Evergreen Hires Firm To Plan Revitalization

By SUE HINSON
Reflector Staff Writer

Evergreen, a non-profit citizens' organization involved in central city rehabilitation efforts, has hired Owen Kugel Associates of Lancaster, Pa., to develop a plan for revitalizing the heart of Greenville.

Kugel Associates, for a $5,000 a month fee, will study and make recommendations concerning a portion of the city designated by Greenville council members in January for renovation and revitalization assistance.

Funding for the revitalization program is to be provided through a low-interest loan program arranged by the city of Greenville, Evergreen and four local lending institutions — NCNB, Wachovia, Branch Banking and Trust and Planters National Bank.

The Pennsylvania-based development and advisory firm has, Evergreen President Dick McKee said, been involved in projects of this nature for some time.

"The company will come in for a fee and will inventory all existing properties for potential for rehabilitation and revitalization and will then choose one of those areas for its own project," McKee explained.

Part of the contract between Evergreen and Kugel Associates calls for implementation of a $2 million construction project by the development and advisory firm within 12 months of the contract signing. "If Kugel doesn't meet that stipulation then we get our investment back," McKee said. "The contract also has a 30-day cancellation provision for either side," he added.

"His (Kugel's) conviction is that by doing these things you make the revitalization happen. He found putting his own money in as seed projects in Ohio, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania cities served as a base from which other projects flourished."

Kugel Associates, however, will not be using low-interest monies provided through the Evergreen, city and local lending institutions' program. The firm will finance its project at the conventional rate, McKee said.

"We're taking a risk in doing this," McKee added, "but it's a minimal one based on his talents and past record."

"He's really such a remarkable person that it was a little hard for us (Evergreen Board) to believe that he was for real. But, we investigated his financial set-up and talked to cities where he had done work and ... every response we got was positive." Kugel Associates also has the backing of the North Carolina Department of Commerce.

Evergreen will pay Kugel's fee with money donated by the city, local industries, businesses and private citizens. At present, Evergreen has received gift commitments totaling $127,000 to be given over a three-year period.

City Council OKs Zoning Change In Tar River Area

By SUE HINSON
Reflector Staff Writer

The Greenville City Council Thursday approved a request to rezone a portion of the Tar River Neighborhood from R-6 to R-6N — a designation that will limit duplex, multifamily and rooming-boarding house composition of the neighborhood to 14 percent.

The object of revitalization efforts for some time, the Tar River neighborhood is now composed to a large extent of privately owned and occupied single-family homes. But in 1980 when the Tar River Neighborhood Association, an organization that today boasts 200 members, was formed, rental properties accounted for over half of the neighborhood's composition.

Council approval of the rezoning request put a cap on development other than single-family residences, while allowing reconstruction of duplex, multifamily and rooming-boarding house structures should any be destroyed by fire or other disaster. A previous request of TRNA to rezone a portion of the neighborhood to R-6S (single-family residential) was sent back for further study by the council because passage of measure would have made duplex, multifamily and rooming-boarding houses non-conforming uses, which subsequently meant those structures could not have been rebuilt if destroyed.

TRNA President Inez Fridley, who was wearing a red-paper Valentine on her lapel as were other TRNA members to signify her "heart-felt" feeling for the neighborhood, thanked the council for helping residents preserve their neighborhood. The area covered in the rezoning measure includes properties located northerly of East Third Street, East Fourth Street and Johnson Street; easterly of Jarvis Street; southerly of the Tar River; and westerly of Elm Street and Stencil Drive.

In other business, the council continued consideration of an ordinance regulating location of satellite dishes until further study could be done regarding ordinance provisions concerning side yard placement. The matter has now been referred back for study two times, because of council dissatisfaction with the proposal which would limit satellite antennae placement to rear and side yards in residential areas. Also continued for further study was consideration of bids for a communications system to serve Greenville fire/rescue and police departments.

A "routine" request by Harvey Bradshaw to rezone approximately .147 acres located on the west side of Hooker Road, approximately 400 feet south of Horseshoe Drive from R-6 (allowing single-family, duplex and multifamily development) to R-15S (allowing only single family development with lot size restrictions) was unanimously approved by the council. Also receiving unanimous approval was a request by W.E. Dansey to rescind a recently approved ordinance concerning property located along SR 1708, adjacent to Evans Trailer Park. The ordinance assigned a zoning classification to and brought into the extraterritorial jurisdiction of the city 49 acres known as the Tommie Little property.

In final new business, the council approved scheduling of a public hearing on a request to annex Tucker Estates, Section 3, Phase 2. The Tucker Estates property consists of 7.57 acres and is located west of Tucker Drive along Minnette Place. Scheduling of a public hearing on a request to annex Lyndale Townes was also approved. Lyndale Townes is located south of Red Banks Road Extension, east of the Lyndale Subdivision and consists of 5.19 acres.

Consent agenda items approved in blanket council action included the following:

• A resolution reaffirming the city's affirmative action goals. The resolution outlined the city's goal to "achieve fair and equal employment" through such measures as

Fire In Old High Point Hotel Kills Five People

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — Five of 28 residents in a hotel for transients that once served as a Civil War hospital were killed and a sixth was critically burned when a fire raged through the 135-year-old structure that authorities say had no sprinkler system.

Two of the victims of the Thursday night fire at the Biltmore Hotel in downtown High Point are believed to have been overcome by the intense smoke that filled the top floor of the three-story building, where the fire erupted from a corner room near a fire escape.

The remaining 22 residents escaped without injury, authorities said.

"I don't know how many rooms were full, but it couldn't have been more than 28," said Jack Boger, night clerk at the Biltmore.

The hotel fire erupted shortly after another downtown fire had been brought under control at the Wachovia Bank & Trust Co. three blocks away. High Point police Capt. R.J. McGuire said. Seven people had to be rescued from the roof at the Wachovia building but there were no injuries.

The causes for the fires were not immediately known, but Fire Chief Hannis L. Thompson said both are believed to have been accidental.

The fire was confined to one room of the hotel, which Thompson said has been the scene of several fires in the past. "But none have been as bad as this one. We don't have any reason to believe this was arson; all of the other fires here have been accidental," Thompson said.

The identifications of the victims had not been released Friday morning by High Point police, who had tentatively identified four of the dead men.

Legislator Wants Higher Age For Child Safety Law

RALEIGH (AP) — Citing figures showing child safety seats have saved 22 lives in North Carolina, Rep. George Miller today filed a bill that would raise the mandatory age for confining children in cars from 2 to 6.

Dr. B.J. Campbell of the Highway Safety Research Center in Chapel Hill said at a news conference that child restraints could "save as many as eight out of every 10 that are now dying unrestrained."

Heather Rohrer, a Chapel Hill woman whose daughter, Katie, survived a three-car crash in 1983 in which another child died, said she was grateful she had a child safety seat.

"This is a law that we need to have passed," she said. "It's going to save some lives."

Miller, D-Durham, said the bill will extend the current law to cover all cars — not just family vehicles. While the bill provides for a $10 fine plus court costs, Miller said it is intended more to educate than to punish.

"If a person is detected not using a child restraint system, the judge may, upon proof that such a system has been purchased, have the fine and court costs removed," Miller said.

A research center study indicated that the child-restraint law enacted in 1981 has prevented serious injury to 55 children under age 2. The center reported that restrained children are 88 percent less likely to be killed and 56 percent less likely to be seriously injured in a crash.

Sen. Charles Hipps, D-Haywood, who earlier filed a bill to raise the age from 2 to 3 while increasing the fine from $10 to $50, said he liked Miller's bill and that a compromise would be easy to reach. He shrugged off objections that the state should not be intruding into personal decisions about the seat, saying, "You can't make everybody happy at all times."

Miller, asked how the poor would be affected by the bill, said there are hundreds of organizations offering to donate or loan the seats to those in need.

"We'll see that they get one," he said, adding that many hospitals are participating in the "first ride home" program that provides a child restraint for newborn infants leaving the hospital.

Praise

The Pitt-Greenville Chamber of Commerce today commended the agencies involved in the planned merger of the Pitt County and Greenville school systems.

Ray Boleman, chairman of the chamber's board of directors, said the chamber's executive committee Thursday passed a resolution commending the County Commissioners, the Pitt County and Greenville boards of education and the state Legislature for endorsing and passing a resolution for the merger of the two local school systems.

"The action is progressive, and we want to commend them for taking the initiative for this action," Boleman said. "It is the chamber's position that an improvement in education is a need in the city and the county, and these agencies have taken a leadership role" in the merger.

Customer Is Chef At Old Sugar Mill Grill

By BILL LOHMANN
DELEON SPRINGS, Fla. (UPI) — If you have a complaint or compliment for the chef at The Old Spanish Sugar Mill Grill and Griddle House, you need never leave the table. The customer is the cook.

The Mill, housed in a restored sugar mill a short walk from the warm waters of DeLeon Springs, is a do-it-yourself restaurant where the food is provided but the cooking is not.

"It's neat," said Patty Schwarze, whose family has owned and operated the restaurant and mill since 1961. "You get a varied reaction from people once they find out they do the cooking, but most of them really enjoy it."

Each table in the small restaurant has an electric griddle embedded in its center.

The specialty at the Mill, which is open only during breakfast and lunch, is pancakes. All you can make and all you can eat.

Each table receives two pitchers of pancake batter — early American-style made with unbleached white flour and the special Mill concoction of five stone-ground flours — and more is provided according to appetite.

All the pancake trimmings — including blueberries, banana slices and applesauce — are available, as well as sausage, bacon, ham and eggs. Pitchers filled with raw honey, unsulphured molasses and maple syrup are on each table.

Whatever the combination, all the cooking is done by the customers at the tables.

"When people are first confronted with it, some of them are nervous and almost reticent," said Schwarze, 28. "They don't know how serious we are. They think we're kidding."

Sandwiches and salads are available for the less-daring, but Schwarze said most people choose to cook their own meals. She said there are few parched pancakes or singed sausages.

With a seating capacity of only 60, and a price of about $3.50 apiece, the restaurant is often filled, especially on weekends when regular customers from as far away as Orlando drive the 45 miles to DeLeon Springs.

Schwarze said older customers enjoy the dark pancakes and molasses and honey syrups, while the younger crowd is taken with the fact that the pancakes are made with whole grains and no preservatives.

"We do no advertising whatsoever," Schwarze said. "We depend on word-of-mouth, people telling their friends, 'You've got to see this.'"

"Our repeat business is very high. We have people come from all over the state who plan their trips around eating here."

The mill itself is more than 150 years old. It sits nestled among palm trees and live oaks in DeLeon Springs State Park, a 52-acre spread with a nature trail and small camping area 30 miles west of Daytona Beach. A wildlife refuge sits next door.

At the heart of the park is the mill and springs, which pumps 16 million gallons of water a day and keeps a constant 72-degree temperature year-round.

"This was considered quite the tourist spot in the 1930s and 1940s," said Schwarze. "People from the North would come down here on the train and stay two or three weeks. In time, though, the money and the tourists moved south to the Fort Lauderdale area and the park fell out of favor."

Schwarze's father came on the scene around 1960 and found the mill in shabby condition.

"My father was a fifth-generation gristmill and he just loved old mills," recalled Schwarze. "He came to Florida ostensibly to retire but kept looking for old mills. He found this one and decided it would be an ideal location."

Schwarze's father restored the mill and opened the restaurant 24 years ago. The idea for a do-it-yourself menu came from his days as a baker in New York when he let his customers grill their own pancakes while they waited for their orders, his daughter said.

All the flour for pancake batter and homemade bread is made in the mill's electric-powered buhrstone gristmill by Schwarze's staff of nine. The big water wheel currently is out of service but its refurbishment is next on the list, said Schwarze.

"As a child, I swore I'd never do this, but as I got farther away, I found myself wanting to come back," said Schwarze, who taught school before returning to the mill.

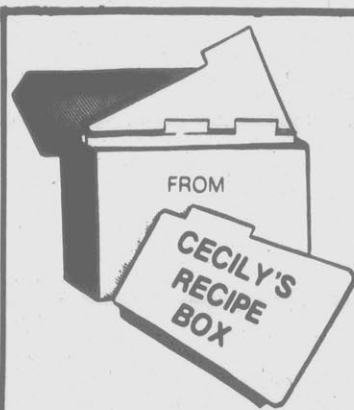

"We work hard here, but we really enjoy doing it. I'm never going to get wealthy at it, but I make a comfortable living. I feel good about what I'm doing."

CLUB MEMBERS PLAY FOOTBALL
SCARSDALE, N.Y. (AP) — More than a few professional football players were members of the Boys Clubs of America.

Harry Carson, a linebacker for the New York Giants, was one of them. "We had a Boys Club football team," says Carson, who grew up in Florence S.C. "That helped steer me in the right direction and kept me from messing around."

According to William R. Bricker, national director of the organization, former pro football players who were once club members include Bart Starr, Bob Griese and Lynn Swann.

ENERGY COSTS PREDICTED

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Home buyers can now learn the estimated heating and cooling costs of new homes before they are built by using a computerized design system.

The computer program, developed by Owens-Corning Fiberglas, analyzes almost every element of the construction process for a home to project an estimated annual heating and cooling cost.

Over 1,200 home builders in the nation participate in the program.

Makes about two gallons of batter.

