Pitt Secondary Road Work Approved

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

A secondary road improvement program for 1984-85, recommended by the N.C. Department of Transportation and amounting to $594,650, was approved by the Pitt County Board of Commissioners Monday.

George Harper of Kinston, a member of the Board of Transportation, presented the proposed secondary road projects to commissioners.

Harper, who described secondary roads as "a lifeline for farmers," said all unpaved roads in Pitt County will be "re-rated at the end of this year," and new priorities established.

The 1984-85 improvement programs includes: adding additional base and paving .6 mile of SR 1742 (near McGowan's Crossroads) from SR 1700 to the dead end (30,400); acquire right of way, grade, drain, base and pave .22 mile of SR 1262 (at Bell Arthur) from SR 1206 to the dead end ($28,000); add base and pave 1.6 miles of SR 1773 (near Hudson's Crossroads) from SR 1775 to SR 1772 ($81,200); and acquire right of way, grade, drain, and stabilize 1.8 miles of SR 1736 (near Worthington's Crossroads) from SR 1711 to SR 1725 ($101,000).

Other projects include: acquire right of way, grade, drain and stabilize 1.2 miles of SR 1512 (the Sweet Gum Church area) from SR 1514 to Sr 1518 ($74,000); widen from 16 feet to 20 feet, 1.6 miles of SR 1759 from SR 1700 to Simpson ($86,400); widen from 18 feet to 22 feet, 1.5 miles of SR 1726 from N.C. 33 (at Pinewood Memorial Park) to SR 1725 ($73,700); and add base and pave .22 miles of SR 1293 (Elwood Subdivision) from SR 1200 to dead end with property owners participation ($7,500 from DOT and $4,744 from property owners).

The secondary road improvement plan also calls for spot stabilization on 36 secondary roads at a cost of $100,000.

Harper also presented a list of six other projects to be substituted for any one of the eight primary projects in the event one of the primary

$350,000 Approved For 'Remediation'

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

The Greenville School Board Monday night approved a recommendation to include at least $350,000 in its 1984-85 budget request to provide additional teachers and aides for a remediation program for students in kindergarten through grade six.

Board members at their March 15 meeting requested specific recommendations with estimated costs for consideration Monday night. The needs and projected costs were presented by Charles Ross, director of education for the city school system.

Ross listed as additional needs, by grade groupings:

•K-3 reading — four teachers, eight aides, $142,400.

•4-6 reading — four aides, $31,200.

•K-3 math — four teachers, four aides, $111,200.

•4-6 math — two teachers, two aides, $55,600.

•K-3 summer school — eight teachers, $8,800.

•4-6 summer school — six teachers, 6,000.

He placed the total cost for additional teachers and aides at $355,000.

The motion for approval as a budget request in the FY 84-85 budget also stipulates the inclusion of additoinal funds for transportation costs to cover the proposed summer school sessions.

Superintendent Delma Blinson told board members that the proposed expansion in the remediation program "would put us back to the level we were at three or four years ago, maybe even with a little plus factor."

Blinson said the remediation program, at one time considered a national priority with substantial federal funding provided, had been drastically cut by the Reagan Administration, resulting in the continual loss of budget for teachers and aides. "Our program was focused on remedial reading. We have never had a comparable program in remedial math," he added.

Action on two related proposals — an honors program for students in grades 8-12 and a grouping recommendation for Rose and Aycock schools — was tabled. Board members concurred that more information was needed, and opposition was voiced by several community spokesmen.

The recommendations for establishment of a comprehensive honors program at the secondary level was presented by Ann Harrison, director of pupil personnel. Among recommendations set forth are:

•Honors courses shall be clearly designated and so indicated on high school transcripts.

•Honors courses shall only include the academic areas of English, math, social studies, science and foreign languages III and IV.

•Honors courses shall receive more weight than other courses. A three-tiered formula shall be used in computing weights. All students and parents shall be made aware of the formula.

•Quality points (QPs) shall be cumulative and shall be computed on all subjects. In computing QPs, failing as well as passing marks shall be included.

•Rank in class shall be based on the number of quality points earned in all subjects. All students shall be included in developing the rank order list.

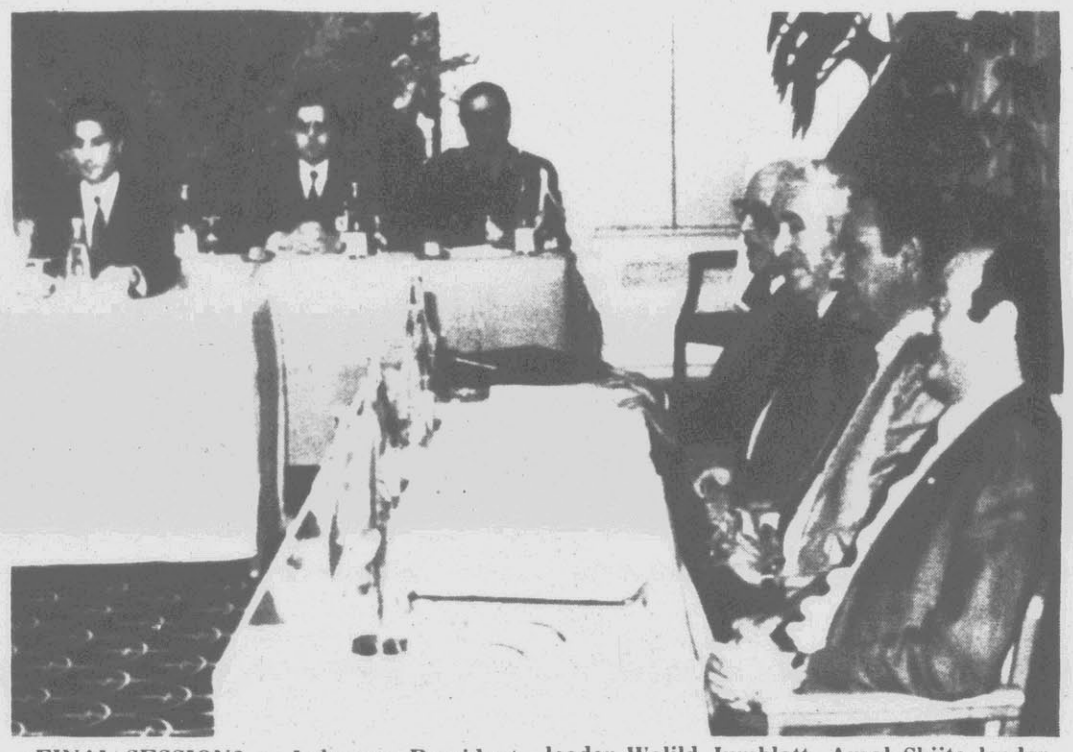

•Use of the weighted grade formula shall begin with the class of 1987 and 1988 — incoming ninth and 10th graders — with 10th graders in the class of 1987 to receive weight only for courses taken in grades 10-12.

The proposed system of grade and quality point by levels equates to a weighted point system in the following manner:

In the category of academic subjects, quality points assigned for achievement in making an A (93-100) would be six QPs for students enrolled in the honors program; five QPs for students enrolled in a college preparation program, and four QPs for students enrolled in a general program.

Using the same basic scale, QPs

Nation's Productivity Is Confounding The Experts

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy, which roared back last year from a steep recession, picked up even more steam as 1984 began, the government reported today. Through March, the economy was growing at an estimated annual rate of 7.2 percent.

Today's Commerce Department report portrayed an economy so strong it continues to confound experts who have been forecasting slower growth. Many pundits' growth estimates had been 5 to 6 percent for the first three months of the year.

The department not only projected growth of 7.2 percent for the first quarter but revised the growth rate for the final three months of 1983 upward once again — to 5 percent.

The department had originally put fourth quarter growth at 4.5 percent as measured by the gross national product, after adjusting for inflation. The GNP is the nation's total output of goods and services.

The revision in the fourth quarter boosted beal GNP growth for all of 1983 to 3.4 percent. It had been originally put at 3.3 percent and compared to a decline in real GNP of 1.9 percent in 1982, when the country was mired in the recession.

The GNP report was certain to stir fears in the financial community that the Federal Reserve Board may move to tighten credit to prevent the economy from overheating. The stock market plunged Monday after banks raised their prime lending rate to 11.5 percent, the first upward revision since August.

Many experts fear that the Fed will also move to raise interest rates in an effort to cool the economy down and the Reagan administration has voiced concerns that too tight a policy on the part of the Fed could jeopardize a strong economy in this election year.

Martin Feldstein, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, said today's GNP report "shows the economy is still on a powerful roll." He said he wasn't concerned about overheating because a large part of the growth was in inventory rebuilding and "price pressures remain under control."

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige called the 7.2 percent growth rate a "temporary acceleration" and not a sign of overheating. He said economic activity would slow as the year progresses and the administration was sticking by its estimate of 4.5 percent growth for the full year.

He said severe weather had shifted some of December's economic activity into the first quarter, which also benefitted from auto production that would normally occur in the spring.

"New car assemblies rose by an estiamted 17 percent in the first quarter, contributing about 2 percentage points to the growth rate in real GNP," he said. "Assemblies are scheduled to drop in the second quarter as some auto plants are closed earlier than usual to retool for new models."

The Commerce Department attributed the strong GNP growth in the still-unfinished first quarter to "substantial increases" in both final sales and inventory building by businesses.

The report showed inflation also picking up again. Prices, as measured by the GNP price index, are expected to rise 5.1 percent in the January-March period compared to a 4.2 percent rise in the fourth quarter.

The estimate of GNP growth for January-March is subject to substantial revision as more information is gathered, but the so-called "flash" estimate provides a good idea of the direction the economy is headed.

The 7.2 percent growth rate for the first quarter would compare to a 2.6 percent increase a year ago as the recovery was beginning, a 9.7 percent growth rate in the spring quarter and a 7.6 percent growth rate in the third quarter last year.

Compromise Proposal On Lebanon Said Not Enough

By HANNS NEUERBOURG
Associated Press Writer

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — A compromise proposal was on the agenda for today's session of the Lebanese reconciliation conference but rival Moslem and Christian leaders said it fell short of the comprehensive settlement they had hoped to reach.

President Amin Gemayel presented the nine-page document, a synthesis of eight days and nights of bargaining, at a one-hour session Monday night.

Gemayel's national security adviser, Wadih Haddad, said he hoped today's meeting among the nine leaders and two observers, from Syria and Saudi Arabia, would be the final one. But an opposition source said he could not rule out the possibility of another deadlock.

Gemayel's spokesman, Michel Samaha, said Monday night that there was "still disagreement" over some points of the compromise plan.

The proposal was understood to include measures for shoring up the official cease-fire that has been violated almost nightly since it was agreed on last week; a formula for forming a "government of national unity" and a committee to tackle constitutional reforms. Such reforms would revise the power-sharing system that favors Lebanon's Christian community even though Moslems dominate the population of about 3 million.

Ensuring observance of the cease-fire is considered a crucial first step toward lasting political changes. The cease-fire was agreed on last Tuesday, the second day of the conference, but it has been violated numerous times since then, at the cost of 128 lives in Beirut.

Beirut police reported today that overnight fighting along the "green line," which divides Lebanon's capital into Christian and Moslem sectors, took four lives. Another 18 people were wounded, they said.

Monday night's plenary session followed 36 hours of private bargaining with participants shuttling from room to room at Lausanne's Beau Rivage Hotel.

Both the president's father, Pierre Gemayel, who heads the right-wing Phalange Party, and Druse opposition leader Walid Jumblatt made clear in interviews before Monday's session that they expected the conference to produce some kind of minimal agreement if only because no one wanted to return to Beirut empty-handed.

Pierre Gemayel said he did not believe the accord would touch any "profound" issues and was not likely to be "very serious."

Jumblatt spoke of a "vague compromise" taking shape which he described as "disastrous." He said he was "disappointed" but "one has to be a realist."

Conference sources said the main military points of the compromise document include measures to separate the civil war combatants, consolidate the cease-fire and reopen crossings between Beirut's Christian and Moslem sectors.

They said political reforms proposed would increase the seats in Parliament from 99 to 120, with the legislature equally divided between Christians and Moslems instead of the present 6-5 ratio in favor of the Christians. Election of the additional legislators would be held "as soon as possible."

The 1943 "National Pact" that gave Maronite Christians the presidency, Sunni Moslems the premiership and Shiite Moslems the presidency of Parliament, would be preserved, the sources said.

