R.P. "Bo" Thomas, D-Henderson, would prohibit construction of buildings taller than three stories or 35 feet on ridges higher than 2,950 feet above sea level. Violators would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Amendments were adopted to let cities and counties exempt themselves from the proposed law within 120 days of enactment and to let anyone hurt by high-rise construction file civil suits to stop construction or collect damages.

Government buildings and water, radio, telephone and television towers would not be affected by the bill.

Income Taxes

Rep. C.R. Edwards, D-Cumberland, filed a bill that would raise state individual income taxes by 1 percent to generate $395 million over the next two years.

Edwards said a new revenue source was needed because budget committees have been looking for ways to reduce the 1983-85 budget by up to 3 percent.

"I understand it is not a popular bill," he said. "No tax bill is a popular bill. It will take courage on the part of people to promote this sort of thing."

Several bills have been introduced to raise the state sales tax but Edwards said he felt it would be better to tax income instead.

"This would be more equitable in terms of one's ability to pay," Edwards said.

Education Cuts

About 100 students and sympathizers demonstrated in front of the Legislative Building to urge that education funds not be cut.

The Joint Appropriations Base Budget Committee on Education has identified 3 percent cuts totaling $36.6 million to be made if revenue collections fall short, although the panel urged against the cuts, which would eliminate 423 teaching positions in the University of North Carolina system.

Steve Langman of Chapel Hill, a member of the board of directors of the United States Student Association, warned that spending cuts were helping rekindle student activism reminiscent of the 1960s.

William Tuck of the N.C. Association of Black Educators said the cuts would hit the UNC system's five predominantly black campuses especially hard.

Rep. Al Adams, D-Wake, and Sen. Bob Jordan, D-Montgomery, co-chairmen of the Joint Appropriations Base Budget Committee, praised the demonstrators and urged them to ask their representatives to support raising revenues instead of cutting education spending.

"We are in a crisis," said Adams. "If we don't come up with additional sources of revenue, we'll be in a bad situation."

Jordan said increases in the sales or alcoholic beverage taxes or a state lottery might be used to raise more money for education.

Prisons

Saying that North Carolina's prison policy was "at a crossroads," Rep. Joe Hackney, D-Orange, filed a package of bills produced by the Citizens' Commission on Alternatives to Incarceration.

The package includes bills that would:

— Make a person serving a minimum prison term entitled to parole immediately upon becoming eligible.

— Make nonviolent offenders aged 21-24 eligible for treatment as committed youthful offenders.

— Place a moratorium on new prison construction while alternative penalties are considered.

— Appropriate $2 million over two years to hire additional adult probation and parole officers and another $2.1 million to fund intensive probation officers.

— Create a new "intensive probation" program for people on probation who require especially close supervision in order to remain out of prison.

— Accelerate parole of certain inmates when the state's prison population nears 17,000.

— Encourage punishment other than imprisonment for certain crimes.

— Establish a program for replacing incarceration with community service, restitution and other forms of punishment.

"North Carolina prison policy is at a crossroads," said Hackney. "We either must spend tens of millions of dollars for new prison space, or we must pursue a new direction."

He said 50 percent of the people jailed in North Carolina are guilty of misdemeanors and non-violent felonies.

Marijuana

The Senate Judiciary I Committee sent to a subcommittee a bill that would make possession of 2-8 ounces of marijuana a misdemeanor.

Currently, possession of over one ounce is a felony punishable by up to five years in prison.

Sen. Dennis Winner, D-Buncombe, sponsor of the bill, said many district attorneys were reluctant to prosecute people accused of possessing a few ounces of marijuana because of the severity of the punishment.

"This really isn't making the punishment lighter, because it will make it less likely that prosecutors will reduce the charge," he said.

New Bills

Sen. Jim Edwards, D-Caldwell, filed a bill directing the Legislative Research Commission to study the state's system of regulating and taxing banks, savings and loans and credit unions. Another bill sponsored by Edwards would raise from 6 percent to 8 percent the maximum interest rate on loans from the state literary fund.

Sen. Tony Rand, D-Cumberland, filed a bill that would give 12-month school employees the same vacation benefits as full-time state workers.

Sen. Dennis Winner, D-Buncombe, filed a bill to assure that the governor's western residence in Asheville will be repaired if damaged or destroyed.

Vocational Education

A proposal by Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green to provide vocational education in the seventh and eighth grades was filed and co-signed by all 50 senators.

The program, which Green announced several weeks ago, would be aimed at keeping potential dropouts in school until they graduate by offering training for jobs they're likely to seek.

Teaching would be provided in basic vocational skills that could be expanded in high school. There also would be instruction in "the world of work, career paths, work ethics, and the responsibilities of productive citizenship."

A nine-member committee including three members of the State Board of Education would oversee the program.

Privilege Tax

The House Finance Committee, over the objections of a representative of the N.C. League of Municipalities, approved two bills that would exempt pest exterminators and burglar alarm sellers from local privilege taxes.

Sen. Tony Rand, D-Cumberland, told the panel that pest control firms were having to pay anywhere from $25 to $100 every time they did business in a different town.

Legislators Seek More Control Over School Buses; Costs Rising

By JOHN FLESHER
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Legislation to put the state in control of busing pupils to and from school is badly needed as costs of the transportation system soar, a lawmaker says.

Rep. Malcolm Fulcher, D-Carteret, said during a public hearing Thursday that the Legislature is powerless to stem rising costs because the law specifically forbids state interference in the transportation system.

But the law also requires that the state provide money for the system, meaning that local education officials can get funds for fuel, maintenance and related expenses.

ditions practically on demand, he said.

During the hearing before a Joint Appropriations Base Budget Committee subcommittee, Fulcher and several lawmakers and education officials urged that the law be rewritten to enable the state to insist on accountability for transportation money it provides.

"If you were to ask the man on the street whether North Carolina has a system for transporting its school children, he'd probably say yes," said Fulcher. "But we really don't. What we do is fund local systems without any mechanism for ensuring that the money is spent wisely."

"There's no incentive for local school systems to be efficient. There's no reason for them to be economical about the routes they choose because the state will have to come up with the money, regardless."

Fulcher said in an interview he didn't know how many school systems had efficient transportation systems and how many didn't.

"It's impossible to know because we can't monitor the systems," he said. "Even if a county has buses stopping on every corner, we can't challenge it. But we have to send them money when they run short."

Fulcher said a bill to give the State Board of Education authority over pupil transportation would be introduced this session. He wouldn't say who would sponsor the legislation.

The base budget committee called the public hearing after learning that over $100 million had been earmarked for student transportation. Rep. Mary Seymour, D-Guilford, who led an unsuccessful effort to revise the law in 1981, said costs of running the bus system — especially fuel — had soared in the past six years while ridership declined by 14 percent.

"Right now, we have an open-ended check," she said.

Gene Causby, executive director of the N.C. School Boards Association, said he wouldn't mind some revision in the law but warned against giving local officials responsibility without authority.

For example, he said, if the state doesn't want to take over the chore of assigning school bus routes it should allow local school officials to draw the routes without fear that their decisions will be overruled by the state.

SBI Asked Renew Probe

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Wake County District Attorney J. Randolph Riley has asked for additional investigation of Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green by the State Bureau of Investigation.

State Attorney General Rufus Edmisten on March 7 turned over copies of an SBI report and transcripts of tape-recorded conversations between Green and undercover federal agents to Riley and District Attorney Michael Easley, who covers an area including Green's home county of Bladen.

The FBI agents were probing corruption in southeast North Carolina as part of the FBI's undercover operation Colcor.

Riley confirmed Thursday that after examining the materials, he had asked the SBI to re-enter the probe.

He refused to disclose what information he was seeking, saying that, "there is additional investigation in progress now by the SBI."

Green, presiding officer of the state Senate and an unofficial candidate for the 1984 Democratic bid for governor, could not be reached for comment Thursday but has criticized the probe.

Andrew A. Vanore Jr., senior deputy attorney general, said in February that Green had been under investigation by the SBI for several months in connection with allegations stemming from Colcor.

Losses Rise In Recycling

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina's motor oil recycling plant losses went up over $100,000 in 1982, but the Department of Administration is not ready to close the plant.

The North Carolina Oil Re-Refining Facility, the first of its kind in the nation, had a net accounting loss of $452,337 last year, up from $350,547 in losses in 1981, according to department figures.

The total loss figures for the first two years of operations are actually inflated by about $50,000. Because of accounting technicalities, the state includes a charge for used oil that it actually obtains for free.

The plant, which opened in December 1980, recycles used motor oil for resale to state and local governments.

The plant produced 218,030 gallons of oil at a cost of $4.59 a gallon — $2 more than the price that the state pays for new oil.

"You don't know how much I've worked and worried over that thing," said J.K. Sherron, deputy secretary of administration.

