Rose Graduates Class Of 1984

By ANGELA LINGERFELT
Reflector Staff Writer

The class of 1984 is moving from the security of high school to the "wilds of a world that is not always real." Elizabeth Ellen, a graduating senior, told graduates of J.H. Rose High School Thursday evening.

The ceremony, held at Ficklen Stadium, graduated 333 seniors. "If we are to survive and distinguish ourselves from the imposters all around us, we must be able and willing to think," Ms. Ellen said.

Rena Meteye, also a graduate, told the class that they had all run the race and they were "here tonight to receive the fruits of our labors." She added that "in a few years at our homecoming reunion, we will discern the changes in ourselves. We shall find mothers, business leaders, and engineers among us. We will attain goals we never dreamed we could."

Graduate Steve Worley spoke to the class about the importance of having a good attitude.

"Each of us has been successful in our own way whether in art, math, music, literature, the vocations or athletics. Our attitude, as well as those of our teachers, family and friends, has probably played a major role in helping us to achieve this success," he said.

He added that attitude not only helps us to achieve success, but can help define the extent of our achievement. He spoke about the attitude which pushes us to do our best, the attitude which allows us to see ourselves with humor and the attitude of persistence.

"Our choice of attitude does make a difference. Let us keep the good attitude which we exemplify by our graduation and persist in doing your best toward your goals," Worley said.

Speaker Alana Tinkham, also a graduating senior, said "tonight we find ourselves coming to the end of a beautiful rainbow — a rainbow that we have all created. The pot of gold which we have so diligently sought will soon be ours."

She reminded graduates that the emotions they had when they began first grade were also being experienced on graduation night — excitement and fright.

"Another new world is waiting for us, full of new experiences and identities. And no longer are we just seniors — we are graduates," she said.

Little Bird, Big Outage, No Damage

A little bird put a large part of Greenville in the dark Thursday.

Greenville Utilities officials reported today a small bird that strayed into the eastside substation was responsible for a 7:10 p.m. outage that interrupted electrical service to a large section of eastern Greenville and Pitt County.

"The problem was a bird," Malcolm Green, superintendent of GUC's electrical department reported. "Somehow a small bird managed to get inside (the substation) and managed to get its tail feathers on some steel and was close enough (to the transformer) to create a short."

The short activated the transformer's protection circuit and the transformer shut down, Green said. GUC engineers and power crews switched circuits to other substations, restoring electricity to most customers by 7:30 p.m. All power was restored within 45 minutes, Green said.

Workers did not find the bird until early today, he said, and the substation remained de-energized until then. Once the cause of the transformer shutdown was located, Green said, the substation was reactivated and by afternoon was handling full loads.

"The good part of this incident, if you can have a good side to a power outage," he said, "is that no one was hurt and that the transformer protector scheme worked exactly like it was supposed to — it protected a $300,000 transformer for the city."

The bird will get a "proper burial," utilities officials said.

Soviets Supplying Modern Guided Missiles To Iraq

By The Associated Press

The Soviet Union has supplied Iraq with sophisticated missiles capable of hitting Iran's main Persian Gulf oil terminal at Kharg Island and targets deep inside Iran, according to a foreign diplomat in Iraq.

The Baghdad-based diplomat said Iraq recently received shipments of Soviet-made AS-4, AS-5 and AS-6 guided missiles, along with shipments of modified surface-to-surface SS-12 missiles.

"The new AS missiles can easily score hits in Kharg Island and, if launched by the supersonic bombers, can reach any vital Iranian economic facility," the diplomat said Thursday, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein said May 23 that his country would "soon acquire new weapons capable of striking at Iranian economic targets deep inside Iran," but he did not identify the weapons.

Hussein called on his air force officers Thursday to "strike at the enemy's economic targets."

Iraqi officials reached by The Associated Press refused comment on the diplomat's report.

NBC News reported Thursday night that Iraq had ordered 5,000 cluster bombs from Chile. Each 500-pound bomb, made with U.S. parts and technology, explodes into 240 smaller "bomblets" that can spread fire and shrapnel over an area the size of 10 football fields, NBC said.

Communiqués issued Thursday by Iran and Iraq said 54 people were killed when the two countries bombed each other's cities Thursday and shelled border regions.

In Taif, Saudi Arabia, oil ministers of the Arab gulf nations were to hold an emergency meeting today to discuss threat of attacks on tankers in the gulf. Both Iran and Iraq have attacked commercial ships in the region.

Iraqi pilots have damaged more than a score of ships in the gulf near Iran in an attempt to halt Iran's oil exports and thus cripple its ability to continue the 45-month war.

Iran also has attacked ships and has threatened to close the Strait of Hormuz, the entrance to the gulf. Nearly 20 percent of the non-communist world's oil passes through the strait.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir was quoted in an interview today as saying that Israel offered to allow Iraq to pipe oil across Israeli territory to bypass the Iranian siege of the gulf but Iraq rejected the idea.

Thatcher Puts Top Priority To Holding Back Inflation

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of seven major industrialized democracies tackled their economic problems at the summit today, with British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher expressing worry that high interest rates might undermine the economic rebound and worsen the debt burden of poorer nations.

"In the world outside our own countries, the level of international debt is a serious and pressing problem," Mrs. Thatcher told her colleagues at the first formal session of the 10th annual economic summit.

solutions" to the these difficulties, said Mrs. Thatcher. But she added that the summit's "first message" must be that the current strategy of ensuring economic expansion without inflation "is the right one — and we intend to stick to it."

President Reagan and the other chiefs of state turned to economic issues at their first formal summit session at Lancaster House after discussions Thursday night about such pressing political concerns as terrorism, arms control and the deep chill in East-West relations.

It appeared likely that the seven leaders would endorse some form of political statement — possibly as early as today — apart from the final economic communique expected at the end of the summit on Saturday.

Although Mrs. Thatcher expressed confidence that the industrial allies of the West and Japan were on the right policy track, she said, "There is still much to be done."

She voiced concern about high unemployment levels and high interest rates "which may put recovery at risk in our own economies and add to the problems of the debtor countries."

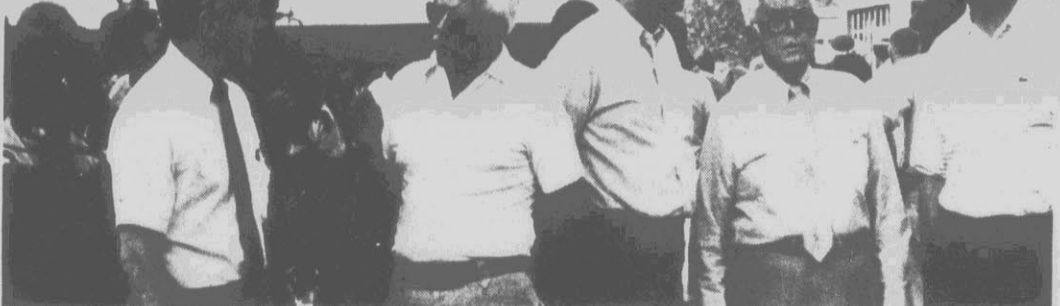

Canvass

The Pitt County Board of Election's canvass of Tuesday's runoff primary results revealed only one change from totals published by the Daily Reflector.

According to the official tabulation, Democratic gubernatorial nominee Rufus Edmisten received 7,170 votes in Pitt County rather than 7,172 as published. The change occurred in the Belvoir precinct where Edmisten polled 184 votes instead of 186.

Other Pitt totals were confirmed with Edmisten's challenger Eddie Knox receiving 4,837 votes, state labor commissioner candidates John Brooks and Dick Barnes receiving 7,939 and 2,755 votes, respectively, and Republican lieutenant governor aspirants John Carrington and Frank Jordan polling 263 and 139 votes, respectively.

Pitt Industry Shows Increase In Plant Expansion Activity

By SUE HINSON
Reflector Staff Writer

After a five-year lull, Pitt County industry is beginning to show considerable activity. Approximately six companies are looking into or are in the middle of expansion projects and several more have similar plans, but have not made their intentions public, John Chaffee, executive director of the Pitt County Development Commission, said.

The slow-down in industrial activity since 1979, he said, was due in part to the recession, but can also be attributed to a water, sewer shortage that has now been taken care of.

"This new activity is a good sign," Chaffee said, "it shows that the economy and industry are healthy and that the labor and business climates are thriving. If it were otherwise, manufacturers would not be going back in and expanding their facilities."

Chaffee added that the economy should remain strong through mid-1985.

Current and future expansion plans of area manufacturers include the following:

•Burroughs Wellcome will expand its chemical development laboratories and analytical development laboratories as well as construct a new building that will be dedicated to a new product the company hopes to release within a (Please turn to page 12)

Double Ring Ceremony Performed On May 26

Julia Gayle Beaman and Micheal Anthony Joyner were united in marriage May 26 at 3 p.m. in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Jack Mayo. The ceremony was held in the garden at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby S. Beaman of Ormondsville. The bridegroom is the son of Dexter Joyner of Raleigh and Alva Joyner of Middlesex.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white chiffon over peau de soie. The gown was fashioned with an open portrait neckline featuring an off-shoulder effect outlined in schiffli embroidered English net florets. The fitted bodice featured an overlay of net embroidered in a floral motif with schiffli lace flowers accenting the basque waistline. The sheer Renaissance styled sleeves featured fitted cuffs with calla points in the schiffli lace. The full pleated chiffon skirt extended to an attached chapel length train. An overlay of chiffon fashioned a wateau train. She wore a circlet of matching schiffli embroidered English net florets with satin ribbon streamers and carried a classic bouquet of white roses, lilies and stephanotis intertwined in silk ribbons.

Beverly Beaman of Ormondsville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids included Bobbi Jo and Melissa Beaman of Ormondsville, sisters of the bride, Donna Fish, sister of the bridegroom, Carol Beaman, aunt of the bride, and Sharon Bowen, all of Greenville, and Sandy Eason of Atlanta, Ga.

Jessica Cleaton of Bethel was flower girl.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and ushers were Timmy Matthews of Silver Springs, Md., Donnison Thomas of Rocky Mount, Gary Liles, Allen Harris and Jeff Whistrant of Greenville. Patrick Beaman served as ring bearer.

Music was provided by Clovis Bowen, Kim Respess and Champion Saint-Amand.

A reception was held in the Ormondsville Fellowship Hall.

After a wedding trip to California, the couple will live in Greenville.

Lisa Mayo of Winterville presided at the guest register and Kiley Crawford of Bethel distributed rice bags.

An after-rehearsal party was given by the bride's parents in the fellowship hall.

The bride graduated from Greene

MRS. JOYNER

Central High School and Barbizon School of Modeling. She also attended Pitt Community College and is currently assistant manager at the Junction. The bridegroom graduated from Southern Nash High School and East Carolina University. He is currently a graduate teaching assistant at ECU.

Several parties were given for the couple prior to the wedding.

SUPPER FOR FOUR

Lasagne & Salad
Fruit & Beverage

LASAGNE

Sausage Sauce, recipe follows
8 lasgana noodles, cooked
1 cup ricotta
1/2 cup grated Parmesan
12 thin slices mozzarella

In an 8-inch square baking dish, layer enough Sausage Sauce to cover bottom; add 4 strips lasagne, folding ends over to fit dish, 1/2 cup ricotta, 1/4 cup Parmesan, 4 slices mozzarella and 1/2 of remaining Sausage Sauce. Repeat layers, ending with Sauce. Bake, uncovered, in a preheated 375-degree oven until hot - 15 to 25 minutes. Place remaining mozzarella over top and continue baking until it melts - 5 minutes. Makes 4 large servings.

SAUSAGE SAUCE: In a heavy saucepan brown 1/4 pound sweet Italian sausage (sliced); remove; add 1/2 pound ground beef to pan and crumble with a fork until it loses its red color; pour off any fat. Return sausage to pan; add 1 small onion (chopped), large clove garlic (crushed), 14-ounce can plum tomatoes, 6-ounce can tomato paste, 1/4 cup water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper and dried oregano to taste. Cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, until thick - about 1 hour.

Bridal Couple Entertained

Karen L. Smith and Carl W. Brock, who will be married June 16, were honored at a cocktail party Saturday evening at the Farmville Country Club. Hosts and hostesses were friends of the family from Farmville.

A corsage of white daisies was presented the honoree.

Refreshment tables were covered with blue linen cloths and decorated with arrangements of mixed summer flowers.

Music was provided by Tom Braswell.

1 tablespoon cornstarch
8 large egg whites (1 cup)
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar
1/4-pound butter, melted and cooled

Confectioners' sugar
Sift together flour, baking powder and cornstarch; return to sifter. Beat egg whites and vanilla until foamy; beat in sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, until whites hold stiff straight peaks. Gradually sift in flour mixture, folding it in as you do so, until blended. Gradually fold in butter until blended. Turn into a 2-quart swirled tube pan that has been buttered and coated with confectioners' sugar; cut through batter with a knife. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until golden brown - 45 minutes. Loosen edges; turn out on a wire rack; cool completely. Expect cake to be only about 2 1/2 inches high. Delicious served with strawberries and cream.

