

School Needs

Education Officials Say N.C. Public Schools Need $3.2 Billion For Construction Projects Story on A-6

Language

Students Who Hear Learn A New Language As Transfers To A College For The Deaf
Story on B-5

Rose Advances

Rose High's Girls Nipped Terry Sanford Wednesday
Story On B-1

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

TRUTH IN PREFERENCE TO FICTION

106th YEAR

NO. 55

GREENVILLE, N.C.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, MARCH 5, 1987

28 PAGES

PRICE 25 CENTS

Reagan Takes 'First Step Toward Revival'

By CLIFF HAAS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters and critics alike say President Reagan has taken only a first step along the comeback trail with his acceptance of full responsibility for the Iran arms deal that eroded faith in his leadership.

"This isn't behind him yet, but it's a start," Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said of Reagan's 12-minute, nationally broadcast address Wednesday night. The speech was part of a campaign to revitalize Reagan's presidency with new aides, an olive branch to Congress and a promise to pay closer attention to running the government.

In his first response to the Tower commission report on his management of the National Security Council, Reagan expressed anger, disappointment and distaste for the Iran-Contra affair but offered no new insights into how it happened. And he said others will have to find answers to the whereabouts of payments from the arms sale.

"As the Tower board reported, what began as a strategic opening to Iran deteriorated in its implementation into trading arms for hostages," Reagan said. "This runs counter to my own beliefs, to administration policy and to the original strategy we had in mind."

"There are reasons why it happened, but no excuses. It was a mistake," the president said.

Reagan acknowledged some of the harsh criticism the Tower commission leveled last week at his hands-off management style.

"Let's face it, my style didn't match its previous track record," Reagan said. "I have already begun correcting this."

Nonetheless, members of Congress said misgivings may linger about Reagan.

"The American people are forgiving, but I'm not sure they're going to change their perception of his ability to run the country," said Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark.

Others said this speech should have been delivered long ago.

Indeed, the address indicated how far Reagan's position has changed since last Nov. 6, when he declared that stories about secret arms sales to Iran had "no foundation."

Reagan still appeared unwilling to embrace the idea that there had been an arms-for-hostages deal.

"A few months ago, I told the American people I did not trade arms for hostages," Reagan said. "My heart and my best intentions still tell me that is true, but the facts and the evidence tell me it is not."

The president also had a message for the families of American hostages in Lebanon: "We have not given up. We never will. And I promise you we'll use every legitimate means to free your loved ones from captivity."

Reagan said he had intended his opening to Iran as a means of developing relations with those who might succeed the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

"I let my personal concern for the hostages spill over into the geopolitical strategy," Reagan said.

(See FIRST, A-14)

TRUST ME — Brian Wyles needs a lot of trust as he lies on the ground and lets Craig Winchester jump over him on a skateboard. They were trying their hand at jumping Wednesday afternoon with friends on 11th street. (Reflector Photo by Cliff Hollis)

President Promises New Efforts To Free Hostages

By RICHARD L. VERNACI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says he let his concern for Americans held hostage in Lebanon "spill over" into his initiative to seek a new link with Iran, but he promises the hostages' families he has not abandoned them.

"A few months ago I told the American people I did not trade arms for hostages," Reagan said Wednesday in his nationally broadcast address from the Oval Office. "My heart and my best intentions still tell me that is true, but the facts and the evidence tell me it is not."

Reagan, responding to findings of the three-member Tower panel he appointed to investigate the Iran-Contra affair, said the sale of arms to Iran was the most controversial part of the affair and originally was intended to establish relations with those who could become leaders of that government after the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

"It's clear from the board's report ... that I let my personal concern for the hostages spill over into the geopolitical strategy of reaching out to Iran," Reagan said. "I asked so many questions about the hostages' welfare that I didn't ask enough about the specifics of the total Iran plan."

The presidential commission, chaired by former Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, found that whatever the president's original intentions, the dealings with Iran quickly became an attempt to free Americans held hostage in Lebanon.

"Let me say to the hostage families, we have not given up," Reagan said. "We never will. And I promise you we'll use every legitimate means to free your loved ones from captivity. But I must also caution that those Americans who freely remain in such dangerous areas must know that they're responsible for their own safety."

Peggy Say, sister of hostage Terry Anderson, said she was encouraged by the president's remarks.

"I believe as he told us when he met with the hostages' families that he had a strong commitment to getting the hostages home," she said in an interview in Washington. "That proved to be true in light of the revelations, so I am prepared to take him at his word."

Mrs. Say said the government has other methods it could use that she believes could secure the release of the hostages. She declined to elaborate.

"I think if the same amount of dedication and resources are channeled into the proper initiative, they will bring those hostages home," she said.

RESPONSE — President Ronald Reagan poses for photographers in the Oval Office Wednesday night after addressing the nation in his first response to the Tower Commission's report on the Iranian arms sale. Critics and friends say it was the president's first step back toward revival of his administration. (AP Laserphoto)

'City Has ... Enough Control'

Speakers Oppose City's Bid For Control Expansion

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

No opposition was voiced over a proposal to bring the county's flood prevention ordinance in line with changes in federal law or over changes in the method of valuing new construction for building permit fee charges at a hearing at the county office building Wednesday night.

But County Commissioners heard two people voice objections to granting the city of Greenville extrajurisdiction over some 135 acres of land that lie outside the city's normal one-mile jurisdictional limit.

The acreage is contained in three tracts — one off Secondary Road 1202, one off SR 1304 and one adjoining the Pitt County landfill off SR 1203 — that would be split by the normal one-mile limit.

But Lloyd Hudson, saying he owns property that adjoins one of the three tracts, told commissioners "this is too much for the city to have control over."

"I don't have any problems with the (proposed) medical district. I have problems with control," he said.

"I want concerned people looking after the property owners. The city has got enough control already," Hudson said.

Hudson's wife, Dorothy Hudson, told commissioners that she, too, is "opposed" to the city having jurisdiction over the additional 137 acres.

"I do not want to be governed by the city of Greenville (where) I have no voting right."

"Let the city develop what they already have ... at least some of it," before granting jurisdiction for planning and zoning over more area outside the municipal limits, she urged the board.

"I would like for you to show me that democracy works. Please ... be careful in your decision," Mrs. Hudson said.

Changes in the flood damage prevention ordinance, among other things, would allow mobile homes to be placed in the floodway — something not now permitted.

But changes would also set standards for flood-proofing curtain walls and require that utility services be elevated above the 100-year flood level.

Changes in the building permit fees would result from a revision of methods the inspections department now uses to compute the cost of buildings for permit purposes.

The department now values new buildings at $25 per square foot for heated area and $12.50 per square foot for non-heated space. But under the proposed changes, heated area would be valued at $40 a square foot and non-heated area at $20 per square foot.

By computing the cost of construction on a more realistic basis, building permit fees would be reduced from the present $2.50 per $1,000 value to about $1.60.

Invitation

An invitation to join the Republican Party that state Sen. Tom Taft received in the mail provided lawmakers a little mirth in the midst of conducting the state's business.

Taft, a Pitt County Democrat, informed fellow members of the N.C. General Assembly of the solicitation during Tuesday's session in Raleigh.

"There has to be humor in even our most serious activities, and the Senate took great delight in my presentation of the letter and credentials forwarded to me by the Republican Party," Taft said.

Major Quake Rocks Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A strong earthquake rocked northern Chile today, damaging buildings, knocking out electricity and frightening residents.

Police said no injuries were reported from the 40-second quake, which affected a 650-mile stretch of territory that is home to more than 550,000 people.

Onemi, the government's national emergency office, said the quake struck at 6:17 a.m. and measured 5.5 on the Richter scale in the cities of Antofagasta, Calama and Chuquibambilla.

Police said people took to the streets in panic in some places after the quake. An aftershock at 7:58 a.m. also frightened residents, police said. The aftershock registered 3 on the Richter scale.

Antofagasta is a port city 870 miles north of Santiago that is home to about 125,000 people. Chuquibambilla, site of the world's largest open pit copper mine, and Calama are inland cities more than 100 miles northeast of Antofagasta.

Police in Antofagasta said two walls collapsed in the city, including

(See QUAKE, A-14)

NATO Consulted On Arms Talks

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Chief U.S. arms negotiator Max Kampelman met today with NATO allies about a draft treaty to eliminate medium-range nuclear weapons from Europe, and expressed concern before the meeting about short-range Soviet weapons.

America's allies generally have welcomed a proposed treaty presented to Soviet negotiators Wednesday that would eliminate mid-range missiles in Europe. But they have expressed worry that an accord would leave the Soviets with an advantage because of its short-range missiles.

A report in The New York Times today said the Soviets have agreed to include language on short-range missiles in the treaty and have also agreed to on-site inspections to verify the dismantling of missiles under the accord.

Kampelman and the top U.S. negotiator on medium-range missiles, Maynard Glitman, flew to Brussels from Geneva for the meeting at NATO headquarters of the outskirts of Brussels.

The negotiators later planned to fly to Washington before returning to Geneva early next week to resume talks.

Kampelman, asked before the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting to specify how the issue of shorter-range Soviet nuclear missiles would be incorporated in the treaty, said only, "We have a very important concern about those short-range systems."

He said the United States also considered "very vital" the question of verifying Soviet compliance with the proposed agreement. He declined to be more specific but indicated this would be discussed with NATO representatives at a meeting of the North Atlantic Council, the alliance's highest political body.

Officials at the U.S. Mission said Kampelman planned no public comments after the meeting.

The seventh round of Geneva arms talks originally were to end Wednesday. But negotiations got new life last weekend when Soviet leader Mikhail

(See NATO, A-14)

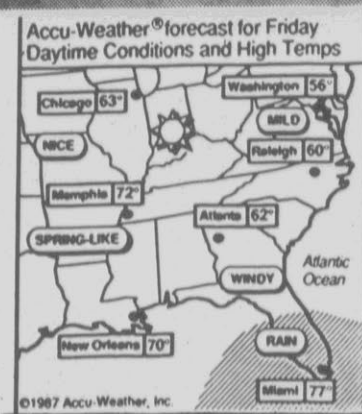

The Weather

Forecast
Partly cloudy tonight. Low in lower 30s. Light wind. Mostly sunny Friday. High in lower 60s.

Looking Ahead
Fair Saturday through Monday. Highs in 60s. Lows near 40 Saturday, near 50 Sunday and Monday.

Inside Today

- A-2 — Local news
- A-4 — Editorials
- A-6 — State news
- A-14 — Obituaries
- B-1 — Sports
- B-5 — Crossword

In The Area

Wednesday Thefts

Three thefts were reported to Greenville police Wednesday.

Officer J.G. Bridges said a citizens band radio valued at $200 was taken from a car parked at 15 Lexington Square Apartments in an incident reported at 9:15 a.m., while a gym bag containing $10 in cash, a watch, books and gloves, with a combined value of $335, was taken from a vehicle parked at Carriage House Apartments in an incident reported at 1:19 p.m.

According to Officer B.M. Highland, an equalizer valued at $125 was taken from a car parked at Carolina East Center on Memorial Drive in an incident reported at 4:06 p.m.

Shoplifting Counts

Greenville police arrested two people on shoplifting charges Wednesday.

Officers C.M. Credle and J.E. Woolard said Calvin Earl Tyson, 23, and Betty Perkins Smith, 26, both of Bell Arthur, were charged with shoplifting in connection with the theft of $44 worth of steaks from the Farm Fresh store on Greenville Boulevard about 10:09 p.m.

Woolard said Ms. Smith was also charged with possession of drug paraphernalia after a small amount of marijuana, a pack of cigarette rolling papers and other items were found in her possession.

Drug Arrests Made

Authorities have arrested three people on drug charges in connection with an undercover operation that netted nine ounces of cocaine with an estimated street value of $25,000, Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson said today.

Tyson said officers recovered eight ounces of cocaine from a trailer at 106 Faye St., Ayden, and one ounce of cocaine from P & E Grocery in Clayroot Wednesday following an investigation by the SBI, Pitt County Sheriff's Department, and Greenville and Ayden police departments.

Tyson said Alvin Justin "Buddy" Huggins, 36, of Route 3, Box 348, Ayden, has been charged with conspiracy to traffic in cocaine. Huggins is being held under $50,000, in Pitt County Jail, said Tyson.

Earl Steven Arnold, 35, of 106 Faye St., Ayden, has been charged with possession with intent to sell and deliver cocaine, trafficking in cocaine by sale, conspiracy to traffic in cocaine, and trafficking in cocaine by possession, according to Tyson. Arnold is being held under a $200,000 bond.

Phyllis Jones Arnold, 36, of 106 Faye St., Ayden, has been charged with possession with intent to sell and deliver cocaine, Tyson said. Her bond was set at $25,000.

Hearings were scheduled for today in Pitt County District Court.

Lions Club Project

The Greenville Host Lions Club will collect used eyeglass lens and/or frames for needy persons Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at several area locations.

Collection points will include Chick-Fil-A at Carolina East Mall, Farm Fresh Super Savings Center at 609 Greenville Blvd., Kroger Sav-On Food and Drug at 600 E. Greenville Blvd., Rose's at The Plaza, and Food Lion on Red Banks Road.

Club members will be on hand to accept eye wills from interested persons.

For information contact Alan Griffin, project chairman, at 756-0311.

Session Participants

Two Greenville residents and a former Greenville resident will be on the faculty of a daylong workshop sponsored by the North Carolina Concern for Dying Educational Council March 28 at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill.

Loretta Kopelman, associate professor of medical humanities at East Carolina University, and Dr. Mary Raab, associate clinical professor in the ECU School of Medicine, will be on the program.

Martha Henderson, a Greenville native who is director of outpatient services at the Carol Wood Retirement Center, will also be a workshop leader.

The workshop is titled, "Ethical Issues for Professionals: Patient Rights in Terminal Care Decisions."

Applicants may contact North Carolina Concern for Dying, P.O. Box 655, Carrboro, 27510 for information and applications.

Chicod School Guest

Eldean Pierce, a nursing instructor at East Carolina University, recently visited third-grade classes at Chicod Elementary School.

Mrs. Pierce discussed personal hygiene, nutrition and self-care for health.

Youth Convention

Miracles of Faith Soul-Saving Station will hold a week-long youth convention beginning Monday and continuing through Sunday.

Services start at 8 p.m. Saturday, while Sunday services begin at 11 a.m.

Role In Production

Mitchell Riggs of Ayden is one of the students appearing in the North Carolina School of the Arts' junior class production of Shakespeare's play, "The Comedy of Errors."

Riggs portrays the character Angelo.

The production, which opened Wednesday, will be on stage today and Friday at 8 p.m. and at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Saturday in the Vintage Theater at the corner of Main and Vintage streets in Winston-Salem.

For more details and reservations, call the box office at 721-1945.

HOUSE DAMAGED — Firemen remove a propane gas tank from a Route 1, Ayden, home Wednesday after it was damaged by fire. According to firemen at the scene, the house was occupied by John Barbour on rural paved road 1116 off N.C. 102 west of Ayden. When firemen arrived at the scene, the fire had caused heavy damage to the interior of the home. Winterville firemen were also called for assistance on the fire. The cause of the 11:19 a.m. fire had not been determined. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Book Autographing

David Stick and Walter Gresham will be at the N.C. Aquarium near Manteo on Roanoke Island on Saturday to autograph their new book, "The Ash Wednesday Storm."

Stick, an author and Outer Banks historian, and Gresham, a photographer, have teamed up to produce the book, which details first-person accounts of the storm that struck the Outer Banks 25 years ago on March 7, 1962.

The book also includes a number of Aycock Brown photographs of the storm and the clean-up efforts that followed.

Stick will discuss the storm at 3 p.m. in the aquarium auditorium with the book signing to follow.

The aquarium is located on Airport Road, three miles north of Manteo. The facility is open free of charge to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. weekends.

An exhibit on the storm will be featured today through Sunday.

Aid For Homeless

Gov. Jim Martin has announced that state government will administer a federal grant of $182,000 to assist local governments in providing shelters for the homeless.

The Department of Natural Resources and Community Development, through its Division of Community Assistance, will administer the federally-funded Emergency Shelter Grants Program.

Local governments must apply for ESGP to the state by March 27. Application forms and guidelines are available from the division.

Playhouse Auditions

The Smiles and Frown's Playhouse has announced that auditions will be held for its second production, "Dr. Doolittle," to be performed in May.

The first production, "The Wizard of Oz" was performed last fall to audiences totaling over 600 people and involved about 60 children.

The "Dr. Doolittle" cast will offer roles to approximately 24 children, plus extras and an opportunity to work backstage.

Interested parties may attend the audition Tuesday in the Wahl-Coates Elementary School auditorium. For additional information contact Ilene Cox at 756-7007 or 752-3247.

Association Leader

Shane Hudson has been elected president of the Junior Tarheel Historian Association at A.G. Cox Grammar School, Winterville.

Other officers are Charles Harris, vice president; Kemberly Lee, secretary; Jason Roberson, treasurer, and Jesse Strong, photographer. The faculty adviser is Joyce Paige.

Fifth- and sixth-grade club members are planning heritage day activities for the school and are working on literary and art projects for awards day in Raleigh.

League Petitions

The League of Women Voters of Greenville-Pitt County is circulating petitions in Greenville calling for the abolishment of the city's special refuse fee in the 1987-88 city budget.

Petitions will be circulated by members and signing may be done at a league-operated booth at The Plaza for six days in March, beginning Friday. Other dates will be March 13, 16, 17, 18, and 23, from noon to 9 p.m.

The petition states: "We believe that refuse collection is an indispensable public health service which benefits the entire community. Like fire and police protection, refuse collection is a basic and fundamental service and, like them, it should be funded entirely from taxes, as has been done in the past."

The City Council created a special refuse collection fee for city residents for the first time in 1986. The fee must be paid along with electric, water and sewer bills.

For information about the petition project, call Pat Dunn at 757-5433 days or 758-1692 evenings, or Pat Daugherty, 752-3640.

School Registration

Preschoolers who will attend Sadie Sautter School need to register for kindergarten in the school office this month during regular school hours.

Information needed for preschool registration include birth certificate, immunization record and guardianship papers if the student is living with someone other than the parents. Parents' day is March 27.

Precinct Meeting

Greenville's 3rd Precinct will meet today at 8 p.m. in C.M. Eppes Recreation Center to elect precinct officers and delegates to the Pitt County Democratic Convention.

Groundbreaking Set

Ground will be broken at 11 a.m. Friday for the detoxification facility of the Pitt County Mental Health Center on the center grounds, 306 Stantonsburg Road.

Among those participating will be county commissioners, the area board of the Pitt County Mental Health Center, area substance abuse professionals, the Pitt County Alcohol Beverage Control Board, and members of the staff of the Walter B. Jones Substance Abuse Treatment Center.

Speaking will be Phil Dixon, chairman of the area mental health board; Dr. David Ames, clinical director of the Pitt County Mental Health Center, and Charles McLawhorn, a county commissioner.

Trip Planned

The Pitt-Greenville Chapter/GI Eppes Alumni will leave for Atlantic City, N.J., March 13 from Harris Super Market on South Memorial Drive.

Fees must be paid by Friday. For further information call Zeola Elliott, 355-5403, Ruby Williams, 355-2378, Barbara Williams, 757-3557, or Mary Baker, 355-2679.

Benefit Event

Progressive Free Will Baptist Church will have a benefit chicken, fish and chitterling dinner sale beginning at 11 a.m. Friday. For deliveries, call 757-3585.

Annual Dinner Set

The Salvation Army annual report and civic dinner will be held Friday at 7 p.m. at the Greenville Masonic Temple on Charles Street.

Major Clay Satcher, territorial consultant for Boys', Girls' Clubs Community Centers, will be the speaker. He also serves as national liaison officer between Boys' Clubs of America and the Salvation Army.

Music will be provided by the Salvation Army East Carolina area band and the Kings Cross Roads Gospel Band.

New officers and members will be installed by Satcher.

MAJOR CLAY SATCHER

REWARD

Lost: Black Labrador Retriever in Cherry Oaks Area. Answers to "Dean". Call 756-8651 after 5:30

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS GIFT — Pitt County school Superintendent Eddie West expresses appreciation to Knights of Columbus representatives who donated over $6,000 to the schools in support of the Exceptional Children's Program. The presentation was made at a recent principals' meeting. Pictured from left to right are West, Chris Gouras, Raymond Reddick, Tim Baker and Greg Taczozza, chairman of the fund-raising event. (Barry Gaskins Photo)

Warren Appointed

State Rep. Ed N. Warren of Greenville has been appointed as a General Assembly representative to the State-Federal Assembly Committee on Education of the National Conference of State Legislatures.

The committee monitors federal activity in all areas of preschool, elementary/secondary, and post secondary education including programs for disadvantaged and handicapped youth, vocational education and student financial aid, and employment and training and state employment service functions.

The priorities for 1987 are reauthorization of elementary/secondary education programs and new employment and training initiatives.

Warren was the only House member appointed by the speaker of the house.

Driver Is Charged

A 20-year-old Wilson man has been charged with driving left of center and operating a vehicle without a license in connection with a Tuesday afternoon accident involving a Pitt County sheriff's cruiser, according to the N.C. Highway Patrol.

Authorities said a vehicle operated by Patrick Lee Barnes, 20, collided with the cruiser driven by Deputy Redding Neil Elks, 28, of Farmville, at about 2:30 p.m. on N.C. 33, nine-tenths of a mile east of Greenville.

Elks, who was injured in the accident, was transported to Pitt County Memorial Hospital and later released, while Barnes was uninjured, according to authorities.

Highway Patrol Trooper J.R. Hazzard estimated damages at $4,000 to the cruiser and $5,500 to Barnes' vehicle.

MARCH is Shoe Month!

$29.99

Etienne Aigner Aerobic
Run, jump, hop or walk in this perfect all-around leather athleisure shoe. Sizes 5 to 10.

Brody's
Carolina East Mall • The Plaza

MARCH is Shoe Month!

$33.90

9 West Pump
Color yourself bright in this shapely pump from 9 West. Colors: hot pink, white, bone, yellow, blue. Sizes 7-10 narrow; 5-10 medium.

Brody's
Carolina East Mall • The Plaza

NOW THIS BILL COSTS LESS THAN THIS BILL.

CHILDREN'S PORTRAITS FOR ONLY A PENNY-A-POUND.
For just a few days only, you can receive an 8 x 10 photo for only a penny for each pound your child weighs. And we let you choose the pose and background you prefer. Additional portrait packages are available. Plus $1.00 sitting fee. Certain restrictions may apply. Ask your photographer for details. Offer valid until 3-7-87. Frame not included.

March 6 & 7
10 A.M. '87 1 P.M. '87 2 P.M. '87 6 P.M. '87
THE PLAZA 796-1199

PIXY PORTRAITS FROM JCPenney

Military Promotion Law Causes Army To See Red

By NORMAN BLACK
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new law that promotes only an officer who has held a "joint" or "purple suit" job, serving all branches of the military rather than just the one whose uniform he wears, is causing the Army to see red.

But John O. Marsh, the Army's secretary, thinks he's got some powerful ammunition to persuade Congress to amend the new "Joint Officer Personnel Policy." He points out the Army's top officer does not meet its tough promotion requirements although his service in joint commands totals 16 years.

A joint officer is an individual who has been assigned a job in support of the entire Defense Department. In Pentagon slang, such an individual becomes a "purple suiter" — he still wears the Army green, the Navy white, the Marine Corps khaki or the Air Force blue, but does not work solely for his service.

Examples include serving the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the secretary or deputy secretary of defense, or heading a major command that oversees units from several armed services.

Congress, convinced military promotion policies were discouraging the best officers from seeking joint assignments, declared last fall that generals and admirals could no longer gain promotions unless they have spent at least three consecutive years in a joint post.

Lower-ranking officers cannot advance without spending at least 3½ years in a joint post.

"This is an area that I can tell you we're going to go back to the Congress and ask them for some review," Marsh said Wednesday. "And Gen. Wickham is a case in point."

It turns out that Gen. John A. Wickham, a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Army's top officer, has spent a combined total of 16 years in joint military jobs, "more than any flag officer on active duty today," Marsh said.

But under the new law, that record would not be good enough.

According to Wickham, none of his previous purple-suit jobs — from serving as an assistant to the chairman of the joint chiefs to working as the military assistant to the secretary of defense — lasted three years without interruption.

"I think you should be able to tack (different) joint service assignments" together to reach the three years, Marsh said.

Marsh also argued the list of jobs considered joint should be expanded, and he expressed concern about the Army's one-star and newly promoted two-star generals, some of whom don't have a three-year joint tour.

"That means that for them to be eligible for promotion, that you're going to have to take a significant amount of the time that they have remaining as general officers in order to accomplish it. You may not in my view get the use out of them as commanders that you would like."

Congress, for its part, indicated last year it would consider changes suggested by the Pentagon if the law proved too inflexible. But a Senate staffer who played a role in the original debate warned Wednesday the Congress wouldn't back down much.

"The problem has been that the services oversee promotions and joint duty outside your service doesn't help you get a promotion," said the aide, who asked not to be identified.

"Officers try to get out (of joint jobs) as quickly as they can and aren't looking at things from a unified perspective. We're not getting a proportionate share of the best and brightest in joint jobs."

Congress, he concluded, "wants better people in joint assignments, wants more stability (with longer terms), and wants to reward them. And that's not going to change."

MUSICAL MOMENT — Dorothy Wang, 6, finds concentration difficult as she plays her violin. The scene came during a practice session at the Suzuki Violin School in Cortland, N.Y. (AP Laserphoto)

Spraying Canceled

HIALEAH, Fla. (AP) — High winds forced officials today to cancel the first scheduled aerial insecticide spraying of a neighborhood where Mediterranean fruit flies were found in a backyard orange tree.

However, officials decided to go ahead with ground spraying, according to Ernest Collins, a spokesman for the state agriculture department.

Five male flies were caught Monday in a routine inspection trap set in a man's orange tree. No more of the flies have been discovered since.

State agricultural officials authorized spraying to continue once a week for a month to rid the 2.2-square mile area of medflies.

"We'll have to review the weather situation and see what tomorrow holds," Collins said today. "But right now it doesn't look good."

The malathion-laced insecticide "attracts the flies and they eat. They love it," Phyllis Habeck of the Division of Plant Industries in Gainesville, a branch of the Florida Department of Agriculture, said Wednesday.

Officials also plan to release sterile male medflies, which are intended to displace any fertile males, as part of the eradication program.

Medflies lay their eggs in fruits and vegetables, and the larvae ruin the fruit by feeding on it until they mature.

An infestation in Miami two years ago was eradicated through a five-month program of limited aerial spraying and the release of nearly 272 million sterile medflies.

POLITICAL EXPRESSION — Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis receives an endorsement of sorts during a visit to a day care center for children of teen-age mothers in Worcester, Mass. Luis Torres, safe in the arms of his mother, is greeted by the governor, and vice versa. (AP Laserphoto)

Secret Paper Shows On Magazine Cover

NEW YORK (AP) — A highly classified U.S. intelligence document can be clearly seen in a photograph on the cover of the latest issue of a magazine for Foreign Service officers, The New York Times reported today.

Text and codes were not readable using normal magnifying equipment, but an unidentified Congressional aide told the Times that it would be possible to read the text and codes "with not even very sophisticated equipment."

The classified document, the National Intelligence Daily, is produced by the CIA for government officials with top security clearance, the newspaper said.

It appeared in a photograph of Ronald I. Spiers, a State Department undersecretary, on the cover of The Foreign Service Journal. Spiers, who was the subject of an article in the magazine, was pictured with his hand on the document.

Spiers did not return a telephone call Wednesday, the Times reported.

The Foreign Service Journal, with a circulation of 10,000, is not a government publication; it is published by the American Foreign Service Association, a labor union and professional association for Foreign Service employees.

"The State Department has no comment at this time," said Bruce Ammerman, a department press officer.

Government officials told the Times that the State Department sent an agent to the office of Stephen R. Dujack, editor of the Foreign Service Journal, to ask whether he would be willing to give up the slides of the photograph.

Dujack declined to comment on the incident, the newspaper said.

CORRECTION

In the Sears Spring Savings Sale that appeared in yesterday's paper, that began March 4 and ends March 10, on page 3, incorrect copy and prices were printed on the "Doesn't Panty." The correct copy should state, "Doesn't Panty" Reg. $3.25, sells for $2.09 a pair. These panties do not come in packages of three.

We regret this error and hope it causes you no inconvenience.

SEARS
Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Court Postpones Duvalier Hearing

GRASSE, France (AP) — A court today postponed hearing a Haitian government attempt to recover $120 million from former President-For-Life Jean-Claude Duvalier, after his lawyers argued they needed more time to prepare a defense.

Haiti contends Duvalier embezzled the money over a 15-year period before his flight from the impoverished Caribbean nation last year. After meeting briefly today, the court delayed the hearing until May 7.

Duvalier's French lawyer, Sauveur Vaisse, said the court accepted his argument that "major items of the case" were only made known recently and he needed more time to prepare. Jacques Sales, representing the Haitian government, said he had expected the postponement.

Haiti last month submitted 5,000 bank drafts and copies of U.S. customs documents as evidence in support of allegations that Duvalier illegally transferred the funds.

Because the court must first decide if it has jurisdiction, and that decision is subject to appeal, lawyers on both sides say it may be a year before there is any hearing on the actual merits of the claim.

Duvalier, 35, fled to France on a U.S. military plane Feb. 7, 1986 after months of violent demonstrations in Haiti, the Western hemisphere's poorest nation. He now lives in exile with his wife and two children in a large villa in the Riviera town of Mougins near Cannes.

Duvalier became ruler of Haiti in 1971, succeeding his father, Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier who was elected president in 1957. He was not expected to appear at today's proceedings and French law does not require him to be present.

The Haitian government claims that during his 15 years as the country's chief of state, Duvalier turned millions of dollars in public funds to his own personal use, transferring much of it to foreign bank accounts.

Sales and Colin claim that the amount of money in question is in fact much greater than $120 million, but for the moment they are concentrating on cases for which they say they have uncontested proof of embezzlement.

"We have discarded everything that is not certain," said Sales. For example, he said, there are dozens of cases where large sums of money were spent by Duvalier for Swiss watches, but the receipts say the watches were for his militiamen.

"We are not reproaching him for buying watches for his militia because he could support the idea that it was not for his personal enrichment that this money was sent to Switzerland," said Sales.

"But when you export money, $86 million in three years, to the United States, that is not to pay expenses," the lawyer said.

Haiti claims that Duvalier took money directly from government accounts with the Haitian central bank in some cases. In others, he said, some taxes were paid directly to Duvalier or to fictitious public organizations.

The two lawyers say Duvalier's case is much more difficult than the Philippines government's attempts to recover billions of dollars it claims former Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos embezzled during his 20-year rule.

LIZ CLAIBORNE FRAGRANCE: A NEW DIMENSION IN YOUR FASHION IMAGE

At long last, a fragrance that's as comfortable to wear to a board meeting as it is to a great dinner party or an early morning tennis date. A delicious fragrance that's lady-like, yet fun and just a bit sexy. Just as Liz Claiborne has designed beautifully-coordinated career and casual wear, she is now presenting her own fragrance collection to complement it. It's a beautiful floral with fabulous fruity qualities, a hint of very interesting spice and a little twist of green. And it's wonderfully wearable, with a happy spirit that makes you feel good the moment you put it on. Liz Claiborne Fragrance is a great mood to be in! The collection, to layer as you like, 18.50-125.00

4 DRAWER CHEST

LIKE YOU SEE IT
HAZLEWOOD OR MAPLE FINISH

$39⁹⁵

Pick Up Price Only
IN THE CARTON

25 1/2" Wide 16" Deep 40 1/2" High carolina east mall

greenville

Shop at Carolina East Mall, Greenville, Monday Through Saturday
10 a.m. Until 9 p.m.,
Phone 756-B-E-L-K (756-2355)

GREENVILLE FURNITURE WAREHOUSE

A GOOD PLACE TO SHOP THE BEST PLACE TO BUY

131 Hooker Road Formerly Holt Oldsmobile
Access From Piggly Wiggly • Open Mon. - Fri. 10 a.m. - 10 p.m.
Friend For Pick Up

756-0802

Editorials

Unity Imperative

The Pitt County Commissioners and the City Council should develop a joint bill that creates an occupancy tax, a tourism bureau and specifies the structure of an authority to govern that endeavor.

The City Council approved the concept of an occupancy tax in good faith. Members apparently felt that concept included an agreement on creating a tourism bureau and the structure of the authority governing that bureau.

The Pitt County Commission strayed from that agreement when it proposed a bill that neither specified what money from the tax would be used for nor how the board overseeing that tax would be devised.

Granted, there is a degree of rigidity involved in having the structure of a local authority controlled by state legislation. When changes are made, new legislation must be introduced in Raleigh. That could be cumbersome.

It could be tedious, too, to have the use of those funds bound by legislation. The commissioners are reluctant to be forced to spend all the funds collected on promoting tourism.

But that is the correct approach, and it is the one which must be utilized. The language in the bill presented to the General Assembly should earmark proceeds from the tax for a tourism bureau and spell out the structure of the board that governs it. In short, the money should be used primarily for drawing travel and convention trade to the county.

The proposal that a 12-member authority — with one representative each from the county commissioners, City Council and Pitt-Greenville Chamber of Commerce and the remaining members appointed by these three bodies — oversee the tourism bureau is sound. Under this structure, the balance of power on the board remains consistent.

If commissioners are unhappy with the proposed structure, the issue must be resolved openly between the board and the City Council. The two bodies must work together to develop a joint bill that satisfies the needs of promoting tourism. Otherwise, the future of the tax could be in jeopardy.

The alternative to cooperation would be to develop two separate bills creating two separate taxes. That move is not feasible and unacceptable for promoting the area for tourism. A unified effort is imperative for effective use of the occupancy tax revenue.

The commissioners and City Council should promptly set a joint meeting and devise a bill that creates an occupancy tax, a tourism bureau and a 12-member authority that can ensure the tax is used correctly and to full benefit.

Starting Point

Mikhail Gorbachev's offer to sign an accord eliminating medium-range nuclear weapons from Europe created a stir on the diplomatic front and has even penetrated the fog of our Iran-Contra distraction in the United States.

Many people in Western Europe are pleased because removal of the medium-range missiles might lead to removal of short-range weapons and eventually, perhaps, the long-range nuclear missiles might be retired, too.

U.S. negotiators have tried to get Soviet medium-range nuclear weapons removed from their threatening positions but to no avail. So our government began sending similar weapons to West Europe. Maybe that, coupled with impact of the Soviets' nuclear power accident, made their position seem less desirable.

Skeptics might speculate the maneuver is a self-serving strategy. But anything that removes nuclear weapons from the firing line can only be a self-serving policy for both sides — not just one.

What makes the Kremlin offer appear relatively sincere is that it lacks the usual unacceptable conditions, which signals this could be something they really want.

There is, however, room for doubt in the West. For example, the "nuclear umbrella" has been long seen as offsetting the threat of a large superiority in manpower and weapons enjoyed by Warsaw Pact countries. It is not something to be lightly ignored.

Still, that umbrella is not something we want to bequeath to the future. Somebody, somehow must find a way in which the world can live without it.

This might just be the best opportunity we will ever see. The Soviet Union says it wants nuclear disarmament. The United States says it wants nuclear disarmament.

Geneva has a starting point.

Today's Thought

When the Republicans sent state Sen. Tom Taft, a Democrat who represents Pitt County, an invitation to join their party, wonder if they were recruiting him as a member or candidate?

Can Reagan Put Mistakes Behind Him?

WASHINGTON (AP) — He's taken his knocks, says he's learned his lesson and now is ready to move on from the Iran-Contra affair. You can hardly blame President Reagan for wanting to go forward after three months of turmoil, but the surprise may be Congress' inclination to go along.

Many Democrats joined Republicans in saying Reagan's speech Wednesday night was a good start on the road back and helped undo some of the damage he's suffered.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., said, "It went part way" while Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., a member of the Senate committee investigating the Iran-Contra affair, said the speech represented "a transfusion" for Reagan.

But even GOP lawmakers said Reagan must do more. "Let's face it, the Iran affair is not yet over," cautioned Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan. And Byrd said Congress will be looking for action, not just words.

Emboldened by Reagan's political weakness, House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, is prodding Reagan to reverse course and endorse tax increases. Other Democrats are pressing for compromises on the budget and trade and with the Russians on arms control.

Dole bluntly warned the White House that it better carefully pick its veto targets lest an easy override make the president appear even weaker.

A hint of compromise was there between the lines of Reagan's speech. He said there were things he wanted to accomplish in his final two years in office and offered praise for his new chief of staff, Howard Baker, a skilled bargainer and pragmatist and far less of an ideological conservative than his boss.

"I'm hopeful that his experience as minority and majority leader of the Senate can help us forge a new partnership with the Congress, especially on foreign and national security policies," Reagan said.

He did not apologize for his Iranian initiative, as some had suggested he should. Three times he used the word "mistake" but he never connected it to the pronoun "I," such as in a sentence saying, "I made a mistake."

Nevertheless, his speech was taken as an admission he erred.

"A man is never more credible than when he admits to a mistake, and this the president has very manfully done tonight," said former Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, a GOP ally who was chairman of the Tower commission that criticized Reagan's performance in the Iran-Contra dealings.

Contradicting his previous statements, Reagan acknowledged for the first time he had traded arms for hostages. But he couched his admission in words that still suggested he really didn't believe that was the case.

Recalling his earlier disavowal of a swap, Reagan said, "My heart and my best intentions still tell me that is true, but the facts and the evidence tell me it is not."