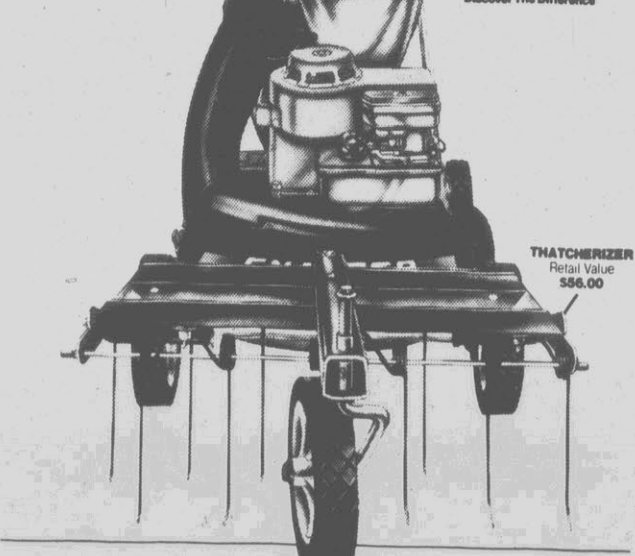

But Sherron still believes in the project. He said the plant will some day be "churning out dollar bills."

He said the re-refinery ought to be breaking even by July 1.

Poor Grades Cutting Into Pupils' Fun

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Things look bad for Los Angeles High School's annual spring drama production — almost as bad as the grades preventing some students from participating in the extracurricular activity.

Drama teacher Nancy Pierandozzi had been struggling to fit all 22 students in her performing arts class into the spring production, but report cards handed out Monday solved her problem. Nearly half the class didn't make the grades they needed to stay in the play.

It was the students' first encounter with the Los Angeles Unified School District's controversial get-tough policy on academic performance, adopted last fall with mixed support from parents, teachers and athletic coaches.

All pupils from grades four through 12 must maintain a C average, and cannot receive any Fs if they want to participate in drama, athletics, debate, band or any other extracurricular activity.

District officials say they won't have a precise tally for another two weeks on how many students have been shut out, but "right now, it looks like we're in trouble," Los Angeles High School Principal Jim Ball said Wednesday.

About 800 of his students can't manage a C average. Another 400 can, but received a failing grade in one or more subjects. Ball estimated about three-fourths of those 1,200 students wouldn't participate in extracurricular activities anyway, but he said many of the rest are "deflated."

"We all face (the new policy) with mixed emotions," he said. "We're glad for the stress on academics. But children are hurt. Some of the young people will not be able to participate in extracurricular activities which are educational and expand their horizons. We are losing some educational value."

Laura, a 17-year-old senior at University High School in affluent Westwood who did not want her last name used, spent eight weeks rehearsing the coveted role of Helena in the school production of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

But her report card — three As, one B and a glaring F in physiology — means someone else will play Helena in the April 23 show.

"I've cried myself out," said Laura, an aspiring actress. "I've been working on the play for eight weeks, putting everything I have into it."

"I think it's sad that something I'm not going to go into will keep me away from what I really want to do," she added.

Ms. Pierandozzi was sad to lose Ted Wilson, 17, a senior who would have had a leading role in Los Angeles High's spring production if he hadn't flunked algebra last semester.

"In my case, there's certain subjects I just can't get the hang of," Wilson said. "Every time I have homework, I do it either backstage at rehearsal or later at home. I tried and tried and tried. No matter how hard I try, I just can't seem to remember the different steps."

Wilson's friend, Alan Reed, 17, is out of the play and off the baseball team. Reed admitted an acute case of "laziness" that was reflected in his report card: he skipped 18 classes of U.S. history and 14 in contemporary composition and algebra. He said he finds school "boring" — preferring to watch television at home — but he missed Ms. Pierandozzi's class only six times.

The two young men plan to do better.

"I'm guaranteeing you, these grades will be up" next semester, said Reed, gesturing toward Wilson. "I'm gonna help this guy with algebra and he's going to help me get to class."

Offering Cheap Mortgage Loan

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A limited number of 9.6 percent mortgage loans aimed at helping first-time homebuyers will be available beginning April 20.

The 30-year, fixed-rate loans will be funded through a $21 million bond sale by the North Carolina Housing Finance Agency.

The NCHFA Board of Directors approved the sale of the tax-exempt revenue bonds at their monthly meeting Thursday. The bond sale proceeds will provide money for around 500 home loans for low and middle income residents of North Carolina.

"We hope these loans will benefit families which have been prevented from buying homes because of the recent high interest rates," said NCHFA Executive Director

Given Vote To Become A City

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The state Senate approved a local bill Thursday giving Kannapolis the authority to hold an election to determine if the state's largest unincorporated area will become a city.

The bill calls for a 14-member charter commission to be formed and for the commission to recommend a city charter by March 1, 1984. Voters would decide the issue Nov. 6, 1984.

Kannapolis leaders say the interest in becoming a city comes on the heels of an ambitious annexation by neighboring Concord and fallout from Los Angeles investor David Murdock's purchase of Cannon Mills Co. last year.

CORRECTION

In the Saturday only sale section in today's paper on page one the 24" curtains which are 1/2 price will not be available. In the centerfold the living room sofa, sofa-sleeper, carpet, bedroom groups and 11-H.P. Tractor, No. 25537 are not available. We are sorry for any inconvenience this may cause you.

Sears, Roebuck & Co.
Greenville, N.C.

Gary Paul Kane.

"We are encouraging citizens who think they may qualify to apply on April 20, or as soon after that as possible," Kane said. "Because the rates are favorable, we think there will be a great deal of demand for this money."

The maximum allowable income limit to be eligible for the loans is $29,100 for a family of four in urban areas and $26,700 for a family of four in a rural area. These amounts are increased by $800 for each additional family member.

Single people with no dependents cannot have incomes exceeding three-quarters of those amounts.

The program divides the state into target and non-target areas, with each area carrying different housing price limitations. Target areas are defined by government regulations as "economically distressed."

In order to qualify, a homebuyer in a non-target area cannot have owned a home for the past three years.

Arrest Reported

Greenville police have arrested Milton Lee Phillips, 33, of 1005 W. Fourth St. on breaking, entering and larceny charges in connection with a mid-August 1982 break-in.

Chief Glenn Cannon said Phillips was charged with breaking into a car at 1116A Colonial Ave. and taking a radio valued at $80.

City Council... Wildlife Commission Seat Contested

rezoned 19.08 acres of property located between Seaboard Coast Line Railroad and North Pitt Street, from Moore Street northward to the city limits, from highway commercial to downtown commercial fringe. No opposition to the change in zoning classifications was voiced.

Public hearings were scheduled for May on a petition submitted by Carolina Opry House for satellite annexation, and on a petition by owners of Greenridge subdivision, sections one and two, for satellite annexation.

An ordinance amending the 1979-80 CD budget ordinance was adopted, providing $90,000 for a rental rehabilitation demonstration program and $40,000 for rehabilitation work in Riverdale. The amendment shifted funds from the 14th Street project budget.

The council adopted a resolution endorsing the re-enactment of the general revenue sharing program and encouraging U.S. Rep. Walter Jones and U.S. Sens. Jesse Helms and John East to "actively support the re-enactment of this important federal assistance program."

In the resolution, the council said the program, which was first enacted by Congress in 1972, "has played a vital role in enabling the city ... to meet the essential needs of a growing community." The program was extended in December 1980 for three years.

In other business, the council:

— Adopted an agreement with Pitt Community College providing for the continuation of transit service to PCC by the city on a fee basis;

— Approved a joint agreement by the city and Greenville Utilities with the N.C. League of Municipalities for a pay and classification plan study, at a total cost of $15,000;

— Accepted Lake Road, from the northern line of Lake Ellsworth subdivision, section one, northerly 1,750 feet to the dead end, for permanent maintenance by the city;

— Adopted an ordinance that will enable the city to designate certain streets where truck traffic will be prohibited; and

— Adopted a resolution authorizing the submission of an application to the state for local mosquito control program funding.

Appointments to boards and commissions by the council included: John Bizzell to a second term on the Community Appearance Commission and Doug Caldwell and Robbie Tugwell to first terms on the board; Inez Fridley and Dr. Bernard E. Kane Jr. to their first full terms on the Environmental Advisory Commission (both had filled unexpired terms); and Helen Pope to a second term on the Parking Authority.

A member of the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission who is seeking a new term claims an opponent's supporters are conducting a "whispering campaign" aimed at linking him with unpopular hunting legislation.

Woodrow Price of Gloucester is seeking a second six-year term as a member of the commission, representing the 12-county 2nd District, which includes Pitt County. He is opposed by Clyde Sutton of Lenoir.

Nominees for commissioner will be chosen at a district convention scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Lenoir Community College gymnasium. The names of five nominees chosen at the meeting will be submitted to Gov. Jim Hunt, who will make the appointment. Historically, Hunt has chosen the nominee that received the most votes at the convention.

Price charged in an interview that the "whispering campaign is being conducted against me and the ... commission" in some of the 12 counties. He said, "These rumors have become so vicious that I feel it necessary to bring them to the attention of the responsible sportsmen of this district."

Price called on Sutton "to repudiate such tactics."

Price said, "Some of Mr. Sutton's supporters are trying to link me and the commission to an anti-road hunting law enacted by the General Assembly that applies only to Lenoir County and to another road hunting bill that has been introduced and which applies to a portion of Martin County."

"Neither I nor the commission had anything to do with either one of these proposals and I must point out that Martin County isn't even in the district I represent."