Wedding Vows Said In New Bern Church

Garber United Methodist Church in New Bern was the setting for the wedding ceremony of Jennifer Jo Wester and Richard G. Joyner Jr. Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

The Rev. Bruce Taylor performed the double ring ceremony. Judy Lewis presented a program of organ music and Lorie Oates was soloist. Rick Edmondson was trumpeter.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel R. Wester of New Bern, the bride was given in marriage by her father, Jackie Wester of New Bern was honor attendant for her sister.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Joyner of Route 2, Aurora. His father was best man.

Amy Arnold of Goldsboro, aunt of the bride, Janet Mattocks, Treasure Witek and Lorie Oates, all of New Bern, and Sandy Johnston of Grimesland, niece of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

Sallie Seegars of Goldsboro, cousin of the bride, and Andi Ware of Elizabeth City, niece of the bridegroom, were flower girls. Ring bearers included Richie Johnston of Grimesland, nephew of the bridegroom, and Ben Seegars of Goldsboro, cousin of the bride.

Groomsmen were Rick Edmondson of Rocky Mount, cousin of the bride, Shaun Witek and Billy Wingard of New Bern, Robert La Victoire of Aurora and Charles Gunther of Greenville.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon over taffeta. The Queen Anne neckline was accented with embroidered lace and seed pearls. The long full sleeves ended in a cuff of matching lace. The full skirt had a V of crystal pleats enhanced with chantilace. The tiers of chantilace fell to a chapel length train. A walking veil of bridal illusion was attached to a halo of silk flowers and seed pearls. She carried a colonial nosegay of carnations, pink rosebuds and baby's breath.

Each of the attendants was dressed in a floor length gown of romance blue taffeta styled with puff sleeves and the full skirt fell to a brushed hemline accented with a self-fabric belt. Each carried a bouquet of daisies, carnations and baby's breath. The honor attendant wore a halo of baby's breath in her hair.

The flower girls wore tea length dress of blue taffeta styled with Victorian necklines accented by a ruffle. The full skirt ended in a ruffle. Each carried a basket of rose petals.

The couple will live in Aurora after a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, S.C.

The bride works at Barrett Stables in Aurora and the bridegroom works at Texas Gulf.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony and was given by the bride's parents in the church fellowship hall. Assisting were Alice Briley, Gail Johnston, Lou Edmondson, Jo Wilson and Edna Hill.

Vicky Bonner presided at the bride's book.

The parents of the bridegroom entertained at a pig picking after-rehearsal party at their home in Aurora. The bride-elect was honored at several showers prior to the wedding.

Army Wife Tells Of Family On The March

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Unhappy in Minnesota," the woman who was so upset about the moving required by her husband's job, really struck a nerve with me. It's a good thing she didn't marry a career Army man (or Navy, Air Force or Marine, for that matter)!

My husband is a career soldier. I've always joked that we've stayed married so long because he was never home long enough to fight with.

In 15 years, we've moved 11 times. Four of these moves were trans-Atlantic moves, and he was around to help with only one of them. Our daughter went to three different kindergartens, four elementary schools, two middle schools, and she will attend at least two different high schools. (Not unusual for Army families.)

While I'm never thrilled with the thought of another move, I've learned a lot from all the moves we've made. I turned the negatives into positives.

Rule 1: Laugh a lot. No humorist could possibly invent stories as funny as the ones we've experienced. Besides, moving a lot keeps your closets cleaned out.

Rule 2: Don't view it as "leaving," view it as "going to." We have a lifetime filled with friends and experiences we never would have accumulated had we stayed put.

Rule 3: Don't wait for a new community to provide you with what you want. Get out and find it. If it's not there, create it. No job in the community? Start your own business—a nursery school or baby-sitting service. And don't turn your nose up at volunteer work. How about the shelter for battered women, the PTA, a political party, church work or even a car pool? It's a good way to be accepted and welcome in a new community.

Rule 4: Remember, "home" is an attitude. Wherever we are together is "home." My attitude sets the tone of every move. If I am enthusiastic, my family will be. A positive attitude is not always easy to assume, but it's a must.

How are my children doing? Both are straight-A students, our house overflows with their friends, and a list of their combined activities would fill another page.

My marriage? Terrific! So tell "Unhappy" to get it together. She's not alone. Nobody claims that moving a lot is easy, but it can be fantastically rewarding.

NANCY E., ARMY WIFE,
FORT HOOD, TEXAS

DEAR NANCY: Thanks for a wonderful letter. Your husband is lucky, and so are your children.

(If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 (this includes postage) to: Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Funds On Hand

The N.C. Legislature convened Thursday for a special session to make budget adjustments — and with the financial outlook far rosier than it has been in recent years.

The session is expected to be education oriented with Gov. Hunt proposing 15 percent salary increases for teachers. Ten percent salary increases for state workers are also being recommended.

It is estimated that about $500 million is on hand to make adjustments in the 1984-85 budget.

In addition to the salary increases some capital improvements, including a $14.5 million classroom building for East Carolina University, are proposed. There are also funds for continued development of the ECU Medical School and $5.4 million for nuclear magnetic resonance equipment at the ECU School of Medicine and Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill.

Certainly it is time to improve teachers' salaries and state workers are due an increase. The capital improvements program is needed and we can anticipate the ECU classroom building will remain in the budget.

An improving economy has meant that additional funds are on hand to accomplish these things and the Legislature will do well to act on educational needs. The legislators also, however, should keep an eye on future financial projections. The economy can slow again, and with an corresponding effect on state revenues.

Long Shot

Of course the chances of apprehending a suspect and winning a conviction two years after a given crime are not great; but the televised dramatization of a robbery and killing conceivably could stir a memory, might promote the reporting of evidence, possibly leading to new directions in a search that began in October 1982.

The Greenville Police Department was willing to take that chance, as was the ECU Drama Department, and it won support of television station WNCT's staffers. Working together, the reenactment was filmed, edited and is now being aired.

It's a "long shot;" but it also points up the long memory of law enforcement agencies and the resources willingly made available by outsiders.

Detective Sgt. Doug Jackson is a firm believer in the "Crimestoppers" program and he has reason to be. "In every city that has a Crimestoppers program, calls from the public have resulted in arrests and recovery of stolen property", he says.

The assurance of anonymity (to say nothing of the rewards involved) opens doors to information the police need for focusing their investigative resources.

Who benefits? All the people in the affected community.

The televised "Crimestoppers" project holds out a promise that is hard to ignore. Pursued to the fullest potential, it poses a major crime-deterrent, as well as a resource enhancing risks to wrong-doers.

Keeping Track Of The Funds

RALEIGH — Attention all junior high school cheerleaders: Pretty soon, you'll have to start handing over all the proceeds from your fund-raising car wash to your school board. And PTA mothers, if you hold that bake sale in the elementary school auditorium, you, too, will have to present the fruits of your labor to the school board.

The legislature's Joint Governmental Operations Committee has decided to clamp down on vending machine sales in public buildings and they're doing it with such a big clamp that the PTA and the cheerleaders will feel the effects.

The committee, which is comprised of the Legislature's most powerful members, wants to put some controls on the millions of dollars raised from vending machines and other sales made in public buildings. The committee got on this kick last year after the Raleigh News and Observer reported that officials of N.C. Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill were using some of its $100,000 in annual vending machine receipts to give each other gifts.

In its last meeting before the legislative session opened, the committee approved a bill that will require all profits from vending machines located in state buildings to be turned over to the state for eventual appropriation by the General Assembly. The bill also says that profits from such machines located in local government buildings should go to the board responsible for budgeting the operation of that building. Hence, sales in schools go to the school board, sales in courthouses go to the county commissioners.

The idea is to put the money into the budgeting process where proper accounting can be made. That's a good idea, several committee members said, in light of the fact that much of this vending machine money "goes into a drawer, someplace."

"We're simply codifying law that's already there," Rep. Billy Watkins,

D-Granville, said of the bill. Local officials "apparently don't realize that (money from courthouse machines) is county money just like tax money."

Sen. Bob Swain, D-Buncombe, said the handling of vending machine money "has been a scandal all over this state."

But the bill doesn't stop with vending machine profits. Sen. Harold Hardison, D-Lenoir, and Sen. Ken Royall, D-Durham, pointed out: It involves all money raised from commerce in public buildings. That's where things get complicated for the cheerleaders and their annual car wash. If it's held on school grounds, they've got to give the profits to the school board. Hardison said the bill had to be trimmed back to prevent such an inconvenience.

Gerry Cohen, the legislative lawyer who drafted the bill, said there may be an easy way out. The local school board can collect the money from groups like the cheerleaders but have a policy that it will be given right back, after it has been accounted for. That way, student and parents' groups will be able to raise money for their projects.

The bill — which still must go through the Legislature — has several exemptions. With the exception of Memorial Hospital, money raised on university grounds will go to the UNC Board of Governors, not the Legislature. Money raised on community college grounds will be budgeted by the college's trustees. The law does not cover operations of the N.C. National Guard or the N.C. Blind Commission; both have operations already regulated by statute.

In the final vote, the bill's critics did not protest. The argument for proper accounting is sound. The fact that it covers the cheerleaders' car wash makes it look a little silly.

Jackson Poses A Problem

LOS ANGELES — City Councilman Zev Yaroslavsky's home telephone began ringing with complaints at 8:30 in the morning, signaling a problem for Sen. Gary Hart in the California primary Tuesday but much bigger trouble for the Democratic Party in November and the years ahead.

The callers were constituents from Yaroslavsky's heavily Jewish West Side district griping that their councilman's choice for president, Sen. Gary Hart, had been quoted as considering the Rev. Jesse Jackson for vice president. Actually, in the big Los Angeles Jewish community there is not much conversation about either Walter F. Mondale or Hart but lots of talk about Jackson — all of it bad.

Jewish anxiety created by Jackson is not the only contributor to unease pervading Democrats in the nation's largest state. Pessimism hangs heavy over the future.

The Mondale-Hart showdown, far from generating the passions of Kennedy-McCarthy in 1968 or McGovern-Humphrey in 1972, did not even match the excitement of this year's races for district attorney and county supervisor. What worried insightful Democrats even more is the leftward reach of the presidential campaign. "Nothing is being said here that helps us beat Ronald Reagan," one prominent party leader told us.

Typical was the recent fund-raiser at the Beverly Hills mansion of millionaire Stanley Sheinbaum, held to retire George McGovern's campaign debt. McGovern may still be a fringe ideologue to the nation but has become an elder statesman in his party's mainstream. Mondale and Hart sheathed swords long enough to attend the fund-raiser.

But not Jesse Jackson. His absence was the big news of the Sheinbaum affair, underlining concern about how to deal with him. He poses a special problem here for Mondale, whose substantial black support is wiped out by Jackson in California's election of delegates in winner-take-all congressional districts.

Hart's mistake-prone candidacy invited Jewish ire by talking about Jackson for vice president. Asked about that at a Los Angeles synagogue service, Hart said he would not pick a vice president who did not share his views on Israel. Members of the congregation turned to each other, asking: But what are Hart's views? Perhaps numbed by jet lag, he had not really said.

The Jackson fires barely subsided when Pudge Henkel, Hart's neophyte national campaign, reignited them by putting out a story of Hart-Jackson collaboration against Mondale at the convention. The Waxman-Berman political organization's hope of electing Hart delegates on the West Side is that voters will simply take the word of such trusted party elders as Rep. Henry Waxman, Rep. Howard Berman and Councilman Yaroslavsky.

Jackson's failure to rebuke a supporter's anti-Semitism was condemned more vigorously by Vice President George Bush than either Mondale or Hart, a fact duly noted on the West Side.

Who Will Watch Over The Watchdogs?

WASHINGTON — The tale as told by Juvenal, as I recall, had to do with a jealous husband who placed guards over his wife. Then he began to worry about the guards: "Sed quis custodiet ipsos custodes?" But who will watch over the watchdogs? Legislators, judges and jealous husbands have been worrying over that question for centuries. On May 14, in a case of major importance, the U.S. Supreme Court worried the question half to death.

This was a regrettable case, and it is likely to have regrettable consequences. This was the issue: Can a judge be sued successfully for violating the civil rights of a person aggrieved by some action the judge has taken? In the case at bar, the Supreme Court said yes.

I think the court decided the issue properly, for the same reasons that I believe the court decided the Stump case wrongly six years ago. My reasoning is simple: When judges, acting as judges, do gross wrongs, the judges ought to be liable to punishment for the damage they have done. But the point at issue — the whole business of judicial immunity — is an exceedingly close one. Make up your own mind.

The case began on Jan. 10, 1980, in Culpeper, Va., where a defendant by the name of Allen was charged with the misdemeanor known as "curse and abuse." At about the same time another defendant, name of Nicholson, was charged with being drunk in the public view. These are minor offenses under Virginia law, punishable only by fines. The defendants came separately before Magistrate Gladys Pulliam. She fixed Allen's bail at $250; when he could not post a bond, she ordered him to jail where he stayed for 14 days. She fixed Nicholson's bail at $30 on each of several charges; when he too could not make bail, she put him in the county lockup for two to six days.

