Endorses Strong Leaf Program

Mondale Swings Into Pitt

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Democratic presidential hopeful Walter Mondale expressed support here today for a strong tobacco program and blamed the nation's $200 billion deficit for the plight of the small family farm.

Mondale's campaign visit to Greenville began when his plane touched down at the Pitt-Greenville Airport at 11:30. He drove from there to the FCX Farm and Garden Supplies store on Line Avenue, where he participated with several people in a round-table discussion of problems facing America's farmers, including U.S. Reps. Walter Jones and Charles Rose, former Sen. Robert Morgan, Isabelle Fletcher, a farmer and member of the Lenoir County Board of Commissioners, and Atlas Wooten, head of the Pitt County Farm Bureau.

Farmer Charles McLawhorn, a member of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners, acted as master of ceremonies.

"I'm a farm lad who grew in rural communities," Mondale said, and "believe strongly in family farming."

The former vice president said that the Reagan administration has been able to "get farmers fighting against each other," thus weakening all farmers in the United States.

"I intend to unify farmers," Mondale said, suggesting that "an omnibus farm bill ... to serve the whole country" be introduced in the Congress as a means to unify support for agriculture.

Mondale also suggested that the "distorted value of American dollars — 30 percent above where it should be," has been created by the nation's $200 billion deficit, which in turn has hurt American agriculture in world trade.

Agricultural exports, Mondale said, are on the decline and are the "worst" this year than any year in the history of the country.

"We need a president who will fight for farmers ... need strong farm programs with decent support programs," Mondale said. "We need a president committed to strong family farm programs."

Rose said Mondale, a former member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, "has always voted for the tobacco program. He knows and understands the changes that have taken place."

Jones, then asked Mondale, "Do you support the present 'no cost' tobacco program?"

"Yes," Mondale said. "I think what you've done is not well known in this country. The program is paid for almost totally by the farmers themselves."

"I've worked to get a program that is sensible, stable ... that will improve the economy. I will continue to do that as president of the United States."

Mondale also said he favored improving agricultural exports over subsidizing farmers by paying them not to produce crops.

"I feel very strongly about that," Mondale said. "For years, America dominated the market," as far as agricultural products are concerned, until "other countries started dumping products," at below cost.

"We started losing our markets unfairly. What we need is a president ... who will put up a fight for American farmers."

Economic Charts Reflect Decrease

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's main forecasting gauge of future economic activity dropped 1.1 percent in March, the first decline in 19 months, the government reported today in a further signal that economic growth is headed sharply lower.

The Commerce Department reported that its Index of Leading Indicators fell for the first time since a small 0.1 percent decline in August 1982, during the depths of the recession.

Since then, the index, which is used to predict economic activity six to nine months ahead, has been on a steady upward roll as the nation recovered from the worst recession since World War II.

The March decline followed a strong 1.3 percent rise in February, which was revised from an originally reported 0.7 percent increase. In January, the index rose a revised 0.7 percent.

Many economists had predicted the index would drop in March because of a string of reports showing much weaker business activity during the month. Housing starts plummeted 26.6 percent, the steepest decline on record, retail sales were off 2.2 percent and unemployment showed no improvement for the first time in six months.

Analysts said this first decline in the leading index was a further sign that the economy is headed into a period of lower growth.

The economy grew at a surprisingly strong 8.3 percent rate in the first three months of the year, up from 5 percent in the fourth quarter of 1983. However, most economists are predicting growth for the rest of the year will hover around 3 percent or lower. As yet, no economists are predicting a recession for 1984, although some are raising warning flags for next year.

Sparse Crowd Sees Mondale

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

It wasn't a Mondale rally. But the crowd which gathered at the FCX near noon today to hear Fritz Mondale was intent on seeing a presidential candidate, supportive of his candidacy or not.

Worriers in the crowd had two topics to fret about — the threat of rain and why there weren't more people present for such an historic event. The rain never came and more people did at the last minute, though press and policemen and Secret Service still almost outnumbered the non-working participants.

"This thing was announced," Mac Little said. "You'd think more people would turn out just because it's happening. I took my children to hear Jesse Jackson the week before Easter and I wish I could've taken them out of school for this, too."

"I always felt like kicking myself for not being there when Kennedy was here in the '60s," Lois Braxton said. "I knew I wasn't going to miss Mondale's visit. I don't know who I'm supporting yet. I'm here to listen."

Joseph and Lala Steelman said they were present because they're Mondale supporters. "I think Fritz Mondale best represents the principles of the Democratic Party," Joseph Steelman said.

Martha Chapman said, as a black woman, that her sentiment is with Jesse Jackson, but her political support is with Mondale. "I think Mondale is going to get the nomination," she said, "and I really want to see a Democrat in the White House."

The visit was billed as a time for Mondale to meet and talk with eastern North Carolina farmers, and farming was the only topic discussed. The candidate and his flank held forth from fertilizer sack seats on the porch of the FCX store with sacks of swine feed behind them. Press photographers had a couple of two-ton flatbed trucks as their vantage point to view the candidate over the crowd. The trucks, haybales and police cars served to secure the area.

Some of the crowd voiced dissatisfaction with farming's being the only issue discussed. "There's something going on in eastern North Carolina besides farming," one man in the crowd muttered. But he never got to voice his view aloud. Every minute until the Secret Service hurried Mondale into a limousine with District of Columbia license plates was taken up with farm talk.

Just before leaving, Mondale did sign a few autographs and exchange pleasantries with a few in the crowd. Hank Crapps, representing the A.G. Cox Elementary School newspaper, was probably the only member of the press who also got the candidate's autograph.

Public Vies To See Mondale

By SUE HINSON
Reflector Staff Writer

Following a cry of "it's on its last approach," the tri-engine American Trans Air jet carrying Democratic presidential hopeful Walter B. Mondale appeared out of an overcast sky a full 15 minutes ahead of its scheduled arrival time of 11:45 at the Pitt-Greenville Airport this morning.

As the plane taxied down the runway, police, onlookers, local dignitaries and members of the press craned their necks, hoping for a look at the former vice president through the plane's windows, but all they got was a brief glimpse of an unidentified face before the curtain fell back into place.

Following the cue of a Mondale organizer, the welcoming committee and members of the press moved forward to greet Mondale as he descended from the rear exit located just below the jet's tail. However, Mondale did not emerge until a bevy of photographers and reporters, including representatives from ABC, NBC and CBS as well as press members of national newspapers, had poured out. Mondale, a big grin on his face, finally emerged, the third from the last in the procession.

News men and women crowded around angling for a good shot at Mondale while he shook hands with Greenville Mayor Janice B. Buck, state Sen. Vernon White and other local officials. Then Mondale moved over to exchange a few words of greeting with well-wishers who were leaning over the boundary fence in hopes of catching his hand or getting in a word of support.

Local police officers then ushered Mondale into a dark sedan and skirted him off to the Pitt FCX where he spoke to local farmers answered questions from members of the press.

PACs Get Clear Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today cleared the way for political action committees to spend as much money as they want in this year's presidential campaign.

The justices, who earlier this month agreed to study whether such so-called PACs legally may spend unlimited amounts of money to back a presidential candidate, refused to decide the issue in time for this year's campaign.

In another ruling, the court partially granted the government's emergency request to postpone restoration of Social Security benefits to 40,000 people whose payments were cut in 1980. The court said benefits cut off on or after Dec. 6, 1982, or claims that went through administrative appeals on or after Dec. 6, 1982, must be restored. But repayments to an unspecified number of recipients will be delayed pending formal appeal.

The Democratic Party had asked the court to resolve the spending controversy by July, hoping to head off plans by conservative political action committees to spend as much as $20 million to help re-elect President Reagan.

The Democrats and the Federal Election Commission are challenging a lower court's ruling that struck down a federal law limiting the spending of any political committee to $1,000.

Both appeals, granted review on April 16, asked for a quick ruling but neither the party nor the commission submitted a separate request for speedy review by the justices.

Costuming A Circus: Think In Big Terms

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Senior Editor

How do you costume an elephant? "You think big," said Kenneth Feld, of Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey Circus. "Like in terms of 5,000 to 10,000 pounds. When you're dressing an elephant there's a huge area to cover. Blankets have to be made so they can travel and stand the rigors of circus life."

Feld said elephant blankets are made one-half at a time, there's so much material and so much handwork involved. Depending on the size of the elephant, the pattern is 10 feet by 10 feet or sometimes 10 by 20, on each side. Then the two are joined.

Next comes the glitter. Feld said this may consist of 4,000 to 5,000 tiny mirrors, each attached by hand.

Packaging a pachyderm really is an individual tailoring job, said Feld, who is president and producer of the circus. Elephants, like people, have different shapes.

"We give the costume staff the names of the elephants and they take the measurements," he said. "The elephant is trained to kneel for fittings. Some completed blankets weigh as much as 200 pounds."

The late Don Foote, who designed the 1984 circus costumes, created one sequence in which the elephants do a cowboy routine. They're decked out in sequin-covered sombreros with brims 8 feet across. The hats are strapped on and giant bandanas tie around what little neck there is. "I think circus animals sort of enjoy all this," said Feld, answering anyone who would complain of such indignity.

Kenneth Feld is president of Ringling; his father, Irvin, is chairman and also producer. Their circus extravaganza has been moving its way north from winter quarters in the Sarasota, Fla., area to arrive at New York's Madison Square Garden April 3.

After its run at the Garden, it will criss-cross the nation until Dec. 6, when it returns to quarters for refurbishing and renewal, only to reopen Jan. 6 and resume the circuit. Actually there are two troupes — known as Red and Blue — on the road. The Blue comes into the garden this year.

Kenneth Feld said each troupe requires a staff of 25 working on nothing but wardrobes. There are the head of wardrobe, someone in charge of men's apparel, someone in charge of women's, and someone for the animals.

"We have someone in charge of just shoe repairs," Feld said. "We probably are the largest buyer in the world of sequins, the largest purchaser of tights and fishnet hose."

"Every costume is individually fitted and it has to be not only beautiful but workable. An acrobat has to test the design. We have to have input from our performers. Other needs also have to be considered. Special inside-the-leg protection goes in for elephant riders because of the animals' abrasive skin."

"Because we don't always play in a protected environment, such as the Garden, sequins are specially tested and colors baked in so that if it is very humid or wet outdoors the colors won't run."

Feld said, "We budget about $4 million annually just for costumes

Some Abby Letters Have Happy Endings

DEAR READERS: "Curious in Florida," the parents of three adopted children, asked me to poll my readers to find out what to expect if their adopted children decided to search for their biological parents.

Today, a sample of letters with happy endings:

DEAR ABBY: Being an adopted child, I yearned to know about my "roots," but I didn't want to hurt my adoptive parents, so I waited until after I was married to start my search.

Three months later, I flew to a small Midwestern town and walked into a Dairy Queen where my mother was working behind the counter. I knew immediately that she was my mother. She looked at me and something told her that I was the daughter she hadn't seen since I was 5 years old. We were both overcome with emotion. Her boss sent her home and we talked until 5 a.m. She's been divorced twice, has three other children and seven step-children. She's had a hard life.

I'm glad I satisfied my curiosity.

and props. The wardrobes cost five times as much as the most extravagant show on Broadway."

Feld said there are about 150 animals to be costumed — elephants, llamas, horses and camels. The eight bears in this year's show wear gymnasts' uniforms.

Blanketing a camel can be a problem because of the hump or humps. So a hole is cut for the type of camel — dromedary (one hump) and Bactrian (two humps).

Horses are the most difficult to dress, Feld said. They tend to be skittish and nervous and it takes a spell for them to get used to an outfit.

All this year's costumes were by Foote, who had been with Ringling Bros. since 1969. He died in January.

Foote also worked on other Feld extravaganzas — the Ice Follies, Holiday on Ice, Beyond Belief in Las Vegas, and others. Feld said he remembered that Foote, in his travels scouting for materials, called from Paris to say, "Kenneth, I think you should know we've just cornered the world market on ostrich feathers."

"When I got the invoice, I found he wasn't kidding."