With a pastry blender cut in butter until fine. Stir in molasses and vanilla until dough is smooth. Cover tightly and chill until firm enough to handle. Shape into fingers about 3 inches long and 1/2-inch wide. Roll in nuts. Place on ungreased cookie sheet, 1 inch apart. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until lightly browned — 15 minutes. - 1 large onion, finely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 35-ounce can plum tomatoes
- 6-ounce can tomato paste
- 1 teaspoon dried crushed basil
- Salt and pepper to taste

In a five-quart saucepot brown sausage in oil; push sausage aside and add beef; crumble with a fork until it loses its red color. Stir in onion, garlic, tomatoes, tomato paste, and basil; simmer 2 hours; add salt and pepper. Makes 2 quarts.

Sewing On Sheer Fabrics Requires Special Handling

A light, airy, delicate sheer may be the perfect fabric for spring prom, wedding and bridesmaids gowns.

"These beautiful fabrics are also fragile and delicate. They require special handling if you are making that special dress," said Dr. Judy Mock, extension clothing specialist, N.C. State University.

Soft sheers like chiffon, gauze and batiste are fluid and drapable, but more difficult to handle. Crisp sheers like voile and organdy have more body and are easier to handle.

Not every dress design works when made of a sheer fabric. Select a pattern with the fabric's characteristics in mind, the extension specialist recommends. "Choose designs with softness and gentle fit. For soft sheers which have little body, select styles with fullness and draped or fluid lines. Design details such as tucks are attractive in crisp sheer fabrics," Dr. Mock says.

The see-through characteristic of the sheer fabric should be compatible with the pattern design. A minimum of seams and darts are often desirable since these construction details will show through to the right side of the garment.

Many sheers are delicate fabrics and very fitted styles create too much stress on seams, causing pulling and shifting of the fabric," she said. Check the suggested fabric list on the back of the pattern envelope to see whether a sheer fabric is suitable for the garment design.

"Actually it can be difficult to do a simple straight seam on a sheer garment. Threads tend to shift slip easily and the crosswise yarn may not remain perpendicular lengthwise yarns," says Dr. Mock. For smooth stitching follow these guidelines:

— Use a small-hole throat-plate keep the fabric from being drawn into the bobbin area.

— Stitch seams with strips tissue paper under the fabric avoid marring, shifting and puckering. It may even be necessary place tissue paper over the layer.

— Use a new size 9 or 11 sewing machine needle. Change needles a pins frequently to prevent snagging or pulling of yarns that catch on d or burred points.

— Make test seams on two layers of fabric scraps to check press and tension adjustments. Twelve 15 stitches per inch is right for sheers. Very delicate fabrics may require an even smaller stitch.

— Lighten the machine press to keep an even feeding of fabric layers.

— Lower the needle into the fabric before stitching and hold the three ends as you begin to stitch.

At Wits End
By Erma Bombeck

No matter how big you think you've become or how much success you amass, there are some things in this world that are equalizers. They keep you humble.

The garbage can is one of them.

There isn't a day that goes by that I don't look, like a headless body fighting to escape being sucked into the can. There is a reason for this. I throw away everything that I need to live.

Everything is there nestled among the coffee grounds and gutted grapefruit. A grocery tape that I recorded a check on. A pair of pantyhose with runs that I can still wear under slacks. The warranty on my steam iron. A picture of a friend's baby in the Christmas card. The box with instructions and screws for the new lawn chair. My column that I forgot to clip. The inside of my coffee pot. The manual explaining how to hook up the telephone answering device. The current TV Guide. A phone number written on a paper towel.

My husband says he doesn't know why I don't just get a can in a subdued green and wheel it into my office and use it as a filing cabinet. (This is the suggestion of a man who ran after the garbage truck for three blocks begging to sift through and find the registration deadline for a 10-K.)

I consider garbage cans a second chance. They're the purgatory of our existence. It's a temporary place where trash is either condemned the jaws of the garbage truck given a reprieve by a hysterical woman who has decided again throwing it away.

A couple of days ago, someone tapped me on my arm as my hand dangled inside the can. "You cor here often?" asked my husband.

"Don't start," I said. "I'm missing something important."

"Let me guess. A recipe for Sunday's food section for something disguising liver." He leaned over the can and sniffed. "I don't remember having that. What was it?"

"Broccoli Fiesta."

"Was it blue then?"

"Green. Darn, it's not here. Move over. It's probably in the other can."

"Look, if you'll tell me what you're looking for, maybe I can help."

"It's my new charge card. You know how they send it in a plastic envelope so as not to attract attention? I thought it was junk mail."

As four legs kicked in the air out the top of the can I said, "You can miss it. I wrapped my gum in it."

thought I heard my husband groan. On the other hand, it could have been the Broccoli Fiesta coming life.

Hurt Daughter Has Advice For Parents In Making Wills

DEAR ABBY: I have some advice that could save a lot of people a lot of heartbreak. Recently my father died. He was an attorney and most people would consider him a wealthy man. I have one sister who has a history of emotional problems and is marginally employed. My father left her enough money to buy a house and be assured that she would never have to "worry." He left my mother the rest.

He left me not so much as a bubble gum wrapper! If people knew this, I'm sure they would be shocked because I had always been the "apple of his eye."

I am so hurt and humiliated, I can't see straight. My husband has a decent job, but we're far from rich. Every other paycheck goes to the house—you know what mortgage rates are these days—and our car has 80,000 miles on it. Frankly, we could have used a little something.

Anyway, please tell your readers this: If you're planning to exclude one of your children from your will on the grounds that he or she is apparently self-sufficient, at least say something nice about the person in your will—not that "so-and-so is already well-provided for." And please leave that child something—even if it's only something of sentimental value. It will make a lot of difference in the way you are remembered.

SHUT OUT

DEAR SHUT OUT: Good advice. Thanks for a valuable item.

DEAR ABBY: I loved this boy (now a man) with all my heart all through school. "John" loved me, too, but we never went all the way. I would have, but John was stronger than I was, and he never let it happen.

He was an altar boy and dedicated to his religion. I'm also Catholic and thought that one day we would marry. Instead, John went to the seminary to become a priest. He was ordained and assigned to a parish out of town. In the meantime, I got married and had a family.

Sixteen years later, John moved back to town, and now he is my parish priest!

I still have strong feelings for him and I think he feels the same about me, too, although he hardly ever looks me in the eye. He took my confession twice, but I never confessed the sin that was really in my heart (my desire for him).

The temptation is terrible, and the guilt about my feelings is weighing heavily on my conscience. I cannot deny my feelings. I don't want to hurt John, myself or my family. Please help me.

A SINNER IN MY HEART

DEAR SINNER: Reduce the temptation by changing to another parish. It would be a kindness to John, and a favor to yourself.

***

DEAR ABBY: My best friend, "Denny," was engaged to be married three months ago, so I threw a stag party for him that turned out to be a big mistake.

I hired "Salome," an exotic dancer, to entertain at this party the night before the wedding, and Denny ended up in bed with her. To make a long story short, Denny's fiancée heard about it and called off the wedding.

Now Denny is making plans to marry Salome. My question: Should I give Denny another stag party?

LESTER

DEAR LESTER: I vote no, but if you do, don't hire another exotic dancer. Ask Salome to dance—and retain the seventh veil for her wedding.

American History Month Is DAR Program Focus

American History Month was the program focus of the Major Benjamin May Chapter, DAR, at its Saturday meeting. Dr. Mike Forster of East Carolina University was guest speaker.

Dr. Forster is a collector of post cards picturing the Statue of Liberty and publisher of two books on his collection. He told of his hobby and related anecdotes and data about the statue and famous people associated with the statue.

Mrs. R.T. Williams, American history month chairman, introduced the speaker. She also welcomed and introduced the American history essay contest winners and their parents. The four top winners were: fifth grade, Michael Lynn Meeks, H.B. Sugg School; sixth grade, Vanessa Corbett; seventh grade, Mark Flanagan; and eighth grade, Monique Bembrey. All are from Farmville Middle School. Each received a certificate and gift from the chapter. Mark Flanagan, overall winner, also received the American history medal.

Other winners receiving certificates were Jonathan Mitchell, Pactolus Elementary School; Niki Peaden, Kevin Mewborn, Rhonda Davis and Thomas Lewis, H.B. Sugg

School; Tiffany Moore, Samuel Kirkland, Joseph E. Meeks and Janie Lee Durham, Farmville Middle School.

Flanagan read his essay "The Statue of Liberty — the Lady With a Lamp" and Mrs. Dave Davis read "Contributions of Black Patriots During the American Revolution." Mrs. Davis was recognized for her work as librarian at H.B. Sugg School with students in the study of the Statue of Liberty.

Mrs. Williams is the nominee for organizing secretary in the state organization and will attend the state conference at Pinehurst in March with chapter delegates. Mrs. Elmer Flake, co-chairman of the annual bridge tournament to be held April 23, announced committees for the event.

The March meeting will be held at the Farmville Presbyterian Church.

TUBULAR DIAGNOSIS

MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP) — Abnormalities in the upper digestive tract that are too small to be seen by X-ray can be detected and biopsied with the use of a long, flexible tube.

The tube, called a panendoscope, is passed through the mouth and back of the throat to the upper digestive tract. It can then be used to diagnose problems in the esophagus, stomach and duodenum.

Bridal Policy

A black and white glossy five by seven photograph is requested for engagement announcements in The Daily Reflector. For publication in a Sunday edition, the information must be submitted by 12 noon on the preceding Wednesday. Engagement pictures must be released at least three weeks prior to the wedding date. After three weeks, only an announcement will be printed.

Wedding write-ups will be printed through the first week with a one column picture. During the second week, a one column picture will be used with a write-up giving less description and after the second week, just as an announcement.

Wedding forms and pictures should be returned to The Daily Reflector one week prior to the date of the wedding. All information should be typed or written neatly.

Time For Caution

It's unusual that while many states are running up nice surpluses in revenues, the federal government is agonizing over deficits and how to reduce spending.

Some states are expecting huge surpluses for '84. California, for example, looks to enjoying a $986 million surplus. Minnesota anticipates a billion-dollar windfall. New Jersey is looking forward to between $600 and $800 million in surplus funds. Wisconsin may count up to $400 million and even New York anticipates at least $268 million ... the list runs on.

They are also looking forward to spending and spending and with it increasing their commitments to future spending; it's a far cry from 1983 when state governments were struggling just to get by. Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Wisconsin all have serious tax cut proposals on the table.

Tax increases have been proposed in 14 states and others are talking new revenue sources (such as a state lottery). So, plainly, the advent of prosperity is not shared by all.

An Associated Press survey shows there is great interest in devoting much of the new wealth to education. Higher levels of state support for local school districts or raising teacher pay figure in the planning. While last year's economic recovery made a difference, we'd feel better if some of the fortunate states would cool their enthusiasm.

When and if Washington gets around to cutting back on money that customarily has been going to the states, there's going to be a whole new ballgame. Those states happily preparing affluent spending plans are presumably also counting on federal sums that may not be forthcoming. Instead of joy over their economic recovery we may well be hearing complaints over hard times caused by that crowd in the White House.

High Bills

How cold was it? Well it was cold enough to bring warnings from Greenville Utilities Commission about unusually high electric bills this month.

The weather was severely cold during the week of Jan. 20, so cold that Greenville Utilities set new peaks of electrical output. That means the meters were whirring. What's more it hasn't been unusually warm since. Thus electric customers can be certain that their bills will be higher this month. The same goes for natural gas customers. For that matter users of home heating oil will also find they spent more this month.

It is something we all know, but nevertheless when the bills arrive the shock will be there. Cold weather is costly to modern households.

Little Things Mount Up

It's amazing, but all the cost over-run scandals at the Pentagon have to do with small items, and not big ones. First it was the $400 hammer, then the $7,900 coffeemaker, followed by the $16,400 refrigerator — and last week, the $640 flying toilet seat.

That's what Lockheed Aircraft charged the Navy for each one it installed in its P3 Orion submarine-hunting airplane. The press instantly dubbed it "Toiletgate," and the revelation couldn't have come at a worse time. When the seat was displayed by Senator Roth of Delaware, all hell broke loose in the Defense Department. Cap Weinberger was living enough trouble defending his budget on The Hill, and he was in no mood to justify the cost of plumbing fixtures on a Navy aircraft.

Two minutes after the list price for the seat surfaced, "general quarters" was sounded at the Pentagon, and everyone grabbed a phone.

Weinberger called the secretary of the Navy, who called the chief of naval operations, who called the admiral in charge of aircraft procurement, who called the captain who heads up the P3 submarine-hunter program, who called Lockheed Aircraft for an explanation.

"What the hell are you guys doing charging us $640 for a toilet seat?" he yelled into the phone.

"We made a slight mistake," the Lockheed commode chief said. "We should have only billed you $554 for each one. We'll send you a rebate in the morning."

"Do you know what's going on here in Washington? You've jeopardized the entire $313 billion defense budget. You guys must be crazy."

"Now wait a minute. That seat is made of fiberglass and plastic and will withstand any combat situation that the P3 hunter is bound to encounter. We tested it in two crash landings and it didn't have a crack in it."

"That's not the point. If you overcharge us for a BiNuptial cruise digitator no one is going to question it. If you bury a few thousand bucks in the Gaffney flick switch, or a Dalmane synthesizer, Congress will never find it. And if you want to up the price on a Flange Dipthong Up-surge, we'll look the other way. But the Americans taxpayer knows what toilet covers cost. Besides, the reason this whole thing broke is a small contractor claims he could make the same seat for $200."

"They all say that until they try to build one. It's not just the seat but the research and development that went into it. We had to build a special simulator to make sure it would hold up at 40,000 feet."

"Why didn't you add those costs on to the Septum Firth chronometer? We could have absorbed them there."

"Because $640 is peanuts in a multimillion-dollar airplane. Suppose we reduce the price to $500? We'll eat the difference."

