Reagan Draws An Ovation For His Banquet Address

By R. GREGORY NOKES
AP Diplomatic Writer

PEKING (AP) — President Reagan extolled the virtues of capitalism and democracy to a Chinese audience today and announced an agreement allowing sales of American nuclear technology to the world's most populous nation.

Later, during an elaborate banquet in his honor, Reagan criticized the Soviet Union for threatening world peace by "focusing its resources and energy, not on economic progress, but on military power."

He told his host, Premier Zhao Ziyang, "The shift in military might of the last decade has made trust and friendship between us ever more vital. I know it is your desire, and that of the United States as well, that peace be preserved."

But in his toast at the banquet, Zhao took no side in the U.S.-Soviet rivalry, saying both nations have "aggravated tensions" throughout the world by deployment of nuclear missiles in Europe and elsewhere.

"We sincerely hope that the two major nuclear powers, the United States and the Soviet Union, will reach agreement through serious negotiations so that the urgent desire of the people of all countries for a drastic reduction of nuclear arms and a relaxation of international tensions can be fulfilled at an early date," Zhao said.

In an earlier speech to a group of several hundred Chinese scientists, intellectuals and other officials, Reagan said, "Today, China's economy crackles with the dynamics of change ... China is beginning to reach out toward new horizons and we salute your courage."

Reagan was warmly applauded by the handpicked audience, many of whom understood English, when he said, "As China moves forward on this new path, America welcomes the opportunity to walk by your side."

"You will choose your own path to development," Reagan said. "But we are not surprised to see the fresh breezes of incentives and innovation sweeping positive changes across China."

Reagan also received standing applause at the end of the speech, delivered in the Great Hall of the People with the American and Chinese flags displayed side-by-side behind him on the podium.

Outside, several thousand people stood in Tiananmen Square behind barricades, waiting for a glimpse of the American leader who arrived here Thursday on a six-day visit.

Reagan's speech was to be broadcast later on Chinese television to an audience that White House officials estimated might number 200 million.

Record $10.3 Billion Trade Deficit In March Reported For United States

By The Associated Press

The United States posted a record $10.3 billion trade deficit in March, the third straight record-breaking month, the government said today.

The Commerce Department reported imports surged to their highest level ever in March — $28 billion — 2.6 percent higher than the February total of $27.3 billion. Exports were up 2.9 percent from February to $17.7 billion.

Analysts said it appeared the nation would easily surpass last year's record $69.4 billion deficit.

The March deficit was $200 million higher than the February total of $10.1 billion. In January, the deficit was $9.5 billion.

The new report came a day after the Labor Department reported a 2.6 percent annual rate gain in U.S. business productivity in the first quarter of this year, slightly lower than the advance registered in the fourth quarter of 1983.

Nevertheless, the figures released Thursday suggested continued improvement in the business indicator that private and government economists contend is a vital barometer of the ability of American business to cope with steadily mounting international competition.

Ford Motor Co. on Thursday announced record first-quarter earnings of $897 million in the first quarter, putting the nation's No. 2 automaker in position to break its record profit for a full year before the summer is out.

The first-quarter earnings were nearly half Ford's record annual profit of $1.87 billion earned in 1983.

General Motors Corp., the only U.S.-based automaker that has not reported its first-quarter results, also is expected to post a record quarter.

GM's figures are expected to confirm that combined 1984 earnings of U.S. automakers will shatter the industrywide record of $6.1 billion set last year. Two more major oil companies, Mobil Corp. and Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), said Thursday their first-quarter earnings rose sharply from a year earlier.

But third-ranked Texaco Inc. said its results were flat due to year-earlier gains not being realized in the latest quarter, and its $10.1 billion acquisition of Getty Oil Co. two months ago.

The 2.6 percent gain in productivity represents performance in private business excluding agriculture.

It resulted from a 9.9 percent increase in worker output and a 7.2 percent rise in hours worked, the best showing in that category since working hours rose at a 10.5 percent clip in the second quarter of 1978.

Overall business productivity, including the farming economy, improved at an annual rate of 2.9 percent, according to the report.

Productivity is a measure of the volume of goods and services the economy puts out in an hour of paid working time.

In a separate report, the labor department said new applications for unemployment insurance payments fell to roughly 345,000 in mid-April from 388,000 the previous week, reversing a short-lived trend of rising claims for benefits.

But economists in and out of government acknowledge that this weekly fixture is among the most volatile of economic indices, and thus should be watched for long-term trends rather than week-to-week variations.

Siege Ended For Embassy

LONDON (AP) — Libyans left their London embassy today to start their journey home, ending an 11-day siege that began when a sniper in the building sprayed gunfire at dissidents and killed a British policewoman.

"The siege is over," declared a spokesman for Scotland Yard. "All the Libyans have left the embassy."

The Libyans began emerging from the embassy at St. James's Square at midmorning in groups of five, led by an unidentified Libyan who had been acting as go-between. Thirty Libyans were escorted into waiting vans. Video pictures of the evacuation, which had not been announced in advance, were aired by the British Broadcasting Corp.

Police motorcyclists cleared the way for the convoy, which headed west across the city. A dozen white police vehicles escorted the convoy and a police helicopter circled overhead.

The Libyans were taken to a "secure government building," where they would be asked to identify themselves and "invited" to answer questions about the shooting that sparked the siege, said a Home Office spokesman who asked not to be identified. He did not specify the building's location.

From there, the Libyans were to be taken to Heathrow Airport. A Libyan plane was due at the airport at 4 p.m. (10 a.m. EST). The plane filed a flight plan to leave four hours later, airport officials said.

It was not known if the gunman who opened fire from the embassy was among the Libyans who left the embassy.

Police "satisfied themselves that the Libyans were not carrying arms or explosives," said a Scotland Yard spokesman.

Pitt Commission Candidates Answer Questions At Forum

By STUART SAVAGE

About 40 people were on hand to hear seven candidates for the Pitt County Board of Commissioners respond to questions Thursday night at a candidates' forum sponsored by the Bethel and Greenville Councils of the Pitt-Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

Participating in the forum were candidates Frank Grooms, Tom Johnson and Jim Rouse, for the District 1 seat; Gene James and Annette MacRae, for District 2, and incumbent Bruce Strickland and Carl Whitfield, District 3.

District 1 incumbent Charles Gaskins was sick and did not participate.

In his opening comments, Grooms said "tomorrow ... will bring change," and the county needs a "road map for the future ... a comprehensive long-range plan."

Johnson, who said he has "been preparing for 10 years to serve as a county commissioner," said his campaign platform is "cooperation" between the county governments and the governments of the municipalities in the county, and "comprehensive planning."

Jim Rouse told the audience he represents "new leadership ... new ways to solve old problems," with the biggest problem being "not enough jobs."

James suggested that "what it's about is working with people," and said he would work to support improved education, "job opportunities" and transportation in the county. Mrs. MacRae said improved "education ... one of the most significant things in our lives ..." and planning for progress are the most important issues.

Strickland, a member of the board for more than 23 years, said, "I stand for improved education, quality industry and efficient county government."

"I hope to be a builder ... contribute to this county of Pitt," said Whitfield, who voiced support for improved education, police and fire protection.

Responding to a series of questions, the candidates voiced support for improvements in law enforcement in the county as well as crime prevention programs. Several candidates also expressed support for a 911 telephone system throughout the county.

The candidates voiced support for a meetings of the board, with several suggesting that at least one of the commission's meetings each month be scheduled at night to make the sessions more accessible to the public.

Gillam Wants Debate With Jones Before May Primary

State Rep. John Gillam said Thursday he has asked Rep. Walter B. Jones, D-N.C., to break one of his "political rules" and consent to a debate prior to the May 8 primary.

Gillam said the 1st District representative has never been held accountable for his congressional record and Jones "owes this to the people of eastern North Carolina." Gillam said he is "convinced that elected officials must be accountable for their record."

The representative said Jones "has always claimed to live by three political rules: be brief, never say anything unkind about your opponent, and never debate a challenger."

He said Jones has broken those rules in 1984, becoming "rather long-winded of late in trying to explain to constituents some of his indefensible positions. And he recently said something unkind about his opposition, claiming that John Gillam didn't understand anything about Congress."

Gillam said he is asking Jones "to break his third rule" and agree to a debate.

He claimed Jones has failed to explain "why he has introduced and continues to support cargo preference legislation which would seriously stifle the sale of farm exports and irreparably injure our valuable soybean industry."

"Mr. Jones has yet to explain why he voluntarily gave up the chairmanship of the powerful subcommittee on tobacco and peanuts to take the helm of the Merchant Marine Committee which has only marginal impact in this region."

"He has yet to explain why the big shipping conglomerates and maritime unions are pumping thousands of dollars into his campaign coffers."

"He has yet to explain why, in the 98th Congress, 18 pieces of legislation out of 21 he introduced were tied to maritime and marine interests and had virtually nothing to do with eastern North Carolina."

Gillam, who said he is "trying to be fair and be a gentleman in this campaign," charged that "Jones has lost his grip on the pulse of eastern North Carolina."

He said the incumbent "has forgotten that we have an agrarian economy dependent on the income of farmers. He has forgotten that we have high unemployment and economic stagnation and we need strong leadership to attract industry" to the state's eastern section.

He said he wants to ask Jones "why North Carolina receives the lowest amount of money from the federal government of any of the 50 states in America."

Pitt Farm Bureau Women Have Meet

The women of Pitt County Farm Bureau held their annual luncheon meeting Thursday to celebrate National Farm Bureau Day. Curtis Alls, coordinator of N.C. Farm Bureau Women's Activities, was guest speaker.

He showed a film "Country Roads," promoting farm safety on rural roads. The film was introduced by the Illinois Farm Bureau in conjunction with the Young Farm Program. Alls was introduced by Alma Worthington.

Carol Brown was introduced as a special guest. She is assistant 4-H agent with the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service.

It was announced Mrs. Worthington will represent North Carolina in the Mother of the Year Contest in New Orleans, La.

Helen Wooten greeted guests and the welcome was given by Margie Hart. Helen Worthington gave the invocation.

