

BRITISH ENVOY REPORTS AS TO NAZI ATTITUDE

States German Intentions in Dangerous Czech Dispute

CABINET CALLED TO MEET TUESDAY

Link Steps to British Fear "Conflict Anywhere May Mean Strife Everywhere"

London, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The British Ambassador to Germany, Sir Neville Henderson, handed to Premier Chamberlain today a personal report on Berlin's present attitude and intentions in the increasingly dangerous Czechoslovak minority dispute.

The Ambassador's sudden return to London and a summons to cabinet ministers to meet here Tuesday were foremost in the crescendo of events over the week-end.

These steps were keyed to the fear that conflict anywhere may mean conflict everywhere," as the Times put it, and to the British policy to contribute to control of events before they take charge of us.

The tone of Sir Neville's reports today to the prime minister, to Viscount Halifax, the foreign secretary and to Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, may determine whether the cabinet ministers tomorrow shall decide some action is necessary.

Officials in Berlin privately already had shown dislike for Sir John's speech Saturday, warning that conflict might be limited at the start, but could spread like fire in a high wind.

Berlin disliked equally a foreign office statement appealing to "all quarters" to avoid anything which might "heighten the tension." German political circles saw this as a spur to Czechoslovakia to resist her Sudeten-German minorities demand for autonomy.

Work On Stadium Reveals Progress

J. O. Duval, city clerk, said today that workmen would likely begin setting up steel for the municipal stadium on the old fair grounds site Monday morning of next week.

G. F. Best, erector for the Virginia Bridge Company, is in Greenville this week erecting derricks and making other necessary arrangements so that the steelwork can be started in the immediate future.

Foundation footings for the steel have already been poured. Workmen are still busy installing drainage facilities and grading land for a track. When completed, the stadium will seat approximately 1,500 spectators.

Doomed To Die

Convicted of first-degree murder in the wife slaying of his sister-in-law, Jamie Pink, 18, hanged here today. 32-year-old farmer of near Concord, N. C. is under sentence to die October 28 in North Carolina's gas chamber. The husky farmer told the jury he did not remember whether he slew the girl, "cause I chewed a root given me by a Negro when doctor and my mind come and went."

TWO KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Miss Alma Daney Worthington, 29, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Worthington of Winterville, Route 29, was killed in a head-on automobile collision last night around 1:30 o'clock at Askins, eight miles south of New Bern on the New Bern-Vanceboro highway.

Miss Worthington died on the scene of the crash. Thurman Jones, 33-year-old Kinston resident, with whom Miss Worthington was riding, sustained lacerations of the scalp, forehead, and chin. Fifteen stitches were required to close his wounds.

Miss Reta Helen Stubbs, 18, of Askins, died shortly after reaching the New Bern hospital. Miss Betty Stubbs, sister of the wreck victim, suffered dislocation of the right hip and abrasions of the neck. They were riding with Irving Jones and Monroe Ippock of Bridgetown. Jones sustained lacerations of left eyebrow and possibly a fractured pelvis. Ippock is believed to have a broken leg.

Funeral services for Miss Worthington will be conducted from the late home Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. W. M. Brunson, pastor of the Ayden Christian church. Burial will be in the family cemetery near the home.

Miss Worthington was graduated from East Carolina Teachers College in 1928, and had been secretary to C. D. Ward, principal of Winterville high school, for the past two years. She also filled the unexpired teaching term of the late Miss Geneva Exum in the Winterville school. Miss Exum had also worked in the office of County Agent R. R. Bennett this summer. She was a member of the Eighth Street Christian church of Greenville.

Besides her parents, surviving are six brothers, Lloyd B., Carl, Norman, Bryan, Adrian, and Gurman Worthington; one small sister, Rose Worthington; one niece, Miss Elaine Worthington and a nephew, Burt Worthington.

Active pallbearers will be Wadell Wilbur, Glenn Edward, and Clifford Worthington, and Elmer Tucker, cousins of the deceased.

Boosters Declare State Going Into Fifth Season

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Aug. 29.—Tourists to North Carolina protract their stays with joy and abbreviate them with great reluctance, conservation and development people say, in handing out the fall line which notes that North Carolina is going into its fifth season.

With weather in its present state of torridity the boosters haven't the face to proclaim that Indian Summer has arrived, but soon that season will come and it will continue several weeks. It is announced that the resorts which generally fold up on Labor Day will operate "into and even through October, encouraged by the response last year to the innovation."

They did it in 1937, but were so uncertain about it that they did not say much about it. Now it is an experiment about which to brag. The natives of North Carolina, it is observed, long have known that

GOV. JOHNSTON ASKS SENATOR STATE CHOICE

Calls on Brown Come Out Publicly For Favorite

SOUTH CAROLINA SEES BIG VOTE

Democratic Primary Tomorrow To Test Strength of Appeal By Roosevelt

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Governor Olin Johnston, opposing United States Senator Ed Smith in tomorrow's Democratic primary, called today on State Senator Edgar Brown, erstwhile third candidate, to declare between them.

The Governor inferentially endorsed yesterday by President Roosevelt sent the following telegram to Brown, who withdrew unexpectedly from the race Saturday.