"It's too late. The Navy is thinking of canceling the order for the rest of the planes. If you don't come down on those seats, you can start closing the assembly line."

"Okay, give us a figure we can live with."

"We're not going to pay more than $100 a seat."

"You have to be kidding. We gave you the plane at cost, but our understanding was we could charge anything we wanted for the optional equipment."

"Our agreement didn't include coffee pots and commodes. One hundred dollars or we take the whole program over to Grumman Aircraft."

"You have us over a barrel. We'll give it to you at that price but it will wipe out our entire profit margin. We only make $540 on each plane."

The captain said, "That's your problem. I want a telegram on my desk about the price reduction by this afternoon. If it isn't here, you're going to get a 'Dear John' letter from me in the morning."

Community College Pay Is Low

This year, it is almost $20,000. In 1983, an independent compilation determined that North Carolina's salaries were the lowest in the nation. In addition, the situation is aggravated by the system's heavy reliance on part-time instructors who receive an average of $10 per hour for teaching. They don't get any compensation for the time they spend preparing for class or correcting homework.

In a budget briefing for the state Senate, a member of the Legislature's fiscal research staff said the colleges are spending about $10 million of salary funds on postage, travel, equipment and other non-salary operating costs.

There's nothing illegal about what the community colleges are doing. Under the funding formula for these schools, the General Assembly appropriates money to each college for specific programs. The local colleges decide how the money will be spent.

But the fact that North Carolina ranked at the bottom of the 50 states in terms of community college faculty salaries apparently caught the attention of the Advisory Budget Commission. In the budget presented by former Gov. Jim Hunt and the ABC, two steps are proposed to end the situation.

The first step increases the budget for the community college system by nearly $11 million in each of the next two years to cover non-salary operating expenses. As Charlotte Ashcraft, the fiscal planner, told the committee, the assembly has not increased the system's appropriations for these items to keep up with inflation over the years. Community college officials say they've been spending about $28 million a year on non-salary operating expenses while the legislature has been appropriating only $17 million.

"We've had to pull that money out of salaries to maintain the institutions," says Ed Wilson, the system's executive vice president. Among the fastest growing budget items, he said, is maintenance of the sophisticated new machinery involved in high technology training programs.

With that extra money provided to the colleges, the ABC also wrote a special provision into its proposed budget that would prohibit the future transfer of salary funds into non-salary categories. That should mean that the extra $11 million annually will translate into that much extra for teacher salaries. If distributed evenly among teachers, that would mean more than a five percent raise.

Sen. Helen Marvin, D-Gaston, said the provision is needed because county commissioners have refused to properly address the need for operating funds. The Legislature has sent some money to the colleges with the intention that it be used for salaries, she said, but commissioners have used it to meet other colleges needs so they wouldn't have to raise property taxes.

At the briefing, several senators said the assembly should seek to raise community college salaries to the average for the Southeastern states. Hal Miller, the system's legislative lobbyist, said the state could do that with approval of the $11 million operating costs increase, a 5 percent state employee pay raise and the restoration of the system's equivalent of merit pay. It had been suspended along with the merit program for state employees and the pay increment program for school teachers.

New Fashion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maybe President Reagan set a new fashion when he had himself sworn in for his second term twice. Three of his Cabinet officers and his top aide have followed suit.

Reagan decided to take his oath of office two times because Jan. 20, the constitutionally prescribed day, was on Sunday. Not only that, it was on Super Bowl Sunday.

The president, as others have before him, opted for a private swearing in on the Sabbath, with a public ceremony at the Capitol the next day.

Actually, the private inauguration turned out to be less private than expected, as the White House agreed to let it be televised; and the public ceremony was less public than planned because it was forced indoors by the cold.

Deputy White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater says Secretary of the Treasury James A. Baker III, Secretary of the Interior Donald P. Hodel, Secretary of Education William J. Bennett and Donald Regan, the new White House chief of staff, also were sworn in twice, but he doesn't think it was because of the president's example.

Baker and Regan, who switched jobs, had a notary public administer their oaths to them at their homes on a Sunday, so that they could start work the following day. A couple of days later, Attorney General William French Smith swore them in more formally in a private ceremony in the Oval Office the next day.

Asked why the oath was administered twice, Armstrong said, "Don't ask me."

If you wonder what President Reagan does during those vacations at Santa Barbara, Calif., here's one answer from the pages of Irrigation Journal. He digs ditches.

At least he did on his last trip, over Thanksgiving weekend, and the magazine ran a photograph of him, straddling a muddy trench with a pick in his hand, to prove it.

Robin C. Gray, assistant presidential press secretary who supplied the White House photo, said Reagan turned a hand to digging trenches in which to bury pipes for an underground irrigation system at his Rancho del Cielo, north of Santa Barbara.

"It took him, with the help of two other people, about three days to complete," Gray said. "It covers approximately 1,000 feet in a pasture adjacent to his ranch house. The area is used primarily for grazing by his horses."

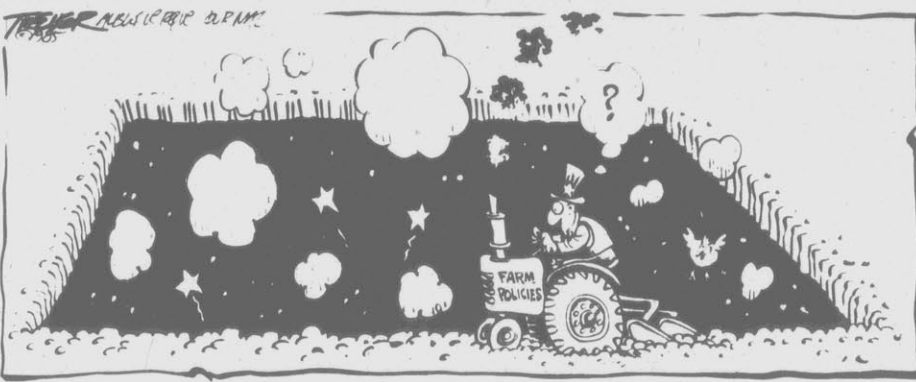

"The trench for the system was dug by machine. The president then dug out some sections which needed additional work with pick and shovel."

Speaking to a group of scientists at a White House luncheon, Reagan told them he had "a secret agenda for bringing you all here today."

"After lunch is over I'm going to ask all of you to turn your attention to the budget problem," he said.

Reagan's audience included seven American Nobel Prize winners in physics, six in chemistry, 15 in medicine and one in economics.

"To tell you the truth, I was a little nervous in the face of so much accumulated brainpower," he said.

Choice Is Surprising

WASHINGTON — The way Patrick J. Buchanan's name came to Donald T. Regan's attention to be White House communications director shows why this single staff selection can profoundly affect the second term of the Reagan presidency.

Joseph Coors, beer baron and conservative activist, was invited by Regan to suggest, in behalf of the president's "Kitchen Cabinet," new staffers for the restructured White House. The list given the new chief of staff was prepared by two New Right gurus: Ed Feulner and Paul Weyrich.

"There's one that interests me," commented Regan as Pat Buchanan's name caught his eye — a comment filled with meaning for the second term. Regan was consciously picking a true believer from the New Right for a senior White House staff post.

His predecessor, James A. Baker III, never would have contemplated it. Baker brought in New Rightists for occasional structured dialogues with the president. Regan has recruited a conservative movement stalwart who every day will be in the West Wing with access to the Oval Office.

The surprise in Washington has been that Buchanan would make a major financial sacrifice to return, after a decade's absence, to grimy White House infighting. But Buchanan has often said he believes in the cause, that the president is his man and that he was eager to return if proper access were guaranteed. Weyrich had a green light from Buchanan before his name went on the Coors list.

The real surprise ought to be that Don Regan, a non-ideologue from Wall Street, would pick him amid disapprobation from respectable opinion. Departing deputy chief of staff Michael K. Deaver, seeing his four-year moderation of Ronald Reagan threatened, tried to head off the columnist-commentator's selection.

Nowhere is dismay over Buchanan more intense than in the White House press room. When a distraught Sam Donaldson of ABC read media-bashing quotes from Buchanan columns to Regan at a briefing recently, it reflected the consensus of his colleagues that selecting the new communications director represents a personal insult to them. Buchanan, it can be accurately stated, reciprocates such sentiments three-fold.

But the meaning of Buchanan transcends media relations. He represents the first legitimate conservative activists, as contrasted to inner-circle Reaganite, on Reagan's senior staff. Presidential counselor Edwin Meese III pulled his punches and spent more time mollifying the Right than persuading Reagan.

Ex-political aide Lyn Nofzinger, who was located across the street in the Old Executive Office Building, was hesitant to intrude on his old friend the president (and leery of Moral Majority-type social conservatives anyway).

Buchanan will not hesitate to advise the president on practically everything. The Buchanan agenda: no yield on Star Wars to get an arms control agreement; support for anti-communist freedom fighters worldwide; deeper spending cuts and no tax increases; opposition to global austerity imposed by international bankers; support for the anti-abortion movement as the new civil rights-battlers.

No wonder that former Reagan communications director David Gergen fired a poison arrow at his successor when he told the Washington Post that Buchanan's appointment was "fraught with potential peril" and risked making the administration "more combative and confrontational." Nearly identical words were repeated to us privately by Gergen's soul mates still inside the administration.

Differences between Gergen and Buchanan go beyond confrontation vs. accommodation.

—Elisha Douglas—

Strength For Today

We do not know who wrote the Epistle of James, but whoever he was, he was a practical soul. Apparently he had become annoyed over the fact that so many people were professing a great deal as regards their religious faith and then living the same kind of life they had always lived.

"Be ye doers of the world," wrote James, "and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves. For if any be a hearer of the world and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass, for he beholdest himself and goeth his way and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was ... But a doer of the work ... shall be blessed in his deed."

No one probably lives completely to the highest and best that he believes. Nevertheless, let us not be afraid to profess much regarding religious faith, but let us be diligent to see that we put into operation the faith we profess.

Vietnamese Crush Khmer Rouge

NONG PRU, Thailand (AP) — Vietnamese forces scored their greatest victory of the six-year-old Cambodian war today, routing tough Khmer Rouge guerrillas from their jungle bases in western Cambodia, said Western diplomats.

The Vietnamese, climaxing a lightning offensive, overran the last stronghold of the Khmer Rouge in the Phnom Malai region of Cambodia and set fire to the conquered guerrilla headquarters of Phum Thmei, according to Thai military commanders.

The communist Khmer Rouge were the strongest member of a resistance coalition which has battled Vietnamese troops since they invaded Cambodia in 1979.

A month-long campaign against Khmer Rouge mountain strongholds pitted some 10,000 guerrillas against an estimated 20,000 Vietnamese troops — the largest forces in battle since the Khmer Rouge were ousted from power six years ago by a Vietnamese invasion. Western analysts called today's attack a turning point in the war.

In a dry season offensive launched last November, the Vietnamese overran all bases of the non-communist Khmer People's National Liberation Front, one of the Khmer Rouge's coalition partners. A Radio Hanoi report today estimated that the Vietnamese have killed 4,000 Cambodian guerrillas and injured 1,000 others in the three-month campaign.

Today's two-pronged Vietnamese attack knocked out Khmer Rouge defenses at Phnom Malai and rolled on to seize Phum Thmei which hugs the Thai frontier opposite this Thai village, said Maj. Gen. Salya Sripheh, commander of Thailand's eastern border field force. He toured the area opposite the fighting.

Thai commanders said units of Vietnam's 59th division moved in from the south, while elements of the seventh, eighth and ninth divisions powered their way from the east. Phnom Malai, a group of forested hills, is about three miles southeast of Phum Thmei.

Plumes of smoke could be seen rising above Phum Thmei, less than two miles from where reporters stood. Thai sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the Vietnamese had set fire to Phum Thmei, or "new village."

Phum Thmei was a showcase for the Khmer Rouge and a kind of "capital city" for the Cambodian resistance. Last Saturday, resistance coalition leader Prince Norodom Sihanouk, a former Cambodian ruler, received the credentials of four ambassadors to his government there.

A final infantry assault on Phum Thmei was preceded by intense shelling. The Thai sources, who spoke only on condition they not be identified, said Vietnam's troops entered the camp about 10:30 a.m. and set fire to a number of the structures.

The fall of Phnom Malai and Phum Thmei put Vietnamese forces, including tanks and artillery pieces, into every major Khmer Rouge base along the a 40-mile-long stretch of the frontier south of the key Thai town of Aranyaprathet.

The Thai military officers said the bulk of the Khmer Rouge guerrillas appeared to have made their way through Vietnamese lines rather than fleeing into Thailand.

Realizing the fall of their bases was imminent, the Khmer Rouge forces split into small groups to avoid heavy casualties and facilitate escape and harassment of Vietnamese lines, they said.

Vietnamese shelling of the Phum Thmei-Phnom Malai area continued today, with Vietnam's gunners trying to pinpoint pockets of resistance with long-range 130mm howitzers.

Some of the shells landed inside Thailand and newsmen came under fire while trying to approach closer to Phum Thmei.

Thailand reinforced its troops opposite the battle zone inside Cambodia. On Thursday night, the sources said, four Vietnamese were spotted at the Thai frontier at Klong Wah, 17 miles south of Aranyaprathet, and some crossed briefly into Thai territory.

"This is the heaviest attack in six years," a Khmer Rouge official said in Nong Pru. "We have never been shelled by artillery before right into our civilian camps and also so close to our bases."

The Vietnamese overran the major Khmer Rouge base at Khao Din, near the Thai border, on Thursday.