Price said, "I am not accusing him (Sutton) of creating any rumors himself but I am accusing him of allowing his supporters to do so without try to stop them. It is damaging not only to me but to the commission."

Price said Sutton is head of the Lenoir County Hunters Association, which is supporting Sutton's candidacy.

Sutton said this morning that Price's accusations are "totally false. I know very well that the Wildlife Commission has no involvement in local issues. That's really not the issue. I think all of this will come out Tuesday night."

He said his purpose in seeking the commission seat is that, "I am a farmer and a grassroots hunter who was born and raised in this area and I feel I can bring unity to the people who are represented on the commission."

Price said the Lenoir County law, which he said was recommended to the General Assembly by the county's board of commissioners, prohibits the taking of game from a highway right-of-way or, if adjacent land is posted, the releasing of dogs on that land unless written permission is received from the landowner.

The Martin County bill, which is opposed by the county board, would make it illegal to hunt, take or kill black bear, deer, foxes, raccoons, opossums and bobcats with the use of dogs in a specific area of the county.

The commissioner said Sutton's supporters are "contending that Woody Price is not a friend of the dog hunter. I contend I am the best friend the dog hunter has." Price said he served as chairman of a conservation law study committee in 1978-79 and dog hunters were consulted by the committee as laws were structured to fit the hunters' needs. Price said, "I don't see how we could have been any more liberal to them."

Price said the commission "throughout its long history has never supported anti-road hunting legislation of any kind. Nor have I."

He said Sutton "should disassociate himself from the rumors and those who are fostering them for they reflect upon the very commission on which he seeks membership."

Stuart Johnson, a member of the Lenoir County Hunters Association, said the group has "not made any low blows" in supporting Sutton's candidacy. Johnson said the association is also aware that the wildlife board has nothing to do with local regulations.

"I just don't think he (Price) has done a good job. He hasn't done anything for us. I think Clyde will make us a good man. We need all the support we can get from Clyde and others," said Johnson. He said he felt Sutton "understands the situation better than Woodrow. I really think Woodrow is spreading some rumors himself."

Johnson said the image of hunters needs to be changed and efforts are under way to "try to work with people (landowners) with respect to hunting."

The 13-member non-salaried wildlife board includes nine district commissioners and four who are appointed at large, two by the governor and one each by the lieutenant governor and speaker of the House. Three district commissioners are seeking new terms this year.

Price has resided at Gloucester since his retirement in 1977. He was managing editor of The News and Observer of Raleigh for 15 years and wrote the "In the Open" outdoor column for the paper for 26 years.

Expulsion For An Ambassador

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Finland has expelled North Korean Ambassador Yu Jae Han for unlawful conduct, the Foreign Ministry said today. Government sources said Yu tried to bribe the speaker of the Finnish Parliament.

Ministry spokesman Alek Aalto said the government decided Thursday that Yu must go but set no deadline for his departure.

He said Yu "has been noted to act in a way that is contrary to Finnish law and to the Vienna Convention on diplomatic relations."

The North Korean Embassy refused comment on the expulsion. A man who identified himself only as Kim said in answer to a telephone query, "At the moment there is no person in charge of the embassy."

Yu has been Pyongyang's ambassador here since June 15, 1978.

The newspaper Hufvudstadsbladet published a photograph today showing Yu at the Eduskunta, or parliament.

It said the picture was taken Thursday, as the Foreign Policy Committee was considering Yu's expulsion, and that the ambassador had been talking with Finnish members of the International Parliamentary Union.

Government sources who refused further identification said Yu had been trying to prevent the IPU from holding its next general meeting in Seoul, capital of South Korea.

They said his activities were disclosed to authorities by Johannes Virolainen, who was president of the IPU and speaker of the Eduskunta before losing his parliamentary seat in national elections last month.

Virolainen told the Foreign Ministry in February that Yu had given him a bouquet of flowers containing an envelope with $5,000 inside, the sources said.

They said there apparently was no demand made at the time, but that Virolainen later discovered that Yu wanted him to assure that Seoul was not selected for meeting of the IPU, an organization of 200 parliamentarians from around the world.

Yu's was only the second diplomatic expulsion ever from neutral Finland. In 1976, several North Korean diplomats were declared persona non grata.

Reply To Civil Rights Finding

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The state board of community colleges has told federal officials college transfer programs are not the major purpose of their system in a response explaining why the schools have not fulfilled federal desegregation commitments.

The colleges failed to meet a goal set in a desegregation plan accepted by civil rights officials in 1978 of boosting black enrollment in college-transfer programs by 171 students per year. The U.S. Department of Education Office of Civil Rights said the system should have had 1,577 blacks in the programs in 1981, while it had only 988.

The OCR earlier this year found the system had not made enough strides to increase the number of blacks in student college-transfer programs, on faculties or administrations in the system's 58 schools or on trustee boards.

On Thursday the state Board of Community Colleges adopted a response to be sent to the OCR, noting the system's role in providing vocational and technical education in the state.

"Clearly, college-transfer programs were not conceived as the major purpose of the community college system," the response stated.

The board also pointed out that the total number of students enrolled in the college-transfer program had dropped since the desegregation plan became effective in 1978.

This year only 7.2 percent of the system's enrollment was classified as college transfer, compared to 12 percent in 1969-70, the board said.

System president and former governor Bob Scott said in recent years the economy "turned down" and many people are taking jobs today instead of continuing their education at a higher level.

"Those goals were set in 1978 when the economy was still strong," he said. "It's an entirely different situation now."

"We are saying there are valid reasons why those commitments were not met," said Scott, adding that the college system plans to cooperate with federal officials.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING RELATIVE TO APPLICATION BY THE TOWN OF BETHEL FOR FUNDING UNDER THE HOUSING AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT ACT OF 1974, AMENDED, 1981

Notice is hereby given that the Bethel Town Council will conduct a Public Hearing on April 19, 1983 at 7:30 p.m. in the Bethel Town Hall, Bethel, North Carolina, relative to the intention of the Town of Bethel to apply for funding under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, amended 1981, Community Development Block Grant Small Cities Program. The Town of Bethel intends to submit an application for a grant of up to $750,000 in Community Revitalization Funds to undertake housing improvements in an area within the Town of Bethel containing 44 substandard dwelling units. The project area is bounded on the south by Flat Swamp Road, on the east by Church and Gray Streets, on the west by Main Street, and on the north by the Carolina Telephone Building and the warehouse immediately east of East Street.

The following is a tentative list of proposed activities and an estimated project budget based on the initial survey of the project area. The final application will be reviewed at the Public Hearing.

Activity	Funds Requested
1. Rehabilitation of 44 privately-owned dwellings	$573,000
2. Acquisition and clearance of 6 dilapidated structures.	33,000
3. Relocation assistance	30,000
4. Storm drainage improvements	21,000
5. Administration	90,000

The purpose of the Public Hearing is to obtain the views and comments of the citizens of Bethel with regard to the proposed application for Community Development Block Grant funds.

All citizens are requested and encouraged to attend the Public Hearing and make comments and suggestions. If additional information is needed, please contact the Bethel town Manager's Office.

Adelman Confirmed But Dispute Continuing

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The 57-42 Senate vote confirming Kenneth L. Adelman as the nation's next arms control chief failed to end the dispute over whether his selection enhances or impairs chances for meaningful arms control.

In the aftermath of the Thursday vote, the culmination of three months of hearings and debate, President Reagan and Adelman called separately for bipartisan reconciliation to move arms control forward while some senators said the choice of Adelman makes such cooperation unlikely.

The Soviet Union's official news agency called Adelman "an outright hawk" and said his selection proves the Reagan White House is interested in amassing more arms, not controlling them.

Principal Senate opponents said Adelman prevailed because Republican senators who might otherwise have of the U.S. mission to the United Nations. Adelman said.

From Moscow, the Soviet news agency Tass labeled Adelman a foe of arms control and said his confirmation was due to "fierce arm twisting" by the White House.

Tass said many members of Congress and the American public viewed Reagan's nomination of Adelman as "an obvious sign that the White House intends to thwart completely the process of arms control and to gain a free hand for the further runaway escalation of war preparations."

All five of the Senate's contenders for the 1984 Democratic presidential nomination voted against the nomination and four of them spoke against it on the Senate floor.

In turn, administration supporters claimed the anti-Adelman effort was politically inspired and based on a misreading of his intentions.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations and floor leader of the pro-Adelman forces, attributed the victory to Adelman's pledge under oath to be an ardent arms control advocate and to the administration's commitments to give high priority to two unratified nuclear test ban treaties.

"Now they clearly have on their backs responsibility for making progress in arms control," Percy said of Adelman and the administration.

"There are two happy men today," said Sen. Paul Tsongas, D-Mass., leader of anti-Adelman forces. "One is Ronald Reagan and the other is (Soviet leader) Yuri Andropov. And I predict that a year from now Andropov will still be happy and the president won't."

"If I were Andropov I would do nothing but mutter, 'Adelman, Adelman, throughout Europe,'" Tsongas said. "He'll have Adelman to kick around for awhile in order to block" the planned deployment of U.S. Pershing II medium-range nuclear missiles.

