Marines Pull Out, Clashes In Beirut

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U.S. Marines settled into new quarters on Navy ships off Beirut's coast today while rebel militiamen took over some of the Americans' vacated bunkers at the international airport.

Shortly after the Marines completed their pullout Sunday, the battleship New Jersey shelled Syrian positions that fired at and missed a U.S. reconnaissance plane. Leaders of the Syrian-backed insurgents reportedly called the U.S. ambassador to protest the shelling.

Fighting between government troops and the rebels subsided today after day-long skirmishes in downtown Beirut Sunday. An American priest and a French soldier were among those killed.

About 1,000 Marines pulled out of their fortified bunkers at the airport during a 12-hour operation that ended at midday Sunday, when the last amphibious personnel carrier splashed into the Mediterranean and headed for the 6th Fleet ships off the Beirut coast, where the troops will remain.

"Good for them, good for us, good for everybody," said Abu Mustafa, 26, one of the Shiite Moslem militiamen and breakaway army soldiers that quickly moved into the area left by the Marines.

Only about 100 Marines remain in Beirut to guard the U.S. Embassy. Another 87 Army advisers and staff members are stationed at the Lebanese Defense Ministry.

An hour after the Marines left, the New Jersey began firing its 16-inch guns at Syrian anti-aircraft batteries in the mountains northeast of Beirut which had fired at a U.S. reconnaissance jet.

A military spokesman in the Syrian capital of Damascus said there were no Syrian casualties.

Druse and Shiite opposition leaders telephoned U.S. Ambassador Reginald Barholomew to protest the bombardment and others like it, the leftist newspaper As-Safir reported today.

It said Nabih Berri, leader of the Shiite Amal militia, and Marwan Hamadeh, senior aide to Druse leader Walid Jumblatt, complained that American firepower was used when Beirut's Christian sector comes under shellfire, but not when Christians shell the Moslem sector.

Berri noted that President Reagan had vowed to respond to attacks on any parts of "greater Beirut."

As-Safir said Bartholomew responded by saying, "We shell when we are shelled or when bombardment is close to us."

The shelling Sunday was the first time since Feb. 8 that the New Jersey had fired its biggest guns.

Political Standoff On Highway Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — A political standoff on Capitol Hill is blocking release of nearly $5 billion in road money, leaving interstate highway projects on the verge of shutting down while state and federal officials warn that the entire construction season may be lost.

Political squabbling over legislation to release the money, raging since October, has escalated into a struggle of wills between House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., and the Reagan administration, sources close to the dispute said.

A dozen governors, in Washington for their annual winter meeting, plan to take the matter up with Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole and most plan to lobby home-state congressmen, too.

Indiana Gov. Robert Orr, chairman of the National Governors' Association's transportation committee, told colleagues, however, that despite their efforts the money may be locked up for another three to six months.

"This would be disastrous to highway programs in many states, causing loss of an entire construction season at a time when unemployment (in the industry) is high and causing project costs to escalate due to delay," Orr said.

Before money for Interstate construction can be distributed, Congress must approve an Interstate Cost Estimate. Once a routine process, this has been engulfed in pork barrel politics with the issue focusing on a project to expand a key portion of highway that runs through central Boston.

The Federal Highway Administration opposes a Massachusetts plan to put the now-elevated Boston Central Artery underground as part of the Interstate program.

O'Neill insists that the the 15-year, $1.9 billion project must be included in the overall cost estimate legislation. Massachusetts officials argue the project already had been included, but that the Reagan administration dropped it.

"The speaker is determined to preserve the state's interest," an aide to O'Neill said.

While declaring the need for releasing the federal funds is urgent, the Reagan administration has threatened to veto any legislation with "unnecessary special-interest provisions."

Industry sources as well as both state and federal officials said in interviews that the issue has gone far beyond one involving highways and highway construction.

One Capitol Hill source, friendly to O'Neill's position, said the administration now views the situation as a political standoff.

Precincts

Democratic precinct meetings will be held March 1 at 8 p.m. at every precinct polling place in Pitt County.

Democratic Party Chairman Katheryn Lewis said the main order of business will be the election of delegates to the April 14 county convention, and the nomination of delegates to the district and state conventions. Every registered Democrat is eligible to attend and participate.

The precincts will also make plans for the May primary and November general elections, and voter registration and fund-raising activities.

Escalation For Iranians, Iraqi

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Iranian and Iraqi forces battled on the ground and in the skies today near a crucial supply route linking Iraq's two largest cities. Iraq said it shot down four helicopters, and Iran said it downed two jets.

An Iraqi military communique said jet fighters shot down four Iranian helicopters and damaged a fifth today after they tried to fire rockets at ground troops near the Baghdad-Basra highway.

The statement also claimed an Iranian plane was shot down by anti-aircraft fire east of Basra on Sunday.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency, monitored in Nicosia, said its troops "crushed" four Iraqi counterattacks overnight near Nashwa, along the highway north of Basra.

IRNA said two Iraqi jets were shot down in the area, bringing to six the number of Iraqi jets Iran claims to have downed there since its massive offensive began last Gednesday. Iran says 10 Iraqi helicopters also have been shot down.

IRNA, monitored in Nicosia, claimed the Iraqis suffered "heavy casualties" and lost 40 tanks, armored personnel carriers and other military equipment.

IRNA reported Sunday that Iraqi planes hit Islamabad-Gharb in the western province of Baktaran and the village of Kuhdasht in Lurestan province on Sunday, killing 67 people and wounding more than 230 others.

Baghdad Radio said formations of Iraqi jets attacked in three waves, "hitting and devastating important military installations of the enemy."

Hart Hopes Soaring On Primary Eve

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
AP Political Writer

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — While Democratic presidential candidates are fighting to keep front-runner Walter F. Mondale within political striking distance, the Rev. Jesse Jackson has grabbed the spotlight on the eve of New Hampshire's make-or-break primary with a dramatic admission that he used the word "Hymie" to refer to Jews.

In an appearance at Temple Adath Yeshurun in Manchester, Jackson said Sunday night he used the term in a private conversation, but "it was not in a spirit of meanness. ... However innocent and unintended, it was insensitive and wrong."

Until then, Jackson repeatedly had said he could not remember using the term "Hymie," which is short for the surname Hyman and is considered offensive by many Jews.

The admission came at the end of a day in which most candidates were taking pains to insist they were staying in the race while conceding that thei might have trouble keeping Mondale from ending it with a big win on Tuesday.

Only Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado, the surprise second-place finisher in the Iowa caucuses last week, sounded unwaveringly optimistic on Sunday as seven of the eight candidates campaigned in the state.

"I will win this nomination, I am absolutely sure," Hart said on the CBS program "Face the Nation."

The latest poll out of New Hampshire indicated a dramatic increase in Hart's position. When asked if he thought he could win the primary, he said there "are always chances for miracles."

"I think I eventually will win some primaries and I think it will be fairly soon," he said. "This may or may not be the first."

But the same ABC-Washington Post poll that said Hart was supported by 24 percent had Mondale leading with 38 percent. Sen. John Glenn, trying to rebound from a disappointing finish in Iowa, had 14 percent and the Rev. Jesse Jackson was fourth at 7 percent.

The poll was based on inerviews from Feb. 22 to 24 with 351 Democrats who said they intended to vote in the primary.

A Boston Globe poll of 487 likely primary voters conducted from Feb. 12 through 14 said: Mondale 36 percent; Glenn 16 percent; Hart 13 percent; Jackson 10 percent; McGovern 6 percent; Cranston 5 percent; Hollings 5 percent; Askew 3 percent; the rest undecided.

Campaigning Sunday in Maine and Vermont, Mondale continued to ignore his Democratic rivals and concentrate on criticizing President Reagan.

Mondale's final pre-primary appearance in New Hampshire was greeting workers as they arrived today at the Myrna Shoe factory in Manchester. In 20-degree weather, he shook hands with arriving workers and reminded them to vote.

Sen. Ernest Hollings was on the ABC program "This Week with David Brinkley" and said that if Mondale wins big on Tuesday, "It's not only going to be the first primary, it's going to be the last."

Glenn was on the NBC program "Meet the Press" and insisted he would "stay in this thing to stay."

"When you get into something for principle you don't just drop out the first time there happens to be a negative poll," he said.

Sen. Alan Cranston of California also was on "Face the Nation" and he said, "We take the campaign from week to week. Right now it's New Hampshire, next week it's Maine, and we will see where we are."

Interviewed on the Brinkley show, former Sen. George McGovern said, "I'm not going to drop out after New Hampshire." Then he added, "If you start coming in fifth, sixth, seventh or eighth, you're not going to be around very long." McGovern was buoyed by a third-place finish in Iowa.

Four Pupils Punished For Taking Prescription Drug

Four A.G. Cox students, who were handed a three-day suspension from school last week for having prescription drugs on the school's campus, returned to classes today without incident, school officials reported.

According to Johnny Pinner, assistant principal at Cox, the students, whose named were not released, resumed normal schedules this morning after completing disciplinary action for possession of Ritalin, a central nervous system depressant, on school premises. Pinner gave the four girls age 12-14 a suspension after he reportedly caught them using the drug in a school restroom.

"One young lady had a brother taking the drug for hyperactivity," said Pinner. "She brought about a half-dozen or so 10 miligram capsules to school and she took a couple, then three of her friends took one." Pinner said he confiscated the remaining capsules, then suspended the youths.

A number of parents in the school's attendance area reported they did not feel the punishment was severe enough and were worried that their children might have been offered the drug, but Pinner said he doesn't think so.

"It was each student's first offense," said the assistant principal. "They were not selling it and none of them are problems at school."

A.G. Cox Principal William Strickland said today the students were likely "seeking attention as much as possible."

Pinner held a two-phased conference with the parents of each student and asked Winterville Police Chief Keith Knox to speak with the girls.

"It's important here to look at the kind of students we're dealing with," said Pinner. "The girl that brought the drug to school also used it as a child."

Pitt County's newly revised policy manual takes a "no time, no where" stand on drug use on school campuses. The code of student conduct forbids the possession or use of narcotics, alcohol, hallucinogenic or intoxicating drugs on school premises or during school activities off campus.

The policy, however, does not provide a specific punishment for offenses. It mandates that the problem be dealt with by the principal or his designee and that their judgement be used regarding punishment.

"The girl that brought it (Ritalin) shouldn't have," said Pinner, "and the other girls had a chance to use good judgement and did not do so."

Pat's Pointers

By Pat Trexler

Knit a seamless sweater with a sunburst yoke of mock cables all in one piece on circular needles. Use the same easy pattern stitch for the bands and ribbings.

The easy-to-follow directions are written for small (10-12), medium (14-16) and large (18-20) sizes. A heathery blend of wool and acrylic was used for the model sweater, but 4-ply worsted-weight yarn in wool or synthetic may be substituted.

To obtain directions for making the Sunburst Cardigan, send your request for Leaflet No. KL-0226 with $1 and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Pat Trexler ("The Daily Reflector), P.O. Box 810, North Myrtle Beach, S.C. 29597.

Or you may order Kit No. K-0226 by sending a check or money order for $18.50 for small and medium sizes or $20.50 for the large size to Pat Trexler at the same address. The kit price includes Brunswick heatherblend yarn, full instructions and shipping charges. Please specify your choice of the following heathery shades: ocean blue, boysenberry (a rosy pink), wheat, daffodil or ecru.

Perhaps you would like to try working a mock cable before you decide to order the directions or the kit for today's feature sweater. With any yarn, and needles suitable for that type of yarn, cast on a multiple of 4 stitches plus 2. If "multiple" is a puzzler for you, this simply means to cast on any number of stitches evenly divisible by 4 and then cast on 2 more.

Rows 1 and 3: Knit 2 (purl 2, knit 2). Repeat the steps within parentheses across to the end of the row. These will be wrong-side rows.

Row 2: Purl 2 (knit 2, purl 2). Repeat the steps within parentheses across to the end of the row. This will be a right-side row.

Row 4 (the mock cable twist row): Purl 2 (knit 2 stitches together, leaving both stitches on the left needle, then knit in the 1st of these 2 stitches, slipping both stitches off of the left needle as you do so; purl 2). Repeat the steps within parentheses across to the end of the row.