In a surprise move Monday, opposition ranks were reduced with the withdrawal of former President Suleiman Franjieh from the anti-government National Salvation Front.

Aides to Franjieh, who had been the lone Christian in the alliance, said he was angered by the insistence of his Moslem allies — Jumblatt and former Prime Minister Rashid Karami — on stripping Christians of some of their influence in the government.

"The front decides one thing during its meetings and then talks about something else during the national reconciliation conference," Franjieh said in a statement.

Some Homemade Gifts Are Cherished Ones

DEAR ABBY: I don't mean to sound ungrateful, but I have had it with homemade decorator items from my in-laws with the message, "This will look lovely in you living room, kitchen or den."

Believe me, Abby, lack of money is not the reason for these homemade gifts. I appreciate the thought and effort that went into these gifts, but they are creating a real problem for me. I have my own style of decorating, and these craft items simply do not fit in.

I don't want to hurt anyone's feelings, but I also don't want the pressure of trying to remember to get all these items out on display when my in-laws visit.

Please tell people to reserve their handicraft items for their own homes. They should not impose their personal taste on another person's home. I know from talking to my friends that I am not the only one with this problem.

You could do us all a tremendous favor by printing this letter, Abby.

SWAMPED IN BRIC-A-BRAC

DEAR SWAMPED: Here's your letter. I hope it helps, because there's no way to tell people that their homemade gifts are not welcome. Some are cherished.

DEAR ABBY: I like this guy I'll call Mike, and my problem is his girlfriend. I'll call her Judy.

It all started when Mike followed me to my locker one day and started talking to me. We seemed to hit it off real well. I could tell that he liked me, but there is just one thing standing between us — Judy.

For a while the minor flirting between us was pretty hush-hush, but the kids started teasing us and then Judy got wind of it. I know Mike doesn't really like her anymore, but I heard that he confronted her with his true feelings about me and she broke down, so he gave in to her and now they're back together again stronger than ever.

Mike hasn't told me what's going on between them, so I am in the dark except for what I hear from my friends who are close to his friends. I have deep feelings for Mike and I know he really likes me, but Judy is in the way.

I don't want to lose him. What should I do?

NORA (NOT MY REAL NAME)

DEAR NORA: You never really "had" Mike, so you can't very well "lose" him. No boy — Mike included — stays with a girl very long after he's lost his heart to another girl. Time will tell.

If Mike doesn't come around in a few weeks, forget him. Judy has him all locked up, and he appears to be a willing prisoner.

DEAR ABBY: My husband spent many years in prison where he had someone telling him what to do all the time, so I hate to give him orders, but this is serious.

So far it's been two months since he took a bath or washed his stingy hair, and I just can't take it any longer. He thinks deodorants are for sissies and he really smells bad. He looks awful and has dirt in places that nobody except me sees.

Meanwhile he expects me to have sex with him regularly. I love him, but I'm turned off by him and can't find words to tell him.

I am immaculate myself and bathe regularly — twice a week. Please tell me what to do.

NO WORDS

DEAR NO WORDS: Try these words: "Darling, I love you, but you smell bad. Please take a bath, if not for yourself, for me."

White Shrine Name Officers

Greenville Shrine No. 7 named new officers at its meeting Wednesday evening. Named were Jean K. Tharp, Worthy High Priestess, Bryce Tharp, Watchman of Shepherds, Margaret Gray, Noble Prophetess, A.E. Forrest, Associate Watchman of Shepherds.

Blanche Jackson, Chaplain, Annie Turner, Worthy Scribe, J. Edward Ricks, Worthy Treasurer, Jane Adams, Worthy Shepherdess, and Lillian Hendrix, Worthy Guide.

There will be an open installation of officers April 7 at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Temple.

Miss Turner, Ethel Allen and Ethel Ricks were appointed to a committee to prepare a resolution of respect in memory of Ruby Revelle. Mrs. Tharp paid tribute to the late Nell W. Moore.

The meeting was conducted by Emma S. Youmans, Worthy High Prisetess.

Union Carbide Facility Slated

RALEIGH (AP) — Union Carbide Corp., based in Connecticut, will consolidate its UCAR Emulsion Systems Department in a 20,000-square-foot building in Cary, N.C., Gov. Jim Hunt announced.

The facility, in which $2 million will be invested initially, will serve as world headquarters for the UCAR Emulsion Systems Department. More than 50 people will work at the facility in management, marketing, research and development.

Operations are expected to begin by Sept. 1.

The Cary facility will include offices, an extensive research and development laboratory, and a test facility.

Cars Collide

Cars driven by Donald Ray Daughridge of 309 Hillcrest Drive and Allison Rose Karam of College Court Trailer Park collided about 4 p.m. Monday at the intersection of Fifth and 10th streets.

Police, who charged Ms. Karam with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety, estimated damage at $800 to the Daughtridge car and $2,000 to the Karam vehicle.

Campaign Tour

Bob Jordan, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, will campaign in Pitt County Thursday, visiting area businesses and industries and the East Carolina University campus during the day, then attend at 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. campaign rally at the King and Queen North Restaurant.

Carl Darden, Jordan's Pitt County campaign manager, said tickets for the rally will be available at the door.

Jordan, a four-term state senator from Montgomery County, is president of Jordan Lumber and Supply Co. of Mount Gilead, and is currently serving as co-chairman of the Senate Base Budget Committee.

Public Program

McKinney Elected

Delegates to the Republican Party's 1st Congressional District convention in New Bern have elected Hal McKinney of Pitt County as a delegate to the Republican National Convention. McKinney is the GOP district vice chairman.

Candidates attending the district convention included Rep. Jim Martin and Ruby Hooper, who are seeking nomination for governor; Rep. Bill Hiatt, Barbara Perry, Eric Little and John Carrington, candidates for lietutenant governor; Gene Baker, candidate for superintendent of public instruction; Herb Lee and Gene Leggett, candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives, and Patric Dorsey, candidate for secretary of state. Candidates for the state Legislature and local offices also attended.

Exposure Reported

Greenville police are looking for a man who exposed himself to a 10-year-old girl near the intersection of Longwood and Overlook Drives about 3 p.m. Monday.

Officer D.R. Wyrick said the child was walking toward her Longwood Drive home after getting off a school bus when a man called her to his car to aske directions. Wyrick said the man was wearing only a purple T-shirt.

Villa Carnival

Mayor Janice Buck joined the residents and staff of Greenville Villa nursing home in announcing plans for the center's outdoor carnival on March 31 in support of the fight against arthritis.

Terry Fuller, activity director, said the carnival will feature games, booths with crafts and baked goods, a dunking booth and hot air balloon rides. The New Dixie Grass and the Ayden Allemanders will entertain. Activities begin at 11 a.m.

Leave It Alone

State Rep. Ed Warren and a potential ally, Ahoskie legislative hopeful Joe Parker, have come up with proposals for the General Assembly to require N.C. State University to continue its football rivalry with East Carolina University. Parker even says the "whole question of athletics at state-supported universities needs legislative attention."

That couldn't be further from the truth. Legislative intervention in collegiate athletics is not unprecedented in this country, but it certainly is not one of those things you sit around waiting to happen.

Universities should be free to schedule whomever they wish to play. Each school is and should be free to seek those opponents it deems more appropriate and more advantageous for its schedule.

East Carolina, while continuing its effort to schedule teams in North Carolina, has done just that — it has gone outside the state to schedule major football opposition. The practice paid off last year, when the Pirates finished among the top 20 teams in the country.

And we can't help wonder how the Legislature could require N.C.State to play ECU and not require similar competition in football and basketball, or other sports, with other schools in the UNC system.

Please, legislators, let well enough alone and stay out of it.

Poison In The Air

The dying of European forests from effects of polluted air is not a new story. The early stages were seen years ago in Germany, and the plague is spreading. Switzerland is among the more recent countries to reach a stage of near-panic over the realities.

Forests are dying from the release of nitric oxide of motor vehicles and factories emitting hydrocarbons, and "acid rain" carrying sulfur dioxide. The nitric acid in emissions combines with sunlight to produce ozone which in turn produces chemicals that kill trees. Fungus and bark beetles are a secondary effect.

Remedial actions are being discussed; among them lowering of speed limits on highways, banning use of leaded gasoline and mandating the use of catalytic converters in motor vehicles.

Many of us remember the recent past when forest lands near heavily used U.S. highways showed effects of motor vehicle exhausts ... a factor influencing introduction of catalytic converters.

Increased use of unleaded gasoline became a matter of policy, but much remains to be done about other sources of air pollutants poisoning our land.

Senate Protocol

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the Senate, members are never referred to by name, only by state, and it sometimes gets kind of confusing, even for Senate leaders who are supposed to keep track of those kind of things.

Sen. Minority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., was talking to Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., when he committed what is usually regarded as one of the cardinal sins of the chamber. He asked: "Does the senator from Washington wish me to respond?"

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., was quick to point out Byrd's error. "Oregon," he said. "The senator is from Oregon."

Hatfield explained to Byrd the difference: "It was once all known as the Oregon country and then we cut out the heart of the watermelon and made the rest of the state, and the remainder of the rind was for Washington state."

Unfortunately, no one was on the floor from Washington to register an objection.

Byrd then apologized to Hatfield. "I can understand the umbrage that the senator may or may not have taken. I quite often feel that same way about the great state of West Virginia."

He said often people mistake him for being from Virginia.

"So I try upon every such occasion to stand firmly in defense of the sacred name of my great state, West, by God, Virginia."

But Byrd then observed another timeworn Senate tradition — editing his own remarks before they are printed in the Congressional Record.

The Record of the day's proceedings showed Byrd to have said: "My great state of West, by golly, Virginia."

Meanwhile, Baker's turn came the following day for getting confused over a senator's state. During discussion of legislation to provide food relief for Africa, Baker referred to Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Mo., as "the senator from Africa."

During a meeting of the House Budget Committee, Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y., was questioning Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger on a matter of military spending. He said he wanted to get in one more question "since it's your last appearance up here ..."

"Do you know something I don't?" said Weinberger.

"We live in hope up here," Downey replied.

The battle in the Senate over a proposed constitutional amendment to restore organized prayer to public schools has kept the Capitol switchboards humming and has produced a ton of mail and telegrams — including some purporting to be from quarters not usually heard from.

Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., the leading opponent of the prayer amendment, said he got a telegram that said: "You are doing a great job. Keep up the good work. Have room for you and yours." It was signed "Satan."

A Lesson On The Courts

WASHINGTON — Institutions of higher learning are expected to provide a kind of higher education that goes beyond the simplicities of high school. A small college in Pennsylvania recently fulfilled that expectation admirably. Let us contemplate three lessons worth taking to heart.

The Supreme Court case of Grove City College v. Bell teaches us, first, that sometimes it is important to stand on principle, no matter the cost. Second, we should learn anew the old truth that federal aid is inseparable from federal control. Finally, let us think about the nature of judges and the process by which they are nominated and confirmed.

Grove City is a small college, but obviously there are those who love it. Founded in 1876, the college from the beginning has pursued a fiercely independent course. It never has sought or accepted a dime in direct federal aid. But at the time the government brought this stupid suit in 1977, about 140 of the 2,200 students were receiving BEOGs (Basic Educational Opportunity Grants) and another 342 had obtained GSLs (Guaranteed Student Loans).

The Carter administration took the view that this assistance to individual students infected the entire institution with the virus of federal supervision. The government therefore demanded that the college sign a formal Assurance of Compliance, in which the college would pledge not to discriminate on account of sex in any of its programs. The college balked. It saw the demand not only as insulting (for Grove City never had discriminated against anyone for any reason), but also as threatening: If the college yielded to an apparently inconsequential demand, what would it be getting into? So the college said no, and the government sued.

As Justice Lewis Powell remarked, the case provided "an unedifying example of overzealousness on the part of the federal government." The college's stubborn stand in defense of principle cost it half a million dollars that the school could ill afford.

Take note, if you will, of the government's original aim. The law prohibits sex discrimination in any education "program or activity" receiving federal financial assistance. The law applies to every such program that "receives or benefits" from the federal aid. The government took the view that if even one student receives a BEOG or a GSL, every program in an entire school is benefited to some degree; therefore, every program is covered by the anti-discrimination law.

The Supreme Court refused to accept that view. It held that the law applies only to the particular program or activity that receives aid — in this case, Grove City's program of student financial assistance. If Grove City will file an Assurance of Compliance that is thus limited, the college is home free. So the government's grab for sweeping control was foiled.