Hundreds of guerrillas escaped from Khao Din, trudging northward. The seasoned fighters, who have roamed the Cambodian countryside for years, took everything with them — field guns, food, even war elephants.

Also fleeing thousands of artillery and mortar rounds were as many as 40,000 civilians from every major Khmer Rouge-controlled camp along the 40-mile battlefront south of Aranyaprathet, a key Thai border town.

They crossed into Thailand, joining 160,000 refugees from the offensive which began and in November and 30,000 more who fled last April.

They built a sprawling, makeshift camp at the base of Sarapee Hill. One woman dug a bunker next to her tent — a sheet of blue plastic strung on bamboo poles — and lowered her four small children into the hole to make sure they would fit if the Vietnamese shelled the camp.

Phum Thmei is pressed up against the Thai border some 12 miles south of Aranyaprathet. A small stream, which has been bridged, marks the frontier and makes escape into Thailand easy.

In a Radio Hanoi broadcast monitored in Tokyo today, the Vietnamese-backed government of Heng Samrin reported that its forces "backed by Vietnamese troops," destroyed or seized at least 10 guerrilla bases along the Thai-Cambodian border and killed 4,000 Cambodian guerrillas during its three-month siege of opposition camps.

The whereabouts of the Khmer Rouge leadership was not known. Top leaders Khieu Samphan, Ieng Sary, Son Sen and others were last seen by reporters on Saturday at Phum Thmei when they met Sihanouk, who heads the resistance coalition made of his own group, the Khmer Rouge and the Khmer People's National Liberation Front.

Town Gets Drift Of Big-City Blues

STAFFORD TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Recall campaigns and legal battles more common to big-city politics have changed mayors in this pinelands community of 12,000 three times in just 14 months and residents "just don't like the disarray," says the town barber.

"A lot of people are getting embarrassed about it," Richard Bragg Sr., known as "Larry the barber," said while cutting 4-year-old P.J. Silvestri's hair on Thursday.

This township overlooking Barnegat Bay about 15 miles north of Atlantic City has been rocked by the recall of Democrat Wesley K. Bell as mayor, his replacement by Republican Carl Block, the court-ordered reinstatement of Bell and the reversal of that order Wednesday by the state Supreme Court. That decision reinstated Block as mayor until June — maybe.

"Most of the old-timers... they just don't like this disarray," said Bragg. The legal battle so far has cost Stafford Township more than $40,000. The mayor earns $4,687 a year for his part-time work.

"I know we've got a lot more attention than I ever thought we would for something like this," said Block, a 33-year-old food store assistant manager.

Bell, 47, who runs an advertising agency, began what he thought would be a three-year term as mayor in July 1982.

But, in a move by Republicans to take the office away from him, township residents formed a group called GROW — for Get Rid of Wes. They filed a petition demanding his recall in August 1983.

In a December 1983 referendum vote of 2,191 to 1,416, Bell was recalled and replaced by Block.

Bell went to court to challenge his recall, claiming that some of the signatures on the petition were not gathered properly.

Last month, the Appellate Division of Superior Court set aside the referendum and reinstated Bell after finding 31 signatures invalid, leaving it eight short of the number needed to force a recall. Bell showed up at the municipal building to retake his office.

But the Supreme Court stayed the lower court's decision and told him to wait until it could hear arguments in the case. On Wednesday, the state's highest court reversed the lower court's decision and told Block he could finish the term, which expires in June.

Bell said Thursday he would file a petition early next week asking the court to rehear the case. But to be successful, the motion would have to be granted by a justice who ruled in the majority against him.

Stafford Township is a place where a twirling barber's pole still stands outside Bragg's shop just as it did two decades ago, a place where he knows his customers by their first names and where children who sit still in the chair get a lollipop and a stick of bubblegum.

"I've had 45 years to learn them all. I know their politics. I know their religion. I even know their relations," said Bragg, who has a black comb sticking out of a pocket of his short-sleeve sport shirt.

"We settle a lot of the world's ills around here some days," Bragg said with his ever-present smile and a toothpick in the corner of his mouth.

But the political troubles touched ever, Bragg, a Republican who serves on the planning board. He was in the middle of a planning board meeting the day the appeals court ruling came down reinstating Bell.

"He fired everybody Mr. Block had hired," recalled Bragg.

Bell said he was merely reinstating the people who were replaced when he was ousted.

Shuttle Delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The transfer of space shuttle Challenger to the launch pad was delayed today because of a hydrogen gas leak in a fuel tank pressurization system. The delay could affect the planned March 3 launch, officials said.

The six-hour trip from an assembly building to the pad was to have started at 8 a.m. EST, but was put off until late afternoon while technicians worked to correct the problem.

The move, atop a giant tracked transporter, was originally set for Thursday, but was postponed then because of the need to replace an electronic component in one of the two solid fuel booster rockets.

NASA officials said the schedule was tight and the twin delays could lead to a postponement of a day or two in the March 3 launch.

Moody Gunman Wounds 2 Texas College Instructors, Kills Himself

TEMPLE, Texas (AP) — A 28-year-old man who wounded two Temple Junior College instructors, holding one of the women hostage for three hours, showed wild mood swings before fatally shooting himself, police said.

"He'd be just normal and say, 'Well, I'll release her and come out if you promise me this and this,'" said police Chief Thomas Vannoy after Thursday's shootings.

Moments later, he'd say things like, "If I hear a noise, I'm gonna shoot her and kill myself," Vannoy said.

The gunman, identified as Steven Parsons, apparently had been caught rifling a woman's purse in an office. He held about 30 police at bay and negotiated by telephone from a barricaded office in the school's one-story Fine Arts Building before turning a .22-caliber pistol on himself.

Police said they had decided to storm the room when, at 5:45 p.m., they heard a single shot and sent in one officer, who found the gunman slumped unconscious on the floor.

Parsons died about 10:15 p.m. Thursday at Scott & White Hospital during surgery for a gunshot wound in his chest, said assistant nursing director Dolores Gautier.

The hostage, management instructor Laurelyn Carlisle, 33, of Salado, was in good condition today following surgery for gunshot wounds to her abdomen, hospital spokeswoman Carol Trono said.

The other woman, speech instructor Debbie Foster, 30, of Little River, was treated for a gunshot wound to her hip and discharged, the hospital said.

Parsons, who had addresses in Austin and Longview, apparently was surprised by the women as he rifled a purse in one of their offices about 2:50 p.m.

"He was carrying a woman's purse. He must have lost all composure and he began firing," said Temple president Marvin Feider.

Feds Seize Colombian Jet

MIAMI (AP) — Federal agents seized a Colombian cargo jet today, two days after more than a ton of cocaine was found on board, in the largest aircraft seizure in the history of the U.S. Customs Service, officials said.

Customs spokesman Cliff Stallings said the $119 million jumbo jet of Avianca Airlines was seized "on the basis of Avianca having the knowledge of (the cocaine) being aboard."

The jet was seized at 5 a.m., about three hours after it landed at Miami International Airport, said Robert Battard, regional commissioner of Customs.

On Feb. 13, customs agents discovered that a portion of a shipment of cut flowers from Bogota, Colombia, contained a total of 2,478 pounds of cocaine worth nearly $600 million in street value, according to a Customs statement. The cocaine concealed in 32 flower boxes was mingled with boxes containing flowers aboard the plane, the release said.

Customs officials didn't announce the cocaine seizure at that time, or keep the jet from making a subsequent trip in and out of Miami, so that agents of the drug-fighting South Florida Task Force could conduct an investigation.

"We wanted to develop some more information on people that were involved," Battard said. He refused to comment on whether any principals of the Colombian airline were involved.

Stallings said the jet definitely will "be out of commission" for some time. Even if the company is cleared by the task force's investigation, Stallings said it will cost the company "a very substantial penalty, well over a million dollars I would guess" to get the plane back.

The jet was seized under provisions of the Tariff Act, the Transportation Act, and the Controlled Substances Act. These provisions provide for the seizure of conveyances used in the transportation, concealment and importation of controlled substances, officials said.

Customs has seized other commercial cargo planes under these provisions in the past, but the Avianca 747 is the largest to date, the release said.

Robbery Reported

Police are continuing their investigation of an alleged armed robbery that was reported to the department at 2:13 a.m. today.

Officer J.K. McCarthy said William Russell Dancy Jr., 38, of 1614 Lincoln Drive told investigators he was attacked by a group of four to six men as he walked along Albemarle Avenue near the Grande Avenue intersection about 1:45 a.m. Dancy said he was hit with an ax handle-type club and robbed of $200.

Possession Charges

James Thomas Silverthorne Jr., 18, of Route 1, Greenville, was arrested by police Thursday night on charges of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Officer T.G. Shane said Silverthorne was charged after his car was stopped at the intersection of Cotanche Street and Reade Circle about 9:46 p.m. and a quantity of marijuana was discovered.

Thursday Thefts

Greenville police are investigating three thefts reported to the department on Thursday.

Officer J.C. Mulford said a radio-cassette player, 12 tapes and some tools were taken from the Econo-Lodge at 810 S. Memorial Drive in an incident reported at 8:17 a.m., while two Doberman pinscher pups were taken from 2016 Fern Drive in a break-in reported at 10:30 a.m.

According to Officer J.M. Jones, a tool box and tools were taken from a car parked at 82 Quail Ridge in connection with an incident reported at 12:30 p.m.

Intruder Sought

Greenville police are looking for a man who may have been shot in connection with a first degree burglary case reported at 1:54 a.m. today.

Officer J.E. Woolard said Archie Edwards of 2204 Charles St. told officers that someone rang his door bell and as he was going to answer the door, a man scuffled with him in his living room. Edwards said that during the scuffle, he shot the intruder one time with a .38 caliber revolver.

Woolard said Edwards reported he fired a second shot at the intruder as the man ran toward the rear of the house.

Alumni Gathering

The Eva J. Lewis Alumni Chapter of Pitt County will meet at 4 p.m. Sunday at the home of Mrs. Tureatha V. Burge, 406 S. George St., Farmville.

Class Project

The food service class at J.H. Rose High prepared and decorated a valentine cake that was sold during National FHA-HERO Week held recently. The club raised $46 for the Ronald McDonald House.

Counseling Week

Students at A.G. Cox School recently observed National School Counseling Week. Students wore "Students are Special" construction paper badges made by art and occupation classes. Members of the advisory board and police department, adopt-a-school sponsors, the mayor of Winterville and members of the Town Council were invited to visit the school. A poster contest on careers was sponsored.

Levin Roommate

"I heard Jeremy's voice on the radio this morning and I am absolutely ecstatic," Greenville resident Stuart Aronson said of his longtime friend, Jeremy Levin.

Levin, the American bureau chief for Cable News Network, who reportedly escaped Thursday from his captors of 11 months in Lebanon, and Aronson, an East Carolina University professor, were roommates at Northwestern University and have remained friends since.

"Nicole" (Aronson's wife) "and I have been very concerned since we learned of Jeremy's being captured," Aronson said. "And we're so very thankful for him and for Sissy" (Levin's wife, Lucille).

The Levins have visited in Greenville in years past, Aronson said. He said he is not surprised that his friend managed to escape. "I have no idea how he did it," he said, "but I know he's a very resourceful fellow and I know he passionately loves his work, his wife, his life. He'd do whatever it would take to be free again."

Art Expo, Auction

The Greenville Junior Woman's Club will hold an Art Expo and Auction Saturday at the Boy's Club of Pitt County, Arlington Drive. The preview will begin at 6:30; the auction will begin at 7:30. A donation of $2.50 per person is requested, and wine and cheese will be served. Money raised will support the Boy's Club, Children's Home Society, Special Olympics, and the local Ronald McDonald House.

Group To Meet

Week Noted

The Ayden-Grifton chapter of Future Homemakers of America celebrated National FHA/HERO week this week with several events. Posters expressing teacher appreciation were hung and FHA love bugs were sold to the students. All members wore red and white Wednesday. A social was given for teachers Thursday.

Applications

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service is accepting applications for the 1985 Feed Grain, Wheat and Cotton Acreage Reduction Programs. The sign-up period ends March 1.

Farmers who meet the acreage reduction requirements will be eligible to receive price support loans and target price protection.

To apply for the 1985 acreage reduction programs, or obtain further information, contact the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Rates Effective

New postage rates will become effective at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, according to the U.S. Postal Service.

First-class letter postage for the first ounce will go from 20 cents to 22 cents. First-class postal card fees will rise from 13 cents to 14 cents.

A postal spokesman said the increase is necessary for the Postal Service to comply with the Postal Reorganization Act, which requires that the Service come as near as possible to breaking even.

International postal rates will also be adjusted Sunday, with the airmail rate for letters going from 40 cents to 44 cents per half-ounce up to two ounces. The rate for letters to Canada and Mexico will be the same as the first-class domestic rate (22 cents).

Employee Honored

Mrs. Jessie Pitt Moore recently was named Employee of the Year at Walter B. Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center. She is a health care technician and has been on the staff 15 years.

Mrs. Moore attended Pitt Community College and the North Carolina Alcohol and Drug Schools in Raleigh and Wilmington. She is a member of Arthur Chapel Free Will Baptist Church, where she is on the usher and mother boards and is an instructor and secretary of her Sunday School. The wife of Charlie Moore, she is an associate matron of the Eastern Star.

Commissioners Meet

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners will meet Monday at 10 a.m. at the county office building at 1717 W. Fifth St.

Among items on the agenda are various reports, consideration of appointments to various boards, and at 2 p.m., the leasing of county-owned farm land.

