Stabilized Dollar Shores Recovery On Wall Street

By RICK GLADSTONE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Central bank intervention temporarily stanched a slide in the dollar today and the bruised stock market partly recovered, pushing the Dow Jones industrial average up about 20 points in early trading.

Wall Street's best-known barometer, wrenched down more than 76 points Monday in a selloff reminiscent of the October crash, rose from 1,833.55 to the 1,853 level in the first half hour of trading.

Brokers attributed some of the recovery to the stabilized dollar, which had hit record lows Monday in reaction to waning confidence in U.S. resolve to trim its massive budget deficit. The stabilization was due largely to extensive dollar buying by central banks in Japan and Western Europe.

But brokers said much of Wall Street's rebound was superficial and the underlying concerns of investors remained pervasive.

"There was no real buying and the volume was light," said Ronald B. Doran, head of institutional trading at the First Albany Corp. brokerage. "We need something else."

The early behavior in U.S. stock trading was preceded by slight gains on the Tokyo stock market and a mixed showing on the London exchange.

Although much less destructive than the 508-point plunge of Oct. 19, Wall Street's decline Monday was a jolting reminder that world financial markets are awaiting a massive infusion of confidence, especially from Washington.

"Maybe a 508-point drop in the market wasn't enough," said Robert Brusca, chief economist of Nikko Securities International Inc. in New York. "How far does the market have to fall to make people realize we have to make policy changes? Still the politicians continue to play politics."

Like the situation that preceded the October crash, a number of events coalesced Monday to produce an anxiety attack, dominated by concern that Congress will reject a $76 billion deficit-reduction compromise reached last month despite exhaustive wrangling with President Reagan.

Reagan, hardening his stance on the deficit reduction, told business leaders he would insist Congress approve the entire package, saying "a partially implemented deal is no deal."

Other destabilizing elements included an apparent lack of international coordination to defend the dollar's value, fear of higher interest rates and intensified concern that debt-ridden Third World countries will act more forcefully to limit or perhaps repudiate repayment obligations.

"It seems Japan and Europe have realized the deficit compromise isn't a workable compromise," said Joseph Barthel, a senior vice president at the Philadelphia investment firm Butcher & Singer Inc.

'Silent' Moments Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to let New Jersey provide daily moments of silence for public school students.

The justices unanimously ruled that the state legislators who sought to press the controversy in court no longer have the proper legal standing.

Today's decision left intact a ruling that the New Jersey law violates the constitutionally required separation of church and state by impermissibly encouraging organized prayer sessions.

But the court said nothing about the validity of laws in other states that, like New Jersey law, provide for moments of silence in public schools without mentioning the word "prayer."

The law, previously invalidated by a federal appeals court, said students may use the silent moments "for quiet and private contemplation or introspection."

About half the states have similar moment-of-silence laws. Most, like New Jersey's, do not mention "prayer" specifically.

But the 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the New Jersey Legislature had intended to promote organized school prayer when it passed the law in 1982.

The New Jersey Legislature initially chose to defend the moment-of-silence law but, after Republicans took over its leadership, said it no longer wished to pursue the case.

However, Alan Karcher, former speaker of the state General Assembly, and Carmen Orechio, former state Senate president, pressed the appeal.

Writing for the court, Justice Sandra Day O'Connor said the appeal by Karcher and Orechio must be dismissed because they no longer represent the state legislature's leadership.

State Vegetable Expo Offers Latest In Field

By CAROL TYER

The second North Carolina Vegetable Expo got under way in Greenville this morning and will continue through Thursday. The event is being held at the Hilton Hotel, 207 Greenville Blvd.

From this morning through Thursday afternoon, 48 different presentations on various aspects of vegetable cultivation and marketing will be made. Topics from potato growing to precooling and packaging of vegetables will be addressed.

All the sessions will be videotaped so agriculture extension agents from throughout eastern North Carolina can share the presentations with the farmers in their counties, Rich Bonnanno of North Carolina State University said.

The expo, which includes displays from different suppliers of everything from seeds to irrigation equipment to greenhouse packages, is sponsored by the North Carolina Vegetable Growers Association and the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service.

Pitt County has been chosen as the host county for the second year because of its central location. Bonnanno explained, "Some 180,000 acres of vegetables are grown in North Carolina and, of these, two thirds are grown within a 100-mile radius of Greenville. So even though Pitt County is not one of the major vegetable-growing counties at this time, it's centrally located among the

Auditors Praise City Operations

By GREG LAUDICK
Reflector Staff Writer

The city of Greenville has a clean financial bill of health.

That's the message sent to city officials Monday as the annual financial audit report was presented to members of City Council at a special meeting at City Hall.

In an hour-long presentation complete with computer-composed pie charts and graphs, Stephen H. Locke of Lowrimore, Warwick & Co. summarized the results of the 129-page report.

"Our results indicate a very positive trend in terms of the growth in Greenville," he said.

David C. Miller, manager of the Greenville office of Lowrimore, Warwick & Co., said the auditor's clean opinion was that the balance sheet showed a very healthy financial picture on June 30, 1987.

"The financial operating trend shows positive growth over the past five years," he said. "Greenville city management has done an outstanding job at managing the cash and investment of the city."

The audit report, which covers the year between June 30, 1986, and June 30 of this year, is a legally required, comprehensive examination of the city's financial affairs.

According to Ron Kimble, city finance director, the collection of data used in the report is an effort not taken lightly.

"No other city department gets as much scrutiny as does the finance department, both during the year and again at the conclusion of the year during the formation of the audit report," he said.

Kimble described the finance department as the focal point where all financial information is funneled.

Among the most important figures drawn from the report are the total revenues and expenditures of the General Fund.

The General Fund is used to operate basic government functions including police and fire services, public works, parks and recreation, and general government activities.

According to the report, General Fund revenues were $16,599,510 in relation to expenditures at $14,935,404. This is a surplus of $1,664,106.

Kimble noted the majority of those excess funds, over $900,000, was placed in the city's Capital Reserve.

The Capital Reserve Fund is established to accumulate funds to be used for future capital improvements.

Kimble said a significant capital reserve is necessary for Greenville's

School Study Pleases Pitt Officials

Local support of public education varies widely across the state, depending on counties' wealth and the taxes they levy, according to a study released Monday by the Public School Forum of North Carolina.

Based on ability to pay, Roanoke Rapids makes the best effort to fund its public schools of all the state's 140 local systems, while Clay County does the poorest job, according to the study.

Pitt County's overall ranking — comparing tax base and per capita income to what it spends per pupil — is 53rd. The county's ranking by actual effort is 46th, while ranked by ability to pay, Pitt stands at 56th.

Pitt County Manager Kramer Jackson, commenting on the study, said this morning that, "I noticed, looking at it, that among counties, Pitt ranks 27th.

"To me what really matters is that Pitt ranks 56th by ability to pay among the 140 systems, and ranks 46th in effort. That puts us close to the top one-third in the state.

"Anytime effort exceeds ability, there's nothing to be ashamed of. Pitt County is doing pretty well," Jackson said. "I feel good our ability is 56th and our rank for actual effort is 46th. That certainly says to me that Pitt County is doing a pretty good job."

Mark Owens, chairman of the school board, said, "I think the students of Pitt County and the administration and teachers have been most fortunate to have county commissioners who saw fit to use the taxes at their disposal for the benefit of education."

And Owens said, "I think the taxes have been used wisely and in keeping with what the economy and the tax payers would dictate."

Gerry Hancock, chairman of the Forum board said, "Many of the poorest counties in the state are making an extraordinary effort to offer quality educational programs to their young people. As a rule of thumb, poorer counties are taxing themselves at a considerably higher rate than their richer neighbors."

The study is designed to give state officials a yardstick with which to compare the efforts of local governments to improve their schools, said John Dornan, executive director of the non-profit research and advocacy group.

Theft Arrests

Greenville police arrested two people on theft charges Monday.

Officer J.G. Bridges said Jay Higgins, 33, of 1914 Hooker Road was charged with shoplifting in connection with the theft of $369 worth of men's clothing from Belk's at Carolina East Mall about 12:45 p.m.

Officer H.D. Hines said Patrick Jay Lennon, 19, of 217B Belk Dorm was charged with larceny in connection with the theft of a compact disc from the K mart store at Greenville Square Shopping Center about 8:22 p.m.

New PNB Facility

Planters National Bank will open it's fifth office in Greenville — at 2390 Stantonsburg Road — in ceremonies scheduled for 11 a.m. Tuesday.

The new hospital office will include three drive-through lanes and a 24-hour Planters Green automated teller machine, according to Debra F. Wicker, who will be manager of the new branch. Ms. Wicker was formerly assistant manager at PNB's main Greenville office.

Planters Bank, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Planters Corp., with home offices in Rocky Mount, serves 26 communities in North Carolina with 59 offices.

Cypress Glen Events

Holiday activities have been listed for the Cypress Glen Retirement Home.

On Wednesday at 7 p.m. the East Carolina University football team will provide a party. On Dec. 8 at 7 p.m. students from the ECU School of Medicine will present a program, while on Dec. 11 the Welcome Middle School eighth grade chorus will sing at 10 a.m.

At 3 p.m. on Dec. 11 the Sigma Alpha Iota Music Sorority will carol for the residents, while on Dec. 15 local Suzuki violin students will perform at 7:30 p.m. The activities are open to the public.

Revival Starts

Victory Deliverence Center will have a revival today through Saturday at 7:30 p.m. each day. Estella Davis from Washington, D.C., will be the guest speaker.

Scholarships Winners

Two East Carolina University political science majors with outstanding academic records have been awarded departmental scholarships for both fall and spring semesters.

A 1987-88 Gravely Foundation scholarship of $640 was awarded to Brian Burke of Clementon, N.J., who has a 3.680 overall grade point average and a 3.684 average in political science. Burke is a senior.

A $500 University Book Exchange scholarship was awarded to Denise Dullaghan of Havelock, who has a 3.785 grade point average overall and a 3.857 average in her major.

Collection Schedule

Materials for recycling will be collected Saturday at three Greenville sites from 8 a.m. to noon. Workers from East Carolina Vocational and Pitt County Mental Health centers will assist in unloading cars.

Accepted are aluminum beverage cans, glass separated by color, newspapers without shiny inserts, cardboard and clean bundled wastepaper.

Collection sites are at the Buyers' Market on Memorial Drive, in the parking lot of Overton's Supermarket on Jarvis Street and at Rivergate Shopping Center, East 10th Street extension.

For more information call 758-7832.

Panel Appointment

Hubert D. Terry of Greenville has been appointed to a state legislative panel studying tourism growth in North Carolina.

Terry, public relations supervisor for Carolina Telephone, was named to the Legislative Research Commission's tourism's growth and effect committee by Sen. J.J. "Monk" Harrington of Bertie County, president pro tem of the Senate.

Legislation creating the study panel cites tourism as the third largest and fastest growing industry in the state, generating $4.6 billion and jobs for more than 200,000 North Carolinians in 1986.

The committee is charged with analyzing the expansion of tourism in the state and making recommendations to ensure that the entire state benefits from the growth.

Terry, who works in CT&T's Tarboro headquarters, will serve on the committee with Rep. Ed Warren of Greenville, who is co-chairman with Sen. Franklin Block of Wilmington.

Revival Services

Bishop Ralph Love will conduct revival services at Burney's Chapel Free Will Baptist Church, Black Jack, today through Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Providing music will be Phillipi Missionary Baptist Church, today; the C.B. Gray Ensemble, Wednesday; Mount Calvary Church, Thursday, and Holy Trinity Church, Friday.

Maps Discussion

Wahl-Coates Elementary School sixth-grade students observed Geography Awareness Week with a program presented by Hardee Cox of Global Map Service.

Cox told the students that the globe is the correct way to represent the earth's surface, but geographers have devised accurate flat maps to serve useful purposes. Cox presented each class with a map.

