More Than 400 Left Homeless in Wake of Hurricane

ENTIRE SECTION NOT HEARD FROM

Toll of Life, Property May Be Increased Several Times When Reports Received

Monterey, Mexico, Aug. 30.—(AP) — Nine persons were known dead and more than 400 families were homeless in this northeastern Mexico industrial center today as an aftermath of a hurricane that swept inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

The gale brought torrential rains to this area, nine inches in 36 hours and sent creeks and rivers on rises. Eight of the listed dead were motorists caught in the floodwaters.

The toll in life and property loss is expected to be multiplied several times when reports are received from Ciudad Victoria, 100 miles southeast, which still is isolated.

J. C. Powell, city editor of a Monterrey newspaper, said it was believed that the storm here, "was mild compared with the havoc wrought at Ciudad Victoria," more directly in the path of the hurricane.

Military and municipal authorities concentrated on providing shelter for the homeless, many of whom were injured or ill. Public buildings offered temporary haven.

The city editor said no deaths had been reported among tourists, "but there apparently were many tourists caught in the storm on the road to Mexico City and Ciudad Victoria." He said automobiles of several American tourists were swept away by flood waters of a river as they were en route from Saltillo to Monterrey.

Recorder's Court Session Concluded

Sentences were meted out to four defendants in the concluding session of city Recorder's court Monday afternoon.

James Turner pleaded guilty to violating a traffic regulation but prayer for judgment was continued.

George Buck Negro, convicted on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, was ordered to pay $5 and costs or serve a thirty-day road sentence. He took the road sentence.

Henry Mulder, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and hit and run, was adjudged guilty. For the first charge he was ordered to pay $50 and costs, or serve 30 days on the roads and his driver's license was revoked for 12 months. He was ordered to pay the costs or serve a 90-day sentence on the second charge.

John Hall was adjudged guilty in a case charging him with drunkenness and ordered to pay the costs of the court or serve 30 days on the roads.

Trailers Required Have Rear Lights

State Highway patrolmen located here today declared that they had observed a large number of trailers without rear lights on the highways since the tobacco marketing season opened.

The officers declared that they did not desire to bring any hardship on the farmers or others, but added that unless an improvement is noted in the condition they would have to resort to wholesale arrests.

It was explained that no lights on a trailer not only was prohibited by law, but provided a serious menace to the safety of the highways.

Protest Meets

Goldboro, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Two protest meetings against alleged inequalities in tobacco quotas were arranged today for Wayne county farmers.

For those living in the northern part of the county a meeting will be held tomorrow night at Pikeville. County Agent C. S. Mintz said E. Y. Floyd, state AAA administrator, was expected to explain the quota system in a speech.

A mass meeting of all farmers will be held at the court house here Friday night with S. H. Hobbs, Sr., of Clinton, as chief speaker, Frank Hicks, a member of the executive committee of the North Carolina Anti-Compulsory Crop Control Association, announced.

Great Britain And France Take Emergency Measures In Midst Of War Threats

Cabinets of Two Nations Meet Simultaneously as War Clouds Regarded Heaviest Since 1914; Powers Seek to Prevent War, But Prepare for Conflict

(By The Associated Press)

Great Britain and France today took emergency action to prevent war in Europe, and at the same time prepared to meet the conflict if it comes.

Meanwhile Germany's rebuilt navy is holding maneuvers in the North Sea. It was disclosed while preliminary army maneuvers continued in various parts of the country and Chancellor Adolf Hitler inspected fortifications along the French and Swiss borders.

The maneuvers began last Friday and may last until the middle of September, the navy minister said. They were described as "routine," having no connection with the central European crisis.

The cabinets of Britain and France, meeting simultaneously in the midst of the heaviest war cloud since 1914, gave unanimous approval to steps already taken by their foreign ministers in the Czechoslovakian crisis and agreed on policies to be followed in the future.

These policies were not disclosed, but it was believed the British minister decided to make a calm, but firm final demand that Germany halt the campaign of hats against Czechoslovakia and co-operate in efforts to settle the Czechoslovakian minority problem.

The French Cabinet voted to lengthen working hours in national defense industries, public service and "public safety" industries and at the same time gave issue virtual power to mobilize all French industry if necessary.

The fact that the French ministers also approved "instruction" to French envoys abroad indicated the probability of a strong co-ordinated diplomatic action by Britain and France.

Tension between Germany and Czechoslovakia meanwhile was increased by a second German protest against insults to the Imperial German army by a Czechoslovakian newspaper. Germany previously had protested Saturday and demanded that immediate action be taken to prevent further "aiding."

Uneasiness also was felt in the Far East as a result of a statement by Lieut General Itagaki, Japanese war minister, that more clashes between Japanese and Soviet Russian forces on the Siberian frontier were "likely to occur."

Best Record Set By This District

The report of the State Highway patrol of July accidents shows that this district, with a registration of 21,348, had only one fatal accident, the best record for any similar section in the state.

The division, which comes under Troop "A" of which Lieut Lester Jones is commanding officer, is under the direct supervision of Sergeant D. G. Lewis of Rocky Mount.

Lieut. Jones, in commenting on the one fatality in the district, said it hardly could be listed as a highway accident as the man killed was lying in a private lane when he was run over by an automobile.

Brother Against Brother And Father Against Son

Reflector Bureau Republican, Aug. 30.—Republicans in Brunswick county have named Charles Moore Trotter for their house of representative candidate, and Republicans of Stanley county have picked L. J. Trotter, an older brother for the same sacrifice.

The office of Parole Commissioner Edwin M. Gill has Graham Ford Trotter, still younger brother, as a representative. Thus one Trotter holds office under a Democratic dispensation and two Trotts seek to overturn the Democratic regime in their respective counties.