He was a victim, he said, of his own compassion for hostages held in Lebanon.

"I let my personal concern for the hostages spill over into the geopolitical strategy of reaching out to Iran. I asked so many questions about the hostages' welfare that I didn't ask enough about the specifics of the total Iran plan."

By his own description, he was unaware of what was going on around him and confused about whether he approved an arms shipment to Iran in 1985. He seemed to blame his lapse of memory on the failure of others to keep records.

"Rest assured, there's plenty of record keeping now going on at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue," he said.

While accepting ultimate responsibility, Reagan said he was "angry" about things done without his knowledge and "disappointed" by some people who worked for him.

In other words, his staff let him down.

Terence Hunt has covered Ronald Reagan since his 1980 campaign for the presidency.

Mike Keefe THE DENVER POST © Dist. North America Syndicate, Inc., 1987

Public Forum

To the editor:

My child goes to a pleasant neighborhood school with a fairly even racial balance. Yet Monday night I found myself at the school board hearing supporting a proposal which, if accepted, will result in the busing of my son to another school on the other side of town, as well as four school changes during four consecutive years of his elementary school career. I spoke out for this proposal because I truly believe that equity in racial balance means equity in education. I did this because I want the best for all the children at all the schools. Unfortunately, I was in the minority.

What the majority at this meeting seemed to want was not a fair shake for all, but a special favor for a few. That favor being the Grandfather Clause — a clause which essentially says that, while the rest of us in the "unified" district make changes to correct certain inequities in the system, their children should remain undisturbed and exactly where they are.

I hope that the school board members will be able to see beyond this vocal minority and make the right decision for all of us. To give in to grandfathering would make us all losers. The school board would lose support for its proposal. The redistricting would be put off for another year or two, thus tying up capital outlay. Racial balance would continue to be a problem, and the bickering would continue.

Why not, for the good of our children, of our school system and our county as a whole, settle this matter now. Let's go with this proposal, make the necessary changes and get on with our lives.

Judi Orbach
Brookgreen
Greenville

To the editor:

The school board hearing Monday night was a very interesting and emotional one. It was a clear example of how so often in life we choose to see the world through our fears.

There were some touching moments when the genuine fear in people's hearts was so visible.

We are all afraid of change and change can be difficult. Yet change is an integral part of life and offers growth and betterment.

Promises are made in good faith and are important. But sometimes new goals and directions demand new vision — and new promises. We cannot look back — but ahead, with our faith, our hopes, and our actions.

We all say we want excellent schools throughout Pitt County. We say we want fair allocation of funds. We say we want reasonable racial balance. Now it is time we all give in order to receive.

Our children see what we — in love — show them. We show them our strong support through change and they need not be afraid. We teach them that through change they adapt and will emerge the winner. New opportunities offer new beginnings. New risks offer new success. Separations offer new friendships.

We share with our children our hope that by working together as a community our efforts will be rewarded. Our children learn that we care about quality education, racial equality and the democratic process.

In a public school system, no one group, street, neighborhood, or subdivision should ever be promised that they are entitled to more — or destined for less.

The plea for "grandfathering" clauses (with the exception of high school level) is a show of fear.

Our school board has shown its hopes for a bright future. We are at one end of a tunnel looking in. There is light ahead.

Joellyn C. Cohen
Greenville

To the editor:

Before you jump on the drug testing bandwagon, stop and think about how this brings us just another step closer to total control by Big Brother over the citizens of this so-called free land. With an accuracy rate of only 45 percent, the test contains enough loopholes for any smart addict to slip through, so it really remains only a matter of control. Do we need any more? Let's say "No" to drug testing and other preventions of our pursuit of life, liberty and happiness.

Consider other unpleasant surprises that loom from manmade tests. Years ago when my husband and I wanted to get married, this state required a Wassermann test for syphilis. My husband's test reported a positive reaction. I didn't worry about the silly test. I trusted my husband-to-be. We married and I never contracted syphilis, because he never had syphilis nor any other horrible disease. That test wasn't infallible any more than this drug test can possibly be, but it was required by law. Where does it end? Can't we help end it by saying "No!"

Merrilee Harrison
Route 3, Greenville

Submissions to the Public Forum should consist of no more than 300 words and should deal with public issues. The editor reserves the right to cut longer letters. Signatures and phone numbers should be included on all letters.

— Elisha Douglas —

Strength For Today

The great St. Augustine, who came from a wealthy and learned family, experienced periods of backsliding as he strove to leave his dissolute life and live as a Christian. On one occasion he cried out, "What is wrong with me? The unlearned start up and take heaven by force, but I, with much learning but without a stout heart, wallow in flesh and blood."

Often people of great intellectual achievement cannot grasp the simple things of faith that come so easily to their more humble brethren. Faith and religious understanding has little to do with theological argumentation and the analysis of creeds. When we make a move toward God, it seems that He makes a move toward us. He does not ask us what we believe or why; He wants to know what we are going to do.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

INCORPORATED
209 Cotanche Street,
Greenville, N.C. 27834

Established 1882

Published Monday Through Friday Afternoon and Sunday Morning

DAVID JULIAN WHICHARD, Chairman of the Board

JOHN S. WHICHARD — DAVID J. WHICHARD, Publishers

Second Class Postage Paid At Greenville, N.C.

(USPS 145-400)

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Payable in Advance

Home Delivery By Carrier or Motor Route Monthly $4.50

MAIL RATES

(Prices include tax where applicable)

Pitt And Adjoining Counties $4.50 Per Month

Elsewhere in North Carolina $5.00 Per Month

Outside North Carolina $6.00 Per Month

MEMBER OF
ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for publication all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited to this paper and also the local news published herein. All rights of publications of special dispatches here are also reserved.

Advertising rates and deadlines available upon request.
Member Audit Bureau of Circulation.

— Patrick J. Sloyan —

A Grip On Political Reality

WASHINGTON — President Reagan demonstrated Wednesday night that he had read the Tower commission report. Or at least some of the best parts.

There was evidence that he had read the section where Secretary of Defense Caspar W. Weinberger recounted telling the president of his opposition to selling arms to Iran in exchange for hostages.

"I opposed it very strongly and said I thought it was a terrible idea," Weinberger said. "(It) didn't require any gift of prophecy as to what would happen if this became public."

That could have been the basis for one of a series of promises Reagan made in an apologetic tone that fell short of an apology to a nationwide audience. He pledged "a policy that was as justifiable and understandable in public as it was in secret."

It was an open acknowledgement that his policies of the recent past would not survive public scrutiny.

Even more important, Reagan's words Wednesday night reflected a grip on political reality: His appointments and policies will be challenged. Congress will continue to pursue him and there are still potentially painful verdicts from the special prosecutor's office on criminal activities.

A poor grasp on reality has marked his administration's frantic but eventually empty efforts to free American hostages still held by Iranian-backed terrorists in Lebanon.

In promising to clean up his personal act as well as the National Security Council, Reagan Wednesday night tried to reach an accord with the Democratic Congress and the Washington establishment.

The Tower report was a devastating blow to his presidency, one that Reagan said made "it pretty hard to find any good news." But he embraced the report as a helpful tool. "They have my genuine and enduring gratitude," he said of the panel members, former Sens. John Tower and Edmund Muskie and retired Gen. Brent Scowcroft.

More important, particularly to some of his closest advisers, was his invitation to congressional investigating committees to inflict what is likely to be further damage.

In noting that the Tower report said the commission was convinced the president wanted to get the full story, Reagan said, "That will continue to be my pledge to you as the other investigations go forward."

In doing so, Reagan acknowledged the Iran-contra scandal was far from over. Some insiders feared he would use Wednesday night's speech to portray the Tower report as putting what he called a "wrenching ordeal" behind him.

Instead, Reagan pinpointed the pursuit of money allegedly diverted to American-backed rebels in Nicaragua as the next phase for investigation. Ample evidence already developed has the money trail leading into the White House, where Reagan's men have attempted to bypass congressional prohibitions on contra aid.

"I am also determined to make the congressional oversight process work," he said. Opposition by the Senate Intelligence Committee already has forced him to replace Robert Gates with FBI Director William Webster as his nominee for director of the CIA.

The president more than anything Wednesday night was acknowledging that his administration now was operating in a harsher political climate and that he was ready to deal with it. Muskie, the lone Democrat on the Tower commission, didn't go overboard in assessing Wednesday night's speech. But he said he did spot some optimistic signs in the president's remarks.

"Words alone will not do the job," Muskie said. "I'm sure he knows that."

Los Angeles Times-Washington Post News Service

Analysis

— David Hoffman —

Reagan Silent On Many Issues

WASHINGTON — In his nationally televised address on the Iran-contra scandal Wednesday night, President Reagan ignored many questions raised by the Tower review board and largely blamed the board's verdict of failure in his White House on the actions of unnamed subordinates.

The president did not acknowledge or address one of the chief findings of the Tower panel: that national security advisers Robert C. McFarlane and John M. Poindexter and their aide, Lt. Col. Oliver L. North, secretly managed the guerrilla war against Nicaragua at a time when Congress had cut off military aid to the rebels.

Reagan also ignored the board's disclosures that his top aides scrambled to cover up details of the Iran policy after it became public in early November and the fact that he made misleading statements in his early comments to the public based in part on the wrong information his aides provided. The president said he had been "silent" on the unfolding scandal "for the last three months" because "you deserved the truth."

But the affair is already four months old, and it was during its first month, last November, that he made the misleading statements.

Reagan portrayed himself as a president who had the right intentions but did not always ensure that they were being followed by aides who contributed to the crisis by failing to keep "proper records of meetings or decisions," who created "secret bank accounts and diverted funds" and "took actions without my knowledge."

In his 13-minute speech, Reagan never mentioned his former National Security Council staff aides by name. But his remarks carried the implication that it was lieutenants such as North and then-Vice Adm. Poindexter who created much of the trouble. Reagan said he had told the current NSC staff "there'll be no more free-lancing by individuals when it comes to our national security."

In November, Reagan described

North as a "national hero," but Wednesday night he used language such as "angry" and "personally distasteful" and "disappointed" to describe the activities of his former aides. Earlier Wednesday, questioned at a photo session whether he still regards North as a "national hero," the president said, "His military record was one of numerous rewards for his courage." Asked about North's involvement with the contras fighting the government of Nicaragua, Reagan said, "I'm not going to comment on that."

Reagan did ascribe one mistake to himself: He said he had been too worried about the American hostages being held in Lebanon and admitted for the first time that he wound up trading arms to Iran to win their freedom.

Reagan cast his own mistake as one of neglect, rather than one made with full knowledge of what he was doing. In explaining the trade of arms for hostages, Reagan said: "I asked so many questions about the hostages' welfare that I didn't ask enough about the specifics of the total Iran plan."

By contrast, the board chaired by former senator John G. Tower, R-Tex., found that Reagan was aware of the weapons sales from the early phases of the Iran initiative, concluding that he probably approved of the first shipment before it was made.

According to the Tower commission report, Reagan was aware of what he was doing on Jan. 17, 1986, when he decided to sell anti-tank missiles to Iran and wrote in his personal diary, "I agreed to sell TOWs to Iran."

Reagan said he had "paid a price for my silence in terms of your trust and confidence," but explained that he wanted to wait before speaking out because "you deserved the truth." He added: "I felt it was improper to come to you with sketchy reports, or possibly even erroneous statements, which would then have to be corrected, creating even more doubt and confusion."

In fact, from Nov. 6 through Nov. 19, Reagan offered a series of sketchy and erroneous statements on the affair. When first asked about the arms sales to Iran and the secret McFarlane mission to Tehran on Nov. 6, Reagan lied about it, saying there was "no foundation" to a news report he knew was true.

Last night, Reagan said "one thing still upsetting me... is that no one kept proper records of meetings or decisions. This led to my failure to recollect whether I approved an arms shipment before or after the fact."

A different story was told by the Tower board, which reported that Reagan changed his story on whether he approved the first arms sale after talking with then-chief of staff Regan. The president later acknowledged to the Tower board that "I let myself be influenced by others' recollections."

In his address, Reagan seemed to embrace the Tower board's criticism that people — not the national security decision-making process — failed. Reagan celebrated the "accomplished and highly respected new team" he has brought in, taking pains to praise chief of staff Howard H. Baker Jr., national security adviser Frank C. Carlucci and CIA director-nominee William H. Webster.

The president did not, however, offer dramatic new remedies in response to the Iran-contra debacle.

Reagan left many questions unanswered in the address. He reaffirmed his statements that he did not know of the diversion of profits from arms sales to Iran to aid the contras. He noted that the Tower board could not find out what happened to the money. But then he dropped the subject, saying "I'm confident the truth will come out..."

SPRING

Weekend specials

Brody's

Shop for special savings on selected items this weekend only as Brody's prepares for spring!

Carolina East Mall • The Plaza

Bangkok Linen Skirts

$21.99

Excellent savings! Softly pleated Bangkok linen at savings too great to pass up...enough colors to set your career at executive pace! Reg. $36. For Juniors Only.

Calvin Klein Denim Skirts

$39.99

Terrific Style! Lightweight, 7 ounce, Spring denim with wide waistband, dirndl gathered. Reg. $48.00

Popcorn Sweaters

$21.99

New Spring arrivals! Crystal clear colors to make any outfit pop! Short-sleeves, V-neck in 100% acrylic Slub. Great for spring! For Misses Only.

$59.99

Shirtwaist Dresses

Light, bright, comfortable crinkle sheeting full-skirted mock-wrap, short-sleeve dresses for now through summer. Red, Blue, or Yellow. Reg. $70.00

Fashion Rainwear

$59.99

Extra Savings! Save $10 more during this sale on these sleek, color-drenched vinyl all-weather coats. Solids, textures and dot patterns in Black, White, Jade, Red or Turquoise. Reg. $90.00

Vanity Fair Pettis & Camisoles

25% OFF

"Lace Vanities", irresistibly pretty lace-trimmed Antron nylon anti-cling, no-rise-up petti in 2 lengths-and stretch strap camisole. In Rose Violet. Reg. $11.00 and $12.00. Sale Price $8.25 and $9.00.

Spring Suits

$109.99

Lovely forward fashions like our soft Bangkok Linen peplum style with belt back; or novelty plaids and textures.

Sunglasses

$11.99

Buy a pair of $11.99 Renault Sunglasses and get a tee-shirt free!

20% OFF SPECIAL GROUP

Men's Swimwear

Fashions to the knee in floral, graphic, and tropical prints.

Girls' Camp Shirts

$6.99 & $7.99

Choose from a rainbow of colors sure to coordinate with your favorite summer sportswear. Reg. $10.00 and $11.00. Girls' 4-6X and 7-14.

Fuller Figure Vanity Fair Daywear

20% OFF

Lace Piquant Daywear from Vanity Fair...especially for this sale! Your favorite styles of bras, panties, camisoles, half-slips, and full-slips charmingly trimmed in lace in the romantic manner; all at "stock up now" savings! Bras reg. $17.50 and $18.50. Panties reg. $7.25 Camisoles, pettis, slips reg. $16.00 to $20.00. White, Castleglow, Seapearl.

Career Separates

20% OFF

Campus Casuals for the fuller figure. Take a ride on the "magic carpet" to the "enchanted garden". Campus Casuals Arabian Nights steals you away with richly colored Jade and Plum accented with mystic print two-piece dressing.

Now Available In Paperback

The Lebaron Secret by Stephen Birmingham Author of the #1 National Best Seller The Auerbach Will

The Bourne Supremacy by Robert Ludlow
Author of the New Best Seller The Bourne Identity

I'll Take Manhattan by Judith Krantz
Author of Princess Daisy and Mistral's Daughter

Word of Honor by Nelson DeMille
"The Caine Mutiny of the 80's"

Platoon a novel by Dale A. Dye based on a screenplay by Olivia Stone

BALLOONS.....for all occasions

CENTRAL BOOK & NEWS

Greenville Square Shopping Center Open til 9:30 PM Seven Days A Week

Phillips Says $3.2 Billion Needed For Schools

By JOHN FLESHER
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — A survey of North Carolina's 140 public school systems shows $3.2 billion in school construction needs that can be met only if state government shares the cost, Superintendent of Public Instruction Craig Phillips says.

Phillips unveiled results of the survey Wednesday, saying enactment of the Basic Education Program was the biggest reason the price tag had leaped by $1 billion in just three years. A 1984 survey turned up $2.2 billion in school capital needs.

"This figure reflects the cost of housing all of our students from Currituck to Cherokee in safe, attractive and functional facilities," Phillips said at a news conference. "In our judgment it is not a wild and woolly wish list," he added. "It is what they need, not what they want."

Phillips said the survey should give impetus to Gov. Jim Martin's proposal to issue $1.5 billion in bonds to create a pool from which local governments could borrow for school capital projects. The plan has drawn mixed reviews from the General Assembly.

But he said even that would not be enough, arguing that the state had to provide a revenue source — either direct appropriations or a special tax — to meet all the needs.

Historically, the state has paid for school operations and left capital funding to local governments. But Phillips said that approach had become obsolete. "I think we're moving toward realizing that with the Basic Education Program ... the state has to share the responsibility."

A 1-cent state sales tax with revenues earmarked for the purpose would generate $393 million per year — more than enough to fund all needed construction within a decade, he said.

In a prepared statement, Martin called the study findings "interesting" but said it was too early to tell whether they would lead him to change the amount of his bond proposal.

He said a separate analysis being conducted by the state's county commissioners would be an important factor as well.

"We need them to report the amount that they are prepared to support to the extent that they would expect to borrow from the state and repay for a period of not more than 20 years," Martin said, adding that he would oppose a tax increase to fund school construction.

The Basic Education Program is an eight-year, $800 million plan to upgrade North Carolina's schools. Enacted in 1985, its centerpiece is reducing class sizes by hiring some 11,000 teachers and 5,000 "support personnel" such as aides, counselors and finance officers.

About half of the $1 billion increase in construction needs is due to the BEP, Phillips said.

Other factors, he said, include the rise in construction costs, enrollment growth in many school systems, and the need for additional instructional equipment. Additionally, he said the latest survey was more comprehensive than its predecessors.

Darrell Spencer, director of school planning, said the survey indicated all school construction needs and did not take into account local governments' plans for meeting some of those needs.

For example, Spencer said, the survey did not reduce the total to reflect local school bond issues. Since 1983, voters have approved 22 such bond programs amounting to $344.5 million, about half of which was reflected in the study results. Officials excluded costs of projects under contract as of Jan. 31.

Wake County had by far the biggest need — a total of $337.1 million, the survey said. Forsyth County placed a distant second at $108.8 million. Sparsely populated Tyrrell County's need, $1.8 million, was smallest.

WORD BETWEEN SENATORS — State Sen. William D. Goldston, left, of Eden and Sen. Kenneth C. Royall Jr. of Durham share a few words during Wednesday's session of the General Assembly. Royall is filling a new role as assistant president pro tem of the Senate during this session. (AP Laserphoto)

Task Force Director Defends Report On Teacher Education

GREENSBORO (AP) — The director of a University of North Carolina task force has rejected state officials' claims that his panel's recommendations would eliminate the teacher education programs at 13 colleges, including all 11 predominantly black institutions.

Donald Stedman, associate vice president for academic affairs at UNC and head of the Task Force on Teacher Preparation, said Department of Public Instruction officials continue to seriously misinterpret the recommendations despite his repeated efforts to explain the panel's intentions.

The North Carolina Department of Public Instruction has been especially critical of the task force's recommendation that would require 70 percent of a school's teacher education students to pass the exit test of the National Teachers Examination.

If 30 percent or more of the students failed, the program would have to justify its continued existence.

But Stedman said Wednesday the passing rate would not eliminate the 13 programs because it would "not apply to the institution's entire education program, but only to specific programs."

For example, it would require 70 percent of the seniors in a program's early childhood development curriculum to pass the test.

"That's what the task force intended, and I've told them that," Stedman said in an interview.

But Arthur Taylor, director of the Department of Public Instruction's Division of Certification, said he stands by his agency's interpretation.

"We're down to interpreting the report and what it actually says," Taylor said.

He said the department and the State Board of Education, which approves teacher education programs, must respond to the specific language in the report not what someone says it says.

Taylor said the passing rate would have to be applied to an entire education program.

"It's inconsistent to apply the 70 percent passing rate to the subject area and not to the entire department," he told the Greensboro News & Record.

The task force reported its findings to the Legislature in January, and the department presented its 32-page analysis of the recommendations Wednesday to the personnel committee of the State Board of Education.

The committee voted to ask the full board today to use the analysis as the basis for negotiations with the task force over the wording of some recommendations.

"I don't agree with the 70 percent cutoff rate," said Robert Albright, president of Johnson C. Smith University, where 80 percent of the students failed the exit exam in 1985-86. "No one can show a cause and effect relationship between test scores and teacher performance."

PARROTT CANVAS CO., INC.
Visit our retail shop for sports, travel & school bags. Monogram service available.
West End Circle 756-4011

Senate Panel Delays Work On Road-Funding Package

RALEIGH (AP) — A Senate committee postponed action on a bill to equalize state funding for secondary roads after a state official said the administration might have a better plan.

Sen. R.P. "Bo" Thomas, D-Henderson, told the Transportation Committee Wednesday he wants to spread $20 million among counties where road construction costs are above the statewide average. But he said he was in no hurry, since any bill would have to be consolidated into the appropriations package released at the end of the session.

"I don't care that much about the bill," he said. "What I want is the money."

Jack Murdock, secondary roads officer for the Department of Transportation, said there are 17,500 miles of unpaved roads across the state. The amount of mileage in each county determines how much money it receives, he said.

Murdock said Gov. Jim Martin and Transportation Secretary James Harrington are working on a way to take costs into account without additional funding. He said the current budget recommends $62 million to be distributed for secondary road repair and construction.

"The governor and the secretary are sensitive to the fact that in some areas of the state it costs more to construct or pave a mile of secondary road than it does in other counties," Murdock said. "We feel that we can show you a way to help the situation and at the same time not impact too much on the other 63 counties."

The political nuances surrounding roads came up several times during the discussion. When Murdock mentioned that Watauga County was among the least expensive places to build roads, committee members asked why it was on the list in Thomas' bill.

"Because the chairman of this committee asked me to put it on," replied Thomas.

Legislature Expected To Speed Work On Emergency Prison Bill

RALEIGH (AP) — An emergency bill to add 2,200 beds to North Carolina's prison system is on the Legislature's fast track, as leaders struggle to convince federal courts they are serious about solving the crowding problem.

The $15.1 million measure was introduced Wednesday in the Senate. Leaders said the bill, put together in weeks of negotiations with Gov. Jim Martin's administration, could be enacted as early as today.

The package is designed to ward off a takeover of the state's correction system by federal authorities, a move sought by several lawsuits that claim North Carolina's prisons are crowded to the point of violating inmates' constitutional rights.

"It could save us $100 million in fines," said Sen. Aaron Plyler, D-Union, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and sponsor of the bill. Plyler's House counterpart, Rep. Billy Watkins, D-Granville, said he would sponsor identical legislation.

The bill would fund construction of 32 units, each containing 50 beds, at 15 minimum-custody facilities across the state. Also, it would pay for six 100-bed dormitories in five counties, including two at the N.C. Correctional Facility for Women in Wake County.

The bill also would fund the purchase of land and construction of a replacement for aging Craggy Prison. The replacement, like the existing prison, would be in Buncombe County, although the Martin administration prefers Burke County.

Additional funds would pay for improvements of "physical support systems" at prison units statewide

Diamonds Are Forever Sale!

Ladies' Diamond Solitaires

.20 ct. Heart Shaped (Yellow Gold)

Reg. $960 $670

.93 ct. Pear Shaped (Yellow Gold)

Reg. $4125 $2887

.61 ct. Oval Shaped (Yellow Gold)

Reg. $2800 $1895

1.05 ct. Round Shaped (Yellow Gold)

Reg. $5450 $3770

1.01 ct. Round Shaped (Yellow Gold)

Reg. $8265 $4995

.78 ct. Round Shaped (White Gold)

Reg. $3995 $2789

2.20 ct. Ladies' Round Diamond Solitaire (White Gold)

Reg. $10,315 $7200

1.90 ct. Ladies' Round Diamond Solitaire (Yellow Gold)

Reg. $14,440

$10,090

.60 ct. Round Shaped Solitaire (White Gold)

Reg. $1795

$1249

.50 ct. Round Shaped Solitaire (White Gold)

Reg. $1795

$1249

.22 ct. Round Shaped Solitaire (White Gold)

Reg. $750

$502

Ladies' 2 Piece Diamond Wedding Sets, Solitaires

.42 ct. Pear Shaped Fancy Ring (White Gold)

Reg. $1650

$1100

.45 ct. Oval Shaped Fancy Ring (White Gold)

Reg. $1380

$960

.36 ct. Marquis Fancy Ring (White Gold)

Reg. $1346

$937

.25 ct. Pear Shaped Fancy Ring (Yellow Gold)

Reg. $990

$688

.30 ct. Round Shaped Fancy Ring (Yellow Gold)

Reg. $713

$495

.10 ct. Round Shaped Fancy Ring (Yellow Gold)

Reg. $349

$239

3 Pc. Diamond Wedding Set .25 ct. Solitaire (Yellow Gold)

Reg. $926

$637

FAN SALE

52" Dynasty Aspen

- 3 Speeds—Reversible
- Factory-Balanced Wooden Blades
- Antique and Bright Brass
- Light Adaptable
- 10-Year Warranty

$49.95

52" Dynasty Flush Mount

- Mounts Close to the Ceiling
- 3 Speeds—Reversible
- Available in Antique, Bright Brass and Antique White
- Factory-Balanced Wooden Blades

$59.95

HOUSEWARES OUTLET
CLOCK & FAN OUTLET
Buyers Market, Memorial Drive, Greenville • 756-1567

Barnes Diamond Gallery

The Plaza

Open Mon.-Sat. 10 A.M.-10 P.M. Phone 756-6696 Cash•Layaway•Bank Cards or Store Charge Stores in Kinston, Greenville and Atlantic Beach

IN THE STATE

Mercedes Taxi

RALEIGH (AP) — Raleigh residents who couldn't otherwise afford to sit in a Mercedes-Benz sedan will be able to do so for the price of a cab ride, thanks to a Chapel Hill businessman who will use the cars for his taxi fleet.

William Rogers is opening what he thinks is the first major fleet of Mercedes taxis in the United States. And he says customers won't have to pay any more for the luxury.

"It's going to be the same rate as any taxi," said Rogers, who will operate Transit Systems Inc. "We'll have 25 cars on the road in Raleigh" by mid-summer.

All taxi rates are set by the city at 75 cents plus 20 cents for each one-sixth of a mile.

Rogers said he can afford to use Mercedes-Benz automobiles because he imports used models from Europe and refurbishes them in the U.S. The cars would sell new for up to about $36,000.

Dead Ponies

BEAUFORT, N.C. (AP) — Authorities have discovered 11 dead ponies on the Rachel Carson Estuarine Sanctuary across from Beaufort and officials think malnutrition might be to blame for the deaths.

An animal census taken in October 1986 showed the sanctuary was home to 65 ponies before the recent deaths.

Danny Nicely, an enforcement officer with the N.C. Division of Marine Fisheries, said all the deaths except one seem to have occurred in the last six weeks.

Beaufort veterinarian Dr. R. Guy Jaconis, who examined four of the dead ponies Wednesday, said he thought the deaths were caused by inadequate food supply and stress from winter weather possibly complicated by parasites.

Japanese Firm

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Climaxing a year of international courtship, Charlotte's industry hunters announced Wednesday that a major Japanese firm will locate in southwest Mecklenburg County, bringing with it up to 250 jobs over the next five years.

Okuma Machinery Works, one of the world's largest makers of machine tools, signed a contract Monday in Chicago to buy the near-vacant Borg-Warner plant in Charlotte, where its Byron Jackson Pump Division is winding down operations.

Currently, Charlotte has 24 Japanese firms located in the city, among nearly 200 foreign-owned firms, but none is a manufacturer of Okuma's size.

Memorial

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Charlotte architect Bob Gunn unveiled Wednesday a model of a planned 700-foot long brick memorial to be built near Lexington to honor Vietnam veterans.

Gunn, 37, who won a national design competition last May sponsored by the Vietnam Veterans Leadership Program in Winston-Salem, said the wall is designed to be built this summer at a rest stop on the southern side of Interstate 85 east of Lexington.

The memorial is to be a 12-foot wall constructed in a circle 230 feet in diameter, he said. It would contain 58,000 bricks for those who died or are missing in action in Vietnam. The centerpiece would be a monolith of 1,607 engraved bricks, one for each North Carolina person who died or is missing.

Water Report

JEFFERSON, N.C. (AP) — A research company hired to test the water in Jefferson's sewer treatment plant has found high concentration of three toxic chemicals that could be dangerous of released into the environment.

Town Manager Michael Dixon said a report from the Burlington Research Co. shows that the Gates Rubber Co. and Ashe Memorial Hospital, two of the sewer system's largest users, released the chemicals into the sewage plant. James Johnston, an environmental chemist with the state, said that Gates Rubber and Ashe Memorial are not violating any laws and that treating the toxins is the responsibility of the town.

State officials say they have conducted tests on the drinking water from wells in the area and have found no contamination.

Tax Credit Legislation Is Prepared

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina has fared relatively well in the industry recruitment derby in recent years, but the pool of prospects is drying up and some officials say it's time for new approaches.

That philosophy is reflected in a plan to grant state income tax credits to businesses that create jobs in North Carolina's poorer counties. A bill detailing such a plan was filed for introduction Wednesday in the Senate.

The proposal is a key item in an economic development package being pushed by Lt. Gov. Bob Jordan, who says it would make North Carolina more attractive to out-of-state industrial prospects.

But more importantly, it is in keeping with Jordan's belief that the best way to create new jobs is to help businesses already in the state expand, instead of luring new firms to North Carolina.

"We know we'd better do something," Jordan told reporters. "We have to pay now or pay later." The bill is sponsored by Sen. Marshall Rauch, D-Gaston, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, who said he did not expect it to cost the state money.

"It ought not to be a drain," Rauch said. "It ought to create (revenue) for the state" by widening the tax base.

Under the tax incentive bill, a corporation or individual business owner with at least nine full-time employees could take an income tax credit of $2,800 for each additional full-time worker hired under certain guidelines. The credit would last four years, starting the year after the employee is hired.

The credit could not exceed 50 percent of the tax imposed on the taxpayer for that year.

The program would operate in 20 counties judged to be the state's poorest under a formula combining the unemployment rate and per capita income. Rauch said the number of eligible counties might increase or decrease as the bill moves through the Legislature.

Counties eligible to participate one year will be allowed to continue the remaining three years even if they fall off the list of the poorest counties, Rauch said.

Critics have called tax breaks for job creation unfair because they penalize businesses unable to expand. Martin has said giving the breaks to industry that moves to North Carolina from elsewhere would hurt taxpaying businesses already in the state. "We're not doing anything for new people that we're not doing for people already here," Rauch said.

A Gastonia businessman and staunch business ally, Rauch said he did not think the bill amounted to undue government intervention in the economy.

"I don't feel it's intrusion in free enterprise," he said. "You're reaching ... people who need it most."

Meanwhile, Sen. Kenneth Royall, D-Durham, filed for introduction another major economic development bill: a $120 million fund to provide a combination of loans and grants to local governments for water and sewer system improvements.

Jordan's Commission on Jobs and Economic Growth recommended funding such projects. Martin has proposed an $80 million revolving loan fund for water and sewer systems that could grow to $120 million if expected federal grants are approved.

ALWAYS

Our doors are open to you now to see our full line of exciting new Whirlpool appliances

Come in NOW!

Whirlpool

Whirlpool

Whirlpool

Whirlpool

Can be mounted out-of-the-way under an overhead cabinet. (Accessory mounting kit required)

Whirlpool

Whirlpool

Whirlpool

Whirlpool

Whirlpool

Whirlpool

SHOP-EZE
Greenville Buyer's Market
Phone 355-2373

FOODLAND
Friday Luncheon Special
BBQ Chicken $2.50
Specials served with 2 fresh vegetables and rolls.
Try Our Sealed Bar. We Have Homemade Cakes.

$1,000.00

- INSTANT CREDIT
- 90 DAY CASH PLAN

TV & APPLIANCE

3205 S. MEMORIAL DR. GREENVILLE, N.C.
PHONE 756-8830

- FREE DELIVERY
- FACTORY TRAINED SERVICE

BOB'S TV'S SALES & SERVICE

3205 S. MEMORIAL DR. GREENVILLE, N.C. PHONE 756-8830

1102 West Third St., Ayden, N.C. Phone 746-4021

INC.

"We Live Up To Our Promise Every Day"

TWA Offer For USAir Fouls Piedmont Takeover

By PAUL NOWELL
Associated Press Writer
WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — USAir Group Inc. today rejected a sudden takeover attempt by Trans World Airlines, saying the bid was "nothing more than an attempt ... to disrupt" USAir's offer to purchase Piedmont Airlines.

There was no immediate comment from Piedmont. The airline company's directors met Wednesday in telephone conference to discuss the USAir offer, but recessed the meeting without making a statement.

Piedmont spokesman Don McGuire said today he didn't know what the board would do.

USAir spokesman David Shipley said in a strongly worded statement the airline will proceed with its attempt to purchase Piedmont despite the offer by TWA Chairman Carl Icahn on Wednesday to buy USAir for $1.4 billion in cash.

TWA's takeover offer reflected the intense pressure on airlines to expand in order to remain competitive in the deregulated industry, which has become increasingly consolidated by mergers during the last year.

The offer appeared to throw into doubt USAir's aggressive $1.65 billion cash-and-stock bid for Piedmont. It also called into question USAir's $400 million acquisition of Pacific Southwest Airlines, which was announced three months ago but has not met final government approval.

USAir spokesman Shipley said

TWA's proposal was "nothing more than an attempt by Carl Icahn to disrupt at the 11th hour USAir Group's acquisition of Piedmont, a transaction which the USAir Group board of directors views as most beneficial to shareholders, employees and passengers, and which Mr. Icahn obviously regards as contrary to his personal interests."

US Air is based in suburban Arlington, Va.

In announcing his bid for USAir, Icahn, the takeover strategist who won control of TWA last year, said he also would be interested in a combination of TWA, USAir and Piedmont, but did not elaborate. Such a merger would create the third-largest U.S. airline.

Icahn also disclosed that TWA owned a substantial but unspecified chunk of USAir's stock and would take its $52-a-share takeover offer to the airline's shareholders if USAir management balked. At the same time, he said TWA had not yet secured the financing for such a deal but was confident of obtaining it.

Icahn has been credited with turning TWA into a leaner, more profitable carrier, although the airline still relies heavily on summer travel to Europe. Analysts said a merger with USAir, predominantly a business-traveler's airline operating in the Northeast, could greatly benefit TWA.

The announcement came while Piedmont executives were conferring on USAir's offer.

"We don't know what the ramifications are," McGuire said Wednesday. "It's going to take awhile to sort this out. It's a most peculiar situation."

Icahn has previously said he was looking for another airline to bolster TWA. He bought Ozark Air Lines last year for $250 million.

Nevertheless, Icahn's announcement surprised analysts. Some had even speculated that TWA itself was a takeover target.

"This was sort of an 11th hour movement into the situation," said John Diffendal, who follows the airline business for the J.C. Bradford & Co. investment firm in Nashville, Tenn. "I do think it at least throws open whether the USAir bid for Piedmont will remain in effect."

Several analysts said the announcement's timing possibly reflected Icahn's difficulty in obtaining financing for the deal. Some said he felt compelled to make the offer because Piedmont was about to accept USAir's bid.

The announcement caused USAir's stock to jump $5.37 1/2 a share, to close at $49.12 1/2 in composite New York Stock Exchange trading. Piedmont, which had been trading higher, fell back 50 cents, to $69.62 1/2. TWA stock rose $2.25, to $31.87 1/2.

TWA is the sixth largest U.S. airline in terms of capacity, USAir eighth and Piedmont ninth. A TWA-USAir combination would make TWA the fourth largest, and a combination of all three would be third largest.

TEXTBOOK PLAINTIFFS — Bob Sherling, right, a Mobile, Ala., attorney, and some of the plaintiffs in an Alabama humanism textbook case meet with reporters at the U.S. District Courthouse in Mobile on Wednesday. Plaintiffs shown, left to right, are Gloria Smith, her husband Douglas Smith of Montgomery, Ala., and Judith Whorton of Mobile. (AP Laserphoto)

Judge Bans Textbooks For Humanism Citations

By GARRY MITCHELL
Associated Press Writer

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A civil rights lawyer says a federal judge has "declared ideas unconstitutional" by virtually banning 36 books from Alabama public schools on the ground they promote secular humanism as a religion.

U.S. District Judge William Brevard Hand said Wednesday the use of the textbooks by the state violates the U.S. Constitution's prohibition against the establishment of a religion by the state.

"With these books, the state of Alabama has overstepped its mark, and must withdraw to perform its proper non-religious functions," Hand said in the 172-page ruling.

"Teaching that moral choices are purely personal and can only be based on some autonomous, as yet undiscovered and unfulfilled, inner self is a sweeping fundamental belief that must not be promoted by the public schools," Hand said.

Fundamentalists say secular humanism is the elevation of transient human values over eternal spiritual ones, and secular humanists believe humans can handle their own affairs without divine intervention.

The judge's decision immediately was attacked as a "judicial book-burner" by former Rep. John Buchanan, R-Ala., a Baptist minister and chairman of the Washington-based People for the American Way.