Now the Felds have hired Win Morton, a native of Dallas, to supervise future costume design. Morton has clothed everyone from debutantes to Roxy showgirls.

"Costuming hasn't changed much during the year," Feld said, "except we get more and more lavish each season. You have to use brilliant colors, no subtle or earth tones."

"Oh yes, the problem of special garb for the once familiar fat lady?"

"We don't like to take a chance of offending anyone," he said. "People are so weight conscious, the fat lady is no longer funny. We don't have one."

I'm also glad she had the courage to give me up. It made me appreciate my adoptive parents all the more.

GLAD I SEARCHED

DEAR ABBY: I located my birth mother. This was her message to me: "Thank you for affirming that I did the right thing in giving you up. I wish to God I had had the courage to do the same thing for your younger brother and sister, but society lays such a guilt trip on us if we don't raise our own children."

"Please go home and tell your parents 'thanks' from both of us. Goodbye."

I won't tell you what my life would have been like if I had been raised by this bitter, unhappy woman.

I was happy to have seen the contrast and grateful to her for having given me away — and even more grateful to the mother who raised me.

SAN DIEGO

Tomorrow: Letters with less than happy endings. Stay tuned.

Beddard-Rackley Vows Solemnized On Saturday

LEMON SPRINGS — The wedding ceremony of Kay Frances Rackley and Lindsay Victor Beddard was solemnized Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in the Lemon Springs Baptist Church. The Rev. Thomas L. Barnes officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Rackley of Sanford. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Garland L. Beddard of Greenville.

A program of wedding music was presented by organist Susan Gaster and soloist Clyde Turner, both of Sanford. Selections included "Time in a Bottle," "The Twelfth of Never" and "Two Candles."

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Bill Norris of Sanford. Theresa

Faulk presided at the guest register and Marcia Hammtree distributed programs.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white chiffon over peau de soie. The Victorian-inspired gown was fashioned with a high neckline encircled with schiffli embroidered English net in a ruffled effect. The slip-styled gown featured an over-blouse of tucked chiffon in a blouson style overlaid in panels of Brussels lace accented with beading of pearls interspersed with iridescent sequins. Tiny covered buttons centered the bodice. The Edwardian-style sleeves were fashioned in the tucked chiffon with a ruffle of Brussels lace at the shoulders. The deep fitted cuffs of beaded embroidered English net featured covered button closures. A band of scalloped schiffli lace off-centered with a bow of chiffon enhanced the modified natural waistline. The full skirt and attached chapel length train were edged in a border of scalloped Brussels lace. She wore a silk floral wreath with a rolled-edge fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white phalaenopsis and gypsophila with trailing poppy foliage.

Matron of honor was Deborah Warren of West End, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Fay Coats, Portia Cole and Cindy Cain, all of Sanford, and Rhonda McLawhorn of Greenville. Each attendant wore a gown of daphne rose brocade taffeta featuring tucked horizontal pleated yoke and a fitted bodice. The gown was styled with a satin ribbon sash and long gathered skirt. Each carried a bouquet of rubrum lilies, stephanotis, Boston fern and silver queen.

The father of the bridegroom served as best man. Ushers were Steve Beddard, brother of the bridegroom, and Tony Brinkley, both of Greenville, Larry Mann of New Bern and Hackney Yelverton of Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Following the ceremony, a reception was hosted by the parents of the bride. Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Upchurch. Mrs. S.V. Johnson of Sanford served wedding cake and punch was poured by Mrs. Bill McKay of Fayetteville. Table hostesses were Mable Moore and Geneva Edwards of Sanford. Goodbyes were said by Mr. and Mrs. John E. Westmoreland.

The parents of the bridegroom entertained at a rehearsal party in the fellowship hall. A bridesmaid's luncheon was given by Mrs. Bill Norris, Mrs. Frankie Knight and Mrs. Rex Ballard at the home of Mrs. Bill Norris.

The bride is a graduate of Sanford Central High School and the UNC-Chapel Hill School of Dentistry with a degree in dental assisting. She attended Sandhills Community College for a degree in respiratory therapy. She is employed by Pitt County Memorial Hospital. The bridegroom is a graduate of D.H. Conley High School. He attended East Carolina University and received a degree in radiologic technology from Pitt Community College. He is employed by Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

After a wedding cruise to the Bahamas, the couple will reside in Greenville.

SHOPPING HABITS

NEW YORK (AP) — The increasing number of families in which both spouses work has led to a boom in the direct marketing industry, according to Carl Bloom, president of Bloom & Gelb Inc., a direct response agency.

"During 1982, Americans spent $138 billion on products and services they purchased through direct marketing techniques such as retail and mail order catalogs, telephone sales, and advertisements that encourage you to write away for a product or call an 800 number," he said.

Law Catches Up

There always are some who try to take the easy way, mooching or stealing from others. Those who now abuse the anti-poverty food stamp program fit into that category.

For that reason, it's heartening for most of us to see the free-riders take a fall. And one case recently of food stamp fraud heard in U.S. District Court in Asheville pinpointed the frustration and disgust that such misuse of public support can produce.

Seventeen defendants pleaded guilty to fraud involving food stamps. Federal Judge Woodrow Jones gave each of the defendants a suspended prison sentence, fined them and ordered restitution to the government. He also ordered one woman to take immediate legal action against the father of her youngest son to obtain support from him.

Jones' reasoning was typical of the outrage that many people about such cases. "You're getting $202 from the government," the judge told the woman, when the father "is able to work and provide support? That is just hideous...."

"I realize there seems to be a feeling across the land that anything you can get from the government is all right, that everybody's doing it and you lie. But that's not the law. Maybe there's not enough enforcement. But sooner or later it's going to catch up. And that's what has happened here."

May there be more frequent cases of the law "catching up."

Good Is Bad

It is ironic, as well as within the nature of life, that many things essential to good health can also be dangerous to some individuals. Sunshine, for example, is one; sodium is another.

Careful people can control their exposure to sunlight, but it hasn't been so simple for those who need to control their sodium intake. (People with high blood pressure problems for instance, are generally advised to limit the salt in their diet.)

One aspect of their difficulty lies in the fact that salt (sodium) is a frequent ingredient added to ... or is natural ... in many processed foods.

Next year the Food and Drug Administration will require food manufacturers to list sodium content on their labels. It will be most helpful to those whom nature betrayed.

Public Forum

To the editor:

Taxation without representation — that's what started the American Revolution. I watched the recent TV series on George Washington with great interest and renewed admiration for Washington, a man of extraordinary moral courage and deep compassion for his fellow human beings.

I can't help but wonder how disappointed he would be to see that in today's America we have taxation without representation of a very pernicious nature. Washington helped create the best form of government in the world. But the majority of Americans refuse to participate in our great representative democracy, except through special interest groups. We have representatives, but 95 percent of us never in our entire lives write or call our congressman even once, let alone on an ongoing basis; even about the most crucial decision affecting the life and health of this nation and the whole planet.

We have the opportunity in the next 10 few days to let our congressmen know whether we want 3.2 billion of our hard-earned tax dollars spent on building 30 additional MX missiles ($21 billion for 21 missiles has already been appropriated.) The MX (with 10 warheads on each) is described by many military experts as useless, destabilizing and wasteful. It can never be used except for the U.S. to begin a nuclear war that will end all our lives and the dreams of our great nation and the world. It is certainly not a deterrent because it cannot be protected and would be lost unless fired first. It only invites nuclear war.

Think what $3.2 billion could do toward bringing down our crippling national deficit — or provide jobs and bring down unemployment and its resulting problems.

If we want our tax dollars thrown away on useless hardware, then we can go ahead with our busy lives and continue our silence to our representatives, letting the weapons manufacturing lobbies win again. But if we recall what George Washington fought for, then now is the time to pick up our pens or telephones and let our congressmen hear from us. The vote is expected May 15. Be sure to ask your congressman how he/she voted.

Women Find A Voice In Campaigns

RALEIGH — A prominent female legislator described why she feels the 1984 gubernatorial campaign is different from all others. Candidates used to tell women what they'd do for them, she said. "This year, we're telling them what we expect."

This is supposed to be a year when female clout is felt at the ballot box. After a successful 1983 session of the General Assembly, female activists are pushing a broad range of issues for the 1985 session and they're working hard to assure that the next governor agrees with them.

The biggest issue is called comparable worth. Women want state government jobs reclassified so that salaries are set to reflect the worth of the work performed by each employee. It is their feeling that such a study will determine that jobs traditionally held by women are just as important to state government as those traditionally held by men but the women's jobs are lower paying.

Tom Gilmore "strongly" supports the concept of comparable worth and would have a numerical value placed on every job which would be updated annually. Lauch Faircloth also endorses the concept saying, "I was the first candidate to point out this need." John Ingram also supports both a review for comparable review and putting the findings into practice.

The three other candidates are less precise about their stands. Eddie Knox says, "I support an in-depth analysis of salaries and reclassification of state jobs by an independent consultant." Jimmy Green says he supports elimination of all inequities that now exist but refuses to make any promises until a legislative study committee on the question reports to him.

Rufus Edmisten admittedly tries "to straddle the fence" on the question. He says he'll consider any system presented to him that is fair and equitable. But, he adds, that "the institution of comparable worth would cause a great deal of litigation and excessive cost to the taxpayers."

On other women's issues, all six candidates say they want to maintain the recently created office of women's economic development and continue to give the head of that office assistant cabinet secretary status.

The candidates were asked if they'd propose changes to the state's inheritance laws which treat widows and widowers differently. Green said he would not recommend any changes unless overwhelming evidence was shown that change was needed. Ingram simply said he was committed to equal rights. Knox, Faircloth and Gilmore said they would seek elimination of that disparity. Edmisten said, "I would work to see that there are no inequities, but want more details before introducing such legislation."

Ingram, Knox, Edmisten, Faircloth and Gilmore favor elimination of sexual bias in insurance laws. Green said the insurance companies base their rates on statistics and disagreed, therefore, that there is any sexual bias in insurance rates. He opposes any change.

There are proposals to give tax credits to employers who provide day care either on the worksite or through a voucher system for their employees. Green, Faircloth, Knox and Gilmore support the tax credit. Edmisten said he supported the concept "but would examine the cost closely." Ingram dodged the question, saying it would need study.

Day care for the children of university and community college students is also being sought. Gilmore gives the only unqualified yes to this idea. Edmisten and Ingram repeat their tax credit answer. Green says he wouldn't dismiss the idea automatically. Faircloth and Knox say they'd agree only to day care which was supplemental to private sector offerings.

Financing With Mirrors

As you may have read in the newspapers, Argentina was bailed out of a serious debt situation this month. It was advanced money by friends so it could pay interest on its enormous debt.

while this was not big news, the fact that Mexico and Brazil came to the rescue caused a few raised eyebrows because they owe more money than Argentina does. How does a country that is broke itself borrow money to bail out another country that is also bankrupt? : It's all done with mirrors.

The Finance Minister of Brazil goes to consortium of American and European banks and says, "we want to borrow $50 million."

"But," protests the consortium, "you are into us for billions already. How can we loan you any more money?"

"This money isn't for us. It's to give to Argentina so it can pay interest on its debt."

"Why would you want to give money to Argentina when you can't pay back what you owe us?"

"Because Argentina is our friend, and Latin Americans always help each other."

"That isn't a very good excuse for giving you $50 million."

"All right then, I'll tell you another reason why you should do it. If you don't loan us the money to give to Argentina, she will be in default on all her loans and then the American and European banks will be stuck for the money."

"We're prepared to take the loss," the consortium says.

"Wait, there's more. If Argentina goes into default, then Brazil won't feel obliged to repay her loans. Are you prepared for that?"

"You're blackmailing us for $50 million."

"It is more than 50. The Finance Minister from Mexico is outside, and he's going to ask you for $100 million to loan to Argentina."

"But Mexico's broke too."