After their release, the two defendants latched on to an enterprising young Charlottesville attorney, Deborah Wyatt. She won an injunction in U.S. District Court against Magistrate Pulliam, by which the magistrate was ordered never again to send a person to jail for a non-jailable offense. Then Wyatt took a further step: She sued Pulliam under federal law for $7,000 in attorney's fees and about $700 in court costs. Again she won in the federal courts, and on May 14, by a vote of 5-4, the Supreme Court affirmed both the injunction and the award.

Justice Blackmun, speaking for the majority, found nothing in the legislative history to suggest that Congress intended to exclude judges from an act allowing such awards in civil rights cases. Justice Powell, speaking for the dissenters, saw a "serious threat" to judges everywhere in the prospect of suits brought by disgruntled defendants or litigants alleging violation of their civil rights.

In March of 1978, the court came down 5-3 in precisely the opposite direction. In that case an Indiana judge, Harold D. Stump, had authorized a tubal ligation for a "somewhat retarded" 15-year-old. The operation was performed without her knowledge (she thought she was having an appendectomy). Two years later the girl married and discovered what had been done to her. She sued the judge for damages, but the Supreme Court found him immune from liability for his action.

There is much to be said for Justice Powell's dissenting view in the matter of Magistrate Pulliam. Beyond doubt, judges must be guaranteed a certain immunity from damages resulting from judicial actions taken in all good faith. Trial judges will err — of course they will err — and they must be protected against harassing and burdensome litigation. An award of attorney's fees can have the same effect as an award of damages as such. Such awards have been increasing in number and in monetary value, and Powell is probably right in his gloomy prediction that the majority's decision in Pulliam will prompt more suits against judges.

But who is to watch the watchdogs? If persons who are gravely wronged by judicial actions are deprived of the power to sue the offending judges, what recourse do they have?

—Elisha Douglass—

Strength For Today

The difficulties of life largely resolve themselves into two classes — burdens to be borne and hurdles to be surmounted.

There are some burdens which we have to bear because of circumstances we cannot change. But there are other difficulties which are like hurdles. We are supposed to jump over them. It would be ridiculous for a runner in a track meet to stop at the hurdles he encountered and put them on his back. Yet many people are doing this very thing with circumstances which were never intended at all to be carried as burdens.

For example, the people who constantly worry about what others think and say about them; those who quickly take offense at a fancied slight; those who brood about what they consider neglect by others — these people have mistaken hurdles for burdens and have loaded themselves down with what they should have jumped over.

Alumni Chapter

The Pitt County chapter of the Winston-Salem State Alumni Association will meet Sunday at 3 p.m. at the home of Patti Sanders Harvey, 735 Fairmont Village, Ayden.

National Delegate

Judy Sadler of Greenville was selected during the 1st Congressional District convention as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco July 16-19.

JUDY SADLER

She is one of three district delegates for Walter Mondale. Others are Dan Stallings of New Bern and Bennett Taylor of Seaboard. Zee Lamb of Dare County is a Gary Hart delegate, while Everline Mitchell of Dover is a delegate for Jesse Jackson.

Ms. Sadler serves as one of six Pitt County representatives on the state Democratic executive committee. She is vice chairwoman of Greenville Precinct 7 and serves as treasurer of the Pitt County Democratic Women. She is an associate professor and director of graduate studies in the department of library science of East Carolina University.

Eppes Reunion

The Greenville Industrial-Eppes High alumni will celebrate "Welcome Home Weekend" July 6-8. The cost of the weekend is $35, which includes a social, breakfast, reunion picnic and dance. Honored classes for 1984 will include 1929, 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954, 1959, 1964 and 1969.

The deadline is June 16. Mail inquiries to the Greenville Industrial-Eppes Alumni, P.O. Box 1264, Greenville, or call Imogene Dupree before June 16.

Master's Program

The division of social work at East Carolina University will offer a master's degree in social work beginning this fall. The program has been accepted into full candidacy by the Council on Social Work Education.

Although the program will not be in full operation until the fall of 1985, some full-time and part-time students will be admitted this fall. For information, contact Dr. C.G. Kledaras, associate director for graduate studies, division of social work, ECU, or call 757-6961.

Cadet Promoted

Cadet William Slade Tripp was promoted to sergeant at graduation exercises held recently at Camden Military Academy, Camden, S.C.

He is the son of William L. Tripp and Sharry T. Tripp of Greenville.

Deadline Extended

The federal government has extended the deadline for tornado disaster relief applications until June 15, according to Heman R. Clark, secretary of the state Department of Crime Control and Public Safety.

Clark said the state asked for the extension because about one-third of the applications for the Individual Family Grant program had not been returned by the May 31 deadline. Victims may also seek Small Business Administration loans.

ECNSA Meeting

The Eastern Carolina Health Systems Agency will meet Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. at the Ramada Inn.

The project review committee will not meet.

Camp Bonner Opens

Camp Bonner, the Scout facility operated by the East Carolina Council at Blounts Creek for all registered Boy Scouts in the 20-county area, will open Sunday and continue operations until July 29.

Scouts attend the camp for one week with new campers arriving each Sunday.

Camp Bonner offers swimming, boating, canoeing, sailing, marksmanship, archery and instruction in various outdoor skills.

Reservations may be made through the Scout office in Kinston, 522-521.

Child Safety

Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that with area schools out or closing soon, "parents should take special steps to ensure the safety of their children."

Tyson suggests knowing the whereabouts of children at all times and cautioning them about strangers. The sheriff also said any unusual incidents should be reported immediately to law enforcement officers.

"The most important thing for children to know," he said, "is that there are certain people they can depend on — parents, law enforcement officers and teachers."

Graduation Speaker

Dr. Bertie E. Fearing, director of technical communications programs at East Carolina University, will deliver the commencement address at Nash Technical College's 16th graduation June 22 at 7 p.m.

Dr. Fearing, assistant to the chairman of the English department at ECU, is on the graduate faculty as an associate professor of English.

Radar School

Ten Greenville police officers graduated from a state-sponsored radar certification school at Wilson Friday.

Chief Ted Holmes said the week-long course qualifies the officers to operate both moving and stationary radar units used to detect speeding motorists.

Holmes said another 10 Greenville officers will attend a similar course about a month.

Exams Scheduled

A special administration of the national teacher examination — core battery No. 3 and specialty area examinations — will be held July 14 at East Carolina University.

Closing date for registration is June 25.

Burglary Charge

Frank DeMarco, 31, of White's Trailer Court was arrested by Greenville police Thursday on burglary charges in connection an incident at 809 S. Washington St. that was reported earlier in the day.

DeMarco is charged with taking $200 in cash from the Washington Street home.

Area Graduate

Angela Felicia Liverman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Liverman of Farmville, is one of 205 students who will graduate from the North Carolina School of Science and Mathematics in Durham Saturday.

Ms. Liverman was a member of the tennis team and a floor representative in her dorm. She was ranked first in her sophomore class and was formerly president of her class at Farmville Central High School.

Ms. Liverman will attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and plans to major in criminal justice.

Bar Association

The Pitt County Bar Association met for its last meeting of the 1983-84 year with Judge Charles Winberry as guest speaker.

Installed as officers were Walt Kitchin, president; Cordell Avery, vice-president; Clark Everett, treasurer; and Charles Ellis, secretary.

Safe Stolen

Greenville police are investigating the theft of a safe from Diener's Bakery at 815 Dickinson Ave. early this morning.

Officers said entrance to the building was gained through the front door.

NAACP Meeting

The Pitt County NAACP will meet Sunday at 7 p.m. at Macedonia Baptist Church, Farmville.

Storms Unleash Tornadoes, Flash Floods

By The Associated Press
Thunderstorms that unleashed more than 30 tornadoes across the nation's mid-section killed six people and injured at least 71 others before rumbling east today, while fears of a rain-triggered mudslide forced evacuation of a posh section of Aspen, Colo.

In Vermont, sudden rains Thursday triggered flash-flooding that caused more than $1 million in damage.

The late spring storms slapped Minnesota with 81-mph winds, brought traffic to a halt in Nebraska with a blinding dust storm and closed several highways in Kansas as trucks overturned by high winds blocked lanes of traffic.

A tornado hit the town of Barneveld Wisconsin early today, leaving a trail of damage and at least nine people injured, said Merrill Hough, director of emergency planning for Dane County. More than 75 people were being sheltered in schools after the twister destroyed or damaged their homes, he said.

"A total of 29 tornadoes touched down Thursday in North Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri," Nolan Duke of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Mo., said early today.

Earlier Thursday, a tornado slashed through Moreauville, La., ripping a house off its foundation, blowing apart a mobile home and downing trees. No injuries were reported.

Storms in Iowa left two people dead and injured at least 35 others, authorities said. Heavy destruction was reported in Delta, and the town of about 480 people was sealed off as authorities waited until daylight to assess the damage, a Keokuk County spokeswoman said.

"We're under a disaster situation here," said Keokuk County Hospital administrator Doug Sheetz. "The reports we've got is that it's (Delta) two-thirds gone, but as dark as it is, I don't know if anybody knows that." Sheetz said 25 to 30 people were treated at the hospital.

An elderly man was killed and his wife was critically injured Thursday near Eagleville, Mo., when a tornado destroyed their mobile home, authorities said. Police in St. Joseph said an unidentified man who was swept away by floodwaters early today while walking along a street was found dead at 3:15 a.m. Police said at least two other people were reported missing in the wake of flash flooding.

Tornadoes damaged up to two dozen buildings in Brown County, Kan., police said. Waynetta Scikles, 73, died of an apparent heart attack after being told to take cover at a store, Hiawatha Community Hospital spokesman Keith Knudson said. Six people were treated for storm-related injuries, Knudson said.

Overturned trucks blocked U.S. highways 36 and 73 near Hiawatha, state police said.

Winds clocked at more than 60 mph whipped up dust across southeast Nebraska, triggering a six-car accident that left 10 people injured, authorities said.

In Austin, Minn., more than 100 people in a bowling alley escaped serious injury when a tornado ripped the roof off the building, police said.

A twister also blasted Albert Lea, Minn., where 10 people were treated for minor cuts and bruises, said

Naeva Hospital President Dan McCormick.

"The city is windblown from one end to the other," said Robert Hill, director of Albert Lea's civil defense. "Semi-trailers and cars are overturned everywhere you look, and trees are down everywhere."

Instruments at radio station KATE in Albert Lea clocked winds at 81 mph shortly before the tornado hit.

A 19-year-old man was killed in suburban Minneapolis when he was struck by lightning while working on his house, police said.

More rain brought more flooding and mudslide problems to Colorado.

'Slaughter Alleys'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving to eliminate "slaughter alleys" where drunken teen-age drivers cause highway deaths, the House has passed a bill requiring all states to make their legal drinking age 21 or else lose some of their federal highway funds.

An amendment to that effect was added to legislation approved Thursday to disperse $5.2 billion in federal gasoline tax money.

The bill, passed 297-73, now goes to the Senate where its chances were considered doubtful because of the more than $600 million it earmarks for local-interest highway projects.

Similar legislation originating in the Senate and sent to the floor of that chamber earlier this week contains $93 million for hometown projects.

None of the projects in the Senate bill is in the House-passed legislation. And no House project is in the Senate proposal.

In debate over the drinking age amendment, Rep. Bud Shuster, R-Pa., said a nationally uniform drinking age of 21 was necessary because 5,000 teen-agers are killed in drunken driving accidents each year, many of them along "slaughter alleys" as they drive to other states with lower age restrictions for buying alcoholic beverages.

He called the death and destruction caused by drunken drivers "a national epidemic."

IBM Cuts PC Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Denying that dumping sales were to blame, International Business Machines Corp. said it will slash prices on its personal computers, home computers and related equipment by up to 23 percent.

IBM's move fulfilled the predictions of some Wall Street analysts, who earlier this week said price cuts were imminent because demand for IBM's personal-computer line was beginning to lag.

But IBM spokesman Rick Scott said Thursday that "with the exception of the PCjr (the home version), demand remains strong" for IBM's personal computers — which many consider the industry standard for business and professional desktop data processors.

IBM has said that the PCjr, which arrived on the market early this year, was not meeting sales expectations.

Asked if the price cuts on the machines other than PCjr were in response to poor demand, Scott said "absolutely not," adding that the actions reflected "business as usual."

There are two main versions of IBM's desktop machines for business: the Personal Computer and the more-powerful PC-XT.

IBM said that beginning in July, it will offer a Personal Computer with 256,000 characters, or 256K, of internal memory and a disk drive with an additional 360K of memory for $1,995.

Previously, a similar computer with only 64K of internal memory and the same disk-drive capability had cost $2,104. That machine is now being cut to $1,815.

Likewise, a PC-XT with 256K of internal memory is being introduced for $4,395. An earlier version with only 128K had cost $4,995. That machine's price will be cut to $4,275.