Pinetops Parade

The 14th annual Pinetops Christmas Parade will be held Saturday at 10 a.m.

The parade will begin at the corner of Ninth and Hamlet streets, proceed up Hamlet Street to Second Street, turn on Second and proceed to Lashley Street and then down Lashley Street for termination.

The parade is sponsored by the South Edgecombe Jaycees and local merchants.

There is limited bleacher seating available, a spokesman said.

Autograph Party

An autograph party will be held from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday at the Student Bookstore at East Carolina University.

The session is for Dr. William Stephenson, author of the recently published biography, "Sallie Southall Cotten: The Life Of A North Carolina Woman." Stephenson is a member of the English faculty at ECU.

Copies of both the paperbook and the hardcover edition will be available for signing by the author.

SEED PLANT — Southern States will establish a seed processing and storage facility in this building on U.S. 264 in Farmville. The structure has been purchased from Worthington Farms Inc., which had operated a tobacco auction warehouse in the building.

Southern States To Open Seed Facility In Farmville

FARMVILLE — Southern States Cooperative Inc. of Richmond, Va., has purchased a Farmville warehouse and will establish a seed processing and storage facility there by spring.

Southern States bought the 199,350-square-foot warehouse on U.S. 264 from Worthington Farms Inc. on Nov. 13.

Southern States said its investment in the operation, including the building, land, equipment and sinventory, would be between $1.8 million and $2 million. Although terms of the deal for the warehouse property were not disclosed, tax stamps on the deed filed with the Register of Deeds in Pitt County indicate the price was just over $700,000.

Floyd Grigsby, manager of operations in the seed, petroleum and supply division at Southern States, said George Tyler, former manager of the cooperative's warehouse in Henderson, Ky., has been named branch manager at the new Farmville facility.

Grigsby said the Farmville location, which will supply a variety of small grains and soybeans, "will be much more convenient to North Carolina and southern Virginia farmers and dealers," who now receive supplies from Southern States warehouses in Richmond and Roanoke, Va.

"We want to be able to supply the products needed for that area as efficiently as possible (and) hope to gain that efficiency by putting this facility on stream," Grigsby said.

"The rapid volume growth we experienced at the Richmond warehouse was also important in the decision to expand, he said. "We need extra capacity to process and store these products. The North Carolina plant will do that for us."

In addition to processing and storing seed, the warehouse will also be used as a storage area for selected agricultural chemicals, according to Grigsby.

Southern States moved into North Carolina in February 1986 with the purchase of FCX facilities.

Everett Is Senate Candidate

HAMILTON — Roy H. Everett Jr. of Hamilton has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination to succeed J.J. "Monk" Harrington as North Carolina senator for the 2nd District. Harrington has stated he will not seek re-eection.

The district includes Hertford and Northampton counties and portions of Martin, Warren, Halifax, Edgecombe, Gates and Bertie counties.

Everett, 37, is a graduate of East Carolina University where he majored in political science and economics.

He is mayor pro tem of Hamilton and is currently serving his ninth year on the town council; president of D and R Everett, Inc.; owner of Carolina Quality Crafts, and involved with his family ir. the agri-business community.

Everett served as eastern coordinator for the Attorneys' Advisory Board to Combat Durg Abuse, and from 1976-1984 as eastern coordinator for the Attorney General's Advisory Board to Combat Child Abuse. He is a member of the board of directors and vice president of the Hamilton Lions Club.

Blind since 1982, Everett is a freelance sports columnist and an avid outsdoorman. He is president of the Roanoke Association for the Visually Impaired, and assumed responsibility of the Homebound Program of the Visually Impaired from the Department of Human Resources in 1986. Everett founded the Eye Help Task Force at Pitt County Memorial Hospital in 1987.

He is married to the former Vickie Powell of Robersonville and they have two children, Nicole and Trey. He and his family are members of Hamilton Baptist Church.

Smuggling

WILMINGTON (AP) — A Houston man arrested in Wilmington on drug smuggling charges last week was being held Monday in lieu of $1 million bond.

Luis Tomos Disla, 27, was arrested by Wilmington-New Hanover County Vice and Narcotics detectives on Thanksgiving day as he attempted to leave the New Hanover County Airport in a taxi.

Officers said they seized 5 ounces of high-grade cocaine. Disla was charged with trafficking cocaine by possession and trafficking by transportation, police said. He also was charged with intent to sell and deliver the drug.

The arrest was not disclosed until Monday because officers wanted to follow up on some details, said Lt. Sid Causey, head of the vice unit.

Drowning

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A Hiddenite duck hunter fell from his boat and drowned in the Little River.

Terry Eugene Carson, 34, and a companion were hunting about 4 p.m. Saturday when the accident occurred about a half mile west of the Millersville Bridge carrying N.C. 16 across the Little River, said Alexander County Deputy Stan Burmire.

Board Approves Leave Requests

By CHERIE EVANS
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Social Services approved two requests for educational leave during its regular monthly meeting Monday.

Sharon Jones, a social worker, was granted leave to work on a master's degree while Lois Gray, an adminstrative officer, was granted leave to take special courses.

The board also approved recommendations on reviews and applications processed by the income maintenance staff from Oct. 15 through Nov. 15.

In other matters, the board was briefed on several assistance programs.

About 3,700 people applied for the Low Income Energy Assistance Program this year, compared to 4,300 last year, said Debbie Ryals. The decrease in participants may be attributed to mild weather conditions this year, she said. One-third of the applications have been processed, and the others are expected to be completed by Jan. 8.

There were 280 people served through the Crisis Intervention Program, which provides a maximum of $200 for heating a home during an emergency. There is $90,000 of about $120,000 left in the fund's budget for the service.

It was noted that about 46 percent of the general assistance funds appropriated by the Pitt County Board of Commissioners has been used to supply doctors' fees, burials, medicines, utilities and rent in emergency situations, said Director Edward L. Garrison. Food and shelter money through the program has been expended.

Cutbacks of dairy products in the Surplus Commodities Distribution Program may be expected after March as federal warehouses supplies decrease, Ms. Ryals said.

Programs to become effective Jan. 1 include the Unemployed Parent and the Special Needs Allowance programs.

In the Unemployed Parent program, the breadwinner of a married couple may be eligible for funds and assitance if he or she has been unemployed for 30 days, but has some recent work experience. The Special Needs program aids teen-age mothers 13 to 19 by providing $200 per month for childcare and $40 per month for transportation of the child to the care facility so that the teenager may finish her high school education or attain a general equivalency degree.

Garrison noted there are six positions available in the department including data entry, eligibility specialist I and clerk-typist positions.

Burney Tucker, chairman of the board, presented Garrison a service award from the North Carolina Department of Human Resources, Division of Social Services, acknowledging 20 years of service.

Honored

WAYNESVILLE — Haywood County Home Economics Extension Agent Gwilli Brendell has received national recognition for her 25 years of service to youth and her "significant contribution and dedication to the 4-H program."

Mrs. Brendell received the honor recently at a national 4-H conference in San Diego, Calif., and is the only western North Carolina agent to receive this award.

Shots Fired

DURHAM (AP) — At least six shots were fired into the home of a 68-year-old Durham woman, but authorities say no one was injured.

Durham police officers said the shots, which appeared to come from a .38-caliber weapon, were fired about 2 a.m. Sunday at the front of the home of Carrie Markham. One bullet knocked out a glass pane in the front storm door, passed through the center of the front wooden door and lodged in a wooden chimney. Another bullet with through the kitchen window.

Red Tide

RALEIGH (AP) — The boundaries for the red tide plaguing the North Carolina coast for nearly a month remain the same, but it appears to be dissipating in the southernmost and northern areas, a state spokesman said Monday.

Jim Sheppard of the state Environmental Management Division said environmental epidemiology experts have taken samples of oysters and clams and will begin testing this week to determine whether they contain the toxic algae.

Teen-agers Shot

THOMASVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A Thomasville man has been charged with trying to kill two High Point teen-agers whom he asked for a ride on Thanksgiving eve, and one of the victims has been left paralyzed, officials said.

The Davidson County Sheriff's Department charged Kenneth Wayne Wilkes, 26, with two counts of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury, according to police reports.

Dr. Cedric Deang, who works in the emergency room at Community General Hospital, said Scott Bowman, 16, will probably be permanently paralyzed from the neck down by a bullet that hit his spinal cord.

No Compromise

Rep. Walter Jones's so-called compromise allowing exploratory oil drilling on the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge in Alaska should be seen for what it is — a development bill that allows a wildlife reserve to be sacrificed in the name of a flawed national energy policy.

The issue of exploratory drilling on a wildlife refuge might seem a remote issue to North Carolinians. It should be viewed, however, in the same perspective as preserving local non-renewable natural resources, such as the Pamlico and Albemarle estuaries — no concessions should be allowed.

The Arctic National Wildlife Refuge is the only undisturbed ecosystem of its kind on the North American continent the nation has had the foresight to preserve. It is fragile tundra and boasts the largest herd of porcupine caribou in existence.

Jones' legislation has been touted as a compromise — a sort of middle ground — between environmentalists who oppose drilling in this arctic wilderness and development advocates who say the oil from the reserve is needed for the nation's energy independence.

In fact, the bill does not represent a compromise because any drilling may damage the arctic ecosystem. Furthermore, conservation measures in the bill are not sound.

For example, the bill creates a 23 million acre refuge out of what is now the National Petroleum Reserve. Before applauding, however, consider the terms. Existing mining leases in the area would be allowed to continue, and then after a five-year moratorium on activity, drilling would resume in this new wildlife refuge.

The bill also prohibits oil exploration in the most environmentally sensitive area of the refuge — but it falls short of providing permanent protection by designating it wilderness.

The arguments for drilling aren't sound. Why, suddenly, after seven years of disinterest over increasing oil imports and no concern for conservation, is energy independence on the national political agenda? And why is drilling on a wildlife refuge so important when a petroleum import tax would more effectively diminish the nation's dependence on foreign oil? Granted, an import tax would raise consumer prices for oil, but it would likely lower both long- and short-term reliance on foreign petroleum.

The arguments against exploratory drilling are substantial. First, scientifically and aesthetically it is important that some areas remain pristine, untouched by development. Second, not enough data on the long-term effects of drilling in a fragile tundra area is available. Researchers may know the short-term environmental reaction, but not the long-range, possibly permanent impact.

Proponents of drilling cannot successfully explain why the nation should open a valuable national resource to industrial development. Oil exploration on a national wildlife refuge amounts to squandering non-renewable resources and promoting a boom or bust economy.

Jones' bill should be rejected on that premise.

Light Years

It has been 100 years since Thomas Alva Edison opened his laboratory in West Orange, N.J. It was a fortunate day when he did.

Edison invented the first practical incandescent lamp, the phonograph and the Kinetograph, a motion picture camera. The movies were shown on the Kinetoscope, another of his inventions. He went on to develop his inventions as successful commercial enterprises.

They all exist today in far different forms. Music now is recorded on tape or high quality discs which are far different from the wax cylinders of Edison's day. Television, video tape and high quality films have evolved from the simple flickering moving images that came from Edison's laboratories. The incandescent bulb is still around but electric lighting is used in far different ways than ever imagined by Edison's contemporaries. In addition, the electricity the electric lamp caused to be delivered to homes, offices and factories is used to perform every job imaginable.

His laboratory has been left just as it was, including a pile of paper clips left on his desk the day he died. The complex is now under the authority of the National Park Service. That must change, however. Books, papers and other items are deterioriating and the federal government plans to spend $25,000 over the next five years for more staff to protect the items. Filters will cover the windows to keep out harmful ultraviolet rays. Volunteers have already been at work moving priceless glass photo negatives to climate-controlled vaults and re-storing old phonograph discs and cylinders.