"In view of the President's statement in the morning papers, it is evident that if you want to help him in carrying forward his policies you will vote for me for the United States Senate.

"On the other hand, if you have only a stalking horse in this campaign for the Liberty Leaguers, Republican and Roosevelt-haters you will vote for Smith.

"Under which flag do you fight. Answer for publication in afternoon papers for today."

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 29.—(AP)—A Democratic primary which has brought a record registration of 422,000 will decide tomorrow the political future of Senator Smith, veteran of five terms, who is regarded as being on the New Deal's "purge" list.

Seeking to unseat the 74-year-old Democratic dean of the Senate is 41-year-old Governor Olin Johnston, who rose from a textile mill worker to the Governor's chair. Johnston campaigned as a 100 per cent New Dealer.

President Roosevelt lent his influence to the contest yesterday when at Hyde Park, N. Y. he said South Carolina voters have the responsibility of selecting a Senator to play a part in legislation to carry out administration objectives.

'PALS' CRUCIFY EX-CONVICT

When he refused to join two former "pals" in a proposed robbery they stripped him of his clothes and nailed him to a cross. Ed Collins, 27-year-old ex-convict, told Reno, Nev., police who rescued him. Here Collins is shown in a hospital bed recovering from wounds inflicted when ten-penny nails were driven through his hands and feet.

MAKING STUDY OF ALLOTMENT TEST FOR TAX SEEMS LIKELY

Local Committee Is Seeking to Adjust Leaf Quotas

Members of the County Agricultural Conservation Association were busy today working in cooperation with the AAA and state officials in an effort to iron out purported inequities in the tobacco marketing allotments.

The group is seeking to have adjustments made where errors exist or where quota inequalities are in evidence.

The allotments were made in Washington and the local association is merely preparing data in an effort to have revisions made where the quotas are believed to be too low.

Local officials said it was realized that the quotas in some instances do not reflect the true productivity of some farms in Pitt county.

All farmers who feel that their quotas are not sufficient are urged to file a written statement requesting the allotment be studied by the review committee in order that the proper adjustments may be made.

It was explained that it is also (Continued on page six)

Seeking To Break Old Flight Record

Kansas City, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Mayor Alexander Seversky, airplane manufacturer, landed at Kansas City in his low-wing plane at 9:52 a. m. (11:22 EST).

Grand Jury Body Chosen For Term

The first criminal session of the fall term of Pitt Superior court got underway here this morning after a grand jury was chosen to serve for the next six months and had been charged by Judge J. Paul Frizzelle.

J. Hicks Corey, Greenville business man, was appointed by the court to serve as foreman.

The body is composed of the following: Foreman Corey; Jim Anderson, V. A. Merritt, W. H. Warren, G. T. Tyson, E. A. Dixon, R. C. Abbe, L. H. Hudson, J. H. Joyner, Hinton Tripp, A. L. Whitley, Daniel Stalls, Frank T. Whitehurst, J. R. Williams, Wiley Norville, C. C. Harris, A. J. Garriss, and James Ellis.

Judge Frizzelle, in concluding his charge, declared that there were two specific things he wanted to call to the attention of the jurors.

The first was "the extreme importance" of enforcing observance of the motor vehicle law to "the end that life, limb and property may be made safer." He referred particularly to drunken driving.

Judge Frizzelle also called attention of the jurors to "conditions of public morals of the county as they may be influenced by public places, especially in remote sections where police protection is inadequate."

DISPUTE OVER AUTHORITY IN CHINA WATERS

Commander of U. S. Gunboat Holds Japs Responsible

MINES EXPLODE CLOSE TO CRAFT

Meanwhile Conflicting Reports Made Regarding Jap Advances on Hankow

Hongkong, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A serious dispute over the right of a U. S. gunboat in China waters under Japanese control was reported today from Kiukiang by authoritative sources.

The dispute concerns the gunboat Monocacy, which was shaken and showered with water, but not damaged by the explosion of two mines 80 yards from the gunboat anchored at Kiukiang Saturday.

A protest by Commander Lieut. C. V. Conlan, a reliable informant said, was rejected by the Japanese consul who, in effect, contended that foreign warships were in battle areas at their own risk.

Lieut. Conlan was understood to have countered that he was holding the Japanese responsible for any mishap resulting from Japanese operations or from mine explosions.

Shanghai, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Chinese asserted today they had cracked the Japanese offensive on the north bank of the upper Yangtze river, recapturing three important towns the invaders won in six weeks of bloody fighting.

The towns were north of Kiukiang and about 135 miles down river from Hankow, China's provisional capital.

The Chinese also said they had cut off Japanese advance forces at the spearhead of the Japanese drive up the north bank and were attacking a town there.

The Japanese on the other hand reported they were advancing on the Peiping-Hankow railway after having captured two planes near the Honan-Anhui border.

They said one town was completely occupied during the night.

PILOT SIGHTS CARS AND MEN

Party Believed to Be Texans Marooned By Hurricane

Brownsville, Texas, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A Pan-American Airlines pilot radioed here today he had sighted two automobiles and several men on Fourth Path off the Mexican coast, near where 10 Texans were marooned yesterday by a hurricane.

The men were running around the island, waving sheets, the pilot said. The plane continued on to Tampico without making an attempt to land. The pilot did not mention the number of men counted.

