LOCAL MARKET LEADS OTHERS IN OFFERINGS

Total of 2,651,384 Pounds Sold Here First Two Days

BROUGHT AVGE. OF $23.15 PER CWT.

All Floors Practically Cleared Friday Afternoon in Preparation for Next Week

The Greenville tobacco market led all others in the state in offerings for the first two sales days of the 1938 season, a total of 2,651,384 pounds having been auctioned off here Thursday and Friday.

The large sales enabled the auctioneers to clear the floors practically, only 280 piles having been left on the floors at the close of sales yesterday afternoon. Tobacco already was coming in for Monday's sales and another big day is expected.

A good portion of the offerings yesterday was made up of common tips, holding the average price down despite the fact that medium grades continued to bring good prices.

As on all other reported markets in the belt, yesterday's average fell off from that of the opening day. The 2,651,384 pounds sold during the two days brought $613,969.97, for an average of $23.15 per hundredweight.

Wilson, which is believed to have ranked next to Greenville in the offerings sold, reported sales for the two days of 2,513,010 pounds.

The Farmville market yesterday followed up its big opening day sale with offerings of 194,212 pounds being sold for $42,445.76, an average of $21.86. For the two days the Farmville market sold 878,610 pounds for $200,820.95, or an official average of $22.88.

Raleigh, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Eastern North Carolina tobacco growers received average prices of about $23 per hundredweight for the first two days of the tobacco auction season, reports indicated today.

The season opened Thursday and it was not until yesterday that the block was cleared on most of the markets, indications were that heavy offerings would be the rule again next week.

Tobacco was mostly primings. Sales yesterday included:

- Williamston—estimated 230,000 pounds at $24.
Kinston—estimated pounds, 1,300,066, average of $22.24.
Tarboro—70,223 pounds at $23.36.
Ashokle—150,000 pounds at $23.74.
Wilson—983,846 pounds at $23.41.
Smithfield—255,654 pounds at $23.70.
Rocky Mount—610,690 pounds at $23.17.
Wendell—175,672 pounds at $20.41.

Patrolmen Seeking Hit-and-Run Driver

Still Undecided

Raleigh, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A. L. Fletcher said today he is still undecided whether to resign as North Carolina Labor Commissioner to accept an appointment of compliance officer of the new Federal Wage-Hour Administration.

The commissioner, who has supported the New Deal labor program from its inception, said he probably would not announce his resignation until Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. He said today if he resigned his state post he would recommend Forrest Shuford, now labor inspector, to succeed him.

Also receiving support as Fletcher's successor was Tom A. Wilson, of the State Investment Commission.

NYA OUTLINES MONTHLY TASK

Report Issued by Mrs. M. M. Gaylord, Pitt Supervisor

A report on the National Youth Administration in Pitt county was released today by Mrs. M. M. Gaylord county supervisor, showing a constructive program for the month of August.

The report on activities of NYA in the county follows:

The National Youth Administration of Pitt County is successfully proceeding with a constructive program for the month of August, 1938. During this month, 52 youths have been working on various projects in the county. Three youths have accepted private employment, which we believe is largely attributed to the valuable training and experience they received under the NYA leadership.

Each member of the advisory committee, living in Greenville and Ayden, has been met with individually several times during August and rendered valuable services on program planning, assisted in selecting worthy NYA workers and offered counseling service to a number of youths. One member of my advisory committee has gotten a list of names of deserving boys and girls in the community, written to them in regard to the procedure to obtain NYA work. Without this assistance, they would be at a total loss as to how to get on NYA work.

The work done on NYA projects in August has been varied in character. It has included construction and renovation of buildings, clearing and grading land, sewing general nursing, home-making and clerical work, performed largely in the offices of welfare agencies.

One of the principal objectives in NYA work for the fiscal year, beginning July 1, is construction work, which involves a number of various proposed projects in Pitt County, among these are:

- 1. Scout cabin in Ayden.
2. Farm shop for agriculture in Greenville.

No Cure-All For Farm Program

Babson Says AAA Program Has Hit Snag

By ROGER W. BABSON
Babson Park, Mass., Aug. 27.—Secretary Wallace and his aides in the Agricultural Department are unhappy with the way their farm program is going. Cotton prices are down below the loan point. With the exception of 1932-33, wheat prices are the lowest in three hundred years. Corn prices are off 50 per cent from the 1937 level. As a result farmers are losing faith in the whole AAA program. In fact, the brass hats at Washington are carefully avoiding a referendum on marketing quotas either for corn or for wheat. They fear that the New Deal farm program is falling.

Head of Agriculture Department, Speaking in Quebec, Suggests Officials of All Countries Meet to Formulate Principles to Insure Fair Share of Income

St. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace of the United States Department of Agriculture, proposed today that farm officials of all nations meet to formulate a set of principles designed to assure farming classes a "fair" share of the world's income.

Such principles, he said should eliminate barriers to international trade and should assure each agricultural exporting nation its proper share of the world markets.

Wallace spoke before an international conference of agricultural economists at MacDonald college. "I am convinced," he said, "that all nations could agree on the desirability of system of agriculture which will maintain soil fertility and which will tend to give the farm sections of the population a fair share of the national income."

The secretary, urging the abandonment of trade barriers, said:

"In the reality of 1938 we find numerous countries pursuing their program of price-fixing and export subsidy with little regard to the fact that when carried to an extreme they have been mutually self defeated."

"Such program, when carried out by a number of countries at the same time, bring about an excessive increase in the supply of products on the international markets and waste human efforts which had best be devoted to producing something else."

SUM EXPENDED TO AID NEEDY

Total of 347 Children and 490 Aged Helped in Pitt

Raleigh, Aug. 27.—Twenty-two thousand, two hundred children in 7,960 North Carolina families shared in the $816,285.93 of Federal, state and local funds for aid to dependent children spent in the state during the year ended June 30 according to figures made public today by Nathan H. Yelton, director of public assistance with State Board of Charities and Public Welfare.