"Who isn't? If you people want to stay in the international banking business, you're going to have to continue loaning money to countries who want to bail out the one whose interest is due at that moment. Look, I'm not asking you to give me $50 million in a satchel. The money doesn't have to leave your banks. It will be purely a paper transaction. You take the 50 million that you're loaning Brazil, and you just credit it to Argentina's account. Then you deduct the 50 million against Argentina's interest, and you have it again to loan to somebody else."

"Does the United States government know what you're doing?"

"They put us up to it. They were afraid if they bailed out Argentina by themselves it would set a precedent. So they got Mexico, Brazil, Venezuela and Colombia to go along with the deal. Everyone looks good. The U.S. doesn't have to resolve the problem unilaterally, and if we can loan money to another country it shows we're not the deadbeats everyone thinks were. And the consortium can carry Argentina for another six months on their books as good customer."

"Suppose we give you the money? What happens when the interest payments on Brazil's loans are due?"

The Finance Minister of Brazil smiles. "Then it will be Argentina's turn to borrow the money from you to loan to us."

Stein Means Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — On April 9, Washington lawyer Jacob A. Stein called reporters to his office to receive the biographies of three assistants he had just hired. "This will be my last press release," he said.

It was a mundane announcement, but it spoke volumes. And it must have caused some gnashing of teeth in the White House.

Any doubt about what kind of investigation Stein intended to run vanished with his hiring of David T. Austern, Richard L. Beizer and George T. Frampton as his deputies.

A week earlier, Stein had been selected by a panel of three judges as the special prosecutor who this summer will investigate the affairs of Edwin A. Meese III.

Meese's nomination by President Reagan to be attorney general has been put on hold while Stein investigates whether Meese got government jobs for friends who helped him financially, was involved in the transfer of political documents from Jimmy Carter's campaign to Reagan's in 1980 and got special treatment in his Army Reserves promotion. Stein will also look into Meese's failure to list an interest-free loan on his financial disclosure form.

The appointments by Stein showed that he meant business.

He is highly regarded in legal circles, but he'd never held a political job, never been a prosecutor and was so apolitical that he had never even voted in an election. He lived in the District of Columbia before its residents had been given the right to vote in elections, he explained, and "I guess I never developed the habit."

Austern and Beizer are former government prosecutors. Frampton spent two years as an assistant special Watergate prosecutor.

Austern was an assistant district attorney in New York City for three years, handling organized crime and official corruption investigations. He worked in Washington as an assistant prosecutor specializing in fraud investigations.

Beizer was chief of the fraud division in the U.S. attorney's office in Washington, supervising the prosecution of economic crime cases.

Frampton is best known as the author of a memo to special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, urging Jaworski to seek the indictment and the prosecution of Richard M. Nixon, following his resignation from the presidency but before his successor, Gerald Ford, pardoned Nixon.

"I wonder if 10 years from now history will endorse the notion that Mr. Nixon has 'suffered enough,'" Frampton wrote in that 1974 document.

Strength For Today

Why so many problems in life? Whether we like it or not, life by its very nature appears to involve problems from the moment we are born until the moment we die.

The apparent reason is that we were put on this planet for the purpose of attaining growth. Growth of what? Body? Yes, but more significantly, growth of souls. It is scarcely logical to assume that God created our planet and the vast universe of which it is a part without some definite purpose. Certainly one would seem to be that we grow souls and prepare ourselves for eternal living when the body perishes and the spirit alone remains.

If we had no problems we would be like children who were never allowed to play, take exercise and fill themselves with food. We would become miserable skeletons and die.

Problems give the soul something to live on and to live for.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q.1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A763 ♥AKQJ10954 ♦7
What is your opening bid?
A.—If you elected to make any preempt, even four hearts, you will not get any medals for bravery from this department. Your hand is far too strong for preemptive action. However, it does not have enough in the way of high cards for a demand bid. By a process of elimination, the only logical choice is an opening bid of one heart.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J954 ♥106 ♦8763 ♣954
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♦ Dble Pass 1 ♣
Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—By first doubling and then jumping in a new suit, partner is showing a hand nearly good enough to make game on its own, with considerable length in his bid suit. Unfortunately, your hand will contribute nothing to your side's efforts. Pass.

Q.3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK83 ♥K952 ♦97 ♣1065
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣ Pass
3 ♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?

A.—We certainly wouldn't blame you for jumping to slam, but that runs two risks — you might go down in the unlikely event that partner has two fast losers, or you might miss a grand slam. Since it is prudent to guard against the improbable (that partner has two club losers), we recommend a jump to five hearts. If partner has the tickets for a grand slam, he will know what to do.

Q.4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠9543 ♥J6 ♦AK9 ♣K1063
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♣ Dble Rdble 2 ♦
Pass Pass ?
What action do you take?

A.—In principle, it is a losing policy to make a low-level penalty double of the opponents when you have four-card support for partner's suit. Therefore, you should support partner, and there is no need to bid more than two spades. You have already apprised him of your strength with your redouble.

Q.5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A1032 ♥Q63 ♦AK8 ♣KJ6
Partner opens the bidding with one heart. What do you respond?

A.—When there is a textbook response that describes your hand exactly, why not make it? A jump response of three no trump shows a hand of 16-18 points and precisely 4-3-3-3 distribution. Isn't that just what you hold?

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AK63 ♥983 ♦AK8 ♣AQ6
What is your opening bid?

A.—If you opened one no trump, brush up on your addition. You have 20 points — 2 points stronger than a maximum no trump. And your hand is about that much shy of the high-card requirements for a two no trump opening. Even though your spade suit is biddable, we would not open one spade — it makes it too difficult for partner to respond with a minimum. We would open one club to encourage partner to dredge up a response.

Per Capita Income Shows Slight Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alaska leads the nation in per capita income — at 44 percent above the national average — while Mississippi trails with income 31 percent below the average, according to the Commerce Department.

Alaska's per capita income was $16,820 compared with $11,675 for the nation as a whole and $8,072 for Mississippi, according to the report on 1983 income, which was made public Sunday.

Connecticut was No.2 with an average income of $14,826 for each resident. If the District of Columbia were a state, it would have placed second, with per capita income of $16,409, an 8.9 percent increase over the 1982 level.

SOUTHEAST: Virginia, $11,835, up 7 percent, No. 16; Florida, $11,592, up 6.3 percent, No. 20; Louisiana, $10,406, up 1.9 percent, No. 34; Georgia, $10,283, up 7.4 percent, No. 35; North Carolina, $9,656, up 6.7 percent, No. 39; Tennessee, $9,362, up 5.2 percent,

No. 42; Alabama, $9,235, up 6.8 percent, No. 44; Kentucky, $9,162, up 3 percent, No. 45; Arkansas, $9,040, up 7.3 percent, No. 46; South Carolina, $8,954, up 5.7 percent, No. 48; West Virginia, $8,937, up 2 percent,

No. 49; Mississippi, $8,072, up 4.5 percent, No. 50.

The national average was 5.2 percent above the 1982 figure of $11,100.

The gain was slightly lower than the 5.3 percent that income jumped in 1982 over the previous year's level.

Americans were better off, however, because inflation was lower, the report said.

Colombian Official Criticizes U.S. Presence

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Outside political blocs "led by the United States and the Soviet Union" have expanded their military presence in Central America, making the regional crisis more difficult to solve, Colombia's foreign minister says.

The increased military involvement "creates a sort of vicious circle, which for us is difficult, but necessary to break," Foreign Minister Rodrigo Lloreda Caicedo said Sunday after arriving here to participate in peace-seeking talks.

Colombia is one of four nations in the Contadora group, which since January 1983 has been trying to resolve conflicts in the region. The other countries are Mexico, Panama and Venezuela.

Foreign ministers from the group and from five Central American countries converged on this city beginning Saturday night for a meeting that continues today. It is the seventh round of talks between the Contadora group and the Central American countries.

The talks started informally Sunday, a day ahead of schedule.

Asked if the meetings would lead to a formal peace plan, Lloreda Caicedo said, "If by a formal peace plan you refer to an agreement which can be endorsed (by the Central American countries), definitely not."

He said the talks should lead to "a series of actions that will be carried out in the next few weeks to reach that goal (of a formal peace plan)."

The five Central American countries are Nicaragua, El Salvador, Honduras, Guatemala and Costa Rica. They are beset with internal insurgency or disputes with neighbors or both.

Costa Rican President Luis Alberto Monge, in Panama City to receive an award from B'nai B'rith for his human rights work, said Sunday that Nicaragua is the "main obstacle" to achieving peace in Central America.

Costa Rica, El Salvador and Honduras issued a joint statement last Wednesday urging leftist-run Nicaragua to comply with Contadora goals of demilitarization and political freedom. Critics of the Sandinista government in Nicaragua say the country is engaged in a massive military buildup and suppresses dissent.

Nicaragua has said the United States is a major stumbling block to Central American peace.

British Police Prepared To Search Libyan Embassy

LONDON (AP) — The flag came down at the Libyan Embassy and police squads prepared to go inside today to search for explosives, firearms and clues in the killing of a British policewoman.

Authorities feared bombs may have been planted in the embassy and strengthened a police cordon "to prevent any member of the public getting anywhere near the building," a spokesman for the Scotland Yard said.

Saudi Arabian diplomats now looking after Libyan interests in Britain were expected to monitor the search, which was to be conducted by police experts in bombs, ballistics, fingerprints, scene-of-crime probes, electronic monitoring and chemistry.

Policewoman Yvonne Fletcher was killed April 17 by a gunman firing from the embassy at a crowd of demonstrators opposed to the regime of Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy. Eleven protesters were wounded.

The slaying led to an 11-day police siege and the breaking of diplomatic relations by Britain, which took effect at midnight Sunday.

Thirty Libyans who had been besieged in the embassy returned to Tripoli on Friday.

A Libyan caretaker hauled down his country's flag at the St. James's Square embassy Sunday evening and left just before midnight. The man locked the front door and handed the keys to an officer from Scotland Yard's Anti-Terrorist Branch before being driven away with a police escort to his London home.

British police say their search is to protect the building from damage caused by explosives and that it is permitted by Article 45 of the 1961 Vienna Diplomatic Convention, which states mission premises must be respected and protected even when diplomatic relations are broken.

The building remains Libyan property. Libya paid about $4.5 million for it on a 125-year lease in the late 1970s.

Fighting Shakes Beirut District

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Fighting broke out between Christian and Moslem militiamen early today, hours after Prime Minister-designate Rashid Karami vowed to "have no mercy" on those who obstruct his drive to end Lebanon's civil war.

The fighting shook Beirut's downtown commercial district and a nearby neighborhood, and the sound of crashing shells kept much of the capital's population awake during the pre-dawn hours.

The exchanges tapered into sporadic sniping at daybreak. Police said they had no immediate casualty reports.

Karami, a 62-year-old Sunni Moslem, made his first foreign affairs statement Sunday and also threatened to have "no mercy on anyone who tries to meddle with the citizens' security."

Karami said his main goal is to turn Lebanon into a massive "construction site" to erase the traces of nine years of civil war.

Hus remarks were broadcast live by the state radio. He spoke from his home in Tripoli, Lebanon's second-largest city, 50 miles north of Beirut.

Karami scheduled a meeting today with President Amin Gemayel to assess the progress of efforts to put together a half-Christian, half-Moslem Cabinet.

For $1,200 A Night, Hotel Provides Luxury

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A new luxury hotel opens in the nation's capital today, with a top price tag of $1,200 a night for the three-bedroom presidential suite including a view of Georgetown University, baby grand piano, butler's pantry, wood burning fireplaces and bathrooms of pink

Portuguese marble. Toilet rooms with telephones and memo pads are separate from the main bathrooms, which have whirlpool baths and built-in hair driers. Single and double rooms, however, come as low as $135 a night at the Regent Hotel. And you can get a light lunch — soup, lamb cutlets, berries and coffee — for under $30. That is, if you can do without wine. Prices for the main dining room, which opens in mid-May, have not yet been figured out. It will be called the Mayfair and the chef will be Guenter Seeger, who used to run the Hohenegge Restaurant in Pforzheim, West Germany. Marble there will be the darker red Italian variety from Carrara — as an Italian workman was eager to point out when a visitor mistakenly suggested that it might be the same as the marble in the bathrooms. The hotel, part of a group based in Hong Kong, occupies a new eight-story building with 254 rooms and a copper dome. It is built in concrete and a conservative grey-red brick at 24th and M Streets, Northwest, an area that used to be a bit slummy but which is being rapidly gentrified. Only three stories will be open Monday — a lot of work remains to be done on the courtyard and many of the rooms as well as the main restaurant. Georg Rafael, the West German executive vice president of the group, has put a mixture of old and new, European and American, into the Regent's style. The concierge is Giorgio Durante, formerly of the Cavalieri Hilton in Rome. There will be a secretarial service and each room has three telephones — with two lines and a hold button. Shoes left outside the door will be shined and returned in the morning.