Politics which formerly made strange bedfellows also makes strange kinspeople. Graham Ford Trotter is a Democrat through deep Confederate descent. His maternal side had John B. Foard, uncorrected Confederate, and Graham Foard Trotter keeps his Democracy through John Foard's daughter, this Trotter's mother. The two Republican Trotts had Democratic ancestors, too, and their dad was as vehement as any of them in his twenties. Then he concluded that his Presbyterianism and his Democracy were wrong, substituting agnosticism for Calvinism, and standpat Republicanism for his Democracy. In the famous fight between Taft and Teddy Henry Scott Trotter, father of these boys, followed Taft when the party was accompanying Teddy in this state by a ten to one ratio New Deal politics finds brother arrayed against brother and if Henry Trotter were here now, he would be more violently anti-New Deal than Carter Glass.

Domestic Difficulties Among Cases Heard By Tribunal

Domestic difficulties, liquor and various other charges were aired in Pitt Superior court this morning as the session continued at the steady pace set yesterday following disposition of formalities of the opening criminal session of the fall term.

A large number of cases had been disposed of through the lunch-hour today.

A mistrial was declared in a case charging John A. Brickhouse with non-support, when the jury announced it was unable to reach a verdict.

Peyton Thomas, Jr., tendered a plea of guilty to non-support of an illegitimate child and judgment was suspended upon payment of $500 to the mother of the child and costs of the action.

Lawrence Adam Moore pleaded guilty to non-support and judgment was suspended upon payment of $100 to the mother of the child and costs of the action.

W. H. Byrd was acquitted of breaking and entering, but was given a six-months' road term on a charge of larceny after having tendered a plea of nolo contendere.

Louise Whichard was acquitted of a whiskey charge.

William Henry Burse pleaded guilty to illegal possession of whiskey and was given a two year road sentence. Judgment was suspended in another case involving a similar charge.

Henry Avery pleaded guilty to trespass and judgment was suspended upon payment of costs.

Vester Daniel, charged with assault, withdrew an appeal and accepted judgment of County court.

Robert Teel, charged with trespass, was acquitted.

Payments Made on Debts of County

The summer drain on the county treasury, while at the same time little receipts were being recorded, was emphasized today with the announcement by Auditor J. H. Coward that a total of $116,368.85 was paid on bond principal and interest during the past three months.

Funds were sent to New York today to pay bonds and interest as follows: principal, five and one-half per cent road bonds, $40,000; interest, four and one-half per cent road bonds, $6,821.91; interest, five per cent bridge bonds, $1,253.06; and interest, five per cent township road bonds, $1,253.88, making a total of $52,708.85.

Overnight!

It was lunch time. Solicitor D. M. Clark was at work prosecuting, and Attorney W. J. Bundy was busy—defending one Dan Phillips, Negro, on a charge of attempted rape. The case had been in progress about 30 minutes.

J. Hicks Corey, foreman of the Grand Jury, walked up to Solicitor Clark, whispered something in his ear, and the case was brought to an abrupt end, and the lunch recess was taken.

It developed that plainly marked on the bill of indictment were the words "not a true bill."

FOES S. C. RACE ARE OPTIMISTIC

Spokesmen For Both Smith and Johnston Hopeful

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Headquarters spokesmen for both Senator E. D. Smith and Governor Olin Johnston, rivals for the former's seat in the United States Senate, asserted this afternoon they were receiving optimistic reports as balloting went forward in today's Democratic primary.

Roy Powell, secretary to the Governor, said a Johnston majority of at least 40,000 votes was expected.

A worker in Smith's office here told newsmen "good reports" were being received from throughout the state.

Available information indicated that the balloting went forward (Continued on Page Six)

SEASON SALES AVERAGE 23.04

Better Grades of Tobacco Appear Be Selling Higher

Nearly a million and a quarter pounds of tobacco was sold in the Greenville market yesterday, the third day of the 1938 season.

The 1,213,298 pounds brought a total of $276,862.95, or an official average of $22.80 per hundredweight.

Monday's figures brought the season's total to 3,864,982 pounds, sold for $890,331.93, an average of $23.04.

Many common tips were offered yesterday, tending to bring the average down, but better grades of tobacco appeared to be selling stronger, many piles bringing up to $38.

Prices today appeared to be about in line with those of yesterday, with the poorer grades bringing prices well ahead of those paid last year. Very little of real good tobacco has been placed on the floor this season.

It is the general opinion that the quality of tobacco which is most common in this section this year is bringing the best prices and that farmers will realize a good average for their product.

Pinetops Refunding Bonds are Approved

FDR AND HULL IN CONFERENCE ON WAR FEARS

Secretary Previously had Conferred With Advisors

BELIEVE EUROPE PASSING CRISIS

Chief Executive, Who Returned to Capitol Today, Also to Talk Mexican Situation

Washington, Aug. 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull conferred this morning on the crisis in central Europe, Hull, before going to the White House, talked over with advisers in the European department of the State Department's latest dispatches received from European capitals.

The consensus at the department was that Europe is passing through a real crisis which may come to a head about the time of the German Nazi party meeting at Nuremberg, within a fortnight.

America's diplomats in the various capitals affected by the German-Czechoslovak intentions have been keeping the State Department minutely informed of developments.

Hull has resisted the efforts of his assistants to get him to take a short vacation and is continuing at his desk.

The President, who returned to the capital this morning, was expected also to discuss the Mexican question with the secretary.

After conferring with Hull, the President arranged a long list of appointments which would give him an opportunity to discuss international and domestic problems with other government officials.

Official developments.—Admiral William Leahy said after conferring with the President, the navy expected to ask Congress for a $200,000,000 increase in funds.

This year's regular naval appropriations was $546,000,000 odd dollars, exclusive of a $16,000,000 deficit appropriation and about $50,000,000 of public works funds used for shore construction. The $200,000,000 presumably would be an addition to the regular appropriation, not counting the special items.

The increase, Leahy said, was due almost entirely to the added cost of carrying forward the billion dollar fleet expansion program.

Senator Reynolds To Back Hancock?

Washington, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Senator Robert Reynolds (D-N. C.), set out today to learn whether his state is entitled to fill a vacancy on the Home Loan Bank Board.