Edison was known as the "Wizard of Menlo Park." His work changed the 20th century. Certainly his laboratory and works are deserving of preservation.

To the editor:

Greenville's new city manager uses the right words — "hardship and burden."

How can it be ethical, moral or legal to lay the burden of the city's mismanagement on innocent outsiders:

Somebody down there:

1. Found enough money to give every city employee a $500 increase in pay.
2. Squandered $225,000 on a sewer line to River Park North.
3. Intends to double the city's sales tax.
4. Rob Oak Grove of $214,000 state clean water grant.
5. Transfer $700,000 from GUCO's electrical fund (Where did GUCO get this $700,000 unless they're ripping us off?)
6. Use $3,500,000 Greenville sewer money. Where did they get $3.5 million surplus to squander?

The burden: require us to abandon a $2,500 septic tank and to tie into a new sewer system at a cost of about $2,500 per house — that's $5,000 per household — about $1,200,000 "down the creek" — pound sand down a rat hole in Brook Valley.

The proposed sewer line will "forever" mar our good road — connections to the sewer line (Plumbers wil get rich) will "forever" mark established lawns.

A dozen or more minority business men collect Brook Valley's garbage — the city proposes to wipe them out. The city proposes to pay out Eastern Pines' "interest."

Fire-Rescue fees would be tripled, and property taxes doubled.

"Those people down there" can't maintain Fourth Street — a mosaic of patches— or Tenth Street — their traffic light gives five second of green to 10th street and 11 seconds of red at the University entrance. I timed it the morning of Nov. 27, 1987. A month ago it gave Tenth Street 37 seconds of red-yellow and 11 seconds of green.

These are my three hundred words. I need a thousand.

The Cult Of Comrade Gorbachev

'Hip boutiques are selling Lenin pins and hammer--and-sickle T-shirts. We're giving Gorbachev approval ratings higher than those for all the Democratic candidates except Jesse Jackson.'

WASHINGTON — Like Hollywood, Hell, ancient Rome, Shangri-La, the Old West or Atlantis, the Soviet Union, for most of us, is something we invent. It's a concoction, a bad dream, a straw man, an explanatory principle, a utopia, a bit of wishful thinking or a taste to be acquired, for good or ill. Just now, thanks to charming Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, his nicely dressed wife Raisa, and his glasnost (openness) and perestroika (restructuring), it is the flavor of the month.

Hip boutiques are selling Lenin pins and hammer-and-sickle T-shirts. We're giving Gorbachev approval ratings higher than those for all the Democratic candidates except Jesse Jackson. The Washington Blade, a gay newspaper, ran an ad for a Mrs. Gorbachev look-alike contest. Russian language studies in American colleges and universities are up almost 12 percent since 1983. During a fashion show in October, actress Colleen Dewhurst watched Soviet couturier Viyacheslav Zaitsev twirling before the crowd in his emerald green silk jacket and black silk pants and said: "To look at him on the runway with all his openness — you know why you love the Russians." Travel agents are predicting a 60 percent rise in American trips to the Soviet Union by the end of the year, compared with 1986.

"Everything Soviet is suddenly very romantic. Everybody's into it," says Helen Simonson, a spokeswoman for General Tours, a large U.S. tour operator to the Soviet Union.

What's going on here? Only yesterday the Soviet Union was everything grim, gray, brutal and bureaucratic. The Wendy's fast-food people ran a television ad two years ago spoofing Soviet drabness by showing fat fashion models wearing gunnysacks. The image of Russians we'd gathered for years from television and magazines was one of people who looked like cinder blocks wrapped in Value Village overcoats, bleak and stolid in a combination that is communism's unique contribution to cultural esthetics.

If their empire was as evil as Reagan said it was, they were the living proof of its banality. Soviet leaders stared down at parades of rocket launchers with the smug wariness of crooked cops. Soviet vacationers sagged out of bathing suits on Black Sea beaches. Soviet citizens stood fur-hatted in endless food queues, looking like stalled assembly lines of old-fashioned refrigerators with the coils on the top ... There may have been poets and gymnasts and ballet dancers with killer cheekbones, but mostly, a quarter century after Khrushchev said "We will bury you," they looked like out-of-work undertakers, horribly ordinary, reductio ad lumpen.

And why not? What was to admire? Their economy has been falling apart for years, with the growth rate of their gross national product falling from 5.9 percent in the late '50s to a stagnant 2.7 percent in the first half of the '80s. Life expectancy is going down, and infant mortality rates are three or four times as high as they are in the United States. Grain harvests have become annual disasters. Alexander Solzhenitsyn has added a word to the English language: gulag. A nuclear reactor went berserk in Chernobyl and rained radioactivity across Russia and northern Europe. There are 120,000 Soviet troops waist-deep in the big muddy of Afghanistan, Gorbachev announced consideration of troop pullouts a year ago, and nothing much has happened. We learned from Vietnam how that story ends.

Now, even with the thick roster of protests planned around Gorbachev's visit, the atmosphere is changing in one of those great lurches of national feeling that foreigners find both charming and frightening about America. The change may tell us more about America than the Soviet Union.

On television news, the Soviet people are looking better and better. Princeton Sovietologist Stephen Cohen explains that under Gorbachev, American viewers "are seeing more of the Soviet Union" at the same time that "the gray stereotypes have become more Westernized." Betty Bumpers, president of Peace Links and wife of Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., visited the Soviet Union last month and said, "I don't know whether it's Raisa's influence or the fact that there is a lot more exposure because Americans are everywhere, but the Soviet women are dressing better, their haircuts are better, there is definitely a difference in how they look."

The main attraction, of course, is Gorbachev, who is scheduled to arrive here next week for a summit conference with President Reagan and the signing of a treaty on removing short- and intermediate-range nuclear missiles from Europe, with hints of possible further agreements on arms reduction

No Soviet leader since World War II has gotten such acclaim. In the 2½ years since he became general secretary, he has become a symbol of Western hope for change in the Soviet Union, thanks to his calls for perestroika, meaning, in his words, "initiative and creative endeavor, improved order and discipline, more glasnost, criticism and self-criticism in all spheres of our society."

Gorbachev, previously known for presiding over one terrible grain harvest after another, has become not just a major world figure but, to some exhilarated journalists, a historical one as well. Los Angeles Times correspondent Robert Scheer writes: "Reading those bold words in the historic National Hotel up the hall from Room 107 where Lenin sat in 1918 looking out at the walls of the Kremlin where his party inexplicably and suddenly held power leaves one wanting to dash out into the streets, like John Reed in the movie 'Reds,' to witness the change."

The very suggestion of "revolution" — a word that Gorbachev, as a Russian Communist, does not use lightly — is thrilling. It does not matter if little has changed in the Soviet economy and Politburo conservatives are hemming in Gorbachev when it comes to issues ranging from criticizing Stalin to allowing the performance of heavy-metal music.

One explanation for the enthusiasm is that Gorbachev, now 56, took power after a seemingly endless parade of infarcted old thugs: Brezhnev, who ruled (along with Kosygin at first) from 1964 until he died in 1982, then KGB boss Andropov, who died in 1984, and then the decrepit Chernenko. But this theory doesn't allow for the possibility that Gorbachev is at least in part a creation of eager imaginations that might have fastened on anybody.

When The Wall Street Journal reported that the Soviet leader "likes Glenn Miller records, good scotch whiskey, Oriental rugs and American books," and a description in The Washington Post had him fond of "cynical political jokes with an anti-regime twist" and said that "he has a record of stepping out of his high party official's cocoon to contact dissidents," they were talking about Andropov, not Gorbachev.

"Western journalists think of power in personal terms," says Dmitri Simes, a Soviet emigre and senior associate at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. "I am extremely disturbed by it. Gorbachev is the most interesting, intellectual and creative statesman of our time. He is also an intellectual and creative communist. It is a flaw in this country's body politic — either we demonize completely, or we go overboard with enthusiasm. All populist cultures have a tendency to go from one extreme to another."

Also, there is always a star that burns brightest in the international firmament: Kennedy, Khrushchev, de Gaulle, Mao... and more recently, to the disbelief of American liberals, Ronald Reagan. Now it's Gorbachev, a man who seems to be beating America at its own game by suddenly accepting proposals for onsite missile inspections (to the alarm of the Pentagon) and edging Reagan out as the Great Communicator. Gorbachev glides through summit meetings with a fiercely focused self-confidence, none of the smarmy, shambling mock humility that major American political figures, particularly Reagan, have affected since the fall of the last conspicuous grown-up to hold the presidency — Richard Nixon.

Strength For Today

It is hard to cope with feelings of inferiority, particularly if those who consider themselves superior exert themselves to impress this conviction upon us.

But we might as well get used to this situation, for we are all inferior to someone in something. The poor look at the rich and envy them, the ignorant look at the educated and bemoan the fact that they never had a chance to go to college or graduate school. But perhaps more important, all of us — day by day — are meeting people who do better than we do at the things we do best.

By the same token, we can be sure that if these people are superior to us in something, we are superior to them in something else. And most probably they are looking at us with just as much envy as we are looking at them.

Martin Takes 'Capital For A Day' To Gaston

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Judging from Gaston County's day as North Carolina's capital, Gov. Jim Martin must shake a lot of hands in Raleigh.

In Martin's first Capital for a Day program, the governor and five state cabinet secretaries spent Monday in Gaston County holding office hours, touring businesses and pumping hands.

The event was crammed with speeches, luncheons and other trappings of politics. But aides said it also gave the administration a chance to learn directly from county residents whether state programs are doing an adequate job.

"You think you know what's going on until you get out here," said Dave Flaherty, secretary of human resources. "It's called management by getting around. The governor's doing it, and he's got us doing it. I got up at 5 this morning."

Martin, Flaherty and other officials already were calling the Gaston Capital for a Day prototype a success by midday. In 90 minutes of morning office hours at Gaston College, they heard complaints ranging from family problems to glitches in a new state program.

"I've gotten information that already made the trip from Raleigh worthwhile," Joe Dean, secretary of crime control and public safety, said at 10 a.m.

Dean was referring to a brief meeting with Joyce Heflin, the victimwitness assistant in the Gaston district attorney's office.

Ms. Heflin told Dean local courthouses have no way of knowing whether crime victims have received money from the state's new victim assistance fund. That lack of knowledge means some victims could get double compensation if judges order criminals to pay restitution.

"This (event) doesn't have anything to do with politics," Dean said. "It's just a matter of good government."

Politics crept into the day before long. Martin shook hands with dozens of nursing home residents, signed autographs and received a plaque.

At his next stop, the Gaston Country Club, Martin dined with more than 100 county business and political leaders. He promoted his administration's success in gaining new industry and jobs for the state.

Despite the political content, Monday's program worked in the interest of better government, said Alan Pugh, special counsel for the governor.

"Good government is good politics," Pugh said. "Anything the governor does well in his office is good politics."

With Monday's success, Martin could begin holding Capital for a Day events monthly, Pugh said. The governor's office has a tentative list of dates and locations for possible future programs.

Pugh said Martin got the idea from Maine Gov. John McKernan, a Republican who served with Martin in the U.S. House. McKernan has held eight such events since winning his election in 1986.

Willis Lyford, McKernan's press secretary, said the Maine governor borrowed the concept from Tennessee Gov. Lamar Alexander, also a Republican. Lyford said the program has helped make residents more vocal in stating their needs to government and to McKernan.

"He comes back from these things with his pockets stuffed full of notes," Lyford said.

Flaherty said the people of North Carolina should feel free to stuff notes in Martin's pockets.

"People assume we know what's going on," he said. "We need trips like this to make government more responsive."

IN THE STATE

Mayor Sworn

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Sue Myrick has been sworn in as Charlotte's first female mayor and 47th in the city's history, succeeding Harvey Gantt.

Mecklenburg County District Judge Marilyn Bissell gave the oath of office to the 46-year-old advertising company president Monday, making Mrs. Myrick Charlotte's first Republican mayor since 1979.

