PCC Construction Given A Go-Ahead

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners Monday told Pitt Community College officials to move ahead with plans to build a facility to house the school's library and learning center.

Clifton Everett, chairman of PCC's board of trustees, told commissioners the 31,200-square-foot building, including drainage, walks, parking facilities and equipment, is expected to cost $2.18 million. Commissioners, in February, gave tentative approval to the project after PCC officials said the school was in danger of losing its accreditation unless new library facilities were provided.

PCC President Charlie Russell said at the time that, in all, the school needs an additional 131,000 square feet of assignable space to provide adequate facilities for the 2,425 full time-equivalent students now enrolled, based on a Department of Community Colleges formula.

The library-learning center is the first part of a four-phase program to provide the needed space in six new buildings.

Two other buildings in the first phase of the building program, would provide 30,600 square feet at an estimated cost of $2.06 million, and 28,080 square feet at a cost of $1.9 million, according to estimates presented Monday.

Commissioners Monday also approved a request from the Eastern Carolina Vocational Center for a one-time appropriation of $15,000 to maintain the center's recreational program for the next three months.

Dan le Roux, the ECVC's executive director, termed the recreation program for the handicapped "a very special program" of "therapeutic value."

A recommendation by the planning board that the Collie Moore property in the southeast corner of SR 1204 and N.C. 43 be included in the extra-territorial jurisdiction area of Greenville was also approved Monday.

N.C. Insurance Commissioner John Ingram, in the county to survey damage caused by last week's tornado, spoke briefly to the board.

"Our citizens have been through enough suffering. They don't need the additional frustration of problems with claims for damage settlements," he told commissioners.

He said persons having problems with insurance claims should call the Insurance Department's consumer insurance information division toll free at 1-800-662-7777 or call 733-2032 in Raleigh.

Commissioners also agreed to give further study to a proposal by the Du Pont company to dispose of an estimated 7 million pounds of chipped-up plastic soft drink bottles at the county landfill.

The waste, County Engineer Phil Dickerson said, could take up 9,700 cubic feet of space in the landfill, depending on the exact amount of material to be disposed of, and cover from one tenth to four tenths of an acre.

The board also discussed a proposal to install security or burglar alarm systems at several county facilities, but took no action.

Greenville Schools Honors Program Adopted

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Students in the secondary schools in Greenville will have an honors program for the next school year. The proposal for an honors program, two years in the making and the subject of considerable public interest in recent weeks, was approved at the Monday night information meeting of the city school board.

The approved honors proposal includes several amendments attached to the earlier recommended draft. The first of the amendments incorporates an Affirmative Action Advisory Committee recommendation that the school staff develop a plan within the concept of the honors program to recruit minorities along with a system to collect data to see if the program is effective. This recommendation was presented by Walt Morehead.

Other amendments, recommended by various school board members, are: to change the minus one quality point scale for a failing grade to zero; to form a committee from persons signing up at the March 26 public hearing as interested volunteers to help monitor the program and provide a mid-year progress report, and to eliminate the term non-academic in reference to courses not included in the honors program.

The basic concept of the honors program remains as originally proposed. This includes a three-tier structure; awarding extra points correlated to grades for honors courses taken by students, and to utilize the points (for both honors and other courses) in the compilation of a rank in class student list.

For the coming school year, honors courses will be limited to classes in English, math, social studies, science and foreign languages. The honors program will be open to any student who opts to enroll for a more difficult curriculum.

Members of the school staff and school board members emphasized the need to be sure that students and parents are made aware of the program and that information on it be provided on the widest possible basis.

Approval was given to the purchase of new band uniforms for the coming school year at a cost not to exceed $20,000. Terms of providing a budget item for this expenditure — not scheduled in the current budget, include: agreeing to delete from FY 83-84 purchase of a maintenance vehicle now budgeted for $10,000, and a request to the County Commissioners to allocate an additional $10,000 in next year's capital outlay budget.

In the event commissioners do not agree to re-budgeting the vehicle, possible steps proposed for raising

Martin Bids For Votes In County

Rep. Jim Martin has high hopes of making it No. 3 in a consecutive succession of Jims occupying the Governor's Mansion in Raleigh — following Republican Jim Holshouser and Democrat Jim Hunt.

Martin, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, is a resident of Iredell County in the foothills of western North Carolina. For the past 12 years he has served as a U.S. congressman from the 9th Congressional District. He was in Greenville Monday on a fast-paced round of visits and talks, beginning with an appearance on a local television program, followed by a breakfast with area businessmen, then to Pitt County Memorial Hospital and the ECU School of Medicine for tours of two facilities.

Martin's campaign trail in Greenville Monday concluded with a luncheon visit before a packed audience at the Rotary Club.

In pre-luncheon comments to press members, Martin stressed "the importance of what I feel is my ability, and my record, of working efficiently with my Democratic colleagues.

Seven Mayors Of Pitt County Meet With Commissioners On Problems

Members of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners met with the mayors of seven of the county's 10 municipalities Monday night to discuss several topics of interest to the municipalities.

Bethel Mayor Frank Hemmingway, who presided at the meeting, told commissioners, "We're not going to solve all of the problems ... (but) we're here to talk with you ... convey to you some things that may be considered by your board."

"The big problem," Hemmingway said, "is the dog problem." He asked if the county could help the municipalities enforce local dog ordinances, possibly sharing an animal control officer among various towns and assessing the towns for the cost.

Bob Martin, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, explained that the county dog program, under the Health Department, is designed to control rabies. However, Martin said, "if the towns want us to put on a dog warden," something could be worked out to provide the service.

The county now has two animal control officers "countywide and one in Farmville that they pay for," Martin noted.

County Manager Reginald Gray explained that "the county has no authority to enforce the county dog ordinance inside the municipalities.

If additional animal control officers are added to the county staff, they would have to have the "authority to enforce the city ordinance" from the municipality's governing board.

Disaster Assistance Team Begins Operations Today

A fully staffed disaster assistance center, under the direction of the Federal Emergency Management Administration, began operations this morning in the A-wing of the Pitt County Office Building at 1717 W. Fifth St. to aid victims of last week's tornado.

The center will continue operations at least through Wednesday.

Jim Haddard, an FEMA official from Miami and manager of the disaster assistance center (DAC), said he expected about 300 people to be processed through the center today.

At a meeting early today of workers who are staffing the center, Haddard described the DAC as "a one-stop service ... a supermarket to serve the applicant. Don't forget why you are here," he said, and don't forget why they are here, "to seek aid, assistance, assurance ... assurance that someone cares."

Services available at the DAC include: temporary housing through FEMA; loans for small businessmen and farmers (including homes) through the Small Business Administration; loans for farmers through the Farmers Home Administration; help in removing debris from fields and restoring soil erosion measures from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; unemployment benefits and job placement through the Employment Security Commission; legal aid from area volunteer lawyers; help in settling insurance claims from the Department of Insurance, and personal emergency assistance through the Red Cross and Salvation Army.

Other agencies represented at the DAC include: the Social Security Administration, the Pitt County Department of Social Services, the Pitt County Mental Health Center, the Veterans Administration and the Pitt County Health Department.

In addition, representatives of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and the N.C. Department of Revenue will offer assistance to taxpayers who wish to file amended returns for 1983 in order to deduct the casualty loss resulting from the tornado from their 1983 income taxes.

Haddard said the DAC will remain open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., but he told workers, if clients are at the center at 5 p.m., "we'll see everyone before we leave."

Persons needing transportation to the DAC may call 752-2934 or 756-3388. Individuals wishing to call the DAC should dial 752-2943.

"If we feel we are getting a big rush, and are not going to be able to see everybody" by 5 p.m. Wednesday, Haddard said, "We'll stay open another day."

He said after the DAC closes, persons wishing assistance will have to contact the various agencies on an individual basis.

Final Appeals For New York's Votes

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic presidential rivals made final appeals in the bruising New York primary today, with Walter Mondale and Gary Hart saying the contest was very close and the Rev. Jesse Jackson declaring, "We've already won," regardless of the outcome.

"I think the race is very, very close," said Mondale as he greeted commuters in Brooklyn after the polls opened in a state where the candidates are vying for the biggest prize so far in the Democratic presidential marathon.

At stake are 252 national convention delegates — and the right to crow, "I love New York."

Hart, visiting a day-care center in Manhattan, echoed Mondale, saying: "It's going to be close." Jackson told church-goers in Harlem that no matter what the voters decide, "There's a revival of spirit and that's winning."

Public opinion polls gave Mondale the edge as voters began casting their ballots. But the latest ABC News-Washington Post poll released late Monday night showed the race tightening, with Hart drawing close and Jackson a strong third.

There was no underestimating the importance of the primary for Mondale, the one-time front-runner trying to continue a remarkable comeback in a state where large union and Jewish populations seemed tailor-made for his candidacy.

"If we lose, we're in trouble," he told teachers at a private meeting on Sunday.

"But if we win, they're going to have to make a pretty good grab at our coattails to catch up with us." Today, he said: "I want to win New York ... but I've lost before."

Hart said New York was less crucial to the success of his "new ideas" candidacy. He was an overwhelming winner a week ago in Connecticut, and his aides already were looking ahead to next week's Pennsylvania primary and later contests in the West.

Jackson was hoping to attract enough Hispanic and liberal white voters to expand his "Rainbow Coalition" beyond the black supporters who have been with him from the beginning.

Diplomat's Wife Pushes Pay Plan For Foreign Service Spouses

By JOAN MOWER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Marlene Eagleburger, wife of the State Department's No. 3 officer, thinks she should have been paid for the years she served as diplomatic wife, hostess, cultural adviser and chief cook and bottle washer in embassies around the world.

So, shortly after her husband, Lawrence, announced he planned to leave the government, Mrs. Eagleburger went public with her proposal to pay spouses of foreign service officers living abroad.

"Many people think representation is a glamorous and exciting round of enjoyable cocktail parties," said Mrs. Eagleburger. "They don't know that it's mostly just plain hard work."

Mrs. Eagleburger was relaxed and informal in her jeans and turtleneck sweater during an interview in the Virginia townhouse she shares with her husband, two sons and two dogs.

Under Mrs. Eagleburger's proposal, spouses would sign a contract with the embassy. Full-time workers could receive up to 40 percent of the officer's salary. Spouses also could work part-time or forgo work completely.

A spouse's performance would be evaluated by an oversight committee, which also would write reports, thereby giving spouses a job history if they seek to re-enter the U.S. labor force.

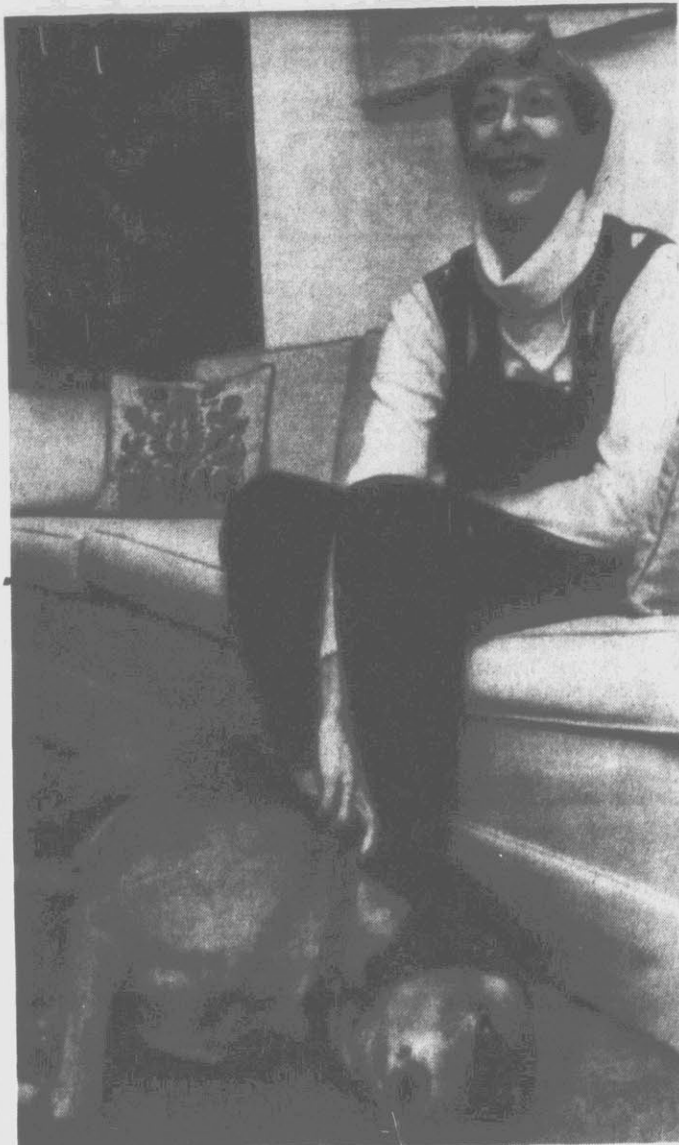

Several other countries, including Japan, Austria, Italy and Yugoslavia, pay the spouses of diplomats abroad, Mrs. Eagleburger said.