If so he may have a recommendation to make, but whether his choice will be Representative Frank Hancock of North Carolina, who unsuccessfully opposed him in June for the state Democratic senate nomination, Reynolds hasn't said.

Reynolds said he would confer with Chairman John Fahey of the board, in regard to the vacancy.

Meanwhile at Raleigh, six state officials, including Governor Hoey, have written President Roosevelt urging him to name Hancock to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, the Raleigh Times said there.

Douglass Corrigan Ends Visit to N. C.

Greensboro, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Douglas Corrigan, the wrong-way trans-Atlantic flier, took off from the Greensboro-High Point airport for Norfolk, Va., at 12:40 p. m., today.

Greensboro had welcomed Corrigan with a parade, banquet and all the trimmings.

The flier had landed his "3900 crate" here late yesterday afternoon after flying from Atlanta.

Frivolous first and practical second, this jacket may do serious work in brightening up a sagging summer wardrobe. This time you see it worn over a black crepe frock. It is made of rows of fluted white lace and is fastened with pearl buttons.

Here is a frock for sorority teas—and date-bait. It is made of a warm wine matelasse crepe and designed with a high molded neckline which makes a good background for the Victorian silver flower necklace worn with it. The be-plumed little hat is wine-colored too.

Fred W. Woodward came in Monday evening to visit his brother, G. J. Woodward.
Miss Phoebe Sutton of Kinston, who has been visiting Miss Clara Bruce Forbes, returned home Monday evening.
Miss Clara Bell Williams of Nashville, Tenn., arrived this morning to accept a position as teacher in the Greenville Female School.

Notices

One more August day.
Odd Fellows meet tonight.
August is trying its closing days on humidity.
The class of orphans left this morning for Plymouth.
A. H. Taft has recently purchased the Ricks & Taft stock for which a receiver was appointed.
Greenville would present a better appearance if the town was cleaned up and the weeds removed from the streets.
The other day while cutting off some meat for a customer in the store, David Jarvis came very near cutting off the thumb of his left hand. That accounts for his going around wearing a sling.
Another barroom was opened out in the tobacco section, making two out there.
Cotton picking will start as soon as the weather favors it.

How's Your Health?

Edited for the New York Academy of Medicine
By IAGO GALSTON, M.D.

To the general question, "How can I improve my diet?" the equally general reply can be made, "By adding to it milk or the milk foods."
It has been found that among the items which the average diet is likely to lack, calcium and phosphorus figure prominently. The lower the economic scale of living, the more marked are these deficiencies likely to be.
The human body is remarkably resourceful in the manipulation of its food elements, but it cannot, so to say, "Make bricks without straw."

The human body is a vastly intricate chemical laboratory which can alter and adapt food constituents to supply its various needs. It can construct fats and sugars out of other food elements, but the human body is apparently unable to create the minerals it requires. Unless these are supplied in the diet, the body must ultimately suffer marked mineral deficiencies.

An adequate supply of calcium and phosphorus (also of iron, iodine and other minerals) is essential to normal growth and development and to the maintenance of health.
This has been convincingly demonstrated in experiments with human beings and with laboratory animals.
An illuminating experiment was recently performed at the Rowell

Research Institute at Aberdeen, Scotland. Two sets of carefully selected rats were employed.
One group of animals was fed upon a calcium and phosphorus deficient human diet, the other group of animals was fed upon the same diet to which, however, was added milk. The milk-receiving animals fared better in every respect.
To establish the value of the calcium and phosphorus content of the milk, independent of the other ingredients, another experiment was conducted in which the human diet was supplemented, not with milk, but with inorganic calcium and phosphorus.

Here again it was shown that the animals receiving a supplementary quantity of these mineral salts fared better than those living exclusively on the low grade human diet.
Of course whole milk is to be preferred, for in addition to the mineral salts, milk contains valuable proteins and vitamins.

Birthday Dinner

Sunday morning relatives, friends, and members of the family honored Mr. Mack Churchill with a surprise birthday dinner at his home on the Winterville-Ayden highway.

L. P. Waters of Plymouth, presided over the gathering as master of ceremonies. Dinner was spread in the yard and was duly enjoyed by everyone. This was the first get-together of the family and their intimate friends and plans were made to honor Mr. Churchill on his future birthdays. Melvin Churchill, son of the honor guest, made pictures of the immediate family. Mr. Churchill received many useful gifts.

Mr. Churchill is the father of Mrs. C. J. Moye, Greenville; Miss Lucy Churchill, Greenville; Alva Churchill, New Bern; Belvin Churchill, Wilmington; and Lewis Churchill, Greenville.

Christian Science Church.
"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, August 28.

The golden text was from Micah 5:2. "Thou Beth-lehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting."

Among the citation which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "And John calling unto him two of his disciples sent them to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another? When the men were come unto him, they said, John Baptist hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another? And in that same hour he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, and of evil spirits; and unto many that were blind he gave sight. Then Jesus answering said unto them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached." (Luke 7:19-22).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Christ was the Spirit which Jesus implied in his own statements: 'I am the way, the truth, and the life; I and my Father are one.' This Christ, or divinity of the man Jesus, was his divine nature, the godliness which animated him. Divine Truth, Life and Love gave Jesus authority over sin, sickness, and death. His mission was to reveal the science of celestial being, to prove what God is and what He does for man."

Young Author Gains Recognition.
Farmville, Aug. 30.—Word was received here today that Gang Busters, a radio program which is broadcast on a nation wide hook-up, has accepted for one of their programs a story written by Cecil G. Winstead, a young Farmville free-lance writer. It will be broadcast over the Columbia network at 7 o'clock on August 31.

The story a fact detective account—concerns the adventures of the notorious John Ashley gang which terrorized the eastern part of Florida nearly two decades ago. Mr. Winstead spent nearly a month in gathering the material from which a fast moving dramatic play was written.