Mrs. Myrick defeated Gantt by 995 votes Nov. 3 after a hard-fought campaign.

Fire Deaths

GREENSBORO (AP) — Three children who were apparently trapped inside their house were killed when a fire roared through their Greensboro home while their mother was away delivering newspapers, officials say.

Fire officials received an emergency call on the fire about 6:08 a.m. Monday Officials said a neighbor had seen smoke about 5:30 a.m., but believed it was either smoke from a wood stove or dense fog, and didn't report it. A passerby later called the fire department.

James Howard Whitley, 9, and his 5-year-old twin brother and sister, Caroline Rose Whitley and Cary Ronald Whitely, were found inside the white shingled bungalow officials said.

Seminary

RALEIGH (AP) — The first two candidates to succeed the Rev. Randall Lolley as president of Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary have been announced by the chairman of the school's board of trustees.

The Rev. Robert Crowley of Rockville, Md., said Monday that two conservatives, William L. Bennett of Fort Smith, Ark., and John T. Floyd of Memphis, Tenn., had been formally recommended for the presidency. Neither is a well-known figure in the Southern Baptist Convention, the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

Woman Is Charged in '74 House Fire

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — Authorities followed a trail stretching across four states and 14 years before arresting a 70-year-old woman convicted of burning down her Burke County house to collect insurance money.

Carrie Davis Murphy is scheduled to be returned this week to North Carolina, which she fled 12 years ago before beginning her prison term.

The search, which involved a tangled web of assumed names and reported deaths, ended last week when Ms. Murphy and her daughter, Virginia Carol Davis, 49, were arrested by Florida authorities on a North Carolina warrant charging them with burning their home in the mid-1970s to collect more than $50,000 from an insurance policy.

The arrests concluded a case that periodically involved State Bureau of Investigation agents since 1974. Authorities say the convicted arsonists moved several times and Ms. Murphy assumed her dead mother's name to thwart detectives' efforts.

"Information was received back in the summer that Ms. Murphy had died in 1980 in Georgia," said Special Agent John Suttle, who began investigating the fire after local officials who suspected arson called in the SBI.

"The mother of Ms. Murphy had died, but what was provided to the funeral home and what was put on the death certificate was pertinent information about Carrie Murphy," he told the Morganton News-Herald. "(Ms. Murphy) buried her mother and started using her mother's name."

With the help of Georgia Bureau of Investigation agents, a confidential source Suttle declined to identify recently told detectives the pair was alive and well in Florida, where they had lived since 1983.

Last week, Florida authorites located them.

Ms. Murphy was living under the name of Lucy Perry, her dead mother, while Ms. Davis had remarried, had a child and was using the name of Betty Joe Bockee, said Suttle.

Candlelight Vows Spoken Saturday

FAYETTEVILLE — The candlelight wedding ceremony of Linda Leigh Harris and Michael Wayne Gilchrist took place Saturday at 6 p.m. in the Main Post Chapel at Fort Bragg.

The Rev. E.T. Vinson of Greenville conducted the double ring ceremony. Bev Morylan presented organ music and Sybil Carter sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Song."

Parents of the bridal couple are Betty M. Gilchrist of Fayetteville and the late Capt. Carl Gilchrist and Arlene R. Harris of Fayetteville.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Michael N. Harris of Baton Rouge, La. Her matron of honor was Kathryn B. Jones of Aiken, S.C. Bridesmaids included Jerri A. Futreal and Amanda J. Futreal, both of Greenville, Debra K. Gilchrist of Fayetteville, sister of the bridegroom, and Cindy P. Gurley of Clinton.

Jennifer Harris of Baton Rouge, niece of the bride, and Megan Gilchrist of Raleigh, niece of the bridegroom, were flower girls. The ring bearer was Kevin Gilchrist of Raleigh, nephew of the bridegroom.

The best man was Col. David L. Matthews of Fayetteville, uncle of the bridegroom. Ushers included Carl Ronald Gilchrist of Raleigh, brother of the bridegroom, Steven W. Harris of Fayetteville, brother of the bride, Mark R. Flowers of Greenville, and Matt Matthews of Garner, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a formal gown of ivory taffeta with alencon lace. The fitted bodice featured a modified V-neckline accented with re-embroidered alencon lace motifs, leg o'mutton sleeves and a natural waistline. Alencon lace motifs etched with seed pearls and sequins appliqued the bodice and sleeves. The full skirt extended into an attached chapel-length train. Scattered alencon lace medallions accented with seed pearls trimmed the skirt and train. Her headpiece was a matching pearled, Mary Stewart effect, open crown with pouf and a fingertip veil. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of orchids, stephanotis and English ivy.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of emerald green matte taffeta with sweetheart necklines and pouf sleeves. The fitted bodices featured panels of shirred taffeta extending into empire waistlines. They carried hurricane lamps accented with yellow roses and English ivy streamers.

The flower girls wore floor-length gowns of ivory moire taffeta styled with sweetheart necklines and short pouf sleeves. Each carried an ivory basket of yellow daisies and English ivy.

A reception was held at the Fort Bragg Officers' Club, given by the mother of the bride. Mrs. Henry Powers presided at the register. Mrs. Michael Harris poured punch and Mrs. Carl R. Gilchrist served cake. Col. and Mrs. Matthews said goodbyes.

The couple will live in Fayetteville after a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania.

The bride is a graduate of Westover High School in Fayetteville and attended East Carolina University where she received a B.S. and M.S. degrees in nursing. The bridegroom is a graduate of J.H. Rose High School in Greenville and ECU. She is employed at Cape Fear Valley Medical Center and he is a state trooper with the N.C. Highway Patrol.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's mother at her home. The Sudan String Band played at the country western barbecue.

The couple was honored at a shower and wedding brunch held prior to the wedding.

Mrs. Henry Powers directed the wedding.

Mail Brings Smiles, Tears

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For most of us, the Christmas season is a joyous time, but for the thousands of American servicemen and women stationed abroad and at sea, it can be depressing and lonely.

As the national chairman of the 1987 America Remembers Campaign, I want to encourage the folks at home to send Christmas and Hanukkah cards and letters to servicemen and women who are far from home. Last year, through Operation Dear Abby II, your readers flooded the mails with more than 2 million pieces of mail, which we distributed to our troops in Korea, Okinawa, Europe and on two aircraft carriers. (There were even boxes of homemade cookies!)

Abby, I spent Christmas in Germany with American GIs who received mail from Operation Dear Abby II, and I wish you and your readers could have seen the smiles and tears as the mail was distributed on Christmas Eve!

This year, we need your help more than ever. We want our servicemen and women to know that the folks back home remember and support them. Can the troops count on you and your readers for Operation Dear Abby III? Please say yes. — DON GRIMES, CHAIRMAN, 1987 AMERICA REMEMBERS CAMPAIGN

DEAR MR. GRIMES: Yes! You can count on me and my readers. Last year USA Today, with its burgeoning readership of 5 1/2 million, joined in publicizing our campaign, and they have agreed to join us again.

Readers, start writing (and baking) now. Send as many cards and letters as you can. Last year my readers advised me that they were flabbergasted at the number of responses they received from grateful servicemen and women.

— The aircraft carrier USS Ranger will be in the Indian Ocean during Christmas. Write to: America Remembers the USS Ranger (CV 61), c/o PAO, FPO San Fancisco 96633-2750. Attention: Operation Dear Abby III.

— The aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea will be in the Mediterranean Sea over Christmas. Write to: America Remembers the USS Coral Sea (CV 43), c/o PAO, FPO New York 09550-2720. Attention: Operation Dear Abby III.

— America Remembers U.S. Forces in Iceland, USO KEFLAVIK-ICELAND, FPO New York 09571-0014. Attention: Operation Dear Abby III.

And how is this for a bonus?

DEAR ABBY: I am the chairman of the Sanborn Girl Scouts and Brownies. Last year, at your request, we wrote to the sailors aboard the USS John F. Kennedy, and received so many wonderful letters of thanks, we followed up with Valentines, then Easter cards.

Then their Captain Moriarty invited us to visit the ship while it was docked in Norfolk, Va.! So last August, with the help of our Girl Scout Council, friends and families, seven Girl Scouts, four chaperones and our own personal photographer flew to Virginia and spent three nights and four days aboard the USS JFK as special guests of the U.S. Navy. It was the most memorable experience of our lives. Thank you, Abby, for making it possible. — TAMMY GINGER, SANBORN, IOWA

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices opened broadly higher today, moving in tandem with the dollar in foreign exchange.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which started the week with a nearly 77-point shortfall, was up 20.89 points to 1,854.44 in the first half hour of trading on Wall Street.

In the broader market, about 13 issues rose in value for every five that fell among issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange, with 881 up, 338 down and 343 unchanged.

Volume on the Big Board came to 23.24 million shares at 10 a.m. EST.

Today, the dollar rose in Europe, with the help of central bank intervention, and overseas stock markets improved. The dollar also was holding steady in U.S. trading.

Among actively traded blue-chip stocks, International Business Machines was up 1⅝ to 112⅜, General Electric rose ⅞ to 42⅞, Exxon rose ⅝ to 42⅞ and American Telephone and Telegraph rose ½ to 27½.

16 Leather Coats Taken From Auto

Investigators said 10 thefts, including 16 leather coats from a car and $2,000 worth of tools from a shed, were reported to Greenville police Monday.

Officer R.L. Vandiford said the coats, valued at $1,500, were taken from a vehicle parked at Carolina East Mall in an incident reported at 10:35 p.m., while Officer M.R. Benton said the tools were taken from a storage shed at 1308B Willow St. in a break-in reported at 2:28 p.m.

Officer J.G. Bridges said $200 in cash was taken from L5 Oakmont Square Apartments in a break-in reported at 7:33 a.m., while Officer T.E. Nevelle said a license plate was taken from a vehicle parked at Honeycutt Beauty Supply on Memorial Drive in an incident reported at 8:15 a.m.

Officer F.G. Pruitt said a radio-tape player and two speakers, valued at $400, were taken from a car at Joe Pecheles Volkswagon on Greenville Boulevard in an incident also reported at 8:15 a.m. He said candy, chips and soft drinks valued at $300 were taken from the Boys Club of Pitt County on Arlington Boulevard in an incident reported at 10:58 a.m., while a motorized bicycle was taken from the Pitt County Courthouse in an incident reported at 3:10 p.m.

Officer S.A. Person said an adding machine valued at $189 and a word processor valued at $699 were taken from Taff Office Equipment Co. at 569 S. Evans St. in a break-in reported at 8:27 a.m., while Officer B.M. Highland said food and cleaning items valued at $50 were taken from a 206 Ash St. apartment in an incident reported at 2:34 p.m.

According to Officer H.D. Hines, school textbooks valued at $248 were taken from an apartment at 204 Ash St. in a break-in reported at 4:51 p.m.

Card of Thanks

counties that are large vegetable growers. The potato growers from the northeastern counties and the cucumber and squash growers from Sampson and Johnston counties each can come here easily enough."

Last year was the test year, Sam Uzzell, Pitt County extension agent participating in the event, said. "We were pleased with the attendance, but we expect a lot people more this year," he said.

Bonnanno said the fact that most soybeans are harvested and the weather is not as pretty as it was last year during the expo should bring more farmers out. "Farmers feel they have to stay home and work when the weather is nice and certainly when there are crops still to be harvested," he said.

Both Uzzell and Bonnanno stressed that the information given at these expos is the most up-to-date there is. "We throw out most of the old tapes once the next expo is held," Bonnanno said. "As in all fields, the contents of the information we want to share with our growers changes so fast that we can't depend on last year's knowledge to provide it."

This expo, Bonnanno said, is a consolidation of meetings of several specialty growers' associations — groups like the N.C. Trellis Tomato Growers Association and the N.C. Potato Growers Association, to name two. "We're able to provide more speakers from out of state and attract more venders by combining like this," he said.