As you can see in the sweater featured today, this versatile pattern stitch can be used as an overall pattern (yoke), as panels of pattern (sleeves) or as ribbings. You would always need the multiple of 4 plus 2 when repeating the panel all the way across a row. But if you are using it against a background of stockinette, the pattern itself is a multiple of 4, using only the instructions given in parentheses on the pattern rows.

The sunburst yoke sweater happens to be one of my personal favorites — it was fun to make and I love wearing it. But there was one little flaw in its design. I purposely knitted in the band as I was working the balance of the sweater, using the same size needle, but this did result in some "ruffling" in the front band. While it is more noticeable in the photo than in actually wearing the sweater, it is still not quite right.

Some time after having the garment photographed, a friend gave me a tip that would have eliminated this ruffling. At the end of Row 2, work the front band stitches with a needle 3 to 4 sizes smaller than the needle you are using for the body; start Row 3 with your regular needle, but again use the smaller needle for the band stitches at the end of the row.

This means that the band stitches are worked on smaller needles every 4th row at each end, which draws the band up enough to keep it smooth. Because of the cable ribbing, the change in stitch size is not noticeable.

4-ounce can chopped green chilies, drained
6 ounces sharp cheddar cheese, grated medium-fine

Beat eggs until foamy; add oil, cornmeal, baking powder and sour cream; beat until smooth. Stir in corn, chilies and cheese. Turn into a buttered 8 by 8 by 2-inch baking dish. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 1 hour. Serve warm.

Are School Buses Safer Without Any Seat Belts?

DEAR ABBY: "B.P. in Avilla, Ind." asked, "If seat belts save lives, how come they don't have seat belts in school buses?" You replied, "Good question."

It is a good question that has come up often, but there are no seat belts in school buses for a very good reason: They are unnecessary.

School buses are constructed to afford maximum protection in case of a sudden impact. All seats are high-backed and well-padded, and made with the sturdiest materials.

If a school bus were to catch fire or to plunge off a bridge and land upside down in deep water, it would be impossible for the bus driver — assuming he was conscious at the time — to go around and unbuckle 50 or 60 kindergarteners.

Studies have been made that prove conclusively that seat belts on school buses would cost lives — not save them.

ENGINEER, PHILADELPHIA

DEAR ENGINEER: Now let's hear it from a former school bus driver

DEAR ABBY: Seat belts are not the total answer for protecting children on a school bus. Children should respect the rules and behave themselves so the driver won't have to look in his rearview mirror every 20 seconds to see who is causing the disturbance. Every time the driver has to look in the mirror to find out what's going on behind him, it takes his attention from the road.

As a bus driver, I have had to break up fights, bandage wounds, stop bloody noses, remember who left the green sweater on the bus, return lost books, briefcases, jackets, caps, you name it.

The question of seat belts has come up many times, but the experts in transportation safety agree they should not be installed in school buses.

SCHOOL BUS DRIVER (RETIRED)

DEAR ABBY: Let's move past the issue of seat belts for school buses and turn our attention to the real problems of school bus safety: Five out of six school bus fatalities occurs outside the bus, during loading and unloading procedures.

Let's crack down on motorists who drive through warning lights to hit a child crossing in front of the bus.

Let's teach our children the few simple rules that will help them avoid accidents at the bus stop.

If we spend as much energy on those problems as we have spent arguing about seat belts, perhaps we will truly improve school bus safety.

ROBIN LEEDS, BURLINGTON, CONN.

DEAR ABBY: I ride the school bus every day, and I know why there aren't seat belts on school buses. The kids would probably knock each other's brains out with the buckles.

Coming Home

For more than a decade there has been awareness of an "in-migration" of black families to North Carolina (as well as to other Southern states). For many of those people involved it was a case of "coming home".

The tide, says a Duke University anthropologist who is writing a book on the subject, is swelling.

From 1920 until the mid 1960s there was a great migration of blacks from farm fields of the South to job opportunities in the North. By 1970 more were returning to their southern homes than were leaving.

Pitt Countians are aware of the ebb and flow of that tide. Many children stayed behind with grandparents, aunts and uncles when their parents left to seek economic betterment. The practice continues today. Many of those who die far from home are brought home ... illustrating ties that may sometimes bend but are rarely broken.

Dr. Carol B. Stack, the Duke anthropologist, observes that economists are surprised because they view migrations of populations in economic terms. "They think people move for economic reasons. But the very low-income people are returning with an optimism that defies these economic theories."

At least part of the economic theory is true: people did migrate for the sake of opportunities unfound at home. At the same time they were leaving family ties, surroundings and memories posing a magnet that does not tire.

We are seeing that magnet at work.

Concept Sound

Wartime has proven the value of the helicoptor in saving lives of wounded soliders by moving them quickly to field hospital for prompt medical treatment.

It stands to reason that the principle can work in the civilian world ... that critical injured or ill patients can be moved more rapidly to hospital emergency centers for treatment which can save their lives.

Dr. Jack Allison, director of Pitt County Memorial Hospital's Emergency Department, has discussed the possibility of establishing helicopter service with the hospital's board of trustees. He said studies have shown many trauma victims can be saved by rapid transporting to an acute care medical center such as PCMH. It was projected that the service would transport about 650 persons per year.

Ideally the helicopter service should be self financing with the patient or his insuror paying for it. It is possible that the rapid transportation provided by helicoptors could reduce the later cost of medical care for a given patient.

Certainly the service could be beneficial and the hospital board should approach the matter positively, with an eye on how the service would be financed.

A Candidate With A Name

RALEIGH — Quick quiz for Republican voters: "Who was the GOP's candidate for lieutenant governor in 1976?"

If Republican voters can answer that question, then the five-way race for the party's nomination for lieutenant governor in 1984 has a clear frontrunner. If they can't, the race will be a nine-week sprint between five relative unknowns.

The prospects for a big Republican year — with President Reagan and Sen. Jesse Helms seeking re-election and Rep. Jim Martin running for governor — have brought the Republican candidates for lieutenant governor out of the woodwork. Forget that the party hasn't won the office in this century. The candidates think this is the year things could change.

Amid that optimism, the party leadership sought to recruit a top name to seek the state's highest office. First they turned to Rep. Betsy Cochrane, R-Davie, a two-term legislator. After she said no, the leadership turned to Rep. Tommy Rhodes, R-New Hanover. He decided to run for Congress instead.

While Dave Flaherty, party chairman, lined up former Rep. Bill Hiatt, R-Surry, four other Republicans were independently reaching the conclusion that this was a wide open race which a darkhorse could win.

Hiatt, the 1976 nominee, would appear to be the frontrunner. But he's not such a well-known commodity among the 100,000 to 150,000 Republicans who'll vote on May 8 that he can be considered a sure thing.

Hiatt has a number of factors in his favor. First, he is the only candidate from the western half of the state where, according to Flaherty's figures, almost 73 percent of the registered Republicans live. Also, without a major presidential or gubernatorial primary to bring out Republican voters, turnout could be low. But in two congressional districts, the 9th around Charlotte and the 6th around Greensboro, the GOP has hot congressional primaries that will bring out the vote. That should play to the advantage of the western Republican over the four from the east.

Secondly, two-term legislator Hiatt is the only candidate with legislative experience — a very important credential in this race. Partly because of that experience, he claims the support of many Republican legislators and in the primary, that help can mean a great deal.

Barbara Perry of Kinston, a lawyer who Flaherty wanted to run for treasurer or insurance commissioner, is probably Hiatt's strongest opponent. Although never elected to public office, she served in the administration of Gov. Jim Holshouser and has been active in the party. She also appears to have the support of Tom Ellis and his National Congressional Club. With her lawyer's skills, she could give Hiatt fits in a debate. She also appeals to those in the party who'd like to see the ticket balanced with a woman.

There are three other candidates, Erik Little of Cary, Frank Jordan of Rockingham and John Carrington of Raleigh. Little and Jordan are given little chance by Republican onlookers. But Carrington, a political newcomer, is seen as a real wild card in this race. He's indicated a willingness to spend a lot of his own money — maybe as much as $250,000 — and that would be far more than any GOP candidate for lieutenant governor has ever spent trying to get the nomination.

No Answer

WASHINGTON — When some 35 anti-abortion leaders met President Reagan at the white House Jan. 23, they handed him an ultimatum in writing: Remove population control funds from the Kissinger Central American aid package, or the "pro-life" movement will try to kill the entire plan.

The immediate reason for this unprecedented challenge from Reagan's core constituency is U.S.-financed sterilization of Salvadoran women, amid reports they are pressured by local officials to undergo the operations. Anti-abortion lawmakers, particularly Democrats, could conceivably decide the congressional battle over aid to El Salvador. Yet, in the month since the ultimatum was handed him, there has been no sign of presidential intervention.

While Reagan at home preaches supply-side economic growth, bureacrats at the State Department and the Agency for International Development (AID) practice Malthusian population control. Frustrated by inability to influence policy, the pro-lifers have taken the issue to the anti-abortion president. In the resulting test case of how fully Ronald Reagan controls his own administration, the anti-abortion movement is not optimistic.

The movement has been battling for three years over continued U.S. support during the Reagan administration for population control programs that regard people, not inadequate economic development, as the cause of poverty. But the last straw came when the Kissinger Commission on Central America recommended " Continuation of the population and family programs currently supported by " AID.

Under those programs, more than 20,000 Salvadoran women were sterilized last year — equivalent to over 1 million in the United States. A report in the Jan. 13 Christian Science Monitor by Chris Hedges charged government pressure for post-natal sterilization, sometimes without prior consultation or consent of the mothers, in violation of AID regulations.

Hedges' story was attached to the Jan. 23 pro-life "briefing book" for the president, which declared: "For three years, we have tried, through constructive criticism to correct administration policy. But the Kissinger plan's inclusion of additional demographic assault upon the innocent people of Central America compels us to take a different approach."

Then came the ultimatum. If the Kissinger Commission's recommendation for more population control funds stays in the administration's Central American plan, "the pro-life movement will have no choice but to reluctantly join the opponents of that plan in stopping it in Congress."

There has thus far been no official response to that request or two others contained in the "briefing book": to name anti-abortion Surgeon General C. Everett Koop to head the U.S. delegation to this summer's world population conference in Mexico and to remove Richard E. Benedick as the State Department's coordinator of population affairs.

Even if Reagan cannot see conflict between his domestic economic and foreign population control policies, surely the president who authored an anti-abortion tract (soon to hit the bookstores in hard-cover) might flinch at the Salvadoran government sterilizing more than 20,000 women a year. The personal views he holds so strongly seem divorced from the inexorable workings of the permanent bureaucracy he presumably controls.

New Spenders

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are becoming spenders rather than savers of money, increasingly so, and not just through their governmental institutions.

Everyone knows about government spending and deficits. Fewer people know that individuals too are doing it, and it has members of the housing industry worried.

They're worried that the developing situation will leave too little money to finance housing, which already has a formidable set of obstacles to overcome. No savings, no new houses, they say.

These worries are expressed in a new "discussion paper" by the U.S. League of Savings Institutions, which notes that personal savings last year dropped to only 4.8 percent of income, lowest since 1949.

The league's scenario, largely the work of economist and Vice President James Christian, begins with the big government deficit. If left uncorrected, the paper says, government spending could absorb all private savings.

"Never before in peacetime has the government absorbed all of net private domestic savings," it states. Already, it says, the government is taking 26 percent of all capital raised in the country by individuals and institutions.

Its answer to the problem is a a series of reductions in government purchases of goods and services, and a phased reduction also in some transfer payments. And, as mentioned, the savings incentives and consumption tax.

Savings incentives would, of course, benefit the thousands of savings and loan institutions that make up the league. But those institutions also remind us that they are very big lenders to homebuilders and homebuyers.

In their view, "The United States has no hope of reversing the precipitous decline in personal savings until it does what other nations have done to stimulate thrift — namely, reward savers with lower taxes "

Without incentives, Christian suggests, the United States has a demographic predisposition to spend rather than put money in the bank. It has to do with the "wrong mix" of population. It has to do with the baby boom.

Defense Will Give

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger made his first visit to Capitol Hill this year to talk about the administration's proposal for defense spending, Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., observed:

"The question is not whether it will be reduced, but when and by how much."

As it works to carry out President Reagan's proposed five-year $1.9 trillion defense buildup, the Pentagon wants nearly $313.4 billion in its accounts when fiscal 1985 begins Oct. 1. That figure includes defense nuclear programs in the Energy Department.