She Offers Wild West Styles

By JUDIE GLAVE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Geometric Indian designs and buffalo heads dancing on cloud-covered silks abound in the fall collection of Michael Vollbracht, who remains a master mixer of textures.

Whether for sport, sun and fun or evening attire, Vollbracht mixes the most unlikely combinations of fabrics and colors — rubber and lace and designs in olive, red and pink prints — and somehow makes it work.

The collection, unveiled Tuesday in the designer's Seventh Avenue showroom, included a sport set made of a thermal-type material (like the underwear) in cropped trousers, cowl tops, skirts, vests and accent pieces.

Although unlikely sounding, a pastel plaid skirt mixed with a melon thermal cowl, a chartreuse thermal vest and matching chartreuse long johns was especially bright and kinky for fall.

Vollbracht fans will never be accused of being wallflowers.

Also fun was his collection of bold red and black primitive cats shown on jumpers, skirts, blouses and matching mufflers.

He also showed a holiday swimwear collection, featuring seashore malliots, a daring undershirt bikini, and a banana print lounging outfit.

The unmistakable hit in this set, however, was a sequin-studded Tarzan swimsuit for men done in rust suede and leopard print. The audience howled and whistled.

The predominant theme in this year's fall collection, however, is the geometric Indian print "happy coats" — Vollbracht's alternative to traditional camelhair and herringbone jackets.

Colorfully dotted with tassels, beads and fur, the quilted jackets were teamed with wide, flannel trousers, solid suedes and silk pants done bold stripes of purple, olive, red and yellow.

Another Wild West touch was seen in the rust-colored, buffalo heads that danced playfully on quilted coats and drop-waisted dresses.

The offering was especially nice on a silk blouse dotted with white clouds and blue skies and shown with a clingy, black skirt and striped Chanel jacket.

Another Indian offering, the Far East kind, was seen in Vollbracht's "Brahma" collection of cocktail dresses, pleated evening skirts and blouses, accented with chiffon saris and Indian tapestry shawls.

The color combination in this set was stunning in mist green, pink and yellow. It stood out in a chiffon harem pant and matching sari teamed with a jewel-studded, butter-yellow, suede crop top.

And for those black tie only affairs, the never-dull designer offered quilted rubber dinner jackets, rubber wrap blouses and a rubber evening gown.

The rubber is a thin, breathable material that looks as if it's studded with sparkling silver sequins and actually doesn't look like rubber at all.

These designs were dubbed "de-mode" (out of style) by Vollbracht and daring by most others. The most unusual and asthetic combination was a skintight, strapless rubber gown with a frilly, black Spanish lace bodice and matching bustled train.

In stark contrast to Vollbracht's colorful coats were the more traditional offerings shown earlier in the day by designer Ilie Wacs.

The collection, consisting primarily of coats, offered few updates on the traditional meltons, wools and twills done in single and double breasted styles with deep pockets and occasional belts.

The colors were likewise traditional in charcoals, clarets, black and tan herringbone weaves and winter white. The exception to this was an occasional melton coat done in soft mimosa or sage — a light green and a pretty, striped Chesterfield done in rust, red, olive and purple.

Will Everybody Read About Everybody?

DEAR ABBY: This is for all the lazy people in the world who don't want to accept any responsibility.

Once upon a time there were four people named Everybody, Somebody, Nobody and Anybody. When there was an important job to be done, Everybody was sure that Somebody would do it. Anybody could have done it, but Nobody did it.

When Nobody did it, Everybody got angry because it was Everybody's job. Everybody thought that Somebody would do it, but Nobody realized that Nobody would do it.

So it ended up that Everybody blamed Somebody when Nobody did what Anybody could have done in the first place.

DEAR THERESA: I have seen several versions of this piece, but yours is the only one anybody can follow. There's a message for everybody here. I hope nobody misses it.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have a friend who cooks catfish to perfection. We have always enjoyed it until he recently remarked that he prefers to strain the grease (to be reused) through a large panty hose given to him by a heavyset ladyfriend.

This offhand remark has disturbed me to the point of being unable to enjoy catfish prepared by my friend. Is his method of straining in any way dangerous? Even if the panty hose were well-laundered, is there a possibility of germ infiltration, with the danger of hepatitis or some other disease?

Please contact your experts and let me know if I have reason to worry, or is it just a silly hang-up I should overcome?

It seems to me that catfish strained through my laundered shorts wouldn't be any different than catfish strained through panty hose.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old male college student with a serious problem: infidelity.

In the last six years, I've had four serious love relationships (one at a time) with four of the most terrific girls a guy could ever ask for, and they've all ended for the same stupid reason. I was caught cheating with another girl. Not one of these sexual encounters meant a thing to me. They were all one-night stands with you feel you don't deserve a meaningful relationship with a decent woman.

Find a therapist who can get to the bottom of this destructive behavior, or the heart you will ultimately break will be your own.

- CITRUS CUP PLUS
- Spirited fruit.
- 3 large seedless grapefruit
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/4 cup orange liqueur
- Garnish: watercress sprigs

Cut peel from grapefruit so no white membrane remains; over a bowl, cut away sections from dividing membranes, saving juice. Stir in orange juice and liqueur; cover and chill. At serving time garnish with watercress sprigs. Makes 4 servings. Pretty served in sherbet glasses. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup coarsely shredded Swiss cheese

Toast bread and cut into about 1-inch squares. In a 10-inch skillet in the hot butter fry the bread squares on both sides until golden brown and evenly coated with the butter. Beat eggs, milk and salt to blend; stir in cheese; pour over bread in skillet. Cook gently and as eggs become firm, scrape from bottom of pan so fluid mixture runs down. Serve at once. Makes 2 servings.

At Wits End

By Erma Bombeck

Just when I thought it was safe to go into the kitchen again, I read this story about the Pillsbury Bake-off. A woman from Phoenix, Ariz., Cathy Emery, was well on her way to making history with her pineapple pecan quick bread when she removed it from the oven and the hot pan slipped and overturned on the opened oven door. This was no accident. It was a kitchen's revenge. If this can happen to a world-class cook, what chance do the rest of us have?

There are few cooks among us who have not suffered in this culinary war zone at one time or another. Sometimes I think we should get combat pay just for showing up. I learned a long time ago that we never really run our own kitchen. They run us and can make us look real bad.

I can make a gelatin salad a million times and have to strap it in to keep it from sliding out of the mold. Have ten people in to dinner, make the same salad, and you can't get it out of the pan with a flamethrower.

My oven is vindictive. It knows when I'm baking a nothing one-layer sheet cake to cut into squares and send for lunches. That cake will rise to the top of the oven and be so level you could build a house on it.

Let me slide in three layers for a special birthday cake and it will come out looking like an excavation site for a new parking lot.

Freezers are not your friend either. Little leftovers stored in foil seem to have some sort of sex life. They multiply like field mice. Ice cubes, on the other hand, diminish with each day, especially during the summer.

In between dealing with the temperament of appliances, we have disposers that nip at our fingers, mixers that spray our ceilings, ovens that burn the top and undercook the bottom, dishwashers that scrub the handles off our silverware and leave the egg on the plates, exhaust fans that run only when you're on the phone and toasters that are life-threatening. Cathy Emery was just another victim.

No one gets any sympathy from a husband. Mine tells me my kitchen is like Disneyland.

Actually, he's right. The refrigerator is Adventureland, the plumbing is Frontierland, the freezer is Futureland and the stove is Fantasyland. All of it is out to get me! I'm just along for the ride.

POWER SHORTAGE
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — By the 21st century, there may be scarcely enough electric power to satisfy peak demands, according to representatives of the nation's utilities.

A possible solution to the problem may be the zinc-chloride "flow" battery, says Jacob Jorne, a professor of chemical engineering at the University of Rochester.

Flow batteries store and supply energy. In load-leveling applications, giant flow battery plants could store energy produced by utilities during off-peak hours when rates are low, then supply the reserve power to meet surges in demand.

Initial testing has been successful, says Jorne, and when final testing is completed, large-scale production is expected to follow.

Struggle Ends

Often we feel that individuals lean too heavily on traumatic events in their lives to explain their personal failings.

We should understand that tragedy strengthens us, if we meet the challenge, and we then go on to better lives.

However, for David Kennedy, 28-year-old son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, it is likely that the tragedy which occurred when he was 12 years old was more than enough to scar him for life. His father rescued him from the surf and a few hours later the young son witnessed his father's violent death on television.

Undoubtedly, the terrible scene haunted him for the rest of his life and led to drugs and personal problems. Wednesday night David Kennedy was found dead in a hotel suite and the long struggle was over.

We fervently desire that it could have turned out some other way, but we can only pray with Edward Kennedy that "David has finally found a peace that he did not find in life."

Time Change

Hey, sleepyhead, get a good night's sleep tonight. Tomorrow night you will lose an hour's sleep as the clock is turned forward one hour to accommodate Daylight Savings Time.

For most of us, the lost hour will be worth it. Sunday night sundown will come an hour later than it did the day before and next week there will be an hour's more daylight to do the things we enjoy after school or work.

It is an annual ritual that gives us more daylight hours in the evening during the summer months and, after all, we will regain the hour's sleep next October. So enjoy Daylight time during the coming months. Just remember, in December it will be getting dark at 5 p.m. once again.

RALEIGH — Give North Carolina's teachers credit this year. They've managed to make their salaries the most widely discussed issue of the 1984 gubernatorial race.

Teachers are angry because, since the 10 percent raise they received in July 1980, they've only received two 5 percent raises. One came in January 1982, the other in July 1983. In addition, this fiscal year and last, their salary increment schedule, which gives them 5 percent raises as they gain experience, were frozen.

North Carolina teachers this year are averaging an annual salary — not counting local supplements — of $18,014. The average annual salary for teachers this year is $22,019 nationally. Teacher salaries in the state range from starting pay of $13,660 to $19,680 for the most experienced teachers who also hold masters' degrees. Those figures don't include supplements or pay for extra service.

The six major Democratic candidates for governor have provided their plans for raising teacher salaries. Here they are.