As for the PCjr, the price of the entry-level model with 64K of internal memory was cut to $599 from $699 and the 128K version with a 360K disk drive was cut to $999 from $1,269.

Prices also were reduced by up to 23 percent on all other IBM personal-computer units — including its recently unveiled portable. And prices were cut on a host of options available for the main Personal Computer.

Some Wall Streeters estimate that personal computers account for 10 percent or less of the revenue and earnings of IBM, the world's largest computer maker. The company earned $5.49 billion on revenue of $40.2 billion in 1983.

FINGERPRINTED — Over 300 students from Bethel Elementary school were fingerprinted Wednesday as part of an identification program sponsored by the Bethel Chamber of Commerce. Police officials from the Bethel Police Department and the Pitt County Sheriff's Department implemented the plan that will aid in the identification of missing children. Statistics show that over 300,000 children are reported missing each year and approximately 100,000 are never found. (Reflector Photo by Chris Bennett)

Senate Seeking Allied Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate wants America's European allies to spend more on defense, but refuses to tie the Pentagon's budget to such increases.

A 91-3 vote Thursday asked that President Reagan "insist" that members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization fulfill a 1977 pledge that each NATO country increase its defense spending by 3 percent a year after inflation.

The non-binding proposal by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., also calls for "substantial increases" in defense spending by Japan, which is not a NATO member. The Japanese defense budget will increase 4.8 percent this year.

However, the Senate rejected, 76-16, a proposal by Sen. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., which would have stopped the Pentagon from increasing its expenditures beyond the combined increases of the 15 other NATO members.

Pressler argued that American taxpayers are tired of seeing small or no increases in Allied defense budgets when the Pentagon budget is rapidly rising.

The votes came on the first day of what could be a month-long debate over a bill authorizing the Defense Department to spend $291 billion in the 1985 fiscal year, which begins Oct. 1. The bill would increase U.S. defense spending by about 7 percent after inflation.

The House has already passed a $284 billion defense authorization bill and differences between the two versions will be worked out later by a House-Senate conference committee. The authorization bills simply set limits on what may be appropriated. Actual spending comes through appropriation bills passed later.

Only the United States and Luxembourg have consistently met the 3 percent growth target since it was set.

Pressler declared that "if the defense of Europe is so important, then it must be important to the Europeans themselves ... they're capable of doing much more."

PCC Classes

Pitt Community College will offer the following classes in the Greenville area this month:

Hines Preaching

The Rev. Walter Hines will preach Sunday at 7 p.m. at St. John Baptist Church. He will be accompanied by Willow Chapel choir of Gold Point.

Shuttle Facing Possible Delay

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Engineers were trying to decide how to remedy a loose engine pump shield on space shuttle Discovery that could delay the craft's June 22 maiden launch, officials said.

NASA spokesman Hugh Harris said officials weren't certain the loose shield posed a problem, but they were considering four options, with impacts ranging from no delay to a delay of several days.

The potential problem was discovered Thursday as technicians continued their inspection of the shuttle's three main engines following the 19-second test-firing of the powerplant last Saturday.

Harris said the inspection disclosed a slight separation of a thin metal thermal shield from the lining of a fuel preburner pump in engine No. 1. The shield helps protect the wall of the pump from engine heat during firing.

Harris said experts were assessing the seriousness of the separation and considering these options:

- To use the engine as is, with no impact on the schedule.
- To replace engine No. 1, which would take about four days.
- To replace the fuel pump, which would take about five days.
- To remove the pump and repair it, which would take more than five days, but officials were not able to predict how long.

Revival

Revival services will be held at Life Gate Baptist Church at Chicod next week.

Services will be held Sunday morning and each night at 7:30, through Friday. The Rev. John H. Long of Greensboro, the former pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Greenville, will conduct the revival services.

THE FINDING OF THE BOOK OF LAWS!

IN THE EVENTFUL LIFE OF JOSIAH, KING OF JUDAH, ONE IMPORTANT EVENT HAD TO BE THE FINDING OF THE BOOK OF LAWS. EARLY IN HIS REIGN, JOSIAH BEGAN TO SUPPRESS THE IDOLATRY THAT WAS RAMPANT THROUGHOUT THE LAND. HAVING DONE SO, THE KING NEXT TOOK ENERGETIC STEPS TO REPAIR AND ADORN THE TEMPLE. SO ENTHUSIASTIC WAS HE THAT EVEN THE WORKMEN WERE MOVED TO GREATER AND MORE FERVENT EFFORT IN THE RECONSTRUCTION OF THIS HOLY EDIFICE (II CHRON. 34:12) WHILE THE REPAIRS OF THE TEMPLE WERE BEING EXECUTED, HILKIAH, THE HIGH PRIEST, FOUND THE BOOK OF THE LAW IN THE HOUSE OF THE LORD. THIS WAS SAID TO BE THE AUTOGRAPHED COPY OF THE LAW, WRITTEN BY THE HAND OF MOSES, WHICH HAD BEEN DEPOSITED BESIDE THE ARK OF THE COVENANT IN THE SANCTUARY. IT WAS HANDED OVER TO SHAPHAN, THE SCRIBE, WHO THEN READ IT TO THE KING. JOSIAH WAS DEEPLY IMPRESSED BY THE PROPHECIES THAT IF THE PEOPLE DEPARTED FROM GOD, DREADFUL CONSEQUENCES WOULD ENSUE, HE RENT HIS CLOTHES AND HUMBLED HIMSELF BEFORE GOD (II CHRON. 34:19). GOD WAS PLEASED TO GIVE HIM THE GRACIOUS ASSURANCE THAT THE THREATENED CALAMITY SHOULD NOT COME IN HIS TIME (II KINGS 22:8-20, II CHRON. 34:15-28).

Area Church News

Bible School

Vacation Bible School will start Monday at the First Church of Christ and will continue through Friday for ages 1 through 18. Classes will be held from 6:30-8:30 p.m. For information call 758-2396.

Quarterly Meeting

Philippi Church of Christ will have quarterly meeting services beginning tonight at 8 with a church conference.

Saturday at 2 p.m. the pastor, deacons, and mothers will commune with the sick. Communion will be served to the congregation at 8 p.m.

St. Peter Church of Christ, Kinston, will be in charge of the service Sunday at 3 p.m.

Warner will be celebrated Saturday at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Horace Joyner and Mt. Shiloh Free Will Baptist Church. The service Sunday at 11 a.m. will be conducted by Bishop W.L. Phillips, while the 3 p.m. service will be led by Vice Bishop J.H. Vines and Lewis Chapel Free Will Baptist Church of Farmville.

Warner Ordained

Richard W. Warner Jr., former dean of the school of education at East Carolina University, was recently ordained as a deacon by the Rev. B. Sidney Sanders, bishop of the Diocese of East Carolina, at St. Timothy's Episcopal Church.

Warner completed his studies for ordination at Virginia Theological Seminary, Alexandria, Va., and has accepted a position as assistant rector at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Goldsboro.

Time Changed

The Sunday evening service of the Community Baptist Church, 111 Northeast College St., Ayden, will be held at 6 p.m., rather than 7 p.m. This will be a permanent change.

The schedule includes: Sunday School, 9:45 a.m.; Sunday morning service, 11 a.m.; evening service, 6 p.m.; and Wednesday service, 7:30 p.m.

Church Program

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will present a program, "Teaching Children to Respect Their Bodies," Sunday at 11:15 a.m. The program, one of a series of classes for women sponsored by the church weekly, will be held at the church, 307 Martinsborough Road.

The class will concern ways in which parents can prepare themselves to discuss sexual matters with their children. The program, which is open to the public, will be led by Jackie Jenkins of Farmville.

Outreach Service

An outreach service will be held at Friendship Holiness Church Saturday at 8 p.m. The Rev. Otha Hayes of Mount Moriah Holiness Church of Farmville and his choir will lead the service.

Braxton To Preach

Eldress Shirley Braxton will preach at St. Luke Free Will Baptist Church Sunday at 11 a.m. Music will be provided by the junior choir. An appreciation service will be held at 7 p.m. for Bishop Stephen Jones.

Mount Calvary

Mount Calvary Free Will Baptist Church will hold services Sunday beginning at 9:30 a.m. with Sunday school, followed at 11 a.m. by worship services with the Rev. C.R. Parker in charge. Music will be provided by the gospel chorus of the church.

Men's Day Service

A men's day service will be held Sunday at 11 a.m. at Elm Grove Free Will Baptist Church, Ayden. Elder Elmer Jackson and the male chorus and male ushers will be in charge. Church school will be held Sunday at 9:30 a.m.

Church elections will be held Saturday at 4 p.m. At 6 p.m., the deacons, mothers and trustees will meet. Joy night service will take place at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Bible Session

The First Pentecostal Holiness Church will hold Vacation Bible School Monday through Friday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Classes will be offered for nursery-age through adult. The adult class will be a course titled, "A Brief History of the Pentecostal Holiness Church."

Choir Concert

The W.H. Mitchell Gospel Choir will present the senior choir and male chorus of St. Rose Disciples Church, Wilson, in concert Sunday at 3 p.m. at Good Hope Free Will Baptist Church.

Church School

Vacation Bible school will be held at Sweet Hope Free Will Baptist Church Monday through Friday at 6 p.m. each night.

Speaker Set

Missionary Carolyn Cherry of Clinton will speak Sunday at noon at the Highway of Holiness, Miracles of Faith, Soul Saving Station, 1515 Broad St., Greenville.

Little Creek FWB

Men's day services will be held at Little Creek Free Will Baptist Church Sunday at 11 a.m. Guest speaker will be Michael Mosley, assistant administrator, Caswell Center, Kinston. Elder Tyrone Turnage will preach and the Little Creek male chorus will provide music.

Program Saturday

"Women of the Bible" will be presented Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Cherry Lane Free Will Baptist Church, Route 5, Greenville. Women from surrounding churches will participate. Music will be provided by Cherry Lane's young adult choir.

Stock And Market Reports

By The Associated Press
HOGS: Trend is 50 cents lower at N.C. buying stations. Kinston, Spivey's Corner, Murfreesboro and Robersonville 49.50; Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Pink Hill, Pine Level, Chadbourn, Ayden, Laurinburg and Benson 49.25; Wilson 49.25; Rowland 48.50. Sows: (500 pounds up) Wilson 43.00; Fayetteville 43.00; Whiteville unreported; Wallace 42.00; Spivey's Corner 44.00. Rowland 43.00.

BROILERS: The North Carolina f.o.b. dock quoted price on broilers for this week's trading was 53.25 cents, based on full truck load lots of ice pack USDA Grade A sized 2 1/2 to 3 pound birds. Fifty-two percent of the loads offered have been confirmed with a preliminary weighted average of 51.42 cents f.o.b. dock or equivalent. The market is weak and the live supply is moderate for a light to moderate demand. Aweights slaughter of broilers and fryers in North Carolina Friday was 1,790,000, compared to 1,680,000 last Friday.

HENS: Market steady. Supply heavy. Demand land. Undertone weak. Prices paid per pound for hens over seven pounds at farm for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday slaughter was 14 cents.

GRAIN: No. 2 yellow shelled corn slightly higher at mostly 3.90-4.02 in East and 3.95-4.05 in the Piedmont; No. 1 yellow soybeans sharply lower at 8.06-8.12 in the east and mostly 8.06-8.16 in the Piedmont; (new crop corn 2.89-3.28; soybeans 6.78-7.04, wheat 3.30-3.60).

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, continuing the trendless pattern of Thursday's session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials slipped 1.84 to 1,130.60 in the first half hour.

But gainers held a slight lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Late Thursday the Federal Reserve reported a $2.4 billion decline in the money supply for the week ended May 28.

The figure came as a surprise on Wall Street, where most advance estimates had called for a modest increase. Bond prices rallied briefly after the report, pushing long-term interest rates downward.

But the reaction among bond traders proved short-lived. Rates moved up again in the credit markets this morning.

Chrysler rose 1/8 to 24 3/4. On Thursday the company raised its dividend and said it might buy back some of its stock.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 1.40 to 1,132.44.

Advances slightly outnumbered declines on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totaled 82.12 million shares, against 83.44 million in the previous session.

The NYSE's composite index edged up .02 to 89.17. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .38 at 203.75.

Two Injured In Collisions

Two people were injured and an estimated $7,900 damage resulted from two traffic collisions investigated by Greenville police Thursday.

Officers said an estimated $3,000 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 3:47 p.m. collision on Memorial Drive, 1 mile south of the Airport Road intersection.

Drivers of the cars, both of whom were reported injured, were identified by police as Bernie Grant Lawson of 208 Mumford Road and Robert James Page of 1510 Myrtle Ave.

Lawson was charged with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident in connection with the mishap.

Cars driven by Beverly Morris Benton of Route 3, Ayden, and Gail Butts Meeks of 528 Crestline Blvd. collided about 7:41 p.m. on Sixth Street, 100 feet west of the Memorial Drive intersection.

Investigators, who charged Benton with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety, set damage at $1,200 to the Benton car and $700 to the Meeks auto.