It is early yet in the budgeting process, and few on Capitol Hill are willing to hazard a guess on what the final budget numbers will be, but many observers on Capitol Hill agree with Nunn.

Historically, the Pentagon has not always gotten all it wants — this year it is looking for a 13 percent increase after inflation in contrast to the 5 percent it won from Congress last year.

Much of the outcome this year, observers say, may depend upon what progress is made in bipartisan negotiations to reduce the budget deficit. The Pentagon budget has become a prime area for Democrats to point to for cuts.

"We're sort of observing an ominous calm right now," said one congressional source about the negotiations and defense spending. "I think everybody's sort of standing back to see what comes out of that, how it works out."

There is pressure this year to settle the matter quickly. It is a presidential election year. The chairman of the Senate Budget Committee is up for election and two of its members are running for the Democratic presidential nomination. All House members are up for re-election, and Congress has scheduled generous recesses to take the political conventions and campaigning into account.

The most commonly cited number on Capitol Hill when it comes to the defense budget these days is $297 billion, well up from 1984 spending but well below what the administration wants. That figure carries over from the 1984 budget as a target many in Congress cited as desireable if the philosopy of 5 percent real growth were sustained.

It's far too early to say what programs will be the losers, but Congress historically has refused to eliminate major weapons systems. And in an election year, it would be akin to political suicide for a member to advocate dropping a program that may provide thousands of jobs in a district or state.

While that idea may look good on paper, one congressional source familiar with defense issues said the problem of deficits and the defense budet does not appear to have grown large enough to force a major reduction in a program or the elimination of a program.

Some programs have been stretched out — which itself raises problems by raising the overall cost in the long run — but when there's talk of cutting an existing program "that's got people working on it, that's hard for Congress to do and I don't see them much improving their record this year," said the source.

"The problem is always cut somebody other than me," he added.

Public Forum

To the editor:

In their column in this newspaper Sunday, Feb. 19, Evans and Novak reported that David Rockefeller and his Trilateral Commission will be given a presidential reception at the White House. Evans and Novak describe the commission members as "business, intellectual and political leaders ... far from the communist sympathizers portrqayed by the paranoid right". Well, let's see.

David Rockefeller's Chase Manhattan Bank was the first American bank to open an office in Moscow, and in communist China. This same Chase Manhattan bankrolled the building of the world's largest truck factory in the Soviet Unions. (Trucks from this plant are being used in the invasion of Afghanistan as they were previously in Vietnam.) This cozy banker-client relationshp goes back a long way. Rockefeller's Chase National Bank was involved in selling Bolshevik bonds in the United States in 1928. The Rockefellers and their allies have for years been involved in transferring money and technololgical capability to the Soviets. IBM and other companies, whose stock the Rockefellers have major holdings, have sold tons of sophisticated computers and high technology equipment to the Soviet Union. Such equipment and technologies are essential to the deployment and operation of their modern weapons systems. These are the very systems the United States must defend itself against. The more help the Soviets get from their friends on the Trilateral Commission, the more pressure is put on the U.S. defense budget and taxpayers.

It's a good thing the White House reception is scheduled for April 1 and not May 1. David Rockefeller will likely be spending May Day in Moscow with his Politburo pals champagne-toasting their annual military parade through Red Square, as he has in years past.

So Rockefeller and the Trilateralists aren't communist sympathizers? C'mon now, Evans and Novak.

Strength For Today

Some people today have the impression that the Bible teaches that man is essentially evil. Actually, the Bible teaches that man is a child of God, made in God's image and after his likeness. He has fallen from the high state in which he was created, but the image and likeness of the divine are still there.

Growth in character and what theology terms "salvation of the soul" are the result of the cultivation of these divine elements in man's nature.

The Spirit of God is in us, and our chief business in life consists in working it out in the practical affairs of everyday life. The good parent, the good spouse, the satisfactory son or daughter, the conscientious business man or worker — these are the good people through whose minds and in whose daily acts the divine element is being constantly manifested and cultivated.

The Bible has summed it up — "Now we are the sons of God and it doth not yet appear what we shall be."

Candidates For Governor Pawing The Ground

By MARY ANNE RHYNE
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — The candidates for governor in North Carolina, like bulls in the ring, seem to be snorting, pawing the ground and sizing each other up before they charge to draw the first blood.

They tend to agree in candidate forums that teachers' pay should be raised and new taxes should be avoided but they are reluctant to publicly direct criticism at any opponent or challenge an opponent's ideas.

When the candidates do speak out, there are some interesting face-offs.

Two of the favorite targets of criticism seem to be Democrat D.M. "Lauch" Faircloth, who used to head the Commerce Department, and Attorney General Rufus Edmisten as head of the Justice Department.

Edmisten has been considered a frontrunner in polls since last year while recent polls show Faircloth leaping toward the front.

Faircloth's advertising gives him much of the credit for attracting more than $2 billion of new industrial investments in the state in 1983 alone. But candidates repeatedly deplore the state's low ranking nationally in wages earned, something they surely hope to work to Faircloth's disadvantage.

Edmisten advertises his experience during 10 years as attorney general but his opponents would have voters remember that the state's crime rate is rising. Edmisten says the crime rate has risen much faster nationally than it has in North Carolina.

Edmisten gets criticism again for seeking higher office while continuing to hold his job as attorney general. Some of that criticism comes from Faircloth, who resigned his job to run for office.

Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green's advertising seems to infer criticism of Edmisten but neither Green nor Edmisten say they consider it such.

Ads for Green, who was acquitted on bribery charges, say the candidate "fought the forces who abused police power for their own selfish goals." Edmisten's job puts him at the helm of law enforcement in the state.

Insurance Commissioner John Ingram took a new approach recently and lashed out at Republican candidate Rep. Jim Martin, saying he is linked to utility companies through contributions and congressional actions.

Martin said he welcomes a wide range of support and said he hasn't taken action to help utilities. Martin said he and Ingram see different methods for helping consumers.

Meanwhile, Faircloth took the uilities issue to attack Ingram. Faircloth said Ingram was promoting a "cruel hoax" to let the elderly believe an elected utility commission would lower power bills.

Ingram had some indirect criticism for Faircloth, when Faircloth filed a suit to clarify campaign spending limits. The suit resulted in the spending limits being declared unconstitutional.

Democrat Tom Gilmore voiced similar criticism after the lawsuit. He has joined with Ingram and Democrat Eddie Knox in calling for televised debates and deploring the use of 30-second commercials.

Four People Injured In Local Collisions

Four persons were injured and an estimated $15,800 damage resulted from five traffic collisions investigated by Greenville police Saturday.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted when cars driven by William Ray Staton of 103 Vance St., and Mildred Harris Elliott of 1310 Colonial Ave., collided about 1:20 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth and Ford Streets.

Police, who charged Elliott with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, said Staton and a passenger in the Elliott car were injured.

Damage from the mishap was set at $2,100 to the Staton car and $4,000 to the Elliott vehicle.

A 6:04 p.m. collision at the intersection of Greene Street and Mumford Road involved a car driven by Davis C. Evans Jr. of 2602 Jefferson Drive and a truck driven by Albert Donald Joyner Jr. of Route 2, Farmville.

Damage from the collision was estimated at $2,000 to the car and $1,500 to the truck.

Investigators charged William Judson Branch Sr. of Elizabeth City, with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 1:21 p.m. collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and O'Hagan Street.

Officers said the Branch car collided with a vehicle driven by Melont Jean Adams of Route 2, Greenville, injuring Ms. Adams and causing $2,000 damage to the Adams car and $1,000 damage to the Branch auto.

John Franklin McGonagle of Route 3, Greenville, was charged with careless and reckless driving after his car went out of control on Memorial Drive, 30 feet south of the Glenwood Avenue intersection, ran off the road, and struck a utility pole.

Police, who said a passenger in the McGonagle car was injured, set damage at $2,000 to the car and $300 to the pole.

Officers charged Joe Robert Sneed of Route 11, Greenville, with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety after his car collided with an auto driven by Helen Lindsley of Williamston, about 10:51 p.m. on Memorial Drive, 1/4 mile north of the Belvoir Road intersection.

damage from the collision was estimated at $300 to the Sneed car and $600 to the Lindsley vehicle.

DWI Videotapes For Court-Use

GREENSBORO (AP) — The Greensboro Police Department has put more than 500 drunken driving suspects on television, and other police departments are considering making their suspects courtroom stars.

Since Sept. 16, Greensboro police officers have been videotaping drunken driving suspects to provide court evidence for DWI cases. Department officials say the evidence sometimes hastens the guilty pleas of those whose tapes show embarrassingly inept performances.

The program has caught the interest of Mecklenburg officals, who are planning to discuss instituting a similar program.

By 2-1 Vote

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Voters in a national referendum Sunday rejected by a 2-1 margin a proposal by pacifist and left-wing groups that would have abolished the draft and created a volunteer army.

Rejection of the measure had been expected.

Last year, the army registered 745 objectors compared with more than 400,000 draftees who entered the service for an 18-month tour of training.

Drain Fields, Irrigation All For The Price Of One

WATER CONTROL SYSTEM...is the key to a good irrigation system, says Albert Coffey, Pitt soil conservationist.

"Two for the price of one." That's what farmers in eastern North Carolina are saying about drainage systems known as subirrigation that not only drain fields but irrigate them too, according to Albert Coffey of the Pitt Soil Conservation Service.

Basic tile and open drainage systems keep the ditch's water level just below the drain tiles. These systems, said Coffey, improve conditions for seedbed preparation, planting and harvesting, They also prevent plant stress from too much moisture during the growing season.

But on some soils, noted the conservationist, you can reverse from drainage to irrigation by installing a water control structure such as a flashboard riser at key locations in the outlet ditch. This new concept, subirrigation, applies water beneath the soil surface, explained Coffey, and raises the water table and maintains it within reach of the crop's root system.

Due to cost, Coffey recommended subirrigation only for soils requiring drainage. The cost, he noted, for installing a combination drainage and subirrigation system is slightly higher than installing a drainage system alone and the initial investment could be recovered in four to six years with good management.

The local SCS District provides technical assistance to farmers for planning and designing water management systems that will serve both drainage and irrigation needs.

Questions arise each spring concerning lawns and lawn care, especially as weather begins to improve. As weather gets better, increasing soil and air temperatures cause weeds to become more visible. The months of March is the worst month of the year as far as the appearance of warm-season grasses is concerned.

During March, the warm-season grasses such as Bermudagrass, centipedegrass, St. Augustine and zoysia are still sleeping through their dormant period. Winter seeds, however, such as dandelion, chickweed, henbit, wild garlic (also known as wild onion) are reaching maturity, and are in full clumpy glory.

The cool-season grasses, notably tall fescue (Kentucky 31), annual ryegrass and fine fescues are growing well during March and compete better against springtime weeds. However during the summer, the cool-season grasses will be overshadowed by summer annual weeds.

But for the time at hand, the weeds visible in the lawn now can be controlled with proper use of the proper herbicide or weed killer. There are no grassy weeds at present except for annual bluegrass of "Poa annua." Most of the weeds are broadleaved plants and can be controlled with one or more applications by using a "chickweed killer." Herbicides are sold under a variety of names and labels and they contain various amounts of one, two or three chemicals. Some weeds can be controlled with one chemical but other weeds are immune and require another chemical. Still other weeds require a third chemical because the first two do not give effective results. An example of this situation is that dandelion and wild onion are easily controlled with 2,4-D. Chickweed is not affected by 2,4-D but will be killed by dicamba, another herbicide. Often the third herbicide, MCPP or mecoprop, is added to 2,4-D and dicamba to give broad spectrum control.

In using any lawn weed killer, the user must be sure to read the label on the pesticide and know that the herbicide will or will not control the particular weed. It is equally important that the weed be properly identified before purchasing the chemical. If questions of weed identification or choice of herbicide come up, contact your local agricultural extension office. There are free publications available on weed control in the lawn and landscape. With proper conditions and the proper herbicides, a better lawn is a definite possibility this March.

Poll Shows Tax Proposal Backed

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A majority of registered voters in a recent poll by The Charlotte Observer said they would be willing to pay higher taxes for improved school buildings or pay raises for teachers.

Only 18 percent of 1,005 voters surveyed said they did not favor higher taxes for any proposal to change state schools.