John Ingram is often misquoted on his plan. He wants the highest paid teachers in the country when their salaries are adjusted for cost of living. Since North Carolina is a less expensive place to live than Alaska and New York, for example, Ingram would have teachers here paid less than in those states. He figures his plan would cost $300 million annually.

Rufus Edmisten proposes steady raises over four years that would create starting salaries for teachers of $20,000 annually by 1988-89. His plan takes into account use of some local money, however.

Eddie Knox says he wants teacher salaries raised to the national average over four years. He figures teachers need 8 percent across the board each of the next four years to reach that goal.

Lauch Faircloth says the state's average teacher salary should be comparable to at least the $22,000 national average. Tom Gilmore, who got the endorsement of the N.C. Association of Educators, says his goal is to raise teachers' salaries above the national average with 10 percent increases in each of his first two years in office. Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green says he'll pursue a 15 percent pay raise for teachers in 1984's short legislative session and then seek to get raises ranging from 5 to 7.5 percent each year.

Merit pay gets a lot of discussion. Various plans have been put forth to reward the teachers who perform well in the classroom, who help other teachers and who advance their own education. Five candidates endorse the idea in some form. Gilmore expresses skepticism and says he can't support it.

There is also talk about higher salaries for teachers in those fields which are currently experiencing teacher shortages. Gilmore, Green and Faircloth disagree with this idea. The other three dodged the question.

A legislative committee has proposed that the superintendent of public instruction no longer be elected. It would prefer appointment by the board of education. Faircloth said he doesn't care either way.

Green and Knox favor appointment. Gilmore favors election. Ingram didn't express an opinion. Edmisten said he generally favors the election of public officials.

All six candidates expressed support for the concept of a statewide minimum public school curriculum. Ingram, Faircloth, Green and Knox all pledge continued increases in the stipend paid state students in public schools. Gilmore says he'd freeze it. Edmisten said increases would depend on available revenue.

Public Forum

To the editor:

I read Monday, April 23, that U.S. Sen. John East said that, in his opinion, the Rev. Jesse Jackson is running a racial campaign and that Rev. Jesse Jackson is a "racist." I think that everyone is entitled to his own opinion, but when a man of influence expresses that opinion to all of America, then I feel the need to express opinions of my own.

During the past few weeks, Jesse Jackson has been getting blasted by the N.C. media and others for having the audacity to run for the highest office in America. It is strange that, although they all contend that he can't win, they act as though they are angry because this upstart black even considered vying for the office of president.

I remember this same Sen. East clamoring in the Senate against another upstart black that the country had decided to honor with a holiday. I also remember Sen. East giving the impression that Dr. Martin Luther King was a racist, too. Isn't it strange that every time a black man tries to accomplish a goal that should be attainable by all men in America, someone calls him a racist? Who is the true racist?

I do not recall Sen. East, a man known for his eloquence in echoing the views of Jesse Helms, ever having any real ideas or views that he could call his own. Jesse Jackson is not doing anything that any minority candidate for any office wouldn't do. Would Sen. East support Walter Mondale for president? The answer is unequivocally no! When Sen. East ran for the seat he now holds, I remember that his campaign was geared to an element that would like to 'keep them coloreds in their place.' Are you angry, Mr. East, because Rev. Jackson is not staying in his place?

Rev. Jesse Jackson has tried to include all people in his campaign and people like you, Mr. East, are trying their best to scare them away. You may succeed in scaring that certain segment of the population from which you depend upon for support, but those who have heard Jesse Jackson know that he is not the communist, anti-semitic, anti-farmer racist ... that you would have us believe he is.

Reagan Delays Speech To The Nation

WASHINGTON — Despite pleas from security and intelligence officials that he must speak to the nation on Central America before leaving for China, President Reagan instead heeded the advice of Chief of Staff James A. Baker III to keep silent for now.

Robert C. McFarlane, the low-keyed national security adviser, took an uncharacteristically urgent tone in pleading with the president to go on television and fight the rising tide of public opinion against his Central American policy. McFarlane was supported by CIA Director William Casey and United Nations Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick.

But Reagan said no, contending he would seem to be panicking if he squeezed in a major speech before his China visit. He was following the advice of Baker, who always has urged a low presidential profile on Central America. No major Reagan speech now is likely before mid-May.

When super-rich Gov. John D. (Jay) Rockefeller of West Virginia went hat in hand to the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) to help fund his campaign for the Senate, he said labor leaders owed it to themselves to help him.

"You wouldn't want me to win a Senate seat without your financial help," Rockefeller told COPE director John Perkins and his staff. His point, a juicy contribution from the AFL-CIO, despite the Rockefeller millions, would assure his sympathy on votes dear to labor.

COPE decided to give him the money. With the decision of Republican Arch Moore to run for his old job of governor instead of the Senate seat being vacated by Democrat Jennings Randolph, Rockefeller has a leg up in the Nov. 6 election.

Without calling attention to it, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen has voted labor's way on five of the last six votes of concern to the AFL-CIO. That switch made him more acceptable to AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

The 1983-1984 pro-labor votes by the moderately conservative Texan lifted his cumulative voting record to about the halfway mark for the first time in his legislative career. AFL-CIO insiders previously told us Kirkland felt that Bentsen's anti-union voting record, especially his refusal to close debate on the AFL-CIO's labor law revision in 1978, made him unacceptable on the ticket.

Kirkland himself never went that far and now has been impressed by the change in Bentsen.

Vice President George Bush, considered one of the Republican leaders least likely to appeal to conservative Christians, was the surprise hit in addressing the "Baptist Fundamentalism '84" convention in Washington.

One reason that Bush went over so well was comparison with President Reagan, whose performance at the Baptist meeting was one of his rare flops. Reagan's subdued performance did not mention issues — such as school prayer — dearest to his audience.

In contrast, Bush pushed hard on school prayer. He had conferred in advance about the speech with officials of the Moral Majority,

Covert CIA Goes Overt In Nicaragua

An old-timer from Langley, now living in a safe house in McLean, said of Nicaragua, "I've never seen a C.I.A. covert operation more overt in my life."

"I was thinking the same thing myself," I said. "I thought you guys were supposed to have deep cover when you went into the jungles of Central America."

"That used to be the case. But present U.S. foreign policy demands we let the whole world know we're operating covertly to save El Salvador and bring down Nicaragua. President Reagan wants to make sure friend and foe are aware the United States is actively involved."

"Why doesn't he just declare an overt war and let it go at that?"

"He needs Congress to declare an overt war. He's not going to ask for one during an election year. So the president is conducting a covert war, with all the fanfare of an overt one. The only problem is that when you conduct a covert war you have a lot of restrictions placed on you, in order for it not to become overt. The mining of Nicaraguan harbors is a good example of that. The president said it was covert — the rest of the world considered it overt."

"And Congress cut off the CIA's funding for its war in Central America."

"It was a big mistake on the president's part because up until then the House and Senate supported the CIA's covert operations in the hemisphere. You see, the object of fighting a secret war is that when something goes wrong, the government can say it knew nothing about it. But in the case of the mining, everyone in the administration defended it, and there was no way of dumping it on a wild rogue elephant at the CIA."

"The administration's strategy was, the more publicity the covert mining operation received, the stronger message we would be sending to the Sandinista government that we really meant business. Unfortunately, Congress got the same message."

"Does this mean that the CIA's covert war in Central America is over?"

"Of course not. But it will have to be done much more covertly. Funds for it will have to be channeled from money buried in the education budget, CIA agents will have to be given cover in the Honduran-American Coffee Bean Exchange, and President Reagan will have to shut up about how well his administration's covert operations are going in the Western Hemisphere."

"That's going to be hard for the president to do," I said.

"He has no choice. He needs congressional support for his policy in El Salvador to train the army to fight the Nicaraguan-trained Salvadoran rebels."

"You mean the Nicaraguans are fighting a covert war against El Salvador, at the same time we're fighting a covert war against Nicaragua?"

"Yes, the only difference is that Nicaragua is denying it, which I must say is to their credit."

"Why is that?"

"If you deny you're fighting a covert war, then everyone can pretend your country is not involved. But if you make a legal case for it like President Reagan did, and it goes sour, you're up a Central American creek without paddle."

"What should the president have done when the mining story leaked out?"

"He should have been publicly horrified. Then he should have appointed a presidential commission headed by Henry Kissinger to see how such future incidents could be avoided. Finally, he should have told Bill Casey if the CIA was going to act in such a despicable manner, he didn't want to be his friend any more."

"But the country needs a CIA," I protested.

"There's nothing wrong with having a CIA," the old-timer from Langley said. "But there is something wrong when it suddenly becomes the most overt agency in the government."

Iraq Claims Iran Ships 'Destroyed'

By MOHAMMED SALAM
Associated Press Writer
BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraq's navy today attacked and "destroyed" three enemy navy vessels near the Iranian oil terminal at Kharg Island in the Persian Gulf, an Iraqi military spokesman said.

The spokesman, reading a statement over state television, said the three ships were attacked as they tried to sail from the island towards Bandar Khomeini, an Iranian port at the northeastern end of the gulf.

Iran and Iraq have been fighting a war since September 1980, when Iraq invaded Iran in a dispute over Iraq's only outlet to the Persian Gulf, a key route for oil tankers.

The military spokesman, who did not identify himself, said the Iraqi navy "succeeded in destroying three naval targets that were seen with fire blazing from them."

Iraq announced in February that it was imposing a "sea blockade" on Iran and called on foreign countries and maritime agencies to refrain from sending ships to waters off the Iranian coast in the gulf region.

Iraqi ports and oil terminal in the Persian Gulf have not been able to operate since the start of the war.

A Saudi Arabian oil tanker which loaded oil at Kharg Island was set ablaze Wednesday night by an explosion in the Persian Gulf, and there were reports the ship had been attacked.

Pentagon spokesman Michael Burch told reporters he was "aware that Iraqi planes were in the area" but that "I don't know if they were responsible" for the explosion and fire.

Shipping sources in Saudi Arabia said Iraqi jets bombed an area near Kharg Island shortly before the tanker was reported on fire. Iraq issued no statement on the tanker fire.