Poll Casts Doubt On Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman candidate for vice president on the Democratic party's national ticket might cost the party as many votes among men as it would gain among women, according to a New York Times-CBS News poll.

Eight percent of 990 registered voters in the poll said a woman vice presidential candidate would make them "more likely" to vote Democratic; 10 percent said it would make them "less likely" to do so.

The poll, published in today's New York Times, suggested that the net effect of a woman's candidacy for the second spot would be insignificant, but indicated that some segments of the voting population would shift strongly.

Do you recognize these common flaws in your group health coverage?

Group health programs have become enormously sophisticated in recent years, but their flaws tend to be rather basic.

How many of these problems do you recognize in your own group coverage?

1. Your plan is based on insufficient data.

Health needs, health services and health costs in North Carolina can vary substantially from one community to another, so your planning should be extremely sensitive to local differences. Annual usage estimates, for example, should not be based on gross averages but on actual community data.

Now our database provides that

From an actuary's viewpoint, having a baby in Thomasville is not necessarily the same thing as having a baby in Greenville.

level of precision. What sort of database is your carrier using?

2. The carrier offers few, workable cost-containment strategies.

Over the years we've developed 26 different strategies that can be specifically tailored to your group, enabling us to place some meaningful controls on the cost of health-care without neglecting the true needs of your people.

What does your carrier offer?

3. Claimants are being over-paid.

Many employees are covered by more than one sort of health policy, and it's not unusual for such situations to yield windfall benefit payments. So to make sure our group subscribers get every cent they're entitled to, but not a cent more, we coordinate benefit payment with every other carrier involved, including Medicare.

This program is saving our subscribers more than $110 million each year—so if your carrier isn't coordinating benefits efficiently, you can imagine what it's costing you.

4. Claims aren't properly reviewed.

The most direct and immediate way to control the cost of coverage is to limit benefit payments to legitimate claims exclusively.

That's why every benefit claim we receive, without exception, is rigorously reviewed for validity. And the claims filed by all the health care facilities that have contracts with us are audited every year.

5. Your carrier's operating costs are too high.

The less it costs your carrier to operate, the more you can get for your coverage dollar, and we are, by far, the most cost-efficient carrier in the state.

Out of each dollar we take in, we spend less than 6¢ to cover all our expenses. The rest is used to benefit our subscribers.

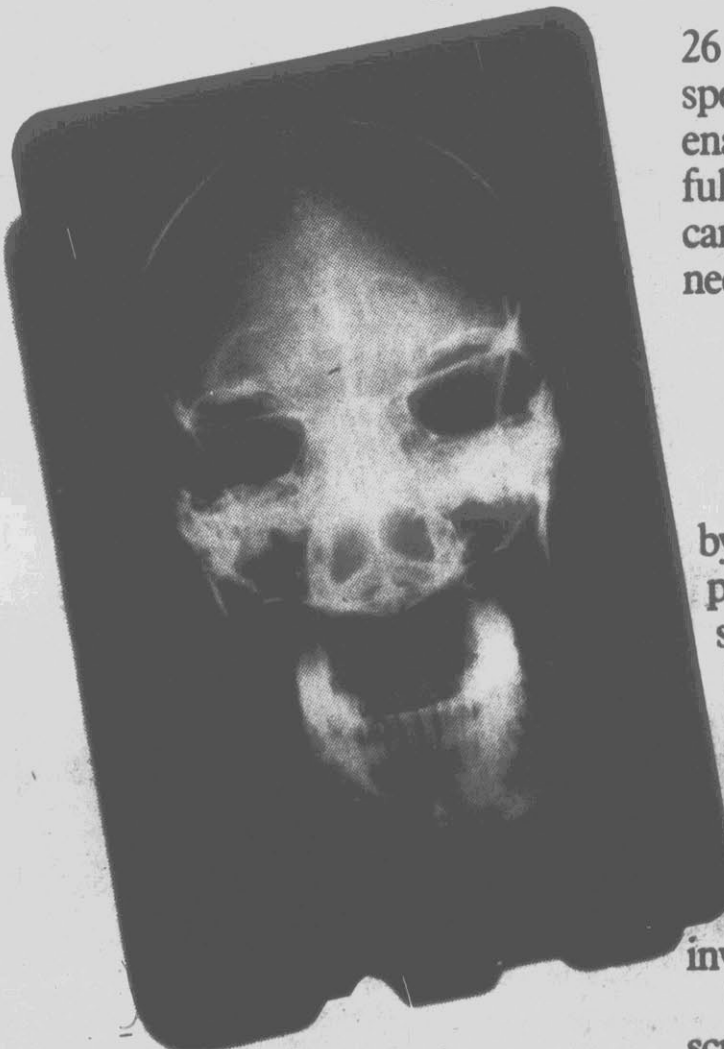

And yet year by year our services improve, becoming faster, more efficient and more sophisticated.

To assess their value to you, just phone our nearest service office. Or write to Cost Containment, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina, Box 2291, Durham, NC 27702.

The better you understand health coverage the more you'll prefer ours.

By completing Xray and lab tests on an outpatient basis, a surgical patient can eliminate the cost of at least one night's stay in the hospital.

Farm Scene

By PHILLIP ROWAN
Agricultural Extension Agent

The March United States Department of Agriculture Hogs and Pigs Report gives an indication that favorable hog prices should be coming late in summer. Swine producers certainly look forward to a period of higher prices, I'm sure.

Unfortunately, hog prices are not always at a profitable stage. Swine producers must work to reach an optimum level of efficiency so that they can realize the best return possible on their investment at all times.

Efficiency in a hog operation today requires not only good management and good feed efficiency but maximum use of facilities. The vice president of a large feed manufacturer recently stated in a magazine that "average total litter weight gain per sow per day of age is the criteria that best describes what needs to be achieved in a swine production unit."

In other words, more pigs weaned per sow that grow at a faster rate will better your chances for maximum profit. It would also help to maximize the use of facilities and lower fixed profits.

Fixed costs in operating a farrowing house are relatively high when compared to variable costs. The same fixed costs (building and maintenance costs) per sow exist whether all sows in a group farrow or 50 percent of them farrow. Also, the same heating bill, cleaning costs and feed bill for a sow would exist whether she weaned 12 pigs or five pigs. This point illustrates that good management is necessary for efficient pork production and efficient use of facilities.

To remain competitive in swine production and to maximize efficiency, swine producers must reduce feed costs, hold the line on fixed costs, increase production through management, control diseases and parasites, develop a marketing plan and maintain a good rapport with everyone involved in the swine business including laborers, nutritionists, veterinarians, extension personnel and financial consultants.

Funeral Directors Must Detail Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's funeral directors are required to offer detailed cost statements starting today, a service they say they are now ready to provide despite nearly a dozen years of debate over the idea.

Already mandatory in many states, the itemized statements are now required nationwide under a Federal Trade Commission regulation.

That rule also calls on funeral directors to provide cost information to consumers via telephone. Other provisions, prohibiting misleading statements about embalming and casket requirements, took effect in January.

"With the potential now for comparison shopping for funeral services, all consumers are bound to benefit with fairer prices," Jack Gillis, public relations director of the Consumer Federation of America, said of the new regulation.

A funeral is "unquestionably one of the most difficult purchases that a consumer will make, and this rule is a beginning in terms of making that purchase easier," Gillis said.

Stemming from an investigation of funeral practices launched in 1972, the rule was finally approved by the commission in 1982, but implementation was delayed by congressional opposition and a suit filed by the National Funeral Directors Association.

The suit was dropped in March, however, and association president Morris Nilsen now says his 14,000 members across the nation are ready to comply.

At least, he added, "we hope that they're ready, we've done everything we can from the national level to train them."

Restrictions Set For Home Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's leading mortgage institution is imposing restrictions on adjustable-rate mortgages, which offer initially low interest rates but often end up costing much more than purchasers can afford.

Officials of the Federal National Mortgage Association, which buys large pools of home mortgages and sells them to investors, said last week the quasi-government corporation was devising restrictions on changing the terms of adjustable home mortgages.

About 60 percent of all new mortgages for home buyers have rates that can be adjusted periodically, usually once a year. Each month the percentage of adjustable-rate mortgages increases. Real-estate agents and lenders have credited the relatively new type of loan for the recent sharp increase in home sales.

Adjustable-rate mortgages usually have lower rates than fixed-rate mortgages because the borrower is taking some of the risk of fluctuations in interest rates.

Many lenders are still carrying home loans yielding single-digit interest rates at a time when they must borrow money at double-digit rates.

Citing the "incredible complexity" of selecting a home loan, spokesman Doug Bibby, said Friday that the corporation, nicknamed Fannie Mae, is taking steps to eliminate abuses by lenders that officials contend are giving adjustable mortgages a bad name.

Bibby said that without safeguards, the interest on an adjustable loan with a beginning rate as low as 5 percent could jump so fast that the monthly payment could triple or quadruple. In the housing industry, this phenomenon is called "payment shock."

"We believe in the adjustable-rate mortgage and we want it to flourish. We just want to make sure that the right kind of safeguards are in it," he said.

The very low initial rates have been offered mainly in Texas, California and the Southeast with little or no limit on how high interest rates or payments could go.

For one thing, FNMA has stopped buying deep-discounted adjustable-rate mortgages with artificially-low "teaser" rates more than 2.5 percent below Treasury bill market rates.

National Crime Costs Billions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price tag for personal and household crime in the United States in 1981 was $10.9 billion, the Justice Department estimates.

Nearly 75 percent of the cost, or $8.1 billion, arose from the household crimes of burglary, motor vehicle theft and household larceny, the department's Bureau of Justice Statistics said Sunday.

The rest of the total came from the personal crimes of rape, robbery, assault and personal larceny.

There was a median loss of $80 in violent crimes and $40 in personal thefts, the bureau said in a report compiled from its National Crime Survey in which 132,000 Americans are interviewed every six months.

Government experts say the survey is the best crime data available to them because it reflects not only crimes reported to the police but ones in which those interviewed said they did not contact authorities.

Steven R. Schlesinger, bureau director, said in a statement that the department did "not wish to minimize or overshadow victims' pain, suffering or emotional trauma, which cannot be calculated in monetary terms."

"The total cost of crime to society is extremely difficult to measure and, in all likelihood, can never be fully determined," he said.

Schlesinger said there was no way to estimate the cost of fear of crime or to assess indirect costs in causing higher insurance rates, higher prices, increased security costs and the costs of police, courts, prisons and probation officials.

The total loss for 1981 was 96 percent higher than the comparable figure for 1975, the bureau noted. It also said that difference was mitigated by a 69 percent increase in consumer prices.

After adjusting for inflation, though, the bureau said there were no "meaningful differences" between the cost figure for 1981 and that of the previous year.

Other findings:

— More than 93 percent of the loss, $10.2 billion, occurred as a result of crimes in which there was no contact between the victim and offender.

— Medical costs contributed only 2 percent, $223 million, of the total loss, and the median medical expense for violent crime victims was $120.

— Property damage accounted for $601 million, or 6 percent, of the total loss.

— The largest total economic loss resulted from household burglary, $4.1 billion, followed by motor vehicle theft, $2.8 billion, personal larceny without contact, $2.1 billion and robbery, the most expensive violent crime, $421 million.