The poll asked voters if they would be willing to pay more for improved school buildings and facilities, raises for all teachers raises or raises and merit pay for the best teachers. The results showed 30 percent would pay higher taxes for all three changes and 52 percent said they would be willing to pay more for one or two of the changes.

Legislators expressed mixed feelings about the results and most predicted the General Assembly would not increase taxes in 1984.

TOLL RISES

Wounded During Cocaine Arrests

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — An undercover police officer shot while posing as a cocaine buyer is listed in good condition at Durham County General Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

The officer and a suspect were wounded Friday during a drug bust, and another suspect was killed. Two undercover officers carrying $100,000 in cash were making a $1 million cocaine deal in a Durham motel when the shooting broke out, authorities said.

Mental Health Perspectives

Incest

by
Lou Gilbert, M.A.;
Staff Psychologist, Adult Services

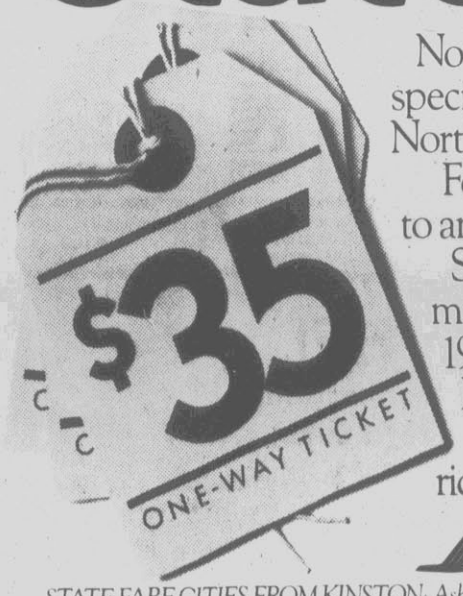

Recently the topic of incest (sexual activity between relatives, often children and parents), has been given media attention and discussed in a frank manner. The TV movie Something About Amelia depicted the problems of an American family in which the father was molesting his young daughter. Incest occurs in all socio economic classes, and some authorities estimate that up to 12 percent of American girls between the ages of 5 and 17 are victimized.

Unfortunately most cases are not reported, the abusers are not identified, treated or punished and many victims, usually women, grow up unable to trust, love, or experience positive sexual relationships. Susan Forward, a therapist who specializes in counseling victims of incest, and who is a former victim, recommends in her book Betrayal of Innocence supportive group therapy to give these women a chance to deal with the often long term emotional consequences.

A group to facilitate this process is being formed for victims of sexual abuse. Anyone who would like more information regarding the group is encouraged to call Lou Gilbert, M.A. or Dr. Mercedes de Rivers at Pitt County Mental Health Center 752-7151. All information is strictly confidential.

Shipping Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A House-Senate conference committee, chaired by Rep. Walter B. Jones, chairman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, last week gave its stamp of approval to the Shipping Act of 1984.

Jones, who called the act "the most significant piece of shipping legislation in this century," said "the now imminent final congressional approval ... will cap a seven year struggle to provide the necessary legal framework to revitalize the American Merchant Marine by allowing it to more equally compete with foreign-flag carriers not bound by U.S. anti-trust restrictions."

The conference bill: recognizes, but does not grant antitrust immunity to shippers' associations; extends protection to agreements that reduce outside competition unless this was the intended purpose of the agreement; and puts a virtual 45 day deadline on Federal Maritime Commission procedures on filed agreements.

Officer Demoted

Joe Calder, security chief at East Carolina University, confirmed today that he demoted one of his officers for participating, without justification, with other law enforcement personnel in a recent off-campus pursuit of a vehicle.

Calder said Sgt. Kelly Jackson was reduced to the rank of patrolman for what he termed a violation of policy regarding Jackson's involvement in the Feb. 4 chase that ended near Winterville.

"In my opinion, he violated policy and I reduced him," said Calder.

The spokesman, who said he viewed Jackson's action as "nothing serious at all," said his officers know "not to participate in a chase unless it is something serious and they can justify it to me. If they do pursue, they better be able to justify it. I do not think Kelly's participation was necessary and he couldn't justify it."

Calder stressed that "there are no hard feelings on my or Kelly's part."

Three juveniles were taken into custody following the chase, which also involved officers from the highway patrol, Pitt County Sheriff's Department, and Greenville Police Department. The SBI is investigating allegations that one of the juveniles, a passenger in the car, was beaten by officers after the vehicle was stopped.

CG Cuts Opposed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Walter B. Jones, chairman of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries and its subcommittee on Coast Guard and Navigation, has pledged to hold the line against administration proposals to reduce Coast Guard personnel and services.

"The Coast Guard is already overworked," Jones said. "The loss of 755 people, as proposed in the president's budget, represents a major reduction and would cripple the agency's performance, especially in the vital missions of law enforcement and search and rescue. The alternative budget I have proposed will establish a legal floor on the number of Coast Guard personnel to prevent these debilitating cuts."

Jones' bill amounts to a 10 percent increase over the president's request.

The congressman added that a hearing on the president's proposal to contract out to private firms the maintenance of short range aids to navigation and related proposals will be held March 6, at 9:30 a.m. in room 1334 of the Longworth House Office Building.

BLEEDING GUMS CAN BE SERIOUS

Bleeding gums are unhealthy gums. The state of the gums reflects the health of the underlying tissues that can't be seen - and bleeding should alert you that more serious problems lie ahead if the condition is left untreated.

Fortunately, gingivitis is a reversible condition. With proper treatment it can be cured and the gums restored to normal health. If you can maintain healthy gums, you can avoid periodontal disease - the major cause of adult tooth loss.

The villain in the case of gingivitis (and periodontal disease) is plaque. It accumulates rapidly and develops under the gums as well as between and on the teeth. Plaque can harden and build up if not removed regularly. This hardened plaque is called tartar or calculus. At this juncture, only a professional scaling will remove the accumulation under the gum line, which is where these deposits can quickly build and cause tissue damage and probable loss of teeth.

If you observe bleeding from your gums, don't assume that it isn't serious. See your dentist.

Superchicken

In 1970, Perdue Farms began crossbreeding for a better broiler. Since then, the White Rock/Cornish hybrid has grown more meaty and tender through genetics and nutrition. For the growers, these and other advancements have meant improved feed conversion, faster growing flocks, and extra pay for a better product. For example, in 1973 it took 60 days to produce a 4.4 lb. broiler. Today it takes only 52 days.

Perdue still spends more than most companies on research and quality control. In the highly competitive poultry business, standing still won't keep you ahead. That's why Perdue's veterinarians, nutritionists, and geneticists keep working to develop a "Superchicken." In the meantime, the market for Perdue's superior chicken increases every year. In fact we're planning to open a second shift at our Robersonville processing plant to help us meet this growing demand. As a result of our expansion, Perdue needs 145 more broiler houses. So if you're a North Carolina farmer who'd like to grow with us, get in touch today. Call collect 1-795-4151 or send in the coupon below.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) (NCDA) — The North Carolina f.o.b. dock quoted price on broilers for this week's trading was 58.00 cents, based on full truck load lots of ice pack USDA Grade A sized 2½ to 3 pound birds. 100 percent of the loads offered have been confirmed with a final weighted average of 58.09 cents f.o.b. dock or equivalent. The market is steady and the live supply is light to moderate for a mostly moderate demand. Average weights mostly desirable. Estimated slaughter of broilers and fryers in North Carolina Monday was 1,685,000, compared to 880,000 last Monday.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged higher today, following last week's rally.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had risen 30.47 points on Friday, was up .94 to 1,166.04 by noontime. Advances led declines by 7 to 5 among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Friday's advance had been the biggest one-day gain in the Dow Jones industrial average in seven months and the 16.23-point gain for the week broke a six-week stretch of losses.

Some analysts were hopeful the performance signalled an end to the winter slide in stock prices. But others were skeptical. Some were awaiting new signs from the Federal Reserve on whether it intends to tighten credit conditions, which could push up interest rates.

Among today's early volume leaders, American Telephone & Telegraph was down ⅛ at 17⅛, Mesa Petroleum was off ⅛ to 17½ and IBM was down ⅛ at 111⅛.

McDonnell Douglas, which said it had reached a definitive agreement to buy Tymshare for $25 a share in cash, was down ⅛ at 55¾. Tymshare surged 8⅜ to 23⅝.

Gulf Corp. was up 1¾ at 64⅜. A 583,000-share block traded at 64⅞.

The NYSE's composite index rose .07 to 90.56. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .91 at 208.27.

Volume on the Big Board totalled 39.29 million shares, compared with 45.56 million shares at the same point Friday.

Governors Want Defense Cuts To Reduce Deficit

By EVANS WITT
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's governors have a message for President Reagan that the Republican incumbent might not find to his liking: cuts in defense spending and increases in taxes are necessary to reduce huge federal deficits.

The governors planned to take that word directly to Reagan and other top administration officials at the White House today during the winter meeting of the National Governors' Association.

"We'll probably have some pretty good questions for you," Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson told Reagan in a toast at a black-tie White House dinner Sunday night.

A proposal to slash deficits by almost two-thirds by fiscal 1989 was adopted by the executive committee Sunday and will go before all the governors Tuesday.

"We are very concerned about runaway deficits," said South Carolina Gov. Richard W. Riley.

"The deficitc have to be dealt with," said Thompson.

Thompson, chairman of the governors' group, voted for the proposal but said, "I don't read it as criticism (of Reagan). It does not make me uncomfortable to support a budget policy which may be different from the president's even though I am his campaign manager in Illinois."

North Carolina Gov. Jim Hunt voted for the measure, but took issue with some of the provisions.

"I believe it is important for the nation's governors to make a strong statement on balancing the federal budget, but I strongly opposse some of the specific steps called for in the resolution," he said. "We need to close nonproductive tax loopholes, but I strongly oppose any general increase in taxes which might choke off the current economic recovery."

Hunt also said the proposal did not include enough money for defense.

The governors' concern about the deficits cut across party lines, although there were partisan splits over just how to deal with the flow of red ink that is expected to continue around $200 billion a year for several years.

The proposal adoped Sunday would slash the federal deficit by $188 billion in 1989, even though Caspar Weinberger made the first visit by a defense secretary to a governor's meeting in 22 years to argue that the military budget cannot be cut.

His arguments were not well received.

"I must say I am terribly frustrated," Wisconsin Gov. Anthony Earl, a Democrat, told Weinberger on Sunday. "I frankly can't accept the premise that we jeopardize national security unless we spend every dollar that has been proposed by your department."

Using Congressional Budget Office figures, the plan would reduce the fiscal 1989 red ink from a projected $308 billion to $120 billion.

Over the five years from 1985 to 1989 the governors would cut $60 billion from President Reagan's defense plans, plus another $115 billion out of other federal programs. Spending on interest on the federal debt would be cut $68 billion.

Tax increases proposed by the governors would raise an additional $243 billion over the period, in effect rolling back a portion of Reagan's tax cuts for the last three years. But the governors made no specific suggestions as to how to raise taxes.

The governors also worked on the problems of acid rain, health care costs and tourism on Sunday.

How to curb acid rain generated the longest, most heated discussion of the day as regional differences overwhelmed partisan ones. The executive committee did approve for the first time a proposal that called for control of air pollution linked to acid rain.

The proposal, backed strongly by New England governors whose lakes suffer from the acid rain, calls for new emission controls — most importantly in the Midwest — but left vague who would pay the cost, estimated at $3.6 billion a year for 13 years.

May Balk At Cost Of Amtrak Experiment

RALEIGH (AP) — A passenger train between Charlotte and Raleigh has won the support of the state Board of Transportation, but legislators who will be asked to provide $750,000 for a one-year experiment say they have reservations.

"The government should stay out of this kind of business," said Sen. Marshall Rauch, D-Gaston, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

"To me, it doesn't work," said Rep. Billy Watkins, D-Granville, chairman of the House Appropriations Expansion Budget Committee. "It hasn't worked with Amtrak. I don't see why we should subsidize the travel of people who want to go from Raleigh to Charlotte and nowhere else."

"I, for one, would like to see a transportation link along the Piedmont corridor," said Sen. Harold Haridson, D-Lenoir, Watkins' counterpart in the Senate. "But the cost trightens me — not the startup but down the road. I'd like to know more about it than I know now."