"Never before has a federal court so injected itself into the curriculum of the public schools," Buchanan told a news conference.

People for the American Way and the American Civil Liberties Union joined the state school board in defending against the lawsuit filed by a group of 600 parents and teachers.

"This is the first time to our knowledge that a federal judge has declared ideas unconstitutional," said state ACLU director Mary Weidler. "The decision confirms our worst fears of federal censorship over local public school matters."

In his ruling, Hand said, "This case is not an attempt by anyone to censor materials deemed undesirable, improper or immoral. What this case is about is the allegedly improper promotion of certain religious beliefs."

The conservative National Legal Foundation's director, Robert K. Skolrood, an attorney for TV evangelist Pat Robertson, said Hand's decision "exposes humanism for what it really is: a wolf in sheep's clothing, prowling through the corridors" of schools.

"I don't think it is a ruling for conservatives. I look at it as a ruling for education in America," Skolrood told a news conference. "Humanism and its hidden agenda of indoctrination has been exposed to the light."

John Tyson Jr., presiding officer of the state Board of Education, said he was not prepared to comment on whether the books would be withdrawn immediately if they were in use in classrooms.

Gov. Guy Hunt, who heads the board, said in a statement, "We will continue to watch this very important litigation as it moves through the federal court system and of course, the state of Alabama will comply with all final orders of the court."

Terry Abbott, Hunt's press secretary, said the Republican governor, who is a Primitive Baptist minister, did not indicate his opinion on the ruling.

William Bradford, a Washington attorney for 12 parents who sided with the school board, said an appeal of Hand's ruling was expected. Hand's decision came in a lawsuit by the parents and a teachers group that had financial backing from Robertson, a possible GOP presidential contender next year.

"Someone has always had to pay a price for freedom. Ours is minor compared to our forefathers, who died," said Judith Whorton, a Mobile nurse who was one of the plaintiffs.

Stolen Credit Card Caper

Family Stakes Out Bank, Leads Police To Suspect

ASHEBORO, N.C. (AP) — A Randleman family that staked out a bank teller machine after their credit card was stolen has been credited with leading police to a man now linked with 256 crimes.

Jeffrey Lynn Williams pleaded guilty Wednesday to three counts of financial transaction fraud in Randolph District Court and was sentenced to six years in prison.

Authorities say he also has reached agreements to plead guilty to many of the other charges in exchange for a prison sentence limited to 30 years.

Jeffrey Powell and his wife, Sheree, were at Asheboro's Central Methodist Church Jan. 18 when their car's window was smashed and the wife's purse taken. In it was the bank card and the code number that activated it.

Powell, his wife and father went to the bank at 8:45 that night and found a receipt in a trash bin from their account, showing that the thief had checked the balance and withdrawn $100, the daily limit.

"We figured if he was dumb enough to steal, he'd be dumb enough to show up a second time," William Powell told The Greensboro News & Record.

So the Powells notified police, and then Jeffrey, William and Ken Powell, Jeffrey's brother, staked out the teller machine.

The Powells watched Williams, 28, of Randleman drive into the bank at 11:56 p.m. Jan. 19 and withdraw $100 with a bank card.

The Powells pulled up behind Williams' car, and Ken Powell stood in line behind him as Williams tried to withdraw more money.

"He even said Hi to him," William Powell said.

When the machine wouldn't allow the second withdrawal, Williams hit it and left.

"We knew it wasn't his card — if it was, he would have known he couldn't get money out," William Powell said. "But we weren't positive it was our card."

The Powells followed Williams for a short distance, wrote down his license number, and returned to the bank.

"We no more than turned the car lights out than he came back," William Powell said.

He said Williams came to the car and asked, "You got a problem? You all watching me? Are you trying to rob me?"

Powell replied, "We had a card stolen and thought it might have been you. I guess we're wrong. Sorry we scared you."

Williams withdrew another $100 and left, Powell said.

The next day, the Powells verified that it was their card Williams had used.

They took a description, sketch, license number and details to Asheboro police, who recognized Williams as a man they had arrested in 39 similar break-ins five years earlier.

Asheboro police arrested Williams eight days later and notified authorities in four other counties and six other cities, who also have charged him.

Detective Charles L. Bulla of the Asheboro Police Department said the department had Williams under investigation for about two weeks for about 10 crimes when the Powells contacted them.

"But Mr. Powell's information was really what got (Williams) for us," Bulla said. "We're grateful that he took such an interest in his case. He helped us tremendously."

Authorities say they have also linked Williams to break-ins, larcenies, safecrackings and frauds in Guilford, Orange and Forsyth counties and others in Randolph County in addition to those in Asheboro.

Farmville Furniture Company AND HICKORY CHAIR A Tradition Of Quality

The Wilton Plantation, 1750. Built by William Randolph III, whose grandparent's descendants include Thomas Jefferson and Robert E. Lee. Outstanding architecture and source of great inspiration for our designs.

Now
On Sale!

Sale
Ends
March 13

Fireside
Companion Chairs
YOUR CHOICE
$699⁹⁵

Enjoy Infinite Selection!

Since 1911, Hickory Chair Company has faithfully recreated 18th Century pieces with the quality of excellent hand crafting and timeless styling. Today you'll find our store full of this excellent furniture—for every room in your home—now all at great savings.

Now choose any frame style and any fabric from our awe-inspiring selection, and save during our Great American Home Sale! Come in soon!

FARMVILLE FURNITURE COMPANY

122-126 S. Main St. 753-3101
farmville, nc

MASTERCARD • VISA • OR USE YOUR FFC CHARGE ACCOUNT

Special Offer
Of The Year

Solid Mahogany Corner Chair
With Velvet Seat
$199⁹⁵

Reg. $532
LIMITED OFFER

S & R Computer Associates Inc.

Now Open In Downtown Greenville

- Complete Business Computer Systems sales and service
- Consultation Service to analyze your computer needs
- Custom Software developed for most business computers

Leading Edge

Plenty Of Free Parking In The Rear

Kinston
1002 W. Vernon Ave.
527-2255

G.M. (Greg) Smith, B.S. Computer Science, NCSU
Don R. Wheatley, B.A. Computer Science, ECU
Gary M. Meyer, Management Consultant

Greenville
530 Cotanche St.
757-3279

Commuter Crash Kills 9 People In Detroit

By DENNIS TANNER
Associated Press Writer
ROMULUS, Mich. (AP) — Victims were in flames as they tried to escape from a burning commuter plane after it crashed at Detroit's airport, killing nine of the 19 people aboard and injuring up to 20, including 10 on the ground.

"I don't know how anybody got out," Leroy Garvey said after the twin-engine plane crashed on landing, flipped, caught fire and slammed into service vehicles Wednesday afternoon at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

A National Transportation Safety Board team was to begin investigating the wreck today, said board chairman Jim Burnett.

The pilot, first officer and seven passengers were killed, officials said.

The crash was the worst in the 30-year history of the nation's 12th largest airport, said Richard Jamison, Wayne County director of airports.

The Fischer Brothers Aviation CASA 212-200 turboprop, operating as Northwest Airlin Flight 2268, had left Mansfield, Ohio, and stopped in Cleveland en route to Detroit.

The pilot may have lost power in an engine as it approached for landing, said Jamison.

"She lowered, she rose, it looked like something malfunctioned," said Thomas Moore, 34, of Dearborn Heights, who watched the crash from his car on Interstate 94 next to the airport.

"It banked real hard to the left, and she nosed in off the left of the runway," said Moore. "There was a huge fireball at the moment of impact. I hope God has pity on those poor people."

Garvey said he saw two passengers climb from the wreckage with their clothes afire.

"I saw those two guys rolling out with their arms on fire," said Garvey, 69, of Detroit. "Then there was a second flash ... I don't know how anybody got out."

The plane's left wing slammed into the pavement. The craft bounced, turned over and the flaming wreckage slid about 1,000 feet before plowing into two catering trucks, baggage carts and other service vehicles 20 to 30 feet from a terminal.

Ten people on the plane and 10 ground workers were injured, said Jim Vollman, county Office of Public Services director. However, hospitals reported treating only 13, including six who were released.

Airport officials could not explain the discrepancy, but police officers and security guards said they believed some people with slight injuries may have refused treatment at hospitals.

Seven people were admitted in conditions ranging from guarded to good, hospital officials said.

Dozens saw the crash.

"Everybody started running toward the plane to try to help," said Ellie Heinrich, 52, of Rochester, a passenger awaiting her flight. "And the people on fire were bright red. I'll never forget it."

Some said they fled the terminal because they could feel the fire's heat.

Fischer Brothers marketing director Ralph Baker identified the dead crew members as pilot David Sherer, 45, of Crestline, Ohio, and co-pilot Shawn Manningham, 26, of Mansfield, Ohio.

Baker said the names of the other dead and injured on the plane would not be released until families were notified.

Robert Christian, a 50-year-old Motor Wheels Corp. executive from Okemos, was also among the dead, said Doug Pearson, a spokesman for the Lansing auto parts company. Christian had been returning from a business trip.

Among those injured on the ground were three employees of Sky Chef, an airport catering service.

GETTING AROUND — Seven-year-old liver transplant patient Ronnie DeSillers of Miami takes a walk with his mother, Maria, Wednesday night in the corridor outside his room at Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh. It was his first walk since the operation last week. Ronnie's surgery was paid for through donations, including $1,000 from President Reagan. (AP Laserphoto)

Electronic Tax Returns Show Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost 32 million couples and individuals already have filed federal tax returns this year, and for more than 42,000 of them the chore probably has never been easier.

Taxpayers who make up that tiny minority have filed their returns electronically — by computer — and most can look forward to getting a refund within three weeks or less. Those who file the conventional way, mailing a paper return, will have to wait four or five weeks and, as the April 15 deadline draws nearer, maybe even longer.

"We already have received 42,383 electronic returns this year, compared to 26,000 for all last year," IRS spokesman Larry Batdorf said Wednesday. "We have high hopes of expanding the project next year into several more states, and ultimately to have nationwide electronic filing."

The IRS likes electronic filing because, since the returns are prepared by professionals, there are far fewer errors and no envelopes to open. The preparer completes the return on a computer and ships it by telephone line to the IRS. Taxpayers like the system because it means a quicker refund.

Electronic filing is available through professional preparers in seven areas: Raleigh-Durham, N.C.;

Milwaukee; Albany, N.Y.; Cincinnati; Sacramento, Calif.; Phoenix, Ariz.; and Norfolk, Va.

Some taxpayers with more complex returns may not be able to file electronically, although this year the project is available for the first time to those who must report business earnings on a Schedule C.

If the pilot project works out as the IRS hopes, by the early 1990s most taxpayers will be able to file electronically, and many, perhaps, will be able to file through their home computers. The next step, the IRS envisions, will have refunds from electronic returns deposited directly into taxpayers' bank accounts.

In the meantime, though, most people will continue filing the old-fashioned way, with paper forms and postage stamps. So far this year, filing is down almost 6 percent from 1986, but the IRS isn't concerned.

Through Feb. 27, 31.7 million returns had been received, fewer than one-third of the 105 million expected this year. At the same point a year ago, the IRS had received almost 33.7 million.

'Sacrificial Lambs'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former vice president of defense contractor TRW contends he and another official were fired as "sacrificial lambs" to avoid a Pentagon investigation after $2.5 million in overcharges to the government were uncovered.

Robert North, vice president and general manager of TRW's electronics division in San Diego, released a statement Wednesday through his lawyer. North was scheduled to testify today before the the House Energy and Commerce oversight and investigations subcommittee.

"Mr. North and others at TRW were sacrificial lambs terminated by TRW in order to avoid government scrutiny of the company's poorly designed and overly complex charging policies, which in fact were the true cause of the overcharges to the government," the statement said.

The subcommittee is looking into overcharges on military contracts, of which TRW holds $3 billion.

Last December, the Cleveland-based company announced it had identified $2.5 million in overcharges. It returned the money to the government and disciplined 12 management workers and fired two men — North and Hugo Poza, director of the San Diego electronics and avionics division.

FREE CUSTOM FEATURES

RING FEVER!

$20 SAVINGS!
ON ARTCARVED 10K GOLD H.S. CLASS RINGS

REEDS Jewelers

This offer expires April 30, 1987 and is to be used only for the purchase of ArtCarved 10K Gold H.S. class rings.

J-2539 843 Carolina East Mall Greenville Bring This Ad 756-6683

"TOTEM POLE"
Philodendron
Assorted Varieties growing on a 27" Bark
$7.00

English Ivy Philodendron Pothos

5" TRAILING ASSORTMENT
$3.33

THEY ARE HERE!

SUNARSTOP

607 GREENVILLE BLVD.
(NEXT TO FARM FRESH)

SNAKE PLANT
$1.00

RARE ANTHURIUM
Hawaiian Red Heart
$3.77

Truckload from Florida
INDOOR PLANTS

Prestige Assortment of Plants

6" Pots $4.00 and $4.77

8" Pots $7.50 and $8.88

3" Combination of Several Plants In Single Pot
$1.00

ALSO
4" Aloe Silver King Baby Doll
$1.00

AFRICAN VIOLETS
Beautiful Blooming

4" Pots $2.00

Painted Cactus with Silk Flowers Attached
$2.66

4" Pots
$2.37

ANNIVERSARY PHOTO — President Reagan embraces first lady Nancy Reagan in the Oval Office at the White House Wednesday. The photo, released by the White House, was produced in conjunction with the Reagans' celebration of their 35th wedding anniversary. (AP Laserphoto)

President Denies Nancy 'Dragon'

By SUSANNE M. SCHAFER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An irate President Reagan is rising to his wife's defense, denouncing assertions she is running the government or acts like "a dragon lady."

"That is fiction and I think it is despicable fiction," Reagan told reporters, a look of anger darkening his expression. "And a lot of people ought to be ashamed of themselves."

The subject arose at a Wednesday Oval Office photo session, during which Reagan was quizzed about Nancy Reagan's role. A spate of reports in recent days described Mrs. Reagan as power-hungry and likened her to a dragon. The reports suggested she overstepped her bounds by pushing Chief of Staff Donald T. Regan from his job.

Wednesday also happened to be the Reagans' 35th wedding anniversary, which was marked by a White House photo showing the couple embracing in the Oval Office.

At an earlier photo session with FBI Director William H. Webster, Reagan's nominee to head the CIA, the president told reporters he doesn't generally answer questions at such sessions, but he offered to comment because "you've touched a nerve."

"What is Mrs. Reagan's role in running the government?" a reporter asked.

"Not the one that has been banded about in the press," the president replied.

"Which part of it do you have the greatest objection to?" the president was asked.

"The idea that she's involved in governmental decisions and so forth and all of this and being kind of a dragon lady," he said. "There is nothing to that and no one who knows her well would ever believe it."

A reporter then told the president it was his new chief of staff, Howard H. Baker Jr., who had called Mrs. Reagan a dragon lady.

Baker, sitting nearby on a couch, grinned and said, "No, no." Reagan also said, "No, he didn't," as the group of advisers started to laugh.

Baker was quoted over the weekend as saying about Mrs. Reagan: "When she gets her hackles up, she can be a dragon."

Earlier this week, New York Times
In 1985, Pitt County's average weekly manufacturing wage was $332.98.

essayist William Safire wrote a column describing the first lady as "power hungry" and acting as "an incipient Edith Wilson, unelected and unaccountable, presuming to control the actions and appointments of the executive branch."

Asked if the first lady was upset about the various reports, the president responded, "Well, obviously, she is. Yes, of course."

"What do you think could be done about it?" a reporter asked.

"Well, maybe I just said a few things here that will make some of you think twice before you repeat those things that have been said," the president replied.

The first lady had nothing to do with Regan's resignation, the president argued, saying Regan had spoken to him "months before" about his desire to leave but he had offered to stay until the Tower commission released its report on the Iran-Contra affair.

That report turned out to be highly critical of Reagan's handling of the arms sale, as well as Regan's. The chief of staff resigned and was replaced by Baker last Friday.

While Regan had been sharply criticized by many of the president's supporters for his failure to manage the controversy, he also had been involved in a months-long struggle with Mrs. Reagan over her husband's work schedule and other matters after the president's Jan. 5 prostate surgery.

Baker Walks Familiar Corridors In His First Day As Chief Of Staff

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Chief of Staff Howard H. Baker Jr. walked familiar Capitol Hill corridors bearing an olive branch from the president of the United States.

His mission Wednesday afternoon was tinged with a certain irony and bore some of the markings of a college homecoming.

The new chief of staff retired as Senate majority leader and Tennessee's senior Republican senator two years ago to shed the responsibilities of public office and explore running for president.

Now, six days after he put his political aspirations on indefinite hold to help President Reagan pull his administration out of the chaos of the Iran-Contra affair, Baker was back on familiar ground.

And as he strode through the Senate hallways, Capitol policemen and secretaries waved, sought him out to shake hands and called out, "Good luck."

In his last meeting of the day, Baker was on the most familiar territory of all, his former office suite.

The offices now are occupied by Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., a politician with definite presidential ambitions of his own.

The sign above the door reads, "The Howard H. Baker Jr. Rooms."

And Dole and Baker chose to meet reporters standing in front of Baker's official portrait as majority leader, a painting showing him slouched comfortably behind his Senate desk.

"Are you glad to have Howard Baker in the White House?" Dole was asked.

The Republican leader displayed his widest, toothiest grin.

"On a temporary basis, yes," Dole said, underscoring the word "temporary."

In meetings with Dole, House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, House Minority Leader Bob Michel, R-Ill.,

and Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., the new chief of staff had signals to send:

—The damage caused the administration by the secret arms sales to Iran and the plan to divert some payments to Nicaragua's Contra rebels has hurt the White House but is "not irreparable by any means."

—He will move to impress on the administration the importance of establishing "amiable and favorable" relations with Congress.

"We're off to a fast start and I think it's going to work very well," Baker said.

"One of my highest priorities is to make sure we have a broad, working relationship between the White House and the Congress. I understand the importance of that almost more than anyone."

In turn, he said he wants to pass that understanding of Congress to members of the administration who need congressional cooperation and help in order to be effective.

Baker's predecessor, Donald T. Regan, had a reputation on Capitol Hill as a presidential aide who regarded Congress as an obstacle and a nuisance, and his relations with many legislators were strained. Many had called for his departure.

When a reporter asked whether the president's men don't already understand the need to work closely with the Congress, Baker replied: "Oh, they understand. I'm going to make sure they understand it better."

Baker accepted his new post with the declaration that he saw himself as Reagan's "spear carrier" and as a facilitator of the administration's policy agenda.

But reporters asked Wednesday if it wasn't true that Baker, not Regan, would soon be running the country.

"I'm not running the country, you know better than that," Baker said.

Pollard Gets Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Navy intelligence analyst Jonathan Jay Pollard, sentenced to life imprisonment for selling Israel enough classified documents to fill a walk-in closet, caused damage to national security that was "beyond calculation," the government says.

U.S. Attorney Joseph diGenova said it was "highly unlikely he will ever see the light of day" after Pollard, his arm around his sobbing wife, was sentenced Wednesday by U.S. District Judge Aubrey Robinson. Pollard, however, will be eligible for parole after serving 10 years.

diGenova, who heads the investigation that led to the indictment earlier this week of a senior Israeli air force officer on espionage charges, said Pollard and his Israeli contacts "compromised the most significant amount of classified information that has ever been compromised in an espionage case."

Appearing later Wednesday on the "MacNeil-Lehrer NewsHour," diGenova estimated the damage caused by Pollard's spying was "beyond calculation and well beyond what's been previously reported in the press."

Investigators said Pollard was paid more than $50,000 and promised $300,000 more by his Israeli contacts.

Pollard, 32, holding his distraught wife around the waist as he stood before Robinson, was sentenced on his June 4, 1986, guilty plea to conspiracy to commit espionage.

His wife, Anne Henderson-Pollard screamed, "No, no," and slumped to the floor when Robinson pronounced the sentence with the single word: "Life."

Radio Shack

America's Leading TV/CB Antenna Manufacturer

SUPERCOLOR TV ANTENNA SPECIAL!

Replace Your Winter-Damaged Antenna Today!

Bring a Clear Color Picture Back to Your TV Set!

ONLY 2188

Replace your indoor or worn-out outdoor antenna now and see the clear picture and color your TV set was designed to deliver! Dual-drive UHF/VHF assures clearest possible picture. Wide-swept 60° elements deliver maximum signal. Gold-alodized finish fights corrosion. Attaches to your stereo for improved FM, too. Factory preassembled—install it yourself and save! #15-1711

SAV-A-CENTER FOOD MARKET

PRICES EFFECTIVE THRU SAT. MARCH 7, 1987, IN GREENVILLE, N.C. WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES.

Correction

The following item appeared in our advertisement in The Daily Reflector on Wednesday, March 4 incorrectly priced. It should have read as follows:

93% FAT FREE • TRIMMED WHOLE
Sirloin Tip Lb. 2.00

We apologize if this causes any inconvenience to our customers.
703 Greenville Blvd.

WE'RE YOUR SAVINGS HEADQUARTERS FOR HEALTH AND BEAUTY AIDS!

MURINE
5-Oz.
Or MURINE PLUS
5-Oz.
Your Choice
$1.59

MENNEN SPEED STICK
2.5-Oz.
$1.88

LADY SPEED STICK
1.5-Oz.
$1.59

EASTGATE PLAZA
2808 E. 10th St.
(Across From the Highway Patrol Station)

Hours
Mon.-Fri.
9 a.m. to 6 p.m.
Sunday
1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

"Dial" a Better Picture With Our Antenna Rotor

Archer® by Radio Shack

59.95

- Maximizes Signal Strength
- Minimizes Ghosts And Interference

Helps you pull in hard-to-get stations! Just turn knob on remote to direction you want antenna to point. The system aims it, then locks antenna in position. Fits most masts.
#15-1225 Rotor cable extra

Signal Amplifier

By Archer®
34.95
Really sharpens UHF/VHF and FM reception! With instructions, mounting hardware. 75-ohm.
#15-1124

Multi-Set Couplers

By Archer
Two-Set 3.95 #15-1141
Four Set 6.95 #15-1142
Use Two or More Sets With Just One Antenna

Complete SuperColor Antenna Package for Do-it-Yourself Installation

39.95 Reg. Separate Items 43.10

- Includes Antenna and All Hardware!
- Two Standoff Insulators
- 40-Ft. Ground Wire
- 5-Ft. Steel TV Mast
- Antenna Discharge Unit
- 4-Ft. Ground Rod
- 4" Wall Mounts
- 50-Ft. Foam Twin Lead
- Four 3 1/2" Wood Screws

Shielded Coax Cable Assemblies

By Radio Shack
50-Foot 7.99 #15-1526
100-Foot 13.99 #15-1527

Check Your Phone Book for the Radio Shack Store or Dealer Nearest You. Most Major Credit Cards Accepted.

PRICES APPLY AT PARTICIPATING STORES AND DEALERS

SPRING SALE

EASTGATE PLAZA

2808 East Tenth Street

MONDAY-FRIDAY 9:30-5:30, SAT. 9:30-6:00

DOWNTOWN

Corner Dickinson Ave. & Reade Circle

MON.-SAT. 9:00-8:00 SUNDAY 1-6

Ladies' Suits
Navy And White. 1/2 Size And Jumbo.
$32⁹⁵

Girls' Easter Dresses
Sizes 2-4, 4-6X - 7-14
$13⁹⁵ To $24⁹⁵

60" Washable Linens
Large Selection To Choose From.
Reg. $7.99 Yd.
SPECIAL: $5⁹⁹ Yd.

Permanent Press Priscilla Curtains
•Regular $15.95
•Irregulars
•81 Inches Long
SALE: $8⁸⁸

The Difference Is Comfort

Two new spring basic pumps by "Hush Puppies" at a real savings!

Angel:
10/8 Heel
Black Patent
Navy Smooth
Black Smooth
White Smooth

Medium And Wide Widths

Your Choice:
Low Or Medium Heels
$27⁸⁸
Reg. $34.95
Fri.-Sat.-Sunday Only!

One Table Ladies' Panties
Sizes 5 to 12. Irregulars Of Our Reg. $1.79-$1.99.
SALE: 2 For $1⁹⁹

Quilted Place Mats
Reg. $1.99
SALE: $1⁰⁹ Each

All Patterns 1/2 Price!
With The Purchase Of Fabric.
Solids And Prints $2⁸⁸ Yd.
Reg. $4.99 Yd.

Ladies' Half Slips
White, Black, Assorted Pastels.
SALE: $2⁰⁰

One Group Printed Pillow Cases
SALE: $1⁰⁹ Each

Spring Fabrics Arriving Weekly

1 Table Dress-Weight Fabric
$1⁰⁰ Yd.
Reg. $3.99 Yd.

For All Of Your Decorating Needs:
WE HAVE A LARGE SELECTION OF DRAPERY AND UPHOLSTERY FABRICS AND VINYL (Fabrics In Downtown Store Only)

Ladies' Sleeveless Or Short Sleeve Cotton Sweaters
$12⁹⁵ And $13⁹⁵

Ladies' Muu - Muu
Of 50% Polyester, 50% Cotton Border Print. Short Flared Sleeves, Two Patch Pockets. Assorted Border Prints. S, M, L, XL, XX.
SALE: $12⁹⁵

Available At Both Store Locations!
10th Street Store Open 1:00 P.M. Until 6:00 P.M.

Status:
16/8 Heel
White Smooth
Yellow Smooth
Magenta Smooth

Hush Puppies
The difference is comfort...

Men's Crewneck Sweatshirts
Reg. $7.99
$5⁸⁸
Sizes Small Thru X-Large. Good Selection Of Colors.

Men's Sweat Pants
Reg. $7.99
$5⁸⁸
Sizes Small Thru X-Large. Good Selection Of Colors.

Boys' Knit Shirts
$4⁸⁸
Sizes 8 To 16. Good Selection Of Solids Or Stripes. Values To $12.99.

DUCKHEAD SLACKS FOR MEN
Special:
$17⁸⁸

THE LEGEND LIVES ON

100% Cotton Twill Khaki, Navy, Olive. Sizes 28 To 42.

Men's Knit Shirts
Reg. $15.99
$12⁸⁸
Sizes Small - X-Large. Good Selection Of Colors In Solids And Stripes.

NIKE

Rio II
Blue With Grey Trim.
Reg. $22.99
$18⁹⁷

Men's Pre-Washed Authentic Lee Riders® Straight Leg Jean
Classics, Pure And Simple. Lee Builds Outstanding Fit, Sturdy Construction And Clean Cut Styling Into Every Pair. 100% Cotton Heavyweight Denim Available In Dark Indigo. Sizes 29-42.
$17⁸⁸

Dexter Plus™
Comfort walking shoes carefully designed for the casual walker

Windrunner
White With Natural Trim.
Reg. $35.99
$27⁹⁷

Wrangler Rugged Style!
Your Choice: Black Or Blue Denim, Pre-Washed Sizes Small - X-Large
Reg. $34.95
$28⁹⁷

DEXMATE™ BOAT SHOE

- Goodyear Indy 500 Plus high abrasion outsole
- Artificial non-skid water escape channels
- Lightweight insulated contoured footbed
- Genuine leather upper and sock lining
- Genuine handsewn
- Functional rawhide drawstring laces
- Salt resistant eyelets

Classic handsewn boat shoe, one piece heavy rawhide lace, contoured cushion urethane insert, side stitched, siped, Goodyear Indy 500® Plus rubber boat sole.
SIZES: 7-12
Reg. $59.95
$46⁸⁸

ADMIRAL
P610-5 Tan Waxy Leather
P610-7 Grey Waxy Leather

Penetrator GT
White With Royal Trim.

Low Tops
Reg. $31.95
$26⁹⁷

High Tops
Reg. $35.95
$27⁹⁷

Penetrator GT Low And High Tops

LEE CASUALS® PLEATED YOKED JEAN
Slip into comfortable fashion in this Lee favorite, featuring a pleated yoked front, extended front pockets, a clean back, and a relaxed silhouette. Available in 100% cotton endgo denim, 100% cotton textured canvas, or 100% cotton sheeting in a wide variety of colors and prints.
$24⁹⁵ And $26⁹⁵
Lee

Lifestyle

Peter Marino Is 'Hot' Designer For The Rich

By RIDGELY OCHS
L.A. Times-Washington Post
News Service

NEW YORK — You are not likely to see Peter Marino sheets in the aisles of Macy's or Bloomingdale's. Nor is it likely that the architect-designer will ever work on your home, unless you happen to be extremely well-connected, possess a sophisticated knowledge of the arts and, of course, have the means to indulge your fancies.

What is sure, however, is that Marino at 37 is becoming one of the hottest designers on the international scene, hired by such clients as Marella and Giovanni Agnelli of Fiat, Carla Fendi of fur design fame and Greek shipping magnate Philippe Niarchos. Yves Saint Laurent and Valentino have used him, causing him to be dubbed "the designer's designer." New York magazine recently named him "The Power That Will Be" in interior design. And when recently asked to name the most-sought-after architect-designer, Marie Helene de Rothschild reportedly replied: "Peter Marino."

What makes all this interesting is that Marino — by his admission, yea, declaration — has no one "style" or "look" that is attracting the wealthy cognoscenti. Instead, he has a deep belief that the exterior and the interior of a building should complement its surroundings and those who use it. "Here's my line," he said, laughing. "Quite simply: It is the 'architecture of the appropriate'; I really feel that there is an appropriate architectural solution for each project."

What that means is that when Marino guts and redesigns a six-room apartment in the Dakota, on Manhattan's Central Park West, for businessman Christopher Whittle, for instance, it looks the way it would have — or should have — in 1884 when the Dakota was built. From the elaborate Art Nouveau stenciling on the walls and ceilings to the 19th-Century art collection to the Georgian silverware, Marino was responsible for it all.

That means when he works on a design for outbuildings he will be constructing for clients on an 8½-acre estate in East Hampton, N.Y., he looks to the land and the surrounding houses for "clues" of how to build it. "You are always given a palette; you are always given something," he said. "In (the) East Hampton (project), you are given 8½ blank acres. But guess what? It's very horizontal. The neighborhood is full of beautiful old beach houses of cedar shingle. I would never dream of doing one of those things that look like a spaceship dropped from the sky, simply because I don't think it's appropriate...." "Buildings are for people, not for egos or statements," Marino said firmly.

The other half of the Marino coin, and perhaps what makes him so desirable to the international elite, is his sheer knowledge of "the appropriate," especially the historically appropriate. Unlike most architects today, he has a prodigious knowledge of decorative and fine arts and is willing and able to involve himself with every detail of house design, from the precise color of the brick on a facade to the choice of braiding on a sofa.

"I call it being an old-fashioned kind of architect," Marino said. "All architects up until World War Two did everything and designed everything. It was only after World War Two that this engineering split happened. And suddenly your normal client said, 'Well wait, who's going to do my sofa?' Then we had the rise of decorators, because there wasn't anybody else to do it."

Marino is willing to do it, and with a love of luxury and Old World craftsmanship — what he calls "quality" — and a group of artisans worldwide, he and his staff of 40 are booked solid for the next three years. His projects are international, from France and Belgium to the Virgin Islands and San Francisco. True to his belief in old-fashioned architects who do it all, the range of projects is wide: From a recent revamping of Roseland, the old and famous West Side ballroom, to building a 16-story office building in Antwerp for a client whose nearby home (it looks more like a small castle) he built, to designing a set of porcelain for philanthropist Mona Ackerman, whose city apartment, which once belonged to Barbara Hutton, he is also doing. He is designing corporate headquarters for Whittle in the heart of downtown Knoxville, Tenn., which will look more like a college complete with brick, a quad and comfortable old elms than anything corporate America is likely to have ever seen.

Not bad for a boy who grew up in Douglaston, N.Y., the son of a Grumman engineer and a receptionist at Merrill Lynch.

"I was an anomaly, to say the least," said Marino, laughing. "I grew up the artistic kid in the neighborhood. I always won every art medal and took more art courses than they offered." He traces his interest in interiors to a childhood disease that prevented him from walking until he was 7. "When you look for reasons in your past for why you grew up different from the kids around you," he said, "I always thought that was the reason: It made me a lot more conscious of the rooms."

Marino said he always thought he would end up a painter, but to appease his father, who wanted him to have a more conventional profession, he entered Cornell's School of Architecture and Fine Arts. Here again he was at odds with his peers.

While they were toiling away with their grids and boxes — and, he says, their egos and statements — he was taking as many art courses as he could.

He was also skipping down on weekends to hang out at the late Andy Warhol's Factory. After he graduated and was working for another firm, Warhol hired him as a free-lancer to redesign his town house.

In the mid '70s, Fred Hughes, Warhol's manager, hired him to renovate an apartment. Gutting it, Marino took his cues from the building's Edwardian facade and turned it into a "wonderful London town house... It feels," he said, "like it's never been touched; it feels a little dusty." This Edwardian renovation (which he calls "historically intelligent," not historically accurate: "I really do believe in functioning bathrooms and functioning kitchens") was the backdrop for Warhol's and others' modern paintings. It was a startling melange for Americans at the time and became something of a showcase for Marino's work. Through Hughes, he met the Agnellis, Marino said, which gave him passage to the international arena.

It is a world into which Marino, who is married to costume designer Jane Trapnell and has a wonderful West Highland terrier named Ziggy, apparently fits quite well. His mix of Old World hauteur and American openness and enthusiasm appears as complex as some of the interiors he has designed. For all his dedication to making architecture responsive to the people who use it, Marino is the first to admit that he doesn't want to design for anybody. Just money will not ensure your entree into his modern offices on East 58th Street, filled with staff members making transatlantic calls in good French and corners stuffed with the odd antique chair or piece of tapestry.

"I turn away five clients a month," he said. The people he does decide to work with "have to have a certain level of sophistication and intelligence to appreciate what I do." This, he says, makes it more fun for him. "I spend a lot of my life here," he said, his arm sweeping around his cluttered office, "seven days a week, fourteen hours a day. It'd better be fun."

Airline Security Viewpoints

At Wits End
Erma Bombeck

Airline security is still serious business in this country. And rightfully so. Yet, with some regularity, the crazies do slip through and go on to terrorize innocent people.

When this happens, all reason and logic dissipate, leaving only suspicion and distrust in their wake. It is something to watch.

At a small airport in Iowa, I watched a man in his 80s with no teeth, a voice like Gomer Pyle's, suspenders and belt on his trousers, plaid shirt and a billed cap with Ralston Purina stamped on it step through the security passage. I would have been willing to bet he did not fit the basic terrorist's profile. The buzzer went off like he had just given the wrong answer on "Jeopardy."

Immediately, two uniformed security guards accompanied him back to the other side of the passageway and ordered him to empty his pockets. He did this five times before they discovered he was trying to smuggle aboard a half stick of gum covered with foil.

Once had to forfeit a two-inch pair of needlepoint scissors to a stewardess who assured me they would be "safe" in the captain's cockpit until I reached my destination. She said a hijacker could grab them and use them as a weapon. I understood.

An hour later, when she served dinner she placed a seven-inch steak knife on my tray. I felt sorry for the captain. His only defense against an entire plane of knives was a pair of needlepoint scissors that could only hack their way through a three-ply yarn.

Another time I was with a producer at an airport in Missouri, en route to St. Louis. As we started to walk toward the small plane (formerly flown by Sky King and Penny), a voice yelled, "Wait a minute!" A security guard appeared in the empty airport. We stopped while our bags were X-rayed. Then the voice said, "Open that bag. There's something in there that bothers me." It was my curling iron. The scenario didn't seem right, somehow, for a takeover. To begin with, we were the only two people booked on the plane, so we couldn't have taken hostages, and we couldn't have ordered the plane to Athens because we barely had enough fuel to get to St. Louis.

We are living in strange times where dogs are brought in to sniff out pill boxes containing estrogen and tablets to soak your dentures... a letter opener is a threat to Great Britain and dirty underwear is scrutinized in Boston... but the live lobsters with menacing claws are waved through without touching them.

Airlines must and should pursue security measures, but it does give rise to a truism. Gum wrappers don't threaten people... airline food does.

Local CAR Society Wins Awards At State Meet

The Dr. Robert Williams Society Children of the American Revolution was represented at the 47th annual state conference held in Greensboro.

Kelly Heizer of Farmville presided as CAR state president. He was assisted by the Senior State President, Mrs. Donald Coordes of Wake Forest. Jorja Heizer, state librarian-curator, and Elizabeth Betts, state historian, participated on the program.

Mary Charlotte Betts was page for the senior state president, and Sarah Mercer was page for the National Senior President, Mrs. Robert L. Boggs of Statesville. Other pages for the Dr. Robert Williams Society CAR were April Lewis, Suzanne Bradham, and Elizabeth Ward. Mrs. Carl Betts served as senior recording secretary and Mrs. Rhoderick T. Williams served as senior organizing secretary.

New officers are of the Farmville chapter are Elizabeth Ward, state chaplain; Elizabeth Betts, state recording secretary; Jorja Heizer, state corresponding secretary, and April Lewis, registrar.

The new officers were installed at a banquet Saturday night. Allison Baker presented awards won by the societies. The Dr. Robert Williams Society CAR won a silver tray for membership award and a silver tray for best articles in the Tarheel Tatler, the CAR newspaper. They also received several certificates.

Others represent the Major Benjamin May Chapter DAR, Farmville, were Mrs. Frank Bradham and Mrs. John Briley.