Poultry

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) (NCDA) - The North Carolina f.o.b. dock quoted price on broilers for this week's trading was 39.75 cents, based on full truck load lots of ice pack USDA Grade A sized 2 1/2 to 3 pound birds. 41 percent of the loads offered have been confirmed, with a final weighted average of 40.17 cents f.o.b. dock or equivalent. The market is steady and the live supply is moderate for a moderate demand. Weights desirable. Estimated slaughter of broilers and fryers in North Carolina Friday was 1,887,000, compared to 2,123,000 last Friday.

Hens

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) (NCDA) - The North Carolina hen market was steady with a firm undertone. Supplies barely adequate. Demand moderate. Prices paid per pound for hens over seven pounds at farm for Wednesday Thursday, Friday slaughter was 16 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market pressed ahead today, continuing the record-setting advance of the past several days with the help of some favorable economic news.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which reached new highs Wednesday and Thursday, gained 3.96 to 1,169.21 by noon.

Advancing issues held a 9.5 lead over declines among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Before the market opened, the Federal Reserve reported that industrial production rose 1.1 percent in March, after gains of 1.5 percent and 0.3 percent in the two previous months.

The Labor Department, meanwhile, said producer prices of finished goods dropped 0.1 percent last month.

The combination of those statistics painted a picture of further progress toward economic recovery with no sign yet of a revival of inflationary pressures.

International Business Machines, which reported higher first-quarter earnings on Thursday, rose 1/8 to 109 1/2.

Other gainers on the active list included American Telephone, up 1/8 at 66 1/2; National Medical Care, up 1/4 at 16 1/2, and Chrysler, up 1/4 at 21 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index climbed .25 to 91.09. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 2.76 at 406.97.

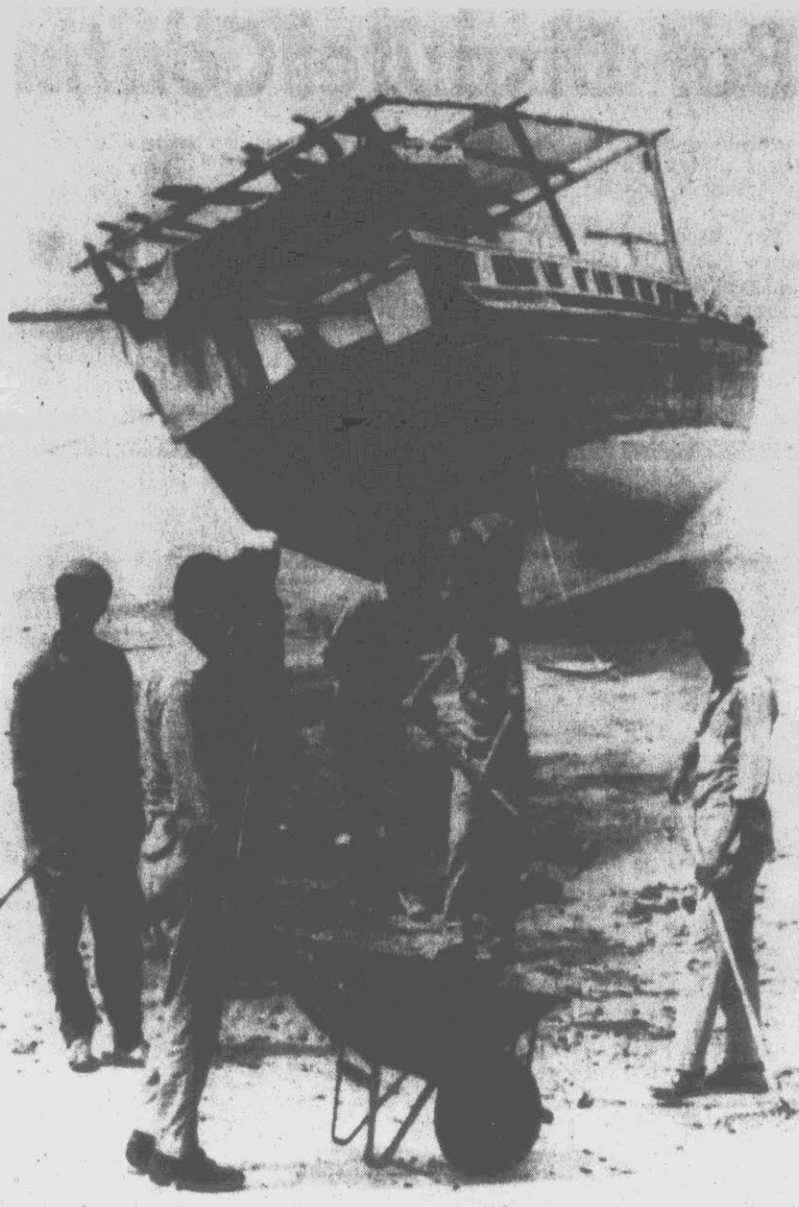

Volume on the Big Board totaled 44.43 million shares at noon, against 40.22 million at the same point Thursday.

MOPPING UP - Civil Defense volunteers clear a Bahrain beach of patches of crude oil after it was washed ashore from the giant oil slick threatening the gulf area coastlines.

Renewed fighting in the Iran-Iraq conflict has dimmed hopes for collective action by several Arab states to stop the oil leaking from wells damaged in the war. (AP Laserphoto)

Patients Protected As Their Doctors Catch Up

The Department of Family Medicine at East Carolina University's School of Medicine has begun a program that provides medical coverage for patients of family doctors while the physicians broaden their education.

The program, labeled Mini Fellowships in Family Medicine, is called unique by ECU spokesmen because it provides medical care for patients while their own doctor is at the medical center.

The program also allows young doctors an opportunity to practice in an office outside the hospital.

"A lot of young doctors take a residency in family medicine, then a fellowship and come directly into teaching. They've never practiced in the real world of medicine," according to Dr. James Jones, head of the ECU department.

"What happens is that many times residents in training do not look upon a faculty member who has never been in practice with the same credibility that they do a doctor who has practiced, say, in a solo situation in an isolated area. So this program affords these young people who have decided on a career in academic family medicine to experience the real world of practice."

Jones said the program gives "the practitioner, particularly those in isolated rural areas who find it almost impossible to take advantage of continuing medical education, a chance to come to the center and catch up on recent advances in medical knowledge and technology that are must coming out in every area of medicine."

"We can offer the family doctors this mini fellowship in just about any department here at the center - in any area in which he feels the need to brush up. We can offer him or her a few days or six months - whatever length of time he or she feels is needed, and, at the same time, cover their practices while they are here."

Dr. Charles Boyette, a

Belhaven family doctor, was the first to take advantage of the program. He said the program can be invaluable because "for one thing it enables the doctor to be more knowledgeable about how to handle, manage, refer and receive back from the medical center the patient who has gone there for specialized treatment and to keep abreast of treatments that are constantly changing."

'Deliberately' Ran Down Boy

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) - A 19-year-old man who prosecutors say deliberately ran down a Hispanic boy and tried to hit a teen-age girl with his car has been formally charged with murder and attempted murder.

The Camden County grand jury indictment on Thursday made no mention, however, of a prosecutor's earlier claim that Gerald Thomas Gerlock Jr. made racial slurs and announced a "point system" for the lives of blacks and Hispanics before the incident March 15.

Gerlock, also charged with two counts of hindering apprehension or prosecution, is accused of killing George DeCasonova, 7, and attempting to run down the boy's companion, Veronica Ann Rosario, 14.

Bill Goes To Committee

WASHINGTON - The House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee's subcommittee on oceanography has given its approval to the Outer Continental Shelf Revenue Sharing Bill, introduced by Rep. Walter Jones, and passed it along to the full committee for action.

The bill, co-sponsored by Rep. Norman D'Amours (D-NH), chairman of the oceanography subcommittee, and Jones, who is chairman of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, would establish a fund from which block grants would be awarded to coastal states based on a proportion of federal outer continental shelf oil and gas revenues.

The amount each state would receive is based on a formula which takes into account actual OCS leasing, planned future lease sales, coastal related energy facilities, coastal population, and shoreline mileage.

The bill also provides that no less than 25 percent of the grant must be used for coastal zone management and at least 35 percent of a state's block grant must be allocated to local coastal governments to carry out their activities under the Coastal Zone Management Act.

Joining Son In Marathon Run

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) - Peggy Foster won't be on the sidelines cheering for her son when he runs in the 87th Boston Marathon. Instead, she's likely to be trying to keep up with him.

Mrs. Foster of Macomb and Scott Foster of Chicago on Monday may be the first mother-son team to run in the prestigious 26-mile, 385-yard race, said Jerry Nason, former sports editor of the Boston Globe.

Women have been allowed to run in the Boston Marathon since 1972.

Foster, 26, is a student at the Illinois College of Podiatric Medicine in Chicago and a veteran of the 1979 marathon. His best time is 2 hours, 41 minutes.

Mrs. Foster, 49, a secretary at Western Illinois University who runs over 70 miles a week says she's "pretty excited" to be running in this year's marathon.

Four Charged In Rape Of Girl

FARMVILLE - Four Farmville youths have been charged with rape of a 13-year-old girl Wednesday evening.