The concept has been endorsed by Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., Rep. Tom Lantos, D-Calif., and the American Foreign Service Association, which is trying to find solutions to the 1980s-style problems confronting the foreign service.

"We would support some form of compensation, but we aren't sure what the mechanism would be," said Dennis Hays, the association's president.

In the era of the two-income families, compensation would solve some of the State Department's personnel problems, he said. Because of constant disruptions and the difficulties of finding work overseas, some foreign service officers have refused assignments if their spouses cannot work.

Compensation, Mrs. Eagleburger argues, would also help ease the financial strains some foreign service families feel when only one partner works.

Senior foreign service officers can earn up to about $67,000, with undersecretaries bringing home about $70,000 annually, according to the State Department.

She said her husband's decision to leave the foreign service after 27 years was motivated by financial concerns as their children approached college age.

Her proposal does not enjoy universal support. J. Robert Schaezel, a former ambassador to the European Community, wrote in a letter to a newspaper that the plan was "seriously flawed," and he questioned whether the duties of a foreign service wife were any different from those of a corporate wife.

Schaezel suggested that officers' salaries be raised instead.

Mrs. Eagleburger, a former foreign service officer herself, said the diplomatic and corporate worlds are different.

She said foreign service families tend to move more frequently, and they often serve as representatives of the United States abroad. The wives are "Mrs. America" in many lands, she said.

More than 20 years ago, Mrs. Eagleburger, a Chicago native who worked in an advertising agency and yearned to travel, took the foreign service test on a lark. She passed, and — on assignment in Belgrade, Yugoslavia — met Eagleburger, now the undersecretary for political affairs. They married in 1965 and she quit the State Department just before her husband went to Brussels in 1969.

Until the early 1970s, the State Department's marriage rule stated that if two foreign service officers married, one would have to leave the service. And, until 1968, wives were rated on their husbands' efficiency reports.

Mrs. Eagleburger said she hopes the pay proposal for the roughly 2,800 spouses will become a "woman's issue," even though it would apply to both male and female spouses.

Although she loves to travel and has no regrets about the choices she's made, Mrs. Eagleburger said money could have made her life as a foreign service wife more palatable on occasion, particularly when Eagleburger returned to Belgrade as the U.S. ambassador in 1977.

Besides nightly entertaining and a never-ending round of luncheons, Mrs. Eagleburger also ran a virtual hotel for traveling American guests. "I feel I could run a Hilton at this point," she said with a laugh.

The day-to-day duties were often easier than the feeling of having "my identity submerged," she said, adding "It wouldn't have been so bad if I'd been paid."

Bridge Winners Are Announced

Mrs. David Stevens and Mrs. William McConnell were first place winners in the Wednesday morning duplicate bridge game played at Planters Bank. Their score was .666 percent.

Others winning were Mrs. Tom Lunney and Mrs. Jim Foster, second; Mrs. David Fraade and Mrs. Paul Eck, third; tied for fourth were Mrs. Charles Mitchell and Mrs. Frank Meacham with Mrs. Ray Gunderson and Mrs. Dot McKemie. North-South winners Wednesday afternoon included: Mrs. C.I. McClelland and Mrs. J.M. Horton, first with .531 percent; Mrs. Fred Sorensen and Mrs. Bertha Jones, second; Mrs. Ray Gunderson and Mrs. Dot McKemie, third; Mrs. C.R. Critcher Jr. and Mrs. J.S. Rhodes Jr., fourth.

East-West: Mrs. Tom Lunney and Ms. Estelle Eastwood, first with .550 percent; Mrs. W.R. Harris and Dave Proctor, second; tied for third were Mrs. Chris Langley and Ed Yauck with Emma B. Warren and Mrs. Beulah Eagles.

Charity club championship winners Saturday afternoon included: Mrs. J.W.H. Roberts and Mrs. Beulah Eagles, first, with .601 percent, overall; Mrs. C.O. Stephenson and Mrs. Margaret Hurst, second; Mrs. A.L. Roque and Mrs. Robert Wright, third; tied for fourth were Mrs. Stuart Page and Mrs. Sibyl Basart with Dr. Charles Duffy and Mrs. Robert Hankerson; Mrs. William Parvin and Emma B. Warren, sixth; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Pittman, seventh; Mrs. C.I. McClelland Mrs. George Martin.

Third Father Gets Vote To Give Bride Away

DEAR ABBY: I'm planning my wedding and need your help. My biggest problem is I have three fathers and only one of them can give me away.

Father No. 1 is my real father. He never married my real mother. She gave me up for adoption, but I have become acquainted with my birth parents in the last year or so.

Father No. 2 is the father who adopted me and raised me until I was 10 years old. He and my adoptive mother are now divorced, but we have kept in touch with each other. I like him a lot.

Father No. 3 is the man my adoptive mother married after she and Father No. 2 were divorced. He has been around since I was 12 years old. He's been a good father, but he isn't crazy about my fiancé. (He tried to talk me out of marrying him.)

I would really like Father No. 2 to give me away, but my mother thinks I should ask Father No. 3 because he has spent more time and money raising me than any of the others.

Who gets your vote?
TOO MANY FATHERS

DEAR TOO MANY: Father No. 3 — if he's willing.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column you wrote, "The physically ill lose no time in consulting physicians whom they gladly pay for their services. Why then do so many people who need legal services hesitate to consult a lawyer?"

I would like to respond to that question. When I go to a doctor, I pay a fee in the vicinity of $25, perhaps get a prescription filled, and usually in due time I feel better. If the ailment requires more drastic measures, medical insurance takes over.

On the other hand, when I go to a lawyer, he talks to me for a few minutes, writes a letter or two, makes a couple of telephone calls, then sends me a bill for $500. Later I learn that with a little library work on my part, I could have accomplished the same thing by filling out a few forms.

I've learned the hard way never to use a lawyer unless it's absolutely necessary — then shop around and get the best price possible.

Also, never go to a friend who says, "Don't worry about the price — I'll make it easy for you."

I'm signing my name, but please don't use it. My lawyer might sue me.

BURNED IN KIRKWOOD, MO.

DEAR BURNED: There is nothing wrong with shopping around to find a lawyer in your price range, but if you engage anyone for any kind of service without asking how much it is going to cost, don't complain when you get the bill.

DEAR ABBY: A family friend of many years has asked me to marry him. I lost my husband four years ago and he lost his wife last year. We are both in our late 60s.

I am not a cemetery-goer, but apparently this gentleman is. He told me that he visits his wife's grave every day and he asked if I would have any objection if he continued to go after we were married.

I didn't give him a straight answer, but in my heart I know I would object if he continued to go daily.

What is your opinion?
SECOND THOUGHTS

DEAR SECOND THOUGHTS: You are wise to have second thoughts. Your friend's daily visits to the cemetery indicate that he is not yet ready to let go of the past.

In order for him to be a proper husband to you, his grief must be resolved, worked through and put to rest. This may require professional help. Suggest it. And tell him honestly how you feel.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PLANNING MY FUTURE IN VICTORIA, TEXAS: Work for the Lord. The pay won't be anything to write home about, but the retirement benefits are out of this world.

Mrs. Lee Is New Council President

Mrs. Boyd Lee has been elected president of the Greenville Book Club Council. She succeeds Mrs. Charles E. Kavanaugh, who is serving this year as president of the Delphian Book Club.

Mrs. Howard G. Dawkins Jr. is the new secretary-treasurer. She replaces Mrs. Roger L. Mann.

The council membership is made up of 22 book club presidents. They planned calendar dates for 1984-85 club meetings and suggested book club programs. Their meeting was held at the Greenville Museum of Art.

Mrs. Robert G. Deyton Jr., 1985 president of the museum of art, attended the meeting and announced the museum will provide lunch next year for the first time for members of a book club and gave other details.

At Wits End

By Erma Bombeck

With every day that goes by I have more and more concern for my good friends, Connie and Barney Burney.

Six years ago, Connie and Barney promised to love and to cherish one another for better or for worse, for richer or for poorer, in sickness and in health until death did them in. There was no mention made that Barney smoked and Connie was a non-smoker. This was one mixed-marriage that was going to work.

They moved into a condo and vowed nothing would separate them from one another. People in the condo never knew how in love they were because Barney couldn't smoke on the elevator so he walked down the stairs and met Connie at the car. She shopped alone because Barney couldn't smoke in the supermarket.

Someone saw Barney at a restaurant one night eating alone. He assured them he was with Connie, who was in the non-smoking section eating by herself. They blew one another a kiss from across the room.

I saw Connie one day at the bank and asked about Barney.

She said he was in the car where he could smoke.

Another night, we saw Barney in the theatre lobby. He was having a cigarette and said Connie was inside in row E... or maybe she hadn't come that night. He wasn't sure.

We were talking about them one day when someone said there was definite friction about going to Connie's mother's for a visit as she complained the smoke smelled up her curtains and Barney refused to go out on the porch every time he lit up.

There was trouble in paradise. Even Connie and Barney realized it. So they went on a vacation to recapture the closeness they once felt for one another. The only problem is they sat in different sections on the airplane and she went on the tour bus for non-smokers and he was on the other bus with the smokers.

There was talk of having a baby, but when Barney set off the smoke alarm over their bed with his cigarette, Connie became tense and there was an argument.

In the doctor's office last week, I saw Connie. She looked tired and drawn. "Where's Barney?" I asked. She pointed to a sign on the wall, "THANK YOU FOR NOT SMOKING." I nodded.

"Did you know we had a son?" she asked.

"Connie," I said, "that's wonderful. Who does he look like?"

Connie paused a moment. "I'm not sure. It's been so long since I've seen Barney, I can't remember."

Food Workshop

A food-service manager's certification workshop will be held April 25-26 at the Pitt County Office Building, 1717 W. Fifth St., room 225.

The two-day workshop will conclude with a written examination for state certification. Upon successful completion, five-year certificates will be awarded.

Tuition is $25 per person and will cover course material and certification fee. The course is limited to 25 persons.

For further information or to register call the Pitt Agricultural Extension Service at 752-2934.

Teacher Chosen

Betty Beacham, Spanish teacher at J.H. Rose High School, has been chosen for one of two internships at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill for the 1984-85 school term. Open to all Spanish teachers at the high school level throughout the state, the teaching internship is designed to improve instruction, curriculum and methodology.

BETTY BEACHAM

Mrs. Beacham is a veteran teacher and has been chairman of the foreign languages department at Rose High School for the past eight years. She was chosen to serve on a 10-member committee that revised foreign language studies for the state and she has also served as liaison person for the Northeast Educational Regional Center.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate with a B.A. degree in Spanish from UNC-Greensboro and an M.A. degree from UNC-Chapel Hill, Mrs. Beacham will begin work on a doctorate as well as fulfill her teaching duties as a member of the foreign languages faculty at UNC-Chapel Hill.

Games Day

Greenville Mayor Janice B. Buck has proclaimed April 11 as Senior Games Day in an effort to promote active, healthy lifestyles for those 55 or older.

According to the mayor, there are over 15,000 people 55 or older in Greenville and Pitt County, some of whose health problems can be attributed to unhealthy inactive lifestyles.

Falkland Visit

Two representatives from the Greenville Museum of Art visited Falkland School recently. They took pieces of the museum's collection for students to observe and examine.

Mrs. Joan Van Scoy and Mrs. Mary Taylor Mosier took oil paintings, watercolors, pen and ink sketches, photographs and pieces of sculpture from the collection and instructed students on line, texture, color and variety of media.

Science Winners

Fifth grade student Chris Gillikin was the first place winner in Falkland Elementary School's annual science fair.

Other winners include Tracy Lawrence and Carrie Hale, who tied for second, and Michael Hancock and Deborah Evans, tied for third.