Les Mauldin, aviator, planned to take off after lunch for the sand dune area in search of the missing men.

The Texans went fishing Friday and are believed marooned on low islands that were almost directly in the path of the gale.

High tides, pushed up by hurricane winds, rolled over portions of the sand dunes off the Texas coast, leading to the belief the islands, six miles off the Texas coast, were hard hit.

Judge Expects To Decide Election Case This Week

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Aug. 29.—Superior Court Judge W. C. Harris, who is to decide the undecided issue of State Board of Election powers as they relate to the congressional controversy between C. B. Deane of Richmond and W. O. Burge of Davidson, began the hearing a week ago by listening to arguments and evidence in the morning, and researching in the afternoon; but his honor spent the whole week and Sunday thrown in on the litigation which he expects to decide this week.

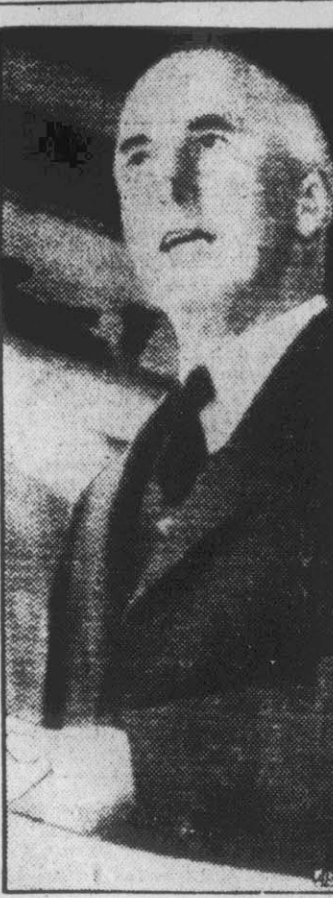

If his honor made the theme his meditation day and night, he gave it fasting and prayer for Sunday. He sat down on the demurrer raised by the Attorney General on the injunction sought to restrain the State Board of Elections from certifying Mr. Deane as the congressional nominee. But the plaintiff Burge appeared none to well favored on his challenge of the State

Board's authority. Judge Harris appeared to lean heavily toward recognizing that authority, but he was holding back on the point that the board could be challenged if its rulings were arbitrary or against the weight of the law and the evidence in this case.

A very odd coincidence has arisen. In the summer of 1918 at the identical time, and under the vexatious absentee ballot act which was applied that year for the first time, arose the celebrated Abernethy-Dorch contest growing out of the defeat of Charles Laban Abernethy by Colonel W. T. Dortch, United States Marshal.

Abernethy had been running a long time, had campaigned so widely that everybody knew he was nominated without the performance of a miracle. Colonel Dortch did not wish to run, but Senator Simmons, Chairman Thomas D. War-

NEW EVIDENCE AGAINST HINES

Hotel Employee Says Defendant Seen With Schultz

New York, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Charles W. Hughes of Brooklyn, Mass. former assistant manager of the Hotel Barham at Bridgeport, Conn., testified today that he saw Tamany District Leader James J. Hines sitting in the hotel lobby with the late Dutch Schultz, gangster, and some of his mobsters in 1935.

Hughes said he saw Hines with Schultz twice, as well as with Schultz's henchmen, including "Lulu" Rosenkrantz, George Weinberg and J. Richard Davis, the mob's lawyer.

The witness, testifying in Hines trial on conspiracy charges in connection with the multi-million-dollar Schultz policy racket, said he saw the Tammany chieftain in the same month that another witness, Dudley Brothwell, Fair field, Conn., riding master, swore he saw Hines with the "Dutchman" at his stable.

The prosecution contends Schultz was reducing expenses at that time and wanted to see Hines personally to tell him that his weekly fee as alleged political "fixer" for the policy's syndicate was being cut from $500 to $250.

Hughes dramatically confronted Hines in the courtroom and pointing him out said crisply, "that is the man I saw with Dutch Schultz."

"The man," he added, "with the glasses."

Hines started at him unblinkingly through his horned-rimmed spectacles.

Hughes said he knew Schultz was "a nationally known criminal" and that he remembered Hines in the mobster's company because anyone visiting Schultz made a "stronger impression" on him than an ordinary guest at the hotel.

Suggests Nomination of New Dealer In South Carolina

PLANS TO ENTER MARYLAND RACE

Meanwhile in Washington Federal Reserve Officials Express Confidence

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt took a new step forward today in his drive to "purge" Congress of anti-administration Democrats.

The President suggested the nomination of a New Deal supporter in the South Carolina Democratic primary tomorrow. Simultaneously he arranged a Labor Day talk in Denton, Maryland, against Senator Tydings, an administration foe seeking renomination.

At Washington meanwhile, Navy Department dispatches disclosed that for days the United States gunboat Monocacy has been in the middle of exploding mines in the Yangtze river in China.

The dispatches said 15 mines had exploded in the neighborhood of the boat. On Saturday two burst simultaneously only 80 yards from the boat.

Other Washington developments: High officials of the Federal Reserve Board expressed confidence that the vast credit expansion sought by the Roosevelt administration has begun.