In Baghdad, Iraq's deputy premier said that the Soviet Union has expressed its "support" for Iraq's stand on the 44-month-old war with Iran, the official Iraqi news agency reported today.

Iraq favors a negotiated settlement to the border war.

Deputy Premier Taha Yassin Ramadan returned late Thursday from a three-day official visit to Moscow, the agency reported.

His talks in Moscow resulted in the signing of "technical, commercial and economic cooperation agreements" between Iraq and the Soviet Union, the Iraqi News Agency quoted Ramadan as saying. The agency did not give details of the agreements.

The Iraqi Atomic Power Commission announced in March that the Soviets have agreed to help "choose a suitable site for a nuclear power plant in Iraq."

STUDENT HONORED — East Carolina University senior Tim Whisenant of Goldsboro is congratulated by Lee Pascasio, judge advocate of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7032 in Greenville, upon receiving the VFW Americanism Award for 1984. Rose High Will Mark N.C. Heritage Week

North Carolina Heritage Week will be observed at Rose High School Monday through Friday. This year's theme for the week is "The Arts — A Mirror to the Past," with the focus on the 400th anniversary of the first arrival of English explorers in America on what is now Roanoke Island.

Several activities are planned for Rose High history classes, including:

•Monday — A slide presentation, "America's Four Hundredth Anniversary," developed by the N. C. Division of Archives and History, will be shown.

•Tuesday — "The Wallace Family Band" of Greenville will give a performance including various North Carolina folk music styles.

•Wednesday — Archaeologist Billy Oliver of the N.C. Department of Cultural Resources will present an artifact exhibit and discuss the Indians of coastal North Carolina.

•Thursday — Dina Hill of the East Carolina University History Department will show a film, "The Monitor," and discuss the underwater excavations along the North Carolina coast.

•Friday, 9 a.m. to noon — Sylvia Wheless and members of the Quilters Guild will exhibit and demonstrate early North Carolina crafts; 12:30-3:30 p.m. — Greenville Museum of Art director Marianne Pennington will speak on Jugtown pottery and other North Carolina art forms.

Activities for Heritage Week have been coordinated by Brenda Lewis and Barbara Mallory, media specialists, and Dorothy Brannon, Social Studies chairperson at Rose. Activities will take place in the media center.

Support Group

The REACH support group for families of the mentally ill will hold an educational meeting Monday from noon to 1 p.m. at the Mental Health Center. REACH is sponsored by the Mental Health Association in Pitt County. For more information, call 752-7448.

Meeting at the same time will be the Mental Health Association in Pitt County with Dr. Mel Markowski, East Carolina University professor of child development and family relations, as the featured speaker. He will talk about family therapy.

Collision

Cars driven by Tonia Anne Roboz of 1407 E. 5th St. and Harold Ralph Ewell of 104 Ironwood Drive collided about 6:18 p.m. Thursday on Greenville Boulevard, 300 feet west of the Evans Street intersection.

Police set damage from the collision at $1,000 to the Roboz car and $300 to the Ewell auto.

Break-In Reported

Police are investigating a break-in at 125 Avery St. that was reported about 9:57 p.m. Thursday.

Officer J.G. Bridges said a television set, camera and electric razor were taken after entrance to the dwelling was gained through a rear window.

Nurses Inducted

Greenville residents Mary Susan Lewis and Ruth Poust were among 38 East Carolina University School of Nursing students inducted into ECU's Beta Nu chapter of Sigma Theta Tau national nursing honor society recently.

The new student members include juniors, senior and graduate students as well as practicing nurse and community leader Judy Seamon of Morehead City.

Nominated To Seminary Board

RALEIGH (AP) — Two conservative Baptists from North Carolina Thursday were nominated to the 30-member Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary Board of Trustees.

The Rev. Tom M. Metts of Raleigh and Eddie Sellers of Morganton were both among the nominees to fill 215 slots in 20 agencies and three committees. The nominees were announced Thursday by the 52-member Committee on Boards and will be considered by representatives to the Southern Baptist Convention meeting in June.

Some North Carolina Baptists said the nomination of Metts and Sellers was part of a conservative strategy to gain control of Baptist institutions.

"There is no question that these are conservative men adding to a conservative wedge already on the board," said Dr. R.G. Puckett, editor of the Biblical Recorder, the North Carolina Baptist journal.

"It's part of a strategy developed by Paul Pressler some years ago

Dr. Raper will teach the combined Sunday school class at 9:45 a.m. and will be the guest speaker during the 11 a.m. worship service. His topic will include a report on the advancement of Mount Olive College to a four-year program.

Homecoming

St. Paul Pentecostal Holiness Church will observe homecoming services Sunday with the Rev. Laleon Narron of Mount Olive, a former pastor of the church, conducting the 11 a.m. worship service. Lunch will follow.

A revival will begin Monday and continue through Thursday at 7:30 each night with the Rev. Sam L. Whichard conducting the services. The church is located on N.C. 33 east of Greenville.

Anniversary

An eighth anniversary celebration for the St. John Gospel Choir will be held Sunday at 5 p.m. at the St. John Church, located in the Epworth community.

A Backyard Gym

For Zoo Pandas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two pandas at the National Zoo here are getting a backyard gym, complete with "furniture."

The zoo says it has hired New York architect Robert Leathers to design the gym because the pandas, Ling-Ling and Hsing-Hsing, don't get enough exercise. It will feature balance beams, tunnels, swings and elevated platforms, the zoo said.

"We call it panda furniture," spokesman Mike Morgan said. "We hope it will stimulate more activity for the pandas so they will get more exercise and people will have more to watch."

Eleven--Year-Old

Shot Himself

WALLACE (AP) — An eleven-year-old stood in front of his Rose Hill Magnolia Elementary School fifth grade class Thursday, declared no one loved him, and pulled out a .22-caliber gun and shot himself, authorities said.

James David Rich was listed in good condition at Duplin County General Hospital after receiving a bullet wound to the stomach, hospital officials said Thursday night.

Duplin County School Superintendent L.S. Guy said there was no indication Rich was having problems. Guy added that Rich was a good student and everyone was shocked that such an incident happened.

'Cooter' Appearing

Ben Jones, who plays "Cooter" on "The Dukes of Hazzard," will be in eastern North Carolina Saturday to promote WalkAmerica for the Coastal Plains chapter of the March of Dimes.

Jaycee and Jaycette chapters will sponsor WalkAmerica in Greenville, Goldsboro, Washington, Ahsokie, Rocky Mount, Wilson, Kinston, Williamston and Roanoke Rapids. Jones will present awards and prizes in the towns raising the most money on a per capita basis. Winners from each of the walks will be invited to meet him at a reception in Greenville Saturday night.

Jones is a former East Carolina University student who has appeared in scores of plays, films and commercials.

The walk will begin on Reade Street in Greenville and include East Fifth, Elm, East 14th, Red Banks Road, Arlington Boulevard, Evans Street, 14th again, Dickinson Avenue and Reade Circle.

U.S. Urging World Court End Nicaragua Proceedings

By ROLAND DE LIGNY
Associated Press Writer
THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — The United States today called for an immediate halt to World Court proceedings on Nicaragua's complaint that the U.S. government is "killing and wounding" its citizens. U.S. representative Davis R.

Robinson told the court that Nicaragua had no right to press the complaint because it has never recognized court jurisdiction and failed to ratify the treaty establishing its predecessor, the permanent court of the League of Nations.

Nicaragua, which gave its opening statement Wednesday, is asking the court to declare that the United States violated international law by providing aid through the CIA to Nicaraguan rebels and by supervising the mining of Nicaraguan ports.

Its leftist government also is seeking the payment of reparations for "damages to persons, property and the Nicaraguan economy" caused by the alleged actions of the United States.

Robinson, however, said the court "does not have jurisdiction because Nicaragua never accepted the compulsory jurisdiction of this court...and because the United States has not given its consent to these proceedings."

Without Nicaraguan acceptance of court jurisdiction, Nicaragua's complaint "can only be viewed as politically motivated," Robinson argued, adding that political debate at the World Court would be "incompatible with the purpose of the court."

Despite the "manifest absence of (court) jurisdiction" in the U.S.-Nicaraguan dispute, the United States went to the Court because of its "deep and long-standing" commitment to the World Court as an institution to solve legal problems between states, Robinson said.

Shortly before Nicaragua filed its complaint earlier this month, the United States announced it would not accept court jurisdiction over Central American disputes for a period of two years, thus revoking a 1946 pledge that it would unequivocally respect the Court's authority.

The court, an arm of the United Nations, has no enforcement powers, but depends on voluntary submission of disputes by both parties.

In his opening statement Wednesday, Carlos Arguero, representing Nicaragua, claimed the U.S. government "flagrantly violated international law" by supporting rebel Nicaraguan forces.

Arguero urged the court to rule that the United States should "immediately cease and desist from all use and threat of force" against

Nicaragua "to prevent further loss of human life and further debasement of Nicaragua's sovereign rights."

Officers Learn Skills in First-Ever Pitt Community College Police Academy

CAR EXTRACTION ... Future police officer Arnold Cox, right, practices a car extraction using instructor Bill McDonald, left. This method of removing a hostile subject from a vehicle stresses immobilizing the subject through manipulation of one of the body's pressure points, or sensitive nerve areas. In this case the pressure point is under the arm.

COME-ALONG TECHNIQUE ... The face of cadet Paul Scott, left, illustrates how the come-along technique with the police baton (nightstick) works. Officer Ernest Frizzell, right, practices the come-along as Bill McDonald, one of several instructors in the Pitt Community College police cadet course, watches. In addition to self-defense, the course also stressed search procedures and physical conditioning.

Suppose your job was to deal with potentially dangerous persons and situations and to protect the public.

You'd want to protect yourself, too, but you wouldn't want to hurt anybody unless you had to.

In Pitt Community College's first-ever police cadet course, future law enforcement officers have been learning how to better protect the public and themselves through instruction in mental and physical conditioning, self-defense, search and detainment.

Self-defense trainer Bill McDonald, one of several instructors for the course, said the program stressed police techniques which "offer a reduced likelihood of personal injury to the arresting officer."