GORDON'S
CB Jackets
50% off
264 ByPass 756-1003

15 DAY BRITANNIA TOUR
Ireland, Wales, Scotland, England
JULY 28-AUGUST 11
$1989
Includes: Round Trip Air VIA Delta Airlines From Raleigh-Durham. 21 Meals, Theater Ticket In London, Transfers, Taxes, Tips And Much More!
E. T. Vinson
Tour Host
Call:
752-5778
756-5314

The Youth Shop
Carolina East Centre
Greenville, N.C.
756-6180
Open Monday-Friday 10-8:30 Saturday 10-6
Winter Clearance
Friday And Saturday
Take an Additional 20% off
The Already 50% off
of Winter Merchandise.
Good Selection of Gant, Original Jams, Easter Suits and Dresses. Layaway Now.

Area Births

Dennison
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Brewster Dennison Jr., 152 Shady Knoll Trailer Park, a son, Larry Brewster III, on Feb. 23, 1987, in Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Woods
Born to Mr. and Mrs. David Woods Jr., 104 Emmas Place Apartments, a daughter, Tamica Rochelle, on Feb. 24, 1987, in Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Lee, on Feb. 24, 1987, in Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Edwards
Born to Mr. and Mrs. James Horace Edwards Jr., Route 2, Greenville, a son, James Horace III, on Feb. 23, 1987, in Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Griesedieck
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joseph Griesedieck, Route 8, Greenville, a son, Joseph Louis, on Feb. 24, 1987, in Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Hudgins
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Darius Eugene Hudgins, Robersonville, a son, Terrell, on Feb. 24, 1987, in Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Lewis
Born to Mr. and Mrs. William Eugene Lewis, Grimesland, a son, Joshua Ryan, on Feb. 24, 1987, in Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Horness
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richard Horness II, Aulander, a daughter, Crystal Marie, on Feb. 24, 1987, in Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Antique Collars Shown At Meet

A showing of antique lace collars was presented by Gladys Kowalski at the meeting of the Greenville Quilter's Guild.

Plans for the April quilt show were discussed. The next meeting will be March 24 at 7 p.m.

The meeting was conducted by Margaret Hadden, president.

Brann
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brann Sr., Farmville, a son, Casey

The geographic area composed of Greenville and Pitt County consistently ranks among the top ten centers in dollar volume of construction activity. During the past decade, Greenville construction activity alone exceeded $20 million.

THE STAIN OFFENDERS

SEVEN LITTLE REASONS WHY YOUR NEXT CARPET SHOULD BE A STAINBUSTER.

They're cute. They're lovable. And they can destroy a carpet in less time than it takes to grab a sponge.

Introducing Stainbusters™ — A Bigelow exclusive. A tough new carpet that'll stand up to the worst spills kids (and adults) can dish out.

It's crafted with Stainmaster™, a carpet breakthrough from Du Pont that's suddenly made all other soil and stain guards obsolete. Because even after 24 hours, plain water is all you need to save your carpet from staining death. Unbelievable? You bet it is. But seeing is believing. Let us show you a demonstration you'll never forget, and prove just how care-free Stainbusters really are.

Fruit punch cleaned with plain water 30 minutes after spill. Unretouched photo.

THE RESISTER

THE PROTECTOR

Available At
Special Pricing through March 13.

WATERS CARPET CENTER

118 Mill Street
Winterville, N.C. 756-2541
Buddy Waters • S.J. Waters • Mike Waters

Bigelow DUPONT CERTIFIED STAINMASTER CARPET
FINE CARPET SINCE 1825

*Du Pont certification mark for carpets meeting its quality standards.

The Medical Practice Of E.C. Land, M.D., P.A.
announces the association of
Dr. Sherry Hall for the practice of General Internal Medicine
as of March 1, 1987
Hours 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.
by appointment only 758-7122 or 758-6122

Hoppin' John's Bookshop Covers Food World

By JEANNE FREEMAN
The Greenville News
CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Cabbages grow in the window boxes that lean out over the narrow sidewalk edging Pickney Street. Like huge, stylized roses they grow fat and green on this side street in the historic Ansonborough district of Charleston. They mark the shop on the corner, as does the sign that reads: Hoppin' John's.

and the floors are wood. Row after row of books line white shelves.
These are books about practically anything relating to food: cookbooks, restaurant guides, books on gardening, books on baking, books on folding napkins.
Hoppin' John's declares itself "the only bookstore in the Southeast devoted exclusively to the world of food." Owner John Taylor says he has 2,600 different titles.
"The shop is not just cookbooks," said Taylor. "There's fiction. There are essays. There are histories."

He stretches upward, pulls a thick volume from a top shelf and holds it out. The title is "Someone's Killing the Great Chefs of Europe." It's a murder mystery.
Hoppin' John's opened last Thanksgiving weekend with a champagne and chocolate party for 216 people. Taylor remembers standing in the courtyard behind the shop that night and looking in through a window. "I saw people sitting in here and reading. I came in the store and it was all very subdued."

The next morning, he says, "It was so wonderful. All the books were everywhere. Every shelf had books out of place. Which is the greatest feeling for a bookseller because you know your books are getting browsed."
It was an indication of how things would be. Taylor has found this about his customers: "It's really interesting. People make special trips to come here and they spend two or three hours."

antique food-related art. I have trade cards from the 19th century. I have some little postcards. I have crate labels."
Taylor developed his knowledge of culinary literature with the help of two experts: his mother and Nach Waxman. "My mother was a very adventurous cook," and she had a huge collection of cookbooks. When she died, Taylor inherited her 1,200 books.
Nach Waxman owns Kitchen Arts and Letters, a shop in New York City which served as the model for Hoppin' John's. Taylor apprenticed himself to Waxman for seven months in order to learn the business.

Taylor did exactly that. "We were on a 112-foot yacht that was built in 1929. We did three meals a day for the crew and we also catered parties for anywhere from five to 250 people."
Years in France and Italy followed, and then it was back to New York with the magazine. But Taylor had never liked New York and the magazine began having financial troubles.
Finally, Taylor remembers, "I said, 'What are you doing? Go home.'" He went home.
He still cooks, but for himself. And he cooks "from the books so I can intelligently discuss them."

COOKBOOK HAVEN — John Taylor, proprietor of Hoppin' John's in downtown Charleston, has rare, out of date, unusual and funny cookbooks in his store. He also has designed and sells his own cooking knives from the store. (AP Laserphoto)

And who are they, these people spending time with food books? "I get a lot of young people," said Taylor. "A lot of professional people. I get a lot of men."
The telephone interrupts him. Yes, Taylor assures the caller, he has located the book and has it here in his shop. An out-of-town customer, he explains, one who had read about a particular out-of-print book and wanted a copy. Taylor got it for him.

"I have a search service that has been very, very successful. I don't mind saying the reason it's been successful is I have very unorthodox methods of looking for out-of-print books. I use no professional book searchers."

Hoppin' John's also offers custom-designed, handmade knives for sale. "I went to a Southeastern knife and gun show, and I looked at knives and I talked to knifemakers from all over the Southeast. I picked up hundreds and hundreds and hundreds of knives."

He ended up working with two craftsmen, Dan Cannady of Allendale and Skip Burnette of Spartanburg. Cannady makes the kitchen knives from tool steel, with handles of exotic woods, such as cocobolo.
Burnette makes hunting and fishing knives.

As for other non-book items for sale at the shop, Taylor notes, "I have cards which I had printed from 19th-century food illustrations on acid-free paper. I hand-tint them. I have

Working on the yacht came as a result of a professional contact.
Taylor had just begun writing about food when he was introduced to a chef. "He asked me if I would like to apprentice under him so that I could improve my skills and know what I was talking about."

Taylor's own background was in journalism. He grew up in Orangeburg, S.C., and attended the University of Georgia. He finished school with an undergraduate degree in journalism and a graduate degree in film-making.

He has worked as an assistant chef on a yacht, free-lanced in Europe and the United States and worked as food editor for the French magazine Ici
New York.

So, Dear Abby, please encourage victims of these idiots who grab, clutch and jab to fight back by kicking them in the shins and punching them in the mouth and see how they like it.

If, by printing this letter, you save just one person from the torment I have endured, you will have taken a giant step forward for mankind. —
EDWARD D., SPRINGDALE, PA.

(To get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.)

My stupid brother-in-law, when greeting me, punches me so hard on the upper arms, I suffer black-and-blue marks that last for three weeks.
If he is behind me, he jabs me in the kidney area and I am in terrific pain for a week.

Any group or organization that would like to charter bus service through the Greenville Area Transit (GREAT) system should call the city's Public Works Department at 752-4137. Charters can arranged to destinations within a 50 mile radius of Greenville. The service is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

I have an excellent relationship with my gov'n children and their spouses, but we seldom touch each other. Being grabbed, clutched or jabbed would be unbearable for us.
Luckily most of our friends are of Scandinavian descent, and wouldn't think of doing something like that. —
ANOTHER UNTOUCHABLE

Some Godchildren Have 'Gimmies'

DEAR ABBY: I appreciated your column on the responsibilities of godparents to their godchildren. I totally agree with your explanation, and would like to add that a special relationship usually develops between godchild and godparents, but greeting cards and gifts should become reciprocal after the child matures.
However, when the child becomes an adult and merely expects these thoughtful gestures, we (our family) feel it's time to call a halt to that one-way street. Godparents also

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

have birthdays and anniversaries, and they celebrate Christmas too, so a card or small gift acknowledging those occasions is not too much to expect of a godchild who has been on the receiving end for many, many years.
Please publish this for godchildren who have the "gimmies." — TIRE
OF ONE-WAY STREETS

DEAR UNTOUCHABLE: Touch-me-not behavior is not a problem, unless, of course, a cool, immovable Scandinavian encounters an irresistible, affectionate, Latin, Semite or European type.
However, conversions have been known to occur, and I'd dare say it would be easier to warm up a Scandinavian than to cool off a hot-blooded Hungarian.

Meeting Place

- THURSDAY
6:30 p.m. — Exchange Club meets
6:30 p.m. — Alpha Nu chapter of ADK meets at Ramada Inn
7:00 p.m. — Greenville Elks Lodge No.
1645 meets
7:30 p.m. — Overeaters Anonymous
meets at First Presbyterian Church 7:30 p.m. — Pitt County Unit No. 39 of the American Legion Auxiliary meets at the American Legion Building
7:30 p.m. — Duplicate bridge meets at Senior Center
8:00 p.m. — Cochee Council No. 60,
Degree of Pocahontas meets 8:00 p.m. — Alateen, a meeting for children of alcoholics will meet in room 32 of First Presbyterian Church
8:00 p.m. — Alcoholics Anonymous closed-ed meeting at First Presbyterian Church
8:00 p.m. — Serenity Al-Anon meets at First Presbyterian Church, room 33
8:00 p.m. — Freedom Group of Narcotics Anonymous open meeting, St. Paul's Episcopal Church

DEAR TIRE: Not all godchildren have the "gimmies," but those who do may experience a rude awakening if they read this and realize their thoughtlessness. However, people who continue to give gifts when there is no reciprocation — or worse yet, without thanks — should either quit giving or quit complaining.

DEAR ABBY: The person signed "Touch-Me-Not" would fit into my family very well. Being Scandinavian, we are not as demonstrative in public as people of other nationalities.
Unless we haven't seen each other for a long period of time, even family members do not like to be hugged or kissed. That goes for hugging and kissing children, too.
And then we do it only in private.

- FRIDAY
12 noon — Alcoholics Anonymous meets at St. Paul's Episcopal Church
8:00 p.m. — Serenity Group of Narcotics
Anonymous has open discussion at St.
Paul's Episcopal Church
8:00 p.m. — Alcoholics Anonymous traditions and step (newcomers) closed meeting at AA Building, Farmville Highway

ANOTHER UNTOUCHABLE

Susan's

Winter Merchandise

75% Off

Wool Gabardine 50% off

Susan's

331 Arlington Boulevard 754-8844 Open Mon.-Sat. 10 to 6

Stunning Elegance Afoot

by Contempos!

T-KO
$39.95

Dress Heels That Will Complement All Your Dressier Outfits
For Spring.

- Lemon Yellow
- Black Patent
- Marine Blue
- Scalding Pink

Sizes 6 to 12
Med. & Wide
Widths

Whites

TWO LOCATIONS
FOR YOUR SHOPPING CONVENIENCE

DOWNTOWN
601 DICKINSON AVE.

EASTGATE PLAZA
2808 E. TENTH ST.

REEDS

Jewelers

BIRTHDAY Sale-a-bration up to 60% OFF

14K Gold Chains up to 60% OFF 18" Diamond Cut Rope Chain Reg. $350.00 SALE $169.95 18" Figaro Chain Reg. $379.95 SALE $189.95	Man's 7 Diamond Nugget Cluster Reg. $595 SALE $395	Diamond Cluster Ring SALE $69.95
Ruby & Diamond Cluster Ring Reg. $185 SALE $119.95	14K Gold Dolphin Earrings Reg. $54.95 SALE $32.95	Diamond Pendants from $39.95 1/2ct Diamond Pendant Reg. $375 SALE $275 1/2ct Diamond Pendant Reg. $695 SALE $495

SEIKO
AUTHORIZED DEALER

Lady's Seiko
Watch
Reg. $250
SALE $210

We invite you to use our convenient charge plans or other major credit cards.

Carolina East Mall
Greenville NC
756-6683

646 Arlington Blvd.
Arlington Village

CLARK GALLERY

ART • FRAMES • PRINTS

CUSTOM AND
DO IT YOURSELF
PICTURE FRAMES

GALLERY HOURS:
Mon.-Sat. 9:30-6:00
Thursday Nights 'Til 9 pm

756-7454

Stock And Market Reports

By The Associated Press
HOGS: Trend is steady to 50 cents higher at N.C. buying stations. Kingston, Spivey's Corner, Murfreesboro, Siler City and Robersonville, 46.00; Clinton, Fayetteville, Dunn, Pink Hill, Pine Level, Chadbourn, Ayden, Laurinburg and Benson 45.50; Wilson 45.75; Rowland 45.75. Sows: (500 pounds up) Fayetteville 40.00; Wallace 40.00; Spivey's Corner 40.00; Rowland 41.50.

BROILERS: The North Carolina fob dock quoted price on broilers for this week's trading was 45.75 cents, based on full truck load lots of ice pack USDA Grade A sized 2 1/2 to 3 pounds birds. Too little of the loads offered have been confirmed. The market is steady and the live supply is adequate for a moderate demand. Average weights desirable to heavy. Estimated slaughter of broilers and fryers in North Carolina Thursday was 1,960,000, compared to 1,947,000 last Thursday.

GRAIN: No. 2 yellow shelled corn steady to 3 cents higher at mostly 1.70-1.82 in East and mostly 1.80-1.86 in the Piedmont; No. 1 yellow soybeans steady to 1 cent lower at mostly 4.74-4.92 in East and mostly 4.75-4.85 in the Piedmont; wheat mostly 2.43-2.70; (new crop wheat 2.30-2.47). Exchange rates for P.I.K. certificates were mostly steady to 1 percent lower and ranged from 100 to 104 percent of face value.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market kept climbing today, following through on Wednesday's strong advance to record highs.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose 11.81 to 2,269.26 in the first half hour of trading.

Gainers outnumbered losers by more than 2 to 1 in the overall tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues, with 789 up, 346 down and 428 unchanged.

Volume on the Big Board came to 34.13 million shares as of 10 a.m. on Wall Street.

Shares of General Motors, which announced this week that it planned to buy back as much as 20 percent of its stock over the next four years, rose 1/4 to 79 3/4 in active trading today, on top of a 3/4-point gain Wednesday.

Among other actively traded blue chips this morning, General Electric gained 1 to 106 3/4; International Business Machines 1/2 to 140 3/4; and American Telephone & Telegraph 1/4 to 23 1/4.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks rose .95 to 165.36. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 1.95 at 328.25.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 30.93 to 2,257.95, surpassing the previous closing peak of 2,244.09 it reached on Feb. 19.

Advancing issues outnumbered declines by more than 2 to 1 on the NYSE, with 1,108 up, 470 down and 380 unchanged. Big Board volume totaled 198.41 million shares, against 149.24 million in the previous session.

NEW YORK (AP) — Midday stocks

	High	Low	Last
AMR Corp	52 1/4	51 3/4	51 3/4
AbbottLab	63	62 1/4	62 3/4
Allis Chalm	3 1/4	3	3
Alcoa	43 1/4	43 3/8	43 3/8
AmBrands	50 1/4	50 1/4	50 1/4
AmerCan	101 3/4	99 3/4	100 3/4
Am Cyan	97 1/4	96 3/4	97
Ameritech	88 1/4	87 1/4	88 1/4
AmitInt	78	77 1/4	77 1/4

Am Motors	3 3/4	3 1/2	3 3/4
AmStand	48	48 1/4	48
Amer T&T	23 1/2	23 1/4	23 1/4
Amoco	74 1/4	73 3/4	74 1/4
BellSouth	71 1/4	71 1/4	71 1/4
Beth Steel	8 1/2	7 1/2	7 1/2
Boeing	53 1/4	52 1/4	52 1/4
Boise Casco	78 1/4	78 1/4	78 1/4
Borden	56 1/4	56 1/4	56 1/4
Burling Ind	49	48 1/4	48 1/4
CSX Co	33 1/4	32 3/4	33
Calumet	39 1/4	39 1/4	39 1/4
Champ Int	37 1/4	37 1/4	37 1/4
Chevron	51 1/4	51	51 1/4
Chrysler	50 1/4	50 1/4	50 1/4
CocaCola	47 1/4	47 1/4	47 1/4
Cold Palm	45 1/4	45 1/4	45 1/4
ConwEds	37 1/4	37 1/4	37 1/4
ConAgra	34	33 1/4	33 1/4
DeltaAir	63 1/4	62 3/4	62 3/4
DowChem	78 1/4	77 3/4	78 1/4
duPont	101 1/4	101 1/4	101 1/4
Duke Pow	48	47 1/4	47 1/4
EastKodak	77 1/4	77 1/4	77 1/4
Saton Co	84 1/4	83 3/4	84 1/4
Exxon	81 1/4	81 1/4	81 1/4
FPL Grp	32 1/4	32 1/4	32 1/4
Firestone	37 1/4	36 3/4	37 1/4
FirstEnergy	45 1/4	44 3/4	45 1/4
FlaProgress	40 1/4	40 1/4	40 1/4
FordMot	79 1/4	79 1/4	79 1/4
Fugua	33 1/4	33 1/4	33 1/4
GenCorp	41 1/4	41 1/4	41 1/4
GenDynam	80 1/4	79 1/4	80
GenElec	78 1/4	78 1/4	78 1/4
GenHills	106 1/4	106 1/4	106 1/4
GenMot	51 1/4	51 1/4	51 1/4
GenMot E	79 1/4	79 1/4	79 1/4
GenMot R	39 1/4	39 1/4	39 1/4
GenPart	52 1/4	51 3/4	52 1/4
Goodrich	49	48 3/4	49
Goodyear	55 1/4	55	55 1/4
Grace Co	54 1/4	53 1/4	54
GrainCorp	57 1/4	56 3/4	57 1/4
Greyhound	88 1/4	87 3/4	88 1/4
HerculesInc	35 1/4	35 1/4	35 1/4
Honeywell	70 1/4	69 3/4	70 1/4
IBM	141 1/4	141 1/4	141 1/4
ITT Corp	95 1/4	94 3/4	95 1/4
Int'l Rect	87 1/4	86 3/4	87 1/4
JamesRvr	40 1/4	40 1/4	40 1/4
K mart	58 1/4	58 1/4	58 1/4
KaiserAlum	17 1/4	17 1/4	17 1/4
KaneSec	2 1/4	2 1/4	2 1/4
Kroger A	33 1/4	33 1/4	33 1/4
Lockheed	52 1/4	52 1/4	52 1/4
LoewsCo	77 1/4	75 3/4	76 1/4
McCormick	35 1/4	35 1/4	35 1/4
McKesson	35 1/4	34 3/4	35 1/4
MeatCorp	67 1/4	67 1/4	67 1/4
MercantInt	114 1/4	113 1/4	114 1/4
MinnInt	49 1/4	48 3/4	49 1/4
Mobil	44 1/4	44 1/4	44 1/4
Monsanto	77 1/4	76 3/4	77 1/4
NCNB Co	25 1/4	25 1/4	25 1/4
Norfolk	61 1/4	60 3/4	61 1/4
Navistar	7 1/4	7 1/4	7 1/4
NorfolkSou	96 1/4	95 3/4	96 1/4
Nyrac	32 1/4	32 1/4	32 1/4
OlinCo	67 1/4	67 1/4	67 1/4
OwensIll	49 1/4	49 1/4	49 1/4
PacTel	60 1/4	60 1/4	60 1/4
PepsiCo	56 1/4	56 1/4	56 1/4
Penney JC	96 1/4	96 1/4	96 1/4
PepsiCo	35	34	35
Phelps Dod	30 1/4	29 3/4	30 1/4
PhillipMor	87 1/4	87 1/4	87 1/4
Phillips	13 1/4	13 1/4	13 1/4
Plumtree	81 1/4	81 1/4	81 1/4
RalstonPur	53 1/4	53 1/4	53 1/4
Rockwell	79 1/4	79 1/4	79 1/4
Scott Paper	34	34	34
SealedAir	53 1/4	53 1/4	53 1/4
SearsRoeb	23 1/4	23 1/4	23 1/4
Shaklee	23 1/4	23 1/4	23 1/4
Skyline Co	17 1/4	17 1/4	17 1/4
Spry Corp	21 1/4	21 1/4	21 1/4
SouthernCo	26 1/4	26 1/4	26 1/4
SwatBell	115 1/4	115 1/4	115 1/4
StdOil	57 1/4	57 1/4	57 1/4
Stevens JP	49 1/4	49 1/4	49 1/4
TRW	46 1/4	46 1/4	46 1/4
TRW	46 1/4	46 1/4	46 1/4
Texaco Inc	34 1/4	34 1/4	34 1/4
TexEast	34 1/4	34 1/4	34 1/4
USX Corp	26 1/4	26 1/4	26 1/4
USX Corp	26 1/4	26 1/4	26 1/4
UnCarbide	27 1/4	27 1/4	27 1/4
USWest	58 1/4	58 1/4	58 1/4
Unocal	32 1/4	32 1/4	32 1/4
WalMart	57 1/4	57 1/4	57 1/4
WestPac	64	63 3/4	64
Westing	65 1/4	65 1/4	65 1/4
Weyerhae	52 1/4	52 1/4	52 1/4
Weyerhae	49 1/4	49 1/4	49 1/4
Woolworth	49 1/4	49 1/4	49 1/4
Wright	49 1/4	49 1/4	49 1/4
Xerox Co	79 1/4	79 1/4	79 1/4

Following are selected stock quotations as of 11:00 a.m.:

Ashland Oil	65
Unilever	105 1/4
Conner Homes	6 1/4
Fieldcrest Mills	38
Flowers Ind	27 1/4
Hatters Inc. Securities	20 1/4
Hilton Hotel Corp	84 1/4
Jefferson Pilot	36 1/4
John Deere	29 1/4
Low's Company	31 1/4
Interstate Securities	12 1/4
Wicks	3 1/4
Piedmont Aviation	68 1/4
Southern National Bank	9 1/4
United Telecommunications	28 1/4
Dominion Resources	45
Piedmont Natural Gas	23 1/4
OVER THE COUNTER
Branch Bank	28 to 38 1/4
Planters National Bank	28 1/4 to 28 3/4
Vermont American	21 1/4 to 21 3/4
Chemlawn	29 1/4 to 30 1/4
Southern National Bank	25 1/4 to 26 1/4
Peoples Bank	14 1/4 to 15 1/4
North Carolina Natural Gas	38 1/4 to 40
Cooper LaserSonic	2 1/16 to 2 1/4
Farm Fresh	16 to 16 1/4

Obituaries

Brown
NEWARK, N.J. — Mrs. Ella Roberson Brown, a former resident of Greenville, died Wednesday in Newark. Arrangements will be announced.

Bullock
FARMVILLE — A funeral for Thomas Bullock of the Greenfield Heights community will be conducted Saturday at 1 p.m. in Reid's Chapel Baptist Church in Fountain by the Rev. Hubert Cobbs. Burial will be in the Bullock Cemetery near Fountain.

Mr. Bullock was a native of Pitt County. He was a member of Reid's Chapel Church, where he served on the deacon board.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Laura Farmer Bullock of the home; eight daughters, Mrs. Louise Wooten, Mrs. Aldine Weaver and Mrs. Luverne Underhill, all of Norwalk, Conn.; Mrs. Jessie B. Fox of Washington, Mrs. Jean Mosley of Silver Spring, Md., Mrs. Eloise Burney of Fountain, Colo., Mrs. Helen Bunch and Mrs. Janet West, both of Raleigh; four sons, Ed Thomas Bullock of Harrisburg, Pa., Ernest Bullock, K.D. Bullock and Willie Bullock, all of Norwalk, Conn.; three sisters, Mrs. Ida Speight and Mrs. Lossie Wooten, both of Washington, and Mrs. Marjorie Atkinson of Fountain; 25 grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Family visitation will be Friday from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m. at Reid's Chapel Church, and at other times the family will be at the home, Route 1, Farmville. Arrangements are being handled by the Hemby Funeral Home of Fountain.

Bynum
MAURY — A funeral for Mr. Oscar Bynum Jr. of 34 Van Buren St., Brooklyn, N.Y., will be conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. in Maury Chapel Free Will Baptist Church by Bishop J.E. Reddick. Burial will be in Whitley's Cemetery.

He was born and reared in the Maury community of Greene County but had made his home in New York for many years.

Surviving are eight sons, Thomas Lee Brown of Baltimore, Willie Jasper Bynum, Ernest Odell Bynum, Charlie Lester Bynum, Arthur Curtis Bynum, Lester Leon Bynum and Isaiah Bynum, all of New Haven, Conn., and Eddie L. Bynum of Snow Hill; five daughters, Ruby B. Rouse, Luberta B. Hill, Beth Bynum and Joan B. Bynum, all of New Haven, Conn., and Dorothy Mae Barfield of Snow Hill; five brothers, Cullen Bynum of Washington, Henry Bynum of Farmville, Raymond Bynum of Bronx, N.Y., Holley Bynum of New York and James Lee Bynum of Baltimore; four sisters, Pydia McMillian of Winston-Salem, Arzilla Lewis of Brooklyn, N.Y., Mamie B. Dixon of Cherry Hill, Pa., and Ella Mae B. Freeman of Maury; 28 grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

The family will receive friends Friday from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Norcott Memorial Chapel in Ayden, and at other times will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Barfield, Route 1, Snow Hill.

Clark
A funeral for Mr. Julius B. Clark, 91, of Greenville will be conducted at 11 a.m. Friday in the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Willis Wilson. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

A native of Pageland, S.C., he lived most of his adult life in Wilson County and most recently in the Town Creek community. He was an automobile mechanic, having retired from Corbett Motor Co. in 1969. Since January, he had made his home in Greenville.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary W. Clark; four daughters, Mrs. Katherine Windham and Ms. Frances Wood, both of Greenville, Mrs. Ruby Wilson and Mrs. Lucille Wilson, both of Wilson; a son, Bill Clark of Elm City; three stepsons, Frank Preston Ansley of Wilson County, Bobby Ansley of Tampa, Fla., and Lawrence Ansley of Florida; a stepdaughter, Ms. Pat Ansley of Virginia; two sisters, Mrs. Stella Scott and Mrs. Altha Randolph, both of Rocky Mount, and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The family will receive friends from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Windham, 103 Laughinghouse Drive.

Edmonds
FOUNTAIN — A funeral for Mrs. Lillie Mae Edmonds will be conducted Saturday at 3 p.m. in Dildy's Chapel Free Will Baptist Church near Fountain by the Rev. Robert Gorham. Burial will be in Crestlawn Memorial Gardens near Farmville.

Mrs. Edmonds was born in Halifax County, but had lived in Pitt County for the past 27 years. She was a member of Dildy's Chapel Church.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Carrie Petteway of the home, Mrs. Bertha Futrell of Washington, and Mrs. Ruby Edwards of Fountain; one son, Earlie Edmonds Jr. of Washington; seven grandchildren; one great-grandchild, and one sister, Mrs. Mamie Saunders of Baltimore.

Family visitation will be Friday from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m. in the Hemby Memorial Funeral Chapel, and at other times the family will be at the home, Route 1, Fountain.

Johnnie Edwards

Edwards
A funeral for Mr. Johnnie F. Edwards, 64, of Greenville will be conducted at 3 p.m. Friday in Faith Pentecostal Holiness Church by the Revs. Haywood Price and T.B. Henry. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park.

A native of Pitt County, he spent his life in Greenville and attended the area schools. A veteran of World War II, he served in the U.S. Marine Corps with the 5th Division.

He was a retired building contractor and served three terms on the Greenville City Council. A charter member of Faith Pentecostal Holiness Church, he served on the church board and as a trustee and Sunday school teacher.

He had served on the Greenville Building Code Council and was a member of the Pitt-Greenville Chamber of Commerce. He had served on the board of directors of the Century Club at East Carolina University and was past president of the J.H. Rose High School Touchdown Club.

Surviving are his wife, Naomi Brown Edwards; two sons, J.F. Edwards Jr. of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Richard L. Edwards of Arlington, Va.; two daughters, Linda E. Sutton of Greenville and Donna Edwards of Dallas; one brother, Leo Edwards of Riverside, Calif.; one sister, Mary Rose Bell of Havelock; two half sisters, Mrs. James E. Ward and Mrs. Paul Williams, both of Greenville, and two grandchildren.

The family will receive friends at Wilkerson Funeral Home from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. today.

Everette
TARBORO — A funeral for Miss Catherine Everette will be conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. in Eastern Star Baptist Church by the Rev. T.R.

Vines. Burial will be in Dancy Memorial Cemetery, Princeville.

Miss Everette was a native of Edgecombe County and attended W.A. Patillo High School. She was a member of Eastern Star Church, where she served on the usher board. She was employed by Carolina Enterprise.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Everette of the home; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Freeman and Mrs. Lossie Williams, both of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Irene Becker of Tarboro, and Mrs. Janet Becker of Winterpark, Fla.; and four brothers, Oscar Everette, Leroy Everette and James Everette, all of Philadelphia, and Harvey Everette of Bethel.

Family visitation will be Friday from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m. in the Hemby-Willoughby Mortuary.

Forbes
A funeral for Mrs. Lucy Tripp Forbes, 78, will be conducted Friday at 3:30 p.m. in Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by the Revs. Ron Braxton and Ron Lappin. Burial will be in the Winterville Cemetery.

She was a native and lifelong resident of Winterville.

Surviving are four daughters, Lucy Bett Forbes Braxton of Vanceboro, Mae Forbes Jones of New Bern, Erleen Forbes Strickland of Roanoke Rapids and Nina Forbes Hamilton Manning of Tarboro; 19 grandchildren, and 16 great-grandchildren.

The family will receive friends at the funeral today from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Hill
ORIENTAL — Mr. Vaughn T. Hill of Route 1, Oriental, died Tuesday.

His funeral will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at Bethel Free Will Baptist Church in Hortonsville by the Revs. Swade Benson, Jerry Allen and Blaney Rowe. Burial will be in the church cemetery with Masonic rights by Mount Vernon Lodge No. 359.

He is survived by his wife, Rudy Mallison Hill; five sons, Bobby Royce Hill and Kenneth Franklin Hill, both of Oriental, Vaughn T. Hill Jr. of Georgetown, Texas, John Paul Hill of Greenville and Ronnie Ray Hill of Charlotte; two daughters, Mrs. Sue H. Frawley of Princeton, W.Va., and Betty Anne Hill of Raleigh; one brother, Edward Franklin Hill Jr. of New Bern; two sisters, Mrs. Chris Lupton of Hortonsville and Mrs. James Lupton of Bayboro, and 14 grandchildren.

The family will receive friends today from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at Norice Funeral Home in Alliance, and at other times will be at the family home.

Card Of Thanks

The Blount and Dixon Families Would Like To Thank All Who Gave Cards, Flowers, Food, And For Every Other Act Of Kindness Shown During The Death And Funeral Of Our Loved One, Daniel Lee Blount. May God Richly Bless Each Of You.

Card of Thanks

Thank God for my many friends and relatives for their prayers, love, cards, food, flowers, help and kindnesses shown during the death of my son, William H. "Rabbit" Progan. Also, special thanks to Joyners Mortuary and staff.

May God bless you all.

Love, Mrs. Lena Progan and family

Quake NATO Consulted

(Continued from A-1)
one in a movie house that was being demolished.

The tremor damaged a small bridge in Calama and caused several minor landslides in the Chiquicamata mine, police said. However, mining operations were not affected, they said.

The quake cut off electricity in most places in the affected area. Power was being restored gradually.

In Washington, U.S. Geological Survey spokeswoman Gail Wendt said USGS instruments in Colorado measured a preliminary magnitude

Rose Girls Top Sanford, 44-42

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Terry Sanford's girls, second seeded from the strong Mid-South Conference, dominated the backboards in the first period and held the lead over Rose High School's Rampettes, the Big East champs.

But then, Kim Dupree took over. Dupree dominated rebounding after that, pulling away 17 in the game while scoring a team high 16 points to lead Rose to a shaky 44-42 win over the Lady Bulldogs for a berth in the Sectional finals. Rose will play host to Goldsboro, the Mideastern champ, a 60-52 double-overtime winner over Pine Forest. Goldsboro comes in with a 24-2 record.

"I was really worried about their height," Rose coach Bill Kuykendall said of Terry Sanford, which was taller than the Rampettes at every starting position.

But Dupree's play under the boards rallied Rose from a 9-3 deficit in rebounding to hold a 28-27 margin at the end.

After trailing by as many as five points early in the second period, Rose rallied behind eight points by Dupree to take a five-point lead of its own, scoring 10 unanswered points.

Then, after leading by as much as nine, Rose had to scramble to hold the lead against a strong press by the Bulldogs in the final quarter.

Kim Bridges made a key three-point play with 32 seconds left to give Rose a 44-40 lead, clinching the win.

But the scare wasn't over then. Tammy Brown tossed back a missed shot with 19 seconds to go to close the gap to two again, 44-42. Rose's Sherri Williams, who had just replaced the fouled-out Lisa Leisten, missed a free throw with 13 seconds to play.

Sanford went down and shot again, missed and Andrea Rodgers picked off the rebound and was fouled with two seconds left. She missed her shot, but time ran out before Sanford could get any kind of a shot.

"We played hard, especially on defense," Kuykendall said. "(Sanford) has an outstanding team and we didn't give up a lot of points to them. (Brown) got 28 points the other night and I feel very fortunate to have held her to just 20. I thought Andrea and (Dupree) did a great job on her on defense."

Kuykendall said the Rampettes adjusted well to what Sanford did throughout the game. "Kim Bridges made one adjustment on her own to help. She started coming out on (Tressa) Reese when she took the ball into the corner. Reese was very tired by the time the game ended.

"Dupree played an outstanding game, both offensively and defensively. Leisten played well until she got into foul trouble and hurt her thumb (in a tumble after a loose ball). She and Nicole (Maxon) gave their guards fits the whole night."

For a while, it looked like the height of the Lady Bulldogs might turn the tale for the game. Reese and Brown scored early to give Sanford a 4-0 lead as Rose suffered three straight turnovers in its first possessions.

But the Rampettes finally got going and closed back to trail only 9-8 at the end of the first period.

Brown made two free throws and Andrea West scored off a rebound to give Sanford a 13-8 lead early in the second quarter.

Then, Dupree took over. She hit the next two baskets with Leisten hitting a pair at the line. Dupree then hit from the baseline and added two more free throws with 3:10 left to give Rose an 18-13 lead — ending a 10-point run by the Rampettes.

Rose held a 20-15 edge at intermission.

Dupree upped the lead to 22-15 early in the third period, and Leisten made two in a row to run the margin to 26-17 with 3:18 remaining. But Sanford rallied to close back within five at the end of the quarter, 30-25.

In the final quarter, Sanford went to a full-court press and double-teamed the ball. That gave the Rampettes trouble some of the time, and the Bulldogs were able to chop away at the lead. Rose led 38-32 on a fast break basket by Leisten with 4:46 left, but Sanford got the next four to close within 38-36 with 3:38 to play.

After an exchange of baskets, Bridges hit the first of a one-and-one with 1:09 left, but Reese made two at the stripe to cut the lead to 41-40.

Bridges then followed with her three-point play, providing Rose with the lead it needed the rest of the way.

Leisten added 14 points for Rose while Sanford was paced by Brown with 20 and Reese with 12.

The victory boosted the Rampette record to 23-2. Rose has now won 19 games in a row.