Scout Meet

The Pitt District Scout and Cub Scout Leaders Roundtables will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Red Oak Christian Church in Greenville. The program will include the Scout theme of the month, "The Way it Was," and the Cub Scout theme, "Step Into Shape." The Scoutarama, spring camporee and other activities and dates will be discussed.

VOCATIONAL WEEK — North Pitt High School celebrated National Vocational Education Week this week. Students in the vocational department displayed work they had done as participants in the programs. The displays served the twofold purpose of educating

Greenville Men Get State Posts

Two Greenville men have joined the administration of Gov. Jim Martin. Randy Doub, Martin's campaign manager in Pitt County, said today.

Herb Lee, who tried unsuccessfully to unseat 1st District Rep. Walter Jones in the November general election, began his duties as employment relations director — in charge of personnel and the equal employment opportunity office — for the Employment Security Commission on Monday, Doub said. Hal McKinney, treasurer of the Pitt County Republican Party and vice chairman of the Republicans' 1st Congressional District organization, became assistant to the secretary of the Department of Cultural Resources on Feb. 4.

Doub was appointed to the Board of Transportation earlier this year by Martin.

Lee, active in the Republican Party for years and former head of Heritage Personnel Services in Greenville, will make $37,500 with the ESC. A Greenville native, Lee is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and from 1960 to 1977 was executive vice president of Home Savings and Loan Association. He was a member of the board of trustees of East Carolina University from 1972 and 1976.

McKinney, a Wadesboro native and East Carolina University graduate, has lived in Greenville since 1970. He was associated with Garris-Evans Lumber Co. for five years before becoming a sales representative for General Binding Corp. of Northbrook, Ill. His salary with the state will be between $32,000 and $33,000 a year.

Stockman Says Leaf Program Isn't Targeted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget Director David Stockman called the federal tobacco program "an archaic relic" but said the program is not an important target for his deficit-cutting knife.

Instead, Stockman said this week that he gave a higher priority to changing other farm programs that cost the government more money.

He said the grower-financed tobacco program is "not working very well, but it is not a big-budget hit like wheat, feed grains or dairy where there is no pretense of producer financing."

The director to the Office of Management and Budget was asked how strongly he felt about ending tobacco subsidies and whether the administration would back off from its tobacco proposal in light of opposition by Sen.

Jesse Helms, R-N.C., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"I feel strongly about all programs that interfere in the market," Stockman said, referring to his call to eliminate most price support and production controls in farm programs. But he said "I feel even more strongly" about those that "cost money."

The tobacco program of production controls and price guarantees, he said, is "an archaic relic, acreage allotments, and price supports, government stabilization of the market."

"But at least for the moment they are running it on a no-cost basis," Stockman said, according to a tape-recording of Wednesday's session with reporters obtained Thursday by The News and Observer of Raleigh. He was referring to 1982 legislation that makes growers bear most tobacco program costs.

Fred G. Bond, manager of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corp., said he was not surprised by Stockman's remarks.

"He just doesn't like tobacco," Bond said. Bond said he didn't think "tobacco is going to escape" an administration push to phase down all farm programs.

But Rep. Tim Valentine, D-N.C., who represents a tobacco-growing area, was encouraged.

"I really see softening (of the administration position) in this," Valentine said. "At least he has admitted that the program is supported by-and-large by the farmers and that it is not a big drag on the taxpayers."

Rep. Steve Neal, D-N.C., said he wasn't sure Stockman's comments signaled anything other than the administration belief that "unless something is a perfect free market, it is an archaic relic."

Last month, Stockman and Agriculture Secretary John Block informally unveiled a proposal to slash tobacco price supports over a five-year period and eliminate tobacco allotments. The average price support level for tobacco is $1.70 a pound for flue-cured. The administration would cut $1 per pound and introduce "direct payments" to allotment holders—designed to soften their losses—in diminishing amounts over the phase-down period.

Block said originally that the tobacco plan would be included with other commodities in the 1985 farm bill. Block later agreed to submit his tobacco proposals in separate legislation.

FREE AT LAST — Jeremy Levin, who was kidnapped 11 months ago as he headed to work in Beirut as a newsman for Cable News Network, speaks to reporters in Damascus, Syria, today before leaving for Frankfurt,

West Germany, and a reunion with his wife. Levin says he escaped Thursday after spending nearly a year in chains and in solitary confinement. (AP Laserphoto)

Satellite Photos Reveal Source For Earth Auroras

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists for the first time have located a huge, egg-shaped power supply in space that helps create the Northern and Southern Lights, the mysterious curtains of green light that shimmer around Earth's poles.

The power source is an invisible zone 20 to 30 times the size of Earth, and is located about 400,000 miles distant, always on the side of the Earth away from the sun, University of Iowa physicist Lou Frank said Thursday.

It uses magnetic forces to trap electrically charged particles from the solar wind, a hot, particle-laden gas that speeds from the sun at nearly 1 million mph, Frank said.

"It (the power supply zone) really dances around out there," said Frank, who presented his findings at Jet Propulsion Laboratory during an international conference on solar wind interaction with Earth's magnetic field.

Frank said the most detailed ultraviolet and visible light satellite photos ever made of the Northern and Southern Lights allowed researchers to calculate the location of the power source in the Earth's magnetic "tail." The tail is the 4-million-mile-long part of Earth's magnetic field blown away from the planet by solar wind.

From the ground, the Northern and Southern Lights — also called the aurora borealis and aurora australis — usually are visible from high latitudes as "a series of (60- to 70-mile-tall) green curtains produced by electrically charged particles shot onto a TV screen, the auroras are basically pictures produced on "Mother Nature's TV set" when the electric particles in space are accelerated into the atmosphere, Frank said.

Locating the power source was made possible by recent analysis of some of the 200,000 photographs of the Northern and Southern Lights taken from space 15,500 miles above Earth by the polar-orbiting Dynamics Explorer 1 satellite, Frank said.

Just as a television picture is produced by electrically charged particles shot onto a TV screen, the auroras are basically pictures produced on "Mother Nature's TV set" when the electric particles in space are accelerated into the atmosphere, Frank said.

Locating the power source was made possible by recent analysis of some of the 200,000 photographs of the Northern and Southern Lights taken from space 15,500 miles above Earth by the polar-orbiting Dynamics Explorer 1 satellite, Frank said.

Reporter Says He Spent Nearly A Year In Solitary

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Jeremy Levin, the kidnapped American reporter who says he escaped from 11 months in chains and solitary confinement in Lebanon, left here today for a reunion with his wife, saying: "I can't wait to be back on American soil."

A tear rolled down his cheek as he boarded a chartered executive jet at Damascus airport, bound for Frankfurt, West Germany, where his wife was waiting.

"I cannot wait to get to my wife, to hold her," said Levin.

He was turned over to U.S. Ambassador William Eagleton at the Foreign Ministry by Foreign Minister Farouk al-Sharaa about two hours before the plane took off at 12:30 p.m. (4:30 a.m. EST).

The plane stopped at Rhodes, Greece, on its way to Frankfurt, where it was scheduled to land this afternoon.

The television correspondent, who disappeared March 7 in Beirut, told reporters at the Foreign Ministry: "I feel wonderful. I've never been more thankful. I've never been more happy in my whole life."

Levin, 52, said he escaped Wednesday night by tying three blankets together, securing them to a balcony, sliding down from a second floor window and fleeing down a mountain to a Syrian army position in east Lebanon's Bekaa Valley.

He said he believed there were four other people held in the same place he was, but he did not know whether they were Americans because he was isolated through his captivity.

Four other Americans who disappeared or were kidnapped in Beirut in the past year are missing.

He said he could not identify his captors. The shadowy extremist group Islamic Holy War claimed responsibility for the abduction. He said at the airport that he did not know why he was kidnapped.

"I've been in solitary confinement for the whole time chained to the wall or a radiator. ... The faces of the Syrian soldiers were the first faces I saw since March 7 of last year. They were good faces," Levin told reporters.

Levin looked shaken when he arrived at the Foreign Ministry and appeared not to know exactly where he was.

A journalist told him he was about to be turned over to the American ambassador and he was in Damascus at the Syrian Foreign Ministry.

"That is fantastic," he said, in tears. "The Orwellian year 1984 was not a very good one for me, but 1985 is starting out a hell of a lot better."

"Lucille, where is Lucille," he said in a loud voice, asking about his wife.

When told by a journalist from Cable News Network, with whom Levin had worked in Beirut as bureau chief, that his wife was waiting for him in Frankfurt, he gasped and responded: "I can't wait to see her. Please tell her I missed her very much and I love her so deeply."

Mrs. Levin arrived in Frankfurt today from Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington on a VC-135 aircraft supplied by the White House.

Levin was dressed in gray trousers, a blue sweatshirt and bright white tennis shoes, which one of his escorts said were purchased in the east Lebanese town of Chtaura on Thursday because he arrived at the Syrian army position barefooted and in pajamas.

Levin, who has grown a beard during his captivity and whose hair was grayer than before his capture, did not show any signs of physical torture.

UNC-G Building Honors Ferguson

GREENSBORO (AP) — The Board of Trustees at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro has named the school's new Arts and Sciences Building for former Chancellor James S. Ferguson.

"It is most appropriate that the university's Arts and Sciences Building be named in honor of former Chancellor James S. Ferguson," Chancellor William E. Moran said Thursday. "He led the university with wisdom, courage and grace through a period of dramatic growth and social turmoil."

Ferguson served as chancellor from 1967 until 1979. He died last September at age 67.

Postal Rates Go Up Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of mailing a first-class letter will jump from 20 cents to 22 cents on Sunday, and the Postal Service has issued a stamp to ensure adequate supplies for the rate hike.

The new "D" stamp, issued Feb. 1, is a 22-cent stamp that carries no denomination. However, it will represent the new rate until stamps bearing the 22-cent denomination are issued by the Postal Service at the end of March.

New rates for other classes of mail include:

—First-class first ounce rises from 20 cents to 22 cents, but the charge for each additional ounce remains at 17 cents.

—Presorted first class rises from 17 to 18 cents, and for mail sorted according to carrier route from 16 cents to 17 cents.

—Post cards increase from 13 cents to 14 cents. Presorted cards climb from 12 cents to 13 cents and carrier route presorted from 11 cents to 12 cents.

—The minimum charge for Priority Mail rises from $2.24 to $2.40.

—Express Mail rates increase 15 percent.

—Third-class non-profit mail increases 13 percent.

—Parcel post rates will rise by 11 percent.

—The fourth-class book rate will increase 8 percent.

Board Orders More Service For Women

RALEIGH (AP) — The Board of Community Colleges has passed resolutions calling for the system to help women by providing day care services, training them to enter more lucrative fields, and hiring more of them for administrative positions.

State Treasurer Harlan Boyles said the board's resolutions will pay only lip service to women's problems unless concrete action is taken.

"We musn't raise hope without being able to deliver on what we're talking about," said Boyles, a board member.

Kathryn Baker Smith, assistant for policy with the Department of Community Colleges, said the resolutions will spur support within the system and lead to significant changes.

The board's action was prompted by a report on the status of women in the community college system ordered by system president Robert W. Scott.

In 1983, 183 women held 25 percent of the executive positions in community colleges in the state, compared with 15 percent in 1976, the report said.

But Ms. Smith said none of the system's 58 presidents is a woman.

Only two of the system's 25 vice presidents are female, and three of 49 deans of instruction are women and 9 of 68 deans of students are female. Most female executives in the system hold lower-level positions, the report said.

Energy, Food Costs Drop As Price Index Holds Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices, beginning the year on an encouraging note, held flat in January, the government said today. Energy prices posted their steepest drop in almost two years while food costs also declined sharply.

It was the third time in the last five months that the overall index showed no increase.

While most economists foresee a price rise of 2 percent for all of 1985, one said that, over the next few months, "it is hard to believe that we will see any significant increase."

That optimism is based on sagging worldwide oil prices and the continued strength of the dollar, which hit new highs against foreign currencies again this week.

As for last month, energy prices fell 2.4 percent, the biggest decline since a 3 percent drop in March 1983. Gasoline prices fell 2.7 percent while home heating oil prices were off 2.3 percent. Both declines were the steepest since August.

At the wholesale level, gasoline is now 6.7 percent cheaper than it was just a year ago.

Food prices fell 0.6 percent in January, their best performance since a 0.8 percent decline last May.

That drop was largely the product of a 21.3 percent fall in egg prices, the steepest decline for any category in the index. Analysts credit that drop to higher production at a time of weak demand.

Fresh fruit prices rose 3.7 percent, the biggest increase for any food category. Experts said the February rise would likely be even higher as the January price survey was done before the devastating freeze hit Florida's citrus-growing areas.

Vegetable prices dropped 3.6 percent last month but experts again pointed to the Florida freeze and said consumers could soon see increases in vegetable prices.

The good news on energy and food prices was tempered somewhat by higher prices for new cars and trucks. Both posted price hikes of 2.2 percent.

In releasing today's report, the Labor Department said that if prices held steady for a full year at January's level, wholesale costs would actually fall 0.4 percent. That figure is based on a more precise calculation of monthly prices than the figure made public.

In all, the Producer Price Index for finished goods stood at 292.7 in December, meaning that goods costing $10 in 1967 would have cost $29.27 last month.

Prices rose a slight 0.2 percent December and 0.3 percent in November. For all of 1984, prices rose just 1.8 percent.

That performance, combined with an even smaller 0.6 percent increase in 1983, meant the United States enjoyed the best two-year inflation performance in two decades.

Chrysler Reports Record Profit, Wants Import Ban

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lee Iacocca used the company's announcement of a record $2.4 billion 1984 profit to renew his pitch for extension of import quotas on Japanese cars.