— The median economic loss to black victims of personal crime was $58, compared with $43 for whites. Black heads of households had a median loss of $90 for household crimes, compared with $60 for whites.

— For men who were victims of personal larceny without contact, the median loss was $50, compared with $36 for women.

— Heads of households age 65 or older had the lowest median loss from household crimes, $40, of any age group.

Reagan Endorses Bankruptcy Bill

ABOARD AIR FORCE ONE (AP) — President Reagan has signed legislation to keep federal bankruptcy courts in operation through May 25, deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes says.

Speakes said Sunday that Reagan signed the measure shortly after boarding Air Force One for a flight from Peking to Shanghai on his China trip.

Without the measure, which was passed by the House 322-13 on Thursday, the bankruptcy courts would have closed down May 25.

The manner of operation of the bankruptcy courts was ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court in a 1982 decision. Since then, they have been operating on temporary authority granted by the governing body of federal judges.

Employers Gain Right To Inquire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under certain circumstances, managers may interrogate employees about their union organizing activities without fear of violating labor law, the National Labor Relations Board says.

The 3-1 ruling, in which the lone Democratic member of the federal board dissented, seems sure to defuse charges by union leaders that the NLRB is pursuing pro-business and anti-labor policies.

The ruling overturned a principle that an earlier board dominated by Democrats had established in 1980: that an employer's quizzing of employees about union activities or sympathies represented an inherent violation of law guaranteeing workers the right to organize unions without fear of coercion or intimidation.

The effect of that 1980 board decision was to raise the potential for violations of law for any employer who asked a worker about union organizing activities.

AFL-CIO officials, attending a regional conference of federation leaders in Texas, could not immediately be reached for comment on the latest board decision, reached last Wednesday and released publicly over the weekend.

The majority's decision reversed a March 1983 ruling by NLRB Administrative Law Judge James S. Jensen involving a complaint brought by the Hotel and Restaurant Employees International Union against Rossmore House, a private residential retirement home in Los Angeles.

The union alleged that managers of the home violated the act by questioning Warren Harvey, an employee who was trying to organize a union among the home's workers. The company acknowledged that it asked Harvey about his activities but contended that its managers made no coercive statements and said nothing that could be construed as threatening.

The board majority held that the law had not been inherently violated. In so doing, it also overturned a principle established in a 1960 case — on which Judge Jensen based his 1983 decision.

The board's majority said the 1980 NLRB ruling "improperly established a per se rule that completely disregarded the circumstances surrounding an alleged interrogation and ignored the reality of the workplace."

The majority said that in considering such cases in the future, it wants to determine "whether under all of the circumstances, the interrogation reasonably tends to restrain, coerce or interfere with the rights guaranteed by the Act."

In his dissent, Don A. Zimmerman, the lone Democrat on the four-member board, said the board's majority decision "... ignores the reality that employers sometimes use subtle coercion during an organizing campaign and fails to recognize that even open union adherents may be intimidated by such coercion."

Rose Plans Area Meet

From 9:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Friday, a special program will be held at Rose High School in conjunction with math and science programs. Rose High is one of eight North Carolina high schools chosen by the N.C. Department of Public Instruction as a model school for a pilot math and science program during the current school year.

Programs in the eight schools are being funded with special funds from a committee directed by Dr. Jerome Melton, former deputy state superintendent of schools.

Bland Worley is chairman of the committee, and the membership includes representatives from businesses and industries throughout the state.

The meeting at Rose is the last of four similar meetings for the math and science model schools. Earlier meetings were held at E.A. Laney High School in New Hanover County; at East Rowan High School in Rowan County, and at Asheville High School.

The agenda for the program at Rose will open with an orientation session with principals, teachers and local school officials to be present. The touring period begins at 10 a.m. with visitors to be escorted to one math and one science class. Visitors will be led by students. At 11 a.m., the total visiting group will meet with students in the media center. Lunch at 11:45 a.m. will feature brief remarks by a member of the Business Committee for math/science education.

This week is National Week of the Ocean 1984. It is intended to call attention to the influence of the oceans on our lives, and the bountiful resources they contain. The Pacific Ocean fills nearly a complete hemisphere of the Earth's surface. If the oceans were divided up among everyone on Earth, each man, woman, and child would get 110 billion gallons. The oceans contain enough salt to cover the Earth with a layer 1 1/2 miles deep.

CALORIES AND CAVITIES

A recent study has shown that Americans are consuming just as much sugar today as they were 10 years ago and even more corn sweeteners, a common ingredient of packaged foods.

In fact, each year Americans consume the average person's weight in table sugars and corn sweeteners, about 129 pounds worth. These are called "empty calories" because they contain essentially no nutrients.

What is all this sugar doing to their dental health? The same thing it did to the Dutch 300 years ago. Many of the paintings of Dutch painter Rembrandt show people with decayed or missing teeth, or no teeth at all. This was in the 17th century when the Dutch were bringing back large quantities of sugar from the New World. By 1661 Amsterdam had 60 sugar refineries and had become the "carbohydrate capital" of Europe. Before then, cavities and missing teeth were much less common and so was the use of sugar.

Good dental care today, with regular checkups, can help prevent loss of teeth. It also calls for moderation in sugar intake to help keep cavities to a minimum.

Heat Thawing River Ice Jam

DETROIT (AP) — A weekend of summer-like temperatures helped thaw thick ice blockades on the St. Clair River, promising an end to a costly jam that crippled Great Lakes shipping for three weeks, a Coast Guard spokesman said today.

The mouth of the 40-mile waterway remained congested with a little more than a mile of ice, said Petty Officer Lloyd Nelson.

"Right now the majority of the river is clear," he said. "Except for the extreme southern end, the ice is flushing itself out."

The river links Lakes Huron and St. Clair, and is part of the waterway connecting Lake Erie and Lake Huron.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today as traders assessed new evidence that the economy is slowing.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose .84 to 1,168.91 in the first half hour.

But losers held a narrow lead over gainers in the early tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Before the opening, the government reported that the index of leading economic indicators fell 1.1 percent in March. It was the first drop in the index, which is designed to detect future economic trends, since August 1982.

The Commerce Department also said sales of new single-family houses dropped 4.9 percent, after adjustment for seasonal factors, in the same month.

Analysts said neither figure came as a great surprise to investors. Many observers have said that adverse weather in March has helped make it difficult to evaluate the significance of the weakness in economic data for the month.

Among today's early volume leaders, Humana rose 1/4 to 27 1/2, Merrill Lynch gained 1/4 to 25 1/2, and UAL was unchanged at 34 1/2.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 6.18 to 1,169.07, finishing the week with a 10.99-point gain.

Losers slightly outnumbered gainers on the NYSE.

Big Board volume slowed to 88.53 million shares from 98.00 million in the previous session.

The NYSE composite index fell 0.15 to 91.94. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose 0.44 to 211.11.

State Jobless Rate Drops

RALEIGH — North Carolina's March unemployment rate showed another steady decrease from the previous month, according to Glenn Jernigan, chairman of the North Carolina Employment Security Commission.

The March statewide total unemployment rate dropped to 7.3 percent from February's 7.6 percent. The March rate represents 214,700 unemployed North Carolinians compared to 319,700 unemployed in March of 1983.

North Carolina's unadjusted March rate of 7.3 remains significantly below the national adjusted rate of 8.1 percent (9,057,000 unemployed) for March 1984.

"The March decline shows that North Carolina is approaching the seasonal work time, in which unemployment rates historically drop with a positive outlook," Jernigan said.

BENEFITS DENIED?
 Have you been denied benefits under Social Security's disability benefits programs? Do not be discouraged. That happens to most people who apply the first time.

ADDIE'S ADVICE
 Have you asked for reconsideration of your disability claim and been turned down a second time? Again, don't be discouraged or give up. That's the way the disability system works today.

Take your case one step further and go before a Social Security Administrative Law Judge for a hearing with a qualified representative to present your case. Then the chances of your winning benefits are somewhere between 70% and 80%. The Judge will see you and hear your personal description of your physical or mental illness, and your representative will present your case as it applies to the complex rules of the Social Security Act.

If you have a hearing requested or scheduled before an Administrative Law Judge, call now for an immediate conference. There is no fee for an initial conference to discuss your eligibility for disability.

ECU, Tigers Sign Pact

East Carolina University and Auburn have agreed to a two-year football series beginning with the 1985 season according to Dr. Ken Karr, director of athletics.

The games will be played in 1985 and 1986 at Auburn's Jordan-Hare Stadium.

"This is just a continuation of our goal to schedule the best teams we possibly can," Karr said. "I think it will be a positive thing for both East Carolina and Auburn, and I have no doubt the games will be exciting ones."

The Tigers ended 1983 with an 11-1 record after capturing the Southeastern and Sugar Bowl titles. Auburn will represent only the second SEC opponent East Carolina has ever faced, as the Pirates narrowly lost to the University of Florida at Gainesville in 1983.

"I think it is another point of progress for us," ECU head Coach Ed Emory said. "It shows we are going to schedule the top teams in the country. It should be an exciting thing to play the top team in the Southeastern Conference."

The Auburn series will also match the Pirates with former ECU head coach Pat Dye, who coached here from 1974 through 1979 before leaving for the University of Wyoming before accepting the Auburn post.

"It is a positive thing for our program that we are going after the best schedule in the country," Emory said. "Most schools are cutting back these days to try and guarantee themselves seven or eight wins a year."

The addition of Auburn will give the Pirates a 1985 schedule that will include the two teams meeting in the 1984 Kick-Off Classic in East Rutherford, N.J. — Auburn and defending national champion University of Miami. The 1985 season will also have ECU hosting Tulsa and South Carolina at Ficklen Stadium along with the Hurricanes.

The Pirates' 1984 schedule includes a September 1 opener at Florida State, along with road games against Pittsburgh, South Carolina and Tulsa.

Jordan Leads Invaders' Win

By The Associated Press

The Oakland Invaders have finally stopped retreating, thanks to a little-used running back named Eric Jordan.

The rookie from Purdue carried the ball 13 times for 186 yards and two touchdowns, including an 80-yard dash on Oakland's first play from scrimmage, as the Invaders beat Chicago 17-13 Sunday for their first victory of the season after nine losses.

"I just wanted to play and show what I could do," said Jordan, who had carried only 17 times for 103 yards in Oakland's first nine games. "Being a rookie, you just have to wait. You can't expect to start right off the bat."

Jordan, who spearheaded an Invaders running attack that netted a single-game USFL record of 300 yards, doesn't have to worry anymore about getting some playing time.

"I think it's kind of hard, with 186 yards, to keep him off the field," interim head coach Chuck Hutchison said.

Stallions 31, Gold 14

Joe Cribbs ran for 110 yards to become the first 1,000-yard rusher in the USFL this season and he also caught a 50-yard scoring pass from Cliff Stoudt as Birmingham won at Denver for its ninth straight victory. The Stallions are now 9-1 and lead

New Orleans by two games in the Southern Division, while the Gold, 7-3, still lead the Pacific Division by three games.

The Stallions took a 14-0 lead on two 2-yard scoring runs by fullback Leon Perry in the first quarter. They widened the margin to 24-7 in the fourth period when Cribbs caught a pass at the Denver 30 and outran the secondary to the end zone.

Craig Penrose threw two touchdown passes to account for Denver's points.

Generals 31, Panthers 21

Quarterback Brian Sipe ran for a touchdown and passed for another in a 17-point second quarter for New Jersey against visiting Michigan. The Generals victory gave them an 8-2 record and moved them one game behind division leader Philadelphia. The defending USFL champion Panthers are 6-4 after their fourth straight loss.

Sipe, who completed 13 of 18 passes, scored on a 1-yard bootleg run and lofted a 2-yard touchdown pass to tight end Jeff Spek to help New Jersey take a 24-14 halftime lead.