TERRY SANFORD (42)
Girouaro 1 0-0, Brown 7 6-20, Bullard 1 2-2, Kelley 1 0-0, West 1 0-2, Lancaster 0 0-0, Reese 5 2-4, Herrera 0 0-0. Totals 16 10-16 42.
ROSE (44)
Leisten 6 2-2, Maxon 3 0-0, Dupree 7 2-7, Smith 0 0-0, Bridges 2 2-3, Williams 0 0-1, Barr 0 0-0, Rodgers 1 0-1. Totals 19 6-14 44.
Terry Sanford..... 9 6 10 17-42
Rose..... 8 12 10 14-44

Up From A Crowd
Rose High School's Kim Dupree (14) goes up for a shot in a crowd of Terry Sanford defenders, including Tammy Brown (13) and Andrea West (20) during action in their 4-A state playoff game Wednesday. Dupree led Rose to a 44-42 win with 16 points and 17 rebounds. (Reflector Photo by Tommy Forrest)

Clinton Halts Charger Hopes

CLINTON — Donyel Parker tossed in 29 points to lead Clinton to a 56-36 victory over Ayden-Grifton in the girls 2-A basketball tournament's second round Wednesday night. The Lady Chargers, who finished second in the Eastern Plains Conference, found themselves down quickly to the Lady Dark Horses, who pounded out to a 19-8 lead in the first period. Clinton continued to hold sway in the second quarter, outshooting Ayden-Grifton, 11-9, to build up a 30-17 halftime margin. In the third quarter, Clinton again outshot the Chargers, 14-10, taking a 44-27 edge. The Dark Horses finished it off, 12-9, in the last period. Karen Edmonds led the Ayden-Grifton scoring with 18 points. "They have a real good team," Ayden-Grifton coach Kathy Frazier said. "They're the best girls' basketball team that we've seen or played this year. Their record was something like 20-1 coming into the game. They have excellent outside shooting and our press wasn't effective against them at all. They were real quick and a good ball-handling team." Ayden-Grifton closes out the season with an 18-9 record.

AYDEN-GRIFTON (36)
Edmonds 7 4-8, Murphy 1 0-0, Barfield 4 1-2, Stokes 2 0-0, Brown 1 1-3, Williams 0 0-0, Mercer 0 0-0. Totals 15 6-16 36.
CLINTON (56)
Parker 13 3-4, 29, King 2 1-2, Boone 4 0-0, Harris 1 1-2, Best 2 0-0, Sampson 3 1-2, Honeycutt 0 0-0. Totals 25 6-10 56.
Ayden-Grifton..... 8 9 10 9-36
Clinton..... 19 11 14 12-56

North Pitt Slaps Kenan

By TOM MORRIS
Reflector Sports Writer
BETHEL — North Pitt coach Randy Avery said his team has won nine games in a row because they have played smart, and although he said they didn't play smart against James Kenan Wednesday night, the Pant-Hers still came away with a 50-38 win in the second round of the state playoffs.

"You keep looking down the road for that bad game and I don't know if this was our bad game," Avery said. "But we've been winning because we've played smart, but we didn't play smart tonight but we still won."

The Pant-Hers overcame a slow start in the first quarter to go ahead 20-12 by halftime.

James Kenan had pulled within 14-10 with 3:16 remaining in the opening half but Gwen Pilgreen hit on one free throw and Climmie Harris hit two more to make it 17-10. Amy Heath then hit from the outside and North Pitt led 19-10.

Shannon Ferrier hit for James Kenan but Keisha Pilgreen hit a free throw to make it 20-12 heading into intermission.

The Pant-Hers quickly stretched their lead in the third quarter when they came out and outscored the Lady Tigers 8-2 over the first four minutes of the quarter.

After Montrina Bailey hit on a follow shot to draw James Kenan within 20-14 as the quarter opened, Heath countered for North Pitt with a free throw and a jumper to make it 23-14.

James Kenan then turned the ball over and Keisha Pilgreen hit a on a drive and was fouled. She hit the resulting free throw to make it 26-14. Then Gwen Pilgreen scored inside after another Lady Tiger turnover that made it 28-14.

Olivia Henry broke the ice for James Kenan with a jumper at the 4:06 mark to make it 28-16, but Harris answered with a follow shot to make it 30-16.

James Kenan drew to within 30-18 when Anita Southerland scored on a layup after a North Pitt turnover but Gwen Pilgreen hit a basket and a free throw to make it 33-18. Harris added two free throws with 1:56 remaining in the period and the Pant-Hers led 35-18, their biggest lead of the game to that point.

James Kenan outscored North Pitt 5-3 over the final two minutes to trail 38-23 but the Pant-Hers had taken control of the game.

"I thought we had a pretty good third quarter," Avery said. "But in the fourth quarter we didn't play real smart. Matter of fact, I thought they dictated the tempo in the fourth quarter. I didn't want that."

The Lady Tigers stepped up on their full court pressure in the fourth quarter and forced nine North Pitt turnovers. But they could not take advantage though as they failed to score on their first few possessions.

Meanwhile North Pitt, already in the bonus, hit five of its first six free throw attempts to build the lead to 43-27. Overall, the Pant-Hers would hit 10-16 from the line in the final period.

James Kenan, despite the Pant-Hers' mistakes, was unable to narrow the margin considerably. The closest the Lady Tigers would come was 47-35 with 1:30 remaining following a jumper by Henry.

"I called two timeouts in the fourth quarter and the thing that was stated both times was that the ball game was not over," Avery said. "I'll tell you a key was the foul shooting."

For the game, the Pant-Hers hit 22-33 from the line with Harris canning 10-11 from the stripe.

Keisha Pilgreen led the Pant-Hers, 19-9, with 17 points with Gwen Pilgreen adding 12 more.

Henry led the Lady Tigers, 17-7, with 17 points.

North Pitt now travels to Clinton for the third round of the playoffs on Saturday.

JAMES KENAN (38)
Southerland 2 2-2, Faison 3 1-2, Johnson 0 0-0, Bailey 1 0-0, Henry 7 3-4, Collins 0 2-6, Byrd 0 0-0, Farrier 0 0-0, Pearsall 0 0-0. Totals 15 8-14 38.
NORTH PITT (50)
Harris 1 10-11, Heath 3 2-4, G. Pilgreen 4 4-6, K. Pilgreen 6 5-7, Beacham 0 1-1, Harrington 0 0-0, Powell 0 0-0, Leggett 0 0-0, Fraley 0 0-0, Everette 0 0-0. Totals 14 22-33 50.
James Kenan..... 3 8 11 15-38
North Pitt..... 8 12 18 12-50

Lang's Injury Proves Fatal For Lady Jaguars

FARMVILLE — With top player Liesa Lang slowed by an ankle injury, East Duplin slipped past Farmville Central, 56-54, in the second round of the state 2-A basketball playoffs Wednesday night. Lang, who sprained an ankle in Monday's win over Williamston, came off the bench in the third period to score 14 points, but she was not fully effective and could not overcome the East Duplin effort.

The Lady Panthers inched into a 14-13 lead at the end of the first period, then outscored the Lady Jaguars, 12-10, in the second frame.

That left East Duplin in a 26-23 lead at intermission.

With Lang in the game, Farmville made a comeback in the third quarter, 17-14, and knotted the game at 40-40 going into the final period. But in that, East Duplin moved out again and Farmville was unable to catch up at the end, scoring its final

(See LANG'S, B-2)

Whitehurst Leads Panther Win, 7-4

BETHEL — Chuck Whitehurst knocked a two-run homer in the fourth inning that broke a 4-4 tie as North Pitt took a 7-4 high school baseball win over Roanoke in the season opener for both teams Wednesday.

North Pitt jumped out in front early, taking a 3-0 lead in the first inning but Roanoke came back to go ahead 4-3 with four runs in the second inning.

Johnnie Sherrod had reached on a single for the Panthers in the fourth when Whitehurst nailed his homer. The Panthers went on to push across one more run in that inning and one more in the fifth to finish the scoring.

Randy House went the distance to pick up the win. He had seven strikeouts and one walk while giving up seven hits.

Lee Eakes went 3-4 to lead the Panthers while Jarvis Massenburg went 2-3 and Sherrod went 2-4.

Mike James took the loss for the Redskins. Ramone Mason led Roanoke with two hits in four at bats. Starky Whitfield also had a solo home run in the second inning.

North Pitt returns to action Friday at Chocowinity.

Roanoke..... 040 000-4
North Pitt..... 300 310-7
James, Briley (5) and Nicholson; House and Hines.

Pirate Golf Team Second At Campbell

BUIES CREEK — East Carolina's golf team closed out the Campbell Invitational by moving into second place in the 17-team field Wednesday.

The Pirates were topped only by Old Dominion, which finished the 54-hole tournament with an 887 total. The Pirates were second with 898, followed by Guilford with 901.

Rick Pruchnick of Old Dominion took first place in the individual standings with a 213.

East Carolina's best finish was a tie for fifth — that between two Pirates, Brian Conner and John Maginnis both finished with 223 totals. Mike Bradley added a 226 while Chris Wenkle had a 228.

Other team scores included Richmond 904, Coastal Carolina 906, Campbell 908, Appalachian State 914, Elon 917, Methodist 940, East Tennessee State 941, UNC-Wilmington 949, Gardner-Webb 952, Atlantic Christian 954, Liberty 976, Radford 997, Davidson, 1,011, and UNC-Asheville, 1,037.

The Pirates return to action on Monday in the Cape Coral (Fla.) Intercollegiate.

Tight Defense
North Pitt's Amy Heath (in white) finds herself in close guard by James Kenan's Anita Southerland (31) during action Wednesday night in their state 2-A playoff game at North Pitt. The Pant-Hers claimed a 50-38 win to move into the sectional finals Saturday. (Reflector Photo by Cliff Hollis)

Sports Calendar

Editor's Note: Schedules are supplied by schools or sponsoring agencies and are subject to change without notice.

Today's Sports
Basketball
Sectional Tournaments
State Christian Tournament at Winston-Salem
Rec Leagues
AA Division
Honeycutt's vs. Overton's (ES — 7 p.m.)
Fleischer vs. Wachovia (ES — 8 p.m.)
AAA Division
Ameringer vs. Recreation & Parks (WG — 7 p.m.)
A Division
Collins & Alkman #2 vs. Hoosters (WG — 8 p.m.)
Ferdus vs. BarTenders (ES — 9 p.m.)
Coke & Elka vs. PCB (WG — 9 p.m.)
Collins & Alkman #1 vs. City Heat (ES — 10 p.m.)
Baseball
Atlantic Christian at East Carolina — 2 (1 p.m.)
Caulley at Plymouth JV (4 p.m.)

Jamesville at Roanoke (4 p.m.)
Tennis
East Carteret at Farmville Central (3:15 p.m.)
Softball
Rose at Greene Central (2 p.m.)
Jamesville at Roanoke (4 p.m.)
Friday's Sports
Basketball
MACAA Tournament at Faith Christian
Christian State Tournament at Winston-Salem
Rec Leagues
AAA Division
Collins & Alkman #1 vs. Grady White (ES — 7 p.m.)
AAA Division
Barnone vs. Family Practice (ES — 8 p.m.)
Baseball
Ayden-Grifton at Kinston JV (4 p.m.)
Kinston at Ayden-Grifton (4 p.m.)
Havelock at Rose (4 p.m.)
Greene Central at Goldsboro JV (3:30 p.m.)
North Pitt at Chocowinity (3:30 p.m.)
Goldsboro at Greene Central (4 p.m.)
Softball
Havelock at Rose (4 p.m.)

Tar Heels Hungry For ACC Title

By DAVID DROSCHAK
Associated Press Writer

Maryland has not won an Atlantic Coast Conference game this season and North Carolina hasn't lost one, but Tar Heel coach Dean Smith remembers that the Terrapins knocked his team out of the ACC Tournament last year and he doesn't want it to happen again.

"They have proven themselves capable in some of their conference games at home and their game at Duke," Smith said of Maryland. "With a break or two, they could have won four or five ACC games in February."

Smith said he changed his team's goal in 1975 when the NCAA expanded its basketball tournament to include more than one team from a conference. Prior to the rule change, only the winner of the ACC Tournament went to the national tournament.

But with the expanded field, Smith says the league tournament became secondary to getting into NCAA play.

"Of course we still want to win it," Smith said. "We haven't won it in a while so that should be motivation for us this year. Our seniors have not won the ACC Tournament so I'm sure they'll be ready and have our team ready."

Top-seeded and second-ranked North Carolina, 27-2 overall and 14-0 in the ACC, will start its quest for the league's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament at noon Friday against eighth-seeded Maryland, 9-16 and 0-14.

The rest of the matchups at the Capital Centre in Landover, Md., include fourth-seeded Virginia against fifth-seeded Georgia Tech at 2 p.m., while second-seeded Clemson battles seventh-seeded Wake Forest at 7 p.m., and third-seeded and defending champion Duke tangles with sixth-seeded N.C. State at 9 p.m.

Thirteenth-ranked Clemson heads into the tournament with a school-record 25 victories and ACC player of the year Horace Grant.

"We have a lot to be proud of," Clemson coach Cliff Ellis said. "It really is a good feeling to go into the tournament with the second seed, but we can't rest on that. Anything can happen. But we are pleased to be where we are, and we can't start doing things differently now."

The Tigers may have no choice but to change because point guard Grayson Marshall will likely miss the tournament. Marshall severely sprained his left ankle in last Saturday's loss at Duke and may not be back in action for at least two weeks.

"We're planning to go without him," Ellis said Tuesday at a news conference. "We're going to follow the advice of the doctors, and they say he probably won't be ready."

Clemson is 25-4 and 10-4 in the league.

Defending champion and 14th-ranked Duke once again comes into the tournament with 20 or more victories and ACC coach of the year Mike Krzyzewski.

Duke's Danny Ferry said North Carolina and Clemson appear to be the league's two best teams going into the tournament. The Tar Heels defeated Duke, 22-7 and 9-5, twice this season, while Duke defeated Clemson twice.

"We haven't played with them (North Carolina) yet," Ferry said. "We haven't put a whole game together against them."

"Clemson is one of the better teams in the league and the nation and it was very important for us to have beaten them," Ferry added after last Saturday's 65-59 victory over the Tigers. "I think it would have been tough to go into the tournament with three straight losses. They are a tough team. They will be one of the teams we'll have to beat to win the ACC Tournament."

N.C. State coach Jim Valvano said he feels playing Duke in the opening round will be a "super challenge" for his squad.

"Duke is coming into the tournament on a very positive note after beating an excellent Clemson team," Valvano said. "They have proven, of course, that they can score on anybody, but the main thing you have to contend with is their defense. It's always tough."

The Wolfpack, 17-14 and 6-8, comes into the tournament with a three-game winning streak despite dropping out of the Top 20 and floundering over the past two months.

The Virginia-Georgia Tech battle may be the best matchup of the opening round.

The Cavaliers are 20-8 and 8-6, while Georgia Tech stumbled in mid-season to finish with a 16-11 and 7-7 record.

"Virginia's playing great now," said Yellow Jacket coach Bobby Cremins. "They are exciting to watch. They've definitely got the NCAA bid. I can't say enough about the job Terry Holland is doing. He's done a great job this year."

Wake Forest, 13-14 and 2-12, made history this year by becoming the first team in the league to lose four overtime games in a season. And one of the Demon Deacons' overtime losses was to first-round opponent Clemson.

Five Favorites In Big East

NEW YORK (AP) — The least of the Big East will stage the prelude to a wide-open conference tournament in which five teams are given legitimate shots at winning the title.

Connecticut and Boston College play tonight at Madison Square Garden, with the winner earning the dubious honor of playing top-seeded Georgetown on Friday. The Huskies and Eagles both were 3-13 in Big East play.

The other matchups Friday have defending champion St. John's playing Providence, Pittsburgh vs. Seton Hall and Syracuse against Villanova. The semifinals are Saturday and the final, with the winner getting the automatic bid to the NCAA tournament, scheduled for Sunday.

The championship game will be televised by CBS.

Georgetown, Pitt and Syracuse all finished with 12-4 conference records. The Hoyas, 23-4 overall and ranked seventh in the nation, were awarded the No. 1 seed by virtue of their record against the 10th-ranked Orangemen and No. 11 Panthers.

St. John's, 20-7, and Providence, which surprisingly had the same record this year and beat the Redmen twice this season, also are likely to go to the NCAA tournament and are rated highly in this event.

Even though they have just one senior, star forward Reggie Williams, the Hoyas have overcome their youth and carry an eight-game winning streak into the Garden.

"It's late in the season and everyone on this team is taking a step up," Williams said. "It's March and we're confident."

Coach John Thompson says he has ridden this team without mercy all year, but that it has paid off.

"I've been on their backs all year," he said, "and half of them think I hate them. But it's really nothing personal. I really like this team."

Pitt Coach Paul Evans feels the same way, even if his Panthers blew a chance for the outright regular season crown when they lost to St. John's in the season finale. Evans also has been a taskmaster this season.

"I just want to get the best out of them," said Evans, who got precisely that from forwards Jerome Lane, the nation's top rebounder at 13.8 a game, and Charles Smith. "I told them they couldn't just get by with their athletic ability. Everybody in the Big East has great athletes, but not everyone wins."

Syracuse's fate might be determined by the play of center Rony Seikaly, who must stay out of foul trouble, and the leadership of guard Sherman Douglas. The Orange face a Villanova team which is looking to atone for a mediocre 15-14 record and a poor 6-10 mark in the conference. The Wildcats, two years removed from the NCAA title, don't have the dominant player such as Harold Pressley or Ed Pinckney.

St. John's and Providence have the deadeye 3-point marksmen who could turn any game around. The Redmen's Mark Jackson and the Friars' Ernie Lewis are as comfortable from downtown as St. John's Willie Glass and Providence's Steve Wright are under the basket.

Lady Bucs Win Second

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — East Carolina's women's tennis team rolled up a 9-0 victory over Christopher Newport Wednesday afternoon for their second win of the year.

The Lady Pirates had little trouble with their hosts, only twice losing as many as four games in a single set.

The Lady Pirates are now 2-0 on the year and will face Colonial Athletic Association foe James Madison in a match at Hilton Head, S.C., on Sunday.

Summary:

- Amy Ziemer (EC) d. Heather Allen, 6-1, 6-3.
- Maria Swaim (EC) d. Kim Anguine, 6-4, 6-2.
- Ty Myers (EC) d. Patricia Weismantle, 6-3, 6-1.
- Susan Montjoy (EC) d. Stephanie Turley, 6-0, 6-0.
- Holly Murray (EC) d. Karen Schmanska, 6-2, 6-0.
- Jeannie Jones (EC) d. Yvette Renaud, 6-0, 6-1.
- Swaim-Jones (EC) d. Allen-Anguine, 6-4, 6-0.
- Montjoy-Myers (EC) d. Weismantle-Turley, 6-0, 6-0.
- Ziemer-Murray (EC) d. Schmanska-Renaud, 6-2, 6-1.

Roanoke Girls Take 61-55 Win

ROBERSONVILLE — Roanoke High School, the regular season co-champ and tournament champ of the Northeastern Conference, won its way into the sectional finals Wednesday night with a 61-55 win over Wallace-Rose Hill.

The Lady Redskins, 16-9, will now play host to East Duplin for the sectional title at 7 p.m. Saturday night on their own home court. The winner of the game will advance to next week's Regional Tournament at Fayetteville.

Wallace-Rose Hill, the East Central Conference's number two seed, eased out into a 14-13 lead after one period, but Roanoke came on strong in the second quarter. The Redskins outscored the Lady Bulldogs, 20-12, and moved out into a 33-26 halftime lead.

The Bulldogs rallied in the third period, however, with a 17-8 margin, regaining the lead at 43-41. But in the final quarter, Roanoke sped away, 20-12, to claim the victory.

Joyce Outlaw led the way with 31 points for Roanoke while Vickie Teele added 10. Kim Carney led Wallace-Rose Hill with 12 points.

WALLACE-ROSE HILL (55)
Carney 6 0-12, Newkirk 2 0-0 4, Strickland 4 1-2 9, Wright 3 3-6 9, McGee 4 1-3 9, McKenzie 4 0-0 8, Carter 0 1-2 1, Henry 11-23, Pratt 0-0-0. Totals 24 7-16-55.

ROANOKE (61)
Outlaw 13 5-9 31, Teele 5 0-0 10, G. Wallace 3 0-1 6, Hoggard 1 2-2 4, Carlisle 0 2-2 2, Harris 3 2-2 8, Raynard 0 0-0 0, Roberson 0 0-0 0. Totals 25 11-16 61.

Wallace-RH.....14 12 17 12-55
Roanoke.....13 20 8 20-61

Time Out Costs Tribe

CHOCOWINITY — An excess time out cost Chocowinity a chance to tie the ball game as Currituck came away with a 51-50 victory over the Lady Tribe in the second round of the state 1-A basketball tournament Wednesday night.

Chocowinity trailed by only two, 50-48, when it got the ball with seven seconds remaining. But the team called time at that point — their fifth — one more than the allowed four.

Currituck made one of the two technical free throws that followed, giving the Lady Knights a 51-48 lead. Chocowinity then hit at the buzzer to pull back within one.

Currituck led 16-13 after the first quarter, but Chocowinity rallied, 10-7, and tied it up at intermission, 23-23. Currituck again pulled away, 13-8, in the third period, gaining a 36-31 edge as the final period got underway.

Jessie Snyder led Currituck with 33 points while Drusilla Crawford had 15, Paula Peele had 12 and Chrylene Myers had 11 for Chocowinity.

The Lady Tribe ends the year with a 19-5 record.

EAST DUPLIN (56)
Murphy 13-4-5, Burch 4 1-1-9, Newborn 11 5-11 27, Brown 1 0-2 2, Stroud 3 0-0 6, Maredy 0 2-3 2, Bostic 1 0-0 2, Smith 1 1-3 3. Totals 22 12-24 56.

FARMVILLE CENTRAL (54)
Lang 4 6-12 14, Stancil 2 0-0 4, Harrison 3 1-2 7, Best 7 3-4 17, Reid 2 4-6 8, W. Bullock 1 0-1 2, Barrett 1 0-0 2, Brown 0 0-0 0. Totals 20 14-32 54.

East Duplin.....14 12 14 16-56
Farmville C.....13 10 17 14-54

Rose Girls Place Two

CHAPEL HILL — Rose High School placed in two events in the state high school swimming meet held Wednesday in Chapel Hill.

The 200-yard medley relay team of Arleen Song, Hope Barwick, Kathryn Barnhill and Julie Song placed 13th with a time of 2:05.76.

Julie Song also competed and placed in the 100-yard individual freestyle. Her place and time were not made available.

This was the first time since 1983 that any girls from Rose qualified for the state meet.

Lang's...

(Continued From B-1)

basket with only seconds left in the contest.

Valeria Newborn led East Duplin with 27 points while Vickie Best added 17 for the Lady Jags.

Farmville, which won the regular season Eastern Plains Conference championship, ends the season with a 20-7 record.

Bo Peele (B) d. Eric Shine, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.
Al Hedgepeth (FC) d. Brian White, 6-3, 6-3.
Joe Peele (B) d. Jay Morris, 6-2, 6-4.
Haze Lancaster (B) d. Chris Wade, 6-3, 6-2.
Eric Bellamy (B) d. Mack Mills, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.
Danny Morris (FC) d. Pam Jenkins, 6-3, 6-2.
Shine-Hedgepeth (FC) d. B. Peele-White, 8-6.
J. Peele-Lancaster (B) d. Morris-Wade, 8-6.
Wes Craft-Mills (FC) d. Bellamy-Jenkins, 8-4.
Exhibition: Darrell Case (FC) d. Robert Price, 6-1, 7-5.

Bertie In Tennis Win

WINDSOR — Bertie High School won four of the six singles matches and added one of the doubles to gain a 5-4 victory over Farmville Central in the opening tennis match of the year for both teams.

Farmville twice carried Bertie players to split sets before losing in the key matches of the afternoon.

Farmville returns to action today, hosting East Carteret.

Summary:

- Bo Peele (B) d. Eric Shine, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.
- Al Hedgepeth (FC) d. Brian White, 6-3, 6-3.
- Joe Peele (B) d. Jay Morris, 6-2, 6-4.
- Haze Lancaster (B) d. Chris Wade, 6-3, 6-2.
- Eric Bellamy (B) d. Mack Mills, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.
- Danny Morris (FC) d. Pam Jenkins, 6-3, 6-2.
- Shine-Hedgepeth (FC) d. B. Peele-White, 8-6.
- J. Peele-Lancaster (B) d. Morris-Wade, 8-6.
- Wes Craft-Mills (FC) d. Bellamy-Jenkins, 8-4.
- Exhibition: Darrell Case (FC) d. Robert Price, 6-1, 7-5.

SPRING splashes

Swimwear for 1987 is hotter than ever. Once again, Brody's for men is leading the way in new fashions. Solid color block suits, faded prints and graphic designs are top choices. However, if you like the tropic and floral prints, you'll find those as well at Brody's for men.

brody's
for men

Carolina East Mall • The Plaza

MERCURY MARINE

OPEN HOUSE

And 15th Anniversary.

March 6 Friday 8-6	March 7 Saturday 8-6	March 8 Sunday 1-6
--	--	--

• Door Prizes • Refreshments

Greenville Marine and Sport Center, Greenville, is celebrating 15 years in the marine supply business.

We are proud to have been of service to the Greenville area for so long, and pledge to continue to bring you the best in boats, motors, trailers and boating accessories!

Come See What's New For 1987!

Factory Representatives On Hand To Answer Your Questions.

GREENVILLE MARINE AND SPORT CENTER
Greenville Blvd., NE,
(Highway 264 ByPass, N.E.)
Joe Vernelson, Owner
758-5938

SCOREBOARD

Bowling

Thursday Night Mixed

W	L
Conger Plumbing	56 1/2	35 1/2
Golden Dragon	55 1/2	36 1/2
Tuff Stuff	54 1/2	37 1/2
Thriller	54 1/2	37 1/2
Odd Ones	53 1/2	38 1/2
T.C.B.	51	41
Hill's Monograms	47 1/2	44 1/2
A-D's	45	47
Lucky Strikes	44	48
T.C.B.	44	48
Bench Warmers	41	51
The Skins	40	52
Sidewalks	39	53
Optimists	38	54
Fantastic Four	36	56
Fudd Cops	35	57

Rec Basketball

AAA Division

Pitt Memorial	30	39-69
Stingray	23	28-51

Leading scorers: PM — Kenneth Slaton 18, Roderick Best 10; S — Terry Shelton 31, Dan Keene 14.

NBA Standings

By The Associated Press All Times EST

EASTERN CONFERENCE

W	L	Pct.	GB
Boston	44	15	746	—
Washington	32	27	542	11 1/2
Philadelphia	18	41	305	26
New York	15	43	259	28 1/2

Central Division

Detroit	37	20	649	—
Atlanta	37	21	638	1 1/2
Milwaukee	37	22	617	3 1/2
Chicago	31	26	544	6
Indiana	28	31	475	10
Cleveland	23	36	390	15

WESTERN CONFERENCE

Dallas	39	20	661	—
Houston	32	26	552	6 1/2

Wales Conference

Patrick Division

W	L	T	Pts	GF	GA
Philadelphia	28	20	5	81	254	188
Washington	29	20	6	66	226	224
NY Islanders	28	27	10	66	225	220
NY Rangers	28	29	8	64	257	255
Pittsburgh	24	30	11	59	242	232
New Jersey	23	33	6	54	219	282

Adams Division

Hartford	34	24	7	75	225	217
Montreal	31	26	9	71	221	205
Boston	31	26	6	68	243	210
Quebec	24	33	8	56	206	219
Buffalo	23	35	6	52	219	243

CAMPBELL CONFERENCE

Norris Division

Detroit	28	27	9	67	214	226
Minnesota	28	28	8	64	246	236
Chicago	26	29	10	62	237	250
St. Louis	24	28	12	60	217	238
Toronto	24	34	6	54	222	251

Smythe Division

x-Edmonton	39	20	5	83	295	226
Calgary	37	27	2	76	254	238
Winnipeg	35	25	6	76	236	227
Los Angeles	25	31	8	58	257	262
Vancouver	20	39	8	48	222	270

Winnipeg's Games

NY Rangers 7, NY Islanders 5
Chicago 3, Winnipeg 2
Edmonton 8, Vancouver 5

Thursday's Games

Boston at Hartford, 7:35 p.m.
New Jersey at Buffalo, 7:35 p.m.
Washington at Philadelphia, 7:35 p.m.
Pittsburgh at Toronto, 7:35 p.m.
Minnesota at Detroit, 7:35 p.m.
Winnipeg at St. Louis, 8:35 p.m.
Los Angeles at Calgary, 9:35 p.m.

Friday's Games

Los Angeles at Edmonton, 9:35 p.m.
Montreal at Vancouver, 10:35 p.m.

Utah 32 26 552 6 1/2
Denver 24 36 400 15 1/2
San Antonio 27 36 274
Sacramento 19 39 328 19 1/2

Pacific Division

L.A. Lakers	46	14	767	—
Portland	37	23	617	9
Seattle	30	30	500	16
Golden State	28	32	467	18
Phoenix	22	36	379	23
L.A. Clippers	19	46	179	34

Wednesday's Games

Boston 121, Utah 105
New York 102, Philadelphia 99
Washington 117, New Jersey 114
Chicago 125, Detroit 120, OT
Milwaukee 110, L.A. Clippers 100
Dallas 115, Denver 107
L.A. Lakers 138, Seattle 124
Houston 108, Sacramento 102, OT

Thursday's Games

San Antonio at Denver, 9:30 p.m.
Cleveland at Phoenix, 9:30 p.m.
Houston at Golden State, 10:30 p.m.
Portland at Seattle, 10:30 p.m.

Friday's Games

L.A. Clippers at Boston, 7:30 p.m.
Atlanta at New Jersey, 7:30 p.m.
Washington at Philadelphia, 7:30 p.m.
Dallas at Detroit, 7:30 p.m.
Utah at Milwaukee, 8 p.m.
New York at Chicago, 8:30 p.m.
Sacramento at San Antonio, 8:30 p.m.

Exhibition Baseball

By The Associated Press All Times EST

AMERICAN LEAGUE

W	L	Pct.
Baltimore	0	0	0.000
Boston	0	0	0.000
California	0	0	0.000
Chicago	0	0	0.000
Cleveland	0	0	0.000
Detroit	0	0	0.000
Kansas City	0	0	0.000
Milwaukee	0	0	0.000
Minnesota	0	0	0.000
New York	0	0	0.000
Oakland	0	0	0.000
Seattle	0	0	0.000
Texas	0	0	0.000
Toronto	0	0	0.000

NATIONAL LEAGUE

W	L	Pct.
Atlanta	0	0	0.000
Chicago	0	0	0.000
Cincinnati	0	0	0.000
Houston	0	0	0.000
Los Angeles	0	0	0.000
Montreal	0	0	0.000
New York	0	0	0.000
Philadelphia	0	0	0.000
Pittsburgh	0	0	0.000
St. Louis	0	0	0.000
San Diego	0	0	0.000
San Francisco	0	0	0.000

TANK McNAMARA

by Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds

Ariz., 3 p.m.
San Francisco vs. Cleveland at Tucson, Ariz., 3 p.m.
California vs. San Diego at Yuma, Ariz., 3 p.m.
Oakland vs. Seattle at Tempe, Ariz., 3 p.m.

District 10 Championship
Washburn 63, Ft. Hays St. 61
District 11
Kearny St. 82, Wayne St., Neb. 73
District 14 Championship
Wis.-Eau Claire 52, Wis.-Stevens Pt. 46
District 15 Championship
NW Iowa 106, St. Ambrose 78
District 18 Championship
Waynesburg 71, Westminster, Pa. 63
District 21 Championship
Taylor 79, Grace 69
District 22 Championship
Northwood 89, Saginaw Val. St. 81
District 25 Championship
Southern Tech 57, Georgia SW 54
District 31 Championship
St. Thomas Aquinas 77, Bloomfield 69

Transactions

By The Associated Press

BASEBALL

AMERICAN LEAGUE

CALIFORNIA ANGELS—Signed DeWayne Bruce, pitcher, and Mark Rval and Darrell Miller, outfielders.

to one-year contracts.

OAKLAND A'S—Signed Mickey Tettleton, catcher, Bill Mooneyham, pitcher, Mike Gallego, infielder, and Felix Jose and Luis Polonia, outfielders, to one-year contracts.

TORONTO BLUE JAYS—Signed Tom Henke, pitcher, to a one-year contract.

National Hockey League

DETROIT RED WINGS—Recalled Mark Laforest, goaltender, from Adirondack of the American Hockey League.

NEW JERSEY DEVILS—Recalled Murray Brumwell, defenseman, from Maine of the American Hockey League.

WASHINGTON CAPITALS—Recalled Steve Leach, right wing, from the Binghamton Whalers of the American Hockey League.

LOS ANGELES COLISEUM COMMISSION—Named Joel N. Ralph new general manager.

COLLEGE

COLUMBIA—Announced the resignation of Wayne Szoke, basketball coach.

GALLAUDET—Announced the resignation of Mike Rosenbaum, basketball coach.

MARQUETTE—Named Bill Cords athletic director.

MONMOUTH, N.J.—Named Wayne Szoke basketball coach.

MOREHEAD STATE—Announced the resignation of Wayne Martin, basketball coach.

SWARTHMORE—Named Robert Williams chairperson of physical education and athletics.

College Basketball

By The Associated Press

EAST

Dartmouth 83, Harvard 77
MIDWEST

Illinois 89, Michigan 75
Minn.-Duluth 78, Southwest St. 69
Purdue 68, Michigan St. 59
Ohio St. 106, Florida Intl. 70 TOURNAMENTS

ECAC Division III
South Regional Semifinals
Ferrum 76, Lincoln, Pa. 72
Mary Washington 80, Frostburg St. 67
ECAC Metro Conference
First Round
Loyola, Md. 77, St. Francis, Pa. 69
Wagner 82, Robert Morris 72
Missouri Valley Conference Championship
Wichita St. 78, Tulsa 74, OT
NIAA

District 9 Championship
Oklahoma City 117, Panhandle St. 100

Transactions

By The Associated Press

BASEBALL

AMERICAN LEAGUE

CALIFORNIA ANGELS—Signed DeWayne Bruce, pitcher, and Mark Rval and Darrell Miller, outfielders.

Transactions

By The Associated Press

BASEBALL

AMERICAN LEAGUE

CALIFORNIA ANGELS—Signed DeWayne Bruce, pitcher, and Mark Rval and Darrell Miller, outfielders.

Transactions

By The Associated Press

BASEBALL

AMERICAN LEAGUE

CALIFORNIA ANGELS—Signed DeWayne Bruce, pitcher, and Mark Rval and Darrell Miller, outfielders.

Former S.C. Aide Got No Money From Tickets

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The chief recruiting coach under ex-South Carolina coach Bill Foster didn't pocket any money from a ticket-selling scheme he ran that helped land the basketball program on probation, according to a newspaper report.

Former assistant coach Ray Jones "never got any of the money. There wasn't enough to be divided or split. It was a matter of helping kids get some pocket change," a source told The Columbia Record.

The newspaper reported Wednesday that Jones ran a network in which players could sell complimentary season tickets to boosters and pocket the money.

Jones, a part-time assistant coach at Minnesota, couldn't be reached for comment by The Associated Press on Wednesday. A spokeswoman in the university's basketball office said Jones was out of town.

In an interview with The Record, Jones refused to confirm or deny he ran what the NCAA called a "well-organized and well-executed scheme" in which players sold complimentary tickets.

"I don't have anything to say about that one way or the other," Jones said.

The NCAA called the ticket scheme the "most serious and distressing" rule violation by the school from 1982 to 1985 under Foster, who resigned after the 1985-86 season. The NCAA said the scheme was run by several assistant coaches, none of whom was named in the eight-page report by the NCAA Committee on Infractions.

Pee Wee Champs

The Terrapins won the championship of the Pee Wee Recreation League this year. Members of the team are, first row, left to right: Patrick Porter, Ben Hahn, Chris Gyves; second row, Coach Rich Klein, Lee Jordan, Scott Warren, Powell Havens and John Hoard.

Working to Serve You Better

Palm Beach®...The Smart Way For A Man To Suit Up!

199.99

Regular $250

Palm Beach® two-piece suits, traditionally tailored in a year 'round blend of 55% polyester/45% wool. Choose solids or stripes for a work-worthy image. Men's sizes 36 to 48.

Palm Beach

Shop Carolina East Mall, Greenville, Monday Through Saturday 10 a.m. Until 9 p.m., Phone 756-B-E-L-K (756-2355)

SNOW SALE Continues

ALL Men's & Ladies' Bibs $70 To $100 Retail Sale Price $34.95

ALL CB Coats 50% Off

ONE GROUP COATS $85.00 Values Only $34.95

ALL Gerry Coats 50% Off

ALL Accessories 1/2 Price Socks, Goggles, Totes, Kits, Posters

Lange Boots CFX-12-01... Retail $219.95 $109.95

CTX-20-23... Retail $289.95 $179.95

Trappeur Boots Retail $130.00 To $295.00 Sale $69.95 To $149.95

ALL Rossingnol SKIS... 50% Off Retail

ALL Dynamic SKIS... 50% Off Retail

SNOW SALE Overton's Sports Center SNOW SALE

111 Red Banks Road, Greenville 355-5783

Store Hours: Monday-Friday 9-7 Saturday 8-6

Jordan Scored 61 In Win

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Michael Jordan says Wilt Chamberlain's NBA record of scoring 100 points in a game is still an impossible dream. But the Chicago Bulls' star does feel he's capable of scoring more than the 61 points he ran up on the Detroit Pistons.

Jordan lit up the Pontiac Silverdome Wednesday night, setting an arena record and breaking the Bulls' regular-season single-game scoring mark as Chicago pulled out a 125-120 overtime victory over the Detroit Pistons.

It was the second time in one week that Jordan broke the Bulls' single-game scoring mark. He had 58 points Feb. 26 against New Jersey. His all-time NBA high is 63 points against the Boston Celtics last April 20 in the playoffs.

The previous Silverdome record was 56 by former Piston Kelly

Tripucka against the Bulls on Jan. 29, 1983.

Jordan said he is capable of doing more.

"I hate to put a limit on what I can do," he said. "I just want to improve as a player."