This is the young author's second story to be accepted by Gang Busters. The first was based on the exploits of the Tick Proctor gang, and was broadcast June 1. Featured on this program along with that of others, was the work of the Greenville police officers. Mr. Winstead is also the author of many fact detective stories, his latest appearing in the September issue of Ideal Detective magazine now on the news stands.

JUNIOR OLYMPICS AT CAMP CHARLES

No matter what position of leadership a Scout may hold in his Scout Troop, whether it be Patrol Leader, Assistant Patrol Leader, Senior Patrol Leader, Scribe, Quartermaster, Bugler and even Junior Assistant Scoutmaster, he is expected to attend the Junior Olympics at Camp Charles, opening Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. This is the second annual Junior Olympics and is an opportunity for training in leadership and has the endorsement of all Scoutmasters and their assistants in the council.
The word "Junior" is given because all who hold junior positions of leadership in the troop are expected to take the training, and the word "Olympics" is used because the original intention was to include besides the opportunity for training in leadership, a number of games and water events to include volley ball and water polo, since it is remembered that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."
Total cost for each Scout taking the training is $1, which will be used for feeding and the certificate to be awarded.
Scoutmasters and their assistants are invited for the Sunday noon meal and are asked to come as early as possible as archery-golf is "on the menu."
The training will be under the di-

KING TO BACK FDR PROGRAM

Raleigh News Man to Publish New Deal Newspaper

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Aug. 29. — Roosevelt's Hundred Percenters, promised by rumor in these columns several days ago, appears, according to Robin O. King, Raleigh newspaper man and telegraphic key wizard of the old days, between the first and the middle of September.

Mr. King puts down a seven-point platform beginning with 100 per cent loyalty to President Roosevelt and an equal hostility to "every candidate in our territory, who opposes the Roosevelt New Deal principles, whether he or she be Democrat or Republican."

Mr. King favors a new deal for North Carolina. "Our great state has been controlled by Conservatives long enough, he thinks, and he covets an up-to-date and liberal administration." Plank three is pull under the "disgraceful absentee ballot law," the repeal of which he demands as the first step in his sundry reforms. Plank four would extend the city limits of Raleigh to take in suburban properties, some of which are owned by people known to be none too greatly loved by Mr. King.

Only churches and parsonages would be exempt from the New Deal tax system. Property owned by churches and fraternal organizations, but producing revenue would be taxed. Plank six favors giving every destitute citizen of North Carolina who reaches the age of 65, not less than $30 monthly in old age assistance. He favors the state and counties appropriating additional funds to make this possible, when it is added to money granted by the Federal government for such purposes.

An of course repeal of the sales tax Nobody ever has proposed these beneficiaries without pleading to make it impossible by removing this general sales levy. However, Mr. King would substitute therefor a high luxury sales tax if the state's financial condition makes such a tax necessary, which we doubt.

The Mitchell Printing Company's plant will issue the paper. There will be others associated with the former Associated Press operator and Raleigh correspondent.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker
New York—Probably you know all about Clare Tree Major. I knew vaguely who she was and what she did but it was not until I met her in the Town Hall club the other afternoon that I really understood what an important influence this kindly, gray-haired, blue-eyed woman from Chappaqua, N. Y., exerts over children in communities all over this country, from the boroughs of New York to neighborhoods north, south, east and west.

She is the moving spirit behind the Clare Tree Major children's theatre, an organization that dramatizes and interprets children's stories all over America.

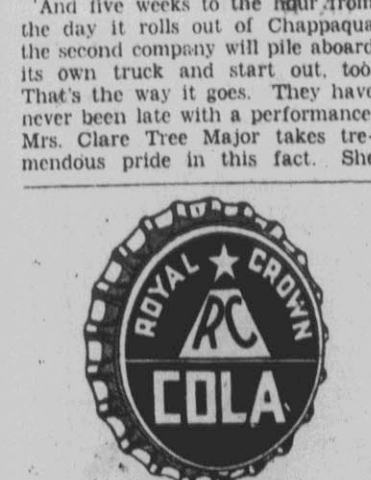

She does it this way: plays are rehearsed and formed into road companies. Then, at regular intervals of five weeks, these companies begin a tour that swings from New York to California and back. This year "Peter Pan" is the first of six plays that will go out, and for the first time since the play was written a boy will play the title role. Five weeks after "Peter Pan" leaves New York "Cinderella" will be ready. Then "The Little Princess." After that come "The King of the Golden River," "Nobody's Boy," and "The Five Little Peppers."

But these plays are not booked haphazardly into this community and that. They are sponsored by local organizations wherever they go. In Washington, D. C., they will play at the National Theatre. In some western hamlet they may appear in a little red schoolhouse. It doesn't make any difference, really. The company is equipped to play in the open, if necessary.

But to understand and appreciate the vast detail of this movement you should glimpse Mrs. Major at work on the lawns of her hilltop home at Chappaqua. Spread out fanwise are the six companies, rehearsing. And Mrs. Major moves from company to company, directing, giving counsel, helping.

When the first of these is ready, and that should be in several days now, the company will depart in a specially designed truck. Each company has its own car and truck, carrying full equipment, costumes, scenery.

And five weeks to the hour from the day it rolls out of Chappaqua the second company will pile aboard its own truck and start out, too. That's the way it goes. They have never been late with a performance. Mrs. Clare Tree Major takes tremendous pride in this fact. She

NEW COTTON LOAN RATE EXPECTED HURT FARMERS

farms are much smaller.

Many generations of planters have lived in Calhoun county.

"I used to plant a thousand acres in cotton" said one planter. "This year I have 400. I used to run 25 plows. I had 15 this year and that was too many."

"What am I going to do with these hands I can't use. I can't throw them out of the houses they are living in. Many of them have been living there all their lives, were born there."

should. For even the Broadway productions very rarely come off on scheduled time, at least for openings.