All children on the rolls were American born although the parents of three families were foreigners who had received their first naturalization papers, while parents of two families, still were alien.

All but 16 states in the union were represented in the birthplaces of the 22,200 children, North and South Carolina and Virginia leading as the place of nativity of the vast majority.

Listed as rural residents were 5,376 families with 2,583 living in urban territory of more than 2,500 population, while of the rural residents, 3,509 lived on farms thru-out the state.

Pitt county had 347 children on the assistance rolls at the end of June with a total expenditure in the county for dependent children for the year of $12,431, according to the figures.

There were 490 old people at the end of June living in this county (Continued on page six)

COTTON LOANS SET ON BASIS OF 8.30 CENTS

Rate Compares With Figure of 9 Cents Last Year

ENABLE FARMERS TO HOLD COTTON

Other Federal Government Developments From Washington, Hyde Park

Washington, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today it would make loans on 1938 cotton at the base rate of 8.30 cents a pound.

The department also announced it had revised the loan program on last year's crop by raising the rate from 50 to 57 cents a bushel—the rate which officials said would be made available on the corn crop now being grown.

The 8.30 cents loan rate will apply to seven-eighths inch middling cotton with differentials for other grades and staple length. This compares with a base rate of nine cents a pound on last year's crop.

Loans are made to growers desiring to hold their crops off the market for possible better prices in the future.

The loans actually will range from 5.30 cents a pound on thirteen sixteenths inch, or shorter low middling, to 10.75 cents on one and one-eighths inch, or longer middling, or better cotton.

At Hyde Park, meanwhile President Roosevelt accepted the resignation of A. A. Berle, Jr., as assistant secretary of state and wrote that Berle had given the administration "splendid" co-operation.

Berle's resignation is effective September 15. Summer White House authorities said he would return to his law professorship at Columbia University.

Other Washington developments: Chairman Dies disclosed that the house un-American activities committee is investigating a report that eight government workers were discharged recently for alleged subversive activity.

The chairman said the committee had a list of eight employees. He declined to say where they had been employed, but there were indications some former Justice department workers were on the list.

ABC Officers Aid Men In Beaufort

J. L. Taylor and J. M. Ward, former officers of the Pitt County ABC Board, assisted by Officer E. G. McMullan, and working with ABC officers of Beaufort county, located and destroyed two illicit liquor distilleries in Beaufort county just across the Pitt county line this week.

One of the stills was a 120-gallon outfit which was not in operation. There were 1,800 gallons of beer found near the still. The second still, 85-gallon steam capacity was in operation. Thirty gallons of liquor and 1,000 gallons of beer were found at the still. This was in operation but the operators were warned before officers arrived and had fled. About 35 sticks of dynamite were used to destroy both distilleries.

Supt. J. H. Rose said today that V. M. Mulholland, principal will be in his office at the high school after Tuesday to discuss school matters with parents and students.

Miss Mabel Lacey has already returned to Greenville from Vanderbilt, and Miss Estelle Green was expected to return some time today. E. R. Robinson, who also attended the workshop program, will arrive here September 6.

Heavy Court Docket Is Set For Monday

H. B. Drum, clerk of city recorder's court, said today that approximately 30 cases will confront court officials in the regular Monday morning session, the heaviest docket in two months.

The large number of cases coming up for disposal is attributed to the postponement of the Friday session due to Judge W. A. Darden's death, and the many arrests on opening day of the tobacco market.

EAST REPORTS INEQUALITIES

Large Leaf Producing Counties File Complaints

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Aug. 27.—Bad tobacco sold well and good tobacco badly on the opening days, growers in Raleigh today said, and they blame the allotment of equalization board for the prices.

The kick is to be made in Washington as there is nothing that can be done locally. The complaint of growers in Wake, Nash, Pitt and Edgecombe is that the equalization board is not an eastern body, Johnston county being the farthest east of all the communities represented.

The point which the displeased growers make is that there are appalling inequalities in the allotments, that middle counties of the state which have been growing small quantities of tobacco are given larger allotments and that the easterners feel the force of the axe. There is nothing which the General Assembly can do about it, it is said, and only a visit to James B. Flitson in Washington can bring relief, these growers say.

They declare themselves in full sympathy with control, willing to vote it again for the general welfare, but they perceive in an operation for 1939 great injustices to some of the eastern counties which have their living to make by the craft of tobacco.

Eminent men in Pitt, Edgecombe and Greene have been quoted as saying that good tobacco is 10 cents under the 1937 average, and the loss of 10 cents a pound is tough.

Postoffice Clerks Meet Here Sept. 10

W. F. Owens, Greenville postoffice affiliate, said today that plans are being mapped for an eastern district meeting of the North Carolina Federation of Postoffice Clerks, to be held in Greenville September 10, at 8 p. m.

An address by William I. Horner, national legislative representative of postoffice clerks, will feature the session. A banquet is being planned for the delegates to the meeting, the purpose of which is to form a permanent organization of postoffice clerks in East Carolina. Owens will be chairman of the session.

While plans for the meeting are in the embryonic stage, hope was expressed that several state dignitaries could attend and make talks.

REBELS SCORE ON HIGH SEAS

Four Destroyers Attack Lone Government Craft

Bibraltar, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Four insurgent Spanish warships pounced today on the lone government destroyer after a week of cat and mouse games on high seas and smashed it with a loss of at least 26 lives.

The government destroyer, 1,650 ton Jose Luis Duiz straggled into Gibraltar under her own power with bodies of 20 of her dead in her water-launched foreign compartment.

She was down at the bows and in danger of sinking. Powerful insurgent shore guns at Spanish Morocco backed up overwhelmingly the Insurgent Cruiser Canarian and three Insurgent destroyers.

They had lain in wait for a week before catching Duiz in the waters. After guns had thundered Duiz made for port.

Her funnel, painted was burned through cause by excessive speed she turned on to escape the battle.