But despite his recent outbursts, both Jordan and Bulls Coach Doug Collins said the Chicago guard is not a threat to match Chamberlain's mark, set 25 years ago.

"That's impossible with the way the game has changed," said Jordan, the NBA scoring leader, who has scored 40 or more points 27 times this season. "Scoring whatever I scored tonight was tough enough," Jordan added.

"Nobody's going to score 100 points today, not with the way defenses are," said Collins.

Jordan scored a club-record 26 points in the fourth quarter, breaking his old mark of 22.

He scored Chicago's first 13 points in the fourth period and had 57 by the end of regulation time, which ended in a 111-111 tie.

Jordan made 22-of-39 field goal attempts and was 17-of-18 from the free-throw line.

"I just had a feeling tonight coming to the stadium," Collins said. "I sensed a toughness in us. I sensed he (Jordan) wouldn't let us lose. He had that look in his eye."

"I got on a roll in the second half," said Jordan. "The guys were setting good picks for me. That's got to be the best stretch in a quarter that I've had."

Jordan said a little well-timed rest ordered by Collins helped him in the final quarter.

"I felt fresh going into the fourth quarter," said Jordan. He (Collins) gave me a good rest (late in the third quarter) so I could go for it."

Collins said his other players have gotten used to Jordan's scoring bursts and are learning that they can't just stand around and let Jordan do all the work.

"Early in the year, we stood around and watched him," Collins said. "I don't think that's the case now."

Against the Pistons, Jordan got help from backcourt mate Sedale Threatt, who had eight of his 19 points in overtime.

Threatt's jumper gave the Bulls, who have won nine of their last 12 games, a 123-120 lead with 1:12 left in the overtime.

Detroit's Isiah Thomas, who finished with 31 points, then missed a 3-point field-goal attempt. Jordan grabbed the rebound, was fouled, and sank two free throws for the final margin.

Detroit has lost its last three games and seen its Central Division lead, once three games, shrink to one-half game over the Atlanta Hawks, who were idle Wednesday.

"It's of concern when you lose three in a row and two of those at home," said Detroit Coach Chuck Daly. "We didn't get a lot of help from our bench tonight."

Adrian Dantley led Detroit, 37-20, with 32 points. Joe Dumars added 19.

"We had an opportunity to win it in regulation and we didn't get off a shot," Daly said. "When you're going for a division title, you can't play that way at home. Jordan was unbelievable and he's almost unstoppable."

Tyson Is Unimpressed By Bonecrusher's Knockouts

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Mike Tyson watched, but wasn't impressed when James "Bonecrusher" Smith beat former champion Mike Weaver and won a title from Tim Witherspoon on first-round knockouts.

"I don't get impressed when I see him knock out guys," said the 20-year-old World Boxing Council heavyweight champion, who will try to take away Smith's World Boxing Association title Saturday night.

"I know that's not me in there. I'm better than those guys. I feel like I'm the heavyweight champion now."

The 20-year-old Tyson, who is the youngest heavyweight champ in history, is being compared with great champions of the past.

"I don't want to be compared with Jack Dempsey or Joe Louis or Muhammad Ali," Tyson said. "I just want to have the same stature they had."

Tyson, who has scored 26 knockouts in winning all 28 of his fights, was a 7-1 favorite to win the scheduled 12-round bout at a 14,600-seat outdoor arena at the Las Vegas Hilton.

The two attended a joint news conference Wednesday. It was their last public meeting before the fight, which will be televised by HBO.

Tyson capped a mercurial rise to the title with a stunning second-round knockout of Trevor Berbick on Nov. 22 at the Hilton, and trainer Kevin Rooney feels, "If he maintains his interest, he'll only get better."

"I think it's hard to tell how good he is because of the caliber of guys he's fought," said the 33-year-old Smith, who in the role of substitute won the WBA title with a shocking first-round knockout of Tim Witherspoon last Dec. 12 at New York.

"The media has told him he's invincible," Smith said. "Hell, if somebody told me I was invincible when I was 20, I'd probably believe it."

"Half of Tyson's opponents have been intimidated. I'm concerned, but I'm not afraid because I can take him out."

"Now I'm fighting Bonecrusher," Tyson said. "When I beat him they won't talk about the caliber of my opponents."

Smith has scored 14 knockouts in posting a 19-5 record since turning pro at age 28.

But Rooney didn't think Berbick was intimidated going into the fight.

"He went in there confident and ready to fight," the trainer said. "Michael took the will right out of him in 30 seconds."

Smith concedes Tyson "can punch, he can hurt you. He's dangerous. He's good inside, throws good body shots and a good right uppercut."

But Smith also said Tyson has gotten away with mistakes because his opponents couldn't take advantage. "His opponents know they can't hurt him, and he knows they can't hurt him."

"That's the big question... can he take a punch?"

"Facts are facts, and he is fighting the hardest punching heavyweight in the world today."

"You have to give Bonecrusher the puncher's chance," said Tyrell Biggs, the WBA's No. 1 contender, who will fight David Bey in a scheduled 10-rounder on the card. Biggs could end up in a June challenge to Tyson.

"But Bonecrusher is going to be in front of him. He won't have any trouble finding him. Tyson's quickness will overcome Bonecrusher's power."

"He doesn't fight like some dummy, you know," Biggs added, saying that Tyson is not an easy target despite his attacking style.

"He's a good fighter," Tyson said of Smith. "He can punch. He's big and strong and he's been in with everybody."

Besides Weaver and Witherspoon, to whom he lost a 12-round decision before he won the title from him, Smith also has fought former WBA champion Tony Tubbs and Larry Holmes. He lost a 10-round decision to Tubbs on March 15, 1985.

Barakat Wants A Longer Shot

By TOM FOREMAN Jr.
AP Sports Writer

GREENSBORO (AP) — Fred Barakat likes college basketball's 3-point field goal, but the Atlantic Coast Conference's supervisor of basketball officials would like to see the line pushed beyond its current 19-foot, 9-inch arc.

"It's an exciting part of the game. I wouldn't want to get rid of it," Barakat said in an interview. "But I think we could move it back."

Barakat predicted that the rule will likely remain a part of college basketball, unless coaches petition the NCAA rules committee for a review. In the meantime, the argument continues about the 3-point line's placement and Barakat said moving it would be good.

"I thought I would like it very much here. I liked ours when it was inside the top of the key," Barakat said in an interview. "But seeing some of the games I've seen this year, and the change and turn, I think it would help to push it back a little bit."

The ACC's old 3-point line extended 18 feet, 9 inches from the basket during the one year it was used. While the line has been moved back for this season's experiment, Barakat said there are players who don't hesitate to move to take the try at three points.

"You see a lot of good players here step back. Instead of going forward like they used to do, they step back," Barakat said. "If you're on the line, it's two points."

Barakat said implementation of the rule might have caught some teams at a disadvantage, especially in recruiting. He said schools which recruited taller players to augment or develop an inside game might have sought shooting guards to take advantage of the 3-point rule.

The 25-member committee, called the University Senate, had in January decided to continue to list SMU as a Methodist institution after looking into previous scandals involving football recruiting, Shilling said.

Stewart is the only 1985 board member to publicly confirm Clements' assertion Tuesday that board members knew of the decision to continue the payments. Several board members have said that Clements never told them that payments would continue.

Stewart was chairman of SMU's board of governors from 1976 to 1983, and resigned as a member last month.

"I regret very much that I didn't take more assertive action to eliminate any future problems" with athletics at SMU, Stewart said in a written statement that was his response to questions by The News.

SMU's administration must take the blame for the university's athletics scandal, Stewart said.

Board members asked the president of the United Methodist Church's College of Bishops to appoint an "external committee" to in-

Not This Time
Detroit Piston Bill Laimbeer blocks Chicago Bull Michael Jordan (23) in the first quarter of Wednesday night's NBA game at the Pontiac Silverdome. Jordan scored 61 points, a Silverdome and personal regular season record. The Bulls won the game, 125-120, in overtime. (AP Laserphoto)

SMU Board Asks For New Probe

DALLAS (AP) — One investigation is leading to another at Southern Methodist University, where a football recruiting scandal has led all the way to the Texas governor's office.

In the latest development, the board of governors of SMU called for a probe into claims by former board chairman and current Gov. Bill Clements that he and other members knew about continued cash payments to athletes, but intended to phase them out of the picture.

Wednesday, current board members denied any knowledge of payments to players and said anyone who knew about them should resign.

But a former board member has backed up Clements' statement, the Dallas Morning News reported today.

Dallas banker Robert H. Stewart II, a former member of the SMU board of governors, has backed up Clements' revelation that he told the board of governors in 1985 that some payments to athletes would continue. The News reported in a copyright story today.

The News said Stewart said Clements' comments to the board may have been made in such a way that some board members might have misunderstood him.

Stewart, chairman of InterFirst Corp., told the News that it was "approximately" April 1985 when Clements told the board "that he was dedicated to cleaning up the athletic program, but that it would take some unwinding and that the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) clearly understood this."

After his discussions with Clements on the decision to continue paying athletes, Stewart said he "had the clear feeling that the NCAA approved of this action."

NCAA officials have denied they had any knowledge of continued payments to SMU players as part of "unwinding" the payment program.

Stewart is the only 1985 board member to publicly confirm Clements' assertion Tuesday that board members knew of the decision to continue the payments. Several board members have said that Clements never told them that payments would continue.

Stewart was chairman of SMU's board of governors from 1976 to 1983, and resigned as a member last month.

"I regret very much that I didn't take more assertive action to eliminate any future problems" with athletics at SMU, Stewart said in a written statement that was his response to questions by The News.

SMU's administration must take the blame for the university's athletics scandal, Stewart said.

Board members asked the president of the United Methodist Church's College of Bishops to appoint an "external committee" to in-

SAAD'S SHOE REPAIR
Quality Shoe Repairing
113 Grande Ave.
Corner of Dickinson & 10th St.
"Parking In Front"
Mon.-Fri. 8-6 • Sat. 9-2
Phone 758-1228

With Coupon
Buy 1 Fish, Get 1 Free!
* Fresh water only • Must be of equal value. Not to exceed $5.00
20% Off Saltwater Fish

ANIMAL HOUSE
422 Arlington Blvd. Greenville, N.C. 27834

Expires
March 14, 1987

Across From Pitt Plaza
10% Off Dog Coats & Sweaters In Stock

$5.95
2 for $10

SHIRTS*

Arrow
Manhattan
Van Hussen
Botany
Hotbrook
John Henry
R. Chereskin
Levi
Grant
McGregor

S. Blacker
Roots
Loft & Brownstone
Stafford
Hathaway
D. Hechter
Charter Club
Sero
Esquire
Burt Pulitzer

These are our best Wash & Wear-Like New! Compare!

THE CLOTHES MAN
Cafe & Ring Main 4th & Evans St.
*Brand Name Estate Clothing

GORDON'S
Velour Warm-ups
50% Off
264 By-Pass 758-1003

3 DAYS ONLY
EVERYTHING ON SALE
FRIDAY, SATURDAY & MONDAY
—WHILE THEY LAST—

4 DRAWER CHEST $39.95
MAPLE OR HAZELWOOD FINISH
40"X16"X20W

WALL HUGGER RECLINER
(ASSORTED FABRICS AND COLORS)

$109.95

BEAN BAGS
ASSORTED COLORS
$24.95

CASH & CARRY—
PICK UP ONLY! NO LAY-AWAY

GREENVILLE FURNITURE WAREHOUSE
101 Hooker Road Formerly Holt Old Inn
Across From Piggly Wiggly • Open Mon. - Fri. 10:00 - 6:00

756-0802

Crossword By EUGENE SHEFFER

- ACROSS
 1 Ernst's art
 5 Repast
 9 Reaction bit
 12 Skunk's defense
 13 Cuzco native
 14 Bond, e.g.
 15 Alien
 17 CSA general
 18 Take umbrage at 19 Foe of 17
 21 Across ignored in indexes
 28 Blue-pencil
 31 Actor
 32 Do garden work
 33 Before
 34 Singer
 36 Bible vessel
 37 Locality
- DOWN
 11 Kremlin veto
 16 Some amount
 20 Future fish
 22 Task
 23 Small strongly
 24 " — Take Romance"
 25 Card game
 26 Non-coast dweller
 27 Swamese
 29 Fury
 30 Afternoon social
 35 Pub order
 37 Sporting sites
 39 Worries for business
 40 "That's it!"
 41 TV's "The A —"
 42 Gymnast
 43 Highlands family
 44 Ferber
 45 Remitted
 46 Periods
 49 Fruit-cake ingredient
 50 Wildebeest
- Solution time: 27 mins.
- DAFT ATTA ABUT
 ELIA CAR TABA
 BARBECUE TRAM
 TIMBRE TRIFLE
 YIP EARL
 EBB STY HEIDI
 LEAP SAC DEED
 FERAL MAP SEA
 BRIT PEW
 CLEAVE ORATOR
 HELP BARITONE
 IDLE ENA ELAS
 PAST TAL RENT
- Yesterday's answer 3-5

CRYPTOQUIP
 3-5
 TVJJZSQZH QKZ QIYXVW
 VD YHZIX IBBWZSQYTZ
 "KZ UZIJU DYSZ."
 Yesterday's Cryptoquip: GREEDY GARDENER IS LIKELY TO SAY, "I WANT TO MAKE MOWER MONEY."
 Today's Cryptoquip clue: Q equals T

FOCUS

California Dreaming
 These movie officials recently announced the Academy Award nominations for 1986. When most people think of movies, they think of Hollywood. But that's not where the first movies were made. It wasn't until 1907 that a movie was made in Los Angeles. By then about 5,000 nickelodeons had spread across the country, and many studios had been formed to produce movies. But most of the movies they made were produced in New York City and Fort Lee, New Jersey.

DO YOU KNOW — What movie won the Oscar for Best Picture of 1985?
WEDNESDAY'S ANSWER — Absolute zero is approximately -273 degrees on the Celsius scale.
 3-5-87 © Knowledge Unlimited, Inc. 1987

Horoscope From The Carroll Righter Institute

FORECAST FOR Friday March 6
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today is a day to watch yourself, since some harsh influences are in effect what could cause mistakes. Broken promises could be harmful to all concerned.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Be sure to state your aims clearly in any correspondence you handle. It's important to drive carefully and stay in control.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Be careful you do not take any risks with your present security. Be careful not to fall into the trap of a schemer.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Some intimate matter can wait until you get other relationships on better ground.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Wait for a better day to ask for the assistance of friends for some project you have in mind.
LEO (July 22 to August 21): A business affair that concerns home ties is not easily taken care of today, so forget it for now.
VIRGO (August 22 to September 22): Get busy at credit affairs and general routines. Make sure you carry through with the expectations of a bigwig.
LIBRA (September 23 to October 22): It's not a good day to make big investments. A trip you are contemplating should be postponed.
SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21): Steer clear of an associate who is too opinionated and stubborn. Handle those affairs concerning your mate.
SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21): You feel limited about some work you have committed yourself to, but take some time for outside activities.
CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20): Keep busy at the work ahead of you and postpone pleasure for a while. You can easily solve problems now.
AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19): The situation at home should not be taken at face value. Get into some kind of inexpensive entertainment.
PISCES (February 20 to March 20): You have to be tactful with those you deal with regularly since they could be in a strange mood now.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be very magnetic and charming but also will want to have his, or her, own way most of the time. A restless person here, but full of good ideas and knowledge on how to best put them across. There can be much success during this lifetime.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
 (c)1986, The McNaught Syndicate Inc.

Bridge By CHARLES GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF

A PSYCHE WE LIKE
 North-South vulnerable. North deals.

NORTH
 ♠ 75
 ♥ Q964
 ♦ Q94
 ♣ AKQ9

WEST
 ♠ J10
 ♥ J87
 ♦ AJ105
 ♣ 7632

EAST
 ♠ 3 ♥ 1032
 ♦ K762
 ♣ J10854

SOUTH
 ♠ AKQ98642
 ♥ AK5
 ♦ 83
 ♣ Void

The bidding:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
 2 NT Pass 3 ♦ Pass
 3 NT Pass 6 ♣ Pass
 Pass Pass
 Opening lead: Seven of ♥ ther of South's suits, South wasted no more time in getting to his desired goal. Everything now hinged on West's opening lead.

 Imagine that poor defender's quandary. He had been around long enough to realize that South might have been pulling a fast one in the auction, but what if the auction was legitimate? In that case, leading the ace of diamonds could easily have presented declarer with an otherwise unmakeable contract.
 West stewed for a considerable time over his opening lead, but he decided he would be better off if he treated the auction as genuine. So after great travail he selected the seven of hearts as his opening lead, to declarer's great delight. South could have made 15 tricks had the rules of the game permitted. It was unnecessary to point out to poor West that ace of diamonds and another would have been the winning defense.

For information about Charles Goren's new newsletter for bridge players, write Goren Bridge Letter, P.O. Box 4426, Orlando, Fla. 32802-4426. ©1987 TRIBUNE MEDIA SERVICES, INC.

Tired Of All That Junk In Your Attic?
Then Call Our Classified Department
At 752-6166 And One Of Our Friendly
Ad-Visers Will Help You Move It!

FUNKY WINKERBEAN

PHANTOM

NUBBIN

BLONDIE

PEANUTS

BEEBLE BAILEY

GARFIELD

Prime Time Tonight

THURSDAY EVENING
	7:00	7:30	8:00	8:30	9:00	9:30	10:00
2	Hardcastle And McCormick	Daktari			700 Club		Bill Cosby
4	Business Rpt.	Legislative	Connections		Mystery!		Nature
5	CBS News	PM Magazine	Wizard		Simon & Simon		Knots Landing
7	Taxi	M*A*S*H	Movie: "Days Of Heaven"				News
9	Facts Of Life	Benson	Cosby Show	Family Ties	Cheers	Night Court	L.A. Law
11	Newlyweds	Ent. Tonight	Wizard		Simon & Simon		Knots Landing
12	Fortune	Jeopardy	Our World		The Colbys	20 / 20
DIS	Magician	Theater	Best Of Walt Disney Presents		Movie: "Strange Companions"		Animals
ESPN	SportsCenter	College Basketball: Atl. 10 Championship			Boxing: Tommy Ayers vs. Luis Santana
HBO	Movie: "Prime Risk"				Movie: "Bad Boys"
LIFE	Marcus Welby, M.D.	Call To Glory			Regis Philbin Show		Dr. Ruth Show
MAX	Movie	Movie: "Aurora Encounter"			Movie: "Lifeforce"
SHOW	Movie: "Brewster's Millions"				"Friday The 13th - A New Beginning"		D. Steinberg
TMC	Movie: "Jaws"				Movie: "Woodstock"
USA	Airwolf	Riptide			Movie: "The Vulture"
WTBS	Sanford	H'mooners	Movie: "Cape Fear"				"Anzio"

For complete TV programming information, consult your weekly TV SHOWTIME from Sunday's Daily Reflector.

Belafonte Gets Kaye's UNICEF Job

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Singer-actor Harry Belafonte was named Wednesday as a goodwill ambassador for the United Nations Children's Fund, and said he was happy to take a post held by the late Danny Kaye.

"I can kind of step in here and lend of myself and use my influences and energies to carry on much of the very good work he started," Belafonte said. Belafonte said he and Kaye, who died Tuesday in Los Angeles at age 74, had been good friends and had discussed the work of UNICEF.

Kaye's work with UNICEF dated back to 1954, when he began traveling the world as an ambassador-at-large to draw attention to the plight of children in the developing world.

Other UNICEF goodwill ambassadors are actors Peter Ustinov and Liv Ullmann.

The Harlem-born Belafonte, 60, said his focus will be on helping African nations complete immunization of children against diseases such as polio and measles, a goal he hopes to meet by 1995.

His first assignment as UNICEF ambassador will be to enlist the support of African artists, writers and educators. They will meet at a symposium in Senegal later this month, he said.

Belafonte has been active in the American civil rights movement and the campaign against racial separation in South Africa. He helped organize the "We Are the World" recording to raise money for African drought relief.

MOVIE OPENS — Lisa Bonet, one of the stars of NBC-TV's "Cosby Show," was in New York Wednesday to promote the opening this week of her new movie, "Angel Heart." She plays in a sexy scene with co-star Mickey Rourke that had to be changed so the film would get an "R" rating instead of an "X" designation. (AP Laserphoto)

CBS News Shuffles Line Correspondents

Eastwood Has Weapon Permit

CARMEL, Calif. (AP) — Actor and Mayor Clint Eastwood, whose "Dirty Harry" movies portray him as a gun-toting police detective, has a permit to carry a concealed weapon, a newspaper reported Wednesday.

Eastwood's name is on one of 162 concealed weapons permits issued to residents of Monterey County, the Salinas Californian said in a copy-right story.

Eastwood, who was elected mayor of Carmel a year ago, was the only elected official on the list.

The 56-year-old Eastwood obtained permission in 1983 to carry a .38-caliber handgun. He has renewed the permit annually since then.

In his application to the sheriff's department, he wrote that he was the victim of "various death threats against my life, including that of kidnap in 1978."

The newspaper said Eastwood declined to comment about the matter in person or when asked in a letter.

NEW YORK (AP) — A new round of "painful" layoffs for CBS News employees is among the cutbacks outlined by the division's head in a memo released by the network.

The proposals include phasing out bureaus in Seattle, Bangkok, Thailand, and Warsaw, Poland, according to the memo by Howard Stringer, news division president, addressed to his staff.

Stringer said he had presented the proposal Wednesday to Laurence A. Tisch, chief executive officer of CBS Inc.

"There will be layoffs. They will be painful," the memo said. "No one at CBS News is idle, so we can't pretend the news division will be unaffected. We will retain our ability to be the best in broadcast journalism. Otherwise, none of us would have participated."

Other changes include the return to a "network-first" assignment system, in which correspondents would float among news programs instead of being assigned to one particular broadcast. That would not include, however, feature news programs like "60 Minutes" and "West 57th," a newsmagazine due to return to the air this season.

Joan Richman has been named vice president for news coverage to oversee the reorganization, which "will be completed shortly," Stringer said.

The memo appeared to be aimed at calming fears of a series of published reports and rumors about huge cuts in the news staff, and noted "anger and anxiety" over impending budget cuts and the Writers' Guild strike, in its fourth day today.

"We believe that ultimately what we have done will save CBS News, not destroy it, and will prepare it for the 1990s," Stringer said.

'Crime Story' Low In Ratings

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Detective Dennis Farina has just been handed his toughest assignment: solve The Case of the Missing Ratings for NBC's "Crime Story."

Farina, a former real-life detective who stars as Lt. Mike Torello, and five other actors from the rookie police show are on a five-city promotional tour in search of more viewers.

The gritty 1960s crime drama, produced by Michael Mann, ranks near the bottom of the ratings for the season. Last fall, it was shot down by ABC's "Moonlighting" on Tuesday nights. NBC moved "Crime Story" to Fridays to follow Mann's other series, "Miami Vice," and the ratings have improved, though it still loses out to CBS' "Falcon Crest."

NBC is pulling "Crime Story" off the schedule temporarily as of March 13. It will return later in reruns, but no decision has been made as to whether the show will return next season. Meanwhile, Farina and his fellow actors are plugging the show in San Francisco, Atlanta, Baltimore, New York and Boston.

"Crime Story" was conceived as a miniseries, following a police officer, a prosecutor and a hood developing in their respective careers. But it was expanded into a series. The show was co-created by Chuck Adamson, who had been Farina's supervisor when he was a Chicago police detective.

"Crime Story" was originally set in Chicago, where Farina still lives, then moved to Las Vegas as part of the story. Bad guy Ray Luca, played by Anthony Denison, has bought a casino and is being stalked by Torello and prosecutor David Abrams, played by Stephen Lang, who have become federal agents.

Farina, one of seven children and father of three sons, resigned only two years ago after 18 years in police work. He began acting on the side when Mann cast him as a killer in the 1981 movie "Thief." He was an FBI agent in Mann's feature film of last year, "Manhunter."

"Michael started talking about the show ("Crime Story") when we were doing 'Manhunter,'" Farina said in an interview in Los Angeles during a break in the Las Vegas filming and before NBC announced it was pulling the show temporarily.

"He asked me to read the ("Crime Story") bible," said Farina. "Then he called and said they were ready to start shooting. I said, 'Does that mean I have the job?' He said 'I did.'"

It's the first series for Farina, although he did do an episode of "Chicago Story" while still on the police force.

Farina said that as a former policeman he has some input into the show, but he doesn't get involved in the writing.

"I may say a policeman wouldn't do this," he said. "The other day they had me walk into a restaurant and sit down with my back to the door. I said, 'No, I won't do that. I have to sit with my back to a wall.' Or they may put something in the script like having me kick down a door. Try that and you'll break your foot."

"We catch most of those things, but sometimes something slips by. You don't see us holding our guns with two hands, the way policemen do today. This is set in the 1960s."

Farina said he doesn't care whether he's cast as a cop or a bad guy. "For as many cops or bad guys there are that many different personalities," he said. "I'd like to play other roles, but it doesn't bother me."

He joined the police force after getting out of the military service at the age of 23. He was working in a fruit and produce market when his brother, Joe, a lawyer, suggested he become a policeman.

"I was in uniform for a year," he said. "Then I went on the Tactical Team, then I became a detective. I worked burglary and finally was assigned to the Central Investigations Unit. We handled mostly routine cases, but now and then you'd get something exciting, like going after a bank robber."

After he got involved in movies he began working in local theaters. He went to Washington to do "Streamers" at the Kennedy Center. "I'd just auditioned for 'Manhunter,' and I got a call that they were going to disband the Central Investigations Unit," he said. "That did it for me, and I resigned."

DENNIS FARINA

Gibson is the only L.A. cop registered as a

LETHAL WEAPON

STARTS TOMORROW

PLITT
CAROLINA EAST CENTER
756 1449

— 20th —
ANNIVERSARY SPECIAL

To help you celebrate our 20th Anniversary with us, we offer you this great special through March 14th.

$8.75 plus tax

8 oz. Ribeye
Fresh Garden Salad
Baked Potato
Fresh Baked Bread
Tea or Coffee

BEEF BARN

756-1161
400 St. Andrews Dr.
Dinner feeding times:
Mon thru Sat from 6 nightly

CONSOLIDATED THEATRES All Seats $2.25 Everyday 'Til 5:30 PM

BUCCANEER MOVIES

2:00-4:30-7:00-9:20 "Platoon" "R"	1:15-3:15-5:15-7:15-9:15 "Nightmare on Elm Street, Part III" "R"	1:00-3:00-5:00-7:00-9:00 "Over The Top" Ends Today! "PG"
---	--	---

STARTS TOMORROW!
"Most terrifying movie since "The Exorcist"...so intense you will want to see it twice!!"

- J.R. Scales

ANGEL HEART

Believe what you've heard.

Harry Angel has been hired to search for the truth... Pray he doesn't find it.

Special Appearance by Mickey Rourke Robert DeNiro Lisa Bonet

Mario Kassar and Andrew Vajna Present
Mickey Rourke An Alan Parker Film
"Angel Heart" Special Appearance by Robert DeNiro Lisa Bonet
Charlotte Rampling Directed by Michael Seresin
Screenplay by Alan Parker Produced by Alan Marshall and Elliott Kastner Directed by Alan Parker

A Tri-Star Release © 1987 Tri-Star Pictures, Inc. All Rights Reserved.

Carlucci's

Northern Italian Restaurant
757-1757

Rivergate Shopping Center

FRIDAY LUNCH SPECIAL

Fettucini Carbonara. $3.75

Large Pasta Noodles Served With Bacon, Mushrooms, Onion, Bell Peppers In Parmigiana Cheese Sauce.

Now Under New Ownership
An Eats, Inc. Restaurant

Lunch Mon.-Fri. 11:30 a.m.-2:00 p.m.
Dinner Sun.-Thurs. 5 p.m.-9:30 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. 5 p.m.-10:30 p.m.

"BEST IN TOWN" FAMOUS PIZZA

Corner of 10th and Evans
PIZZA Hot Oven Subs LASAGNA SPAGHETTI SUBS

WEEK-END SPECIALS Buy a Large Pizza and Get a Small Pizza FREE!

FRESH BEEF 1/4 Lb. Mushroom Burger or Bacon Burger $1.99
WITH FRENCH FRIES AND DRINK

LASAGNA $3.49 SPAGHETTI WITH MEAT BALLS $3.49
SPECIALS GOOD THRU MARCH 8, 1987

Coupons for Delivery Only
FOR FAST, FREE DELIVERY PHONE 757-4731 or 757-1278

Buy Lg. Pizza & Receive FREE 2 Litre Pepsi	Buy Small Pizza & Receive 2 Drinks FREE	Buy Any Sub & Receive 1 Drink FREE
--	---	------------------------------------

Good Thru Sun. March 8, 1987

Science And Medicine

Supernova Study Links Farm Antibiotics With Human Food Poisoning

L.A. Times-Washington Post News Service

Astronomers throughout the Southern Hemisphere are keeping watch on a brilliant exploding star in the southern sky, wondering if the show is nearly over or just beginning.

Ever since the discovery of the supernova — a giant star going through its death throes — scientists have been waiting for the star to grow brighter, but it has remained about the same magnitude as when it was first sighted on Feb. 24 by Ian Shelton of the University of Toronto, who was using the Carnegie Institution's Las Campanas observatory in Chile.

No one was quite sure exactly what to expect, because supernovae are rarely observed at such an early stage. Generally, astronomers discover that a star has "gone supernova" only by coming across the debris long after the star had exploded.

What makes this supernova so exciting to astronomers is that it is the closest one to Earth since 1604. It is located in the Large Magellanic Cloud, a galaxy so close to the Milky Way that it is considered a "companion galaxy."

"It's something you tell your grandchildren about one day," said Elaine Sadler, who was at the Cerro Tololo Inter-American Observatory in Chile when the star was discovered.

Many astronomers were disappointed when the star did not brighten as quickly as they had expected, but the Royal Greenwich Observatory in England has come up with a possible explanation. The Royal Observatory is one of many facilities around the world reporting findings to the Central Bureau for Astronomical Telegrams at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass.

(See SHOW, B-9)

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
AP Science Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Widely used antibiotics to keep farm animals healthy can make people ill by aiding the spread of drug-resistant, food-poisoning germs from the barnyard to the dinner table, according to a study published today.

The research "documents that farms are a major source of antimicrobial-resistant salmonella infections in humans," said Dr. John S. Spika of the U.S. Centers for Disease Control, which conducted the study. "One can say that antimicrobial use on farms has a direct impact on human health."

For their study, doctors traced germ-laden hamburger from people who got sick all the way back through the food chain to worn-out dairy cows that were slaughtered for meat.

The hamburger was tainted with a particular form of salmonella bacteria that was blamed for 675 cases of food poisoning, including two deaths, in California in 1985. Although the outbreak eased in 1986, it caused two more deaths.

Spika said the study raises questions about the use of human antibiotics to treat farm animals, as well as the widespread practice of slaughtering old and sick dairy cows for hamburger.

When antibiotics are used widely, bacteria pick up genes that make them impervious to the drugs.

Farmers routinely add low, so-called "sub-therapeutic" levels of penicillin and tetracycline to the feed of beef cattle, pigs and chickens to keep them healthy and make them grow faster. They also use higher "therapeutic" doses to treat animal diseases.

Sixty percent of all cattle, 90 percent of calves raised for veal and almost all poultry receive feed containing antibiotics, the Federal Office of Technology Assessment has estimated.

In the California outbreak, the salmonella bacteria were resistant to five drugs, including chloramphenicol, which is used to treat severe salmonella infections in people. The researchers believe that some California dairy farmers illegally used chloramphenicol to treat sick cows.

The California outbreak was described in a report in today's New England Journal of Medicine. Farm industry spokesmen noted that it did not delve into the sub-therapeutic use of antibiotics in animal feeds. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration is considering banning that practice.

"The study fails to show that salmonella bacteria that are resistant to antibiotics are any more of a public health concern than non-resistant organisms," said Steve Kimbel of the Animal Health Institute, an industry group. "This study involves the unapproved therapeutic use of an antibiotic never approved for use in food animals in the United States."

At American Cyanamid, which makes animal antibiotics, Dr. Richard H. Gustafson said, "I think this says nothing about the low-level use of antibiotics in animal feeds."

However, Spika said too much is made of the distinction between therapeutic and sub-therapeutic use of drugs on the farm.

"The end result is probably the same from the standpoint that heavy antimicrobial use results in resistance," he said.

The researchers based their work in part on a comparison of 45 salmonella victims with 89 healthy people.

House Members Promote Funds For Atom-Smasher

By DAVID FOX
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spending $4.4 billion to build the Superconducting Super Collider, the world's largest atom-smasher, is not a luxury but a scientific necessity, House members touting the project said at a special session.

"It's time for a leading edge in high-energy physics research, or we will let others in the international community benefit from our shortsightedness," said Rep. Dennis Hastert, R-Ill.

Hastert was among nine lawmakers voicing support for the nuclear particle accelerator at a "special orders" session of the House on Wednesday.

"In the last decade, Europe has moved past the United States in basic research in this area," he said. "The Soviet Union is rapidly gaining ground. Funding of the SSC will leave little doubt about America's commitment to retake the lead and restore our pre-eminence in high-energy physics."

Scientists say the super collider — a racetrack-shaped, underground tube about 52 miles around — would be able to whirl proton beams against each other with such force their collision would create sub-atomic particles that can be detected and analyzed.

The result, they said, would be insights into the very nature of matter.

"This will be to physics what the telescope has been to astronomy or the microscope to biology," said Rep. Hank Brown, R-Colo. "This is a way, one of many ways, in which America can lead the world towards scientific progress and toward the advancement of all mankind."

Virtually every state has expressed interest in housing the project because of the financial benefits it offers: thousands of construction jobs and long-term work for 2,500 scientists and technicians.

But lawmakers from Illinois,

Texas, Ohio, California, Colorado and other states seeking the project said interstate cooperation must give way to cooperation to ensure it is built.

"If we are going to continue to lead the world in innovation and new ideas, projects such as the SSC must be built in the United States," said Rep. Michael DeWine, R-Ohio.

"We're not just talking about jobs," he said. "We're not just talking about a tremendous economic boost for whatever state actually ends up with this much-sought-after prize. We are talking about whether the United States will be competitive in the future."

The Department of Energy has set a timetable calling for final selection of the project site in January 1989.

But the site-selection process came under fire at the session from Rep. Tim Valentine, D-N.C., who said he feared some states might not be considered for the project.

Put the puzzle together... and give a child
the total educational picture!

Introduce them to the daily newspaper during Newspaper in Education Week
March 4-8, 1985

National Newspaper in Education Week is sponsored by the International Reading Association and the American Newspaper Publishers Association. Its purpose is to encourage teachers and parents to use the newspaper to teach and inspire good reading habits that will last a lifetime.

Often referred to as a "living textbook," the newspaper can be a timely, versatile educational aid that can help teach subjects ranging from basic reading to geography! The daily articles on current events are history in the making!

Teachers and Parents

The newspaper can be a valuable teaching tool. We can show you how with creative, exciting ways to use the newspaper in your classroom or home!

For more information contact: Diane Williams, NIE Coordinator 752-6166 or 756-7828.

The Daily Reflector

The newspaper — a natural learning tool!

SHERWIN Williams

ANNUAL WALLCOVERING SALE!

New Arrivals For Spring! First Time Advertised!

ALL IN-STOCK PATTERNS

40% TO 70% OFF REG. PRICE

Take Them Home Today... Hang Them Tonight!

(Wallcovering sold in double roll packages in stock available in most stores. Patterns shown may differ by location.)

SPECIAL PURCHASE IN-STOCK WALLCOVERING

SAVE $6 per roll

$3.99 per single roll
Reg. $9.99

CLASSIC 99® SAVE $9

Interior Matte Flat Latex Wall Paint

$8.99 gal.
Reg. $17.99

SUPERPAINT® SAVE $8

Interior Flat Latex Wall Paint

$12.99 gal.
Reg. $20.99

SPECIAL SAVINGS! SELECT SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PRIVATE LABEL BOOKS

50% OFF REG. PRICE

(Living and living papers found in sample books available at our everyday low price.)

ALL CUSTOM ORDER BOOKS

10% TO 30% OFF REG. PRICE

WINDOW CORNER SALE!

60% OFF REG. PRICE

1" Classic Metal Blinds
1 1/2" Micro Blinds
1" Esprit II Metal Blinds
Woven Wood Shades

(Installation of all products extra.)

PAINT THINNER

Sale $2.99 Price $1.99
Final Cost After Rebate $1.99

Use for thinning oil-base paint and general cleaning purposes.

FRAME & ROLLER SPECIAL

SAVE $3.99

$1.99

Available in smooth, medium, rough textures.

Special Purchase! EXCLAMATION!

$9.99 sq. yd. installed
Reg. $14.99

KEYNOTE $14.99 sq. yd. installed
Reg. $19.99

STATEMENT $15.99 sq. yd. installed
Reg. $20.99

MOMENTS $16.99 sq. yd. installed
Reg. $21.99

(Covering available at most stores. Prices include primer, measuring and cutting. Some wallcovering colors and finishes. Name and take up extra. Minimum order may be required in some areas.)

Bondex PLASTIC PAINT TRAY & SPATTER SHIELD ROLLER

For $7.98 Both
Final Cost After Rebate $5.99
Retail Value $9.98

ASK SHERWIN-WILLIAMS HOMEOWNERS DO! Sale Ends April 4th!