Hiner In Concert

Robbie Hiner, a featured soloist on the "Old Time Gospel Hour" television program, will be in concert at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Grace Free Will Baptist Church, 400 Watauga Ave.

The concert is free to the public.

On Dean's List

Phyllis J. Roberson, 1805 Kennedy Circle, Greenville, has been named to the dean's list at Johnston C. Smith University for the fall semester.

The dean's list requires a 3.0 grade point average.

Students Test Skills

Six members of the North Pitt High School Vocational Industrial Clubs of America chapter will attend the upcoming North Carolina VICA Skills Leadership Contest in Greensboro.

Students participating and their areas include Laura Latham, extemporaneous speaking; Elgin Best, bricklaying; Hugh Carroll, carpentry; and Sylvester White and Johnny Thigpen, delegates.

These students qualified for the state contest by winning in the recent district competition. The North Pitt VICA adviser is Jim Shallow.

Banquet Scheduled

Junior Achievement of Greenville and Pitt County will hold its "Future Unlimited Banquet" at 7:30 p.m. April 16 in the Wellcome Middle School cafeteria.

The cost to attend is $4.75 per person.

Makes Honor Roll

Because of an error at Pitt Community College, the name of Gloria L. Brown of Simpson was omitted from the school's recently published winter quarter honor roll.

Lecture Speaker

A state and national leader in developing the junior high school and core curricula for junior high and middle schools will present the annual Batten-Brimley lecture in education April 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Wahl-Coates School.

The speaker will be Dr. Robert C. Hanes, deputy superintendent of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg County school system and a member of the board of directors of the Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development. Hanes will speak on "Year of the Reports: A Perspective."

The annual Batten-Brimley lectures are presented in honor of Dr. James Batten, chairman of secondary education, School of Education, East Carolina University, and Dr. Ralph Brimley, retired dean of the ECU School of Education.

Dinner Postponed

The Simpson Volunteer Fire Department has postponed its barbecue chicken dinner sale, originally scheduled for Saturday. A spokesman said tickets already purchased by area residents will be honored when the dinner is rescheduled.

Collision

Cars driven by William Henry Queen of 314 Rutledge Road and Eddie Lee Shelley of 707 W. Third St. collided about 4:02 p.m. Monday at the intersection of First and Greene streets.

Police, who said a passenger in the Shelley car was injured, estimated damage at $900 to the Queen car and $150 to the Shelley vehicle.

Robbery

Greenville police are investigating a strong-arm robbery reported at 2:23 a.m. today that occurred at the intersection of 10th and Clark streets.

Officer G.W. Williams reported John Loran Sellars of 951 E. 10th St. said four men jumped him as he walked along 10th Street and took his wallet, which contained $45 in cash. Williams said the men fled on foot down Clark Street.

Artists Needed

The Grifton Shad Festival needs volunteers with artistic ability to decorate windows of empty stores in the town before the annual event begins April 10, according to festival officials.

Most store owners have granted permission for the decoration, the festival spokesmen said, and others are being contacted. Artwork will be done in washable paint for easy removal.

For further information and to volunteer or request a window decoration call 524-4356.

CPR Course

The Greenville Police Family Association will sponsor a cardiopulmonary resuscitation course through the American Heart Association Wednesday and Thursday from 7-10 p.m. at the Police Hut on Cemetery Road. There is a $10 fee for books and certificates will be given. For more information or registration call 752-2298 after 4 p.m. or 355-2073 anytime.

Spring Cleaning

Belvoir Elementary School will hold a "Spring Spruce-Up" Thursday afternoon. Each grade will have a designated area on the campus to clean.

On Friday an awards program will be held in which students, community organizations and businesses will be presented certificates recognizing their participation in the beautification program.

Seminar Planned

"Management Skills for First-Line Supervisors," a one-day seminar for supervisors in business and industry, will be held in three North Carolina cities during April.

The program, directed by Joseph M. Tomkiewicz, educator-consultant, is scheduled for the Greensboro Hilton April 13, the Raleigh Marriott Inn April 18 and the Greenville Sheraton Inn April 25.

Further information about the program is available from "Management Skills for Supervisors," Division of Continuing Education, ECU, Greenville, N.C. 27834.

Scouting Speaker

Tom Connelly Jr., dean of the school of nursing and health sciences at Western Carolina University, will speak during the Girl Scout Spring Council meeting at Jarvis United Methodist Church here Saturday.

Lunch will be served for $5 per person. Any proceeds beyond the cost of the meal will be donated to the Carolyn Lamm Scholarship Fund.

Week Proclaimed

Greenville Mayor Janice B. Buck has proclaimed April 8-14 as Beautification Week in response to efforts of the Greenville Community Appearance Commission's to beautify the area.

ECU Seminar

A two-day program on the impact of Islamic fundamentalism in Asia and Africa is scheduled for the annual Asian-African studies symposium at East Carolina University today and Wednesday.

Documentary films will be interpreted and discussed by Dr. Muazzim Siddiqi of Duke University, a native of Hyderabad, India, and Dr. Rashid Jullundri, a Harvard Fulbright scholar and native of Baluchistan. The film-discussion session will begin at 7:30 p.m. tonight in ECU's Willis Building.

Sessions Wednesday, to be held in Brewster C-103, include:

9:15 a.m. — "Impact of Islamic Fundamentalism in Pakistan," Dr. Jullundri; 10 a.m. — "Impact of Islamic Fundamentalism on Women: Malasi Malaysia, Saudi Arabia and Algeria," Dr. Miriam Cooke, Duke University professor of Arabic; 11 a.m. — "The Impact of Islamic Fundamentalism in Iran and the Neighboring Region," Dr. Mohammed Ghanooonparvar, University of Virginia, and 2 p.m. — panel discussion by the four speakers.

The symposium will be open to the public.

Chapter Meeting

The Eastern Carolina chapter of the North Carolina Kidney Foundation will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in room B123 of the Leslie-Gaskins Building adjacent to Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Benefit Shows

Two tornado benefit concerts featuring Hank Snow, along with other Grand Ole Opry stars and gospel music singers, will be held at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday in Minges Coliseum on the East Carolina University campus.

The performers will donate their time, concert officials said, and members of the East Carolina University staff and student body will donate labor. Proceeds will go directly to families stricken by tornadoes which devastated portions of eastern North Carolina March 28.

Tickets are $5 per person and are tax deductible, sponsors said. Tickets are available at the ECU Athletic Ticket Office, 757-6500, the ECU Central Ticket Office, 757-6611, and at Minges on the day of the concerts.

"One of the things I feel good about is that I was able recently to introduce and see pass an amendment to cut the tobacco tax. I was the only North Carolinian on the tax committee of the Ways and Means Committee. The tax bill is designed to reduce the national deficit through a modest tax increase.

"Through the provisions of my amendment," Martin continued, "I was able to see reduced the tax on tobacco products by placing an additional tax on alcoholic beverages, at the rate of three cents per drink, or 60 cents per fifth. This, of course is beneficial to the farmers in eastern North Carolina."

Another recent example cited by Martin is that of support given to First Congressional District Congressman Walter Jones on the bill for funds to stabilize Oregon Inlet. "Jones was afraid he'd only be able to muster three or four Republican votes favoring the bill," Martin said. "However, I was able to get to work contacting Republican committee members, with the end result that nine of the 11 Republican members of the committee voted for the bill."

Commenting on the tornado that hit eastern North Carolina last week, Martin said: "All of us can be proud of the way in which people have come to the assistance of others in a time like this. Instead of having a major concern about looting, we have been blessed with people whose only thought was 'how can I help out?'. This says a lot for North Carolinians."

Prior to election to Congress, Martin taught at Davidson College. He was a county commissioner in Iredell County for six years, three of those as chairman of the board. He was also president at one time of the State Association of County Commissioners.

Report Children Are Worse Off

RALEIGH (AP) — Children in North Carolina are "worse off today than they were five years ago," the N.C. Child Advocacy Institute said in a report designed to generate support for new laws.

The institute, which began operating in January, has an operating budget of $90,000 in grants from the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation and the Grace Jobs Richardson Charitable Trust.

The report said there had been more than 28,000 reported cases of child abuse or neglect in North Carolina in 1983.

Additionally, the report said, the state's infant mortality rate in 1982 rose to 13.7 per 1,000 births from 13.2 percent in 1981 — the first increase since 1978.

Program Offered Tornado Victims

The Pitt County Mental Health Center is offering a recovery assistance program for victims of last week's tornado.

Spokesmen for the agency said when a natural disaster strikes, people's lives are disrupted by severe stress, and normal people under stress may need someone to listen to their concerns.

Free programs, for individuals, families, friends and relatives, will be held from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. today and Wednesday at D.H. Conley High School.

Crisis intervention services are available seven days a week, 24-hours a day by calling 752-7175.

On-going services are available by calling 752-7151.

HOW TO AVOID THE 6 MOST COMMON MISTAKES OF DIETING.

- 1 The first mistake is to go on a diet. People who lose weight successfully don't go on diets. They go on a total program.
- 2 Count every calorie you consume. That's a mistake that will doom you to failure. Successful weight losers know how to lose without counting calories, weighing and measuring foods. There is an easy-to-follow program that requires no special shopping for foods, no time-consuming preparation.
- 3 Eat only celery and carrots and other uninteresting diet foods. And what will happen is what's always happened: Your starved body bids will crave more interesting foods and you're destined to start cheating. Losing weight doesn't mean eating bland food.
- 4 Diet without any professional help. And you're doomed to make mistakes. The knowledgeable people who lose weight easily and effortlessly do it with guidance from trained weight loss counselors who are sensitive to your own special problems.
- 5 Take diet pills or injections. What will happen is you might lose some weight, but stop taking the pills and you're back where you began—fat and frustrated. Sensible weight losers are taught how to keep the weight off forever.
- 6 Do lots of strenuous exercise. That's fine. But face it: Most of us just aren't the type. Strenuous exercise is unnecessary. Why not try a program with moderate exercise?

MAKE NO MISTAKES, and call today for a free no-obligation consultation.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4, 1984

YOUR DAILY Horoscope
from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Make a point to see that everything about you is charming and made more beautiful and valuable. You will also have the opportunity to make some good friends.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Find the mechanisms that will make your home more functional and easier to run properly. Think of small investments you want to make.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can be very charming today and tonight. First, handle business well, then start new social plans.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be with the one you love, and get into activities that are pleasing to you both. Then plan a flattering, new wardrobe.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) A good day for repaying any social debts. Be happy with good friends. Friendships make your life richer.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Do something that will show outside contacts that you value the relationship, and guarantee continuation. Dress well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get in touch with out-of-towners and show fondness for them. Plan that business or social trip.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do something especially nice for your mate to bring mutual happiness. Try to save more money for pleasure later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you impress upon partners how much you like to be with them, you will soon gain added benefits. Be clever.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you are more thoughtful with co-workers, you can change the atmosphere around you. Be happy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Think over what amusements you want to take in and with whom. Be more affectionate with your mate. Show that you care.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Fine time for entertaining guests at your home. Add art pieces or color to your home to make it look more charming.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) State what you desire of allies, and express your ideas for a more prosperous future. Be sure you dress nicely.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be very good at whatever has to do with entertainment and beautification, so slant the education along such lines, and teach to specialize for best results during the lifetime. Teach to reach decisions more quickly.

Many Expect No Survival Chance

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Forty-one percent of North Carolinians surveyed said they felt they had no chance of surviving a nuclear war, up from 34 percent in a similar poll in October 1983.

The latest survey was taken in February, the University of North Carolina School of Journalism said as it released its findings Monday.

However, only 13 percent of those surveyed in February said they felt the United States was likely to become involved in a nuclear war within five years, while 27 percent said it was somewhat likely. In the October 1983 poll, 19 percent said a nuclear war was very likely and 31 percent said it was somewhat likely.

Farmers Oppose New Regulation

HENDERSONVILLE (AP) — A group of western North Carolina farmers spoke against proposed sanitation requirements for farm laborers during a public hearing at City Hall.

Some said they will have to lock the gates to their fields if the proposals put forth by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration become law.

The regulations would require farmers with 11 or more employees to provide field workers with "suitably cool" drinking water, wash water and portable outdoor toilets.

Farmers called the proposed standards "expensive, vague and idiotic."

N.C. Labor Commissioner John C. Brooks sat quietly as almost 20 farmers and politicians filed to the podium to make statements they hoped will reach ears in Washington.

No one supporting OSHA's regulations turned out for Monday's hearing.