WHAT IT MEANS: Europe's Recurrent War Scarce

By MORGAN M. BEATTY AP Feature Service Writer

Washington—Betting odds are 6 to 4 that the war eggs won't hatch out this season.

That's the way the wagers run among people who ought to know—the men in the grandstand seats and state departments.

These fellows know all the inside reasons why a war might break out and why it might not. They are not merely adding up cold logic on both sides of the ledger and striking a trial balance. It figures out something like this:

Europe is all tangled up in its own diplomacy, more so now, perhaps than in any preceding era of all its long and tangled history. The loose ends are treacherous and forbidding, even to the agile Germans, who stands to gain most by...

CITY SCHOOLS SUPPORT PLAN

Rose Heartily Endorses Safety Patrol Program

In a letter to F. E. Fox, safety engineer of the Carolina Motor Club, Supt. J. H. Rose heartily endorsed the safety patrol movement being launched in Greenville by Fox under the sponsorship of the automobile association, and offered the co-operation of the entire staff of the Greenville city schools.

It is planned to select students from each of the respective schools in the city and train them to handle traffic conditions surrounding the school which they attend. Training and equipping members of the patrol will be one of the first major accomplishments in the organization work.

The letter from Supt. Rose to Engineer Fox is as follows:

"Mr. F. E. Fox, Safety Engineer, 'The Carolina Motor Club, Charlotte, North Carolina. 'Dear Mr. Fox:

"I am delighted to know that the Carolina Motor Club is sponsoring the formation of Safety Patrols among the schools of North Carolina, and I am particularly glad that you are going to be able to spend some time in Greenville working on the formation of these clubs here.

"Speaking for the Greenville City Schools and myself personally, I wish to offer you the cooperation of the entire staff of our schools, and offer you my time and services.

"The program of the Greenville City Schools is built around the life experiences of the child. We, therefore, recognize that the teaching of safety fits into our program in a fine manner. Hence, it is my hope that we can interest all the organizations of this city in this worth while project. If all the organizations of the city will do this, then the children of this city will realize that it is of vital importance and will be more eager to cooperate.

"Sincerely yours, 'J. H. ROSE, Supt."

STATEMENT BY HIGH OFFICIAL

Sir John Simon, Chancellor of Exchequer, Advises an Anxious World that Great Britain Might Have to Take up Arms if Germany Started War in Central Europe

Lanark, Scotland, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, served notice on an anxious world today that Great Britain might have to fight if Germany started a war in central Europe.

The former foreign Minister repeated, "as holding good today," Prime Minister Chamberlain's March declaration before the House of Commons March 24 that "if war was to break out it would be unlikely to be confined to those who have assumed such obligations" to aid Czechoslovakia against aggression.

An hour before the chancellor was scheduled to speak he revised his speech to put his own punch behind Chamberlain's March warning that Britain might be forced to fight.

"The beginning of a conflict is like the beginning of a fire in a high wind," he said. "It may be limited at the start, but who can say how far it would be spread or how much destruction it would do or how many be called to beat 'it out."

The chancellor spoke at a conservative party demonstration in this Scottish town.

London, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Great Britain issued a plea today to "all quarters" to lessen the tension in Czechoslovakia.

A government statement welcomed the "conciliatory attitude" of the Czechoslovakia government in offering a new basis for negotiations with Nazi-sponsor, autonomy seeking Sudeten Germans.

British officials expressly condemned the action of the Sudeten German party in relaxing the discipline of its members in a proclamation yesterday that freed them to use force in "self defense."

Of the Praha government's concession, the statement said:

"It is to be hoped this contribution may meet with a constructive response and that every effort will be made in all quarters concerned, directly or indirectly to refrain from any action that may heighten the tension.

School Employees Hold Annual Meet

Janitors and bus drivers of the Pitt County school system assembled in the court house this afternoon at 2 o'clock for a general session as a preliminary to the opening of county schools on Thursday of next week, September 1.

The janitors discussed matters relative to providing a comfortable enforcement for students and teachers during the ensuing winter months. Talks on highway safety, keeping records, and acquainting the drivers with new rules and regulations inaugurated by the State featured the session of the bus drivers.

Similar meetings are held annually in order to acquaint janitors and bus drivers with procedures to be followed during the school term and to enable them to iron out any difficulties before school begins.

GENERAL CHEN COUNTED UPON

China's Little General Gets Big War Assignment

Hankow, China (AP)—If Japanese soldiers or ships approach Hankow, announced objectives of their big westward push, the man destined to win acclaim as the defender—or blame as the loser—of this nerve center of Chinese resistance is Chen Cheng, physically smallest of China's politically "big" generals. The war has enhanced few Chinese military reputations; it has ended several pre-war top flight general's careers before firing squads. But the war has added both to General Chen's prestige and to the already imposing list of key positions which he fills. As governor of Hupeh and defense commissioner of the province's vitally important Wuhan tri-cities (Hankow, Wuchang, Hanyang) General Chen will be Chinese man of the hour when the enemy starts closing in on the present seat of this Chinese government. As assistant chief of staff, Chen Cheng has a finger on the military pulse. As army political department chief he teaches raw conscripts what they must believe and what they are fighting for. He has the authority and the secret agents necessary to keep a watch on the political activities of government colleagues.

of the neighbor's children. In fact—well, suppose we leave the neighbor's children out of this.

Washington—Doubtless President Roosevelt did not intend to rattle sabres in assuring Canada that the United States would not sit idly by in event of an attack on the dominion, but the statement helps to explain the cool reception given by Germany, Japan and Italy to American peace pronouncements.

For several reasons many persons in these three nations, as well as many in America, have long looked upon the United States as a sort of British ally. Repeatedly this has been positively denied by the State Department but the denials have not changed these convictions.

Now comes the President's statement in the speech dedicating the international bridge between the U. S. and Canada by which he indicates that an attack on Canada would be, for all practical purposes, an attack on the United States. To a German, or Japanese, or Italian looking askance at British rearmament, it might easily have sounded as if the U. S. had promised to look out for one of Mother Britain's children in event of trouble.