Placed in the Pitt County Jail under $25,000 bond were Jeffrey Wade Reid, 16, of 407 W. Vines St.; Kenneth Jones, 16, of 509 Cameron St. and Martin Johnson, 17, of 409 W. Vines St. A 15-year-old will have juvenile papers served later, Farmville Police Chief Ron Cooper said.

The rape reportedly occurred in a field at the southern end of George Street, police said.

Would Release Secret Records

WASHINGTON (AP) - Most records of the now-defunct committee that investigated the assassinations of John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr. would be made public under legislation introduced in the House.

Rep. Stewart McKinney, R-Conn., one of the sponsors, said that without the legislation the records would remain locked in the National Archives for 50 years in accordance with normal House rules.

Williams Returns For 9-1 Win Over ECU

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Ex-Rose High School pitching star Roger Williams made his homecoming, of sorts, last night and the University of North Carolina freshman made it one to remember.

The son of a former ECU baseball coach, Williams weaved a strong two-hitter for 7½ innings before giving way to reliever Chris Mench. Even then, Williams didn't want to leave the game, protesting his departure to coach Mike Roberts.

Mench came on to lose Williams' shutout effort as the Tar Heels took a 9-1 victory — their second by that score — over the Pirates.

"I was kinda pumped up," Williams said afterwards about returning to Greenville to pitch for the first time in his collegiate career. "I never got nervous. I really felt good."

For Williams, it was his sixth win in eight decisions in his rookie year with the Heels. "So far everything has gone fine for me," he said. "It's a whole different type of baseball, with a lot better competition. But I think I've adapted pretty well."

Williams said that he had changed his delivery motion, and has gotten his slider more consistent during the year since he left Rose High. But he wasn't expected to be among the aces of the staff his first year.

"I knew that they had a lot of pitchers," he said. "They've got a lot of talent, but I've worked hard and it's worked out all right."

During the evening, Williams kept the Pirates off balance and off base, giving up only one walk and two hits — both of them to former Rose teammate Mark Shank. One other reached base on an error by Williams.

He struck out nine along the way.

"My fast ball was good and I got the curve over for strikes. I felt that I threw pretty well, but (Roberts) felt that I was getting a little stiff and he wanted to put in someone fresh."

That led to the other half of the Rose High School pitching staff — Gordon Douglas — who has been the number one reliever from the bullpen. But he was not the choice as Mench came on.

"I was a little disappointed," Douglas, the other half of the hurling duo that carried Rose to two state playoffs, said. "I was hoping to get into the game, but it just didn't work out that way."

North Carolina jumped on East Carolina's staff — and that was the only way to describe it as the Pirates used four — er, five — pitchers. One of those was regular outfielder John Hallow, who threw the final frame against the Heels.

"I don't know how the people in the stands felt," Coach Hal Baird said, "but right now this game was the least of my worries. We have four conference games in three days coming up (starting Friday) and we wanted to have everyone ready. The only people we didn't pitch were those we're counting on Friday. The rest only worked a little just to keep loose."

Drex Roberts opened the first with a single to right and Jeff Hubbard followed with a hit to center. Roberts circled the bases when the ball got past centerfielder Robert Wells, moving Hubbard to second. B.J. Surhoff singled to right and then stole second, and with one away, Mike Jedziniak grounded out, scoring Hubbard for a 2-0 lead.

The Heels added two more in the third. Hubbard opened with a walk and with two away, Pete Kumeiga homered to right to up the lead to 4-0. "It wasn't a bad pitch," Baird said of the effort by Robby McClanahan. "He hit it on the handle and just got it out of here."

Another homer in the fifth, off Chubby Butler, upped the lead to 5-0. That came off the bat off Roberts and went out of the park in near dead center.

The Heels picked up a sixth run in the eighth — in a move that might have been seen by some as an attempt to embarrass the Pirates. With one away, Jedziniak singled and took second when a pickoff attempt was errored. He moved to third on Todd Wilkinson's single, but waited there as Jon O'Leary's grounder got Wilkinson at third. The two then pulled a delayed double steal with Jedziniak scoring for a 6-0 lead.

The final three came in the ninth. Walt Weiss opened with a single and Roberts reached on an error. Hubbard singled, scoring Weiss, and an error on the relay allowed the other two runners to advance a base. Roberts then scored when Surhoff grounded out, and a wild pitch plated Hubbard for the final nine run total.

East Carolina, meanwhile, got nowhere against Williams, who had faced only one over the minimum during the first six innings. One other runner went down in a double play.

But in the eighth, he was lifted after striking out one batter, issuing his only walk to David Horne and allowing a second hit by Shank. Both moved up on a ground out, but got no further.

The Pirates got their lone run in the ninth. With two away, Hallow singled and Todd Evans also got a hit. Walks to Daniel Boone and Horne forced in Hallow, but a strikeout of Roger's brother, Mike Williams, ended the game.

"We're not really in their league this year," Baird said. "I hate to say it, but facts are facts. They are a very talented and if we played them ten times, I don't know if we'd win."

"I had hoped and thought that we'd do better with the bats, but we got behind with the court and never got on track. I did not expect (Williams) to pitch that well. He had the best stuff I've seen from him. It was an outstanding job and he was ahead of the hitters all night. I'm really surprised that Roberts took him out."

Drex Roberts and Hubbard led the Carolina hitting with three each, while Weiss had two. Shank's two led the Pirates.

North Carolina climbs to 33-7 with the win, while the Pirates fall to 15-12, losing their third straight.

East Carolina returns to action today, traveling to Williamsburg, Va., to face ECAC-South foe American University in a doubleheader. The Pirates then face William & Mary on Saturday and Richmond on Sunday.

Trevino Leads Heritage Open

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — It's coming to an end, Lee Trevino, said, those two years of frustration that made him a non-winning also-ran and even prompted thought of quitting competitive golf.

"It never crossed my mind that I might not win again," the 43-year-old Trevino said Thursday after he had played the back nine in a course record-matching 30 on the way to a 66 and a share of the first round lead in the $350,000 Sea Pines Heritage Classic.

"I'll win again this year. No question in my mind about it," Trevino said, then flashed that famous grin.

"And it might be a biggie. Yeah, it might be one of the biggies. I just might jump up and sting somebody."

He stung the 6,650-yard Harbour Town Golf Links — which he called his favorite course in the world — with six 3's on the back nine as he barged out of the pack late on a cloudy day and tied South African Mark McNulty and young Jodie Mudd for the top spot.

A single stroke off the lead at 67 were Donnie Hammond, Bob Eastwood, Larry Mize and Fuzzy Zoeller, the former Masters champion who twice holed from off the green.

Ben Crenshaw, who did not have a bogey in his round, topped the big group at 68. Also at that figure in the scoring that was exceptionally low for this course, were Steve Hart, Morris Hatafsky, Dan Forsman, Mac O'Grady, Jim Neiford and Scott Simpson.

Tom Watson, the defending champion and current holder of the U.S. and British Opens, struggled to an erratic 74 and was in danger of not qualifying for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

"I had four 6's," Watson said. "That's good in poker, not so good in golf." His round included an eagle-3, four birdies, three double bogeys and three bogeys.

Trevino's string of 14 consecutive seasons in which he had won at least once, a streak that started with his 1968 U.S. Open triumph, ended last year as he struggled through the worst season of his career.

He played in near-constant pain and eventually, late in the summer, had surgery on his back.

"I told you at San Antonio that if the back didn't get better I might quit," Trevino said.

"Well, the back is 100 percent now. I can play again. And I'm ahead of schedule. Off this round, I'm ahead of where I figured to be."

"I have to play a lot to play good. I have to play and practice a lot. That's why I never play good in the spring. It's too cold. And there isn't enough daylight for me to practice enough."

"This year, I've had a lot of television. And that's cut it down even more."

"But after the next couple of weeks, the TV schedule gets lighter. I start my real playing schedule at Houston (May 5-8)."

And would another victory be important to him?

"In the sense that it would grind me up inside, no," he said. "If I never won another one, I've already had more than my share, more than I ever expected to win."

"But it's important to me, yes. Winning again is very important to me."

"And I'll win again this year. No question about it."

Jamesville Blanks Mattamuskeet, 6-0

JAMESVILLE — Jamesville's Bullets kept their Tobacco Belt string intact yesterday with a 6-0 baseball victory over Mattamuskeet.

The Bullets got all they needed in the first inning, scoring once. Terry Perry walked and moved to third on two passed balls. He scored on Richie Ange's sacrifice.

Jamesville then added two more in the second for a 3-0 lead. Whit Brown reached on a fielder's choice and Neal Lilly walked. Perry walked to load them up and Greg Hardison singled in both Brown and Lilly.

The Bullets picked up two more in the fourth and one in the fifth.

Kevin Perry led the Jamesville hitting with two, while Harry Burrus had two of the three Mattamuskeet hits.

Now 5-0 in Tobacco Belt play, Jamesville is 7-2 overall. The Bullets host Bath on Tuesday.

EBA Takes 3rd Straight

E.B. Aycock's Jaguars romped to a 16-3 baseball victory over Kinston yesterday.

Tyrone Jones hurled the win, allowing only one hit by Kinston.

Dwight Smith led the Aycock hitting with four, including a triple. Eric Jarman and James Matthews each added two hits.