But the grab was made. That is the second lesson to be learned.

Let us draw our third lesson from the immutable truth that justices are mortal. Five of the nine are over 75 years of age. It is a reasonable assumption that during the next presidential term, some of them will be replaced. Do we want judges who view the law strictly, or do we want judges who view the law expansively? That is one of the things November's election is all about.

A Little Here And There

Since I don't smoke (and neither does anyone else when they're in my car), I keep them in the ashtray — three Bahamian nickels and four tokens, suitably engraved, from Chuck E. Cheese's Pizza Time Emporium. "In Pizza We Trust," they read along the serrated edge. As legal tender, however, they are equally negotiable in the place where I now live, Greenville, North Carolina.

I can live with the Bahamian coins. I knew the consequences of carrying them out of the country, and I took them anyway. I am stuck with them until I return to that Club Med in Eluethera, which I expect to do right after a far warmer region freezes over.

I had, however, expected to convert the Chuck E. Cheese tokens, to 25,000 points on Wolf, Pac Man, perhaps, and a free game. They had one in Tallahassee, Florida, and several in Atlanta. Was there not a Chuck's in every civilized corner of the globe?

Alas, I drove past every pied-a-terre in Pitt County, and I found not a single franchise.

I returned to my suburban living room, immersed myself in Solzhenitsyn's "Gulag", where, at least, he had the comfort of knowing he had come involuntarily and ruminated. Surely a Shiite Moslem in Maury would feel no more displaced. What was a young man to do in this town?

The answer, it seems, may lie in an item gleaned from the Farmville Enterprise, another newspaper whose readership, I daresay, may not have ready access to such Disneyesque spinoffs as Chuck E. Cheese's. Under the headline "Objectionable calls made," we read that Carolina Telephone's customers are complaining about charges for long distance calls they never made. The bills say the calls were made to Manhattan, New York City, of all places. There is that one cousin who knows somebody who once visited another part of New York City, to see the Empire State Building or something, but there is just no way anybody in this home called Manhattan, New York City, for any reason. Understand?

Begging your pardon, please, but G.T. Pate, Carolina Tel's corporate communications director, says that the phone company now has something called Automatic Number Identification (all capitals, notice) which unerringly records the number from which a call is placed. It's a highly sophisticated system, see, and so is wrong about as often as it fails to get dark at night.

Furthermore, Carolina Tel knows something about the numbers in Manhattan, New York City, which were called. It seems the exchanges are the same as those found in the classified ads of certain magazines which are kept back, way back, behind the counter at the local drugstore, and not found at all on the racks at the public library.

Say no more, you say, at this point in the article, but something makes you read on. And doggone if G.T. Pate doesn't have a theory. He says the kids, without the knowledge, and certainly without the blessing, of Mom and Pop, are calling up these numbers in Manhattan, New York City. He says we ought to ask them, see if maybe they look guilty.

Well, I'm not sure I want the "corporate communications director" of anything meddling in my family affairs. Still, the guy could be right. If so, what's going on here? Can we blame it on TV as usual? What would an eminent psychiatrist say about this? What would a psychiatrist who's not so eminent say?

Nothing, as it turns out. I'm a psychiatrist who's not eminent, and I'm not talking, not a word, about these calls to Manhattan, N.Y.C. I will say, however, that I have never called such numbers — you can check me against that fancy system — and furthermore, come Saturday nights, I have always had someplace to spend my Chuck E. Cheese tokens. Until now.

Oh, I'll adjust all right. I'll find my place here in Greenville, North Carolina, halfway between Manhattan, New York City, and Miami. And if I don't, well, I can always reach out and touch somebody like the kids in Farmville. But if that's the next best thing to being there, it sure seems a distant second.

All In All, Less Than Satisfying

WASHINGTON — As election returns poured into a gathering of the liberal-left illuminati in Manhattan last week, palpable anger spread through the room — promising no good for Democratic chances to defeat Ronald Reagan in November.

Those attending a Super Tuesday fund-raising cocktail party for the Americans for Democratic Action were energized that their candidate, Walter F. Mondale, had survived — if just barely — the one-day avalanche of delegate selection once expected to clinch his nomination. Exhibiting a hitherto unobserved passion for Mondale, these liberal activists were bitter that "the media" had so wounded their man and created Sen. Gary Hart's candidacy out of the mists.

Such passion ensures a struggle for the nomination not only protracted but exceedingly unpleasant. Whereas many Democratic politicans just two weeks ago welcomed Hart's advent as the golden opportunity to beat Reagan, they now flinch at the prospect of another debilitating struggle of the intensity that destroyed all chances for victory in 1968 and 1972.

The change in mood for the normally phlegmatic former vice president, leading one supporter to try to label him "Fighting Fritz," further supercharges the atmosphere. "For him, he's on fire," one important supporter commented after talking to Mondale.

Actually, the passion instilled by Mondale's Super Tuesday survival hardly fits the actual outcome. "By any standard other than lowered expectations," one supporter told us, "it was a blowout." But against the ballyhooed Hart firestorm, the outcome was interpreted by national television as sufficient to save Mondale.

In fact, Mondale's victories in Alabama and Georgia are more reflective of weakness than strength. He won a plurality in those Deep South states thanks to Sen. John Glenn's failed but lingering candidacy, which kept white votes from Hart. Mondale's poor showing with white voters in those states suggests his slim chance to carry Georgia and Alabama against Reagan.

But this is 1984 not 1968, and Mondale cannot duplicate the performance of his mentor, Hubert Humphrey, in winning a nomination strictly via caucuses. Sooner or later, Mondale will have to win a Northern industrial state primary, and the best chance for that may be April 3 in New York, where those passionate liberals care not for cool, aloof Gary Hart.

Mondale strategists see hope for derailing Hart in a state whose Democratic politics are dominated by organized labor and minority groups — the very "special interests" so burdensome elsewhere. Gov. Mario Cuomo Tuesday night started asking whether Hart's "new ideas" consist of refusing to bail out Chrysler, voting against protection from Japanese imports and opposing trade adjustment assistance for the displaced workers of Buffalo.

But other Mondale backers feel that the Hart boom is much a product of personality perception that he cannot be deflated on the issues but only on "values." That's a euphemism for assaulting the new front-runner's character. Indeed, some eleventh-hour slippage by Hart in Massachusetts and elsewhere Super Tuesday may be attributed to Monday night network battering of him over non-issues: circumstances surrounding the changing of his name and age and his entrance into the Naval Reserve.

This has created a behind-the-scenes strategic debate in the Hart camp over whether to respond in kind or turn the other cheek, Campaign manager Oliver (Pug) Henkel, Hart's law school classmate and a political neophyte, has taken the soft line; campaign adviser Pat Caddell, engaging in his fourth presidential campaign, pushes the hard.

Strength For Today

Most people who have read the Bible recall the story of Moses and the burning bush. Few people, however, realize the significance of this incident.

During their 400 years in the land of Egypt, the Israelites had multiplied, grown prosperous and forgotten their God. What we generally do not realize is that the young Moses probably had come to share the religious indifference of his people. Therefore, before God could train him and use him as a great leader, Moses had to be brought to the realization that there is no power in the world but the divine. The revelation of the burning bush was simply the finishing touch of Moses' education and his introduction into a career of vigorous action.

We can never come into the full power of helpful leadership among our fellows until we realize the infinite power and glory of God and prostrate ourselves, as Moses did, before it.

School Board...

for the descending grade achievements for the three categories are: B (85-92), 5, 4, 3; C (78-84) 4, 3, 2; D (70-77), 3, 2, 1, and E (failure) minus one in each of the three categories.

Mrs. Harrison said "rank in class shall be based on quality points earned in all subjects. All subjects shall be included in developing the rank order ... (which) shall be calculated at the end of the junior year ..."

Assignment of quality points for non-academic subjects have no variation — the scale is four QPs for an A; three QPs for a B; two QPS for C; one QP for D; and minuse one QP for an E.

Three community spokespersons — Ed Carter, D. D. Garrett and Bennie Rountree — voiced opposition to the proposed honors program.

Carter, former city school board member and now mayor pro tem of Greenville, prefaced his comments by saying "a number of parents have approached me about their concern after hearing about the proposal." He says he fears "the potential adverse impact it would have on students. I don't think the school board should implement this program with such little notice and study."

Garrett, president of the Pitt County NAACP, said, "I'm not an educator. I've been lost in all the talk about this ... What I basically cannot see is how one student making a grade of 100 can get six points, another five, and still another only four for the same grade. I have a feeling there's something wrong here. I'm afraid this leveling is another way of fostering racism. I think this is something you need to take a real close look at before you adopt it."

Mrs. Harrison emphasized that the program was open equally to all students, and that an early decision to go the honors route or another route would be an important decision for a student.

Board member Ernest Brown questioned the matter of prerequisites for a student planning to enter the honors program. Mrs. Harrison said "if a student opts for the honors course, there are some necessary prerequisties."

Blinson commented that in essence an honors program is based on the precept "that the tougher the course a student takes, the more points he will get. If a student takes an easier course in the same grade, he would get less points."

The board approved Frank Grooms' motion to table the proposal until "it can be further discussed and understood better."

The grouping recommendation for Rose/Aycock, which has a direct bearing on recommendations for the honors program, was also tabled. Under the proposed recommendation, the current grouping criteria of five divisions would be compacted into four grouping criteria — advance class (honors), college prep, general, and basic.

The revised proposal would put on the same basis the applicable criteria for Rose and Aycock. The advanced class would be for students in the 84th to 99th percentile; the college prep for those in the 50th to 83rd percentile; the general class for those in the 16th to 49th percentile, and the basic course for those in the 15th and below percentile.

Criteria for placement would be — teacher recommendation; percentile; present level and present grade.

A system of open enrollement is recommended, with consideration given to student choice.

Another action on which a decision has been tabled until a later date is that of funding for new band uniforms. Harold Jones, president of the Band Boosters, presented a request for the board to consider funds in the amount of $20,700 for 100 new band uniforms. Jones stated the old uniforms are several years old, and inadequate in numbers for the 75 members expected to be in the marching band during 1984-85, with still larger numbers expected in following years.

Blinson told the board several basic avenues for funding are open to explore: taking the funds from contingency funds which are now only $55,000 — well below the $150,000 to $200,000 recommended for contingency purposes; going to the County Commissioners for a supplemental appropriation; raising funds from the community, or taking a look at the current expense budget to determine if cuts in a number of line items could be made by the finance officer to be transferred to a budget amendment item for the uniforms. Board members agreed with Blinson that the latter route, looking at budget cuts, was the preferable approach. Finance Officer Naomi Edwards will prepare a statement to be presented to the board.

Dr. Charles Moore, chairman of the Arts Advisory Group of the city schools, presented a check for $500 to be used in the music program. The check represents donations from business, the university, and the A.J. Fletcher Foundation sources.

The board also approved a resolution presented by the Arts Advisory Council to seek approval to establish a satellite station of WUNC-FM radio to serve Greenville and eastern North Carolina.

In other actions, the board:

•Approved the school calendar for 1984-1985. The first day of school will be Aug. 23, with the last day of school on June 12. Holidays scheduled are — Sept. 3, Nov. 22-23; Dec. 18-31; Jan. 1; Feb. 15 and April 8-12. Student holidays-teacher workdays are set for — Sept. 28, Nov. 12 and 21; Dec. 17; Jan. 2, 24 and 25; March 15 and May 27.

•Approved Current Expense budget amendment No. 10 for an increase of $5,008, derived from interest income, Pitt County schools and federal grants, and contributions and donations.

•Approved a field trip for Aycock history students on April 19 and 20.

•Certified Edward D. Jones and Co. as an agent to offer a 403B Retirement Plan (same as a tax shelter annuity).

•Approved a policy for an appraisal system for classified employees along with the evaluatin form for such employees.

•Approved a course in computers in math and science for the Aycock curriculum.

•Approved, in executive session, leave of absence for one teacher.

'Cold Peace' Survives Between Israel, Egypt

By ROBERT H. REID
and
NICOLAS B. TATRO
Associated Press Writers

The Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty, which held out the brightest hope five years ago for stability in the Middle East, has dimmed to a "cold peace." Yet it has survived bitter disappointment and recriminations on each side.