Burroughs Wellcome Appointments Made

Burroughs Wellcome Co. has announced the appointment of a new chief engineer and a general manager for its Greenville manufacturing operations.

The company said John McConney has been named chief engineer, while James L. Goes has been appointed general manager in Greenville.

McConney, who was general manager of the Greenville site prior to his new appointment, will be responsible for all facilities and engineering activities for Burroughs Wellcome.

A graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute with a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering, McConney joined the pharmaceutical company in 1970.

Goes will be responsible for administrative services, security, housekeeping and cafeteria services. He will represent the company in the Greenville community and with the city government, according to the firm.

Goes, who joined the company in 1959, received a bachelor's degree in pharmacy from Temple University and graduated from the advanced management program at Harvard University.

Both men reside in Greenville.

Wachovia is creating better ways to borrow.

Whatever your reason for borrowing, and however you prefer to borrow, Wachovia has new ways to lend you money you won't find anywhere else — ways that offer you lower interest rates and better terms.

Wachovia BankLine

Wachovia BankLine is a personal line of credit from $2,500 to $25,000 at rates that are determined monthly, based on Wachovia's prime rate*. BankLine is as easy to use as writing a check. Your BankLine account costs you nothing to open, and there are no annual fees.

The rate you pay is based on your credit line, not on the amount you borrow.

|----------------------------|---------------|
| If your line of credit is: | Your rate is: |
| $10,000 or over | Prime + 1% |
| $ 5,000 to $9,999 | Prime + 1½% |
| $ 2,500 to $4,999 | Prime + 2½% |

If the prime rate goes down, so does your interest rate. But no matter how high the prime rate should go, under present North Carolina law the maximum Annual Percentage Rate (APR) you will be charged is 18%. The minimum rate is 8% APR.

Wachovia Prime-Plus Installment Loans

Wachovia Prime-Plus Installment Loans offer prime-based rates lower than most fixed-rate loans. And that means lower payments.

The rate you pay is based on Wachovia's prime lending rate* and can vary monthly, but the amount of your payment remains the same. Any changes in interest rates will result in adjustments to the number of payments you make, not to the monthly payment amount. If rates fall, your loan will be paid off earlier. Rising rates may require additional payments.

You have the protection of an interest rate ceiling established at the time you take out your loan. So you'll know in advance both the maximum and minimum interest rate you could be charged.

Wachovia Brokerage Margin Loans

A Wachovia Brokerage Service margin account is an effective way of using your securities to access cash you need for other purposes, without selling the securities. You may borrow up to 50% (or more) of the market value of the securities you own, simply by making a phone call.

A Wachovia margin account is easy to open. And you get preferred interest rates based on Wachovia's prime rate*. Under current North Carolina law you are protected by an interest rate ceiling of 15% APR.

|---|---------------|
| If your outstanding margin loan balance is: | Your rate is: |
| Up to $21,999 | Prime + 1% |
| $25,000 to $49,999 | Prime + ½% |
| $50,000 or more | Prime |

Wachovia Home Equity Loans

Your home is probably worth more than you paid for it. Wachovia offers ways that you can borrow from the equity you've built up, with affordable monthly payments.

A Wachovia Home Equity Loan is an excellent way to borrow at favorable rates for any major expenditures, such as home improvements, education, or retirement property.

Your Personal Banker can help you decide on the terms and options that fit your budget best. So when you think of borrowing money, think about putting the money in your home to work, with a Wachovia Home Equity Loan.

You have a choice.

Whether you prefer a loan with a prime-based rate or a fixed rate, Wachovia is your best loan source. No other lender offers you a greater choice.

See a Personal Banker.

Stop by this week and talk over your credit needs in the privacy of a Personal Banker's office. Your Personal Banker can explain our new lending options and help you decide on the type of loan that suits you best. And your Personal Banker has the authority to make lending decisions, so you'll get a prompt answer.

Before you borrow anywhere, ask a Personal Banker about the better ways, at Wachovia.

Wachovia Bank & Trust

An Equal Opportunity Lender

Wachovia's prime rate refers to that interest rate set by the Bank from time to time as an interest rate basis for many commercial and consumer borrowings.

Split Schedule Goes Well At Ayden-Grifton Schools

County school officials reported today they are "very pleased" with the Grifton School-Ayden Elementary split schedule and that the switch is going "very well" in both communities.

When Ayden Elementary was damaged by a tornado last Wednesday school officials decided to send the school's 560 students to Grifton for the estimated two to three weeks the building will be under repair.* Grifton students attend classes from 7:30-11:30 a.m. and Ayden students begin classes at noon.

"I was very pleased with yesterday (Monday)," said Grifton Principal Ike Baldree. "The scheduling went very smoothly. We (Grifton) dismissed at 11:30 a.m. and our buses left by 11:35. All students from Ayden Elementary were in their classes by 12 noon."

Baldree said he was uncertain how many students Grifton will be feeding at lunch. He noted the school's cafeteria is serving a regular school lunch and said the lunch room will "try to stick to the school menu."

"In addition we anticipate our breakfast program starting back up on Monday," said Baldree.

Tardies at the school have been few, he said. "The number has been minor," Baldree reported. "We've had no more than we had on the regular schedule."

Extracurricular activities at the school haven't been affected, he noted. "Monday at 2:30 p.m. we had a seventh and eighth grade softball game and everything went fine," said Baldree. "Our students left school and didn't come back until they were supposed to."

Grifton School will resume achievement testing Wednesday, Baldree reported, so that the school will finish in concurrence with the state schedule.

In Ayden Monday's switch was uneventful, said Ayden Elementary assistant principal Paige Adkins. "You wouldn't believe how smoothly things went yesterday," said Ms. Adkins. "(Ike) Baldree and the Grifton staff worked hard and had things ready for us and the teachers and children were very cooperative."

In Ayden, Ms. Adkins said, the Methodist Church "has been wonderful."

"The church has made their building available for our bus pick-up point," said Adkins, "and have also made it available for the Pitt County Community Schools after-school program."

Ms. Adkins said she was not sure whether the school's number of absences and tardies were above normal Monday.

Because of a mandated Occupational Health and Safety Administration inspection, many Ayden teachers were unable to remove teaching materials and aids from classrooms until early today, Ms. Adkins reported. "I really have to praise our teachers because many of them were working yesterday without materials and plans and they did a super job," Ms. Adkins said.

Achievement testing for Ayden students will not be resumed until April 10, said Ms. Adkins. The state granted the school an extension because of the school schedule disruption.

SCIENCE FAIR EXHIBIT — Eighth grader Laura Bailey of Murfreesboro Middle School stops to find out a bit more about growing saturated crystals at the Regional Science Fair held at East Carolina University's Minges Coliseum recently. Junior high and high school students from across eastern North Carolina participated in the fair. Josh Brinson of Savannah Middle School in Grifton was responsible for this display. (Reflector Photo).

Near End Of Appeals

RALEIGH (AP) — Attorneys for Velma Barfield, the only woman on North Carolina's death row, have petitioned to the U.S. Supreme Court for the third time on her behalf.

The petition, filed Monday, brings Mrs. Barfield another step closer to the end of her appeals process.

Mrs. Barfield was convicted of slowly poisoning her boyfriend, Stewart Taylor, by adding ant poison to his coffee. She was sentenced to die by a Bladen County jury in December 1978.

Mrs. Barfield admitted that she poisoned Taylor to prevent him from discovering that she had forged his signature on some checks.

Attorneys Richard H. Burr III of West Palm Beach, Fla., and James D. Little of Raleigh, have asked the U.S. Supreme Court to grant a new trial. They say the jury was instructed inappropriately during the initial trial, specifically because instructions from the judge forced the jury to treat the crime as "premediated and deliberate."

The attorneys also say the jury was instructed inappropriately during the sentencing hearing because it was told that the death penalty was appropriate if aggravating factors in the murder alone were severe enough to warrant it. Burr said the jury should have been told that the aggravating circumstances had to outweigh the mitigating circumstances.

The attorneys also cite the dismissal of a prospective juror because of the way he answered when asked if he could impose the death penalty. The prospective juror replied "I don't believe I could."

The final reason the attorneys named was the "ineffective assistance" Mrs. Barfield received from her attorney during the trial.

Mrs. Barfield pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity, but Burr said her attorney never investigated her medical records.

WINNING ARTIST ... Terrie Jo Cobb (seated), a junior art student at Farmville Central High School, had her work chosen for display on a billboard on N.C. 43 south spotlighting Youth Art Month. The billboard was donated for Pitt County Schools' use by an outdoor advertising firm. Above, right, Farmville art instructor and state chairman of Youth Art Month Emmy Whitehead examines Miss Cobb's work. The student beat 30 other entries in the county's billboard contest. At BB&T, The Quality Comes Through.

When more and more banks seem preoccupied by the idea of crossing state lines, we thought you might appreciate hearing from a bank that calls North Carolina home and not just home base.

Our overriding interest is in delivering the highest quality financial services to the people in North Carolina in ways that offer the best overall value.

A case in point is UVEST™ Brokerage Services. UVEST was designed as a way for our customers to save up to 70% in brokerage commissions.

With toll free service, UVEST provides up-to-the-minute market information as well as prompt execution of trades.

But it's what UVEST doesn't have that's really impressive.

UVEST commissions are up to 70% lower than those of most brokerage houses. And since the brokers receive no commissions, you'll find you're never under any pressure to buy anything.

UVEST is available by itself or as a part of a much more comprehensive personal financial plan we call OMNI BANKING. OMNI BANKING supplies a wide range of financial services designed to facilitate, not only your day-to-day banking, but also your long-term financial planning. Every element of OMNI BANKING is of the highest quality. You receive, for example, interest-earning checking with checks designed to identify you as a special customer.

You have access to a pre-arranged line of credit at prime rate for your personal use. We even provide a special personal financial review to assist you in analyzing your financial objectives and devising strategies to meet them.

And that's just a sampling. At BB&T, we realize that the quality of the service is inseparable from the quality of the person who renders it.

That's why we place such importance on the attitude of our people. It's an attitude that's reflected, for example, in our deeper commitment to understanding the full range of your long-term financial needs.

It becomes apparent, too, in our responsiveness to your requests. Because we know that, in today's fast changing world, your requirements will become ever more varied and complex in the future.

Finally, the BB&T attitude is evident in the kinds of insight we can provide. Because we realize that, the more insight we can provide for you, the more rewarding the relationship will be for both of us.

Come to BB&T. And discover how the quality comes through in everything we do.

BB&T

It's More Than A Bank.
It's An Attitude.

Reports Development Construction

By TOM BAINES

Reflector Staff Writer

Construction on the Housing Authority's 40-unit development in the West Meadowbrook area is "proceeding well" with the contractor moving toward an early fall completion, according to Joe Laney, the authority's executive director.

Laney said Monday night that Eastern Construction Co. of Greenville has set September as the target month for finishing the conventional housing units, which are being constructed on scattered sites.

Laney told commissioners that 13 concrete slabs have been poured, all foundations are in and framing has been completed on six units. The construction "looks good," he reported.

The director said the authority's Section 8 program remains steady, with 103 out of 120 units authorized under the existing housing segment leased. Laney said the figure includes 20 units allocated for Greenville through the rental rehabilitation program, which now has 15 units under lease. Under the moderate rehabilitation segment, 104 of 109 authorized units are rented and all 60 of the University Towers apartments for the elderly are occupied.

Laney said the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has asked the authority if it would be interested in applying for about 40 additional moderate rehabilitation units. Laney, who said he touched base with the city on the matter, said he doubts the application will be successful but he will ask for the units. Commissioners concurred in seeking the new allocation.

Ken Noland, assistant director, said phase one of the modernization work in Kearney Park is moving towards completion. He said the authority's architect conducted an inspection on 30 units and made a punch list of minor items that need to be corrected. Specifications and drawings for phase two of the Kearney Park work should be ready for viewing next week, said Noland.

Commissioners adopted a resolution approving a revision in the agency's conventional budget, calling for additional expenditures from reserves amounting to $160,400. Noland said the figure includes $144,200 for in-house modernization work of Meadowbrook and Moyewood units and $11,400 for roll-out garbage containers for units in Moyewood. Adequate funds are available in the reserve account to cover the expenditures, Noland said.

Noland, reporting on tenant occupancy in the absence of Sallye

Streeter, director of resident affairs, said two temporary vacancies existed among the authority's 702 housing units at the end of March. He said the units were held open in case they are needed by area victims of last week's tornado.