Aycock is now 3-0 and plays at Nash Central on Tuesday.

Bethel.....6
Chicod.....5
CHICOD — Chicod and Bethel split a pair of junior high school ball games yesterday.

Bethel downed Chicod, 6-5, in the boys' baseball game, winning in nine innings.

Ken Grimes won the game in relief. Jarvis Massenburg had a two-run homer in the fifth inning to force the extra frames for Bethel.

Chicod's hitting was led by Mike Mills, Danny Boyd and Kevin Smith, each with two.

Chicod is now 0-2, while Bethel is 1-1.

In the girls' softball game, Chicod took a 14-4 win behind the pitching of Rhonda Jackson.

Winfield Paces Yankees

By The Associated Press
Dave Winfield confined his aggressiveness to home plate and the basepaths and got the New York Yankees back on the right track.

Winfield, thrown out of Wednesday night's loss to Detroit when he jumped on pitcher Dave Rozema in the fifth inning after a pitch sailed over his head, jumped on a Jack Morris pitch in the fifth inning Thursday night. He ripped it for a tie-breaking single that led to a three-run burst and a 6-3 victory over the Tigers.

In other American League action, the Chicago White Sox outlasted Baltimore 12-11, Milwaukee defeated Toronto 5-4 and Oakland beat Seattle 5-3. Minnesota postponed its game with California because of snow outside the Metrodome and Texas' game in Cleveland was rained out with the Rangers leading 4-1 in the fourth inning.

"We're 3-5. That's inconsistent," Winfield said of the Yankees' sputtering start. "We just haven't gotten untracked on offense or defense and our pitching hasn't been up to snuff."

It was Thursday night. Dave Righetti, who has two of the Yankees' three victories and fanned seven batters before George Frazier took over with two outs in the seventh and picked up the save.

"We played aggressively," said Winfield. We took it to them. And Righetti was right. He pitched good again. He pitched seven strong innings. And when we're ahead late in the game, we're in good shape."

"It's early, but it's good to get a game like that," said Righetti. "We needed the win."

With the score tied 2-2 in the fifth, Ken Griffey doubled and scored on Winfield's hit. Winfield sprinted from first to third when left fielder Larry Herndon threw home and the throw was wild. He came home on Steve Kemp's grounder and the Yanks got another run on a walk to Don Baylor, Roy Smalley's single and a grounder by Graig Nettles. Smalley homered in the seventh.

White Sox 12, Orioles 11
The temperature was near freezing, the wind was howling, rain and snow spilled down on Chicago's Comiskey Park.

"Let's face it," said Baltimore Manager Joe Altobelli, "we're talking about a game that's supposed to be played in the summertime."

Rookie Ron Kittle, who had a three-run homer in Chicago's six-run fifth inning, hit a two-run single in the three-run eighth that finally subdued Baltimore. Kittle also had a first-inning sacrifice fly in the game, which took almost four hours to complete.

"I was glad to get the game over," he said. "I had plastic bags over my feet."

Brewers 5, Blue Jays 4
Jim Gantner's tie-breaking two-out homer in the ninth inning gave Milwaukee its victory over the Blue Jays. The Brewers pulled into the 4-4 tie with two runs in the eighth on Robin Yount's single, Cecil Cooper's triple and Ted Simmons' single. Willie Upshaw had an inside-the-park homer for Toronto, a loop to short left that skipped past diving Ben Oglivie.

A's 5, Mariners 3
Wayne Gross' two-run homer and RBI single carried Oakland to its fifth victory in the past six games.

Gross' first-inning homer came after Bill Almon, who had singled, was safe with a stolen base when shortstop Todd Cruz dropped the throw. His infield single drove in the first of three runs in the third inning. Chris Codiroli was the winner with relief from Dave Beard, who gave up Ken Phelps' homer.

Rams' Fourth Keys 9-5 Win

SNOW HILL — Greene Central exploded for eight runs in the fourth inning and gained a 9-5 baseball win over Charles B. Aycock High School last night.

Aycock grabbed the initial lead in the first inning, scoring twice. Greene Central came back with one in the bottom of the frame, but the Falcons picked up one in the second for a 3-1 lead.

Then, in the fourth, the Rams blew the game open with their eight runs to take a 9-3 lead. With one away, Todd Grant singled and Otis Barnes reached on an error. Kevin Langston walked, loading the bases. Michael Warren then singled to score Grant. After a second out, Tommy Goff's single plated Barnes and Langston and James Moore walked to reload the bases. Richie Chase then tripled, scoring all three runners. Rusty Murphy walked, and an error on a double steal allowed both Chase and Murphy to score, ending the rally.

Aycock picked up two more in the fifth, but never really threatened to overcome the Rams.

Goff led the Ram hitting with two, while John Thomas and Johnny Carr each had two for Aycock.

Greene Central is now 2-1 in Eastern Carolina Conference play and 8-3 overall. The Rams travel to Southern Nash on Tuesday.

Tiger Rally Nips Ahoskie, 10-9

WILLIAMSTON — Williamston High School rallied for three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning and pulled out a 10-9 baseball victory over Ahoskie High School yesterday.

Williamston took the initial lead in the first inning of the game, scoring twice, then added two more in the third. Ahoskie struck back with five in the fourth and after Williamston pushed back ahead with two in the bottom of the frame, added two in the top of the fifth for a 7-6 lead.

Ahokie added two more in the sixth and Williamston got one in the bottom to give the Cougars a 9-7 lead.

But in the seventh, Williamston rallied for the win. Keith Perry opened with a walk and Glenn Hardison also got a free trip to first. Troy Raynor then singled in Perry. A passed ball let Hardison cross. Gray Thomas kept things going for the

Jags Take Golf Match

ZEBULON — Art Roberson of Zebulon fired a 67 to capture low individual honors, but it wasn't enough to hold off Farmville Central's Jaguars as they defeated Roanoke Rapids and Zebulon 298-322-400 in Thursday golf action.

Gary Hobgood fired a 71 for Farmville, while teammate Darryl Baker shot a 74, Alan Wooten 76 and Scott Lewis 77.

Holt Ward led Roanoke Rapids with a 78, followed by David Knott at 79, Rob Foster at 82 and Doug Thompson at 83. Bryan Bobbitt struggled through a round of 100 for Zebulon, Lee Liles shot 112 and Patrick Williams 121.

Jamesville Girls Still Unbeaten

JAMESVILLE — Jamesville High School's unbeaten girls rolled to a 22-3 softball victory over Matamoras yesterday.

Matamoras took a brief lead with a run in the top of the first, but Jamesville came back with three in the bottom of the frame. The Lady Bullets added two in the second and eight in the third. They finished off the Lady Lakers with nine in the fourth. Matamoras' other two runs came in the seventh.

Lori Hardison and Annette Brown each had three hits for Jamesville, while Donna Coburn, Kim Floyd, Kathy Williams and Robin Manning each had two. Floyd and Williams each cracked homers, while Brown blasted a pair of roundtrippers.

Jamesville is now 5-0 overall and 4-0 in Tobacco Belt play. The Lady Bullets host Bath on Tuesday.

TANK McNAMARA

YOUR NAME WILL BE ENGRAVED ON THE TROPHY, AND YOU GET TO KEEP IT FOR A YEAR.

THANKS, BUT I DON'T THINK I HAVE ANY PLACE TO—

MAYBE I'D BETTER REPHRASE THAT. YOU HAVE TO KEEP IT FOR A YEAR.

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

GIFT GIVING IN BIBLICAL TIMES

IN THE BIBLE, GIFTS HAVE BEEN GIVEN FOR COUNTLESS REASONS. BY FATHERS TO SONS, AS A DOWRY TO A DAUGHTER ON HER MARRIAGE, BY THE BRIDEGROOM TO THE FATHER OF THE BRIDE, TO FELLOW MEN OUT OF GOOD WILL OR TO SECURE A FAVOR. AS A CASE IN POINT, TAKE THE EXAMPLE OF JACOB'S GIFTS TO HIS BROTHER ESAU. JACOB, AFTER YEARS OF SEPARATION FROM HIS BROTHER, WAS FACED WITH THE GRIM FACT HE MUST MEET ESAU WHOM HE HAD WRONGED IN THE PAST. AS A GIFT OF REPENTANCE HERE IS WHAT JACOB GAVE: "TWO HUNDRED SHE-GOATS, AND TWENTY HE-GOATS, TWO HUNDRED EVES, AND TWENTY RAMS, THIRTY MILCH CAMELS WITH THEIR COLTS, FORTY KINE, AND TEN BULLS, TWENTY SHE-ASSES, AND TEN FOALS." THAT'S SAYING YOU ARE SORRY IN A BIG WAY! THE GIFTS REQUIRED TO BARTER FOR A WIFE WERE ALSO VERY IMPORTANT WHEN ONE REALIZES THAT THE CONCERNED FATHER OF THE BRIDEGROOM HAD TO ARRANGE FOR THEM TO BE TRANSPORTED.....