The trend of bank loans to finance business and industry, they said, has definitely turned upward for the first time since last November. The last three weeks showed higher reports of commercial, industrial and agricultural loans in banks of 101 leading cities.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Texas), of the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee, questioned the legality of Treasury employees making voluntary contributions to political campaigns as permitted in an order issued by Secretary Morgenthau four years ago.

Aged Farmer Dies By His Own Hand

Washington, N. C., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Nathaniel A. Ebron, 72 years-old retired farmer of Yokesville, died almost immediately after he shot himself through the abdomen with a single-barrel shotgun at the home of Aaron Russell, at Yokesville, about 6:30 o'clock this morning, according to a report here by Coroner Fenner P. Paul.

Ebron's body, the corner said, was found by members of his family in a small house behind the home after they had become alarmed when, upon arising, they missed the elderly man.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New Orleans—I like to read inscriptions on statues and grave-stones. Sometimes they are funny. Often they are sad. Frequently they say nothing beyond the fact that here lie the remains of someone who was born and now is dead.

This is a good town for inscription readers because there are so many statues here. All of them commemorate heroic deeds. There never was a time when New Orleans wasn't a rendezvous for heroes, anyway. And there are many, many cemeteries. But they are unlike most cemeteries. Here they are "cities of the dead," for most of the burials are by vault, and instead of graves you see row after row of little white-washed houses. Like miniature cities they glisten in the sun. Burial above ground is important here because the land is so near sea-level.

The following is a list of guests: Rev. N. M. Watson with Miss Bruce Forbes. Mr. Harris with Miss Rosalind Rountree. T. M. Hooker with Miss Sallie Lalacomb. Louis Skinner with Miss Lizzie Jones. C. M. Jones with Miss Bessie Harding. J. B. Jarvis with Miss Rosa Hooker. W. F. Harding with Miss Lina Sheppard. W. D. Grimes with Miss Willie Picklen. Dr. R. L. Carr with Miss Maud Blow. T. Anderson with Miss Louise Latham. W. S. Bernard with Miss Myra Picklen. J. C. Oary with Miss Winnie Skinner. G. J. Woodward with Miss Blanche Flanagan. J. L. Little with Miss Bessie Jarvis. H. P. Harding with Miss Betsy Greene. W. H. Dall with Miss Phoebe Sutton. C. S. Forbes with Miss Pattie Skinner.

As you stroll through these communities of the dead you frequently come upon the names of men who fell in duels: "Mort sur le champ d'honneur"—"Died on the field of honor. Another reads "Four garden intact le nom de famille"—"To keep unspilled the name of the family. And again, "Victime de son honneur"—"Victim of his honor."

In Girod cemetery there is an inscription that lovers and romantics sing, because it was written by the lover of a famous actress, Jane Placide. His name was James Caldwell, and when his sweetheart died he chose this lyric lament for her grave:

"There's not an hour Of day or dreaming night but I am with thee There's not a breeze but whispers of thy name, And not a flower that sleeps beneath the moon But in its hues or fragrances tells a tale of thee."

Perhaps the most arresting burial place in the city is the Chinese Mausoleum. It is a plain square structure with vaults opening on a covered courtyard, but all the slabs are identified with Arabic numerals and Oriental symbols. Incense is burned here for the benefit of those who have joined their ancestors. This place is but a temporary resting place, for all Chinese are returned to China for burial. About every ten years the vaults are opened and remains packed in steel boxes and returned to China.

Laveau, is believed to be buried in St. Louis cemetery No. 1 (there are three) in a grave on which the inscription attests that she was a good mother and a good friend to all who knew her. The inscription ends with the plea: "Passers-by, please pray for her."

Everywhere are statues and monuments to Confederate dead, and in Metairie cemetery, on the site of the famous ante-bellum race track, you will find the statue of Stonewall Jackson, "neither calmer nor grander than Jackson stood in flesh."

The statue of Jefferson Davis, the lonely man from Mississippi whose "deeds are wedded to immortality," is a striking memorial in a city which remembers him none too kindly. For New Orleans is Beauregard town, and they will tell you here that if Davis had listened to Beauregard the war might have had a different ending. That, of course, is a matter of opinion. But it is an imposing statue.

Kentucky is planning to establish a 2,500-acre game farm in Pike county.

Political Trouble May Follow Fletcher's Leave

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Aug. 29.—Complications political might arise should Major Arthur L. Fletcher leave the commission of labor to go to Washington to help administer the wage and hour law.

Should a resignation be turned in either Governor Hoy would have to make an appointment of the Democratic state executive committee a nomination. The time element would figure there. Major Fletcher defeated Roy Lawrence while the head of the federation worked with that organization. The unionists felt that they should have had one major office, though Major Fletcher was not unacceptable to them.

Friends of W. O. Burgin insist that the nomination of C. B. Dean was compassed by C.I.O. members, that they furnished the balance that finally broke against Burgin. It is feared by some of the old timers that should Major Fletcher leave and open the labor issue anew it might result less happily than once it did. President Roosevelt is on the march and the C.I.O. doesn't appear to be going in the opposite direction. The State Federation of Labor doesn't appear now to have a man of suitable stature to race Lawrence though T. A. Wilson, former state federation head and member of the commission which administers the workmen's compensation act, is very generally promoted for the Fletcher vacancy if it occurs.