Monthly rent averages included: N.C. 22-1 (Meadowbrook), $106.52; N.C. 22-2 (Kearney Park), $113.30; N.C. 22-3 (Moyewood), $108.64; N.C. 22-4 (Moyewood), $109.75; N.C. 22-5 (Hopkins Park), $85.50; and N.C. 22-6 (Newtown), $103.49.

Ingram Offers Advice On Storm's Damage Claims

State Insurance Commissioner John Ingram visited Pitt County Monday during a tour of areas hardest hit by last week's tornado, and urged people having problems settling insurance claims for damage caused by the storm to notify the Department of Insurance.

Ingram suggested that Pitt County residents who suffered damage should follow a step-by-step plan in coping with the damage.

He said all claims should be reported "promptly to your insurance agent, giving a brief description of damage."

Secondly, Ingram said, "protect your property from further damage." He said reasonable costs in protecting property should be included as part of the loss and should be reimbursed by insurance companies. However, he urged, "keep your receipts and don't have permanent repairs made until your insurance company has inspected the property and you have reached an agreement on the cost of the repairs."

If you have a homeowners policy and your house is damaged to the extent that you cannot live in it, "your policy will pay additional living expenses while it is being repaired," the insurance commissioner said.

He also said an inventory of personal property damaged or destroyed be made and pictures taken of the damaged property.

"When the company representative arrives, be courteous," Ingram suggested. "Don't take your frustrations out on the adjuster. They are there to help you and they will advise you and provide the necessary forms needed to prove your loss."

Ingram said that, "if you think that the estimate of the insurance company is too low," an estimate can be obtained from a private contractor. "A contractor may charge a fee for this service, but usually if he does the repair work, the fee will be credited to your bill," Ingram said.

According to Ingram, "If you reach an impasse with the insurance company, and the adjuster gives you the claim forms and leaves — you have 60 days to get the forms in under North Carolina law. Call us immediately."

"That's a very real consideration where there is disagreement. We'll try to help."

Ingram said if persons have questions or problems concerning any type of insurance problem resulting from the tornado, call the insurance department's Consumer Insurance Information Division toll free at 1-800-662-7777, or call 733-2032 in Raleigh, for assistance.

Ordered Pay Fees

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Utilities Commission Monday ordered AT&T to pay $192.9 million in fees to Southern Bell and other telephone companies for hooking up to local phone networks and for handling billing and collections.

Gene A. Clemmons, communications director for the commission's Public Staff, said the decision would "not have an adverse impact" on local or in-state long-distance rates.

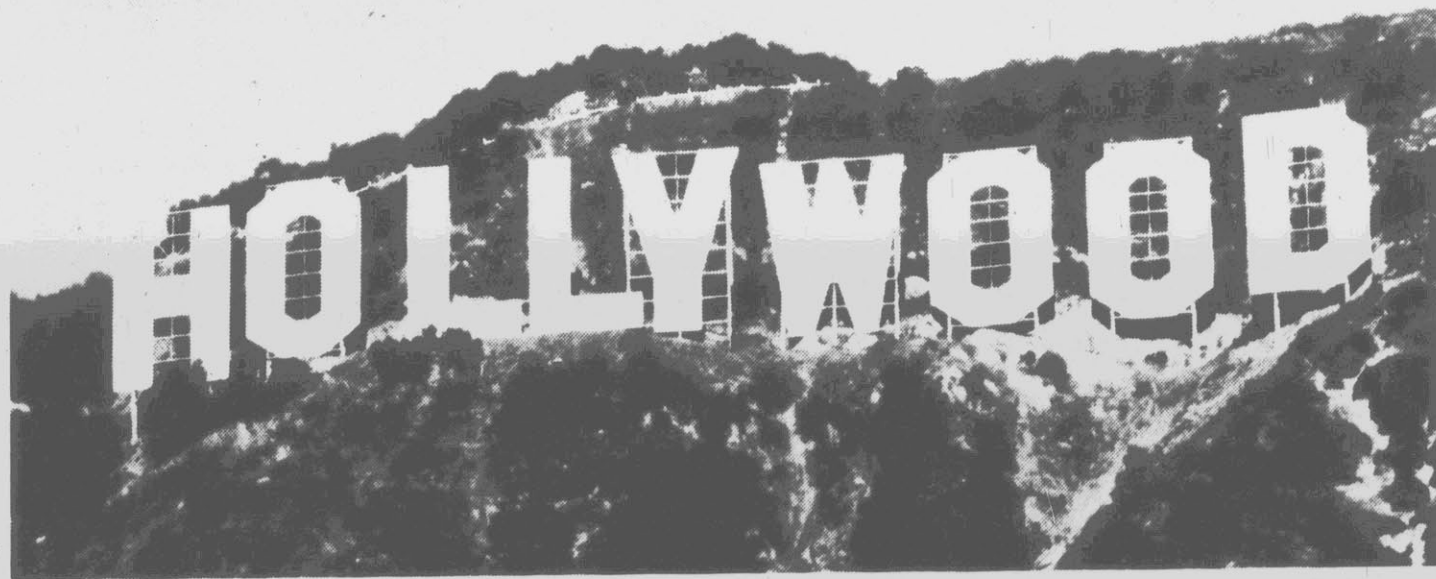

Southern Bell spokesman Ladd F. Baucom said the company was pleased with the decision but still wanted to charge customers for access to long-distance networks.

In December, the commission rejected a proposal by Southern Bell and the independent companies to charge customers $19.7 million in access fees.

"If we continue to force long-distance carriers (such as AT&T) to continue to pay these charges, they will pass them on to their customers through higher long-distance rates, encouraging heavy users of long distance and the long-distance companies to bypass the telephone network and build their own networks," Baucom said.

B.C. Morrow Jr., AT&T Communications assistant vice president for regulatory relations in North Carolina and South Carolina, said he had not studied the order in detail, but "it would appear that AT&T Communications would accept the order and there would not be any immediate pressure for rate increases" for in-state long-distance service.

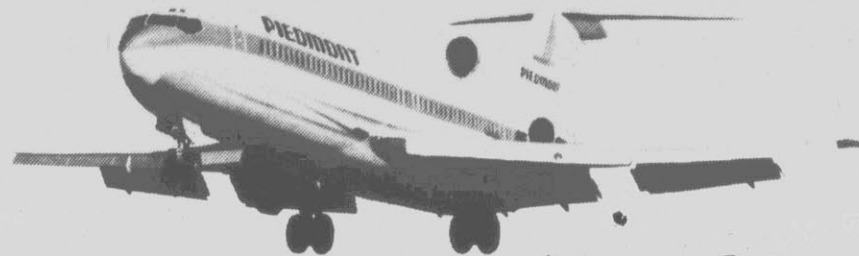

The access fees are designed to provide Southern Bell and the independents with the same level of revenues they earned from in-state long-distance service in 1983, before the court-ordered breakup of the Bell System.

Stock And Market Reports

Hogs
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) (NCDA) — The trend on the North Carolina hog market today was mostly 50 to 1.00 higher. Kinston, Spivey's Corner, Murrefreesboro, and Robersonville 47.00, Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Pink Hill, Chadbourne, Ayden, Pine Level, Laurinburg and Benson 47.25, Wilson 47.50, Salisbury 46.50, Rowland unreported. Sows: all weights 500 pounds up; Wilson 43.00, Fayetteville 44.00, Whiteville unreported, Wallace 45.00, Spivey's Corner unreported, Rowland unreported, Durham 42.00.

Poultry
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) (NCDA) — The North Carolina f.o.b. dock quoted price on broilers for this week's trading was 55.75 cents, based on full truck load lots of ice pack USDA Grade A sized 2 1/2 to 3 pound birds. 100 percent of the loads offered have been confirmed with a final weighted average of 54.62 cents f.o.b. dock or equivalent. The market is steady to weak and the live supply is moderate for a light to moderate demand. Average weights desirable to occasionally heavy. Estimated slaughter of broilers and fryers in North Carolina Tuesday was 1,783,000, compared to 1,580,000 last Tuesday.

Hens
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) (NCDA) — The North Carolina hen market was 3 to 4 cents lower. Supplies barely adequate. Demand moderate. Prices paid per pound for hens over 7 pounds at farm for Monday and Tuesday slaughter was 30 cents.

Grain
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) (NCDA) — No. 2 yellow shelled corn higher at 3.70-4.02 in the East and 3.95-4.00 in the Piedmont. No. 1 soybeans higher at 7.99-8.14 in the East and 7.89-7.99 in the Piedmont. Wheat 3.70-3.86. New crop — corn 2.92-3.29. New crop — soybeans 6.99-7.25. New crop — wheat 3.13-3.44.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market retreated again today, extending the decline of the past three sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down 21.48 points in the last three trading days, dropped another 2.93 to 1,150.23 by noon today.

Losers held a 4-3 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market remained bogged down in interest-rate worries. In Monday's session, a rise in the closely-watched rate on federal funds — overnight loans between banks — prompted an afternoon selloff.

Many Wall Streeters believe rising interest rates will sooner or later slow the pace of economic growth, in turn permitting rates to begin coming down again.

But there is widespread uncertainty over how high rates first have to go to set that chain of events in motion, and what accompanying damage, if any, they might do to the long-term outlook for continued economic expansion.

Carter Hawley Hale climbed 2% to 28 1/4, while Limited Inc. fell 2% to 20%. Limited plans a $30-a-share takeover bid for Carter Hawley Hale.

Shell Oil gained 1% to 57%. The Royal Dutch-Shell Group raised its offer for Shell shares it doesn't already own from $55 to $58 apiece.

The NYSE's composite index slipped .03 to 91.00. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .58 at 210.30.

Volume on the Big Board came to 37.15 million shares at noon, against 37.64 million at the same point Monday.

 the other $10,000 of the $20,000 amount are: ask the Band Boosters if they will agree to raise (replace) the $10,000 through fund raising by Jan. 1, 1985; or, that the board agrees to committing $3,000 of FY 84-85 capital outlay per pupil (school) allotments toward this program, and agrees to other budget transfers from a number of allocation codes to a total of $7,000.

Superintendent Delma Blinson said he does not feel comfortable with this action, but that it is a situation where the board either takes action or put marching band students in the field without proper uniforms.

Several other items were approved at Monday's meeting. They were:

- A contract for $9,000 to John C. Proctor and Co. for auditing school accounts for the period July 1, 1983, through June 30, 1984. Fees are $4,800 for local funds; $2,000 for federal funds; $1,200 for food service funds, and $1,000 for state funds.

Another of the issues discussed involved a 911 emergency telephone system commissioners have been talking about for several months. "We would like to know what the county has done," Hemmingway said.

Pitt County Fire Marshal Bobby Joyner said commissioners have been gathering information on a 911 system. "It could be put in just for the county (areas outside the municipalities)," or installed to cover the municipalities as well, he said. "We'd let the cities make the decision to come under it," he said.

After Greenville Mayor Janice Buck said "seconds count in an emergency," and suggested dialing 911 would be "quicker than dialing seven digits," the mayors and commissioners agreed to set up a program to receive more information. "We're trying to get information ourselves," Martinsaid.

Hemmingway also told commissioners that local mayors are interested in "central purchasing" for such items as motor oil, tires, transformers, dumpsters, pipe.

"Pitt County is big business. What we want to do is solve some of our problems with you," suggesting that buying items in bulk could save all local governments in the county money. Again, commissioners and the mayors agreed to meet with representatives of the state's purchase and contract division in an effort to get better prices for local municipalities.

"We're all Pitt Countians and we're all working together," Martin said.

In addition to members of the board of commissioners, Hemmingway and Mrs. Buck, other mayors attending the session included Julian Gaynor of Fountain, John Turner Walston of Farmville, Galloway Thompson of Simpson, E.C. Hines of Winterville and Ralph Thaxton of Grifton.

 Mrs. Nancy Lay White, 82, widow of Charles A. White, died at her home at 425 W. Longmeadow Road, today. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Wilkerson Funeral Home.

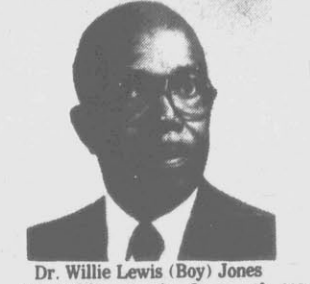

Creegan Service Planned Today

A memorial service for Faye Creegan, a long-time teacher at Aycock Junior High School, will be held at the school at 3 p.m. today.