At the same time, McDonald said mental training on spotting potentially violent individuals and dealing with them in non-violent ways was also emphasized.

"If an officer is confident in a threatening situation, he is less likely to overreact than if he feels inadequate," said the instructor.

"That's one objective of the course." The first class of cadets will graduate Wednesday. Most will be employed by the Greenville Police and other local law enforcement agencies.

SEARCHING AND HANDCUFFING ... Officers Robin Smith, top, and Ralph Mendenhall, bottom, practice searching and handcuffing techniques learned during the eight-week course. In addition to physical training, the future officers received mental conditioning teaching them to discern how potentially violent a criminal is.

Man Injured By A Compressor

HIGH POINT (AP) — An unidentified man was seriously injured Thursday when an air compressor blew up and explosion occurred at Kenyon Home Furnishings, authorities said.

High Point Police Capt. E.A. Whitaker said the man was "working near or with the compressor when he was injured."

"There was severe damage to his left arm and he is going to be taken to the microsurgery unit at Duke Hospital," Whitaker said.

Sees More Jobs Among Tar Heels

ASHEVILLE (AP) — Glenn R. Jernigan, chairman of the North Carolina Employment Security Commission, said Thursday that 127,000 more Tar Heel residents had jobs in March than in the same month a year ago.

"The optimism is there. The outlook is good," Jernigan said.

Unemployment figures for March won't be released until next week, but Jernigan said they will show a continuation of the decline that began last year.

"It will be down from February," he said. "I think North Carolina is about fifth in the nation right now in employment among the larger states."

Manufacturing is picking up, according to Jernigan, with furniture leading the way. There are also improvements in textiles and other non-durable goods.

"There are 3 million people working in North Carolina today. The job market is growing all the time. By the year 2000 there will be 4.6 million," he said.

Consulting On 'Unity' Cabinet

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Prime Minister-designate Rashid Karami opened consultations with parliamentary leaders today on forming a national unity government capable of ending Lebanon's civil war.

Karami, 62, a Sunni Moslem pro-Syrian politician, met at Parliament headquarters in Villa Mansour in Beirut's embattled midsection.

Heavy sniping broke out about midday over the heads of disengagement units across several sections of the "green line" between Christian east and mostly Moslem west Beirut.

"They riddled my laundry with bullet holes," said Nawal Hajj, a housewife living in a Christian neighborhood. "I cannot get to the balcony to get the laundry inside."

There were no immediate reports of casualties, and no use of heavy weapons was reported. On Thursday, a French Embassy guard was shot to death in west Beirut. The unidentified assailants escaped in a speeding blue car. There were no claims of responsibility.

Despite today's hostilities, police said fighting has decreased and credited a 2,000-member buffer force of policemen, army-conscripts and truce observers. The force was deployed between warring factions in and around Beirut and the mountaintop town of Souk el-Gharb.

The disengagement operation and the change of governments were landmarks in a fresh drive by President Amin Gemayel to resolve the nine-year Lebanese crisis with Syria's backing. The drive followed the collapse of the U.S. peacekeeping effort in February.

Gemayel named Karami as Lebanon's new prime minister Thursday to replace Shafik Wazzan, who resigned early February when anti-government Druse and Shiite Moslem militias wrested control of west Beirut from the Lebanese army.

Karami, in his 10th premiership in 29 years, is expected to form a half-Christian, half-Moslem Cabinet in accordance with an agreement Gemayel reached with Syrian President Hafez Assad last week.

Karami had said he expects to present the Cabinet line-up to the president this weekend.

Beirut's leading newspapers, the independent An-Nahar and the leftist As-Safir, said Karami's new Cabinet will try to reopen the city's port and airport as well as all crossings between east and west Beirut within the first few days of its reign.

The Cabinet then will concentrate on clearing Christian, Druse and Shiite militia checkpoints from the three international highways linking Beirut with northern, eastern and southern Lebanon to reopen them for normal traffic, the newspapers added.

Meanwhile, witnesses reported Thursday that armed men looted bars and nightclubs in west Beirut late Wednesday night, apparently in an effort to enforce the Islamic ban on alcohol.

Three jeeps of gunmen drove through west Beirut's Hamra shopping district, entering bars and leaving behind a trail of smashed vodka, gin, whiskey and wine bottles, said the witnesses, who requested anonymity out of fear of reprisals.

Lower Interest For Some Loans

RALEIGH (AP) — Interest rates on home loans for some 150 people will dip to 8 percent under a settlement between Home Savings and Loan Association of Rocky Mount and the state Attorney General's office.

The association has agreed to reduce the interest rate in effect before 1974 — when the loans were made — on the variable rate loans to a ceiling of 8 percent.

Also under the settlement, Home Savings agreed to deduct from the balance of the loans about $400,000 in overpayments that it charged the homeowners in the past four years.

The homeowners will also be credited with interest on the overpayments.

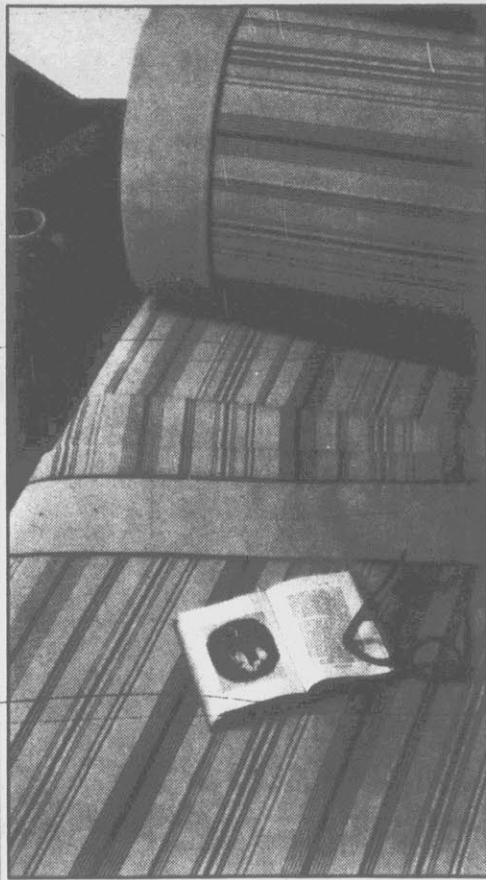

The Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office estimated that because some of the customers were paying rates as high as 11.5 percent now, dropping the rates to 8 percent will save another $3 million over the remainder of the loans.

The customers were notified by mail Thursday and Friday of the settlement.

The affected borrowers took out variable rate mortgages at a time — before 1974 — when the state interest rate ceiling on mortgages was 8 percent. In 1974, the Legislature abolished the 8 percent cap on loans of less than $50,000 and rates subsequently rose.

But the loans issued by Home Savings included a floor that kept them from falling to less than the original interest rate.

ANCIENT IDOLS!

THE PROPHETS IN THE BIBLE VILLIFIED THE PAGAN WORSHIP OF FALSE GODS, ALL OF WHOM WERE REPRESENTED BY SOME FIGURE IN STONE, OR WOOD, OR SOMETIMES BY PRECIOUS METALS. WHEN THE IDOL WAS METALLIC IT WAS FASHIONED BY RUNNING MELTED METAL INTO A MOLD, IN WHICH CASE THEY WERE CALLED "MOLTEN IMAGES." WHEN OF WOOD OR STONE THEY WERE MADE BY GRAVING TOOLS AND, NATURALLY CALLED "GRAVEN IMAGES." THE WHOLE PROCESS OF MANUFACTURE IS SATIRICALLY DESCRIBED IN ISAIAH (44:9-20). SOME WERE SMALL OBJECTS, ESPECIALLY THOSE DESIGNED FOR USE IN THE HOUSEHOLD, SOME WERE AS LARGE AS A HUMAN BEING (1 SAM. 19:16) AND SOME WERE COLOSSAL LIKE THE HUGE GOLDEN IMAGE THAT WAS ERECTED BY NEBUCHADNEZZAR IN THE PLAIN OF DURAI--WHICH ALMOST CAUSED THE DEATH OF SHADRACH, MESHACH, AND ABEDNEGO. Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks were mixed through morning trading today after making a broad advance in the previous session.

Energy, retail, telephone and mining issues were among the declines, while several auto and financial stocks moved ahead.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which climbed 11.72 to a 5-week high Thursday, fell 4.29 to 1,170.96 after two hours of trading today.

Losers and gainers were nearly even on the New York Stock Exchange, whose composite index slipped 0.12 to 91.97.

Big Board volume totaled 41.79 million shares at noon EST, compared with 42.80 million at that hour in the previous session.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose 0.27 to 210.94.

Hammer Silences Old Typewriter

DEPTFORD TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — "That is one typewriter that will never type a word again," legal secretary Doris Frye said after she destroyed one of the machines with several blows of a hammer in celebration of National Secretaries Week.

Mrs. Frye joined about 15 secretaries and office workers, a waitress and a homemaker in a "Secretary's Bash" sponsored by a local tavern.

The women donned hard hats and goggles, armed themselves with baseball bats and hammers, and destroyed two copying machines, seven typewriters, six adding machines and a telephone.

Susan Schrock, a secretary who works with Mrs. Frye, gutted a typewriter, but said she wished she could have vented her fury on a personal computer.

"I really wanted to be able to put my fist through the screen of one of those computers," she said.

The "bash" was sponsored Wednesday by a Philadelphia radio station and the tavern where it was held.

Candidates . . .

Whitfield was the only candidate who voiced opposition to a change in the meeting times.

Asked if they would support a property tax exemption for small farms if elected, the candidates responses were varied, but all voiced support for farmers.

"We'd have to go to the Legislature" for an exemption because the General Assembly "sets the guidelines for taxes," Strickland explained, while others suggested that programs be established to help farmers be better managers, rather than give tax exemptions.

The candidates also voiced support for improved mental health services, more efficient government, leaving the county tax and register of deeds offices at the courthouse, equality in hiring, and comprehensive planning.

"I don't have an opinion," Whitfield said when asked about a proposed merger of the city and county school systems. But Grooms, Johnson and most other candidates voiced support for a merger.