Trade and cultural ties have deteriorated. Egypt has recalled its ambassador from Tel Aviv. Each side pursues a foreign policy sharply opposed by the other.

And each country blames the other for the chill in relations.

"The agreement did not live up to our expectations. What we have is a military peace and not a political peace," said an aide to Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir.

"But it is better to have a cold peace than a hot war," added the aide, who spoke on condition his name not be used.

The treaty was signed March 26, 1979, as an outgrowth of the Camp David talks between Israel's Menachem Begin, Egypt's Anwar Sadat and Presidend Jimmy Carter. It gave Israel peace with its largest neighbor and returned the Israeli-occupied Sinai Peninsula to Egypt.

The pact has withstood the shocks of war in Lebanon, Egypt's alienation from the Arab world, the assassination of President Sadat and a change of prime ministers in Israel after Begin's retirement from office.

Egypt's President Hosni Mubarak has said repeatedly he will not scrap peace with Israel as the price for regaining the Arab friendship which Egypt lost when the treaty was signed.

But Shamir has accused Mubarak of systematically scaling down relations with Israel in tourism, trade, communications, aviation, transport, agriculture and cultural affairs.

"This is the (Egyptian) policy: To freeze normalization, to minimize relations, with the more important political aim of return to a position of leadership in the Arab world," Shamir told Israel's parliament, the Knesset, in early March.

"The conduct of the Egyptian government damages the credibility of agreements and commitments it has undertaken in the past and the credibility of agreements and commitments it or any other government in the region may seek to undertake in the future," Shamir added.

Egyptian officials blame Israel for the stalemate. They cite the breakdown of talks on Palestinian autonomy and the June 1982 Israeli invasion of Lebanon for undermining the relationship.

"Since June '82 till now ... nothing has worked," said Butros Ghali, Egypt's minister of state for foreign affairs. The resulting chill in relations has prevented the two countries from developing "the machinery ... to try and solve our problems."

As relations with Israel cooled, Egypt moved to improve ties with other Arab states and with Yasser Arafat's wing of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

BB&T. It's More Than A Bank. It's An Attitude.

Is it going too far to suggest that, in today's complex financial world, your bank's attitude could possibly make a difference? We don't think so.

In fact, at BB&T, we think attitude is all-important. We don't mean a superficial cheerfulness, a smile worn like a suit and as easily removed.

Attitude, for us, goes much deeper than that. It takes in the ability, and even more important, the willingness to commit our talents to meet your future goals as well as your current needs.

It rests on the integrity of a company that still believes it is driven by the needs of its customers, rather than its own corporate objectives. A company that realizes that the quality of its service is inseparable from the attitude of its people.

Come discover what a difference the right attitude makes. At BB&T, it's the very thing that makes us more than a bank.

projects could not be done. He told commissioners that right-of-way problems many times prevented a planned project from being completed.

For example, Harper said, the failure to acquire the needed right-of-way has prevented paving of: first priority SR 1202, second priority SR 1534, third priority SR 1564, priority eight SR 1729, and priority 12 SR 1730.

In other business Monday, commissioners gave final approval for construction to begin on a renovation of the senior citizens' center behind the county office building.

The project will be funded by $39,220 in state and federal grant funds, with the county supplying the labor.

The board also adopted a resolution proclaiming April 11 as Senior Games Day in Pitt County.

Pitt County Community Schools program director Alice Keen said the planned Greenville-Pitt County Senior Games — "athletic games for people 55 years of age and older" — is the first such program in North Carolina.

Sponsored by the community schools, the Greenville Recreation and Parks Department, and East Carolina University's Department of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Safety, Ms. Keen said the senior games program has received the endorsement of both the President's Council and the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness.

Most of the games, on April 11, will be held at ECU's track and Minges Coliseum. Competition will range from archery, badminton, horseshoes and racquetball to swimming and track and field events.

There will also be competition in wheelchair events, including a quarter-mile race and obstacle course.

Ms. Keen said a registration fee of $2 will be charged, and entries must be received by Friday.

Commissioners met in Farmville, at lunch, with Mayor John Turner Walston and other town officials to discuss the location of a new solid waste container site.

Preparing With Mock Execution

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Anticipating court rulings on the appeals of five death row inmates, state officials plan a mock execution at Trenton State Prison to prepare for the real thing, officials said.

After an appeal is rejected, the state has "30 to 60 days to carry out the sentence," Corrections Commissioner William Fauver said in an interview.

The last execution in New Jersey was in 1963. The state legalized capital punishment by lethal injection in 1982.

No date has been set for the practice session, which will include state officials posing as executioners, witnesses, reporters, guards and a condemned man, Fauver said.

Pair Killed In Beating

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Two Davidson County men, described as street people who carried little or no money, were found brutally beaten to death Monday on a rural dirt road, Davidson County Sheriff's officials said.

The bodies of James Loyd Kepley, 57, and Ronnie Howard Waddell, 35, both of Lexington, were found on a sparsely populated road with no wallets or identification.

Preliminary autopsies showed that the men died from several blows on the back of their heads with a blunt instrument, Chief Davidson County Sheriff's Deputy Jim Johnson said.

Detective Lester Bass said that one of the Sheriff's Department's few leads is a person who said that he saw Waddell at a Lexington barbeque restaurant last week flashing money.

Johnson said that witnesses saw Kepley and Waddell with another man about 9 p.m. Sunday changing the tire of a car described as a yellow or red Mustang.

Johnson said that investigators searched for the car yesterday in a 50-mile area from where the bodies were found.

Lt. Lewis Saintsing of the Sheriff's Department said that other witnesses saw Kepley and Waddell walking with a tire on a Lexington street about 10 p.m. Sunday. Waddell had called his sister around that time to ask her if she wanted to buy two tires for $10, Saintsing said.

Lit Cigarette In Oxygen Room

RALEIGH (AP) — Several patients were evacuated from the fourth floor of Rex Hospital early Monday after a patient apparently lit a cigarette while a nasal respirator pumped pure oxygen into his room, fire officials say.

Raleigh firefighters said the patient, Jack L. Taylor, 65, suffered minor blister burns to his hands, and fire damage to his room was minimal. No other injuries were reported.

Nurses used three or four fire extinguishers to bring the fire under control at about 4:30 a.m.

Hospital employees smelled smoke and ran to the man's room, where they reported finding him sitting on the edge of his bed with a small fire at his feet. A towel and trash can had caught fire and flames burned a small oxygen line.

Blast From The Past

A volcanic eruption 21 years ago today devastated the island of Bali, leaving more than 1,000 dead. About 500 volcanoes have erupted within recorded history. Two-thirds of these are in the northern hemisphere. Perhaps the greatest explosion of modern times occurred on August 27, 1883, when the volcanic island of Krakatoa exploded. 5 cubic miles of rock disappeared in the blast. Debris in the atmosphere lowered the world temperature .5 of a degree for years.

DO YOU KNOW — From which Roman god do volcanoes derive their name?

MONDAY'S ANSWER — Lake Baikal is located in Siberia.

Spring Arrives In Flurry Of Storms

By RON SIRAK
Associated Press Writer

Spring answered the bell today with a one-two punch of freezing rain and tornado-laden thunderstorms that pummeled the Mississippi Valley, the offshoot of a huge Rocky Mountain storm blamed for 14 deaths as it fought its way east.

Separate tornadoes Monday ripped through Jonesboro and Halliday in Arkansas, damaging nine houses, while more than 100,000 people in the Kansas City area were blacked out as ice snapped power lines as quickly as they could be repaired.

In western Kansas, meanwhile, the town of Leoti was walled in by 10-foot snow drifts, the National Weather Service said.

Heavy rain throughout the Mississippi Valley sent rivers surging to flood stage. In a six-hour period ending early today, more than an inch of rain was reported in Biloxi, Miss., Mobile, Ala., and Evansville, Ind.

The downpour was blamed for flooding between Oswego, Kan., and Miami, Okla., on Monday but no damage was reported by the Ottawa County sheriff's department.

Two people died Monday in Missouri when their single-engine plane "apparently iced up" and crashed, authorities said.

"The mid-Mississippi Valley is going to get the worst of it today," said Hugh Crowther of the National Severe Storms Center in Kansas City, Mo. "Freezing rain will hit from Missouri and Iowa to lower Michigan."

He predicted a chance of severe thunderstorms and tornadoes for the lower Mississippi Valley, battered by storms for nearly a week, and scattered thunderstorms from Alabama to northern Florida.

Spring officially started at 5:25 a.m. EST, but on Monday it looked light years away to residents of the southern Plains. The storm that pushed out of the Rockies over the weekend deposited up to 18 inches of snow across eastern Colorado and parts of Kansas and Nebraska.

Parts of Interstate 70 were reopened Monday after the westernmost 170-mile stretch in Kansas was closed by high winds piling snow into drifts higher than cars. Hundreds of travelers sought refuge for the night in temporary shelters.

The storm also contributed to hundreds of avalanches in the Rockies over the weekend, including one Saturday that swept a cross-country skier to his death near Vail, Colo.

In eastern Kansas and western Missouri power lines snapped under the weight of a one-inch layer of ice which was formed by a combination of freezing rain and snow.

"Every time we put a line back up, another one came down," said Craig Daniel, a spokesman for Kansas Power and Light Co.

We were saddened to learn of the passing of Laszlo Kovacs of Hungary, at the age of 73. Partnered by Andor Por, he won the Open Pairs at the 1937 World Championships, which was held in his native Budapest.

On this hand from the event, Kovacs and his partner were the only pair to bid and make four spades. Note Kovacs' decision to simply overcall one spade with the South hand; he had enough for a takeout double, but he did not want to have to introduce such a weak spade suit later in the auction. He got the opportunity to show his strength with a reopening double, and the spade game was soon reached.

West led the queen of hearts. Declarer won the ace and returned the suit. West grabbed the jack and shifted to the seven of diamonds. Declarer covered with dummy's ten, and captured East's queen with the ace. Faced with the prospect of losing two diamond tricks and the ace of trumps, South managed to avoid that fate with a neat end play.

Displaying technique of which any modern player would be proud, Kovacs cashed the ace-king of clubs and ruffed a club. Then he ruffed the table's last heart to complete a strip of the rounded suits (club and hearts). With the groundwork laid, declarer now made the key play of leading a trump to the ten!

East won the ace perforce, and he was down to nothing but red cards. If he played a heart, declarer would discard a diamond from hand and ruff on the table — dummy's carefully preserved king of spades would prevent West from scoring trick with the trump jack. And if East returned a diamond, declarer would take the fulfilling trick with the board's jack.

Carrying Bible When Arrested

HIGH POINT (AP) — Former High Point police officer Billy Joe Tilley has been charged with first-degree rape and assault with a deadly weapon, police say.

Tilley, 39, was carrying a Bible when he arrested Saturday after an attack in High Point last weekend, according to police.

Tilley, who has no prior record of violence, was a High Point police officer for more than six years before resigning in 1977.

In case you're a little foggy about which airline you should fly to Los Angeles, we'd like to clear the air.

Fly Piedmont to LA, and you won't have to change planes in a huge, spread-out airport. And you won't have to change airlines, either.

Instead, we'll fly you to our Charlotte hub, where your LA connection is often just a few steps away.

And that's not the only way we make the going easy.

Out of Charlotte, you'll have your choice of flying Piedmont First Class or Coach. Either way, you'll get amenities like free champagne, a choice of entrees, extra leg and elbow room, and lots of special attention.

The best way to LA becomes perfectly clear April 1.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned lower in quiet trading today, giving up early gains, as a government projection of another surge in economic growth renewed concern about rising interest rates and inflation.

The report appeared to have a more pronounced effect on money markets, where short-term interest rates climbed a tenth of a percentage point to reach 19-month highs.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off 12.98 points Monday in the slowest trading of the year, dropped another 1.05 points to 1,170.33 at noon. Early in the session, the blue-chip average was up more than 3 points.

Slightly more stocks fell in price than rose in the midday tally on the New York Stock Exchange. But the NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks nudged up .03 to 90.90.

The Commerce Department today released its "flash" projection that economic growth spurted higher at an annual rate of 7.2 percent in the first quarter compared with a revised 5 percent rise in the final three months of 1983.

Financial markets had been bracing for a sharp pickup in economic activity, as measured by the gross national product, but analysts said traders are worried that such a rapid pace of growth cannot be sustained.

As banks raised their prime lending rate on Monday, fears were renewed that a sizzling economy would prod the Federal Reserve to push rates even higher in an attempt to hold don inflation.