Old Hat To U. S. But to students of U. S. defense measures the statement about Canada carries no essential foreign significance. It has long been recognized that the U. S. defense line extends from Greenland southward at least as far as Brazil, and on the West Coast from Alaska southward to a contact with South America. That includes the whole Canadian coast line.

For a hundred years Canada and the United States have comforted themselves with the recollection that their faith and trust in each other has permitted 2,000 miles of boundary to exist without a single fortification. But the people mapping out the national defense program have looked with less sentimental regard on that long undefended line.

When army aviation specialist sought to give due recognition to that problem three years ago by proposing a series of air bases along the Canadian border, however, the sentimental attachment to that undefended border line was such that the idea was smothered under a storm of protest from both sides of the border.

Comforting To British The average Canadian probably has not given this business of continental defense much consideration. But suppose he were told that the United States would not attempt to stop a foreign invader until its armies actually crossed Canada and threatened to march across the northern U. S. border. The problem then would become at once a real one to him.

As a matter of cold calculation, of course, this assurance of U. S. protection for Canada is an aid to Britain. It saves her the expense of supporting costly naval bases which otherwise would be necessary both on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of Canada.

In Palestine bread is not considered ordinary food, but a special gift from God; until 1844, it was not sold, but only given or exchanged.

There are about ten times as many radios in farm homes in the United States today as there were in 1925, a survey of the bureau of the census indicates.

Baseball Players Guests of Kiwanis

Members of the Greenville baseball club were guests at the Kiwanis club meeting last night. Manager Rube Wilson was introduced by G. V. Smith, who declared that one of the hardest jobs in any league was to find a good manager. The baseball club president declared that he and other club officials felt that they had a good skipper in Wilson and recalled progress made by the team since he has taken over the reins. Manager Wilson then introduced each member of the team. J. B. Eure of Ayden, president of the Coastal Plain league, was present and made a brief talk. M. O. Mingo, director of the Greenville club, also was present for the meeting and made a few remarks relative to baseball. Dr. J. M. Barrett, chairman of the committee on athletics, which had charge of the program, presided. A local blind Negro, Lester Barrett, entertained the members and guests with several piano selections. W. H. Taft, brother of Kiwanian J. M. Taft, was a guest at the meeting.

Hearne & Phillips.
I wish to announce to my friends and customers that Mr. C. W. I beg to advise that I have no connection with any other furniture store.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Greer
Washington—Take a strip of bamboo the size and length of a split pencil, sharpen one end and spear it through half a dozen small chunks of chicken, pork, liver, veal, or some of each, then twirl the bits over a charcoal fire until done, and there you have it—sati.
More will be told about sati after we explain that for a long time we have considered it our duty to extract from traveling notables recipes of choice dishes they find in foreign parts. And thus we are able to disclose the favorite foods of Walter Foote, Texas' contribution to the foreign service, who recently returned from Batavia, Java, where he was consul general.
The beauty about native sati, explains Mr. Foote, is its novelty and the variety of ways it can be served. Most fun is to have a cluster of these little bamboo skewers already loaded with odds and ends of meat and let the guests informally toast their own over the glowing charcoal burner.

Each guest must have several individual little dishes with varieties of sauce, such as, melted butter, soy bean sauce and mustard. When the little lumps of meat are sized properly, one at a time is dipped into the sauce and eaten off the stick.

There is technique about that. The Javanese Emily Post holds that only about three little chunks of meat should be eaten off the skewer before a fork is used to shove the rest forward. But an experienced sat-eater can bite off four and sometimes five nibbles without sticking the bamboo skewer into a tonsil. Guests, however, should be warned of the hazards.

If the toasting is done beforehand by the cook, several skewer loads of bitelets should be served each guest. Sometimes olives or small onions can be loaded on the skewer between lumps of liver or white meat.

Another choice Batavian dish is nasi goreng. We asked Mr. Foote if it was named after Hitler's right hand man, the Nazi Goering, but Mr. Foote said no. The two words mean in Javanese simply "fried rice." Here is what is involved:
Boil a quantity of rice until it is about half done, leaving the kernels fairly hard. Then put in some chopped pork, veal, liver or chicken. Add grated coconut. Pound some green or red peppers into a pulp and add them.

The result is a pasty product which you patty into lumps like country sausage and fry in butter or coconut oil. Mr. Foote was simply ecstatic about nasi goreng. The average middle class or well-to-do family in Batavia will serve it as often as three meals a day, although usually only twice.

Mr. Foote says wise people eat great quantities of substantial food in the tropics so as to have strength to withstand the drain of energy from the constant, profuse sweating. He spent six years in the tropics eating nasi goreng and sati and other native dishes, followed by an occasional stiff slug of gin, and arrived here hale and hearty.

A third dish was reported to us by a traveler from Africa. We do not recommend it. We simply report it. It is roast monkey. The idea horrifies us. We are a strict Darwinian and had as lief eat one

What It Means

A fellow by the name of Franco started a one-horse revolt against the Spanish government. In no time he had run his stake into a civil war with most of Spain in his power.

His nationalist army, and the army of the opposing loyalist provinces, were backed by the war machines, troops and brains of the other armies of Europe—Germans, Italians, Russians, Frenchmen, even Englishmen.

Then Hitler took over Austria. That, the experts will tell you, was the adventure that jerked Europe's tangled diplomacy into a hard knot.

The Dizzy Whirl

It was simply time to take a breath and look to the loose ends. Since that spring day this year, the nations of Europe have been trying to reach a trial balance, weighing their chances in a possible war. That's the ledger the experts are using when they figure the odds against war at 6 to 4. On the one hand are the reasons why war should break out at any minute; on the other, the amber lights of caution.