The proposal, approved Feb. 10 by the N.C. Board of Transportation, requires the state to put up $750,00 the first year and about $500,000 a year thereafter, while the federal government would pay another $500,00 a year to offset operating losses. For the trial run, the state board wants the Legislature to provide about $500,000 in the June short session. Another $265,000 would come from transportation funds already on hand.

The higher cost for the first year stems from needed improvements to grade crossings and new stations in Durham and Burlington, according to a state transportation study.

The train would split off Amtrak's existing "Palmetto" run, which travels daily between New York and Savannah, Ga. In Richmond, one section would continue its present run through Rocky Mount, Wilson, Selma and Fayetteville, while the other would go to Henderson, Raleigh, Durham, Burlington, Greensboro, High Point, Salisbury and Charlotte.

While the rail line faces opposition in the General Assembly, it also has some legislative supporters.

Rep. Al Adams, D-Wake, said the train could save the state money by reducing the need for expanding highway funds. Sen. Ben Tison, D-Mecklenburg, said the line "could be an outstanding development tool" and Sen. Bob Jordan, D-Montgomery, said, "I think we should try this, experiment with it."

Seemed Almost Like A Goodbye

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Millionaire Elmo Batterton and his wife gave jewelry and coins to an old friend the day before they disappeared "almost like telling somebody goodbye," police said.

The Peoria County coroner speculated Sunday that the couple, whose bodies were found in a river along with their Mercedes-Benz, may have committed "double suicide."

The Battertons were missing for 2½ months before their bodies were found last week 10 miles apart in the Illinois River.

Coroner Herbert Buzbee said Sunday there was no sign of foul play.

Evacuate After Train Collision

SALTSBURG, Pa. (AP) — At least 50 residents of three communities 20 miles east of Pittsburgh were evacuated as a precaution after one Conrail freight train rammed into the back of another and both burst into flames.

Three railroad workers were injured in the collision Sunday, two for inhalation of fumes and a third who was trapped beneath one of the engines for more than four hours.

Residents of White Station, Coal Town and Tunnelton were evacuated but allowed to return after five hours when it was determined that hazardous material in tank cars was a safe distance from the fire, police said.

Man Charged In Break-In, Theft

A Route 1, Grimesland, man has been charged with two counts of breaking, entering and larceny following investigation of alleged thefts from a workshop and office at a rural farm.

Pitt Sheriff Ralph Tyson said deputies charged Derwin Gatlin with breaking into the property of J.C. Galloway, Route 1, Grimesland, on two occasions. The incidents were reported on Feb. 24.

Tyson said Galloway told officers that four batteries, valued at $210, six gallons of gasoline, and a set of tobacco scales, valued at $75, were taken in the incidents.

Bond for Gatlin was set at $500 with a hearing scheduled for March 2 in District Court.

Your Social Security Disability Benefits

ADDIE'S ADVICE

BENEFITS DENIED?

Have you been denied benefits under Social Security's disability benefits programs? Do not be discouraged. That happens to most people who apply the first time.

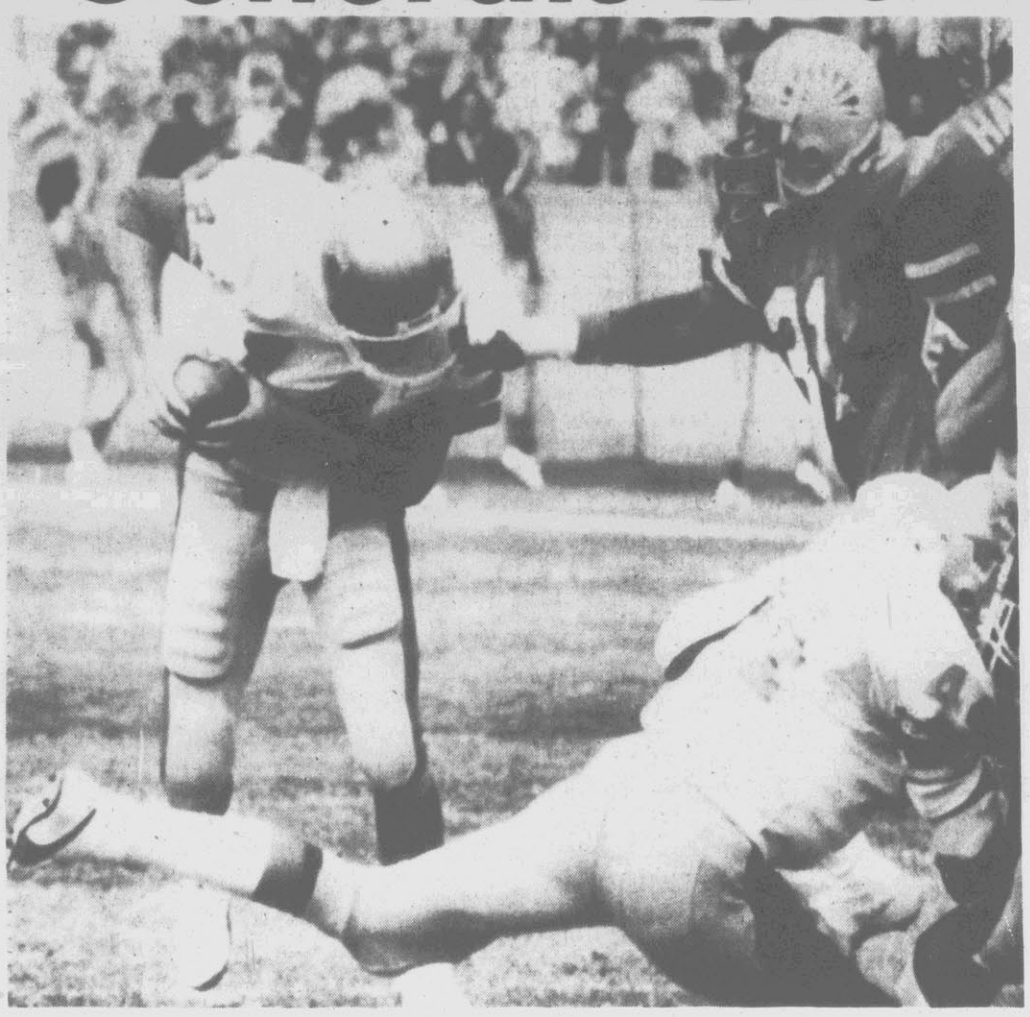

Have you asked for reconsideration of your disability claim and been turned down a second time? Again, don't be discouraged or give up. That's the way the disability system works today.

Take your case one step further and go before a Social Security Administrative Law Judge for a hearing with a qualified representative to present your case. Then the chances of your winning benefits are somewhere between 70% and 80%. The Judge will see you and hear your personal description of your physical or mental illness, and your representative will present your case as it applies to the complex rules of the Social Security Act.

If you have a hearing requested or scheduled before an Administrative Law Judge, call now for an immediate conference. There is no fee for an initial conference to discuss your eligibility for disability.

Generals Draw Record Crowd

By The Horns

Memphis defensive back Terry Love (31) sacks quarterback Chuck Fusina of Philadelphia by grabbing his face mask Sunday in the 1984 season opener of the USFL teams. Love and the Showboats were penalized 15 yards on the play, and Philadelphia went on to win the game 17-9. (AP Laserphoto)

By The Associated Press

For Donald Trump, the free-spending, free-talking owner of the New Jersey Generals, the first day of the United States Football League's second season was a harbinger of great things to come. Balleyhooed newcomers like Mike Rozier, Joe Cribbs and Cliff Stoudt can only hope so.

"It's big this week and it will keep on going up," an ebullient Trump said Sunday as he surveyed the league-record crowd of 62,300 that turned out at Birmingham's Legion Field to watch Brian Sipe lead the Generals to a 17-6 win over the Birmingham Stallions.

"It will get bigger next week and it will be the biggest yet two weeks from now," said Trump, whose Generals open at home in two weeks.

But elsewhere, fan reaction was mixed for a league whose hopes to build a following for spring football face a key test this season, when its contract with ABC expires.

An average of 34,200 fans turned out for eight openers Sunday compared to 38,988 for six openers a year ago. The Birmingham crowd was 30,000 larger than for last year's opener, but there was a dropoff of 15,991 in Arizona, where the Wranglers — last year's Chicago Blitz transplanted — routed Oakland 35-7.

Moreover, while some new USFL stars — quarterbacks Sipe, Doug Williams and Jim Kelly among them — made decent debuts, other heralded newcomers had problems.

Rozier, the second straight Heisman Trophy winner signed by the USFL, slipped and stumbled in a freezing rain to only 27 yards in 16 carries. His Pittsburgh Maulers dropped a 7-3 decision to the Oklahoma Outlaws in a battle of two of the expansion teams who debuted Sunday.

"I think I ran pretty good, the line blocked well for me," said Rozier, recipient of a $3.1 million, 3-year contract. "You can't say it was the weather because that's the way football is. It was a factor, but it always is."

Birmingham's Cribbs and Stoudt, two heralded jumpers from the National Football League, were pretty well shut down by a New Jersey defense with eight new starters, most of them lured from the National Football League. Stoudt was lifted in the third quarter after completing 6 of 13 passes for only 51 yards; Cribbs gained 52 yards in 16 carries.

It was also a bad day for the Washington Federals, who lost 13 of their first 14 last season. They started off the same way this year dropping a 53-14 decision to expansion Jacksonville. The 53 points was a league record.

Elsewhere, it was Tampa Bay 20, Houston 17; Philadelphia 17, Memphis 9; New Orleans 13, San Antonio 10; Denver 27, Los Angeles 10.

Defending champion Michigan opens tonight against the Blitz at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Generals 17, Stallions 6

Sipe, who left the Cleveland Browns to sign with New Jersey, completed 12 of 24 passes for 175 yards and fullback Maurice Carthon ran for two 1-yard touchdowns.

Still, Sipe said: "I was not very pleased. I had only an average day. I'm glad it went into the win column."

Herschel Walker, who said he was "running real cautiously" because of a sore shoulder, gained 43 yards for the Generals.

Wranglers 35, Invaders 7

George Allen's former Chicago Blitz, transplanted to the southwest, had their own way as Greg Landry threw two touchdown passes and Kevin Long rushed for 98 yards in 15 carries. "We just took a good old-fashioned whipping," said Oakland Coach John Ralston.

Outlaws 7, Maulers 3

Williams, who joined the expansion Outlaws from the NFL's Tampa Bay Buccaneers, engineered the game s only touchdown drive, 80 yards in 8 plays early in the fourth quarter, capped by his 12-yard pass to Derek Hughes.

Pittsburgh's only points came on a 32-yard field goal by Mickey Barrilla.

Tampa Bay 20, Houston 17

Kelly, who signed last year with Houston after being drafted in the first round by the NFL Buffalo Bills, completed 24 of 41 passes for 229 yards as the expansion Gamblers threw a scare into the heavily favored Bandits.

But Gary Anderson, who joined Tampa Bay at midseason last year, picked up 114 yards, including 12 on a burst up the middle with 2:33 left.

McEnroe, Connors Lead U.S.

By The Associated Press

The 1-2 singles punch of John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors has served notice on the rest of the world that the United States will be tough to beat in 1984 Davis Cup tennis competition.

McEnroe and Connors completed a 5-0 U.S. sweep over Romania at Bucharest Sunday with singles victories. They also swept the singles Friday, while McEnroe and Peter Fleming won the doubles the next day.

McEnroe bounced back from a slow start to beat Florin Segarceanu 2-6, 6-2, 6-2 after Connors, playing in his first Davis Cup competition in eight years, topped Ilie Nastase 6-4, 6-4.

Australia, the defending champion, and Czechoslovakia also completed sweeps Sunday, while Argentina, Paraguay, France, Sweden and Italy also advanced.

Australia eliminated Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia ousted Denmark.

Argentina, which takes on the United States in the next round July 13-15, beat West Germany 4-1; Paraguay disposed of New Zealand 3-2; France dumped India 4-1; Sweden downed Ecuador 4-1; and Italy edged England 3-2.

John Fitzgerald beat Bruno Oresar 6-3, 6-4 and Paul McNamee upended Branko Horvat 6-4, 10-8 as Australia took the remaining singles at Perth. The Yugoslavs used junior players in the matches which were reduced to best-of-three sets.