Mr. Wilson was named a member of the commission by Governor O. Max Gardner who was the first of the governors who had power enough to push through a workmen's compensation act. Governor Hoy is being urged to promote him if Wilson is willing to take the Fletcher post.

Politically Roy Lawrence has been very active and affronted Governor Hoy no little in the 1936 campaign, but lost. He was very close to Dr. Ralph W. McDonald who was Governor Hoy's opponent in two primaries.

JUDGES EXPECTS TO DECIDE ELECTION CASE THIS WEEK

ren. Justice William R. Allen, Judge Frank A. Daniels and numerous friends thought it his duty to stop Abernethy. Colonel Dorich had but a brief time to race. He made a magnificent try and by a narrow margin got the nomination. Abernethy undertook every legal restraint. He moved in sundry places and succeeded in a slight interruption; but in every instance the courts were finally against him and he lost the nomination. Colonel Dorich died before election day, died, it seems, on the day that his Gaston was killed in action with the Germans.

The odd thing is the time. Exactly 20 years ago this Abernethy-Dorich war was raging. The World conflict quite backed it off the boards, but even with a World war and a victorious American participation in it, Abernethy made news. It is interesting to recall that the Dorich position in that fight was the exact predicament which Earinghaus chose in presenting the case for Burgin. The power of the State Board to go into the primary was denied and the board did not try. In that view the Supreme Court on that day undoubtedly agreed and one of the amusing aspects of the fight was the position of the Raleigh News and Observer. It ribbed Abernethy world without end and demanded that he come into court and tell where he got the money on which he made his race for the nomination. The paper stood squarely against him in the courts. It was dead against the aspersions which Abernethy cast upon the official in the primary.

The paper has declared Chairman W. A. Lucas to be a man of great courage in going into the conduct of the recent primary and has stung Governor Earinghaus for making arguments that sounded mighty like the ratiocinations of the Old Reliable in those by-gone days.

More recently, however, the paper has spoken of the power of the Earinghaus argument in the present case. Editorially it doubts that the issue should have been raised as to the board's power. Quite amusingly it was lifted by the great Raleigh daily back in those world war days.

And Judge Harris is having something to decide. There are no precedents which seem to be helping him.

KEEP SKINNER AS RECORDER

It is not our desire to dictate to the members of the Board of Aldermen for those gentlemen have been duly elected by the voters of our city to administer our city government, but we do want to put in a word of endorsement in behalf of Louis C. Skinner for the appointment as Judge of Municipal Recorder's court to fill the vacancy brought about by the recent death of Judge W. A. Darden.

Since the vacancy occurred it appears that there are a large number of local attorneys who aspire to be appointed to the position, and while we cast no reflections upon the qualifications of any of these candidates by urging the appointment of Skinner to the post, we do feel that in view of the fact that he is the duly appointed vice-recorder and has filled the post well during the illness of Judge Darden, that he is entitled to fill out the unexpired term.

We believe that the appointment of young Skinner to the post will meet with the approval of our citizens generally.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Crocker

Washington—The expenditure of any public money is a responsibility. When the amount involved reaches $50,000,000 the responsibility is definitely great. But when the $50,000,000 or more is to be used to purchase a battleship there is a dual responsibility—first to see that the public gets a dollar's worth of ship for each dollar of the purchase price, and second, to be certain that the battleship purchased has all the desirable characteristics to make it of maximum usefulness in the defense of our country throughout its 26 or more years of service.

This responsibility is divided. The general board composed of experienced flag officers, determines the characteristics which include tonnage, armament, cruising radius, speed, vulnerability, etc. The technical bureau study the general board characteristics, work up general and detailed specifications, provide plans and conduct various tests in the model basins, at the boiler and other laboratories, in ordnance plants and in outside commercial plants. This work crystallizes in the form of plans and specifications which are furnished to the prospective bidders several months in advance of bid openings, to enable them to make precise estimates.

Buying A Battleship

In the actual buying of a battleship the basic law which governs is the Vinson-Trammell act of March 27, 1934. In any contract in excess of $10,000, this law provides for reports in detail to the Secretary of the Navy on costs and for payment into the Treasury of profits in excess of 10 per cent of the contract price. It further provides against subdivision to avoid the restrictions of the act. The act was amended June 24, 1936, to allow the losses of one year to be carried over for the next succeeding income taxable year in determining excess profit, if any.

In addition to the Vinson-Trammell act, there are incorporated in all building contracts the provisions of the Walsh-Tealey act.

Yesterday Dunning is telling us about "the big swindle." The deaths of prominent men were predicted in an astrological magazine, and insurance collected all over the world when the deaths occurred.

Chapter 19

Marked For Murder!

THE insurance man from Lloyd's, Dunning continued, immediately brought a copy of the previous astrological for the previous year. There, set out in smudgy type and with the flowery and fantastic verbiage which the writer affected, were four predictions which made his skin tingle and his heart beat perceptibly quicker, for they forecast, with a remarkable precision of detail, the sudden deaths of four eminent gentlemen who had met their ends in the previous year. The Grim he has been published in January. The deaths had occurred in the following March, May, August, and November. Mr. Pickett was a level-headed man. He still refused to believe in the predictive powers of astrology, but instead a very curious and sinister idea occurred to him—namely, that these deaths and the resultant highly profitable insurance claims, had been engineered by some person or persons, and that one of them, with a distorted sense of humor, was amusing himself by announcing them in advance through the medium of the Grimoire.