Reasons for unrest: Germany regards her destiny as the domination of Central and Southeastern Europe from the Rhine to Constantinople. It lured her into the World war, and it has Hitler and the German people hypnotized again. The quickest path to power lies through stubborn Czechoslovakia, that war-created state of many nationalities. Backed by treaties with France and Russia, the little republic is ready to fight.

Germany has mobilized a million men in trial maneuvers to test her strength, increasing the jittery throughout Europe, and furnishing the kind of excitement that leads to war.

The French cabinet has risked a labor revolt by talking about scrapping the 40-hour week. "Warlike conflicts are the predominant concern of peoples," said Premier Edouard Daladier, arguing that France must go back to work for the national defense. "Wars are raging in Spain and the Far East. In Central Europe great nations are testing their forces...."

The Rebel General Franco has turned down a British scheme to pull foreigners out of the Spanish trenches. Into the ashcan with the British scheme goes temporarily the Anglo-Italian treaty for peace in the Mediterranean—a treaty predicted on the withdrawal of foreigners from the Spanish war.

It Takes Money

The reasons for another year of peace in Europe:

With the possible exception of Great Britain, the nations of Europe are broke, and the people don't want to fight. France, desperate, is on the verge of re-menting both labor and capital to produce the goods that will restore prosperity and confidence in the franc.

The German mobilization produced a slump in the Berlin stock market, which was also attributed by the German state secretary, Fritz Reinhardt, to "reich spending" of recent months.

Private Citizen Runciman of Great Britain, the mediator of the argument over the rights of German peoples in Czechoslovakia, is busy hatching plans to avert a clean break, and while at it he is hampering the style of both Czech and German advocates of violence, for he's right on the scene of the trouble.

Germany rapidly is adding two more satellites in her Central European constellation without resorting to force. Poland is a wedge against hostile Russia, Hungary's dictator, Admiral Nicholas Horthy is testifying to the world that he is a friend of Germany. He has just paid a special state visit to Hitler and helped launch a German warship.

The Spanish and Sino-Japanese wars would be nuisances to a war-bent Hitler. The one leaves Spanish support in doubt and the other ties Japanese hands so far as Russia is concerned.

Role Of The U. S.

Lastly, Great Britain, France, even the United States, are inscribing unpleasant puzzles into the diplomatic game of the hour by seeming to make threats against Germany. France and Great Britain have pledged their unending friendship, and are buying off allies where they can. President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull keep harping on "outlaw nations," thus placing in doubt the neutrality of the United States in case of trouble.

Hitler will have to make up his mind whether that is all bluff, or actually a threat.

By Lydia Gray Shaw

WRONG If your son simply isn't cut out to be a violin virtuoso, and fumes every time he's forced to practice, don't insist. No point in making him play, even if the violin is such a cultural instrument. He'll get to hate all music.

RIGHT It's much more important for him to enjoy music. If he is interested in the clarinet, as this lad is, encourage him. He can get as good a musical education from it, even if he does sneak in a little swing now and then.

WHAT OF DEMOCRACY?

Russia, its Stalin—Germany, its Hitler—Italy, its Mussolini—and if the voters of the various states permit President Roosevelt to direct the election of only such representatives as are subservient to his wishes, there is the possibility that America too will come into the same category of dictatorships.

The American government was founded upon a three-point plan—the executive, the judicial, and the legislative, each to act as a counterbalance against the other in order that our ship of state might be kept upon an even keel.

When the President found that he had a Supreme Court that was not subservient to his wishes he immediately set about to change the set-up of the court so that he might have control of its actions. While his complete plan to reform the court failed, it is admitted that such inroads have been made that the court is now almost certain to see eye to eye with the President.

The President's next move was to reform other branches of the government so that executive decree might be the final word in affairs of our nation and when the legislative branch refused to favor such a plan of reorganization, the President has set out to use his efforts and the power and influence of his office to prevent those who oppose his plans from returning to Congress.

If our country is to remain a Democracy we must maintain our three branches of government, but if given his way, Mr. Roosevelt apparently will see to it that they remain in name only, with the power over all things resting with the chief executive.

If the citizens of Maryland, New York, Georgia, Texas and other states where Mr. Roosevelt is aiding campaigns to unseat certain members of Congress that will not do his bidding, are wise they will resent this intrusion into their affairs. The right of each state or district to elect its own representatives according to its own wishes belongs to that state or district, and to no one else.

The country as a whole, we believe, will watch with interest the outcome of the campaigns in the states in question, realizing that upon the action of the voters of those states rests the safety of Democracy in America.

The Characters
Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.
Arlene Lumsden, mysteriously, Hugo's friend.
Ottile Wills, American heiress, whose sister was murdered.

Yesterday: We bring Ottile to the villa and find Dunning there. She runs into his arms, sobbing.

Chapter 18 The Big Swindle

HE held her as he would a child, patting her shoulder with a clumsy tenderness. "There, there!" he soothed her. "That's the girl! Cry it out, honey! Sure I've heard about it all, but only yesterday." He stared across her bowed head at Hugo, with somber indignation.

Hugo shrugged, his face a dusky red, but before he could answer she had provided a diversion. She had been standing staring from one to another, of us, her eyes round and tarted; but now she caught her brother's arm.

"Hugo," she said, in an all too audible whisper, "who is this girl? She's like—"

Hugo laid one brown, muscular hand across her mouth. "Ada, my dear," he said, "this young lady is Miss Ottile Wills. She has come here to have tea with us, but she has just received some rather disturbing news, and I think she would like to be alone for a few minutes. If you'll have tea ready for us on the terrace in half an hour, I think everything will be straightened out by then."

Ada went reluctantly. "See here now, Ottile," Dunning was saying. "Look things in the face, like a good girl, and show your grit. You're not helping Melanie any by crying yourself sick."

The chestnut head shook violently; a muffled sob was the only answer. Hugo poured out a stiff tot of brandy, laid his hand on one limp, dark-blue shoulder, and shook it. "Here, drink this up at once!"