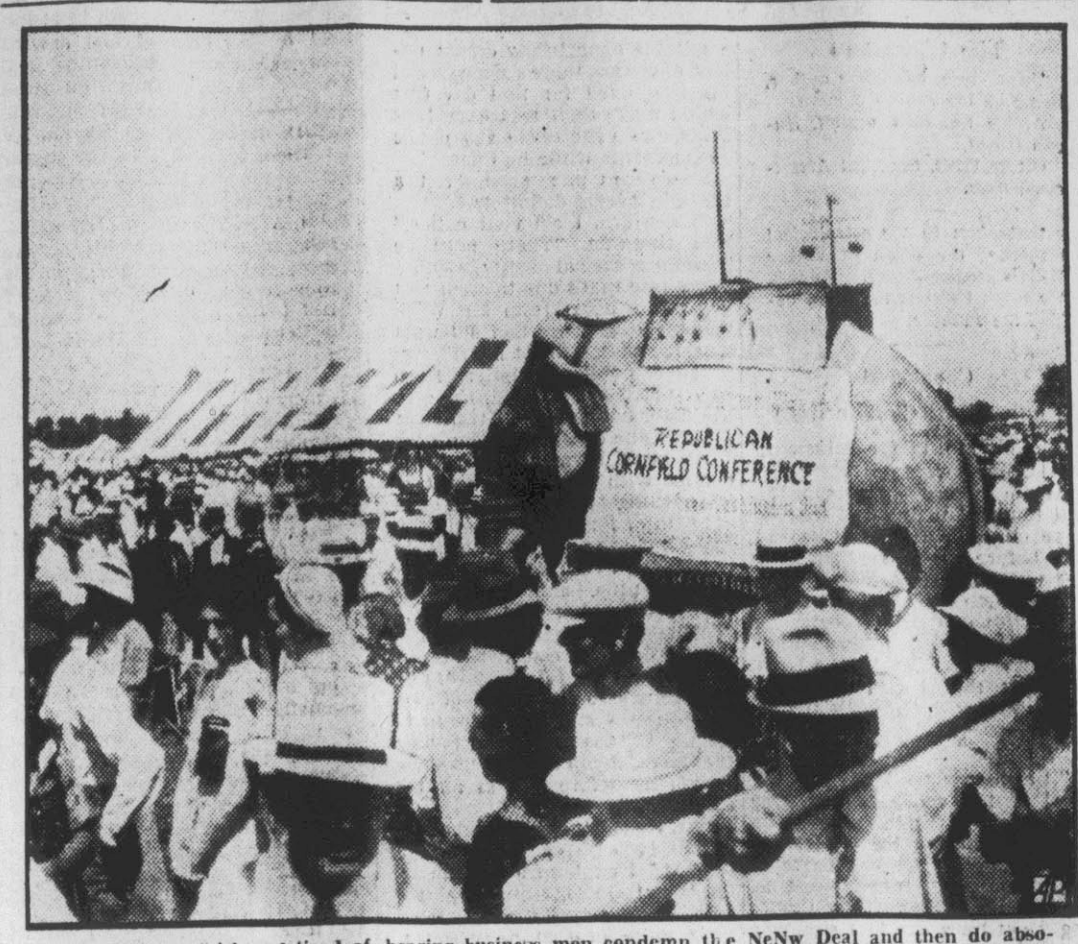

The prices for these attractions range all the way from 25 cents to $2.50. It depends entirely on the community, on who the sponsors are. It isn't a money-making organization at all. No one hopes to build up a fortune out of it. But it's lots of fun, it's something that has been growing for 15 years, and it brings the drama into communities which otherwise would never have an opportunity to look upon actors in grease paint. These companies, for instance, dive into lost pockets in the hills, where the theatre is unknown. And since it appeals to the eye and the imagination, it exerts a tremendous influence on the young.

Clare Tree Major takes a vast satisfaction in helping these children who live outside the larger, more metropolitan communities, in their full-time hobby. Without the millions of chores necessary to the accomplishment of this each season, she would be lost.

GOP PREPARES 'TO SAVE UNITED STATES'

Because he was "sick and tired of hearing business men condemn the New Deal and then do absolutely nothing about it," Homer E. Capehart, Buffalo manufacturer, footed the estimated $25,000 bill for a "cornfield conference" of nearly 9,000 workers on his farm near Washington, Ind. John Hamilton, GOP national chairman, termed the rally "the beginning of a mighty fight to save the United States." Here a part of the huge crowd is shown in the shadow of a papermache elephant, emblem of the GOP.

THERE'S THE PITCH, only it's toward the separator and not over home plate; and the "fields" for harvest workers are the wheat and barley fields of Minnesota. View of threshing activity on Fencio Farms near Breckenridge, Minn., shows farmhands pitching barley bundles; grain falls into truck behind men, and the straw is blown onto mounting pile.

CAN IT HAPPEN HERE?

While at this writing it is too early in the day to get returns from the South Carolina primary in which a candidate with presidential influence and backing is endeavoring to unseat Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith who is seeking re-election to the United States Senate, those American citizens outside of South Carolina are awaiting with interest information as to the outcome.

Dealing with the matter of European dictators Sinclair Lewis sometime ago wrote a novel "It Can't Happen Here," but if the present "purge" of Congress being engineered by the President is effective there are many who fear that Mr. Lewis was "all wrong." The question uppermost in the minds of Americans at this time, who believe in Democracy, is "Can It Happen Here?"

Terracing System Saved Weed Crop

Oxford, Aug. 30—Tobacco grown this summer on the farm of Willie Cooper, Granville County Negro, is of good quality and shows practically no damage from heavy rains earlier in the season. J. R. Redding, Negro farm agent of the State College Extension Service, Cooper told Redding he gives credit to a good system of terraces for saving his leaf crop from drowning during the wet weather.

A CHALLENGE TO NEGRO TEACHERS

Lack of respect for law and order and general moral laxity, which are usually products of juvenile delinquency, are presenting a serious challenge to the teaching profession, especially to that phase which deals more directly with free public schools.