But top economic officials in the Reagan administration said that the robust first-quarter growth was not a sign that the economy is overheating.

Big Board volume reached 32.98 million shares a third of the way through the session, against 31.21 million in the same period Monday.

Takeover candidates dominated the active list in the early going on the NYSE.

Superior Oil, being sought by Mobil, was up ¼ at 40¼; and Gulf, the object of a takeover bid by Standard Oil Co. of California, rose ⅞ to 73½.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .06 at 210.64.

Volunteers Honored

More than 100 volunteers who helped top pout the $30,000 goal of the 1984 Pitt/Greenville Arts Council fund-raising campaign were honored recently at a victory celebration held at the Greenville Country Club.

Phil Dixon, chairman of the drive, commended all of the solicitors and also recognized the leadership of six vice chairmen of the campaign — John McConney, John McGara, Carolyn Powell, Janice Faulkner, Richard Cox and Terry Shank.

Dixon and Penny Laing, executive directors of the Pitt/Greenville Arts Council, were recognized for their leadership abilities and organizational skills by Terry Shank, president of the council. She presented mementoes to each of the participants.

The Pitt/Greenville Arts Council is a resource and support organization for the arts and currently has 39 member groups. Each year it partially funds member arts groups who request support and meet eligibility requirements.

The office of the council has recently moved to the Humber House at 117 W. Fifth St.. Persons wishing to contribute to the Pitt/Greenville Arts Council may mail contributions to P.O. Box 8191, Greenville, N.C., 27834.

Obituaries

Lamar Suffers 2nd Home Setback

By The Associated Press

The Lamar Cardinals have won 80 of their last 82 home games. Unfortunately, the two losses came in their last two games, putting a damper on five years of total success at the Beaumont, Texas, Civic Center.

First came a 68-65 setback at the hands of Louisiana Tech in the finals of the Southland Conference basketball tournament. That cost the Cardinals a berth in the NCAA Tournament and sent them instead to the National Invitation Tournament.

After winning a first-round road game at New Mexico, the Cardinals returned home Monday night, anxious to start a new streak. Instead, they suffered a second straight loss before the home folks — and it was a record crowd of 5,932.

But they dropped a 76-74 squeaker to Santa Clara when Michael Norman of the Broncos hit both ends of a 1-and-1 free throw opportunity with less than one second remaining to cap a rally from a 10-point halftime deficit.

"The fans gave everything and I feel worse about the loss from that standpoint," said Lamar Coach Pat Foster. "We had a chance to win, but the seniors did not perform in the second half. The fans did. If you can't win a game with an atmosphere like that, there's something wrong with the club. It's difficult to understand why we can't hold a 10-point lead (Lamar led 47-37 at halftime) with that kind of support."

The second round concluded Monday night with five other games — Tennessee 68, Tennessee-Chattanooga 66; Notre Dame 66, Boston College 52; Michigan 83, Marquette 70; Xavier of Ohio 58, Nebraska 57 and Southwestern Louisiana 74, Weber State 72 in double overtime.

Sunday night, Pittsburgh shaded Florida State 66-63 and Virginia Tech edged South Alabama 68-66.

The third round finds Santa Clara at Southwestern Louisiana and Xavier at Michigan on Thursday and Notre Dame at Pitt and Tennessee at Virginia Tech. The semifinals and finals will be held in New York's Madison Square Garden next Monday and Wednesday.

Santa Clara set up for the last shot with four seconds remaining. Nick Vanos, the 7-foot-1 center, missed a 22-foot baseline jumper but Norman grabbed the rebound and was fouled by Lamar's Jerry Everett.

Santa Clara scored the first four points of the second half and finally took a 61-60 lead on Harold Keeling's driving layup with 9:49 left to play. Keeling paced the Broncos with 26 points, while Lamar's Tom Sewell led all scorers with 32.

"We've been a gutty team all year, and this proved our courage," said Santa Clara Coach Carroll Williams. "I told our kids that if they came out and got a couple of baskets in the second half we could get back into it, and that's just what happened."

Tennessee 68, Tenn-Chattanooga 66

At Knoxville, Willie Burton scored 21 points for Tennessee, the last two coming on a game-winning shot with two seconds remaining, to end a struggle between the two intrastate rivals.Tennessee quickly erased a 36-31 halftime deficit and led 64-58 with 4:55 remaining.

Chattanooga tied it at 66 with 1:19 left and the Vols held the ball until they called time out with nine seconds left and set up Burton's game-winner. Chattanooga's Gerald Wilkins led all scorers with 25 points.

"Coach (Don) DeVoe told us in the huddle that we didn't need to push the shot," said Burton."I knew we had plenty of time. I protected the ball and waited for the chance to shoot."

Notre Dame 66, Boston College 52

At Springfield, Mass., Notre Dame reeled off the last 12 points after Tom Sluby and Tim Kempton launched a second-half comeback for the Fighting Irish. Boston College led 39-32 before Kempton and Sluby, both of whom finished with 20 points, scored six apiece in a 14-4 spurt.

But BC wasn't finished, and two free throws by Roger McCready gave the Eagles their last lead 51-50 with 3:05 remaining.An 18-foot jumper by Ken Barlow put Notre Dame back on top and Kempton followed with two free throws.Jay Murphy, who led BC with 15 points, sank a free throw with 1:51 remaining but the Eagles couldn't score again.

After Sluby's jumper put Notre Dame ahead 56-52 with 1:31 left, BC was forced to foul and ND's last 10 points came on free throws. The Irish were 34 of 40 from the foul line.

Michigan 83, Marquette 70

At Ann Arbor, Mich., Tim McCormick scored 21 points to lead five Michigan players in double figures.Roy Tarpley added 14 points, Richard Rellford 13 and Antoine Joubert and Eric Turner each had 11.Marc Marotta led Marquette with 16 but was charged with his fifth foul with 3:30 remaining, sending Tarpley to the line for two points of a 9-0 burst that turned a three-point Michigan edge into a 74-62 bulge.

Xavier 58, Nebraska 57

At Cincinnati, Victor Fleming scored 20 points and Jeff Jenkins added 18 to lead Xavier, while Dave Hoppen had 22 for Nebraska. After the lead changed hands six times in the second half, Xavier went ahead for good 50-49 with 4:30 left on a basket by Fleming and Dexter Bailey followed with an alley-oop dunk.

Nebraska's Hoppen said it was a very physical game.

"We played like it was a football game five or six minutes of each half," he said.

Cavalier Success Is No Surprise

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Virginia basketball coach Terry Holland isn't surprised to find the Cavaliers among the final 16 teams in the NCAA tournament.

"We're back where we're supposed to be," Holland said after Virginia advanced to the East Regional by beating Arkansas 53-51 in overtime Sunday.

"I think a lot of people did underestimate us coming into the season," he said. "I think people tended to look at us and say, 'They were a good basketball team with Ralph Sampson, but they won't be that good any more.' "

Holland said Virginia's schedule left little time for the Cavaliers to think about the departed center.

"Hey, we've got good basketball players, smart basketball players and we play well together," Holland said.

"We have nothing left to prove," said Rick Carlisle, the senior guard who buried a 10-foot jump shot with 4 seconds left in overtime Sunday to send the Cavaliers to the regional semifinals against Syracuse Thursday night.

Many thought Virginia wouldn't even qualify, let alone compete in the national tournament the year after Sampson graduated to the Houston Rockets of the NBA.

"We were awfully glad just to be in the tournament," said junior forward Jim Miller.

The Cavaliers were ousted by Wake Forest in the first round of the ACC championship. They had the worst record — 17-11 — of the 24 teams that won at-large NCAA bids. It was the first time since 1976 they didn't get a first-round bye as one of the top four seeded teams in its region.

But the Cavaliers beat Iona 58-57 in the first round and turned a last-minute Razorback deflection into the winning field goal and an overtime victory.

Even during the Sampson years, Virginia went only two NCAA games further than than it is now, when it made the final four in 1981, when the "Blitz Brothers," Othell Wilson and Ricky Stokes, were freshmen.

So the celebration after the Arkansas game released the tensions of past years as well as this season.

"It's been a long, long time since I've seen a reaction from our players like that," said Holland.

"We're capable of beating anybody. We've known that all along," Carlisle said. "To be successful, we need balance. We've had a lot of different guys score a lot. Othell is the guy who sets the tone on defense and offenses, but we don't really have a superstar. We depend on each other."

Against Arkansas, Wilson led the Cavaliers with 13 points, but everybody contributed.

Miller hit four of five from the floor; Kenton Edelin stuck to his dunk to go four for four; Stokes came off the bench for a couple of buckets, and Carlisle showed his hands were sure.

"People can say all they want. All I know is we're going to the regionals," said Wilson.

Sales Highlight NFL Meet

HONOLULU (AP) — Approval of the sale of the Dallas Cowboys, and the impending sale of another club, the Denver Broncos, highlighted a bustling first day at the National Football League owners' annual winter meetings.

The Cowboys are being sold for a reported $80 million in a deal that includes $20 million for the existing 65-year lease on Texas Stadium. The sum is the highest ever for a pro football franchise.

The Broncos' sale by Edgar F. Kaiser Jr. must still be approved by the league's other owners.

Kaiser said Monday that he has sold a majority interest in the team to Canadian businessman Patrick Bowlen, with Denver industrialist John Adams assuming a minority interest.

Kaiser, who lives mainly in Vancouver, British Columbia, said in a telephone interview that he was "tired of being an absentee owner" and wanted to "spend more time with my family."

Terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

"I don't think there'll be any problem in getting NFL approval," said Kaiser.

Bowlen, 40, from Edmonton, Alberta, has wanted to own an NFL team for some time, according to Kaiser, and will move to Denver when the purchase becomes official.

The 11-man group purchasing the Cowboys, headed by Dallas oilman H.R. "Bum" Bright, presented its proposal to the other club owners Monday and it was quickly passed by a 24-0 vote, with four abstenstions.

Afterward, Bright vowed that the club would stay on the same course as it had for 24 years under Clint Murchison's ownership.

In other developments on the first day of the week-long meetings:

•NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the league plans no hard-line actions for dealing with the challenge posed by the United States Football League.

•He also said that the NFL will sign players with college eligibility remaining only if "forced to by law."

•The conflict of interest questions regarding Edward D. Bartolo Jr., and his father, were solved at least momentarily.

The son owns the NFL San Francisco 49ers, while his father owns the Pittsburgh Maulers of the USFL. The younger DeBartolo on Monday presented a list of actions he would take to alleviate possible conflicts of interest and the other owners accepted the proposals as a temporary solution to the problem.

Rozelle said the league would "monitor" the DeBartolo situation.

The Cowboys' sale was not blocked by the fact that no one individual will own at least 51 percent of the franchise — a requirement of NFL bylaws. That requirement was circumvented by having Tex Schramm, the club's current president, designated the managing partner.

Bright will own the biggest share of the Cowboys, 17 percent, and be designed a general partner, with Schramm, who will own three percent, continuing to run the club.

"As far as the operation of the club, you will not notice a blip," Bright said. "If you think Clint Murchison was an invisible owner, my group and I are going to be even more invisible."

Both Schramm and Bright indicated the ownership change would have no bearing on the status of Cowboys Coach Tom Landry, who also has been with the team since its inception.

Rozelle, referring to a recent court decision that in effect struck down the USFL's rule against signing underclassmen, said: "It would take more than the Boris decision to change our rule. We just don't want to do it until forced to by law."

In the case brought by former University of Arizona punter Bob Boris against the USFL, that league was determined to be violating antitrust law by not allowing him to play before his class graduated.

Rozelle downplayed the new league's signing of some top players.

"They've been cherry-picking, taking some top players here and there," he said. "You'd like to have all of them (the best young players out of college), and they got some good ones.

"But it takes a lot of players to make a league."

Rozelle said that, as far as NFL franchise moves are concerned, the league remains in limbo pending its Supreme Court appeal of the antitrust suit that allowed Al Davis to move the Raiders from Oakland to Los Angeles.

"As I said after that decision, we're having franchise free-agency, with teams being auctioned off to the highest bidding city," he said.

Davis, however, in a telephone interview, said such statements by Rozelle were "in conflict with the truth."

The Raiders managing general partner said he will propose that a committee of club owners be formed to "develop standards and guidelines that the courts have recommended concerning franchise transfers."