At Hradec Kralove, Czechoslovakia, Libor Pimek defeated Peter Bastiansen 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 and Tomas Smid beat Michael Mortensen 8-6, 6-3 in the Czechoslovakians' triumph over the Danes.

At Stuttgart, Argentina and West Germany split the meaningless singles matches. Jose-Luis Clerc of Argentina beat Hans-Dieter Beutel 7-6, 7-6 and Guillermo Vilas of Argentina was upset by Michael Westphal 7-6, 6-4.

Paraguay, which clinched Saturday, lost both singles against host New Zealand at Christchurch. Chris Lewis stopped Francisco Gonzalez 6-3, 6-4, and Russell Simpson beat Victor Pecci 6-3, 6-3.

Collins Set To Address Club

Tony Collins, former East Carolina University running back now with the New England Patriots of the NFL, will be the featured speaker at the meeting of the Greenville Sports Club Tuesday at noon at the Ramada Inn.

Collins was the Pirates' leading scorer in the 1979 and 1980, and he led ECU in rushing yardage his junior year. Collins recently signed a new contract with the Patriots which includes a unique "lifetime income" guarantee.

All members and guests are urged to attend.

Mabry Listed On ECAC Honor Roll

East Carolina University guard Delphine Mabry was listed on the ECAC Division I honor roll for her performance in the Lady Pirates two games last week.

The sophomore from Rocky Mount averaged 15.5 points in games against Richmond and South Carolina, along with six rebounds, 2.5 steals and 2.5 assists.

Clemson Looks Forward To Rematch

By TOM FOREMAN Jr.
AP Sports Writer

Clemson basketball coach Bill Foster hopes his team's third game against top-ranked North Carolina will be the one to change his luck, while Tar Heel coach Dean Smith would just as soon avoid the matter.

The Tigers held a six-point lead late in the first half, but Michael Jordan and Sam Perkins started a rally that led the Tar Heels to an 82-71 victory Sunday that banished Clemson to the Atlantic Coast Conference cellar. It also means the two will meet in the opening round of the ACC tournament on March 9 in Greensboro.

Maryland blunted a Wake Forest rally Sunday and the Terrapins took a 90-79 victory over the 15th-ranked Demon Deacons as Ben Coleman scored 26 points. That leaves the Terps and No. 14 Duke tied for second place in the ACC at 7-5.

Saturday afternoon, Georgia Tech halted a 19-game winless streak on the ACC road with a 58-56 triumph over 14th-rated Duke when Bruce Dalrymple picked up a loose ball and scored with six seconds left. Virginia cruised to a 74-63 victory over slumping North Carolina State as Othell Wilson scored 24 points and Olden Polynice added 16.

As the regular-season winds down, North Carolina already has secured top-seed for the tournament at 12-0. Wake Forest is fourth at 6-6 while Georgia Tech is 6-7 with Virginia next at 5-7. N.C. State dropped to 4-8 with its third straight conference loss and holds seventh place. Clemson is last at 2-11.

Clemson led for much of the first half and moved to a 34-28 lead on a Vince Hamilton basket with 3:17 left. North Carolina went on the counterattack and gained a 40-38 halftime lead. Part of the rally was sparked by Jordan's reverse dunk at the end of a fast break.

The Tar Heels got out of the blocks quickly in the second half thanks to Perkins, who scored eight of the first 10 points. Clemson did get as close as three points, but North Carolina cashed in at the free throw line when the Tigers were out of time outs and forced to foul.

"If we can make as much progress by the next time we play as we have since the last time, maybe we have a chance," Foster said.

In their last meeting, the Tar Heels took a 97-75 victory over the Tigers.

"We had to play a great ball game to beat Clemson," North Carolina coach Dean Smith said. "I don't relish the idea of playing them again in 12 days."

Jordan led North Carolina with 22 points while Perkins added 21 points. Matt Doherty had 11 and Steve Hale scored 10 as the Tar Heels climbed to 24-1.

Vincent Hamilton led Clemson with 20 points and Raymond Jones scored 11. The Tigers are 12-13 overall.

In his last eight games, Coleman has scored 164 points and grabbed 75 rebounds. That may due to advice from Terrapin coach Lefty Driesell.

"I told Ben that he was kicking the ball out a little too much," Driesell said. "I don't want him to shoot every time he gets the ball, but he's strong enough to make a move when two people are on him."

Wake Forest coach Carl Tacy said his team should have played a much better game this close to tournament time.

"We weren't ready to do the job," Tacy said. "The intensity and mental toughness that you must have playing on the road, and especially at this time of the season, just have not been there."

Adrian Branch had 17 points and Jeff Adkins and Len Bias had 16 points apiece for Maryland.

Kenny Green had 19 points for Wake Forest, while Anthony Teachey added 17. Delaney Rudd had 14 and reserve Lee Garber scored 13.

For its entire existence in the ACC, the bus rides were no fun for the Yellow Jackets. Dalrymple's basket changed all that.

"Part of my game is getting loose balls," Dalrymple said. "Once I had my fingertips on it, I knew it was mine."

Colts Owner Considers Move Offer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Baltimore Colts owner Robert J. Irsay is considering an an offer to move his National Football League franchise to Hoosier capital, according to a published report.

The Indianapolis Star today quoted unidentified sources in Baltimore as saying talks between Indianapolis officials and Irsay were in the "decision stage," rather than of a preliminary nature, as Indianapolis Mayor William H. Hudnut said Sunday.

The Star said that an Indianapolis offer to Irsay had already been made, including the following details:

Free rent in the new, 61,300-seat Hoosier Dome.

The building of a practice facility, valued at approximately $5 million.

A $15-million loan to Irsay with an annual percentage rate of 8 percent.

The newspaper quoted Baltimore Mayor William Donald Schaefer as saying he was "not overly optimistic the Colts will stay (in Baltimore)."

Reports had emerged that a deal was struck Friday with Irsay that would have the Colts playing in the Hoosier Dome next fall, but that nothing has been signed.

Hudnut would not comment on the reports. "The less I have to say about it the better," he said. "Things are very delicate. I have to protect the confidentiality of the negotiations. I don't want to blow the deal."

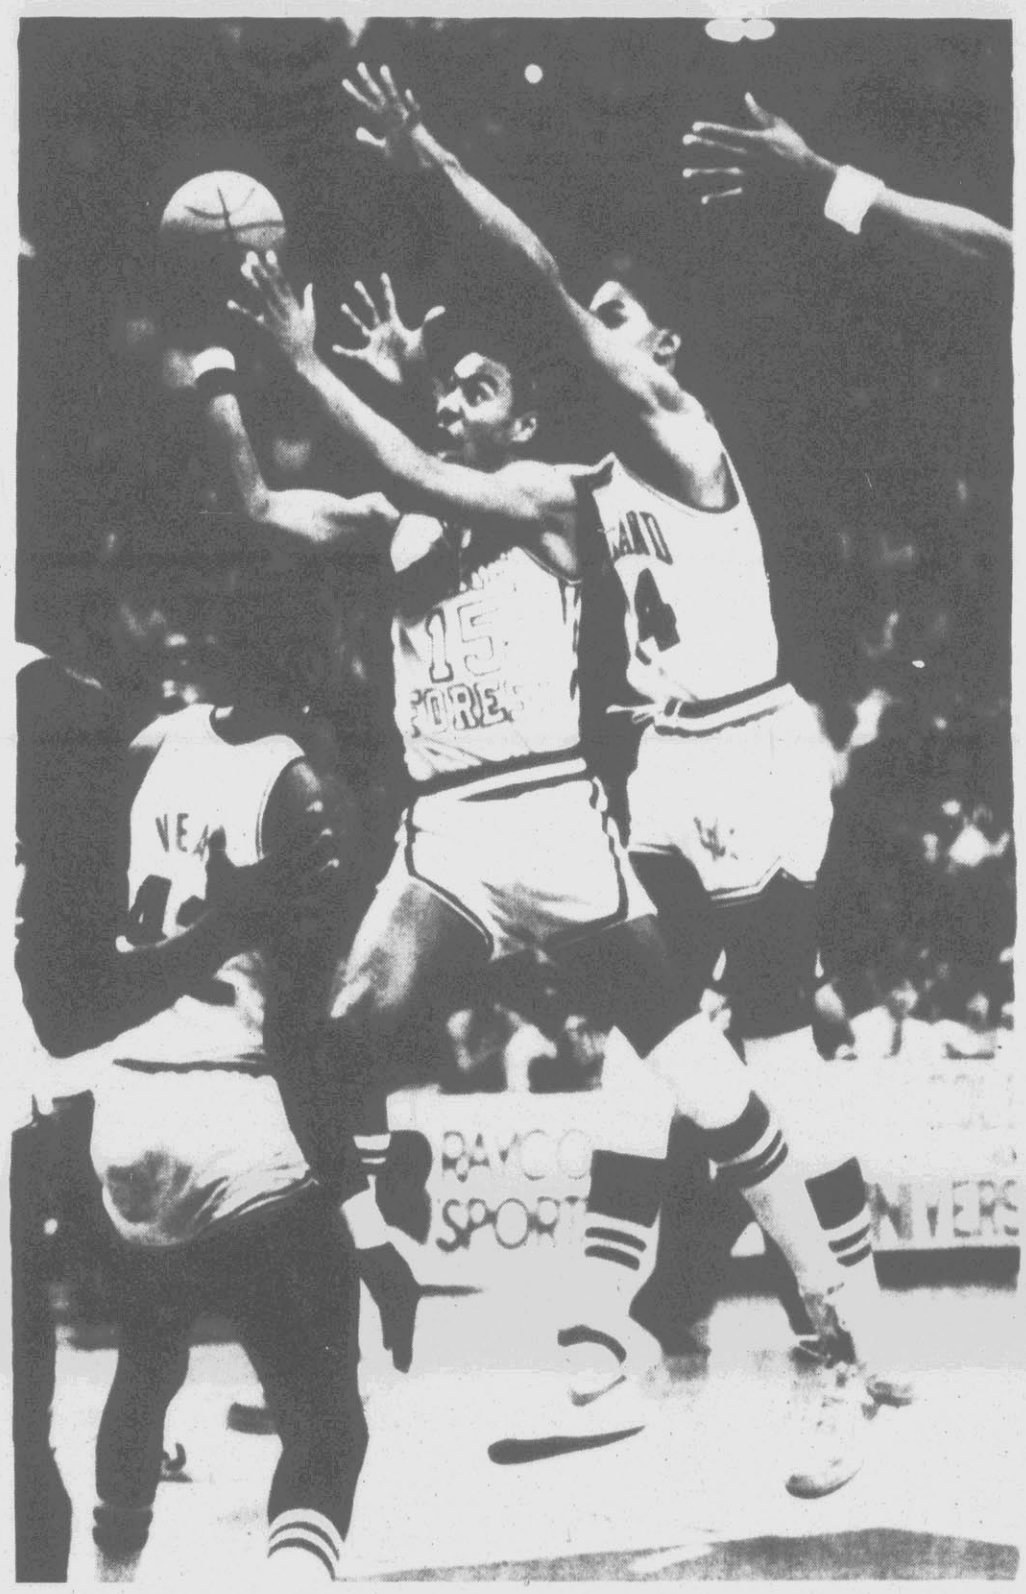

"We have had no official meeting," Hudnut said, "Though, obviously, we've been base-touching to see what is going on and what people think.

"There have been talks, and it's not my style to be coy with the media — but this whole thing could blow if it appears we are negotiating in the paper."

Hudnut would not speculate on how soon a resolution of the negotiations can be expected.

"We obviously don't want to be left dangling for a long period of time," said Hudnut.

"Premature publicity can mess it up. That's why he (Irsay) walked away from Phoenix," Hudnut added.

Wiley Paces Gymnasts

CHARLOTTE — Jody Wiley placed eighth in the vault with an 8.05 to lead a trio of representatives from the Greenville Gymnastics Club at the 1984 North Carolina Class IV State Championships held this weekend at the Weyandts Gymnastics School.

Wiley's eighth-place finish was in a group of 100 girls in the 9-11 age group, and she placed 26th in the all-around competition at 32.15.

Also competing from Greenville were Tricia Ferebee, who finished 37th in all-around with 30.45, and Nikki Dorchester, who was 56th at 26.50, in the 12-14 age group.