With a Giants Stadium crowd of 50,908, the Generals outdrew both New York baseball teams on the sunny spring day. The Yankees played the Milwaukee Brewers before 50,319 people and the Mets attracted 28,562 for a game with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Saturday Games

Nick Mike-Mayer's 42-yard field goal broke a 14-14 tie and Mike Ulmer scored on a 60-yard punt return as the San Antonio Gunslingers held on to beat the Arizona Wranglers. The expansion Gunslingers, now 3-7, sealed the victory by blocking a 32-yard field goal attempt by Wrangler place-kicker Frank Corral with 58 seconds remaining.

John Reeves passed for 172 yards and three touchdowns to lead the Tampa Bay Bandits to their fourth straight victory, while the Washington Federals fell to 1-9.

Overton Sets New Mark

TAMPA, Fla. — Kristi Overton set a new pending national record of 6,560 in the girls division at the McCormick International Cup, breaking the old record of 6,440.

Overton was competing in the Open Women's Division and finished third against a field of international skiers. Invitations to the McCormick International Cup are issued to the top 10 skiers in each event.

Overton was ranked 10th among the women at the close of the 1983 season, and held the junior girls record in slalom, tricks and jump.

Burke Wins City Title

Kevin Burke outlasted Don Rutledge 5-7, 6-3, 6-4 to win the men's open division title of the City of Greenville Tennis Championships completed Sunday at the River Birch Tennis Center.

Alan Farfour and Beau Young defended their title in the doubles with a 6-4, 6-3 victory over Burke and Henry Hostetler.

Bobby Short defeated Tom Sayetta 4-6, 6-4, 6-2 in the men's 35-over championship, while Esther Warren edged Robin Corbett 40-37 in a round robin tournament for the women.

Bird Rolls As Celts Top Knicks

By The Associated Press

Larry Bird did everything right for the Boston Celtics except take himself out of the game.

Bird had 23 points, 12 assists, nine rebounds, three steals and two blocked shots as the Celtics opened their best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series against the New York Knicks with an easy 110-92 victory Sunday.

But he was still in the game with less than four minutes left and Boston leading by 18 when he aggravated an ankle injury he sustained last week against Washington.

"Larry shouldn't have been in there at the end," Boston Coach K.C. Jones said. "I made a boo-boo. It could be very costly."

But after soaking his ankle in ice for more than an hour after the game, Bird said it wasn't Jones' fault that he didn't come out of the game.

"K.C. asked me if I wanted to come out two or three times," Bird said, but I wanted to stay in. I thought the more I played, the stronger it'd get. It's easy to say after the game's over that I shouldn't have been playing. But during the game, you want to play."

Dr. Thomas Silva, the Celtics' team physician, said he expected Bird would play in Wednesday's second game, also in Boston.

The Celtics used a new offense designed to break New York's pressure defense and also controlled the offensive prowess of Knicks forward Bernard King.

Six-foot-10 Kevin McHale, who led Boston in scoring with 25 points, guarded the 6-7 King in the second period and held him to six points. King finished with 26 points, his regular-season average, but 16.6 below his norm of 42.6 in five playoff games against Detroit, which included four straight outings over the 40 mark.

On offense, McHale said, "We have a new system. We have spots on the floor designed for everybody to go to."

Nets 106, Bucks 100

New Jersey, which captured three straight games in Philadelphia to oust the defending champion 76ers from the playoffs, won at Milwaukee behind Darryl Dawkins' 32 points.

The Nets went ahead for good at 70-69 — their first lead since 6-4 — on a basket by Otis Birdsong with 1:40 left in the third period. An 11-2 spurt opened an 88-77 New Jersey margin with 7:29 remaining, and Dawkins had two three-point plays in the final 90 seconds to defuse any hope of a Bucks comeback.

Otis Birdsong scored 18 points and Buck Williams added 15 points and 17 rebounds. Marques Johnson had 23 points and Junior Bridgeman 20

Detroit Rolls Over Tribe, Yanks Topple Brewers

By The Associated Press
Only five days earlier, Detroit Tigers right-hander Dan Petry had been forced to take himself out of a game against Minnesota with a stiff elbow.

He made quite a recovery Sunday. Petry came within four outs of joining teammate Jack Morris as a no-hit pitcher this season, hurling the Tigers to a 6-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians. Morris no-hit the Chicago White Sox on April 7.

Yankees 6, Brewers 5
New York snapped a four-game losing streak with four runs in the bottom of the 13th inning — the final two coming on a two-out single by Tim Lincecum. Milwaukee had taken a 5-2 lead with three runs in the top of the inning.

The first of the Yankees' winning runs scored on singles by Steve Kemp, Don Baylor and Roy Smalley. A walk loaded the bases and brought on reliever Tom Tellmann, who promptly walked in another run, making it 5-4. Folli then singled off Tellmann to drive in the tying and winning runs.

Milwaukee scored in the top of the inning on RBI singles by Randy Ready and Ben Oglivie and a run-scoring, two-base error by Smalley at third. Jay Howell, who faced one batter in the top of the 13th, was the winner.

Orioles 3, Rangers 2
Baltimore won its fourth in a row and handed Texas its sixth straight loss with a pair of runs in the sixth inning. Cal Ripken Jr. tripled home the tying run, then scored the winner when Eddie Murray singled.

Ripken, who has hit in 10 straight games, tripled following Jim Dwyer's double. Wayne Gross homered for the Orioles. Rangers right-hander Dave Stewart now has given up seven homers in 28 2-3 innings, losing his sixth game in six decisions. Storm Davis, 1-0, worked into the ninth, scattering six hits.

White Sox 6, Red Sox 4
Ron Kittle's two-homer, five-RBI performance allowed the White Sox to break a five-game losing streak. Kittle hit a two-run homer just inside the foul pole and onto the roof at Comiskey Park to cap Chicago's three-run first inning. His second homer, into the upper deck, drove in three runs. Kittle now has six homers.

Mariners 9, Angels 6
Barry Bonnell hit a three-run homer in the 10th inning to provide the winning runs for Seattle, which had blown a 6-1 lead in the ninth inning.

California scored five runs in the bottom of the ninth to tie the score 6-6, sending 11 men to the plate against five Seattle pitchers. Brian Downing and Gary Pettis drove in two runs each, and Rod Carew's hit-and-run single scored Pettis from first with the tying run.

Mariners right-hander Mike Moore had taken a three-hitter into the ninth, but the victory finally fell to Roy Thomas, 2-0, who pitched the final 1 1-3 innings.

Twins 5-0, A's 2-3
Frank Viola pitched eight innings to win the opener for Minnesota with some offensive support from Houston Jimenez and Gary Gaetti, who each had three hits.

Viola, 1-3, scattered eight hits over eight innings and got one inning of relief help from Ron Davis, who earned his third save. The Twins banged out 13 hits off Oakland starter Lary Sorenson and reliever Keith Atherton. Davey Lopes homered for Oakland.

Chris Codiroli blanked the Twins with three hits over five innings, and relievers Tom Burgmeier and Bill Caudill completed a seven-hitter. Codiroli had to leave the game with a split fingernail. Dwayne Murphy doubled home two of Oakland's runs in the third inning.

Pena Matches Five-Hit Win

By The Associated Press
Alejandro Pena seems to have the San Diego Padres' number this year ... and so far that number has been zero.

For the second time in 11 days, Pena threw a five-hit shutout against San Diego as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Padres 6-0 Sunday and climbed back into first place in their see-saw battle for the National League West lead.

"I'm glad to see that guy get out of town," said San Diego starter Ed Whitson, who was on the losing side of each of Pena's shutout wins over the Padres. "He's got to be doing something right. He reminds me of Fernando (Valenzuela) when he first broke in."

Pena, 4-1, was rarely in trouble, striking out six and walking none. "I felt I had pretty good stuff today," Pena said. "My slider and changeup were working and I had a good fastball."

In other NL action, Chicago edged Pittsburgh 2-1; New York whipped Philadelphia 6-2; Montreal turned back St. Louis 6-2; Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from San Francisco 8-1 and 7-3 and Houston outscored Atlanta 8-5.

Pena's only problem came in the fourth inning when San Diego's Tony Gwynn opened with a double and moved to third on Graig Nettles' grounder. But Pena got off the hook by getting Steve Garvey to line to second and Terry Kennedy to ground out to second. The Dodgers scored the only run they needed in the top of the second inning when Mike Marshall hit a home run off Whitson, 2-2. The Dodgers added a run in the fourth when Rick Monday came home on a passed ball, then scored four more in the ninth on a bases-loaded walk to Steve Sax and a three-base error by Carmelo Martinez in left field on Terry Whitfield's fly ball with the bases loaded.

Cubs 2, Pirates 1
Steve Trout and two relievers combined on a five-hitter and Gary Matthews drove in both Chicago runs as the Cubs edged Pittsburgh.

Trout, 3-1, worked the first six innings before giving way to Tim Stoddard after allowing consecutive seventh-inning singles to Jason Thompson and Tony Pena. Johnny Ray's sacrifice fly scored Thompson, but that was the only damage.

Lee Smith came on in the ninth with a man on first and nobody out, and recorded his fifth save.

The Cubs took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Matthews' RBI groundout and made it 2-0 in the fourth on Matthews' RBI single off JohnCandelaria, 3-2.

"Trout threw ground balls all day," Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner said. "We're waiting for our bats to get going, but we've sure been seeing some good pitching ... some great pitching."

Mets 6, Phillies 2
Darryl Strawberry drilled a single and double and Keith Hernandez homered to pace New York over Philadelphia.

Strawberry, who received his 1983 Rookie of the Year Award before the game while the Shea Stadium fans celebrated with strawberry sundaes, scored one run after his double and set up another when he walked.

Walt Terrell, 3-1, scattered nine hits over the first six innings and gained credit for the victory. Ex-Met Jerry Koosman, 1-4, making his first appearance against his former club, took the loss.

"It was an exciting day for me," said Strawberry. "It was important for me to have a good day. I wanted to do well, play well. When somebody does something nice to you, you should return the favor."

Expos 6, Cardinals 2
Charlie Lea and Gary Lucas teamed on a six-hitter and Pete Rose drove in a run and scored another to help Montreal beat St. Louis and snap a three-game losing streak.

Lea, 4-1, pitched shutout ball through seven innings before leaving in the eighth with no outs and the bases loaded. Lucas walked Lonnie Smith to force in one run and another scored on David Green's double-play grounder. The Expos turned three other twin-kills.

"We swept the Cardinals in St. Louis last weekend, and we didn't want them to do the same thing to us this weekend," said Lea. "For seven innings, I thought that was the best I've pitched this year."

Reds 8-7, Giants 1-3
Duane Walker hit a home run and a pair of RBI singles and Tom Foley knocked in four runs to pace Cincinnati to a doubleheader sweep of San Francisco. The losses stretched the Giants' streak to seven games, the club's most consecutive defeats since they dropped eight straight in 1979.

Foley drove in three runs in the first game with a triple, a sacrifice fly and his first major league home run. He also tripled home a run in the nightcap to help the Reds sweep the four-game series.

In the first game, Bruce Berenyi scattered five hits over 6 1-3 innings for his first victory in four decisions. Bob Owcinko, 1-0, a last-minute replacement for the injured Mario Soto, scattered five hits over seven innings in the second game.

Astros 8, Braves 5
Craig Reynolds drove in two runs with a single and sacrifice fly and Mike Scott won his first game of the season as Houston beat Atlanta.

Scott, 1-1, allowed four hits over the first 6 2-3 innings while helping the Astros snap a five-game losing streak. Dave Smith and Frank DiPino finished up the pitching chores for Houston.

The Braves collected a total of 10 hits off the three Houston pitchers, including a solo home run and a two-run single by Dale Murphy.

Bodine Cruises Through 500

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Geoff Bodine and Harry Hyde sat side by side, each basking in the glow of victory.

Bodine had just driven 500 tough laps at Martinsville Speedway and come up with his first Grand National stock car triumph in Sunday's Sovran Bank 500.

Hyde, the 59-year-old crew chief on the new All-Star Racing team of Rick Hendrick, was enjoying the aftermath of his first Grand National triumph since the 1977 season-finale at Ontario, Calif., when Neil Bonnett drove for him.