She lifted her head, drowned dark eyes stared at him resentfully. "I can't," she said, in a voice between a sob and a choke. "Go away—leave me alone, can't you?"

"If you haven't drunk it in one minute," said Hugo, "I'll force it down your throat."

A sudden flash of anger sparked through the tears, but she drained it at a gulp. Hugo sighed and dropped into the nearest chair, like a man suddenly tired. "If you feel able," he suggested, "we might begin our discussion."

The girl disengaged herself and crossed to an old, gilt-framed mirror, exclaiming at sight of her tear-stained face. Whether as a result of the brandy or her sudden flare of anger, she was completely restored to self control, and she even achieved a wry sideways smile at her reflection.

Applying a powder puff with vigor, she whispered to me, "May Heaven help the woman he marries!"

She perched herself on the arm of Dunning's chair and laid a hand on his knee, which he covered instantly with one big paw. "Just how much have you told them, Ottile?" he queried gently.

"Nothing that matters," she said. "Only how Sis ran away from home and Pat came over to find her. Oh, Cuthbert, have you heard about Pat too?"

"Sure, sure," he soothed her. "But how much do you wish we should tell them?"

I suddenly realized with dismay that the weapon he had proposed to use for bargaining was at that moment lying, presumably, in the big man's pocket; and that, as he unquestionably read it, its market value was now precisely nil. From the look on Hugo's face, I fancied the same thought had occurred to him.

method of attack. Propping Prices Tried Before. 4. Support Prices Artificially.—Under Ex-President Hoover we had a Farm Board which squandered millions of dollars in trying to prop the price of wheat. Now we are working on a program which is just the old idea dressed up in a new bib and tucker. As a result of it, the Federal Government already owns 7,000,000 bales of cotton—a full year's supply. Furthermore, if we support the price of cotton, we ought to support the price of beef, popcorn and eggplant. Can the Federal Government ever be successful in pegging the price of hundreds of products raised on 7,000,000 farms?

5. Help Families To Move Away From Poor Soil.—Some farm economists say they should spend billions of dollars lifting prices so marginal farmers can survive. Why not just help those families who are living on poor soil to get off it? But where will they go? There are no jobs in the cities. Furthermore, it is easier to give these marginal farmers relief on their farms than it is to take care of them as jobless in the cities.

6. Take Politics Out of The Farm Problem: Many believe that the farm problem will begin to get better the minute the Federal Government pulls its finger out of the pie. Then those farmers who cannot make a living will be forced to get off their farms and eventually find a new livelihood. Over a period this would probably solve the problem, but it would mean a lot of human suffering. Moreover, while this natural remedy was being applied, it would hurt everyone. We cannot have prosperity in the city without prosperity on the farm.

7. Use Farm Products in Industry: We cannot cut down the supply of farm products without turning everything upside down. Instead of working on a theory of making farm products scarce, let us work to increase the demand. Chemists can solve the farm problem far more quickly than can our politicians. Every day new uses for farm products are being found. Now they are making roads from cotton; wool from milk; automobile parts from soy beans; motor fuel from corn. Over a long period of time, these and other new processes could increase the demand to equal the supply.

Need For Selfishness. Most people I talk with have a bug on one of the seven plans. I feel, however, that it is not a question of deciding which is the best of the cures. There is no short-cut to remedying a situation that has been thirty years developing. My opinion is that the solution of the farm problem is to work along all seven lines of endeavor. Moreover, this farm problem of ours is more a spiritual problem than an economic problem. This means that all sections and all classes must be willing to make some sacrifice for the general welfare.

Lovers Try Hunger. Nahan, India. (AP)—As a weapon to fight objections to their marriage, a young couple here threatened to fast to death. Dissenting parties gave in.

FORETELLING THE FUTURE. THE assassination of Raditch, he said, was the first of a series of strange fatalities, involving men of every conceivable nationality and calling, but in each case men of such outstanding importance in commerce, finance, or politics, that their sudden demise caused a considerable slump or panic in their particular sphere of activity; and in each case, it was subsequently discovered, the possibility of their deaths had been heavily covered with a number of insurance policies, taken out by a variety of seemingly unconnected people in all quarters of the globe.

THE men involved were of such widely different races and professions, their deaths were so easily and naturally explained—in the case of accidents, the accidents were such as might have happened to anybody; where murder or assassination were involved, the killer either escaped or, when caught, was found to have a legitimate political or personal grievance against his victim—that no one, Dunning said, smelled a rat. The people taking out the policies were so completely unconnected and so widely scattered that the most fantastic flight of fancy could not have imagined a connection between any two of them; but—and here was the one weak link in the chain—although the insurance companies involved were seemingly unconnected as the policy-holders, they were actually bound together by the vast, impalpable spider's web that holds together world finance, for over a certain sum the bulk of their liabilities was carried either by Lloyd's, the Bureau Veritas of France, or the American Bureau.

One day, by a fortuitous coincidence a gentleman, Edward Pockett by name and a Lloyd's underwriter by profession, took his summer holiday in the south of France and there made casual acquaintance with an elderly Frenchman. They had been discussing the news of the day, the main items of which happened to be the sudden deaths of two prominent men. One of these, a middle-European railway magnate, had come to his end by a fall from an aeroplane. The other, the President of a South American republic, had met with an even more natural and understandable death, for he had been shot down in the course of a revolution.

But, said the elderly Frenchman, the point which interested him was this: in the current number of a certain small almanac, the Grimoire astrologique, published somewhere on the Côte d'Azur and purporting in its crude, unlettered way, to foretell the future, both these fatalities had been accurately foretold, but actually in the very months in which they had subsequently occurred.

2. Reduce Farm Operating Costs:—One way is to cut the farmers' real estate taxes. Another is to stop the squandering of public funds so that industrial taxes will be lower. This plan also involves reducing factory wages and passing along both tax and wage savings by lowering the price of things the farmer must buy. Such a program, however, is not popular with the politicians.