"Our own attorneys have recommended for years that we have standards and guidelines in this year. Then Rozelle cannot complain to anyone."

Davis said the courts have said the NFL can have legal rules that govern franchise transfers, but "Rozelle does not want them because it erodes his power in manipulating everyone."

Breakers Throw Bulls

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Quarterback John Walton connected with split end Frank Lockett on touchdown passes of 69 and 70 yards to lead the New Orleans Breakers to a 38-9 United States Football League victory over the Jacksonville Bulls Monday night.

Fullback Mark Schellen scored twice for the Breakers, on runs of one and nine yards, and Marcus Dupree, playing in his second USFL game, had a 42-yard touchdown romp.

Walton completed 16 of 24 passes for 353 yards, including nine passes to Lockett for 225 yards, as the Breakers improved their record to 4-0 before a USFL Monday night record crowd of 48,303.

The Bulls, with backup quarterback Robbie Mahfouz filling in for the injured Matt Robinson, fell to 1-3.

New Orleans scored on their first possession of the game on a 25-yard field goal by Tim Mazzetti and went on to a 24-0 lead before Jacksonville's Brian Franco booted a 32-yard field goal with a little over a minute to play in the first half.

Franco's kick followed three successive failed pass attempts by Mahfouz from the 16-yard line, bringing the halftime score to 24-3.

Mahfouz scored on a keeper from six yards out on Jacksonville's first possession of the third quarter, but Franco's extra point try was blocked by safety Charles Harbison.

Rozelle Pushes For Colts Deadline

BALTIMORE (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle says he hopes Baltimore Colts' owner Robert Irsay will decide by April 1 whether he will move the team so the NFL can finalize its 1984 schedule, a published report says.

The Colts have negotiatied with officials in Phoenix, Ariz., and Indianapolis and have received approval from the league to leave Baltimore.

The league, which usually announces its schedule in early April, has to schedule the Colts games around the Orioles' home games, and must leave dates open for the possibility of playoff and World Series games.

Should Irsay move the team to Indianapolis or Phoenix the league would be able to schedule games without regard to the baseball schedule.

The Baltimore Sun, quoting Rozelle from Honolulu where NFL owners are meeting, said he indicated that even if the Colts are shifted to Phoenix, they would probably remain in the American Conference East.

The newspaper said Rozelle noted that it took more than a year to draw up the present alignment of teams. It quoted him as saying the league would not be interested in realigning the division to move Phoenix to the AFC West.

Meanwhile, the Maryland legislature passed a giving the Colts a more favorable starting time, city and state officials are now considering offering owner Irsay an added incentive to keep the team in Maryland.

Gov. Harry Hughes said Monday that officials are looking into the possibility of providing Irsay with some kind of ticket sale guarantee.

Hughes' comments came after he signed into law legislation that will allow the Colts to start their home games at 1 p.m. on Sundays, the same time other National Football League clubs start play.

Irsay had sought to have the team's city-mandated 2 p.m. starting time moved up to accomodate the television networks, but churches located near Memorial Stadium had blocked such a change.

Baltimore Mayor William Donald Schaefer asked that a state law be passed to enable the Colts to play earlier because a change in the city law would require voter approval at referendum and could not be enacted swiftly.

Hughes said the later starting time meant a loss of "good publicity" for both the city and state.

The governor said specifics of the ticket-sale guarantee had not been worked out. He did say, however, that the state itself would not be involved in actually guaranteeing any sales.

The Sun reported Monday that Irsay had been offered guaranteed ticket sales of 34,000 for 12 years if he would move his team to Phoenix.

Hughes noted that the Colts averaged nearly 41,000 in attendance last season and that with the Washington Redskins, Dallas Cowboys and Pittsburgh Steelers scheduled to play in Baltimore this fall, a guarantee of some comparable level of average attendance shouldn't be difficult to make.

City and state officials hope to be able to offer some type of ticket-sale agreement to Irsay the next time there is communication with the Colts owner, Hughes said. The governor said he did not know when that would be.

Lady Rams Top Bruins

STANTONSBURG — Greene Central's girls' softball team gained sweet revenge for their only loss of the young season yesterday, romping to a 10-1 victory over Wilson Beddingfield.

The Lady Rams pushed over a pair of runs in the first then saw Beddingfield score once in the bottom of the frame.

But the Lady Bruins could not score again, and Greene Central added one in the fourth, four in the fifth and three in the sixth to make a rout of it.

Patronella Davis and Melody Bowen each went three-for-four in the game, while Anntionette Wilkes recorded a two-for-four afternoon.

Sharon Dawson cracked a home run for the Lady Rams, a solo shot in the fifth inning.

Beddingfield got only three hits off the Rams during the afternoon.

Greene Central, now 3-1, travels to North Lenoir today.

Kaiser Sells Broncos To Fellow Canadian

DENVER (AP) — Only three years after he bought the Denver Broncos for $38 million, Canadian industrialist Edgar F. Kaiser Jr. has sold the majority interest in the National Football League team to another Canadian businessman.

Kaiser told The Associated Press Monday night in a telephone interview from Honolulu, site of the NFL winter meetings, that he had sold sold majority interest in the team to Patrick Bowlen, of Edmonton, Alberta.

The minority interest in the team went to Denver businessman John Adams, Kaiser said.

Kaiser declined to discuss the terms of the agreement, which must be approved by the NFL owners.

"I don't think there'll be any problem in getting NFL approval," said Kaiser, 42, chairman and chief executive officer of Kaiser Resources Ltd.

Bowlen, 40, has wanted to own an NFL team for some time, according to Kaiser, and will move to Denver when the purchase becomes official.

Adams, chairman of the board of Denver-based Energy Fuels Corp., exercised his option to become a minority owner in accordance with a prior agreement between Kaiser and Adams' father, Steamboat Springs coal magnate Robert Adams.

Kaiser declined to disclose the exact percentages of the team that Bowlen and Adams would control.

Kaiser — who bought the Broncos from Gerald and Allan Phipps on Feb. 25, 1981 — said the decision to sell the Broncos stemmed from personal reasons.

"My priorities have just been such with my recent marriage and my children (from an earlier marriage) that they're at a point in their lives where they really need the attention of a mother and father," Kaiser said.

"And I think — particularly in the operation of a football team, which is a public commodity and demands the public trust — the team needs a concerned and active owner.

"I can't do that and be a part of my family life in the Northwest," said Kaiser, whose principal home is in Vancouver, British Columbia. "And so it was appropriate that I try to find someone who could give the team and the fans the proper interest."

Hein Poulus, the Broncos' general manager and a close associate of Kaiser, reportedly will step aside to let the new owners select their own general manager. Head Coach Dan Reeves and assistant general manager John Beake are expected to stay on, however.

The new majority owner is the president of Bowlen Holdings Ltd., an Edmonton, Alberta, firm involved in real estate and construction.

Bright Hopes Cowboys Fortunes Will Continue

HONOLULU (AP) — If H.R. "Bum" Bright has his way, the Dallas Cowboys will continue along exactly as they have for the past 24 years, and he'll be even more "invisible" than the previous club owner.

The sale of the Cowboys to an 11-member partnership headed by Bright was formally approved Monday by a vote of the other National Football League club owners.

The price was a reported $80 million, tops ever for a football franchise. Approximately $20 million of that will be to purchase the existing lease with Texas Stadium, which has 65 more years to run.

Bright, speaking at a press conference during the NFL owners' winter meetings, said, "As far as the operation of the club, you will not notice a blip."

He emphasized that Tex Schramm, who has run the Cowboys for the past 24 years under owner Clint Murchison, will continue to control the team, and also will be the managing partner.

Bright, referring to the man who brought the Cowboys into the NFL as an expansion team in 1960 said, "If you think Clint Murchison was an invisible owner, my group and I are going to be even more invisible."

With approval of 21 of the 28 NFL team owners needed for the Cowboys' sale to go through, the vote Monday was 24-0, with four abstentions.

Bright will be a general partner and own 17 percent of the franchise. Schramm will own three percent and, as managing partner, represent the Cowboys in league matters as well as run the club operations.

Murchison had paid some $500,000 to bring the Cowboys into the NFL. He is selling the franchise because of failing health and to settle his family estate.

Asked why he wanted to buy the Cowboys, Bright replied: "I think it is good for the community, because of the caliber of people we've got in the partnership."

He smiled and added, "Outside of the Cowboys being the premiere franchise in the premiere locale in the country, I had no other reason for wanting to buy them."

Both Schramm and Bright indicated the ownership change would have no bearing on the status of Cowboys Coach Tom Landry, who also has been with the team since its inception.

Bright was a late entry into the bidding for the Cowboys, who went on the block last November. He did not become actively involved until early March.

He said the initial contact was "sort of mutual," with Schramm talking to him about the possibility of buying the club.

Murchison and Schramm preferred to keep the club in the hands of Texans, Dallas residents if possible.

The other partners in the group are: L. Brad Camp, Craig Hall, J.L. Huffines, George M. Underwood Jr., George M. Underwood III, J.L. Williams, and S. Foster Yancey Jr., all of Dallas; and Ed A. Smith of Houston and Arthur Temple of Diboll, Texas.

Harper Out With Injury

ATLANTA (AP) — A dislocated shoulder has sidelined Terry Harper for at least the first two weeks of the National League season, leaving his spring training roommate, Gerald Perry, in line as the Atlanta Braves' starting left fielder.

Harper had become one of the prime choices for the vacant spot before he dislocated his left shoulder during an exhibition game Friday. He was examined Monday in Atlanta by Dr. Robert Wells, an orthopedic specialist, who ordered him to wear a sling for at least 10 days before beginning rehabilitation.

Although he has damanged the shoulder three times in the last five years, Harper managed to put off surgery until next winter. But Wells told the Braves that the recurring dislocation will need to be repaired surgically eventually.

Harper's move to the disabled list appears to clear the way for Perry, a rookie, to start the season, in left field. But Perry said, "They haven't said anything to me. As far as I'm concerned, I'm still competing."

Perry is batting .290, after going 0-4 in a split-squad 1-0 loss to Montreal Monday in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Peace Crushes Lady Pirates

Peace College romped to an 8-1 victory over the East Carolina women's tennis team yesterday.

The defeat was the third straight against no wins for the ECU women on the spring season.

The lone Pirate victory came in the number one doubles where Janet Russell and Ann Manderfield combined for a 6-3, 6-0 victory over Chris Barton and Laura Yancey.

The Lady Pirates return to action on Thursday facing Massachusettes-Amherst at 3 p.m.

Summary:

Mary Hodges (P) d. Janet Russell, 6-0, 6-1.
Whitney Bales (P) d. Ann Manderfield, 7-5, 5-7, 6-2.
Chris Barton (P) d. Lynn Wallace, 6-1, 6-0.
Laura Yancey (P) d. Heidi Bunting, 6-0, 6-1.
Robin McLean (P) d. Tyraina Myers, 6-1, 6-3.
Shawn Brickels (P) d. Laura Zaloudek, 6-0, 6-1.
Russell-Manderfield (EC) d. Barton-Yancey, 6-3, 6-0.
McLean-Brickels (P) d. Wallace-Bunting, 6-0, 6-4.
Knapp-Thayer (P) d. Myers-Zaloudek, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Shriver Downs Wade In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Second-seeded Pam Shriver needed all of her best shots Monday night to beat popular veteran Virginia Wade 7-5, 6-4 in the first round of the $150,000 Virginia Slims of Dallas tennis competition.

Shriver used service breaks late in both sets to post the victory in Moody Coliseum over the former Wimbledon champion from Britain.

Happy April 15.

Now we can take a bit of the edge off that date that strikes terror in the hearts of American taxpayers.

With an NCNB IRA, you can ease your taxes by:

1. Contributing now or before April 15, and taking your deduction in either 1983 or 1984, whichever works best for you.

2. Avoiding taxes on the interest your IRA earns every year, until you start withdrawing money from your account.

And, even people who have a pension plan where they work can also invest up to $2000 a year in an IRA with us. (If you're a working couple, you can also invest up to $4000.)

The new IRA at NCNB. One of the biggest tax breaks in American history is right in your neighborhood.

Come see us. But do it before you file your 1983 taxes. So that you can get started on the first of your many happy returns.

NCNB

Working individuals can contribute as much as 100% of their salary or wages, up to a maximum of $2000 ($4000 total for working couples). Substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal. All depositors insured to $100,000 by FDIC.