"He was the reason I jumped on a new team," explained the glowing Bodine, nodding toward Hyde. "He's the only reason I did. After all, there's usually nothing good about being on a new team. It takes time to put something like this together."

But everything came together Sunday on the slick .526-mile Martinsville oval.

The 35-year-old Bodine, a New York native now living in Pleasant Garden, N.C., stayed near the lead through the race and took the lead 48 laps from the end.

With his Chevrolet Monte Carlo SS, sponsored by Northwestern Security Life, running flawlessly, he pulled away from second-place finisher Ron Bouchard's Buick Regal and finished 4.61-seconds ahead.

Darrell Waltrip was a distant third in another Chevrolet, followed by defending Winston Cup champion Bobby Allison in a Buick. Neil Bonnett, Waltrip's teammate, was fifth, a lap behind.

Bodine earned $29,880 from the total purse of $250,300, and also put his new team in the ninth and last spot on NASCAR's lucrative Winner's Circle program. That program provides appearance money for each race to the winners who are running the entire 30-race schedule.

It's going to be worth $90,400 to All-Star Racing through the rest of 1984.

"That means $90,000 worth of tires, parts and cars that we're gonna buy," Bodine said. "It's great, but Rick Hendrick has put probably eight times that into the team already. He's a former boat racer and he's very determined."

"Harry and I both told him before the season started that you just don't come in here and start winning with the kind of competition we have. But he just committed himself to us."

Hyde, who was crew chief for the late Bobby Isaac when he won the national championship in 1970, compared Bodine's driving style to Isaac's and added, "winning like this at my age is awful satisfying. He (Bodine) drove the heck out of it."

Bodine averaged 73.264 mph in the fender-banging race slowed by 11 caution flags. There were several minor accidents, but no injuries were reported.

Twenty-three of the 31 starters were running at the end, every one of them showing the effects of the close, hard racing. Even the winner had a couple of close calls.

"One time, (Dave) Marcis banged Allison and almost spun him out right in front of me, and another time I had to really get on the brakes to keep from getting into (Richard) Petty after he spun.

"But that's the way it is in a race like this. We've got a little body work to do now, but, before the race, Harry said, 'Don't worry about those fenders. Just make sure you have four wheels left and rolling at the end.'"

"Everybody runs hard into the corners here, and you can't help making some contact. And this race is so long, you need to save your brakes, and you never know when you're going to get a caution."

Among the drivers who ran into problems Sunday were Ricky Rudd, who led 121 laps and was still on top when the exhaust system on his battered car fell apart. The car later went out with engine problems.

And Terry Labonte, who had come into the race tied for the Winston Cup point lead with Waltrip, tore up the right-front wheel on his car in a crash and wound up finishing 24th, 75 laps off the pace.

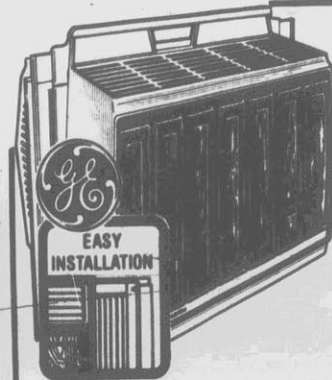

Bodine's first Grand National victory came in his 69th start. And he became the third different driver in four years to gain his initial Grand National triumph in this race. Morgan Shepherd did it in 1981 and Harry Gant in 1982.

However, it was actually's the 10th victory for Bodine on this track.

'Adam' Repeat Will Have New Roll Call

By TOM JORY
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television seldom motivates the audience to do anything.

"The Day After," ABC's powerful drama about nuclear holocaust, provoked extraordinary debate before it was shown, for instance, but reaction to the broadcast itself appears to have been much less intense.

In that context, "Adam," on NBC last Oct. 10, was an unusual television program.

The made-for-TV movie, based on the true-life story of Adam Walsh, who was abducted July 27, 1981, and later murdered, ended with a roll call of 55 missing children.

The dramatic display included photographs of the youngsters as well as a toll-free telephone number for people who might have information on them. Since then, a dozen have been recovered and returned to their homes.

Beyond that, "Adam" was at least partially responsible for legislation now pending in Congress to create a national clearing house for reports on missing children.

"What 'Adam' did," said Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., a co-sponsor of the bill with Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Fla., "was to tell legislators who might not have been aware of the problem that they should be, and should care."

NBC will broadcast "Adam" a second time tonight and conclude the two-hour program with another roster of missing children, including 41 who were not part of the original TV search.

That the movie is being run twice in the same TV year (though the networks' first-run season ended earlier this month) is, in itself, unusual, and at least partially the result of the demonstrable impact of the film. NBC's Research Department estimated an audience of 22.6 million for "Adam," and that certainly figured in the decision to repeat the movie.

Linda Otto, who produced "Adam," was at the offices of Child Find, a national search organization, the night of the October broadcast. "The minute the phone number went off the screen, it was like somebody said, 'Cue the phones.' Ten lines lit up at once," she said.

She said the second TV search had been adjusted to answer an objection from some people active in the search for runaway or kidnapped children.

"The only criticism of the first roll call," said Ms. Otto, "was that we did not have enough ethnic children. We've worked very hard for a racial balance this time."

She said of the 58 children in the most recent selection, 19 are either black or Hispanic, 25 are boys and 33 girls.

"I have hundreds, maybe thousands of pictures, and it's a nightmare trying to choose the ones to show," Ms. Otto said.

Involvement in the cause was not limited to those with children. Daniel J. Travanti, who plays Capt. Frank Furillo in NBC's "Hill Street Blues," portrayed John Walsh, Adam's father, in the movie.

"It's important to realize," Travanti said, "that we're responsible for all the children, all of the time, even those of us who don't have kids of our own."

"The big surprise to me," he said, "was not that the problem was so immense, but that I didn't know about it."

John Walsh echoes that observation: "Two and a half years ago, before Adam was abducted, I didn't know the extent of the problem. And I thought I was informed."

Walsh and his wife, Reve, have been active in the campaign for legislation to assist in the search for missing children, and he said the movie had given their effort an important boost.

"Before, lots of congressmen wouldn't listen to us. They looked on us as the bereaved, fanatical parents. All that has changed."

'Bulletin' Movie Puzzles Viewers

By The Associated Press
The rerun of "Special Bulletin," a realistic made-for-TV movie about terrorists exploding an atomic bomb in South Carolina, prompted "a ton" of calls to stations nationwide from people wanting to know "if it was real," broadcasters said.

"People weren't scared, they were more confused," said Stan Weinstock, a news writer for KNBC-TV in Los Angeles. NBC broadcast the movie Sunday night.

KNBC received "a couple of dozen" calls, Weinstock said. "They didn't think it was real. They were just calling up to check."

"We have had a ton of calls," said Donald Kerr, a security guard who also operates the switchboard at WDIV, NBC's Detroit affiliate. "They wanted to know if it was real. We just reassured them that it was a fiction story."

One caller to The Associated Press in Newark, N.J., recounted how she had been watching a movie that had just started on NBC when it was interrupted with an emergency broadcast. She went on to describe how there were terrorists near Charleston, S.C., and the newscasters were "too broken up" when "the bomb went off" to continue their report.

She was watching "Special Bulletin."

"I'm so glad it's just a movie," said the woman, when reassured. She hung up without giving her name.

In New York, the NBC network switchboard reported receiving dozens of calls, mostly from people wanting to know if the program was "a movie or really happening," said a switchboard operator.

The operator added that although warnings were given at commercial breaks, some callers complained that there should have been more warnings during the program.

WMAQ-TV in Chicago received 100 phone calls inquiring if the movie was genuine. WMAQ reported receiving 600-700 calls when the film was first broadcast in 1983.

Chicago police also received calls from worried viewers Sunday.

"I thought the whole thing was happening — the terrorist, the hostages, the nuclear bomb, everything," said Debra Pough, 24, of Chicago.

"I still can't believe it was a movie. It was really frightening," she said.

Eddie Murphy Turns To Song

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Eddie Murphy, one of the hottest TV and movie performers of the last few years, is branching out into a new field — popular music.

Last week, Murphy, 23, saw his first pop single, "Party All the Time," issued by CBS Records.

"I'm wondering how the public is going to take this," Murphy said. "I think they're either going to love the fact that I'm singing or they'll hate it."

On the record, produced and written by Murphy friend Rick James, Murphy sings in a high tenor suggesting the influence of singer Al Green. If the single sells, he said, he plans to record an album and integrate his singing and comic talents in a stage show.

The wide and flabby nose of a male proboscis monkey may grow so long that in old age it hangs down over his mouth and may have to be pushed aside for eating. Found only on the island of Borneo, this monkey is able to use his extra-long nose to magnify his calls both for a mate and for territorial defense.

Previn Changing To Los Angeles

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Andre Previn, leaving the Pittsburgh Symphony to take over as conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, says he's "terribly sorry" to move away from his friends but is happy about the new post.

Previn, 55, said he will assume the Los Angeles job in 1986 after his contract as music director of the Pittsburgh Symphony expires. He will succeed Carlo Mario Giulini, who resigned from the Los Angeles Philharmonic because of ill health.

On Sunday during a KDKA-TV telethon to benefit the Pittsburgh symphony, Previn said he was "looking forward" to the move.

But "on the other hand," he said, "is the fact that I'm terribly sorry to leave my friends in the orchestra because we all are really just playing colleagues but I really think that in the past eight years we've become a kind of huge family."

Previn told the symphony about his departure Saturday night.

Reagan Cites U.S. Freedoms To Chinese

SHANGHAI, China (AP) — As China's leaders prepared to honor Josef Stalin and other communist heroes, President Reagan today quoted the Declaration of Independence to a Chinese audience and declared, "Americans love freedom."

"We believe in the dignity of each man, woman and child," Reagan told about 500 students in a speech during a visit to Fudan University in this city of 12 million people. Reagan was greeted by the largest crowds of his visit to China as his motorcade made the eight-mile journey from his hotel in downtown Shanghai, one of the most populous cities in the world, to the university. People on their first day of a two-day May Day holiday jammed sidewalks on both sides of the street in the downtown area, and on many side streets they lined up as far as a block from the president's route. The crowds were still there when the president returned two hours later. White House spokesman Larry Speakes said Shanghai police told the Secret Service more than one million people may have seen the president's motorcade. The spokesman told reporters the president was amazed by the size of the welcoming crowd, which Speakes called perhaps the largest Reagan had ever witnessed during a motorcade.

"Our entire system is founded on an appreciation of the special genius of each individual — and of his special right to make his own decisions and lead his own life," Reagan told the students in a country where the right of dissent is virtually nonexistent. "We are free to disagree among ourselves — and we do."

Introduced by university President Xie Xide, a graduate of Smith College and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Reagan addressed an audience whose members generally spoke at least some English and were given a written Chinese translation of his text.

Earlier, during a visit to a classroom, Reagan was asked by a student what aspect of his college life 50 years ago had been most helpful afterward.

His interest in athletics helped get him a job as a radio sports announcer, the president said, but his studies of economics and his interest in student drama are helpful in his present job.

"You'd be surprised how much being a good actor pays," said the Hollywood movie star turned politician.

Shanghai was the last stop on the six-day presidential journey to China, Reagan's first official visit to a communist country.

After remaining overnight here, Reagan will fly to Alaska, where he will meet with Pope John Paul II, on his way home.

In summing up the trip, Secretary of State George P. Shultz told reporters Reagan had been "very interested in seeing how socialist systems, such as the one here in China, are evolving." But he added he did not believe the staunchly anticommunist president had "changed his views."

Candidates Back State Law Calling For Runoff

By MARY ANNE RHYNE
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Presidential candidate Jesse Jackson is making elimination of the second primary a national civil rights issue, but North Carolina leaders stand by the law and say changes should be considered on a state-by-state basis.

North Carolina law requires a candidate to get 50 percent plus one vote to avoid a second or runoff primary. State Elections Director Alex Brock said 10 other states, most in the South, have similar laws.

Jackson told a Winston-Salem audience recently that runoffs, annexation and at-large elections have undercut the right of all North Carolinians to vote.