Racing Debut

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gentlemen, start your guitars! Rock's Steve Lukather and Fee Waybill will make their debut run at the annual SCORE Baja International 500 mile off-road race June 1-3.

Lukather, singer and guitarist for Toto, and Waybill, lead singer of the Tubes, are members of the Fitzgerald Hartley Rock 'n' Racing Team.

The team will raise money for the Music Industry Chapter of the City of Hope through "Dollars for Miles" pledges.

year and a half, according to General Plant Manager Jim Goes.

Burroughs Wellcome has also just finished a new 4,800-square-foot office, an auditorium and renovation of parking facilities.

Grady White has added 15,000 square feet in its lamination department and is in the process of putting in an additional 5,200 square feet of office space to handle existing space shortages. The expansion is not an indication of future plans to hire more employees; however, if the company did want to increase at some point, the additional space would give the company "more elbow-room," General Manager and Executive Vice President Wiley Corbett said.

Grady White has also contracted for a 15,000-square-foot combination manufacturing-warehouse building to create more operating room.

Yale Materials Handling Corp. has no immediate plant expansion plans, but will expand personnel by the end of this year from approximately 560 to over 600 employees, according to plant representative Billy Wall.

Procter and Gamble added a new paper product called Always — a line of sanitary napkins — and had to hire an additional 75 contract employees to handle increased production demands, P&G Industrial Relations Manager Gene Parker said.

Collins and Aikman is in the middle of a lot of expansion and changes, according to Darwin Richards, Farmville facility manager. The company is in the process of putting in computers across the house, adding a 75,000-square-foot warehouse, expanding its surfacing area in automotive fabrics and has added a cafeteria and bought a new tinter frame — a machine that dries and heat-sets fabric at a certain width.

Ajax Magnethermic plans to add 20,000 square feet to its existing plant in Winterville to provide adequate space to consolidate receiving, finished goods and raw material stores, material marshaling and all packing, crating and shipping functions into to one area. Construction was begun the first part of April and will be completed by the end of August.

In addition, several companies have located in Pitt County since 1979 including Hexagon Honeycomb of Farmville, Simpson Industries and Sew and Sew.

Surviving him is his wife, Mrs. Captora Vines of the home.

The body will be at the Hemby Funeral Home in Fountain Saturday from 7 to 8 p.m.

Unemployment Falls

Pitt County's unemployment rate dropped to 5.8 percent in April, the lowest level since April 1978.

Jim Hannan, manager of the Employment Security Office in Greenville, said the county's jobless rate was listed at 6.5 percent in March. Statewide, the unemployment rate for April was 6.3 percent.

Hannan said Pitt's rate reflects unemployment of 2,770 people out of a workforce of 47,750 individuals.

Coulter Named WCC Chancellor

WILMINGTON (AP) — Dr. Myron L. Coulter, president of Idaho State University in Pocatello, Idaho, was named chancellor today of Western Carolina University by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors.

Coulter's appointment is effective Aug. 1.

Succeeding retiring Chancellor H.F. Robinson, Coulter was selected from more than 100 candidates for the Cullowhee post.

Williams Named New Rose Coach

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

"Chip" Williams, coach at Bertie High School for the past four seasons, was named this morning as the new head football coach at Rose High School.

Williams, 33, replaces Ronald Vincent, who gave up the football job to stick with baseball. Vincent had replaced Dave Bumgarner three years ago as an interim coach, then was appointed on a permanent basis the next year when Bumgarner opted not to return to the coaching ranks.

But after going to the state playoffs for two years, Vincent's 1983 team suffered through a losing season and the coach chose to stick with baseball, a sport he has coached at Rose for over ten seasons.

John Evans Williams Jr. is a native of Raleigh, and attended Millbrook High School there, playing football and running track. In the former, he was a fullback and linebacker, and was switched to offensive guard as a senior. In high school, he earned All-East honors. In track he qualified for the state meet.

Following his high school career, Williams attended East Carolina as a walk-on under the late coach Clarence Stasavich, playing freshman ball. He graduated from East Carolina in 1972 and earned his masters' in 1974 from ECU.

Williams began his teaching career at Farmville, working there for three years. He served as junior high football, wrestling and track coach, and was athletic director for the school.

He then joined the staff of Jacksonville High School when John Green was named there, serving as junior varsity coach for one year, and assisting the varsity program. He also served as wrestling coach for the Cardinals.

After four years in Jacksonville, Williams was named as the new head coach at Bertie Senior High School near Windsor, where he has been for the past four years.

His first team, Bertie's last as a 4-A team, recorded a 6-4 mark, tying for second place in the conference race. The following year, Bertie was lowered to 3-A status and joined the Northeastern Conference. That year, Williams' team was 10-2, entering the Division II playoffs and winning the Eastern Championships.

The following season, Bertie recorded a 12-2 record, making the Division I playoffs and advancing to the state finals before losing and finishing as the state runner-up.

This past season, the Falcons were 8-2, finishing in a tie for second place. They did not get to advance into the playoffs, however.

Williams' overall record at Bertie is 34-12.

He is married to the former Barbara Young of Raleigh and they have two sons, Bo, 8, and Bubba, 5.

"I've lived in Greenville before, but it's a lot bigger now. It's a great community, and very progressive," Williams said.

"I see a lot of planning in Greenville, good planning, not just random growth, and I like that."

"Rose has always had a tradition in football, and in my opinion, it's one of the better football jobs in the state."

Williams said his philosophy in football is simple — character. "I think the teams with the best character are the most successful. The players put in the time in the weight room, and they pay the price in the classroom. You can't goof off from 8 to 3 and then suddenly turn it on when you get on the football field. You've got to give your best all the time."

The new coach said he will use the formation on offense most of the time. "I haven't really seen the films of last year's team, so I'm not familiar with the players yet. I have been successful in running the ball in the past, and in not doing a whole lot of things. I keep it fairly simple. A lot of teams have started packed it in on us, though, so I'm going to be looking for ways to open it up some," he said.

Defensively, he prefers a multiple system. "We had a lot of luck with our defense at Bertie. In our 10-2 year, we had seven shutouts, and we had seven again when we went 12-2. We don't want to turn the ball over in bad field situations, and we want to use a multiple front when we go on defense, much like Jacksonville uses."

"I'm really looking forward to the competition in the league, and I think it's a heck of a challenge. Greenville has always had good young men and I look forward to working with them."

Williams said he hasn't developed a time table for meeting with the players, but hopes to have a meeting in the near future. "I know the other members of the conference are already working toward next year, so it won't be long."

As to his staff, Williams said he hopes to bring in one or two new coaches, but he's not sure at this time who they might be.

With Williams' hiring, four of the five jobs in the county have now been filled. Oddly enough, all five of the county's schools are replacing their coaches this year, although one, Dixon Sauls, has only moved from Ayden-Grifton to Farmville.

Donnie Bunn has replaced Gerald Garner at D.H. Conley, while Larry Bolger has filled the vacancy at North Pitt.

Only Ayden-Grifton's coach still remains to be named.

Bullets Romp Over Hayesville

JAMESVILLE — Rusty Holliday threw a five-hitter and Jamesville pushed across six runs in the first inning to take 12-1 victory over Hayesville in the opening game of the state 1-A high school baseball finals last night.

The victory lifted Holliday's record to 16-0 on the season, while Jamesville is 24-1 overall. Richie Ange was scheduled to pitch today when the two-out-of-three series resumed.

Matthew Moore led the Tigers with a perfect 3-3 at the plate, while Pee Wee Groover went 2-3 and Greg Hardison was 2-4 with a triple.

"We feel like we are (a better team than Hayesville) right now," Jamesville Coach Jerry Ange said. "Their defense was not very strong yesterday, and their pitching was rough, also. We hit the ball pretty well when we needed to."

Moore walked and stole second to open the bottom of the first, and Hardison tripled to plate the first Tiger run. Richie Ange reached first on an error to plate Hardison, and Holliday followed with a base on balls. Terry Perry singled in Ange, and Kevin Perry reached on an error to drive in Holliday and Terry Perry. A squeeze bunt by Whit Brown scored Kevin Perry for a 6-0 lead.

Moore singled after two out in the third, stole second and scored on a hit by Hardison.

In the fourth, Terry Perry walked, Earl Bowen was hit by a pitch and Brown drew a walk to fill the bases. Moore was hit by a pitch to force in Terry Perry.

Ange and Holliday walked in the fifth, and Holliday beat the throw to third when Terry Perry attempted to advance the runners with a sacrifice bunt. Kevin Perry drew a base on balls to force in Ange, and singles by Brown, Groover and Moore forced across the final three Tiger runs.

Hayesville, now 15-7, managed its only run in the top of the sixth.

Navratilova Rallies To Defeat Hana Mandlikova

PARIS (AP) — Martina Navratilova recovered from a shaky, nervous start to down Hana Mandlikova 3-6, 6-2, 6-2 today and move into the women's singles final at the French Open tennis championships.

She will meet defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd in Saturday's title match.

In the men's semifinals today, Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia played Sweden's Mats Wilander, followed by top-seeded John McEnroe against fellow American Jimmy Connors. The men's final will be held on Sunday.

Navratilova's hopes of capturing the Grand Slam — successive victories at the world's four major tournaments — were under threat for 1 1/2 sets as she struggled to find her rhythm and was consistently passed at the net.

After losing the first two games, an inspired Mandlikova dominated the rest of the opening period, twice breaking her opponent's serve at love with spectacular returns.

Navratilova was completely off her game, hardly making a clean volley and overhitting her groundstrokes.

But with the Grand Slam seemingly slipping away, the match suddenly turned her way with two crucial service breaks in the last two sets.

After both players had traded breaks at the start of the second set, the tournament favorite and No. 1 seed got another in the fifth game. She held for 4-2, broke Mandlikova again when two disputed line calls went in her favor, and served out the set.

The final set was almost an exact replica of the second.

Both players gained a break, only for Navratilova to earn another and take a 3-2 lead as her opponent double-faulted twice.

Mandlikova's last chance came two games later when she had two break points to pull back to 3-4. But she hit a forehand long, netted a cross-court passing shot and instead found herself down 2-5.

Navratilova, whose service had improved steadily throughout the last two sets, won the first three points when she served for the match, and took her place in Saturday's final when Mandlikova netted.

Navratilova, who had reached the semifinals without dropping a set, said:

"I think the turning point was 2-1 in the second set when I said to myself, 'This isn't the Grand Slam; that's tomorrow, so go out and play the way you can,' and I did," said Navratilova, who had reached the semifinal without dropping a set.

"She played well in the first set. She was hitting half volleys and shots down the line. She just hit winners all over the place in the last two games."

"But I said, 'Don't panic, just hang in there,' and I did. Then she started making mistakes and that changed the whole match," the winner said.

Speaking of the final against Lloyd, who is going for a record sixth French Open singles crown, Navratilova said: "There'll be pressure on both of us — both of us will be making history in one way or another."

Mandlikova, the only player to have beaten Navratilova this year, blamed her defeat on her poor

Baines' Homers Boost White Sox

By JONATHAN VITTI
Associated Press Writer

The Chicago White Sox got off the roller coaster with a victory that moved them to within a game of .500, but nobody seemed to enjoy the ride.

"I felt good about winning but that was hard work," said Manager Tony LaRussa, whose White Sox outlasted the California Angels 11-10 at Comiskey Park on Thursday night. "We'll take 'em whatever way we can get 'em," said Harold Baines, whose two three-run homers helped bring the White Sox back from a seven-run deficit to a four-run lead — a lead they nearly lost. Fred Lynn smacked two homers for California, the second bringing the Angels back to within one run in the eighth inning. "We swung the bats pretty well but so did they and they had their big shots with men on base," said Lynn. His second clout was the last of six homers on a night when eight pitchers surrendered 25 hits.

The White Sox used five pitchers, three in the eighth. Ron Reed left with two outs and runners on first and third and the score 11-7. LaRussa summoned Juan Agosto, who promptly gave up a three-run homer to Lynn. Al Jones was quick to follow and he got the final four outs for his fourth save of the season.

Chicago starter Richard Dotson, who entered the game with a 7-3 record and a 2.49 earned run average, was ripped for seven runs in 2-3 innings as the Angels took a 7-0 lead. Two of the first three men he faced, Gary Pettis and Lynn, homered.

"Dotson picked up our club earlier (this season)," said LaRussa. "It was nice that we could pick him up tonight."

The White Sox, now 27-28, climbed to within 1½ games of the first-place Angels on the American League West.

Elsewhere in the AL, it was Minnesota 5, Texas 4; Detroit 5, Toronto 3; Milwaukee 6, Boston 3 and Kansas City 9, Seattle 8.

Bert Roberge, 2-0, was the winner for Chicago in relief of Dotson. Tommy John, 3-4, took the loss.

Dave Stegman opened the Chicago third with a single and scored on singles by Julio Cruz and Jerry Dybzinski. After a double steal, Greg Luzinski singled in two more runs and Ron Kittle also singled before Baines' first homer cut the California lead to 7-6.