Barnhill Leads Rose Swimmers

GREENSBORO — Kelly Barnhill qualified with the best time in the 50-yard freestyle Saturday at the North Carolina High School Swimming and Diving Championships, but managed just sixth place after three false starts tired the swimmers.

Barnhill teammed with Paul Mark Kelly, Les Turner and Mike Uhlman of Rose High School for eighth place in the 200 medley relay with a time of 1:48.36.

Kelly also competed in the 100 breaststroke, finishing fifth with a time of 1:04.78. Barnhill finished eighth in the 100 freestyle with a 50.27.

Dupree Nears Agreement

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The New Orleans Breakers of the United States Football League are near a multimillion-dollar agreement with Marcus Dupree on a contract, says the team's owner Joseph Canizaro.

"We still have some things to do, so we can't say we've actually come to terms with Marcus," said Canizaro, who met Sunday with USFL legal adviser Steve Erhardt.

"If you're being optimistic, it could be sometime this week," said Canizaro, whose team opened the season with a 13-10 victory over the San Antonio Gunslingers. "If you're being pessimistic, it just may not be."

Erhardt said the league was "trying to analyze the individual facts surrounding Dupree's case. We're aware there have been some meetings (with the Breakers) and we're just trying to dig into all the facts."

Dupree, a running back from Philadelphia, Miss., was one of the top freshmen in the nation during the 1982 season while playing for the University of Oklahoma.

He dropped out of Oklahoma last fall, entered the University of Southern Mississippi, then dropped left there last month, because an NCAA rule would have kept him from playing until the 1985 college season.

Any contract with the Breakers still must be the approved by the USFL, which has maintained a hands-off policy toward college undergraduates since the New Jersey Generals signed Herschel Walker a year ago after his junior year at the University of Georgia.

The National Football League repeatedly has said it would not be interested in Dupree until at least 1987, the year after his class graduates.

USFL Commissioner Chet Simmons said last week that the league's policy against signing undergraduates still stands. League spokesman Jim Byrne reiterated that Sunday.

Simmons said the league would wait on Dupree until U.S. District Judge Laughlin Waters of Los Angeles writes his verbal decision that Bob Boris, a University of Arizona dropout, is free to sign with the USFL.

"We've got lawyers working on the Boris case and they're trying to get word to us right away on what that verbal decision means," Erhardt said Sunday in San Antonio.

In a 1948 basketball game, Illinois took 132 shots from the field against Colgate and made only 31.

Hoosiers Fall Below Knight's Expectations

By The Associated Press

Indiana basketball Coach Bobby Knight had bigger aspirations for his team than most preseason forecasters. That's why Sunday's 57-54 Big Ten upset loss to Michigan State especially troubled him.

"This is the most singularly disappointed I've been since I've been coaching at Indiana," said Knight, who has guided the Hoosiers to seven Big Ten titles in 12 seasons. "There comes a time when you just have to rise to the occasion, and we just don't do that."

The loss at Bloomington, Ind., cost the defending champion Hoosiers a chance to move within a half-game of first-place Purdue for the conference lead and dropped them into third place behind Illinois and the Boilermakers.

Indiana, which had been picked to finish in the middle of the Big Ten, visits Purdue Wednesday before finishing with Illinois and Ohio State. The Hoosiers now are 18-7 overall and 11-4 in league play, while Michigan State stands at 11-13, 4-10.

Sam Vincent scored 14 points, including four of Michigan State's 10 free throws in the final two minutes to offset 30 points by Hoosier freshman Steve Alford.

"Everyone could have stayed home and went on a Sunday afternoon walk," Knight said. "The only person in the game was Alford ... I'm very disappointed in how we lack a competitive approach to playing the game."

In games involving ranked teams Sunday, No. 1 North Carolina downed Clemson 82-71; No. 3 Houston rallied to edge No. 11 Arkansas 64-61; No. 4 DePaul belted Louisville 73-63; No. 7 Nevada-Las Vegas defeated California-Santa Barbara 97-69, and Maryland knocked off No. 15 Wake Forest 90-79.

In Saturday's games, No. 2 Georgetown beat Boston College 83-70; No. 4 Kentucky got by Georgia 66-64; No. 13 Purdue overtook No. 6 Illinois 59-55; No. 8 Oklahoma routed Iowa State 93-69; No. 9 Texas-El Paso stopped New Mexico 75-66, and No. 10 Tulsa ripped Southern Illinois 111-90.

Georgia Tech beat No. 14 Duke 58-56; No. 16 Syracuse edged Pittsburgh 66-65; LaSalle upset No. 17 Temple in double overtime 80-79; No. 18 Washington defeated Stanford 68-63; Louisiana State nipped No. 19 Auburn 81-80, and Arizona upset No. 20 Oregon State 69-58.

Top Ten

Michael Jordan scored 22 points and Sam Perkins 21 to raise North Carolina's record to 24-1, 12-0 in the Atlantic Coast Conference. It was the 11th consecutive ACC loss for Clemson.

Georgetown's Patrick Ewing hit all 10 shots from the field and scored 25 points before being ejected for fighting as the Hoyas, 24-3, rallied from a two-point halftime time to beat B.C. Georgetown holds a one-game lead in the conference with a 12-2 mark.

Houston, 25-3, 14-0 in the Big East, clinched at least a tie for its Southwest Conference title after overcoming Arkansas' pressure defense in the second half. Akeem Olajuwon scored 19 points and Michael Young 17 as the Cougars stretched their league winning streak to 38 and their home string to 33.

Kentucky, 21-3 and 12-3, needs only one victory in three games this week to clinch the Southeastern Conference crown. The Wildcats survived against Georgia as Dicky Beal's two free throws with 1:05 left proved the difference. A 45-foot shot by the Bulldogs' Richard Corhen at the buzzer bounced off the rim.

Dallas Comegys scored 19 points and grabbed 14 rebounds, and Tyrone Corbin added 19 points in leading DePaul, 21-2, over Louisville, 19-9, which got 19 points from Lancaster Gordon.

"National TV, I love it," said DePaul Coach Ray Meyer. "That's the 12th time we've won on national TV."

Purdue, 19-5 and 12-2, took over sole possession of first in the Big Ten by avenging an earlier loss to Illinois. Jim Rowinski poured in 20 points for the Boilermakers, while Efrem Winters led Iliinois, 20-4, 11-3, with 17 points.

Nevada-Las Vegas got 20 points from Jeff Collins in running its record to 25-2 and 16-1 in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association. The Runnin' Rebels clinched the conference crown last week.

Oklahoma, 24-3, captured the Big Eight crown by beating Iowa State behind Darryl Kennedy's 23 points. The triumph ended Missouri's run of four consecutive championships.

Fred Reynolds scored 25 points against New Mexico as Texas-El Paso, 24-2, clinched a tie for the Western Athletic Conference championship. The Miners need just one victory in two games this week to win it outright.

Steve Harris scored 25 and Herbert Johnson 23 as Tulsa improved its overall record to 23-2 against Southern Illinois. It also gave the Golden Hurricane a 12-2 Missouri Valley mark.

Second Ten

With five seconds left, Bruce Dalrymple gave Georgia Tech its ACC triumph over Duke, which had an eight-game winning streak broken. Ben Coleman's 26 points powered Maryland past Wake Forest in another ACC contest, putting the Terrapins in a second-place tie with Duke.

Rafael Addison hit 18 points in Syracuse's Big East win over Pitt, which failed get any points from Clyde Vaughan in the last 11 minutes. With a 12-4 mark, the Orangemen are second in the Big East.

Ralph Lewis scored 21 points and clinched the victory by sinking two free throws with 1:07 left in the second overtime period as LaSalle downed Temple, 21-3.

Derrick Taylor's two free throws with nine seconds to play earned LSU its victory over Auburn in an SEC game.

Freshman Christian Welp scored 20 points in leading Washington over Stanford in a Pacific-10 contest. Combined with Oregon State's loss, the Huskies took over sole possession of first place with a 13-2 mark, 20-5 overall.

Led by Pete Williams' 18 points, Arizona won its third straight for the first time in three years. Oregon State, 19-6, 12-3 in the Pacific 10, got 16 points from A.C. Green.

Rudd Passes Waltrip

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Ricky Rudd's crew chief had the foresight to bring three sets of scuffed tires along with six sets of new tires to the Richmond Fairgrounds.

That extra rubber and some quick work on a bent front end were crucial factors in Rudd's nearly 3-second victory over Darrell Waltrip in Sunday's Miller High Life 400 Nascar Grand National stock car race.

Rudd, 27, took the lead with 19 laps remaining, less than 10 laps after putting on used tires during the last caution, and went on to collect $31,775 for the win.

He averaged 76.736 mph in his Wrangler Jeans Ford during the 216.8-mile race over the .542-mile Fairgrounds oval.

Waltrip, who started from the pole position and led five times for 348 of the 400 laps, earned $27,865 for second place. In third and the only other car in the lead lap was Terry Labonte.

The total purse of $243,256 made the race one of the richest short-track events ever run.

Rudd said crew chief Bud Moore and his workers were the reason he won.

"The front end got knocked out of line and the car started steering real bad," said Rudd. That happened shortly after the race's midpoint, when Rudd was forced into the outside guard rail to avoid a slower car.

"After that, I told Bud that I was just going to run the best I could," said Rudd. "I would've been more conservative, but Bud kept doing things to the car.

"I don't know what they did, but they deserve the credit for this win for getting the car back in shape to run," he said.

And then there's that tire change, when Moore put on tires that had been used in practice. Waltrip, who had seven new sets but needed one more, didn't pull into the pit on the last caution.

"You won't believe this. We ran out of tires" said Waltrip. "We had the best car all day ... and our guys figured we wouldn't need as many tires as we did, or they just didn't get enough ready. So, we thought staying out there would be better than a used set."

Rudd, who suffered various minor injuries when he flipped his car two weeks ago at Daytona, Fla., completed the race in 2 hours, 49 minutes and 31 seconds.

Waltrip was leading in his Budweiser Chevrolet when he and Rudd both entered the pits on the 381st lap. Both drivers left the pits at the same time, but Rudd passed Waltrip with seeming ease.

to pull out the game. "It's much better than last year," Anderson said. "I've had time to get my stuff down."

There were 42,915 at Tampa Stadium, 478 more than attended last year's opener.

Bulls 53, Federals 14

Much-traveled quarterback Matt Robinson threw for 299 yards and three touchdowns, and Larry Mason ran for two scores as the Bulls broke Tampa's single-game USFL scoring mark of 45. There was a crowd of 49,392 at the Gator Bowl.

Washington quarterback Mike Hohensee ran for one score, and his backup, Reggie Collier, threw 41 yards to Joey Walters for the other.

Breakers 13, Gunslingers 10

Johnnie Walton's 40-yard touchdown paits win over yet another stubborn expansion team before an estimated crowd of 18,000 at San Antonio's Alamo Stadium. Rick Neuheisel, most valuable player in this year's Rose Bowl, completed 16 of 26 for 174 yards for the Gunslingers.

Nick Mike-Mayer's 34-yard-field goal attempt that could have tied it for San Antonio went wide in a gusting wind with 2:26 left.

Stars 17, Showboats 9

Philadelphia, whose 15-3 mark was the league's best in last year's regular season, used the same formula — tough defense and methodical offense. Chuck Fusina's 42-yard touchdown pass to Steve Folsom put the game away in the fourth quarter as 28,098 fans turned out for the USFL's Memphis debut.

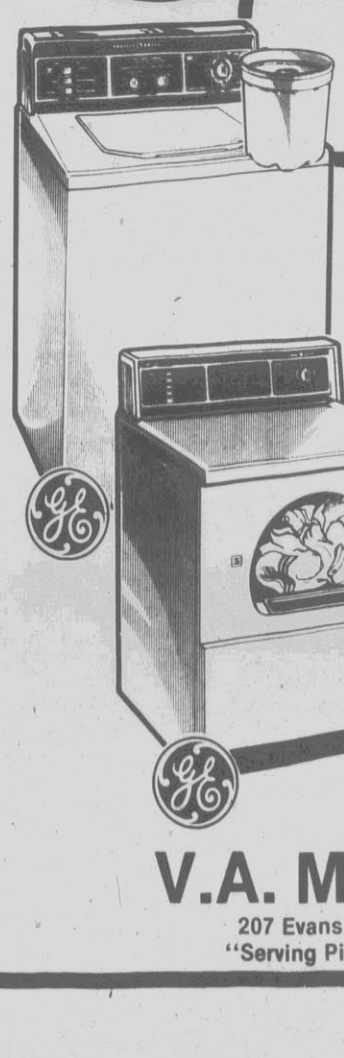

Gold 27, Express 10

Craig Penrose's 6-yard touchdown pass to Elmer Bailey with 5:50 left broke a 10-10 tie, and Darryl Hemphill returned an interception 42 yards for a touchdown just 1:11 later to break open the game for Denver.