...STURDY CAMELS ARE LOADED WITH FOOD, WATER, WINE, GARMENTS, AND RICH GIFTS OF SILKS, AND FINE WOOLS—NOT TO MENTION SHEKELS OF GOLD, AND TALENTS OF SILVER, FOR OBTAINING A WIFE IS A VERY COSTLY AFFAIR, AND SERIOUS, AS LONG JOURNEYS THROUGH THE WILD COUNTRY OF THESE ANCIENT TIMES ARE FILLED WITH MANY DANGERS AND HARDSHIPS!

'Stamping Out' Bible Illiteracy

By FRANK BLANCHARD

Associated Press Writer
BUFORD, Ga. (AP) — John Hutchins' one-man campaign to "stamp out Bible illiteracy" has convinced the editors of some encyclopedias and dictionaries that their publications needed revising.

Hutchins, a 56-year-old Buford resident who publishes pamphlets on English grammar and writing, says he's "concerned about people who talk about the Bible from an authoritarian standpoint who have never read it."

"It bugs me to see so-called Bible scholars who are not familiar with the Biblical text," he said in a recent interview. "I'm not trying to embarrass anybody. There's something almost sacred about the record. I just want to keep it straight."

Hutchins' crusade began in October 1980 when he was watching a television game show in which a contestant was asked the name of the dancer in the Bible who requested the execution of John the Baptist.

The contestant answered, "Salome," and the emcee declared the answer was correct. But Hutchins disagreed and called the producer of the show, who stood by the answer, citing standard reference sources.

Hutchins said showed several dictionaries and encyclopedias gave the name of the dancer as Salome, and some cited Scripture after the entry. But Hutchins said the name Salome does not appear in the Biblical story about an unnamed dancer asking for the execution of John the Baptist. And he began informing reference book editors.

Hutchins said he has received letters promising revisions of entries on Salome from Columbia University Press, Keter Publishing House in Jerusalem, The Encyclopedia Americana and The World Book Encyclopedia.

"You just look in the Bible and he was right," said Daniel O. Zeff, humanities editor for World Book.

The encyclopedia's entry read, in part, "Salome ... is the Biblical character who is said to have caused the beheading of John the Baptist ... According to the Biblical story, Salome danced at a birthday party for Herod."

"Sometimes these things creep in," Zeff said. "My gut feeling is that this is an article that is so old that maybe some of our preventative maintenance measures weren't in place."

Zeff said the text of the encyclopedia would be revised to remove any direct reference to Salome as a character named in that part of the Bible.

Hutchins also objected to other Biblical myths, such as the three wise men. "The Bible never mentions three wise men," he said. "It mentions that the wise men brought three gifts."

CHAPTER AND VERSE — Publisher John Hutchins points to the 6th verse, 14th chapter of the Book of Matthew which does not say "Salome danced". Hutchins' campaign to "stamp out Bible illiteracy" has caused several reference books to revise their text. (AP Laserphoto)

Tonight's The Night For Paying Taxes

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of taxpayers are lining up in banks, accountants' offices and at post offices today to square things with Uncle Sam for another year.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for most couples and individuals to file their 1982 tax returns, and members of Congress seized the opportunity Thursday to assail the tax system as complex and unfair, and to offer their own plans for cleaning it up.

Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., and Rep. Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., unveiled a refinement of their simplified tax that attracted widespread interest last year. It would wipe out most deductions, most people would pay a 14 percent tax rate and 70 percent of taxpayers would get a tax cut.

Sen. Dan Quayle, R-Ind., proposed a similar plan. And another proposal, by Rep.

Leon Panetta, D-Calif., would allow a four-member family $13,333 income without paying taxes.

The system is "beginning to crumble under its own weight," Gephardt said. "But help is on the way."

Don't hold your breath. Sponsors of tax-simplification plans agree there is little chance Congress will approve any wholesale revamping of the income tax in the next several years.

In the meantime, between 5 million and 10 million couples and individuals faced the task of completing their returns and getting them postmarked before midnight.

The Internal Revenue Service estimated that instead of filing their returns, as many as 3 million others would file a Form 4968 with a payment of estimated taxes by midnight, and wait as late as Aug. 15 before filing a completed return.

When all 1982 tax returns have been filed, there should be between 96 million and 97 million of them, up about 1 million from last year. Close to 80 percent will get refunds.

If you think your taxes are a little lower, you're right — but not by much. The Tax Foundation, a nonprofit group, estimates the average worker will have to work eight hours a day through May 2 this year just to pay 1983 taxes. That's one day fewer than last year, due mostly to the phased-in reduction in federal income taxes.

Figured another way, the foundation estimates the average person spends two hours and 40 minutes of each working day just earning money to pay state, local and federal taxes. That is one minute less than last year. The federal share is one hour and 44 minutes — easily the biggest claim on earnings.

Housing takes 94 minutes a day; food, 67 minutes; transportation, 43 minutes; medical care, 35 minutes; clothing, 22 minutes, recreation, 21 minutes, and all other, including savings, 38 minutes.

The figures are somewhat misleading, however, because they assume that all taxes are paid by individuals and none by businesses.

The IRS, knowing from experience that the number of errors on tax returns increases sharply as taxpayers rush to meet the deadline, cautioned against carelessness.

"When your return is ready to mail, go through and check all the arithmetic once more," advised IRS spokesman Larry Batdorf.

Some other IRS tips for last-minute filers: Use the stick-on label that accompanied your tax forms; be sure to use the appropriate lines on your return; double-check to see that you look at the correct line on the tax table when you figure your tax, and don't forget to stamp the envelope.

Errors in arithmetic and similar miscues are caught quickly by IRS computers. But if you're expecting a refund, an error will cause a delay.

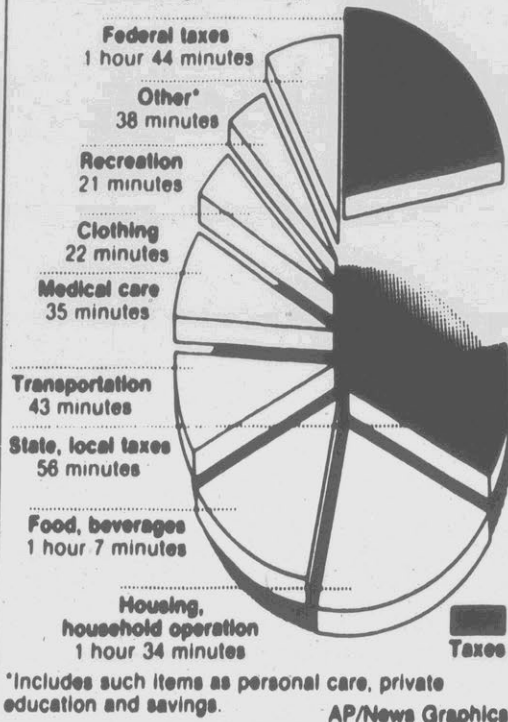

More than half of all taxpayers hire somebody to help fill out their returns. And many of the last-minute filers apparently were making trips to the bank to open an Individual Retirement Account to lower their tax bills.

Financial institutions have reported heavy interest in IRAs over the past several days. A worker may exempt up to $2,000 from taxation by buying an IRA ($2,250 for a couple with one non-working spouse). No tax is due on the money or interest it earns until it is withdrawn at age 59½ or later. The IRA may be purchased anytime before the tax return is filed.

Offer Help On Housing

A program to aid individuals and family members become aware of housing alternatives available for the ill, handicapped and elderly has been scheduled Wednesday at the Gaylor Perry Recreation Park in Williamston.

The program, "Your House or Mine," is sponsored by the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service. A hospitality period will start at 9:30 a.m. followed by sessions on leader-training tips and how to share the information, financial aspects of alternative housing and a discussion of emotional aspects as well as a panel of residents from various types of housing.

After lunch, tours will be conducted to several area alternative housing situations including the N.C. Baptist Home in Hamilton, Santree Retirement Center, Albemarle Villa Nursing Home and Moratock Village Retirement Community in Williamston.

Registration is $8 per person and includes hospitality, lunch and lesson kits. It is due by 10 a.m. Monday and checks may be made payable to Alternative Housing Seminary, Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service, 1717 W. Fifth St., Greenville, 27834. Late registration is $10. For information call Evelyn Spangler at 752-2934.

NUCLEAR PLANT
MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and Poland on Thursday signed an agreement to cooperate in building Poland's first nuclear power plant, the official news agency Tass reports.

DESPERATE LOSER

New White Blood Cell May Have Been Found

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Scientists at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill say they may have discovered a new form of human blood cell that probably plays a role in fighting infection.

They call the new cell type the neutrophil pseudoplatelet and say it is the offspring of a common infection-fighting white cell that until now was not thought to evolve into other forms.

Dr. Jacob S. Harker, professor at the university's Dental Research Center, and Beverly L. Giammara, senior electron microscopist at the Microelectronics Center of North Carolina, described their discovery in the April 22 issue of the journal Science.

Harker said he and other scientists had seen examples of the new cell form before but had always assumed that they were blood platelets — very small cells that assist in blood clotting.

Using a new staining technique that Harker and others developed, Ms. Giammara first observed the neutrophil pseudoplatelets under the microscope in the blood and bone marrow of myeloid leukemia patients.

When she asked Harker what they were, he first thought they were blood platelets that were enlarged as a result of the leukemia.

But further examination showed granules containing an enzyme characteristic of neutrophils but never found in true platelets. That telltale enzyme is called myeloperoxidase.