Chrysler's earnings put the combined profits of the Big Three U.S. automakers — Chrysler, General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. — at more than $9 billion.

The fourth year of voluntary quotas expires March 31 and the Japanese government has yet to say whether it will keep, raise or eliminate them. "I must say, we get a little skittish," Iacocca said Thursday.

Chrysler's profit was more than three times that of its previous record — $701 million in 1983.

Iacocca said the profits will help

Chrysler put in place an ambitious five-year, $10.5 billion investment plan in new plants and equipment.

Flu Outbreak Spreads

ATLANTA (AP) — Ten states have reported "widespread outbreaks" of the Philippines flu in what government scientists say could be the worst flu season in four years.

This season's predominant strain, which researchers call type A-H3N2, or the Philippines flu, is the same type that was most active in 1980-81. It typically hits all age groups, as it's doing this year, said Karl Kappus, a flu specialist with the national Centers for Disease Control.

Forty-two states have now reported the Philippines flu. Another flu strain, type B, or the Russian flu, has been reported very infrequently this season.

House Fire Kills Seven

WYANDANCH, N.Y. (AP) — Fire ripped through a two-story house in the early morning hours today, trapping most of the occupants on the top floor and leaving seven people dead and two seriously injured, police said.

All seven victims were found on the second story of the home when the fire was brought under control after burning for more than three hours, said police Sgt. Charles Giordano.

Giordano said it appeared six of the dead were children and the seventh an adult. Firefighters were unable to reach the upstairs of the house upon arrival due to the intense flames, Giordano said.

One of the injured was badly burned and taken to the burn unit at University Hospital in Stony Brook, while the other was taken to Brunswick Hospital, he said. Both were sleeping on the first floor of the home.

The fire was reported shortly after 2 a.m. and burned until about 5:30 a.m., he said. The cause and the identities of the victims were not known.

Dollar Falls To Profit-Takers

LONDON (AP) — The dollar fell sharply early today in a bout of profit-taking that followed nine straight days in which the American currency set records. Gold prices inched higher.

Dealers said investors seemed to be buying other currencies they thought had been left seriously under-valued by the dollar's record-breaking advances.

The U.S. currency tumbled back below 10 French francs and dropped nearly two pfennigs against the West German mark. The British pound rebounded a cent and a half in value.

Some dealers said investors were trying to consolidate and square their positions before what is in the United States a long holiday weekend.

Awaits Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — X-rated film star Marilyn Chambers will learn within a week to 10 days whether she will be slapped with prostitution charges for her nude performance at an adult theater, says District Attorney Arlo Smith.

Ms. Chambers was arrested Feb. 1 at the Mitchell Brothers Theater for allegedly committing a lewd act and soliciting prostitution.

The star of such movies as "Behind the Green Door" and "Insatiable" denied the charges, claiming she accepted no money from the audience, but admitting that she did dance nude at the club and allowed patrons to touch her.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

SIMON CALLED PETER!

PETROS, OR PETER, IS THE GREEK TRANSLATION OF THE ARAMAIC "CEPHAS" (A STONE, OR ROCK). THIS IS THE NAME WHICH JESUS OF NAZARETH BESTOWED UPON SIMON ON HIS FIRST MEETING (JOHN 1:42). THE PROPHETIC MEANING OF THIS NAME WAS AFTERWARDS RECOGNIZED BY THE OTHER APOSTLES (MATT. 16:18,19). SIMON, OR PETER, WAS THE SON OF A MAN NAMED JONA (MATT. 16:17), A HUMBLE FISHERMAN, WHO FOLLOWED HIS TRADE ON THE SEA OF GALILEE. PETER, WITH ANDREW, HIS BROTHER, FOLLOWED IN THE FOOTSTEPS OF THEIR FATHER AND THEY ALL HAD A PARTNERSHIP IN A FISHING BOAT WITH THE SONS OF ZEBEDEE, JAMES AND JOHN, AND ZEBEDEE, HIMSELF. AT THE TIME OF HIS FIRST MEETING WITH JESUS, PETER WAS A NATIVE OF BETHSAIDA, LATER, HE LIVED WITH HIS FAMILY IN CAPERNAUM. IT IS INTERESTING TO NOTE THAT JESUS PICKED MEN OF A HUMBLE STATION IN LIFE TO BE HIS FOLLOWERS AND DISCIPLES. IN FACT, IT IS RECORDED IN THE ACTS (ACTS 4:13) THAT PETER AND JOHN WERE "...UNLEARNED AND IGNORANT MEN...!" YET THEY COULD SWAY CROWDS WITH THEIR RHETORIC, LOGIC, AND COMPLETE UNDERSTANDING OF SUBJECTS THAT ONLY EDUCATED MEN WERE SUPPOSED TO HAVE! OF COURSE, THE FACT THAT THEY GAINED THEIR LEARNING AT THE FEET OF JESUS, SERVED TO GUIDE THEM AS THEY CONFRONTED HOSTILE PRIESTS, OR WITLESS LISTENERS, TO THEIR TRUTHS! FROM THE FIRST, PETER'S ARDOR, HIS COURAGE AND VIGOR MARKED HIM AS THE ULTIMATE LEADER OF THE DISCIPLES! AND CERTAINLY, DURING THE EARLY YEARS OF LEADERSHIP IN THE CHURCH, PETER WELL JUSTIFIED HIS NAME, "THE ROCK," WHICH JESUS HAD GIVEN HIM!

Married Deacons Help Fill Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ordination of hundreds of married Roman Catholic men — as deacons, not priests — is helping to bolster the American church's declining pool of clergy.

New U.S. Roman Catholic figures indicate the rolls of permanent deacons, who can perform many of the same liturgical rites as priests, reached 7,102 by the end of last year. That was up from 6,596 one year earlier and was well above the totals of 4,656 at the end of 1980 and just 58 when a program to revive the long-ignored ministerial slot was getting under way in 1971.

Though the report had no accompanying 1984 figures for priests, the Rev. Kenneth Doyle, a public affairs officer for the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, said Thursday the number has been declining for years.

Figures for priests associated with dioceses, the church's major geographical divisions, have held virtually steady for two decades.

Stock And Market Reports

By The Associated Press
HOGS: Trend is 20 to 50 cents higher at N.C. buying stations. Kingston, Spivey's Corner, Murfreesboro, Siler City and Robersonville 50.25; Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Pink Hill, Pine Level, Chadbourn, Ayden, Laurinburg and Benson closed, reopen 2-18; Wilson closed, reopen 2-19; Rowland 49.50. Sows: (500 pounds up) Wilson closed; Fayetteville 46.00; Whiteville unrep; Wallace 47.00; Spivey's Corner 47.50, Rowland 47.00.

BROILERS: The North Carolina f.o.b. dock quoted price on broilers for this week's trading was 50.00 cents, based on full truck load lots of ice pack USDA Grade A sized 2 1/2 to 3 pound birds. 38 percent of the loads offered have been confirmed with a preliminary weighted average of 50.11 cents f.o.b. dock or equivalent. The market is steady and the live supply is mostly adequate for a good demand. Average weights desirable. Estimated slaughter of broilers and fryers in North Carolina Friday was 1,723,000, compared to 1,632,000 last Friday.

HENS: Market steady. Supply barely adequate. Demand moderate. Prices paid per pound for hens over seven pounds at farm for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday slaughter was 16 cents.

GRAIN: No. 2 yellow shelled corn mostly steady at mostly 2.88-3.01 in East and mostly 2.99-3.10 in the Piedmont; No. 1 yellow soybeans 5-6 cents lower at mostly 5.73-5.88.5 in the East and mostly 5.68-5.74 in the Piedmont; wheat mostly 3.30-3.51; (new crop wheat 2.93-3.17)

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, steadying after a bout of selling late in Thursday's session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 1.65 to 1,289.53 in the first half hour.

But losers took a 5-4 lead over gainers in the early tally of New York Stock Exchange listed issues.

Heading into a three-day weekend, the market had plenty of favorable economic news going for it.

The Labor Department reported this morning that the producer price index of finished goods was unchanged in January after posting increases of 0.3 percent in November and 0.2 percent in December.

The latest figure provided support for hopes that inflation would remain at low levels in the months ahead despite continued growth of the economy.

Separately, the Federal Reserve Board said that industrial production rose a seasonally adjusted 0.4 percent last month.

Bond prices rose and interest rates fell in the credit markets Thursday. But analysts said uncertainty persisted about the longer-term outlook for interest rates and the Fed's credit policy.

The central bank issued revised statistics late Thursday that showed faster growth in the money supply last year than had previously been reported.

Furthermore, brokers said many traders opted to cash in some profits from the market's recent rally after it failed Wednesday and again Thursday to hold above the 1,300 level in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Among today's early volume leaders, American Telephone & Telegraph slipped 1/4 to 21 1/8; General Motors rose 1/8 to 79; CSX was down 1/8 at 25 1/8, and Federal National Mortgage was unchanged at 19 1/4.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 10.04 to 1,287.88.

Declines outpaced advances by a narrow margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totaled 139.73 million shares, against 142.46 million in the previous session.

The NYSE's composite index dropped .38 to 105.70. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .11 at 231.11.

Retiree Scheduled To Get Artificial Heart Implant In Operation Sunday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 58-year-old retired assembly line worker will undergo an artificial heart implant operation Sunday at the Humana Heart Institute International, doctors said today.

Murray P. Haydon, of Louisville, has had chronic congestive heart disease of an unknown cause since 1981, said Dr. William C. DeVries. He will become the third person ever to receive a permanently implanted artificial heart.

Haydon had been receiving medication for the illness, but the drugs are now ineffective, DeVries said in a one-page statement issued by the institute.

He was admitted Wednesday to Humana Hospital Audubon, where the operation will be performed.

DeVries and other members of the hospital's heart team reviewed Haydon's medical records and interviewed him before he was admitted. He underwent additional testing and was approved as an implant candidate by the hospital's evaluation committee on Thursday, the statement said.

Doctors will implant the Jarvik-7 plastic and metal device in Haydon. The same kind of unit was implanted in William J. Schroeder on Nov. 25. Schroeder, who celebrated his 53rd birthday Thursday, remains a patient at the hospital.

Haydon, a Louisville native, spent his childhood in Horse Cave, about 100 miles south of here. He is retired from the Ford truck plant here, and also worked as a barber. He spent seven years in the Army and Air Force and saw combat in Germany during World War II.

He and his wife of 32 years, Juanita, have three children and four grandchildren.

The first artificial heart recipient, Barney Clark, lived 112 days with the device and died March 23, 1983. Schroeder's 112th day will be March 16.

Schroeder, like Clark, suffered from cardiomyopathy, a progressive deterioration of the heart muscle caused by heart attack. Unlike Clark, his health was otherwise good despite diabetes and previous heart surgery, but he was only days away from death when he was wheeled into the operating room of Humana Hospital Audubon.

The plastic and metal Jarvik-7 is a $15,500 pump that can be tethered to either a 323-pound drive system or an 11-pound driver that could be worn on a shoulder strap.

DeVries, formerly of the University of Utah, is the only doctor authorized to perform the implants.

State Agencies Seek Extra Funds

RALEIGH (AP) — The state Insurance Department is seeking $162,000 to hire 15 new employees to deal with "pressing issues," and $130,000 to replace outdated equipment in an emergency appropriations request being considered by the General Assembly.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department asked the Legislature Thursday for $336,000 in "supplemental appropriations" including $150,000 in soaring telephone costs for the police information network, according to department spokesman Les Roark.

Gov. Jim Martin said at his weekly press conference that he was aware Insurance Commissioner Jim Long's office needed some extra funds.

"I think he's taken the correct steps to talk to the General Assembly and if there's anything my office can do to help, we will be glad to do so," he said.

The Insurance Department request would place most of the new employees in company operations and financial audit areas. The funding to update equipment includes $60,000 for new copiers, $50,000 for word processors, $20,000 for automation consulting and $15,000 for telephone realignment.

"We're in the dark ages as far as being computerized," said Insurance Department spokesman Max Powell, who delivered details of the request to House Speaker Liston Ramsey and Lt. Gov. Bob Jordan on Thursday afternoon. "On top of that, we're getting 30,000 phone calls a month. Complaints are overtaxing the existing staff."

The department also wants $38,000 to pay for a $50 million liability insurance policy for department employees in anticipation of lawsuits, $15,000 each for consumer complaint consulting, law library upgrades and temporary salaries plus $13,000 for unbudgeted travel and employee education.

Long cited "inaction in files and hearings" and "things that should be done on a timely basis that were not" as potential sources for lawsuits. Also incorporated into the emergency budget is a request that his office recoup the $75,000 it lost in legal fees defending former Insurance Commissioner John Ingram in his court battle against W.R. Grace and Co. last year.

Jordan said after the session Thursday that Long "seems to have a case there for some additional funding right away" and predicted there would be some appropriation made.

But Sen. Tony Rand, D-Cumberland, said he didn't approve of the emergency funding.

"I think it's a very dangerous situation," he said. "It's potentially disastrous for the state."

Roark said $50,000 in the Justice Department request stemmed from State Bureau of Investigation laboratory equipment needed to analyze evidence.

"It's no secret we do have needs," he said. "On this floor I'm on, we have five attorneys and the administrative staff, but there is no copier. We have to go to the basement to make copies."

Walesa Facing New Questioning

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Solidarity leader Lech Walesa has been summoned for questioning at the Gdansk prosecutor's office and faces charges of inciting public unrest, a woman who answered his phone said today.

The official Polish news agency, PAP, said three other prominent Solidarity activists were arrested today in connection with a private meeting they had held Wednesday with Walesa.