Miss Creegan died last Wednesday night, one of the nine Pitt County victims of the tornado.

School board members Monday night approved the memorial service, which students and teachers had requested. Permission has also been given for students and faculty from Rose High to attend the service at Aycock.

Hoya Paranoia No More—84-75

SEATTLE (AP) — Hoya Paranoia is dead. Georgetown has nothing to fear anymore. Not that it ever really did, mind you. Georgetown's NCAA championship basketball team wasn't built on an adversarial relationship with anybody. It is the product of togetherness, under the tutelage of Coach John Thompson. "We don't need Hoya Paranoia," Thompson said Monday night after his Hoyas defeated Houston 84-75 in the title game at the sold-out Kingdome. "I have young men with personal pride and dignity... and if Hoya Paranoia makes us the way we are, somebody else better catch it." It was Houston's second successive futile attempt to catch the gold ring, a disappointment matched by only Ohio State in the 1960 and 1961 finals. But the Buckeyes won the title in 1960. In all, Houston Coach Guy Lewis has been to the Final Four five times and has come away empty each time. Thompson won it all in his second trip here, Georgetown's third. Thompson was effusive in his praise for his beaten counterpart. "It's much more difficult to get to the Final Four than it is to win the championship game," he said. "Anyone can win one game. I think Guy has done a tremendous job. I have a lot of sympathy and empathy for him." The Cougars lost their chance to win it a year ago because their dominating center, Akeem Olujuwon, was in the wrong place — at the foul line when Lorenzo Charles slam-dunked North Carolina State's winning shot at the buzzer to beat the Cougars 54-52. He was in the wrong place again this time. He should have been controlling the lanes to the basket hard against his Georgetown counterpart Patrick Ewing and atop the rest of the Hoyas driving toward the rim. Olujuwon was in trouble before halftime, absorbing his third foul — what Lewis called a "silly foul" 42 seconds before the break when he jumped into a David Wingate fake. And when Olujuwon picked up his fourth just 23 seconds into the second half, he became an out-of-ammunition weapon for Houston, scoring only two field goals and three free throws. "They told us before the game started they were gonna let 'em play, let 'em bang away," Lewis said of Booker Turner and the other game officials. "Then bing, bing, bing. That's all I can say about that."

Lewis pulled Olujuwon after that fourth foul and didn't put him back in for more than six minutes. In that stretch, though, the Cougars actually managed to play virtually even with Georgetown. But with Olujuwon back in the pivot, the Hoyas repeatedly charged the rim for easy layups or baskets off offensive rebounds. "I considered pulling him again," Lewis said. "In fact, I told him if he wasn't going to play he might as well sit over there on the bench with me. I felt like he was playing too cautiously then, just trying to stay in the ballgame." The matchup between Ewing and Olujuwon, the two 7-footers, never materialized. Ewing finished with 10 points, nine rebounds and four blocked shots in 30½ minutes. Olujuwon, in 32½, had 15 points and nine rebounds — and although being the nation's leading shot-blocker, he had just one, against Ewing. Just as Lewis had predicted Sunday, the game was dominated by others — 6-7 freshman Reggie Williams and 6-5 sophomore Wingate, a pair of Georgetown swingmen, 6-9 Hoya freshman Michael Graham and 6-2 guard Alvin Franklin and 6-7 forward Michael Young of Houston. Williams, one of the off-the-bench disciples of Thompson's shuttle system, led the Hoyas with 19 points, 13 in the second half. "The coach always told me to take good shots," he said. "As long as I do, he doesn't mind me missing them. I was taking them, and they were going in." Particularly in the second half, when he hit six of nine from the floor. "Whoever's going well, we go to that person," said Thompson. "I've said all along that Reggie eventually will be a superior scorer on our team... He's a natural scorer and shooter and I'm just glad he showed up today."

Wingate split his 16 points evenly between the halves. Graham, another reserve, had 10 of his 14 points in the second half, finishing with seven of nine from the field. Franklin led all scorers with 21 points — 17 in the second half when he hit six of 10 field goal attempts — and Young scored 18 points. Shuttling players, Thompson said, "is our style of play, particularly this year. They have accepted their roles extremely well and have come off the bench and contributed." In fact, the Georgetown bench scored 43 points. Houston's scored 13. Perhaps overlooked in the turbulence of victory was the absence of senior guard Gene Smith, the fulcrum of the defense-dictated game Thompson loves. Statistically, though, it was clear his absence, due to a strained left arch, was felt. The Hoyas routinely hold the opposition below a shooting percentage of 40 from the field and under 58 points. Houston shot 56.7 percent from the field, and only twice in their preceding 33 victories did the Hoyas allow more points than the 75 scored by the Cougars. Georgetown's swarming defense also produced no steals. "The decision (whether to play despite the sore foot) was left up to me," Smith said. "I came out before the game and tested it, then tested it again, and told Coach I wasn't able to go. Hardest thing I've ever done in my life." Smith never did get into the game, even in the closing seconds when both coaches were making wholesale player changes and the behind-the-bench Georgetown rooters in the crowd of 38,471 were chanting, "We want Gene!" But afterward, Thompson gave his star defensive guard a special hug around the neck. At the outset, it appeared the loss of Smith might be pivotal. Houston was perfect from the field in the opening 4:25, hitting its first seven shots to mount a 14-6 lead. But Lewis knew it was a false lead. "The first few minutes we were so-called in control. But after they caught up (which the Hoyas did by scoring 14 of the next 16 points in a 3:37 run) I felt like they were dictating the tempo of the game from then on. "We tried several different presses, several different defenses and several different offenses, but we never could get over the hump. We stayed about the same, five to eight back." Six minutes into the second half, the Cougars had whittled Georgetown's 40-30 halftime lead to 51-47. Then, in an uncharacteristic

Heels Blast Pirates, 17-5

CHAPEL HILL — One week and a change of scenery made quite a bit of difference to the North Carolina Tar Heels and the East Carolina Pirates. Last week, in Greenville, the Pirates gained a 6-4 victory over the Heels, ranked fourth in the nation. Yesterday, in Chapel Hill, it was an entirely different story as the Heels blasted the Pirates, 17-5, to gain sweet revenge. It was doubly sweet for pitcher Ken Turner, who boosted his record to 3-2 on the year. Turner was the one tagged with the loss in Greenville. Carolina unleashed a 23-hit attack on the Pirates, handing them one of their worst losses in recent years in the contest. ECU was held to only four hits in the game and three of those came in the ninth inning when they pushed over three of their five runs and finally chased Turner from the mound. Meanwhile, Mike Christopher was sent reeling from the mound after only an inning and two thirds, saddled with his second loss in four decisions. The Pirates used three other pitchers in the game, none of them very effective against the angry Heels. Carolina took the lead in the bottom of the first inning, scoring three times. Walt Weiss led off with a double and Jeff Hubbard brought him home with a single. Matt Merullo followed with a homer, making it 3-0. East Carolina came up with two in the top of the second, trimming the lead to 3-2. Mike Williams walked and advanced on a fielder's choice.

Mark Shank reached on an error and both runner scored on Jim Riley's double. From then until the ninth, it was all Carolina, however, as the Tar Heels pushed over 14 more runs in the next seven frames. They started with two in the second for a 5-2 lead. Mike Jedziniak singled and moved up on a fielder's choice. Glenn Liacouras singled him to third and moved to second on another fielder's choice. Weiss then tripled to drive both runners in. The fourth saw the Heels score five more and double the advantage to 10-2. Jedziniak led off with a single and Deyv Bell was hit by a pitch. Liacouras singled, loading the bases. B.J. Surhoff, Carolina's leading hitter, who failed to collect a hit in Greenville, singled to score Jedziniak and Weiss singled in both Bell and Liacouras. Hubbard's hit brought in Surhoff and Weiss scored on a sacrifice fly by Merullo. The fifth saw Carolina score an 11th run. With two away, Liacouras doubled and scored on a triple by Surhoff. Three more crossed in the sixth, making it 14-2. Hubbard singled and Todd Wilkinson slapped the game's second homer. John O'Leary singled and was safe at second on an error by Winfred Johnson as Jedziniak grounded to first. Bell then singled in O'Leary. Two more in the seventh came across. Surhoff walked and Weiss singled. Merullo singled in one and Wilkinson got a hit to plate the other. The final Carolina run crossed in the eighth. Paul Will singled, moving up on a hit by Jim McGee. Surhoff got a hit to drive in Will.

The Pirates finally came up with three in the top of the ninth. David Wells reached on an error and Williams doubled. Mike Sullivan followed with another double to score both Wells and Williams. Shank singled and that scored Sullivan. Weiss led the Tar Heel hitting with four, while Surhoff, Liacouras and Hubbard each had three, and Merullo, Wilkinson and Jedziniak each had two. No one had more than one hit for the Pirates. East Carolina drops to 17-7 with the loss, while the Tar Heels are now 30-7. East Carolina returns to action on Thursday, hosting another Atlantic Coast Conference team, N.C. State, at 7 p.m. at Harrington Field.

Gutierrez' Throw Costs Bosox

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
 AP Sports Writer

Ronald Reagan and Jackie Gutierrez both made low throws. But Reagan's errant toss was merely the ceremonial first pitch to get the baseball season under way, while Gutierrez's occurred with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning and cost the Boston Red Sox a victory.

Wearing a bullet-proof vest under his suit, Reagan made a surprise appearance in Baltimore, deciding to attend less than two hours before the world champion Orioles' 5-2 loss to the Chicago White Sox. He signaled catcher Rick Dempsey to back away until they were about 20 yards apart and fired a pitch which Dempsey, a noted glove man, snagged just before it hit the ground.

Asked how his arm felt, Reagan replied: "Pretty good. I threw it a little low."

Gutierrez's arm also felt pretty good, but the rest of him was down in the dumps. The rookie shortstop, playing in only his sixth major-league game, fielded Bob Boone's routine grounder with the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the ninth and the Red Sox clinging to a 1-0 lead over California. But he threw the ball into the dirt on the outfield side of first base and Dave Stapleton was unable to come up with it.

"I should have taken my time," said the 23-year-old Gutierrez. "The runner was Bob Boone. He's not a fast runner. I should have taken a step and thrown. For me, it's real bad, but I have to take it. Better days are ahead. There are 161 games to go. I just want to forget about it, think about the next game we play."

That will be Wednesday night. Four games are scheduled today in the AL — New York at Kansas City in an afternoon makeup of Monday's rainout and night contests pitting Cleveland at Texas, Detroit at Minnesota and Milwaukee at Oakland.

Reagan spent only one inning in Baltimore — he watched with Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and owner Edward Bennett Williams from the Orioles' dugout — before a helicopter took him back to the White House. The trip had been ruled out after aides surveyed Memorial Stadium last week, but they apparently decided the element of surprise overcame security concerns.

The president, who often boasts that he holds a degree in economics, got a lesson in deficit spending when he ordered four $2 hot dogs for his hosts and attempted to pay the vendor with a $5 bill.

Before a Baltimore crowd of 51,333, Harold Baines drove in three runs and LaMarr Hoyt pitched 7 1-3 strong innings for the White Sox, who lost the 1983 playoffs to Baltimore in four games.

A first-inning homer by Cal Ripken Jr., the Most Valuable Player of 1983, provided Baltimore's first run off Hoyt, who won 24 games and the Cy Young award last season. But the White Sox had taken a 2-0 lead off Scott McGregor in the top of the first on singles by Rudy Law and Carlton Fisk, a grounder by Baines and Ron Kittle's sacrifice fly. A sacrifice fly by Law made it 3-1 in the second and Baines, who grounded into a forceout at the plate following an intentional walk to Fisk in the fourth, rapped a two-run double after Fisk was again walked intentionally the sixth.

"I don't dwell on the past," said Baines, who was 3-for-28 against McGregor before his double. "They got me out the first time and they figured it would work again. I made up my mind to do the best I could."

McGregor might have done better by emulating Reagan and Gutierrez and throwing low. "Scotty got a breaking ball up and Baines hit it," said Orioles Manager Joe Altobelli.

Angels 2, Red Sox 1

With a crowd of 31,760 looking on in Anaheim Stadium, California's Ken Forsch and Boston's Bruce Hurst matched goose eggs for seven innings.