The scientists now believe that the distinctive lobe-shaped segments of the neutrophil nucleus can separate into smaller pieces, each of which becomes the center of a pseudoplatelet.

Harker said the purpose of the new cell type is not known now, but it probably plays a major role in the body's control of infection.

"We have found that the neutrophil pseudoplatelet is most common in areas of inflammation and in pus," he said.

But not all of their possible effects are beneficial. If they release powerful enzymes into the diseased joints of arthritic patients, for example, they could make the illness worse.

The scientists say the pseudoplatelet is much smaller than the neutrophil and speculate that it may be able to migrate to areas of infected tissue that neutrophils cannot reach.

Ms. Giammara said the new cell type probably had been responsible for inaccurately high counts of platelets in the blood of some leukemia patients.

If you haven't filled out your federal income tax forms yet, you'd better get to work. Those forms must be postmarked by midnight tonight. The Internal Revenue Service expects to hear from about 96 million taxpayers this year, who will pay an average of $3,300 into the IRS coffers. In total, the government should take in about $650 billion. The IRS also figures to lose about $100 billion in tax revenue because of workers and businesses that cheat. But the federal government has cracked down on people who try to save more than they should on their taxes. More than half of those who were prosecuted for tax evasion in 1982 are now in jail.

DO YOU KNOW—Which U.S. Vice President was forced to resign because of tax evasion charges?

THURSDAY'S ANSWER—The Somoza family controlled the Nicaraguan government from 1936 until 1979.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, APR. 16, 1983

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you are able to find out more readily just where you are headed. It's advisable that you handle any questionable matters in the right manner. Study to gain knowledge.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take time to make plans for the future. Be more sociable with persons of character and influence. Show that you have poise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Engage in activities today that appeal to you the most. Put prejudices aside for best results. Show devotion to loved one.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Getting together with good friends today is worthwhile. Show that you are a wise and considerate person.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make sure you carry through with agreements you've made with others. You can easily handle a civic affair now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal day to start building on a new foundation that could increase your income. Be more willing to accept change.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study the promises you have made and be sure to carry through conscientiously. Come to a fine accord with loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good time to improve your surroundings. Don't permit an opponent to take unfair advantage of you. Be happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take care of matters you were unable to do earlier in the week. A good time to catch up on your reading. Be more optimistic.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A day to engage in recreations you really enjoy. Showing more affection for loved one is wise at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If the situation is tense at home, don't make matters worse by using the wrong words. Count your blessings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle communications in a most intelligent way and remain cool at all times today. Obtain important data you need.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study new ways of advancing in your line of endeavor. Look to a successful person for new ideas. Relax at home tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be full of ideas, but should be taught to differentiate between the good and the bad. Your progeny requires a good academic training in order to become successful. Religion is a must in this chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Two weeks ago we published this problem. The question was whether, after the lead of the ten of diamonds, you can make six no trump against best defense.

The answer is yes! Win the diamond in dummy and lead the eight of hearts. If East plays low, you finesse the nine of hearts and lead a low spade toward the jack. The rest is easy.

However, East can foil this by inserting the jack of hearts. Win the queen and lead a low spade toward the jack. West must grab the queen and shift to the king of clubs. You are forced to win this, and now you have no entry to the long spades.

To counter, you simply run your red-suit winners, coming down to this position:

Declarer cashes the table's

SHELL GAME AT THE TABLE

last heart, and West is hopelessly squeezed. If he discards a club, declarer makes the last four tricks with two in each black suit. If, instead, West sluffs a spade, declarer makes the queen of clubs and three spades.

Strangely enough, the seemingly superior contract of six spades cannot be made. After similar defense, declarer is stuck on the table with no way of getting to his hand to draw the last trumps.

If he ruffs a red card low, West overruffs; if he ruffs high, he promotes a trump trick for West.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department says the United States is trying to negotiate a tax treaty with the Netherlands Antilles that would close a giant loophole used mainly by residents of third countries to dodge U.S. taxes.

The existing treaty between the United States and the six-island Caribbean nation is subject to widespread abuse, John E. Chapoton, assistant treasury secretary, told a House panel.

The Internal Revenue Service estimates the United States loses billions of dollars in taxes each year because money is shifted to or laundered through other countries. The Netherlands Antilles has become the biggest of these so-called tax havens. The most famous of them, Switzerland, ranks second.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip — ACADEMY THAT SMART HOLMES ATTENDED — ELEMENTARY SCHOOL.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals T.

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

The Forecast For Saturday, April 16

• Low Temperatures

Rain

Snow

Flurries

Fronts: Cold Warm Occluded Stationary

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecasts sunny weather for most of the nation on Saturday. Rain and showers are expected for New York and New England. (AP Laserphoto Map)

By The Associated Press

The rain should clear out of North Carolina as a cold front moves off the coast late tonight and early Saturday.

As the cold front moves off the North Carolina coast early Saturday, high pressure over the lower Mississippi valley will build across the state. This area of high pressure will bring fair weather to the Tar Heel state over the weekend.

However some colder temperatures will come with the fair weather. By Sunday morning temperatures will drop into the 30s statewide with a possibility of some 20s in the mountains. This will present a threat of some frost or freeze across much of the state.

Around the state yesterday, skies were mostly cloudy with some showers across the mountains.

Requests Approved

Police Chief Glenn Cannon has announced the approval of two requests for solicitation permits in Greenville.

He said the requests were submitted by: University City Kiwanis Club to conduct a pancake sale May 4 to raise funds for the Boys' Club project; and by the Pitt County Shrine Club to conduct a sidewalk solicitation May 6-7 to support the Burn & Crippled Children's Hospital.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

Fair Sunday through Tuesday; beginning chilly with a gradual warming trend. Lows Sunday morning in 30s, moderating to mostly 40s by Tuesday morning. Highs Sunday in the low 60s, warming into low 70s on Tuesday.

Pollen Keeping Allergists Busy

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Doctors say the plague of springtime has returned to the state. Pollen is in the air and driving people to their local allergists.

"We start to see problems sometimes as early as mid-March, and they continue until the first hard freeze," said Dr. David F. Boerner, an allergist at Wake Internal Medicine.

"And now is the worst time of the year."

The greenish substance sticking to car windshields is composed mainly of pine pollen, said George Hughes, extension horticulturist at N.C. State University. Pine pollen, he said, is heavier than most pollens and tends to settle on the ground quickly, making it less likely to irritate respiratory tracts.

Japanese Flock To Disneyland Opening

By EUGENE MOOSA Associated Press Writer URAYASU, Japan (AP) — It was great weather for ducks, and Donald was there. So were an estimated 20,000 Japanese undeterred by a very un-California-like downpour today to see the grand opening of Tokyo Disneyland.

In the opening ceremony this morning, Mickey and Minnie Mouse, Goofy, Pluto and Donald Duck stood on Main Street and held a tricolor ribbon which was cut by Masatomo Takahashi, president of the Japanese firm which developed the park, and E. Cardon Walker, chairman of Walt Disney Productions.

The only Disneyland outside of the United States is a replica of the original park at Anaheim, Calif. Built at a cost of $630 million, it is located on 204 acres of reclaimed land at Urayasu, just east of Tokyo.

"We have reservations for 2 million guests already," Norimasa Ohshiro, a park spokesman.

He said the owners expect more than 10 million visitors per year, paying an admission fee of $10.50 for adults and $6.30 for children under 11.

Managed, financed and operated by Oriental Land Co., a Japanese real estate firm, the park was planned and designed by Walt Disney Productions. Walt Disney Productions receives 10 percent of the entrance fees and a 5 percent royalty on sales of foods and merchandise.

The first visitor to enter the premises today was Ichiro Sugiura, a 19-year-old college student who said he had taken his place at 10 p.m. Thursday night.

As soon as the gates were open, many Japanese teenage girls rushed to souvenir shops and donned Mickey Mouse caps while middle-aged couples roamed near the park's central monument, Cinderella Castle.

Tokyo Disneyland features four original attractions, as well as 28 exhibits and rides modeled after those at Disneyland in Anaheim and Disney World in Orlando, Fla., Ohshiro said.

"Meet the World" gives viewers an animated view of 3,000 years of Japanese history in a rotating theater, while an 18-minute panoramic film called "Eternal Sea" takes viewers on a simulated trek along the ocean floor.

"Mickey Mouse Revue" traces the history of the popular Disney character by advanced computer-aided robotics and "Pinocchio's Daring Journey" takes a visitor through an adventure ride in Fantasyland.

The park should bring major changes to Urayasu, a one-time fishing village which faces Tokyo Bay and has 60,000 residents. A train line to the park is not due until 1987 and a new highway exit is six months behind schedule, so Disneyland crowds are expected to cram the city center and its narrow streets.

As a gesture of thanks for putting up with the traffic jams, Disneyland opened its park free-of-charge to Urayasu residents on Monday and Tuesday. City officials promptly declared a two-day school holiday.

HELP FROM MICKEY — Walt Disney Board Chairman E. Cardon Walker, right, and Oriental Land Co., Ltd., President Masatomo Takahashi cut the ribbon Friday to open the new $630 million Disneyland in Japan. (AP Laserphoto)