Tom Paciorek singled with one out in the fifth and, with a 2-0 count on Luzinski, Frank LaCorte replaced John and completed the walk. Kittle popped out but Baines followed with his second homer to make the score 9-7.

Paciorek and Kittle hit the game's other two homers in the seventh inning to give the White Sox their 11-7 lead.

"You have to put this kind of a game out of your mind," said California Manager John McNamara.

Twins 5, Rangers 4

Kent Hrbek's seventh-inning single drove in Tim Teufel with the tie-breaking run and capped a two-run Minnesota rally in the Metrodome.

With the Twins trailing 4-3, Kirby Puckett singled with one out in the seventh and scored the tying run on Teufel's double. Hrbek then singled home Teufel.

Ron Davis worked the final three innings to raise his record to 3-4 despite allowing three baserunners to score after starter Ken Schrom loaded the bases. Davis struck out Billy Sample, but Mickey Rivers singled in two runs and Buddy Bell hit a sacrifice fly to send Texas ahead 4-3.

Sample led off the game with his second homer of the year to give the Rangers a 1-0 lead.

Tigers 5, Blue Jays 3

In Detroit, Ruppert Jones, recalled only two days earlier from the minor leagues, keyed a four-run Detroit sixth inning with a three-run homer and Jack Morris pitched a seven-hitter as Tigers gained a split of their four-game series with Toronto.

Morris, who walked one and struck out four, improved his major league-leading record to 11-2. It was Morris' eighth complete game, tying him with Boston's Bruce Hurst for the league lead.

Lance Parrish started the Detroit sixth with a single, Darrell Evans walked, and both rode home when Jones hit a 1-0 pitch from Jim Clancy into the upper deck in right field. Howard Johnson singled, stole second and scored on a single by Lou Whitaker, chasing Clancy, 4-6.

The victory improved Detroit's record to 40-13, best in the majors, and enabled the Tigers to move 4½-games ahead of Toronto in the AL East.

Brewers 6, Red Sox 3

The Brewers unleashed a 19-hit attack and emergency starter Bob McClure allowed only one unearned run and five hits in six innings in Milwaukee.

Robin Yount, Cecil Cooper, Ben Oglivie and Ted Simmons had three hits apiece for the Brewers, who were swept by Boston in a three-game series in Milwaukee last weekend.

Mike Easler drove in all three Boston runs, two with his ninth home run of the season, a two-run shot off reliever Pete Ladd in the eighth.

Rollie Fingers worked the ninth to pick up his 10th save.

Royals 9, Mariners 8

In Kansas City, Frank White clubbed a three-run homer in the seventh inning and the Royals rallied from a seven-run deficit, scoring five in the fifth and four in the seventh.

Willie Wilson led off the seventh with a triple and scored on a groundout by Butch Davis. George Brett then walked and Hal McRae singled ahead of White's seventh home run, off reliever Dave Beard, 3-2. Seattle starter Matt Young had failed to hold the Mariners' lead.

Danny Jackson, 1-5, got the victory in relief and Dan Quisenberry pitched the final two innings for his major league-leading 15th save.

Alvin Davis' two-run homer, his 13th, and Barry Bonnell's RBI double gave the Mariners a 3-0 lead in the first.

Braves Pound Dodgers After Pre-Game Talk

By BEN WALKER
AP Sports Writer

Manager Joe Torre held a team meeting with his Atlanta Braves before the game and was smiling afterward.

Manager Tom Lasorda held a team meeting with his Los Angeles Dodgers after the game and was still growling.

Guess who won? Pascual Perez continued his flashy magic on the mound and Chris Chambliss swung a mean bat Thursday night as the Braves beat the Dodgers 8-1 for their ninth straight victory — all on the road.

In other NL games, Cincinnati clobbered San Diego 12-1, Montreal shaded Chicago 2-1 and Houston blasted San Francisco 14-5.

Torre said his pre-game meeting was to remind the Braves "that they hadn't won a lot of games" in Los Angeles.

Last year, Atlanta was 3-6 in Dodger Stadium. The year before, the record was 4-5 there.

The pep talk may or may not have helped, but the Braves started quickly, scoring twice in the first inning and twice more in the second against rookie Orel Hershiser, 2-2.

Chambliss homered, doubled and singled and drove in four runs to highlight a 13-hit attack.

The Braves' winning streak on the road is their longest since moving to Atlanta in 1966; the all-time franchise record is 11 by the 1956 Milwaukee Braves.

Even more surprising is that part of the current streak has come without Bob Horner and Claudell Washington, each offensive leaders prior to their recent injuries.

"The other guys are the ones who have been doing it," Torre said. "Gerald Perry, Rafael Ramirez and Glenn Hubbard. These guys have been overshadowed."

"Everyone wants to know about Dale Murphy and Bob Horner. These other guys, it seems, are forgotten about. Maybe that's just as well because they don't have all the pressure."

Perry and Ramirez each contributed three hits in the Braves' victory.

"There was nothing about this game that pleased me," Lasorda said. "I just wanted to talk to the players about it."

Perez scattered seven Dodger hits while striking out eight and walking only one. The right-hander is now 6-1 since being reinstated after his drug conviction.

"In Atlanta, the papers there say I'm a good luck charm," he said. "Maybe that's true."

Reds 12, Padres 1

Eric Show retired the first two Cincinnati batters before running into big trouble in San Diego.

With two outs, Duane Walker singled and Dave Parker followed with his third home run of the season. Then Wayne Krenchicki walked and Nick Esasky hit his fourth home run. Then, Show walked Brad Gulden and Tom Foley belted his second homer.

Show, 7-4, left the game after the first inning as the Padres saw their six-game winning streak come to an end.

The Reds, who finished with 16 hits, tacked on five runs in the eighth, keyed by Gulden's bases-loaded triple.

Bruce Berenyi, 3-6, got the victory and Keefe Cato, recalled from Class AAA on Sunday, allowed one hit in the final 4 2-3 innings for his first save.

Expos 2, Cubs 1

Gary Carter says he's been working extra hard on hitting breaking pitches. That work paid off against Dennis Eckersley and visiting Chicago.

Carter drilled a solo home run off an Eckersley breaking ball to snap a 1-1 in the sixth inning to lead Montreal. Eckersley, 0-2, had allowed just four hits before Carter's 10th home run of the season.

Charlie Lea, 10-2, did not allow an earned run in his complete-game victory, although he yielded 10 hits. Lea has surrendered just three earned runs in his last 35 innings.

Lea is tied with Joaquin Andujar of St. Louis for the league lead in victories.

Astros 14, Giants 5

Things continue to get worse for San Francisco, which dropped its seventh straight game, as Houston unleashed a season-high 16-hit attack.

Jerry Mumphrey and Craig Reynolds each homered and drove in three runs while Terry Puhl had four hits for the visiting Astros.

Doubles by Bill Doran and Jose Cruz and Mumphrey's two-run homer got Houston rolling in the first inning against Bill Laskey, 2-4.

Two errors by Giant first baseman Al Oliver paved the way for two unearned runs in the second.

Joel Youngblood and Brad Wellman homered for San Francisco off Joe Niekro, 4-7.

Correction

An error was inadvertently credited to Steve Mills in the Kingston-Pitt County American Legion baseball game story in Thursday's edition of The Daily Reflector.

The error should have been charged to third baseman Toby Fischer.

Linebacker Billy Ray Smith of the San Diego Chargers started in 48 consecutive games for the University of Arkansas over a four-year span.

Vikes Place Four On All-Coastal

VANCEBORO — D.H. Conley and North Lenoir, which finished one and two, respectively, in the Coastal Conference baseball race, each landed four players on the all-conference team.

Making the team from Conley were Steve Mills and Paul Hill, both juniors, and seniors Chris Via and Darryl Edwards. Fred Bryant, a junior, also received honorable mention.

From North Lenoir, those picked were Bobby Simmons, John Johnson, Joe Lane and Darnell Thorbs, with Jerry Waters and Stanley Robinson getting honorable mention.

Chosen from West Carteret were David Ross, Steve Yurko and Daniel Nicholson, with Jason Willis honorable mention. White Oak landed Brent Banks and Kenny McAllister on the team.

Chosen to the team from West Craven was Robbie Adams, with John McLawhorn, Randy Elks and William White getting honorable mention. D.J. Fleming of Havelock was his team's only representative on the squad, with Danny Clark, Eric Storm and Robert Johnson receiving honorable mention.

Conley's Allen Wilson, in his first year with the Vikings, was chosen as Coach of the Year.

Wellcome.....25
First Federal.....5

Wellcome banged out 16 hits, three of them by Blake Stallings, to romp to a 25-5 victory over First Federal in the Tar Heel Little League yesterday.

First Federal grabbed the initial lead in the top of the first with a run, but Wellcome picked up two in the bottom of the frame.

Then, in the second, Wellcome broke loose to score seven times, putting the game out of reach. Jason Browder led off with a single and John Uhlman got a hit. Joe Norris walked, loading the bases. A wild pitch scored Browder and a passed ball brought Uhlman home. Another wild pitch scored Norris. With two away, Jason Adams walked and stole up. He scored on Jerry Dancy's single, and Rip Perkins walked. Stallings reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Dancy. Browder singled to score Perkins and an error let Stallings score with the final run.

Wellcome added four more in the third, nine in the fourth and three in the fifth. First Federal got one in the fifth and three in the sixth for its five run total.

In addition to Stallings' three, Scott Byrd, Dancy, Perkins, Browder and Norris each added two hits. Keith Corbett and Michael Cox each had two hits for Wellcome.

Sportsworld.....16
Jaycees.....8

Sportsworld spotted the Jaycees a 3-0 lead in the first inning, then stormed back to take a 16-8 victory yesterday in the North State Little League.

Trailing 3-0 after a half-inning, Sportsworld scored 15 times before the inning was over. Shea Harper walked and Jason Wing singled. Ledowick Johnson reached on an error and Tim Moore singled in Harper. Tye Fickling walked to score Wing and Jay Kuykendall singled in Johnson. Troy Clemons walked, scoring Moore and Parham Stanley reached on a fielder's choice, bringing in Fickling.

Harper kept it going with a walk scoring Kuykendall, and a walk to Wing brought in Clemons. Johnson singled in Stanley and Moore walked to score Harper. Kelvin Yarell reached on an error scoring Wing. Kuykendall walked, scoring Johnson, and Clemons walked to score Moore. Stanley reached on an error, plating Ficklen and Harper's single scored Kuykendall and Clemons.

The other Sportsworld run came in the fourth.

The Jaycees picked up two more in the fourth and three in the fifth. Johnson had two hits to lead Sportsworld, while Cliff Ferrell had two for the Jaycees.

Washington.....5
Ayden-Grifton.....4

WASHINGTON — Glenn Braddy ripped a solo homer in the bottom of the seventh to give Washington a 5-4 victory over Ayden-Grifton Thursday in Senior Babe Ruth League baseball action.

Cal Tyree went the distance on the mound for Washington, scattering nine hits.

Braddy finished with a 4-4 performance at the plate, driving in four of the Washington runs.

Wesley Hardee drove in two runs with a single and a double, while Gene Johnson went 2-3 with an RBI.

The score remained even through until Shannon Peede homered in the top of the fifth to give Ayden-Grifton the lead, but Washington knotted it in the bottom of the frame before Braddy's game-winning blast.

Comedy Takes On Different Look

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television comedy isn't dead. It's just found in different places: the blooper-and-blunder programs, the lively banter on action-adventure shows, and the homes and taverns of today's modern comedy characters.

The statistics are there to suggest that the old style, mass-appeal, slapstick comedies are in serious decline.

This past season, for the first time, no comedy finished in Mr. Nielsen's Top 10. By comparison, just five seasons ago, when "Laverne and Shirley," "Three's Company" and "Mork and Mindy" were the three highest rated series, nine of the top 10 shows and 15 of the first 20 were comedies.

For the 1983-84 season, comedies averaged a 15.5 rating (percentage of all TV homes), which was almost a million fewer homes than the 16.5 rating for all regular series. In all, 39 comedies were on the three networks as regular series and replacements. Only 14 will return, along with seven new comedies.

But in today's world, you get your chuckles wherever you can, and the networks think they've found new sources, particularly at 8 o'clock, when children and teen-agers have control of the sets.

While kids used to watch physical sitcoms, such as "Mork and Mindy" and "Laverne and Shirley," it's obvious they're now looking for more. Today's sitcoms are "very slow-moving," said Brandon

Tartikoff, president of NBC Entertainment. "They're in a living room and it takes forever to get to the stove."

On "Magnum, P.I." and "The A-Team," viewers can get comedy from Tom Selleck and Mr. T along with heavy doses of dramatic spills and thrills. After flocking to the movie theaters for "Indiana Jones," someone tripping over a chair on TV would seem a tad tame.

Kids and adult males are most taken by action-adventure programming. Top-10 programs for males 18-49 last season included these 8 o'clock shows: "The A-Team" (No. 1), "Hardcastle & McCormick" (No. 5), "Magnum, P.I." (No. 8) and "Knight Rider" (No. 9).