The Red Sox took a 1-0 lead in the top of the eighth. Forsch, who scattered six hits and struck out eight, had retired 12 straight batters before Rich Gedman hit a one-out single. Pinch runner Reid Nichols went to second as Stapleton grounded out and scored on a double by pinch hitter Rick Miller, his 1,000th major-league hit. Miller was batting for shortstop Glenn Hoffman, whose place Gutierrez took in the field.

But Juan Beniquez opened the Angels' ninth with a single, the sixth hit off Hurst. Doug DeCinces popped out trying to sacrifice, but Fred Lynn drew a walk. Bob Stanley relieved Hurst and retired Bobby Grich on a grounder, with the runners moving up and pinch hitter Daryl Sconiers was walked intentionally to get to Boone.

Stapleton said he was confident he would come up with the low throw.

"I always think I'm going to catch those kind," he said, "I just kind of made a big stretch. That's all you can do. I was on the bag when the ball hit my glove. I was right out there with it. I just didn't dig it up."

California Manager John McNamara admitted he thought the game was over when he saw the ball leave Boone's bat.

"I consider us fortunate to win, but we'll take it," he said. "We had two excellent pitching performances tonight, which is something rare for the start of the season."

Bethel Downs Greenville, 8-7

Greenville Christian Academy came up with a pair of runs in the bottom of the seventh but fell short of a rally, as Bethel held on for an 8-7 victory Monday in high school girls softball action.

Bobbi Harrell went the distance on the mound for Bethel to record the win, while Kathy Vernelson suffered the loss for GCA.

Christy Ormond led Bethel with three hits in four trips to the plate, while Harrell, Tracey Sutton and Jenny West had two hits each.

Vernelson legged out a solo homer in the first for Greenville Christian, while Susan Holloman went 3-4. Tammy Huggins had two hits in three at bats, while Patti Carr and Jo Williams both went 2-4.

Greenville scored a pair of runs in the first, but Bethel posted two in the second and a pair in the top of the third. GCA knotted the score with two more in the third.

Melinda Boyd singled in the fourth and later scored on a double by Page Brown to give Greenville Christian a 5-4 lead.

Bethel took control of the game with four runs in the seventh, but GCA battled back in the bottom of the inning with runs by Susan Holloman and Vernelson before suffering the loss.

GCA slips to 2-3 on the season, and hosts Wilmington today.

Milner's Homer Boosts Reds, 8-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds center fielder Eddie Milner became the first beneficiary of the lowered Riverfront Stadium walls on opening day, and immediately began lobbying to build them back up.

Milner inched a three-run homer over the wall Monday to highlight an early offensive explosion that carried the Reds to an 8-1 rout of the New York Mets in the traditional National League baseball opener.

The rest of the league opens with Chicago at San Francisco and St. Louis at Los Angeles this afternoon and Philadelphia at Atlanta, Montreal at Houston and Pittsburgh at San Diego tonight.

Milner's homer to right field barely cleared the wall, lowered from 12 feet to eight this year to add excitement to the game.

"I don't particularly like it that much," Milner later said with a shrug. "It allows for a lot of home runs to go out. I'm a line-drive hitter, so it really doesn't matter that much to me. The ball I hit would have been off the wall, and I'll take a double, too."

Milner also had a single, a double, and a long fly out that Mets right fielder Darryl Strawberry leaped over the wall to snatch.

"I figured I had a shot on that one," Strawberry said. "It was hit straight up. I got back to the wall, relaxed and jumped at the perfect time. The home run was more of a line shot. I didn't have a chance to get back to the wall."

Milner's duel with the wall captured the fans' imaginations, and Dave Parker's homecoming won their hearts on a sunny and mild opening day in the city that boasts of baseball's first professional team.

Parker, a Cincinnati native signed as a free-agent in the off-season, came to bat with the bases loaded and none out in the first inning. After a loud ovation, he ground a single through the hole into right field for two runs, and Dan Driessen hit into a run-producing force play for a 3-0 lead.

"He's been doing that all spring," Vern Rapp, enjoying his first victory as Reds manager, said of Parker. "That's what he gets paid for. He likes it and I like it."

Strawberry ripped a lead-off homer off Mario Soto to start the second for the Mets, but the Reds countered with Milner's homer and four runs in the bottom of the inning to chase starter Mike Torrez, 10-17 last season. Dave Concepcion hit a homer in the seventh for Cincinnati's other run.

Soto, 17-13 last year with a league-leading 18 complete games, went the distance while allowing just seven hits and striking out eight.

"I knew it was going to be a tough start," rookie Mets Manager Dave Johnson said. "Soto pitched a hell of a game. We just got blown out early."

The weather was delightful for the earliest opener in modern baseball history. Exactly 46,000 at Riverfront Stadium saw the matchup between last season's the two worst NL teams.

"I think everybody feels really good right now," Parker said with a wide grin. "It's too bad the season doesn't end today."

The Los Angeles Dodgers, hoping to repeat as NL West champions, started Fernando Valenzuela, 15-10 last season, in a battle of southpaws against Dave LaPoint, 12-9. But Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda refused Monday to reveal the rest of his lineup.

"I'll decide on it when I make out my lineup card on Tuesday, and that's the truth," said Lasorda.

A crowd of 56,000 was assured for the opener at Dodger Stadium. Up the coast in San Francisco, the Giants anticipated about 50,000 when they sent Mark Davis, 6-4, against the Chicago Cubs and Dick Ruthven, 13-12.

The defending league champion Phillies hoped for a quick getaway against the pitching-poor Atlanta Braves. Three-time Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton, 15-16, opposed Len Barker, 1-3, for the Braves after coming over from Cleveland where he was 8-13. Carlton is the all-time major league strikeout leader with 3,709.

Gone from the Atlanta roster is long-time ace Phil Niekro, now with the New York Yankees. The Braves also are missing right-hander Pasqual Perez, who is jailed in his native Dominican Republic on a drug charge.

Elsewhere tonight, the Montreal Expos — for whom Pete Rose will continue his quest to become the game's most prolific hit-maker — send Charlie Lea, 16-11, against Nolan Ryan, 14-9, for the Astros, and Pittsburgh's Rick Rhoden, 13-13, opposed Eric Show, 15-12, for the San Diego Padres.

Ryan hoped to renew his see-saw strikeout war with Carlton, but had some ground to make up because of a late-season injury in 1983. He trails Carlton by 32 whiffs with a career total of 3,677.

Debuting for San Diego will be third baseman Graig Nettles, acquired in a trade Friday with the Yankees. Also available will be Nettles' former Yankee teammate, reliever Rich Gossage, signed over the winter as a free agent.

Rampants Take Two Golf Wins

Rose High School's golf team picked up its fifth and sixth victories of the season yesterday, downing Roanoke Rapids and Kinston in a match held at the Brook Valley Country Club.

Simon Moye led the Rampants to the victory with a 78, medalist for the day.

Rose finished the afternoon with a 316 team total while Roanoke Rapids was second at 328 and Kinston was a distant third with a 370.

Joining Moye in the Rose scoring was Tee Davies with a 79, Mike Herrin with a 79 and Burt Aycock with an 80.

Doug Thompson and Holt Ward led Roanoke Rapids with a pair of 80's. Curt Barrett and Brad Bazemore each added an 84.

Kinston was led by Anthony Kennedy with an 85, while David Tollier had a 93, Ken Nelhoff had 95 and Mitchell Winfree had 97.

Now 6-0, Rose plays host to Eastern Wayne here on Thursday.

Farmville C.....331
Ayden-Grifton.....334

AYDEN — Farmville Central eased past Ayden-Grifton by just three strokes in an Eastern Carolina Conference golf match yesterday held at the Ayden Golf and Country Club, 331-334.

The difference in the match was settled by the number four golfers after Ayden-Grifton eased into a one-stroke lead with the first three. But Farmville's Mark Williams, however, recorded an 87 while Ayden-Grifton's Jeremy Shadle and Danny Bleizeffer each carded a 91 and that made the difference.

Farmville was led by Vincent Lee with a 79, while Howard Hunt had an 80 and Scott Lewis recorded an 85.

Ayden-Grifton was led by Mark

Davis with a 79, Brian Heath with an 80 and Rob Conleton with an 84.

Farmville plays host to Beddingfield on Wednesday, while Ayden-Grifton travels to Kinston on Thursday.

Ellis New Tiger Coach

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — New Clemson basketball coach Cliff Ellis says his first priority in his new job will be to assess the recruiting situation for next year.

Ellis says he wants to take advantage of the time that remains before the April 11 signing date.

Ellis was named Clemson coach Monday, replacing Bill Foster who resigned to take over coaching duties at the University of Miami. Ellis comes from the University of South Alabama.

Clemson did not sign any players during the fall recruiting period, but reportedly has two verbal commitments. Ellis said the Tigers would honor those commitments.

"We're in the process of finding out as much as we can about the commitments," he said. "The first priority is to look at those commitments and find out if their interest is still in Clemson. We're interested in any player who has been recruited by Clemson at this point in time."

Ellis said he did not expect any South Alabama players to transfer to Clemson.

"We will not infringe on what has been done with the University of South Alabama," he said. "We're going to do the best job we can in the next week or so to address the particular needs of Clemson."

Rose Girls Top Jaguars

Lisa Pagel and Jodi Ross led the Rose High School Rampettes to a 75-57 victory over Farnville Central Monday in girls' track action.

Pagel took first place in the 220 hurdles with a time of 32.5 and ran on the victorious mile relay unit along with Dawn Lambing, Ross and Thompson. Pagel also placed third in the long jump and triple jump.

Ross finished first in the 440 with a time of 1:06, along with her winning effort in the mile relay.

The Rampettes, now 5-0 on the season, host Wilson Fike Wednesday.

A Review

But No One Heard Calling Him Tarzan

It has undoubtedly the longest name of any Tarzan movie to date — "Greystoke, the Legend of Tarzan, Lord of the Apes," which at first thought might lead viewers to think it's a documentary. What it is an immensely enjoyable slice of the Tarzan legend created by Edgar Rice Burroughs — the part of Tarzan's life that deals with his childhood and young manhood with his ape family, and his young adult years in England trying valiantly to adjust to being the young Lord John Greystoke, with the demands of a radically different lifestyle — speaking, wearing clothes, eating cooked food, and most agonizing, attempting to cope with a morality that delighted in the display of stuffed animals in museums.

Now playing at Plaza Cinema, "Greystoke" has a line-up of impressive talent — Hugh Hudson, the director who gave us "Chariots of Fire," a screenplay by P.H. Vazak and Michael Austin; photography by John Alcott; plus an altogether superb cast: Christopher Lambert as Johnny (Jean, John, Tarzan, Lord Greystoke); Sir Ralph Richardson as the Earl of Greystoke and Tarzan's grandfather, in his last role before his death; Ian Holm as the Belgian scientist, Phillippe D'Arnot, who discovered the youth in the wild and coaxed him back to civilization, and Andie McDowell, as the lovely and more than just decorative Jane Porter.

Add to this formidable foundation the convincing talents of several young boy actors portraying Tarzan at progressive ages, and an extended family of apes (some real, some in costume, it's difficult to distinguish between the two). The end result is a top notch Tarzan story — different from earlier Tarzan films, but still replete with the fantasy that has kept Burrough's fictional wild man in the forefront of popular appeal for 70 years.

Sir Richardson's gentle, bumbling old-age characterizations are a joy to behold. Ian Holm provides an excellent interpretation of a humane explorer far above the general cut of the good old British boys out for the thrill of the kill. Andie McDowell is an actress of gentle beauty who brings credibility to the torment of a young woman caught between love and doubt in her relationship with John (Tarzan) and his bouts of moodiness.

It is the actor Christopher Lambert, however, who gives the film its magnetism and cohesion. In what is certainly an Academy Award-caliber performance, Lambert projects a sense of mute, tender aching love for his fellow jungle creatures who were his early family. He transfers the powers of animal-tense forest alertness, of primitive, innocent love to his relation with the Belgian scientist, and later, to his human family. Civilization does not blunt the instincts that have formed him — he is quick to discern the distinction between the real and the sham in the civilized world. Physically, Lambert is a man of long, stringy muscles, who conveys a far truer portrait of a loner living on grubs and fruits than the body beautiful actors who have graced a string of Tarzan movies in the past.

At the end of the film, I had the feeling I wanted this to be a mini-series to follow the future years in the fascinating life of Burrough's great fictional creation.

"Greystoke" is essentially fare for an adult audience who value intelligence and integrity in a film. Older, but possibly not younger children, will love much of it, particularly the marvelous antics of the ape family and the vine-swinging adventures which happily have been retained.