3. Make Farming a Mode of Living:—I have always felt that farming should be a mode of living. Our farm problem became acute when people tried to turn farming into a "big business." Must of the complaint comes from those who raise only one crop, and who do not try to be self-sufficient. Encouraging people to LIVE on their farms, to raise their own chickens, eggs and vegetables, and to diversify their crops is a sound, but long-range,

Greenies Wallop Serpents, 22-8; Ayden Here Sunday

LOCALS SLUG 19 BASE HITS

Birch Douglass Tries Hand at Hurling; At Ayden Today

Rube Wilson's Greenville Greenies are not football players. But by looking at some of the scores they've made lately, it would make anyone not familiar with the lineup, think so.

Yesterday the Greenies turned back Tarboro 22-8. Last Monday they blanked Ayden, 24-0. House runs, equivalent to touchdowns in the grid sport, played prominent parts in both games.

Rube's boys reached Lefty Robinson for a trio of tallies in the very first frame, and he was relieved by Tag Edenton, new man in the Serpents' line-up, who went the rest of the way. Tag's brother, Frank, finished out the Snakes' battery.

There were plenty of base hits in the game, as the score clearly shows, but the "mightiest" blow came in the seventh inning when Freddie Calviuri poled a homer over the left-field wall with the bases loaded.

Buster Maynard homered in the third for Tarboro's first run.

The Greenies gathered 19 hits in yesterday's win.

DIXIE HIGHLIGHTS

THE CICADA SPENDS 17 YEARS UNDERGROUND YET WHEN IT EMERGES, HAS BUT A MONTH TO LIVE!

FAMOUS SIEGE RE-ENACTED!

VICKSBURG NATIONAL MILITARY PARK

One of the strangest things about the CICADA, which is quite common in the South, is that after years of toil in total darkness underground, it is limited to but a few weeks to enjoy life in the air and sunshine. After the eggs have been deposited by the female, in tender stems, the young hatch after a few weeks and fall to the ground into which they work their way downward for a subterranean journey. After an interval of 17 years, during which time their outer covering is shed several times, they appear, in swarms, exactly on schedule. After throwing off its larval clothes, the now full-grown Cicada emerges with glistening wings to complete the life cycle all over again.

The historic siege of the " Gibraltar of the Confederacy" lives again! In VICKSBURG NATIONAL MILITARY PARK, which consists of 1323 acres, is practically included the actual battle lines of the two opposing armies during the famous investment of Vicksburg, May 18 to July 4, 1863. The complete story is graphically told by the 898 descriptive tablets and markers placed in the magnificent park by the United States government. 128 guns, the exact size and type that served during the operation, have been mounted at the old battery sites, and with the lines of the opposing armies shown in such a realistic manner, the great battle is again set in order! Splendid memorials representing many states and aggregating millions of dollars have been erected throughout the park which is annually visited by thousands of people.

They Do Play Pretty Games under the Arcs

Kinston, Aug. 27—The Bugs and Eagles battled for nine scoreless innings last night, but the Kinston club rallied to score a singleton in the 10th to win, 1-0.

Kinston was awarded a forfeit over the Goldsboro boys Thursday night in Goldsboro, and the win tonight enabled them to sweep the series.

Jim McMullan, castoff from Goldsboro, who has been hurling good ball for the locals all season, and Big Henry Winston locked in a mound duel. Winston had the better of the duel until the 10th.

In the 10th, West doubled to center. Glisson got a fluke hit. McMullan was passed intentionally, and West was relieved by Baserny, and Nowak on account of a charley horse. Marvin Vick outfielder, laid down a burn that traveled toward third, and Nowak raced home safely.

Score by innings: R H E Goldsboro ... 000 000 0-0 6 2 Kinston ... 000 000 1-1 7 2 Winston and Mulvihill; McMullan and West.

WHITE'S DUCKS GET 67-47 WIN

Local Swimmers Take Many First At Kinston

Coach Judson White's Greenville swimming team took a "dip" in the municipal pool at Kinston last night and emerged with a 67-47 verdict over the Lenoir county tank hopefuls.

George Lautares paddled second in the 100 free style for men, with Jane Harrison and Betty Tyson forging to the front for leading honors in the same event for women.

Another first place went to Greenville in the early minutes of the meet when Joe Williams drifted by his opponents to garner victory in the men's 50 yard free style. Continuing her rapid swimming pace, Jane Harrison was first in the same event for women, and Carolyn Hamric, also of Greenville was third.

John Lautares was in front and Gene Johnson trailed third for Greenville in the 50 yard breast-stroke for men. Lib Buzz took first place honors for the girls in the same event and Francis Willard was third for Greenville.

Richard Carroll and Bill Tolson, competing for Greenville in the back stroke, paced up first and second place honors in this event for boys. Lib Wells and Joy Flanagan, both Greenville mainstays, took honors in the same event for girls.

George Lautares, Greenville dependable, clinched the 500-yard event and the 200 yard free style for men. Dallas Peete of Greenville was also in the win division in this event.

Betty Tyson and Carolyn Hamric participated in a diving exhibition when their opponents failed to show up. In the 200 yard free style relay for feminine entrants, Jean Tarrington, Joy Flanagan, and Jane Harrison, all Greenville swimmers, were tops in this contest. In the same splash for men, it was George Lautares, Joe Williams and Dallas Peete who took the honors.

Believe Us, The Bills Don't Even Look Back

Snow Hill, Aug. 27—Snow Hill scored its seventh victory in eight starts by noosing out New Bern's Bears, 7-6, here Friday.

Walter Rabb's timely triple in the fourth inning drove in three Billie runs and tied the score. Burge came back in the fifth inning to hit a homer and send New Bern in the lead—but not for long.

The Billies rallied in the home half with four runs as a result of successive singles—by Newborn, Stirewalt, Joyner and Soufas—and Jim Tatum's long fly to left field.

The Bears tallied a singleton in the seventh and eighth innings, but could not overcome the locals' lead.