The pratfalls and humiliations of physical sitcoms have been replaced by shows celebrating embarrassing moments, mistakes and practical jokes. "TV's Bloopers and Practical Jokes" and "Foul-Ups, Bleeps and Blunders," both successful as mid-season replacements, will be regular starters in 1984-85.

"As long as people keep making mistakes, we'll be in business," said comedian Robert Klein, a regular on "Bloopers."

The importance of the 8 p.m. leadoff show is that it sets up winning nights. For example, NBC's only victory last season was triggered by "The A-Team" on Tuesdays.

"We're being asked to create comic, light adventure programs at 8 o'clock that hold audiences," said producer David Gerber. "It's easier to make them work than risk two half-hour comedies." Gerber labels shows like "The A-Team" and "Magnum" "cheerful vigilantism."

CBS commissioned the R.H. Bruskin research company to determine which TV personalities were most popular. Of the top 21 characters, only six came from sitcoms. Tom Selleck's Thomas Magnum was No. 1. The first sitcom star was John Ritter's Jack Tripper from "Three's Company." He was sixth, just ahead of Mr. T.

David Poltrack, CBS' vice president for research, estimated that the same survey a decade ago would have produced 15 sitcom stars. But Poltrack doesn't think all comedy is in trouble, just the kind that looks for laughs with slapstick humor and outlandish characters.

Reality and identifiable characters are in, Morks from Ork, ghosts and talking orangutans are out.

"Strong, realistic characterizations are going to be comedy's survival," said Poltrack. "The only comedies that will succeed are ones that are targeted to specific audiences and strive for a strong identification between characters and viewers."

So, CBS had success with the realistic, sophisticated "Kate & Allie" on Monday nights, when the network is searching for intelligent women against ABC's "Monday Night Football." NBC has a winner in the barroom comedy "Cheers," attracting college-educated, high-income viewers.

"Comedy isn't dead," said Tartikoff. "It just has to be funny."

Airline Tests Computer Games

CHICAGO (AP) — It's not quite a video arcade in the sky, but when United Airlines Flight 1240 takes off from San Francisco on Saturday, most passengers will be able to pass the time playing video poker and blackjack.

The flight marks the start of a test to determine whether computer games will be as popular in the air as they are on the ground. Donald C. Moonjian, United's vice president for market management, said Thursday.

The 122 computers — offering backgammon, checkers, blackjack, poker and soccer — have been installed at the window and aisle seats of one DC-8, which will be used on a variety of routes from coast to coast and to Hawaii, Moonjian said.

"We think it will be a neat addition," said Diane Senna, who manages United's 9,000 flight attendants. "Sometimes you work awfully hard at keeping people occupied with food, movies and magazines. But those don't appeal to everybody."

Flight 1240 will fly to San Diego and then on to Chicago, where it will leave Sunday for Las Vegas, giving passengers a chance to brush up on their blackjack before arriving at the gambling mecca, said corporate spokesman Joe Hopkins.

Unlike the casinos, the on-board games are free. And because they're silent, they won't disturb fellow passengers, said Paula L. George, director of marketing for Altus Corp. of San Jose, Calif., which developed the games.

The computers, placed in the tray tables attached to the seat backs facing passengers, turn on automatically when the tray is pulled down.

Altus performed considerable research before installing the computers, Ms. George said. Engineers first had to determine that the battery-operated devices called "Airplay" won't interfere with the airplane's navigational or communications equipment, she said.

Altus originally considered installing video games that are popular among earthbound competitors. But after reviewing a study of just who the passengers are — mostly adult males — they decided to install more sophisticated games, Ms. George said.

Assembly Gets Spending Plan

RALEIGH (AP) — After enacting unpopular spending cuts and tax increases in recession-plagued 1983, the General Assembly returned to town grateful that this year's biggest task is giving, not receiving.

A revenue surplus of between $500 and $600 million awaited the Legislature as the 1984 budget session convened Thursday. No longer faced with simply making ends meet, the lawmakers debated the more comfortable question of who will get the extra money.

Gov. Jim Hunt recommended that most of it should fund his $300 million plan for improving education — raising teachers' salaries 15 percent, reducing class sizes and improving curricula. He also unveiled a seven-part plan to improve state employees' pay and benefits and asked for legislation on clean water, juvenile crime and "workfare."

"There is widespread agreement throughout our state ... that we must make this investment in education and that we must make it in a way that will bring strong economic growth to every single area of North Carolina," said Hunt in a speech to a joint session of the Legislature.

"There is no quick fix — no easy road. We must make deep, profound changes in our schools. We must take bold, ambitious strides forward, not timid steps."

The House-Senate Appropriations Committee will begin hammering out a spending package next week, although top lawmakers said little could be decided until the Department of Revenue completes an estimate of the budget surplus.

"I think (Hunt's plan) has a pretty good chance," added Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green. "There probably will be some modifications of some of the recommendations ... I'm sure the governor himself would expect that."

Rep. Al Adams, D-Wake, chairman of the House Base Budget Committee, said "98 percent" of the plan would be approved. But Sen. Marshall Rauch, chairman of the tax-writing Finance Committee, said not all of the surplus should be spent.

"In any business, when you have a surplus ... it is not wise to spend it all," said Rauch, D-Gaston.

Rauch said he would support "giving some of (the surplus) back to the people," but wouldn't elaborate and said he wasn't contemplating a tax cut. However, there is support for reducing or eliminating both the intangibles tax and the manufacturers' inventory tax.

In other legislative action: Inventory Tax Rep. Dan Lilley, D-Lenoir, introduced a bill that would give businesses an income tax credit for part of the amount of property taxes they pay on their inventories. It would require the Department of Commerce to study how the tax break affects the economy and report back to the 1987 General Assembly.

In 1984, the bill would give businesses a 13 percent credit. In 1985 the credit would be 15 percent and in 1986 it would be 17 percent. The varying amounts match estimated windfall tax revenues from prepayments of corporate income taxes.

House Speaker Liston Ramsey favors repealing the inventory tax, but said it could be done this year only if "we want to cut back on the education package, if we don't want to give some state employees a raise."

Interstate Banking Out-of-state banks could do business in North Carolina if their states grant North Carolina banks the same privilege under a bill introduced by Sen. Jim Edwards, D-Caldwell.

"The key word is reciprocity," said Edwards. "If they would allow our banks to merge with or buy up their banks, then we would allow them the same thing."

The bill probably would have little effect on the consumer but should help the banking industry, Edwards said.

Some officials of small banks worry that interstate banking would put them in danger of being swallowed up by larger institutions, but that's already a possibility, Edwards said, adding that any bank large enough to expand into North Carolina likely would try to merge or buy one of the bigger banks.

Allbrook A resolution was introduced honoring the late Sen. Julian Allbrook, D-Halifax, who died May 15. Dr. Phillip Taylor, president of Halifax Community College, was sworn in to replace Allbrook.

Taylor was administered the oath of office by Lt. Gov. Jimmy Green and escorted to the podium by Sen. Vernon White, D-Pitt, who taught Taylor in high school. Taylor was selected by the district's executive committee of the Democratic Party to complete Allbrook's term.

Green appointed Sen. Cecil Jenkins, D-Cabarrus, as chairman of the Senate Judiciary I Committee, replacing Allbrook. Jenkins also is chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee.

Lenoir-Rhyne Picks President

HICKORY, N.C. (AP) — Dr. John Ezra Trainer Jr. has been elected by the Lenoir-Rhyne College board of trustees as the college's new president.

Trainer, currently vice president for academic affairs at Jacksonville University in Florida, was elected at a trustee meeting on campus Wednesday afternoon. He will assume his duties in mid-August.

Trainer, 40, will succeed Albert Allran, who has served as acting president of Lenoir-Rhyne since January 1983.

Allran was named acting president when Dr. Albert Anderson left Lenoir-Rhyne to become vice president for institutional advancement at Luther College in Decorah, Iowa.

Trainer served as Jacksonville's dean of faculties from 1980 to 1981 and was the assistant dean of faculties from 1979 to 1980.

He also was a professor in the department of biology at Jacksonville from 1971 to 1979.

Trainer was born in Allentown, Pa., and graduated from Muhlenberg College in 1965 with a bachelor of science degree. He earned his master's degree from Wake Forest University in 1967 and his Ph.D from the University of Oklahoma in 1971.

Trainer was elected after a 10-month search process in which 140 applicants and nominees were considered for the office.

A 12-member search committee made recommendations to the executive committee of the college's board of trustees.

Officers Comb Warren County

WARRENTON, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina state troopers patrolled Warren County early today in search of four Virginia death row fugitives officials say have been "laying low" for more than a week.

"This county, in particular, is going to be blanketed," said Col. Jack Cardwell, executive officer of the N.C. Highway Patrol, adding that the southeastern section would get extra attention because it hasn't been covered before.

Cardwell declined to say how many troopers would patrol, but 26 were seen leaving the command post in Warrenton about 6 p.m. Thursday.

He said plans for Friday included "road-to-road searches and looking into abandoned houses."

"We're not going to downgrade the search," he said. "We'll have roughly the same number of men. You just cannot say it's not a possibility they're hiding out."

Earlier, authorities in Parktown, 10 miles southeast of Warrenton, said they did not believe the escapees were involved in a reported theft of pork and beans and bread from a woman's home.

But Warren County Deputy L.E. Harrison said he believes at least two fugitives are still in the county.

"They're just laying low," he said. "They know sooner or later the heat will be off of them and they can move."

"Maybe they think they can lay low and wait us out," said Robert Pence, who heads FBI operations in North Carolina. "It's one of these things where we can't afford to lessen it (the search) until we know for sure they're gone."

Troopers discontinued a search at Hyco Reservoir in Person County, where three people, including a man working for the police, reported a suspect running through the woods. Caldwell said troopers would maintain a perimeter around the area.

The May 31 breakout was the largest escape from death row in United States history. Six convicted murderers tricked guards with a bomb hoax at Virginia's Mecklenburg Correctional Center and drove away in a prison van.

Derick Lynn Peterson, 22, and Earl Clanton Jr., 30, were captured the following day in a Warrenton coin laundry and were returned Wednesday to Virginia.

The inmates still at large are Linwood Briley, 30; his brother, James, 28; Lem Davis Tuggle Jr., 32, and Willie Leroy Jones, 30. The Virginia attorney general's office on Thursday asked state and federal courts to dismiss appeals of the escaped prisoners' murder convictions.

Police continued to look for a sky blue 1978 Ford Ranger XLT that was stolen from Afton shortly after the escape and hasn't been seen since.

Russ Edmonston, spokesman for the North Carolina Department of Crime Control and Public Safety, called it a key to solving the mystery. The truck has a dark blue cab and dark blue panels on each side and has a sticker for Levi Garrett Tobacco on the rear bumper.

MASSING THE TROOPS — Members of the N.C. Department of Corrections security force muster along a highway around Lake Hyco near Roxboro Thursday in preparation for another search for the remaining four escapees from Virginia's state prison. Another search in Warren County was planned today. (AP Laserphoto)

Helms Schedules Hearing On Bill

By The Associated Press
Sen. Jesse Helms has called a hearing on legislation designed to overturn a U.S. Supreme Court decision which civil rights groups have criticized, but a civil rights leader called the move a "scare tactic" of the "radical right."

Helms, the chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said in a prepared statement Thursday that his committee had "received many requests to hold this hearing and examine the effects of this legislation on agriculture." The hearing is set for Tuesday.

Supporters of the bill said the legislation would reverse a Feb. 28 court decision that sharply limited the effectiveness of federal funding cutoffs as a tool to enforce anti-discrimination laws.

The 6-3 ruling came in the case of Grove City vs. Bell, in which the court interpreted Title IX of the 1972 Education Amendments. The title bars sex discrimination in education programs or activities receiving federal funds.

The court ruled that Title IX applied only to the particular program receiving aid, not all activities by the recipient educational institution.

Civil rights lawyers have warned that the court's ruling could be applied to similar laws against racial bias, age discrimination and discrimination against the handicapped.

But the Justice Department's chief civil rights attorney, William Bradford Reynolds, has criticized the legislation, saying it is too broad.

Study Pinpoints Death of Infants

RALEIGH (AP) — A study prompted in 1980 by statistics which showed that eastern North Carolina counties historically had the state's highest perinatal and infant mortality rates shows high-risk facilities do exist.

Hospitals in 26 North Carolina counties were surveyed and the study showed that preventable perinatal deaths at 13 state hospitals ranges from 3 percent to almost 90 percent. State officials said the study's design prevents them from identifying the high-risk facility.

"I couldn't recommend to a patient to go to this hospital instead of that one," said Dr. Richard Nugent, director of the state Department of Human Resources' perinatal care program, who said hospital had been guaranteed anonymity. "Where you find significant differences, you look for the problems and go about solving them."

In the study commissioned by the department's Maternal and Child Health Care Branch, a preventable death was defined as one in which available, appropriate care would have substantially reduced the risk of death — had it been provided. The perinatal period was defined as the time between 20 weeks gestation and 28 days of life.