School bells will soon be ringing. The army of teachers will assume their duties of molding the future citizenship of our great state and country. What will be our watchword? Shall we think only in terms of promotions and college entrance credits, or shall we be more concerned about what type of citizens we are giving back to the state?

All cannot go to college. Every one knows that only a small percent of those who enter public school ever go to a college of any kind. Indeed the All Wise Creator, for reasons best known to himself, does not endow every individual with capabilities that would make him college material.

Certainly wherever college material is found it should be given every possible assistance and encouraged to go on to college. But this will be relatively small. The great masses must enter the battles of life armed only with what they can get from the public schools.

We should endeavor to plant principles in the child's mind that will make up a general philosophy of life that will lead to a productive and worthy citizen of high moral character, one that will be welcomed and respected in whatever community he might see fit to cast his lot.

Washington Daybook

By HARRY C. HAWKINS

Washington—The reciprocal trade agreement between the United States and Ecuador, signed on August 6, brought the total number of trade agreements concluded up to the present time to 18.

The United States now has trade agreements with 10 Latin-American countries, seven European nations and Canada. Agreements have been concluded with Cuba, Belgium, Haiti, Sweden, Brazil, Canada, The Netherlands, Switzerland, Honduras, Colombia, Guatemala, France, Nicaragua, Finland, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Czechoslovakia and Ecuador.

In its four years of operation, the trade-agreements program has made a significant contribution toward improved economic conditions within this country as well as toward peace and world recovery.

The Trade Agreements Act provides for negotiations with foreign countries for the reciprocal removal of excessive barriers to an increased exchange of products with them. Such barriers contributed to the decline in United States exports of from $5,250,000,000 in 1929 to a little over $1,500,000,000 in 1932.

On near-by fields that were not terraced, Redding pointed out that there was no outlet for water that fell on the land. On these fields the water stood for days at a time and so seriously drowned the tobacco plants that the yield was lowered and the leaf is of poor quality.

Redding added that erosion damage was also heavy on the terraced fields where the slope was enough for the water to run off rapidly during heavy downpours. But the terraces on Cooper's fields allowed the water to run off gradually without carrying any appreciable amount of soil with it.

The object of a good terrace is two-fold, Redding explained: First, to provide adequate drainage when more water falls than the soil can absorb, and second, to check the speed of run-off water so that it will not wash.

The Act was passed in 1934. Since then, our export trade has improved steadily. For the calendar year 1937 total exports from the United States showed a 107.6 per cent increase over our total exports in 1932, and even through the business recession of late 1937 and 1938, exports remained one of the bright spots in the economic picture.

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTmarsh

The Characters Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera. Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend. Otilie Wills, beautiful American heiress.

Yesterday, in the astrological magazine, the death of Virgo Wills is predicted for late August. We think Geiss is the brain behind the swindle.

August 30th Is The Date

"I CAME to two conclusions," Dunning went on. "First that by some means, the conspirators had tumbled to the fact that we were on their trail, and second, that before liquidating their gains and scattering to the four corners of the earth, they had settled to close with one large, spectacular raffle-off, and for their burnt-offering had selected Mr. Virgo Wills. The fact that I was personally acquainted with Mr. Wills and his two nieces had doubtless escaped their notice."

"It also occurred to me that the head of the whole concern was publishing his interesting little forecasts without the knowledge of his subordinates and partners in crime. Well, friends, just as soon as I had finished my thinking, got busy. My first step was to send out a string of cables to my assistants, instructing them to get on the trail of any insurance policies on the life of Mr. Virgo Wills; my second was to pack my bags and head for home. I landed in New York and had an instructive interview with Miss Otilie Wills.

He broke off and laid a large, white paw on the girl's shoulder. "You'll forgive me, honey," said he, "but I'm obliged to say this. Gentlemen, you must understand that there was a vast difference in the mentality of the two sisters. Where Melanie was scatter-brained, impulsive, and erratic Otilie is as level-headed as a man. It was therefore to her I turned. I knew about Melanie's disappearance, for Pat was one of my own men, but right away Otilie gave me another vital item of information, she told me that her uncle had planned, last fall, to pay a visit this summer to the south of France."

The girl stood up and linked her arm in his. "You're beginning to see?" she asked eagerly, and Hugo nodded. "I fancy," said he, "that you and Mr. Dunning then decided to inform your uncle of what was going on and to persuade him to cancel his trip to Europe?"

She looked at him with an odd little smile. "You're every bit as intelligent as I thought you were!" she said. "I told Sis first, and then Cuthbert here tackled Uncle and begged him to give up the idea of the trip. But he's very strong-minded and he hates to have his personal safety fussed over, and he just wouldn't listen to any of us. Cuthbert, by this time, had found out that heavy insurance policies were being taken out against the chance of anything happening to Uncle, while he was in France, heavier than ever before—and that made Sis and me crazy with nervousness. It was she said she couldn't stand the strain any longer and went away, as we thought, to California two weeks after she'd gone, Baron Stahl arched in New York, and I began to meet him socially."

Hugo took a pace or two up and down the room. "I wondered about that," he said abruptly. "So Stahl met your sister in America, and the chances are he wouldn't recognize her when he saw her here. He'd accept her as Eve Monet."

"I suppose," I added, "that he went to New York for the purpose of making your uncle's acquaintance?"

She nodded again. "Yes," she said eagerly, "and that's why I had the fright of my life when I met him first; but it was nothing to me as I had when he showed up at Cuthbert's. He told us, you see, what he and the other two, Verner and Rakovsky, had been doing, and I guess that—as the idea in Sis's mind—to come over to Europe and make acquaintance with the three of them, hoping the trail would lead her to their chief."

"Not Easy to Sandle!" AND the trail," said Hugo gravely, "led her, we must suppose, to Geiss. What does your uncle say to Stahl's turning up here? It must be obvious to him that the fellow's paying the way to his new mansion for the attempt on his life."

She threw out her hands. "He says it's all poppy-cock, moonshine, and if I talk to him about it again he'll send me packing back home."