"We're trying to save the interest of Democracy," Jackson said. "Democracy does not guarantee success. Democracy does guarantee opportunity."

Presidential candidate Walter Mondale, during a visit to Research Triangle Park last week, said he opposes second primaries if they are discriminatory.

"I do not favor a blanket elimination," he said, adding that he would consider lowering the threshold from 50 percent to 40 percent as suggested by South Carolina Gov. Dick Riley.

The third Democrat running for president, Gary Hart, said in a Chapel Hill speech that he opposes second primaries "to the degree that they discriminate against minorities. I think a sweeping elimination ... would be wrong."

Elimination of the runoff could be discussed at this summer's Democratic National Convention, but North Carolina politicians said in recent interviews that they would not support such sweeping change.

State Democratic Party Chairman David Price said the second primary was the product of the Democratic Party's dominance in the South, where the party's nomination often amounted to election.

There have been two occasions in recent political history where a black candidate in North Carolina was the top vote-getter in the primary and lost the runoff. Those candidates were Howard Lee, who ran for lieutenant governor in 1976, and H.M. "Mickey" Michaux who ran for Congress from the 2nd District in 1980.

Lee, former Chapel Hill mayor and secretary of Natural Resources and Community Development, led the field of eight candidates in the first primary. He got 177,091 votes compared to 174,764 for Jimmy Green, the second highest vote getter. But in the runoff, Green collected 292,362 votes and Lee got 229,195. Green won the general election.

Lee is running for Congress again this year, this time in the 2nd District.

Michaux, a former U.S. attorney, led a field of three Democrats. He had 47,132 votes compared to second-place finisher I.T. "Tim" Valentine with 34,708. In the runoff, Michaux got 50,949 votes compared to Valentine's 58,965 votes. Valentine won the general election.

Michaux is running for a state legislative seat this year.

N.C. Guard Faces Tour In Panama

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Army National Guardsmen from Winston-Salem, North Wilkesboro and Gastonia may soon be transferred to Panama as part of a peacekeeping force, officials said.

Maj. Gen. Hubert M. Leonard, the adjutant general of North Carolina and head of the National Guard, said at the conclusion of a three-day stay in Panama that three units in North Carolina had been identified for possible short tours of duty in Central America.

The units are an engineer headquarters in Winston-Salem and engineer units in North Wilkesboro and Gastonia.

Guardsmen are playing an increasingly important role in the situation in Central America, and a Pentagon spokesman said that it is likely that new ways will be found to use the guard in place of regular troops.

If the three units identified by Leonard are assigned to Panama during their annual training, they will be joining members of the N.C. Air National Guard who already are serving regularly in Central and South America.

Currently, 65 maintenance and operations workers and crew members from the N.C. Air Guard and their C-130 transport planes from guard headquarters at Charlotte are on duty at Howard Air Force Base in Panama. They fly missions all over Central and South America.

Report Blasts Chemical Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new type of chemical weapon favored by the Pentagon could be spread around the globe and used by terrorists more easily than existing weapons, a new study contended today.

Renewed U.S. production "could well promote proliferation" of chemical weapons, said the report by the Congressional Research Service, "but it will be one factor among many doing so."

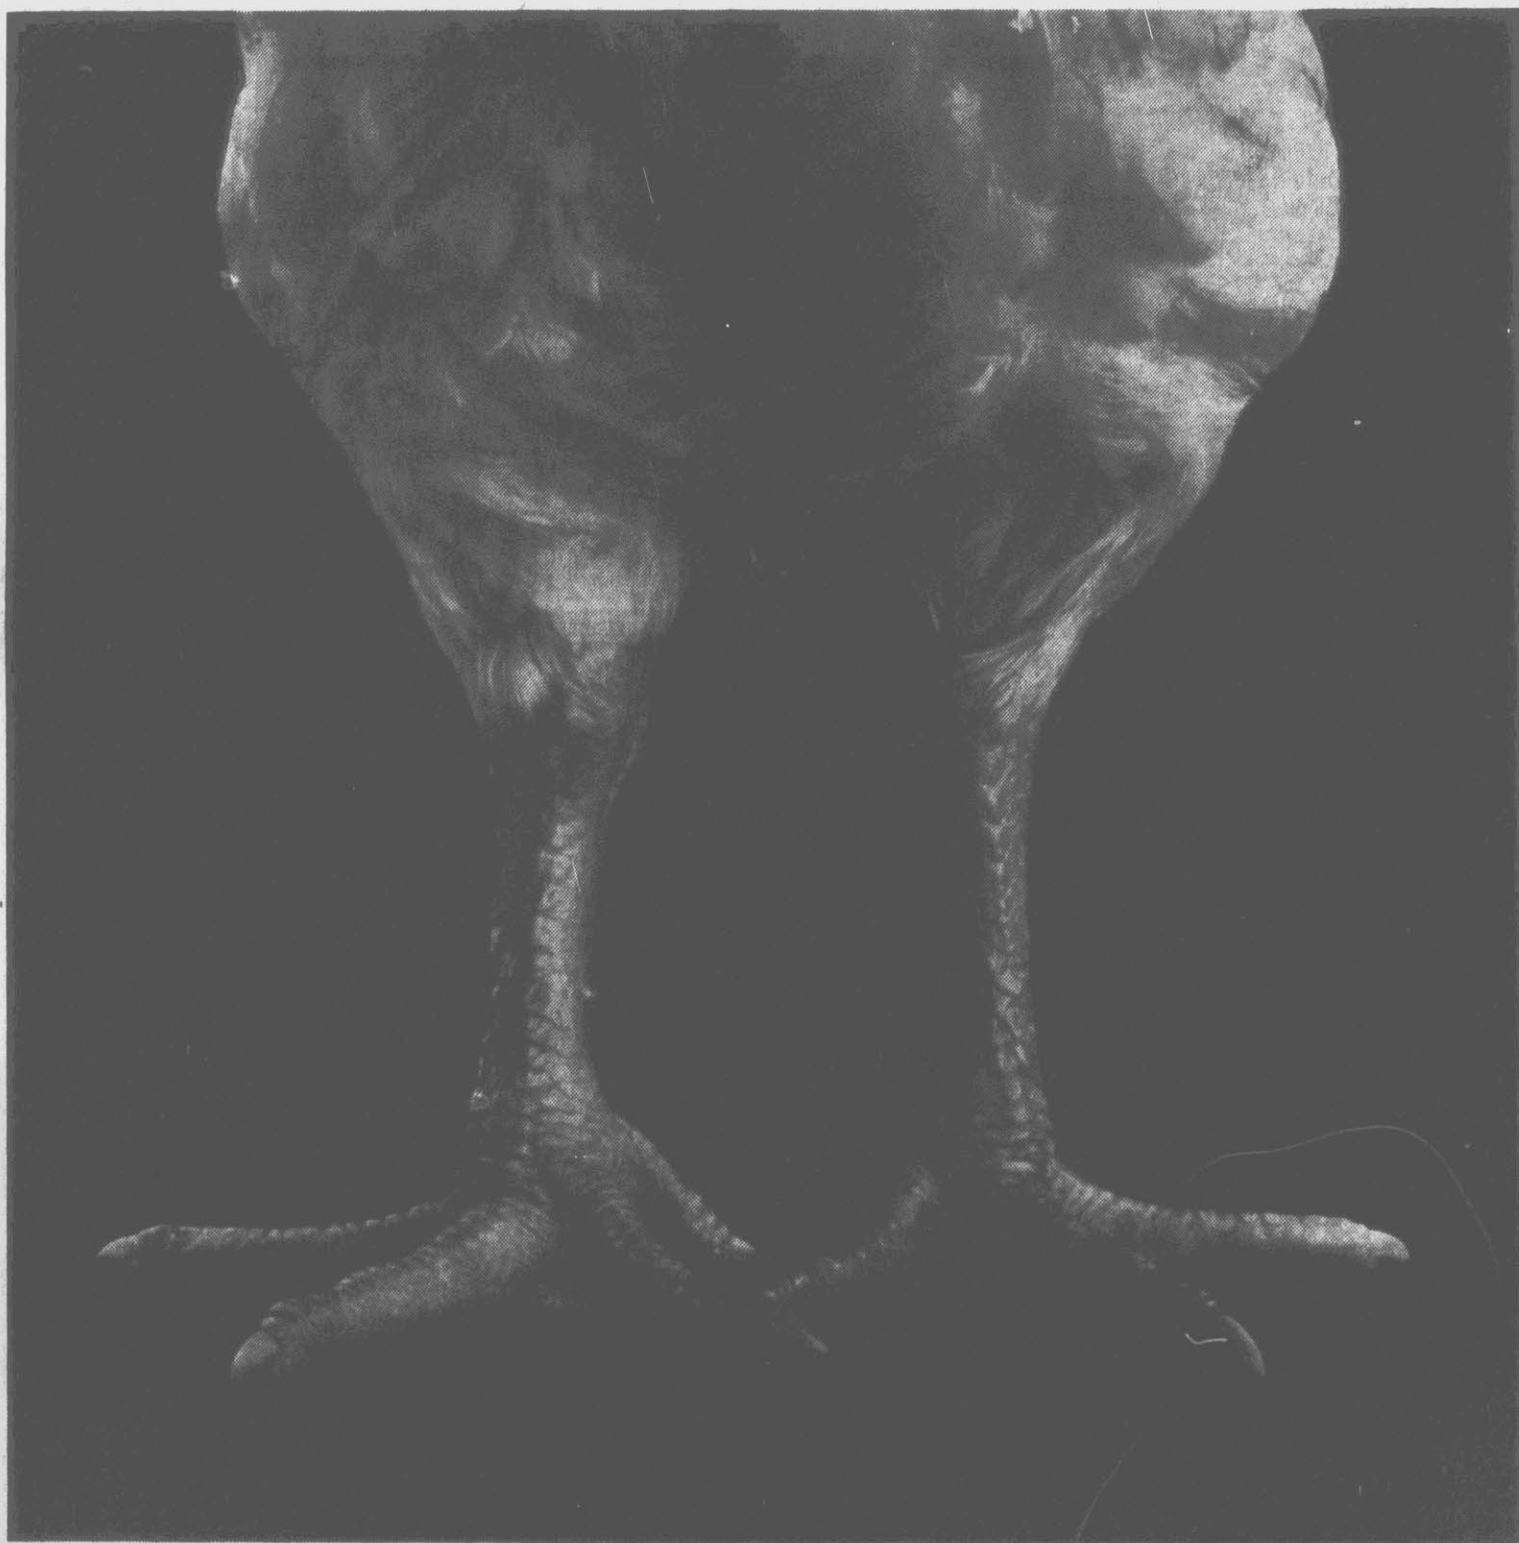

The United States has not produced any chemical weapons since 1969, but the Pentagon and the Reagan administration want to begin making binary chemical weapons.

In binaries, two chemicals are kept separate and combine to form a lethal gas only after the bomb is dropped or shell is fired. The current U.S. stockpile includes only unitary weapons.

Congress has refused to go along with the administration request, although it has approved money for a binary chemical weapons production plant at Pine Bluff, Ark. The fiscal 1985 budget includes $106 million to prepare for the production of binary artillery shells and bombs.

CORRECTION

The Most Attractive Investment on Two Legs

Quality makes ours the preferred bird by far with consumers in the Northeast. Grocers tell us that Perdue chickens practically walk out of the meat case.

That consumer demand along with Perdue's liberal producer contract arrangements make a Perdue poultry house a most attractive investment for you.

On the average, Perdue poultry houses bring in a greater percentage return than other crops. (Exact return depends on individual loan arrangements.)

At the same time, a Perdue house generates a substantial positive cash flow, so your net worth can continue to increase.

Plus, building a Perdue poultry house makes you eligible for a 10-percent investment tax credit, which can be carried backward three years or forward 15 years. That means 10 percent of the construction cost can be subtracted directly from the federal income taxes you owe.

More attractive farm investments are scarce as hen's teeth. So return the coupon, or call us collect at (919)795-4151, and let's talk chicken.

I'd like to talk chicken with Perdue.