In cases where hospitals didn't adequately document a perinatal death, researchers generally could not make a determination on preventability, so those hospitals showed a reduced percentage of preventable deaths, officials said.

Overall, the study said, 34.7 percent of perinatal deaths could have been prevented with proper care.

The results of the study were presented Thursday to members of the N.C. Perinatal Council. The study was conducted by the Northeastern North Carolina Professional Standards Review Organization, a federal agency that evaluates medical care in hospitals that treat Medicare patients.

Methodists Report Record Growth In '83

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N.C. (AP) — The Western North Carolina United Methodist Church had a record year for membership and missions contributions, with 38,839 members giving more than $532,000 in 1983, delegates at the annual conference were told Thursday.

Thomas L. Mallonee of Candler, president of United Methodist Men, said 378 fellowships gave more than $354,000 to missions and national organization projects last year.

In other action, Dr. Ernest Fitzgerald of Greensboro was unanimously nominated as bishop in anticipation of July's Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference, when six new bishops will be elected.

Dr. Karen Y. Collier, staff member of the Board of Discipleship of Nashville, Tenn., became the first clergywoman to deliver a major sermon to the annual conference when she challenged the 2,100 delegates to face the church's third century with courage.

"We must believe in the Holy Spirit," she said.

Those Who Smoke Are Smoking More

ATLANTA (AP) — Federal researchers say Americans who smoke are smoking more because the nation's per capita consumption of cigarettes is declining at a slower rate than the number of smokers.

The national Centers for Disease Control reported Thursday that between 1963 and 1978, per capita consumption of cigarettes among all Americans 18 and older decreased 0.6 percent a year, from 4,336 to 3,965 cigarettes per person.

But the proportion of smokers has declined faster — 1.6 percent a year, from 42 percent in 1965 to 33 percent in 1980.

"The relatively high rate of decline in the percentage of smokers, compared with that in per capita cigarette consumption, indicates that the average number of cigarettes consumed per smoker has increased ... approximately 1 percent per year," the CDC said.

Possible explanations include "a supposedly higher rate" of quitting among light smokers, a higher rate of smoking by those continuing to smoke and a higher rate of smoking by those who start, the agency said.

Tobacco use is "a significant health problem," causing 350,000 premature deaths a year in the United States, the CDC said.

The Atlanta-based health agency said the decline in the number of smokers in the United States has been at least partially offset by an increase in use of other tobacco products such as chewing tobacco. The use of "smokeless" tobacco products has increased 11 percent per year since 1974, the CDC said.

The CDC's smoking findings, printed in its Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, accompanied research on international smoking patterns conducted by Canada's Laboratory Centre for Disease Control.

The Canadian researchers found the United States ranks fifth in the world in per capita consumption of manufactured cigarettes. Among all Americans — not just those 18 and up — the average person smoked 2,678 cigarettes in 1982.

Cyprus registered the highest per capita cigarette consumption in the world — 3,117 cigarettes for every person — followed by Greece, Cuba, Canada and the United States. Last on the list was Guinea, where the average person smokes 17 cigarettes a year.

Burn-Out Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee has approved compromise legislation that calls for a 30-month study of the feasibility of requiring that cigarettes stop burning within a designated time when they are not being smoked.

Some congressmen want tobacco companies to foot the bill for the study.

Soviets Report Sakharov 'Fine'

LONDON (AP) — Moscow has told the United States through official channels that Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov is "alive and improving," a spokesman for President Reagan said today.

But Deputy Press Secretary Larry Speakes said Washington still wanted "visible assurances" that Sakharov, a pioneer in Soviet nuclear weapons, was well. State Department spokesman John Hughes said the Reagan administration hoped for further confirmation that Sakharov and his wife, Yelena Bonner, are alive.

"When the world is saying (that) we have not seen Sakharov for a long time and Soviet diplomats say, 'Sure, they are fine.' That's not an assurance; that's a claim," Hughes told reporters covering the seven-nation economic summit in London.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz said Moscow should let observers visit Sakharov and permit him and his wife to emigrate if they wish.

Shultz, interviewed on the NBC "Today" program, said that "at a minimum, the Soviet Union ought to allow some independent observers, such as yourself or some reporters, at least to see them, if not interview them, and of course to let them emigrate if they want to." The text of Shultz' interview was issued in London, where he is meeting with other foreign ministers at the summit.

U.S. Links Drugs To Governmental Unit In Bulgaria

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department official says there's little the United States can do about illegal drugs reaching this country through Bulgaria because relations between the two nations are at "rock bottom."

Mark Palmer, deputy assistant secretary for European and Canadian affairs, made the statement Thursday after a Drug Enforcement Administration official told a House hearing that one-fourth of all heroin reaching the United States comes through Bulgaria.

Palmer and John C. Lawn, acting deputy administrator of the drug agency, said there is evidence that much of the drug trafficking is done under the protective umbrella of Kintex, Bulgaria's official international trading company.

Both men testified that the Reagan administration believes that much of the drug traffic through Bulgaria occurs with the toleration and perhaps active cooperation of the communist regime.

Lawn described Kintex as a "safe base" that makes it easy for narcotics smugglers, principally Turks, to ship drugs to Western Europe and the United States.

"We can confirm that 25 percent of the heroin reaching the United States transits at some point through Bulgaria," Lawn told the Foreign Affairs Committee task force on international narcotics control.

He testified that data collected by his agency "indicates that the government of Bulgaria has established a policy of encouraging and facilitating the trafficking of narcotics through the corporate veil of Kintex."

"In virtually every report available to the DEA since 1970 about narcotics trafficking in and through Bulgaria ... Kintex is mentioned as a facilitator of transactions," Lawn said.

"In turn, knowledgeable sources consistently tell us that top-ranking members of the Bulgarian Security Service or ex-Bulgarian ministers comprise the directorate of Kintex," he said.

Palmer said that, "at a minimum, the Bulgarian authorities appeared to tolerate, if not shield, these drug dealers."

He said the U.S. government has received allegations "that the Bulgarians ... have an officially sanctioned program for selling illegal drugs to Western Europe and using the proceeds from those drugs to finance illegal arms transactions and to bankroll terrorist groups."

Palmer said "there's no question" about the involvement of Kintex, and added that the U.S. government has complained repeatedly to Bulgaria.

But, he said, because "our relations with Bulgaria are at rock bottom ... there isn't much further punitive we can do."

Sikhs Protest Troop Action

By The Associated Press

Hundreds of Sikhs demonstrated in Hong Kong, Thailand, Britain and Canada against the Indian army's assault on the most sacred Sikh shrine — the Golden Temple in the Sikh holy city of Amritsar in India.

In Birmingham, England, police reported attempted firebombings at two Indian businesses.

Sikhs in the United States planned to march to the Indian Embassy in Washington this afternoon to protest the Wednesday storming of the shrine.

Sikh militant leader Jarnail Singh Bhindranwale and 250 of his extremist followers were killed by Indian army troops in the assault, along with at least 59 soldiers. The attack followed weeks of terrorist attacks by Sikhs agitating for political, economic and religious concessions from India's government.

About 300 chanting Sikhs demonstrated today in front of the Indian Commission in Hong Kong. Seventeen Sikhs were allowed to enter the commission office to present a letter to a commission official.

U. Alexis Johnson, at the time deputy assistant secretary of state for the Far East, told The Associated Press on Thursday, "It was a trick of (Secretary of State) John Foster Dulles to bring pressure on the Chinese through the Indians to reach an armistice and a settlement." Johnson said he knew of no serious consideration of use of atomic weapons.

The documents said the Joint Chiefs plan envisioned a "coordinated, large-scale offensive ... with a view to the defeat and destruction of the bulk of the Communist forces in Korea and settlement of the Korean War on the basis of a unified, non-Communist Korea," and the council agreed that would be the course followed if the United States moved to "more positive action."

The documents said: "Each of the suggested courses of action permits but does not require employment of atomic weapons."

A-Bomb Proposal Said To Be 'Trick'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States drew up a plan to use atomic bombs in the Korean War, according to newly released documents. But it never took steps to put that plan into effect and a key official of that era says it was "a trick" to break a deadlock in armistice negotiations.

Among 2,000 pages of previously classified documents dealing with Korea from 1952 to 1954 released by the State Department on Thursday was a record of a meeting of the National Security Council on May 20, 1953.

It said: "After further discussion of various military aspects of the problem, the president summed up the views presented by the Joint Chiefs (of Staff) as indicating their belief that if we went over to more positive action against the enemy in Korea, it would be necessary to expand the war outside Korea and that it would be necessary to use the atomic bomb."

The documents said: "Each of the suggested courses of action permits but does not require employment of atomic weapons."

Halt Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A halt to all nuclear weapons tests is being sought by 40 senators who want President Reagan to approach the Soviet Union for an immediate return to test ban negotiations that were suspended in 1979.

"We believe that a comprehensive test ban treaty is readily attainable and readily verifiable," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Thursday.

The proposal by Kennedy, 31 other Democrats and eight Republicans is not expected to be put to a vote until next week.

Opening lead: Queen of ♣.

By and large, grand slams are not a great investment. Unless you are pretty sure you are going to make it, you lose the small slam and game bonuses as well if you go down at a seven-bid because of a bad break or some slight miscalculation.

This one, however, was a superb grand slam, and was reached by several pairs in a tournament. Note North's jump shift and subsequent cue-bid in hearts. When North could leap to a small slam without knowing the quality of South's spade suit or that he had first-round control of clubs, South decided to venture the grand.

The opening lead at all tables was the queen of clubs. A few declarers ruffed, drew three rounds of trumps and then cashed the ace-king of hearts. When the queen did not drop, they continued with four rounds of diamonds, discarding a heart from dummy. Next came a heart ruff, but when the suit failed to break, declarer was left with a heart loser. Down one.

Declarer did reasonably well, but he had a far better line available — a dummy reversal. He should ruff the opening lead high, cash a high trump and enter dummy with a trump. Declarer ruffs another club and again gets back to dummy with a trump to ruff the last club. Now declarer crosses to the board with the ace of hearts or a diamond and clears trumps. He can get rid of dummy's losing heart on the fourth diamond.

What declarer has done is to treat dummy as the master hand. In all, he scores seven trump tricks — three by ruffing clubs — and four diamonds, as well as the ace-king of hearts.

How do you choose the best opening lead? Charles Goren has the answer. For a copy of "Winning Opening Leads," send $1.85 to "Goren-Leads," care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 259, Norwood, N.J. 07648. Make checks payable to Newspaperbooks.

Donation Presented

The Mental Health Association in Pitt County has been given $1,850 by the local Farm Fresh Store.

The store enlisted the aid of 83 community volunteers to serve as hosts and in other customer assistance capacities during the recent opening of the store. Mental Health Association volunteer Jacque Galke served as volunteer coordinator. She praised all the volunteers and gave special recognition to the Town and Country Senior Citizens Club which provided much of the volunteer service. The donation roughly equaled minimum wage for every volunteer hour of work, Brenda Gray, Mental Health Association executive director said.

The donation will be used for a number of association-sponsored community service programs, including special programs for the tornado disaster victims of this area.

FOCUS

Celebrity Duck

Saturday Donald Duck turns 50. In 1943, Donald played Hitler in the Academy Award winning film "Der Fuehrer's Face." Donald is credited with saving a nation's water supply. In 1964 a sunken ship was polluting a harbor near Kuwait. Someone recalled a comic book in which Donald had floated a sunken boat by stuffing it with ping-pong balls. Scientists copied this plan, and with 27 million plastic balls raised the ship and towed it away.

DO YOU KNOW — Can you name Donald Duck's three nephews?

THURSDAY'S ANSWER — St. Paul's Cathedral towers over the City of London.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 9, 1984

YOUR DAILY Horoscope
from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have some excellent ideas early for knowing just how to treat those about you and so take full advantage of this opportunity. Later delays occur.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan how to have more rapport with associates and later handle some problems wisely. Don't neglect your marketing.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can be efficient at some work in the morning and in solving health problem, but later you have to have a different attitude.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Morning is fine for planning entertainment for the weekend; then do last-minute errands with enthusiasm.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Morning starts out with a benign feeling at home, but don't take any risks later. Don't rush into anything blindfolded.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Find the best way to handle communications and travel matters in the morning; then make some needed changes at your home.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have a fine idea for better bookkeeping in the morning so put it to work. Be sure to use good judgment in driving.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Pursue your greatest desire in the morning in a quiet but positive manner and gain it. Set up appointments for recreation in the p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Those who admire you will cooperate in just about any plan you have in mind, but iron out any wrinkles in it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Go after those things you want in the future, but later some worry may come up that you can solve wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A bigwig can give you support you need in the morning, but later you have to convince a good friend to go along with your plans.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are inspired early and can put some new idea across easily, then get in to worldly tasks. Persistence is the key.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Fine morning to keep promises you have made and to pay bills; then try to please a person in business.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will like to cooperate with everyone and will have many friends and be very popular. Give as fine an education as possible. Your progeny may find it hard to get started in a career, but will persist and much success can come.