303 ARLINGTON BLVD GREENVILLE 756-6108

Not responsible for typographical errors or art work. Sherwin-Williams reserves the right to correct errors at point of purchase.

Hearing Students Learn New Language At School For Deaf

By MARC FISHER

L.A. Times-Washington Post News Service

WASHINGTON — The crashing thud of shoes slamming against a metal plate routinely shatters sleep. TVs blare. Radios are turned up so high that beds in the next room vibrate.

Life in the dormitories at Gallaudet University "is the pits," said Gary Smith, who hears it all.

"Deaf dorms are a trip," Gregory Haretos agreed.

Smith and Haretos, two of the first hearing undergraduates to be admitted to the nation's college for the deaf, have had some adjusting to do this year.

They came onto a campus many deaf people cherish as the one place where deaf culture flourishes — where, for example, they can crank up the radio to feel the vibrations without worrying about their hearing neighbors.

When Gallaudet President Jerry Lee unveiled the school's new master plan last year, one section raised hackles among deaf students.

To make up for declining enrollment as the generation of rubella victims moves on, Gallaudet needs "new constituencies," the plan said. "New constituencies" meant foreign students, graduate students and the hearing.

"I wondered, would they steal our deaf students' places in the classroom, in activities, in athletics?" said Deborah Sonnenstrahl, an art professor and Gallaudet graduate. "For so long, deaf people have felt totally inferior to hearing people because of our problems with language. I was afraid that when deaf people saw a so-called superior language in the classroom, they would clam up."

The debate over admitting the hearing split the university's northeast Washington campus last spring. At the student center, in the dorms, in the pages of the campus newspaper, the Gallaudet community talked of a "takeover."

Gallaudet, alma mater of 95 percent of the nation's deaf college graduates, could lose its special character, they said.

Lee, who can hear, defended the decision. "If a hearing person is interested in a career related to deafness, we believe Gallaudet is a perfect environment for them," he said.

But Lee responded to the takeover fears and set a limit: Hearing students, who were already on campus as graduate students, would not exceed 8 percent of undergraduate enrollment.

In September three hearing students transferred to Gallaudet as juniors. To get in, they had to provide deaf references. They had to register for a deafness-related major such as sign language, social work or psychology. And they had to realize they were in for a tough time.

"It was sink or swim," said Haretos, a free-lance interpreter for the deaf who is majoring in psychology and sign language. "People said they had no reason to speak slowly to me, so they didn't."

Sometimes there is no compromise between the deaf and the hearing. "I have very deaf speech," said Sonnenstrahl, who is deaf from birth. "When I teach, my voice really carries into the halls, and it hurts Gary's ears. He tries to tell me to use my voice. But I won't change it because of my hard-of-hearing students. Poor Gary."

Haretos, 25, chose Gallaudet because "there are too many people in this field whose first contact with deaf people is at their first job."

He has had plenty of contact. At 3 o'clock one morning, he learned about fire alarms for the deaf — powerful strobe lights that electrified his sleepy nerves. He discovered sign-language slang that was not in any textbook, brand-new symbols for VCR and ATM. And he learned there are precious few secrets on a campus where everyone communicates with their hands. "If you say, 'Don't eavesdrop,' they say, 'My eyes are free.'"

Smith, who says he averages less than four hours sleep a night because of the noise in the dorms, once had to confront a deaf student who was banging a shoe on the fire alarm in the middle of the night "to hear the vibration. I said, 'What are you doing?' And he blamed it on deaf culture. I call it rudeness."

But aside from the troubles of everyday life, the hearing students say their dive into deaf culture is immensely rewarding.

Smith, who used to sing in a chorus, has joined Gallaudet's sign-singing group. Haretos and Smith have adopted the animated body language and exaggerated facial gestures that many deaf people use to supplement signing.

Sonnenstrahl says Smith adds a dimension to her art classes. While deaf students concentrate on the physical details of a work, "Gary will point out the cultural and historical background. Deaf people are very visually oriented; they talk about what's right in front of their eyes. Gary is able to discuss abstract aspects."

Eric Raff, a deaf student who always attended regular schools before enrolling at Gallaudet, said the transition to a deaf culture was difficult even for him, let alone for a hearing student.

"I didn't sign when I started here, and it was very awkward," he said. "I had no friends. I'd never really known any deaf people before."

"To be a hearing person here, well, deaf people try to separate hearing people. So you see the hearing graduate students together all the time, sticking in groups."

Raff hopes for an easing of tension between deaf and hearing students, but there are times he wishes there were no hearing people in the dorm.

"Then I could turn the music way up," he said, laughing. "Really, Gallaudet is a place where I can feel free about my deafness, and around hearing people I'm less confident."

The behavior of some hearing students does not help. Raff tells the story of a hearing graduate student who dropped by a dorm to see another hearing student. But since the visitor did not want to see his friend's deaf room-mate, he knocked on the door. "That was very rude," Raff said.

While a small number of the deaf remain steadfastly opposed to the presence of hearing students, many Gallaudet students have tempered their objections.

Kevin Miers, editor of The Buff and Blue, the campus newspaper, said that "at first I was concerned that the hearing students would take over the student government, the Buff and Blue or sports. Now, I think, well, deaf people have always been a minority, and it's good to know that hearing people can experience that."

Smith and Haretos have managed to keep their ability to hear low-key. Smith, a 20-year-old social-work student who came to Gallaudet from a Christian college in Tennessee, arrived on campus knowing only the sign language he had learned from books. Still, it took several weeks for his deaf room-mate to realize he had a hearing person in the room.

Because Gallaudet students use several sign languages, and because some deaf students prefer to read lips, students and teachers use oral speech and sign language simultaneously. So the hearing students did not stand out.

"My hearingness is an invisible handicap," Haretos said.

"If the hearing students come with the attitude that they are here to save the poor deaf, the reaction will not be good," said Janet Pray, who is not deaf, director of Gallaudet's social-work program. "But if they come wanting to learn deaf culture, it will be a great struggle for them, but they will find there's an enormous difference between going to a college where you learn about deafness and being immersed in an environment where you live, eat, learn and argue with the deaf."

SIGN LANGUAGE — Gregory Haretos uses sign language during a class at Gallaudet College, a Washington institution formerly for the deaf only. He's one of three hearing students who transferred to Gallaudet last September. (L.A. Times-Washington Post Photo)

Gene Isolated That May Cause Alzheimer's Disease

By WARREN E. LEARY

AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have located one or more genes that may cause some forms of Alzheimer's disease, a development they call a major advance in understanding the debilitating, mind-robbing condition.

The genetic defect responsible for an inherited form of Alzheimer's is on the same chromosome responsible for Down's syndrome, which indicates the same genes may play a role in both diseases, scientists reported recently.

Researchers at Harvard Medical School and the affiliated Massachusetts General Hospital, in collaboration with scientists from other institutions, say pinpointing genetic defects responsible for the disease is crucial for understanding and, one day, treating the condition.

Several research groups recently have reported discovery of the gene responsible for making proteins that ultimately clog the brains of Alzheimer's patients with hard plaques.

The genetic defect that causes the inherited form of the disease is located on the same area of the same chromosome, scientists say, and may be the same gene that is responsible for the plaque protein.

Genes are small pieces of DNA, or deoxyribonucleic acid, the basic substance of heredity. Strands of DNA containing genes make up the 23 pairs of rod-shaped chromosomes within cells that pass on their characteristics to subsequent generations.

No one knows what causes Alzheimer's disease, a degenerative condition that results in a buildup of tangled fibers within nerve cells of the brain and scaly plaques in between. The disease normally hits people when they are in their 70s or 80s and robs them of memory, judgment and physical mobility.

In 10 percent to 15 percent of cases, the disease is the inherited form common in certain families that appears at an earlier age, often around 40 to 50 years of age. An estimated 2.5 million Americans have all types of the disease.

In a report published today in the journal Science, Drs. Peter St. George-Hyslop, Rudolph Tanzi and James Gusella of Harvard, along with 19 other authors from institutions worldwide, said the results of both types of Alzheimer's are almost identical.

What is learned about the inherited form of the disease should be applicable to the so-called sporadic Alzheimer's seen in the majority of patients, St. George-Hyslop and Gusella said at a news briefing in Boston.

"Our discovery is the first definitive lead to an actual cause of Alzheimer's disease," St. George-Hyslop said.

The Harvard scientists studied cell samples and histories from four families prone to Alzheimer's. Nearly 150 members of these families, going back as far as eight generations, had the disease.

The researchers said they were able to backtrack pieces of genetic material passed down with the suspected Alzheimer's gene through these families.

By looking at segments of DNA from chromosome 21 that were passed from generation to generation, they were able to match common genetic pieces that appeared in offspring who either got Alzheimer's or did not.

Because neighboring genes are usually inherited together, scientists can infer from similar arrangements of genetic segments where the disease gene must be, Gusella said.

The genetic tags used to trace the whereabouts of the gene one day might be used to diagnose inherited Alzheimer's in individuals belonging to families prone to the malady long before any symptoms arise, the researchers said.

Finding Alzheimer's genes on chromosome 21 is interesting because this gene collection is implicated in other inherited diseases, including Down's syndrome, researchers said. Adults with Down's develop the buildup of brain proteins characteristic of Alzheimer's and scientists have long suspected there must be a link between the two diseases.

Down's syndrome, a disabling condition that is the leading cause of mental retardation, afflicts about 5,000 newborns in the United States each year. It develops when a person has the normal complement of 23 pairs of chromosomes plus an extra copy of chromosome 21.

Other reports concerning the genetics of Alzheimer's were published in the same issue of Science, including reports about isolating a gene on chromosome 21 that appears to be responsible for producing the abnormal deposits clogging the brains of those with the disease.

Protein strands called amyloids have been found in Alzheimer's plaques and possibly are involved in the tangles, experts said.

CLASSIFIED INDEX

MISCELLANEOUS

Personals	002
In Memoriam	003
Card Of Thanks	005
Special Notices	007
Travel & Tours	009
Automotive	010
Child Care	014
Day Nursery	045
Health Care	047
Employment	055
For Sale	067
Instruction	114
Lost And Found	115
Business Services	118
Business Opportunities	122
Professional	124
Home Improvements	125
Real Estate	130
Appraisals	131
Loans And Mortgages	153
Rentals	160

WANTED

Help Wanted	056
Administrative	057
Clerical	058
Medical	059
Miscellaneous	060
Sales	061
Teachers	062
Technical & Trades	063
Work Wanted	064
Wanted	090
Roommate Wanted	092
Wanted To Buy	194
Wanted To Lease	196
Wanted To Rent	198

RENT/LEASE

Apartment For Rent	161
Business Rentals	163
Campers For Rent	167
Condominiums For Rent	170
Farms For Lease	140
Houses For Rent	173
Lots For Rent	175
Merchandise Rentals	177
Mobile Homes For Rent	179
Mobile Home Lots For Rent	180
Office Space For Rent	181
Resort Property For Rent	184
Rooms For Rent	185

SALE

Autos For Sale	011-029
Bicycles For Sale	030
Boats And Motors	032
Camping Equipment	034
Cycles For Sale	036
Jeeps And Vans	040
Trucks For Sale	041
Pets	050
Antiques	066
Auctions	069
Building Supplies	072
Fuel, Wood, Coal	080
Furniture	081
Garage-Yard Sales	082
Heavy Equipment	084
Household Goods	085
Farm Equipment	086
Farm Products	088
Fruits & Vegetables	089
Livestock	092
Insurance	095
Miscellaneous	099
Mobile Homes For Sale	102
Mobile Home Insurance	103
Musical Instruments	105
Sporting Goods	109
Woodshops	112
Commercial Property	132
Condominiums For Sale	136
Farms For Sale	139
Houses For Sale	144
Business Investment Property	147
Investment Property	148
Land For Sale	150
Mobile Home Lots For Sale	151
Lots For Sale	152
Resort Property For Sale	155
Timberland & Timber	156
Townhouses For Sale	157

DAILY REFLECTOR Classified Advertising Rates 752-6166

3 Line Minimum

1 Day	$.85 per line per day
2-3 Days	$.65 per line per day
4-6 Days	$.58 per line per day
7-14 Days	$.53 per line per day
15-25 Days	$.48 per line per day
26 Or More Days	$.44 per line per day

DEADLINES

Classified Lineage Deadlines	Mon. Fri. 4 p.m.
	Tues. Mon. 3 p.m.
	Wed. Tues. 3 p.m.
	Thurs. Wed. 3 p.m.
	Fri. Thurs. 3 p.m.
	Sun. Fri. Noon

Classified Display Deadlines

Mon. Fri. Noon
Tues. Fri. 4 p.m.
Wed. Mon. 4 p.m.
Thurs. Tues. 4 p.m.
Fri. Wed. 2 p.m.
Sun. Wed. 5 p.m.

ERRORS

Errors must be reported immediately. The Daily Reflector cannot make allowances for errors after 1st day of publication.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR reserves the right to edit or reject any advertisement submitted.

Show In The Sky

Continued from B-8

Scientists with the Royal Observatory reported that whether the star brightens or grows dim during the next few days depends on the stage of its evolution at the time it was discovered. Based on historical records of similar events, the proper sequence should be for the supernova to first brighten, then level off, and then brighten much more before quieting down.

So if the supernova, known only by the number 1987A, is as young as scientists believe it is, it should suddenly increase its brightness several fold around the middle of this month, according to the Royal Observatory. If it is how at its maximum brightness, it should remain there until early July before dying down.

Whatever it does, there seems to be no end to the excitement among astronomers who have seen the supernova, viewed as a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

Sadler said astronomers who had been assigned time on telescopes in the Southern Hemisphere dropped whatever they were doing to turn their instruments on the supernova whenever possible.

"Just about everybody would jump for something like this," she said. Sadler said she observed the supernova for four or five nights, and during that period it became redder in color. She said one probable explanation for the change in color is that the star is enveloping itself in a cloud of gas.

That, too, is of interest to astronomers because it is generally believed that exploding stars are the fuel the universe uses to create new stars and new galaxies.

Meanwhile, astronomers from Johns Hopkins University, who are at the Las Campanas Observatory, said their observations revealed that the supernova resulted from the explosion of a very large star, "at least eight times the mass of our sun."

WANTED

Feeling cramped?

Find space in classified's home and apartment listings.

Public Notices

NOTICE OF LAND SALE BY COMMISSIONER

Pursuant to and by virtue of the order of the Honorable Sandra Gasinski, Clerk of Superior Court, entered February 24, 1987, in that Special Proceeding entitled "Lucy B. James vs. Helen Dupree, et al", being Pitt County Clerk of Superior Court File #86-SP-179, the undersigned will, on Friday, March 27, 1987, at 12 o'clock noon at the Pitt County Courthouse door in Greenville, North Carolina, offer for sale the highest bidder described to the highest bidder for sale for cash.

Lying and being in Falkland Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and BEGINNING on the south side of the State Road leading from Falkland to Fountain, a corner common to the lands of the late K.R. Woolen and the late Sam Johnson, running thence with the center of a ditch the lines between the Woolen lands and the Sam Johnson lands in a southerly direction to a wagon axle, a corner; running thence in a northerly direction along and with a well fence a boundary line between the lands of the late Sam Johnson and Peaden to the State Highway; running thence along the center of the aforesaid State Highway in an easterly direction to the POINT OF BEGINNING, being a triangular shaped parcel of land containing two acres of land.

The highest bidder will be required to deposit ten percent of the first One Thousand Dollars of bid and five percent of any excess above One Thousand Dollars as evidence of good faith pending confirmation of the sale by the Court. All property will be sold subject to all Pitt County ad valorem taxes due on the property as of the 24th day of February, 1987.

David A. Leech
Commissioner
UNDERWOOD & LEECH
P.O. Box 527
201 Evans Street
Greenville, N.C. 27835
March 5, 12, 19, 26, 1987.

NORTH CAROLINA PITT COUNTY NOTICE

In the Matter of the Estate of ANNIE DRUE GARRIS, Deceased

The undersigned, having qualified as Administrator of the Estate of Annie Drue Garrison, late of Pitt County, North Carolina, hereby notifies all persons having claims against said estate to present them to the undersigned on or before August 27, 1987, or this Notice will be plead in bar of recovery. All persons indebted to the said decedent or estate shall please make immediate payment to the undersigned.

This 23rd day of February, 1987.

L. Nelson Leggett
Administrator of the Estate of Annie Drue Garrison
P.O. Box 7273
Rocky Mount, NC 27804-7273

D. W. McPherson
Attorney at Law
P.O. Box 3435
Greenville, NC 27836-3435
February 26, 1987
March 5, 12, 19, 1987

NORTH CAROLINA PITT COUNTY NOTICE

In the Matter of the Estate of HENRY N. FELTON, JR., Deceased

The undersigned, having qualified as Co-Executor of the Estate of Henry N. Felton, Jr., late of Pitt County, North Carolina, hereby notifies all persons having claims against said estate to present them to the undersigned on or before August 27, 1987, or this Notice will be plead in bar of recovery. All persons indebted to the said decedent or estate shall please make immediate payment to the undersigned.

This 23rd day of February, 1987.

Eibert P. Felton
Co-Executor of the Estate of Henry N. Felton, Jr.
2400 Maplewood Avenue
Winston-Salem, NC 27103

D. W. McPherson
Attorney at Law
P.O. Box 3435
Greenville, NC 27836-3435
February 26, 1987
March 5, 12, 19, 1987

002 Personals

ARE YOU an elderly lady tired or scared or not able to afford living alone? I'm looking for a roommate and companion to live with my elderly mother. Call Carl, 732-5733.

007 Special Notices

BEAUFORT COUNTY Hospital is now accepting proposals for Pest Control Service. Must be bonded, state-licensed, and carry a general liability insurance. Prefer experience in health care environment. For more information, call 975-4202 between 8 and 4:30.

WE PAY CASH for diamonds

Floyd G. Robinson Jewelers, 407 Evans Mall, Downtown Greenville.

011 Autos For Sale

"A GOOD PLACE TO BUY!" EASTGATE MOTORS, INC. 130 East Greenville Blvd. Greenville, 355-2192

WINNER CHEVROLET

George Willis, General Manager

1977-1984 MODELS: Regals, Cutlasses, Camaros, 2802s. Bad credit, no credit or good credit. Call Ken at 971-4000 or 1-800-682-7966.

012 AMC

1974 GREMLIN body parts. 2 Cragar SS mags for AMC or Ford cars, 5 tugs, $25. 758-9952.

013 Buick

NO CREDIT CHECK! 1977 Buick LeSabre Repossession sale. $288 down, $30 a week. $1450. Call 756-8107.

014 Cadillac

1977 CADILLAC ELDERADO. Low mileage, excellent condition. Call C.W. Murray, 752-2118.

015 Chevrolet

1963 BISCAYNE, 4 door, 6 cylinder, straight shift, 47,000 original miles. $300. 758-9952.

1975 CHEVROLET IMPALA. Green. Good condition. $450 firm. Call 757-1421.

1977 EL CAMINO and fiberglass shell. 350 engine, power steering, power brakes, tilt steering wheel, AM/FM radio-cassette, good tires, excellent running condition. Evenings after 6 p.m., call 758-2264.

1980 CITATION. Brown with tan interior. $700. Call 757-1279 after 6 p.m.

1980 CHEVETTE. One owner. Call 355-2565 after 7 p.m. or weekends.

1984 CAMARO Z28. T-top, like new. 20,000 miles. Days, 758-3471 extension 290. Nights, 753-5233.

1985 GRAY Camaro, V-6, fuel injected, cruise, air, power steering/brakes, still under warranty, $300 and take up payments. 524-4006 after 2.

017 Dodge

1972 DODGE POLARA 440. Good 2nd car or ideal candidate to restore to original condition. Call 756-5656 after 5 p.m. weekdays, all day Saturday and Sunday.

018 Ford

1984 GRANADA, air, power steering, automatic, 85,000 miles. $2495. 756-0756.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

020 Mercury

1973 MONTEREY, white with tan vinyl top, loaded and nice. $900. 757-3036 or 756-0088.

1976 MERCURY Montego. $600. Blue on blue. Call 757-1458.

1979 CAPRI RS, V-8, 72,000 miles. $2100. Call 752-6313.

021 Oldsmobile

1980 CUTLASS CRUISER station wagon. Tan and white. $1800. Call 758-2992 or 1-946-4427.

1981 TORONADO, full power, sunroof, must sell. 752-8967.

1983 OLDSMOBILE CUTLASS. Maroon, excellent condition. $3295. Call 752-2315.

022 Plymouth

1980 PLYMOUTH CHAMP. Needs motor and tires. Air, rear defrost, automatic transmission. Best offer by March 15, 1987 takes it. Call 746-2123 after 7:30 p.m. but before 10 p.m.

1981 PLYMOUTH K car. Low mileage. Really nice. $1750. Call 756-8107.

023 Pontiac

NO CREDIT CHECK! 1977 Sunbird. Repossession sale. $288 down, $30 a week. $1295. Call 756-8107.

1977 GRAND PRIX. Light blue, power steering, power brakes, tilt wheel, good condition. $995. Call 752-3766.

1977 PONTIAC VENTURA. Good condition. Best offer. Call 758-2846 after 6 p.m.

1984 PONTIAC Fiero, red with camel interior, 38,000 miles, air, power steering and brakes, AM/FM cassette, excellent condition. Take over payments. 756-1579 or after 7 p.m. 355-6785.

1985 BONNEVILLE Brougham, full power, 65,000 miles. $7000. 758-0356 or 752-7258.

1985 FIERO GT. Red, loaded, $500 and assume loan. Call 758-7303.

1986 GRAND AM, 4 door, 6500 miles. $8,800. 758-0356 or 752-7258.

024 Foreign

1985 HONDA Civic Hatchback DX, air automatic, low mileage, excellent condition. 756-4812.

1985 HONDA ACCORD 4 door sedan with power locks and windows, AM/FM cassette stereo, excellent condition/still new. Call after 6 p.m. 756-7281.

1985 MAZDA RX7 GSL, tender blue, many extras, must sell. $16,500 negotiable 778-7357 p.m.

1986 HONDA Civic 51, loaded, under 9000 miles, excellent condition, 1980 and take over payments. Call 757-3460 Monday-Friday from 5-6 p.m.; 758-4883 Monday-Friday 6:30-10:00 p.m., ask for Jeff.

1984 ISUZU IMARK. Gold with brown interior, air, AM/FM cassette, cruise control and sunroof. 15,000 miles. Asking $7000. Call after 6, 746-3494 or 355-7592.

029 Auto Parts & Service

A GRADE used tires and recaps. Big selection. Check our low prices. Stallings Tire Service. 1600 North Greene, across from Webb Grain Bins. 758-1671.

A TIRES SALE. Used $6 up good trade in. New BW radials: $28 up. All plus $5 installation and tax. Quality Tire and Auto Service, North Greene Street. 752-7177.

A USED Tire Special. Big selection, all sizes, good tread. $8 up. Stallings Tire Service. 1600 North Greene, 758-1671.

032 Boats & Motors

BASS BOAT 16', 70 horsepower, trolling motor, flasher, live well, bow cover and more! Good condition. $2800. Serious calls only. 756-2770.

12' SEARS JON BOAT. $175. 757-1426.

1976 15' BASS boat, 35 horsepower Johnson, electric start, motor perfect. $1000. 757-1426.

1983 17' O'DAY Day Sailer and trailer. Call 756-0957 after 6 p.m.

23' SEA OX. 1986 model, walk up. All plus $5 installation and tax. I/O. All options. Equipped for fishing, full electronics, low hours, excellent condition. Asking $28,000. 758-2300 days; 758-1742 nights.

034 Camping Equipment

1984 23' ROCKWOOD motor home. Low mileage, good condition. $19,000. Call 355-2962.

036 Cycles For Sale

HONDA V30 MAGNA, 7,000 miles. $1400 or best offer. 757-3025.

1986 HONDA CM400T. $350. Call before 10:30 a.m. or after 7:00 p.m. 752-9230.

1984 HONDA V-45 Magna, 5500 miles, 2 years old, must sell. $2500 negotiable. 752-2234.

1986 RADIAN - $400 Factory rebate, $2099. Stan's Cycle Center, Inc. 210 West Greenville Boulevard. 757-0592.

040 Jeeps & Vans

JEEP CHEROKEE, 1982, 4x4, V-8, automatic, air, power steering, power brakes, AM/FM cassette. $6250 negotiable. Grifton, 524-5265.

1984 JEEP C-J-7. Hard top, very clean. Call 756-1496.

1986 ISUZU Trooper 11, 27,000 miles, customized, Sony stereo system. 825-0111 days; Nights, 838-1671.

041 Trucks

FOR SALE: 1979 Ford Courier. Needs body work. $750. 753-4543.

1974 GMC. V-8, automatic transmission. Runs good. Call 752-1579 after 5 p.m.

1978 DATSUN pickup with cap, good condition, $1950. Call 756-9563 after 6 p.m.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Swimming Pools

Chemicals, Supplies Construction GREENVILLE POOL & SUPPLY 355-7121 Hwy 43 South, Greenville

SUPERVISOR: Rotating Shift Supervisor needed for approximately 75 employee company in Grifton, N.C. area involved in cleaning machinery parts. College degree preferred, but not necessary, with minimum 2-3 years supervisory experience and these skills:

- 1) Excellent written and verbal communication
2) Good mechanical aptitude
3) Quality minded
4) Supervise 15-20 shift employees
5) Planning/decision making skills
6) Excellent interface relations with customer via phone and personal contact.

Salary and benefit package negotiable and competitive for area. Please no phone calls. Resume required when applying at:

Employment Security Commission of N.C. 2100 Presbyterian Lane Kinston, N.C. 28501 (Equal Employment Opportunity Employer)

AUTOMOTIVE SALESPERSON WANTED:

SALES PROFESSIONAL

For local, well established used car firm. We offer full benefits, including retirement, hospitalization and paid vacation. If you are interested, please contact Robin Little at:

BROWN & WOOD

1205 Dickinson Avenue Corner of Dickinson and 14th St. 752-2882

ACCIDENT? CAR IN THE SHOP? NEED A SPARE?

CALL U-SAVE AUTO RENTAL 756-2595

$8.50 Daily 08 Mile (CDW and tax not included)

-We are the car replacement specialist

-We have pickup and delivery service

-No credit card required

"WE MAKE RENTING EASY!"

U-SAVE SAVES YOU MONEY!

042 Trucks

1979 CHEVY Shortbed. Sleep-side, 3 speed manual transmission, 350 engine, 4 barrel, low mileage. $2495 negotiable. Call 758-3292 or 1-946-4427.

1981 FORD PICKUP truck. 4 speed overdrive, 80,000 miles, good shape. $2750. Call 830-1658.

1984 GMC S15 Blazer. Power steering, brakes, air, tilt, cruise. All terrain radials, 4 wheel drive, 2 tone paint, V-6, luggage rack, trailer hitch. $7800. Call 753-3492.

1984 MAZDA, super nice, long bed, all options, 16,000 miles, $4700. 757-1626.

1986 FORD Ranger XL mid-size pickup, air, AM/FM stereo, 5,500 miles. 752-8847 after 6 p.m.

044 Child Care

SEEKING MATURE Christian lady to keep 3 month old in our home Monday-Friday. Experience and references required. Call 756-2653.

050 Pets

AKC BASSETT PUPPIES. Shots and wormed. Call 975-2335 after 5 p.m.

AKC COCKER SPANIELS. Blonde, $100. Call 522-6561.

AKC REGISTERED black Labrador Retriever, 5 years old, on heartworm preventive pills. Best offer. Call anytime 1-524-4715.

AKC REGISTERED Pomeranians for sale. Call 355-6531.

BEAUTIFUL AKC Registered black and white Siberian Husky pups. Ready for their new homes! 1 female, 3 males. 753-2081.

BOXER PUPPIES. Call 758-6433 after 3 p.m.

FOUR FEMALE German Shepherd puppies, 10 weeks old, $25 each. Call 749-4061.

FREE TO GOOD HOME. Small mixed black lab, female, 4 months old. Call 756-8286.

9 WEEK OLD black and white kitten, free to good home. Playful and litter trained. Call 756-8358 after 6.

057 Help Wanted Administrative

ACTION RESUMES Specialists in Marketing Human Potential. 30 years experience. Letters and Job Search Techniques. 637-2889.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR for non-profit agency. Education and experience in human services field and administrative experience required. Send resume and salary requirements to Director, P.O. Box 254, Greenville, NC 27835-0254.

058 Help Wanted Clerical

We are a rapidly growing organization seeking a highly motivated individual to join us as an Administrative Secretary. The preferred candidate will have excellent communication skills, organizational skills, and 2 years executive secretarial experience. This position offers a competitive salary and outstanding benefits as well as an open ended career growth opportunity with an industry leader. Send resume to Administrative Secretary, P.O. Box 1967, Greenville, NC 27835.

ADMINISTRATIVE Secretary. Experienced in work processing operation/excellent clerical skills. Legal knowledge helpful. Call Atlantic Personnel, 355-7931.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

058 Help Wanted Clerical

BOOKKEEPER NEEDED for new car dealership. Experience required. Send resume to: Bookkeeper, P.O. Box 1967, Greenville, NC 27835.

BOOKKEEPER/Accounts Receivable clerk needed immediately. Experience on computer necessary for this position. Apply in person: 121, 309 Anderson Avenue, Farmville, N.C.

COMPETENT and industrious individual needed for a full-time secretarial position. Requirements for the position include: high school graduation or equivalency certificate, a combination of schooling and work experience beyond high school, typing proficiency of at least 60 words per minute, excellent telephone skills, and the ability to greet public professionally. Salary range $12,144-$13,512 DOE. Applications will be accepted through March 12, 1987, at the Agricultural Extension Service Office, 1717 West Fifth Street, Greenville, NC.

GRADY WHITE BOATS has an immediate opening for an individual with a strong clerical background. Typing of 50 words per minute and 1 year of clerical experience required. Call for more information, 752-2111, extension 257.

ORDER ENTRY/Invoicing clerk needed immediately for business in Farmville. Good pay and benefits. Apply in person at TPI, 309 Anderson Avenue, Farmville, N.C.

WORD PROCESSORS & Executive Secretaries needed immediately. Call Frank, Manpower, 118 Reade St., 757-3300.

059 Help Wanted Medical

DENTAL OFFICE needs outgoing "people person" to help with all phases of patient administration. Good communication skills, typing, strong collection skills necessary. Excellent salary and benefits. Call 752-2727, 7-9 p.m.

DENTAL HYGIENIST, immediate opening in Washington, NC. Send resume to Dental Hygienist, P.O. Box 1967, Greenville, NC 27835.

DENTAL HYGIENIST, full time position, modern office, pleasant atmosphere. Send resume to P.O. Box 888, Williamston, NC 27892. 792-1131.

LPN NEEDED for growing nursing home. Good benefits, experience preferred. Send resume to LPN, P.O. Box 1967, Greenville, NC 27835.

NURSE. RN or LPN, part-time or full time, 40 hours/week. Vanapuncture required. Salary plus bonus. Call The Dietary Club, 756-2611.

PHARMACY TECHNICIAN position available. Duties include order entry and filling under pharmacist supervision. Call Pharm-Save at 1-800-682-0662, ask for Sarah.

PHLEBOTOMIST needed for growing medical practice. Good benefits. Experience required. Good benefits. Send resume to Phlebotomist, P.O. Box 1967, Greenville, NC 27835.

RN'S. Positions available for full time or part time. Excellent fringe benefits. Contact Personnel Department, Beaufort County Hospital, 628 East 12th Street, Washington, NC 27889.

RN'S NEEDED to provide in-home patient care services. Full and part-time positions. Aurora Home Health Agency. 800-682-0919. EOE.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

059 Help Wanted Medical

RN'S NEEDED for 1st and 2nd shifts. Starting salary $28,000 per year. Excellent holiday and vacation benefits. Blue Cross/Blue Shield group insurance and retirement program. Contact Ms. Miller at 919-946-9570, Ridgewood Manor, Washington, NC for further information.

SCHEDULING Coordinator for private duty nursing company. Tuesday-Friday, 32 hours per week. Scheduling experience necessary. Prefer someone with medical related background. Starting $5 per hour. Contact Northcare Health Services between 2 and 4 p.m., 640-H Medical Drive, Greenville, Call 757-0029.

060 Help Wanted Miscellaneous

AAA EMPLOYMENT RECEPTIONIST SERVICE MANAGER DAYCARE JANITOR OFFICE CASHIER TIRE CHANGER 101 West 14th Street Suite 203 758-1392 Low Fee Personnel Service

AGES 16-21, out of school. Free job training through Job Corps. Also G.E.D. Social Services, Greenville, Wednesday, 12 noon-2 p.m.

APPLICATIONS NOW being accepted for experienced dry cleaning personnel for new dry cleaning plant. Good pay. Call 756-4001.

ASSISTANT MANAGER Womens clothing. Experienced. 5 day work week. Excellent salary and benefits package. Call Atlantic Personnel, 355-7931.

AUTO PARTS Cashier-varied day and evening hours. $3.50/hour. Call Atlantic Personnel, 355-7931.

BARMAID. No experience. The Sports Ped. 757-0472, George

CASHIER, COOK or multi-talented cafeteria person. This job is for you. Good starting pay and benefits. Apply in person at Service America Cafe at Burroughs Wellcome between 1:30 and 3:30. No phone calls.

CASHIERS, Cashiers. Apply now for varied shifts. Call Atlantic Personnel, 355-7931.

CHURCH PIANIST needed Sunday mornings and Wednesday nights, 752-2018 or 798-3271.

CLERKS for convenience store. All shifts. Apply in person at Kash and Carry on Highway 43 at Bell's Fork.

COIN LAUNDRY Attendant. Interviews starting March 10, 24. Crown Cleaners, 1902 Greenville Boulevard, S.E. 752-7529.

DRY CLEANING and Shirt Pressors. Interviews starting March 10, 24. Crown Cleaners, 1902 Greenville Boulevard, S.E. 752-7529.

EARN GREAT MONEY, work your own hours. Sell Avon - #1 Beauty Company, 756-6396.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

MOBILE HOMES

Something NEW "CUSTOM WINDOWS" "Just For YOU!"

C.L. Lupton Co. 752-6116

School/Instructon

Train to be a TRAVEL AGENT TOUR GUIDE AIRLINE RESERVATIONIST

Start locally, full time/part time, train on live airline computers. Home study and resident training. Financial aid available. Job placement assistance. National Headquarters - Lighthouse Point, FL. A.C.T. TRAVEL SCHOOL 1-800-327-7728 Accredited Member NHSC

WANTED

MARINE TECHNICIAN

Needs experience in rigging and basic outboard repairs. Salary equivalent to experience. Full benefits package. 752-2882

SALES PEOPLE NEEDED

Fast growing automotive industry is in need of career oriented Sales People. Must have professional appearance, positive mental attitude, and be self-motivated. Hospitalization benefits, life insurance, paid vacation, demo program, good working conditions. Contact Bob Oliver at 355-5099 for an appointment.

CHEM LAWN

LAWN SPECIALIST. We are looking for a hardworking, self-starting individual with desire to work outdoors and have much customer contact. Excellent opportunity for advancement within the company, fluctuating peak work loads, truck driving and some customer contact by phone. No experience necessary. Minimum requirement is high school diploma, college preferred. Salary starts at $250 per week plus health, dental, life insurance benefits, paid vacations, holidays and bonus days. Call 758-3161 Monday through Friday from 8:00-5:00.

Fast Fare

FAST FARE is the finest convenience store chain in America with many locations in the Greenville area. We need energetic, dependable people for the following positions:

Managers - $13,800 yearly Plus Bonus Plan

Assistant Managers - $4.20-$5.50/Hour

Full and Part Time Clerks-$3.60-$4.50/Hour

3rd Shift Pays An additional 25% per hour

Why not work for the best?

Immediate positions available. Apply at the Fast Fare Division office located at 222-B Cotanche Street in Greenville between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Equal Opportunity Employer

060 Help Wanted Miscellaneous

EXPERIENCED Housekeeper. 753-4472.

FAMILY RESTAURANT seeks qualified managers for eastern NC. Must have previous food service/management experience. Fee reimbursed. Call Atlantic Personnel, 355-7931.

FINANCIAL organization seeks experienced person to work in loan department. Salary DOE. Call Atlantic Personnel, 355-7931.

FULL TIME COOK Experience in steak and seafood helpful but not necessary. 35-40 hours per week. Duties include training and scheduling other cooks. Call 756-1161 for appointment.

FULL TIME Prep person and lineperson needed, daytime. Full time daytime utility person. Part-time cooks. Apply in person, Tuesday-Thursday, from 2-4 at Golden Corral, Greenville, NC. No phone calls please.

GOVERNMENT JOBS $400 to $1600 weekly. Immediate openings. 815-77-1444 extension 1074 for current Federal list.

GROUNDSMAN Capable of maintaining and operating grounds equipment. Contact Oakmont Square, 1212 Red Banks Road, Greenville. 756-4151.

061 Help Wanted Sales

AN EXCITING opportunity to earn $35-50K per year in commission outside sales representing the nation's largest...

061 Help Wanted Sales

LOOKING FOR ambitious, motivated real estate agents to work with a new and growing agency...

061 Help Wanted Sales

SALESPERSON wanted with direct outside sales background. Ideal career for self starter looking for advancement...

063 Help Wanted Technical & Trades

WANTED SHEET METAL Mechanic. Able to do sheet metal and flexible duct board. Small jobs only...

060 Fuel, Wood, Coal

ALL SPLIT, oak firewood, ready to go. 756-3015. CARMON'S oak firewood ready now. 756-3730.