Schools

The question is especially relevant, he said, because the General Assembly this year established a "critical needs fund" to help some local governments pay for school construction. As part of a $3.2 billion school building plan, lawmakers appropriated $98 million for the critical needs fund and agreed to add $10 million per year.

The Legislature created a commission to divide up the money and set criteria for deciding which school systems deserve it most. Dornan said in doing so, he hoped the commission would take the study's findings into account.

"We think the effort a county is making really should be a major factor in terms of its qualifying for critical needs (funding)," Dornan said.

Thus, he said, Forum leaders think the critical needs fund shouldn't necessarily be spent on the poorest school systems.

If a relatively wealthy county makes an excellent effort to support its schools and is found to have serious needs, it should get priority over a poorer county that has not tried hard to improve its schools, Dornan said.

He acknowledged, however, that the Forum report did not deal with the question of need. The Department of Public Instruction is conducting an in-depth survey of local systems to gauge their school facility needs, he said.

Gene Causby, executive director of the North Carolina School Boards Association, said the study would help citizens measure their local governments' support of schools.

"Almost any community you go into honestly feel like they're making a fine effort," Causby said. "School board members frequently say they're not, county commissioners say they are, and then the logical question is compared to what.

"This is a way to compare, and I think will be of great value to local communities," he said. "We've struggled for a long, long time to say how do you measure effort. This is the most concrete step I've seen to ... (be) able to do that in some sort of explainable, equitable way."

The study, coordinated by Forum research director Peter Leousis, devised a complicated formula that ranked local systems' school funding efforts based on "relative effort," "actual effort" and "ability to pay."

"Relative effort" was defined as a school system's five-year (1981-85) average of education spending compared with its potential revenue capacity adjusted for per capita income.

"Actual effort" is a system's average expenditure over five years for school needs, such as current expenses, capital outlaw and debt service.

"Ability to pay" was computed by adjusted property tax wealth per child.

The 10 systems found to be making the best effort to fund education were Roanoke Rapids, Rocky Mount, Martin County, Shelby, Durham City, Elkin, Asheville, Scotland County and Thomasville.

The bottom 10 were Clay County, Pamlico County, Tyrrell County, Beaufort County, Avery County, Brunswick County, Davie County, Alleghany County and Watauga County.

Greene county ranks 70th in its ability to pay and 65th in actual effort, while Craven ranks 61st in ability and 68th in effort.

Martin County's overall ranking of third is based in part on it's ability-to-pay ranking of 100th and its actual-effort ranking of 21st., while Beaufort's overall ranking of 137th is based on an ability ranking of 14th and an actual effort ranking of 110th.

Wayne County ranks 57th in ability to pay and 104th in actual effort, for an overall ranking of 102nd.

goal of conducting successful, long-range planning.

"A growing and developing city such as Greenville has many capital needs, such as new fire rescue apparatus, the construction of additional fire substations, and street improvements," he said.

"A large capital reserve lets you build on a pay-as-you-go basis rather than choosing alternative financing methods, such as the issuance of bonds," he added

City Manager Greg Knowles said the amount of money in the capital reserve shows the city is fiscally strong.

"It means so much to the future of the city, where you can go and what you can do financially," he said.

Scoring Run

Blount, Chargers Take Revenge, Earn Berth In Eastern Finals, 14-6

By TOM MORRIS
Reflector Sports Writer

BETHEL — After coming up losers to North Pitt earlier this season, Ayden-Grifton running back Eric Blount and his teammates felt some changes were in order to prevent a repeat performance.

"When we played them the first time it was a hard loss (16-14)," Blount said. "We said if we met them again, we would beat them. The first time we played with our hearts. This time we played with our heads."

The new strategy worked well enough to earn the Chargers a 14-6 Eastern 2-A semifinal playoff victory and send them into the Eastern 2-A finals against Whiteville, which defeated North Duplin 32-0 last Friday.

Playing on a rain-soaked field, Blount once again led the way for Ayden-Grifton as he scored both Charger touchdowns, while rushing 21 times for 90 yards.

The Chargers kept the Panthers' vaunted option game in check and held them out of the end zone until the final quarter while overcoming a late rally.

"They used their heads and played under control out there," said Ayden-Grifton coach B.T. Chappell.

Both teams moved the ball at times, but the Chargers were able to cash in on their chances, while the Panthers were stymied once they got in scoring position.

"Ayden-Grifton did a super job of defending us," said North Pitt coach Larry Bolger. "We moved the ball, we just didn't get it in the end zone."

Chappell said the Chargers defended the option better this time because of the play of his defensive tackles, Steve Tucker and James Collins.

"The thing that hurt us last time was the poor play of our tackles," he said. "This time they did a good job.

"What they are supposed to do is hit the tackle and keep him from getting to the linebacker. He was getting to the linebacker. When they started hitting the tackle, that took away the quarterback option.

"Our tackles had to hit their defensive tackles and then play down to the fullback. They had dual responsibilities. That was the biggest change between the way we played defense the first time and the second time."

Ayden-Grifton got on the board late in the first half, taking over at its own 39 with 1:09 to go in the second quarter and driving 61 yards for the score.

The drive was made possible by the passing game. Quarterback Darryl Moye got the Chargers started with two consecutive 18-yard completions, the first to Ronnell Peterson and the second to Blount.

Blount then took a pitch on first and 10 at the Panther 27, ran left, stopped and hit Tony Reeves with a halfback option pass that put the ball at the two-yard line.

Blount then took it in from there with 24 seconds to go in the half. The Chargers went for two on the conversion but their pass attempt failed, giving them a 6-0 advantage as the

Cold Pirates Fall To Duke, 94-45

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

DURHAM — Defensively, East Carolina did just what it wanted to do.

Offensively, East Carolina did just what it didn't want to do.

And the result was a 94-45 basketball victory by hosting Duke University, the number 13 team in the country.

The Pirates' short and inexperienced team held Duke in check defensively for some time, but Coach Mike Steele said he knew that the Blue Devils would eventually come to life.

They did about half-way through the second period, zooming out to as much as a 49-point lead on a number of occasions before finally having to settle for that at the end.

"No one got killed," Steele said afterward. "I checked the locker room and we're all still alive. I tell you I'm real excited about having this one over with, to be honest with you."

Steele said that after watching his own show on Sunday evening, he caught the Duke TV show, which followed. "I shouldn't have done that. I didn't get much sleep last night.

"Their kids play such great defense and the are unselfish with the ball," Steele added.

"When you consider that we start a walkon and three freshmen and this was the first road game for nine of our 11 players — and this is a fun place to come into for those nine — maybe we could have done better with more experience."

The Pirate coach said he was happy with the defense over the first five or six minutes. "We tried to do some things, switch around, and we held them to a low scoring game. But then we couldn't score."

The Pirates started the game by missing their first nine shots from the floor, and after Jimmy Hinton finally broke the ice with a driving layup with 14:12 left, the Pirates missed several other shots before running off six straight — a streak that was their longest of the night.

Duke, however, had scored 12 points during that same period, including six by Billy King, to take a 12-0 lead. ECU's streak cut it back to 16-8, the closest it got after that.

To start the second half, Duke was scoreless for three minutes — exactly what Steele had wanted. But — his Pirates didn't score for almost four minutes and got only two free throws by Reid Lose during the first six minutes.

By then, Duke had warmed up and sped from a 38-18 lead at intermission to a 47-20 lead with 14:00 left.

"In the second half, it was the same thing," Steele said. "We hold them and still don't score."

Duke's Mike Krzyzewski said that he thought his team played quite hard, but that he was not pleased with the play in the first half. "Some of that was due to East Carolina's defense," he said, "They put good pressure on you in several combinations."

Krzyzewski said that the Blue Devils were trying to do something new in passing the ball forward and that it took some time to get into the swing of it. "We took too many jump shots in the first half. It was as if we were trying to score too quickly. In the second half, we really played well," the Duke coach said.

Krzyzewski said he sees a lot of

Crum Quits As Heel Coach

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — Former North Carolina football coach Dick Crum will receive $800,000 from the school over the next four years after an "erosion of support" spurred his resignation, university officials say.

Following two weeks of speculation over his status, a statement was released jointly Monday by Crum, UNC Chancellor Christopher Fordham and UNC Athletic Director John Swofford. It indicated that a study was conducted to determine the status of the football program under Crum.

"This study found that the program no longer enjoyed the full support of all elements of the university community," the statement said. "This erosion of support was a source of concern to Coach Crum and to the University."

UNC officials said Crum will be paid an initial $400,000 and $100,000 per year over the four years remaining on his contract. Crum's assistants have had contracts since July which will be fully honored, the school said.

"In addition to recognizing his 10 years of honorable service, these figures represent his salary over the four-year period plus approximately half of the value of his outside activities associated with the position of head football coach," the statement said.

The statement said Crum was given the option of remaining to coach the final years of his contract.

"However, Coach Crum and the university have reluctantly determined that it is in Crum's best interest, the best interest of the players that he recruited, and the best interest of the university for him to submit and for the university to accept his resignation effective January 31, 1988," the statement said.

Swofford said he expected to name an advisory committee to begin searching for Crum's successor within the next couple of days, according to Rick Brewer, UNC Sports Information director. Swofford will chair the panel.

Discussions between Crum and school officials took place in a "mutually supportive environment," the statement said.

"This decision by Coach Crum and the university represents the conclusion reached by them following this amicable review."

Neither the Educational Foundation nor its members took part in the negotiations that led to Crum's resignation, officials said. Reports in the last 10 days had indicated that the foundation, known as the Rams Club, had taken part in the negotiations to buy out Crum's contract.

Crum's college coaching career began at Miami of Ohio, after 12 years spent in the high school ranks. He was the defensive backfield coach for one season for the Redksins then spent four years as defensive coordinator before being named head coach prior to the 1974 season.

He coached at Miami of Ohio for four years, leading the Redskins to a 34-10-1 record and two victorious trips to the Tangerine Bowl during that span.

Crum replaced Bill Dooley as the Tar Heels' coach in 1978. He led North Carolina to a 5-6 record his first season, then to 8-3-1, 11-1 and 10-2 records and victorious bowl trips the next three seasons.

In the latter two seasons, the Tar Heels finished in the top 10 in the Associated Press final polls. Crum was named the ACC coach of the year by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association following the 1980 season.

The Tar Heels also went to bowls the next two seasons, finishing each year with an 8-4 record.

Crum's record at North Carolina is 72-41-3.

Depth Could Hurt Jag Chances

Jaguar Leaders

By TOM MORRIS
Reflector Sports Writer
(One of a series)

While Farmville Central coach Mike Terrell has the utmost confidence in his top six players, the Jaguars' Achilles heel may be a lack of depth, primarily in the front court.

Farmville lost three starters off of last year's 24-5 state runner-up squad, including top two scorers Kennedy Williams and James Reid, as well as starting center Mark Williams.

The loss of Reid though is particularly crushing. A 6-5 junior forward, Reid averaged 14 points a game and was already drawing the interest of college recruiters. But he quit the team in midseason.

"To my knowledge, I think he's dropped out of school," Terrell said. "Certainly, he's an outstanding basketball player. He can do it all.

"It's a tragic loss, but we've got some good kids. The biggest thing we have to do is get over the emotion of losing him. We may have to go through the season and see how much the loss (actually) is."

The Jaguars do, though, return last season's starting backcourt of point guard Tyrone Joyner and off-guard Gary Moore. Joyner averaged 10.1 points a game while Moore chipped in with an average of 7.0 per game.

Another player of impact for the Jaguars this season will be 6-3 forward Alexander Daniels. He was the top frontcourt reserve a year ago and will be joined by 6-5 sophomore Jarvis Lang in the frontcourt. Reggie Barrett, a 6-2 forward, rounds out the probable starting five.