His holiday was nearly at an end. He found time to visit Nice and inspect the small printing establishment where the Grimoire saw the light each first of January. But the proprietor, while admitting the publication and marketing of the precious production, absolutely and completely refused to disclose the name of the client who was responsible for it. There was nothing more to be done. If he told his suspicions to the local police, they would laugh at him; if he asked for help in tracing the mysterious astrologer, they would show him the door. He went home. Back in London he postulated his theory to a colleague from the Bureau Veritas, and found, to his amazement, that he was being taken seriously. The guest's Gallic imagination was fired, he asked a variety of pertinent questions, suggested a detail or two to round off the picture, and returned to Paris promising further discussion at an early date.

Here Mr. Dunning paused to look regretfully at his empty glass, and Hugo promptly refilled it. The next chapter of the story opened, he said, with the visit to Paris of a representative of the American Bureau, to whom Mr. Pickett's friend mentioned the theory which had gripped his imagination as firmly as it had the Englishman's. The visitor, whose pocket had been severely depleted by the demise of the South American President, listened, was impressed, and, with the energy of his race, insisted on immediate action. After that, said Mr. Dunning, things began to hum.

Meetings were held of representatives of the three great clearing-houses, as a result of which it was decided that investigation was justified, and it was agreed to employ some reliable firm to carry out inquiries. In the end—and here Mr. Dunning swelled with justifiable pride—his organization was chosen, and the first thing that he was able to bring to light was the fact that behind the myriad insurances on the two great figures of the opposite arm of Dunning's chair watched our faces anxiously.

"You see?" she broke out, a trifle breathlessly, as we came to the end. "It's Uncle Virgoe—it could be no one else. There's no one like him in American finance at the moment. But—" She ran her fingers through her chestnut curls with an almost comical effect of bewilderment—"that merger! It was only suggested last fall, and nothing appeared about it in the papers till late spring. Uncle Virgoe was being fought for it tooth and nail—but someone must have got wind of it."

"Vladimir Rakovsky, I imagine," Hugo suggested dryly, and Dunning nodded. He got to his feet and faced us, an unwieldy but somehow commanding figure. "That gentleman has powerful connections, as I told you. He has his finger on the pulse of this country's political and financial arteries. No, sir!" He stretched himself, lifting his shoulders and swelling out his great chest. "I'm not puzzling any as to how that information seeped through, but I'm not near the end of my story. When I had read, digested, and absorbed that highly informative paragraph, I proceeded to give a careful scrutiny to the rest of the publication, and what I found was a very significant fact emerged. Throughout the predictions for the year, there was no forecast of any other sudden death."

"I whistled softly. "They were afraid?" "Precisely!" he said. (Copyright 1938 Max Saltmarsh)

Greenies Win Week-End Series from Ayden, 11-5-9-4

SPENCE, KING GET VICTORIES

'Lightnin' Lefty' And 'Little Don' Turn Back the Aces

Rube Wilson's Greenville Greenies continued merrily on their way over the week-end to rack up a pair of victories over Ayden's Aces.

The Greenies defeated Ayden at Ayden on Saturday, 11-5, and returned in Sunday to give the Aces a 9-4 shellacking.

The locals were behind four runs when they came to bat in their fifth inning. Allen homered over the leftfield wall to break the scoring ice. Smith reached first on an error, advanced to third on a single, and came in home on Birch Douglass' bingle. Simpson walked to fill the bases, but Heavener hit into a double play, retiring the side, with only a pair of runs in that frame.

Gracie Allen's double and Birch Douglass' single sent in three runs in the sixth, and the Greenies ended their scoring by getting 4 more tallies in the eighth.

Extra! Martins Grab Twin Bill From Serps

Williamston, Aug. 29.—Williamston took a twin bill over Tarboro here yesterday afternoon. The first game score was 2-1; the second, 5-3.

Red Swain and Malone locked horns in a real pitcher's duel in the first game. Ace Villiquie's 400-foot homer in the ninth inning gave the Martins the margin of victory.

Williamston overcame a Tarboro lead in the nightcap to win. The locals counted in the fourth, with three hits, a walk and an error.

Buster Maynard's homers in the first game featured batting of the day for the Serpents. His homer put the Snakes ahead in the opener for a while.

Goldbugs Break Win Streak of Snow Billies

Snow Hill, Aug. 29.—Pete Kunis edged a decision over Raymond (Lefty) Zschau as Goldsboro turned back Snow Hill, 4-1, here yesterday. Greenville topped Ayden, 9-0 today, reducing the Billies fourth-place lead to four and one-half games.

The Bugs scored enough—two runs in the sixth—to win and put the game on ice. Mullimax walked, advanced to second on Morris' infield out, and scored on Pawlock's double. Mulvihill beat out a hit, sending Pawlock to third, and Balla's safe drag bunt tallied Pawlock.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Goldsboro 000 002 020—4 8 1
Snow Hill 000 100 000—1 8 2

Bears Win Saturday; Eagles Win Sunday

Kinston, Aug. 29.—Shorty Ollison poled a long single to rightfield in the last inning to give the Kinston Eagles a 6-5 verdict over New Bern's Bears.