099 Miscellaneous

INSTANT CASH LOANS ON BUYING Guns, TV's, stereo, silver, jewelry, coins, most anything of value...

102 Mobile Homes For Sale

1979 14' WIDE 3-Bedroom. $48,74 down. Only 167.00 per month. Call Quinn 756-7138.

124 Professional

CHIMNEY SWEEPING. Gid Holman, North Carolina's original chimney sweep. 30 years experience working with chimneys and fireplaces...

144 Houses For Sale

CAMELOT. By owner. Custom built 3 bedroom ranch. Many extras. $75,500. 756-9524.

061 Help Wanted Teachers

MIDDLE GRADE Social Studies. Send resume to Dr. Richard Hayes, Tarboro City Schools, P.O. Box 370, Tarboro, NC 27866.

062 Help Wanted Teachers

Opportunity for Teacher. Financial institution willing to invest in two teachers to train in sales and management...

063 Help Wanted Technical & Trades

BRICKLAYERS wanted. $8-11 per hour. Sutton and Goddard Masonry, 825-6919 or 792-1066.

063 Help Wanted Technical & Trades

HOUSECLEANING workers needed. Must live within 2 miles of Greenville. Must have own transportation and work 40 hours/week...

061 Furniture

COMPLETE TWIN BED. $35. Excellent condition. 756-3787. COUNTRY LOVESEAT and sofa by Major Clay Manor. Excellent condition...

062 Garage-Yard Sales

SALEMEN'S SAMPLE Sale. Men's and boy's. 204 Queen Street, Griffin, NC. Saturdays, 9-3-87.

102 Mobile Homes For Sale

1982 CONNER. 56x12, 2 bedrooms, 1 bath. Super clean. Only $495 down, payments of $190 per month...

124 Professional

FOR SALE OR LEASE: Warehouse, Farmville, 6,000+ square feet. Truck scales, rail siding, on 1.6 acres. 1-527-5171.

144 Houses For Sale

FOR SALE. Real nice 2 bedroom house. Living room, den, kitchen, bath, a room for office or another bedroom. Newly decorated. Location: Colonial Heights. $46,500. Call 752-2215.

061 Help Wanted Sales

FOOD SALES. Nationally known food sales and service company has expanded into North Carolina and is seeking full time women and men for food sales positions...

061 Help Wanted Sales

MEDICARE Supplements and life insurance agents needed. 1-800-642-0483. Julie.

062 Help Wanted Teachers

CIVIL ENGINEER, EIT or ENGINEERING TECHNICIAN experienced in site development, water, sewer, roadway and drainage projects...

063 Help Wanted Technical & Trades

INTERIOR AND EXTERIOR painting. Free estimates. G & G Painters, 756-6246 or 758-2643.

061 Furniture

MOVING. Brothly solid pine dining table with 6 highback chairs, $300. 2 piece hutch, $300. Traditional green sofa, good condition...

062 Garage-Yard Sales

SEARS WASHER and dryer for sale. 355-5267 for information. SEARS Craftsman air compressor, 2 cylinder, 2 horse power, 20 gallon tank, 125 psi.

102 Mobile Homes For Sale

24x40 DOUBLEWIDE ready set up in park. 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, fireplace, central air, mini-blinds, ceiling fan, underplined. Priced reasonably...

124 Professional

FOR SALE - PATIO home. Heritage Village. Available May 15. Two bedrooms, 1 bath, great room with fireplace, kitchen with all appliances...

144 Houses For Sale

FOR SALE. Real nice 2 bedroom house. Living room, den, kitchen, bath, a room for office or another bedroom. Newly decorated. Location: Colonial Heights. $46,500. Call 752-2215.

061 Help Wanted Sales

IMMEDIATE OPENINGS for experienced sales people. Must be dedicated, energetic, goal-oriented individuals who want to grow with leading radio stations. Call 736-1150 in Goldsboro...

061 Help Wanted Sales

REAL ESTATE Salesperson needed for a progressive company. Professional training, assistance with clients, sales aids, plus exciting inventory of homes to sell are offered...

062 Help Wanted Teachers

ELECTRICIANS wanted. Send resume to JSC of North Carolina, 205F Shiloh Drive, Greenville, NC 27834.

063 Help Wanted Technical & Trades

REMODELING. I can paint and carpet your house in just 2 days, no weekend. Repairs and restretching carpet. Call for Ralph at 756-9557.

061 Furniture

SLEEPER SOFA, queen size, rust plaid; 2 swivel rockers in cord; coordinating colors and 1 rust LazyBoy rocker recliner. Will sell together or separately.

062 Garage-Yard Sales

SPACE INVADER GAME, excellent working condition, cocktail style. $350. Call Harry, 756-2291.

102 Mobile Homes For Sale

1984 14' WIDE, payments as low as $141.86. Greenville volume dealer. Thomas' Mobile Home Sales. Across from Airport. 752-6048.

124 Professional

FOR SALE OR LEASE: Warehouse, Farmville, 6,000+ square feet. Truck scales, rail siding, on 1.6 acres. 1-527-5171.

144 Houses For Sale

FOR SALE. Real nice 2 bedroom house. Living room, den, kitchen, bath, a room for office or another bedroom. Newly decorated. Location: Colonial Heights. $46,500. Call 752-2215.

061 Help Wanted Sales

SALES REPRESENTATIVE. Excellent opportunity for ambitious self-motivated individual in sales. Studio 86, a rapidly growing professional firm will train qualified candidates for a challenging career in sales.

061 Help Wanted Sales

SALES. WNCN FM 108 is looking for 1 aggressive, self-motivated individual to call on existing clients and develop new business.

062 Help Wanted Teachers

ELECTRONIC TECHNICIAN. 2 year technical school graduate a must. Full time employment. 8-5, Monday-Friday. Inside work. Call 753-4433.

063 Help Wanted Technical & Trades

REMODELING. I can paint and carpet your house in just 2 days, no weekend. Repairs and restretching carpet. Call for Ralph at 756-9557.

061 Furniture

ROOF LEAKS FIXED and minor repairs. 18 years experience. Work guaranteed. After 6 p.m. call 752-5906.

062 Garage-Yard Sales

WASHERS, dryers, color TV's, refrigerators and stoves. $100 up. Guaranteed. 746-6929.

102 Mobile Homes For Sale

1984 14' WIDE, payments as low as $141.86. Greenville volume dealer. Thomas' Mobile Home Sales. Across from Airport. 752-6048.

124 Professional

FOR SALE OR LEASE: Warehouse, Farmville, 6,000+ square feet. Truck scales, rail siding, on 1.6 acres. 1-527-5171.

144 Houses For Sale

FOR SALE. Real nice 2 bedroom house. Living room, den, kitchen, bath, a room for office or another bedroom. Newly decorated. Location: Colonial Heights. $46,500. Call 752-2215.

061 Help Wanted Sales

SALES REPRESENTATIVE. Excellent opportunity for ambitious self-motivated individual in sales. Studio 86, a rapidly growing professional firm will train qualified candidates for a challenging career in sales.

061 Help Wanted Sales

SALES. WNCN FM 108 is looking for 1 aggressive, self-motivated individual to call on existing clients and develop new business.

062 Help Wanted Teachers

ELECTRONIC TECHNICIAN. 2 year technical school graduate a must. Full time employment. 8-5, Monday-Friday. Inside work. Call 753-4433.

063 Help Wanted Technical & Trades

REMODELING. I can paint and carpet your house in just 2 days, no weekend. Repairs and restretching carpet. Call for Ralph at 756-9557.

061 Furniture

ROOF LEAKS FIXED and minor repairs. 18 years experience. Work guaranteed. After 6 p.m. call 752-5906.

062 Garage-Yard Sales

WASHERS, dryers, color TV's, refrigerators and stoves. $100 up. Guaranteed. 746-6929.

102 Mobile Homes For Sale

1984 14' WIDE, payments as low as $141.86. Greenville volume dealer. Thomas' Mobile Home Sales. Across from Airport. 752-6048.

124 Professional

FOR SALE OR LEASE: Warehouse, Farmville, 6,000+ square feet. Truck scales, rail siding, on 1.6 acres. 1-527-5171.

144 Houses For Sale

FOR SALE. Real nice 2 bedroom house. Living room, den, kitchen, bath, a room for office or another bedroom. Newly decorated. Location: Colonial Heights. $46,500. Call 752-2215.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

CAR DETAIL PERSON NEEDED. Multi-franchise automobile dealership is looking for a professional Car Detail Person. Hospitalization benefits, life insurance, paid vacation, good working conditions. Must have at least one year experience. Contact Bob Oliver at 355-5099 for an appointment.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Special Purchase. 1986!!! 5 TO CHOOSE FROM. HIGH PERFORMANCE - FEATURES. • Top Speed; Very Fast • Power Windows • Moon Roof • Body By; KARMANN • Front Engine-Rear Wheel Drive • 2.3L Turbocharged EFI Engine • 5-Speed Manual Transmission • Independent Rear Suspension • Gas-Filled Shock Absorbers • Pirelli P6 195/60HR-14 Tires • Cast-Aluminum Alloy Wheels • Front and Rear Stabilizer Bars • Variable Ratio Power Rack-and-Pinion Steering • Power Front Disc Brakes • Halogen Headlamps and Foglamps • Air Conditioning • Horsepower 175 at 5200 RPMs • Power Door Locks • Warranty 4 Year 50,000 Miles • Major Components • Unit Body Construction • Automatic Trans (Avail) • Merkur Commitment • 5-MPH Front/Rear Bumpers • Electronic AM/FM Stereo Cassette • Dual Power Heated Mirrors • Multi-Adjustable Front Seats • Intermittent Windshield Wipers • Rear Wiper and Washer • Rear Window Defroster • Dual Console Map Lights • Footwell Lights with Time Delay • Rear Shoulder Belts • Split Fold-Down Rear Seat

Jim Smith Chevrolet Is Pleased To Announce. WOODY WOODLARD Is Our Newest Addition To Our Sales Staff. He invites all his friends to come by and see him at... Keep that great GM feeling with genuine GM parts. CHEVROLET SMITH. 2201 DICKINSON AVE. 756-4267 GREENVILLE, N.C. Hwy. 264 Farmville 753-3122 Toll Free 1-800-523-7008

144 Houses For Sale

PINERIDGE Seller is transferring but his loss can be your gain in this immaculate cedar ranch; Only two years old and offers large greatroom with fireplace, dining room, three bedrooms, two baths, large wooded lot for privacy. $58,900. A must see! Call Sue Dunn at Aldridge & Southerland, 756-3500; Nights, 355-2588.

WATERFRONT VILLAGE townhome, F.I. By owner. $43,500. 757-2861/756-8792.

SPACIOUS multi-sectioned, 3 bedroom, 2 full bath, house with over 1550 square feet, fully furnished with 17' frost-free refrigerator, dishwasher, built-in stereo, 2 ceiling fans, fireplace, storm windows, sliding patio doors, bay window, and much, much more for less than $20 per square foot. Financing available from 15 to 30 years at 8 1/2% APR. Call us today at Greenville Housing Center, 756-9874.

STANTONSBURG ESTATES. This immaculate ranch offers large greatroom with fireplace, dining room, three bedrooms, two baths, deck. Spacious and roomy floor plan. $64,900. Call Sue Dunn at Aldridge & Southerland, 756-3500; Nights, 355-2588.

152 Lots For Sale

BEAUTIFUL WOODED lot. 11x299 in Lakewood Pines. 355-2959 10-5 weekdays.

CLEARED LOTS between Ayden and Griffon 3/4 to 1 1/2 plus acres. Starting at $3750. Call 746-2417.

LARGE LOTS - May include septic tank, well, 200 amp meter pole, no down payment, 100% owner financing. Call 752-5567.

LOTS FOR SALE in 2 locations sized up to 10 acres. Water and septic tank available. Possible 100% financing guaranteed. Call 758-5103.

ONE ACRE lot for sale, County Road 1404. 752-1556.

ONE ACRE wooded lot by owner in Millbrook Subdivision, Simpson. 756-7881.

RESIDENTIAL LOTS outside Bethel available for $8,000; all ready perked. Call Sue Dunn at Aldridge & Southerland, 756-3500; Nights, 355-2588.

161 Apartments For Rent

ABSOLUTELY NICE Village East, 2 bedrooms, washer/dryer hookups, water furnished, $265 per month. 757-1626.

BETTER LOOK at this one. Almost new 2 bedroom duplex with refrigerator, range and dishwasher, large utility room with pantry. Located only a few blocks off Greenville Boulevard. $350 per month. Call Brian Jones at 756-6666 or 758-1775.

CAPTAINS QUARTERS East Twelfth Street Spacious one bedroom near ECU. Dishwasher, refrigerator, range and washer hook-up. Call REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

CARRIAGE HOUSE Apartments. Highway 43 South, just past the plaza, 2 bedroom townhouses, all electric, fully carpeted, pool and laundry room. Call 756-3450 after 5 p.m.

161 Apartments For Rent

KINGS ARMS Large 1 bedroom apartments. Carpeted, modern kitchen appliances, heat pump for energy efficient heating and cooling. Laundry facilities. 1209 Charles Boulevard, Office Apartment 104. Also Available Furnished Apartments. 752-8915

KINGS ROW Apartments 1 & 2 Bedroom Garden Apartments Appliances furnished, carpet, central heat and air, Free Cable TV, Pool and laundry facilities. 24 hour emergency maintenance. Located off East 10th Street behind Harbison and Western Steer. Office hours 9:00-5:30, Monday-Friday. 752-3519

LANGSTON PARK Stencil Drive

ONE MONTH RENT free. Two bedroom apartment by the river. Energy efficient appliances, washer/dryer hook-ups. Water and cable included in $300 rent. REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

161 Apartments For Rent

TWO BEDROOM apartment for rent. Hospital area. 757-1445.

UPSTAIRS APARTMENT for rent. $200 per month. Single occupant only. No pets. 1709 4th Street. Available immediately. Call CENTURY 21 Bass Realty, 756-6666.

WEDGEWOOD ARMS 2 bedroom, 1 1/2 bath townhouses. Excellent location. Carrier heat pumps, whirlpool kitchen, washer-dryer hookups, pool, tennis court. 355-6362.

WEST HILLS TOWNHOMES SR 1204

TWO BEDROOM, 2 1/2 bath townhomes. Fully equipped with energy efficient appliances, storage, washer/dryer hook-ups. Near CMH. Call REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

WESTHILLS Townhouse, 1 mile from hospital. Like new, 2 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, cable hookups, professional neighbors. Immediate occupancy. No pets. $350/month. 355-6002 or 756-7541.

173 Houses For Rent

AVAILABLE MARCH 15, 2 bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, carport, nice yard, excellent neighborhood. $480 per month. Forbes Realty, 756-2121.

AVAILABLE NOW, University area, 3 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, all appliances, $345 per month. Forbes Realty, 756-2121.

CAPE COD home in the university area. Living room with fireplace, 2 bedrooms, dining room, spacious kitchen with all appliances plus a sunroom. 1904 East 4th Street, $450 per month. For more information call Century 21 Bass Realty, 756-6666 or Ann Bass, 355-6966.

CONVENIENTLY located 3 bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, carport, and fenced yard. Blanche Forbes Realty, 756-2121.

CONVENIENTLY LOCATED 3 bedroom, 2 bath, central air, garage, new carpet, fenced in yard. $495. 355-7074.

COUNTRY HOUSE, 7 rooms, 2 baths, 2 car garage, between Ayden and Griffon. 524-5507.

COUNTRY 3 bedroom $275 or 3 bedroom workshop $350 Others too! 752-1375 Homelocators Fee.

HOUSE FOR RENT. Call 753-7180 or 753-3329.

IN AYDEN, 3 bedrooms, central heat and air, carpet, $340. Call 746-6394 or 752-5167.

IN COUNTRY, 1 bedroom, tobacco barn, carpet, appliances. 524-3180.

LARGE TWO STORY 3 bedroom house. 109 Columbia Avenue. $315 per month. Call 3119, 8-5, Monday-Friday, 758-3191.

SEE THEM FIRST! Don't wait until they are rented! All areas, prices and sizes call today 752-1375. Homelocators Fee.

THREE BEDROOM furnished house. Good student location. $350/month. Call 244-1207 after 5:30 p.m.

THREE BEDROOM, 1 1/2 baths, den, living room, large kitchen, dishwasher, garage, air conditioning, central heat, drapes, fenced backyard. Hardee Acres, $425 per month plus deposit. Days, 756-8666, evenings, 757-1695. Owner/broker.

173 Houses For Rent

THREE BEDROOM house in Ayden. Available immediately. Married couples only. Lease and deposit required. $375 month. Estate Realty Co., 830-1040.

THREE BEDROOM, 1 1/2 bath brick home, 1 1/2 miles past Candlewick Estates. Appliances furnished. No pets. Deposit required. $350 per month. 756-4506 or 758-5972.

THREE BEDROOM, 1 bath home. Heat pump. Carpeted. Like new. $425 plus deposit. Year's lease. 752-7437 after 5.

TWO BEDROOM, stove and refrigerator, lease and deposit required, no pets. $320. 204 East 12th Street. Call after 6:00 p.m., 756-0489 or 756-6382.

UNIVERSITY AREA 3 bedroom for rent. Call 756-1160.

WON'T LAST! 3 bedroom $350 garage, dog run or 4 bedroom $450 752-1375 Homelocators Fee.

111 SPEIGHT, 3 miles from hospital off Stantonburg Road, 3 bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, great room, eat-in kitchen, washer/dryer hookups, central heat and air, deposit and lease required, $400 per month. 355-2961.

3 BEDROOM, 1 1/2 bath house for rent in Country Square, off Highway 33 West. Central heat and air, $350 per month. 3 bedroom, 1 bath house in Pineridge on Bunch Lane $350 per month. Both require 1 month security deposit and 1 year lease. Duffus Realty, Inc. 756-2675.

400 LINE AVENUE. Two bedrooms, central air and heat. $250 per month. Appliances furnished. Call 355-6753.

179 Mobile Homes For Rent

A CHEAP! 2 bedroom $125 per ok or big 3 bedroom 2 bath $200 752-1375 Homelocators Fee.

BUT THERE IS MORE! All areas, all prices and sizes. Greenville's one stop rental shop. Call today 752-1375 Homelocators Fee.

MOBILE HOME for rent in Shady Knoll. No pets. Call 752-7212 or 753-5072.

STOP HERE! 2 bedroom $150 or 3 bedroom $190 Both furnished 752-1375 Homelocators Fee.

TWO BEDROOM mobile home at Bel Arthur. Partly furnished. $165 per month. Call 355-7042.

TWO BEDROOMS, completely furnished. Washer/dryer. No pets. 752-0196.

TWO BEDROOM furnished. No children. No pets. Call 758-6679.

1 AND 2 bedroom Mobile homes, $130 and up. Also Mobile home lot for rent. No pets and no children. 758-0745.

2 BEDROOMS, unfurnished, 1 mile from Greenville in Belvoir Estates, $150 per month. Call 830-1672 or 752-0978.

8 MILES OUT on Stantonburg Road, New, 14x70, total electric, washer/dryer. For rent on private lot. Call after 5:30. 753-5869.

181 Office Space For Rent

NEW EXECUTIVE office suites for lease at 301 West 14th Street. 2 suites with 1135 square feet. 1 suite with 1135 square feet. Security system, separate utilities. High quality below market rental rates. Call Ollie Harrington and Son Builders, Inc., 752-5086.

OFFICES AT DUNN-GRIER with burglar alarm system, conference room, copy machine and answering services available; priced reasonable. 756-1076 or 758-0423.

PRIME OFFICE Space for rent located on Greenville Boulevard. Please call 756-9404.

1728 SQUARE feet, Eastbrook Drive, adjacent to Blue Cross/Blue Shield, utilities and janitorial furnished. 752-0763 or 758-2138.

900 SQUARE feet for office or retail, located 2739 East 10th Street. $225 month. Utilities excluded. 752-4233 or 752-2540.

153 Loans & Mortgages

MILLIONS to loan regardless of credit! If you have equity in your home, we can give you the cash. 919-731-2322.

155 Resort Property For Sale

OCEAN AND SOUNDFRONT Single family building lots and unique homes in multi-family village clusters. Pine Knoll Shores, near Myrtle Beach. City. Planned community with outstanding recreation and sporting amenities. Video tape and brochures. Call BEACON'S REACH, 1-800-672-6007.

TRAILER on Bogue Banks, Salterpath, 2 bedrooms, air, 10x50, $3500. 247-5448 evenings.

161 Apartments For Rent

SPACIOUS TWO BEDROOM, 1 1/2 bath apartments with range, refrigerator, dishwasher and air. Free basic cable TV, water and sewer. Washer/dryer hook-ups plus laundry room, pool, sauna, tennis court, club house. 752-1557

COLLEGE VIEW Two bedrooms close to University going fast! Call REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

CONTEMPORARY duplexes on 1 acre lots at Frog Level. $280-$300. No pets. Fully carpeted with utility room. 756-4674 before 5:00 p.m. after 5.

161 Apartments For Rent

CHERRY COURT Spacious 2 bedroom townhouse with 1 1/2 baths. Also 1 bedroom apartments available. All are carpeted, with modern kitchen appliances including compact and dishwasher. Central heat and air. Free basic cable TV, water and sewer. Washer/dryer hook-ups plus laundry room, pool, sauna, tennis court, club house. 752-1557

DOCTORS PARK APARTMENTS A wooded community planned with you in mind. If you are particular about where you live, consider these features: *One, Two and Three Bedroom Apartments *Garden and Townhouse with Private Patio *Balcony *Spacious Living Areas *Dishwasher, Disposal, Frost Free Refrigerator *Pantry *Washer and Dryer Connections *Adequate Storage *Fully Carpeted *Cablevision *Energy Saving Heatpumps *Fully Insulated *Smoke Detectors.

161 Apartments For Rent

WILLIAMSBURG MANOR 102D Concord Drive Large 2 bedroom, 1 1/2 bath townhome available in professional area. Energy efficient appliances with washer/dryer hook-ups and private patio. No pets. Immediate occupancy. Call REMCO EAST for appointment. 758-6061.

WILSON ACRES APARTMENTS 1806 East First Street 2 and 3 bedroom townhouses, 1 1/2 baths. Free water, sewer, and electric. Fully equipped kitchen, washer and dryer connections, energy efficient, outside storage room, private enclosed patios. Sign one year's lease. Move in March. 756-4151

WOOD'S EDGE Brand new spacious two bedroom duplexes located in a quiet residential community featuring: Greatroom with cathedral ceiling, fireplace, fully equipped kitchen, washer and dryer connections, energy efficient, outside storage room, private enclosed patios. Sign one year's lease. Move in March. 756-4151

173 Houses For Rent

THREE BEDROOM furnished house. Good student location. $350/month. Call 244-1207 after 5:30 p.m.

THREE BEDROOM, 1 1/2 baths, den, living room, large kitchen, dishwasher, garage, air conditioning, central heat, drapes, fenced backyard. Hardee Acres, $425 per month plus deposit. Days, 756-8666, evenings, 757-1695. Owner/broker.

179 Mobile Homes For Rent

TWIN OAKS, Luxurious 3 bedroom, 2 1/2 bath, walk-in closet, all appliances, swimming pool, security deposit, 1 year lease. $475 No pets. Will Reid 758-6050/752-1609 evenings.

TWO BEDROOMS, 1 1/2 baths, all kitchen appliances, 2 great locations. Cannon Court and Twin Oaks. Collicie C. Moore & Associates, 756-6050.

181 Office Space For Rent

PRIVATE furnished rooms for rent. Utilities included. Share bath and kitchen. REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

PRIVATE BEDROOM for male across from college, call 758-2585.

185 Rooms For Rent

PIRATES LANDING 200 W. Eighth Street Private furnished rooms for rent. Utilities included. Share bath and kitchen. REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

PRIVATE BEDROOM for male across from college, call 758-2585.

153 Loans & Mortgages

MILLIONS to loan regardless of credit! If you have equity in your home, we can give you the cash. 919-731-2322.

155 Resort Property For Sale

OCEAN AND SOUNDFRONT Single family building lots and unique homes in multi-family village clusters. Pine Knoll Shores, near Myrtle Beach. City. Planned community with outstanding recreation and sporting amenities. Video tape and brochures. Call BEACON'S REACH, 1-800-672-6007.

TRAILER on Bogue Banks, Salterpath, 2 bedrooms, air, 10x50, $3500. 247-5448 evenings.

161 Apartments For Rent

SPACIOUS TWO BEDROOM, 1 1/2 bath apartments with range, refrigerator, dishwasher and air. Free basic cable TV, water and sewer. Washer/dryer hook-ups plus laundry room, pool, sauna, tennis court, club house. 752-1557

COLLEGE VIEW Two bedrooms close to University going fast! Call REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

CONTEMPORARY duplexes on 1 acre lots at Frog Level. $280-$300. No pets. Fully carpeted with utility room. 756-4674 before 5:00 p.m. after 5.

161 Apartments For Rent

CHERRY COURT Spacious 2 bedroom townhouse with 1 1/2 baths. Also 1 bedroom apartments available. All are carpeted, with modern kitchen appliances including compact and dishwasher. Central heat and air. Free basic cable TV, water and sewer. Washer/dryer hook-ups plus laundry room, pool, sauna, tennis court, club house. 752-1557

DOCTORS PARK APARTMENTS A wooded community planned with you in mind. If you are particular about where you live, consider these features: *One, Two and Three Bedroom Apartments *Garden and Townhouse with Private Patio *Balcony *Spacious Living Areas *Dishwasher, Disposal, Frost Free Refrigerator *Pantry *Washer and Dryer Connections *Adequate Storage *Fully Carpeted *Cablevision *Energy Saving Heatpumps *Fully Insulated *Smoke Detectors.

161 Apartments For Rent

WILLIAMSBURG MANOR 102D Concord Drive Large 2 bedroom, 1 1/2 bath townhome available in professional area. Energy efficient appliances with washer/dryer hook-ups and private patio. No pets. Immediate occupancy. Call REMCO EAST for appointment. 758-6061.

WILSON ACRES APARTMENTS 1806 East First Street 2 and 3 bedroom townhouses, 1 1/2 baths. Free water, sewer, and electric. Fully equipped kitchen, washer and dryer connections, energy efficient, outside storage room, private enclosed patios. Sign one year's lease. Move in March. 756-4151

WOOD'S EDGE Brand new spacious two bedroom duplexes located in a quiet residential community featuring: Greatroom with cathedral ceiling, fireplace, fully equipped kitchen, washer and dryer connections, energy efficient, outside storage room, private enclosed patios. Sign one year's lease. Move in March. 756-4151

173 Houses For Rent

THREE BEDROOM furnished house. Good student location. $350/month. Call 244-1207 after 5:30 p.m.

THREE BEDROOM, 1 1/2 baths, den, living room, large kitchen, dishwasher, garage, air conditioning, central heat, drapes, fenced backyard. Hardee Acres, $425 per month plus deposit. Days, 756-8666, evenings, 757-1695. Owner/broker.

179 Mobile Homes For Rent

TWIN OAKS, Luxurious 3 bedroom, 2 1/2 bath, walk-in closet, all appliances, swimming pool, security deposit, 1 year lease. $475 No pets. Will Reid 758-6050/752-1609 evenings.

TWO BEDROOMS, 1 1/2 baths, all kitchen appliances, 2 great locations. Cannon Court and Twin Oaks. Collicie C. Moore & Associates, 756-6050.

181 Office Space For Rent

PRIVATE furnished rooms for rent. Utilities included. Share bath and kitchen. REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

PRIVATE BEDROOM for male across from college, call 758-2585.

185 Rooms For Rent

PIRATES LANDING 200 W. Eighth Street Private furnished rooms for rent. Utilities included. Share bath and kitchen. REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

PRIVATE BEDROOM for male across from college, call 758-2585.

$500 DOWN

TWO HUD OWNED properties, located on large lots, 12 miles East of Greenville on Highway 26. 2 bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, 3000 sq. ft. 2 bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, 3000 sq. ft. 3 bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, 3000 sq. ft.

153 Loans & Mortgages

MILLIONS to loan regardless of credit! If you have equity in your home, we can give you the cash. 919-731-2322.

161 Apartments For Rent

CHERRY COURT Spacious 2 bedroom townhouse with 1 1/2 baths. Also 1 bedroom apartments available. All are carpeted, with modern kitchen appliances including compact and dishwasher. Central heat and air. Free basic cable TV, water and sewer. Washer/dryer hook-ups plus laundry room, pool, sauna, tennis court, club house. 752-1557

DOCTORS PARK APARTMENTS A wooded community planned with you in mind. If you are particular about where you live, consider these features: *One, Two and Three Bedroom Apartments *Garden and Townhouse with Private Patio *Balcony *Spacious Living Areas *Dishwasher, Disposal, Frost Free Refrigerator *Pantry *Washer and Dryer Connections *Adequate Storage *Fully Carpeted *Cablevision *Energy Saving Heatpumps *Fully Insulated *Smoke Detectors.

161 Apartments For Rent

WILLIAMSBURG MANOR 102D Concord Drive Large 2 bedroom, 1 1/2 bath townhome available in professional area. Energy efficient appliances with washer/dryer hook-ups and private patio. No pets. Immediate occupancy. Call REMCO EAST for appointment. 758-6061.

WILSON ACRES APARTMENTS 1806 East First Street 2 and 3 bedroom townhouses, 1 1/2 baths. Free water, sewer, and electric. Fully equipped kitchen, washer and dryer connections, energy efficient, outside storage room, private enclosed patios. Sign one year's lease. Move in March. 756-4151

WOOD'S EDGE Brand new spacious two bedroom duplexes located in a quiet residential community featuring: Greatroom with cathedral ceiling, fireplace, fully equipped kitchen, washer and dryer connections, energy efficient, outside storage room, private enclosed patios. Sign one year's lease. Move in March. 756-4151

173 Houses For Rent

THREE BEDROOM furnished house. Good student location. $350/month. Call 244-1207 after 5:30 p.m.

THREE BEDROOM, 1 1/2 baths, den, living room, large kitchen, dishwasher, garage, air conditioning, central heat, drapes, fenced backyard. Hardee Acres, $425 per month plus deposit. Days, 756-8666, evenings, 757-1695. Owner/broker.

179 Mobile Homes For Rent

TWIN OAKS, Luxurious 3 bedroom, 2 1/2 bath, walk-in closet, all appliances, swimming pool, security deposit, 1 year lease. $475 No pets. Will Reid 758-6050/752-1609 evenings.

TWO BEDROOMS, 1 1/2 baths, all kitchen appliances, 2 great locations. Cannon Court and Twin Oaks. Collicie C. Moore & Associates, 756-6050.

181 Office Space For Rent

PRIVATE furnished rooms for rent. Utilities included. Share bath and kitchen. REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

PRIVATE BEDROOM for male across from college, call 758-2585.

185 Rooms For Rent

PIRATES LANDING 200 W. Eighth Street Private furnished rooms for rent. Utilities included. Share bath and kitchen. REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

PRIVATE BEDROOM for male across from college, call 758-2585.

185 Rooms For Rent

PIRATES LANDING 200 W. Eighth Street Private furnished rooms for rent. Utilities included. Share bath and kitchen. REMCO EAST, 758-6061.

PRIVATE BEDROOM for male across from college, call 758-2585.

The Real Estate Corner

BERACHAH VALLEY

New Subdivision

2-3 Acre Lots in Winterville (Only 8 Available)

1-729-0381

Home Owner Association

BERACHAH-A BIBLE WORD-THE BLESSINGS OF GOD

Owner Financed

MARCH IS MAZDA TRUCK MONTH!!

ALL 1987 MAZDA B2000 TRUCKS "ONE DOLLAR" OVER DEALER COST!!

Plus Special Savings On Our ENTIRE MAZDA INVENTORY!

MAZDA B2000

GRANT MAZDA

603 Greenville Blvd. • Greenville, N.C.

Weekdays: 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.
Saturday: 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Phone: 756-1877

148 Investment Property

TOWNHOUSE. Unit used as sales model. Excellent location. Low interest. Positive cash flow. Very wise investment! Call collect 919-933-8991 from 9-5.

150 Land For Sale

WANTED: Land at Bell's Fork area. Any size piece. Call David, 355-2626.

152 Lots For Sale

BERACHAH VALLEY, 3.45 acres, all cleared. Winterville School District. $19,900, have septic permit, owner financed at $13.90 monthly. 1-729-0381. Berachah, a Bible word, meaning The Blessing of God.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

River Bluff

"Spacious Affordable Luxury Apartments"

- 2 bedroom townhouse temporarily reduced for new move ins only.
- 2 bedroom garden apt. temporarily reduced to $220 mo.
- Large pool • Cable TV • ECU Bus Service

Phone: 758-4015

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

START AT YOUR DOLLARS

WITH THESE SUPER SPECIALS

- 1981 Dodge Ram Full Size Pickup, 38,000 miles. NOW $3,995
- 1983 Chevette 2 door, automatic, grey. NOW $3,495
- 1982 Toyota Tercel AM/FM cassette, air, silver. NOW $3,995
- 1978 Cadillac Sedan DeVille Green and tan, 67,000 miles. NOW $3,495
- 1979 Buick Regal Lmt. Blau, loaded, 76,000 miles. NOW $3,895
- 1978 Olds Cutlass Burgundy, AM/FM cassette. NOW $2,995
- 1982 Stanza Sunroof, 5 speed, beige. NOW $2,995

BLOWN & WOOD

DOWNTOWN

1205 Dickinson Ave. 752-2882

LOW COST! NEW CAR RENTALS 50 FREE MILES PER DAY

DAY, WEEK & MONTHLY RATES

AMERICAN TRUCK RENT-A-CAR

A Division of American Truck & Auto Leasing 756-3635 1-800-682-2216

Taft Furniture Company's Spring Clearance Sale

Storewide Savings Up To 50% Off

Spring Clearance Sale at Taft Furniture Co. - Over 32,000 square feet of showroom space. Sale on bedroom, dining room, living room & occasional furniture.

Spring Clearance At Taft Furniture Company

Huge Reductions
On Top Quality

Berkline® Recliners
Including Wallaways & Rocker-Recliners

Originally $379.00 To $669.00
Sale
$189 To $429

Quantities Limited!
Hurry In For Best Selections.

BERKLINE auto-MOTION™ WALLAWAY®
a space-saving push-button power recliner that actually moves automatically!

FULLY RECLINES JUST 3" FROM THE WALL!
Smoothly & gently goes to full recline or return in less than 7 seconds!
BERKLINE WRITTEN LIFETIME WARRANTY for mechanism - limited three year warranty on motor, drive and electrical system!

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY

Value!
New - Just Received...
Auto-motion
Wallaway.

THE RECLINER OF THE FUTURE IS HERE, NOW!

Live it UP OUTDOORS

Taft Furniture Company—Your Outdoor Furniture
Headquarters

Spring Sale

30% to 50% off
Entire Group

Quality Outdoor Furniture now on display in our store. Make your selection today and be ready for summer outdoor living.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE THIS IS PVC?
THE LOOK OF RATTAN...
THE DURABILITY OF SPACE AGE POLYMERS!

Large selection of styles, covers, and colors to choose from.

5 PIECE DINING SET . . . 30% off

CHAISE LOUNGE . . . 30% off

"THE MOST DURABLE
OUTDOOR FURNITURE YOU CAN BUY"

30% off on all special orders.

(Allow 2 to 3 weeks).
Large selection of styles,
covers and colors to choose from.

Frame colors available in white, vanilla, grey,
woodgrain & mauve.

The Florence Rose Collection

BAROQUE SPENCE
Casual Furniture

DEEP SEATING. 30% off
100% polyester filled quick dry weatherable cushions. 25 colors to choose from.
Award Winning Outdoor Furniture!

Sunbrella Acrylic
Outdoor-Indoor Fabrics
Large Selection Of Colors

Taft FURNITURE CO.

535 Dickinson Ave. Downtown Greenville
90 Day Cash Plan • Free Delivery Up To 100 Miles
752-5161 8:30 to 5:30 Mon.-Fri.
9 to 5:30 Sat.

Plenty Of Free Parking Next To Our Store. "88 Years Of Continuous Service To Eastern North Carolina"

SEALY

BY THE TRUCK LOAD...

REDUCED

SAVE 1/2 PRICE in sets

The trucks are loaded with savings on famous Sealy bedding! Deluxe inner construction with specially tempered coils for firmness... puffy quilt tops for luxury... unique torsion bar foundations for durability. Don't miss our truckloads of savings—limited time only!

Make Taft Furniture
Co. Your Sealy
Headquarters in Greenville.

Sealy Firm

Firm inner construction with deep-quilted comfort. Torsion bar foundation.

Reg. $140.00

$69⁹⁵

Twin Ea. Pc.

Full Ea. Pc. $109
Queen 2-Pc. Set $249
Reg. $500.00

Sealy
Premium I Extra Firm

$99⁹⁵

Twin Ea. Pc.

Plush comfort with added "hinge-action" coils.
Extra firm torsion bar foundation.

Reg. $210.00

Sealy
Posturepedic® ESSEX

America's #1 selling premium-plus mattress... very specially priced for our once-a-year sale!

$109

Twin Ea. Pc.

Full Ea. Pc. $189
Reg. $399.00
Queen 2-Pc. Set $449
Reg. $899.00
King 3-Pc. Set $598
Reg. $1199.00

From the makers of the #1 selling mattress—Sealy Posturepedic®