"We're quicker than last year's team," Terrell said. "We do some things better as far as getting up and down the court. We'll probably have more of an opportunity to fast break."

That's the upside for the Jaguars. The downside is the reserves. Terrell said he hopes junior guard George Burnette, who averaged 15 points a game on the junior varsity team, will lend depth in the backcourt, along with 5-6 senior Harold Barrett.

"We've got to be lucky," Terrell said. "We can't lose anybody as far as injury or foul trouble. Our first six could be as good as anybody, but if we lose a kid to foul trouble, it could change things.

"We lack another big person. We lack someone (big) we could bring off the bench. Some of the other kids on the team, if they could develop ..., that would be a tremendous plus."

But even with the depth problems, the Jaguars will still very likely be a force in the Eastern Plains 2-A Conference. With Joyner and Moore in the backcourt, Farmville has a pair of experienced ball handlers who started together most of last season.

"They have been through the battle field," Terrell said. "There is no substitute for experience. They have been all the way to Chapel Hill (for last year's state championships). They know what it takes to win. It's like having coaches on the court."

Joyner emerged during last year's sectionals in Fayetteville, claiming MVP honors. And Terrell said the 6-0 senior has just begun to realize his potential.

"He's got unlimited ability," the coach said. "He's not reached what he's capable of. He's just reached the tip of the iceberg. The more he plays, the better he is going to be.

"I'm expecting a lot out of him, but I'm not expecting him to be the whole

Big Wins Boost Team's Confidence

By The Associated Press

Runaway victories boosted the egos of three Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams, but Wake Forest didn't get the early-season boost it was looking for, falling to Siena of New York.

In Durham, 13th-ranked Duke rang up a 94-45 victory over East Carolina Monday night to raise its record to 2-0. North Carolina State defeated Vermont 108-58, and Clemson charged past Baptist 81-60. Siena took a 72-67 victory over Wake Forest.

Blue Devils coach Mike Krzyzewski said his team might need some time to get used to his offensive strategies, but he couldn't convince East Carolina that the 13th-ranked Blue Devils were having trouble.

"We were trying to do something a little bit different in the first half as far as passing the ball ahead more and we're not accustomed to it yet," Krzyzewski said. "We were a little ahead of ourselves. We took too many jump shots and the reason is we were just trying to score too quickly."

Forwards Kevin Strickland and Greg Koubek scored 14 points apiece, with Koubek getting 11 of his total in the second half. Guard Joe Cook scored 13 points, including 11 in the second half, and junior center John Smith added 10 points.

The Wolfpack, playing in its season opener, got 16 points from Charles Shackleford. Freshmen Sean Green and Rodney Monroe added 13 points apiece and Vinny Del Negro had 11 for N.C. State.

Freshman Chris Corchiani handed out 10 assists for the Wolfpack.

"We've been working hard on a different style of play, and in the first half, I think you saw what that style can create for us," N.C. State Coach Jim Valvano said. "In the past, we had a hard time playing in games we're supposed to win. Tonight, we were successful with the press in the first half and we held them to 29 points. And yet, we were able to score 63 points."

Valvano said he didn't want to run up the score in the second half, switching his offense to a half-court attack.

"It was a good opener for us," he said. "We've improved a great deal this season already, but we still need to get better in a lot of areas."

Sophomore center Elden Campbell scored 17 points as Clemson charged past Baptist. The Tigers, 2-0, also got double figure scoring from junior forward Jerry Pryor, who had 13 points, and sophomore guard Tim Kincaid, who scored 10.

Baptist forward Oliver Johnson led all scorers with 23 points as the Buccaneers fell to 1-1.

Baptist coach Gary Edwards had counted on the Tigers being sluggish and was disappointed when they weren't.

"We had hoped they were affected by the Taiwan trip, but as it turned out they didn't look too tired," he said. "Our game is to try and keep an up tempo, but we were overmatched."

Krusen Is Cat's Coach

CULLOWHEE (AP) — Herb Krusen, who was picked as Western Carolina's interim basketball coach last week after 10-year veteran Coach Steve Cottrell resigned, will continue on as coach the rest of the season, school officials said Tuesday.

The search for a permanent head coach will continue, according to Athletic Director Terry Wanless, but to benefit the basketball program for the season, the 29-year-old Krusen will head the Catamounts for the balance of the season.

Wanless made the announcement Tuesday after consulting with Chancellor Myron Coulter, who was out of town when Cottrell resigned.

Seminoles Tops In The DR Poll

Florida State has moved back to the top of the Daily Reflector Performance Rankings after its win over Florida this past weekend.

Miami of Florida also moved forward, leaping to the number two spot — and should it beat South Carolina on Saturday night, the Hurricanes are poised to take over the top spot going into the bowl games.

The Miami-South Carolina is one of only a handful of games left on the regular season schedule, which winds up Saturday.

Then, the Hurricanes go into the Orange Bowl to face Oklahoma, the team top ranked in the Associated Press poll.

The Daily Reflector rankings are based on success against strength of schedule. Points are awarded for each team's victories, with addition points awarded when Team A's victims lose. Additional points are awarded for the third level of competition's victories.

Thus, a team is ranked against its schedules of the remaining 103 Division I-A schools.

UNC Slides Into Top Poll Position

By JIM O'CONNELL
AP Basketball Writer

North Carolina is No. 1, but there are two packs of Wildcats nipping at the Heels.

North Carolina, 3-0, succeeded defending national champion Syracuse in the first regular-season basketball poll by beating the Orangemen 96-93 in overtime two weeks ago and then winning the Central Fidelity Classic last weekend. The Tar Heels were ranked No. 3 in the preseason poll.

Kentucky's Wildcats, fifth in the preseason, jumped to No. 2 after opening the season on Saturday with an 86-59 drubbing of Hawaii. Arizona's pack of Wildcats, ranked 17th in the preseason, bolted into ninth this week on the strength of a 79-64 thrashing of then-No. 9 Michigan in the Great Alaska Shootout.

USC Is The Last Block

By The Associated Press

Oklahoma is ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press college football poll. Miami is No. 2.

Between them is eighth-ranked South Carolina.

The Oklahoma Sooners have completed an 11-0 regular season and are awaiting their Orange Bowl showdown against the Miami Hurricanes. But Miami, 10-0, still has one regular-season game left, against South Carolina on Saturday night.

In the next-to-last regular-season poll, Oklahoma received 48 of 55 first-place votes and 1,090 of a possible 1,100 points. Six first-place votes and 1,049 points went to Miami.

Chargers...

teams headed into halftime.

"It put us on a downer coming into the locker room," Bolger said of the Chargers' first scoring drive. "We were more frustrated at ourselves than Ayden-Grifton. We had that timeout and I (had) told them to watch out for the pass across the middle and the halfback pass.

"We knew what they could do. We just didn't stop them when it was appropriate."

Both teams had other scoring opportunities in the first half but failed to capitalize.

The Panthers took the opening kickoff and drove to the Charger 15 before failing on a fourth-and-three attempt as Ayden-Grifton's Kelvin Ellison threw Michael Daniels for a three-yard loss.

The Chargers countered that by doing the same thing.

They drove to the North Pitt 19 on their ensuing possession but Aaron Harper fumbled on a second-and-one play after being hit hard by Panther nose guard Terry Nobles. North Pitt's William Morning recovered.

North Pitt took over and promptly drove back down the field, only to fail on a fourth and five at the eight-yard line.

"We got close twice," Bolger said. "The first time we got in good field position, we had a broken assignment. It put us in a hole and we couldn't get out.

"The second time down there it was the same situation. We missed an assignment and had a hurried pass."

The Chargers expanded their lead to 14-0 in the third quarter when Kelvin Ellison partially blocked a North Pitt punt to give the Chargers the ball at the Panther 41.

Ayden-Grifton quickly took advantage of the break to drive in for its second touchdown. Blount got the score on a 20-yard run as he burst through the middle of the line, broke a few tackles, twisted around and broke into the clear for his second score of the night.

Moye then hit Peterson for the two-point conversion to make it 14-0 with 2:54 left in the third period.

Blount said he learned early in the game he would have to change his running style due to the field conditions and he was mindful of that on the second scoring run.

"I was running too fast and cutting too hard," he said. "I told myself to take my time. I slowed down and the man ran past me. Then I just ran into the end zone."

But the Panthers were not dead yet.

With 3:15 remaining, North Pitt got on the scoreboard as quarterback Calvin Hunter, set back in shotgun formation, completed a 56-yard scoring bomb to Morning, who beat Reeves on the play.

Reeves was there in place of starter David Dixon who had gone down earlier with a knee injury.

North Pitt's kick attempt failed, leaving the score 14-6 with 3:15 to go.

The Panthers went for the onsides kick but Peterson covered the ball for the Chargers.

Still, North Pitt stuffed Ayden-Grifton on four straight plays and, following a punt, got the ball back with 1:24 remaining.

Three straight completions by Hunter put the ball at the Charger 49. Hunter then tried to hook up with Morning again on a long pass down the right sideline. This time, though, Reeves was there to make the play as he intercepted the throw at the 12, ending North Pitt's hopes with 33 seconds to play.

"We were trying to complete the long pass," Bolger said. "We were also trying to open up some things underneath. We had the time, we just threw an interception. We had to go for the gusto. You can't leave it sitting on the fifty."

The game was played on Monday night due to inclement weather Friday and Saturday nights.

Tennessee Is First In 1st Women's Poll

By MEL GREENBERG
For The Associated Press

Tennessee has the top spot in The Associated Press' first regular-season women's basketball poll.

Though the defending NCAA champions increased their first-place vote total to 52 from a nationwide panel of 60 women's coaches, Tennessee's 60-point margin over No. 2 Texas was the same as it was last week in the preseason balloting.

In the poll released today, the Vols collected 1,189 points. Texas, 3-0, which swept the three-game Wahinie Classic in Hawaii, including a 91-70 victory over Penn State in the championship game, received two first-place votes and 1,129 points.

Ironically, No. 3 Auburn, which opened with two victories in Orlando, Fla., over Providence and South Carolina, trailed Texas by 42 points, the same margin as last week. This time the Tigers received five first-place votes and 1,087 points.

The first nine teams in the poll were the same as last week. No. 4 Long Beach State, which opens against visiting UCLA on Thursday night, received the remaining first-place ballot and 992 points.

Richmond Rolls Over Pitt, 95-75

WINTERVILLE — Richmond Community College broke open a tight game in the second half to take a 95-75 win over Pitt Community College in Region X Eastern Division junior college basketball action Monday night.

Richmond led 32-29 at the half but moved out to a lead of 45-36 with 16 minutes left.

Pitt closed back to within 45-40 with just over 14 minutes remaining but Richmond expanded the lead to 66-50 with 9:45 to go. From there, the closest Pitt would get is 14 points.

Carl Murphy led Richmond with 25 points. James Douglas added 16 while Godfrey Wilson had 15, including three three pointers.

Pitt was led by Ricky Congleton's 17. Paul Hollingsworth added 15 while Eric Dunn had 14 and Mike Hathaway 12.

Pitt suffered through 33 turnovers and hit on only nine of 21 free throw attempts.

"I was very displeased with most of our offense last night," said Pitt coach Charles Coburn. "We have got to learn to play 40 minutes of team basketball. I was very displeased with our turnovers and our free throws.

"If we don't start playing 40 minutes of basketball it is going to be a long year."

Pitt falls to 2-4 overall, 0-2 in division play and returns to action Wednesday hosting Louisburg.

Cox Outwrestles Williamston Junior High

WILLIAMSTON — A.G. Cox Middle School rolled over Williamston Junior High School in a wrestling match Monday, 54-27.

Cox won nine of the weight classes, including eight by pins.

Cox returns to action on Wednesday hosting Tabernacle Junior High.