Rouse suggested changing district lines would be an alternative to merger, while Strickland said, "I really thing the school boards have a plan," and suggested giving them "a chance to work it out."

TV Addict Gets Role

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Prot. William Pritchard was distraught when his local NBC affiliate stopped carrying the television soap opera, "Search For Tomorrow," three weeks ago.

His vigorous letter writing campaign didn't persuade the television station to reinstate the 30-year-old program, but it did catch the eye of NBC, which offered Pritchard a role as an "extra" on the daytime serial.

"I guess we thought it would be kind of cute," said Lee Fryd, a spokeswoman for the show.

The Amherst college English professor says he became addicted to the daytime drama, spending his lunch hour for seven years in front of the tube.

Next Wednesday the professor will put aside poets Robert Frost and Lord Byron to become part of the action on what he calls "a venerable piece of fine entertainment."

Pritchard says some students think his addiction "a little strange."

"They don't understand that when you spend your mornings reading Plato and Byron, when you live in a wordy world, how wonderful it is to sit in rapt silence for half an hour," he said.

The Frost scholar said he has not been given any details about his role other than that he will sit at a bar, "being anonymous."

But, he said with feeling: "I'm waiting for my script, my costume, my makeup."

DST Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daylight-saving time begins Sunday at 2 a.m. and across America people will be setting their clocks forward one hour.

The exceptions are in Arizona, Hawaii and most of Indiana, which remain on standard time.

The Census Bureau issued a report Thursday showing population levels in each of the country's time zones and not surprisingly, the Eastern time zone is way ahead.

The bureau found that 114 million people — 50.5 percent of the population — live on Eastern time. That is followed by 30.1 percent on Central time, 13.9 percent on Pacific time and 5 percent on Mountain time.

The smallest populations are on Alaskan time, 0.2 percent, and Hawaii-Aleutian time, which covers 0.4 percent, based on data from the 1980 census. That headcount put the total U.S. population at 226.5 million; it has since grown to nearly 235 million.

Johnson, Pirates Whip Indians, 4-1

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

While the official invitations don't go out until May 5th, East Carolina University's Pirates would appear to have sewn up one of the four spots — if not the top spot — in next month's ECAC-South Baseball Tournament.

Last night, East Carolina, powered by the pitching and hitting of Winfred Johnson, moved past William & Mary, 4-1, to extend the Pirate record against ECAC-South competition to 7-2, best in the league.

And that, Coach Hal Baird feels, should be more than enough to put the Pirates into the playoff tournament that leads to an automatic berth in the NCAA Regionals.

Johnson, who hurled the win and gained his eighth victory of the year against two losses, smacked another homer in the game, his 14th of year, extending his newly set single season record. And his total of 25 leaves the sophomore but one short of Butch Davis' career record of 26.

The Indians, who beat the Pirates earlier in the season in Williamsburg, took the lead in the fourth with their only run of the night, a homer by Jeff Wolf.

But the Pirates tied it up with one in the fifth and then moved ahead on Johnson's solo shot in the sixth. They added two insurance runs on a homer by Chris Bradberry in the eighth.

"Winfred pitched a near-perfect game," Baird said. "He got his pitches where he wanted them and I think we played well in every respect."

"They've got a good college pitcher (John Volpe), and we had trouble getting to him for a while." But not for too long — the Pirates banged out 12 hits in getting their revenge over the man who beat them in Williamsburg.

"I really didn't feel good until Chris got hold of that one. And I was worried in the top of the eighth when they had their left handers coming to the plate (against the right-handed Johnson). But he put them down without any problem."

Johnson allowed only five hits by the Indians on the night, four of those coming in the first four innings. Only two runners reached base in the final five innings, one on an error and one on a single. Johnson sat the last seven down in order and seven down in a row before that.

The Pirates faced some problems in the game — second baseman Steve Sides was ill and reserve Robert Langston replaced him. "It put (him) in an unaccustomed role and he did a fine job," Baird said. "Everyone played well, and I'm proud of all of them. They played well and they played hard."

The Indians had some early threats in the game. With two away in the first, Eddie Stanko singled and Wolf doubled, but Johnson fanned the next batter to end the threat.

The Indians got their only run in the fourth on Wolf's homer to right, leading off the inning. With two away, the Tribe threatened again, as Volpe walked and Trey Harris doubled, but again, Johnson got the side out without further damage.

It took a fine defensive play, however, as David Wells dove and made a stab at a line drive off the bat of D.C. Aiken, recovered his feet and threw the runner out just in time at first.

The Pirates, after getting two hits in the first had a double play take them out of the inning. In each of the next two frames, they got men to first, but no further. In the fourth, an infield hit and a hit batsman put the first Pirate in scoring position, but again, he got no further.

Then, in the fifth, the Pirates scored to tie it up. With one down, Greg Hardison doubled to right. He scored on Wells' single up the middle. The rally died, however, as Todd Evans hit a scorcher back to Volpe, who made the reaction catch, then doubled Wells off first.

But the Pirates took the lead in the sixth. Johnson led off and connected to left center, dropped his bat and waded in glee as he watched the ball sail out of the park, then trotted on around the sacks with the go-ahead run.

An error and a single put runners on the corners, but a double-steal attempt failed, ending the inning.

In the eighth, the Pirates got two more. Mike Williams reached on a fielder's choice that left two away. Bradberry stepped up and lashed the ball into the trees in left center, providing the Pirates with their 4-1 margin. Despite getting two more hits the Pirates got no more runs, however.

Bradberry led the ECU hitting with four in as many trips, while Wells and Johnson each had two.

The Indians, who are also expected to get a tournament bid, were led by Wolf with two hits.

The Pirates close out the regular season with a 28-10 record, while the Indians are now 20-15-1.

"This was a good finish for us, winning the last three. It should give us some momentum into the tournament," Baird said. "And it should take away any doubt that we should be seeded number one."

If the Pirates do get the number one seed, it would be likely that the Indians, if they are invited, would be the number four seed — and the first round opponent of ECU. In that event, the Pirates would likely face Volpe — the top Indian pitcher — again.

"I don't doubt it. But that's why I'm especially glad we won tonight. We needed to know that we could beat him," Baird said.

Ueberroth Confidant USSR To Show; Africans Uncertain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Peter Ueberroth is confident that the Soviet Union will decide to participate in this summer's Olympic Games before the June 2 deadline, but he isn't as sure whether African nations will again boycott, as they did the 1976 Montreal Games.

Ueberroth, president of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee, indicated Thursday that nations other than the USSR also will soon declare their intentions and "the next three weeks are going to determine a great deal" about the Games' success.

Regarding the Soviets, Ueberroth noted that the Soviet National Olympic Committee and Intourist, the official Soviet travel agency, made a payment of $86,000 this week for spectator tickets for the Games.

"I feel they're going to be at the Games," he said Thursday. "(And) I'm sure they will tell us some time before that (the deadline)."

Ueberroth, who met with Soviet officials in Lausanne, Switzerland earlier this week, called on the highest levels of U.S. government to extend a hand to the Soviets as an important step in assuring their participation.

Asked what sort of response he wanted from the government, he said: "That's up to them. I have no authority or right to put words in the mouth of our government."

Ueberroth also indicated he is worried about the scheduling of a South African tour by a British rugby team at about the time of the Games.

A South African tour by New Zealanders in 1976 prompted 31 nations, most of them African, to walk out of the Montreal Games after they failed to have New Zealand barred from Olympic competition. The nations were opposed to South African racial policies.

"The timing has been exactly, it looks to me, planned again for a major rugby competition with Great Britain in South Africa," Ueberroth said. "... but we are so far receiving assurance that the African countries are going to come here."

"I will tell you that I'm sure that some time in the next two, three or four weeks, the black leaders will be invited to Moscow for discussion of the current conditions," Ueberroth said.

Ueberroth said Olympic officials also have had to deal with what he called "a coordinated effort" and

"an organized attack coming out of socialist capitals in the Arab countries."

"It is in writing," Ueberroth said. "There have been nasty, open letters to me from other socialist countries."

But Ueberroth said that the attacks "can have all kinds of purposes. I don't know what the purposes are."

Concerning overall participation, Ueberroth said Los Angeles organizers will soon take the "offensive" by communicating regularly with foreign Olympic officials. He said a byproduct of the latest meeting with the Soviets is an agreement to communicate daily with Soviet sports officials by telephone and telex.

Ueberroth conceded there would be a large economic impact on the Games should the Soviets decide to boycott, but said that was of a secondary nature.

"Economic impact is large, but I don't really care," he said. "The economic side of the Games is over. I don't give a damn about the economic impact. We want them (the Soviets) here because we don't want to hurt the U.S. athletes."

Waters, Quinn Lead Hawks To Title

By JIMMY DuPREE
Reflector Sports Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Jerry Waters drove in four runs with a double and a solo homer, and Bobby Simmons and Steve Quinn combined for a three-hitter as the Hawks of North Lenoir crushed Ayden-Grifton 12-3 in the championship game of the Pitt Easter Baseball Tournament played at D.H. Conley.

The game was a rematch of the 1983 Wilson Optimist Tournament final, which the Chargers won.

The all-tourney team was comprised of: Simmons, Waters, Joe Lane and Stanley Robinson of North Lenoir; Wesley Hardee, Jackie Conway and Shannon Peede of Ayden-Grifton; Billy Michel, Mike Kinley and Eric Woodworth of Rose; Robbie Norris and Scott Overby of New Bern; Ricky Carlyle and Ike Brown of Kinston; Joey Stepp of Farmville Central; Chris Via of Conley; and Daniel Keel of North Pitt.

Quinn, a sophomore, earned the Most Valuable Player award, winning two games on the mound for the Hawks during the tourney to improve his record to 5-0.

Kinston was presented the sportsmanship trophy.

In the battle for third place, Billy Michel threw a two-hitter and Mike Kinley sparked the offense with a pair of doubles as Rose High School blanked New Bern 6-0.

James Watson struck out nine to lead the Kinston Vikings to a 9-3 victory over Farmville Central for fifth place, while Chris Via struck out seven in a three-hitter as Conley downed North Pitt 12-2 in the seventh-place game.