New Bern's Alf Anderson and Snow Hill's Rabb shared fielding honors. Anderson, with three for five, paced the losers. Tony Malsano, with two for three, led the locals.

Score by innings: R H E New Bern ... 120 010 11-6 10 11 Snow Hill ... 000 340 00x-7 12 2 Burgess and W. Harper; Gettel and Tatum.

Wayne Ambler Gets on Majors' Frosh List

New York, Aug. 27—Wayne Ambler, former Duke University star of the diamond and now shortstop with the Philadelphia Athletics, was named yesterday on Paul Mickelson's Freshman All-Star team of the majors. Mickelson is sports columnist for the Associated Press.

Ambler played second-base for the Greenville Greenies when the Coastal Plain League was a semi-pro circuit.

Jim Bagby, who pitched with Rocky Mount, N. C., in 1936, shared the pitching position with Johnny Vander Meer, no-hit Cincinnati star. Bagby is with the Red Sox of Boston.

Martins Hit Homers To Lick Ayden Aces

Ayden, Aug. 27—Williamston trounced Ayden, 11-4, here Friday behind a 16-hit barrage which included four homers.

The Martins clinched the game with a two-run fourth inning. Red Swain led off with a homer, and Pitcher Larry Wade followed suit.

Williamston's runs in the third inning had come via the easy route also—on homers. Ignasiak hit a two-run homer, and Lakotas poled one out of the lot a few moments later.

All homers cleared the left field fence.

Biershenk of the locals turned in the day's fielding honors.

MORE WOMEN FIND NEW JOBS

Lead Men When It Comes to Employment Figures

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Aug. 27.—Women out-placed men in the ratio that 58.5 beats 41.5 per cent in the semi-monthly employment figures for August 1 to 15.

And private industry far distanced public placements. The first half of the month was the best similar period since June, 1936. For this fortnight in August there were employed 2,470 men and 3,381 women for a total of 5,851. Of private placements there were 4,588 and of public 1,263. These figures are just out from the offices of the North Carolina Employment Service.

Of the 78.5 per cent of 5,851 jobs, 76.8 per cent were regular jobs, showing a steadiness of employment that makes the department very happy. There were 10,080 registrations for the period, bringing the active file up to 172,061. The preponderance of women is partially seasonal. Renewed work in stemming and retying tobacco plants accounted for much of it. Women make very much better helpers in this work than men do, it seems. Kingston reported to the state office that it could have placed 500 additional women workers. It actually did employ 529.

Going back over the year this agency shares the general optimism over business and finds something for elation without getting elated. From 1929 the year of the deluge, to 1937 there were consumed by textile plants 13,235,742 bales of cotton, and in 1937 they used 227,194 more than they used in 1929. For March, 1938, there were 15,000 more bales of cotton employed in manufacture than there were for the same month in 1930.

July is dog days month and a 90 per cent center. It slumps in cotton consumption. But the employment service finds July, 1938 well above December, 1937. There is a general pick-up in textiles.

SUM EXPENDED TO AID NEEDY

drawing old age assistance funds which during the year ran up a county total of $35,302 given to the needy aged.

Highest payment in the state in the aid to dependent children fund was one of $60 given to a family having seven children to care for, while 20 families in the state received a grant of $50 or more, the majority of the grants ranging from $10 to $16 and most going to families with two or three children.

The father being dead was listed as reason for dependency of 10,572 children, while continued absence from home on the part of the mother was given as the cause why 4,189 more should be placed on the public rolls.

Total public assistance expenditures for the state for the fiscal year ended June 30 came to $3,026,153.22 combined federal, state and local funds with a state-wide total of $2,208,367.29 going for old age assistance and $816,285.93 being granted to dependent children. Thirty-three thousand and sixty persons were on the old age rolls at the end of the year receiving average grants from the funds of $8.97.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

New Orleans—Impression of a Manhattan columnist in New Orleans; people die well here. And they seem happy. I asked Seymour Weiss how he explains this, and he replied: "There isn't much outside capital here. The people own everything themselves. And there's oil all over Louisiana. New wells come in every day."

And people dress well here. There is an easy formality to the general picture. During summer in New York people go around in sport shirts and shirt sleeves, frequently without ties. They dress to suit their own moods. It isn't like that in New Orleans. You dress comfortably, but you don't sit down to dinner without a necktie or coat.

Native Orleansians are devoted to sea foods, of which there is always an abundance. When the shrimp fleet goes out each season it is blessed by high dignitaries of the church. Shrimp are very important here, they are a culture, and you can never hope to be a connoisseur until you know the difference between river shrimp and lake shrimp.

Crabs, both hardshell and soft shell, are obtainable at all seasons. And they are surprisingly inexpensive. In the west end, along the Pontchartrain drive, are a number of notable but small seafood diners where bathers emerge from the water and appease their appetites over quantities of clams, shrimp, oysters and other gifts from the sea. This is one of the things to do—go swimming at night and follow with a seafood dinner. At night the bars and supper clubs in the exclusive hotels are always crowded. The Roosevelt bar is perhaps the most unusual in the city. It is brand new. It is paneled entirely in African walnut, the wood coming from one gigantic tree. To this unusual setting Paul Ninas has lent four murals, the subject matter of which are peculiar to the Deep South. There is a cotton picking scene, a market scene, a river front scene, and a procession of tourists on a tour of

It was here that Meigs Frost, newspaperman and local character, introduced me to the El Dictador. This is a cocktail based on rum. The story goes that some friend of his returned from Cuba very angry at the El Presidente, which is the strongest of Cuban cocktails. So they staged a revolution and invented the El Dictador, because a dictator, they explain, alone can kick the pants off a president.

Harlem youngsters could learn a neat trick from the little Negro boys in the Quarter. You walk along and suddenly one of them leaps to his feet and begins to tap. All the little boys wear taps on their shoes. And they tap in front of you, looking back over their shoulders, until you toss them a coin. It's another of the countless vignettes of New Orleans you never forget.