Reid, Bucknall Sentenced In Assault Case

RALEIGH (AP) — University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill basketball star J.R. Reid has entered a sentencing program that requires him to perform 100 hours of community service in connection with the assault on an N.C. State University student in a Raleigh nightclub.

Reid, who was charged with misdemeanor assault, did not enter a plea when the assault case was heard in Wake District Court Monday. His case was instead deferred, and he was assigned to an Attitude Improvement Dialogue Program run by the county. But to be accepted, he was required to accept responsibility for the assault, which he did.

Reid's teammate, Steve Bucknall, pleaded no contest to a charge of assault inflicting serious injury stemming from the same incident and was given a 30-day suspended sentence by Judge Stafford Bullock. Bucknall also was fined $25 and ordered to pay $40 in court costs.

Under the Attitude Improvement Dialogue Program, Reid's assault charge remains pending for nine months. But if he performs the required service and avoids criminal convictions, the charge will be dismissed.

East Carolina-Duke...

similarities in East Carolina's current position and Duke's position when he took over nine years ago. "Their kids are young and small but they play together well. They were undermanned tonight. We had more players, more experienced players. They played hard, but when we played hard, we were just better than they were."

Duke, after opening up its 12-0 lead, steadily pulled away the rest of the evening, despite slow going in the first half. The Blue Devils built up as much as a 21-point lead in the first half at 2:56 with Phil Henderson hit for a 36-15 lead.

But Duke didn't score again until John Smith tossed back a missed shot with three seconds to go. Unfortunately for the Pirates, they got only a basket by Lose and a free throw by Terhern Harvey, and trailed, 38-18, at the half.

In the second half, Duke never allowed the Pirate to put together two consecutive baskets.

The Blue Devils crossed the 30-point margin at 52-22 at the 13:05 mark with a shot from underneath by Greg Koubek. It reached 40 at 71-31 with 8:06 remaining when Joe Cook canned a jumper.

Then, it reached its apex for the first time at 84-35 on a baseline jumper by Robert Brickey with 4:29 to go.

Duke had the opportunity several times to push past 50, but was never able to do so as the Pirates matched them the rest of the way.

East Carolina's shooting was horrible, 26.7 percent in the first half and 30.4 for the game. Duke, after a 42.1 performance in the first half, rallied to hit 54.2 percent for the game. The Blue Devils made 67.6 percent in the second half.

Duke enjoyed a 45-33 rebounding edge over the Pirates, who were down by only five at the half. Smith and Danny Ferry led the Blue Devils with nine, while Kenny Murphy and Gus Hill had five each for ECU.

The Blue Devils forced the Pirates into 28 turnovers, including 11 by the freshman Hinton.

Kevin Strickland and Koubek led the Blue Devil scoring with 14 points each, while Cook had 13 and Smith had 10.

Lose was the only Pirate in double figures with 11.

"As young as we are," Steele said, "we've got to just learn from it and get ready for the next game."

That next game will be on Dec. 8 when the Pirates host Campbell University.

ECU is now 1-1 while Duke climbs to 2-0.

team. He should be the leader (though) and the most important spoke on the wheel."

Those two, along with Daniels, should be the early leaders, according to Terrell, at least until Lang comes along.

"I look for those three people to carry the weight," Terrell said. "Those three, that's the key. They are good athletes and good basketball players."

Terrell said Lang could develop into a force in the middle, and if he does, that should open up things for the Jaguars' other players.

"Jarvis Lang is a sophomore, but he doesn't play like a sophomore," Terrell said. "Before the season is over, I feel like he'll be an outstanding player.

"I think it's very important. They have to stop the big person and when you do that you have to drop off and it gives you more opportunities on the outside."

So the Jaguars' cast has changed, but this is not a new situation for Terrell and his squad.

Last year, they overcame the loss of a key starter and a top reserve for disciplinary reasons to sweep through the East Regionals.

This year, the Jaguars will once again battle with Ayden-Grifton for top honors in the EPC, with North Pitt and Pamlico also challenging.

"We feel like we have a good shot at it," Terrell said. "We have a mighty good chance.

"Our defense should be just as strong, but our rebounding may not be as strong. We may not shoot it as well because we lost Kennedy Williams, who was a great inside shooter."

Horoscope

From The Carroll Righter Institute

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY Dec. 2

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Be sure that your property, especially your roof, will be adequate for any changes of climate. Pay special attention to your budget.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Think about improving your appearance. Use your own judgment rather than relying on the opinions of those around you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Settle any matters which require your immediate attention. Let your mate know about any practical affairs which have been annoying you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Watch over those things in life which are most important to you. A good friend can give you fine advice for advancing socially.

LEO (July 22 to August 21): Protect your credit or you could lose much respect in your community. Plan out your schedule early today, and don't let anyone distract you.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22): A new friend can give you some valuable advice on how to become more successful. Enjoy the domestic scene this evening.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22): Look over your past actions, and be sure you're not about to make the same mistakes again. Your mate has good advice, so listen.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21): You'll have an inspired idea about how to gain the cooperation of a difficult associate. Get plenty of rest tonight - you'll need it.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21): You have much work to do, and can handle it wisely with a little common sense and some planning. Don't provoke any arguments.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20): Follow your intuition and try to raise your lagging spirits. This morning is the best time to settle that matter with your mate.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19): This is not the right time to upbraid a family friend for something which has displeased you. It is vital that all remain harmonious at home.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20): Take care of any important conversations, either in person or on the phone, early today. You won't be in the mood this evening.

Some hands appeal to us for the brilliance of their execution. Others for their clarity of thought. Some we find amusing, while on others a position arises that tickles our fancy. This hand, from a recent pair tournament in New York, is one of the latter.

North-South bid well to a reasonable heart slam. North's jump cue-bid in spades showed a singleton with game-going values in hearts. Two black-suit cue-bids were all that were needed to convince South he would have good play for six hearts.

Since a spade lead would get the defense nowhere, West elected to lead a diamond, solving one of declarer's problems for him. Declarer won the diamond continuation and, since he could claim his slam if trumps broke 2-1, he cashed the ace of hearts.

The 3-0 split presented more than a minor annoyance. Declarer cashed the ace of spades, ruffed a spade and came back to hand with a diamond ruff. Instead of trumping another spade he first cashed the ace-king of clubs and ruffed a club. When he now ruffed a spade in dummy, all hands were reduced to three cards. Dummy was down to the Q-7 of hearts and a club, East held J-10 of trumps and a diamond, and declarer K-9 of hearts and a spade. With the lead on the board, declarer led the club and East could only gnash his teeth helplessly. If he didn't ruff, declarer would ruff low and score the last two tricks with top trumps. But trumping proved no better. Declarer simply overruffed and dummy's trumps took the last two tricks.

Declarer's never-give-up philosophy resulted in a top score and a close win over a good field.

Haitian Presidential Candidates Reject Offer Of New Elections

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — An offer by the junta to hold elections was rejected by two leading presidential candidates, one of whom blamed the junta for violence that forced the cancellation of Sunday's balloting.

The rejection deepened Haiti's political crisis which worsened Sunday when the first presidential elections in 30 years were canceled after at least 34 people were killed and 75 wounded by gun and machete attacks on voters.

The military dominated junta, a provisional government that was to surrender power to an elected president, was blamed for failing to protect voters and candidates from the attacks by unidentified assailants.

"No elections are possible under the junta. They're the ones shooting people," Sylvio Claude, founder of the Christian Democratic Party and a presidential candidate in the aborted election, said Monday.

Claude urged that an international military force be sent to the poverty-stricken Caribbean nation to supervise elections. "We call on a group of nations — the Organization of American States or the United Nations — to send multinational forces to conduct elections if the United States, the boss of the junta, doesn't force it to step down," he said.

Walter E. Fauntroy, Democratic delegate to Congress from the District of Columbia and chairman of the congressional task force on Haiti, also has called for an international force to supervise elections.

The three-man junta led by Lt. Gen. Henry Namphy dismantled the Provisional Electoral Council hours after the civilian council canceled Haiti's first presidential and legislative elections since 1957 to prevent more killing.

All nine members of the electoral council were in hiding Monday, said council spokesman Rene Belance said. Most shops were shuttered Monday in Port-au-Prince for fear that Sunday's violence would resume.

Few cars or public minibuses moved through nearly deserted streets, which soldiers patrolled. The few radio stations broadcasting mainly transmitted messages from people telling relatives and friends they were safe.

Radio Metropole said an unidentified man was shot and killed early Monday morning in a Port-au-Prince neighborhood.

After dismissing the civilian election council, Namphy told the nation the junta would supervise new elections, but he did not say when. He also said he plans to see a new government elected and inaugurated by Feb. 7.

Belance called balloting "out of the question" for the time being. "The public will boycott any elections organized by the junta," he said.

Marc Bazin, presidential candidate of the Movement for the Installation of Democracy in Haiti, said Monday that elections must be held under the council or he would not participate, his press secretary Leslie Paen said.

A third presidential candidate, Louis Dejoie, leader of the National Agricultural and Industrial Party, gave the government three days to explain how it plans to arrange the elections, or he would not participate.

Dejoie said the election violence "is the result of junta maneuvers to prevent elections. The junta refuses to have honest elections."

Merite Meridien, an assistant morgue director in the capital, said 34 bodies were delivered by Monday. Raphael Faustin, administrative director of the State University Hospital, said 75 people were admitted with bullet wounds.

SOVIET LEADER ON TV — Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev, right, greets NBC newsman Tom Brokaw during an interview in the Kremlin on Saturday. Gorbachev, granting his first interview to a U.S. network, offered little insight to the way his government operates but acknowledged the Soviet Union is conducting a program similar to the U.S. "Star Wars" project. # Gorbachev Says Soviets Doing 'Star Wars' Work

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev said his government is engaged in "Star Wars" research just as the United States is, but he insisted the Soviet Union will not deploy a space-based missile shield.

Gorbachev's comment came in a television interview broadcast by NBC News to American viewers Monday night, a week before his first trip to the United States for a summit meeting with President Reagan. The two leaders are expected to sign a treaty scrapping intermediate-range nuclear missiles.

Gorbachev's statement confirmed a Reagan administration contention that the Soviets are working on their own space-defense program despite opposing America's Space Defense Initiative, known as SDI and the Star Wars project.

During a one-hour interview taped inside the Kremlin on Saturday, Gorbachev also spoke about emigration, the summit and long-range nuclear missiles. The interview is to be shown on Soviet television Tuesday night.

Commenting on restrictions on free emigration of Soviet citizens, Gorbachev said that was a matter of national security, and he accused the United States of encouraging a "brain drain" from his country.

When asked if he talks about questions of policy with his wife Raisa, who will accompany him to Washington, he replied they "discuss everything."

The Communist Party chief said he is prepared to compromise to reach an accord for scrapping half of the U.S. and Soviet long-range nuclear missiles.

But referring to the Star Wars concept, he claimed U.S. defense planners think they can use their edge in computer technology to achieve superiority in "the militarization of outer space."

The Soviet Union "is doing all that the United States is doing" to develop a defense against nuclear attack, Gorbachev said, but it will not build a space-defense system like that contemplated by Reagan.

"I guess we are engaged in research, basic research, which relates to these aspects which are covered by the SDI in the United States," he said.

But he added: "We will not build an SDI. We will not deploy SDI, and we call upon the United States to act likewise. If the Americans fail to heed that call, we will find a response."

"We have some steps that we could take to meet the American position half way" on strategic or long-range nuclear missiles, he said, but he added he is not going to Washington to negotiate on America's Star Wars program.

The Kremlin contends the 1972 antiballistic missile (ABM) treaty prohibits development of a Star Wars project beyond the research stage.

"Let America indulge in research insofar as SDI does not run counter to ABM," Gorbachev said. "That is not a subject for negotiations."

In the rare interview granted to Western journalists, he reacted sharply in an exchange on human rights issues.