"Not an easy relative to handle," commented Hugo dryly. "Dunning, what's your idea of the business?"

The big man shrugged. "I'm waiting to hear your end of the story. Mr. Stern, I'm still all in the dark as to how you and Mr. Lumsden got mixed up in it."

As clearly as I could I told him the events of the last fifty hours. When I had finished, Hugo said, "Isn't it time we discussed something concrete—a plan of campaign? I take it, we are to accept the 30th as the date fixed for Mr. Wills's assassination? There should be some reason for arbitrarily choosing the day. Normally I imagine killers make their preparations and then wait until

Rube's Boys Smother Williamston 10-1 in Night Game

CALIGIURI IS MARTIN'S BOSS

Lowery's Error of Earp's Double Gives Martin's Only Run

Rube Wilson's Greenies, recording their fourth victory in as many starts under the arcs, elevated themselves to within three games of the fourth-place Snow Billies last night as they coasted to a 10-1 victory over the Williamston Martins, who have an absolute lockout on the Coastal Plain cellar for 1938.

Fred Caligiuri, doing the tossing for the locals, gave up nine well-scattered hits and struck out ten batters. Hurrier Wry started for the losers, but sought the soothing showers when the Greenies came through with a five-run party in the fourth. He allowed 11 hits during his stay on the hill. Windley replaced Wry and went the rest of the route.

Williamston went scoreless until the final inning when they took advantage of Goldie Lowery's error, and thwarted Caligiuri's hopes for a shutout. Earp, Martin shortstop, doubled to right and scored when Lowery juggled the ball.

Greenville will open a four game series with the Kinston Eagles at Third Street park this afternoon. The games will rotate between here and Kinston.

WATER & LIGHT IN FIRST LOSS

Trans-Nehi Scores 1st Win in Soft-Ball Finals Play

A fifth-inning four-run rally by Transportation-Nehi, giving them a 5-4 triumph, caused Water & Light to realize their first setback in final play of the local twilight soft-ball championship series.

Until the fifth, Transportation-Nehi had trailed Water & Light 4-1. Ed Waldrop got a base knock and advanced to third when H. Waldrop poked a blow good for two bases. "Coast Line" Jones got a single and scored the two Waldrops. Hales hit a ball, which was scored by Roebuck, and Jones scored the winning tally.

Jackson did the hurling for the winners and gave up only a half-dozen safeties. Roberson, hurrying for the losers, was reached for 8 hits. Sawyer and H. Waldrop with a double apiece, hit the hardest blows of the game.

Pictures Tell The Story Of National League Race

(By The AP Feature Service)
The major league baseball season ends October 2. As usual, it looks like a photo-finish in the National League. The New York Giants, the Chicago Cubs, the St. Louis Cardinals. In 1927 the Pittsburgh Pirates won their last league pennant. Currently the Pirates have replaced the Cards as contenders, and now are ahead of the field, followed by the Giants, Cubs, and Cincinnati. But more important than the current standings are factors shown in these striking pictures:

CHARLES LEO (GABBY) HARTNETT, pinch-hitting as manager of the Chicago Cubs for the specific purpose of winning the pennant, can yet do the trick if he can keep his up-and-down team on the up track. He is the big unknown managerial factor in the league. Games he worries most about include: New York, Sept. 16-17, and 20-22—Pittsburgh, Sept. 5 and 27-29.

THE BROOKLYN DODGERS are an important factor, because despite their bush-league baseball they traditionally manage to shove the Giants out of the race. In New York one day lately they sang the Giants to sleep, trounced them 7-3. They play the Giants Sept. 3-4; 9-11; 26-27. Left to right: Tuck Stainback, Irish Thrush Hassett, Kiki Cuyler, Babe Ruth.

THIS PICTURE is significant. It shows how the Giants have been going. Brooklyn's Lavagetto puts out Cissell at third. Notoriously innocent of base thievery this season, the Giants have obtained George Myatt, who made a wonderful reputation at it while he was with Jersey City. Another Giant trouble is that their pitching staff can't even pitch hay.

THIS PICTURE is significant. It shows how the Pirates have been going. Pittsburgh's No. 1 hitter, Vaughan, is safe at home despite the efforts of Giant Hind Snatcher Manusco. A year ago the Giants started a pennant drive by taking a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs. Day of this photo they lost two to Pittsburgh. Giants play Pirates Aug. 30-Sept. 1; Sept. 13-15.

FIGHT BATTLES LIKED BY FANS

Wrestling and Boxing Feature Monday Night's Card

Wrestling and boxing in the city-county armory last night provided almost everything a fight fan could ask for in the way of entertaining entertainment.

Eddie Williams, popular favorite, was awarded two out of three falls, as he triumphed over Floyd Byrd. A body slam in 16 minutes gave Byrd the first fall. A head lock and a body smother sewed up the duel for Williams.

Perry, Texas bad man, bested Eddie Malone, an Indiana Irishman in the final event. But the fans were in sympathy with Malone, so he got their approval and Perry won the watch. Administering a body smother, Perry was credited with the first fall. He used a body slam and hand smother to turn the trick in the final phase of the bout.

Bickett Carroll landed a barrage of effective punches on A. P. Cayton's anatomy to decision his opponent in the preliminary boxing events. These scrappers are expected to mix punches in a future engagement. John Lautares edged a decision over Ford McGowan in another preliminary scrap.

One Huckster In Raleigh Had Greenberg's Number

Home-Run King Was Not So Hot Against Perry

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Aug. 30.—While Hank Greenberg luxuriates in the greatest baseball fame that ever came to a homerun hitter in late August, DeWitt Perry of Raleigh sells vegetables and fruits in a city market stall and recalls the days when he and Hank hooked up.

Perry pitched for Durham when Hank first based for Raleigh. Even in those days a baseball rode clear out the park any time Hank got on one where he wished it. Perry who weighs about 40 pounds more than Hank does, knew what to do for the big Hebrew. The Raleigh dealer, while daddy pitched professional ball in the days when the players had to furnish their own balls, bats and gloves, board themselves and play for fun, ran one of those vegetable stalls and taught his boys how to sell and how to pitch.