Manager Doc Smith had ordered the pitcher to walk Sid Stringfellow ordinarily a heavy hitter. But Shorty came through instead, and the locals took the victory.

Kinston took an 8-0 lead and held the upper hand until the first of the ninth, when Anderson hit a double to score two two runners and tie the score.

Muhlenbein pitched good ball for the Eagles until the ninth, when he weakened and Eddie Nowak replaced him.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
New Bern 000 002 012—5 8 1
Kinston 300 011 001—6 14 0
Berry, Hautz and Thornton; Muhlenbein, Nowak and Crouch.

Wrestling Card At New Armory Tonight

The regular weekly wrestling card will be held at the new Armory this evening, the show starting at eight o'clock with the semi-final match at 8:30.

Eddie Williams, of Springfield, Mo., a local favorite, will meet Floyd Byrd of Louisville, Ky., in the semi-final match.

The headline match will be between Al Perry of Pecos, Texas, and Eddie Malone of Indianapolis, Ind. Both men are in the 185-pound class and are said to be good at the trade.

GREENIES HAVE SLIGHT CHANCE

Barely Within Striking Distance of Entering Playoff

With four scheduled games, one rained out contest and a tie game facing Greenville before the close of the 1938 season, the locals have a mathematical chance to get in the playoff series, provided, of course, at least one of the four teams loses several of its remaining games.

At present, prior to tonight's contest with Williamston there, the Greenies are three and one-half games behind Snow Hill; four and one-half games behind New Bern; five and one-half games behind Kinston and six and one-half games behind the league-leading Tarser Serpents.

Greenville closes the season with four scheduled games with Kinston and a tie game with the Eagles. Games are scheduled with Kinston here Tuesday and Thursday, the other three being played there.

Following is the league schedule for the remainder of the season:

Tuesday, August 30
Williamston at Snow Hill.
Kinston at Greenville.
Ayden at New Bern.
Goldsboro at Tarboro.

Wednesday, August 31
Snow Hill at Williamston.
Greenville at Kinston.
New Bern at Ayden.
Tarboro at Goldsboro.

Thursday, September 1
Williamston at Snow Hill.
Kinston at Greenville.
Ayden at New Bern.
Goldsboro at Tarboro.

Friday, September 2
Snow Hill at Williamston.
Greenville at Kinston.
New Bern at Ayden.
Tarboro at Goldsboro.

In addition to these games, the four leading teams have the following rained out or tied games which are supposed to be played, according to figures compiled by J. Gaskill Mcneil, league statistician:

Tarboro: Two with Snow Hill, one with Williamston, one with Ayden and a tie with Kinston.

Snow Hill: Two with Tarboro and one with Kinston.

Kinston: One with Snow Hill; tie with Greenville and tie with Snow Hill.

New Bern: Tie with Goldsboro.

According to these figures Snow Hill, with a nearer with striking distance of the Greenies, has four scheduled games with Williamston, two rained-out contests with Tarboro and a tie game with Kinston. Whether the extra games should be played was not certain, as it is understood that the Billies contend the games are not supposed to be played in that they were marked off when the standings were re-arranged at a meeting of directors of the league last month.

BLACK WIDOW SPIDERS DUE FOR PURGE

Washington—(AP)—The days of the poisonous, little black widow spider may be limited in this country. Uncle Sam's entomologists have a plan to fight it with another spider which they have imported from Haiti, and which particularly likes to feed on black widow eggs. The Haitian spider is harmless.

Right now the two spiders are being watched in federal laboratories. Before the scientists turn the Haitian spider loose they want to be sure it sticks to black widows. Seems they consider the harmless spiders a real help because they eat mosquitoes and flies.

Faithful To Sweeper.
Janesville, Wis.—(AP)—The city fathers have honored "Brownie," a little brown dog which for years has followed the city street sweeper. City Manager Henry Traxler made formal presentation of a medal, gold plated and engraved, as Al Schwenker drove the sweeper up to the city pumping station.

FALL PICTURES ARE REVEALED

First All-Industry Product Announcement Made

Ninety-four productions, covering the feature pictures of nine movie companies for August, September and October, are listed in the first all-industry Fall announcement ever issued from Hollywood. The announcement is made today in connection with the Motion Pictures' Greatest Year campaign, sponsored by all branches of the industry, to stimulate business.

The industry feels that, inasmuch as motion pictures are a barometer to prosperity, the success of its drive is bound to be beneficial to the nation at large leading to an upswing in business, bringing more jobs and putting more money into general circulation.

Comprehensive preparations have been made, according to the announcement, to insure the quality of production living up to advance notices and justifying campaign claims. The quality and success of such pre-release pictures as "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Algers," "Marie Antoinette," "Four Daughters," "Mother Carey's Chickens," "The Texans," "Letter of Introduction" and "Barefoot Boy," do in fact indicate, the producers feel, that the season of 1938-39 will be "Motion Pictures' Greatest Year."