Dantley Leads Jazz To Victory

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — In a matchup between two run-oriented National Basketball Association teams, the Utah Jazz proved itself fleeter — and considerably hotter — than the Detroit Pistons.

The Jazz got 43 points from forward-guard Adrian Dantley, the league's scoring leader, and a season-high 42 points from reserve forward John Drew to give Utah its fourth straight victory and hand Detroit its fourth consecutive loss 143-125 in the only NBA game Monday night.

The victory extended the Jazz' Midwest Division lead to two games over Dallas, while the loss dropped the Pistons 1½ games behind Central Division-leader Milwaukee with the league's playoffs just a month away.

"That was a very difficult game," said Detroit Coach Chuck Daly. "We haven't been beaten like that for a while. We just couldn't get going tonight. We couldn't control the point guard, couldn't stop the ball. The Jazz are really tough to control on transition. That's why they lead the division and I think they'll win it."

Utah converted 55 of 88 shots, mostly off the fast break, while the Pistons managed 48 of 101 field-goal chances. Jazz Coach Frank Layden saw those figures as pivotal.

"This Detroit team is a tough one because they play like we do," said Layden, who with the victory tied Elgin Baylor for career Jazz victories with 86. "We both have to run. Tonight we were shooting well and that made a big difference."

Forward Kelly Tripucka, who along with Vinnie Johnson and John Long scored 28 points for the Pistons, concurred with Layden.

"It is more difficult for us to win if we can't run and the way they shot tonight, we didn't have much opportunity to run," he said.

Utah gained a 37-26 lead at the end of the first quarter after reeling off 14 straight points to regain the lead. The lead was narrowed at halftime to 68-65, as Long scored 10 points to bring the Pistons back.

Dantley, the league's top scorer at over 30 points per game, scored 17 points in the third quarter as the Jazz assumed a 109-98 lead at the end of the period.

The Pistons, however, came back with their transition game. A layup by guard Isiah Thomas cut Utah's lead to 123-116 with just over five minutes left.

Then Drew, Utah's sixth man, and Dantley took over. The 6-foot-6 Drew scored 15 points in the quarter to give the Jazz a comfortable lead in the game's final minutes.

Layden lauded Drew, who now has scored over 40 points 17 times in a 10-year career.

"I was delighted to see John Drew come off the bench and score that well, but then he's done the job for us all year," Layden said. "And of course, we've come to expect this kind of performance from A.D."

McLain Indicted On Conspiracy Charges

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Former major league pitcher Denny McLain, 39, has been indicted on charges of conspiracy to smuggle cocaine and racketeering involving loan-sharking and extortion.

A sealed indictment returned Friday was opened Monday, charging the one-time Detriot Tigers star on all five counts and six others with various offenses.

The allegations include racketeering, conspiracy, extortion and threats of violence, possession of 13 kilos of cocaine and conspiracy to import 400 kilos of cocaine.

When reports of the federal investigation came out last year, McLain admitted he was "no angel," but denied involvement in loan-sharking and narcotics.

At a press conference Monday, U.S. Attorney Robert Merkle said McLain was scheduled for arraignment Thursday before a U.S. Magistrate and would surrender before then.

Two of those indicted currently are behind bars. And the other four were arrested in Los Angeles, Convent Station, N.J., and Miami.

Among the acts alleged were that McLain at times with others worked through a mortgage-lending firm lending money at an interest rate as high as 150 percent, took kickbacks on loans, collected extended credit by extortion, interfered with commerce, took illegal bets on football and basketball games and conspired to import and distribute cocaine.

McLain posted a 31-6 record and 1.96 earned run average in 1968, leading the world champion Tigers to the American League pennant and winning the AL's Most Valuable Player and Cy Young awards.

The 6-foot-1 right-hander was 24-9 in 1969 and was named co-winner of the Cy Young Award with Baltimore's Mike Cuellar. McLain also was a 20-game winner in 1966.

But his major league career plunged after the 1969 season.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn suspended McLain in 1970 for alleged involvement in bookmaking three years earlier. McLain was reinstated late that season and was traded immediately to the Washington Senators in a deal involving eight players.

He posted a 10-22 record and 4.27 ERA in 1971 and Washington dealt him to the Oakland Athletics the following year, his last season in the majors. He retired with a 10-year record of 131-91 and career ERA of 3.39.

McLain now lives in Tampa and is associated with an emergency walk-in clinic in Sarasota, according to the indictment.

LaCorte Hammered By Giants

By The Associated Press

With a 13-0 lead after five innings, it was hard to change California Angels manager John McNamara's mood, but Frank LaCorte turned the trick.

"For the first five innings we were very impressive," McNamara said after the Angels beat the San Francisco Giants 15-8 in exhibition baseball Monday. "I liked what I saw."

Forty-year-old Tommy John, who has allowed only three runs in 16 innings this spring, shut out the Giants on two singles before LaCorte, a former Houston reliever who signed a three-year contract with the Angels for $950,000, took over in the sixth.

"It was not a very impressive performance," McNamara said of LaCorte, who was pounded for five runs in one inning, including a two-run homer by John Rabb. "When we leave here, we're taking the 10 best pitchers. LaCorte doesn't have a guaranteed spot in my way of thinking."

LaCorte has surrendered eight runs in four exhibition innings.

Daryl Sconiers and Bobby Grich drove in three runs apiece to lead California's 18-hit attack.

In other games, the Pittsburgh Pirates scored nine runs in the first three innings and then got the winning run in a 10-9 victory over the New York Mets on Amos Otis' sixth-inning single. Dale Berra had a three-run homer for the Pirates.

Ed Whitson, Craig Lefferts, and Rich Gossage combined on a three-hitter as San Diego beat the Chicago Cubs 5-1. Tony Gwynn drove in three runs with two singles and a sacrifice fly for the Padres.

Enos Cabell's two-run single in the sixth inning broke a 3-3 tie and lifted the Houston Astros to an 8-4 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Rookie Ramon Romero pitched hitless ball the first three innings and Rick Sutcliffe scattered five hits the rest of the way to lead the Cleveland Indians to an 8-0 shutout of the Oakland A's.

Lynn Jones' run-scoring single in the 10th inning gave the Kansas City Royals a 3-2 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

Lloyd Moseby hit a pair of two-run homers and a sacrifice fly and Willie Upshaw also socked a two-run homer as the Toronto Blue Jays routed the Philadelphia Phillies 9-1.

Charlie Lea, Joe Hesketh and Gary Lucas combined on a four-hit shutout and Terry Francona knocked in the only run of the game with a second-inning sacrifice fly for the Montreal Expos against a split squad of Atlanta Braves.

The rest of the Braves were at San Juan, Puerto Rico, where Cincinnati's Gary Redus hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning to give the Reds a 4-2 decision.

Dan Petry allowed four hits in six shutout innings and Lance Parrish hit a two-run homer to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Milwaukee pounded 18 hits, including Mike Felder's bases-loaded single in the ninth inning, as the Brewers outlasted the Seattle Mariners 9-8.

Dave LaPoint pitched six scoreless innings, giving up four hits, to help the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Minnesota Twins 4-1.

Scott McGregor pitched eight scoreless innings, allowing five hits, and Eddie Murray hit a two-run homer to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 5-0 win over the Texas Rangers.

Tate Depressed After Injury Forces Delay

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Sports Writer

John Tate went fishing when he found out he wouldn't be boxing Larry Holmes.

The bout between the ponderous Tate and the aging Holmes fell through last week when, according to manager Ace Miller, Tate suffered a strain of the left shoulder.

"I think I earned a title shot," Tate had said in February. "I'm very fortunate to have another."

Then while training, Tate suffered the injury, diagnosed by Drs. Robert Whittle and Bill Yeomans. The latter is the physician for the University of Tennessee football and basketball teams. The fight against the unbeaten Holmes, set for April 6 at Reno, Nev., was called off.

"John just got depressed," Miller said in a telpehone interview from Knoxville, Tenn. "He's really down in the dumps."

The day after the fight was called off, Tate showed up at the Golden Gloves Arena where he trains in Knoxville and sat silently in front of Miller for 20 minutes. Then he got some steaks from a freezer at the gym and went fishing.

He seems to sense the fight won't happen.

"Larry did indicate a rescheduling to John," Miller said.

It was to be a $3 million payday for Holmes, while he waited for a fight against Gerrie Coetzee, the World Boxing Association champion, but now a fight between Holmes and Coetzee appears headed for a June date. Holmes will get $8 million to fight Coetzee, and if he wins there is a good chance he will retire.

Holmes made a nice piece of change, reportedly a few hundred thousand dollars, just to sign for Tate, who was to get $250,000.

Sure the 29-year-old Tate had been a champion, outpointing Coetzee at Pretoria, South Africa, in 1979 for the WBA title left vacant by the retirement of Muhammad Ali. And Holmes said back in February, "I feel when any champion loses the the title he deserves a second chance. I feel John Tate deserves a second chance."

But since winning the title, Tate has been more mocked than honored. John Tate has won 30 pro fights, but people who saw them can't forget his two losses.

Duran, Hearns Battle For Junior Middleweight Title

NEW YORK (AP) — The media advisory stated the purpose of a news conference at a midtown hotel as the introduction of Roberto Duran and Thomas Hearns and the official announcement of their fight for the undisputed junior middleweight championship.

The date is June 18 at a site to be named, and while there could be a fight, it might not be for the undisputed 154-pound class title. Duran is the World Boxing Association champion, and Hearns is the World Boxing Council champion.

Duran owes the WBA a mandatory defense of the title he won on an eighth-round knockout of Davey Moore here last June 16 against the highest available contender, and he could have championship recognition withdrawn for failing to make it.

Of course, even without a title, Duran could still fight Hearns for promoters Shelteron, Gold Circle and Walter Alvarez. Shelteron is headed by Shelly Saltman, while Bill Doz-erski heads Gold Circle.

Alberto Alomane, the WBA's international coordinator, said Monday by telephone from the organization's office in Panama, "I understand Duran has made a request to the championship committee for a possible exemption under Rule 19."

Under this rule, a request for an exemption has to be approved by two-thirds of the championship committee, then presented to the executive committee, which must approve it by a majority vote. It also has to be approved by the WBA president, Gilberto Mendoza of Venezuela. The championship committee is headed by Dr. Elias Cordova of Panama. Duran also is Panamanian.

The executive committee is scheduled to meet March 31 at Las Vegas.

The top-ranked WBA junior middleweight is Mike McCallum, a Jamaican living in New York, who is managed by Emanuel Steward, who also manages Hearns.

Even if McCallum should step aside, that would not remove Duran from the responsiblity of making a mandatory defense since he would be responsible for fighting the next highest contender.

McCallum said by phone Tuesday from promoter Dan Duva's office at West Paterson, N.J., that he has no intention of stepping aside. "I don't understand it," he said of today's news conference.

In his only fight since beating Moore, Duran, the former lightweight and WBC welterweight champion, failed to become the first man to win titles in four weight classes when he lost a 15-round unanimous decision to Marvelous Marvin Hagler, the undisputed middleweight champion.

Hearns, of Detroit, the former WBA welterweight champion, became WBC super welterweight champion (junior middlweight) when he scored a 15-round unanimous decision over Wilfred Benitez Dec. 3, 1981, at New Orleans. In his only defense, he scored a 12-round unanimous decision over Luigi Minchillo last Feb. 11 at Detroit.

Filmmaker Steps Up Plans In Wilmington

WILMINGTON (AP) — Hollywood is coming to North Carolina on a large scale with the announcement that movie producer Dino De Laurentiis plans to build as many as 10 motion picture production stages in Wilmington for use virtually year-round.

De Laurentiis said Monday that his company will spend $25 million to $50 million in the Wilmington area during the next year by producing a new film and expanding his studio.

The N.C. Film Corp. complex now houses two sound stages, 20 production offices and wardrobe and property facilities. Construction costs to date total about $1.2 million. Another $1.3 million is expected to be spent in the next three months, according to Martha Schumacher, president of the corporation.

De Laurentiis, the 61-year-old producer of films like "The Bible," "King Kong" and "Ragtime," said his plans for the Wilmington studio had grown since he decided to locate in North Carolina rather than Charleston, S.C.