Big Hank was easy for Big Perry. The pitcher had curves which did not stop at parabolas but sometimes broke into right angles. Old Hank never could reach Perry's out and drop, and that hopping in made the big Detroit slugger all his parkers behind the catcher's stand. Perry generally struck him out in the pinches.

For that matter, he had a habit of making most of them bite out in those games. He hel d the strike-out record in this Piedmont league until Johnny Vander Meer came and wrote a new one. The point to the story is that Big Hank would not have been threatening Babe Ruth's immortality had Perry been pitching always.

But for that matter, Babe Ruth would have been no sultan of swat if an unknown and forgotten us-

He said a "red shirt" parade might be organized here and proceed to Columbia after the closing of the polls.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The stock market blood pressure came back almost to normal today as the war scare died down somewhat and leading issues pushed up fractions to more than two points.

It was a slow-motion rally, however, with the turnover of approximately 650,000 shares, about half that during the sharp relapse of the previous session.

Steels, motors, rubbers and specialties, notably weak on Monday, were among the first to right themselves. Rails, coppers, mail orders and specialties were moderately higher, although far from buoyant.

POULTRY MEN PLAN MEETING

To Gather in Greensboro Thursday Of This Week

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—Leading poultrymen of North Carolina are expected to gather in Greensboro Thursday, September 1, to attend the annual meeting of the State Poultry Breeder's and the N. C. Mutual Hatcherymen's Association.

A high-light of the meeting will be an informational discussion on poultry production by J. D. Sykes, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, said Clifton F. Parrish, extension poultry specialist at State College.

Other subjects to be brought up will be changes in the National Poultry Improvement Plan, the record of performance (ROP) breeders program for the coming year, and other timely subjects affecting the breeders and hatcherymen of North Carolina.

Reports will also be given on the accomplishments of the various committees in regard to the part this State will take in the World's Poultry Congress and Exposition to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, next summer.

Among the speakers will be: Dr. Roy S. Dearstine, head of the State College poultry department; Clifton F. Parrish, T. T. Brown, and C. J. Maupin, extension poultry specialists, and Dr. William Moore, State veterinarian.

The meeting will open at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in the Guilford County courthouse at Greensboro.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened six to eight higher on improved Liverpool cables and a somewhat less tense European situation.

December rallied from 8.31 to 8.34 to carry prices up to net gains of seven to nine points late in the first hour.

By midday the list showed net advances of eight to 11 points with December at 8.35, the high for the day thus far.

Futures closed 14 to 17 higher. Spot steady, middling 8.46.

NEW ANGLE IN ELECTION ROW

Would Burgin Withdraw if He Wins in Court?

Reflector Bureau

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—Based on the knowledge that W. O. Burgin, contesting candidate for Congress in the eighth district, once offered to withdraw if his opponent C. B. Deane, would do likewise, political guessers are indulging the prophecy that if Burgin wins a reversal of the State Board of Elections ruling against him, he will decline to run.

The whole speculation rests on the widespread feeling in the district. Burgin and Deane polled nearly 40,000 votes and the difference between them never got beyond 150 votes. Eventually the reputed Burgin majority of about 150 shared and Deane got the State Board of Election's certificate by 23 votes which Burgin now protests. But before there was any court procedure Burgin offered to withdraw. His belief is that the party ticket would be jeopardized with so much feeling hanging over from the primaries.

But when the nod went to Deane Burgin felt that the irregularities were charged up to him and that originally he had been in the position of having received stolen goods, knowing them to have been stolen. He might vary the mercantile figure by admitting that there are damaged goods, but hardly that he has acquired them by larcenous means. He thinks Deane profited more by irregularities than Burgin did and the procedure before the courts is a part of the Burgin program to acquit himself of impli-

Dr. W. C. Linville Claimed By Death

Goldsboro, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Dr. W. C. Linville, superintendent of the state hospital for the colored insane here for the past 12 years, died at home early today.

Dr. Linville, who had been in ill health for more than a year became seriously sick after an attack of peritonitis about a month ago. He underwent an operation last Friday.

He had been connected with the hospital for 24 years.

Dr. Linville was born in Forsyth county in 1879.

Upon the death of the first superintendent of the institution, Dr. W. W. Faison, in 1926, Dr. Linville was named to the post.

Funeral services will be held from the home at the hospital at 9:30 tomorrow morning. The remains will be taken to Kernersville, where interment will be made in the family plot.

Fishery products were caught in 402 establishments in the United States and Alaska last year and were valued at $141,710,000.

Would Burgin Withdraw if He Wins in Court?

Reflector Bureau

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—Based on the knowledge that W. O. Burgin, contesting candidate for Congress in the eighth district, once offered to withdraw if his opponent C. B. Deane, would do likewise, political guessers are indulging the prophecy that if Burgin wins a reversal of the State Board of Elections ruling against him, he will decline to run.

But before there was any court procedure Burgin offered to withdraw. His belief is that the party ticket would be jeopardized with so much feeling hanging over from the primaries.

But when the nod went to Deane Burgin felt that the irregularities were charged up to him and that originally he had been in the position of having received stolen goods, knowing them to have been stolen. He might vary the mercantile figure by admitting that there are damaged goods, but hardly that he has acquired them by larcenous means. He thinks Deane profited more by irregularities than Burgin did and the procedure before the courts is a part of the Burgin program to acquit himself of implied looseness in those primaries. The Republicans have a strong and capable campaigner in John R. Jones who is ready to challenge the Democratic nominee for joint debate. In view of the State of public mind in that district Mr. Jones might get considerable advantage from stirring up the natives. Withdrawal by both leading candidates would bring peace to the party it is believed.

But of course Burgin's willingness to quit rests on Deane's diltio, as the Davidson man thinks as many people are sore on Deane as on Burgin.