Attention is also called to certain noticeable trends in the Fall product which, it is felt, reflect a healthy reaction on the part of the studios to the public demand for varied and intelligent entertainment. There is a noticeable absence of cynical "realism," and a return to wholesome and often homely romantic themes. There are fewer crime pictures and those on the list indicate a more serious, sociological approach to the theme. Pictures like "Dead End" and "Crime School" have set a new motif which is carried out in such productions as "Boys Town," "Gangsters Boy" and "Juvenile Court."

This greater dignity in presentation colors all types of motion pictures. Musical comedies and musical drama (eleven are listed in all) will have more story and less spectacle. There will be greater credibility, the producers assure us, in the treatment of force—and a marked absence of the "boy hits girl" cycle.

Of the 94 productions, eight are from well-known Broadway plays indicating that the stage is still a major source for Hollywood material. Ten stories are based on popular novels, 20 on magazine stories, and the balance originals.

The Fall program commands the services of leading writers and directors. Included among the writers are Fannie Hurst, Robert Riskin, George S. Kaufman, Moss Hart, Jerome Chodorov, Laurence Stallings, Samuel Spewack, Bella Spewack, Hugh Wiley, Marion Orth, Emerson Kugh, Preston Sturges, Forrest Davis, Manuel Seff, Dudley Nichols, Paul Yawitz, Morris Ryskind, J. Bedford Jones, John Wexley, Philip Wylie, Tess Slesinger and others.

The directors include Frank Capra, Alexander Hall, Edward Sedgwick, Charles Kenyon, Edward Martin, Julien Duvivier, Norman Taurog, Karl Brown, Elliot Nugent, Louis King, Henry Hathaway, Kurt Neumann, Wesley Ruggles, Frank Lloyd, Rowland V. Lee, Mark Sandrich, Edward F. Cline, Ben Stoloff, David Howard, Jack Conway, William A. N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The stock market today suffered an attack of the war shivers, among other things, and leading issues broke one to more than five points in one of the worst tumbles since the beginning of the mid-year upswing. Belated buying support enabled some shares to close moderately up from the lows.

In the morning upset the ticker "re-feel" behind for a brief interval. Come-back attempts brought another slow-down. Transfers approximated 1,300,000 shares.

COWS GIVEN BATHS BEFORE EACH MILKING

Scottsbluff, Neb.—(AP)—Scottsbluff dairymen conform to cleanliness regulations not only by keeping their barns spotless but by giving their cows two baths a day.

One proprietor has erected a rack similar to that used for washing automobiles. Each cow passes thru twice a day—before milking.

Sleeping Sickness Attacks Horses, Washington.—(AP)—Uncle Sam's veterinarians are conducting experiments to curb an epidemic of sleeping sickness among horses which affected 170,000 animals in this country last year.

It is believed the disease is a virus spread by biting insects, especially mosquitoes. The sickness is prevalent in the central west.

IT'S ODD, But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Saranac Lake, N. Y.—To take dust out of the air throw more dust into it.

This paradoxical treatment is the newest way of attacking the industrial dust health hazard. The experiments come from the laboratory here of the Mellon Institute's Air Hygiene Foundation. They are reported by Dr. LeRoy U. Gardner.

The worst dust is silica, responsible for silicosis. When gypsum, a different kind of dust, is thrown into the air with silica dust, its particles unite with the silica. The union adds to weight so that many of the particles drop to the floor.

But even if the heavy particles continue to float in air, the health hazard is less. For the big particles do not so readily get past the natural barriers of the nose.

Silicosis comes partly from the dust and partly from chemical reactions in the lungs. But the size and shape of the particles themselves is an important part in causing the disease.

The Mellon Institute discovery about putting in more dust makes the air dusty. The New York state code says it is 100,000,000 particles in a cubic foot of air.

But the code makes an exception. If the dust is from rocks containing more than 10 per cent of silica, then it is legally dusty when the air has only 10,000,000 particles a cubic foot.

Specialist Says State Could be Leading One of Nation

Raleigh, Aug. 29.—North Carolina could be the outstanding livestock state in the Union, in the opinion of L. I. Case, State College extension specialist in animal husbandry.

Some farmers, he said, are taking advantage of this state's climate, rainfall, and soil to build up profitable livestock enterprises on their farms, but a great many are still neglecting their opportunities.

One of the main advantages of this state is that winter cover crops can be used for grazing the animals at a time when growers in northern states have to fall back on hay, silage, grain, and other stored feeds.

He pointed to Hugh MacRae, prominent New Hanover county farmer, who has a fine dairy herd that is fed largely on grazing crops the year round. Good pastures, legumes and winter cover crops not only produce excellent feed but also cut MacRae's milk production costs to a minimum.

Case also called attention to the experience of J. G. Statton of Williamson, with winter cover crops. Last spring, Statton shipped 27 lambs that graded choice and averaged 98 pounds each. The flock from which these lambs came had been fed almost entirely on winter cover crops of oats and vetch.

The year before, Statton grazed a carload of yearlings and two-year-old steers on the same type of winter crops. The animals gained over 200 pounds per head and netted him a profit of $50 each.

At the State College animal husbandry farm, Case continued, 20 acres of crimson clover and rye grass furnished grazing for yearling steers and sheep last winter. During 84 days, 22 yearlings gained an average of 203.7 pounds each on this feed.