One intriguing question. Has any viewer heard the name Tarzan spoken in any of the film's dialogue? I did not. The only reference to the word Tarzan I can discover is in the printed title of the film.

Police Say Marvin Gaye Pushed His Father Around Before Fatal Shots

By RICHARD DEATLEY
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Soul singer Marvin Gaye Jr. "pushed his father around pretty good" just before being shot to death in a birthday-party dispute over insurance with the retired minister, police say.

Gaye Sr., 69, was booked for investigation of murder and was being held without bail pending arraignment Wednesday.

An autopsy showed the singer, who would have turned 45 on Monday, died Sunday of two gunshot wounds to the chest and had no other wounds. Coroner's spokesman Bill Gold said results of toxicological tests would be available in about two weeks.

"Marvin was troubled," Leslie Scott, who described himself as a close friend of the singer, said outside the Gaye home Monday. "He was worried about staying in the music business. He wanted to, but he was having problems."

Scott, 30, said he could see that Gaye's mother was "crying a lot about the problems he was having."

The singer's lawyer, Howard L. Rasch, said Gaye was having financial problems "related back to his problems with the IRS and his bankruptcy" several years ago.

Lt. Robert Martin, chief of detectives for the Police Department's Wilshire Division, said Gaye's mother, Alberta, 71, indicated the shooting culminated a father-son dispute over an insurance policy.

"Apparently, he pushed his father around pretty good" before he was shot, Martin said Monday.

He added that "we may never know" the extent of the father-son rift.

Martin declined to reveal the contents of a statement that Gaye Sr., a retired apostolic minister at the House of God Church, made to police.

Gaye himself referred to strained relationships with his father in a People Magazine interview last year.

"My father was a very strict disciplinarian whom I rebelled against," he said. "We don't communicate like before."

Scott indicated some difficulties may have been exacerbated by Gaye's financial reverses of the late 1970s and early 1980s.

Gaye's 1976 divorce from his first wife Anna, sister of Motown Records founder Berry Gordy, cost him $600,000. When he died he was still paying off debts from a bankruptcy declaration as well as a $2 million back income tax bill.

"I think it was a case of first there was success and then there was none," Scott said.

Besides his parents, Gaye is survived by his children, Marvin Gaye III, about 18; Frankie Gaye, 7; and Nona Gaye, 9.

Gaye's remains were released to Forest Lawn Memorial-Park in Hollywood Hills, where officials said funeral services would be private and arrangements confidential.

Busy Finale For Lord Harewood

LONDON (AP) — Lord Harewood, a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, is stepping down next year as managing director of the prestigious English National Opera Company — but not until after he has led the company on a tour of the United States.

Harewood, 61, who has held the post for 13 years, said Monday that he will resign in June 1985 so he can devote more time to his family's estates in northern England.

 Today's Cryptokuip clue: X equals C

The Cryptokuip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

FOCUS

Busting The Boss

Today is Tweed Day - a day to consider the cost of political corruption. William Marcy "Boss" Tweed controlled New York City politics after the Civil War. Tweed may have cost the city as much as $200 million. But political misdeeds do not always bring punishment. After Interior Secretary Albert Fall resigned over the Teapot Dome scandal, President Harding offered him a seat on the Supreme Court. A U.S. President cannot be arrested unless he willingly agrees.

DO YOU KNOW - What famous cartoonist had a hand in bringing Tweed to justice?
MONDAY'S ANSWER - Jackie Robinson was the first black player to join the major leagues.

Opening lead: Seven of ♣.

Winning technique is like dining at a wonderful restaurant. Eating too much can spoil the whole meal.

When this hand was dealt at the recent British Team Trials, a number of pairs reached three no trump, usually after an auction such as the one above. Some Wests elected to lead the jack of diamonds. That gave declarer a third trick in the suit because he could finesse East for the queen later, and the contract was easy.

One West hit upon his own suit to launch the attack. Declarer elected to let the king hold, and ducked again when East continued with the ten. That was a case of too much duck. East shifted to a diamond, and in the fullness of time declarer had to lose a diamond and two spades for down one.

Declarer must establish a trick in spades to make his contract and, in view of East's opening bid, he probably will have to surrender the lead twice to do so. He can get home if he wins the second club and immediately goes about forcing out the ace and queen of spades. Even if East shifts to a diamond after winning the first spade, declarer is a tempo ahead. He simply wins the diamond and knocks out the remaining enemy spade stopper to set up his ninth trick.

At first glance it might seem that three no trump can also be defeated if, after winning the king of clubs, East shifts to a diamond. However, that is not the case. If declarer guesses the distribution, he can still land the contract.

If he elects to play West for doubleton honor in diamonds, declarer can make the hand by rising with a diamond honor at trick two. He loses a spade to East, and the defenders are helpless. If East continues with a low diamond, declarer ducks and West has no diamond to return. If East leads a diamond honor, his partner's jack crashes, and declarer has his ninth trick in diamonds. Alternatively, South can win the diamond shift, run the hearts, cash the aces of clubs and diamonds, and then end play East with a diamond.

Meese's Fate Is Up To A Special Prosecutor

By MIKE FEINSILBER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The fate of Edwin Meese III — his reputation, his nomination as attorney general and to some extent his president's own political stock — now lies in the hands of Jacob A. Stein, a top Washington lawyer who promises "a dignified, thoroughly professional investigation."

Stein, 59, was selected and accepted on Monday to serve as the special prosecutor who will see whether criminal violations of federal law are involved in the allegations against Meese.

A former Watergate defense attorney, Stein will be sworn to try to decide whether the president's longtime friend is guilty of swapping jobs for financial help; giving special treatment to businesses in which he has an interest; benefiting from favored treatment in his Army Reserves promotion; having knowledge of the raiding of Jimmy Carter's 1980 campaign files; failing to pay income tax on earnings in his White House Federal Credit Union account and failing to disclose an interest-free $15,000 loan from a friend.

"I hope to carry out a dignified, thoroughly professional investigation," Stein said Monday night in an interview in which he brushed aside questions about how long his investigation will take and whether his report is likely to be issued in the midst of the presidential election campaign.

Meese has denied the allegations.

Neighbors Held Trio

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Joseph Freeman says the neighbors who trapped two would-be burglars in his house and pinned a third to the ground outside are "the best there is."

Freeman said Monday that he and his wife, Maonia, were returning from a funeral service Sunday night when they found their home surrounded by six neighbors. Trapped inside were two teen-age boys, with the look-out held down nearby, he said.

The youths, one 15 and the others 14, later were charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny. Their names were not released because of their ages, police said.

The three were spotted near Freeman's house by a young neighbor, who asked to remain anonymous.

"He noticed these boys, looking suspicious, coming down the road" in the South Wythe neighborhood, said Freeman, a retired Hampton Roads Bridge-Tunnel patrol supervisor. "He watched them break into the house, called the police" and the captain of a neighborhood crime watch group, he said.

Within minutes, the neighbors — one of them with a shotgun strapped around his shoulders — had the house surrounded.

Aware of their predicament, the youths tried to escape through a window, said Freeman. "But they (the neighbors) just said, 'Stay right there till the police come.' The boys kept shouting, 'Don't shoot, don't shoot!'"

Officers arrived within 10 minutes. Drawers and closets were opened and some were in disarray, but nothing was stolen, Freeman said.

"I couldn't thank them enough," Freeman said of his neighbors.

"We were just glad we could be there to help," said the father of the youth who signaled the alert.

Go To Court On Bridge To Beach

BEAUFORT, N.C. (AP) — Attorneys for Morehead City went to Carteret County Superior Court on Monday to fight state plans to build a $12.4 million high-rise, four-lane bridge from the city to Atlantic Beach.

The attorneys presented arguments in a lawsuit filed in November against the bridge, which would connect with an existing causeway across Bogue Sound.

Morehead City, however, wants a bridge to be built at a more westerly location and the existing drawbridge at 24th Street left intact.

An attorney for Morehead, Nelson Taylor, argued in court Monday that the law gives jurisdiction for city roads to cities. But attorneys for the state, Robert Webb and Eugene Smith, responded that the bridge is part of a statewide highway system over which North Carolina has jurisdiction.

PRICE INCREASE

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The government has imposed a 25 percent increase in the price of gasoline in Poland, raising the cost of a gallon of regular to about $1.40.

Eleven days ago, with his nomination in jeopardy in the Senate and becoming a political target for the Democrats, he asked for the appointment of a prosecutor to "demonstrate the absence of any impropriety on my part." Several senators had already made the same request.

His friends have pictured him as guileless, and indifferent to the problems concerning the sale of his old home in California and the mortgage payments there and on a new home in Washington while adjusting to the pressures of advising the president on a wealth of subjects.

Stein, appointed by a panel of three federal judges, will have the FBI at his disposition and will be able to summon grand juries, issue subpoenas, compel testimony and — if he finds evidence of criminal wrongdoing — prosecute.

In so complicated a case, the process could take months and the results may tumble into the election campaign. A negative report from Stein, even if he does not find evidence worthy of prosecution, could hurt Reagan, who says his political enemies are using Meese to get at him.

A clean bill of health from Stein, however, could backfire on the Democrats who have been capitalizing on a view that Reagan has been casual about the ethical standards of his appointees.

Stein's politics are not known. He has never voted. He explained that he lived in the District of Columbia before residents won the right to vote and "I guess I never developed the habit."

Asked what his approach will be, Stein said: "I've got a mandate and an appointment order, and that's what I'm going to follow. The panel of judges has identified the nature of the investigation, and that is my map on the subject."

Meantime, the Justice Department will be under the direction of a lame duck, William French Smith, who has made no secret of his anxiety to leave so he can play a backstage role in Reagan's re-election campaign.

Stein is a highly regarded lawyer, who has taught law at Harvard and Georgetown and written three reference works, one of them five volumes on the law. Watergate judge John J. Sirica in his memoirs called him "one of the finest attorneys in Washington."

He is a jogger and a marathoner; a lover of good books and good, sound English; a juggler of apples, oranges, almost anything that's round; a wearer of bow ties; tall and trim; and, in the courtroom, soft-spoken, with a squeaky voice, and effective.

Under the process spelled out by the post-Watergate Ethics in Government Act, Stein was selected for the task by a three-judge panel named by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger. He is only the fourth prosecutor named since Watergate.

The other three found no wrongdoing after investigating Carter

White House figures Tim Kraft and Hamilton Jordan on drug charges and Reagan's Labor Secretary, Raymond Donovan, on alleged ties to organized crime figures.

The three appeals court judges — Roger Robb, J. Edward Lumbard and Lewis R. Morgan — said in a statement:

"Mr. Meese has issued a formal written public statement to the effect that the acknowledged omissions on his official financial disclosure forms were inadvertent and that there was no connection between the government jobs and the financial transactions. Resolution of these questions requires a careful investigation."

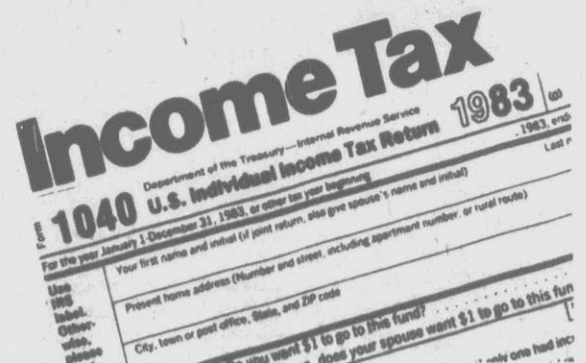

Meese's lawyer, Leonard Garmet, who was one of Richard Nixon's defenders in Watergate, said, "We are pleased that the judicial panel has acted promptly and has appointed a distinguished lawyer to serve as the independent counsel. We look forward to cooperating fully with him."

Under the ethics act, Smith began a preliminary investigation to see if a prosecutor was needed after it was disclosed March 15 that Meese failed to list on a required financial disclosure form the $15,000 loan which his wife received from Edwin Thomas, a California friend of the Meese family, to purchase stock. Smith noted that while the loan was outstanding, Thomas, his wife, Gretchen, and son, Tad, were appointed to federal jobs.

Stein represented the only man acquitted at the trial of the Watergate coverup defendants, Kenneth W. Parkinson.

Stein portrayed Parkinson as a political innocent, who had been duped by the upper echelon of the committee. Stein made sure that Parkinson remained physically separated from other defendants to make his point.