The woman who answered Walesa's phone said a uniformed policeman delivered the summons to him shortly after 4 p.m. today at his Gdansk apartment.

"Walesa has been summoned to the prosecutor's office in Gdansk on Saturday at 10:00 a.m. as a suspect," said the woman, who did not reveal her name.

PAP said the three activists held their meeting to organize a Feb. 28 protest strike against food prices. The three — Adam Michnik, Wladyslaw Frasyniuk and Bogdan Lis — were charged by the Gdansk prosecutor's office with undertaking actions aimed at "causing public unrest" and organizing illegal protest actions, the news agency said.

The charges carry a penalty of up to three years in prison under Poland's penal code.

Four other senior Solidarity figures were also detained Wednesday after police broke up the union meeting in a private apartment in the Baltic port city. PAP did not say whether the other four activists faced the same charges.

Walesa, who initially was released immediately after the police raid, said he had no immediate comment on the arrests of his comrades.

"I need time to think this over," said Walesa, contacted by telephone at his Gdansk apartment before the report about his own summons.

Walesa had said Solidarity leaders held the meeting to discuss plans for a nationwide 15-minute protest strike Feb. 28 against government plans to raise food prices next month.

PAP said that the meeting was aimed "at preparing inciting actions to create public unrest in the country."

PAP said that Michnik, Frasyniuk and Lis had "repeatedly" violated the law since their release from prison last year under a government amnesty for political prisoners.

BLACK CREEK — Mr. James Edward "Jimmy" Smith, 55, died Thursday.

Pirates Host Spiders Saturday

East Carolina University's Pirates, after finally snapping their losing streak at 11 games, turn their attention back into the ECAC-South — where they hope to snap another losing skid and pull off a couple of upsets in the next few days. The Pirates will be hosting the University of Richmond, currently rebounding at 6.5 while Woolfolk is second in the league at 7.3, on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Monday, the Bucs travel to Annapolis, Md., to face the league-leading Midshipmen of the U.S. Naval Academy. Navy currently boasts an 8-2 conference mark.

East Carolina, meanwhile, is 0-8 in league play and resides in last place. The Pirates, who have not won this year, have dropped their last 12 games in a row in the league. They haven't won on the road since the 1981-82, dropping 14 in a row.

The Spiders have won the last three meetings between the two teams, including a 63-50 decision in Robins Center in Richmond earlier this year.

Richmond, 13-8 overall, is expected to start 5-10 junior Greg Beckwith and 6-2 senior Kelvin Johnson at the guards, with 6-5 junior John Davis and 6-7 junior John Newman at the forwards. Either 6-5 freshman Peter Woolfolk or 6-8 freshman Steven Kratzer will be at the center position.

Newman is the league's third leading scorer with a 19.1 average, while Johnson stands ninth at 16.0. Davis is sixth in the league in Beckwith is the league's second place man in assists with 5.9, while Davis paces the league in steals with 2.0 per game.

Richmond is fifth in the league in field goal percentage at 48.2, and fourth at the stripe, hitting 70.1.

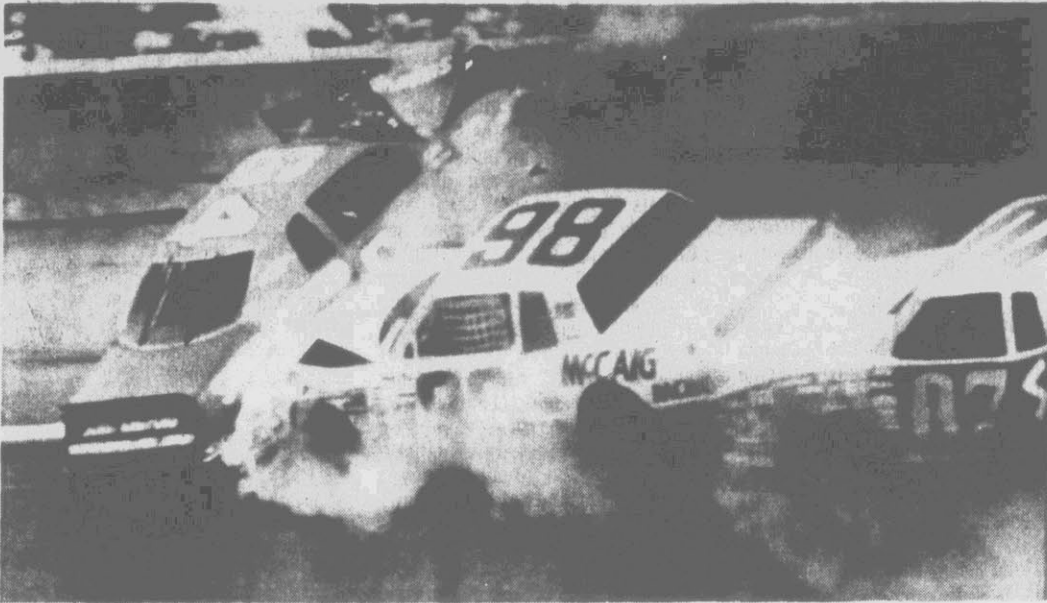

Navy, which plays host to William & Mary on Saturday night before facing the Pirates, is moving steadily towards the regular season title and top seeding in the league's post-season tournament. Currently 18-4 overall, the Midshipmen got 35 points out of sophomore sensation David Robinson in their 81-61 victory over American last night.

Meanwhile, junior Vernon Butler will be the school's all-time rebounding leader before the Pirates move into Hasley Fieldhouse for the 7:30 p.m. game Monday. Butler entered the week with 783 just 14 behind all-time leader Kevin Sisset, who played from 1975-79.

Robinson's, who leads all freshmen and sophomores in the country in scoring, rebounding, field goal percentage and blocked shots, became only the third Midshipman

Elliott, Yarborough Won't Confirm It's 2-Man Show

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Neither pole-sitter Bill Elliott nor two-time defending champion Cale Yarborough is ready to say Sunday's $1.2-million Daytona 500 will be a two-man shootout, despite evidence to the contrary.

"You never count it until you go under the (checkered) flag," Elliott said Thursday after his Ford Thunderbird averaged 179.784 mph in overwhelming the field by 37 seconds in the first of the 7-Eleven Twin 125-mile qualifying races.

"Nobody is the man to beat in a race like the Daytona 500," said Yarborough, a winner by two lengths of his Thunderbird in the nightcap at an average speed of 155.387 mph.

"I was hoping to be second right behind him, but I was second right in front of him," said Darrell Waltrip, who would have been lapped by Elliott had the race lasted much longer. "The only realistic way that I have a shot is if he goes down on seven cylinders."

"Boys, the handwriting is on the wall," Waltrip's teammate, Neil Bonnett, who qualified third behind Elliott's all-time stock car record 205.114 mph and Yarborough's 203.814, was similarly impressed.

"If he's got anything left, people might as well go home and watch on TV," said Bonnett, who strongly pursued Elliott until an unscheduled pit stop took his Chevrolet Monte Carlo SS out of contention. "I can't run my car like that for 500 miles."

While Elliott cruised to victory in his $110,000 event, Yarborough picked up an identical $22,000 winner's paycheck in traditional Daytona fashion. He drafted David Pearson's Chevy for 23 laps and pulled the classic slingshot maneuver entering the backstretch for the final time.

"I knew he was coming, but there was nothing I could do," Pearson said.

The new Fords have a lower, more aerodynamic profile than the General Motors cars, which had dominated Grand National racing in recent years. The Ford engines also are set back farther from the front, apparently giving the car better balance on the racetrack.

This has led to gripes by GM drivers, which Yarborough called "human nature."

"If that (an unfair advantage) was true, then all the Fords would be running up there with me and Bill," he said. "Only two Fords run up front today. The rest were General Motors products."

As it was, Fords took three of the first six spots in the first of the qualifiers, which determined starting positions 3 through 30 for Sunday's race. Ricky Rudd was fifth and Dick Brooks sixth behind Elliott and Chevy drivers Waltrip and Benny Parsons and Buddy Baker in an Oldsmobile Cutlass.

Kyle Petty drove a Ford to a third-place finish in the second race, finishing just ahead of his father, Richard, who was in a Pontiac Grand Prix. Harry Gant, who narrowly avoided a last-lap crash after touching fenders with Phil Parson, was fifth in the race in a Chevy.

Seven Vikes In Regional

D.H. Conley's Vikings will lead a contingent of area wrestlers into the Eastern Regionals, to be held Saturday at Goldsboro High School.

The top four finishers in each of the 13 weight classes in last week's Greenville and Fayetteville sectionals will converge on Goldsboro to vie for spots in the state tournament, to be held next weekend in Winston-Salem. The top four finishers in the regionals advance to the state meet.

D.H. Conley's team, winning the sectional for the third straight year, qualified seven wrestlers, as did Washington. Rose landed three in the regionals.

Qualifying from Conley were: David Farris, fourth at 101; Jackie King, fourth at 115; Kerry Farris, first at 122; Joel Maye, second at 129; Martin Anderson, first at 148; Ricky Rice, second at 198; and Gerald Harper, first at heavyweight.

Washington qualifiers included: Tim Penhallow, third at 135; Phil Harris, third at 141; Kent Keys, third at 148; Chris Penhallow, fourth at 170; Joe Landon, second at 108; and Marty Hodges, second at 122.

Rose qualifiers were: Mike Barnhill, fourth at 122; Todd Morris, fourth at 198; and Adam Levin, first at 135.

Michigan Topples Iowa, 56-52

By The Associated Press
Bill Frieder, the Michigan coach, wasn't buying all the hype over his team's Big Ten matchup with Iowa. George Raveling, the Hawkeyes coach, sauntered onto the floor wearing a warmup suit to show how uptight he felt.

"You guys can make it out as a big game, but we have to play six more," Frieder said after his third-ranked Wolverines took a 1 1/2-game lead over No. 11 Iowa with a 56-52 victory at Iowa City.

"I'm damn happy," Frieder said. "I'm not going to downplay that, but there's a long way to go and a lot of funny things can happen in this conference."

Raveling and his coaches wore jogging suits instead of the more traditional sport jackets and neckties. "I figured since you guys said this was the biggest game of the year, I would relax," Raveling said.

Roy Tarpley led Michigan, 19-3 and 10-2 in the Big Ten, with 21 points, but only four of those came in the second half as Iowa took a five-point lead with 4 1/2 minutes to play. The Wolverines erased the lead on two straight baskets by Garde Thompson and a bucket by Antoine Joubert that put Michigan ahead for good, 50-49. Greg Stokes had 15 points for Iowa, 19-5 and 8-3 in the Big Ten.

While he was relaxing in his sweatsuit, Raveling blamed a defense that was a little too relaxed for allowing the two baskets by Thompson in that run.

"One of our players just fell asleep," Raveling said. "As I told him in the dressing room, 'I can buy you falling asleep on it the first time, but not a second time.'"

In other games involving Top Twenty teams, No. 8 Syracuse swamped Seton Hall 94-62. No. 12 Louisiana Tech beat Southwestern Louisiana 83-76 in overtime. No. 17 Illinois clobbered Northwestern 64-42 and No. 18 Oregon State defeated Washington State 69-49.

Top Ten
Syracuse scored the first eight points of the second half to open up a 60-47 lead and easily defeated Seton Hall in a Big East Conference game, giving Jim Boeheim his 200th coaching victory. In only nine years at Syracuse, Boeheim has a record of 200-66.

Wendell Alexis, a reserve forward, had 17 points for the Orangemen, 18-4 and 8-4 in the Big East. Seton Hall is 9-15 and winless in 13 conference games.

Seton Hall cut Syracuse's lead to 62-32 as Andre McCloud scored seven points in a 10-2 spurt, but Syracuse responded with a 17-4 run to put the game away. McCloud led the Pirates with 15 points.

Seton Hall Coach P.J. Carlesimo called Boeheim's achievement "mind-boggling," adding, "He's a great, great coach. It's unfortunate he doesn't get quite as much recognition as he deserves."

Louisiana Tech scored eight times from the foul line in the final minute of overtime, and Willie Simmons had 16 points as the Bulldogs improved their record to 21-2. The score was tied 63-63 at the end of regulation, but Louisiana Tech took advantage of three turnovers by Southwestern in overtime. Neither team led by more than five points in the first half.

Illinois ended a three-game Big Ten Conference losing streak by beating Northwestern, which has lost five straight games. Bruce Douglas had 17 points as the Illini upped its record to 19-7 and 7-5 in the conference. Northwestern did not score its first field goal until more than nine minutes were gone but rallied to trail only 32-26 at halftime. Illinois scored 16 straight points during a 10-minute stretch of the second half to lead 52-33.

A.C. Green had a game-high 29 points, and center Steve Woodside had 17 points and 11 assists as Oregon State coasted over Washington State in the Pacific-10 Conference. The Beavers never trailed, leading 33-22 at halftime and 43-27 five minutes into the second half on a three-point play by Woodside. Oregon State is 18-4 and 8-3 in the Pac-10.

Unranked
Ronnie Stokes had 17 points to lead Ohio State to a 72-63 Big Ten victory over Indiana as the Buckeyes won for the first time at the Hoosiers' Assembly Hall. Indiana dropped to 14-8 and 6-6 in the Big Ten, while Ohio State is 15-6 and 7-5.

Arnie Russell's 15-footer with 51 seconds left gave Iona a 47-45 victory over Army in the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference. The Gaels are 21-3 and 9-2 in the MAAC.

Center David Robinson paced Navy to an 81-61 ECAC-South victory over American with 35 points. Robinson has scored 30 or more points in four games.