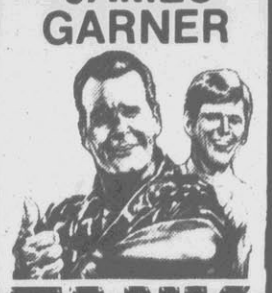

De Laurentiis came to Wilmington Monday for the premiere of "The Bounty", his recently-completed film starring Laurence Olivier, Anthony Hopkins and Mel Gibson. The filmmaker has said he was premiering the movie here as a way of thanking some of the people involved in negotiations to bring the studio complex to Wilmington.

De Laurentiis said he looked for a home for his complex for a long time, and had a good experience when he filmed "Firestarter" in the Wilmington area.

"In the past, I have tried to be out of California. We tried to avoid Hollywood because Hollywood for me makes business, not movies," De Laurentiis said.

A Bid For Leniency

EMMETSBURG, Iowa (AP) — Steven Bochco, the co-creator of television's "Hill Street Blues," has written a letter on behalf of three real-life police officers who were fired or suspended after they were caught watching the police show during working hours.

Officer Rick Knudson, 30, was fired by Mayor James Thompson after the incident last month, and Officers Tom Kozsiek, 23, and Joe Munoz, 30, were suspended without pay for seven days.

They were caught after a local resident tipped Thompson that the three officers, the only ones on duty at the time, were watching "Hill Street Blues."

Bochco learned of the incident through news reports, and his letter to the city was released Monday.

"I'm writing to cop a personal plea for three police officers suspended andor fired in Emmetsburg," Bochco wrote. "I don't know if Mayor Thompson is a fan of the show, but I hereby openly offer him a bribe of one 'Hill Street' hat and T-shirt if he'll find it in his municipal heart to reduce these three cops' punishments to a more appropriate level."

Told of the letter, Thompson said, "You've got to be kidding."

The mayor called the TV series "one of the few shows I watch," but said he would not reduce the punishment.

"My decision still stands," he said.

The letter pleased Munoz.

"That's very nice," he said. "I appreciate his concern."

The other two officers could not be reached for comment Monday.

Pollution Rules Said Inadequate

RALEIGH (AP) — A retired state environmental official says his agency hurried through underground water classification rules that bend to industry rather than sound science.

Harry M. Peek, who headed the planning branch of the N.C. Division of Environmental Management's groundwater section, also accused Director Robert F. Helms of "opening the door for legalized pollution of the state's groundwater in the guise of 'protection.'"

Peek's written remarks were submitted March 13 at a public hearing which dealt with modificiations to groundwater classifications and regulations that the EMC adopted in September.

At that time, the commission adopted the regulations, but allowed time for additional comments and changes.

Peek, in his written statement, called the action "a mockery of the statutory public hearing process". He said Monday in an interview that the adopted rules and proposed revisions were inadequate to protect the environment or the public.

Peek said the rules were not prepared by professional groundwater hydrologists and were inadequate to prevent the migration of pollutants into groundwater drinking supplies.

Peek also in his statement accused Dr. David H. Howells, chairman of the EMC's Groundwater Committee, of conflict of interest.

Peek said Howells, a retired N.C. State University environmental engineering professor, "is a proponent of land disposal of waste, which is becoming and will be one fo the most serious sources of groundwater pollution."

Peek's statement said Howells served as a consultant to "polluting industries." But Howells said Monday that he never served as a consultant "either directly or indirectly" to any companies involved in land waste disposal.

Howells said he did recall strong disagreements with Peek about what the permissable levels of chloride should be. Chloride is a chemical component of salt.

Howells said the chloride levels Peek proposed "would preclude the use of land treatment as a waste treatment alternative."

Peek headed the division's groundwater program until 1978, when an agency reorganization temporarily elminiated it. Peek was not placed in charge when the program was re-established in 1981.

To Rule In DWI Case

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Supreme Court has been asked to rule on a temporary appeals court decision allowing a judge to reject as courtroom evidence an affidavit that a defendant was drunk while driving.

Attorneys filed a petition Friday to have the issue heard by the state Supreme Court. The same day, the N.C. Court of Appeals ruled that Wake County District Judge Philip Redwine could reject an affidavit as sufficient evidence of a defendant's blood-alcohol content.

Raleigh attorney William B. Crumpler argued in court last month that allowing an affidavit to prove the results of a breath analysis test rather than requiring the analysis operator to testify was unconstitutional. A defendant has the right to confront his accusers, Crumpler said.

Redwine agreed, but a Superior Court judge overturned his decision. Then the appeals court set aside that ruling.

Isaac Avery III, a special deputy attorney general representing the state in challenges to the new DWI law, said a Superior Court judge in Wilmington also had found the affidavit rule unconstitutional. That decision is expected to be appealed to the state Supreme Court, Avery said.

"We need to get these issues resolved," he said.

Murder Motive Not Yet Known

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The bodies of two Lexington men found on a dirt road in western Davidson County Monday morning have been sent to the state medical examiner's office in Chapel Hill.

A Lexington County Sheriff's Department spokesman said officials don't know a motive for the slayings of Ronnie Howard Waddell, 35, and James Lloyd Kepley, 57. The cause of death also has not been determined.

The sheriff's spokesman said a man on his way to work found the bodies.

Detained In White House Security Step-Up

By JAMES ROWLEY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A motorist whose car window was smashed by Secret Service guards after they decided she was driving erratically outside the White House is being held today in a federal mental hospital.

No charges were placed against the unidentified woman when she was stopped Monday night outside the White House, said Mike Tarr, a Secret Service spokesman.

The unarmed woman was detained on a day that stricter security measures at the White House took effect. The incident also occurred four days after a young Pennsylvania man was shot after he allegedly pointed a sawed-off shotgun at guards on a public sidewalk outside the White House.

Guards became suspicious on Monday night when the woman drove slowly around the White House and stopped at several gates, Tarr said.

Capt. Capt. E.E. Elgin of the Secret Service said a uniformed White House guard noticed the woman driving slowly in her green Ford Pinto station wagon near the southeast gate. The woman's behavior "didn't seem like normal action," so the guard alerted other officers, Elgin said.

Guards parked a patrol car in the motorist's path to block her car from the southwest gate, Elgin said. When the car stopped 30 feet from the gate, agents smashed out the driver's window "because of the activity at the time," he said.

Elgin declined to give a more detailed description of the incident.

Tarr gave the following account:

"About 7:25 p.m. this evening, an individual stopped her car at several gates outside the White House complex. The car was subsequently stopped by a Secret Service uniformed division patrol car. The individual has been interviewed and is being committed to St. Elizabeths Hospital."

Secret Service agents, who have legal authority to commit suspicious people to the mental hospital, did not place criminal charges against the woman, Tarr said.

St. Elizabeths is the hospital to which David A. Mahonski, of Williamsport, Pa., was taken after being shot by Secret Service agents outside the White House last Thursday. It is also where presidential assailant John Hinckley Jr. is a patient.

The woman, who was not armed, made "no attempt to crash through or penetrate" the gates where she stopped, Tarr said. Agents did not find any weapons when they searched the woman's car, which bore newly issued Maryland tags.

Tarr said the woman's behavior was suspicous enough to warrant stopping her and questioning her about her activity. "Stopping at several gates of the White House as far as we're concerned, that is sufficient cause to make a stop and an inquiry."

The spokesman refused to discuss the woman's identity or say whether she had been under surveillance as a suspicious person.

"This case is closed as far as the release of information is concerned," Tarr said. "In the interest of privacy, we aren't going to give out more information about it."

Robin Gray, a White House spokesman, declined to comment on the incident, referring all inquiries to the Secret Service.

Jerry Berman, legislative counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union, said "because the stakes are so high, Secret Service agents are given a lot of flexibility" in detaining people they consider suspicious. But Berman said federal law requires all policemen to have reasonable grounds for stopping a motorist.

"You're in a very gray area," Berman said.

Under the new security measures imposed Monday, most visitors must walk through airport-style metal detectors set up to check for weapons at six White House entrances. Members of Congress, the Cabinet, the Supreme Court and the White House staff are exempt from the procedure.

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said the heightened security was in response to "the increase in terrorism worldwide."

Last Thursday, Mahonski, 25, was shot in the arm and arrested after he allegedly pointed a sawed-off shotgun at uniformed Secret Service agents who tried to question him outside the fence around the South Lawn. Mahonski was ordered to undergo 30 days of psychiatric evaluaton.

Hours before Mahonski's arrest, another man was arrested after he allegedly scaled the eight-foot iron fence that surrounds the White House.

White House security officials say incidents involving intruders happen several times a year.

A Nicotine Gum Ready

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — An Ohio pharmacologist says a stick of gum that helps satisfy a craving for nicotine is one of the most asked for products around, but one state medical official says he would never prescribe it.

It's called Norette, and it's designed to help smokers kick the habit, according to Dr. Thomas A. Gossel, a pharmacologist at Ohio Northern University. He was speaking Monday at a two-day seminar in Winston-Salem on advances in pharmaceutical products.

Gossel said the product hit the market last Friday and is available at drugstores by prescription only.

"It's one of the most asked-about subjects wherever I go," Gossel said. "Pharmacists have been bombarded with questions about this product."

The idea, Gossel said, is for a person who wants to quit smoking to get a supply of the gum. Whenever the desire for a cigarette hits, just pop a piece of gum into the mouth. Chew furiously until the gum releases the nicotine and satisfies the desire. Then quit chewing until the next pangs hit.

"It works," Gossel said. "I've seen it used repeatedly, and I know it's effective. It's for that person who wants to quit smoking, for personal or medical reasons.

"There's a kind of slow-release resin in the gum," he said. "You've got to chew a certain way. Over three or four months, you'll slowly taper down — reach the point where you don't need this anymore."

But Dr. William McCall Jr., a private practitioner and president of the medical-dental staff of Forsyth Memorial Hospital, said he wouldn't prescribe a nicotine-laced gum for his patients.

"I would never prescribe nicotine," he said. "Why introduce another drug? I just wouldn't think of giving nicotine."

Moratorium On Billboards Voted

BOONE, N.C. (AP) — The Watauga County Planning Board voted 4-2 Monday to recommend a six-month moratorium on the construction of billboards in Watauga County while a permanent ban is considered.

The board also voted unanimously to recommend a permanent ban on buildings over 40 feet tall. A temporary ban has been in effect since March 15, 1983.

Both measures will go to the county commissioners for action, with the billboard moratorium scheduled for consideration Tuesday.

The Blowing Rock Chamber of Commerce had asked for a one-year ban on billboards on Blowing Rock Road between Boone and Blowing Rock, and the Planning Board two weeks ago voted to consider a wider ban that would include the entire county.

Wachovia is still your best choice for an Individual Retirement Account.

Here's why. There's one thing nearly all financial experts agree on: An IRA is one of the best tax-deferred retirement plans you can have. Here are five good reasons to have yours at Wachovia.

1. Money market rates. All Wachovia IRA investments earn top money market rates, compounded daily for higher annual yields. And there are no investment fees to reduce your yield. Compare with the rates being paid anywhere.

Example: Current rate and yield on Wachovia IRA invested in a 4-year, fixed-rate deposit (subject to change daily).

10.50% Annual Percentage Rate	11.069% Annual Yield
Other variable-rate and fixed-rate options are available. For the current rate, call a Personal Banker.℠

2. No minimum deposit. At Wachovia, you can open or add to your IRA in any amount. The maximum, by law, is $2,000 per year for every wage earner, or $4,000 for a working couple. But at Wachovia you don't have to deposit that much to get tax benefits and start saving for your retirement.

3. Multiple investment options. Wachovia offers a wide range of fixed-rate investments with guaranteed rates, at terms from three months to four years. And our variable-rate investment, the Accumulator, has no minimum and no required term. That means you can deposit any amount anytime, and you can automatically transfer funds to fixed-rate investments as often as you like without paying interest penalties. You'll receive a periodic statement showing all activity on your account.

4. Insured safety. Every Wachovia depositor's funds are insured up to $100,000 by F.D.I.C. And no matter how far away your retirement may be, you know Wachovia will still be here.

5. Your own Personal Banker. Only Wachovia gives you the services of your own Personal Banker, who can explain all the investment options in detail and help you decide which ones are right for you.

Add up the advantages, and you'll see — there's no better place for your IRA than Wachovia. Talk to a Personal Banker right away.

You can save on your 1983 taxes if you deposit before April 15.

Wachovia Bank & Trust

*Federal regulations require substantial interest penalties for early withdrawal from fixed-rate investments. In addition, tax penalties may apply to withdrawals from an IRA before age 59½.