The Chargers left runners on second and third twice without scoring in the title game, managing three runs with just one hit in the second. Charles Mitchell walked after two out, moved to second when Leo Venters reached on an error and scored after a pair of wild pitches by Simmons. Wesley Hardee walked, and Venters took third when the ball got by Hawk catcher Eric Wade. A balk by Simmons allowed Venters to score, and Shannon Peede's single drove in Hardee.

"We just ran out of arms," Ayden-Grifton Coach Bob Murphrey said. "But you've got to do the best you can. They hit the ball all night. If we had just made a few critical defensive plays, it might have been closer."

"We just didn't play well in any phase of the game."

The Chargers' trouble started early, as Darnell Thorbs led off the bottom of the first with a single and went to third when the ball got by Hardee in center field. A fielder's choice by Simmons drove in Thorbs.

The Hawks knotted the score in the second, as Stanley Robinson was awarded first base for catcher interference, moved to second on a sacrifice by Wade, moved to third on a single by Lane and scored when Randy Barwick reached on an error. Lane also scored on the two-base error.

North Lenoir took control with three more in the third. Waters reached first on a throwing error by Venters, stole second, took third on a single by John Johnson and scored on fielder's choice by Wade. A passed ball allowed Johnson to score, and Lane drove in Robinson with a single.

Waters ripped a solo homer in the fourth, then doubled in three runs to cap a five-run eruption in the fifth. John Johnson opened the fifth with a line-drive homer to left, and Robinson tripled during the rally.

John Johnson led the Hawks with three hits in four at bats, while Robinson went 2-2, and Thorbs and Waters went 2-4.

The victory raised the Hawks' record to 12-2-2, including victories over the three tournament favorites — Ayden-Grifton, Rose and Farmville Central. The Chargers slipped to 11-6 with the loss.

Michel struck out just five during the Rampants' 13th win of the season, and cruised through six innings before giving up a walk.

Kinley finished with a 2-3 performance at the plate, while catcher Eric Woodworth ripped a pair of singles in four trips.

Woodworth singled after two out in the first, and Kinley drove a double to left-center to drive in courtesy runner Battle Emory for the Rampants' first run.

Michel pitched out of trouble in the second, as the Bears loaded the bases after two outs. Trey Paul struck out, but Woodworth couldn't find the ball as Paul crossed first safely on the play. Buddy Nay singled, and Trevor White added New Bern's other single with two out before Michel fanned Glenn McLawhorn for the final out.

Michel pitched four innings without allowing a base runner, but he walked Paul and Nay in the seventh before retiring the side without incident.

Kinley walked and Mike Smith singled after two out in the third, and Michel helped himself with a two-run single.

Toby Fischer walked and Woodworth reached on a fielder's choice in the fifth, but New Bern pitcher Robbie Norris appeared to be out of danger when he struck out Kinley and Smith. Michel reached on an error allowing Fischer to score, and Emory, running for Woodworth, scored on another error — this time on a ball hit by David Jester.

Woodworth singled and Kinley doubled in courtesy runner Tony Taylor for the Rampants' other run.

"I thought Billy Michel pitched a real good ballgame," Rose Coach Ronald Vincent said. "He stayed ahead of the hitters most of the way. I think he just lost his concentration in the seventh when he walked those two. Our infield backed him up well; Traye Fuqua made a couple of real good plays at shortstop.

"The last two days have been really good weather for baseball. I was surprised how smoothly things went after the rain delayed it two days (Monday and Tuesday)."

Greenville Christian Academy ripped 21 hits and crushed Goldsboro Christian 14-4 Thursday in high school softball action.

Rhonda Vernelson went the distance on the mound for GCA, scattering 12 hits by Goldsboro, and went 3-3 at the plate. Tammy Huggins also went 3-3, while Page Brown, Kim Faulkner, Phyllis Carr and Page Bragg each went 2-3.

After Goldsboro plated a run in the top of the first, Greenville bounced back with five in the bottom of the frame. Goldsboro edged back with a run in the second and another in the third, but GCA broke the game with nine in the fourth.

Kathy Vernelson tripled in a pair of runs, and two more scored when Erica Spain reached first on an error in the fourth.

Renee Clifford, Tammy Justice, Kathy Daughtryle and Pam Finnell each went 2-3 for Goldsboro.

Greenville, now 5-7 on the season, travels to Rocky Mount today to face Falls Road.

Basie's Band Plans To Keep Scheduled Tour

By DIANA JENSEN
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The jazzman's tour is over, but his music's still on the road.

Count Basie's band has no plans to cancel a tour scheduled to begin Wednesday, even though the band leader died quietly Thursday of cancer.

Doctors had feared the disease would gnaw away at his spirit as much as his body, so his family had decided not to tell him he had contracted it.

"Had he known or been aware that he had cancer ... he would have given up hope of living," said Aaron Woodward, Basie's adopted son.

Woodward, manager of Count Basie Enterprises, confirmed that the tour would proceed as planned.

Basie hadn't publicly performed with his group since March 19, when his appearance at the Hollywood Palladium in California brought out 2,200 fans and scores of friends rallying him on.

The Count, 79, had battled arthritis in his later years. But physicians at Doctors' Hospital in this oceanside community realized the latest fight was more serious a few days after Basie checked into the private facility Feb. 4.

Dr. Leo Schildhaus diagnosed pancreatic cancer, but he and the family agreed not to tell the patient.

After a 10-day stay, Basie was released, but returned for hospitalization March 27.

He died in his sleep around 4 a.m. EST Thursday with family by his side in the VIP wing of the 124-bed hospital, Woodward said.

Basie's body was to be flown back to New York Sunday for services Monday, said Wayne Hutchinson, a spokesman for Willard Alexander Inc., which handled Basie's publicity.

"He'll be remembered as long as there is a world," said composer-pianist Dave Brubeck. "He was loved all over the world and all the jazz musicians had tremendous respect for him and he'll never leave us."

Saxophonist Herman Walder recalled performing with Basie and trading boasts about their ambitions during their off-hours in the early years.

"He'd say, 'I'm going to have the greatest band in the world,'" Walder said. "And he did it."

"He was a fine cat, man, a fine guy, and he never bragged on himself," said drummer Baby Lovett, who performed with Basie. "He's got his own style, and nobody played like him."

Basie, born William Basie in Red Bank, N.J., embarked on his career as a piano player for $3 a night in a Chinese restaurant on the New Jersey coast.

"He would play his piano and listen to records on a Victrola. He'd pick out notes from them and play them," said Beatrice Randolph, 77, who still resides on Mechanic Street in Red Bank, the street where Basie once lived.

"Then he'd turn off the record and pick his own notes out because he didn't need the record any more. And we'd stand out on the sidewalk and dance," she said in a telephone interview.

Flags were flown at half-staff Thursday throughout Red Bank.

Some of Basie's hits included "One O'Clock Jump," "Don't You Miss Your Baby," and "I Left My Baby."

"We just play music," Basie once said. "And we try to make it swing."

By 1939, Basie and his band were jazzing up Carnegie Hall and three years later he made his film debut in "Reveille with Beverly."

Basie, who picked up the "Count" title from a razzing Kansas City radio announcer in the 1920s, more than once executed his tight ensemble style mixed with simple blues riffs.

His band in 1967 became the first American group to play a royal command performance for the queen of England.

Strains of jazz, a la Basie, also drifted through Washington during President John F. Kennedy's inaugural ball.

"I loved him and so did my husband, Lennie Hayton, and we never missed an opportunity to be with him and listen to him," entertainer Lena Horne said in a statement Thursday.

"I will never forget him. And how lucky we all are to inherit his loving music," she said.

Basie made his home in the Bahamas with his wife Catherine, a dancer with the Whitman Sisters whom he married in 1942. Mrs. Basie died in 1983.

Concessions Made, Food Price Riot Ended

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Food-price riots that killed 54 people are over, and the government is promising to raise wages, open more discount food stores and distribute free U.S. surplus cheese, milk and flour.

There were no casualties or major street violence reported in the Caribbean island nation Thursday, in contrast to the bloodshed of the previous three days.

"The riots are over," Luis Gonzalez Fabra, National Palace press officer, said.

Fabra said most of the debris from the riots — during which scores of shops were sacked and several stores, buses and cars were set afire — had been cleared by brigades of city workers, police and volunteers.

Unlike many government leaders who accused political groups of the far right and left of inciting the violence, Gonzalez Fabra placed the blame on some of the price increases ordered by the government last week.

The issue was food prices for the poor. We touched the basic Dominican diet," the presidential spokesman told The Associated Press.

President Salvador Jorge Blanco announced the increases April 19. The cost of imported goods was tripled and the price of many domestic foodstuffs also rose significantly.

Beans, a daily staple for Dominicans, jumped from 30 cents to 65 cents a pound. Gonzalez Fabra, noting that a favorite snack of the poor is bread rolls and sugar water, said the rolls now cost 10 cents each, instead of 5 cents, and sugar increased from 25 to 31 cents a pound.

As a means of easing the impact on the poor, Jorge Blanco said Thursday the number of government food stores will be doubled nationwide. There now are 635 such stores, which sell food items at reduced prices.

Senate President Jacobo Majluta said the legislature begin work immediately on a plan to raise the average monthly wage for public workers from $125 to $200.

"The people need more money to buy food," he said.

Food donated by the United States will be distributed free to the poor over the next year, Gonzalez Fabra announced. He said the U.S. Commodity Credit Corp. has agreed to provide $18 million worth of surplus cheese, powdered milk and flour.

The cheese is likely to be bartered. "Cheese is not a part of the diet here. The poor are likely to sell it and buy bread, rice or something else," Gonzalez Fabra said.

The U.S. Embassy here declined comment. A member of its staff, declining to be identified, said this week's problems were the affair of the Dominican government.

Police and hospital records Thursday said 30 people were killed in the capital; 12 in Santiago, the second largest city 100 miles northwest of the capital; six in San Francisco de Macoris, about 80 miles north; one in San Cristobal, 20 miles west; two each in Bonao and La Vega, and one in Cotui, all smaller cities along the Duarte Highway that connects Santo Domingo and Santiago.