Decker New BVLGA Head

Missy Decker has been selected as the new president of the Brook Valley Ladies Golf Association.

Other officers selected at the February meeting of the BVLGA include: Lea Miller, vice-president; Joanne Horne, treasurer; Carole Edwards, secretary; Kathy McCoy, tournament chairwoman; Miriam Martin, Ladies Day chairwoman; Peggy Glancett, publicity and telephone; Wanda Bonds, board member at large.

The next meeting of the association will be held on March 7 at 9:30 a.m. at the club and all interested women who are members of Brook Valley are invited to attend.

Low Scores Highlight San Diego Open Golf

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — The Isuzu-Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament is plunging to new lows.

Low scores, that is.

Never before have so many players needed so few shots to make one trip around the twin courses at Torrey Pines, the scenic, Pacific-bordered club that graces this elite coastal community just north of San Diego.

"I guarantee, you'll see some good scores with this weather," said Gary Hallberg, who ought to know. He fired an 8-under-par 64 Thursday, one off the tournament single-round record, yet had to settle for a four-way tie for the lead.

Swinging amid ideal conditions — temperature in the upper 70s, brilliant blue skies, no wind — 118 of the 155 PGA players competing here shot par or better, and 20 of them covered 18 holes in 66 or fewer strokes.

The scores were so low, in fact, that tournament officials speculated it might take a 36-hole total of 140, 4 under par, to make the cut. That would eclipse the Williams record low cut of 3 under, set last year.

"The greens are very slow and firm. You can roll your putts aggressively, and you wind up knocking more in," said Hallberg, runnerup to Gary Koch here last year and the Williams champion in 1983. "I'm very confident here. The 64 actually was a fairly simple round."

His torrid play came over the south course, which in the past had been regarded as the more difficult of the two Torrey Pines layouts.

Smith, Duggins Maintain Lead In Scoring Races

With the regular season's end upon us, most of the area high school basketball teams move into conference tournament play next week and some will end their seasons there.

Others, meanwhile, will move on into district play and from there, hopefully, into the state playoffs.

In the meantime, the area scoring races go on, although it begins to look like Marvin Smith and Gloria Duggins have a strangle hold on their respective division leads.

Smith, who has led the boys' scoring all year long, continues to pace the pace. The Ayden-Grifton star has a 20.4 average — the same as last week — while Duggins, of Roanoke, saw a slight dip in her performance, down two-tenths of a point to 21.2 per game.

There were no changes in the membership of the boys' top 20 this week, but there were a few position changes. Earl Randolph of Washington continues to hold down second place with a 17.4 average, while Dan Andrews of Greenville

Christian moved up from fourth to third at 16.3. Jimmy Powers of Trinity slipped to fourth from third with a 16.1 mark. Tony Doughty of Williamston continues in fifth place at 15.6.

In the girls' race, Farmville Central's Lisa Lang, tied with Greene Central's Cyndi Hicks last week for second place, takes over that spot all along at 19.0. Hicks is now third at 18.9. Renee Deans of Trinity holds to fourth at 18.6, while Regina Cox of North Pitt is again fifth at 17.9.

Washington is still the number one team in boys' offense with a 65.1 average, well ahead of number two Roanoke at 60.2.

North Pitt heads the boys' defense, allowing 45.5, while Trinity is second with a 47.8 average.

Trinity has the largest winning margin, averaging topping opponents by 11.0 points per game, while North Pitt is second at 10.5.

In girls' offense, Greene Central continues to lead at 60.9, followed by Farmville Central at 57.2.

Defensively, there is one of the better battles going on. Bear Grass currently leads with a 36.4 average, while Chocowinity is second at 36.5. Right behind them is Washington at 36.9, leaving all three teams within a half-point of each other.

Greene Central is whipping its opponents by a whopping 20.3 points per game while Farmville Central is second with a 13.1 average.

The final wrapup won't appear until all tournament play has been completed.

to pass 500 points in a season with the 35 last night. That moved him to 525 on the year. He trails only Don Lange, 542 and John Clune, 634, who scored their points during the 1953-54 season.

Coming into the week, Robinson at 23.3 points, was the number two scorer in the league, and his rebounding average, 10.7, was the best in the loop. Butler is scoring at an 18.6 clip and pulling 10.0 rebounds, second best in the conference.

Also in double figures is forward Kylor Whitaker at 13.8.

Following the two games, the Pirates again take to the road, traveling to American on Thursday for their next-to-the-last road game. They return home next Saturday night against UNC-Wilmington, then close out the home slate against Campbell in a non-league game on February 27. Their final regular season game is March 2 at James Madison.

Bethel Downs Farmville Five

BETHEL — Billy Hardison fired in 17 points to lead Bethel Middle School to a 42-39 victory over Farmville Thursday for the Northern Division championship of the Pitt-Greene Lenoir junior high basketball conference.

Bethel finished the season with a 10-1 record to earn the title.

James Reid paced Farmville with 16 points and Tony Bullock added 10.

In the girls game, Bethel nipped Farmville 34-27 as Clemmie Jenkins and Cathy Moore pumped in 10 points each. Vicki Best led Farmville with nine points.

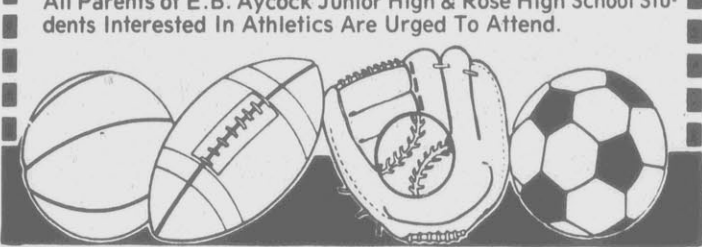

Mike Clark fired in 15 points and Errol Wooten added 10 to lead E.B. Aycock to an 89-42 win over Wilson Fike Thursday in junior high basketball action.

Jeff Mahoney and Jeff Ward chipped in eight points each.

Aycock, now 9-3, travels to Wilson Hunt Tuesday.

North-South bid well to reach an excellent club slam. After North's cute-bid of four hearts, which showed concentrated values in the suit, slam interest and good club support (North had denied a four-card major at his previous turn), South made the value bid.

There are 11 top tricks at six clubs. How many chances are there for declarer to make a 12th trick?

If you said two, the finesses in the major suits, you are almost right. There is an additional chance — a 3-3 break in diamonds. How would you go about testing all three possibilities?

If you take the spade finesse first and it loses, or if you duck a diamond and try for a 3-3 break only to find that the distribution is unkind, you might lose your slam if the next option you exercise goes wrong. But you can try all three chances if, after drawing trumps, you take the heart finesse first.

Leader Fined

PEKING (AP) — A village Communist Party leader was fined the equivalent of $71 for dismantling a 200-foot section of the Great Wall of China to enlarge a brick kiln, the official English-language China Daily reported today.

It said Li Guobiao, party secretary in Bataizi village, Shanxi province, also was given a disciplinary warning and forced to make a self-criticism speech at a rally held at the site of the demolished section of the wall.

The report said the portion of the 13-foot-high wall that Li was accused of destroying had been built during the Ming dynasty of 1368-1644.

Concerts Canceled

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Concerts featuring Dolly Parton and Kenny Rogers in four cities were postponed or canceled after Ms. Parton came down with the flu, a Met Center spokeswoman said.

The 39-year-old singer and actress "has some type of influenza," said spokeswoman Connie Shaver. Concerts in Portland, Ore.; Tacoma, Wash.; and Cincinnati also were postponed or canceled, Ms. Shaver said.

The concerts Monday and Tuesday at Met Center, which were sold out, were rescheduled to April 26-27, she said.

Assume it loses and East returns a heart. Discard a diamond on the third heart, cash the ace-king of diamonds and ruff a diamond. If the suit breaks, you have a parking spot for your spade loser. If it doesn't, as is the case here, you can still fall back on the spade finesse for your slam.

That works, and you get the same result as those who could go no further than a finesse. But at least you have the personal satisfaction of having played the hand correctly.

Martin To Base Budget On Slump

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Jim Martin says he probably will base his 1985-87 spending proposals on the same economic forecast used by his predecessor, which foresees a mild slump in the next fiscal year.

"It is not an accurate science to predict what the economy is going to do," said Martin in a news conference Thursday. But he said the economy was "still charging along at a very healthy pace" after a momentary lull last year.

Martin, who is pushing a sweeping tax-cut proposal expected to cost the state $443.5 million when fully implemented, is preparing revisions to the budget proposed by former Gov. Jim Hunt in December.

Because the Hunt budget set aside no money for tax cuts, Martin is expected to build a surplus by proposing some spending reductions and delaying implementation of some projects.

He said, however, that he didn't expect to bolster the surplus by painting a rosier economic picture — featuring higher tax revenues — than Hunt did.

"I think it would be more appropriate for me not to have a plan to make (the revenue estimates) higher or lower, but rather to present whatever ... our best estimates are at the time that I present the budget," said Martin.

The estimates could change later in the year, he said. "But at the same time, we don't want to do anything rash and get overly optimistic."

Hunt's budget foresees a 12.4 percent increase in General Fund collections fiscal 1984-85, and a slight dip in the economy that would slow growth to 7.7 percent in 1985-86 and 9.5 percent in 1986-87.

Some legislative leaders have predicted a slowdown this year. Royall said recently the slump could be severe enough to require spending cuts to keep the 1984-85 budget in balance.

Martin's tax package features repeal of the levies on intangible assets, business inventories, food and non-prescription medicines.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, FEB. 16, 1985

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine time to accept an opportunity where matters that have to do with possessions are concerned and to build up a new security for yourself by a very practical and down-to-earth attitude.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Consult with experts who can assist you with future activities that are important to you, and can analyze them well.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can conquer that stubborn streak with an associate today by being more compromising in attitude.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Listen to what an expert has to suggest so that you can get long-time problematical affairs at work nicely solved.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Join with a partner at some amusement activity and you can at long last come to a real understanding.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) If you are more willing to share work around the house, you can reach a fine understanding with one who dwells with you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get in touch with persons you like and invite them out for a good time at whatever will be mutually pleasurable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study monetary status of kin, and then do whatever will improve it. If repairs are needed to property, make plans to get it done.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may feel stalemated in career work, but if you have talks with partners, all can be resolved nicely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Forget that private worry and get busy at important matters that can bring in a greater income, then your worries are over.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't let that friend force you into doing what he or she likes, but be tactful. It may be a little hard to gain personal goals now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Have a discussion with one who is prominent and demanding and then the attitude changes and you get favors coming to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Listening to what an expert from out of town has to suggest will help you to gain your personal or business aims more easily.

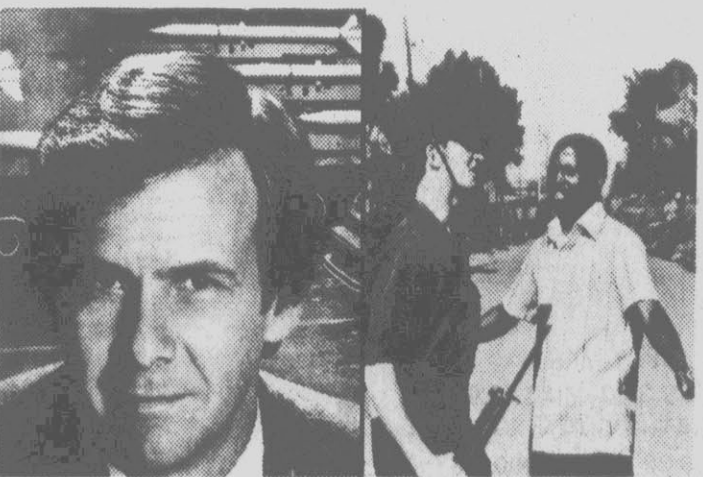

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be very practical at whatever may come up and take time in deciding how to proceed. A fine organizer in this chart who will never want to act hastily, so do not try to change your progeny. Teach to listen to the views of others through which much can be learned.

CBS Files Suit In Helms Effort

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS Inc. has charged a group of conservative activists with making false and misleading statements in a month-old campaign which encourages their supporters to buy the network's stock and "become Dan Rather's boss."

CBS asked a federal judge Thursday to prevent the North Carolina-based group, Fairness in Media Inc., from obtaining a list of its stockholders unless the conservatives promise not to use the list for "improper purposes."

The conservatives, who have close ties to Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., have accused the network of a liberal bias in its news coverage. Instead of making its own bid for most of the network's stock, Fairness in Media launched a direct-mail campaign seeking to persuade individual investors to buy shares of the network, which they could then use to vote for changes in network policy.

"Chung Kuo"

In Los Angeles and around the world, people of Chinese ancestry are celebrating their culture's New Year. China is slightly larger than the United States. The Chinese call their country "Chung Kuo," or Middle Kingdom. This may reflect the early Chinese belief that China's civilization was the center of the world. If a Chinese person dies at sea, his body must be returned to China, not buried at sea. China's written language contains more than 40,000 characters.

Gunfire Exchanged On Interstate

GRAHAM, N.C. (AP) — Two armed robbery suspects exchanged gunfire with an Alamance County sheriff's deputy on Interstate 85, then eluded swarms of area law officers who joined the search.

The deputy, who narrowly escaped injury when a slug lodged in his bullet-proof vest, emptied his revolver at the suspects' car as they fled and thought he may have wounded one of them. The deputy, Steve Sumner, was standing four to seven feet away from one of the suspects as they exchanged gunfire, police said. The shooting occurred about 8:45 p.m. Thursday in Alamance County.

The suspects sped south on the interstate before other police cars arrived at the shooting scene, police said.