Gorbachev, 56, was asked why the Soviet Union does not permit its citizens unrestricted international travel and emigration, and he said the government is primarily concerned with protecting itself from a "brain drain."

"We will never accept a condition when the people are being exhorted from outside to leave their country," he said.

Gorbachev added, however, that the government "will continue in a spirit of humaneness to seek to resolve every individual case but within the framework of our own laws."

The Soviet leader claimed the only people still being refused to emigrate are "those who cannot leave because of state security reasons, and we will continue to act in that way."

Many Soviet Jews who have been refused permission to emigrate have been told their access to state secrets blocked them from leaving. But they claim they never had such access or the classified information they received is out of date.

Gorbachev's reference to the drain of Soviet scientists and intellectuals indicated he considers the security issue broader than the question of access to secrets.

Asked to predict a winner in the 1988, U.S. presidential election, Gorbachev said that would be "an irresponsible exercise."

"The Americans will come to the conclusion of who they need best, and they'll do it themselves," he said. "We will be prepared to cooperate with whoever becomes the successor to the present president."

Poles Balk At Reforms

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Communist authorities today called rejection of their referendum on political and economic reform a breakthrough for democracy, but the opposition called it a vote of no-confidence for the government.

Poles rejected the plebiscite's two questions, which would have meant paired steep price increases with "deep democratization," by either voting "no" or not voting.

Leaders of the outlawed Solidarity labor federation said the results, announced Monday, show the government must open a dialogue with the opposition to overcome the country's economic crisis.

Polish leader Wojciech Jaruzelski had campaigned hard for Sunday's referendum, Poland's first since 1946.

Although two-thirds of those casting ballots favored the government's position, they did not constitute the legally required majority of the electorate, and were offset by those who voted "no" or stayed at home.

It was apparently the first time that Soviet bloc voters failed to follow the official line in a nationwide election.

Solidarity national spokesman Janusz Onyszkiewicz said today that it would be wrong to view the results as a rejection of reform. Rather they were "a rejection of confidence in the government."

Japanese Couple Linked To Missing Korean Jet Takes Poison, One Dies

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — Two Japanese suspects took poison today after being detained, and officials said they were passengers on the jetliner that disappeared on a flight to South Korea — possibly after being downed by a bomb.

One suspect, a 69-year-old man, died. There was no confirmed word on the condition of his companion, a 27-year-old woman.

The Korean Air Lines Boeing 707, carrying 115 passengers and crew, vanished Sunday shortly before a scheduled refueling stop in Bangkok en route from Baghdad to Seoul by way of Abu Dhabi. Officials said the Japanese suspects probably left the flight at Abu Dhabi and made their way to Bahrain.

The two Japanese took poison after Bahrain officials caught them trying to leave the country with a false passport. After taking the poison, the suspects were taken to a hospital, and the Japanese Foreign Ministry in Tokyo reported the man died.

In Seoul, capital of South Korea, the state-run broadcasting service said investigators were concentrating on possible links between the woman and Chosoren, a pro-North Korea organization of Koreans living in Japan.

An airline official was quoted in Seoul as saying a bomb may have destroyed the plane, which apparently crashed near Burma. "There is a high possibility that the missing plane crashed because of a bomb explosion," said the official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

KAL was investigating the possibility of a bomb because of the disappearance of the plane without any warning or call for help from the flight crew, the official said. Burmese authorities said the flight crew had not reported any trouble during a routine contact just before it was due to land in Bangkok.

In Thailand, a police officer searching today for the missing airliner said he spotted a large swath of leveled trees while flying over thickly forested mountains along the Thai-Burmese border.

KAL Chairman Cho Choong-hoon reported seeing a "gray spot" amid dense forest in the same area, but refused to speculate whether it could be the wreckage of the missing jetliner. Cho and seven members of a Korean investigating team joined the helicopter search.

The acting Japanese ambassador in Manama, Takao Natsume, said the two Japanese suspects swallowed poison pills concealed in a pack of cigarettes while under guard and awaiting interrogation by immigration officials at the Bahrain airport.

"In the cigarettes there were the capsules of poison. They took it, and within a few minutes — within a second, I think — they fell down..." Natsume said.

He identified the man as Shinichi Hachiya and the woman as Mayumi Hachiya both of Okayama, Japan. Natsume said the man's passport was genuine but the woman's was a foregery. Other sources said the two were traveling as father and daughter.

Natsume said the man and woman were listed on the manifest of the missing jet and "most probably" had taken the flight from Baghdad to Abu Dhabi, where they got off and came to Bahrain on Sunday.

The South Korean government said today it was checking on passengers who left the flight in the Middle East.

In Manama, sources said the Japanese couple were booked to fly to Rome by way of Jordan.

After arriving in Bahrain, the two suspects stayed at a luxury hotel, the Hyatt Regency. The hotel said they checked out at 7:30 a.m. today, but refused to give other information. Natsume said the travelers had only carry-on bags.

Fox TV Delays New Program

L.A. Times-Washington Post

HOLLYWOOD — Fox Broadcasting's new late-night program "The Wilton North Report," scheduled to have its first broadcast Monday night, was postponed at the 11th hour because of problems with its opening segment, a humorous news report.

The show, a replacement for the network's failed "Late Show" program, will now debut sometime "within the next two weeks," Jamie Kellner, Fox Broadcasting's president and chief executive, said Monday.

Fox will re-broadcast "Late Show" programs featuring the show's most recent host, comedian Arsenio Hall, until "Wilton North" is ready to go on the air.

"The Wilton North Report," which was intended to provide humorous commentary on the day's news, had been in the works for more than two months — the third late-night entry from Fox since the network was formed last year and launched "The Late Show Starring Joan Rivers." The comedian was dismissed as host last May, giving way to "Late Show."

Brokaw Will Guide Presidental Debate

L.A. Times-Washington Post

NEW YORK — Saturday, Tom Brokaw was in Moscow, taping an exclusive interview with Mikhail S. Gorbachev. Tuesday night he is in Washington to moderate a debate by 12 presidential candidates — six Democrats and six Republicans.

"Yeah, it's a little schizophrenic," the NBC anchorman said here Monday. "But it (the Gorbachev interview) helped me frame some of the questions (for the debate)."

"America's Future: A Presidential Debate" is the name of the program at hand, which is being broadcast the night after NBC's broadcast of Brokaw's one-on-one chat with the Soviet leader.

Tuesday night's two-hour program from Washington, arranged by NBC News, will air live, save in the Pacific Time Zone, where it will be broadcast on a tape-delayed basis.

"I was just sitting here thinking of how I can make it useful and at the same time make it exciting," Brokaw said. He ruled out a rigid format of, say, five-minute orations by each candidate.

"No, I'm going to try to mix it up with them, try to play them one off the other, and try to get some spontaneity going," he said. "I think the debates up to this point have been a little plodding."

During his Gorbachev interview, Brokaw asked the Soviet Union's secretary-general whether he would characterize any of the presidential candidates as someone with whom he would or would not want to deal.

But Gorbachev declined to discuss them by name or be specific, he said, and talked "just generally about the the process" of dealing with an American president.

The Soviet leader generally was reluctant during the interview to comment on the American election race and those in it, Brokaw said: "He said it would be irresponsible."

The interview was due in large part to more than two years of work by Gordon Manning, an NBC News consultant and former vice president both of NBC News and before that CBS News.

"He's the big hero here," Brokaw said of Manning's efforts with Soviet officials. "He just wore 'em down."

Cavett To Host 'College Bowl'

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Answer this toss-up question: What former talk show host, often described as an intellectual, is now the host of "College Bowl '87" on the Disney Channel?

Dick Cavett.

That's right. Cavett is host of the "College Bowl" National Championship Tournament that began in September and airs each Sunday. Teams of students from colleges and universities around the nation compete until the finals on Dec. 20.

The show premiered on Mutual Radio in 1953 and has been a television series off and on since 1959. There's been no regularly broadcast series, though, since CBS Radio carried it for three years ending in 1982, though Pat Sajak was host of a 30th-anniversary special in 1984.

"I remember watching it faithfully when I was still at home in Nebraska," said Cavett. "It came on about the same time as 'Super Circus,' 'Mary Hartline' and 'You Asked for It.'

"It's hard not to watch the show, even the ones I've hosted. I showed a tape to some friends. We all had somewhere to go, but everyone stayed to the end."

The new series is produced by Richard Reid, whose father, Don Reid, was the creator and original producer.

"This is the NCAA of academia," Reid said. "The competitions run all ear on the college campuses. It's a very intense competition. When they get to the point where they're competing for the national title, it gets very serious. They're competing for scholarships and pride."

Reid said efforts to sell the show in recent years usually drew the same reactions from everyone. "People always said it was one of their favorite shows, but they didn't think it would go now," he said. "It was a show you did just once a week, and they were looking for daily strip shows. It wasn't until I met with the people at Disney that I got a positive reaction. When we started looking for a host, a lot of names came up. Then Dick's name was mentioned and everyone said yes."

Cavett, a three-time Emmy winner, began as a standup comic and a writer for Jack Paar, Groucho Marx, Johnny Carson and Merv Griffin. In 1968, he got his own morning show on ABC. Next, the show went late-night and ran until 1975. He was host of a talk show on public television from 1977 to '82. In 1985, USA Network revived "The Dick Cavett Show." ABC gave it a brief run twice a week in 1986, but couldn't compete against the proliferation of syndicated, late-night shows.

"I have such respect for game show hosts now," Cavett said. "Just the mechanics of it is so tough. Go to the blue card, go to the orange card. Once, I read off the answer, too."

Both Reid and Cavett commented on the amazing breadth of knowledge of the students. "People are convinced American college students can't answer anything," said Cavett. "In Japan and Yugoslavia I was asked if the country was shaken up by the survey that a lot of college students couldn't answer simple questions about geography or history. So it's good to see that American kids can answer tough questions.

"This show is no less entertaining than 'Jeopardy.' People get sad, elated, excited, emotionally involved. Some of the kids are so happy when they get the right answer, or so dejected when they get the wrong answer."

Cavett said it was not his cachet as an intellectual that got him the job as host of the quiz show.

"I'm not an intellectual," he protested. "I am smarter than some people. People say I must be an intellectual because I went to Yale, an Ivy League school. It's not true. Nor is 'College Bowl' an intellectual show. It's a game of quick recall. It's for people who are calm under pressure. Intellectualism is an inbred process developed over a very long time."

Cavett is also host of "The Comedy Show," a 2-hour syndicated radio show that presents the best of comedy from the past and present.

Tire makers recommend against the use of only plugs to repair holes in tires. Armstrong Tire Co. says the only safe tire repair is a vulcanized inside patch. Plugs, it says, are only temporary repairs.

True Value HARDWARE STORES

© 1987 by COTTER & COMPANY, CHICAGO IL 60614 100% Member-Owned Warehouse Distributors & Merchandisers

Because this is a syndicated publication prepared in advance by Cotter & Company for distribution by over 6,000 independently owned and operated retail store members, some merchandise illustrated may not be immediately available on demand. However, any item that's unavailable can be ordered in full carton by the member store from a regional warehouse. Many items in this circular come unassembled. Individual stores are not responsible for assembling merchandise unless stated. This circular must be prepared months in advance of the actual distribution period. At times, an advertised item may not be available because of sales above anticipated demand or because of circumstances beyond our control; while we try to avoid such situations, we have no control over our manufacturers' delivery problems. We reserve the right to limit quantities, correct pricing errors & require central credit office approval of time payment sales. Prevailing taxes will be added to prices. This catalog is distributed by True Value members who own their own stores and set their own retail prices. Tru-Test, Servess, True Value, Master Mechanic, Master Electrician, Value Bright, Master Plumber, Green Thumb, Harvard Cutlery & Lawn Chief are registered trademarks of Cotter & Company.