The crowd in the Coliseum was 32,082, second largest crowd in Express history. The largest was last year's opener, which drew 34,002 to see Walker and the Generals.

Junkyard Band Raises Roof—Some Eyebrows

By ROBERT M. ANDREWS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy Center had never seen anything quite like it — a bunch of young black kids from the ghetto raising the roof with their irreverent lyrics, fancy dance steps and special brand of music played on homemade instruments salvaged from neighborhood trash cans.

Members of the Barry Farms Junkyard Band, aged 12 to 17, made their debut at the elegant, marbled cultural center on the Potomac one recent Saturday morning before an audience of nearly 400 shouting, hand-waving, hip-swinging youngsters attending the center's annual "cultural diversity festival," marking Black History Month.

Lead singer Steven Herrion, hip in sunglasses and tight slacks, drew laughs and cheers with his undulating takeoff on Michael Jackson's "Billy Jean" routine. The crowd warmed to "Shake It On Down" and "Barry Farms Slide," and went wild when the band swung into one of its most popular numbers:

"Crystal went down to the food stamp place.

"The man shut the door in Crystal's face.

"She said, What's hapnin, what's the word?

"He said, Hey girl, haven't you heard?

"The trip's gettin deep, it's not too funny.

"Reagan's makin bombs with the food stamp money."

The infectious, driving beat, which continued non-stop through the 45-minute show, is played on sawed-off plastic buckets, tin cans and cowbells mounted on milk crates and bright orange traffic cones. Abetting the percussions are toy store trumpets, tambourines, snare drums and cymbals, a cheap electronic keyboard and a set of bongos donated by a fan.

For the 10 members of the band, the Kennedy Center stage was only a few miles away by rented van — but a world apart — from their home in the Barry Farms neighborhood of Anacostia, a poor, inner-city community in southeast Washington.

In a neighborhood where men huddle glumly on street corners and passersby walk fast, band members practice their "junk funk" after school in a cramped tenement apartment.

Their director is Derrick McCrae, 22, a mail clerk for the District of Columbia police department who organized the Junkyard Band in the summer of 1980.

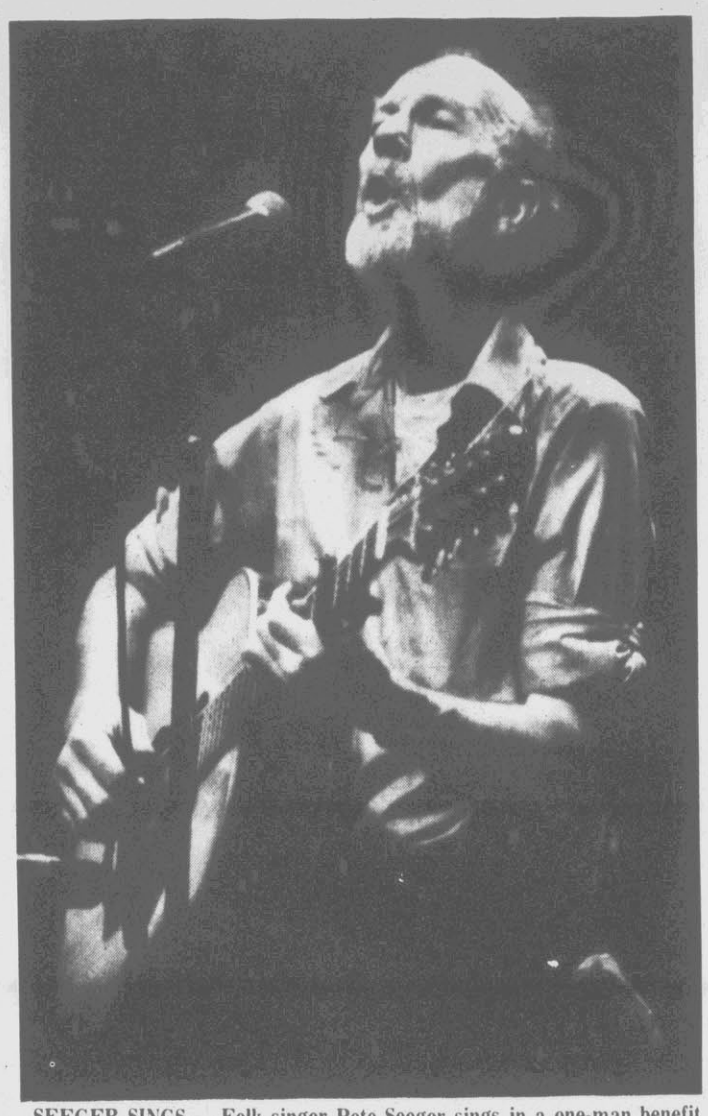

"They started making noise together in my backyard, and I said, 'Hey, I like that. I gotta show this to the world'," McCrae said. "We got this place for rehearsals, and we've been rolling ever since."

They've played at local theaters, colleges, benefit marathon races, night clubs, recreation centers and parks, the city convention center and coliseum and Christmas festivals at swank shopping malls. They even give sidewalk concerts for loose change.

They've appeared on a syndicated children's TV show, been written up in National Geographic World magazine, won a certificate of appreciation from President Reagan for a summer concert in the park behind the White House, and played a bit role in the movie comedy "D.C. Cab."

Boxing champion Sugar Ray Leonard caught their gig in a night club, and liked what he heard. He bought them specially designed Barry Farms Junkyard Band T-shirts and jackets to wear at concerts.

"This neighborhood is a real, low-income ghetto," McCrae said. "We've got our share of drugs, alcoholics and crime."

Schedule Auditions

Auditions will be held Wednesday and Thursday from 7:30 until 10 p.m. for "Angel City," the fifth and final production of the 1984 season of the East Carolina Playhouse. The auditions will be held in room 206 of the Messick Theatre Arts Center.

Under the direction of Cedric Winchell, the play offers roles for five men and one woman who must have some rather specific performance skills. One of the men in the play actually has no lines, but the actor in that role must be an accomplished saxophone player. Another man is needed in a speaking role that calls for him to play the timpani drums, and still another actor who has experience in the martial arts. The one actress in the play must also be experienced in the martial arts and will be expected to dance in the production.

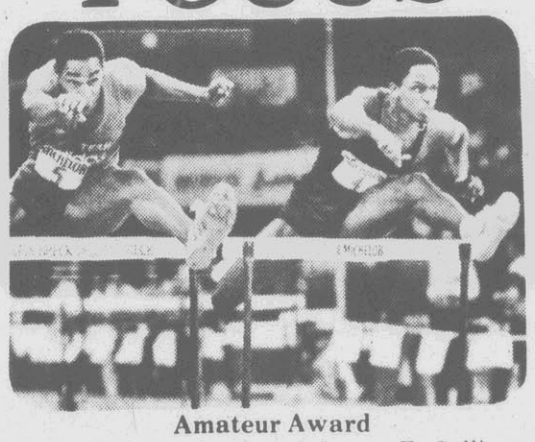

"Angel City" is a satirical comedy by Sam Shepard, who is perhaps better known as the actor who portrays a role patterned after veteran test pilot Chuck Yeager in the motion picture "The Right Stuff." In addition to the recognition he has received from the movie, Shepard has also been heralded as "the most influential young playwright in America," by the New York Post.

In "Angel City," Shepard deals with the landscape of American mythology, the greatest American myth of all: Hollywood. A young stuntman is hired by a movie producer to save his $8 million dollar picture from disaster.

The performance dates of the production are April 18-21 in McGinnis Theatre on the ECU campus. ECU students, faculty, staff and local residents are invited to audition.

For further information, call 757-6390.

FOCUS

Amateur Award

Tonight the 54th annual James E. Sullivan Award will be presented to America's most outstanding amateur athlete. The award is named for the founder and ninth president of the Amateur Athletic Union. Athletes from track and field and swimming have dominated the award. Only two Sullivan Award winners have come from winter sports. This year marks the fifth consecutive year that diver Greg Louganis has been nominated.

DO YOU KNOW — Who won the Sullivan Award last year?

FRIDAY'S ANSWER — George Foreman was the last U.S. heavyweight to win a gold medal.

CRYPTOQUIP 2-27

JSEC GNLFUQGNPP LQNJ GBMIEUA CSL MILBMIA ECUEFL.

Saturday's Cryptoquip — THE UPSET RETIREE'S APPREHENSION: A PENSION SUSPENSION.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: L equals S.

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q.1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQJ7 ♡5 ◇AQ63 ♣K1095
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 ◇	Pass	Pass	1 ♡
Dble	?

What action do you take?
A.—First, partner need not have much for his reopening bid — if he had the equivalent of an opening bid, he would have made a takeout double. Second, East's double is for takeout, so West must have heart length. Nevertheless, you have an excellent hand, and to show it, redouble now. You intend doubling the opponents wherever they alight.

Q.2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ85 ♡72 ◇AJ1095 ♣K6
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	2 ♣	2 ♡	Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Your partner's two heart bid is unconditionally forcing, so proceed as if the overcall did not exist. Had partner responded one heart to your opening bid, you would have rebid one spade. Therefore, you should now bid two spades.

Q.3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠84 ♡A105 ◇AQJ762 ♣54
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	1 ♡	2 ◇	Pass
3 ♠	3 ♡	?

What action do you take?
A.—You cannot be sure your side can make game — as a matter of fact, there is a distinct possibility that your hands don't fit too well. However, your misfit suggests that East has been a trifle rambunctious in the auction, and that you might collect a sizable penalty, especially if you can promote your ten of trumps. Double.

Q.4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠10982 ♡K763 ◇6 ♣A985
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	2 ◇	Pass	Pass
Dble	Pass	?

What do you bid now?
A.—Considering the fact that you haven't yet made a bid, you have a very fine hand. How high you can go and where you should play the hand depends on just how strong partner is. Start off by giving the good news that you have working values — cue-bid three diamonds.

Q.5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQJ ♡Q8762 ◇K8 ♣983
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
2 ◇	Pass	?

What do you bid now?
A.—With his reverse, partner has announced a very good hand. Although you have nothing to be ashamed of, it looks as if you might have wasted values in spades. Jump to three no trump. That tells partner you have a spades well stopped, and he is free to bid on if that information improves his hand.

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠J5 ♡AK2 ◇AQJ98 ♣KQJ
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	1 ♠	1 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Blessed are those partners who solve all of your problems. Since North has responded one no trump freely, he must have fair values and the opponents' suit under control. Your jack of spades should prove invaluable in keeping West at bay. Make the value bid by jumping to three no trump.

Clean-up Supported

RALEIGH (AP) — A request for more funds by the state Department of Natural Resources and Community Development to clean up water supplies is receiving support from environmental groups.

The agency is seeking $13.2 million to address the state's lack of knowledge about the effects of toxic chemicals on drinking water, the intrusion of fresh water into sensitive, coastal saltwater fish nurseries and the largest source of water pollution — soil erosion.

"For a couple of years, we think the department was getting cut up by federal budget cuts and not willing to admit it," said Bill Holman, chief lobbyist for the Sierra Club and the Conservation Council of North Carolina. "We're real pleased they've decided to go for it, so to speak."

The NRCD package is now under consideration by Gov. Jim Hunt, who already has endorsed several of the proposals.

"Everywhere we turn, citizens are demanding greater environmental protection," said NRCD Secretary James Summers. "This could be a very, very significant step for state government."

Summers said Hunt is "very supportive of the concepts and ideas." He said the package must clear the state budget process and receive Hunt's firm approval before it becomes part of the administration's legislative proposals.

Summers said although his department supports a ban on phosphate detergents, it will leave the initiative for such a law to the General Assembly.

A MASS EXODUS

LONDON (AP) — Residents of the Falkland Islands will leave their South Atlantic archipelago in a mass exodus if Britain hands over any degree of sovereignty to Argentina's new government, according to a newspaper poll published today.