The Roman Catholic Bishops' Conference issued a statement Thursday which deplored "violence and subversion," but also called on Jorge Blanco to explain his economic policies and the price hikes.

"The violence we experience today has opened our eyes to the situation of the poor," the statement said.

Arrest 12 For Drugs

Greenville police arrested 12 persons on possession of heroin charges late Thursday night following a raid on a club on Fifth Street near the Ford Street intersection.

Chief Ted Holmes said Stephen Ward III, 42, of 119C Lakeview Terrace was charged with possession of heroin with intent to sell and was placed under a $25,000 bond following the 11 p.m. incident.

The others, charged with possession of heroin, include: Pamela Denise Sheppard, 27, of 100F Lakeview Terrace; Ponderus Orego Streeter, 27, of 1211 Battle St.; Carol Regina Valentine, 26, of 1205 Battle St.; Diane Whilimina Cherry, 30 of 1804B Conley St.; Floyd Erving Macky, 39, of 1705 W. Third St.; Charles Manning Crandall, 28, of 202 Ridgeway St.; Jerome Pitt, 24, of Farmville; Donald Taylor, 25, of 1803 S. Greene St.; Lonnie Alexander Norcott, 47, of 2206 Charles St.; Willie C. Staton, 75, of 1206 Colonial Ave., and Calvin Henry Gatlin, 44, of 1114 Ward St.

Holmes said officers assigned to the department's narcotics and vice squad headed the investigation which led to the arrests.

The chief noted that another man, Robert Pettus, 35 of 103 Rackley Road, was arrested by narcotics and vice officers about 1 p.m. Thursday on possession of cocaine charges after a small amount of cocaine was found in his possession.

The arrest took place near the intersection of Fifth and 14th streets.

A FEMALE "CHRIST" — A crucifixion statue representing Jesus Christ as a woman was displayed by sculptor Edwina Sandys at the cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York this week. The Very Rev. James Park Morton, dean of the Episcopal cathedral, says public reaction to the sculpture was "overwhelmingly positive". (AP Laserphoto)

An Unscheduled Ride On Train

MOREHEAD CITY — Three Morehead City juveniles took an unscheduled train ride Thursday.

A spokesman for the Carteret County Sheriff's Department said the three youngsters were playing atop a boxcar at the state port in Morehead City when the train began to roll. Someone saw the children on the car and notified officials.

The sheriff's department spokesman said a highway patrolman flagged the train to a stop at Wildwood, just west of Morehead City, removed the children and returned them to their homes.

FOCUS

A New Leaf

Today is Arbor Day, a day to replenish the nation's forests. Nearly 1200 kinds of trees grow wild in the U.S. In 50 years, a tree produces $82,500 in pollution control, $37,500 in water recycling and humidity control, $31,250 worth of oxygen, and $2,500 in protein from the leaves and bark consumed by wildlife. During a typical growing season, an oak tree can give off 28,000 gallons of moisture. The average tree gets only 10 percent of its nutrition from the soil.

DO YOU KNOW — Which kind of tree is the tallest in the world?

THURSDAY'S ANSWER — The first U.S. President to visit China was Ulysses Grant.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1984

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Do not push matters. If you go along with whatever occurs, you will have a pleasant surprise. Not a good time to borrow nor to lend money nor to take any risks.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) It is best to be with good friends and not get involved with others. Any public work will not turn out well.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be more concerned with improving your image and don't go off on any tangents. A friend may come to you for help so do your best.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Go out to new sites and meet interesting people, and avoid a business tie who is looking for trouble. Be patient with your mate.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Steer clear of a self-opinionated man today and be with persons who are more modern and progressive.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Get into more modern ways of doing things and you can be more successful. Join with co-workers at leisure.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out to fun places with your mate and have a delightful time together. Avoid grouches. Be imaginative.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take a little trip with a good partner and put aside worries and tediums of everyday business for now. Drive with care.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A co-worker will join you in some plan you have that can be mutually helpful. You can accomplish a great deal of practical matters.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan to have as good a time today as you possibly can. Don't get involved in some monetary scheme.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Meet the one you like at a restaurant and be happy together. Handle only that work that is necessary in the morning.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't fume about some worrisome situation; do something constructive about it. Enjoy long-neglected pleasure.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Approach bigwigs for any favors you need. A friend can be too possessive, so avoid for the time being. Be wise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one who will have every opportunity to gain fame provided that early in life your progeny does not get enmeshed in something ultra, ultra modern that has no substance. Teach to be discriminating in all things.

Answer to yesterday's puzzle. 4-27

CRYPTOQUIP 4-27

PVOU PUD HRKWUFI OUZUSFRKU
DVKW SGKKZUI GH JGJ.

Yesterday's Cryptiquip - PROFICIENT CARPENTER HAD LOTS OF SHELF CONFIDENCE.
Today's Cryptiquip clue: U equals E

The Cryptiquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

When you are missing three cards in a suit including the king, the finesse is the percentage play. However, if you have reason to believe that the finesse can't win, any other line is better.

Although it probably wouldn't have made any difference to the final contract, we are not enthused with South's decision to reopen with a one spade overcall. That virtually gave up on any chance of reaching a heart contract. A reopening double is the standout choice. Also, North's refusal to act at the one-level is pusillanimous. If he felt he was too weak for a takeout double, surely little harm would befall a one spade overcall.

West led the king of clubs and declarer's prospects were dismal. He seemed to have a sure loser in diamonds and hearts even if the king of diamonds would furnish a discard, and then there was the trump suit to contend with.

The trump finesse would normally be the odds-on play, but West surely held the king because East, who was marked with diamond length, quite probably would have been able to respond over one club if he had a king as well. So declarer gave up on a trump finesse for the combined chance of either dropping a singleton king of spades off side or an end play.

If West held the guarded king of spades, he could not have more than two hearts - the bidding had marked him with at least five clubs and four diamonds. So declarer won the ace of clubs and immediately led a low diamond. West went in with the ace and continued with the queen.

Declarer won the king in dummy, discarding a heart from hand. He ruffed a diamond, ruffed a club on the board, then crossed to the ace of trumps to ruff his last

Alcohol May Help Emphysema-Prone

DURHAM (AP) - Duke University researchers say studies which show that smokers who drink alcohol do not seem as likely to develop emphysema may have important implications for the prevention of the respiratory disease.

"We aren't advocating that smokers take up drinking," said Dr. Phillip C. Pratt, professor of pathology. "The protection alcohol seems to give the lungs is often upset by the damage it can do to other parts of the body, notably the brain and the liver."

Pratt said the discovery has given researchers what could be an important clue to the disease.

"Perhaps a drug will eventually be found that offers the same or even better protection without the harmful effects of excessive alcohol consumption," Pratt said.

Emphysema involves the progressive destruction of alveoli, the tiny air sacs in the lungs. Shortness of breath after exercise is one of its early symptoms. In its final stage more oxygen is used by the body in the act of breathing than the lungs can collect. There is no cure for the disease.

Emphysema is believed to be caused by destructive enzymes that are liberated in the lungs by inflammatory cells, Pratt said. Normally, the enzymes are neutralized by the body's natural defenses.

"The theory is that smoking increases the migration of inflammatory cells into the lungs," Pratt said. "These in turn unleash more of the destructive enzymes than the body can handle. Alcohol seems to restore the balance the body normally maintains by inhibiting the migration and other actions of these cells."

In the study, the scientists assembled data on 681 lungs collected at autopsy at the Durham VA Medical Center.

"We classified the lungs according to the presence or absence and the extent of emphysema," Pratt said, adding that they checked hospital records and were able to determine both smoking and drinking habits in 204 cases.

"Among the smokers there were some who didn't drink at all, some heavy drinkers and a lot who were moderate or social drinkers," he said.

"We expected the use of alcohol to have little or no effect on emphysema," Pratt continued. "Instead, we found that the prevalence of emphysema among smokers appeared to diminish progressively as alcohol use increased."

club in dummy. To set the stage for West's demise, declarer cashed the ace-king of hearts and exited with a trump to West's king. With nothing left but minor-suit cards, West was forced to give declarer a ruff-sluff and, with it, his doubled contract.

Forest Fires Spread In Western Counties

ASHEVILLE (AP) - A wind-driven fire whipped through western North Carolina, burning more than 225 acres in McDowell County and at least 60 acres in Macon County which could continue to cause problems today.

A water-carrying airplane and helicopter, which were used to fight the blaze Thursday, were grounded until this morning, when fire officials expected rising temperatures and lower humidity to heat the fire up again.

Meanwhile, in the Macon County town of Franklin, firefighters battled a Thursday fire which engulfed about 60 acres and officials say was intentionally set. The workforce there was expected to return this morning to keep the fire in the Wayah District of the Nantahala National Forest from rising again, according to U.S. Forest Service spokesman Walt Rule.

Some 60 people from national parks in neighboring states have been called in to help fight the McDowell County fire.

Sources in McDowell County said the fire there was probably caused by sparks from a passing Southern Railway train. Flames which were first noticed at 1 p.m. worked their way across into the Grandfather District of the Pisgah National Forest.

The flames split into two fires, and one was contained near Andrews Geyser north of Old Fort. The other raged in the Graphite area.

About 100 firefighters raked fire lanes around the two blazes while the plane and helicopter dropped water on the flames from the air.

Houses in the Crooked Creek community were threatened at one point, but fire officials said no houses were lost.

The only known loss Thursday night was a reservoir building owned by Dwayne Anderson. Fire melted the structure's fiberglass siding, but Anderson extinguished the fire himself.

Rule said conditions made it impossible for firefighters to extinguish the blaze out before today.

"If we get another hot day with wind, those fires could enlarge themselves significantly," he said.

At least 60 acres near Franklin burned as a result of what Rule said were 10 "man-made" fires. Those fires on Skenah Gap were still going Thursday night, and efforts to combat them with a helicopter and airplane were halted until morning.

Rule speculated the fires were intentionally started along U.S. 441 near the gap.

"It's likely some incendiary device was thrown from a car," he said. "We have had that experience in the past."
